GETTING THE DETAILS — Fire Captain Theodore DeGrace takes down details of fire during last night's outbreak at the Canadian Unitcast Steel Co. plant on Belvedere Street.

Fire in Unitcast's wash

SHERBROOKE — Panic spread throughout the Canadian Unitcast Steel Co. plant here last night when fire broke out in an open oil pit.

When firemen from the No. 1 Marquette Street station arrived at the plant around 11 p.m., flames up to 12 feet high were coming out of the oil pit.

Using chemical extinguishers, firemen brought the blaze under control within minutes after their arrival.

The fire broke out in the cleaning department at the rear of the plant. About 30 men were working in the area at the time.

A pall of smoke screened the inside of the plant for about half an hour.

Firemen blamed the blaze on the overheating of the oil pit which is used to temper steel.

The 12-man fire squad was led by Capt. Theodore DeGrace and Lt. Raymond Fournier.

Spate of robberies defy solution

By RICHARD SPALDING

NOTRE DAME DE STANBRIDGE — Quebec Police are intensifying their search today for a group of holdupmen believed responsible for a series of bank robberies carried out in the Eastern Townships this summer.

Also, police believe they have established a tentative link between these and a similar series of robberies at border towns in Vermont and New York.

Yesterday, three armed men robbed the Caisse Populaire here shortly after 11 a.m., severed telephone lines leading into the community, and escaped with $6,400 in cash.

Notre Dame de Stanbridge is a small town of 1000 people located about five miles northwest of Bedford.

Police believe the bandits are part of the same gang who robbed a branch of the Franklin Bank in Richford, Vt. Monday, in which four armed men escaped with slightly less than $20,000 in cash.

The Notre Dame de Stanbridge Caisse Populaire is located in a grocery store. It is staffed by 30-year-old store owner Jean-Claude Landry.

When the three armed bandits entered the caisse, Mr. Landry was accompanied by two inspectors.

"The bandits were nice to us," Mr. Landry told The Record. "They told us to move towards the safe and open it."

During the 20 minutes the robbers spent inside the Caisse Populaire, a few people walked in, unaware that a holdup was in progress.

"All the bandits did was move the people along a wall and tell them to keep quiet," the manager said. "No one was harmed."

At about 11:20 a.m., the armed trio escaped in an unidentified car with a haul of $6,400 in cash.

Although the Landry store is located right in front of a hotel, no one inside noticed the hold-up until about two minutes after the trio had fled, when a woman came running into the hotel to ask the teller to call the police.

But the local police officer was absent, and the telephone lines were out.

Not until 5 p.m. was regular telephone service restored.

Yesterday's robbery at the Caisse Populaire is the second to occur there this year.

On June 1, an armed man walked into the Landry store and walked away with a small amount in cash.

So far, the Quebec Police Force has been unsuccessful in its attempts to combat the rash of armed robberies that have broken out in the Eastern Townships area.

Last July, four men fled with the receipts of a cattle auction in Stukely, Brome County.

On Aug. 24, three armed men escaped with about $3,000 in cash after pulling off a daring double robbery in the community of Valcourt in Shefford county.

In addition to the robberies in the ET, a group of holdupmen have been active in recent weeks robbing banks in small communities along the Canadian-U.S. border.

On June 18, three armed men robbed the Enosburg Falls National Bank and fled with $97,000.

Four days later, four men robbed the Chittenden Trust Co. in North Troy, Vt., of $5,200 and made good their escape, easily evading interception attempts by a light aircraft and police cars from four forces.

This was followed by the robbery of the Farmer's National Bank in Fort Covington, N.Y., on July 2, in which an undisclosed amount of cash was taken.

In all cases, the robbers reportedly fled into Quebec.

A QPF source in Montreal said yesterday he believed that the robbers operating in Quebec and the neighbouring border communities all involve a 15-man gang based in the province.

He said the seven Canadians arrested by police at Rouses Point, N.Y., last week on suspicion of conspiracy to

In the postal dispute

Bargaining will continue

OTTAWA (CP) — A midnight deadline for a settlement of the postal contract dispute came and went without agreement and talks are to resume today.

The Tuesday talks were suspended a few minutes before midnight. The mediator, Thomas O'Connor, explained that he was extremely fatigued and that he had asked both sides—the government and the postal unions—to meet again today.

Some progress had been made, he told reporters, and "I'm hopeful we can resolve it."

Mr. O'Connor told reporters he had not spoken to Prime Minister Trudeau or any member of the cabinet about the decision to continue the talks into today.

Mr. O'Connor, visibly exhausted after a gruelling 13-hour meeting, asked reporters to give him a chance to sleep.

Union spokesmen said the suspension of rotating strikes has been extended indefinitely to facilitate the talks. The strikes, begun three months ago, were suspended for five days last Thursday to allow for delivery of old-age pension cheques.

A further 24-hour extension was announced Monday night when it became apparent no settlement could be reached immediately.

Mr. O'Connor, lines of fatigue creasing his face, said no new deadlines have been set for reaching a settlement.

Union and government spokesmen said they would comply with Mr. O'Connor's request to meet again but offered no further comment.

Earlier Tuesday, while the talks were in progress, negotiators, haggard after three straight days of talking, displayed indifference to a statement by Mr. Trudeau that a report from Mr. O'Connor was expected by the government before midnight.

Mr. Trudeau, who has just returned from a Mediterranean vacation which began Aug. 22, made the statement to reporters after a morning cabinet meeting Tuesday.

One union spokesman said: "That's all right. He's up there on Parliament Hill—it's a rarified atmosphere. We're slugging it out in the dust and grime. We don't need to be stimulated."

Mr. O'Connor and the negotiators have been meeting from 10 a.m. often until after midnight since the latest round of talks started Aug. 20.

Spokesmen for both sides said they considered midnight as the final deadline for a settlement.

Mr. O'Connor, often tieless and unshaven, told reporters Monday he expected to know by midnight Tuesday night whether a negotiated settlement would be possible.

LIMIT EXTENDED

The mediator, a labor relations specialist, had set last Sunday as a personal deadline for settling the dispute. He said he decided to extend the time limit in the hope of achieving a settlement.

Prime Minister Trudeau said Aug. 21 he would allow no more than 10 days for a settlement to be reached through mediation. That deadline expired Monday.

Mr. Trudeau said Tuesday the mediator would need a very strong reason for requesting more time to reach a settlement.

Sources say such a request, however, was extremely unlikely. Mr. O'Connor was more likely to report success or failure.

Postal workers, who now earn an average $3.06 an hour, are demanding a 58-cent-an-hour increase over two years, a 9.5 per cent increase in each year.

The government's latest offer was for 47 cents an hour over 32 months, a 5.9 per cent increase.

Police strike inquiry DeCaen admits QPP removal

MONTREAL (CP) — An attempt by a lawyer to have Sgt. Patrick DeCaen declared a hostile witness failed Tuesday after the sergeant told an inquiry how he asked emergency help to leave police stations in the strike last Oct. 7 by Montreal's 3,700 policemen.

Judge Ludovic Laperriere, chairman of the Quebec Police Commission, noted in his decision on the hostile witness request that Sgt. DeCaen's behavior had "changed radically" after a 10-minute recess.

Veterans want to remember

VANCOUVER (CP) — Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans of Canada want the country to continue to celebrate the 1918 armistice Nov. 11 and not turn it into a long holiday weekend.

They noted in a resolution at their annual convention Tuesday "that some Canadian railway unions have proposed to exchange the Nov. 11 Remembrance Day observance contained in their working agreements for a Monday holiday during the month of August."

Delegates approved a resolution of protest "to all concerned, including railway management, union officials, representatives and arbitrators."

Another resolution asked that veterans be excluded from the conditions of legislation that may be enacted requiring fluency in French and English.

The judge had instructed him to "refresh your memory" with lawyers during the recess.

Judge Laperriere, also critical of the consistent use of blasphemous language, said he still had doubts about Sgt. DeCaen's testimony.

"We find that certain parts of his testimony do not conform to reality,"

Sgt. DeCaen apologized for the blasphemy in describing his feelings about the 16-hour walk-out.

The sergeant's name has been linked by several police inspectors to the withdrawal of emergency help proffered by Quebec Provincial Police. Sgt. DeCaen confirmed their testimony, saying he was trying to prevent "bloodshed" in possible confrontations between a group of angry policemen and the QPP.

Raymond Boily, a counsel with the commission, said the sergeant was being evasive in not recalling any names of the 10 policemen who accompanied him on a tour of Montreal police stations Oct. 7.

He said he and his companions drove to more than a half-dozen stations before arriving at the arena at 10:20. QPP personnel were not on duty at Montreal police stations in the morning visit.

He then listed 10 further stations visited to ensure that no QPP personnel were on duty. Three QPP men left their posts after Sgt. DeCaen politely approached them.

Insurance claim vs. BCN E.T. firm wins suit

MONTREAL (CP) — A life insurance company whose bank account between 1959 and 1963 was debited with 32 cheques bearing forged endorsements was awarded $39,023 in a Superior Court judgment against its banker Tuesday.

Manufacturers Life Insurance Co. of Toronto sued the Banque Canadienne Nationale for the amount after the bank reimbursed $9,251 on the total debits of $4,275 during the four-year period.

The cheques were issued to members of an Eastern Townships family who held endowment policies of a face value of $125,000.

Mr. Justice Rodolphe Pare held in his judgment that the family had not been aware that the drawings had been requested and received no benefit from the cheques, which were not seen or endorsed by them.

He rejected the testimony of Andre Leduc, manager of the Sherbrooke, Que., branch of the insurance company, who claimed he had been authorized to request the cheques and to endorse them on behalf of the children of Dr. Albini Menard who had bought the policies for them.

With his judgment against the Banque Canadienne Nationale, Mr. Justice Pare also maintained warranty judgments in favor of the same bank against other banks which were responsible for negotiating some of the forged cheques.

He awarded Banque Canadienne Nationale $21,312 from the Royal Bank of Canada and $10,837 from the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce.

Imperial-Commerce in turn obtained judgment for $10,837 from Sherbrooke Trust Co., first holder of some of the cheques.

To present White Paper May amend Bill 63

QUEBEC (CP) — The Quebec government will present a white paper next spring on the language situation in the province and may amend Bill 63, the controversial language legislation passed last year, Premier Robert Bourassa said Tuesday.

Bill 63, which declared French the language of work in Quebec while giving parents the right to choose the language of education for their children, was passed by the former Union Nationale government over nationalist protests.

Quebec nationalists say the legislation does not provide adequate guarantees for the survival of the French language and culture in the province. While in Opposition, the now-governing Liberals voted in favor of the legislation.

Mr. Bourassa said the Gendron provincial royal commission on the status of French in Quebec will be asked to submit a report as soon as possible on French as the province's working language.

The premier has said repeatedly his government, elected to power in the April 29 Quebec general elections, intends to make French the province's language of work.

GOES TO CAUCUS

The premier said the Gendron commission's report on French as Quebec's working language will first be submitted to the Liberal caucus and then to a cabinet committee set up to deal with language policy when the Liberal government took over.

After it had received the report, the government would publish its white paper on the subject.

On a related subject, Mr. Bourassa said that he has received assurance from General Motors Corp. that negotiations for a new contract covering employees at its parts plant at Ste. Therese near Montreal will be conducted in French.

Mr. Bourassa also said the government will form a "mobile group" of industrial promoters to direct investment plans submitted to the government by private industry.

The premier was reporting on decisions made at a weekend meeting of the Liberal cabinet at a government-owned lodge at Lac-a-l'Epaule in the Laurentides provincial park 25 miles north of Quebec City.

Donates $1,000 to Lions

KNOWLTON — The Knowlton Lions Club recently received a tremendous spur to the development of Lion's Park in the form of $1,000 donation by Miss Linda Wells, of Fulford, Que., in memory of her brother Tony.

Club spokesman P.D. Crowe said he is uncertain of the specific use to which the money will be put, but indicated it will be used to expand the recreational facilities in Lion's Park.

New projects being studied include tennis courts, a swimming pool, and picnic facilities.

The park is composed of 14 acres of land purchased by the club and deeded to the town of Knowlton. Facilities include a complete fully-lit baseball field, a horse-ring and jumps that are expected to be open to the public soon, and finally, a soccer field is nearing completion.

QUEBEC IN FOCUS

Quebec needs France

PARIS (Reuters) — Quebec needs France, the province's culture minister, M. Francois Cloutier, told a news conference here Tuesday.

He said the Quebec government is in favor of co-operation with France.

"In effect, Quebec needs France and French-speaking countries in general."

