The quartette choir, Mrs. B. F. Butterfield, organist, assisted by Mr. W. H. Hovey, violin, gave a most excellent program. Mr. Hallett's address was of unusual interest. It was based upon the words of Christ in the gospel of John VIII: 32: "And ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free." No twisting of the meaning of this promise was required to make it a live need of the present. It was a strong invocation for peace and good will. The beautiful day, a well filled church and all conditions made the service one of uplift and helpfulness.

Wednesday morning at about five o'clock a young man giving his name as P. Foster and claiming to hail from Quebec city, appeared at Renihan Brothers' Derby Line stable and hired a horse and rig to go to Derby. Later in the forenoon he was stopped by an Albany, Vt., farmer, 35 miles from this place. Like a mad man, Foster was running the horse under the lash and thus aroused the farmer's suspicions. The driver was detained by the farmer until the latter had learned who the rig belonged to, then brought here and turned over to Sheriff Audinwood. The prisoner was a well-dressed young man of good appearance, but failed to satisfy the owners of the horse as the animal was too badly used up to be driven back to Derby Line. The young man was taken to Newport jail to await the arrival of his father with whom he had communicated by telephone. Many theories were advanced in connection with the case, but it is perhaps just as well to await the facts without giving publicity to speculation.

THINK IT OVER!

The Farm Journal, of Philadelphia, Penn., one of the most widely circulated periodicals in America, says:

"No schoolhouse ever set a neighborhood back, but many a neighborhood has been ruined by its tavern."

No stronger argument against the license system was ever made in so few words. Are you on the side of the schoolhouse or the tavern? Think it over.

NO-LICENSE IN ONTARIO

RENFREW IS LIKE A CITY SET ON A HILL

Mr. W. E. Smallfield, of the Renfrew Mercury, the gentleman who put his shoulder to the oratorical wheel when we were pushing water-works, was in town Sunday morning on his way home from a Press Meeting in Toronto. When asked how Local Option and the new Temperance Hotel were panning out, he said the wash showed gold exceeding the most glowing calculations of the promoters. The Prohibition Party had leased the Dominion House and were reaping profit—no whirlwind balances each day, but gentle streams which were adequate to keep things nicely moving. Their new hotel will be ready for occupation in about two months, and is one of the handsomest buildings in the Ottawa Valley—not only a structure good to look at but one that will be good to live in; no pains having been spared to produce a domestic sanctuary acceptable to both the organ of vision and the organ of digestion. While in Toronto Mr. Smallfield looked over kitchen furnishings, for which department the sum of $2,000 has been appropriated. He adds that, in the matter of violations of the liquor law and the vice of secret drinking, there is little to complain of. The early bravado has passed away; importations had dwindled to zero; and the accession of young men to the ranks of sobriety, of whom a percentage must have been cast for a deplorable destiny, is largely increasing.—Central Canadian, Carleton Place, Ont., Nov. 26th.

What is good for the progressive towns of Ontario should be good for Stanstead County.

Various reports showed the church to be in splendid condition, the past year being a record-breaker. The showing made by the ladies was particularly good.

Recently compiled statistics from various circuits of the Stanstead district of the Methodist Church, indicate that the Hatley circuit contributed more than any other to the general gain in membership referred to in another department of this paper last week. Mr. and Mrs. George Chamberlain of Hatley were at the home of his father, Mr. A. Chamberlain, recently.

Mr. E. R. Embury of Griffin spent Sunday with his father, W. H. Embury. Mr. Embury is gaining slowly from his serious accident some four weeks ago.

Mr. F. B. Sharkey was at Beebe on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Wells went to Beebe on Sunday. Mr. Wells returned Monday leaving Mrs. Wells there for a few days.

Mr. A. Perry has let his farm and moved to Magog.

The R. M. D. started through this place some two weeks ago has not been thoroughly organized yet, as it is not surprising to find some of the mail that should go up on Dallof Hill in the Oliver boxes and the Oliver mails somewhere else, but we are living in hopes it will soon be straightened out.

REMARKABLE PERFORMANCE

By One Time Cripple

James Bailey of Ilford, Essex, was almost crippled with rheumatism for three years but the other day he succeeded in running a mile in just under six minutes.

He attributes his present good health to Kephadol. This prescription was discovered by Dr. Stohr of Vienna and used by him with great success for ailments affecting the nerves. One great advantage about Kephadol is the fact that it is absolutely harmless, having no bad effects even though the heart be weak. For the relief and cure of rheumatic pains it has no equal. If you find difficulty in obtaining this prescription, write direct to the manufacturers enclosing 50c. for a large tube. Kephadol Limited, 31 Latour St., Montreal. 21

GIVE QUAIL A CHANCE

IS FARMER'S FRIEND AND MONEY-SAVER EVERYWHERE.

Sportsman in Destroying Birds of Such Direct Economic Importance Does Damage Which Cannot Be Estimated in Dollars.

Careful and conservative students of its habits have rated every quail as worth five dollars to the farmer. Few turkeys yield so much, yet the farmer would feel insulted to have a sportsman ask—or take without asking—the privilege of shooting some of his domestic fowls.

The man with the gun may not maim or even frighten his horses and cattle, though he frequently does injure them more or less through the latter cause if not the former, but in destroying birds of such direct economic importance he does a damage which cannot be estimated in dollars and cents.

Guiltless of even a little trespassing charged to its cousin, the ruffed grouse or pheasant, that of feasting on young twigs, sprouts and buds, it has never been convicted of real damage at any season of the year.

It is a diligent gleaner in stubble fields, but there is no evidence that it destroys either sprouting or ripening grain.

Few birds, save the rose-breasted grosbeak, will devour Colorado potato bugs like the quail. The moth and larva of the cut-worm are eaten with relish. Chinch bug, cotton worm, cucumber beetle, wireworm, cloverleaf weevil, army worm, cotton bollworm, rose bug, grasshopper, locust and tobacco worm butterfly are among the ingredients of its flesh diet. Few birds eat so large a proportion of injurious insects.

Just the money value saved to us by this intervention cannot be even approximated. But when we consider the fact that figures show the loss from the boll worm in some years at $15,000,000; potato beetle, $10,000,000; cotton worm, $30,000,000; chinch bug and Rocky Mountain locust each $100,000,000, it is very evident that birds which make them a considerable portion of their food are too valuable to be killed just for sport.

As a seed—and weed—destroyer, its mission is scarcely less important. The food capacity of each bird is estimated at a half ounce per day.

Some one, taking Virginia for the basis of computation and allowing four quails to the square mile, finds that in that state alone 573 tons of seeds are consumed by quails during the months from September 1 to April 30. Some of our worst weeds are also included in the list, as grab grass, black plantain, cockle, orange hawk-weed, rag-weed, fox tail, wild morning glory and bindweed.

Though a prolific race, quails have other enemies than the gunner to work for their extinction. One of the most common is heavy snow, cutting off their food supply. As they are ground birds, heavy snow followed by rain or sleet often forms a crust under which they are hopelessly buried.

The farmer who scatters grain freely about the yard in time of heavy snow will find that they are as regular feeders as his domestic fowls, and the little care given for the short period required pays in pleasure as well as in dollars and cents.

USE FRESH MANURE IN FALL

When Distributed at Planting Time Fermentation Burns Roots of Plants—Plow in Fall.

Do not use fresh manure at planting time. The fermentation burns the roots of young plants. It is a good plan to plow fresh manure in the fall and leave the ground rough all winter, so that the alternate freezing and thawing will crumble the soil. Use only well-rotted manure at planting time. If you have none, you would better buy chemical fertilizers, unless your land is desperately in need of decaying vegetable fiber, which it probably is.

