Pelletier wants bilingual scheme

ST. BONIFACE, Man. (CP) — Gerard Pelletier, secretary of state, says majority linguistic groups in proposed bilingual zones in Canada will have to be educated to create a climate where the minority "will be able to impose itself."

Mr. Pelletier told French-speaking Manitobans at the Rallye Franco-Manitobain here during the weekend that "cultural ghettos" could be formed when the bilingual zones recommended in the royal commission on bilingualism and biculturalism are established.

They are to be formed in areas where a minority of at least 10 per cent speaks an official language not used by the majority.

"We risk giving birth to permanent conflicts and veritable cultural ghettos if we think integration of one of Canada's two cultural majorities can be decreed without seeking to establish tolerance, co-operation and reason with the group in power in that community," Mr.

Pelletier said.

The federal government proposed to set up socio-cultural education centres where the official zones were officially established by legislation.

"Cultural moderators" from these centres will work first at educating the linguistic majority to create a climate where the cultural minority "will be able to impose itself," he said.

The secretary of state also promised direct federal government aid to a Franco-Manitoban Society formed at the rally to replace the Education Association of French-speaking Manitobans.

The society would take an interest in all social and cultural matters affecting French-speaking Manitobans. The education association, on the other hand, was formed to fight for French instruction in Manitoba schools.

Newly-elected president of the Franco-Manitoban Society, Maurice Gauthier, told reporters Sunday that the continued existence of the French-speaking community in Manitoba refutes the separatist argument that French-Canadians can live only in Quebec.

SSJB opposes bill

MONTREAL (CP) — Yvon Groulx, president of the Federation of St. Jean Baptiste Societies of Quebec, said Sunday nothing could be more illogical than legislation to protect English language rights in Quebec when the real threat is to the French-speaking majority.

Mr. Groulx told a news conference after an emergency meeting of the federation's national council that the federation has decided to assume leadership of a "common front" to oppose a proposed bill to guarantee parents the right to have their children educated in French or English.

Premier Jean-Jacques Bertrand has promised to introduce such a bill in the legislative assembly before the end of the current session.

Mr. Groulx said English-speaking Quebecers are entitled to claim government protection for their language rights but "legislation such as that outlined by Premier Bertrand would be premature, without first ensuring that the position of the French majority is strengthened by law."

The total transport concept began to form this year

TORONTO (CP) — The year 1968 may go down in Canadian history as the one when the "total transport" concept began to take practical shape.

Formation of the Canadian Transport Commission to co-ordinate regulation of all means of transport—it embraces both the old Air Transport Board and the Board of Transport Commissioners—was a key step.

Another may well be the serious thoughts now being given to Canada as the pathway for integrated movement of goods from Asia to Europe, from ships at a West Coast port, across Canada by train, then to ship again—known as the "land bridge."

Its proponents say such a bridge could halve the travel time of the Panama Canal route and save 25 per cent on transport costs.

But a land bridge needs giant tankers, coastal super-ports to berth them and unit trains to move across the country in five days without shunting, splitting or switching.

CONTAINER IDEA GROWS

Canada's two major railways are already running such trains in some areas. In 1968 Halifax and Saint John, N.B., were vying for the privilege of becoming the East Coast land bridge port. Their governments began negotiating with a shipping consortium planning container service between Europe and Canada.

CONTAINER IDEA GROWS

Canada's two major railways are already running such trains in some areas. In 1968 Halifax and Saint John, N.B., were vying for the privilege of becoming the East Coast land bridge port. Their governments began negotiating with a shipping consortium planning container service between Europe and Canada.

Containers, the eight-by-eight-by-20-foot boxes in which goods are loaded for ship transport and unloaded—still in the container—to rail or trucks at the docks, may spark a transportation revolution.

Their advent has made all ports take a close look at existing facilities, and encouraged some—notably Quebec City and Halifax—to spend millions to build container-handling terminals.

Late in 1968 Manchester Lines' first container ship arrived in Montreal, and its goods moved swiftly by Canadian National Railways to its new container terminal at Toronto, as part of an integrated container movement.

Canadian Pacific Ships announced it will inaugurate container service from England to Quebec City in 1970, and has ordered three container ships. Other lines are moving in.

But ships and trains are not shifting airlines from their assured place in Canada's transport scheme. With a new chairman and president, picked late in 1968, Air Canada laid plans to buy jet air buses for inter-city hopping, and three new jumbo passenger jets.

TORONTO (CP) — Canada's electrical manufacturing industry should increase its output in 1969 by eight per cent to $2-300,000,000, K. H. Rapsey, president of the Canadian Electrical Manufacturers' Association, predicts.

He says in a year-end statement that about two per cent of the gains would be accounted for by higher prices.

"After two years of virtually no growth, an upturn in the demand for consumer products has been evident for several months.

"This strength is expected to continue through 1969, supported by a higher level of housing construction, increasing consumer confidence and a high level of personal savings."

Mr. Rapsey, president of Alcan-Bradley Canada Ltd. of Galt, Ont., says exports should continue to grow in 1969, although not at the same high rate as in recent years because of "formidable non-tariff barriers prevailing in the markets of Canada's major trading partners, for example, in the United Kingdom, Western Europe and Japan."

"On the other hand, imports of electrical products are likely to continue to rise at a higher rate than Canadian production.

"During the past year the Canadian industry has suffered from dumping of foreign products such as heavy apparatus, wire and cable, television and refrigerators.

The effective implementation of Canada's proposed new anti-dumping law in 1969 could prevent the continuance of these predatory practices."

TODAY'S CHUCKLE — There are still a few honest grafters around, but they're free surgeons!

Negroes will get help

HALIFAX (CP) — Premier G. I. Smith of Nova Scotia has pledged that his province, home for almost half of Canada's 38,000 Negro population, will set an example in human rights legislation "in these difficult times."

A weekend human rights conference here, attended by almost 1,000 white and Negro delegates, was regarded by many civil rights leaders as a breakthrough.

"Black people spoke like they've never spoken before to white people," said H. A. J. Wedderburn, president of the Nova Scotia Association for the Advancement of Colored People following the conference sponsored by the provincial Human Rights Federation.

Premier Smith outlined specific changes in the Human Rights Act proposed by his government and said he would consider calling a special session of the legislature soon to deal with them.

His announcement of a white director for the provincial Human Rights Commission created an uproar.

Marvin Schiff, 31, of Toronto will head the commission which has been without a director since its inception three years ago.

Negro delegates said the appointment was another case of the Negro having to go to the white man for aid.

However, Professor Howard McCurdy of the University of Windsor (Ont.), a Negro, said Mr. Schiff would receive the support of the black community if he consulted it before making decisions affecting Negroes.

Mr. Schiff said he would make "damned sure" that things he wanted to happen for minority groups in the province did happen "or else I resign."

Premier Smith said the important thing was how the job was done rather than the color of the skin of the man doing the job.

"When do we get a black man with any position of authority around here?" asked Rocky Jones, a Halifax Black Power advocate.

Premier Smith said he believed there had been consultation with the black community but admitted "... there might not have been enough."

Mr. Smith also announced the appointment of Amos Stevens of Halifax to the staff of the Human Rights Commission with special responsibilities for human rights in the Halifax area.

The premier said he wanted to make it clear that the government was prepared to provide staff and funds for the commission to ensure its operations "are effective in administering new human rights legislation, in developing a program of public information about human rights, in conducting and encouraging research and in working with private organizations."

The Human Rights Act which had been enforced by the labor department, was now the direct responsibility of the commission he announced.

The government was determined to "set an example for others in these difficult times."

He said the changes in the human rights legislation, proposed by NSACP, and accepted by the government would include:

—Substantial increases in the maximum amounts of fines levied under the act.

—Bringing charitable, philanthropic, educational and social organizations under the act.

MANDATORY AND PUBLIC

—Public inquiries following complaints.

—Human Rights Act provisions enforced by local agents in provincial centres.

—Provisions extended to cover all housing accommodation of more than one self-contained unit.

Welsh demand home rule

LAMPETER, Wales (AP) — Julian Cayo-Evans, wearing his dark green Free Wales Army uniform, says: "We are not asking for home rule. We're demanding it."

Cayo-Evans, 31, a former Foreign Legion adventurer, claims the FWA has 7,000 members. Others say the membership is more like 300.

Mostly young farmers like Cayo-Evans, they are dedicated to restoring independence to the 2,500,000 Welsh ruled from London for 700 years.

The home rulers are particularly angered by the flooding of Welsh valleys in recent years to provide water for England's industrial cities. This month a bomb shattered pipelines carrying water from the Welsh mountains to the Midlands city of Birmingham.

The FWA warned that the bombings will be increased, particularly if plans go ahead for the flooding of the Dulais Valley in Montgomeryshire.

The growing Welsh Nationalist party, Plaid Cymru, has denounced the bombings and the activities of extremist groups.