The minister was speaking to reporters after leading a Quebec delegation at celebrations in Brouage, western France, marking the fourth centenary of the birth of Samuel de Champlain, the founder of the province.

Growth slows for Royal

MONTREAL (CP) — The Royal Bank of Canada reports continued growth, but at a slower rate, in revenues, earnings and total assets in the nine-month period ended July 31.

Balance of revenue totalled $109,991,000 compared with $85,184,000 in the corresponding period which ended July 31, 1969.

Net profits for the nine months amounted to $32,681,000 or 98.2 cents a share, up from $28,504,000 or 85.7 cents in 1969.

Total revenue was $660,843,000, up from $488,475,000, and total expenses were $550,852,000, up from $403,291,000 in 1969.

Total assets climbed to $10,800 million from $9,800 million in the previous year.

Liberals 'lect lady leader

MONTREAL (CP) — The Quebec Liberal party will elect its first woman president at its three-day convention here Sept. 11-13.

Nominations for the executive of the 100,000-member Quebec Liberal Federal have closed with Lise Bacon of Trois-Rivières the only declared candidate for the presidency.

Also unopposed for the positions of treasurer and secretary are lawyers Robert Demers of suburban St. Laurent and Denys Aube of Quebec City.

Miss Bacon, 35-year-old career woman who also heads the Quebec Liberal Women's Federation, will succeed Jean Tetreault, a notary from Plessisville.

Mr. Demers succeeds Paul Desrochers, the chief organizer who helped the Liberals to their victory in the April 29 provincial general elections.

SHERBROOKE — Limbo contests and the Way Down South music of the Coral Islanders will transform the Armand Nadeau Pavilion into a Caribbean paradise Sept. 18, as the Sherbrooke Hospital Ladies Auxiliary hosts the biggest bash of the year — Calypso Night.

"We had 345 persons at the Bavarian Evening last year, and we're hoping for 400 this time around," according to activities chairman Mrs. Mary Chinn who is directing ticket sales.

The announcement of the event was made at a press conference at the Sherbrooke Hospital's nurses residence yesterday afternoon.

Also in attendance were publicity chairman Mrs. Judy Budning and president Mrs. Helen Bishop. Calypso Night is scheduled to start at 8:00 p.m. on the 18th, with tickets available from Mrs. Chinn (563-5058) at $5.00 each.

No changes in plan to suit specialists

QUEBEC (CP) — The Quebec government has no intention of backing down in the face of demands by the province's medical specialists for changes in medical care insurance legislation passed in July.

Premier Robert Bourassa said Tuesday.

Mr. Bourassa told a news conference his Liberal government will not amend the insurance act to satisfy the specialists' demands that doctors be allowed to withdraw from the medical care plan without suffering loss of revenues or patients.

The specialists voted last Thursday at a meeting in Montreal to go on strike if necessary to support their demands that the legislation be amended.

The Health Insurance Act says patients treated by doctors who withdraw from the plan will not be compensated by the Quebec Health Insurance Board for their medical bills.

"The government has no intention of changing its position concerning the withdrawal clause as stipulated in the law adopted by the Quebec national assembly," Mr. Bourassa said Tuesday after persistent questioning by reporters.

Montreal firm producing L-Dopa

MONTREAL (CP) — A Montreal drug firm is producing the drug L-Dopa, used to treat sufferers from Parkinson's disease, following recent approval of the medication by the Canadian Food and Drug Directorate, it was reported Tuesday.

A spokesman for Hoffmann-La Roche Ltd. said in an interview that the drug will be available for general distribution shortly and available to all those who need it.

Controversy over the production of the drug arose June 4, when the United States health department accepted the general use of L-Dopa and the Canadian government did not.

In Washington at the time was Montreal's Dr. Andre Barbeau, who has devoted the last 10 years to testing of drugs which would serve as a treatment for Parkinson's disease.

On the heels of the announcement of U.S. approval came Health Minister Munro's statement that he didn't foresee early approval of the drug for general use in Canada because of some of its reported side effects.

Such side effects include nausea, vomiting, mental depression and increased sexual desire.

Dr. Barbeau, 39, director of the neurobiology department of the Montreal Clinical Research Institute, left almost immediately for talks with Mr. Munro.

NOT USED RIGHT

Before he went he explained that any undesirable side effects attributed to L-Dopa are the result of improper use.

"But this is why the drug will be used chiefly by centres specially handling Parkinson cases, and by specialists in the field, rather than made available to the general practitioner or the corner drugstore," he said at the time.

Parkinson's disease occurs mainly in middle-aged persons and is characterized by uncontrollable trembling in arms and legs, often resulting in total rigidity.

One in every 1,000 persons suffers from the disease and there are an estimated 20,000 to 25,000 persons afflicted with the disease in Canada.

In order for Ottawa's health department to act on the approval process for a drug, a pharmaceutical company must apply to the government for permission to produce the drug. This was done by Hoffmann-La Roche.

L-Dopa is an amino acid, one of the building blocks of protein. Dopamine, a substance present in large quantities in certain parts of the body such as the brain, lungs and kidneys, is lacking in the brain area of Parkinson patients.

"If dopamine is there generally in such large quantities," said Dr. Barbeau, "it must play an important role in the body."

He now is studying the effects of L-Dopa on asthma patients who show small quantities of dopamine present in their lungs.

U. de S. facts and figures Report tells the university story

SHERBROOKE — Just how much does it cost to operate a medium-sized university? Where does the money come from? Where does it go?

The answers to these questions are contained in the just-released annual report of the University of Sherbrooke covering its operations for the past three years.

As universities go, the University of Sherbrooke is not a major undertaking with a total enrollment of 3,657 students in its various faculties during the 1968-69 university year and another 1,783 registered in part-time and special courses for a total student body of 5,440.

But obviously it is a growing institution, the registration showing an increase of almost 80 per cent over the 1966-67 period when 3,021 students were enrolled — 2,082 full-time and 939 in part-time or special courses.

The overall operating costs for the last university year amounted to $12,219,400, leaving a modest surplus of $23,000.

For 1967-68 the excess of revenues over expenditures was $82,800 and for 1966-67 there was a deficit of $422,500.

Provincial government grants met more than 60 per cent of the costs, with $7,276,200 being received in provincial subsidies during the year.

Fees from students met less than 16 per cent of the outlays, producing $2,093,700, while grants from organizations and private sources for research programs amounted to $1,398,600.

Other important sources of revenue were a subvention from the Quebec Hospital Insurance fund of $409,400, a special grant for the normal school of $249,900 and $356,300 from auxiliary services.

The grant for the normal school barely covered the $244,300 spent on this institution during the year.

The chief item of expenditure was $6,688,700 for education. Other major expenditures included $771,200 for the library, $1,398,600 for subsidized research, $166,600 for information, $918,100 for administration, $1,081,200 for the maintenance of buildings, $334,700 for services to students and $339,700 for auxiliary services.

Two years ago when the full-time enrollment was 2082, the expenditures were $6,049,500 or $422,500 more than the revenues of $5,627,000.

Although the university draws its student body from all parts of the world, with registrations from as far away as France, Belgium, Haiti, Turkey, Lebanon and Vietnam, it is basically an institution to serve the people of the Eastern Townships and of the Province of Quebec.

Of the 3,657 full-time students, 3,517 are from this province, 35 from other parts of Canada and 105 from other countries.

Of the Quebec registrations, 1,950 come from the Eastern, 195 from the Gaspé-South Shore region, 79 from Saguenay-Lake St. John, 266 from the Quebec City area, 185 from Trois-Rivières, 427 from the Montreal economic area, 280 from Metropolitan Montreal, 21 from the Ottawa Valley, 69 from Abitibi-Témiscaming and 37 from the North Shore and New Quebec.

From other provinces, registrations were Prince Edward Island, one; New Brunswick, 13; Ontario, 15; British Columbia, five; and Nova Scotia, one.

By faculties, enrollments last year were: administration, 536; arts, 826; law, 228; medicine, 127; pure science, 643; applied science, 648; science of education, 215; theology, 129; and normal school, 306.

Students attending from Sherbrooke County increased from 497 in 1966-67 to 875 last year.

Two brigades to be disbanded in Vietnam

SAIGON (CP) — Two combat brigades will be disbanded within the next few weeks in a major new reduction of United States troops in South Vietnam, authoritative sources said Tuesday.

The units are the 199th Light Infantry Brigade and the 3rd Brigade of the 9th Infantry Division, about 10,000 men in all.

The reduction will lower American troop strength to 392,300. Another 8,000 men will have to be withdrawn in the near future to meet President Nixon's fourth-phase withdrawal goal of 384,000 men by Oct. 15.

—A combined American and South Vietnamese force reported killing 56 Viet Cong troops in an engagement 120 miles northeast of Saigon. The clash erupted after South Vietnamese militia spotted a force of 200 Viet Cong near Highway 1, which runs along South Vietnam's east coast. South Vietnamese regulars and American infantry reinforced the militiamen to rout the Viet Cong with the help of helicopter gunships and bombers.

PRISONERS ESCAPE

In the revolt on Phu Quoc Island, 40 prisoners of war escaped from a work detail Monday after killing a South Vietnamese guard and wounding a second. In an ensuing gun battle, nine of the prisoners were killed and two wounded.

A South Vietnamese military spokesman said 29 were still at large late Tuesday and military patrols were searching the island's jungle-covered mountains.

From the battle scene, 24 miles southwest of Phnom Penh, Associated Press correspondent John T. Wheeler reported Cambodian casualties in two days of fighting at Srang at about 25 dead and 50 wounded.

In Phnom Penh, Foreign Minister Kouan Wick said Tuesday that Cambodia aims to increase the size of its armed forces to 210,000 men from the present level of 140,000.

"But we need arms for another 70,000 men," he told a news conference prior to his departure for a conference of non-aligned nations at Lusaka, Zambia.

Nonsensical arms race

Now that it is over — we hope — the U.S. Army nerve gas caper seems like an exercise in surrealism.

It also illustrates the insane extremes to which men have been led in the past quarter-century in their search for "security" in a world which has the capability of obliterating itself in an eyeblink.

Here were 418 concrete- and steel-jacketed coffins of superdeadly nerve gas which had suddenly become an acute embarrassment, to put it mildly. There was, we are told, no method whereby they could be detoxified and tendered harmless.

The only way it could be disposed of was to sink it beneath three miles of ocean, where, over the ages, it would gradually escape from its containers and be neutralized by sea water — or so the army was pretty sure.

Thus it slowly wended its way by train to the Atlantic coast, while crowds of the curious — who could have been wiped out by the merest whiff of the stuff — flocked to watch it go by, and while the army and concerned environmentalists argued in court about the least potentially disastrous alternative for ridding the earth of the chemicals.

It strains credulity to the breaking point to believe that such monstrous substances could be concocted in the first place without at the same time devising the means whereby they could be unconcocted.

If the gases could not be safely detoxified little by little under controlled laboratory conditions, how in the name of all that is unholy did anyone seriously contemplate delivering and releasing them in massive quantities in a war without doing as much harm to the launchers as to the enemy, not to mention innocent neutrals?

One wonders how many other time bombs in the form of a variety of fantastic but essentially useless weapons lie ticking away in secret vaults on both sides of the Iron Curtain.

The military cannot really be blamed. Like all kids, they naturally want the biggest firecrackers on the block. It is the scientists who give them these firecrackers who ought to exercise a little common sense — unless they really are snuggle-toothed fiends chortling over bubbling test tubes, as they are portrayed in the worst kind of comic books.

The nerve gas is now in Davey Jones locker, out of sight and soon out of the public mind. We can only hope that no one, over the coming ages, ever hears of it again.

Rx: Keep the mini

The save-the-miniskirt forces have acquired a potent ally—medical science. Well, one practitioner of the science, anyway.

If health were the only consideration, he says, the miniskirt would stay and the midi and the maxi would be outlawed.

This is the opinion of Dr. Harry J. Johnson, noted author of health books and articles and chairman of the medical board of the Life Extension Institute, the oldest and largest health examination facility in the United States.

The reason the miniskirt is preferable, he says, is because it gives the body freedom of movement, which should be basic in clothing. The miniskirt also tends to promote pride in the body, and this is important in a nation where overweight is a major health problem.

Midis and maxis are a step backward, asserts Johnson. "There may have been some justification for women to wear long dresses in the past for warmth, but modern heating has changed all of that. . . . The natural need for clothing, quite apart from morals or fashion, is to protect us against the cold, the sun, the rain or injuries to the body. Whatever the condition, the right clothing should be loose so that there is full freedom of movement."

It's going to be a cold winter, doc, if the fashion moguls have their way.

