MEN AGAINST NEW PROPOSALS

British Miners Show Big Majority Against Acceptance Of Owners' Offers

London, June 16—(Can. Ass'd. Press)—The first definite returns issued today on the miner's balloting on the new proposals of the owners which it had been hoped would show the majority of the men favoring an immediate settlement and a resumption of work indicate a strong feeling among the men against dropping the claims of the executive for a national wages pool and the calling off of the strike. Today results of the voting were announced as follows:

For Acceptance Against
South Wales ..	32,000 78,000
Durham ..	3,000 10,000
Lancashire ..	1,000 6,000
Lanarkshire ..	1,000 3,000

South Yorkshire and Nottinghamshire are believed to be voting in favor of acceptance, while Derbyshire, Staffordshire and Warwickshire are mixed. It is significant, however, that the pumpmen and repair workers in many collieries have already returned to work in anticipation of a settlement.

INTERNATIONAL ROTARY CONVENTION CONCLUDED

Edinburgh, Scotland, June 16—The convention of the International Association of Rotary Clubs was concluded today. British and United States flags mingled in the pageant, the principal features of which were figures representing Briarcliff and the Statue of Liberty.

The President of the Association declared that the convention was the most successful of the Rotarians had ever held.

The delegates rejected a proposal for the construction of permanent headquarters in Chicago at a cost of not exceeding $500,000.

The Weather.

Toronto, June 16—Moderate showers are reported from most localities of the Lake Superior district and very light showers have occurred in scattered localities throughout the country, but the outlook is for the most part fair and moderately warm.

Ottawa Valley and Upper St. Lawrence—Light to moderate winds, generally fair and moderately warm, local showers.

Lower St. Lawrence—Moderate winds, fair and moderately warm.

Gulf and North Shore—Moderate Northwesterly winds, mostly fair, stationary or higher temperature.

Maritime—Light to moderate winds, mostly westerly, generally fair but cloudy at times, local showers.

Superior—Moderate winds, mostly Southerly, mostly fair and warm, local showers or thunderstorms.

Manitoba—A few scattered showers but mostly fair, not quite so warm.

Saskatchewan and Alberta—A few light scattered showers, but mostly fair and moderately warm.

HOME ECONOMICS BUREAU WANTED

Women Of Canada As Much Entitled To Assistance As Farmers

Calgary, Alta., June 16—The coal situation in Canada, which one of the delegates to the National Council of Women describes as a burning question, was brought before the Thursday morning session of that body in the report of the Council of Home Economics. This was presented by Mrs. Jean MacIvor, of Toronto who urged that the development of Canada's mines was an economic necessity.

In the discussion following the reading of the report it was pointed out that Alberta has one-sixth of the coal deposits of the world; and if cheaper freight rates could be procured during the summer months before the shipment of grain started, it would help in the development of the mines, the lowering of the prices and the employment of men.

After much discussion, action was deferred until the motion could be re-worded.

The resolution brought forward by Mrs. MacIvor to endorse the proposed Bureau of Information and its magazine, a project placed before the Council two days ago by Mrs. Sears of Ottawa, brought forth the opinion that something of this nature was required.

Mrs. Muldrew of Ottawa said there was no reason why women should not obtain as much for Home Economics as is needed. While ample provision is made for information and assistance for the farmer who desires to build a chicken house, there is no help and no provision for any assistance to the housewife in any of her difficulties.

"We believe that the women of Canada," continued Mrs. Muldrew, "should ask for a Home Economics Department in the Federal Government."

This was objected to by Miss Carmichael of Picou, N.S., who thought the Council should go slowly in asking the Government to do anything that would add more expense at this time and the matter was accepted as a notice of motion to be dealt with at the next annual meeting.

Evidence In G.T.R. Arbitration Proved Too Complex To Follow

Montreal, June 16—A day of figures was spent today by the Grand Trunk Arbitration Board, sitting to consider the value of the System prior to its acquisition by the Dominion Government.

A number of details were covered regarding the System and the evidence was so complex that even the Arbitrators could hardly follow it completely. J. P. Newell, Consulting Engineer for the Government, was on the witness stand the whole day and during the afternoon. His testimony mainly regarded manifest freight.

At the end Chairman Sir Walter Cassels inquired what all this evidence meant, while Sir Thomas White said he was unable to see any value in it except as to possible future earnings regarding manifest freight.

Hon. Mr. Taft thought the evidence relevant but "the weight of it is a little hard to follow."

A letter from President Howard G. Kelley of the Grand Trunk setting forth statements as to maintenance of way and car repairs was filed for discussion to-morrow.

MEIGEN LIKELY TO HAVE LLOYD-GEORGE'S HELP

Will Demand Postponement Of Naval Discussion Despite Anzac Opposition

PACIFIC CONFERENCE

May Be Called As Means Of Settling All Problems At Issue

London, June 16—Despite the fact that the Premier Hughes of Australia and Premier Massey of New Zealand, will endeavor to have the Conference of Prime Ministers discuss and, if possible, decide upon an Imperial policy on the matter of naval defence, it seems practically certain that Premier Meighen will have the support of the British Prime Minister in his demand that the question be postponed and that no steps be taken until after the Constitutional Conference has been held. To understand Canada's position on this question it is necessary to go back to the Imperial Conference of 1917. At the conference the Dominion Premiers asked the Admiralty for an expression of opinion as to the best naval policies for the Dominions to pursue. The Admiralty promptly replied with a memorandum urging a single navy for the whole Empire under centralized control. The Dominions were to be given representation on the Board of Admiralty but the Parliaments of the Dominions were to have no voice in the disposition of their fleets in either peace or war, the control being vested exclusively in Britain. To such a remarkable proposal the Dominion Premiers took strong and prompt exception. They replied with a memorandum drafted by Sir Robert Borden, repudiating the principle of Centralization and laying down as an essential basis of any scheme to be adopted, complete control of local fleets by local Parliaments.

It was admitted that centralized direction was necessary during the war but emphasis was laid on the fact that the question of the actual participation as well as the control and supervision of the fleets during peace must rest with the Dominions. To this the Admiralty made no reply but, upon the suggestion of the Dominion Premiers, Lord Jellicoe was commissioned to visit the Dominions and report on the character of the navies best suited to their needs.

This report, it will be remembered, was tabled in the Canadian House of Commons two sessions ago when the Government and Parliament took the ground that no action should be taken with respect to it until the Constitutional Conference determined the precise mechanism under which the Dominions are to exercise their voice in the Foreign affairs of the Empire. There the question stands today and Premier Meighen holds that, as the present Conference is not a Constitutional Conference and therefore cannot deal with or settle the question of constitutional relations, it has no right to deal with the naval question at all. He will, of course, urge the postponement of the matter on other grounds, including that of the general desire for disarmament and the wisdom of awaiting international developments, but it is mainly on the ground of standing by the decision of the Canadian Government and Parliament regarding the Jellicoe report that he will rest his case.

The question is more or less bound up with that of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance and Premier Hughes, backed by certain influences here, will put up strong opposition against having the Treaty denounced and the naval question postponed. It is not improbable that this difficulty may be met by a proposal for a Conference of all parties interested in the Pacific, which would include the Governments of the United States, Great Britain, Japan, Canada, Australia and New Zealand. Such a conference, it is felt, might do more to settle whatever difficulties and problems exist in regard to the Pacific than any policy or alliances or navies and it is believed that if Canada took the lead in the matter, the object could be achieved.

Australia might offer opposition but Premier Lloyd George, who, it is thought, is lukewarm toward renewing the Japanese Alliance and anxious to cut expenditure to the lowest minimum, would probably support the scheme.

His Government is at present encountering difficulty on the question of expenditure, the Press of all shades of policy crying out against commitments of all kinds and any proposal which promises to reduce naval outlay is not unlikely to receive his hearty welcome. Meanwhile Premier Meighen, who in preparing his position on the various questions to come before the Conference with great care, is having the utmost difficulty in avoiding engagements of all kinds.

Representing as he does the Senior Dominion at the Conference, he is naturally the center of considerable attention. This being increased by a suspicion already being voiced in the press that his attitude in the Conference is likely run counter to that of some of the other Dominions.

URGED HOME RULE ACT AMENDMENT

Members Of House Of Lords Advise Premier To Place Cards On Table

London, June 16—Strong pleas for the amendment of the Irish Home Rule Act came unexpectedly today from the House of Lords, the feature of the debate being the first speech made by Lord Buxton since he returned from South Africa where he had served as Governor General.

Incidentally Lord Buxton disclosed that he, with other peers, had explored the ground with a view to negotiations for a settlement for the Irish difficulty but he said they had arrived at the conclusion that the only practical initiative must come from the Government itself.

The debate was opened by the Earl of Donoughmore, a southern Irish Peer who, referring to the speech of Viscount Fitzalan, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, at the opening of the Ulster Parliament admitting that the Home Rule Act amendment, urged the Government to indicate plainly what amendments it was prepared to grant. He congratulated the Lord Lieutenant on his courage in advocating amendment, and denounced the Government policy of reprisals as a detestable and degrading policy. He shuddered to think what chaos would ensue in the coming winter unless the Government took the course asked.

Lord Buxton supporting the Earl of Donoughmore and citing the success of Home Rule in the Union of South Africa, said it was clear that the Irish Home Rule Act was neither a panacea nor a remedy. On the contrary, so far as the South of Ireland was concerned it was a complete failure and, in his view, the only thing was for the Premier to put on record specifically and solemnly in detail how far he was willing to go and what reservation he would make. The Premier, he declared, should put all his cards on the table.

"We have to make the Irish believe we are in earnest," said Lord Buxton. "If the Government will give the country a lead in this matter, I believe the country will go to any length to bring about peace, and that the greater length we go, the more likely we are to be successful." Viscount Bryce and others supported Lord Donoughmore, and the debate was adjourned until Tuesday next when the Government will reply.

JAMES STILLMAN VERY PARTICULAR

Wouldn't Take Stand For Fear Of Annoyance By Reporters

Poughkeepsie, N.Y., June 16—Counsel for James A. Stillman withdrew today their agreement to produce him for cross-examination June 23 at a hearing here in his divorce suit against Mrs. Anne U. Stillman. His lawyers contended that Mr. Stillman was annoyed when the date of his scheduled appearance became public last night. He felt sure, it was said, that crowds of curious persons, reporters and particularly camera men, would congregate outside the hearing were it known he was to take the stand and the prospect of being thus gazed at, he considered unpleasant.

Mrs. Stillman's attorneys were said to have insisted that the banker's Counsel agree to produce him before the plaintiff completes presentation of his side of the case and this they did. It was understood they would give a week's notice to the defense of the date on which the banker will face his wife before Referee Gleason.

James Kelly testified this afternoon it was asserted, that, in her capacity as parlor maid at the Stillman estate in the Pocantico Hills, she had handed to Mrs. Stillman several letters addressed to the banker's wife from time to time in Beauvais' handwriting.

REDUCTION BILL WAS GIVEN SECOND READING

Formidable Unemployment Insurance Balance Sheet Presented In Great Britain

London, June 16—(Can. Ass'd. Press)—In the House of Commons last night the Rt. Hon. Thomas MacNamara, Minister of Labour, presented a formidable unemployment insurance balance sheet which showed a deficit of nearly £14,000,000. Frank Hodges, the Miner leader, declared the Government could "easily find" money to keep the present payments going. The second reading of the bill, however, reducing the weekly benefits to fifteen shillings for men and twelve shillings for women, also increasing the contributions from workers and employers was carried on a division of 214 to 53.

Friendly critics of the measure object to the same payment for childless unemployed as to fathers of families.

OULETTE GUILTY

Montreal, June 16—In the Court of Sessions today before Judge Deary, J. J. Ouellette of Quebec appeared for trial on a charge of attempting to obtain goods under false pretences presenting a forged cheque for $59.50. His lordship found him guilty and will pronounce sentence later.

FRENCH MISSION IN CANADA SOON

Will Be Tendered Reception In Montreal Tomorrow Week When They Arrive

Montreal, June 16—A meeting was held this afternoon at the Dominion Government offices at the Post Office Building, for the purpose of organizing a reception in Montreal for the mission of French delegates who are coming here on the 25th instant. It was stated at the meeting that the French delegates are coming to Canada for a double mission, to inaugurate the trade train, which is to tour Canada, in order to make a travelling exhibit of French products, in the hope of increasing trade between France and Canada. The delegates are also coming to Canada for the purpose of proceeding to Ottawa to officially thank Ottawa for the part her soldiers took in the Great War and on behalf of the French Government to present to the Canadian Government the Rodin bust of Victory as a memorial of the times when the French Poilus and the Canadian soldiers fought side by side to win the victory for civilization.

This French mission, it was said, would include some of the most distinguished representatives of France, including Marshal Foyolle for the army, Admiral Charlier for the Navy and other delegates.

Arrangements are being made by the Dominion Government for the reception and extending of hospitality to the mission.

ALLIANCE IS NOT FAVORED

Poincare Says Alliance Between Great Britain And France Needs Deliberation

Paris, June 16—Raymond Poincare, former President of the Republic writing in the Revue des Deux Mondes concerning an alliance between Great Britain and France, which has been discussed in political circles for the past few weeks, says: "Such an alliance, which might have the gravest consequences at some future date, and upon which some day war or peace must hang, can only be definitely decided upon after mature reflection. Just as England would not help us in the remote contingency of our ever being aggressors against Germany, so we could not promise her eventual aid in a war which would not be strictly defensive. We have, above all to guard ourselves against any agreement which might lead us indirectly into untimely disputes with the United States."

"We are friends of Japan but England is the ally of the Mikado's Government. To-morrow a thousand questions may arise in the Pacific between the United States and Japan which would intensify racial strife."

"How far would England be drawn in by her alliance nobody can say. It is, then, our duty to preserve our liberty, so as not to be ourselves involved in entanglements."

JAPAN DECIDES TO EVACUATE SIBERIA

Riga Newspaper Says That Troops Will Move Out Of Country

Riga, June 16—A despatch from Moscow to the newspaper Novy Put, the official Bolshevik organ here, says that Japan has decided to evacuate Siberia, according to advice from M. Morin, Foreign Minister of the Far Eastern Republic at Chita.

Tokio advices in May quoted official sources as declaring Japan would evacuate Siberia but on June 2 a Tokio message carried a statement attributed to Foreign Minister Uchida to the effect that the time for the evacuation had not yet arrived. Press opinion in Tokio, indeed at last advices was expressing belief that the Anti-Soviet movement at Vladivostok would be likely to postpone rather than hasten a Japanese evacuation.