Gwynfor Evans, Plaid Cymru president, claims that his 30,000-member party can win independence for Wales by constitutional means.

Others maintain that democratic methods—Evans is the only Welsh Nationalist in Parliament—have failed and the time has come for violence.

Prime Minister Wilson's

Labor government, presumably anxious to keep the Welsh political climate cool, has been cautious in prosecuting alleged extremists.

But Cayo-Evans says he and his colleagues are kept under close police surveillance. "My phone is tapped for instance," he says.

He reports police recently seized a number of FWA uniforms and pulled down the red dragon Welsh flag which he flew outside his farm in West Wales.

The FWA has numerous hidden arms dumps in Wales, he says. "We keep them as a deterrent."

One of Scotland Yard's top detectives, Supt. Jock Wilson, has been given the job of guarding Prince Charles when he goes to Aberystwyth in April for a cram course in Welsh affairs.

Ship kindles tension in Ulster

LONDON (CP) — The journey back from Canadian waters by an old ship which once ran contraband arms to Northern Ireland is reported to have taken on added meaning amid current tensions in Ulster.

The ship's "imminent arrival in Northern Ireland waters is assuming a political significance that no one could have foreseen when the campaign began to save the vessel and turn it into a museum," says The Daily Telegraph.

The Clydevalley helped run arms and ammunition before the First World War to Ulster opponents of home rule for Ireland.

The vessel was later sold to the Canadian interests. It spent a number of years in coastal service and finally ran aground off Newfoundland in 1965.

When news reached Northern Ireland that the 460-ton vessel was to be scrapped, a group led by S. G. Campbell of Whitehead, near Belfast, determined to save her for use as a floating museum.

The Clydevalley subsequently was bought for this purpose. After leaving Sydney, N.S., Oct. 5 for Northern Ireland, the ship was forced by engine trouble to stop off at St. John's, Nfld., for repairs before resuming the transatlantic voyage.

ARRIVED WITH GUNS

Its gun-running venture occurred in 1914, with the Clydevalley sailing into Larne, Northern Ireland.

Enter Black Sea

ISTANBUL (CP) — Two United States destroyers steamed into the Black Sea today despite sharp Russian protests that their mission is both illegal and provocative and violates the 1936 Montreux Convention.

The 3,500-ton destroyers Dyess and Turner, part of the U.S. 6th Fleet, passed through the Dardanelles Straits from the Mediterranean Sunday but slowed and spent the night in the Sea of Marmara.

PM 'new boy'

OTTAWA (CP) — Pierre Elliott Trudeau, a "new boy" at next month's Commonwealth prime ministers' conference, will go to London early for a private meeting with British Prime Minister Harold Wilson.

A spokesman in Mr. Trudeau's office said Sunday the Canadian prime minister probably will leave here by jet late Friday, Jan. 3, or early Jan. 4.

Summit session

PRAGUE (AP) — Uneasiness was felt in Prague today over a Soviet-Czechoslovak summit meeting held in the Ukraine amid the kind of secrecy that was common before Alexander Dubcek came to power.

The weekend talks in Kiev covered "issues of common interest" including "further development of co-operation" between the two Communist parties and countries, said a vague communique issued Sunday in Moscow.

Preparation

OTTAWA (CP) — Central Mortgage and Housing Corp. is preparing to introduce some new wrinkles — perhaps next month — into its business of getting more money invested in housing.

US hopes talks start soon

PARIS (AP) — U.S. and South Vietnamese peace negotiators hold strategy sessions today, and the Americans hoped the expanded Vietnam peace talks would start before the end of the week.

Following the exuberant arrival Sunday of Vice-President Nguyen Cao Ky, who led a South Vietnamese delegation pledged to peace without surrender, the Americans under Ambassador W. Averell Harriman will sit down with their Saigon counterparts to dovetail negotiating positions and tactics.

The opening date of the expanded peace talks is still in doubt pending the outcome of another diplomatic dialogue between the United States and North Vietnam.

The shape of the table for the negotiations—of symbolic importance to the South Vietnamese and their rivals, the National Liberation Front—remained at issue after a week of private U.S.-North Vietnamese exchanges had threshed out other details for the first meeting of the delegations.

Quebecers will live in French

WOOMSOCKET, R.I. (CP) — Jean-Noel Tremblay, Quebec minister of cultural affairs, says the day is coming when Quebecers "will be able to live fully in French, in all spheres of activity."

"We are convinced that Quebec can and must remain French," he said in a speech prepared for delivery Sunday night at the 70th meeting of the Franco-American Historical Society by Andre Leveille, Union Nationale member of the Quebec legislature for Montreal Maitonneuve.

A text of the speech was released to the press before deliv-

The Communists demand a square table to match their argument that this will be a four-sided conference in which the Viet Cong's NLF delegation has separate, equal status with the other three.

DOESN'T MENTION NLF

Ky re-emphasized on his arrival the Saigon-Washington view of the parley as two-sided—between the Southern allies and the Communists. He refused to even speak of the NLF, which his government regards as an outlaw group. So the United States has proposed two long tables facing each other.

The conference already has been held up five weeks beyond the opening date envisioned in President Johnson's Oct. 31 bomb-halt package.

Ky offered no specifics on just what South Vietnam would propose at the conference.

North Vietnamese Foreign Minister Nguyen Duy Trinh says the people of North Vietnam and South Vietnam want their nation reunified. But he said reunification must be achieved without foreign interference.

Oswald: "The other day someone asked me if I had any idea as to how many finesses I had taken over the last 50 years. Then he wanted to know how many had worked."

Jim: "The figure would have to be well over 50 per cent. When I was just getting started you told me that the way to approach the problem of a two-way finesse for a queen was to charge yourself with a mistake every time you misguessed it."

Oswald: "I still feel that way about it, provided, of course, that you don't have some special reason to take the finesse against a particular opponent."

Jim: "Today's hand will illustrate this. South is in a normal three no-trump contract. He ducks the first two spade leads but wins the third one. Then he tries to count nine tricks."

Oswald: "He counts five tricks outside the diamond suit. Therefore he needs four diamond tricks for his contract. He can be sure of these, provided he doesn't give West a chance to get on lead with the queen. In that case, West will cash two more spade tricks and upset the apple cart."

Jim: "South makes sure that this won't happen by playing his ace of diamonds and then letting the jack ride to East's queen."

Oswald: "This would be a bad play under normal circumstances. When you hold nine cards in a suit you usually try to drop the queen but this time South's real consideration is to make sure that West can't get on lead. East takes his queen and South takes his nine tricks and the game."

Bell Tel. seeks rate increase

Bell Canada has applied to the Canadian Transport Commission for authority to increase its rates for local and long distance services and equipment. The company has requested that the proposed new rates be made effective March 1, 1969.

The present general level of rates, which has now been in force for ten years, was established on October 10, 1958.

The economic growth and well-being of Canada depend in no small measure on the quality and efficiency of telephone communications. Bell says in an announcement. Economical and ever-improving telephone service, which will meet the needs of the expanding economy of the nation, can only be provided to the extent that the company's earnings are sufficient to meet its financial requirements under current and immediately foreseeable circumstances and conditions.

During the past ten years there have been tremendous increases in the quantity and scope of services provided by the company, the announcement continues, an ever-increasing necessity for modernization and innovation because of accelerating technological development, and a marked increase in the size and cost of necessary construction programs. In addition, there have been the continuous pressure of rising costs, increased employee expense, increased taxes, increased depreciation expense, increased material costs, a continuing need for large amounts of capital to be raised in the face of higher money costs and increased competition for capital funds, and increased economic risk resulting from expansion of service.

EAST ANGUS — (Staff) — The conditions workers will face when the strike at the Domtar plants here and in Windsor ends, were discussed this morning as representatives of Domtar Pulp and Kraft Paper Ltd. and union officials from the company's two mills met this morning with the Minister of Lands and Forests, Claude Gosselin, at the minister's office in East Angus.

A secret ballot vote will be taken this week by the 462 striking East Angus Domtar employees to decide whether or not to return to work.

Mr. Gosselin said at a large meeting Sunday here that East Angus cannot absorb the costs of the strike much longer and he urged the strikers to return to work.

Mr. Gosselin asked the strikers to accept the provincial government mediator's last offer of a 35-cent per hour raise spread over a three-year period.

The company officials have said in the past the company will be losing if it grants this raise to the employees but it was willing to negotiate on these terms.

The union officials flatly declined the terms and so did the strikers by voting publicly with a show of hands.

The secret ballot this week will probably be held Thursday night.

At the meeting this morning, company and union officials attended, as well as representatives from the Eastern Townships Regional Economic Council (CERCE), the UCC and Mr. Gosselin.

Mr. Gosselin had to leave for Quebec immediately after the meeting which began at 8 a.m. and ended 90 minutes later.

