Language test promise broken by PQ - Mackasey

MONTREAL (CP) — The broken promise only three new Parti Quebecois weeks after assuming government is off to an power, says Bryce inauspicious start with a Mackasey, Liberal member

Raps handling of language tests

SHERBROOKE (GB) — The new government is not keeping its promise to abolish language proficiency tests for children entering English schools, an informed source from Marymount said this morning.

Bill 22 language tests should not affect people already here but should be imposed on newly arrived children of families who have been forwarned of the language tests before coming to the province, the source went on to say.

It is an injustice to have people spend money on private schools to educate their children when the public sector should be providing children with a free education, the source said.

Many parents whose children had been subjected to language tests and failed appealed their cases to the special ombudsman of the Ministry of Education but without any results.

Parents are still hopeful that a positive answer will be forthcoming from the Ministry of Education, the source continued. But the decisions will most likely remain the same.

A sit-in which commenced in September at Marymount by parents to protest Bill 22 Language Tests continued until mid-October. At this time parents decided to present their individual cases to the Quebec ombudsman and they are still awaiting answers.

The sit-in did not disrupt the normal activities at Marymount contrary to statements made by Jacques-Yvan Morin, the new Minister of Education, in reference to the operations of a number of Montreal schools.

The source concluded by saying that the Sherbrooke Catholic School Commission has been most sympathetic in regards to language tests and their application. Their position was one of toleration "as long as there was no disruption of classes."

Children who had previously been attending Marymount School illegally have conformed to government regulations sending their children to French school or they have been sent to private schools.

of the Quebec national assembly.

"I wouldn't say we're off to a very positive start when they break their word on something as fundamental as the language tests," he said Saturday on radio station CJAD.

Mr. Mackasey, a former federal cabinet minister, was referring to the government's request last week that tests proceed with 250 children who have not yet been tested for admission to English-language schools.

The government has also asked that 1,360 children now occupying English schools in Montreal be removed and sent to French-language schools.

The children, mainly of Italian descent who failed English-language proficiency tests, have so far refused to attend French-language schools as required by the Quebec Official Language Act.

END TESTS

During the campaign for the Nov. 15 Quebec election, the Parti Quebecois said it would abolish the tests if elected.

Even Premier Rene Levesque has said the tests could be psychologically damaging to children, said Mr. Mackasey.

He also criticized Claude Charron, minister in charge of Olympic installations, for his decision to exclude Mayor Jean Drapeau from the committee investigating the use of Olympic facilities. Mr. Charron alleged that the mayor was not impartial.

"The decision... was made by a chairman (Mr. Charron) who has already indicated that he's not impartial either," Mr. Mackasey said.

"If Mayor Drapeau is to be denied the right to be part of the committee, Mr. Charron would want to do the right thing by saying 'this is a conflict of interest on my part' and giving that particular responsibility to another minister temporarily," Mr. Mackasey said.

had last minute buyers flocking to downtown by the thousands.

Drapeau attacks PQ move

MONTREAL (CP) — Mayor Jean Drapeau denounced as "absolutely wrong, extremely dangerous and supremely unjust" the Parti Quebecois government's decision to force the City of Montreal to pay a $214 million portion of the Olympic debt.

In a strongly-worded letter addressed Sunday to Municipal Affairs Minister Guy Tardif, the mayor said members of the city council unanimously rejected both the new tax law and the government's position that the City of Montreal must submit to the jurisdiction of the Quebec national assembly.

Mr. Drapeau said, however, it would be naive to think that he could change the government's mind by appearing before any legislature committee.

The national assembly is expected to pass a law this week imposing a real estate tax on Montreal property to pay off $214 million which the city owes toward the $1-billion Olympic debt.

FEARS CONSEQUENCES

Mr. Drapeau said the tax law would have grave economic consequences for the province as well as Montreal.

The letter did not contain alternative proposals for handling the Olympic debt.

Earlier in the day, in his first public comment since the Olympic tax bill was tabled last week, the mayor told an interviewer on English-language radio station CJAD that the legislation was "absolutely wrong" and would hurt Quebec's principal industry: tourism.

If Montreal's department stores, hotels and restaurants start paying more taxes, Montreal will no longer be competitive with other cities in Canada and the United States as a tourist attraction, he said.

"Great metropolitans are the real motors" of a region's economy, and once the impact of the tax is felt in Montreal, the whole province will suffer, he said.

FEELS BURDEN HEAVY
 While Quebec needed "the dynamism of the city of Montreal," Montrealers were "already over-taxed and over-burdened."

Under the terms of the legislation, the Quebec

Municipal Commission—not Montreal—will be empowered to negotiate and contract the loan for $214 million on the city's behalf.

Although the tax bill is expected to be passed this week, Mr. Drapeau said he "will seek to find how this burden can be removed from my fellow citizens' shoulders."

When the tax was first proposed by the previous government, Mayor Drapeau refused to recognize the $214 million as the city's share of the debt. He viewed the amount as accounts receivable.

In fact, the city had actually spent more than $500 million on Olympic construction before the project was taken over by the Quebec government in 1975.

Two killed

SHERBROOKE (DS) — Two people were killed and three seriously injured in a two car accident here last night, Sherbrooke Police report.

The collision occurred at 11 p.m. on the Sherbrooke-Bromptonville boundary as one car came off Scotch Rd. and was hit by an oncoming vehicle.

The injured were taken to St. Vincent de Paul Hospital. Two were later transferred to the CHU for treatment and observation of head injuries. Their conditions are listed as good.

Police have withheld details until notification of family.

Says PQ win silenced linguistic fanatics

MONTREAL (CP) — It's ironic that the Parti Quebecois victory seems to have calmed those "fanatics" in English Canada who were formerly out-spoken on such controversial issues as bilingual air communications, Keith Spicer, federal commissioner of official languages, said Saturday.

Most English-speaking Canadians have taken a more sober approach to language problems since the PQ election victory last month, he said in a telephone interview from Ottawa.

Mr. Spicer said certain statements he made earlier this week had been misinterpreted to give an unwarranted political connotation, and may have implied that he believes the PQ victory is "a triumph for French-English relations."

As the manacled Peltier stood by the helicopter, he told reporters the Canadian court system "stinks—like I said, it stinks."

He still fears for his life, in the U.S., he said and charged that he had been mistreated during his early days at the Canadian prison. Peltier fought extradition on grounds that American authorities would kill him if he was put in their custody.

TRANSFERRED TO JET
 At Abbotsford, Peltier was transferred to a jet plane and flown to Rapid City, S.D., where he will face murder charges.

Rocky Duenas, a member of the Leonard Peltier Defence Committee, said he will return to South Dakota in the next few days to continue the fight to free Peltier.

Peltier was turned over to U.S. marshals on the playing field of the Lower Mainland Regional Correctional Centre (Oakalla) where a helicopter waited to fly him

Five prisoners die in fire

STRATFORD, Ont. (CP) — Details of the fire that killed five prisoners at Stratford provincial jail Saturday were withheld by officials during the weekend.

At a news conference Sunday, Dr. A.J. Macdonald, coroner, and John Smith, Ontario correctional services minister, said more information will be provided at an inquest Jan. 6 and premature discussion would hamper the investigation.

The five men were asphyxiated in their locked cells by smoke from a fire started in bedding across from the cells in a second-storey corridor of the 90-year-old jail.

The jail has no sprinkler system and the cells had to be unlocked individually because there is no central lock release system.

Mr. Smith said the bedding that caught fire was near the doorway to the corridor, between the prisoners and jail guards.

"The smoke must have engulfed the area in a matter of minutes," he said.

DETECT SMOKE
 The fire department was called when smoke was detected by prison staff at 5:05 p.m. Jail guards tried to fight the blaze with hand-held fire extinguishers but were driven back by smoke and flames. Firefighters arrived at 5:09 p.m.

Neither the coroner nor Mr. Smith would comment on a theory that the prisoners set the fire to protest being confined in their cells. They said such questions would be answered at the inquest.

Dr. Macdonald said the five men had been confined to their cells for "a considerable period" for security reasons. He would not comment on a statement by Don Kerr, a ministry of correctional services spokesman in Toronto, that the men were confined because there was fear of an escape attempt.

An investigation is to be conducted jointly by the Perth County Crown attorney, city police, the Ontario fire marshal's office, the ministry of correctional services and a pathologist, the coroner said.

Two of the dead, Allan Edward Aronson, 19, and James Walter Bradley, 18, both of Stratford, were awaiting trial on robbery charges.

Bradley was also serving time for violating parole on a breaking and entering conviction.

Mr. Smith said the jail was renovated about two years ago, at which time the fire prevention equipment was updated.

The jail, in downtown Stratford, houses 31 prisoners. There were 26 in the jail at the time of the fire.

Levesque calls for patience among militants

MONTREAL (CP) — Premier Rene Levesque tried on Saturday to forestall any future conflict between his Parti Quebecois government and the rest of the party and warned PQ militants not to be too impatient for change.

He also said independence is the only way to achieve everything Quebecers need.

Addressing the PQ's 300-member national council, meeting for the first time since the Nov. 15 provincial election, Mr. Levesque said he understands the impatience of party militants "who have waited a long time for things to change."

But, he warned, changes must be made at a rate "to suit all Quebecers."

He also cautioned PQ members of the national assembly to avoid militant partisanship in dealing with citizens of their ridings.

"All citizens, whether PQ members or not, must feel at home in the office of their elected representative."

Mr. Levesque told council members, who comprise the party's highest governing body between biennial conventions, to avoid falling into the trap of being talkers rather than doers.

"We're a party that talks a lot and that's a good habit which we must not lose. (But) too much talking destroys action."

"The referendum (to be held on the question of Quebec independence) is the real beginning. We must win it and we will win it."

The premier said future relations between the PQ government and the rest of the party are in a "delicate" state and must become "relaxed and balanced."

On one hand, the party, which is headed by Mr. Levesque, must avoid being swallowed up by the PQ government so that it can continue to provide the administration with ideas.

 But, on the other hand, the party must not "dictate the ways in which the administration will act," since elected members must represent "all the people and not just the party."

Under the PQ's constitution, "major decisions" by a PQ government need the approval of the national council and some observers say they feel this might become a problem when budgets, for example, are to be presented.

The national council is composed of the executive committee, three members of the national assembly, riding association presidents and regional presidents.

Pierre Renaud, party treasurer, became the new chairman of the 15-member executive committee, replacing Camille Laurin, minister of state for cultural development and one of eight executive committee members elected to the assembly Nov. 15.

MUSICAMERA — Christmas Eve and Christmas Day, 1936, is the setting of "The Lost Child" — a CBC-commissioned opera to be telecast on the network's Musicamera series Wednesday, December 22 at 9 p.m. Based on a story by Morley Callaghan, the opera — by Godfrey Ridout, with libretto by John Reid — unfolds the events surrounding the disappearance of a toy baby Jesus from the creche of a church and the resulting uproar in the community. Principals in the cast L/R: Claudette Le Blanc as Mrs. Farrel, mother of Timothy; Even McIlraith as Timothy, the boy behind the mysterious disappearance; Alan Crofoot as Father Gorwan, the parish priest; and Alexander Gray as O'Meara, the elderly caretaker. Victor Feldbrill conducts.

KING KONG

By STEVE BELL

Yes, the big ape's back in the Big Apple, bigger than life and more sympathetic than his predecessor, the new Kong is as capable of feeling as he is of destroying on a grand scale.

The villains in this remake are the other two-legged critters, the ones called people — greedy, cruel and as loveless as slugs.

If not the most expensive ($24 million), certainly the most publicized ($15 million) film since "Cleopatra", Dino De Laurentiis' remake of the 1933 classic — King Kong turns out to be truly entertaining. A stylishly amusing adventure story in the first half, and a dazzling display of special effects in the second.

While undoubtedly the star of the show, the 40 foot ape does get considerable help from the rest of the cast.

Charles Grodin (the schmuck in The Heartbreak Kid) plays a cheerfully cynical oil executive who is sailing on the Petros Explorer to Skull Island in search of the sea of oil on which it is rumored to float.