HON. J. E. PERREAULT BATTONNIER GENERAL

Montreal, June 16—The Hon. J. E. Perreault, K.C., Minister of Colonization, Mines and Fisheries, in the Taschereau Cabinet, was elected Battonnier-General of the Bar of the Province at the annual meeting of the General Council of the Provincial Bar, held today in the library at the Court House, Victor Martineau, K.C., was at the same meeting re-elected general secretary.

Amongst those present at the meeting were G. W. MacDougall, Battonnier of the Bar of Montreal district, Hon. A. Gailpault and others.

AGREEMENT BY SHIPPING BOARD

Reached With Marine Engineers Embodying 15 Percent Wage Reduction

Washington, June 16—A new working agreement embodying a 15 per cent reduction in wages was ratified by the United States Shipping Board and representatives of the marine engineers today and deposited with the Secretary of Labor.

The new wage scale became effective June 14, it was announced, and will continue in effect until Dec. 31, next.

A similar agreement was reached with radio operators. It was added, and others will be negotiated with representatives of the seamen, firemen and cooks.

Owners Hold Out

New York, June 16—The American Steamship Owners' Association, representing a large percentage of privately owned United States flag tonnage, today declined to join with the United States Shipping Board in ratifying a new working agreement, embodying a 15 percent wage reduction, with striking Marine Unions. A telegram, signed by President H. H. Raymond, and addressed to Chairman Lasker, of the Board, stated that the owners were unable to alter their previously announced position; that of declining to enter into signed contracts with any sea-going Union.

In this action, Mr. Raymond said, they are joined by the Pacific American Steamship Association and the Shipowners Association of the Pacific Coast.

O.B.U. IDEA WAS REPUDIATED

Unanimously By American Federation Of Labor At Denver Yesterday

Denver, June 16—The American Federation of Labor today, unanimously repudiated the "One Big Union" idea.

Without discussion the 41st Annual Convention of the Federation sustained the action of its committee on organization in non-concurring on a resolution calling for one body of workers "through amalgamations, federations and protective agreements".

Another resolution urged steps be taken to have the Government abolish this unlawful organization known as the Kuklux Klan, or "White Caps" and that the Federation use its best endeavors to protect organized labor as represented by the "colored workers".

Reports that President John L. Lewis, of the United Mine Workers would announce his candidacy for the Presidency of the Federation, in opposition to Mr. Gompers within the next few days could not be confirmed to-night.

The miner's leader declined to make any statement. Representatives of several unions supporting Lewis claim that a canvass of delegates show that Lewis is assured of from 14,000 to 22,000 votes in the convention of more than 35,000 votes in the convention.

THE TRIALS OF A HOUSEWIFE

How They Have Been Endured and How Overcome by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Experience of a Providence Woman

Providence, R. I.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a female trouble and backache. It began just after my baby was born, and I did the best I could about getting my work done, but I had awful bearing-down pains so I could not stand on my feet. I read in the papers about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and the good it was doing other women, and I have got dandy results from it and will always recommend it. You can use these facts as a testimonial if you wish."—Mrs. HENRY L. CASSEN, 18 Meni Court, Providence, R. I.

Ohio woman for three years could hardly keep about and do her housework she was sick. Made well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound: Fayette, O.—"For about three years I was very nervous and had backache, sideache, dragging-down pains, could not sleep at night, and had no appetite. At times I could hardly do my housework. I got medicine from the doctor but it did not help me. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in a newspaper and took it with good results, and am now able to do my housework. I recommend your medicine to my friends and you may publish my testimonial."—Mrs. CHESTER A. BALL, R. 15, Fayette, Ohio.

An Illinois woman relates her experience: Bloomington, Ill.—"I was never very strong and female trouble kept me so weak I had no interest in my housework. I had such a backache I could not cook a meal or sweep a room without raging with pain. Robbing my back with alcohol sometimes eased the pain for a few hours, but did not stop it. I heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and six bottles of it have made me as strong and healthy as any woman; and I give my thanks to it for my health."—Mrs. J. A. McQUITY, 610 W. Walnut St., Bloomington, Ill.

The conditions described by Mrs. Cassen, Mrs. Ball, and Mrs. McQuitty will appeal to many women who struggle on with their daily tasks in just such conditions—in fact, it is said that the tragedy in the lives of some women is almost beyond belief. Day in and day out they slave in their homes for their families—and beside the daily routine of housework, often make clothes for themselves and for their children, or work in their gardens, all the while suffering from those awful bearing-down pains, backache, headaches, nervousness, the blues, and troubles which sap the very foundation of life until there comes a time when nature gives out and an operation seems inevitable. If such women would only profit by the experience of these three women, and remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the natural restorative for such conditions it may save them years of suffering and unhappiness.

There is hardly a neighborhood in any town or hamlet in the United States wherein some woman does not reside who has been restored to health by this famous medicine. Therefore ask your neighbor, and you will find in a great many cases that at some time or other she, too, has been benefited by taking it, and will recommend it to you. For more than forty years this old-fashioned root and herb medicine has been restoring suffering women to health and strength.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women" will be sent to you free upon request. Write to The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts. This book contains valuable information.

STURDY MEN OF NORTHERN ZONE

Life Story Of One Who Was Born There—Sincere Regard For Virtues

During the four seasons of the year I had lived with and observed the men of the northern wilderness; and not only had I learned to like and respect them, but to admire their generosity and honesty, their simplicity and skill, their gentleness and prowess; and, above all, to honor their spiritual attitude toward this world and the next. How different they were from the city dwellers' conception of them! But still you may want further proof. You may want first-hand knowledge of those northern men. You may want to study their minds, and to look into their hearts. Then, may I ask you to read the following letter, written a few years ago by an old Canadian woodsman—A. B. Carleton—who was born and bred in the northern wilderness? Then you may become better acquainted with at least one of the men I have been trying to picture to you.

Bluffs and Bays His Home.

"I was born in the heart of the northern forest, and in my wanderings my feet have even gone most willingly back toward the pine-covered hills and the grassy glades that slope down to cool, deep waters. The wanderer-just has carried me far, but the lakes and waterfalls, the cliffs and the bays of the great northern No-man's Land are my home, and with Mukwa the bear, Mahengin the wolf, Washgish the red deer and Ah-Meek the beaver I have much consorted, and have found their company quite to my liking.

"But the fates have so dealt with me that for two years I have not been able to see the smile of spring-time breaking forth upon the rugged face of my northern No-man's Land. I have had glimpses of it merely among crowded houses, out of hospital windows. Still, my mind is native to the forest, and my thoughts and fancies, breaking captivity, go back like the free wild things they are, on bright days of springtime to the wild land where the change of season means what it never can mean in the town.

"What does spring mean to you town folk, anyway? I will tell you. It means lighter clothing, dust instead of sleet, the transfer of your patronage from fuel man to ice man, a few days of slushy streets and baseball instead of hockey.

Meaning To Woodsman.

"What does it mean to the man of the woods? That I will try to tell. It means that the deep snow which has mantled hills and valley for five months has melted into brooks and rivulets which are plunging in gaud splashing away to find the ocean from when they came. It means that the thick ice, which throughout the long winter has imprisoned the waters of the lakes, is now broken, and the waves, incited by the south wind, are wreaking vengeance by beating it upon the rocks of the northern shore until, subdued and melted, it returns to be a mere part of the waves again. Instead of the hungry winter howl of the wolf or the whining snarl of the sneaking lynx the air is now filled with happy sounds: ducks are quacking, geese are honking, waders are cackling as they fly northward, squirrels among the spruce trees chatter noisily; on sandy ridges woodchucks whistle excitedly; back deep in the birch thicket partridges are drumming, and all the woodland is musical with the song of birds.

"The trees, through whose bare branches the wind all winter has whistled and shrieked, are now sending forth leaves of tender green, and the voice of the wind caressing them is softened to a tone as musical as the song of birds. Flowers are springing up, not in the rigid rows or precise squares or a mechanically inclined horticulturist, but surprising one by elbowing themselves out of the narrowest crevices, or peeping bashfully out from behind fallen trees, or clinging almost upside down to the side of an overhanging cliff.

An Attractive Deformity

"My camp on Rainy lake faces the south and in front is a little stunted black ash tree, so dwarfed, gnarled, twisted and homely that it is almost pretty. I refrained from cutting it down because of its attractive deformity. In the springtime, a few years ago, a pair of robins chose it as their nesting place. One bright Sunday morning as the nest was in course of construction, I was sitting in my doorway watching the pair. The brisk little husband was hurrying toward the nest with a bit of moss; but the mild sun, the crisp air, the sweet breathing earth, the gently whispering trees, seemed to make him so very happy he could not but tell of it. Alighting on a twig he dropped the moss, opened his beak, and poured forth in song the joy of his little body could no longer contain. That is the joy of a northern No-man's Land in the month of May.

"We are so happy in our woodland here that we wish everyone might share it with us. But perhaps some would not enjoy what we enjoy or see what we see, and some are prevented from coming by the duties of other callings, and each must follow the pathway his feet are most fitted to tread. For myself, I only want my little log cabin with the

WISHES SHE HAD TAKEN IT SOONER

Mrs. Annabel Carson Says Tanlac Would Have Saved Her A World Of Suffering

"Since Tanlac has made me so well and happy I wish I had taken it long ago, for it would have saved me an awful lot of suffering," said Mrs. Annabel Carson, 56 Blain Lane, Sherbrooke, P. Q., recently.

"For many years I suffered awfully from nervous indigestion. What little I forced myself to eat just bloated me up, causing my heart to palpitate until at times it seemed that I simply could not stand it. The least bit of housework would leave me completely exhausted, and I didn't even have strength enough to sweep the floor. I was so nervous I couldn't even stand the noise of children playing about the house, and nights I could scarcely sleep any.

"Hearing Tanlac praised so highly I got a bottle and it certainly was a lucky day for me when I did. I'm eating just anything I want now, and my digestion seems to be perfect. I've been built up until I feel so well and strong my housework is easy. Why, I can bear down on the broom and just make the dust fly. What Tanlac has done for me is one of the most wonderful things that have happened to me in my life."

wild vines climbing over its walls and clinging to the mud-chinked crevices, where I can hear the songs of wild birds, mingled with the sleep hum of bees moving from blossom to blossom about the doorway, where I can see the timid red deer as peeping out of the brush it hesitates between the fear of man and the temptation of the white clover growing in front of my home, and where I can watch the endless procession of waves following each other up the bay. Give the necessity of working for my daily bread so that I will not feel as though I were a useless cumber upon the earth; allow me an opportunity now and then of doing a kindly act, even if it be no more than restoring to the shelter of its mother's breast a fledgling that has fallen from its nest in a tree top. If I may have these I will be happy, and happier still if I could know that when the times comes for me to travel the trail, the sands of which show no imprint of returning footsteps, I might be put to rest on the southern slope of the ridge beside my camp, where the sunshine chases the shadows around the birch tree where the murmur of the waves comes in rhythm to the robin's song and where the red deer play on moonlight night.

Nothing to Fear

"Neither will I fear the snows of winter that come drifting over the bay, driven by the wind that whines through the naked tree tops, nor the howl of the hungry wolf, for what had no terror for me in life need not be a terror afterward. And if the lessons that I learned at my mother's knee be true, if there be that within me that lives on, I am sure that it will be happier in its eternal home if it may look back and know that the body which I had tried to guide through its long rest in the spot it loved best.

Did you never meet a character like that in northern fiction? No, of course, not; how could you? When the books were written by city-dwelling men. Then, too, is not any production of the creative arts—a poem, a story, a play, a painting, or a statue—but a reflection of the composer's soul? So... when you read a book filled with inhuman characters, you have taken the measure of the man who wrote it, you have seen a reflection of the author's soul. Furthermore, when people exclaim: "What's the matter with the movies?" the answer is: Nothing... save that the screens too often reflect the degenerate souls of the movie directors.

RUSE THAT SUCCEEDED.

Two boys were fishing on a certain estate, when suddenly a gamekeeper started out suddenly from behind a hedge. The boys started to run.

They took different directions, but the gamekeeper followed the one who shouted and seemed most frightened.

After a long pursuit the boy was captured.

"You've been fishing without a permit," said the keeper.

To his amazement the boy produced a permit. The gamekeeper looked at it, and found it in order.

"Why on earth did you run away?" he said, angrily.

"To let the other boy get clear; he hasn't got a permit," was the reply.

ELECTRICIANS LISTENED TO ILLUSTRATED LECTURE AT EMPIRE THEATRE YESTERDAY

Convention Lunch Held At Chateau—Premier Taschereau To Have Delivered Address But Failed To Put In Appearance—Delegates Took Boat Trip Around Harbor

The Canadian Electric Association in Convention here, commenced its second day meeting yesterday morning at 9 o'clock in the Empire Theatre when papers were read, illustrated by lantern slides, which were both educational and interesting.

The first paper read with lantern slides illustrated was by Mr. W. B. Cartmel, of the Northern Electric Co., Montreal, who treated the subject of "Electricity" and also carried out experiments with an X-ray tube, Mr. Cartmel, who is transmission engineer with his company, said modern science tells us that electricity consists of minute particles called electrons, and that the atoms of all substances are made up of these particles.

Now that we know that the atoms of a substance are made up of particles of electricity, it is easy to understand why frictional electricity was known to the ancients; how by rubbing a piece of amber, it became electrified, in other words, electrons were detached from the atoms and the amber became electrically charged and would pick up light objects, the excess of electrons on the amber constituting a charge of negative electricity.

Experiments with an X-ray tube were also shown. A very high voltage produced by an X-ray machine, caused electrons to jump from the negative electrode or cathode, to the target. Impinging on the target with an enormous velocity they set the ether into vibration in a vibration of short waves (about 1-10,000 the wave length of ordinary light) are emitted. These are called X-rays. This is precisely similar to the production of electric waves in the antenna of a wireless set, where the electrons are rushing up and down the antenna as a current of electricity, set the ether in vibration. In this case, however, the wave length of the vibrations is enormously longer than the wave lengths of ordinary light.

Another point touched on by the lecturer was the production of electrons by radium and similar substances. This is a point of peculiar interest to Canadians, because it was discovered by a professor at McGill University, who has come to be recognized as one of the world's most eminent scientists. Sir Ernest Rutherford, formerly Macdonald Professor of Physics in McGill University has succeeded Sir J. J. Thomson as Cavendish Professor of Experimental Physics at Cambridge University and Professor of Natural Philosophy of the Royal Institution. Although born in New Zealand, he is usually known as a Canadian because he became famous while a professor at McGill University. He discovered that radium emits (1) alpha particles, which are the nuclei of the atoms of helium gas, (2) beta particles, now known as electrons, (3) gamma rays which are a kind of light similar to X-rays, differing, however, in having a wave length about one hundredth that of X-rays, or millionth that of ordinary light.

