HOLSTEIN AND AYRSHIRE CATTLE MAKE GRAND DISPLAY AT FAIR

W. A. White Accorded Principal Awards in Horse Classes—Swine Exhibit Shows Greatest Improvement Over Previous Years

The fine features of the Huntingdon Fair was that in connection with the livestock exhibits. It is true, that at times larger showings have been made, but for all of that this year's exhibits were plenty large to make good interesting classes.

Ten breeders of Holstein cattle and five Ayrshire breeders exhibited. The Holstein exhibitors were Messrs. Wilfrid Kelly, Austen Kelly, Ouimet, Murphy, H. T. Cunningham, W. L. Carr, Wm. Anderson, Lang, Wm. Cooper and Helm Bros. The Ayrshire exhibitors were Messrs. George and Ross Pringle, J. P. Cavers, Wm. Dawson, Robt. Rutherford and Charles Hyde.

Holsteins were shown in greater numbers, therefore larger classes were judged. Classes of 8 and 9 were quite common, so it was quite a distinct honor to win top place. In the Holstein classes James Murphy was accorded the Sr. and Grand Championship on his aged bull, the Junior Championship was awarded H. T. Cunningham who also got the Junior Championship for best female. The Senior and Grand Championship female prize went to W. L. Carr.

Just west of Huntingdon two young men have four hundred acres of land, the proprietors are George and Ross Pringle. They have materially helped the Fair's exhibit for many years, and this year saw them show thirty head of Ayrshire cattle. In reward for their efforts they won the Senior and Grand Championship ribbon on the bull class and the Senior Championship on the female class. Robert Rutherford for the first time exhibited Ayrshires at the Fair, his herd of 9 not only brought him tangible results, but also the Junior Bull Championship. The other championships, viz: Junior Champion female and Grand Champion female went to J. P. Cavers.

Shorthorns are not bred to any extent in this district, yet two herds are to be seen at the fair each year. The herds are owned by H. R. Graham and James Ritchie & Son of Dewittville. The prize awards were well divided between these two exhibitors. The Ritchie herd won the Senior Champion female and Junior Champion bull ribbons whilst Mr. Graham won the Senior bull and Junior female championships.

W. A. White Chief Horse Exhibitor

A fine showing of heavy horses, particularly Clydesdales was to be seen at the fair. Percherons were also shown in a goodly number, chiefly by A. J. Steele and Thos. Jolly. The championship in both heavy and light draft classes went to W. A. White who had ten horses on the grounds. Mr. Arthur McClatchie won the championship on his Clyde mare; six entries were made in the class.

The veteran light horse man of the district, Mr. D. A. Cairns, did not exhibit his string of drivers this year. Though short this usual entry, the show was accorded a fine entry of driving horses, and again Miss Hilda Anderson was awarded another silver cup by Dr. J. C. Moore for her skilful driving.

The showing of sheep was pretty much left in the hands of the Pringle Bros., although in the classes of Oxford Downs the awards were well divided amongst N. J. Fennell, J. P. Vinet and Raoul Vinet. George Pringle was awarded the ram championship ribbon.

The exhibit of swine was excellent. All the classes were well filled and the competition was very keen. L. E. Blair won two champion boar prizes in both the Tamworth and Yorkshire classes. The Tamworth sow championship was won by Arthur McClatchie whilst a similar championship was accorded Hooker Bros. in the Yorkshire class. The two champion ribbons in the Duroc Jersey class went to Mr. Arthur McClatchie.

The showing of poultry was up to average. The entry of hens was indeed gratifying, although water fowl were not so plentiful as might reasonably be anticipated. John Graham and Thos. McGil were again the two chief exhibitors. Leghorns and Plymouth Rocks were the two most popular breeds entered. Of the five special prizes offered Mr. McGill won four of them.

Coming into the two main buildings one was somewhat disappointed to see the meager entry. The big prize for bread making is offered by McDonald & Robb, which is a barrel of "Our Best" flour. The entries were many in this class, and the judge awarded the honor as the best bread maker to Mrs. Willard Simpson. The prize given by Standard Brands was given Miss Ida Anderson, whilst Mrs. Norman Brooks captivated the prize of Ogilvie's Flour Mills.

So adjacent as we may be to one the finest apple growing communities the showing of fruit was very limited. The largest entry coming from the orchard of N. M. Brooks, Franklin. Another year it would surely be an easy matter to induce all the members of the Franklin Co-operative Fruit Growers Society to enter at the show. The special prize of Beauharnois Electric Co. Ltd., for fruit went to N. M. Brooks.

The vegetable display as to quality was one to be admired. Perfect specimens in all classes were to be found. In looking over the names of the prize winners it will be noted that nearly all the vegetable prizes were won by people outside of Huntingdon town; which has not always been the case.

The showing of preserves and canned fruits, etc., occupied its usual place of prominence, and across from it the Hemmingford W.I. had a booth showing a model house made of the perfect balanced foods for growing children and for the good health of adults. The house was fashioned after the model exhibited at Ormstown in the Federal Government exhibit.

In the floral display many hundreds of beautiful plants were on display. The cut flowers were to be admired although not as profuse as at many previous shows. The needlework was of the very finest quality and commended the attention of many ladies.

The exhibits of companies in the show building were very few in number. The best display was provided by the Lake of the Woods Milling Company. Mr. MacGregor, their traveller in this district was in charge of the booth along with their local agents, the Consolidated Utilities Limited. Not only did they feature their display of "Five Roses Flour" but also their many other grades of flour and feeds.

Standard Brands were also represented in this building and advertised Magic Baking Powder, giving out samples to all ladies who manifested interest in that exhibit.

De Laval Co. are interested in furthering sales of their favourably known separator, so in a booth their representative demonstrated one of their perfected machines.

The Ladies' Aid Society of Elgin, and Huntingdon Presbyterian Churches and the Ladies' Aid of Kensington United Church held bazaars in this building, had a successful sale of the work made up by the respective members of the Aids during the year.

Academy Re-opens for School Term.

Monday saw the Academy open its doors for the school term 1931-32. The enrolment of scholars is greater than ever before in the history of the institution. Just what will be done to accommodate the scholars is a problem to be solved. It is possible some of them will have to be turned aside and obliged to go elsewhere for this year. Mr. George Elder will haul the children from the Kensington area and along the highway. This route is the longest of the four. Mr. Elder has purchased a Gotferdson bus and it will seat 32 scholars. 100 scholars are being brought to the Academy daily by the four bus drivers, Messrs. Elder, Caldwell Milne and Whealon.

Fair Dance Draws 165 Couples.—

Friday night a dance was held in the Dining Hall at the fair grounds. Norman Fleury and his orchestra supplied the music. Crowds of young people were present and 165 admission tickets were sold. The Agricultural Society will net nearly $100 out of this dance.

Staff Personnel of Academy.—

The teaching staff of the Academy for the term just commencing is as follows: Principal, J. B. MacMillan Grade XI with 30 pupils, Mr. A. Emmett, French Specialist, Miss M. W. Ashton, B.A., Grade X, with 27 pupils, Miss J. Snaden, Grade 9 with 38 pupils, Miss G. Herdman, Grade 8 with 30 pupils, Miss M. O. Pringle Grade 7 with 26 pupils, Miss A. Cunningham, Grade 6 with 30 pupils Miss J. Carson, Grade 5 with 15 pupils, Miss M. McMillan, Grades 3 and 4 with classes of 30 and 24 respectively, Miss E. Cornell, Grade 2 with 25 pupils and Miss F. Farquhar Grade 1 with 17 pupils. Principal MacMillan expects to have an enrolment of around 315 scholars.

Mother Goes Bass Fishing with Young Son.—

It is not often that we see mothers enjoying the sport of fishing with their young sons along the banks of the Chateauguay, but on Monday afternoon one might cross the Walker bridge and there see Mrs. Alex. Laberge landing one black bass after another and in short order. Irwin Laberge, the son, is very keen for fishing bass and with his many catches of late he persuaded his mother to join in the sport. On Monday they jointly landed 8 fine black bass. Grasshoppers were used as bait.

Mr. Remi Baker and two friends were out bass fishing one day recently and came home with a string of 26.

Acoustics in Garden Theatre Being Improved.—

The talkies have not been measuring up to the high standard anticipated. The proprietors, Maughen and Shorey are determined to make the talkies an outstanding success. so they have set themselves about to improve the acoustics. The whole of the hall will be lined with Celotex. They hope to have the work done within four days' time.

Doug. Irwin Swims Lake St. Francis.

The swimming of Lake St. Francis has been a feat this summer for the local acquatics. Leo Cappiello was the first to make the course and last Thursday Douglas Irwin made the same swim cutting the time down to one hour and fifteen minutes. The distance was judged 3½ miles. Principal J. B. McMillan acted as his guard and time-keeper. Mr. Irwin is a young man of exceptional physique. His home is in South Africa.

35 lb. Maskinonge Caught by J. C. Boyd.—

Saturday afternoon J. C. Boyd and son Billy were out trolling on Lake St. Francis for maskinonge. They succeeded in catching one that weighed between 35 and 36 pounds measuring 44 inches in length and 8 inches in diameter. It was viewed by many in town at the Boyd home.

Miss Flora Messier Retires.—

With the school opening season now at hand a number of people have been asking why Miss Messier has not opened her private school this year. Miss Messier has been teaching for twenty years, twelve of which have been spent in Huntingdon. The past seven years saw Miss Messier conducting a private school of her own. The school would have been re-opened except for the throat condition developed by Miss Messier.