FOR TODAY FROM THE UPPER ROOM

What doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God?—Micah 6:8

PRAYER: Our Father, when we survey Thy wondrous works and consider Thy great gift of Thy Son, our unworthiness overwhelms us. But in the assurance that we are loved and cared for by Thee, help us to rise in gratitude and serve Thee in ways that have meaning in Thy kingdom. Amen.

Good man often only a nice guy

by Frank Mankiewicz and Tom Braden

WASHINGTON — John Kennedy once wrote a book called "Profiles in Courage," demonstrating that U.S. senators sometimes vote their consciences. He would have been amused at the proof last week that it happens so infrequently as to make a book worthwhile.

The proof was provided by four senators who were convinced a year ago that the antiballistic missile system (ABM) was a boondoggle which couldn't possibly work, but who voted last week to expand the boondoggle by several hundred-million dollars.

Did they change their minds because they had spent the past year poring over research reports and technical feasibility studies? Had they become convinced that the Russian SS-9 had peculiarities rendering it vulnerable to a defense system they had previously considered ineffective? Or had defense contractors and their lobbyists reached them with argument or threat?

Not at all. The switches were not only honorable but-to the joy of confirmed senate-watchers — were made for marvelously senatorial reasons.

As example Number One, consider the creole dinners which are the pride of Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D-La.). Ellender appeared on a New Orleans platform with President Nixon the other day and couldn't have been more pleased to hear the President say "He is the chief supreme, not only the best cook in the Senate but the best in the country."

"After that," Ellender confided to a friend, "I just couldn't vote against him on the first thing that came along." Unfortunately for the taxpayers, ABM was the first thing that came along.

Then there is Sen. James Pearson (R-Kan.). Pearson, too, was against ABM a year ago, but at that time his colleague, Robert Dole, had not emerged as one of Richard Nixon's principal Senate lieutenants.

With Dole winning Kansas Republican recognition as a strong party man, and emerging as a real Administration leader, there was too much heat from back home on Pearson. He must run in 1972, and he saw himself in trouble with his party — thanks to Dole — if he didn't go along this time.

Similarly exposed was Sen. Marlow Cook (R-Ky.). Cook was a leading ABM foe last year and opposed the President on the crucial vote on Judge Harold Carswell.

When the Carswell matter was under discussion, Cook said he'd vote his conscience — a sure tipoff that a senator is about to oppose his party. This time he said he'd vote "what logic and the facts dictate," a sign that an independent is about to go regular.

Cook's dilemma is that he has become a leader. Sen. John Sherman Cooper's retirement from the Senate is only two years away, and it makes Cook more vulnerable to his own party. No longer can he use Cooper's independence as a coverage for his own. It is time — in Kentucky as in Kansas — to get your ducks in a row.

Finally, there is Charles Percy (R-Ill.) who was a staunch anti-ABM lieutenant of Cooper's a year ago. "A useless expenditure," Percy called it then, after what he described as "a close study." But not now. State Department people showed Percy secret messages from our negotiators at the strategic arms limitation talks (SALT) in Vienna. The message was clear: "Vote for ABM so we can give it away later."

The argument is preposterous on its face, but Percy bought it. Like Lot's wife, he looked back and became a pillar of salt.

Now all this doesn't say the system won't work. But it is worth noting that the Senate is not a citadel of raw courage or even of pure reason but is composed now, as always, of men who consider their own careers, have their secret prides, are susceptible to flattery and like to return favors. The good man is sometimes only a nice guy.

THE ART BUCHWALD COLUMN

HOLLYWOOD — "Hollywood is on a new kick," said Larry Gelbart, a TV writer who was filling me in on the latest American fads. "First it was psychiatry, then it was dieting and now the health nuts have taken over. Many of those motion-picture stars and comedians, having done everything to their heads and the outside of their bodies, are now turning inward to help themselves. As part of the campaign for self-improvement, they have become organic food specialists. Instead of food, they're eating dandelion hearts, roots of moss and eucalyptus bark. It's very dangerous to be invited to someone's house for a meal. For one thing, you can't walk on the lawn because that may be your dinner. For another, it isn't enough that your friends are health nuts; they spend the whole evening trying to convert everyone else."

"I was invited to the house of a Hollywood couple a month ago. They had a little girl, aged 5. Unfortunately, I had a cold and I was sniffing."

"The father turned to the little girl and said, 'You see what happened to Uncle Larry because he ate lamp chops?'"

"It's hard to get a drink in a health nut's house. They either offer you a glass of honey or a handful of sunflower seeds. I was trying to think of some reasons why I couldn't stay for dinner, but it was too late. The butler announced dinner was served. Dinner? It consisted of boiled peanut water, wheat-germ pancakes, soy beans cooked in their own soy, carrot salad and cider vinegar. But this wasn't all. After we ate the food, the butler came in with a silver tray filled with jars of pills."

"What are these for?" I asked foolishly.

"They're the supplements," the hostess explained.

"The supplements for what?"

"They thought I was crazy. For the things we didn't eat," she said. "The brown bottle is a bread supplement, the green bottle is the salt supplement, the red bottle is the protein supplement, the black bottle is the starch supplement, the red-white-and-blue bottle is the vitamin supplement, and the tall bottle with the clear liquid is the energy tonic."

"I said I was full and I just couldn't eat any more, but the hostess seemed very upset. She said the druggist who drinks it preparing the meal all day and he would be very hurt if I didn't eat anything."

"After dinner, we went into the living room to hear the little girl play the piano. She played very well, and her father said 'That was very good, dear. You can now have a piece of candy.' And, so help me, he went to a bin and handed her a raw potato."

"One of the big things for the health nuts is tiger's milk. I made the mistake one night of asking a comedian who drinks it four times a day 'How do you milk a tiger?' I suggested, 'Perhaps you have to sit on a short stool with a long gun and do it very gently.' But he didn't think it was very funny."

"The health addicts don't laugh much, and I can understand why. They figure they'll be around for 150 years, and you've got, at the most (if you keep eating steak and apple pie), four years. So they feel, 'How can we laugh at another man who is just about to die?'"

"The only thing worse than going to a health addict's house for dinner is his coming to yours. He arrives with his little plastic bag of supernutritional cereal, tiger's milk and tea herbs and says to your wife, 'Just give me a bottle of hot water.' Then, while the rest of the guests sit transfixed, their turkey getting cold, he starts mixing it all into a soup plate, taste it, smacks his lips and says, 'I just signed a contract to do a film for MGM in AD 2960.'"

"Just keep thinking—if they can make it in the Middle East, so can we!"

DOUGLAS FISHER

Lisgar will re-elect a Tory

OTTAWA — Neither the Liberals nor New Democrats will be excited about capturing the farming constituency of Lisgar in South-Central Manitoba. The opening comes through the death of the incumbent Conservative MP, George Muir.

Mr. Muir took the seat from the Liberals in 1957 and held it by good margins in five later general elections. Lisgar is a riding that has seen very little change in boundaries and remarkably small upheavals in population since the Ukrainian immigration of the late 20s petered out.

There are only a few towns in the riding (Winket, Manitou Garman, Morden). It's a prosperous, diversified farming area, particularly to the east along the Red River Valley. The minorities are the strongest ethnic factor in a proudly ethnic riding. They've always tended to be conservatively-minded in politics.

For example, the riding has always had many more Social Credit voters than CCFers or New Democrats.

The area provincially is the anchor of the Weir-led Conservative Party. Duff Roblin once dickered privately to replace George Muir as a Federal candidate. More recently, some persuasion was exerted on Mr. Muir on behalf of Alvin Hamilton. He told me last winter that much as he admired Roblin and liked Hamilton, he had never seriously considered resigning in their favor.

The citizens did not expect at elections or in between them that their favorites should put on a lot of show; Mr. Muir didn't have to beat the roads continually. He didn't get much mail. Lisgar is an ideal riding for an ambitious, major politician (Alvin Hamilton?) in the sense that the holder has lots of time for Ottawa chores.

George Muir was a friendly farmer who did his work around the House quietly. He wasn't a cipher. He wasn't harmless.

There's no doubt that any outside Tory such as Hamilton or Warner Jorgenson (another ex-MP anxious to move back to Ottawa, although he sits in the Provincial Assembly) could be parachuted in — if done delicately.

The New Democrats have absolutely no chance of winning.

The Liberals, at best, are a long shot.

The other main source of by-elections has always been the elevation to the Senate of worthies or unworthies who for various reasons earn a sinecure there from the Prime Minister. There have been so many vacancies for so long and so much speculation on who shall get the plums that interest and expectations have almost petered out. It's a credit to the capacity for secrecy of this Government that all bets but one have been given up. (The sure thing is Gildas Molgat, the retired leader of the Manitoba Liberals.)

A further credit to Mr. Trudeau's absolute reach over his party is the absence of "sotto voce" grumbling by would-be senators or their promoters.

It was always an insider's debating topic whether Maurice Sauve, the minister, or Mike McCabe, the executive assistant to Mitchell Sharp, was the most reliable and persistent "leak" during the Pearson years in power. It seems that Mr. McCabe's love of Ottawa affairs has lured him away again from a business career in Toronto. He's "advising" and "consulting" for Robert Stanbury, the newish Toronto minister without portfolio who is trying to firm up a department of his own from the grab-bag (especially from the old "citizenship" department) held by Gerard Pelletier, the secretary of state.

Were you puzzling over what province was getting the most of the Federal grants from the Department of Regional Economic Expansion headed by Jean Marchand? Quebec, far and away, in both numbers of grants and total value. Louis Robichaud's New Brunswick is running second. Ontario, B.C., and Alberta are well back.

The Prime Minister's office sets out the following holidays taken by Mr. Trudeau since he became Prime Minister.

August, 1968, eight days in the Mediterranean cut short by the Czech crisis.

Dec. 24-Jan. 2, 1969, at Cozumel, Spain; Feb. 28, 1969, to March 3, in Canada at Mont Tremblant.

April 4, 1969, to April 3, in Canada at Garibaldi. Aug. 14, 1970, to Sept. 9 in Mediterranean.

Dec. 24, 1969, to Jan. 12, 1970, in the Caribbean.

Mar. 28, 1970 to April 3, in Canada at Garibaldi. Aug. 14, 1970 to Aug. 21, in the Bahamas.

Aug. 23, 1970, to Sept. 1 in the Mediterranean.

Not such a long tale, is it? Undoubtedly, the holidaying impression is heightened by official junkets as Prime Minister such as those escapade days in London at the Commonwealth Conference, the Southeast Asian, Anzac and Japanese swing and the upcoming jaunt through Russia.

Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Williams, with children Brenda and Marlene, London, Ont., Mrs. Wilbur Williams, Lennoxville, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Prescott were recent dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Basil Prescott. Mr. and Mrs. B. Prescott were in Bury to visit the former's father, Mr. Ed Prescott.

Callers at the Murray home included Mr. and Mrs. Earle Murray, their children, Allen and Jennifer, Dollard des Ormeaux, Miss Doris MacLeod of Montreal, Mr. Stanley Murray of Hampstead.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Moore, who spent a holiday with relatives at points in Ontario, have returned to their home. Mrs. Elaine Moore, who spent some time at her parents' home, is moving with her family to an apartment in Sherbrooke. Miss Wanda Moore is holidaying in Ville la Salle, with her sister, Mrs. Gerald Robinson and Mr. Robinson.

The condition of Mr. Stanley Taylor, who underwent surgery in the Sherbrooke Hospital, does not improve as fast as his friends could wish. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Taylor, Tamworth, N.H., and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Kirkby, St. Catharines, Ont., called here by the illness of their father, have returned to their homes.

Mr. Herbert Halsall, who spent three weeks at a Junior Farmers' convention in Saskatoon and Edmonton, returned to his home. Following his return, Mr. Halsall spent several days in St. Hilaire, where his group were host to Junior Farmers from different points in Alberta.

The sympathy of friends here is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth McBurney and family of High Forest, who had their home destroyed by fire recently. Master Brent Abraham is convalescing favourably at his home, following the removal of an eye, injured while at play.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Murray accompanied Mr. Albert Murray, Scottstown, and Mr. Stanley Murray, Hampstead, to Lake Nick, where the latter has acquired some real estate.

Mrs. Charles Moore is spending several days with her mother, Mrs. Thurber and her brother, Mr. Russell Thurber, Kinross Mills.

Mrs. Ruby Bailey's daughter, Audrey, Mrs. Al Hilgrove and Mr. Hilgrove, John and Karen Hilgrove, her sister-in-law, Mrs. Erna Sharman, and Miss Ortrud Schultz of Wilberingham, Mass.,

and Springfield, Mass., have left after holidaying with Mrs. Bailey.

