Valleyfield Rotary Club Sponsored Show — Industrials and Business Firms Support Exhibition in Big Way

The Valleyfield Fair sponsored by the Valleyfield Rotary Club was a great success, despite the rain during the week-end that usually attracts the greatest number of people. The bad weather made it advisable to cancel the horse races on Sunday afternoon. The greatest attraction on earth, the "World of Mirth Shows" were featured for 1952. Barnes Bros. Circus was certainly the attraction of the week. There were amusements for all tastes.

For the children, beside the merry-go-round, cars, boats, etc., there was a miniature train that certainly entertained them all. Walking around we noticed a tent of rare animals: lion, puma, hyena, bear and a monkey that could even make an elephant move about. In another tent were the appreciated "Rose's Midlets 1952 Revue" and for the first time with the "World of Mirth Shows". Following were a Broadway and a Marionettes revue, one presented by a troupe of negroes, "Tropical Nites in Harlem" and a real good presentation by Flash White and Terry Strong, singing and dancing. Cycles speeding two abreast on the Wall of the Motor Drome. After such a long walk visiting a tent to play a game, and at another one to see a good show, it was a rest to be seated in the grandstand enjoying a really wonderful entertainment given by the Hamid Revue. We could see there "The Janet's Circus," an act of comedy and a few acts by acrobats, also some very fine musical selections from Show Boat and Plantation Time with the "Sons of Erin" and the charming singer, Miss Paula Leslie. To end a pleasant and fascinating programme "Telesco" reached the end of a perch probably more than 100 feet high, standing at the top on his feet, on his hands and even on his nose. There is no one who says that everyone was shaken when they heard a big crack; but it was only a fire-cracker, a part of the act.

About the grounds were seen many fine exhibits displayed by Valleyfield industries. In the arena were many exhibits. To cite only a few, the one of the Shawinigan Water & Power Co. was exceptionally large and you could have a free ticket for a water heater drawing on Saturday night, also the exhibit of Duplan Dyeing where you could see every night at 10.30 a fashion show presented by Duplan with their employees doing the modelling. Other booths where interesting displays were made included: Automobile Club, of Quebec where details were given and all information about the American Automobile Association. A. H. Besner Limited, Valleyfield: C.I.L. paints, coal, sports articles, hardware, etc. Electrical Home Limited, Valleyfield: electric appliances at interesting prices. Slinray Furniture Store, St. Laurent St., Valleyfield: furniture, carpets, rugs, television, radio, phonograph and other electrical appliances. Canada Packers, Montreal: Grolier Encyclopedia, Montreal:

exhibition of this encyclopedia. P. H. Lemyre, St. Laurent St., Valleyfield: electrical appliances, Phillips television, furniture, radio and phonograph, etc. Beauharnois Supplies Reg'd., Valleyfield: dealers in fuel oil, anti-thermic oil burners made by Andrew Bailie. Valleyfield civil defence equipment: Major R. Chalifoux was in charge of the kiosk. Levasseur & Freres, Dufferin St., Valleyfield: linoleum, rugs, carpets, electrical appliances. Pratt & Lambert, Montreal, local representative, Marc Monette and Conrad Legault, Ellice St., Valleyfield: special paints of high quality. Loyal Gas, Ellice St., Valleyfield: storage water tanks, gas accessories with interesting statistics on the use of this famous product. Mrs. H. Grenier, Du Marche St., Valleyfield: furs in the latest fashions and colors. The Montreal Cottons Limited, Valleyfield: samples of the numerous products made at their local plant. Duplan Dyeing, Valleyfield: interesting exhibit of rayon, etc. products fabricated at their mills in Valleyfield. Billefist, St. Laurent St., Valleyfield: exhibit of clothes on sale at their store. Charles Cadieux & Son, Victoria St., Valleyfield: furniture, television, radio, electric appliances, refrigerators, paints, hardware. Raoul Vial, St. Lambert St., Valleyfield: men's wear in new and popular styles and colors. Elna, Sewing Machine, St-Timothee: exhibition of this sewing machine capable of doing a great range of work. Valleyfield Electronic, Marcel Pelletier, St. Laurent St., Valleyfield: General Electric television set, electric appliances. National Institute for the Blind, Valleyfield: exhibition of what the blind can do.

About the grounds, were seen many others: Ludovic Montpetit Garage, Kool-Vent, International Refrigerators, Garage Z. Perron, Shell Oil, Mack Trucks, Garage Omer Demers, Garage Vachon, Garage Lefebvre & Smith and many others. Thursday and Friday were livestock days at Valleyfield Fair. Whilst the fair is largely given over to entertainment, the livestock show proved to be a very good drawing card, as it seemed to be the real attraction on both afternoons. District farmers came forth with their most valuable entries and the exhibits were presented in good form. Miss Patricia Irving was given much ringside praise for the manner in which she had the Irving Ayrshire exhibits paraded before the judge. Amongst the Holstein exhibitors were noted Humphrey Thurston, St. Anicet, L. Blair & Son, Franklin, A. Sauve, St. Timothee, and other breeders with smaller entries. In the Jersey classes were: W. C. McEwan, Ormstown and Ed. Sproule, Franklin. In the other classes were: Norman J. Fennell, Huntingdon; J. A. D'Aoust, St. Stanislas de Koetka. The showing of horses was quite commendable and likewise can it be said of pigs.

Chateaugay and District Annual Flower Show Held

The 18th Annual Flower Show of the Chateaugay and District Horticultural Society held Saturday, August 6, in St. Andrew's Church Hall, was quite a success, there being a greater number of exhibitors, but the competition was not as keen. In many instances there was only one entry in a class.

Despite the rain which fell in torrents in the early evening there was a goodly number of persons present, who were welcomed by the president, Mr. A. S. Friedlander.

Following his remarks, two interesting films were shown by Mr. C. A. Smith, depicting some of the beautiful gardens in the district, which were much enjoyed. Mr. Frank McMahon on behalf of those present thanked Mr. Smith.

Mr. Friedlander paid tribute to Miss Anna Sproule, who is on the Staff of the Julius Richardson Convalescent Hospital in Montreal, but who for many years took a keen interest and held office in the Society and presented her with a gift. Miss Sproule in a few well chosen words thanked the president and members for this token of their esteem.

German Farm Hands Arrive Here Monday

A group of seven German farm hands arrived in Huntingdon, on Monday, August 18th, having landed on Canadian soil at Halifax, on the Monday, August 8th, having landed in Eastern Germany. They were distributed to the following farmers of the district: 1 each to W. Sutherland, Dundee, G. Pinsonneault, St. Barbe, R. J. Blair, Rockburn, M. J. Smellie, Trout River, Wm. Wilson, S. Mullochgrout and two to Douglas Glover, Ormstown. It has been reported that five arrived in Laocle, Que., and that there were still some in Montreal. Although there have been quite a number of Germans imported for farm help this is the largest number ever to arrive at one time, and the demand for any kind of foreign help for farmers still greatly exceeds the supply.

Francis Dineen Taken To Hospital With Knee Injury

Mr. Francis Dineen, 34, St. Anicet, Que., was taken to Huntingdon County Hospital on Friday evening following a minor accident earlier in the day. A group of men were baling straw after finishing threshing and Mr. Dineen was struck above the knee with a pitch fork. The injury was not serious but near supper time became painful and he was taken to the hospital. Dr. Girouard is attending the patient and at the time of printing nothing further can be said. There is a possibility the bone may be injured but this has not been verified.

The gift from the Huntingdon Rotary Club took the form of a United Nations Flag.

Without the games being available such benefits as that sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce would not likely have taken place. In connection with this recent J.C.C. benefit, thanks is due their former president Mac. Smellie, Riverside Motors Reg'd., who gave the free use of his new building for the holding of the event on Friday and Saturday evenings, August 1 and 2. Thanks is also due the Huntingdon Agricultural Society Div. A who organized the dance for Friday evening and turned over the receipts to the War Memorial Committee.

The exact status of the Trust Fund is as follows: Cash in Bank $ 7,549.07 Pledges 4,925.00 Total $12,474.07

In addition to this amount the War Memorial Committee owns fixed assets such as the games and bleachers, that are valued at $2,500. These fixed assets are not to be liquidated because the games have materially helped in the raising of money to augment the Memorial

Remarkable Exhibition of Softball Offered by Holden

"Ace" Holden vs. Ormstown District League Team Attract Audience of 800

The stands of the Huntingdon Fair Grounds were filled to capacity on Friday evening when "Ace" Holden and his three team-mates, the "Rockets" gave an outstanding display of softball skill in their victory over an all-star aggregation from the Ormstown District League by a 10-2 score.

Five hundred ninety-seven spectators paid to see this extraordinary contest. In addition, there were at least 200 other persons, who were admitted free, bringing the total attendance to about 800.

The "Ace" Mr. Holden gave those present a memorable demonstration of why he is rated one of the best fastball pitchers on the continent.

The 27-year-old native of Akron, Ohio, was a complete mastery of the game at all times, he struck out 18 of our best batters and allowed 6 scattered hits.

This phenomenal pitcher played three seasons with Joe Louis "Punchers", he started last year with the Chicago "Hottentots" and ended the season with Montreal's Robitaille Motors club. Once, while pitching in the World's Championship Tournament at Greeley, Colorado, he lost out to Fresno, California, in the finals by a 1-0 score.

