Capture Of Strategic Span Opens Way To Relief Of Airborne Troops: 100,000 Nazis Trapped In Holland

Canadian Troops Have Entered Netherlands After Skirting Eastern End of Leopold Canal While Others Are Engaged in Cleaning Out Remaining German Pockets Around Tooting Boulogne.

By JAMES M. LONG,
Associated Press War Correspondent
London, Sept. 21.—(P)—British 2nd Army tank troops and Allied sky soldiers have captured intact the mile-and-a-half-long Nijmegen Bridge in a raging twenty-four hour battle in Holland. They thus broke open a path to the relief of a pocket of air-borne troops locked today in a grim fight for life near Arnhem, eight miles north.

The Germans counter-attacked by land and bombing from the air in a desperate attempt to save their historic river defence line, but some of the Western Front's hottest fighting virtually set the seal of doom on perhaps 100,000 enemy troops caught in Western Holland.

The whole fate of the Germans' Ruhr Valley and the safety of their entire northern flank was turning on the outcome of this first victory and the unfolding of a second battle about to take place for control of the crossings of the northern branch of the Dutch Rhine at Arnhem.

As Lt.-Gen. Dempsey's armor raced across the Waal, largest branch of the Dutch Rhine, toward the north, units of Lt.-Gen. Breton's Allied 1st Air-borne Army—believed to be Americans—apparently were hanging on grimly to positions astride the doorstep of the Ruhr.

The Germans declared the entire 1st British airborne division was "largely wiped out" in the Arnhem area, but it was believed Americans were holding firmly to positions on both sides of the northern branch, and were possibly holding at least one crossing.

Canadian troops have entered the Netherlands after skirting the eastern end of the Leopold Canal, while others still are engaged in cleaning out remaining German pockets around Tooting Boulogne.

Although 6,000 prisoners already have been taken there, some Germans still are putting up stiff opposition, Canadian Press War Correspondent William Stewart reported today.

Map shows where Allied First Air-borne Army and British Second Army ground troops have joined forces in Holland to take Eindhoven, and another wave of paratroopers are reported to have landed north of the Rhine delta, near Rotterdam. To the south Americans are edging forward against tough enemy resistance in the Prum, Trier and Belfort areas. Arrows indicate possible future thrusts.

Heavy Raids On Nazi Rail Line

London, Sept. 21.—(P)—American planes bombed rail yards supplying the Siegfried Line at Mainz and Coblenz today, struck an oil plant on the Rhine at Ludwigshafen and "supported Allied aircraft in the continuing airborne invasion of Holland," a U.S. 8th Air Force communiqué said.

A thousand or more heavy bombers and fighters were employed. Medium forces of more than four hundred heavy bombers bombed visually at Mainz, on the Rhine near Frankfurt, seventy-five miles behind invested Trier in the main German frontier defenses, but used instruments at Coblenz and Ludwigshafen. Coblenz is on the Rhine seventy miles southeast of surrounded Aachen. Ludwigshafen lies about 100 miles east of Thionville, France, where the United States 3rd Army is battling the Germans.

The heavy bombers attacked other unspecified targets in Western Germany. Hundreds of fighters escorted the bombers and also supported the fifth successive day of airborne landings in Holland.

Plan Of Comprehensive Education Recommended At Stanstead Meeting

Stanstead, Sept. 21.—"To supply the quality and quantity of technical and professional men to meet national needs, a comprehensive and selective system of national scholarship is necessary," declared Dr. W. H. Brittain, Vice-Principal of MacDonald College, Montreal, in an address to a dinner meeting of the International Community School at Stanstead last night.

Other speakers at the meeting included the Rev. C. R. Stetson, who spoke on "International Aspects of Our Community School." Mrs. James Cote, who gave an outline of the past history of the school; Dr. E. C. Milloy, who discussed public assembly features; Gary E. Heath, who dwelt on the story of the programme; and Alex Sim, of MacDonald College, who described school and extension work.

Amplifying on the theme of his speech, Dr. Brittain pointed out that much greater support for provinces, universities and technical institutions was needed if a truly national job was to be accomplished.

The establishment of an educational grants commission supplied with funds to be distributed as the need arose was then suggested by the speaker.

Canadian youth who have the mentality to successfully go through college are, under present conditions, forced to abandon their education after high school graduation, Dr. Brittain pointed out. With university tuition doubled and living costs risen in proportion, forty-five per cent of British university students received financial assistance, while only ten per cent of Canadian university men received such aid—"a far from satisfactory situation," the speaker stated.

Stating that a highly educated and competent population ensured the best security of a nation, the speaker advocated a plan of comprehensive education "from the cradle to the grave" which, if achieved, would do away with the necessity for many of the devices for security.

The speaker went on to say that the great economic burden of ignorance would be removed.

PLAN FURTHER REDUCTION IN R.C.A.F. STAFF

Amalgamation of Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg and Calgary Training Commands to Further Contract Air Training Plan.

Ottawa, Sept. 21.—(P)—The R.C.A.F. announced today a further contraction of the Commonwealth Air Training Plan by the amalgamation of four training commands—at Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg and Calgary—and a reduction in the staff of the 11-man air council.

First step in the programme will be amalgamation December 1 of No. 1 Training Command, with headquarters at Winnipeg and comprising all Manitoba and part of Saskatchewan, No. 4 Training Command, with headquarters at Calgary and comprising Alberta and part of Saskatchewan. The new command will be designated as No. 2 with headquarters at Moose Jaw, Sask.

Next step will be amalgamation of No. 1 Training Command, with headquarters at Toronto and roughly covering Ontario, and No. 3 Training Command, with headquarters at Montreal and roughly covering Quebec and the Maritimes.

Eventually this new amalgamated command will be further fused to become a part of Eastern Air Command. No dates were given for this fusion and the new headquarters was not mentioned, although a fair guess might be Dartmouth, N.S.—present E.A.C. headquarters.

No mention was made of Western Air Command and the newly-created Northwest Air Command—both of which will likely take on a new importance with the switch of Canadian war activity to the Pacific at the conclusion of the war in Europe. However, another fair guess was that these commands would continue to function separately from the No. 2 Training Command until the war's end.

This speculation was given some weight by the announcement, which in speaking of the eventual fusion of Eastern Canadian commands into one unit pointed out that the E.A.C. now is preoccupied with operational duties like convoy patrols. The implication might be that these duties will not be necessary or on a curtailed scale with the end of hostilities in Europe and E.A.C. will be able to devote attention to other command duties.

The curtailment programme also includes reduction in the size of the Air Council from eleven to seven members by amalgamation of work of several divisions, which, by reason of the fusion of commands, will have lessened responsibility.

And the official announcement in

CLAIM CHURCHILL EN ROUTE TO MOSCOW

London, Sept. 21.—(P)—A Berlin broadcast, quoting "a dispatch from Lisbon," asserted today that Prime Minister Churchill was en route to Moscow from his Quebec meeting with President Roosevelt. This broadcast coincided with an announcement here that the Prime Minister would report to the House of Commons on the Quebec Conference following his return to London. Parliament will reassemble next Tuesday, and it was expected that Mr. Churchill would appear shortly after that date.

Sumatra Railway Depot Assaulted

Aboard a British Aircraft Carrier off Sumatra, Sept. 18.—(Delayed)—(P)—A fast carrier task force under Rear-Admiral Clement Moody, R.N., smashed the vital railway repair and maintenance centre at Sigli in North-western Sumatra today in a surprise attack that met little or no opposition.

It was the British Far Eastern Fleet's sixth such offensive thrust since April.

Carrier-borne bombers, escorted by fighters, crossed the Northern Sumatra mountains to reach the target and unload their bombs upon Sigli, which is situated inside the approaches of Malacca Strait. The attack left great clouds of smoke rising from the target area. One plane failed to return, but the Japanese made no attempt to intercept the Allied surface forces.

