To Render Homage To His Majesty At Trout River

Engineer Claims New Water Pipes Are Unnecessary

Replacement of Water Main Would be Unnecessary and Unwarranted Expense

Donald Inspection Limited Informs Town Council That "A Further Life of 20 Years May Reasonably Be Anticipated" Before Replacing Chateauguay St. Water Main—Pipe in Same Condition as When Laid

At its regular monthly meeting in May, the members of the Huntingdon Town Council decided that the water main on Chateauguay street should be inspected before proceeding with its replacement. The engineer who made the necessary inspection informed the Council that "a further life of 20 years may reasonably be anticipated" before replacing this water main.

A few weeks ago the ratepayers in Huntingdon were asked to vote in favor of or against By-Law No. 235 with the advisability of the Town floating an $18,000 bond issue. The ratepayers voted in favor of same and the Quebec Municipal Commission granted permission to the Town to float this loan for the purpose of installing a new water main on Chateauguay street. However, at the May meeting of this public body it was disclosed that the Town would probably benefit to a great extent by having the actual water main thoroughly examined before proceeding with its replacement.

The Donald Inspection Limited, of Montreal, who were authorized to make the inspection, informed the Council, at its adjourned session on Thursday evening, that the pipe was examined, whether in the trench or on the surface, and showed that it was in the same condition as when it was laid.

The Donald Inspection also stated that they had made an inspection of the water works and an examination of the results of the alkaline in the water which had been made from time to time by the Provincial Bureau of Health. A test made during the visit indicated that the water is sufficiently alkaline to prevent corrosion.

At the conclusion of their report, the Donald Inspection Limited said that the present "pipe will give satisfactory service for a long time to come and its replacement at the present time would be an unnecessary and unwarranted expense".

To this effect, Ald. J. O. Michaud gave notice of motion that at the next session of the Town Council he would introduce a By-Law to amend By-Law No. 235 by cancelling that portion of the said By-Law referring to the laying of a water main along Chateauguay street, from King street to approximately 2,000 feet west of that point.

Miss Gladys Rabidoux was granted permission to place a sign over the sidewalks under the supervision of the road committee provided that she be responsible for any damages caused by the so placing of the said sign.

A permit was granted the Huntingdon County Farmers' Society to build a shed as requested.

A letter was read and filed from the Hartford Accident and Indemnity Co., the Town Issuer, giving suggestions in regards to the prevention of accidents.

A request from A. Blouin for a pool room license was refused.

A letter was read and filed from the F. Hankin & Co., quoting a price of $28.00 for a sewer rod.

Two insane accounts amounting to $276.41 and $228.00 respectively were handed to J. P. Cossette for collection with instructions to take legal proceedings if necessary to effect collection.

Many Attend Play Here

Georgetown Bible Class Present Play at O'Connor Hall

There was a large attendance at O'Connor Hall on Thursday evening when the Georgetown Bible Class presented the three-act comedy, "The Mummy and the Mumps."

The comedy was well presented and each and every member of the cast gave evidence of having been coached by a director who knew his dramatics.

The members of the cast were as follows. Allister McArthur, Mrs. Alex. Holmes, Mrs. D. B. Mackay, Linda Steele, Kathleen Ness, Rev. D. B. Mackay, James H. F. Elliot, Jennie White.

The program was under the chairmanship of Rev. J. B. Maclean, D.D., of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Huntingdon. During the intermissions the entertainment was provided by little Miss Isabel Telfer and Alton Warden. Isabel dressed in Scotch costume, played several numbers on an accordian, which renditions were much applauded. The singing of Alton Warden was also much appreciated by the audience, as evidenced by the applause.

The program was under the auspices of St. Andrew's Y.P.A. Following the play the members of the cast were invited to the annex of the church where a sumptuous lunch was served.

Seek to Drain Farm Lands Quicker

Farmers Feel Opening And Closing of Gates Would Remedy Situation

Following complaints that the water in the Laguerre Drainage Canal is too high to allow for drainage from the farm lands around it, an engineer is expected shortly to survey the advisability of opening the gate at the Plank Road and shutting it off at St. Anicet.

At the present time the water in the canal west of the Plank Road has been quite high while the water level in the canal in the vicinity of Ste. Barbe is quite low. Farmers, anxious to get to work on the land would like to see the drainage of the canal better to what it is at present in order that their respective lands might get dry quicker.

Some will not like to see any change in the level of the water in the Laguerre Canal near the Plank Road as they report that fishing there this year has been quite good.

SCHOOL TEACHERS FROM MISSOURI

There passed through Huntingdon yesterday on their way to Montreal four school teachers from Missouri who are counting on seeing Their Majesties, King George VI and Queen Elizabeth.

School just recently finished in Missouri, hence the chance for the school teachers to get away and see Their Majesties. After seeing the King and Queen in Montreal, they are counting on going to New York City where they intend seeing the World's Fair.

Maxime Raymond Opposed To Defence Programme

Need For Greater Military Preparation Receding, M. Raymond, K.C., M.P., Says in House of Commons —No Potential Aggressor on Canada's Horizon

"I believe it is the general opinion in Canada among military men that we are not adequately prepared in any way to defend ourselves should there be a world war, that we are unfortunately not in a position to protect ourselves to any great extent," declared Hon. Robert Manion, Conservative leader, in opening the defence debate in the House Friday afternoon.

The first gun from Quebec against the enlarged defence programme was fired by Maxime Raymond (Lib., Beauharnois-Laprairie), who pictured a rising horizon on the European situation, that the need for greater military preparation was receding, and he also made it plain he was not in favor of any large Canadian force being mustered to do other than defend this country's own territory.

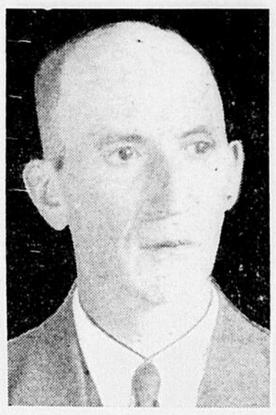

Increased expenditures for national defence could be justified only when Canada was threatened by an aggressor nation, Maxime Raymond declared when the Commons resumed debate on a $63,000,000 defence appropriation.

There was no potential aggressor on Canada's horizon, the Beauharnois-Laprairie member said. Last year there had been war in the air, but the outlook was brighter now and he did not deem it opportune to spend so much now on defence. The country was well defended by geography and circumstances, he thought. Canada had oceans separating it from European and Asiatic spheres of influence, and the United States would not countenance any foreign power attacking Canada. At the Pan-American conference at Lima, Peru, last year the nations of the Americas had declared their intention to resist any aggression from outsiders.

No one was opposed to defending Canada, Mr. Raymond said, but there was certainly an objection to this Dominion being drawn into war on foreign soil.

War was costly and had already cost Canada dearly. The burden was already too heavy and there was no need to increase it, he said.

Former Mayor

ALFRED LATULIPE,
former Mayor of Godmanchester Council, who will be opposed by Ernest Watterson for the mayoralty seat of that municipality.

Closely Contested Elections Expected

St. Anicet and Godmanmanchester to Elect Mayor and Councillors

St. Anicet and Godmanchester will hold election in their respective municipalities on Friday. In both localities there will be an election for mayor with St. Anicet holding elections of councillors for two seats.

In Godmanchester former Mayor Alfred Latulipe will be opposed by Ernest Watterson, former councillor of the same council. Seat No. 3 finds former councillor William Graham opposed by Patrick J. Sherry. John J. Tannahill was elected councillor by acclamation on Nomination Day last Wednesday forenoon. He replaces Ernest Watterson, Seat No. 1.

A keenly contested election is anticipated in the municipality of St. Anicet on Friday as three residents of that locality were nominated for Mayor. They are: Hidala Caza, J. B. Narey and Charles Trepanier. In St. Anicet there will also be elections for seats 5 and 6. Arice Quenneville and F. X. Trepanier will fight it out for Seat No. 5 with former councillor N. D. Rankin being opposed by George Campbell on seat No. 6.

In Hinchinbrooke, Mayor H. A. Hampson, Councillors J. O. Oliver and W. J. McCracken were elected. A. H. Crutchfield and H. N. Henderson will contest No. 3. Kerr Neely is the Clerk of Election in Hinchinbrooke.

Honor Former Minister of St. Louis

Word has been received that the Rev. T. S. Glassford, a former minister of Knox Church, St. Louis, has celebrated his ninetieth birthday at his home in Port Alberni, B.C. The minister, Rev. Donald Munro, of the church of which Mr. Glassford belongs, officers, members and friends assembled in the Presbyterian Church at Port Alberni, and presented him with a gift, as a token of their affection and regard. In response, Mr. Glassford gave a most interesting address in which he related a number of incidents in the experience of his youthful years in the ministry and expressed his gratitude to all for remembering him on this auspicious day. Mr. Glassford maintains his interest in current events and particularly in the church. He was minister in Knox Church from 1917-21. He also held pastorates in Carlton Place, Ont., and several other places in Eastern Canada. Mrs. Glassford died some years ago.

Former Mayor

J. B. NAREY,
former Mayor of St. Anicet Council, who will be opposed by Hidala Caza and Charles Trépanier for the Mayoralty seat in St. Anicet municipality.

Governors Elected For Board Of Barrie Memorial Hospital

Financial Returns on Drive and Donations Yield Over $14,000 Towards Hospital—By-laws of Hospital Endorsed

The first general meeting of the members of the Barrie Memorial Hospital was held in Ormstown on Friday afternoon at which the worthy Governors of the hospital were elected by ballot. Upon the shoulders of these Governors much depends as to the future success of this Chateauguay Valley hospital. The governors number 15, including one lone lady in the personage of Miss Laura Walsh. The Governors are Andrew Allen, George E. Baird, Herbert Beaudin, H. H. Chambers, Alfred Greig, J. E. Ness, P. D. McArthur, W. G. McGerrigle, H. B. Patton, Dr. T. J. Quintin, Robert Roy, Dr. M. R. Stalker, Miss Laura Walsh, R. E. Walsh and H. S. Wilson.

Mr. R. E. Walsh reported to the meeting that when the application for hospital charter was being circulated between 70 and 80 signatures were received. When the charter was made out but five names were attached and he recommended that a resolution be passed whereby all the signatures would be recorded on the charter.

The results of the financial campaign were announced as $10,579.54 received in cash and pledges of $3,-146.00, making a total of $13,725.54. In addition to this, donations have been received or are known to be forthcoming towards the equipment of the hospital which will make the campaign go well over the $14,000 mark.

Upon motion of Rev. W. T. Payne, seconded by Mr. F. S. Rugar, a resolution endorsing the actions of the provisional Board of Governors, was duly passed.

Before the vote was taken on the Board of Governors, Mr. H. B. Patton read the resignations of the five provisional Governors, viz: G. E. Baird, R. E. Walsh, H. B. Patton, Doctors T. J. Quintin and M. R. Stalker.

With the Governors elected general activities will be started towards the adapting of the Sangster residence on Depot Street, into the Barrie Memorial Hospital. Plans have been prepared by Architect Turcot, of the St. Mary's Hospital, Montreal.

A set of by-laws based on the by-laws in force at other small hospitals were presented to the meeting and were duly passed upon the motion of Robert Roy, and seconded by George Hooker.

The hundreds of folks who have contributed towards the hospital, and others interested, wish the Governors every success in the undertaking that they are assuming without remuneration other than the hope that the work they do will in some measure help relieve the suffering of people of the Chateauguay Valley. Let us all accord them a helping hand whenever they ask our assistance.

The Week at Ottawa

Parliamentarians Rush Things Through to Prepare For Visit of Their Majesties — More Defense is Urged

By Spectator

Never before in its history has the capital of Canada been so gaily and picturesquely bedecked as it is now on the eve of welcoming Their Majesties to the seat of government of the Dominion. Streets, shops and houses are gaily and fittingly adorned with flags and bunting bearing heraldic devices, coats of arms, replicas of maple leaves, the scrolled initials G.R. and E.R. The royal shield and crown surrounded by grouped union jacks adorn the walls of the station, hotels and a host of buildings. It is, however on parliament hill and in the vicinity that the greatest transformation has taken place. A week ago Confederation Square presented a far from promising appearance. It was a hive of industry day and night, but the space about the National war memorial and the approaches to it were defaced with piles of sand, earth, stone and cement. Today it looks as if a magician had been at work. Green lawns, with trees, hedges and flowers present a very pleasing picture. A wide, beautiful boulevard, with lawns between the avenues of traffic leads to the war memorial, and people are saying very complimentary things about the Paris architect Jacques Greber, who laid out the plan for creating a modern, picturesque capital out of the City of Ottawa. On parliament hill, white poles topped with a replica of the crown, carry the royal shield and myriads of flags; and on the face of the Peace Tower is a large reproduction of the Imperial crown, shining brilliantly at night, all the jewels in their natural colors. All this decoration on the hill where eighty years ago the grandfather of the King laid the cornerstone of the parliament buildings and where the Prince of Wales, afterwards Edward VIII, also laid the cornerstone of the Peace Tower, forms a fitting background for the welcome of their Majesties King George VI and Queen Elizabeth. Here in the next few days a new chapter in Canadian history will be written. Aside from dinners and a garden party and the various other functions in honor of the royal couple, the King will unveil the war memorial as a symbol of the British Commonwealth's hope for lasting peace, the Queen will lay the cornerstone of the new building that will house the Supreme Court of Canada, symbol of the rule of law in a democratic country, and here for the first time in history a sovereign, surrounded by the representatives of the people, will give royal assent to acts of parliament as a symbol of an enduring faith in the traditions and principles of our free democracy.

The Work of Parliament

Parliament will take a short recess while Their Majesties are in Ottawa, and will then reassemble to discuss the final bills of the session and the estimates that have not yet been passed by the house. For a time it was hoped that the work of parliament would be completed so that the King could prorogue parliament, but some days ago it became clear that there were too many important measures still to be discussed to make this possible. The government has frequently assured the house that no attempt would be made to railroad legislation. It was also decided in deference to the wishes of a large number of the members that the adjournment would be for only a short time instead of until June 19th as at first suggested. The important items of unfinished business which persuaded all members that an early prorogation was impossible were the bulk of the estimates, including those for National Defence which were still to be discussed, the government's agricultural program embodied in a number of separate bills and the new bill creating a central mortgage bank and providing means for the reconstruction of the mortgage system of the country.

The acreage bonus bill, after considerable discussion and with a few amendments unanimously passed the House of Commons. This bill provides for a graded rate of bonus in years when an emergency exists on farms with very low yields. Amendments to this bill provide that a specified bonus given to farms with a yield from zero to five bushels per acre will apply if there are 135 townships in Saskatchewan with this low yield and will apply to Manitoba or Alberta if there are 100 townships so afflicted in either of these provinces. It will also apply whatever the cause of the damage, hail alone being excluded as a cause as this loss is covered by municipal insurance. The bill providing for a 70 cent minimum price for wheat (f.o.b. Fort William) has met with a good deal of opposition but it finally passed the commons with a majority of 78, four Liberals voting against it. The price guarantee applies to a maximum of 5,000 bushels from any one farmer. A great many arguments were advanced against the bill, the principal line of opposition heard from the Social Crediters, the C.C.F., a few Conservatives and two or three Liberals being that the price was too low. It was also held by some that the limitation was discriminatory against a certain class of producers and that the fixed price should be set at the end of crop year. Many speakers however contented that the 70 cent price with the acreage bonus would remove many inequalities which attended the 80 cent guarantee, and that the government's whole agricultural program was a constructive step towards placing the whole agricultural industry on a sounder economic foundation.

The mortgage bill which has been placed before the House of Commons is an extremely important and far reaching piece of legislation. Its object is to put the whole mortgage system of the country into more workable shape. It applies to both country and city mortgages. The bill seeks to provide a mechanism for establishing a more uniform rate of interest on mortgages at approximately 5 per cent, and to reduce mortgages in cases requiring it to about eighty per cent of the actual appraised value of the property on which the mortgages are laid. A central mortgage bank will be created with a capital of ten million dollars, owned by the government and under the same senior officials as the bank of Canada. It will have the power to issue bonds to a maximum value of 200 million dollars. Lending companies, insurance, trust companies etc., may voluntarily join the bank as member companies. These member companies will adjust mortgages to the basis mentioned above.

Elected Mayor

GEORGE PAUL,
who was re-elected Mayor of the Municipality of Elgin on nomination day on Wednesday.

Pupils Escorted In Metropolis

Academy Students Will Be Escorted by Policeman For Royal Visit

More than 200 students from Huntingdon Academy will board the special trains leaving Huntingdon on Thursday morning destined for Montreal where they will witness the Royal procession in the afternoon. Besides the students, it is expected 200 citizens from the Chateauguay Valley and other points leading into Montreal will also take advantage of the excursion to take a glimpse of Their Majesties, King George VI and Queen Elizabeth, in the Canadian Metropolis.

The Canadian National and the New York Central Railroads are sponsoring excursions on Thursday. The C.N.R. train will leave Huntingdon at the regular time in the morning and will leave Montreal at 6.15 p.m. The New York Central train will leave Huntingdon at the same time as stated in last week's issue of the Gleaner, that is, leave Huntingdon at 9.15 a.m. (D.S.T.) and will return on Thursday evening from Westmount Station at 9.30 p.m. (D.S.T.).

Principal J. B. MacMillan, of Huntingdon Academy informed the Gleaner yesterday that the Huntingdon Boy Scouts would escort the students to and from the train in Huntingdon on Thursday. When in Montreal, the students of Huntingdon Academy will be escorted by a policeman to and from Molson Stadium. This will most definitely meet with the approval of the parents of these pupils taking in the Royal procession that day.

