SAN FRANCISCO SWARMS LIKE A BEE-HIVE WITH THOUSANDS OF EAGER TOILERS, AND NO IDLERS WERE ALLOWED BY THE TROOPS

Kid-Gloved Dandies made to Labor with the Sturdiest Workmen--Dynamiting Tottering Walls is Proceeding--Systematic Sanitation being Introduced.

Special to the Montreal Star.

Oakland, April 24.—San Francisco is a bee hive this morning. There never was a more industrious one, and in it there was no place for the drones. The situation was much like that in a bee-hive, too, where the drones are put out of business, for good, if they won't get into it. The troops allowed no idlers in San Francisco, but forced them to go to work at the point of the gun, and even the kid-gloved dandies were shoved into some brick pile with the suggestion that it might be a good idea to see their duty there and do it.

And the eyesight of the populace was good. When it was somewhat weak, it improved under the treatment of the troops who were fine at fitting on the right kind of glasses. Everywhere were seen signs of life. The city is not dead, but had simply been sleeping for a few days, and was putting forth shoots of industry here and there.

Gangs of laborers were erecting poles on Market street and in a day or two, it is hoped, the trolley cars will be running again. The street car companies say that four lines are ready for operation.

FIRST VESSEL TO CLEAR.

Up the harbor churned a small steamboat, a black smoke smudge trailing out in her lee. It was the first vessel to clear from the port since that day last week when the thing began that men would like to forget about now.

The telegraph companies are busy; 500 plumbers are on their way from various California cities to help out the board of health, the San Francisco clearing house has held its first meeting of the new era and laid important plans; the finance committee has met to discuss the distribution of the funds, the electric companies announce that they will soon supply power; and in the Jewish synagogue, at California and Webster streets, there was a strange scene.

The city's law makers are holding session there, and all the twelve departments of the Superior Court, which used to be located in the city hall and the hall of justice were located there.

DANGER FROM WALLS.

Of course many jagged, leaning walls stood up in the city, like the grotesque formations in the alkali country. Some of them were leaning like the tower of Pisa, threatening to fall on the heads of the workers below. Therefore the deep boom of dynamite exploding was still heard here and there, as the most dangerous walls were overthrown. The work was done on Market street first, and when the thoroughfare was safe, the dynamiters were to move to the most important side streets. Black specks were seen clinging high up on the sides of the Chronicle and Call buildings. These were men inspecting the walls, to see if they were safe. There is the noise of thousands of rumbling wheels down by the water front, and down at the piers there are many blue clad, briskly moving figures. The figures are those of bluejackets from the cruiser Boston, who are unloading, the most welcome ship that ever came into a port,—and the wheels are those of long caravans departing for various distributing points in the city, each caravan loaded down with food.

FEEDING THE HUNGRY IS BEING DONE THOROUGHLY

Special to The Montreal Star.

San Francisco, April 24.—Provisions are being hauled from the wharves at the rate of 1,500 tons a day. All the hungry are being fed. The relief stations are swamped, but they have plenty now—bread, prepared meats and canned goods, milk and coffee and fruit. There are blankets enough in San Francisco this morning to cover every bed in the city, and every grassy spot where the unfortunates have slept for the last five days. Barracks are now being erected to shelter the refugees from the inclemencies of the weather. The distribution of relief supplies is carried on with system. "Train nearing Oakland." "Relief coming up from the south." These messages are received every hour. Everybody wants to tell the glad news. In the country towns the inhabitants turn out to see a long snake of a train go whistling by. Through the openings in the sides of the box cars they distinguish dark shapes and tossing horns. These are cattle Frisco bound. Up from the south come cars full of poultry, and the farmer went out early to his coop to pack out the warm, fresh eggs and carefully crate them, because he has heard that his neighbor up in the north is hard put to it, and the wolf has been nosing around the door.

Depots for Government supplies have been established at the Presidio, at the Folsom street dock and Fort Mason. Two large buildings have been secured in which to store the rations. One is a school house in the western addition and the other is the J. A. Folger building, at Spear and Howard streets, which stand undamaged. The cooling trade wind which blows softly in from the Pacific is clearing away the offensive odors and diminishing the likelihood of pestilence.

NO MORE FIRE.

The rains of yesterday put out the last vestige of fire. Two-thirds of the city lies in ashes. Amid the desolation the "skeletons and armor" of the St. Francis and Fairmount Hotel, the Call and Chronicle, Nills, Kohl, Flood, Croker, Union, Trust, Crossley and Rialto buildings are jutting up here and there. Some of the Standard Oil station was saved. The mint is but slightly damaged. The bank vaults are safe. The water mains are being repaired.

MIGRATION TO OAKLAND.

Temporarily, Oakland is San Francisco. The big railway offices, the insurance firms from across the bay have migrated temporarily, and every office building and vacant store has been brought into service. Sleepy old Broadway has shaken off its Rip Van Winkle sleep and taken on the appearance of a country seat in fair time. Business has begun to boom even before the firms that have been burned out have had an opportunity to get their safes and recover their books.

As soon as San Francisco is in condition for the erection of offices, temporary quarters will be put up and the business which cannot be conducted in Oakland will be transacted on the other side of the bay.

ANOTHER SHOCK SENT PEOPLE INTO A PANIC.

San Francisco, April 24.—At 10.40 last night an earthquake shock was felt throughout the city and momentarily created some alarm among the people still unnerved and over wrought from their recent experience. No damage was caused but in some few instances persons living in houses ran out badly frightened and called upon the sentries and guards to help carry out clothing and other effects. The soldiers assured them that there was no danger.

Following the unfortunate killing of Major H. C. Tilden of the general relief committee on Sunday by some self-constituted vigilances, it is said the city patrols and all guards will be disarmed and the troops, both regular and militia, will be instructed not to shoot except in cases of extreme necessity.

No trace of Count de la Rocca, the French Consul in this city, has yet been found. It is feared that he lost his life in the fire.

GREAT DEMAND FOR LABORERS IN 'FRISCO.

Special to the Montreal Star.

Oakland, Calif., April 24.—The city and the public service corporations of San Francisco, have employment for great numbers. Such concerns as have determined to open temporary quarters will make a daily increasing demand for skilled and unskilled labor. Some kinds of skilled labor are already at a premium.

The Relief Committee needs large numbers of experienced clerks. Retailers are more than anxious to push their business and the wholesale are planning how they can most speedily prepare to supply them. There is no discouragement. On the contrary there is strong confidence. It is believed that the intense heat was not sufficiently long continued to weaken the steel structures and that while the skin of the stone or brick may have to be replaced, the frame work of many structures are intact.

MILLIONS ON THEIR WAY TO SAN FRANCISCO.

Special to the Montreal Star.

New York, April 24.—At least $3,000,000 is on its way to-day to California correspondents from New York bankers.

SYSTEMATIC SANITATION IS NOW BEING SECURED.

San Francisco, Cal., April 24.—Systematic sanitation goes steadily on here. Under orders the drinking water is being boiled to prevent any outbreak of typhoid fever. The concentration camps are being put in better shape and more of them are being established. The San Francisco department of sewers is doing its utmost to get all of the main sewers into working order.

TREMENDOUS FORTUNE OF $200,000,000 IN THE MINT

Special to The Montreal Star.

San Francisco, April 24.—If there was any question of San Francisco's ability to meet the financial situation resulting from the recent disaster, that question would seem to find its answer in the development of each succeeding day. There is more than $175,000,000 in coin and currency in the vaults of the sub-treasury, but the vaults are buried in the ruins. It would take some time to remove the debris and then the wisdom of opening the vaults until they become cool is doubtful. There is more than $200,000,000 of coin in the mint, which structure is intact.

It now appears that the sub-treasury offices are to be temporarily located in the mint building and such of the coin stored there as may be required to meet the transfers of coin from New York and other cities to the credit of San Francisco banks and other financial institutions.

MONEY BEING SENT FROM MANILA.

Manila, April 24.—Many organizations here are planning to send aid to the earthquake sufferers at San Francisco. The Jockey Club, composed of Spaniards and Filipinos, has subscribed $15,000 and has also decided to devote the proceeds of three days' racing to the relief fund. The baseball league has taken similar action, a monster concert for all classes will be given shortly in behalf of the fund, and the newspapers are receiving subscriptions for the sufferers.

LOSSES OF MONTREALERS.

Word Received From Mrs. James Cochrane and Mr. A. Poulin.

Mr. J. D. White, of Park avenue, has received a telegram from Mrs. James Cochrane, widow of the late ex-Mayor Cochrane, stating that she and her sister had escaped uninjured, but had lost their baggage. The telegram is dated from Belmont, California. The two ladies have been at Santa Barbara for some weeks, and from a letter received were only leaving for San Francisco on their way home on the 18th, the day the earthquake occurred. They evidently left earlier than intended, and the fact that they lost their baggage must have been in San Francisco at the time of the disaster.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Poulin have just received a despatch from their son Arthur, who has lived in San Francisco for the last twenty years, that he, his wife, and child, aged seven, were safe and sound, but were destitute, they having lost everything. They leave Berkeley, Calif., to-day for Montreal, where they will reside in future.

CARS AND BARNS OFFERED FOR SHELTER.

San Francisco, April 24.—The United Railways have tendered the use of the entire system to Mayor Schmitz for the benefit of the people during the present crisis. Free transportation will be furnished the people over the lines for themselves and their baggage. The company's cars standing in the streets and all of its car barns not destroyed are also free for the use of the people for the purpose of shelter and lodging.

CANADIAN SOLDIERS SHOULD GO ABROAD

Special to The Montreal Star.

Halifax, April 24.—At the annual meeting of the St. George's Society, last night, General Sir Charles Parsons made his farewell address, in which he said: "Three years ago I ventured to suggest the desirability of bringing about an interchange of officers. This suggestion is being acted on, in that officers of Canadian forces, are now being detailed for service in various parts of the Empire—Australia and India, for example. I should like, however, to go still further, and see Canadian companies of infantry and artillery exercised in large camps in Great Britain and India, and British companies temporarily doing their duty in Canada. Such an interchange would, stimulate recruiting in that there would be a possibility of service abroad and possibilities of active service."

To Move Cobalt's Site.

Special to the Montreal Star.

Cobalt, April 24.—A syndicate of Winnipeg and Toronto capitalists have come to the conclusion that the present site of this town is totally unsuited for the commercial centre of the vast town and industries that will grow out of the mining of the Cobalt ores, and therefore have recently acquired some 640 acres of land stretching north and east from Argentite station, within two miles of the present town of Cobalt. The land will be offered for sale immediately, as it is predicted that choice lots will be selling for $1,000 inside of ten days after they are on the market.

C.P.R. Employe Sentenced.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Winnipeg, April 24.—Four of the Canadian Pacific Railway employes accused of robbing cars in transit were sentenced yesterday. Engineer Bertrand got five years and Brakeman Proctor three years in the penitentiary; Skelly was fined $100 or six months' in gaol, and McIntosh was fined $25.

Canadian Pacific steamship Montezuma sailed from London for Antwerp at 1 p. m. Saturday, April 21.

CZAR IS GOING TO ST. PETERSBURG

St. Petersburg, April 24. — After much hesitation Emperor Nicholas has finally decided to come to St. Petersburg and personally open the first Russian Parliament on May 10.

His Majesty's decision comes as a surprise, as it was supposed that after his long absence from the capital he would not dare to leave the shelter of the palace of Tsarskoe-Selo.

Imperial heralds will pass through the streets summoning the representatives of the people and an imposing military escort will accompany His Majesty to the Tauride Palace, where the Parliament will assemble. It is rumored that the Emperor, in greeting Parliament will announce general amnesty for political prisoners.

DISORDERS IN PARTS OF FRANCE

Various Reasons are Cited for Them—Is it Tending to Revolution.

MINE HORROR A CAUSE

Church Inventory and Retirement of Waldeck-Rousseau are Cited as Motives.

Special to The Montreal Star.

New York, April 24.—A Sun cable from Paris voices an alarmist note over the prospects of recent disorders growing into revolution. The tone of the cable is very sensational.

As a statement of causes there are cited the retirement of Waldeck-Rosseau, since which event "the country has not had a strong government;" the feeling urged against the authorities on account of the church inventory riots, and the bad blood between miners and employers and miners and the government officials over the recent mine disasters. It is further set forth that red flags have been carried unchallenged in the presence of high state authorities; rioters who have attacked soldiers have been allowed to go scot free. In short, disorders have been allowed to go unchecked because of official cowardice, not born of fear of physical results, but rather of the dread of the political effect. It is asserted now that the movement is growing and that royalists, clericals, Socialists, and Anarchists have pooled issues to the end of upsetting the present status quo.

Then, too, the correspondent dwells upon the inertness of M. Clemenceau, the Minister of Internal Affairs. While his past record is that of a strong man, he has not been able to cope with the existing conditions. His efforts at conciliation between the miners after the Courierres disaster were nugatory, because the miners were led to believe that the greatest possible efforts had not been put forth to rescue many of the unfortunates who perished. Agitators from Paris fanned the flames in the mining districts, and now it is asserted some 40,000 people are in open defiance of the law. As opposed to them a few troops were sent. The destruction of property continued and the soldiers of the Republic were defied and treated with contempt and subjected to fusilades of bricks, stones and other missiles. In this way one or two were killed and others battered. But no reprisals were made; the troops refrained from firing on the mob. To quote from the despatch, as illustrative of the fighting in the Pas de Calais district:

"Suddenly Capt. Hermelin fell, smitten to earth by a brick, senseless. Twenty insurgents rushed out of a wineshop crying 'Kill him, kill him.' Sergt. Grandry, seeing the danger, covered his fallen chief until aid arrived. Orders were given, as the horses were exhausted, to retire on the mine, amid the triumphant shrieks of the victorious insurgents and their dismount, while the bugles sounded 'Surrender.' A volley of stones was the only reply. Carbines were loaded and the order to fire was about to be given when the Mayor of Haveluy rushed in and begged that three prisoners be freed. The commander, after taking their names, consented, whereupon the insurgents withdrew, singing victoriously. More than one hundred soldiers were wounded, yet not a shot was fired. When this point of the rebellion had been reached M. Clemenceau was present. The Minister went once more to the disturbed districts. He told the leaders of the strike that they really must not act in this violent way. He even went so far as to intimate that if things got much worse the soldiers might be compelled to use their weapons."

The despatch ends with the statement that, at the close of his visit, Clemenceau mingled with a group bearing a red flag, and that his companions hissed the troops without a protest from him.

May Day, it is asserted, may see a general outbreak.

SMART BEFORE COMMITTEE.

Denies Any Private Correspondence With Mr. Preston Regarding Trading Co.

Special to the Montreal Star.

Ottawa, April 24.—James A. Smart, agent of the North Atlantic Trading Company, was again before the Public Accounts Committee this morning. He became its agent, he said, about a year ago, but he denied that he had ever had private correspondence with W. T. R. Preston in regard to the Government contracts with the company. Before resigning the position of Deputy Minister of the Interior, he had corresponded with the company in regard to a position with them. When he left the department he burned those letters as he had no need for them.

Before the contract with the company, the Government employed agents in Continental Europe, but said Mr. Smart, it was held by Mr. Preston that the work could be better done by a syndicate, and this led to the arrangement with the North Atlantic Trading Company.

TORONTOS-TECUMSEHS WILL PLAY IN MONTREAL

No Pretence Now For Keeping Them Out of N. L. U. and They Will Be Admitted To-morrow.

Toronto, Ont., April 24—Says the Globe to-day: The action of the Montreal A. A. A. directors on Saturday night, when they decided that they would support legislation sanctioning the playing of amateurs and professionals in all team games, removes the only pretence on which the refusal to admit the Toronto and Tecumseh clubs was based. The ground is now cleared for the N. L. U. to welcome the two Toronto teams to membership at to-morrow's meeting, and it is expected that this will be done. Even the Shamrocks can now vote with good grace for the admission of the western teams. Through President McLaughlin, they undertook to stand by the Montrealers' position. They can do so, and still assist in the admission of the Toronto teams. From the standpoint of self-interests the Eastern clubs have all to gain by including two strong teams from the west in their series. They cannot pay a double schedule in the N. L. U. and get through the season in any reasonable time, and it spells prosperity for them all to have the Toronto teams as drawing cards. The senior series in the C. L. A. can never be a success with professional teams in places like Port Hope, Oshawa, Brantford and St. Catharines competing against teams which have as large a community as Toronto from which to draw their patronage. Even temporary success is misleading and is no indication of what is really the best policy for the C. L. A. If the Torontos and Tecumsehs go into the Eastern League, they will be better off and the C. L. A. will be benefited. The company of Montreal and Ottawa is their natural sphere.

In speaking of the matter as to whether Toronto and Tecumseh's would be admitted into the Canadian Lacrosse Union, President McLaughlin, of the Shamrock Lacrosse Club, had the following to say: "Shamrock delegates will vote in favor of admitting Toronto and Tecumsehs into the Union now. That is final, and if they are not admitted it will be Montreal's fault. It is up to Montreal now to stick to what she has started in her own ranks, by voting in favor of admission at the Union meeting to-morrow night. As far as I know I don't think there is the slightest doubt about the outcome of the meeting. Toronto and Tecumseh will play with the Eastern teams all right this year."

Mr. Tom Carlind, Montreal's president, is in Ottawa to-day, but will be back in time for the meeting. From what can be gathered, however, it is understood that there will be an unanimous vote in favor of admittance, from that quarter.

THE CAPITALS LACROSSE PROSPECT

First Practice is Slated for Monday Next and Probable Line-up Looks Good to the Fans.

Ottawa, April 24.—The Capitals will hold their first practice at Varsity Oval on Monday next. The grounds are already in the best of shape, and if the prospective candidates fall in line right from the start they will be able to jump into the game in mid-season form. In discussing the probable line-up for the coming season, some fans closely allied to the Capitals pick out the following team as about the nearest thing to any that will participate in the first game: Goal, Errett; point, Marsh; cover, Brennan; defence, Ralph, Shea and Pringle; centre, Ashfield; home, Butterworth, Eastwood and Powers; inside, Gaul; outside, Allen.

There appears to be every possibility that Johnnie Powers will remain in Ottawa this year. "Red" Errett, formerly of Brantford, ought to be the goods in the flags, and Marsh is better at point than farther up the field. The rest of the team looks fine if it can be kept intact.

Alf. Smith and Harry Westwick have stated positively they will not play lacrosse this summer so it is useless to count on them. For spares, Capitals have such fine material as Tom Hogan, Howard Stewart and an army of youngsters fresh from junior ranks.

Nothing has yet materialized from the western offers for Capital players. The Westerners are probably awaiting developments at Wednesday's N. A. L. U. meeting before they take any action.

HUMOROUS MATCH GOTCH AND PERRELLI

Hard Go Between the Two, but No Bad Feeling—Gotch Easily Superior.

Those who attended Sohmer Park last night, to see Gotch put Perrelle through, were not disappointed. But those who attended, in the hope that there would be an ill-natured mix-up between them, were fortunately disappointed.

Never was a match wrestled in better humor. The men are evidently on good terms with each other, and while each appeared to wrestle for all he was worth, and even "roughed it up" freely, no bad nature was displayed.

In fact, a vein of humor was plainly apparent, even during the most strenuous moments, and when Gotch eventually scored his fall, in 10 mins. 40 sec., many thought that the whole performance had been rehearsed in advance. There is no question, however, that Gotch had to earn everything he got.

Perrelle was on the mat first, and as Gotch scraped his feet on the floor in characteristic manner, in his corner, Perrelle called out: "Come on here Gotch."

Gotch came on. From that forward there were doings. The men grinned at each other in a friendly manner as they locked. But friendships "cut no figure" when the end of a tournament is at hand, and Frank went at his man in earnest.

Perrelle probably knew that there was little use trying to throw the Iowan. When he got the chance he assumed the aggressive, but this only lasted a moment, and Gotch went at him harder than ever. The Italian's efforts were concentrated upon holding off defeat as long as possible. It was by his suggestion that the wrestling was to go straight through for half an hour, it being evidently his opinion that Gotch would suffer from lack of rest more than he. As a matter of fact, had there been a rest at the end of each ten minutes, Gotch's victory would not have taken place as early as it did.

Gotch had him going from the start. He rushed him around the ring, as in their previous match, and tied him in knots whenever he brought him to the mat. Perrelle soon began to break the rules in a most flagrant manner. But it was done in so barefaced a way, and so openly, and Gotch accepted it all in such a matter of fact manner, that even the referee did not feel called upon to interfere, while the audience, itself, soon accepted the situation and awakened to the humor of the situation. Perrelle pulled Gotch's hair, reached around and caught him by the ankles, pinched his head between his knees, and, in fact, never lost a chance to buffet him. Everything went. Gotch didn't care and kept straight ahead. Perrelle was in constant danger. He bridged, and by other elusive tactics, held Gotch off the first ten minutes. But each time his danger increased, and at 10.40 Gotch scored his fall.

As Gotch turned his back after shaking hands, Perrelle slapped him soundly. Gotch turned like a flash, slammed him to the mat again, and, jumping the ropes, scampered for his dressing room followed by Perrelle, amid the laughter of the audience.

Wrestlers are becoming such humorists, now-a-days, that it is hard to say whether or not Delivuk and Busch were serious or playing, when Busch slapped Delivuk, after the gong rang at one of the rests, and Delivuk punched him with his fist. Busch responding with a kick which went as high as Delivuk's shoulders but did not land on him, though it could easily have done so. At the end of the match, another unfriendly demonstration took place but the audience has begun to strongly suspect that matters are not always so serious as they look.

However, Delivuk and Busch put up one of the best boyts of the evening. Delivuk's work was very clever and Busch made a coupie of bridges which were almost as worthy of note as that which occurred in his match with Gotch. These, however, only delayed defeat. Another feature of the match were the double bridges which followed Busch's full nelson on Delivuk. Delivuk won in 25 minutes.

Apollo and Rogers went to a draw. Apollo had his man working hard to hold off defeat from the time the men came on the mat till time was up. Rogers could do nothing with Apollo, while on the other hand, Apollo never had Rogers in danger, the latter being too fast for him, besides being a heavy, strong man.

Pietro and Maupas wrestled for flying falls, unlike the other three matches of the evening, which were decided by pin falls. Pietro was too strong and aggressive to be put out by Maupas, and at 27.30 won the bout. Both men did splendid work, and several times it looked as though Maupas might score. But Peitro kept on in his dogged manner and wore Maupas down, eventually winning the match.

In the preliminaries, there was a good go between Cote and Smith, Cote winning from a scissors and half-nelson. Poiree and Hodger wrestled an exhibition bout, Poiree winning the fall.

ENTRIES CLOSED FOR HORSE SHOW

Exhibition will be Given, and Larger than Ever Before—Keen Competition in all Classes.

The entries for the seventh annual Horse Show of Montreal closed yesterday, and from the number received it may reasonably be adduced that this year's show will be of a much finer quality than any so far. People who before only entered a few horses, have this year put in large strings, and those who did not enter at all before have come forward with a few. There is an increase in every class, and competition will be very keen.

In class 7, which carries with it the Governor-General's prize, from which winners from previous years are barred, thirteen horses will compete. The prize is for the best mare or gelding bred in the province of Quebec, suitable for saddle or cavalry purposes, and to be sired by a thoroughbred stallion.

All the draught classes have been well filled. In class 8, for the best pair of heavy draught horses, any breed shown in harness to dray or waggon, twelve teams have been entered. Class 13, for general delivery teams, has eighteen entries.

The combination harness and saddle classes, and the all-saddle and hunter classes will be big events. Over thirty horses will go into the ring in the class open to horses that are not eligible to enter in the qualified hunter class while in the lady hunters' class, there will be twenty competitors, whereas in previous shows there have not been more than seven.

In the Corinthian class, which is for hunters owned and ridden by members enjoying full privileges of a recognized hunt club, in their hunt costumes, thirty horses are entered.

All of the open jumping classes have long lists, and in class 51, which is for teams of three qualified hunters, and for which Mr. David Russell has donated a beautiful cup, six teams will compete.

Business Men's Handicap.

Every Wednesday for the next two months, it is the intention of the Metropolitan Golf Club to hold a business mens' handicap, at 12 o'clock, open to all members of the club. These handicaps are for nine holes only, and prizes of balls will be given to the two best net scores. It is expected there will be a large turnout of members.

A RIGHT WAY and A WRONG WAY

Many people have many ways to bring about the same result. Most of them are mistaken ways, but this is not known until the test of time points plainly to the error. Practically there are but two ways to accomplish anything; a right way and a wrong way. Take, for instance, a man with a bad back, there are lots of them, and of various kinds, some with stiches and twitches, others with cricks and twinges; then there's the dull, heavy continuous kind that lasts all day and doesn't sleep at night. They're all bad enough, they're all hard enough to get rid of. Some people rub the back with liniment, others cover it with plasters, either or both means often bring relief, but the pain comes back—it's the wrong way to cure the trouble.

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

have a way to cure backache, a way that's all their own—the right way. They're made for the kidneys only. When the kidneys fail in their work of filtering the blood the back aches because they are situated in the small of the back; backache is the kidney's warning of trouble, and every day you let the warning go it brings you nearer to urinary disorders, Diabetes, Bright's Disease, etc.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure every form of kidney ills and that's why they bring such quick relief from backache. Mr. Fred Gray, Good Corner, N.B., writes: "I was greatly troubled with pain across my back. I procured a box of Doan's Kidney Pills, and received so much benefit from them that I consider them the best remedy for kidney trouble there is. I would not be without them in my house."

