The coal business at Philadelphia is very much depressed. The prices would tumble but for the combination which has a monopoly of the business.

A new salt basin has been discovered in Saginaw Valley, Michigan, which is deemed inexhaustible. The brine is obtained at a depth of 1,761½ feet.

The State of Mississippi, which did not owe a dollar in 1857, is now saddled with a debt of three millions and a half, and, what is worse, has nothing to show for it.

A large vein of corundum has been found near Unionhill, in Chester county, Pa. This mineral serves the purpose of emery. It has bitherto been found in limited quantities, but now the supply of it is said to be immense.

Those engaged in the building business in Jersey City, Bergen, Hudson City, and Hoboken, have abandoned the eight hour rule; and master builders say this will result in a very decided improvement in their business.

Authorities at Augusta say that the cotton crop of Georgia will be 100,000 bales short of that of last year. The whole crop is estimated at 3,500,000 to 3,700,000 bales. Galveston and New Orleans estimates do not run as high.

The draw of the new iron bridge of the Erie Railway over the Passaic River has been completed. The draw is 203 feet over all, 26 feet high to the top of the posts, and weighs 200 tons. It can be opened and closed in less than five minutes.

Raising cork trees seems to be an approaching industry in California. They are said to grow very rapidly among the foothills. At Auburn there are a number of three or four years old that have bark thick enough for any ordinary cork.

There are 10,135 school children in Portland, Maine, between four and twenty years of age. The nationality is:—Americans, 6,903; Irish, 2,853; French, thirty-seven; colored, sixty-one; Germans, thirty-six; Danes, twenty-seven; Russians, six; Scotch, four.

Owing to the pressure of the times, the masons, bricklayers, hod carriers and helpers, in Jersey City, Bergen, Hudson City and Hoboken, during the past week have been abandoning the eight-hour rule, and it is announced that all are working ten hours a day without asking an increase of wages.

A few miles from Fort Madison, Iowa, is an apple orchard growing in the midst of a dense forest. The peculiarities of the trees are, first, the shape of the leaf, being long and quite slender; second, they bear fruit of the finest flavor, and parties come for miles around to taste them, and some take leaves and press them to keep as curiosities. The trees are said to have been planted by an Indian Chief about the year 1795.

Many Dartmouth college students have replenished their purses this season by serving as waiters in the White Mountain hotels, getting $20 a month. "When we consider," says President Smith, "the fact that nearly one-third of the students at Dartmouth teach school during the winter, and work at harvesting in the summer, we need have no fear about the dignity of labor becoming an obsolete expression."

The building in Washington for the British Embassy, said to be the handsomest and costliest residence in the city, has been finished, and will be ready for the occupancy of Sir Edward Thornton on the 1st of October. Its cost has been about one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, and the furnishing will cost half that sum. It has seventy rooms and covers about ten thousand square feet of ground. It is of pressed brick, laid in black mortar, and is trimmed with light gray sandstone.

The Inter-State Industrial Exhibition at Chicago was opened on Wednesday of last week, without any parade or ceremony. The scene inside was, however, most brilliant. Every available space was taken up by the exhibitors. The collections of rich fabrics, of articles of taste and utility, and of the various products of skill and ingenuity, were on a grand scale. The floral display was magnificent. The art hall eclipsed anything of the kind heretofore presented in America.

The cattle disease at Newton, Conn., is substantially the Texan fever. It seems to be spreading all over the State, and Professor Cressy of Amherst (Mass) Agricultural College thinks that fifty cattle are now lying dead from it in the State; ten have died in Woolcotville alone. The Texas cattle, while they have the disease frequently, seldom die of it, but communicate it to the native and Western animals. Professor Cressy has called upon Professor Stockbridge of Amherst, ex-Governor Hyde and Secretary Gold to meet him at Windsor, where there are some signs of the disease.

The thousands who visited the noble steamship "City of Peking, while on its trial trip to Newport and Boston will be interested in the following incident of her return trip to New York: Among the guests was the builder of the ship, Mr. John Roach. He was desirous of seeing what speed she could make, and as she neared Sandy Hook, Mr. Roach went down to the engine rooms and made a wager of a hat with the engineer that he could not make the distance from Sandy Hook to Governor's Island, eighteen knots, or twenty-one and three-fifths statue miles, within an hour and a quarter. The sails had been furled, as the wind no longer served, and as the City of Peking entered the lower Bay she was noticed to be cutting through the water faster than ever. Up past Statan Island, through the Narrows to the upper bay she came, greeted by salutes from yachts, steamers and tugboats, and as she reached Governor's Island, Mr. Roach triumphantly proclaimed his bet lost. The time was one hour, three minutes and thirty seconds, as taken by Com. Meade, U.S.N.—The Blue and the Gray.

The Halifax Colonist says: The exports of canned, dry and pickled fish, lumber and various classes of country produce to the United States and West Indies have been heavy, and we note also the sending abroad of home manufactured goods such as boots and shoes, trunks, skates, biscuits, etc.

We are glad to notice that a trade is springing up between Canada and the United States in the article of logs. The St. Thomas Times says:—Mr. D. McKillop, of West Lorne, shipped last week two car loads of white ash logs, and one of walnut, to J. Booth, of Buffalo. Mr. McKillop informs us, that he has a contract for a large quantity.

About 100 sail, principally mackerel catchers, were in Georgetown, P. E. I., harbor, during the blow last week. Some twenty vessels had taken from sixty to one hundred barrels during the past fortnight; but the rest had done nothing. The general report from them is that fish are very scarce lately, and they fear the fall business is going to be very slim.

The St. John's News records an act of princely generosity on the part of a man named Scallan, of that place. He was a railway contractor, but failed there some years ago, and went to South America, where he engaged in railwaying and amassed a fortune. He has returned to St. John, has paid off all his debts, and is spending thousands of dollars in buying land and houses there for his sisters, several of whom live in that city.

Jno. H. Holden, Esq., shipped from Belleville, on Wednesday, a herd of seventeen blood Ayrshire cattle, for Rochester, N. Y., for entrance at the fair to be held there. Mr. Holden takes his celebrated young bull "Pride of the Hills," valued at twelve hundred dollars; also several cows, well-known to growers of blood stock as being among the best in the Dominion. We learn that a herd of 60 short horn Durhams owned near Bowmanville will also go to Rochester for the coming fair.

Attorney-General Clarke, of Manitoba, has put in a claim for damages against the United States Government for ill-treatment received while in St. Paul, Minn. He swears that his baggage was confiscated in order to cause his detention there, and he was twice brutally assaulted and seriously injured, and that his usage was instigated by the Fenian Brotherhood, to vent spite against him for the proper performance of his duty while acting as Attorney-General of Manitoba, and also by parties who had been implicated in the kidnapping of Gordon Gordon. He asks for $50,000 damages.

About forty years ago a man named Dodds bought a large tract of land comprising what is now the site of the present Orangeville. Being unable to pay for his purchase the deed was sold to another and the property in course of time divided up into lots, and disposed of. Since then manufactories, blocks of stores, dwellings, &c., have arisen on the land, making what was once but wild bush and swamp the most valuable and thickly settled portion of the town. It would appear that at the time of buying the land, Dodds was married and in disposing of it had not received the consent of his wife, and it is she (or rather her children who are living now) who after a lapse of forty years rise up and claim one third the value of the land, the portion she was entitled to legally at the time of the sale. The property is, of course, of immense value now, and should Mrs. Dodds, who is now over eighty years of age, be successful in the suit she has entered, her portion will represent a nice little pile.

The Indian camp meeting in the township of Delaware drew together a large concourse of people on Sunday last from all parts of the surrounding country. St. Thomas, London, Fingal, Wallacetown, Iona, Talbotville, and many other points were well represented. The meeting was held in a patch of woods, the property of Mr. Sickle, the Indian interpreter, and is situated about a mile from the Thames river. Temporary tents and wigwams had been erected, and refreshments were dispensed by the squaws, who were arrayed in all the colors of the rainbow, and judging by the number of papooses by which they were surrounded, we should judge that the Indian race is not dying out in Canada. Sermons were preached both in the English and Indian languages, and hymns were also sung in both languages by an Indian choir. In addition to the Oneida tribe of Indians, there were many visitors from the Muncey and Chippawa tribes. The Oneida tribe number about six hundred, and they own some of the best land in the county of Middlesex. They raise wheat which would carry off first-class prizes in the agricultural shows. Many of them are very industrious and have embraced Christianity. Their peaceful and prosperous settlement forms a striking contrast to the roaming and savage tribes of red men in the western territories of the neighboring Republic.