For leaf and stem crops, choose a kind of fertilizer which is rich in nitrogen; for fruit and flowers a kind which has a good proportion of phosphoric acid and potash. Potatoes and other root crops also require plenty of potash.

Machinery is Cheapest.

Some farmers declare that it is cheaper to hire men to run the farm than to buy machinery. Maybe it is but nobody can prove it. Besides the machines never go to town on Saturday and fall to come back on Monday, but are always right on the job when needed and the wife does not have to cook and wash for them.

HERE'S THE HYGIENIC HOME

English Inventor Declares House Built of Porcelain Would Make Ideal Habitations.

A home of porcelain, that can be erected with a screwdriver and wrench in a few hours, is the plan of W. Hales Turner, who calls himself "the pioneer of porcelain," and who has explained to a London Daily Mirror reporter some details of his project.

"In the construction of the porcelain house," he said, "there is a complete absence of all absorbent materials, such as bricks and mortar, plaster, whitewash, concrete, woodwork and paper. The complete porcelain house is constructed as follows: Framework, preferably of light, rust-proof metal. In this framework are fitted the huge porcelain panels, half an inch thick, 6 feet long and 3 feet wide, weighing 5 pounds to the superficial foot, decorated and glazed on both sides to resist wind, storm and weather, with steam-tight joints made of copper-coated asbestos tape.

"Porcelain is non-absorbent, insect and germ proof and washable, and it makes possible for all a perfectly hygienic home. As for warmth—an inch thick wall of pure porcelain glazed both sides is better able to keep out cold than an 18-inch brick wall. With bricks and mortar it takes months to erect a house of, say, five rooms; a porcelain house of the same size can be put up in a few hours."

MIGHT TURN IT TO ACCOUNT

John D. Archbold's Idea of What He Could Do With Premature Obituary.

John D. Archbold, at a luncheon that followed the launching of the John D. Archbold oil tanker at Newport News, talked in an interesting reminiscent vein about newspapers.

"Certain inaccuracies have appeared about me in newspapers," he said, "but I have always tried to put up with them—tried, even, to turn them to good account.

"One of these inaccuracies was a long obituary that a certain paper printed of myself. A young man at the time, I called on the editor and said mildly:

"How did it come to be printed, sir?"

"Come to be printed?" said he. "Why, the man died, and so we printed it. Do you think we print obituaries of the living?"

"No, not as a rule," said I, "only I'm the Archbold referred to here, and—"

"We'll make a correction," said the editor hurriedly. "We'll make a correction in tomorrow's issue."

"Oh, I don't know," said I. "Perhaps you'd better let it stand. I can show it to my friends when they come to borrow money from me."

Sounds Travel Through Fog.

It has often been noticed that on wet and foggy days sounds are heard at a greater distance than on clear, fine days. It was Tyndall who explained the reason for this. He noticed that the distance at which the sounds of fog horns, whistles, shots could be heard varied from day to day from two to twelve miles. The cause of this difference is found in the degree of homogeneity of the air.

On a foggy or snowy day the air may be perfectly homogeneous; this permits sound to travel a great distance. In clear weather the air may be composed of vertical layers of differing consistency, and the sound-waves are reflected from the surfaces of the layers. Probably they are also refracted in passing through the several layers. Currents of warm ascending air form in one place and currents of cold descending air form in others. Thus the atmosphere may be very transparent optically and very opaque acoustically.

Anthropological Conclusions.

In a recent lecture before the Royal Institute in London Prof. Arthur Keith, in an anthropological study, gave it as his opinion that Shakespeare was a descendant of the bronze age invaders, the true or round head people. This was a remarkable fact, the professor added, for it was this same short-headed stock, spread abroad in central Europe, throughout Germany, France and Italy, which has produced the world's finest artists. Burns, he said, on the contrary, was a good representative of the long-headed type of man. His skull was very broad and of excessive length, and appeared to be closely set to the neck. It represented an ancient type.

Swiss Banks Thrive.

The Swiss republic is fast becoming one of the great money powers of the world. It is estimated that 20 Swiss banks have capital amounting to considerably more than the banking capitals of the national and state banks in New York city. Andre E. Sayons, one of the French students of finance who have investigated causes for the rise of the Swiss financial power, declares that it is due largely to a steady migration of French capital which has been going on for years and which recently has been prompted particularly by new taxes in France.

The Artful Schemer.

"When it comes to ways and means, my wife is a wonder."
"Some fixer, eh?"
"I should say so. Her latest stunt is to encourage an affair of the heart between the hired girl and the hand some milkman, so the girl will get up early in the morning."—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

Benjamin L. Terrill, alias Fred H. Talbot, who has been wanted for several weeks at St. Johnsbury for the forgery of a note for $7,000 and several large checks on Gilman Bros., of that town, has been caught in Nova Scotia by Sheriff A. E. Straine, of Littleton, N. H.

"The shipment during the past week of 110 dairy cows from White River Junction to Ohio is a still further illustration of the demand for and popularity of the Vermont raised dairy cow, be it a pure bred or grade. This demand for the Vermont cow is not spasmodic but continuous and on the increase, for the days in the past have not been far apart when there was not some buyer from the Middle West states in town. This is a new and exceedingly important source of income for the Vermont farmer, and one that should receive his most careful consideration."—White River Junction Landmark.

Responsibilities of Newspaper Work.

[Rutland News.]

The Rev. Dr. Washington Gladden, of Columbus, Ohio, addressing the national newspaper conference at Lawrence, Kans., referred to the profession as a calling "as sacred as the ministry." He urged that the newspaper should teach people to avoid exaggeration and violent speech, should resist the tendency to substitute mob spirit for deliberation, should uphold character as against money and popularity, should turn attention, away from the negative virtue of exposing evil, to the positive virtue of discerning and praising the good.

The editors may not have put these thoughts into words. The newspaper man is apt to be careless about exterior appearances. When a publisher's office is littered with waste paper, and the windows lack washing, it is hard for the public to realize that the man who does the writing at the cluttered desk is really exercising the power and influence of the pulpit, only multiplied several times.

The newspapers have almost invariably been loyal to the ideal of character as against money. Newspaper making is not usually a money making profession. The men who go into it do so from natural aptitude for writing, or from gifts of observation of human nature. They are of a philosophical habit of mind, finding their satisfaction in the daily humor of life, and in rewards other than money. The metropolitan public in choosing its newspapers, has short memories. If a lie is told to-day, by the time night comes the public has forgotten what paper told it. In less overgrown and more normal communities, a newspaper that fails to tell the truth is regarded in just the same light as a falsifying neighbor.

In emphasizing the evils of life, the newspapers reflect the every day habits of the community. Scandalous gossip leaps from tongue to tongue, news of the good deed moves slowly if at all. The newspaper should print all it can about every movement tending to uplift the community. Most of them do.

Smooth Out the Ruts

How soon will your roads, that now take the heart and soul out of every man and horse that uses them, be made into a continuous stretch of road that you and everyone in your county will be proud of?

How soon will you stop filling the ruts and mud holes with your road taxes, and build roads that will permit you to put your road taxes into more good roads?

Concrete Roads

cost no more to build than any other good road, and their upkeep expense is practically nothing, which makes them the cheapest kind of good roads.

Concrete roads benefit the farmer, consumer, merchant, newspaper, board of trade and railroad. They make for greater prosperity generally, by increasing land values and production; bringing more trade; more industries; more employment; greater traffic. They decrease the cost of marketing. All of these factors combine to decrease the cost of living.

Every citizen owes it to himself to investigate the advantages of concrete roads and learn how they will directly benefit him. This information is free for the asking. Write for it to-day to

THE PUBLISHER.

