Next week's weather

By ERIC NEAL

May 9 to 16

Relatively warm and bright to commence this week with heavy dews and gleamy sunshine.

Night and day temperatures: 30 and 75°F in the south, 25 and 65°F for the Laurentians, 50 hours of sunshine this week.

Re-zoning is sought for vast Atwater project, Claremont site

THE SITE

Shown is the former Atwater Ball Park, opposite the Forum, now a vast parking lot, proposed site of the $35 million apartment, office and shopping complex. About four-fifths of the property lies in Westmount. From the buildings there will be direct underground connections to the Cabot Square Bus terminal and the West End subway station under Western avenue at far left.

June start is proposed at Claremont-Western

Construction of a 16-storey combination apartment-office building on the southwestern corner of Claremont and Western avenues is slated to begin in mid June, pending approval by elector-proprietors in the area. The project is planned by the Campeau Construction Company on a 53,000 square foot site fronting on Western, Claremont and York avenues with off-street drive-in entrances extending through the building and an open-air courtyard from York to Western.

The lower four floors will contain offices accessible by a separate entrance. Built of reinforced concrete, it will contain three floors of underground parking with a 300-car capacity. On the roof, the penthouse will have an outdoor - indoor swimming pool.

Completion date is December 1965.

Further amendment to zoning by-law

Before construction of this project can begin, council must further amend its master zoning by-law 655 to permit a greater number of small apartment units than is presently allowed. Height limit under the present regulations is 16-storeys in the area and this will remain unchanged.

A second section of the amendment, however, states that "the term storey" shall not include

$35 million complex to rise 30 storeys

A $35,000,000 shopping, apartment, office building complex is planned for the former Atwater Park site, long a centre of interest in this area for developers. Plans revealed this week by J. Eric Harrington, president of West End Plaza Inc. and by the City of Westmount in a newsletter to call for:

- A three-level indoor shopping building, including stores at subway level, all on the Westmount side of the boundary.

- Five apartment towers, one of 30 storeys, one of 26 storeys and 3 of 6 storeys each; also in Westmount.

- An office building believed to be designed for 50 storeys to be located entirely within the City of Montreal;

Site of the development, a former baseball park, currently a parking lot, is bounded by St.

Catherine street, Atwater and Western avenues. It totals approximately 290,000 square feet of which some 41,000 are located in Montreal.

Underground connections

There will be direct underground connection with adjacent Cabot Square bus terminal facilities and with the West End Subway terminus located under Western avenue astride the Westmount - Montreal border.

Parking facilities in the area will be reduced to 1,000 cars in a ground level lot.

It is believed that the shopping area will include a large discount-type department store.

Hope to start in June

The construction schedule approved by Westmount authorities calls for the first phase — the subway level and three-storey shopping centres to begin early next month with completion timed to co-ordinate with the opening of the subway system in 1966.

Construction of the three apartment towers would constitute phase two and commence in mid 1966 for completion in about two years.

The office building would be the last phase to undergo development with dates of con-

By-law meeting June 1

A meeting of electors-proprietors is scheduled for 10:45 a.m., June 1, in the City Hall Council Chamber to deal with the proposed changes to Master Zoning By-Law 655 which would permit West End Plaza proceed with construction of their $22 million dollar complex in the former Atwater Park.

City Council gave first reading to the amendment at its regular monthly meeting Monday night.

Property owners in district D of the Residential Zone and district E of the Commercial Zone are eligible to vote at the meeting. If ten or more oppose the amendment, a referendum for the two districts must be held to consider the question again. For an exact description of the two areas see page nine.

Opposition mounting

Opposition to the high rise West End Plaza complex was quick to form this week following Monday's City Council meeting. Residents in the south-eastern section of the city, particularly those in the Wood-Elm area near the proposed Westmount Centre project, began a telephone campaign Tuesday to encourage citizens to register their protests at the Westmount Municipal Association Annual Spring Meeting Tuesday in Victoria Hall and to vote against the project at the elector-proprietor meeting June 1.

"We don't want to see this business railroaded through like the Westmount Centre," said a spokesman. "We in Westmount don't want such things as a discount department store, and 30-storey apartment towers. And imagine the increased traffic and the undesirable sort of crowds the whole project would bring."

Meanwhile, it was learned from reliable sources that the Sisters of the Mother House of the Congregation Notre Dame, located across Western from the building site held a special meeting Wednesday afternoon to discuss the project and registered opposition to one facet at least: a 5 storey windowless brick wall facing Western avenue believed planned for that section.

Officials of the Westmount Municipal Association had announced earlier that the format of their open meeting was being changed to accommodate the many citi-

A VISIT

Mayor C. H. Drury welcomes members of the Westmount High School Current Events Club to the City council's monthly meeting Monday. About 40 students attended to watch municipal government in action. Left to right are: Bob Isseman, vice-president of the club, Ruth Eliasoph, secretary, and Mayor Drury.

In annual report

Financial position good, Mayor reports

In Westmount, 1963 was "a year of progress in many directions and a good year financially," Mayor C. H. Drury stated this week in the city's annual report. Statements for the year showed a surplus of $17,842.

Revenue totalled $3,515,679. The largest expenditure, $968,601, went for the Police and Fire Departments followed by $627,018 for public works.

Mayor Drury said that "during 1963 Westmount reached a cross-roads in relation to its redevelopment, and this can be partially traced to the Bland report of 1960, the outcome of many months of study." Both the Dorchester widening and redevelopment program, the Westmount Centre and the Atwater park projects follow the Bland report plans, he noted, "and we will even ultimately see a transformation of this area, one of the older sections of Westmount."

"Unfortunately projects such as these sometimes cause upsetting effects, but are the price of progress in contributing towards a better Westmount," he said.

The Canadian Cancer Society is the only national voluntary health agency fighting cancer through research, education and service. Its sole source of funds is voluntary gifts from the public, from the public, collected during the annual April campaign.

We Say Discussion is vital

IT is heartening to learn that the Westmount Municipal Association has decided to abbreviate some of the routine proceedings at its annual Spring Meeting next Tuesday and lengthen the time allotted for discussion, questions and answers.

It is only through the WMA that most citizens can participate in the affairs of the community.

The Mayor, Aldermen and WMA officials will all be available to answer questions. If you like the way the city is run, participate to make sure Westmount stays that way. If you don't, then let your voice be heard.