Jeff Bridges, (whose talents have brightened such films as The Last Picture Show and Hearts of the West) plays Bruce Cabot, a Princeton paleontologist who suspects that there's more than fog and oil on Skull Island. And who later is to rival Kong for the affections of a beauty named Dwan, ("like Dawn only I switched two letters to make it more memorable") the latter played by a newcomer Jessica Lang, who during the course of the film accuses the colossal gorilla of being a "goddamn chauvinist pig ape."

The only real deviations from the original 1933 story line are the opening scenes with the Petros Explorer, with the discovery of the stowaway zoologist (Bridges) and the rescue of Dwan from a drifting life raft, after the yacht she was on exploded (during a showing of Deep Throat, no less!).

The scenes on the island are a little kinkier than you might remember in the original version and on occasion, quite humorous.

"My horoscope said that I was going to cross over water and meet the biggest person in my life," coos Miss Lang, as the landing party sets out for the island. Miss Lang, who as one reviewer put it, is sort of a cross bet ween Marilyn Monroe and Tuesday Weld, though hardly as good an actress, is the only member of the cast who falls slightly short of a commendable performance.

The special effects do the job, though in a few scenes they were a little obvious. Kong was well animated throughout the film whether in his life-size or 40 foot form, he is convincing. The scenes atop New York's World Trade Center are especially well done.

Special credit must be given to director John Guillermin, (of The Blue Max and Tearing Stripes fame), the clever performances of Bridges and Grodin and to Lorenzo Semple Jr. for the delightful script which sets this remake a little above the rest.

While in no way a serious threat to the 1933 classic, with its historical special effects by Willis H. O'Brien and the outstanding performance by Fay Wray, the modern version of King Kong is great fun and truly entertaining. Well worth the price of admission, and probably your best bet for Christmas viewing in the Townships.

For all you trivia fans out there you might like to know that De Laurentiis and his special effects team spent well over $2 million assembling the star of the show. The new Kong stands 40 feet tall in his stocking feet, weighs six and a half tons, boasts such vital statistics as 3,000 feet of hydraulic hose and 4,500 feet of aluminum wiring.

Best of all, he can do 16 hand movements — clutching our heroine in one fist being prime among them — twitch his ears, show his gums, roll his eyes, even smile.

And would you believe 4,000 Argentinian horses gave their all (or should I say their tails) to the mighty Kong so as to give him a properly shaggy look. Lovable.

And if you're wondering as I was about the big ape's eyes in the close ups, well, they really belong to Rick Baker, the actor inside the man-sized monkey suit.

Clearly, producer Dino De Laurentiis is giving Kong the celebrity push. The immediate question, however is how does a 40 foot gorilla march up and collect an Oscar without stepping on somebody's toes?

IS BACK!

National Ballet marks birthday

TORONTO (CP) — Five performances of the National Ballet's newly-remounted production of Shakespeare's Romeo and Juliet set to the music of Sergei Prokofiev by John Cranko marked the company's 25th birthday in weekend celebrations here.

Danced by the company's stars of the past as well as the present, the work was a prelude to a two-day international conference on the future of ballet and the mounting Wednesday of a new work for the National Ballet, the Royal Ballet's famous version of La Fille Mal Gardée (The Poorly-Chaperoned Girl).

Veronica Tennant, who was one of the early Juliets for the National soon after the work went into its repertory in 1964, danced the role again Sunday night with Frank Augustyn.

The performance drew an eight-minute ovation, with 15 curtain calls.

In earlier weekend performances, Celia Franca, founder of the National Ballet, came out of retirement to dance Lady Capulet twice.

OTHERS PLAY PART

Others dancing Juliet were Vanessa Harwood, Karen Kain and Lillian Jarvis. Augustyn was spelled by Stephen Jefferies and Hazaras Surneyan.

Romeo and Juliet was one of the company's most popular works from 1964 until a warehouse fire destroyed the costumes in 1973. They were remade for a renewal of the work first seen this summer in Montréal as part of the cultural program associated with the Olympic Games.

As choreographed by Cranko first for La Scala in Milan and then for the Stuttgart Ballet, Romeo appears as a virile but playful youth who chins himself on the edge of Juliet's balcony during the famous love scene in order to reach her lips.

The ballet story follows Shakespeare's play in most respects, except in the final scenes in which it is easier to have Romeo and Juliet stab themselves than to take poison.

The conference, which runs through Tuesday, is expected to attract ballet leaders from the U.S., Britain and the Continent to discuss the growth of ballet in the last 25 years and its prospects for the next 25 years.

The Nutcracker

For the eleventh and final time Les Grands Ballets Canadiens will present THE NUTCRACKER at the Salle Wilfrid-Pelletier in Place des Arts. The Company will dance evening performances on December 22, 23, 26, 27, 28, 29 and 30 and matinees on December 23, 24 and 26.

It was December 18, 1964 when Fernand Nault's version of this Christmas Classic was first danced in Montreal. It has been presented continuously since then except Christmas 1966 and 1971. Over the years, over 250,000 people have thrilled to the beauty and spectacle of this most popular of all classical ballets.

During this final season, there will be ten performances in Montreal and seven in Quebec City (from December 15 to 19).

"The Nutcracker," which is based on a story by Hoffman, tells of a young girl, Clara, who received a Nutcracker doll in the form of a soldier, as a Christmas present. After the party, she returns to the living room to find her doll, and is surprised by the King of the Rats. Her Nutcracker comes to life and a fierce battle ensues. Clara kills the King of the Rats and her Nutcracker soldier is transformed into a Prince. He takes her through the

Verdicts of accidental death given

COWANSVILLE (JM) — Coroner Paul E. Roy handed down three verdicts of accidental death at inquests held here Friday. Jean Marc Fortier, Iberville, was cleared of all criminal responsibility in the death of Lucie Menard, 11, of Brigham, on Route 104, September 11.

Mr. Fortier testified he and his wife were driving towards Cowansville and Miss Menard was preceding them on her bicycle when she suddenly made a 'U' turn. Mr.

Fortier said he tried to avoid the accident and only had time to sound his horn and swerve towards the centre of the road when the impact occurred.

An independent witness provided Constable Pierre Menard, Cowansville QPF, with a written declaration which substantiated Mr. Fortier's testimony. Under examination by Crown attorney Claude Noiseux, Const. Menard said there was nothing in Mr. Fortier's deportment which could lead him to believe Mr. Fortier was under the influence of alcohol at the time of the incident.

WIFE CLEARED

Mrs. Audette Deshaies was freed of any potential charges in the death of her husband Henri who died at the Brome-Missisquoi-Perkins Hospital, Cowansville, May 22, some 12 hours after an accident.

Mrs. Deshaies testified the events leading up to the accident began the evening prior when she asked her husband to explain why his back was raked with fingernail marks. "He got upset and left the house on his bicycle and I went after him in the car. Our paths crossed three or four times as he toured Cowansville, however he refused to come home at that time.

"He entered our home at about 11 a.m. and locked himself in the bathroom when he began to slash his wrists with a razor blade. I finally broke the door down and he halted. It was at that point I realized I could no longer continue living under such circumstances, and several hours later decided to leave him.

"I went to the car and he followed me and got inside, he then got out and opened the hood when he saw I was really going to leave him. When the car started he had the hood opened and he removed the wire from the coil to the distributor and the engine died. Meanwhile he had jumped from the front bumper to the ground and was lying immobilized.

"I thought he was joking as he had often pulled capers like that in the past, however when I approached him I knew how serious it was and asked a neighbor to call for an ambulance."

The neighbor, Mr. Paul Lapointe, testified he had often seen Deshaies sleeping in front of the car, and added

DREE grants go to ET industries

MONTREAL — Marcel Lessard, federal minister of Regional Economic Expansion (DREE), has announced that six firms in Quebec have accepted development incentive offers totalling $186,436. It is expected that these projects will create 56 jobs and general investments exceeding $544,044.

The firms assisted by DREE are the following: Avron Palettes Ltee, of Saint-Sebastien, Megantic-Compton County ($45,636), Les Industries Forestieres de La Vallée de La Chaudière Inc., of Saint-Francois-Ouest in Beauce ($41,500), Creations B.F. Ltee, of Wickham, near Drummondville ($36,735), Industrie Elite Inc., of Drummondville-Sud for a new facility at Saint-Nicéphore, Drummond County ($36,575), Alcide Gagnon Ltee, of Chicoutimi ($15,800), and R.I.L. Industrie Enrg., of Saint-Celestin, Nicolet-Yamaska County $10,200.

Avron Palettes Ltee, of Saint-Sebastien, Megantic-Compton County, has accepted an offer of $45,636 for a new facility which will manufacture wood pallets. This project is expected to create 13 jobs and generate investment exceeding $107,544.

Les Industries Forestieres de la Vallée de la Chaudière Inc., of Saint-Francois-Ouest in Beauce, has accepted an offer of $41,500 for a new sawmill. This project is expected to create 12 jobs and generate investments exceeding $130,000.

Creations B.F. Ltee, of Wickham, near Drummondville, has accepted an offer of $36,725 for a new facility to manufacture metal shelves and tables. This project is expected to create 10 jobs and generate investments exceeding $80,300.

Industrie Elite Inc., of Drummondville-Sud, has accepted an offer of $36,757 for a new facility at Saint-Nicéphore, Drummond County, to manufacture unloaders for silos. This project is expected to create 10 jobs and generate investments exceeding $96,200.

Alcide Gagnon Ltee, of Chicoutimi, has accepted an offer of $15,800 for the expansion of its meat-processing plant. This project is expected to create six jobs and generate investments exceeding $79,000.

R.I.L. Industrie Enrg., of Saint-Celestin, Nicolet-Yamaska County, has accepted an offer of $10,200 for the expansion of its workshop which manufactures boxes for forage carts. This project is expected to create five jobs and generate investments exceeding $51,000.

Ticket hit by inflation

SHERBROOKE (JM) — This fair city is sometimes referred to as the 'city of light' of the Eastern Townships, however Louise Jacques' reaction to court costs when she was found guilty, in-default, of having omitted to pay a $2.00 parking ticket was one of having been hit by a bolt of lightning.

"$38.20 — they've got to be kidding," Louise said. The court stenographer took it upon herself to obtain a breakdown of the costs: Legal fees $30.00; Act of indictment $1.00;

Clerk's costs $6.00; Notice of costs 0.20; Summons 0.50; Serving of summons 0.50. It is said the wheels of justice turn slowly, well this was no exception. The ticket was issued May 6 and her notice of judgment in-default was dated November 29.

Costs in Granby for a similar default judgment are $6.00 and $12.00 in Cowansville.

Needless to say Louise chose to ante-up rather than spending a week in the solemn comfort of the Winter St. jail!

District Council chairman, Hywel Griffiths, financial campaign treasurer, and Andre Langlais, financial campaign chairman.

Boy Scouts campaign closes

SHERBROOKE — The annual scout financial campaign for 1976 has officially closed with proceeds of $3,100. The Sherbrooke District Council executive wish to thank all those who contributed funds or volunteered their services, in particular Campaign Chairman Andre Langlais.

This money is used to maintain the Lake Lovering campsite which is available for all sections of the scouting movement and also to assist in funding participation at jamborees such as the 1975 world jamboree in Norway and 1977 national jamboree in Prince Edward Island.

Finance Committee Chairman Grant Shelts reports that initial plans have already been formulated to change the timing and methods of the 1977 campaign because results of the past few years have fallen short of the budgeted goals.

Committee to handle beefs

SHERBROOKE (DS) — The Council for Health and Social Welfare will establish a committee to deal with complaints from those who make use of the agency's services.

Adopted by the board meeting Dec. 14, the committee will be set up to facilitate and improve the handling of complaints to allow the organization the greatest control possible over the quality of their services.

The committee will analyse any problems presented to it and offer recommendations to improve and correct the situation. It will be composed of the following six members: Marcel Drolet, doctor, Jeanne Trottier, social worker, Constance Tessier, Colette Lavoie, lawyer, Rene Aubry, administrator, and Albert Painchaud, director general of CRSSS.