NOT SATISFIED.

Two weeks ago it was officially announced from Ottawa that the Secretary of State had fixed Thursday, October 1st, as the date for polling on the Canada Temperance Act in Stanstead County, the principal representatives of the liquor interests, it is understood, concurring in the agreement. Upon information to that effect the No-License League made all plans for the delay, canceled engagements with some speakers and made postponement arrangements with others. Some workers had left the country and others were planning for vacations. Latest information from official Ottawa would seem to indicate that the Philistines are now moving heaven and earth and troubling the infernal regions to get the election "pulled off" in July. What is the reason for this changed attitude? Do the liquor interests fear that their "cause" will be harmed by the shedding of further light upon it? No good cause is ever harmed by light, but the more light turned upon the liquor traffic the worse it looks.

After the date has been once set the Government would be foolish to change it. In July farmers are busy in the hayfields, and it would be difficult to secure a representative ballot. Of course the "purchasable" vote could be registered in July as well as at any other season of the year, and everybody knows which side of the contest those who are willing to sell their souls will be found on; they are the only hope of the liquor party. But some pitfalls are likely to be encountered in this connection. In any case the Government would gain nothing and might stand a chance to lose the support of many people of the better class by yielding to the demands of the liquor interests after a certain date has been agreed upon and established. The Ottawa authorities are not altogether foolish; the date will not be changed.

CORDEAU BUILDING GUTTED.

Firemen Had Busy Time on Friday—Blaze Started in Stable.

At about 8 o'clock Friday morning the gong sounded for a fire which started in the stable beneath Uric Cordeau's blacksmith shop and quickly spread to the adjoining residential building owned by Mr. Cordeau. The building is a large frame structure and the prolonged dry weather had added to the hazard. When the first reel arrived a sheet of flame was shooting to the top of the North wall and some thought the building was doomed, but the fire was soon under control, although it had worked into the rear walls and roofs and kept the firemen busy for about two hours. Meantime both shop and dwellings had been stripped of most of their contents. The fire got a good hold in the stable, shop and rear portion of the residential building. The damage to the front portion of the building was mostly caused by smoke and water. The roof was badly damaged. The reel of Hose Company No 1 Derby Line, was the first to arrive followed by the Pelow Hill squad and the Rock Island brigade, all doing good work. From the first effort the fire was confined to the interior of the buildings attacked, and at no time were other buildings in danger. The basement tenement, fronting on the lane, was occupied by Eugene Sanborn and family, the ground floor fronting on Caswell Avenue by Mrs. O. Cordeau and family, the top flat by Mr. and Mrs. Uric Cordeau. The Boy Scouts were on hand and did good work, particularly in looking after the welfare of the occupants of the lower tenement. The buildings were owned by Mr. Uric Cordeau and are understood to have been insured for $1,600. They will be rebuilt as soon as the insurance is adjusted.

HOW CHILDREN GROW

Children grow by nourishment—not overladen stomachs or rich foods but qualities that are readily converted into life-sustaining blood; too often their digestive powers cannot procure these qualities from ordinary foods which result in weakness, dullness and sickness. If your children are under-size, underweight, catch cold easily, are languid, backward, pale or frail, give them Scott's Emulsion which is pure medicinal nourishment. It sharpens the appetite, builds healthy flesh, firm muscles and active brains. Scott's is growing-food for children. Refuse alcoholic substitutes.

BOY SCOUTS CONTEST.

The first tournament of the local Boy Scout organization was held at the Derby Line Athletic Field last Saturday afternoon. The weather was not wholly favorable, but the program of events was carried out as follows: Drill, tent pitching and making; signaling by semaphore; first aid work. In the last there were four features, fireman's lift, resuscitation or restoring a drowned person, stretcher work, properly bandaging the thigh. The contestants in the several events were the Tomifobia and the College troup, and the programme was very interesting, for the scouts did earnest, effective work showing a great deal of practice. The judges were Col. B. B. Morrill, Dr. John C. Colby and Rev. F. B. Rankin. Tomifobia won all the events but that of resuscitation and that went to the College troupe. Record of points: Tomifobia 81, College 72. The tournament made the villages look like preparation for war, as the scouts appeared in their natty Kahki uniforms and accoutrements. They had prepared their rations of baked beans, coffee, at the field, planning to serve them there, but the unfavorable weather drove them to their regular meeting place in the basement of the Congregational Church where all were guests of the Tomifobias. About one hundred were present at the church and all pronounced the day very successful. An opportunity was given the citizens to witness the actual work of the Scout movement, and it was wonderful to see what the boys are getting out of the training-reliance. The chief aim seemed to be self reliance and its intelligent application to the expression of the spirit of service for others, the spirit of playing fair and being a gentleman in the true sense. The placing of truth and honesty in the fore-front is a splendid feature. The work Saturday was a compliment to the scoutmasters, but they are all men that get their compensation from the doing and the attainment of the scouts. The trophy of the day to the winning troupe was a national flag, but this is open to competitive work for the year. Scouts from Newport and West Derby were in attendance. The local troup go into annual camp at Lake Massawippi the last of June or first of July, and they will need about $100 to defray the expenses beyond that assumed by the scouts. Contributions for this most worthy object can be sent to Mr. Hallett or Wesley Dorman. The scouts wish to thank Mr. Rankin of Newport for his interest.

FIRE IN A BARREL.

Friday evening a brief but exciting commotion was caused by the sounding of the gong for a fire in a barrel at Derby Line. The scene was the Derby Line Fruit Company's store in the Waldron block. A barrel of waste paper had been left on the veranda in rear of the store, and into this some one had thrown a cigarette stub. Fortunately the rear door was open so that the flame attracted immediate attention when the flash came. There was no water tap in the store, and in the excitement some one kicked in the staves, which did not materially help matters, but at the opportune moment another man arrived with a pail of water. The effect was magical; the remains of the barrel were carried through the store to the street to be viewed by an increasing multitude, called out by the alarm.

MEMORIAL DAY.

For some years, the teachers and pupils of the Derby Line schools have prepared the entertainment at the Haskell Opera House on Memorial Day. It has been quite an arduous task, involving a great amount of time and labor, which has been done cheerfully and well. This year the old soldiers feel that they ought to provide the entertainment, and they have decided to hold the exercises in Foster's grove, easterly of General Butterfield's residence, and have a basket picnic for the scholars. The Grand Army Post will furnish tables and will provide boiled ham, buttered rolls and lemonade, and the children and their friends will bring anything they choose. The clergy, press and others will be asked to make a few five-minute speeches, and it is hoped that all will have a good time. All are invited to come and join in the observance of the day. The teachers and children and all who are willing will meet at the Derby Line Hotel at 1:30 p. m., Saturday, May 30. The International Cornet Band will be in attendance. The line will form and march from the hotel to the cemetery, where the veterans will decorate the soldier's graves. The lines will then be reformed and all will march to the grove, where, after simple exercises, the picnic will take place. We trust you will all come to the picnic as you have so often come to the Opera House.

ABOUT OUR NEIGHBORS.

The annual county cavalry ball of the 26th Stanstead Dragoons has been planned to take place in August this year. As the officers are all so busy getting ready for the great annual training camp at Petewawa in June they cannot spare the time to bring it about at an earlier date. However, very elaborate plans are under way for a very fine reception and ball which will surpass that of last year.