Mr. Gosselin's press attache, Claude Bedard, told the Record this morning after the meeting that Raymond Pinard, director-general of the plants in Windsor and East Angus, promised union officials the company will spend $1,800,000 to renovate the East Angus mill.

No other meetings were scheduled.

Mr. Gosselin told union officials that Real Mireault, the government mediator who made the famous last offer about a month ago, was an honest, competent person who could be trusted to work for both sides.

The secret ballot will be made only by the East Angus strikers Thursday night and will not affect Windsor strikers.

Saturday afternoon Marcel Pepin, president of the CNTU, spoke to strikers at a church hall in East Angus.

It was he who suggested a secret vote be taken this week to try to end the strike.

However, Mr. Pepin told the strikers to join together after the vote and unanimously support the majority's opinion.

Even if there is a 51-49 per cent split, Mr. Pepin said, everyone should join ranks and form a unit.

One striker got up during the meeting and shouted that the men would have to work together after the strike so they should join together now.

Some women in the church hall, probably strikers' wives, made Mr. Pepin assure them the vote this week would really be a secret vote.

Mr. Pepin assured them and had to repeat this assurance about three times.

He said he wanted every striker to express his opinion freely in the secret ballot by the way he voted.

In his talk to the strikers in East Angus Sunday, Mr. Gosselin said the company has offered as much as it can.

He also pointed out that he himself had done everything humanly possible to bring the two sides to an agreement.

The two Domtar mills were closed July 18 when 1,200 employees went on strike.

Attackers jailed; striker fined; trio charged

Two men were sentenced to two years in jail Friday after Judge Roland Dugre found them both guilty of two charges of assault.

The two men, Gilles Robert, 28, of RR 5, Magog, and Donald Burke, 30, of Sherbrooke, were tried in Court of Sessions on charges of assaulting Mr. and Mrs. Paul Auray.

Both men had previous criminal records, Crown Prosecutor Michel Cote informed the court. The crime was committed November 13 at the Lake Park Hotel in Deauville.

Burke and Robert walked into the hotel and beat Mr. and Mrs. Auray with a baseball bat and a car jack lever.

The two accused were represented by Jean-Claude Boutin.

Judge Benoit Turmel found Ernest Godbout, of East Angus, guilty of causing damage to private property. Godbout was fined $25 or eight days in jail.

Godbout, who is a striking employee of the East Angus Domtar Pulp and Kraft Paper Ltd. mill, was accused of cutting two telephone wires at the East Angus plant.

Witnesses testified Godbout was seen walking into the mill's yard at 3:30 a.m. one morning last month.

After Godbout had been seen leaving the yard, Police Chief Andre Phaneuf of East Angus found the cut telephone wires. Although the evidence was circumstantial, Judge Turmel decided the Crown had presented sufficient facts to incriminate the accused who did not testify at the trial.

Three men pleaded not guilty Friday to a charge of attempted robbery of the grocery store of Rosario Doyon of St. Adolphe de Dudeswell and one of the trio pleaded not guilty to an additional charge of the attempted murder of Mr. Doyon.

Etienne Sarasin, 26, of Pointe Aux Trembles, Michel Simard, 19, of Val St. Michel, and Denis Gingras, 24, of Silley, all chose trials by judge and jury.

Their preliminary hearings are scheduled for December 18.

Sarasin is the member of the trio accused of the attempted murder.

Judge Dugre refused to grant bail to the three men until after the preliminary hearings.

Jean-Pierre Caron, 22, of Sherbrooke, pleaded guilty Friday to a charge of illegally leaving the scene of the accident.

He was involved in an accident with a car driven by Huguette Nadeau of Sherbrooke. Caron was fined $100 and court costs and his driver's licence was suspended for six months. In default of payment of the fine, he will be jailed for 30 days.

Jean-Paul Lacroix, 18, of Sherbrooke, pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing three rugs worth $1,050 from Mrs. Jean Fontaine of Sherbrooke.

At Prosecutor Stanley Steinman's suggestion, Judge Turmel will sentence the youth December 19.

Mr. Steinman told the Court that Lacroix had been asked by his mother to steal the three rugs.

Tax line held as mayor trusts in more generous Quebec for 69

Sherbrooke council decided at a special meeting Friday afternoon to keep the real estate tax rate the same in 1969 as it is this year, 12 mills.

In 1969, a taxpayer will still pay just $1.20 per $100 evaluation of his property and by the same token, $12 per $1,000 property value according to the evaluation roll.

Mayor Armand Nadeau proposed that the present rate be maintained and South Ward alderman Carl Camirand seconded the mayor's proposal, making it official.

A bid by the second South Ward alderman, Marc Bureau, to increase the rate from 12 to 14 mills, was not supported.

Mr. Bureau said at the meeting the increase of two mills would contribute $250,000 towards the decrease of Sherbrooke's impending deficit in 1969.

Mayor Nadeau also pointed out at the special meeting he hoped the provincial government would be more liberal with its funds in 1969.

The city budget has been under study and preparation for about a month now.

Few radicals harming Quebec teacher cause

If, as Premier Jean-Jacques Bertrand charges, the school teachers of Quebec are seeking to create a climate of anarchy in this province by leading their pupils in a march on the legislature to demonstrate against a proposed language rights bill, they are doing a disservice not only to themselves but to the province at large and perhaps to the whole cause of Canadian unity.

And, judging from the pictures of youngsters carrying placards, there is every reason to believe that some of the teachers' militant leaders — probably a small minority — are responsible for much of the trouble which broke out in Quebec City Thursday.

Obviously these youngsters, some as young as 12, would not have partaken in the demonstrations without the pressure, or at least consent, of their teachers.

In the past the teachers have received much public support in their campaign for better working conditions and strikes by instructors have been tolerated by the parents, even if the oldsters regarded them as regrettable.

But it is a far cry from staging an orderly strike to involving pre-teens in a campaign of racial hatred such as that which occurred at Quebec.

The only result can be to alienate the support of the majority of moderate-minded residents of this province from the teachers' cause, many of whom believe that the preservation of minority linguistic rights and the establishment of justice for the teachers are separate and distinct issues.

While the teachers involved in the Quebec demonstrations represent only a small percentage of the teaching force as a whole, the entire profession may suffer from the antics of a few radicals.

The fellow who saves money by doing his own electrical work may need every cent of it for the funeral.

What is involvement?

Ever since assuming the post of Prime Minister, and especially during the federal general election campaign, Pierre Elliott Trudeau has talked much about the need for the people of this country to become involved in the running of the nation.

Involvement and participation are two of the keywords of his political philosophy.

But, in many cases, there appears to be a wide breach between the Prime Minister's words and the practices of his government.

For example in the last budget drastic new taxes were imposed — savings are taxed through the levies on insurance companies; the right of a man to leave something for his children has been harshly reduced. And all these new levies were imposed without any previous discussion and without the parties concerned having any kind of say about them.

Nor was there any attempt at involvement when the postal rates were increased without consultation with the users of first class mail, newspapers and journals who must foot the increased costs.

As for Canada as a nation, Mr. Trudeau seems determined to follow a policy of disinvolvement rather than involvement in the international field, particularly in regard to this country's commitments to NORAD and NATO.

The Prime Minister may have something when he talks about Canadians becoming concerned and involved in the operation of their country; perhaps there has been too much of a tendency to let Ottawa run things and then complain loudly when it was too late to do anything.

But in many areas, Mr. Trudeau's desire for involvement reflects little more than the good intentions that pave the same old road.

When the day of Pentecost was fully come, they were all with one accord in one place . . . And they were all filled with the Holy Ghost. (Acts 2: 1, 4)

PRAYER: Father, grant us the power to give meaning to our living. Grant us the understanding of those who are different from ourselves, but whose faiths, loves, longings, and aspirations are so much like our own. Teach us the lessons of the unspoken, yet vital Truth. In our Master's name. Amen.

'Doc' fusses over the health of his peers

OTTAWA OFFBEAT

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA — It may be the youngest Parliament in years, with the youngest prime minister and the youngest cabinet — but it sure isn't showing on its health chart.

In business only since last September 12 when Parliament opened — which makes it just about three months old — the infant cabinet already has three heart cases: Energy Minister Joe Greene, Labor Minister Bryce Mackasey and Revenue Minister Jean-Pierre Cote. Then on the Conservative side, there's Gordon Aiken of Parry Sound-Muskoka.

All young men, too: Greene, 48; Mackasey, 47; Cote, 42; Aiken, 50.

It rather confirms what "Doc" P. B. Rynard, Conservative MP for Simcoe North has been saying almost since the day he arrived on Parliament Hill going on 12 years ago and took a good look around at the greyfaced, flabby-stomached veterans of the House.

Even the freshmen MPs like himself, those coming to these corridors of power for the first time looked tired. And so they should, having come fresh off the eight-week-long campaign trail of the 1957 election.

