The Veniot Affair Was Taken Up By Premier Meighen

STATEMENT IS MADE IN HOUSE OF COMMONS BY PRIME MINISTER IN REGARD TO THE VENIOT AFFAIR

There Was Considerable Discussion in the House of Commons Yesterday in regard to the Liquor Taxation Proposals—New Speaker's Chair Presented to House—Hon. Mr. Meighen Read a Letter Which He Had Received Some Time Ago, and Which Recommended Hon. H. J. Veniot, New Brunswick Public Works Minister, for a Federal Cabinet Position—Mr. Meighen Said He Did Not Know the Correspondent and Had Forgotten the Letter Until It Was Discovered by His Secretary—He Had Never Spoken of It to Any Person, He Claimed.

(Special to The Sherbrooke Record)

OTTAWA, Ont., May 21.—The Prime Minister, in rising in the House of Commons last night to make a statement on the Veniot affair, said that he had been vaguely aware that letters dealing with such a subject had reached him. It was not until yesterday morning, however, that his secretary had been able to trace the letters which he was about to read to the House. The correspondence began with a personal letter from the unnamed correspondent to Sir Robert Borden on December 22nd, 1917, urging that Hon. Mr. Veniot be brought into the Federal Cabinet. He was, said the writer, a leading Acadian, who "controlled the Gloucester seat, and no doubt it would be easy to arrange with Mr. Turgeon, the present Federal member, to vacate to make an opening." "Mr. Veniot is the big man in the Foster Government," said Sir Robert's informant. On November 29th, 1920, a letter came from the St. John man to Right Hon. Arthur Meighen setting forth the contents of his previous letter to Sir Robert Borden. "Sir Robert," said this letter, "did not act on the suggestion, but he wrote me in favor of it."

When reading the letters in the House, last evening, the Prime Minister stated that the letter from Sir Robert Borden had not been in favor of the proposals.

The writer urged Hon. Mr. Meighen to "take Mr. Veniot as representative of the Acadians." This would strengthen the Government with the French-speaking people and be a powerful factor in breaking the solid front against it, and change opponents into supporters.

"You need a Tarte," quoted the writer from a newspaper article. "Well, Mr. Veniot is the next thing to a Tarte, a trained parliamentarian, good debater, fluent speaker in both English and French, clever political organizer, stands well with his church authorities and both French and English-speaking people, knows the political game and so far has made good as Minister of Public Works for New Brunswick."

The writer said he had not spoken to Mr. Veniot on the matter, and "He has not the faintest idea that I am writing to you or had written to Sir Robert Borden." He believed, however, the matter could be put through. "Of course," the letter continued, "Mr. Veniot would have to have a portfolio in the cabinet. To make an opening for him, Mr. Turgeon would have to be provided for, and Mr. Veniot, for the time being at least, represent Gloucester." Giving Acadia representation in the Federal cabinet would be only simple justice, said the writer of the letter, and it would also create a favorable impression in the Maritime Provinces.

"If I could be of any service in this matter, let me know," the writer continued. "I thought possibly if we found Mr. Veniot favorable, it might be arranged for him to board your train at some quiet station and discuss the matter with you en-route to or from Sydney, as I see you are going there."

REGRETTED THAT HE HAD NOT MET THE PRIME MINISTER

In opening his letter, the writer regretted that he had not had the pleasure of meeting the Prime Minister. "But we have some mutual friends, and to one, W. F. O'Connor, I will refer you as to my good faith in any proposition I may make."

The St. John man, writing to the Prime Minister and to Hon. R. W. Wigmore, under date of January 7th, 1921, regretted having been unable to meet Mr. Wigmore during the latter's visit to St. John, and said he had had interviews with Mr. Veniot.

"While I was not in a position to say anything definite, I promised to see him after your visit." As to Mr. Veniot's views toward the suggestion, the writer said: "He did not turn the proposition down. The details, as I suggested, to make an opening, could easily be arranged, but until I had something more definite, he did not wish to say more than he would be glad to see me after my interview with you."

To this letter Mr. Wigmore replied on January 10th, saying that he regretted having been unable to see the St. John man, but that he would be home again before the end of the month, when he would endeavor to make a personal appointment with him.

There apparently the correspondence ended. There were no further letters on the subject, it was stated, and Hon. R. W. Wigmore stated that he had not written to anyone nor seen anyone in the matter after that date.

SETTLED DOWN TO WORK ON THE BUDGET RESOLUTIONS

With the budget debate out of the way, the Commons settled down to committee work on the budget resolutions. The members discussed tobacco culture, liquor taxation and stamping of foreign manufactured goods with the name of the country of origin. There was rather an air of lassitude over the whole day's events, however, as the members had practically all been in their seats when the vote was taken on the Fielding budget amendment after five o'clock yesterday morning, and consequently were feeling tired last evening.

CONSIDERABLE DISCUSSION RE LIQUOR TAXATION PROPOSALS

There was considerable discussion of the liquor taxation proposals. Ernest Lapointe (Quebec East), raised the question of whether Provincial Governments handling liquor sales were subject to taxation.

Sir Henry Drayton understood that trading operations on the part of a province were taxable.

"Then, what about the Hydro-Electric Commission of Ontario?" asked J. A. Robb (Huntingdon). Last session, said Mr. Robb, the Minister said this commission was not taxable.

Sir Henry replied that if the Hydro-Commission had made profits they would be taxed. The item providing for a tax of $10 per gallon on spirits carried.

I. E. Pedlow (Renfrew), objected to the clause requiring foreign made goods to be stamped with the name of the country of origin. In Great Britain, he said, the practice was to stamp such goods "Not British Made."

That was better than the system now proposed, which was "absolutely unnecessary, impracticable and impossible to carry out." Mr. Pedlow moved to postpone further consideration of the clause, but his motion was defeated.

OPPOSED TO CONVENTION OF SELF-DETERMINATION LEAGUE AT HALIFAX

HALIFAX, May 21.—A meeting of the British Empire Alliance, held here last night, put itself on record as strongly opposed to permission being given the Self-Determination League of Ireland to hold a convention in Halifax in June. A committee was appointed to take action against the holding of the convention.

Members of St. George's Society, Royal British Veterans, British Empire League, Loyal True Blues, Orange Lodge and other bodies spoke in opposition to the proposed convention.

One Russian Dying And Another In Hiding As A Result Of Yesterday's Attempted Hold-Up At Black Lake—Search Is On

Manager of Black Lake Asbestos and Chrome Company Returned Opponents' Fire—Foreigners Had a Carbine and First Shot Smashed the Windshield—Carbine Then Jammed—Russian Fell With Bullet Piercing Forehead Slightly Above Left Eye—Large Posse Searching the Woods for Accomplice.

STILL living, but unconscious and hovering between life and death, Harry Bertouck, one of the leading figures in yesterday's unsuccessful attempted hold-up at Black Lake, lies in St. Joseph's Hospital, Theford Mines.

Bertouck is severely wounded in the head, the bullet entering just above the left eye and coming out behind the right ear and while the hospital authorities are willing to concede him a fair chance of recovery, the general feeling is that his injuries will be fatal.

Under the efficient control of Chief of Police Albert Bergeron, a large posse has been actively engaged in searching the woods in an endeavor to locate Bertouck's companion.

The Provincial Department at Quebec was notified and immediately two detectives were sent to the scene in order to assist in unraveling the mysteries of the fugitive's escape from justice.

The search was called off yesterday evening owing to darkness but is being resumed today with increased vigor and it is the Chief's intention to visit all the different houses in the district, where he might possibly be in hiding.

A description of the fugitive, Yvon Koroliamczek, has been circulated broadcast and a sharp look-out is kept at all points on the railway.

As the attempted robbery was not very remunerative, it is not likely that Koroliamczek is very flush for cash, and the police authorities feel confident that they will apprehend him in the near future.

The attempted robbery occurred shortly after noon yesterday, when Bertouck and Koroliamczek, both Russians, challenged a passing motor car.

The car was driven by Mr. Arthur Harvey and the only passenger was Mr. Bateman, Manager of the Black Lake Asbestos and Chrome Company, who was returning from the bank with sum of nine thousand dollars, representing the company's pay roll, and who returned fire on the bandits.

The car was proceeding along merrily and the occupants had not the slightest suspicion of what was in store for them, when suddenly two foreigners stepped out on to the road and commenced shouting at them to stop.

Mr. Harvey ignored their expostulations and opened up the throttle, incidentally throwing up an efficacious smoke screen with the result that when the foreigners opened fire with a carbine, they shot wide of their mark and had the satisfaction of hearing their bullet smash the windshield. Pieces of glass were scattered in every direction and the occupants were slightly cut by these flying missiles.

Assuming a reclining position, Mr. S. Bateman showed himself to be an excellent marksman, particularly when applied to moving targets, and his deadly aim soon placed one of his opponents hors de combat.

RAIN CHECKED THE PROGRESS OF THE FIRES

Serious Forest Fire Has Been Raging in St. Maurice District.

(Associated Press Despatch) QUEBEC, May 21.—Reports reaching the Forestry Branch of the Crown Lands Department show that a most dangerous forest fire attained considerable headway at Windigo, in the St. Maurice district. The St. Maurice forest fire protection brigade mobilized a force of one thousand men to fight the fire, and hundreds of others are being mobilized, when a heavy downpour of rain yesterday saved the situation.

At Lake Edward, likewise, the heavy rain put the fire out, but in some places where fires had just started the rain was not heavy enough to extinguish them, and forest rangers are endeavoring to cope with the outbreaks.

LEGAL ACTION WAS TAKEN TOO EARLY

Ten Days' Grace Had Been Allowed, But Action Was Taken Before Expiry of Same.

An interesting law point was decided before His Lordship Justice Gobeinsky in the case of Brown Rochette, Ltd., of Quebec, against H. Cohen, of this city.

Plaintiff was claiming $100, balance on a draft dated the 30th of December, 1920, accepted by the defendant and payable at the Merchants' Bank at Sherbrooke, and plaintiff claimed judgment for this amount and the costs.

The defendant pleaded that on the 14th of January, 1921, he received from the plaintiff a statement of account, claiming $100.70, on which statement was written by the plaintiff the following words: "If this draft is not paid in ten days we shall hand over this claim to our attorneys." The action was taken on the 19th of January, 1921, and this statement was sent on the 14th of January, 1921.

Defendant contended in his plea that the action, having been taken before the expiration of the ten days' grace given by plaintiff in the above statement, was premature, and defendant deposited the sum of $100.70, declaring that he had always been ready to pay the said sum on or before the expiration of the delay granted, to wit, the 24th of January, 1921, and defendant asked that the action be declared premature, that plaintiff's claim be declared paid and that the action be dismissed with costs.

The learned judge in his judgment stated that a delay of ten days having been granted by the plaintiff, that the action should not have been instituted before the expiration of that delay, and as defendant deposited, before the expiration of the delay in question, the amount due, plaintiff's action had to be dismissed with costs against plaintiff.

Co. Emile Rioux, K.C., represented the defendant Cohen, and Mr. Omer Drouin, K.C., of Quebec, was representing Brown Rochette, Ltd.

SIXTH PUBLIC SCHOOL DESTROYED IN A YEAR.

(Associated Press Despatch.) PORTLAND, Me., May 21.—The Deering High School was practically destroyed early today by a fire which city officials said was probably incendiary.

It was the sixth public school building burned in the city during the past year. The city's entire fighting force was called out. Captain Kent and several other firemen were injured.

EDITORIALS IN ENGLISH PRESS WERE CORDIAL

Premier's Assertion that Anglo-American Friendship Is Necessary Is Corroborated.

(Associated Press Despatch) TORONTO, May 21.—Two very cordial editorials were included in this morning's newspaper comments on the address made by Mr. George Harvey, United States ambassador to Great Britain, on Thursday night. They were published in the Morning Post, which never had any use for the League of Nations and the Daily Telegraph.

The Post said that Mr. Lloyd George's assertion that the future well being of the world depend mainly upon Anglo-American friendship and co-operation was true and it continued: "This being so, the League of Nations cannot, as we have been told rather frequently, be the only and unique guarantee of the future peace of the world."

Referring to Anglo-American relations, the paper declared that nothing in recent years more thoroughly dissipated misunderstanding than President Harding's memorable statement of United States policy to which Mr. Harvey referred during his speech.

"The British public," the newspaper added, "may well wish the policy of the British Government was animated and simple as that of the United States."

The Daily Telegraph's comment, which was largely a personal appreciation of Ambassador Harvey, cordially agreed it was "high time to give the quietus to the idea that the United States may yet be guilty in the League."

The Daily News continuing its championship of the League of Nations union had just attained a membership of one hundred thousand, and said there was "no need to take Mr. Harvey's words too liberally."

Assuming that the United States will keep out of the League during the term of President Harding, the newspaper said this would be a matter of "grave regret," but it will mean, at the worst, that the League will go on without the United States, as it has done hitherto.

The news made the point that the whole of America was not ignoring the League, saying that Canada was taking a valuable part in its operations, as was virtually all of Latin America, except Mexico. So long as the nations now members of the League stand loyally by it," the newspaper concluded, "we can afford to wait until the United States is of another mind."

Crerar was only the nominal leader of the Farmers' Party, and was being used for his political knowledge by the farmers.

NEITHER POLES NOR GERMANS ARE TAKING OFFENSIVE PENDING THE MEETING OF THE TWO PREMIERS

It Is Expected that the Debate on the Silesian and Reparations Questions Will Be Concluded in the French Chamber of Deputies by Tuesday, and that Premier Briand Will Be Given a Vote of Confidence—Proposed Meeting of Supreme Council Appears to Have Been Pushed Indefinitely Into the Future.