Additional instead of double taxation

ALL those Quebecers who have been congratulating themselves that the Lesage-Pearson accord over pensions and taxes has avoided the spectre of double taxation in this province are undoubtedly being a trifle premature.

While the Quebec treasury has gained a large new inflow of cash as a result of the arrangements just completed, it must be kept in mind that the federal government, operating as it does at a deficit, is scarcely in any position to make gifts. Finance Minister Walter Gordon has already budgeted for a $455 million deficit in 1964-65. The federal government's sharply accelerated withdrawal from the personal income tax field will cost the treasury $60 million next year and $120 million in 1966.

Prime Minister Pearson has served notice that the additional revenues being given the provinces will have to be recouped by the federal government from other sources. This means, quite simply, that new taxes will have to be levied or existing ones increased.

Accordingly, all that's really happened is that the threat of double taxation has been replaced by the threat of additional taxation.

YOU SAY Objects to Dorchester expropriation

Sir:

Please find enclosed my letter to Mr. Pascoe who serves in HMCA Donnacona with me. I think you will be quite surprised at the contents.

Have you heard any mention of similar moves by the city? How do you think we should proceed in the matter?

Richard Gaunt,
Lieutenant Commander

Dear Norm,

About three months ago Dad heard through the Royal Trust that the city of Westmount was going to present a bill at Quebec to take our property. The city did not, and still have not told us why they are acting in this manner. The city apparently does not want the land for itself but for another party. It is likely that a commercial firm which will bring in more taxes will then buy the property from the city.

It seems to me that the Mayor and City Council should consult the citizens before acting in important matters. This was not done for the Westmount high rise project or the changes in Westmount Park. Now the city is going to Quebec; Richard Hyde tells me a bill will be brought forward at this session to take our land from New Dorchester to St. Catherine street. The first we would have heard from the city was an order to get out.

We have lived in our house for 85 years and it seems hard on Dad that he can't live in his own house because the city wants more taxes from our land. I am hoping that eventually our house will be used for a new school.

Perhaps a picture of our house and an article before the meeting on May 15th to amend the zoning law for Westmount would be appropriate.

Richard Gaunt.

BY THE WAY

THE theft from a meteorologist's parked car of a top secret document forecasting showers and bright intervals is believed to have been the work of a weather-spy whose grandmother was a Chinese laundress.

He was not efficiently screened before having access to weather-charts. It is said that another meteorologist was offered a bribe in an hotel lounge to reveal whether wind would be variable on high ground in April. "The man had a Czech accent," said the meteorologist.

All WHS pupils to be promoted next year

Pupils at Westmount High School who fail in several subjects next Spring will not have to repeat their entire year as at present. Under a new system approved recently by the Westmount School Board pupils will be promoted in the subjects they pass and required to repeat subjects they fail.

This is in contrast to the present system where pupils are promoted in or required to repeat all subjects in a grade. In a statement released this week, WHS Home and School Association President H. C. Burritt outlined four features of the new plan:

- Grouping by ability in subjects.
- Some High School Leaving papers written at the end of Grade X.
- Graduation to be based on credits.
- Pupils to have individual timetables.

Mr. Burritt noted that the system of subject promotion has been in operation for many decades in Alberta, British Columbia, and the United States. It is in its 6th year of operation in schools on the Lakeshore and in its 4th year at Mount Royal and Rosemount High Schools.

The system will be introduced in Westmount in Grades 7, 8 and 10 in the fall and in Grades 9 in September 1965.

Parents of Westmount High pupils were urged to attend the final meeting of the Home and School Association on Monday, May 11 at 8 p.m. in the auditorium to hear the system explained by principal N. W. Wood and G. L. Drysdale, principal of Mount Royal High School.

Pleads guilty to 3 Selby St. break-ins

A 26-year old St. Laurent resident pleaded guilty in Westmount Court Wednesday to three charges of breaking and entering. Robert Faubert of 3340 Goyer street was picked up by police at 3.40 a.m. Tuesday morning on Selby street after a resident called to report a man seen at the rear of a neighboring home. Police discovered that homes at 140, 140A and 142 Selby street had been entered and a small amount of cash taken.

Faubert was remanded for sentence later today.

No further disturbances have occurred in King George Park following the temporary detention Monday of seven St. Leo's Academy students, police reported yesterday.

The seven were brought into the Stanton street station at 1.20 p.m. following what police termed "rowdy behaviour" in the park. The pupils were seated on hall benches while their parents were notified and asked to fetch them. "We wished to impress upon the parents the manner in which their children were behaving and to attempt to have full respect for law and order instilled in them," Public Safety Director E. C. Harper said.

He noted that one of the pupils had been questioned last winter in connection with the daubing of separatist slogans on the war memorial.

Cancer cells can multiply quickly and sometimes break away from the original growth and travel to other parts of the body. Obviously, it's easier and safer to treat a cancer that is confined to one area of the body. That is why the Canadian Cancer Society urges you to see your doctor at once if you suspect you have cancer. Early detection means a much better chance of a cure.

Nurses' HQ work reaches 4th floor

Builders have now reached the fourth floor in construction of a $600,000 office building on Dorchester at Greene. When completed in November it will serve as headquarters for the Province of Quebec Association of Nurses.

The nurses will occupy two floors at the start with remainder rented out. The site is that of the former Calvary United Church.

Contractors for the job are Tetrault Freres Ltd. Architects are Deskin and Tornay.

Add 5 to Bronfman's Collection

Five works in the 81st annual Spring Exhibition of The Montreal Museum of Fine Arts have been purchased for the Saidye and Samuel Bronfman Collection of Canadian Art, it was announced today.

The collection originated in 1963 as the result of a $10,000-a-year gift from Westmounters Mr. and Mrs. Bronfman for a five-year period, and forms part of the Museum's permanent collection.

The works purchased from the Spring Exhibition are: Suzanne Bergeron's oil "Florët Luminéuse"; John Chambers' oil "Olga Near Arva"; Richard Lacroix's engraving "La Feuillee"; Jeffrey Poklen's oil "Descent" and Michael Snow's oil "Flash."

It is the intention of the Bronfmans in creating the collection "to encourage younger (under 35) Canadian artists in all media by acquiring examples of their works for the Museum . . . and to create a stimulus in the cultural life of the Montreal community by building up a collection which will show what young artists throughout Canada are thinking and producing."