The following list of flowers was omitted from the notice of the death of Mrs. Alonzo Wheeler last week: Spray calla lilies, Mr. A. L. Wheeler; spray carnations, Mrs. H. Baird, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Hartwell, Miss Gertrude Hartwell; spray carnations, Miss Minnie Wheeler; Miss Gladys Wheeler, Agnes Trudeau; spray carnations, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Wells; spray carnations, Mrs. Ozro Cass and Sadie Fiske; pillow A. C. Church, Beebe; pillow, W. H. and F. M.; spray calla lilies and pillow, employees of Butterfield shops.

The great training camp at Petewawa, commencing June 15th, will be the largest gathering of Canadian militiamen ever held in Canada, as it is estimated there will be over 12,000 cavalrymen, artillerymen and infantry there, and the drill and manoeuvres will be on a large scale combining all arms of the service which will make the annual training period of 12 days very interesting to every man who attends. Petewawa is considered the finest training ground in the British Empire, naturally we are anxious that our Stanstead County cavalrymen render a good account of themselves among so many from all sections of Canada, and do the grand old county of Stanstead honor. Our citizens should come forward and help the officers of our county regiment in recruiting good men and aiding them in finding a good class of cavalry horses, so that we may have just reason to feel proud of our cavalrymen. The trip to Petewawa will be made for the most part in the night and splendid arrangements have been made for good train service and superior cars for both men and horses; indeed it is a "test year" on both the Militia Department and our railroad facilities for moving large numbers of men and supplies. The popular new book, "The Stanstead Cavalry" is most interesting reading to those who are interested in the early military history of Stanstead county and furnishes much useful information to the citizen-soldiers of our county to-day. Every member of our county regiment should possess a copy of the history of his regiment; it will make him a better soldier a better man, and a better citizen.

WHEELER—In Beebe, Que. May 17, 1914, Emma Senter, wife of Alonzo L. Wheeler. One by one God's faithful workers yield their bodies to the foe. One by one our ranks are thinning. Where's the end but God doth know. But, look up! my soul disparted not, Signs fulfill in earth and sky! Lift thy head, rejoice, take courage! Thy redemption draweth nigh. Then our toil will be forgotten, All our painful vigils past; Times when Satan almost conquered Never more their shadows cast. Death no more can claim God's people. Graves no more hide from our sight Those we've loved, esteemed and honored. Those who've helped us in the fight. Praise the name of our Redeemer! a-saved beneath the sod Will, with us, sing Alleluia. In the presence of our God!

The "endless prayer chain" letters seem to have started in again, a good many having been received by persons here of late. A Boston paper speaks of them as a "scheme undoubtperson" and it seems a great pity that people need be disturbed by such foolishness.

MASSAWIPPI.

Four members of the W. C. T. U.,
Mrs. T. N. St. Dizier, Mrs. Albee, Mrs.
E. McClary and Mrs. E. St. Dizier, also Mrs. W. Hunting and Miss D.
Foster, attended the "Township Annual" at North Hatley on Tuesday.
They report a most excellent program especially in the evening. The principally speaker was Rev. F. Williams of Hatley, organizer of the No. License League, who vividly portrayed the evils of the liquor traffic, and gave an outline of vigorous work being done in the county before voting day. The League work is heartily backed by the W. C. T. U., the members of which, after long years of working and praying, feel that some of the harvest is to be gathered in now. Over 30 years the W. C. T. U. have "sowed the seed" in Stanstead County while the enemy has sowed "tares." We call on all of our women to stop and think those who have not helped us are you not willing to do so now?
Join the ranks and between now and October 1st help the good people of Stanstead County to "roll this stone away."

son Earl, also Miss Jean McLellan of from Jamaica, N. J., has been very ill with the measles, but is recovering.

A Board of Trade was organized members, which was considered a good beginning.

Dr. Jones of Hatley and Messrs.
Webster and Hunter were here to assist. The following officers were elected: Wm. Stevenson, president; Eugene St. Dizier, vice president; Stewart Taylor, Sec'y. treas. Committees were chosen and two delegates named to attend a meeting on the Saturday following. A vote of thanks was accorded Dr. Jones, pres. of the Hatley Board of Trade, and the other two gentlemen for their presence and assistance. The meeting was held in Cottage Hall and attended by about fifty, all showing good interest.
Refreshments were served. The next monthly meeting will be held in June at the same place.

Mr. T. Rowell of Sherbrooke who owned a summer cottage at Massawippi Lake, miles north of here, had the misfortune to lose it last week by fire, caused quite evidently by a spark from a passing train. Everything being dry, the woods surrounding the cottage was soon on fire and it took a gang of fire fighters some hours to subdue the flames which came peri-culously near other cottages in the vicinity.

Mrs. J. Gibson has had relatives from Kingsley visiting her at "Lakeside" lately.

Mr. E. W. Hovey of Rock Island noticeable relations was given in French by Miss Lena Crate.

Next Sunday the annual Church service will be held at 7.30 p. m. Rev.
Mr. McLaughlin will preach, and it is hoped the house will be filled to overflowing. He held a service last Sunday evening at 7.30 and reorganized the Senior Epworth League which will be held every Sunday evening at 7.30. We hope the young people in the vicinity especially will attend these services. Every one is welcome, young and old, from far and near.
Come and help in these meetings.

Mr. Ralph Cooper attended church here Sunday.

Miss Clara Wheaton of Boston,
Mass., is the guest of the Misses Carrie and Maud Cooper at their home

SALE OF HOUSE DRESSES

While these dresses reflect the new style tendencies, they may be fittingly called practical. However they are modest enough to wear out of doors in town or country this Summer. We are not boastful in saying that these are the best dresses of their kind; that each seam and hem and every detail is as carefully finished as the home dressmaker would have them; that materials are the best possible quality, and that designs and colorings are conservative and that all the dresses were carefully ironed and folded before they were permitted to leave the hygienic and sunshiny factory in which they were made are all self-evident truths.

Exceptional Values at 98c. each.

The Way to Solve the Dress Question.

The way to dress well at little cost is to buy ten or twenty cents worth of DY-O-LA, any color desired, which you can obtain from your Druggist or Dealer. You can dye anything right at home, with better results than professional Dyers can give you. Thousands of women are dyeing their clothes with DY-O-LA every day, and their Dresses look "Just like New." Not like "Dyed-over Goods," as is the way with other Dyes. By-the-way, have you seen the new DY-O-LA Shaded Color Card? It's a beauty! Gives all the latest colors that will be worn this Spring, your Druggist or Dealer will be pleased to show it to you. At the same time ask him for one of those Handy Little Booklets, which give in a concise form all the valuable information in regard to Dyeing, which professional Dyers have been years in finding out. If he is out of the Booklets don't hesitate to send a Post Card to the manufacturers of DY-O-LA, The Johnson-Richardson Co., Limited, Box 1240, Montreal, Can., and they will send you one promptly by mail.

TEMPERANCE NOTES

(Conducted by the National Women's Christian Temperance Union.)

CHIEF FACTOR IN NATIONAL DEGENERACY.

A wave of degeneracy is sweeping the land, and its development threatens the physical vitality of the nation. Within a period of 50 years the population of the United States increased 830 per cent, while the number of insane and feeble-minded increased 950 per cent.

What is the cause of this degeneracy? A hundred different intermediate agencies may contribute to the undoing of the race, but back of them all stands alcohol as the chief degenerative factor. Statistics compiled by the leading insurance companies, and presented by Sir T. P. Whitaker in a report to the British parliament, show that out of every 1,000 deaths among the population at large, 440 are due to alcohol. This would mean a mortality from alcohol in the United States of 680,000 a year.

