COSSACKS DEMAND DECISIVE ATTACK

Addressed by John R. Mott Who Was Enthusiastically Received

By Canadian Press.

RUSSIAN GENERAL STAFF HEADQUARTERS, via Petrograd, June 28.—Elihu Root and the whole military staff of the American commission, accompanied by M. Tereschtenko, the Russian Foreign Minister, arrived here last night. Mr. Root, Major-General Hugh L. Scott, military leader of the commission, and M. Tereschtenko, immediately held a conference with General Brussiloff, Commander-in-Chief of the Russian armies. As a result of the conference, it was decided that the aides of General Scott shall begin a ten days tour of the southwestern front, starting from headquarters tomorrow afternoon. It is possible they will go as far south as Rumania.

General Scott expects to deliver a series of addresses to the Russian soldiers explaining the character, work, and discipline of the American army. The Commission will be guests of General Brussiloff at luncheon today, after which Mr. Root and M. Tereschtenko expect to return to Petrograd.

UKRAINES INDEPENDENT.

The Ukraines, inhabitants of an extensive region of Russia, embracing part of the territory of the old Kingdom of Poland, issued in a general congress at Kiev a declaration alleging that their petition to the temporary government for autonomy had been rejected.

Thereupon the Ukraines were summoned to organize a separate local government which, it is hoped, will be confirmed by the coming constituent assembly.

FORMER CONVICT ARMY HERO.

The hero of the army in the woody Carpathians is a former convict from Siberia, who, by his example, inspired an attack by forces which heretofore had obdurately refused to charge. The ex-convict, whose rank is sergeant, led fifty volunteers in a rush on a German blindage.

The attacking party, confused by heavy fire, wavered, whereupon the sergeant alone climbed a breastwork and hurled a bomb among the enemy. Attacked by three Germans, he sabred and shot two of them. Then with only eighteen followers, several strongly held blindages were rushed.

This produced general panic among the enemy and resulted in the capture of many prisoners. The sergeant was given an officer's commission, two regiments invited him to take command, and the whole of his division resolved immediately to participate in an offensive.

DANCER'S HOUSE VACATED.

The followers of Nikolai Lenine, the Radical Socialist leader, who since the revolution have been occupying the villa of Mademoiselle Keheshinska, the dancer and favorite of the former Emperor, quit her residence today. The palace, however, is still occupied by the militant Maximalists.

MOTT ADDRESSES COSSACKS.

The Cossack Congress today listened to a speech by John R. Mott, member of the American Commission, whose appearance on the platform brought prolonged applause. Mr. Mott described America's war preparations, complimented the Cossacks on their unity and strength, and declared America would never abandon Russia and other Allies.

Replying, President Dutoff, of the Congress, said he had conviction that America had entered the war in the interests of justice. Thereafter the Congress passed unanimously an emphatic resolution in favor of a vigorous prosecution of the war.

The resolution, demands an "immediate and decisive attack." It rejects the idea of a separate peace, declaring the war must be fought in accord with the Allies until victory has been reached. The resolution concludes by appealing for support of the "Liberty Loan," and demanding stern measures against deserters and traitorous propagandists.

MAJORITY FOR THE SECOND READING ESTIMATED AT 60

General Whip Sent Out for Division on Wednesday Next

DEFECTIONS FROM BOTH SIDES SURE

Review of Probable Line-Up as the Party Whips See it

Special to The Star from Our Own Correspondent.

OTTAWA, June 28.—The vote on Conscription is within hailing distance. A whip has been sent out calling on members to be here on Wednesday next, when the division is expected, though possibly it may occur only on Thursday. Care is being taken to secure the attendance of those who usually are delinquent.

Making allowance for discrepancies and miscalculations, and also for the uncertain attitude of some of the Opposition who have not declared themselves, the Conservative Whips figure a majority of about forty-five against the referendum. On the main motion for the second reading the majority is estimated to be around sixty, for a number who will vote for the amendment will afterwards get into line and support the Bill.

Outside of Quebec, the Conservatives will line solidly for Conscription, against Sir Wilfrid Laurier's amendment. The Bill will have the support of Dr. Chabot, of Ottawa, and F. J. Robidoux, of Kent, N.B., the only two French Conservatives not from Quebec.

LIKELY LIBERAL DEFECTIONS.

Maritime Province Liberals in the main will vote with their leader, though A. K. Maclean, of Halifax, F. B. Carvell, of Carleton, N.B., Gen. McLean, of Queens and Sunbury, and probably W. L. Toggie, of Northumberland, will be with the Government.

Among the Ontario Liberals it is figured that Hon. Charles Murphy, Reuben Trax, Edmond Proulx, William German and A. B. McCoig will vote with Sir Wilfrid Laurier, while Messrs. Guthrie, Pardee, Ross, Graham and Charlton will be with the Government.

Mr. Clarke, of Essex, is unlikely to be here and Mr. Gordon, of Kent, has rarely sat in the present Parliament, Mr. McMillan, of Glengarry, is in the uncertain column. In Manitoba, Mr. Cruise, of Dauphin, will favor the Bill and Dr. Mollon, of Provencher, against it.

The Saskatchewan Liberals, including Neely, McNutt, McCraney, Thompson, and Knowles will line up for the Bill, with Messrs. Clarke, Buchanan, Douglas and White, of Alberta.

Messrs. Oliver and Turriff are put down for a referendum.

CONSERVATIVE DEFECTIONS.

On the Conservative side, the defection will be: In Quebec—Mr. Boulay, of Rimouski, Mr. Guilbault, of Joliette, Mr. Barrette, of Berthier, Mr. Bellemare, of Maskinonge, Mr. Paquet, of L'Islet, Mr. Achim, of Labelle, and Mr. Mondou, of Yamaska, who are likely to vote first for a six months' hoist and afterwards for a referendum and against the Bill.

With the Government will be Hon. C. J. Doherty, Hon. P. E. Blondin, Hon. Albert Sevigny, Sir Herbert Ames, Messrs. Cromwell, Morris, and Brabazon. Deputy Speaker Rainville and Sir Rodolphe Forget are in the uncertain column, but the former in all probability will vote for the Bill. Sir Rodolphe comes to Ottawa rarely.

Conservatives who are absent include Col. Fowler, of Kings, N.B.; Major Gauvreau, of Gaspe, Major White, of Renfrew, Major Hepburn, of Prince Edward, Col. Smythe, of Algoma, and Col. Sharpe, of North Ontario, who are overseas. Hon. Andrew Broder, who is ill, and Edward Bristol, of Toronto, who is in England.

REFERENDUM VOTE EXPECTED.

Making allowances for vacant seats and absentees, the vote on the referendum by provinces is figured approximately, and to some extent speculatively, as follows:

	For	Against
Ontario	7	62
Quebec	48	8
Nova Scotia	6	8
New Brunswick	3	8
Manitoba	1	7
Saskatchewan	3	6
Alberta	1	6
British Columbia	0	7
Yukon	0	1
P. E. I.	1	2

EXTENSION TO BE ASKED.

As soon as conscription passes the extension resolution will be introduced. It is apparent from the attitude of a number of Conscription Liberals that, while voting thus on conscription, they will oppose the extension, thus providing for an appeal to the country. Of course, if there is any determined opposition to the extension, it will not go through.

Considerable significance is attached to the speech of Sir Herbert Ames last night, wherein he advocated the passage of Conscription, leaving to a new Parliament its enforcement. This, of course, would involve an election in the intervening period.

The debate this afternoon is being resumed by Dr. Neely (Liberal), of Humboldt. He is for conscription, and has been overseas.

RECRUITING IN NEW YORK

Col. Percy A. Guthrie and Capt. J. D. Black, of the MacLean Highlanders of Canada, the 236th Overseas Battalion of the Canadian Expeditionary Force, also known as Sir Sam Hughes' Own, have arrived in New York, and are aiding in the recruiting of British subjects living within the metropolitan district. They have just ended a successful recruiting campaign in Boston, where the famous kilted band of the MacLean Highlanders aroused much enthusiasm.

Col. Guthrie was a member of the first Canadian Expeditionary force which went overseas in 1914; he was in the gas attack at the second battle of Ypres, when his battalion, going into action 1,117 strong, left all but 53 men on the field. He was one of the four surviving officers out of 32. He was also wounded eleven times at Festubert. At the age of 33 he is the youngest colonel in the British army. He soon will return to the front at the head of his battalion.

LANDING OF ARMY FROM U. S. THOUGHT HISTORIC MOMENT

London Press Hails Arrival in France of American Regulars—Troops Will Be Augmented as Soon as Possible

Special Star Cable by United Press.

PARIS, June 28.—Paris was flooded with American naval officers and bluejackets today—men from ships that accompanied the American expeditionary army on its voyage to France. They were feted and cheered and petted by crowds everywhere they went. Some of the men were granted four full days' leave.

A HISTORIC LANDMARK

By Canadian Press.

LONDON, June 28.—Arrival of an advance force of the American Army in France is the predominant feature in the news columns of the morning newspapers which displayed under big headlines such details as are allowed to be published.

The Times comments on the arrival as an omen full of hope and promise to friends of ordered freedom, a sure presage of an Allied victory and the signal of a democratic peace to be wrung from defeated Germany, while the moral effect will be unmeasurable.

As a symbol of the union of mind and feelings of the democracies of England, France and the United States, it promises, says the Times, to rank forever among the great historic landmarks in the moral and political history of mankind.

TO BE AUGMENTED SOON.

Special to Star by United Press.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—General Pershing's men will be augmented as fast as possible by other trained troops. This was as far as officials at the War Department would go today in discussing future plans, now that American soldiers are safely on French soil. Censorship and safety provisions forbade the publication of any details at this time.

However, it transgresses no rules to indicate that National Guardsmen are likely to be in the units sent abroad ahead of the new National Army. No one here believes this new army can be moulded into fighting form before next spring at the earliest.

Meantime, other fighting forces, seasoned by service in this country, in Mexico, Haiti, Santo Domingo or the Philippines, will take their places in the trenches of France, ready and eager for their part in overwhelming Germany.

A single secret message to the War Department related their arrival. It announced only that Pershing's men had ridden the seas safely.

But to Washington and the nation this brief message, still withheld early this forenoon for military reasons, spelled a tremendous thing—America's actual physical entrance into European trenches, the primary part of her bit to shatter German plans for a world domination.

Army authorities anticipated that full details of the journey would be available before night. They did not sanction the original publication of the news of the arrival from here yesterday afternoon.

Major-General Sibert, in charge of the first troops is an old campaigner who has seen Cuban, Philippine and Chinese service as a member of the engineers. Fifty-five years old, he retains a "punch." He is a regular fighting man and able leader.

Admiral Gleaves, quiet, suave Navy commander, is praised for his able handling of the convoys for the transports.

PERSHING'S COMMAND SUPREME.

The question asked in the House of Commons and which the British Government refrained from answering, whether "the American soldiers now on the Western front are under the supreme command of the French Generalissimo or Sir Douglas Haig or the American General" has already been answered by War Department officials, although no official and formal announcement of the instructions to Gen. Pershing has been made.

Gen. Pershing will be supreme in command of, and will have independent source of supplies for, the American expeditionary forces in France, but he will collaborate and consult with the French Generalissimo.

It is understood that the War Department is postponing the publication of Gen. Pershing's instructions until after he actually takes up his position on the Western front. It has already been selected.

The Secretary of War, Mr. Baker, today ditched the committee on public information—otherwise the official censor—in so far as handling of military news is concerned.

This action followed the confusion yesterday over the publication of the arrival of Gen. Pershing's men in France before the War Department had sanctioned its release. While the department opposed publication, the committee—authorized it. This caused Mr. Baker to order that Gen. McIntyre, War Censor, should be the court of last resort hereafter, instead of the civilian board in the committee.

Mr. Lansing has observed a similar custom ever since the public information committee was established. Lansing has his own publicity and censorship department.

GOOD RECRUITING NEWS.

Special to Star by United Press.

NEW YORK, June 28.—News of the arrival of American troops in France was received with enthusiasm by army recruiting officers. It gave them an argument which they intend to use with telling effect in their week's campaign to fill up the gaps in the ranks of the regulars.

"It has been our experience right along that the country has not awakened to the fact that we are at war," said Col. R. D. Walsh, chief of the recruiting staff for the New York district. "But this announcement that our soldiers are near the front ought to be the beginning of the development of a new spirit among our young men.

"I cannot make promises to young men who want action immediately, but in this report from France there is pretty good proof that the ranks of the regulars is the place for the men who would lose no time in getting to the front."

The last half of recruiting week begins today and finds the army officers and the civic organizations which are helping them facing the task of enlisting 2,197 men here by Saturday night. The results of the first three days hardly indicate that they will be successful, however, unless the fact of the arrival of troops in France proves to be unusually inspiring to young men of fighting age.

In contrast to the quiet slipping away of the men now near the firing line, the efforts to bring more men into the services were redoubled today with all the enthusiasm and noise possible. Few knew when the transports and their convoys slipped from port under cover of night and started on their voyage for the front. For days men had been pouring in by mail.

They lounged about railroad yards waiting to be ordered aboard their transports, which were being piled high with supplies and equipment.

There was no "send-off" for the troops and jackies. Nor will there be for others to follow them. War has changed since the days of the skirmish with Spain when troops marched away with drums beating and flags flying to herald their departure. Late one day transports and convoys could be seen. The next morning they were gone. That is all that marked the departure of the first Americans to land on European soil to fight under the flag.

PERSHING AGREES WITH PETAIN.

PARIS, June 28.—Major-General Pershing, the American commander, was asked today to comment on the article entitled "Why We Are Fighting," published yesterday in the Army Bulletin, in which General Petain, the French Commander-in-Chief, explained the objects of the war and why a premature peace must not be concluded. General Pershing said:

"I have read General Petain's article with deepest interest. His answer to the question is complete and logical. The facts set forth should convince the world of the justice of our great cause. I cannot think it possible that anyone should hold a different view of why we are in the war.

"It is quite beyond reason that anyone knowing the truth should fail to condemn the course pursued by the German Government, and the truth has been clearly pointed out by the distinguished Commander-in-Chief of the French army.

"There must be no peace except a lasting peace. The ideals for which the Allies are contending must be held sacred.

"France will continue her splendid fight for human rights and human liberties and fresh examples of heroism by her valiant armies will still further inspire those fighting by her side."

FLEU DIT LEAUVETTE CAPTURED TODAY AND CANADIANS PRESS ON

Their Patrols Advance Still Closer to Great French Coal Metropolis—General Retreat by Germans is Indicated—French Beat Germans Back

Special Star Cable by Wm. Philip Simms, of the United Press.

WITH THE BRITISH ARMIES IN THE FIELD, June 28.—Canadian troops today occupied the town of Fleu dit Leauvette, one-half mile southwest of Lens. Their patrols, shoved ahead of the village, penetrated further towards the coal metropolis of France.

This is the nearest the British have yet come to the city of Lens proper. Mention of patrols pushing still further on indicates a general retreat by the Germans and the abandonment of their positions under the tremendously strong constricting pressure which the British have been applying to the city.

Fleu Dit Leauvette is located half a mile beyond Lievin, where some time ago the Germans made a desperate stand against the British advance. Avion, where the Canadians last week made some brilliant advances, is about three-quarters of a mile due south of Lens and about the same distance southeast of Fleu Dit Leauvette. Lens is practically encircled on three sides now.

ADVANCED UNDER HEAVY BARRAGE

Special Canadian Press Cable by Stewart Lyons.

CANADIAN ARMY HEADQUARTERS, June 28.—A further phase of the long struggle for the recovery of Lens, the centre of the richest coal-mining region of France, from the German invader, was reached early this (Thursday) morning when the enemy's front line protecting Avion, a suburb of the city, was captured by storming waves which went forward under the protection of a concentration of artillery fire on that part of Avion immediately behind the German line.

The assaulting troops were composed of men from British Columbia, Manitoba, Central Ontario and Nova Scotia. By this morning's advance the British line has been carried forward to within a mile of the centre of Lens.

CANADIANS MUCH HEARTENED

The Canadians have been greatly heartened by the successes gained during the past few days at relatively small cost, and this morning's advance, which involved the crossing of open ground, sloping up to Avion and the village of Leauvette, near the Souchez river, met with opposition of a serious nature at only one point, where a combination of machine gun fire and uncut wire delayed some of the Manitoba men.

The attack was not intended to be pressed home at this particular point, because the ground specially favored the enemy, so no great harm was done.

The men to the east and west of the Manitobans, having reached their own objectives, at once began to bomb the enemy out of portions of trenches held by him in the centre.

When this despatch was sent few Germans were left on this part of the line.

On the extreme left of the two mile front along which the attack was made the Nova Scotians pushed their way up the Lens-Arras road to the village of Leauvette. Here they came into contact with the enemy and took a number of prisoners.

At the other end of the line, east of the railway track, enemy dugouts were bombed.

Their occupants belonged to the crack Prussian Guards corps, the Fifth Guard Grenadiers, who refused in most cases to come out and surrender. One officer and twenty-one men of the Grenadiers decided that discretion was the better part of valor. Others are believed to be still alive in the dugouts, which will be thoroughly explored after the ground won is consolidated.

At daybreak our aeroplanes flying low over Avion saw very few Germans there. Craters which recently were made by mine explosions at the cross roads are now seriously hindering them in bringing up troops from Lens for counter-attacks.

The enemy's guns have been shelling our communication trenches, but our heavies are now taking them on with good results.

GERMAN ATTACK REPULSED

By Associated Press.

PARIS, June 28. The Germans last night attacked the salient of Wattweiler, north-east of Thann, in Alsace, according to the War Office announcement today. They were repulsed, leaving a number of dead.

The official statement follows:

"The artillery fighting was particularly active last night in the regions of the Hurtebise Monument and Mount Carmillet.

"A German attack against the salient of Wattweiler, north-east of Thann, was repulsed. The enemy left behind several dead, including the body of an officer.

"Patrol engagements near Flirey and Bezonvaux enabled us to take prisoners.

"It has now been established that an albatross, attacked by one of our aeroplanes on Monday, fell within the enemy lines east of Gratreuil. Yesterday an albatross was brought down south-east of Moronvilliers."

CENTRAL POWERS FEAR RUSSIA

Special Star Cable by United Press.

ROME, June 28.—The Central Powers are beginning to fear that Russia will soon be an active participant in the Allied plans of joint offensive operations. Word received from the front today asserted there were evidences there that a considerable number of Austrian divisions had been hurriedly withdrawn from the Italian front and transferred back north.

Many of these were troops which were shifted from the northern fighting line at the height of Gen. Cadorna's offensive to stiffen the weakening enemy front.

At that time the Central Powers were confident of success of their separate peace plot against Russia, and had practically stopped all fighting on the Russian front by deliberately schemed fraternisation with the soldiers opposing them.

CONSCRIPTION AND ANNEXATION ARE DISCUSSED

Bourassa States That the Former Will Lead to Latter

HE NOW STANDS WITH LAURIER

Jingoes and Ultra Loyalists Leading to Throne Smashings, He Avers

"If within the next five or ten years we become American citizens—quite a possibility—we will owe it to the mock patriots, who are trying to impose conscription on us today, and who are doing their utmost to throw us into the arms of the United States. Conscription drives up towards annexation and it is because I am a British subject opposed to annexation with the United States that I am fighting conscription with all my strength."

Such was a statement made last night by Henri Bourassa in the course of a three-hour speech at the Monument National before as big a crowd as could be jammed into the hall. The meeting was held under the auspices of the Ligue Patriotique des Interets Canadiens.

Dr. J. B. Prince presided and introduced Mr. Bourassa in such a eulogy, that the Nationalit leader said in rising, with a touch of irony or satire, that he preferred not to answer it.

Mr. Bourassa said that the attention of Canadians was now focussed on "that small plot of land whereon is situated the Parliament of Canada. "While the people of this country are entirely occupied by the acts and words of Canadian politicians," he proceeded, "the world is still going on and it would be well to glance about once in a while to see what other events are taking place besides the petty discussions of petty politicians here."

STANDS WITH LAURIER.

He said that he accepted the remedy offered against immediate conscription by Sir Wilfrid Laurier—a referendum. (Applause.) Although much belated, he said, this remedy was the only rational and sensible one under the circumstances. It was that which was proposed by the Nationalists at the time of the South African war, in 1899; when the Navy Bill was proposed, in 1909, when the $35,000,000 urgency grant was urged, in 1912. After he (the speaker) had been advocating such a course for nearly eighteen years, it was indeed comforting for him to see that Sir Wilfrid Laurier had, at last adopted it.

GERMANY'S AIMS.

Mr. Bourassa said that conscription, which meant the tribute in blood of a country, was not necessary and not even justifiable now in Canada, and this because Canada was not, never has been and would never likely be in danger of invasion. Germany's appetite, went on Mr. Bourassa was directed towards India; it was towards the East that the Germans hoped to enlarge their sphere of commercial activity and, even if Germany wished to attack Canada, she could not do so. Mr. Bourassa cited statements made by the members of Privy Council and English missions to the United States to show that it would be futile and absurd for Germany to think of invading Canada. And even, for the sake of discussion, if this were true, if there were really a danger of invasion, would it not be the duty of Canada to prepare for defense instead of disabling Canadian ports as had been done and was still being done? The absurdity of this "ghost" of a German invasion, said Mr. Bourassa, would appear to any one who had not lost his head. It was the product of a brainstorm and of politicians at bay.

Another yarn given for the consumption of the people, said Mr. Bourassa, was that Great Britain might cede this country if forced to make peace. Mr. Bourassa said that Great Britain had neither the right nor the power to cede Canada. He cited Bethman-Hollweg, Lord Cecil and Asquith to show that these great politicians had declared that Germany had never had, nor was likely to have, any intention of taking Canada; the expansion of Germany's trade was not directed towards the west.

ANNEXATION COMING.

Mr. Bourassa said that a soission between Britain and Canada might come, however, and, if within the next five or ten years, this country became American, it would be the mock patriots of today who would have caused it, and they would accept the new regime and vociferate for it as they do for the King and Empire now.

Mr. Bourassa contended that conscription was not necessary for the salvation of the nation. If it were there was not a Canadian, and more especially a French-Canadian, who would hesitate a moment. But again, he said, those who contended that the salvation of the Canadian nation was at stake were not only traitors to Canada, but they were traitors to England as well. Nor was conscription necessary for the salvation of the Empire.

He cited many authorities, taking occasion to state that whatever was happening now was due to the bad precedent established by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, in 1899, in permitting the sending of troops to South Africa. That was really, said Mr. Bourassa, the time when Canada had put one of its fingers into the gears of the Imperial military machine. Its whole body was now out to be crushed in the machinery, he said. Laurier had given the bad example. Borden was following it one better and ten better; but, the principle was exactly the same.

"SERVILE SLAVES OF ENGLAND."

"We are in this war as servile slaves of England," said Mr. Bourassa; "voluntary slaves, that is to say the most abject kind, as we have lost any notion of national dignity."

