

FRENCH MAKE FURTHER PROGRESS IN ARTOIS DISTRICT

Made Attacks by Hand Grenades on German Trenches. Repulse Hun Attacks on Captured Positions in Champagne. Russians Continue to Hammer Enemy All Along the Galician Border. London Looks for Early Relief From Pressure on Eastern Front.

Paris, Oct. 1, 2.37 p.m.—(Special) In the great battle in the Artois district the French have made further progress by means of attacks with hand grenades on German trenches. Announcement to this effect was made to-day by the war office.

In the Champagne a German counter-attack near Maisons de Champagne was checked.

The Germans violently bombarded French trenches near Soupir, north of the Aisne, but made no infantry attack.

The text of the communication follows:

"In the Artois district we have made progress by the use of hand grenades in the trenches and underground passages to the east and to the southeast of Neuville.

"Two German counter-attacks have been delivered—ones against a fort which we conquered yesterday in the forest of Givonchy, the other against the trenches to the south of Hill 119, where French troops had installed themselves. Each of these attacks was conclusively repulsed.

"To the north of the Aisne, near Soupir, the enemy conducted a violent demonstration against our trenches. The firing of their artillery and infantry was not followed by an infantry attack.

"In the Champagne district our fire put a definite check to a German counter-attack in the vicinity of Maisons de Champagne.

"The number of prisoners made yesterday evening during our advance to the north of Massiges is 280, including six officers."

CLASHES BETWEEN SERBIANS AND BULGARIANS

Turin, Oct. 1.—(Special).—There already have been several clashes between Serbians and Bulgarians along the frontier, according to reports received here. A Bulgarian patrol at Trichouke is reported to have attacked Serbian sentinels, who retreated. The Bulgarians crossed into Serbian territory, where they remained several hours.

Bulgarian troops are said to be digging trenches all along the frontier and protecting them with barbed wire entanglements.

TEUTONS MAKE SLOW PROGRESS AGAINST RUSSIANS

London, Oct. 1.—(Special).—The Times' Petrograd correspondent points out that ever since the rupture of the Russian lines on the Dunajec the Austro-Germans have been advancing at an average speed of two miles daily. "This rate rather diminishes than increases, as the enemy advances eastward," says the correspondent, "and obviously it would require many months under the most favorable conditions to enable the Germans to reach Petrograd, Moscow or Kiev."

HINDENBURG'S GOAL IS STILL LONG WAY OFF

London, Oct. 1.—Field Marshal von Hindenburg, while he claims to have made some progress in his operations against Dvinsk, is still a long way from that city. His troops to the southeast of Vilna, however, have had better success. They have broken through the Russian position and captured a thousand prisoners. It is believed that this is the first stroke in his latest blow against the Russian right, and that he intends to advance southeastward in the direction of Minsk and endeavor to cut off the Russians retreating from Baranovich.

South of the Pripiet marshes, in which Field Marshal von Mackensen and his troops are stuck, the Russians have been driven back across the Styr River, but along the Galician border they are still heavily hammering at the Austro-German armies. While the Anglo-French troops in Artois apparently are now simply engaged in consolidating the ground won and opposing the German counter-

SITUATION IN BULGARIA

Sentiment in Favor of Russia is Increasing in the Rural Districts

MOBILIZATION IS PROCEEDING UNDER THE DIRECTION OF A GERMAN STAFF OFFICER.

Rome, Oct. 1.—(Special).—In spite of a rigorous Bulgarian censorship, the Tribune claims to have received despatches from Sofia, by way of Athens, stating that the situation has been complicated by an apparent change of front on the part of King Ferdinand, who has recalled the appointment of Crown Prince Boris as commander-in-chief of the army. Sentiment in favor of Russia is reported to be increasing in the rural districts.

The Tribune's despatches assert that mobilization is proceeding under the direction of a German staff officer, but will not be completed for another fortnight.

It is believed here that if the Allies send an expedition against Bulgaria it will be landed at Kavala, on the Aegean Sea, which is nearer Bulgaria than Saloniki, and would enable the Allies to threaten both Philippopolis and Sofia.

It is expected two ultimatums soon will be addressed to King Ferdinand—one by the central empires and the other by the quadruple entente.

GREECE TAKES NO CHANCES

London, October 1.—In London it is felt that Bulgaria has now abandoned any aggressive action she might have intended against Serbia, but an Athens despatch says the situation is still considered serious and that Greece is going on with her preparations for eventualities. The crisis at Sofia, which might have resulted in the formation of a Russophile cabinet, is said to have been averted, the King having refused to accept the resignation of M. Toncheff, the minister of finance, who has pro-German tendencies.

SERBIA OFFERS MACEDONIA

Would be Given to Greece for Services on Side of the Allies

MASSING OF GERMAN TROOPS ON SERBIAN BORDER CONTINUES — FERDINAND'S BETRAYAL

Rome, September 30, via Paris, October 1.—Serbia has offered Greece the districts of Guievigli and Dolran, in Macedonia, in exchange for participation in an expedition of the Allies against Bulgaria, according to the Giornale d'Italia.

HUN TROOPS ON SERBIAN BORDER

Athens, Oct. 1.—The massing of German troops on the Serbian border, near Orsova, continues. It is stated that the Bulgarians are concentrating on the Serbo-Bulgarian frontier and this has obliged Serbia to transfer 120,000 troops to this line in order to be prepared to resist any attack. The Serbian strength along the Austrian frontier thus has been weakened, so that Bulgaria has already lent assistance to the Austro-Germans.

Many German officers have arrived at Sofia and are consulting with the Bulgarian General Staff. These Germans declare that the campaign against Serbia will begin the middle of October. Four German submarines are said to have arrived at Varna. King Ferdinand requested M. Malinoff, leader of the pro-Russian party, to take a post in the Radoslavoff Government. He replied that he would accept office only on condition of Bulgaria's remaining neutral until the end of war. The King then declared that it was impossible to give such an understanding, because Bulgaria's policy already had taken a specific direction, but it would be well if prominent politicians now outside the Government would enter it and thus secure unity of all parties. M. Malinoff definitely declined the invitation.

BRITISH M. P. KILLED AT DARDANELLES

London, Oct. 1.—(Special).—Captain Harold T. Cawley, M.P. for the Heywood Division of Lancashire, has been killed in the Dardanelles fighting.

Captain Cawley is the third member of the British Parliament who has been killed in action. He was 37 years old and was private secretary to Hon. Walter Runciman when Mr. Runciman was president of the Board of Education.

THRILLING STORIES OF THE FIGHTING

Wounded Soldiers Tell of the Great Waves of Men Which Cashed Over German Trenches

BRITISH TERRITORIAL TELLS PICTURESQUE STORY OF THE STRUGGLE AT HOOGE.

Paris, Oct. 1.—(Special).—The French capital is being thrilled by stories of the fighting on the western front related by soldiers wounded in the desperate combats which have resulted in important gains for the Allies.

"When at 12.45 on the 25th the order came which sent us against Hill No. 119 we were filled with joy. 'I was in the first wave,' said one man. 'We made one dash for the German trenches. Fifty yards from the goal machine guns took us, but we put on speed and jumped over the first trench without stopping. We knew the second wave which followed would occupy the trenches we passed. 'What struck me about this rush—the force and rapidity of which was incredible—was the smallness of our losses. Personally I saw no one killed.'"

GREAT WAVE OF ASSAULT.

Another man wounded in the fighting between Perthes and Lahure said:

"We took the offensive at 9.30. I never shall forget the spectacle of our wave of assault. A seething mass of men, clothed in uniforms hardly two of which were alike, but all animated by the same energy, joined in the charge. I was in a stream which passed four lines of trenches in four jumps. We ran like madmen forward—always forward. At one moment we were confronted with a distance of not more than ten yards by a 77-millimeter gun still firing. It soon was silenced. Then I was hit in the chest by a bullet, and it was all over for me. I was carried off on a stretcher and well looked after."

COULD HAVE GONE RIGHT THROUGH GERMAN LINE.

London, Oct. 1.—(Special).—A picturesque story of the fighting at Hooge was told by a territorial with six wounds in one arm inflicted by a type of bomb known as the "Whiz Bang," who had just arrived after the big drive.

"Because we took trenches and didn't hold them," he said, "don't imagine there was anything amiss at Hooge. All is going well, and if there had been no such thing as machine guns we would have gone straight through the whole German line and now been on our way to Berlin. These trenches which we gave up we can take again, and what is more, we can hold them when we want to do so. We don't give up ground except on orders from superior officers, who sometimes decide the situation in adjoining parts of the line doesn't justify the retention of certain advanced positions."

GERMANS LOSE 73 SUBMARINES

American Engineer Says This Number Were Either Destroyed or Captured

New York, Oct. 1.—(Special).—More than seventy-three German submarines have been destroyed or captured by the British, according to William Dubilier, who arrived here to-day on the steamer St. Paul. Dubilier, who has been installing various devices for the British and French governments during the past four months, said that the latest apparatus had proved a most efficient means of locating hostile submarines. He said that although only the highest admiralty officers know the exact number of German submarines that have been destroyed, he learned on good authority that the number exceeded 73.

KAISER'S ORDER AS TO ALLIES OFFENSIVE

London, Oct. 1.—French official wireless news states that in an order of the day the German Emperor declares every important success obtained by the Allies on the western front will be considered as due to the culpable negligence of German commanders, who will lay themselves open to being punished for negligence.

COURT OF KING'S BENCH

Annual Term Opened This Morning for District of St. Francis.

MR. JUSTICE GLOBENSKY REFERS TO SERIOUSNESS OF CASES IN ADDRESSING GRAND JURY.

The annual term of the Court of King's Bench (Criminal side) for the District of St. Francis opened this morning before Mr. Justice Globensky, the presiding Judge for the term.

THE GRAND JURY.

The following gentlemen were sworn on the Grand Jury: Armitage, W.S., Asst. (foreman); Bourque, B.A.C., Asst.; Rowe, William, Asst.; Bourbeau, J.H., Asst.; Aldrich, Alf. M., Barnston; Brault, Adolphe, Beebe; Plain; Campbell, E.M., Beebe; Plain; Gauthier, Cyr, Cleveland; Anderson, O.C.T., Bury; Archambault, H. Coaticook; Allen, W. H., Coaticook; Bachand, D. S., Coaticook.

JUDGE'S ADDRESS TO THE GRAND JURY.

In his address to the Grand Jury, His Lordship referred to the importance of their duties and gave them lengthy directions as to the method of procedure they should adopt in dealing with the various matters, which would be submitted to them. The learned judge referred to the large number and seriousness of the cases on the roll, including murder, burglary, arson, abduction and perjury. In regard to the latter crime he pointed out the importance of witnesses speaking the truth in the interests of society and the administration of justice.

CAPTELTON MURDER CASE.

The most serious case on the list is that in which three Italians, Caminero, Metz and Care stand charged with the murder of G. Calero at Capelton.

Mr. J. Nicol, K.C., and Mr. A. C. Hanson are Crown Prosecutors, and Mr. G. L. DeWittville, Clerk of the Court. Mr. W. C. Tracy was sworn in as interpreter this morning.

BOND HOLDERS AWAIT INTEREST

Not Yet Paid by E. T. Telephone Company

NOBODY WORRYING — SHADOW OF THE BELL COMPANY IS DISTINCTLY VISIBLE.

The bond holders of the Eastern Townships Telephone Company are wondering a little what is going to happen before January 1st next in connection with their holdings. The interest on these bonds was not paid on July 1st when due, and if not paid by January 1st, the bond holders can step in and run the property.

It is not expected that this will happen, however. What is likely to take place is that before the six months expire, the Bell Telephone Company will see that the bond interest is paid.

The excuse for not paying the interest is that earnings were not sufficient to permit it.

The E. T. Company is pretty closely tied to the Bell Company already, and a liberal percentage of earnings on long distance calls goes to the Bell Company in return for connections. It is said the controlling interests in the E. T. Telephone Company is held by Bell interests.

16 DEAD AND MANY INJURED AT NEW ORLEANS

New Orleans, Sept. 30, by courier to Baton Rouge.—(Special).—Sixteen known dead, several score injured, property damage reaching perhaps $2,000,000, no street cars in operation, the river front strewn with wreckage, outlying section flooded and telephone, telegraph and train service paralyzed—this is the storm situation here to-night.

LARGEST STEEL BRIDGE ARCH IN THE WORLD

New York, Oct. 1.—(Special).—Engineers of the New York Connecting Railway announced that the longest steel arch contained in any bridge in the world had been completed by joining the two ends of the great railway bridge over Hell Gate. The arch opens a distance of 1,017 feet.

THE WEATHER

Fine, followed by strong northeast winds, with rain in southern portion.

DANGEROUS LEVEL CROSSING; NOXIOUS WEED PEST

Two Subjects Dealt With at Associated Boards Meeting. Many Fatalities at Crossings in Townships Call for Investigation. Railway Commission to be Memorialized. Noxious Weeds Threaten E. T. Agriculture. Sheep Raising Offers One Solution.

(Eighth Article Eastern Townships Associated Boards At Knowlton)

The subject of Dangerous Level Crossings and the necessity of proper alarm signals was introduced by Coaticook representatives at the quarterly meeting of the Associated Boards of Trade at Knowlton in consequence of fatal accidents which have occurred there and at other places quite recently. The Coaticook Board was supported by a resolution of the Municipal Council of the Townships of Compton requesting the assistance of the Associated Boards with a view to the installation of some signal at the dangerous crossing at Hillhurst station.

The following resolution was moved by Mr. E. P. Dupuis and seconded by Dr. Hayes.

"In view of the large number of accidents occurring on level railway crossings throughout the Eastern Townships the Associated Boards of Trade memorialize the Railway Commission of Canada to investigate the existing conditions with a view of establishing protective devices wherever required."

In seconding Dr. Hayes said that in the vicinity of Richmond they had had some experience in dangerous level crossings. He cited the case of a farmer who was traversing a crossing in a cold winter's night, and who being well wrapped up, did not hear an oncoming train and was killed. Representations were made to the railway company and an electric bell system was established. There were half a dozen other crossings in Richmond and he was personally aware of half a dozen accidents which had occurred.

Dr. Hayes was not prepared to say which method would be best to adopt to obviate these accidents but he thought their experience in Richmond must be common to other places, and some steps should be taken to devise some remedy. Electrical alarms worked very well in some places; he presumed signboards might also be put up.

Mr. A. A. Woodman of Coaticook, stated there were eight level crossings in that town. Two deaths and several serious accidents had occurred within the last two years through no fault of the persons driving. One person killed was a steady sober young man whose team was struck by a train at a blind crossing last spring and the horse had to be killed afterwards. Last fall a lady driving with her daughter was struck and carried down the track by the cowcatcher and would probably always be a cripple.

Mr. Woodman mentioned the double fatality at Ayer's Cliff in consequence of which a motion was carried.

NOXIOUS WEED PEST AND EASTERN TOWNSHIPS AGRICULTURE

Mr. H. S. Foster of Knowlton introduced the subject "The Noxious Weed Pest—What can be done to protect our farm lands?" at the quarterly meeting of the Eastern Townships Associated Boards of Trade at Knowlton.

Mr. Foster said that everyone realized that the noxious weeds in this country spelt devastation for the land and the matter could not be longer delayed. He referred to a meeting of the Bedford Daymen's Association which he had called three years ago at Covansville and which was addressed by an expert from the Dominion Experimental Farm at Ottawa who pointed out the urgent necessity of co-operative effort in the matter, stating it was useless for individuals or a single county to take the question up as in order to get any effective results united action was absolutely necessary.

"An appeal must be made to our neighbors across the line on this question," continued Mr. Foster. He mentioned that several men in Vermont with whom he had discussed the matter had said "We are waiting for you, and we will co-operate with you if you will take it up." Fully one-third of his own land was covered with paintbrush, he was unable to cut anything and would have to plow it up this fall. The only hope for the evil lay in calling the government's attention to the necessity of imposing a dog tax. The speaker claimed that the Ontario rules and regulations covering the dog question were pre-eminently what the province of Quebec wanted.

Mr. Foster declared that sheep-keeping was the only remedy for noxious weeds.

(Continued on page 8.)

THE CANADIAN BANK OF COMMERCE

with which is united

The Eastern Townships Bank

SIR EDMUND WALKER, G.V.O., LL.D., D.C.L., President.

JOHN AIRD, General Manager.

H. F. JONES, Asst. Gen. Manager.

Capital, $15,000,000 Rest, $13,500,000

Savings Bank Accounts

Interest at the current rate is allowed on all deposits of $1 and upwards. Careful attention is given to every account. Small accounts are welcomed. Accounts may be opened and operated by mail.

Accounts may be opened in the names of two or more persons, withdrawals to be made by any one of them or by the survivor.

BRANCHES IN SHERBROOKE.

Main Office (Dufferin Avenue), B. W. Farwell, Manager;

A. P. Taylor, Assistant Manager;

Wellington Street Branch, P. A. Briggs, Manager;

Upper Town Branch (King St.), N. F. Dinning, Manager.

We offer, subject to prior sale, all or part of 50 Shares

Canadian Bank of Commerce Stock

PRICE $200. PER SHARE

Eastern Securities Co., Ltd.

INVESTMENT BANKERS,

157 St. James Street

St. John, N.B. MONTREAL Halifax, N.S.

ST. FRANCIS DISTRICT HAPPENINGS

Gatherings by Daily Record Correspondents in Various Communities

BROOKBURY.

Bishop Williams, of Quebec, will hold Confirmation service in St. John's Church here on Thursday, the 14th of October, at 10 a.m. Candidates are being prepared by Rev. Rural Dean Lewis.

Next Saturday, Oct. 3rd, there will be Harvest Thanksgiving service in the Methodist Church at the usual hour, 2.30 p.m.

On Saturday evening the young friends of Miss C. Coates gave her a surprise party on the eve of her departure to Ely, Sheffield County, where she has been engaged for an eight months' term of school.

Messrs. S. B. and Chas. Coates, and J. Doherty have gone to St. Malachie and other points to purchase cattle.

Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Tite, Bishop's Crossing, were the week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Tite, "Ernridge."

Mr. Aubrey Batley has bought back a piece of land adjoining his farm, which was sold to Mr. J. Ord a few years ago, and the house thereon was sold to Mr. I. L. Batley, his brother, who is now moving into on the latter's farm, known as the De Courtenay place, a distance of about a mile.

Mr. B. Leavitt, of Sand Hill, has charge of the moving work.

Mrs. W. F. Batley who sustained injuries through a fall from the wagon when coming from Marlleton Fair, is now able to be around again.

Miss Bedard, teacher, was called to her home in Sawyerville last week owing to the illness of her mother, hence there was no school. The respective teachers, the Misses Smith, Porter and Bedard, attended the Teachers' Institute at Bury recently.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Shoemaker and son, Roger, also Mr. and Mrs. C. Stata and son, Kenneth, motored to Compton to visit Mrs. J. Pearson's little daughters at the college, then to Mrs. C. Shoemaker's home, Newport, Vt., returning Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Bury and family to reside in Montreal; Mr. and Mrs. Pharo and daughter, Clara, the week end with Mrs. Pharo's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Gale; Mr. Bertie Lockwood left Monday to enlist; Miss Gladys Morrill is leaving this week for MacDonald College.

There was no service in the Union Church Sunday owing to the bad weather.

Mr. George Moore of Richmond the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Moore, owing to the low condition of his mother, Mrs. Fred Moore.

Mr. Ed. Gale is still living in a very low condition.

Mr. T. Davis of Sherbrooke in town trying to get recruits from here.

Miss T. Grosby, the nurse, was called away to care for an uncle who was seriously injured by a train.

LAKE MEGANTIC
Mr. and Mrs. Scott Hunniford who

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

DON'T STAY GRAY! NOBODY CAN TELL WHEN YOU DARKEN GRAY, FADED HAIR WITH SAGE TEA AND SULPHUR.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and abundant with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, ready to use, for about 50 cents. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, itching scalp, falling hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied; it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and abundant.

YOU'RE BILIOUS! LET "CASCARETS" LIVE!
LIVER AND BOWELS

DON'T STAY HEADACHY, CONSTIPATED, SICK, WITH BREATH BAD AND STOMACH SOUR.

Get a 10-cent box now.
You men and women who can't get feeling right—who have headache, coated tongue, bad taste and foul breath, dizziness, can't sleep, are bilious, nervous and upset, bothered with a sick, gassy, disordered stomach, or have a bad cold.

Are you keeping your bowels clean with Cascarets, or merely forcing a passage every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil?

Cascarets work while you sleep; cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested, fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry-out of the system all the waste matter and poison in the bowels.

