Fifty-Four Years

MARSHALL IS U.S. DEFENCE SECRETARY

World News In Brief

Ottawa, Sept. 13. — (CP) — Defence Minister Claxton cut short his western trip and flew back to Ottawa today, stirring speculation about further Canadian aid for Europe. He had intended to go on to Vancouver and Victoria from Banff but this plan was cancelled and he came back to the capital this morning aboard an R.C.A.F. plane.

Ottawa, Sept. 13. — (CP) — The Civil Service Federation of Canada, representing 60,000 of Canada's classified 108,000 federal government workers, today asked the Cabinet for a general increase of 23.5 per cent.

Headed by Fred Whitehouse, president of the federation, some 20 delegates called on the cabinet. They presented an 800-word brief saying civil servants are considerably worse off than they were in 1939, and calling for increases in the average salary of $360 a year. They sought the increases retroactively, but did not specify to what date.

Sydney, Australia, Sept. 13. — (Reuters) — The crew of the 7,090-ton British freighter Empire Gladstone abandoned ship Tuesday night when 20-foot waves pounded the vessel. She had been wrecked on a reef last Saturday. Her cargo of iron ore and the ship herself were considered a total loss, but the deck cargo of motor bodies has been salvaged.

Luton, England, Sept. 13. — (AP) — George Bernard Shaw got out of bed briefly today only three days after he fractured his left thigh. The 94-year-old playwright's doctors issued this bulletin: "Mr. Shaw had a good night and his condition this morning is satisfactory. He is able to move his injured leg freely and stood for a few seconds, taking his weight on the sound leg."

London, Sept. 13. — (P) — The Commonwealth's second set of quadruplets within a month was reported "all right but premature" a few hours after their birth today. The newest set—all girls and born within an hour shortly after midnight to Mrs. Elizabeth Coles—were placed in oxygen incubators. Last month's quadruplets—two boys and two girls—were born during a 50-hour period to Mrs. Betty Sara in Australia.

Rio de Janeiro, Sept. 13. — (Reuters) — Thirteen Brazilian athletes died when a B-25 transport plane crashed near Fortaleza in Ceara state, unconfirmed reports reaching here today said.

Commons Will Vote Today On Non-Confidence Motions

Ottawa, Sept. 13. — (P) — The Commons, driving towards a prorogation or adjournment which may come tomorrow, is expected to vote today on two motions of non-confidence in the government. They were introduced yesterday by the Progressive Conservative and C.C.F. parties as the Chamber opened debate on the stop-gap "baby" budget introduced last week to provide interim financing for Canada's expanding defence program.

The Progressive Conservative motion came from J. M. Macdonnell, opposition financial critic, and charged that the government had "failed to take effective steps to curtail non-essential expenditures and improve the general efficiency of government."

The C.C.F. amendment, introduced by Alistair Stewart (CCF-Winnipeg North), added an expression of regret that the government had "failed to protect the people of this country from profiteering by the imposition of an excess profits tax."

Solon Low, Social Credit leader, was prevented by House rules from introducing a third such motion, but he called on the government to introduce a compulsory savings plan, place subsidies under essential goods, remove taxes which cause inflation and bring the country's exports and imports into balance.

James Sinclair (L-Coast-Caplan), parliamentary assistant to Finance Minister Abbott, defended the budget and said it was the obvious of the opposition faced the task of criticizing an accounting which was highly acceptable to the Canadian people.

Other speakers included George Nowlan (CP - Annapolis - Kings),

Appointment Of Ex-State Secretary As Successor To Louis Johnson Is Surprise

Legion Opens Its Ranks To Conscripts

Winnipeg, Sept. 13. — (P) — The Canadian Legion has opened its ranks—although only after tempestuous debate—to conscripted soldiers of the Second World War who served in war theatres.

Delegates to the Dominion convention here debated the controversial change in the Legion constitution for 90 stormy minutes yesterday before it was approved 764 to 428 in a secret ballot.

Legionnaires who spoke strongly in favor of the move included Hon. C. Rhodes Smith, Manitoba's attorney-general and chairman of the Legion's constitution and laws committee, and H. A. Newmark of Montreal, spokesman for the Quebec command.

Mr. Smith, who introduced the motion, said the move was designed to unite all those who bore arms in the service of Canada. Men conscripted in the First World War were Legion members and in other Commonwealth countries men conscripted for service were admitted to Legion membership.

He said men conscripted under the National Resources Mobilization Act who refused to change their status but served in action as conscripts were "just as much volunteers" as those servicemen who waited until they knew they were going overseas and then volunteered.

Mr. Newmark charged that delegates opposing the move were being inconsistent. Monday they had urged the government to implement conscription.

He claimed N.R.M.A. men had "exhibited appalling ignorance of what the law required" and were provided with little opportunity to get this information.

"If they had understood they would have been prepared to do their duty," he said.

Those who went overseas and saw action were "not less resolute" in facing the enemy than volunteers.

T. Poolton of Kapuskasing, Ont., said he did not want "men who lay around Canada for 3 1/2 years admitted to the Legion."

Ray Mann of Brantford, Ont., said the Legion "will invite disintegration by accepting to membership men who dishonored their country by failing to offer the same sacrifice as those now buried in foreign soil."

An amendment proposed by Bob MacNicol of Gibson, B.C., asking a secret ballot, was taken, the entire membership was voted down.

Marshall is famed in Washington for getting his associates to carry the main burden of work while he sticks to high-policy formulation. He is expected to sponsor defence department methods much more in line with those of state.

When Marshall first became Secretary of State in January 1947, Acheson was undersecretary and remained in that position for six months. He developed a high regard for Marshall and his association continued after Acheson resigned to return to private law practice. In January, 1949, Acheson succeeded Marshall.

The two men, therefore, have shared responsibility for developing the main lines of policy which the United States now is following—and over which Acheson, under the President, has immediate direction.

Diplomats, normally sensitive to any ascendancy of military influence in policy-making, feel no fear on that score in connection with Marshall. Rather it is the reverse. The recent incidents of Navy Secretary Francis Matthews' statement on preventive war and Gen. Douglas MacArthur's outspoken views on Formosa tended to create fears in the State Department that Johnson might be swinging away from the civilian—directed international policies of the government into a tough-handed military kind of policy.

With British Forces in Korea, Sept. 13. — (Reuters) — British-led South Korean police today made considerable advances against increasing resistance in their sweep against guerrillas behind the British lines.

Supported by accurate American shelling and low-sweeping planes, they continued a four-pronged drive through the hilly area behind the British positions first reported yesterday.

Change Seen As Move To Strengthen Acheson In Drive To Speed Up Organization Of Strong Atlantic Alliance Defence Force.

New York, Sept. 13. — (P) — The resignation of Louis Johnson, United States defence secretary, is seen by American and foreign diplomats at the Big Three meeting here as a move strengthening State Secretary Dean Acheson in his drive to speed up the organization of a strong Atlantic alliance defence force in western Europe.

President Truman's decision to name his former State Secretary, George Marshall, to succeed Johnson, reinforced the view that Acheson's policies now will have full and vigorous support of the Truman Cabinet without the frictions and delays which have been attributed to the so-called Johnson-Acheson feud.

News of Johnson's resignation and Marshall's impending appointment hit the Big Three conference like a bombshell yesterday.

The sessions, which opened yesterday, went into their second day amid evidence that Acheson, Foreign Secretary Bevin of Britain and Foreign Minister Schuman of France are coming to grips with the key problem of the meeting—whether, when and how to fit German military units into the developing western defence system in Europe.

Yesterday's meetings, totalling about 3 1/2 hours, were largely devoted to a presentation by Acheson of the American proposals for Europe's defence—a unified military force, centralized command staff and eventual supreme commander, and a maximum effort by the Atlantic treaty countries to get the whole arms production program in high gear.

This led into questions of how to finance the costs of arms output—with heavy American assistance—and of how to ease the impact of increasing military production on the European recovery program. Special committees were assigned to these problems. Likewise, a detailed study of German problems, particularly the problem of ending the state of war with the west German government and giving it more authority, was turned over to subordinates.

The programs which Acheson laid down here yesterday and to which full British reaction was expected today—with the French to speak up probably tomorrow—represent the last joint accomplishment of Acheson and Johnson.

The two men were compelled to work together closely and frequently. On public occasions each stressed their co-operation. Associates less concerned with the outward appearance of harmony said that while they got on together personally in a cordial manner, distrust and suspicion hindered their relations.

Marshall is famed in Washington for getting his associates to carry the main burden of work while he sticks to high-policy formulation. He is expected to sponsor defence department methods much more in line with those of state.

U.K. Draws On Her War Reserves

By E. S. JOHNSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer
London, Sept. 13. — (P) — Britain is drawing heavily on her military reserves—consignments to "cold storage" after the second world war—in strengthening her defences to meet the uncertainties of the mounting international crisis.

Already orders have gone out from the Admiralty to thaw out 80 units of the country's so-called "frozen fleet," sealed scientifically since 1945 but kept ready for action on short notice.

Hundreds of planes have been taken out of mothballs, while reserve tanks, guns and other armaments are being refitted and reconditioned for service.

These are among measures taken by the defence department under the emergency program approved late in July.

Much of the reserve has been earmarked to bolster Britain's increased commitments in Korea and other Far-Eastern trouble spots, but some of it will be retained to buttress western European and home defences.

In its announcement, the Admiralty made known that among the ships to be recommissioned are 35 minesweepers, 24 landing craft, nine frigates, seven destroyers, five boom-defence ships and some miscellaneous vessels.

The refitting job has been allocated to private yards in 10 different areas. Immediately after the present schedule is completed it is understood other groups will be assigned so that most ships in the reserve fleet can be brought to a high state of readiness.

Apart from this program, work is being speeded up on completion of four aircraft carriers. Laid down toward the end of the war, each has a displacement of 18,300 tons, speed of 30 knots and is equipped to carry 50 planes. It is thought they will not be ready before the end of the year.

Actual strength of Britain's armament reservoir has been cloaked in secrecy for security reasons. It is common knowledge, however, that vast stores of aircraft, tanks, armored cars, and fighting ships of almost every category were put away for safe-keeping after the war.

But before being placed in reserve, the "ghost fleet" and other costly armaments were scientifically treated and stored in plastic "cocoon" against the ravages of time and weather.

The cold-storage reserve is being tapped only as an emergency measure to tide Britain over the present pressure period. A great volume of modern arms, beginning to flow from the nation's arsenals, will ultimately take its place.

United Nations Task Force Traps 3,000 North Koreans

Tokyo, Sept. 13. — (P) — A swift-striking United Nations task force rammed shut a trap today on 3,000 North Koreans on the northeast front.

The secret sweep by a composite force of American and South Korean troops was led by Brig. Gen. Gar Davidson, former West Point football star.

Davidson's speedy end run across what he called "billygoat" terrain—or worse—sealed the southern gate of a mountain corridor northwest of Kyongju.

Lifted a major communist threat to important Pohang airfield on the Korean east coast.

It was the highlight of the day's action on the whole 125-mile front, which was whipped by the fringes of a typhoon.

To the west, the South Korean 8th division punched several miles ahead in its drive east of Kyongju. It has thrust 12 miles in three days.

Units of the division wheeled as much as nine miles north of the Yongchon-Kyongju road.