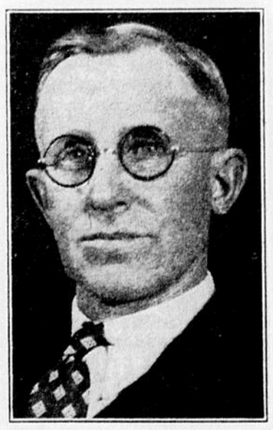

LOCAL BASEBALL LEAGUE REVIVED FOR CHATEAUG'Y VALLEY

A renewed interest in baseball is taking place and on Friday the Southwestern Quebec Baseball League was reorganized. The league is to be made up of four teams, one team being sponsored by the Borden Milk Co. of Ormstown, Imperial Oil Limited under the personal management of Mr. Raymond Graham, the District Agent; Shawinigan Water & Power Co., managed by Mr. Hector Provost and a Huntingdon Chateau team managed by Mr. Paul Chaput.

The league officers named were: A. Soucy, president; Paul Chaput, Vice-President; F. S. Rugar, Secretary-Treasurer; Directors, Dr. J.-E. Caza, R. G. Kelly, Jean Bastien and S. Martin.

The first ball game is scheduled to be played in Huntingdon on May 24th at 6:30 P.M., D.S.T.

Former Councillor

ERNEST WATTERSON,
former Councillor of Godmanchester Township, who was nominated Mayor of Godmanchester on Wednesday. He will be opposed by former Mayor Alfred Latulipe.

Valleyfield-H'don-Ormstown-Northern New York Scouts To Take Part in Ceremony

More Than 100 Scouts Expected at Tree Planting Ceremony at Trout River Lines Saturday Morning Hon. M. B. Fisher, Delpha Sauvé, M.L.A., to Attend

TWO MOUNTIES WILL STAND GUARD

Formal celebrations are to be held throughout Canada on Saturday next in honour of the birthday of His Majesty King George VI. On this occasion the Boy Scouts of the Chateauguay Valley, including those from Valleyfield, as well as more than 60 Scouts from Northern New York State will meet at Trout River Lines on Saturday morning, at 9.45 p.m. where a tree planting ceremony will take place at 10 a.m. (D.S.T.).

At the request of the American Commissioner of the Adirondack Division of Boy Scouts of America, two Royal Canadian Mounted Police will be on hand at Trout River that morning. These Mounties who "always get their man" will be dressed in their smart scarlet uniforms and will stand on guard at the Boundary Line. Scoutmaster I. H. Bowden informed the Gleaner on Tuesday that the American Scouts had made this request since most of the members of that Troop had never seen a "Mounty" dressed in his scarlet uniform.

All Scouts will be on hand at 9.45 a.m. and the ceremony will start at 10 a.m. sharp, D.S.T. The American Boys are to plant a tree on the Canadian side while the Canadian Scouts are to perform a similar duty on the American side of the border.

Invitations have been extended to the mayors of the various municipalities in the surroundings, both on the Canadian and American side, to attend this gathering. In addition, Hon. Martin B. Fisher, Provincial Treasurer, and Delpha Sauvé, M.L.A. for Beauharnois, have informed those in charge of the morning celebration that they would be present at this ceremony at Trout River Lines.

As this ceremony has augmented importance because of the presence in Canada of Their Majesties, King George VI and Queen Elizabeth, it is expected a large gathering will attend the tree planting ceremony at the border.

Immediately after this ceremony at Trout River Lines, the Boy Scouts of Northern New York State, the Huntingdon, Ormstown and Valleyfield Scouts will all journey to Valleyfield where again other functions will be witnessed. On arrival at Valleyfield in the early part of the afternoon on Saturday, the Valleyfield Scouts will entertain their Canadian and American friends and later will take part in a field-day.

Due to the fact that Their Majesties will not pass at Coteau Station until the following evening, the Scouts will take part in a sports program which will take place at Park Sauvé in the afternoon.

Since the Royal Train will not pass Coteau Station until Sunday evening, the American Scouts as well as the Scouts from Ormstown and Valleyfield will return to their homes during the early part of Saturday evening.

Five Year Old Girl Met With Sudden Death

Rita Forgette Falls Into Well on Parents' Farm at Clyde's Corner—Verdict Of Accidental Death Rendered

A verdict of accidental death by drowning was rendered by Dr. J. R. McEwen, coroner for Huntingdon County, in the case of little Rita Forgette, five year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Forgette, of Clyde's Corner. Little Rita fell into a well near her parents' home on Thursday afternoon and met with sudden death.

According to reports, it seems that Rita ventured too close to an unprotected well and lost her balance. As her parents were not near this place at the time of the tragedy, they did not hear nor see the child disappear. It was only one half hour later that Frank Forgette noticed she was missing. As she was not to be seen in the vicinity of the house or the barns he immediately rushed to the well where he made the sad discovery.

During the winter months the well on the Forgette farm went out of order and the hand pump had to be removed in order to be able to get water. Planks were temporarily placed over it in order to protect the children fron falling in. That afternoon the Forgette boys had been asked to haul a few pails of water from the well and in their anxiety to join with friends in a ball game had neglected to replace the planks. Apparently the little girl got too close to this open well and met with death.

Burial took place in St. Joseph's Church of Huntingdon on Saturday afternoon.

Wm. Winter Is Injured By Tractor

Tractor Turns Over and Pins Driver Beneath it—Injuries More Painful Than Serious

William Winter met with a painful accident near his home on the River Road, Huntingdon, on Monday morning, when the tractor which he was driving suddenly turned over and pinned him beneath it.

Neighbors who were working in a nearby field heard the tractor turn over and rushed to help the victim. On their arrival, they noticed that gas had leaked out of the vehicle and was burning close to Mr. Winter. They immediately withdrew the driver from his precarious position and rushed him to his home.

Dr. H. R. Clouston, of Huntingdon, was summoned and disclosed that Mr. Winter was suffering from a fractured rib, bruises about the face and body and burns scattered at different places about his body.

The injuries sustained by Mr. Winter in this accident are more painful than serious and it is hoped he will be able to resume his duties about the farm within a very short time.

GEORGE PAUL IS RE-ELECTED MAYOR

The Municipality of the Township of Elgin held their nomination on Wednesday morning last for the purpose of nominating a mayor and three councillors to replace former Mayor George Paul and Councillors Clarence McFarlane, W. F. Stark and Ward Donnelly. The nomination results were as follows: George P. Paul was re-elected mayor by acclamation as were Councillors Clarence McFarlane and W. F. Stark. Leo Coffey will replace Ward Donnelly as councillor for Elgin Township.

Committee Finally Selected To Direct Softball in H'don

Dr. J. E. Caza Elected President and I. H. Heath, Vice-President—S. D. Popeck to Manage District League Team—Vote of Thanks Tendered Past Officers

At a second general meeting of the year on Thursday evening in the Huntingdon County Building, softball enthusiasts appointed Dr. J. E. Caza as the President of the Huntingdon Town League and President of the Huntingdon Senior Softball team. Other officers elected that evening were: Ivan H. Heath, vice-president while the directors selected included J. H. Provost, Ernest Brown, Notary L. Baillargeon and J. A. Lanktree. Rufus G. Kelly was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

The meeting, which lasted over two hours, was the best held here in recent years. It had as much difference as day and night, compared with the previous meeting held a few weeks ago. All worked for one purpose, that of proceeding immediately with the softball activities for another year with the shortest possible delay. The directors and the gathering set down to work immediately and "made up" for lost time.

During this meeting, Stanley D. Popeck, who has always taken a keen interest in softball here, was unanimously chosen as manager of the Huntingdon senior team, which will play its games in the Southwestern Quebec Softball League this year.

The committee also decided that they would shortly select players who would represent Huntingdon in the S.Q.S.L. on its opening game on Tuesday, May 23rd, when Valleyfield Falcons will meet the local clan at the Huntingdon Fair Grounds.

At the conclusion of the evening's proceedings, a vote of thanks was tendered the past officers who so capably handled softball in Huntingdon during the summer season of 1938.

Before the meeting was called to an end, Dr. Caza informed the gathering that he would do his best to see that softball players would have an enjoyable season but he urged them to give him all their co-operation so that they would both reach the goal they were attempting to reach.

Huntingdon, Wednesday, May 17, 1939

Visit of Their Majesties

THE bonds of International Good-Will between Canada and the United States are being welded together more firmly than ever as thousands of citizens of the United States pour over the border to witness at various points in Canada the visit of Their Majesties.

On Thursday of this week Montreal will be an example of what will be taking place across Canada in the next few weeks. Into this metropolis of Canada there will flow principally from the New England States and the State of New York and from other districts as well, thousands of people to witness the visit of King George VI and Queen Elizabeth. By their visit there will undoubtedly be born anew within them a strong kindred feeling for the people of Canada and of the other parts of the British Empire as they see some two million people enthusiastically proclaiming King George VI and Queen Elizabeth, the symbolic heads of the British Empire.

An idea of the feeling of the people of the United States in connection with this historic occasion can be obtained from the following portion of an editorial appearing in the Courier Freeman of Potsdam, N.Y.:

"Many will go to Canada from this part of our own country to take a look at the distinguished visitors. But very few of our own people have ever seen a King or Queen and this opportunity will not be missed. Their majesties will spend four days within our own borders during which time they will be entertained at the White House. It will be a friendly gesture on the part of a nation with which the United States has much in common. There are those who had hoped that King George would not make the trip over the ocean at this time, because of the serious situations now confronting his own country, and there were others who were of the opinion that he should not visit the United States just now. While there were doubtless some grounds for both of these views, on the whole we feel the trip will have many advantages to all parties concerned and will make for an even better understanding between the peoples of the two continents."

Influx of Unemployed to Huntingdon

BEING unemployed is not a happy situation to be in and the men who find themselves in that position are too often found flocking to a town or city for relief. Huntingdon is no exception to the rule. True, the Province of Quebec is willing to do what it can to see these people employed, and be self-supporting. The Province does not pay the entire cost of any public works undertaking, for the sake of granting relief; the town must shoulder a portion of the financial responsibility, and rightly so. Such being the case, these public works are intended to give relief to unemployed within the municipality.

As Huntingdon taxpayers are called upon to pay a portion of the costs of building the big sewer on Chateauguay Street it is important that the interests of the taxpayers be protected, else another year will see our Provincial Government hesitating to give the support the town may desire on future public works. Who is responsible for placing names of unemployed on the lists that are to receive work? We are not going to say; but at any rate that responsibility is not being sufficiently and carefully dealt with.

Look over the men working on the town sewer and note some of the men working. Some of them have been steadily employed in Huntingdon and quit their jobs to work on the relief list. Others have been in business for years and gave up their business to work on relief. Look again and you will see men working on this sewer who never lived in Huntingdon previous to the Town's undertaking this relief work for which the municipal taxpayers help to pay. These men might rightfully be cut off the relief list and told to return to their former positions or return to the places they came from. If such were done, those rightfully deserving of assistance, and who belong to Huntingdon, would receive work for a greater duration of time. The extra men receiving work means the work will be done more quickly and are really creating an added expense to the Province of Quebec and the Town of Huntingdon.

Such relief works are started with a view to giving labor work when no other work appears available. At the present time, should you ask some of these laborers to give you a few days work, or even steady work they will say, "we are working on the Town of Huntingdon sewer." They don't even want to work on other jobs, they like working as a gang, and not too industriously at that. The final result will be that people wanting labor will be forced to hire outside help, which in due turn will make it all the more difficult for labor to get employment, once the sewer as a relief work is completed. A responsibility for the employment of the just cases of unemployed falls on the shoulders of someone, or committee of men, is deserving of criticism by the taxpayers. The unemployment relief work is now nearing an end, but even if such is the case it is not too late to have some of the men cut off the list and told to get work elsewhere, otherwise when the job is completed we will have a deluge of unemployed all at once and not sufficient work available so that all will be employed.

The Temperance Campaign

TWO campaigns have been given generous support by the Roman Catholic Church and have received endorsation from many outside sources irrespective of the religious beliefs of the outside organizations. One of the campaigns has dealt with the alcoholic beverage trade and the other with magazines that smack of immoral suggestions.

When the temperance campaign was launched it was undoubtedly done with the best of intentions. The campaign was encouraged by the breweries, although many people will be averse to giving such industries due credit. The Montreal Gazette recently ran a full column editorial quoting statistics at length and they indicated the populace of this province were now becoming drinkers of 'white whisky', 'gin' and other hard liquors in place of the beer and wines as formerly consumed. In other words Quebecers are becoming drinkers of hard liquor, rather than patrons of the breweries and wineries, and that is not to be commended. The alcoholic content of beer is negligible in comparison to that of whisky or gin.

"The Monitor", Notre Dame de Grace, editorially has the following to say re "Quebec's Beer Policy".

"The levy of additional Provincial taxes on beer, recently announced, is surely not calculated to strengthen the policy of temperance on which the Quebec Liquor Commission was founded. Indeed, a program designed to restrict the use of beer will inevitably lead to intemperance with consequences as bad or worse than those which led to the establishment of the Commission.

"The policy which has been pursued during the past few years seems to be designed to increase the sale of Commission brands of liquor, and the subsequent profits of the commission, regardless of the public welfare. Private brands have been discriminated against in the matter of taxation, while beer, which is seldom elsewhere classified as an alcoholic beverage (so low is its alcoholic content) is not only classed by the Commission among alcoholic beverages, but its use is actually discouraged by taxation.

"The Commission would do well to reflect that in 1667, the Intendent Talon, greatly concerned over the spread of intemperance among the settlers, consulted with the leaders of New France to find a remedy for the evil. The remedy proposed, and endorsed by his advisers, was to establish a brewery and encourage the use of beer."

"At one time this Province enjoyed a reputation throughout Canada and the United States for the saneness and temperance of its liquor policy, but the policy now being pursued will soon dissipate that good opinion, we fear."

It is no disgrace to make a mistake, but it is folly to continue making the mistake when it is known the attempt to promote temperance in Quebec Province has re-acted in the wrong manner. We have every confidence in the organizers of the Temperance Campaign that they will do their part to correct matters. Governments are slow to action, so will our Government see to it that the Quebec Liquor Commission corrects its beer taxation policy. It would be far more temperate to have people drinking beer, than to see them switch from beer to drinking far more alcohol in the form of Quebec Liquor Commission liquors.

Neglected Cemeteries

THE time of year has arrived when the subject of neglected cemeteries should be given consideration. That there are numerous cemeteries in this district which are in a disgraceful state of disrepair and a downright reflection of the parties responsible for them, is a recognized fact.

There are cemeteries which will be cluttered with tall grass and weeds. Around them are fences that are badly fallen down so that livestock from neighbouring farms can wander in over the burial grounds. The grounds are anything but level. Tombstones are fallen down. Rain has washed away earth in certain places until there are but a scant few feet separating the top of the ground from the coffin. In brief, these sacred spots are sorely neglected.

The passing of the years has washed away considerable earth from some of the oldest cemeteries so that they are badly in need of filling in. A Valleyfield citizen informed the Gleaner of an incident he witnessed at a burial in a cemetery in this part of Quebec some time ago. The land was quite low and since it was raining hard there was much water about. An elderly lady was being buried. When the coffin was lowered into the grave it was found necessary to put stones on the coffin to keep it from floating. And this in a supposedly civilized country? In this same cemetery there are said to be graves which have only a scant six inches or a foot of soil over the tops of the coffins.

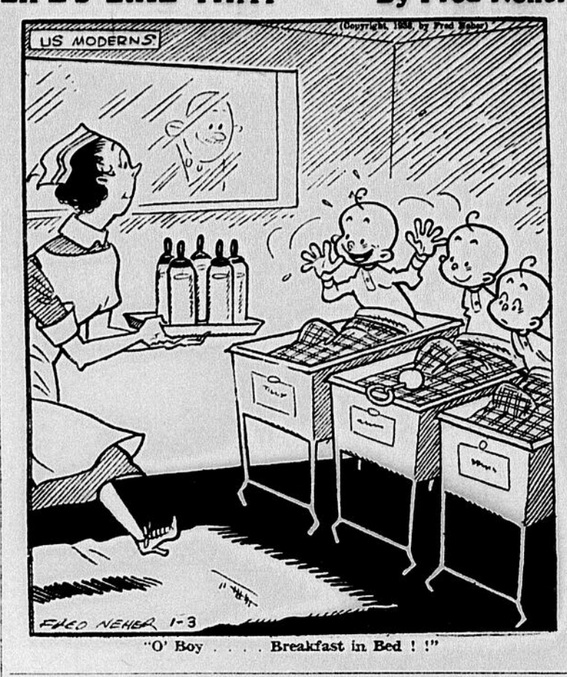

Amongst these neglected cemeteries are Protestant ones in which are buried the pioneer English settlers of the district. They are located in sections of Quebec which were once predominately settled by English but which have since become predominately settled by French. With the moving away of the sons and daughters of these ancestors there have been few if any left behind to give the cemeteries the attention they rightfully deserve.

Not only the aforementioned types of cemeteries, however, but many others, both Roman Catholic and Protestant, have been neglected far more than they should, and are in need of attention.

From statistics taken some years ago it was estimated that about ten per cent of the cemeteries in Quebec were well taken care of, twenty per cent were moderately well taken care of while the remaining seventy per cent were badly neglected. These figures may be somewhat extreme but the fact remains that a very considerable proportion of cemeteries are not given the care they should be and that a surprising number are in nothing short of a state of abandonment.