Already represented in the collection are William Kurelek, Graham Coughtry, Dennis Burton, Donald Harvey, Tib Beaumont, Derek May, Armand Vailancourt, Robert Murray, Yves Gaucher, Don Jean-Louis, Ivan Eyre, Gerald Clarke, Tony Urquhart, Micheline Beauchemin, Gord Smith, Axangayu, Gerald Gladstone, Glenn N. Adams, Charles Gagnon, Glen Toppings and Fenwick Lansdowne.

The selections for the Bronfman Collection are made by the Museum's Canadian Acquisitions Committee.

Traffic regulations approved for 3 areas

City Council this week approved three new traffic regulations for Clarke avenue, Tupper street, and Gladstone avenue. All changes were recommended by the city's administrative Traffic Committee.

At the request of the principal of St. Leo's Academy, parking will be banned on the west side of Clarke avenue between the hours of 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. Monday through Friday in the area in front of the school.

Due to heavy construction work now in progress on Tupper street, parking on the north side of the street is forbidden until November 30. Parking had been permitted for one hour.

The demolition work on Dorchester and construction of the Reddy Memorial Hospital was also responsible for a decision to allow vehicles to enter Gladstone in a southerly direction from St. Catherine street, council reported. The city will erect a stop sign at the northwest corner of Gladstone avenue and Dorchester street.

Easter Seals drive falls short

Robert E. Meagher, president of the Quebec Easter Seal Society today announced that the Society's 1964 campaign had netted $89,092.

Mr. Meagher noted that the total was far short of the objective set, and appealed to those who had not yet contributed to do so immediately. He was confident that Montrealers would not let the city's physically handicapped down by failing to contribute to the Easter Seal campaign.

"If only a small percentage of the residents of Montreal and district who received pink Easter Seal envelopes just before Easter would return them with their contribution to P.O. Box 6600, the society would reach its objective, or at least substantially increase the amount collected," he said.

"I am hopeful that there are sufficient people who care enough to help a crippled child or adult to make our campaign a success.

"After all, we are not seeking large donations. Our organization is made up exclusively of volunteers and the major portion of each dollar collected goes to assist those for whom we campaign," he said.

Mr. Meagher felt there must be thousands of Easter Seal envelopes lying around houses because people put them aside meaning to make a donation later. Donations now would mean that Montreal's crippled need not suffer because the Easter Seal Society didn't have sufficient money to help them, he said.

Denys Heward (left), chairman of the public speaking committee of the Montreal Rotary Club, presents the gold award to Marc de Man, of Westmount, a senior student at St. Leo's. Along with the medal went a $400 scholarship to university for winning top prize in the Rotary finals, held Monday. The 17 year old student, a native of Belgium, came to Canada five years ago knowing only a few words of English. His topic was "Liberty and Responsibility."

Tri-service event is set tomorrow at RMR

Ottawa's promise of a unified service in Canada has been a reality for 19 years, at least as far as senior non-commissioned officers of the Royal Canadian Navy, Canadian Army and Canadian Air Force is concerned.

The Tri-Service Ball,—originally called, when organized first in 1936, the Montreal Garrison Sergeant's Ball—will be held this year on May 9 at the Armory of the Royal Montreal Regiment, Westmount, and will be open to all senior non-commissioned officers of the three services, plus the United States Air Force, and their ladies.

Guest of Honor, Colonel Clifford P. McPherson CD, Director of Militia will represent Lt. General G. Walsh, CDE, CBE, DSO, CD.

Patrons of the Ball, held every year since 1936 (with the exception of the war years) are Commodore M. J. A. T. Jette, CD, Senior Naval Officer, Montreal Area, represented by Commander L. O. Stonehouse, CD; Major-General F. J. Fleury, CBE, ED, CD, General Officer Commanding, Quebec Command; represented by Lt. Col. D. H. McIndoe, DSO, CD; AVM M. M. Hendrick, OBE CD, Air Officer Commanding, Air Defence Command, represented by Wing Commander E. N. Henderson, CD; and Senior Master Sergeant N. Wandkowsi, USAF, Plattsburgh.

The Tri-Service Ball was organized by Regimental Sergeant Major D. Crawford of the Royal Regiment of Canadian Artillery in 1936 as a garrison sergeant's Ball. RSM Crawford was later to be Major, Royal Canadian Army Pay Corps, and who recently retired from the Canadian Army.

During the war years the Ball was suspended, but in 1949 was re-organized under the chairmanship of RSM Harrison, RCA, and embraced all three services, taking on the name of the Tri-Service Ball.

This year the chairman is WO (First Class) J. J. Bradley, Royal Canadian Electrical and Mechanical Engineers.

It is expected that more than 400 senior non-commissioned Officers of the three services, and their ladies, will attend the Ball, the decorum of which will embrace the traditions of all services, but stress the unity of all through co-operation of the Navy, Army and RCAF.

Open letter to Mayor

Says residents promised park at Hallowell and Dorchester

The Mayor and Council of Westmount.

Gentlemen,

This is to remind the Council that, when the small park at the foot of Redfern Ave., was incorporated into the new high school, we were promised compensation by the creation of a PARK and not a PARKING LOT, at the corner of Hallowell and Dorchester.

The residents of this area would appreciate the immediate razing of the unsightly houses now left standing in their blitzed conditions on Dorchester at the top of Bruce Ave.

It does not require great organizing ability to have the truck loads of earth, that are seen passing from one Westmount location dumped on the corner of Hallowell. With turf laid, a flower bed and seats under the remaining trees, young mothers and children can sit and play and this terrible eyesore can quickly be converted to most pleasing corner, complimenting the beautiful school area.

This widening of Dorchester street may well be a seven year project in its realization and the women and children of Hallowell, Bruce and Columbia are living now.

Never underestimate the power of the women of Westmount on whose behalf I am asking the Council to keep its promise of a PARK THIS SUMMER.

MORE DEMOLITION

While construction of the high-rise Westmount Centre project is delayed due to two injunctions, demolition work is proceeding. After clearing many properties on Wood avenue crews moved on recently to St. Catherine street and knocked down a building in the Wood-Elm block.

City goes heavily into parking business

City Council this week accepted tenders in the amount of $1790, for demolition of three buildings on Greene avenue to create a municipal parking lot. Lowest bidder was Teperman and Sons Ltd. who agreed to complete the job within three weeks.

The three properties were heavily damaged in a fire in January 1963.

The job is about two months behind schedule. Westmount had hoped to open its lot before construction of a two-storey building began on the site of a private parking lot near Western. Two of the three owners, however, were out of town most of the winter and could not be served with expropriation papers.

