City C of C opposes 'Estrie' for autoroute

BRIDGE GOES OUT — This bridge is among many which were washed out in Oakbridge, Oregon area yesterday. Top picture shows most of roadway still connected to the bridge. Bottom shows last part of roadway as it plunges into the water. Actual bridge remained virtually undamaged but approach was completely washed out late yesterday.

Strong opposition to any proposed change in the name of 'L'Autoroute des Cantons de l'Est' (Eastern Townships Autoroute) to 'L'Autoroute de l'Estrie' was registered in a resolution approved unanimously at the regular meeting this week of the directors of the Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce.

The resolution has been sent to Labor Minister Carrier Fortin with copies being addressed to Roads Minister Bernard Pinard and Guy Poloquin, president of the Autoroute Authority.

In its resolution the Chamber points out that there is some confusion as to the territory embraced in 'L'Estrie' which seems to vary according to the purpose for which the word is used.

The name 'Cantons de l'Est' dates back to 1791 when it was used to designate the counties of Richelieu, Bedford and Buckinghamshire and has become part of the historical patrimony of the region, the resolution continues.

Urging the retention of 'Cantons de l'Est' the Chamber points out that the name has been used for many years in both tourist and industrial promotion campaigns.

The Chamber expressed the belief that the disappearance of 'Cantons de l'Est' would reduce much of the value of earlier publicity campaigns.

The resolution also asked that the Quebec Tourist Bureau immediately halt the use of the word 'L'Estrie' to designate the region known as 'Cantons de l'Est.'

Vietnam 'Turks' force nine generals to quit

Crisis is most dangerous

SAIGON (AP)—The United States is facing a crisis in relations with its South Vietnamese allies more dangerous than any since Aug. 1963, when Washington decided to make a stand against the late president Ngo Dinh Diem.

Once again the joint effort by the U.S. and South Viet Nam

SAIGON (Reuters) — The senior South Vietnamese generals have been compulsorily retired by Chief of State Phan Khanh Sui at the insistence of a group of young generals known as the Young Turks, informed sources said today.

They included Lt-Gen. Duong Van Minh, former chief of state, and three other generals who with him led the group against the late president Ngo Dinh Diem a year ago.

The Young Turks—commanders of key fighting units—three days ago dissolved the high national council, the civilian provisional legislature. They also purged dissident politicians and took control of the armed forces.

The moves were coupled with a defiant challenge to the United States position in Viet Nam by Armed Forces Chief Lt-Gen. Nguyen Khanh, former chief of state.

Tuesday Khanh broadcast "orders of the day" which made it clear the South Vietnamese military fully intended to take the role of a super-government despite strong American pressure to restore full authority to the civilian government.

DEFY U.S. THREATS

Khanh defied U.S. threats to hold back military aid if the armed forces refused to modify the brushing aside of the temporary legislature.

He said the armed forces would not "carry out the policy of any foreign country."

He added: "Better to live poor but proud as free citizens of an independent country rather than in ease and shame as slaves of foreigners and Communists."

The three generals retired with Minh have been charged with planning to hand over South Viet Nam to a neutralist regime.

The Young Turks had pressed for the retirement of the nine generals but were blocked by the high national council, now dissolved.

US protest is expected

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Secretary Dean Rusk was expected at a press conference today to underline strong U.S. opposition to interference by the South Vietnamese military with the duly constituted government in Saigon.

Washington wants the generals to shun politics and concentrate on winning the war.

With President Johnson's approval, the state department Tuesday night issued an unusually tough statement warning Vietnamese generals that American support is based on the existence of a Saigon government of national unity "without improper interference from any group."

The statement also gave full backing to U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor, whose efforts to undo Sunday's military purge of the civilian regime came under attack from Vietnamese Commander Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh.

Rain and gale winds continue onslaught

EUREKA, Calif. (AP) — Torrential rains and gale-force winds continued to lash four Pacific Northwest states today, imperiling scores of cities and towns and causing millions of dollars of damage.

Six persons have died and three rescuers are missing in the two-day storm that has forced at least 5,000 persons to flee before raging waters of a dozen flood-swollen mountain rivers.

Twins freed

MONTREAL (CP) — A lawyer representing Giuseppe and Rocco Violi, Italian twins freed by order of the Supreme Court of Canada after an eight-month jail stay under a deportation warrant, described the court decision as "a major breakthrough."

"It means that the Minister of Immigration is not a law unto himself," Lawyer A. H. Zaitlin said Tuesday.

No protest

ROME (AP) — The Communists threw their big bloc of votes to Socialist Pietro Nenni today, and two rightist parties backed Christian Democrat Giovanni Leone. But neither won the majority necessary for election as president of Italy.

The 13th ballot in the Italian Parliament this morning carried the election into an unprecedented second week with no end to the deadlock in sight.

Reds object

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — Last-minute Soviet objections threatened today to upset an expected agreement that would permit the UN General Assembly to recess for the Christmas holidays without Soviet voting rights being challenged.

UN negotiators plunged into a new round of talks in the hope that the assembly still might be able to adjourn by tonight.

Eggnog a la biere suggested

MONTREAL (CP) — Quebecers are making ready for Christmas celebrations with merry hearts but unseasonably clear heads.

The only legal source of liquor in the province — the Quebec Liquor Board — has been closed to wholesale and retail customers since Dec. 5 because of a strike by its employees.

With negotiations at a standstill, many citizens are looking to beer for Yuletide stimulus.

One Montreal newspaper, anxious to help its liquorless readers, has come out with recipes for punch concocted with beer and even an "eggnog a la biere."

Such wholesome improvisations may lack a certain kick, but for many Quebecers—those without stocks of liquor laid in a pursuit of the scarce stuff would present more risks than promise of rewards.

So far there has been one big seizure of alcohol brought in from outside the province. This was a $200 fine for a man adjudged to have violated the ban on illegal possession.

Quebec Provincial Police reported a 90-gallon alcohol seizure Tuesday night at Alma, Que., in the Lake St. John county, but had made no arrests.

There have been two major raids on private stills — the latest by the RCMP on Tuesday.

But Josaphat Brunet, director-general of the QPP, says his force is too busy with other big problems like auto traffic to concentrate all its resources on a special Christmas campaign against illicit liquor-hunting.

Proclaims disaster

In Oregon, Governor Mark Hatfield, issuing a disaster call, placed the national guard on alert.

The Nevada national guard was called out to help workmen sandbag storefronts in downtown Reno against flood waters.

Idaho's national guardsmen were put on emergency duty and 50 men sent to the beleaguered town of Bancroft in the southeast.

San Diego was hit by an earthquake, causing widespread but minor damage.

Four drownings were blamed on floods in Oregon. Highway officials feared it would be two or three days before east-west roads could be opened. All rail traffic was disrupted.

Numerous smaller towns were isolated by blocked roads and severed telephone lines. The $2,400,000 John Day bridge, only a year old, was among the many bridges washed out.

Civil defence officials reported thousands left homeless.

4,000 MADE HOMELESS California's four counties on the northwest coast appeared to be the hardest hit by the unrelenting storm with an estimated 4,000 persons turned out of their homes.

Interpreting the news against an increasingly powerful Communist Viet Cong guerrillas is in grave doubt. Once again there seems little hope for a quick reconciliation between the partners.

The crisis began Sunday when coalition of young South Vietnamese officers known as the Young Turks decided to strike against part of the shaky, three-month civilian government.

The officers dissolved the high national council, arrested most of its members, and jailed a number of other civilian politicians.

Informed sources said today nine senior generals have been compulsorily retired at the insistence of the Young Turks.

The U.S. embassy expressed strong disapproval of the young generals' earlier actions. The Americans contended that shaky though the civilian government was, it should have complete authority without the continual threat of military coups.

It is the sixth upheaval in government during the last 13 months, starting with the coup that ended in the assassination of President Diem in November, 1963.

American officials here believe Sunday's action is only the start of another new cycle of coups and counter-coups, constant swings from unstable civilian government to shaky military governments, and administrative chaos.

The Americans hoped they would not be faced with a showdown. Until Tuesday night, they hoped civilian Premier Tran Van Huong would crack the whip, or that Lt-Gen. Nguyen Khanh, the commander of the armed forces, would come out against the Young Turks.