(Associated Press Despatch.) LONDON, May 21.—Mr. Lloyd George has gone to Hythe, near Dover, where he will spend the week-end with Sir Philip Sassoon. Suggestion was made here yesterday that it was possible he would meet Premier Briand, of France, while at Hythe, but despatches from Paris indicated there was no disposition on the part of the French Premier to discuss the Silesian situation with Mr. Lloyd George before Tuesday at the very earliest. It is expected that debate on the Silesian and reparations questions will be concluded in the French Chamber of Deputies by Tuesday and that Premier Briand will be given a vote of confidence.

COURT REFUSED TO AUTHORIZE CONFISCATION

Seizure of Liquor in Transit Held to Be Illegal—Application for Confiscation of Liquor Refused.

Judge W. H. Mulvena rendered an important decision this morning in connection with a couple of charges relating to the seizure and proposed confiscation of quantities of liquor.

The cases referred to were those of Bissonnette and Lovell vs. Elzear Carrier and Pierre Daigneault of Hereford. In the former case liquor valued at $3,075 had been seized at Dudsway Junction and in the latter case the liquor was valued at $500.

After disposing of a number of minor points the Court held that the liquor was purchased in the city of Quebec while the Scott Act was in force, and it was to be delivered in the county of Compton, where the Scott Act was also in force, and any violation of the law would therefore have been under the Canada Temperance Act and not under the Quebec License Act, and the jurisprudence of said Canada Temperance Act was held to take precedence over the Quebec License Act. Further, it was contended that in any event the seizure of liquor, while in transit and in the hands of the Dominion Express Company, was illegal, and the Court refused to grant the application for confiscation of the liquor seized.

BERLIN, May 21.—It is announced that the Foreign Minister yesterday had drawn up, without reservations, the Government's declaration on the disarmament of Germany.

ONE OF GREATEST JOYS OF HER LIFE SAYS MRS. CARTIER

Sherbrooke Woman States She'll Never Get Through Praising Tanlac for Restoring Her Health.

"I just wish every man, woman and child in Sherbrooke knew what a grand medicine Tanlac is," declared Mrs. Josephine Cartier, 12 Academie St., Sherbrooke, recently.

"Tanlac has restored my health completely after I had suffered so much I never expected to get well. I hate to think even now what I went through, why, at times I had sinking spells and though I would surely die. I had stomach trouble so bad I didn't know what it was to ever eat a good meal and I would bloat up so with gas I thought sometimes each breath would be my last. My heart palpitated terribly and I suffered a lot from nausea. Nearly every morning I got up with an awful headache, and at times I became so dizzy and fainty everything around me seemed to turn to black. I worried and worried and had about resigned myself to my suffering.

"But I thank goodness I tried Tanlac. It has been one of the greatest joys of my life, and I never will get through praising it. I am in perfect health and just feel so strong and well I can do my household work easily. I think it is wonderful what Tanlac has done for me, and I can't help but want to tell everybody who is suffering that it is just the medicine they need."

"I am writing to tell you that I owe my life to 'Fruit-a-tives.' For this remedy relieved me when I had abandoned all hope of ever recovering my health.

I suffered terribly with Dyspepsia. I had it for years and all the medicines I took did not do me any good.

I read something about 'Fruit-a-tives' being good for all Stomach Troubles and Disorders of Digestion, so I tried them. After finishing a few boxes, I was entirely relieved of the Dyspepsia and my general health was restored.

I thank the great fruit medicine, 'Fruit-a-tives,' for this wonderful relief."

Mr. J. P. Cox, of Turner's Falls, Mass., formerly of this place, was in town this week, called here by the death of his father, the late Mr. Wm. Cox.

Word has been received here of the death of Mrs. Andrew Robb, formerly of Windsor. Mrs. Robb died at her home at River Rouge, Mich., where the family has resided during the past year. The funeral will be held in Windsor, Que., on Sunday.

Mayor Bourque has consented to be in attendance, and will throw out the first ball. The game will begin at 3 p.m., sharp.

IF YOUR EARS RING WITH HEAD NOISES

If you have ringing, buzzing noises in your ears, are getting hard of hearing and fear Catarrhal Deafness, go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parment (double strength), and add to it 1-4 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Closed nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has Catarrhal trouble of the ears, is hard of hearing or has head noises should give this prescription a trial.

FRECKLE-FACE

Sun and Wind Bring Out Ugly Spots. How to Remove Easily.

Here's a chance, Miss Freckle-face, to try a remedy for freckles with the guarantee of a reliable concern that it will not cost you a penny unless it removes the freckles; while if it does give you a clear complexion the expense is trifling.

Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength—from any druggist and a few applications should show you how easy it is to rid yourself of the homely freckles and get a beautiful complexion. Rarely is more than one ounce needed for the worst case.

Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength Othine as this strength is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.

THAT FIRE STATION ITEM.

The Record called attention in a recent issue to an item of $10,000 for a West Ward fire station, voted by the ratepayers, through by-law 389, approved March 24th, 1919. We raised the question of this $10,000 because another by-law is being submitted for $30,000 for a West Ward fire station and no mention is made of this being a supplementary vote. Naturally the ratepayers will reply, "We voted $10,000 in 1919 presuming this to be sufficient. What has been done with this money and why is $30,000 now asked for in the same connection?"

Ald. Delorme, chairman of the Fire Committee, at the public meeting on Thursday night, answered the above query, in effect, as follows: Ald. Delorme: "The $10,000 voted in By-law 389, in March 1919, was to cover the purchase of necessary equipment for the station as well as the expense of site."

We feel obliged to differ and to take issue with Ald. Delorme.

The item in By-law 389 to which he refers reads as follows:

"To construct fire station in West Ward, $10,000."

Is that a vote for site and equipment? It is not even a vote for purchase of site. The ratepayers approved a by-law for $10,000 for the construction of a station and nothing else. Ald. Delorme says it was for the purchase of equipment. This would, indeed, be putting the cart before the horse, but if it has been so expended where is the equipment? If it has not been so expended where is the money, for evidently the money has been raised, for Ald. Delorme says $1400 has been expended on lot, $250 for architect's sketch, $25 for notary, and that $700 discount had to be recorded on the issue. This leaves a net of $7,625 that must be somewhere, and it is not in a fire station for the West Ward as no such station has been erected.

We do not think ratepayers will be satisfied with the statement that when they were asked to vote $10,000 for a station in 1919, the Council really intended the money for something else.

What about the $30,000 now asked for? The by-law says it is to construct a fire station in the West Ward? Does the by-law mean what it says or something else?

There is another feature of this fire station matter to which public attention might be called. It is estimated that the annual cost of maintenance will be about $3,000. How readily the Council asks for this $30,000 and an annual additional expenditure of $3,000. This fact stands out the more prominently by contrast with the official attitude with regard to the Health Department. In this connection the Council refuses to move on account of expense which would not be more annually than that which is so readily proposed for this additional station.

How would it do, to serve the West Ward from the Central Station for a few years as has been done in the past, and with the money saved give the citizens the service of a health department?

The Record offers this suggestion. Should the Fire Station by-law be turned down possibly the Council will feel that, indirectly, they have a mandate from the citizens to act in favor of Health organization.

ARE GENERAL ELECTIONS NEAR?

The impression is gaining ground that general elections are not far distant. News from Ottawa goes to strengthen this opinion. The budget debate was vigorously conducted and on division the Government majority of twenty, while sufficient for the occasion, was considerably less than normal.

The Premier goes to London for the Imperial Conference at the beginning of June and election prospects will be predicting elections in the fall.

They may be right and they may be wrong for it is safer to bet on the weather than on elections.

The campaign will probably have to get underway before issues become clearly defined. The tariff will be to the fore and possibly the railway policy may figure prominently on the hustings.

When it comes the campaign will in all probability develop great public interest. There will be three or four parties in the field, each with its own platform, and all striving for public support.

CENTENARY CELEBRATION AT ST. JOHN'S CHURCH, WEST SHEFFORD, QUE.

Just one hundred years ago St. John's Church, West Shefford, the first church building of any religious denomination in the country, was opened for public worship. Previous to 1821 all religious services were held in the home of Captain John Savage, leader of the settlers in Shefford. In 1819 he gave the land for the ceremony and also eleven hundred acres for the church building. His house, and that of his son-in-law, Ezekiah Wood, are still standing near the cemetery.

This year on Wednesday, June 1st, the rector, the Rev. Dr. Knowles, and the members of the congregation intend to hold a centenary celebration on the occasion of the visit of Bishop Farthing for confirmation service.

It is sincerely hoped that there will be a large "family gathering" and home-coming of the former parishioners and descendants of the early pioneers. Many people scattered throughout Canada and the United States should count it a privilege to be present. It will be the most important historical event in the country since settlement, and a general invitation is given to all interested to be present.

Confirmation service will be held in the morning, followed by a procession to the grave of Captain Savage, where a flag will be planted by one of his descendants. Flags will also mark the graves of the other pioneers in the cemetery.

Speeches will be given during the afternoon. All visitors are asked to register in a book especially prepared for the occasion, which will be kept among the church archives for future reference.

Among the invited guests who are not descendants are the following: The clergy of the Diocese, members of the Bromfield County Historical Society, members of the Missisquoi County Historical Society, Mr. Palmer Cox of Granby, the famous "Brownie Man," Mr. C. A. Nutting, R.C., of Waterloo; Prof. Carrie Derick, M.A., of McGill University; Prof. M. Adelaide Nutting, of Columbia University, New York city; Senator G. E. Foster, of Knowlton and Ottawa; Mr. George Bolvin, M.P., Granby; Mr. W. S. Bullock, M.P.P., of Roxton; Dr. George Parmelee, Quebec city.

There will be ready for distribution on the same date a booklet entitled "Sketch of the Early History of St. John's Church and Life of Captain Savage." The booklet will contain much historical information published for the first time, including a list of the volunteers from Shefford and Granby who served in the war of 1812-15, the names of those who subscribed to the "oath of allegiance" from 1795 to 1818, etc. The proceeds will be devoted to the cemetery endowment fund of St. John's Church.

Following are the names of the children of Captain Savage, together with those of their consorts:

Lieut. John Savage — Magdalen Mook.
Lydia Savage — Ezekiah Wood.
Anna Savage — Sergeant John Allen.
Rhoda Savage — John Clark.
Mary (Polly) Savage — Silas Lewis.
Olive Savage — Augustus Garlick.
Sons of Edward Savage, younger brother of Captain John Savage: James Savage.
John E. Savage.
Peter Savage.

ARTISTS OF MANY NATIONS EXHIBIT IN LONDON SHOW

Americans Prominent in First International Exhibition Since the War.

FOLLOWS MRS. WHITNEY'S

Artistic Talent in the United States Not Adequately Represented.

(Special Despatch.)

LONDON, Saturday. While social trumpets blared the opening of the Royal Academy exhibition the International Society of Painters, Gravers and Sculptors produced an exhibition around the corner which for sheer artistic interest, as well as in the interest it holds for Americans, far eclipsed the more nearly classical display. And more nearly classical is hardly the description to apply to the Academy show this year.

With Augustus John now a member of the Academy that venerable body came near being revolutionized by its selections. It is called the "Flappers Academy" because a round half dozen of the exhibitors, five of them women, have not yet reached their majority. The veteran exhibitors find themselves chased from Burlington House while these budding geniuses get hung on the line, and it is safe to say that not in years has the Academy aroused such a controversy wholly outside the discussion of mere art.

Mr. William Orpen has proved himself not only a master painter but a master diplomat and a master benefactor of public. While his picture of the chief of the Hotel Chatham in Paris, a favorite resort of English and American tourists, is one of the most discussed pictures at the Royal Academy, he also is the president and one of the exhibitors in the International show. Furthermore, it is the first time since the war that there has been a really international exhibition with eleven nations represented on the walls of the Grafton Galleries, though naturally the products of British studios predominate.

American Contributions. The society founded by Whistler follows closely after the show of American art arranged in the same galleries by Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney. The picture to the catalogue of this show and the exaggerated rumors concerning this American exhibition had raised expectations to such a pitch that the realization came as a disappointing anti-climax. To put it bluntly, the abundant artistic talent in the United States was not adequately represented. The show gave a distorted picture of the present state of American painting and the retrospective section was even more incomplete and misleading.

It is more gratifying that the American contributions to the International exhibition, though smaller in number, more than held their own in the present cosmopolitan congress.

The somewhat obscure framing of Arthur Davies' interesting composition of nude figures in a landscape entitled "The Balance of the Golden Scale" does not detract from its charm, which consists in the blending of primitive and ultramodern impressionist elements. The picture connects Lucas Cranach with Cezanne and the distinctly personal flair of Davies' art.

Painter of "Nurse Cavell." A painting of three children under the shade of a tree, with a glimpse of landscape, daintily sunny and dainty beyond, called "On the Porch" comes as a surprise to those who know George Bellows only through the "Nurse Cavell" picture. Sent to London two years after the war, the painting of this dramatic episode failed in its appeal. "On the Porch" is an observation of life transferred to canvas with unflinching directness and a sureness of purpose to which even the pleasing quality is sacrificed.

A portrait by Cecilia Beaux is mainly remarkable for its careful color arrangement, costume and accessories—a black velvet dress, a white fur, blue background and a red gold chair. The face is feeble in construction, the light check particularly badly and carefully dragged into the background and made unobtrusively fluffy.

Rockwell Kent's "Black Rock" combines austere and forceful with a brilliant brush work. On more conventional lines is John Sloan's "A Woman's Work." Allen Tucker's "Through the Trees" is a piece of pure impressionism where the deftly of spring coloring is offset by a rather brutal vigor of technique.

The French section is largely retrospective and contains important work by Manet, Renoir, Degas, Volon and Bernard.

Among the British artists Orpen gives of his best in a witty, forceful head of Georges Clemenceau against a black background, symbolically suggestive of smoke and the flames of war. One of the most interesting features of the whole exhibition is a series of woodcuts to illustrate Oscar Wilde's "Salome," by a Turkish artist, Rene Ben Sussan.

PARIS DADAISTS GYRATE, JABBER AND SELL 'ART'

Long Haired Fanatics Orate Meaninglessly Before Canvases Bereft of Merit or Sense as Kazoos Made of Hair Combs Furnish Music.