Rate schedule is announced

Council also approved a schedule of rates for the newly opened parking lots on expropriated lots near Dorchester. The lots will remain open until widening operations are completed and the lots have been sold to developers.

Rates are as follows:

Hourly — 1st half hour, .25, 2nd half hour, .25, Each additional hour .25.

Daytime — 7 a.m. to 6 p.m., $1.50.

Evening Rate — 6 p.m. to 11 p.m., $1.00.

Overnight — 6 p.m. to 7 a.m., $1.50.

Monthly — (Daytime) — 7 a.m. to 6 p.m., $12.00, (Overnight) — 6 p.m. to 7 a.m., $8.00.

Bulk Usage — 7 a.m. to 6 p.m., $10.00 per month per car, Dead Storage — 24 hrs. $10.00 per month per car.

Perhaps the law governing vehicle accidents should be more stringent. Perhaps if 21 is to be the age when youth may vote and legally drink, it should also be the age when a driver's licence is obtainable. Floral clock location will remain unchanged

Westmount's popular floral clock will not be moved this year from its location at Lansdowne and Sherbrooke, "contrary to rumors currently in circulation," a city newsletter revealed this week.

Plans submitted to the city by landscape planning architects would however, call for the clock to be moved to a location in the middle of Westmount Park, near Sherbrooke, to serve as a centerpiece for a formal garden. The reports are still under study by city officials and will not be voted upon until next Spring, at the earliest, it was noted earlier.

The article said that over some 5,000 plants are used to make up the clock face and bordering decorations. "The heart of this clock is a small mechanism situated underground at the rear of the embankment, comprising a quarter horsepower motor with a series of gears leading to a spindle connected to the hand."

Plants used in the decoration according to the newsletter are Santolina, Achryanthus and Alternanthera in green and red, Echeveria, and in the centre under the hands some Mesembryanthemum. The borders are mostly small Juniper and Golden Privet.

Council gave first reading to this amendment Monday night and scheduled an elector-proprietor meeting for District C3 for 9 a.m. in City Hall, Monday, June 1, just 65 minutes before the meeting to discuss the West End Plaza project.

Extracts FromANNUAL REPORT 1963*CITY OF WESTMOUNT

The purpose of this advertisement is to draw to the attention of residents of the City of Westmount the Annual Report for the year 1963 which has been issued through the mail to all householders.

In the interest of wider understanding of municipal affairs, residents are urged to examine the reports of the Mayor and Members of Council, and the financial report insert which accompanies it. A limited number of extra copies are available at Westmount City Hall. The Report of Council, issued by Mayor Drury, and a summary from the Financial Statement, are carried hereunder.

REPORT OF COUNCILC. H. DRURY

During 1963 Westmount reached a cross-roads in relation to its re-development, and this can be partially traced to the Bland Report of 1960, the outcome of many months of study. In this regard, the Dorchester Street re-development and widening expropriations were largely carried out in 1963, and we will ultimately see a transformation of this area, one of the older sections of Westmount.

In recording events of 1963 on behalf of the Council, it affords me pleasure to report that the City of Westmount experienced a year of progress in many directions and a good year financially, with a surplus of $17,842. The foundation for this encouraging situation has been laid over a period of years preceding my assumption of office, and the majority of these developments result from careful planning.

Additionally, there is a re-development plan for the Wood-Elm area, between Western and St. Catherine, where preliminary steps were taken during 1963. Also further East, there were indications that the proposed development on what is known as Atwater Park was close to being launched. Adjacent to these two latter projects is the prospect of Montreal Metro construction along Western Avenue nearly to Greene Avenue in connection with the terminal station for the East-West line by the City of Montreal, under Provincial legislation. Unfortunately, projects such as these sometimes can cause upsetting effects, but are the price of progress in contributing towards a better Westmount.

During the year a new Assessment Roll was brought into being, which established Westmount's property valuations on the same basis as in effect in Montreal, and conforms with the requirements of the Montreal Metropolitan Corporation. It results in an average increase of 20 per cent, although adjustment of mill rates partially offsets the tax impact.

It has been gratifying to witness the popularity of the Municipal swimming pool during the first full year of operations. The location of the pool did away with the tennis courts which were located on the site. Three courts of modern design with improved lighting are planned for the 1964 season on park property adjacent to the pool.

Membership in the Westmount Public Library again showed an increase with 17,527 adults and 3,470 juveniles making use of its facilities which include 70,000 books. The Provincial grant of $4,000 was much appreciated and was used to augment the stock of books.

Many renovations and alterations were carried out at that long-established centre, Victoria Hall, which resulted in much improvement in its services to the Westmount public. It once again experienced an extremely active year, with 1,550 functions, largely of a social nature, being held. During the year we welcomed a new alderman to our Council, Donald W. Byers, Q.C., and regretfully noted the withdrawal from office, after many years of devoted community service, of Mayor J. C. Cushing, who had accomplished so many things of a progressive nature. Your Council experienced a busy term of office, holding 18 council and 27 committee meetings, as well as many special meetings.

To my colleagues on Council I would like to express my sincere thanks for the time and effort they devoted to the municipal cause. To a loyal, dedicated and highly capable city staff, I would also like to add appreciation for their widespread co-operation during a year when demands on their services were heavy and when many changes in procedures were being carried out.

PALETTE PATTER

by VALENTINA RAHR

An exhibition of paintings in oils by John Basset is on display at the CNR Concourse until June 1. Mr. Basset is originally from England, where he studied art at the Heatherly School. He exhibited in England with the Royal Institute of Painters for five consecutive years, and his works in Montreal are in private collections and in several galleries. Representational in style, his paintings depict historical sites, slums and unusual buildings of an era long past in Montreal.

Several street scenes, La-gauchetiere Street, Church on Chenneville, and Centre Street, done in brush and palette knife are typical of our city.

Istvan Prorobszky, is having a one man show at the CNR Concourse until June 1 of his paintings in oil. About 25 pictures done in palette knife show vivid colors, activity, pastoral scenes, trees, landscapes, seascapes, flower studies.

His figures especially attract attention, showing the movement and enthusiasm of dancers by the fire, or in groups. Some of his works are on black velvet, giving a moulded, sculptured effect. Mr. Prorobszky, a full time painter, is the son of a sculptor who was well known in Hungary. His works are in private collections here and abroad, and are owned by several art galleries.