Another radio active substance similar to radium, called uranium, is made up of atoms which are heavier than the atoms of any other known substance. This substance emits particles of helium gas and electrons (or alpha and beta particles), to give them the same names as originally given by Rutherford. The atoms lose their weight, of course, in this process, and the uranium becomes radium, a substance having a lighter atom, similarly radium changes into lead, a substance whose atoms are lighter than those of radium.

The lecturer also touched on Rutherford's nuclear atom theory, according to which the nucleus of the atom of any substance consists of a very minute positively charged speck at the center of the atom. This theory was developed by Professor Rutherford from the results of experiments by one of his pupils, who bombarded gold leaf and thin sheets of other metals with alpha particles. From the results of these experiments and from C. T. N. Wilson's photographs of the trails of alpha particles through the air, Rutherford was led to the conception of his nuclear atom theory. Lantern slides and from them it could easily be seen how the alpha particles would shoot right through millions of atoms of air before finally, by chance, coming close enough to a minute central nucleus to collide with it, in which case the alpha particle would be deviated from its path.

The experiments of a young English scientist named Moseley, who, sad to relate, was shot to death in the trenches in the summer of 1915 at the age of twenty-seven, were also touched upon. Moseley experimented with X-rays obtained from different substances by allowing them to be attracted by the molecules of a crystal. He obtained what are known as X-ray spectra. The results of his experiments went to show that we could arrange the chemical elements in a table as was done by Mendeleeff many years ago, and that each element in the table differed from the one preceding it by having one more electron in its atom. Thus, hydrogen has one electron rotating around a central nucleus, helium has two, lithium three and so on up to uranium, the element of highest atomic weight known, which has ninety-two electrons around its nucleus.

PREMIER BRIAND WAS SARCASTIC

Could Not Add Ex-Kaiser To War Criminals Without Inconvenience

Paris, June 16—Senator Duplantier in the Senate this afternoon, with Premier Briand attending the session renewed his demand of Tuesday to know "What measures the French Government intends to take concerning the execution of the Treaty of Versailles relative to bringing William Hohenzollern, ex-Kaiser of Germany, to trial for his crimes against humanity."

The Senator today asked for immediate discussion of his interpellation. Premier Briand argued that it might be advisable to await to see what action the Leipzig Court, which is trying war criminals, takes and what verdicts it reaches in cases submitted to it for trial by France. Up to the present, the Premier added, the cases decided by the courts have been exclusively on British and Belgian demands.

"As far as the Kaiser is concerned," M. Briand continued, "the Senate doubtless will rule" that two years after the Armistice we cannot join his case with the others now being tried at Leipzig without some slight inconvenience.

There was a touch of sarcasm in the voice of the Premier as he spoke. Later the Senate voted to postpone discussion of Mr. Duplantier's interpellation and ordered that it be entered in its regular turn on the order of the day.

ASKS TERMS OF NEW ASSOCIATION

Magazine Editor In New York Makes Public Letter Written To Harding

New York, June 16—Hamilton Holt magazine editor who headed the delegation of pro-league Republicans that called on former President Wilson during the last presidential campaign today made public a letter he had written President Harding asking him to explain to the American people the terms of the Harding Association proposed to supplant the Wilson League.

"If you delay much further, people everywhere will inevitably conclude that you have no concrete plan at all, or else that you propose to put party harmony above world welfare," declared Mr. Holt.

"You have not yet given the American people the slightest inkling of the terms of this Harding Association that you propose shall supplant the Wilson League," the letter continued. "Has not the time come, I respectfully ask, for you to do this?"

"Surely you cannot expect the forty eight members of the present league to scrap it and come into your association unless two things are perfectly clear:

"1st—That the new association is substantially as good as or better than the existing league; and "2nd—That this time a proposal of a president of the United States will have the permanent and overwhelming support of the American people."

PUBLIC OPINION STANDS BEHIND ADMIRAL SIMS Washington, June 16—A new factor has entered the lists on behalf of Admiral Sims and, as a result, belief grows here that he will either not be punished for his famous "jacking up" of the returns, or merely be given a formal reprimand which will be lenient.

Great numbers of letters are pouring into Congress from different States; the greater number of which are reported by Congressmen to be favorable to Sims. Some letters from the Middle West are even declared for Sims for president in 1924. This flood of letters will make it difficult, it is believed here, for Secretary Denby not to take any severe action.

Yesterday afternoon the business of the Convention was continued when reports were read and adopted from the Accident Prevention Committee, Membership Committee, and from representatives of the Canadian Engineering Students' Association.

BLAZING WAY THROUGH FOREST

Rev. Dr. Chown Spoke On Subject Of Church Union Yesterday

Whitby, Ont., June 16—"No such adventure has ever been essayed before in the history of the world," said Rev. Dr. S. D. Chown, General Superintendent of the Methodist Church in Canada on the subject of Church Union, in an address at the Bay of Quinte Methodist Conference here today. "We are blazing the way through a pathless forest," he continued. "For this reason we want to know very definitely and without any confusion, the direction in which we are going, and to have a clear conception of the goal toward which we strive. We cannot take the next step safely without knowing the ground on which we now stand and the direction in which that step will lead us."

Dr. Chown said the Methodists recognized that it would be a peculiarly difficult experiment fitting three great churches of diverse history, practices, and temperament into a great organization for the promotion of the Kingdom of God in Canada. The work of union, he said, should be done at once, but with reasonable haste. It was possible, he said, that as they came into closer grip with the problem they might have grievous disappointments, but he trusted that there would be more glad surprises.

Declaring that the churches must assume that they were unitedly moving toward organic union, not mere cooperation, Dr. Chown said that "circumspection and calm deliberation" must not be allowed to block the way to a successful issue.

"We must not assume that the expression 'as expeditiously as possible' means, as some would interpret it, 'as slowly as possible,'" Dr. Chown said, referring to the union resolution passed by the Presbyterian General Assembly.

OMSK CAPTURED BY ANTI-REDS

Semi Official Advice From Siberia In Tokio Claim Confirmation

Tokio, June 16—Semi-official advice from Siberia claim confirmation has been obtained of the capture of Omsk by anti-Bolshevik forces in the latter part of May. Later they advanced in the direction of Ekaterinburg, the advice state.

Anti-Bolshevik upheavals, according to these advices, are occurring in Novo Nikolievsk, to the east of Omsk and in Shelbinsk, south of Ekaterinburg.

Growing discontent and a scarcity of provisions in Chita, capital of the Far Eastern Republic is said to be causing rioting and rifle firing mightily.

General Semenov, the former anti-Bolshevik leader, is variously reported to be in the Amur region, in Grodekovsk, which is in the coast province of Siberia and back on the Steamer Yodo Maru on which he went to Vladivostok, where he was refused permission to land.

A Copenhagen despatch of May 18 said that advices had been received from counter-revolutionary sources to effect that Omsk had been captured and that the counter-revolutionary General Billov, with 40,000 men, was marching on Tomsk to the east of Omsk.

WILL FIGHT THE INSURRECTION

Lloyd George Resolved To Move Salary Vote Himself If Necessary

London, June 16—Premier Lloyd George is fully determined to fight the insurrection engineered within the Coalition ranks by Unionist Members who intend voting against the salary of Right Hon. Dr. Christopher Addison former Minister of Health, who is now Minister without Portfolio, as a general protest against spending money before it is voted by Parliament.

CALGARIANS MADE SCRIBES WELCOME

Weekly Editors Reach Growing Western City On Their Homeward Way

Calgary, June 16.—When the C.P.R. special train drew up at the platform in Calgary, bearing the delegates of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association Convention, which was held in Vancouver, a very large and enthusiastic group of friendly newspapermen and citizens greeted them. The enthusiasm was unobdurate and, despite the whirl of gaiety experienced since leaving Vancouver at Field, Lake Louise and Banff, the showed no weariness but just entered into further festivities provided for them by the good citizens of Calgary, the fast growing city of the West. They simply took the City by storm. Acting Mayor, John W. Huggill was on hand to extend the welcome at the depot and representatives of the city and the Women's Press Club. Entertainment last evening included a ride on a scenic car, others enjoying the theatres as a diversion. Through the generosity of the C.P.R. and the genial manager of the Palliser Hotel, the beautiful ball room of this renowned hostelry was placed at the sole disposal of the visitors. The orchestra played for dancing until midnight and needless to say it was thoroughly enjoyed. In the opinion of the higher officials of the Association nothing has been omitted to make the delegates enjoy themselves and the hospitality of the greatest transportation company in the world has been at Lloyds. Too much praise cannot be bestowed upon the railway officials accompanying the train, and the attention to the wants of the slightest detail of any one member of the party.

Through Mr. A. B. Calder, the representative of Mr. E. W. Beatty, President of the C.P.R., the delegates extend their sincerest appreciation to the wonderful courtesy extended to them and for the enjoyable entertainments provided, to say nothing of the surprises which greeted them while travelling across the prairies.

To-day the delegates were hospitably entertained by the Board of Trade, enjoying a delightful drive through the city and providing a luncheon at the Plaza, which was presided over by Mayor Adams. After the toast of The King, Mayor Adams proposed the Toast of "Our Guests" which was responded to by Mr. W. R. Davies, of the Renfrew Mercury who made a glowing tribute to Western Canada, and expressed the hope that the East would become better cemented with the West. He believed that in the future, now that they appreciated the West better than ever, they would put their heel on that serpent of radical propaganda, whenever it showed its head. Mr. A. E. Calnan, of Picton Gazette paid a tribute to Mr. Roy Sales, the Manager of the Association, and asked Mr. Cowie to make a little presentation to Mr. Sales, showing their great appreciation of his work since his appointment.

Mr. E. L. Cowie, Carberry, Man., then asked Mr. Sales to receive a very handsome bag to which Mr. Sales suitably responded. Subsequently thanks were returned to the Mayor of Calgary, the Board of Trade and the citizens of Calgary for their kindnesses on behalf of the delegates by the Rev. A. H. More, St. John's News, Que., and Mr. A. R. Brennan, Vice-President and proprietor of the Summerside Journal, R.E.I.

The Women's Press Club provided afternoon tea at the Hudson's Bay store and at five o'clock the party left enroute for Regina where a brief stop will be made on the way to their Eastern homes. Many thanks are due to Mr. W. J. Huntingford of Wainwright, who was responsible for the Calgary arrangements.

WON'T PASS ANY LEGISLATION

Government Will Have To Repeal Certain Clause To Satisfy Premier Drury

Toronto, June 16—Premier E. C. Drury stated today that there was no possibility of the Ontario Legislature passing concurrent legislation on the Lake of the Woods matter along the lines laid down in the bill he introduced last week unless the Federal Government altered the Lake of the Woods control bill at the next session of Parliament.

"Nothing less than the repeal of the last clause of the Ottawa bill will satisfy me" he said. The clause referred to declares that, even if concurrent legislation shaped by the Ontario Legislature as originally planned control works on the waters of the Lake of the Woods and the Winnipeg and English rivers will be continue to be regarded as works for the general advantage of Canada and still controlled by the Federal Government.

Premier Drury claimed that there could be no value to this Province in passing such legislation.

However, he expressed a hope that the Dominion Parliament met before or during the next session of the Ontario Legislature and opportunity would be offered for Provincial and Federal authorities to get together on the question.

DUBLIN CITIZENS WERE TERRIFIED

Intensity Of Rifle And Machine-Gun Fire Recalled 1916 Easter Rebellion

Dublin, June 16—The residents of Central Dublin were terrified last night by fusillades of shots beginning soon after the curfew hour and continuing at intervals of half an hour. The intensity of the revolver, rifle and machine gun firing recalled that of the Easter rebellion of 1916. Connelly, Westmoreland and D'oller Streets were swept by bullets. Searchlights played from Dublin Castle on the area. No information could be obtained at headquarters concerning the cause of the shooting but a semi-official statement said that civilians fired at sentries over the ruins of the burned Custom House and the fire was returned at headquarters. Bombs were thrown and revolver shots fired at a troop train near the Drummondra station in Dublin this morning, three soldiers being wounded, one seriously. An auxiliary patrol was ambushed this morning at the north wall quay. One of the attackers was captured with a bomb and a revolver in his possession. There were no casualties.

Robert Healey, a soldier, who recently was demobilized was found shot dead today at Ballynary. While going to his home from Court where he had given testimony in a case of attempted robbery, J. H. MacMahon was fired at and wounded. Two men died the shooting. MacMahon was taken to a hospital in a critical condition. A bank official was held up today on North Quay by armed men and robbed of £65.

The Carnegie Library on Castle Island was set on fire today and destroyed. The night mail train from Belfast to Dublin was held up at Dilytown by one hundred armed men. Two cars containing boxes of merchandise were destroyed and the mails were taken. Robert Kane, tried by court martial for having in his possession five cartridges and caps and bullets, was sentenced today to ten years penal servitude. Patrick O'Donnell was sentenced to fifteen years for having two hundred rounds of ammunition.

MURDER LIST

London, June 16—Murders by rebels in Ireland since July, 1920, have totalled 568, Sir Hamar Greenwood, Chief Secretary for Ireland said in the House of Commons today. The number of Crown forces convicted for murder in the same period, he added, was: The military none, the Royal Irish Constabulary one, and the police auxiliaries one, the latter man being found to be insane.

LEMIEX CHARGES

TO BE INVESTIGATED Ottawa, Ont., June 16.—Sir George Foster, acting Prime Minister, stated tonight that steps were being taken to appoint a Royal Commission to investigate the charges made by Hon. MINISTERS REFUSED INCREASE IN STIPEND Anglican Clergy Of Diocese Of Rupert's Land Are Assembled In Synod Winnipeg, June 16—Voting to stand by their parishioners for better or worse in what they believed will be a period of after-war reaction, Anglican clergy of the diocese of Rupert's Land, assembled in Synod here today, refused to grant themselves an increase in stipend. A recommendation brought in by the commission on the Archbishop's charge, suggesting a minimum of $1,800 for a married clergyman and $1,500 for a single man, was defeated. The salary situation, it was decided, will remain as it is at present, with no set minimum. A married clergyman in the country receives about $1,500 annually. A delegation from the Methodist General Assembly was received following which the Synod voted to do all in its power from now till the General Synod session in October, to educate the people to a spirit of unity. It is asserted, are very necessary for ships which will be using the Strait of Belle Isle. Representations are being addressed to the Hon. C. C. Ballantyne, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, embodying the protests of mariners and others concerned.