This year "Ace" has won 19 games and has been defeated once in the Montreal East Senior Fastball League, including one perfect game (no opposing batter reached first) and four no-hit contests. Our Ormstown District All-Stars have no reason to be ashamed of their defeat by such a formidable pitcher.

Paul Derpentiugy was the local hero as he was responsible for both of the All-Stars runs. He hit a home-run in the final inning with Andy Oceanas on base, to avert a shut-out.

Further details of the game will be found in the "Covering the Sports" column in this issue.

Arrangements have been completed for the unveiling and dedication of the Robert Turnbull Memorial Stone and Plaque at 4 p.m. on Saturday, August 23, 1952, on the grounds adjoining the new office building. It was announced today by the St. Lawrence Alloys and Metals Limited Memorial Committee.

Made possible by the spontaneous donations of the hundreds of employees of St. Lawrence Alloys and Metals Ltd., the Memorial pays homage to Robert Turnbull, founder of St. Lawrence Alloys and Metals Ltd. and well known pioneer in the field of metallurgy, who died last August in his eighty-second year.

It is expected that representatives of all walks of life—industrial, political and religious—will attend the service, to which the general public is invited.

The event was handled as it should be, for a cause of this kind, a cooperative gesture by several organizations and individuals. We congratulate the J.C.C. for their leadership and sincerely hope that their example will be emulated by other groups interested in the erection of an Arena in Huntingdon as early as possible.

John Spencer Pursues Study of Textiles

Second Year Student at Huddersfield Technical College, England

John Spencer, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Spencer, Garden City, Huntingdon, will leave Montreal tomorrow (Thursday) evening, by train, for New York, from where he will travel by air to England to resume his studies, having spent a six-week holiday with his parents, sister Brenda and brothers David and Richard.

Before leaving Huntingdon Academy in 1949, John decided to follow in his father's footsteps, the latter being manager of Model Dye Works, Huntingdon. With this in mind, he gained practical experience in the textile industry by working at Leach Textiles Ltd. and with his father at Model Dye Works. Leaving Huntingdon in September, 1951, he enrolled in the Huddersfield Technical College, Huddersfield, Yorkshire, England, for a three-year course in textile technology. Having successfully passed his primary year, ranking second in a class of 30, John enters his second year September 15th.

It is understood that Huddersfield Technical College is one of the foremost technical schools in England. One other Canadian is enrolled, a student from Regina—others being from all corners of the globe, i.e.: Norway, Denmark, India, Greece, China, Italy, U.S.A., Sweden, South America—in fact, from all countries active in the textile industry. Classes are held six days a week, with Saturday afternoons and Sundays off. On week-ends John and a fellow-student from Turkey enjoyed cycling and organized sports. Evenings he attends night classes three times a week.

Trout River Serviceman Is Due Home

Sergeant William J. Smellie, son of Mrs. L. R. Smellie, Trout River, N.Y., and the late Mr. Smellie, was expected to arrive Saturday in Seattle aboard an Army transport from Tokyo. He has been serving in Tokyo since 1950.

A twin brother, Sergeant Robert Smellie, who served with the first Marine Division in Korea 14 months, arrived in the States last December. He is now stationed in San Francisco.

Both enlisted in the service, William in the Army and Robert in the Marine Corps, in August, 1949. They have not seen each other in two years.

Vacation Time Nearing Its End For Year

Gleaner Staff Reduced But Publication Printed As Usual

Well! well! here I am back on the job as your news editor for a couple of weeks. Two years have elapsed since the responsibility of officiating as the actual news editor has been my lot. Seems kind of good, and also refreshing, to be carrying on the work that Sidney Smith has been doing so faithfully. Sid is now having a vacation and we hope will be enjoyed, and that he finds himself refreshed when he comes back to his office on Labour Day prepared for the news writing of the Gleaner. Incidentally September will see the Gleaner enter its 90th year of publication and we intend to make a special effort to make the year a banner one in local newspaperdom.

This week may be a rather hectic one for the Gleaner staff that is on duty: for this week Albert Anloine, our foreman, Lucien Riel and Miss Margaret Templeton are also enjoying their holidays. Top editors of our French newspaper, La Gazette, Valleyfield-Beauharnois are on holidays. Lucien Piliatruil will be doing the extra chore in connection with La Gazette.

One might question the wisdom of having so many employees off on holidays at one time when the total staff numbers 35 hands. However, holidays are just as important to good workmanship as anything we know of, so it is well that everyone have a vacation before it becomes too late to expect perfect vacation weather to prevail.

After Labour Day it will be my turn to be away for a few days, and such will be used to attend the annual meeting of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association. Mrs. Sellar and I will leave Montreal on a special C.P.R. train in company with weekly publishers and their wives from all parts of Canada.

In short, activities outside the school are limited. With regard to life in England, John evidently adapts himself very easily to new conditions. Queried with regard to the food situation, he replied that "there is plenty to eat, but there isn't the variety we get here and it doesn't taste as good as I get at home." He also stated he misses the sunshine "there's lots of rain and fog—no one goes out without a raincoat—all year around."

The Spencer family spent the month of August at Lake St. Francis. Two weeks ago John swam across the lake—by no means a small feat. In all, he has greatly enjoyed his holiday but states he is looking forward to getting back to "the old grind" of study.

When he arrives in Prestwick, Scotland, on Saturday, John will travel by train to Huddersfield, Yorkshire. Although it hasn't been discussed, he hopes his father will arrange for him to come home next summer. In the meantime, The Gleaner joins in wishing him "bon voyage".

Many new special prizes are listed this year in addition to the large number listed in previous years. These are, of course in addition to the regular prizes for exhibits in the various classes and sections. No one has been left unturned in order to make this year's fair the biggest and best yet, both in the matter of exhibits and in entertainment for all.

The price of admission includes free admittance to seats on the grandstand at both points (Races and Arena). On Thursday afternoon children 12 years of age and under are admitted free of charge.

To enable the citizens of the town to attend the fair on Friday afternoon the Town Council has declared a civic holiday between the hours of 12.30 and 5 p.m. Plan now to attend Huntingdon Fair and assist the officials in their endeavours to make this annual event one that will be remembered through the years. Your patronage will be their greatest reward for their efforts.

Chateaugay Firemen Given Credit For Reduced Fire Insurance Rates

Huntingdon Band Aids Chateaugay in Presenting Excellent Celebration

Chateaugay Chamber of Commerce revived an old custom on Friday evening, August 15, through staging a celebration. The firemen's demonstration got off to a good start shortly after 7 o'clock. The main street was kept clear of cars in one area where the demonstration took place. This year the public voluntarily donated funds to the Fire Brigade so that they might purchase an auxiliary fire truck. This auxiliary truck carried several lengths of hose and a number of volunteer firemen. The feat was to have the car travel down the main street at high speed, stop at a hydrant and reel out three lengths of hose. As the hose was being unreeled firemen were running along side the truck with marked speed, coupling the hose and nozzle. Water pressure was turned on at the hydrant and directed at a target on Main Street. The drill with variations was repeated several times. Accurate records were kept and it was demonstrated that such a feat of connecting the three lengths of hose and the nozzle and the hydrant water pressure turned on could be accomplished in 21 seconds.

Volunteer Fire Brigades look upon this feat as a must, and at the same time a bit entertaining for the volunteers. At the Malone Fair this week 12 different fire companies are to compete in staging such a demonstration. It will undoubtedly prove to be exciting and entertaining and in the long run beneficial to the respective communities from which these fire brigades emanate.

The Chateaugay Volunteer Firemen boast a brigade with a membership of 24 under Fire Chief Gerald Hyland. The volunteers meet every two weeks at the Fire Station. At these meetings the attendance averages over 90%. This attendance shows marked interest in the welfare of the Brigade as well as Chateaugay, for these volunteers serve without remuneration. At one time Chateaugay paid the men $1. for every time they attended a meeting or a fire call and $1. per hour of service accorded at fires. The State Association ruled this payment to the men as out of order. Irrespective of this fact the volunteers have maintained a keen interest in the work.

So efficient has the Chateaugay Volunteer Fire Brigade proved itself, the Fire Underwriters have lowered the fire insurance rates, so that today one man who has been carrying $25,000 fire insurance can now carry $30,000 at no additional cost for insurance. It has been so many years since Chateaugay had a big fire, no one seems to recall just when it was.

Huntingdon Band Presents Program

To help out with the evening programme the Huntingdon Band, under the leadership of Don Moore, was present. As the 34 bandmen played almost continuously for an hour and a half, words of commendation were heard from all quarters. This band was started less than two years ago and is hanging up a very enviable reputation for itself. The band feature that pleased so many people was the fact that the music was played softly and that the repertoire was so varied, including popular music through the customary marches and semi-classical overtures.

Following the band concert a talent show, with Adams Chase as master of ceremonies, featured accordion selections and songs by Anne Hogan, two vocal solos by Helen Mahoney, a duet by Gerry Hyland and Frank Ryan, with Jim Ryan accompanying, two piano duets by Jim Ryan and Frank Ryan, and a trumpet solo by Donnie Daley.

Two Lads Hitch Hike For Vacation

John Beattie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Beattie, Huntingdon, and Freddie Sedgewick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Sedgewick, Garden City, left Huntingdon on Sunday about noon to start their vacation. They started their two weeks off by visiting Boston, Mass., reaching their destination on Monday evening. John telephoned his parents informing them of the record time they made, taking approximately 29 hours to travel 350 miles. In Boston they plan to spend the first week seeing the sights of the city and then hitch hike on to Old Orchard Beach for the second week.