The committee will have its first sitting in January, 1977.

Happy Gang

Christmas party

SAWYERVILLE — The Christmas Party for the Happy Gang Seniors was held on Dec. 7th, with 86 members present. While the members gathered, and during the dinner hour, Mrs. Harry Graham Jr. played the piano and was thanked by all.

A delicious dinner of Kentucky Fried Chicken with all the trimmings was served by several young ladies. Mrs. M. Murray extended thanks to them for all their work and they were given a hearty clap.

The hall and tables were nicely decorated for Christmas and there were two lighted trees.

Those with marked saucers received gifts and were Mrs. Dolly Cathcart, Mrs. Harold Locke, Mrs. Gertrude Montgomery, Mrs. Irwin Ord, Mr. John Neilsen, Mr. Roger Boire, and Mr. Frank McConnell. After dinner the gifts brought by members and numbered were given out.

About 50 children from the school arrived and under the direction of Mrs. Fred Berwick sang several songs and Christmas Carols. They were treated to cookies and Kool Aid.

Tables were set up and games and visiting were enjoyed for awhile before all returned home after a pleasant time together.

SEXTON HONORED — Henry Pollender, shown handling the bell ropes he has used for 25 years at Ste. Rose de Lima Church, Sweetburg, was honored by parishioners recently for his years of devoted service. Devotion is a highly accurate term as he has never taken a vacation during his tenure as sexton and he is looking forward to at least another five years service.

Christmas gifts

What gift are you giving this Christmas? Oh you have probably either completed your shopping list or are frantically trying to do so. But perhaps you have overlooked the most important gift of all that you can give-yourself!

On that first Christmas we received the greatest gift of all, our Savior Jesus Christ! God so loved us that He gave us His only begotten Son that we might have life and might have it abundantly and eternally.

Our loving heavenly Father knew we lived in darkness so He sent light, the light of the world. He knew we lived not life but existence, an existence that was terminal for it would end without Him. Because of His compassionate love for his creation He provided us with our greatest gift-Jesus Christ, His Son and our Lord.

This Christmas perhaps we should not look only to the past and the stable in Bethlehem but to the present - to our dwelling place and its inhabitants. No tinsel, no celebration, no gift sharing can match the gift we selfishly cherish-ourselves.

Perhaps you may be of the opinion that you are already giving of yourself to those around you, good, that is a wonderful start but why let it end there?

Perhaps it is time we thought beyond ourselves, our families, our friends and began to think of our Creator. He still loves us, His Holy Spirit walks with us as our loving guide and companion. God wants us to walk with Him. He doesn't want just part of us though He wants all of us. Our hearts, our minds our very souls. He wants to pour out His love on our whole being.

This Christmas please consider your gift. Exchange gifts with God. Give Him You, all of you, without reserve! The gift you will receive in return will be the most precious one of all, eternal life!

May you be richly blessed this Christmas as you exchange gifts with God.

Blessings in Jesus Christ,

Looking for folklore of Scots

To The Editor:
May I, through the courtesy of your newspaper, reach some of your readers whom I am otherwise unable to contact?

First of all, I shall briefly explain my purpose: I have been working in the Eastern Townships on a summer project for the National Museum in Ottawa, collecting and compiling some of the folklore of the Hebridean Scots in the area. Though summer is long past and gone, I am still living there, and would welcome more items of folklore to include in my documentation. It seems that the longer I stay in the Eastern Townships the more I realize that there is still a wealth of folklore uncollected, much of it stored in the alert and lively minds of the Scots people who are getting up in years. Almost every visit I make to the Lennoxville area brings up the name of someone I could visit and talk of the old days, and it never fails to surprise and delight me to find that while most begin by telling me they have little or nothing to offer, that their memory of the old days has long since faded, after a moment or two of reminiscence, they invariably come up with some gem of information, an old anecdote, or an account of some custom that has been all but forgotten.

Unfortunately I am unable to make all the visits I would like to make - the hazards of winter driving and the unpredictable weather make it difficult to make plans in advance; and when I do venture out, as the old-timer said, I'm a bit like margarine and can only be spread so thin! I would, nevertheless, like to collect more of the folklore which I know exists, but I have great fear that much of it will disappear with our oldest generation. To keep the traditions alive a tradition-bearer must tell and retell his folklore to succeeding generations; but in order to do this, he or she needs a willing audience. What a pity that the audiences that once sat close to the kitchen stove listening to a great variety of songs, stories, and pieces of information pertaining to their own culture have been lured away by the wiles of television.

I do believe, however, that there are still folk who would love to be able to tell some of the yarns they once listened to in days gone by, and like many of us, would dread to see them vanish into oblivion. It is for this reason, then, that I am writing this letter, in the hopes that some of the Record readers might in turn correspond with me at P.O. Box 20, Milan.

There are many areas of folklore which are represented among the Hebridean Scots. To mention only a few: custom, including death and burial, courtship and marriage, birth and childhood; also calendar, seasonal, and church customs; folk-belief, which includes weather lore, animal and plant lore; fishing, hunting, and trapping; material culture and work techniques (did the Scots make their own boots, shoes, snow-shoes, and skates? If so who made them and what materials did they use?); folksong, and folktales or legends. Indeed any narratives are of interest, no matter how long or short. I would hope to hear a few about one of our favourite Scottish topics, namely ghosts, as I know there was no scarcity of them in the old days. Did anyone, incidentally, have any stories of fairies that they brought from the old country, or were these little people left behind in the migrations?

Other narratives of interest would be local anecdotes about strong men, the wise, witty, or foolish; stories of adventure; family history, including the most important area of history, namely when the Scottish people came over first; their impressions of the New Land; their feelings for the Mother Country; their hardships of clearing the land and setting up their homes; descriptions of the actual homes, with furnishings; memories of logging bees, spinning or quilting bees, and "box socials". Indeed my list could go on and on, but I hope that I have jogged a few memories at least, if not brought back some happy recollections of the early days which you would like to tell.

Should you decide to write to me (and I hope you do) I am unconcerned about the format of your correspondence, style of writing or paper, correctness of grammar or spelling - I myself have written some unconventional English on occasions I would like to know, however, from whom you first heard the story or information, the approximate time or decade, the age of the person from whom you obtained the information (and your own age too, if you don't mind telling it), and if possible, a little on their background, or your own.

Unless you specifically wish to remain anonymous, or wish to withhold the name of your informant (you could, for example, refer to your grandfather's brother's mother-in-law without naming her) I will acknowledge all sources of material that I will be including in the Museum publication. I shall also endeavour to reply to all correspondence which I receive as a result of my own letter to the "Record".

May also take this opportunity in thanking the many people who have already helped me in my quest, and in wishing the many people I have met over the past months my very best wishes for the season - Nollaig Chridheil agus Bliadhna Mhath Ur Dhuibh.

Sincerely,
MARGARET BENNETT KNIGHT

Let's guard Sutton Mtns. from project

To The Editor:
It's great for Mr. Taylor of Lennoxville to want to ruin a wilderness area in our Sutton mountains. I wonder if he would be of the same opinion if a highway were proposed through his front lawn.

The Fulleton Project will not increase our 'Hydro Power Capabilities'. Water pumped up the mountain for eight hours will produce power for two hours and a net loss of energy of 50 per cent. Pumped storage is useful to provide required peak power but the cost is high.

This requirement can be fulfilled by installing additional generators at existing dam sites to be operated only at these peak hours. If required the water could be pumped back but again it is difficult to justify the cost.

Such a school is already proposed for Manicouagan 5 site and has the additional advantage of existing power transmission lines and sub stations.

An installation of 2,000 megawatts near South Bolton would require a nightmare of transmission lines and sub station facilities.

It is difficult to understand why the public so mistrusts nuclear power. The safety of such a plant far exceeds that of an earth dam. There are no problems involved in developing nuclear power that cannot be resolved with safety; it is all a matter of economics.

Let's not spoil all our environment because we mistrust the unknown. The peace and quiet of our Sutton mountain area is a resource to be guarded at any cost for all posterity.

U.S. banks seek profits abroad

By NEA London Economist News Service

NEW YORK - (LENS) - The big American banks are aiming at a 15-20 per cent increase in overseas earnings next year. This is surprising, for, after expanding by over 30 per cent in each of the past five years, the growth in overseas earnings probably slowed down to around 10 per cent this year and might have been expected to slow even further next.

The banks have become increasingly sensitive to domestic criticism of the high proportion of their profits derived from overseas - probably more than half, on average, this year. International lending conditions appear to have gotten tougher lately.

The banks admit that margins on overseas lending have been badly squeezed in the second half of 1976, and could shrink even further. Spreads on West German, French and British loans have been affected by poor domestic loan demand. And in the Eurocurrency market, margins on medium-term loans have declined from a recent peak of around 1.75 per cent for top-quality borrowers to 1.125 per cent.

The squeeze at the shorter end of the market has been even greater, with commercial customers able to get two-to-three-month bank loans at just 25 per cent over the interbank rate, against 50 per cent earlier this year. And, if anything, the squeeze on margins is likely to get worse over the next few months, with many bankers expecting spreads on top-quality syndicated credits to fall to under one per cent.

A general recovery in overseas margins is unlikely before the second half of 1977.

There are other short-term pressures. The banks have only been able to keep busy internationally by taking a kindly view of creditworthiness, especially that of Third World clients. Many feel they are running up against even their own rather lax credit limits.

Competition for medium-term Eurocurrency business from the major European banks has begun to heat up recently. The Europeans no longer feel as inhibited as they did even a few months ago about lending in non-local currencies, namely in dollars.

So from where do the American banks expect their 15-20 per cent growth to come? Partly from a gradual upturn in corporate lending as the world economy recovers; but mostly from a return to the Euromarkets by major industrial countries.

Britain, Denmark and Ireland have already tapped the Euromarkets for considerable sums in recent weeks. The bankers believe that as economic growth picks up, balances of payments will worsen and bank finance will be sought to help close the gap. A pattern of international credit demand could emerge similar to that which prevailed in 1974, when industrial countries accounted for about $21 billion, or two thirds of all syndicated Eurocurrency lending, against just one third in 1975 and about 40 per cent in the first three quarters of this year.

American banks also still see some opportunities for expansion overseas. Citibank says, "We are pretty much everywhere we want to be", but would still like to open new branches in black Africa, an area it has so far neglected.

Manufacturers Hanover, established in Japan, Hong Kong and Singapore, sees other areas in Southeast Asia, such as Malaysia, Burma and India, in which it would like to get a foothold. First Chicago is keen to build up its Latin American operations.

"For truly my words are not false; one who is perfect in knowledge is with you." - Job 36:4.

"He who would distinguish the true from the false must have an adequate idea of what is true and false." - Benedict Spinoza. Dutch-Jewish philosopher.

O come, let us worship and bow down, let us kneel before the lord, our Maker! For he is our God, and we are the people of his pasture, and the sheep of his hand. - Psalm 95:6,7.

Letelier's Cuban contracts

WASHINGTON - Secret papers found in Chilean exile leader Orlando Letelier's attaché case after his assassination show he had been collecting a mysterious $1,000 a month through a "Havana connection."

The papers also reveal that Letelier's office had been in close contact, perhaps innocently, with a top Cuban intelligence agent named Julian Torres Rizo.

The respected Letelier, a former Chilean foreign minister, was blown to oblivion on September 21 as he was driving down Washington's tranquil, tree-shaded Embassy Row. Accompanying him in his blue Chevrolet were two passengers, Mike Moffit and his wife, Ronni. The bomb blast also killed Ronni, but Mike miraculously survived.

He telephoned us afterward in anguish and pleaded with us to investigate the assassination. Our preliminary findings indicated that Chile's dread secret police, known as DINA, probably had been behind the bombing. Now our investigation has turned up some unexpected developments.