Price 50 cents per box or three boxes for $1.25, all dealers or The Doan Kidney Pill Co., Toronto, Ont.

GREAT TURF HONOR FOR A CANADIAN

Mr. William Hendrie, of Hamilton, Appointed Honorary Member of English Jockey Club.

A most signal honor has been conferred upon Mr. William Hendrie, of Hamilton, who, according to a telegram received by Mr. Colin Campbell, has been appointed an honorary member of the English Jockey Club.

This Jockey Club is composed of a very few of the very highest people in the land, including H.R.H. the King, and it is very seldom that even a Britisher gets the opportunity of belonging to it.

Mr. William Hendrie, of Hamilton, signally honored by British Turfmen.

It is considered that Mr. Hendrie had the honor conferred upon him in recognition of his great services to the turf.

He has made a specialty of breeding fine horses, and never bet a cent.

In 1898 he won the Futurity in New York with his horse Martimas, and it was a most wonderful victory for a Canadian.

Two Basketball Games.

Two games of basketball were played in the McGill Gym, as a result of which Heathers takes a step higher in the Senior League standing, and McGill II. retains first place in the Intermediates. The Britts now hold first place in the Senior League, and if they can win from the Tigers they will be champions; while if they lose, there will be a three-cornered tie with Britts, Tigers and Heathers equal. McGill takes next place and W. A. A. A. are tail-enders.

In the Intermediate series, McGill II. is first now, having lost only one game, and will hold the championship if they win from the M. A. A. A. on Wednesday night; a loss for them would mean a tie for these two teams. In Saturday night's game, Heathers defeated McGill's senior team, which had been severely crippled by the loss of Forbes and Trenholme, by the score of 34 to 21. The game was rough and there were many fouls. Heathers won in the first half, the half time score being 22 to 7.

The teams were:

Heathers (34.)	McGill I. (21.)
Brophy	Home. O. B. MacCallum
Smaill	Home. D. Ross
M. Snowdon	Centre. E. Locke
W. Snowdon	Defence. A. Shanks
R. Vallance	Defence. H. Wood

Referee—W. Smith, Westmount.
Umpire—Leonard, Y. M. C. A.

The Intermediate game was fast and clean. Very good ball was played on both sides. McGill II. won by the score of 19 to 13.

The teams were:

McGill II.(19.)	Westmount (13.)
Rowell	Home. Cameron
Shenkle	Home. Crosby
Higgins	Centre. Richardson
Wood	Defence. Pusler
McGuire	Defence. Scath

Referee—Smaill, Heathers.
Umpire—Brophy, Heathers.

LADY STUDENTS LOST TO THE HIGH SCHOOL

The Score at Basketball Was Fourteen to Six Against Them When Game Was Over.

Teams representing the Girls High School, and the Royal Victoria College (Freshmen) met on Saturday afternoon in the High School gymnasium, when the Collegians were defeated by a score of 14 to 6. The game was an excellent one, the play at all times being fast and exciting, the numerous followers of both teams having plenty of opportunity to show their enthusiasm which they undoubtedly did. The combination played by High School, was very effective, and but for poor shooting, their score would have been much larger.

Miss Eleanor Oughtred, Miss Edith Cairns and Miss McCaw, played a remarkably strong game for High, while Miss Ruby Norris, Miss E. Elliott and Miss V. Telfer were the mainstay of the College team.

Following was the line-up:

High School	College '09
I. McCaw	Defence. A. Sclattery
Z. Prather	" E. Munne
M. Brown	" J. McDonald
E. Hadrill	Centre. R. Norris
H. Rosenberg	Home. V. Telfer

YOUTH VS. EXPERIENCE.

Phil Donahue, who this evening at the Shamrock Club House will meet Jack Hamilton, of Troy, in a fifteen round boxing contest reached Montreal yesterday in company with his manager, Mr. John J. Mack, of New York.

Donahue is looked upon as a top notcher of his weight, 130 pounds or a trifle under, while Hamilton is also a hard nut to crack, in fact it is stated by those who should know that Callaghan would not have a chance with either of them. Donahue will leave shortly for Indianapolis, where he will meet young Corbett in a fifteen round go. Hamilton, who arrived from Troy this morning, comes to us with a long record of victories, having put it over such men as Kid Brod and Dave Sullivan, while he gave McGovern all he wanted in a recent match.

Yesterday afternoon Donahue visited Billy Armstrong's gymnasium, Cathcart street, and there gave a few friends an opportunity of seeing what he could do, putting on the gloves for three rounds with Armstrong. The latter declared after the exhibition that the lad was remarkable clever and combined it with unusual strength.

MIKE JOYCE PUTS IN AN APPEARANCE HERE

Says the Royals Have Not Had a Fair Show so Far, But Will Be All Right When Season Opens.

Mike Joice, on whom Jimmie Bannon relies to hold down the left garden for the famous Royals, arrived in town yesterday from Utica. Mike broke his thumb in the first stage of the game with Albany, and has come out to the home city to recuperate. He had the disfigured member looked over by a surgeon on his arrival here, and was told that he would be out of the game for about three weeks. In the meantime he is taking things easy and not worrying at all over the start that Bannon's Birds have made. Although the team has not put up anything in the gilt edge line so far, Mike claims that they have hardly had a fair show. The team has not lined up the same in two games yet, and the pitchers are just beginning to get themselves worked into shape.

Speaking of the players Bannon has on his list, the disabled left fielder says the team has been considerably strengthened by the addition of Rapp, Joe Connor, Wagner and Huelsman. Rapp, he says, is a better all round man than Lachance, and that Joe Connor is a fast backstop, who will be a favorite here. Big Huelsman is a slugger of the first order, and "Al" Wagner's knee, which kept him out of the game last season, is all right again. The brother of the famous Pittsburg shortstop, says Mike, is well able to look after third base, and is a good batsman besides.

Keefe, the former Pacific Coast pitcher, Montreal expects to secure from the New York Americans, was on the firing line against Newark on Sunday, and held the "Sailors" down to five hits and struck out eight men.

ENGLISH RUGBY PLAYED IN TORONTO

New York Team Won in a Poor Exhibition of the Game as Played on Other Side.

Toronto, April 24.—English Rugby football was played at Rosedale athletic grounds on Saturday afternoon before a crowd of some 200 people, between a team from New York, composed of Englishmen and the Anglo-Canadians of Toronto. New York won by a score of 8 to 0. Half-time score, 5 to 0. By the game one could hardly form an idea of English Rugby, as played by the international teams. There seemed to be too much fumbling and not knowing what to do with the ball at a critical stage. The teams were evenly matched, New York having the better backs.

Both teams started off loosely. New York was awarded a free kick and Otterwill tried a goal from the field, but failed. After about fifteen minutes of play, consisting of fumbles, scrimmages and kicks on the shins, Thomas, of the Anglo-Canadians, made a bad pass. Andrews getting the ball about the half-way line and going over for a try, which Bell converted, making the score five to nothing; try 3, goal from try 2. This was all the scoring in the first half. In the second half New York had the kick-off, and the ball went into the Anglo-Canadians' territory, but after some nice passing was taken into the New York ground. However, nothing was doing, except criticism from the side line. The play still went on, both sides trying to get their hands on the ball, and after twenty minutes' play New York obtained it, Robertson getting over for a try, which Bell failed to convert. Anglo-Canadians had several good chances to score, but failed. Otterwill, at full for New York, was the best man on the field, and it was owing to his good work New York won. The teams:

New York (8)—Full, Otterwill; three-quarters, Andrews, Roberts, Bell (captain), Robertson; halves, Patmore, W. Johnstone; forwards, Finch, Wood, Craigie, W. Roberts, T. T. Johnstone, Fraser, Scott, Hazel.

Anglo-Canadians (0)—Full, Greening; three-quarters, Jones, Thomas, Dymond, Campbell; halves, Densham, Atherley; forwards, Waller, Reid, McVie, Crombie (captain), Lewin, Grey, Livingstone.

Referee—J. C. Davies.
Umpires—H. Love, New York; S. Williams, Anglo.

SPRING STYLES FOR MEN.

To Be "Correct" in Dress and in Harmony with Style and Season.

The president of the Semi-Ready Company recently returned from a tour of the fashion centres. He has to study six months ahead to learn to-day the styles which will be worn six months hence. Last fall he visited New York for the same purpose, and the Spring style book of the Semi-Ready Wardrobes is the mirror of good style for men. One of these books can be studied carefully at home. The Semi-Ready Wardrobe in this town has a copy for you if by chance you did not receive yours by mail.

In this city and district, the exclusive franchise for the sale of Semi-Ready is held at 231 St. James street, and corner St. Catherine and St. Andre streets, Montreal.

AUTO SHOW PROVES POPULAR

Automobile Club of Canada Visits the Exhibition in a Body and Grants Approval.

The second day's opening of the Automobile Show at the Arena yesterday proved even more popular than the first, and crowds of enthusiastic autoists thronged the big building all day, admiring and comparing the different makes of cars.

A feature of yesterday's show was the visit paid by the members of the Automobile Club of Canada in a body, and it was a most interesting study to hear them passing their different opinions on the several makes of cars, and offering scientific arguments to the owners and agents either for or against certain makes. That autoing has taken a great hold here, in fact a greater hold than any place else in the Dominion, is proved by the fact that yesterday more people thronged the Arena than they did in two days at the show in Toronto, and Toronto had before been considered the premier of Canada in keeping up to date.

An interesting feature of the show is to watch owners of cars as they look over some bigger and more powerful ones. Indeed, it is a sort of impelling force which stirs a man who has bought a car to seek out something bigger and better, so that he may have something newer and more novel each season. There seems to be a demand for big, powerful cars, and all local people who make enquiries are sure to question sharply about a car's hill climbing qualities, rather a necessary matter in this vicinity. But every agent will relate that his can can ascend Cote des Neiges hill with delightful ease, without undue strain, and no overheating of bearings.

Birks' football team of the Junior Association, wish a match for Saturday, the 28th inst., intermediate or junior. S. LeBrocq, 64 Beaver Hall.

TRAINING SHIP LOST; 35 DROWNED

Captain of the Count de Smet de Naeyera Went Down with his Men.

THERE ARE 26 SURVIVORS.

Prominent Belgiums' Sons Were Among the Cadets Who Lost Their Lives.

London, April 24.—The Count De Smet De Naeyer, a sailing ship, used by the Belgian Government for training officers for the Government service, foundered in the Bay of Biscay, april 18, with a loss of thirty-five lives, including the captain and the officers commanding the cadets. The cadets included the sons of many prominent Belgians. Twenty-six survivors of the wreck were rescued by the barque Dunkerque.

It is difficult to get precise details of the disaster, owing to the Dunkerque, which was proceeding to Hamburg, refusing any information or the names of the survivors, and also declining an invitation to land the survivors at Dover.

The Count De Smet De Naeyer was built at Greenock, in 1904. It is alleged that she turned turtle when she was launched, necessitating alterations to improve her stability. Most of her officers resigned after her first voyage, declaring that she was still top-heavy. She started on her ill-fated second voyage April 11, and anchored off Flushing till Easter Saturday, when she was towed into the North Sea and started on her voyage for Australia. She encountered terrible weather in the Bay of Biscay, labored heavily, and foundered. It is supposed that a boat or raft was launched and that by this means the survivors were rescued, but no details or list of survivors is obtainable. She was a full-rigged sailing ship, 270 feet long.

Germany Gets Ready.

Special to the Montreal Star.

Berlin, April 24.—The alleged undertaking by England to help France against Germany in the event of war by landing 100,000 troops in Schleswig-Holstein has borne fruit.

What ever truth there was in the story when it was circulated during the recent tension over Morocco affairs it has had the effect of turning the attention or the German General Staff to the strategic needs of that one-time Danish province.

Though Schleswig-Holstein was doing very well with its present railway system, the government has obtained an appropriation of nearly two million dollars for converting seven lines in the province into four-track roads, which will facilitate the rapid concentration of troops there to resist possible invasion.

At the same time the two army corps quartered in Alsace-Lorraine, guarding the French frontier, have been provided with new pattern weapons in advance of the general issue to the rest of the army.

NAVAL MANEUVERS END.

Kiel, Germany, April 24.—The German navy will this year strive to emulate great maneuvers planned for the British fleet. Orders for war exercises on a hitherto unprecedented scale have been issued by the Kaiser.

Assembling at Heligoland on May 13 the fleet will be engaged until June 9 in maneuvers by day and night in the North Sea. A mosquito fleet of torpedo boats will defend the mouths of the Elbe and Weser, and the skill and nerves of officers and crews will be severely tested. With a short interval, the maneuvers will extend into July.

Richmond's Waterworks.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Richmond, Que., April 24. — The Council has decided to make some Radical changes in the water works, agreeable to the wishes of property holders and citizens generally as expressed in the late petition. Twenty-five thousand dollars will be expended, the money to be raised by debentures in the usual form. The net income from the water rates amounts to $1,600 per annum. This will not only meet the interest on bonds, but will provide a sinking fund. The total revenue will be greatly increased by the Grand Trunk Railway, who will take their water from the town, and pay $861 per annum. It is expected this will reduce the insurance premiums, as it will give additional fire protection. The necessary by-law has been drawn up and passed, but will be voted on by the rate-payers before going into effect.

THE GERMAN SURTAX.

The debate yesterday in the House of Commons on our relations to Germany can hardly do the country any good. If we are to make a better bargain with Germany than we now have, the best way not to go about it is to demonstrate by just such discussions that the country is not a unit in maintaining the present firm attitude. The righteousness of this attitude—as a matter of principle—is beyond question. Canada got into the bad graces of Germany by demanding the right to discriminate in favor of British [illegible]. This was a purely domestic affair, and was—to put it bluntly—none of Germany's business. But Germany undertook to punish us for our course by enforcing against us her highest tariff. To this there could be but one self-respecting reply; and that was the German surtax.

Now that Germany has been reconsidering her entire tariff position, we both might wisely regard the episode as closed, and approach this business question in a business manner. But such delicate negotiations should be left to the Government without any open prodding from behind. If members have anything to say on the subject, there is no doubt that the Minister of Finance would be willing to listen to them "in camera." And this would be quite as satisfactory to complaining members as a loud discussion in the House, unless they sought to make political capital out of the affair; and to seek political capital in such a situation is not far from constructive treason.

By no means the least unfortunate outcome of the affair was the derogatory remarks about the value of German trade which it led some of the Ministers to make. Neither is this the best way in which to conduct negotiations with a great and proud people. The German market is not to be measured by past returns, but by future possibilities; and it is the greatest absurdity to talk as if it were of no value to us to be on good terms with the German purchasing public. Altogether the entire episode was stupid; and can have its only benefit in teaching our politicians the danger of playing constantly at parish politics.

FREE FUEL ALCOHOL.

The movement for removing the excise from alcohol for fuel and manufacturing purposes, which is now being crystalized into law in the United States, is one which Canada cannot afford to ignore. Our neighbors must be recognized as our greatest industrial and agricultural rivals. We cannot afford to allow them an advantage over us that we can prevent. Free alcohol for industrial purposes will revolutionize the fuel problem, make the farmer independent, instead of at the mercy of oil and coal men; give many of our industries an important article at a greatly reduced price; cheapen and facilitate heating and cooking in the homes; provide the motive power for the automobile and small engine. There are thousands of tons of material burned up or wasted every year from which alcohol can be produced. The authorities differ somewhat as to the cost of making grain alcohol, but all agree that it can be produced for less than 15 cents a gallon, and many experts put the cost below 10 cents. As grain alcohol can take the place of gasoline for almost every possible use, and as the latter has been steadily increasing in price, the freeing of grain alcohol is a matter of vaster importance than the casual observer would imagine.

Canada can afford to give up the excise on grain alcohol and suffer the loss by the lessened sale of the vile, poisonous, wood alcohol (manufactured by the Government). Outside of its utility as a safe and efficient fuel, grain alcohol is absolutely essential in the manufacture of celluloid products, photographic plates, smokeless powder, transparent soaps, etc. Yet, while the distillate can be manufactured for 10 cents a gallon, the excise in Canada is $1.90 per proof gallon, and in the United States it is taxed $2.07 per gallon. This, of course, drives it out of all trades where wood alcohol can be substituted. This wood alcohol is not only foul smelling, but is a poison, and now recognized as very injurious to workmen handling it.

The great objection, and, perhaps, only objection, to removing the excise from grain spirit is that it might be used for making intoxicating beverages. The farmers, especially, are among the inveterate opponents of drinking customs, and no advantage would lead them to even indirectly foster the manufacture of intoxicants. It is, therefore, pleasing to know that this objection has been removed through a process known as making "de-natured" alcohol. It is cheap, absolutely nauseous to the taste, and cannot be profitably re-distilled. These facts have been demonstrated to the United States Government so satisfactorily that there is little doubt that grain spirit of the kind indicated is to be made free.

With the opening up of our new lands, the free grain spirit would be a great boon, effectually solving the heat and power problem. It can be made from grain that is decayed or otherwise unfit for food, from potato peelings, cornstalks, in fact anything that contains starch or sugar. With the excise removed, the alcohol distillery would be side by side with the co-operative dairy and grist mill, among small farmers, and individual distilleries would be an adjunct of all big farms. What is now waste would be a great source of profit and convenience. The importance of this subject is being fully appreciated by our neighbors, and cannot be too soon considered by Canada.

THE GAS PROPOSALS.

The proposal of the Fire and Light Committee that the Gas Company should reduce its prices on a sliding scale until they will reach 80-cent gas in 1910, in exchange for an extension of its contract for fifteen years from 1910, looks like a fair one, though it would be better if the sliding scale moved faster. It falls well below the Bemis estimate of 87 cents; but the Bemis calculations were on present conditions, while these proposals carry us through to 1925. Then 80-cent gas is the maximum just fixed for the State of New York, and is likely to be the standard figure pretty well throughout the Continent.

If the rate for heating and manufacturing purposes can by any means be made lower than 60 cents, it should be done. If gas can be put at a practicable figure for heating purposes, our people would hasten to escape from the thrall of the haughty coal man and put themselves in a position to look a coal strike in the face without blenching. Should gas heating become general, at a price at all profitable to the company, they would have found a gold mine, in comparison with which cooking and lighting are merely pinched-out veins.

The payment into the public treasury of a percentage on the earnings of these possessors of public franchises, is precisely the right kind of restriction. This enables the man who does not use gas to participate in the rental of the franchise to the company. The family with the coal oil lamp is as much a part owner of this franchise as the family with the brilliant chandelier; and, in this way, the humbler home receives its share of the common fund.

THE NATURAL HISTORY SOCIETY'S NEW HOME.

The Natural History Society has done a work in Montreal in the past of which it is hardly necessary to speak. The interest it has awakened in and the information it has distributed with regard to the subjects which come under its consideration, could not be measured. Then its campaign of a little while ago against the Tussock moth shows the practical side of its labors.

Now it is about to build for itself much more commodious and adequate premises, and is appealing to the citizens to return to it some dividends on the benefits which it has conferred on them by helping in this task. A fine new museum building to cost about $80,000, is contemplated; and the institution, be it remembered, is not a revenue-producer. In the meantime, it will carry on a valuable compaign in the free popular lecture field, and will thus continue to keep in touch with the people.

A correspondent quotes an editorial remark to the effect that it is a sign of the times that we are now looking to the scientists and not to the theologians to explain the San Francisco earthquake; and thinks that by so doing the people are depriving themselves of much "comfort." Our correspondent must have a curious idea of "comfort." Would the friends of the dead in San Francisco feel any greater "comfort" if they believed that their dear ones had been killed by the Deity because of sin so much greater than the average that they deserved this terrible fate? Would not such a belief add an immeasurable horror to the event which it now is happily without? Is there not more "comfort" in debiting the tragedy to the "blind forces of nature" which know not good from evil? To credit the Deity with personal responsibility for such an event seems to us to be both "inhuman and blasphemous."

POLICE CONTROL OF EATING HOUSES

New Enactment to That End Placed in the City By-laws.

For some time past Mayor Ekers has been working with the Chief of Police in order to have a by-law passed which would give the police department control of cigar stores, pool rooms, eating rooms, etc.

Such an enactment was passed at the meeting of the City Council yesterday afternoon.

In a letter to the Council on the matter of police control of such places Chief of Police Campeau said that many small cigar stores and eating houses were kept open all night and were frequented by people of bad character. As for pool rooms, young boys were frequently found in them. Many boys received an evil training in such places.

The proposed new by-law was then submitted to Council and was as follows:

"No person shall keep in the city any retail store or shop for the sale of tobacco, cigars, fruit, pastry, confectionary, ice cream or temperance drinks, or any restaurant, dining room or other place open to the public for the sale of food for consumption on the premises, but not licensed under the Quebec license law, without having previously obtained a license from the city and without having paid to the City Treasurer the sum of one dollar.

"Said license shall be granted only upon the written recommendation of the Superintendent of Police.

"No person licensed under this law for the keeping of billiard, pool, pigeon hole, bagatelle or mississippi tables, or other such games, or of bowling alleys or of shooting galleries shall open or keep open, by night, from midnight to 5 o'clock in the morning, from Monday to Saturday, inclusively in each week, nor on Sunday from midnight to 1 o'clock in the afternoon, the establishments or rooms, where such games are kept, and no person, licensed as aforesaid, shall admit, or allow to be admitted therein, children under 16 complete years of age.

"This by-law shall be considered as forming part of said by-law No. 313, as regards the penalty and to all other intents and purposes, and shall come into force on the 1st day of May next (1906)."

Explaining the San Francisco Disaster.

To the Editor of The Montreal Star.

Sir,—In an editorial on the San Francisco disaster on the 19th inst., you remarked that:

"It is a sign of the times that we turn instinctively to the scientists and not to the theologians to explain this ghastly visitation. The day was when it would have been regarded as an act of Providence inflicted upon the stricken city for some special sin. To-day no such inhuman and blasphemous doctrine is dreamed of."

I am willing to admit that it is quite natural and reasonable that we should turn to science for an explanation of this catastrophe, but what comfort is there in it? Science can only tell us how it happened without giving us satisfaction as to the real "why," and in fact it may even deny that there is any "because" at all. However, to say drily to a man who has lost some dear friend or relative in this disaster, that his brother, for instance, died on account of such and such geological condition of the Pacific Coast, is a meagre consolation to offer him.

So long as we confine ourselves to a mere "mechanical" or natural explanation of such phenomena, we are struggling with an endless chain of physical causes that will always fail to satisfy us entirely, because it deals only with the physical element of the problem, and leaves entirely aside the moral or humane aspect which forms also a fact requiring an explanation.

Now, if we turn from a purely natural explanation of the catastrophe to one which postulates an intelligent purpose of which the natural causes discovered by scientists are the means, then, although we may still ignore entirely what that purpose may be, we are not left with the despairing idea that the forces of nature act blindly without regard to human weal or woe, and that they may crush us unexpectedly at any moment if we happen to be on their path.

I also fail to see why the idea that this disaster is an act of Providence inflicted upon the stricken city for some special sin, is ghastly and inhuman. While this may be a rather crude form of interpreting the action of Providence, what knowledge do we possess of the hereafter that enables us to appreciate fully and fairly the moral consequences of the San Francisco earthquake? We are able to see only one side of the question, and who knows how it may appear from the point of view of Providence itself? There is no lack of reasonable theories on the subject which make it quite possible to conceive of the possibility of death being the means of giving to some a better occasion to see their mistakes and amend themselves, while others may find in it still greater opportunities to continue to do good. Finally, it may also be conceived that the suffering of those who are left destitute may concur towards their true spiritual evolution. At any rate, whether these theories have any foundation or not, in the absence of generally accepted knowledge on the subject, there is no ground for dogmatizing one way or the other, and my purpose in writing this is to show that despite the debt we owe to science for its explanation of proximate causes, there may yet be satisfaction for our intellectual and moral sense in the thought that it may be said of the San Francisco disaster, as of Lucifer in Longfellow's "Golden Legend," that

. . . since God suffers him to be,
He, too, is God's minister,
And labors for some good,
By us not understood.

Yours truly,
E. F. DUCASSE.

Fools And Their Money

Do you remember Lawson's pen-picture of Heinze?

Shortly afterward Heinze had the nerve to propose that Lawson help him to gouge the public out of a million and divide the "swag."

He clearly doesn't understand Lawson. Do you? Read "Fools and their Money" in Everybody's for May.

Facts in the Case.

Paw—"I'm afraid I did, my son."

Little Johnny—"What kind of a gun did you use, paw?"

Paw—"I didn't use a gun at all, my boy. I was one of the army cooks."

After the geologists are through explaining that earthquake, we shall know quite as much about it as we did before.

Of More Importance.

"What will you say to your wife when you get home?" asked Rounder as they left the club at 1.30 a.m.

"That has nothing to do with the case," answered Smiley. "The real question is, What will she say to me?"

BY THE SUSPICIOUS BARD.

The seed the farmer soweth,
The balmy south wind bloweth,
But who is there that knoweth
How long that wind will blow?
The flower upward springeth,
The bird with rapture singeth,
Such things the springtide bringeth,
It isn't summer though.

For that the sun now shineth,
The foolish man reclineth
Upon the grass or pineth
For grass whereon to lie.
The maiden fair arrayeth
In waists full light, and stayeth
Out on the porch—and payeth
Right dearly by and by.