Huong never publicly criticized the young generals, and as far as is known never even threatened to resign as the Americans had hoped.

And Khanh, far from opposing the Young Turks, looks to be their man — possibly even their leader and the main instigator of Sunday's purge.

Khanh and the Young Turks met Tuesday in secret session at general staff headquarters.

Then in a short, blunt radio speech, Khanh made it clear that the armed forces intended to reserve their right to act as watchdog over any civilian government.

Peddling plot is revealed

OTTAWA (CP) — Two mysterious persons identified only as "Monsieur X" and "Monsieur Y" were said Tuesday at the Dorion inquiry to have been trying to peddle non-existent influence in the Rivard case.

Raymond Daoust, lawyer for Lucien Rivard, said these two persons, who he referred to as "Monsieur X" and "Monsieur Y," were trying to get money out of Mrs. Rivard with claims they could exercise influence over Pierre Lamontagne.

Mr. Lamontagne has testified that he was offered a $20,000 bribe by a federal ministerial aide and put under political pressure for two months to agree to bail for Rivard, wanted in the U.S. for smuggling narcotics for the Mafia crime syndicate.

Mr. Lamontagne, a Montreal lawyer, is acting for the U.S. government in trying to get Rivard extradited to the U.S. to face the dope smuggling charges in Laredo, Tex.

Mr. Daoust, 41, testified before Chief Justice Dorion of the Quebec Superior Court about a series of telephone conversations he had the evening of July 20, six days after the alleged bribe offer by Raymond Denis, then executive assistant to Immigration Minister Tremblay.

Two of these calls were with Mrs. Rivard and Eddie Lechasseur, another client of Mr.

Daoust's. Mr. Daoust said he was in his office and they were at the Chez Maxime motel north of Montreal.

Two other calls were with Mr. Lamontagne at Chicoutimi, Que., and still another with a certain Masson at Hull, Que.

Mr. Daoust said Mrs. Rivard and Lechasseur told him they had a third person with them— "Monsieur X" — who claimed he had influence over Mr. Lamontagne.

He said he had told Mrs. Rivard that she was being led down the garden path and that this third person was an impostor.

At the request of Mrs. Rivard, he had telephoned Masson and found that he, too, was telling lies.

Mr. Daoust said both "Monsieur X" and Masson claimed to have seen Mr. Lamontagne in Ottawa July 20, but he knew Mr. Lamontagne was in Chicoutimi because he had telephoned him there.

They were quoted as saying they purposely missed the 38-storey East River skyscraper; that their motive was to take newspaper headlines from Ernesto (Che) Guevara, Cuban minister of industry, who was speaking to the UN General Assembly at the time.

Guevara is the No. 2 man in the Communist regime of Premier Fidel Castro.

The missile from the wartime German-made rocket launcher soared over a tugboat and exploded in the river about 100 yards from the UN building on the Manhattan shore. No one was hurt.

There were unconfirmed reports the FBI would make further arrests. The FBI declined comment.

IDENTIFY CUBANS The Cubans were booked as Julio Carlos Perez, 31, a teletype repairman from the Bronx, and brothers Ignacio Novo, 26, a shoe salesman of Manhattan, and Guillermo Novo, 25, a doorman from North Bergen, N.J. Chief of Detectives Philip J. Walsh, who gave the brothers' names as "Nova," said the three Cubans, identified as officials of the anti-Castro exile group responsible for the explosion on a Cuban freighter in Montreal last summer, were charged Tuesday with taking part in the Dec. 11 bazooka shot at the United Nations building.

Sherbrooke, Lennoxville donors give 1,400 Christmas presents to ET mental hospital patients

Two Eastern Townships mental institutions were presented with Christmas gifts Monday by the Sherbrooke branch of the Canadian Mental Health Association.

The gifts which were collected in a campaign lasting from November 30 to December 20, were officially presented at the New Sherbrooke Hotel to the officials of the St. Julian Hospital in St. Ferdinand and to Notre Dame des Champs Hospital in Plessisville.

The first annual Christmas gift campaign, which is a project of the newly-created Sherbrooke branch of the Canadian Mental Health Association, was a great success, said John Dunn, president of the campaign.

PRESENTATION OF GIFTS — The Sherbrooke branch of the Canadian Health Association Monday presented two Eastern Townships mental institutions with the gifts that they collected during their Nov. 29 to December 20 campaign in the Sherbrooke area. Seen above, from left, John Dunn, president of the drive, Miss Cecile Bedard, owner of the Notre Dame des Champs Hospital in Plessisville, Rene Ouillet, honorary chairman of the campaign, Doctor J. P. Lamontagne, medical director of the St. Julian Hospital in St. Ferdinand, and Dave Breckenridge, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce and chairman of the campaign.

The collection and gathering of the gifts was done by the Sherbrooke Junior Chamber of Commerce. Dave Breckenridge, president of the Jaycees, who worked as the chairman of the campaign, said: "We received 400 more gifts than our objective of 1000 gifts."

The Christmas presents which came mainly from public donations, were collected at eight Sherbrooke depots and one at Lennoxville.

The gift donations, from cosmetics and powder puffs to toys and pyjamas, were mainly for the women and children patients of the two hospitals.

The St. Julian Hospital has about 1,350 residents, 400 of whom are children. At Notre Dame des Champs Hospital there are 120 children, between the ages of six and 17 years.

Wins battle of laundries

Another round was fought Monday night in the long, long bout between Romeo Dube, laundry operator, and the Professional Association of Launderers and apparently the victory has fallen to Mr. Dube.

The association claimed (and told council on two separate occasions) that Mr. Dube was operating his laundrette on King Street East in defiance of zoning regulations.

However, a written report from city attorney Albert Rivard said the Dube laundrette is operating entirely within zoning regulations.

"In regard to the zoning regulation there is no injunction (against Mr. Dube) that will hold before a court," said Mr. Rivard.

However, building inspector Aime Gagnon suggested that the zoning by-law be amended so that in future large laundrettes could not be established in the zone in question.

These children, too, enjoy party

AUSTIN — It is amazing that the one thing the children seem to know in the Butters Memorial Hospital is Christmas. Mrs. L. Butters, hospital supervisor here says.

They love the fancy paper, decorations and the Yuletide music, she explained. In this respect they are similar to the children throughout Canada, but this is also where their similarities end. For the children at the Butters Memorial Hospital, are the hopelessly retarded, the congenitally maimed.

Yet in the midst of all this, the children of Butters

Home have a Christmas celebration.

The big girls, 15 years old or so, have an annual party party watching talkie movies. They are also given fifteen dollars each to spend in the town that day. But this outing takes place a few days before the 25th, added Mrs. Gordon, the supervisor's sister who is equally dedicated to the hospital.

"On Christmas morning all the floors are strangely quiet," Mrs. Butters said. The children seem to know something special is coming.

Every child receives a gift, if there are enough for all. But all the gifts are soft toys and soft candies, Mrs. Gordon said.

UofS Dean of Commerce to head economic studies

Dr. Rosario Cousineau, Dean of the Faculty of Commerce at the University of Sherbrooke, has been nominated by the Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce as candidate for the post of president of the Eastern Townships Economic Orientation Council, now in the process of formation.

The recommendation was contained in a report submitted to the directors of the Chamber at their weekly meeting of Monday, Dec. 21, by Harry A. Simons, chairman of the nominating group of the study committee for the Economic Council project. The study committee chairman is Gontran Guillemette.

A meeting of all parties interested in the economic orientation and planning for the district will be called early in the spring by the Sherbrooke Chamber at which the officers will be elected.

The study committee also comprises W. F. Clifford, Donnar Pulp and Paper Ltd., East Angus; Dr. Rosario Cousineau, Georges P. Cote, P. Eng.; Romuald Dumont, secretary-treasurer of the Town of Coaticook and secretary-treasurer of the Association of Cities and Towns of the St. Francis District; J. O. Eby and G. A. Piche, of Canadian Johns-Manville, Asbestos; Claude Genest, president of National Thread Ltd.; Omer Girard, former president Magog Chamber of Commerce; E. F. Grigsby, president, Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce; Herbert A. Simons, manager of the local branch of the Royal Trust Company; Denis Tremblay, architect, and Antoine Turmel, president of Denault Ltd.