Mr. Bourassa concluded by saying that Great Britain, which had for centuries held Ireland in bondage, with even today blood being shed in the streets of Dublin, had no right to ask help and co-operation for the sake of invaded Belgium and crushed Serbia. Canadians who refused their fellow-citizens, the sons of the founders of this country the right to have their children taught their own tongue, had no criticism to make against Prussianism, he said. There was no more liberty nowadays, he concluded, but that of shattering thrones. That was what jingoes, ultra-loyal subjects and mock patriots were aiming at. They might yet succeed, concluded the speaker.

A SAD EVENING.

It was a sad evening at His Majesty's theatre yesterday, when "Oh, Cecil" was produced here for the first—and the last?—time. The leading lady, Miss Beulah Manning, was ill and unable to appear. The balance of the cast seemed less suited to musical comedy than burlesque. Vern Dushayne and Frank Gilham worked hard, and the others doubtless did the best they could, but nothing short of an earthquake could galvanize this hotchpotch into the live semblance of an entertainment.

The jokes were aged to the point of decrepitude; the songs were stolen from anywhere and everywhere; the music was mainly "not"; and neither costumes nor scenery could be described truthfully as other than unostentatious. Altogether it was a great disappointment, a sorrowful evening, and a disastrous conclusion even to a season that has not been remarkable for anything worth while.

Caplan-Rothschild.

The marriage of Miss Ruth Rothschild, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max Rothschild, to Mr. Theodore Caplan, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Caplan, was solemnized at the Ritz-Carlton yesterday afternoon, the Rev. Dr. Abramowitz officiating, assisted by Rabbi Cohen. The bride wore a Grecian robe of Georgette and embroidered crepe meteor, with court train, long veil trimmed with orange blossoms, and carried a sheaf of lilies. She was given away by her father and was attended by her sister, Miss Ethel Rothschild as maid of honor, wearing a gown of white net over pink, with picture hat, and carrying pink sweet peas. There were also two bridesmaids, Miss Miriam Caplan, dressed in grey Georgette crepe with picture hat, and carrying sweet peas; and the bride's younger sister, Miss Helen Rothschild, gowned in white net with white picture hat, carying pink roses. ENQUIRY WILL BE A THOROUGH ONE SAYS MR. MITCHELL

Provincial Treasurer Arrives in City and Will Look Into Maisonneuve Race Track Scandal—Says Action Will Be Taken

"Yes, the whole subject of the alleged dishonest manipulation of the pari mutuel machines as charged by The Star, is being thoroughly looked into by officers of my department. If the charges, as outlined, are sustained, drastic action will be taken," said the Hon. Walter G. Mitchell, Provincial Treasurer, who arrived in Montreal this morning from Quebec.

"No," he proceeded, in answer to The Star's question, "I did not come to the city for that purpose alone. I came principally to look after the ordinary business of my department. Until I shall have received the report of my officers I am not in a position to give any statement in the matter. I do not know whether the alleged crookedness exists or not. But The Star and the people of Montreal can rest assured that no stone will be left unturned to sift the matter to the bottom. And, in event of the accusations being sustained, the action to be taken will be as speedy as it will be severe.

The Hon. Mr. Mitchell was informed that all the information in the hands of The Star, was at the disposal of his department. The Star, it may be noted, is the only local newspaper to make the expose, which has caused such a sensation amongst the general public, and more particularly that part of the hoi polloi, which frequents race tracks.

CHEAPER COAL MAY RESULT BY ACTION IN U. S.

By Canadian Press.

WASHINGTON, June 28. — The conference of 400 operators, representing all coal producing states, took quick action today toward lowering coal prices by adopting resolutions authorizing their committees "to give assent to such maximum prices for coal free on board, cars at mines, in the various districts as may be named by the Secretary of the Interior, Federal Trade Commission, and the Council of National Coal Production Committee."

Plans were agreed on for announcement later today of tentative "fair and reasonable prices based on suggestions from the operators, to be effective July 1."

ONUS ON GOVERNMENT.

The resolution giving "assent" to fixing of maximum prices was revised by former Governor Fort, from a special committee. He said he believed the resolution was entirely safe for the conference to adopt and that any responsibility as to the legality of the fixing of the prices was put on the Government, and not on the operators, under the terms of the resolution.

The resolution, after pointing out that a great national emergency now exists in the nation's fuel supply, and that the coal operators, and miners desire to closely co-operate with the Government, reads:

MAXIMUM PRICES.

"Resolved that it is the sense of this meeting that a committee of seven for each coal producing state and an additional committee of seven, appointed by the representatives of the Anthracite Company be appointed by the representatives of each state now attending this convention, to confer with the Secretary of the Interior, the Federal Trade Commission and the Committee on Coal Production of the Council of National Defence, to the end that production be stimulated and plans be perfected to provide adequate means of distribution.

"And, further, that these committees report forthwith to the Secretary of the Interior, the Federal Trade Commission, and the Committee on Coal Production of the Council of National Defence, costs of and conditions surrounding the production and distribution of coal in each district.

"And that these committees are authorized in their discretion to give assent to such maximum prices, for coal f.o.b., cars at mines in the various districts as may be named by the Secretary of the Interior, the Federal Trade Commission and the Committee on Coal Production of the Council of National Defence."

The resolution was unanimously adopted.

ANOTHER HONOR BESTOWED UPON MAJOR R. EWING

News has just been received from France that Major Royal L. H. Ewing, M.C., now serving at the front as second in command of the 42nd Highlanders of Montreal, has been awarded the "Croix de Chevalier," of the Legion of Honor, of France, for distinguished service in the field, receiving at the same time the congratulations of the army corps and divisional commanders.

Major Ewing, who was awarded the Military Cross of the British Army in November, 1916, went overseas in the spring of 1915 as a lieutenant of the 42nd, under Lieut.-Col. G. S. Cantlie, and was quickly promoted, to be captain and then major. At the outbreak of the war he was in the real estate and insurance business, and a member of the firm of Ewing & Ewing. He at once joined the McGill C. O. T. C. to get military training, and was then given his commission with the 42nd Battalion. Major Ewing was slightly wounded on June 1, 1916, but did not leave the firing line.

TREATMENT OF PRISONERS TO BE DISCUSSED

Special to The Star by United Press.

LONDON, June 28.—There is considerable criticism of the Government's action in sending Lord Newton as head of a mission to confer directly with the Germans on the war prisoners question. Several editorials have appeared questioning the advisability of direct communication with the enemy, but wiser heads know that this question cannot be settled expeditiously through the medium of a neutral country. So many intricate questions have arisen as to the treatment and care of prisoners that a direct move is the only way to procure immediate action.

Prisoners who have recently returned from Germany say the German representatives to the Hague Conference are the best men possible for such negotiations, and that their choice shows that Germany intends to be reasonable and meet Great Britain half way.

A review of Germany's past performances regarding prisoners leads to a pessimistic view when one considers, the possibility of obtaining any real benefits or treatment anywhere near as good as this country gives German prisoners.

The Teuton is willing to make many concessions regarding the treatment of officers, but when it comes to the privates he doesn't care enough for them to make concessions.

Many prominent men have suggested the sending of German prisoners to America on the German prisoners to America on the German ships formerly held at American ports, thus relieving England of feeding problems and in a measure safeguarding the vessels against submarine attacks. However, this would not deter the Germans one whit unless the boats were filled with officer prisoners.

BELGIAN PRIESTS IMPRISONED.

AMSTERDAM, June 28.—According to the Telegraaf, several priests of the entourage of Cardinal Mercier, Primate of Belgium, were arrested recently and imprisoned in Germany. One of them is Bishop Legravé, of Malines. Twenty others, the newspaper says, have been imprisoned in Germany.

GOVERNMENT TO MAKE TEST OF THE ANTI-TREAT LAW

Three Cases Already Started and Many More Will Follow

LIQUOR MEN TO PUT UP FIGHT

Hold That Law Can't Prevent Anyone from Being Generous

Treaters and treatees, beware! The Government is on the warpath.

Already, very quietly, of course, unobtrusive agents have been watchfully gloating over the pleasurable bibulosities of bar room habitues. As a result some fifty cases have been "made" and prosecutions entered—or about to be entered.

Three of them were fixed for hearing this morning, according to George Payette, the President of the Licensed Victuallers' Association. Mr. Payette knew that there were many other cases, but he did not know the exact number. He understood, however, that many cases had been made, though the actual prosecutions would not be entered until such time as three real prosecutions, already entered, had been dealt with by the Courts.

"Why yes," said L. H. Boisseau, Collector of Provincial Revenue, "We have been looking over the situation. But, how did you find it out? We were acting very quietly. Inspectors have been visiting various bars throughout the city, downtown, and uptown — everywhere. We have made several, what we call, cases How many? Oh a goodly number. The reports on them have been submitted and are on file. In order to save expense we have contented ourselves with laying the evidence by selecting three cases as basis on which to lay formal complaints before the courts and initiate prosecutions. Yes, these case were slated to be heard this morning, but when they came up they were postponed till next Tuesday. They were the cases against:

Joseph Godbout, 285-7 Roy street.

Cambridge Co., Limited, 627 Notre Dame street west.

Cenate Co., Limited, 69 Inspector street.

LIQUOR MEN TO FIGHT.

The liquor men, however, are not going to sit by and watch the revenu and license men have such a merry time, unaided. They propose to take part in the merriment, by "bucking" a few of the license men's moves. And they are bound to make a touchdown, way behind the latter's goals, or — die. Which means that the liquor men will purely and simply contend that the anti-treating by-law, isn't worth a toothpick.

Divested of legal verbiage, their contention will be somewhat as follows: If a man wants to give another man, a hat, or a cap, or a pair of boots, or a bootlace, or a ten cent piece, or the quotum of a ten cent piece in the form of concentrated liquid ecstasy, it's the giver's own blessed business.

And, if the generous giver, goes into a hat shop, or a shoe shop, or a booze shop, to give vent to his generous proclivities, the keeper of the (aforesaid) hat shop, boot shop, or booze shop, can't complain. Nor can he, either inthe interest of the donee, or donor or his own interest, refuse to allow the middle-mentioned, to carry out his intentions. Ergo.

Tired Mothers Galore Look with Longing to Old Brewery Camps

The first contingent of the Old Brewery Mission's expeditionary force of tired mothers, and their children, left Place Viger station yesterday for the summer camp at Lake Chapleau. These trips mean for most of these poor mothers and kiddies their only chance for a holiday in fresh air and sunshine and their only opportunity too for a period of rest and strength-gathering against the winter.

Last year 1250 were given two weeks' holidays in the country. This year the number will depend largely on the help given the Mission in the next month. The increased cost of living is going to mean more money for the women and children or fewer of them having their vacation. Unless more funds are received soon, one party of 200 will get no outing this season. Last year the subscriptions totalled $5,400. This year, so far, they amount to only $1800. Some idea of the work of the Mission is given by the following figures from the report of the superintendent for May of this year; The total number of men received at the lodging house for the month was 2017; number given free meals, 83; number supplied with clothing, 19. Temporary positions were found for 716, and permanent positions for nine.

A LESSON IN BOTTLING

How Uncle Sam does it to protect the rights and liberty of the United States.

NEWSPAPER ETHICS AND LORD NORTHCLIFFE

For the depths of malice give me the jealous, envious newspapers of some of our metropolitan cities—W. T. Stead.

There is comparatively little jealousy shown by Canadian newspapers towards their more successful contemporaries, but it does show in spots at times, and the more insignificant the paper the more virulent is its meanness and venom. The public makes its own appraisal and the appraisal is generally right.

The entrusting of highly important Imperial work to Lord Northcliffe is a stinging rebuke to his assailants, most of them men jealous of his marvellous success in all his undertakings. Northcliffe, even if he had not pressed for drastic reforms in the conduct of the war involving bitter reproof of bunglers, his newspaper successes were quite enough to excite the envy and jealousy of unsuccessful competitors. Northcliffe can afford to laugh at his assailants.

New Get-Rich-Quick Schemers Worked in Maisonneuve

Because they were willing to place a gentle trust in a plausible stranger some of the residents of Maisonneuve are wiser and sadder today than they were a week ago.

Everybody knew coal was going to be difficult to get this winter. Each Maisonneuve man thought of his cosy little home in January next when the thermometer outside would be hovering round zero. Coal he must have, and here was a fine chance to get it.

The said plausible stranger had an interesting proposition to make. He represented the Hochelaga Fuel and Feed Company. At least, so he said. He was willing to do his share in keeping that cosy little home warm in January; in fact, he was extremely anxious to do his share. All he asked was a deposit of one dollar down for each ton of coal required later, and he would guarantee delivery.

The bigger coal companies in the city are taking orders now, but are asking no deposit, for they declare that, though they will do their utmost for their customers, they cannot positively guarantee delivery.

So of course the plausible stranger's offer was tempting. He reaped in the dollar bills delightedly and departed to seek another victim.

It turns out that the Hochelaga Fuel and Feed Company employ no solicitors. The stranger is unknown to them.

MOTHER GAVE POISON TO CHILD IN MISTAKE

Coroner McMahon today disposed of two cases, in which death occurred under unusual circumstances. A verdict of accidental death was returned in the case of Louis Gerard Paradise, aged eight months, of 103 Gilford street, who died last night from the effects of a dose of carbolic acid, administered by his mother yesterday morning. She mistook the bottle of poison for a similar one containing castor oil.

After examining witnesses, the Coroner concluded that death was due to natural causes in the case of Louis Charbonneau, of 320 Dorchester street, who was found dead in his bed early this morning.

GEN. McLEAN AND CONSCRIPTION

Brig.-Gen. Hugh H. McLean, who was quoted in Tuesday's Star as saying that any man in Canada who opposed the Military Service Bill had a yellow streak in him, states that the idea he intended to convey was merely that opposition to the Bill was based on a wrong conception of prevailing conditions.

GAINS MILITARY CROSS.

Lieut. J. T. L. Shum, awarded the Military Cross for gallant service at Vimy Ridge, April 10, where he was wounded for the third time since he enlisted for overseas service, in February, 1915. He is now in the Third General Hospital, London, England. He is an expert marksman, and has a number of cups he won in shooting tournaments. At one time he was sniping sergeant-instructor for the Highland Battalion with which he went overseas.

High Cost of Living

EGGS HAVE TAKEN DROP IN PRICE, AND IN QUALITY

Eggs are very cheap at the present time, and many housewives who omitted to take advantage of the propitious moment last April to store their winter supply of eggs are congratulating themselves that the market has again dropped to the low level of 37c to 38c a dozen wholesale. Unfortunately eggs today will not keep and dealers strongly advise that they be bought for immediate consumption only. The cause of the drop in price has been the falling off in quality, owing to the warm weather. Apart from the heat, the hens today are feeding mainly on grass which does not produce good quality eggs. The farmers' grain bins are empty for the most part, and in any case prices are too high to feed grain to the poultry as in other years.

The demand from Great Britain has fallen away temporarily, partly because the class of eggs coming forward is not suitable for transportation and storing, and also because the English markets are well supplied for the present. Greater quantities of Danish eggs have been secured this year, and special efforts are being made to increase the domestic production of the United Kingdom. The leading market centres such as London, Liverpool, Manchester and Glasgow, all report heavy stocks and weak prices. In any case freight rates are tremendously high. It costs fully 12c a dozen to lay down Canadian eggs in Great Britain.

"When the heat is over the market will improve and there will again be a good demand for our eggs from abroad," said a dealer to The Star. "September and October eggs will store successfully, but naturally prices will be higher than they are today as the quality will be better. Meanwhile storage houses in the city are pretty well filled in anticipation of the demand next winter."

Announcement of Conscription For Australia Shortly

Special Star Cable.

SYDNEY, N.S.W., June 28. — Mr. Mackinnon, Director of Recruiting, has indicated that Premier Hughes will in a few days make an announcement regarding conscription. He said in a speech:

"Premier Hughes will let you know exactly where Australia stands, what Australia has to do, and how she will have to do it. I believe the Australian people, when they hear Premier Hughes' announcement, will rise up and do the honorable thing of their own accord. It will be much more humiliating to have to do a thing than to do it on your own, because the latter appeals to your manhood."

BANK WILL LEND CITY ONLY HALF OF TOTAL ASKED

Refuses Controllers' Request for a Million Dollars —Asks for List of Capital Expenditures Necessary to Complete Work

The Bank of Montreal has refused the application made by the Board of Control yesterday afternoon for a loan of $1,000,000 to [illegible] the administration of the city until the end of August, instead of [illegible] million, which the [illegible] to finance the [illegible] of the letter received [illegible] Frederick Williams [illegible] this morning.

"Head Office,
Bank of Montreal,
"Montreal, 27th, June, 1917.

"Dear Sir:

"We have to acknowledge receipt of a communication of today's date from the joint secretary of the Board of Control, the contents of which and of the resolution contained therein have been carefully noted.

"We much regret that we are unable to comply with your request that we increase our temporary loan to you from $500,000 to $1,000,000, and I must reiterate that we will look to the city to use the $500,000 credit we have granted them as expressed in the resolution published by the press this morning.

"We must remind you that we are not yet aware of the city's policy in regard to the question of annual deficits.

Should the city's bonds be sold during the month of July, as you have intimated, we assume it will not be necessary for the city to ask us to increase the temporary loan above the $500,000 authorized.

"Meanwhile it will be interesting if you will be good enough to furnish us with a list of the capital expenditure which your resolution states is necessary to complete sewer, sidewalk and other contracts that cannot be left unfinished without inconvenience, discredit and actions for damages for non-accomplishment of obligations.

"I am,
"Yours very truly,
"(Signed) F. W. TAYLOR, General Manager."

Controller Villeneuve stated that while all public works would have to be stopped, he thought that arrangements could be made to complete such as are in actual course of construction—paving which is half completed for instance.

SURVEY TO BE MADE.

The Board made its final arrangements for a survey of city administration by the Bureau of Municipal Research this morning, when Controller Cote, seconded by Controller Villeneuve, passed a report to pay for the survey with $18,000 out of the $20,000 which was voted from the reserve fund for the experts' report on the aqueduct, and which, it was found after the money had been voted, could be paid out of the special aqueduct fund. At Tuesday's meeting of the council the aldermen [illegible] the loan of $1,000,000 together with its [illegible] on the ground that they did not [illegible] could come from [illegible] Board—except with a cordially [illegible] at the next meeting. At the council also expressed itself in favor of the survey, this means that the experts can start work in about a couple of weeks or less, and have their report ready in the Fall before Montreal's affairs are discussed by the legislature, and before the budget is framed.

Controller Villeneuve expressed delight this morning at seeing the attainment of an object for which he has worked unceasingly for seven months.

"This means," he said, "that we will find out whether it is possible to underwrite the city on $12,000,000 loan and means that if increased taxation is necessary, the citizens who desire the survey will be shown just and fair cause for increased taxation. It will also mean that once for all it will be decided what departments are undermanned and where [illegible] have too many employees. It will, in fact, precede the solution of all civic difficulties."

Bank of Montreal Coming to Rescue of Winnipeg, Too

Mayor Davidson and Commissioners J. H. Ashdown and R. D. Waugh of Winnipeg have arrived in Montreal to undertake negotiations with the Bank of Montreal. They have been authorized to ask for funds with which to finance the Shoal Lake aqueduct project of Winnipeg to completion.

The delegation was sent to Montreal after a long discussion by the Winnipeg Water Board. While the commissioners are away, work on the aqueduct is being carried on as though it were intended to close down shortly. Expenditure has been reduced to a minimum.

The Bank of Montreal, it was intimated at a recent meeting of the water board had expressed their financial stringency would prevent negotiation of the work.

At the Bank of Montreal today, The Star was informed that negotiations were still in progress.

PORTUGAL PROUD OF ARMIES' PART.

Special Star Cable by United Press.

LISBON, June 28.—A wave of tremendous enthusiasm swept over Parliament today when formal announcement was made that a battalion of Portuguese troops "somewhere on the fighting line in France" had destroyed a German patrol and taken a number of prisoners.

The Portuguese troops' exploit was formally announced by Field Marshal Haig Saturday.

FLYING FATALITY AT CAMP HOARE; 1 DEAD, 1 HURT

Capt. Callaghan Dashed to Death, Cadet Francis Injured

By Canadian Press.

CAMP BORDEN, Ont., June 28.—The comparative immunity of the Royal Flying Corps at Camp Hoare from serious accidents was broken last evening by a crash which resulted in the death of Captain Dan Callaghan and severe injuries to Cadet Francis.

Captain Callaghan, who had been at the front since the beginning of the war, and had won distinction as an expert on wireless from aeroplanes, was attached to the headquarters of the R. F. C. in Toronto, and had only come up to Camp Hoare a few days again in connection with the wireless installations there. Though his work at the front had been primarily as an observer he was a flier also.

Instead of returning to Toronto by rail for which he had a return ticket, he decided to accompany Cadet Francis, who was intending to fly down.

The machine had not gained the safety of height when the engine stalled, and the plane started to sideslip. In the vicinity of Bear Creek a wing struck a tree and was snapped off, when the whole machine buckled and crashed down, the engine striking Captain Callaghan in the back of the head and pinning him to the earth.

PROMISING CADET HURT.

Cadet Francis, who was considered one of the most promising of the aviators in training, had previously flown for 6½ hours without an accident. His left leg was broken and he sustained other minor injuries. His home is in Victoria, B. C.

Captain Callaghan lived for about three-quarters of an hour after the accident, but never regained consciousness. The Rev. Father Kelly, the Camp Borden Roman Catholic chaplain, was on hand in time to administer the last sacraments.

Two letters from his mother in Dublin, Ireland, were found in Captain Callaghan's pocket.

SAYS RUSSIAN OUTLOOK IS NOT SO AWFULLY BAD

Business Man Just Back from Petrograd Discusses Conditions There

OPPORTUNITIES FOR BUSINESS

Japanese Rush Building of Ships—Germany Still Strong

[illegible] was all the romance of a crusade as well as all the inspiration of good in aggression and success in the story told to [illegible]

Pelham, [illegible] returned from Boston to Petrograd [illegible] armament. Starting [illegible] and extending [illegible] of Chili, Spain, Russia and England, and back home a run of 20,000 miles in [illegible] months. It was said Odyssey of adventure as his that inspired the great Greek epics, today a trip around the world through fighting countries and countries red with revolution, was undertaken in the regular course of business.

"I am satisfied that Russia will stay in the war, that she will hold the line she is now holding, that there will be an offensive of some sort this year, and that she will be heard from a good deal next year," said Mr. Pelham. He is the general counsel and director of sales of the Gillette Safety Razor Company of Boston.

Shortly after war broke out it was found impossible by the German and British agencies of the Gillette company to supply their Russian customers, and it was decided to send Mr. Pelham from Boston with a quantity of the razors and blades. He set out with six tons for Petrograd, and landing there was handed a cheque for $50,000.

His work completed, Mr. Pelham returned to America. For a short time afterward shipments reached Russia all right, but then everything broke down again. The resourcefulness of modern business was shown in a resort to the mails. Between three and four thousand packages of Gillette blades and razors, each weighing several pounds, were sent by first class registered mail. The postage bill was over $20,000.