The tree buddeth and leaveth
And blossoms, too, achieveth,
But no sign me deceiveth,
Though birds their song attune,
And forth the flow'ret peepeth
And high the lambkin leapeth,
Yet wise is he who keepeth
His flannels on till June.

One man in Russia rose in his carriage and caught a bomb that was thrown at him. The fact that he caught it proves conclusively that he did not receive his early training on the Montreal baseball team.

And then, again, there are those among us who pronounce vast wealth to be a curse and a menace because the other fellows possess it.

The calamity prophets who predicted all kinds of disaster for 1906 may derive a little professional satisfaction from the knowledge that the goods are being delivered.

As a matter of fact, we do not have to look for trouble in order to find it.

Heroism at San Francisco.

At the time of the destruction of Pompeii and Herculaneum, Pliny, the elder, won fame that has lasted nineteen hundred years by heroically putting his life in jeopardy in order to investigate the phenomena, recalls the St. John Sun. During the recent eruption of Mount Vesuvius Professor Matteucci displayed similar courage in remaining at his post in the observatory, and the world resounds with his praise. But at San Francisco during the past few days dozens of reporters and telegraph operators have done as much and have done it in the course of the day's work, without a thought that there was anything heroic about it. And the world does not even know their names, nor care to know them. In the time of St. John's distress twenty-eight years ago San Francisco sent $7,000. Of the fund then formed several thousands of dollars remain. It would be a graceful act and a fitting return for that city's generosity if at least that amount with compound interest should be contributed now from that fund for the relief of the hundreds of thousands by the Golden Gate who so sorely need assistance.

Push Along the Good Work.

"The suffering and misery are indescribable" is a specimen sentence from one of our San Francisco despatches giving facts concerning the condition of the homeless and destitute population as the fire is coming under control and the full extent of the disaster becomes apparent, remarks the St. John Telegraph. The plight of San Francisco has touched the hearts of a whole continent. St. John, with characteristic charity and quick impulse, is responding admirably to the appeal made on behalf of the sufferers. This morning $3,200, the first instalment of the relief fund raised by The Telegraph and The Times, will be forwarded by wire to Mayor Schmitz. This first considerable instalment is sent in order that it may be applied immediately to the work of relief instead of lying idle here. San Francisco sent nearly $7,000 to St. John in 1877. Would it not be a notable and generous thing if St. John—with only about one-tenth San Francisco's population—could now send back that $7,000, the bread the Californians cast upon the waters twenty-nine years ago? The need for aid does not end, but in reality only begins, with the checking of the fire which has destroyed almost the entire city. "It is the general belief," to quote a despatch, "that there is going to be great distress, and that actual starvation stares many in the face unless immediate and whole-souled aid is forthcoming." The great number of women and children among the sufferers must make a special appeal to all. The duty of the hour, as has been said, is relief—to give. For "the greatest of these is charity."

Costly Experiments With Projectiles.

There is no end to the amount of money the different civilized governments expend in making experiments with projectiles and ammunition, and it is ever a source of amazement to the uninitiated to find out how much some of their so-called trial shots really cost. Some years ago one shot was fired by a private projectile company which cost upwards of $5,000. It possibly rendered $5,000 worth of information, however, for it was found that this particular shot penetrated sixteen inches of Harveyized steel, nine inches of wood backing, and then buried itself in thirty feet of sand. Not long ago the English Government tested the explosive power of lyddite upon the armor plate of the twenty-four year-old battleship Bellisle, which originally cost $1,200,000. In eight and a half minutes the vessel was a complete wreck. The cost of the experiment may be learned from the fact that the projectiles used throughout the time of firing cost $22,950. The French Government is also noted for the amount of money it spends on experiments with explosives. Some time ago a landslide occurred in Savoie, leaving a great many loose fragments of rock hanging at the summit of a mountain, of great danger to those living in the valley underneath. To remove the rocks, and at the same time to test its field artillery, the Minister of War decided to do a little practising. The rocks were removed with great celerity, but the cost is said to have been enormous. Another experiment, and probably the most expensive of them all, was carried on by the Austrian Government some time ago. This consisted in the bombardment of a steel and wood fortification which had been erected at Lesnica for the purpose. In addition to the cost of labor utilized in building the fort, and the outlay in special ecrasite shells used, there was a considerable expenditure in policing the neighborhood, with a view to expelling all unauthorized individuals within a radius of five miles of the scene. It was stated at the time of the experiment that the cost was about $15,000, but in all probability the outlay was considerably greater than that sum.

Melons for Winter.

The increase of our knowledge of the vegetable world has given us many good things. Perhaps the most recent of these is the winter melon, which is now becoming such a luxury, and, what is still better, an attainable luxury. The seeds of the winter melon came from Russia. They were placed in the hands of a man who had a great reputation as a horticulturist. There were two varieties of muskmelon and one of watermelon. The Russian seeds produce an exceptionally fine muskmelon. In flavor they are more acceptable than the summer kind, far more attractive from an exterior view, and grow in weight to twenty-five pounds. One of the features of the melons is that their luscious flavor does not deteriorate as they increase in size, as is often the case with the summer fruit. The beauty of the winter melon is that they are in their prime in the dead of winter, when the snow covers the Northern States and nature hibernates with the thermometer in close proximity to zero. The melons need only about one hundred days in which to mature, so that seeds planted the first of May will by the first of August produce some melons which ripen on the vines. The major portion of the crop, however, has to ripen after being picked. The date of their ripening depends entirely upon the temperature in which they are stored. If deposited in a cool place they will not ripen much before the first of the year. If the melons are desired for an earlier market it is only necessary to place them in a room of a living heat.

World Gossip

New Corporation Town.

"Indiana is to have a new town modelled on the plan of the Pullman City in Illinois," said Mr. Christie R. Boswell, of Indianapolis, at the Windsor, yesterday.

"This model town will be built by the Illinois Steel Company in connection with the new work they are constructing in Indiana, and it will receive the name of Corey, in honor of the president of the Steel Corporation.

"The town will be built somewhat on the lines of Pullman, the town made famous by the Pullman car works. It will be a modern town in every respect, and managed on the lines of the most advanced and scientific ideas of municipal reform.

"The new city will contain model workmen's dwellings, public baths, laundries, kitchens, and other municipal enterprises. It will also have a theatre and a large assembly hall for the purpose of accomodating assemblies and such like.

"It is stated that the new plant will ultimately cost in the neighborhood of $30,000,000, and will require about ten years to build.

"Here will be situated twenty-seven blast furnaces and fifty open-hearth furnaces, making it the largest steel plant in the world.

"The largest plant in existence to-day is that in Chicago, which has ten blast and twenty-four open-hearth furnaces.

"The new plant will employ from 12,000 to 15,000 people.

"It will be some time before this city will be an actual going concern, but plans have been considered, and a start will be made in connection with the undertaking at the earliest possible date."

Reform in British Patent Laws.

"The existing patent laws in Great Britain afford greater facilities for the formation of monopolies than do those of any protectionist country of Europe."

Such an opinion was expressed at the Windsor yesterday by Mr. George H. Holland, of London.

"Take, for instance, the case of Germany. For three years ending 1905 she granted only some 29,000 patents, whilst Great Britain granted something like 46,000. Out of this latter number granted by Great Britain, about 24,000 were given to people residing outside the country; in fact, the majority of them were given abroad.

"An agitation is now on foot to have the existing law amended so as to enforce the forfeiture of any British patents worked without but not within the United Kingdom, after three years from the date of application in the country of origin, unless, of course, the patentee could justify his inaction.

"It is urged that the foreign patentee to whom a monopoly is granted should lose it if he did not establish his incention in the country.

"If Great Britain grants patents for articles made solely abroad, she hopelessly handicaps herself in the race for industrial prosperity and fosters foreign labor and industries.

"It is further alleged that the great majority of patents granted to foreigners are used mainly to blackmail and extort money from the English manufacturers.

"In addition Great Britain is now largely dependent on foreigners for her supply of the materials necessary for the manufacture of explosives for national defence, and so long as the present law exists she will become more and more dependent for her supply from these sources.

"The most practical change advocated is that the law should be so amended as to put on the patentee the onus of proof that the patent was being worked satisfactorily, and a law framed somewhat on these lines will no doubt be brought to the attention of the Government, probably at the next session.

"Those interested in the question represent scores of millions of capital and hundreds of thousands of workpeople, and it is believed the new reform will increase employment without penalizing the consumers by preventing the granting of monopolies which allow foreign labor to supply the British market to the exclusion of home labor."

Australian Coast Defence.

Mr. Fred. T. Hope, of Melbourne, speaking last night of the progress being made in Australia, stated that at present there are Australian representatives in London for the purpose of consulting with the Imperial naval authorities on the subject of Australian naval defence.

"They are there," he said, "to expound the case for an Australian naval force, which, though distinct from the Australian squadron, would be capable of co-operating with the Imperial navy in time of war.

"A report in this connection has already been made to the Australian Minister of Defence, urging the formation of a coast defence squadron to consist of three cruiser destroyers? sixteen torpedo-boat destroyers and fifteen torpedo-boats of the first and second class.

"Regarding the personnel, individual efficiency in the permanent force is satisfactory, but in regard to numerical strength and organization it is not satisfactory.

"It is not, of course, desired that the Australian naval force should be a substitute for the protection of the British navy, but would only be supplementary, and would act in close co-operation with the Imperial navy."

Fire Put End to Contract.

Judgment has been rendered in the case of Lidstone against Hayes, by Mr. Justice Curran, dismissing the action with costs. Plaintiff sued for $825, the balance of the amount due on a plumbing contract, which he alleged had been completed. Defendant made the plea that the premises were burned before the completion of the contract and that he could not be held liable for the work. His plea was maintained by the court.

"For two years my neck was covered with sores, the humour spreading to my hair, which fell out, leaving an unsightly bald spot, and the soreness, inflammation, and merciless itching made me wild. San Marino, the smallest republic in the world, will soon be without voters if its rate of emigration keeps up. It has only 1,700, including widows, but it is still a good republic. Recently its Assembly decided to abolish the executive council, the members of which have been elected for life. Hereafter members will be elected by the people for three years only.

MANY were satisfied with the tea they were using before they tried Red Rose Tea.
When they tried Red Rose Tea they found it had that "rich fruity flavor," found it was strong—that it requires less to make a cup of good tea than the brand of Ceylon alone they had been using.
Now, why not be sure you are getting the best tea to be had.
You cannot be sure till you try Red Rose Tea.

FISSURES AND DEPRESSIONS FOUR FEET DEEP CAN BE SEEN IN STREETS OF SAN FRANCISCO

Tour of Wrecked Portion made by a Reporter for the Montreal Star---New $2,000,000 Post Office was Unharmed in Midst of Chaos—Destroyed Area Covers Seven Square Miles.

Special to The Montreal Star.

San Francisco, Cal., April 24.—The privilege of making a tour of the wrecked city in the Governor's automobile was accorded to-day to a reporter for the Montreal Star. All over the great stretch of ruins that was left to mark the disaster gangs of workmen were busily engaged clearing the thoroughfares and digging in the ruins with one aim in view, that of preparing the site for the new San Francisco. Everywhere resounded the noise of dynamiting and the fall of menacing walls.

Because of this traffic had been in many places diverted, particularly along Market and Mission streets, where the ruins towered in some cases stories high and threatened to fall.

The new $2,000,000 Post Office building, near the City Hall, which was opened only a year ago, was found to be almost intact, save for the steps leading up to the main entrance and a few stones on the north corner and the windows on the north side. The spectacle of this stately pile, standing as it did after the earthquake shock, seemed to answer the adverse criticism made when the site for it was chosen.

Then it was said that the building would stand on a mud bank, but as it stood to-day it bore testimony to the magnificent construction of its foundation.

All around it were cracks and depressions. In the district around Van Ness avenue, at Vallejo street, the north end, as it is called, great fissures have left their traces, and there was a drop in the level of over four feet. This is the Fifth avenue section of San Francisco.

At the corner of the avenue and Vallejo street stood the splendid apartment house owned by the Law brothers. At the shock of the earthquake, the back fell and dropped probably two feet. This was in the higher section of the city.

EARTHQUAKE HAVOC.

All around were signs of the earthquake's havoc. The fine homes, which marked this district lay in ruins. Depressions of the streets gave evidence of the seismic shock, but from the jumbled mass of ruins that lay all about it was difficult to distinguish what damage was due to earthquake and what to fire.

Down in the city hall district where the skeleton of the great dome of the municipal building looks over an area of desolation, open cracks were to be seen. Here, too, were many depressions, some of them being as deep as four feet.

SOME STREETS IMPASSIBLE.

The debris in some places made the streets impassible. The Market street outlet to the JFerry, which was the main artery from the city to the bay front, had been cleared however, and through this avenue great crowds of refugees still pass, all bearing the unmistakable signs of the hardships through which they had gone. McAllister street, which is one of the main thoroughfares passing the City Hall, the McAllister street cars carrying a great portion of the traffic from the ferry to the western portions of the city, was also pretty well cleared of wreckage.

Larkin street, which runs north and South past the big structure, and contains many small stores and in which also stood the large frame building of the Mechanics Pavilion, likewise showed a stretch of ruin. So did Eddy Turk and Ella streets, off shoots of Market street, which stretched adjacent to the City Hall, and which are lined thickly with small hotels and frame lodging houses over thrown by the earthquake or swept by the fire. In this district the fire found the best of fuel.

Conditions similar to these were witnessed in all the seven square miles of devastation.

Some of the ruins were smouldering still, even after the drenching rain of the day before. Down on the bay front, fitful blazes sprang from the coal bunkers but gave little worry. The crowds at work in every section looked as though they were making a heroic effort to bring back to life the city that had received almost a knock out blow.

Mr. Ross Back from California.

Mr. W. G. Ross, managing director of the Montreal Street Railway, returned to-day from the West, having been in California, though fortunately not in San Francisco, during the recent earthquake.

Mr. Ross was on his way from Pasadena to Salt Lake City at the time the earthquake occurred. His intention was to have gone on to San Francisco, which city, if he had carried out this plan, he and his family would have reached just previous to the calamity.

Mr. Ross states that he cannot understand how it is that Lieut.-Colonel Henshaw has not been heard from. Col. Henshaw left Mr. Ross with the intention of going on to Santa Barbara and Monterey and thence on to San Francisco.

Mr. Ross states that if Col. Henshaw carried out his original plan he would have started out from Monterey for San Francisco at just about the time that the disaster took place, and he would therefore have turned back. If, however, he later on revised his plans somewhat then he may have left a day earlier and arrived at the Golden Gate the day previous to the disaster.

Mr. J. F. Dolan, of the R. and O Company, to-day received a telegram from his sister-in-law, who has been visiting San Francisco. This telegram was sent on the 20th from Oakland and has just been received. It says:—"Cousins and I are safe. Destruction awful.—Catherine Donavan."

A letter has been received by his parents from Dr. Randolph Hersey, of Bayle street, who is at present in Cupertino, Cal., announcing that he and his grandfather, Mr. Randolph Hersey, of Elm avenue, Westmount, and the Misses Hersey, who are with him, are all well. They were in the zone of the earthquake and felt the shock but suffered no injury from it. A telegram has been sent to Dr. Hersey by his parents last Wednesday, but no answer had been received and the explanation is given in this letter, which states that all telegraphic communication with Cupertino is destroyed.

THE CITY GRANT.

The aldermen decided, at the meeting of the City Council yesterday afternoon, to send the request for aid to the San Francisco sufferers, to the Finance Committee for consideration. It is expected this committee will report on Friday in favor of a generous amount being voted.

MR. PRESTON TO BE CALLED AS WITNESS

Special to the Montreal Star.

Ottawa, April 24.—In the Public Accounts Committee to-day, Mr. Barker pointed out that one payment of £1,000 to the North Atlantic Trading Company had been sent in February, 1903, to Mr. Preston in London. Was this a personal payment?

Mr. Smart said: "No; the cheque had to be signed by Lord Strathcona and the payment was made in the usual way to the company by the High Commissioner's office."

Mr. Preston has been summoned to appear as a witness before the committee.

RAILWAY MANAGERS PROTESTED BILL

Special to the Montreal Star.

Ottawa, April 24.—The transportation interests of the country were on hand to-day in full force to point out injustices that would be done them in the event of the Government's Sunday observance legislation securing law in its present form. The first witness examined to-day was General Manager McNicoll, of the Canadian Pacific, most of whose statements were corroborated by Mr. F. H. McGuigan, vice-president of the Grand Trunk system.

LINEMAN WAS ELECTROCUTED

While at work yesterday afternoon, on a pole at the corner of Marie Anne street and Papaineau avenue, Delorimier, Ferdinand Lapointe, 21 years of age, a lineman in the employ of the Montreal Light, Heat and Power Company, was electrocuted by coming in contact with a live wire. He was taken down from the pole by Chief Belanger and the men of the Delorimier fire brigade. Ambulances were called from both the General and Notre Dame Hospitals. The physicians that accompanied both ambulances pronounced the man dead, and left him there to be removed to the morgue.

The men at the morgue, when undressing the man, thought they felt the heart and pulse beating. They were so positive that Lapointe was not dead that they hastily summoned another physician from the Notre Dame hospital.

The doctor, who went to the morgue from the Notre Dame Hospital, says that there was no sign of life in Lapointe's body when he reached the morgue, and he is confident that the man had been dead for more than an hour.

The victim resided at 143 East Vitre street, and is survived by a widow and a six-months-old child.

Were They Usurers?

Special to The Montreal Star.

Toronto, April 24.—In Old St. Andrew's Church, Sunday morning, Rev. Dr. Milligan said: "We appoint men to the Senate who are worse than murderers—men who have wronged and oppressed the poor, but who, in the eyes of the world, are respectable."

ALTERNATE PLAN OF GAS COMPANY

Not 80 but 90 Cent Gas will Likely be Their Proposition.

DISCUSSION AT CITY HALL

Feeling Among Aldermen is That Fire Committee's Report Will Not Be Acceptable to Producers.

The gas question was the theme of discussion at the City Hall to-day.

The report of the Fire Committee to Council yesterday, asking that an offer be made to the Gas company so that in 1910 gas be sold at eighty cents, did not contain any information that the company would be willing to accept the offer.

The report was made after frequent interviews made with the company by a sub-committee of the Fire Committee.

From remarks made by aldermen today, it was pretty clearly demonstrated that there was no intention on the part of the company to accept the offer. It is known that during the conferences the company intimated that it could not see its way clear to grant gas at the price desired by the aldermen. In consequence of this the Fire Committee decided to draft a report to Council asking that an offer be made to the company looking to a supply of eighty cent gas.

"The position of affairs to-day is," said a member of the Fire Committee to-day, "that when the offer is made by Council the company will be in such a position that it will be able to make an offer in return. It is sure that the company will demand more than eighty cents for gas. I would not be surprised if the company decided to make a flat rate for lighting and cooking gas for ninety cents. The company feels that it has something like a perpetual contract and so is not inclined to make a price as cheap as asked by the Fire Committee.

ACCOUNTS FOR BIG LIST OF ROBBERIES

Since the arrest of Alfred Dufour yesterday by Sub-Chief of Police McMahon and Chief Claremont, of Mile End, people have been pouring into Chief of Detective Carpenter's office to identify goods which have been stolen from their places which they had never found. Dufour was again brought before Judge Lafontaine, and the following charges were laid against him, all for receiving stolen goods which had been stolen from the following people:

William Budd, plumber, 110 Villeneuve street, Montreal Annex, during the month of April 1 gentleman's overcoat valued at $30.

Cordelia Menard, wife of J. H. Lafond, 503 Boulevard street, three rings, four bracelets, two ear-rings, chatelaine bag, two pins, two brooches, all valued at $50.

J. B. Lamontagne, merchant tailor, 785a St. Andre street, five pair trousers, twenty-five yards of tweed, all valued at $40.

W. L. Davis, manager of L. W. Shaw & Company, 38 Hutchison street, ladies gold watch, one gold chain, pearl brooch, pearl necklace, black coat and vest, all valued at $175.

William D. B. Scott, 72 Hutchison street, one gold ring with pearls and one bracelet, valued in all at $25.

A. Aline Senecal, wife of Charles Couillard, 728 St. Hubert street, two pair trousers, three vests, one fur boa, one muff all valued at $56.

Narcisse Ritchot, butcher, 401 St. Andre, one gold chain, a locket and a clock, all valued at $30.

Daniel A. McLaughlin, detective, one gold chain, bracelet, sapphire and diamond rings, cutlery, and one wooden clock belonging to Mr. Robert Harris, 11 Durocher street.

Napoleon Dufour, Mountain street, laborer, 45 years of age, brother of Alfred, was also arraigned before Judge Lafontaine to-day. He is charged with having received a pawn ticket valued at $50 from Leon Larose, who stole it from a man named Wilfred Poitras, and that he knew when he was receiving it that it had been stolen.

He pleaded not guilty and was remanded until Friday for enquete.

COMPANY IS RESPONSIBLE.

Bridge Loss Responsibility Placed on Raising of River by Dam.

An important judgment was rendered to-day by Mr. Justice Loranger in the case of the Attorney-General of the Province of Quebec against the Montreal Light, Heat and Power Company, for $40,000, for the destruction of the Yule bridge over the Richelieu river by ice-shoves in the springs of 1904 and 1905. Plaintiff attributed the damage to the action of the defendants in building a dam which raised the level of the river and encouraged the formation of ice. His action was maintained by the court, which awarded him the full amount claimed.

WILL EXTEND ITS ACTIVITIES

Natural History Society has Planned Extension Course in Lectures.

NEW MUSEUM BUILDING.

Society's New Structure will Cost About Eighty Thousand Dollars —Season's Plans.

The Natural History Society of Montreal desires to announce to its friends and the general public, its intention to prosecute a vigorous policy with respect to the activities which properly lie within its field of work. The growth, in recent years, of specially equipped university laboratories where research may be carried out in the most thorough manner, has removed from natural history societies in general, one of the special activities for which they were conspicuous forty or fifty years ago. Such diversion of research work to the universities has, nevertheless, rendered it possible for such societies to devote their energies with greater efficiency to the chief object of their foundation, viz., the broad diffusion of scientific truths in such form as to appeal to the public at large, and especially to those whom the university cannot reach. It is to this class that our natural history societies appeal with peculiar force, either through the medium of properly arranged collections, or through the delivery of lectures upon subjects of wide interest, presented in such form as to be both attractive and instructive.

During the period of transition to a new building which it is proposed to erect shortly upon the property recently acquired on Drummond street, the Natural History Society of Montreal, will extend its work on the line of free, public lectures, and for the purpose of giving this work the greatest breadth possible, and consolidating forces working in similar fields, co-operation has been secured on the part of several important public bodies. The lectures for the season of 1906-1907 will therefore comprise:

PROGRAMME OF LECTURES.

1. The Somerville lectures upon scientific subjects.

A course of six lectures as heretofore.

2. Saturday half-hour talks to children. A course of six popular talks as heretofore.

The following additional lectures will also be delivered with the co-operation of the Local Council of Women, the Tuberculosis League, the Pure Milk League, the Hygieno Committee, the Westmount School Commissioners, Alexandria Hospital and St. Paul's Hospital.

3. A course of three lectures on Lime, Mortar and Cements. These lectures will be fully illustrated by means of experiments, lantern slides and specimens.

4. A course of five lectures on Timber its origin, properties and uses.

These lectures will be fully illustrated by means of the lantern and by specimens.

5. Infectious diseases.

6. Tuberculosis.

7. Feeding of children.

8. The house beautiful, sanitation, decoration, etc.

9. Civic virtues.

WHERE LECTURES WILL BE GIVEN.

The lectures embraced in numbers 3 to 9 inclusive, are designed with special reference to the needs of artisans. The subject matter will be presented in a popular form, while it is also hoped that the information imparted may prove of direct utility. The names of the various lecturers, together with more detailed synopses of the lectures, as well as the various places where the lectures are to be delivered, will be announced in a final programme to be issued early in September, but the statement may be made that the following districts have been selected as centres in which lectures will be delivered:

1. Montreal centre, embracing the region centering upon Drummond street.
2. Westmount.
3. Point St. Charles, including St. Gabriel.
4. Maisonneuve and Hochelaga.
5. St. Jean Baptiste, St. Denis and St. Louis de Mile End.
6. Griffintown.

Arrangements will be made for the delivery of lectures in English, French and both French and English according to the requirements of the locality.

Announcement is made that in accordance with an existing agreement between the Natural History Society of Montreal and the Royal Institution for the Advancement of Learning, the Natural History Society will hereafter issue to each student at the time of his registration at McGill University, a ticket entitling him to all the privileges of associate membership in the society, during the period of his undergraduate connection with the University. A similar privilege will also be extended to the students of Laval University.

NEW MUSEUM.

Announcement is made that the society has completed and adopted sketch plans for the erection of a museum building to cost about eighty thousand dollars. This building will quadruple the capacity of the old museum, and it will also provide liberal accommodation for lectures and other branches of work in accordance with the best modern requirements. The construction will be carried out in all details with reference to the most perfect fireproof conditions.

The society feels that the work which lies before it is of the highest possible importance to the community, and as the successful prosecution of such work depends very largely upon the possession of an adequate building, it is considered that the public at large should be given an opportunity to contribute to its construction. It has therefore been decided to open a popular subscription list, to which donations in any amount from one cent upwards, may be contributed. Such donations may be addressed to the treasurer, Mr. Charles S. J. Phillips, Natural History Society of Montreal, 152 Drummond street. Acknowledgment will be made from time to time through the columns of the public press.