While it is well that public works programs, such as constructing necessary municipal needs, should be carried out by the Provincial Government to aid relief, it must be remembered that honor is owing to those pioneers who settled Quebec. Their final resting place should not be allowed to descend to a state of complete disbandonment. The least that could be done is to have them in a decent state of repair so that tourists might not gain an unfavourable impression of the country. And it is surprising how these things are noticed and impressions carried away. For these reasons the Government of the Province of Quebec might find it advisable to grant to all the parishes asking for it a certain amount of money to be spent in salary, employing three or four men on relief during the summer to level the grounds, remove or adjust fallen stones, repair fences, etc., in the neglected cemeteries.

EVEN THOUGHT RULED

Here's the latest from dictatorship countries—you can't even think what you like, let alone read it or write it! It comes from Japan, where the police have started a drive to clear schools and universities of "thought criminals"—Liberals and others suspected of thinking "dangerous thoughts." Latest victim, arrested in his classroom, is Professor Eichiro Kawai, Liberal economist of Tokyo Imperial University. The "Kawai Affair" nearly paralyzed the teaching activities of the university, as many of his colleagues resigned in protest. The police have power to arrest "thought criminals" on the spot, to make their own interpretations of what constitutes Communism, Liberalism, or just plain "thought crime." Several thousands of students and teachers have already been arrested. The task of the "Thought Police" division of the Metropolitan Police is to search for any individuals who express views contrary to the national policy, an extremely elastic expression. They can apply the Peace Preservation Laws of 1925 and 1928, which make the organization of a Communist society punishable by death.

POPULARITY PAID

After running a grocery store in Palisades, N.Y., 22 years, Walter Simmons, 65, decided to retire. Townspeople regretted to see their popular groceryman quit business and wanted to show their appreciation for his long service. Someone decided to write a testimonial letter to be signed by everyone who wanted to extend good wishes to the retiring grocer. The first signer included a $10 bill to start a purse to go with the letter. When it finally got around town the letter contained about 300 names and $2,000 in gifts.

WON HIS BET

One hundred and eighty miles on horseback in five days is the record of R. C. Morel, who accepted a challenge by his father, a Cardiff shipowner, that he could not ride from Cardiff to Porlock Weir, in West Somerset, in a week. With a companion, W. Roberts, he set out on a Tuesday and arrived at Weir Saturday, cutting 48 hours off the time limit fixed by the bet. "We are both very tired," Mr. Roberts said. "It was rather boring and hard work, as it meant covering some difficult country. "What impressed us most is that there are few people today who cater for the care of horses." A welcome to the travellers was sounded by yachts and other craft in the harbor, among them being the craft owned by Mr. Morel's father. Villagers also turned out during the closing stages to wave encouragement.

UTOPIAS IN JUNGLE

"Lost villages" in hitherto unknown parts of the South American jungle, where "perfect happiness" is the rule, and tempers never rise, have been discovered by Dr. Paul A. Zahl, of Union College, Schenectady, N.Y. On his return from an expedition to British Guiana and Venezuela, he reported that some villages had never before been visited by a white man, and it was in these villages that happiness reigned. Natives who lived near white settlements invariably showed marked development of jealousy, treachery and anger, the explorer found.

FOOLS DOCTORS TOO

Lipstick and fingernail polish make it hard for doctors to tell whether modern women are undernourished, says Dr. Charles C. Higgins, of Cleveland. Dr. Higgins told the Midwest Conference of the American College of Surgeons that a physician used to be able to determine just by looking at a woman whether she was getting enough vitamins. Nowadays, he said, painted lips and fingernails cause women to appear healthy whether they are or not—and the doctor has to take a blood test to learn the truth.

RODE AT 112

Sava Moise Popa, believed to be Rumania's oldest woman, has died at the age of 113 in the village of Dragoslavele, near Rucar. Up to her last year she used to work in the fields, and could ride on horseback. After her hundredth birthday she lived chiefly on vegetables.

DIDN'T LIKE LIBERTY

Because the city zoo in Denver, Colo., was becoming over-crowded with deer, 20 of the animals were taken out to the mountains and released. A few days afterward, one of them was back at the zoo just at meal time. Finding its way out of the mountains and through miles of city streets seems to prove that dear, like some other animals, have a homing instinct.

HE NEVER FORGOT

Because Julien Poydras was not permitted to marry the girl of his choice since he was so poor, he left France in 1768 and emigrated to Louisiana. There, he became rich but never married. When he died in 1824 he left $30,000 to each of three Louisiana parishes, corresponding to counties in other states, the income of which was to be divided among poor girls as dowries. He made this provision in his will to help keep as many other young couples as possible from suffering the tragedy of his youth. One of the parishes violated the terms of Poydras' will and built a school with its inheritance. The other two still comply with the will and last week divided approximately $2,400 among 21 brides-to-be.

WHICH WIFE?

After being harassed by floods, religious disputes, language difficulties, and actual violence, the 25,000 enumerators taking the third and most complete census of the 3,500 inhabited islands of the Philippines have finished their task. Preliminary estimates show that there are more than 15,000,000 people in the archipelago, which means more than twice the population of 1899, when the United States took the islands from Spain. A typical interview with a Moro (Malayan Moslem) householder ran like this: What is the name of your wife?—Which wife? I have six. How many children have you?—Thirteen at present; 15 soon, perhaps 16. How long have you been married?—Seven years, perhaps eight. In one province the enumerators found a widow who said she was 120!

Obituary

The late Mrs. Andrew W. Elder

The death of Mrs. Andrew W. Elder (nee Laura Todd) occurred at her home in Elgin on Sunday, April 30, 1939, after several months of illness and suffering which she bore with most exemplary patience.

The funeral was held in Kensington United Church on Tuesday afternoon and was largely attended, her pastor, Rev. J. H. Woodside conducting the service, and spoke very fittingly of the life of the departed, paying tribute to her life and work in the church, community and especially in the home, where she leaves to mourn her loss her husband, one son, Robert, one daughter, Marjorie, and her aged father-in-law, Mr. John S. Elder, all of whom have the heartfelt sympathy of the community. Her two sisters, Mrs. Douglas and Mrs. Caine, both of the Canadian West also survive her. The pall-bearers were Messrs. F. J. Donnelly, Geo. D. Elder, Geo. L. Black, W. F. Stark, D. C. Elder and William Murray. Many beautiful floral offerings covered the casket. Interment was made in Huntingdon cemetery.

Glenelm

Mrs. W. S. McKinnon and son Billy, Montreal, spent the week-end at the home of W. J. Seward.

Miss Kathleen Donnelly, who has spent the past two weeks with friends in Montreal returned home on Saturday.

The death and burial of the infant son of Mr. Poirier, from scarlet fever, took place at Trout River, N.Y. Church, on Sunday afternoon.

"What's The Big Idea" When the Gleaner cameraman "shot" these pups on the lawn of a Huntingdon property the pups just couldn't figure out whether it was an honor to be so photographed or whether the cameraman was just trying to tease them. The pup on the left seems quite at sea about the whole situation while the one on the right seems even more that way. "You might know what you are doing," the pups seem to be saying, "but we can't figure out just what it's all about; surely, we're not that important, are we?"

Breeding of Sheep is Encouraged

Prizes For Sheep Breeding Clubs

Mr. Bona Dussault, Minister of Agriculture for Quebec, has just approved a project of the Provincial Live Stock Branch for the encouragement of sheep raising. In issuing this news, Mr. Adrien Morin, head of this Branch, explains the workings of this policy as follows:

Farmers in colonization districts as well as those not now keeping more than 5 sheep may form themselves into clubs of at least 10 members each. Each member undertakes to buy 5 breeding sheep under three years of age. The ewe-lambs or ewes will come from flocks that have been treated against parasites at least once, and they will be inspected by an official of the Live Stock Branch before or at the time of purchase. Clubs will not be organized in parishes where 20 taxpayers have not first petitioned their municipal council for the local application of the law known as the "dog-law" for the indemnification of sheep owners.

Grants varying from $2 to $4 per animal, up to a maximum of 10 animals per member, will be made to these clubs. Where co-operative purchase is desired, two members may undertake to buy the breeding stock. In this case, the Department will pay transport costs from the place of loading to the central delivery place.

The clubs will also be encouraged through sheep-fold contests. During the autumn, the members will be visited by a technical worker who will judge the breeding project, taking into account the condition of the animals, the management and the sanitation of the plant. A sum of $50 will be distributed as prizes amongst the members of each club.

In the different branches of live-stock production, the grouping of breeders into clubs has invariably stimulated the raising of better stock—in poultry, swine, horses. There is good reason to expect the same success with sheep raising in the new clubs thus organized. Quebec lamb, worthy of a king's table, has a splendid reputation on our markets. The stimulation of sheep raising looked for through this new policy should mean much for the farmers and the agriculture of this province.

The Case For the Newspaper

By NELLIE McCLUNG

The old debate, often heard in country schools on Friday afternoons on the subject of City versus Country, has been displaced by the modern one of Newspaper versus Radio. But this is not exactly a proper subject for debate. The radio and the newspaper are not rivals, even in the news. They supplement each other. One helps the other. The radio flashes out the salient portions of the news — then the newspaper clothes the dry bones.

There may be some people who listen to the radio only. A few perhaps. The newspapers have readers who do not listen to the radio at all, but the great majority of people use both. Newspapers have a long start in public favor which, I believe, they will hold.

Just now, riding on the train from Winnipeg to Edmonton, I have been reading the Sunday edition of a great prairie daily, leisurely and with a sense of luxury. To be able to do anything leisurely makes me feel as rich as the Queen of Sheba! A bright sun is pouring down its warmth on the ploughed fields and the willows are reddening against the patches of snow. The farmers are cleaning their seed in the barns. I feel again the flippity-flip-flip-flip of the fanning mill as the seeds dance lightly on the wire screens. The little towns look draggled, with old vines twisted around the fence palings. The children are playing in their beare heads, glad to be freed from their heavy wraps, and here at a siding, west of Portage, the station house has window boxes made of peeled poles, all ready for the seeds, and as fine a flock of Plymouth Rocks as I have ever seen, great rotund birds, who have "wintered" well.

But I started out to write about the newspaper I have with me.

Country people, like myself, have a profound regard for a newspaper. We can understand the mentality of the young lady who (according to a country correspondent) "intended to make a visit to the city, but did not think of it in time to get it in this week's paper, and so will not go until next week.

Now let me set down what my reading the the paper has brought to me this bright spring morning.

The best sentence I have read comes from the Prime Minister himself. He was voicing his belief in our free institutions, and government by discussion. These are his words.

"Often times criticism may seem too free, too reckless, too malicious, but I believe democracies survive too free criticism much more effectively than dictatorships will survive the lack of criticism."

On the air I might have missed that, and it is the very core of democracy.

On the same page there is a romantic tale of the two English women who visited Versailles in 1901, and actually saw Marie Antoinette sketching below a tree. The writer does not make light of their contention but leaves the door open. He says there times "when even the most ordinary of us escape from the binding categories of time and space."

So we do. Haven't we looked at our friends and seen the years afll from them? Haven't we wandered again in the scenes of our childhood? We have seen so many wonders in our time we cannot be skeptical. Every sound may be preserved in some air-cell, and perhaps each scene has a hidden film which will some day develop. And that may be the next great discovery. But I hope not! We know too much already. I like the promise given to erring humanity that their mistakes and misadventures will be cast into the sea of His forgetfulness to be remembered against them no more forever. I like to believe that the Recording Angel knows the use of an Eraser.

A sentence in an old book comes back to me—a sentence I have remembered for its sheer beauty, though I have no memory of the context.

"The recording angel, who flew up to Heaven's Chancery with that oath blushed as he gave it in, and the recording angel dropped a tear on it and blotted it out forever."

Valleyfield Council Refuses to Continue Relief Work Until Governments Reach Agreement

Alderman Mallette, chairman of the Finance Committee at the Valleyfield Council, threatened to resign as alderman at the meeting of the Valleyfield Council on Wednesday evening due to the fact that he had to assume too much responsibility.

"Since January 1st, 1939, stated Ald. Mallette, the different committees have withdrawn more than $26,850 to help the unemployed in Valleyfield. The members of this council, numbering ten, are held responsible of this amount, he continued, and my share is $2,600. This sum represents more than what I can pay. We are awaiting from week to week an answer from the governments so as to give work to our unemployed and yet we have received nothing. If it is the intention of the Council to continue with the work which is now being executed in the City, I will ask this Council to accept my resignation".

Mayor J. A. Larin informed the Council that he had had an interview with Hon. M. B. Fisher, Provincial Treasurer, and he was informed that Hon. Mr. Tremblay, Minister of Public Works at Quebec, would conclude an arrangement with the federal government within the next few days. At the close of his remarks Mayor Larin urged Ald. Mallette not to resign for at least another week, in hopes that the governments will reach a favorable decision in the interval of time.

Ald. Mallette moved that all relief work which is being done within the City limits would cease the next morning. This motion was seconded by Ald. Brisebois.

This decision of the Valleyfield Council places more than 150 Valleyfield citizens out of work.

He was celebrating his 73rd birthday, and thus created a record for a man of his age. At the end of his walk he said that he felt quite fresh and in good condition. SNAKES $12 A YARD

Snakes are being sold by the yard in Paris. Regulation prices charged by wild animal dealers now are $12.50 a yard for Sengalese pythons, $6.75 for Indian pythons, and $7.50 for boa constrictors. Tigers now cost $20, antelopes $50, dromedaries $135, but rates for elephants, leopards and kangaroos are subject to bargaining.

Ormstown Locals

The First Ormstown Scout Troop have just completed a Spring Advancement Drive, the results of which are as follows: Cameron English, Kelly Nussey, Norman Cullen, and Willard Greig were received into the Troop and duly invested, bringing the Troop membership up to 37 active scouts; Second class scouts, Merrill Stalker, Melvin Winter, Ferns Pringle, Stuart Duncan and Raymond Blanchette qualified for and were awarded their second class badges; Troop Quarter-master, Lindsay Cullen, patrol leaders, Morris Pringle and Willie Cavers, Patrol seconds, Willard Hamilton and Willis Sadler, Second class scout Billy Dunn qualified for and were invested as First class scouts, each scout also being awarded his grade "A" cords.

Over thirty Merit badges were also awarded, showing the results of months of work. A course held during the winter months in Knotter Badge resulted in the following scouts being awarded their Knotter badges: Keith Greig, John Taylor, Merrill Stalker, Willie Cavers, Glen Ovans, Gordon Elliot and Stuart Duncan. Courses were also taken up in First Class Mapping and Estimations. Other Merit badges passed included Farmer, Debater, Stockman, Dairyman, Cyclist, Poultryman, Handyman and Fireman.

Outdoor work has been resumed, with the advent of warm weather, two short hikes being taken to pass outdoor tests.

Another new Patrol, the Otter, has recently been formed with Willie Cavers as Patrol Leader and John Taylor as Patrol Second. Other promotions include Willis Sadler as Patrol Second of the Moose Patrol.

The scouts have accepted the invitation of the Montreal Association to aid in holding the crowds back on the occasion of the King's visit to Montreal on May 18th. The scouts are travelling by special bus and are to be stationed on Pine Avenue and Westmount avenue.

Scouts of the Ormstown Troop with their scoutmaster are attending the International Scout Camporee at Verdun on June 23-25. A cordial welcome is being extended members of Troop 40 of Mount Vernon, N.Y., who are making Ormstown one of their camping stops on their tour of Quebec and the Northern New England States in June.

The May meeting of the Garden Club was held on the 11th at the home of Mrs. M. R. Stalker. It was decided to have the competitions and exhibitions of flowers during the season. The first competition will be tulips. The officers for this year are President, Mrs. James Carmichael, vice-president, Miss Laura Walsh, secretary-treasurer Mrs. W. S. McLaren. Park committee, Dr. W. S. McLaren, convener, Mrs. D. F. McIntyre, Mrs. R. C. Jarvis. Exhibition committee, Mrs. M. R. Stalker, convener, Mrs. J. T. Elder, Miss Lydia Bazin. Meetings to be on second Thursday as usual. Miss Walsh offered her home for the June 15th meeting.

St. Paul's Young People's Union entertained the various Young People's Unions of the Chateauguay district on Wednesday evening in MacDougall hall. The main feature of the evening's entertainment was the presentation of the play "Simple Simon Simple," by the Dramatic club of Knox Church, Hemmingford. Simple Simon enacted by Charles Barr, who was considered by his wife to be an ne'er-do-well inventor after suffering many discouragements and adversities finally proves that he is not so simple as his name. After many humorous incidents he finally wins wealth, the good opinion of his wife, and a son-in-law and everything turns out to be "peaches and cream."

The play was splendidly acted. Every member of the cast acting their respective parts most creditably. After the play the young People of St. Paul's served refreshments to the visiting unions. Mrs. Stanley Elliott favoured the audience with musical numbers during the intermissions and they were greatly appreciated. The evening's proceeds amounted to $50.00.

The Ormstown Women's Institute met on Wednesday afternoon at the home of the president, Mrs. James Moffat. Due to the absence of several of the conveners few reports were given. It was decided that a membership should be taken in the Red Cross Society and also in the League of Nations.

The School Fair was discussed and Mrs. M. R. Stalker and Mrs. R. C. Jarvis were appointed to meet with Mr. R. J. M. Reid, of Hemmingford to make plans for the Fair and for inspecting garden plots. It was suggested that a social function be held to increase the milk fund.

Miss Jeannine Champoux, B.H.S., of the Provincial Department of Health gave a most interesting talk on Nutrition, the substance of which has already appeared in an earlier issue of The Gleaner.