QUEBEC, JUNE 17, 1921

ALIBIS ARE USELESS

When the course that matters were taking in regard to the liquor situation was first disclosed by the Chronicle we warned the Federal Government that, if there was any possible device for accomplishing it, the Provincial Government would make it "the goat" in any difficulties of the latter's own creation and since that time, our warning has been made good again and again.

Months have passed since the Alcoholic Liquor Act became law, and a still longer period since it was first drafted, yet the city of Quebec still remains "between the Devil and the deep sea" under the circumstances it is plain that "someone has blundered" and the Taschereau Administration has consistently sought to make the public believe that that someone is the Meligen Administration—which "has nothing to do with the case"—instead of summoning up sufficient courage and candor to accept responsibility for the untoward consequences of its own deliberate and obstinately persisted in policy.

Hence the stand taken the other day by the Provincial Premier is not greatly surprising. Waited on by a delegation comprising about fifteen representatives of the Federated Trades and Labor Council, who asked that immediate steps be taken to permit the sale of beer in Quebec city, Premier Taschereau stepped ignominiously from under by stating that the matter was "in the hands of the Federal authorities"; as far as his Government was concerned, he added, it was quite evident that beer was favored since special legislation to that effect had been adopted at the last session of the Legislature. "Consequently," he suggested, "the best means of getting results is to petition the Federal authorities to call for a referendum immediately."

Surely it is superfluous to point out the dishonesty of this evasion! When there was a question of entrapping the Ottawa Administration to tamper with the law, the Provincial Government did not hesitate to organize a petition for repeal of the Scott Act by Order-in-Council. But now that Ottawa has refused to enter the trap, even though cunningly laid, Mr. Taschereau washes his hands of the whole affair and tells the workman who has been made to suffer by his devious tactics: "if you want beer, go and get it yourself! Organize your own petition for repeal by referendum! The Scott Act rests between the Federal authorities and yourself; it is no concern of mine." The workman, however, is not so easily fooled and has long since made up his mind as to who is responsible for his grievances and who is not.

Had the Provincial Premier made the statement six months ago that he made this week, the workmen would have organized the referendum long ago for themselves and, if the Alcoholic Liquor Act is really supported by local public opinion, the Scott Act would have been repealed without any need of interference or intervention from his colleagues and himself.

The Taschereau Administration has made a sorry mess of the interests of this community and no amount of alibis or white-wash can conceal that fact.

A DUBIOUS MOVE

The public generally will not be reassured as to the propriety and fair dealing of western grain traders by the attempt that has been made to block the investigation begun by a Royal Commission. Complaint has been made that the enquiry was inspired by political motives, being calculated to overthrow or discredit the Farmers' Party but, even if this be so, the action just taken by the United Grain Growers, Limited, merely plays into the hands of politicians. Those whose consciences are clear have nothing to hide and nothing could more greatly strengthen the farmers or confound their opponents than a certificate of character from a Commission of enquiry. Mr. Crerar asserts that he has nothing to conceal from any impartial tribunal but, if there was nothing unable to bear the light of day, even the most partial tribunal would fall to discover anything to his disadvantage.

The procedure of taking out an injunction to restrain the Royal Commission from prosecuting its investigations is a singular one and all the more unfortunate that the precise moment should have been chosen when the testimony brought forward appeared to indicate that there were at least prima facie grounds for the charges that some elevators have been guilty of transgressing against the rules of fair dealing. Under the circumstances, those responsible for taking out the injunction may not find it an easy matter to satisfy persons entertaining grievances that their course is a proper one.

The grounds upon which the injunction was sought are that the Order-in-Council appointing the Commission was illegal, unlawful, and void. It is also claimed that the Canada Grain Act, under which much of the grain trade is carried on, is not within the power of Parliament to pass. This challenge to the authority of the Grain Commission from the grain dealers, as the Montreal Herald points out, bears a resemblance to the defiance of the authority of the Board of Commerce over a year ago, which is still pending in the courts. Like the textile manufacturers, the grain dealers do not desire to be compelled to answer questionnaires disclosing their business transactions.

Hence there is every probability of a protracted fight in the Courts and, like the Board of Commerce case, it may have to be taken to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, for final decision, as the authority of an Order-in-Council and of certain legislation of the Dominion Parliament is questioned.

The only persons who seem likely to derive any material benefit from the dispute are the lawyers for justice hawks while it is being thrashed out and the United Farmers have not augmented their public credit, to say the least.

THE SHRINKING SKIRT

A newspaper in another Canadian city was misguided enough to take a clergyman to task in somewhat cynical strain for denouncing present feminine fashion as indecent, one of its principal arguments being that practically every woman followed these fashions and that every woman was not indecent. Retribution was not long in coming for the editor was promptly and incisively answered by a feminine correspondent with the following knockout punches:

1. Roman Catholic bishops have issued orders that no female dressed short will be tolerated in church. I have known females to be sent away from the communion for this reason, and also to be publicly rebuked in church.

2. The Social Service Council for all Canada has denounced the style of dress you call good.

3. One of the finest organizations in the U.S., composed of women, has issued a protest, and urged the suppression of a corrupt fashion.

4. It is not true that practically all women use short dress. I have counted for myself, and know where you guess.

5. Even if the majority do stress short how many will accept this as deciding right and wrong.

6. There is a frightful increase of foul living amongst girls and young women. Doctors know, business men know, the loose man on the street knows. As one young man put it, "The females give us the temptation, so they must take the consequences."

7. Have you heard men frankly giving their opinion of semi-nude females? Maybe your own females get their choice names.

8. There is a fast increasing number of unmarried men and females. I can take you to a splendid farming section and show you 300 bachelors. A lot of them with means and first-rate reputation met together where I was in January. Discussing the striking dearth of marriages they said, "While women expose themselves to every rough that want to look, and associate with men everywhere in bedroom attire, we will not risk marriage with immorality."

9. This style comes from foulest sources. The actress in moving picture shows set the fashions. A commission that investigated these shows in the U.S. stated to the Government that these actresses are paid propagators of sexual indecency.

10. The man who lets his judgment be framed by females, few or many, is debased much below common manliness. A lot of husbands and fathers do not dare to peep before wives and daughters—degraded cowards and panderers.

As to how these things may be we leave our male readers to study for themselves and, in order to assist them to a sound conclusion, suggest a course of study on the Dufferin Terrace any fine, warm summer's day. Silence, like discretion, may be the better part of valor but thought, at any rate, is free—and safe.

The Montreal Gazette remarks: "Quebec newspapers are congratulating their city on the number of trade and other conventions being or to be held there during the vacation season. The energetic steps taken by those concerned must have dissipated the effect of that mischievous rumor, current a short time ago, that the dry laws adopted by the city were to be made effective."

The point of the joke being that said "mischievous rumor" emanated from Montreal.

Some Things the Public Would Like to Know:

Pertinent Questions on Matters of General Public Interest are Invited.

What nationality the flag flown over the main entrance of the City Hall is supposed to represent?

How Ottawa can fix the date for a Scott Act referendum in this city before it has received the petition required by law, asking that such a vote be taken?

A Verse Or Two

(By Modern Poets)

LILAC

I stood in the shade 'neath the apple bough, And who should come past but Kate? And the thrush was singing: "Speak now! Speak now! Speak now! You'll be late! You'll be late!"

The pansy whispered: "Take care! Take care!" The lupin repeated: "Be bold A woman loves her lover to dare, For the cautious are ever cold!"

But the lilac was withered and tarnished and brown, And only could whisper: "Alas! You may meet her with pride or with eyes cast down, But your spring-time of love will pass."

ACCIDENT DAY

(Cleveland Plain Dealer)

One with a statistical turn of mind and time enough to consult police reports for some months past might figure out with fair accuracy how many automobile accidents will occur in Cleveland and vicinity between sunrise this morning and midnight. The number will, of course, be large. In all probability there will be some deaths, more will be injured and property damage will run into many dollars. All this has come to be a regular part of Sunday. Knowing the facts, then, why not avoid the losses. These are penalties of carelessness, in large part. Some of today's accidents will be caused by individuals who think they are in a hurry and take desperate chances. Others will be caused by people who think they can get over the crossing before someone else reaches it. Speeding will take its particular toll; skidding of cars out of control will account for a few smashes; taking bad turns at too high a speed, neglecting to signal the machine behind; in short, taking hazardous chances of one kind or another is what gives Sunday its character as accident day. The recipe for an accidentless Sunday is simplicity itself. Be careful; that's all.

Glancing across at Mr. Bull, who is smiling broadly, Uncle Sam asks: "What on earth do you serve 'em at those banquets?" We've solved it. Admiral Sims and Col. Harvey must have inhaled some of the gas invented by the Toronto doctor which makes people tell the truth.

OWNERSHIP OF MACHINE GUNS

Still Subject Of Investigation By United States Government Officials

New York, June 16—Ownership of the 496 machine guns and the hundreds of spare parts seized yesterday by Customs and presumed to have been destined for Ireland, is still a subject of investigation by Government officials, the guns, through the agency of a Federal warrant of detention, were restored today to the possession of Customs officials from whom they were taken on a search and seizure warrant by the Hoboken police.

A hearing set for today was intended to bring out the story of how they came to be on board the ship and to establish the claim of Frank Williams that they were stolen from his warehouse, but the hearing was declared off after the Federal writ had been served.

Custom officials said they would take the arms from Hoboken police headquarters to a customs storehouse to-morrow and there hold them until the mystery surrounding their discovery is solved.

Federal agents are working on several angles of the case, including an attempt to trace them from the factory in which they were manufactured. They are also questioning present and former members of the crew.

The enquiry will extend to Norfolk, to which port the ship cleared after leaving New York last night.

Mr. Williams, through his attorney, is also conducting an investigation to determine the identity of the parties who stole the guns from his warehouse. He is also concerned regarding the whereabouts of 105 additional machines, which he said were stolen at the same time and have not yet been found. Mr. Williams, according to City attorney Fallon of Hoboken, is a contractor with an office on Broadway, New York. Advice from Hartford, where the arms were manufactured, stated that they were made for the Auto Ordnance Company of New York and shipped in the usual way. At the office of that company here, knowledge of their sale to Frank Williams was disclaimed. The type of gun seized, an official of the company said, is known as the Thompson sub-machine gun and is sold through jobbers in small lots.

When the case was called for hearing today, Government attorneys asked for a postponement of a week which was opposed by Mr. Fallon. The Government officials based their right of possession on a section of the Espionage Act of 1917, authorizing seizure of arms believed to be intended for illegal export.

Advice from Washington were that this act was still in force, although an amendment to it was repealed in 1919.

TARIFF REDUCTION MOTION REJECTED

West Australian Member Wanted Lower Duty On Agricultural Machines

Vancouver, B.C., June 16—A special despatch to the Sun from Melbourne says:

The Federal House of Representatives on Wednesday rejected an amendment moved by Mr. Gregory, a West Australian member, reducing the tariff of agricultural machinery. Mr. Gregory asserted that Australian manufacturers had prospered under the previous tariff. The wages of Canadian machinery workers were better, he declared, than those of similar workers in Australia, yet Canadian farmers paid only half the Australian prices for farming implements.

"Massey Greene, the Minister of Customs, replying said that local factories were compelled to close down owing to the competition of American manufacturers who marketed goods based on Australian models. "A deputation today informed the Minister of Customs that American manufacturers were involving automobiles bodies at 11 pounds sterling each, adding an extra value to the cost of the chassis. This, the deputation asserted, was compelling importers to take whole cars, thus preventing the employment of Australian body builders.

"Massey Greene replied that he did not expect that an additional 10 pounds duty would prove an effective deterrent. Antidumping legislation, in his opinion, would not meet the position. He could see no effective remedy except prohibition."

ARTHUR ECREMENT AGAIN ARRESTED

Wire Tapping Scheme Brought To Fore Once More Regarding Ex-M.P.

Montreal, June 16—Arthur Ecrement, ex-M. P. for Berthier, was again arrested last night on a warrant signed by Judge Choquet at the request of the Buffalo authorities, who asked for his detention in connection with the horse racing case wherein Michael Connelly, Montreal contractor, claims to have been swindled out of the sum of $125,000 by a wire tapping scheme. It is understood that he will fight extradition. Mr. Ecrement has already been acquitted twice on charges arising out of the Connelly case once in Buffalo and once in Montreal.

Judge Choquet postponed decision on the extradition application for two days in order that fuller information may be obtained on the facts of the case.

NO PARTICIPATION BY THE U.S. GOVERNMENT Will Not Deliberate In Council Of League Of Nations At Geneva. WASHINGTON, June 16—The U.S. Government it was learned today does not contemplate participation in the deliberations of the council of the League of Nations which convened today at Geneva for consideration of problems arising out of the allocation of mandates. A suggestion that the United States be represented was made by the President of the Council after the United States had protested against the award of mandates without its consent. The French Government in replying to a protest from Secretary Hughes regarding the Japanese mandate for the Island of Yap said that it would undertake to bring that question before the council but since the United States and Japan have undertaken a settlement by direct negotiation of this and other matters at issue between the two countries consideration of the Yap matter by the council is regarded here as unnecessary. LECTURE WAS WELL ATTENDED

Rev. Father Griffin Spoke To Large Audience On Subject Of Ireland

The lecture on "Ireland To-day" delivered in St. Patrick's School Hall last evening by the Rev. Father Griffin, of Plymouth, N.H., was attended by a large and representative number of Irish citizens of Quebec, who listened attentively to and frequently applauded the remarks of the Reverend lecturer, who made an eloquent and earnest plea for Ireland's right to be classed among the nations of the world.

Mr. M. Monaghan, President of the local branch of the Irish Self-Determination League, presided, and among others on the platform was the Hon. John C. Kaine. The meeting opened by Mr. Fecteau singing "O Canada."

The Chairman in introducing the Rev. Father Griffin, dwelt upon the great services he had rendered in the United States for the cause of Ireland, and also referred to the interview as published in certain papers regarding the remarks of the Hon. Dr. Pelletier, Commissioner for the Province at Paris, who recently returned to this country, and who in the course of the interview was quoted as having referred to the trouble at present existing in Ireland.

Mr. Monaghan said that he felt quite at home amongst his audience as his father had been born in Valcartier near-by this city. He had come purely on a visit here, and had no idea that he would be called upon to address an assemblage of Irish people, but since his arrival here he had met Mr. Monaghan, and had acceded to his request to do so.