Laberge Bros. Now Installing First Oil Burner.—

The first furnace oil burner of the Petro-no-Coal type is now being installed by the local agents, Messrs. Laberge Bros. The installation is being made in the new duplex house erected this year by Miss Flora Messier.

Ayrshire Reduction Sale on Oct. 8.—

Mr. Gilbert McMillan has again been engaged as a sale manager for a reduction sale of Ayrshire cattle. This time the owner of the Ayrshires offered for sale is Mr. James Davidson, proprietor of Ayrmont Farms, at Waterloo, Que. Mr. Stwart F. McRae is the farm manager. The sale will be conducted by another well known man in this district in the name of C. A. Gavin. Sixty head of cattle are to be sold at this sale on Thursday, October 8th. The sale will include the two outstanding herd sires, Glen Campbell Memory Lad and St. Suipice Bell Boy. These two bulls are Class AA. Four young bulls including a May calf by Dunlop Radiance and from that high producer Bois de la Roche Maligne 5th also figure in the sale. The balance of the stock to be offered is made up as follows: 24 cows, 6 calving 2 year old heifers, 13 yearling heifers and 10 heifer calves.

Catalogues will be printed and ready for distribution by September 26. Applications for same might be placed with Mr. McMillan, Huntingdon or with Mr. Davidson at Waterloo, Que.

The Misses Clare and Olive Cameron, Messrs. Douglas and Clifford Cameron and Angus Grant spent Monday in Montreal.

RUSSEL LOGAN MAKES CLEAN UP ON CIRCUIT

Wins Grand Championships and First Prizes on Ayrshires at Three Shows

Russel Logan, proprietor of Sunnyside Ayrshire Farm, Howick, Que. has returned home after showing 12 head of Ayrshire cattle at the exhibitions in Three Rivers, Quebec and Sherbrooke. At these exhibitions he was very successful winning at them all the major prizes and championships. At Three Rivers he was awarded both grand championships, the silver cup for best herd made up with bull and four females, as well as 10 first prizes.

Similar awards were won at Sherbrooke, except that he did not win the male grand championship. At Quebec a complete cleanup of the top prizes and championships was made. The competition was greater this year than has been the case at any exhibition held in the past.

James Smythe Saves Car from Fire.—

Sunday evening a Chevrolet sport model car was being driven down White's sideroad at quite a fast speed. The car attracted the attention of Mrs. James Smythe and her husband. The car had hardly passed their home a half mile when they heard a crash. Mr. Smythe immediately rushed to the scene of the accident and there found the lone driver sprawled out in a ditch, having been thrown through the windshield He was not seriously hurt. Upon going to the auto which had all four wheels in the air, he found the car was on fire. With the assistance of another man who came along at that time, they managed to smother the fire out by throwing gravel on the flames which they scraped up off the road with their hands. The auto was later taken to Malone for repairs. The driver stated he turned to the left hand side of the road in order to pass a horse drawn vehicle which was driving on the wrong side of the road. The driver of the ill-fated car belonged to Saranac Lake.

Dr. George Rennie Passes Away.—

Word has just been received here of the death on July 5th, at Sauk Centre, Minn., of Dr. George Rennicks, who was born in this locality. Dr. Rennick's had reached the advanced age of eighty-five years, and his death resulted from blood poisoning.

HORSE RACING AT H'DON FAIR

Horse Racing on Fair Track Seems Impracticable

Horse racing was run off at the Fair, but not without discord amongst some of the horsemen. Heat after heat some one would grumble, and if that is sportsmanship it is only comparable to Gar Wood and his actions at Detroit last week. The races were slow in being run off. Sometimes the horses came in fairly close together, but usually one or two or perhaps three would be found lagging behind by a hundred or two hundred feet. The track has a hill on one side and on the opposite side of the track the horses have to trot down grade; this throws them off the pace or trot and so the races are materially spoilt. Harness races are a hopeless success. For the six hundred dollars offered as prize money, the Fair was sadly stung, as well as the spectators.

On Thursday three races were run off. The Green race was won by R. Douglas, 2nd, D. A. Elder, 3rd, T. S. MacFarlane.

2nd Race was 2.27 and was won by R. D. Place; 2nd, C. B. Hobbs; 3rd Dick Martin; 4th, F. McMillan.

3rd Race 2.28 won by Dick Martin; 2nd J. J. Blow; 3rd, C. Allen.

Friday Races

2.24 race, seven entries and won by R. D. Place, 2nd, D. Martin, 3rd, C. B. Hobbs, 4th J. J. Blow.

Free for all, five entrants, won by: 1st Chas. Rubido, 2nd, D. Martin on Miss Chamberlain, 3rd D. Martin on Comity, 4th Ed. Demo on Major Douglas and 5th, Dr. Fulton on Pelham Express.

Ormstown Village

Baseball.—

On Saturday last Hemmingford Srs played Ormstown Srs. in one of the poorest displays of baseball staged here this season. It was one of those game when runs are plentiful and the score reminds one of a cricket match. There were a few amusing high lights and at the same time effective which put interest into the game. Paul Reid garnered two home runs, a three bagger, a two bagger and singles. He certainly did his share of slugging. Merrill Smith made his debut with the seniors as pitcher in the 6th inning but received poor support in the field, despite this unfortunate showing he has the makings of a good pitcher. Anderson gained three bases on a single. The Hemmingford fielder protested the ball was outside the line and thus a foul ball. Meanwhile Anderson ran to second and third. Kearney got a hearty swat which counted a three base hit. Lyle Merkley umpired the game and every one was well satisfied with the decisions.

The game ended with Ormstown in the lead, the score being 31-18.

Results of the 1931 Corn competition organized by the Farmers Club of Ormstown, and judged by N. P. April, are:

Andrew Parkinson, 57; Russel Marshall, 56; Thos. Duncan, 55; Wm. Roy, 54; George Collum, 53; J. D. McDougall, 52; Geo. Graham, 50; Jas. Hunter, 48; Albert Nussey, 47.5; Peter Dickson, 47; Jos. Anderson, 46; Thos. Moore, 45; Peter Finlayson, 44.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Sadler went to Montreal to attend the funeral of Mrs. Sadler's nephew, Dr. Clarence Stewart, who died suddenly on Tuesday morning.

Chateauguay Basin

Miss Jean Dickenson has left to teach at Grand Mere, Que.

Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Kelly of Huntingdon were guests in town on Sunday.

Mrs. N. E. Jack, the Misses M. and J. Jack, and Messrs. A. Jack, K. MacMillan and J. Goodwin motored to Iroquois, Ont. to visit Mrs. Wm Gravely.

Miss M. Alexander and Mrs. F. Alexander of Huntingdon and Mr. M. Townsend of Montreal were week end guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Reid.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Boyd and daughters, Mary and Barbara have left town to take up their residence in Montreal for the winter.

On Wednesday, Sept. 9th the Julius Richardson Chapter I.O.D.E. held a very successful meeting at the home of Mrs. W. S. Richardson. The clearing up of business which accumulated during the summer months and arrangements for a special Anniversary Tea were the chief items of interest.

Glenelm

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Beardsworth of Bridgeport, Conn. were the recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. Fortin.

Mr. Erle Gardner of Albany was a recent guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gardner, coming and returning with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Duncan and little daughter Janet.

Mr. Wm. Donnelly and son Walter of Springfield, Mass. were recent guests of his brother James and sister, Mrs. Leland Thornton.

Mr. Napoleon Fortin and two sons Rev. Chas. Fortin and Sam of Pittsfield, Mass. were visiting last week with his brother, Mr. A. Fortin.

Ormstown Village

St. James Church Make Improvements for Centennial Celebration.—

The congregation of St. James Church have recently completed the erection of a new cemetery fence which has added greatly to the fine appearance of a beautifully located and well kept property. The fence is composed of about 600 feet of Invincible Angle Steel pickets four feet high and 220 feet of heavy chain link of the same height and is painted a pearl gray color; the total cost being about $1200.

The sheds, which were located along the Ormstown - Huntingdon highway, have been reduced in size and moved to the west side of the grounds, which gives a clearer view to the north side of the church property. The rectory roof has also received two coats of aluminum paint. All this work forms part of the programme of improvements to mark the Centenary of the parish which is to be celebrated during the ten days from September 27th to October 7th. On Sunday, Sept. 27th the annual Harvest Thanksgiving services will be held, when the Reverend A. C. Ascah, a former rector, will be the preacher.

The Lord Bishop to be Here Oct. 4.—

On Sunday, October 4th the Lord Bishop will be in the parish all day. There will be a celebration of the Holy Communion at 8.00 a.m. when several memorials and gifts will be dedicated, at 10.30 a.m. a special centenary service, and at 7.30 p.m. a Confirmation service. On Wednesday, Oct. 7th, there is to be a congregational supper at 6.00 p.m. and a social gathering, which will be open to the public at 8.00 p.m. The Reverend Canon Shatford will be the principal speaker at this gathering. All present and former parishioners, near and far are cordially invited to participate in the Centennial celebration.

The district meeting of Ormsdale Rebekah Lodge No. 30 was held in the Oddfellow's Hall, Monday evening,. Sept 14th, with Sister Violet Bryson, D.D.P. in the chair. Assembly officers present were Sis. Mudget, president of Rebekah Assembly; Sis. Bridge, P.P.; Sis. M. Hunter, P.P.; Sis. Margaret Lindsay, P.P. and Brother Decarie, G.M. of the Grand Lodge of Quebec. There was a splendid attendance of the members and a large number of visitors from Pioneer Lodge No. 1, Huntingdon.