FAMILY READING.

No young woman ought to feel herself qualified to become a wife until she is sure she understands how to do the most that can be done with her husband's money. The management of a household is not a thing to be properly and safely instrusted to hireling hands. A servant is a broken reed for the head of a family to lean upon. There are a thousand little ways in which money must be expended, in which real shrewdness and enterprise are requisite in order to use it to the best advantage; and there are a thousand other ways of saving money, open only to those who have studied aright the art of economy. The Turkish proverb has it, that "a prudent woman is a mine of jewels," and, like many other Oriental sayings, this is beautiful for the truth it embodies. A wasteful housekeeper not only actually robs those for whom she undertakes to manage of the comforts it is her duty to provide for them, but keeps her husband head over ears in debt, and makes the domestic life of a poor man a continual series of experiments in shunning it from one day to the next; in keeping the stomach full, though the purse be empty.

For years the custom of donning black in respect to the memory of departed friends has been steadily decreasing among a certain class of people; yet multitudes are wearing the unrelieved black of mourning, and under their garments are hearts in perfect keeping with their sombreness. Year in and year out, heart and body alike wear mourning. Who shall take off the outer robe while the heart is still clothed in sack cloth? One objection to the custom of wearing mourning is its expense. For instance, a father and mother are struggling along with a large household, just able to live comfortably. Suddenly the mother is removed by death. A lot in the cemetery must be immediately purchased; a handsome casket ordered; and carriages procured. The father sensibly says to his half-dozen grown girls: "I fear we cannot go into mourning." But officious neighbors declare that the young ladies must have mourning dresses. The dresses are bought, not course materials such as was formerly considered most appropriate, but expensive materials, to be made up in the latest style. And so the funeral bill of Mr. F. grows to such a figure that for years it will lie a heavy burden on his shoulders, and will go to prove the saying true that in our time "one can neither afford to be born nor to die." In such a case as this is it well to follow an empty custom?

If you want to make mischief keep your eye on your neighbors. Take care of them. Do not let them stir without watching. They may do something wrong if you do. To be sure, you never knew them to do anything bad, but it may be on your account they have not. Perhaps if it had not been for your kind care, they might have disgraced themselves a long time ago. Therefore do not relax any effort to keep them where they ought to be. Never mind your own business—that will take care of itself. There is a man passing along—he is looking over the fence—be suspicious of him; perhaps he contemplates stealing some of these dark nights; there is no knowing what queer fancies may have got into his head. If you find any symptoms of any one passing out of the path of duty, tell every one else what you see, and be particular to see a great many. It is a good way to circulate such things, though it may not benefit yourself particularly. Do keep something going—silence is a dreadful thing; though it is said there was silence in heaven for the space of half an hour, do not let any such thing occur on earth, it would be too much for this mundane sphere. If, after all your watchful care, you cannot see anything out of the way in any one, you may be sure it is not because they have not done anything bad; perhaps in an unguarded moment you lost sight of them—throw out hints that they are no better than they ought to be, that you shouldn't wonder if the people found out what they were after a while, then they may not hold their heads so high. Keep it going, and some one else may take the hint, and begin to help you along after a while, then there will be music, and everything will work to a charm.

Much is expended annually for schools, and yet but little is accomplished to what might and should be. Inefficiency of teachers may be one cause, but inefficiency of home discipline is by far the greater hindrance to progress in our schools. Parents should manifest more interest in them than the pupils. Where parents have little or no interest, scholars will have about the same; and teachers, though often ardent in the commencement, seeing their works unappreciated and accomplishing little, soon tire of their employment and turn their attention to better appreciated labor. Weary mothers, and even domestic servants, know how a word of sympathy from those we are working for lightens labor. Tired, over-worked mothers, did you never realize the relief that a loving husband or grown-up son's sympathy gave you? Then why not have a sympathetic feeling for well-meaning school teachers? Parents and teachers should be united, and parents especially should have more interest in the cause of education. They should meet often and converse on school topics, and there should be a hearty co-operation of parents and teachers. Parents should visit the schools not less than twice each term, and more if practicable, not to find fault, but to commend and appreciate where it is due. Should you perceive a fault in the teacher injurious to the school, then go to her and her alone, and tell her in the spirit of kindness; and nine cases out of ten it will be received as such. Be careful and not mention a teacher's fault before the children. The most devoted teachers are liable to err. Educate your children to respect and obey their teachers. Many parents thoughtlessly or unconscious of the harm it is doing, speak lightly of the teacher before their children, and often destroy much good which might be accomplished could they but bridle their tongue. By pursuing the above course, a good school will not be injured and a poor school may be bettered. Try it all and see.

FAMILY MATTERS.

Chintz (to Wash).—Make a good lather, add a little vinegar and salt, plenty of rinsing water. The chintz to be quickly rinsed out.

Camomile Tea.—This is a most valuable tonic, and may be made agreeable by placing a little dried orange peel with the flowers, when the boiling water is poured on. When cold, should be taken in the morning.

Tomato Sauce.—Cut up and remove from each tomato the pips and watery substance it contains; put them into a saucepan with plenty of butter, pepper, salt, and some thyme; add a few spoonfuls of either stock or gravy; keep stirring on the fire until they are reduced to a pulp, then pass them through a sieve, and the sauce is made.

An Odd Use for Hammers.—Old Dr. Twitchell once wanted to blister some one in a farm house, far from home. He had nothing with him to do it with. He asked his wife to find him a hammer. The article was brought, put in a tea-kettle over the fire, and, after the water steamed and bubbled well, he lifted it out and gently touched the patient, in half a dozen spots over the seat of pain, with very positive effect.

Soap.—The value of boiled soaps of course depends greatly on the quality of the materials used. This accounts for the difference in price and quality. The purest materials, such as clean tallow or pure oils, thoroughly saponified, yield the most valuable soaps, costing more per pound, but they are cheaper in the end. A good soap is a perfectly neutral compound, and will in no case injure the most delicate fabrics. The simplest method of testing soap is by tasting. If it is sharp and biting on the tongue there is an excess of alkali; but if it leaves no unpleasant sensation on the tongue, there is not the least danger that it will rot or otherwise injure clothes in washing.

Tea Leaves.—Save the tea leaves for a few days, then steep them in a tin pail or pan for half an hour, strain through a sieve, and use the tea to wash all varnished paint. It requires very little "elbow polish," as the tea acts as a strong detergent, cleansing the paint from all impurities, and making the varnish equal to new. It cleans window-sashes and oil-cloths; indeed, any varnished surface is improved by its application. It washes window-panes and mirrors much better than water, and is excellent for cleaning black walnut picture and looking-glass frames. It will not do to wash unvarnished paint with it. Whiting is unequalled for cleaning white paint. Take a small quantity on a damp flannel, rub lightly over the surface, and you will be surprised at its effects.

Cleaning Kid Gloves.—To clean kid gloves, place a fine towel, folded, on the table, on which lay your glove; take a piece of flannel, and with the forefinger dip it lightly into milk, then rub it twice on a piece of common brown soap; proceed to rub the glove, commencing with the thumb, and as the flannel lip becomes dirty change it till no dirt comes off the glove. After cleaning the front and back of the finger, open the finger and again lay it down flat, this time to clean the sides, otherwise you would find a streak of dirt when the glove is dry. After the fingers, clean the palm and back, taking care no particle escapes, otherwise a streak will appear. When the glove is dry, pull it out, and a white, clean glove will be the result. Too much soap hardens the glove; too much milk is equally objectionable.

The following was crowded out of yesterday's issue.

PUBLIC OPINION.

Those Infamous Pictures.

To the Editor of the STAR:

SIR,—In your article of the 11th inst. on vaccination you say: "The woman was at once directed to remove the bandage and keep the arm clean. It appears she neglected to do this, but fell into the hands of Drs. Jacques, Coderre and others of the same ilk, who put in practice a most extraordinary style of treatment, apparently with the object of making the arm look worse, so that the artist might have a startling looking subject to paint from."