When he arrives in Prestwick, Scotland, on Saturday, John will travel by train to Huddersfield, Yorkshire. Although it hasn't been discussed, he hopes his father will arrange for him to come home next summer. In the meantime, The Gleaner joins in wishing him "bon voyage".

Covey Hill Ladies' Aid Notes COVEY HILL—The regular monthly meeting of Wesley-Knox Ladies' Aid was held at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Semple, August 13, with a good attendance.

The worship period was conducted by the president, Mrs. Aaron Stewart. The usual business period followed. Plans were made for the Wesley Church Anniversary Service, to take place on Sunday, August 31, at 2:30 p.m., with Reverend Frank Gilmore, Westminster Central United Church, Montreal, as guest speaker and Mrs. Eric Arratt, of Valois, as guest soloist. During the afternoon, the ladies worked on a quilt and made articles for the bazaar.

The meeting closed with prayer. A social hour was then enjoyed. The next meeting will be held on Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 17, at the home of Mrs. Chas. Edward.

The Marcel Fortin Feed and Grain Mill at Hemmingford which not only proves to be an important asset to the village, but is highly valued by the farmers. The plant being so large, makes it possible to carry a heavy inventory of feeds and grain, thereby being able to assure the buying public a choice as to what they desire.

Round Byre AND Ring

By Frank Napier

"BLACK AND WHITE" DAY Oakley McRae, Raeburn Holstein Farm, Howick, and president of the Ormstown-Huntingdon Holstein Breeders' Club has sent us a few details regarding a recent meeting of the directors of that Club.

There was a good attendance of directors at that meeting, which was held in Secretary Leon Beauharnois' office (Quebec Department of Agriculture) in Huntingdon.

The chief topic under discussion was the "Black and White" (Holstein) Show which will be staged in connection with Huntingdon Fair (August 27 to 29). The directors decided to make use of some of the funds derived from last year's calf raffle, to augment the prize money at that show.

"In accordance with the regular procedure governing 'Black and White' shows the prizes at this year's Huntingdon 'Black and White' show will be paid on a 'per head' basis," writes Mr. McRae.

"That is, each animal will receive the same prize money irrespective of where it places in its class.

"In the case of the Huntingdon 'Black and White' Show, this will amount to $4.00 per entry in the senior and group classes, and $3.00 for each junior entry.

"As this is an increase over last year, it is hoped that it will encourage more breeders to bring out their cattle to this show," writes Mr. McRae.

The drawing for the Holstein calf offered by the Club will take place on the last day of Huntingdon Fair.

Some discussion ensued regarding the appointment of a district sales agent for the Live Stock Exhibits will be judged on Thursday, August 28, commencing 9:30 a.m. There will be the usual Live Stock Parade during the afternoon of Friday, August 29.

"RED AND WHITE" SHOW "So far no official announcement in that respect has been released, at least not to this writer, regarding the Howick-Huntingdon Ayrshire Club's Show. However, we understand that the first 'Red and White' Ayrshire show ever sponsored by that Club will be staged at Havelock Fair, on September 17, P.E.I. AND BACK

As has been noted elsewhere in this issue, after a trip of 2,200 motor miles, Gilbert MacMillan and Walter S. Brown, both of Huntingdon, arrived back home on Saturday evening, August 16. Their trip, in Gilbert MacMillan's car, took them through Drummondville to Lévis, from there to St. Lawrence, to Mont Joli, during which time they stopped off at Ste. Anne de la Pocatière to look over the Dominion Experimental Farm Ayrshire herd, of which farm J. R. Pelletier is Superintendent.

Also the herd at the College of Agriculture there, Canada's oldest established Ayrshire herd.

From Mont Joli they proceeded inland to the famous scenic Matapédia Valley of New Brunswick and through the same to Bathurst, Chatham, Shediac and Cape Tormentine. From the latter place they took the passenger-car-train ferry, across the Northumberland Straits to Borden, P.E.I., and from thence to Charlottetown, arriving there during the afternoon of Saturday, August 16, less than three days out of Huntingdon, having left there on Wednesday, August 6.

HAME FOLKS Shortly after they registered at the Charlottetown Hotel, they were visited by Dr. George W. Fisher with whom they also visited on several other different occasions and by whom they were also otherwise hospitably entertained.

Dr. George and Mrs. Fisher, were, at the time, "like hame folks" to Messrs. MacMillan and Brown. Dr. Fisher is of course well and favourably known in this district, having practised as a Veterinary surgeon for several years in Ormstown. He is now Chief Veterinarian of the Prince Edward Island Department of Agriculture. Mrs. Fisher is the former Miss McClenaghan of Ormstown, and she was a teacher at Elgin School, Huntingdon County, for several years.

As was related last week, the "Twa" Huntingdonians attended the Zion Presbyterian Church, in Charlottetown, on the Sunday, August 17, where the special preacher was the Rev. Alex. Nimmo of Wingham, Ont., formerly of Atholstan and Beauharnois. The Rev. Mr. Nimmo and Mrs. Nimmo spend their summer vacations on the mainland, in a summer cottage inherited by Mrs. Nimmo, during which time the Rev. Mr. Nimmo also fills in as a relief preacher at various Maritime Presbyterian Kirks.

They also met up during their stay with Douglas A. Ness of Burnside Farms, Howick, who was in Charlottetown to visit the Exhibition there.

During the Sunday afternoon they visited with Dr. and Mrs. Fisher and made several trips around the Island on the Monday. In between times, Gilbert MacMillan visited with the Provincial Ministers of Agriculture and their Deputies who had selected Charlottetown this year for their annual Inter-Provincial Ministerial conferences.

A BIG CHORE On Tuesday, Gilbert MacMillan had a big chore on his hands; judging the Ayrshire classes at Charlottetown Exhibition, which he completed in good time that day, and of which more anon. That evening he attended a gathering of the Prince Edward Island Ayrshire Breeders' Club at the Dominion Experimental Farm, nearby Charlottetown.

ACROSS N.B. AND N.S. On the Wednesday the "Twa Voyagers" crossed by boat from Charlottetown to Pictou, N.S. Originally they had planned to drive around Nova Scotia's Atlantic Coast to Digby and from thence by boat across the Bay of Fundy to Saint John, N.B. But they learned that, since they had not made a previous reservation, they might have to wait at Digby for three days for boat accommodation, on account of the heavy regular and tourist traffic.

However, they did start off to go to Cape Breton but the weather and fog was so bad that they decided to double back to Truro, N.S., where they spent the night. Next day they proceeded via Amherst, etc., in Nova Scotia, to New Brunswick. Passing through Sackville, Moncton, Sussex and Saint John they landed at St. Andrews-by-the-Sea, where they stayed over night. Their last lap was from St. Andrews and St. Stephen, N.B., through Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont.

H.H. AYSHIRES IN VERMONT En route they left the through highway to pay a short visit to Rudolph Pike at Cabot, Vermont. Says Gilbert MacMillan: "It is certainly a hillside farm, but it was the best farm we had seen during our trip across the New England states. We also saw a very fine herd of Ayrshire cows. Most of them either purchased in the Howick-Huntingdon Ayrshire district or were from dams purchased there."

lot of cattle. As good a lot of dairylike cows as one would see in any exhibition," says Gilbert MacMillan. The Grand champion male was the thirteen year old Glenarry, Ontario-bred Glenarry Bit o' Fashion which was featured in the August Review. He had previously been grand champion at Charlottetown in 1945-46-49-50-51-52, also grand champion at Amherst Winter Fair in 1949 and 1950. While he is a great show bull, his age notwithstanding, he has also earned an outstanding reputation as a sire.

There were 115 head of Ayrshires in the individual classes; therefore also heavy group classes at Charlottetown Exhibition. It therefore was that Gilbert MacMillan had a full-day chore. However, since the exhibitors and a group of the Ayrshire spectators met him afterwards at the Experimental Farm, it would seem that he was still a popular figure, after the judging with exhibitors and ringsiders alike. "It was a grand show of a grand Funeral Held For Drowning Victim Miss Lucienne Duval of 128 Cousineau St., Valleyfield, Que., drowned Sunday afternoon, August 10th, around 3:30 at Baie des Brises.

She was keeping herself afloat with a rubber tube about 3/4 of a mile from the shore together with her two brothers Lucien, Paul, and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Lucien Duval. Apparently the tube slipped, she tried to reach it, but sank into the water.

Hearing the distressed cries of Miss Duval, Misses Carmen and Hugette Lafreniere, 79 Viau St., and Miss Norma Lemieux, 231 St. Jean Baptiste St., Valleyfield, hurried to the spot with their boats. Misses Carmen and Hugette rescued Mrs. Lucien Duval who was in danger of drowning herself.

Synthetic Food Or Starvation? Since the dawn of history there has never been a moment when people were not dying from lack of food somewhere on the earth. So far, widespread famine has not threatened this country, but now that prospect is beginning to concern thoughtful men.

Within 25 years the land available for food production, in the United States alone, will be short of requirements by 23,000,000 acres. Where will the needed food come from, then?

The answer, says Jacob Rosin in the Reader's Digest, is to liberate ourselves from our age-old "bondage to the plant." We must cease to rely on growing food, and begin to manufacture it. In other words, synthesize food, as we have already synthesized perfumes, dyes, rubber and fiber.