(Special Despatch.)

PARIS, Saturday. Paris, like Berlin, is in the grip of the "Dadaist" craze. The wildest of Dada's nonsensical evolutions, however, were seen in the Avenue Kleber headquarters this week when the Dadaists decided to hold a vernissage day for their sculpture and paintings. Vernissage day in other salons no longer exists, but Dada merely interprets anew the old sensations, and therefore while the long haired fanatics, accompanied by guests, jabbered meaningless phrases before a painting that seemed to be a cross between a village pump and an Egyptian deity, a whole can of expensive varnish was poured over the canvas and was left dripping throughout the exhibit.

The ceremonies opened with the chief Dada behind an opaque screen repeating a monotonous series of words without any connection, just as if he were reading from a dictionary and skipping pages. When this reached the boring limit the Dada committee broke the monotony by grouping itself around the so-called statue and reciting Dadaist through combs covered with paper. Then the lights were extinguished and phosphorous painted spectres emerged from trapdoors and carried on what was purported to be an address of welcome with "high frequency," the frequency idea being found in the fact that every word lacked any connection with art or even the most extreme type.

The chief feature of this season's exhibition, however, proved to be a statue symbolizing German militarism, which was represented by a huge wax candle half burned but crowned with paint splashed paper flowers and pierced with a bayonet of the twentieth century. Around this fellow artists sang nursery rhymes and drank beer from house paint tins until daybreak.

Notwithstanding the ridicule heaped by the press on what is termed this slur on France's artistic traditions, it is reported that the Dadaists sold nearly all of their exhibits profitably.

SOVIET LABOR SURE OF ONE MEAL A DAY

Russian Government Obligated to Reopen Markets to Supply People.

(Special Despatch.)

BERLIN, Saturday. The Soviet Government had declared all sale of food to be illegal, but lacking the mechanism for procuring and distributing supplies it was later obliged to reopen the markets, according to an impartial American observer who has just returned after being engaged in medical work and American relief distribution in Russia.

The rationing by the Government, however, gives every person a chance of getting something, he says. Workers are assured of at least one meal a day consisting of meat and soup. Factories also have a daily bread ration. The ration was gradually being cut down through the winter from a pound and a half to half a pound. The traveler said he thrived on onion seed and porridge. The Foreign Office, he added, received an official small ration of cheese.

There is a conspicuous clothing shortage and many people are wearing clothing so frequently mended that nothing but a mass of patches is left. The peasants are gradually being cut down through the winter from a pound and a half to half a pound. The traveler said he thrived on onion seed and porridge. The Foreign Office, he added, received an official small ration of cheese.

The workers are forbidden to leave factories without government authorization, and many cities have similar restrictions about a change in a place of dwelling. Moving is permitted in Petrograd, where the streets are now fairly deserted and moving is forbidden.

Moscow, with 2,500,000 inhabitants, is overcrowded and moving is forbidden. The streets have been allowed to get into such bad condition that bicycling in Moscow is almost impossible. Labor continues to be compulsory, and idlers either join the labor battalions or flee from the country.

The peasants can keep all the land they can till, but their surplus production is taken by the Government. Concomitantly in force and service in the army is compulsory. The death sentence as a punishment for desertion, reintroduced after the second Polish offensive, is being maintained. The observer finds that a praiseworthy effort is being made toward the education and care of children.

METAL PEN INVENTED BY FRENCH PRISONER

35 Years in Jail for Admiring Mme. de Pompadour.

(Special Despatch.)

PARIS, Saturday. Earnest seekers after the truth-of the type found in the French National Library—have just discovered that the invention of the metallic pen belongs to France, the first writing implement of this character being used by the famous state prisoner La Tude, who called down the wrath of Mme. de Pompadour by his passionate letters. La Tude was a natural son of a prominent court official and was brought up for a military career, but in his mistaken youthful adoration he misinterpreted the smiles of Mme. de Pompadour.

In an effort to prove his fidelity his friends devised a harmless toy which exploded noisily when Mme. de Pompadour opened it after having received a letter from La Tude warning her of impending danger from her enemies. When the contents of the box were found to be nothing more dangerous than a tin of powder, La Tude was clapped into a dungeon, where he spent thirty-five years.

In order to occupy his time La Tude tried to write his memoirs by means of an improvised fishbone pen. When this broke he begged a copper coin from the prison priest. This he ground into the shape of a pen by rubbing it against the cell walls. He also made the first known ink tablet by preparing bread crumbs with his own blood. This happened about the year 1740, according to the French researchers. Metal pens were not marketed, however, until nearly sixty years later.

ABSINTHE MAKERS SUFFER NEW BLOW

French Government Will Not Reimburse Them for Loss of Their Stills.

(Special Despatch.)

PARIS, Saturday. French absinthe distillers, whose means of existence was ruthlessly destroyed by wartime prohibition measures that put this fascinating but demoralizing drink on the taboo list forever, received another blow this week when the courts here decided that the Government was not obliged to reimburse them for the loss of their stills and bottling plants.

Only two distillers, Edward Framer and Charles Henry, filed claims for damages after the passage of the anti-absinthe act in 1915. Although they asserted they had the same right to compensation as had the growers of wood, the courts followed the precedent in the case of tobacco and match manufacturers when the State took over these monopolies, granting neither a manufacturer one centime in damages, although their losses amounted to many million francs.

In the case of the absinthe makers, their stills are said to be a total loss, as they cannot be used in connection with any other chemical processes, while the absinthe substitutes—new ones appearing every week at the Paris bazaar—can be concocted without the elaborate apparatus required to make real absinthe.

Incidentally, this may explain the fact that the substitutes, which contain too much paragon for the American taste, are rapidly supplanting beer, and in most cases here they can be obtained cheaper than the foaming back or amber.

ARCHDUKE HAMPERED IN STAGE ASPIRATIONS

Police Won't Let Leopold Wear Admiral's Uniform.

(Special Despatch.)

BERLIN, Saturday.—The former Archduke Leopold Ferdinand of Austria, who is appearing nightly as a performer in a Berlin cabaret, was prevented by the Berlin police from wearing an Admiral's uniform and is compelled to wear the clothing of a private soldier. Like many other members of once powerful royal families who were unhorsed and bankrupted by the war he was forced to work for a living, his total income from his Austrian properties now amounting to only 1,000 kronen, or about $4, monthly.

So when he appeared for a job as cabaret entertainer, sketch was written so that he could play the part of a prince who had fallen from high estate. The Berlin public, accustomed since the war to former royal personages in subject financial circumstances, was not habituated to seeing an Archduke on the boards. The first night the audience heard the Archduke through wither applause. Then, in the painful, embarrassed silence a man in a tuxedo, table and loudly clapped his hands. It was a former German Grand Duke, who also is working for his daily sustenance. From one table came a low blessing at this profanation of majesty.

TOURISTS IN PARIS, OUT LATE, GET NO SMOKES

Overcharging Stopped, Restaurants Halt Sales.

(Special Despatch.)

PARIS, Saturday. When the American tourist "hits" Paris night life this summer and tries to buy a package of American cigarettes or a Havana cigar he will be met by a cold stare and a flat refusal, even if the customer appears not likely to complain if the price is twenty times more than it should be, which is a new frequently the case after midnight in places where gayety is abundant but costly.

An edict has gone out from the syndicate of cafe and restaurant owners that such places shall no longer sell tobacco, as the Government has refused to permit the restaurants and cafes to charge 20 per cent. more than the corner tobacco shops. They have been exceeding this profit for many months—no one knows just why—and in an unguarded moment they sought to legalize what represented a steady income as long as unsuspecting Americans and Britons overlooked the increased price.

LONDON DEALERS TRICKED BY BOGUS JAPANESE PEARLS

Jewellers Dismayed by Exposure of Huge Fraud in Importations.

DISCOVERY BY WORKMAN

Bead Inserted in Flesh of Oyster Soon Covered by Thin Pearl Film.

(Special Despatch.)

LONDON, Saturday. London jewellers have been dismayed by the exposure of a huge pearl fraud. It was accidentally discovered that thousands of pounds sterling had been flung away in the purchase of worthless faked Japanese importations. How long the imitations have been coming to England and how many are in existence is unknown, and this is causing something approaching a panic in Hatton Garden among the big jewellers.

The faked jewels are so perfect that they withstand all ordinary tests. Like Oriental pearls, these imitations have been sent to this country already pierced. The discovery was made when a workman in one of the big jewelry shops was making a necklace out of pearls bought for $10,000. He found that the pierced holes were not large enough for the string, and he tried to enlarge it. In so doing he chipped a piece out of the pearl, revealing a small mother of pearl bead inside a coating of pearls.

London jewellers state that the fake is a product of eight or ten years of work spent in the development of Japanese pearl culture and industry and has been brought to perfection. The system is to catch oysters and by a surgical operation insert a mother of pearl bead in the flesh of the oyster, which is then returned to its bed. After two months the oysters are recognized by which the mother of pearl bead is found to be covered with a thin pearl film deposited by the oyster. The imitations are the same in weight, size and color as Oriental pearls, and when tested with the teeth they grit and grate like the genuine ones.

Secret meetings have been held among London jewellers who are faced with the difficulty of discovering a harmless test by which the fakes can be found without injuring genuine pearls. It has also been proposed to the Board of Trade that the importation of pearls be suspended until an effective test has been discovered.

It is probable that a number of legal contents in the courts may result from this discovery, as the difference in value between a genuine and a fake pearl is about a cent. The discovery of the fraud was made last week, but was kept secret until today and is now causing a flutter among society people who have been recent purchasers.

ANCIENT MANUSCRIPTS TO BE SOLD IN LONDON

Collection of Henry Yates Thompson to Be Offered.

(Special Despatch.)

LONDON, Saturday. Some of the gleanings of the harvest gathered throughout years of search and travel by Henry Yates Thompson in quest of gems of ancient art and literature will be offered to the public next month, when the sale of fifteen unique old manuscripts will be held here. Buyers from all over the world are expected to attend and it is anticipated that record prices will be paid for these precious works.

Historians are interested around some of the manuscripts of highly famous romances. There is a picture of the battle of Cannae from a manuscript five hundred years old and attributed to the famous Jean Fouquet, and in a vain search for the remainder of the volume, of which the picture was the frontispiece, Mr. Thompson sought all over the world. At one time he had hoped to find the frontispiece made and subscribed among the principal libraries in America and in England, but without finding the manuscript.

In an attempt to trace the origin of certain volumes Mr. Thompson has taken up the life tasks of such men as Ruskin, and in the case of "Antiphona," a Merican Abbey, Beaupre, once Rue, kins property. Mr. Thompson successfully solved the riddle. Results of Mr. Thompson's researches realized £120,325 in previous sales.

PARIS DOUBTS IF LOVE DATES TO 12TH CENTURY

Sorbonne Professor's Contention Starts Controversy.

(Special Despatch.)

PARIS, Saturday. The chief topic of discussion in high society in Paris for the last week has been "How old is love?" which was inspired by the declaration of Prof. Reigebon of the Sorbonne, that the divine passion first made its appearance at the beginning of the twelfth century. Before that date, according to the professor, civilization as known to-day did not exist in any of its branches, therefore the casual records of life relations between males and females must be interpreted by a code other than that extant to-day.

This dictum is causing French critics to comment caustically on the fact that love in the future may not be measured by occasional gifts of flowers or the proof of sentiment by giving up subway seats to the fair sex, but by relations of a more diplomatic type, based on the economic relations between men and women workers.

GARAGE FOR AIRCRAFT IS OPENED NEAR LONDON

Tourists May Set Down Plane, Get Oil, Gas or Repairs—Machines With Pilots Rented Also for Flights Anywhere.

(Special Despatch.)

LONDON, Saturday. The old joke of asking aviators the question "Where is your garage?" has been exploded with the establishment here of a bona fide, plainly labelled garage intended for the use of aerial tourists. It has been erected by the De Havilland Aircraft Company at Staglane, Edgeware.

Here the owner of a private airplane can "drop in" with his runabout and have minor repairs made while he waits. The company's announcement says: "A staff of highly skilled mechanics under fully qualified ground engineers. Petrol and oil supplied. Overhaul, modifications and repairs promptly executed."

The business is almost identical with that of the familiar automobile garage. Private aviators threatened with motor trouble, shortage of gas or loose controls have only to set down at Staglane, call a mechanic, pay the fee and take off again. Already several customers have patronized the new garage, including the chauffeur of a private De Havilland belonging to the Hon. Mrs. "Poppy" Wyndham, daughter of Lord Inchcape. Airplanes in which a person can fly anywhere at any time can be hired with pilots.

SCATTERED RICHES IS FRENCH BUFFER FOR BOLSHEVISM

With Very Wealthy Men Not Numerous.

6,000,000 OWN REALTY.

Salaries and Interest on Savings Provide 49 Per Cent. of Revenue.

(Special Despatch.)

PARIS, Saturday. France is essentially a nation of small proprietors with a smaller quota of very wealthy men than any other country of its size in the world, as is shown in figures just published here giving a comparison of French incomes. It is believed that the individual incomes for last year, when the figures have been fully compiled, will show taxable revenues amounting to more than 15,000,000,000 francs.

But in 1920 only 474 persons were found with individual incomes of more than 500,000 francs and only 1,256 with incomes ranging from this down to 250,000 francs, while in all France only 74,000 taxpayers were found with incomes of more than 2,000 francs a month each.

On the other hand 426,000 heads of families appear satisfied with an average income of 7,000 francs monthly. And this is probably the chief reason why France, while the remainder of Europe is troubled with Bolshevism, still keeps cheerful in the far as the labor situation is concerned, only waiting for the return of normal exchange conditions to prove its effect on French industry.