Following the meeting of the lodge the members and visitors present assembled around the banquet table and the viands partaken of.

School Opening.—

At the request of the health authorities the fall term of the Ormstown High School and the Catholic Model School will not commence until a week later than orginally planned. The classes of both schools will re-open for the fall work on Monday, Sept. 21.

Flower Competition.—

The aster show held in Walsh's Ltd. on Thursday, Sept. 10th by the members of the Garden Club was a lovely display of colorful bouquets and single blooms. The Garden Club has done much to further the growth of flowers and those responsible for the show's displays that have been held during the summer months deserve lots of credit as no competition or exhibition can be carried on without work and lots of it. The prize winners of the aster competition were Class A., three dissimilar blooms: 1, H. B. Patton, 2, Mrs. McIntyre. Class B., bouquet with quality, variety and artistic arrangement to be considered 1, Mrs. McIntyre, 2, John Maw.

The Ormstown Lawn Bowling Club lifted the O'Connor Challenge Trophy from the Chateauguay Bowlers on Tuesday evening, Sept. 8th by the close score of 5 points. After the game the visitors were royally entertained to refreshments. Valleyfield is next in line. The following were the players.

On Friday evening a very pleasant gathering took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Baird, Tullochgorum Road, when a number of neighbors and relatives surprised them, the occasion being the fifteenth anniversary of their marriage.

Mr. Wm. Rutherford on behalf of those present read the following address: On this fifteenth anniversary of your marriage, we your neighbors and friends with whom you are in close association are tendering you this little surprise as a means of expressing the esteem in which you are held. Times change but friendship always lingers and your friendship throughout the years has always meant much to your neighbors and friends and especially those gathered here tonight and as a tangible evidence of that feeling of friendship and respect we have a slight token which we would ask you to accept with the added hope that you will have many more years of wedded happiness and that we may meet again to hely you celebrate future anniversaries.

The gifts consisted of several pieces of crystal and a bill folder to Mr. Baird.

Short congratulatory speeches were made, after which "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows" was sung. Delicious refreshments were served, the bride's table was graced by a three story wedding cake.

Although entirely taken by surprise Mr. and Mrs. Baird rose to the occasion and thanked those present for their gifts, entertainment and good wishes.

Musical selections were then enjoyed, given by Mr. and Mrs. Rember and Mr. and Mrs. Furey, and brought to a close a very enjoyable evening.

MRS. T. E. CLELAND BAKES BEST BREAD IN PROVINCE, SAYS JUDGE

Bread Baked With McDonald & Robb, "Our Best" Flour Wins Dr. J. C. Moore, M.P., Special, and and Robert Simpson Co. Silver Trophy.

250 PLATES OF APPLES ON EXHIBITION

150 to 175 Head of Dairy Cattle on Exhibition—Finest Exhibition of Livestock on Record—Fair Attendance Was Like the Show, Exceptionally Good

What was the best agricultural fair ever held in the east end of Huntingdon County, was held yesterday at Havelock. Threatening weather in the morning marred nothing, the afternoon turned out fine and the show grounds were covered with people and the entry of everything was outstanding.

Going first to the vegetable exhibit one was struck with the grand display, and more especially the quantities and excellence of the exhibits. When one says quantities, the question might be asked, what do you mean by quantities; well, here it is for an example, ripe cucumbers 17 entries, squash 14, citron 13, field pumpkins 12, pie pumpkins 12, tomatoes 18, peppers 11, potatoes, different varieties 26, beets 20, carrots 13 and so on throughout the vegetable kingdom. Mr. Robert Reid judged the vegetables at Havelock and Huntingdon, needless to say Havelock surpassed Huntingdon in this department, and Mr. Reid had to be very careful in his judgment.

Perhaps the most critical judging to be displayed took place in the great apple show. C. E. Petch is an outstanding apple judge, and he has judged apples for years at this fair. This year his task was greater than ever, for around 250 plates were entered. The apples were without a blemish and in making the placings it was usually because one apple might be a little off shape and this had to be used as the deciding factor. The apple prizes for Havelock fair will have to be extended in order to give the judge and the growers a fair shake. The McIntosh apple is of course the top apple, and it also topped the entry list, for in that class 19 entries were judged, Fameuse 18 entries and in the Canadian Bank of Commerce special for best collection of three plates, ten entries were made.

The east end of the County is also noted for the excellence of its maple syrup and maple sugar. The entry to these two classes was indeed fascinating, for they occupied a conspicuous spot amongst the preserves and canned fruit division. The ladies of Havelock contributed mightily towards this department for along with the big entry of syrup were to be seen 13 entries of pears, 14 of cherries and almost a score of wild strawberries and raspberries as well as all other kinds of preserves and pickles.

Mrs. T. E. Cleland, Bread Champion

Miss McEwen of Macdonald College judged the bread. She has judged bread at many fairs this fall, but she was more than taken with the quantity and excellence of the Havelock bread show. The prize loaf made by Mrs. T. E. Cleland, she said, was unquestionably the finest loaf of bread she has seen at any fair this year. This loaf of bread we understand was made with "Our Best" flour, the product of McDonald and Robb, Valleyfield. Mrs. Cleland will receive a barrel of flour from the firm as a prize. For having the best loaf of bread on exhibition Mrs. Cleland receives the $6 prize given by Dr. Moore, and the silver trophy given by the Robert Simpson Co. for the best loaf of bread at the fair.

Mrs. J. J. McArthur was another fortunate bread maker, and in her case she won the 100 pound bag of Royal Household flour for best loaf of bread made with that flour. The agricultural society bread prize went to Mrs. A. L. Stewart, with Mrs. H. L. Gilmore the close second and Mrs. Martin Brooks third. In brown bread 1st prize went to Mrs. J. D. Lang, 2nd Mrs. S. McNeil and 3rd Mrs. T. E. Cleland. White biscuits went to Mrs. T. E. Cleland, 2nd Mrs. S. McNeil, 3rd Mrs. J. D. Lang. Graham biscuits Mrs. A. A. Cleland, 2nd Mrs. J. J. McArthur and 3rd Mrs. A. L. Stewart.

The array of flowers and potted plants continues to improve each year and this year saw Havelock have its best display of flowers to date. The usual show of quilts was to be seen and Mrs. Waller and Mrs. Sayer had a very difficult task in judging the upwards of 50 quilts entered. In regards to the fancy work it was a fine display but unfortunately it was not displayed in a place where the ladies would be afforded a better opportunity to view it. The light is very gloomy in the fancy work division.

Perhaps one of the coupes that attracted most comments at the fair was one that was to be seen in this very same building, it was a cage with 15 canaries. The canaries were reared and exhibited by Aimé Gauthier of Hemmingford.

As one wended his way to the livestock rings he found wonderful competition in the two dairy breeds of cattle, viz: Ayrshires and Holsteins. Exhibitors went to Havelock Fair from the more distant parts of the counties, consequently the increased entry. Many entries of cattle in both breeds saw classes of 8, 9 and 10 head. Perhaps some of the cattle were not fitted as well for showing as is usually the case, but one must remember that Havelock Fair is for the benefit of the regular farmer and not the highly specialized showmen. In the Ayrshire classes, J. P. Cavers seems to have won the major prizes which included the aged bull, dry cow, milch cow, three year old and herd, etc. The judging of Ayrshires was done by Mr. J. M. Wallace of Hinchinbrooke. The principal exhibitors in Ayrshires were Messrs. Gruer, Gerald Roy, Fred Sweet, J. P. Cavers, Robt. Templeton, Cecil Anderson and Wilbert McMillan.

75 Head of Holsteins Exhibited

The showing of Holstein cattle surpassed all previous records. Possibly the reason for this was that the west end of the county was represented in the ring as it had never been before. Mr. Wm. R. Tannahill, who has just returned from the Eastern Circuit where he exhibited the herd of H. S. Tannahill & Son, judged the sleek lines of black and whites. Amongst the herds were the well known Huntingdon County exhibitors, viz: Jas. Murphy, W. L. Carr, Austen Kelly, Douglas Cooper, Jas. Lang of Brysonville; and Woodward Jackson and Wm. Dunn of Franklin, as well as a number of others who exhibited on a smaller scale.

The aged bull prize went to Wm. Dunn whilst the cows in milk and dry class went to W. L. Carr. The 3 year old heifer class was captured by Jas. Lang. The 2 year old bull class was also won by Mr. Dunn. Over 75 head of Holsteins were on exhibition.

John Graham, the veteran poultryman of Brysonville judged the feathered kind. He reported the show good and of better quality than ever before. His only criticism of the show was that the birds of a class were not placed nearer one another and that the light was not sufficiently good to give the people a chance to view the exhibit.

The swine and sheep pens were all filled. The swine exhibit was practically the same as has been seen at the other district fairs. The major prizes will be divided largely between L. E. Blair and the Hooker family.

Havelock again presented an admirable horse show. Like the cattle classes a number of entrants came from more distant parts. Donald McCormick of Brysonville judged the heavy horses which were largely entered by Wallace Templeton, Robert Templeton, Albert Orr, Gowdey Bros., R. T. Brownlee, Messrs. Sample, Bourdeau and Alex. Steele. Some of the classes of Clydesdales were quite large, others only sufficiently large to take up the prize money. One class in which only one entry was made attracted attention from the ringside audience, and that was the imported Clydesdale stallion of George Gowdey. Many favourable comments were made upon the horse.