ASTRO-GUIDE

By Ceean

Thursday, September 3

PAST... Among the famous Virgoans born on this date were Louis Henri Sullivan, architect, engineer, and writer (1856), and Edward Albert Filene, Boston merchant (1860).

FUTURE... Future drivers may be able to read and leave driving to electronics. When the programmed highway exit is near, a signal will alert the driver, and the car will revert to manual control.

The Day Under Your Sign

ARIES (Born March 21 to April 19) — Direct your energy and enthusiasm into more constructive channels.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) — Good day to shop for weekend groceries so as to get best selection and avoid crowds.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) — Trouble with the younger generation again accepted. Put your foot down.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21) — Although exhausted, you won't get any rest for next few days.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Discuss pertinent matters calmly and rationally. Solution is near.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — Early morning brings some frustration, but everything works out OK late in the day.

Guests of Mrs. Ray Waldron, Mrs. F. Bain and family at Bonny Glen Farm were Mr. & Mrs. William Charland, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Winters, Daniel, David, Deborah, Richard and Dorey, all of Bloomfield, Conn. A family picnic was held on Aug. 16 when others attending were Mrs. Leta Cairns, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Cairns and Master Ricky, Mr. and Mrs. Garfield Spaulding and Lorne, Island Brook, Mr. and Mrs. G. Goode, Bury, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Millican and three children, Ile Perrot, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Black and family, Pierrefonds, Mrs. Dale Smith, Kim and Troy, Bulwer, Mrs. Eva Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon French, George and Carol, and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Bain, all of Sawyerville. Mrs. H. Cairns and Ralph also called. All were pleased to greet Mrs. Charland, the former Edna Ellis and her family. Miss Anne Pegg, Essex County, England, was an overnight guest at Bonnie Glen Farm. She was a member of a group from England visiting in Canada. Mrs. Duncan McLeod, Milan, was a visitor at the same home. Miss Marion Bain, who is employed in Lennoxville, spent the weekend at her home.

Beebe

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Nutbrown and Mr. W. B. Nutbrown were Mr. and Mrs. John Kinneer, Thetford Mines. They all enjoyed a cook-out at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Labor, at Parker Pond, Barton, Vt. Mr. and Mrs. Donald Nutbrown and four daughters, Orleans, Vt., were dinner guests with callers being Mr. and Mrs. Harold Nutbrown, son Kevin, Lennoxville, and Mr. Harry Nutbrown, Maymont, Sask. It was Mr. H. Nutbrown's first visit East in 50 years or more.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

he would not have time to try both. He had to get that ninth trick established before Polonius got his heart suit going.

There was no hurry. Hamlet started proceedings by running off the four good diamonds. Polonius had to make one discard. He let the six of clubs go. Poor Yorick sitting East had to find two cards to jettison. A heart came easily but when he played the deuce of spades it looked as if a tooth were being pulled.

It looked to Hamlet as if Polonius surely held the spade ace but he could afford to try out the clubs. A club to the king and a second one back to the ace showed that Yorick had protected that suit thoroughly.

This made it necessary for Hamlet to try the spades. He led toward dummy and had finally won a rubber.

Hamlet's luck had been bad all evening but things seem to be improving around Elsinore. He had won the first game and found himself looking at a nice 17-point no-trump. When the fair Ophelia raised him to game it looked as if he was going to win his first rubber.

Polonius opened the three of hearts. Dummy hit the table and Hamlet feared that things were still rotten in the State of Denmark. There was a 12-point dummy and due to the heart situation he wasn't sure of game.

"To try the clubs or the spades, that is the question," he soliloquized. Hamlet had never heard of the code word ARCH but he counted eight winners and saw that the ninth would have to be found in a black suit. Furthermore

Beaver defence bolstered with addition of Gingras

SHERBROOKE — Among the 19 defencemen who will appear at the Sherbrooke Beavers training camp this Friday, it is unlikely that Junior A hockey fans will let Denis Gingras go unnoticed.

Gingras is one of the five Rouyn products to be signed by the Beaver club during the off-season and although he plays defence, his spirited rushes up the ice and all-around two-way performance tend to make him a valuable addition.

Actually, Denis finished up 12th in the scoring race last season with the Rouyn Citadels of the Northwest Quebec Juvenile League, tallying 15 times and assisting on 28 others for a 43-point total in only 30 games. On the other side of the ledger, Denis picked up 93 minutes in penalties.

Born at Temiscamingue on October 21, 1952, Denis stands 5'9" and weighs 160 pounds.

Beaver General Manager Real Veilleux lauds Denis' style. "He's a sound skater and an intelligent player and has developed into a consistent playmaker, possessing uncanniness in being able to hit his mates with a pass at the perfect time. More important, he's not easily fooled."

Last season with Rouyn, Denis was chosen the top defenceman in the loop and while in Sherbrooke this winter, he plans to attend a trade school here.

DENIS GINGRAS

Undoubtedly, with Denis Gingras around and about the blue line bolstering the defence corps in a Beaver uniform, coach Lou Poliquin figures to breathe a little easier.

Alou lifts Bucs over Expos 8-4

MATTY ALOU

MONTREAL (AP) — Matty Alou stroked his first home run of the year Tuesday night, breaking a tie and Pittsburgh Pirates went on to whip Montreal Expos 8-4, ending a sixgame losing streak.

The victory kept the Pirates 1½ games ahead of New York Mets in the National League East Division and moved them two up on Chicago. The Mets defeated St. Louis Cardinals 4-3 in 12 innings and the Cubs lost to Philadelphia Phillies 3-2 in 13.

Bob Veale hurled six innings of hitless ball and singled in frontot Alou's homer to snap a 1-1 tie in the sixth. Willie Stargell added another two-run homer in the same inning, opening a 5-1 lead for the Pirates.

But Bob Bailey opened Montreal's seventh with a homer for the first hit off Veale and the Expos tagged the Pirate starter for two more runs, knocking him out.

Rookie John Lamb halted the Expos rally.

The Pirates restored their edge with two runs in the eighth on RBI singles by Stargell and Manny Sanguillen and another in the ninth on Roberto Clemente's run-scoring single.

The expos had grabbed a 1-0 lead in the first inning when Adolfo Phillips sped home from second on Bailey's infield chopper.

The Pirates tied the score in the fourth when Alou raced home on a throwing error by Gary Sutherland.

Alou's homer was his first of the season and his first since June of last year. Stargell's round-tripper was his 26th of the season.

EDMONTON (CP) — Edmonton Eskimos scored 10 points in 13 seconds during the fourth quarter to defeat British Columbia Lions 20-9 in a Western Football Conference game Tuesday night.

With the score 10-9, Dave Cutler kicked a 43-yard field goal at 7:44 of the final quarter and 13 seconds later Terry Swann ran 39 yards for a touchdown which Cutler converted. Swann's score was set up by John Wydaren's sixth interception of the year—tops in the Canadian Football League.

"Democratization" of fish, game clubs planned

QUEBEC (CP) — The Quebec government will undertake a three-step program expected to cost several million dollars to "democratize" private fish and game clubs in the province, Premier Robert Bourassa said Tuesday.

Mr. Bourassa told a news conference the program will begin next year and will be completed in 1974.

The private clubs have been the target of protests, including occupation of club property by sportsmen maintaining that most of the province's prime fishing and hunting territory is not accessible to them.

The protestors say club members enjoy exclusive fishing and hunting rights on Crown lands which should be open to the public.

Most of the private clubs will disappear, Mr. Bourassa said. However, he said the government is not planning the complete disappearance of private clubs.

Persons who had built camps on the territory of private clubs would be re-imposed according to standards to be determined.

Hunting seasons remain same

QUEBEC (CP) — Hunting seasons in Quebec this fall will be the same duration as last year's, it was announced Tuesday.

The department of fish and game said in its annual summary of hunting regulations that the caribou season, which opened Aug. 29, will end Sept. 28.

Moose hunting will begin Sept. 19, Sept. 26 or Oct. 3, depending on the region involved, and will end Oct. 12 or 18.

Deer may be hunted from Oct. 24 or 31, depending on the region, until Nov. 4, 11 or 15. This will be preceded by a special deer hunting seasons for archers only, from Oct. 10 or 17 until Oct. 23 or 30.

The season for migratory birds runs from Sept. 1 to Dec. 13, with a daily bag limit of five geese or six ducks.

Partridge may be hunted between Sept. 12 and Nov. 8.

Sports in Brief

JAY PEAK, Vermont — There will be no increase in the cost of lift tickets at Jay Peak during the 1970-1971 season. According to Mr. D. M. "Mack" Matheson, JAY Area Manager, "We have made only two changes in our ticket structure this year, eliminating the six dollar T-Bar-Only ticket and offering the single tram ticket for $2.00 for the ride up and allowing the passenger to ride down too."

Mr. Matheson further explained that the T-Bar-Only ticket was eliminated because it represented just barely 5 per cent of the entire ticket sales. If a skier just wants to use the T-Bars, he may purchase books of 20 tickets which are ideal for single rides.

The Manager also stated, "We're offering some of the finest skiing in the Northeast, along with 'wall to wall red carpet' service and facilities in our buildings in our buildings for just $8.00 on Saturday or Sunday and $6.50 Monday thru Friday. Our adult ticket is probably the lowest priced of all the major ski areas in Vermont or, for that matter, New England, and we hope to keep it that way, especially since everything else costs more these days."

Season Passes at Jay Peak will also be sold at the same rate as last year, one hundred fifty dollars for an adult and seventy-five dollars for a junior pass. Special family rates are also available.

TORONTO (CP) — Jake Gaudaur, Canadian Football League commissioner, said Tuesday the earliest possible date a decision could be made on a London, Ont., franchise application would be next February.

A group of London businessmen announced plans Monday to seek a CFL franchise for the 1972 season.

Bb Harris, a London land developer, made the announcement on behalf of the group, and said a letter of intent would be given to Gaudaur in time for an Eastern Conference executive committee meeting Sept. 8.

Gaudaur said the next full CFL executive meeting will be in Toronto during Grey Cup week, Nov. 22-28, when league governors will get their first chance to consider an application.

The next annual meeting is the second Thursday in February, "the earliest possible date at which any actual decision by the league could be made."

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Centre Pit Martin of Chicago Black Hawks predicts contract trouble and possible player walkouts in National Hockey League training camps this fall if veterans do not get more money.

"The juniors are getting a lot of money and they aren't even proven National Leaguers," Martin said in reference to junior draft choices like Dale Tallon and Gil Perreault. "If they get it then we veterans should get some too."

Tallon is reported to have a $50,000 contract with Vancouver Canucks.

Martin, a 30-goal scorer for Chicago last season, said: "Apparently there's only 30 per cent of the players under contract for this year and most of them are on multi-year contracts."

Martin is among the unsigned in Chicago.

GROSSINGER, N.Y. (AP) — Carol Mann was a lady—not liberationist—in her head-to-head golf game with Doug Sanders Tuesday.

Sanders soundly defeated Miss Mann with a two-over-par 73 to her whopping 85 in an 18hole, $2,500 match billed as one to prove that women, in the age of liberation, can compete against men.

A chilled Catskill wind blowing across the Grossinger Golf Club course kept the match from being a true test. Sanders, known for battling well against a breeze, drove long, straight and low off the men's tee while Miss Mann blew her game on wild drives and erratic putts.

"I felt that I let the women down," said the six-foot-three Miss Mann. "I can't remember when I last shot 85."

There was a real game between the 36-year-old Sanders, from Houston, and the 29-year-old Miss Mann, of Baltimore, through the first eight holes.

Miss Mann, who maintained her composure throughout the game, never regained her confidence.

Hawks' Wharram retires

CHICAGO (AP) — Kenny Wharram, 37, former All-Star winger stricken with a heart ailment a year ago, notified Chicago Black Hawks of his retirement from pro hockey Tuesday.

Wharram, a Black Hawk regular since the 1958-59 National Hockey League season, missed the 1969-70 season after skating the first day of the Hawks' pre-season practice last September.

Routine medical examination disclosed a heart condition which placed Wharram in a hospital for intensive care for six weeks. He remained in the hospital until just prior to last Christmas.

Wharram played 766 games for the Hawks, scoring 252 goals, 281 assists and 533 points.

A member of Chicago's Scooter Line, Wharram had his peak season in 1963-64 when he scored 39 goals, was voted NHL All-Star right winger and won the Lady Byng Trophy for sportsmanship and playing excellence.

Wharram, his wife, Jean, and two children, reside in North Bay, Ont.

Als face Ottawa tonight

OTTAWA (CP) — Ottawa Rough Riders, with only one victory in their first four starts, can still go into a three-way tie for second place in the Eastern Football Conference tonight with a win over Montreal Alouettes.