In the spring of this year, even the mails were held up, and it was decided as Mr. Pelham had made one successful trip that he should try again. It was thought inadvisable to try the Atlantic route, so Mr. Pelham set out for the Pacific with six ten tons of razor blades and razors. Arriving at Vancouver he took passage in the Empress of Asia.

"She is one of the best ships I have ever sailed in," said he, "and I have made forty-two trips across the Atlantic."

JAPANESE SHIPPING.

Shipyards in Japan were full of new naval and commercial ships, and he foretold that Japan would be a nation to reckon with in the cargo carrying business of the Pacific. Their manufacturing methods, however, were surprisingly primitive, and he did not think that country could ever become a serious competitor of Canada or the United States.

From Yokohama he went to Shanghai, over 1,500 miles of Chinese railways, to Japanese dominated Manchuria, and then entrained in the Trans-Siberian Railway for far off Petrograd.

Siberia he found to be a far different country than his geography or the geography that his children studied told him. Except for the few hundred miles of mountains and virgin timber it was a prairie land, all under cultivation. Villages and towns compared most favorably in their modernity with those to be found along the transcontinental railway lines of America.

Everywhere were soldiers singing not the national anthem of Russia but the Marseillaise waving not the Imperial flag of Russia, but the red flag of the revolution. The stations were crowded with the soldiers all eager to get trains that would take them back to the front. They wanted of their own free will to get to grips with the Huns once again. And that was only two months ago.

PETROGRAD POLICE GONE.

After a trip of nine days he finally arrived in Petrograd, just two hours late. One of the first things he noticed was the disappearance of the police. They had vanished for they were the first to feel the vengeance of the people and the police stations had been burned. They had been replaced by watchmen, elected by leaders who were elected by the tenants of the tenements.

"During the two weeks that I was in Petrograd, the very heart of the revolution, I did not see a single drunk," said Mr. Pelham.

Labor Day was a day of marching millions, dark men from Turkestan, Kurds, Cossacks, laborers, farmers, carrying banners demanding better distribution of the land, better wages, free schools.

"But it was as orderly as any city that I have ever seen in peace times, though I was warned that on Labor Day oceans of blood would flow down the streets of Petrograd," said Mr. Pelham.

And he saw two regiments march to the Ministry of War and demand peace at any price. In a few minutes he saw them marching back carrying banners, "Peace with Victory." They had met Kerensky, the wonderful Russian Jew, the great man of Russia today, the hope of the republic.

"I believe that the political revolution has spent its force, that before the year is out the provisional Government will be replaced by a Government along the lines of our western republics and that Russia will become one of the greatest republics the world has ever known," said he.

It was little wonder the workmen there were demanding wage increases of 300 and 400 per cent. food prices had gone up that much and the rouble had decreased that much in value. The danger in Russia now was the social revolution.

"The Provisional Government is made up of the ablest, most honest, efficient and patriotic men in Russia, but they have not the confidence of the peasantry and soldiers," said Mr. Pelham. There was a danger that the delegates of the soldiers and workmen would demand too radical changes.

"There ought to be 30,000 Canadian and American business men in Russia today for they need us on their work of development. They have no goods but they have lots of money and tremendous natural resources. I am satisfied that every bond issued by either the old or the new Government will be paid for in full and with interest," he said.

Passing through the Scandinavian countries on his way home he found something of the German situation. The people were chastened but not broken. Food prices had reached enormous heights.

"I believe that we are in for a long war. I believe that the United States will have to send at least 5,000,000 men overseas and nobly as you have done I believe that Canada will have to send still more men; crush that German spirit we must and crush it we will."

ADVANCE GUARD OF U. S. ARMY IS SAFE IN FRANCE

Consists of Seasoned Regulars from Mexico, Hayti and San Domingo

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—The advance guard of the army the United States is preparing to send against Germany is on French soil today. In defiance of the German submarines, thousands of seasoned regulars and marines, trained fighting men, with the look of long service on the Mexican border or in Haiti or Santo Domingo still on their faces, have been hurried overseas to fight beside the French, the Belgian, the [illegible] Japanese and the Italians [illegible] western front.

[illegible] arrival of the [illegible] through Washington in formal announcement today from the War Department. Press despatches sent forward with the approval of General Pershing's staff, show that Major General Sibert, one of the new major generals of the army, has been given command of the first force sent abroad under General Pershing as commander-in-chief of the expedition.

WILL BE SELF-SUPPORTING.

The American forces will be a net gain to the Allies. It will throw no single burden of supply upon them. The troops will be fed, clothed, armed and equipped by the United States. Around them at the camps on French soil are being stored supplies that will keep them going for months, and more will follow.

Announcement of the sending of the force under General Pershing was made on May 18. There came a day when General Pershing was no longer in the department. Officers of the General Staff suddenly were missing from their desks. Then came word from England that Pershing and his staff were there.

The regiments that were to go with General Pershing were all selected before he left, and were moving toward the sea coast from the border. Other regiments also were moving north, east and west, to the points where they were to be expanded, and the movements of the troops who were to be first obscured in all this hurrying of troop trains over the land. Great shipments of war supplies began to assemble at the embarkation ports. Liners suddenly were taken off their regular runs, made ready supplies, equipment at transports, loaded with men and guns and sent to sea.

DISPOSITION NOT STATED.

The War Department has no announcement to make as to General Pershing's disposition of his forces. Presumably that has been left to him to decide in conference with the French General Staff and officials of the British army.

The successful landing, while a source of gratification to officials here, viewed from the point of being a military operation, is regarded with added significance for its moral effect in Germany, if it is permitted to become known there.

The reference in the cable despatches to a duplication of "yesterday's surprise" intimating that there was also a landing on Tuesday, obviously discloses a landing of a contingent not recorded in yesterday's despatches.

Safe arrival at a British port of a party of about 125 air craft experts sent from this country to investigate European methods of aircraft designing and manufacture was announced late today by the aircraft production board. Included in the delegation are men representing legal, manufacturing, designing, engineering, military and naval experience and training.

Little Man Wants to Raise Bantam Regiment for U. S.

WASHINGTON, June 28. — The War Department has been urged, in a letter from a person whose name has been withheld, to form "bantam regiments," of small men for the army, but will not follow the suggestion, because it is not in favor of the formation of special regiments. The idea of the writer of the letter is that these regiments should be composed of men under the size and weight conveniently required by the recruiting boards.

In a statement issued through the Bureau of Public Information last night the attitude of the War Department toward the men below the average minimum weight and height required for recruits was set forth as follows:

"As a matter of fact, the correspondent quoted above is entertaining a fixed idea that the recruiting officials are working on a hard and fast rule as to minimum height and weight of applicants for enlistment. The regulations that enlisted men of 21 years or older shall be at minimum 5 feet 4 inches in height and 120 pounds in weight is more flexibly applied than is generally believed. The recruiting officers who accept enlistments and the medical officers who are making physical examinations have instructions not to reject any man who appears to be a 'good risk.'

"Quite frequently 'little giants' will appear at recruiting stations, and such are passed at once on the score of their general strength and vigor. Special waivers of even four inches in height have been made in cases of unusually desirable men. In the case of the cavalry and horse artillery services, of course, the small man is even more liberally allowed for than in the infantry."

Life and Character Reading

JUNE 28.

Cancer is the governing sign of this birthdate and Venus is the governing planet. The moon is also dominant in its influence and gives a variable temperament sometimes highly elated and sometimes greatly depressed, with no reason for these extremes.

The happiest marriage for these people is with those born in the first two weeks in February or in April.

The woman born on this date has excellent taste in dress, but is inclined to extravagance and is proud and ambitious. The man of this birthdate loves to dominate, will not be happy unless he is at the head of a business and is stubborn and persistent, but not successful in presenting his own talents.

HUN PRISONERS SHOUT "THE WAR IS OVER" TO FRENCH

By Associated Press.

FRENCH FRONT IN FRANCE, June 28.—A French military chaplain figured prominently with the French troops in a brilliantly successful attack on the Dragon's Cave, on the Chemin-des-Dames, in the neighborhood of Hurtebise. While advancing with a stretcher-bearer detachment, the chaplain was confronted by the fearsome figure of a German officer whose clothing was aflame.

The chaplain raised a crucifix and offered religious comfort to the burning man, who pointed to the rear where another German officer was creeping out of a hole.

The chaplain, still holding the crucifix aloft, advanced shouting to the Germans to surrender. The officer replied: "We are ready, but will only surrender to an officer."

A French officer approached and entered the cavern, where 150 Germans, including three officers, laid down their arms.

Where the action occurred was the scene of an ambuscade of the French in the beginning of 1915, which resulted in considerable French losses. When the French attacked on this occasion, the position was a peculiar one. The southern entrance of the enormous cavern, between Grotto Farm and the monument commemorative of Napoleonic victory in 1814, was held by the French.

WON BY FLANK ATTACK.

The northern entrance was held by the Germans. The cavern was 500 feet long and 300 feet broad. Across it the Germans had built a brick wall. Above, on the ridge, the French and German trenches were separated by only a few yards. The French objective was to drive the Germans from the cavern and gain the observation points on the surface.

The German trenches were won in a flank attack. While the southern entrance was filled with gas, which penetrated to the German section, the northern exit was shelled and showered with machine gun bullets. The operation succeeded beyond all expectations and resulted in the capture of 317 prisoners, including a number of officers. The French now hold all the dominating points on this part of the Chemin-des-Dames.

The prisoners came in batches, with hands held high in the air and shouting: "The war is over."

The entire French casualties during the operation were fewer than the number of German prisoners taken, while everywhere evidences were found that the Germans had suffered heavy losses in killed.

VENIZELOS AND HIS MINISTERS TAKE THE OATH

ATHENS, June 28.—The new Greek Ministry headed by Eleutherios Venizelos, took the oath at the Palace yesterday, and were acclaimed by an enthusiastic crowd on returning to the Government building, where M. Venizelos delivered a speech from a balcony, warmly thanking the people for their plaudits.

Strong military precautions had been taken to prevent possible disorders, but they proved unnecessary, as the malcontents showing themselves were in a small minority.

"After a few days I expect to have much to say to my beloved Athenians," was Premier Venizelos' salutation to the great crowd that demanded a speech immediately after he and his Cabinet had taken the oath of office. "It has been a long separation."

Venizelos was called to the balcony of his hotel repeatedly by cheering crowds. He was greatly touched by the reception. He and his ministers began their duties at once.

The new Ministry is made up as follows:

Premier and Minister of War.—M. Venizelos.
Minister of the Interior—M. Repoulles.
Minister of Justice—M. Tsirimokos.
Minister of Foreign Affairs—M. Politis.
Minister of Marine—Admiral P. Coundouriotis.
Minister of Finance—M. Negropontes.
Minister of Communications—M. Spirities.
Minister of Education—M. Dingas.
Minister of Food Supplies — M. Embirkos.
Minister of National Economy—M. Papanastasion.

RECOMMENDED TO MERCY.

WINNIPEG, June 28.—Manslaughter, with a strong recommendation to mercy, was the verdict brought in late yesterday afternoon by the jury sitting in the trial of John Drohomerecke, a farmer, 70 years of age, who was charged with the murder in April of George Obniawka. Sentence will likely be handed down later this week.

BRITISH AIRMEN DO MUCH USEFUL WORK ON WEST

LONDON, June 28.—The official report from British Headquarters in France last night reads:

"A hostile raiding party was repulsed early this morning north of Roeux, after sharp fighting, in which the enemy suffered considerable loss.

"Much successful work was accomplished by our airplanes yesterday. In the air fighting five German machines were brought down. Two others were driven down out of control. In addition, one hostile machine was shot down by fire from the ground. None of our airplanes are missing.

"In a successful raid on Brest, east of Lake Doiran, we captured eleven Bulgarians," says another British official statement, issued from Salonika yesterday. "British airplanes bombed and damaged enemy camps and dumps."

ARTILLERY DUEL PROCEEDS.

PARIS, June 28. — The official communication issued by the War Office last night reads:

"The artillery on both sides was active in the region of Hurtebise and Craonne, on the heights south of Moronvilliers, and in the Avocourt sector. There was no infantry action.

"The Belgian communication reads: 'During the course of the night, the enemy artillery bombarded some villages in the rear of our front. We carried out fires in reprisal on the enemy communications. In the morning the artillery was active; in the afternoon there was a spirited artillery action in the sector of Reninghe-Steenstraete.'

"Eastern theatre, June 26—On the Struma front, the British troops successfully laid several ambuscades for enemy patrols between Lakes Ochrida and Presba. The enemy, after a violent bombardment, attacked our trenches, but was repulsed."

TURKS ARE DRIVEN BACK.

PETROGRAD, June 28.—The following official communication was issued yesterday:

"On the Western (Russian) and Roumanian fronts there have been fusiliades and aerial operations.

"Northwest of Serzasht, our detachments after an engagement occupied Nania and Maliashoh. The Turks were drven back to the mountains in the Bistana region. Our progress continues in the direction of Panjwyn (Persian frontier)."

TURKS' LATEST CLAIMS.

By Canadian Press.

CONSTANTINOPLE June 27, via London, June 28.—An official statement issued by the War Office dated June 26, after telling of unimportant military details and reports of conflict with Russian detachments on the Persian front, which ended in favor of the Turks, adds:

"Part of our naval forces, engaged in operations in the Black Sea from the 23rd to the 25th, destroyed a Russian lighthouse and radio station, landed detachments which destroyed enemy guns found on the island and captured a machine gun, rifles and eleven prisoners. On their return they engaged enemy ships of the line and torpedo boat destroyers which tried to bar our passage.

"Our shots were observed to hit an enemy torpedo boat destroyer at a great distance, while one of our seaplanes successfully bombed the enemy ships of the line. In the course of these operations our cruiser Midullu especially distinguished itself. All of our forces returned safely."

MURDER CHARGE REDUCED.

WINNIPEG, June 28.—The indictment of Mike Fox, who was arraigned on the charge of the murder of his wife, Rosie Fox, in February, 1915, was changed yesterday to manslaughter, to which he pleaded guilty. Judge Galt, after hearing the circumstances of the tragedy from R. A. Bonnar, K.C., counsel for the defence, discharged Fox on suspended sentence.

Fox killed his wife after she had admitted infidelity with his nephew.

ENEMY CLINGING VERY CLOSELY TO AVION CELLARS

Special Canadian Press Cable by Stewart Lyon.

CANADIAN HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, via London, June 27.—The enemy clings tenaciously to Avion. He gave up his trenches, which were on a slope leading up to the village, little over a quarter of a mile from the first houses, only under strong compulsion. They were dug in chalk, and our artillery observers had no difficulty in seeing the effect of every shell dropped in them. His new line is immediately in front of the most westerly row of houses in Avion. It is connected with cellars and dugouts in the village, to which the occupants can retire when heavily shelled.

Strong Canadian patrols were sent out during last night along most of the front to learn something of the conditions in this trench line. They found it strongly held by the enemy, and were unable to enter his defence. Our heavy artillery has once more taken up the work of destruction. When it is rendered untenable the defenders of Lens will have but one shot in their locker.

Between Avion and Lens there is a considerable stretch of marshland along the Souchez. This has been flooded, and wire entanglements have been constructed on the eastern side of the flooded area. North of the river, during the night, enemy posts were raided by the English Midland troops, and a number of the enemy were killed and taken prisoners. There, as to the south, the German new line is strongly held.

Sports held by the army with which the Canadian corps is connected, resulted in the rediscovery of Tom Longboat, the famous Canadian Indian runner. In a three-mile cross-country race, Longboat romped home well in advance of some of the most famous British and Canadian runners, without even extending himself. He had a great reception from his regimental comrades. The tug-of-war competitions were won by a British Columbia battalion, and the Canadian heavy artillery, with the English infantry and artillery teams in second place. The British won the artillery drive easily, a Canadian battery taking second.

CAR COUPLER CRUSHED.

While engaged in coupling cars at the C.P.R. Angus yards, yesterday, Cuvanzo Moretto, aged 34 years, of 721a Iberville street, was severely crushed. When examined at the Royal Victoria Hospital, he was found to have sustained serious internal injuries, in addition to numerous contusions.

F. B. CARVELL STANDS BY GOVERNMENT FOR CONSCRIPTION BILL

Will Aid Premier Borden to Ensure That Canada Does Not Fail in Her Duty—Is Against Referendum—Wants Final Appeal for Recruiting

Special to The Star From a Staff Correspondent.

OTTAWA, June 28.—The ninth defection in the ranks of the Opposition since the debate on the Military Service Act began occurred yesterday when Frank B. Carvell (Carleton, N. B.), who has been a merciless critic of the Government's war policy in the past declared himself in favor of the Bill, and against the referendum amendment proposed by his leader, Sir Wilfrid Laurier. The speech of Mr. Carvell was one of the most dignified and restrained utterances in the debate.

There appeared to be a disposition on the part of the Government yesterday to crowd the discussion. A long list of French-speaking members including one Conservative, H. Boulay (Rimouski), voiced their views against conscription and the House was kept sitting until after one o'clock, the day's work including no less than eight speeches. But there is still sufficient material to keep the Conscription debate going until well toward the end of next week. It is understood that there are still forty speeches to be made.

Mr. Carvell, while expressing his personal repugnance to the principle of compulsory service, took the stand that if the Prime Minister, knowing the actual circumstances at the front, declared that more men were needed, he would not take the responsibility of refusing the demand. He asked that after the Bill passed Parliament the various elements in the country should get together in one last grand effort to raise the required men by the voluntary system.

As regards the referendum, while declaring himself to be as much of a democrat as any man in the Dominion, the member for Carlton said that they had to remember that the country was at war, and that the issues were far from being those of ordinary political routine. He was prepared to shoulder his share of the responsibility.

Another speaker yesterday was Sir Herbert Ames (St. Antoine, Montreal), who answered a great many arguments that have been advanced against the Bill since the debate began. Touching on the matter of conscription of wealth, Sir Herbert declared that his experience in Patriotic Fund work had taught him that the wealthy men of Canada had been most generous, but that in every community there were rich men who had not given their share. He suggested that if the Minister of Finance should bring in an income tax, the benefactions to the war funds should be credited as taxation and the men who had not contributed thus be brought to an equality with others.

H. W. Edwards (Frontenac), in supporting the Bill, spoke against the recruiting record of Quebec and attributed it to the policies of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who, he charged, had proclaimed "separation, indecadence and sedition" in Quebec when Bourassa and Lavergne were in the kindergarten class.

Mr. Boulay (Rimouski) supported the Barrette sub-amendment, calling for the six months' hoist for the Bill. He was not certain that he would vote for the referendum, fearing as he did that Conscription might win on a referendum. Emanual Devlin (Wright), C. A. Gauvreau (Temiscouata), P. A. Seguin, (L'Assomption), and L. A. Lapointe (St. James, Montreal), supported the Laurier referendum amendment.

MR. CARVELL DEFENDS STAND.

Mr. Carvell bluntly admitted that he felt his position a delicate one for the reason that for the past two years and a half no man in the House of Commons had criticized the Government in the management of the war to the same extent that he had.

"I believed that partisanship was running rampant all over the Dominion of Canada in the conduct of the war," he said. "As a member of Parliament to whose knowledge these affairs had come, I felt it my duty to make them public, and I made them public in as forcible a manner as I knew how.

"I have no apology to make. I take back nothing that I said. I only wish to say that in the future, notwithstanding the attitude I may take today, if, in my judgment, the conduct of this war by the Government is such that it requires criticism, I hope I will have the courage to perform the duties for which I was sent to Parliament."

Mr. Carvell had nothing further to say of the past. Since the beginning of the war he had taken a very serious view of it. A few weeks ago the Prime Minister, who was charged with the responsibility of conducting the affairs of the country, came back from Great Britain and said more men were needed at the front. The cry for more men was going out all over the civilized world. Whatever the number, it was Canada's duty to send all the men she possibly could to make the war a success.

"Whether a sufficient number of men can be obtained by voluntary recruiting I do not know," said Mr. Carvell, "but I do know that the Prime Minister says that we must have a more forcible method of obtaining men than we have had in the past. When a man in his position takes that view, I have not the nerve to say that he is wrong and that I am right. I put the burden on him and I am willing to stand by him as far as it is possible for me to stand in order that he may get all the men he wants."

PRAISE FOR BRITISH BORN.

Declaring that he was not one of those who were always willing to take their hats off to every Englishman they met on the street, Mr. Carvell said he took off his hat to the 150,000 British-born in Canada who threw up their jobs and enlisted the moment war was declared. He admired British institutions, British laws, the British sense of justice, and British literature. But he did not concur in the view of the man who said Canada was fighting for England or because England wanted her to fight. He would support no other view than that Canadians were answering their duty as Canadians.

He was not much concerned whether under the Militia Act as it now stands, the Prime Minister had the right to call up the men of Canada and send them overseas for military service. Personally, he thought that a liberal interpretation of that Act might be against the contention of the Prime Minister. Yet, if the Prime Minister wanted more power, wanted Canada put in a position to do her duty better than she has been doing, it was the duty of every member in the House and every voter in Canada to give the matter the most earnest consideration.

"No man reveres the autonomy of Canada more than I. I contend that Canada should manage her own affairs. Because I believe that, I am convinced that it is our duty to do everything we possibly can to assist the rest of the civilized world in bringing order out of the present chaos."

Mr. Carvell briefly passed over the events leading up to the war, showing that Britain was forced into it to keep her faith with little Belgium. He showed that the United States had kept out of the war as long as her "decency and public spiritness allowed." He paid a high tribute to the spirit with which the United States was now grappling with the war problem. "That was the spirit I found in every part of the United States that I visited." He said, "I only wish I could find the same spirit all over Canada."

CRITICISES SIR WILFRID.

There was applause on the Government side of the House, and Mr. Carvell reminded those who applauded that he was not referring to the Province of Quebec. There were slackers in all parts of Canada, he said.

He then discussed Sir Wilfrid Laurier's attitude. Sir Wilfrid, he said, realized more than any other man that the Bill was unpopular in Quebec.

"I am not going to hark back and say who is responsible for this state of affairs, but we know that certain English-speaking Canadians in 1910 and 1911 spent their money, not by tens of thousands, but by hundreds of thousands, to sow broadcast throughout Quebec and amongst the French-speaking people of Canada the doctrine that they owed nothing to England and that the whole policy of Laurier was to introduce conscription in the province of Quebec.

"They have for seven years spent their money to sow this doctrine and today they are reaping the whirlwind. Canada is also reaping the whirlwind and my Right Hon. leader finds himself in the position he is in today, very largely because of the attitude of the gentlemen whose names have been mentioned heretofore in the House."

Mr. Carvell said the most depressing day of his life was on Tuesday, when he heard three speakers in Parliament insulting the people of Quebec. Was this racial rancor the result of three years of war? This was the time when the wise men of Canada, of all nationalities, political parties and religious beliefs should get their heads together to seek a remedy for the terrible condition of things. The greatest enemy of the State was the man who at this time of national stress, charged his fellows and neighbors with being a rebel and a traitor, because the neighbor did not agree with his opinions. There must be men in Canada big enough to find a way out of this condition of affairs.