The driving horses were exhibited in great numbers and wonderful classes were judged. In the class for lady drivers 8 entrants came into the ring. A little friendly rivalry was seen in this class between Miss Gilmore and Miss Hilda Anderson. These two outstanding lady drivers have contested 1st place honors on more than one occasion, but this year the judge awarded the ribbon to Miss Gilmore who drove one of Mr. D. A. Cairn's horses, whilst Miss Anderson came second, driving a horse of Mr. Wesley Goodfellow's.

The classes in general for driving horses were all to be desired. This class was enhanced by the fine string of show horses of D. A. Cairns, whose principal contemporary was Donald E. Black.

The ladies of Covey Hill Presbyterian Church served both dinner and supper in the dining hall. Excellent meals were served to the large number of people who were present.

The fair attendance is reported as the largest on record.

WORKMAN BREAKS BACK AND SKULL

One man suffered a broken back and a fractured skull and three others were slightly injured at Beauharnois on Thursday night when a scaffold of the Beauharnois Construction Company was blown down during the windstorm.

Louis Martin of Beauharnois, was taken unconscious to the Royal Victoria Hospital in Montreal following treatment at the Beauharnois Construction Hospital here. Reports from the hospital stated that his condition is critical. The other three men suffered cuts and bruises and were treated at the Beauharnois Hospital.

Let's Improve Huntingdon Fair

The Huntingdon Fair for 1931 is now a thing of the past; but it is not so far past that we should forget such an annual event took place, nor to believe it went over a crowning success in every respect. The time to consider making improvements for future years is at this very moment, when people have the fair in mind, and feel they know some of its deficiencies to be corrected if it is to live.

Speaking to many people at the Fair last week the common remark was that it was dead, or worse than ever. The people did not make these statements without some reason, for no one likes making critical remarks unless there is grounds for the making of such. Yet, when one would say to people making such statements, that the showing of cattle and horses was gratifying, an affirmative answer was accorded. That is just proof, that the farmers who form the board of directors are doing their part towards the exhibition. They as a class know what is wanted in regards to a livestock exhibit, and what is more, the fair has that department well taken care of.

The lack in the fair was all evident from the hill down to the entrance gates. The entry displayed in the buildings were exceedingly lacking. The people showing, or having booths in the buildings, were disgusted with the filth that surround them, and people having booths this year will hesitate going back to take space again. There is no excuse for this kind of a hindrance to the fair.

The townspeople will go to the fair if the buildings are attractively arrayed with exhibits and booths, therefore it is essential to make these places inviting. It is quite natural that the farmers who are on the directorate pay attention to the livestock end of the fair, and it is easy for them to overlook the buildings; therefore we believe it is important that the fair have a public meeting and now choose a committee of men and women to see to it that the two buildings are adequately fitted up in 1932, and that entries worth while are on display.

Next in line, we might say something about the race track. The track is a fissel. The men who are back of the track end of the fair are doing their best, but interesting and good races cannot be run on a track any more than a farmer could get along without machinery. The farmer and carpenter must have tools to work with, so must the race horse fans have an adequate track if they hope to run races. The race track takes up too much space on the grounds for all the good it is to the fair, and possibly some day it will be the scene of a fatal accident which might be also the death of the old Huntingdon Fair. Best dispense with the race track and move the grandstand to the advantage of the ball park.

$600 is spent on race track purses, but just what was spent on baseball this year is not known at the time of writing. Suppose, however, it cost nothing, but that the $600 was available for baseball development for 1932. What are the possibilities of regaining that amount with profits is a reasonable question. It is quite safe to say excellent ball teams could be put on the field for two days for $300. The other three hundred dollars might be spent on staking off the best diamond Huntingdon has ever had, and at the same time place the bleacher grandstand in a suitable location for the benefit of the ball diamond. With such facilities at the disposal of the ball teams, high class ball could be expected and would certainly be obtained. The directorate could then conscientiously advertise the fair and that real baseball games would be played. Baseball enthusiasm would be worked up throughout the summer, and the fair days would see the excitement at its height. 1,000 people or more would be sure to attend the fair to see these games daily. The grandstand might seat 500, so there you have $500 of receipts each day. Baseball can swell the gate receipts as no other feature can today, and what is more baseball is not a passing fancy as is harness racing.

The agricultural society have been operating the booths. This is perhaps false economy. The booths are not attractively cared for, are not inviting to one who wants a cold drink or ice cream, consequently the fair earns distasteful comments from people who go to these stands because they have no alternative. These stands in future should be rented to individuals who would have to run them on a higher and more attractive plane or lose the trade. Every man to his trade, and operating booths is not the work of the agricultural society. Then again, when making reference to the booths, it might be worth the attention of the directorate next year to see to it that the amusement games are placed in Midway order, and not scattered about as a bunch of bees, allowing each one to monopolize the shade of the trees and forcing the public to take the consequences of standing in the sun.

No doubt some of the Fair supporters will think these lines have been very critical. True, they are, but they would not have been written had cause not been provided. The Gleaner wants to see the fair prosper as much as anybody, and now is the time to "take the bull by the horns" and correct our deficiencies. If the show board will call a public meeting by October 1st, the Gleaner will lend its support towards getting a good attendance of people. Possibly the best way to get an attendance would be to write a number of personal letters to men and women who are wanted in particular. If the Fair Board calls such a meeting, don't stay away, but go to it, and give a helping hand when it is most needed.

In School Again

The long summer holidays over, school work again is in full swing. The eager scholars—and there are many of these—are glad to be back at their desks, and those not so ambitious about education must face the ordeal anyway. Parents have done their part in admonishing reluctant pupils that their great opportunity is before them; that education is necessary to success in life, and of rare value even for its own sake.

Grown-up folk all realize this, often when it is too late to overcome the handicap consequent upon earlier aversion to or neglect of study. The child of today has advantages in the way of securing an education that were unthought of a generation ago; but, of course, he does not know anything about this, and still must be encouraged or prodded along by parents and teachers.

The teachers return to their work with renewed energy and increased eagerness to discharge to the best of their ability the important duties associated with their life-work. Most of them have spent a large portion of the holiday season in attending summer classes, that they may be better equipped for the teaching of children committeed to their charge. They realize the importance of this work, and it is well for the rising generation that its school instruction is in such capable hands.

Thanksgiving Day this year will come early, having been fixed as October 12th, by government proclamation. Therefore it will be wholly distinct from Armistice Day or rather "Remembrance Day" as it will henceforth be known. The latter will be observed on November 11th, regardless of what day of the week it occurs. The old arrangement, which combined the two events in one, was not satisfactory and the change will be a welcome one.

Riotous Gambling

The experiences of the fall of the year 1929 have taught some lessons, and it is to be hoped that such an orgy of speculative marketing as preceded the crash will not come again. It was preeminently unnatural and uneconomic. This was so satisfactorily exemplified that sentiment is changing in regards to unlimited market speculation. The exchanges realize that, if they do not do all in their power to mitigate the abuses of the old market system of short selling, watering, forcing and depressing, the government, for the sake of the stability of the country, will have to step in. That is the last thing they want.

Riotous gambling, or any trading that is conducive to a distortion of values, is sure to come to grief. Someone is left holding the bag. Gambling cannot be eliminated from the exchanges, but certainly measures can be taken to lessen the unprincipled practices of the last ten years that brought such chaos in its wake.

A reduction of $10,000,000 in the sales of liquor in Ontario for the present year is looked for. Last year's sales amounted to $52,000,000 and the revenue to the province upwards of $9,000,000. This latter figure will be reduced to $7,250,000. All of which goes to show that dull times are the best temperance advocates.

Production has now been running below consumption for twenty months. Replacement buying is beginning to furnish the impetus for general business improvement.—Roger W. Babson.

Horse Saved His Life

Accidentally throwing his master, Walter Miller of Gustine, Calif., while they were riding the range, Toby hung around for five hours until Miller recovered consciousness. He then stood motionless until the ranchman got into the saddle, and then, refusing to gallop, walked with Miller on his back the entire distance to Gustine. The accident occurred in a sparsely settled region of the hills, and without the horse's aid Miller would have died of exposure.

Offer of Cash For Baby

A young mother and two detectives are on vigil at Pontiac, Mich. to prevent kidnapping of 1-year-old Norma Jean Valentine by two women and a man, strangers all, who have been trying to get possession of the child for two months. A. Valentine, the father, has placed a gate across the steps of his home and has instructed his wife to answer the door for no one but the detectives. The Valentines until recently kept their troubles to themselves for fear publicity would spur the suspected as kidnappers to desperate action to get hold of the baby. Mrs. Valentine was frightened into calling police after two visits in one day by the trio. The first call to the Valentine home was made by the man two months ago, when he offered $5,000 for the child, explaining only that she was of a type of which he was particularly fond. Mrs. Valentine ordered him away and began guarding her baby. Her watching became more determined, she said, when the man and a woman kept driving past the house in an expensive car. Efforts to catch the license number of the car were futile. Later a strang woman walked onto the porch and demanded the baby, leaving only after Mrs. Valentine slammed the door in her face. Shortly after this a man and two women drove up and again demanded they be given the little girl for a cash consideration.