But what worried the "Doc" — who since has built up perhaps the country's most exclusive medical practice, fussing over the health of his 263 fellow-MPs — was the worn and weary look of the old hands, the veterans of many elections.

ALL THE WRONG THINGS

There have been — and still are — other medical men in the Commons besides the "Doc" "Doc".

But of them all, he is the one who worries, and cares enough to take charge of the parliamentary infirmary where two trained nurses stand duty.

It didn't take "Doc" Rynard long to conclude that the problem was not the men themselves — for after all the MPs comprise a good cross-section of the Canadian community — but their job.

Unless they are hounds-for-health like MP George Hees who still talks and walks like the Toronto Argos backfield star he was long ago, they are prisoners of the unhealthy parliamentary routine and do all the wrong things.

Happily healthy Hees breaks out of this compound-of-the-Commons long enough every day to do a 20-minute pre-lunch jog around the Hill and some 40 pre-dinner lengths of the Skyline or Chateau pools.

"Keeps you keen," he says, and quite obviously lean.

And it could be one of the reasons that George Hees and Pierre Elliott Trudeau are so en rapport in the House, with a sort of mutual understanding in the good feeling of well being.

But for most of the rest of them, says "Doc" Rynard, they let the special demands and pressures of their job push them into what he calls "the wrong kind of living."

Too much starch food. Too little exercise. Sometimes out of sheer boredom, too much whiskey. Too much sitting around in the Commons, in its committees, and perhaps in smoke-filled offices sweating over speeches or poker hands.

Then suddenly from maybe Friday afternoon to Monday morning, a burst of physical activity, the race for the airport for the weekly flight home, or the hard grind over the highway, the cramming into a few hours of a week's accumulation of personal or constituency business, and the rush back to Ottawa.

From a distance it looks like an easy life at $18,000 plus the many attractive fringe benefits.

But the price is high when it has to be paid in the tension and fatigue of long hours and late nights, the strain of travel, the heavy, fattening foods, the drinks and the smoky blue haze of receptions, the physical inactivity that comes as a built-in health hazard from boredom and the confinement of the Commons.

At Westminster, with the co-operation of House Leader Richard Crossman, the British Heart Foundation is conducting a health quiz of Parliament — equally applicable in Ottawa — in a survey into health hazards of being an MP.

Among the questions that "Doc" Rynard says might be usefully answered by his parliamentary patients:

Do you find being an MP frustrating?

Is this leading to a feeling of fatigue or lassitude, depression or irritability?

Does your wife tolerate-enjoy-dislike (and this is a key question) your membership of the House?

On a normal working Commons' day, how many drinks (counting the wine and beer at lunch) do you have?

How many packs of cigarettes per day do you smoke?

How are you spending your spare time?

The answer to those questions can be found in the health statistics which make it plain that parliamentarians aren't exactly the best insurance risks.

The holiday season being what it is, the Christmas break-out from their parliamentary prison isn't likely to do much to shorten the insurance odds, either, unless there are some good health resolutions for the New Commons Year.

Afro - Asian countries

There was a glimmer of hope for more moderate hard-line stance

UNITED NATIONS (CP)— For one brief moment recently Western observers saw a glimmer of hope that Afro-Asian countries were moderating their annual hard-line attitudes in respect to questions that they bring up in the United Nations year after year.

That was on a resolution condemning Portugal for not giving the right of self-determination to the peoples of her African colonies.

The language of the resolution was moderate to such a degree that some Western powers, including Canada, could support it, while others could abstain instead of casting their usual negative vote.

Then came Tuesday night's vote on dropping South Africa from a UN trade organization, passed in the General Assembly's economic committee despite warnings of illegality from UN counsel and dire warnings of consequences from Western powers.

The resolution called for the dropping of South Africa from the UN Conference on Trade and Development because of its policies of racial separation. The move to remove a country from a UN organization open to all 126 members was unprecedented.

REQUESTS IGNORED
So anxious were some African powers to get a vote Tuesday that they ignored requests for a delay to permit some delegations to get instructions from their governments on the complicated legal question. Then they rejected a plea from small countries that are surrounded by South African territories that they not be "sacrificed" because of a point of principle and turned away warnings they were setting a dangerous precedent.

They rejected Western statements that countries that abhor each others' policies should be able to sit at the same UN table to keep dialogue alive. Why else was the UN created? And the West feared the precedent created by the vote — assuming that it will be ratified by the General Assembly at a later date — could be used against other countries whose policies are abhorrent to the majority.

It could be said there was some contradiction in voting. For instance, Zambia, which recognizes the secessionist Biafran regime and thus its claims of genocide, sits at the same UN table as Nigeria. But the vote of both said they could not sit at the same table with South Africa on the trade conference.

CHARGES ABOUND
Dictatorship and dominance of one race over another are by no means confined to the white-ruled areas of Africa. Charges of repression of minorities have been made in several Negro-ruled African countries, and elsewhere in the world, including the much publicized Nigerian-Biafran civil war, Black-ruled Haiti, which incidentally was absent for this vote, has a repressive dictatorship.

Each year the UN debates virtually the same resolutions on Afro-Asian complaints — apartheid, Rhodesia, South-West Africa, Portuguese colonies, other colonies and similar other matters.

Each year most of the resolutions on these matters are passed, with the help of the Soviet bloc which loves to embarrass the West. Each year countries such as Portugal and South Africa ignore the resolutions.

Reader calls for new methods of teaching

Dear Sir,

Great strides have been made in most fields since the war by means of mass production and adapting a scientific approach to all types of work.

The only profession that lags behind and has not adapted itself to cope with the problems of today on a mass production scale is the teaching profession.

Our schools are magnificent and bus service excellent, but our teaching methods are similar to religion. They are the last to change.

The manner of teaching is antiquated as it tries to cater to individual instruction which is impossible in this day and age as larger classes are necessary.

About 60 per cent of all teaching should be done by means of TV and Radio. In this way classes could have as many as 60 or 100 students and all the teacher would have to do would be to keep an eye on those students who are not paying attention and detail them off to see the Principal if necessary or give them extra homework.

Most people are not aware that teachers spend at least 2 1/2 hours per day correcting exercises. At least two hours of this laborious work could be eliminated by asking 10 times the number of questions arranged as follows:

Written tests should be given every day based on what the students has been taught on the previous day? These tests should comprise a list of 10 questions per subject to be answered in five minutes using such words as "True or False or answering which one of the following solutions ABC or D is correct."

Let us assume that there are five subjects that conform this type of questionnaire? History, Geography etc.

This would mean approximately 120 test papers each containing 10 questions for each subject and would have to be compiled to cover a complete year. Total 6,000 questions.

The first 10 questions would be flashed on the screen for a period of five minutes. At the end of that time 10 more questions would follow until the complete 50 questions were completed. Examination time 25 minutes.

Using this method 100 or more students could be examined at the same time.

Examination papers to be turned in by the students on a daily basis would be printed to allow space for the 50 replies.

This would mean printing the leaflets with five columns (one for each subject) plus 10 lines in depth with a space at the top for the students name, grade and test number.

It would take approximately one minute to correct a paper of this type. All one would have to do would be to put the list containing the correct answers alongside the replies and cross out the incorrect ones in red.

By using this method it would enable us to:

—Improve the mind of the student by asking them 6,000 questions per annum instead of the 300 as at present.

Reduce the teachers work load by approximately 25 per cent so that they could devote more time to those subjects which must be written or explained orally.

—In addition, reduce the teaching staff by about 20 per cent mostly by attrition.

—Which will reduce the cost of education by more than 15 per cent and make the taxpayer happy.

A further suggestion pertaining to schools situated in a bilingual district applicable to children attending the first two grades.

These children in the English schools should spend one hour per day playing with the children of the same age group in the French school.

★ PROPOSED MONTHLY EXCHANGE RATES FOR PROPOSED RATE GROUPS

[illegible]

It is also proposed that the rates for the One-Way Extended Area Service provided in the Oakville Exchange be increased: Individual Line, each — Residence 50

It is also proposed that Service Systems switching charges be increased by 15¢-20¢ per main telephone per month.

LONG DISTANCE RATES (Ontario and Quebec)

An increase of 5¢ for the initial period of most station-to-station calls between centres up to 35 miles. Overtime rates at some mileages will be increased by 5¢.

The 20¢ additional charge now applicable to station-to-station calls that are placed collect or billed to a third telephone number will be discontinued; however, a new schedule applicable to most station-to-station calls placed through an operator will be introduced. The initial period rate will be 20¢ above the initial period customer-dialed day station rate, and the overtime rate will be 5¢-10¢ higher. In locations where Direct Distance Dialing is not yet available customers may place DDD-type calls through the operator at the reduced rates.

Person-to-person calls will be increased by 20¢-40¢ for the initial period. Overtime rates will be the same as the station-to-station operator overtime rates.