Mrs. Moffat expressed thanks on behalf of the Institute to Miss Champoux for her most instructive address. Mrs. Roy Blair, county president, was also present and brought greetings. She also drew attention to several items of interest to the W.I. At the close of the meeting the hostesses, Miss Welch, Mrs. H. St. Denis Mrs. M. Lindsay, Mrs. H. Beaudin, served refreshments to nineteen members and three visitors.

Mrs. L. E. McCaffrey and Miss Laronge, of Rochester, N.Y., Miss Ann McCaffrey, of Huntingdon Convent and Master Paul McCaffrey were week-end guests of Mrs. John McCaffrey.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Parkinson, Shirley and Harley and Miss Maud Parkinson spent Sunday with friends in Montreal.

Mrs. C. Munroe, Mrs. Helen Burns Mr. and Mrs. James A. Tait and Miss Shirley, of Montreal were guests on Sunday of Mrs. Peter McLaren.

Mrs. Wm. E. MacAlpine was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Allan K. English for some time before returning to her home in Vankleek Hill, Ont.

Mr. and Mrs. A. K. English and Miss Catherine English were in Montreal Friday of last week to see Mrs. Archibald Stoddart, of Vancouver, B. C., before she sailed on the Letitia for Glasgow, Scotland, where she expects to spend the summer.

Mrs. F. Platt has returned to her home in Ormstown, after spending the winter in Ottawa, Ont., with her daughter, Mrs. Hurd.

Rebekah Meeting:

A patriotic party featured the programme of Ormsdale Rebekah Lodge No. 30, Ormstown, at the regular meeting Monday evening. Patriotic songs were sung and games played, directed by Sisters MacPherson and Bishop. A number of the members are planning to attend Grand Lodge in the Windsor Hotel, Montreal, May 19-20. The degree team has an invitation to exemplify Rebekah degree at Hope Rebekah Lodge, No. 45, Verdun, Que., in the near future. There were 15 members present at the meeting, six past Noble Grands.

Covey Hill

During Thursday's wind squall, a poplar tree in front of Mr. Thos. Waddell's house was blown down, and all but struck the house.

On Saturday afternoon, Mr. Frank Gough and Miss Phoebe Bertrand motored out to bring Master John Wilson to the city to celebrate his twelfth birthday and view the Royal tour of Montreal.

Inspector Brady was a recent visitor at the Havelock schools.

Evangelist James Patrick with a friend from Knowlton, Que., has been visiting friends over the week-end.

Miss V. E. McCracken's sister, Margaret spent the week-end with her.

Mr. A. E. Curran is in Montreal undergoing hospital treatment.

A Salvationist collector has been calling here in the interests of his noble Army, whose "charity covereth a multitude of sins." When the frail and faulty leans up against one of our church pillars, the latter seems to require most of his charity for his own use, leaving but a modicum for the erring one's sins.

Rev. Jonathan Fletcher began his parochial visitation last week.

HOWICK HIGH SCHOOL

The pupils are looking forward to the trip to Montreal on Thursday, to welcome Their Majesties, King George VI and Queen Elizabeth. About 110 pupils have definitely decided to make the trip to Montreal by school bus.

The High School girls are organizing a softball team this year. In a few weeks they will be ready to challenge other girls' softball teams.

The books in the school library are gradually increasing. The number now is almost twice as many as that at the beginning of the year.

Franklin Rural

Mrs. Lizzie Minto, who has been very sick for the past few weeks, is gaining slowly. She has been under Dr. Stalker's care and Miss Mabel McDowell has been caring for her.

Franklin Centre

Miss Mabel Waddell is spending this week in Montreal with friends.

The Franklin Sunday School had charge of the service in the United Church on Sunday morning which was held in honor of Mother's Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Cassidy and Miss Annie Cassidy attended the funeral of the late Mr. Leo Fleming at Delson on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. McKinnon and Clarke, of Massena, N.Y., and Mr. and Mrs. John Dickenson of Howick, were Sunday guests of Mrs. C. Dickenson.

Mrs. Wm. Price has sold her farm to Mr. Dan Leahy.

The Franklin Y.P.S. held their monthly meeting at the home of Miss Helen and Gerald Goldie on Tuesday evening. Miss Dorothy and Milton Sharpe had planned to have this meeting, but Tuesday being Gerald's birthday, the meeting was held at the Goldie home as a surprise to him. The business meeting was conducted in the usual way, after which a social hour was spent.

Sunday guests of Mrs. J. Waddell were, Messrs. Kenneth McNeice and Joe Smith and little niece Mary Anna, of Montreal and Mrs. E. Sharpe and Misses Dorothy Sharpe and Donalda Waddell.

The sympathy of the entire community goes to Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Lefebvre in the death of their little girl, Pauline, from pneumonia which occurred at Valleyfield hospital late Sunday night.

We are glad to note that the teacher of the Centre school, Miss F. MacDonald was able to resume her duties on Monday after her recent illness.

Mrs. Lawrence Towns is spending two weeks in Montreal with relatives.

The Franklin W.I. met at the home of Mrs. Floyd Stevenson on Thursday afternoon with a large attendance. On motion it was decided to give a donation to the Red Cross Society. The dramatics were reported as progressing. A pleasing feature of the afternoon was the presentation of a fountain pen to our former president, Mrs. R. C. Manning to which Mrs. Manning answered in well chosen words. The delegate, Mrs. Floyd Stevenson, gave a splendid report on the County Convention. We all enjoyed the Nutrition talk which Miss J. Champoux gave us from which all carried home a few helpful hints for future use. Mr. R. J. M. Reid was also present and gave details about the School Fair project which this W.I. has taken up for the first year. Delicious refreshments were served at the close of the meeting by the hostesses Mrs. C. Waller and Mrs. F. Stevenson and a social hour enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Dunn and Miss Mildred Dunn called on Mr. Wm. Dunn in the Royal Victoria hospital on Sunday. We are glad to hear that his eye is much improved after his recent operation and that he expects to leave the hospital the end of this week.

The Misses Anna Mae and Elizabeth Leahy of Huntingdon, spent the week-end at their home here.

Five Put on Trial For Picture Fraud

Four of Accused Identified as Solicitors For "Photograph Contest"

An echo of the Dominion-wide photograph contest racket was heard at Montreal on Friday in Court of Sessions when five men went on trial on charges of fleecing residents of seven Quebec districts during the past two years.

After witnesses had identified four of the accused, the trial was adjourned until Friday by Chief Judge Gustave Perrault.

Those before the courts are all of Montreal and were identified as Horace Viens, 28, reported to be the head of the Universite des Arts, supposed sponsor of a $5,000 grand prize contest; Romeo Ste. Marie, 34; Clovis Barbeau, 30; R. Begin, 30; and Rodolphe Hudon, 35.

Witnesses from Bedford, Sherbrooke, Terrebonne, Iberville, Beauharnois, St. Hyacinthe and St. Francois testified that they had been solicited by one or more of the four men already identified.

They had been asked to show old photographs, they said, and then were advised to pay $2 to join the "university." The pictures would be judged in a contest, the solicitors told them, and they would vie for a $5,000 grand prize.

In every case, the witnesses declared that the two men returned the next day, told them their pictures had great chances of winning the grand prize and that, in any case, they were certain of winning "between $165 and $325."

The extra visit, they were told, was to advise them that with a new frame their pictures could not fail to win.

According to the evidence, the price paid for the frames ranged from $30 to $65 each.

All witnesses declared that their pictures had been returned "painted," enlarged and framed. The work was not worth the price paid for it and the money would not have been given if they had not been told they were "practically certain" to win a huge prize, the witnesses said.

STUDY DRAINAGE PROBLEMS HERE

A party of six students of agriculture are at present making a survey of drainage conditions throughout this district. These students are here under the supervision of the Quebec Department of Agriculture and the knowledge that they gain here is expected to be of service to them when they become agronomists later on and have to give advice to farmers along this line.

"No wonder I'm sore. When I arrived at my girl's house last night, I found someone else had beaten me to the sofa."

"Ha, your hated rival?"

"No, the installment collector."

What's in the Wind

by PAULA DICKS

Many women representing rural Canada will attend the Conference of the Associated Country Women of the World in London, May 30th to June 10th. Apart from a lengthy programme devoted to educational and business affairs, there will be opportunities to visit the English countryside and country homes, the highlight being a trip down the Thames to a Garden Party at "Cliveden", famous as the home of Lady Astor.

In the field of publicity there will be an exhibition of Literature published by countrywomen's societies and an address by Viscountess Rhondda on "The Power of the Printed Word."

Mrs. C. E. Petch, President of Quebec Women's Institutes, is booked to speak at a W.I. meeting in Huntingdon in September, on her trip to the Conference.

Recently I received in a letter from England this charming description of normal life in the country . . .

Moretonhampstead, Devon . . . . . "The children are staying to be with the others who arrive for the holidays. They always have a lovely time here. They ride and hunt most days and look after entirely among themselves the four horses; clean the stables and harnesses, so they are busy from 6 a.m. on. After dinner Uncle Gerald reads to them around the fire, while Auriol and I sew or knit and enjoy the story too. It is amusing to see the kids still young enough to pretend they are not too sleepy for just one more chapter. . . . . "Please, Uncle Gerald."

They went off early this morning with Uncle Gerald to the Pony Club meet at Chafford." . . .

And from Vancouver, May 1st . . . Dear Paula Dicks:

"So you have come under the spell of Mrs. George Black! Isn't she a bright spot in a hard day's work? And did you ever have better copy? I am sure that you had the same stimulating experience as I did when you met this grand "73 years young" member of parliament . . .

And what a grand paper the Huntingdon Gleaner is! I certainly did not realize that Huntingdon was large enough to possess such a bright, chatty news sheet with so many departments . . .

"Elizabeth Bailey Price" . . .

None other than the capable editor of the "Canadian Home and Country," the second issue of which has just come to hand, even more interesting than the March copy.

* * * * *

"And Joe Price was so pleased with the way he "busted" into the columns of the paper that he has answered your column himself . . . adds Mrs. Price.

Message to the Married

The said answer is such a Priceless contribution to the wisdom of the ages that I'm taking the risk of making it public without the express permission of the author . . . Dear Paula Dicks:

This is JOE writin' . . .

. . And just to tell you how much Bailey and I enjoyed that big piece you writ in the paper in "What's in the Wind". It was nice of you and so understanding like; and it was so fine for Mrs. Black to tell you about US.

You see about twenty-six years ago there were a couple of kids working on a newspaper . . . one was society editor and the other sporting editor. Well, these kids up and got married. Neither of 'em was especially bright but they did get the strange idea that by adding together their brightness that the sum total would at least equal the average intelligence quotient of the race. Which would enable them to get by without missing many meals.

Well that's when we formed the partnership and ever since we have been goin' along patting each other on the back when we thought nobody was a-lookin'. After a number of years it got to be a habit. It has always been a lot of fun.

We have never made much money. Yet we have had a whole lot more enjoyment than most folks we know.

Then along came Mrs. Black and her man George. And Bailey and I said to each other: "There's a couple a lot like us. Each is mighty proud when the other gets orchids."

So Bailey wrote a book and I sort of edited it to see that she didn't use too much profane language or bad grammar. George Black and I got a great kick out of the wonderful reviews for wasn't it a book about HIS wife and hadn't MY wife written it? Then Bailey and I swore that we would try to get along just as happily as George and Martha for the next fifty or sixty years. . . . . .

Then out comes you in the paper and tells our secret! We ought to get mad at you for revealin' our formula for married bliss. But we are not. We both liked it and thank you very much.

Hoping you are the same, "Joe F. Price."

* * * * *

And if that sort of a letter isn't as good . . . . and a whole lot better than a basket of orchids, I hope I never get one!

* * * * *

In the May Narrator, a Magazine of Books, published by McAinsh & Company, Mrs. Ledger, an English correspondent states. . . .

"Among Canadian Author's contributions we discover that Mrs. George Black's "My Seventy Years" is receiving favorable attention."

* * * * *

As for "Canadian Home & Country," in future years the launching of a magazine to serve 72,000 of the Women's Institute will be referred to as a "milestone" of progress. To those who know and appreciate the facts it is an understatement to call the achievement a "Gibraltar!"

MEDITATION ON MARRIAGE by Will Durant, has some pretty advanced—or ancient philosophy—depending on your previous knowledge or views. This is in May 13th Saturday Evening Post. It is informative and timely and holds out promise of discovery for the mind tuned only to the orthodox religious interpretation of the married state. . . "which is becalmed in still waters."

For middle-class urban life where marriage is most seriously on the rocks, Durant advocates that the wife go to work unless engaged in motherhood. . . . a revival of the dowery custom. . . honorable with antiquity. We must bring marriage back to an earlier age or surrender our traditional moral code.

$20 FOR WINK

Robert Townsend, 62 years old, said it was a blink, but a 17-year-old girl said it was a wink. Judge Arthur P. Stone, of Massachusetts, agreed with the girl and fined Townsend $20 for winking at the girl, despite the man's contention that an eye affliction caused him to blink uncontrollably.

Huntingdon

Huntingdon United Church celebrated its 100th anniversary of the congregation on Friday and Sunday. On Friday a supper was served by the ladies of the congregation. The attendance of townspeople was excellent but due to the lateness of the season the farmers found it difficult to leave their work to come to the church supper. The supper was excellent in every respect and much credit is due the Board of Stewards and Ladies for its excellence. In the evening a musical programme was presented and was appreciated by all present. The Rev. J. D. McCrae of St. Lambert was the guest speaker. Appreciated greetings were brought to the congregation by the Rev. Mr. Woodside of Kensington and by the Rev. J. B. Maclean, D.D., of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

On Sunday morning and evening the Rev. Dr. D. L. Ritchie, of Montreal preached at the services. Rev. J. B. Maclean, D.D., arranged for the evening service in St. Andrew's Church being withdrawn so that the congregation might be able to join with the United Church for this occasion. Dr. Maclean assisted Dr. Miller for the evening service. The choir rendered several anthems in the morning and evening whilst the soloists were Mrs. Wood and Mrs. Reese. The treasurer reports the anniversary receipts as $75.

Fence Burns at Fair Grounds

Saturday afternoon a close call to the burning of the dining hall at the Fair Grounds occurred. Evidently a lighted match or a careless smoker cast a lighted butt into the dry grass alongside the wooden fence which caught fire. A portion of the fence next the dining hall was burnt down, and an elm tree scorched. Had the fire occurred at night the dining hall would quite likely have caught on fire. The loss sustained was not great.

Town Sewer Work to Stop

Mr. Donald McNair, foreman of the sewer work on Chateauguay Street informs us the work is to be stopped at an early date, perhaps this week-end. When the man hole at Tedstone's bakery is completed the work will be finished for this season.

There's a Wide Choice of Inexpensive CONCRETE IMPROVEMENTS

● There are numerous uses around the home, to which concrete can be economically and attractively applied, enhancing property values and making the premises more liveable. For instance, a permanent, fire-safe garage may be built: enduring driveways and pathways laid. And there are numerous smaller applications — lawn benches, flower boxes, garden pools, gateways, retaining walls, basement steps, flag-stone walks, bird-baths, sun dials, arbors, flower beds, to name a few. Concrete is easy and inexpensive to build with, and needs no costly upkeep. Write us for literature and suggestions on the uses of concrete around the home.

SWIMMIN' DAYS ARE HERE AGAIN

There's nothing like the old swimmin' hole and these Malone youths are seen having a grand time of it in the stream near the Malone Golf Course. The youths are from the School for the Deaf and Mute and they're taking time out for a refreshing dip despite the fact that the water must be somewhat chilly yet.

Fertilizer Maintains Plant Food in Soil

In a comparatively new country like Canada where the land has not been cropped nearly as long as in some other parts of the world, farmers are learning that even the most fertile soil will peter out if nothing is done to return its fertility. The plant food which the crops take out of the soil must be replaced, otherwise the land will produce poorer crops, stated Grant Peart, Plant Products Division, Production Service, Dominion Department of Agriculture, in a recent address.

Scientists found out long ago that plant diet consists of a dozen or more chemical substances, and that some of these chemical substances are required in larger amounts than others. Nitrogen, phosphorus, potash, calcium, Sulphur, and magnesium are known to be the principal substances of plant food, with nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash as the most important. In this regard, it is interesting to note that human food, while of different kinds, is composed of practically the same chemical substances as foods required by plant life. Also, human beings, like plants, thrive largely according to the food consumed and assimilated, and human rickets and plant rickets have much in common; both result in weakly and undernourished bodies.

The fact that plant foods are consumed with great rapidity in repeatedly cropped soils will explain why chemical fertilizers and natural fertilizers in the form of manure give good results when used on almost any soil of garden or farm. To get these results the proper fertilizer has to be used in the correct manner and in effective amounts, because different kinds of plants vary in their food requirements. For example, leafy plants, such as lettuce and cabbage, do better with an abundance of nitrogen; turnips and tomatoes respond to an abundance of phosphoric acid, and potatoes and other starch-forming plants prefer an unusual amount of potash.

This tendency of some kinds of plant life to require large amounts of different plant foods must be taken into account, as also the fact that sandy soils are usually short of all the plant foods and need heavier applications of fertilizers than do loams and clays. These factors of soil fertility and crop requirements make it difficult for the average person who is unversed in fertilizers and their uses to choose wisely from the wide range of fertilizer products advertised for sale. If every buyer of fertilizer obtained a copy of the recommendations of the fertilizer council from his Provincial Department of Agriculture, it would help him in getting better results from fertilizer.

In using fertilizer, it should be remembered that if farmyard manure can be obtained, its use should come first, as it not only supplies the essential plant foods but other substances as well to promote plant growth and development. The ideal scheme of fertilization includes the use of farmyard manure, plus the proper chemical fertilizers to balance the plant food in the manure as required by the different crops and soils.