The great burden of drink is not borne by the drinker, but by the drinker's children. In our studies among school children in New York city we find that 62 per cent are the children of drinking parents, and that 91 per cent of these children of drinking parents suffer from some functional or organic disease. If this percentage holds good over the entire country there are 13,000,000 children of a school age that are afflicted with functional and organic diseases, and less than two and a half millions of these are free from hereditary alcohol taint. A nation half diseased and half well cannot live, but here we show three-fifths of the rising generation mentally and physically diseased.—Dr. L. Alexander MacNicol.

STRIKES FROM THE SHOULDER.

(From an Address of MORRIS SHEPARD, Before the Texas Legislature After His Election as United States Senator.)

The liquor traffic is a peril to society because it undermines the health, the strength, and the integrity of man. It is a source of danger to posterity because the alcoholic taint foredooms the unborn millions to degeneracy and to disease. I shall oppose this scourge until my arm can strike no longer and my tongue can speak no more. I shall oppose it because I hear the cries of children who are hungering for bread. I shall oppose it because I see a mother's wasted face, her pale lips pleading with the besotted figure at her side. I shall oppose it because I see the staggering forms of men whose trembling hands hold but the ashes of their strength and pride. I shall oppose it because it mocks all manhood and makes of woman's virtue a commodity of the slums. I shall oppose it because I see its battle line stretched across the globe, threatening the pure, the true, the good. I shall oppose it because its abolition will mean a new stability for the republic, a new radiance for the flag.

TROUBLE-MAKER

A Pittsburgh paper tells us that "one person out of every 95 in Pennsylvania was behind prison bars in 1911. Out of 707 prisoners receiving penitentiary sentence 80 per cent were drinkers. Out of 10,607 prisoners sentenced to serve time in jails and workhouses over 85 per cent were drinkers. Out of 3,670 persons sentenced to the Allegheny workhouse in 1912, 92 per cent were drinkers. Father Penn's children who are dependent wholly or in part for support upon the taxpayers outnumber the combined armies of Meade and Lee at Gettysburg in 1863. The vast majority of them are the victims of John Barleycorn. One person out of every 45 in Father Penn's dominion is dependent either as a lunatic, pauper or criminal."

The drink traffic produces criminals, paupers, dependents and undesirables generally. The state pays the bills. The twentieth century taxpayer is waking up to the situation. He—and she—is moving to "put the liquor business out of the government and the government out of the liquor business."

ONE EXCEPTION.

Legitimate industries favorably affect each other. The liquor traffic unfavorably affects them all. The more it flourishes, the more they must decline. Its profits are taken from the merchant, and the manufacturers behind him; from the butcher, and the cattle raisers behind him; from the farmer, the miller, the baker, the builder, the shoemaker, the printer, the teacher, and the preacher. Every honest producer suffers from it. The country suffers from it. More than low tariff, or high tariff, or no tariff at all, it depreciates American industry.—A. A. Hopkins, Ph. D.

ALCOHOL AS ASHES.

In the production of alcoholic drinks the raw material is destroyed. Alcohol is not the outcome of a development or adaptation of food properties; it is the creature of destruction, obtainable only by the destruction of the natural properties of the subject. A log of wood may be developed, altered or adapted so as to produce a table or a case for an organ or piano. Put the log into the fire, and all that will be left of it is ashes. So likewise alcohol is the ashes of the fruit barley or corn.

DRESSING YOUNG GIRL

HER CLOTHES ALWAYS SOMETHING OF A PROBLEM.

Wise Mother, at This Stage of Her Daughter's Life, Will Provide Pretty Things and Teach Her to Take Care of Them.

There is no period in a girl's life when it is so difficult to dress her successfully as between the ages of fourteen and seventeen, and though the problem of finding suitable clothes is one that faces all mothers of growing daughters, one seldom finds any very wide selection of ready-made garments suited to this purpose.

In choosing frocks, a great deal depends on the girl herself, for it is no good buying dainty attire for the young person who considers the care of gowns and hats a perfectly unnecessary waste of time. Miss Sixteen, with opinions of this kind, needs a certain amount of training before any respect for her garments can be instilled effectively, and though the majority of girls today are as anxious to be as well turned out as their grown-up sisters, the tomboy maiden still remains, and the difficulties of clothing her accordingly.

"I have often heard," said a mother recently, "that rough and serviceable materials, serge and holland in dark colors, and such like, are all that should be used in a schoolgirl's outfit, but this is, I think, a great mistake. No girl will ever learn to value her things and take a pride in her appearance if only supplied with garments of a workmanlike but ugly type. An occasional pretty gown, a becoming hat, soft soles, and light materials will, by their very charm, teach her better than a hundred wordy sermons the necessity for care where her possessions are concerned."

This being the case, it is wisest to exercise great care in choosing a girl's clothes, and what is more, she should be allowed to make her own suggestions and have her individual ideas carried out as far as they are compatible with good taste and common sense. Mothers who do this are laying the foundations of a practical knowledge in the details of dress and expenditure that will prove invaluable in after years.

FRILLY SPRING CHAPEAU

Made of horsehair lace, with blue velvet band and quail bouquet of flowers in Chinese design.

FASHION'S FANCIES

The tunic idea is carried out in separate skirts.
Elbow sleeves are frequently frilled with lace.
The new serge coats have flaring and plaited skirts.
The Gladstone collar is a little like the old-time Byron style. It stands up in the back and rolls over a bit.
The skirt drapery of a belted afternoon gown is caught up the front with tassels, with a charming classic effect.
The front finish of the new waist necks is changing. Now there is a tendency to squareness instead of the familiar V point.
Kimono sleeves have actually gotten into babyland. Small children's coats have them; also the set-in sleeve.

New Lingerie Frocks.

The lingerie frock of this season has its white disputed by a strong note of color. Very often the frock is completed with a little coat of taffeta or of moire or of figured crepe, which note is repeated at the hem of the skirt. Then, too, the high-standing collar is often in color, as was the case with one dotted swiss lingerie frock, where the girdle of "tango" was re-echoed in the embroidery of the Marie Stuart collar.

Galla Lily Collars.

One of the most popular collars to be seen on summer frocks will be the new calla lily style—a style that curves gracefully away from the back of the neck and opens in the front, somewhat like the cup of a lily. Particularly when the collar is made of white crepe de chine, is the flower effect heightened. However, soft shadow lace is the medium generally used.

INDOLENCE A NATIONAL TRAIT

What Are Known as "Leaners" Decidedly in the Majority Among the Natives of Mexico.

"Mexican indolence has always had something to do with making Mexican national history," said a traveler. "Mexico has a class of natives called 'leaners' from their habit of leaning against the side of a building to roll a cigarette. Once in this position the leaner adheres to it for hours."

"Tradition declares that a Mexican leaner once sued an American railroad builder for pulling down a building against which the plaintiff had been leaning. Damages were awarded for severe shock and inconvenience, and the court took occasion to recommend a law requiring one hour's notice under similar circumstances.

"Mexican military forces are to some extent recruited from leaners. Mexican history has record of an insurgent force which was being pushed forward victoriously when it came to a stream which had swollen over night. The general was a leaner. He bivouacked to wait till the stream should subside, but it did not subside and he withdrew. He could easily have bridged a narrow cascade less than a mile from his camp, but that would have required a fresh initiative, which has no place in the practical philosophy of a leaner.

"But he succeeded, anyhow, because his adversary was also a leaner. When the river fell the insurgent force came back, crossed without opposition, and casually took possession of the contested territory."

POSTPONED TRIP TO EUROPE

Comparison of the Ocean With Ship on Which He Was to Sail Decided This Man.

He decided to take a late winter journey to Europe and bask in the sunshine of southern Italy. He engaged a stateroom and passage on a steamer bound for Naples. Two days before sailing time he arrived in New York with all the baggage necessary for a successful trip abroad. Three or four days after that he was back in his home town, pursuing his usual business affairs, and "saying nothing." A friend, unable to bear the silence, asked him one day why he had not gone to Europe.