Mr. Carvell referred to the conditions existing in New Brunswick between French and English. In one county alone, 1,000 Acadians, under the guidance of the Republican men, had joined the forces.

"When I come from my own province," he added, "where we live in peace and harmony, and see the terrible condition of affairs that exists between Quebec and Ontario, it is enough to make any thoughtful man to think and wonder whether there is not some way by which we can bring about a better condition of affairs than we have at the present time."

AGAINST THE REFERENDUM.

Of the referendum proposal, the speaker said:

"I find no fault with the man who says: 'Let the people rule.' There is not a stronger Democrat in Canada than I. There is no man who, under ordinary conditions, had greater faith in the people. But I am constrained to come to the conclusion that we are at war, and this is not an ordinary political matter. This is a question of life and death for civilization. The men whom we shall send from Canada from now to the end of the war may be the deciding factors between success and failure.

"I rather agree that we made a mistake in voting to extend the life of Parliament a year ago. However, we did it unanimously, and we believed we were working for the best. But we are, as things stand today, the Parliament of Canada. We are called upon to act and to bear our responsibilities as we form a Canadian Parliament, and the man who is not ready to face his duty in this matter is not fit to be a member of Parliament.

"Should the referendum be defeated, what then? That is a question I cannot get around. I do not say it would be defeated. I do not say that this Parliament ought to pass a law if it is sure that in doing so it is going against the will of the people, but again I come back to my first proposition. This country is at war and must have men. This country must go on. It must do its duty. I have no fault to find with any man who is willing to take this chance. But so far as I am concerned I can only say that it is not good enough for me. Therefore I am constrained to vote against my leader on this question. Those of us who feel that way would logically be compelled to vote for the second reading of the Bill."

However, declaring that personally he did not believe in the principle of Conscription, he expressed the hope that the Government would delay the practical enforcement of the Bill until voluntary enlistment had been given a fair chance. Let every element in Canada get together for one last, determined effort, and if that failed the Government would have his full support for the compulsory system.

RECRUITING PERCENTAGES.

J. W. Edwards (Frontenac) produced an intricate chain of statistics to show that the Province of Quebec had not done her duty in recruiting. He levied the 500,000 troops promised by Sir Robert Borden on the various provinces according to population, showing that the provinces had contributed the following percentages of their respective quotas:

Ontario, 101 per cent; Quebec, 22 per cent; the Maritime Provinces, 58 per cent; Manitoba and Saskatchewan, 112 per cent; Alberta, 102 per cent, and British Columbia, 131 per cent. Had Quebec done as well as Ontario, he said, the troops now raised in Canada would number 585,000.

Dr. Edwards expressed the view that the worst enemies of the French-Canadian race were the men who had tried to prevent them from enlisting.

Mayor Martin, of Montreal: "Do you mean the Nationalists of 1911 now on the Government benches?"

Dr. Edwards: "I am going to refer to the Nationalists and to some who are not Nationalists, including the Hon. gentleman who has just taken his seat. I have no use for the Nationalists.

C. A. Wilson (Laval): "But your leader seems to have use for them."

Dr. Edwards: "And your leader seems to have use for them too, now."

The Member for Frontenac undertook to show where Sir Wilfrid Laurier had stood on the question of Canada's participation in the wars of the Empire. In the South African War he had held back until public opinion drove him to send soldiers overseas, and then he sent them on the "C. O. D." principle. At the Imperial Conferences he had attended his stand was in line with the Nationalist platform of non-participation. So, too, on the Naval Aid Bill.

BOURASSA SUGGESTED REFERENDUM.

The referendum in the present case, said Dr. Edwards, had first been suggested by Henri Bourassa, the Nationalist leader. Had Sir Wilfrid risen to his opportunity when the Bill was brought in, there would have been none of the present agitation in the country. Men like Tancrede Marcil, Lavergne, and Bourassa, "who should have been in jail long ago," would never have been heard from.

Mayor Martin: "What about Blondin?"

Dr. Edwards: "He has taken a course the Hon. gentleman would do well to emulate."

The second plank in the Nationalist platform, said Dr. Edwards, was to spurn every effort to recruit men for the British Army. The various Liberal clubs in Quebec had carried out this plank. He declared that Sir Wilfrid Laurier had nourished the idea on separation, independence and sedition in the minds of the people of Quebec. Bourassa and Lavergne were in the kindergarten class when Sir Wilfrid was professor in that school of thought.

Mr. Wilson (Laval): "Will this sort of talk help recruiting?"

Dr. Edwards: "I do not think anything would have any effect on recruiting in the part of the country you come from."

Later the member for Frontenac turned his attention to Hon. William Pugsley, declaring that the member for St. John would not have dared to address a recruiting meeting for fear somebody at the back of the hall might ask "Why does not Lieut. J. A. Pugsley, of St. John, go to the front?"

SAYS FEELING INCITED.

Emmanuel Devlin (Wright) accused the last speaker, as well as James Arthur (Parry Sound) of inciting feeling in Quebec against conscription. He treated the Constitutional aspect of the Bill, declaring that the makers of the Militia Act did not contemplate anything beyond an invasion by the United States.

Mr. Devlin said that the Prime Minister had not given any military reasons for the enforcement of conscription. When the war broke out the Prime Minister had appeared more concerned about securing munitions orders and dividing the profits among his friends than in winning the war. Enormous profits had accumulated in the hands of the few, and the Government refused to conscript wealth, although ready to conscript flesh and blood.

No information had been given the public, said Mr. Devlin, to show that the Imperial authorities had asked for more men. There were in England two million men for reinforcements, while millions of eligibles had not been conscripted.

He declared that the referendum idea had not originated in Quebec, but was the general demand of the people of all Canada.

SIR HERBERT AMES' OPINION.

Sir Herbert Ames, in opening his remarks, said, there were two conceptions of the duty of a member of Parliament. He might be regarded as the mouthpiece of his constituents, or he might feel called upon at times to lead public opinion rather than follow, having fuller information than his electors.

He said that since the discussion of the Military Service Act had arisen, he had received many petitions, resolutions and letters on the subject. Most of the opposing petitions emanated from a body in Montreal known as La Ligue Patriotique des Interets Canadiens. On the other hand, the Montreal Board of Trade, various Protestant church organizations, and the Great War Veterans' Association supported the Bill. He said the latter organization carried weight with him, especially the petition from its French section.

Mayor Martin asked the speaker how long the organization had been in existence.

"Ever since brave men came home from the war," said Sir Herbert.

Sir Herbert said that he had been surprised that the need of compulsory service had not been felt sooner. It was unthinkable that the regiments at the front should be abandoned. Reinforcements could be supplied by conscription, the one method found effective to meet similar conditions elsewhere.

CANADA'S DEFENCE AT STAKE.

Sir Herbert dealt with constitutional questions, concluding that the war was clearly one for the defence of Canada. He then dealt with various arguments advanced by previous speakers against the Bill. As for the need for reinforcements, he analyzed the figures of men now under arms.

Of the 126,000 men now in England, barely one-half would ever reach the firing line. At the present time there were less than 20,000 men in Canada enrolled for combatant service overseas. In the last five-and-a-half months, while there had been 37,500 enlistments, one-half of these had been for combatant units, an average of only 3,500 per month. The wastage at the front, meanwhile, was at the rate of 10,000 per month. In April and May there were 23,939 casualties, mostly in infantry regiments, while in the month of May only 1,208 infantry men were enlisted. It required from eight to twelve months to prepare a raw recruit for the front. Unless there were greatly increased recruiting out reserves would be exhausted by Christmas.

Another objection argued was that the present Parliament was incompetent to pass the Bill. Of the legal and constitutional right there could be no question. Amendments to the British North America had equal validity with the law itself. Any law passed by the extended Parliament was as valid as if it had been passed in 1912.

ABOUT SPARING THE MEN.

Another contention was that Canada could not spare the men. This view was advanced by the men who asked for another trial or a continuance of the voluntary system. The Bill was intended as much to retain in the country the men whose services were essential as to send to the firing line men not essential.

Much had been said of tearing the husband from the wife, the father from his children, but these statements were wholly untruthful. Probably the first three classes would provide all the men needed, and these included unmarried men and widowers without children between the ages of 20 and 35.

Sir Herbert emphasized the fact that enforcement of the Act would be in the hands of the Department of Justice, and not military authorities. It had been said that enforcement of the Act would ruin the country, yet the 25,000 men it would take from Quebec, if taken with discretion, would not leave any essential industry crippled.

To the objection that the Bill had found the people of Canada wholly unprepared, Sir Herbert said that during the past six months events had moved rapidly and conditions had changed radically. The probable prolongation of the war through the crisis in Russia, and the fact that conscription had been adopted in the United States were among the considerations that made the step necessary in Canada.

CONSCRIPTION OF WEALTH.

With regard to the call for conscription of wealth, Sir Herbert said that the wealthy men of the country had given generously to various war funds, but in almost every community were rich men, who had given little. He hoped that if the Finance Minister adopted an income tax he would regard contributions to the war funds as legitimately credited on tax account, and secure from those who had given nothing to war benefactions their just share of the common burden.

Sir Herbert said he was opposed to a referendum because he believed the issue could not be fairly presented. He would prefer to see the Bill passed. When its exact provisions had been determined upon and were the law of the land, he would prefer to have it laid before the people by a general election rather than to have its enforcement attempted by this Parliament. He believed that if its provisions were carefully explained and the necessities of the case made clear, the act would be accepted and its provisions obeyed.

SONS, TOO, ARE DOING THEIR BIT.

G. Gauvreau, (Temiscouata, told the House that two of his sons had joined the Navy and the third and last would join as soon as he could get away from his studies. This was not only intended for the defence of Canada and the Empire, but to prove to Ontario that Quebec also know how to do her bit.

Mr. Gauvreau opposed Conscription all along the line, declaring that he would vote against the second and third readings of the Bill. In support of his stand, he used all the arguments that all other speakers among the French Liberals have used. He said that recruiting in Quebec had been hampered because the people had no confidence in a Government obviously partisan and whose conduct of the war gave rise to so many scandals. Refuting the charge of disloyalty of Quebec, he referred the members to their Canadian history. It was useless to think that recruiting in Quebec could be encouraged by insult and calumny. He quoted from the Orange Sentinel to show the sentiments that had been expressed in Ontario. He instanced also what he termed the "odious persecution of the French language in Ontario." He declared that on one occasion, when troops were passing through Fraserville, Quebec, the inhabitants had gone to the train with little gifts for the men and had been greeted with vile insults. He paid his respects to Sir John Willison of Toronto, calling him the "strongest insulter of the French-Canadian race in this country." He said "John Willison" had done more than any other man to bring about racial discord.

Somebody suggested that he refer to the gentleman as "Sir John" but Mr. Gauvreau refused indignantly.

A JUST AND HOLY WAR.

He said he had told his electors that the war was a just and almost a holy war, but he had had the courage to denounce the "brigandage" of the Government. He said that he was President of the Patriotic Fund in his district, and that $1200 per month was distributed there to families of men who had gone to the front.

Referring to the speech of L. J. Gauthier (St. Hyacinthe), Mr. Gauvreau said Mr. Gauthier had had the courage to tell the Government what would happen if the Bill were forced through. The Opposition would wash their hands of it. He scored F. J. Robidoux (Kent, N.B.,) who spoke for the Bill, accusing that gentleman of looking for a fat job.

He also paid his respects to Dr. Michael Clark (Red Deer) for the latter's attack on Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and ended by issuing a grave warning to the Government of the consequences in national discord, should the Bill be forced upon the country.

Mr. Boulay (Rimouski) opposed the Bill on many grounds. Among the reasons he gave were the following: It was opposed to the constitution and traditions of Canada. Canada had already sent far more than her quota in men. The French-Canadians were persecuted by the English-speaking majority in the country. There was a mentality in Quebec opposed to participation in Great Britain's wars, this having been created by the Liberal party in 1896.

For these considerations Mr. Boulay said he would vote for the six months' hoist. As for the referendum, he was not sure about that, for he figured it out in this wise. The 400,000 soldiers would vote for conscription. Some 100,000 of the members of their families would do the same. That would be a total of 500,000. Now, in the general election of 1911, only 1,300,000 votes were cast in all Canada, so it was possible that Conscription would be passed on the referendum.

P. A. Seguin (L'Assomption), another French-speaking Liberal, followed with a stern denunciation of Conscription. He suggested that the Germans employed in the Civil Service be sent to the front as well as the British people who had come to Canada since the beginning of the war to escape military service in their own country.

L. A. Lapointe (St. James, Montreal) opposed Conscription on the following grounds: That it was a menace to the constitutional liberties which the French-Canadians had been taught to expect and had enjoyed under the British flag; it was an insult to the manhood and patriotism of Canada; it was the outcome of historical sentiments created by the overstrain upon the nerves of the public. It had been sprung suddenly upon a people long since led to believe that no such scheme was in contemplation. An autocratic spirit underlay it.

At 1:15 the debate was adjourned by Dr. Neeley (Humboldt).

FOUND DECAPITATED.

NEW GLASGOW, N.S., June 28.—The little district of Evansville, which is a section of Stellarton, was shocked by the news of the finding yesterday of the body of Pietro Marabito, with his head practically severed from his body. Marabito was a miner and well known among the Italians, who largely compose the residents of the section in which he body was found.

FIGHT OVER "DRY" CLAUSE HAS STUCK UP FOOD CONTROL

Special to The Star by United Press.

WASHINGTON, D.C., June 28.—The fight for beer and wines began on the floor of the Senate today. An overwhelming vote has already vanquished whiskey.

Food control itself temporarily has been lost sight of in the prohibition battle. With the outcome uncertain, hope of food control by July 1 has been abandoned. Opposition to the Food Bill itself has almost entirely vanished, but in its place has sprung up violent antagonism to its dry amendment. Senators who would favor the Food Control Bill will vote against it on account of the liquor clause. Many who oppose prohibition under guise of food control legislation now will attack the measure. Others will assail the dry amendment, prohibition beer and liquor manufacture but placing the life of wines in the President's hands as "discriminatory."

Were it not for the strong "war drouth" sentiment, it is probable the "wets" would attempt to "laugh" the prohibition amendment to the Food Bill off the measure. As it is, they are rallying amendments of every scope and description, some of which will prohibit candy, chewing gum and other luxuries on the same ground as liquors and beers—because they are luxuries manufactured from food stuff. The battle beginning today promises to be at once spectacular, violent and funny.

DORAN BLINDED BY BALL; JIMMY WALSH WILL PLAY

The Shamrocks are hard hit again.

Larry Doran was stunned in the night eve by a hard shot from Capt. Harry Hyland at practice last night.

The ball came at him from a side angle, and he was unable to stop it otherwise than with his face, and those who follow Hockey know that Hyland with Pitre enjoys the distinction of being a cannon ball artist.

Fortunately he does not use this talent very often deliberately, or it would go hard with his opponents.

There is a ray of sunshine however, in the fact that Jimmy Walsh has positively promised to be on deck for the trip to Toronto which will be started on Friday night by Grand Trunk.

The team will be in charge of Alderman Tom O'Connell, Jim Ravanagh and James Foley, the secretary.

SOCCER NOTES

A meeting of the French P.Q.F.A. Soccer League will take place at the residence of the president, 638 Dorchester street west, at 8.15 prompt this evening.

As a result of Saturday's games, at the Invictus-Lachine game, Referee Warren has tendered his resignation.

The following team will represent the 4th Boy Scouts in their match against Grand Trunk Jrs. on Saturday June 30, at Cote St. Paul. Kick-off at 4.15: C. Robertson goal; J. Fog and C. Haworth, backs; J. Hurst, C. Taylor and H. Quincey, half-backs; W. Turner (capt.), W. Stevens, P. Lamoine, J. Grimes and A. Polley forwards.

The following players will represent the Thistle Jrs. against the Vickers Jrs. on Saturday, at Outremont: Goal F. Wright; backs, J. Irwin and W. Smith; half-backs, W. Ware, D. Massey and J. Moodie; forwards, H. Gow, S. Rowe, T. Rowland, E. Riley and T. Murray. Players will be at grounds not later than 2:20 p.m.

Sons of England team vs. Verdun, Saturday, 30th, on Wellington grounds, will be: Clapp, Davy, White, Bailey, A. Jude, McCann, Bushell, Wakeham, C. Jude, Payne and Jones. Reserves, McKeown, Langdale.

The following players have been selected to play for Vickers' Midgets vs. Thistle Jrs., Saturday, June 30, at Outremont Parks: Goal, F. Crossley; backs, J. Ewen and D. Wears; half-backs, F. Smith, E. Crossley and A. Watt; forwards, N. Wells, G. Whittaker, H. Freeman, S. Parker and J. Lauchlan. All players to meet at the corner of St. Catherine and Letourneaux street no later than 1:15 p.m.

At the First Division meeting last night, an attempt was made to bring Harry Roberts, the referee, back into the game. Mr. McQuaid, C.P.R., made the motion, but while the majority sympathized with the idea, they were loth to make it appear as senior business, preferring that it be left to the P.Q.F.A.

Quite a lot of discussion took place on the proposed amendments regarding release of players, and it was decided to accept President Gillespie's suggestions in toto, thus negativing the Second Division's proposal that seven days notice be sufficient for a club to approach a player.

Further arrangements were made for the Dominion Day International, and prospects are bright for this feature.

Nomads have signed on Walsh, late of Canada Tube, and Beloeil, Sharrocks, formerly with St. Paul Rangers. Both considered captures.

NATIONALS WILL BE CHANGED TEAM NEXT SATURDAY

It will be a changed National team which will meet Ottawa here on Saturday next. Many of the older players have found excuses to rest during the past two weeks and are consequently not in condition. The management has felt that speed should be one of the main assets of the team and has therefore decided to replace those veterans who cannot play the entire game owing to lack of condition by younger men who can stand the pace.

Just what the changes will be are not yet definitely known, but will not be announced until the last minute, the director wishing to see just what the men can do before making their decision. It is more than likely, however, that Slaw and Drummond will be used on Saturday against the Ottawa home.

The younger men and some of the regulars have been practicing regularly during the past two weeks of enforced rest and on the whole the Flying Frenchmen should be even stronger than ever. Capitals though, have proved to be a hard nut to crack at any time and they will surely give the Nationals a lot of trouble on Saturday.

Lalonde has yet to get two goals in order to assume the goal getters' leadership of the league and he will be out to score with a vengeance on Saturday.

WILLARD'S SHOW IS RELEASED

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 28. — Jess Willard's Wild West show was released from sheriff's attachment at Jamestown early today when the champion heavyweight gave a surety bond on a Maryland Company. Willard then ordered the circus to proceed to Erie, Pa., where it will show today. The attachment was secured by Tom Jones and Jack Curley, Willard's former managers.

August Becker, Willard's Buffalo attorney, in his snarl with his managers said today that the litigation begun in New York by Curley had been deferred until next week when Willard will appear in person.

BENDER AGAIN

Moran Will Give Indian Pitcher Another Chance

PHILADELPHIA, June 28.—"Chief" Bender, the veteran Indian pitcher, who was unconditionally released by the Philadelphia National League baseball team early in the season, is to be given another trial by Manager Moran. Bender accepted Moran's terms last night and will join the Phillies in Brooklyn today. The salary he is to receive was not announced. Since his release Bender has been pitching for independent clubs.

"HANK" GROWDY ENLISTS.

New York, June 28.—Harry M. (Hank) Gowdy catcher for the Boston National Baseball Club left here yesterday for Columbus, Ohio, where he recently enlisted in the Ohio National Guard to join the colors.

A meeting of the Maisonneuve Club will be held on Friday, June 29, 1917, at 8 p.m. sharp, at 595 St. Catherine street east. All the lady members are requested to be present.

SPILL AT BACK RIVER; JOCKEY SHERRER IN CRITICAL CONDITION

Yesterday's racing at the Mount Royal course was marred by a bad spill in the sixth race, as a result of which Jockey Sherrer was taken to the Royal Victoria Hospital, suffering from a compound fracture of his right leg and internal injuries. Clara Morgan, the horse on which he had the mount, crossed her legs at the first turn and went down, falling against the rail. Sherrer was caught between the horse and the fence. The horse also broke a leg and had to be destroyed. Feather Duster, trailing Clara Morgan at the time, fell over her and gave Jockey Gray a bad shaking up.

At the Royal Victoria Hospital today it was stated that Sherrer's condition was serious.

The feature event of the day, the Overseas Handicap, went to Gordon Russell. Joe D. set the early pace in this event, but was beaten out in the stretch.

Due to his rough riding on Lady Betty, Jockey Erickson was denied the privileges of riding for another one other than his contract employer, Gene Lutz!

J. M. Stowe claimed Corkey W. after he won the third race for $900. This horse is one of the most consistent at the course.

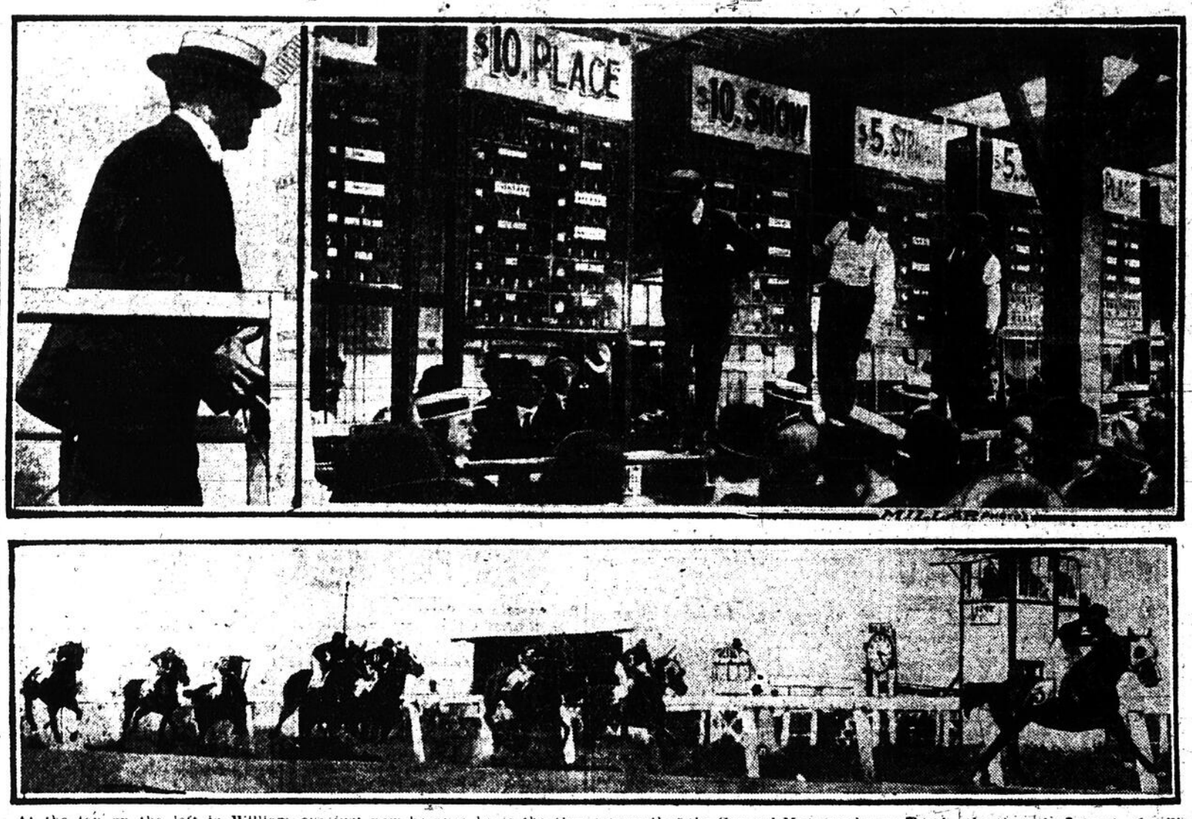
Provincial and Government Detectives in Numbers Mingle With Race-Goers at Mount Royal Track

The attendance at the Back River race track yesterday afternoon was the largest of any day of the present meet, but few of the fans busy watching the afternoon's sport realized that the track was flooded with plain clothes men, representing both the Federal and Provincial Governments.