Paul Mattman, chairman of the Tourist Committee, reported on the meeting recently sponsored by Mayor Armand Nadeau for the formation of a regional tourist development committee. He said that substantial progress has been made in the creation of this committee.

He also urged that all groups and organizations planning activities that might attract tourists during April, May and June of 1965, send the necessary information to L. P. Demers, manager of the Sherbrooke Tourist Bureau, before the end of February so they can be included in the second 1965 issue of the calendars of tourist events being prepared by the federal and provincial governments.

Frost cuts ET apple crop to one sixth last year's

The 1964 Eastern Townships apple crop was only one sixth as large as last year's, due to a frost in May, it was announced by the Quebec department of industry and commerce.

This year the Quebec bureau of statistics, Agriculture Section, estimated the yield of apples sold for fresh market and processing was 65,000 bushels as compared with 427,000 bushels in 1963.

The falling off in the 1964 apple crop was due to a heavy frost during the night of May 14, when the trees were in bloom. The counties that suffered most are Missisquoi, particularly the areas of Frigateburg, Huntingdon and Rouville, stated the Department.

Loss is $7,000 as fire destroys 50 chinchillas

WATERVILLE — (Staff) — Fifty chinchillas burned in an early morning blaze yesterday at the fur farm of Homer Cutler.

The blaze which was discovered at 5:30 a.m. by Real Foucher who was going to work, destroyed cages, wires, feed and 50 chinchillas of an estimated value of $7,000, but no one was injured.

The fire, which was brought under control by the volunteer fire brigade of four men led by Assistant Fire Chief Andre Cote, took an hour and a half to extinguish.

Homer Cutler attributed the fire to faulty electric wiring. The destroyed building had insurance but the perished animals had none, he said.

The second section of Eastern Township apple varieties are as follows: Transparent Yellow, 2,000 bushels; Duchesne, 1,500 bushels; Melba, 5,000 bushels; for a total of 8,500 bushels.

The provincial total of the early apple varieties was 498,500 bushels or 13 per cent of 1964 total. The McIntosh variety, of which 2,321,500 bushels were produced, constitutes 62 per cent of the total crop. The 1963 production of McIntosh apples was 3,850,000 bushels.

Ottawa University seeks to produce leaders — rector

The role of the university is not only to produce skilled people, but to produce leaders with a sense of right and wrong who know what is good and bad for the country, said Father Roger Guindon, o.m.i., rector of the University of Ottawa, last night.

Speaking to the Sherbrooke Rotary Club at their weekly meeting in the New Sherbrooke Hotel, Father Guindon said that to achieve this aim, university life must be God-centred so that leaders with high moral values will be turned out.

He then explained that the University of Ottawa fulfills this need. He said that a further need is achieved by offering courses in both French and English and by being an important meeting place of both French and English university students.

Canada's future leaders are learning to work together during an important development stage in their lives, he said.

"Everyone has been working together, living together, and everyone is trying to understand the other," said Father Guindon.

He pointed out that there is a 45 per cent English student registration and a 55 per cent French registration at the University of Ottawa.

Father Guindon said that the University of Ottawa is the only university in Canada to offer a course in common law in English and a course in civil law in French.

"We think we are a great contribution to Canadian unity," he said.

Senegal:

Prosperity in a hurry

By FREDERICK C. STINSON

DAKAR — (TNS) — Senegal has the feel of the south of France in summer, but there are differences. The air is much more humid, the skins of the people are black rather than sun-tanned, and the countryside more open and less developed. While Dakar is more than 2,000 miles from Paris, one has the feeling as he watches the growers setting up shop in the market square, that he is in a part of metropolitan France.

Merchant's argue and haggle among themselves and with customers, but all in good humor — the French bonhomie has survived the break up of formal political ties between the government of General de Gaulle and the Senegalese.

Because of its flirtation with the Communist bloc and the heroics of its prime minister, Mr. Sekou Toure, the former French territory of Guinea has been the most noticed of the emerging French republics in Africa. But in economic potential and as an example of a country where economic-planning is working successfully, Senegal is far ahead.

Twenty-five million people inhabit the lands which, until seven years ago were the French empire in Africa — Senegal, Sudan, Mauritania, Ivory Coast, Guinea, Upper Volta, Niger, Dahomey, Chad, Ubangi-Shari, Gabon and the middle Congo. Now, most of these former colonies are sovereign states with representatives at United Nations.

Senegal ranks as the most prosperous of this string of new countries on Africa's West Coast.

Since it was clear that before independence few of these countries could get their economies going on their own, some African statesmen, like Senegal's Prime Minister Leopold Sedar Senghor, proposed unions and federations. The most promising proposal was a federation of Senegal, Sudan, Upper Volta and Dahomey, but this fell apart before independence. In Africa, as in the West Indies and perhaps everywhere else, proud politicians do not like to have their power diluted.

In Dakar, the chief impression one has is that the old and easy-going way of life is being pushed aside by the growing business community. At night, people still sleep on the streets which lead into the main thoroughfares, but during the day these same streets are crowded with new cars — Citroens, Peugeot and dozens of little Renaults, and all in a hurry.

Senegal is making big strides in education under the leadership of Prime Minister Senghor, who is a teacher holding France's highest degree for teaching, the Agregation de Grammaire. The University of Dakar is the cultural centre of French-speaking Africa. Here 4,000 students study arts, medicine, pharmacy, science and law. Here also is the French institute of black Africa, where African civilizations are studied along with the history of France and other western countries.

I walked through the campus with French speaking African students bound for study in Canada. They are proud of what this country is doing, as well they might be. Senegal is attempting to preserve the best of French traditions and values and at the same time to build a country with its own individual character. They will succeed, as all the other countries will, in time.

Canada can help to make that time shorter than it otherwise might be, by sending teachers, financial assistance and University volunteers.

SMALLEST PROVINCE

Prince Edward Island, smallest of Canada's 10 provinces, covers 2,200 square miles and has a population of 105,000.

Rounding out ET transport service

Adequate and efficient transportation long has been one of the basic essentials for a district's economic and industrial expansion.

In the early days, navigable waterways were responsible for the settlement and growth of certain areas while others remained essentially uninhabited and backward. Later, during the 19th Century, the advent of the railways served a similar purpose.

Communities located along a railway became major cities while those a few miles away remained stagnant and even disappeared, their business and population being attracted to the more fortunate centres.

The development of motor transportation in the present century focussed attention on the expansion of the highway system, with prospective industries paying as much attention to the facilities for road transport of their raw materials, and finished products as they did to the railways in the earlier years.

For this reason, the opening of the Eastern Townships Autoroute Tuesday is of great importance to this district.

Sherbrooke, long possessed of ample railway facilities has suffered considerably from antiquated highway transportation. Most of the roads leading out of the city are narrow by modern standards and inadequate for the heavy burden being placed upon them in recent years.

Coupled with the new expressway now under construction leading to the United States boundary and the projected Trans-Quebec route announced by Roads Minister Pinard, this obstacle to progress is being removed.

Promise of a regular air transport service to New England points and New York is the third leg of a first class communications tripod.

Capital punishment losing ground

Decision of the British House of Commons to abolish the death penalty for murder in the United Kingdom may or may not have some bearing on the position of Canadian parliamentarians when they come to take a vote on the controversial issue of capital punishment.

The day has long gone when a Canadian MP would admit that his stand on any question was influenced by a decision on a similar problem made at Westminster. But some legislators in this country might take such an Old Country ruling as a moral support for his own judgment.

The pros and cons of capital punishment will continue to arouse bitter passions among the ordinary citizens as well as among penologists, sociologists and other professionals. Advocates of both sides will cite evidence and statistics to prove their claim that murder increases, decreases or stays the same when capital punishment is abolished.

But the cause for abolition is clearly gaining ground.

Capital punishment seems to be passing in this country and in the United States, not so much from abolition as from disuse. Yielding either to public pressure or to their own consciences, governmental leaders are making increasing use of their traditional right for commuting the death penalty.