This is not the proper time to discuss with you the merits of vaccination. I address myself to you to-day to demand the rectification of an error—perhaps unintentional—which you have committed through false reports. The bandage to which you allude may be imaginary, but one thing is not, and that is the photograph in question. It represents faithfully the arm of the child, such as it was on the 14th of August. I had never seen this child before this date, and have not given my attention to it, under any circumstance, either before or since that time; and I have put in practice neither extraordinary or ordinary treatment, having never treated the child in any way.

Yours, &c., &c.,
J. EMERY CODERRE.

[The bandage was not imaginary, but the picture representing the child's arm cut in two certainly is—a pictorial lie in fact, meant to prejudice the public mind.

Dr. Jacques told the Health Officer that he had consulted Dr. Coderre, and that chemical preparations had been applied to the child's arm. This was extraordinary treatment, as the case required simple cleanliness and the removal of the bandage.

Etiquette required the case to be sent back to Dr. Larocque, Drs. Jacques and Coderre had no business with it at all. Dr. Coderre says he has given "no attention to the case," yet his name appears endorsing the lying pictures which he and others had to admit at the recent meeting were "a little highly colored." The picture represents the arm cut off, Dr. Coderre knew that such a representation was false.—ED. STAR.]

PETTY LARCENIES.

Joseph O'Leary, 10, and Patrick Kane, 13, were fined by the Police Magistrate this morning $2 or twenty days for stealing melons yesterday from the garden of Mrs. Smith, a resident of the west end; also, in the same amount, Ed. Kelly, 10, and John Hughes, 13, for stealing apples from trees belonging to Mr. Alex. Murphy, gardener.

Charles Lamontagne, 16, a painter, arrested on suspicion of having stolen pigeons on Cadieux street, was discharged, and Isaie Payette, a brushmaker, charged with the theft of a tub of butter left in the care of Narcisse Allaire, trader, St. Paul street, was remanded prior to committal for trial at the Court of Queen's Bench.

CRYSTAL PALACE CASE.

The above case was resumed before the Police Magistrate at two o'clock this afternoon, when Lieut.-Colonel Stevenson, a member of the Council of Arts and Manufactures, was examined. He stated that the Council, up to the 29th, the date he left the city, had been in actual and exclusive possession of the Crystal Palace and property; he had been absent from town until the 8th inst., and consequently could not speak to personal knowledge of what had taken place in the interval, but save with reference to the charge laid in this case, he knew of nothing that had, during this period, interrupted such possession, which had commenced in the year 1860, under the Board of Arts, of which the Council was the successor, and to the rights and privileges of which it succeeded. The evidence was confined to proof regarding the rightfulness of possession on the part of the Council; he mentioned that it had been occasionally used by volunteer corps for the purposes of drilling since the Trent affair.

SPLENDID SITE.

On Saturday a number of citizens viewed the property at Cote St. Antoine, belonging to M. E. Hudon, which is to be offered in lots at auction next Saturday afternoon on the ground.

After a short but beautiful drive the viewers were asked to alight at the head of the property, which runs from the Cote St. Antoine Road to St. Catherine street west, being divided by Victoria Avenue and crossed by the continuation of Sherbrooke street and Western Avenue. The land commands magnificent views of the River St. Lawrence and the country beyond, is delightfully situated as regards its immediate surroundings and is undoubtedly destined to become at no distant date one of Montreal's most popular suburbs. Mr. Hudon has expended considerable on road making, sidewalk laying and fencing, and he says the arrangements are well in hand for connecting the property to the city proper by the rails of the City Passenger Car Company. Omnibuses have run out in this direction for some time past.

After having walked over the ground, the company were invited to partake of lunch in a marquee pitched on the hill top. His Worship the Mayor presided. In the course of the proceedings speeches dwelling upon the growth of Montreal, its future prospects, and the fine position of the Hudon land were made by His Worship, Messrs. J. McKay, Sache, Benny, White, and others.

REAL ESTATE SALE.

On Saturday afternoon an exceedingly large audience were present at the sale of the lots belonging to Messrs. Alf. Brown and Chas. Brewster, on the property, St. Joseph, Workman, Albert and Delisle streets, near the Tannery Bridge. The twenty lots on St. Joseph street produced some of the keenest competition we have seen for some time, and were quickly disposed of. Twenty in rear on Workman street next found ready purchasers, and also eighteen on Albert street. A number of the lots were purchased by well-known capitalists, a number of the audience who wanted one or two lots preferring to pay them a small profit to have the benefit of judgment in purchasing. Fifty-eight lots in all were sold, amounting to a little over $58,000, or an average of $1,000 each lot. Mr. Arnton conducted the sale in his usual happy style, which we think must be considered in every respect a fair success. We give below names of purchasers, prices paid, &c.:—

Helmets.

Messrs. Reynolds & Volkel, hatters, corner of Notre Dame and St. John streets, have recently imported, and have on exhibition in their shop-windows, a number of fine helmets, chiefly suitable for firemen's wear, which it is understood Chief Bertram has generally examined and approved. The helmets are severally of very neat designs; two are of prepared leather with tasteful brass ornamentation; a third is of German silver, and a fourth of brass. One pattern—which is of leather, and quite light for wear—might be advantageously obtained for the use of the police. The attention of the City Fathers is called to the matter.

Norwood.

We have pleasure in calling attention to the prospectus in our paper of to-day of the suburban town of Norwood, projected at the Back River, near Perry's Island, at the crossing of the N. C. R. R.

There can be no question of the necessity for just such an enterprise, and judging from the prospectus there are features about "Norwood" which must command it to a large class of our citizens. The provisions for making it a desirable family residence we hope will be carried out. We hear a number of lots have been already sold to highly respectable parties, and we think there is nothing to prevent its being a great success.

"DOING KING STREET."

The following from the Toronto Globe might, perhaps, be localized and applied to St. James street:—

It might even be a question with the young ladies themselves how often it is advisable for them to "do" King street, and whether they should do it at all without an escort or a chaperon. We hesitate about saying anything that may have a tendency to deprive our streets of what Mrs. Stowe's Sam calls "a means of grace." namely—"a nice well-balanced young gal." But when a young lady alone, as is sometimes the case, "does" King street persistently, or when two hunt in couples, and are a little lively in manner, people talk, and this talk serves nobody and helps no hopes. In this connection, perhaps, it might not be amiss to point out that no young lady will ever regret remembering that her demeanour should, above anything else, be instinct with modest maidenly grace, which, indeed, is to her beauty what the bloom is to the peach and the fragrance to the rose. This will make her manner at once less bold and less stiff, less suitable for flirtation, and far more suitable to make an enduring impression and inspire a lasting regard, and cause her to approximate to that ideal in which the useful and the beautiful are mingled, in which the dignity of toil is blent with all that is inspiring in sweetness and grace, which was sketched by Wordsworth in one of his happiest moods—"a spirit, yet a woman too, with household motions light and free, and steps of virgin liberty."

Tuesday, September 22, 1874.

THE Montreal Medical and Surgical Journal thinks Dr. G. W. Campbell deserves knighthood, and the Herald says "hear, hear."

THE attention of the Postmaster-General is called to the fact that the stampers of the Service are in the habit of stamping postal cards on the written side, thus frequently obliterating words and figures and causing great inconvenience to the business community. In the States the rules require the stamping to be done on the printed side. The American cards are also superior in quality compared with the Canadian.

A Ministry at Last.

Those who predicted that the Hon. Mr. DeBoucherville would not be able to form a Ministry must "hide their diminished heads." He has done it at last. The official version is as follows:—

Hon. Charles Eugene Boucher De Boucherville, Provincial Secretary and Minister of Public Instruction.

Hon. J. G. Robertson, Treasurer.

L. R. Church, Attorney General.

A. R. Angers, Solicitor General.

Henri Gedeon Malhiot, Commissioner of Crown Lands.

Pierre Garneau, Commissioner of Agriculture and Public Works.

Hon. Felix Hyacinthe Lemair, President Legislative Council.

Messrs. Angers, Church, Garneau and Malhiot have to go to the polls.

Park Management.