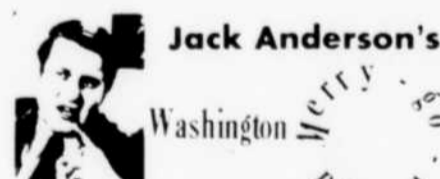

The blast that killed Letelier, we have learned, revealed that he had been leading a strange double life. The evidence was locked in a Samsonite attaché case, which investigators salvaged from the wreckage.

The briefcase was returned to the murdered man's family. But first, intelligence agents copied the contents for possible clues that might lead to the assassins.

They found some unexpected clues that were even more fascinating. The briefcase contained papers so sensitive that Letelier probably carried them to prevent their theft by CIA housebreakers. We have now seen some of these hush-hush papers.

They show that Letelier received $1,000 a month through a "Havana connection." His contact was none other than Beatrice "Tati" Allende, daughter of Salvador Allende, the Chilean president who was slain in 1973 by a military junta. Tati now lives in Havana with her husband, who is a Cuban official.

In a May 8, 1975, letter to Letelier, she notified him that he will receive $5,000 as an advance payment "para apoyar tu trabajo" - "to support your work." This was to be followed by the monthly $1,000 payments. The money would come, she said, from the Chilean Socialist party in exile. The disbursement had been approved, she explained, by the party's leader, Carlos Altamirano, who is reported to be living in exile in East Berlin.

The Chilean Socialist Party has offices in East Berlin, Havana and Rome. Intelligence sources contend that money couldn't have been transmitted to Letelier without the Cuban government's approval.

Another letter in Letelier's briefcase was written on Sept. 14, 1976, by one of his young colleagues. It tells of a meeting in Havana with Emilio Brito, a Communist Central Committee functionary. According to our intelligence sources, Brito is affiliated with the Cuban planning group that directs the subversion of Puerto Rico and the United States.

The letter thanks Brito for some scholarly material "received from the hands of Julian Rizo." The writer promises to send other academic information to Brito through "la Mision," meaning the Cuban mission at the United Nations.

Officially, Rizo was listed as the first secretary of the Cuban mission. But as early as March 1, 1976, we identified him as a spy in diplomatic disguise. "His mission at the United Nations," we wrote, "is to develop contacts with radicals in this country."

We have omitted the name of Letelier's young colleague, because he has received an assassination threat. But we questioned him for an hour. The young man contended persuasively that he was totally unaware of the intelligence roles of Brito and Rizo.

Letelier, at the time of his death, was affiliated with the Institute for Policy Studies. The Institute's director, Marcus Raskin, said he had no knowledge of Letelier's secret payments. "What he did for his Chilean concerns was totally outside his Institute work," Raskin told us. "As a fellow at the Institute he was a total success who performed with brilliance and skill."

Letelier's widow, Isabel, told us she was aware of payments, but speculated that they must have come from the exiled political party, not from the Cuban government.

We reached Tati Allende in Havana by telephone, but she declined to reveal the source of the payments. Her letter to Letelier, she said, was "personal," and she couldn't understand why it would be made public "unless it was to hurt" Letelier's cause.

Despite our efforts to persuade her to clear up the mystery, she finally said: "I can't comment."

Footnote: Letelier had planned to visit Cuba on September 21. In the attaché case was also a letter he had written to his old friend, Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Roa, introducing a Dutch sympathizer.

Cancer Threat: The Environmental Protection Agency has discovered potent, cancer-causing chemicals being dumped into a river at the Eli Lilly pesticide plant in Indiana.

The dangerous chemicals, known as nitrosamines, are considered unsafe for human consumption. "All three of the nitrosamines found in your discharges have been shown to be powerful carcinogens (cancer causers)," the EPA wrote Lilly.

Yet, incredibly, the agency is allowing Lilly to keep discharging the chemicals into the river. "There is a problem," an EPA spokesman conceded. "But the present level of discharge is not an imminent hazard to human health."

A Lilly spokesman agreed that there is no danger.

Three mines in trouble

Fate uncertain for Newfoundland's mines in '77

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — It has been a mixed year for Newfoundland's three major island mining operations—the lead-zinc works at Buchans, the copper mine at Baie Verte and a fluorspar mine at St. Lawrence.

The future of Buchans is doubtful because its ore deposits are running out; Baie Verte has laid off workers because of market problems and St. Lawrence has suffered through a period of downtime because of labor problems at the Arvida, Que., operations of Aluminum Co. of Canada Ltd., which owns the mine. While these operations cannot be compared with the giant iron ore operations in the Labrador area of the province, they have quite an impact on economic and social conditions.

Buchans has probably the most serious problem because it is an inland town and has no other resources. Baie Verte and St. Lawrence are coastal settlements and men can go back to the fishery.

ORE RUNNING OUT

The Buchans operation, almost a half-century old, is the oldest working mine in Newfoundland. The ore deposits are running out and its life expectancy is down to three to five years.

At Baie Verte, about 100 men were laid off by Consolidated Rambler Mines last September and in late November the remaining 100 miners were advised that the company would suspend operations before the end of January, 1977.

The mine has been operating for 13 years, producing high-grade copper, but a high percentage of mercury content has caused marketing problems.

Consolidated Rambler ships to Noranda Mines in Quebec but the mercury level in the Baie Verte ore is suspected of causing environmental problems at the Noranda smelting operation. Fluorspar miners at St. Lawrence were just beginning to recover from the effects of a lengthy labor dispute.

Last July, about 80 of the 200 workers were laid off because of a strike at Alcan's processing mill in Arvida, Que. The mine's entire production is shipped to Arvida. However, all those laid off were expected to be back on the payroll by the end of the year.

There are about 7,000 permanent workers in the industry compared with around 3,500 a quarter-century ago and the annual payroll now exceeds $90 million.

The mining giant in the province is the iron ore operation in Labrador, where the workings have created two modern towns in a wilderness area. Labrador accounts for about 80 per cent of the provincial mining interest and may be even more important in the future. In addition to the possible utilization of additional iron ore deposits, there is the prospect of mining uranium in the northern territory.

40th annual convention of the Newfoundland Federation of Labor endorsed a resolution calling on the government to set up a compulsory depletion fund to be financed by contributions from the mining companies for each ton of product sold.

The money would be used to assist miners displaced by the closures of mining operations.

Despite ups and downs in the industry, it is one of the bright spots in the island economy, says John Crosbie, former provincial minister of mines and energy.

Provincial mineral production in 1975 was worth about $600 million, which is more than twice as much as it was a decade ago.

For 10 consecutive evenings Mrs. Eggleton instructs a belly-dancing class at the YM-YWCA.

"Always try to make it look easy, even if it isn't,"

she advised her students as they prepared to imitate her movements.

Some giggled as their eyes met a neighbor's. Others were serious. Still others uttered slight groans and moans.

Mrs. Eggleton said she teaches a Moroccan style of belly dancing, soft and flowing rather than the quick and jerky Hindu style.

She noted with satisfaction that the current popularity of belly dancing has dispelled its sleazy reputation. But she added that it should not be regarded as easy to do.

TRAINED IN BUFFALO She received her professional training in Buffalo at a time when there were no local instructors.

Mrs. Eggleton said the dancer is on her own, once she has learned the basic steps.

"You do steps which fit the music and go along with it in Middle Eastern fashion. This is why belly dancing is so creative."

A serious student can take a minimum of 40 hours to make a belt for a costume similar to the one the instructor wears. The pearls are strung by hand, using carpet thread or dental floss for the strength to stay intact when the movements become vigorous.

The belt itself is composed of layers of materials including horsehair and needs a lot of sewing.

But a lot of students come purely for the exercise and don't bother with the costume, Mrs. Eggleton said.

Her students talked freely to a reporter but most refused to give their names.

"I would just die if my friends and co-workers knew I came here," one explained.

"If I were younger and had a better figure and looked like our instructor I would tell you," said another.

They regarded belly dancing as a "fun way to exercise" and it was apparent that their bodies were being given a real workout.

"It helps you lose weight in the places you want to lose weight and it firms and tones up muscles," a student explained.

"Belly dancing makes you feel good all over."

Auxiliary for retarded children holds meeting in Lennoxville

The regular meeting of the Lennoxville Auxiliary for Retarded Children was held on the last Monday of November. The president, Miss Dorothy Wallace, presided. The club welcomed Mrs. Lillian McPaul as a new member. Mrs. Dorothy Bown read the minutes. Mrs. Sandra Stafford gave a financial report that reflected the excellent results of the club's activities. Mrs. Frances Noble reported on donations to the Homes that have been completed and others still being negotiated. Plans for special donations at Christmas were made. Another more than 20 boxes of used clothing are ready and have been sent to the Dixville Home.

The president thanked all who had worked so well to make the fall bazaar an outstanding success. Every active member was present to help or had made valuable contributions. Most associate members had done the same, while several interested persons volunteered to help on the big day. A special compliment goes to Mrs. Pat Winslow who supervised the drawing tickets for five months and achieved the best drawing ever had. The winners were: for the Crewel embroidery - Mrs. M. Vallee of Sherbrooke, the hooked rug - Mr. P. Lord of Sherbrooke and of the Mohair blanket - Mrs. A. Lothrop of Lennoxville.

Mrs. Kay Groenewold and Mrs. Muriel Wilson will look into the purchase of wool to have supplies for knitters to start building for next year. Mrs. Susan Shipway will look into various means of encouraging the production of hand-made novelties. Mrs. Frances Smith will continue to look after her specialty - Christmas Decorations with that personal touch.

The selection of a suitable memorial and plaque to the memory of the late past president, Mrs. Helen Ross, to be given to the Dixville Home was put in the hands of a committee, Mrs. F. Noble and Mrs. M. Wilson.

The annual contribution to the United Church for the use of their facilities was increased and voted to be paid. As the next meeting, Jan. 31, 1977 will be the annual one; a nominating committee was appointed, namely - Mrs. Margaret Dale, Mrs. Kay Groenewold and Mrs. Joan McLeod. Mrs. Pat Winslow and Mrs. Glenna Speck provided very delicious refreshments that were served at the close of the meeting while the members spent a social time together.

The Bazaar is like a large orchestra with many musicians and various melodies but all together producing a fine symphony.

Many persons helped prepare the halls the day before. The dining-room was decorated by Mrs. Frances Smith and Mrs. Dorothy Bown. Great assistance to arranging the tables was given by Mr. Burton Hughes and Mr. Jack Noble. Each area of the Bazaar reported record sales and much credit is due each convenor.

The kitchen under Mrs. F. Noble with help from Mrs. M. Lacroix, Mrs. M. Wilson, Mrs. G. Hall, Mrs. D. Lothrop, Mrs. M. Rick and all helped by Mrs. Drew, Mrs. G. Snow made the tea and coffee. Mrs. Babs Crawford supervised the dining room with eight Junior girls as waitresses. Tea and coffee were poured by Mrs. Adelaide St. Dizier, Mrs. Kay Baker, Mrs. Kay Jenckes and Miss K. Atto. Admission to the tea and finances were looked after by Mrs. S. Stafford and Mrs. A. Kobelt.

In the sales areas the food table was under Mrs. M. Dale with help from Mrs. K. Jenckes, Mrs. V. Aird, Mrs. C. Thompson and Mrs. M. Knutson. The Knitted Goods supervised by Mrs. K. Groenewold had help from Mrs. D. Miller, Mrs. G. Moore, Mrs. C. Bennett and Mrs. E. Turner.

A Miscellaneous table under Mrs. G. Smith and Mrs. D. Bown had assistance from Mrs. N. Foestel and Mrs. G. Speck. Barbie Dolls and their costumes so lovingly made each year by Mrs. L. V. Parent and Mrs. L. Watson were displayed and sold by Mrs. L. Watson, Mrs. F. Waterman and Mrs. I. Pattison.

Fashion and Beauty Tips

Nail problems
Protein nail conditioners help strengthen nail layers to prevent splitting.

Slipper magic
The right shoes for an antique dress are little small-heeled evening slippers in silk or satin.

Necklace for all
A gold leaf necklace, with the leaves nicely spaced apart, will brighten sporty or dressy outfits.