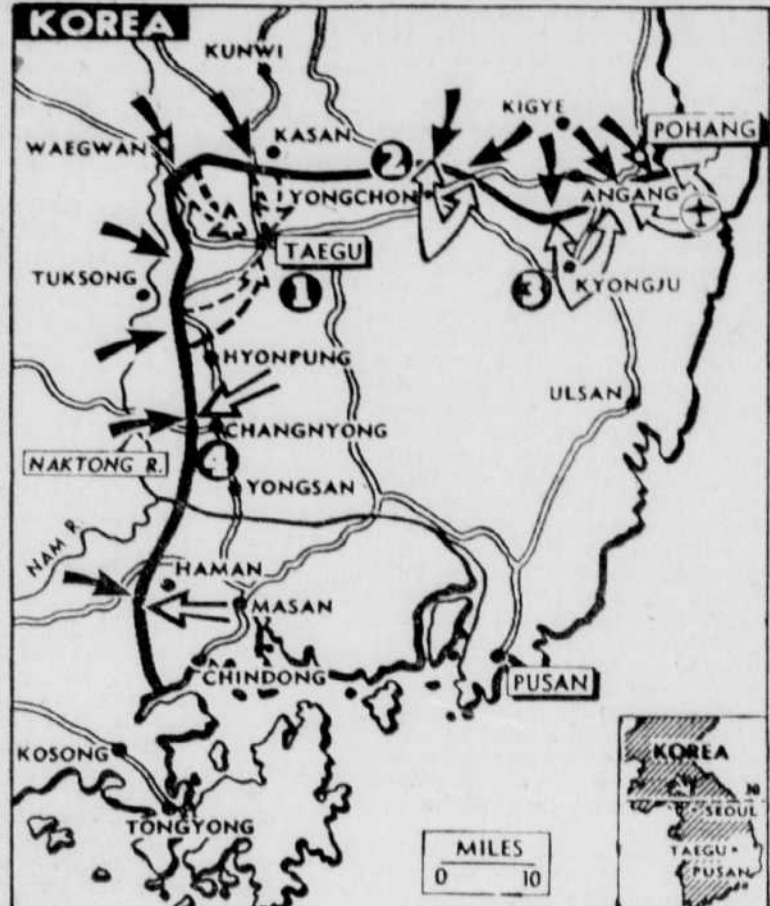

Gen. MacArthur's headquarters said the allies still do not hold a solid line along the northeast front. But United Nations forces can throw fire on any point, MacArthur's spokesman added.

North and northwest of Taegu, the situation was described as "continuously fluid."

Associated Press correspondent Jack MacBeth said U.S. 1st Cavalry units launched another attack Wednesday morning against an important communist-held hill eight miles north of Taegu. This was in the immediate area where the American troops stormed and won a peak Tuesday in a bitter day-long battle.

Continuing Menace

Broken arrows show the continuing Red menace to the key city of Taegu (1), with enemy forces massed north, west and southwest. South Korean troops continued their attacks around Yongchon (2) and Kyongju (3), and other units pushed north and west of Pohang (4) (plane symbol) to collapse Red encircling movement. Fighting on the Naktong River front, around Changnyong (1), reached a stalemate.

Weary And Disgruntled, UN Council Takes A Holiday

By STANLEY JOHNSON
Lake Success, N.Y., Sept. 13. — (P) — Security Council delegates, after witnessing Russia's 45th veto, began consultations today for the opening of the United Nations General Assembly next Tuesday.

Weary from six weeks of almost-daily meetings, they voted to take the rest of the week off and meet for their last pre-Assembly session next Monday.

They will take up then communist China's charges of United States aggression against the island of Formosa.

Russia yesterday vetoed an American resolution to set up a commission to investigate other Red Chinese charges of American bombings of Manchuria. The Council then decisively defeated a Russian move to condemn the U.S. for the alleged attacks. Only the Soviet Union voted for its proposal.

Informed sources here speculated that delegates voted the recess not only to do spade work in preparation for the opening of the General Assembly, but to consult their governments on the Formosan issue.

They said such consultation probably is vital to the British, American and French representatives whose Foreign Ministers are trying to thrash out a Formosan policy at their meetings in New York.

The sources said there would be little point in those delegates debating the Formosan question today, faced with the possibility that the meetings of the Big Three might result in a change of tactics, but that by Monday the situation should be clearer.

Many diplomats fear, however, that debate on the issue itself will be delayed by Russia's promised re-introduction of an appeal to invite a representative of the Peiping government to participate.

Yesterday's Russian veto cleared the Council's calendar of issues dealing with the Korean war. Observers here feel that the countries fighting under the U.N. flag to beat back aggression now will turn the problem over to the General Assembly, where Russia has no veto.

Diplomats said privately today that Russia now is in the awkward position propaganda-wise of having prevented an impartial investigation of the alleged bombings. They qualified this somewhat by saying that the U.S. position on the propaganda front might have been even stronger if U.S. delegate Warren R. Austin had not led the fight against permitting a representative of Red China to make the charges in person.

Yesterday's meeting has had few equals for sheer vitriolic nastiness since the U.N. was founded in 1945. Soviet delegate Jakob Malik dropped the habit of labelling the U.S. "imperialist aggressors" and resorted to the words "murderers, thieves, gangsters."

Britain's suave Sir Gladwyn Jebb stepped down from the President's chair and, in his position as British delegate, rebuked Malik for the "gratuitously offensive" remarks.

Maritimer Is Elected Moderator

Toronto, Sept. 13. — (P) — A Cape Breton coal miner's son, who says he comes from good, Scot- Presbyterian stock, is the new Moderator of the United Church of Canada.

Dr. Clarence M. Nicholson, principal of Pine Hill Divinity Hall, Halifax, won election to the church's highest post at opening sessions last night of the General Council's 10-day meeting.

At 46 one of the youngest men ever elected to office, Dr. Nicholson received 219 of the 336 votes cast in a second ballot. He succeeds Very Rev. Willard Brewster of Toronto, who had been Moderator since 1948.

Four other leading clergymen in the church were nominated. They were Rev. Gordon A. Sisco, council secretary from Toronto, Rev. Douglas H. Telford, Vancouver, Rev. G. D. Kilpatrick, Montreal, and Rev. John M. Mutch, Hamilton.

The tall, new Moderator was born in the shadow of a colliery in the little town of Dominion, N.S. He was educated in Cape Breton schools, and prior to entering Dalhousie University he had worked two years in the coalfields for his tuition fees.

At Dalhousie, he spent his summers doing mission work for the United Church.

Dr. Nicholson became principal of Pine Hill Divinity College, oldest of the eight United Church training schools, more than four years ago. Previously he held pastorates at four churches in Nova Scotia.

He is married and has two sons, aged 12 and nine.

In 1948 he went to Europe as United Church delegate to major church conferences. He attended the Modern Churchmen's conference of the Alliance of Reformed Churches holding the Presbyterian system, and the first meeting of the then newly-formed World Council of Churches.

Following his election, Dr. Nicholson told reporters he feels the issue of materialism, secular as well as communist, to be the great church problem in the immediate future.

He had no step-by-step program mapped out for his two-year period of office but he saw in the Moderatorship an opportunity to provide inspirational leadership.

Dr. Brewster, the retiring Moderator, told the council the Christian church should avail itself of its dynamic spiritual weapons and rely less on materialism.

Of the Korean war and threats of other wars, he said: "It is not a quarrel between resistance and non-resistance. From the Christian view it is a quarrel between violent material resistance and violent spiritual resistance. Love is more dynamic than hate."

Labor Union Discusses Many Items

Montreal, Sept. 13. — (P) — The Trades and Labor Congress of Canada in relatively quiet sessions yesterday reaffirmed its policy on some 40 issues ranging from wages and hours to support of public ownership for the CBC.

The Congress, at its annual convention here, approved the five-day, 40-hour week, demanded re-imposition of price and rent controls and passage of a federal bill of rights guaranteeing human rights and fundamental freedoms.

They gave their support to the anti-Red International Confederation of Free Trade Unions, formed several months ago, asked two weeks' annual vacation with pay for all workers and extension of old-age security to provide a $60-a-month payment without the means test for men at 65 and women at 60.

Canada's Trading Position Is Discussed By C. Of C.

By FORBES RUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor
Banff, Alta., Sept. 13. — (P) — If you want to have things you must produce them.

This theme was banged out by Roy W. Gifford of Detroit in a session on Canada's trading position at today's sessions of the annual meeting of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Gifford said the standard of living of Canada and the United States is the highest in the world. Natural resources were not the full answer.

"Wealth cannot be produced by legislation. Rather, it is the result of high productivity, on our farms and in our factories. Unless the rest of the world can increase its productivity, our problems and theirs will multiply."

"Our very greatness in productivity may be our undoing unless by some means the rest of the world can be assisted in improving their own productivity and wealth production. A higher living standard would be the greatest single factor in stopping the spread of communism."

G. Gordon Cockshut of Brantford, Ont., dealt with Anglo-Canadian trade. He is chairman of the Canadian section of the Anglo-Canadian trade committee, and of the Canadian section of the Canada-United States committee, and a past president of the Canadian Chamber.

He reported progress in the Anglo-Canadian situation, but added: "We Canadians believe that the United Kingdom has perhaps been too restrictive and arbitrary in setting quotas and in cancelling long-standing trade arrangements between our two countries."

"The efforts of the Anglo-Canada-dian trade committee have been directed toward breaking down these trade restrictions and in working toward freer trade, primarily in agricultural products.

"We believe, however, that greater interest should be directed to the subject of sales of Canadian manufactured goods in the United Kingdom."

"The position in which the Canadian manufacturer attempting to sell to the United Kingdom today finds himself is a matter which should be of grave concern to both countries. Had it not been for the present increase in industrial mobilization for defence, we believe it would have been possible for the United Kingdom to have lifted many of the obstructions which had restricted the sale of Canadian goods in the United Kingdom."

"Unquestionably, defence mobilization will curtail the amount of British products available in Canadian markets, and in the days to come various forms of mutual aid will maintain the United Kingdom dollar position."

"However, no Canadian viewing the long range prospect of trade between the two countries can help realizing that the future of this country will be closely related economically with that of the United Kingdom, and that the efforts of such organizations as the Anglo-Canadian trade committee to meet the problem, must be vigorously maintained by Canadian business men."

"It seems inevitable that the English-speaking world will eventually co-ordinate their production and consumption, that their living standards will be comparable and that in this closely-knit world artificial restrictions must be eliminated."

NINA TALKS ON TABOO THEME PROVING SHE'S NO FREUDY-CAT

Hollywood — While other panicky movie dolls are worrying whether this or that supposed symptom means anything mental, a Duse name Nina Foch is telling her subconscious where to get off.

No tantrums on movie sets, no
snake pit diodes and no road maps showing the nearest route to the psycho clinic for Nina.

She whacked ten years off her press agent's life span by telling me:

"Darling, I've had an analysis."

Now, the oh-so-comfy couch in the darkened offices of any Dr.
Zilberphugel you can name is as taboo on the average star's conversation list as undeclared husbands and private opinions of producers' brain cells, but Nina's right up there with Shelley Winters when it comes to blurring out what's on her mind.

"Columbia paid for my analysis, too," Nina says. "I was lonely and mixed up. I thought I was out of step. But after my analysis, I realized that I was out of step with something I shouldn't have been in step with in the first place."

"You don't catch Nina biting the hand of the studio that shelved out so that she could say, 'Boo, yourself' to schizophrenia, dementia praecox or any of the other Freudian monsters that scare nervous movie dolls."

Bellowing Basso

She explains: "Columbia taught me what it was that I should never do. Where else in the world but Hollywood can an actress get paid to grow up?"

The Nina with the mental kinks all neatly ironed out is back in movietown with a bellowing new voice that makes Lauren Bacall, Pat Neal and Ann Sheridan sound like sissies.

Nina has the role of her movie career at MGM in "An American in Paris."

"The woman I play is terribly neurotic," Nina sighs with pleasure. "But I don't think the studio knows it."

The minute word got around that the Foch name was on the same payroll as Clark Gable and Lana Turner, hordes of real estates agents began to camp at Nina's doorstep with listings of bargain Hollywood mansions.