Announcement is made that after the first of May next, the temporary offices of the society may be found at 152 Drummond street, where all meetings will be held until further notice.

ST. GEORGE'S SOCIETY ANNUAL DINNER

St. George's Day Celebrated by England's Sons with Enthusiasm.

The St. George's Society celebrated St. George's Day, the feast of England's patron saint, with a patriotic dinner last night at the Place Viger Hotel. The hall was very tastefully decorated with flags and bunting, in which the Union Jack and the red, white and blue of old England occupied conspicuous positions. Covers were laid for about eighty and the gathering was a most enthusiastic one. "St. George and Merrie England" received all the traditional honors, and with speech and song the hours passed pleasantly by.

The toast of "the Governor-General" was honored, followed by that of "St. George and Merrie England," proposed by Mr. Robert Meredith, second vice-president, who spoke of the Englishman's pride in his nationality and his name.

The toast was responded to by the Rev. Dr. Symonds, in an eloquent speech, in which he spoke of some of the things which were most deeply cherished, and concerning which Englishmen felt proud. It was possible to recall one or two of these excellencies of the English nation, not simply as a matter of pride, but because it was always good to remember the virtues which had made Englishmen what they were, and are, just as it was right and good they should at times consider the deficiencies of their national character.

NEED OF UNITY.

After paying a warm tribute to the qualities of mind and heart of the present ruler of Great Britain, Dr. Symonds touched on the necessity, not only where the British flag flies, but wherever the British tongue is spoken of the people standing more closely shoulder to shoulder, recognizing that nothing was really or truly great which was not great through the possession of unity. There was no greater gift any people could possess, and particularly a people like our own, just emerging from its infancy, just beginning to feel something of power and strength in its already mighty limbs, than to earnestly seek to gain a real unity based upon courtesy and consideration and admiration for those gifts and virtues which each possessed.

The toast of "Canada" was proposed by Mr. C. R. Johnson, in a very patriotic speech and was answered by Principal Peterson, who said that we had a political sonstitution which was the envy of the world at the present moment.

SISTER SOCIETIES.

"Sister Societies and Guests" was proposed by the president, who remarked that it was the first occasion in the history of the society when there had been present a mayor of the city who was a life member of the society.

Mayor Ekers responded, congratulating the society on the good work it had done in the past. Montreal, he said, was particularly fortunate in having such a number of national benevolent societies, which he felt were all doing a good work.

The toast was also acknowledged by the representatives of the several societies present; and the last toast on the list was that of "The Press," proposed by Mr. Victor Mitchell.

Mr. A. W. Atwater, president of the society, occupied the chair, and on his right were: Mayor Ekers, Rev. Dr. Symonds, Mr. F. J. Curran, representing St. Patrick's Society; Mr. W. McNab, representing the Caledonian Society; Mr. Evan Jones, St. David's Welsh Society. On the left of the chairman were: Principal Peterson, of McGill; Lt.-Col. Gardner, representing St. Andrew's Society; Judge Lafontaine, representing St. Jean Baptiste Society, and Mr. Thomas Gilday, the Irish Protestant Benevolent Society.

PERSONALS.

The marriage of Miss Amy B. Mathews to Mr. Ernest E. Hilton, will take place quietly on May 16th.

WOMAN TOOK DOSE OF PARIS GREEN

Mrs. Pierre Paquette, about 50 years of age, swallowed a dose of Paris green at 90 Murray street, at 12.30 o'clock today, and now lies in the General Hospital in a critical condition.

According to the police of No. 7 station, Mrs. Paquette sent her little boy to the drug store for ten cents worth of the poison on the pretext that she wanted to poison rats.

The police, when notified that Mrs. Paquette had taken the poison herself, hurried to the house. The woman resisted the officers and tried to swallow the balance of the poison. She was finally overpowered and taken to the hospital.

STOCKS IRREGULAR IN AFTERNOON

The stock markets took on a better tone in the early part of the afternoon. In Wall Street the rallies were quite prominent, but towards the close the market became very mixed, and there were recessions in some of the leaders.

In Montreal, prices were fractionally better. A feature was a little trading in Montreal Street Railway, just before the close, around 269.

Wall Street, 2 p.m.—Prices went higher in most cases, but the movement was rather irregular. Substantial gains were restricted to stocks which have a large speculative following, especially Reading, Amalgamated Copper, the United States Steel and other metal stocks. Lead hardened 1½, and Smelting, Mo. P., Can. Pac., Erie second pfd., Ont. and Western, Republic Steel pfd. and Consolidated Gas 1 to 1 1-4.

STOCKS ARE STILL ON THE TOBOGGAN

Wall Street was Weak while a Taste of Liquidation was Felt Here.

STEEL HITS 30 BUT RALLIES

Reasons for the Decline in the Market —Feeling Better Later in the Day.

There was a distinctly gloomy opening to the stock market this morning, and in the first two hours prices again melted away, touching in many instances a lower level than was established in the violent break just before yesterday's close.

The Montreal market, which has been sagging gradually for a couple of weeks past, had practically its first taste of steady liquidation, and most of the leaders crumbled to bargain counter rates.

Towards noon some support appeared in Wall Street, and several local leaders, notably Dominion Steel, displayed a rally.

Steel sold as low as 30, and then gained a full point, closing at 31 1-8 bid.

Other low levels established were 119½ for Toronto Rails, 115½ for Twin City, 91 3-4 for Power, 79 for Dominion Steel pfd., 95 3-4 for Detroit, and 30 for Toledo Ry. The latter rallied to 30½.

Some attributed the local selling to the protection of Wall Street accounts.

Canadian Pacific in Wall Street dropped to 159½ and recovered to 160 1-4.

Montreal brokers continued to be handicapped to a considerable extent by money market conditions.

Money here is not any too easy, and in addition several instances are known in which the banks have called small amounts.

A prominent banker told the Star this morning that he did not look for any great easiness here in the next few weeks, but he said that conditions would be appreciably better just as soon as the grain begins to move in the west, thus releasing funds that have been tied up all winter.

Yesterday's unsettlement in Wall Street was clearly a response to the market's bewilderment over the novel and perplexing position created by the San Francisco episode. The unfortunate doubt in which the status of certain fire insurance companies is placed by the heavy losses gave opportunity, as usual, for disturbing rumor.

As to this, two facts should be carefully kept in mind—one, that ownership of such companies is not so distributed that the fall of one or more of them would be a crushing blow; the other, that trouble in one such concern would not, as in the case of deposit banks, jeopardize credit in the others. More exclusively, perhaps, than any other form of American joint-stock investment, insurance shares are held by wealthy capitalists who can comfortably endure a loss. The more genuine cause for the day's uneasiness was the problem, how far liquidation of assets must be carried, in order to meet the accruing indemnities at San Francisco.

In the meantime, the market has had a pretty big decline, and has discounted some possible difficulties.

The severe break in Toledo yesterday may have been inspired by the delay in declaring the dividend. There was a meeting called, but there was no quorum.

A message to-day stated that the Toledo directors will now meet on Thursday to take dividend action. The books will close on April 20th and the dividend, if declared, as it probably will be, is to be paid on May 1st.

Toledo to-day was a little steadier especially towards the close.

Shareholders of the Nova Scotia Steel Company have received the company's pamphlet report by mail, and were no doubt pleased at the president's remarks at the annual meeting. He said in one instance:

"The shareholders will also be glad to know that the cost of the steel produced for the month of March is lower than it has been since the plant was put into operation. We believe that we have an excellent plant for the money spent on it, and look for good results from the future operation of it."

Dominion Steel, at the decline, was well supported, both here and in Boston. After the selling orders, which drove the stock down to 30, bids of 31 and 31 1-8 brought out little or no stock. 100 shares selling at the latter figure. Bids of 31 in Boston found no sellers under 31 1-4.

The demand for Montreal Cotton continues, and 170 shares sold at 124 to 125, the bulk, however, at the former figure.

Havana common sold at 42, and a broken lot of the preferred at 82. In New York Havana sold at 83.

The Canadians in New York were not sold in any great extent, the highest and lowest prices to noon being as follows:

	High.	Low.
Canadian Pacific	160½	159½
Havana	43	42
do pfd.	81½	81½
Soo	155¼	155¼
do pfd.	169½	169½
Toledo	30⅞	30⅞
Twin	115⅞	115½

The U. S. Steel shares are holding very well. The common to-day was quoted around 42 1-8 to 42½, while the preferred, after selling down to 106 5-8, recovered to 107 1-8. The earnings will be out this afternoon.

The liquidation in Wall Street was pretty heavy. The sales in the first hour amounted to 557,000 shares, while to noon they totalled 780,000 shares.

The Hill stocks were irregular. Great Northern opened at 312, dropped to 309 3-4 and recovered to 310 1-4. Northern Pacific opened at 213, declined 2 points, then recovered to 211 3-4.

The gold imports continue, and £351,000 of the yellow metal was withdrawn from the Bank of England for shipment to New York.

The New York banks gained $743,000 from the sub-Treasury since Friday.

STERLING BANK TO START UP.

One Montrealer is on Board of the New Bank.

At a meeting of the subscribers to the stock of the Sterling Bank of Canada, held in Toronto yesterday, a number of prominent Montreal gentlemen were among those represented either in person or by proxy. The by-laws of the bank were read and adopted, and these directors were elected: G. T. Somers, Toronto; W. K. George, Toronto; C. W. Spencer, Montreal; John H. Tilden, Hamilton; J. C. Eaton, Toronto; Wm. Dineen, Toronto; Noel Marshall, Toronto; H. Wilberforce Aikens, M.D., Toronto; Sidney Jones, Toronto.

At a subsequent meeting of the directors, Mr. G. T. Somers was elected president, and Mr. W. K. George vice-president. The Sterling Bank opens for business on Tuesday next, May 1st.

MONTREALER BOUGHT C. P. R.

A prominent Montrealer who is at present out of the city, wired big buying orders for Canadian Pacific stock to-day, and they were executed in the London market.

British Consols Break Under 90

For many months British consols have held over the 90 mark, and, in fact, two weeks ago they touched 91 1-16.

To-day they opened at 89⅞.

The price has receded fractionally almost every day since the San Francisco disaster, for the market quickly realized that the insurance companies, in order to meet their losses, would be heavy sellers of Consols.

This reasoning has not been far astray, for cables to-day stated that the selling has been extremely persistent, and that the holdings going on the market came undoubtedly from the insurance concerns.

This is how Consols have fluctuated in recent years:

Year.	High.	Low.
1900	102⅞	96⅞
1901	97⅞	91
1902	96⅞	94⅛
1903	93⅞	86⅝
1904	91⅝	85
1905	90⅞	86½

Market observers on the other side have considered that Consols have been acting extremely well for three months past.

INCREASES TO $5,000,000.

At the annual meeting of the Canadian Westinghouse Company, the capital stock was increased to $5,000,000.

There are comparatively few Westinghouse shareholders in Montreal.

Montreal Street Railway made a fine showing for the third week of April, and the increase for the first twenty-one days of the month is $23,177, an increase of considerably over $1,000 a day. The showing by days for the third week is as follows:

TORONTO RY. GAINS ARE BIG.

Toronto Railway had a splendid week, and the gain was $8,824, Monday's figures running over $2,000. The earnings and increases are as follows:

		Inc.
Sunday	$1,618	$1,289
Monday	8,249	2 079
Tuesday	8,629	1,766
Wednesday	8,296	1,358

GOLD IMPORTS $21,000,000.

With the $6,500,000 in bonds deposited with the sub-treasury last week by banks engaging gold on the other side, some $23,500,000 has been imported since the inflow from London was inaugurated on March 12. Of this amount some $21,000,000 has come from London and the balance from Berlin and Paris.

MR. T. SAUNDERS ON MEXICO.

Bank of Montreal Manager in Mexico Gives Views.

Mr. T. S. C. Saunders, manager of the Bank of Montreal in the City of Mexico, says that business failures are practically unknown in that country. Mr. Saunders, who returned to Montreal yesterday, reports that everything is about ready for the opening of their Mexican branch on May 1st.

Desiring, as far as possible, to retain the identity of the bank as a British institution, Mr. Saunders' six assistants will be English-speaking, although they will be of course familiar with the Spanish tongue. Mexicans may later be added to the staff. Banking conditions are different from those in the north, and the laws do not protect the banks as well as in Canada. But the Republic, Mr. Saunders says, is prosperous just now, and failures are an exception. If hard times should come, however, it remained to be seen how business would stand the change. The currency is not yet on a gold basis, although the Government's guarantee of the 50 cent value of the dollar has worked exceedingly well, and old-time fluctuation of the currency is now a thing of the past.

"POOL" SUPPORT MISSING.

Bottom prices were touched in the last hour, when all of the active issues came out in large blocks on a descending scale. Most of them got down near last Friday's figures, some of them a little lower. It was difficult to detect any pool support.—New York Post.

Mr. J. M. Levy.

Hon. Jefferson M. Levy, in answer to a communication from the Financial Editor of the Star, writes:

"I found a great change in sentiment in relation to Canada, during my recent trip to London. In past years I had a great deal to contend with to educate the people up to the value of Canadian Pacific and Hudson Bays, but now the whole situation is changed, and it looks to me that the financial world is on the verge of plunging in very heavily in buying Canadian securities. They look upon Canada as the present El Dorado, and are throwing over their African securities to invest in Canada.

"The value of Hudson Bay stock is gradually growing in the estimation of the investing public. I predicted some time ago that in the next four or five years, Hudson Bay stocks would become a second New River success, and the price increase to an enormous extent. Now, I find others entertaining similar views.

London Estimates.

'On March 19th, the London Morning Post valued its shares, without the agricultural land, at £141 per share. The following day the Financier put an estimate of £161 per share, without taking into consideration the value of the enormous holdings of agricultural lands. There has been for a long time a dispute as to how much the Hudson Bay Co. held in the way of lands in the arable belt. This question has been settled by a letter of the Dominion's Secretary to me, in which he states that they were at least entitled to 7,500,000 acres, of which at least 1,400,000 had been sold. This, of course, does not include the land they were already in possession of around their posts or forts, which have been made into towns and cities, or the land to the Rocky Mountain divide, to which your courts decided it was entitled.

Lord Strathcona's Views.

"I had a very pleasant interview on the subject with Lord Strathcona while in London. He stated that he agreed with me as to the intrinsic value and prospects of Hudson Bays; that many years ago he had purchased his stock, which cost him from £30 to £40 per share, that he never intended to sell it; that all the lands of the Hudson Bay Company were valuable lands in his estimation, as he had engaged personally in the selection of it; that he was opposed to selling the lands for less than $10 an acre; that he considered them worth a great deal more, and that his plan in the future would be to place an upset price of $10 per acre on the land and allow the public to bid for it over that price. He was opposed, he said, to the recent sale by the Canadian Pacific Railway to B. Western Canada Company of 500,000 acres of land in the North-West, for he considered the land's value far in excess of the price it was sold for.

Worth $1,500 a Share.

"Under these circumstances, I do not think that the Post's or the Financier's value of the stock is in any way excessive; in fact, I left Lord Strathcona with the impression upon my mind that the stock was worth at the present time at least $1,500 a share.

"I feel confident his administration, that has been so successful in the past, will continue in the future to make the Hudson Bay Company one of the great financial successes of this century.

Views on C.P.R.

"As for the C.P.R., I can only use and echo the views of Sir William Van Horne, who believes that in the next ten or fifteen years the Canadian Pacific Railway stock will advance tremendously, including the rights to subscribe for new stock and rights of Minneapolis, Sault Ste. Marie Railway and their rights, and their enormous land holdings, which he predicts will eventually yield to the company over $200,000,000.

"Sir William is also in favor of increasing the price of land holdings of the railroad company to a higher price than the present selling price, excepting in cases where the property is sold to home-seekers, who will improve the property along the railroad.

"Under all these circumstances, I am confident that your Dominion is in for a period of great prosperity."

BIG MONEY.

(Puck.)

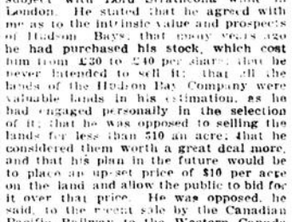
Diehl—"I hear that the Suresuccess Gold Mining Company has paid a dividend of 5 per cent."

Quartz—"Yes; it has failed five cents on the dollar."

GRANBY WAS LOWER.

Granby participated in the general weakness of the market, and was quoted at 12½ bid, and 12⅝ asked.

OPINIONS ON THE MARKET



Charles Head — At the end of the first hour the more urgent selling had been completed, and a general rally followed on buying by shorts and traders. Sentiment is still bearish, and the disposition is to sell on the rallies.

J. B. Picken—The money market is, without doubt, the centre of interest, and a most significant feature regarding it was the sharp advance in rates for long time loans.

H. K. Evans—A rally would seem to be about due. No one can tell when it will come, and for a long pull I am decidedly bearish.

Burnett & Co.: London cable — Gilt-edged home securities show steadiness but American railway shares are nervous on fears of trouble at the settlement, for which this is first making up day. Contangoes are 5 to 5½ per cent.

J. S. Bache—London's strength was somewhat consoling this morning to holders of securities, showing that the hysteria that was exhibited at the close of our market yesterday was totally ignored and a calmer view of the situation was taken by foreigners.

Laidlaw & Co.: The technical position of the market has been further improved, and a sharp rally would not be surprising, but banking interests discourage the idea that the usual spring upward movement of prices will be resumed in the near future.

N. P. Bryant: The short interest is very much extended.

Topics of the Street

There is perhaps only one prominent manipulator in Wall Street who ever looks at a quotation board during business, and he is a Western man. Wall Street manipulators usually sit in a room with a ticker, and the tape tells them all that they want to know. No topographical effects for them.

It is almost wonderful the comprehensive idea such a man possesses of a day's market after having followed the tape.

In Montreal there are several operators who seldom have to look at the quotations marked up.

A man with a good memory can keep track of the market, and get inspiration from the click of the "ticker."

Some men like to feel the tape as it trickles through their fingers. There is inspiration in that, too, but only to the old-timer.

The novice can't catch it.

There is a good half-hour's fun sitting and reading over the sure thing financial advertisements in the New York Sunday papers.

Dozens of Tipping Bureaus laud themselves to the skies, and they are never wrong.

One mind-reader came out last Sunday and practically confessed that his bureau had foreseen the earthquake in San Francisco. Also he says:

"WE KNOW OF SEVERAL STOCKS THAT WILL POSITIVELY ADVANCE FROM 20 TO 30 POINTS BEFORE DECLINING 2 POINTS."

In addition to all that he will tell you the exact second to buy and the exact second to sell, and all it costs is $20 a month, "in advance."

He will send you a letter daily; no extra charge for stamps.

You can be a millionaire for $20 a month. Why delay?

Some of the up-to-date performers have begun to advertise the Cobalt stocks in New York, and one artist informs the public that you can now buy a stock for 15 cents a share that will rise to $80 a share,—not 80 cents, but 80 dollars.

The statement in yesterday's Star that the "Soo" Company had recently booked about 185,000 tons of steel rail orders will perhaps convey more significance to the public mind when it is pointed out that the orders involve about $5,500,000.

Steel shareholders around the "Street" are doing a lot of guessing about the price of rails, but the steel people are keeping mum on that subject.

"Street" guesses on the profit Dominion Steel is making on rails range from $7 to $14 a ton.

The Star has good authority for saying that the profit is a lot nearer the first than the last figure.

Considering the decidedly big proportions of that Wall Street break yesterday afternoon, the Montreal market held pretty well.

BIG BLOCKS THROWN OVER.

Some Claimed That Insurance Concerns Were Selling Stocks.

Wall Street, April 24.—Liquidation was again the prime factor in to-day's weakness, although the bears continued to hammer prices at every opportunity. There was little disposition shown to support prices, and so long as the decline was orderly the larger financial interests appeared to be letting the market follow the lines of least resistance. The standard high priced shares were particularly weak, and it was common report that the selling in this quarter was for the account of several large fire insurance companies. This could not be confirmed, but close observers said that much of the selling originated in what are called "good quarters." The movement of funds to the Pacific coast continued to-day, although it was practically offset by the engagement of some $1,500,000 gold at London.

SURPLUS IS NOW $1,104,000.

The Sao Paulo Showing for Year was a Fine One.

The Sao Paulo figures for the year were given in outline yesterday in yesterday's Star. Here is the statement in detail:

	1905.	Inc.

At the meeting the shareholders passed the by-law authorizing the directors to invest the company's funds in securities of other companies. It is understood the proposed investment is in the stock of the Gas Company of Sao Paulo. President William Mackenzie said he thought $1,500,000 would give the Sao Paulo Tramway Company a controlling interest, but nothing definite will be known until later.

LOCAL OAT MARKET HIGHER.

From the Special Correspondent of the Montreal Star on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Chicago, April 24.—May wheat sold from 78½ to 79¼c, and July from 78⅝ to 79c, compared with closings yesterday of 78¾ and 78⅝c, respectively.

The feature of the market was the strength, accompanied with duliness during the morning. The big longs in September were on the selling spot, and they were also sellers of the May, while they held up the July in order to make selling easier for them.

Some of the big traders were undoing spreads, and this action caused a steadier feeling at various times during the day. The south-western and north-western market were stronger during the day. North-western receipts were considerably in excess of a year ago, while stocks at Minneapolis decreased 300,000 bushels for three days. A New York message says that holders of Manitoba wheat are re-selling quietly. Seeding news from the North-West continued favorable, with a few exceptions, and the situation in the Canadian North-West could not be improved upon. Saskatchewan reports 50 per cent. increase in area in many instances.

LOCAL MARKET. — After several days of unusual strength, during which sales have been made occasionally at even higher figures than the general run of the market, quotations have at last been advanced, and prices are now 39 to 39½c store for No. 4 oats, 40 to 40¼c for No. 3, and 41 to 41½c for No. 2. As a matter of fact, many holders are asking more than these figures, but it would be possible to make purchases at them. At the same time, the market is very firm. Stock is hard to secure throughout the country, and it would not be surprising to see prices go even higher within a short time. Much oats are now held here for export.

CANADIAN CATTLE HIGHER IN ENGLAND

Local Market Steady Save on Hogs—which Advanced.

SUGAR DECLINED AGAIN

All Grades 10c Down—Wheat Higher in Chicago—Local Oat Market Advanced—Cotton Steady.

The English cattle market showed more strength this week, and prices show an advance on the various markets. The Liverpool market for choicest Canadians advanced to 11¾ and 12c per lb., London quoting about the same range. American cattle were also stronger, being quoted at 12½c for best.

Live stock exporters appear to be taking less interest than usual in the freight situation, a large number of engagements being made as a general thing by this time of the year. There seems to be little temptation for exporters to operate, and the freight situation is unquestionably dull, with the first steamers already headed for port. Ship owners are asking 40s per head for Glasgow freight, and while some space has been taken it is not thought that that figure has been paid. Asking rates to Liverpool and Manchester are 35s per head, but no engagements are reported. It is thought, however, that further engagements have been made to London at 30s per head, possibly mostly with American shippers.

Shipments of live stock from Portland, Me., and St. John, N.B., for the week ending April 21st, were 1798 cattle and 1125 sheep, against 3915 cattle and 1892 sheep the previous week.

The offerings of cattle on local market were fairly liberal this week, and prices held around the former range, the quality of the stock being good. Choice cattle were not very plentiful, and prices were 5¼ to 5½c for the top; good to fine ranged from 4½ to 5¼c, medium 3½ to 4¼c, and common 2½ to 3¼c. Calves and sheep were rather scarce, especially the latter, and the quality of the calves was poor for the most part. Calves sold at $2 to $4 for poor, a few fine going as high as $5 to $7. Sheep, with the wool off, brought 4½ to 6c per lb., while spring lambs sold at $3 to $5 each. The market for hogs was again firmer, and prices scored a further advance. So far as the English market had any influence upon prices, it was towards strength, and prices here went to 7¾ to 7¾c for select stock, other grades ranging down to 7¼c.

CATTLE MARKET IN TORONTO

Trade Was Good and Everything Was Taken Early.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Toronto, April 24.—Trade fair, everything fairly well sold out; 68 loads in to-day, including 1173 cattle, 90 sheep and lambs, 650 hogs and 375 calves. Export cattle, choice, $4.85 to $5.25; do. medium, $4.75 to $4.85; do. bulls, $3.75 to $4; do. do. light, $3.25 to $3.75; do. cows, $3.50 to $4.25; butchers' cattle, choice, $4.50 to $4.75; do. do. medium, $4.25 to $4.40; do. cows, $3.25 to $4; do. bulls, $3.25 to $3.65; canners, $1.50 to $2; stockers, choice, $3.50 to $4; do. common, $2.75 to $3.25; stock bulls, $2 to $2.25; heavy feeders, $4.50 to $4.70; short keeps, $4.70 to $4.85; milch cows, choice, $40 to $55 each; do. common, $25 to $35; springers, $25 to $45; export ewes, 4¾ to 5¼c, steady; do. bucks, 3½ to 4c, steady; yearling lambs, 6 to 6¼c, dull; spring lambs, $3 to $6 each, steady; calves, 3 to 5½c per lb., steady; hogs, selects, $7.15; fats and underweights, $6.90, fed and watered.

BUTTER PRICES GOING LOWER

Declined To-day—Cheese Lower and Eggs Very Firm.