Last night the City Council chose three of their number to act as Park Commissioners—the men whom they delighteth to honor being Ald. McGauvran, David and Nelson. These gentlemen are to have "exclusive control, management and supervision" of the Mountain Park—the Island Park being left to manage itself apparently—for three years, retiring in rotation in the order named, and being eligible for re-election. They are to be paid merely their expenses, and these are not to exceed $300 per year each. Any plan for laying out the Park must pass the Council, which body can dismiss any Commissioner for neglect of duty or dabbling in contracts, &c. During the discussion it was submitted that the gentlemen named had already as much as they could attend to properly, also that the Council monopolized all civic offices, and the names of three gentlemen outside the Aldermanic ranks were proposed, but the idea did not take with the majority, and the original motion was carried by a vote of 19 to 1. There is such a thing as having "too many irons in the fire"—let us hope the saying will not have an illustration in the case of the Mount Royal Park Commissionership.

Going it Blind.

Whether for good or for evil it will be readily conceded by all who have given the slightest attention to the matter that the proposed Treaty between Canada and the States will materially affect the current of affairs in this country should it go into effect. Yet while the Boards of Trade, Local and Dominion, have taken the subject into consideration and discussed it in a general way, it seems to us that the great body of the people have not yet shown that appreciation of the importance of the proposed measure which it deserves. No doubt this arises in a great degree from want of proper organization or leadership, the masses viewing it as beyond their jurisdiction and so it comes that what is everybody's business is nobody's. Yet it is a portentous fact and one demanding more than passing notice that wherever the propose I Treaty has been discussed in general terms the verdict of the great majority has been against it. But this is not enough and we may rest assured that such expressions of opinion as have so far found utterance will scarcely suffice to influence the Government in the slightest degree. It is evident that the Treaty will be made a Government measure, also that the Government has determined to carry it as it stands unless very plain reasons appear for a modification. So far, as we have said, the objections to the Treaty have come from all parts of the Dominion, but they have not been made in detail and in this respect they stand the risk of being viewed as "glittering generalities" when it comes to a vote at Ottawa.

Now, in its operations the Treaty might prove very beneficial, but this is by no means assured, neither have we any sufficient data to warrant an opposite verdict. This very uncertainty where so much is at stake impells us to express the opinion that means should be taken to arrive at some conclusion upon the matter before we are bound to abide by the Treaty for nearly a quarter of a century. What seems to us a very excellent idea was suggested at the recent meeting of the Board of Trade by Mr. Vernon, viz.: The appointment of Committees of five acknowledged representative men in each branch of business likely to be affected by the Treaty. It would be the duty of these several committees to submit reports, based upon the individual experiences of the members and information gathered from various sources. It was proposed, we believe, to have some twenty-five committees. The several reports would then be summarized and in this way we should get the well-weighed opinion of experienced, practical men upon the various matters at issue. Such opinions would be much more satisfactory than a general indefinite verdict, and we think it is safe to conclude that such opinions would carry great weight with those to whom we have confided the power to accept or reject the Treaty. The meeting in question took a different view of the matter, but the meeting can scarcely be said to have fairly represented the Board, and we imagine that if the subject were brought up at a full gathering of the members, Mr Vernon's suggestion would be heartily endorsed. It seems to us that in so acting the Board would only be doing its legitimate work. We hope to hear that other Boards throughout the Dominion have adopted the committee plan. But outside the Boards of Trade there ought to be some attention paid to the subject.

The Treaty will affect for good or evil, directly or indirectly, all classes, and it is well that the Government should know what the people think of the proposed bargain. There are among our mechanics and artizans men who give careful attention to these questions and who could, were the opportunity afforded, put their views into very good language. There are also many employers who are not members of the Board of Trade who yet would gladly avail themselves of a chance to express their opinions upon the subject. It seems to us, then, proper that steps should be taken to let this confined public opinion find an outlet. Of course such movements must have leaders who will take the initiative and arrange for bringing the scattered minds together. Surely in this great city there are some sufficiently public-spirited to take the matter up.

CITY COUNCIL.

A special meeting of the City Council was held last evening, His Worship the Mayor in the chair.

PETITIONS.

Henry Moffatt, master carter: To be indemnified for injuries caused to his horse and vehicle by the carriage of the Salvage Corps, on the evening of the 6th inst., while on his proper stand, corner of Radegonde and Craig streets, representing that the animal was severely injured; that he has a large family to support, and that he has received no indemnity for the loss sustained.

Henry Benjamin, hire and stone dealer: Urging that By-law No. 69 should be so amended as to make every weigher in the city a public weigher in conformity with this regulation, in order to relieve dealers from the inconvenience of driving long distances for the purpose, &c.

Alfred Roy, fils: Complaining that real estate in the suburbs, and more especially in St. Mary's Ward, is assessed at its full value, whereas in the centre of the city, properties are under-assessed.

M. Paul Mallard: Offering to form a company to establish a public slaughter-house in, or in the vicinity of the city.

THE CITY ATTORNEY'S PROTEST.

The Assistant City Clerk read a protest from Messrs. Roy and Devlin, complaining of the publication by the City Clerk of a criticism upon an opinion which they had given with respect to the number forming a quorum of the City Council—a practice which, if not prevented, might be prejudicial to the public interests, militating against the respect with which their legal opinions were received. They protested against the mixing of the City Clerk in judicial questions, and hoped he would henceforward limit himself to the performance of the duties attached to his position. They further strongly complained of the publication of their opinion in one of the city journals, previous to submission to the Council. The question of the Committee to which this matter should be referred being raised, the Mayor declared that he had both obtained the opinion and authorized its publication; he maintained that it was not an opinion given to the Council at all, and that all the responsibility for its publication fell upon himself, for whose guidance it was made.

An animated and somewhat violent discussion followed. The Mayor warmly urged that the communication should be allowed to lie on the table until next meeting, as he had taken upon himself the responsibility of publication.

A SCENE.

Alderman Loranger—What we want to know is this—

His Worship—I claim the right to have something to say. Will you allow the question to lie over?

Alderman Loranger—Are we to pay Attorneys to give opinions to the public papers before submission to the Council? that is the question. Then the City Clerk has as much right as any citizen to publish his opinion in the city papers.

Alderman McGauvran complained that the Mayor was in the habit of choking off discussion on matters of this kind, and affirmed that when this question came up, His Worship would not allow the letter to be read in English.

His Worship, loudly—So far from not allowing it to be read in English, I asked it to be read in English. Let truth be stated here, and not falsehood! It was my earnest desire that it should be read in English.

Alderman McGauvran—Then you choke off discussion in order that members not understanding the French language so well as your Worship does [slight laughter] may not say a word on the subject. With all due respect for your Worship, I understand it as well as you do.

The matter was finally left over till next meeting.

OTHER PETITIONS.

Petitions were presented by members asking for the extension of the use of gas, in Point St. Charles, in the neighborhood of McLellan and Corporation streets; for the establishment of a fire engine in the vicinity of St. Gabriel Locks, by proprietors in that locality; and for the improvement of Centre street, by residents,—supported by Aldermen McCambridge and McGauvran, and opposed as incorrect in its allegations by Alderman McShane.

Alderman Loranger mentioned that instructions had been given to place the large steam engine in the Wellington street Fire Station.

A communication was received from Mr. C. J. Brydges, Chairman of the Committee, on the part of the Montreal Omnibus and Transfer Company, requesting that its name be substituted for the City Omnibus Company, now dissolved, in papers relating to the latter before the Council.

Several members contended that the petition could not be granted, as the Companies were essentially different.

The Mayor shared in this view.

The matter was referred to the Road Committee.

REPORTS.

Water Committee—Representing that on the 4th of July, 1873, W. P. Bartley & Co. had entered into a contract to construct a new turbine wheel, to be delivered on the 1st of the following December, subject to a penalty of $500 per day for any time exceeded; in consequence, the contractors exceeding the stipulated time by 217 days, had become liable for $108,500, the contract price being $13,250, and of this 25 per cent having been entertained. The work was well executed, and they recommended that as the real damage sustained had only amounted $438, the balance on the contract price of $5,952 be paid.

Do.—Recommending that as eleven arpents were insufficient for a settling reservoir to be located near the Wheel-House, they be authorized to acquire thirty-five arpents. It was asked, that as the property must be expropriated contrary to their original anticipation, Mr. Damase Masson be appointed to act as appraiser on the part of the Corporation. Next meeting.