BEST NOT SO GOOD

Cities with the highest church membership are generally below average in "general goodness of life," Dr. Edward L. Thorndike, educational psychologist of Teachers' College, said in his new book, "Your City," just published. The book is based on a three-year survey of conditions in cities. Thorndike concluded that the "general goodness of life for good people" is highest in those cities which have an abundance of artists, engineers, musicians, nurses and teachers, but have fewer clergymen, lawyers, actors, veterinarians and domestic servants. He said cities with the highest percentage of church members are below standard in good reading, home ownership and continuance in school, and have a higher proportion of illiterates and child labor. There was no difference, however, in homicides, deaths from venereal disease and illegitimate births. "Unless the better communities under-report their church membership or the worse communities over-report theirs," he said, "we must suspect that the churches are clubs of estimable people and maintainers of traditional rites and ceremonies rather than powerful forces for human betterment."

"Does Kerry hold your hands in the movies?"

TAKING MILK APART

"Milk contains the greatest assortment of nutritive substances of all single food materials." So says Mary Swartz Rose, the food expert of Columbia University. It is easy to prove the assertion. Milk is easily "taken apart".

Milk contains proteins (casein and lactalbumin) sugar, fat, minerals and vitamins. While liquid in form, milk actually contains more than 15 per cent of solids by weight.

Milk may be taken apart in two ways: (1) by separating the fat from the skimmed milk and (2) by separating the curds from the whey. The first method is used by the housewife when she makes butter, the second by the cheese-maker when he makes cheese.

The curds are separated from the whey in two ways: (1) by adding rennet, a digestive ferment which curdles the milk protein as casein and (2) by adding lactic acid which does the same thing. Allowing the milk to sour produces acid in the milk naturally. The use of rennet produces hard cheese and a combination of rennet and acid gives us sour milk cheese such as cottage and cream cheese.

Some rennet cheeses are made of whole milk, that is milk including the cream. Others are made of skimmed or partially skimmed milk.

Cheese is a concentrated form of milk. It takes ten pounds or 4⅘ quarts of milk, to make a pound of cheese. Over 3 billion quarts of milk go into cheese in Canada and the United States each year. There are 18 distinct kinds and 400 varieties of cheese for the user. People on this side of the Atlantic do not eat enough cheese. The per capita use in America is about 5 pounds per head per annum. The Swiss eat 20 pounds per person, the French 16 pounds and the Dutch 15 pounds.

ALL FOR A HAT

J. W. Owings' hat blew off and landed in a 20-foot hole in Kansas. Owings clambered down; couldn't get out. Then a rainstorm came up. Four hours later, after Owings had shouted himself hoarse, a rescue party led by his wife pulled him out with a rope.

RED IRRESTIBLE

Red is the favorite color among women, but men prefer blue, according to experts who have been studying the use of color as a means of increasing business. Few women, they found, can resist a touch of some shade of red or pink to trim a dress even for the hottest weather. Men, they say, favor colors that have a quieter effect on the emotions. Suits, shirts and ties having a blue base or a blue stripe on a neutral base sell much more rapidly than materials with even a thin thread of red running through them. It was found that nearly 75 per cent of men include a blue suit in their wardrobe. A man's temperament can usually be judged by his clothes. Those who habitually wear suits or shirts having a touch of red about them are usually men of excitable disposition. Green is favored much more by women than by men. This is attributed to the greater artistic taste of the average woman.

ARMS USELESS ON A WET DAY

Rheumatic Pains Relieved by Kruschen

Here is a noteworthy instance of the manner in which damp weather can affect the joints of one who is subject to rheumatic pains.

"I had been suffering from rheumatism very badly," a man writes, "and had such pains in my joints that I could hardly bear it, on a wet day especially. It pained me terribly to use my arms, and I was hardly able to work. I tried two different remedies, but I was still as bad after the treatment.

"Then I was told to try Kruschen Salts, which quickly brought relief. So of course I have kept on with it ,and I am now much better and have never felt so fit for years. I used to feel so miserable and sluggish, but now it is a pleasure to be able to work."—S.B.

The pains and stiffness of rheumatism are often caused by uric acid crystals in the muscles and joints. The numerous salts in Kruschen assist in stimulating the internal organs to healthy, regular activity, and help them to eliminate excess uric acid.

Obituary

The late Cleophas Richer

Funeral services for Cleophas Richer, husband of the late Elizabeth Leblanc, 73, who died in Tupper Lake, N.Y., Monday, May 8th, at 3.30 o'clock, were held Wednesday morning at St. Anicet, and burial was in the family plot there.

Mr. Richer passed away a few hours after he arrived for a visit with his son, Albert Richer, at the Plaza Hotel, 179 Park St., Tupper Lake. In poor health since he suffered a stroke 2 years ago, he spent the past three months with a daughter, Mrs. Adrian Lalonde, at St. Agnes de Dundee. Mr. and Mrs. Albert Richer brought him to Tupper Sunday evening by auto, and he was stricken soon after his arrival there.

He was born at St. Anicet, March 15, 1866, and lived most of his life there. Mr. Richer was a retired farmer.

Surviving are four daughters, Mrs. Helen Aubin of Montreal; Mrs. Adrian Lalonde, St. Agnes, Mrs. Alfred Langlois, Tupper Lake, and Mrs. Romeo Genier, Iberville, P.Q.; three sons, Albert and Donat Richer, Tupper Lake, and Alcide Richer, Port Lewis; two sisters, Miss Angeline Richer, Lumby, British Columbia, and Mrs. Georgianna Leblanc, St. Agnes; and two brothers, Michael, of Sandstone, Minn., and Zenophile Richer of Syracuse.

GOOSE LAYS TWO EGGS REGULARLY EACH DAY

An extraordinary goose is proving to her owner, Charles Shulver, of Woodrow, Sask., a profitable asset.

The goose actually lays two eggs in one day. She lays one at 7 in the morning and another at 4 in the afternoon. Mr. Shulver, unable to believe his eyes, consulted a neighbour, who thoroughly convinced him he had only one goose, and after several days of watching found this to be a fact.

ONLY 4 OF 56 LEFT

Four of Brigham Young's family of 56 children still survive. All are elderly women living in Salt Lake City, Utah. There were 31 daughters and 25 sons born to Brigham Young and his 19 wives. Last of the sons, Joseph Don Carlos Young, died last summer aged 83. Oldest of the survivors is Mrs. Clarissa Y. Young, 78, whose husband also is still living. The other three daughters, all widows, are Mrs. Ruth Y. Healy, 77; Mrs. Mabel Y. Sanborn, 75, and Mrs. Fannie Y. Clayton, 68.

Eighteenth Century

You'll look small-waisted and as appealing as an Eighteenth century portrait in this simple little design (No. 8464) which, although it's just absurdly easy to make, has loads of chic and personality.

The vogue for things Victorian 's obeyed by the high and tiny waistline (with gathers above it to round out your bosom), by the use of braid and buttons, and by that oh-so-flattering neckline.

Make this youthful dress of taffeta, flat crepe or colorful print.

Pattern 8440—You can see how cleverly all the detailing is disposed to flatter! The skirt of this design (8440) has rhythmic, circular fullness at the hem, that sways so attractively as you walk.

But observe how slim it is over your hips. It is cut up high, to make your waist look tiny and your diaphragm flat.

Choose silk crepe, georgette, or a pretty print in pure dye silk for this design—so that the softness of the fabric will do full justice to the detailing.

HELD IN 28 YEARS

David Baker, negro chauffeur, rebelled against the restraint of 28 years of careful driving for his physician-employer.

He careened his heavy car through congested downtown Brooklyn thumbing his nose at every traffic cop he passed. Not even six shots that flattened both rear tires nor the three cars he sideswiped halted him. He stopped only for an impenetrable traffic jam.

Baker wouldn't explain.

TOO TOUGH TO KILL

He's a mild-eyed university don, but, if you should ever meet Sir Joseph Barcroft, don't be taken in by his looks. For this middle-aged professor, in the course of his scientific career, has had more adventure than many men who've spent their lives exploring the remotest corners of the globe.

In the course of research on behalf of his fellow-beings, he has endured bodily torments which might easily have killed the hardiest of mountaineers.

To test the reaction of the human body to extreme cold, he once lay naked for more than an hour in a refrigerator room.

Anxious to discover exactly how much oxygen an airman flying at a high altitude needs to sustain life, Sir Joseph shut himself up for six days in a sealed glass case.

Students of the University of Cambridge watched him all the time. They noticed that the professor's skin was "turning blue"; but when he emerged from his glass prison at the end of six days, all he said was that he was "rather shaken up"—but still very much alive!

During that time, he had experienced conditions similar to those endured by a flyer 16,000 feet up above the clouds.

Professor Barcroft's famous refrigeration adventure occurred some years ago in America.

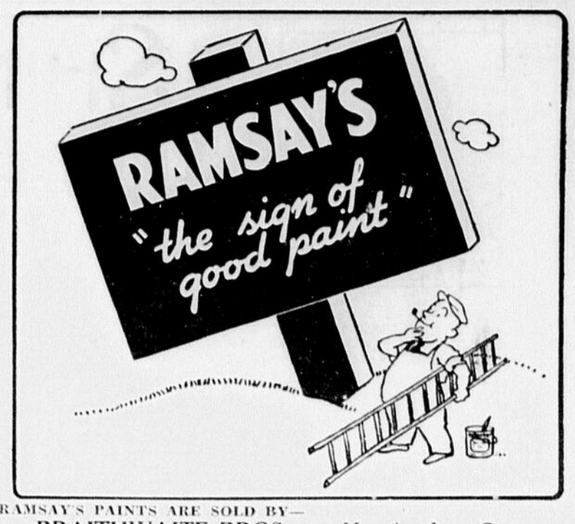

He went to a Massachusetts laboratory and allowed a party of scientists to shut him up, absolutely naked, in a room of ice.

"I was able to prove," he states, "that though the human body instinctively shrinks from cold, this really means that the nerves controlling the blood vessels are in revolt.

"These nerves prevent the blood vessels from generating sufficient warmth. But if you can stick it out, your body will put up its own protection and radiate warmth of its own."

For a while, in his freezing "cell", Sir Joseph suffered that terrifying numbness that has caused the death of so many Polar explorers. But in the end his will triumphed.

The sensations he experienced then showed Sir Joseph that many a man in the past, when faced with conditions of bodily and nervous hardship, had "given in" long before it was necessary to do so.

SHINING WINDOWS

by Kathleen Norris ~

"I think we're all being—rather mean to Dad," she recommenced in a silence. "It isn't his fault." Tears welled in her eyes.

"Don't you worry; you're the angel of that family!" Paul re-assured her, laughing joyously and squeezing the hand that lay in his. "And that's what counts, you know," he added with tremendous gravity. "I mean, here we've found each other, you and I, and we're going to have everything our own way, and it's up to us to—to show 'em! I've always been an awful bum—"

"Oh, Paul, you have not!"

"I say I have. I've had to have coaching pretty nearly every term, and twice I've flunked. But by George, I'm going to do it all differently now, Joyce! You watch me! Now listen," the boy went on in a suddenly business-like voice. "We've got to plan. Monday— this is Monday, isn't it? My father wants me to go to Portland with him on Thursday; I've got an aunt there. But you'll hardly be fixed down at Merriwell anyway by then. The place is in pretty bad shape, isn't it?"

"We think so. We've none of us seen it; even Dad hasn't seen it. There's a caretaker on the place now but he won't stay. Mother thinks we'll only be there this summer, sort of camping, and that then something is sure to turn up. Ben's driving the girls and me down, and Dad's driving Mother in the big car. The man who has bought the car lives in Hollister, and he's coming over for it sometime next week. The trunks go tonight.

She was speaking seriously, lifelessly.

"You may be crazy about it!" Paul said to her heartenigly.

"I don't exactly see us crazy about it," Joyce answered hesitatingly. "We have not any friends there; we will be six miles from the village, even if it wasn't a very uninteresting village. And we'll be frightfully short of money. I suppose we can eat, but until something breaks we can't do much more. Mother says we used to spend every month more than we have every year now, and of course that—" Joyce's round eyes met his honesty, "can't go on," she ended.

"It doesn't have to go on. Ross'll probably come back for Lissy, you and I will be married—why, shucks, a year and a half is no time at all!"

"I'm going to try to be terribly good," Joyce told him, her whole soul fired with new resolution. "I won't mind how hard it is, as long as I know I'm going to get out of it soon. It is not going to matter to me whether there are many nice people there or not and it won't matter much to Dodo, because she really hates dancing and going around. Oh, we'll get through it, and Ben'll get a job, and everything will straighten out. But it's only so queer—to have all the old silver pieces gone and the rugs and everything we've ever had!"

"Never mind!" he said encouragingly, "it's only for a little while and you've got to meet things like that in life, you know. We'll get the best of 'em yet!"

"You're good, Paul," she said almost unvoluntarily. It was the boy's turn to flush and laugh uneasily.

"Sure I am," he said. "Come on, let's go. I said I'd have you back by six and I'm taking my stepmother to dinner at eight."

When Joyce got home her mother, flushed and inexpert, was in the last throes of serving dinner in the kitchen. Dodo hindering her as she went to and fro. The silver was gone now and they had to use kitchen cutlery.

"The eggs are done," Mrs. Ballard said in discouragement, "and those potatoes are hard as rocks! Take a towel, Joyce, and pinch one and see if it's soft at all!"

Oven heat rushed into Joyce face; she felt but a languid interest in dinner; her soul was singing in the clouds. Tea and music and violets and Paul; life was a dreamy sea of bliss and hope and love. And this new "being good" was not the least of the magic! It made life a thrilling game to have a man love you and believe in you, and since hard fortune was inevitable it would be lightened by that simple rule of being good.

"How are the boots, Dad?" she asked him, meeting him as he came into the kitchen with an unwonted kiss.

"The—the boots, eh?" he repeated, bewildered. But she saw how his face brightened. "Well, they seem all right, Joycie," he said gratefully as they all sat down to overdone fried eggs and underdone baked potatoes. "Last night, eh, Mommy?"

"It would seem so," Mrs. Ballard agreed, closing her lips with the air of a person who never will voluntarily open them again.

"If you wouldn't be so cheerful about it, Dad!" Dodo said in a sort of wail. "We've always loved this place so, and it's our home, after all."

"Oh well, home is where the family is," he said buttering a second roll. "Any coffee there, Mommy? Yes, yes, yes," William Ballard went on musingly, stirring his cup. "I guess it'll be some time before I hear Kitty and Mike again; big radio sold with everything else, eh? We accumulate things in life and then lose 'em!"

Mrs. Ballard, stirring at the head of the kitchen table, was not sympathetic. She made quick nervous gestures with her hands, pushing in a hairpin, leaning over to set the salt in a better position.

"This is simply going native," she murmured. Joyce noticed that she was not eating.

"When you have to cook a dinner you don't want to eat it," Sarah Ballard said with a readiness that showed that she was waiting for the question.

"The transition is probably the worst of all this," Joyce said unexpectedly. "Once we really get settled at La Perdita we may love it! Lots of people move down to that part of the country for summer, and it's March now. Probably by autumn something will have changed; maybe Cousin Laura will die?—"

"You'd think it would occur to the old girl she can't win!" Ben said and Joyce laughed so heartily that he presently gave her a gratified glance.

"How old is she, Dad?" Joyce was resolutely keeping alive the languishing conversation. "Let me see" Her father was almost pathetically eager to get into a family talk; he had been excluded from everything but necessary queries of late. "She's my father's mother's cousin. My father would be—Cousin Laura's about eighty-two."

"She's extraordinary bright, Will," Mrs. Ballard said, taken unawares. She had not meant to add the name, nor turn to him as she did. She had not shown him so much friendliness for a week. Before she could withdraw it Joyce and Ben were carrying on the conversation briskly.

"She's not bright enough to see her obvious duty, and do it," Joyce said. And as Ben laughed appreciatively she sent him a grin. It was unexpectedly exciting, this affair of being the household angel.

Presently, he was busily if incapably, washing the dishes. The Ballard girls knew little of kitchen work; they burned their fingertips; streaked their arms with soot, dipped glasses in lukewarm greasy suds and wiped them hopelessly upon wet greasy towels.

"We'll have breakfast whenever we get downstairs tomorrow," Mrs. Ballard planned, "and we'll finish up our suitcases and get started. Dad said the paper tonight says occasional showers tomorraw; if it rains it'll be simply terrible! Well, we can't help it, we'll just have to take what comes."

When the family met in the kitchen for a demoralized last breakfast at nine o'clock the next morning, Joyce gathered that she was the only person in the household who had slept well. Perhaps her father had had a good night's rest; he had breakfast alone at eight and gone downtown; all the others said they had not slept at all.

Mrs. Ballard made coffee; Joyce busied herself with toast. The day was dark and at intervals rain showers fell steadily. "Sweet weather for driving!" Ben said.

They were all silent awhile, lost in their own thoughts, busy with breakfast. Presently it was time to go upstairs. Breakfast was over. They really had their last meal at "Ninety-nine."

Chapter 7

At eleven Ben brought the car around from the garage, with the rain curtains buttoned. It seemed strange to be going anywhere except in the big car; they started down the wet step rather silently, and stowed their suitcases snugly. The mother and father watched them from the shelter of the big hood over the door.

"See you at La Perdita!" Joyce called out in farewell. She saw her mother's face wrinkle with tears.

Ben drove down to the Bayshore Highway. It was all straight ahead then, the long road went in a direct line southward past the towns: San Mateo, Redwood, Palo Alto, San Jose. The rain continued to fall steadily.