A Cascaret to-night will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box from any drug store will keep your stomach sweet; liver and bowels regular, and head clear for months. Don't forget the children. They love Cascarets because they taste good—never gripe or sicken.

have just spent the past few weeks at Echo Vale to their home at Brigham, Me., this week; Mrs. M.W. McKenzie, Marsboro, who has been visiting relatives at Springfield, Mass., for the past month, home on Tuesday.

A surprise party was held on Wednesday at the home of Mr. Danie Stewart, Victoria Hill, for Misses Margaret and Ina Stewart, who left last Saturday for Springfield, Mass.

Mr. Norman Morrison and family left town this week to spend the winter in the vicinity of Stanstead, Que.

The teachers around here attended the Teachers' Convention at Bury last Friday.

At the recent supper in Marsboro to celebrate the opening of the new Mass, the chairman, Mr. H. H. McLeod, read a very interesting sketch of the early settlement of the Marsboro district which had been written in the year 1891 for the Sherbrooke Gazette by the late Mr. Allan McLeod.

Mr. E. L. Price has sold his farm on the 4th range of Ditchfield and is moving to Sherbrooke.

Miss Tremblay of Montreal, is a visitor for her vacation at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Bramhall, 5th range of Ditchfield.

COATCOOK.

The Ladies' Aid of the Methodist Church held a business meeting at the home of the President, Mrs. A. Sisco on Monday evening to make arrangements for their annual Thanksgiving supper to be held on Oct. 11th.

Miss Annie D. Crane to Newport; Dr. G. A. Tremblay to Quebec; Mrs. Eug. Bayan and child, of St. Hyacinthe, visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Fox.

About twenty-five members of Harmony Rehearsal Lodge, No. 7, went to Cookshire on Tuesday where they were most pleasantly entertained by Vera Lodge.

The Golf tea for this week will be a patriotic one on Friday as usual, the hostesses being Mrs. F. E. Lovell, Mrs. Lophor and Mrs. F. E. Christie.

The annual Harvest service was held in St. Stephen's Church on Wednesday, Sept. 29th. The church was very prettily decorated with every variety of the season's products. The Rev. Cecil Stevens, was assisted in the service by the Rev. O. G. Lewis, of Shawinigan Falls, and also by the Rev. H. R. Biggs, Sherbrooke, who gave a most eloquent and impressive sermon which was heard with much interest. The full choir rendered suitable harvest hymns and anthems.

Mr. Jos. Bandin of the Canada Hotel, who has been in the hospital for the last three weeks, has returned home much improved.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Holtham and son, Bartley, Mrs. James McNaughton of Waterville, Thursday in town.

Mr. Bartley Holtham leaves this week for McGill University. Mrs. Holtham will accompany him to Montreal where she will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Williams.

The Misses Stevens will entertain the Ladies' Guild on Tuesday, October 5, in the Guild Hall.

Mrs. E. A. Akhurst visiting friends and relatives in Maine; Mrs. Ellis and son, Hartwell, of Toronto, visiting relatives in Coatcook.

MARLBTON.

Next Sunday, harvest and thanksgiving services will be held in the Methodist Churches of Marlleton circuit, namely, Marlleton, Bishop's Crossing and Erie at the usual hour. The churches will be decorated with vegetables, fruit and flowers of all kind. Special singing. Rev. E. de Gruchy will officiate at the services.

Arrivals and departures include: Mr. Frederick L. Gilbert, of Cedarhurst, New York, guest of his mother, Mrs. S. Gilbert; Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Bishop, Danville; Mrs. Hurd, Miss Hetherington, Mr. Archie Hetherington, Mr. Maurice Weyland, Dr. M. S. MacDonald, Miss A. Sullivan, Miss Hyndman, Mr. and Mrs. E. Lohelle and little son, Montreal; Mrs. K. L. Munkittrick and daughter, Vivian, Mrs. W. Loomis, Mrs. Le Bon, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Andrews in town on Tuesday to attend the Hetherington-Weyland wedding.

WATERVILLE.

Several pupils of the Waterville Academy attended the Sherbrooke County School Fair held at the Lennoxville Academy Gymnasium on Saturday last. The exhibits were good and Waterville secured the majority of the first prizes.

Miss Fanny Burton is ill with typhoid fever.

A surprise party was given in the Bonaventure Golf Club on Thursday evening last for Miss Alice Edgcombe on the event of her approaching marriage. The young people presented her with numerous gifts as a "shower." Although it turned out stormy, everyone enjoyed themselves.

COOKSHIRE.

Mr. E. J. Lefebvre a few days in Robinson this week on business.

Mrs. A. Sole, Mrs. W. T. Kirby and children and Mrs. Wm. Lucy, Wednesday in Sherbrooke.

Mr. V. Bartholomew, who has enlisted for overseas service, left on Thursday of this week for Quebec.

The annual rally day service will be held in the Methodist Church on Sunday next at 10.30 a.m.

The Rev. Jas. Pieltz has returned after spending a few days on an official visit to Metis Beach.

The Rev. Rural Dean Lewis, Rector of Bury, will officiate at all the services in St. Peter's Church on Sunday, October 3rd in the absence of the Rector, the Rev. E. R. Roy.

The Rev. J. C. Tannar, Incumbent of Dixville, paid a flying visit to the Rectory on Tuesday the 28th inst.

A Chapter of the St. Andrew's Brotherhood has recently been formed in Cookshire with the following officers: Director, Leslie Jackson; Vice-Director, Alfred Hobbs; Secretary, Victor Lusk; Treasurer, James French. It is hoped soon to have a visit from the Dominion Secretary from the headquarters in Toronto.

LORNE.

Arrivals and departures include: Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Greer, of St. Johnsbury, with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Greer; Mr. Orange Fowler, of Lynedown, recent guest of his brother, Mr. John Fowler; Mrs. Lilas Smith and Miss Marjorie, of Richmond with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Gordon; Miss Ella Gordon who is attending school at Richmond, the week end at home; Miss Lulu Cleveland a few days in Richmond; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. MacKenzie and little daughter, of St. Johnsbury, who were here recently guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. MacKenzie, back to their home; Mrs. Walter Bagley the week end at her home in South Durham.

Mrs. E. C. Gordon, who was so unfortunate as to break her ankle some time ago, is recovering.

BURY.

Miss Viola Allison of Island Brook and Miss Ella Allison of Sawyerville the week-end with their parents; Mrs. Thomas Parson the guest of her son, Mr. George Parson.

Miss Bella Crawford of North Road home over Sunday; Mrs. George Webster of Lowell, Vt., who has been visiting relatives, home; Messrs. Alden Allison and Ernest Burgess home from Long Swamp; Mrs. George Parson and Miss Viola Allison attended the Teachers' Convention in Sawyerville on Friday.

During one of the recent electric storms the lightning struck Mr. E. Allison's house doing considerable damage but fortunately did not set it on fire.

DIXVILLE.

Arrivals and departures: Mrs. Spencer, Sr., who has been several months here with her son, Rev. Wesley Spencer and Mrs. Spencer, at the Parsonage, left on Wednesday for her home at Port Arthur, Ont., and will visit friends at New Liskead and other points en route; Miss Lillian Mayhew, who has been in Toronto for some time the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Mayhew; Miss Ellen McCoy of Coatcook, recent guest of Miss Lizzie Eggleston, Pleasant Street; Messrs. B. C. Damon of St. Charles and A. E. Damon of Island Pond, Vt., guests of their brother, Mr. E. W. Damon on Thursday; Mr. Samuel Swales, Miss Julia Swales also Mr. and Mrs. Geo. L. Wright left the first of the week by motor for a visit with friends in Montreal; Miss Helen Mayhew, who has been several weeks at Ayer's Cliff, home on Thursday; Mr. Osmond A. McCoy of Lowell, Mass., with relatives in this vicinity.

The next meeting of the Patriotic Society will be held at the home of Mrs. Hector H. French.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Denison of Portland, Me., recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Damon at "Maplewood Farm"; Mrs. J. B. Parker recently paid a visit to her daughter, Mrs. E. J. Nelson, at Norton Mills.

GOULD.

The Sacraments of the Lord's Supper begun here on Thursday, September 30.

Mrs. A. W. Buchanan, Miss Marguerite, Miss B. E. Jones, of Nashua, N.H.; Mr. McDonald of Boston, Mass., guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Macaulay at the Tyce.

NOTES OF NEWS FROM WINDSOR

DRAMATIC ENTERTAINMENT FOR RED CROSS SOCIETY WAS A GREAT SUCCESS.

Windsor Mills, Oct. 1. — (Special) — On Wednesday evening the Windsor Dramatic Club gave their first entertainment in McCabe's Hall for the benefit of the Red Cross. There was a very large and enthusiastic audience and the result will be a good sum for the Red Cross Funds.

The members of the Club were ably assisted by the well known and able artists, Miss Helen Kent, and the old favorite, Lorne Elwyn. The curtain raiser was a scenery farce, "No Body Home, or Twenty Minutes in a Mad House." A reporter, E. E. C. Carter, was sent to write up a ball, and he mistook Mary Manners, his most intimate friend's sister, for one of the inmates which led to many curious mistakes. Mary Dearden, Miss Manners' aunt and chaperone, played her part to perfection. The cast was as follows: E. E. C. Carter, a reporter; Lorne Elwyn, Tom Marks, a asylum guard; Albert Moore; Aunt Maria, a visitor; Mary Dearden; Mary Manners, her niece; Helen Kent; The second part was a number of piano and vocal pieces. Dr. McCabe sang the "Deathless Army," and was encored; Mrs. C. Bastien gave a solo and received an encore; Mr. John Jacques sang Stephen Adams' well-known song, "They All Love Jack," and was loudly applauded, and for encore gave the well known song, "Old Simon the Alerter"; Master O. Gagnier sang, "We'll Never Let the Old Flag Fly," and for encore gave the last verse with all the members joining in unison; Miss G. Dunn sang with great taste and was loudly encored.

Those taking part were: Song section, Mrs. C. Bastien; vocal solo, Mr. John Jacques; piano duet, Miss Leo McCabe and Geraldine Gagnier; comic song, Master Cecil Gagnier; vocal selection, Miss G. Dunn; piano duet, Misses P. Provencier and Milette; vocal solo, Dr. A. W. McCabe.

Then followed a one act Irish comedy drama, "Tipperary," Miss Helen Kent took the part of the Heroine, Kathleen O'Connor and Lorne Elwyn took the dual characters of Bernard Cavanaugh and Terence O'Moore and they were ably assisted by the other members of the cast, which was as follows: Kathleen O'Connor, Helen Kent; Bernard Cavanaugh, L. Elwyn; Lady Dorothy, Albertine McCabe; Dennis, John Pye; Meg, Marjorie, Frank Annandale; Capt. Clearfield, Geo. Witty; Terence O'Moore, Mrs. Elwyn; musicians, villagers, etc.

The amount realized after paying all expenses was $20, which has been paid to the local society.

ARTICLES SENT TO SOLDIERS.

The Women's sewing meetings, which have been held weekly at the residence of Mrs. Brown since June 1, to make articles for the soldiers at the front amount to 459 articles, all of which have been forwarded by Mrs. Brown. The articles were: 107 pairs, 42 caps, 4 scarfs, 51 sheets, 50 pillow cases, 45 towels, 10 hats, 17 convalescent suits, 12 night shirts, 28 surgical shirts, 47 pairs of pyjamas, 1 nightgown; total, 459, a very good showing for the ladies of Windsor.

Mrs. Brown is returning to Montreal for the winter but the work will be carried on weekly at the homes of the members of the Sewing Circle.

BASEBALL CLUB SUPPER.

The annual supper of the Windsor Baseball Club will be held in the Chateau Windsor on Saturday evening at 7.30, when the challenge cup will be formally handed over to the E. T. champions. No doubt all the members will be present and many of their friends.

ORFORD MOUNTAIN CAPPED WITH
SNOW WHICH PORTENDS
AN EARLY WINTER.

Magog, October 1. — (Special) — Word was sent down from the Hermitage Club stating that one of the residences was on fire. A detachment of the local fire brigade with babcocks went up by auto in record time, but the services were not required as the summer residence which was owned by Mr. Harrower and one of the largest in connection with this Club, was practically in ruins the fire having gained considerable headway before being discovered. This will make quite a gap in the row of residences along the lake front of this property.

HARVEST HOME.

The Annual Harvest Home and Thanksgiving services and festivities were held at the Methodist Church on Sunday and Monday of this week. On Sunday the services were delivered by the Rev. B. B. Brown, of St. James Street, Methodist Church, Montreal, and were well attended in spite of the more or less inclement weather in the evening. Owing to the high winds having played havoc with the electric lines there were no electric lights, consequently it was necessary to go back to the old methods of illumination and as a result candles, lanterns and oil lamps were requisitioned, which however, did not mar the interest taken in the service. On Sunday evening the ladies provided the usual chicken pie supper, and three hundred of the townspeople can testify that they sustained their reputation as being adepts in looking after the wants of the inner man. At the close of the supper a programme was rendered has long been the custom. Rev. Mr. Brown was unable to be present, however, Rev. T. Halpenny, of Stanstead gave an address. The total proceeds of the supper and collections for the Church Fund will be in the vicinity of one hundred and thirty dollars which is used to defray the running expenses of the church.

STORM DID MUCH DAMAGE
IN THIS SECTION.

It is very seldom that we experience as high winds as were prevalent here on Sunday last. As a result trees were blown down in all directions. In fact it was difficult getting out of Magog for many of the roads were blocked for a short space of time through trees having fallen across the road. The electric light lines were put out of business for the time being so that there were no lights on Sunday night. Anything that the wind could move from leaves and limbs of trees to the roofs of barns came in for special attention. Although the fury of the storm was considerably abated during the night it did not entirely go down for a couple of days.

Fortunately there was practically no damage of a serious nature occurred.

MOUNTAIN CAPPED WITH SNOW.

Orford Mountain was snow capped on Monday, September 27th, as far as can be ascertained this is the earliest on record and if the old saying that we will have winter in six weeks we will not have long to wait. Fortunately this saying although very frequently holding good, is not by any means a fixed rule and it is hoped that we will have a long Indian summer during this autumn, and thus shorten the winter season as much as possible.

FIRE BRIGADE HAS RUN.

Part of the fire brigade was called out on Sunday evening in answer to an alarm from Pine Street which fortunately proved to be only a chimney blaze, which owing to the prevailing winds was the cause of considerable alarm to the occupants of the house in question.

Part of the fire brigade was called out on Sunday evening in answer to an alarm from Pine Street which fortunately proved to be only a chimney blaze, which owing to the prevailing winds was the cause of considerable alarm to the occupants of the house in question.

Part of the fire brigade was called out on Sunday evening in answer to an alarm from Pine Street which fortunately proved to be only a chimney blaze, which owing to the prevailing winds was the cause of considerable alarm to the occupants of the house in question.

Part of the fire brigade was called out on Sunday evening in answer to an alarm from Pine Street which fortunately proved to be only a chimney blaze, which owing to the prevailing winds was the cause of considerable alarm to the occupants of the house in question.

Part of the fire brigade was called out on Sunday evening in answer to an alarm from Pine Street which fortunately proved to be only a chimney blaze, which owing to the prevailing winds was the cause of considerable alarm to the occupants of the house in question.

Part of the fire brigade was called out on Sunday evening in answer to an alarm from Pine Street which fortunately proved to be only a chimney blaze, which owing to the prevailing winds was the cause of considerable alarm to the occupants of the house in question.

Part of the fire brigade was called out on Sunday evening in answer to an alarm from Pine Street which fortunately proved to be only a chimney blaze, which owing to the prevailing winds was the cause of considerable alarm to the occupants of the house in question.

BUDGET OF NEWS FROM MAGOG

Harvest Home and Thanksgiving Service in Methodist Church Great Was a Success

ORFORD MOUNTAIN CAPPED WITH
SNOW WHICH PORTENDS
AN EARLY WINTER.

Magog, October 1. — (Special) — Word was sent down from the Hermitage Club stating that one of the residences was on fire. A detachment of the local fire brigade with babcocks went up by auto in record time, but the services were not required as the summer residence which was owned by Mr. Harrower and one of the largest in connection with this Club, was practically in ruins the fire having gained considerable headway before being discovered. This will make quite a gap in the row of residences along the lake front of this property.

HARVEST HOME.

The Annual Harvest Home and Thanksgiving services and festivities were held at the Methodist Church on Sunday and Monday of this week. On Sunday the services were delivered by the Rev. B. B. Brown, of St. James Street, Methodist Church, Montreal, and were well attended in spite of the more or less inclement weather in the evening. Owing to the high winds having played havoc with the electric lines there were no electric lights, consequently it was necessary to go back to the old methods of illumination and as a result candles, lanterns and oil lamps were requisitioned, which however, did not mar the interest taken in the service. On Sunday evening the ladies provided the usual chicken pie supper, and three hundred of the townspeople can testify that they sustained their reputation as being adepts in looking after the wants of the inner man. At the close of the supper a programme was rendered has long been the custom. Rev. Mr. Brown was unable to be present, however, Rev. T. Halpenny, of Stanstead gave an address. The total proceeds of the supper and collections for the Church Fund will be in the vicinity of one hundred and thirty dollars which is used to defray the running expenses of the church.

STORM DID MUCH DAMAGE
IN THIS SECTION.

It is very seldom that we experience as high winds as were prevalent here on Sunday last. As a result trees were blown down in all directions. In fact it was difficult getting out of Magog for many of the roads were blocked for a short space of time through trees having fallen across the road. The electric light lines were put out of business for the time being so that there were no lights on Sunday night. Anything that the wind could move from leaves and limbs of trees to the roofs of barns came in for special attention. Although the fury of the storm was considerably abated during the night it did not entirely go down for a couple of days.

Fortunately there was practically no damage of a serious nature occurred.

MOUNTAIN CAPPED WITH SNOW.

Orford Mountain was snow capped on Monday, September 27th, as far as can be ascertained this is the earliest on record and if the old saying that we will have winter in six weeks we will not have long to wait. Fortunately this saying although very frequently holding good, is not by any means a fixed rule and it is hoped that we will have a long Indian summer during this autumn, and thus shorten the winter season as much as possible.

FIRE BRIGADE HAS RUN.

Part of the fire brigade was called out on Sunday evening in answer to an alarm from Pine Street which fortunately proved to be only a chimney blaze, which owing to the prevailing winds was the cause of considerable alarm to the occupants of the house in question.

Part of the fire brigade was called out on Sunday evening in answer to an alarm from Pine Street which fortunately proved to be only a chimney blaze, which owing to the prevailing winds was the cause of considerable alarm to the occupants of the house in question.

Part of the fire brigade was called out on Sunday evening in answer to an alarm from Pine Street which fortunately proved to be only a chimney blaze, which owing to the prevailing winds was the cause of considerable alarm to the occupants of the house in question.

Part of the fire brigade was called out on Sunday evening in answer to an alarm from Pine Street which fortunately proved to be only a chimney blaze, which owing to the prevailing winds was the cause of considerable alarm to the occupants of the house in question.

Part of the fire brigade was called out on Sunday evening in answer to an alarm from Pine Street which fortunately proved to be only a chimney blaze, which owing to the prevailing winds was the cause of considerable alarm to the occupants of the house in question.

Part of the fire brigade was called out on Sunday evening in answer to an alarm from Pine Street which fortunately proved to be only a chimney blaze, which owing to the prevailing winds was the cause of considerable alarm to the occupants of the house in question.

Part of the fire brigade was called out on Sunday evening in answer to an alarm from Pine Street which fortunately proved to be only a chimney blaze, which owing to the prevailing winds was the cause of considerable alarm to the occupants of the house in question.

Part of the fire brigade was called out on Sunday evening in answer to an alarm from Pine Street which fortunately proved to be only a chimney blaze, which owing to the prevailing winds was the cause of considerable alarm to the occupants of the house in question.

Part of the fire brigade was called out on Sunday evening in answer to an alarm from Pine Street which fortunately proved to be only a chimney blaze, which owing to the prevailing winds was the cause of considerable alarm to the occupants of the house in question.

Part of the fire brigade was called out on Sunday evening in answer to an alarm from Pine Street which fortunately proved to be only a chimney blaze, which owing to the prevailing winds was the cause of considerable alarm to the occupants of the house in question.

Part of the fire brigade was called out on Sunday evening in answer to an alarm from Pine Street which fortunately proved to be only a chimney blaze, which owing to the prevailing winds was the cause of considerable alarm to the occupants of the house in question.

Part of the fire brigade was called out on Sunday evening in answer to an alarm from Pine Street which fortunately proved to be only a chimney blaze, which owing to the prevailing winds was the cause of considerable alarm to the occupants of the house in question.

Part of the fire brigade was called out on Sunday evening in answer to an alarm from Pine Street which fortunately proved to be only a chimney blaze, which owing to the prevailing winds was the cause of considerable alarm to the occupants of the house in question.