ORDERS OF THE DAY.

Alds. David and Stephens were re-appointed Directors of the Montreal Northern Colonization Railway Company, as representatives of the Corporation.

A By-law was adopted prohibiting the keeping of pigs in the city—at present permissable in a large portion of St. Ann's Ward, the extreme possible penalty for the infraction of this provision being reduced from $40, as in the original draft, to $20.

THE MOUNT ROYAL PARK.

The By-law with reference to the Park, and the appointment of Park Commissioners, being taken under consideration, the Council went into committee of the whole, Ald. Loranger in the chair. As passed, it provides that the Mount Royal Park shall be under the exclusive control, management, and supervision of three commissioners, to hold office for a period of three years, and to be paid no salary, but to be allowed payment for personal expenses, annually, to the extent of $300.

APPOINTMENT OF PARK COMMISSIONERS.

Ald. McGauvran, David and Nelson, being proposed as Park Commissioners by Ald. Hood, seconded by Ald. Loranger, Ald. Stephens moved in amendment that Ald. Kay be substituted for Ald. McGauvran.

Ald. Hood stated that Ald. Kay did not attend to his duties, and declaimed against the appointment of men upon whom in this respect no dependence could be placed.

Ald. Rivard thought that Ald. McGauvran, David and Nelson, being already on the Finance Committee, should not be appointed, but rather citizens without the Council; he proposed Messrs. W. Rodden, H. Bulmer and M. Laurent.

Ald. Loranger thereupon withdrew his secondry of the motion and supported the second amendment, which was defeated by a vote of 7 to 13.

Ald. Stephens' amendment was lost by a vote of 5 to 15, and the motion being carried, the Council adjourned at 11.45 o'clock.

INQUEST.

An inquest was yesterday held by the Coroner upon the remains of Louis Gondreau, the young man who, on Saturday afternoon, accidentally fell into a vat of boiling soap at McGill & Co's factory, College street, and who died shortly after his admission into the Hotel Dieu Hospital. The body presented a frightful appearance. A verdict of "accidental death" was returned.

HEARTLESS.

A number of city merchants are anxiously enquiring for one Hart, a cloth cap maker, who came to this city seemingly penniless, managed to start cap making, prospered, enlarged his premises, attained a high reputation as a cash buyer, steadfastly refusing credit, until at last it was almost forced upon him. Then it is said he went in heavy, got credit all round, bought large lots of goods and sold them by auction along with a bankrupt stock which he got for ten shillings in the pound. And now he is mourned for as a lost brother or straying sister, and the place that knew him knows him no more.

A WELCOME SOCIAL.

A social meeting was held last evening in the Lecture Hall of Zion Church, for the purpose of giving a public welcome to Rev. Mr. Stevenson, who had been installed the day previous as joint-pastor of the church; the attendance of members of the congregation and friends was very large, and the room was handsomely decorated with flowers.

Refreshments having been amply discussed, Rev. C. Chapman took the chair, supported on the platform by Rev Drs. Taylor and Burns, Rev. Messrs. Wells, Thornton, Lafleur, Black, Cheetham, Duff and Powis. Addresses appropriate to the happy occasion were delivered by the Chairman, Rev. Dr. Taylor, Rev. Mr. Wells, Rev. Mr. Cheetham and Rev. Mr. Duff (Quebec). Mr. H. Lyman welcomed the pastor on behalf of the congregation, and Rev. Mr. Stevenson made an eloquent reply.

The general subject for Tuesday, October 6th, the last day of the Conference, will be: "Science, Philosophy, and Literature, in Relation to Christianity," the speakers being Rev. Dr. Porter, President of Yale College; Rev. Prof. Murray and Dr. Dawson, of McGill College; Rev. Dr. Nelles, Principal of Victoria College, Cobourg; and Rev. Dr. McVicar, Principal of the Montreal Presbyterian College. Meetings in this connection, when addresses will be made in German and French, will take place respectively on Friday and Monday.

STEAM-BARGE BURNED.

The steam-barge "Carleton," belonging to Capt. Corrigan, while employed in towing two barges, also laden with timber, the property of the Hon. James Skead, of Ottawa, down the channel about 11 o'clock last night, was observed to be on fire when opposite the long wharf; an attempt to extinguish the flames being unsuccessful, Captain Corrigan ordered the pilot to run the tug ashore, which was immediately done near Molson's wharf, to which the crew, numbering seven persons, escaped by means of a raft; Mrs. Scott, the cook, was, however, seriously burned about the arms, while rescuing her son, eight years of age, from danger. The tug, for which an offer of $11,000 was made a few days ago, is not insured. It floated slowly down the river in flames, presenting a brilliant spectacle, and being arrested in its course near Boucherville, was visible from the city until three o'clock this morning. The fire originated about the boiler.

Defying Competition.

One of the best tests that can be had of the superiority of an article is the position it will occupy when compared with others of the same class. Judged in this light, the Williams Singer Family Sewing Machine takes the lead of all others. For the past few years this machine has been awarded the first prize wherever it has been exhibited, and at the Ottawa Exhibition last week the Williams Sewing Machine was again awarded the first prize for the best sewing machine for family use, being the fourth time that this favorite and excellent machine has beaten all competitors at Ottawa. Occasionally an inferior "machine" may take the prize through ignorance on the part of the judges, or lack of competition, but the continued success which the Williams Machine has met with leaves no doubt that it is the best family machine in Canada. The manufacturers defy competition with the Williams for a well made, highly finished machine, one capable of as great a range of work, and at the same time reasonable in price.—Com.

"THE SUBURBAN TOWN OF NORWOOD."

Situate at the Back River, in convenient proximity to the Depot of the Northern Colonization Railway, is distant from Montreal by the present Turnpike Road six miles, but on completion of proposed improvements the distance will be reduced to five miles.

The plot comprises 187 arpents of excellent arable land, about 30 of which are exceedingly beautiful, forming a point jutting out into the river, surrounded by deep bays, and giving a fine view both up and down the River, Rapids, and other beautiful surroundings.

The object sought is the erection of a Suburban town, of liberal proportions and tastes suitable to the wants of our growing city, and under such wholesome restraints as will ensure the highest order and social comfort.

The extraordinary growth of Montreal (only beginning) will of necessity entail large expenditures for years to come, and force many citizens of limited means to seek cheaper homes, combining health with facility of access at all seasons, and freed from the innumerable evils attending municipal extravagances.

There will be three means of access to Norwood:—

1st. By present Turnpike Road and Omnibus.
2nd. By Northern Colonization Railway, to be opened in the Spring of 1875.
3rd. By City Passenger Railway; the arrangements for which are being completed.

The plan of laying out the property will be similar to that adopted in English Suburban Towns—in villa lots, varying in shape and size to conform to the nature of the ground, and with due regard to the natural beauty of each site.

A lot containing not less than one arpent will be appropriated and deeded to any Evangelical denomination that will erect and occupy a Church, to which the projectors will contribute liberally.

A similar lot will be appropriated for a School, and a building erected at the cost of the projectors so soon as five residences are occupied on the property.

It is hoped that this early provision for the educational interests of the town will be taken as an earnest of the intention of the projectors, that "Norwood" shall be a model suburb, protected, as far as possible, from every objectionable feature, and encouraging everything that will conduce to its respectability and tasteful comfort of its inhabitants.

To this end a clause will be inserted in every conveyance, restraining the erection of any Store, Stall, Saloon, Boat-house, Manufactory, or any traffic in spirituous liquors of any kind within the limits of the town.

The property has been laid out into about 50 lots, varying in size from one quarter of an arpent to three arpents.

Of these it is proposed to offer a first quota, not exceeding twelve lots, this season, by private sale, at a certain upset price.

After the disposal of this first quota, an advance of 25 per cent. will be added to the upset price of the second quota of 12 more, and on the disposal of which a still further similar advance will be made, and this principle continued until the entire fifty are disposed of.

This plan will commend itself as eminently just and liberal, as giving to the pioneers of the enterprise an assurance of a certain advance commensurate to the supposed risk, while their improvements necessarily enhance the value to subsequent purchasers.