Riders, two points back of Toronto Argonauts and Hamilton Tiger-Cats, disappointed home fans with dismal showings in their games here against Hamilton and Saskatchewan Roughriders.

But coach Jack Gotta feels quarterback Gary Wood and the offence came to life in last week's western road trip when they scored 61 points in beating Edmonton Eskimos and losing a close game to British Columbia Lions.

The Alouettes, unbeaten in three games, will dress new place-kicker George Springate, a Liberal member of the Quebec National Assembly, for the first time.

Sherbrooke cops ET Games

Golf

ASBESTOS — Marcel Dion captured the ET District gold medal Sunday when he defeated home brew Claude Roux on the first play-off hole of the golfing final, played at the Asbestos club.

Both Dion and Roux fired rounds of 77, a five-over par card par card to necessitate an overtime affair.

Pierre Lessard carded an 80 to earn the bronze medal for his third-place finish.

The Asbestos contingent placed first in the club standings to merit the gold medal with a total of 20 points while Valcourt's 13 points were good enough to win the silver and East Angus captured the bronze with a 12-point total.

In Class 6-10, Yvon Frechette of Asbestos finished first with a round of 79. Errol Hardy and Denis Savaria tied for second spot with 80s.

Aldet Madore of Valcourt captured the gold medal in Class 11-15 with a score of 85 while Yves Vigneault was second with 86 and P. Belisle was third with 89.

In Class 16-20, it was Sherbrooke's Yves Beaulieu atop the heap with a card of 87. Bertrand Collin was 2nd with a 92 and Alberic Lemire of Richmond 3rd with a score of 93.

Asbestos pro Connie Dion's son, Bob, took the laurels in Class 21-25 with a score of 91 while Denis Bourget carded a 92 and Claude Vanier came home with 93.

In Class 26-32 division, Fernand Noel of Lake Megantic won out with a card of 99 to oust Mario Paquette and Gerard Trudel, both carded 101s.

ET District Games golf organizer, Jean-Guy Dion, thanked the 72 entries for participating and dealt out the hardware along with pro Connie Dion.

SHERBROOKE — A total of 78 entries showed their stuff this weekend at Lac des Nations in Sherbrooke for the District Games water ski finals.

In the men's combined division, Pierre Plouffe, Andre Roy and Ghislain Pare finished up 1-2-3.

Ann Donahue captured the women's combined honors to capture the gold medal while Francine Beaudry ended up in second spot.

In the boys' division, Alain Parrot, Michel Lacasse and Roland Fortier were the 1-2-3 finishers while Helene Gregoire, Ginette Corbel and Marielle Cambron swept the girls' honors and the medals.

Marc Longpre, Richard Morin and Louis Charland garnered the hardware in the boys' 13 years and under division while Carmen Goulet won the girls' title in the same category with Dominique Codere in second spot.

Tennis

SHERBROOKE — Claude Metras and Richard Royer combined to defeat Jean-Pierre Simard and Marc-Andre Roy Saturday morning at the Mont Bellevue site to capture the District Games gold medal in the men's doubles class.

Soccer

SHERBROOKE — In District Games soccer action, the CHLT club emerged victorious in the Pee Wee Division to capture the gold medal over NTL National at the Jacques Cartier Park in Sherbrooke.

Yves Fournier Sport ended up in third spot to garner the bronze medal for their efforts.

Cycling

LAKE MEGANTIC — The Lake Megantic cyclists again registered their supremacy in the cycling events of the District Games this weekend by collecting five of the six medals in the junior and cadet classes.

Denis Bolduc and Michel Audet, both of whom have captured virtually every race during the summer circuit, swept the honors in their respective divisions, junior and cadet. They each won the overall title a result of their efforts in road races, the cross country and the track events.

Hughes Lunardi of Sherbrooke's Velo-Club captured the silver medal in the junior division while similar honors went to Paul Legendre of the Lake Megantic Cycling Club in the cadet division. Two other racers from Megantic, Luc Gendron and Luc Fortin, won the bronze medals in the junior and cadet divisions respectively.

RESULTS

SHERBROOKE — The Quebec Games ET District finals results have released, showing that Sherbrooke captured first place by a whopping 410-point bulge over Coaticook, the Queen City's closest rivals.

There were close battles down the list, however, with only a few points separating each of the entries.

In all, 1,452 athletes took part in the District Games, proving a large success. Much credit should be given to all regional organizers for the smooth coordination and precision with which the 15 events were run off.

The final results follow:

1 - Sherbrooke, 837.18; 2 - Coaticook, 427.71; 3 - Windsor, 389.92; 4 - Magog, 370.29; 5 - Bromptonville, 282.20; 6 - Asbestos, 261.20; 7 - Valcourt, 255.42; 8 - Lake Megantic, 202.84; 9 - East Angus, 171.78; 10 - Lennoxville, 142.20; 11 - Compton, 132.26; 12 - Richmond, 122.50; 13 - Stoke, 80.63; 14 - Deauville, 69.68; 15 - Ascot, 64.90; 16 - Cookshire, 46.20; 17 - Melbourn, 45.14; 18 - Eaton, 37.29; 19 - Audet, 33.38; 20 - Waterville, 34.29; 21 - Rock Forest, 33.64; 22 - Katevale, 31.85; 23 - La Patrie, 30.41; 24 - Barnston, 29.38; 25 - Scotstown, 28.85; 26 - St. Mathieu de Dixville, 28.41; 27 - St. Edwidge, 27.88.

Softball

EAST ANGUS — The District softball finals—both men and women—were contested here Saturday. Sherbrooke captured the gold medal among the men's entries while Richmond finished in second spot to earn the silver and Lake Megantic was third for the bronze medal.

Cookshire emerged the women's winner while Coaticook was second for the silver.

The men's slow pitch final was held last Saturday with East Angus showing the way for the gold medal. Coaticook finished second and Sherbrooke third.

Riflery

LENNOXVILLE — The Sand Hill Rifle Club held the District Games shooting competitions and Major Edson Warner emerged the gold medal winner in the men's division while Maureen Bean took the top laurels in the women's class.

Other medalists included Mario Loranger in the 17-18 age group; Yvon Branel (15-16 years) and Patrick Warner (14 years and under).

Archery

SHERBROOKE — The archery competitions of the District Games were held at the Mont Bellevue site with gold medal honors going to Marc Grenier (men's expert) in the senior division; Denis Isabelle (men's archery class); Claudette Isabelle (women's expert) and Yolande Hallee (women's archery class).

Top medals in the junior divisions went to Bernard Dubreuil, Marco Ouimet, Francine Isabelle and Denise Forand.

McLain: Expos not interested

MONTREAL (CP) — Spokesmen for Montreal Expos of the National League Tuesday denied they are interested in obtaining Denny McLain, Detroit Tigers' controversial pitcher.

There had been reports here that the Expos might be interested in McLain, whose latest suspension will end Friday night.

"That's all I need," said Jim Fanning, Expos general manager.

"Sure, he's going to replace Fernand Lapierre," was the comment from Expos' president John McHale.

Lapierre is the Montreal baseball club's organist at Jarry Park. McLain has worked his organ playing into a nightclub act for the off-season.

In a more serious vein,

Fanning explained that the Tigers would probably settle for nothing less than Expos' ace right fielder Rusty Staub or pitcher Carl Morton, who currently has a 15-10 won-lost record.

The Expos figure such a price would be too high for McLain, who was suspended by baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn until July 1 this season for his alleged association with bookmakers. His latest troubles stem from a recent incident when he poured pails of water over two Detroit baseball writers.

Humor hath conquered all...

FRENCH TROTTER UNE DE MAI

Twins sweep doubleheader

Wally Bunker, Kansas City Royals right-hander, hurled a four-hitter Tuesday night, his first victory in 11 months, as the Royals shut out California Angels 4-0.

Combined with Minnesota Twins 4-0, 7-1 sweep of a doubleheader with Milwaukee Brewers, the loss dropped California 1½ games and left them 4½ behind the American League's West Division-leading.

Elsewhere, New York Yankees trimmed Baltimore Orioles 4-2. Detroit Tigers outlasted Boston Red Sox 10-9. Oakland Athletics edged Chicago White Sox 6-5 and Cleveland Indians topped Washington Senators 4-3.

Bunker, plagued by arm trouble this season, was 0-8 and carried a hefty 5.52 earned run average with him when he took the mound against the Angels. California quickly loaded the bases with none out in the first inning, but Bunker weaved his way out of the jam and was virtually home free after that.

The Twins rode Harmon Killebrew's big bat to their sweep over Milwaukee. Killebrew exploded a pair of three-run homers — one in each game, and drove in seven runs.

Killebrew's 39th homer in the opener was all the offense Jim Perry needed for his 20th victory. He scattered five hits and became the first right-hander to win 20 this year.

HAS 106 RBI
The last three came on Killebrew's second homer of the night and 40th this season. The big slugger now has 106 RBI.

Churchmen discuss decline of the Roman Catholic church

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN

CONCEPTS OF THE CHURCH CHANGED — Abbe Gerard Dion, Laval University professor, says the concepts of the Roman Catholic church were changed not only by Vatican councils but by developments within the church population and in society at large. He says the church is no longer a "power" in the old sense.

(CP Photo)

QUEBEC (CP) — "What is the church?" That was the immediate response of some Quebec churchmen to a reporter's query as to why Roman Catholic influence — by traditional measure — has declined in the province.

They called attention to the second Vatican council's emphasis on the church as "the people of God," compared with traditional emphasis on institutional and clerical structure — the "visible church" through which influence was exercised.

Abbe Gerard Dion, 57, Laval University professor and social reformer, said concepts of the church were changed not only by the Vatican councils but by far-reaching developments within the church population and in society at large.

The church was no longer a "power" in the old sense because, among other factors, the ideas of progressive elements which long opposed the exercise of temporal power were accepted by the council.

"What is the church?" Formerly, in the public view — I don't say of everybody, but in the public eye — the church was the bishops. Twenty years ago the church was considered as being mostly the bishops, and also the priests. In a small locality, for instance, you might say the pastor was considered the church.

"This conception has changed. It started within the church, among laymen, priests and some bishops as well. The church is the people of God. It is everybody, the bishops, naturally, leading the flock, but the church is also the priests and laymen."

EVOLUTION OCCURRED

The evolution in thinking within the church occurred side by side with "secularization" in the whole society, lessening the importance of religious leaders. In addition there was a developing "pluralism" both within and outside the church.

Pluralism meant the acceptance inside the church of diverging views on "not absolutely essential matters." Priests, for instance, freely express opinions on various questions.

"Nobody can say he is the church," said Father Dion. "You find that attitude at the level of laymen, priests and also bishops. It is more difficult today to consider the church a monolithic power.

"We had converging forces — a change in the conception of the church, the phenomenon of secularization, and the twin phenomena of pluralism inside the church and in the total society."

Worldwide change assumed striking aspects in Quebec because here the church occupied a central position in French-Canadian society at the outset of the Quiet Revolution, which was warmly welcomed by Father Dion and such men as Brother Jean-Paul Desbiens who, indeed, helped get it started.

French Quebec went rapidly from "clericalism" with exaggerated influence to no influence, without any period of transition," said Mr. Desbiens, now chief editorial writer for Montreal La Presse, French Canada's biggest daily.

STAYED IN ORDER

In his new role, Mr. Desbiens, as he prefers now to be called, remains a brother of the teaching Marist order. As Frere Untel, Brother Anonymous, he created a profound stir with attacks on French-Canadian institutions and values in the late 1950s. He later helped reorganize the educational system as a government official.

"We can even put a date on when clericalism officially died — the year 1960," said the brother-editor, now 43.

For some 50 years there had been only "one word — the church word — and then suddenly, in one or 1½ years, a complete silence."

"It is somewhat comparable to a government minister who loses an election. The day after the election, he is nobody. The influence of the church is in a way comparable to that."

But the suddenness of the change was deceptive because, in a sense, the traditional church influence had "survived itself."

For roughly the last 10 years of clericalism — the period was uncertain — something was stirring, but was inhibited among laymen. "After the opening of the gates, we had the overflow."

Though churches had been full for Sunday mass during that period, an opinion-making minority of intellectuals, already estranged, looked at life in a new light.

SOME GOT OUT

Another factor explaining the sudden decline was that numerous "social vocations" had been inspired by clericalism and the nature of the school system.

"Men and women who in another social context would not have been brothers, nuns and priests, but became so, got out in the 1960s."

Mr. Desbiens feels that the bishops, as leaders of the Quebec flock, now have gone from talking too much to talking too little. Why?

"I can only give a psychological and personal opinion. I think there is a kind of collective traumatism. I think also they are baffled by the problems."