Mr. Rosin, author of a forthcoming book called "The Road to Abundance," takes a new, fresh look at the whole concept of agriculture. In his article Rosin says: "Agriculture, as a gigantic food factory, is an industrial monstrosity." Its "floor space" is prohibitive; its manpower is staggering. Industry, unlike agriculture, goes on producing, rain or shine, all year 'round, and does in days what plants accomplish in months."

A factory efficiently bends its whole effort to producing the goods needed. But with a plant the product is usually incidental. How much of a wheat field goes into bread? How much of an apple orchard into apples? Man's job is to make the equivalent of wheat, leaving out the chaff and straw; to make the substance of the apple, omitting the wood and leaves of the tree.

It is all very well to synthesize rubber and clothing, Rosin says, but with synthetic food we run afoul of prejudice: a feeling that "natural" foods are better, or more wholesome, than "artificial" foods.

But the artificial foods are a mixture of chemical compounds, and often we make them "unnatural" by cooking or other processing.

The synthetic food of the future can taste as good as the "natural," and need not be like home pills. Carbohydrates, fats and proteins are the main elements, and all can be synthesized eventually. Already, a partial synthesis of fat has resulted in oleomargarine. Similar synthetic fats, could have been synthesized before now. But atomic research has claimed prior attention of science, and starch-bearing grains are so cheap that the economic incentive to synthesize starch has been minor. The protein problem resolves itself to a synthesis of the amino acids from which all proteins are formed.

Rosin asks: Why not start on this road to abundance now, before we are faced with starvation?

Fair Time In Huntingdon

NEXT Wednesday evening Huntingdon Fair will be opened with a parade and Band Concert and it promises to be one of the best that has ever been held here. There is no reason why Huntingdon should not have a real first class fair, but it must be supported by the general public in every way possible. To provide the entertainment that will be on the programme this year, costs money, that money must come from the patronage through gate receipts. The patron pays admission and there is no doubt he will get value for his money this year, that is all that can be asked. The officials of the fair are asking that you support their efforts to make Huntingdon Fair bigger and better in every way.

There has been no deterioration of the agricultural exhibits, in fact each year these have shown an increase. Several extra items have been added to this end of the Fair to make it more interesting to agricultural members. There is an enlarged list of special prizes to be competed for in addition to the regular prizes. To induce the attendance of the non-agricultural members considerable entertaining items have been added to the programme on both days and an extra night show has been included. The horse races will provide a large number with an interesting programme on Friday afternoon. Thus we believe that practically everyone, young and old, have been provided for in this year's event.

The recent planning of special shows for cattle has done much to stimulate interest among the various breeders and of course this is the primary business of the fair.

Fair visitors are always more or less interested in commercial exhibits and of machinery and we understand there will be a greater display of these this year. It is good advertising for those who sponsor these exhibits as persons have more time to give attention to them than on other occasions.

The number of exhibits, the interest of the exhibitors and the greater provision for entertainment, all have their parts in drawing the people to the fair. The patron expects to see something and expects to be entertained in doing so, if he isn't he loses interest and does not bother about future shows. We believe that this year, the patron will be well entertained throughout the entire three nights of Huntingdon Fair and will not be disappointed after having paid it a visit.

Tariff Rates Can Be Upsetting

JUST recently Japan has asked Canada to consider new tariffs on imports from Japan in order that that country can build up its markets in this country. Many of our manufacturing concerns in Canada are viewing the proposed negotiations with alarm. Considerable protest was raised a short time ago when Japanese textiles began appearing in this country in various forms and at much lower prices than those manufactured here.

While these goods did appear here and did sell at lower prices, neither the quality of the materials or the workmanship could be compared with the same kinds of goods manufactured here. Shirts for instance were made of a starchy material that gave appearance of giving good wear, but on the first washing were depleted to a quality resembling cheese cloth. The sewing was in long stitches which added speed to the completion, but not strength to the article and consequently soon fell apart. Yes, they were cheap and for some buyers they would prove attractive on account of this fact, but to the buyer who is looking for quality and good workmanship, such articles would not appeal. It depends upon which buyer the trade in Canada is catering to, the one who wants cheap and shoddy goods, or the one who wants good quality and long lasting goods. A good article will outlast a poor article and in buying the question to be decided is which is the cheaper in the end from a standpoint of economy overall. A good buyer will not buy from a price standpoint alone, but will weigh all the points against each other to decide the best buy from an economical view.

While manufacturing concerns may be worrying themselves about their chances if Japan succeeds in getting import tariff concessions, we believe they should place a little more confidence in their product and the public reaction to an inferior product. If Japanese goods equal our own in quality and workmanship and then sell at a lower price, then we shall have something to fear. Our experience in the past of Japanese made articles is, that they do not meet our quality standards in either workmanship or materials. We well remember Japanese toys being made out of tin cans that have been discarded as junk, but brightly painted with inferior paint which will fall off as soon as handled. If of the mechanical type, it was not long before the mechanism failed. Yes, they were cheap and thus were attractive from that point of view, but several would need to be bought for one of good quality and at slightly higher cost. Japanese chinaware was of very rough finish, but it was cheap. The buying public today is educated to better made articles and as long as the better goods are made, we believe the buying public will demand the quality product.

While we realize that these conquered countries must resume their trading with other countries, we do not think they should be given any special privileges that will injure our own trade. If their article should happen to be preferred and our own are left on the shelf, it could mean that a large number of our workers would soon be out of employment. Japan did not think too highly of us at one time and would have crushed us if she could, we should not now bend over backwards in giving too many privileges that may again react on our own people. If Japan has goods to offer that will compete with ours, then let those goods be on a basis of competition as to price and all things. The buying public will then be the judge as to which they will purchase. Sometimes we can get a little too soft for our own benefit.

Highways Out of Date

THERE is a depressing and frightening similarity in the news accounts of many highway accidents. All too often when a head-on crash is reported, and there are deaths and heavy property damage, it is told that one of the driver attempted to pass another vehicle only to meet an oncoming car, or that the passing was attempted on a curve, at the brow of a hill, or in some situation where it was apparent a clear view ahead was impossible. All too often neither driver lives to make the exact facts clear.

These avoidable crashes they can hardly be called accidents are mostly the result of a combination of circumstances which highway experts have seen coming for years. Yet, despite their frequency, and the gruesome details which usually accompany the news reports, it is apparent that many drivers will not pause to absorb the obvious lesson. It is simply: never pass another vehicle unless there is a clear and unobstructed view ahead.

The modern motor car has become a precision machine, capable of high speeds and quick acceleration. The average highway remains an old-fashioned horse-and-buggy road, often narrow and with blind curves and sudden dips and hills. It was never planned to carry the dense traffic of today, nor vehicles capable of the speed of the modern car. On the human side drivers have changed little and a great many seem incompetent, or refuse to accept the fact that they cannot drive today as they did years ago. They have not adjusted themselves to the split-second decisions and reactions now a necessary part of driving.

Many persons who have studied the problem have come to the conclusion that the modern car has outstripped both the efficiency of the roads and the human capacity to react quickly to the emergency.

Good Men Rather Than Good Fellows

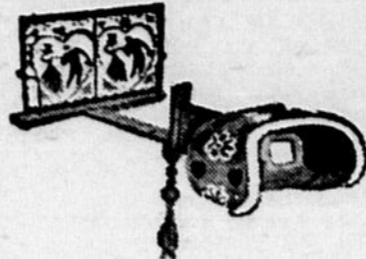

THE world in our days needs good men rather than good fellows, states The Orangeville Banner. A good man is the father of a family or the head of the house, who regards his home as the place nearest and dearest to his heart; and his children in proportion to their number, as the greatest reward of his life's love and sacrifice. The home is his club house, to which he owes his first loyalty in time and social intercourse.

This idea should be practised by men in general, more particularly by married men and heads of families. This method, it is true, will not gain for its followers the reputation of being "good fellows", but the character of a good man demands this course of conduct.

To be a good man is exceedingly more important than to be a good fellow. The tendency of the modern club house is to unmake the good man by turning him into a good fellow. Just now the world is groaning for leadership of good men, and moral conditions would be vastly improved were there less of the good fellow type.

Random Glimpses of The Past Taken From Gleaner Files

February 17 - Waded through drifts knee deep and face a north blast did not deter at least a couple of hundred villagers making their way to the N.Y.C. station yesterday morning to see the departure of the Klondike party. They were Norman McCrimmon, A. G. Henderson, Dentist Wells, Wm. McCallum, all of Huntingdon; D. W. Campbell, Laguerre; Terence Quinn, Newfoundland; Wm. S. Paddock, C. J. Paddock and Warren Lee, all of Malone. They each had two dogs and a large quantity of clothing. When the train pulled out a cheer was given. The company took the C.P.R. Colonist train yesterday afternoon and will reach Vancouver next week, where they will complete their outfit, and sail the first of March for Port Wrangell for they intend going by the Strickland route.

The vital statistics of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church in 1897 are as follows, compared with those of 1896:

	1896	1897
Baptisms	18	24
Marriages	7	4
Deaths	18	13

March 3 - A new Post Office was opened on will be kept by Mr. Smith and adds no cost to the government as the mail carrier to Clyde's Corners passes the door.

March 10 - Robert Macdougall whose career as a scholar has been watched with so much interest has been appointed instructor in moral philosophy at Harvard. There were 20 competitors for the post. Mr. Macdougall is a Huntingdon Academy boy.

March 24 - There is a fair demand for horses and prices continue to improve. 15 left last week for shipment to England.