Missing Persons Files Are Being Checked To Determine Identity Of Remains Found On Vallieres Farm

Richmond, Sept. 21.—Police throughout the Eastern Townships today were checking missing person files in an effort to obtain identity of a skeleton found at nearby Spooner Pond, in the Municipality of Cleveland, yesterday afternoon on a farm owned by Agenor Vallieres.

Chief of Police Joffre L'Heureux said today that Dr. Marcel Chaput, of Richmond, believed the skeleton was that of a man between forty and fifty years of age, apparently shot between seven and ten years ago.

Provincial Detective Lucien Duchrocher and Steno Brasseur, who are carrying on the investigation, have found a clue in the sweat band of the remains of a felt hat, found near the bones. Badly eroded, the imprint on the sweat band showed that the hat was purchased from a firm which operates stores in Quebec City and Val d'Or.

Although authorities at first believed that the person had been the victim of foul play, police this morning advanced the theory that the case was one of suicide, since a rusted .22 calibre rifle was found next to the skeleton. Preliminary examination also disclosed that there was a hole in the skull of the skeleton, according to Chief L'Heureux.

He said this morning that he believed that the party could have been a farm hand, working for the

URGE SPEED IN RELIEF PLANS FOR WAR AREAS

Necessity of Being Ready to Meet Tremendous Problems that May Come With Collapse of German Resistance Impressed Upon UNRRA Delegates.

Montreal, Sept. 21.—(P)—Spurred on by declarations from more than a dozen of the forty-four delegation leaders urging speed in preparing for the task of relieving the newly liberated peoples of the war areas, the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration Council today was deep in the business of its second general meeting.

British, American and many other delegations headed addressed the Council yesterday in the discussion on Director-General Herbert Lehman's report. All emphasized the necessity of being ready to meet tremendous problems of relief and sanitation which may come suddenly with collapse of German resistance.

Just what has been accomplished so far this week in the way of actual planning has not made clear but it is known the majority here favor an extension of UNRRA's scope to include needy Italians and possibly to extend health and sanitation services into Germany when that country is defeated.

Uncertainty about Russia's attitude toward UNRRA continued today. That delegation, headed by Vasilii Sorogov, was not one of those represented in yesterday's discussion on the Director-General's report and so far as is known publicly the Soviet plans for UNRRA operations in their area of responsibility has not been revealed even to the council.

Yesterday Jan Ciechanowski, Polish delegate, filed with the council a resolution calling for an ultimatum to Germany warning that destruction of machinery and production equipment by retreating Nazis would mean that Germany, after the war, would be forced to replace what had been destroyed as well as to make good deficits in necessities of life caused by the destruction of production equipment.

The council is expected to take up today and other proposals in closed session.

Children Among Robomb Victims

London, Sept. 21.—(P)—Flying bombs zoomed over London and the Southern counties last night for the fourth successive night as the Germans continue sporadic attacks apparently aimed at keeping Britain's lights from coming on again.

Casualties included several children recently returned from the safety of country districts.

In one section at least two people were killed and four others were seriously injured when a row of homes was destroyed.

While the newest raids carried neither the intensity nor terror of the earlier assaults, the rush of evacuees back to the capital was noticeably slowing down.

The Government stood by its assertion that the "Battle of London" was won but not entirely over, and reiterated warnings that those evacuated should remain away a little longer.

Renewal of robot attacks after a two-week lull coincided with the lifting of blackout restrictions. Under new dimout regulations, householders are required to black out all lights when an alert sounds, and the robot assaults thus have had the effect of keeping London in continued darkness.

HEADWAY MADE BY CANUCKS IN RIMINI SECTOR

Enemy's Hold on Rimini and Po Valley Jeopardized by Canadians Who Have Smashed Through German Defences.

Rome, Sept. 21.—(P)—Canadian troops of the British 8th Army have made further progress in the battle of the Adriatic front just south of Rimini by clearing the enemy from several towns in the vicinity of San Fortunato, while British units have made similar gains in San Marino area, today's Allied communiqué reported.

Greek troops of the 8th Army fought to within 2,000 yards of Rimini.

Rain slowed the Allied 5th Army's offensive after American forces had captured heights dominating Firenzuela, an important junction on the road to Bologna.

Headquarters described fighting on both ends of the front as intense and declared the Germans were "clinging desperately" to their defensive positions.

The enemy's hold on Rimini and the gateway to the Po Valley was jeopardized by the Canadians, who broke through German defences southwest of the port and advanced to San Lorenzo, less than two miles southwest of Rimini.

As a result of this breakthrough, the Canadians were in position to outflank Rimini on the west and isolate its defenders. They were within a mile of the Marecchia River which flows into the Adriatic at Rimini and only three miles from the coast northwest of the city.

A mile behind the farthest point of the Canadian advance a large enemy force still was waging desperate battle on San Marino ridge.

Tactical air operations were hampered yesterday by poor weather although some close-support targets were hit in the battle area. Heavy bombers raided objectives in Hungary and Czechoslovakia. The M.A.A.F. flew about 1,400 sorties, losing seven planes.

H.M.S. Aurora during the night of Sept. 19-19 gave Candia harbor on German-held Crete another bombardment. It was announced.

BREST PRESENTS A GRIM PICTURE

By BARBARA WACE
Associated Press War Correspondent
Brest, Sept. 21.—(P)—A few French civilians trudged back into captured Brest Monday, pushing wheelbarrows piled with mattresses or riding in carts. But there was nothing to come back to in this great port city, a picture of desolation and with a majority of its buildings demolished by terrific aerial and naval bombardment during the 46-day Allied siege.

WAR BULLETINS

Moscow.—The Soviet Press today hailed the Finnish armistice as a victory for the Allied cause, but asserted the Finns had failed to disarm a single German soldier and that "Finnish authorities helped the Hitlerites retreat with their arms."

Pearl Harbor.—American invasion of the Palau has cost the Japanese the small island of Angaur, most of Peleliu and 7,645 lives, but Admiral Nimitz reported last night that "the enemy resistance is bitter" on rocky and rugged Peleliu.

The announcement came after a communiqué told of the virtual conquest of Angaur, where only mopping-up action remained.

London.—Waves of Allied planes crossed the Channel today and the German radio said bombers were again over western Germany. Smoke still rolled up from Calais, German-held port opposite Dover, where R.A.F. heavy bombers late yesterday struck with up to 4,500 tons of bombs in a 2½-hour attack. Then rocket-driving Typhoons roared above the streets, blasting gun positions and concrete fortifications.

London.—Today's German communiqué declared the 1st British airborne division in the Netherlands had been "to a greater extent destroyed," with the capture of 2,800 prisoners including the divisional commander.

The War Today

By J. M. ROBERTS, Jr.,
(Sub. for DeWitt Mackenzie)
Associated Press War Analyst.

The Battle for Germany, which for a time appeared likely to take place at the Rhine, has actually begun in the Netherlands and will be decided there.

That the Germans can take another terrible beating and yet retire once more in sufficient strength for any real further stand appears unlikely.

Reports from Arnhem sound grim. Allied troops are reported surrounded by a bitterly determined enemy. But they were trained for just such fighting. The Allied commanders have yet to blunder in Western Europe. This morning's news that all air-borne units south of Arnhem have linked up with the British 2nd Army is a strong indication that the battle to turn the northern end of the Siegfried Line is still going, as the generals love to put it, "according to plan."

The Germans are fighting to save themselves in the very territory where they began the total war in May, 1940.

Two plans of action, which may merge, seem to be open to the Allies. Holding tremendous German forces by strong attacks south of Holland, everything else can be thrown into an invasion of northwestern Germany, across the coastal plains to envelop the great German ports as those of France and the Low Country coasts have been enveloped. That would be the Russian system, with truly decisive blows farther south held in reserve.

On the other hand, the Allied campaign has developed almost like three separate wars and may continue that way.

The 7th Army on the extreme right flank has conducted its own private invasion, has cleared up Southern France and stands before Belfort, ready to invade southwestern Germany, probably the weakest area of Germany where there has been talk of forming provincial governments for separate treasuries.