Real estate figures strangely, the returns of the finance experts showing that only 19 per cent. of the total revenue is derived from this source, with only 5 per cent. coming from persons worth more than a million francs, with salaries and interest on savings provide 49 per cent. derived from persons having small incomes, and 11 per cent. derived from persons with incomes more than 100,000 francs. In fact, French real estate is distributed among 6,000,000 owners, although the greater part of it is held by small farmers and merchants who have been able to buy homes from their meagre profits.

In 1919 labor furnished a 44 per cent. average of all French incomes, and it is evident that last year's average will considerably exceed that average.

MRS. FRANK J. GOULD GOES ON STAGE AGAIN

Former Edith Kelly to Be in 'Pins and Needles' in London.

(Special Despatch.)

LONDON, Saturday. Mrs. Frank J. Gould, formerly Edith Kelly, whose differences with her husband were aired recently in French and American courts, is returning to the stage here. She will appear in "Pins and Needles," which will be produced at the Royalty Theatre next week. Mrs. Gould said today that she was the thirteenth year since she left the stage and expressed the hope that it will not be an unlucky number.

"I have often wanted to return, but was drawn back at the last moment," she said. "Now I intend taking the plunge. I am appearing in one or two dances, including a Spanish one. Once I get through the first night I shall be happy behind the footlights again."

FRENCH DICTIONARY TO BE READY IN 1964

Last Edition Out in 1878; Revisers Only at 'H.'

(Special Despatch.)

PARIS, Saturday. At the present rate of progress the eighth edition of the French Academy's dictionary will not be ready for publication before 1964. The last edition appeared in 1878. Since then learned Frenchmen have been revising it at frequent intervals but have managed to modernize only about 35,000 words, it was learned today that it was admitted that they had just finished the letter "H."

But when the new dictionary is finally published it will be the most complete in the world, giving the most obscure derivations of all words and scores of obsolete applications in phrases found only in ancient French literature and will be void of all slang terms except those made famous by the French army during the last war and now considered vital to the national vocabulary.

AMERICANS TRIMMED BY OLD GAME IN PARIS

Money Changed; Pocketbook Substituted; Exit.

(Special Despatch.)

PARIS, Saturday. Two Americans, Joseph Broneiser and Frank Smink, who registered at the Hotel O'Connor here, have had a costly lesson in misplaced confidence as a result of entrusting 15,000 francs to two unknown New Zealanders whom they met while trying their luck at Monte Carlo.

The New Zealanders asked Broneiser to change American dollars into francs. They then suggested that all should hand their money to one of the Americans. A few minutes later they excused themselves, as they said they had urgent business at a local bank.

When they failed to return Broneiser opened his wallet and found it filled only with paper. The obliging New Zealanders have not yet been found by the authorities.

FIGHT FOR TREASURE OF GOLDEN FLEECE

Belgian and Austrian Claims Go Before Reparations Commission.

(Special Despatch.)

VIENNA, Saturday.—Much interesting history is connected with the fight for the Golden Fleece, which at the instigation of Belgium is about to be renewed in Paris before a special jury of three representing the Reparations Commission.

Under the terms of the treaty of St. Germain Belgium claims the treasure proper of the Order of the Golden Fleece, founded in 1430 by Philip the Good, Duke of Burgundy, who then reigned over the greater part of modern Belgium as well as other extensive territories in the Netherlands and France. The treasure, now in Vienna, consists of goldsmiths' work, collars, insignia and decorations preserved formerly in the Court Chapel at Brussels, and also arms, tapestry, jessels, etc., bearing the arms of the order.

Belgium also claims the surrender of Rubens' famous painting, the "Triptych of San Ildefonso," which was purchased and brought to Vienna in 1777 from the Abbey of St. Jacques Coudenhove, as well as other arms, equipment and documents taken from the arsenal in Brussels to Vienna in 1794 and the original manuscripts which served Gen. Ferraris for the Carte Chorographique of the Austrian Netherlands between 1770 and 1777.

In 1477 the sovereignty of the order, which is dedicated to Our Lady and St. Andrew, the patron saint of the Duke of Burgundy, passed by marriage to the house of Hapsburg. It became attached to the Crown of Spain, which for many years retained Belgium.

The male line of the Spanish Hapsburgs came to an end in 1700, upon which the Austrian branch of the family claimed the order, while the Bourbons reigning in Madrid have conferred it as Kings of Spain.

The fight for this Golden Fleece, however, promises to be less contentious than the one in the days of Jason, for both sides have agreed to accept the findings of the jury.

MIXED BATHING A BOON TO TUNBRIDGE WELLS

English Resort's Business Shows Marked Increase.

(Special Despatch.)

LONDON, Saturday. The town council of Tunbridge Wells reports that mixed bathing there has greatly increased the business done by the baths and it wants more mixed bathing days. For months the council has been at grips over the question, the anti-standing on the platform that it was like dancing—a stepping stone to worse evils.

But receipts show that it is a good paying business and keeps the young folks "in the swim."

GAY MOULIN ROUGE IN PARIS TO BE RESTORED

Montmartre to Become Centre of Night Life Again.

(Special Despatch.)

PARIS, Saturday. The famous Moulin Rouge, the burning of which before the war marked the beginning of Montmartre's downfall as a centre of gayety, is to be restored, possibly before the end of this summer. But there is still some doubt as to whether the theatre itself is to be resumed, at least this year, as the owners of the property are understood to prefer to use the building for a more profitable purpose.

It is known, however, that American dance hall managers have been negotiating for the use of the great basement, and although the deal has not yet been officially approved, the work of reconstructing the underground portions of the structure has already commenced.

It is believed that as soon as the dancing is resumed the Montmartre district's centre of gravity or, rather, lack of gravity, will return from the Place Pigalle to the Place Blanche. It is even suggested that the theatre itself might be quickly rehabilitated to accommodate movies. If this rumor is true the Red Mill would vie in importance with the Paris Opera, where negotiations are reported to have been almost concluded for the use of the glided theatre for dramatic teas on afternoons when no operatic madames are billed.

TINKLING BELLS FOR MILADY'S HATS

Novelty Seen in Paris Creation Designed for American Women.

(Special Despatch.)

PARIS, Saturday. Summer promises to bring a series of novelties in dress unprecedented in daring, according to one who has seen the inner workrooms of several Paris fashion establishments. For instance, picture the sensation that will be created in America by a Paris hat fitted with two sweeping ostrich plumes and a red, white and blue cockade, especially as around the brim will hang a series of half inch silver bells destined to tinkle their way to the heart of American buyers.

Yet such a freak creation actually exists, and the creator is dead sure that it will be considered a bargain at any price. Rue de la Paix dressmakers have taken the bell hint and have attached several bells of various tones to colored streamers. Others have revived the idea of sewing leaf shaped pieces of waterproof material of green, brown or red all over a gown of creamy satin, giving the impression that the wearer was caught in an autumn whirlwind during a garden party.

Shoes, especially for dancing, are all to have pointed American toes, much to the chagrin of the dainty demurettes whose feet are not inclined that way. But the discomfort will be made up for by huge bows of ribbon of the same color as the gown which will be attached with jewelled clasps. Some have even adopted tiny bells for dancing slippers, and their use in this manner probably will not become popular as it is expected jazz music and athletic contortions will be superseded by soft music and old fashioned waltzes.

As to jewelry, Paris is returning to the days when none was properly adorned unless she had five or six serpentine bracelets, to-day's fashion note insisting that at least six bracelets should be worn with let reveal the wrist and the others shading off to ivory just above the elbow.

U. S. RED CROSS TO AID CHILDREN IN EUROPE

Other Work Will Be Liquidated by July 1.

(Special Despatch.)

PARIS, Saturday. American Red Cross Society work in Europe will be confined to child welfare after July 1, all other branches of its activity to be liquidated before then, according to Commissioner Robert Olds, who has just returned to Paris after a tour of the central and southern European states.

This will necessitate extensive changes in the field staffs, as well as a decrease in the personnel of the Paris headquarters to meet this year's budget allowance, but Mr. Olds expressed confidence that the new programme would be effective.

The work the Red Cross has been doing in countries like Rumania, Serbia and Poland has all been turned over to local organizations, but doctors, nurses and welfare workers will be assigned to all eastern countries of Europe for child relief. The Red Cross directorate believing this will be of more permanent value than the work hitherto done, which in many cases is known to have increased idleness, as many of the natives in the stricken areas often gave up all work because they knew American generosity always was a safe quarry for meals and occasional gifts of clothing.

EXCELLENT RECITAL GIVEN

One of the most enjoyable musical events of the season was held on Thursday evening by the pupils of Mrs. A. C. Hawk. The audience, while not large, was most appreciative, every number of a very lengthy programme being enthusiastically applauded. The pupils gave evidence of the fine training they received,
and reflected great credit upon Mrs.
Hawk, as well as themselves.

Nine diplomas and four medals were awarded to pupils who had passed the necessary examinations.
A very pleasing incident of the evening was the presentation to Mrs.
Hawk, by her pupils and friends, of a handsome upholstered rocker and a lovely basket of sweet peas.

Rev. Mr. Brown, who acted as chairman, made the presentation in a very pleasing manner. Mrs. Hawk expressed her thanks and appreciation in a few well chosen words.

MAJOR J. A. EWING, K.C., IN METHODIST CHURCH.

In view of Victoria Day next Tuesday, an Empire service will be conducted in the Methodist Church, Sherbrooke, tomorrow morning.
The purpose of the service will be to worship and to give thanks to the God of nations for His goodness and guidance of the British Empire and to exalt those high ideals of righteousness and of justice for which Britain has stood. Garrison parade of the local units—the Sherbrooke Regiment, the 35th Battery, the C.A.S.C. No. 6 and the Signal Corps No. 3 will be held under command of Col. E. B. Worthington.

Major J. A. Ewing, K.C., a prominent member of the legal profession of Montreal and a native of the Eastern Townships, will be the speaker. Other local men besides the pastor, Rev. B. B. Brown, will take part in the service. The choir, under the direction of Band Sergeant R. Havard will render Sullivan's anthem, "Will Sing of Thy Power." Mrs. F. H. Bradley will sing a solo. At the evening service
Mr. Brown will preach on "Sweet-ening Life's Bitter Waters."

REGULAR MEETING OF ASCOT
W. I. WELL ATTENDED

The May meeting of the Ascot
Women's Institute was held Thursday afternoon with Mrs. W. H.
Pearson, the president, in the chair.
The meeting was called to order in the usual way, the answering of roll call showing fifteen members present, and an unusually large number of visitors.

Following the treasurer's report the secretary read the minutes of last meeting, also a letter from Mr.
Mr. W. G. MacDougall, relating to the school fair work of last year;
the money donated and expenditure of same. This brought up the question of the amount that could be donated by the institute for the school fair this fall, and it was decided that $5 be given the general fund and $2
for special prizes.

An excellent report was read by Mrs. E. Robinson, the delegate to the county executive meeting held recently, who was tendered a hearty vote of thanks for the report which showed the progress being made by the Sherbrooke County Institutes along various lines.

The appointment of delegates to the annual convention at Macdonald College resulted in Mrs. Lipsey being appointed as delegate, Mrs. Cameron, visiting delegate, with Mrs.

Pearson and Mrs. Robinson, alternatives.

The committee, appointed to look after the beautifying of the Ascot, Consolidated school grounds reported that plans were being made for tree planting, the erection of a suitable flag pole, and other improvements. After discussion the day for the "bee" was decided upon for Friday, May 27th, and it is hoped out-all will co-operate in carrying out the work, which will be under the supervision of Mr. Ritchie, of the Experimental Farm. At the close of the business session, dainty refreshments were served by the hostesses, assisted by Mrs. W. and Mrs. A.
McMillan. The next meeting will be held on June 23rd, at the home of Mrs. L. J. Parnell, when it is expected Mrs. Frank Mitchell will give a talk on "Home Nursing."

with the more expensive woollens in CAMPING VACATIONS.

Camping, with all its pleasure, is one of the most healthful ways of enjoying a summer vacation. Good fishing, beautiful camping spots, clear, pellucid water for drinking and bathing, magnificent scenery, interesting canoeing routes and all the pleasures that can be derived from outdoor life under ideal climatic conditions await the camper in the "Highlands of Ontario." There are literally thousands of lakes, and these are linked together by streams affording canoeist a choice of highways such as are to be found in no other section of the continent. While camping in this beautiful wilderness, campers may still be in touch with the outside world, if they so desire, and within easy paddling distance of the outfitting stores, postal and telegraph offices, enjoying fresh provisions and daily mail services. The principal regions most suitable are Lakes Simcoe and Couchiching, Georgian Bay, Algonquin Park and Timagami. For all information apply to

REMAINS OF LATE MR. CHAS.
DUNSMORE BROUGHT HOME
FOR BURIAL.

The funeral service and burial of the late Mr. Charles Dunsmore, whose remains were brought home
from St. Catharines on Wednesday, were held yesterday afternoon from the residence of his wife, Mr. T. M.
Cowan, Portland avenue.

The service was conducted by Rev. Alfred Bright, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, assisted by Rev. Dr. Read, pastor of the Congregational church. The hymns,
"Oh, Love That Will Not Let Me Go" and "Forever With the Lord," both favorites of the deceased, were sung by Mr. Allan Carr, and a number of friends of deceased were present at the service and followed the remains to Elmwood Cemetery, where interment was made in the family lot. The bearers were six cousins of the deceased.

The late Charles Dunsmore was born in Sherbrooke thirty-two years ago, son of the late Chas. Dunsmore and Mrs. Dunsmore of this city, his parents both coming from Scotland.

Mr. Dunsmore spent his early years, following the death of his father, with his grandparents, in Bury, then coming to Sherbrooke and entering the employ of the Jenckes Machine Company, of which he has been a valued employee for fifteen years. He was sales agent at Cobalt and Porcupine for some time, later going to St. Catharines, where he was taken ill with pneumonia. Complications followed, and he passed away at the early age of thirty-two years.