South of the border nine states have now done away with it entirely — Alaska, Hawaii, Maine, Michigan, Minnesota, North Dakota, Rhode Island, Wisconsin and most recently, by referendum on November 3, Oregon.

Even among the 41 other states, the number of executions has dropped drastically. Last year's record, when 21 prisoners were put to death was an all-time low. By contrast, 199 executions took place in 1935.

In Canada, only 12 executions have taken place since 1957.

As a question that appeals to human emotions much more than to any reasoned arguments for or against, the retention or abolition of the death penalty will be determined essentially by the changing attitudes of men, with the tide apparently running in favor of those who believe there is a better way than legalized killing to punish or deter illicit slayings.

Why the Christmas fruit cake age?

This is the time of year when we are prone to wonder just who sold the idea of the old-fashioned fruitcake to the people of this continent. And how does it manage to survive as a holiday tradition?

Did you ever hear anybody order fruitcake as a dessert in a restaurant? Have you ever known a family that ever finished a fruitcake? Have you ever seen a visitor finish even the small slice he gets during the Christmas holidays?

Around Christmas time, housewives are great for setting out a decanter of sherry and a tray of assorted holiday goodies; stuffed dates, figs, candied ginger, and thin little slices of fruitcake.

They have to replenish all the other stuff, even the candied ginger, three or four times during an average Sunday afternoon. But the fruitcake sets and sets and sets. About eight times more mileage can be gotten out of a serving of fruitcake than a bottle of sherry.

Fruitcake comes in many varieties; light, dark, moist, dry, underaged, overaged, chocolate base, gingerbread base, store-bought and homemade.

They're all the same except for two minor variations.

Store-bought fruitcake has paper sticking to the bottom, homemade fruitcake has pieces of walnut shell in it.

1964 ripe with loony larceny

Bibles, watchdog, shrunken head and even kitchen sink stolen

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Well, 1964 kept up the tradition. An enterprising thief stole the kitchen sink from a residence in Dundee, N.Y.

Weighty subjects were in the news. In Miami a robber took a 125-pound barbell from a country club and escaped by tossing it easily over a fence. And in Geneseo, N.Y., thieves really stretched things out, they got away with 48 miles of copper wire, stolen from the railroad. Another stout fellow in Stafford, England, carted an entire house away, a piece at a time.

Thieves in Tulsa, Okla., apparently liked the four new air compressors they took from a construction job. They returned the next night and took four more.

In Cambridge, Mass., two men tried to steal a two-car train. A starter, seeing warning lights flash, took after the would-be thieves; they got away but he recovered the train.

Some people stole the queerest things. In Montreal, a coffin was stolen from an undertaker's supplier's truck. And in Jacksonville, Fla., a housewife discovered that someone had stolen the concrete steps at the back door. Three manhole covers were stolen by a thief in Pittsford, N.Y.

Cemeteries came in for their share of trouble. In Salzburg, Austria, a large cross was stolen. And a three-foot angel was stolen from a family monument at Geneva, N.Y.

In Phoenix, a skeleton was taken from the medical dispensary of the National Guard. And bookstore owners in Miami reported that items most frequently taken by shoplifters are copies of the Bible. Some even bring them back and try to exchange them for cash.

Police come in for attention in 1964. Rochester, N.Y., police reported the theft of a new filing cabinet from their Command Office. The mayor's car was stolen from the front of the town hall in Bedford, England, as he was attending a meeting on means of preventing auto thefts. Someone rolled off with all the billiard balls from the police department's recreation room in Huntington, W. Va.

Explosions did funny things. A blown safe in Sydney, Australia, knocked the telephone off the hook, thereby warning police headquarters.

Some burglars had rough going. As robbers were trying to escape from a bank in Bergamo, Italy, a grenade backfired and the two would-be were badly injured.

The meanest men title should go to the two men who picked the pocket of a badly injured man pinned under his car, then walked off and left their victim.

The only item taken from a home in Kannapolis, N.C., was the watchdog.

Youth made the news. A 10-year old boy in Rochester, N.Y., had his crime spree halted. He had stolen: a hunting knife, two cigars, a suit, three rabbits, pair of shoes, head of lettuce (probably to feed the rabbits), a bicycle, two bars of soap, a bag of balloons.

A very calm bank robber in San Francisco relieved a teller of $1,400, and then walked slowly out of the bank counting his money, probably to be sure he hadn't been short-changed.

Thieves in London broke into a garage. They left behind a medalion inscribed "Thou Shalt Not Steal." And a shrunken head was stolen from a tavern in Port Moresby, New Guinea. The owner remarked that it was going to be difficult to get another one.

The carver of a stolen Indian doll in Bracebridge, Ont., explained that the thief had stolen a "Whammy Doll" and should beware. Eight money bags were stolen from a Phoenix, Ariz., bookkeeper. All were empty.

Education will leave farms idle

Dear Sir:

Your recent article on poor education and rural poverty is absurd.

Ask any educated farmer his opinion and he will agree with me that a strong back and the will to work long hours is all that is required and a higher education will not give him this.

The poor farmer knows what fertilizer is required to give him a good crop but not having the where with all to buy it he is obliged to use his fertilizer sparingly.

The small farm cannot buy new equipment as it is not profitable to use it for a few weeks a year on a small farm.

Higher education will deprive him of the help of his children when they could be of some use to him on the farm.

Not only will education make them lazy and soft, it will also make them look for better wages. As they will not get them on the farm, they will leave for the city and the farm will eventually become idle.

Our farm population declines year by year and our food prices increase correspondingly. Unless something is done to give the farmer better prices by reducing the profits of the middleman and the stores, the small farmer will become extinct as the Dodo in another 25 years and large organizations comprising 2,000 or more acres will take their place.

Employees on this type of farms will work shorter hours with more modern equipment but prices will keep on increasing and prices will have to be supported by a subsidy from the government. In other words, we, the people, will have to pay much more for our food.

If you allow this to happen by all means give a higher education to our farm children and the country will be devoid of farm life sooner.

Yours faithfully, N. E. Atkinson, Abercorn.

The PRAYER FOR TODAY FROM The Upper Room.

We have seen his star in the east, and are coming to worship him. (Matthew 2:2).

PRAYER: Grant, eternal God, that our eyes be opened to see Jesus Christ and follow Him. We pray that His values may take the place of false values, which would in the end separate us from Thy love. We ask it in Jesus' name. Amen.

Man fined for damaging window of Granby property owner

SWEETSBURG WARD — (Staff) — A man thought to be from Quebec City, was sentenced in Sweetsburg court to a fine of $100 and costs when he pleaded guilty to damaging the property of William Byers Store, in Granby. The amount of damage caused was estimated to be $100.

Raymond Bilodeau pleaded guilty with explanation to throwing a liquor bottle at Byers store window and to smashing it. He asked for a month to pay the fine. Judge Patrick Delaney said, "maybe you will get drunk again and forget to show up to pay the fine or spend the money or maybe you won't stay sober long enough to earn it." "If I don't pay I'll return here and give myself up, that's all," said Bilodeau. Bilodeau explained that he had been drinking that day and had fallen and the bottle flew at the window, breaking it. "Perhaps you can be trusted. We shall see — one month's delay to pay the fine of $100 and costs. If you should fail to appear to pay — one month in prison will be the alternative," said Judge Delaney.

Graffey reassures party stand

OTTAWA (CP)—Quebec Conservative Heward Graffey telephoned Opposition Leader Diefenbaker today to assure him he has "never given a thought" to quitting the party.

"Good for you," said Mr. Diefenbaker in front of reporters assembled in his Parliament Hill office. "No humbug in that."

Mr. Graffey telephoned from his home in Knowlton, Que., to assure Mr. Diefenbaker he has no plans to follow Quebec Leader Leon Balcer who is considering leaving the party to sit in the Commons as an independent.

Mr. Graffey, only English-speaking member of the Quebec caucus, told reporters who telephoned him later that he plans to run under the Conservative banner in the next general election. He was first elected in 1958.