April 14 - Ormstown—The site on the Presbyterian Church property has been chosen for the McDougall Hall. The contractor begins work next week.

May 12 - The contract for carrying the mail between here and Franklin

Centre has been awarded to J. R. Copland for $408 which is $1.30 for a daily trip of 35 miles. John Brown did not wish to get the contract again. During his time he gave every satisfaction, being punctual and never failing to make his trip if travel was at all possible.

June 9 - A small boy broke 28 panes of glass in Moir Hall the other day and last week another struck a pane in a window of the grist mill against which corn was stored, also leaving 14 bushes to run into the river before the break was discovered. The corn was recovered next day in a damaged condition.

June 23 - T. B. Pringle of this village has been gazetted provisionally 2nd lieutenant of the new troop and Corporal Alex. R. Copland, 2nd lieutenant of 2nd Co., 50th Batt., vice McCurdy. In No. 4 Co., D. P. Mcintosh replaces Munro as 2nd lieutenant.

A letter from Norman McCrimmon states that Quinn and Campbell of the Huntingdon Klondike party had started for Lake Teslin with as much of the baggage as the oxen could take. The other members of the party were waiting for McCrimmon whom they sent to Vancouver to buy pack horses and on his return with them they would follow for they were bound to see the Yukon country. Mr. McCrimmon reports all well and hearty. McCrimmon was at Vancouver and likely to return to Huntingdon.

June 30 - The first reduction in fares since the Grand Trunk opened was made last week. Single fares from Huntingdon to Montreal is now 1st class, $1.40, second class, $1.10. Return ticket good for one week only, $2.35.

Auctioneer Philips reports good ruling price for standing hay as $3 to $4 per acre. Mrs. McClenaghan, Ormstown, for 55 acres, received $155. The best sale was Thomas Cairns, Athelstan, when there was a good demand and $7 to $10 per acre obtained.

W. D. McCallum returned from the St. John's Monday evening hale and hearty. He describes the difficulties of the route to Klondike as such that he is doubtful if the Huntingdon party will reach its destination before next winter.

That Labor Cartel

(Editorial from St. Maurice Valley Chronicle)

Speaking at Louisville on July 21st to a group of strikers, Mr. Gaston Ledoux, M.P.P. for Shefford county and vice-president of the Catholic Workers' Federation made use of a term which interests us profoundly. He is quoted as saying that the "labor cartel of Quebec" was being mobilized to help the Louisville strikers and we wonder whether Mr. Ledoux realizes that his choice of the word "cartel" may have been more revelatory than he intended.

For "cartel" in French originally meant a provocation to a duel. The challenger addressed a "carta" or "cartello" to anyone from whom he desired to exact satisfaction. Was it in this provocative sense that Mr. Ledoux used the word, and in his challenge addressed to us all as consumers?

On the other hand, "cartel" in more modern usage derives from the German "kartell" and carries the accent on the last syllable. It also carries this definition (Encyclopedia Britannica 1946 edition) "a form of combination among manufacturers by which the independent firms and establishments in a particular trade or process contract to regulate their output and, in certain cases, their prices."

Was Mr. Ledoux, unwittingly perhaps, announcing that the entire labor force of Quebec has now formed itself into a combination to regulate the wages at which it will agree to work and the output its members will supply in return for such wages?

We wish Mr. Ledoux would elucidate this point, because the impression has been growing for some time that labour seeks to emulate those very practices of capitalist monopoly which are specially repressed and punished by our anti-trust laws.

The one big reason why the power of producing monopolies is limited by government is because "cartels" or trusts would otherwise control prices, to the detriment of consumers. If, as Mr. Ledoux seems to hint, there is now a labor "cartel" formed or in process of formation, should the government not investigate its activities to decide whether or not the consumer, that eternal sucker, is again destined to be its ultimate and inevitable victim?

So far as enterprise monopoly is concerned, it already faces heavy penalties for unfair methods against rivals. It is always plagued by competition, actual and potential, and must always operate against a deeply hostile attitude of courts, legislatures and the public.

But, as Henry C. Simon has pointed out in his "Economic Policy for a Free Society": "Labor monopolies are, now or potentially, a different kind of animal. - - - Once established, they enjoy an access to violence that is unparalleled in other monopolies. Governments - - - are nearly impotent to enforce laws against mass minorities and unions may deal with 'scabs' in ways which make even Rockefeller's early methods seem polite and legitimate. - - - This, we believe is what constitutes one dangerous difference between an enterprise monopoly and a labor cartel. In the latter case the 'access to violence' is ever-present, largely because the courts nowadays interpret the law with regard to strikes, picketing etc. with a laxity that is almost incredible. No one in their sane senses denies workers their right to free association and, ultimately, their right to strike if no other means of settling differences with their employers is available. But, since the relation between employer and employed is a contractual one, the worker's right to strike must also carry with it the corollary right of the employer to engage alternative labor, if such is available. To deny that right and to enforce that denial leads, inevitably, to violence in flagrant defence of our criminal law.

Many people are beginning to realize that the present high cost of living, which is proving disastrous to our whole economy, largely stems from the toleration and even encouragement of virtual labor monopolies. That we have failed to observe the general identity of interest between the whole community and enterprise seeking to keep down costs. The latter are merely intermediaries between consumers of goods and sellers of services, but there is an inevitable conflict of interest between every labor "cartel" and the community as a whole.

Any such "cartel" is, of course, in a position at any time to disrupt or stop the whole flow of social income and, as Simons points out, "our economic system must soon break down if any labor cartel persists in exercising that power or if they must be bribed to forego its disastrous exercise."

The trouble with most of our minority-monopoly problems is that governments have considered the interests of people rather than their interests as consumers. Since we are consumers, what is good for us must, in the long run, also be good for sellers of goods or services.

Is it not then high time that governments started looking at economic problems from the consumers' viewpoint and into the labor "cartel" which, Mr. Ledoux affirms, is now being brought into existence?

The Week At Ottawa...

OTTAWA, (CP)—Record wheat and barley crops were forecast Friday by the Bureau of Statistics as part of the bumper grain crops expected across the country this year.

The statisticians estimated a 656,000,000-bushel wheat crop and a 295,333,000-bushel barley crop. Several more weeks of warm weather are needed to ensure ample supplies of high-quality wheat, the Bureau said. A change in weather or other difficulties could cut harvests sharply.

The wheat estimate is more than 100,000,000 bushels more than last year's crop and well above the previous record of 567,000,000 bushels in 1928. The Bureau said wheat acreage is 25,994,000 up from the 25,254,400 acres planted last year. But most of the increase was expected to come from a higher yield—estimated at 25.2 bushels to the acre as against last year's 21.9.

The oats crop was estimated at 465,668,000 bushels, down from last year's 488,191,000, the rye crop at 24,911,000 up from 23,000,000 last year, and the flaxseed crop at 12,996,000, up from 9,897,000.

Barring weather or other difficulties, western grain farmers can expect almost an embarrassment of riches. The embarrassment may come in a glut of normal storage space.

Quiet Campaigning - Political Ottawa pricked up its ears last week as the leaders of the Liberal and Progressive Conservative parties got off to a slow start on what was seen as the start of campaigning for an expected general election next year.

Both Prime Minister St. Laurent and Opposition Leader George Drew made their first moves in Quebec, where federal by-elections were called for Oct. 6 in two ridings—Montreal-Ormeau and Richelieu-Vercheres.

Later Mr. St. Laurent plans a trip to British Columbia—a tour billed primarily as a non-political affair but with strong political implications.

Plenty of other news kept the capital stirring during the week. Defence Production Minister Howe announced moves to strengthen noon at the home of Mrs. E. M. Wood. During the work period the ladies worked on quilt blocks. Refreshments of sandwiches and coffee were provided by the members were served by the hostess. Proceeds of meeting, $9.20.

Mrs. W. McHardy is at present a patient in the Barrie Memorial Hospital, having undergone an operation on Tuesday.

Service in the United Church was cancelled on Sunday. Guest preacher for next Sabbath will be Rev. Eades of St. Lambert.

Threshing operations in this district are well along.

Recent guests of Mrs. Carl Ewing were Mr. and Mrs. Selleck, Harrisburg, N.Y., Miss Mae Coggin, Chateaugay, N.Y.

Covey Hill

COVEY HILL—A letter was recently received by Mr. W. R. Perry from Mrs. Brown of High River, Alta., who, before her marriage, was Miss Catherine MacDiarmid Wilson, daughter of the late James Brown, who operated a general store at Havelock Corners, N.S. Mr. Brown, who went West in 1912, mentions that in High River, about 40 miles from Calgary, they burn natural gas and are only a short distance from oil wells. To the west lies ranching country where the Duke and Windsor's ranch is situated.

Mr. Bert Allen is reported better of the injury he received when his milk truck got out of control owing to a bent spring.

Mr. McFarlane's friends are glad to see that he has been greatly benefited by his vacation at Knowlton, Que.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Lochead, who have been living in Havelock for several months, have left to reside in Nova Scotia, planning to make the trip on their bicycles.

Mr. Gordon McLennan of Montreal visited his cousins, Mr. Willie and Miss Vickie Sempie last week.

Mrs. James Watt and her sister, Mrs. David Patton from Masspath, Long Island, are attending camp-meeting at Burke, N.Y.