The remains were accompanied to Sherbrooke by Miss Jean Hag-gart, nurse-in-charge, who had attended him through his last illness.
Mr. Dunsmore is survived by his mother, one brother, Mr. Peter Dunsmore, of this city, who was absent from home and could not get back in time for the funeral;
two sisters, living in Lawrence, Mass.; two uncles, Col. Dunsmore, of Bury, and Mr. A. S. Dunsmore, of this city, both being present at the burial, all of whom have the deep sympathy of a large circle of friends in their bereavement.

Mrs. Howard Penhale, who has been the guest of Colonel and Mrs. J. J. Penhale, Montreal street, for some weeks, left today for Montreal for a few days' stay on her way to Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Somers and Miss Mary Somers, of Boston, and Dorchester, Mass., were in town yesterday on an automobile tour through Eastern Canada, and left today for Montreal and Rouses Point, returning home by that route.

The wedding is announced to take place June 6th, of Mr. Ovide Gingras, son of Mr. C. A. Gingras, Manufacturer of this city, to Miss Marie Brennan, of New York. No invitation cards.

Miss Mary Wilson and her brother, Mr. J. Wilson, Dufferin avenue, are at the Misses Wilson's cottage, on Lake Memphremagog, for the week-end and following days.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Arbery, Sr., announce the engagement of their daughter, Lillian Esmeralda, to Mr. John Billings, both of Orford, Que. The marriage to take place the latter part of June.

Mrs. Arthur Ellis and Mrs. Bert Shedd, from Island Pond, accompanied by a couple of friends, were in town this week by motor, and were the guests of Mrs. James Lowe, Prospect street.

The hostesses at the weekly tea of the Ladies' Aid of St. Andrew's Church were Mrs. James Lowe, Mrs. Richard Martin and Mrs. Duplisa. The tea table was decorated with lilacs, and very delicious refreshments were served and enjoyed by the guests, the members and their friends being well represented.

Mrs. Arthur Michie, Kingston avenue, was tendered a pleasant surprise one evening this week when members of St. Andrew's Auxiliary, numbering about twenty-five, called, without any announcement of their coming, to spend a social evening before the family's departure from the city. Rev. Alfred and Mrs. Bright were among the visitors, and the former, on behalf of the Auxiliary, of which Mrs. Michie has been an active member, presented her with a pretty souvenir gift in the shape of a glass and silver butter dish and knife. Mr. Bright made a happy little speech, in which he extended the best wishes of their friends to Mr. and Mrs. Michie, adding words of regret for their departure from the community in which they have won the respect of one and all. Dainty refreshments were served, and a friendly gathering was brought to a close with farewells and good wishes.

Mrs. J. J. Penhale, Montreal street, was hostess at a small house dance Thursday evening in honor of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Howard Penhale, from Kingston, and her niece, Miss Alice Writner, of Hartford, Conn. The drawing room was arranged for dancing and music was furnished by a fine Victrola. The thirty young people present spent a delightful evening, a buffet supper being served towards midnight.

MOTORIST TRIED SOME "STUNTS" ON MAIN HIGHWAY.
Fast driving is becoming a popular pastime to some motorists, and very unpopular to others, reports coming from various sections of "fool exhibitions of what their car can do," as a responsible motorist aptly expresses it.

Late Thursday afternoon such a display of power, bravery and independence was witnessed along the Cookshire road, when a big Chalmers car, supposed to be coming from East Angus towards Sherbrooke, held the right of way for a time.

Running at a terrific speed the car struck a boulder and took to the ditch, righted itself, and then struck a telephone pole near the residence of Mr. Jasper Coates, knocking it clean from its moorings, both top and bottom, and throwing it into the driveway in front of the house.

Apparently the driver was immune from injury, for without even pausing to apologize for his sensational intrusion, he turned his car and continued on his mad career. The name of the driver or number of the car could not be ascertained, apparently everyone being busy looking after his own safety or relying on the possibility of the guilty one meeting his just reward on arrival at Sherbrooke, which has not been reported as yet.

The Brown Thrasher Missionary Bird

By Winthrop Packard, secretary of the Massachusetts Audubon Society.

THE pioneers of old colonial days in the Dorchester Back Woods had a legend to the effect that the brown thrasher was once called the missionary bird, because he had converted Old Caesar.

Lacking book knowledge, perhaps, but wise in wood lore, the pioneers had set the music of many of the birds to words. For instance, they translated the robin's morning love song—that reiterated, insistent carol of four brief phrases fairly hurled from a thousand toptop twigs at dawn, into a derisive comment on the country doctor:

"Kill him, cure him, give him physic," they said he sang, and any one who will listen with an ear for rhythm and just a wee bit of imagination on any spring morning will be interested to note how well the words fit the song.

So they fitted the brown thrasher's song to words, making due note of the double phrasing of this, our most brilliant New England singer. They gave it like this, calling the thrasher a grain thief and saying that he sang not only to notify the farmer when it was time to sow, but also what he, the thrasher, would do with it after it was sown, as follows:

"Jeremy, Jeremy,
Sow your wheat, sow your wheat,
Plough it, plough it,
Plant it, plant it,
Pull it up, pull it up,
Eat it."

But the missionary bird story had a rather different version of the song. Old Caesar was a Negro slave, a well-treated old colored man, as one likes to think all the old-time Negro slaves were here in the land of abolition: a well-behaved servant, too, but notorious in those puritanical days for one bad habit. He would go fishing on Sunday. His orthodox master berated him for this and often warned him who and what would get him, according to the old-time theology, if he did not mend his ways, but somehow he could not seem to do this.

One pleasant May morning, after a special lecture on Satan and Sabbath-breakers, he, nevertheless, slipped away down behind the barn to the little lake, rowed out from shore in his boat a little way and began to fish. And as he fished there came a brown thrasher to the near-by birch top and sang; and these were the words which Old Caesar, with his guilty conscience stirred, thought he heard him sing:—

"Caesar, Caesar,
Go to church, go to church,
Fishy fisher, fishy fisher,
Devil catch you!"

Caesar stopped his fishing, agast. Nothing like this had ever happened to him. He listened and the brown thrasher sang it over and over again. Whereupon he caught up his oars, rowed ashore, rushed up to the house, got into his good clothes and hurried to church, a little bit late, but safe. Therefore, they called the brown thrasher the missionary bird because he converted Old Caesar, who was never known to go fishing on Sunday again.

Whether this be true, or whether it is one of those farm-hand folks tales which are so common in backwoods districts, I cannot say, but it is certain that the brown thrasher is a wonderful singer and also one of the most useful of our insect-eating birds. He loves sprout land and will nest whenever shrubbery is plentiful. Berry pastures bordering water are also a delight to him, and there he may always be found in May and June, conspicuous alike for his fox-brown coloring, his pose on some toptop twig when singing, and his varied, loud, and brilliant song.

UNCLE JIM'S LETTER

Dear Nieces and Nephews:

The mail man brought me a nice bundle of letters this week, and here they are on the Corner reading table. Magog and Cherry River are well represented, are they not. I think I would like to go to Cherry River just now, the cherry trees are so beautiful and perfumery, especially the choke cherry trees.

I know all the Corner folk, the girls especially, are having the jolliest time ever in the fields and woods where the flowers and trees are so wonderful. I hope all who can will carry flowers to old people and little children who cannot go to where they are growing.

One day this week I went to the woods and found violets of three colors, red and white, wake robins, the beam flower, the twin star flower, and many other dainty blossoms, and along the road the choke cherry trees were white with blossoms, and oh! so sweet. Then the roadsides and fields were dotted with strawberry blossoms, which make us think of the delicious fruit that comes after.

But the best fun of all is to listen to the birds, they seem so happy, and some of them can make almost as much noise as a machine.

I hope you will like the story of the brown thrasher, or "Missionary Bird," as he is called. I like to listen to the bird who says "Sow the wheat," and "I love Canada, Canada." Can some of you tell me, when writing, what his name is?

We are all pleased to have a poetess in our Corner, and will read Ruth's pretty verses with much interest. Perhaps we will have a contest in poetry writing some time to find out just how many poets we really have in the Corner family.

The little verse about the cats is said to be written by a boy. It sounds like it, doesn't it?

It is a funny little rhyme, and makes me think of some cats I have seen and heard.

Wilbur, our six-year-old visitor, writes a neat little letter, and I think he did splendidly for such a young boy. Write again, Wilbur, there will be room for your letter on the reading table.

The boys and girls nearly always tell me they have pets, which include dogs, cats, calves, pigs, etc., but I do not hear much about pet lambs, the cutest little chaps, too, they are.

If any of the Corner family has a pet lamb, tell us about it. Then I would like to hear about some of the funny things these pet animals do. You know they all have their mischievous times, just like boys and girls, and I am sure the readers would all enjoy the stories.

Hoping you will all have a nice time on Empire Day and the 24th of May, I will close.

UNCLE JIM.

CORRESPONDENCE

Dear Uncle Jim:
I am a boy twelve years old. I go to school and am in the third grade. For pets I have a calf named "Pansy." It is black and white, and I have a cat named "Topsy." I have one brother and one sister. I read all the other boys' and girls' letters and I like them very much. I hope to see my letter in print.
BERTRAND A. TURNER,
Cherry River, Que.

Dear Uncle Jim:
I am going to school now. I am in grade two, and I am eight years old. There are twenty-five scholars when they are all at school. I have two pets, Kitty and a collie. I went down to Sherbrooke last Wednesday and came back Thursday morning. I will close now.
From your little niece,
MARJORIE E. TURNER,
Magog.

Dear Uncle Jim:
I would like to join your Corner. This is my first letter to your page. We take the Record, and I always read Bob and Bill and the boys' and girls' letters. I have a horse, his name is Jerry, and I have a pet calf and a kitten. I am eight years old and I went to school and was in the fifth grade, but our school closed the 12th of May. I got a prize for going to school the most days; it was a book named "Scamp." It is a dog's own story and it is a nice one. I will close, hoping to see my letter in print. Your niece,
ANNIE ROGERSON,
Knowlton, Que.

OUR YOUNGEST VISITOR.
Dear Uncle Jim:
I am a little boy six years old on the 21st of March. I began to go to school after Easter. Our school will close on the 8th of June. I cannot write very well yet, so I will close.
WILBUR TURNER,
Magog.

Dear Uncle Jim:
I haven't written for a long time. My birthday is on the 17th of March, and I am eight years old. I am going to tell you about the flowers. I found mayflowers, cowslips, white violets, blue violets and yellow violets. I found a new kind of flower. It was like the cowslip, only very much smaller. We planted five trees at our school. We have three weeks more to go to school, then I may go to Quebec to visit my grandma.

We have three little calves and six little pigs. I can milk a cow at night now. Good-bye,
From
MILDRED SMITH,
Orford, Que.

Dear Uncle Jim:
Just a few lines to your page. I have not written before. I go to school and am in the fifth grade. There are twenty scholars in our school. I like to read the story of Bob and Bill and the other boys' and girls' letters. Hoping to see this in print.
FLORENCE MITSON,
Cherry River, Que.

Dear Uncle Jim:
May I please be one of your nieces? I am twelve years old and try to write poetry. I am sending you a poem entitled "The Daffodil," that I wrote. I have three sisters and one brother. Wishing your Corner success, I will close.
Your niece,
RUTH MARY WATTS,
Dixville, Que.

THE DAFFODIL.
(By Ruth Mary Watts.)
The daffodil was a lovely flower
As it just waked up from its winter bower.

It looked to the right, it looked to the left,
And it nodded about in a way very soft.

It looked to the sky, to the ground so green,
All moulded and worked into lovely green sheen.

It looked all around and nodded this way
"Till a little girl said, 'I'll pick you today.'"

The daffodil cried, "I'm a lovely flower,
Just waked up from my winter bower,
I pray you don't pick me, or I'll fade away,
Then you'll not have me for another day."

"I pick those I like, and I'll pick you, A bouquet I'm making, so stand up, do."
The daffodil was then put in a bouquet. But it faded away before another day.

ON THE PINCUSHION

On Mother's dressing table there are all kinds of curious things: a clothes-brush, brought last summer from Switzerland, carved with leaves all over the back; a mirror that swings open; a tiny lopped tree in white and gold china, Mother's rings hanging on the branches. What we love best of all is the big square pincushion of green silk covered with spotted net. It always makes me think of a grassy field full of daisies. If you just throw a clean white handkerchief over the pincushion, the meadow is covered with snow. For every day, we prefer the green grass, because people can then walk about the field. The people are—pins. Thick pins are gentlemen, slender pins are ladies, and the wee, wee pins are boys and girls. Sometimes they go two and two, like a school or a regiment; often they are scattered about anyhow, dozens of them, having a school treat. They are generally white and shining, but here and there black folks and white folks. What Mother calls a bent pin I call somebody bowing. You don't mind their being bent (at least, I don't) because it looks so polite.

Sometimes Hetty and I run a telephone wire across the field. How do we do it? Why, we stick in needles for poles, and thread them with silk going from eye to eye; that makes wire.

One day we found Mother's big hat-pin standing up on the pincushion, and I said to Hetty, "If only we could thread it, what a lovely telephone pole it would be." But Hetty said, "Oh, Daisy, but you see it sends wireless messages. Mother's poles are always tall like that."

THE PRINCE AND THE MIGNONETTE

The Prince was to visit the garden and choose his bride from among the flowers. Great were the preparations for his coming. Fancies shone brighter, Lilies grew whiter, Hollyhocks stood on tiptoe. Tuberoses were dizzy with fragrance. Little Mignonette, knowing there was no possibility of the Prince noticing her among the gay company of court beauties, made no special effort, but hurried here and there, helping all the others to perfect their beauty.

When the Prince arrived, each flower stood in her allotted space, conscious of her beauty, well satisfied with face and form. The Prince admired, but did not choose. A whiff of perfume, sweet and haunting, stayed his searching step.