Two other Quebec Conservatives—Paul Martineau (Pontiac-Temiscamingue) and Remi Paul (Berthier - Maskinonge-Delanaudiere)—have said they would have to re-assess their position in the party if Mr. Balcer leaves.

The clothes poli

by Helen Hennessy

"I work hard," is the simple answer attractive young Ruby Brief makes when asked how she arrived at her current status as fashion designer on New York's Seventh Avenue.

And you can believe it. To be a success at 20 is an achievement no matter what game you're in. But to reach that goal in so short a time in the overcrowded, highly competitive garment center is just short of a miracle.

It's true that Ruby's background includes training at the Fashion Institute of Technology and the Traphagen School of Fashion in New York. But when other little girls of six were content to cut out paper dolls, Ruby was sketching designs for her own clothes.

Ruby worked for Jonathan

Logan and other big manufacturers before she came to Carl Sanford, Inc. the junior fashion house where Carl Bergman and Sanford Radin have given her the responsibility and opportunity to design their spring line.

"I used to buy fabrics, sketch everything but sweep the floor. I may even have done that once or twice.

"I don't see why we must import Parisian and other European fashion ideas when we have such a rich heritage of American fashions," she says. Her current spring designs collection is called "Americana."

"I am using good American fabrics such as blue denim and colorful calico, and I've borrowed a few inspirations from our own Pilgrim background—smocking and sleeve and yoke treatments," she explained.

"Clothes for young people should be fun. Colors should be bright, the fabric comfortable, and no one appreciates little novel treatments in styling as much as today's teen girl," she said. One blue denim jumper she designed features a huge red heart pocket at the waistline, like a kangaroo's pouch.

Asked where she gets her inspiration for designs, she admits they come from anywhere and everywhere. She carries a sketch pad in her purse at all times "just in case."

Perhaps her new line should be called "Young Americana," for its spritely prints and ruffles reflect youth. She is close to her teens herself and an expert on teen opinions.

★ Today's recipe ★

Holiday hostesses who want to add an original touch and delectable flavor contrast to their holiday menus, never fail to include at least one fish dish, whether the occasion be the traditional turkey dinner or a festive buffet supper.

A favorite dish that lends itself beautifully to Yuletide entertaining is Baked Salmon. It's delicious baked just as is, with no stuffing, but for gala occasions it becomes an epicurean delight, dressed up with a special Oyster Dressing.

Served on a gleaming platter, surrounded by crisp parsley and garnished with bright red cherry tomatoes and lemon wedges, Baked Salmon is an elegant conversation-piece center for a buffet or smorgasbord table.

Another buffet dish, and equally as tantalizing, is a bubbling layered casserole that adds a shining glow of color to holiday tables. The flavorful dish begins with a bed of pimiento-flecked rice and ends with a crown of buttered crumbs and grated cheese, held up by a tempting filling of subtly spiced tomatoes and finely textured halibut.

Savory dips have established themselves as a party-time must, and canned salmon rises to the occasion in a creamy dip that's ideal to serve with crisp potato chips or pretty cocktail crackers.

Another favored party food is celery stuffed with cheese. It's delicious, but cream cheese combined with flaked halibut is an even more delicious filling, and sprinkled with paprika, becomes a distinctive appetizer in traditional Yule colors.

HOLIDAY BAKED SALMON
2 cups soft bread crumbs
3/4 cup melted shortening
3/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon black pepper
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1 1/2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 cup chopped oysters
1 whole salmon
Mix crumbs with shortening. Stir in remaining ingredients, except salmon. Scale, clean, fillet and bone salmon. Sprinkle cavity with salt. Stuff loosely with oyster dressing. Allow 3/4 cup dressing per pound of salmon. (If backbone has been removed, allow 1 cup.) Fasten opening with small skewers or toothpicks. Loop string around as you would lace shoes, or sew closed with large needle and coarse thread. Place fish on greased baking pan. Brush with butter or cover with several strips of bacon. Measure fish at thickest part and bake in hot oven, 450 deg. F., for 10 minutes per inch of stuffed thickness. Remove skin to serve, if desired, and accompany with tomato or egg sauce.

HALIBUT STICKS
1 (8-ounce) package cream cheese
1 1/2 cups cooked halibut, flaked
2 tablespoons chopped walnuts
2 tablespoons finely chopped green onion
1 tablespoon mayonnaise
Salt and pepper to taste
Celery

Soften cream cheese. Add remaining ingredients, blending thoroughly. Clean celery; cut in 1 to 1 1/2-inch lengths. Fill with halibut mixture. Chill for 1 hour or more before serving. Makes about 2 cups filling.

Note: Any leftover halibut mixture can be used to make delicious fancy or plain sandwiches or canapés.

Margaret Rutherford, the fish actress, was asked recently about her retirement plans. "Good heavens," she replied in horror, "I never think of such a thing."

THE PULLOVER
The very young people can have their bulky pullovers too! This design can be knitted for either a boy or a girl and comes in sizes 2, 4 and 6. Made with knitting worsted and large needles, this sturdy pullover takes very little time to accomplish. If you would like the leaflet with the instructions for this design, simply send a stamped self-addressed envelope plus 10c in stamps or coin to the Needlecraft Department of this paper requesting THE PULLOVER, leaflet number 1-65.

Sincere Wishes For A Merry, Merry Christmas And A Happy, Prosperous New Year to all our friends and customers.

WINDSOR — The marriage of Judith Wilkie McCourt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas M. McCourt, of Windsor, to Mr. Daniel Loucks Houghton, of Windsor, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an Elizabethan full length gown of white lace over cotton, fashioned with a train. Her full length tiered veil of tulle illusion was held in place by a coronet of seed pearls. She carried a ballerina bouquet of white stephanotis and lily-of-the-valley.

Miss Willa Watson, as maid of honor, wore a floor length sheath dress of pink alpine cloth with matching pink lace overskirt and lace cuffs. Her bouquet and matching head piece were of ice blue pompons and pink sweetheart roses.

The bridesmaids, the Misses Beth Bowering and Jane McCourt, wore matching gowns of ice blue alpine cloth with matching blue lace overskirts and cuffs. Their ballerina bouquets matched the maid-of-honor's bouquet.

Bolton Centre plans community Christmas

BOLTON CENTRE (Staff) — A community Christmas party will be held tonight, Wednesday in the town hall, beginning at 8:30 p.m. An Eventide service is to be held in the St. Patrick's Anglican Church here, at 7:30 p.m. the same night. The service is to be conducted by Reverend Robert Albertson of the Mansonville Anglican Church.

The program will open with the singing of O Canada. Then a welcome address is to be given by Jennifer Terrio; nine young children will then enter, each carrying a plaque with a letter spelling out the word CHRISTMAS.

Following this a recitation will be presented by a schoolboy, Roy Chartier, entitled Just Try It.

The Story of Christmas, depicting the scene of the Nativity will be acted out by a silent group of performers and will be narrated by Mr. Albertson. Next will be a recitation by Sandra True, The Dreadful Threat; another entitled, Growing Fat, by Douglas Marsh, who, his mother says, fits the part to a T; a dialogue, Fooling The Agent by Linda Peasley and Winona Dubois; a recitation by James Peasley called Miss-let.

Three boys will recite Hard Work - they are: Neil Manson, Colin Norton and Norman Marsh; next a skit by three others of The Sick Child, by James Elston, Barbara True and Juanita Marsh.

The Bolton Valley Ramblers orchestra will present Christmas carols. Next is a dialogue, Waiting For The Doctor which will be done by 11 youths and children; a recitation by Juanita Willey, By The Light Of The Star; another two by Timothy George, One Exception and the second by Douglas Peasley, Santa's Present; followed by a comedy sketch by a group of parents and children called, of course, The Night Before Christmas.

Activities at Stanstead College

Thursday evening the annual Carol service was held at Centenary Church in Stanstead, after the students and staff had enjoyed a fine Christmas dinner. With several parents here for the service, a number of the boys left that night to return to their respective homes for the holidays, the remainder left on Friday. Some members of the staff and family have gone away for the holidays while others are in their homes at the College and enjoying their holidays in a leisure way.

Mrs. A. P. Gordon played the organ music for the service, with the chaplain, Rev. Cecil Woods giving the call to worship and prayer of invocation.