The American 1st and 3rd Armies have operated all along separately from, although in complete co-ordination with, Field Marshal Montgomery's British-Canadian forces nearer the coast, and are pointed toward the Cologne-Coblenz area.

Arnhem is the first job. It is the key to the border and the great north German highway system. A gas, there would permit the Allies to flow both east and south behind the Siegfried and Rhine defences, providing an anvil on which the three U. S. armies could pound the life out of Germany's entire western defences.

Reds Race Forward In Double Drive For Enemy Escape Port Of Tallinn

By DANIEL DE LUCE
Associated Press War Correspondent

Moscow, Sept. 21.—(P)—Red Army veterans of Leningrad, having destroyed the northern anchorage of the German Baltic Line in a massive sweep across Estonia, raced forward today in a double-barrelled drive for the enemy escape port of Tallinn.

One wing of Marshal Govorov's forces thrusting west from Narva has captured Rahlka, less than sixty-five miles east of Tallinn, a Russian war bulletin disclosed last night. Govorov's second wing was spearheading north from Tartu.

London estimated this force was less than fifty miles from Tallinn on the southeast.

Moscow's puns thundered a salute to Govorov for his four days' gains ranging from 37 to 44 miles, wiping out formidable German defences between Lake Peipus and the Finnish Gulf.

Seeking to trap or annihilate any German troops from Finland who may reach Estonia, Govorov turned the enemy's flank and sent his troops rushing through the centre of the little northern country like a tidal wave.

Northern troops, following the Narva-Tallinn railway, were within artillery range of the key rail town of Rakvere, and closing in on Tapa, important rail junction forty-five miles southeast of Tallinn.

In the past two days Russian communiqués have announced German loss of 4,750 populated places in the Soviet Baltic drive.

The Red Army was officially alerted on the battle for Warsaw and the drive from Transylvania toward the plains of Hungary.

The Russian war bulletin said the Red Army Air Force made new raids on Budapest and the Hun garian-held Transylvanian town of Satu-Mare, both with good results.

(The Germans said Russian groups which crossed the Vistula at Warsaw were smashed in a counter-attack and that 69 landing boats were destroyed or captured.)

A sustained aerial assault blasted against Hungarian rail centres and military installations as Marshal Malinovsky pushed his Russian-Romanian columns beyond Timisoara to less than 30 miles from Hungary proper. Should he turn south, he would imperil the German garrison 70 miles away at Belgrade. If he moved north, he would strike at the vulnerable rear of a large enemy group in northern Transylvania.

Marshal Rokossovsky was known to be mounting a series of fierce attacks against the west bank of the Vistula close to the southern limits of Warsaw but officially the Kremlin was silent.

105 ENEMY TANKS KNOCKED OUT

Alsace-Lorraine, Sept. 21.—(P)—Adolf Hitler has thrown in a large portion of his armored forces against the U. S. 3rd Army and for three days this armored force has been engaged in the greatest single tank battle since the landings in France.

The battle has seen the destruction of 105 Nazi tanks.

As this is being written on a box of bazooka shells, American artillery shells are whistling overhead at a number of Mark VI Tiger and Mark V Panther tanks dug in near Bures, eighty-eight miles northeast of Nancy.

Importance Of Northwestern Quebec Is Stressed At Y's Men's Meeting

"Northwestern Quebec will play a great part in the post-war future of this province and of Canada," declared J. A. Archambault, vice-president of the local Chamber of Commerce, speaking to the members of the Y's Men's Club at their weekly meeting at the Chateau Frontenac last night. Mr. Archambault was reporting on the convention of the Federation of Chambers of Commerce of the Province of Quebec held recently at Murray Bay. The speaker pointed out the tremendous development of Quebec's mining industry, stating that whereas in 1932 our total mineral production was only $26 millions, in 1942 it had totalled more than $105 millions, of which more than one-half came from Northwestern Quebec. Quoting Henry Birks, of the Montreal Board of Trade, who was a speaker at the convention, Mr. Archambault declared that the future possibilities of this region are very great. "The surface has barely been scratched, so far as the natural resources of this vast region are concerned."

In his address to the convention, Mr. Birks has stressed the importance of strong local chambers of commerce. "They are a necessity to promote future prosperity of our Province. Their function is to promote trade and commerce, by encouraging closer co-operation between Quebec and its neighbors." In concluding the speaker touched on the subject of taxation, showing how closely related it was to business recovery. He urged that the conclusions of the Montpelier Commission on Taxation, appointed by the Provincial Government some years ago, be studied and acted upon, so that business in the post-war era would be encouraged to expand and develop and provide the "total employment" that all would like to see.

COATICOOK MAN DEMANDING $301 IN LOCAL COURT

An action in which Moise Boyer, Coaticook woodcutter, is demanding the sum of $301 from Davila Poulin, of Barford, was taken on deliberation today in Superior Court.

In the plaintiff's allegations, he states that Poulin owes him $301 because of incomplete payment for work done for the defendant.

He alleges that on June 18, 1940, he was hired by the defendant to cut and pile pulpwood at $4 per cord.

After eating last night, Beaudoin went to the stables to harness the horse. When he did not come back after twenty minutes, his son went out to investigate and found his father lying about ten feet behind the horse, with his face smashed in. He was rushed to St. Vincent de Paul by a Richmond ambulance.

Testimony given at the inquest by doctors revealed that death had been caused by severe scalp and head injuries and serious cuts to the left arm. Lacourse, unconscious at the time he entered hospital, regained consciousness for only a short time before succumbing to the injuries.

Operator of the truck was Louis Breton, of Marlboro Traffic Office, 60, Levesque, of the Sherbrooke detachment of Provincial Police, testified. He was accompanied by Dominique Gosselin, also of Marlboro.

Hospital authorities reported this morning that the condition of Ronald Lacourse, son of the victim, was improved but not sufficiently to warrant removal to his home. The victim's wife, Mrs. Jeannette Lacourse, who was uninjured in the mishap, but was treated for severe shock, was permitted to quit the hospital yesterday.

SOUTH DURHAM FARMER KILLED BY HORSE KICK

Basil Beaudoin, 60-year-old South Durham farmer, last night succumbed to injuries which he received on his farm about six o'clock last evening. Beaudoin was admitted to the St. Vincent de Paul Hospital around seven o'clock suffering from injuries to the face received when his horse kicked him. He passed away two hours later.

After eating last night, Beaudoin went to the stables to harness the horse. When he did not come back after twenty minutes, his son went out to investigate and found his father lying about ten feet behind the horse, with his face smashed in. He was rushed to St. Vincent de Paul by a Richmond ambulance.

Testimony given at the inquest by doctors revealed that death had been caused by severe scalp and head injuries and serious cuts to the left arm. Lacourse, unconscious at the time he entered hospital, regained consciousness for only a short time before succumbing to the injuries.

JURYMEN RULE MISHAP DEATH AS ACCIDENTAL

A coroner's jury, at an inquest conducted yesterday by Leonidas Bouchard, coroner for the District of St. Francis, returned a verdict of accidental death in the case of Donald Lacourse, of Venoske, Vt., who died in the St. Vincent de Paul Hospital Tuesday night from injuries received on Monday when the car which he was driving blew out one of its tires near Ascot and piled into a truck travelling in the opposite direction.

Testimony given at the inquest by doctors revealed that death had been caused by severe scalp and head injuries and serious cuts to the left arm. Lacourse, unconscious at the time he entered hospital, regained consciousness for only a short time before succumbing to the injuries.

LOCAL DIVORCE CASE SENT TO SUPREME COURT

Chief Justice Letourneau in Montreal yesterday granted an application made on behalf of Herbert F. Main to appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada a decision of the Appeal Court reversing a judgment of the Superior Court in Sherbrooke which annulled his marriage to Blanche Rosmond Wright on the grounds at the time of the ceremony the latter's first husband was living.

Maintaining that a divorce had been granted from her first husband and also reiterating this contention as respondent in Main's appeal, Blanche Wright has contested Main's action for annulment.