"Well," said the man, "when I got to New York I looked at the boat that was to take me across the pond, and then I looked at the ocean and then I figured how many times bigger the ocean was than that boat. Then I figured that even if that boat was stood on end, none of it would be left on top of the water in case it should sink. "At that time, too, waves as big as mountains were running and vessels were in trouble everywhere. The water was sticky green. I became dizzy just looking at it, and then I decided that if the Atlantic could make me seasick just to look at it while I was standing on shore it would certainly kill me if I mixed up with it—so I came home."

A Fable.

A Cow which was one of a herd being led through the streets to the Slaughter House, chanced to come across a Milk Wagon. The Cow saw the Driver of the Milk Wagon pouring a fluid from one can into another. Whereupon the Cow addressed the Milkman's Horse, saying: "Friend Horse, pray tell me the nature of the fluid which the Man is transferring from one receptacle to another." "I am indeed amazed by the ignorance you display," replied the Horse. "The fluid is Milk." "If that is Milk," murmured the Cow, "I do not wonder that we are being led to the Abattoir."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Puzzled Papa.

A society woman, who was passing the summer in the country, motored over to a neighboring farm one morning to call on the farmer and his wife, with whom she had become acquainted the summer previous. "I hear that your daughter Emily has gone to Europe?" said the caller. "Ya-as," drawled the old farmer. "She's been crazy to go ever since she left school and more so than ever since you wuz here last year and talked so much 'bout it. These here female colleges dew put ideas intew girls' heads. Her maw an' me can't calculate why she should be so set to go to Yurrupe. She don't know a soul thar."—Everybody's Magazine.

Humor.

Once upon a time in the Adirondacks, or the Maine woods, or where you will, a deer was accosted by a hunter. "Can you direct me to my hotel?" asked the latter civilly. The deer died laughing. "Pardon my discourtesy, but the humor of me being mistaken for a guide is too much!" protested the beast with its last breath. It is not always easy for a rule to work both ways without hardship.—Puck.

Satan's Present Day Methods

By REV. J. H. RALSTON, Secretary Correspondence Department, Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.

TEXT—And the devil that deceived them was cast into the lake of fire and brimstone.—Rev. 20:10.

The ancient conception of the two opposing principles in the universe, although often perverted, is a correct one. There is an eternal, unchangeable and infinitely powerful, holy and loving God, and there is a malicious, wicked and powerful being in the universe whose name is in the text. Whether it is a pleasant thought or not, the devil is the god of this age, and is given great power, and, apparently, anticipating his doom, he is intensely active. Being wicked, he would make wickedness universal, and he uses all possible methods of corrupting men, created in the image and likeness of the God he hates, and unfortunately succeeds with a vast number of them.

The Method of Deception.

The devil now uses the method of deception rather than force, which in some ages of the world was used very generally. This deception may be of several kinds. The devil may assume an attitude of special sanctity, or goodness; he may direct the thought of man to the acceptance of error; or he may delude man to the reception of something that is branded as truly religious. Taking up the first form of deception, the devil appears sometimes as an angel of light. He appeared in a glittering and fascinating form to Eve in the Garden of Eden, and worked the ruin of the race morally. Many believe that the Antichrist, who will presume to take God's place, and thus claim supreme sanctity, will be the devil himself. As we observe the present havoc in religious thinking, and study its evolution, we find that many of those who were champions of doctrinal error have posed as most serious seekers after truth, and have the reputation, oftentimes well established, of being men of sweet temper, most encouraging manners and captivating courtesy. This is not strange, for men of an opposite type, as champions, would at once defeat the devil's purposes.

The method of delusion by leading men away from the truth has one of its strongest features in the persuasion that men should do their own thinking on religious subjects. The specious plea is made that the Christian religion is one of rationality and that therefore men should think out its great problems for themselves. They are urged to let nothing guide them in thinking, not the Bible, nor Christian teachers, but that they should start almost anywhere and work the problems out. The result is inevitable, for man's thoughts are not God's thoughts and God's thoughts only are correct in this sphere, man is ever learning but never able to come to a knowledge of the truth. Indeed, he ordinarily gets further and further from it. Fortunate is the man who sees that he must have some safe starting point for religious thought, and that he must hold himself loyally to the lines of its development.

Satanic Delusions.

We have the delusion of universal salvation based on a false conception of the character of God, emphasis being placed on the love of God, which is unscripturally defined, the justice and holiness of God being practically eliminated from thought. All those yielding to this delusion are not in the denomination known as Universalists, whose courage in professing what they believe is in itself worthy of commendation.

There is the delusion of religious formalism. Men and women are persuaded to attach themselves to religious societies without any demand being made on them to put into their lives the principles of Christian religion, nor for the necessity of a new birth and genuine repentance and simple faith in our Lord Jesus Christ, who is the only Mediator between God and man. Those yielding to this delusion have a form of godliness but deny the power thereof.

There is the delusion of false optimism, which, while not strictly religious, eventuates as religious delusions do. The principle that God is on his throne and all is right with the world, has almost universal approval, being echoed from thousands of pulpits.

We are in a period of delusions along Biblical lines as in no previous age. A man or woman gets some root of religious thought, and pursuing it independently, discovering that in order to its wider acceptance it must have Biblical indorsement, flies to the Bible and selects from its contents that which ostensibly supports the theory proposed. Within the last twenty-five years there have been several such delusions, and hundreds of thousands of men and women have become their victims. These delusions are propagated at the expense of millions of dollars.

Why Do Women Suffer

When They Could Be Well?

It is so easy to be well and strong and able to enjoy life, that it is surprising how many women drag themselves through the day suffering tortures from lame back due to kidney trouble. Mrs. Wilcox found the way to cure herself and gladly writes about it so that others may be induced to use the same remedy.

HOW PEDESTRIANS ARE HURLED

Habit of Holding Umbrella Down to Protect Face is Responsible for Many Accidents.

"There are a great many persons injured on windy, rainy nights because they hold their umbrellas down in order to protect their faces from the driving rain," explained a New York ambulance surgeon. "In their desire to protect themselves from the rain they place themselves in grave danger of being struck and run over by surface cars, automobiles and other vehicles."

"If you wish proof of my assertion just stand in a doorway some night where you are protected from the rain and where you are in a position to see an expanse of thoroughfare which all kinds of vehicles use. You will be surprised at the large number of persons you will notice crossing the thoroughfare with their umbrellas held down so far that it is impossible for them to see anything approaching. They seem oblivious of danger, and a spectator would suppose from their actions that there was not the remotest chance of an accident occurring."

"It is a fact that many pedestrians are injured on windy, rainy nights. With their umbrellas pulled down so that it is impossible to see ahead or to the sides, the pedestrians walk in front of vehicles and are knocked down and injured before they realize what has happened."

FROM BODY OF CATERPILLAR

Australia Has Curious Plant Which Develops From Action of Parasite on Insect.

Nature is a curious force. There is a caterpillar in Australia. It looks for food under leaves and twigs in the usual way. As it searches, a parasite, specially equipped by nature for the purpose, drops on its neck and fastens itself there.

In a week or two this little parasite seed begins to germinate, drawing its nourishment from the very life blood of the insect. The latter, feeling sick, buries itself about two inches into the ground.

Eventually a pale green stalk, about twelve inches high, at the summit of which is a most extraordinary flower, somewhat resembling the top of a bulrush when in seed, appears.