CHEESE—The market for cheese shows a weakening tendency, and prices are quoted lower to-day than hitherto. Owing to the increase in the make of fodders, and the probable arrival of some of them in England, as well as owing to the increased supply of English cheese, a decline in the market for old Canadian cheese is reported. This naturally has a somewhat weakening tendency on fodders here, but in any case lower prices than those prevailing at present are bound to develop during the next few days. To-day dealers quote a fraction lower at 11½ to 11⅝c for white cheese, and 11¾ to 12c for colored. The demand for foddans at these prices is very light, as orders from the other side are not in much evidence.

Receipts of cheese reported on the Board of Trade to-day were 295 boxes.

EGGS.—The market for eggs is the only one in the produce line which shows firmness. Unquestionably this market is firm; some even seem to think that it is slightly higher. It seems that already several firms are selecting their eggs and putting them away in cold storage, selling the No. 1 stock at ½ to 1c under the price of straight gathered. Some of the latter may be purchased at 15c to-day in a wholesale way, but not much of it. At any rate this is an inside figure, and the probability is that 15 1-4c is being paid almost as often. A fair range is between these figures. Sales are being made to grocers in single cases at 16c, and perhaps at 15½c in some instances. This is for straight gathered and not No. 1. These seem pretty high prices for merchants to risk putting away selects at, but of course the quality is better than it will be in another month, and the market at present gives every sign of being somewhere around bottom.

Receipts of eggs reported on the Board of Trade to-day were 1222 cases.

BUTTER.—The market for butter has experienced a marked decline during the past few days, and even further declines are expected to take place within the coming few days. The make of new butter is constantly increasing, and it is now greater than consumption, the result being that prices will have to decline to an export basis. An export basis at the present time is said to be 18 to 18½c here, so that predictions of 18½ and 19c butter here are plentiful. It would be hard to get more than 20c here to-day for choicest, buyers being not very eager in view of the outlook. Purchases have been made at 19c f.o.b., country points, for what is called fine quality. There is little doubt that prices will be lower ere long, as there is every indication that shipments from other countries to England will continue large for some time to come. This is rather unfortunate for the Canadian dairyman. It is hoped that matters will improve in England before long, but the outlook at present is that a large quantity of Siberians will be sent there this season.

Receipts of butter reported on the Board of Trade to-day were 146 packages.

BIG STRIKE
--ON-- Silver Leaf

The President of the Silver Leaf Mining Company has just telephoned me from Toronto that one of the richest strikes yet made in the entire Cobalt District has just been made on the Silver Leaf.

Nuggets of pure silver weighing as high as three pounds each are being taken out, and the richness of the vein is far greater than the management even dared hope for.

The manager of the property is almost beside himself with excitement, and the President of the company leaves for the property to-night.

People who have recently returned from Cobalt report that the management of the Silver Leaf is the most aggressive and business-like in the entire field.

Good management and high grade ore are a hard combination to beat; and it certainly does look as though the Silver Leaf stock would do some climbing before long.

Those who have inspected the property predict the stock will go over $1.00 a share within the next few months. Be that as it may, the prospects for big results could not be better, and under the present most favorable conditions I have no hesitancy in recommending this stock as a most attractive speculative investment.

Investments in Silver Leaf are protected against loss by the Trust Fund under our usual plan.

I have only a very few thousand shares left at the 25 cent price, and they will be taken up so quickly that this will probably be the last announcement that will appear in the press regarding this issue of stock.

Orders will be filled on the basis of "First come, first served." The right is reserved to return any subscriptions.

FREE ALCOHOL FOR INDUSTRY

Issue is Discussed by Canadian Business Men and Legislators.

LIQUOR TO BE DE-NATURIZED

Would Be Boon to Farmers and Cheapen Many Processes of Manufacture.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Ottawa, April 23.—The news that the American House of Representatives, as noted in the Star on Saturday, has passed a bill providing for the abolition of the excise tak of $2.07 per proof gallon on alcohol when used for fuel and manufacturing purposes, has been received here with a great deal of interest. The fate of the bill in the American Senate, it is realized, is a matter of vital interest to Canadians, who would, if it passes, be paying an excise tax of $1.90 for alcohol used for such purposes, as against nothing by Americans. It is obvious that such a state of affairs would give the people of the United States a tremendous advantage in the making of a large number of articles whose cost of production is materially added to by reason of the present tax on grain alcohol.

FEAR LOSS OF REVENUE.

In official circles the claim made in the United States that alcohol, which it is desired to use for manufacturing purposes, can be rendered undrinkable by what is known as the denaturizing process, at an extremely low cost, is disputed, but it would appear that the Americans are a long lap ahead of Canadians in this respect. The officials are naturally disinclined to accept a policy which would cause a diminution of the revenue producing power of the department, and argue that if the excise was taken off one class of alcohol it would be a difficult matter to control the output of pure alcohol. This view, however, is not accepted, without question, by men who have had a good deal to do with framing the laws at present on our statute books. One of the most experienced Parliamentarians in the House of Commons when questioned on this point, said that he thought a law could be framed, allowing free alcohol for manufacturing purposes, which would effectually guard against any indiscriminate use of the pure article. He was considerably impressed with the arguments which have been advanced in support of the Free Alcohol Act in the United States, and declared that if the expectations were realized the tendency would be to revolutionize many branches of human industry. In view of these statements the question was undoubtedly one which it might be to the advantage of Canadians to look into without delay.

A BOON TO THE WEST.

A Western member, who possesses a good knowledge of chemistry, said that while he had not given any serious thought to the subject, he could readily realize its importance not only to the manufacturing interests of the country, but to the grain growers as well. In fact the farmers would doubly benefit, for while the production of alcohol for manufacturing purposes would prove to be a source of revenue the alcohol would aid in the making, at a greatly reduced cost, of many articles of necessity on the farm. He believed that if the bill before the American Congress became law and is found to work satisfactorily Canadians would be compelled to consider the necessity of taking action along similar lines without delay. The objections of the strong temperance element in the country would, no doubt, disappear if they could be convinced that there would be absolutely no danger of this class of alcohol being used as a beverage. This of course, was the most important point to be considered, and, if it could be satisfactorily dealt with, the result of the use of the cheap alcohol for fuel and manufacturing purposes would, without doubt, be of more benefit to the country than the tax at present collected. The great bulk of the seven or eight million dollars at present collected on alcohol is gathered in on the article used in the making of spirituous liquors, and this would not be interfered with.

One great use to which alcohol might be put in the Canadian West would be to provide the power to operate the thousands of threshing machines which it takes to thresh the grain each season. The majority of these at the present time are run by steam, straw being used as fuel. While straw does not cost anything, it requires the services of one man to keep the engine steadily fed, and, besides, increases by fifty per cent the danger of a fire starting. This often occurs and a threshing season never passes during which many valuable outfits are not destroyed, together with the product of the farm on which it may happen to be working at the time.

A DRUGGIST'S VIEW

Mr. D. W. Bole, the representative for Winnipeg in the House of Commons, and a practical druggist, said that he had made some study of the question of free alcohol for purposes other than the making of spirituous liquors. "If," he said, "grain alcohol has been demonstrated as useful for fuel purposes as gasoline, the removal of the excise duty would be a great boon to the country, as well as an absolute necessity for competition purposes, now that the United States has made grain alcohol free. For scientific and pharmaceutical purposes alcohol should have been made free years ago. It is easy enough to fix it so that it cannot be used as a beverage."

An Ontario manufacturer who is a member of the House, expressed a deep interest in the move which is being made across the border. He, too, thought that it was time for Canada to look into the matter if the United States was not to get a big advantage over this country in many lines of manufacturing. He thought that the question was one well worth looking into and could not see any insuperable difficulties in the way of guarding against abuses. If denaturized alcohol could be produced anything like as cheaply as it was claimed it would certainly be put to many practical uses.

WOULD CHANGE THE NAME.

One member of Parliament threw out the suggestion that "denaturized" alcohol, to be used for power and other purposes, might be given another name. This he thought would help to do away with the tendency on the part of the ignorant, or depraved, to attempt to pour into their stomachs any liquid bearing the name of alcohol regardless of the consequences. There have been cases of ignorant men, in a spirit of mere bravado, undertaking to drink a quantity of wood alcohol with very serious and sometimes fatal results to themselves. If, therefore, through the abolition of the excise tax, larger quantities of the stuff were in general use for specific purposes, the inclination on the part of the ignorant to do this sort of thing would be in a large measure guarded against if the name were less suggestive. There was no doubt that if by the "denaturizing" process and additional safeguards provided by legislation of the most careful kind, the danger of an indiscriminate use of alcohol could be safely guarded against, the benefits to the community brought about by a reduction in the cost of production of many articles would be of more worth to the country than the revenue at present derived from this kind of alcohol now used in manufacturing purposes. It would be a source of revenue to the farmers on whose welfare the prosperity of the Dominion as a whole so largely depends. There was no doubt that if the proposal now under consideration at Washington becomes crystalized into law Canadians would have to consider the wisdom of following Uncle Sam's example without delay. The experiment would, no doubt, be watched in this country with the greatest interest. The time has come in the economy of nations when no country can afford to allow to go to waste any portion of its power of production. If motive power can be produced from the refuse heap we are neglecting our opportunities as a nation struggling for trade supremacy if we allow the waste pile to be carted off to the incinerators, when other nations are utilizing it to advantage.

HEATING OF STREET CARS.

Mr. Thomas Ahearn, of the Ottawa Electric Railway Company thinks that in cities which do not posses such a plentiful supply of water power as Ottawa does, grain alcohol might be used with great advantage in the heating of street cars. Where the electricity has to be created by steam this is an extremely costly method of heating the cars, although in Ottawa, owing to the fact that water power is so easily obtainable, the company has never been obliged to heat its cars in any other way. Stoves are objectionable, and where water power is not available, electricity is dear and a cheap substitute would be welcomed not only by the companies, but by the public. Mr. Ahearn had no doubt that grain alcohol could be used, as a power producer, with highly satisfactory results, particularly in engines of the smaller type.

THE CONSPIRACY OF SILENCE.

Liberal Party)
Conservative Party) Sh-h-h-h-h!

WHAT LOCAL PEOPLE SAY ABOUT IT.

In Montreal the proposal has aroused wide interest among men on whose business the removal of the excise would bear.

In discussing the project, an official of the Montreal street railway said that so far as he could ascertain the technical journals devoted to street railway business had not as yet discussed it. Nevertheless, he thought that there were immense opportunities for some such chemical in the heating of cars.

This official explained that up to the present the really only satisfactory method of heating cars was with the electrical current, and this was very expensive indeed. While the Montreal street railway had adopted it on their latest cars they nevertheless felt that there was still much to be desired, owing to the extreme cost. In many cities the street car companies have given up the idea of electrical heating altogether owing to cost, and had gone back to the coal stove. If alcohol could be utilized for this purpose it would mean a great saving, and they, the street railway men, were anxious to see it worked out.

CHEAPER FARM MACHINERY.

Mr. Henry J. Fuller, president of the Canadian Fairbanks Company, stated that his firm were supplying to the farmers of the Dominion a great many machines run by gas, gasoline and distilled kerosene. These machines are a combination for shelling corn, thresning grain, pumping water and sawing wood and can be run by one man, thus doing away with the necessity of the employment of four or five men.

With the reduction of fuel alcohol to a basis where it could be used cheaply as it would be, these machines would be placed everywhere. The present price of gasoline is now of course a factor in the business and something would certainly have to be done in the near future as not only is gasoline selling at a very high price now, but is continually advancing. This fuel alcohol was at the present time being mixed by the company with gasoline for the engines they are supplying in the Dominion and they find it to be working all right. When this is used to any extent and brought into the country or manufactured here, the excise would have to be taken off for the purpose of getting the supply as cheaply as any other country.

FOR AUTOMOBILES.

Mr. Berne Nadall, of the Consolidated Automobile Company, states fuel alcohol is, in his opinion, just as good as the gasoline now being used for automobiles. The great difficulty was that people did not know how to use it. "The men who do use it," said Mr. Nadall, "and know how, say that it will give a better explosion than the gasoline and air, but, of course, they know how to get results with it.

"I received a letter from the British Auto Club last week, asking me to join an association composed of automobile men to secure a capital of £100,000 for the purpose of starting in Russia or Sweden a plant for the manufacture of this fuel alcohol to run in automobiles. It can be manufactured very cheaply and sold cheaply, while the rate at which the price of gasoline is advancing will bring it up within a short time to fifty cents. If the Americans go in for it and they will in future and take off the excise duty, then Canada would be obliged to do the same.

"Another feature would be of great importance and that is the fact that this alcohol would require to be adulterated to an extent sufficient to prevent its use by liquor manufacturers, otherwise they would be the parties who would reap the benefit of the excise duty removal. This can be done without hurting the value of the elements of the alcohol, and has already been done."

NEEDED IN SCIENCE.

Dr. Bernard J. Harrington, who holds the Macdonald Chair of Chemistry in McGill University, while discussing the subject had some rather strong remarks to make. He said "Reduction upon alcohol for scientific purposes have been sought for frequently in Canada. Some years ago, but not later than the present administration, McGill sent a deputation to Ottawa to discuss several matters of importance with the Ministry. The question of free alcohol although not one of the points upon which the deputation had intended to discuss, was threshed out pretty thoroughly after the petitions in which we were vitally interested at the time had been filed. Both sides of the story were brought forward clearly and concisely, and it was hoped that the argument of the college men would bear fruit. This hope has now long been dashed to the ground, and it seems that alcohol free of duty for scientific work is as far off as ever, so far as this country is concerned. Of course there is one great objection to cheap alcohol, and it is upon this point that all the arguments of the opposition swing. That is, if scientific men are given the preference over others and allowed to have the article free of excise duty, it will be impossible to keep unscrupulous people from getting hold of it at the same low rate, and much harm will result.

"At present it costs McGill $5.00 for every gallon used for scientific purposes, and we use many gallons in the course of a term. It is most likely that the bill for cheap alcohol will go through in the States and if such is the case our scientific men on this side will be put to a great disadvantage. When one is making an experiment doing any testing under the present conditions, we always have to stop and think first what will the cost be. We ought to be able to use alcohol like water for in many cases in chemistry and medicine alcohol is used exactly like water.

CALLS REFUSAL DISGRACEFUL.

"It is disgraceful that the government will not trust the scientific men of the universities. They seem to thing that we use it for scientific experiments during the day, and then use it over again for toddy at night."

On the same subject Professor Walker, who holds the chair of Organic Chemistry in the same university, had the following to say:

"In Germany the cost of pure alcohol, not proof spirits mind you, but 99 per cent pure the cost is one mark, about twenty-five cents for a kilogram which amounts to about two pounds. In France the cost is also very cheap, and although the lowness of the price may be somewhat abused in this country, I think there is more gain than loss to the whole community. Other irresponsible people as well as the scientific men, get hold of it at the same low rate, and use for illegitimate purposes, such as making liqueurs and other intoxicating beverages. The universities are very strong in the United States, and there is no doubt, whatever but what they will get cheap alcohol. In England provision has been made so that alcohol with pyridine in it may be sold for industrial purposes very cheaply, so cheaply in fact, that it may be used for fuel. This substance pyridine, being mixed with the alcohol gives it a most nauseating taste, and it is impossible to drink it.

PRESENT PRICE PROHIBITIVE.

"But there is no doubt that, no matter how nasty alcohol is made some people will try to drink it. The stuff itself is worth about ten cents a gallon, and should grow cheaper every day. The latest and cheapest method of making it is by boiling wood with diluted sulphuric acid, which precipitates sugar and then alcohol. It is scandalous that an article needed and used, so much for scientific purposes, and which in reality is worth so little should cost so much, and to keep abreast with other scientific men of other countries, Canada certainly ought to make a change in the excise, in so far as we are concerned."

Dr. MacKintosh, of the same institution said: "Hitherto, we have had to pay a good deal in the States for alcohol, but when I was at Cornell a personal friend of mine started the movement for cheap alcohol for scientific and boma fide industrial purposes. All the manufacturers who used alcohol were communicated with, and in conjunction with the scientific men of the country a bill was drafted, which I feel sure will in a very short time become law. Of course we met very great opposition at first from the temperance people, but after some hard work we got them all into line, and now we feel sure that no serious opposition will be brought forward. If Canadian manufacturers and scientific men would combine to the same good purpose, take our brothers work across the line as an example, I feel satisfied that the executors of this country would soon see the immense advantages which would accrue from cheap alcohol to our growing country. The present price of alcohol for scientific purposes is prohibitory in this country, and the sooner we all get together and make some united move the better it will be for all concerned."

Ottawa, April 24.—By the collapse yesterday afternoon of six of the steel trusses used in the construction of the new live stock show building ten men were injured two of them, probably, fatally. They are:

Samuel Stephens, of Point St. Charles, aged 30, concussion of the brain, skull fractured and other internal injuries; Joseph Cyr, 191 Cumberland street, aged 36, spine fractured and other internal injuries; Albert Rochon, Sussex street, aged 26, compound fracture of the left leg, may require to be amputated, shoulder fractured; Philip Constantineau, 335 Alma street, Hull, aged 30; right leg fractured, cuts and bruises; James Finn, 396 Gloucester street, aged 25, left arm fractured; Edward Dunning, city, leg sprained, arm bruised, and badly shaken; Hugh Byers, foreman, left arm bruised and sprained; H. Reilly, Gatineau Point, head injured; Max Derocher, Hull, knee twisted, and body bruised; Narcisse Decarrie, city, shoulder bruised. The first two named, the doctors say will die.

The plans for the structure were prepared by Architect Noffke of this city, approved by City Engineer Ker, and submitted to the Locomotive and Machine Company, of Montreal, which, after revising the plans, accepted the contract to supply the steel frame and place it on position. Six of the trusses had been erected, but the longitudinal braces had not been placed in position. Wire guys however, were used, to hold them in place. Work on the seventh truss was in progress. The cause of the accident, it is said, was the fall of some scaffolding, which, striking one of the guy wires, broke it, and the strain forced the trusses to fall westward. The uprights which were bolted into concrete bases, were bent as if they were of hickory.

The injured were removed to the Protestant and Catholic hospitals.

This is the third failure which has overtaken the efforts of the city to erect a building for the holding of the fat stock show. The building, which was nearing completion, gave way under the weight of snow upon it on January 25, 1904, and again on January 19, 1905, for the like reason. It was thought the precautions which had been taken in this instance would guarantee its completion without further mishap. The loss in the present case, it is said, will not fall upon the city but upon the Locomotive and Bridge Company, which had the contract.

Probably a Second Cobalt.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Ottawa, April 24.—Mr. Neil Gilmour, Indian agent at Norway House, Manitoba, was in the city on business with the Indian Department. Talking of the country around the upper waters of Lake Winnipeg, Mr. Gilmour says it is valueless for agricultural purposes, the soil being poor and the country rough. Very little farming is attempted there, he says, and even that is very unsuccessful. However, the country has one redeeming feature. If unfitted for agricultural purposes, the country gives promise, Mr. Gilmour states, of becoming the centre of a very important mining industry. There are indications, he says, that the country is in reality another Cobalt, as the formations are very similar to those of Northern Ontario, where such rich deposits of silver have recently been discovered. Already, Mr. Gilmour stated, there are several prospectors in the district, and veins of silver have been discovered which promise to be very valuable.

CITY WILL ASK FOR REPRESENTATION

Council will Memorialize Dominion Government Regarding Harbor Board.

GAS QUESTION COMES UP.

On Ald Payette's Advice, Discussion of the Proposed Offer is Postponed.

When the City Council met yesterday afternoon, His Worship the Mayor, announced that he had been informed that the Ottawa Government, in the remodelling of the Harbor Board, had decided that the city should not have a representative on the Board.

He explained that in the past the Mayor of the city had always had a seat on the Board. This was only right considering the great interest the city had in the harbor. He suggested that a deputation should be sent to Ottawa in order to see that the city was not slighted in this connection.

The leader of the Council, Ald. Payette, remarked that the city could not consent to being slighted in any such manner. In many places the civic authorities had absolute control of the wharves. He said that as the Government had not announced that it was to make a national port of Montreal, there was no reason whatever that the city should be told it should have no say as to the government of the wharves. He then made the following motion:

RESOLUTION PASSED.

"That the Council begs to respectfully express to the Dominion Government the hope that the corporation of Montreal will continue to be represented on the new Harbor Board, in the interest of the good understanding which should exist between these two public bodies, and in order that the administration of the harbor may be carried on in such a manner as to be both beneficial to the city of Montreal, and profitable to the trade of the country at large."

The motion was unanimously adopted.

When the question was brought up of paying out some $50,000 for floodings, etc., Ald. Payette moved the following, which was also adopted:

"That the said reports be adopted and that the Road Committee be instructed to report to the Council on the question of damages, resulting from the overflow of sewers in St. Denis Ward, and the flooding of cellars in the lower parts of the city, and to state the best remedy to prevent a recurrence of such damages; the probable cost of such preventive measures and the proportion the city would be called upon to pay in connection therewith."

A statement was submitted by City Comptroller Pelletier, showing what the city had paid in six years on flood accounts. It declared the amount in 1900 was $5,152; in 1901, $3,021; in 1902, $6,234; in 1903, $10,054; in 1904, $6,297; in 1905, $5,927.

THE GAS QUESTION.

When the report was read from the Fire Committee in regard to new offers to be made to the Gas Company for cheaper gas, Ald. Payette asked that the subject remain over till next meeting.

Ald. Lapointe asked that as the gas question was an important one, Ald. Yates, chairman of the Fire Committee, should give some information in regard to the offers made by the company. He pointed out that the public would be interested in knowing whether or not the company had concurred in the report that the Fire Committee had made to the council.

ALD. PAYETTE'S STATEMENT.

In reply Ald. Payette said that it would be better to allow the whole gas question to remain over till next meeting, when it could be thoroughly discused. In the meantime the report could be carefully read and would be understood by all the members of council.

The matter was then left over till next meeting.

A resolution from the Council of Trades and Labor was read in protest against the proposed negotiations with the Montreal Gas Company for further privileges, as there was still ample time to get legislative power to municipalize the gas plant, which would be in the interest of the citizens of Montreal.

5022, Girl's Dress.

A PRETTY SUMMER FROCK.

Summer frocks are essentially fascinating in color and material, and this year are made so simple as to mean real girlish charm that in itself is a delight. This one is in modified shirt waist style and is shown in one of the pretty dotted batistes of the season with collar and cuffs of white linen embroidered by hand. The model is one of the very smartest and best liked for everyday wear and its very suggestion of the shirt waist is certain to make it welcome to the young wearer, while the greater youthfulness of the effect makes it satisfactory to the looker on. All washable materials are appropriate and collar and cuffs can be made adjustable and buttoned into place or attached to the waist as liked. The waist and skirt are joined by means of a belt and closed at the back.

Material required for the 12-year size is 5 1-4 yards 27, 4 3-4 yards 32 or 3 1-2 yards 44 inches wide with 1-4 yard 36 inches wide for the collar and cuffs.

A May Manton pattern, No. 5022, sizes 8 to 14 years, will be mailed to any address by the Fashion Department of this paper on receipt of ten cents.

FINAL EXERCISES AT OLD M'GILL

Functions which Mark Graduation Class of '06 Commence To-morrow.

CLASSES WILL BE LARGE.

Probably More than Seventy Will be Granted Degree of Bachelor of Science.

To-morrow sees the first of the functions which mark the graduation of the class of '06 at McGill. There are always a series of ceremonies connected with the departure of a class from the university—ceremonies which the undergraduate looks forward to as an end to four years' grind and study, and which the graduate remembers as the end of a comparatively care-free [illegible] and the beginning of the more serious part of life.

No results of final year examinations in any of the faculties have yet been announced, but the number of those passing for graduation degrees is expected to be very large. The greatest increase will come in the faculty of science where there should be more than seventy students graduating with the degree of Bachelor of Science, as compared with forty-two last year. These students will hold their degrees in different parts of the science course. The greater number have taken courses in electrical, civil and mechanical engineering; but there are also graduates in the departments of mining engineering, metallurgy and chemical analysis.

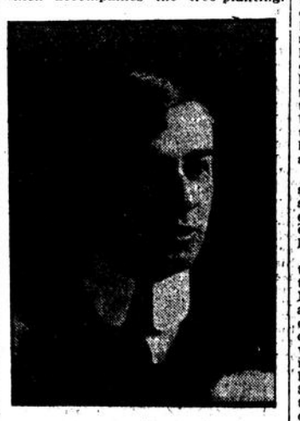
The number of law graduates will probably be about eleven, the same number as last year; while in Arts there may be a slight increase. Of these last many will not bid farewell to McGill this year, but will come back to enter the faculties of law, science or medicine, or the study of theology. Others will go into commercial life and a few will go on with higher studies, in the arts course, either at McGill or elsewhere.

S. J. Shepherd, Chairman of the Class Day Committee.

In the Royal Victoria College, the number who will receive the Bachelor of Arts degree is much smaller than last year. Thirteen students constitute the final year class as compared with the eighteen of last year.

The chief departure in the arrangement of the class day exercises this year from the procedure of former years is the participation of the final year medical students in the exercises and their representation on the class day committees. The meds. do not close their term until the end of May and they have their convocation for the conferring of degrees then, but they have never attempted any ceremonies on such an elaborate scale as the other three faculties with their concerted action could make successful.

An elaborate programme has been prepared for the next three days. Tomorrow afternoon, at half-past three, a young tree will be planted with befitting ceremony on the campus, in front of the Chemistry and Mining Building, to denote the fact that another class of students has passed through McGill. Mr. S. J. Shepherd, of Law, will preside, and Mr. T. J. Shallow of Law, will deliver the Class Oration which accompanies the tree-planting.