Veins away
Conceal spidery veins on your eyelids with some foundation.

Culotte cool
To dress up a tailored culotte outfit, try a satin or silk blouse with a self-tying culotte tie and add a T-strap shoe with a high heel.

In blazers
One jacket that works with colored velveteen or gabar-bow tie and add a neutral dine blazer.

Ann Landers says: Therapy treatment needed

Dear Ann Landers: Please tell me how a wife who has so much to be thankful for can behave like such a rotten, worthless shrew I am referring to myself.

I love my husband very much. He is a kind and gentle man with so many good qualities. My problem began last May when I went to the hospital to have our first child. I was 34 years old and we had tried for five years to have a family. Our joy was indescribable.

When I awakened from surgery they told me our baby was born dead. I cried for hours. When my husband came to see me I couldn't look at him. I was so filled with anger and hate I ordered him to leave.

Time has not helped. I still have these feelings of hostility toward my husband although I know he is not to blame. Sex is out of the question because of my anger. I realize I'm being unfair to him but I can't control my feelings. I am unable to discuss this problem with anyone because I'm a very private person. I realize I'm destroying my marriage and it's the only thing I have to live for. Please give me some good advice — Cracking Up in Delaware.

Dear Friend: You are a sick woman who should be ventilating her anger with a therapist.

I urge you to ask your obstetrician to suggest a psychiatrist who specializes in problems such as yours. Please don't lose another minute. You should have gone into treatment last May.

Dear Ann: This is in reply to the letter from "Concerned" who was worried that she might get Negro blood when she had a transfusion in the hospital. For two years I was seriously ill with a liver condition. I was in and out of the hospital several times. The last time I went into a coma. Even my wonderful doctor had doubts that I would make it.

Thanks to his skill and determination, plus a lot of help from God and BLOOD DONORS, I recovered and am now in excellent health.

During those two long years I received 54 pints of blood from unknown donors. If I could meet them, I would kiss each and every one. I couldn't care less about their color, sex, religion or anything else. — Grateful in Ohio

Dear Grate: Dozens of people wrote to express the same sentiments, but you said it best.

And now — how many of you readers out there have donated a pint of blood lately? It's a precious gift — and only YOU can give it. Contact any hospital and make an appointment — today.

Polly's Pointers Bride-to-be bids for bucks

By Polly Cramer

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY — I hope you can tell us the polite thing to do about wedding gifts. Through the years I have been collecting household items, and have most anything you can think of. We do not want to receive any wedding gifts, since we would not need most of them. Is there some polite way to ask for money on the invitations since we could use the money for bigger things we still need — SOON-TO-BE-WED.

DEAR SOON-TO-BE-WED — You certainly should not put this wish on your wedding invitations. Many brides have to return many gifts for credit because of duplicates, etc. so perhaps you could graciously receive any gifts, make careful note of where they were purchased and later return as many as possible for credit. Let the credit apply on one or more of the larger things you need. Your mother might very tactfully tell relatives, WHO ASK what you would like, that a gift certificate or check might be most appreciated. — POLLY.

DEAR POLLY — Mrs. T.D. wanted to know how to remove excessive transfer pattern marks from a piece to be embroidered. I tried rubbing alcohol on a mistake I made and the mark came right out. I find this works on some ballpoint ink marks, too. — MRS. W.C.C.

DEAR POLLY — Recently some dear friends who are well past Social Security age were leaving on an extended trip by car. We asked them to send us a card every few days so we would be sure of their health, safety and whereabouts. We were delighted that they not only wrote us on colorful scenic post cards, but put the cards in envelopes along with decorative brochures on which they added their observations in brief notations. Most of these envelopes also contained road maps of the state or province they had been in.

These are useful and beautiful keepsakes. Now when they return we can hear ALL about the journey and ask more knowledgeable questions. Thanks for the column and it is a dull paper on the rare days it does not appear. — M.G.B.

DEAR M.G.B. — It seems the nicest way you could show your appreciation for your friends' thoughtfulness would be to make a scrapbook FOR THEM using the material sent you and then they will have a record of the trip in pictures and print. — POLLY.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The secretary for country music singer Conway Twitty says she orders baseball caps for him "by the dozen." Twitty is rarely seen off stage without one. "I have to order them by the dozen," said Lou Manley. "He does change colors with each dozen."

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Actress Katherine Hepburn is performing in A Matter of Gravity this week while sitting in a wheelchair. The opening performance of the Enid Bhe Spreckles Theatre was sold out Monday, as are all performances for the play's week-long run. The veteran stage and screen actress was unable to stand because of a broken ankle suffered last month in a fall at her Hollywood Hills home.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The number of weekly programs NBC has cancelled rose to five Tuesday as the network confirmed industry reports it is dropping the Quest and Serpico series from its evening schedule. NBC said Monday it had cancelled Dick Van Dyke's comedy-variety series. It earlier dropped Gemini Man and NBC's Wednesday night TV movie series. All five cancelled series were in their first season on television and had low ratings.

A spokesman for the network here said replacement shows for Quest, a western, Serpico, a police series, and Van Dyke and Company will be announced later.

MILAN, Italy (AP) — Francesco Merli, operatic tenor who dominated the role of Verdi's Otello for years at La Scala Opera House, died Saturday at age 90.

Merli made his debut with La Scala in the part of the prophet Eliseus in Cossini's Moses and mastered some 80 roles in a long career with the Milan Opera House. The Corsican-born tenor abandoned the operatic stage with a final performance of Otello at Come's Outdoor Opera at the Baths of Caracalla 26 years ago.

contributions to the house where the late composer of Porgy and Bess and Rhapsody in Blue was born in 1898.

NEW YORK (Reuter) — A Korean film entitled Ape is unfairly trying to cash in on publicity for a contemporary version of King Kong. Paramount Pictures said in court Monday.

The company asked a U.S. federal judge to stop what it called unfair and deceptive advertising for Ape, showing here, alleging advertising "deceiving the public into thinking they are going to see the contemporary version of King Kong." Dec. 17, film producer Dino De Laurentis is set to release a new, $22-million version of the 1930s classic about a giant gorilla who goes, well, ape in New York City.

Defendants in the suit filed Monday were Barry International Properties, Worldwide Entertainment Corp., Norel Amusement Corp., Quad Cinema Corp. and Lee Ming Film Co.

PARIS (AP) — An arrest order was signed Monday for singer Charles Aznavour after he did not appear last Friday at a hearing concerning his involvement in a tax fraud case, court sources said.

The sources said Aznavour had not offered a satisfactory explanation for his absence and that the arrest warrant was issued by Judge Freddy Faucier of the criminal court in suburban Versailles. Aznavour has denied avoiding French taxes, claiming he now resides in Switzerland. But French tax officials contend the singer still lives primarily in France.

NEW YORK (AP) — Tex Antoine, suspended as a television weatherman last week after an on-the-air remark about rape, will not be fired, according to Kenneth MacQueen, vice-president and general manager of WABC-TV. Antoine has gone on a two-week vacation in the Virgin Islands and there was no indication when he will be back on the job.

The 27-year veteran of television weather forecasting was suspended for "an inexcusable lapse in judgement," for a remark he made last Wednesday about how to respond to a rapist.

Antoine's weather segment opened after a news story about the attempted rape of an 18-year-old girl. He remarked: "With rape so predominant in the news lately, Confucius once said, if rape is inevitable, relax and enjoy it."

An estimated 650 telephone complaints were received by the station in half an hour. Antoine, whose pay is believed to be about $1,000 a week, was ordered to apologize on the air, which he did, and was suspended indefinitely.

"We don't think we can use this as a thrust to end his career. We have no plans to fire or terminate Tex," MacQueen said Sunday.

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif.

(AP) — Actress Marisa Schiaparelli Berenson, 28, married aircraft parts maker James Randall, 33, then left immediately for an unknown honeymoon location. There were about 500 guests at the ceremony at Randall's home.

The granddaughter of designer Elsa Schiaparelli and daughter of diplomat Robert Berenson, she has appeared in the movies Death in Venice, Cabaret, Casanova and Company and Barry Lyndon.

Pastoral Charge meeting
COOKSHIRE - At the call of the Pastor, the Rev. Gordon Simons, a meeting of the Official Board of the Eaton Valley Pastoral Charge of the United Church of Canada was held in the church hall in Cookshire, on Sunday evening, Dec. 12.

Following the reading of the minutes, business arising from them was carried out. A motion was made that Miss Glenna Evans continue the duties as general treasurer, with assistance from Mr. and Mrs. Douglas MacKay, who would see about taking care of the Sawyerville collections, and would record and make the bank deposits.

It was stated that the amount of insurance on the parsonage had been increased and also the account paid.

For the new business, Dr. Lowry reported on the repairs to the Manor Home, and he stated that they were in hopes of having it in use by the beginning of the New Year. He also reported that quite a number of pieces of furniture had been donated by a lady for the home from her own home which she had recently sold.

There was considerable discussion re the date of a visit from the Presbytery executive, to be followed by a congregational supper. It was finally decided that Feb. 23 would be a suitable date.

WI celebrates 30th anniversary

FORDYCE — On Wednesday, Dec. 1st, the Fordyce Women's Institute gathered at the Knowlton Legion Hall to celebrate their 30th anniversary.

The W.I. Grace was repeated prior to the delicious turkey dinner which was served to 22 members and four guests. The Anniversary cake was made by the president, Mrs. Lewis, and cut by Miss Guila Jones, first treasurer and Mrs. H. David, first vice president.

Corsages were presented to President Mrs. M. Lewis, County Vice Pres., Mrs. M. Tait, Mrs. H. David and Miss Guila Jones. Corsages were arranged by Mrs. I. Williams.

Flower arrangement on the table, accompanied by a card signed by all, was to be given Miss K. Moore, who was unable to attend.

At the beginning of the regular meeting the president welcomed everyone present, and all repeated the Mary Stewart Collect, and Motto of the month which was: "Christmas comes but once a year, when it comes it brings good cheer".

A moment of silence was observed to pay tribute to our deceased members.

The minutes of the first Fordyce W.I. meeting, held at the home of the late Mrs. Geo. Hooper, on Nov. 27, 1946, were read by the first secretary, Mrs. Geo. Bromby.

County Vice Pres., Mrs. M. Tait congratulated our branch on behalf of the County Mrs. R. Moore, a guest, also expressed her congratulations.

The roll call was given, and members gave $2 each, to be sent to the Broadway Home in Sutton for Christmas treats.

Minutes of the November meeting were read and approved. Mrs. Williams reported the Cook books would be arriving any day, and they are expected before Christmas.

Treasurer's report was given and it was moved and seconded all bills be paid Correspondence Secretary, Mrs. O. Patterson read notes from Mrs. E. Dryden and Mrs. E. Brown, who were unable to attend our anniversary, but sent their best wishes Christmas greeting was also read sent by Our Pres., Mrs. Lewis.

A committee was appointed to meet at the Cowansville Town Hall on Tues. 14th, at 10:30 a.m. in regards to taxes for the picnic area.

Donations are to be given to "Tiny Tim" fund in Montreal, and Heroes Memorial Elementary School for milk for needy children.

President gave a report from the Semi-annual board meeting which she attended in Montreal. It was noted the provincial treasurer, Mrs. Cascadden has given her resignation as treasurer, to take effect immediately, and the position is open. Also convenors reports are to be sent to County Convenors in March, June and October.

There were 538 handy bags collected from the branches for "Care".

Following this report each member read a poem or article pertaining to Christmas.

Annual Convention dates are May 30-31 and June 1st-2nd at Macdonald College.

President thanked those who helped make our anniversary a wonderful time. After adjournment all joined in singing Christmas carols.

January meeting will be held at the United Church Hall on January 5th.

WMS meeting

SCOTSTOWN — Mrs. Kenneth A. MacDonald was hostess for St. Paul's Presbyterian Women's Missionary Society Group at her home on Dec. 8 with seven members answering the roll call.