Woman Uses Fist on Glass

Mrs. Mae Kaufman, 27, of Highland Park, Los Angeles, used her fist on a window instead of a latchkey in the door to get into her home and, as a result, landed in Georgia Street Receiving Hospital with a one and a half inch cut on her right forearm, police reports showed. Returning home, Mrs. Kaufman found she was without her latchkey. She failed to arouse her husband and finally broke a window with her fist, but cut her arm in doing so. She returned home after being attended at the hospital.

Mine Town Brings $900

Dead leaders of the once famous mining camp of Warren, Idaho, must have turned over in their graves the other day when the town was sold "lock, stock and barrel" for $900. It is a far cry from the town of the "70s" to the present town of today. The Florence gold discovery impelled the settlement of Warren. Miners flocked in from all over the country. Then the mine began to peter out and the town was deserted. Some time ago the town was removed from the Idaho national forest and reverted to the Interior Department. The sale was to establish claims made by "squatters" previous to the transfer.

Cleaning Overalls With Gasoline

While cleaning overalls with gasoline, Angus Campbell, of Taynuilt, near Oban, Scotland, had a miraculous escape when it exploded. He was knocked against the wall sustaining burning injuries to the arms and body. The window of the room was shattered, and soon the house was a mass of flames. Campbell's clothing caught fire, but he managed to run out and extinguish the flames by rolling on the grass. Crowds of neighbors fought the fire with buckets of water from a pond. The dwelling-house was completely destroyed.

Quakes Made by Scientists

Harvard seismologists are "manufacturing" earthquakes in an investigation of the foundation on which continents rest. Made by a small charge of dynamite the shocks used in these experiments move the ground so little that instruments which magnify a disturbance 12,000 times are needed to record them. For years seismologists have studied the velocity with which waves caused by earthquakes travel through and around the earth. From these studies they have learned the rock which forms ocean basins is different from that which composes continents for the most part. There is evidence that beneath a veneer of sedimentary rocks continental foundations are chiefly granite rocks, and that these relatively light masses are essentially "floating" in a dense, solid, crystaline basalt which forms ocean basins and surrounds the earth as a continuous shell, according to Harvard authorities.

Gasoline Routs Bee Swarm

John S. Lunney, in charge of a gasoline station at Middletown, N. Y., was puzzled as to how to rout a swarm of bees which had alighted atop of one of the pumps and refused to leave. A passer-by solved the problem, however, by suggesting he spray them with gasoline. The plan worked.

And Now the Red-Head

Blondes and Brunettes have had it all their own way up to the present. Now London is excited over the lass with the fiery locks. Under the auspices of a Sunday newspaper, England will have her red-headed women counted, classified and card-indexed. Later there will be a beauty competition in which only red-headed women will be permitted to take part.

Man Was Resuscitated

After being submerged face down in mud at the bottom of Lake Masacuppic for eight minutes and unconscious for nearly two hours, Richard Roland, 52, of Hartford, Conn., recovered. A Summer vacationist at Dracut, Roland went out on the lake on an improvised raft. When some 100 feet from shore the raft overturned and Roland was thrown into the water. Unable to swim, he sank and failed to come to the surface. A 15-year-old boy, Joseph Collins, plunged into the water and managed to extricate Roland from the mud which held him fast, and to bring him ashore. Police Inspector Patrick B. Clark and another officer responded to a call for an inhalator. After working over Roland's prostrate form for more than an hour, the officers decided there was still a spark of life left, and took him to the hospital.

Sleight-of-Hand Abilities

Sleight-of-hand abilities saved the life of Major Antonio Reixach, Spanish rebel airman. When he was fleeing by 'plane to escape a firing squad, he ran out of gasoline near the Portuguese frontier and had to land. Being entirely without money, Reixach resorted to his talent for sleight of hand, afterwards passing his hat. He collected enough coins to buy gasoline to complete his flight to freedom.

Got Sorry in Court

After his wife, testifying in court at Lethbridge, Alta., had accused him of branding her with a red hot poker, and of various other acts of brutality, Robert Stewart rushed to the witness box, and embraced and kissed her, in protestation of affection. Stewart, pit boss at a coal camp, and a war veteran still suffering from wounds received overseas, was placed on suspended sentence for a year, after he pleaded that his love for his wife—a war bride from Holland—made him insanely jealous. Mrs. Stewart testified that her husband had freqnently beaten her, and that on one occasion she had fled from their home, sleeping in a vegetable cellar all night, and then seeking refuge in the Travelers' Aid Home. Her husband followed her, and, by promising kindlier treatment, persuaded her to return. A few weeks later, the wife stated, Stewart, without warning, seized her and informed her he meant to kill her. He gagged her, tied her legs to the posts of their bed, and branded her with a hot poker, inflicting injuries which necessitated several weeks hospital treatment. Psychiatrists pronounced Stewart sane, but suffering mentally from the effects of having been wounded in the chest and struck over the head with a rifle, during the war.

Finds Hubby After 23 Years

A search of twenty-three years, started in Europe, ended at Pottsville, Pa., recently when Mrs. Michael Dziab, Hartford, Conn., located her missing husband, now known as Michael Zath. Zath or Dziab left his wife and two children in Europe twenty-three years ago to come to America, promising to send for them when he earned enough money. Nothing further was heard from him. Seven years ago, after letters and requests to friends here failed, Mrs. Dziab came to America and continued the search. Finally she located the missing husband in a mining village near Pottsville.

Rockne's Schoolmate, University Head

The Rev. Dr. Hugh O'Donnell, perfect of discipline at the University of Notre Dame and school and team-mate of the late Knute Rockne, has been named president of St. Edward's University at Austin, Texas. Before entering the priesthood Dr. O'Donnell was a member of the Notre Dame football squad and lettered in center in 1916.

Wedding Fees in Wheat

The Reno County bachelor who can think of nothing else to do with his 25-cent a bushel wheat can barter two bushels of it to W. X. T. Clark, justice of the peace, as a fee for performing a marriage ceremony. Justice Clark's offer is seen as a depressive influence on the marriage market, inasmuch as the probate judge hitherto has received $4 for performing the ceremonies.

Bees Were Bamboozled

When the discernment of a Biblical character was put to the test to determine whether he could distinguish between real and artificial flowers, he met the challenge by observing the actions of bees before whom the bouquets were placed. Well, Biblical bees were wiser than Johnson County bees, and here is the proof. One recent night a South Side wife who has a farm plucked a bouquet of peonies and placed them on the porch of her home. In arranging the bouquet, she dropped her delicately scented handkerchief near the flower vase. The next morning when she picked up the handkerchief she heard a gentle buzzing. Two honey bees flew from the folds of the handkerchief. The artificial perfume of the handkerchief had been more attractive to them than the natural scent of the peonies.

Chicken and Gosling in Snake

A "frying-size" chicken and a four-week gosling were found inside a blacksnake which was killed recently by Mrs. Forrest Weaver of Mexico, Mo. Mrs. Weaver attacked the reptile with a garden hoe when she found it disturbing her poultry flock. The snake was five feet nine inches long.

Denies He Was Dead

Frank Bussineau of Sault Ste. Marie, brother of Chief Amabel Bussineau of the Garden River Indians, denied that he was dead. The body of an Indian was found floating in the river, and Bussineau's relatives, and a host of others, identified the body as his. Frank had not been seen for a week. That afternoon he visited local newspaper offices and thanked the reporters for lengthy and colorful obituaries, which he said he appreciated but didn't deserve. He had been picking blueberries on the American side. The body remains unidentified.

Power of Self-Hypnosis

Doctors attending Clarence Fletcher, 5 of Fredericktown, Ohio, injured while playing, declare he possesses the rare power of self-hypnosis. The lad is able to induce upon himself an insensible sleep so deep that physicians are able to give him delicate treatment without aid of an anaesthetic.

Grew Up in Meantime

Mrs. John LaFlamme recently received a letter from her sister, Mrs. Fred Pooler of Fairfield, twenty-two miles from Augusta, Me. The letter announced the birth of a daughter. Investigation revealed that the letter was mailed twenty years ago. The "baby girl" is now a nun in the Jackman Convent.

Who Has a House to Rent?

Ellen Williams, formerly a tenant of Lady Warwick, in England, is now without home and cannot secure an apartment. She has thirty dogs, fourteen cats, six parrots, twenty-one canaries, five tamed snakes and two goats.

Matrimonial

Maxwell-Copping

The marriage of Miss Evelyn Alice Copping, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Copping, of Shawinigan Falls, to Mr. Robert George Maxwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Maxwell, of Huntingdon, Que., was solemnized on Saturday, August 28th, at seven o'clock in the evening, in the church of St. John the Evangelist, Shawinigan Falls, the Rev. J. W. Harrison officiating.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a French gown of bridal satin, her veil of white tulle, held in place by a coronet of orange blossoms, forming a train. She carried a shower bouquet of pink roses and lilies of the valley. The bride was attended by her cousin, Miss Dorothy Derry, of Montreal, as maid of honor, who was gowned in yellow chiffon trimmed with orchid satin and wore a large picture hat to match. She carried an arm bouquet of yellow and orchid gladioli. Little Miss Kathleen Copping, sister of the bride, who wore a dress of mauve organdy with hat to match and carried an arm bouquet of asters, was flower girl.