"You can't telephone the Holy Spirit to find out what to do about abortion, contestation of youth, social problems. I think they are baffled, as governments are."

One clergyman commented that Quebec's transformation seems symbolized by Paul-Emile Cardinal Leger, who began his rule as Archbishop of Montreal resplendent in scarlet, every inch a prince of the church, and ended it as a humble missionary to Africa. His successor, Archbishop Paul-André Durocher, shuns the limelight and issues pastoral guidance in calm and measured fashion.

FELT A REACTION

Another aspect was underlined by Rev. Eric O'Connor, 63, a Jesuit and president of Montreal's non-sectarian Thomas More Institute for adult education, who told a reporter, specifically in relation to education.

"I think the archbishop is quiet because he knows a reaction of hatred arose for the church, in the very mythical sense of the church that you are talking about. Because this isn't the church at all, of any importance — the church of importance is the people of religion — he the archbishop very sensibly does not make a lot of pronouncements."

Abbe Norbert Lacoste, 46, parish priest and former sociology professor at University of Montreal, said of a study he conducted into declining church attendance in the Montreal diocese:

"It is not so much a question of knowing the figures, because we discovered the key factor was age group. The youngsters and the elders were attending church. The young adults were staying away."

FAIR WINNER — The grand champion Heretford cow prize was awarded to Emile Madore of St. Malo. Seen above, Mr. Madore is being awarded the ribbon by Art Bennett.

Sidelight on the fair

Concessionaires never escape his eagle eye

AYER'S CLIFF — On every ticket sold at the fair, there is a 10 per cent amusement tax charge and Leland Moshier makes sure the town gets it.

Mr. Moshier's official title is secretary-treasurer of the town of Ayer's Cliff, but once a year he becomes known as the tax collector.

Throughout the duration of the fair, he is seen running from one booth to another on the midway taking down ticket numbers.

"At the end of the fair, I add up the number of tickets sold and collect the tax money," he said.

There are no taxes on the buildings.

Collecting the money can be tricky. "Some midway concessionaires are pretty sharp," Mr. Moshier said, "and I can remember one year when I had to chase one guy up to Brome Fair to get paid."

Vows exchanged at St. Mark's chapel The appealing difference

Mid the distant roll of thunder, the patter of rain and the airs of Purcell's "Trumpet Voluntary", Dorothy Janet, only daughter of Ashley J. Smith of Barrie, Ontario, formerly of Saint John, New Brunswick, entered St.

Mark's Chapel, Bishop's University, to exchange vows of Holy Matrimony with Leslie Keith Annesley of Nanaimo, British Columbia, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Annesley of Lennoxville, Quebec.

The wedding service and nuptial mass were conducted by Reverend John McMurray.

The pipe organ, under the guidance of Miss Janet Beall, Rouses Point, New York, rendered appropriate music.

The bride was attended by Mrs. Huntly Christie of Toronto as matron-of-honor, Carolyn Annesley of Montreal, sister of the groom, and Mrs. Rodney Bennett of Lennoxville as bridesmaids. Diana Christie of Toronto acted as flower girl.

The groom's brother, Mr. Douglas Annesley, of Toronto was best man, while the ushers were Mr. Dean Cruickshank of Sherbrooke and Mr. Carl Robinson of Montreal.

Following the wedding, an attractive and enjoyable garden reception was held at Ripplecove Inn, Ayer's Cliff.

Out of province guests were from: Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Ontario, British Columbia, North West Territories, New York, Michigan and Dublin, Ireland.

Following the reception the bride and groom left on a trip to various localities in the Maritime provinces and a return trip to Nanaimo, British Columbia, where the couple will reside.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Annesley

Sawyerville is scene of pretty wedding

A pretty summer wedding took place in the Sawyerville United Church on August 1st, 1970 at 7:30 p.m. when Donna Ruth, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chilton Lowry of East Clifton, became the bride of Raymond Henry McConnell, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip McConnell of Ayer's Cliff.

Rev. Frank Ball officiated at the double ring ceremony and the wedding music was played by Mrs. Lloyd French, Mrs. Claris Phillips, aunt of the bride, sang The Wedding Prayer prior to the service and May You Walk in Peace during the signing of the register.

Baskets of white Shasta daisies and mauve phlox decorated the church and the guest pews were marked with pink roses tied with white satin ribbon.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length Empire style gown of white brocade satin. The back skirt forming a train. Her elbow length veil of nylon tulle was held in place by a headpiece of white flowers centered with a teardrop stone. She carried a cascade bouquet of red sweetheart roses and white carnations.

Mrs. Gary Richards, sister of the bride as matron of honor, wore a floor length gown of mauve georgette over taffeta with long sheer sleeves. The Empire waistline and cuffs were trimmed with white daisies with lilac centers. She wore matching daisies in her hair and carried a bouquet of white roses surrounded by yellow Shasta daisies.

Mrs. William Cork, cousin of the bride and Margaret Lowry, sister of the bride, were dressed in gowns of coral georgette over taffeta, identical to that of the matron of honor. They wore daisies in their hair and carried bouquets of yellow roses surrounded by white shasta daisies. Rhoda Lowry, sister of the bride as flower girl, wore a lilac dress identical to the other attendants. She wore lilac and white ribbons trimmed with daisies in her hair and carried a white basket with yellow shasta daisies and streamers.

Ivan Cork, cousin of the bride, acted as ring bearer. He wore a navy blue wool suit with matching tie. The pillow he carried was made of the same material as the bride's dress.

Chester McConnell, brother of the groom, acted as best man and the ushers were Keith Lowry, brother of the bride and Burton McConnell, brother of the groom.

The bride's mother wore a navy linen dress with white lace trim white accessories and a corsage of yellow carnations.

The groom's mother chose an aqua lace dress and matching hat, white accessories and a corsage of mauve carnations.

The maternal grandmother of the bride, Mrs. Ruth Wilson, wore a navy and white dress, white accessories and a corsage of red carnations. The paternal grandmother of the bride, Mrs. Henry Lowry, was in a multi-colored dress, grey hat, black accessories and a corsage of mauve carnations.

Following the wedding a reception was held in the Sawyerville High School where the gym and cafeteria were decorated with white and mauve flowers and streamers and white bells.

The bride's table was centered with a three tiered wedding cake made by the bride's mother and decorated by Mrs. Kenneth Morrow of Island Brook.

The bride's twin sisters, Cheryl and Charlene Lowry, were in charge of the guest book. The bride's gifts to the matron of honor and bridesmaids were silver necklaces and to the flower girl a silver bracelet. The groom's gifts to the best man and ushers were ties and the ring bearer a belt.

The bride's and her sisters' dresses were made by the bride's mother. The newly-weds left on a trip to various points in New Hampshire.

For travelling the bride wore a green crimplene dress, picture hat and beige accessories, and a corsage of yellow carnations.

Out-of-town guests were from many places in Ontario and the United States, Ayer's Cliff, Coaticook, Baie Comeau, Bury, Cookshire, Sherbrooke, Lennoxville, Birchton and surrounding area. Mr. and Mrs. McConnell have taken up residence in Oshawa, Ont.

Prior to her marriage the bride was entertained at a large miscellaneous shower at East Clifton and a pantry shower at the home of Mrs. Everett McComb in Eaton Corner.

Few things delight a child more than a party. And during the summer, when food can be served out-of-doors, it's a simple matter to turn a lunch for a few "best friends" into a gay and festive affair.

For such an occasion, our home economists have created the perfect menu. Tic-Tac-Toe Burgers are beloved hamburgers with a child-appealing difference. The ground beef is mixed with an envelope of onion gravy mix and ginger ale and shaped into square patties. After broiling, four lines are drawn with prepared mustard and X's and O's cut from slices of cheese are placed in the boxes.

Of course, dessert is what really counts with youngsters and these Clown Face Ice Cream Cones are sure to be a hit. Place a scoop of ice cream in each meringue "nest," decorate faces with chocolate chips for eyes and a cherry for the nose, and top with a cone.

Another child-pleaser is the Sunshine Cake made with an angel food mix. Flavoured with almond and lemon extracts and tinted a pale yellow with a few drops of food colouring, the cake becomes a special treat.

TIC-TAC-TOE BURGERS

1 pound ground beef
1 envelope (1½ oz.) French's Onion Gravy Mix
¼ cup ginger ale
4 slices bread
French's Prepared Mustard
2 slices process cheese

In a medium-size bowl combine ground beef, contents of gravy mix envelope and ginger ale; mix thoroughly. Shape meat into 4 flat squares. Broil or grill to desired doneness. Place the burgers on bread. With the mustard draw four lines; two horizontally and two vertically. Cut the cheese into small X's and O's. Arrange them on the burgers. 4 servings.

CLOWN FACE ICE CREAM CONES

1 egg white
½ teaspoon Cream of Tartar
¼ teaspoon Vanilla Extract
Dash salt
One-third cup sugar
Ice cream, 4 ice cream cones

In a medium-size bowl combine egg white, cream of tartar, vanilla extract and salt. Beat until frothy. Gradually add sugar and continue beating until very stiff peaks form. Using wax paper cut out 4 circles about 2-inches in diameter. Place on an ungreased cookie sheet. Spread a large tablespoon of the meringue on each circle. Shape into nests. Bake in a 275 degrees F. oven 1 hour. Turn oven off and let dry in oven, with door closed for at least 2 hours. To make Clown-Face Ice Cream Cones place a scoop of ice cream into each nest, top with a cone and make faces with cherries and chocolate chips. 4 servings.

SUNSHINE CAKE

1 package angel food cake mix
1 teaspoon Almond Extract
½ teaspoon Lemon Extract
Yellow Food Colour
Confectioners' sugar

Follow package directions for mixing cake, adding extracts to the water. During last minute of mixing time, add a few drops of food colour to tint cake a pale yellow. Bake as directed. Sprinkle top of cooled cake with sifted confectioners' sugar.

For irritated skin

THE DOCTOR SAYS
New Hope for Victims Of Parkinson's Palsy
By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Good news for victims of Parkinson's palsy, L-dopa, the widely publicized compound that has helped so many in experimental studies is now available under the name, Dopar. Because a great demand is anticipated, it has been distributed only to hospitals and doctors who are treating this disease. General distribution to drug-stores will be made when production of the drug comes into full swing. Research on the drug is continuing.

It is only fair to state, however, that not everyone with Parkinsonism will benefit from the use of Dopar. It should not be taken by anyone with uncontrolled kidney, thyroid, adrenal, liver, heart, lung or blood disease or glaucoma. The long-term safety of the drug and its safety in pregnant women has not yet been determined. The drug must be given with caution to anyone who has a peptic ulcer or psychoneurosis.

Anyone who is taking this drug should report all unusual symptoms to his doctor immediately. The known side effects include nausea, irregular pulse, dizziness, agitation, depression and mental confusion. These can usually be controlled by adjusting the dosage.

Q—What is Wolfe-White-Parkinson's syndrome? Can it be cured?

A—This congenital heart defect is characterized by attacks of very fast pulse (180 or more beats per minute). It can be controlled, not cured, by taking procaine amide or digitalis under careful medical supervision. Last year a group at Duke University reported the cure of this condition by surgery.

Q—In gold prospecting, mercury is used to pick up gold flakes and this amalgam is squeezed through a chamois skin. Is there any danger of the mercury being absorbed through the skin? When the mercury is burned off, they say the mercuric oxide is a deadly poison. Is a distance of 20 feet from the source enough for safety?

A—If liquid mercury is handled daily, absorption through the skin can lead to poisoning. Gloves impervious to the metal should be worn. In preventing inhalation, proper ventilating hoods are more important than the distance from the source.

Q—Does heavy drinking lead to impotence in a man?

A—Yes.

After his first two sessions at contract bridge old man Z who used to play all the dummies in the auction bridge columns had learned something about contract bidding. Not much but he at least had found the Blackwood convention. He had also won two straight duplicates by brilliant dummy play and the boys decided to run in a trick hand on him.

Z had learned about Blackwood and used or abused it every time he held a good hand so that his four and five no-trump followed by seven spades were just about automatic for him.

Looking at all four hands you can see that the contract will make if declarer tries the heart finesse or if he finesses clubs against West and ruffs out the king. Looking at just the North and South hands you can also see that the best percentage play is to play two rounds of trumps. They divide evenly whereupon South should lay down the ace and king of hearts to see if the queen will drop. When it doesn't drop South should lead the jack of clubs to dummy's ace and return the queen for a ruffing finesse. Since West holds the king of clubs this percentage play leaves South down two tricks.