Mrs. A. W. Murray president, presided over the meeting and opened it with a thought for the day, Peace on Earth, Good will to Men. The hymn While Shepherds watched their flocks by night was sung, followed by the reading of the Christmas Story from Luke 2: 4-20.

Mrs. W.G. MacLeod read an article "The Wise Men" by Wesley Ford, after which Mrs. Murray offered prayer.

The Treasurer, Mrs. D.P. Murray read the November financial report, also the Financial Statement for 1976, and moved their adoption, seconded by Mrs. W. G. MacLeod.

The following are the officers for 1977: Honorary President, Mrs. J.W. Smith; President, Mrs. A.W. Murray; Secretary, Mrs. J.E. MacDonald and Treasurer, Mrs. D.P. Murray.

The Annual Presbyterian Meeting will be held in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church in Sherbrooke, Jan. 8. It is hoped as many as possible will attend. St. Paul's Group were asked to conduct the opening devotions.

It was decided to remember a former family with a gift of money at Christmas. The sick and shut-ins are to be remembered with cards, and each resident of the Rosemary Rest Home with a gift. The offering was received and dedicated by the President.

The meeting closed with the singing of a hymn and prayer by Mrs. A.W. Murray.

Mrs. MacDonald served delicious refreshments, in keeping with the festive season, and a time of fellowship was enjoyed.

Mrs. John E. MacDonald will be hostess for the January meeting and Mrs. A.W. Murray will conduct the Study.

club. There was nothing better to do.

South ruffed, played one trump which was all he could afford, cashed three high spades in order to get rid of two of dummy's hearts, cashed his ace of hearts, ruffed his last heart with dummy's nine of trumps, drew trumps and had his slam.

He was lucky. Spades had to break 4-3 and trumps 3-2, but he had given the cards their chance.

ASK THE GOODYS

We continue to get questions as to the origin of the name "Bridge".

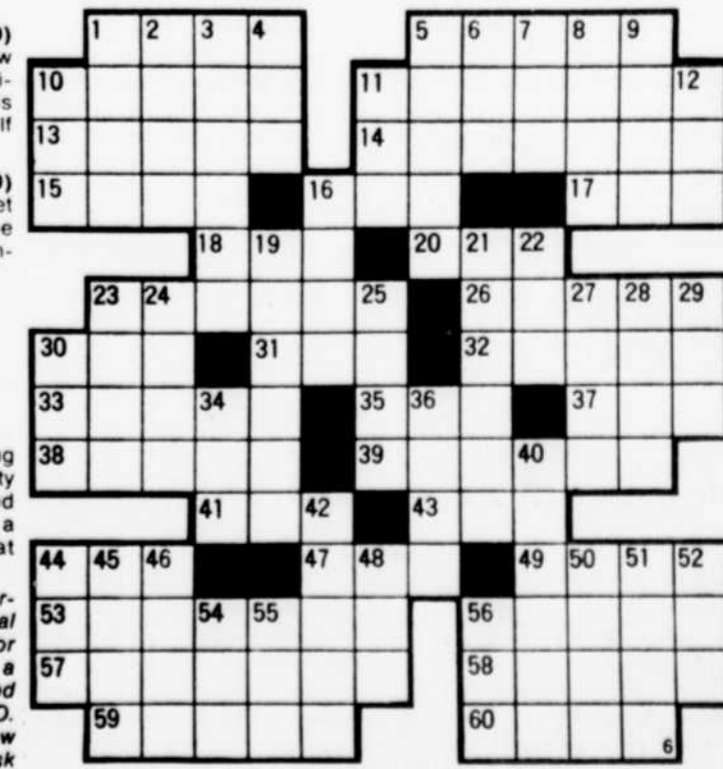

In the game of whist there was no bidding. In the original game that did allow the bidding the dealer either made trump by saying "I make it spades, hearts, etc." or "I'll bridge it" in which case his partner had to make trump. The opponents had no right to bid in that first form of the new game.

(Do you have a question for the experts? Write "Ask the Goodys" care of this newspaper. The Goodys will answer individual questions if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are enclosed. The most interesting questions will be used in this column and will receive copies of JACOBY MODERN.)

Kissinger bids adieu

Foreign policy balance between morality and practicality

NEW YORK (Reuter) — U.S. State Secretary Henry Kissinger, in a farewell essay to the American people on his conduct of U.S. foreign policy, has urged them to recognize the inherent ambiguities of his task.

In an essay published in the latest issue of Time magazine, Kissinger noted that for much of their history, Americans have acted as if morality and practicality were easily combined to solve problems.

While this may have been true in developing North America, Kissinger said that America's contemporary role in the world poses more difficult problems.

"Americans must learn the inescapable need to relate our moral aims, which of necessity are stated in universal terms, to the imperative choices imposed upon us by competing goals and finite resources," he wrote.

"Foreign policy is, like life, a constant effort to strike the right balance between the best we want and the best we can have—between the ends we seek and the means we adopt.

"As the world's leading democracy, it is our obligation to dedicate ourselves to assuring freedom for the human spirit. But responsibility compels also a recognition of our limits.

"There is no simple answer to the dilemma a great democracy faces under such circumstances. We have a moral as well as a practical obligation to stand up for our values and to combat injustice.

"But there are times when an effort to teach another country a moral lesson can undermine the very values we seek to promote. Thus we must take care not to elaborate a doctrine of universal intervention."

OUTLINES TASKS
Kissinger outlined three tasks facing the U.S.—maintenance of a secure and just peace, creation of "a cooperative and beneficial international order" and defence of the "rights and dignity of man."

On peace, he wrote: "History teaches us that balances based on constant tests of strength have always erupted into war. But common sense tells us that in the nuclear age, history must not be repeated." He called on the U.S. to strike a balance between appeasement and "mock tough rhetoric" to find a lasting peace.

Kissinger said America's "second moral imperative is the growing need for global cooperation" between rich and poor countries.

"A world in which a few nations constitute islands of wealth in a sea of despair is fundamentally insecure and morally intolerable," he said. "But the tactics of confrontation with which some of the developing nations have pursued their goals are as unacceptable as they are unproductive."

In building a new international economic order, he said, the industrial countries must have a "moral commitment—now, while there is still time for conciliation—to make the sacrifices necessary to build a sense of community."

On the part of the developing nations, "there must be an end to blackmail and extortion—now, before the world is irrevocably split into contending camps—and a commitment to seek progress through co-operation."

Rabin's purge of Parliament may force Israeli election

JERUSALEM (AP) — Political sources predict election of a new Israeli parliament in May, five months early, as a result of Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin's purge of the National Religious party from his coalition government.

Rabin's action ended his majority in the Knesset, the Israeli parliament, and raised the prospect that he might lose a vote of confidence this week. This would force him to resign and call an election.

Politicians and political observers generally believe an early election is Rabin's objective. They said he appears to be making a pre-emptive attack to take the governing Labor party's opponents to the polls before they were ready.

The Israeli state radio's political correspondent predicted that the prime minister will resign before the confidence vote. But he is believed unlikely to agree to an election before May because he wants to meet President-elect Carter soon after Carter's inauguration.

ABSTAINED ON VOTE

The National Religious party defied Rabin by abstaining in the vote on a motion of no confidence last Monday, saying that a government ceremony on Friday Dec. 10 desecrated the Jewish Sabbath because it did not end before sundown. The ceremony was held to celebrate the arrival of the first three U.S. F-15 fighters for the Israeli air force.

The government defeated the motion by a 55-to-48 vote, and newspapers predicted Rabin would do no more than chastise the rebels. Instead, he told a cabinet meeting Sunday that the National Religious party's three ministers in the cabinet in effect resigned from the government by abstaining on the no-confidence vote and that their party's action could not "be glossed over."

The loss of the National Religious party's 10 members left Rabin with the support of 57 of the 120 Knesset members, four less than a majority, and the Independent Liberal party, the other member of the coalition, said the prime minister would have to make concessions in order to retain its four votes.

OPPOSED BY FACTION

The Likud, the right-wing opposition bloc which has 38 seats, said it will introduce a new motion of no confidence in the government on Tuesday. One of the ousted National Religious party members said his faction will "do everything to advance the election date," indicating that it will vote against the government.

The National Religious party has been a member of nearly every Labor government since Israel was founded in 1948, but it is opposed to Rabin's professed willingness to trade occupied territories for a peace agreement with the Arabs.

If Rabin emerges from elections with greater parliamentary strength, the movement toward Arab-Israeli peace talks might increase because he would no longer have to worry about the National Religious party's opposition. But a large number of voters are opposed to making territorial concessions to the Arabs, and gains for the Likud are possible.

Royal Rover reprimanded

LONDON (AP) — A speeding charge has been filed against Princess Anne, who has in the past been warned about her driving habits.

Her latest brush with the law involves a charge of driving her Rover sedan at a speed of 90 miles an hour through a 70-m.p.h. zone, police said Sunday.

The 26-year-old princess is alleged to have topped 90 m.p.h. on the drive through Derbyshire in the English Midlands while accompanied by her husband, army Capt. Mark Phillips, and her police bodyguard.

Derbyshire police couldn't say when the princess will be brought to court, but a police spokesman said: "I can confirm that court proceedings are pending."

Police were criticized in 1972 when they did not prosecute Anne for earlier driving offences.

Lebanese press defies ban

BEIRUT (AP) — Lebanon's press syndicate published two banned leftist Beirut newspapers today, defying Syrian orders shutting down half the capital's papers.

The syndicate, a publishers' association, provided its headquarters for use by a joint staff putting out the pro-Iraqi Al Moharrer and pro-Libyan As Safir.

The newspapers, whose offices were occupied by the Syrians six days ago, went on sale carrying identical news reports and headlines but different editorials.

The Syrian crackdown on the press resulted from criticism of the Syrian troop action that put an end to Lebanon's 19-month civil war.

Syrian troops during the night closed down the offices and printing press of Lebanon's leading daily newspaper, the independent An Nahar, and its French-language edition, L'Orient-Le Jour.

Troops armed with AK-47 machine-guns prevented anyone from entering the 10-storey An Nahar building, which also houses the offices of United Press International (UPI), a U.S. news agency, and Newsweek magazine.

Later in the day, the Syrian troop commander allowed UPI and Newsweek employees to use their offices, but they were cut off from the city electrical supply.

Since Wednesday, Syrian troops have closed down the offices of seven newspapers and one weekly magazine. The Syrians have not interfered with the pro-Syrian Al Sark, the Moslem Al Shaab, the pro-Libyan Al Kifah Al-Arabi and five Christian papers: Al Ahrar, Le Liberal, Al Anwar, Al Amal and Al Bayraq.

All surviving newspapers reported today that Sarkis and his Moslem premier, Salim el-Hoss, will ask parliament Thursday to grant them powers to proclaim a state of emergency and rule by decree for at least six months.

Special Church Services

WAY'S MILLS — The Way's Mills Anglican and United Church congregation has recently held two seasonal special services.

On Dec. 5 at 7:30 p.m. Rev. Ron Smith conducted an Advent Service to which all congregations in the Anglican Cluster Parish were invited. Persons attended from Compton, Coaticook and Hatley as well as guests from Magog.

The Purple Candle of Advent was lit by Rev. Ron Coughlin who also gave the meditation based on "The Holy Spirit" in the total ministry.

Following the service, coffee and cookies were served while everyone enjoyed pleasant conversation and fellowship.

On Dec. 12, at the usual hour of 11 a.m., Mr. Stanley Beerworth conducted a special Christmas service at which the Third Candle of Advent was also lit. He was assisted in the service by Benoit and Antoine Saito who each played two selections on their recorders and by Kelly Holmes who sang and played her guitar accompaniment.

Mr. Beerworth charmed the children with his Christmas story and, following the service, they all received bags of candy. The special monetary "White Gift" offering went to Champagne House, The Butters Centre.

Candles and greenery were in each window and Mr. and Mrs. Ashley Gemmill had placed and decorated a truly beautiful Christmas tree at the front of the church.

Thus it is that this small village and rural community unites its various denominations both Protestant and Catholic in celebrating the birth of Christ.