INTER-EXCHANGE MILEAGES

The proposed changes in rates for inter-exchange channels associated with Foreign-Exchange Service, Tie Trunks, Off-premises Extensions and Concentrator-Identifiers will reflect increases of approximately $1.00 per mile at shorter distances and decreases at longer distances. The proposed schedule incorporates mileage bands similar in structure to the Long Distance rate schedule.

Further details may be obtained from any Business Office of the Company where copies of the proposed tariff revisions are available for inspection. Dated this 6th day of December, 1968.

Miss Sue Fletcher entertained at a recent pantry shower

AYER'S CLIFF — Mrs. K. Gale and Mrs. M. Thompson were hostesses at a pantry shower held recently in honor of Miss Sue Fletcher at the home of Mrs. Gale.

Miss Fletcher was met at the door by Mrs. Thompson who pinned on a corsage and escorted her to a decorated chair.

Mrs. Gale presented the gifts, and the guest of honor was assisting in opening them by Mrs. Claire Shipway and Mrs. Pearl Temple, mother and grandmother of the groom-to-be.

An assortment of household hints was offered to the bride-to-be by the ladies present.

Lunch was served buffet style. The dining table was centered with an arrangement of white mums and baby pink carnations. Tea and coffee were poured by Mrs. Temple and Mrs. Gale.

The shower cake was made and decorated by Mrs. M. Thompson.

Battle cry for women's rights: It's 'emancipate the men'

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—A new battle cry is being heard in the struggle for women's rights. Put simply, it's "emancipate the men!"

A Swedish government report to the UN on the status of women says any attempt to give women an equal place in the world without relieving their traditional burden of caring for home and children is doomed.

Thus, the Swedes reckon, husbands should be "emancipated" from their work so they can devote more time to cooking dinner, doing the wash, taking Johnny to the dentist and other housewife chores.

Undoubtedly this would mean giving most men shorter working hours and educating and encouraging them to take a more active role in parenthood, the report says.

It even goes so far as to note a suggestion voiced in some Swedish quarters that fathers are entitled to leaves of absence from their jobs—with pay—so they can stay at home while their children are young.

SUPPORTS IDEA

"The government is well aware that this view appears revolutionary and unrealistic in the eyes of the representatives of many other countries," the Swedes admit. "A growing opinion in Sweden has, however, rallied to its support."

In a country where four out of every 10 workers are women and 70 per cent of its women hold jobs of some sort, the problem of working mothers in Sweden is a burning public issue.

This lively debate, the report says, has fostered a new approach involving a break from the traditional habit of regarding these problems strictly as "women's questions."

The report also makes a number of other somewhat controversial points on the women's rights question.

Some examples: —The character of matrimony as an institution for the support of women according to the Occidental tradition has become an indirect obstacle to her emancipation in modern industrial society.

Newly weds feted at surprise shower

SWEETSBURG — Recent newly weds, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Wilson were feted at a surprise party at Sweetburg, the home of the groom's mother, Mrs. Jennie Wilson.

Upon returning home from Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Spencer's, uncle and aunt of the groom, where they had been supper guests, the couple was surprised to find several friends and relatives awaiting to extend congratulations.

The newly weds were recipients of numerous gifts and a sum of money.

Following an enjoyable social evening, lunch was served by the mother of the groom, assisted by the groom's aunt and cousin, Miss Margaret Beattie and Mrs. Mabel Wetherby.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson are residing presently in the home of Mrs. Jennie Wilson.

The bride is the former Marcella Hevey of Knowlton.

Coat dress ideal for that travel wardrobe

NEW YORK (CP) — The coat dress is rapidly becoming almost a daytime uniform with many women, and is even invading the late-day scene.

Functional and versatile, coat dresses are ideal for the travel wardrobe, since in many climates they can substitute for a coat worn with a lightweight shaped dress underneath.

They can be the complete coat for shopping or similar activities in Canadian spring weather, although some are intended as daytime dresses only and make no pretension of real coat qualities.

Some extremely smart variations of the coat dress are included in the New York winter collections. The Originala salon used black gabardine for a side-closing style with a wide, four-button self-belt and a neat little collar. This style, with the accent on the coat, could carry through spring.

On the other hand, Kimberly has a double-buttoned wool knit, intended only as a dress, in a magnified black-and-white glen plaid, completely belted in black and black-patent belted. And the coat dress invaded the late-day field with Samuel Winston's taupe velvet in a broad-tail print with rhinestone clasp closing and sporting patch pockets. This could even be worn as a theatre coat. Adele Simpson also designed a coat dress in simulated broadtail.

TWEED JOINS ACT
Even this season's popular tweed gets into the coat dress act. Donald Brooks scored twice by adding a quilted leather girdle-belt to his tweed coat dress. Cinched-in waists are the latest news. And Junior Sophisticates also used tweed in plaid style. Mrs. Simpson binds a flicker tweed coat dress with leather, another popular fall-winter accent.

The step-in coat dress is also popular with a number of designers. Gaston Berthelot of Christian Dior-New York likes bachelor button bright blue for his version. He also introduced a black velvet coat dress with white pteriot ruffle neck.

Coat dresses take to every fabric, even to denim. The Denim Council showed a couple in its winter collection, one in navy with Eton collar and the other in a copper plaid fitted style with patch pockets.

Coat dresses evolved away back in the mid-1940s when a new silhouette gave coats a dress look. There was a demand for a soft dressmaker coat—the softer the better—and these soon came to serve as either a dress or a coat. By the end of the 1950s the easy coat dress was appearing in late-day wear as well.

In the spring of 1960 fashion authority Eleanor Lambert told the press at the New York showings that the coat dress was a top favorite in crisp wool, silk-and-wool or cravat silk. By the fall of '61 it was appearing in suiting or coating fabric for daytime and heavy silk ottoman for evenings. And each year since, it has steadily consolidated its own place in fashion.

Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Lockwood celebrate their golden wedding

CLEVELAND — Mr. and Mrs. Sydney H. Lockwood were at home to their relatives and friends at the Valleyview Hall, Cleveland, recently, to celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary.

The couple of the golden years were met at the door by Mrs. Douglas McGee and Mrs. Russell McKee who presented them with a corsage of champagne carnations and a champagne boutonniere and escorted them to the front of the hall where about 140 guests extended their congratulations and good wishes.

The nephews, Murray Lockwood and Douglas McGee, presented the honored couple with two money trees. Mr. Lockwood expressed the appreciation and thanks of his wife and himself. The plants and flowers used in the decorations were gifts to the couple.

Refreshments were served by the relatives. The head table centered with a three-tier anniversary cake, made by niece, Mrs. Douglas McGee and decorated by Harry Burt, was flanked by gold tapers in decorated gold holders. Numerical 50s were visible throughout the hall. An enjoyable afternoon was spent visiting and reminiscing.

Members of the family attending from a distance were Mrs. Charlotte Magill, sister of Mrs. Lockwood, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Gardner and family, River-ton, Vt.; and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ryder and family, MacIndoes Falls, Vt. Mr. Lockwood's sister, Mrs. James Lockwood, of Richmond, was unable to attend due to illness.

Others attending were from Inverness, Pointe Claire, Windsor, Greenfield Park, Lennoxville, Danville, South Durham, and the surrounding area. Miss Ruby Fleming and Sydney H. Lockwood were married in St. John's Church, Gallup Hill, Dec. 4, 1918, by Rev. B. Watson and have spent their entire life in Cleveland.

More action less talk

OTTAWA (CP) — One sprightly 68-year-old woman thinks there is too much talk about the generation gap and not enough action.

Peggy O'Neil, a white-haired, tiny woman with the energy of a person half her age, would like to see an agency set up where older people can volunteer their services to the community.

People don't lose their skills when they retire, she says, and they should still be able to do their bit.

She will retire in December after 42 years at the Ottawa General Hospital, first as a night supervisor in the nurses' residence and for the last 15 years as hospital receptionist.

But she has no intention of retiring from the community. "I've got a nice, modern apartment and I would never go into a senior citizens' home."

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY — The Company has settled out of court claims for some $48,000,000 in back income taxes from two railroad subsidiaries. The settlement which still has to be approved by the cabinet, was for somewhat less than $40,000,000. It is understood C.P.'s board is believed to have ratified it already. The bulk of the tax claims — $46,000,000 including interest and penalties — were made for the years 1962, 1963 and 1964 against the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway, a small line on Vancouver Island that CPR acquired in 1905.

CANADIAN SUPERIOR OIL — CALGARY — The company and its parent company, Superior of Houston, Texas, said they have jointly purchased 2,046,003 acres of offshore holdings in the Canadian Arctic at a price "in excess of $6,000,000."

BELL TELEPHONE CANADA — The company has applied for a rate boost, the proposed rate boost would produce a revenue increase of about 10 per cent.