The parties were permanently domiciled in the United States when annulment action was instituted in Sherbrooke, according to the records. As a result of this, the Court of Appeal ruled that the case in appeal was beyond the jurisdiction of the Quebec Courts.

In moving for leave to appeal to a higher court, W. S. Johnson, K. C., questioned the ruling of lack of jurisdiction, of the Quebec Courts, and the circumstances of the case, which he said, justified appeal to the Supreme Court on this issue.

The parties were married in St. George's Church, Lennoxville, November, of 1920. According to Counsel, Blanche Wright represented herself as a widow, with Main later discovering that his wife's first husband was still living in Vermont. She was married the first time in the State of Vermont on March 5, 1916, but had obtained a divorce on May 9, 1919.

"Our submission is that the divorce has no valid effect in this province because on the date of the decree, Blanche Wright and her first husband were domiciled in Quebec," Mr. Johnson continued, adding that the wife moved into Vermont to obtain a divorce knowing that she could not obtain a divorce in the Province of Quebec.

Inasmuch as the second marriage took place in Quebec, the Quebec Courts not withstanding the fact that the parties were living in Washington, D. C., when Main entered suit for annulment of the marriage, had jurisdiction to pronounce on the merits of the question raised by Main that, as divorce was illegal in the Province of Quebec, his marriage to Blanche Wright, November 6, 1920, was null and void, Counsel insisted.

Agreeing it was important to have the Supreme Court decide the question of jurisdiction, Chief Justice Letourneau ruled that permission to appeal would be granted. Concurring in this judgment were Justice Walsh Marchand, Bissonnette and Errol McDougall.

Mr. Douglas Hadlock opened her home on Clough Avenue to the members of the Young Women's Association of the United Church, where they held their September meeting.

Mrs. R. Lindsay, the President, conducted the meeting. Twenty-three members were present and two guests. One new member was enrolled and welcomed.

The meeting was opened with prayer, and after the roll call and reading of the minutes of the last meeting, the Treasurer's report showed a balance of $187.22 on hand.

A rummage sale was planned for October 21, and it was decided that the members would sell Christmas cards as in previous years.

A supper and sale of aprons, quilts and novelties was planned for the last Saturday in October. This concluded the business.

Mrs. Hamilton introduced the guest speaker Mrs. M. E. McCurdy, whose topic was "The Power of the Printed Page." Mrs. J. E. Perry thanked the speaker for her splendid talk. Refreshments were then served by the hostesses, Mrs. D. Hadlock, Mrs. K. Lane, Mrs. R. Healey and Mrs. C. Caswell.

The classes will open October 2. Arrangements have also been completed for a refresher course which is to be held from September 28 to 30.

Christmas Gifts To Servicemen In Middle East Should Be Mailed Now

Those Christmas cards now showing in Sherbrooke shops have made their appearance for a definite purpose, as have gifts which will be welcome on the 25th of December.

To reach Canadian forces stationed in the Middle East and the United Kingdom, parcels from local and Eastern Townships residents should be mailed as early as possible, according to a warning issued by local postal officials, if the servicemen are to have their gifts for the Yuletide.

Mailing deadlines released this morning are as follows: The Middle East Area, including Egypt, Iraq, Iraq, Syria, etc., October 5; Central Mediterranean Forces, October 10, and the United Kingdom and France, October 25.

Last Christmas season, over 12 million pounds of parcel mail alone were despatched to the forces overseas from Canada, and an even greater volume is expected this year.

Following are recommendations of the postal service regarding preparation of parcels:

Even though the maximum weight at the shipping office is 12 cents per pound, is 11 pounds, a voluntary cutting-down of the weight will enable authorities to ship a greater number of parcels in the cargo space available.

Proper addressing and proper packing will overcome delays and damage to mail shipments. Each parcel should be carefully packed in a corrugated shockproof container, the contents compact so that they will not shake loose or break out of the package. Parcels should be wrapped in several layers of wrapping paper and securely tied with strong twine.

"Shoe boxes" must not be used for containers as they crush and break. Fancy wrapping paper and colored ribbon are inadequate for the purpose. Matches, glass jars or bottles must not be mailed, or any substance likely to leak, spread and damage the mails.

Postal authorities now extend the privilege of the special services parcel rate of 12 cents a pound to an 11-pound weight limit, and duty free entry is allowed by United Kingdom authorities for gift parcels to members of the Canadian Red Cross Society and the St. John Ambulance Brigade, if the parcels are addressed to a Canadian military address in the United Kingdom. Postmaster General Mulock announced.

In those instances where personnel of the two auxiliary services are not attached to actual units, gift parcels may be sent to them addressed to the Canadian Overseas Postal Depot which is accepted as a suitable military address by British authorities, the announcement said.

Any such parcel mailed to a civilian address will be subject to regular civilian postage and duty rates.

FIRST GIVE THANKS

With the war in Europe in its climactic stage, with the collapse of Germany a distinct probability in a matter of weeks, the people of Canada, in common with other citizens of the United Nations, are making widespread plans for the manner in which they will celebrate the termination of hostilities. These plans involve the closing of stores and public buildings, the holding of street parades and other public celebrations and the decoration of homes and public buildings.

This is as it should be, but any programme so far announced has overlooked one important factor — it has lacked provision for the offering of a general thanksgiving to the Prince of Peace, to whom the final credit for victory and the restoration of a normal and decent system of living must be given. The people of the Western democracies have from time-to-time held days of general intercession seeking Divine aid and guidance in the struggle to which they have given the aspect of a religious war. It is but right that on the great day, God-fearing people should first unite in offering their thanks for the response given their prayers.

The services need not be long or formal. In fact the greater the simplicity which marks them, the greater will be the sincerity of the thank-givers. Let the ringing of the church bells which are to be the announcement of the end of hostilities be a call to worship—the first item on the V-day programme. After thanks have been given, it is the privilege of each individual to observe the day in such a manner as he sees fit.

FINLAND PAYS THE PRICE

The terms which Russia has imposed upon Finland for the granting of an armistice between the two countries are admittedly hard, but it must be considered that Finland has to pay for two faults — first, betting on the wrong horse and, second, failing to get out of the war despite numerous opportunities provided her by both the Russians and by the other members of the United Nations.

Finland's behavior since the fighting on the Western Front first broke out in September 1939 has made rather an unusual historical story. Her first struggle was with Russia back in 1940, a war in which she was viewed as the aggrieved nation and in which she had the moral support of the Western Allies and substantial material support from the United States, who at that time was a neutral.

After receiving a trouncing from her much stronger neighbor, she nursed her grievances until Adolf Hitler launched his ill-fated blow at the Soviets. Believing that Hitler would be able to carry out his promises to settle the Russians within six weeks, Finland jumped into the struggle as an ally of the Nazis, although she sought to remain on friendly terms with Great Britain and the United States, something she found almost impossible although she managed to prevent an actual declaration of war with the latter nation.

But her Eastern neighbor again held the winning cards and the tiny northern nation, her manpower drained by two major wars in a short period of time was ultimately forced to give up the struggle and accept armistice terms which grew more severe as she stalled for time.

Under the armistice terms, she is called upon to pay the Russians an indemnity of $300,000,000 within the next six years, an imposing burden upon a comparatively small nation. But to add to the load, she is called upon to cede to the Russians the valuable mineral areas of the Petsamo area, and make extensive territorial adjustments in the south which will deprive her of the majority of her industrial centres and ten per cent of the population of the country.

In addition the Allies are to be granted certain military privileges in the Finnish territory, which should prove of material assistance in speeding up the war against the Reich.

The terms of the Finnish armistice and the conditions imposed upon Romania as a prelude to its breaking away from the Axis, give a strong indication that where the Russians have any say in the preparation of peace provisions, the defeated powers will be compelled to repay to the limit of their ability for the economic damage caused. And judging from the British public reaction to the robot bomb attacks upon London and other points in southern England, the viciousness of the Nazis' dying gasps have aroused a feeling there that an easy peace is impossible.