She's strictly an apartment girl.
"Besides," she said, "I had to cancel out summer stock jobs to do this and pay the managers a hefty sum for my release. When I finish with the picture, I'll have a zero."

Nina is a bug about the stage and she's been advised to keep her mouth zipped up in the presence of Hollywood scribes.

She says she'll talk, anyhow.
Her foot's been in her mouth ever since she hit Celine Dion Alley and began to sound off.

Three-B's Background

Lots of filmsters used to run the other way, too, when it became known that her papa was conductor of the London Civic Symphony, her mother a concert pianist and her maternal great-great uncle the celebrated Lord Byron.

"I got into trouble because I didn't come from a gas station," she laughs. "I could speak English and people who can speak English aren't understood by people who come from gas stations."

Let Hollywood make what it will of it, Nina prefers Broadway.

She drools over flop plays—
"My agent told me I'd lay an egg by doing 'The Phoenix Too Frequent' but I pointed out that I was going to feel awfully good laying it"—and says that she's got a trick or two with make-up that turns her into a tearing beauty in front of the footlights.

"It's time Hollywood stopped being on the defensive when somebody lets it drop that he'll take Broadway. What are you people afraid of out here? I wouldn't criticize anybody who told me he hated New York. I'd look at him and say: 'What's the matter, can't you get a job?'"

Maybe she'll get shot at dawn for saying it, but she even likes making pictures in New York. She co-stars with Dick Haymes in "St. Benny the Dip" and for her money there's more freedom to running the emotional gamut under the shadow of Grant's tomb.

"You don't have the production office on your neck."

No iron-clad movie contracts for Nina.

She says: "One picture a year, perhaps, with the right to do what I want to in the theater."

found two mitigating circumstances: (a) the chicken had committed the initial misdemeanor by trespassing on the Myers' property, and (b) this was Whiskey's first offense, and a city-trained dog could hardly be expected to know all the rural laws.

"Sentence suspended," the judge pronounced Billy, "but from now on the dog is to be muzzled and kept on a leash. And there will be no clemency in case of a second offense."

A week later, Billy was walking Whiskey through town—leashed but unmuzzled—when he bumped into Mrs. McMinn coming out of the supermarket, her arms full of burles. Scared stiff that she would notice the uncaged nose of his pet, the kid turned and raced down the street—and ran smack-dab into even worse trouble.

The trouble was a local boy named Randy, several inches taller than Billy, who decided he didn't like the "fancy-pants" from the city and started to rough him up.
That is, he did until Whiskey sized up the situation and nipped the bully neatly in the leg.

Billy took one look at the blood oozing from his adversary's stocking, and another at the Widow McMinn who was still standing in front of the store. Then he grabbed the leash, dashed into the nearest alley and didn't stop running until he was home.

That evening our local paper carried the story about Randy being bitten by an unidentified dog, and at the dinner table Billy's father read it aloud. When he came to the part about the 14 painful injections which Randy would have to take if the dog wasn't located, Billy asked to be excused and went to his room.

Later that evening, knowing full well that it meant the death of his pet, he confessed to his parents that the culprit they were looking for was Whiskey.

Next morning the terrier was found free of rabies, but the parents of Randy filed a complaint against the Myers family. At the trial the same judge presided, and to make matters worse the Widow McMinn stepped forward and asked permission to address the Court.

"Your Honor," she began, "it so happens that I witnessed the whole thing, and although, as the Court knows, I ain't overfond of this pickler dog, I want to see justice done. I've always heard tell that self-defense, with or without a weapon, is a good defense in a court of law. Well, seeing as how this small boy was attacked by the bigger boy—and the only weapon, he had to defend himself with was his dog—I say that this dog acted not as a dog in this to pickler case but as a weapon.

"I of course intended to report the matter to the police, but the little fella beat me to it, and seeing as how Your Honor warned him what would happen to his dog in case of a second offense, I think he deserves a whole lot of credit for bringing the critter forward voluntarily."

The prosecuting parties quickly saw the justice of the widow's plea, as did the court, and the case against Whiskey was dismissed.
And the last I heard of him, the terrier seemed to be adjusting himself fine to country life.

In other words, if Billy's case is any criterion, a dog owner who is honorable enough to take responsibility for the actions of his pet stands a good chance of getting fair-minded and sympathetic treatment in court. And I think you'll grant that I'm in a pretty good position to know about such things.

Very truly yours,
Allan J. Gedney,
Justice of the Peace.

Finland's Traditions, Inclinations Point To West, Rotary Speaker Says

"Finns and Canadians have a great deal in common," Dr. Lawrence Chalmers Tombs, of Montreal, Consul to Finland, told members of the Rotary Club at their regular meeting last night.

In some respects Finland's position in Europe and the world is unique, he said. Despite her north-eastern geographic position, her tradition and inclinations have always pointed to the West. He expressed the opinion that in achievement and attitude the republic is more positively Western than some countries actually situated farther to the West.

Dr. Tombs said that Finland has suffered from the wars and although she has made a remarkable partial recovery her dollar position is extremely acute and she is struggling with the problem of inflation as a country with a traditionally high standard of living.

"The Finns are meeting faithfully and on time, as is their tradition, all their international obligations," he continued. "Apart from a very modest American loan, Finland has continued to pay her own way without assistance. She does not receive Marshall Plan aid."

Dr. Tombs pointed out that the one fact everyone knows about Finland is that she invariably met the payments on her old American debt. Possibly, he said, if her reputation for efficiency and reliability were not so high, more favored countries would occasionally try to help her.

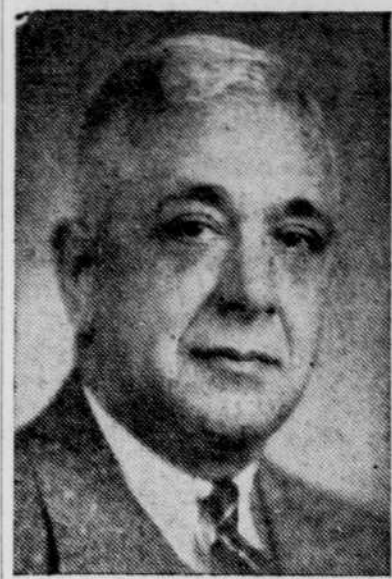

In conclusion the speaker said that the Finnish people are too sensible and too politically minded to talk loosely of the imminence or the inevitability of war. "I found them exceedingly friendly, informal, hospitable, hard working and reasonably confident," he said.

Dr. Tombs was introduced by Henry Downs, Jr., and thanked by President W. S. Sutherland.

In the absence of President Evans Joslin the chair was occupied by immediate Past President B. D. Lyon, who welcomed visiting Rotarians A. Dussault, Mont Joli, and Bert Wayland, Thetford Mines, as well as the following guests, Frank Garrett, Preston, England, Roland Daoust, Magog, E. R. Dalrymple, Montreal, Billie Brent, Andover, Mass., A. Hellgren, Uppsala, Sweden, L. C.

Police Seek Vermont Station Wagon

Provincial Police and Vermont State police are on the lookout for the driver of a station wagon, bearing a Vermont licence number. The driver of the vehicle is alleged to have been the cause of a serious accident which occurred on the Route No. 5 Highway near the North Hatley turn on Monday evening.

Two cars were heavily damaged and one person was injured in the head-on collision.

A car driven by a resident of Waterville, collided with a car driven by a youth from Sherbrooke. The Vermont station wagon is believed to have cut between the two cars.

Provincial Police Traffic Officer Archie Tremblay investigated the accident.

Bank Robber Says He Was Key Figure In Liberal Plot; Charge Is Denied

St. Hyacinthe, Que., Sept. 13.—A bank robber testified yesterday that he was the key figure in a Liberal party plot to overthrow Quebec's Union Nationale government — and within a few hours his claim was branded "ridiculous" by a Liberal spokesman.

Adding another bizarre touch to the strange recent case in which confessed bank robber Charles-Emile Poliquin accused three provincial police officers of plotting bank robberies, the 28-year-old former Montreal taxi driver told a court here yesterday that he was "talked to by influential people of the Liberal party so as to overthrow the party in power, the actual government."

Poliquin yesterday was awaiting sentence on a charge of holding up the Banque Canadienne Nationale branch at St. Hyacinthe, Que., last Dec. 2nd. He had pleaded guilty.

Before his present trial, Poliquin was the chief prosecution witness in the conspiracy trial of Detective Lieut. Marcel Patenaude, head of the provincial police hold-up squad, and two others.

All three were acquitted. Yesterday, awaiting sentence on the robbery charge, Poliquin told the court his accusations against the officers were "pure fabrication from A to Z."

Stating that Poliquin's charges were of "exceptional gravity," Judge Hermann Barrette postponed sentence until Sept. 20th.

Late last night, Henri Arthur Dutil, chief Quebec City district Liberal party organizer, branded Poliquin's "allegations about the Liberals: 'Ridiculous! It sounds like dime novel stuff.'"

Montreal, Sept. 13.—The judicial probe into alleged vice in Montreal's police department enters its third day today with an accusation of laxity against local bookmakers already made against one police officer.

The process, however, is expected to be a long-drawn-out affair as 80 members or former members of the police department and five members of the city executive committee are charged in a 1,094 page petition.

Accused specifically yesterday was Sgt. Paul Clair. The petition said Clair made 12 raids on a downtown book from 1941-43 and each time arrested a keeper who was not the proper man. He also charged said, seized objects "of little importance" and made false reports.

Bench warrants also were issued against Mr. and Mrs. Angelon Bisanti, subpoenaed witnesses who failed to show up.

Dossiers relating to the probe were brought into the court in 23 big cases and selection of each record proved a tremendous task.

To speed up proceedings, Mr. Justice Francois Caron of Superior Court asked that prosecutors classify the dossiers ahead of time and outside the court.

Earlier, Lucien Verdon, superintendent of services of the Montreal board of assessors, testified that bookies operated in a central Montreal section.

Pacifique Plante, former head of the morality squad who was dismissed in 1948 for insubordination, said he would produce records "available at recorder's court which constitute the foundations of our charges."

"We wish to prove that the city of Montreal, through its police department, has not taken the necessary steps afforded by the laws of the country to act against owners and tenants of disorderly houses," he said.

Dr. M. W. Hicks Lauds Work Of V. O. N. Nurses

Dr. M. W. Hicks paid tribute today to the excellent service given the community by the Victorian Order of Nurses, and urged the public to be generous in their support of the annual campaign for funds for this organization.

"I have had the opportunity on many occasions to call on the V.O.N. nurses for care of the sick in the homes," Dr. Hicks said. "They have proved most attentive and helpful and patients often expressed their appreciation for the excellent care they received during their visit. The V.O.N. cause is one which is worthy of full public support."

In the year 1949, the V.O.N. nurses made approximately 8,000 visits. Of these, over 3,000 were in the nature of prenatal, confinement and post-natal visits. Some 500 visits were to cancer patients, while over 1,000 visits were paid to chronic cases such as arthritis, illnesses of later years and to people who have suffered strokes.

As a matter of fact the increase in life expectancy brings with it an increase in chronic ailments associated with old age and a broadening field for V.O.N. services.

Citizens are reminded that donations are deductible for income tax purposes, and are asked to support this organization which is at the service of the general public at all times.

Wrong Person Is Named In Arrest Story

The Record, in an article last June 21st, stated that Armand Cormier had been arrested at Waterville for the alleged theft of money from the railway ticket office at Waterville.

This was erroneous as Mr. Cormier was not involved. The person arrested was a juvenile who, in his subsequent court appearance, was freed after a warning by the judge.

The Record regrets any embarrassment that may have been caused Mr. Cormier by this error.

Space Is Big Problem For Catholic Schools

Statistics released by the Catholic School Commission recently indicate that for the present, at least, it is facing the same problem of the Protestant Board—lack of space to cope with the ever increasing registration in the local schools.