Raiders-Steelers, a rivalry unmatched in sport

Forget about the Super Bowl. Welcome to the Third World War.

When Oakland Raiders and Pittsburgh Steelers get together, some funny and not-so-funny things seem to happen.

Like bloodshed. In just a few seasons, these two National Football League teams have developed a rivalry virtually unmatched in the sport.

"It'll be the game of the century," Pittsburgh offensive lineman Mike Webster said of next Sunday's American Conference championship at Oakland.

For the last two years the Steelers and Raiders have battled for the AFC crown. Each time Pittsburgh has won and has gone on to a Super Bowl title.

They're renewing acquaintances because the Raiders rallied from a 21-10 fourth-quarter deficit Saturday to beat New England Patriots 24-21 on quarterback Ken Stabler's one-yard touchdown run with 10 seconds to play.

BRADSHAW HOT
And because the Steelers rode Terry Bradshaw's three touchdown passes to a 40-14 rout of Baltimore Colts on Sunday.

There's a National Conference title to be decided, too. But somehow it doesn't seem to carry quite the impact of the Steelers-Raiders game.

For the record, though, it'll be Los Angeles Rams at Minnesota to face the Vikings in a rematch of a 10-10 tie played between the two teams early in the regular season.

The Vikings whipped

Washington Redskins 35-20 Saturday with Fran Tarkenton throwing three touchdown passes, two of them to rookie Sammie White.

On Sunday, the Rams nosed out Dallas Cowboys 14-12 with Lawrence McCutcheon scoring the winning touchdown in the opening minute of the final quarter.

There has been some bad blood between the Raiders and Steelers.

In the first game of the season, George Atkinson leveled Lynn Swann with a forearm. The result was a concussion suffered by the Pittsburgh wide receiver—and a lawsuit filed by Atkinson against Chuck Noll after the Pittsburgh coach said a few unkind things.

ROUGH ON PATS

It was also suggested in some quarters that Oakland may have been a bit rough on the Patriots last Saturday.

On one play, tight end Russ Francis' nose was broken, compliments of Atkinson. Like Swann, Francis was running out the tail end of a play in which he played no part.

"The Raiders had better clean up their act," said Daryl Stingley of the Patriots.

It's possible the Steelers will place some extra effort on cleaning it up for them.

Bradshaw threw a 76-yard scoring pass to Frank Lewis on the third play of the game in Baltimore and later flipped touchdown passes of 29 and 11 yards to Lynn Swann.

Franco Harris piled up 132 yards rushing for the Steelers but both he and Rocky Bleier left the game with injuries that have made them questionable for the AFC championship game.

Bleier stubbed a toe and Harris has bruised ribs.

Those injuries gave Reggie Harrison the chance to score a pair of touchdowns on runs of one and 10 yards.

Normally, a runaway game such as this one may be criticized. In this case, it was a blessing.

PLANE HITS STANDS

About 10 minutes after it ended, a single-engine plane piloted by a man who was reported to have been buzzing Memorial Stadium during the game, crashed into the upper deck.

The section, which may still have been jammed by fans had it been a close game, had long been vacated. No one was seriously hurt.

"We did what we had to do," coach John Madden said after his Raiders rallied to turn back the wild-card Patriots.

Ken Stabler's touchdown run was the decisive factor—but equally decisive was a penalty called against Patriot middle guard Ray Hamilton.

It happened on a third-down play with 57 seconds to go. Hamilton belted Stabler just after the ball was thrown. It was incomplete, but Hamilton was called for roughing the passer.

Instead of punting, the Raiders had a first down and eventually a touchdown.

Tarkenton completed 12 of 21 passes against Washington, including scoring strikes of nine and 27-yards to White and an 18-yarder to tight end Stu Voigt.

FOREMAN GAINS 105

Chuck Foreman gained 105 yards in 20 carries, including touchdown runs of two and 30 yards. Brent McClanahan added 101 yards on 20 carries for his first 100-yard game as a pro.

The Vikings will be facing a Los Angeles club they beat 14-10 in the NFC title game two years ago.

Rams coach Chuck Knox wasn't ready to look ahead to the game against the Vikings just yet.

"Let me celebrate this one for a while before I think of Minnesota," he said after the squeaker over the Cowboys which wiped out the humiliation of the 37-7 shellacking Dallas administered in Los Angeles in the NFC title game a year ago.

The Rams had apparently settled for a 10-10 tie early in the fourth quarter when Tom Dempsey kicked a field goal.

But Dallas was penalized for running into the kicker. Knox rejected the three points, took a first down and eventually scored on McCutcheon's burst.

Can the Davis cup be saved

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Can the Davis Cup be saved?

Can the 76-year-old ritual, once the centrepiece of world tennis, be restored to its former glamor and prestige? Or is it slated for extinction in the new big money, highly commercialized atmosphere of the modern game?

The sport's administrators, architects, players and plain buffs pondered the questions today in the wake of another confusing Davis Cup weekend.

Italy and Chile were playing in Santiago for possession of the silver bowl which Dwight Davis put into circulation in 1900. Argentina and Brazil were supposed to be playing somewhere in South America—nobody was quite sure. The United States and Mexico were knocking fuzzy yellow balls at each other here in the North American zone semi-finals.

What's happening anyway? Nobody knew for sure.

Italy and Chile were playing in the 1976 final. They were playing to see who was the top tennis country in the world.

Italy won. The best in the world? What about America, with Jimmy Connors, Stan Smith, Arthur Ashe? What about Sweden, with Bjorn Borg, or Australia with John Newcombe, Tony Roche, John Alexander?

The matches here—as those involving Argentina and Brazil—were in the 1977 eliminations. The seasons criss-cross.

Top players decline to play for their countries because they are too busy making hundreds of thousands of dollars in rich tournaments and exhibitions.

Meanwhile, the Davis Cup countries are ripped by political squabbling. The Soviet bloc, with support of African nations, is boycotting the competition because of the presence of apartheid South Africa and Chile.

"Our first job is to clear the political air," says W. Harcourt Woods, America's delegate to the Davis Cup management committee.

"Then we can go about trying to work out a more practical and a more exciting format."

Woods would like a condensed format with top countries battling for the trophy in a two-week period.

William Talbert, former U.S. Davis Cup player and captain as well as one-time chairman of the U.S. Open, is the most outspoken proponent of this plan.

"Properly handled," says Talbert, "it could be a tennis Super Bowl. Pick the 12 leading tennis nations on their record... and give them a bye into the finals."

"Then let all the smaller countries play an elimination for four at-large teams. Have the 16 teams meet at a single site for two weeks to decide the championship."

"The TV networks would be fighting for the show. No player of stature would dare spurn it. Too much prestige and national exposure would be involved."

Tony Trabert, who as captain led the U.S. Davis Cup team to a victory over Mexico here during the weekend, also favors the condensed schedule.

"It is obvious that a player, who is now a professional with the game his only livelihood, cannot devote himself to the year-round Davis Cup schedule, no matter how strong his patriotism."

Juniors manage 4-4 tie

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Juniors, buoyed by a 4-4 tie against Moscow Selects on Saturday night, crushed Hull Olympics 8-2 in Quebec Major Junior Hockey League action Sunday at the Montreal Forum.

In other QMJHL games Sunday, Shawinigan Dynamos doubled Trois-Rivieres Draveurs 4-2. Sherbrooke Beavers defeated Laval Nationals 5-3. Cornwall outscored Sorel 9-3 and Chicoutimi beat Quebec 7-4.

In Montreal, Normand Dupont led the Juniors at attack with three goals. Kevin Reeves had two and singles were scored by Gerard Champagne, Pierre Guimond and Christian Drolet.

Hull goals were scored by Denis Pomerleau and Mike Harquail.

In Sherbrooke, 3,106 fans watched as Daniel Chicoine led the Beavers attack with two goals. Ron Carter, Ray Roy and Larry Mensour scored the other Sherbrooke goals. Bernard Harbec, Stephen Ough and Michel Bossy were the marksmen for Laval.

BREAK TIE

The first period ended in a scoreless tie at Shawinigan but the Dynamos broke out with goals by Rene Hamelin and Yves Grenier in the second period. Trois-Rivieres scored twice in the third period with goals by Guy Dupuis and Richard Dalpe but Shawinigan added two more to win the game.

In afternoon play, Cornwall Royals had a 4-2 lead at the end of the first period, then coasted to a 9-3 win over Sorel Black Hawks. Tim Torrance and Bill Smith each scored twice for Cornwall with singles by Cam McGregor, Gord Bottin, Bob Crawford, Jamie Conroy and Mike Hodgins.

Yves Fontaine, Gary Platt and Benoit Gosselin scored for Sorel.

Allan Haworth scored twice for Chicoutimi to lead the Saguenens to a 7-4 win over Quebec Remparts. Bob Sullivan, Sylvain Locas, Alain Cote, Louis Sleigher and Robert Charette had the other Chicoutimi goals.

Jean Savard, Eddy Godin with two and Mario Marois scored for the Remparts.

In Saturday's only QMJHL game, Cornwall edged Hull 5-4.

The next QMJHL action takes place Jan. 6, after a holiday break.

Colorado netminder finds himself fending off pucks and punches

Doug Favell has always been a battler and Sunday night was no exception. The 31-year-old Colorado netminder, who has fought a chronic back problem and other ailments throughout his 10-year National Hockey League career, found himself fending off both pucks and punches Sunday night.

Making his first start in two months after being sidelined with a knee injury, Favell was peppered with 55 shots Sunday and also became involved in a second-period brawl as the Rockies dropped a 4-3 decision to Philadelphia Flyers.

"That fight and 55 shots was the last thing I needed in my first game back," said

Favell, playing in only his fourth game this season.

In other action, St. Louis Blues downed Chicago Black Hawks 6-4, Boston Bruins dumped Pittsburgh Penguins 6-3, Buffalo Sabres trounced Detroit Red Wings 6-1 and New York Rangers edged Cleveland Barons 3-2.

In Saturday games, the Rangers and Hawks played to a 3-3 tie, Buffalo defeated New York Islanders 4-2, Philadelphia blanked St. Louis 2-0, Detroit tripped Atlanta Flames 6-3 and Montreal Canadiens shut out Los Angeles Kings 2-0. Washington Capitals beat Pittsburgh 5-3, Vancouver Canucks downed Minnesota North Stars 3-1, Toronto Maple Leafs got past Colorado 4-2 and Cleveland upset Boston 6-4.

CLARKE GETS WINNER

It took a deflection from Bobby Clarke at 17:06 of the second period on a power play to give the Flyers the win and vault them into first place in the Patrick Division, one point ahead of the idle Islanders. It was Clarke's second goal of the game and 24th of the season.

Favell was purchased from Toronto in September after voicing his disfavor at being relegated to third-string status behind Wayne Thomas and Gord McRee.

He was given the starting assignment in the Rockies' season opener at home in October and responded with an outstanding performance as Colorado downed the Leafs 4-2. But he injured his knee in his third start and had been out of action since then.

The game also marked the return of Wayne Stephenson, making his first start of the season in the Philadelphia goal after a lengthy contractual holdout.

The Rockies fired 38 shots at Stephenson, including 16 in the second period. The middle period was also Favell's busiest as he was called upon to face 20 drives.

Five goals were scored in the period, including Clarke's winner.

The second-period brawl erupted during a line change at 2:56 and before calm was restored, Harvey Bennett of the Flyers had been ejected from the game and four players had been assessed double majors—two to each club. Favell was given a minor and major for his part in the altercation which resulted in a total of 86 minutes in penalties being called. He also picked up a minor later in the period.

LEACH SCORES PAIR

The Flyers also got two goals from Reg Leach. Rookie Paul Gardner had two goals for the Rockies with Wilf Paiement getting the other.

The victory extended the Flyers' unbeaten streak to 15 games, 11-0-4, the longest in the NHL this season, and pushed their home unbeaten streak to 16 games, 15-0-1.