In his address, Mr. Woods spoke on The Christmas Star, the spirit of giving, the ray of humility.

The headmaster, Edward Cayley, read the Scriptures from Isaiah. Other readers were James Gordon, John Minor, Michael Tobin.

The school choir sang the anthem, Angels From the Realm of Glory, and On Their Way. The large congregation joined with the choir for the singing of carols.

The benediction was given by the church pastor, Rev. Carl Gustafson.

Pay for launch

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Communications Satellite Corporation announced today it will give the government about $3,500,000 to launch its Early Bird commercial satellite as soon as possible after March 1.

The contract, signed by Comsat and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, commits NASA to perform similar launches at Comsat's option after July 1. Ultimately, the earth will be circled with satellites for a permanent system of telephone, message and television transmission.

Retains seat

EDINBURGH (AP) — A Scottish court today rejected a Communist's contention that Sir Alec Douglas-Home, the former Conservative prime minister, should be thrown out of Parliament because Sir Alec got TV time and the Communist didn't. Two judges turned down the petition brought by Hugh McDermid, who ran against Douglas-Home in the general election last October. Douglas-Home won the seat, for the Scottish district of Kinross and West Perthshire, overwhelmingly.

Christmas Club at Ayer's Cliff awards prizes

AYER'S CLIFF — Mrs. Israel Lafond entertained the Friendly Christmas Club at her home on Dec. 15, when cards were played at three tables.

The prizes for the evening were won by Mrs. Lance Percy, first, Mrs. Goldwyn Davidson, consolation; and Mrs. John Dezan, the floating prize.

Following the card game, refreshments were served at the dining table, which was decorated in Christmas motif, giving a very festive air to the party. Mrs. Davidson and Miss Christine Lafond assisted Mrs. Lafond in serving.

During the lunch hour, the prizes for the year were distributed, these being won by Mrs. John Dezan, first for the highest number of points for the year, and Mrs. Galen Vance, consolation for the lowest number.

Miss Christine Lafond played the part of Santa and, from a beautifully decorated tree, distributed the gifts which were exchanged by the members.

Mrs. Lance Percy and Mrs. Robert Goodsell were substitute guests.

SOUTH BOLTON Mrs. Richard Davis, Mrs. Colette and daughter were in Glen Sutton to visit their aunt, Mrs. Annie Salls, who had been in the B.M.P. Hospital and later in a convalescent home, but is now home with her daughter, Mrs. Sylvia Burnham.

Mr. Cliff Gaylor returned home with his parents from the B.M.P. Hospital in Sweetsburg, but will be going back in a few days for a check up.

New crop of gifts for gals

New York —(NEA)—Poets speak lyrically of roasting chestnuts and gaily decked halls as harbingers of Christmas. The rest of us have other ways of telling that yuletide approaches. Feet ache, confusion becomes a way of life and the merry sound of "Jingle Bells" sends us running for the aspirin bottle. Shopping for the fair sex is an especially taxing chore for there is a baffling number of items to choose from in every price range. So far puzzled husbands, busy mothers, ardent swains and the gals who must fill the office grab bag, here are some advance pointers about what you'll find in the stores.

For any gal on your list a gift of beauty is always welcome. Perfume, in the large size for her dressing table or in a pretty purse atomizer, is a good choice. The ingenious man will find out her brand and scent preference. But if this can't be done, ask the salesgirl to let you have a whiff of a few different kinds. When she hits on one YOU like, buy it for your lady fair. Tell her you would be pleased if she would wear it just for you. It's bound to be a success with that approach.

For stocking stuffers or other small gifts, there are pretty nylon net caps for covering hair rollers, bath brushes and bath toiletries. And for a grab bag, you can stir up some fun with the new lipsticks that not only come in fruit shades, but taste like the fruit they're named for. A good leather purse is another sure-fire hit. And here is a tip for the gentlemen—shoulder bags are big fashion items this season.

The newest designs in both costume and fine jewelry take the form of reptile pins and bracelets, copies of antique jewelry and swinging drop earrings for discotheque dancing. A word to the man who decides this is the year to fulfill mom's desire for a small fur. Either let her choose her own or make sure you go to a reliable furrier. We're nearly all neophytes in the animal kingdom and it's so easy to be bilked.

Women shoppers will be weary, but they'll cope. A man turned loose among feminine frippery is, indeed, bewildered. He would be wise to attack the problem by lounging in a comfortable chair, equipped with pad and pencil and a copy of the local newspaper to show him what the stores offer.

Thus armed, he may preserve enough of the Christmas spirit to add a strong baritone to the family's rendition of "Silent Night."

To My Friends and Customers
A Very Merry Christmas
And A
Happy New Year!

Boston girl sees a Texas Christmas

By Sheila Ryan

For a proper Bostonian, who had always thoroughly enjoyed a proper New England Christmas for 21 happy years, it was something of a jolt to find myself stranded in Beeville, Tex., for the holidays.

I really shouldn't say "stranded," for my Dallas roommate, Norma Peiper, had been nice enough to ask me to her Texas home for a Christmas when I found I couldn't afford the trip back home.

But I simply couldn't picture myself having a Christmas without snow, without the tingle of frosty cold air, without the beauty of an evergreen tree. The climate here in Beeville was much more appropriate, I thought, for an Easter weekend.

We were arriving at Norma's home, but everyone turned out and we had our Christmas gift exchange right away. (My gifts had traveled 2,000 miles, and were a bit battered.)

After church on Christmas morning, we came back to the house to face another jolt — my roommate was calmly preparing a newly-slain buck which the men of the house had just brought home. This was to be the high point of our Christmas feast!

We all helped the Mexican woman prepare the table and what a meal! Many of the dishes were the same, but there were the barbecued deer and iced tea to cool us off.

Next day we drove 200 miles each way to have supper in Mexico. I met all of Norma's college friends and they moaned when they heard how far away from home I was.

But I was more than content. Though my Texas Christmas was a far cry from my usual celebration, it made me realize it's not the day itself that's so important. It's the Christmas feeling.

MOST INDIANS

Arizona, with 81,924 Indians, has more native peoples than any other state in the U.S.

As the bells ring out their message of Christmas Joy, we wish for you a holiday season, bright with hope, rich in love, and abounding in good health, good will and good fellowship.

Verdun Pirates granted extra help by league, St. Hyacinthe turns over Pennington, financial aid given

The clubs of the Quebec Provincial Senior Hockey League held a caucus in Granby Monday evening to discuss problems of the Verdun Pirates Hockey Club.

President Andre Savard and Manager Harry Rioux, of the Verdun club, presented their side of the story and after a lengthy discussion it was agreed by all that they required the help of the league. It was proposed that they should be given extra cards to sign other players as some had failed to help them.

Lucien Lefebvre, president of the St. Hyacinthe club, agreed to allow them to talk terms with Cliff Pennington in order to bolster their club. At the same time the question of a new goalie was discussed and the name of Claude Cyr was mentioned.

Manager Rioux is going to contact both players and see if they can reach some kind of an agreement. Pennington, who had been approached by St. Hyacinthe earlier but had been turned down by the clubs, will

American Ski Association holds tests

The 7th annual ski instructors course of the American Ski Teachers Association of NATUR TEKNIK (ASTAN) took place from the 11th to the 20th of December at the JAY PEAK Ski Area in northern Vermont.

The course was attended by 50 candidates and 30 instructors became new certified instructors in ski teaching. ASTAN, which is the oldest professional organization in the United States with a unified teaching approach, was founded in 1958 by the originator of the NATUR TEKNIK SYSTEM, WALTER FOEGER.

The organization is governed by a Board of Directors today and the teaching standards of this parallel teaching system is overseen by a group of highly qualified examiners. ASTAN has more than 100 certified instructors and the number of skiers who want to have a NATUR TEKNIK ski school, is mounting.

In the 7th annual course, the top three leading the class were: 1. Joe Amato of Camelback Ski Area, Penna.; 2. Leo Smith of Camelback Ski Area, Penna.; 3. Dick Delumeya of Beartown Ski Area, Plattsburgh, N. Y.