"By George, I believe the old bus will make it!" Ben said when they had coffee and sandwiches at Morgan Hill and were nearing the end of their road. Joyce's eyes had been busy, had been entertained all the way; Dodo, in the back seat, had dozed, with her head against Lissy's shoulder and the cat in her lap asleep; Lissy had sat erect, not interested, hopeless, weary.

"Gilroy three miles, Ben. And it's only quarter to two."

Joyce was conscious of being tired of the seat and tired of the rain and a little chilly. Ben yawned, shook his head as a dog might d rove on.

Gilroy, Merriwell at last! A man at the gas station directed them to La Perdita.

They took the wet road toward the west. On the right, as the winding highway went up into the hills, was a faded sign: "Cooley's Sulphur Well. Picnics." It looked forlorn and forgotten in the rain.

Joyce was getting very excited now. They went in at an open farm gate and past a clump of redwoods. Off toward the west the hill rose steeply.

Presently a shabby rabble of collapsing barns and fences came into view with some sparse willows and one great oak beside them. Toward the north, on a bare rise of ground, the farmhouse stood, stark, square, dingy, hideous.

It looked what it was, the cheapest structure unskilled labor could devise from planks and paint. The paint had been gray; it was streaked with yellow now and chipping from the walls. There were steep front steps, a forbidding front door. The lower floor was raised some four feet above the level of the packed hard wet earth outside; the house looked as if it were balanced crazily on stilts.

W.M.S. Meets—

The regular monthly meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society of Rennie's United Church was entertained at the home of Mrs. W. J. Maither on Thursday afternoon, May 11th.

It was decided that the W.M.S. serve the dinner at the W.C.T.U. Convention which is to be held early in June in the Rennie United Church and plans were made for the dinner.

A letter was read by Mrs. R. J. Steele from the Supply Secretary, Mrs. Thomas Kirk.

At the close of the meeting a delicious supper was served.

Athelstan

On Thursday afternoon the May meeting of the Women's Missionary Society was held at the home of Mrs. Andrew Mack. The topic for the day was "Stewardship Today," and proved most interesting. It was decided to send children's clothing, bathing suits, etc., in the spring bale for use at the summer camps. The hostess served refreshments at the close of the meeting.

Thursday evening the Woman's Christian Temperance Union met in Munro Hall. Several items of business was discussed. Delegates were appointed to attend the County Convention at Rennie's United Church in June. Comfort bags are being sent to the Sailor's Institute as usual.

Sunday afternoon the Sunshine Mission Band held its regular monthly meeting with Mrs. George Boyce in charge. The lesson for the day was Good Neighbors and dealt with the work in Saskatchewan Province. Two new members joined the Mission Band.

A Mother's Day programme was followed at the United Church afternoon Service. Special music, readings and the address by the pastor were in keeping with the day. The topic of programme was "The Glory of the Nation."

Mr. George Elder received word Sunday of the sudden death of his brother James, of Rounthwaite, Man., who suffered a heart attack and died Saturday night. Their many friends in the East extend deepest sympathy to the bereaved family.

Sepia Dance Band "Queen" At Malone

Blanche Calloway and Her Orchestra Playing In Malone June 9th

Negotiations have been completed to have "The Queen of Hi-De-Ho" present at the State Armory, Malone, on Friday evening, June 9.

This "Queen" is none other than Blanche Calloway, famous sister of her equally famous brother, Cab Calloway, whose orchestra is one of the outstanding attractions of New York City's Harlem.

Blanche Calloway will be present at the State Armory at Malone on the evening of June 9 with her nationally known sepia orchestra. Dancers who love red hot rhythm, as only this colored orchestra can present it, will find the orchestra of Blanche Calloway has "a something" that gets you. She has just finished a long engagement at a Boston night club and is making a tour of the country during the summer months before returning to the night club of some Eastern metropolis at the conclusion of summer. This band will be one of the highest priced band, to come to the State Armory at Malone. In order that as many as possible might attend the dance the price of admission has been kept down to two dollars a couple. Table reservations are free and can be made at McCarthy's Drug Store. Phone 726.

HANGMAN JOURNALIST

The man who hanged Vaquier, Mahon and Bywaters has just died in his home at Manchester. He was William Willis, 64-year-old former executioner — and he had taken notes of all the 116 executions at which he assisted in a large black notebook. In the book Mr. Willis, who lived at Bunyan street, Ardwick, described the last moments of the condemned men and details of their crimes and characters. He was an engraver by trade, but he became an executioner in 1906 and retired in 1926. He acted at the first execution in King George V's reign, when T. W. Jessop was hanged at Wandsworth in 1910, and his note on that occasion contains the comment that Jessop's execution was delayed owing to the death of King Edward VII.

Town League Games Get Underway on Empire Day

Afternoon Games on Wednesday Next Will Feature Chateau vs Leach and Gleaner vs Shawinigan—Falcons Open S.Q.S.L. Here on Tuesday Evening

A total of 97 names were handed to those appointed last week by the directors of the Huntingdon Softball Club to select players to play in the Huntingdon Town League during the summer season. Naturally, when the directors counted the names at their committee meeting on Monday evening they were somewhat set back momentarily. However, this efficient group of sportsmen soon found a solution to the seemingly grave problem and proceeded with the division of the teams and players.

Although there will again be five teams in the Town League this year, most teams will carry a roster of approximately 16 players. The teams entered in the local loop are: Chateau, Shawinigan, Leach, Gleaner and the fifth team will be formed by junior players from Huntingdon and will be called the Juniors. This fifth team was selected to replace City Gas nine and will help to promote playing material in this locality and will equally give some of the younger element in Town an ideal opportunity to show what they can do. If these youngsters were placed on other teams they would not get the chance to play as much as they would on their Junior team.

Another decision which will be appreciated by both players and fans is the fact that season tickets will be available this season for all Town League games, except playoffs. The price of these tickets is $1.00 for individuals and $1.50 for family tickets. Family tickets include the parents and the boys or girls attending school.

Although the committee at its meeting on Monday evening selected players to play on each of the five teams, it must be remembered that these players are subject to change at the discretion of the local officials.

There are still approximately 25 players in the Town of Huntingdon who will be placed on one of the five teams. This matter will be taken care of with the shortest possible delay by the directors of the Town League.

The teams held the first practice last evening at the Fair Grounds and all indications point to the fact that a very successful season is on its way for this popular summer sport in Huntingdon.

S. D. Popeck, manager of the Huntingdon senior team, which plays its games in the Southwestern Quebec Softball League, announced after last evening's practise that his team is better balanced than last year but he would not commit himself as to which player would be on the line-up for the opening game here on Tuesday next.

Valleyfield Falcons, who reached the finals last year but lost out to Valleyfield Pepsi-Cola, will be in Huntingdon on Tuesday for the league inaugural. A fast game is expected and both teams are already confident of winning their first contest. This game is scheduled to start at 7 p.m. D.S.T.

The Town League will open its schedule on Empire Day, Wednesday, May 24th, when a double header will be presented to the local fans. In the first game of the afternoon Chateau will meet the potential Leach aggregation at 2 p.m. The champions of the local loop last year, Huntingdon Gleaner, will be opposed to the Shawinigan. Both these contests should be much appreciated by the sportsmen of Huntingdon who are always willing and ready to cheer and support their home town players. All these teams will feature new players and the teams are to be of stronger calibre than in 1938.

PRESIDENT

DR. J. E. CAZA
who was appointed President of the Huntingdon Town League and President of the Huntingdon Senior Team at a softball meeting held last week.

To conclude the sports program on Empire Day a baseball game will be played at the Fair Grounds in Huntingdon in the evening. Ormstown Borden's baseball nine will meet the Huntingdon Chateau baseball team in a league game. This game is scheduled to start at 6 p.m.

All in all, it looks as if a very promising softball season can be looked forward to this year and the public is urged to support their favorite team.

The admission to the games on Wednesday next is fixed at 10 and 15 cents.

THE SKATING EARLS

Presenting a most unusual roller skating act which has appeared at all of the better known New York Night Clubs, and Broadway Theatres, the Skating Earls, who will appear at the ORMSTOWN EXHIBITION, JUNE 6-7-8-9th, continue with the unusual in presenting one part of their act with the assistance of local talent.

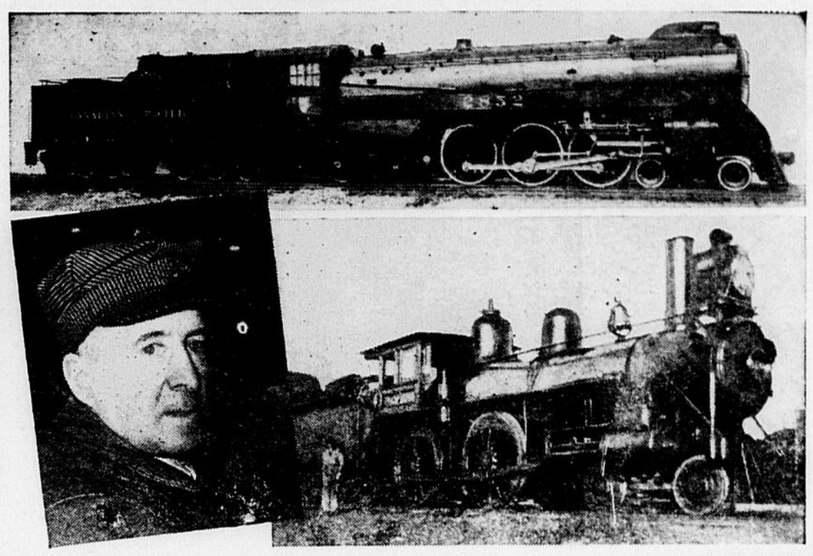

Particularly adept in the use of the skates, the Earls present one half of their act in demonstrating the many difficult maneuvers which they have worked out and perfected in their skating act. Whirling at a dizzy rate of speed they perform daring routines, which are doubly enhanced by the beauty and grace with which they execute them.

Going from the sublime to the ridiculous the Earls next make their appearance with one of their members, a buxom 225 pound young lady who is as graceful as her huge size will enable her to be. The act is side-splitting exhibition, with all of the members reaching the ultimate in comedy.

In addition, the local talent makes their delayed appearance. It is unpredictable whether they will be able to stand the pace set by the Earls or the pummeling about which they might receive.

One of the most entertaining of acts, and one of the most outstanding skating acts ever presented by George A. Hamid, the Earls are sure to please the many who will watch them perform when they appear at the ORMSTOWN EXHIBITION.

Royal Engine for Record Run

Engine 2850 of the Canadian Pacific motive power fleet — semi-streamlined Hudson type, last-minute word in locomotive construction—will haul the Royal Train from Quebec to Vancouver and 25 Canadian Pacific engineers, each selected for his record and ability, will in turn handle the throttle during the coast-to-coast run. From the time the royal train leaves Quebec City May 16 until it arrives in Vancouver May 29, the engine will provide the power for the trip of more than three thousand miles, a run not heretofore carried out by any one engine on the North American Continent.

Canadian Pacific engineers, firemen, conductors and trainmen to a total of 110 men will man the Royal Train on the Company's lines, and an equal number selected with equal care will handle the Pilot Train which has been provided for newspapermen, police and accompanying officials. The honor of being first engineer to pilot the locomotive of the train bearing Their Majesties King George VI and Queen Elizabeth when they visit Canada, however, goes to Eugene Leclerc, (inset) quiet-spoken French-Canadian locomotive engineer who has 48 years' service with the Canadian Pacific Railway. Nearly 38 years ago when the late King George V and Queen Mary, then Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York, visited Canada, Eugene Leclerc was fireman on their train from Quebec City to Montreal. This time he will be engineer for the same run.

Comparison of the above pictures of the new locomotive of the same series as 2850 and old No. 360, which powered the royal train on the 1901 tour, and which was one of the best in service at that time, shows the great strides made in engineering in the past four decades.

Locomotive 2850 is one of the new semi-streamlined engines built last year for the Canadian Pacific Railway Company. It weighs 363,900 pounds, more than four times as much as the original 90,000-pound engine, and has a tractive effort of 57,000 pounds as compared to the 13,400 pounds of old 360. No. 2850 is being carefully checked for the trip and will be beautifully painted in royal colors for the tour over Canadian Pacific lines.

Milk Production Per Cow Important

Increased production per cow has often been given as one means by which the dairy farmer can increase his income on the farm. This is true within certain limits, as shown by the first year results of the Dairy Farm Management Study carried out in Ontario, by the Dominion and Provincial Departments of Agriculture.

On farms shipping milk to city markets there was an increase of nearly $200 in Labour Earnings for every increase of 1,500 lb. production per cow up to 9,000 lb. but on farms with a production exceeding this mark a slight decrease of Labour Earnings was disclosed. On these farms a high production may be attained by paying less attention to some other farm work. With each increase of 1,500 lb. production per cow, the cost of production per 100 lb. was reduced by approximately 15 cents.

Among the shippers to the processed milk markets (cheese, condensed milk, milk powder and cream), there is usually less specialization in dairying. In these groups there is a pronounced rise in Operator Labour Earnings with an increase in the production per cow. The cost of production per 100 lb. of milk, however, does not change appreciably. Because of the varying types of farms in this processed group, the production per cow serves more as a gauge of a farmer's ability rather than as an important factor in the efficiency of his milk production.

Production per cow is an important factor affecting farm returns. There are a few farmers producing milk profitably with an average production per cow ranging from 6,000 to over 10,000 lb. This wide range at which milk may be produced profitably indicates the action of other factors which cannot be ignored completely.

ANCIENT LOOT?

Latest archaeological find in Egypt was made at San-el-Hager in the Nile delta by the French Professor Pierre Montet of Strasbourg. This find was the mummy of one of Egypt's kings, "Sheshonk" or "Shishak" as referred to in the Old Testament. Unlike most ancient Egyptian tombs recently discovered this one never had been entered by grave robbers and the tomb's interior was found just as it has been left after the burial about 950 B.C. Many ornaments and other treasures were found in the tomb, leading the discoverers to believe that this was the King Shishak mentioned in the Bible in Kings 1, 14:25:26, which reads as follows: "And it came to pass in the fifth year of King Rehoboam, that Shishak, king of Egypt, came up against Jerusalem; and he took away the treasures of the king's house; he even took away all; the shields of gold which Solomon had made." The ornaments found in the tomb may be part of this plunder.

"I like to read history," exclaimed the lad. And the lass cooed, "Then look into my eyes. I have a swell past!"

TOOK NO CHANCES

A caretaker at a building in Melbourne was alarmed to find an aerial bomb, wrapped in brown paper, on the premises. He called the police, who took it to an explosive expert. He found it was not loaded. Then a member of the air force revealed that it was a mess ornament which had been lent to a returned soldiers' meeting. It had been left with the liftman for a tenant of the building.

SURE CURE

"What's good for a continual buzzing in my ears?"

"A divorce."

Lest We Forget

In the war of 1914-18 throughout the world there were:

74 million men mobilized.
10 million killed.
3 million missing.
19 million wounded.
10 million disabled.
7 million prisoners.
9 million orphans.
5 million widows.

10 million men, women and children were forced to flee from their homes.

Six thousand, four hundred men were killed daily for 1,558 days.

To Re-surface Street Leading To Fair Ground

St. Albans, Vt., Delegation to Attend Show—Two Fire Escape Stairways Built at Ormstown

The Ormstown Village Council was notified this week by Auguste Boyer, M.L.A., for Chateauguay County, that the street leading to the Ormstown Fair Grounds will be re-surfaced previous to the opening of the Fair. This will be very pleasing information to the Ormstown residents living on this street. It will do away with the dust nuisance during Fair week.

A County Agent at St. Albans, Vt., informed the secretary-treasurer of Ormstown Fair, W.G. McGerrigle, that he is organizing a group of men from the State to attend the Fair. This Agent stated that he had attended this leading Fair in past years and felt that it was entirely too valuable a show to be overlooked by the farmers of Vermont State.

Two fire escape stairways have also been built on to the Arena, one on each side. This will add greatly to the safety of the public at the night Show.

MARK POOR DRIVERS

Believing that one way to check auto accidents is to mark cars owned by dangerous drivers, Mayor Fred Huester of Scranton, Pa., has ordered the painting of circles on all autos involved in accidents. The first accident calls for a yellow circle, a second one for a red circle and a third for a blue one. Such markings not only will serve as a warning to give the marked cars plenty of room, but will be a constant reminder to offending drivers of their recklessness.

EXERCISE FOR GOOD LOOKS

Ann Morriss takes this advice and swings on the rings. This exercise is excellent for strengthening the abdominal muscles, the back, arms and thighs. It is also a sure guarantee for slimming the waistline and hips.

$500 FOR DOG BONES

Judge William F. James, of San Jose, Calif., thinks $500 is too much for any dog's bones and biscuits. Mitzi, a spaniel, was bequeathed "sufficient money out of my estate to insure proper care" for life by Mrs. Elizabeth Gallagher. Dr. C. E. Graves, veterinarian, who has Mitzi now, asked $500. Judge James said he would consider it but added: "I'd blush to set aside $500 for a dog when unemployed men are walking the streets begging for a dime for a cup of coffee."

Backache—Kidney Pains
Poison causes pain. When you have pains in the back, lumbago or rheumatic pains you may be suspicious of the kidneys. They may be slow and sluggish in removing uric acid poisons from the blood.
Along with inactivity of the kidneys you usually find the liver torpid and the bowels irregular. You can clear up this whole condition by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. For fifty years this popular medicine has proven its outstanding efficiency as a regulator of these vital organs.