The poor caterpillar's refuge in the ground is of no avail, for its whole interior has to make room for a mass of roots. Sucked as dry as a bone, it is actually converted into a stick of wood.

Applied Advice.

Some time ago an Alabama lady kindly undertook to advise one of her negro maids as to certain rules of propriety that always should be observed by young women to whom attentions are paid by gentlemen friends. One evening the lady, wondering whether her seeds of advice had fallen upon rocky ground, stationed herself in a rocker near the kitchen door, where she was entertained by the following dialogue:

"Look here, don't you try to git fresh wif me! Mah name's Miss Smith—not Mary. Ah don't 'low mah best an' most partic'lar friends to call me Mary."
"Ah beg your pahdon, Miss Smith. But say, Miss Smith, would yo' jes' soon shift to de oder knee? This yere one's tired."

French Subtleties.

The subtleties of the Paris furniture dealers, to whom American millionaires hie for ancient patterns, were illustrated in a case before a civil court a few days ago. In this case the plaintiff was a Frenchman, a Monsieur Balbo, who at a sale bought for $100 a mahogany desk which was described to him as an "empire" desk. It proved, however, to be of modern make, and M. Balbo sued the seller for giving a false trade description. The defense was illuminating. It was set out that there are three ways of describing such furniture: "Empire style" means modern furniture imitated from old models; "empire furniture" indicates there is a doubt as to its origin, and "empire opaque" is the only guaranty for authentic furniture of the empire period.

Ships' Hulls Quickly Cleaned.

Mr. F. C. Browne of Melbourne, Australia, has invented an ingenious machine for cleaning the hulls of ships below the water line. In this contrivance a watertight dynamo drives a revolving brush that is held firmly against the hull of the ship by a small propeller. After the machine has been lowered by a crane from a small boat alongside the steamer, the end that holds the rapidly revolving brush is worked up and down the sides of the vessel. It is stated that the machine can clean an 8,000-ton steamer in six or seven hours.

False Alarm.

Belle (slyly)—I noticed a perceptible coldness between George and Maria this evening as they sat at a table in the tea room.
Nell (hopefully)—Was it a quarrel?
Belle—Oh, no. It was pink ice cream.

The Connection.

"Fred, dear, why are some women called Amazons?"
"Well, my dear, you remember our geographies said the Amazon has the largest mouth—"
But she went out and slammed the door before he could say any more.

WITH DESIGN OF SPIDER WEB

Pretty Little Pincushion That is Something Just a Little Out of the Ordinary.

Novel ideas for making pretty pincushions are difficult to obtain, but in our sketch we show something quite new in the shape of a quaint little cushion made to represent a spider's web. It can be carried out in any size to suit different requirements; and in making it, in the first place a circular piece of stiff cardboard must be cut out. This card is well padded with cotton wool on that side which is to be the front, and the wool should be arranged so that it is much thicker in the center than at the sides. It is then covered with cream-colored satin, the material being stretched tightly over the wool and fastened on at the back of the card with a strong adhesive. The spider's web is worked upon the material with gold thread, and this should of course be done prior to covering the card. The cushion is finished off all round the edge with a gold silk cord carried into three loops at the top, and by the center loop it can be suspended from a nail in the wall. To complete this very novel cushion one of those little paper Japanese spiders can be procured and tacked upon one side as suggested in the sketch.

Quaint little novelties always attract attention at a bazaar, and a number of these cushions made in different sizes will look very pretty on a stall and should command a ready sale.

This cushion could, of course, be used equally well laid flat upon the dressing-table if preferred.—Young Ladies' Journal.

PAJAMAS GROWING IN FAVOR

Especially is the Younger Generation Taking to This Comfortable Sleeping Garment.

There are a few of us women who have been sensible enough to take to pajamas, but the rest of us cling to our nighties with a tenacity worthy of a bigger cause. Pajamas are sensible, you know, because their trousers can't get up and wrap about one's waist as the skirt of the old-time nightgown always did, always does and always will. Besides, pajamas are becoming if they are pretty and fit fairly well. Especially do boarding school girls like them. They are so much warmer than the night robe, when one is running about from one room to another to surreptitious spreads and the like. So, when you have occasion to give a boarding school girl or a college girl a present, why not give her a pair of embroidered pajamas? They may be very plain, with just a brier stretching about the places where there must be hems and a monogram over the handkerchief pocket, with silk frogs to fasten the coat, or they may be quite elaborate and feminine, with a much embroidered coat, and may even have a touch of embroidery about the bottom of the trouser legs. Pajamas with turn-back shawl collars are somewhat rarer than the coats with a simple collarless V. Cream silk pajamas with a wild rose pattern or forget-me-not pattern down the front of the jacket, about the shawl collar and the turn-back cuffs are fascinating. There are any number of other collars, and also other materials besides silk. Pajamas should never be, of course, a dark color. Daintiness must be their keynote, and, therefore, we must adhere to the pastel shades.

MEAN MAN USED DIPLOMACY

Proving That There Are More Ways Than One of Getting a Seat in Crowded Car.

He was not tagged the meanest man in town, but he might well have been. The first thing he did after stepping inside the car was to fall over a suitcase, the next was to astonish his neighbors with an outburst of vigorous language. His virile remarks made the owner of the suitcase uncomfortable.

"I am sorry," he apologized. "The suitcase does seem to be in the way, but I have no place else to put it."
"No place else to put it?" repeated the irate passenger. "You can easily find a place. Any place would be better than right here by the door."

The man in the corner seat surveyed the well-filled car doubtfully. "But I can't move," he said, "and I can't shove the suitcase any further along with nobody to look after it. Somebody might swipe it."

The irate passenger reflected a moment. "I'll tell you what to do," he said. "Ask somebody to change places with you. Almost any man down there in the middle of the car would be willing to swap. You ought to try, anyway. Somebody is going to get a broken neck if that suitcase is left standing where it is much longer."

The prospect of being charged with homicide quickened the corner man into immediate activity. He picked up the suitcase and advanced to the middle of the car.

"Sir," he said, addressing a gentleman of portly mien, "will you change places with me? I have a seat in the corner, but my suitcase appears to be in the way. If you will let me sit here I will appreciate the favor."
"Certainly," said the stout man, and began to rise. Before fully surrendering his advantageous position, however, he looked toward the corner and sat down again heavily.

"I believe," he said, "I'll stay where I am."

The meanest man in town had usurped the place occupied by the owner of the suitcase and was intently studying the panorama as viewed through the platform window. His victim sighed and clutched at a strap, and during the rest of the trip he imperiled his own neck by stumbling over the inconvenient suitcase.

SMART PLAIDS AND CHECKS

Seems, If It Is Possible, That These Materials Are Smarter Than Ever This Season.

It is quite in the accepted order of things that plaids and checks should put in an appearance for spring, but they have never made a more attractive bid for favor than in the case this year. Among the various styles shepherd's plaid, in both large and small designs, is very determinedly to the fore, not only in the more familiar black and white expressions, but also in such varieties as white and chestnut brown, mole gray, violet, Nattier, hunters' green and navy blue. These plaids make up into the smartest little tailor-made suits imaginable, the dominating color picked up and accentuated in a velvet collar facing and round button composite buttons. Then we get a wealth of silken plaids doing yeoman's service as the relieving note on gowns and costumes of navy serge and other plain materials. A case in point that most ably demonstrates this departure occurred with a simple navy serge country suit, the plain skirt made high about the waist, and finished at the back with a few slight gathers held by a half-strap, as is the way with nine out of every ten tailored models this season. And with this there went a dainty little shirt of Rob Roy tartan silk, the same also requisitioned to line the straight, perfectly cut coat. A regular service serge was employed, and the sudden flash of parti-coloring revealed when the fronts of the coat were thrown open was extremely effective.