However two Catholic schools are nearing completion, one on the corner of Ontario and Dominion Streets, and the other on Orford Street. Mr. Vigneault, secretary of the Commission, stated that four other buildings will be erected shortly, three in the East Ward and one in the West, which will increase the number of classes by 34.

There are actually 23 schools under the jurisdiction of the Catholic Board and this year there is a total registration of 6,763 students, that is 3,602 boys and 3,161 girls, as compared with last year's total of 6,173 students, of whom 3,315 were boys and 2,858 girls. Total number of classes last year were 217, and the 1950-51 scholastic year has begun with 248.

As in the case with the Protestant children some of the Catholic students are attending school in classes held in various church halls.

Error Was Made In Reporting Court Charge

A report in the Record of Aug. 21, listing sentences given out in the Recorder's Court at Lennoxville, erroneously stated that Lloyd Price had been fined for vagrancy.

The charge should have been reported as disturbing the peace, not vagrancy. The Record regrets any embarrassment that may have been caused Mr. Price by this error.

Our Congratulations To:

REV. W. ROSS ADAMS, minister of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, who is observing his birthday today.

Plans Are Ready For Sixth Annual Rotary Fair At Boundary Next Week

Derby Line, Sept. 13.—One of the most looked-forward-to events at the Boundary is the annual Boundary Rotary Fair, and the Sixth edition of this most popular event will get underway at the Rock Island Armory on Thursday evening, September 21. As the advertising says, it will be "Fun For All—All For Charity," and the Fair will be truly bigger and better than ever, with more games, more prizes, and all the old favorites as well.

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings will be spent in building, decorating and stocking the various booths so that everything will be rolling on Thursday evening from the time the doors open until the door prize has been drawn.

The prizes this year will have to be seen to be believed, they are so varied, so fine and there are so many of them. There will be a door prize each evening of a really fine mantel clock; one that not only looks good but will run and keep time for years and years. There will be 22 cash prizes plus an electric refrigerator for the drawings. Chancit has even more beautiful prizes than usual, including Hudson Bay blankets, silver and china tea sets, cocktail sets, and many other items.

Prizes for the corny game—the one you sit down to play—have been carefully selected for both quality and variety, and all the other booths will be filled with items that are so attractive you cannot resist trying to win some for yourself.

It takes months of advance planning by Elwin Chadsey and his staff to get the items, arrange for the right number of booths, and get all the multitude of things ready far enough ahead to be certain that there will be no last-minute hitches that might spoil the opening night.

Even some of the members of the Rotary Club of the Boundary do not realize how much advance work is required, but all of them know that there is plenty of work the week the Fair is on. Each member has a job to do, and a job that uses up all six evenings, even though the Fair itself only runs Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

While no expense is spared to make certain that the prizes will be extra-good, every effort is made to save money by having the work done by members and the many others who are glad and happy to assist. The more work that can be done by those willing to give their time, means more money to aid local charities and such projects as the Rotary Children's Camp, the Children's Room at the Haskell Library, the annual Halloween party, the U.N. Project in the local high schools, and the many other not-publicized uses of the money raised at the Fair.

The idea is to return to the public every possible cent taken in, either in the form of prizes or doing things for the benefit of the people who have so much fun each year at the Fair.

Everything will be ready Thursday evening, September 21st, at the Rock Island Armory, and the more that come, the more can be done. It's really "Fun For All—All For Charity."

THE HELL-DRIVERS

For the second time in three years a hell-driver's car has crashed through the rails at the exhibition grounds.

Fortunately Sunday's accident had none of the unfortunate results of the 1947 crash when several persons were injured, but it emphasizes the fact that greater precautions should be taken to protect the public, not just in Sherbrooke but wherever these cars perform.

Already this year at least one person has been killed in Quebec province by one of these car driving acts. Accidents and deaths will continue until proper guard rails are placed around all the tracks, especially in front of the grandstands.

The majority of these drivers will not stage their show unless all the spectators have been cleared from behind the rails and placed in the stands. This is commendable but it is not enough.

Cars travelling at tremendous speeds can shatter wooden railings into dangerous splinters that may well fly into the grandstand and strike a spectator. There is always the danger of fire.

Steel rails will not completely remove the danger from these shows but they will lessen it and where human life is involved every precaution should be taken.

RUSSIAN PEACE TALK

The world is again being fed a batch of transparent Russian lies, the latest being Jakob Malik's explanation to the United Nations Security Council of what a Russian plane was doing in the Korean area.

American planes shot down the Soviet bomber after it had opened fire on their air patrol. With customary Russian effrontery, Malik declared the Soviet craft unarmed and on a "training mission." He demanded full payment for the loss of ship and crew.

Moreover, he claimed the plane was just entering the limits of Port Arthur, Russian naval base in Chinese Manchuria west of Korea. That placed the scene 70 miles north and 85 miles west of the spot where U. S. flyers said they engaged the bomber.

About the only thing Malik didn't claim was that the United States had shot down one of its own planes by mistake. There is a Russian body complete with serial number to disprove that.

As if all this were not enough, on the same day Malik filed this phony protest he vetoed a U. S. resolution in the Security Council which called for localizing the Korean war. It was the 44th Soviet veto since the UN began.

Until the Korean war broke out, the attitude of many enlightened statesmen in the free world was that so long as Russia came to the UN and talked, peace was safe. Just give her a place to blow off steam, to try to justify her actions before the bar of world opinion, and everything would be all right.

The war has exposed the shallowness of this reasoning. Sir Gladwyn Jebb, astute British newsman to the UN, was the first to take public note of this fact.

Jebb pointed out—and Malik's sickening August performance as council president made clear—that to the Russians peace talk is a part of war strategy. It is not only a prelude to war, it is an accompaniment.

Peace talk is a means of dividing and confusing the opponents of aggression, of sowing doubt, of taking the starch out of the enemy's resolve. Hitler used the same technique but the Russians have vastly refined it.

To the Soviet Union, peace talk is a logical extension of war... How long will the free nations go on pretending it is otherwise? How long will they play the Russian game?

A U. S. Senate group already has advised the United States to prepare for a UN without Russia. Sentiment for a world organization free of the Soviet Union's degrading influence is unquestionably rising in many quarters of the globe.

Certainly the world is deceiving itself if it sees assurances of safety from war in Soviet peace gestures which are no more than one phase of the tactics of aggression.

SPRITGLY GBS

The old man is at it again. A couple of days ago people were just about ready to wipe off George Bernard Shaw as an amazing specimen of mankind who had finally reached the end of the road. At 94 it seemed unlikely that he would regain his ever-youthful sprightliness after breaking a thigh bone.

But yesterday, just 12 hours after an operation on the injured member he was sitting up in bed, chuckling over the mournful accounts of his fall and berating his nurse for giving him too many baths.

In typical Shawian manner he asked for a certificate to say he had been washed in the morning.

"Otherwise," said Shaw, "someone else will come along in five minutes and give me another one."

You can think what you like about Shaw's views, but you have to give him credit for always living up to his reputation. Some day GBS is going to die and the world can give voice to its eulogies.

But until that time there should be caution in the comments. Even bed-bound Shaw shows no signs of letting anyone else have the last word.

"LIMITLESS" RESOURCES

Chatham Daily News
At a recent gathering of conservationists, a speaker, in a very impressive way called attention to the folly of public men who are constantly stating to the people that the resources of Canada are boundless and that the forest and mineral supplies are "inexhaustible."

So far as our minerals are concerned, the fact is that, while we do not know the extent of our resources, we know only too well that when the whole of the economic mineral is removed from any single lot, all that is left is a hole in the ground; and we are equally sure that, with the present rate of consumption of worth-while pine and spruce trees, the next generation will find themselves destitute unless effective steps are taken to replace the abstracted trees with others planted by hand.

OLD TEETH FOR SALE

BBC London Letter
Four times a year in a big London warehouse down at the docks, a few men gather to bid for old teeth. These originally belonged to African elephants and they come to the warehouse from all over that continent to be sorted, measured, graded and finally auctioned. Some ivory is obtained from elephants that are shot, though these are very few, some is found on dead animals in swamps and undergrowth and some is paid in taxes by tribal chiefs. Ivory is mainly used for toilet articles, brushes, fittings for expensive dressing-cases and piano keys. It is also used for making billiard balls, which are turned on a lathe from solid pieces of ivory. However, the composition ball has replaced the ivory billiard ball in many places and nowadays ivory billiard balls are sold only in Europe and South America.

OLD-FASHIONED PLOW IS BEST

Hamilton Spectator
Farmers are still sharply divided over the views advanced in that controversial work, Ploverman's Folly, which held that the modern mould-board plow is destructive to the soil. The author of the book advocated shallow plowing as the best method for conserving the soil's fertility and obtaining the highest yields in crops.

It is interesting in this connection to observe that the experience of farmers in Egypt confirms much that is set forth in Ploverman's Folly. They have been cultivating the land in Egypt for many centuries and their methods have changed little over the years. Their ways are antiquated in that they use a plow which turns a shallow furrow and in many instances does scarcely more than scratch the surface. Yet the yields from the soil in Egypt are said to be among the highest in the world.

Dr. James B. Harrington, a Canadian agriculturalist from Saskatchewan University, who is adviser to the Egyptian government, believes that the ancient method of plowing adhered to in that country is superior to modern practices. He explains that the plows used in Egypt are almost universally of the type first employed centuries ago. It consists of a flat, rounded piece of iron fastened to the forward part of a wooden share. This is in turn attached at an angle to a long beam of wood.

The forward part of the beam serves as a shaft between two oxen, and the rear part curves upward to be held as a control by the plowman. The angle of the plow can be adjusted for various depths by means of wooden pegs. The furrow turned by this type of plow resembles the work done by one shovel or a duckfoot cultivator.

The soil in Egypt retains its fertility, despite its centuries of cultivation, a circumstance to which old Father Nile may contribute in no small way, but the shallow method of plowing is also given much of the credit for maintaining the soil's organic elements.

A HOBBY WITH WHISKERS ON IT

Quebec Chronicle-Telegram
Some boys and some girls want to be doctors, and a lot of boys want to build skyscrapers or big dams and bridges. The ambitions of youth cover a wide variety of occupations; some are attained and others are not, often because the way is fraught with difficulties that are discouraging.

There is an office boy for the government of India, at New Delhi, who has about the oldest ambition in life that so far has been recorded. Pritam Singh claims he has the longest whiskers in the world and his ambition is to have them reach the tips of his toes. They are now two yards long and represent 30 years of careful grooming and loving solicitude.

The chaps who take to beard-growing to advertise a winter carnival or a summer celebration and manage to produce a thatch a couple of inches long by a certain date, after which the scissors and razor will remove it, have very little ambition as compared with the New Delhi office boy. He has made beard-growing his life ambition. He has not used tonics or unguents to make it grow; all he does is comb and brush his beard. He has one thing in common with other people who like to appear "different"—he thinks people who do not have the same ambition as he has are peculiar. Of clean shaven faces he says "Just a lot of potato faces, a disgrace to mankind."

REALLY OBLIGATORY?

Le Canada, Montreal
Are the necessary steps really being taken to see that no child or adolescent of school age is loitering in the streets or doing work unfitted to his age during school hours, or to see that no young Canadian in Quebec is passing the hours which should be given to his training and instruction in the ruin of his health, physical and moral? Is education really obligatory?

West Germans Seek To Restore German Science To Old Status

By JOHN EARLE
Bonn, Germany, Sept. 13.—(Reuters) — West Germany is striving, with limited means, to restore German science to the pre-eminent position it once occupied in the world.

The general disintegration of national life which followed the Second World War dragged science into a state of stagnation. Trade and research came to a standstill. Priceless equipment was destroyed and valuable patents confiscated by the victors.