Dr. and Mrs. Walter Gow and little daughter Janet have left by plane on a trip to Nova Scotia where they will spend their vacation with the doctor's family.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Cole who have been holidaying at Grand Isle, Vt., paid a visit to Miss Cole at The Lilacs.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Labelle of Ormstown and their guest, Mrs. W. E. Sutton, motored to the Hill and visited friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Myer of Ottawa are spending his vacation with relatives here. Mr. Myer continues to take an active interest in horticulture and has a keen eye for the harmonious arrangement of floral colours.

TABLES TURNED

CARROT RIVER, Sask. (CP)—Farmers in the Petajain district are planting trees again this year. Since homesteading days the farmers have been trying to get rid of trees, but now they are replacing them with maples, poplar, willows and even some fruit trees.

Britain's defence and financial situation. Finance Minister Abbott gave final figures on the government's surplus in the last fiscal year and a Czechoslovak Communist official in Canada was given haven here when he didn't want to send his family back to his Red-ruled homeland.

Political Tours - Mr. St. Laurent, on vacation for most of the time since Parliament rose early in July, left his St. Patrick, Que., summer home for a week-end trip into the industrial towns of Quebec's booming Saguenay Valley. He planned to meet a lot of people and make several speeches. Mr. Drew got off to a faster start with a two-day tour of three Montreal-area ridings at the end of the week. The Progressive Conservative leader also planned a four-day tour starting the end of this week of two ridings in Quebec's Eastern Townships as well as the Quebec City area.

However, it was Mr. St. Laurent's impending trip to British Columbia in 1949 before an election date was named, which really touched off the election campaign that year.

Originally planned as a brief visit to the Vancouver meeting of the Canadian Bar Association, it has mushroomed out into a sort of whistle-stop tour. It leaves little doubt that the 70-year-old Quebec lawyer intends to lead the Liberal party in the next general election.

The election is generally expected to come in the fall of 1953. It was Mr. St. Laurent's spring tour of B.C. in 1949 before an election date was named, which really touched off the election campaign that year.

Trade With Britain - Production Minister Howe announced Canada will send the United Kingdom as a gift about $150,000,000 worth of armament under mutual aid. In addition she will buy about $100,000,000 worth of defence equipment from British factories and provide another $70,000,000 in capital assistance to help some key U.K. defence plants establish in Canada.

Mr. Howe, who is also Trade Minister, denied an editorial statement of the influential Manchester Guardian that Canada has little concern with Britain's need to sell more goods to the dollar markets of Canada and the United States.

"In fact," he said, "the Canadian government is prepared to do more for the U.K. than for any other country in the world. We would do almost anything to help balance U.K. trade."

In buying defence equipment, Mr. Howe said, Canada would prefer to buy from Britain than from the U.S.—provided British manufacturers can match U.S. prices and promise speedy delivery.

Well in the Black - A final Treasury Board report showed that Finance Minister Abbott overestimated his 1951-52 budgetary surplus by more than $100,000,000.

The Board's surplus figure for the year ending last March 31 was $248,000,000—lower by $108,000,000 than the amount estimated by Mr. Abbott in his budget speech last April 8. But it was still more than eight times greater than the $30,000,000 forecast a year earlier.

The Finance Minister has forecast the surplus for the present fiscal year at $9,000,000.

Canada Looks Better - An Iron Curtain diplomat who came to Canada in 1948 as a Communist and worked since then for a Red government, decided that Canada is preferable to his homeland.

The government announced that after "appropriate research" into his case, it will give political asylum to Dr. Jiri (Georges) Mares, his wife and three children. He designed as Czechoslovakian consul-general in Montreal when his government in Prague suggested he should go home on vacation and take his three daughters.

Other foreign officials in Canada have previously renounced Communist governments and been taken in by Canada. Most important of these defections was in 1948, when the Reds took over Czechoslovakia, when that country's Minister to Canada, Dr. Frantisek Nemeš, and most of his staff quit rather than serve a Communist government.

PITCHING PHENOM

"Ace" Holden held all the aces in his hand or up that right sleeve of his in the game with the Orms-town District All-Stars Friday night, when he showed some 800 awed spectators how the game should be pitched.

The lesson will be long remembered for 18 of our "best in the league" batters went down swinging at a ball that acted like a scared jack-rabbit. No need to hang your head in shame boys, for he has fanned 397 batters in 187 innings of league play in much faster company, that is an average of 2.1 strike-outs per inning, some twirling.

At times Holden retreated to second base to pitch strikes, and Mae West never had curves like that, at times they nearly circled the batter.

No one envies Maurice O'Connor behind the bat receiving those pitches which have been timed at over 100 miles per hour. How can a batter hit a ball he can't see? The Landriault brothers, who are as alike as two peas in a pod, were the entire infield and outfield for the Rockets, and they weren't over-worked.

Oakley McRae and Jimmy Leahy shared the All-Stars pitching duties, allowed nine hits, fanned four Rockets and walked six between them. Outfield errors on the part of the All-Stars were mainly responsible for the six runs obtained in the third inning by the Rockets.

"Punch" Soucy got the first All-Star hit, a double in the second but was left on when three of his mates whiffed. Bill Bernhardt and Freddy Primeau both singled in the fourth but the home run by Walter McCallum came up with his twelfth strike-out. "Babe" Primeau singled and Paul Derepenigny walked in the fifth frame and suffered the same fate when the next three All-Stars fanned.

In the top of the seventh, Andy Oceanas drew a base on balls, Babe Primeau popped to short then Paul Derepenigny caught the Rockets out of position when he homered to right field scoring Oceanas ahead of him. Jimmy Leahy went out, Holden to Landriault, Walter "Squirt" McCallum waited, for what seemed a week, for one of "Ace's" slowballs and slammed it out for a triple and was left on third when Bill Bernhardt ended the game by doing what 17 All-Stars had done before him, he fanned.

The All-Stars were made up of the following players: From Franklin: Jim Leahy, Glen Waller, Jim Breza, and Andy Oceanas. From Orms-town: Fred Primeau, Babe Primeau, Punch Soucy and Marcel Soucy. From Hocking: Bob Ness and Oakley McRae. From Huntingdon: Walt McCallum, Bill Bernhardt, Lucien Moniqui, Rene Senecal and Paul Derepenigny.

The Rockets' line-up reads like this: Maurice O'Connor, John Landriault, Paul Landriault and Ace Holden. Morrow replaced one of the Landriault freres in the fifth.

R H E All-Stars 000 000 2 2 6 4 Rockets 000 316 000 x 10 9 0 Umpires: Myles Tillotson, John Erisebuck and Ken Walsh.

the Home's Rockets are scheduled to appear in Hemmingford on the 29th.

USE TOMATOES FOR VARIETY

One point of controversy for years has been: "Is the tomato fruit or vegetable?"

While tomatoes are in season, use them fresh in salads or pack some in the picnic basket or lunch pail to eat out of hand.

Stuffed tomatoes are always a delicacy. Cut them in half, then scoop out the centres and fill with a tasty stuffing.

MAX FACTOR MAKE-UP Smith Pharmacy 28 E. Main St. MALONE, N.Y.

ments both the flavour and the colour of the tomato. Egg salad, made by combining chopped pickle, diced green pepper, diced celery and chopped hard-cooked eggs with salad dressing is another delicious filling.

Tomato fan-tans are most intriguing. To make them, slice tomatoes vertically not quite through in slices about one-quarter of an inch thick, then insert slices of cucumbers or deviled eggs between the tomato slices.

Fresh, vine-ripened tomatoes are delicious cooked. To broil them, cut the tomatoes in slices about one inch thick, season and top with buttered crumbs, grated cheese or deviled ham and broil the slices until tender, about ten minutes.

Then there is that tongue twister that goes "Eat what you can and what you can't eat, you can". This suggestion really makes sense these days if you apply it to tomatoes—use as many fresh ones as possible but also make some tomato juice, tomato soup, catsup or plain canned tomatoes.

When canning tomatoes, the home economists suggest the Cold Pack Method to keep the shape as much as possible. This is it. Wash firm ripe tomatoes, then dip them, a few at a time, in boiling water for 15 to 60 seconds. Immediately give them a second dip in cold water, then remove the stem ends and peel. This blanching, as it is called, makes it easier to peel the tomatoes without tearing into their flesh.

Tomatoes, particularly the firm fresh varieties, take longer processing than most fruits. Allow 30 minutes processing time for small sealers or 20 ounce cans and 35 minutes for medium quart sealers or 28-ounce cans.

Incidentally, when canning tomatoes or tomato juice in tin cans, use only the plain cans.

Wedding

BAYLAKE-BENOIT

St. Joseph's Church at Huntingdon, Que., was the scene of a pretty wedding on Saturday, August 2nd, at 9 o'clock when Leo Baylake, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Baylake, of Chateaugay, N.Y., took as his bride, Miss Rejeanne Benoit, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Romeo Benoit, of Huntingdon. Father Pigeon officiated the nuptial mass and performed the wedding ceremony.

The new matron chose for her wedding a white lace cocktail dress with veil and carried a bouquet of white roses. Her maid of honor, Miss Ghislaine Benoit wore an orchid cocktail length dress with veil and corsage of white roses.

After a short honeymoon in Montreal, the newlyweds will make their home at Camp Ritner, N.J., until Mr. Baylake returns to overseas duty.