Robertson W. Gibb, who was chosen Arts Prophet, but will be prevented by illness from delivering the prophecy.

An adjournment will then be made to Strathcona Hall, where Mr. G. E. Cole, Science, will read the Class History, and Mr. G. V. Cousins, Arts, the Class Prophecy. Tea will then be served by the class of '06 to their friends.

In the evening the Valedictory exercises will be read in the Royal Victoria College. Miss J. Eckhardt, Mr. G. Barclay, Mr. H. P. Thomas, and Mr. W. S. Johnson are the students who have been selected by the final years in the Faculties of the Royal Victoria College, Arts, Science and Law, respectively to represent them on this occasion.

On Thursday night the annual Convocation Dance will be held in the Royal Victoria College and on Friday afternoon Convocation will take place, when degrees will be conferred on those who have passed the required examinations.

The committee which has charge of the arrangement of the Class Day exercises is as follows: Chairman, S. J. Shepherd, Law; secretary, Miss B. C. Gillmore, R.V.C.; treasurer, J. A. Flanders, Arts; Royal Victoria College, Misses R. Mowatt, G. Stanton, B. Clarke and M. Rorke; Arts, Messrs. C. H. Payne, W. L. Carr, C. H. Scott, S. Crocker; Science, Messrs. C. V. Christie, G. E. Brennan, E. N. Howell, D. W. McLachlan, H. H. Pinch; Medicine, Messrs. H. B. Gourlay, C. P. Holden, J. W. G. MacCallum, C. E. Walsh; Law, T. J. Shallow, G. C. Couture, W. S. Johnson.

Easy Payment Plan

Of selling you home needs encourages thrift, and thrift is the forerunner of contentment.

If everybody who wanted Furniture and Home Furnishings had all the money—the spot-cash-to-pay-down money—to buy what was needed, then we wouldn't have any arguments to put up for our CASH or CREDIT easy-payment plan of selling goods; but everybody hasn't got the ready money—and there's no sin in that forsooth—and if you're blessed with the "bump" of thrift at all, and would like to furnish up a new home or refurnish an older one, we're right in business to encourage that spirit in you. The difference in prices between paying cash and getting the wholesome and generous credit we give you is not materially marked, and when you figure on the pleasure of having what you want when you want it, and having the use of it all the time you are paying for it, our easy-payment plan beats down any other argument you can put against it.

The Long Night

By STANLEY J. WEYMAN,

Author of "A Gentleman of France," "Under the Red Robe," "The House of the Wolf."

CHAPTER XVIII. (Continued.)

"You cannot go up," Anne said. She had won, it seemed, without knowing how she had won.

Basterga grunted; and then "Ah, well," he said, addressing Claude, "if I had you in the fields, my lad, it would not be that bit of metal would save you!" And he spouted with appropriate gesture—

"—Ilium fidi aequales, genua aegra trabentem
Jactantemque utroque caput, crass-umque cruorem
Ore ejectantem mixtosque in sanguine dentes
Ducunt ad navis!"

Half an hour in my company, and you would not be so bold."

Claude smiled with pardonable contempt, but made no reply, nor did he change his attitude.

"Come!" Blondel muttered, addressing his ally with his eyes averted. "I have reasons at present for letting them be!" They were strange reasons, to judge by the hangdog look of the proud magistrate. "But I shall know how to deal with them by and by. Come, man, come!" he repeated impatiently. And he turned toward the door and unlocked it.

Basterga moved reluctantly after him. "Aye, we go now," he said, with a look full of menace. "But wait awhile! Caesar Basterga does not forget, and his turn will come! Where is my cap?"

He had let it fall on the floor, and he turned to pick it up, stooping slowly and with difficulty as stout men do. As he raised himself, his head still low, he butted it suddenly and with an activity for which no one would have given him credit full into Claude's chest. The unlucky young man, who had lowered his weapon the instant before, fell back with a "ough" against the wall, and leaned there, pale and breathless. Anne uttered one scream, then the scholar's huge arm enfolded her neck and drew her backward against his breast.

"Up! up! Messer Blondel!" he cried sharply. "Now is your chance! Up and surprise her!" And with his disengaged hand he gripped Claude, for further safety, by the collar. "Up! I will keep them quiet!"

The Syndic wasted a moment in astonishment, then he took in the situation and the other's cleverness. Before Basterga had ceased to speak, he was at the door of the staircase, and had dragged it open. But as he set his foot on the lowest stair, Anne, held as she was against Basterga's breast, and almost stifled by the arm which covered her mouth, managed to clutch the Syndic by his skirts, and, once having taken hold, held him with the strength of despair. In vain he struggled and strove and wrestled to jerk himself free; in vain Basterga, hampered by Claude, tried to drag the girl away—Blondel came away with her! She clung to him, and even, freeing her mouth for a moment, succeeded in uttering a scream.

"Curse her!" Basterga foamed; and had he had a hand to spare would have struck her down. "Pull, man, have you no strength! Let go, you vixen! Let go, or——"

He tried to press her throat, but in changing his hold, allowed her to utter a second scream, louder, more shrill, more full of desperate passion than the other. At the same instant a chair, knocked down by Blondel in his efforts, fell with a crash, throwing down a pewter platter; and Claude, white and breathless as he was, began to struggle seeing his mistress so handled. The four swayed to and fro. Another moment, and either the Syndic must have jerked himself free, or the contest must have attained to dimensions that could not escape the notice of the neighbors, when a sound arose from within, from upstairs, stayed the tumult, as by magic.

Blondel ceased to struggle, and stood aghast. Basterga relaxed his hold upon his prisoners and listened. Claude leaned back against the wall. The girl alone—she alone moved. Without speaking, without looking, as a bird flies to its young, she sprang to the stairs and fled up them.

The maniacal laugh, the crazy words—a moment only, they heard them; and then the door above, which the poor woman, so long bedridden, had managed in her frenzy of fear to open, closed on the sounds and stifled them. But enough had been heard; enough to convince Blondel, enough to justify Basterga, enough to change the fortunes of more than one in the room. The scholar's eyes met the Syndic's.

"Are you satisfied?" he asked, in a low tone.

Blondel, breathing hard, nodded.

"You heard?"

He nodded a second time. He looked scared.

"Then you have enough to burn the old witch and the young one with her!" Basterga replied. He turned his small eyes, sparkling with malignity, on the young man, who stood against the wall, pale, and but half recovered from the blow he had sustained. "You thought to thwart me, did you, Messer Claude? You thought yourself clever enough to play with Caesar Basterga, did you? To hold at bay—oh, clever fellow—a magistrate and a scholar! And defy us both! Now I will tell you what will come of it!" He shook his great finger in front of the young man. "Your pretty bit of pink and white will burn! Burn, see you! A show for the little boys, a holiday for the young men and the young women, a treat for the old men, who will see her white limbs writhe in the smoke! Ha!" as Claude, with a face of horror, would have waved him away, "that touches you, does it? You had not thought of that? Nay, you had not thought of other things. I tell you, before the sun sets this evening, this house shall be anathema! Before night what we have heard will be known abroad, and there will be much added to it. There was a child died in the fourth house from this on Sunday! It will be odd if she did not overlook it. And the young wife of the Lieutenant at the Porte Tertasse, who has ailed since her marriage—a pale thing; who knows but he looked this way once and Mistress Anne thought ill of his defection? Ha! Ha! You would cross Caesar Basterga, would you? No, Messer Claude," he sets his huge foot on the fallen sword which Claude had made a movement to recover. "I fight with other weapons than that! And if you lay a finger on me!"—he extended his arms to their widest extent—"I will crush the life out of you. That is better," as Claude stood glaring helplessly at him, "I teach you prudence, at any rate. And as," with a sneer, "you are so apt at learning, I will do you, if you choose, a greater kindness than man ever did you, or woman either!"

The young man, breathing quickly, did not speak. Perhaps his eyes were watching for an opening; for at the least appearance of one he would have flung himself upon his enemy.

"You do not choose. And yet I will do it. In one word—Go!

'Teque bis, puer, eripe flammis!'"

He pointed to the door with a gesture tragic enough. "Go! Go and live, for if you stay you die! Wait not until the chain is drawn before the door, until boards darken the windows, and men cross the street when they would pass! Until women hide their heads as they go by, and the market will not sell, nor the water run for you! For then, as surely as she will perish miserably, you will perish with her!"

"So be it!" Claude cried. And in his turn he pointed, not without dignity, to the door. "Go you, and our blood be upon your head!"

Basterga shrugged his houlders, and in a moment put the thing and his grand manners away from him. "Enough! we will go," he said. "You are satisfied, Messer Syndic? Yes. Farewell, young sir, you have my last word." And while the young man stood glowering at him, he opened the street door, and the two passed out.

"You will not go on with this?" Blondel muttered with a backward gesture, as the two paused.

"Nothing," Basterga answered in a low voice, "will suit our purpose better. It will amuse Geneva, and fill men's mouths, till the time comes. For you, too, Messer Blondel," he continued with a piercing look, "will live and not die, I take it?"

The other knew, then, that the hour had come to set his seal to the bargain: and equally, that if at this eleventh hour he would return, the path was open. But Cecilia—too well known is the rest, and the grip which a strong nature gains on a weaker, and how hardly fear, once admitted is cast out. Within the Syndic's sight rose one of the gates, almost within touch rose the rampart of the city, long his own, which he was asked to betray. The mountains of his native land, pure, cold and sunlit, stood up against the blue depth of winter sky, eloquent of the permanence of things, and the insignificance of men. The contemplation of the one and the other turned his cheek a shade paler and struck terror to his heart, but did not stay him. His eyes avoiding the other's gaze, his face shrinking and pitiable, shame already his portion, he nodded.

Thorough ventilation is a very important feature in a refrigerator.

We have a refrigerator through which a current of air is constantly passing.

The air goes in underneath and passes out through the top.

As hot air ascends and cold air descends, the interior of the refrigerator is always dry and cold.

And the constant circulation of air prevents moisture.

This means that your ice will last much longer than in ordinary refrigerators.

It also means that the food is always dry and cold.

This refrigerator is lined throughout with galvanized iron.

And every bit of space is utilized.

As it is divided into different compartments, different foods can be kept separately.

This refrigerator is made in several sizes—we have a large size at $24.75.

HEALTH OFFICIALS REPORT THAT FIVE HUNDRED BODIES HAVE BEEN RECOVERED FROM THE RUINS

Burial and Cremation Going on Constantly —San Francisco Has $200,000,000 in the Mint, but Vaults Cannot Be Opened Yet--Californians Are Willing to Accept All Contributions for Relief, Whatever May be Their Source.

Special to The Montreal Star.

San Francisco, April 24.—As nearly as can be estimated by the authorities of the health office, approximately 500 bodies of victims of the earthquake and conflagration have been recovered thus far and disposed of, either by burial or cremation. The difficulty of obtaining a correct list of the killed lies in the fact that many bodies that have been recovered in the last few days have been hastily interred or cremated without reference to the regulations regarding the issuing of burial permits.

RECOVERING THE BODIES.

The health board hopes from this time on, however, to bring pressure to bear on the regulations in the matter of burials. The first systematic search for bodies started yesterday. The ruins throughout the burned district are now cool enough to permit searchers to work to advantage and as bodies are found, waggons from the coroner's office are despatched to the scene. The city has been divided into districts, and it is believed that all bodies except those which have been reduced to mere ashes will be recovered, and disposed of during the next few days. The coroner's office has fifteen waggons engaged in the work of removing the dead to the various cemeteries.

Not all of the recovered bodies have found a resting place in the cemeteries, owing to the lack of adequate transportation facilities and the necessity of the interment of the bodies. There have been a number of burials at the foot of Van Ness avenue, at Bernal Heights and in other vacant spaces. There have also been a number of cremations.

The health authorities announce that hereafter, as far as it is within their power to do so, they will require all interments to be made within cemetery grounds. The crematory at Oddfellows Cemetery has been placed at the disposal of the health authorities.

OREGON SHOCK WAS RECORDED AT OTTAWA.

Ottawa, April 24.—The earthquake shocks reported from Oregon as occurring about one o'clock yesterday, were registered on the seismograph at the Dominion Observatory. The preliminary tremor arrived at 4 hours 16 minutes 45 seconds eastern time. The principal wave traversed at 4 hours 28 minutes, and reached its maximum at 4 hours 31 minutes. The quakes then began to decrease and disappeared at 5.10.

NO DISTINCTIONS AS TO SOURCES OF RELIEF.

New York, April 24.— Gaylord Wilshire, chairman of the publicity committee of the California Relief Association of this city, has sent a letter to the Evening Post, in which he said:

"I would be indebted if you would give publicity to the fact that we Californians are not concerned in the least as to the origin of the aid which may come to us. We are sure that many of our brethren in California will gladly eat bread even though the flour is not ground in a trade union flour mill, and even though it is bought with money given by someone who happens to live beyond the boundaries of the United States.

"We would kindly ask both the Minnesota trade unions and President Roosevelt to refrain from interfering with any man, whoever he may be, or whatever he is, who wishes to extend to us sympathy or pecuniary aid.

"I may say that at the mass meeting of Californians held at the Casino Theatre Saturday afternoon a resolution was unanimously adopted giving voice to the above sentiment. The resolution was called forth by President Roosevelt's refusal to accept the $25,000 from the Hamburg-American Steamship Line.

"I would say if the Hamburg-American line is still in the mood to subscribe the aforesaid $25,000 that our association will be very glad to see that it reaches the destination wished for, and that it will be gratefully received by the people of California."

LIPTON HAS OFFERED TO GIVE THOUSAND POUNDS.

London, April 24. — The San Francisco earthquake relief fund is being raised by Americans here and is approaching 1$17,500. Sir Thomas Lipton has cabled to Mayor Schmitz, of San Francisco, offering to contribute $5,000 to the relief fund.

OTTAWA CITIZENS CONSIDER MEANS OF HELP.

Ottawa, April 24. — At a meeting of citizens in the City Hall last night, Mayor Ellis presiding, to consider measures for the relief of the San Francisco sufferers, a resolution of sympathy was adopted and a committee of influential citizens appointed to take such action as they may deem best to meet the situation. The Mayor was instructed to ask, through U. S. Consul-General Foster, if President Roosevelt's decision not to accept foreign aid would apply to contributions from Ottawa. Pending this information there will be no further effort to raise funds in this city.

ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE IS RESUMED.

San Francisco, April 24.—General A. W. Greely has taken command of the federal troops at this post, superseding General Frederick Funston, who will act under Greely's orders.

Legal business will be resumed tomorrow. All the superior judges will open their twelve departments in the Jewish synagogue,California and Webster streets. The criminal cases will have precedence. Probate matters will follow and civil cases, such as damage suits and divorce,will be reserved for the last place on the calendar. All trials that were progressing at the time of the catastrophe will be recommenced.

NEW PROVINCE VOTES $5000 TOWARDS RELIEF.

Regina, April 24.—At the re-assembling of the Saskatchewan Legislature yesterday afternoon, Premier Scott announced that as the House was not in session when news of the San Francisco disaster was received, the Government took the responsibility of authorizing the payment of five thousand dollars to the relief fund. The announcement was received with appiause from both sides of the House.

LITTLE VICTORIA GIVES GOOD CONTRIBUTION.

Victoria, B.C., April 24.—Including James Dunsmuir's and the city's contribution to the San Francisco sufferers, which were rushed forward on Friday night by the steamer Tellus, Victoria's relief has now amounted to over $10,000.

MILLIONS IN CITY IN BOTH GOLD AND SILVER.

San Francisco, April 24.—There is an abundance of gold and silver coin available in the vaults of the United States branch mint here. The mint had almost completed its coinage for its fiscal year when the earthquake and fire interrupted this operation. The furnaces and grate chimneys will be ready to start up at an hour's notice.

A significant indication of an early restoration of law and order and safety is the fact that there is not a soldier or city police officer guarding the many millions of dollars in the vaults of the mint. The soldiers and other guards were dispensed with the first day of the fire, and only the special officers regularly connected with the mint have since been on duty there.

ANOTHER SHOCK FELT AT OAKLAND.

Oakland, Calif., April 24.—A slight earthquake shock was felt here at 10.39 last night. No damage resulted.

SECRETARY OF TREASURY SAYS NO DEARTH OF MONEY

Chicago, April 24.—"There is no reasonable limit on the amount of money which the national Government is ready to transfer to San Francisco to be available for rebuilding the city."

The foregoing statement was made yesterday by Secretary of the United States Treasury Shaw, who is in Chicago on private business. Mr. Shaw added: "The first ten millions, as first thought sufficient, was merely a drop in the bucket. It develops that the extent of the calamity is becoming known. The offices of the San Francisco Sub-Treasury will be re-established temporarily in the mint, and transfers of money will be made through it."

Winnipeg Voted Relief.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Winnipeg, April 24.—The City Council has voted $10,000 for the relief of San Francisco. Half of this was wired to Vancouver to purchase supplies and word was received on Saturday night that the supplies purchased there would go forward on Tuesday by the steamer Amur, which the Canadian Pacific Railway have kindly placed at the disposal of the relief committee.

CHINESE WILL BE CONCENTRATED.

San Francisco, April 24.—The big fire has obliterated Chinatown from San Francisco for ever. Mayor Schmitz announced last night that all of the Chinese now in the city would be collected and placed in and near Fontana's warehouses, near Port Mason, and that the new Chinatown would be located at Hunter's Point on the southern extremity of the county on the bay shore. It is several miles distant from the old Chinatown. All Chinese who have left the city and will return to it will be concentrated at the new points.

STILL UNSAFE TO OPEN THE VAULTS.

Oakland, Calif., April 24.—Goveraor Pardee announced last night that he would continue to proclaim legal holidays from day to day, as long as the financial condition of the state remained unsettled.

"Although the leading financial men of the state have been holding meetings daily since the fire," said Governor Pardee, "they have arrived at no definite conclusion as to when they will be able to re-open the banks. I am informed that the vaults of many of the destroyed banks are still so hot that it will be unsafe to open them for a week or more."

PROGRAMME OF BOXING FOR THE SUFFERERS.

Los Angeles, Calif., April 24.—The following is the programme that has been prepared for the boxing exhibition to be given to-night at the Pacific Athletic Club for the benefit of the San Francisco sufferers:

James J. Jeffries and Jack Root,four rounds; Battling Nelson and Eddie Robinson, four rounds; Tommy Burns and George Blake, four rounds; "Kid" Herman and Abe Attell, four rounds; Aurelio Herrara and Mauro Herrara, four rounds.

Jeffries, with others, will canvass the banks and business houses of the city selling tickets, and will sell tickets from an automobile on the streets.

SHOCK REACHED JAPAN IN ELEVEN MINUTES.

London, April 24.—According to a despatch from Tokio to the Times, seismographs in the Imperial University show that the San Francisco earthquake reached Japan in eleven minutes. The Red Cross Society of Japan is sending a hospital ship to San Francisco.

MOOSEJAW SENDS ITS LITTLE SHARE.

Moosejaw, Sask., April 24.—At an informal meeting of the City Council it was decided this city would forward $500 as its contribution to the San Francisco relief fund.

BLOW AT TRADE OF WESTERN STATES

How Destruction of San Francisco Affects U. S. Commerce.

LOSS MAY BE PERMANENT

Shipping Diverted to Vancouver and Other Ports May Remain There Indefinitely.

San Francisco's annihilation will result in a profound economic reaction in every business centre of the United States. Considered wholly apart from the sentimental side, the calamity will have practical effects the extent of which cannot yet be estimated.

A great port of entry and the distributing point of a vast commercial centre has been wiped out. Where millions of the world's commerce had their centre is now nothing but a heap of charred ruins. The United States' connecting link with the trade of the Orient has been destroyed. The storehouse of a great, fertile, prosperous district has gone down in ruins.

The focal point of three great transcontinental railway systems and scores of the greatest trans-Atlantic lines that ply the seas in a camp of 450,000 homeless prostrated people, where famine and pestilence mount guard.

A PROBLEM IN MILLIONS.

Pending the rebuilding of San Francisco—which will surely come and has already been begun—what is to become of the millions upon millions of dollars of exports and imports which earthquake and fire have diverted from San Francisco?

First, the financial centres must face the dead flat, unrecoverable loss of millions which the flames have eaten up. Next the whole world will be placed under tribute to pay the millions of fire and life insurance that will be the sole resource of thousands who will start anew on the ruins of the destroyed city.

But all the while the problem as to the redistribution of the commerce of the Queen City of the West will be pressing for solution. Even now there are scores of ships outside of San Francisco and scores more on the way thither, loaded with rich cargoes from China, Japan, India and Australia.

In San Francisco the warehouses are gone, the banks have been destroyed; there are not even docks at which the incoming ships can tie up. The railway terminals have been wrecked. The men who handled the trade of $98,000,000 which by reason of the calamity of the past few days will now have to be diverted from San Francisco to the Pacific ports. How much of it will go permanently to Seattle, Spokane, Tacoma, Portland, and be forever lost to San Francisco, is a problem which the new San Francisco will have to work out for itself in the future.

OAKLAND WILL RELIEVE STRAIN.

As the incoming ships from the Orient must find new docking points temporarily, so the goods shipped from all points of the compass to San Francisco for export will have to be diverted into other channels until San Francisco is once more ready to take up the work temporarily halted.

One great point in San Francisco's favor in this crisis, however, is the fact that, located on a neck of land bounded on one side by the bay and the other by the Pacific Ocean, some temporary provision may be made at Oakland, across the bay as Jersey City is from New York, where many of the big ships may land, and as all the big railway terminals are located at Oakland also, transportation thence to San Francisco being by boat, the same temporary provision may be made for her internal commerce, which will enable her, after a couple of months, to reclaim all of the prestige which she has lost by reason of the double calamity.

WHAT IT MEANS TO THE STATE.

It is, perhaps, in the State of California more than anywhere else that the temporary readjustment will be necessary. San Francisco's clearings for the last year were larger than the combined total of all the clearing house cities west of the Rocky Mountains and more than five times as great as the total of all the Puget Sound cities combined. From every point throughout the State rich products have been poured into the city for shipment. In gold alone $18,970,000 was shipped; silver, $1,120,000, and copper, $5,600,000. Then there were 23,350,000 barrels of fuel oil of a value of $20,895,000; 29,399 cars of oranges; 3,420 cars of lemons; 1,600,000 pounds of almonds, beans, wines, brandys, grains, fruits, dairy products and cattle.

Some idea of the immense business which has been disturbed, checked, halted by the earthquake may be gleaned from the fact that the thirty-three commercial banks in the city had resources of over $125,000,000 and deposits in excess of $70,000,000. Its eleven savings banks had resources of $175,000,000, and deposits aggregating $160,000,000. All told the combined banks and savings institutions of the city have total deposits of $250,000,000 and the bank clearances for last year aggregated $1,534,631,137.

This was the condition of business in the city when the paralyzing blow fell. These are the commercial conditions—foreign and domestic — which the business men of the West face now.

BUILDING LESSONS TAUGHT BY DISASTER.

Special to the Montreal Star.

New York., April 24.—There is much speculation among the big builders in this city concerning the rebuilding of San Francisco. It is generally conceded that if the buildings in the business section of the city had been erected of reinforced concrete, there would have been no damage from fire. Many of the contractors here express the opinion that the city will be rebuilt and several of them have representatives already on the way to report on the exact conditions of affairs.

Mr. Frank B.Gilbreth,one of the best known contractors in the country, and 2nd vice-president of the Dominion Engineering and Construction Co. of Montreal, has an engineer already in the stricken city and expects a minute report from him within a few days. Speaking of the devastation wrought by the earthquake and fire, Mr. Gilbreth had this to say:

"While it is impossible to erect any structure of any material capable of withstanding an earthquake shock, where the motion is severe and variable, it is possible to put up a building which is proof against slight shock and which is absolutely fireproof. If the buildings destroyed by the fire which followed the upheaval had been constructed of reinforced concrete, the greater part of San Francisco would have still been standing. This is the great lesson to be learned from this catastrophe. I firmly believe that the principle of reinforced concrete construction will be adopted when the city is rebuilt and that capitalists will practically refuse to invest their money in any other kind of structure."

The lesson from the disaster has already begun to bear fruit. The Columbia Improvement Company, of Seattle for which Mr. Gilbreth is to build a $500,000 power house, has changed its plans in view of the San Francisco developments and decided to erect a monolithic concrete structure, thereby insuring absolute immunity from fire and as much immunity from earthquakes as it is possible to obtain.

From Ruins of its Metropolis Pacific Coast Plans New City

San Francisco will rise from her ashes—greater and more glorious than ever. If her own stalwart, irrepressible spirit were not sufficient to lead her out of the mass of wreckage into a new city, superior in every respect to the old, there are the examples of Chicago, Johnstown, Boston, Galveston and Baltimore to point the way.

It is interesting to recall, in viewing the destruction of San Francisco, how these other cities visited by calamities of fire and flood—though none of them equalled the disaster of San Francisco—rose from the ruins of their wrecks.

Baltimore is a case in point. Within a month practically all traces of the fire had been removed. The city looked like a new town springing up. Building operations were in progress throughout the one hundred and forty acres in the heart of the city that had been swept by flames. A concerted movement was made to improve the architecture of the city and give it definite and regular form. It was recalled that the streets had not been wide enough or straight enough in the old days. With a wide expanse of territory upon which to develop their ideas, broad streets were laid out, straight and comprehensive, parks were provided for, merchants, financiers, bankers, etc., co-operated and competed in furnishing the city with buildings surpassing in every respect those which had been destroyed.