HAMID-MORTON CIRCUS
As a community service, the Unity Boys' Club is offering to its Club members, parents and friends in the Westmount and St. Henry Districts, an opportunity to get free tickets and free accommodation to the Hamid-Morton Circus which takes place at the Maurice Richard Arena on Tuesday, May 19th, with the buses leaving Club Headquarters at 3:30 p.m. sharp.

Some 400 tickets and seating accommodations will be available to all those that register at the Club for this mammoth special event. Children under six years of age will be permitted to go providing they are accompanied by an adult.

Greene avenue, St. Catherine street and Western, site of much digging in recent months to replace services dislocated by the subway construction, will again be dug up in part.

City Council this week voted $12,000 for alterations to underground cables on the three streets. It will take crews about a week to dig narrow trenches and install new lines close to the sidewalks.

The route extends from the city limits to Greene avenue, up Greene to Western and along Western to Elm.

R. Notkin film gets Boston showing

A program of student films, including one by a Westmounter, an award winner, will be "un-reeled" at the Boston University's School of Public Communication today.

The hour and a half film showing, open to the public, will be shown at the School's auditorium 630 Commonwealth Ave., followed by a coffee hour in which the audience will have an opportunity to meet the student film makers and discuss their films with them.

The films include "Festival" by Gunter Pfaff of Allston, Mass., which has won the second prize in the Brown University Inter-collegiate Film Festival and is currently entered in other festivals; "The House of the Potter", a documentary by David Nelson of Dorchester, Mass.; "A Shot at the Title" by Richard Notkin, of Westmount, which won the student a position with the Canadian Film Board; "Ego Te Absolvat," a film for children by Frederic Underhill of Topsfield, Mass., and "A Day" by Jeffrey Paull of University Heights, Ohio.

The Fossils Show: on Westmount:

Provincial, municipal sacred cows milked in charity extravaganza

Satire may come and satire may go — but it appears at this point quite possible that the Fossils Club annual collection of barbed local wit and whimsy will go on forever.

This is the 33rd epic to relieve the accumulated total of long-winter boredom for Westmounters (and those who wish they were) and it is as good, if not better, than any of its predecessors.

"Munity on the Mountain" is a sell-out, and rightly so, for it has just the right proportions of salt and inanity, frolic and friction to delight the audience for which it was constructed so securely by Gord Osborne, producer;

Ian Gilbert, director; Lee Prime, staging; Scotty Sheridan, book; Vera Carr, choreography and Henry Matthews, music.

Behind the rib-tickling and belly-bouncing gags there is a story line and as might be suspected it deals with what is called "the situation" between the founding races of Confederation.

Form the 'State of Westmount'

Anglo-Saxons are discovered planning to secede and form the State of Westmount. A pseudo son of Rene Levesque and the daughter of Mayor Dreary of Westmount carry on a clandestine affair in Westmount Park. Character parts there are aplenty, such as the Misses Edna and Crump, who, of course, run a girl's school; and C. Aubry Fortescue and Horace T. Willowtree.

Drapeau is there with his subway, and wants to run it under Westmount Park, but he is opposed by SLOW — a local and militant group labelled Squirrel Lovers of Westmount.

While some of the lead parts are played by former Westmounters who have now strayed as far from the 'auld sod' as Hudson Heights, one can recognize standbys like Pat Irwin (who plays Lesage) and was one of a group of 11 who had a hand in producing the final book; and Art Morrow who doubles as an army lieutenant and also a school-girl tricyclist at the girls' school.

24 new songs

Original words and music have always been a feature of the Fossils shows and a good feature — but this year the musical end of the event is really tops. There are 24 original songs, all of them listenable, some even whistleable — going out of the auditorium.

The question is frequently asked: "What do Fossils do with money?"

The answer is interesting: To date they have donated more than $117,000 to charitable causes, including the Montreal Boys Association, Catholic Youth Services, Junior League, Quebec Camp for Diabetic Children etc.

The show goes on again tonight and tomorrow night at the West Hill High School auditorium, and there may just be a ticket or two left. They are available at Mitchell's, 1271 Greene; Mitchell Photo Supply, 1015 Dominion Square and Miron Pharmacy, 3548 Lacombe in Cote des Neiges and at 850 Decarie in St. Laurent.

'Rescuing' is not popular in heat

Westmount's second Civil Protection Course, originally slated to begin April 27 may have to be postponed due to insufficient volunteers, CPO officials reported recently.

About 15 residents had volunteered for the six weeks training program to be conducted by members of the local police and fire department, but most dropped out "with the advent of war weather."

The first course, conducted in January and February drew about 20 volunteers. Members learned to lower injured persons from roofs of "burning" buildings, first aid, including the use of oxygen and related techniques.

Mowers are new danger

The popularity of gasoline lawn mowers has brought about a new fire danger for homeowners according to the All Canada Insurance Federation.

The Federation, which represents more than 200 fire, automobile and casualty insurance companies, notes that many municipalities place legal limits on the amount of gasoline that may be stored on a residential property. One gallon, stored in a proper container, is the normal limit.

Here are some rules for proper handling of gasoline:

- Keep gasoline in a small can which is well filled. Vapor which forms at the top of a partially-filled container is particularly dangerous.
- Do not use glass containers for gasoline storage since hazards will result if the container is broken.
- Do not store gasoline where children can reach it.
- Do not store gasoline in a room with a flame-operated space or water heater.
- Take the lawn mower out of doors before filling the gas tank.
- Do not smoke while filling the gas tank or while handling gasoline.

Richard Bourne elected president

WHS Council has busy year

By DAVID SMITH

Next year's Students' Council executive has been elected. In an election held last Thursday, the seven students who will, with staff advisors, be mainly responsible for the students' government were chosen. The new president is Richard Bourne; first vice-president, Bob Issenman; second vice-president, Graham Lorimer; assistant to the first vice-president, Janet Lorimer; assistant to the second vice-president, Carol Ann Ransen; secretary, Patsy Johansson; treasurer, Sherry-Lynn Simon.

This past year, the Students' Council and its affiliated clubs and organizations did a tremendous amount of work. The major activity during the first term was the preparation for the annual Students' Council Conference held this year at the school. Representatives came to the conference from all over Quebec.

Much work had to be done between the time school started, in September and the date of the conference, in early November.

A theme had to be chosen, speakers contacted, a program arranged, and entertainment and accommodation provided. Numerous individuals and clubs, and especially the Students' Council executive and advisers, contributed to the success of the conference.