To focus public attention on the present resurgence, a "week of German science" was held at Bonn early in August. Scientific associations, rectors of universities and professors from all parts of West Germany took part.

Prominent among the associations was the "Emergency Society of German Science," re-established in January, 1949, "to avert the danger of a total breakdown of scientific research in Germany."

Its members are a cross-section of national scientific life and include the universities of the western zones—it is not represented in the Soviet zone.

During "science week" it was announced that the United States, through the Marshall Plan, would give directly to West German agriculture 20,000,000 marks ($5,136,000). This money is not only

Manitoba Reports Economic Outlook Induces Optimism

Winnipeg, Sept. 13.—(C)—Manitoba, this year marking its 80th birthday, reports the economic outlook seldom has been better.

Little evidence has turned up to support the fears of some business men that the Red River floods of last spring might slow the pace of industrial development.

Both in cities and country districts, the picture is one of continuing prosperity. Here are some points from recent government reports.

The Record Short Story World Premiere

By SANFORD JARRELL

Hank Vetter was busily engaged in checking over the tentative press book of a new Fairfax picture when his pretty niece, Polly, entered unannounced. As she walked across the office which Hank likened to a sumptuously appointed mausoleum, because of its size and elegant appointments, the studio's publicity chief looked up and growled:

"How many times have I told you not to come in like this? I'm busy, so you'll just have to wait outside like anybody else."

Polly smiled sweetly and kissed her uncle on top of his bald head. "Don't be such an old bear," she said. "You're never too busy to see a lady."

Hank tapped some tobacco in his cornucopia pipe, lit it, and favored his niece with a scowl that would have frightened any of his subordinates at Fairfax. Polly was the apple of his eye and both of them knew it.

"You have come for something," he said. "Probably some wicked and nefarious scheme."

"It is not wicked and it's not nefarious," Polly retorted. "We're going to the premiere tonight, aren't we?"

"That's the routine."

"And you have three choice seats?"

"You know that as well as I do," he said. "You bludgeoned me into it. I'd rather go to the dentist's than to a premiere, as you are well aware."

"Well, Uncle Hank," Sally continued, "Aunt Martha can't go. She forgot that this is the night that she entertains her church circle."

Aunt Martha was Hank Vetter's sister. He knew that she never would forget when she was to entertain her church circle, and told Polly so.

"We are now getting," he said, "to the meat of the plot."

"It is no plot," Polly said. "I just thought that since Aunt Martha can't go it would be nice to invite your old actor friend, Mr. Simpson, to come with us."

"Simpson? Why Jack Simpson?"

"Well," she said, "you got him a bit part in the picture, didn't you? I'll bet he hasn't been invited to a premiere since he was a star in the silents."

"He got tickets to this one automatically," said Hank. "If he wants to go he can use them."

"Mr. Simpson probably gave them away," Polly said. "They were most likely in the balcony. He'll pay a quarter, if he can afford it, at a matinee in a second-run house to see his walk-on part. Six or eight months from now, that is."

Hank Vetter resisted only a few moments longer before giving in. After all, when he was a young and unknown press agent in Hollywood and Jack Simpson was a star, the actor had treated him kindly. So he telephoned the trailer crowd in Burbank where the old thespian lived on his meager earnings as an extra, and asked him to come.

He obtained Simpson's consent to attend the premiere.

"My niece and I will pick you up around 7:30," Hank told him. "It was a typical Hollywood premiere, with its floodlights, loud proceedings. That would be the highest level attained.

Agriculture — A grain crop of bumper proportions is looked for. At the same time farmers continue the trend toward a more diversified agriculture. Sugar-beets now are a big farm crop, and a $1,000,000 sunflower oil-seed industry is turning out salad oils.

Capital investment — Private capital exceeding $21,500,000 was invested in Manitoba last year in new manufacturing facilities or in the expansion of existing plants. The provincial government this year is spending $30,000,000 in capital projects.

Government — Manitoba credit received a boost when the government last month marketed $15,000,000 worth of bonds at 99.51, a record for Manitoba, for an issue of that size. Since March 31, the provinces has paid off $8,500,000 of the public debt.

Towns Prosperous
Municipalities — Manitoba towns, excluding the four cities of Winnipeg, St. Boniface, Brandon and Portage la Prairie, have more cash and reserves than ever before. These totaled $5,500,000 at the end of last year. At the same time, the municipalities have reduced their public indebtedness.

Natural resources — Mining, forests, lakes fisheries and furs brought in more than $50,000,000 last year for the provincial economy.

Cheap electric power is a magnet Manitoba is using to attract more industry to the province, although a dispute between the provincial government and Winnipeg is holding up hydro development plans.

So far this year, 34 new industries have started operations in the province, compared with 47 for the whole of 1949. Altogether, there are more than 1,550 manufacturing establishments in the province.

When the picture ended, the stars were given the usual ovation and were called to the stage to take a bow, as was the producer, director and the better known players. Then, again from the upper reaches of the house came the cry, "Simpson! We want Simpson!" This was repeated, and the audience took it up. It was contagious. Most of them didn't know why, others had vaguely heard the name of Jack Simpson as a dim figure out of the past, but the older men and women there now recalled him vividly.

Mike Leavenworth came forward and held up his hand for quiet. After a moment or two he could be heard saying, through cupped hands, "Is Jack Simpson in the audience?"

Hank Vetter said, "Get up, Jack. They want you." The old actor finally arose, and Hank yelled out in a voice that could be heard a block away, "Here he is, Mike."

LOU MIGHT HAVE DONE A LITTLE BETTER

"We had a hand here recently," writes a Poughkeepsie correspondent, "in which declarer copied one of Larceny Lou's exploits."

"West opened the deuce of clubs, and dummy won with the ace. Declarer saw that if he led spades while the king of hearts was still in dummy the opponents would undoubtedly take their club tricks and the ace of diamonds in addition to the ace of spades. This would set the contract."

"Declarer therefore took three rounds of trumps ending in his own hand and then led his singleton spade!"

"East could not believe that South had deliberately taken all the entries out of the dummy if he had only a singleton spade. He therefore led dummy's king of spades with the first trick in that suit. The rest, of course, was very easy. Declarer could quite comfortably afford to give up two clubs and a diamond."

"Has Larceny Lou been copying stunts from our boys up here?" Larceny Lou does not mind copying anybody's stunts if they're good ones. However, I must say that in this case East should not have gone wrong. If East trusts his partner, he should know that South has only a singleton spade! When South leads spades, West is obliged to show how many cards he holds in the suit. With three spades, he plays his lowest card. With two or with four he plays some card other than his lowest.

When West plays the three of spades, obviously his lowest, East knows that his partner has exactly three cards in the suit. He can therefore afford to take his ace and look for tricks elsewhere.

Conceivably, West's three of spades is a singleton. In that case there is no hope of defeating the contract, since South must obviously hold an honor trick in diamonds for his opening bid and cannot then have four losing tricks.

Jack Simpson made his way to the aisle. Polly could see that he was having difficulty in keeping back the tears. The pucked down cheeks he had worn when he stepped out of the stage, Mike Leavenworth stretched out his hand and shook that of the venerable actor. The luminaries of the picture did likewise; they had scarcely noticed him while "Three Blondes" was being filmed. There is no one so left alone on the lot as a has-been.

When brought before the mike, Simpson could hardly speak. Finally, in an emotion-choked voice, he was able to say, "Thank you."

After they had dropped the ex-star at his trailer and started toward Polly's home in the hill section of Burbank, Hank said grimly:

"Okay, Polly, what gives? I know you had a hand in this."

"I'll say I did. I was the engineer, the whole works. Wasn't it grand?"

Hank admitted that it was. "I wangled about 50 tickets, most of them in the balcony," Polly went on. "Then I spent a week around Burbank, getting all the middle-aged and old people I knew who remembered Mr. Simpson, and rehearsed them."

"You should," said Hank Vetter, "be a director yourself. You do a lot of crazy things, Polly, and this is one of them. It was about the nicest thing anyone could do for a fine old fellow. And you weren't even born when he made his last starring picture."

Safety Advice Is Given By Police Officer

A warning to motorists was issued today by Provincial Police Officer Lt. W. N. Gaudreau, of Montreal, who is presently working in Sherbrooke.

Lt. Gaudreau asked that motorists co-operate with the provincial police who are striving to cut down the number of highway accidents. "We do not want to prosecute but seek only the motorists' co-operation," he said.

Following are ten rules to which motorists are asked to adhere:

- (1) Drive slowly, especially on curves, hills, railway crossings, schools and commercial districts.
- (2) If brakes are not in good order—have them checked.
- (3) Lights must be in good order at all times. Be courteous on the highway.
- (4) Every driver of a vehicle desiring to stop, slow down or turn, should make the following signals: (a) Left turn: extend arm horizontally; (b) stop or lessening of speed: extend arm downwards; (c) right turn: extend forearm upwards.
- (5) All trucks over 80 inches wide must have clearance lights as required by law.
- (6) It is forbidden to park on paved part of highway.
- (7) At all times obey all traffic signs. They are there for a purpose.

Ship Strike At Montreal Is Settled

Montreal, Sept. 13.—@—The 20,000-ton liner Canberra slipped out of harbor early this morning with 130 passengers bound for Southampton and Cherbourg—a few hours after a noisy strike by the ship's crew had been settled "amicably."

The strike, which started Monday, involved an international incident of sorts. Although she has an Australian name, the Canberra sails under Panamanian registry, and half a dozen European nationalities are included in her 100-man crew.

The strike grew out of demands for higher wages. Main grievance was said to be that Greek crew members were paid more than Spanish, Italian and French sailors.

The Panamanian consul-general here agreed with the crew members. He said the vessel's operators violated four articles of the Panamanian labor code and yesterday he went aboard to confer with the captain and officials of the March Shipping Agency, Ltd., agents for the ship.

Although there was no violence connected with the strike, shipping officials twice called on the city police to send down the riot squad. Three police vans and several radio cars patrolled the piers and sheds near the ship's berth and 23 seamen were taken into custody in police wagons on the pier.

The ship's sailing was delayed when the crew yesterday morning refused to obey orders to cast off. Company officials would not disclose the nature of the strike settlement, except to say that it was "amicable."

MAGOG

The Ayer's Cliff School Fair will be held Fri., Sept. 15th, at the Fair Grounds. All welcome.

(8) Persons riding bicycles must travel in a single file on a strip four feet wide at the extreme right of pavement.

(9) The greatest hazard on a highway is the driver of a vehicle. Drive carefully, you will live longer.

(10) Avoid at all times the death cocktail—gasoline mixed with alcohol.

Considering the number of highway accidents we are going to intensify our work to protect the public," stated Lt. Gaudreau.

Rossler Is Identified As Gunman

Montreal, Sept. 13.—@—Five witnesses yesterday identified Thomas Rossler as the gunman who fatally wounded an R.C.M.P. constable here last May 25, and a sixth testified that Rossler had confessed to the murder.

All of the prosecution witnesses appeared on the stand at the trial of the 46-year-old former convict, accused of murdering constable Alex Gamman after an abortive bank hold-up attempt in downtown Montreal. Gamman, an unarmed guard at another bank, died 36 hours later. He was on his way to lunch when shot.

Sgt. George Woodward, another R.C.M.P. officer, told the court that Rossler confessed to him after he was apprehended in a small Mont-tana town near the Saskatchewan boundary. Woodward was one of three policemen who escorted the suspect back to Montreal.

Bank branch manager S. G. Bickley—wounded in the leg during the holdup—was one of the five who identified Rossler. The others included two more bank employees and two motorists who had stopped in front of the Bank of Toronto branch on busy Beaver Hall hill at the time of the incident.

The government's financial policy penalized the poor and protected the rich; hurt the weak and exempted the strong.