Part of the fire brigade was called out on Sunday evening in answer to an alarm from Pine Street which fortunately proved to be only a chimney blaze, which owing to the prevailing winds was the cause of considerable alarm to the occupants of the house in question.

Part of the fire brigade was called out on Sunday evening in answer to an alarm from Pine Street which fortunately proved to be only a chimney blaze, which owing to the prevailing winds was the cause of considerable alarm to the occupants of the house in question.

Part of the fire brigade was called out on Sunday evening in answer to an alarm from Pine Street which fortunately proved to be only a chimney blaze, which owing to the prevailing winds was the cause of considerable alarm to the occupants of the house in question.

Part of the fire brigade was called out on Sunday evening in answer to an alarm from Pine Street which fortunately proved to be only a chimney blaze, which owing to the prevailing winds was the cause of considerable alarm to the occupants of the house in question.

Part of the fire brigade was called out on Sunday evening in answer to an alarm from Pine Street which fortunately proved to be only a chimney blaze, which owing to the prevailing winds was the cause of considerable alarm to the occupants of the house in question.

Part of the fire brigade was called out on Sunday evening in answer to an alarm from Pine Street which fortunately proved to be only a chimney blaze, which owing to the prevailing winds was the cause of considerable alarm to the occupants of the house in question.

Part of the fire brigade was called out on Sunday evening in answer to an alarm from Pine Street which fortunately proved to be only a chimney blaze, which owing to the prevailing winds was the cause of considerable alarm to the occupants of the house in question.

Part of the fire brigade was called out on Sunday evening in answer to an alarm from Pine Street which fortunately proved to be only a chimney blaze, which owing to the prevailing winds was the cause of considerable alarm to the occupants of the house in question.

Part of the fire brigade was called out on Sunday evening in answer to an alarm from Pine Street which fortunately proved to be only a chimney blaze, which owing to the prevailing winds was the cause of considerable alarm to the occupants of the house in question.

Part of the fire brigade was called out on Sunday evening in answer to an alarm from Pine Street which fortunately proved to be only a chimney blaze, which owing to the prevailing winds was the cause of considerable alarm to the occupants of the house in question.

Part of the fire brigade was called out on Sunday evening in answer to an alarm from Pine Street which fortunately proved to be only a chimney blaze, which owing to the prevailing winds was the cause of considerable alarm to the occupants of the house in question.

Part of the fire brigade was called out on Sunday evening in answer to an alarm from Pine Street which fortunately proved to be only a chimney blaze, which owing to the prevailing winds was the cause of considerable alarm to the occupants of the house in question.

Part of the fire brigade was called out on Sunday evening in answer to an alarm from Pine Street which fortunately

The Daily Record

SHERBROOKE RECORD CO.,
Printers and Publishers.
Printed and published every afternoon, except Sunday, at 108 and 109 Wellington St., Sherbrooke.
SUBSCRIPTION PRICE strictly in advance to any address in Canada, Great Britain and the United States.
One year, $2.00; six months, $1.25;
three months, 70 cents; one month, 25 cents.

Circulation Statement

Circulation statement for week ending Sept. 26th, 1915:
Monday 10,625
Tuesday 10,600
Wednesday 10,610
Thursday 10,600
Friday 10,575
Saturday 10,600
Total 63,610

To Advertisers

Advertisers are reminded that copy for advertisements should reach the Record Office not later than 3 p.m. the day previous to publication in order to ensure insertion.
All copy will be handled in the order in which it is received.

Recommended E. T. Hotels

GRANDY WINDSOR HOTEL - T. A.
Lynch, Prop., recently of Montreal.

BUSINESS CARDS

ENGINEERS AND SURVEYORS.

K. ADDIE, C.E., Q.L.S., QUEBEC,
G. Office, 81 St. Peter St.; Residence, 118 St. Cyrille St. Tel. connections.

ARMAND C. CREPEAU, SHERbrooke, Provincial Land Surveyor, Hochelaga Bank Bldg. Phone 142.

S. A. MEADE, COATCOOK, QUEbec, Quebec Land Surveyor. Bell phone.
All kinds of surveys and levelling.

LOUIS O'C. MAGNAULT, QUEBEC
Land Surveyor, Office, 17 Sanborn
St., Tel. 480; Residence, No. 1 Craig
St., Tel. 1158.

INSURANCE AGENTS.

W. S. DRESSER & CO., SHERbrooke. All branches of insurance.
Office established 1875.

F. J. SOUTHWOOD & CO., INS. AGTS.,
S. S. & S. Mutual Bldg., Sherbrooke.

ARCHITECTS.

J. W. GREGOIRE, ARCHITECT, 1914
Wellington St., Sherbrooke, Bell.

PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS.

DRS. BACHAND & BEGIN, 47 BROOKS
St., Specialists in Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Diseases. Specialists in all Electric Treatment of Diseases. Consultation: By appointment at hospital or at home.

J. A. DACHE, M.D., SPECIALIST—
Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat. Office, 49 King St. At St. Vincent de Paul Hospital 8-9.

J. A. C. ETHER, M.D.—SPECIALITY,
U. S. Diseases. Consultation: Res., 49 King St., Sherbrooke, Que., and by appointment.

DR. W. A. FARWELL (SPECIALIST to the Sherbrooke Hospital), Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Diseases, 37-
Dufferin Ave., Sherbrooke. Consultation: 10-12 a.m., 1-4 p.m. and by appointment.

W. A. HUTTON, M.D.C.M., L.M.C.C., Physician and Surgeon, 24 Wolfe
St., Sherbrooke. Phone 373.

W. A. STENNING, M.D., C.M., Electro-Therapist, Sherbrooke Hospital, Mondays, Wednesdays, Fridays, and by appointment.

M. S. MACDONALD, M.D., C.M., Physician and Surgeon, 44 Front-tenac St. Phone 232.

EVELYN MANDIGO, GRADUATE Nurse, 15 Stanley Ave. Tel. 1230.

R. B. SPEER, M.D., SPECIALIST Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat, Whit-ting Block, Phone 1240. Consultation: 9:30-12 a.m., 1:30-4 p.m., 7-8 p.m. Monday, Wednesday, Friday, Saturday, and Sunday. Residence, Magog House.

AUCTIONEERS AND ACCOUNT- ANTS.

JOHN J. GRIFFITH, AUCTIONEER, Accountant, Commissioner and Auditor, Sherbrooke, Que.

TAILORS.

GET YOUR CLOTHES PRESSED AT
"New Method," 1184 Wellington St.

ADVOCATES.

CATE, WELLS & WHITE, ADVOCates, Quebec Bank, Sherbrooke.

FRASER & RUGG, ADVOCATES,
Q. C. Ry. Bldg. Money to loan.

JACOB NICOL, K.C., ADVOCATE,
Crown Prosecutor, 95 Wellington St.

LAWRENCE, MORRIS & MEYER,
Advocates, etc., Sherbrooke.

LEONARD & JUNEAU, ADVOCATES,
18 King St.

O'BREADY & PANNETT, ADVOCates, 155 Wellington St.

W.M. C. TRACY, ADVOCATE, 137
Wellington St.

JOS. ROY, ADVOCATE, METROPOLE
Bldg. At Windsor Mills on Saturdays from 4 p.m.

Mr. Alfred E. Whitehead

F.C.G.O., A.R.C.O.,

will receive pupils in Piano, Voice, Organ and Theoretical Subjects.
Studio, Art Building, 2nd floor.
Phone: Studio, 740 W.; Residence, 721.

BROME REPRESENTED BY FIRST FRAME OF LOCAL OPTION ACT.

(Toronto Globe.)

In connection with the adoption of the Canada Temperance Act by the county of Brome, in Quebec, it is interesting to recall that this county was represented in the old Canadian Parliament by Christopher Dunkin, the framer of the first local option prohibitory liquor law enacted anywhere in British America. It was called the "Dunkin Act," as the Canada Temperance Act is often called the "Scott Act" after its author, the late Senator Scott of Ottawa. The Scott Act was framed and passed to remedy some of the defects which time and experience had disclosed in the Dunkin Act. It is worthy of note that the only time Toronto was ever asked to cast a local option vote it was taken on the Dunkin Act.

BEDFORD DISTRICT LOCAL HAPPENINGS

Daily Reports From Correspondents of What is Going on in Various Communities

SOUTH STUKELY.

The members of the Red Cross Society held a "Poverty Social" in Association Hall last Tuesday evening, which was well attended. The proceeds will be used for purchasing material with which to carry on their work.

Mrs. J. H. Parker and little daughter, Dorothy, of Lake Megantic, have been recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Dimick. Mrs.
Parker was formerly of Granby, and is a sister of Mrs. Dimick.

Rally Day was appropriately observed in the Methodist Church last Sunday by the members of the Sunday School, the church being very nicely decorated for the occasion.

The programme consisted of singing, prayer, responsive reading and recitations. Owing, no doubt, to the very severe storm there was not as large a congregation as should have been, but those who were not in attendance missed hearing a beautiful service. The collection is to be sent to the General Sunday School Fund.

Rev. F. A. Allen addressed the scholars of No. 2 school last Monday afternoon on the subject of the War in Europe, and in return some of the pupils gave patriotic recitations.

A very severe storm of rain and wind visited this locality on Sunday and lasted through the night and most of the following day.

The Harvest Thanksgiving service held in St. Matthew's Church last Sunday morning was, despite the inclement state of the weather, very well attended. The church was nicely decorated, there being a fine display of flowers, fruit, vegetables, and sheaves of grain. The hymns used were all appropriate for the occasion and were joined in most heartily by the whole congregation. Rev. F. A.

Allen preached an eloquent sermon from Matt., 13, 38, and at its close a celebration of the Holy Communion took place.

Miss Gertrude Carruthers, of Aylwin, Que., sister of the (Rev.) Allen is a visitor at the Vicarage.

COWANSVILLE

The regular meeting of the Homemakers' Club will be held in the Council room on Saturday afternoon, October 2nd.

Do not forget the appeal for quart-jars of canned or preserved fruit, which are going to be sent to the "boys at the front."

Edwards' Furniture Co., Sherbrooke, will deliver in Cowansville, charges prepaid, a genuine Ostermoor mattress, full size, upon receipt of $15. Order today.

SUTTON.

Have your eyes attended to on Monday, Oct. 4th. Optician Shaw will be here on that date.

HILLSIDE

Miss Lois G. Chaffee home from the Rochester General Hospital for an extended vacation, to return in January to take State Board examinations. She was accompanied by her friend and former patient Miss Laura Altpeter of Holly, N.Y., on a rest tour; Mrs. Lillian Macey from a trip to Waterville, Vt.; Mr. and Mrs.
P. A. Sweet and family a few days at Lake Champlain; Mrs. Henry Harrison and daughter at Mrs. A. W.
Clark's on Sunday last.

How many breeding horses have you suitable for export to rebuild the studs of France and Britain? But wait!
Keep the best for use in Canada.

builds up the Weak and sustains the Strong.
It is a Guard against Sickness.

The Distant City.

It is the task of the lineman to keep open the talk-tracks that stretch away to distant cities.

To your friend, your customer, a thousand miles away in any one of a thousand towns or cities the track is quickly opened and his ear awaits the familiar tones of your voice

Compared to railway travel or correspondence how quick, how inexpensive, and satisfactory!

Use the Long Distance telephone; the message and its answer take but a moment the tracks lead everywhere.

Every Bell Telephone is a Long Distance Station

The Bell Telephone Co.

OF CANADA.

73rd BATTALION Royal Highlanders of Canada

C. E. F.

Men wishing to join should send their applications to Lieut. K.
Turnbull, 429 Bleury St. Montreal. Arrangements for medical examination in Sherbrooke will be made and transportation to Montreal will be supplied.

BROME CO NO- LICENSE LEAGUE

Temperance Workers Meet at Knowlton And Review Work of Recent Campaign

COUNTY TREASURER REPORTED THAT FINANCES WERE IN GOOD SHAPE AND BILLS WOULD BE MET

Knowlton, October 1.—(Special)—
A good and representative meeting of the Brome County No-License League was held in the Paul Holland Memorial Hall on Tuesday afternoon presided over by the Vice-President,
Mr. R. E. Miller of Brome.

The chief object of the gathering, stated the chairman was to hear the treasurer's statement and from what we had heard the county finances were in good shape.

He then called upon the Rev. F. J.
Hayden of Sutton, the county treasurer, to introduce his budget. On rising, the Rev. Mr. Hayden received a good reception and said he was very glad to do so as the President had intimated, to introduce a very healthy budget.

He said they had waged a good,
clean, honest war in the county against the liquor traffic, and had driven the enemy out of the trenches.
He reminded the audience that he had assumed the whole burden of financing the campaign thus relieving the secretary of any troubles regarding the munitions of war. The county had responded liberally, despite the fact that many drains upon the purses were made by the great need in the war in Europe. Brome County had given unstintingly in its support of the campaign. The reverend gentleman desired to express his thanks to all the treasurers of the polls who had so ably assisted him; also all the W. C. T. U.'s of county, who had played such a good part, and the Good Templar Lodges for financial assistance rendered.

In the name of the Society he desired to thank the anonymous donor,
"a lady friend," who gave a cheque of $100.

He made reference to assistance rendered from Cowansville, Dunham and other parts outside the county. Before closing his remarks the county treasurer reminded the workers that the campaign had been conducted on most economic basis possible. True, he said, we have not spared heavy expenses, but we wanted the best and we're prepared to pay for it; also, that neither the secretary nor himself were receiving one cent as remuneration, what they had done was a labor of love for God and Home and Native Land.

In presenting the financial statement the Rev. Mr. Hayden said he had received nearly $1,200 and promises of more if necessary, and that he would be able to meet all liabilities and have a surplus on hand, and he felt like giving God all the glory for what He had done for the county.
The treasurer received quite a cheer
as he took his seat.

Rev. Mr. Walsh of Brome said they ought to express their thankfulness to God for such a healthy financial statement and great praise was due to the efficient way Mr. Hayden had handled the finances.

He also paid a tribute to the splendid work done by the secretary and hoped to be able to see a good enforcement of the Act next May.

Rev. Father Magee of Sutton expressed his appreciation at the returns. He wondered how the treasurer had been able to collect such a fund. He said he was not at all surprised at the result of the election and he for one should endeavor to see the Act enforced.

Mr. Ezra Ball of East Bolton said they were all pleased with such a happy termination of the campaign and that their finances were so satisfactory.

Mr. Lewis Jenne of Sutton gave vent to his feelings and rejoiced that the county had gone dry.

Mrs. (Dr.) Cutter of Sutton expressed her delight in such a happy ending to a hard fight and felt like singing the "Deum."

Others offered brief remarks of like nature.

It was decided to hold a county banquet in the Town Hall in Sutton at an early date.

A very happy meeting terminated about 4:30 p.m.

Among the well known temperance workers present were: Rev. Father Magee of Sutton; Rev. F. J. Hayden of Sutton; Lewis Jenne of Sutton;
Mrs. (Rev.) Hayden of Sutton; Mrs.
(Dr.) Cutter of Sutton; Mr. Ezra Ball of East Bolton; Mr. Millmore of Knowlton; Mr. and Mrs. H. L.
Hastings of Iron Hill; Rev. Mr.
Fokes and Mr. C. Pettus of West Brome; Rev. Mr. Walsh and Mr. Miller of Brome Corner; Rev. I. Nelson, Mr. Lewis, and Miss Martin, Knowlton.

WORDS OF WISDOM

"I am an experienced chamouls hunter, and not afraid of mountain climbing."—King of Italy's reason for remaining at the front.

"I ask you to plant the flag on your workshops."—Mr. Lloyd George.

"The Government still hold the practices of German submarines are not only in flagrant breach of the laws of war, but are mean, cowardly and brutal."—Mr. Balfour.

"The British soldier who dies in battle is a martyr, because he is a volunteer; and his blood will cement the people of England, Scotland and Ireland to the Dominions beyond the seas as no prosperity could do."—Sir George Reid.

An Austrian Ruse

A company of Italian soldiers crept cautiously towards one of the enemy's trenches and executed a brilliant bayonet charge, only to make the amazing discovery that the trench was occupied by cardboard men, 200 in number.

BLOOD AND IRON FAIL

French and Belgians Show Patriotism and Secure Vengeance

Few of the experiences of the inhabitants of the conquered portions of France and Belgium have come to light during the German occupation, and perhaps it is well for the Germans, as some instances would indicate that this is so.

From Belgium comes a story of vengeance. In a village near Namur, in a peaceful villa, lived with his widowed mother a young Belgian manufacturer. One day the German troops entered the village, and their commander ordered the young man to bring out his car and drive him to a neighboring village. The young man refused. Thereupon the commander
—he was a colonel—drew his revolver and shot down the young man's mother, who was standing near. The son turned deathly white, and for a moment it seemed as though he would leap at the murderer's throat. Then he calmed himself and said, "Good!
I shall drive you." The colonel and several other German officers entered the car. The son of the murdered woman took his place at the steering-wheel. Soon the car was running on top speed. Then, suddenly, just as it reached a temporary bridge over the Meuse, the driver gave a sharp turn to the wheel. The car was flung into the river. All the occupants were drowned.

An example of the way the German masters take money at every chance from the hapless Belgians has been told in Paris. A Liege merchant who applied to the German military authorities for a passport to go abroad on a business trip was told that he could only get this if he would deposit a cash bail of one thousand francs as a guarantee that he would return and not join the Belgians. With something of a sigh the merchant got together the one thousand francs, got his passport and left. When he returned some two weeks later he demanded his 1,000 francs, but all he could get was a German war loan bond for 800 marks. He thus involuntarily became a subscriber to the Kaiser's war loan.

Portions of France have suffered like Belgium, with national feeling being stamped out. Proudly a French officer on furlough, tells the following touching story: "We were fighting near a French village which has changed hands at least half a dozen times. It was at that time in the hands of the Germans, while our first line trenches were only a hundred metres from the nearest houses. One evening, while everything was quiet, a sudden fusillade began. We thought it was the signal of a German attack and everyone rushed into the trenches.
In the darkness they ran up against a man who cried: 'Don't shoot! I am a Frenchman!' He proved to be a very old peasant, but as it was possible that he might be a German spy, he was taken before our colonel.

There are four or five of us," he said,
"who remained in the village when everybody else had fled. The last time the French occupied our village an officer gave us a French newspaper.
It didn't contain much news; but we passed it from hand to hand and one thought came to all of us immediately.
The Minister of France wanted gold, and each of us had put away a few Louis d'ors. We dug them up and my friends sent me to give them to you at the first opportunity." Then the old man handed the colonel 350 francs in gold, the entire wealth of the devastated village. With tears in his eyes our colonel received this precious gift and embraced the old man. The gold was immediately sent to the Bank of France, and a collection taken up for the benefit of that patriotic village."

It is not generally known that the statue of King William which stands
outside Kensington Palace, London, was presented to England by the Kaiser. It bears the following inscription: "William III of Orange,
1689-1702. Presented by William II,
German Emperor and King of Prussia, to King Edward VII. for the British nation, 1907."

A very short time ago the Kaiser presented a colossal statue to Norway.
This is a statue of Frithjof, the great Norwegian hero, who is the subject of an Icelandic saga assigned to the fourteenth century, and relating his adventures. It is designed to commemorate the Kaiser's twenty-fifth cruise to the Land of the Midnight Sun. The figure of the mythical hero is forty feet high, about ten feet shorter than the Kaiser thinks himself—and stands on a pedestal thirty feet high. A dozen men lunched in the chest cavity of this colossal statue whilst it was in course of erection.

VAGARIES OF CENSOR

One Austrian Paper Talks Plainly
Despite Clumsy Gaggling

The Vienna Arbeiter-Zeitung is a thorn in the flesh of the Austrian censor. Scarcely a day passes without its columns appearing in a curiously mutilated condition. Yet every now and then something appears in its columns which seems to have escaped the censor's watchfulness. Thus, it had a paragraph dealing with a remark of the semi-official Reichspost, in which this journal concedes with the Pope because of the alleged interference with his correspondence. The Reichspost declared that this was a slap in the face of 300,000,000 Catholics, an action which would embitter the Christian world, and wound their inner feelings. The Arbeiter-Zeitung throws scorn on this in the following words: "Certainly. The watching over the correspondence of the Papal chancery is the most terrible thing in all this terrible war, and the action which, more than any other, must fill the minds of 300,000,000 with the greatest sorrow!"