QUEBEC TELEPHONE — The company is considering whether or not to join Bell Canada in applying for higher rates and may make an official announcement in "two or three days."

BRIGHT LIGHTS IN EAST BERLIN — East Berlin has taken on a brighter and more bustling look this Christmas season in comparison with recent years, as evidenced by the view of shoppers at the Christmas market on Karl Marx Allee.

QUEBEC SCENE:

French-Canadians can live elsewhere

ST. BONIFACE, Man. (CP) — Maurice Gauthier, first president of the newly-formed Franco-Manitoban Society, says the existence of the French-speaking community in Manitoba refutes the separatist argument that French-Canadians can live only in Quebec.

Mr. Gauthier, 44, director of a regional Manitoba co-operative, made the statement in an interview Sunday after 500 delegates attending the Rallye Franco-Manitobain had elected him president of the society.

The new organization was created at the weekend rally to replace the old Education association of French-Canadians of Manitoba, of which Mr. Gauthier was president for three years.

It will deal with politics, economics, education and cultural aspects of the French-speaking community in Manitoba.

Earlier, Donald Craik, Manitoba education minister, told the rally the "government of Manitoba has a vested interest to preserve and propagate your culture in Manitoba."

MAY CHANGE LAW — Mr. Gauthier said this may mean the provincial government is thinking of modifying a 1966 law authorizing the use of French as language of instruction for 50 per cent of the courses taught.

The law states that in a school where French-speaking students are not in a majority, no French-language instruction is authorized.

However, in a school where French-speaking students are in the majority, certain subjects may be taught in French, but instruction must also be given in English for the English-language students.

Emile Pelouquin, principal of the secondary school at St. Pierre, about 30 miles south of Winnipeg, said that when there are not enough pupils to hold classes in two languages, English takes precedence.

"Minority or majority, the French language is losing," said a resolution adopted unanimously by delegates.

Hits CBC

TROIS-RIVIERES, Que. (CP) — J. A. Mongrain, Liberal member of Parliament for Trois-Rivieres, has accused the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation of hiring department heads who are fond of providing platforms for "revolutionaries and nuts."

"Mr. Mongrain told a citizens' group during the weekend that some CBC executives therefore can carry some of the blame for increasing violence."

He's positive

MONTREAL (CP) — A former deputy in the Greek parliament said Sunday he is "100 per cent sure" the country's 1967 military coup was organized and financed by the United States Central Intelligence Agency.

Antonios Brillakis, a deputy for 14 years until the parliament was dissolved after last year's coup, said the CIA became worried about a swing to the left in Greek politics and helped organize the seizure of power by the military.

This has become "an open secret" during the past few months, the 44-year-old politician told about 500 members of Montreal's Greek community. Mr. Brillakis said the CIA wishes to keep Greece within the U.S. sphere of influence because of the country's strategic value in the event of further Middle East crises.

He said an estimated 95 per cent of the Greek population opposes the "militarist and neo-fascist" junta.

Evidence of this was the "huge" turnout for the funeral of former Greek Prime Minister Georges Papandreu last month. Papandreu was put under house arrest by the junta following the coup and was not released until shortly before his death.

Brillakis, who said he is the only member of the disbanded United Democratic Left party to avoid capture by the military, said he has been working underground for 15 months to overthrow the junta.

BROKEN FINGER didn't break his spirit and Ronnie Kubly, 11, of Monticello, Wis., isn't letting anything stop him from knitting a scarf as a Christmas gift for his mother. The disconnected digit was result of a football mishap.

Aids mothers

Did you know that the Canada Assistance Plan provides federal sharing for the first time in the costs of mothers' allowances—that is, programs providing aid to needy mothers and their dependent children. The Plan also extends federal sharing to cover costs of maintaining children in the care of child welfare authorities.

FOLLOWED FATHER

Alexander the Great's father, Philip of Macedon, was also a famed general.

Transplant debate

Pathologist must define death

TORONTO (CP) — Dr. Fred Jaffe is an expert on death. As Ontario's only full-time legal and medical pathologist he finds out how, where and when a person died.

But now he faces one of the most difficult assignments of his career—finding a definition of death.

The 47-year-old medical director of the attorney general's centre of forensic science has been appointed to the Canadian Medical Association's committee which has been given the task of defining life and death.

"Heart transplants have lit a fire under the need for a definition," he says.

"We used to say a person was dead when his heart had been stopped for half an hour."

But a stopped heart is useless for a heart transplant and now doctors look to the brain of a dying person to tell them when life is ended.

He says the definition must suit not only medical and legal grounds but religious ones too. And he is well aware how difficult it is to be certain a person is dead even when no heart transplant is involved.

DRUGS TO BLAME

Twice in the city morgue bodies have been brought in declared dead by experienced coroners but turning out to be still alive.

The reason a coroner can make such a mistake is that drugs such as barbiturates or morphine cause body reactions that can fool the most experienced doctor.

"In a case of morphine poisoning the person may breathe only three times a minute." Normally an adult breathes 14 to 20 times a minute.

At the Toronto morgue, Dr. Jaffe and the eight part-time pathologists in the city perform 700 autopsies a year. Autopsies must be performed whenever a person dies suddenly without medical attention.

Dr. Jaffe is called in on all "frank homicides" and in many cases where the body cannot be identified. It may be merely a skeleton. He picks up a skull just shipped to him from North-east Ontario and looks at the teeth.

"An Indian, more than 100 years old," he says promptly.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Even though Antarctica is snow-covered, it is the world's largest desert. The World Almanac says. Half the size of the United States, this frozen wasteland surrounding the South Pole receives only six inches of snow yearly, which equals 1/2-inch of rain. Death Valley, in summer the hottest and driest place in the nation, receives more moisture than that.

Foreign aid only helps a bit

WASHINGTON (CP) — Canada's attitude to foreign aid, as indicated by Prime Minister Trudeau's stated concern about world poverty and the public reaction to Biafran starvation, has been greeted here as a thin sliver of silver lining in a bleak picture.

A Canadian speaker at a recent foreign aid conference on strategy for the 1970s was introduced with instructions to report on "why the new Canadian prime minister can talk about increasing foreign aid without raising much opposition."

The speaker was Executive Director Gordon Hawkins of the Canadian Institute of International Affairs, participating in a panel discussion on strengthening the readiness of politicians to vote for more aid. His restrained optimism contrasted with U.S. gloom, based partially on expectations President-elect Richard Nixon will cut back.

Hawkins was careful to note Canada's foreign aid program is relatively small. But he called the public pressure on the Canadian government over Biafra "symptomatic" and allowed that "for a while at least we may be on the main track in Canada."

PROSPECTS PESSIMISTIC

Aside from such hopeful developments as breakthroughs in high-yielding strains of wheat and rice, the prospects for foreign aid elsewhere seem pessimistic.

Famed Swedish sociologist Gunnar Myrdal told the conference the rich nations still are supplying "only crumbs from their table."

William S. Gaud, who has headed the U.S. foreign aid program, said it is the bitter truth the U.S. is "doing badly" in helping poorer nations attack what he called the main threat of population explosions, as well as more food production.

A few days earlier, Lord Snow of Britain, author and statesman, told another U.S. audience "I have been nearer to despair this year than ever in my life."

"Many millions of people in the poor countries are going to starve to death before our eyes or, to complete the domestic picture, we shall see them doing so upon our television sets."

Gaud, who specifically disagreed with that gloomy appraisal by Snow, did acknowledge that the U.S. Congress this year cut the foreign aid budget to $1,800,000,000, or its lowest yet.

U.S. RANKS SEVENTH — The U.S. actually ranks only seventh in the amount of aid it provides on a per capita basis, Gaud said. It was spending 57 per cent of its national income on aid.

Canada's avowed target in recent years has been to provide at least one per cent of its national income as foreign aid. Prime Minister Trudeau made his own views plain in his widely-read statement to Queen's University students that he had less fear of threats from atomic bombs or missiles than from "two-thirds of the world's population that goes to bed hungry every night and large fractions of our own society that do not find fulfillment in this society."

Hawks dump Bruins 7-4 while Gordie Howe scores a pair to give Wings 5-2 victory

New York Rangers, who only last week were first in the National Hockey League standings, have lost three games in a row. And they've also lost right-winger Rod Gilbert, 10th in the NHL scoring race with 27 points on nine goals and 18 assists.

Gilbert, who will be out four to six weeks with a broken left ankle and torn ligaments, was missing Sunday night when the Rangers dropped a 5-2 decision to Detroit Red Wings before a hometown crowd of 17,250. He was hurt in Toronto Saturday night as the Rangers lost by an identical score to the Maple Leafs, dropping into second place in the Eastern Division standings.

New York was tied for first with Montreal going into weekend action, but the Canadiens edged two points ahead with a 6-3 win over Chicago Black Hawks Saturday.