Turning to his subject, Father Griffin said that the cause of Ireland was a righteous one. Ireland is a nation, and as such set up her own Parliament. The President of the Irish Republic, E. de Valera is the greatest statesman in the world to-day, and is sincere in his statesmanship.

The speaker, continuing said that he had had the great pleasure of meeting Mrs. Terence McSwenny, that noble little wife of the late Lord Mayor of Cork, who had encouraged her husband during his seventy-two days' detention, to battle to the end. He had also met Miss McSwenny, the sister of the Lord Mayor, both of whom had done wonders for the Irish cause among the people of the States.

Referring to the latter he said that it certainly was not consistent on the part of a "free nation" to turn its back. The men who were leading Ireland in the fight for freedom were the scholars of the world to-day. Amongst those who had been foremost in the United States, for the cause of Ireland was Father McGuinness, President of the American Association for the Recognition of the Irish Republic, who later received his reward by his attainment to the position of Superior of the Carmelites all over the world.

The ideals of these men and women were to have the status of Ireland recognized as one of the nations of the world. An attempt was being made to exterminate the people of Ireland, but this would never succeed. The relief sent by the people of the United States would save the Irish people from being exterminated. Ireland is lost to England, with whom it was now a question of reconquering, which is a difficult task when confronted, as she was by a united nation, Ireland was carrying on a guerrilla warfare, which from its nature was bound to be successful. The Irish Republican Army now numbered 200,000 which had the entire nation of Ireland behind it. They always attacked the British forces at a time when they least expected it.

The destruction of the Custom House in Dublin was one of its successes. This building was not used as a Custom House but by the English Administration to carry on the work of Dublin Castle. The spirit of Ireland was unconquerable and invincible, the people were one, and what we had to do here was to keep them from being starved. It had been stated that England had offered Ireland Dominion Home Rule. This was only propaganda sent out to enable the English Government to carry out all the better their work of destruction and devastation and this propaganda could not be taken seriously until the British officials meet the Irish Republican Government officials and discuss the subject. Referring to the elections in Ulster the speaker said the Unionists succeeded in gaining only twenty-two seats and the majority of these were from the city of Belfast, which went to prove that all Ireland was entirely for a Republic, with the exception of a very small part of Ulster. There was no religious issue, he declared, in the long struggle, in which there had been only two Catholic leaders. In the United States they, the friends of Ireland, were endeavoring to secure official recognition for the republic. This was a "work of works." The Senators and Congressmen will be flooded with letters and telegrams, urging this recognition, and by keeping this up the Republic will be a fact.

In this claim of Ireland to the right of nationhood, it had been argued by England that on account of its geographical position it was necessary to her defense, but if that was so why did not England occupy France, as that country was nearer to her than Ireland. For over 750 years the struggle for freedom had been going on, and it was only by

OLD QUEBECER RETURNS HOME

Mr. Dinning Visiting City For Short While — Formerly Prominent Shipbuilder

Mr. Austen Dinning, and his brother, Mr. Ernest Dinning, sons of the late Henry Dinning, in his lifetime one of Quebec's prominent citizens and shipbuilders, arrived by automobile from Baltimore, Md., accompanied by Mrs. Ernest Dinning, and the Messrs Dinning and party composed of eleven persons, on Wednesday forenoon and registered at the Chateau Frontenac, Messrs. Austen and Ernest Dinning who are now residents of Baltimore moved all the way to visit their native city. On the same day of their arrival they proceeded to the Mount Hermon Cemetery to visit the graves of their parents. The former Quebecers who look in the best of health and spirits, came to the city of their birth unharmed, consequently most very few of their early boyhood days, naturally they were struck with the many changes that have taken place in the old city since they left it, and especially at the disappearance of the old friends who have passed away, and school day companions who have in a majority of cases like themselves, domiciliated in other cities of Canada or the United States. They could not, however, but appreciate the many improvements that have taken place, the expansion of the city, its growth in population and in industrial wealth. They missed, however, the good old days of shipping when the harbor was a busy scene with the arrival and departure of ocean vessels in comparison to the present dearth in this respect, as well as an aspect they did not anticipate.

KIWANIS CLUB WEEKLY LUNCH

Five New Members Were Accepted Yesterday — Interesting Speech Made

The usual Kiwanis Club weekly luncheon was held at the Chateau Frontenac yesterday, the speaker for the occasion being Mr. Davis, one of the delegates to the convention of the Canadian Electrical Association, who delivered a brief speech on electricity in general and the possibilities of future development of "white oil."

Electricity was subject to great development, said the speaker, but had to be well received by the people. Closer co-operation between users and companies was necessary, and any such co-operation would be for the betterment of electricity in general. More people were becoming interested in the thing, and these would be the future shareholders of the various companies.

The power in Canada was tremendous, said the speaker, while the rates were remarkably low, being from 50 to 75 percent cheaper than in the United States and in England. As regards to business development and methods were concerned, Canada was ten years ahead of these two countries.

Following the conclusion of his address, President Tanquary asked Mr. Davis to convey the good wishes of the Kiwanis Club for all possible success, and said that if the Canadian Electrical Association should come to Quebec again for their convention they would be even more warmly and heartily welcomed.

Five new members were accepted in the Club yesterday, the lucky gentlemen being Malcolm Lemieux, Alphonse H. Rondeau, Charles Fremont, Henri T. Belanger and Allan Boswell.

WOMAN MET A HORRIBLE DEATH

Mrs. J. Desrosiers Burned To Death When Her Clothing Caught Fire At Louisville

Mrs. Joseph Desrosiers, the proprietor of a hotel at Louisville, between Rimouski and Mont Joli, was burned to death yesterday morning when her clothing caught fire. The women was engaged in making soap in a large boiler over an open fire in the rear of the hotel when a sudden gust of wind stirred up the flames which ignited her skirt. As soon as the clothing caught fire the women ran towards the house screaming, and in a few moments was a mass of flames. Several persons ran to her assistance, but failed in extinguishing the burning clothing but she succumbed to her injuries about one hour later after atrocious suffering.

JOURNEYS END WITH WEDDING

Bride And Groom Newly Arrived From Manitoba And England Were Married

The arrival here last evening by the Steamer Empress of France of Miss C. M. Murchie, of New Beckenham, Kent, England, the betrothed bride of Capt. F. L. Dickinson, of Salsgarth, Man., saw the consummation of a war-time romance for the young couple were married later in the evening at St. Matthew's Church, by the Rev. A. R. Kelley, Assistant priest, in the absence of Rev. Canon Scott.

The romance started while Capt. Dickinson, who served with the 44th Winnipeg Division in France, was on leave in England in 1917. Capt. Dickinson was at the pier to greet his future bride and the couple were the guests of Mrs. F. G. Scott, the wife of Rev. Canon Scott, for tea.

The wedding took place at eight o'clock and the bride was given away by Major Gen. Sir David Watson, of the 1st Canadian Division. Capt. Dickinson's battalion was attached during the war. During the nuptial ceremony, Mrs. Scott presided at the organ. Capt. and Mrs. Dickinson will leave tomorrow for Salsgarth, Man., where they will make their home.

DELIGHTED WITH THE IMMIGRATION BUILDINGS

Lady Engaged In Immigration Work At St. John Expressed Admiration

Mrs. J. E. Owens, who is engaged in immigration work at the port of St. John, and who has been attending a Convention of the Women's Catholic League, held at Toronto, arrived in Quebec yesterday on her way back home, and paid a visit to the immigration buildings in the afternoon, and took observation of the landing and inspection of the third class passengers who arrived yesterday afternoon by the C.P.O.S. Empress of France. In an interview, Mrs. Owens expressed her admiration of the appointments of the Quebec immigration buildings, its up-to-date equipment and efficiency of the inspection. She was also delighted with the Red Cross Nursery for mothers and their children, and said she was well acquainted with the lady superintendent, Miss Gregory, who performed similar work at the port of St. John during the winter months of navigation, and who was popular for her goodness of heart, human character in general, in the interest of the good work she was performing for the comfort and happiness of immigrant mothers and their children.

FOUR JUDGMENTS IN PRACTICE COURT

There were no judgments at all in the Superior Court yesterday, and only four in the Practice Court, all of them being before Sir F. Lemieux. The judgments were as follows: Langlois vs. Lachance. Judgment for $50.00 with interest and the costs of an action of between $60.00 and $100.00.
 Blouin vs. Roy, and Martin, tiers mari. Contest of seizure stopped. Action dismissed without costs.
 Emond vs. Huot. Judgment for $150.00, with interest and costs of an action of between $1,000.00 and $1,200.00.
 Lacasse vs. Beaudoin. Judgment for $150.00, with interest and costs.

FOREST PRODUCTS EXHIBIT OAK TO BE ON VIEW HERE

A telegram was received by the Chronicle last night from Mr. Gerald Blyth, Assistant Secretary of the Canadian Forestry Association, advising that a forest products car of the Canadian Forestry Association will reach this city to-morrow and will be open to the public the following Monday, June 20th. Mr. Blyth is also endeavoring to secure a theatre in which to present motion pictures illustrating forest conservation work to local school children on Monday morning. The Exhibition car, during its stay in Quebec will be located at the Canadian Pacific Palace Station.

MR. J. B. COTE DIED THIS MORNING

The death occurred at an early hour this morning of Mr. Jean Baptiste Cote, of Maple Avenue a former St. John street grocer, at the age of 61 years. Mr. Cote who was well known throughout the City and commanded general respect was the brother of Abbe Emile Cote, of Mr. Alphonse Cote and of Mr. Edouard Cote, of the Quebec Syndicate. He was also brother-in-law of Dr. Watters, of this City.

 These mails will be closed at Quebec head-office at 1:00 P.M.
 London, June 16—(By Can. Ass'd. Press)—Stanley Machin, of the London Chamber of Commerce probably will be the Unionist candidate for the Chertsey seat, vacant through the resignation of Sir Donald MacMaster.

SMOKING CONCERT LAST EVENING

Delegates To Canadian Electrical Association Heard Some Fine Speeches

Last evening the delegates to the Canadian Electrical Association laid all business aside and enjoyed themselves to the full at a smoking concert that was given in the Chateau Frontenac, by the Electrical Co-operative Association, Province of Quebec.

Songs were sung, much smoke filled the room, and the delegates were altogether happy. Four short addresses were made, Mr. Milan R. Bump, Pres. of the National Electric Light Association, of New York; Mr. K. B. Thornton, President of the Electric Co-operative Association; Mr. W. L. Goodwin, General Manager of the Society for Electrical Development, New York, and Mr. Samuel Adams Chase, of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, of Pittsburgh, Pa., being the speakers, and they all delivered speeches on practically the same subject, the Co-operative Association recently formed, and which is as yet in its infancy, and the necessity of the goodwill of the people if the electrical companies are going to prosper, and the need of all electric companies getting together.

The speeches were greeted with rounds of applause, and it was very evident that all of the points which the various orators impressed on their audience found favor.

During the evening there was a bridge for the ladies who are accompanying the delegates, at which were quite a large number, and a very interesting evening was spent by the members of the fair sex.

This morning at 10 o'clock, there will be Executive Sessions of both Lennoxville, Que., June 16—Honorary degrees of Doctor of Civil Law were conferred today by Bishop's College, on Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, Lieutenant Governor of Quebec; Col. Blaylock and Rev. Canon Gould in connection with the convocation celebrations of the institution.

Sir Charles in an address to the professors and students assembled, claimed that religion could not be separated from education. Touching on the racial question, he said, it was essential to the welfare of Canada that all should realize their common loyalty to the Crown.

Nowhere, he said, could the faith of the Roman Church enjoy greater freedom than it enjoys in Quebec and Roman Catholics he knew were at heart grateful and loyal to the Crown.

Canon Gould and Col. Blaylock also spoke in appreciation of the degrees conferred on each and the Chancellor then declared the convocation closed.

Mr. J. Monaghan of the Dominion Cartage Co. has established an automobile service between Quebec and Loretteville; this means of communication should be quite a boon for the residents of Loretteville, no less than those of the city. We will publish tomorrow the schedule of departure of those cars.

"A" and "D" Classes, which will, in all probability, be followed by the election of officers and the selection of the convention place for next year.

DOG SHOW GAME TO A CLOSE

With The Awarding Of Special Cups And Prizes Last Night

The Quebec Dog Show which was organized by the Quebec Kennel Club, came to a close last evening with the awarding of the special cups and prizes for the best dogs of different breeds on exhibition.

The number of players taking part was not as large as usual owing to the fact that the tennis tournament is now on, but it is expected that more players will take part in future competitions.

The international champion, Polam Maxim, owned by Mr. Norman McKenzie, of Humber Bay, Ontario, won his long record of wins by capturing the Cup for the best sporting dog on exhibition; also another Cup for the best terrier.

Local fanciers also had their share of the special prizes. Mr. Frank W. McKee's Torchlight, an English Bull Terrier, taking the Cup for the best Canadian bred puppy, bred by an exhibitor; and Miss Annie Letourneau's dog, capturing the special prize for the best Pomeranian owned by a member of the Quebec Kennel Club.

Lady Pansy and St. Roch's Jumbo, owned by Mr. G. Letourneau, also took a Cup each for the best bitch and dog on exhibition.

TENNIS TOURNEY GOT UNDER WAY

Keen Matches Promised For Today's Play--Results And Further Draw

The Provincial Tennis Tournament got under way yesterday with some seventeen matches being decided in the various classes. Of this number only three were defaulted, the rest being fought out on the courts of the Quebec Tennis Club, which were in the best possible condition for the Tournament.

None of the games in which Montreal were drawn in the Men's Open Singles or Men's Doubles, were contested, owing to the fact that they were not on hand, but they will be out in force today, when possible the best day's play of the entire Tournament will be witnessed.

But three of the contests yesterday required more than two sets to decide, and none took longer than three. In the Men's Open Singles, Tesser won from V. Larue 6-4; 6-2; 6-1; 6-1; 6-2. Lemieux defeated R. Paquin 6-2; 6-2. Couombe emerged victorious over L. Beaurpe 6-1; 7-5; and Paquet won from Monaghan 6-4; 6-4.

Gingras and Cote won their game with Monaghan and Lemieux in the Men's Doubles 7-5; 6-4. Tessier and Couombe defeated Thomson and Ramsay 6-2; 6-1. Beaurpe and Hamme won two out of three sets from Murphy and Devarenes, the first going to 4-4, the second ending 5-2 in favor of Murphy and his partner, and the third and deciding set ending 6-3 in favor of Beaurpe and Cote.