Flanagan Hotel Blossoms Forth in New Raiments

Numerous Improvements to be Made Throughout Hotel—New Company Acquires Flanagan Hotel, Built 25 Years Ago by the Three Flanagan Brothers

"Good Roads Flanagan" was the nick-name of the late Jack Flanagan and for many years the most widely known individual of Malone and the north country. Jack Flanagan was forever boasting better roads and every road he caused to be built meant just so much more travel to the Hotel Flanagan at Malone. His two brothers, the late Joe and Sam looked after the hotel. They ran an excellent hotel but with time the hotel got run down and their deaths following in close succession saw the hotel suffer in many ways.

Recently the 7-storey, 100-room hotel was acquired by a company of people composed of Mr. Raymond Grinstead, Miss Clark of Plattsburg Cumberland Hotel and others. They have acquired the services of trained hotel workers and are out to restore the prestige of this hotel and make it a mecca for Malone and Northern New York.

Transformations are in progress at the Hotel Flanagan in Malone which when completed will result in this, the best known hotel in Northern New York blossoming forth with new life, new spirit and a new appearance.

The first of these changes has been the building of a smart new room in the basement of the hotel which is to be known as the Ship's Grill. This room is quite outstanding and its design has brought forth much favourable comment. This room was officially opened on Friday evening when a buffet supper and numerous invited guests present, including the press from a widespread area of the district.

Other changes less conspicuous but even more important to the traveling public have been going on ever since. This general program includes the refurnishing of every room, a new mattress on every bed, new carpets in the corridors, redecoration of the main dining room, two new kitchens and a considerable amount of new equipment.

But the most striking change has scarcely been mentioned outside the hotel and will be almost a complete surprise to the general public.

STREAMLINED BASEMENT

The large basement or ground floor, the major portion of which has been unused heretofore, is being converted into a labyrinth of beautiful rooms for a variety of purposes and refinished in a manner usually found only in the large metropolitan hotels.

"SHIP'S GRILL" OPENING

Donald A. Stone, manager, said he was gratified by the response to the announcement of the opening and reported that the "Ship's Grill" capacity of about 140 was taxed throughout the evening.

Music by Lloyd Fox, who presided at the Hammond electric organ, Martha Kay, personality singer, and Gene Cooper, song stylist, added to the evening's enjoyment.

The supper was served at 9 o'clock. The serving tables were loaded with savory and gayly decorated dishes. There were huge roasted turkeys, a variety of salads and cold cuts and bread built up in the form of a ship, a long cabin and a clock, covered with decorative icing. These unusual dishes were prepared by Earl Marquis, of Plattsburg, chef at the Cumberland Hotel, who was in charge of the buffet supper.

There was much favorable comment upon the manner in which the nautical decorative scheme was carried out in the construction, design and furnishings of the grill. A particularly pleasing part of the decorative theme was the large marine mural by Norman Porter and Miss Ruth Jones which adorns one wall of the room, the opposite wall representing, the riveted side of a ship's cabin with port holes adding to the nautical illusion. The furniture is of appropriate design and is decorated with marine figures. Attractive souvenir menus were placed at the tables.

Aubrey

A reception was held on Friday evening at the home of Mrs. W. Wood, in honour of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wood whose marriage had taken place in Huntingdon, the previous Saturday. Over one hundred guests assembled to extend congratulations and good wishes to the newlyweds, and the many beautiful gifts testified to the esteem in which the young couple is held. Mr. and Mrs. Wood will reside in Valleyfield where the groom has a position in the Cotton Mills there.

Mrs. Edgar Nugent and little daughter Rilla of Kinnears Mills, Que., are the guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Edgar McKell.

Mr. Morris Robb has gone to Lacolle where he has secured a position in the Immigration Dept. there.

Mr. W. G. Allen returned from the Valleyfield Hospital on Wednesday and is progressing nicely after his recent operation.

Sorry to report Mr. Hiram Reddick is not as well as his many friends would wish.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. McLennan, Gordon and Gertie, Mr. Hazen Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rogers, the Misses Dorothy Pratley, Ann Richards, May and Irene Stacey, all of Montreal and Mr. Gordon Smaill of St. Remi were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. Stacey.

Mrs. Donald Ness and little son of Howick were guests last week of her mother Mrs. L. Gruer.

Hemmingford

The Hemmingford Women's Institue met at the United Church hall Friday afternoon. In the absence of the Pres., Mrs. D. F. Orr, Mrs. H. A. D. Summerville, vice-pres., occupied the chair. Miss Jeannine Champoux, B.H.S. of the Provincial Department of Health, dealt with the subject Nutrition in most interesting and effective manner. The ladies also had the pleasure of listening to a splendid talk on Tuberculosis by Mrs. Melling, R.N. At the tea hour bountiful refreshments were served by Mrs. Mabel Keddy and Mrs. J. P. Simpson, assisted by Mrs. H. N. Stewart.

A large congregation attended the Mother's Day service at St. Andrew's United Church Sunday morning. The regular Sunday School was discontinued and the children attended with their parents. Rev. Victor C. Rose preached a very impressive sermon, taking as his subject "Children—obey your parents." Mrs. Selby Dunlop sang as a solo: "My mother", very effectively. The flowers were varied and beautiful.

Miss Geraldine Clayland and cousin, Miss Marjorie Wells of Montreal spent the week-end at the home of Mr. Frank Clayland.

Miss Gladys Pelletier and Miss Kathleen Conrad of Montreal spent the week-end at the Pelletier home.

Miss Maria Brown of Boston, Mass., is spending the summer with her mother, Mrs. Sophia Brown.

Miss Jean Thompson of Bristol is visiting her sister, Mrs. H. W. Stewart.

Ormstown

W.A. Meetings—

The May meeting of St. Paul's United W.A. was held Tuesday afternoon in McDougall Hall.

Mrs. Jas. Carmichael conducted the meeting, taking the devotional exercises, which were in keeping with Mother's Day. A reading was given from Samuel 10, a hymn sung and Lord's Prayer repeated in unison.

A poem, "Come Britain's King to Canada" was read, followed by the business period, the reports of the various committees showing a good condition of affairs. There will be no June meeting and it was proposed combining the July meeting with the W.M.S. should that meet their approval.

A most interesting talk was given by Mrs. A. K. English on her trip and visit to Paris, one item being the fact that temperance is given greater stress in Scotland than ever before. Some pictures were shown, which added greatly to the interest. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. English. A tribute to "Mother" was paid and "God Save the King" was sung.

Afternoon tea was served and a social hour enjoyed, the hostesses being Mrs. John Boyd, Mrs. J. Campbell, Mrs. John Hastie, Mrs. John Dickson, Miss Laura Walsh, Mrs. Bert Perry and Mrs. Archie Cook.

Mr. and Mrs. Burgess Cody of Cowansville, Que., were Sunday guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Cottingham, Sr.

Mr. and Mrs. Stan. Caza and family of Massena, N.Y., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. Duval, Mother's Day.

Mr. Victor Lang of St. Johns, Que., spent the week-end at home.

Guests on Mother's Day of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Bashman, were Mr. and Mrs. A. Jarvis and Jackie, Notre Dame de Grace, Mrs. Young, Mr. and Mrs. E. Upton, Rupert and Lionel and Mr. Russel McMahon.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Smith and little son Raymond spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Peddie, Howick.

OATMEAL DROP COOKIES

½ cup shortening, 1 cup brown sugar, 2 eggs, 2 cups oats, 1½ cups flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1 cup dates, chopped, ½ cup milk.

Cream the shortening, gradually add sugar. Add unbeaten eggs one at a time, stirring well after each addition. Add oats. Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and cinnamon, add chopped dates. Add flour mixture alternately with milk. This should be a stiff dough. Drop by spoonfuls on greased baking sheet. Bake in moderate oven.

Obituary

The late Mrs. John Winter

The death occurred on Monday, May 8th, at the home of her son, John L. Winter, of Margaret Lindsay Gibson, widow of the late John Winter.

Mrs. Winter was a life-long resident of Ormstown ,a member of St. Paul's United Church, a life-member of the W.M.S., a member of the W.C.T.U. and W.A. She was an active worker, taking a keen interest in the affairs of the church and community until no longer able to do so on account of failing health. Of a gracious and lovable personality, she endeared herself to a large circle of friends, both old and young, to whom her loving and wise counsel was of great help.

The funeral service was held Wednesday afternoon at her late residence, Rev. Leslie Taylor officiating. The large number of friends present, as well as the beautiful floral tributes, testified to the esteem in which she was held. She is survived by one son, John L. Winter, eight grandchildren, a large number of nieces and nephews, her husband and one son George having predeceased her some years ago. Interment took place in the Union cemetery.

Those from out of town who attended the funeral were, Miss Lila Winter and Mr. and Mrs. Vosburgh, Noyan, Que., Mr. Fitch and Mr. and Mrs. Wilson, Mooers, N.Y., Mr. Lamb, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lamb, Miss Ilda Winter, Mr. Clark Winter, Montreal Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Winter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stevens, Mrs. Wm. Fleming, Mr. and Mrs. Miller Caldwell, Huntingdon.

CARD OF THANKS

We desire to thank our friends and neighbours for their kindness and sympathy shown us in our recent sad bereavement, also for floral tributes.

John L. Winter and family

The Gore

The Gore young people presented two one-act plays "Uncle George Pops In" and "Come Out of It" and a pantomine, "The Herdman Sewing Circle," together with several vocal selections in Herdman Hall on Friday evening. Due to counter attractions the attendance was not as large as had been hoped. The whole program was of a humourous nature and all parts were exceptionally well taken. Those taking part in "Uncle George Pops In" were Mrs. Jas. Moneypenny, Misses Nellie Ingram and Viola Gilligan, Messrs. Allister Neely, Jos. Moneypenny and Earl Fennell. Those in "Come Out of It" were Misses Eileen Herdman, Christena Ritchie, Viola Gilligan and Nellie Ingram, Messrs. Morris Henderson, Norris Herdman, Clark Henderson and Mervyn Graham. Proceeds amounted to $28.50. These plays will be presented in Kensington Hall on Friday night, May 19th.

The Gore Sunshine Mission Band met in the Gore School on Saturday afternoon with a very good attendance. As all work for the first bale has been finished there was no regular work period. The meeting was conducted in the usual manner. At the close a treat of candy was enjoyed and games played.

Miss Eileen Herdman won the breakfast set and salad set given by Mickey and Paddy Brown to the lady getting the most votes during the shows which they held at Herdman Hall the past week.

Mrs. Randles Boyd has returned home after spending some time caring for her niece, the late Mrs. Andrew Elder, Glenelm.

Misses Beatrice and Helen Herdman of Malone, were week-end guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam. Herdman.

Miss Annie Johnson is a guest of Mrs. H. Herdman after spending the winter in Montreal.

Glad to report that Mr. Wm. Irwin is able to be up again after his recent illness.

Miss Violet Anderson spent the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Anderson.

Week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Anderson were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Barlow and family of Glens Falls, and Mr. Willis Anderson of Montreal, and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Shepherd of St. Hilaire.

Mr. and Mrs. Foster have moved to the Johnson farm and are making their home with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Allister McArthur.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Mack, Jean and Bobby were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Mason.

Mr. Charlie Henderson, Montreal, was a week-end guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Taylor.

Miss Eleanor Anderson spent the week-end at her home.

Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Anderson were Mr. and Mrs. Donald Anderson and family and Mr. and Mrs. Morton Manson and family, all of Malone.

Sunday guests at Mrs. Hattie Herdman's were Mr. and Mrs. Prescott and family of Hampstead, Mr. and Mrs. John Elder and family and Miss Mary Taillefer of Athelstan, and Misses Beatrice and Helen Herdman of Malone.

St. Louis de Gonzague

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Fisher and Lucille of Burlington, Vt., accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Joslin of Waitsfield, Vt., were guests for dinner on Saturday of Mr. and Mrs. James Alexander, visiting later in the day with Mrs. John Mabon and Edith.

Howick

Miss Ethel Kerr of Montreal was the week-end guest of her mother, Mrs. Wm. Kerr.

Mrs. Hunt is visiting for a few weeks with friends in Montreal and Sherbrooke.

Mr. and Mrs. Merril Crawford of Montreal were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Crawford over the week-end.

Mrs. H. Ferns and daughter Isabell of Dewittville were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Mair.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Tolhurst and little daughter, Kathleen Morison, all of Montreal, were Sunday guests at the home of Mrs. and Mrs. R. A. Henderson.

Mr. Elmer Cavers spent the week-end with relatives in Montreal.

Miss Emma Reid and friend of McMasterville were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Reid.

Mr. Allister Rorison of McGill University will spend the summer months at his home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Rorison.

Rev. and Mrs. D. MacKay left Thursday for Princeton where they expect to spend a week.

Rev. Dr. Whillans of Montreal took charge of the service last Sunday at Georgetown.

W.M.S. Meeting

The United Church W.M.A. met on Tuesday, May 9 at the Manse with an attendance of eighteen. Current events were taken by Mrs. Gray and Mrs. R. R. Ness; temperance notes by Mrs. J. W. Logan, and Christian Stewardship by Mrs. A. B. MacFarlane. The study for the day taken by Miss Margaret Morison was on the chapter entitled, "The Church Reaches Out", and described some of the work done in our hospitals, school homes, day schools and marine mission boats. Special music was a duet by Mrs. Gruer and Mrs. Robt. Templeton.

"How would you like to start getting in my hair, babe?" said the playboy to the chorine. And, the chorine snapped, "With a bottle of dandruff remover!"

It's not surprising that you're constipated!
If you suffer from constipation to the point that you feel weary, depressed and worn out — it is time to question yourself!
What have you eaten lately? Meat, bread, eggs, potatoes? It is not surprising then that you're constipated. Your diet lacks "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean quantity, but a kind of food that is not completely assimilated and leaves a soft "mass" in the bowels that helps the bowel movement.
If this is your case, the solution is tasty Kellogg's All-Bran, every morning for breakfast. It contains the necessary "bulk" and Vitamin B1, the natural intestinal tonic.
Eat All-Bran every day, drink lots of water and get back your zest for life! All-Bran is made in London, Canada by Kellogg. At all grocers.

GUARDING AGAINST BOREDOM

Even our favourite vegetables become tiresome if always served the same way. Children find this especially so and most homes are familiar with the rebellion against vegetables. When this happens, it is not entirely the fault of the child—he may just be sick and tired of eating the same thing over and over again. Though our varieties of vegetables are limited, the ways in which they can be served are not. Here is a new get-up for cauliflower and a recipe for a medley of vegetables.

Cauliflower au Gratin

1 small cauliflower (in flowerets), 2 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca, ¾ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon paprika, 2 cups milk, 1 cup grated Canadian cheese, 1 cup bread crumbs, buttered.

Cook cauliflower in boiling, salted water 12 minutes, or until tender; drain and place in 6 small or 1 large greased baking dish. Combine quick-cooking tapioca, salt, paprika, and milk in top of double boiler. Place over rapidly boiling water and cook 8 to 10 minutes after water boils again, stirring frequently. Remove from boiling water; add cheese and stir until melted. Pour over hot cauliflower; cover with crumbs and bake in moderate oven (350° F.) 20 minutes. Serves 6.

MEDLEY OF VEGETABLES

1½ cups sliced onions, 2 cups celery, cut in strips, 1½ cups carrots, cut in strips, 2 cups string beans, cut in strips, ¾ cup green peppers, cut in strips, 1½ cups mushrooms, sliced lengthwise, 4 tablespoons butter, 2 cups canned tomatoes, 3 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca, 2½ teaspoons salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper.

Cut vegetables in strips, ¼ x ¼ inches. Melt butter in saucepan; add onions, celery, carrots, string beans, and green peppers, and cook 10 minutes, stirring frequently. Add tomatoes and mushrooms and cook slowly 20 to 30 minutes, or until vegetables are tender; then add quick-cooking tapioca, salt, and pepper. Cook 5 minutes, stirring occasionally. Serves 6.

Ethics of Etiquette

A "GOOD MIXER"

The sensitive person is never a good mixer because people are uncomfortable in his company. Nor is the self-conscious or timid person a good mixer.

Unless you have perfect ease and poise of manner, you cannot hope to be socially popular. If you are embarrassed and ill at ease, those who are with you will feel embarrassed too. That is why it is so important that you overcome your self-consciousness.

The good mixer is generous, with a spirit of goodwill toward everyone. He is big-hearted, lovable, and everyone likes to have him around. No hostess ever forgets to invite him.

The good mixer has the delightful habit of saying nice things about others. He never looks for faults, but somehow is always discovering good. He is a magnet; people everywhere are drawn irresistibly to him.

The good mixer is as much "at home" in the fashionable drawing-room as he is in his own home. He feels at ease and comfortable with everyone, and everyone is at ease with him. He doesn't try to be at ease. He is simply and sincerely in harmony with the whole world of human beings, and you feel it instinctively as you stand and chat with him. He makes you feel comfortable and happy; you don't want him to leave.

CASSEROLE DISHES

The trick of preparing tasty casserole dishes is one which every cook hopes to acquire. These recipes will prove useful in learning the art. The secret of successful casserole concoctions is the use of quick-cooking tapioca. It binds the ingredients to give them body but does not flavour the dish.

CASSEROLE OF FISH, Italian Style

¼ pound (1 cup) mushrooms sliced, 1-3 cup diced celery, 1 medium onion, finely chopped, 4 tablespoons butter, 3 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca, 1¼ teaspoons salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 2 cups flaked cooked haddock or cod, 3 cups canned tomatoes.

Sauté mushrooms, celery and onion in butter until tender. Combine with quick-cooking tapioca and remaining ingredients in order given. Turn into greased casserole and bake in hot oven (425° F.) 25 minutes, stirring twice during first 10 minutes of baking. Place unbaked biscuits on top of fish mixture after it has baked 10 minutes; return to oven, and bake 12 to 15 minutes longer, or until biscuits are browned. Serves 8.