Mrs. Copping, mother of the bride wore a dress of cream flowered net with hat to match and a corsage bouquet of pink roses. Mrs. Maxwell mother of the groom, was dressed in black satin with Victorian hat to match and wore a corsage bouquet of pink roses. Mr. Tommy Barrington of Montreal, attended the groom as best man, while Messrs. Clifford Copping and Art Wood were the ushers. The reception following the ceremony was held at the Cascade Inn. Later Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell left by motor for Ottawa, Toronto, Niagara Falls and Huntingdon, the bride travelling in a dress of black flowered georgette over which she wore a red coat trimmed with seal. They will reside on Station avenue, Shawinigan Falls.

Father: "Why were you kept in after school?"
Son: "I didn't know where the Azores were."
Father: "Well, in future just remember where you put things."

"What's the difference between dancing and marching?" the girl asked her clumsy dancing partner.
"I don't know," he answered.
"I thought so," she said. "Shall we sit down?"

"You will feel much better if you eat simple foods"

"There is no breakfast that will be better for you than Shredded Wheat and milk. This combination makes a complete food, supplying every element necessary to growth and good health. If you are dieting, Shredded Wheat is especially important because of its vitamins and minerals. You'll like Shredded Wheat—and it certainly will like you!"

LOVE LAUGHS AT TELEPHONE TOLLS

Hospital days were lonely. Of course, her friends did all they could to keep her cheerful — her room was a bower of roses — but how she looked forward to evening when Jack could sit by her and talk of his day at the office.

Then came the news that he must leave town on business. She wondered how she could stand the wait until he came home. But Jack, wise fellow, knew how to bridge the gap. Promptly each evening at nine he called her over Long Distance and told her all the things she wished to hear.

Extravagant? . . . not a bit . . . for night rates are always inexpensive! What could be worth more for what it cost?

Evening rates (7.00 p.m. to 8.30 p.m. local time) are considerably lower than day rates on "anyone" calls. "Night rates" (8.30 p.m. to 4.30 a.m.) are lower still.

Golden Wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Ogilvie

Briercrest, Sask., Sept. 5.—Gathering in the basement of Knox Presbyterian church, Monday, more than 150 people honored Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Ogilvie on the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage.

A program, every item of which was appropriate to the occasion, interspersed with speeches of congratulation by Rev. Dr. G. D. Bayne, Rev. Mr. Toombs, Rev. Jas. Greer, and Mrs. Walter Hillson, was given.

The program was as follows: Vocal solo George McArthur; reading, Miss R. Jamieson; instrumental, Jean McArthur; solo, George Coward; chorus by six young girls; reading, William McArthur; chorus by the choir; vocal trio, Cecil Coward, Reuben Hillson and Allen Findlay; reading Beatrice McArthur; vocal duet, Rev. and Mrs. Toombs; solo, Mrs. Kerr; solo, Mrs. Toombs; and reading, Julia Olson.

Preceding lunch Mrs. Ogilvie was presented with a gold life-membership W.M.S. pin, the presentation being made by Mrs. C. Findlay following an address by Mrs. Greer. Immediately afterward, W. A. McNaughton read an address from the Sunday School, and Jas. Glenn presented Mr. Ogilvie with a hymn book. Two of the grandchildren, Margaret Ogilvie and Beatrice McArthur then presented Mr. and Mrs. Ogilvie with a purse of money, the gift of friends far and near, and a book of greetings written and illustrated by their friends.

Mr. Ogilvie was born at Georgetown, Quebec, in the Chateauguay district, on November 12, 1849. He is of Scottish descent, his grandparents coming from Sterlingshire in 1800. After completing his elementary education in the home school on the banks of the Chateauguay river, Mr. Ogilvie attended the academy at Huntingdon, later on taking up farming on his father's farm.

Served in Fenian Raids

In 1870, Mr. Ogilvie, along with several other young men of the district, served in the Fenian Raid at Trout river lines. Shortly after this Mr. Ogilvie acquired a farm of his own, which later became his home.

On August 20, 1881, he was united in marriage with Mary Brodie, daughter of James Brodie and Mary Symons, the Brodie's originally coming from Ayrshire, Scotland. Since coming west in 1916 they have farmed in the Briercrest district.

Mr. and Mrs. Ogilvie are staunch Presbyterians, and Mr. Ogilvie has been an elder in the church for 43 years. Both Mr. and Mrs. Ogilvie have always taken an active part in the Sunday School, missionary and other parts of church work. Their family of five boys and two girls are all living, as are 13 grandchildren.—Regina Leader-Post.

Matrimonial

Allan-Langevin

The marriage took place at eight o'clock on Wednesday morning, Sept. 2nd, in St. Ignace Church, at Coteau du Lac, of Miss Jeannette Langevin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jean Langevin, of Cateau du Lac, to Mr. Wm. Allan, son of the late Mr. James Allan, and of Mrs. Allan, of Ottawa. The nuptial mass was celebrated by Rev. Father Mailloux. The church was decorated with chrysanthemums gladioli, ferns and autumn flowers.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father, wore a Parisian gown of nile green interwoven tulle made on long lines, with a bolero of the same shade in silk crepe georgette. Her wide tulle hat, trimmed with a velvet ribbon of the same color as her crepe slippers, matched her dress. Her only ornament was a diamond necklet. She carried an arm bouquet of Talisman roses and lilies of the valley tied with a green silk ribbon. During the ceremony, Miss Anita Allan sang "Noel du Marriage," Mr. Avila Pharand rendering Schubert's "Ave Maria," and Mr. George Betourny, "Sancta Maria" by Faure, Miss Alice Langevin, organist, and Mr. Nathan Blumenthal, violinist, were the accompanists.

The reception was held at the bride's home, where the house decorations were composed of bronze chrysanthemums, gladioli, and sweet peas; the bride's table being centred with orchids and baby's breath. Later Mr. and Mrs. Allan left by motor for their wedding trip, the bride travelling in a beige and brown ensemble of French tweed, trimmed with fox with a beige felt hat with an ostrich plume. They will reside in Smith's Falls, Ont.

Obituary

The late Miss Jeanie Donaldson

On Friday, September 4th, there passed into the life beyond Miss Jeanie Donaldson, a former resident of Ormstown. Miss Donaldson was born in Upper Ormstown, where she lived the greater part of her life, until a few years ago when she and her brother James came to reside in Ormstown Village, and when he died she went to live with her sister, Mrs Annie Stanley at Sault Ste. Marie Michigan, where she died, the body being brought to Ormstown and interred in the Union cemetery.

In the early days of her life, Miss Donaldson passed through a very trying and sorrowful experience, having to nurse her mother and two brothers, in a very serious illness which proved fatal to all three. Later, two brothers having small families which were left motherless, the children were brought up by her. She was of a bright and cheerful disposition and always looked for the silver lining to the dark cloud, keeping the sunshine of a living faith in her heart. She character, and not only did she prowas a splendid type of Christian fess Christianity, but possessed and practised it, and it may be said of her, "She did what she could." She is survived by one brother, Archie of Woodstock, Iowa, and one sister Mrs. Annie Stanley.

The late Robert O'Connor

The death occurred at his home St. Agnes de Dundee, Que., on Sept. 9th, of Robert O'Connor, who had resided in this locality for over seventy years. Mr. O'Connor had been in failing health for several months during which time he was devotedly cared for by his niece, Mrs. John Moriarty, of St. Anicet, and by Mr. and Mrs. Emile St. Onge, who resided with him. Mrs. O'Connor predeceased her husband by three years, and one sister, Mrs. Timothy Lucey of Malone, N.Y. survives.

The funeral which was held in St Joseph's Church, Huntingdon, on Friday morning was very largely attended testifying to the high esteem in which Mr. O'Connor was held. The pall-bearers were: Messrs. Joseph Smythe, William McCormick, Alp. Leblanc, Joseph Leblanc, Zenophile Leblanc and Daniel Stowell.

Chateauguay Basin

Our Packing Plant.—

A new industry has been started in our town which should be of the greatest benefit to the orchardists of this district.

Through the energy of a Chateauguay boy, Robert J. M. Reid, and the co-operation of the Department of Agriculture at Quebec plans have materialized and an up-to-date grader has been purchased and erected in an unused building, which will do for this year, to demonstrate the feasibility of co-operative packing and marketing. The grader has a capacity of four hundred barrels of apples per day and when the rush of the MacIntosh and Fameuse crop comes on, Mr. Reid expects to take care of the entire output of the members of the Chateauguay Co-operative Apple Packers, in record time and at a minimum expense to the grower.

The purchase of the grader was made possible by the generous grant from the Quebec Government and was assured by popular member of Chateauguay, the Honorable Honoré Mercier.

This is the fourth packing plant that Mr. Reid has established, the other three being at Abbotsford, Franklin, and Havelock. Abbotsford's grader is one of the largest in Canada and when working at full capacity requires about 30 to 35 workers, turning out over 1000 barrels per day of properly graded fruit.

The manager of the Chateauguay plant is Mr. Earle Sample of Covey Hill, who is an expert grower and packer.

A visit to the plant will certainly repay anyone interested in fruit culture.

For this season each member is selling his own output and while the co-operative packing is a distinct step in modern methods, to take full benefit of the packing and grading, co-operative selling should be carried on, as is done at all the other packing houses.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wright and Mr. and Mrs. M. Crawford were week end guests at the home of Mrs. Wm. Wright.

Mrs. Boyd of Huntingdon spent Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Richardson.

Miss Patience Reid spent Thursday and Friday at the home of her brother, Mr. Robert Reid, Hemmingford.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Conway and Mrs T. Benson were guests in town during the week.

The Misses Grace and Dorothy Alexander of Montreal were week end guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Wyse.