The Arbeiter-Zeitung draws attention to the treatment it receives from the censor, but its position is not nearly so bad as that of the Agram Tageblatt, which once appeared with eighteen white spaces. In a report of a session of the Croatian Diet there are seven white spaces, one of these over a column long, evidently containing the speech of an anti-war delegate, the other six spaces apparently containing references to the speech. An amusing illustration of the censor's methods is found in the fact that portions of the Banus or Governor were deleted. As the censor is an official in the Banus chancery, the incident is interesting.

Dettingen was the last battle in which an English King commanded in person.

Roman soldiers used to drink vinegar when on long marches.

The Canary Islands are the tops of a great submarine mountain range.

Dutch warn the Germans.

The Hague, Sept. 30.—The Dutch Government has made a serious protest to Germany concerning the passage of German airplanes over Dutch territory. Holland declares it expects Germany to take adequate measures to avoid violation of Dutch territory in the future.

HAPPENINGS AT CLARENCEVILLE

Vigilance Committee May be Appointed to Find Out Cause of Mysterious Fires in District

ANNUAL MEETING OF LOCAL RED CROSS SOCIETY—OLD OFFI-CERS WERE RE-ELECTED

Clarenceville, Oct. 1.—(Special)—
The people of Clarenceville and vicinity are rejoicing today over the victories gained by the allies at the front. Hopes are expressed that the war may be speedily brought to an end.

MYSTERIOUS FIRES
The Mutual Fire and Lightning Co.
of the Parish of St. George de Clarenceville have had a number of mysterious fires in Clarenceville and St.
Thomas parishes recently. A vigilance committee should be organized to determine any suspicious character found in the parish.

ANNUAL MEETING OF RED CROSS SOCIETY
The annual meeting for the election of officers of the Red Cross Group was held in the Townshend Memorial Hall on Tuesday afternoon.

The President, Mrs. Howson, Vice-President, Mrs. Derby, and Secretary Treasurer, Mrs. Collins, entertained the members of the Society and served a dainty tea to all present.

The above-named officers were re-elected by acclamation and the following ladies were appointed a committee: Mrs. Ransom Derick, Mrs. H.
H. Derick, Mrs. J. N. Derick, Mrs.
J. A. Tipping, Mrs. U. T. Chilton, and Mrs. H. P. Young. Mrs. F. T.
Derick and Mrs. Mary Adams were appointed to look after the finished work and to give out work. A donation by Mr. Robert Wright of $3.00 was acknowledged.

ANNUAL SOCIAL A SUCCESS
The annual chicken pie social given by the Epworth League proved a success. Addresses by Rev. Mr. Smith of Alburgh, Vt., and Mr. Samuel Usher of Clarenceville, Mrs. J. W.
Miller sang a solo and a chorus was given by the young people of the Church. Mr. Walter Mandigo also sang a solo.

The proceeds amounted to about $26.00.

NOTES
Rev. Mr. Smith of Alburgh, Vt., and Mrs. Smith are visiting Mr. M.
W. Filers on the Richelieu River shore.

The new bank building is nearing completion.

KAISER GIVES STATUES

London "Boasts" One—Norway Has Colossal Specimen

It is not generally known that the statue of King William which stands
outside Kensington Palace, London,
was presented to England by the Kaiser. It bears the following inscription: "William III of Orange,
1689-1702. Presented by William II,
German Emperor and King of Prussia,
to King Edward VII. for the British
nation, 1907."

A very short time ago the Kaiser
presented a colossal statue to Norway.
This is a statue of Frithjof,

Furs at Less Than Cost

We are offering a lot of Men's Fur Coats, Ladies' Fur Coats, also Ladies' Fur-lined Coats, Stoles, Collars and Muffs at half their former price. Also, reduction made on all SHOES during this Sale.

Remember the Place

Chamberlain's Shoe Store.

123 WELLINGTON STREET

Lennoxville's Low Price Store

Our Fall goods are nearly all in and we would be pleased to quote you prices on them. Here are a few lines:

Men's Heavy Fleeced Underwear . . . 45c
Penman's Wool Underwear 75c
Women's Fleeced Underwear 25c
Men's Waterproof Shoes, Black or Red $3.00
Men's Waterproof Shoes, 10 ins. high . $3.50
Men's Heavy Overcoats from $6.00 to $12.00
Boys' Heavy Overcoats from . $3.75 to $6.50

SPECIALS

BOYS—Every boy who buys a suit or overcoat on Saturday next, will be given a pair of Lined Mocha Gloves FREE.

MEN—Every man who buys a suit or overcoat on Saturday next, will be given a pair of Lined Gloves or Mittens FREE.

C. C. Rand,
Lennoxville, Que.

One Of The Scientific Discoveries of The Age—Allatt's Bread

ALLATT
THE BAKER
BELL, 724.

Assorted Cakes

Citron 25c per lb
Fruit 25c "
Fig 25c " Genoa 25c " Raisin 20c " Seed 20c "
Angel Cakes 20c each

McLean's

During the month of December last, a firm of East Sherbrooke, doing business under the name of Oscar Darche & Cie., failed. Now one of its parties, J. Oscar Darche, is being sued by several of his creditors. In view of holding my name and credit to the standard of what it has been for eight years, I wish to warn you against possible misunderstanding, arising from the resemblance of our names.

The fact that the actions taken against J. Oscar Darche are published in Dunn's & Bradstreet's Reports, makes it very serious for me.

My name being Joseph Omer Darche, I do business under the name of J. O. Darche, and no one had to sue me yet. I believe the present circumstances made this explanation a necessity.

Yours truly,

J. O. DARCHÉ

TEACHERS!

How about the eyesight of those backward pupils—the ones who have to stay after school? Suggest to parents the need of our service and glasses.

A.C. SKINNER

The Optician
on the Square

CITY NEWS

All the carpet ends at Edwards' on sale today at reduced prices.

25 Laborers wanted to work in Montreal. Apply Bush & Bartlett.

Mr. N. B. Pritchard was in Montreal this week on business.

Mr. Art Broncho, shell inspector, is in town and registered at the Royal.

Mrs. A. P. Thornton and children are visiting friends at Kingsbury and other places in the vicinity.

The 3rd Company of Girl Guides will meet at Portland Square tomorrow (Saturday) afternoon at 2.30.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bradley, Frontenac street, died last evening after a short illness.

Keep the 15th open—the King Albert Club are arranging an attractive afternoon.

A district meeting of the I.O.O.F. is to be held at East Angus on the 15th. It is expected a large number will go from Sherbrooke.

Miss Mary Bacon who has been visiting friends in Montreal and Berthierville, is the guest at present of her sister, Mrs. William Reid and Mr. Reid in Quebec.

Mrs. Ives, who has spent the past few weeks with the family of Dr. Geo. E. Armstrong, in Montreal, has returned to town, and is at her former home in Court street.

Miss Clara Hyndman, who has been spending the month of September with her parents, since her return from taking a summer course at Columbia University, left Monday for Edmonton.

In the near future a court of the Women's Catholic Order of Foresters will be organized in Sherbrooke. A meeting for this purpose open to all Catholic ladies will be held shortly.

The weekly tea at St. Patrick's Church Hall was given yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Michael Hayes, Mrs. Cameron and Mrs. Farley, and the girls assisting were the Misses McTavish, Mulvena, Cameron, St. Pierre, S. Hawkins and M. Codere. The tables were decorated with all the late autumn flowers. Mrs. Bonner poured tea, and as usual the afternoon was successful, both socially and financially.

BREAK IN CITY LINE DELAYED

A broken wire on the city electric line between the power station and the Record office caused some delay in yesterday's issue of the Record, and some of the afternoon trains were missed.

RECRUITING FOR GRENADEER GUARDS.

Recruiting for men to join the non-com. class of the Grenadier Guards, being organized in Montreal, from Sherbrooke, has been very successful. So far ten men have enlisted and will proceed to Montreal in the course of a day or two. So many applications have been received to join this class of the Grenadier's Guards that it is expected that no further applications will be received after Monday. After that date an active campaign will start for recruits for the rank and file.

EXCAVATING ON CITY LOT.
The city has begun excavation work on the city lot, Wellington street. A steam drill has been started for the purpose of taking out the rock to be used in the foundations of the new gas plant and for road work in other parts of the city. This will also add to the value of the lot.

LENNOXVILLE GIVES DONATION TO BAND.
Members of the 53rd Regimental Band wish to acknowledge with thanks the receipt from Mr. C. S. White of a fifty-dollar cheque donation from the citizens of Lennoxville for concert given by the Band during last summer.

ST. ANDREW'S PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

There will be a special service in St. Andrew's Church on Sunday evening, when the choir will render special music. Mr. John T. Matthews will be the soloist for the evening. The Rev. Alfred Bright will give an address on Martin Luther and the Reformation.

CONGRATULATIONS AT BANK OF COMMERCE.

Congratulations are being extended today to three officials of the Canadian Bank of Commerce on their wedding anniversary, which falls on the first of October. The interested parties are Mr. William Farwell, Mr. Neil Dinning and Mr. Wm. Speir.

LENNOXVILLE MAN SICK IN GERMAN PRISON.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Kittridge, Lennoxville, have received a letter from their son, Merton, who is a prisoner of war at Giessen, Germany. At the time of writing he was in the hospital through sickness. He states that he had received several parcels from home and friends.

AN INTERRUPTED AUCTION SALE.

The police were advised by an official at the city offices yesterday that an auction sale of household goods was being conducted by a resident of the West Ward. A constable was sent to the house and upon request the amateur auctioneer closed the sale. The occurrence was due to a misunderstanding on the part of the individual in question. He had approached a local licensed auctioneer with the object of securing his services but would not accept the terms offered. The auctioneer informed the enquirer that he could dispose of his effects by "private sale," and this suggestion was evidently misinterpreted.

EXPECTED THAT 5TH C. M. R. WOULD SOON LEAVE FOR FRANCE

Mr. Robert Jessiman, Sherbrooke, has just received a letter from his son, Harris, who is with the 5th C. M.R. at Shorncliffe. The letter is dated the 11th of September and says in part: "We haven't any horses and I don't think that we will get any here. We expect to go to France very soon to take up garrison duty and to act as escorts to the transports. We are only 29 miles from Boulogne, France, and on a bright day we can see the coast quite clearly. Last Wednesday I lay in bed and listened to the cannons roar. The flying corps have their base a couple of miles from camp and there are always two or three machines in the air. Some of the boys watched an air fight over Dover a few weeks ago. The wounded are landed at Folkestone and taken from there to the different hospitals. There is a steady stream of ambulances passing the camp. This is certainly a beautiful country but 'Canada for mine.' 'Today two boys about twelve years of age came out to camp with their nurse to see the Indians from Canada. We fooled with them for a time and then told them that we were from Canada but they wouldn't believe us, because their mother and daddy told them that Indians came from Canada.'"

TYROLESE VERY LOYAL

Austria Fortunate to Have This People—National Hero

In no part of the patchwork Empire of Austria, with its dozen tongues and personalities, is personal loyalty to the House of Hapsburg stronger than in Tyrol, although that exceedingly picturesque and romantic region has changed hands so many times in history. A little more than a century ago, Tyrol was one of the pawns in the titanic struggle between France and Austria, and at that time, although the Austrian Court more than once ceded the mountain region along the Inn to Bavaria, which skirts it on the north, the Tyrolese remained ardently devoted to Austria. The great hero of the Austrian party was Andreas Hofer, born one year later than the great Austrian Field Marshal Radetzki and two years earlier than Napoleon Bonaparte. Andreas Hofer became the most valorous and successful fighter in Tyrol, at one time governing at Innsbruck with singular simplicity and honesty. Twice deserted by Austria, he was captured by the French, and shot in Mantua on February 20, 1810. Napoleon later apologized for his execution, which was due, he asserted, to the too great zeal of one of his generals. The spirit, the very costumes of his day still remain.

Airships Unseen, Unheard

The newest idea in aeroplane construction is to use, instead of canvas as a covering for the wings a non-inflammable celluloid. This makes the craft quite invisible and enables the aviator to make observations in all directions. A new muffling box has also been devised which makes the motor almost noiseless.

So powerful are the vibrations caused by the explosion of a 12-inch gun that they are sufficient to shatter windows at a distance of about a quarter of a mile.

King Charles's statue at Charing Cross was the first equestrian statue in England.

WELCOME TO ST. PETER'S RECTOR

Informal Reception Last Evening Was a Pleasant Event

ADDRESS OF WELCOME BY MR. MACKINNON REPLIED TO BY THE RECTOR

St. Peter's Church Hall was the scene last evening of a notable gathering, on the occasion of an informal reception to the new Rector of the Parish, Rev. H. Reginald Bigg and Mrs. Bigg, who have only recently arrived in town. The spacious, well-lighted hall was filled by a large and representative number of the congregation and looked bright and cheery with its effective decorations of potted plants and flowers on the platform and table.

In addition to the church wardens the officers of the church and the various societies, the Rev. G. H. Parker, from Lennoxville, the Rev. E. B. Husband, of North Hatley, were present.

Mr. J. Walter M. Vernon acted as chairman and at the appointed hour after a few introductory remarks, called upon Mr. James Mackinnon to speak on behalf of St. Peter's Parish.

WELCOME EXTENDED

Mayor Mackinnon said in part:—"Not long ago, many of you were assembled here to say farewell to one who had ministered to this congregation for upwards of thirteen years, the Rev. Dr. Shave, who left this city to become Dean of the Cathedral of Quebec, and whose departure was deeply regretted. As we all know the Very Rev. Dean Shave is a man of great power and ability and was a credit to St. Peter's Church upon which in many ways, he left his mark and a credit to the city. On that occasion the evening was somewhat sad, as all partings must be. Tonight, every face is happy, for we are gathered here to welcome our new Rector and his wife. I feel sure that they will be happy in Sherbrooke and that Mr. Bigg, whose reputation has preceded him, will sustain that reputation in his new field of labor. I can assure him that there is not a more loyal congregation in the Dominion than that of St. Peter's. The parish is a large one, with constant accessions, and the duties therefore will be no sinecure. It occupies a prominent place amongst the English population of the city and the influence of its Rector is widely felt. There will, doubtless be difficulties to encounter but Mr. Bigg will be glad to know that, notwithstanding the numerous calls upon the people at this time, and their generosity in responding, the financial position of St. Peter's Parish was never better than at the present time. It is possible that this terrible war has drawn our people more closely together. We are thinking less of material and more of spiritual things, and when this great conflict is over, we will have to meet new conditions with hope and bravery. "This congregation has done its full share in contributing its youth to the service of the country, as may be seen by the long list in the porch of the church. We are proud of them and we know that they will do their duty as boys of this parish. I regret very much that Mr. William Farwell, the pastor of this congregation, was not able to occupy the place which I am occupying this evening. Mr. Farwell, as all know, has been a faithful member of both old and new St. Peter's for more than fifty years, and its most generous supporter. His presence here this evening is an added pleasure. One more, let me repeat, how heartily we receive the Rev. Mr. Bigg as our rector."

THE RECTOR'S REPLY.

The Rev. Mr. Bigg replied to Mr. Mackinnon's address very happily, as follows:—"Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen, I am a newcomer, and I know how difficult it is for a clergyman to make a speech, for although he is accustomed to public speaking in the pulpit, there he has a message to deliver, and is thinking only of that message. I cannot, however, fail to respond adequately to the kindly sentiments just proffered in your name, and I wish to thank you first of all for coming here tonight to greet me, and for your hearty welcome. I have come, as you will remember, from a very small place and congregation to this large and important parish, and it will take me some time to become acquainted with you. I want you to help me to know you as well as in other ways. No work can be done without co-operation, and I hope for your co-operation in everything belonging to the parish. Nothing has pleased me more since coming to Sherbrooke, than to notice the various organizations and activities in connection with the Church, so well carried on and supported, and I see, that as a congregation, you take a great interest in anything that belongs to that Church.

"In regard to the work of the parish, will you remember that the clergyman is bound to make mistakes and when such mistakes do occur, put the best interpretation upon them. I am certain that when we get to know each other, our relations will be most harmonious, and please God, the congregation and the clergyman may be so knit together in love to God and man, that the work of Christ and the Church may be advanced in our day and generation. Once more, I thank you for my wife and myself for your cordial welcome."

Both the brief addresses were received with applause and a short musical programme followed.

Miss Olive Palmer contributed a pretty solo, "Some where a voice is calling"; Mr. J. T. Matthews and Mr. Dyer sang a fine duet, "The Battle Hymn"; and Mr. Dyer was heard with pleasure in "The Trumpeter."

"John Peel," the good old English Hunting Song, and "Swiss Folk Song" were splendidly rendered by Messrs. C. H. Bowen, J. T. Matthews, H. G. James and Mr. Dyer. Mr. A. E. Whitehead acted as accompanist.

Choquette's the Shop for Good Shoes

YOU YOUNG FELLOWS—you who crave individuality and exclusiveness in your attire—will do well to look over our new styles in Shoes for Fall. You will find ideas embodied in our shoes that meet your own desires exactly. Prices you will find reasonable.

M. J. CHOQUETTE,

86 Wellington Street,

Opp. His Majesty's Theatre

Will Sell Cheap

Steam Boiler, capacity 700 sq. feet, air 425 sq. feet, steam radiation, nearly new.

A. R. WILSON.

GLORIOUS DEEDS BY CHILDREN OF MARS

Now as Ever Age Limits Cannot Determine—Wellington and Gordon Began Young—Thrilling Records

Youth is always at the front, writes Tighe Hopkins, in the "Daily Chronicle," London. "And what should you like the Queen to do for you?" the Princess asked the bugler boy; sitting by his bed in Netley Hospital. "I should like Her Majesty to send me back to the front, miss," said the boy. This was Bugler Dunn, of the 1st Royal Dublin Fusiliers, aged 14. How many drummers and buglers have won the Victoria Cross for Valor, I cannot say; but the number is a fair one. The youngest of this shining band was Drummer Magner, of the 33rd Foot in Abyssinia. At the summit of a rocky path a great wall was reared, eight feet high. "Set me a-top of 'er," said Drummer Magner, and a giant set 'im a-top of 'er, and one by one the boy hauled up the regiment. They do not all, of course, get the Victoria Cross. Tommy Keep, ten years old at Alma, remembered when tea time came, and set out through shot and shell to make tea for the wounded. Queen Victoria sent for him to her palace so fine, and kissed him.

Thrive on Fighting

You cannot keep the boys out of it. They smell the battle afar off, tell unbelievable cracklers to the sergeant about their age and well does the sergeant know it. These things, and all the feats of blossoming youth in the firing line, find a kind of fragrance over war. In the attack on Delhi Bugler Sutton, King's Royal Rifles, seeing an enemy bugler about to sound his instrument, nipped from the ranks and smote him dead before he could give a note. The night before the final assault on Delhi it was necessary to know whether our guns had knocked the walls enough. Sutton slipped out in the dark by his lane, and brought back the needed word. At 15 he was a V.C. Is it forgotten that Wellington himself was an ensign before his 18th year? In the Crimea two youngsters enjoyed themselves hugely in the trenches before the Russian fortress, of whom we afterwards heard a good deal. One was Gordon and the other Wolseley.

"Bad" Boys Rank High

The head master, Dr. Lionel Ford, of Harrow, says that of the 2,313 living Harrovians of enlistment age, 2,000 are serving; a percentage of 90 or more. No fewer than 19,548 boys who have received their training in the reformatory and industrial schools have served during the present war. Three have won the Victoria Cross; twenty-five have been awarded the Distinguished Conduct Medal; twenty have been mentioned in despatches and three have been decorated by the French Government. From this war the industrial school and the reformatory should reap with the public schools of England. Their golden deeds are coming home to us. "One of our stretcher-bearers, a lad of 18, was working like a nigger while bleeding from half a dozen wounds." What heart raised the drummer boy who, taking a stroll, impudent like, fell prisoner of war; and a drum being fetched for him, was asked to give a taste of his quality? Rattled off a march or so, "and now," said the German major, in good English, "beat a Retreat." "A wai, yer 'ighness!" "A Retreat." "Laud love yer Majesty—'wats thet?"

But do not let us brag as if ours were the sole boys in the war. The French boy is in it, too; and history has plenty to say about his valor from days very much more ancient than Napoleon's. The war was still very young when a French Boy Scout was shot for refusing to show the way to the Germans. Another French Boy Scout, Yves Meval, sneaked away with a company of the 72nd Infantry. At Sainte-Menehould he caught one bullet in one arm, and then another in the eye. The eye is missing, but the Croix de Guerre hangs above his bed in hospital—at least it did until he got well, and had the cross pinned on his breast before some hundreds of other Boy Scouts, who will soon be delinquents in the same line of business.

Yes, the boys are only too finely and terribly all there! The recruiting sergeant knows it. These many months he has been winking the other eye, and he will have to keep on doing so; for the boys will go to battle in the teeth of all the fibs he can invent about his age. It is he who fires the lines. Our infinite blessings on the Boy!