Dan McLaughlin, of the Canadian Detective Bureau, who is in charge of the general police organization at the track, has an exceptionally large squad of uniformed men under him, but the news that special men were on the job caused somewhat of a stir about the plant. These men were there to pick up evidence about the Maisonneuve scandal as well as to watch for new conspiracy.

New faces behind the wickets where tickets are sold and also in the "cashing" departments had a busy day, but as far as could be learned no irregularities of any kind have been discovered, and F. M. Sullivan, general manager is leaving no stone unturned to guard against a repitition of the Maisonneuve fiasco.

HORSE RACE NEWS IS JUST NOW TAKING UP THE ENTIRE ATENTION OF THE ENTIRE SPORTING PUBLIC AND BELOW ARE SOME SNAPSHOTS OF TIMELY INTEREST BY A STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER



At the top on the left is William Murray, one of the well known race track starters of America, caught in the act at Mount Royal Track.

Mr. Murray is much in the public eye just now because he is the General Manager of the Maisonneuve Race Track, where a betting scandal cropped up last Saturday, although there is no evidence whatever to prove that the General Manager knew there was anything wrong till his attention was called to it.

Next to him is a picture of the Pari-Mutuel machine at Mount Royal Track, showing those not familiar with horse-races what these things look like.

Below is the finish of yesterday's fourth race at Mount Royal.

PROV. TREASURER COMES TO CITY TO TAKE PERSONAL CHARGE OF MAISONNEUVE RACE-TRACK SCANDAL--- OFFICIALS THINK EVIDENCE OF CONSPIRACY STRONGER

Several Employes of the Pari-Mutuel Plant, Some of Whom Resigned During the Week, are to Be Star Witnesses, it is Said, and One is Reported as Being Prepared for the Purpose of Cleaning His Own Skirts to Tell Absolutely All He Knows

The Maisonneuve Race Track scandal is still the talk of the town, and every day new evidence is adduced, that there was not only a conspiracy to rob the public but that the original intention of the conspiracy was to rob the public of a much larger sum than the three or four thousand dollars which were nearly obtained.

In fact it seems the impression amongst the officials engaged in probing the thing to the bottom that it was the intention of the conspirators to do the same thing with the $10 tickets as was attempted with the $5 tickets.

The principle new features of the Cause Celebre today are:

That the Honorable Provincial Treasurer himself has come to Montreal to investigate the scandal in person.

MANY DETECTIVES WORKING.

That while the Attorney-General's Department intimates that it has as yet nothing to do with the case, Detectives employed by some one have been digging up evidence.

That amongst the principal witnesses there will be:

A gentleman named Schulte, who had charge of the Pari-Mutuel work at the Maisonneuve track during the early part of this meet, but who left after a difference of opinion about its management with the management of the track.

A gentleman named White, one of the best known race-track and Pari-Mutual Calculators in America, a man with an unblemished reputation. He also, it is said, left the employ of the track because he had a difference of opinion about the management of things with the track management.

A gentleman named Dew, who was one of the five dollar ticket sellers at the track at the opening of the meet, and who left for a similar reason, made stronger by the fact that his life had been threatened by a fellow employe who has also left the employ of the track, and who threatened to shoot Dew, and when he found out that this was impracticable, threatened "to get" Dew some day on the boat going down to King Edward Park, where Dew had secured an engagement for the coming race-meet.

HANDLED SOME CASH.

A gentleman known as Mr. X., who had something to do with the handling of the cash at the Pari-Mutuel machine last Saturday, and who it is said had not only made a partial admission involving a man high up in the machine, but, who it is intimated is ready to tell the properly constituted authorities all he knows of whatever transactions are supposed to have been wrong, for the purpose of establishing that, whatever part he may have had in them involuntary, were absolutely innocent and only in response to certain orders received.

A gentleman known as Mr. X., who is supposed to have issued certain orders, on the Saturday in question, in regard to certain transactions the necessity for which the Government officials would be very glad to have explained.

It seems to have been pretty well established to the satisfaction of the Government officials that at the very beginning of the meet a case was discovered where ten $5 tickets had been diverted either intentionally or accidentally to a wrong purpose, and that the matter had been hushed up without the Government officials being notified, although they were later on in an indirect manner told of it.

CAUSED CLOSE WATCH.

This information led to a closer scrutiny, and no doubt encouraged Collector of Revenue Rodger to take up the matter so sharply on Saturday last.

Notwithstanding Mr. Rodger's wonderful ability to act the part of a clam as far as the givin gout of information is concerned, it has been found, that he held quite a crisp little informal enquiry on his own behalf on Saturday immediately after the discrepancy between the inside books and the outside totalizer was noticed.

Special to The Star.

QUEBEC, June 28.—Hon. Walter G. Mitchell left last night for Montreal to look personally after the investigation on the Maisonneuve mystery.

The Provincial Treasurer realizes that it is a scandal without any precedent and he wants to be sure that nothing will be spared to solve the mystery.

The fate of the guilty employes, if the suspicion of fraud is established, will be known in Montreal as the Hon. Mr. Mitchell does not intend to return to Quebec before the whole affair has been settled.

H. H. Rodger, the Government Inspector, who has ordered the seizure of the money and who has made the report, has acted very carefully, in the opinion of the Quebec officials and has proven to be a very competent officer.

Mr. Rodger is the Government's revenue collector in Montreal for taxes coming from amusements, transfer taxes, and moving pictures. He has been appointed a couple of years ago to the position. Prior to the appointment, he was Private Secretary to the Hon. Peter MacKenzie, Mr. Mitchell's predecessor in the Finance Ministry of Quebec.

F. E. Begin, controller of the revenue, seen by the Star this morning said that as the Minister had left for Montreal the whole thing would be settled there.

RODGER DID DUTY.

"What is the fine that could be imposed on these employes, if they are guilty of fraud," asked the Star representative.

"I could not say," answered Controller Begin. "They will come under the Criminal law. You know," added Mr. Begin, "that the Federal Government has stopped betting at the races, after the first of August, so that we did not think it was necessary to give the matter much attention.

"The report of Mr. Rodger is a proof that he has done his duty. But it is recognized that the campaign directed by The Star in favor of Government and careful Government inspection at the tracks is really responsible for the disclosure of the Maisonneuve mystery."

It is true, as Controller Begin has said, that betting will be stopped on the first of August, but in the opinion of many Quebec officials the Order-in-Council, prohibiting even the pari-mutuels, will be changed at the end of the war.

Some peoples even think that the betting will go on next Spring again in Montreal and maybe next Fall, as a strong pressure is being made on the Government to change the Order-in-Council.

The news that a French-Canadian Montreal morning paper had asked for the arrest of the guilty employes was communicated to Charles Lanctot, K.C., the Assistant Attorney-General, who said:

"I haven't heard anything yet about this affair. Everything is in the hands of the Controller of the Revenue and it has not been submitted to the Attorney-General."

Mr. Lanctot, asked if he could have the employes arrested when the proof of fraud would be submitted to him, declined to answer, saying again:

"I do not know anything yet about the matter."

It is understood, though Mr. Lanctot will not say anything, that if there is evidence of fraud, the employes will be prosecuted.

French-Canadian Morning Paper Now Demands Prosecution

The French-Canadian morning paper Le Canada says today:

"There has been much comment on the subject of what went on at the Maisonneuve race track last Saturday at the end of the last race.

"Those in charge of the pari-mutuels of the track have proven all week that they know their business well, and it is not right to throw stones at the majority of these employees because a few of them have a mania for juggling with the tickets.

"General Manager Murray should immediately proceed against his unfaithful employes, for the entire race-going public demands that justice be done."

Baseball Writers Hot After McGraw; May Reopen Case

Special to The Star.

NEW YORK, June 28.—At a special meeting of the New York chapter of Baseball Writers' Association at the Press Club here yesterday it was unanimously resolved to request President Tener and the directors of the National League to re-open the McGraw case.

The writers, whose reports of interviews with Manager McGraw of the New York Club were repudiated, seek an opportunity to establish the correctness of their reports of the McGraw interview at Pittsburgh, and to have the slur which they say was cast upon journalism eliminated and the truth established.

At a special meeting of the board of directors of the Sporting Writers' Association of Greater New York yesterday, a resolution was passed endorsing the action of the local chapter. The directors went on record as favoring and offering co-operation in the efforts of the New York baseball writers.

THE PASSING HOUR

A Broopton, N.J., real estate man was trying to sell a small farm by mail to a possible purchaser in Manhattan, a very precise and particular person. One day a friend asked him how he was making out on the deal.

"Oh, I've quit," he said in a tone of marked pleasure. "You see, he wrote for so many details and kept insisting on having more, that I got tired at last, and wrote, telling him if he would pay the freight both ways I would ship the darn farm down to the city for him to look at, and he never answered my letter."—Puck.

An intoxicated man hailed a cab. After he had climbed in the cabby leaned over and asked: "What street do you want?"

"What streets have you?" he inquired.

"Lots of 'em," smiled the cabby, humoring him.

"Gimme 'em all," he said, waving his arm grandly. After they had been driving for several hours the man in the cab ordered a stop. "How much do I owe you?"

"Seven dollars and fifty cents."

"Well, you had better drive back till you get to thirty-fi' shents, 'cause thatsall I got."

This mistress of the house entered the butler's pantry quietly. "James!" she said, severely. The butler looked up with a guilty flush. "James," she asked, "how is it that whenever I come into the pantry I find your work only half done, and you lying down reading the newspaper?"

"Well, madam," the butler answered, "I should say it was on account of them soft soled shoes you usually wear, ma'am."

On a pleasant Sunday afternoon an old man and his youngest son were seated in the village inn. The father had partaken liberally of the home brewed beer and was warning his son against the evils of intemperance. "Never drink too much, my son. A gentleman stops when he has enough. To be drunk is a disgrace."

"Yes, father; but how can I tell when I have enough, or am drunk?"

The old man pointed his finger. "Do you see those two men sitting in the corner? If you should see four men there you would be drunk."

The boy looked long and earnestly. "Yes, father, but—but—there is only one man in that corner."

Mr. Penn—They say the streets in Boston are frightfully crooked.

Mr. Hubb—They are. Why, do you know, when I first went there I could hardly find my way round.

"That must be embarrassing."

"It is. The first week I was there I wanted to get rid of an old cat we had, and my wife got me to take it to the river a mile away."

"And you lost the cat all right?"

"Lost nothing! I never would have found my way home if I hadn't followed the cat."

WHAT GERMANS READ

The following gems of Junker oratory are extracted from the speeches at the annual meeting of the Agrarian League.

Dr. Wildgrube, member of the Reichstag:

The unstatesmanlike fanaticism of the hotblooded plebeian, Lloyd George, speaks both in the direct rejection of our peace offer and in the reply to Mr. Wilson. Let us thank God at this hour that precisely at the proper time He has appointed a German-eater, blind with rage, to be Regent of England. Who knows, my dear fellow-countrymen, if we might not otherwise have gone on negotiating in good faith about our peace offer, while the munitions stores on the Somme, the granaries of England, the coal stores of France and Italy, were filled to overflowing? We can have all confidence in the simple optimism of our political leaders when we are exchanging Notes. But just at the most dangerous moment of the whole war the Kaiser and the Supreme Command shut the diplomatic inkpot with the sword, and so the situation was saved.

Dr. Wildgrube again:

We know the soul of our Kaiser, his conscience before God, his fatherly loyalty to his people, and his warm heart for all suffering mankind. All the more gladly do we render him homage since religion and morality in him now know only one law—the unrestricted, vigorous, and united expression in action of the German will for victory.

Baron von Wangenheim, President of the Agrarian League.

The peace which we have to win must not be signed with the old romantic goose-quill of the bureaucrats and diplomatists, and it must not be signed with the flexible gold fountain pen of the banker. It must be signed with the point of the German sword.

DECK HANDS WANT INCREASE

VANCOUVER, June 28. — Asking for an increase in wages of 20 per cent. 325 deckhands, firemen, oilers, wipers and coal passers employed on 22 steamers of the Canadian Pacific coasting fleet struck yesterday, and as a result all northern sailings have been cancelled and the steamers from Vancouver to Seattle taken off the run. Deckhands of the Union Steamship Co. of British Columbia served notice yesterday that they would strike today if wages were not increased.

RED DEER MINES WILL BE OPENED AGAIN AT ONCE

CALGARY, June 28.—The mines in district 18 and in the Red Deer valley will re-open at once. An order to the operators to this effect was issued today by Commissioner W. H. Armstrong, who was appointed by the Dominion Government to investigate the situation and to take such action as might be deemed necessary in the public interest.

Mr. Armstrong has wide powers under the Order-in-Council under which he is acting, and the operators have no recourse but to obey the mandate.

The mines probably will be in operation by next Tuesday, July 3. The word has to be disseminated among the men, who are widely scattered as a consequence of the prolonged strike, and it will be impossible to get them together before that date.

The terms under which the mines will operate will be those enunciated by R. F. Green after his recent inquiry here. Mr. Green reported in favor of the operators eliminating the penalty clause, also of them paying an increase of 7½ per cent more than the tentative agreement and of appointing a commission to investigate living cost and conditions every four months, at the request of either party.

These terms provide for an increase of about 22½ per cent over the old agreement, as the scale in the tentative agreement was about 15 per cent above that of the old agreement. The penalty clause was, to penalize the men if they violated the agreement. The commission is supposed to adjust the wages on the basis of living cost and may accordingly raise or lower the rate of pay.

About 8,000 men have been affected by the strike and the majority have been idle since the first of April, some for a longer period. The loss in wages amounts to hundreds of thousands of dollars and the end has not come a moment too soon, for the coal stock, were getting low, smelters were closing down and the railways were threatened with a shortage for the hauling of the 1917 grain.

PROHIBITION VOTE

Liquor Interests Petition to Ottawa is Not Sustained

Special to The Star.

COOKSHIRE, Que., June 28.—The counter petition which was presented by the liquor interests to the Secretary of State at Ottawa on Friday last, asking that the proclamation calling for a vote under the Canada Temperance Act in the county of Compton be withdrawn, has not been sustained.

The Rev. E. R. Roy, president of the county organization, has received a telegram from Thomas Mulvey, K. C., Under-Secretary of State, stating that the counter petition had been dismissed and that the vote will proceed as proclaimed, viz., June 28.

The vote on Thursday next is expected to go strong for the temperance party.

COCCHI WILL NOT BE EXTRADITED; HE MAY BE EXECUTED

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Alfredo Cocchi, self-confessed murderer of Ruth Cruger in New York, could be shot under Italian military law if it is disclosed that he is a reservist, an Italian official in this city said yesterday.

Under Italian criminal law, it would be impossible to obtain a death sentence against the prisoner, but it was suggested that Cocchi might belong to the Italian army, and if so would be liable to a sentence by court-martial.

It was not known at the Italian Embassy whether Cocchi had evaded military service, but a simple investigation in Italy, it was asserted, would disclose whether there were physical or other disabilities which may have disqualified him. He is of military age, and all such subjects of Italy, unless disqualified for cause, are classed as reservists.

No hope was held out here yesterday in Italian official circles that Cocchi might be extradited. The fundamental laws of the country oppose his extradition, and it would not be in the power of the Government, without acting contrary to those laws, to surrender Cocchi for trial and punishment in the United States. If he cannot be tried under military law in Italy, he will be tried by civil law and the sentence probably would be life imprisonment.

It was said that the fact that Cocchi has confessed will not affect the sentence, as state's evidence may not be so turned with benefit to the prisoner in Italy.

NO NEW YORKERS INVOLVED.

BOLOGNA, Italy, June 28. — Alfredo Cocchi has involved no New York politicians or policemen in any part of his disjointed confession of the murder of Ruth Cruger, it developed here today.

This and other facts came to light when officials, relatives and friends of the Cocchi's were questioned. Cocchi refused flatly to discuss the priest Moretto. He has mentioned no accomplice, and insists the murder of Ruth Cruger was his first crime.

The magistrate in charge today finished the interrogation of other witnesses, and will question Cocchi himself further concerning his crime before setting a date for trail.

The Court also announced its intention of awaiting the result of the various investigations of the crime being conducted by the New York authorities.

SUBMARINE TOLL SHOWS DECREASE FOR PAST WEEK

By Associated Press.

LONDON, June 28.—Twenty-one British vessels of more than 1,600 tons each and seven under 1,600 tons were sunk by mines or submarines last week, according to the weekly statement of losses issued by the Admiralty yesterday.

No fishing vessels met with disaster.

The Admiralty statement reads:

"Arrivals, 2,876; sailings, 2,923.

"British merchant ships over 1,600 tons, including one previously reported sunk by mine or submarine, 21; under 1,600 tons, including one previously reported, seven.

"British merchant ships unsuccessfully attacked, included seven previously reported, 22."

The aggregate number of vessels flying the British flag destroyed by mines or submarines last week shows a net falling off of four as compared with the losses reported the previous week, which numbered 33—27 of more than 1,600 tons, and five in the smaller division. In the larger category a decrease of six vessels is shown, while among the smaller craft an increase of 2 vessels lost is indicated.

Copper Cargo of Ship Sunk in 1865 Worth a Million

Special to The Star.

ALPENA, Mich., June 28.—Attired in a novel diving armor of his own invention, Benjamin Leavitt, a Toledo man, descended 180 feet into the waters of Lake Superior yesterday afternoon, and located the hulk of the Steamer Pewabic, which was sunk with a valuable copper cargo on the night of August 2, 1865. The Pewabic went down at a point seven miles off Thunder Bay Island, after being rammed by the Steamer Meteor. One hundred and twenty-five persons lost their lives.

Half a dozen times attempts have been made to salvage the cargo of the Pewabic. The wreck of the vessel was located by soundings, but its identity was not established until the diver's descent yesterday afternoon. After remaining down for more than thirty minutes, Leavitt brought up a portion of the bulwark of the Pewabic, some scrollwork and a stuffed American eagle taken from the cabin. At the present market prices the copper which has been held inside the timbers of the Pewabic is worth close to one million dollars.

Pay Your Debt to Your Defenders!

Turn Your Luxuries into Comforts for those who have Sacrificed Most.

"Self-sacrifice, self-denial and service lie at the basis of the highest personal and national development."
Sir Thomas White, Minister of Finance.

IS it nothing to you that men from all round you have sacrificed home and salary, safety and life, to defend your home as well as their own?

Is it nothing to you that their wives and families tremblingly scan each casualty list, and pale at the step of the postman or telegraph messenger?

Can you see others giving their dearest, without feeling that you must do something yourself? Do you wonder what to do?

You can at least save—and lend your savings to the nation. Canada needs every dollar her loyal sons and daughters can spare, to meet the growing expenses of the struggle.

Every dollar you invest in Canadian War Savings Certificates helps the nation to deal generously with those who are defending you.

Certificates in denominations of $25, $50 and $100, repayable in three years, may be purchased at any Bank or Money Order Post Office at $21.50, $43 and $86 respectively. This means over 5% interest—making them a profitable as well as a patriotic investment. 13

ONE WOMAN'S STORY.

By CAROLYN BEECHER.

The teller of the story, butterfly daughter of a well-to-do family marries Robert Drayton, an ambitious young lawyer, who takes his bride from New York to a modest home in a small city. She becomes jealous of Holland Lansing, a client of her husband, who, however, marries Tod Freeman. Then, jealous of Phyllis Lawson, for whom Robert secures a divorce, she accepts the attention of Harper Carlton. Then Mrs. Freeman comes back to town and sees Drayton and a mysterious letter addressed in a feminine hand comes to Drayton at the house.

CHAPTER CVIII.

It was September, and I remember yet how hot it was. The days were sultry, with humidity, which made everything damp. The nights were breathless and still. Even the weight of a sheet as covering was unbearable. In that pitiless, lingering heat, Bruce wilted like some tropical flower, and I wandered around helpless.

We took him down to the lake, but he was not as well there as at home so we hurried back. Every contrivance that could be thought of to make him comfortable had been put in the nursery, and he missed the comfort obtained through them, especially at night.

With wonderful delicacy Harper Carleton remained away through this hot spell. But each day he sent me flowers, books, and often ices for the children. With them he would send little notes of sympathy. He told me that when it became cooler and I felt that I could receive him, to let him know. He always signed himself "Your very good friend," and I felt that he was my friend.

I was sure in my self-pity that I needed a friend, just such a one as Harper was proving to be. I wonder why we women never realize how dangerous self-pity is. It is one of the most insidious foes to our peace of mind. It warps our judgment and causes us to do and say things we would never think of doing or saying.

So when I had spent two long, hot, evenings alone, I called Harper Carleton on the telephone, and asked him to come up for a while.

"I am lonely and depressed. It is so hot I have no ambition to go out, and I am too lazy to entertain. If it won't bore you, come and chat with me a bit."

"Bore me, dear lady," he replied, "it is the only thing I should like to do." He said it so heartily that I was glad I had called him, and I at once gave Martha orders to serve some iced drinks to us on the piazza.

"This is good of you," I said to him. "I was selfish to ask you to come up here in this heat. But I was so bored with my own society, so sick of my thoughts, that I really could not help inflicting myself on the most generous person I knew, and that person happened to be Harper Carleton."

"You flatter me," he responded, "but joking aside, I want to thank you for thinking of me. For if ever a poor devil was sick of his own company, I am he. Come now, what shall we do to forget this infernal heat?"

"I am absolutely barren of ideas," I replied. "What can you suggest?" I told Martha to serve us some iced drinks, and really that was all I was capable of. My mind refuses to work when it's so hot."

"A cold drink is just the thing! I brought along some bon-bons and a new magazine. I thought perhaps we could read aloud and forget to swelter."

"That's a good idea," I told him; "but I choose to be lazy while you read. I couldn't exert myself sufficiently."

"I will read," he answered, just as Martha came out with a frosted pitcher of some sort of fruit cup. He laid the magazine on a table beside the swing in which I was sitting.