At Chicago, Pierre Plante's goal with 5:21 remaining broke a 4-4 tie and gave the Blues their first victory in 11 games. The win also gave St. Louis a six-point lead over second-place Chicago in the Smythe Division.

Hank Nowak scored two goals and assisted on two others to pace the Bruins to their 23rd consecutive win over the Penguins at Boston Garden. Pittsburgh had taken a 2-0 first-period lead on goals by Pierre Larouche and rookie Blair Chapman, but Boston tied it in the second on Nowak's two goals.

Buffalo got two goals from Rick Martin, his 20th and 21st of the season, to stay one point back of first place Boston in the Adams Division. Gil Perreault added his 20th goal of the season for the Sabres who outshot the visitors 34-23.

At New York, Phil Esposito scored once and set up two others for the Rangers who built up a 3-0 lead after two periods and then hung on for the win.

In games tonight, Atlanta is at Toronto, while Vancouver plays host to Montreal.

Bishop's Invitational Tournament

Pierrefonds nabs title

LENOXVILLE — Pierrefonds Comprehensive High School scored three first period goals and played tough hockey in the final two frames to outlast Howard S. Billings High for the championship title of the Bishop's University Invitational High School Tournament held here on the weekend.

The young PCHS squad piled jubilantly into their dressing room after edging defending champs Billings 3-2 in a breath-taking spectacle. It was the first year Pierrefonds had ever made it to the finals, while for Billings, a victory would have given them their third consecutive triumph and the fourth title since the tournament's inception six years ago.

PCHS defeated Trinity College School and MacDonald-Cartier Memorial High to advance to the championship final, while HSBHS beat Massey-Vanier Regional High and Bishop's College School in reaching their third contest.

The Pierrefonds boys, with their three tournament wins, are still undefeated this season, having won five matches and tied another in Greater Montreal Interscholastic Athletic Association play. With most of the team being first-year seniors, PCHS will be a persistent threat for upcoming years.

Friday evening, quarter-final play saw four games completed. MacDonald-Cartier opposed Monseigneur Harold Doran High in the first match, winning 3-2. Cesare Caracci and Remi Vigneault scored for Doran in the first period while Jean Lapalme tallied for MCMHS. Lapalme turned out to be the main figure for MCM as he scored a goal in each of the remaining periods to lead them to victory.

Billings scored five unanswered goals in the last 41 minutes to dump Massey-Vanier Regional 6-2. Mike Lostraco opened the scoring for Billings but MVRHS markers by Tony Allen and Hugh Morris turned the tide. Warren Goodleaf, Gordon Greene, Andrew Little, Robert Harvey and John Rice accounted for the HSBHS tallies.

ONLY SHUTOUT

A goal by Danny Scheunert at 19:06 of the first period gave Bishop's College School enough edge to nip St. Pius X High School 1-0. Gilbert Landry recorded the shutout—the only one in the tournament.

Three opening period markers by PCHS paved the way to their 5-2 win over Trinity College School from Port Hope, Ont. Denis Lagarde with a pair and Glenn Crawley scored in the first frame, while Rick Bandura and Kelly Gravelle tallied in the other periods. TCS' Mark Bachors and Peter Goering scored in the third stanza.

Semi-final action in the consolation section on Saturday had TCS top Harold Doran 3-2 in the event's lone overtime contest. Remi Vigneault and Cesare Caracci tallied for Doran while Don Bowman and Ken Alton replied in regulation time. Alton banged home the winner after 5:26 of the second supplementary session.

St. Pius nipped MVRHS in a close 3-2 encounter. Remeo Ronci counted two goals in the second period, with Hugh Norris scoring for MVR. Mike Haad evened the margin in the third but Anthony Stivaletti popped the winning home to clinch the Pius victory.

On the championship side, Pierrefonds, beat MCMHS 5-3. MCM led by a goal after the first period following scores by Frank Laxton, Danny Campbell and Jean Lapalme. Shawn Doherty with a pair, Denis Lagarde, Glenn Crawley and Dave Bluteau tallied for PCHS.

John Nethersole's marker late in the first stanza gave BCS the lead, but Billings turned it on the last two periods to win 3-1. Mike Lostraco, Gordon Greene and Rick Renaud scored for HSB.

The consolation final pitted St. Pius against TCS, with the former winning handily after a strong five-goal opening frame by a 7-2 score. Remeo Ronci, Robert Savoca and Anthony Stivaletti each had two-goal performances with Francois Nelson adding one goal. Peter Goering and Doug McGregor scored for TCS.

Warren Goodleaf gave Pierrefonds a short-lived lead in the title match when he beat rookie goalie Nick Budnick. PCHS turned right around and blasted away at the HSB netminder for three markers in that period by Rick Bandura, Neil Bremner and Denis Lagarde. Rick Renaud pulled Billings one closer on a powerplay tally at 15:06 of the middle period, but it didn't prove to be a factor.

Both teams continued their physical brand of hockey in the third stanza, with Billings looking a bit slower in the last few minutes, possibly because they had only a one-and-a-half hour break between games, while Pierrefonds had double that amount.

ALL-STAR SQUAD

The all-tournament comprised goaltender Gilbert Landry of BCS, defencemen Kevin O'Hanley of Billings and Shawn Doherty of PCHS. Pierrefonds forward John Kinch, MacDonald-Cartier's Jean Lapalme and Remeo Ronci from St. Pius X.

PCHS' Kinch won the Most Valuable Player, an unusual feat as he didn't score one goal in the three games, but tournament organizers felt his contribution to the team snubbed them to win.

Pierrefonds coach Frank Murray, with cheers going up in the background, said it felt great to beat Billings and that they hope to do the same thing next year.

SOVIETS MOVE ONE STEP CLOSER

MOSCOW (CP) — A Soviet victory over Winnipeg Jets and Sweden's upset of Czechoslovakia Sunday moved the Soviet Union one step closer to winning the Izvestia hockey tournament.

The powerful Soviet squad struck suddenly in the second period for three goals en route to a 6-4 triumph over Winnipeg of the World Hockey Association, the first professional team ever to play in this annual tournament.

Lars Gunnar Lundberg scored on a quick break at 18:49 of the third period to give Sweden a 2-1 win over Czechoslovakia.

The Soviet Union now has three wins and needs only a tie against Czechoslovakia in the final game Tuesday to win the title for the ninth time in 11 years. Czechoslovakia can win it, but it has to beat the Soviets.

Czechoslovakia has two wins and one loss. Sweden has one win, a tie and a loss and the Jets have one tie in three games. Finland lost its first two games and plays Sweden in the only game today.

The Soviet victory before a capacity crowd at the Ice Palace left many of the Jets anxious for their rematch next month in Winnipeg.

"I'm confident we'll beat them next time," said Jets coach Bobby Kromm. "We'll be healthy, more confident and be playing in our own building."

"This team is better than the one that gained a 3-3 tie in Montreal with the Canadiens, but I think we'll beat them in Winnipeg," Ulf Nilsson told reporters.

The Soviet team is a powerhouse with Alexander Yakushev the only prominent name missing. He will be with the team when it tours WHA cities next month but was dropped from this tournament because of his poor play in two games last week.

Valery Vasiliev did not play Sunday because of an injury suffered in Friday's game against Finland.

But all the other Russians who have become so popular in North America in recent years are playing, including Valery Kharlamov, Vladimir Petrov, Boris Mikhailov and Alexander Maltsev.

"We did honor for our league today," said Jets' forward Anders Hedberg. "This is a stronger team than the one that played in Montreal. If the National Hockey League thinks the WHA is so weak, I challenge it to send the Montreal Canadiens over here to play this team and see how well it does."

The teams played to a 1-1 sawoff in the first period. The Jets missed taking the lead by an inch early in the second period before the Soviets jumped on Winnipeg mistakes for three goals in four minutes and seven seconds.

Victor Zhukov, Mikhailov and Helmut Balderis were the opportunists for the Soviets. That 4-1 lead was extended to 5-1 early in the third before Winnipeg got two quick goals by Bobby Hull.

The Jets' other goals were scored by Willy Lindstrom and Peter Sullivan. Zhukov and Balderis scored twice for the Soviets with Boris Aleksandrov also scoring.

"Except for these few minutes in the second period we stayed with them," said defenceman Ted Green who bounced a shot off the inside of the Soviet goalpost 30 seconds into the second period. "But you can't afford to have lapses like that."

"But two of those goals were lucky bounces," said Kent Ruhnke who had a glorious chance to put Winnipeg ahead late in the first period but could not control a bouncing puck. "Their second goal we had stopped but the puck just rolled loose from Barry Long. And on their next one the puck bounced off the post right to Balderis."

The Jets played the Soviets on even terms most of the game despite taking four of six minor penalties and being continually upset by offside and icing calls against them.

Racers win 3-2 over Bulls

Overtime becoming routine

Overtime games are becoming routine occurrences for Indianapolis Racers.

"We haven't lost in overtime yet, and I think the key is that when we get in overtime we seem to be in super shape," Racers coach Jacques Demers said Sunday night after Al Karlander's sudden-death goal gave his club a 3-2 victory over Birmingham Bulls in World Hockey Association play.

The Racers trail first-place Quebec in the East Division by one point. The Nordiques dropped a 5-3 decision to San Diego Mariners on Sunday, while Houston Aeros beat Phoenix Roadrunners 6-4 and Edmonton Oilers downed Cincinnati Stingers 4-2.

In Saturday play, New England Whalers dumped Birmingham 3-2, Minnesota Fighting Saints edged Cincinnati 4-3, Calgary Cowboys tripped Quebec 4-2 and San Diego nipped Houston 4-3.

After a scoreless first period, the Racers scored twice in a two-minute stretch on goals by Bob Scinski and Mark Lomenda. Birmingham's Tim Sheehy scored at 13:54 of the period and Vaclav Nedomansky tied it for the Bulls on an assist by Sheehy at 18:22 of the third period.

SCORED WINNER

Karlander's game-winner, his seventh goal of the season, came off assists by Bryon Baltimore and Reg Thomas at 2:11 of overtime.

Third-period goals by Joe Norris and Norm Ferguson were the margin of victory as the Mariners moved five points up on second-place Winnipeg in the West Division. The Jets are in Moscow taking part in the Izvestia Cup international tournament. They hold three games in hand on the Mariners.

The victory maintained San Diego's undefeated string at home this season. The Mariners have won all 13 games and are the only WHA club undefeated on home ice this season.

Gordie Howe's empty-net goal with 40 seconds left secured the Aeros' victory, their 13th in a row over the Roadrunners—a WHA record for the most consecutive wins by one club over another.

Howe also scored a short-handed goal during a three-goal second-period flurry. He now has nine for the season.

At Edmonton, goaltender Ken Broderick played a strong game, particularly in the final period, as the Stingers narrowed the score to 3-2 with two quick goals and fired 15 shots in his direction during the 20 minutes.

Bob Nevin scored what proved to be the winner for Edmonton at 16:20 of the second period. Edmonton now trails Houston by three points, while the Stingers are two back of Indianapolis.

In tonight's games, Calgary is at Edmonton, Houston entertains New England and Quebec is at Birmingham.

Nastase wins again

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Defending champion Iie Nastase of Romania ran his World Championship Tennis Challenge Cup earnings to $250,000 Sunday, using his high-powered and accurate service to defeat Spain's Manuel Orantes 6-2, 2-6, 6-1 in the semi-final of the $320,000 event.

Nastase, who kept his temper under control here for the last four days, swept through the 1976 Challenge Cup series undefeated and picked up $180,000 for his toil. He added another $50,000 to his bankroll with his victory over Orantes, and earned $10,000 each for victories over Rod Laver and Harold Solomon earlier this week.

Nastase now will face American ace Jimmy Connors in the final April 10 in Las Vegas.

Connors gained the final two weeks ago by defeating Vitas Gerulaitis of New York. Connors, who has won 13 straight challenge matches here, has picked up a total of $760,000 in play here.

Orantes, who won $20,000 for two victories this week, said he was tired after a long year in which he has played as many matches as any other player on the tour.