The Swiss reckon that their cupola fort on the St. Gothard, manned by 200 artillerymen, could easily hold the pass against an army of fifty thousand. Ant heaps make serviceable ovens, and are very often used on active service. After the insides have been scooped out fire can be applied, as in an ordinary oven.

His accustomed ability, and God Save the King closed the evening.

Before leaving all the members of the congregation were presented to the Rector and Mrs. Bigg, who had a pleasant word of greeting for each

Diamond Rings

On which the price has not been raised. They are well-cut stones, practically flawless, and perfectly white.

The settings are varied in style, comprising all the new designs in 14k. and 18k. Gold and Platinum.

O. J. Gendron
Jeweler

135 Wellington St.

Ash Cans

— and —
Ash Sifters

This is the season when our old friend the furnace begins to haunt our waking hours. Some of us are already shovelling coal and ashes for our morning exercise. Have you enough ash cans to take care of all your ashes between the ash-man's visits? And don't you need a rotary sifter to help save your cinders and your clothes? They're cheaper this year—the sifters, not the clothes.

Heavy Galvanized Ash Cans...$2 up Square Steel Ash Sifters, with handles 35c.

"Coal Mine" Ash Sifters, to fit barrel 90c.

"Hustler" Rotary Sifters, with Can$6.00
(Like the illustration.)

Coal Hods, Japanese and Galvanized 25c. up

J. S. Mitchell & Co.

CRANK INVENTORS BUSY

Would-be inventors of new devices to wipe out whole armies at a stroke, sink powerful dreadnoughts, reduce big Zeppelins to powdered form; guns that will carry great distances, fade-away howitzers, etc., are haunting the offices of London patent agents day and night. The war has caused inventors' ingenuity to run riot. Here are a few inventions from the clever brains of engineers and others:

New gun that will bag a Zeppelin at any height, with an ingenious range-finder.

A gun that can fire a projectile miles beyond the range of the biggest guns now used by Germany.

Projectiles that carry all kinds of acids and chemicals that put soldiers into their death sleep if they take a sniff. One inventor with long hair and green eyes would like to finance a company to make a projectile that carries tons of snuff. On explosion regiments are thrown into violent fits of sneezing and taken prisoners before they can recover.

Aeroplane that can be portorated with bullets and still navigate.

Mines of all shapes and sizes, guaranteed to annihilate whole cities and make a fleet of battleships good material for the common man.

TO-DAY
MARC MacDERMOTT
 IN A FOUR-ACT EXTRA-ORDINARY FEATURE,
"Shadows From The Past"
Train Order No. 45
 ANOTHER HAZARD OF HELEN.
Tale of a Tire
 Damesay Comedy.

PREMIER
 TO-DAY!
MARGUERITE CLARK IN Helene of the North
 Six Parts; Famous Players;
CHARLIE CHAPLIN IN
The Fatal Mallet
 Monday and Tuesday, "CORNERED."
 Tenth episode of the BROKEN COIN.

CASINO ORCHESTRA!
 A DAUGHTER OF EVE—
 Three parts.
 THROUGH SHADOWS TO SUN-SHINE—Two parts.
 A BATTLE WITH CUPID—Comedy.

Coming Friday, "Tracked Across the Atlantic," four parts.

PRINCESS ORCHESTRA! "The Silent Witness,"
 Chapter Three of "The Diamond from the Sky." Don't miss this one—it's a thriller.
 Helene and Lane in "Amateur Night," a Starlight Comedy; "The Dawn of Freedom," a fine Pathe feature in three parts.

SCULPTOR-SOLDIER
 War Sensations of a Remarkable Franco-English Artist

A brilliant young French sculptor has died in the French trenches—Henri Gaudier-Brzeska. The loss to English art is heavy, for although he was a Frenchman and died fighting in the French army, his active life as an artist was passed wholly in England. That life was short, but it was rich in achievement, for he belonged to a race apart from the sculptors of his generation. His imagination was arduous. Two years before his death he was still working all day for a meagre wage as a clerk in a shipping office; and when the present writer knew him he was in the habit of rising before five in the morning and spending the hours before office time in sketching the birds in St. James's Park. He worked on after office hours until late in the night, modelling. His endurance, as it must needs have been, was marvellous, for these laborious days were only the comparatively easy culmination of a hard life that began when he ran away as a boy from his peasant home in Middle France to be an artist at all costs. Some of his sculptor's sensations in the trenches are described by himself. "I have been fighting for two months and I can now gauge the intensity of life. Human masses teem and move, are destroyed or displaced up again. Horses are worn out in three weeks, die by the roadside. Dogs wander, are destroyed, and others come along. "The bursting shells, the volleys, wire entanglements, projectors, motors, the chaos of battle do not alter in the least the outlines of the hill we are besieging. A company of part-ridges scuttles along before our very trench. It would be folly to seek artistic emotions amid those little world of ours. This war is a great remedy. In the individual it kills arrogance, self-esteem, pride. I have made an experiment. Two days ago I pinched from an enemy a Mauser rifle. Its heavy unwieldy shape stamped me with a powerful image of brutality. I was indignant for a long time whether it pleased or displeased me. I found that I did not like it. "I broke the butt off and with my knife I carved in it a design, through which I tried to express a gentler order of feeling, which I preferred. But I will emphasize that my design got its effect (just as the gun had) from a very simple composition of lines and planes."

War Bored Alfonso
 Few people realize that the King of Spain has reigned longer than any other European Sovereign, with the exception of the King of Montenegro, and the Emperor of Austria. This is accounted for by the fact that King Alfonso was born a King. King Alfonso is said to be looking rather blue over the continuance of the war. He loves the limelight and cannot get into it. Nobody outside his own dominions gives him a thought now; he cannot travel, and money is tight. So there is simply nothing doing, and his Majesty is bored to death. To add to his troubles, Madrid is rather pro-German, and he is most emphatically not.

GOthic THE NEW ARROW
 2 for 25c COLLAR
 IT FITS THE CRAVAT

Closet, Pashody & Co., Inc. Makers, Sales Opt. Montreal

BUSINESS METHODS APPLIED TO THE FARM

Utilization of Waste Space a Problem Worthy of Up-to-date Farmer's Careful Consideration

The cost of building material is yearly mounting higher and present conditions indicate that it will go still higher. Alert farmers are beginning to appreciate the fact that the proper conducting of the farm means engineering and studied systematizing in every one of its many phases.

It costs so much to erect a barn that will enclose and shelter a certain volume of space. This space immediately becomes valuable, to obtain it a certain investment has been necessary, depreciation loss amounts to a considerable sum yearly, there is a yearly tax. If this space is utilized, its value and even more, may be realized; if allowed to stand idle, a loss equal to its value will be sustained. Of course, there will be times when space is at a premium and again times when there is ample and to spare, as when mows are crammed with hay and when they are empty; but as this fluctuation is not stable, one must figure his space accommodations at a time this part is occupied.

We have learned that a little thought and figuring will aid one in adapting the various articles needing shelter to the nooks and corners of vacant space best suited to them. When badly pressed for room we have on various occasions hoisted some of the smaller implements into the vacant space above the hay mows. They can be easily moved when necessary, but often plows and harrows that were used for fall work and are to be used early in the spring do not have to be moved if the mow is not used during the winter. Even if they do have to be moved from one side of the mow to the other, it is likely to be time well spent.

We utilized some idle boards and erected two small or loft floors over the driveway in the granary. Though too small to hold large tools, they make place for a lot of smaller articles which are used but few times yet are necessary to have about, butchering utensils, reels of wire, bundles of repair shingles, etc. Many of the smaller articles in this category are suspended on nails and hooks attached to the rafters and gable ends. In this way valuable floor space is saved and the articles are in plain view and easily located when needed.

Between the joists over the stables and under the mows we have provided places for a lot of things by nailing an occasional slat crosswise beneath them. Especially do we find these long narrow spaces adapted to the storing of boards and scantlings. As fences and old buildings were torn down we have saved the good lumber and stored it in this way. Now, when a piece is desired it is so easy to go to the barn and walk along beneath the pieces until one is found suiting the demands. Here only a few are at a place and they are easily inspected, whereas, when all are in a single pile one has often to handle almost the entire pile before he finds what is wanted.

It has been our practice to hoist our hay ladder into the vacant space between the mows over the driveway in the barn. It is hoisted high enough so that it in no way interferes with the passage of the team beneath it. Poles resting on the cross beams support it. In this way the rack itself is not only given shelter and gotten out of the way, but constitutes a receptacle for other tools and articles that are placed upon it.

We have also constructed a low loft over the driveway. It is at a place where there is no need of a load being driven beneath it so we made it just high enough to permit us to carry feed under it into the feed lot. Such a loft utilizes a lot of vacant space, and by using some old boards and poles, is easily made. A wagon can be backed up to it and such implements as plows, harrows, etc., can be lifted directly upon it.

We had a pair of extra side boards for the wagon bed that needed storage in a dry place. We searched but a short time; low down along one of the stable walls two pins were driven and the side boards placed upon them. The space they took up was hardly appreciable.—J. R. Grose in "Successful Farming."

The Modesty of a Hero
 Fighting as a soldier builds up men physically. Lance-Sergeant Douglas Belcher, who received the Victoria cross, was a salesman and weighed 147 pounds when he enlisted. Now he weighs 182 pounds. He writes to a friend in London of how he won the V.C., as follows: "Three days ago we took up a new position, and I was given eight men and told to hold an advanced post. Well, we were being shelled to blazes. I got a message through: 'Regiment on my right retiring but I am holding on.' I got a reply: 'Good. Hold on, which I did until re-inforcements came up. I had to see the C.O. next morning, and he said: 'Sergeant Belcher, allow me to congratulate you personally on your brilliant performance yesterday. You saved the situation.' Nearly took my breath away. I had nothing worse than a bit of shrapnel through my hat and a slight scratch on the chin."

The Highland Light Infantry was the first Scottish regiment to win a Victoria Cross in the present war.

COL. G. S. RYERSON
 Founder and president of the Canadian Red Cross Society. He lost one son and another was wounded in the great battle of Langemarck.

SPIRIT MESSAGES FROM WRECK VICTIM

Daughter of Famous Editor Perfectly Satisfied With the Genuineness of Communications She Receives

"If a man die, shall he live again?" It was the question of Job, old as human thought and hope, the biggest question in all human experience. It was asked of Estelle Wilson Stead, daughter of the famous English editor, William T. Stead, whose brilliant life went out when the Titanic sank. Stead, himself, had believed in a spirit world. This wholesome, fair-haired, fresh-faced girl gave a startling definite answer.

"Yes," she said, "I have proof of immortality. Thinkers admit that evidence of only one soul surviving bodily death will prove the case. And I have that evidence!

MISS ESTELLE STEAD

"My father sends me personal messages that are absolutely convincing. I have even seen him, in a form more ethereal and beautiful than his earthly body. And I have talked with him face to face!

"Three weeks after he passed over," she continued, "the first message came. I was resting in the twilight with my mind at ease. And suddenly I was conscious of father's voice.

"All that I told you is true," he said. "I have entered into the fuller life. We are what we will be. We have what we have faith in. And all things are possible."

"He left me with a sense of infinite comfort and trust. He came again often, and told me many things about his last hours and his present existence, some of which are hard to repeat.

"Father and I were always very close. The bond between our minds made telepathic communication between us common during his life. What is more natural than that his thought should reach me afterward?" "Now, consider these two facts: First, I never get such a message except when I am in sound health. Recently I was ill, as a result of overwork on my books. During that illness I got no messages. There is nothing morbid or pathological about my experiences.

"Second, the messages are their own proof. Father speaks of things that nobody knows except us two. You say that might possibly be self-suggestion—my subconscious mind at work—but the new facts that father adds to the old, things that I could not possibly have known until he told me, clinch the proof."

DEMOCRACY CAN FIGHT BEST, SAYS HALDANE

Germany Has Organization But Lacks Power Which People's Will Gives—Ideas the Great Need

Lord Haldane, the famous philosopher and former War Minister, offers some criticism of some writings by H. G. Wells on Democracy and War. He writes:

Mr. Wells' acute analysis lays bare several things that are beyond dispute. It is true that in conducting war, democracies have often labored under much disadvantage. But it is important to observe that this is not necessarily so. The confidence of France in her army leaders and the thoroughness with which the French nation has placed its resources at their disposal, seem to leave little to be desired. No doubt it is more difficult for a country of free citizens to organize itself than it is for an absolute Government to organize a population which claims no rights and is willing to obey. But the difficulty in the first case is, as the history of modern France shows, far from being insuperable. Given faith in itself and its cause, and also intelligence, a democratic nation will organize itself with a power which is unrivalled. For the highest level of national energy is attained where the people are penetrated with the enthusiasm and passion which direct responsibility brings into being.

If it possesses ideas and has great leaders to choose from, a democracy will not fail in organization. Organization even for war depends for excellence not on control from without or above, but on ideas and leadership. It was so in the greatest days of Rome. It has been so with France. Even in ideas and leadership a democracy can, as history has shown, be prepared to advance. The leadership and the ideas in it as in it as easily as in an absolute State. Mr. Wells seems to me to be right when he goes on to point to the organization which has developed in Germany as being due, not to the centring of government in the Emperor, but to the characteristics of the people, and to a form of State Socialism which these characteristics have made possible. I go further, for it seems to me that a democratic country like our own is at least quite equal of producing something which is based on individual responsibility and initiative, and can give us the element that is really valuable in the State Socialism of a country like Germany without its drawbacks.

Source of Organization
 A free people will do all that a people that is not free can if it possesses compelling ideas. For history shows that the compelling power of ideas over those who possess them is greater than any other compelling power. The possession of ideas is in a vigorous people, the real source of organization. It is so in the business of individuals, and it is so in the business of nations. Moreover, where ideas are lacking no change in the form of Government can make up for their absence. I have long thought and preached that the real problem in this country is the development of thought and ideas everywhere, even in our Cabinets. We are a very practical people in the sense that when an emergency comes we act with shrewdness and decision. But it is not our way to trouble ourselves about possible emergencies until they do come, and then we are, as a rule, unprepared to an extent that would be ruinous to any but people like the Anglo-Saxons, whose way it is to drive through at whatever cost and unnecessary loss. This war may in certain events help us to better habits. If so there will be some consolation for the frightful suffering which it is inflicting.

Where Germany Fails
 I believe that all the nations engaged have met with misfortune, due to lack of ideas. Germany suffered from the lack which is characteristic of oligarchies. She does not appear to have foreseen the magnitude or the risk to herself of the conflagration she was kindling. The outlook of her war party was too restricted to admit of complete grasp of the situation with which she was confronted when she provoked a conflict with half the world. The mind of her people was too little disciplined by the sense of personal responsibility for affairs to enable it to control that party. In this country we were defective in a different way. Germany had ideas imposed on her, ideas which were too narrow and which were ethically defective. But they were ideas, and her people have been receptive to ideas.

Our own citizens have never been receptive in the same way, nor has it been their habit to call on their leaders to think strenuously for them. When the time comes to take stock, I think the wonder will be, not that we were so unprepared, but that we were as well prepared as we were. For the public did not insist that the unrest of Europe should be the foremost subject of political consideration, nor was it ready to devote the nation's energies to securing its future in peace any more than in war. The democracy of this country was suffering from an indisposition to reflect, and, in consequence, was not disposed to listen to the few who preached.

Czar's Palace a Hospital
 The winter palace of Emperor Nicholas at Petrograd has been converted into a hospital for the wounded, with 1,000 beds. The row of gorgeous state chambers facing the Neva River is being used for wards. Only the Emperor's personal quarters are undisturbed, being maintained for his accommodation when he is stopping temporarily in Petrograd. The beautiful Pompeian gardens are being utilized for baths.

Sad About This Late Hymn
 Few hymns were sung so frequently in Germany as Sir George Henschel's "Lord, Let us Conquer," until Dr. Leopold Schmidt put a damper on German enthusiasm for this war song by printing in The Berlin Tageblatt a translation of a letter written by Henschel to The London Times in which this eminent singer (and former conductor of the Boston Symphony Orchestra) lamented the fact that he happened to be born in barbarous Germany, being Polish by descent. He was so overwhelmed with indignation and honor at Germany's way of carrying on the war that he offered to serve in the English army, which, however, was out of the question, as he is 66 years of age.

Tailors to His Majesty—"The Man"

Designed, Cut and Made For You

YOUR new Suit ought to be Tailored-to-Order.--There's no getting around the fact that clothes designed, cut and made expressly for you will fit you in body and mind—as a man's clothes should fit him.

Men in all circumstances, of all tastes and ages, find in our TAILORED-TO-ORDER SUITS at $15 the long-sought-for relief from the "hit-or-miss" ready-mades and the "fancy price" tailors' products.

Take a few minutes to inspect our unprecedented display of all-wool fabrics—it will be time well spent.

Suit or Overcoat--to Order Only

$15
 English and Scotch Woolen Goods
NO MORE NO LESS

"Made-to-Measure"
Any Style and Fabric You Want

Getting What You Pay For---
 The money you spend for clothes is good money; you are right in expecting CERTAIN SATISFACTION in return for it. You'll want garments that are comfortable and well fitted. And—what is particularly important—you'll want CORRECT AND BECOMING STYLE.
 You will find all these features embodied in our garments—with the added attraction of ONE PRICE ONLY, $15, and no added charge for any "extras."
Y. J. G. G. G.
 ENGLISH & SCOTCH WOOLLEN CO. President

MAIL ORDERS Write for our generous assortment of samples with style book, measuring chart and tape. You take no chances as we guarantee satisfaction. Address 415 St. Catherine Street, East, Montreal.

"Mail to Men Tailoring Service" English & Scotch Woolen Co.
 515 No More No Less
 504 St. Catherine St. Montreal
 1835 St. Catherine St. Montreal
 415 St. Catherine St. Montreal
 MAIN STORE—261 ST. CATHERINE ST. WEST.

140 Wellington St., - Sherbrooke, Que.
TWELVE CANADIAN STORES

CANADA TO GIVE ALL

Laurier Advises Defence of British Freedom and Support of Government

Addressing a large recruiting meeting at Sherbrooke, Que., Sir Wilfrid Laurier said: "I affirm it with all my power, that it is the duty of Canada to give to Great Britain in this war all the assistance that is in the power of Canada. My confidence in the present Government at Ottawa does not ooze from the soles of my boots, but at the outbreak of the war I considered it my duty to support it in its war policy. I have supported it in that policy ever since and I will support it again. The reason is that this war is a contest between German institutions and British institutions. British institutions mean freedom. German institutions mean despotism. That is why we as Canadians have such a vital interest in this war."

Germany takes a census every five years; England, every ten years.

Created Honorary Colonel

MR. NOEL MARSHALL
 of Toronto, Chairman of the Executive of the Canadian Red Cross Society, who was made an honorary Colonel in recognition of his work on behalf of this organization.

Deaths Reported

MRS. R. HOOPER, SR., COMPTON.
 Compton, Oct. 1.—(Special)—The death occurred here yesterday morning of Mrs. Richard Hooper, Sr., "Sunnybrae Farm," at the age of 77 years.
 The deceased who had been a resident of Compton for many years, had been in failing health for over a year. The day preceding her death she was, however, feeling better than usual, and enjoyed her tea that evening. Early the next morning she was taken with hemorrhage and died suddenly.
 Her husband predeceased her several years ago. She is survived by 13 children.
 The funeral will be held from her late residence to St. James Church, on Sunday at 2.30 p.m.
Dartmoor Convict Prison was originally built to receive prisoners of war during Britain's struggles with Napoleon.

LETTERS FROM E. T. SOLDIERS WITH OVERSEAS CONTINGENT

ABLE BODIED ENGLISHMEN WHO DON'T ENLIST ARE DESPIS-ED.

Sayabec, Sept. 30.—(Special)—Below is copy of Opl. I. R. Johnson's second letter home. He commences where he ended his first letter, which was published in the Record a few weeks ago.

Dhgate Camp, August 1, 1915.—Dear Folks:—I will begin where I left off when we were on the boat. We slept on the boat overnight until the 29th until about 8 a.m. when we got off onto a small tug and landed on the dock, took a train and left right off for camp. The cars seemed so peculiar with their compartments. Each compartment has about seats for six people with one door on each side of car. They are all right as far as comfort is concerned but they have no conveniences whatever. The trains have very good speed. The English people gave us a royal welcome right through, you would have thought they had never seen Canadians before.

They gave us lunches at different places.