While Martha fussed around with the glasses, etc., I picked it up and idly turned the leaves. Almost the first story I noticed was by Phyllis Lawson. "Tempted and Tried" was her caption. A little pang of envy seized me, as I thought how very quickly her work had received recognition. It probably made Robert very proud of her. Then I wondered if Harper too was interested in her because of her success. I was surprised that a little feeling almost of jealousy accompanied the thought. But I realized in a moment that it was not in the least jealousy of Harper, rather of Phyllis Lawson's talent, and her power to interest the two men most intimately associated with me, my husband and my friend.

After Martha left us, Harper arranged my pillows and insisted I make myself comfortable in the swing, while he sat beside me in a large wicker chair.

"By the way, how would you like me to read this last story of Mrs. Lawson's?" he asked. "I bought this particular magazine yesterday because I saw Mr. Drayton buying it, and I knew if he found it interesting I probably should."

"Oh, yes; it is one of Robert's favorite magazines," I rejoined, as carelessly as I could. "What's that story of Mrs. Lawson's about?"

"I don't know. I only skimmed it over on my way up. But it reads to me like a leaf out of her own life. The woman in the story, divorced, falls in love with a married man and he with her. The man's wife is not companionable. But they are both too conventional to allow their friendship to go beyond the platonic stage. Just the same, it brings misery to the wife, who is rather narrow and doesn't believe in platonism. Shall I read it to you?"

"Yes, please!" I was interested, in spite of the heat.

I lay back among the pillows and listened while Harper read. To my overwrought imagination every sentence, every paragraph referred to Robert. The woman's anguish, equalled only by his sorrow that they were not free, to marry, sounded real, and his promises of devotion, of friendship, her returning to art as an outlet for her emotions, all impressed me as they had Harper—as a page from her own life, the life she was leading as my husband's—friend.

ECONOMY CORNER

HOW TO PAPER A DAMP ROOM.

Take half a pound of alum and half a pound of glue size. Dissolve both together in a pail of boiling water. Take off the old paper and wash the wall once or twice with the solution. When dry, it can be papered. No damp will ever show through the solution.

SOME USES FOR VINEGAR.

Vinegar and bathbrick will clean a burnt enamel saucepan. Vinegar and water will clean a slimy sponge. One tablespoonful of vinegar put in water in which fish is boiled will make it firm and delicious. One teaspoonful of vinegar is a good substitute for an egg and makes a cake light in which dripping has been used instead of butter. One teaspoonful of vinegar put in toffee while it is boiling will make it crisp. If new colored blouses are placed in water in which a tablespoonful of vinegar has been put and allowed to remain for an hour or so, the color will not run when the blouse is washed in the usual way. Vinegar put in blacklead instead of water gives a brilliant polish to the stove.

LITTLE STORIES FOR BEDTIME BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

BILLY MINK GOES MUCH FISHING.

(Copyright, 1917, by T. W. Burgess.)

Fishing, fishing all the day;
Sometimes work and sometimes play.

Usually when you or I go fishing it really is a kind of play. We go for fun. But the Great World would fare badly if it depended for its supply of fish to eat wholly on those who go fishing for pleasure. So ever so many people make their living by catching fish and when they go fishing it is work and not play. Ordinarily Billy Mink doesn't call fishing work. He enjoys fishing. It is the same way with Little Joe Otter. When fish are very plentiful these two brown-coated fishermen will sometimes catch more than they can eat. They do it just for fun. But when fish are scarce it is different. Then fishing becomes work.

Grandfather Frog, sitting on his big green lily-pad in the Smiling Pool, sees much that is going on about him. He sees much and says little. It was shortly after Peter Rabbit had paid him that visit when he had had such a laugh because of the way Peter had been fooled by Billy Mink that Grandfather Frog noticed that Billy Mink seemed to be doing a great deal of fishing in the Smiling Pool.

He would catch a fish and then instead of eating it he would disappear with it. In a short time he would be back again and then the same thing would happen. Just as soon as he caught a fish he would disappear with it. He wasted no time in play. It was plain to see that he was fishing for more than just the fun of fishing. Grandfather Frog watched him thoughtfully. By and by he ventured a remark.

Chug-a-rum! Seems to me, Billy Mink, that you have a big appetite. What do you do with so many trout?" said he.

"That's my business," replied Billy Mink, "and none of yours."

"Just so. Just so," replied Grandfather Frog goodnaturedly. "You must have considerable of a family, Billy Mink. Nothing like a lot of little mouths to feed to keep one busy, is there?" He grinned at Billy Mink and winked knowingly. "You can't fool Grandfather Frog," he rambled on. "I'm too old and too wis to be fooled as you fooled Peter Rabbit."

Once more he grinned and winked at Billy, and this time Billy grinned himself. He had to grin at the memory of the joke on Peter.

"No, sir, you can't fool me," continued Grandfather Frog. "No one ever catches as many fish as you've caught this morning and still keeps on fishing unless it happens that there are more mouths than one to feed. How many are there, Billy? How many little mouths have the trout of the Smiling Pool and the Laughing Brook got to feed?"

Billy Mink acted just as if he was stone deaf. Yes, he did. He acted just as if he hadn't heard a word. He went right on with his fishing and pretty soon he caught a big fat trout. He swam over to the bank with it and there he sat down as if he meant to eat it. It was the finest trout he had caught that whole morning and to tell the truth Billy was hungry. The very sight of that trout made his mouth water. He opened his mouth to take a bite and then, instead he grabbed up that fat trout and disappeared. Yes, sir, that is just what he did. He disappeared with that trout just as he had disappeared with all the others thta morning.

Grandfather Frog chuckled long and deep.

"Billy may be a scamp," said he, "but he's a good father. He wanted that trout, but he has taken it home to his youngsters. And he didn't once admit that he had any. That's like Billy Mink. Yes, sir, that's like him. But he can't fool Grandfather Frog."

Next Story: A Hollow Log Nursery.

"Chug-a-rum! Seems to me, Billy Mink, thta you have a big appetite."

Despite the decision of the Presbyterian General Assembly to postpone Church Union until after the war, the people of Abbotsford, B.C., have decided upon church union for themselves. The Methodists and Presbyterians of the Rosedale Circuit having agreed to unite and form one charge under the care of the Presbytery.

INSECTS IN FLOUR.

A few days ago I saw in The Daily Star an enquiry regarding insects in flour, and would like to help out if possible. All last summer I was troubled with little insects in the flour resembling tiny ants. After trying every possible means of getting rid of them, with no results, I finally enclosed a few in a small envelope and sent them to Guelph to the Agricultural Department. I received a prompt and satisfactory reply, so would like to forward the address to the enquirer. Address The Department of Entomology, O. A. College, Guelph. A READER.

"THE FACE" AND "VAMPIRE."

Will you kindly publish Rudyard Kipling's poem, "The Vampire," also can you get me a copy of the poem entitled "The Face on the Bar Room Floor." W. H. K.

Ans.—Send stamped, addressed envelope for "The Vampire." I am sorry, but my stock of copies of "The Face" etc. is exhausted.

STAIN ON NECK.

Could you tell me how I could remove a dark stain on my neck just below the ear. It comes from my liver. I think my liver is all right now, but the discoloration remains. "SIREN."

Ans.—Use liver spot pomade, which is made of twenty grains of sulphate of zinc and one ounce of elder flower ointment. Apply at night and wash off in the morning with pure castile soap and warm water. Another effective treatment is to take a teaspoonful of the best olive oil every morning before breakfast and the same quantity half an hour after the last meal of the day. In a few months this will clear your skin and improve your health. Also beneficial for the same purpose is the unsweetened juice of a lemon taken in a glass of water every morning before breakfast. Avoid rich pastries and drink plenty of cool, not iced, water between meals. Eat quantities of fruits and vegetables and walk at least three miles a day.

CAMPING.

1. When in camp, what part of the tent is the best place to sleep near? 2. What is the best thing you can use for mosquito bites when medicine is not around.

A CONSTANT READER.

Ans.—1. It makes no difference where you sleep, provided you are not touching the walls at any place. If you do touch the canvas during a rainstorm, the tent always leaks at that place. 2. Mud, ordinary baking soda wet and put on the bite, or laundry blue dampened and put on it.

Barrel Effect Dress for Girls—Simple and Pleasing Design

By MAY MANTON

Of course the little girls are wearing dresses in barrel effect because their fashions always follow closely after those of their mothers. This is a very simple one and you can make it with the loops that give the broad hips or you can make it with a plain gathered skirt as you like. If you use the pattern for two dresses and treat one in one way and one in another, no one but yourself would suspect that the model is the same. In the illustration, the dress on the figure is made of natural colored poncee with rings of old blue and the old blue is used for the trimming.

For the 12-year size will be needed, 4¼ yards of material 36 inches wide, 3¾ yards 44 with 2½ yards 36 for the trimming.

The pattern No. 8437 is cut in sizes from 8 to 14 years. It will be mailed to any address by the Fashion Department of this paper, on receipt of fifteen cents.

NOTES & QUERIES

PROHIBITION REFERENDUM.

Editor Notes and Queries: Sir,—Kindly answer the following in order to settle an argument between a friend and myself: Did the people of Canada at the referendum on prohibition in 1898 vote in the majority for same, or did they not? My friend maintains they did, but the Liberal Government in power at that time would not allow prohibition. I maintain that the majority of the people were against prohibition.—J. M., Montreal.

A.—At a convention held at Ottawa in July, 1893, the Liberal party adopted as one of the planks of its platform the taking of a Dominion plebiscite on the prohibition of the liquor traffic. Being successful at the general election of June 23, 1896, an act was passed in 1898, providing for the taking of a vote on a single day throughout the Dominion. September 29, 1898, was the day fixed by proclamation.

The net majority in the Dominion for prohibition was 13,886, and the number of votes actually polled was 44 per cent of the numbers of names upon the voters' lists. On November 3, 1898, a large deputation of prohibition workers waited upon the Premier, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and other members of the Government to urge upon them the passing of a prohibitory law for the Dominion in accordance with the result of the vote. Sir Wilfrid in his reply did not commit himself to any course, but promised due consideration. Finally, in a letter addressed to Mr. F. S. Spence, of Toronto, dated March 4, 1899, Sir Wilfrid Laurier summarized the decision of the Government as follows: "My object is to simply convey to you the conclusion that in our judgment the expression of public opinion recorded at the polls in favor of prohibition did not represent such a proportion of the electorate as would justify the introduction by the Government of a prohibitory measure."

SEIZURE OF FURNITURE.

Editor Notes and Queries: Sir,—A is married and lives with father; father signs lease for a house for one year; then can not get work in town and goes away, also A's husband; now A wants to go away. If she does so, can landlord seize, or hold her responsible for lease which her father signed? A's husband had nothing whatever to do with lease. If A takes furniture out of house, can they then seize it?—Puzzled, Que.

Q. Unless you had, prior to rent becoming due, notified landlord that the furniture belonged to you, it would be subject to seizure for rent due. That is to say, the privilege of landlord includes moveable effects belonging to third persons and being on the premises for sums which have become due by lessee prior to the notification given to lessor of the property rights of the third persons.

MOTHER AND SON'S DEBTS.

Editor Notes and Queries: Sir,—I am a widow; had furniture seized a year ago for a debt contracted by a son, who is now overseas two years. Can my effects be seized again by anyone else, and, if so, for how many years? Debt was $400; amount they realized on sale was only $30. Can they or anyone else seize again? I have some money in bank. Can they take that if they find it out.—Mother of Twelve.

A.—Your furniture and effects cannot be seized for your son's debts, unless you had guaranteed same and judgment had been taken upon the guarantee.

LEASE VALID FOR A YEAR.

Editor Notes and Queries: Sir,—I made a lease on store for one year, 1917, May 1, to 1918, May 1; I am an American; if country calls me for national service I will go. Can I give my notice now, or what can I do?—G. H.

A.—Your lease is valid for one year from May 1st.

THE WAR.

THE RUSSIAN ATTITUDE.

A careful reading of the resolution carried by the All Russia Congress of Workmen's and Soldiers' Deputies will show exactly where these present masters of Russian policy stand with regard to the war. It says that the war arose from the aspirations of Imperialists of all countries. We do not propose to debate these points as we go along, but merely to state them. The war, it continues, is leading to the complete exhaustion of the peoples of all countries, and is placing the Russian Revolution on the edge of a precipice." Then it draws from this the perfectly logical inference that "the struggle for a more rapid ending of the war constitutes the most important problem for the Revolutionary democracy."

That is, the Revolution must have an early peace to surely save itself alive. But it also puts a permanent peace. It does not believe that such a peace can be founded upon the defeat of one of the belligerents." That is, again, it accepts the former Wilsonian slogan of a peace without a victory." But it sees clearly that "a separate peace would strengthen one of the belligerents and give it the possibility of gaining a decisive victory over the others. Hence these logical Revolutionists declare categorically against "a separate peace, or its preamble, a separate armistice." In another resolution, they declare it to be the duty of the democracy to reinforce the fighting strength of the army "because the breaking of the Russian front would mean the defeat of the Revolution and only a fatal blow to the entire cause of international democracy." Moreover, they chide the democracies of other nations for "lack of energy shown in their protests against recent statements of their governments regarding their surpatory war aims."

It is impossible to mistake the meaning of its clear-cut attitude. It is a perfectly familiar one to every Western democracy. Our own Socialists preached it, in season and out, until the roar of the German guns, as they devastated Belgium, drowned their voices. It is based upon the theory that all nations are more or less Imperialistic, and that, if the pacifistic elements in each nation disarmed its own Imperialists, there would never be any war. This is quite true; but it is akin to the theory that, if every man were honest, there would be no need for police or courts. Granted again; but, until the Millenium arrives, it is most unlikely that we shall be wholly free from either predatory individuals or predatory nations. This war was unmistakably caused by the predatory or Imperialistic aspirations of one group of nations Germany and Austria Hungary. And the only way to bring it to an end in secure peace is to foil and punish these predatory conspirators. It is not at all a question of what Britain or France or Russia may have done some other time. This time, at all events, they were innocent. Germany and Austria were guilty. And if the police catch a couple of burglars in the very act, they do not let them off on the ground that somebody else may have committed a burglary a century ago.

ITS PRACTICAL APPLICATION.

So much for the idealism. But, under it, lies a germ of reality which we must consider. These Revolutionists say that the continuation of the war "is placing the Russian Revolution on the edge of a precipice." They also say that a German victory would quite push it over the precipice. Naturally, after long years of cruel experience under reactionary rule in Russia and after having won their freedom and glimpsed the dawning of a new and glorious day, they are thinking chiefly of how to retain that freedom. They fear alike a continuation of the war and a separate peace. So they ask that we all fling overboard every aspiration which may tend to prolong the war and begin prompt negotiations for peace. This is a request that we should treat with the sympathy and good faith with which it is proffered. It does not mean that the Russians are afraid to fight. It does not mean that they are faithless or indifferent to our fate. It only means that they are afraid of being stabbed in the back while they are fighting—which would be as fatal for us as for them—and that they sincerely believe that we will all risk less in a peace conference with all our armies in being and ready to renew hostilities, than in keeping up the conflict. We may disagree with this view; but it is an honest view.

It is emphatically a subject for debate. No doubt, our representatives in Petrograd are debating it industriously. No doubt, our diplomats are busily presenting other phases of the situation. In any case it is not a subject for denunciation or suspicion. It is as far as possible from being pro-German. It is pro-Ally, pro-Democracy and pro-Freedom. If we decide not to negotiate, the inference is that Russia will feel herself driven to make a choice between two evils—with the strong likelihood that she will regard fighting on as the lesser. Much, of course, depends upon the position of Germany. Scheidemann has hurried home from Stockholm to tell his people that the big obstacle in the path of German success in the coming Socialistic Conferences will be the autocratic government of Germany. The Socialists of other nations will not trust it. So he passionately urges a reform over-night. Will he get it? It is most unlikely. "Whom the Gods would destroy they first make mad." The German oligarchy has been made "mad" by its renewed hopes for an Imperialistic victory, based upon the Russian inaction, U-boat activity and the checking of the Western offensive. In such a mood, the Kaiser's rulers will not hastily capitulate to the democrats. Schiedemann will be compelled to return to Stockholm with no power and under suspicion of being but a cat's paw.

WASHING DIRTY LINEN.

There is no doubt about it—we British are a funny people. On the Continent of Europe, they have long thought us "mad." Just what we have to gain by holding inquests on our military muddles while the war is still in progress, and as much in doubt as it ever has been since the Battle of the Marne—is not apparent to the civilian observer. These enquiries are not held in time to affect the position of the officers who are brought in guilty of failure. The Gallipoli report was not published until long after our troops had evacuated Gallipoli; and now comes along a report of the first Baghdad Expedition when a second expedition under other Generals has reached and passed Baghdad.

They certainly make good reading for the Germans. The Germans learn from them just what stupidities we can be guilty of, and just how our complicated and often ineffective machinery of war-control works. If they do not get valuable knowledge out of them, they get a lot of spiritual satisfaction. We, on our side, get a dose of chastening humiliation and maddening exasperation. If we were still talking of recruiting in this country, they would be poor recruiting documents. They would tend to dissuade a father from making the supreme sacrifice of sparing his boy to be wasted by such blundering commands. Of course, we are to assume that all these blunders have now ceased and that everything is working in perfect order. But the reading of these amazing, shocking, stunning reports does not help this pleasing assumption.

Our astute Allies, the French, do not do business in this way. They drop commanding officers far oftener than we do, but they do not publish the horrible details of the reason for the step. They rather give the impression that the superceded officer has really been promoted for good conduct, and that his place has been taken by a newly discovered genius who will now make things go even better. The French have complained that we are far too slow to "break" our officers for failure. They say that we had rather loose fifty thousand men than "break" one General. However that may be, they cannot accuse us of any reluctance to wash our dirty linen in public. They would probably say, we suspect, that we fearlessly publish the damning evidence but delay the execution of sentence, while they suppress the evidence but promptly execute sentence while it can still be of military value.

CHIEF CAMPEAU CONTEMPLATES

WE are told that Chief Campeau is "contemplating" the reduction of the number of permits to carry revolvers in Montreal and proposes to take the matter up with the Magistrates who issue the permits in question.

The Chief is quite right so far as he goes. There is no reason on earth why these permits should exist in any numbers. Nobody except members of the regular police force—with a very few possible exceptions—has any reason for lugging about a pistol in his pocket in the city of Montreal and if these permits have been abused it simply means that the magistrates have not been as careful as they should in the past.

But while Chief Campeau is contemplating taking an obviously necessary step, why should not his contemplations go a little further and include the enforcement of the law where the sale and exposure for sale of revolvers is concerned? He knows that it is forbidden to display revolvers for sale in this city and he also knows—or must know if he uses his eyes—that there are numbers of shops past which his constables on duty stroll all day long, in the windows of which revolvers of all makes and of all prices are openly displayed in direct violation of the law.

The Chief does well to call the attention of the magistrates to an abuse for which they may be responsible. Why does he not take action in a matter which lies strictly within his own jurisdiction?

The German Chancellor is now charged with trying to kill the German press. If he succeeds it will not be much of a loss, but it isn't much fun killing a rabbit with a club.

King Constantine has bought the magnificent Chateau Chantreuse in Switzerland. A castle among the Alps in the summer ought to help even a canned King to bear up.

THE WORLD'S PRESS

The Entertaining Must Wait.

Springfield Republican: The British will show kindness to General Pershing and his staff if they do not try to entertain them too much. The theatre and garden parties can wait until after the war.

The Germans' Dilemma.

London Daily Chronicle: We are putting the German Generals in the dilemma that they must lose either ground or men. Before Easter they preferred to lose ground; now they are preferring to lose men. Perhaps in the long run the second preference is that which serves our interests best.

"The People's War."

Boston Transcript: Facts of such a character are not facts to be suppressed; they are facts to be faced and to be corrected. It is a timely appeal that Colonel George Harvey makes in the current number of the North American Review. "Fair Play for the Government; Whole Truth for the People." Every true American will try to respond to it. But the Government need not expect favoritism and the people will not be content with half truths. This is not the war of the Administration nor of any party nor of any section. It is the people's war and the life and health of the humblest lad who enlisted in it is dearer to the heart of the people than the official reputation of any public servant, be he politician or bureaucrat.

Ireland to Decide.

London Daily Express: The Government has invited Ireland to find the solution of the Irish problem. Great Britain, speaking through her Prime Minister, has declared her desire that Ireland shall have the government that the Irish people want. The nation is fighting for democracy, and it is more than eager to bring every part of the Empire within the democratic orbit. Mr. Lloyd George promises "reparation and restitution," with, of course, a proper regard for the British Treasury. We are anxious to emphasise the fact that the Prime Minister speaks for the whole of Great Britain. Lord Lansdowne has been, for a generation, a forcible antagonist of Home Rule. He was among the men responsible for the defeat of last year's attempt at a settlement. Now Lord Lansdowne is also among the prophets.

The Explosion in Flanders.

Chicago Tribune: We tend to become callousted to the stupendous character of this war because it has been a succession of terrific events, each surpassing the last in sheer magnitude. The mind refuses to operate or operates feebly. But now and then we get a flash that illuminates the whole gigantic struggle. What we see is incomprehensible, but it reflects some light on things hitherto obscured. The British offensive in Flanders is one of these incredible yet illuminating events. The big drive was started by setting off 1,000,000 pounds of high explosive under the German lines. One million pounds! Enough we should suppose, to smash the map of Europe and blow the Germans into the ocean. Yet the net result was a five mile advance along a ten mile front. In scientific formula it reduces itself to this: One million pounds explosive equals fifty square miles.

The History of the War.

London Daily Telegraph: Will there ever be a complete history of this war of the nations describing in detail, pictorially and in written story, the movement of events either by sea or by land? The task, if it be undertaken in order to show what happened in the various theatres of war, will probably form the biggest book ever published. Kinglake filled nine close-printed volumes of the exploits of the little British Army in the Crimea. In the present struggle the combatants are counted by the million. Practically the whole of the perimeter of the European Continent has been drenched in blood, and there are other more distant scenes of conflict; all the world's seas have known what the clash of arms means. It may be that in years to come our descendants will turn rather to the photographic records than to the printed word for a realization of the way in which men fought in the Great War.

A Ministry of Health.

The Times: The truth is that the nation has at last come to understand the serious nature of the losses it has suffered through the maladministration of resources and the overlapping of authorities. It begins to realize that the lives of thousands of children have been and are being squandered, that the health of tens of thousands has been damaged permanently, and that the safety of the community as a whole is consequently in peril. It is not surprising, in these circumstances, that acute dissatisfaction with present methods should be widely felt, or that the demand for a co-ordinate Ministry of Health should be very insistent. This reform, indeed, has become inevitable. The delay which has occurred already has been unfortunate in the extreme, for all are agreed that the campaign on behalf of the children is a war measure of the first importance. Happily, there is good reason to believe that the pressure of public opinion is making itself felt, and that a decision of this urgent matter will not be postponed by the Government.

Admiral Sims Was Right.