Z studied the hand for a while and remarked, "Someone seems to have run one in on the old man. I played this at one spade in auction and was careful to make sure of 12 tricks and did make 13 when the heart finesse worked. I'll play this one the same way."

He drew trumps, cashed one heart, tried the heart finesse and made the grand slam.

RICHARD FARROW, OF NEWPORT, VT.
formerly of Stanstead
NEWPORT, Vt. — The death occurred of Richard Samuel
Farrow on Saturday, August 8,
1970, at the North Country
Hospital, Newport, Vt.

Mr. Farrow was born on June
20, 1901, at West Norwood,
England, a son in a family of 15 children, born to Arthur F. and Harriet (Lucas) Farrow.

At the age of five years he came to Canada and to Stanstead. He attended school at the Red Brick Mansur School and Stanstead College. Later he stayed with his sister, Mrs. John Boucher, and Mr. Boucher at Stanstead, and was employed by his brother, Harry Farrow, who was in the plumbing business.

For 35 years he made his home with another sister, Mrs. Arthur Bassett, and Mr. Bassett at Canaan, Vt., and was employed by the Beecher Falls
Manufacturing Company, later employed at the Canaan Memorial School for 10 years. In failing health, he had latterly been at Nursing Homes in Orleans County and prior to his death, was for 11 days in the Newport Hospital.

Mr. Farrow was for many years a member of the Knights of Pythias, and was a good friend to all who knew him.

The funeral was held on Tuesday afternoon, August 11,
from Cass Funeral Home,
Stanstead, to Christ Anglican Church for the service at two o'clock. Rev. R. W. Peirce officiated. The organ music, played by Mrs. Alfred Middleton, included Abide With Me, a favorite family hymn.

The bearers were five nephews, Douglas Farrow, J. A.
Bassett, Dean King, John
Boucher, Jr., and Edwin
Bruhmüller, also an old friend,
Charles Merriman. Interment was in the family lot at Crystal
Lake Cemetery, Stanstead.

In addition to the floral pieces,
there were memorial flowers placed in the Canaan Episcopal Church at Canaan, Vt., on August 16, as Mr. Farrow was a member there for several years.

Mr. Farrow is survived by his sisters, Mrs. John (Lillian)
Boucher, Stanstead, Mrs. Burton
(May) Harris, Island Pond, Vt.;
and Mrs. Arthur (Ella) Bassett,
Canaan, Vt., and brothers,
Charles of Stanstead; James,
East Hartford, Conn.; and Robert of Brookville, Fla., and a number of other relatives.

Relatives and friends attended the funeral from Massachusetts,
Covansville, Newport, Vt.,
Sherbrooke, Essex Jct., East
Hartford, Conn., Island Pond,
Canaan, Vt., Florida and
Morgan, Derby and Boundary Villages.

WILLIAM HARLOW OF EATON CORNER
EATON CORNER — The death of Mr. William Harlow occurred suddenly at his home on Aug. 7, 1970. He was born in London, England, on Dec. 31,
1905 and came to Canada in 1928.
He resided in the vicinity of Sawyerville.

He is survived by his wife,
Agnes Fisher Harlow, two daughters and two sons as well as 11 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. He also has five sisters and three brothers in England.

Mr. Harlow served his country by joining the Canadian Royal Rifles in 1940. He was taken prisoner of war in Hong Kong in December 1940 and released in 1944.

Prayers were held in French's
Funeral Home and the Service was conducted by the Rev.
Covey in the Sawyerville Baptist Church.

Hymns sung were The Old
Rugged Cross and Nearer My
God to Thee, followed by a solo,
Safe in the Arms of Jesus, by Mrs. Wayne Little.

Members of the Canadian Legion formed a Guard of Honor and acted as Pall Bearers.
Interment was in the Eaton Cemetery.

CARROLL ROBIE BROWN OF BEEBE PLAIN, VT.

BEEBE PLAIN, Vt. — After years of ill health, the death of Carroll Robie Brown occurred on Saturday, July 25, 1970 in the North Country Hospital,
Newport, Vt. About ten years ago Mr. Brown was forced into retirement by several strokes.

He had led a quiet life since, but enjoyed the company of many friends and also rides in the car, driven by his wife, and seldom missed the afternoon outing.

The deceased, the only son of Charles Robie Brown and his wife, Ida May Reed, was born
June 12, 1898, on the old home farm on Brown's Hill, which was cleared and settled by his great-grandfather, John Brown, who came from New Hampshire in 1816. In 1940 his mother died and in 1942 they left the home place and moved to Beebe, where he has since lived and where his father's death occurred.

In 1943 he married Hazel
Stratton, who survives him, also a son, Charles Robie, a grandson and a step-daughter
Joan, Mrs. Clyde Simmons, Craftsbury Common, Vt. He also leaves three sisters, Pearl
(Mrs. Gordon Temple) Ayer's
Cliff, Vera (Mrs. Lee Richardson) Lyndonville, Vt. and Elizabeth (Mrs. Harold Smith), Pasadena, Calif., and several other relatives.

Services were held on Tuesday, July 28, in Cass
Funeral Home in Stanstead,
Rev. R. W. Peirce officiating.

Bearers were Clinton Stratton,
Marcel and Eddie Sicard,
Reginald Curtis, George Butler, and Alton Wing. Interment was in Woodland Cemetery, Beebe, Que.

ALDIE BRAULT OF BEDFORD

BEDFORD — One of the oldest residents of Bedford,
Aldie Brault, died on August 15,
1970, in the St. Johns Hospital, where he had been a patient
during the past months. Mr.
Brault was 86 years of age and had been a long time resident here where for many years he carried on a restaurant, until his retirement.

Mr. Brault was married twice, by his first wife there were two children, the late Ralph Brault,
Bedford and a daughter, living in Montreal, and by his second wife, Mrs. L. Gilmore, Fall River, Mass., the former Rose Bedard of Bedford. Mr. Brault had a son and daughter Miss Lucille Brault and Dr. L. Brault both of Bedford. Mrs. Brault died several years ago.

The funeral was held on Thursday morning at 10 o'clock from the Dion Funeral Home to St. Damien's Church. Funeral
mass was sung by the Rev.
Father Despars, with interment in the Bedford Catholic

82 members, four generations, gather for Ma hannah reunion

EAST FARNHAM — On Sunday, August 16, 82 members of the Mahannah family which included four generations, gathered at the Town Hall, for a family reunion. Guests began arriving by 10:30 a.m. and by 12:30 p.m. the gathering was complete and ready for the picnic lunch. The day being extremely warm, some came with large fans, which were quickly installed, making the hall quite comfortable. Cold drinks in abundance were consumed along with ice cream during the afternoon.

Following the lunch, they all proceeded to gather on the lawn for an afternoon of reminiscing and photographing. It was indeed the largest turn-out ever.

Last year the meeting place was with Mr. and Mrs. Paul Mahannah, Cowansville, but it was decided that no private home would accommodate the group again.

Roll call showed members had come from Miami, Fla., Unionville, Conn., Bristol, Vt., Pinocourt, Thousand Oaks, California, Middlebury, Vt., Montreal, Bedford, St. Armand, Stanbridge East, Brigham,

Bury Guild plans to hold quilting bee

BURY — The August meeting of the Ladies Guild of St. Paul's church was held in the Parish Hall with a fair attendance. Mrs. W. Buchanan opened with prayer. Mrs. Douglas Harrison, secretary read the correspondence, consisting of two thank you notes and a donation of money from Mr. John Parsons, which was much appreciated. Mrs. Fred Martin, gave a satisfactory financial statement.

A discussion took place in regard to quilting some quilt tops, which had been given to the Guild, and it was decided to do this in the Parish Hall as soon as possible.

Ketfreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Elwin Coates and Mrs. Eric Fisher, assisted by Mrs. Foley and Mrs. Winifred Dougherty.

Ayer's Cliff

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Walker and E. A. Clymer have been Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Stairs, Anthony, Fla. They all spent an interesting day in Montreal at Man and His World.

2000 BOURQUE BOULEVARD

Inverness fair starts today

By W. H. LUNAN

INVERNESS — The Megantic Agricultural Society, Division "A", will hold its annual fair and exhibition on the Inverness Fair grounds, Sept. 4-5-6.

Groups participating in the event will be members of the Young Cattle Breeder's Association, the Horticultural Society, the Children's Fair, along with the various entries of horses, cattle, sheep, swine and poultry, and the Ladies division of fancy work and home cooking.

Judging of the heavy horses classes will take place Friday starting at 10:30 a.m. as well as the beef, cattle, sheep, swine, field and dairy products, fancy work and home cooking classes.

To round out the daily program, an amateur show contest will be held in the evening, in front of the grandstand, starting 7:30 p.m.

All entries for the show have to be registered with the secretary, Ray Dempsey by 8 o'clock the same night. Cash prizes of $25, $20, $15, $10 and $5 are at stake for the winners.

Saturday's program includes the judging of dairy cattle and light horses, beginning at 10:30 a.m. The night's entertainment is wrestling at 8 p.m.

The directors are hoping for good weather and anticipate a large crowd for the closing day's events on Sunday.

Judging of the Calf club will commence at 1 p.m. followed by the parade of registered horses, children's contest and a horse show.

Closing out this year's fair will be the cattle parade at 7:30 p.m. followed by a demonstration by the Hell Drivers.

Doctors split over medicare

MONTREAL (CP) — A split in the medical profession over medical care insurance became more pronounced Wednesday as a spokesman for the province's general practitioners publicly defended some of the controversial aspects of the program.

Dr. Gerard Hamel, president of the Federation of General Practitioners, told a news conference he sees nothing wrong with provisions for opting out which have been attacked by the Federation of Medical Specialists.

Under Bill 8, the Health Insurance Act, doctors can opt out of the plan but their patients must pay out of their own pockets for the services they receive. The government will not reimburse patients who have gone to doctors who have opted out of the medical care program.

Dr. Hamel noted that the specialists opted out of the medical assistance plan between August, 1967, and April, 1968, and were able to win concessions from the government.

"The absence of reimbursement to the patient in this case doesn't appear to have interfered with opting out..." he said.

Home needs help

SHERBROOKE — An emergency appeal was issued to Quebec Family and Social Welfare minister Claude Castonguay yesterday to render a decision immediately on the question of repairs to be made to the "Maison St. Georges" here.

In his telegram to the government, Maurice Champagne, president of the St. George house corporation, said that unless something was done immediately to alter conditions at the house, it would be closed by Friday.

Mr. Champagne said the house had been condemned by building inspectors because it had failed to meet safety standards.

For many years now, St. George House has been used as a shelter for the homeless.

Will govern together

QUEBEC (CP) — Gilles Lalande, president of the political committee of the Quebec Liberal party, said Wednesday that Governing Together will be the theme of the party conference to be held in Montreal Sept. 11-13.

Political movements and their implications for Quebec society will be discussed, he said, but the main objective of the meeting is to better acquaint government with the needs of the population.

Sixth million-share day

MONTREAL (CP) — Prices recovered some of their losses recorded earlier in the day to close fractionally lower in heavy trading on the Montreal stock market Wednesday.

Nearly 1.5 million shares changed hands for the busiest day of trading on the Montreal and Canadian stock exchanges this summer. It was the sixth straight day in which more than one million shares were traded.

Among declines were Microsystems, off ¼ to $5½, and Royal Bank, ¼ to $22¾.

Microsystems reported a net operating loss of $3.8 million in the first six months. The company, subsidiary of Northern Electric Co. Ltd., commenced business April 1, 1969.

Investigate apparent murders

QUEBEC (CP) — Quebec provincial police are investigating two apparent murders following discovery of the bodies of two men, one lying by a road in Hull and the other near St. Augustin near Quebec City.

The body of Claude Bouchard, 28, of Baie St. Paul, was found late Tuesday by two cyclists travelling through a wooded area near St. Augustin. His neck and chin were bruised and cut. An autopsy was to be performed Wednesday.

The body of a second young man, about 20 or 25 years old, was discovered Wednesday by the side of a secondary road known as Notch Road in Hull.

Police said the body, the identity of which was not disclosed, had four of five bullet holes in the head.

Sit-in at welfare office

MONTREAL (CP) — The family and social welfare office in south-shore Longueuil returned to normal operation Wednesday after a week-long sit-in by 80 protesters ended.

Workers returned to the office for the first time since the government closed it Monday.

The sit-in was organized by the South Shore Citizens Committee, the Greater Montreal Anti-Poverty Coordinating Committee and the Comité des Assistés Sociaux du Québec.

At the core of the protest were demands that the Longueuil office be allowed to make decisions on local welfare cases. Previously, requests for extra funds above the basic rates for social assistance had to be approved by the Montreal office.