We had a fine trip right across England up through London and down to camp, as I have traced it out on the map. The country is done off beautifully with its small rolling hills and fields marked off with hedges. The houses are built so much different than ours and about all the same size. We arrived at Shorncliffe about 9.30 p.m. July 29. Had to march about three miles to our camp on a kind of a cliff overlooking the English channel. We were pretty tired when we got here and glad to get to sleep. I inquired around where the 26th was stationed but couldn't find out. I ran across Jack while I was coming back from a run down the beach. He had been looking for me. That was yesterday (Saturday). I went with him to Folkestone and had a few side dishes, also went to a very good play that was on. We spent all the evening looking around until 9 p.m. when we had to go back to camp. His camp is about 1 1/2 miles from ours. We can get together a lot I think.

Canada is the place for me any day and will be always. These are my first impressions of the Old Country having been here only three days. I've seen plenty of aeroplanes and dirigibles flying and coasting about here most all the time. To see the merchant and fishing vessels on the channel, you would never think there had ever been any submarine warfare on. You can see vessels all the time.

August 1, 10.30 a.m.—I'm on as Orderly Corporal of "C" Squadron this week, that means a good long rest this week. I have to see that all the men going sick get paraded to the doctor and pick out men to go on guard.

30 a.m. August 4, 1915—I will add a little more to this letter once in a while until Friday, when I will mail it to catch the English mail which leaves Tuesdays and Fridays. There hasn't anything unusual happened since Sunday. We had a swimming

GIRLS! GIRLS! TRY IT! STOP DANDRUFF AND BEAUTIFY YOUR HAIR

HAIR STOPS FALLING OUT AND GETS THICK, WAVY, STRONG AND BEAUTIFUL.

Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a "Danderine" hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dirt, dust and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

Besides beautifying the hair at once, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

But what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you are for pretty, soft hair and lots of it, surely get a 25-cent bottle of "Danderine" from any drugist or toilet counter, and just try it.

NOTICE

All persons having claims against the estate of the late Leon Belanger are requested to file the same at once with the undersigned at his office, 95 Wellington St.

J. S. TETREAU, Notary.

Great Dispersion Sale

OF PUREBRED ST. LAMBERT JERSEY CATTLE.

W. A. Reburn & Coy's.

entire herd, consisting of 30 Cows in milk, some newly calved; 20 choice two-year-old and yearling Heifers, 11 extra choice Heifer Calves, 2 year-old Bulls, 4 yearling Bulls and 5 Bull Calves. All pure St. Lambert and St. Lambert Golden Fox strains.

Sale to take place on their farm, 2 1/2 miles north of Massawippi, on Government road.

Thursday, Oct. 14th, 9 a.m.

All stock 2 years old and over registered in the American Jersey Cattle Club, New York. Young stock can be registered in the above register or the Canadian Jersey Register at the option of purchaser.

TERMS—$25 and under, cash; over $25, nine months approved joint notes, interest at 6 p.c.

Catalogues ready for mailing about October 1st.

E. HOWE, Hatley, Auctioneer.

ATHLETES AT THE FRONT

Imposing Array of Steel Muscled Youth Anxious to Come to Grips With the Huns

Canada's athletes, both amateur and professional, responded in great numbers to the call for service at the front. It was to be expected that the athletes would not be behind in taking the risks of war, but as many of them may not return and many more will win fame for their daring and endurance, it is well to run over the list of prominent ones, although the list to be complete would be much longer.

Several of the best known have fallen. Stanley Mansfield, the Montreal A.A.'s quarter-miler, was killed in action. He was the first of this prominent club to fall, although many of his clubmates are at the front.

"Nick" Carter, one of the most famous and popular lacrosse players of recent years died of meningitis at Salisbury without having a chance to try his great "boring-in" tactics on the Germans.

But there are dozens whose activities are not yet ended. Among the lacrosse stars there are Pringle of the old Capitals, Merton and Collins of the Tecumsehs, John D. Marsh of Winnipeg represents the Marathons.

"Sport" Merton, once a student and lawyer, has been seen in action all over eastern Canada and made trips to the coast after the elusive Minto Cup with the Tecumsehs. He went with the engineers of the first contingent and was soon made a corporal. Jimmy Collins was just striking his stride as a lacrosse player when he passed up his salary and started to draw his $1.10 per day in the artillery of the second contingent. Bobby Pringle captained the Capitals of Ottawa when they won the Minto Cup in 1907 and toured England. He later starred with Con Jones' Vancouverians on the defence.

Geoffrey Taylor used to stroke the Argonaut eight at Henley and played flying wing for University of Toronto before he went to Oxford. He got to France with his Toronto chums, who included many of the Argonauts. If the Prussian Guard has any huskier men than "Jeff" they should be in training to beat Jess Willard.

Charley Gage of Hamilton is a member of the second contingent. Charley played rugby in fast company for seven years and has been heavyweight champion of Canada. He is in the artillery along with many other college athletes of lesser fame. Two famous veterans of the gridiron, Jack Williams and Eddie Phillips, are among the Ottawa sportsmen now on active service.

Just how the athletes are making good in the new game is shown by the experience of "Buster" Reid, who played nearly every position with St. Catharines' McGill team at rugby. He joined the infantry of the second contingent as a private and in two months passed through five stages until he became full lieutenant. Another from old McGill is Eric Billington, the wonderful kicker.

The absence of these and other stars is going to play some queer freaks with athletics in the colleges and all over the country for years. It is doubtful if Canadian yachting and rowing clubs will be able to compete to any extent with the Americans. Even such sports as curling and bowling, usually relegated to the older men, have been hit. A Fort William curler, W. J. Hueston, has been killed in action. Four members of Toronto University Junior champion hockey team have enlisted. Jack Telt, the star of Canada's international relay team has donned new colors. Bobby Kerr, the former Olympic sprinter offered himself for service. McGill has lost her football captain, George Laing, and Toronto's new leader, Laddie Cassels. Mac Murray, the new captain of the Canadian rugby champions, the Argonauts, is also in the army along with several of his stars.

The cost of German military administration is said to amount to $15,000,000 per day.

playing lacrosse. I will not cane today, he would generally inform the class concerning some offending student. I might give him more than he deserves. I do not wish to punish anybody in anger. That sort of thing tended to impress the class as well as the individual delinquent, and was salutary. Sometimes Sam Hughes' temper would get the better of him. One day a boy was caught sticking a pin playfully into the back of the boy who sat in front of him. Now the joker's father had been a drawing-master in the schools, and probably he thought he ought to be allowed latitude. When he saw the cane produced from the desk he made a bolt from the room and into the school yard, with Sam after him. The boy was a school sprinter, but the lacrosse expert was in better training, and the pair—Sam in the rear—went up and down that yard fully a dozen times. Eventually the pupil was lugged, breathless, into the classroom, and after the teacher had exhibited to the grinning class a certain pin of his own that he had been using on the culprit, out in the yard, the latter was induced to stand up and take his medicine. The class saw the point of the joke. That and many such incidents, too, were salutary. No matter who the lad was, if he deserved a "licking" he had to take it.

MAJOR-GENERAL HUGHES

Some Interesting Reminiscences of a Man Much in the Public Eye—Insisted Upon Discipline

"His brother, Mr. J. L. Hughes, has let the public enjoy an autobiography," said a well known trust company manager, "but some reminiscences from Major-General Sam Hughes himself would make good reading, too. He was one of the best teachers Jarvis Street Collegiate, Toronto, ever had, and before he exchanged the classroom for the War Department, at Lindsay, in 1885, 50 per cent. of the men of my own age in similar positions in Toronto passed through his hands. Sam Hughes was undoubtedly a great disciplinarian."

"I often wonder what kind of predictions he used to make to himself about his different pupils, as he sat at his desk, eyeing them over at their lessons, his stern jaws usually going. Sam had a curious habit of nibbling a bit of blackboard chalk in the school-room. The good, old-fashioned custom of caning had not gone out then, and we boys certainly dreaded one from the muscular Sam, whose good right arm was always in shape from

Recognized in all professions and walks of life, as the leading coffee in the best grocery stores of Canada.

In 1/2, 1 and 2 pound cans.
Whole—ground—pulverized—also Fine Ground for Percolators.

CHASE & SANBORN, MONTREAL.

GENERAL SAM HUGHES AS A SCHOOLMASTER

Some Interesting Reminiscences of a Man Much in the Public Eye—Insisted Upon Discipline

"His brother, Mr. J. L. Hughes, has let the public enjoy an autobiography," said a well known trust company manager, "but some reminiscences from Major-General Sam Hughes himself would make good reading, too. He was one of the best teachers Jarvis Street Collegiate, Toronto, ever had, and before he exchanged the classroom for the War Department, at Lindsay, in 1885, 50 per cent. of the men of my own age in similar positions in Toronto passed through his hands. Sam Hughes was undoubtedly a great disciplinarian."

"I often wonder what kind of predictions he used to make to himself about his different pupils, as he sat at his desk, eyeing them over at their lessons, his stern jaws usually going. Sam had a curious habit of nibbling a bit of blackboard chalk in the school-room. The good, old-fashioned custom of caning had not gone out then, and we boys certainly dreaded one from the muscular Sam, whose good right arm was always in shape from

MAJOR-GENERAL HUGHES

The count returned to Louth at the end of the week, satisfied in the prompt and useful accomplishment he had performed for his fatherland. He found that the Nationalists said they were ready; the Ulster Provisional Government had been in session and a plan of campaign was prepared. Von Breimen's calculations were set at naught; Ireland in the muffled of her own problem with the shrouds of patriots on the soil of Belgium, was a united county. Soldiers were cheered on the streets of Dublin where but a few days before they would have been murdered. On August 4 Britain decided to protect Belgium. From the shock of realizing how false his report to Berlin had proved he suffered a complete relapse; four eminent physicians from Dublin spent a week in the house with him, and he finally recovered sufficiently to disappear from his Irish home. So far as is known he has not returned to Germany, and it is likely that the British Government knows of his whereabouts.

Rubber to Protect Ships
The loss of ships by German torpedoes draws attention once again to the possibility of rubber as a sheathing or lining for the hulls of ships to avert or minimize a catastrophe. A good deal of research is understood to have taken place more or less on these lines, and the granting of patents for apparently hopeful devices has been mentioned from time to time. Experiments have shown conclusively that rubber is almost invulnerable to explosive attacks, and the application of the principle to shipping does not seem to present insurmountable difficulties.

KAISER'S SPY BEGAN WAR

Startling Revelations of German Baron's Journeys During July 1914, Between Louth and Berlin.

According to remarkable occurrences revealed in an article by J.H.C.G. in Beck's Weekly Montreal, it was Ireland that started the war. In the heart of the City of Dublin, the article commences, on the banks of the River Liffey, are chalked on the pavements three rough crosses. One is on the porch of an office building, one is on the curb that faces it, and the other is on a street corner ten paces away. Under each cross are the letters R.I.P. These chalked reproductions of the emblem of Christianity mark the spot where the European war began. Foremost among the combination of events which brought about the greatest debacle of organized slaughter that the world has ever known was the killing of three civilians and the wounding of some fifty others on these cross marked spots in the capital city of Ireland. The deaths were the first of a civil war and reported as such to Berlin, and Berlin acted on the report. It was brought by Count von Breimen, a resident of the County Louth.

Civil War Certain

Up to the end of July, 1914, and for some time previous, the great problem in the British Empire was the Irish Home Rule question. The Unionists were prepared to fight to a finish. On Sunday, July 26, 1914, Fate raised the curtain with the encounter between Nationalist volunteers and the populace on one side and the Irish Constabulary and the Scottish Borderers on the other over the landing at Howth of arms for the Home Rule forces.

Germany watched the Irish situation, just as she watched the trouble in India, the French army scandals, the unpreparedness of Russia. Seeds of dissension were sown in South Africa. Now all these conditions were, according to the German point of view, working towards the dismemberment of the British Empire.

How Noble Spy Worked

When the Irish trouble first became serious there came to County Louth a German nobleman, Count von Breimen. He purchased a large estate. There was good shooting, a good pack of hounds in the country, and the count obtained good horses. He found it necessary to keep in touch with the Berlin court. Visits to the German capital were made every few weeks, while the count's mail often included foreign letters. All this, however, was only natural. The county accepted him.

On June 28 the Archduke of Austria was assassinated. This could be used as an official excuse for the launching of the blow at France, and later England could be accounted for. The incident outlined above were to prevent England entering the war or so to cripple her that she could only make a weak fight. Serbia apologized for the Sarajevo murder and accepted Austria's demands almost in toto.

On July 26 the Irish Civil War was begun. The news reached Count von Breimen; on Monday morning passengers on the Kingston mail boat had a German nobleman among them. He reached Berlin on Tuesday, July 28. His report was that the Irish Civil War of 1914 had commenced. No person who knew the Irish situation would have contradicted him. He told his government that nothing could stop the Civil War. Austria declared war on Serbia on that same 28th of July.

Misread the Irish

The count returned to Louth at the end of the week, satisfied in the prompt and useful accomplishment he had performed for his fatherland. He found that the Nationalists said they were ready; the Ulster Provisional Government had been in session and a plan of campaign was prepared. Von Breimen's calculations were set at naught; Ireland in the muffled of her own problem with the shrouds of patriots on the soil of Belgium, was a united county. Soldiers were cheered on the streets of Dublin where but a few days before they would have been murdered. On August 4 Britain decided to protect Belgium. From the shock of realizing how false his report to Berlin had proved he suffered a complete relapse; four eminent physicians from Dublin spent a week in the house with him, and he finally recovered sufficiently to disappear from his Irish home. So far as is known he has not returned to Germany, and it is likely that the British Government knows of his whereabouts.

Birds and Bullets Sang

But nature takes up a less terrifying role in the European war. "Isn't it marvellous how nature goes on in the ordinary way!" writes Trooper J. C. Cox, in a letter home to his parents. He is describing how one night they tried to carry up wire to put in front of a newly-dug trench. "They" (the Germans) began to proceed, "heard us, or saw us, before we could do a stroke of work. They opened fire, and we lay flat down while the bullets whizzed over our backs—simply a stream of lead from their Maxim guns. While I was lying flat on the ground, I saw a cat catch and kill a mouse. While the shells were crashing over us a wood pigeon cooed in the branches of a tree above us, while just behind, in a dug-out, was a nest with four young birds. A few yards behind that pigeon one of our dear boys was killed and buried."

Italy's national emblem is the lily.

Three million square miles have been added to the British Empire since the war started.

One ship in the British fleet in the North Sea is required to be always in touch with the Admiralty.

Eastern Townships Boys at the Front

The Record desires to obtain a complete list of Eastern Townships men who have volunteered for overseas service. Appeal is, therefore made to relatives and friends to fill in the form below and return it to the Record. The list is desired for publication in an "Honor List" to be included in the book, "Men of Today in the Eastern Townships," which the Record is compiling. Friends please do not delay. If any member of your family has volunteered for overseas service please fill in and forward this form.

Name.....Rank.....
E. T. Address.....
Next of kin.....Address.....
Battalion or Regiment.....
Date of Enlistment.....
Add on separate sheet particulars as far as known of services up to date, battles engaged in, etc.

TOMMY IS AT HOME IN WAR EVERYWHERE

Jungles and Barbed Wire Cannot Daunt—Narratives of Strange Fighting—When Rhinos Charge

With all eyes fixed on the main campaign against the Germans in western Europe it is hard for Britishesto remember that many minor campaigns of extraordinary difficulty are being fought in many parts of the world. Besides facing machine guns, poison shells and liquid fire British pluck is constantly finding new strange foes, dangers and difficulties to overcome, as many letters show more clearly than official despatches concerning out-of-the-way exploits.

In the dense tropical jungles of western Africa fighting between German and British with blacks enlisted on both sides goes on night and day. Little is heard of it because of the greater campaigns on the continent. Lieutenant E. R. Jerrin, of the Third Nigeria Regiment, on active service in the German Cameroons, describes his experience thus in a letter home: "I was in Lagos when a corps of white volunteers were being formed. I joined and is due course began to impart instruction in machine gunnery to a dense, yet interested section of Hausas. My old volunteer training and a knowledge of the Hausa language made me a Lieutenant of the West African Frontier Force. We are getting quite accustomed to this ghostly bush fighting, popping off at one another at about thirty yards' range, and only occasionally seeing one another. Every four days each of us takes thirty men out on patrol, and so far I have had better luck than anyone in finding supplies of Germans and smiting them mildly. There is no sport like patrolling here, where you never know whether you are hunter or hunted until the show opens."

No Guerrilla Work Here

Contrast this with the experience of a Londoner writing home from Flanders: "The 23rd London Regiment, after faithfully and steadily doing trench duty for about two months, were ordered to charge. They did so coolly and effectively. They succeeded in taking three lines of trenches by brilliant dash, but they were shelled out of two lines by terrible enfilade shelling, which caused more casualties than the charge, many men being blown to pieces. They hung on till they were relieved under terrible machine gun and artillery fire; in one instance forty-seven men held a trench against overwhelming odds; the Germans threw petrol bombs, and some were blinded and roamed about without sight between the lines. The whole was a terrible and unvarying sight to civilian soldiers, but the boys did fine."

The British troops in East Africa have to fight other enemies besides Germans. Private E. H. Burt writes home a description of a charge by rhinoceroses in bush so thick that the men could only advance single file and thought it remarkable good going to average a mile an hour. He says: "We had just crossed a dry river and were toiling up the banks of the slope, all more asleep than awake, when we heard a terrible noise and stamping coming from our right rear. In turning about I was just able to see a rhino rush past the man. It was pitch dark and it was as much as one could do to see the second man ahead. He sent the gun carriers flying, the gun in one direction and tripped in another. All the rest of the carriers dropped their loads. It was a nice mix-up; ammunition boxes were lying everywhere. We were just gathering ourselves and belongings together when we heard a terrible snort and a crashing of hoofs. Everyone stopped and sprang to cover, which of course, was of no use at all. This time Mr. Rhino passed in front of two or three men ahead of me, and going in the same direction as the previous one. This charge meant another mix-up of gear. Again he charged and chaos reigned supreme. It was laughable, but it took twenty minutes for us to get ready to go fearfully on our route."

Began With Press Gang

Recruiting was done in an astonishing manner in those days. Men were needed and nobody troubled as to the methods by which they were obtained. Within a year he raised a body of men which, from doubtful beginnings, became one of the crack regiments of the British army. In a few months he mustered on the North Inch of Perth fifteen hundred men—broken-down lawyers, preachers, play-actors, while Graham was the fairest ornament of all the Perthshire assemblies. But wealth, medical skill, the love and devotion of husband and friends availed not. The grief of Thomas Graham was no ordinary grief; he was broken-hearted and inconsolable. He was in his forty-second year when his wife died. He resolved to seek relief in the excitement of danger. An expedition was fitted out for the relief of Toulon, and Graham was permitted to go as a volunteer.

It was at Toulon that three men who were destined to lead armies received their "baptism of fire." One of these was Napoleon, who was colonel of artillery; Rowland Hill, then a subaltern and who twenty-two years later measured his strength with Napoleon; while Graham was the fairest ornament of all the Perthshire assemblies. But wealth, medical skill, the love and devotion of husband and friends availed not. The grief of Thomas Graham was no ordinary grief; he was broken-hearted and inconsolable. He was in his forty-second year when his wife died. He resolved to seek relief in the excitement of danger. An expedition was fitted out for the relief of Toulon, and Graham was permitted to go as a volunteer.

It was at Toulon that three men who were destined to lead armies received their "baptism of fire." One of these was Napoleon, who was colonel of artillery; Rowland Hill, then a subaltern and who twenty-two years later measured his strength with Napoleon; while Graham was the fairest ornament of all the Perthshire assemblies. But wealth, medical skill, the love and devotion of husband and friends availed not. The grief of Thomas Graham was no ordinary grief; he was broken-hearted and inconsolable. He was in his forty-second year when his wife died. He resolved to seek relief in the excitement of danger. An expedition was fitted out for the relief of Toulon, and Graham was permitted to go as a volunteer.

It was at Toulon that three men who were destined to lead armies received their "baptism of fire." One of these was Napoleon, who was colonel of artillery; Rowland Hill, then a subaltern and who twenty-two years later measured his strength with Napoleon; while Graham was the fairest ornament of all the Perthshire assemblies. But wealth, medical skill, the love and devotion of husband and friends availed not. The grief of Thomas Graham was no ordinary grief; he was broken-hearted and inconsolable. He was in his forty-second year when his wife died. He resolved to seek relief in the excitement of danger. An expedition was fitted out for the relief of Toulon, and Graham was permitted to go as a volunteer.

It was at Toulon that three men who were destined to lead armies received their "baptism of fire." One of these was Napoleon, who was colonel of artillery; Rowland Hill, then a subaltern and who twenty-two years later measured his strength with Napoleon; while Graham was the fairest ornament of all the Perthshire assemblies. But wealth, medical skill, the love and devotion of husband and friends availed not. The grief of Thomas Graham was no ordinary grief; he was broken-hearted and inconsolable. He was in his forty-second year when his wife died. He resolved to seek relief in the excitement of danger. An expedition was fitted out for the relief of Toulon, and Graham was permitted to go as a volunteer.