DRAPERIES MADE NEW

"When we resumed housekeeping a month ago I found my draperies had become creased from packing. I hung them out on the line, hoping to remove the creases. Then I forgot them. The result was they became badly faded and sun-spotted.

"I was heartsick until the happy thought struck me to dye them. I just dyed them a deeper green, and as I used Diamond Dyes they look gorgeous and new. I have never seen easier dyes to use than Diamond Dyes. They give the most beautiful colors—when used either for tinting or dyeing—and never take the life out of cloth as other dyes do."

Historic Ford Car Will Stop Here For A Time

The one-millionth Ford car made in Canada is to be displayed in Huntingdon next Monday, Sept. 21st, according to announcement today by J. A. McCracken of Empire Garage Ltd. Ford Dealer.

The historic car will stop here for a short time before continuing a tour of eastern Canadian cities and will be exhibited for a short time at the salesrooms of the local Ford Dealer. The millionth car is a new Town Sedan finished in maroon.

During its stay here a number of prominent citizens will be given rides in the car, which also will head a parade about the town of a number of Ford models from the local showrooms.

The completion of the one-millionthe Ford car made in Canada was made the occasion of a celebration at the plant of the Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited, at East Windsor, Wallace R. Campbell, President, armed with a hammer and punch, stamped the serial number "CA-1,000,000" into the engine block and then drove the completed car off the final assembly line.

In announcing the coming visit of the car Mr. McCracken said that the manufacture of 1,000,000 Ford cars in Canada had been a tremendous benefit to the economic life of the Dominion.

"The Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited, which has been in business in Canada for 27 years, spent in Canada during the last ten years a sum aggregating almost $300,000,000," he said. "Of this huge total, $95,000,000 was paid out in payrolls to our thousands of workers.

"Another $170,000,000 was spent in the purchase of materials and services going into the manufacture of the Ford car in Canada. This sum furnished employment to other thousands of workers in mnay industries. The Company also paid in the last ten years to the Government a total of $30,000,000.

"In addition, the manufacture by the Company of Fords for sale in the British overseas Dominions brought new wealth into the country. This trade last year resulted in expenditures in Canada of more than $8,900,000, including $3,200,000 for salaries and wages, $4,175,000 for materials, $200,000 for taxes, $700,000 for freight and $600,000 for ocean freight."

The one-millionth car will be in Valleyfield on Tuesday, Sept. 22nd.

Delicate Child

Now a Fine Healthy Woman

"I was the eldest of five girls," writes Mrs. A. G. Richardson, 202 Lancaster St. West, Kitchener, Ontario, "and my mother gave Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to us all. My youngest sister was very delicate. She was nearly thirteen when mother took her to the doctor and he said 'Give her Dr. Williams' Pink Pills like you gave the other girls'. Mother did so, and today she is married, and is a fine healthy woman."

The iron and other elements in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills (tonic) increase the amount of haemoglobin or oxygen-carrying agent in the blood. The increased supply of oxygen kindles life in all your tissues. The result is a better appetite, a feeling of well-being, and restful sleep.

Begin now to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. 50 cents a package at any druggist's. Be sure to say "Dr. Williams'" so that the druggist will know exactly what you want. 131

CHAPTER I

The traffic signals flashed from red to green. With a grating roar the big truck shot forward, cleaving a pathway down the center of the crowded thoroughfare. Street car bells jangled and a bright blue roadster swerved sharply. It was 5.30 p.m. on a busy downtown street of Marlboro, that rapidly growing industrial stronghold of the middle west, with its close to a million population, its swarming mills and factories, its interminable odor of coal smoke. Tired men and women were heading homeward after a day of toil. Hurrying. Impatient. The throats of motor vehicles chafed at one another. Pedestrians on the sidewalks elbowed their way rudely.

And then the shrill cry cut the air. It was frightened, high-pitched. It came from the center of the street where the heavy wheels of the huge truck had just passed. A wailing, plaintive note of tremulous terror.

The girl in the gray suit was first to see what had happened. "Oh," she cried, stopping horrified, "Oh, can't somebody help him?" She swung about wildly, caught the arm of the young man who was passing.

"Look!" the girl exclaimed. "There by the car tracks! He'll be killed!"

"What—?" the youth began and then stopped short as his eyes followed her pointing finger. Involuntarily his lips tightened. With an exclamation that was half-smothered he sprang into the street.

Somewhere a man shouted. Others who turned to look swore abruptly. There was the grueling noise of hastily released brakes. The street which a moment before had been a smooth flowing artery of traffic was suddenly disorganized, chaotic.

The girl in gray stood quite still. Her face was very white now. A feminine voice in the little knot of spectators that had gathered on the sidewalk cried hysterically, "He's got it! Look—he's got it!"

As quickly as that the tension snapped. The watchers saw the young man stoop and pick up a tiny, bedraggled bundle that whimpered and wriggled. Though the light in the traffic tower still gleamed emerald obliging motorists waited, clear the way for the youth, carrying the bundle now, to return to the sidewalk.

He came straight to the girl in gray. The young man was grinning. "Here he is," he said, shifting the load in his arms slightly "Good as new, too. Not even scratched!"

"Oh, I'm so glad. Isn't he precious?"

A half dozen of those who had been watching the little drama closed about the couple for a better view.

"Why, it's a dog!" exclaimed a shrill-voiced woman. "Just a puppy. My land! That young man might have got himself killed just—!" The speaker turned away in disgust, her words dying in the distance.

"Is it all right if I pet his head, Miss?" a small boy with a load of newspapers slung across one shoulder wanted to know. "Gee, that was a close call!"

The girl nodded, smiling. She had taken the tiny animal from the arms of the young man. Some of the spectators who lingered eyed the youth curiously; more were looking at the girl. She was such a pretty girl. Slender and not over five feet four inches tall in her trim, high-heeled pumps. The gray suit and small black hat she wore were indistinguishable from the garb of hundreds of others in the army of girl workers but the black hat was pushed back, revealing a broad forehead and dark-fringed, wide-set eyes. The ivory pink of her coloring was flawless and natural-looking. Below the hat brim there was visible just a trace of softly waving, taffy-colored hair.

The pup snuggled close to the girl's coat, apparently content. What a woeful, neglected specimen of dog life he was! Frowsy gay-brown fur standing out askew where it was not matted to his underdeveloped body. Ancestry only to be guessed at. Scandalous certainly! Age probably three months.

The puppy raised two eyes of utter trust to the girl's and nuzzled a cool little nose, soft as velvet, beneath her protecting fingers.

"Mrr-ph!" it barked in infantile dog language. "Mrr-ph!"

"Why, he looks like Charlie Chaplin. Honestly, doesn't he?" the girl exclaimed laughing.

No mistaking it. There certainly was about the pup something of the unconscious pathos and whimsical clowning of Hollywood's funny man with the derby hat, big shoes and cane.

"Does for a fact," agreed the young man.

At that moment the tiny mongrel was completely captivating. Others had drifted away, the youngster with the newspapers last to go. The youth who had rescued the puppy looked down at him.

"Cute little beggar!" he said. "How'd he get away from you? Don't you think you should keep him on a leash?"

"Oh, but he isn't mine!"

"Not yours! You mean he isn't your dog?"

The girl shook her head. "I wish he were," she admitted. "I think he's adorable. It was brave of you to go out there and save him. In another minute I know he'd have been killed. I thought for a moment one of those cars was going to hit you!"

The youth shrugged. "Nothing to that," he said. "Say, I kind of like the little beggar myself. Cute way he's got of wrinkling up his nose!"

The pup chose that instant to repeat his miniature yelp. "Mrr-ph! Mrr-ph!" A warm tongue like a bit of moist pink flannel licked the girl's finger.

"He's probably trying to say that he's hungry," the girl decided. "I wonder—what do you suppose we should do with him?"

At the sound of that "we" the young man's face brightened. His eyes had been on the girl almost constantly. It was an eager, openly admiring glance.

"That's for you to decide. You saved his life."

"Oh, but you were the one who did that!"

"Well, then, I relinquish my claim. Anyhow the hound's adopted you. Never saw a more contented pooch in my life."

The stream of pedestrians passed about them. These two who had never before seen one another were talking like old acquaintances.

The girl raised her head and the young man set to marveling that eyes so dark hued could be blue. Blue they certainly were. Never until that moment, he decided, had he seen eyes that were really blue. The exquisite small nose, the slightly full lips, carmined to the current vogue, were after thoughts in the inventory. Yes, by George, the girl was a beauty!

She seemed oblivious to this fact. There was not the slightest trace of self-consciousness about her. Oblivious, too, she felt as to whether the youth before her were tall or short, cross-eyed or wizen-faced.

He straightened, frowning slightly. Couldn't she just for one moment look at him as though she really saw him? It was a jolt to his complaisance. Not for the world would he have admitted consciousness that his well-cut profile resembled a certain motion picture star, that the straight line of his dark brow was a daily gratification, or that his manly height and broad shoulders set off perfectly the excellent tailoring of his dark suit. None of these things would he have admitted and yet they were all true.

Easily he said, "Look here, let me get a cab. We'll get away from this crowd and then we can decide what to do with the pup."

The smile died in the girl's eyes. She shook her head. "No, thank you. I'll—I'll manage some way—"

"Oh, but that's not fair! I feel in duty bound to keep tab on that mongrel's future welfare."