After all the terms imposed upon Finland and Romania do not call for vengeance, but rather insist that those nations who wished to enter the fight and selected the wrong side should be made to recompense, as far as possible, for the damage they caused.

THE GERMAN PEOPLE

One of the greatest menaces to the future peace of the world is the attitude held in many quarters that the Germans are a misled and mistreated people who are forced into wars not of their own making by their leaders. Supporters of this thesis argue that all the Allied nations need do after the armistice is to remove the German leaders and replace them by so-called "democrats." But this belief is sharply and effectively challenged by the Rev. D. D. Davies, outspoken Vicar of Emmanuel Church, Dulwich, England, who concludes a recent arraignment of the Germans for their five years contribution to total war and mass slaughter with the following declaration:

Let me ask one question. If the German people are merely innocent victims of their governments, how can we account for the fact that, when the Allies demanded the handing over for trial of German generals and others in 1920, a Socialist government refused to do so?

They refused on the ground that they themselves would bring them to book. Out of a list of 896 criminals presented by the Allies, the Germans finally tried fourteen, among whom was not a single general. And even these fourteen they let off with the lightest of sentences. No! The fact is that these "victims" shield and protect their oppressors.

Here, then, is the situation. If we take the line of saying, as President Wilson did in the last war, "We have no quarrel with the German people," we shall have a peace which cannot possibly be permanent. We shall have a peace in which the German masses will throw up a new race of Fuehrers to replace those whom we have destroyed. That means another war, which will start with fifty-ton doodlebugs.

If, on the contrary, we take the line of saying—and this alone will accord with the facts—that the responsibility for the war extends to the whole German people we shall then devise a peace which will (a) administer retribution to the whole German nation, and (b) recognize the need for re-education and emancipation of the whole German nation from the lust of conquest.

Our problem is not the German politicians and generals alone. It is the whole German people.

Until the Germans prove beyond doubt their willingness to be good neighbors, keep them weak, whatever the cost, which, in any case, will be less than that of another war, both morally and financially.

The Dulwich Vicar has struck the basic need of Allied post-war policy, the need of reforming the German people, an undertaking which will require at least one generation, during which the control of all propaganda and educational media must be retained in the hands of Allied representatives in order to prevent the resurrection of the myth of German invincibility upon which Reich leaders have twice plunged the world into war in thirty years and which they will do again if the opportunity presents itself.

The boy had shown such a degree of ignorance and mental obtuseness that the teacher was disheartened, and she finally asked, sarcastically: "Do you know whether George Washington was a soldier or a sailor?" "He was a soldier," answered the urchin, promptly. "How do you know that?" she persisted. "Cause I saw a picture of him crossin' the Delaware, an' any sailor I know enough not to stand up in a boat."

He sat fidgeting and nervous in the solicitor's waiting room. A clerk entered. "I say," said the client, beckoning to him. "I have an appointment with the solicitor at ten o'clock. It's about a legacy."

"Twenty years!" replied the other.

Counsel for the defence was cross-examining a witness. "You have accounted for your movements in the early afternoon and evening," he said, "so will you please tell the Court what you were doing in the interim?"

"I was in the drawing room all the time," replied the nervous witness. "I was in the drawing room all the time."

Thomas was rather thrifty. On a visit to the United States he decided to send a telegram to his host. On inquiring at the post office he was told the charge, but that the sender's name would be free. "That's splendid," he replied. "I'm a Red Indian and my name is 'Cannadethemorn Tam'."

SHOULD WE FORCE CHILDREN TO SING THE NATIONAL ANTHEM?

Kingston Whig-Standard
We find it difficult to agree with the written judgment of Mr. Justice Hope handed down at Osgoode Hall on Tuesday regarding the singing of the national anthem. Mr. Justice Hope dismissed an action brought by Robert C. Donald, Post Office stamp vendor at Hamilton, against the Hamilton Board of Education after his two sons were expelled from school for refusing to sing the national anthem and to salute the flag. The father and the older son, Robert, 16, said they belonged to Jehovah's Witnesses. The younger son, Graham, is 12.

We have no doubt that Mr. Justice Hope was sincere when he gave judgment as he did, but we have grave doubts as to the practical wisdom of the statutes upon which he based his decision. Our brave soldiers, sailors and airmen are at this very moment in the midst of a mighty and sacrificial struggle with a relentless foe in order that we, here in Canada, shall have the right to worship as we desire. If the religious tenets of a certain sect in Canada do not allow them to sing the national anthem and salute the flag, is the Department of Education wise in refusing education to the children of that sect? We doubt it, if the father is a taxpayer.

It seems to us the Hamilton Board of Education made a mistake when it invoked the statutes to force little children to sing the national anthem. Adolf Hitler forced the youth of Germany to say "Heil Hitler." We repeat, he forced them to say it, and to salute when they did so. Do we want to follow Hitler's example? Or do we want our school children, whose parents object to their singing the national anthem, to grow up to love the freedom that they enjoy in Canada, and to realize that in singing the national anthem and saluting the Union Jack they are paying a tribute to that freedom.

Our mind goes back twenty-five years to a respected and revered Ontario Police Magistrate, who always walked out of meetings when the national anthem was sung—and who on one occasion when he was chairman refused to have it sung. Yet he was not expelled from his high office, and died full of years, respected by all.

Let us not expel little children from school, but teach our own children to sing a bit louder. Intolerance of the majority for the rights of a minority is a far greater menace to the state than a twisted religious scruple.

THE ALBERTA DEBALT

Lethbridge Herald
When the war is over Alberta will want new capital — not merely new capital for provincial undertakings, from buying a farm to building a factory.
But nothing is surer than that Alberta will get little new capital until it puts itself right with those who loaned the province money 30 or 40 years ago.
Of course the Premier may say that the rousing majority by which the Social Credit Government was re-elected is evidence that the people of Alberta are content to remain welchers on their financial contracts.
Nothing, we think, could be farther from the case.
The people of Alberta voted for the present Government because it feared the OCF threat against private enterprise of all kinds.

THREE WAR VETERANS ON BRIDGE TEAM

An interesting fact concerning the runner-up team in the world championship Masters team-of-four this year was that three of its members, Charles J. Solomon, Stanley O. Fenkel and E. G. Ellenbogen, have all served in the armed forces. Ellenbogen, who now lives in Reading, Pa., was especially thrilled by the showing he made with his Philadelphia teammates, as he is a former Philadelphiaan.

Today's hand was played by Ellenbogen during the event. He could count six tricks in top cards, and the interesting fact concerning the contract were not too easy to find. He won the first trick with the ace of spades, as a holdup could not be of any benefit. He then returned a small spade and West cashed his spade tricks. On the last spade East signaled with the heart eight and Ellenbogen, who now lives in Reading, Pa., was especially thrilled by the showing he made with his Philadelphia teammates, as he is a former Philadelphiaan.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a gown of white organza, the fitted bodice having a yoke of Valenciennes lace with Bishop sleeves, the very full skirt falling into a long train. Later, the Rev. and Mrs. Moffatt left for Northern Ontario, the bride travelling in a frock of sunshine yellow crepe. She wore a brown hat and matching accessories.

McGOVERN-HALL

The marriage of Gladys Violet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Hall, Iron Hill, to Mr. Robert Alexander McGovern, Ste. Anne de Stukely, son of Mr. George McGovern and the late Mrs. McGovern, Ste. Anne de Stukely, took place at the home of the bride's parents, at half past two o'clock on Saturday afternoon, September 16, the Rev. E. F. Macklin, of Holy Trinity Church, Iron Hill, officiating.

Autumn flowers were used to decorate, and Mrs. Leslie Washer, sister of the bride, played the wedding marches, and accompanied Mrs. Gesner Blenkhorn, another sister, who sang "O Promise Me" during the signing of the register. The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a graceful floor-length gown of white chiffon over satin, the fitted bodice having a sweetheart neckline and bracelet sleeves.