Business, which it had been predicted was dead in Baltimore, increased by leaps and strides, and three months after the fire Baltimore's prosperity was on a par with what it had been before the fire, and to-day far surpasses anything in the history of the city.

GALVESTON QUICKLY REBUILT.

So with Galveston. The morning of September 9, 1900, found the city prostrate under the devastating effects of a flood which had almost swept the city out of existence. Great loss of life added to the terrors of the situation there, and it looked as though Galveston must be included among the cities of the past.

For a while she lay prostrate. From every section of the country relief was poured in to the stricken people, and at last Galveston revived and her progressive people set about the work of rebuilding. Much the same scenes were then witnessed in Galveston as later were enacted in Baltimore. The ruins were swept away, pestilence was prevented, a new sea wall was built to keep out the encroaching Gulf of Mexico, and all over the city new homes and business places began to rear themselves up to take the places of those which had been beaten down by the flood. The people of Galveston within a year constructed a newer and more beautiful city on the ruins of the old, and to-day there is no more prosperous city in the Great South-West than Galveston.

JOHNSTOWN'S NOTABLE EFFORT

Johnstown, Pa., on May 31, 1889, by the bursting of the Conemaugh Dam, was prostrated under a wall of water that did actually sweep that town out of existence. The incident is remarkable as showing how the smallest of communities may recover when the will is present and the American spirit backs it up. Johnstown recovered, and is to-day a prosperous mill town, with not a trace of the calamity which marked the high water mark at that time of the destructive force of nature in America.

Chicago, too, stands as a living example of the high prosperity that is still in store for San Francisco. The great fire which started in Chicago on October 9, 1871, swept away most of the city, but her people, instead of falling prostrate, merely accepted the conflagration as a cleaning process preparatory to the rearing of a greater city. The fire marked the ending of the old and the beginning of a new era in the prosperity of the entire central West.

So, too, Boston, which, on November 9, 1872, a year after the Chicago fire, suffered a fire which swept over sixty-five acres of land in the heart of the city. A loss of over $75,000,000 was sustained, but Boston never halted in her progress. She has advanced steadily ever since, and dates her present great prosperity to the era which began immediately after the fire which threatened her destruction.

What these cities have done San Francisco may duplicate. It is true that San Francisco's plight is greater than any of them. Principally all of San Francisco has been wiped out. There is nothing but the ground on which the Queen City of the West stood remaining as a basis for a new city—that and the spirit of the West, which can accomplish wonders.

News comes from San Francisco that already her people, undaunted by the devastation of the past week, have risen and are at work clearing away the wreckage. The next six months will be strikingly similar to those days of '49 when the new city was just a-building, and the rush and bustle of a new civilization were at work.

RAIN MAKES DANGER OF PNEUMONIA EPIDEMIC.

New York, April 24.—Assistant Mgr. Barclay, of the Western Union received the following bulletin from the operator at the ferry house-at 2 o'clock yesterday. "A surgeon arriving here from one of the camps says that the heavy rain that is falling and the cold weather are making conditions very serious. He said that there were more than 500 cases of threatened pneumonia in his camp alone."

The Office Man Has Indigestion

Too much sitting at the desk in a stuffy office, too much eating of meat and highly seasoned, artificial foods; too little healthful outdoor exercise—these are the undoing of the man or woman of sedentary habits.

And while the results are often described as indigestion, there is usually present liver complaint, and, sooner or later, disease of the kidneys. Kidney disease is not by any means confined to outdoor workers. It seems to cause a dreadful mortality among those who work with the brains.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills promptly overcome the ills common to the office man, because they act directly on the liver and kidneys, and cure billousness, torpid liver and constipation, backache and kidney disease.

The whole filtering and excretory systems are enlivened and invigorated, the poisonous impurities are removed from the blood, and good digestion restores vigor and snap to mind and body. HACKETT WILL STAND HIS TRIAL

Judge Desnoyers Declares Evidence Sufficient to Warrant His Committal,

DEFENCE TO CALL WITNESS.

Witnesses Tell of Hackett Having Sold His Pay Week of the Tragedy.

James Hackett will have to face a jury in the King's Bench at the next term. This was the announcement made at the close of the Crown enquete yesterday.

"If I were hearing this case on the merits at the trial," remarked Judge Desnoyers, when Mr. Edmund Guerin, K.C., declared he had closed the Crown case, "I would have to consider the evidence before reaching a verdict. As it is now, however, I am merely bound to see whether the evidence produced is sufficient to send the accused up for trial. I am of opinion that it is sufficient, and I have no hesitation in saying that it is my plain duty to send Hackett to the King's Bench. I have followed the evidence from day to day with close attention. I wish the accused that he may get through, but I am afraid that the chain of evidence is too strong for that. The case is postponed until ten o'clock on Thursday, when Hackett will come up for his voluntary examination."

DEFENCE WILL CALL WITNESS.

Mr. A. O. Rondeau, one of the defenders of Hackett, wished to have Inspector James McMahon called to produce some clothing and other objects. Judge Desnoyers remarked, however, that the defence would have an opportunity to call witnesses after Hackett has been called to make his statement on Thursday.

Johannes Nygaard, a young Swede, who works with Mark at the Montreal Steel Works, corroborated the story told by Mark in the forenoon of meeting Hackett on the railway track at Cote St. Paul, about twenty minutes past six on the evening of the tragedy. The prisoner was going towards the city and wore clothes like those exhibited in court as Hackett's. The witness was attracted by the shining buckle on the black belt. Witness had remarked to Mark, his friend, with whom he was going to the Neilssen home a few hundred yards away, that the man looked like a mum, but Mark said he was a man who worked with him at the Steel Works. Nygaard corroborated Mark and Oscar Nelssen, sr., as to the fact that night and the conversation which took place at which the twins were present.

CONSTABLE CARTER'S EVIDENCE.

Special Constable William Carter was called, and he told how he came to suspect the prisoner. He knew Hackett by sight for some time. On Friday after the murder, the witness met Hackett at the corner of St. Patrick and St. Etienne streets. The prisoner was making for the works where he was employed.

"I had carefully read in the Star the description given of the man who had been seen with the little girl going towards Cote St. Paul, and it struck me that Hackett fitted that description."

The witness approached Hackett and asked where he was going. The accused said he was coming to get his time, as things were not going well. The fact that pay day was next day made the witness still more suspicious. He asked Hackett whether they had caught the murderer of little May Ahern. Hackett winced, the witness thought, and answered something about seeing something about it on the newspaper bulletins. The witness then went to the time clock and discovered that on the Monday preceding the murder Hackett had started work at 6 in the afternoon, but had left off at a quarter past seven. On April 3, he had not been at the shop. On the following day Hackett had worked from 6 o'clock in the afternoon till half-past 6 on Thursday morning.

HACKETT SOLD HIS PAY.

The witness felt more and more convinced that there was reason to suspect Hackett next day when he found that another workman, named Plante, had bought Hackett's pay. This was sometimes done in the shop when a man was hard up or wanted to get away in a hurry. The witness communicated with Captain Coleman about the matter and worked with him, going to Hackett's house. As they were coming down to the detective's office, Hackett, who at the time had not been told that he was under suspicion for the murder at all, remarked: "That's what whiskey will do for a man. I was going to leave, but now I guess I'll have to stay until I am out of this thing."

UNDER CROSS EXAMINATION.

In cross-examination by Mr. J. A. O'Sullivan the witness declared that he had informed Captain Coleman of his suspicions. He had considered it his duty to speak to the officer, and never thought of any reward. Hackett had not worked on Tuesday night. Plante was the man who had drawn Hackett's pay.

Rodolphe Plante, 502 Centre street, who was heard at the coroner's inquest, testified that he was a chaser at the Montreal Steel Works, and had known Hackett for eight months during the week in which the little Ahern child was murdered, as far as witness could remember, it was on Friday morning, Hackett asked witness to buy his time. Witness bought forty-nine hours at fourteen cents. He agreed to give Hackett full price, and handed over $5. Hackett owed him a dollar already, so that there were only a few cents left. Hackett had intimated that he expected to be fired, but had not explained his reason for selling his pay instead of waiting until next day. The cross-examination by Mr. A. O. Rondeau produced nothing new.

MEDICAL EVIDENCE.

Dr. Duncan D. McTaggart, coroner's autopsist, produced the official report. Then continuing, he declared that the child had no exterior marks of violence except a few scratches of no importance. The doctors came to the conclusion that death had been due to exposure, combined with fright. The child had been stripped of all her clothes, the only thing left on her being a pair of black stockings and shoes. The doctor added that the child had been abused.

The death of the child took place more than a day before his examination on April 5th. The organs of the child were healthy.

Dr. C. A. Dugas, also a coroner's autopsist, gave similar evidence. The body of the child was covered with mud and leaves of cedar. There was nothing organically wrong with the child. There were some scratches, but nothing sufficient to cause death. One scratch near the throat looked as if it had been made with the nail of a finger or thumb. The other injuries described were the same as those detailed by Dr. McTaggart. In cross-examination, Dr. Dugas declared to Mr. Rondeau that the child's stomach was empty.

DID NOT DIE OF WEAKNESS.

"Do you not think that after having taken a slight lunch at noon, and having gone such a long distance, her food had digested more quickly than usual, and that she might have perished from weakness induced by hunger?" asked Mr. Rondeau.

"No," replied the doctor. "A healthy child five years of age would resist the pangs of hunger much longer than that. There was nothing to show that she had suffered from hunger."

Johannes Nygaard was recalled by the defence, and examined by Mr. A. O. Rondeau, through Mr. Gustav Gylling, declared he had not been called to the detective office to identify Bradley.

HOW HACKETT WAS ARRESTED.

Captain James Coleman, of No. 9 Police Station, Grand Trunk street, Point St. Charles, declared that he had first heard of the disappearance of little Edith May Ahern on reading the Star on the day after the child's disappearance. On Friday he had been busily engaged on the case, as information had been received that a man who used to work at the Montreal Steel Works had been met by the witness, Mark. He went to the Montreal Steel Works, and on Monday, working under instructions from Inspector McMahon, he visited the Montreal Steel Works again, and then Constable William Carter told witness his suspicions. In the evening, with Constable Carter, the witness went to Hackett's house, and induced the prisoner to come down to the detectives' office. Later, Hackett was taken to the Place Viger Station, where Mark, when he came off the train, identified Hackett as the man whom he had met.

On Wednesday, the witness had gone down to the detectives' office, where, with Detective Riopel, the witness placed Hackett under arrest, and, after warning him, had read over a typewritten statement, taken the previous day by Chief Carpenter and Secretary Berrigan, of the Detective Department. After being carefully warned, the prisoner declared that he would not sign to say he was a murderer or was guilty of murder. The witness pointed out to him that the statement read over to him did not accuse him of murder; it was merely a statement of his movements on the day of the murder. Hackett declared he was ready to sign that, and the witness inserted in writing a sentence to say that that statement was signed voluntarily and without compulsion, after which Hackett signed the statement.

ADMITTED EMPLOYING RUSE.

In cross-examination by Mr. O'Sullivan, Captain Coleman admitted that he had employed a ruse to catch Hackett. He had been informed that Mark, the young Norwegian, had said the man whom he had met used to work on a truck at the works and had been replaced by a Jew. Consequently in asking Hackett about his companion on the truck, he had also asked who had replaced the prisoner, and when Hackett said it was a Jew, he felt satisfied he had the right man. Hackett had appeared somewhat surprised, but not over anxious when asked to come down to the police station with the witness.

Captain Coleman was re-examined by Mr. Guerin and identified some of the clothing found by Detective Riopel and himself in the Hackett home. Detective Riopel was called to identify the balance of the clothing. This closed the case for the Crown.

Ex-President Loubet in Danger.

Paris, April 24. — A despatch to the Journal from Montelimar, Department of the Drome, to-day, says that the authorities there found a bomb, to which a burning fuse was attached, on the window sill of the library of former President Loubet's villa, where he and his family are spending their Easter vacation. The fuse was extinguished, and an examination of the bomb, it is added, showed it to be of an extremely deadly nature.

NAPOLEON AT NOUVEAUTES.

Frau Ludwig ..... Angela Ogden
Anna Ludwig ..... Edith Knight

Miss Grace George was accorded a hearty welcome on her re-appearance in Montreal last night. Miss Mayo, who is responsible for the dramatization of "The Marriage of William Ashe," in which Miss George appears, has turned Mrs. Humphrey Ward's readable book upside down in an endeavor to fit a star with a notable stage garment. In the cutting and fitting process in which she attempted to achieve her aim, William is made more of a prig than Mrs. Ward intended, Cliffe is turned into a talkative fool instead of a fairly interesting human being, and Mary Lyster deprived of all consistency. Lady Parham is the only one of the minor characters that is other than colorless, and that is largely owing to the skill and eccentricity with which Miss Katherine Stewart plays the part, rather than to the lines which fall to her lot.

Lady Kitty, through five acts, wanders disconsolately, becoming more and more emotional and silly as the action of the play progresses. As drawn by Mrs. Ward, Lady Kitty was a wayward, impossible being with inherited oddities that excused much of her lack of stability. No matter what her vagaries, she was sympathetic and well-meaning. Even when she finally kicked over the traces it was largely because Mary Lyster and Cliffe had combined to make circumstances too strong for her. Owing to the necessity of giving the star an additional strong situation, Mary Lyster is made mean instead of wicked, and Lady Kitty leaves her husband for Cliffe and the snows of Bosnia, because William gives her a much-deserved scolding. Instead of being the sport of fate, Lady Kitty becomes merely the victim of her own temper and unreasonableness. Between them Miss Mayo and Miss George have converted Lady Kitty into a study of emotionalism and hysteria. Her state is clearly akin to that of the small child who is promised condign punishment if it doesn't behave, and yet doesn't behave until the parental hand deals out swift justice. Miss George's Lady Kitty makes one long for her sake that William's manners had been those of Whitechapel rather than Mayfair. In the former walk of life such exhibitions of moods and tempers as those indulged in by the Lady Kitty of the play would have resulted in a treatment that would have tended towards her ultimate good. Undoubtedly Lady Kitty deserved to be slapped, and if William had shaken her briskly instead of forgiving her she would have settled down into decent behaviour and the audience would have been spared the anticlimax of the Camille finish to the fifth act.

Miss George is essentially a comedienne, and her best work has been done in comedy parts. In the first act of "The Marriage of William Ashe," she is at her best, and subsequently during the play, bright dialogue and opportunities for comedy work, found her equal to every requirement. Unfortunately in emotionalism Miss George is not as much at home, and Lady Kitty has a tendency to turn on the tremolo stop in and out of season. The character is of course one mass of inconsistencies, as any badly brought up, hysterical young woman is sure to be, but Mrs. Ward manages to make her a lovable little thing in spite of her faults. Not so Miss Mayo, who has no time for the lighter touches in character drawing, and apparently no regard for the nuances of such a character. Miss George, agreeing with Miss Mayo, has made Lady Kitty a study in high lights. Her transitions from mood to mood are accomplished largely without purpose, in order to keep the star always in the centre of the picture. The one dominant false note in the play is the reason given for Lady Kitty leaving her husband. By it, all probability is done away with, all sympathy destroyed, in order to make an effective climax to the fourth act.

Miss George is always sweet, always appealing, always pretty, but either from lack of temperament or training she has not yet developed a sure touch on that, upon which every would-be emotional actress aspires to play, the heart strings of an audience. Miss George does not lack magnetism, but her emotion leaves her audience cold, and critical. On the contrary her comedy touches are always sure, and never fail of appreciation. In appearance she is an ideal Lady Kitty.

Mr. Reeves Smith is a dignified William Ashe, and manages to a large extent to make that self satisfied person real and convincing, a task of extreme magnitude. Lady Tranmore and Mary Lyster are both sacrificed to the necessity of making effective stage situations, and with this end in view, Lady Tranmore is played as an interfering and unsympathetic old woman, and Mary is deprived of the originality and energy which she possesses in the book. Honest endeavor could not make Geoffrey Cliff magnetic or convincing. But a matinee idol might make him endurable. In spite of Mr. Webster's hard work his Geoffrey was as tiresome and unnatural as most of the people in the cast.

The play itself though splendidly staged can only be described as a near-success. In its story it is lacking in coherency and is tailzy to a degree. In the last act Lady Kitty's death scene was mercifully short, for William had not time to remove his overcoat before she departed. It is a tribute to the stage management to say that the magic lantern waterfall in the background divided honors with Lady Kitty in her death scene, and deservedly. "The marriage of William Ashe" is only another example of the futility of book plays.

Black Patti at Academy.

ACADEMY—Musical Comedy.— The Black Patti Troubadours.

Black Patti and her band of African troubadours entertained an unusually small and unappreciative audience at the Academy last night. The show, which is advertised as being in its tenth season, shows signs of age, and looks as though a little re-gilding would not do it any harm. Black Patti herself has deteriorated sadly, in so far as her singing is concerned. Her looks and costuming, especially her jewels, are as bright as ever, however, and of course that went a long way towards pleasing the audience.

The play is divided into three parts, two burlesques, and a boiled down rendition of "Pinafore," the latter being by all odds the best part of the show. In the burlesques, John Rucker and Will Carrington furnish most of the amusement, and they are at times really quite funny. Harry and Laura Prampin do some very good cornet playing, Harry introducing a novelty by playing the bugle without the use of his hands, merely balancing the instrument on his lips.

The cleverest part of the show is Harry Kraton's educated hoops, and he certainly makes them do some very peculiar stunts. They roll around as though they were mesmerized, and seem to do just as they are told.

An All-round Good Show.

AT THE FRANCAIS.—"A Wife's Secret," a drama in four acts.

An all-around good show is presented at the Francais this week in "A Wife's Secret." The story of the show is that of a girl, who, believing her drunken father to be dead, married a clergyman but later found out that her father was not dead but alive, and in addition to his drinking habits had committed a murder. In the end it is proved that he did not commit the deed but a companion, George Warren, who lives in luxury while the old man does the work, is found to be the guilty party. This is the wife's secret and through this and the main, George Warren, annoying her near her own house she is forced to leave her home and child without a penny. Christmas time comes round and she comes back again in the form of a Christmas gift to her little girl, and all are happy once again. Warren is arrested on a charge of murder, and the three are left without any enemies in the world. The company is an all-around good one, and the acting of Petite Reenie, as Marie Madison, the little child, is very good and her singing in the last act pleased the audience much. Elizabeth Baker, as the rector's wife, won the appreciation of the audience and her husband, Mr. John Madison, played by Campbell Stratton, is well worth a word of praise. The scenic and mechanical effects are as good as have been seen at this theatre during the present season.

Man of Destiny at Nouveautes.

AT THE NOUVEAUTES.—"Plus Que Reine," a play founded on the career of Napoleon.

"The strange and wonderful life of the Man of Destiny has been a veritable mine of material for the poet, the novelist, and the playwright, and at the cosy theatre this week his mighty name and career again point a moral and adorn a tale. The play is an old one, and is familiar to English theatre-goers under the name of "More Than Queen," having been presented in this city some years ago by Miss Julia Arthur. It deals with Bonaparte's relations with his wife, Josephine, and carries the story from the time when the Corsican lieutenant courted the creole beauty to the day when at the height of his power and in the realization of his wildest dreams he cast her aside to marry the daughter of the proudest royal house in Europe. The story is well told, and the presentation of the play at the Nouveautes is thoroughly satisfying. M. Lafrancais was impressive as the Emperor, and gave a very fine presentation of that complex and masterful character. In the role of Josephine, Mme. Ducange was as tender and devoted as it was evidently the intention of the dramatist to depict Napoleon's first consort.

Burlesques Appreciated.

THEATRE ROYAL.—The Jolly Grass Widows, burlesque.

The Theatre Royal management are this week presenting to their patrons the Jolly Grass Widows in the two burlettas "The Widow's Wedding Night," and "The Sign of the Red Light." The latter is a creation of Weber and Fields.

In the olio the four Alvinos do a turn on the trapese and bars which is the best of its kind seen at the Royal this season. Pinard and Walters do several kinds of musical turns which are very good.

During the second burletta a burlesque wrestling match between Simmons and Burkhardt is a good thing and took well with the crowd. The show last night was well appreciated.

STABBING AFFRAY — Guisseppe Pallologo, 19 years of age, pleaded not guilty before Judge Lafontaine to-day to the charge of having stabbed Mr. George Edwards, a machinist, of 162 Grand Trunk street. It is alleged that on Saturday afternoon the two men got into a quarrel on Craig street, and that the Italian used his knife. The enquete in the case will be heard when Edwards has sufficiently recovered to appear in court.

Underwriters Estimate Total Loss at $300,000,000 and Insurance Loss at $175,000,000

Special to the Montreal Star.

San Francisco, April 24.—The insurance commissioners and underwriters yesterday made a thorough inspection of the burned district, and now say that their belief is that the insurance loss will be approximately $175,000,000, and that the total loss will be about $300,000,000. State Insurance Commissioner E. M. Wolf made a very reassuring statement covering the condition of the insurance companies that will be called upon to make good the losses incurred through the fire.

The Board of Education has terminated the school term and all schoolhouses have been thrown open to the public, providing good sanitary conditions are maintained. It will take about ten days before the street lamps are resumed.

GERMAN SURTAX WAS DISCUSSED

Many Members of House Condemned Government For Present Trade Relations.

THE BRITISH PREFERENCE.

Several Frankly Declared Canada Got No Benefit, and It Should be Repealed.

Special Staff Correspondence.

Press Gallery, House of Commons, Ottawa, April 24.—The greater part of the sitting of the House yesterday was devoted to a discussion of Canada's trade relations with Germany. The debate began early in the afternoon and it extended well into the night.

It will be remembered that shortly after the granting of the British preference in 1897, the British Government renounced the trade treaties with Belgium and Germany so that these countries could not share in the preference Canada had granted to British goods. Germany objected and finally she retaliated against Canada by imposing an extra duty on Canadian goods. Canada hit back by imposing a surtax of 33 1-3 per cent. on German goods coming to Canada. The debate turned on these points, the opposition blaming the government for not having come to some arrangement with Germany.

The discussion raised the question of the wisdom or otherwise of the British preference. Of course the government defended it and Mr. Fisher practically repeated the statement made some time ago out of the House, to the effect that Canada did not desire Britain to tax her food supplies in order to give the Canadian farmer a preference in her markets.

Mr. Henderson, Conservative, of Halton, stated in clear terms that speaking for himself he would vote for wiping the preference to Great Britain off the Canadian statute book. Mr. Borden took part in the discussion and so did three ministers, Mr. Fielding, Mr. Patterson and Mr. Fisher.

NEW MEMBER INTRODUCED.

At the opening of the sitting, Dr. McIntyre, the new member for Strathcona, was introduced by the Prime Minister and Mr. Oliver. After shaking hands with the Speaker he took his seat in the top row and near the corner entrance to the Chamber.

One public bill was introduced. It is entitled "An act respecting industrial and co-operative societies." It was presented by Mr. Monk, Conservative of Jacques Cartier, and was read a first time.

When the orders of the day were called a number of returns ordered some time ago were enquired about. Mr. Borden, leader of the Opposition, asked for returns relating to the Saskatchewan Valley Land Co. and Mr. Wilson reminded the Government that they had not brought down the correspondence that had passed between the High Commissioner in London and W. T. R. Preston.

Mr. Maclean, of South York, gave notice that at the earliest opportunity he would move that the Government should nationalize the telegraph, telephone and express services of the country.

Mr. Borden asked if it was true that the Bronson Ray concession in the Yukon had been cancelled. Mr. Oliver answered, "No." It had not been cancelled, but the whole matter was under consideration and a statement of policy would soon be made.

Mr. Borden also wished to know if an order in council had been passed cancelling the contract with the North Atlantic Trading Company.

In reply, Mr. Oliver stated that such a procedure was not necessary, inasmuch as the contract provided for its cancellation by a letter over the signature of the Minister.

The following private bills were then read a second time and referred to the proper standing committees.

An act respecting the Empire Trust Company.

An act respecting a patent of the Cyclone Woven Wire Fence Company, Limited.

An act respecting the Quebec, Saguenay and Gulf of St. Lawrence Railway Company.

An act respecting the Royal Bank of Canada.

An act respecting the Thorold and Lake Erie Railway Company.

An act respecting the Farmers Bank of Canada.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

Questions followed. In reply to Mr. Taylor, Conservative, of Leeds, it was stated that since 1896 the Government have paid the Woods Company, Limited, of Ottawa, the sum of $440,000 for supplies and of that amount only $7,700 were for goods supplied under contract, for which tenders had been called. To the same company have been paid for rent of buildings for the use of various departments the sum of $24,264. In reply to Mr. Fowler, Conservative, of North Toronto, it was stated that the land grant of the Canadian Northern Railway Company amounted to 2,190,000 acres. There had been no extension of area within which the company is to select its land, and there was no original reservation within which the company was to make selections.

Mr. Barker, Conservative of Hamilton, asked: 1. "Has the Department of Railways taken steps for the establishment of depots at Levis or other points on the St. Lawrence or on the coast of New Brunswick for the storage and distribution of the coal supply of the Intercolonial Railway." (2) "Has land been purchased for such purposes. If so, where, when and from whom, and at what price." (3.) "Has there been any negotiations for such purchases. If so, when, where, with whom, and with what results."