Philadelphia Ledger: In a Memorial Day speech in London Vice Admiral Sims reminded his hearers of his words uttered at the Guildhall in 1910, which drew down on him an offical rebuke. He said at that time: "It is my belief that if the time ever comes when the British Empire is seriously menaced by an external enemy its people may count upon every man, every dollar, every ship and every drop of blood in their kindred across the sea." Admiral Sims was right. His speech was not a spread-eagle boast, but an accurate prophecy. Every true American stands ready to serve the cause of the enfranchisement of the world's democracy in serving his own country and his own flag. Life is not dearer than freedom jeopardized or honor brought to bay. Those who stand willing to make the ultimate sacrifice will not hesitate to supply to the Allies all they can give of the material provision to assure the triumph of the right. Soul and body, America is in the war. She could not be true to herself and withhold even the smallest oblation from the reddening altars of patriotic sacrifice.

Life and Death

Life in the air—the swallows fly
Revisitants within a sky
As blue as fairest Italy:
The whole deserted garden wakes
And, freed at last, the blossom breaks
To sudden burst of revelry.

Death in the air—the heavy drone
Of war-hawks, like a noose is thrown
Over the fields; the sliding moan
Of sullen shells fills every place,
Blotting the beauty from earth's face,
Clothing the land with heaps of stone.

The swallows nest in shattered room;
On rubbled homes the flowers bloom;
Fragrantly falls the red-blared gloom;
Life, stretching out a hand to Death,
Like heedless child with joyous breath
Goes singing up the ways of doom.

And which is greater of these twain,
Life fledged with joy, Death draped in pain?
Over man's spirit which shall reign?
In frail and stubborn loveliness
Inconsequent to mock and bless
Earth smiles Death's triumph down again.

WANTS HER DOG IN THE CAR.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—In Saturday's paper I noticed another letter on the subject of allowing dogs on the car. I cannot see why the S.P.C.A. Society have not had something to say about this, as what is worse treatment for an animal than to keep it locked up all the time. I have a dog that is kept clean and healthy, and the only outing he got was when we took it out, and now we have to keep him confined in the house. He is a house dog and I would not care to have him around the house if he ran around verywhere all day. Now I don't see why the M. S. Ry. could not make rules about this, such as forbidding dogs to sit on seats and have made them pay a fare, but the idea of stopping it altogether is more than I can understand. Where are all Montreal dog lovers? Why cannot they have something to say about this? Hoping to see this changed soon.

MISS J. E. BRYANT.

TO CANADIANIZE MOVIES.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—For some time I have been interesting myself to secure a different standard of motion pictures for our young people in Canada, as well as for our refined grown-up people. As you must know, the pictures shown here are made in and brought here, from the United States, and I need not refer to the constant use of the Stars and Stripes, the regular United States accent, and the total neglect of the Union Jack.

In an investigation that I have made, personally, I have been surprised, very much surprised, that our interests should be so totally neglected, if not actually despised; and I feel that we should lose no time in altering this state of affairs. I have put myself into touch with what is called "The National Committee on Films for Young People"—a committee which is affiliated with the National Board of Review of Motion Pictures, and is composed in equal numbers of men and women.

Recognizing (1) that motion pictures are an invaluable medium of education, and especially for our young people; (2) that the eye is more than the ear to them in all their juvenile impressions, we should look into this important question and secure, for Canada, a committee that would understand young people and their tastes; who would give their time and their thought during the next few months, so that we may secure, for the Autumn, a series of pictures that will not only be refining and entertaining, but that may be at the same time, educating, and (if you will excuse the words) Canadianizing and Imperializing.

We must admit that we have, so far, been to blame ourselves for this state of affairs. We have not realized that motion pictures, as they are, do not suit all ages and temperaments. But the educational element is there, be it for good or evil. In the United States as many as from $200,000, to $300,000 value is rejected every year. The whole question should be investigated, and the sooner we appoint a committee for the purpose the better. Most sincerely yours,

MARGARET POLSON MURRAY.

THE CHILD AND THE WAR.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—From morn till eve, and, often, well into the night, we hear the voice of singing. It breaks out from school and public building. It is heard in our homes. It steals down the side streets, floats along the main thoroughfares, and sails away over the waters. It is the voice of children, the voice of youth, the voice of young manhood and young womanhood, whose minds are imbued with the spirit of war. We are reminded, however great the rush or pressing the business, that we are at war. We catch on and are carried along with the stream. We are one with them, and our voice helps to swell the sound. We feel it is good to be on such a side. It is an epoch-making time in our history, a chance that rarely comes to a nation so young, so newly trained in the use of arms. The children of the allied countries, as well, we may suppose, as the children of our enemy, have caught hold of the streamers of the war chariot as never before. Children of many tongues, of customs and manners, strange and novel to each other, are comrades in arms. The humble cent, the more valuable, though small, silver piece, and the many things of little vertu, are treasured and given a higher value than ever before. These are now to help some other less fortunate little ones, and the children feel they are doing something to help to win the war.

What will grow out of this, in the years to come, is now too hard to say; but that something very important and far-reaching will evolve itself, is very sure. Will it be the spirit of a better understanding, of peace and goodwill, of true and noble brotherhood, of like feeling and like aim, and men learn war no more? Or will the sight of the maimed, the halt, the lame and the blind, the debris of a world's war, the remnants of a once great and powerful manhood, cause a slow but sure process of revengeful leavening to break out into a greater conflagration than the present one, and make an end to all flesh? The war that is now being waged is the child's war. This spirit has given greater determination, stronger arm, and more resolute grit to the men who are fighting. They have seen with their own eyes, and have heard with their own ears, the things that shudder humanity, and from these things they fight to save their children. There can come no peace, no real satisfaction, no worthy end accomplished, until the enemy of liberty is brought to his knees. The desolation, the cruelty, the organized terrorism and the staggering frightfulness of the propaganda spread over the areas invaded by the enemy have opened the eyes of the humane and let live world. The intentions, wrested, have burst into a madness that no easy measures, and once legitimate warfare, can control. The enemy is out to destroy, to pull down, to uproot and demolish the landmarks of civilization and all right. Our men fight against men driven mad by the lords set over them, and their task is no mean one. Will a few years of peace, of revived trade relations, of more pleasant pursuits, sweep away the last vestige of this great upheaval, and erase the last stain from the book of memory? Will the present be so soon, so easily forgotten? No, sir. Now is the day, the very hour, of the world's salvation. Those who are called to make an end of world strife must not leave the seeds for another and more deplorable harvest of crushed and mangled humanity. They must quit themselves like men, and while the fires burn, and the pots boil, make a thorough clean up. Let the men who fight, the men who have been through these thousand hells of Hun invention, say the men who have been through these every drop of blood shed for liberty, for right, for honor, for lasting peace and goodwill to all. Let us consider this. Let us value life, not as our enemy has valued it, but as those who fear God and honor Him. Let us not live as those who seem not to care, as those who know not that many brave hearts have given their all, and many more bear about in their bodies the marks of their high and excellent manhood. Let the children sing. Let them shout for joy. They are safe behind the men who fight in the name of all that is good and worthy.

G. M. FOX.

MOTHER IS DYING, FATHER AT FRONT, KIDDIES KINLESS

Stronger than any argument for conscription, from the lips of the most eloquent member of Parliament is the silent plea of a care-worn, lonely woman, who today lies at the point of death, her little children sitting with tear-dimmed eyes beside her bed, asking plaintively when Daddy is coming home.

Their father is now in France, fighting for the Empire, risking his life, to make his home and the homes of all Canada safe to live in. His wife is quite alone here, and if she dies, as seems inevitable, soon, the kiddies will be without relative or friend to turn to.

The Soldiers' Wives' League, which has just learned of the case, is arranging to take the little ones into the League's home and to see that the mother has proper medical treatment. The League also is trying to secure the release of the father from the army.

And military men say there are at least 100,000 young unmarried men in Canada who could easily be spared for the front.

GRADS. OF M'GILL ELECT OFFICERS

J. K. L. Ross was elected president of the McGill Graduates' Society at the annual meeting of members, held at the University Club last evening.

In the absence of the president, Prof. C. W. Colby, the senior vice-president, Prof. C. H. McLeod, occupied the chair. Considering the very large number of graduates of the university who are with the overseas forces, or doing military duty elsewhere, the attendance was quite gratifying, the meeting, in fact, being the largest for several years. Reports from the executive committee and the treasurer showed a healthy and growing interest in the affairs of the society.

The officers and members of the executive committee elected for the current year follow:

President—J. K. L. Ross.
Vice-presidents—Mrs. F. P. Shearwood, E. E. Howard, K.C., Dr. W. Grant Stewart.
Treasurer—A. R. Howell.
Secretary—G. R. MacLeod.
Committee—Dr. W. G. M. Byers, F. Cleveland Morgan, W. D. Lighthall, K.C., C. H. Gould, Dr. A. A. Robertson, Prof. C. H. McLeod.

CALLS FOR PRAYER ON DOMINION DAY

The following appeal has been issued by the Rev. T. W. Davidson, president, on behalf of the executive of the Protestant Ministerial Association:

"Recognizing the extraordinary nature of our time, and the unique need and opportunity of the nation, we believe that the celebration of the Jubilee of our Dominion should be made in a special sense, a religious occasion.

"In accordance, therefore, with the proclamation of His Excellency, the Governor-General of Canada, calling upon the citizens of the Dominion to observe Sunday, July 1, the fiftieth anniversary of Confederation as a day of special prayer, the association would strongly urge all Protestant citizens to manifest their thanksgiving to Almighty God for national blessings, by attendance upon some service or services of worship during that day, there uniting in devout and fervent petition to Him for Divine guidance in the present national crisis and blessing in the days to come."

OUST CITY HEADS

"The city's deficit next year will be $3,000,000 and it would be advisable to call a special meeting of the Legislature to appoint a commission to supersede the Board of Control and the City Council, in the government of Montreal," says Controller Villeneuve, discussing the borrowing of a million dollars from the Bank of Montreal. "There are 163 more policemen needed," he says, "nearly 100 firemen and, with the increase in the cost of living, it will be necessary to increase the salaries of city employes."

MEN, MORE MEN, THE GREAT NEED, SAYS MAJOR SHAW

Officer of 87th Home in Leave Tells of Record of Canadians

ARE SMILING AND ALWAYS WIN

Are Best Fed, Best Clothed and the Happiest Soldiers on the Western Front

That the Canadians are the best fed, the best clothed and the happiest soldiers on the whole western front is the cheerful message brought direct from the firing line by Major Allan Le Roy Shaw, of the 87th Grenadier Guards battalion, who is back in the city on a short leave of absence. Not only is he confident that the men overseas are the most cheerful, but they are also the most wonderful fighters in Europe. The morale of the Canadian soldiers and regard in the British mind for what they are doing is the greatest factor in the war.

"People at home should not worry thinking that they are not getting enough to eat," said the Major. "We have every necessary and luxury in England and we get the best of everything, perhaps all the better and discomfort for we have our good times as well as the tough."

"I have been surprised on being asked by many if we were really going to win. There is not a man fighting in France today who doubts the issue. The thought has never entered their head. The Germans are slowly but surely giving up trench after trench, but it is taking men and material to do it, and we especially need the men. I think the only regret our Canadian boys have is to see their battalions being broken up for want of reinforcements from Canada. Those men who went over at the beginning of the war and have been fighting continuously ever since, cannot understand why their brothers are not enlisting faster than they are and taking their places in the depleted ranks of those magnificent Canadian troops which lost so heavily at the Somme and at Vimy Ridge. I have never heard a man grumble or regret that he went to France, but there is no denying it would make him extremely happy to see more red-blooded Canadians on the way over. This is the one great inspiration needed now, and it is hoped that something will be done very soon to supply these men.

CASUALTIES HEAVY.

"The 87th Battalion," Major Shaw said, "has seen some heavy fighting, having taken part in three notable battles, first at the Ypres salient, then at the Somme and Vimy Ridge. Some idea what the battalion has been through may be learned from the fact that since reaching France the unit has had 1,700 reinforcements. At Ypres we suffered over 200 casualties at the Somme 314, and at Vimy Ridge 303, of whom 121 were killed. This does not include cases of sickness. The men, in all these engagements, were simply wonderful, and acquitted themselves like hardened veterans. The only three of the original officers who were wounded and who are now back on the firing line are Major Bickerdike, Capt. Kenyon and Capt. Mingay. All other fifteen officers of the 87th have been killed, wounded or captured. At Hill 145 at Vimy our point of attack, Lieut. W. C. Hanna, D.S.O., was one of the two officers who led the back of those who went over the top. His daring and bravery on that occasion won him the admiration of his superiors and of his men.

"Of the officers who have paid the supreme sacrifice, perhaps the most outstanding was the late Major John Lewis, one of the finest men God ever created. He was loved and admired by all who came in contact with him. A man of kind generous of heart. He was one of the bravest officers who ever left Canada."

Major Shaw was formerly provincial manager of the Imperial Life Assurance Company, for the provinces of Quebec and New Brunswick. He has been granted three months' leave of absence owing to the serious illness of his father as well as business affairs which demanded his personal attention. He will return to the front in September.

TRADING WITH GERMANY.

LONDON, June 28. The prize court has condemned 12,000 bags of coffee, shipped by the American firm of Aron and Company, which were seized some time ago while on board thirteen steamships. Sir Samuel T. Evans, president of the Prize Court, in passing judgment said not a single bonafide purchaser had been mentioned, the president of the court added, and the consignments were shipped for the purpose of being forwarded to Germany.

ALIEN EXEMPTIONS WILL PUT BURDEN ON NATIVE BORN

Special to Star.

WASHINGTON, June 28. Introduction of a Bill by Representative Tague, of Boston, directing the President to subject aliens in the U. S. who are natives of any power at war with Germany, to the selective draft, has forced to the surface an interesting fight which has been going on under cover in Washington for several weeks.

The State Department does not wish to draft Italians for instance, of whom there are hundreds of thousands registered, even if they have taken out their first papers for citizenship. This is because Mr. Lansing is particularly anxious to avoid any step being taken which might interfere with any treaty the United States may have.

For the present at least the War Department is with him, and the announcement indication is not to draft such aliens. Perhaps there would be little controversy about the whole question were it not that in some big cities, notably New York, Boston, Chicago, St. Louis and Milwaukee there are hundreds of thousands of aliens and due to the wording of the draft law each district must furnish its quota of men for the draft.

FRANTIC PROTESTS MADE.

The result in such communities of placing a very heavy burden upon the full-fledged Americans and if the present intention of the State Department is carried out, a much larger proportion of these Americans would be forced into the National Army than if the first paper men were also subject to the draft has been frantic protests from the representatives in congress of districts in which there is a large number of foreigners. It is asserted that in some districts almost every American registered will be taken so large is the proportion of foreigners and first paper men.

On the other hand, some army officers are pointing out that there is no reason in the world why, Englishmen, Frenchmen, Italians and Russians should not be drafted. They assert that the Governments of those countries would be only too glad to have their late citizens forced to fight the battle against Germany. Another country which has a large number of first paper men in United States, but which so far has not declared war against Germany, is Greece. These army officers point out that the new Government in Greece would probably agree, if approached diplomatically, to waive any treaty claim she might have to protect Greek nationals who have taken their first papers with a view to becoming citizens of the United States from being compelled to perform one of the duties of such citizenship.

As for nationals of Germany and Austria, they declare surely no treaties with those countries, are now in effect.

CADORNA AND FOCH MEET.

ROME, June 28. It is officially announced that Lieutenant-General Count Cadorna, chief of the Italian General staff, and General Ferdinand Foch, chief of staff of the French Ministry of War, had a conference at the railroad station at St. Jean de Maurienne, Department of Savoie, France, on Monday morning. General Redcliffe, chief of the British military mission at Italian headquarters, was present.

CELEBRATES 103RD BIRTHDAY.

VANCOUVER, B. C., June 28. Mrs. G. de Beck, of Eburne, an old-timer of this city and district, yesterday afternoon celebrated her 103rd birthday anniversary. Mrs. de Beck was born in New Brunswick in 1814, and came west by way of the Isthmus of Panama half a century ago with her husband and family.

LIBERAL ELECTED.

EDMONTON, June 28.—A. G. Mackay, Liberal, was re-elected yesterday for the Athabasca division of Alberta having, with three polls to be heard from, a majority of 387 over his Conservative opponent, A. F. Fugl. It is not expected that the polls to be heard from will save Fugl from losing his deposit.

SIX 'GETTES IN JAIL.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Six militant suffragists, members of the Woman's Party, are now in the District of Columbia jail, serving sentences of three days each for violating the police regulations in displaying inscribed banners at the gates of the White House.

High Cost of Living

CROPS MAKING RAPID PROGRESS IN ALL PROVINCES

Judging from the tone of the reports received from all sections of the province, the crops are making excellent progress. Last year, heavy rains in June and burning sun in July had a disastrous effect on crops of all kinds, accounting in great measure for the high prices that have prevailed all winter. This year, the farmers have set to work, with redoubled efforts, to make good their losses of last year, and even their wives and daughters are faring forth into the fields, intent on doing their bit in the crisis.

From all sources, excellent reports of the hay crop are received. The grain is well advanced in general, although late sowing and cold weather have not been favorable factors. In some districts the seeds were washed away by the heavy rains, but the farmers sowed again and are quite optimistic as to results. At Ste. Henedine, the grain is already four or five inches high.

Special efforts are being made in the vegetable gardens, and larger areas are under cultivation than usual. At Beauport, some damage by frost is reported, but, in general, the outlook is favorable. Potatoes are promising and apples are likely to be in good supply. Lack of labor seems to be the chief drawback apart from uncertain weather conditions.

She Darkened Her Gray Hair

A Kansas City Lady Darkened Her Gray Hair and Made It Soft and Glossy by a Simple Home Process.

She Tells How She Did It.

A well-known resident of Kansas City, Mo., who darkened her gray hair by a simple home process, made the following statement: "Any lady or gentleman can darken their gray or faded hair, and make it soft and glossy with this simple recipe, which they can mix at home. To half a pint of water add 1 oz. of bay rum, 1 small box of Orlex Compound and 1 oz. of glycerine. These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair every other day until the gray hair is darkened sufficiently. It is not sticky or greasy, and does not rub off. It will make a gray haired person look 10 to 20 years younger."—Advertisement.

Bakers Will Teach People How They Can Save Bread

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Representatives of the National Association of Bakers, who have been in conference with Herbert C. Hoover, have prepared plans for a campaign by which they hope to educate the people and reduce waste of material and effort to a point where it will be again possible to make five cents the price of bread, as it was in years gone by. This means that they hope to keep up the size and cut down the cost to the consumer of what is known in the trade as the nine cent loaf.

With this object in view, the big bakers have formed a war council and have appropriated $100,000 to prosecute the work ahead. A formal offer of their co-operation was made yesterday to Mr. Hoover.

The general plan calls for the elimination from the trade of so-called fancy loaves and rolls; the adoption of a standard loaf of bread, the elimination of overlapping deliveries, and a refusal to accept returns. An educational program will be carried on to obtain co-operation from the consumer in the prevention of waste.

SAVAGE CENSURE FOR BLUNDERERS IN MESOPOTAMIA

Special Star Cable by United Press.

LONDON, June 28.—Public irritability and nervousness as a result of the long war strain which has been evidenced recently in the demands for reprisals on German towns for the air raids here, found a splendid outlet in vilification of those involved in the report on the disaster at Kut-el-Amara.

The painful disclosures of inefficiency in high offices, combined with tales of horrors attending the poor medical arrangements, raised the safety valve and allowed pent-up feelings full play.

The indignation takes various forms. Everyone wants to see those responsible fully punished. The Evening Globe, usually Conservative in such matters, displays across its front page in bold type, "Who's going to be shot?" following it up with vitriolic censure of Lord Hardinge and other officials who suffered in the Commission's report.

The Pall Mall Gazette declares that the public's indignation is so intense that nothing but savage punishment for those responsible will be acceptable.

DECLARES SYSTEM IS WRONG.

The Evening Standard says editorially:

"No one of the persons convicted of crass stupidity lost a penny in money or incurred the slightest personal discomfort. Most of them have not even suffered in official standing. Isn't there something terribly wrong with a system which by no means kindly to failure in the lower ranks, but consistently fails to visit with any real punishment the grossest incompetency in great places?"

In its political notes column, The Times says:—

"It is understood that Lord Hardinge will seek the earliest possible opportunity to make a statement in the House of Lords regarding the criticisms passed upon him in the report of the Mesopotamia Commission. The rule, which prevents permanent officials who are peers from addressing the Upper House will presumably be waived in his favor.

"Should Lord Hardinge's statement be followed by a debate, as is almost certain, the Government leader in the House of Lords, Earl Curzon, will find himself in a peculiar position. The report goes far to vindicate the reasons which led Earl Curzon to resign the Vice-Royalty of India twelve years ago, and which have been constantly misunderstood in this country."

The story of how Major Markham Carter risked being "broke" in order to expose the shameful lack of medical transport is prominently displayed.

HORRIBLE REVELATION.

The Evening News declares: "Two months ago no one would be seen talking to Carter, who was practically sent to Coventry, but he was vindicated in April, 1916." After Carter's criticism of the appalling conditions at Basla, Major-General Cowper threatened to arrest him, and said he would have his hospital ship taken away from him as a meddlesome, interfering faddist.

This much Cowper testified before the commission. But Carter persisted in declaring in one report: "There is little chance of recovery for men suffering from severe gunshot fractures, who lie on the bare decks of the boats and barges for 13 days amid septic discharges." The remainder of this passage is too horrible to print.

Prominently displayed also is a message of Sir Beauchamp Duff, commander-in-chief in India, who never visited Mesopotamia, nor even Bombay, the shipping port, but severely rebuked Sir Percy Lake for the wording of a telegram which Lake transmitted from Gen. Cowper. Sir Beauchamp Duff actually cabled: "Please warn Gen. Cowper that if anything of this sort again occurs or I receive more querulous, petulant demands for shipping, I shall at once remove him from the force and refuse him any further employment of any kind."

CONSERVATIVES HAVE ONLY SEVEN SEATS IN HOUSE

By Western Associated Press.

REGINA, June 28.—Latest returns on the Saskatchewan election only serve to emphasize the Liberal victory. The size of the majority rolled up for candidates in many constituencies is the surprise of both parties. In over a dozen ridings the Liberal majorities run into four figures, while there are perhaps a score more ranging anywhere between five hundred and one thousand.

The latest returns show the standing is: Liberals, 50; Conservatives, 7; The seven Conservative seats are: are: Moose Jaw, Saskatoon City, Moosomin, Rosetown, Souris, South Qu'Appelle and Thunder Creek. The Liberals conceded the last named riding yesterday where Gallagher, Conservative, has a lead of about two hundred. The Liberal defeat here was occasioned by the entry of Mrs. S. Haight, non-partisan league candidate, into the field at the last moment.

The biggest surprise of the election is the defeat of D. J. Wylie, Conservative, in Maple Creek, where according to the latest returns, John Colquhoun, Liberal, has a majority of 467, with eight polls to hear from.

Most of the independent and non-partizan candidates lost their deposits and not one of them secured election.

In one or two ridings the Liberal majority is small and as a few polls are still missing there is a possibility that a change may be effected. This is particularly true of Tisdale, where the Liberals lead by 55, with five polls to report.