CASSEROLE OF HAM AND CABBAGE

4 cups coarsely shredded cabbage, 3 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ¼ teaspoon paprika, 2 cups milk, 2 tablespoons butter, ½ pound boiled ham, chopped, ½ cup fine bread crumbs, buttered.

Cook cabbage in boiling, salted water 2 minutes; drain. Combine quick-cooking tapioca, salt, pepper, paprika, and milk in top of double boiler. Place over rapidly boiling water and cook 8 to 10 minutes after water boils again, stirring frequently. Add butter. Place layer of tapioca in greased baking dish, then layer of cabbage and ham; repeat, finishing with tapioca. Sprinkle with crumbs. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) 20 minutes. Serves 4 to 6.

NO FLAME — NO MATCHES!

Electric cooking is the safest method known. Matches and flame are always dangerous. An electric stove in your kitchen banishes these hazards forever. This assurance of safety from fire — especially when there are children in the family, is priceless. There are many other safety features of an electric stove that need not be emphasized.

BARE, BEAR UP

A Nice tradesman's family has just celebrated what must be one of the oddest of jubilees. It is the 150th anniversary of the family baldness. For five generations, every member of the family has been born bald and remained bald for life. The youngest member of the family is just three and has not a single hair on his head. It looks as if he, too, will afford work for the wig-maker.

20 CENTS FOR BUGGY

At an auction in Yorkana, Pa., the owner of a buggy still in fair condition hoped to get the top dollar by hitching a span of dapple grey horses to it and showing it off up and down the street. The buggy was knocked down to the highest bidder for 20 cents. The automobile must be here to stay.

ONE OF THE FILM "FINDS" OF THE YEAR

Allan Curtis, Hollywood's newest leading man discovery, played his first important screen role in "Mannequin," co-starring Joan Crawford and Spencer Tracy. This square-jawed six-footer is now appearing in an important role in "Burn 'Em Up O'Connor."

Dahlia's Whatnots

Royalty as an Emblem—

The kingship of a modern democracy is somewhat like the case of a grandfather's clock whose works are so worn that it has ceased to tell us the time.

Now I dote upon antiques and, above all else, upon grandfathers' clocks. But they are not necessities like food and raiment, shelter and fuel, and alarm clocks "fill the bill." When thousands of people are desperate from unemployment and deprivation, and other thousands desperate by reason of the taxation required to furnish relief, some luxuries must be sacrificed.

Models of quaint thatched cottages are being made to show future generations what England looks like in our time. Is the day coming when they shall gaze upon, and wonder at, the trappings of regal state which shall then be only memories?

Then, in the Dominions, we have emblematic substitutes, as it were, in the persons of our viceroys. The chief functions of these also is understood to be posing. Lord Tweedsmuir could not stick the end of his cane into the freshly turned soil at a ploughing-match up in Ontario last autumn but a reporter had to chronicle the marvellous feat. I dare say that were splinters of that walking stick available for a church bazaar, they would sell like hot cakes.

John Buchan is admired as man, thinker, and author; but his office is become, in the main, a vain show for the gaping, aping crowd.

Finally, in this much-governed Canada of ours, we have nine lieutenant-governors, who may be considered as provincial substitutes for our main viceregal substitute, all costly figureheads in our overstaffed governmental system. With Maurice Duplessis at the helm, a lieutenant would never be missed here in Quebec, and who says that a King could not carry on at Ottawa minus a mere earl?

In any case let us be thankful that we are not citizens of a racketeerdom or gangsterdom; the head of a kingdom may be far less injurious to his subjects' interests than depredatory fellow-citizens. But let us demand the original emblem and "refuse to accept substitutes," as the advertisements say.

Emblems may be significant and valuable. For, consider the Cross. I believe that its power has immeasurably transcended that of the Crown in religious experience. In it we see a bridge for Divine succor to reach human woe, eternal justice merged into boundless mercy. If the idea of the Cross has been distorted that very distortion proves the potency of its association as much as the frailty of the human mind. Also consider the Flag. Has not the sight of that emblem spurred battalions on to victory? What undying deeds of heroism have glorified its folds!

Then let us retain our emblem, the Monarch. But I would have new works in the old clock-case.

Let us cease to coddle our rulers in cotton-wool. In view of the world's acute need, and of the unstable state of democracy, it is up to them to justify their claims to public place and purse.

Let them travel all over the Empire and share the perils which their army and navy have to face. Majestic seasickness might prove to be one of those touches of nature which make "the whole world kin."

Let them also be ambassadors—at large, making international visits of good-will on a world-wide scale. Other rulers have won laurel wreaths by plunging their people into war. I would that ours might bear olive branches from which to extract oil of peace for the world's wounds. This be their function, spiritual, altruistic, and greater than that of any military or administrative office.

Facts of Interest to Movie Fans

HEDY LAMARR

Only the fact that a dramatic career appeared to present more obstacles than a career as a dress designer, brought Hedy Lamarr into motion pictures.

She has believed, as long as she can remember, that the job which looks hardest, is the best job, will offer the most fun and the best outlet for what appears to be an unbounded supply of energy.

She made her decision to be an actress when she was sixteen—and that is not so very long ago.

Because she had no entree to European studios, she decided with characteristic ingenuity that she would represent herself as a script clerk. The first studio to which she applied gave her a job.

Once on the set, she wasted no time making mental notes about everything she could see or overhear. Within forty-eight hours, she overheard the assistant director say that they needed someone to play the part of a secretary.

She applied for the job on the spot. They gave her the role—and her dramatic career was launched.

To widen her experience, she quit pictures for a brief period and devoted her talents exclusively to stage acting, in theatres in and around Vienna, her birthplace. She was starred in "Intimitaten", "Six Fables" and "Queen Elizabeth".

Until she came to Hollywood in 1937, Hedy lived in Vienna practically all her life. She was educated in Austrian grade and high schools and at sixteen enrolled in a private school of costume designing.

Her first picture in America was "Algiers" with Charles Boyer and Sgrid Gurie. She is now making a picture with Robert Taylor.

School notes

Dundee Intermediate School—

Last Wednesday afternoon, May 10th, the pupils of the school enjoyed a movie entertainment featuring pictures on the coal industry. This was made through the courtesy of Mr. Roy, a representative of the Anthracite Coal Co. Limited.

Several volumns of interesting books have recently been added to the libraries of the various classrooms.

On Friday last a spelling match was conducted by the local Women's Institute in Grade VII to determine which members of the class will participate in the spelling contest to be held at Howick in the near future. The winner of the local prize was Sophie Senwick.

Nearly thirty pupils and teachers of this school anticipate going to Montreal, May 18th, on the occasion of the visit of the King and Queen to that city.

A demonstration of visual instruction equipment will be given in the Assembly Hall at 8.00 p.m. E.S.T. on May 19th, by a representative of the Associated Screen News Limited, Montreal. Parents and friends are cordially invited to attend.

The boys of this school have recently organized a softball team and are anxious to play games with other district boys' teams. A game with the Fort Covington boys' softball team is expected shortly.

Dundee

The United Church W. M. S. met in the Church hall on Thursday, May 11 at 2 p.m. There were 11 members and two visitors present. Mrs. J. H. Lynn presided. During the afternoon the ladies packed a bale of clothing to be sent to the Presbyterial. The bale was valued at $28.50. Lunch was served at the close to all present.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart McGibbon, Mrs. Norman D. McPhee and Mrs. D. McPhee spent Saturday with friends at Summerstown, Ont.

Miss Catherine Armstrong, a nurse-in-training at the Montreal General Hospital spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Armstrong.

Mr. Gordon Fraser who operates a school bus route for the Dundee Consolidated School Board on the Lakeshore-St. Anicet route, recently had the seating accommodations of his bus changed to conform to the necessary school bus seating regulations. When first purchased, the bus seats were sitted sideways in the vehicle, but in conformance with the wishes of the school board, the seating arrangement has been changed so that the pupils face the front of the bus, which no doubt will make for greater comfort for the passengers. It is reported that Mr. Jos. Platt will have his new school bus operating in the near future. His bus will also have the seats facing front.

LOVE IN CATSUP

So pleased was Mrs. Martha Jane McClatchey, 70, owner of a catsup factory in Trenton, N.J., with her marriage to a man of 43, named Stewart, that she gave him a $400,000 interest in the business as a wedding present and a $25,000 a year job. They lived together only one year. Stewart meanwhile getting the controlling interest in the catsup business. Recently his wife tried to recover the $400,000 she gave him, basing her claim on fraud. The decision of the court went against her, she having gone into this marriage with her "eyes open" and no fraud was proved on the part of her young husband. But it doesn't seem right.

TENDERS FOR COAL AND COKE

Federal Bldgs., Prov. of Quebec

SEALED Tenders address to the undersigned and endorsed "Tender for Coal for Province of Quebec," will be received until 12 o'clock noon (daylight saving), Friday, May 26, 1939, for the supply of coal and coke for the Federal Buildings in the Province of Quebec, except Montreal.

Forms of tender with specifications and conditions attached can be obtained from the Purchasing Agent, Department of Public Works, Ottawa; the Clerk of Works, 150 St. Paul St. West, Montreal; the Superintendent, 150 St. Paul St. West, Montreal; and the Clerk of Works, Customs Building, Quebec, P.Q.

Tenders should be made on the forms supplied by the Department and in accordance with departmental specifications and conditions attached thereto.

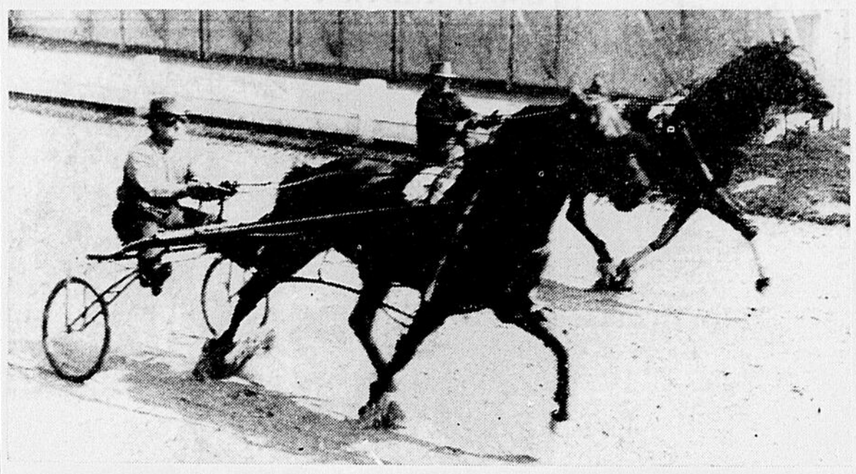

In the case of tenderers quoting for one or more places or buildings and when the total of their offer exceeds the sum of $5,000.00, they must attach to their tender a certified cheque on a chartered bank in Canada, made payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, equal to 10 per cent of the amount of the tender, or Bearer Bonds of the Dominion of Canada or of the Canadian National Railway Company and its constituent companies, unconditionally guaranteed as to principal and interest by the Dominion of Canada, or the aforementioned bonds and a certified cheque if required to make up an odd amount.

The Department also reserves the right to demand from any successful tenderer a security deposit in the form of a certified cheque or bond as above, equal to 10 per cent of the amount of his bid, to guarantee the proper fulfilment of the contract.

By order,
J. M. SOMERVILLE,
Secretary.

Department of Public Works,
Ottawa, May 2, 1939.

FRANKLIN COUNTY FAIR DAYS ARE ON THE WAY

Racing horses from the Faubert Stables, Valleyfield, P.Q., are shown having a work-out on the track of the Franklin County Fair grounds in preparation for the excellent races which are held in connection with this Fair. New features are being planned for the horse racing program this year.

The Case for the Newspaper

By NELLIE McCLUNG

The call is sounded by a medical man for an educated Eskimo, to see how much damage has been done to him physically, while he was being educated. Eskimos and Orientals, who have a non-worrying attitude to life, are not subject to the many diseases which attack brain workers, says Dr. Crile. Then he goes on to say that civilization itself is almost a disease. I hope he finds the Eskimo has not been injured. If he has, it will be well to hush it up, at least to send the children out of the room before it is announced.

Another doctor, who seems to be the small boys friend, says you had better not wash your ears, as it is likely to do more harm than good, and to put nothing smaller than your elbow into your ear.

Then there are sorts of interesting little bits of news, such as "returned soldiers are going to sell radio licences,"—"there are three places in Canada where the United Church will co-operate with the Church of England,"—"the Manitoba Legislature has voted $20,000.00 for scholarships, for needy students,"—and "Gordon McCuaig has attended school for ten years without being absent or late one day."

There are letters to the papers ranging from the railway question to religion in schools, and I read them all. There are book-reviews, pictures from a play "that rocked the nation," fashions, social notes, all of which I read, and was just beginning to feel I had learned enough for one day and had better watch out for the nerve diseases that afflict the people who know too much, when I came to one news item which outshone them all. Here it is:

"Manitou, Man.—A fawn captured a year ago by E. H. Lea of Pembina Crossing, is still thriving on the careful attention and affectionate care of the Lea children, who call it Dewey."

Now that's the sort of news that makes people subscribe to newspapers.

I can see the Lea children and their little pet—playing beside the Pembina river as it runs its twisted course through that wide green valley. I see the old Commission Hill, with black and white cattle on its grassy slope, and the little church below, with pointed spire. The Lea children may have different names now, but their eyes are still as soft and brown as Lucy's and Neddie's were. Life has not changed fundamentally when a few words in a corner of a newspaper can turn back the years and telescope the miles.

In Edna Jacques, new book, "Beside Still Waters," she puts the case for the home paper. She describes two people who left the prairie and went to the Coast to live. They are just a little bit lonely in that land of flowers and green lawns at Christmas. They love it all, but they miss the neighbours dropping in—

"And when the little old home paper comes
They gloat above it, all the tiny crumbs
Of news they gather up like miner's gold,
Pour over all the paragraphs and hold
The sheets aside, and talk with eyes aglow
Of the dear old neighbors of the long ago;
For every item is a personal thing.
They know the folks, and so the columns ring
Small bells within their ears, for they can see
The faces of old neighbors tenderly."

Oh no! the newspapers have nothing to fear. Their place is secure.

P.S.—This article was forwarded to The Gleaner by Mrs. L. Fennell of Carman, Man.

PAY FOR PALS

Drinkers would have to pay for treatment of indigent drunkards under a bill in the New Mexico legislature. The measure would finance treatment of alcoholics by increasing the liquor tax.

Dundee

The three-act play, "Aunt Tillie Goes to Town," was presented by the Athelstan Y.P.S. in the United Church Hall on Friday evening. The play was given under the auspices of the Dundee Central group of the Ladies Aid, of which Mrs. Earl Gardiner is captain. The play was well attended, the characters and action of the play being well liked by the audience. Rev. Mr. Duncan made a few remarks before the first act. Candy was sold between acts by the ladies. Mr. Ernest Watterson moved a vote of thanks to the players at the close of the entertainment.

Mr. Parker of Bombay, N.Y., was a Saturday visitor of Mr. Guy Stowell.

FLY AFTER WOLVES

Low-flying airplanes are being used to bomb wolves which are causing serious depredations among reindeer herds in Finnish Lapland.

In the neighborhood of Rajajooseppi a pack of 12 wolves succeeded in finding cover in a dense forest before a plane was able to overtake them.

Ski patrols are following up the tracks of a number of wounded wolves. A ruthless campaign against the packs is continuing.

PICKED SOFT SPOT

First warm days of spring caused C. B. Adcock, farmer near Roxboro, N.C., to hang his coat on the limb of a tree. A few days later, when he went after it a wren flew out. In a pocket was a wren's nest with four tiny eggs in it. Adcock says his coat will stay right there until Mrs. Wren raises her family.

IT'S TRUE!

By Wiley Padan

New York, N. Y.—"IT'S TRUE! that a forty-cent tax and three-dollar license fee was paid by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios so that a 1909 French taxicab could be used in a scene of 'Bridal Suite,' with Annabella and Robert Young," says Wiley Padan. "The taxi is a 'Unic' with oil lamps, right-hand drive, bulb-squeezing horn and hinged roof. It was discovered in a Los Angeles junk yard about six months ago. And because it must run under its own power in the film, the license fee and tax had to be paid."

Gleaner Advertisers and Correspondents

Wednesday next being Empire Day, the Gleaner will be published Tuesday evening. In order to help facilitate publishing we would appreciate the co-operation of advertisers and correspondents through sending their printer's copy to the Gleaner on Monday or Tuesday morning. Copy arriving by Tuesday evening's mail will be too late for publication.

POOR PICKER

To a hotel in Birmingham, Ala., went a man who gave his name as W. E. Scruggs, asking to have a $25 cheque cashed. He offered the woman cashier a credit card and credentials to confirm his identity as Scruggs. What she did was to call the police who discovered he was using credentials stolen from a traveling salesman named W. E. Scruggs. The cashier knew he was an impostor because she is Mrs. W. E. Scruggs.

Private Herd Record Book

Good cows are a result of good breeding, if the cows come from good ancentry they will be good producers if well cared for. It therefore follows that good breeding is essential on every dairy farm. A proper record of the breeding should be kept of every animal. A milk record of every cow is valuable information for every farmer.

Have this information at your disposal by maintaining a "PRIVATE HERD RECORD BOOK," such as has been approved by the various cattle breed associations in Canada, and published by the Huntingdon Gleaner.

A book sufficiently large to list the pedigree and milk records of 50 animals, for a period of 12 years can be secured for 50 cents.