Her veil of tulle illusion fell from a wreath of orange blossoms. She was carrying Johanna Hill roses and wore long white kid gloves, sent to her by her brother-in-law, Gen. Gesner Blenkhorn, serving with the 8th Army in Italy.

Miss Sarah Collyer, maid of honor and the bride's only attendant, wore a lovely slipper length frock of pink sheer over taffeta, a matching shoulder length veil of silk tulle held with a tiara of forget-me-nots and was carrying a bouquet of gladioli, arranged with maiden hair fern.

Mr. Preston McGovern, brother of the groom, acted as best man.

Mrs. Hall, the bride's mother, wore a smart street ensemble of blue crepe, with a matching hat and accessories, and a corsage of pink roses.

After the reception refreshments were served in the dining room, where a four-tiered wedding cake centered the bride's table which was lighted with white tapers in silver holders, and adorned with gladioli flowers.

Later the bride and groom left to spend their honeymoon in Kingston and at Niagara Falls, the bride wearing a two-piece suit of rust crepe

After the ceremony the baby's parents entertained at a buffet supper at their home on Laurier Avenue.

The "Autumn" season was delightfully inaugurated yesterday afternoon, at a largely attended, tea party, given under its caption, by the Ladies' Aid, in St. Andrew's Church Hall, where seasonable flowers in profusion were used to decorate.

Mrs. Arthur M. Edwards, President and Mrs. E. A. Wright, wife of the recently inducted Pastor, received, and Mrs. A. J. Morrison, Treasurer, acted as cashier. Seldom has St. Andrew's spacious hall looked more attractive, huge baskets of hydrangea filled the window sills, while a basket of roses on the piano, and small crystal containers filled with brilliant French marigolds on each of the many small tables, effectively emphasized Autumn's incomparable color scheme. Mrs. William Scott presided at the beautifully appointed tea table, on which petunias in toning pink shades, arranged in an old-fashioned China bowl, and harmonizing candles in silver holders formed the artistic decorations. Mrs. Oscar Stenson acted as convener for the tea, assisted by Mrs. Bruygom and Mrs. W. Wells. The waitresses, who were in charge of Mrs. Charles Ross, included, Mrs. Wilfred Davey, Mrs. Howard M. Thompson, Mrs. Joan Macdonald, Mrs. Frank Donaldson, Mrs. J. Leckie and Mrs. V. Mercereau. Mrs. Claude A. An additional attraction was the sale of some cooking conveniences by Mrs. George M. Dick and Mrs. Lewis Dunsmore, while the proceeds, materially augmented the grand total from the Aid's very successful Autumn Tea.

The Ladies' Committee wishes to express appreciation to Lewis Rosencloob for his courtesy in allowing the use of his store premises as headquarters, and to all those who braved the elements to make this event a success.

An interesting meeting of the W.C.T.U. was held at the home of Mrs. Charles Wright, Federal Street, with the President, Mrs. W. E. Hodge, presiding.

The worship service was taken by Mrs. Emerson.

A number of visitors were present and one new member was received. Mrs. Wright and Miss Heath were appointed delegates to the Provincial W.C.T.U. convention meeting to take place next week in Montreal.

It was announced that Miss Edna Grant, Field Secretary of the W.C.T.U., would be in town next week and would speak at the various schools and also at Wesley Hall.

An informal talk was given by Mrs. E. C. James, now residing in Huntingville, on "Racial Prejudice." Racial goodwill must first begin with individuals, Mrs. James said, and briefly outlined some simple methods by which an atmosphere of friendliness might be produced. A period of discussion followed the address.

Mrs. Hodge thanked Mrs. James. Regret was expressed at the removal in the very near future of Mrs. W. O. Robinson to Montreal. Mrs. Robinson has been a faithful member of the Union for many years and will be greatly missed. Refreshments were served by the hostesses, assisted by Mrs. Jack Wright and Mrs. Williams.

Teachers Of Ayer's Cliff High Are Guests At Women's Institute Rally

Ayer's Cliff, Sept. 21.—The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Institute was held at the Gibson-Pierce home, with Mrs. Gibson and Mrs. N. Nelson Pierce as joint hostesses and was largely attended. The teachers of the High School were asked as guests for the social and tea hour. The meeting was presided over by the President, Mrs. Willis Dustin, when plans were made for the serving of the Blood Clinic, which was held when 48 donors were present from this district. Plans were also made to carry on as usual for the School Fair, and despite the downpour of rain, the workers were kept very busy. Discussions also took place regarding the medical examination at the school and it is hoped to have this the last part of the month or the first part of October. Mrs. E. E. Crook, on behalf of the County Institute, expressed thanks to the ladies of this society for their help in soliciting and serving meals at the Stanstead County Fair, and at the same time the Institute voiced its appreciation to the town's people for their generous donations, which helped to make the proceeds from the dining hall the largest since the County W.I. has taken over the hall. The net proceeds will be over four hundred dollars, which is to be divided equally between the Queen's Canadian Fund and the Prisoner of War Fund. The programme was indeed very interesting and was in charge of Mrs. Crook and Mrs. Pierce. There was a panel discussion between "teachers and parents," and Mrs. Pierce acted as leader for the teachers and Mrs. Willis Dustin as leader for the parents. The main questions were: "What kind of education do we want for Stanstead County?" and "What improvements can you suggest?" WEST BOLTON

The farm house of the Austrope brothers was consumed by fire on Saturday afternoon, September 16. The men had gone to an auction sale at Mr. W. W. Phelps', in South Stukely, when the fire broke out. The first to notice and offer help were Mr. and Mrs. Eben Fessenden, of Fulford, who were passing, and at first thought it was a chimney fire, then they saw that the house was on fire and at once rushed to help Mrs. Austrope, who was already trying to save what she could of the household effects. Others soon arrived, but as no one knew that it was a double tenement, nothing was saved, but 35 chickens from their large flock of poultry were saved, as well as everything of the very best, including a new bathroom outfit, clothing and all he had. Messrs. Austrope are Hungarians, who bought the property four years ago and had greatly improved the house and had built a new barn. Help arriving, the house was saved, but 35 chickens were burned, as well as new storm windows and doors which were stored in the chamber along with many other valuables which they were unable to save from the apartment. The deepest sympathy is aroused and it is hoped there will be help to aid them in putting up an abode for the winter before the cold weather comes. TIME IS TELLING THE WONDERS AND COMFORT OF DR. LOCKE SHOES

A portrait tells the story of amazing research

DR. M. W. LOCKE
Famous Canadian Country Doctor and his World-Famous Clinic where he treated more than a million aching feet.

KEYS THAT UNLOCK THE FAMOUS FOOT COMFORT FEATURES OF DR. LOCKE SHOES

- HIS EXPERIENCE
- HIS HANDS
- HIS LASTS

FIRST . . . he was criticized!
SOON . . . he was copied!
NOW . . . he is cited!
ALWAYS . . . he'll be cherished!

Here was a Country Doctor who not only knew medicine, but also the secrets of foot comfort and the type of footwear required to give foot health and comfort permanency.

He discovered, through research and from direct observation in treating over a million feet, that many body ills are caused by misfitted shoes or by wearing shoes made on the wrong lasts.

Realizing that no shoe can be greater than the correctness of the last over which it is built, his first aim was to "Build a Last"—one that was scientifically proportioned, natural and conforming, with the result that Dr. Locke's perfected lasts so revolutionized the American shoe industry that today the greatness of his fame rests equally on his "Last" and on the shoe itself.

Women today find that both weak and strong feet walk in shoes made over his modern lasts with a moccasin-like comfort such as the American Indian enjoyed on the freedom of mother earth.

In addition, as a crowning glory to his world-famous lasts, Dr. Locke Shoes speak a language of beauty and smart style at every step.

Beebe, Sept. 21.—The September meeting of the Beebe Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. George House, with Mrs. Homer Worthen and Mrs. Joseph Collett, assisting hostesses.