In a ceremony at the Jay Peak Ski Area Saturday, December 19th, at the closing of an examiner's course — running parallel to the 7th annual ski instructors course, — Walter Foeger announced the appointment of two new examiners of the AMERICAN SKI TEACHERS ASSOCIATION OF NATUR TEKNIK (ASTAN).

Ellsworth Moore, ski school director of Camelback Ski Area, Penna., a very popular ski pro who is highly respected in the industry, and Ottomar (Tom) Emrich of Jay Peak, one of the veteran ski instructors of the Walter Foeger Ski School of Jay Peak, Vermont.

TUESDAY'S GAMES
Rock Island 3, Windsor 3

Has scored 28 goals in same number of games but not at expense of any one goalie, checks having trouble

Everyone agrees Bobby Hull is hard on goaltenders, but no one can accuse him of playing favorites—at least, not this season.

The muscular left winger has scored 28 times in 28 games, but not at the expense of any particular goaltender. He has netted one goal a game against each of his team's five opponents in the National Hockey League.

An official breakdown issued Tuesday by NHL shows the Chicago All-Star has seven goals in seven games against Boston Bruins; six goals in six games against Montreal Canadiens; and five goals in five games against Detroit Red Wings, New York Rangers and Toronto Maple Leafs.

Many high scorers of the NHL have found some teams easier to score against than others, and this used to be true for Bobby.

Detroit Red Wings were the patsies for Maurice (Rocket) Richard, the retired Canadiens star, when he set the season record of 50 goals in 1944-45. He got 16 of his 50 goals against the Wings that season.

PICKED ON RANGERS
For Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion, another former Montrealer who tied the Rocket's record in 1960-61, it was the Rangers. Sixteen of his 50 were scored against New York.

Bobby became the third co-holder of the 50-goal record in the 1961-62 season, and Boston Bruins were his favorite targets that year. They gave up 14 goals to Hull.

This season he's giving everyone a trouble. Some of his opponents say Bobby has matured and improved his style as a team player.

"He used to rely on power and strength," says Montreal goalie Charlie Hodge, who gave up Hull's 26th and 27th goals last Saturday night.

"Now he's handling the puck and shooting more."

"I used to have pretty good success in checking him," says Claude Provost, the hard-checking Montreal right winger who is assigned to shadow Bobby most of the time.

"Then I got caught twice and he scored two goals. What am I supposed to do, sit on him? He makes moves you never expect."

HE'S WELL AHEAD
However he does it, Hull is scoring goals in quick succession. He is 21 games ahead of the pace set by both Geoffrion and himself in their 50-goal seasons.

Only two NHL teams are in action tonight—New York at Montreal—but the game will give fans their first opportunity to see how Dick Duff performs for Montreal and Bill Hicke for New York, against their former teammates.

Canadiens acquired Duff and Rangers got Hicke in a four-player swap Monday which in-

Baltimore Colts out to contain Browns' Jimmy Brown, to surround him, Johnny Unitas is big factor

BALTIMORE (AP) — Baltimore Colts will try to play the gang's all here in order to squelch Cleveland Browns' offense in their National Football League championship game Sunday.

"The Russians came to Minnesota unbeaten and tied only once in eight Canadian games."

Yura Mossey counted the Russian goal at 13:14 and Dave Frank made the final counter for the Mustangs at 19:12.

The Russians came to Minnesota unbeaten and tied only once in eight Canadian games.

Yura Mossey counted the Russian goal at 13:14 and Dave Frank made the final counter for the Mustangs at 19:12.

COULDN'T TOP UNITAS
In neither game were the Browns able to slow down quarterback John Unitas of the Colts. He passed for four touchdowns the first time and three the next.

Against the Browns' passing Sunday, Shula extinguished the idea of a classic individual duel between defensive back Lenny Lyles and Paul Warfield, the classic rookie end for Cleveland.

"We'll emphasize the things Brown does best and try to alert our defence to them," he said.

"We can't leave it up to one-man coverage because he'll break away from one tackler."

Linebacker Don Shinnick had a way to describe it: "We have to surround him."

Shinnick recalled the Colts did it after one lesson.

In a 1959 game, won by Cleveland 38-31, Brown ran the ball 32 times for 78 yards and five touchdowns. However, in their

Gilchrist to play big part for Bills Sunday

BUFFALO, N.Y. (CP) — It may have startled some American Football League fans when Cookie Gilchrist hit the headlines as a blocker last Sunday but it was no surprise to his old acquaintances in Canada.

The big fullback, who is generally supposed to earn his pay by breaking AFL rushing records, helped Buffalo Bills win the Eastern Division title Sunday when his robust intervention kept Boston Patriots' defensive line from interrupting quarterback Jack Kemp's passing game.

His performance evoked nostalgia among Toronto Argonaut supporters who remember the happier days when Cookie did everything but carry the water bucket for the Eastern Football Conference club. The Argos haven't been out of the EFC basement since he travelled south in 1962.

Saturday's AFL final between the Bills and San Diego Chargers at Buffalo will be a homecoming, 80 miles removed, for Toronto alumni. Four of the players involved have toiled for the Argonauts — Gilchrist and halfback Wray Carlton of the Bills and San Diego quarterback Robin Rote and halfback Gerry McDougall.

SERVED THREE YEARS
Gilchrist and Rote served served three-year terms with the Argos, Rote joining them in 1960 and leaving at the end of the 1962 while Cookie arrived and departed a year earlier. McDougall came to them from Hamilton Tiger-Cats for the 1962 season before accompanying Rote to San Diego and Carlton had a short spell in Toronto in 1959.

"The receivers don't have the time then to make a lot of manoeuvres."

If it does come down to single coverage, Lyles feels he can keep up with Warfield insofar as straight speed goes, "but I'll have to get close to him soon and stay with him. If you give room to make two or three moves, you're in real trouble."

ESTABLISHED PATTERN
He immediately established a familiar pattern by getting All-Star ranking and a pink slip from his coach at the end of the year. The same thing happened with Kitchener - Water-lo Dutchmen of the ORFU the following season.

He stayed two years with Hamilton, was dealt off to Saskatchewan Roughriders of the Western Conference in 1958 and came to Toronto the following year despite picking up an awesome 1,320 yards rushing for the western club.

With the Argos, primarily a passing club, his ground-gaining contributions came to a relatively modest 1,857 yards in 280 carries over three years. But he also took over place-kicking duties, booting 19 field goals in 41 tries and 64 of 83 convert attempts, leading the conference in scoring twice with 75 and 115 points.

In addition, Cookie caught 45 passes and intercepted seven.

HOLDS RECORD
He still holds an EFC record for kicking four field goals in a single game in 1959 and two others, for scoring 27 points in a game and a seasonal 7.5 rushing average, both set in 1960.

Injuries limited McDougall's usefulness to the Argos in 1962 but he made his mark in five previous campaigns with Hamilton after graduating from UCLA, topping the 1,000-yard mark in rushing in his first three seasons in Canadian football.

He led the EFC in rushing in 1957 and 1958 and later became an effective pass receiver, catching 40 for 632 yards in 1961 and leading the conference in 1-touchdown passes with seven.

Carlton's Canadian record is less memorable. With the Argonauts he had a net gain of five yards on nine rushes and caught two passes for a total of 19 yards. The Argos cut him and he has been with Buffalo ever since.

Coach Sid Gillman of San Diego Chargers has not chosen his starting quarterback for Sunday

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—San Diego Chargers have reached the end of a successful football season with a revived problem that was troublesome in September — inconsistent quarterbacking.

Coach Sid Gillman says he has not chosen his starting quarterback for the American Football League championship game against Buffalo Bills Saturday.

Both Tobin Rote and John Hadl have been hot and cold this year. Neither did well in the last two regular season games.

Gillman's gamble on Saturday will boil down to this: whether to go with the old pro, Rote, who will hang up his cleats for good after the championship game, or to stick with Hadl.

Rote, a 15-year veteran with an ailing arm, turned in a masterful performance in 1963 and led the Chargers to their first AFL title. But he had a poor beginning this year.