A very important feature in this enterprise is the fact of the existence already of a very considerable population in the immediate neighborhood. Apart from its assured importance as a Railway Station, it is already a nucleus for trade in market supplies fresh fish, milk, fresh, firewood, lumber, building materials, quite independent of Montreal—clearly a matter of paramount importance to Parties seeking homes.

With a view of encouraging an improved style of building, the projectors will furnish intending residents with plans and designs of various styles free of charge.

They will also be prepared to undertake the erection of houses on highly favorable terms.

Terms of payment will be extreme y liberal, and may extend over 10, 12 or 15 years, with interest at 7 per cent.

A circular had been issued by the Committee of Investigation and a Committee of shareholders, recommending the following gentlemen as the members of the new Board, viz.: the Right Hon. Mr. Childers, M.P., as Chairman; Lieut. Col. Gray, Mr. T. Barkworth, Mr. Seymour Clarke, London; Mr. James Bold, Glasgow; Mr. L. W. McLure, Manchester; Mr. John Stitt, Liverpool; and the Hon. Mr. McMaster, Toronto.

Ald. Sir Thos. Dakin, the Chairman of the old Board, re-occupied the chair, and briefly adverted to the proceedings of the previous meeting.

Finally, the list of directors was adopted, the name of Mr. J. Cockburn, of Liverpool, being substituted for that of Mr. Stitt, the latter being incapacitated by illness.

The motion was carried with two dissentients, it being understood that the new directors would be formally elected, and their remuneration fixed at the ordinary half-yearly meeting in October next.

The meeting concluded with a vote of thanks to the Chairman and the Committee of Investigation.

A young man named Robert Phelps, of Bethany, fell from his horse yesterday, receiving fatal injuries.

As two boys named McNeil and Kailey were walking along the street at Oshawa, yesterday, McNeil was carelessly handling a pistol, which exploded, shooting Kailey in the breast. The doctors gave no hope of his recovery.

At Kincardine yesterday, as two lumbermen were driving into town, both were thrown out, one of them, named McDonald, receiving what, it is feared, will prove fatal injuries. The other, named Kerr, was also seriously hurt.

Messrs. Langton, Dickinson and Smith, Committee appointed by the Government to investigate the charges preferred against Arnoldi, Mechanical Engineer of the Public Works Department, have reported to the Government. The charges were, first, that Arnoldi had constructed in the public shops machinery for a steam yacht; second, that he had falsified the accounts; third, that he had got access during improper hours to the Minister's room, for the purpose, as alleged, of acquiring a knowledge of the contents of certain papers. There was no proof whatever to substantiate the second and third allegations; there appeared to be some ground for the first charge, but as may be supposed, where feeling is manifested, it was very much exaggerated.

Mr. Arnoldi had put a toy engine of a quarter horse power into a small boat; the engine was not much larger than a sewing machine; the greater part of the work on it was done out of doors, and that performed in the shops was but trifling, and most of that at his own expense, and, as he states, in pursuance of experiments pertaining to his position as Mechanical Engineer; the whole cost of which, he claims, should have fallen on the Government. The evidence shows that strong prejudice existed on the part of both the witnesses for and against Arnoldi. The Committee concluded by calling the attention of Government to the danger of allowing private works to be carried on in the shops of the Public Works Department.

THE sale of properties belonging to the Bruyere estate takes place to-morrow morning on Ontario street at eleven o'clock. Benning & Barsalou, Auctioneers.

THE PRICE FARM.

The Other Side of the Story.

Relative to statements in a recent issue respecting the Price Farm sale, we are assured that the facts of the case are as follows:—

The property in question belonged to the heirs, Price, of Cashell, Ireland. Some time ago their uncle, a Mr. Long, came over to Canada, with powers to dispose of it, and as the property was valued by well-known experts at $400 an acre, when Mr. Long was offered $500 per acre by Mr. Mullarky, he gave a promise of sale at that rate; however, Dr. Hingston, who was appointed tutor to the minors Price, refused to accede to the proposed sale, and it was subsequently disposed of at Sheriff's sale. The property was advertised for a long time previously; every form of law, it is stated, was complied with, and when the sale came off the audience was large and the competition keen. The principal bidding took place between Sir A. T. Galt and Mr. Mullarky, on behalf of himself and Messrs. Fogarty and McEntyre. Mr. Barnard, land agent, was also a bidder. The farm was adjudged to Messrs. Mullarky, Fogarty and McEntyre for $153,000, not $54,000 as stated by a contemporary. Some months afterwards the land was sold to the St. Pierre Land and Manufacturing Company, for $313,000. The Company is composed of seventeen stock holders, among whom are the three gentlemen last mentioned, Dr. Hingston is also a stock holder.

The Company represents a capital of $500,000, of which 20 per cent. is to be called in the first year. The object is to improve the land, erect and sell factories and dwellings for the employees, and sell land in building lots.

It is also the intention of the Company to open up a wide road, a continuation of Atwater Avenue, from Sherbrooke street to the Lower Lachine Road, tunneling beneath the Grand Trunk track. Meanwhile, the Company is without a charter, and it was to procure this application was to be made to Ottawa. It is said a sale of the land is to take place shortly.

The Credit Foncier is said to be entirely separate from the above, though Messrs. Mullarky and Fogarty are interested in both.

We are in receipt of a letter containing quite a different version of the matter, but it is anonymous.

CHAMBLY ELECTION CONTESTATION

Opening of Proceedings—Bribery and Corruption—Witnesses Examined—Disclosures Concerning Illegal Expenditures.

Proceedings in the contestation of the Chambly County election, M. Benoit, petitioner, and Ald. Jodoin, respondent, opened in the Circuit Court room at ten o'clock this morning, before Judge Beaudry.

The petitioner claims the seat, and charges of personal bribery are made against the sitting member.

Dr. A. Fortier, of Longueuil: Was an elector of Chambly County; had voted at Longueuil for M. Jodoin, in whose interest a Central Committee was established in the village, and of which he was President; had himself kept a record of their proceedings; the Committee had made no expenditures; did not remember having seen Amable Jodoin, pere, at the Committee; the candidate, A. Jodoin, fils, had at least been present on one occasion; Augustin Jodoin, a brother of the latter, occasionally attended, but was not a member; had not received a sou for the purposes of the Committee, nor had he been promised anything, even for legal expenses; had made himself certain expenditures—as for frais de voyage, &c.; his expenses had not exceeded $100; had gone to St. Bruno for the purpose of forwarding the election, and had spoken at one of the meetings in this place.

Had seen a woman at St. Bruno; as he had heard her husband had engaged to vote for some consideration for M. Benoit, had spoken to her on the subject, and had agreed to give her a receipt in full for an account with himself for professional services, on condition that her husband should vote for M. Jodoin—which was done; had seen this man, whose name was Renaud, subsequently, and had spoken to him; he knew that such a receipt had been given, as he (witness) had charged Mme. Renaud to inform her husband of the matter.

The receipt read as follows:

LONGUEUIL, 30th Jan., 1874.

$92.63c.

M. Auguste Renaud, to Dr. A. Fortier—For visits and medicine furnished to his family, in the sum of ninety dollars and sixty-three cents.

Received payment,

A. FORTIER.

Witness—Renaud, who was a carter, had voted for M. Jodoin; had previously mentioned the question of giving the receipt to the farmer, when he told him—voyez ma femme—"see my wife"; after a meeting at St. Bruno, one Pelletier had distributed whiskey among the people present; swore positively that he had not said at this meeting, "Eat and drink, for it is M. Jodoin who will pay for it"; was not aware that open houses had been kept at Longueuil during polling day.

Hilaire Benoit, of St. Bruno—Was an elector of Chambly County; had voted at St. Bruno; had worked during the election in the interest of Mr. Jodoin; had engaged certain carters for the election; had had three carriages at his disposition; for some they payed $2, for others $2.50, and for others $4 per day; they were employed to convey voters to the poll; (witness gave a list of persons he had employed and monies expended); had given one carter $5 to seek an elector, and take him to the polls, if possible; this elector had voted for Mr. Jodoin; had treated during the election; no open houses had been kept; several persons at St. Bruno, St. Pierre, Froppier, and Gebert had, however, treated their friends, with liquors and food, during the day of polling in his name; had paid $12 to Francois Petit because (after some hesitation) he had said he was for Mr. Jodoin.