In other Sunday games, Toronto beat Pittsburgh Penguins 4-1. Chicago dumped Boston 7-4. St. Louis fought to a 4-4 draw with Philadelphia and Minnesota defeated Oakland 4-1.

HOWE SCORES TWICE
At New York, Gordie Howe scored two goals and assisted on two as Detroit took a 5-1 lead in the first period.

"The first 700 goals are the toughest," said Howe, who has a career total of 702 and is in second place behind Chicago's Bobby Hull in the NHL scoring race.

He said his next milestone would be 714—baseball's home run record established by the late Babe Ruth.

Dean Prentice, Frank Mahovlich and Garry Unger scored the other Detroit goals while Donnie Marshall and Bob Nevin replied for the Rangers.

In Chicago, Hull scored three goals for the 23rd time in his NHL career as the Black Hawks beat Boston.

HAS SIX POINT EDGE
His performance gave him 19 goals for the season and 44 total points for a six-point spread over Howe.

Chicago raced into a five-goal lead and then stood off a late Bruin surge. Bobby's final goal, on which Chicago goalie Dave Dryden picked up an assist, halted the Boston comeback with eight minutes left.

Hull's brother, Dennis, also scored twice for the Black Hawks. Doug Mohns and Matt Ravlich got the other Chicago goals while Bobby Orr, Derek Sanderson, Phil Esposito and Ken Hodge scored for the Bruins.

Pierre Pilote, who had managed only one goal in the 1967-68 season and none so far this season, fired two to lead Toronto past Pittsburgh. The veteran defenceman connected on a first-period slap shot and scored again in the second as the Leafs, in fourth place in the NHL's Eastern Division, won their third straight game.

Murray Oliver and Dave Keon were the other Toronto marksmen. Leo Boivin scored Pittsburgh's only goal while Tim Horton was serving a hooking penalty in the second period.

BLUES STRETCH STRING
St. Louis, leading the Western Division by 10 points over Los Angeles Kings, stretched its unbeaten string to 12 games with the tie against Philadelphia Flyers. The Blues have won five and tied seven since their last defeat, Nov. 9, at Montreal.

Forbes Kennedy's 20-footer at 12:04 of the third period gave Philadelphia the tie.

goals past his brother to earn a 2-2 tie as the final score.

MONTREAL (CP) — Two of the strongest men in the National Hockey League — one renowned for his scoring ability and the other for his pugilistic endeavors — clashed in the eighth minute of Saturday night's game between Chicago Black Hawks and Montreal Canadiens.

Black Hawks' Bobby Hull, the league's leading scorer and Canadiens' John Ferguson clashed after Hull took exception to a crosscheck.

The ensuing fist fight was a standoff on points, but Hull had to retire to the clinic to get five stitches in his nose.

Ferguson collected a major penalty for crosschecking, a major for fighting and a misconduct. Hull was handed a major for fighting.

Referee Art Skov called a total of 69 minutes in penalties in the game in which Serge Savard tangled with Bill Orban and Jacques LeMaire took on Matt Ravlich. Montreal won the game 6-3.

Ferguson claimed he did not crosscheck Hull.

"I certainly didn't crosscheck him," he said in the dressing room after the game. "But who is going to believe me?"

"Anyway, does Hull think that for $100,000 a year he's going to get off Scot free?"

Outside the Chicago dressing room, coach Billy Reay was bitter at Ferguson and said he crosschecked Hull.

Hull, Ferguson stage donnybrook Saturday

"He should've been given a match penalty," he said. Reay also said he thought Hull's nose may have been broken in the melee.

Guinness pulls this off five million times a day

How's that for openers?

Why do people drink five million glasses of Guinness daily? Well, it could be Guinness' delightful touch of bitterness. Or that rich, creamy texture. Or perhaps its deep ruby colour. This old Irish brew is unique. Constantly unique. Guinness is now available where beer is sold in Quebec—at non-imported prices, but the same great Irish taste. Why don't you discover the brew that tastes like no other on earth. Just for a change. Brewed and Bottled in Canada by Labatt Brewery Ltd.

Tigers edge Beavers 3-1

Victoriaville Tigers moved to within two points of the Quebec Provincial Senior Hockey League front-running St. Hyacinthe Gauls over the weekend, trouncing the Ottawa Eastern Canada Nationals 5-2 in Ottawa Saturday night and then returning home last Sunday to down the Sherbrooke Beavers 3-1.

Meanwhile St. Hyacinthe held onto their slim lead by edging the Chicoutimi Saguenéens 4-3 in a game which meant four points to the winning team. A win for Chicoutimi would have put the three teams in a tie for first place.

Tomorrow night in Provincial Senior Hockey League action, the Sags will make their second appearance in the Sherbrooke Sports Palace this season while Victoriaville meets the Vics in Granby.

Last night's victory by the Tigers marks the fifth in their last six outings under new coach Jean Guy Charbonneau. Saturday night in Ottawa the Tigers were officially received by Canadian Members of Parliament, Victoriaville will leave for Sweden and the annual Bunny Ahearne Tournament which opens Christmas Day.

Health Minister John Munro gave the Tigers 600 maple leaf emblems to be given as gifts as well as a large Canadian flag.

In Victoriaville last night Pierre Potvin, Andre Bessette and Clement Boudreau provided the Tigers with the scoring power, enabling the defending Allan Cup champions to edge the Sherbrooke Beavers 3-1.

Sherbrooke's lone goal was scored by team Captain Rene Pepin.

Last night's battle in Victoriaville was a goaltender's duel from the opening to the end.

Sherbrooke's Jacques Monette turned in one of his finest performances of the season, stopping 36 shots.

Jean-Guy Morrisette, Tigers' netminder, was not tested as often but when the occasion did arise, he was equal to it. Morrisette turned aside 36 shots.

Sherbrooke's blue-line contingent performed brilliantly last night and with a better forward attack the Beavers could have upset the hustling Tigers.

The Tigers led after the first period 1-0. They added one more goal in the second. Early in the third session, Pepin scored for Sherbrooke but Boudreau's goal at 17:55 clinched the win for Victoriaville.

Cleveland Browns win Century Division

Cleveland Browns clinched the National Football League's Century Division crown Sunday and will meet Dallas Cowboys, Capitol Division winners, Dec. 21 in Cleveland for the Eastern Conference title.

The Browns, 10-3, snapped a 14-14 tie in the fourth quarter to defeat Washington Redskins 24-21. The Cowboys, 11-2, whipped Pittsburgh Steelers 28-7 as quarterback Don Meredith threw three touchdown passes and Bob Hayes returned a punt 90 yards for another touchdown.

Baltimore Colts, boasting the best record in pro ranks with 12 wins and one loss, ended Green Bay's long reign as champions Saturday when they eliminated the Packers 16-3 in the Central Division.

Lou Michaels kicked three field goals for the Colts, who took the Coastal Division crown when Chicago Bears upset Los Angeles Rams 17-16 Sunday.

Minnesota quarterback Joe Kapp, former star of British Columbia Lions, ran for two touchdowns and threw for a third but the Vikings had to survive a fourth-quarter San Francisco surge to beat the 49ers 30-20 and continue their bid for the Central Division title.

The Vikings and Bears are tied for the division lead, each with 7-5 and one game left.

In other games, Detroit Lions beat Atlanta Falcons 24-7. St.

Louis Cardinals defeated New York Giants 28-21 and Philadelphia Eagles won their second of the season, trimming New Orleans Saints 29-17.

TRAIL ONCE
The Bears, two-touchdown underdogs, were behind only once against the Rams. Quarterback Jack Concannon scored from four yards in the third quarter for what proved to be the winning touchdown.

Quarterback Roman Gabriel of the Rams scored from three yards out to pull within one point with 2:42 left in the game.

With 55 seconds remaining the Rams drove to the Bear 32, with in field goal range, but a holding penalty rolled them back to their own 47. That proved to be the end of the line for Los Angeles, who are 10-2-1.

The Packers, 5-7-1, substituted 36-year-old Zeke Bratkowski for ailing Bart Starr at quarterback. Bratkowski, hobbled with poor ball-handling and numerous fumbles, failed to get the Green Bay offense in gear against the best defence in the league. The Colts have allowed only 123 points in their 13 starts.

The Colts limited the Packers to a single field goal, a 45-yarder by Mike Mercer, in ending Green Bay's chances for a fourth straight NFL title.

MORRILL PASSES
A recovered fumble and a 26-yard pass by Earl Morrill to flanker Willie Richardson gave Baltimore a touchdown in the first quarter. Mercer and Michaels matched field goals and the Colts led 10-3 in the second quarter. Packer fumbles enabled Baltimore to move the ball for Michaels to kick two more field goals from 15 yards each time—in the second and third quarters.

At Dallas, Meredith completed 50 per cent of his 24 passes for 248 yards. The Cowboys rolled to a 21-7 halftime lead on Meredith's five-yard touchdown pass to Craig Baynham, a 53-yard scoring shot to Hayes and the spectacular punt return by Hayes, the former Olympic 100-metre sprint champion.