It was at Toulon that three men who were destined to lead armies received their "baptism of fire." One of these was Napoleon, who was colonel of artillery; Rowland Hill, then a subaltern and who twenty-two years later measured his strength with Napoleon; while Graham was the fairest ornament of all the Perthshire assemblies. But wealth, medical skill, the love and devotion of husband and friends availed not. The grief of Thomas Graham was no ordinary grief; he was broken-hearted and inconsolable. He was in his forty-second year when his wife died. He resolved to seek relief in the excitement of danger. An expedition was fitted out for the relief of Toulon, and Graham was permitted to go as a volunteer.

It was at Toulon that three men who were destined to lead armies received their "baptism of fire." One of these was Napoleon, who was colonel of artillery; Rowland Hill, then a subaltern and who twenty-two years later measured his strength with Napoleon; while Graham was the fairest ornament of all the Perthshire assemblies. But wealth, medical skill, the love and devotion of husband and friends availed not. The grief of Thomas Graham was no ordinary grief; he was broken-hearted and inconsolable. He was in his forty-second year when his wife died. He resolved to seek relief in the excitement of danger. An expedition was fitted out for the relief of Toulon, and Graham was permitted to go as a volunteer.

It was at Toulon that three men who were destined to lead armies received their "baptism of fire." One of these was Napoleon, who was colonel of artillery; Rowland Hill, then a subaltern and who twenty-two years later measured his strength with Napoleon; while Graham was the fairest ornament of all the Perthshire assemblies. But wealth, medical skill, the love and devotion of husband and friends availed not. The grief of Thomas Graham was no ordinary grief; he was broken-hearted and inconsolable. He was in his forty-second year when his wife died. He resolved to seek relief in the excitement of danger. An expedition was fitted out for the relief of Toulon, and Graham was permitted to go as a volunteer.

It was at Toulon that three men who were destined to lead armies received their "baptism of fire." One of these was Napoleon, who was colonel of artillery; Rowland Hill, then a subaltern and who twenty-two years later measured his strength with Napoleon; while Graham was the fairest ornament of all the Perthshire assemblies. But wealth, medical skill, the love and devotion of husband and friends availed not. The grief of Thomas Graham was no ordinary grief; he was broken-hearted and inconsolable. He was in his forty-second year when his wife died. He resolved to seek relief in the excitement of danger. An expedition was fitted out for the relief of Toulon, and Graham was permitted to go as a volunteer.

It was at Toulon that three men who were destined to lead armies received their "baptism of fire." One of these was Napoleon, who was colonel of artillery; Rowland Hill, then a subaltern and who twenty-two years later measured his strength with Napoleon; while Graham was the fairest ornament of all the Perthshire assemblies. But wealth, medical skill, the love and devotion of husband and friends availed not. The grief of Thomas Graham was no ordinary grief; he was broken-hearted and inconsolable. He was in his forty-second year when his wife died. He resolved to seek relief in the excitement of danger. An expedition was fitted out for the relief of Toulon, and Graham was permitted to go as a volunteer.

It was at Toulon that three men who were destined to lead armies received their "baptism of fire." One of these was Napoleon, who was colonel of artillery; Rowland Hill, then a subaltern and who twenty-two years later measured his strength with Napoleon; while Graham was the fairest ornament of all the Perthshire assemblies. But wealth, medical skill, the love and devotion of husband and friends availed not. The grief of Thomas Graham was no ordinary grief; he was broken-hearted and inconsolable. He was in his forty-second year when his wife died. He resolved to seek relief in the excitement of danger. An expedition was fitted out for the relief of Toulon, and Graham was permitted to go as a volunteer.

It was at Toulon that three men who were destined to lead armies received their "baptism of fire." One of these was Napoleon, who was colonel of artillery; Rowland Hill, then a subaltern and who twenty-two years later measured his strength with Napoleon; while Graham was the fairest ornament of all the Perthshire assemblies. But wealth, medical skill, the love and devotion of husband and friends availed not. The grief of Thomas Graham was no ordinary grief; he was broken-hearted and inconsolable. He was in his forty-second year when his wife died. He resolved to seek relief in the excitement of danger. An expedition was fitted out for the relief of Toulon, and Graham was permitted to go as a volunteer.

It was at Toulon that three men who were destined to lead armies received their "baptism of fire." One of these was Napoleon, who was colonel of artillery; Rowland Hill, then a subaltern and who twenty-two years later measured his strength with Napoleon; while Graham was the fairest ornament of all the Perthshire assemblies. But wealth, medical skill, the love and devotion of husband and friends availed not. The grief of Thomas Graham was no ordinary grief; he was broken-hearted and inconsolable. He was in his forty-second year when his wife died. He resolved to seek relief in the excitement of danger. An expedition was fitted out for the relief of Toulon, and Graham was permitted to go as a volunteer.

It was at Toulon that three men who were destined to lead armies received their "baptism of fire." One of these was Napoleon, who was colonel of artillery; Rowland Hill, then a subaltern and who twenty-two years later measured his strength with Napoleon; while Graham was the fairest ornament of all the Perthshire assemblies. But wealth, medical skill, the love and devotion of husband and friends availed not. The grief of Thomas Graham was no ordinary grief; he was broken-hearted and inconsolable. He was in his forty-second year when his wife died. He resolved to seek relief in the excitement of danger. An expedition was fitted out for the relief of Toulon, and Graham was permitted to go as a volunteer.

It was at Toulon that three men who were destined to lead armies received their "baptism of fire." One of these was Napoleon, who was colonel of artillery; Rowland Hill, then a subaltern and who twenty-two years later measured his strength with Napoleon; while Graham was the fairest ornament of all the Perthshire assemblies. But wealth, medical skill, the love and devotion of husband and friends availed not. The grief of Thomas Graham was no ordinary grief; he was broken-hearted and inconsolable. He was in his forty-second year when his wife died. He resolved to seek relief in the excitement of danger. An expedition was fitted out for the relief of Toulon, and Graham was permitted to go as a volunteer.

It was at Toulon that three men who were destined to lead armies received their "baptism of fire." One of these was Napoleon, who was colonel of artillery; Rowland Hill, then a subaltern and who twenty-two years later measured his strength with Napoleon; while Graham was the fairest ornament of all the Perthshire assemblies. But wealth, medical skill, the love and devotion of husband and friends availed not. The grief of Thomas Graham was no ordinary grief; he was broken-hearted and inconsolable. He was in his forty-second year when his wife died. He resolved to seek relief in the excitement of danger. An expedition was fitted out for the relief of Toulon, and Graham was permitted to go as a volunteer.

It was at Toulon that three men who were destined to lead armies received their "baptism of fire." One of these was Napoleon, who was colonel of artillery; Rowland Hill, then a subaltern and who twenty-two years later measured his strength with Napoleon; while Graham was the fairest ornament of all the Perthshire assemblies. But wealth, medical skill, the love and devotion of husband and friends availed not. The grief of Thomas Graham was no ordinary grief; he was broken-hearted and inconsolable. He was in his forty-second year when his wife died. He resolved to seek relief in the excitement of danger. An expedition was fitted out for the relief of Toulon, and Graham was permitted to go as a volunteer.

It was at Toulon that three men who were destined to lead armies received their "baptism of fire." One of these was Napoleon, who was colonel of artillery; Rowland Hill, then a subaltern and who twenty-two years later measured his strength with Napoleon; while Graham was the fairest ornament of all the Perthshire assemblies. But wealth, medical skill, the love and devotion of husband and friends availed not. The grief of Thomas Graham was no ordinary grief; he was broken-hearted and inconsolable. He was in his forty-second year when his wife died. He resolved to seek relief in the excitement of danger. An expedition was fitted out for the relief of Toulon, and Graham was permitted to go as a volunteer.

It was at Toulon that three men who were destined to lead armies received their "baptism of fire." One of these was Napoleon, who was colonel of artillery; Rowland Hill, then a subaltern and who twenty-two years later measured his strength with Napoleon; while Graham was the fairest ornament of all the Perthshire assemblies. But wealth, medical skill, the love and devotion of husband and friends availed not. The grief of Thomas Graham was no ordinary grief; he was broken-hearted and inconsolable. He was in his forty-second year when his wife died. He resolved to seek relief in the excitement of danger. An expedition was fitted out for the relief of Toulon, and Graham was permitted to go as a volunteer.

It was at Toulon that three men who were destined to lead armies received their "baptism of fire." One of these was Napoleon, who was colonel of artillery; Rowland Hill, then a subaltern and who twenty-two years later measured his strength with Napoleon; while Graham was the fairest ornament of all the Perthshire assemblies. But wealth, medical skill, the love and devotion of husband and friends availed not. The grief of Thomas Graham was no ordinary grief; he was broken-hearted and inconsolable. He was in his forty-second year when his wife died. He resolved to seek relief in the excitement of danger. An expedition was fitted out for the relief of Toulon, and Graham was permitted to go as a volunteer.

"Daily Record" Want Advertisements

BIG RESULTS FOR LITTLE MONEY

RATES: 15 words or less, 15c. each insertion; one cent for each additional word. Six insertions for the price of five. If charged weekly rate does not apply. 10c. added if accounts have to be sent more than once.

HELP WANTED—FEMALE

GENERAL SERVANT WANTED—References required. Apply 5 Queen St.

EXPERIENCED TABLE GIRL WANTED. Apply at once, New Sherbrooke House.

TABLE GIRL, ALSO MEAT AND pastry cook, wanted. Apply Battles House, Major.

AN EXPERIENCED TABLE GIRL wanted. Apply at once to Box 86, Record.

WOMAN WANTED TO SEW BY the day; one experienced in tailoring. Apply to 58 Quebec St., city.

A STENOGRAPHER WANTED FOR lumber office. Must have some knowledge of bookkeeping. Apply to 24 A. Oughtred, Suite 11 and 12 Premier Bldg., Sherbrooke.

HELP WANTED—MALE

RELIABLE MEN WANTED NOW TO sell Peckham's perfect fruit trees, flowering shrubs, berry bushes, etc. Our agencies are valuable and terms generous. Write Peckham Nursery Company, Toronto, Ontario.

SALESMEN—EXCLUSIVE LINE FOR city, town or country. Big earnings guaranteed; permanent all-year job; no experience necessary. Write Luke Brothers, Limited, Montreal.

MAN CAPABLE OF DOING ALL kinds of farm work and capable of driving team and feeding cattle wanted. Apply, stating experience and wages expected, to A. C. Webb, Asbestos, Que.

MARRIED MAN WANTED TO WORK on farm. Must be good with horses. Apply W. S. Armitage, Mountain View Dairy, Sherbrooke.

A YOUNG MAN TO ACT AS STENO-grapher wanted for the manager's office of this company. Must be experienced; state age and salary expected. Patton Manufacturing Company, Sherbrooke, Que.

EXPERIENCED SALESMAN WANTED as general agent. Apply at once, J. O. Darche, 87 King St.

EXPERIENCED WEAVERS ON fancy woollens and worsteds wanted for our woollen mill. Patton Manufacturing Company, Sherbrooke.

FOR SALE

REGISTERED LEICESTER YEAR-ling ram, 2 two-year-old ewes, 1 lamb. Willie Cousins, Knowlton, Que.

ONE No. 6-1-3 "DAISY" HOT WATER boiler, in first-class condition, for sale. Capacity, 1200 square feet radiation; suitable for large residence or business block. Apply H. G. James, Room 7, Whiting Block, city.

PAIR OF YOUNG HORSES, ALSO shoats, for sale. Apply Henry Vellieux.

TWO HORSE DOUBLE WAGON, horse cart and cart harness, gentleman's saddle for sale. Bargains. J. A. Farwell, Lennoxville.

PUREBRED REGISTERED Ayr-shire cattle for sale. Both sexes, all ages, from herd of heavy producers, headed by the grand bull "Auchenbrae Pride" (Imp) 33208, Vaudreuil Dairy & Stock Farm, Limited, Vaudreuil Station, Que.

FEW CHOICE MILCH COWS—REG-istered Holsteins from the prize-winning herd of J. L. Riches, Sherbrooke, Que.

150 H.P. BOILER AND ENGINE for sale. Apply L. H. Martin, Bury.

DRY 16-INCH BLOCKWOOD DE-livered in Lennoxville or Sherbrooke. E. T. Brick & Mfg. Co.

LOST AND FOUND

A BAY MARE NINE YEARS OLD lost from the Morris pasture, Lennoxville road. Weight 950 lbs., white streak down front of left hip. Finder return to G. H. Wilder, Montreal House stables, and receive reward.

COLD WATCH FOUND—OWNER CAN have same by proving property. Geo. D. Mackinnon.

AGENTS WANTED.

AGENTS WANTED TO SELL FOR the old reliable Fonthill Nurseries. We teach our men to sell; experience unnecessary; highest commissions paid; handsome free equipment. Stone & Wellington, Toronto, Ont.

AGENTS WANTED TO SELL FOR "the old reliable Fonthill Nurseries." We teach our men to sell; experience unnecessary; highest commissions paid; handsome free equipment. Stone & Wellington, Toronto, Ont.

EGGS AND POULTRY FOR SALE.

S. C. BROWN AND WHITE LEG-horn cockers and pullets, also two barred Rock cockers; fine stock; reasonable. I won thirteen prizes on four-year entries at the Richmond show. C. L. Matthews, Richmond, Que.

TO LET

FURNISHED ROOM TO LET—38 Court St.

THREE UP-TO-DATE TENEMENTS to let on 1st Ave. Apply E. Bradley, Sherbrooke.

FARM TO LET—300 ACRES, NEAR Stanstead, possession 1st November. Must be capable farmer with best of references. Apply Box 71, Record.

SELF-CONTAINED NINE-ROOMED house, with bath, etc., to let; north ward. Write Box 76, Record.

FRONT ROOM TO LET—NEWLY furnished, very comfortable. Apply 50 Frontenac St.

No. 110 WOODLAND TERRACE, Belvidere St., to let. Apply R. Pearson, Lennoxville. Phone 4302.

SEVEN-ROOM TENEMENT TO LET on College St., Lennoxville. Apply R. W. Reid.

SITUATIONS WANTED

EXPERIENCED STENOGRAPHER and bookkeeper desires position in or near Sherbrooke. Box 88, Record.

Cookbook House—Popular Home for Travellers—Eug. Bouchard, Prop.

Diamond Rings,

ETC.

Our Diamond Rings are all first quality and we can show you all sizes and patterns at all prices. We buy the stones loose and mount them ourselves in either platinum or gold-tipped settings.

If you have any idea of purchasing anything in this line call in and let us show you the articles and quote prices.

R. J. Spearing

Goldsmith, Diamond Merchant,
83 Stratheona Square,
Bury Phone 418.

CONSCRIPTION IS DOOMED

British Labour Leaders Decide to Start a Strenuous Recruiting Campaign in Country

THIS RESULT WAS BROUGHT ABOUT AFTER CONFERENCE WITH UNION MEN AND LORD KITCHENER.

London, Oct. 1.—As a result of the conference that have been held this week between Premier Asquith and War Secretary Kitchener, representing the Government, and the most important labor leaders of the country, the latter have pledged themselves to do everything in their power to encourage recruiting. They are still of the opinion that enough men for the army, navy and ammunition works can be obtained by the voluntary system, despite Lord Kitchener's statement that men are not coming forward in sufficient numbers.

The conference with Mr. Asquith and Lord Kitchener were followed by a meeting at the Board of Education offices yesterday of the Joint Labor Board representing the parliamentary committee of the Trade Union Congress, the management committee of the General Federation of Trade Unions, and the leaders of the Labor Party in Parliament, to consider proposals for stimulating recruiting and increasing the resources for the munitions output.

Arthur Henderson, president of the Board of Education, in an official statement regarding the meeting at the Board of Education, says the conference "declared its belief that the number of men required for the navy, army and munition works in order to carry out the war successfully can be obtained by voluntary means, pledged itself to assist the Government in every possible way to secure men for service in the navy and army and in munition work; and, for this purpose, while still co-operating with existing committees, decided to organize a special labor recruiting campaign throughout the country.

"The conference suggested that voluntary recruiting would be more successful if the Government would (a) state frankly, as far as compatible with the public interests, what had already been done by voluntary means for the prosecution of the war, and what are the present and future needs in men for the navy, army and munition works; (b) insist that employers shall no longer prevent their men from enlisting."

ALLIES MASTERS IN THE WEST

Each New Stroke Will Bring the Inevitable End Nearer, Says Correspondent

A VITAL SPOT MAY BE TOUCHED ANY DAY, WHEN GERMAN LINE WOULD SUDDENLY SHRINK

London, October 1.—The Daily Chronicle's military correspondent says: "The last five days have changed the whole aspect of the war—they have brought eventual victory within the region of absolute and calculable certainty. They have shown that the mastery in the west belongs definitely to the Allies in such a degree that whenever and whatever point the hammerstroke is now delivered it will go crashing through series lines of fortifications upon which the enemy has spent twelve months of anxious attention and scientific ingenuity and upon the security of which all his hope, not of victory but of an honorable peace, as he calls it, are entirely based.

"Each new stroke will bring the inevitable end nearer. After a time it will cease to be a matter of chipping deeply the surface. Suddenly a vital spot will be touched. This may happen any day and then will come the sudden shrinking of the German line and the abandonment of a large part perhaps all, of the occupied territory.

"Such a point, for example, is the railway junction near Grand Perre, north of Argonne, upon which the French are directing their efforts from Massiges. The moment that railway is reached the position of the Crown Prince in the Argonne woods becomes threatened and the long and

McKechnie's Week End Offerings

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 1st, 1915.

MILLINERY

We are ready for a big business tomorrow in this section. The addition this week of New Shapes, New Velvet Hats and New Trimmings places us in an excellent position to fill your wants.

Inspection invited,—popular prices—corteous service—no one urged to buy.

The Ready-to-Wear Section Offers*Ladies' New Fall Costumes

Black or navy All-wool Serge Costumes, all this season's goods. Sizes 30 to 42 bust. Value $15.75. Saturday's Sale..... $13.90

Wool Dresses

Black navy or copenhagen blue All-wool Serge One-piece Dresses; ladies' sizes. A special $5 line. $4.50 Sale price.....

Ladies' Coats

A lot of Ladies' Winter Coats in many styles, cloths and colorings. All sizes. Values $8.50 and $9.50. Saturday's Sale..... $6.90

Flannelette Nightgowns

Ladies' soft, fluffy, white Flannelette Nightgowns. Full sizes, $1.25 value. Sale price..... 98c

WARM UNDERWEARLadies' Vests and Drawers

Fall and winter weights. Special Saturday Sale..... 45c

.30 line for..... 25c

.65 line for..... 48c

1.00 line Natural Wool for..... 89c

Corsets

Our Special French Model Corset, extended hips, four good hose supporters. $1.25 line. 98c Sale price.....

Brassieres

A splendid, good-wearing Brassiere, in sizes 32 to 44 bust. Saturday sale..... 45c

White Blankets

Unshrinkable White Wool Blankets, pink or blue borders, good serviceable size, $3.50 value. Sale price..... $2.98

Down Quilts

Pretty Chinese Coverings, real down filling, good size. A regular $5 value. Sale price..... $3.98

GROCERY SECTION

Phone your order if you can't come to the store.

SURPRISE BORAX SOAP POWDER

Something extra good. Put up by Surprise Soap Co. Big Packets. Tomorrow, 6 for..... 25c

OLD DUTCH CLEANSER

Three 10-cent tins for..... 25c

BAKER'S CHOCOLATE

AND COCOA..... 20c

Chocolate, cake..... 22c

EASTER BRAND CLEANED CALIFORNIA RAISINS

Two packets for..... 28c

PARAWAX

For sealing preserving jars. Big pound packet for..... 18c

VERMICELLE OR MACARONI

Best imported quality, pound packets..... 12c

"QUEEN" BRAND RED SALMON

Per tin..... 25c

Creamery Butter 35cDairy Butter 33c*LARD

Pure lard in 3-lb. pails. Sale price..... 55c

PINK SALMON

Two tins for..... 25c

FLAKE WHEAT

A fresh shipment ready. 4 lbs. for..... 25c

JELLO ICE CREAM POWDER

Two packets for 25c. Vanilla, Strawberry and Lemon Flavors.