The other game between Paquet and Morell saw the former win by 6-2; 6-4. In the Ladies Open Singles, Mrs. Tremingham defeated Mrs. Ross of Mount Royal 6-3; 6-2. Mrs. L. Beaurpe won from Miss J. Lemieux 6-3; 6-0, and Mrs. Hamel won from Mrs. R. Cromble 6-0; 6-2. But one game was played in the Ladies Doubles, Mrs. Beaurpe and Mrs. Hamel winning from Mrs. Staveley and Miss J. Lemieux by 6-4; 6-2.

The Mixed Doubles saw Mrs. Handsombody and H. C. Foy win by default, while Miss Ballargeon and Dr. Devarenes passed into the second round in a similar manner. The only game played witnessed Miss Lemieux and H. Couombe triumph over Mrs. Carter and J. Des J. Tessier in three sets 7-5; 4-6; 6-2.

Men's Open Singles. Tesser beat V. Larue, 6-4, 6-2, 6-1. Lemieux beat A. Paquin, 6-2, 6-1, 6-1. Couombe beat L. Beaurpe, 6-1, 7-5. Paquet beat Monaghan, 6-4, 6-4.

Men's Doubles. Gingras and Cote beat Monaghan and Lemieux, 7-5, 6-4. Tessier and Couombe beat Thomson and Ramsay, 6-2, 6-1. Beaurpe and Hamel beat Murphy and Devarenes, 8-6, 2-6, 6-3. Boisvert and Deguise beat Paquet and Morell, 6-2, 6-4.

Ladies' Open Singles. Mrs. Tremingham beat Mrs. Ross, 6-3, 2-6, 6-3. Mrs. L. Beaurpe beat Miss J. Lemieux, 6-3, 6-0. Mrs. H. Hamel beat Mrs. R. Cromble, 6-0, 6-2.

Ladies' Doubles. Mrs. Beaurpe and Hamel beat Mrs. Staveley and Lemieux, 6-4, 6-2. The only game played in the Mixed Doubles, Mrs. Handsombody and H. C. Foy won by default. Miss Ballargeon and Dr. Devarenes won by default. Miss Lemieux and H. Couombe beat Mrs. Carter and J. Tessier, 7-5, 4-6, 6-3.

RESUMES HIS FULL TRAINING

Dempsey Back On Job—Carpentier Lets Jeannette Pummel His Abdomen

Atlantic City, N.J., June 16—After a lay off of four days, Jack Dempsey resumed his full training program today and boxed for the first time since he had his left eye ripped open a week ago last Sunday. The champion boxed for forty minutes under a blazing sun and on the hot canvas of his outdoor arena under such conditions as may prevail when he faces Georges Carpentier in Jersey City, July 2.

After tugging at the pulley for two rounds and shadow boxing for three, Dempsey boxed four rounds, two each with Irish Patsy Cline, a Philadelphia lightweight and Babe Herman, the California featherweight.

Dempsey, who usually boxes with a head unprotected appeared in the ring wearing a head guard and a thick padding under it to protect the healing wound over his eye. Cline faced the champion for the first two rounds and was badly shaken up a couple of times with left hooks.

Herman who was used for speed, forced the champion to display the dash and speed of a much lighter man. Critics Answered. Manhasset, N.Y., June 16—Georges Carpentier permitted Joe Jeannette, negro heavyweight, to beat a tattoo on his abdomen during a workout for newspapermen this afternoon.

Manager Descamps explained that newspaper fight critics had questioned the challenger's ability to assimilate punishment in the body and that was the answer. This performance came after Georges had worked four fast rounds, one each with Marcel Denis, French lightweight; Paul Jounce, French heavyweight; Italian Joe Francis, middleweight, and Jeannette. The challenger was in good spirits, occasionally joking with his opponents and seeming to enjoy the work as a boy does a Sunday school picnic.

After his regular turn was ended, Jeannette, who had been perfecting the Frenchman in defensive tactics, was recalled. There was no defence in evidence today. Carpentier seemed willing to close and he pummeled. Towards the close of this second session with Jeannette, Carpentier, raised his arms above his head and the negro then pummeled his body. Georges seemed to absorb the blows very well.

FRANCE BEAT TAIT. Butte, Mont., June 16—Earl France, champion of the lightweight championship of the Pacific Coast, in the opinion of newspapermen, decisively outpointed Clonis Tait, holder of the Canada, Australian and English titles in a 15-round bout here last night.

JUVEIGNEUR DISQUALIFIED IN GOLD CUP STAKES. Ascot Heath, England, June 16—The famous Gold Cup Stakes, 500 sovereigns, with 3,500 spectators in specie added, run here today was won by Perlostus owned by E. Irish. Fred Hardy's Happy Man won second and Henri Balsan's Juveigneur was third. Eight horses ran.

After the race had been run, however, the judges disqualified Juveigneur and awarded third place to Major Giles-Loder's Spion Kop.

REFEREE SELECTION STILL POSTPONED. Jersey City, N.J., June 16—The selection of a referee for the Dempsey-Carpentier match to be held here July 2, was indefinitely postponed at a meeting of the New Jersey Boxing Commission today.

Further consideration, Secretary Cassidy of the Commission stated that the third man in the ring might be named next Monday. Promoter Rickard requested the delay.

THREAT MADE TO PREVENT FIGHT

New Jersey Wants Privilege Of Naming Referee For Dempsey-Carpentier Scrap

Hackensack, N.J., June 16—A threat there would be no Dempsey-Carpentier fight in Jersey City on July 2 if the New Jersey Boxing Commission could not have the privilege of naming the referee was made to-night by commissioner Donerty at a dinner to Charles J. Lyons another member of the Commission. Commissioner Donerty said a serious situation had arisen as a "certain party" believed he should have the privilege of naming the referee. No names were mentioned.

State Senator Alexander Simpson who also was present, declared if the commission did not show backbone in sticking up for its rights and name the referee the next session would repeal the New Jersey Boxing Law.

U.S. CHAMPION WAS DEFEATED. Miss Alexa Stirling Eliminated By British Player—Miss Leitch Won. Fontainebleau, France, June 16—Miss Cecilia Leitch British women's open golf champion, and Miss Joyce Wethered, the 19 year old runner up in the recent British women's open golf championship tournament played at Turnberry, Scotland, will meet tomorrow in the final of the women's French open golf championship matches.

Miss Leitch already has won the Fontainebleau Cup emblematic of the championship, three times. Should she prove victorious tomorrow, it has been announced she will be presented with a reproduction of the cup, as Miss Allen Stoneham of Le Touquet, donor of the trophy, wife the club officials here that she would like to leave the actual cup for future competition.

Miss Cecilia Leitch, the British champion, eliminated Miss Molly Griffiths, another British golfer by 1 up at the 18th hole in the semi-finals of the women's French open

FOOTBALL GAME ENDED IN DRAW

Veterans And Quebec City Scored Two Goals Each In Senior Match

The City League Football match played on the Exhibition Grounds last night between the Veterans and Quebec City eleven resulted in a draw, both teams scoring two goals.

The game was a good exhibition of football and was totally free of any rough work, and although closely contested, both teams attended strictly to business, and devoted their best efforts to the game. The first half started out at a lively clip, the ball travelling from end to end, the full backs of both eleven being often called upon to get the leather away from the danger zone.

As the half progressed the Quebec City were having the better of the play until finally Barrett who was playing a strong game for Quebec City, tallied the first goal of the match.

Both goalkeepers were called upon in this half to stop some wicked shots, but were equal to the occasion, time being called with the score one to nothing for Quebec.

The second half saw a marked change in the play of the Veterans, who started to play nice combination. The City boys were not to be outdone however, Barrett putting his team two in the lead after eight minutes of play. This goal was scored as the result of a kick by McLean, which the "Vets" goalkeeper saved, but was slow in clearing, Barrett kicking the ball between the posts.

With the score two to nothing against them they played harder than ever, having all the better of the play, McQueen finally took a pass, scoring on a kick the goalkeeper had no chance to save. With only one more goal needed to even the count, the Veterans put every available man on the attack, and were rewarded by Urwin scoring the equalizing tally. Both outfits tried hard to break the tie, but the goalkeeper could not be beaten, the game ended with the score two all.

The teams lined up as follows: Veterans—Goal, Farnum; full backs, Morton and Roberts; half backs, Jacobsen, Urwin and Arnold; forwards, Jacobsen, Reid, McQueen, Roberts and Jones. Quebec City—Goal, Rose; full backs, Theobald and Bingham; half backs, Post, Warner and Rev. Mr. Wilken; forwards, Ward, Shell, McLean, Barrett and Bartlett.

The game was refereed in a very capable manner by Mr. Evans of the Empress of France. After the match a meeting was held to decide the drawing for the Charity Shield games, which resulted as follows: Junior League. Rovers and Maple Leafs. Scouts with winners of the Rovers League on bench.

Shamrocks and St. Patricks. The victorious team in the Shamrock and St. Patricks game will play in the final, with the winners of the Scouts match. Senior League. Empress of France and R.C.G.A. Waygamack and Veterans. Quebec City and the winners of the Junior League.

The first match in the Senior League will be played during the 9th and 13th of August, while it is probable that the Juniors may start next week.

WILL JOIN YANKEES. Winthrop, Maine, June 15—Del Baisnette, southpaw pitcher, recently of Georgetown University, has gone to New York to join the New York Yankees.

GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP TOURNAMENT. Miss Alexa Stirling, United States women golf champion, was eliminated by Miss Joyce Wethered, British woman, by 5 up and 4 to play. The match between Miss Leitch and Miss Griffiths, was all square going to the 16th hole, when the latter missed a ten inch putt. Miss Leitch winning the hole. They halved the next two. Miss Leitch's driving again was magnificent, but she displayed some of her old weakness on the greens.

Miss Cecilia Leitch, British woman champion this morning defeated Miss Christian Lark, another British player in the fourth round of the women's French open golf tournament here, the score being 6 up and 4 to play. Miss Alexa Stirling of Atlanta, Ga. defeated Mrs. Thurston Wright of Pittsburgh by 6 up and 6 to play.

British and United States players had the field to themselves when the fourth round of the women's French open golf championship tournament began here today. All French entrants had been eliminated and in three out of the four matches played this morning the contestants were engaged in putting country women out of the tournament.

SS. EMPRESS OF FRANCE IN PORT Big C.P.O.S. Liner 'Arrived From Liverpool 4.30 P.M. Yesterday Afternoon The C.P.O.S. Empress of France arrived from Liverpool in command of Capt. E. Cook, R.N.R., and Staff-Captain H. Gibbons, at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, sailed up stream to take a turn, and was docked at 5:10 o'clock. The Empress of France brought out 1,125 passengers; 133 saloon, 464 second, and 525 third-class, and five musicians. Quebec being the terminus of the steamer, all classes of passengers were landed after the ship was cleared, and while the third-class passengers were conducted to the immigration buildings for inspection, the first and second-class were examined on board ship and then landed to undergo the Customs examination of their baggage, which was afterwards checked to the owners' Western destinations. Two special trains, one with the saloon and the other with the second-class passengers and Western mail, steamed from the dock at 10 and 10:30 p.m. respectively. The examination and checking of the baggage took place in Shed 26, and the work as usual was carried on without the least confusion or complaint, it keeping with the Company's staff efficiency. The third-class passengers were all British, mostly of the farming class and a fine aggregation of new settlers, who, after their inspection by the immigration officials, were entrained and their special left for the West after the departure of the first named train. There was quite a large crowd of people at the pier to meet friends coming on the steamer, and among the saloon passengers was the veteran citizen of Montreal, Mr. R. B. Angus, who appeared in the best of health and spirits as he walked down the gangway and was greeted by friends. He said he enjoyed the trip abroad very much as well as the trip across the ocean, but regretted to say that when he left England the labor situation had remained unchanged. Other Montrealers were Mrs. James B. Allan, Mr. Travers Allan, Dr. C. F. Martin and Mrs. Martin, Mr. F. C. Wilson, Mrs. Wilson, Miss H. and Miss L. Wilson, and Mr. J. Wilson, and Mr. C. A. Benjamin. Other saloon passengers were Capt. C. A. Wyndham and Lady Wyndham, Hershman, England; also Major-General G. S. Ryerson, Mrs. Ryerson and Mr. D. Ryerson, Niagara-on-the-Lake, Ont. The Quebecers returning home among the saloon passengers were Mr. Noel Belleau, of Levis; Mrs. L. B. Garneau, Miss C. Garneau, Mrs. B. M. Judge, Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Roy. The Empress brought 1,600 bags of mail but very little freight. She, however, is booked to carry a full cargo on her return trip to Liverpool.

HERE'S WORLD'S BIGGEST BEAST Gigantosaurus Was Over 160 Feet in Length—Wonderful Animals Of Prehistoric Days Some untrod wilderness brooded upon by interminable quiet and darkness. The stealthy voice of winds. The whisper of marsh waters in hidden lakes and tarns. Enormous trees, older than memory. Caverns deep and mysterious. And over all a vast antiquity and mould. Then out of the black still waters the heaving and arising of an impossibly bulk an immense island a senseless mountain. The fright and wonder of the hunters. The click of cameras and coughing of the guns. And then, after all, the last of the monsters discovered and dead under Every schoolboy has dreamed it, the eyes and the feet of man, every prowler among the fossil figures in our museums has had his imagination touched with the vision. A thousand writers have wooed their romances about it. Out of it has grown the pseudo-scientific conception of the archaic monster to displace the phantasms of legend. The capture of the missing link (whatever he or it may be or signify) and the discovery of the last huge saurian—these are the two visions which antiquarian science has conjured into the common mind. Most of us who have seen the enormous exhumed bones of some of the Jurassic reptiles have long ago ceased to question and feel certain that in some age, vastly long ago, there moved on the earth and in the tepid seas creatures of such might and bulk as are and ever have been unscanned by the eyes of man. The notion is surely quite firmly held that all creation was once on a much bulkier scale than at present, and that no such animals now range the wastes or waters of the world as were its rulers then. In his latest book, Secrets of Earth and Sea (Macmillan) the British savant reviews the history of fossil discoveries, and speaks of the mounting of the first saurian reconstructions. He tells of the great British cetosaurus, dug up near Oxford, and the greater American diploodus, dug out of the Jurassic rocks of Wyoming by Dr. Holland and of the American brontosaurus, a very similar beast. One of the largest diploodes ever found measures 85 feet from tip to tip. It has, however, a very long neck and a longer tail, so that the bulk of the beast is, after all, not so great as his length might suggest. But an even greater reptile existed in America, the atlatosaurus, whose femur or thigh bone, was 6 feet 2 inches long, as against 5 feet 9 inches for that of the biggest diploodus. Probably this animal was nearly a hundred feet in length over all. Mr. Lankester reasons that all these beasts were not land-living, but aquatic or semi-aquatic creatures, not much more mobile on dry land than the alligator, which folds its comparatively ineffective legs under it and propels itself on its belly. But in the shallow lakes of the Jurassic, in some twenty feet of water, says the scientist, the beast would have walked or run along the bottom, with its long neck and body partly suspended in the fluid and its great tail assisting in the rapid propulsion. It probably went out upon the land and very little, but fed on the rich grasses, the lush reeds and the tender branches of trees fringing its tropical pools. For such grazing its long neck was specially adapted. From these likely conclusions Sir Ray makes out that these great saurians should be considered aquatic and compared with marine life of today rather than with our terrestrial fauna. The points of view certainly are possible, and the scientific mind ought probably to insist on comparing saurians with saurians. But the question put is "What is or was the biggest beast?" For the purpose of such an inquiry Sir Ray's classification serves well enough. There certainly is no reptile of any such size on earth today. The notion that such creatures might still haunt some of the impenetrable Africa is too foolish for any one but the abject romantic. The great saurians passed with the Mesozoic era, millions of years ago. There is no climate on earth today suitable to their requirements, and no likelihood that they might have performed an evolution to suit them to present conditions without losing their bulk. No exploration is necessary to lay this ghost.