Meredith also nailed flanker Lance Rentzel with a 65-yard toss for the last Cowboy touchdown in the fourth quarter. Steeler quarterback Dick Shiner was flattened seven times attempting to pass but managed to get off a 37-yard touchdown pass to John Hilton in the second quarter.

Cleveland trailed 14-7 at halftime, but Leroy Kelly bolted across for his 19th touchdown of the season to bring the Browns even.

Bill Nelsen cemented the title with a 38-yard touchdown pass to Paul Warfield moments after Don Cockroft's 20-yard field goal had snapped the tie.

Frazier and Bonavena promise K. O. for tomorrow's fight

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Joe Frazier and Oscar Bonavena have both promised a knockout in their heavyweight championship fight Tuesday night.

Frazier, who broke training camp Sunday in Pleasantville, N.J., said he would "smoke out" Bonavena in about seven rounds.

Undeclared in 21 pro fights, Frazier is defending his piece of the world heavyweight crown.

Bonavena, from Buenos Aires, said upon breaking camp at Camden, N.J., "I knocked him down twice before. Now I'm even stronger. I'm going to knock him out and take the title back to South America."

THINKS HE IMPROVED
Frazier, 24, who won a close decision over Bonavena despite being knocked down twice in that fight in New York in 1966, wants to prove he's better now. "I wasn't happy with the decision in the first fight," Frazier said. "I was given it was Frazier's 12th pro bout. I've learned a lot since then."

He would like to be the first man ever to knock out the tough 26-year-old challenger.

Like the champion, Bonavena never has been knocked out, but he was dropped by Zora Folley and Jimmy Ellis.

Chiefs trounce Chargers 40-3

Quarterback John Hadl of San Diego Chargers had trouble Sunday throwing over the hulk Kansas City Chiefs defensive line.

"Those guys 6-foot-7 look 100 feet tall when you try and throw over them," Hadl said.

Six of his passes were intercepted as the Chiefs trounced San Diego 40-3 and knocked the Chargers out of the Western Division race in the American Football League.

The victory kept the Chiefs, 11-2, in a first-place tie with the Oakland Raiders, who edged Denver Broncos 33-27.

Kansas City is at Denver and Oakland at San Diego next weekend, and if both win, a playoff will be held in Oakland.

In other AFL action Sunday, New York Jets, 10-3 and the Eastern Division champions, downed Cincinnati Bengals (3-11) 27-14 and Miami Dolphins (5-7-1) blasted Boston Patriots 49-38-7. Saturday, Houston Oilers (6-7) ripped Buffalo Bills (1-12-1) 35-6.

San Diego opened the scoring with a 28-yard field goal by Dennis Pardee in the first period, but from then on the hometown crowd had little to cheer about.

One of Hadl's passes was grabbed by Kansas City linebacker Willie Lanier who rumbled 75 yards for a touchdown. Two other interceptions were followed by touchdown passes by Len Dawson—five yards to Gloster Richardson and seven yards to Mike Garrett. Dawson also connected on 68-yard scoring strike to Frank Pitts.

Kansas City also intercepted a Jon Brittenum pass, and the seven thefts gave the Chiefs 34 for the season, just one shy of a team record. The six interceptions put Hadl into the AFL record book with five other quarterbacks.

Centenary of St. Edouard's Parish marked by Anglican congregation

KNOWLTON — (Special) — Sunday, Dec. 1, another milestone was passed in the history of St. Edouard's Church, when, to mark the occasion of the Centenary of the founding of the Parish, the congregation of the Anglican Church of St. Paul's attended a special evening service with the members of St. Edouard's parish.

At this service a fine wrought iron and oak pulpit was presented to the Church to mark the important occasion, as a tribute of friendship and affection held by members of St. Paul's Church and parish to all members of Father Boucher's parish. St. Paul's Church Warden, William Blackwood and Kenneth Seal presented the pulpit to Rev. E. Boucher, for his Church, on behalf of members of St. Paul's parish.

The presentation was made by Mr. Blackwood during the service. Mr. Blackwood, speaking in both English and French, offered best wishes and congratulations to members of St. Paul's to members of St. Edouard's on the historic occasion. Father Boucher accepted the gift for his parish, and expressed his sincere thanks for the wonderful gift.

In his remarks, Father Boucher spoke of the wonderful friendship and harmony that exists in the community between the English and French, the Protestants and Roman Catholics, and expressed his hopes that it would be an example to the rest of the world. Canon Nurse, Rector of St. Paul's Church for over 22 years, spoke of the happiness that he found working and praying together with all the members of the community, regardless of race, creed or color. A brass inscription is mounted on the front of the pulpit announcing it to be a gift from St. Paul's to St. Edouard's to mark the 100th Anniversary of the Parish.

The children's choir of St. Edouard's Convent School were in attendance and sang several selections during the service. At the conclusion of the service, all were invited to the Convent School Hall where refreshments were served, and an enjoyable hour was spent by the English and French-speaking persons. Refreshments were delicious in both languages! Approximately 150 attended the happy occasion, many coming from out-of-town to be present for this milestone in the life of the parish and community.

If your doc's got purple feet he's probably a wine-maker

VANCOUVER (CP) — Take a good look at your family doctor's feet next time you go in for a check-up. If they're purple, he's probably a member of one of the largest single groups of amateur wine-makers.

"About 40 of every 1,000 doctors makes his own wine—a percentage far above the average for other professions," says Dr. Kenneth Cambon, an ear specialist who has been making and prescribing wine for the last nine years.

Actually the wine-maker and physician have always maintained a close association. "Egyptians used a mixture of wine and vinegar for cleaning ears in a practice similar to our use of eardrops," says Dr. Cambon.

The Greeks used "the blood of the grape" on post-tonsillectomy sponges to help heal the wound. And at various times, wine has been used as an aphrodisiac, a tranquilizer for the insane, a gargle and an elixir.

Dr. Cambon says the discovery that bacteria were the cause of many diseases has tended to de-emphasize the fact that sickness can also be influenced by social, anatomical and environmental factors.

Wine could be used to help cure many minor illnesses, he says. "For instance I will suggest that a person with a nervous throat spasm drink wine with meals."

The wine will provide a gracious atmosphere conducive to relaxation and "the spasm will disappear."

Wine can also be used to treat an inner ear disease because it dilates blood vessels. It might also be prescribed as a sedative for old people or a means of depressing the blood pressure of a person with a nose bleed.

"To quote the Talmud: 'Wine nourishes, refreshes and cheers. Wine is the foremost of medicines,'" says the doctor.

Nuclear Watchdogs Put Teeth In Nonproliferation Agreement

VIENNA — (NEA) — Not far from Vienna, in the tiny village of Seibersdorf, a small group of dedicated men are bracing for a nuclear explosion due in five years' time.

The men are employees of the International Atomic Energy Authority (IAEA), an offshoot of the United Nations, which has its world headquarters in Vienna.

It's the job of the IAEA to see that none of the by-products of the "atoms for peace" nuclear power program are used to destroy mankind. So far, working with a budget of $12 million a year, IAEA has done its job well. But things threaten to get out of hand by 1974. That's where the explosion comes in.

At the present moment 13 countries, including the United States and Russia, have 89 nuclear reactors among them, producing 13,462 megawatts of power. But by 1974 the number of nuclear power nations will have increased to 21. In five years' time there will also be three times the present number of nuclear reactors, with a power capacity 83 times greater.

heads is the treaty of the nonproliferation of nuclear weapons, which, although agreed to, has yet to be ratified by the three depository governments—the United States, Russia and Great Britain.

However, as a result of the nonproliferation treaty, the majority of nations are expected to place their nuclear installations under the control of the IAEA for safeguard inspections.

In the IAEA laboratories at Seibersdorf, various devices are being tested which could take the place of inspectors, or at least assist inspectors in carrying out their spot checks of nuclear installations.

What is needed is some sort of "black box" gadget which is easily portable, and which could unfailingly detect the manufacture of such fissionable materials as plutonium. To date the IAEA has settled on no specific equipment for such use.

An all-purpose "black box" would go far towards solving the manpower problem, for IAEA's present staff of 22 inspectors is woefully inadequate. By '74, anything from 200 to 2,000 inspectors will be needed for the job.

At present IAEA inspectors are checking on 105 installations, including four of America's 18 nuclear reactors. (The United States has assured the world that the whole of its peaceful nuclear program will be placed under IAEA control once the nonproliferation treaty goes into effect.)

Altogether 30 countries have agreed to allow the IAEA to inspect reactors and other installations. As might be expected, the biggest hold-out is Soviet Russia, which has refused to place any of its 14 nuclear reactors under IAEA safeguard controls.

In those countries which have agreed to IAEA control, periodic inspections are held without advance warning.