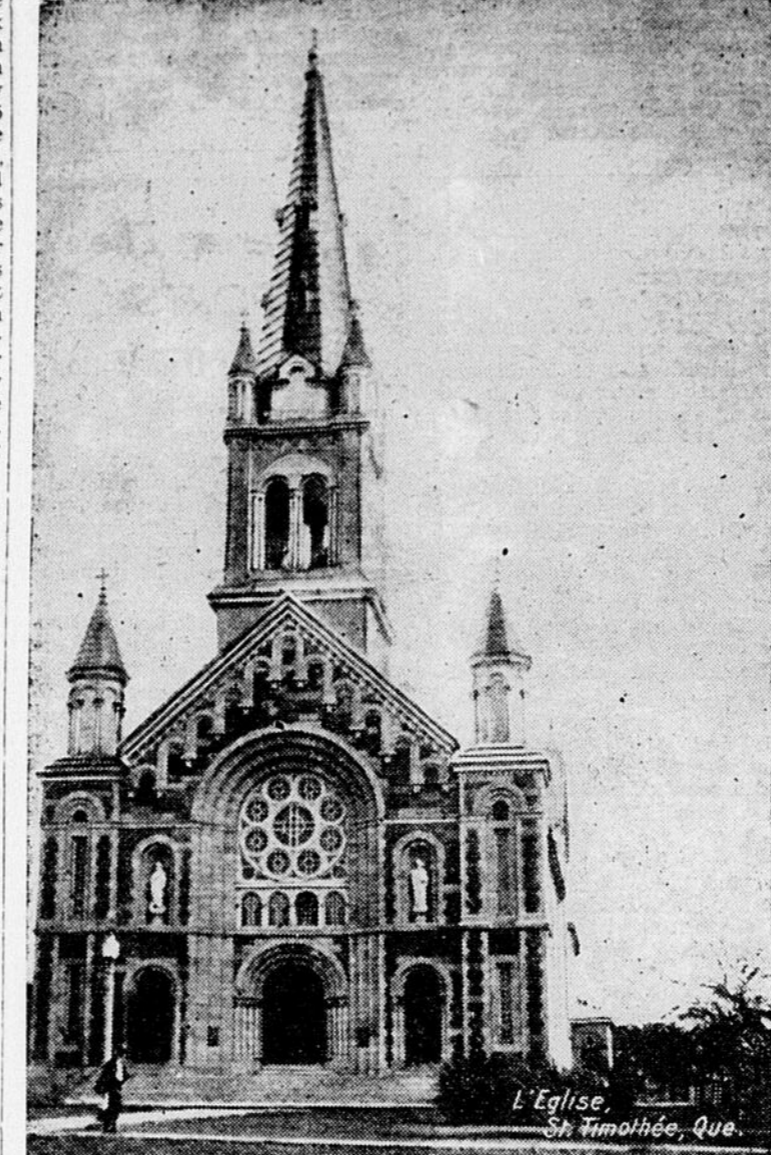

Hemmingford

HEMMINGFORD — Miss Alice Draper of Cowansville and Mr. H. Foster Draper of Geraldton, Ont., were recent guests of their aunt, Mrs. M. B. Fisher, of Granby.

Mr. and Mrs. James Stratton have returned to their home in Windsor, Ont., where they have resided for thirty years. His mother celebrated her 85th birthday on August 13th.

L'Église St. Timothée, Que.

How many of our readers were able to identify the photos in last week's quiz? The top photo was a view of St. Anicet Roman Catholic Church at St. Anicet, Que.

These pictures are published in the Gleaner with the thought of increasing your knowledge of this district. All you have to do is to identify the pictures and wait until the next issue to determine whether your guess was correct.

In this week's quiz the top photo is once again a church. Can you tell what church it is and where it is located? The home in the lower picture is one of the more prominent in the district and is well known to not only those living near it, but also by many others.

The local Boy Scouts have returned from their summer camp, voting it a huge success. Jim Laurie and Bob Petch supervised and made it a success.

gratified to see the Burnside-bred bull, Burnside Prince Edward, head the two-year old bull class for Almon Wood & Son. That bull, by Burnside Future Hope and from Mullincourt Empress, is a full brother of the herd sire at Terrace Bank Farm of J. E. Ness & Sons and also of one of the sires at the St. Hyacinthe Artificial Insemination Centre.

Burnside Prince Edward also sired the first junior set of sire group which included both the junior champions.

ALSO CHERRY BANK — A group of cows—one of them 9 years of age and the other three 11 years of age—again headed the R.O.P. group of cows, as they had done on several different occasions, as also at Amherst Winter Fair. Bred by Keith Boswell & Sons, their sire was Cherry Bank Steadfast, by Alta Crest Winter Royal and from Cherry Bank Royal Gem 2nd. The sire having been bred by P. D. McArthur & Son, Howick. Says Gilbert MacMillan: "These cows are remarkable for their wonderful appearance and wearing qualities, especially so considering that their average is 10 1/2 years."

SPUDS GALORE — The potato fields, for which P.E.I. is famous, made a beautiful sight, said Gilbert MacMillan. He understands, however, that the acreage under cultivation this year is less than last year. He also made favourable comments regarding the appearance of the potato crop in New Brunswick. As a whole, he said, the farm crops in the Maritimes are very good indeed.

Walter S. Brown must certainly have heard a lot about and seen a lot of Ayreshires during his trip with Gilbert MacMillan. However, says the latter, "Walter Brown made a most pleasant companion throughout the entire trip."

TOUGH LESSON — WINNIPEG (CP)—Seven-year old Wayne Joynt learned the hard way that it's dangerous to touch loose wires. He picked up a wire lying near a new lamp standard and passed by saw a flash of blue light and heard the boy scream. He suffered only burnt fingers however and after hospital treatment was able to go home.

"That Man Who Lives Here" A Poor Label For Fathers

The five-day week with Saturday at home is heralded by Dr. Robert O. Jones, Dalhousie University's professor of psychiatry, as a boon to happier family living. Writing in the current issue of HEALTH, Dr. Jones suggests that with fathers having more time away from work they may learn that their children are real personalities in their own right; and the children, in turn, may come to know their fathers as more than "that man who lives here."

All this is very much to the good, adds the psychiatrist—"It's only by patterning themselves after adults they know and like that children learn to be grown-up men and women capable of fitting into family relationships.

"Too often in our society the father has been the person who leaves home early in the morning and doesn't come back until late at night. This means that the son is raised almost entirely by his mother, and then is usually handed over to a sequence of women school teachers. In the formative years of their lives many boys have no man to pattern themselves on until they reach adolescence. And by the same token, the daughter experience of what men are really like. "This absence of the father is certainly a serious handicap to our social development and it prepares children badly for the important job of family living," continues the Health League of Canada magazine article. "Many fathers now have Saturday free from work," Dr. Jones notes. "How about making it father's family day before some commercial or social outfit sets about claiming it for less profitable purposes? It would do a great deal for the man in the home often has little

OLD TIMERS' GAME Lachine vs H'don-Ormstown Saturday, August 23

Huntingdon Fair Grounds at 8.30 p.m.

Covering The Sports Continued from page 5 close 7-6 score. Paul Derepenigny suddenly switched from behind the bat to the firing line, and turned in his first pitching victory of his career, and probably his last.

Howick failed to score in the first, but Merchants tallied two in their half then Bill Bernhardt blasted a triple scoring Moniqui and Bill crossed the plate on "Humphrey" Brooks' single. Howick came right back in the top of the second with four hits and four runs. Cliff Reddick singled and Keith Robb followed suit, Orr walked, Larry Cowper cleaned the bases with a double and scored later on Bob Ness' single, putting Howick ahead 4-2.

Howick hit the scoring column again in the top of the fourth when Junior Tennant scored after getting a one-base hit followed by a walk to Oakley McRae and Bob Ness hit into a fielder's choice, scoring Tennant.

Huntingdon (if we may mention it) came back with a couple in their half when Paul Derepenigny and Moniqui singled and both scored on Jon Proudfoot's scratch single. Don't forget, Howick was still leading 5-4, and increased it by one more in the top of the fifth, Cliff Reddick singled for the second time and crossed the plate on an infield error.

The Merchants did their worst but still managed to keep within striking distance by Paul making the sad mistake of accepting a base-on-balls and was pushed across the plate by Moniqui's single. "Monk" didn't mean to do it, it was an accident.

No more scoring until the last of the seventh, Brooks and Johnny Brisebois got a couple of lucky base-hits and, we are sure that Louis Derepenigny did not want to spoil the ball game for Howick, but he inadvertently put his bat in front of one of McRae's offerings and batted in Brooks and Brisebois, and the game was over, 7-6 for Huntingdon, and still none out.

HOWICK: B. Ness, O. Ness, Morrison, Reddick, Robb, Orr, Another Ness, Cowper, Tennant, Templeton and McRae. HUNTINGDON: Moniqui, Proudfoot, Bernhardt, Brooks, Brisebois, (J.) L. Derepenigny, Laberge, P. Derepenigny, Lefebvre.

Umpires: Droust and Patenaude. LEAGUE STANDING The schedule is practically at an end, there remains one postponed game between Huntingdon and Ormstown, which, if played, might affect the final standings as far as the play-offs are concerned. Howick has lodged a protest against their game with Ormstown played on the 25th of July, over a base-umpire's decision. We sat in at the league meeting on Monday night and it seems like a deadlock as far as the two teams in question are concerned.