M. Lacoste: Then it was to confirm him in this opinion. (A laugh.)

Witness: Yes; but he voted for M. Benoit. (Renewed laughter.) Had promised money to M. Proteau, who voted for M. Jodoin; the witness gave other instances of illegal payments; M. Jodoin, pere, had never been in his company on these occasions; had been alone; had offered some dozen dollars to one Courtois, who refused the offer, and voted for M. Benoit; had also offered money to one Lacoste, he voted for M. Benoit; had seen Theophile Martin, who said he would not mix himself up in the election; saw that he was a "poor devil," and gave his wife $4 for that reason; Martin had voted for M. Benoit; had gone to Hyacinthe Williams to hire his carriage, to use as he wished; had not spoken of purchasing his vote, but his intention to secure his (Hyacinthe Williams) vote with the carriage; could not say how much he had expended during the election; did not think he had paid $100; had paid one St. Pierre $2 or $3 for the use of his rooms; the latter had voted for M. Jodoin; had paid Adolphe Martin some $10 or $12 to remain away from the polls; had paid the wife of Prudent Blain, in his presence, a small amount for his vote, and had offered money to one Senecal, a partisan of the respondent, for the same purpose; all the money he had expended was not his own, it was furnished by friends of M. Jodoin, at different times; could not state exactly how much he had received; had obtained $50 from Amable Jodoin, pere, at the residence of Adolphe Benoit; this was the first payment; had, in addition, received money on a couple of occasions at his residence in Longueuil from Augustin Jodoin, a brother of the respondent; the amount varied from $100 to $150; he was instructed to pay it out for frais de voyage and general election purposes, as he might require; had had no conversation with either of the Jodoins regarding corrupt expenditure; had not seen the respondent during the election; had called upon him since to have a note of $100 discounted; M. Jodoin complied without endorsement; the Bank was the Bank of Hochelaga; had not presented an account of his expenses, nor had he spoken to him on the subject; denied that M. Jodoin had given him $50 on this occasion, or its value.

His Honor was requested to make a note of this negation.

This afternoon witnesses examined were, Francois Homard and Francois Rochelet; a large expenditure was proven, and it was in evidence that such money was obtained from the brother of respondent.

Just received from Paris, ex River Ganges, several casks best French Glue, which received the Medaille d'Argent, Paris Exhibition, 1867, and Medaille in Paris and Lyons, Paris Exhibition, 1872. Also several other kinds of first-class Glues; and, a large assortment of French Pressed Tinware, Sauce-pans, &c., &c., tinned and enamelled, from the celebrated manufactory of Japy & Frere, together with Elliott's Patent Candlesticks, suitable for gardens and gallery. Warranted not to blow the light out. A large quantity of French Cuirassier's Curry Comb—an everlasting Curry Comb; cannot be excelled for durability and usage. A visit is respectfully solicited. ERLE GOWER;

THE HEIR OF THE RACE.

"Proofs that the ceremony of marriage left to your arrangement was a mere mockery, performed by a hired lay-man dressed in canonicals," said Lord Kingswood, "a mere cheat, although the scene, where it was enacted, was the chancel of a village church."

"Exactly so, my lord," replied Sir Harris, with a restless movement of his eyes.

"Will you swear that?" demanded Lord Kingswood, emphatically.

"A—a—yes. Oh, of course, yes, my lord," answered Sir Harris with a very perceptible wince.

"Pray, Harris Stanhope, repeat that to me, but do not do so without seriously reflecting upon the enormity of a false oath," said Lord Kingswood, with a startling sternness of tone.

"My lord!" ejaculated Sir Harris, with a perturbed air.

Lord Kingswood slowly and emphatically repeated his words.

Sir Harris, disconcerted as he was, was yet too much of a diplomatist to confess to the imputation so directly conveyed to him.

"Will your lordship do me the honour to be explicit?" he rejoined. "Inuendos rarely facilitate business, you know, my lord."

"Very true," returned Lord Kingswood. "Then, to come to the point, I will at once inform you that the ceremony was a real marriage, performed by an ordained clergyman in a consecrated place of worship, and properly witnessed by yourself. Now, Stanhope, further disguise or attempts to deceive me are useless, as I know all."

"All?" iterated Sir Harris with an unpleasant expression of surprise on his features.

"All," returned Lord Kingswood, with a stern tone and frowning brow. "You have plunged me into a desperate dilemma, Stanhope, and you must help to extricate me from it."

Sir Harris Stanhope's face had become as white as his mustachoes and whiskers.

"Your lordship knows that I would do my utmost in your lordship's service," he said, eagerly.

"I have just given you an illustration of it," rejoined Lord Kingswood, dryly.

"But, my lord," exclaimed Sir Harris Stanhope.

Lord Kingswood stopped him.

"What was the name of the clergyman who performed that terrible ceremony of marriage? He was a friend of yours, Stanhope. Do not hesitate or——"

"I—a—he—was the Rev. Charles Wetherley, a—my lord," stammered Sir Harris, "a—the—a fact was that time pressed—h—I—a could not get—a—the church—a—I got the clerk out of the —a—way, but the—the—man I engaged disappointed me—and—I, my friend—a —Weatherly—a college chum—a, my lord—he consented to keep the matter quite a secret, my lord, and I believe he did, but——"

"Where did he reside?" asked Lord Kingswood.

"At the vicarage, near to Avening, my lord," replied Sir Harris, quickly.

"But he has quitted there, said Lord Kingswood, sternly.

"I—I—think to Kendal in Westmorland," answered Sir Harris. "He married and changed his name to Brand, on account of a fortune he obtained with a wife, but I have neither seen nor heard of him for many years. A difference sprang up between us, and we were never afterwards reconciled."

"May I ask you the grounds of your quarrel?" interrogated Lord Kingswood.

Sir Harris Stanhope consumed a huge pinch of snuff.

"A trifling question of money matters," he answered. "I paid him a sum which I was indebted to him, and a year or so afterwards, growing avaricious with his increase of fortune, he renewed his application to me for the sum I have alluded to. As I had paid it once, I refused to pay it a second time, and so our old friendship is broken up and for ever."

"For ever indeed," responded Lord Kingswood. "He is dead."

"Ah, is it so?" exclaimed Sir Harris. "I am neither surprised nor grieved to hear it. He was neither strong enough nor sufficiently worthy to live long."

"Aye, but do you not see the importance of that fact to me?" observed Lord Kingswood in an energetic tone.

"To you, my lord?" repeated Sir Harris with a dubious air. "A—oh—yes—it is of some importance to you certainly."

"Some importance, Stanhope!" cried Lord Kingswood indignantly. "It is of the last importance to me in my present position. Mark me. You, Stanhope, procured this clergyman—you alone. You confided to no person breathing but himself that it was your intention to engage him in the affair of which we are now speaking."

"Most assuredly, Lord Kingswood, to no person breathing did I mention that I intended to secure, or that I did secure, the services of Brand," hastily replied Sir Harris.

"You were present at the marriage, Stanhope. The only witness," continued Lord Kingswood in the same marked tone.

"The only witness, indubitably," rejoined Sir Harris Stanhope.

"Now observe," continued Lord Kingswood, fixing his eye with a penetrating steadfastness upon Sir Harris Stanhope, and speaking with slow and deliberate emphasis. "What if I have in my possession the only copy of the certificate of that marriage ever given? The clergyman himself being dead, and the mouth of the only witness hermetically sealed, where are the proofs that a marriage ever took place? Should Vernon dare to bring forward the boy he set down beneath my roof as my son and heir, can I not give to the accusation an unqualified denial, and triumphantly dare him to produce any proofs to sustain his assertion?"

Sir Harris Stanhope felt a strange thrill run over his frame as he heard this proposition put by Lord Kingswood.

So, then, he was the only living witness of this clandestine marriage, and he had Lord Kingswood completely in his power.

A throng of ideas rushed through his brain, all addressing themselves to the subject of his own aggrandisement; but he was too astute a diplomatist to permit his thoughts to register themselves in his face, especially as he perceived the eager eyes of Lord Kingswood perusing his features with a view of ascertaining them.

He took a pinch of snuff and then said, after a slight pause—

"I admit the importance—the very great importance of the situation you suggest, my lord; but are those valuable documents of which you speak in your possession?"