The ladies present were greatly privileged to have as their guest speaker, Mrs. A. Bulman, of Stanstead. Mrs. Bulman stressed the need of more co-operation and better understanding between the teachers and the parents, she asked the parents to be very careful in their criticism of their children's teachers; as it reflects in the child's attitude to the school and no teacher can do anything for a child who has no confidence in her. She asked the teacher to get acquainted with the parents to visit the homes so that she might better understand her pupils, and not to look upon them as merely pupils, who must pass certain examinations, but as future doctors, lawyers and politicians, upon whom rested the destiny of our country.

Mrs. Beane thanked Mrs. Bulman for her address and expressed the hope that she might visit the Institute again in the near future.

Fordyce Couple Feted By Friends On Fortieth Wedding Anniversary

Fordyce, Sept. 21 - Upwards of seventy friends and relatives gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Stowe on Friday evening, September 15, in honor of the fortieth wedding anniversary of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Stowe, who entered the living room to the strains of the wedding march, played by Mrs. S. W. Boyd. They were escorted to the seat of honor, where they received the best wishes and congratulations of all present.

Their wedding took place at Eastman, in 1904, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. Mr. Fairbairn. The bride of yesterday, whose maiden name was Eva Phelps, was given in marriage by her father, Mr. L. D. Phelps, now of Cowansville, who was present at the anniversary. Her sister, Mrs. W. D. Smith, of Cowansville, was her bridesmaid and the best man was Mr. Edward Boyd, of Brigham, both being present at the anniversary.

Rev. Dr. Boyd spoke a few words congratulating Mr. and Mrs. Stowe on their useful life in the community, and their hospitality, which all have enjoyed. They received a beautiful floor lamp from their family, a hand-painted tray from her sister, Mrs. Smith, Mr. Smith and son, Douglas, and Mr. William Mason, on behalf of those present, presented them with a purse of money.

They both responded and thanked everyone most heartily for their presence and the kindness shown them. Mrs. Stowe expressed her appreciation of the nice things that were said about them. The table in the dining room looked lovely with white streamers and vases of white roses and was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, made and decorated by their daughter, Mrs. Roland Selby.

Five hundred was played at nine tables and there were 100 tables of Chinese checkers. Ladies' prizes in cards were presented to Mrs. George Hooper and Mrs. John Bowling, while W. D. Smith carried off the gentlemen's prize. A buffet lunch was served.

The out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ray Stowe and son, Mr. Clifford Stowe, who has returned from overseas; Miss Muriel Burnett and Mrs. Willis, of Montreal; Mr. and Mrs. E. Boyd, of Brigham, and Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Selby, of Dunham.

All joined in singing "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows," "Auld Lang Syne" and "God Save the King," which brought a most enjoyable evening to a close.

CANADIAN SILK ENTERS INDUSTRIAL FINALS

Knock Out Toolmen 4-1 To Win Series In Two Straight Games

The Canadian Silk last night won its way to the Industrial Softball League finals by defeating the Sherbrooke Pneumatic Tool 4-1 at Dufréne Park to take the two out of three series in two straight games. The Silkmen won the opening game of the semi-finals by a 2-0 score.

The Canadian Silk will now tangle with the Belvidere Service Station in a three out of five series for the league and city championship.

The Toolmen put up a better showing last night than in Monday's game and it was pretty interesting all the way through. Drawing first blood by scoring in the first frame, they were, however, unable to hold the lead and bowed eventually before the heavy batting now brought into play by the Silkmen.

Les Bessant again was in a starring role as he limited the Toolmen to only three scattered hits. The Silkmen's star hurler also pulled off four strikeouts while walking another four men.

O'Connor and Fontaine were the batting stars for the Canadian Silk. Each had two hits, with O'Connor slugging out a double, and scoring on Caron's caught fly to right.

For the Toolmen, Simard grabbed off two of the three hits while Raymond collected the other.

The game opened with Raymond hitting a high fly to short field which Aury dropped. On the third-inning which was wild, Raymond went all the way to third and came in on Simard's scratch hit along the third base line.

The Silkmen retaliated in their bats of the first frame when Proteau led off with a bunt, reached third when O'Connor slammed a double, and scored on Fontaine's single. O'Connor scored on Caron's caught fly and Fontaine came in when Philippeau smashed out a two-bagger to right.

With the score 3-1, both teams settled down to tight play and the Silkmen were not able to score again before the fourth. Boisse led off with a single to right and moved up on a passed ball. Guillemette meanwhile rousing first on an error. Boisse came in when Bernier laid down a beautiful sacrifice bunt.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By PHILIP BLOOMBERG, Canadian Press Staff Writer
Toronto, Sept. 21.—A year ago there was some talk of the organization of a full-fledged professional or semi-pro baseball league embracing several large cities in Ontario. However, due to the manpower and transportation situation at the beginning of the summer, the plans entertained—if there were any—were seemingly abandoned.

Besides the possibility of being a paying proposition, baseball men said the idea would help to revive the game after it had been at a low ebb for several years. However, even without the proposed league, the diamond game enjoyed a great year in the province and throughout the country.

Now it appears, in the light of recent events, that if baseball is to retain favor and be prevented from returning to its somewhat stagnant state of the late 30's, a professional league in some form is essential in the province. Similar conditions may exist in other sections of the country.

The Boom: This season's boom actually gained its birth several years ago, when it became apparent that the armed services would drain the leagues in Canada and the United States of many first-class players. Seeing the usual required standard of ability lowered, many aspirants flooded the game.

But now the warriors will soon return. Frank Shaughnessy, President of the International League, summed up the situation when he said that if the war ended this winter 75 per cent of the players in his loop likely would not be playing there next season. In general, that implies that very few Canadians will measure up to professional calibre in the next few years.

Kilbane Was Versatile Feather; Gray-Hair When Topped, He Could Box, Fight, Brawl Or Stall

By BILLY ROCHE
The Referee

John Patrick Kilbane held the featherweight championship eleven years, longer than any other incumbent. He lost it in his last fight, to battle-scarred Eugene Criqui, whose reign was the shortest, lasting only 54 days.

Johnny Kilbane was the most versatile of all the featherweights. He could box, fight, brawl or stall. He varied unannounced skill with pierc- ing slugging, and when he wanted to fight was a streak of greased lightning with a thunderbolt in his glove, knocking out such stars as Joe Rivers, Patsy Cline and George Chaney.

Kilbane fought world champions in classes below and above his own, gave bantam king Kid Williams a lesson in six in Philadelphia, outjuggled Freddie Welsh in 10 four weeks before the Pride of Pontypool lost the lightweight leadership to Benny Leonard.

Kilbane was knocked out for the first time in his life by Leonard in three rounds in Philadelphia, July 25, 1917 two months after the darling of the cloak-and-suiters dethroned Welsh. In a previous 10-round non-decision bout, Kilbane trounced Leonard for the newspaper verdict.

Over a stretch of 16 years of hectic campaigning Kilbane was kayoed only twice—by Leonard and Criqui. He was gray-haired and finished when the brave little Frenchman beat him.

Kilbane—5-5, 122-126—was born in Cleveland, April 18, 1889, of Irish-American parents. Handsome, curly-haired and blue-eyed, even as a kid fighting was in his blood and he irked at his clerking job in a railroad office, which he took after finishing school.

So young Kilbane quit the office for the ring in 1907. Less than a year later he fought Tommy Kil-bane, a boyhood pal but no relative, 25 bloody rounds. Johnny Kilbane won and never fought a 25-rounder thereafter. He always claimed this was his hardest battle.

Kilbane fought Abe Attell at Vernon, Calif., September 22, 1912, and when the champion resorted to slugging he found his curly-haired opponent meek, then a match for him. It was a vicious, crueling 20-rounder and at the finish Kilbane was the new champion.

As champion Kilbane so far out-classed the featherweight crop he was forced to campaign among light-weights.

After knocking out Danny Frush in seven rounds in Cleveland, September 17, 1921, Kilbane virtually hung 'em up until June 2, 1923, when he met Criqui at the Polo Grounds.

One was the superb boxing skill, the snappy punch and tricky generalship that carried Kilbane to the heights and in the sixth round, unable to hold up his hands, he fell before the onslaught of the doctory polli with the silver jaw.