Although the demands were met quickly, the citizens' groups demanded that 20 test cases be processed as a sign of good faith before ending the sit-in.

Reuters correspondent released

Tells of three years' house arrest in Peking

LONDON (Reuters) — During the 26 months of his house arrest in Peking, Reuters correspondent Anthony Grey wrote:

"I try to tell myself that in the future you will look back on this with a smile. But it is very difficult to see that now."

Grey, 32, says in his book, Hostage in Peking, being published next week that he gladly smiled when he found that short-hand note in his secret diary after his release from solitary confinement Oct. 4, 1969.

Chinese authorities held Grey under house arrest for 26 months from July 21, 1967, without having preferred any charges against him. He was held until British officials in Hong Kong freed the last of 13 Chinese Communist news workers imprisoned there for rioting and lawlessness.

Grey describes his fears of a complete breakdown and even suicide in face of the latest techniques of mental torture.

"I occasionally became prey to the irrational fear that I would perhaps take my life unwittingly in my sleep," he writes.

Grey says that without the short-hand notes, he would not have been able to remember all the daily incidents of his reaction to them.

BASED ON DAIRY

The diary, removed safely from China, forms the basis of his book, the writings of which he regards as "kind of therapy, a kind of cleansing of the experience."

Grey writes that during his confinement, felt at times he was being allowed to suffer because the west was living up to its Communist image of "putting profits before people" trade between Britain and China, he learned later, reached record heights during his house arrest.

He does not condemn all aspects of the Chinese government. "It has probably provided a better life for the majority of the vast population than any regime that has preceded it," he says.

To maintain his mental and physical health, he studied yoga, read the few books allowed to him, wrote short stories, became an ant watcher, designed his own crossword puzzles, talked to himself in the mirror and even cut out paper dolls. He prayed three times daily.

During the final year of the total 806 days of detention, he learned to read and write Chinese.

Asks "renewed mandate"

Robichaud calls autumn election

FREDERICTON (CP) — Premier Louis J. Robichaud announced Wednesday a provincial general election will be held Monday, Oct. 26, in New Brunswick.

The announcement was made following meetings of both the Liberal cabinet and caucus here earlier in the day.

It automatically wipes out two byelections—in Restigouche and Albert—that had been scheduled for Oct. 13.

The premier said in a television statement Wednesday night he believed a general election at this time was in the best interest of all New Brunswickers.

"A renewed mandate... will further strengthen the government's position in federal-provincial relations."

He said he set the byelection dates because he had been required to by law and he had then not had an opportunity to "seek the views of the members of the legislative assembly" on an election.

Wednesday's caucus meeting gave him this opportunity.

Standings in the 58-seat legislature are Liberals 29, Progressive Conservative 26, Independent Liberal 1 and vacant 2.

It will be the fourth time Premier Robichaud has led provincial Liberals to the polls in the decade since he came to power.

He will face an opposition led by Richard Hatfield, 38-year-old bachelor who won the PC leadership in 1968 following the resignation of former leader J. C. Van Horne. Mr. Van Horne stepped down following personal as well as party defeat at the last election—Oct. 23, 1967.

Mr. Robichaud became premier in 1960 when the Liberals ousted the Conservative administration of former premier Hugh John Flemming and he has since been returned to office twice—in 1963 and 1967.

The Liberals won 32 seats and the PCs 26 in the bitterly contested 1967 election.

Since 1967, three byelections have been held, the PCs winning two, one a gain from the Liberals, and the Liberals holding one seat.

The gain was Nov. 4, 1968, in Restigouche.

The Independent Liberal in the house is J. H. Wilfred Senechal of Restigouche who was elected as a Liberal in 1967, but bolted government ranks last fall to sit as an independent.

After sitting in opposition ranks for much of the legislature session this spring, and voicing heavy criticism of the Robichaud administration, he re-crossed the floor late in the session to it again with the government.

PC leadership questioned

YARMOUTH, N.S. (CP) — John Diefenbaker, former leader of the Progressive Conservative party, has never been happy with any leadership other than his own, Dalton Camp said Wednesday.

Mr. Camp, here to attend the annual international Tuna Cup match, was commenting on reports that a group of western MPs, including Mr. Diefenbaker, met in Saskatoon last weekend and discussed the party leadership of Robert Stanfield.

"There's no doubt in my mind that the meeting took place in the Bessborough hotel," said Mr. Camp, a former national Conservative party president. "A bunch of the boys were whooping it up in downtown Saskatoon."

"And I do believe they discussed the leadership, and I believe that Mr. Diefenbaker expressed himself as not being happy with the leadership. He's never been happy with anybody's leadership except his own."

"The whole thing indicates to me it's been a very slow summer."

"The Saskatoon Star-Phoenix said Tuesday the Ontario Conservative party also held a secret meeting before the Commons adjourned for the summer.

No main to Valcourt

SHERBROOKE — Construction of a water main between Bowker Lake and the municipality of Valcourt was postponed Wednesday following a decision by the Quebec Water Board.

The postponement was ordered after a day-long hearing conducted here Wednesday by the water board.

Some 250 cottage owners from Bowker Lake joined forces with the municipality of Orford last month to oppose the construction of a water main between the lake and the town of Valcourt.

Opponents of the project said the water main would lower the level of the lake. Instead, the municipality of Orford suggested that the town of Valcourt resort to the Black River for its water supply.

Wednesday's hearing is the outcome of a petition sent to the Quebec Water Board by the municipality of Orford.

Geography confounds

Just try moving a 75-ton heated tar tank over the rolling terrain which is Sherbrooke, and difficulties are bound to arise. But it's even worse when man-made hills pose problems, such as the CP overpass on Belvedere South. The tank's length just would not permit easy clearance over the hump, and crews worked for over an hour yesterday to free it. Then it's placed on a CN flatcar for a journey to Halifax, where it will be installed at the plant of Desourdy Sherbrooke Inc.

QPP officers testify their cars were seized

MONTREAL (CP) — Six more Quebec Provincial Policemen testified before an inquiry Wednesday about the way their cars were seized by members of Montreal's 3,700 striking policemen last Oct. 7.

There were some threats and some damage to QPP cars, the Quebec Police Commission was told.

QPP personnel was brought in from outside points to act as emergency help in Montreal police stations and on patrol in city streets during the 16-hour walkout.

The six QPP men all testified they had been stopped by a Montreal police van.

Constable Andre Jacques and Constable Gilles St. Antoine of St. Gabriel, Que., were stopped on east-end St. Denis St.

"Sir, we are seizing your car," a Montreal policeman said.

A policeman with what appeared to be the rank of lieutenant added:

"Bien gre, mal gre—whether you like it or not."

Constable St. Antoine replied: "Take the car."

The constable said he was told Montreal police did not want them to work.

As in other cases, the QPP car was taken by Montreal police to east-end Paul Sauve Arena, where the strikers had gathered for an extraordinary meeting to discuss an arbitration report on a proposed contract.

HAD ROUGHER TIME

Up from Sherbrooke and Vaudreuil, Que., two other constables—Norman Remillard and Yvon Giroux—had a rougher time when their car was stopped. About 20 policemen jumped from a van and other policemen were in two unmarked, probably private, cars.

"There were all sorts of insults, cries of scabs," Constable Remillard said. "If we didn't get out of the car, they were going to break the windows."

Constable Giroux said their baggage—personal effects—was thrown on the sidewalk, but he had been addressed "very politely" by the Montreal officer.

Rock Forest crash ruled accidental

SHERBROOKE — A coroner's inquest Wednesday ruled an accidental the death of two persons in a plane crash in Rock Forest June 24.

Dr. Louis Gagnon's ruling followed testimony by an expert from the Department of Transport, who stated that the single-engine plane crashed as a result of a sudden shift of wind as the plane was flying low over broken terrain.

Both pilot Norman Blanchet, a 29-year-old businessman from Rock Forest and his passenger Miss Lizette Doucet, 23, of Magog, were killed in the crash.

A third person was killed and another seriously injured when the plane crashed into the veranda of a house in Rock Forest.

Sher. party renews valuation criticism

By CUTHBERT JONES

SHERBROOKE — Jean-Marc Donahue, Sherbrooke Party candidate for a North Ward seat in the Nov. 1 civic elections, yesterday criticized Mayor Marc Bureau for his failure to answer some pertinent questions in connection with the new valuation roll.

In a prepared statement, Mr. Donahue declared: "Following the refusal of Mayor Bureau to reply to questions advanced by Marcel Savard, candidate for mayor, I am compelled to issue a statement."

"Mr. Bureau declared that the answers to the questions asked were given during the information meetings on the valuation roll. I personally attended, as a citizen, a taxpayer and delegate of the Sherbrooke party, at a meeting held in the Montcalm School.

"I questioned the panel on the points raised by Marcel

JEAN-MARC DONAHUE Unanswered questions

Savard. To the great surprise of those present, I did not receive a precise answer.

"Again, following numerous telephone calls received from citizens, far from finding the questions innocent but rather finding them very serious and important, I must present the same questions today:

"1—The number of properties that are subject to an increase in valuation of over 74 per cent.

"2—The increase in valuation by wards.

"3—The increase in valuation for: A — Industries; B — Commercial establishments; C — Residences; D — Multiple-family houses.

"Mr. Bureau must, democratically, reply to these questions for the benefit of all the proprietors and especially the tenants of Sherbrooke who will be affected particularly by this increase in valuation which certainly will be followed by an increase in taxes for the property owners and a boost in rents for the tenants."

Boy Scouts in action

7TH SHERBROOKE CUB PACK

On Friday, August 7th, nineteen Cubs and four Leaders, "Akela" Steve Haddon (Acting C.M.), "Baghera" Clarence Mayhew, Bob Coles (Scout) and Bill Edgecombe arrived at the District Council's camp site at Lake Lovering for their "Annual Summer Camp" August 7th, 8th and 9th. Upon arrival, the boys were assigned to their tents. Bed rolls and camping equipment was made ready for their stay. They gathered wood for a campfire, this time of the evening is always enjoyed by the boys. "Baghera" Clarence Mayhew, along with the other leaders led the boys in a number of the favourite camp songs. The Pack was paid a visit by "Rackshaw" Jo Ann Edgecombe, a former leader in the Pack and now residing in Ontario.

The camp program was set in motion early Saturday morning. The first items on the agenda being a swim, wash-up and breakfast. Afterwards, all sleeping bags were removed from the tents and aired, tents were swept out and made ready for inspection. The remainder of the day was devoted to nature study, hikes, baseball and swimming. At campfire that evening the District Commissioner, Fred Pessig, awarded Steve Haddon the "Gilwell Woggle" and tie pin. This distinction is awarded on completion of the initial training course (Leader level).

A "Cubs own" (Church service) was held on Sunday morning followed by the Cubs making a collection of nature things and displaying them on construction paper. These displays were painted by the boys as requirements for their "Black and Tawny Stars." For lunch the boys cooked their own dinner consisting of hot dogs, along with chips, soft drinks and fruit. This being a requirement for their "Green Stars." All other meals at camp were cooked and prepared by Bill Edgecombe.

GROUP COMMITTEE CHAIRMAN AND SCOUTERS

The following motion was passed on February 24, 1970, by the District Council. For your ready reference it is re-printed. That Article 17 — item 6 — of the Constitution under the heading of publicity, include the District Commissioner, District Cubmaster, all Group Committee Chairmen, under the jurisdiction of the Sherbrooke and District Council be a permanent standing Committee under the Chairmanship of the District Public Relations Officer.

Extent of duties: to ascertain the responsibilities under their perspective area of control or to appoint a responsible person for the purpose of forwarding Scouting news and activities to the District Public Relations Officer who in turn will coordinate all material for publication.

3RD SHERBROOKE GROUP COMMITTEE

An Executive Meeting was held August 26th (the first this season) with Ed Mills, Chairman, presiding. Its purpose was to make familiar to the new Executive, their duties and to make up an agenda to be presented at the Group Committee Meeting on Wednesday, September 9th at 8:00 p.m. in Plymouth United Church on Dufferin Street. All parents or guardians are requested to attend.

PUBLIC RELATIONS OFFICER'S REMARKS

It has become more evident that a more active parent participation at the Group Committee level must be realized.

All parents having a son in Scouts or Cubs are automatically members of that Group Committee of which their boy is attending. It is at the Group Committee level that the main thrust into the Scout movement is felt by the parent. It is at this level, that you, the parent, can do more for your boy by taking part in the Group activities as a contributing member.

By supporting the Scouters in their work, these volunteer leaders devote a great deal of time implementing the Scout program. The administration and subsequent activities are the duties of the Group Committee. Please plan to attend the next Group Committee meeting in your District.