"Tantamount to that, Stanhope," returned his lordship; "I know where to place my hand upon them."

"Has Horace Vernon, my lord, made any further movement towards establishing the legitimacy of the boy he has taken under his protection?" inquired Sir Harris.

"He has taken, I may say, his third step," replied Lord Kingswood.

"His third step?" echoed Sir Harris. "Pray explain your meaning, my lord."

"Well," rejoined Lord Kingswood, "his first step was to suddenly, and without warning, set down the boy in the midst of my family at Kingswood Hall. There my hands were tied, and I was compelled to let matters take their course. His second step was to appear with him in the circles in which we move, and again I am compelled to act passively, he afforded me no grounds for interference. His third step has taken this shape."

Lord Kingswood, as he concluded, produced the letter he had received from Vernon's solicitors, and flung it over to Sir Harris Stanhope.

The latter perused it with attention, and returning it to Lord Kingswood, said—

"The object of the letter is very clear."

"Possibly," said Lord Kingswood, in reply; "but oblige me, nevertheless, with your interpretation."

"It is Vernon's intention to avail himself of every tittle of evidence," replied Sir Harris. "He will put young Mr. Gower into the witness box. Your lordship will have to appear, and the very striking resemblance between you may go far to influence the verdict of a jury."

THE CHURCHES.

Church of the Messiah.

Rev. Dr. Cordner preached Sunday evening in the Church of the Messiah from the words contained in the 9th verse of the 116th Psalm: "I will live before the Lord in the land of the living."

Having mentioned the value and beauty of the Psalms, owing to the fact that the heart-utterances expressed in these sacred poems appealed directly to the human heart, which was the same now as when they were written—centuries had come and gone; man's mightiest works had crumbled away and disappeared, but these utterances remained still fresh, and responsive to the highest feelings of the human heart—he dwelt upon the character of a religious life, to which allusion was made in the text, and instanced a number of helps and hindrances to perfection and advancement in this state. Hindrances comprised success in life; wealth, prosperity, and worldly comforts; man bowed down to the god success, and gave him faithful service. Also the head and tongue, in consequence of the speculations regarding points of doctrine, matters of religious belief, &c., in which the former was wont to indulge, and the mischievous clatter of the latter. Religion was defined as the return of the soul, which had wandered from its proper allegiance, to God, and religious feeling had its birth in the heart, and consisted in its entire surrender to the Supreme, although its existence in a proper spirit was endangered by love of speculation and wordly dispute—apt to be chilled by the criticism of the head, and repulsed by the clamor of the tongue; although criticism and discussion were not out of place, when subservient to a due sentiment of reverence, otherwise they were of little value. Hence religious feeling was frequently stronger and firmer among the masses of the people, who were less troubled with speculative ideas. Helps to religious life and piety were private and public devotion; the diligent reading of the Holy Scriptures, which, the gift of God to man, made each individual his own priest, and brought him face to face with God; and, amongst other matters, the reading of the biographies of men and women peculiarly eminent for the full performance of the high duties appertaining to their Christian life. He remarked upon the danger, as far as the soul's interests were concerned, attendant upon cessation in attendance upon the public religious services, and stated that while accepting the truth that religion should exercise an active influence upon their daily life, the almost invariable practice was to bring down the elevated sentiments of religious belief to the ordinary current of their daily life, instead of bringing themselves up to the elevated standard inculcated by the Christian Faith; religion was, in fact, secularized, in lieu of being permitted to purify and elevate their observance of their secular duties and employments.

A MIRACULOUS CURE.

The Toronto Globe publishes the subjoined without a word of comment:

To the Editor of the Globe:

SIR,—In reference to the notice in this morning's Globe copied by your Montreal correspondent from La Minerve, it is my child, a little girl ten years old, who has been suffering from hip disease for the past seven years, so much so that she could not walk without crutches, nor could her hip be touched without extreme pain.

I left home early in June for Europe, taking her, my son, and servant with me. We arrived in Lourdes on the evening of the 18th of August, and at once proceeded to the grotto of Notre Dame, where my child, having the water run on her foot and ankle, was instantly cured. Up to the moment when she was lifted in the arms of a lady to have her foot placed under the water she could not walk without her crutches, since then she has not used any, but left them behind her at the Chapel of the Grotto, where there are hundreds of other souvenirs of miraculous cures. Only those who know me and my child (and there are few in Toronto who don't) can imagine how grateful I feel to our Great God and His Holy Mother for this miraculous cure of my little daughter.

I am, yours truly,

PATRICK HUGHES,
[Of Hughes Brothers.]

Toronto, Sept. 17, 1874.

THE PERILS OF PILGRIMAGES.

A fearful catastrophe (Galignani says) has just occurred on the Danube, in Hungary. A boat containing a large number of pilgrims from Tacksang, on their way to the sanctuary of Ereenig, was upset and all its occupants were drowned. A similar accident happened about two years back on the Lake of Zurich, when a steamer carrying a number of persons on a pious excursion to Notre Dame des Ermites sank, and many lives were lost.

THE METHODIST CHURCH IN CANADA.

Numerically, the progress of this Church has been great. In 1824 the total number of members was 6,108; at the Conference of 1874 the membership was 73,701. At the Conference of 1824, there were only thirty-six ministers, but in 1874, these had increased to 718. At the first named Conference, there were twenty-one small wooden buildings known as places of worship, but, in 1874, there are more than 1800, a large proportion of which are brick or stone, and some of them are elegant and commodious.

QUEER LIFE-INSURANCE SUIT.—The Berkshire Life Insurance Company has a curious suit on its hands, growing out of the peculiar death, last spring, of Mr. S. M. Cooper, a farmer in Stockbridge, Mass. His father and grandfather had each died at the age of 41 years, and he foretold that he should die at the same age. Although apparently in sound health, he prepared to meet his fate as the date drew near, and, a few days before the time when he expected to die, he went to Pittsfield, had his will made, and, stepping into the insurance office, applied for a $5,000 policy, having already one of a similar amount in a company in another State. He was pronounced sound by the Company's doctors, paid his premium, and took his policy. The next day, before he reached home, he was taken sick with some kind of fits, as it was pronounced, and, being taken home, died soon after, in his 41st year, as he predicted. His administrators, L. S. Butler, of Lenox, and C. L. Lynch, of Stockbridge, applied, after due time, to the insurance company for the amount of the policy, but, payment being refused, they have brought suit for $10,000, with A. J. Waterman, of Pittsfield as counsel. The Company hesitate in the payment of the claim because they think the assured in his application and examination failed to acquaint them with symptoms of disease which he must have felt, but, if a full investigation of the case shows that Mr. Cooper was perfectly honest in the matter, the money will be willingly paid.

BREAKFAST—EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills."—Civil Service Gazette. Made simply with Boiling Water or Milk.—Sold by Grocers in packets only, labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, 48 Threadneedle Street, and 170 Piccadilly Works, Euston Road and Camden Town, London."

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy from weak, sickly, suffering creatures, to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

TO THE AFFLICTED.—Homœpathic Homeopathic, Electro-Medical, and an appropriate and systematized Hygenic Combination all properly adapted to the treatment and cure of those mental and physical derangements that so continuously and persistently flit their shadowy reflections from the dark back-ground of past indiscretions, filling the mind with evil forebodings, dispelling all hopes of future happiness. The names of the troubles caused by this self-begotten weakness is legion; such as nervous debility, nervous irritability, depression of spirits, loss of memory, loss of confidence, palpitation of the heart, neuralgia, rheumatism, epilepsy, hysteria, spinal disease, disease of the liver, disease of the urinary organs, imbecility, insanity, in a word, a general moral and physical disturbance of all the functions.
Dr. Utley has spent much time and money to perfect his system for the cure of the above mentioned troubles, and an extensive practice of over fourteen years has given him a great deal of practical experience; during that time he has treated thousands from all parts of the world and in all the walks in life, and none can say that he ever injured them and nearly all can say that he has cured them. Patients may be treated by letter, no matter how great the distance, but when it is possible Dr. Utley prefers to see his patients at his office, 194 St. James street, Mechanics' Bank Chambers. Office hours from 9 to 11 a.m., 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m. Address M. H. Utley, M.D., Montreal, P.Q., Canada. 141