PRINCESS WANTS LICENSE. Rome, June 16.—Princess Matilda, 18 years old, second daughter of King Emanuel, has applied for a license to drive her own automobile. The Princess has taken all the necessary lessons to qualify for a license and her papers have been presented to the Prefect of Rome. Women at the driving wheels of automobiles are a rare sight in Italy. DO THEY STILL SEE IT? While strolling down love's silvery river, as they gathered the sunbeams from the lilacs and daffodils, they saw the vision of eternal bliss and united in the holy bonds of matrimony—they are married now.

resting on the belly," says Sir Ray, "the body of the great lizard of Tendagoroo bulged like a breakerwater twelve feet high, and his tail like a huge septent extended eighty feet behind; while the head and neck eached forty feet along the mud in front." The total length of the creature was about one hundred and sixty feet. He was, so far as can be ascertained at present, the greatest of the quadrupeds. Yet the scientist is not willing to hand him the palm for size. Says the book: "The fact is that if we wish to make an intelligent comparison of the sizes of different animals we have to be careful to ascertain not merely the length measurements but the proportions of the various parts and the actual bulk and probable weight of the beasts under consideration. By far the biggest animals of which we have any knowledge are the various kinds of whales still flourishing in the sea. A mechanical limit is set on the size of land animals and that limit has been reached by the elephant. Fish and blood, and we may add bone, cannot carry on dry land a greater bulk than this. He is always in danger of sinking by his own weight into soft earth and bog. His legs have to be much thicker in proportion than those of smaller animals—made of the same material—or they would snap. A well-grown elephant weighs five tons. Compare his weight and shape with those of a big whalebone whale! No extinct animal knows approaches (sic) the existing whale in bulk and weight. He is eighty or ninety feet long, has no neck nor any length of tail. His outline is egg-like narrower at the hinder end. He weighs two hundred tons—forty times as much as an elephant." Even the gigantesaurus' bulk was "much less than that of a big whale." But Sir Ray makes the reservation that bigger extinct creatures may yet be found to rival our great mammalia.

It is interesting to note here how some orders of beasts have increased and others decreased in size. The greatest saurians now living are not much larger than the forearm of one of these great monsters whose tail-bones are found in rocks millions of years old. Most of the reptiles of today's earth are small, and many of them depend on venom, where their ancestors overrode the world with bulk and power and dreadful teeth. On the other hand, the mammalia probably have never been larger than at present. The largest African elephant is taller and a little bigger in every way than any of the extinct mammoths and mastodons yet discovered. We know that our horse is grown to his size and strength from the little colchippus, not bigger than a terrier; and that the men of today are probably bigger and stronger than the prehistoric sires of homo sapiens, possibly excepting the Cro-Magnards, a comparatively modern type and included among sapient men. As for the whale, he is enormously larger than his little dog-like ancestor, a true quadruped. Apparently the order which rules the world grows larger and that which has least dominion shrinks and grows decadent. Or a better way of saying it might be that conditions on earth millions of years ago tended to develop great saurians, and conditions today are fitted for great mammalia, one genus at least of them bigger than the monsters of old time, the biggest beast in all the ages of the world.

Skeleton Dinosaur On The Run. No human being ever saw a gorgosaurus alive, for he was extinct millions of years before man appeared on the earth. But we have pretty good reasons to believe that he ran on his hind legs in about the way the modern lizard runs, and that is the way the newly mounted gorgosaurus skeleton in the American Museum of Natural History in New York City, is posed. Dr. W. D. Matthew, curator of the museum's department of vertebrate paleontology, discussing this carnivorous dinosaur from the Red Deer River beds of Alberta, says that he is a reptile something like a gigantic lizard, but with longer, heavier hind legs, and in proportions more like a kangaroo or an ostrich, according as you look at his general proportions or his hind legs in particular. This gorgosaurus of Alberta was a descendant (not Yankee-saurus—and moreover, he was so many generations removed that it hardly seems likely that he had kept up the tradition of his New England ancestor) bigger and heavier—proportions more specialized for swift running and with smaller front limbs quite unable to support the weight of the body. But no doubt he ran the same way, with long straight stride and narrow tread, balancing the weight of the body by the outstretching tail. When speeding, he would run with the head held pretty well forward, and the little fore limbs swinging in alternation to the stride of the hind legs. So we may imagine him in chase of a couple of unwary duck-billed dinosaurs that have carelessly wandered too far from the banks of the river channels and lagoons in whose waters they are used to take refuge from their carnivorous enemies who, fortunately for them, are no swimmers. The gorgosaurus catches sight of them and runs directly after them, to catch them if he can before they get back to the river bank.

CATERPILARS HARMFUL. Gagetown, N. B., June 16.—Tent caterpillars are having havoc with the trees in this vicinity in spite of the fact that unusual precautions have been taken to prevent the ravages of the hungry pest. Most of the orchard owners spray their trees at the proper intervals and they are careful to cut and burn every "tent" they see, yet the situation is serious.

PRINTING FROM TYPE MAY BE SUPERSEDED Three Inventors Trying To Develop Photographic Process To Replace It London, June 16—Suggesting that printing from type is likely to be superseded was made by William Gamble at the recent World's Congress of Printers held here in connection with the International Printing and Allied Trades exhibition Mr. Gamble said that at least three inventors were trying to develop a photographic process to take the place of printing from type. He predicted that the machines for printing by photographic process would hardly occupy more space than a typewriter nor be any more complicated. He expressed the opinion that eventually the great printing presses in newspaper offices would give place to smaller, swift-running and comparatively noiseless machines which would turn out printed matter with almost the same facility as the moving picture operator reels off his film.

GREAT OPEN CANAL WILL BE COMPLETED SOON Montreal, June 16—Within a few weeks a great open canal running from the St. Lawrence, Lachine into the pumping station here, will be completed and in conjunction with the extension of the filtration plant will assure this city of a pure water supply even in days when its population is many times greater than at present. The net result to the city in a financial way is substantial, the saving being over half a million dollars a year. STRIKE BROUGHT NEARER Manchester, Eng., June 16—A settlement of the cotton dispute has been brought nearer by a recommendation today concerning terms made by the representatives of employers and operators constituting the negotiating committee. Involving an immediate wage reduction of forty-six pence to the pound and a further reduction of seven pence at the end of six months. The belief is expressed that the operatives will accept the recommendation. THE FASHIONABLE SIZE. "John, the baby has outgrown his rompers." SALE OF LIQUOR IN B. C. STARTED YESTERDAY Vancouver, B. C., June 16 — The sale of liquor in British Columbia under Government control commenced this morning at 11 o'clock. At that hour stores located in the cities and towns of the provinces opened for business. Permits of purchase are in use and only holders of these permits can buy spirits or beer. Fifth the coming into force of the British Columbia Liquor Act as passed at the last session of the Legislature a moderation law replaces the prohibition act which has been in force for the past three and a half years.

Commercial and Financial News

Closing Letters By Local Brokers

(By Bruneau & Co.)
New York, June 16—We have had another day of extreme depression, probably due to the extraordinary break in Mexican Pete shares which has taken place the past two days. When we look back it is really a source of encouragement that the general market has stood up so well, when one considers that the day before yesterday in the last hour Mexican Pete sold at 134.
Such a decline is enough to make the strongest market hesitate and coming at a time like this it would seem quite extraordinary that it has had no greater effect. The market is closing weak, and at a moderately lower range.
Total sales 998,400.

(By Breen, Gourdeau & Charlebois)
New York, June 16—The declaration of the regular dividend on Northern Pacific and reduction in the local re-discount rate announced over-night were reflected in the stock market at the opening today in the way of a generally higher price level. Mexican Pete, Pan-American, Studebaker, Pan American "B", American Woolen, Northern Pacific were among the most prominently active stocks in which noteworthy demand was shown, although a large number of issues, particularly the railroads, recorded advances. Later in the forenoon, however, a selling attack, which began in the sugar group, set in, and was gradually extended to other stocks. Issues that were especially affected in the early dealings beside the sugars, included American Sugar, International Paper and Crucible Steel. The bear party re-doubled their efforts from around mid-day and succeeded in inducing a general unsettlement. Considerable pressure against the tobacco and Mexican Petroleum developed, the latter declining fourteen points from the opening price. Some recoveries occurred in the final hour, but these were due to short covering operations rather than to any change in speculative sentiment. The professional cliques working for lower prices again dominated the market, and nothing came to hand to alter the situation or general outlook.
Sales, stocks, 308,400; bonds $11,300,000.

The Toronto Produce Market

(By L. G. Beaubien & Co.)
New York, June 16—Further losses were suffered in the market this afternoon with heavy sales of Mexican Petroleum and Pan American forcing these stocks down. The steel and tobacco issues also were weak for most of the afternoon. The market recovered slightly in the last half hour but not in convincing fashion considering the extreme drops which had taken place in numerous quarters.
Call money was in very liberal supply with considerable money unplaced.
Sterling exchanged turned weak however, declining about 6 cents from high of the day.
Final figures for the stocks market were up from low in some cases but were nevertheless way off on the day and the closing tone was nervous and erratic.
Sales 964,000 shares.

The Montreal Stock Exchange

(By Breen, Gourdeau & Charlebois)
Montreal, June 16—Activity in Canada Cement was an outstanding feature of a dull market of the local stock exchange today. About 800 shares changed hands and on this turnover the price moved up to 51 but failed to hold, selling back to 50 3/8, a net gain of 1-8 point.
Dominion steel was next in activity and here the price remained steady with a slight rise down a small fraction at 26. Steel of Canada closed half a point to 51 1/2.
The paper group was steadier with Abitibi scoring the only substantial loss, one of a point at 31. Brompton was down a fraction at 29 1/2; Laurentide gained half a point at 84; Riordon was steady at 7 1/2 and the Spanish issues were unchanged.
In the utilities the recently strong Toronto railway and Quebec Railway were weak, the former ending a point to 76 and the latter being down 1 1/2 points at 25 1/4. Power was steady; Brazilian up a fraction at 28. In the textile group Dominion Textile was down half a point at 129 1/2. Stronger stocks included Bridge, up a point at 68 and steamship preferred, which added a fraction at 48 ex-dividend 1 3/4 percent.
The wool sales were generally lower. Total sales, listed 5,583; bonds $401,240.

Egg Market

Ottawa, June 16—United States eggs can now be laid down in Montreal at about 32 cents, cases free, and there is some talk of importing. Prairie Province seconds are now being offered at 30c f. o. b. shipping point. Ontario track shippers are asking 32c, cases returnable for current receipts and 37c f. o. b., cases free, for graded firsts.
Toronto firm and higher, special jobs 41c, extras 39c; firsts 37c. Receipts reported only sufficient to supply local demands.
Several car lots of eggs reported rolling this market.
Montreal firmer, specials jobbing 40c; extras 37c to 38c; firsts 35c to 34c; seconds 29c.

Closing Letters Canadian Press

(By Canadian Press)
New York, June 16—Reactionary tendencies again dominated the stock market today after an initial period in which numerous leaders recovered one to three points.
Early improvement evidently was based on such favorable incidents as the lower commercial discount announced by the local Federal Reserve bank and retention of the regular Northern Pacific dividend.
The sentimental effect of these developments wore off before the first hour, prices sinking almost steadily to the weak close. Sales amounted to eight hundred and seventy five thousand shares.
Numerous additions to low records for a year or longer embraced the prominent steels, Equipments, Sugars, Tobaccos and Chemicals. Ralls were inclined to steer an independent course, but yielded with the general list in the unsettlement of the final hour.
Mexican Petroleum again featured the reversal, being driven down an additional eleven points to 103; but rallying 4 1/2 points on short covering. Its net loss of 5 1/2 points reported a decline of virtually 20 points in two days.
U. S. Steel dropped to a fraction of its recent low at 74 3/8 but met with support at that level. Several active specialties in the sugar tobacco and affiliated groups also made moderate recoveries.

The money market pursued its even tenor offerings of call loans at 5 1/2 percent exceeding demand. Taking their due from the Federal Reserve bank, private institutions made freer offerings on commercial paper. Commercial exchange was erratic; early strength, due to London quotations, giving way to sharp declines in sterling when moderate amounts of cable and demand bills appeared. The Paris rate held, but other continental remittances Swiss and Spanish excepted, were reactionary.
Changes in the bond market were nominal but mainly lower.
Liberty issues showed moderate gains and losses. Cuba cane sugar convertibles and Mexicans eased.
Total sales, par value, aggregated $9,750,000.

Daily Gossip On Leading Stocks

Louisville and Nashville declared regular semi-annual dividend of 3 1/2 percent, payable August 10th, stock of record July 15th.
Toronto Railway, after having sold up to 80 early, had a decline on Monday to 71 1/2 but advanced quickly to over 75. Many are of the opinion that this stock had somewhat over-discounted the future. Now that the arbitration commission has been fully constituted, it appears certain that more active steps will be taken to reach a decision as to the price to be paid the company for the system as an operating concern. But until this price has been definitely fixed buying and selling in the stock is a pure speculation.