Maple Copse Chapter Of I.O.D.E. Meets

The first meeting of the autumn season was held by Maple Copse Chapter, I.O.D.E., on Monday. The regent, Mrs. Austin Scott, presided and there was a good attendance. One new member was welcomed and two visitors were present.

Since the summer months constitute at least a partial holiday for the chapter's officers and conveners, there was not a great deal of work to report.

Mrs. A. R. Jewitt, treasurer, reported disbursements of $88 since the June meeting and receipts of $15. Contributions were voted towards the V.O.N. fall campaign and the Order's household science bursary, while outstanding bills were ordered paid. It was decided that the funds should be replenished as soon as possible and the entertainment convener, Mrs. Everett Bayley, was asked to arrange for a rummage sale in the near future, and to plan a marathon bridge with the assistance of Mrs. Darcy Bennett who ran one so successfully for the chapter last year. Members and friends wishing to play in the marathon were asked to get in touch with one or other of these ladies as soon as possible.

The educational secretary, Mrs. M. B. Reynier, reported delivering prize books to the Waterville school and the Lennoxville High School, but had received no written acknowledgement from either up to the present. She understood that the Waterville prizes had been distributed but the Lennoxville prize-giving would take place at a later date.

Mrs. Arthur Preston had sent four large food parcels overseas during the summer which had been gratefully acknowledged. A beautifully written letter from an 80-year-old lady who had been sent a jubilee copy of "Echoes" by Mrs. Preston was read.

The regent read a telegram she had received after the June meeting from Mrs. A. T. Stikeman, provincial president, regarding the proposed purchase by the Order of Queen Mary's carpet. The secretary read the reply which had been sent. This included an invitation to Mrs. Stikeman to attend the October meeting of the chapter on October 16, it having been decided to defer that meeting from the second to the third Monday in the month on account of the Thanksgiving holiday week-end.

The short business meeting was then brought to an end with the usual ceremony, after which tea was served by Mrs. H. C. Burt, Mrs. E. Knutson and Miss L. McKindsey.

Tram Workers At Montreal Reject Plan

Montreal, Sept. 13.—@—Most of 5,000 Montreal tramways company workers yesterday rejected a reorganization plan for their pension fund which included payment by the company of the fund's $820,725 deficit, union officials announced last night.

The plan was rejected in a secret vote which lasted all day at 14 polls throughout the city.

The company agreed, under the scheme, to raise its contributions from $210,900 to nearly $640,000 each year.

A spokesman for the tramways division of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees and other transport workers (C.B.R.E.) said he had been informed by voting officials that the plan had been rejected.

An official of the Canadian association of bus chauffeurs confirmed the report.

Preliminary figures indicated that 3,000 employees turned down the plan, 500 voted in favor and 1,300 abstained or cast unacceptable ballots.

(Premier Duplessis at his last weekly press conference announced the "broad lines" of a report on traffic conditions in Montreal which he said favored the municipalization of the tramway company. He said the report criticized among other things the company's pension fund.)

Reports Are Presented At CWL Convention

Reports from the various committees were presented at the third annual provincial convention of the Catholic Women's League, held in Montreal last Saturday.

Miss Mary Ramsay presented the secretary's report, while the treasurer's report was given by Mrs. Ross Alexander.

The report on organization was presented by Mrs. W. J. Dundin, this showing that the Catholic Women's League has in the Province of Quebec 31 subdivisions with a membership for the province of over 3,000.

The report on Education, Scholarship, Study Clubs, and Girl Guides, prepared by Miss Marie Buck, showed that 70 study groups had been formed, that subscriptions to the Ensign and Catholic Digest had been donated to local libraries; monies spent for the cause of education included the sum of $27 to libraries; for prizes, $401; scholarships, $729; Thomas Mott Institute for adult education, $15. The sum of $235 was reported contributed to the C. W. L. National Scholarship, awarded this year to Miss Barbara Ann Byrne, of Montreal, graduate of Marianopolis College.

Miss Buck noted that there were fifteen Girl Guide Companies and nine Brownie packs in the province sponsored by the C. W. L. One Guider attended Catholic Guides' conference in Switzerland, another the International Camp in New Hampshire; six Guiders attended week-end Camp in North Hatley.

Miss Ruth Robinson, reporting on Immigration and Travelers' Aid, stated that many D.P.'s had moved West or to other points to join groups of their own nationality. That facilities had been provided to teach new-comers French and English; that 18 ships had been met and that over 10,000 leaflets had been distributed giving information about Canada. Clothing was distributed when necessary, and $75 spent for milk at the arrival of ships.

In connection with Stella Maris work, $25 was donated to the Catholic Sailors' Aid; $5 to the Apostleship of the Sea.

Miss Robinson stated that $847 had been raised for the Sisters of Service Residential Club for Girls. Miss Antoinette Linahen in presenting the report on Finance showed that money expended in League endeavors during the year in this province had amounted to over $23,000.

The report on the Spiritual Program was given by Mrs. J. A. McKenney.

The report on Social Action, presented by Miss Kathleen McGowan, shows that neither time nor effort have been spared in giving assistance where needed, one subdivision providing 1,600 quarts of milk and 100 milk tickets besides groceries, medicines and clothing. In another, a sewing group collected made-over and mended articles of clothing to the value of $1,706.50 for distribution to the poor. Among charitable deeds, too numerous to mention, may be noted the donation of $50 to a Children's Summer Camp, the distribution of Christmas baskets, contacts made to City Relief officials, police and doctors regarding cases in need, visits to hospitals, the making of 70,784 hospital dressings, donations to the Cancer Society, Canadian Institute for the Blind, and Anti-Tubercular Fund.

Miss Campbell, reporting on the Press convener's report, stated that the press, radio and pulpit had been effectively used to publicize League effort and activities.

The report on Citizenship, read by Mrs. F. A. Bussieres, in the absence of Mrs. H. S. Quart, showed that League members were represented on Red Cross Boards, Parent Teacher Associations, Library Boards, Welfare Societies, Displaced Persons Committees, one School Board, the Veterans' Welfare Board, and the Board of the Polio Fund.

Reports of Provincial councillors were submitted by the following: Montreal, Mrs. H. G. Torrance, of Yesterday's sessions, in sharp contrast with the previous day's internal upheavals over the Red issue, were almost routine following exclusion from discussions of a number of left-wing delegates.

One episode added liveliness to the meeting, however. Representatives of the left-wing Canadian Peace Congress attempted to

The Doctor Says

SCIATICA CAUSE UNDISCOVERED, MAKING IT A DIFFICULT PROBLEM

By Edwin P. Jordan, M.D.
Pain in the sciatic nerve is a most distressing condition. Now, sciatica is not a single disease, and can come from any one of several different causes. For example, a neuritis of the sciatic nerve may be produced by diabetes, rheumatic conditions, or vitamin deficiency. Infections elsewhere in the body such as an abscessed tooth or bad tonsils also may cause trouble.

The aim of treatment is to identify the source of the trouble and correct it, whatever and wherever it may be.

It is claimed by some doctors that most cases of "sciatic neuritis" are caused by a hernia or rupture of the cartilage-like substance which lies between the vertebrae of the spinal column. This substance is called the nucleus pulposus. Many cases of pain in the sciatic nerve have been relieved by the surgical treatment of this rupture.

Inflammation or pressure in the neighborhood of the nerve where it comes out of the spinal canal, or even within the abdominal cavity, may extend to the nerve and cause painful sensations along its course.

The problem of sciatica is, however, often most difficult because a cause cannot be discovered at all.

In such cases it is hard to decide what treatment should be tried. Injections are sometimes used, often with good results, sometimes without. X-ray treatments and exercises, as well as manipulations and other measures called physical therapy have been successful in certain cases.

Causes Hard to Find

Pain in the sciatic nerve, therefore, may come from any one of several causes which cannot always be discovered or satisfactorily treated.

Although the proportion of cases which can be successfully treated is larger now than in the past, there are still far too many who continue to suffer the pain of sciatica for long periods in spite of all that can be done for them. Too often the patient with "sciatica" is in for a rough time.

Linoleum's colours, too, are restful. Durable even under grit-laden soles, sealed against moisture and dirt by occasional polishing with wax, clean after a swish of the mop—hygienic... germicidal. MARRIAGES

HARING-LAYTON

Hampstead, Sept. 13.—The marriage of Patricia Louise, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fran Layton, of Montreal, to Mr. Norman Franklin Haring, son of Mrs. Haring, of Montreal, took place on Saturday, August 19, at three o'clock, in St. Matthew's Church, Hampstead, the Rev. Canon G. E. Trueman officiating. The wedding music was played by the organist, and white gladioli were used to decorate.

The bride's attendants were her sisters, Mrs. Bruce Derek Newman, as matron of honor, and Miss Shirley Layton, as bridesmaid. Mr. Russell Fletcher was best man and the ushers were Mr. Bruce Newman and Mr. Ian Ballentyne.

Mr. Layton gave his daughter in marriage. Her bridal attire was a floor-length gown of white organdy over taffeta, styled with a fitted bodice fastened up the front with small pearl buttons, having a Peter Pan collar, short sleeves and a very full skirt. Her fingertip-length veil of tulle illusion was held in place by a small wreath of lilacs. She wore organdy gauntlets, carried a small bouquet of blue carnations and white sweet peas. Her only ornament was a diamond circlet bracelet, a family heirloom.

The matron of honor chose a gown of French blue satin and net, fashioned with a moulded bodice buttoned up the front, having a Peter Pan collar and short sleeves, and she wore matching satin gauntlets and carried a small bouquet of blue carnations and white sweet peas.

The bridesmaid's gown was made on similar lines to that of the matron of honor, the full skirt having satin inset bands, and they both wore headresses of blue carnations and carried bouquets of the same flowers.

Mrs. Layton, the bride's mother, was in a floor-length gown of pearl grey crepe with a matching velvet hat trimmed with turquoise ostrich plumes.

Mrs. Haring, mother of the groom, was dressed in a floor-length gown of aqua tissue faille and she wore a hat of American Beauty velvet and a matching gladioli corsage.

The groom's grandmother, Mrs. Isabella Spear, wore a gown of navy blue tissue faille with a navy blue hat and a corsage of pink carnations.

A reception was held in the Vice-Regal Suite of the Ritz Carlton, where white and pink gladioli were used to decorate.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Haring left by motor on their wedding trip to Lake Placid and the New England States, the bride travelling in a periwinkle blue dressmaker linen suit, with matching linen hat and shoes, and a blue-pink bag and gloves.

Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Haring took up residence in Montreal.

The bride and groom were both graduates of McGill.

Among the out-of-town guests was Miss Phyllis Corey, of Bedford.

MOUNTAIN-ADAMS

South Durham, Sept. 13.—A very pretty wedding was solemnized in St. James Anglican Church, South Durham, on Saturday afternoon, August 26, at one o'clock, when Constance Ruth, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Adams, of South Durham, became the bride of Mr. Neil Scott Mountain, son of Mrs. James Mountain, of South Durham, and the late Mr. James Mountain, the Rev. T. Beattie officiating. Miss Marion Montgomery played the bridal marches and soft music throughout the ceremony. She also sang "O Perfect Love" during the signing of the register, accompanied by Mrs. T. Beattie.

Under the supervision of Mrs. R. E. Woolfrey, the church was beautifully decorated with an arch of evergreens, hydrangea and gladioli, and baskets of summer flowers. White candles in brass candelabra, lighted the altar. The guest pews were marked with pinnies.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, looked lovely in a gown of French Chantilly lace over satin, featuring a wing collar, and long sleeves ending in points over the hands, and a train. Her fingertip veil was of tulle illusion and she carried a cascade bouquet of red roses. Her ornament was a pearl necklace.

Miss Jean Croll, the bride's only attendant, wore a sleeveless, ice blue gown of French Chantilly lace, with matching elbow mitts and skull cap. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow gladioli.