"Show me the flower of exquisite sweetness," commanded the Prince. But before the shy, modest little Mignonette could be brought before the Prince, he had flown to her, and bowing low, said:

"Thou art sweet, oh, wondrous sweet. Thou art lovely beyond compare. Will thou come and dwell with me?"

A CAT TRAGEDY.
There were once two cats of Killenny. Each thought there was one cat too many. So they fought and they fit, And they scratched and they bit, Till, excepting their nails And the tips of their tails, Instead of two cats there weren't any.

FOUGHT FIFTEEN ROUND DRAW.

(Associated Press Despatch) NEW ORLEANS, La., May 21.—Jeff Smith and Harry Greb fought fifteen rounds to a draw here last night. Smith seemed to have landed a majority of the cleaner blows and carried the fight to his opponent most of the time. Greb resorted frequently to holding tactics. Smith weighed 161 and Greb 164.

CHICAGO'S HITS WERE TIMELY AND WON GAME

White Sox Nosed Out the Yankees Yesterday—Cleveland Players Improve Their Averages.

(Associated Press Despatch.) CHICAGO, May 21.—"Rabbit" Maranville, of Pittsburgh, was on a batting rampage during the past week and went from tenth place to second place to become the runner-up to Rogers Hornsby, the St. Louis star, who is topping the National League regulars in batting despite the fact that he ran into a slump. Maranville's average is .368, compared with .356 last week, while the National Champion of last year dropped from .471 to .457.

George Kelly, of the Giants, who is competing with Babe Ruth, of the Yankees, in the Major League race for home run honors hit only one four base blow, which brought his total to eight while Ruth has an even dozen.

Bonne, of Cincinnati, stole another base during the week and leads the base stealers with eight thefts.

Other leading batters are: Schulz, St. Louis, .364; McHenry, St. Louis, .364; Barber, Chicago, .356; Hargrave, Cincinnati, .354; Johnston, Brooklyn, .351; R. Miller, Philadelphia, .346; Carey, Pittsburgh, .343; Deal, Chicago, .341; Kelly, New York, .340.

The averages are of those players who have taken part in more than fifteen games and include games of last Wednesday.

A number of surprises are in store for the American League batters in the next few days. Cobb is back at his old tricks with the willow and promise to make things interesting for one of his outfielders, H. Heilmann, who is leading the League with an average of .454. Cobb's mark is .395. George Sisler, the St. Louis star, is coming along fast and has moved from thirty-seventh to fourth place in the past two weeks. His average now is .308, one point behind Stephenson, who is playing second base for the world's champion Cleveland.

Bib Falk, Chicago Americans outfielder, who is declared to be the find of the season is causing considerable attention by his slugging. Falk went from .93 a week ago to .347 and is tied with Williams, of St. Louis, for tenth place.

Babe Ruth had a fairly good week, bagging three circuit drives. Harris added a brace of bases to his stolen record and is showing the way with eight.

Other leading batters are: Speaker, Cleveland, .378; Ruth, New York, .378; Menosky, Boston, .375; Bassler, Detroit, .362; Tobin, St. Louis, .360.

In the American League the games played yesterday resulted as follows:

TWO INSTANTLY KILLED IN AN AUTO ACCIDENT

Car Swerved and Plunged Through Railing of Bridge into Ravine.

BRANTFORD, ONT., May 18.—George Bygraves and Hartland Harper were killed and Herbert Bygraves, a nephew of the former, was badly injured when their auto jumped a bridge on the Cocksbutt Road near Burch Corner.

Not until the light enabled passersby to see them lying in a ravine at six o'clock this morning was the accident discovered, and not until then was Herbert Bygraves removed to the hospital, after suffering from his injuries and the all night exposure.

The party went out to bring in Mr. Bygraves' mother, who has been seriously ill. On a high level bridge, the car swerved from the road and crashed through the railing, landing in a ravine about seventy-five feet below. The two were instantly killed.

FARM PROBLEMS ARE DIFFICULT

Stanstead Farmer Compares
 Some Prices With Those of a Year Ago.

Mr. David Watson, a prominent farmer of Stanstead, was in the city yesterday, and speaking to the Record of farming conditions, said they were about as unsatisfactory as to prices as any he had ever experienced. Farm products were down, but everything the farmer had to buy, from boots to wagons, were still up.

"A year ago," said Mr. Watson, "I sold three calves for $102, today they would just bring $50. Wool is from 15c to 20c per lb. as compared with 70c a while ago. Hogs are 15c, where a year ago they were 27c. Potatoes are a drug on the market at 50c. A year ago they brought $4. Butter and eggs are at pre-war prices. And so it goes." If the slump was general in other lines as well as farm products, the situation would be much more comfortable.

A PAGE OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Tapioca Replaces Spring Tonics

TAPIOCA may be made a useful addition to the diet in almost every family, for there is so little characteristic flavor to tapioca that it would be hard to find any one who did not like it when it is properly cooked. It can in many forms take the place of spring tonics.

Tapioca puddings are very easily prepared, especially when you use one of the modern brands of tapioca, but it is a mistake to confine yourself to one sort of tapioca pudding.

While apples may still be had, apple tapioca is a good selection. To make this to serve six or eight persons you will need a half cup of tapioca, which should be boiled in a quart of water with a pinch of salt in a double boiler for about twenty minutes. Have ready about six apples, preferably sour apples. Peel, core and quarter them and place in a baking dish with a cup of sugar, a dash of salt, a few small pieces of butter and cinnamon or nutmeg if children are not going to eat the pudding.

When the tapioca is boiled pour it over the apples and set this in the oven and cook until the apples are done through.

Some housewives serve this with a very little whipped cream, while others serve plain cream or top milk, but no sauce is necessary. It is especially delicious when served hot.

Cream tapioca is best when served cool. This calls for a quart of milk, two eggs, about a third of a cup of tapioca and a half cup of sugar. Cook the tapioca and milk with a pinch of salt in a double boiler for fifteen minutes. Beat the egg yolks and mix with the sugar and add to the tapioca when cooked. Stir in thoroughly and let the mixture cook slowly until the egg seems to be thickened. Remove the egg mixture and let it cool a little and then add the egg whites beaten to a thick froth. It is best to flavor it with a little vanilla.

Rhubarb tapioca may be made by following the recipe for apple tapioca, substituting between three and four cups of rhubarb peeled and cut in half inch pieces, for the apple.

In any of these recipes if you use the old fashioned tapioca instead of the quick sort, soak it over night in cold water. Drain it of the water in which it has been soaked when ready to use.

A number of good puddings may be made from canned fruit of various sorts. To make any such dish the tapioca should first be cooked in the double boiler, as in the recipe for apple tapioca, allowing about half a cup to a quart of water. When cooked add a cup or more of cut up canned pineapples or other canned fruit, with sugar to taste, and let cool.

Tapioca may be used in many ways not known to housewives. For instance, it makes an excellent thickener for gravies. The rule is to add two tablespoons of quick tapioca to every pint of stock to be thickened. Then boil until it is clear, stirring all the time. Tapioca may be used to advantage in thickening cream vegetable soups. The fact that it does not lump readily is in its favor.

Another way to use tapioca in cooking is to add a full teaspoonful to berries or rhubarb when making a pie to prevent the juice from running out and soaking the crust.

Sow That You May Reap

IT'S time to begin your garden. For the birds are flying north again and the bulbs are pushing up their green heads through the ground and the spring wild flowers are making plans for their coming out in the woods.

So of course it behooves lazy man and woman, too, to do the little human part of garden making.

Really, to be sure, it is too early in most parts of this big land to do much actual gardening yet. But it is time, even in the farthest north, to make plans. Indeed, it has been said that the pleasantest gardening is done before the first of winter nights. However this may be, the time to plan the garden is early, long before the ground is ready for seeds.

To begin with, plan just how much money you can this spring spend on your garden. If you can spend $500, put that sum down on paper and then budget it as carefully as you would your household spending money.

If you can spend only $10, then go to work planning with that sum in mind.

Of course, the amount you can spend has much to do in determining what you shall buy. If you can afford to spend a good deal, then you can buy some garden furniture. If you can't afford much, then of course, most of that little must go to the buying of seeds and plants and bulbs.

Even with a little to spend, you may feel that a garden bench or a gardening basket is worth getting, to the stitling of your allowance for new plants. Some established gardens can really be very well left alone for one spring, without losing much thereby. And so you can buy a little bit of garden furnishings.

An inexpensive bit of garden equipment is a screen made of old wooden blinds—the kind with the little hinged sections one above the other. Three or four or more of these blinds are fastened together with hinges, to form a screen which makes an admirable shield for the garden. Behind such a screen you can sit and lounge contentedly, free from the eyes of passersby. The blinds cost little, for you can buy them—perhaps beg them—from some builder who is tearing down an old house and who has no need for such out of date things as these old-fashioned blinds. Of course, the bigger they are, the better screen they will make. So in negotiating for them, get the biggest you can.

What are known as steaming clams should have the hard portions removed and finely chopped. This may be cooked with the liquor, but the soft parts like oysters should only be cooked just long enough to have the edges well curled.

Cucumbers and cabbage in some form (raw) always form good accompaniments for any variety of shell fish and a combination of the two vegetables in a crisp salad will be found delicious.

Spring Advances and—in Keeping with the Season—More Picturesque Become Miss America's Clothes

Broad brimmed chapeau of rough straw banded with wide orange ribbon fringed and falling over the edges of the brim.

For once spring did not live up to her reputation as the most cheerfully hospitable of hostesses. She did not welcome May with her usual gladsome smile, but instead greeted the month with frowns and tears! Being a merry month, however, May does not take umbrage at springtime's affront, but is doing her best to win capricious Mother Weather from her lugubrious mood by sheer force of her personality, and she is going to succeed. One of these fine days before we know it springtime will be her own gay self once more, garlanded in blossoms and accompanied by her own soft zephyrs. And then, well then the maidens fair will rally forth hatted in the new and fascinating apparel especially reserved for this particular occasion.

Of course, 'twill be upon her chapeau that midday will expend the greatest care, for she knows full well that it, and alone, has power to mar the charm of the most attractive and expensive of gowns.

Unless there is a perfectly good reason for her selecting otherwise, Miss America's brim grows wider as the weather grows warmer. Just why we do not know, unless it is because when winds are high a large hat, however becoming, is very far from being a convenient thing to have on the head.

And this broad brimmed affair may be made individual by any one of a number of methods. Flowers as are fitting for the season frequently appear as adornment, but that there shall be not even the slightest danger of blossom monotony their use is varied by clever arrangements of ribbon and feathers.

Unusually attractive are this spring's wraps. This cape coat of black Canton crepe is banded with kimmer fur. With it mademoiselle wears a small turban of crepe and straw effectively trimmed with loops of ribbon.

Speaking of ribbon, when a crushed band of it serves to girdle the crown and is deeply fringed at the ends, the ends falling over either side of the chapeau's brim, there is no other trimming more effective.

Capes, capes everywhere! For daytime and evening wear the cape is the garment that has the "daye." The reason undoubtedly lies in its indisputable convenience. There is not need to have be imagined any wrap so pliable. But—here is one thing to bear in mind—unless its fair owner understands the art of wearing it her figure will not be improved as far as its silhouette is concerned.

Individuality is the most desirable attribute of any item of midday's apparel! Yet this individuality must not lessen the garment's practicality or it defeats its own purpose.

Fashion this spring gives character to the wrap by making it uneven in length, and by adding to it fur that with the material in which it is developed contrasts and at the same time is harmonious.

There are pointed irregular bottoms and round cutaway fronts, the pleated and draped of which is emphasized by pelt. Krimmer is exceedingly popular, and in the picture wrap serves for collar and cuffs and hands under the sleeves of no earthly use in the world, but mightily effective as mere elaboration.

on the inside and lifted slightly as they are fed to the wringer.

On thin material or on clothes that are going to get hard wear, the buttons should always be backed with a piece of heavy material. It is worth while to run a strip of tape behind the buttons the whole length of the place where there are buttons. She finds that if she gives this attention to new underclothes there is little work later on in the way of sewing on buttons.

Another thing that she finds worth while is to go over any new garment when it comes into the house. No matter how expensive it is, there may be little places where the threads have not been properly tied, places where the machine has run off the line, loose buttons and eyes, buttons or fasteners. If you attend to all these matters to begin with you will not have to do so later, and you will not be annoyed by the loss of a button or fastener.

The Big Idea Saved Mending.

A THRIFT-LOVING Englishwoman who makes her meagre living going about among a circle of friends doing mending and renovating, darning and patching, has some suggestions to make that would reduce the work of mending and make your clothes last longer.

She says that it is always wise to buy two or more pairs of stockings alike. Nothing is so annoying as to find one stocking in fair condition and mend it, only to find that the mate has so many runs up the leg as to make it past mending. If there were only more stockings of the same sort the one good stocking might be used until worn out.

This mending woman has her own opinion of electric clothes wringers. Though she knows, as every one knows, that it is quite possible to use a wringer without tearing off a button if the clothes are only folded with the buttons on the inside and lifted slightly as they are fed to the wringer.

There is no special etiquette for our way of bathing, though there was for poor little Queen Marie Antoinette, who always bathed with a group of ladies in waiting looking on—because she bathed in private. We can hold the soap as we please and splash as loudly as we want without running the risk of being ill-bred. All society asks us is that we shall be well rubbed and we can save ourselves as to the method of securing that result. If we were hermits or Robinson Crusoes we should have few people to our books of etiquette.

So the closer we live together, the more careful we should be of our manners. And for this reason the city folk who dwell close together have to think more of etiquette than country folk. Complicated machinery always needs more lubricating oil than machinery of few parts and so folk who live in close contact with one another need the most rules of etiquette.

Psychology of Color in the Home

English Artist, Painter of "Memory Pictures" of Places She Has Never Seen, Explains Effect of "Color Vibrations" on Personality.

DYES the tired business man of your household revive when the shades of evening fall and he is once more in the bosom of his family? Does he while away the evening with merry quips and radiant cheer? Or does exhaustion remain his companion and does he appear during the evening hours a bit gloomy, not to say (for of course we would not) a little grouchy?