She relented faintly. 'I'm afraid you'll have to trust me about that. Anyhow I think the first thing to do is to try to find his owner. Tomorrow I'll advertise."

"Advertise? For what—?"

He pointed contemptuously toward the pup. There was disbelief, laughter in his voice.

The girl's chin raised. "Yes," she said, "and until I find his owner he'll have a good home. We'll get along all right." She sought his eyes for an instant, hesitated and then added, "Good night," as she turned and started northward.

She had not gone half a dozen steps when the youth was beside her. He touched her arm.

"Listen," he urged. "there are a lot of things I want to talk to you about. Didn't I meet you one evening at—at the Marigold? No, that's not it. I mean—er—the Palais Royal? I'm sure I did. I've been wanting to see you again. Don't hurry away like this—!"

She had stopped and was watching him as he floundered for the words. Into the wide blue eyes that had seemed so guileless a moment before there flashed a look of swift hostility, followed instanly by a show of cool indifference. The transformation was startling. It was something that never should have been seen on the face of one so young.

But the youth took no notice. "If you won't let me take you to dinner," he went on, "how about tomorrow? Where can I telephone you?" He had pulled a memorandum book and pencil from his vest pocket. "Say," he grinned boyishly, "I don't remember how to spell your name. Mine's Travers—in case you've forgotten. Mark Travers."

"No, Mr. Travers," the words snapped sharply, "Not tonight— or any night. Better go back to the Marigold and find the girl you met there. It wasn't I."

Traffic had halted at the intersection and a taxicab, vividly colored, pulled up near the curb. The girl had turned away, suddenly thought better of it and wheeled toward the street. She signaled the driver and darted out toward the cab. Another moment and she was inside. The street light glowed green again and with a jerk the cab moved forward.

"Where to, lady?" asked the driver.

She gave the address, then leaned back against the leather seat. A frightened whimper from the puppy made her hold the little animal closer. Over her shoulder the girl caught a swift glance at a disconsolate young man, tall and very well tailored, standing on the curb and looking after the disappearing taxicab.

It was a drive of 15 minutes before the vehicle halted and the girl stepped to the sidewalk. A young man wearing a tweed suit came to meet her. He was smiling.

"I was beginning to think I'd missed you," he said. "Here, let me take care of that—" One hand dug into a trousers pocket and came forth with a collection of coins. He had settled the fare and turned about before he noticed the small dog.

The girl caught his glance. "Isn't he cute?" she said eagerly. "Oh, Bob, the poor little fellow was nearly killed! Right out in the middle of Broad street he was. A truck almost ran over him. Frightened to death, too! But he's over that now. See? Look at that little tail waggle, will you?"

They both laughed.

"So that's what kept you?" Bob Farrell exclaimed. "Well, I think the pup got a lucky break. What are you going to do with him?"

"Keep him—until I can find a better home for him."

"Be sort of a nuisance, won't he?"

"I can manage. Besides, I couldn't leave him there to be killed!"

"No. I suppose not. Well—the situation calls for action."

The action Bob Farrell had in mind went into effect forthwith. There was a quick visit to the corner five and ten store where Farrell purchased the smallest dog collar on the counter and then a leash. It was necessary to punch an additional hole into the collar before it could be fastened around the puppy's neck. Once secure, they returned to the restaurant before which the taxicab had halted.

Five minutes later the girl and young man faced each other across a candlelighted table. The puppy had curled into a comfortable ball at their feet.

"Have a hard day, Norma?"

"No—oo!" Norma Kent considered the question, raised her voice faintly as she answered. "It wasn't especially hard but I'm glad it's over. I'm always glad when a day's done. What have you been doing?"

Farrell grinned. "Oh, rubbed the dust of some filthy old volumes in Kemper and Kemper's law library. I've been looking up references for a suit over some property. Spent most of yesterday at the same job. Better order, hadn't we?"

Help yourself to PARKER HOUSE ROLLS

Try this Recipe

1 cup scalded milk
2 tablespoons butter
1 tablespoon sugar
1 saltspoon salt
½ Royal Yeast Cake dissolved in
¼ cup lukewarm water

■ To the scalded milk add the butter, sugar and salt. Allow it to cool until lukewarm and then add dissolved yeast and 1½ cups flour. Stir well and let stand in moderately warm place overnight. In the morning, add enough flour to knead, and let rise until about double in bulk, then roll out ½ inch thick. Cut with biscuit cutter and brush each piece with melted butter, crease through the center and fold over. Let rise again until double in bulk and bake for about 25 minutes in moderate oven. Above is sufficient for about ten rolls.

If you bake at home, write to Standard Brands Limited, Fraser Ave. & Liberty St., Toronto, for the free Royal Yeast Bake Book. It contains tested recipes for Lemon Buns, French Tea Ring, Dinner Rolls and many other delightful varieties of bread.

ROYAL Yeast Cakes

make all breads taste better, look better and keep better. For over 50 years they have been the accepted standard of quality wherever dry yeast is used in home baking.

Keep a supply handy. Each cake is sealed in waxed paper. They will keep for months.

He had proposed and the girl had turned him down.

"Ah, well," he sighed. "I suppose I will never marry now."

The girl couldn't help laughing a little, she was so flattered.

"You silly boy!" she said. "Because I've turned you down, that doesn't mean other girls will do the same."

"Of course it does," he returned with a faint smile. "If you won't have me, who will?"

BETTER BRAN FLAKES

better after school

HAVE a bowl of Kellogg's PEP Bran Flakes waiting for the children after school. A wonderful health dish—full of whole-wheat nourishment—just enough bran to be mildly laxative—and the famous flavor of PEP. That's what makes them known as better bran flakes. At all grocers. In the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

The Good Health House At Huntingdon Fair

The County Women's Institute display for Department of Child Welfare consisted of the Good Health House and various pamphlets dealing with matters of hygiene.

Children and adults too, were fascinated by the House made of wallboard and decorated with a variety of wholesome foods. The roof was made of graham crackers with milk bottle chimneys. Window shutters were slices of graham bread with window boxes made of prunes. The walls were stuccoed with oatflake while peas and beans represented a solid foundation. The front porch was made of bacon, roofed by oak cakes, supported by pillars of straws. Cheese represented steps. The front walk of gravel "beans" and lawn of carrot tops looked very realistic.

Mrs. J. P. Simpson and Mrs. Harold Orr of Hemmingford were the architects and builders of this handsome edifice which received a great deal of attention and much favorable comment. The plans and specifications were obtained by Mrs. Charles Petch from Helen G. Campbell of the Dominion Dept. of Agriculture.

NEW DIAMOND NEEDED FOR FAIR GROUNDS

Baseball Far Better Attraction Than the Very Secondary Races Staged

The best attraction Huntingdon Fair directorate can provide for the Huntingdon Fair attendance each year is baseball. This has long been the case, and it has stood many tests. The idea of racing on a track such as is provided on the grounds with a view to drawing crowds is ridiculous but if the show board would spend $600. per annum on ball, as they are doing for race horse prizes, then Huntingdon Fair could hope to see a big attendance both days.

Next year it might be well to just try the change. Move the diamond to a suitable location, and have it generally improved, and then have the bleacher grand stand suitably located for the ball spectators, and it will then be possible to judge and prove whether good ball can be played on the grounds and whether the people prefer good ball or very secondary horse racing.

It was quite generally felt that even the first day's inferior ball game between Beavers and Ormstown surpassed what took place on the track. The people quite willingly left the race course and followed the ball game, such as it was. Blame need not be laid at the hands of the ball players, but more especially upon the location of the diamond. The sun struck the players on the eyes, consequently it was unsually bad fielding. Then again the field was so rough that a player could not judge a ball and were he to run for a ball he took his life in his hands for fear of a sprained ankle. Thirdly no attempt was even made to divert the exhibitors from driving across the field with cars, horses, cattle and even pigs, so how could the base ball players hope to give the spectators a good ball game.

The first ball game, between Beavers and Ormstown, saw the former win by 24-14. That says enough about the game.

The players were:

Beavers—I. Elder, p; A. Hay, l.f.; C. Elder, c.; L. Hay, s.s.; D. Elder, 1b.; A. Watson, r.f.; C. McIntyre, 3b.; S. Gavin, c.f.; N. Hay, 2b.

Ormstown—Paul Reid, p.; E. Ames, l.f.; O. Brault, c.; J. Murphy, s.s.; P. Brunet, 1b.; G. Goldie r.f.; Paul Jenneau, 3b.; J. Winter, c.f.; E. Martin, 2b.

Friday saw a better game played between Beavers and Hinchinbrooke the latter team being augmented by players from the team of the Chateauguay Ponies. Had a good diamond been provided this would have been a very tight game, one well worthy of going a distance to see, and certainly one that could draw a crowd had they played several games during the ball season. Early in the game the Beavers were the leaders, but in the sixth and seventh innings the Hinchinbrooke boys began connecting heavily with George McIntyre and started rolling in the runs. The score in the 8th inning stood 10-8 for Hinchinbrooke. The Beavers at bat in the ninth started hitting Lee unmercifully hard, so our old friend Pete Bush entered the box and wound up the game in quick order. The fans saw a good interesting game of ball and went home feeling they had had a good afternoon's fun at the Fair. The players were:

Hinchinbrooke—Jos. Walsh, c; Lee p; E. C. Martin, 1b; Jenkins, 2b; Pete Bush, s.s.; Arch. Rowat, 3b; Norman McRae, l.f.; Steele, c.f.; Maither, r.f.