Mr. Allan Mountain acted as best man for his brother, while Mr. Galen Cooté, brother-in-law of the bride, and Mr. Hugh Mountain, brother of the groom, were ushers.

The bride's mother wore a dress of printed-green flat crepe with white accessories, and a corsage of pink carnations.

The groom's mother was dressed in grey-printed flat crepe with black accessories, and she wore a corsage of white carnations.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where pinnies and asters were used to decorate. The bride's table was covered with a linen cloth and centered with a three-tier wedding cake. A toast to the bride and groom was proposed by Rev. T. Beattie and was responded to by the groom.

Later the happy couple left amid showers of confetti for a motor trip to Niagara Falls, Ont., the bride travelling in a navy blue suit with grey accessories.

Before leaving the bride gave her bouquet to Mrs. Mountain to be placed on the grave of Mr. Mountain, the groom's father.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. N. Clews, Mr. K. Hodge, Sr., and Mr. K. Hodge, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Alex Croll, Mr. Kenneth Croll, Miss Jean Croll, Miss Lorraine Smith and Miss Marion Blouin, Mr. and Mrs. K. Klagg and Barbara, all of Montreal.

COLE — GRIFFIN

Derby Line, Vt., Sept. 13.—As the chiming in the tower of the First Universalist Church, in Haverhill, Mass., chimed to the tune of "Holy, Holy, Holy," Miss Norma Griffin, of Mitchell, South Dakota, and Rev. Harold Cole, of Derby Line, Vt., mounted the chancel steps to the altar.

Rev. Emerson Sawchen read the ceremony, which the bride and groom had written themselves.

The bride wore a light green dress with sleeves trimmed in blue, a light colored bodice and a long train. The dress, over seventy years old, is an heirloom of the Malcolm family of Massachusetts.

Mrs. Doris Malcolm stood with the bride and the groom's brother, Mr. Jack Cole, of Detroit, Mich., stood with the groom.

The ceremony ended with pictures being taken of the bride and groom flanked by the lovely candles of the chancel.

ASBESTOS

The Women's Association held its September meeting one Wednesday evening in the church.

Members of the Evening Auxiliary were guests for the evening.

The meeting opened with singing the hymn "In Christ There Is No East or West," followed by reading in unison and prayer and the singing of "Fairer Lord Jesus."

Mrs. Boyd was the organist. Mrs. McGaw had charge of the devotional part of the meeting. Mrs. Kenneth Smith, vice-president of the Association, had charge of the business part owing to the absence of Mrs. Eric Morrison.

Minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. MacGonigal. The treasurer's report was given by Mrs. Earl Gale.

Flower fund report was read by Mrs. Urba and then returned to Mrs. Connolly. All old business was cleared up and plans made for future work. A Fashion Show will be held in October. The business session was closed by reciting the "Mizpah Benediction."

Mrs. McGaw had arranged several quiz games, which were much enjoyed. Mrs. Boyd on behalf of the members of the Evening Auxiliary, thanked the Association for inviting them and extended an invitation for their tea and sale to be held on September 28. Later delicious refreshments were served.

There was a good attendance and a pleasant evening was enjoyed.

Mr. George Horan, of Tremche, was a visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Lockwood.

"Sport Shots and Pot Shots"

By LEN. O'DONNELL

BOMBHELL TRADE HITS HOCKEY OVER WEEK-END

Completing another famous two-for-one deal, Forest Keene, business manager of the Sherbrooke Saints Hockey Club, announced over the week-end that he had traded his star goalkeeper, Paul Leclerc, to Valleyfield for the Besette brothers, Marcel and Roger.

For the second time within a year the executive of the local senior team came up with another outstanding deal. Last year they traded Herbie Carnegie to the Quebec Aces for Jimmy Planché and Guy Labrie and this deal brought plenty of criticism, but nothing compared to the remarks heard at the ball park when the present swap was made known.

It seems that certain local fans have the habit of condemning every move of theirs they hear or every move members of the sporting associations make. I would think that they had learned enough last season to leave well enough alone.

I know everybody has a perfect right to express an opinion but why do so until they see how things work out. Last year's two-for-one deal went the right way and the Saints more than benefited from it. So let's take it easy and see how this one will turn out.

The main idea was not to get rid of Paul Leclerc, but to make a deal to try and reinforce the team. They had to give something in return. I know that they were obliged to let go the top goalie in the circuit, but on the other hand they received two very good players in return and they should benefit from it.

The team reports in St. Hyacinthe on Monday and perhaps a lot of new faces will be around. Some more deals are brewing and no doubt they will bring more surprises.

The final game of the Sherbrooke Industrial Softball League playoffs will be held this evening at 9:00 at Dufresne Park.

The series is tied at three games apiece and tonight's affair is the deciding, and Big One. The Bruck aggregation had the tilt practically wrapped up Monday evening when they were leading the Machinery squad 6-1 at the start of the sixth inning and then they exploded higher than a kite to lose the game 11-8.

Tonight, no doubt, they will be on their toes and all set to cop their first title. On the other hand Bill Cochran's club will be in there fighting for the same purpose. So fans come early and see a gala finish to playdowns.

The pennant race in the American League looks like a real fight to the finish. At present the Yanks, Tigers and Red Sox are bunched so close it looks as though it will be a blanket finish. A few losses, one way or the other, and anybody could finish on top of the heap. Anyway it is a good race.

Over in the National League it looks like the Whiz Kids from Philadelphia, but the Dodgers are still around with the Braves of Boston breathing down their necks.

The Athletics of Sherbrooke, considering they had only four workouts, gave a good impression in their first game in Montreal against Lakeshore Sunday.

The boys went down to defeat 17-1, but they put up a good fight and with a few more practices under their belts they should upset quite a few of the favorites. The team is made up of young fellows, trying their luck in the top ranks for the first time, and they deserve a lot of credit for their effort. Coaches Sam Abbott and "Pee Wee" Berwick with a little more time should have a fair team together. One thing certain is the boys will have plenty of fight as their coaches have a lot to spare and are the type who never give up until the final whistle.

A meeting of the Sherbrooke Mixed Bowling League has been called for tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock at Sinclair's Bowling alley. The gathering will decide matters for the coming season which will open next Thursday. Anyone interested in entering a team is asked to have a representative on hand at the meeting.

The annual field day of the Mt. Orford Golf Club will take place this week-end, and owing to the fact that the E.T. Mixed is being held on Saturday at Granby, and Mixed Open event at Lennoxville, Spence Clarke, captain of the club, has decided to hold his affair over the two days.

Players may play on Saturday and Sunday and their scores will count for the prizes. We understand that the course is in fine condition and that the new club house is something worth seeing. So golfers Mt. Orford this week-end don't forget. We'll be seeing you, come up and try your luck on one of the trickiest golf courses in the district.

The Athletics reached the finals of the Provincial Baseball League and will meet St. Johns this evening in the first tilt of the best-of-seven series. The second game will take place at the Park Avenue Stadium tomorrow evening.

travelling over to Drummondville for the final game and it was worth the trip. Our team played fine ball and proved that they had what it takes when the chips are down. They started off on a hitting spree right in the first inning and belted Fred Luciano out of the box. This was too much for the Cubs, and the fans, to take and they never got over it.

Lou Shapiro hauled a good game and the support, given by his mates, was outstanding. The night was cold and some of the boys had slippery fingers but just the same they kept fighting and had the best of the argument the whole way.

It was a fine way to finish a hard series, away from home. It proved to some of local fans that the boys were out to win and were not playing for the gates as the wise guys expected.

There should be no question about the better club. Monday evening the Cubs were outplayed the whole way. The top half of the batting line-up was ineffective against Shapiro, but the lower part did more than their share and was responsible for the majority of the Quarter-Finals Reached In E. T. Tennis Tournament; Eight More Games Slated For This Evening

The quarter-finals were reached last night in the Eastern Townships Tennis tournament as seven matches were completed.

Eight more games are listed to-night and will be played at the Association's new courts on Fraser Street.

In last night's event Roger Roy came through with a 6-3, 4-6, 6-3, victory over G. Smiley, of Magog, but the boys battled close to three hours before the local racquet swinger came through with the win.

In the other matches Raymond Laporte was forced to three sets before he could dispose of another Magog player, G. Gaunt. In the other singles match on the slate Paul Boudreau edged out Lucien Goyette but the game went to three sets with the former chalking up a 6-3, 4-6, 6-3 victory.

In the doubles J. M. Cote and Paul Mailhot knocked off N. Chamberland and J. G. Simard 6-4, 6-0 and Y. Labrosse and P. Roy emerged the winners in a three set marathon battle with the Poulin brothers, 6-4, 8-10 and 8-6.

In the ladies doubles Miss Marthe Tanguay and Miss Ida Goyette defeated Mrs. B. Whittier and Miss B. Gaunt of Magog 1-6, 6-1 and 7-5.

Jake LaMotta Expected To Tame Laurent Dauthuille Of France In Middleweight Title Bout Tonight

Detroit, Sept. 13.—(AP)—Middleweight Champion Jake LaMotta is expected to tame Laurent (Tarzan) Dauthuille of France tonight in a promising 15-round title bout at the Olympia Stadium.

Back in the city where he wrestled the crown from another Frenchman—the late Marcel Cerdan—15 months ago, LaMotta rules a 5-to-9 favorite. No knockout is predicted.

With radio and television barred from this international tilt, Promoter Nick London of the International Boxing Club looks for a crowd of 13,000 to pay $100,000. If he is right, it will be a Detroit indoor record. The old mark of $88,522 was set in 1947 for a welter title battle between Ray Robinson and Chuck Taylor.

Delegates to the National Boxing Association Convention, which ruled LaMotta or Dauthuille must give Robinson a shot at the crown within six months, will be honored guests.

The N.B.A. disposed of the LaMotta headache yesterday, at least temporarily, by clearing the way for Sugar Ray Robinson to get a middleweight title match within six months.

Champion LaMotta has signed to meet Robinson in Chicago Stadium during the second week of February. Dauthuille, who fights Jake

Second Tilt Slated Here Tomorrow At 8.00; Manager Gladu Undecided Regarding His Starting Pitcher

This evening the Athletics of Sherbrooke will travel to St. Johns to meet Steve Mizerak and his Braves in the first game of the finals for the Provincial Baseball League championship.

The second game will be played at the Park Avenue stadium tomorrow night at 8.00 with the third going back to St. Johns on Friday evening. Saturday they meet again at the local park in a twin bill feature.

During the schedule the A's came out on the long end with 13 wins against nine losses. The locals have won eight games on their local diamond while they could only win five in St. Johns. Since the beginning of August the A's have had plenty of trouble with the Braves, but now that it is the playoffs, it may be a different affair.

Manager Gladu is still undecided who will start the series this evening but he may call upon Jacques Jeanneau, who has been on the sidelines during the past series with a sore arm. The rest should have him straightened away and he may be ready to take his turn.

* Manager Mizerak has his well-rested staff ready for action and no doubt he will send one of his top performers to the mound to try and cop the opening tilt. The Braves present a fairly well balanced outfit with a good fielding team and will be out trying for the title.

The locals will field the same team which carried them through the series against the Cubs and the boys will no doubt be gunning for their first title since joining organized baseball.

The executive of the local club will try to run a bus to St. Johns. It will leave at 5.30 and will return immediately after the game. Anyone desiring to go may get in touch with Amedeo Roy by calling 2-3871.

Indians, Out Of Pennant Race, Start Role Of "Spoilers"; Edge Yanks 8-7 With Last Inning Rally

With big Luke Easter as the ringleader, the smarming Cleveland Indians are moving back into the American League pennant race in the role of "spoilers."

Knocked out of contention and blasted by their bosses, the Indians are out to redeem themselves at the expense of the three remaining contenders—Boston, New York and Detroit.