If he measures up to the first standard and the chances are you have a cheerful, happy looking home, but if the latter description fits even partially the master of your house, look you to the decorative schemes you have employed.

In other words, tiresome colors but accentuate that tired feeling, according to Miss Sydney Dyke of England, who has for the past several weeks held an exhibit of her interior designs at the Oasis Club in New York.

Miss Dyke puts into practice color theories based on scientific investigation. "All colors have vibrations," she assures us, "some stronger than others, some affecting certain people more than others, according to the sensitiveness of the person's temperament. This being true, why not use those colors in our homes which affect us as we wish to be affected?"

The psychology of color is a fascinating phase of art which has secured many disciples in recent years. Miss Dyke makes a plea for color in the home. Drab, neutral shades have no charm for her. Nothing is as tiresome, she considers, as a monotonous decorative scheme. She holds no brief for those soft gray and tan rooms which a while ago were looked upon as the acme of artistic taste. Study those colors which please you," she urges, "those that rest you, those that excite you, and adapt them to your surroundings."

It is a known fact that certain colors have healing qualities and this theory is now being put into practice in some hospitals. Take, for instance, the patient with a tendency to melancholia. As yellow is the color of sunlight and sunlight has, as we know, cheering influences, patients will be better able to turn to normality if he is surrounded by the color of the sun. In a drab room into which no happy hues penetrate his moroseness would increase.

Green is restful and Miss Dyke advocates it for the tired business man. Having been possibly the greater part of the day in the glare of unshaded electric lights, an evening spent in a room in which green predominates would prove restful not only to his eyes but to his nerves as well.

Miss Dyke is the daughter of Sir William and Lady Emily Hart Dyke, her father having had the distinction of being in Parliament for forty years. The former Earl of Sandwich was her uncle, and as the present Earl married an American girl, Miss Albert Sturgis, Miss Dyke feels no stranger to Americans. Until three years ago this interesting artist had used a paint brush but seldom, her efforts having been confined to the medium of black and white. Now on the walls of the Oasis Club she has many clever color sketches, not the least interesting of which are her symbolic and her "memory pictures." Possessed of an uncanny faculty of being able to draw that which she has never seen in reality or in art, she is able to convey the atmosphere, spirit and color of an unvisited locality to her canvas.

Miss Dyke, whose theories derive of Yogi philosophy, says: "Symbolic pictures are an attempt to portray color and rhythm in form. As color gives forth vibration, it makes a point of contact with the personality, and has its effect upon it. Our thoughts build up our speech and actions, so our lives are the result of the thought-vibrations we create. The auras seen round the body by clairvoyants are the result of thought forces expressed. Color is necessary in life, and people should surround themselves with their correct color, which has a healing and soothing effect."

"The symbolic pictures belong to the planetary forces which are all around and in us, which are perpetually sending forth vibrations, and affect those personalities which are attuned to them. Mental pictures of an individual are, as it were, a portrait of his spiritual evolution. It is like forming a contact (as in wireless telegraphy) with a force and making use of it, but the nature of that force has not yet been explained."

"My pictures of Egypt, Assyria and Italy I call 'Memory Pictures,' as I am a believer in the continuity of life and consider that these are impressions of places seen in a former existence. People have been known to recognize friends and places, and some have written down impressions and stories of a former existence. The picture I painted of the Villa d'Este is a mental picture connected with a friend in New York."

The painting of the villa to which Miss Dyke refers is one that was drawn without ever having seen the model, which later she found bore many architectural features similar to it.

Nervous Headache A Danger Signal

Doctors are looking at headaches nowadays in a different way from that of doctors of a generation or more ago. They regard them not as pains for which they have to prescribe pills and powders. Usually the last thing that the doctor thinks of is to give you a medicine that will take away the pain. The doctor now realizes that usually the headache is a warning. He tries to find out where the real danger lies.

Sometimes the young housewife develops headaches. They ought not to be difficult for her to trace to their source herself. The young married woman who before marriage worked away from home may experience headache for no reason in the world than because she is not getting the invigorating bit of outdoor air that she used to get in going to work. Then the remedy for her headache lies in taking a bit of a walk every morning before starting in at the housework. Sometimes the housewife's headaches are due to her shoes. She is not used to the constant foot striking that comes with doing housework and she does not realize that there is nothing so irritating to the nerves as standing in tight or wrongly built shoes. Her cure will come by discarding the shoes for a pair of shoes for comfortable shoes during working hours.

Then sometimes the housewife's difficulty lies in the fact that her work is very near to the pantry. To take a mid-morning snack and a snack in the afternoon. If she bakes she samples her cakes and she tastes the pudding. Her headache can be cured by a little simple abstinence.

The Last Call for Oysters!

For Raw Oysters.—Arrange the raw oysters on the half shell as usual. For each plate have a small, firm, fresh red pepper. Remove the stem and a section of the opposite end. Carefully remove all the seeds and fill the pepper with tomato ketchup. Stand one of the peppers up on each plate and serve. In eating the oysters dip each oyster in the ketchup before eating.

For an Oyster Supper.—Mix together one-half cup of butter, one-half cup of salt, a dash of pepper, two tablespoons of corn meal and the yolks of two eggs. Have ready a cup of cheese crumbs and a cup of cracker crumbs well mixed. Now drain a quart of oysters and mix them one at a time first in the batter mixture and then in the cheese and crackers. Fry in deep fat and serve on buttered toast. Garnish with olives and parsley and serve.

Pickled Oysters.—After you have had your fill of oysters when the "pick" is still on the calendar be sure to pickle some against the days when you can have none fresh. This rule calls for the juice and bodies of 100 oysters. The oysters should be boiled for half an hour, and as the steam rises it should be taken off. Remove the oysters and strain the liquor through a cloth or very fine strainer and put the oysters back in it. Take a half pint of the hot liquor in a separate dish and add to it a quarter of an ounce of cloves and half so much mace. Boil this to extract the flavor from the spices, and then add half a pint of vinegar, half an ounce of salt and an eighth of an ounce of black pepper. Add the mixture to the original and allow it all to stand still cold. Then "put up" in sealed jars and store away for future use.

FOR THOSE STAINS.

To remove grease from a soiled spot place goods over thick padding of cloth. Apply chloroform to soiled spot and rub until dry.

Ink stains can be removed by covering the spot with salt; squeeze lemon juice over this and let dry in the hottest sunshine.

One part turpentine to two parts essence of lemon will remove grease from silk. Rub gently with this mixture on a soft cloth.

To remove fruit stains from the hands scrub with a brush and a solution of soda. A little nutmeg added to the white sauce of creamed fish gives a delicious flavor.

When washing a clothesline wring around washboard and scrub with soap suds.

DEATHS REPORTED

MRS. A. ROBB, DETROIT.
GREENLAW, May 21.—Mr. Geo. S. Robb received a telegram on Tuesday evening from his father, M. A. Robb, that his mother was dangerously ill at her home in Detroit, Mich., and a few hours later there came another message saying she had passed away. The sudden and sad news came as a shock to their many friends, and the sympathy of the community goes out to the family in their bereavement. Mr. Robb and family lived in Windsor for a number of years, having moved to Detroit a little over a year ago. The funeral was held at Windsor.

MRS. THOS. HAMILTON, FARNHAM CENTRE.
FARNHAM CENTRE, Que., May 21.—After an illness of a few weeks Mrs. Thos. Hamilton passed away Thursday night, May 19th, at her home here. Mrs. Hamilton was in her eighty-third year and had spent the whole of her life in this vicinity. She was an exceptionally kind neighbor and an affectionate mother and grandmother. She was predeceased by her husband and five children, her last surviving child being the late Mrs. George Douglass, who died over three years ago. She leaves one sister, Mrs. Robert Elliott; one brother, Mr. John Powers, of Cowansville; and three grandsons. The funeral service was held Sunday p.m., and conducted by Mr. Collins, student-pastor, of Brigham. The bearers were Messrs. A. Leggett, R. Clark, J. Crawford and M. Crawford. The floral tributes were numerous and beautiful, showing with what love and esteem the deceased lady was held by her relatives and friends.

MATTHEW H. TEMPLE, WATERLOO.

WATERLOO, QUE., May 21.—Waterloo has been called upon lately to part with several of its prominent residents, but in the passing of Mr. Matthew H. Temple, the town has lost a citizen who will be hard to replace. For several weeks past Mr. Temple had been far from well, but it was only two weeks before his death that his condition compelled him to give up his work as conductor on the Central Vermont Railway. On Thursday, May 12th, he was taken to the General Hospital, Montreal, by Dr. J. A. Corcoran and his son, Mr. Harland Temple. He sank rapidly until, early on Sunday morning, surrounded by his wife and two sons and other friends, he passed peacefully away. The body was brought to Waterloo on the noon train on Monday.

The funeral service was held on Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock in the Methodist Church and was very largely attended by citizens of all creeds. The sacred edifice was crowded. The Sunday School, of which the deceased was the beloved and efficient superintendent, attended in a body. A special train brought eighteen railroad officials from St. Albans and other places, among whom were noticed Mr. J. E. Mann, Superintendent; Mr. E. T. Buck, Chief Despatcher; Mr. J. H. Sturdevant, Rule Examiner; Mr. S. McKenna, Terminal Train Master; Mr. P. E. Demerise, Train Master; Mr. J. M. Morrison, Chief Civil Engineer; Mr. J. F. McEnany, General Agent; and Mr. Austin Emery, Station Agent, St. Albans. All the employees of the company at the Waterloo terminal also attended.

The service was conducted by the Rev. P. Pergau, pastor of the church, assisted by Rev. F. W. Schaffer, of the Anglican Church, and Rev. J. B. Hicks, of Bedford, a former pastor. The choir, with Miss Graves as organist, sang "Servant of God, Well Done" and "Now the Laborer's Task is O'er." and Mrs. Pergau, Mrs. England, Mr. W. H. Palmer and Mr. J. M. Smith sang "The Homeland" as a quartette. The bearers were Messrs. F. Barrington, Elmer Graves, W. J. Dalton, A. C. Miller, R. F. Shaw and F. R. Dalton. The interment was made in the Protestant cemetery, Mr. N. O. Rockwell was the undertaker and director.

The late Mr. Temple was born on a farm near Waterloo on June 13th, 1852, and with the exception of a few years lived in Sherbrooke and Magog when the C. V. Ry. ran to these places, he had always resided in this town. On December 25th, 1877, he married Miss Charlotte E. Gould, of Waterloo, who with two sons, Mr. Harland Temple, of Quebec, survive him. He is also survived by two brothers, Mr. Wm. H. Temple and Mr. E. E. Temple, of Ayer's Cliff.

Amongst those who were present at the funeral from a distance, besides the railway officials, were noticed Mr. and Mrs. Harland Temple, of Quebec; Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Temple, of Quebec; Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Temple, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Temple, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Temple, Mr. Clifton Temple, of Ayer's Cliff; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Haselton, of Beebe; Mr. Wm. McEwen and Mr. Lloyd McEwen, of Montreal; Mr. R. Gaillet and Mr. Horace Gaillet, of Sherbrooke. The funeral was beautiful, testifying eloquently though silently to the esteem and affection of the many donors. It required a special vehicle to convey them to the church and then to the cemetery.

At the time of his decease the late Mr. Temple was chairman of the Board of School Commissioners. He always took a very active interest in school affairs. In religion he was a Methodist, and that church has suffered the loss of one of its most loyal members and earnest workers. He had been superintendent of the Sunday School for years, and to its success and for its prosperity he constantly thought and worked. The splendid achievements of the school are largely due to his leadership. He was also a member of the Trustees Board and the Official Board. His last attendance at church was at the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper on May 1st when along with the pastor he extended the right hand of fellowship to a class of eleven candidates who were received into full membership with the church. For fifty-three years he had been in the service of the C. V. Railway and during all these years so faithful in his duties that he was held in the highest regard by all the officials.

PRICES AND DETAILS OF SHERBROOKE MARKET

There was a busy session at Lansdowne market yesterday, the main features of which were lower prices in butter and eggs. Both these commodities dropped a few points.

Creamery prints could be had in almost any quantity at thirty cents a pound, large amounts selling at twenty-eight cents a pound while dairy butter could be had at twenty-five cents.

Eggs were slightly lower and ranged anywhere between thirty-five and forty cents a dozen, with thirty-eight cents an average price.

Cheese dropped five cents a pound New Ontario selling at thirty cents compared to thirty-five the previous week.

Poultry continues a little easier and larger supplies are being put on the market each week.

In the vegetable market potatoes remained unchanged with a tendency to slightly lower prices, green vegetables were offered in good supplies with radishes offered at five cents a bunch compared to ten the previous week. Spring onions, lettuce, parsley were unchanged while good supplies of rhubarb again made their appearance.

Tomatoes sold at thirty-five cents a pound and are likely to do so until the farmers' supply makes its appearance; imported celery was not in very great demand.

There were no new offerings in the way of fruit, bananas sold at forty to fifty cents a dozen, pineapples thirty-five cents each, oranges from thirty cents a dozen, and lemons from thirty cents a dozen.

Strawberries could be had at thirty-five cents a basket while a fair quantity of water melons made their appearance.

The Provision market showed no change of importance. The drop of pork from seventeen to sixteen cents a pound was reflected in the retail prices which were slightly lower. The supplies of veal have been smaller of late and several dealers have discontinued handling it temporarily.

DAIRY PRODUCE

Montreal, May 21.

BUTTER—A feature of the trade was the steadier feeling that prevailed in the market and prices realized at the auction sale showed no further change as compared with those of Monday, except for fine creamery, which sold at an advance of 1-4c per lb., but, according to cable advices received and the prices bid for fine creamery, exporters stated that there was no encouragement in them to operate extensively at the present level of values here. There was a steady demand from local buyers for small lots and a fair trade in this respect was done, with supplies ample to meet all requirements, and sales of finest creamery was made at 27c to 27 1/4c per lb., and seconds at 26 1/4c to 26 1/2c.