CORSET IS OF IMPORTANCE

Fashionable Outline Makes It Imperative That a Good Deal of Attention Be Accorded It.

Although waists are things of the past, let no one imagine that the corset is no longer a necessity or is in any way a negligible quantity. Far from it. It is a modern paradox that in order to attain the natural figure greater attention than ever must be paid to the corset. These wonderful nearly straight lines from the arm to the hips, or rather to the knees, for the new corsets reach to just above the knees, are due more to the art of the corsetier than to any dietary or exercise. The latest thing in corsets is very lightly boned, and has no bones at all over the hips. It is made in most instances of tricot, either in a cotton or silk mesh, and is extremely supple and comfortable to wear, fitting without a wrinkle. Their variety is infinite. There are special models for athletic wear, for riding and dancing, very thin graceful ones for evening wear under draperies, and a more sturdy kind for general wear under tailor-mades. With the coming fashions the choice of the corset will be an affair of the greatest importance, for on it much of their gracefulness will depend.

Floral Bands and Hatpins.

Floral millinery trimmings are steadily mounting in favor. Clusters of roses arranged so as to form huge pompons are especially smart. Compact bands of small flowers are used across plaques, at the edge of brims and midway up crowns. Hatpins made of small flowers are being shown by some of the leading houses. By means of these placed at some clever angle it is possible to transform a tailored hat into a dress hat.

Corset Laces.

Excellent corset laces may be made with crochet cotton. Unwind three long strands of cotton and crochet chain stitch, using all three strands together. This is very strong and pliable.—Mother's Magazine.

FOR FATHER'S DAY OF REST

Eastern Journal Suggests That Mother Have List of Odd Jobs to Keep Him Busy.

It is a well-known fact that little things get done with less friction in some homes than in others. This is particularly the case when a man of the house is expected to do some little job. But he is not always approached in a manner that is conducive to the best accomplishment of the work. Most men dislike to have extra tasks "sprung" on them. It is a masculine habit to enjoy thinking over a matter—how it could be done best, etc., whereas, a woman enjoys acting upon impulse, even if she only uses pins to produce a quick result.

Most husbands are willing to help their wives in any way they can. Some never need prodding, but go about themselves, doing this or that, or "thinking up" various things to do to improve their place or to lighten the housework. But there are many other busy men who have but little time to "putter about," and in order to use their spare time to the best effect their wives ought to have ready a list of jobs to be done whenever they are ready to do them.

It is rather a satisfaction to a man than otherwise to dispose of a lot of odd jobs at one fell swoop on some rainy Saturday afternoon, or when he has unexpected leisure. A memorandum pad and a pencil kept in a handy place will well repay the woman who wants things done about the house that are beyond her province or powers.

She should jot down as she thinks of the things that require attention: The loose hinge on the cellar door; a trellis that needs a few nails; something that requires gluing, etc. There is always something to be done, and it is safe to say it will be done sooner and better if the man knows that such a list is waiting for him. Look about, you housekeepers to whom this advice is given, because next Saturday may be that rainy day when there would be time for doing a dozen little things if they were listed.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Last Words of an Eminent Lawgiver.

"Since we were deprived of our office people have been makin' a football of the law in our former bailiwick," writes an ex-justice of the peace. "Whilst we was in power they either had to walk a chalkline or wobble off the earth, but it ain't so any more. The man that tried to set fire to the town hall because the mayor fined him $10 wasn't lynched, as he would have been in our day, but they've actually given him a fair trial! An' the man that stole the church bell an' pawned it for a gallon of 'moonshine' has got forgiveness an' is singin' in the choir! Besides, the lawyers we whipped because they appealed from our decisions, instead of bein' in jail are runnin' for congress. We done our best for Georgia, but Georgia throwed us out, an' Lord only knows what'll become of our native state without our legal mind to say how come an' why. Anybody that wants to buy a code of Georgia, one Webster's blue-back speller an' half of a dictionary should apply to us at once. We don't want anything to remind us of the day when our word was law an' gospel in this benighted state."—Atlanta Constitution.

"Victuals, Not Talk," a Dinner Motto. A former secretary of state, William M. Evarts, noted for his wit, as well as his great legal ability, had upon his plate a crest with the words, "Facts non verba."

An old congressman, who made no pretensions about Latin, when dining with the secretary said he supposed the words meant "Victuals, not talk." One of the really pathetic things which all who attend public dinners must suffer is the sad, the often lamentably sad, attempts on the part of speakers to be funny. "I am reminded of an Irishman," says one, and then comes a story dragged in by the heels, or "I feel like the Dutchman," and out flows a venerable yarn maybe slightly pressed for the occasion like the speaker's own dress suit. "I cannot see why it is thought necessary for after dinner talkers to try to be funny," remarks a writer in the Philadelphia Ledger. "Victuals, not talk," was a first rate motto to have upon most public dinner plates.

How Kipling Received His Name. The new Seven Seas edition of Rudyard Kipling has brought up a great deal of interesting and little-known gossip about the famous Englishman. For instance, how many Kipling lovers know that he was christened Joseph Rudyard Kipling? Like George Bernard Shaw and Thomas Woodrow Wilson, Mr. Kipling has shown his sense of the value of words by lopping off the uninteresting prenomens.

The origin of his better-known name is interesting. Lake Rudyard is a beautiful sheet of water in North Staffordshire. It was at a picnic at Lake Rudyard that young Lockwood Kipling first met Miss MacDonald, his future wife. They commemorated that happy occasion by giving their son the name of Rudyard.

Soothing Topic.

"I don't see why men take so much interest in baseball," said Mr. Meekton's wife. "I suppose maybe we find it restful. Henrietta. It's the one of the few subjects concerning which a man's wife isn't likely to have positive opinions."

WATCH THE GROWING CHILD

Same Supervision Should Be Exercised in the Schoolroom as is Natural at Home.

Two problems concerning the health and physical and mental development of a child confront thoughtful parents today, consideration of the child outside of school and attention to its environment within the school, according to a writer in the Journal of the American Medical Association.

"Whether in country or in city," he says, "the home influence on its health is most important. A constant and controllable factor is its food. Herein lies the home responsibility of the mother. She must learn that the food of the growing child is next only in importance to its feeding as an infant; and that the greatest good comes to it from plain, nutritious, well cooked and easily digested food; that it needs certain food for body structure and other foods to supply heat and energy.

"A child should frolic and romp and play because there is a natural relation between such muscular activity and the proper performance of such food material in carrying on their functions. The mother must also realize that rest is as important for the child as play, and that sufficient quiet, restful sleep does its equal part in storing energy and bringing about perfect development. Children need sunshine and fresh air, and at night should sleep in a well ventilated room with the windows well down from the top. They should be bathed regularly and properly clothed.

"But no matter how well fed and clothed, how clean and well nourished previous to its admission to school, the parents' interest must follow the child to the school room and see that such environment does not undermine its health. Herein lies the responsibility of the father, as a citizen and taxpayer. It is his money that maintains the school, and it is his duty to see that his child is not forced into an overcrowded, poorly ventilated, overheated classroom, compelled to breathe for five hours a day the exhalations from forty or fifty pairs of lungs, and its condition so weakened as to render it vulnerable to the attacks of infectious disease. "Any one, on reflection, will be impressed with the futility of expecting a maximum progression, physical and mental, where children are housed in overcrowded classrooms with little or no moisture in the air, compelled to breathe dry, vitiated air, and to attempt mental tasks with suffocated brain cells deprived of nature's generous supply of oxygen. This is the condition in a large number of school rooms throughout the land today."