Constitution amended

Another major project handled by the Students' Council, this year, was the amendment of the constitution drawn up last year. Three meetings were held, at which amendments were considered and voted on. On March 30 of this year, the constitution came out in its definite form.

The last day before the Christmas holidays, the annual "Corn Show" was held. In this show, organized by the Students' Council, each senior class put on a short satirical skit. The event proved a pleasant way of passing the last morning of school before the holiday.

The winter carnival, an all-school co-operative effort organized by Mr. Flanagan and Mr. Stratton, was held in February, and proved a great success. Also in February was the school's major theatrical production of the year, "Theatre Night". This production of three one-act plays, and selections from a musical was produced by the Theatre Club, one of the Council's affiliated clubs.

More activities

Other activities for which the Council was indirectly responsible were the Current Events Club trips to New York, for grade eleven students, and to Quebec City, for grade ten students; the Christmas cantata; the athletic program; and the activities of all school clubs. A new club, the Folksinging Club, was organized this year, and is affiliated by charter with the Students' Council.

Altogether, this has been a busy and highly successful year, as far as extra-curricular activities go, at Westmount High School. Credit for this activity goes to the executives and members of all the clubs and teams, to the teachers who advised clubs and coached teams, and to the Students' Council, its representatives, executive, and advisers, for their work in co-ordinating students' activities.

Cancer toll remains high figures show

Some 45,000 Canadians this year will leave their doctor's offices after learning for the first time that they are suffering from cancer. What will happen to them?

The number of new cases of cancer increases slowly each year—due largely to public education and improved methods of diagnosis. Both of these factors lead to more frequent recognition of the disease, and earlier treatment. This in turn brings more cures, through surgery, radiation or chemotherapy. The number of Canadians who die of cancer each year is now only half the number of new cases discovered.

Vast improvements in surgical methods have meant that more patients can tolerate the surgery necessary and live comfortably afterwards. More effective forms and dosages of radiation have been developed by years of careful work. New drugs and hormone treatments, evolving out of laboratories across the country, hold great promise for the future.

The problem of cancer can be solved only through enough trained people working in enough laboratories. Today, the most extensive and expensive battle in medical history is being waged to win this solution.

In 21 research centres in 12 major cities across the country, scientists and doctors are hunting down the causes of cancer and testing every possible avenue offering any promise of a cure or abatement.

The major part of this research is financed by the Canadian Cancer Society.

Formed in 1938, at the urging of doctors who worried that people were ignoring cancer symptoms until too late, the Society this month is seeking close to $4 million to help cancer victims live more comfortably, to save lives by informing Canadians of the facts about cancer and the importance of early diagnosis; and to provide the funds to press forward our research attack.

The Canadian Cancer Society's major source of income is from voluntary contributions, raised by a nationwide network of 90,000 volunteers during the annual April campaign

Automation making things tough for unskilled workers

The unskilled worker is going to have a tougher time ahead in this workaday world, because of the inroads being made in industry at all levels through automation according to Mr.
Jack Williams, Director of Public Relations of the Canadian Labor Congress, Ottawa.

It was his contention that individuals with more skills, particularly the younger men, will have to accept the rising problem which is now apparent in all lines of industry. The Congress, he said was worried the younger people being drafted into industry as they were going to have a tougher time and nobody has the answer to the problem at the present time.

The fact is that we still have far too many people unemployed and the impact of unemployment is showing some particularly disturbing characteristics said Mr. Williams. The hard-core group — the people who have been without jobs for a considerable period — is steadily growing. Some economists are now talking about the "hidden unemployed" — the people, particularly in older age brackets, who have become discouraged and who have given up active job hunting and so have disappeared from our statistics.

Another group that is particularly hard-hit is at the opposite end of the age scale

struction and completion to be determined when the prior phases are underway. Zoning outside Westmount in that area permits almost unlimited heights of buildings.

Architect for the project is Harold Ship. General contractors named was the Anglin-Norcross Corporation.

'Strong impact' on city's future

Westmount authorities believe this project and the second development planned for Claremont and Western avenues will have "a strong and favourable impact on the future of Westmount." The city newsletter, to be mailed out to residents today, quoted Alderman F. M. McEntyre, Commissioner of Finance. "The two properties at Atwater Park and Claremont avenue have remained largely vacant over the years, and have been productive of comparatively little in the form of municipal taxes," he said. "With large buildings going up on these sites, the valuations of the properties will naturally increase tremendously, and in the process have a definite and desirable effect on Westmount's tax position, adding considerably to city revenue."

The newsletter noted that the towers would cover 20% of the base area accessible off street via Western avenue.

A principal factor in the decision to build the complex on the site was the location of the subway terminus on Western avenue, according to J. Eric Harrington, president of the West End Plaza Inc. "We have borne in mind that

At the request of the many residents who have called Examiner offices during the week seeking the long-awaited development of this property includes the western terminus of the Metro system already under construction and also a parking complex whose operations are vital to the smooth flow of traffic attracted by the neighbouring Montreal Forum," he said in a statement released Monday.

"It is our aim to erect here a group of structures which will be as noteworthy architecturally as they are socially useful and economically advantageous to the community," he added.

tors meeting June 1 before construction may begin.

The by-law change would raise the permissible height from 6 to 30 storeys in district D and from 10 to 30 storeys in district E.

Similar to the Westmount Centre amendment, it would limit occupancy in the area to: apartment buildings, hotels, art schools, business colleges, private clubs or lodges, offices, banks, retail stores, restaurants, laboratories, service shops, workshops, theatres, physiotherapy studies, radio stations, television, and bowling establishments provided none have shop entrances or show windows on Western avenue.

Mrs. B. C. Willis heads Consumers' Association

The Consumers' Association of Canada (Quebec) annual meeting was held recently, when Mrs. B. C. Willis was elected president.

Mrs. Stewart A. Charters, the out-going president, reported that three briefs were prepared during the past year. They are: Insanitary Wadding, directed to the Minister of Health, Dr. A. Couturier; Consumer Credit to Premier Jean Lesage; and one on the aims and activities of CAC which will be presented to appropriate agencies to enlist their financial support.

Although there is no firm commitment that regulations are about to be enacted on the Wadding brief, assurances have been received that the subject is being studied.

Mrs. N. W. Duck, chairman of the Testing Information committee, reported four market surveys had been conducted in Quebec since June 1963.

She informed the members that until recently, surveys in the Montreal area were done by interested members of CAC. She was now able to report that ten members of the Notre Dame de Grace Women's Club have volunteered to undertake surveys. She indicated the value of this contribution to the national testing program and looked forward to having other local associations volunteering as a group.