Passing of the Loew dividend scarcely came as a surprise in view of the low selling price of the stock. It was felt that the management had been unable to obtain more money on some of its new buildings and had to borrow $2,500,000 at the banks. As a result it was found necessary to conserve cash resources and suspend payments to the shareholders. Loew stock is very widely distributed in small lots owing to the sale of a large quantity some time ago to the patrons of the company's theatres.
There have been sporadic rallies in stocks but these have not developed into upturns of any moment. Omissions of dividends have been announced and others are expected. The decline in sterling exchange has been prolonged. Money is difficult to get in view of the demand from Government sources. The demands of the mercantile community for credit are insistent. A couple of the Canadian steel mills have received substantial orders for rails, but general conditions in this trade are far from salutary. All these adverse features made for limited transactions in securities, but the turn must come, and then conditions all over the Dominion will be more cheerful.

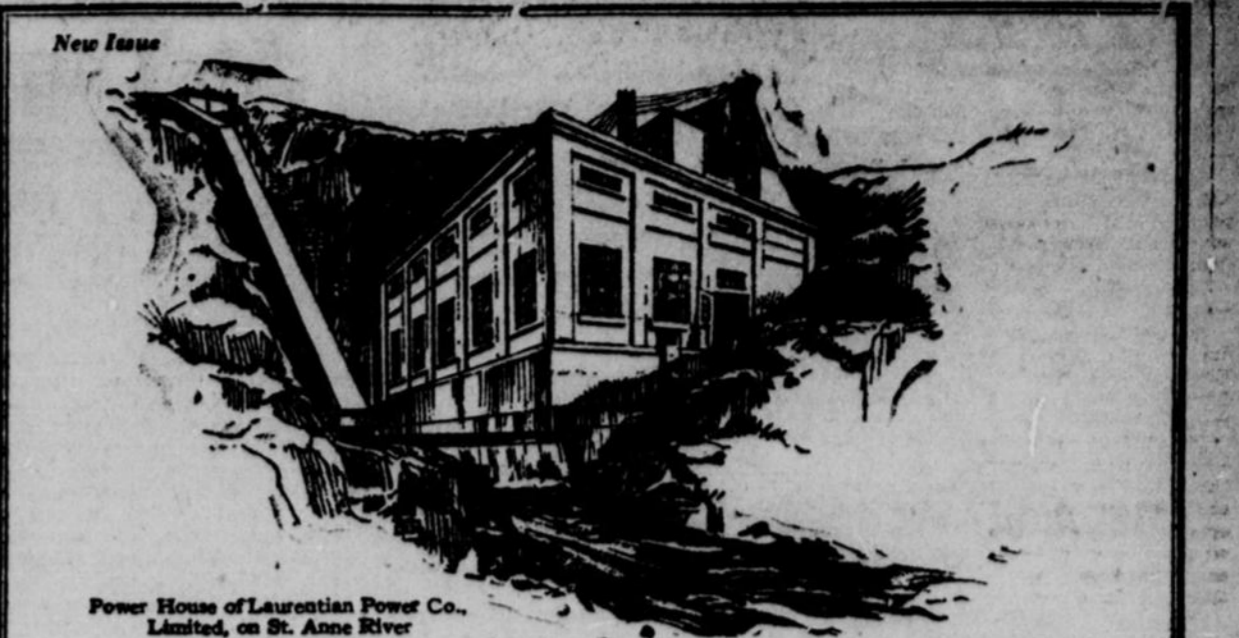

Success of the bears in uncovering weak spots in the market was pronounced last week, and in accordance with their old-time policy they hammered away where support was the weakest. This was discouraging to those who, feeling that there should be a rally on technical conditions alone, were too timid to come in the absence of good news of importance. If the market had some sort of an impetus there might be a rally worth talking about, but at the moment there is not much of an incentive to speculative buying. Many new lows for the year were reached last week and in many instances the worst prices of 1920 were passed. As prices have declined steadily since the second week in May, those on the constructive side are harboring the hope that this week may see an upturn as the selling will meet Federal tax payments which are due to-morrow. Many stocks are heavily oversold.

Invest for Safety —and to build Quebec

THE water powers of Quebec hold out great possibilities. With coal high in price and not likely to be low again, the ability to get water power at a fair price and in adequate supply gives a great advantage to Quebec Industries.
Water power offers a strong inducement also to American Industries to locate in Quebec Province. Every new factory located adds to the taxable property and consequently tends to lower taxes.

The Laurentian Power Company Limited

This Company has an installed capacity on the St. Anne River (35 miles from Quebec City) of 18,000 H. P. and a total capacity of 24,000 H. P. Of this, 10,000 H. P. is being delivered under contract, over a 25 mile high tension transmission line of galvanized steel towers set in concrete, to the Quebec Railway, Light, Heat and Power Company at Montmorency.
The contract with the Quebec Railway, Light, Heat and Power Company runs until September, 1940. The net earnings under this contract alone for year ending March 31st last, according to Price, Waterhouse & Co., are equal to twice the interest charges on the outstanding bonds after deducting operating and maintenance charges. The replacement value of the property has been estimated at $2,400,000.00 or $1,000,000.00 more than the outstanding bonds.
All of these facts make the 6% First and Refunding Mortgage Sinking Fund Bonds of the Laurentian Power Company Limited, an ideal investment for Quebec people. It combines a high degree of safety and stability of earnings with an opportunity to put money at work in Quebec for the development of Quebec.

GOOD TRADING STOCK FOR TIME

Toronto Street Railway Will Move Along Course Of Its Own

Toronto, June 16—Toronto Street Railway again opened strong in an otherwise drab market yesterday morning, thus bearing out the opinion expressed recently that this issue would move along a course of its own, swayed by every rumor until the final clean-up is made. It is conceded all along the line that the stock is materially below its liquidation value, and the uncertainty of the date of the clean-up is such that opinion is that it will prove a good trading stock for some months to come. Today it again forced its way above 76 as a result of the meeting of the City Council when transportation matters cropped up. It appeared that the Commission was getting down to brass tacks, insofar as credits of a rather blanket character were given Finance Commissioner Ross for use on the Street Railway when needed. Of this seven millions is a general credit given the Transportation Commission for rehabilitation, extensions and equipment for the Street Railway System, and the remaining ten millions is in the form of an authorization for a debenture issue for Street Railway acquisition. The latter authorization is in the hands of the Finance Commissioners to issue when and as needed. It is felt that the issue may not be needed this year, but its authorization gives the Finance Commissioner power to make a snap clean-up as far as the city is concerned should occasion arise. The Transportation Commission does not contemplate the immediate utilization of its seven millions, planning to spread the improvements over a three year period.

Why Wealthy Investors Should Purchase Province of Quebec Succession-Duty Free Bonds

1.—Because these Bonds are entirely exempt from any taxes imposed by the Province of Quebec Succession Duties Act.
2.—Because, besides protecting your fortune in this way from Succession Duties when your estate is transmitted owing to death, the Bonds furnish you with an attractive interest yield of from 5.70% to nearly 6%.
It is no exaggeration to say that no other investment can compare with these Bonds for the well-to-do investor possessed of considerable property. They are particularly attractive to the wealthy individual of advanced age who wishes to protect his estate now in the interest of his heirs.
The present opportunity to do so through the medium of these Bonds is one which is not available every day. When you consider that the Succession Duties Tax is in some cases as high as 20% you will readily see the advantage of the present issues Tax-exempt feature.
CAN YOU AFFORD NOT TO BUY THESE BONDS?

Milton Sills a Big Hit in "The Little Fool" at New Empire

"The Little Fool" is one of the few pictures that everyone can equally enjoy. A strong story of the usual love triangle but told in an entirely different and singular way it is admirably produced with exquisite settings and scenes of natural beauty. The actor, Mr. Milton Sills, however, is one of the outstanding features of the presentation. He is as capable as he is handsome and the way in which he handles the principal role in "The Little Fool" puts him in the forefront here. The picture is enjoyable in the extreme and one everyone should surely see. It runs again today and tomorrow.

"Double Adventure," the popular serial, and other numbers further entertained.

The superior playing of the Concert Orchestra, under Mr. Marcel Verney, elicited much favorable comment.

"Kissing Cup's Race" Pleases at Classic

Everyone loves a racing picture but when you see "Kissing Cup's Race" the big picture which opened at the Classic last night, you will see something exceptional. It is considered the finest racing film ever made and those who saw it last night concurred in this. There is a splendid story and the characters are well taken. The famous Jockey Joe Plante is seen in the cast. It is one of the finest pictures the Classic has presented. The 10th episode of Joe Ryan's popular serial, "The Pathe Review and a 'peach' of a comedy made up the rest of the programme.

Names in Novels
 One Critic Tells of Preference in British Fiction

"I must confess that, as an anti-realist, the names which are life-like and nothing else interest me scarcely at all," says Sir George Douglas in Chambers' Journal.

"Jane Austen, with her Elizabeth Bennett and her Henry Tilney, her Fanny Crawford and her Fanny Price, gives us little but such as are right. And in their own place they are right. Only I do not think that the name Marianne (so spelt) is ever met with now. It must have passed into disuse since 1817. Trollope's names which unite realism in their choice of names, though certainly less exclusively than the authors of Pride and Prejudice.

"Other things being equal, I freely own that I prefer a heroine named Eustacia or Cytherea Graye as in Mr. Hardy's Desperate Remedies, or a hero named Malmalour as in Daudet's Nourmisan, to all the Elizabeth Bennetts and Henry Tilneys in the world. For I presume that the refinements of hearing were not bestowed upon us for nothing. Bathsheba Everdene, the heroine of Far From the Madding Crowd, bears a name almost as rhythmical as Cytherea Graye's; whilst Fanny Day, Eustacia Vye and Thomasine Teobright all appear to me to retain in names which unite intrinsic beauty with suitability to the character of the bearer.

Mr. Hardy, who has never been an out-and-out realist and who, in the classification of the latest edition of his novels, himself acknowledges as much, inherited his refinement in the choice of names from the romantic novelists, and this carries us back to Walter Scott. Scott's ear for the music of vocables, though not uniformly faultless, had been early trained and educated by the practice of writing verse. No one had been before him, and to a man of his vast historical and territorial knowledge, the entire treasury of nomenclature lay open and ready to be laid under contribution. The grand names of Waverley, Peveril, Ivanhoe, are his by right of appropriation. He has made them his own, and in so doing, has endowed them with a significance more than worthy of their native beauty.

"Who now thinks of Waverley as an abbey in Hampshire? It is the name of a principal province in the County of Romance. It is become the private property of the man who, from the beginning, could design such captivating titles for his works as The Lay of the Last Minstrel, or The Lady of the Lake and his inventions were as good as his finds. If I may assume that the name of Redgauntlet was his own creation. And where in the whole directory of names is there any lovelier combination than Mina Trollop? I solemnly declare that, were I asked to meet a lady so baptized, I should be more than half in love with her upon the strength of her name alone!"

Real Estate.
 Mr. D. E. Drolet, four merchant, has purchased from the Richelieu and Ontario Navigation Co., the property which he occupies on Dalhousie street here for $12,000. The Woods property on Fabrique street, formerly occupied by Mr. Walters, has been sold to Mr. E. G. Meredith, N.P., representing the Sidney Billingham estate, for $5,000.

Shocking Accident.
 A fearful accident is reported from Scott's Junction, Beauce. George Belanger, thirteen years old, son of Theophile Belanger, while working at Mr. Atkinson's mill, was caught in the machinery and one of his arms torn from his body above the elbow, so that it fell on one side of the shafting and he himself on the other. Still he was able to raise himself and find his father. As his constitution is good it is hoped to save his life.

Appointment Confirmed.
 We are pleased to learn that the recent appointment of the Rev. Dr. Macrae to the Principality of Morrin College has been confirmed by the unanimous resolution of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of Canada, now in session in Toronto. It goes without saying that the college under the administration of such an able and distinguished head, cannot but make its vivifying influence felt, not only in the community but upon the youth of the educational institutions of the country.

TIMELY RAINFALL IN BRANDON DISTRICT
 Brandon, Man., June 16—During the past twenty four hours Brandon and district has experienced a rain fall of 1.82 inches creating a feeling of greatest optimism among the farmers. The rain, which came at an opportune time, will help out crops wonderfully. At the present time wheat is fourteen inches high, in some places and looks like a fine crop, while oats and barley are doing exceptionally well.

AUTOMOBILE STOLEN IN BROAD DAYLIGHT
 Man Left Car Outside Barber's In Montreal—Got Car Back

Montreal, June 16—The theft of an automobile, its recapture by its owner, a fierce struggle in the car as it swerves forward, and the escape of the well dressed thief before the eyes of a policeman and hundreds of passersby was the thrilling scene provided in the heart of the city, S. J. Matthews of 123 Arlington Ave. left his automobile a Cadillac, outside a barber shop at the corner of Peel and St. Catherine St. and went inside to have his hair cut. When he emerged he was just in time to see his car start off with a stranger at the wheel. He immediately gave chase and managed to catch up with the auto-bandit. Jumping on the running-board he caught the man around the neck and tried to stop the car. A fierce struggle followed resulting in the thief escaping down a lane opposite the M.A.A.A.A. building.

CHANGED HIS MIND.
 Sharp Dame—"I must frankly tell you, Mr. Meek, that my consent to your marrying my daughter has been wrung from me under protest."

Mr. Meek—"Er? Protest?"

Sharp Dame—"Yes, sir; I knew that if I did not consent she would disgrace the family by an elopement. When she wants anything we all have to give it to her, or take the consequences; and long experience has taught me that I might as well try to fan off a cyclone as reason with her when she gets angry; especially if there is a flat-iron or a rolling-pin handy, and so I just give it up at once. Has the wedding day been fixed on yet, Mr. Meek?"

Mr. Meek—"Um—er, not yet; and in fact, madam, I'm—I'm a little afraid I can't afford to marry. Good—goodday."

IT WORKED.
 The jurymen ran breathlessly into the court.

"Oh, your Honor!" he exclaimed, "if you can excuse me, please, please do! I don't know which will die first—my wife or my daughter."

"Dear me, that's sad," said the innocent juror. "Certainly you are excused."

The next day the jurymen was met by one of his fellow-jurors, who in a sympathetic voice asked: "How's your wife?"

"She's all right. Why do you ask?"

"And your daughter?"

"She's all right, too. Why do you ask?"

"Why, yesterday you told the judge that you did not know which would die first."

"Nor do I. That is a problem that alone can solve."