HEALTH SALTS

Per tin..... 10c

MOONEY'S SODA BISCUITS

Box..... 25c

GROUND RICE OR RICE FLOUR

Per tin..... 18c

FLOUR

Fifty bags of Five Roses and Royal Household flour, big 98lb. bags $3.50 value, for Saturday's sale..... $3.40

VINEGARS

White Wine or Cider Vinegar, best XXX triple strength, 40c. gallon. Sale price..... 30c

MIXED WHOLE SPICE

Fifteen different kinds all in one big tin, 30c. pound. To-morrow..... 25c

SugarCrystal Granulated Sugar

Big 100-lb. bag for $6.50

Redpath Granulated Sugar

Big 100-lb. bag..... $6.75

Or 13-lbs. for..... $1.00

ONIONS

New crop; 3 lbs. for..... 15c

PURE GOLD JELLY POWDER

All flavors. Two 10c. pkts. for..... 15c

LIPSON'S TEAS

Another big lot in to-day at old prices. Black English Breakfast Tea 35c. and 40c. lb.

MATCHES

Edgy's Safety Parlor Matches; 6 five-cent boxes for..... 25c

PRESERVE JARS

Best quality crystal glass; pint, quart and half-gallon sizes; 80c, 95c, 1.00c, 95c and $1.15 per doz.

LOBSTER

New season's pack, very finest quality, 30c. tin, for..... 25c

Black Silk

One hundred yards black paillette silk, full yard wide, dollar quality, sale price .79

Sport Cloaking

All-wool Blanket Cloth, plain colors or check patterns. 64 inches wide, $1.50 kind. Sale price..... $1.25

Flannelette Webs

Ten yards in each web, pretty stripe pattern, 34 in. wide, usual 10c. and 11c. yard. Per web..... 89c

Books for the week end reading

A good list to select from. Formerly sold $1.25. now..... 50c

Men's Natural Wool

Undervests and Drawers, all sizes, $1.00 line. Sale price..... 89c

Kid Gloves

Fine French Kid Gloves or heavy Dogskin Walking Gloves. A special full glove; $1.25 value. Sale price..... $1

Children's Knitted Suits

In fawn, grey, white or cardinal. All-wool Knit Suits, consisting of Sweater, Pants and Tights. Sizes 32 to 6 years. Prices from $2 to $3.50 per suit.

Cashmere Hose

Ten dozen "Penman" famous Seamless Cashmere Stockings. Ladies' sizes. Special 40c. value. Sale price..... 35c

CAMPBELL'S SOUPS

All kinds..... 2 tins for 25c

CLARK'S BAKED BEANS

Plain or in Tomato Sauce. Two tins for..... 25c

BOILING EGGS

Per dozen..... 37c

JAMAICA ORANGE

Sweet and juicy. Per doz..... 35c

BISCUITS

Social Teas, Ginger Snaps, Marshmallows, Tarts, Fancy Mixed; 20c. lines. Sale price..... 17c

SUGAR WAFFERS

In tin boxes. Per box..... 10c

ORANGE MARMALADE

Two glass jars for..... 25c

WELSH'S GRAPE JUICE

A great, refreshing drink. Big size..... 25c

FLY PAPER

Wilson's, packet..... 10c

Sticky—three double sheets for 5c or 35c. per box.

SOAPS

Comfort, Surprise, English, Borax, Naphtha or Electric. 11 Bars for..... 50c

"HEINTZ"—New stock to-day.

Sweet Pickles, bot..... 25c

Sour Pickles, bot..... 25c

Mustard Pickles, bot..... 25c

Olives, plain or stuffed, bot..... 25c

Chile Sauce..... 20c

Tomato Chutney, bot..... 25c

Tomato Ketchup, bot..... 25c

Mustard dressing, bot..... 25c

Olive Oil, very finest, 30c, 50c, and 85c.

MAPLE SUGAR

The real stuff. Pound..... 15c

OLD-FASHIONED OATMEAL

ROLLED OATS..... All

GRAHAM FLOUR..... 5 lbs

GOLD DUST..... for

CORN MEAL..... 52c

SECOND DIVISION NOW IN TRENCHES

THEY AS WELL AS FIRST DIVISION HAVE NOT SO FAR TAKEN PART IN FORWARD MOVEMENT.

Ottawa, Oct. 1.—The second Canadian division has not taken long to get into action. Word has been received here that the second division is now in the first line of trenches. They as well as the first division have not taken part in the present big forward movement, but as the action will likely soon be general, there is no doubt that the Canadians will be in the very thick of the big push. A cable has been received that Col. Garnet Hughes has been transferred to command the 2nd Brigade of the second division which consists of the 18th, 19th, 20th and 21st battalions.

Lord Brooke, who has been commander of this brigade has been transferred to the second division and will succeed General Mercer as commander of the Ontario brigade. General Mercer will command the new corps troops.

SAILING SHIP HELEN BEYON SUNK

London, Oct. 1, 11.25 a.m.—(Special.)—The sailing vessel Helen Beyon has been sunk. Her crew was saved.

The Helen Beyon is not mentioned in the maritime records.

F.B. McCurdy & Co.

Members Montreal Stock Exchange, Transact a General Bond and Stock Business.

Art Building

6 Stratheona Square

Phone 39.

Births, Marriages & Deaths

25c. each insertion. If funeral notice is added to death notice, 25c. extra.

DEATHS

HOOPER.—At "Sunnybrae Farm," Compton, on Sept. 30th, 1915, Mrs. R. Hooper, Sr., aged 7

Daily News Specials From Eastern Townships

LARGE FLOCK OF LAMBS.
Brookbury, Sept. 30.—(Special)—Mr. E. W. Leonard was through here on Tuesday with a flock of four hundred sheep and lambs which he was shipping from Bury by C.P.R.

MANY TREES UPROOTED BY THE STORM.

McConnell, Oct. 1.—(Special)—A good many large maple and other trees were uprooted or broken off during the recent violent wind storm in this locality.

STANDING CROP COMPETITION IN WOLFE COUNTY.

Marbleton, Oct. 1.—(Special)—The following is the report of the judges on standing crops competition offered by the Department of Agriculture through Wolfe County Agricultural Society No. 1 on best three acres of oats: J. W. Oughtred, 81 points; Wm. Andrews, 80; C. Guy Bishop, 78; L. J. Hooker, 76; E. A. Rowe, 75; A. A. Bishop, 74; C. C. Rolfe, 73; C. A. Munkittrick, 72; Chas. Andrews, 71; A. Barter, 70; L. Hebert, 62; D. A. Laseil, 62.

CROPS GOOD AROUND ASCOT CORNER.

Ascot Corner, Oct. 1.—(Special)—Farmers in this district have about finished their harvesting and threshing and all report a very satisfactory crop. Many have also finished gathering their potatoes which is a good crop. Some claim there is considerable rot, but that is the exception, not the rule.

The rain on Sunday last left the ground in excellent condition for plowing and the farmers will take advantage and do all they can for there may be lots of dry weather before winter yet. Fall plowing is what counts, as by doing so an opportunity is given to get in an early crop.

S. S. CONVENTION AT COMPTON.

Compton, Oct. 1.—(Special)—The annual convention of the S. S. Association of the District of Compton was held in the Methodist Church on Tuesday afternoon and evening. The attendance was large and the sessions both helpful and inspiring. Among the speakers were Rev. J. G. Fulcher, General Secretary of the S. S. Union of the Province of Quebec; Rev. Mr. Pollock, of Moe's River; Rev. Mr. Teale, of Waterville; and Rev. Mr. Miller, of Compton; also Mrs. Pollock, Miss Ward, Mrs. Gould, Mrs. I. A. Cass, Rev. Mr. Fulcher gave much valuable information to teachers and workers along Sunday School lines. At the evening session Miss Bernice Harden and Rev. Mr. Miller rendered solos. Supper was served in the S. S. room of the church for visiting friends and delegates. The offerings both afternoon and evening were large.

SUDDEN DEATH OF COMPTON WOMAN.

Compton, Oct. 1.—(Special)—A very sad and sudden death took place here last week when Mrs. H. Belgarde passed away after a few hours' illness. The deceased had been in poor health for several years but has been able to be up and about. On Wednesday morning Mrs. Belgarde attended to her house work as usual, and near noon went across the street to a neighbor's. In the afternoon she was in the house alone, she with her husband and son occupying the rooms over the old post office. About 3 p.m. Mr. Peter Doyon was in his shop down stairs when he heard deceased fall to the floor. Hurrying up stairs Mr. Doyon found the unfortunate woman unconscious on the floor. Only stopping to place a pillow under her head he rushed for assistance. Drs. Crack and Marin arrived, but too late to render aid. Mrs. Belgarde passing away at 6 o'clock without regaining consciousness. The only child of deceased, a young man, about 17 years of age, had been in Waterville all day and returned home minutes after his mother's death. The poor boy was so overcome at the sad intelligence that awaited him that medical aid was necessary. The funeral of Mrs. Belgarde was held from the Roman Catholic Church on Friday morning.

MARBLETON PASTOR GOES TO NEW BRUNSWICK.

Marbleton, Oct. 1.—(Special)—The Rev. J. V. Young has been elected Rector of the Church of St. John Baptist, St. John, N.B., and leaves here about the middle of November for his new field of labor.

MUCH DAMAGE DONE TO MAPLE TREES.

Fitch Bay, Oct. 1.—(Special)—The high wind storm which struck here on Sunday did much damage to sugar bushes, one farmer in this vicinity having lost 500 trees. Telephone poles were blown down, also a great many shade trees and fences. The silos belonging to Mr. E. B. Taylor and Mr. T. G. Howard were torn down by the gale.

REGRETS HE DID NOT ENLIST EARLIER.

North Hatley, October 1.—(Special)—Private Ernest Bumping of 35th Battery, Valcartier, paid an over Sunday visit to Mr. and Mrs. William Raymond with whom he lived with before he enlisted. Ernest has become an enthusiastic soldier and he speaks in highest terms of the way the boys are treated in the army. He is with some of the other North Hatley boys and says he has but one regret namely, that he did not enlist earlier in the war.

I. O. O. F. DISTRICT MEETING TO BE HELD AT EAST ANGUS.

East Angus, October 1.—(Special)—The annual district meeting of No. 5 district of the Independent Order of Oddfellows will be held on Saturday night, October 16th inst at 8 p.m. in Oddfellows' Hall, Cookshire Street, East Angus. The Grand Master, Bro. R. W. Dickson, and other Grand Lodge officers will be present on that evening. Visiting brothers will be made most heartily welcome.

TEACHERS' CONVENTION AT GOULD.

Gould, Oct. 1.—(Special)—A school teachers' convention was held at Gould Model School on Saturday last. Twelve teachers were present. Lectures were given by Mr. McCutcheon. On the same day a meeting of the School Commissioners was held to discuss the outlook for the coming year. The number of pupils attending in the Model Grade is twelve, and Elementary, twenty. The complete list of new text books authorized by the Department of Public Instruction has been adopted by the School Commission.

UNIVERSALIST CHURCH AT NORTH HATLEY.

North Hatley, October 1.—(Special)—The annual church and parish meeting of the Universalists of North Hatley was held on Tuesday evening. Reports from the Sunday School, Young People's Society, Home Department, Cradle Roll Supt., church and parish were read. The pastor of the church stated that during the eleven months intervening since the last meeting, there were nineteen baptisms, four adults and fifteen children. The parish records showed that during the year the pastor officiated at fifteen funerals. He solemnized two marriages and officiated at the administration of Holy Communion three times, there having been but three Quarterly Communion services since the last annual meeting. There are now 38 children under six years of age whose names are on the Cradle Roll. There are eighteen families who do the work of the Home Department. Dr. H. A. McCrea was elected to fill the vacancy on the Board of Parish Trustees caused by the death of Mr. Nelson H. LeBaron, and Mr. Fred Horace LeBaron to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mr. L. Leslie A. Taylor. Mr. W. E. LeBaron was re-elected Secretary-Treasurer. The parish and church have lost heavily through deaths during the past year but the large constituency of young people and the growing Sunday School is full of promise. The pastor closes the ninth year of his pastorate on the last Sunday in January.

HUSBAND-BEATING WIFE FINED

Peter Clarke's Wife Had Previously Thashed Him With Broom Handle

STOKE MAN FINED $100 AND COSTS FOR SELLING LIQUOR WITHOUT LICENSE

Wilfrid Pelletier of Sherbrooke appeared before Judge Mulvena in the District Magistrate's Court yesterday on a charge laid by W. P. Cleary of Waterloo of having stolen a handbag containing valuable papers from complainant's room in a Danville hotel on Sept. 25th. A search warrant had been obtained and the bag was found in the possession of Joseph Pelletier with whom accused was staying. At the preliminary hearing complainant declared he had no evidence to offer in support of the charge and the accused was discharged.

ASSAULT ON HUSBAND

Peter Clarke vs. Anne Clarke. In this case the husband charged his wife with assault, battery and wounding. She pleaded guilty and was convicted on evidence and condemned to pay a fine of $5 and costs or go to jail for 30 days. Defendant had at the end of August pleaded guilty to the charge of beating her husband with a broom handle and had then been allowed to go on suspended sentence.

FINED FOR ASSAULT

Olivia La Charite vs. John Reed. Defendant pleaded guilty to a charge of assault and battery and was fined $5 and costs or thirty days in jail.

SOLD LIQUOR WITHOUT LICENSE

Morkill and Bissonnette vs. Euclide Gendron of Stoke. Defendant was convicted on evidence of selling brandy without a license at Marbleton on September 20th and was fined $50 and costs or three months in jail. On another charge of having sold whisky at the fair at Marbleton on September 22nd an additional fine of $50 and costs was imposed or three months in jail.

DEFAULTING WITNESSES FINED

Morkill and Bissonnette vs. Francois Leclaire of Windsor on a charge of having sold intoxicating liquor without a license. The case which had been made returnable on Saturday had been adjourned until yesterday on account of the default of the witnesses to appear and give evidence although served personally with subpoenas. The witnesses were brought before the Court upon a bench warrant yesterday morning, and after giving their evidence the case against defendant was dismissed. The witnesses were each condemned to pay the minimum fine of $5 for their default to appear without due cause.

WHAT E. T. WOMEN ARE DOING FOR PATRIOTIC FUND

DANVILLE RED CROSS WORKERS BUSY.

Danville, Oct. 1.—(Special)—The following articles have been shipped to the Red Cross Society by the local society: 30 triangle bandages, 70 wash cloths, 60 ward towels, 200 handkerchiefs, 20 pillow slips, 171 bundles, 1026 sponges, 192 rolled bandages.

RED CROSS WORK AT INVERNESS.

Inverness, Oct. 1.—(Special)—The following articles for the Red Cross Society have been donated by Mrs. H. T. Little and Mrs. G. F. Jamieson, and will be forwarded to Montreal: 2 dozen handkerchiefs, 6 T bandages, 1 dozen slings. The very satisfactory sum of $140.55 net was realized at the Red Cross stand held at the Fair ground at the recent exhibition.

The local branch of the Red Cross was as follows. Amount of money

Society are grateful to all those who so willingly responded to their appeals and helped to make the affair a success.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE DIXVILLE PATRIOTIC SOCIETY.

Dixville, October 1.—(Special)—The Society held their yearly meeting at the home of Mrs. G. A. Cushing. The Secretary Treasurer gave her report of the year's work which taken in, $251.67, of which $233.43 has been used for the purchasing of materials. The following articles have been made and sent to the Red Cross Society: 54 gray flannel day shirts, 57 bed jackets, 68 night shirts, 48 sheets, 75 pairs of pillow slips, 57 dozen bandages, 13 dozen handkerchiefs, 10 dozen dressing covers, 49 pairs stockings, 1 web cheese cloth. $10 was contributed to the Red Cross ambulance fund leaving a balance on hand of $8.24. Five

The Gotham

JUST a little different and just a little smarter than any other Raglan coat you will see this Fall.

The effect is produced by clever designing and expert tailoring.

Note the close-fitting collar and generous lapels, the patch pockets and the cuffs.

Shield lined and finished with that care and devotion to detail that good dressers demand and appreciate.

We are exclusive agents.

STAR CLOTHING HALL
J. ROSENBLUM AND CO.
THE STORE THAT SETS THE PACE

CANADA MUST PAY NEW DUTIES

London, Oct. 1.—The Chancellor of the Exchequer stated in the House of Commons yesterday that the new scale of duties on imported goods would also apply to the Overseas Dominions. He could not see his way to the establishment of a preferential tariff for such goods.

U. C. CONSUL DECIDES TO RESIGN.

London, Oct. 1.—The Morning Post's Berlin correspondent says he learns from Munich that T. St. John Gaffney, the American consul-general in Munich, after conferring with Sir Roger Casement has decided to resign his post and go on a lecture tour in the United States on behalf of Germany.

The American Government has requested the resignation of Mr. Gaffney owing to his alleged partisan utterances in connection with the war.

KINGSEY FALLS

Mr. Harry Lodge and Mr. Peter Sells to Drummondville where they have secured positions. Mr. Joseph Wedal and family are moving to Magog. Mr. Wedal and family have been lifelong residents of this place. Miss Olive Laundry, who has been quite ill is able to be about again.

boxes were also packed and sent to the Belgians. At the close of the report the election of officers took place. Mrs. T. J. Grady was re-elected President; Mrs. G. A. Cushing, Vice-President, to replace Mrs. Hector French, who wished to be relieved. Mrs. Allison Mayhew re-elected Secretary-Treasurer. Mrs. W. G. Mayhew and Mrs. Mary Chamberlain were appointed directors and Mrs. Woodburg Chamberlain was chosen to look after the knitting.

RED CROSS SHIPMENTS FROM COOKSHIRE

Cookshire, Oct. 1.—(Special)—The Women's Patriotic Society shipped to the Red Cross Society, on Thursday, September 23rd, the following articles: 30 surgical shirts, 50 hospital sheets, 110 hospital handkerchiefs, 25 pairs socks, 5 triangle bandages, 131 six inch dressings, 150 surgical sponges, 300 Gilmore bandages.

WEEDS ANDE. T. AGRICULTURE

(Continued from page 1)

tious weeds. Nothing would eradicate this nuisance and fertilize the stony hillsides so well as sheep. Besides, there was no branch of agriculture more lucrative than keeping sheep. He compared the present time with only a few sheep here and there with the period of 40 or 50 years ago when the industry flourished, stating that dogs had increased to such an extent that the keeping of sheep had become impossible. He moved the following resolution: Whereas "The prevailing indifference and marked objection to united and joint action for the eradication of that noxious weed pest, Orange Hawkweed or Devil's Paint Brush, is of such fixed and predominant nature with all farmers and land owners in the Eastern Townships, that the entire ruin and devastation of our farm lands is now confronting us, it resolved that immediate appeal and ardent supplication be now made to the Minister of Agriculture for this Province, earnestly entreating his aid and assistance in the immediate putting into force and effect the Provincial Statutes governing the noxious weed pest.

Mr. Clement Wilcocks seconded the motion. Mr. Geo. F. Payne, Granby expressed the opinion that the dog was not a serious factor in this question. Years ago sheep-keeping was quite common throughout the country, and he attributed the present condition of things to the laziness of the farmers who had given up the good ideas of half a century ago, thinking the only profit was made by dairying. Mr. Payne denied that the dogs had been the cause of the decay in the sheep industry and stated that not one sheep in 10,000 was killed by a dog. His opinion was that if the farmer would farm in a scientific manner he would considerably increase his income. The resolution was adopted.

HAYTIAN REBELS READY TO LAY DOWN ARMS.

Cape Haytien, Oct. 1.—The Haytian rebels who have been resisting the American troops, resulting in several fatal encounters recently, have agreed to lay down their arms. A conference was held yesterday between the principal rebel leaders and American officers. The rebels accepted the conditions offered by the Americans and promised to cease armed resistance.

Special Sales for MEN Open Late Friday and Saturday Nights

Vineberg's

MEN'S OVERCOATS

Sold Up Till Now for $12.50

YOU Men can make no mistake in buying your New Fall Overcoat here Tomorrow—Genuine bargains in high grade Chesterfields of Fancy Brown and Grey Tweeds. Beautiful Fall Overcoats sold up till now for $12.50. Special Men's Sale Tomorrow..... $8.45

MEN'S OVERCOATS

Sold Up Till Now from $18.00 to $20.00

BALMACAN, Chesterfield and Slip-On Style Fall Overcoats in all the newest mixtures of the season that have been sold up till now from $18.00 to $20.00. Special Men's Sale Tomorrow..... $11.95

MEN'S FALL SUITS

Sold Till Now from $18.00 to $20.00

THERE is the greatest selection here in Men's Fine New Fall Suits you will have this season. Beautiful, warm, perfectly tailored fabrics in the very shades and styles as now worn. Sold till now from $18.00 to $20.00. Special Men's Sale Tomorrow..... $13.45

Also Special Discounts on Winter Overcoats

T. VINEBERG, 147 Wellington St. Sherbrooke, Que.