"One consumer complaint causes concern, and three result in the article being rectified or removed from the market," Mrs. W. T. Pound, consumer problems chairman stated.

Mrs. Pound declared that this statement was made by a manufacturer's representative at the consumer-producer conference held in March 1963.

"If the manufacturers do not receive complaints about their products they naturally assume their product is satisfactory," she continued. "Consumer complaints carry weight if they are registered effectively."

Timmouth gave a report of activities of the year. The treasurer Mrs. Leo Murphy read her annual report and then presented Mr. Robert Meagher with a substantial cheque, the results of the labors of the members of the Xavier Apostolate Guild.

Monsignor H. J. Doran spoke briefly congratulating the members on their devoted efforts and urging them to keep up the good work.

Father D. McCormack, director of the Diocesan Priesthood Guild told the members of the Priesthood Guild's plans for the coming year and expressed his appreciation for the cheque, in view of a greatly increased budget for the Priesthood Guild, in the coming year.

Mrs. Kennedy thanked Monsignor Doran for his hospitality and also expressed her sincere thanks to the members for their good work during the year.

Hysterical complaints . . . about alleged brutality in the National Hockey League, particularly in the playoffs, appear to have little statistical justification . . . Musical Sharps, Flats & Naturals

By FRANCES GOLTMAN

CONTRADICTIONS

Part I of Two Instalments

1. PUBLICITY — Many results are just the reverse from what is expected. No one can predict with certainty what will happen in anything. Some concerts are not widely publicized and get full attendances, yet others, which merit a big audience and are widely advertised, do not draw.

How do you account for this?

As an example, the Mozart Festival, consisting of three concerts in Plateau Hall, was surely given eye-catching space countless times and heard about on radio. The best musicians of the city are performing, yet the first concert (which I reviewed on April 12) had many, many vacant seats.

Last week, the second concert, with as much fanfare as the first, was not well filled. Perhaps it drew a few more listeners because the soloist, violinist Steven Staryk, was an out-of-town artist. The last event, tomorrow night, should have a bigger house since soloist Pierrette Alarie, who rose from the ranks of local talent, is now an international star.

Contrast the few ads that were given for Artur Rubinstein earlier this season. The recital was sold out months in advance. Richard Tucker, singing Saturday night at the annual concert presented by The Jewish People's Schools, IS SOLD OUT. Mr. Tucker had splendid publicity with results, but he is also a world-renowned figure.

The answer I received from a successful businessman years ago to a question I asked always returns to my mind: "How is it that music concerts are frequently poorly attended in contrast and comparison to sports events?" His reply: "You can't tell people where to spend their money."

* * *

SPECIAL THANKS TO THE FOUR PEOPLE who want to obtain the Hofmann book that I wrote about a couple of weeks ago. Sorry I don't know of anywhere to get it locally, but there are several bookshops which specialize in getting used, rare and out-of-print volumes through United States agencies. Enquire at Diamond's Book Shop, opposite the Westmount Theatre. In response to requests, I will shortly write more about this marvellous book.

II. SPEAKER VS MUSICIAN

CIAN — People in the public eye are supposed to emulate perfection in whatever work they do. Here again we find the reverse has a marked effect on audiences.

How to be popular as a speaker and how to become a popular concert artist are vastly different. Right now, I am referring to prominent personalities because that is the only way one can judge. Should the speaker make a slip, or an error, the audience laughs — and the experienced orator (especially comedians like Bob Hope, Milton Berle and Danny Thomas) — yes, they do make mistakes — makes it more obvious by joking about it right away, thus gaining more laughs.

Not so in music. You are criticized and lose patronage, with the exception of a very few celebrities who often drop notes but continue in the limelight. A "big name" when he gets older can even keep his following regardless of a lessening technical facility because prestige and personality are still held in esteem.

Benno Moiseivitch (who died a year ago) made countless errors in his last Montreal concert, yet it was a great performance. Alfred Cortot always played some wrong notes, but it made no difference to his reputation. IT SEEMS TO BE EASIER FOR MOST PEOPLE TO LAUGH AT THAN TO LAUGH WITH!

NEXT WEEK: CONTRADICTIONS. Part II Conclusion.

Vic Emery, top Olympic bob-sledder, charms Rotarians with sport's data

Vic Emery — captain of Canada's gold-medal-winning Olympic bob-sled team — was the guest speaker Wednesday at Westmount Rotary, and when the event was over the members knew a great deal more about bob-sledding than they did when they arrived at Victoria Hall where the luncheon-session was held.

Most of the information came during the lengthy question period.

Mr. Emery, heaviest man on the Canadian team at 200 pounds, is of the opinion that an excellent bob-sled run of top-flight calibre could be installed on the mountain.

Would it be more or less self-supporting?

Perhaps.

Should a club be formed?

There already is one.

Where would revenue come from?

Partly from those who wished to pay (say $1) a ride on a sled handled by a professional driver; and perhaps partly from spectators who could be handled at various stages throughout the run, and would pay an admission fee for the privilege.

Mr. Emery described in detail the sleds that are used, the manner in which the course is built and maintained, etc.

Naturally and obviously enthusiastic about the sport in which he excels, Mr. Emery wove a fabric of adventure and interest that quickly caught the members and held them until the final question was answered.

Immediately preceding the Prize Distribution the boys were entertained by professional entertainers under the leadership of M.C. Jimmie More.

Als' camp set June 5

Between 20 and 30 United States college coaches are expected here as guests of the Alouettes football club for the Larks' annual Canadian camp, scheduled for Jarry Park, June 5-13.

Alouettes have sent out close to 70 invitations for the June 5 camp.

Included are three out of town hopefuls, tackle-guard Leo Hoyos from Carleton University Ravens of the Ottawa-St. Lawrence Conference, end Clifford Moore from the University of New Brunswick Red Bombers and Jack Sles of St. Patrick's high school in Quebec City.

To this list, names will be added from the two junior camps which are being staged by Town of Mount Royal Lions and the N.D.G. Maple Leafs.

Members of the Alouettes' coaching staff or players will help with each session of the Lions camp which will be directed by general manager Dennis Carroll.

Lake swim ups purse

This summer's Lake St. John long-distance swim will rate among the top such events in the world following the announcement that prize money will be upped to $10,000. The race is slated for August 8.