League President, George Renaud decided, that, if Ormstown should defeat Huntingdon in their postponed game, which would put Howick in a position to tie the Ormstown, suggested that, if this took place, the Howick-Ormstown game should be re-played. Ormstown practically took the methods of Stalin by refusing to have anything to do with that idea, and said they would forfeit both games, this would force a tie for the fourth position and require a play-off to see which team would be in. As we remember the League meeting, held in Howick on June 16th, it was clearly stated that each team was to post a bond as a guarantee of good faith, to finish the season, this was published on page four of the Gleaner of June 18th. What happens now? Anyway, here it is to date.

Huntingdon 11 9 2 818 Hemmingford 12 7 5 583 Ormstown 11 5 6 435 Franklin 12 5 7 417 Howick 12 3 9 250

It was later decided that Huntingdon will play Ormstown on Wednesday, August 20th.

Strong Support From West—Cheese Industry Will Lag

The first $100,000 mark has been reached in the Dairy Farmers of Canada's 1952 June Advertising Set-Aside, according to an announcement from the national headquarters of the organization. Returns are now being received at a faster pace and officials are optimistic that, despite the depressed condition of some sections of the industry, this year's total will exceed last year's $304,000. Finalization of the 1951 Set-aside returns shows that Alberta was the only province to set-aside 100 per cent of its possible total. It is expected that Alberta will equal last year's record and that other western provinces will show an increase this year. It is anticipated that the set-aside from the cheese section

Pumping Station On Big Pipeline Works By Itself

EDMONTON, Aug. (CP)—Imperial Pipeline Company's newest pumping station does just about everything but talk.

Located four miles west of Ellerslie and about five miles south of Edmonton, it is designed as Canada's first fully automatic oil pumping unit.

At present, one man is on duty at the pumping station at all times. When special radio equipment is added later this year, the station will be left to its own devices.

The new automatic unit enables greater pipeline "through-put" than was possible using only pumps at the individual pumping stations. Starting, stopping and operation of the station is entirely automatic. When the volume of oil was passing through the main pipeline reaches a certain peak, the station automatically turns itself on and boosts crude oil along the route to Edmonton.

Imperial intends to install a radio transmitter which will send a signal in case of trouble. Thus the pumping station will make up its own mind as to when it should go to work and when it has done its required duty each day. If anything goes wrong, it will be equipped to "cry" for help.

Officials believe the automatic pumper will be particularly valuable during the winter. In case a heavy snowfall isolates the pumping unit, it can be left unattended for days and oil will continue to be pumped to the Edmonton refineries and on to the Great Lakes.

Another Corn Enemy

OTTAWA—The breaking over of corn stalks just above the ground has become serious in many areas of Southwestern Ontario during the past two years. This breaking occurs late in the season, usually after mid-October, and hence is not a problem in early harvesting corn. In corn fields, which are badly broken over, not only does mechanical harvesting become difficult but ears may be brought in contact with the soil greatly increasing their chances of rotting.

Stalk breaking which occurs late in the fall is caused by a stalk rotting organism rather than the corn borer, says C. G. Mortimore, Experimental Station, Harrow, Ontario. This organism only does its damage under cool, moist conditions which allows the plant to break over. The organism causing this condition has been determined as one of the Pythium species and possibly the same organism that causes seedling blight under adverse weather conditions in the spring.

Since the organism causing this particular stalk rot is soil borne, the best means of controlling the disease is through the use of resistant hybrids. Unfortunately no marked differences have been detected between the hybrids popular in Canada today.

A program is underway at the Harrow Experimental Station in an effort to isolate corn inbreds resistant to this stalk rotting organism. Tests will also be conducted to determine whether any of our present day hybrids are tolerant to this disease.

WHERE THERE'S A WILL THERE'S A WAY

Out of difficult situations. The very informative address on "Trust Companies and Wills" given by Col. I. P. Rexford at a recent Rotary Club meeting and reported in the Gleaner, has served as a pointed reminder to many readers.

The important matter of making a Will should not be neglected by anyone. By married women especially even if they possess nothing in their own names, no bonds or bank account, and as in most cases, no pre-arranged marriage contract.

Any man or woman, married or single can only leave a legacy of trouble and bitterness in failure to make a record of personal or other assets, stating who they wish to inherit, with date, place and signature at the bottom. This is known as a holograph will and must be in person's own handwriting and does not require a witness. This is a precaution where an opportunity or inclination to make a formal will is lacking. It should be filed with birth certificate, marriage certificate and other valuables, or with a trusted friend or relative. Motor car accidents, pictured each day should be a sufficient reminder to the most careless or negligent people.

A discussion this week revealed the case of a deaf and dumb, but thrifty, labourer who save up ten thousand dollars and old and feeble he was automatically deprived of a considerable sum of enforceable claims of indigent relatives of his wife, who died suddenly. The same thing happened in reverse to the wife of a retired farmer who died from a sudden heart attack. After a lifetime of hard labor she also had little left to face old age and loneliness. Both couples were childless, but a simple handwritten Will would have secured their savings to the survivor.

LEGAL PROTECTION

Persons who have enough "will power" and aggressive instincts can usually depend upon to seek legal advice and make formal Wills. But the facts, showing negligent behaviour by the so-called "intelligent" characters, if revealed, would be astounding.

The wide powers to render services given to Trust Companies offers a solution to a problem that deters many otherwise cautious individuals from mustering courage enough to face the fact that death is inevitable. A Trust Company may take over the administration of an estate and act as trustee in protecting dependants, where no competent relative or friend can be found to assume such duties. Worry and uncertainty about this situation is a frequent cause of failure to make a Will. To be sure, Trust Companies charge fees, but this is a better prospect than the possibility of your worst enemies legally depriving dependants.

There ought to be more articles and discussions (I've taken part in four in the past few days in different groups) on this subject and less furtive and reticent behaviour in families on matters involving inheritance, management of money and other assets.

WELCOME SOCIAL CONTRACTS

Mrs. Rexford accompanied her husband and was entertained by Mrs. Adam Sellar at a luncheon at the Rod & Gun Club, Port Lewis. Mrs. Rexford expressed her delight with the trip to Huntingdon in a charming letter.

A letter from Colonel Rexford to Adam and the Rotary Club was just as enthusiastic. It is very satisfying to know that mutual enjoyment was shared by the visitors, the Rotary Club, and tangible benefit conferred on readers of the Gleaner who welcome valuable information and suggestions.

PEOPLE AND NEIGHBORS

Mr. and Mrs. Charles White, Montreal, have purchased the old Ryan home and five acres of land on Route 52, near Hemmingford. This energetic couple are very busy renovating the interior, removing partitions and building a fireplace. Mr. White is an English-Irishman with Barclay's Bank. Mrs. White, an interior decorator with professional standing, brought some favorite antique furniture from her Minnesota home. They have decorated the upper rooms during week-end trips. Attention now centred on enlarged living and dining room and completing fireplace, on which a seven foot marble mantle piece is to repose. Crates and boxes of other treasures are waiting to be placed. Over the dining table hangs a beautiful brass chandelier for candles. While Mrs. White is reconstructing this country-home-annex to gracious living, English style, she divides her energy and talent with the conduct of a Gift Shop at Point Claire.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Hatton and Mr. and Mrs. Adam Sellar are planning to travel with Weekly Newspaper Association members to the Annual Meeting at Algonquin Hotel, St. Andrews-by-the-Sea, N.B., next week. A timely article on St. Andrews by Ian Sclanders in Maclean's Magazine for Aug. 15th, is of historical and human interest. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hurst and two children of Toronto, were recent guests of his aunt, Mrs. Norman McCrimmon. A dull morning brought only four cars of Grange members to the home of Jim Smith at Chateaugay Lake, but the sun came out and a very enjoyable picnic party resulted. With the Bert Rankins was Raymond Cooper to bid goodbye to Uncle Jim. Raymond is leaving this week from Toronto with R.C.A.F. Radio group for duty at Whitehorse, Yukon.

Dewittville

present. Nylon Products consisting of brushes, dishes and many other articles were ably demonstrated by Miss Hazel Henderson.

Dainty refreshments were served at the close.

Dr. Mary Winstear, Principal of Weston School for Girls in Montreal, was a guest of the Cattoos on Sunday. She was on her return trip from the West where she had spent her holidays.

Recent visitors with their aunt, Mrs. Selma Humberg, were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Tannenbaum of Wilmington, Delaware.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Lowden, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Royal Gamble, their son Arthur and granddaughter Edna Forrester motored to Sutton and other points in the Eastern Townships over the week-end.

Mrs. J. Lynn Pflug and her children, J. Lynn II and Jo-Ann of Winter Park, Florida, have returned home after a vacation spent with Mrs. N. Catto. Mrs. Pflug was a class-mate of Mrs. Catto's at the Royal Victoria Hospital.

Mrs. Ernest Tobias of Montreal, was with her friends, the Humberg families for the week-end.

Nitro

Mr. and Mrs. H. Coleman and son Terry spent a two-week holiday at Maxville, Ont., visiting their families and friends.

Mrs. C. Wilson is visiting friends and relatives in Malone. Mr. Cliff Robinson has returned to Chicoutimi after visiting his wife and children at 19 Purvis.

Maple Leaf Grange

The Maple Leaf Grange have decided to conduct a refreshment stand at Huntingdon Fair. William Graham, Allan Hunter and Mrs. Roy Goddellow are on the committee. Members are expected to help the committee in serving according to convenience and are to contact the master, Charles McKenzie, in charge.

In the cinnamon bun baking contests first prize was awarded to Mrs. Wilfred Kelly and second to Miss Hattie Shearer.

The annual meeting will be held at the September meeting.