CHEESE—According to advices from some of the country boards, there was a firmer feeling in the market, as at Kingston, some of the offerings of colored goods sold at an advance of 1/4c per lb., as compared with last week, and at Campbellford a premium was paid for white cheese over colored. The trade on spot between houses was quiet, but there continues to be a fair inquiry from over the cable for supplies for quick shipment and some of the prices bid were in line with exporters' views, as further sales in this direction were made.

HAY MARKET

Montreal, May 21.
HAY—The market is quiet with a fair turnover chiefly for local account along with a few cars for outside account. Prices are quoted at $22.00 to $23.00 per ton for No. 2 and $20.00 to $21.00 for No. 3.

COUNTRY PRODUCE

Montreal, May 21.

EGGS—A feature of the local egg situation yesterday was the weaker feeling that developed in the market for the lower grades and prices for No. 1 and No. 2 stock declined 1c to 3c per dozen, which was attributed to the accumulation stocks of such and somewhat limited demand, but, on the other hand the tone of the market for the higher grades was steady and prices were unchanged, with a good steady demand for supplies for immediate consumption, and a fairly active trade was done.

POULTRY—There has been a fairly good demand during the week at steady prices several good round lots of choice turkeys selling at 58c. The demand for chickens was fair at within range of quotations. Prices are quoted as follows:
Choice turkeys, per lb. 58 to 59
Good turkeys, per lb. 55 to 56c
Milk-fed chickens, per lb. 38 to 40c
Ordinary fed do., per lb. 34c to 35c
Fowl, per lb. 30c to 33c
Ducks, per lb. 38 to 40c
Geese, per lb. 30c to 31c

BEANS—There is no particular change in this market. A fair demand is reported for 1 lb. pickers with sales in a jobbing way at $2.80 per bushel. Two pound pickers are less enquired for at $2.40 to $2.45.

POTATOES—There was no change in the condition of the market for potatoes, business in car lots being still slow on account of the fact that buyers are fairly well supplied for the time being. Prices were unchanged, with Green Mountains quoted at 75c to 80c and Quebec stock at 65 to 70c per bag of 90 lbs. ex-track while in a jobbing way a fair trade was done at 85c to 90c per bag of 80 lbs. ex-store.

MAPLE PRODUCTS—Owing to the somewhat limited supplies coming forward here and the steady demand for the same, a stronger feeling has developed in the market and prices have scored an advance of 10c to 15c per gallon, with sales in a wholesale jobbing way at $2.10 to $2.25 per tin of one gallon, but the market for maple sugar is unchanged, with a moderate for supplies of light colored stock at 22c to 23c per lb., and dark at 20c to 21c.

HONEY—The market is quiet and prices nominal. Brown honey is quoted at 18c to 20c in tins and 25c to 26c for white clover strained.

GRAIN MARKET

Montreal, May 21.

WHEAT—No. 1 Northern Manitoba wheat has sold in Winnipeg since our last report at $1.82 to 1.88 1/4, equal to 1.98 to 2.04 1/2 Montreal, and since then there has been a sharp drop to $1.79 3/8c.

CORN—No. 2 Yellow is quoted at 90c to 91c, but is more or less nominal as little or no business is done here in this grain.

OATS—Mail advices report some business in Canadian oats in the English market, the sale being reported of a lot of No. 2 Canadian Western by May 15th at 29s 6d to London and a parcel of No. 2 Canadian to Hull at 29s 3d. DUNLOP

Means BIG Mileage

Dunlop Cord and Fabric Tires Are Now Made by the Same Unbeatable Process

Here's What Private Car Owners Say:

"The set of Dunlop Cord Tires, 36 x 4 1/2, two Traction and two Ribbed—have given entire satisfaction. I have run them continuously on my Cadillac car, and have taken a trip from Winnipeg to Toronto and return, and they have covered in the neighborhood of 30,000 miles and are still in good shape."—A. C. Turner, Winnipeg, Man.

"I would say I have been using your Traction Treads on both my big seven passenger Steam 'White' cars, and on my National and Fiat Gasoline cars, and never saw the like of your Traction Tread. They are still in good condition. They have covered over 10,000 miles, and no rim cuts so far, and I believe they'll go 20,000 miles."—J. N. Leming, St. Basil, Que.

"I may say that I have had four Dunlop Cord Tires on my car which have gone approximately 25,000 miles, and may state that I am just putting on four more 32 x 3 1/2, Ribbed Tires. Cord Tires of your make."—A. J. Hart, Ottawa, Ont.

Dunlop Tires, Both Cord and Fabric Construction, are Giving Phenomenal Results.

Big Tire Mileage is here to stay. Just as we predicted in 1912 that the Anti-Skid Tire would become standard, so we now predict that Big Tire Mileage will be among the things every motorist will consistently expect from now on.

The tire manufacturer who has to apologize for "short life" in his product will be automatically eliminated. Cord Tire construction made possible the coming of a tire that refuses to quit until many thousands of miles have been clicked off. The Cord Tire is now universally accepted as the master choice.

And Dunlop Cord Tire is now the most popular. "Dunlop" is at top form, but don't forget that while we are turning out Cord Tires— "Traction" or "Ribbed"—which seem almost uncanny in their ruggedness, that a great number of motorists still use Fabric Tires. These motorists wanted more mileage than Fabric Tires were usually expected to give. That set us thinking. We wondered why certain Cord Tire principles could not be applied to Fabric Tires.

We experimented and were amazed at the find. It was that we could at one sweep add 20% more mileage to Dunlop Fabric Tires and make them last longer than Fabric Tires were ever known to last. Result: Dunlop "Cord"-built Fabric Tires are giving some other makes of Cord Tires a run for their money at, of course, much lower first costs.

Dunlop Cord Tires are outdistancing any other Cord Tire made, no matter at what price the tire sells. The stories told here prove all we claim. We have hundreds more like them. Note the remarkable distances covered and the splendid average for all parts of Canada on all makes of cars.

Here's What Dealers Say:

"During the past season we have used many sets of Dunlop Fabric and Cord Tires as equipment on our cars. Our experience has been extremely satisfactory. There have been no complaints from any source. On the other hand, our customers frequently remarked on the fine results and big mileage obtained from Dunlop Tires. We are expecting to use your make as equipment on a much greater scale during the coming season."—The Crompton Car Company, Limited, Toronto, Ont.

"We have found the Dunlop Cord giving wonderful service and running up the mileage records, especially on cars subject to overloading and hard usage. We have many satisfied customers who use nothing but Dunlop Traction Ribbed Cord Tires."—R. R. McMoran, Victoria, B.C.

"We can conscientiously recommend Dunlop Traction Treads to all our customers, as both we and they honestly believe that no other tire on the market is giving like service and mileage. Adjustments asked for during the past eighteen months have been practically all, while the mileage has been exceptionally high for this part of the country. We have tried them out against opposition makes and the result has been in favor of Dunlop."—Targett's Motors, Limited, Mission City, B.C.

Here's What Livery and Bus-line People Say:

"We are today sending you a 32 x 3 1/2 Dunlop Ribbed Cord Tire that we have just taken off a Dodge Touring Car, having run over 22,241 miles, according to our records. We consider this a mighty fine record, and, in fact, is better service than we have been able to secure from any other make of tire."—Sunpress Auto and Taxi Co., Victoria, B.C.

"You cannot help being interested in hearing of the long mileage I received from a Dunlop 32 x 3 1/2 Traction Tread Cord Tire. The tire referred to was put on the rear of one of my Packard cars about November 1st, 1920. After running 11,000 miles on the rear, I changed it and put it on the front. It delivered 19,000 miles on the front wheel, making a total of 30,000 miles, all told, and it was only a short while ago that the tire was ended. I am glad to say, moreover, that the average mileage of all Dunlop Tires has been around 18,000 to 20,000 miles, by which you can see they have proved eminently satisfactory."—The Packard Motor Livery, Toronto, Ont.

"I have been using Dunlop Cord Tires for the last fourteen months, and have about twenty-seven Dunlop 32 x 3 1/2 and 32 x 3 1/2 in use on my Cadillac cars in city and country livery business. I have a yet to have one not stand up. Some are still running and have gone 30,000 miles, and I look for a few thousand miles more."—Maple Leaf Auto Livery, Winnipeg, Man.

AUTOMOBILE WAS SOLD FOR SUM OF $100

sions being made on the 22nd of August 1919, by which they sold a Ford automobile to the defendant for the price of $305.00, of which the sum of $20.00 was paid in cash, leaving a balance of $285.00 due and which he agreed to pay $20.00 per month until the whole amount was paid.

The defendant pleaded that he bought this automobile under the conditions above mentioned but that during the month of February 1920 the plaintiff took possession of the said automobile without the consent of the defendant; that by this fact the plaintiff was paid the amount of balance due because the said automobile was of greater value than the balance due.

It appeared from the evidence adduced that the auto was re-sold according to the terms of the said agreement for the sum of $100.00 and that in consequence the plaintiff had the right to obtain the sums of $185 the said $20 and $100 to be deducted from the sum $305 purchase price of the auto in question.

The defendant was condemned to pay to plaintiff the said sum of $185.00 with interest thereon at 5 p.c., from the date of the judgment herein and costs of an action of that amount.

INFLEXIBILITY OF FINGER
DUE TO INFECTION

Carree vs. Canadian Ingersoll Rand Co. Ltd.

Plaintiff sued defendant in virtue of the Workmen's Compensation Act for the sum of $3000.00 as the result of an accident on the 17th June 1920 while in the employ of defendant, which caused an injury to the index finger of his left hand, the said finger is today inflexible and he is unable to use the same.

Defendant admitted by its plea the accident in question but denied the other allegations of the declaration. The defendant further alleged that plaintiff had received instructions to go to the first aid hospital at defendant's shop for treatment of his alleged injury and that if infection did set in his finger the same was not directly due and caused by the accident in question but was due to the inexcusable fault and negligence of the plaintiff himself.

It appeared by the proof adduced that the damage suffered did not arise from the accident, but from a subsequent infection for which the defendant is not responsible.

Plaintiff's action was dismissed with costs.

ORDERED TO PAY FOR FOOD AND MERCHANDISE

Raymond vs. Vallee

Plaintiff alleged in his declaration that defendant was indebted to him in the sum of $214.62 for goods and merchandise sold and delivered to defendant.

Defendant pleaded that plaintiff who was keeping a small restaurant sold his stock en bloc to defendant by verbal agreement, on the 4th day of October 1920 at an estimated price of 75 p.c., of its value; that a cheque of $100.00 on account was given to plaintiff by defendant and that the balance was to have been paid when all legal formalities had been completed; that defendant had always been willing to pay this balance at such time as plaintiff will furnish him with an affidavit as provided by 1569 B. of the civil code; and that he had been notified by a creditor of plaintiff, J. H. Fortier Ltd., not to pay plaintiff as the company had a claim against him.

Plaintiff by his answer denied that the sale was not made en bloc but in the ordinary course of business.

The proof established that the defendant had taken possession of all articles sold and still retained possession of the same.

The defendant was condemned to pay to plaintiff the sum of $118.42 with interest from the date of the service of the action and costs of an action of that amount.

PREVIOUS JUDGMENT AN-NULLED

Gervais vs. Sevigny.

Plaintiff who took an action by means of a saisie-gagerie against defendant alleged that, by an authentic lease, he leased to defendant a certain immovable property together with farming implements and live stock for a period of five years for a rental of $6500.00, payable in semi-annual payments of $250.00 each with interest and movable property and was still in possession thereof and that there was now due an instalment of $250.00 and $121.00 interest and for these reasons plaintiff asks for the resiliation of the lease.

Whereas judgment was rendered by default on the 15th November 1920 resiliating the lease and condemning defendant to quit and abandon the possession and to pay plaintiff the sum of $371.00 and that on the 30th day of November 1920 defendant was granted permission to file and did file an opposition to the said judgment, defendant depositing with said opposition the sum of $341.00 being the $371.00 demanded less the sum of $30.00 paid to plaintiff and also depositing the sum of $55.00 being for the costs up to the time of the opposition. His Lordship annulled and set aside the said judgment rendered by default on the 15th day of November 1920, and condemned each party to pay his own costs on the opposition to judgment and condemned the defendant to pay to plaintiff the costs on the default issue less the costs of seizure made in virtue of the writ of Saisie-gagerie issued in this cause.

ACTION TAKEN UNDER "WRONG ACT"

Boucher vs. Lamy.

Plaintiff, who instituted his action under the Workmen's Compensation Act, claimed from defendant the sum of $3000.00 for damages which he suffered as the result of an action caused by the fracture of his left leg and the diminution of 50 p.c., of his earning capacity.

Defendant pleaded that the action did not fall under the Workmen's Compensation Act, but that the said accident happened in an agricultural industry. Considering that the evidence showed that the plaintiff who had been engaged for some years in farming, had for several years past been earning his living as a carpenter, and as such had worked previously for the defendant and others, sometimes alone and sometimes with other workmen to assist him.

Considering that it was proved at the time of the accident he had been engaged by the defendant to demolish two old barns upon a farm purchased by the defendant and to build one new barn out of the materials of the two demolished barns.

Considering that it was proved that the defendant is a farmer and that it is admitted by the plaintiff that the defendant is not a carpenter and that it was for that reason that plaintiff was employed to do the carpenter work upon the said barn. Considering that when a farmer employs a carpenter to construct for him a barn on his farm, he does not cease to be engaged in an agricultural industry and does not fall under the operation, of the Workmen's Compensation Act. Considering that inasmuch as the action was brought under the provisions of the Workmen's Compensation Act, the court cannot give a judgment under the common law.

Considering also that plaintiff failed to establish that his annual wages were of such an amount as to bring him within the operation of the Workmen's Compensation Act. The plaintiff's action was dismissed with costs.