The answers to the first two enquiries were "no"; to the third "none."

In reply to Mr. Blain, Conservative of Peel, it was stated that the Yukon Telegraph line cost $758,094. The highest revenue in any one year was $126,991, whereas the highest expenditure for one year was $281,600. The cost of operating the system far exceeded the revenue.

Mr. Fowler, Conservative of King's and Albert, asked: "Is the Solicitor-General still representing the two constituencies of Nicolet and Gaspe?"

The Solicitor-General himself replied, and his answer was simply "Yes."

Mr. Ames, Conservative of St. Antoine, asked: "Under what conditions were 1,291 acres sold on the 16th of August, 1905, to E. C. St. George and other members of the St. George family in township 19, range 17, west of the sixth meridian?" Mr. Oliver's answer was to the effect that no land had been sold to E. C. St. George or the St. George family, but to E. C. George, another man entirely.

Mr. Martin, Conservative, of Queen's, was informed that the Montague and Cardigan branch of the Prince Edward Island Railway could be opened on July 1 next.

Mr. Ames asked the following: (1) What was the total amount paid to the Ahearn and Soper, Limited, for electrical wiring of the Ottawa Observatory? (2) Were other firms asked to submit prices? (3) Did other contractors ask leave to tender, and what was the attitude of the department regarding said offers? (4) Is the contract with Ahearn and Soper, Limited, finished and the work completed? If not what will be the probable cost of the remainder?

The answer to the first was $4,234; to the second and third "No," and to the fourth "Yes."

Notices of motions by private members were then proceeded with, the first one debated being the following by Mr. Armstrong, Conservative, of East Lambton: "For copies of all correspondence since 1896 between the Government of Canada, or any member thereof, and the German or British Governments, or any person or persons officially or otherwise representing those Governments, and copies of all documents and papers in possession of the Government respecting the tariffs of Germany and Canada, in relation to each other."

TRADE WITH GERMANY.

Mr. Armstrong made this motion the text of a speech on Canada's trade relations with Germany, the point of it all being that the Canadian Government has neglected their duty and ignored the interest of the Canadian farmers by not having arranged matters so that Canadian agricultural products could have been imported into the Germany empire under the ordinary rate of customs duties and not subject to the extraordinary import to which they are now subject. Germany, said Mr. Armstrong, was the greatest importer of agricultural products in continental Europe, and yet Canada's trade with that great empire was growing less and less. A tariff war had been instituted because of the preference granted by Canada to Great Britain. In 1903 Germany struck back and raised the tariff on Canadian goods from 50 to 100 per cent., and Canada raised the tariff on German goods by 33 1-3 per cent. The result was that Canada was shut out of a most profitable market. Through the efforts of their Government, the United States had succeeded in having their goods entered at the lower German tariff, while Canadian goods were practically shut out. In Germany there was a great demand for apples both in a natural state and dried. A barrel of American apples was admitted into Germany at a duty of 50 cents, while on a barrel of Canadian apples there had to be paid a customs duty of one dollar. All this was a direct injury to the Canadian farmer. Mr. Armstrong touched on the British preference, which he claimed had been of no benefit to Canada. One of its results was strained tariff relations with Germany and the closing of that great market to Canadian producers.

Mr. Clement, Cons., of Kent, supported the motion, speaking on similar lines, and condemned the Government for not having taken action for the protection of the Canadian people. They needed the German trade and the open doors should be secured as soon as possible.

Mr. Fielding described the stand taken by the member for Lambton and West Kent as most unfortunate, unwise and unpatriotic. Canada and Germany had certainly been drifting wide apart, but negotiations had been opened which might tend to bring trade relations back to the basis from which they started, and it was, therefore unpatriotic to cause the idea to reach Germany that Canadians were not unanimous in the stand they had made.

CAUSE OF DIFFERENCES.

The Minister of Finance explained the difference which had arisen. When Canada had given a preferential tariff to Great Britain, the Germans had placed a higher tariff on Canadian imports into the country. Previously Canadian goods had been admitted on the same level as others.

"What did we do to bring about the difference?" asked Mr. Fielding. "Was it not because we had arranged a preferential trade with Great Britain? We had a right to do this."

Mr. Fielding argued that Canada had been too patient in its relations with the German Government; Canada had done no wrong to Germany, but simply desired to give what it was willing to give to France, or any other foreign country. Yet Germany was not contented with this, and demanded the same treatment as the Canadian Government had given to the Mother Country. Canada refused and Germany was thoroughly displeased.

Accordingly, the Germans placed a surtax on Canadian products and negotiations were opened by the Dominion, in which the unfairness of the discrimination was pointed out, but this had no effect. In 1903 the Government found that there was no way of dealing with Germany, only by the surtax also, and the Finance Minister claimed that this was approved by every patriotic subject. He was sorry that this had become necessary, but the Government was willing to meet Germany regarding he matter. The Germans had lost more, through the discrimination than had Canada. Lately an official of the German Government had visited Canada to inquire into the situation, and now that conditions were better understood, Canada and Germany would be able to deal with the matter better on both sides. He appealed to members on the other side of the House to do nothing meanwhile, pending negotiations.

THE BRITISH PREFERENCE.

Dr. Sproule, Conservative of East Grey, also arraigned the Government for having lost to the Canadian farmer the market of sixty millions of Germans. They had given Britain a preference and obtained nothing in return; in fact, the Minister of Agriculture had stated that they wanted no preference from Britain in return. Well, as a result of their blundering, they had aroused the hostility of Germany, and so lost one of the best markets in the world.

Mr. Borden, leader of the Opposition, spoke briefly. He held that the Government should have done something to bring about better trade relations with the German empire, but they could not find time to write a letter or send a telegram. In fact, when questioned, the Minister of Customs had to admit that he had forgotten all about the request that information be obtained regarding the German tariff. But these gentlemen could arouse themselves from the lethargy that seemed to be settled down over all the departments. The whole preferential legislation of the Government had been a series of blunders. When the tariff was brought down in 1897, Sir Richard Cartwright had said that at last the ship was headed for open sea. The preference to Britain was granted and the Salisbury Government, yielding to the claim of the Canadian Government, decided that the continuance of the Belgian and German treaties was not in the interests of the Empire as a whole. How did it happen, asked Mr. Borden, that subsequently a trade was being negotiated between Canada and Germany? Canada did not share in the benefits granted to the other parts of the British Empire. If the previous treaty was denounced by the British, it was because it was not in the interests of the Empire. Where was the Government, when, by the new treaty, the rest of the Empire got better treatment than Canada received? The Minister of Finance had referred to all this as a family affair. If that was true, why was not all the British family included? Why was Canada excluded?

Mr. Patterson, Minister of Customs, followed. His first answer was to the effect that the British preference was before the people in 1900 and they approved of it, and that was repeated in 1904. Germany had raised a discriminating tariff against Canada of 100 per cent. Canada had replied by one of 33 1-3 per cent. and further, when the Canadian surtax was proposed, it received the unanimous support of the House. What did the Opposition say then? They said it should have been imposed long ago. Now they condemn it, and at a most unfortunate time, for negotiations with Germany were under way, but the speeches of the gentlemen opposite would unable the Germans to say that Canada must have better trade relations, for that was burden of their remarks. It was said that the British preference was a blunder. If so, it was the most fortunate blunder ever made for the Canadian farmer, for it made Canadian products known in Great Britain and resulted in a pecuniary advantage to this country.

MR. BORDEN PUTS QUESTION.

Mr. Borden interrupted with a question: "If the Canadian Government did not desire a preference in the British market, why did they ask for it at the Colonial conference five years ago."

Mr. Patterson replied that he had not said that Canada did not want a preference in fact he had won it, and it was given by the free will of the British people. Now in regard to this German trade, it was not in such a bad state as had been represented. Since the mutual surtax, Canada had been selling about as many goods to Germany as formerly, while German sales to Canada had fallen off by one half.

Mr. Henderson, Conservative, of Halton, spoke briefly. He condemned the whole preference as it stood today. Canada should have received a share of something in return. He believed in Canada first. As for himself he would vote for a repeal of the preference, and when his party came into office, they would secure a real preference, one that would benefit Canada.

MR. FISHER DEFENDS.

Then Mr. Fisher, Minister of Agriculture, took part in the discussion. He was surprised to hear the Opposition pleading the cause of Germany, when all that Canada had done in the matter was to protect herself against Germany's attack. The Canadian farmers had to-day a preference in the British market, and if the policy of the Conservatives had been carried out, what would have happened. Had Canada waited until a preference had been granted by Britain by legislative enactments, it would not yet have been secured, as was shown by the result of the recent British elections, when the policy of a preference was condemned. The Conservative policy would have kept our trade with Britain at a standstill. The British people would not tax themselves, and if they did, it would injure their purchasing powers and so result in smaller sales of Canadian food products. A tax on the British food supply might increase the price of wheat in Canada by a couple of cents a bushel, but the Canadian farmer with his rich soil and vast resources did not want the British workman taxed to enable him to get that extra two cents. Nor would such a legislative preference, such a tax on British food supplies, tend to the solidarity of the Empire. It would tend to strain the relations, to strain the harmony between Canada and the Mother Country.

If that were true, asked Mr. Borden, why was the preference asked for at the Colonial conference?

In answer, Mr. Fisher said that at that time there was a tax on foodstuffs imported into Britain. Canada asked that it be removed. That was quite different from asking that a tax be imposed. It was a tax put on for revenue, a war tax, and it was repealed after the war. Speaking as a Canadian farmer, Mr. Fisher said he would not ask Britain to tax her food supply for Canada's benefit.

Mr. Fowler, Conservative of Kings and Albert, hit back at Mr. Fielding. It was strange, said Mr. Fowler, to hear that gentleman taunt members of the Opposition with disloyalty when it was known that in times past, Mr. Fielding had appealed to the people of Nova Scotia on a policy of secession, when he had attempted to take his province out of the Canadian confederation and wreck the Dominion of Canada, the fairest gem in the British crown.

The discussion drifted on some time, the other speakers being Mr. Chisholm, Conservative of Huron; Mr. Schell, Liberal, of Oxford; Mr. Bennett, Conservative, of East Simcoe; Mr. Johnston, of Cape Breton, and Mr. Lennox, of South Simcoe.

At 11.35, Mr. Armstrong's motion for papers and correspondence was adopted and the House adjourned.

PROTEST MEETING HELD IN ST. LOUIS

Proposal to Establish Woodyard on Fairmount Avenue Meets With Strong Opposition.

The meeting called for last night in Fairmount School Hall, to consider what action should be taken to oppose the opening of a large woodyard in front of the school property on Fairmount avenue, in the very centre of the residential quarter of Montreal Annex, was attended by a large number of the leading citizens.

Mr. H. Pelletier, advocate and Recorder of St. Louis, on being called upon by Mr. Jos. Perrault, chairman of the meeting, to give an opinion as to the legal view of the question, informed the meeting that he had looked into the by-laws and the town charter, and although he was not prepared just then give a legal opinion, he might say that there seemed to be no restriction upon a wood dealer which would apply in this case, and no proceedings could be taken against the owner of this wood yard. It was a question of license, and he found that Mr. Villeneuve was trading at two other places, and that he had a license. As Mr. Villeneuve is entitled to delay until May 1 before removing his business it is too early to take an injunction now. There would be a chance that it might be dismissed. Security for costs would also have to be given before the writ came before the judge, and it would be a heavy security.

He suggested that a committee of citizens be appointed to interview him and try to arrange an amicable settlement with him. He also suggested that the citizens should appoint a committee to suggest amendments to the by-laws. Should Mr. Villeneuve refuse to change his mind, then the first thing to do would be to change the by-law so as to make it applicable to this case. There are other dangers which threaten the town of St. Louis with the by-laws as they stand at present. For instance, it has been mentioned that Sohmer Park might come to St. Louis. He mentioned this to show how necessary it is that the by-laws should be amended.

The next thing to do if Mr. Villeneuve insists on this woodyard, would be to expropriate this property for a public square. For this alternative the citizens would have to rely upon the council; if the council should refuse to expropriate a company could be formed to buy the property with the intention of selling it to the town for a park later on.

Mr. Gladston said he felt that they were suffering from their former want of knowledge. If there had been a system of taxation in force to prevent property owners from holding property without paying for improvements by which the value of such property was increased, the taxpayers would not have to face the present difficulty.

The following resolution was then moved by Messrs. John Scott, Dewitt, Macfarlane and Swift, seconded by Messrs. R. A. Nixon, McGregor, Scott and Gladston, and carried unanimously: That this meeting endorses the lawsuit taken by Wm. Swift and Christie Macfarland, of Fairmount avenue, against Leonidas Villeneuve, lumber merchant, to forbid the keeping of his lumber yard on that part of the property of the Ladies of the Hotel Dieu bounded by Fairmount and St. Louis street, now Laurier avenue, and the lanes in rear, etc.

The following committee was also appointed to interview Mr. Villeneuve, as suggested by Mr. Recorder Pelletier: Messrs. Neville, Berube, Swift, Marfarland, Barsalou.

The committee will report at next meeting on Monday.

REAL ESTATE SALES DURING MARCH

The Activity Was General Throughout City and Suburbs.

SALES REACHED $2,397,316.

Greatest Values Were in St. Andrew's Ward—Permits Issued Indicate Continued Activity.

The real estate market continues to be strong and active, and its developments are along the lines of the last few months, the transactions indicating a healthy condition of the market, and the sales recorded during the month of March being over twice as much as those of the corresponding month of last year and exceeding in amount the previous months of this year, says the Cradock Simpson Record. The activity has been shared by pretty much every section of the city, and each has contributed its quota of the general result. The wards in which the recorded transfers during the month of March exceeds $200,000 each, are West, St. Andrew, St. James, St. George and St. Louis, while by far the largest number of sales took place in St. Denis Ward. Of the 31 transfers in Westmount, 18 were of vacant land and 13 of built properties.

The investment demand is steadily increasing and the opportunities for investment which are being offered in the real estate market, and which in former years were availed of only to a limited extent, are now being taken advantage of in most cases by new buyers, who fully appreciate the changed conditions of the market. Rumors of big deals appear in the newspapers from time to time, but these do not occasion much surprise, and actual sales which would have attracted a good deal of attention a few years ago are now taken as a matter of course.

Real estate dealers are taking an increased interest in suburban properties, and in land in the vicinity of the city, with a view to its future use for subdivision purposes. There is plenty of land for sale, but the difficulty in marketing it in most cases is in the high prices asked by the property owners.

One hundred and sixty-two building permits were issued in March, and the stated aggregate cost of the work is $318,315. This includes 109 permits for new buildings consisting of 94 houses, 182 tenements, 10 stores, 2 warehouses, 4 stables, and 16 sheds, to cost in all $262,215. There were 53 permits for alterations or repairs to 48 houses, 63 tenements, 17 stores, 1 warehouse, 3 factories, 1 office building, 3 stables and 2 sheds, amounting to $56,100, for alterations and repairs.

The sales recorded during the month of March in the undermentioned suburban municipalities amount to $391,586, and are as follows: Maisonneuve, $40,299; DeLorimier, $28,317; town of St. Louis, $99,551; Outremont, $39,152; Cote des Neiges, $44,726; Notre Dame de Grace, $112,685; Montreal West, $1,020; Verdun, $13,240; and Cote St. Paul, $12,596.

There were 381 real estate transfers in the city wards and town of Westmount recorded at the registry offices during the month of March, amounting to $2,397,316.

TRIED IN VAIN TO SAW PRISON BARS

Dorchester, N.B., April 24.—Two convicts attempted to escape from the Maritime penitentiary. Their names are Higgins of St. John, N.B., serving life sentence for murder, and Thibaudault, of Bathurst, N.B., serving seventeen years for stealing. They secured saws from the machine shop where they worked and cut their way out through the corridor. A colored convict in a nearby cell gave the alarm, and John Cocoran, guard, found them at work sawing the bars of an outside window at the fourth landing. They had rope to escape with, and were clothed in night dresses. They were placed in dungeons for safe keeping.

A Souvenir Booklet.

The passenger department of the Quebec & Lake St. John Railway has recently issued a very attractive illustrated pamphlet, as a souvenir of the visit to that railway and to Lake St. Joseph of the members of the General Synod of the Church of England in Canada in September last. It will be remembered that the Synod, which met in Quebec, was composed of over 20 bishops and some 250 clerical and lay delegates, many of them were very distinguished men, gathered from all parts of the Dominion, from Nova Scotia to the Yukon, so that the gathering was quite a memorable event in the history of our city. The warm and cordial welcome they received from all classes of our citizens, quite irrespective of creed or nationality, was somewhat of an agreeable surprise to the delegates, and they left Quebec very favorably impressed. One of the most pleasant events of their few hours of recreation was their trip into the Laurentian mountains to the lovely summer resort at Lake St. Joseph, which was attended by nearly every member of the Synod and thoroughly enjoyed.

It is to preserve a souvenir of this pleasant afternoon that the passenger department of the Quebec & Lake St. John Railway has issued the little booklet we refer to, which is gotten up with the good taste and style which characterize all its literature. The pamphlet is gracefully written and contains photogravure illustrations of the beautiful spots visited, and also a vignette of the Hon. A. Turgeon, Mgr. Matieu, C. M. G., Senator Tessier, Bishop of Quebec, and others who contributed to make the stay of the delegates in Quebec so pleasant and interesting.

WHAT IS GAMBLING?

Police Court Judge Gives an Interpretation of the Law.

A report as to the liquor sold in clubs and as to whether they are gambling houses will be submitted to the Attorney General in a few days by one of the Judges in the City Police court. The question involved is, how many of the private clubs in this city where liquor is sold are gambling houses?

Speaking in this connection one of the Judges said:—"Any club where games are played for money, and where an entrance fee of twenty-five cents, fifty cents, or any sum from one cent up, is charged to get into the game, is, according to the Criminal Code, nothing more or less than gambling house. It makes no difference if the limit of the game is one cent or one hundred dollars. Not only in the small social clubs, which in many cases are conducted more for the sale of liquor than anything else, but in the big clubs, a fee is charged to enter the game. This fee is a "rake off" for the club, and the collection of such makes the place in which the game is played, and where the fee is paid, a gambling house."

Mortgage on Church was Burned.

The members and adherents of St. Henri Methodist Church had the satisfaction of seeing their mortgage committed to the flames last evening, this being the result of the decision taken nine months ago by the members of the church, to raise the required amount to clear the indebtedness. A gold watch was also presented to the pastor, Rev. B. B. Brown, by Mr. J. Field on behalf of the congregation, and Mrs. Brown was the recipient of a large bouquet of roses.

SPECULATION.

It is always a matter of much speculation as to who will have the most charming millinery and the greatest variety of dress goods and all the accessories necessary for completing a woman's Outfit. The lady who visits the dry goods store of Messrs. Jas. A. Ogilvy & Sons, St. Catherine street west, corner of Mountain st., will settle the point at once, leaving no room for conjecture. Their announcement on page 11 of this issue of the Star will assist in forming a decision.

MEN'S CLOTHING!

Are You Getting Full Value for Your Money?

EVERY level-headed man, whether he puts $15. or $40. into a suit of clothes, wants the best he can get for the money.
He doesn't want to pay the price of all-wool for a suit one-third mercerized cotton.

He doesn't want to find, after a month's wear, that his trousers bag at the knees, and his coat has sagged out of shape because the cloth was skimped and the tailoring a superficial sham.

A MATTER OF COMMON SENSE

NO CHEAPENING PROCESS HERE

The tailors who live by the cheapening process are after us all the time to give them orders. Tell us we can make more money.

Doubtless we could—for a time—but we haven't spent 30 years building up a clothing business on straightforward lines to lose it for a temporary increase in profits.

Spring has come round again and we say with certainty born of investigation that we have the largest stock of fresh new goods of any store in town and lower prices, quality for quality.

THE BEST SUITS AT $10 TO BE HAD

There isn't as fine a worsted suit for $10. to be had anywhere else as we are offering to-day; a well cut, well tailored all wool suit.

Come in to-day, look around; no one will bother you to buy; no one will try and talk you into taking what you don't want.

Tailors, like doctors, disagree—some tell you the ventless coat is correct, others insist there should be centre or side vents. Here you can take your choice.

WE PLAN FOR MEN OF GOOD TASTE

Men's Suits start at $10.00 and run up, plenty of in-between prices, to $20.00. Most of our coats are the double breasted kind with broad lapels.

YOUNG MEN'S SUITS

Separate Patterns For Young Men

We don't ask young men to wear small sizes of men's shapes. We make their figures a special study, have their clothing cut and made exclusively by a young men's clothing maker—the best in the business—follow the slimness of waist and curved lines that are natural to youth.

Prices for Young Men's Suits begin at $8.00 and run up to $12.00.

First Communion Costumes and Dresses and all the other

Requisites for Boys And Girls,

Also Prayer Beads, Prayer Books, Medals, Crucifixes, Fancy Holy-Water Vases, Statuettes, etc., etc.

Anthracite in Ontario.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Toronto, April 24. — In discussion of the new mining bill in the Legislature, Mr. Cochrane announced that he believed there is coal over the height of land in northern Ontario. He refused to say in what part of the district the deposits are or who discovered them, but stated that samples had been submitted to him, and they were undoubtedly anthracite.

A report circulated at the Parliament buildings has it that the specimens were taken from large deposits near the Albany River on the border between Ontario and Manitoba. One of the reasons urged for construction of the James Bay Railroad was belief that coal would be found on the Hudson's Bay slope.

PROBABILITIES FOR THE NEXT 24 HOURS

North-westerly winds, fine. Wednesday, fine and a little warmer.

So much continued fine weather is a really wonderful thing at this time of year, and is enough to give a new character to the month in the eyes of Montrealers. Nothing finer could be desired than the weather conditions of to-day. The only thing that was a little unpleasant was the dust that was raised by the brisk wind and which at times formed dense clouds. But altogether it was a glorious day and those little disagreeable details were forgotten in the general splendor.

Montreal Weather Statistics.

Readings by Hearn & Harrison's Standard barometer:

At noon yesterday, 29.82; at 8 a.m. to-day, 29.60; 11 a.m. to-day, 29.58.

Temperature—To-day maximum 53, minimum 35; yesterday, maximum 45, minimum 34.

The Sun rose this morning at 4.59 o'clock, and will set this evening at 6.57 o'clock.

Maximum and Minimum Temperatures.

Victoria, 60, 48; Calgary, 50, 32; Prince Albert, 76, 48; Qu'Appelle, 52, 54; Winnipeg, 70, 44; Port Arthur, 48, 30; Parry Sound, 44, 22; Toronto, 46, 28; Ottawa, 46, 30; Montreal, 46, 32; Quebec, 38, 30; St. John, 42, 34; Halifax, 42, 40.

Gow Now Sued Civilly.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Peterboro, Ont., April 24.—At the spring Assizes yesterday, Mr. Justice Anglin presiding, the case first called was Hill vs. Gow, an aftermath of the Dunmer tragedy. Robert Hill sues Charles Gow for unstated damages for the death of his son as a result of a shot fired by Gow, on August 24, of last year. The case for the plaintiff was presented yesterday afternoon.

For last week were, males 67 and females 56.

EMPRESS OF BRITAIN.

Canadian Pacific Railway New Steamship fulfilling most Sanguine Expectations.

London, April 23.—The steamship Empress of Britain, the new Canadian Pacific boat, arrived at Liverpool on Sunday at noon. She left Greenock at 5 p.m. on Friday for the trip around Ireland. A heavy sea was running. The steamship's splendid seagoing qualities quite fulfilled the expectations. Rolling was conspicuous by its absence. This will be the largest and fastest steamer on the Atlantic route to Canada, completing the passage to Quebec well within a week, thus marking a distinct advance in the Canadian steamship service. There are many new and interesting features on this steamship, among them ventilation and heating by the thermo system, completely changing the air in each compartment every ten minutes; submarine bell signal, telephones, Marconi wireless telegraph apparatus, superb fittings and accommodation, dining saloons, ladies' saloons, smoking rooms, libraries, music rooms, cafe and children's saloons; several suites, consisting of bedroom, sitting room and bathroom; horseshoe shaped tables fitted in the dining saloon for small parties. The second-class accommodation is so complete and good that it is superior to the first-class of a few years ago. It has a beautiful ladies' saloon, dining saloon, smoking room and children's room. The third class is also greatly improved in accommodation over the ordinary. In the steerage is a large, well-fitted, bright dining saloon, with upholstered revolving chairs and a piano, smoking room, ladies' saloon, bathrooms and playground for the children. It is claimed that the galleys, storerooms and refrigerators on the Empress of Britain are more complete and better than on any steamer afloat.

On her trial trip last week the Empress of Britain developed a speed of twenty knots per hour. She sails on May 5th. Her sister ship, the Empress of Ireland, is nearing completion, and will sail on June 23rd.

Special Notice.

Clarke, cornet soloist, of John Philip Sousa's world renowned concert band, held in Toronto, March 31st, 1906, the Newcombe piano was used and commended by Mr. Clarke, and also by Mr. Sousa, who was present on the occasion. BISON FURNACE

The upper section in a Bison Hot Water Furnace is heated first and is always the hottest.

This insures immediate circulation.

And it sends the water into the mains at its highest temperature, quickly heating the building.

In other furnaces the lower sections are heated first and the upper section, from which the water circulates, is never the hottest.

The Bison has more good heating points than all other heaters combined.