Kilbane lost a fortune in a health farm. He dabbled in Cleveland politics, finally was elected state senator, was beaten for reelection.

Today, a round iron gray brawler, Johnny Kilbane retains the winning smile that endeared him to the fight mob.

WHOPPER STORY ABOUT WHOPPER IN FISHLESS POND

Eleven-year-old June Knapp was fishing in a tiny pond at Westminster Ridge. It was the type of water the neighbors considered fishless. Suddenly little Miss Knapp got a heavy strike, called for help. A passing boy ran to her aid, but the fish was too much for him, too. Along came Carroll Ransford, veteran angler, and under his expert advice the youngsters landed a 14-inch calico bass.

LAMONTAGNE IS ON SIDELINES WITH INJURY

Paul Lamontagne, Notre Dame third baseman, may not see action in the game Sunday with Acton Vale. Lamontagne, playing softball Monday night for the Canadian Silk, fell to the ground in the first inning of the Toolmen-Silkmen game and suffered a dislocated shoulder.

He is reported on the way to recovery, but it is doubtful whether he will get into the all-important Acton Vale-Sherbrooke game Sunday.

Johnny Price's Clown Antics Keep Baseball Fans Laughing

Johnny Price is giving the American Association something entirely new in this war-harried season.

Price's comedy sequence has observers using superlatives in comparing him with Nick Altrock, Al Schacht, Germany Schaefer, Carl Sawyer, Rube Waddell and other intentional and unintentional baseball clowns.

Price, 29-year-old veteran of the smaller minors and the army, was a pretty fair ballplayer as a kid on Memphis lots. He had several chances in the Southern Association and other Dixie leagues, but couldn't quite stand the gaff day in and day out.

He figured himself washed up, went to work. His back hurt, his arm creaked, his ankles swelled whenever he ran far or fast. Then a doctor told him he had bad teeth. A dentist went to work.

Price felt better, thought of another whirl in baseball, but got caught in the draft.

At an army camp at Santa Anita, Calif., Price started pulling some of the routine stunts of every baseball player, found that the G.I.'s got a kick out of it. Encouraged, he added new ones.

Price catches flies in Jeep. Gradually they worked into the routine with which Price convulses American Association crowds.

Price catches and throws while flat on his back, in a wrestling bridge, suspended from the backstop across backward from ankle straps,

Trout Gets No. 25 As Tigers Defeat New York By 8-2 Edge

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sport Writer.

"Hold that Tiger!" was the American League's theme song today but it was beginning to look as though something more desperate was in order if Detroit's Bengals were to be kept out of the 1944 World Series.

Steve O'Neill's ferocious cats have clawed the opposition at a 12-of-17 pace since September 1 to scramble past both St. Louis and New York.

With only 12 games to go and a lead of 1 1/2 games on the Browns, the Tigers dominated the picture today. Two straight over the Yankees had practically eliminated the defending champs, dropping them four games back, and Boston had taken care of itself by losing two in a row to Cleveland to fall six full games behind.

Over the harvest month stretch, O'Neill's batting order, paced by Dick Wakefield, Rudy York and Roger (Doc) Cramer, had slugged out a .302 average while the pitching corps had tamed the enemy with an anemic .242 figure.

Twelve Detroit hits off rookies Mel Queen and Floyd Evers helped Paul (Dizzy) Trout to his 25th victory yesterday with an 8-2 edge over New York. Wakefield belted an inside-the-park homer and two singles to make it easier for Trout who was in trouble only once, when Frank Crossett hit a two-run homer in the seventh.

Jack Kramer kept the Browns up there, bouncing back from Tuesday's discouraging setback to trim Washington, 5-2. Chet Laabs, who replaced Al Zarilla in left field, led the 11-hit attack on Mickey Haefner and Al Carrasquel.

Reliever Jim Bagby stopped Boston in a wild-hitting contest won by Cleveland with two in the 13th, 11-10. Chicago broke loose with six runs in the seventh to give Orval Grove a 6-1 verdict over Russ Christopher.

Bucky Walter grabbed his 22nd win by beating the Phils in the nightcap, 6-4, after Charley Schanz had stopped the Reds in the opener, 3-2. Pittsburgh downed Brooklyn 2-1 to keep the Cardinals from mathematically clinching the flag. Other games were rained out.

Frank Parker Took American Tennis Trophy Just In Time

While he deserves all credit for his persistence and patience, Sgt. Frank Parker—in his 13th shot at it—got up just in time to win the national tennis singles championship in Forest Hills.

While Sergeant Parker's forehead was improved—he traced this to switching from a 15 1-2 to a 14 1-2 ounce racket—it was no more than adequate. He failed to score a single service ace in his final match with Bill Talbert. He is not an instinctive player at the net.

Parker was steady from the baseline, however, and had remarkable control for one totally without tournament experience for the year. Perhaps it is the army experience. Any- way, he acted with more authority than in previous tournaments. He was in superb physical condition.

Parker for several seasons has been barely a step below the first flight. It has taken a stickout player to beat him, and none stood out in the 64th edition of the United States Lawn Tennis Association's show.

Lt. Ted Schroeder, who put Parker out in the 1942 final, and Lt. Joe Hunt, who eliminated him in an early round last summer, could not get away from the Pensacola Naval Air Training Centre. Ensign Jack Kramer was at sea in the Pacific.

It was this year or never for Francisco Segura. Colorful Pancho probably fired the final shot of his last real bid for the national singles crown in being eliminated by Talbert, 3-6, 6-3, 6-0, 6-8, 6-3. The Ecuadorian is beaten by his unorthodox two-handed grip. With it he requires time to get in position to hit with speed and accuracy. He burns.

ONCE A YANKEE ALWAYS A YANKEE

Between hits in his battle for the National League batting championship, Dixie Walker is pulling hard for his old pals, the Yankees, to win another American League pennant. So are other former New York players with the Dodgers—Manager Leo Durocher, Ben Chapman and Frenchy Bordagaray. It's a matter of baseball heritage. None has forgotten the days when he was a member of the Bronx Bombers, for that was tops. Perhaps that's why the Yanks prevail so often.

The plimsoll line is a load line on British merchant vessels indicating legal limit of submergence by weight of cargo.

up energy trying to return balls hit out of his reach. When he switches to a one-headed grip, which he does rarely, the result is nothing more than a weak return.

Talbert, who takes treatments for diabetes, incorporates long ground strokes in a well-rounded game with no weak spots, yet one considerably below championship calibre. The trouble was that he could not risk going to the net often enough against Parker.

Ensign Kramer is the best bet to become the next great star. Young Kramer strengthened this belief when he repelled Lt. Don Budze in Red Cross matches at Madison Square Garden last winter. He possesses a terrific service, a backhand so beautiful that he employs it as a forcing shot. He attacks at the net. The girls are fair enough.

Championship tennis will hop right back into full stride as quickly as the war is won.

During the afternoon races were held with prizes given to the winners. They were awarded as follows: Boys' race 10-12 years: 1 Roderick Fowler, 2 Dean Taber. ### The Lamps Are Lit Again A Tribute To Great Britain

After five long weary years, Years of toil and sweat and tears, We see the lamps in Britain lit again. And, in thankfulness, we pause As we ponder, that the cause For which they fought so nobly will remain.

They had to dim the lights On those terrifying nights, Especially when Britain stood alone. But now they've got the Hun Completely "on the run." Thank God that Britain's saved And still a Home.

The task has been tremendous But our brave boys "carry on"; Never shirking what is dangerous Till the long drear fight is won. How we thank them one and all, When at King and Country's call They left home and showed us all How it is done.

And you, ye men of Britain, What can we say to you To show our admiration For the way you've seen it through? Words fail to give the meaning God bless your King and people And bless your country too.

Then away with black-out dread As in the light you tread May you never see again such years as those, But from strength to strength go on, Secure from all your foes. God's hand must guide the RIGHT And vanquish wrong.