A prize of $3,500 will be given the winner of the 24-mile marathon. Runner-up spot will bring $2,000 while third place is worth $1,400.

The first woman to cross the finish line will receive a special prize of $500.

All the other swimmers who will cross the lake will be awarded $200.

Accidents down

Hockey helmets are a success

A regulation requiring all youngsters in city hockey leagues to wear helmets has been credited with reducing drastically the number of injuries to players. Figures released recently by the Westmount Recreation Department show that the number of hockey accidents decreased from 42 in 1962 to 9 in 1963. The wearing of helmets became mandatory at the start of the 1963 season.

Most popular recreation feature according to the report, was the swimming pool. Between its opening June 1 and closing September 28 attendance totalled about 79,000. July was the busiest month with 38,798 swimmers, followed by June with 22,713. Cool weather in August lowered attendance figures to 15,123 as opposed to 27,240 in previous year.

The swimming pool, however, did not draw youngsters away from the tennis courts, long the most popular feature here. Attendance rose to 22,725 in 1963 from 20,069 the previous year.

Rifles signs Harris

The Quebec Rifles have signed Rufus Harris, Jr., a 6'2", 245-pounder who played his college ball at Grambling University in Louisiana.

The 22-year old spurned pro offers last year to pursue a teaching career but has been lured back to the gridiron by the United Football League Rifles.

Ice school for coaches opens Aug.

Last summer, the Federal Council of Health and Sports sponsored a school for hockey instructors.

Since it proved to be a successful venture, the council will sponsor a similar school this year.

Schools will be held at Dalhousie University for the Maritimes, at Royal Military College for Ontario, at Saskatoon University for Saskatchewan and Manitoba, at University of British Columbia for Alberta and British Columbia, and finally at the University of Montreal for Quebec province.

The clinic here will start August 23, ending September 2. Classes will be under the direction of Gaston Marcotte, former player for Windsor Spitfires and now a physical education teacher at University of Montreal.

St. George rink wins mixed event

The St. George Curling Club rink, skipped by Wilf Marchant took top honors Saturday night in the Caledonia Club's Mixed Bonspiel.

Marchant skipped his rink of Marie and Louis Laflamme and Pat Marchant to a 9-6 victory over the Otterburn rink skipped by Charles Wright.

Glenmore Curling Club's entry of Leo and Sally Bluteau and Phil and Ruth Neville won the consolation prize defeating Caledonia's Art Landry 13-2. Playing with Landry were Alice Landry, Karla Madsgrad, and Jim Fairway.

In the semi-finals of the main event Marchant downed Jim Gordon of the Westworth Club 10-4 while Wright edged Caledonia's Alex McLaren 7-6.

Martians elect Jim Fraser

Westmounter Jim Fraser was elected president of the Martian Ski Club at its annual meeting, Saturday. Jim Gardner becomes vice-president John Peachey treasurer, Gord Jackson secretary, and Brian Timmins competitions chairman.

Jim Clift, in addition to being named junior chairman was selected as the club's outstanding skier of the 1963-64 season.

Outgoing president Pat Trudel reported the club had enjoyed a successful season and was awarded the trophy for having conducted the best meets during the season.

Seal killings

Stronger regulations promised

Stronger restrictive regulations will be in force next season to prevent inhumane slaughter of seals, according to the Federal Minister of Fisheries, Hedard Robichaud.

A. L. MacLaurin, president of the Montreal SPCA, 5215 Jean Talon west, says he was given this assurance by the Minister at a conference in Ottawa last week. Mr. MacLaurin and representatives of the Confederation of Humane Societies and the Ottawa Humane Society held a series of meetings on the seal problem with government ministers and officials.

Abuses

"Mr. Robichaud told us that the government was aware of abuses during the seal-hunting season" says Mr. MacLaurin. "He said that over 100 investigators were sent to watch the activities of the seal-hunters during the past season and that the investigations were still continuing. There will be a meeting between the government, the seal industry and fishermen, and Mr. Robichaud assured us that more restrictive legislation would be in force before next season begins."

"Mr. Robichaud said a lot of excitement had been raised by the SPCA's campaign and the CBC's film of seal hunting. However, when new legislation is announced we want to see methods of enforcing it. The skinning of baby seals while still alive is a terrible practice that must not be allowed to happen once again," he said.

Newspapers are the only medium offering the magnetic appeal of classified ads.

PARK BENCH SUPERINTENDENTS

Although most park bench sitters seem to prefer the quiet life, many will admit that work currently underway in Westmount Park does hold a certain fascination. Many now spend afternoons watching the bulldozers, steam shovels, and other mechanical equipment scattered around the park. A new occupation has sprung up, that of the "park bench superintendent."

Unity Baseball Team urgently seeks new coach and manager

The Unity Boys' Club Bantam Baseball Team is faced with a serious problem — the team is adequately supplied with players but lack the leadership to guide the youngsters for the forthcoming playing season. For ten years, the Unity baseball teams, both Little League and Bantam, have been coached and supervised by Manny Barnoff. Mr. Barnoff has resigned, due to business pressures, and a replacement is urgently needed.

TEAM HAS GOOD RECORD

Since the introduction of Little League Baseball for the Westmount Boys' Club, the team has achieved an enviable record since 1954 winning the American "B" Championship Pennant in 1954, 1955, 1959, 1961 and 1962. In 1963, the Unity Indians graduated from Little League ranks and entered the City of Montreal Bantam Baseball League and in the first year of the higher competition took top honors once again.

The successes of the team have been due to the excellent coaching and mature leadership provided over the years. Dave Barnard and Jack McKissock, formerly of the Snowdon Fastball League, were the inspiration in the formation years. Tom McAlair took over for a couple of years and then Manny Barnoff came on the scene and did an outstanding job of moulding a winner.

COACH - MANAGER NEEDED

With Mr. Barnoff's departure, also goes the team's manager, Mike O'Toole, so now the jobs, both Coach and Manager, are wide open. The Unity team has been granted the use of the Westmount Athletic Grounds facilities and will meet every Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 6.00 p.m. and on Saturdays at 2.00 p.m. Gary Repta, a student in training at the Unity Boys' Club, will commence immediately getting the boys in condition for the forthcoming season. Mr. Repta will not be able to continue after the end of the month because he will be attached to Weredale Camp for the summer.

Anyone interested in looking after the Unity Baseball Team should see Gary Repta at the Club or call WE. 2-5506 or if more convenient see Gary at the Westmount Athletic Grounds.