His last starting assignment was on Oct. 9 at Boston. Nothing worked for him that night but Hadl came in and led the Chargers to a big victory. The Chargers went on to win five straight games and it was Hadl who propelled San Diego to the Western Division crown.

Remember when...

Tommy Burns, Canadian-born claimant to the world's heavyweight boxing championship, was beaten in 14 rounds by Jack Johnson at Sydney, Australia, 56 years ago today — in 1908. Two years later Johnson won what was considered the "official" title when he knocked out James J. Jeffries at Reno, Nev., in 15 rounds. Johnson was the first Negro titleholder. Burns died at Vancouver in 1955.

Browns sign Collier to new contract

CLEVELAND (AP) — Soft-spoken Blanton Collier, in his second year as Cleveland Browns' coach, has been signed to a new three-year contract, Art Modell, club president, announced today.

Collier leads the Browns into Municipal Stadium Sunday for the National Football League championship against Baltimore Colts.

"I am delighted with the masterful job Blanton has done for us since taking over as head coach two years ago," Modell said. "His record of 20 wins, seven losses and one tie... in the toughest football league in the world is better than that of any of his contemporaries in the last two seasons."

Collier, 38, was signed to a three-year contract early in 1962 when Modell fired Paul Brown as head coach. The Browns' 7-6 record in 1962 was the second worst in the club's history. The Browns finished with a 10-4 record last season under Collier, second in the Eastern Division to New York Giants. This year they won the division title with a 10-3-1 record.

'JACOBY MAJOR' IS NEW BID

Her two club response had guaranteed at least four cards in one of the majors and it occurred to me that if her four-card major was spades and the other hand reached the no-trump game and wound up making three or four odd depending on just how the defense went.

There is nothing noteworthy about the hand except that when Mrs. Jacoby and I held the North-South cards I invented a new bid.

Of course, it is mighty dangerous to invent new bids when your partner happens to be your wife, but we have survived the bridge table disasters in our 32 years together, so I bid three spades.

With 16 high-card points, a five-card suit and two tens, I held a maximum no-trump, so after Mrs. Jacoby's two club response (Stayman), my two diamond rebid to deny a four

She looked a trifle puzzled—

Show Business

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Everyone talks about having an old-fashioned Christmas, but few ever do anything about it, except: The Dick Van Dyke family.
For a guy who is as hep as any star in show business Dick is remarkably old-fashioned. He believes in such ideas as morality in movies, loyalty and—the spirit of Christmas.

"I think the wrong emphasis has been placed on Christmas," he said during a break in the Dick Van Dyke Show. "Now there is entirely too much obligatory giving. Christmas should be a time of giving to your family and close friends—the people you love. But in business, you're compelled to give to your customers, your employees, etc. "I'm sure the average business man hates to see Christmas come around."

About Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—White Christmas was the most popular song on television Monday night. Andy Williams, his four brothers and sister were singing it on NBC about the same time Bing Crosby was tossing it off on ABC.

Network television is awash with Christmas songs, jolly Santas, jingling bells and cornflake snow flakes.
Any scrooge-like viewers who sought to escape constant reminders of the approaching holiday had a tough time.

Even ABC's futuristic action show, Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea, stowed a big cargo of Santa Claus aboard its fabulous submarine.

The story included a bearded cast-away picked up near Christmas Island.

CBS, in an effective documentary, went to a settlement in the impoverished Appalachia area, visited some of the shacks and dropped into the one-room school on the day of its Christmas celebration.

The sight and sound of those youngsters singing Silent Night and a glimpse into their poverty-stricken lives was a reminder that Christmas is not, for everyone, a day of gifts and feasting. For some, it is just another dark and hungry day like the one before and the one before that.

Three years ago ABC made a series of 26 half-hour programs on the Franklin D. Roosevelt as a consultant. Finally, called FDR, it will get on the air. Starting Jan. 8 ABC will push 12 O'Clock High back to 10 p.m. and slip the documentary into the 9:30 spot.

The national Nielsen ratings, released Monday and covering the two-week period ending Dec. 6, found the three U.S. networks still running close in audience popularity. ABC, with a 19.5 rating, was first, followed by CBS with 19.3 and NBC with 18.8.

The three top shows were NBC's Bonanza, CBS' Gomer Pyle, U.S.M.C., and ABC's Bewitched, also toppers in the previous report.

Annual supper, program held at Baptist Church

On Thursday evening, Dec. 17, over 100 children, parents and friends of the First Baptist Church enjoyed a turkey supper prepared by Mrs. D. Knapp and her able helpers.

The two hours of entertainment started with movies, followed by words of greeting and welcome by Pastor John Dozoi.

Piano selections were rendered by Ruth Jaquith, Janyce Bampton, Doris Marquardt, Edith Marquardt, Susan Leech and Malcolm Bradley, who played Christmas Pastoral and The Cathedral Windows. Bruce Brooks gave a recitation and Mrs. A. W. Bampton's intermediate class sang several Christmas carols.
An inspiring Christmas operetta, entitled Home for Christmas, was presented by the Sunday School, all scholars taking part. Robert Leech was narrator and Mrs. Bampton pianist. The operetta was directed by Mrs. H. Leech and Mrs. Ed. Mills.

Then Santa Claus arrived to distributed gifts, candy and apples to each boy and girl present.
The enjoyable evening of fellowship was brought to a close with Benediction by Mrs. Dozoi.

'Student' demonstrations include many types and as many motivations

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent
A teen-age boy brandishing a stick or hurling stones is no fearsome sight. Multiply him by thousands, abandon him and his brethren to unscrupulous and opportunistic leaders, and he can bring down governments. Student mobs . . . student riots . . . student demonstrations . . . these are convenient catch-all terms. There are students and students, demonstrations and demonstrations. In the wave of student violence in Asia, Africa and Latin America, the participants' ages ranged from pre-teens to over-ripe maturity. In the mass they are not just kids on a rampage, but an explosive political force. How many of the outbursts are spontaneous? How many are provoked by legitimate student leaders? What impels students to violence?

Stormy student participation in politics is an old European custom, transplanted as a heritage of colonial times to Asia, Africa and most of the western hemisphere. The old world idea—strong in Latin America and prevalent in much of the rest of the world—is that the grounds of the university are sacrosanct, beyond government authority and are indeed practically autonomous. LET OFF STEAM

The tradition is almost superstitiously respected in much of Latin America. Often superannuated "student leaders" are free on campuses to plot against government. The fever spreads from university to lower schools and even to pre-teen kids. Politics may mean nothing to them but rioting presents opportunities to let off steam against elders. In the pre-nuclear age, when the world was not so compressed a package, the university was the training ground for future leaders through exposure to problems of political and social justice. The tradition persists, but today it is an explosive agent in a time of intense global contest. The student-member of an elite and a potential future leader—becomes a prime target of opportunists of right or left intent on power. Since education is usually expensive, the students for the most part come from well-to-do families, and their politics often are largely a matter of rebellion against their elders.

which will rule because, unlike its elders, it knows all the answers in advance. What these students do in reality is submit to regimentation. They march stolidly through city streets, paced by strutting, self-important and often over-age student leaders. In the name of rebellion and non-conformity, they submit and conform, chant tattered catch-phrases about peace, disarmament and imperialism. Dictatorships, too, find captive students useful for turning out "demonstrations" at the drop of a crisis. Finally, there are the frustrated students. In many countries they have genuine, or what they believe to be genuine, grievances. They face the frustration of living in countries so backward that real democracy is a dream. They often are without realizing it, in a state of shock from the clash of their world with the 20th century. Frustrated students are easy targets for any demagogue, extreme right or extreme left, who provides an outlet for anger against accumulated woes. They want reform not in the future, but today.

One is "the perennial student." Often he is a Communist. Often he is in his 30s or older, but he styles himself "youth leader." For example, in Venezuela, several Communist "student leaders" are in their late 30s. Then there is the captive student. In many Asian, African and Latin American countries a noisy minority of young intellectuals have made themselves the backbone of extremist strength. They are persuaded to believe themselves on a rampage against their elders, that they are members of an elite world with the 20th century. Frustrated students are easy targets for any demagogue, extreme right or extreme left, who provides an outlet for anger against accumulated woes. They want reform not in the future, but today.