They began to reap revenge last night by defeating New York Yankees 8-7 on a dramatic three-run homer by Easter in the ninth inning.

The defeat sent the Yankees reeling into second place, half a game back of Detroit Tigers, who scored a 3-2 afternoon triumph over Washington Senators.

Cleveland has one more game with the Yankees, six with the Tigers and two with the third-place Boston Red Sox. The Red Sox, still moving relentlessly forward, climbed within a game of the lead by edging Chicago White Sox 2-1.

The Indians brought the wrath of their general manager, Hank Greenberg, down on their heads by losing five straight games, including four to the lowly St. Louis Browns. He said they played "stupid baseball."

For a while last night it appeared that the Indians' losing string would extend to six games.

Home runs in the first two innings by Joe DiMaggio, Phil Rizzuto and Yogi Berra shot the Yanks off to a 6-0 lead. The Indians began their comeback with a run in the second against Albie Reynolds. Larry Doby cut the disadvantage to 6-3 with a two-run homer in the third, and Easter socked his 23rd to shave the deficit to 6-4 by the end of the fifth.

Steve Gromek was touched for a run in the eighth and it appeared that the Yankees had the game in the bag when Jim Hegan grounded out to open the Cleveland ninth.

But Reynolds, who had allowed only four hits, then blew up and walked the next two batters and was hurriedly lifted for relief ace Tom Ferrick. Bob Kennedy greeted Ferrick with a run-scoring double. Doby struck out, but Easter then slammed Ferrick's first pitch over the right field fence to break up the game.

The Tigers had rough sledding before squashing the Senators. Old Dix Trout went all the way for the Bengals and permitted eight hits, while his mates collected only five off Gene Bearden and Mickey Harris.

Lefty Mel Parnell turned in a net five-hitter in recording his 16th victory and eighth straight for the Red Sox under the lights in Chicago. The Sox now have won 24 out of their last 27 games.

The Browns, behind the three-hit pitching of Al Widmar, blanked Philadelphia Athletics 6-0 in the other American League game.

In the National League, Philadelphia Phillies moved a step closer towards the pennant by noising out St. Louis Cardinals 1-0 behind the five-hit pitching of Robin Roberts, who attained his 19th victory. The Cards' Max Lanier surrendered only three hits but one was a fifth-inning homer by Andy Seminick who celebrated his 30th birthday.

The victory kept the Phils 6 1/2 games ahead of the runner-up Brooklyn Dodgers, who collected only one hit in beating Ewell Blackwell and the Cincinnati Reds, 3-1. Blackwell lost the game in the eighth inning when he hit a batter, committed an error and wild-pitched home a run that broke a 1-1 tie.

New York Giants came up with another well-pitched game as Sheldon Jones blanked Pittsburgh Pirates, 3-0. The shutout was the 17th turned in by the Giant staff this year.

The Jones Triumph moved the Giants to within half a game of the third-place Boston Braves, who dropped a 3-1 night game decision to Bob Rush and the Chicago Cubs.

Maritime Baseball Loops In Complete Muddle

Halifax, Sept. 13.—(AP)—The senior baseball picture in the Maritimes today is more involved than the American League pennant scramble.

The reason for all the confusion lies in the fact that four different leagues are trying to have their playoffs sanctioned as being for the Maritime championship.

The Leagues involved are the Halifax and District League, the Cape Breton Colliery League and two New Brunswick senior loops.

With the exception of the H-D League, all the other circuits have already declared their winner.

That's where the difficulty comes in.

Athletics Return To Heavy Drills In Preparation For Game With Army

The Sherbrooke Athletics football team, beaten 17-1 by Lake Shore in its first Senior "B" Q.R.F.U. game last Sunday, returned to heavy drills last night in preparation for the next test, against the Montreal Army team in Montreal on Saturday.

In the absence of coach Sam Abbott, line coach Warren (Pee Wee) Berwick put the players through a hard workout, ironing out kinks that were apparent in the opening game.

Players were far from discouraged by the result of the opening game. With only three heavy drills under their belts, they scarcely expected to win and their showing generally was better than had been hoped for.

The work of three former members of the Athletics and one newcomer stood out in the game. Maurice Everett, though less than 150 pounds, played a standout game at centre as a replacement for Gordie (Beef) Ross who is now with Alouettes.

Another lineman who showed up well was a newcomer, Ernie Laidlaw, whose last football was played in Cornwall. Ross Hunting's plunging was a highlight of the backfield play while Murray (Perk) Johnston played an all-round good game on the half line and got away several good kicks.

On the whole the team played well, and with a few more practices to sharpen up their plays they should make out far better than was expected. The work of the line was particularly encouraging.

Club officials tried to have this Saturday's game postponed to Sunday because a number of the local players are unable to get away Saturday. The postponement could not be arranged, however, because Army plays on the Westmount ground and could not obtain this field for Sunday.

Edgar Mott, whose plunging was one of the bright spots of last year's play, may be seen in action with the Athletics in the Army game. Mott is helping to coach the N.D.G. Juniors in Montreal and was on hand as a spectator last Sunday at the Lakeshore game. He said he would like to turn out for Sherbrooke again and if this can be arranged he will be on hand.

Gordie Ross was another spectator at Sunday's game, reporting that Big Four football is considerably more rugged than that played in the Q.R.F.U. Ross, from all accounts, was one of Alouettes' best linemen on Saturday when the Al's were drubbed by Argos.

Two other former Sherbrooke players, Bill Ritchie and Andy Lesosce, are playing with Windsor Rockets this season. Charlie Clarke is with Three Rivers in the Q.R.F.U.

Little Giants And Orioles Win Openers

Jersey City Giants and Baltimore Orioles have drawn first blood in the International League's semi-final playoffs.

Manager Joe Becker's underdog Giants nipped the pennant winning Rochester Red Wings 5-4, and the Orioles clipped Montreal Royals 6-2 last night in the opening games of best-of-seven series.

The Giants used four pitchers to stop the Red Wings, 10-7 favorites to take the series. A Rochester crowd of 7,688 watched the Giants choke off repeated late-inning rallies after taking a 4-3 lead with two runs in the seventh.

Veteran righthander Russ Bauers limited the Royals to three hits before 4:37 fans to Baltimore. The crowd was held down because of a threat of rain.

The Orioles nicked Omar (Turk) Lown for single runs in the third and fourth innings. After the Royals tied it up with two in the sixth, the Orioles locked up the decision with four in the last of the sixth. Clyde Klutts drive in three runs on a pair of singles to lead Baltimore's eight-hit attack.

colts and geldings and one filly are scheduled to go in the $5,000 Classic for three-year-olds.

Sir Strome, owned by Joe Holbeck of the Double Blue Stable, Toronto, and second in the 1950 running of the King's Plate at Toronto, will be odds-on choice over a muddy track. Sir Strome gained prominence last week when he copped the Whittier Park Handicap at a mile and 70 yards and set a track record of 1:41 4/5 for the distance. He will run as a Double Blue entry along with Good Sir.

The only filly in the race, Storm Bell, owned by H. M. Holden, of Midnapore, Alta., is the Western hope. The speedy filly, winner of the Alberta Derby at Edmonton in August, will be carrying 123 pounds. Colts and gelding carry top weight of 126.

Besides Ontario and Alberta, Saskatchewan and British Columbia have representatives in the 21st running of the Derby.

Onwiche, owned by E. T. Myers of Rosetown, Sask., will be carrying a lot of the fans' wagers. Last year Onwiche earned more money for his owner than any other Western two-year-old.

British Columbia has two entries, Sir J. R. and Pollapash. Fernenter, owned by C. P. Jacques of Calgary, will carry the other Alberta colors in the grind.

The Canadian Derby was won last year by Yates Senior, owned by W. J. Yates of Calgary.

Track record for the Derby distance was set in 1947 when Sir Berrill romped in with a time of 2:07.

Approximate post time is 6 P. M. O.D.

Bernie Hanover Cops Reading Futurity

Reading, Pa., Sept. 13.—(P)—Bernie Hanover, a fleet Brown Colt owned by Cleo A. Young of Timmonsville, S.C., won the $13,728 Reading Fair Futurity for two-year-old trotters which featured the Grand Circuit harness racing program at the Reading Fair yesterday.

The winner was forced to three heats when Milky Way Stable's Mahlon Hanover, from Rockville Centre, N.Y., captured the second heat after Bernie Hanover had won the initial trip.

In the deciding dash between the two horses, Mahlon Hanover, led for three quarters of a mile but made a break in the home stretch and ruined his own chances. Bernie Hanover, driven by John Simpson, earned $6,710.

The $11,318 Futurity for three-year-old pacers was won by McGee and Snow's Wayzoff, from Augusta, Me., who captured all three heats. Driven by Merle Clark, he picked up $6,002 for his owners. Headway, owned and driven by Wendell Wathen, took second share of $1,473 with Mighty Sassy, Joe O'Brien up, winning $1,310 third money.

Cycle Racing Banned By Japanese Officials

Tokyo, Sept. 13.—(Reuters)—The Japanese Government yesterday decided to ban cycle racing, a sport which has caused nearly 30 serious riots since it was introduced into Japan only a year ago.

Immediate cause of the ban was last week's riot at Naruo race track, near Kobe. Police shot and killed one spectator and rioters severely injured a policeman and three girl ticket sellers when fans

International Tuna Tournament Delayed By Hurricane; Seven Countries Entered In Classic

Wedgeport, N.S., Sept. 13.—(P)—Opening of the 7th International Tuna Cup Match has been delayed a day to Thursday as a result of the Atlantic hurricane, it was announced yesterday. The start originally was scheduled for Wednesday.

A hurricane travelling up the Atlantic Coast was cause of the delay. Gale force winds held up sailing of the Boston ferry "Yarmouth" with team members, officials and press representatives, and stopped all fishing on Soldier's Rip—Nova Scotia's famous tuna angling hot spot.

Offices of Eastern Steamship Lines said they expected the Yarmouth would sail last night, a day late, arriving in Yarmouth Wednesday morning. The match executive decided the fishing would start Thursday, continuing Friday and Saturday.

Seven teams, representing Brazil, Cuba, Chile, United States, British Empire, Scandinavia, and Argentina will compete for the Alton B. Sharp trophy, emblematic of world tuna angling supremacy.

Newcomers this year are entries from Chile and Scandinavia. The latter team is composed of crack anglers from Denmark and Sweden.

The Sharp Trophy is at present held by United States representative who thought a race had been fixed stormed the ticket window.

Up to August this year the sport had shown a profit equivalent to $7,560,000.

tives, winners in the 1948 and 1949 matches.

Before the sun peeks along the Nova Scotia coast Thursday some of the world's big-time anglers will be indulging in the love of their lives.

Long before dawn the matches begin on the boiling waters of Soldier's Rip off here. Fishermen from 10 countries—assisted by the expert Acadian guides who handle the tuna launches—will exercise all their craft to boat king Neptune's mighty warriors of the deep in this biggest tuna match in history.

Soldier's Rip, a mile-square turmoil of currents and surging waters, is considered the world's best tuna grounds. It is not unusual to boat fish of more than 800 pounds—about the weight of a saddle horse—and sometimes a half dozen or more are landed here during a single day.

But the anglers have plenty to shoot at this year. A Montreuil landed a tuna weighing 977 pounds at St. Ann's in Cape Breton, two weeks ago and it is understood that catch will be an official world record. Previously, the record was held by a Wedgeport devotee.

Just how the fishing will go at the beginning of the three-day classic is impossible to predict. The hurricane churning along the Atlantic seaboard may have some effect on the fishing. But it is known the big horse mackerel like turbulent seas—apparently that is why they come to Soldier's Rip—so the hurricane may be a boon to the fishermen if it doesn't pass too close.