Hon. A. P. McNab, who returned to the capital tonight, reports that he has 250 majority in Elrose, with sixteen polls yet to report, and which he confidently expects will increase his majority to between 300 and 400.

SERBIAN CONSPIRATORS SHOT.

SALONIKI, June 28.—Several executions took place in the outskirts of Saloniki yesterday. Col. Dimitrievich, Major Vulovich and an Austro-Hungarian volunteer, Malobabach, concerned with many others in a conspiracy of a Serbian secret society to overthrow the present political regime of Serbia and substitute an oligarchic form of government, were shot. Many others implicated received long terms of imprisonment.

CANADIAN APPOINTMENTS.

LONDON, June 28.—The following appointments are gazetted:

Attached to Canadian headquarters Capt. S. Robson, Artillery; Major F. G. Dingwall, Infantry, to command entrenching battalion, to be temp. Lieut.-Col; Major M. F. Elmitt, Infantry, to be temporary Lieut.-Col. while commanding battalion.

MARINE MINISTER PRO TEM.

PETROGRAD, June 28.—Lieut. Lebedoeff has been entrusted by the Russian provisional Government with the direction ad interim of the Ministry of Marine. This post up to the present has been held by Minister of War Kerensky.

LIBERAL PREMIERS TO DISCUSS BIG ISSUES AT REGINA

Special to The Star.

REGINA, Sask., June 28.—Liberal Premiers and prominent members of the party, including a number of members of Parliament will be together at Regina next week to discuss party problems. The delegates will represent, Alberta, Manitoba and British Columbia. Premiers Norris, Sifton and Bowser will be present. It is said the attitude of the party on conscription will be one of the chief features of the party strategy to come up for consideration.

Premier Martin has come out emphatically for conscription and most of his chief aides have seconded their chief's views. Premier Norris is known to favor conscription, and has given expression to emphatic views along this line. Premier Sifton has not publicly committed himself to the policy, however, but Premier Bowser is quoted as favorable to the mobilization of the full man-power of the country.

The grain growers will have representatives at the meeting, it is said, and will add some economic problems of the political discussion.

The meeting is scheduled to last several days, and the pronouncimatum pledging the western Liberal organization to the policies decided upon, even though they may not agree with the views of the national leader, is likely.

PARTING OF WAYS LIKELY.

It is suggested in local Liberal circles that there may be a parting of the ways between the policies of party in the west and that of the east. It has become increasingly apparent for some weeks that a move of this description was being contemplated by leading western Liberals. The nomination of J. A. Maharg, president of the Co-operative Elevator Co., at Moose Jaw, for the Dominion seat occupied by Mr. Knowles, Liberal, with the enthusiastic assistance of the provincial Liberal organization, is declared to be the first step in an out-and-out coalition of the Liberal and grain growers' forces in an economic-politic union west of the lakes.

As far as expressions have been given, the grain growers of the west have been a unit in declaring for patriotic action necessary to win the war and favorable to conscription.

Italians Quarrel, One Used Plank, Other May Succumb

Pietro Ladilucca, aged 26 years, of 126 Rachel street east, was admitted to the General Hospital last night with a fractured skull, while a compatriot, Enrico Enditali, aged 43 years, was taken into custody by the police, accused of having caused the injury. At 7 p.m. yesterday, the two men met on Black's Bridge. According to witnesses, they conversed amicably for a while. Then a quarrel ensued, during which Ladilucca received a blow on the head with a heavy plank. The cause of the dispute is not known. The victim, who has not regained consciousness, may die, say the hospital physicians.

Quality may be of secondary importance in some things but in matters of life and health it is paramount.

There is no more glaring example of false economy than in the purchase of cheap "cut rate" eyeglasses.

If there be anywhere that risks may be taken, surely it is not in the matter of sight service.

WOULD GO BROKE AT END OF JULY,

With $1,000,000, Business Would "Carry on" Till Funds Pour in Finding that the sum of $500,000 will not be sufficient to run the city until the end of June, the Board of Control passed a resolution yesterday afternoon asking the Bank of Montreal to advance $1,000,000 to cover operating expenses and the payment of interest until the end of August. By that time it is hoped that the city will be able to float its $1,100,000 loan, as the money market may be in a steadier condition. The bank has already signified its willingness to lend half a million, provided all public works be discontinued.

The text of the resolution passed yesterday is as follows:

"That the Bank of Montreal be respectfully requested to modify the terms and conditions which were agreed to by the Board of Control, and by which a temporary loan of $500,000 was granted since it is found on thorough investigation that the sum allowed would be quite insufficient for the expenses of administration until the end of July, and that consequently, it would be impossible to meet certain expenses on the capital account which are absolutely necessary to fulfill the obligations that exist and to finish the construction of certain sewers and pavements which cannot be left incompleted without grave inconvenience and discredit to the City."

If the loan granted were raised to $1,000,000, which would be enough to meet all the necessary expenses of the city up till the end of August, when the receipts coming from payment of taxes will be sufficient to cover all ordinary expenditure, it is very probable that no other request for funds will be made upon the bank. If the present request be granted, there will be time to secure the $1,100,000 loan on more favorable terms than at present, and damage actions against the city for non-fulfilment of obligations would be avoided. The Board of Control will undertake, for its part, to make no further expenditure on works from the capital account, with the exception of those already started, the discontinuance of which would entail damage suits or serious inconvenience.

Kiddies' Play Places are Badly Controlled, Says One Civic Head

The question of better control of playgrounds was brought up at last night's meeting of the Maisonneuve City Council. Numerous complaints, said Ald. Gagnon, had been made, and he moved that the apparatus be taken away from the Aird street playground. Ald. Gelinas thought the complaints were due to a lack of proper surveillance. Only guardians, besides the children, he urged, should be admitted on the grounds, and the grounds should be cleared at 9 p.m.

Ald. Gagnon eventually withdrew his motion to see if better control of the grounds would effect an improvement.

A number of firms signified their intention of opening establishments in Maisonneuve.

A BORN CAMPER, THIS LAD; WHO WILL HELP HIM TO CAMP?

The call of wild St. Helen's Island uncontaminated as yet by mechanical amusement devices, again has lured a certain adventurer of 10 from the north end of the city. No four walls can restrain this woodsman when summer smiles for a few days on Montreal. He frets in houses. Not even a sleeping porch or a tent in the yard gives freedom to his errant spirit. The wild calls, and hearing the call this child of nature can but respond and follow whither it leads.

Last year was the first time that the stirring of warm blood made him break home bonds and make his home under the stars. After a few days, he was brought back and bided his time, until this year.

No doubt he intended to live the dull life of civilization, out of respect to the prejudices but a few days ago he was seized again by a power greater than he and off he went. Another power even greater than the wanderlust, has brought him back once more, and he has promised to try stay at home.

But the prospect is rather dark to him for he is a real camper. When he starts on a holiday he does not do so unprepared. His kit is simple, but complete in detail. His kit bag is a soap box, and the kit therein includes, besides a pillow and blankets, the following food supplies: an ounce and a half of tea, a thumbleful of sugar, and a few each of several sustaining vegetables, including turnips and pickles. These provisions always so far have proved sufficient, though how long these would have lasted, had not the camper had his trip cut short, is problematical.

The officials of the Juvenile Court are looking for someone who perhaps was a boy once or is a camper by nature now and who therefore understands the boy's yearning well enough to want to help him gratify it in a safe way. That is, they want to know of somebody, who is ready to give $25 to enable this lad to spend two months at a real camp under good care. They know the place. Does anyone care to supply the funds?

IS POSTAL HOLIDAY.

Monday, Dominion Day, will be observed as a holiday by the general Post Office. The outgoing afternoon mails will be closed at 10 a.m., and the night mails at the usual hours. The wickets of the main office and of the postal stations will be closed at 10 a.m. The lobby will be opened from 7 a.m. till midnight.

BOY'S FALL MAY BE FATAL.

Harry Felat, aged 12 years, living at 244 St. Urbain street, lies at the General Hospital, in a critical condition, as a result of a fall from a first-story balcony of his home last night. His skull is badly fractured.

YOUNG U. S. NAVY OFFICERS RECEIVE GOOD BENEDICTIONS

Special to Star by United Press.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 28.—One hundred and ninety-nine of the naval Academy class of 1918 today went out to "a war, with no illusions" a year ahead of schedlue time.

The youthful officers, the second class to be graduated in three months, received their diplomas from Joseph Daniels, Secretary of the Navy, with congratulations on the calibre of men the war has brought under their command and injunctions to uphold the proud traditions of the American navy, to be always ready, and to go to duty "dauntless and unfearing, confident of victory and ready for any sacrifice, even the supreme."

"Victory for the United States and her Allies," said Daniels "will forever end the fiction of divine right. And, as you go out of here," he added, "the hopes and faith of your countrymen will be with you in the vigils of the night and in the perils of the sea.

"The German Government has learned what it doubted that a democracy of 100,000,000 can speak with one accord when its rights are violated. Blinded by its faith in calculated terrorism under dynastic control, it forgot that this selfgoverned people has willed beyond the revocation by any Hohenzollern that good faith and national honor are above life.

"When the break came your naval comrades were the first in nation. They and you are an assurance to the republic that the Navy of today will do its part as it did in the days of Jones, Perry, Farragut, and Dewey."

DOCTORS MEET

To Ask Restriction of Proprietary Medicines

TORONTO, Ont., June 28.—Thirty members of the Ontario Medical Council met yesterday in the College of Physicians and Surgeons. They passed unanimously a resolution commending the provincial government for the enactment and enforcement of prohibition measures. A discussion was begun concerning the advisability of provincial interference with the sale of patent medicines having a high alcoholic content.

Dr. Brodie, in introducing the motion regarding the unrestricted sale of patent and proprietary medicines, declared that some of these medicines contained as high as 17 per cent alcohol, and cited a case where in the same issue of a newspaper there appeared a testimonial from a woman declaring she was "well and happy" after taking a nostrum, and in an adjoining column was printed the notice of her death. The council will decide as to whether or not they should ask the province to enact legislation forbidding the sale of such stuff.

MARGERY MAUDE IS TO WED NEW YORKER

NEW YORK, June 28.—The engagement is announced of Miss Margery Maude, daughter of Cyril Maude, the English actor, and Mrs. Maude, to Joseph Warren Burden, a son of Mrs. Jos. W. Burden, of 160 East Seventh street, New York, and Ripple Brook Farm, Far Hills, N.J. Mr. Burden was graduated from Harvard in the class of 1906, and has for some time been with the banking firm of Redmond & Company, 33 Pine street. He is a member of the Racquet and Knickerbocker Club and of the Essex Fox Hounds.

Miss Maude, like her father and her mother, formerly Miss Winifred Emery, who played here with Henry Irving, is well known on the stage. She made her debut here in 1914, playing in "Grumpy" with her father. She later played with Margaret Anglin in "Lady Windermere's Fan," and then with George Arliss in "Paganini." Her sister, Pamela Maude, married last year Major Wm. L. Congreve, D.S.O., who a few months later was killed in action. Mr. Burden expects to be called soon into army service. Miss Maude's parents are abroad.

WAR EXPENSES

PARIS, June 28.—France will require for the third quarter's expenses 9,843,000,000 francs, or about 218,000,000 more than for the second quarter of 1917, making total appropriations for thirty-eight months of 98,832,000,000 francs. These are the totals which were submitted to the Senate today by M. Millies-Lacroix, general reporter of the appropriations committee. He is authority for the statement that more than twenty per cent of the appropriations already made have not yet been disbursed, though they have been allocated. Upward of six billion of the total has been advanced to France's allies.

SOME STRONG OTHERS EASY FOR LOCALS

EXCHANGE HOLIDAYS.

Both Saturday and Monday will be holidays on the Montreal Stock Exchange according to a decision arrived at by the members today. Monday will be served as Dominion Day and the Saturday extra is thrown in [illegible].

There was a [illegible] of activity in the local stock list this morning but the market continued to lack a definite trend. A little buying helped some, while the selling of others seemed to be more pressing than the buying and caused fractional loss.

Out of a total of 1,126 shares for the session Steel of Canada, Smelters, Scotia, Cement and Dominion Paper divided the larger proportion of the list.

The demand for Scotia was sufficient to send the price a fraction above par to 100¼, whereupon the bid for the rights rose to 55 cents.

Iron was dull but the selling of Steel of Canada was the feature of the market, the bulk of the offerings being absorbed at 58, which represents the low of the month to date.

Brompton had a rally to 47, while Smelters eased to 25¾. Cement was firm at 62½. Civic Power was stronger at 76 on the May returns of earnings published in yesterday's Star. Other features were Car 32, and Iron in broken lots at 61¾.

C.P.R. was dull and unchanged in New York at 159½. Granby Consolidated sold at 86.

Opinions from Wall Street

Post & Flagg—The public is apathetic, and wants to wait until they see what Congress is going to do on prices and taxes. It looks as if the market might sag for the present.

Bryant, Dunn & Co.—This is the second settlement day for Liberty bonds, and immediately following comes the July interest disbursement, thus putting a strain on money market which seems to have been discounted by careful handling in last week, but which still argues for caution in market commitments.

Laidlaw & Co.—The lower rates for call money were only a few scattering adjustments, however, as the great bulk of the loaning was fixed by the 6 per cent renewal rate.

Oswald Bros.—There is a tendency to take a more cheerful view, but the action of Congress is discouraging. Bullish activities in special stocks will continue, with the easing money rates.

Redpath & Co. — The market was again irregular, and we think stocks should be bought on recessions and sold on rallies.

E. & C. Randolph—The indications are that the big payment on Liberty Loan today as well as the unusually large interest and dividend payments falling due on Monday will be accomplished by the banks without difficulty, but the situation is one that naturally restrains trading. There is the added uncertainty of the railroad rate decision expected on Saturday afternoon. Call money 4¾.

Shearson Hammell & Co.—It does not look like the chance for bulling this market for a while is very good. Liquidation all around room in some specialties and market looks lower generally.

WAR BOND SELLING IS BELIEVED ABOUT OVER

The recent decline followed by investment buying activity in the last Dominion War Loan is said to have pretty nearly cleaned up the surplus floating supply, according to an expression of opinion in bond circles today.

The drop to 93¾ attracted a good deal of buying, more particularly among people of moderate means, who appear to have been educated to the idea of investment in gilt edge securities when the prices descend to an attractive level.

In the same quarter the belief was expressed that as soon as the excess supply is absorbed the price will have a tendency to harden again owing to the fact that the decline was due in the main to technical market conditions altogether apart from the intrinsic value of the security.

HOWARD ELLIOTT'S POST

NEW YORK, June 28.—It was understood in railroad circles here today that Howard Elliott, until recently the president of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad Company, has been elected a member of the board of directors and of the executive committee of the Northern Pacific Railway Company, of which he was president from 1903 to 1913. It is believed he will continue to act in an advisory capacity with the New Haven road.

CHEERFUL FEELING IN LONDON THOUGH DULL

LONDON, June 28.—In view of the holiday Saturday and Monday, the dealings narrowed down on the Stock Exchange today, although the tone continued cheerful, influenced by the war news.

Argentine Rails were well supported, and foreign bonds were in good demand, under the lead of Spanish and Brazilian issues, while shipping shares were the features in the miscellaneous section. Otherwise dullness prevailed, American securities barely moving from parity.

Money was in increased demand for month-end requirements. Discount rates were steady.

The weekly statement of the Bank of England shows the following changes:

Total reserve, increased	£340,000
Circulation, inc.	560,000
Bullion, inc.	900,100
Other securities, dec.	5,662,000
Other deposits, inc.	5,670,000
Public deposits, dec.	10,979,000
Notes reserve, inc.	250,000
Government securities, inc.	40,000

The proportion of the bank's reserve to liability this week is 22.27 per cent, last week it was 21.37 per cent. Rate of discount, 5 per cent.

WESTERN POWER EARNINGS

The net earnings for the twelve months ended May are $319,563, an increase of 40 per cent over the twelve months ended May, 1916.

Press Opinions on N.Y. Situation

Times: The stock market was interested chiefly yesterday in the money situation. The return to the banks of $128,000,000 in deposits representing the initial instalment on the Liberty Loan, with probably an addition from income tax receipts, brought about an easier condition, but traders were of two minds as to the effect of the payment today of the second installment, amounting to 18 per cent of the subscription, and the expected shifting of millions in connection with the July 1 interest and dividend disbursements.

World: As a result of the heavy payments by the Federal Reserve Bank to the depositary institutions, intended to relieve the strain on the Government collections of the first instalment on the Liberty Loan, call money rates yesterday in the afternoon broke to two per cent, the lowest level in more than a month.

Tribune: The stock market was governed by highly conflicting influences, early gains of fair proportions being materially reduced or wholly eradicated in the extensive offerings of the final hour. Forenoon advances were attributed mainly to the relaxed money conditions, resulting from the release of Liberty Loan deposits, while the late selling was accompanied by unfavorable reports affecting rails and war issues.

Sun: Re-deposits of Government funds with the banks yesterday totalled in the neighborhood of $100,000,000, the operation benefiting both National and State institutions which had qualified as depositories in the matter of collateral on Liberty Loan deposit account. These deposits came at a time when the money market actually needed assistance of the sort and they were reflected at once in an easier tendency in loan quotations, the call rate, which had been ruling at six per cent dropping to 4½ per cent and 3½ per cent, at which a fair amount of borrowing was done for stock market interests.

Herald: An increase of 20 per cent in the volume of dealings in bonds yesterday was attended with slight recessions in prices. The trading in stocks also was twenty per cent larger than on Tuesday, with narrow fluctuations and irregular net changes—fractional except in a few industrial specialties.

AMES HOLDEN DIVIDEND IS DISCUSSED

The question of the resumption of preferred dividends was the chief topic of discussion at the annual meeting of the shareholders of Ames-Holden McCready Limited today.

Replying to a question put by a shareholder, D. Lorne McGibbon, the president, stated that a director today had brought up the question of dividends and asked whether or not a dividend might be looked for in the next year. This, Mr. McGibbon said, was a question which depended altogether upon circumstances. Personally he was against any resumption of dividends until bank loans of over a million and a quarter dollars had been wiped out.

The question of profits on war orders brought the statement from the president that not a cent had been made on war business totalling $1,094,000. Mr. McGibbon explained that the business was taken at a very low figure, because factories were idle at the time and the business was needed. No army orders are on the books at the present time.

Although the president promised that a statement would be mailed to shareholders showing the financial standing of the company at the end of the year, one shareholder asked for more details, and expressed the opinion that shareholders should be furnished with equally as much information as the directors. He asked that a full statement of working account be furnished.

Answering a question as to why so much had been written off during the past year when no dividends were paid, the president stated that he thought the past year a good one to put the company on a sound basis. $100,000 had been written off good will account, which wiped out the organization expenses completely. $78,000 was written off buildings and $75,000 off patterns. One shareholder asked what the total organization expenses were, but this question Mr. McGibbon said he could not answer off hand.

Some criticism arose over the passing of a by-law calling for a fee of $50 per meeting for directors living out of town and $20 for local directors. One shareholder said in his opinion $10 was sufficient, but the by-law was finally passed without a dissenting voice.

Ames-Holden-McCready, Ltd., shows considerable improvement in the report for the fiscal year ended April 30, profits being more than double those of 1916 and more than treble those of two years previous.

The company was able to make more liberal use of the profits of $720,242 for depreciation and other writing off purposes and still had a considerably larger surplus which represented between 7 and 8 per cent on the preferred stock whose dividends are now some years in arrears.

The profit and loss accounts of the past three years compare as follows:

With current assets only slightly lower at $3,319,246, as compared with $3,394,042 a year ago, net working capital stood at $1,742,936 against $550,754 in 1916.

Sales for the year were $5,880,840, an increase of 14 per cent over the previous year, of which $1,094,111 was army business. The domestic business of the company showed an increase of $978,465, or 30 per cent over the previous year.

OIL MAGNATE PASSES

NEW YORK, June 28.—Colonel Oliver Hazard Payne, prominent in New York and Cleveland financial circles, died here yesterday in his seventy-eighth year. For many years Colonel Payne had been treasurer of the Standard Oil Company and he is reputed at his death to have held securities of that corporation valued at $90,000,000. He entered the company with the Rockefellers about 1867, becoming its treasurer almost at once.

COPPER FOR 25 CENTS

NEW YORK, June 28.—It is understood that a large Government copper order has been placed at a tentative price of 25c per pound, which under the circumstances is a favorable price for the producers. This is said to be subject to further adjustment later, however, if the investigation now being conducted into cost of production should prove that an adjustment either one way or the other was fair.

Topics of the Street

Good afternoon. Don't imagine for a moment that good points on some of our leading local stocks are lacking just because the market looks so glum.

Numerous bull points might be brought out, but people who know about them are inclined to say: "What's the use?"

It is safe to say that when the public mood changes and there is a disposition to trade, some interesting news will come out from various quarters.

The fact that prices sold higher last year when the companies concerned were not nearly so fit financially as they are today is perhaps not much of an argument to use now because it is highly probable that in the bull excitement they sold too high and many people were "hung up" with expensive stocks.

That fact, according to the general feeling in the Street, is one of the greatest contributaries to the present inactivity.

It is not only that a bitter recollection lingers, but that financial disability persists in many cases.

Notwithstanding, it is a dead certainty that sooner or later, when the market develops activity and strength again, the very people who are the complaining ones now will become lighthearted when they see prices beginning to soar again.

The psychiatry of a bull market is wonderful to behold.

The fall in money rates in Wall Street yesterday, while probably too sharp in its character to remain effective right along, is a development in the expected direction and a welcome one from the market point of view.

It is evident that the Germans have had to give up some of their gold hoard to help rectify the alarming fall in the value of the mark in neutral countries, where they are doing their best to get much needed supplies.

It is hinted that the financial position of the Fatherland is much worse than the surface conditions indicate, which would not be at all surprising considering the strain which is apparent to all.

Another Cobalt mine comes along with the announcement that it has sold a block of silver at 81 cents an ounce, creating a new high level. The current market quotation in New York is 78 to 78½ cents an ounce, so that the transactions referred to and the one quoted a few days ago at 80⅝ cents, must be regarded in the light of special transactions.

These special prices are, however, a development in the right direction from the miners' point of view and will help the market for mining shares.

The lesson of investment is one which has been very largely taught in Canada and the United States since the war started, through the sale of Government bonds.

Take the recent Liberty loan in the United States, pointed out an investment banker. They now have a list of 4,000,000 people in that country who have demonstrated their ability and desire to invest. Heretofore the lengthiest bond house list amounted to 400,000 names. Note the big jump.

In proportion the investment scope has been widened in Canada. People who never thought of buying securities as an investment have been introduced to the habit under favorable auspices and no doubt the habit will grow.

This will in time be reflected in the market for all good investment securities and create an entirely new demand.

The print paper trade, judging from the market for its shares, appears to have unquenchable sorrows. What with government control of prices, increased cost of operation, etc., there has now been added another sorrow.

This is nothing less than a plan to restore used print paper to use again by a de-inking process.

It is stated that an event of great importance to users of news print paper occurred in New York city last week, when the final experiment proved practical the paper made by the de-inking process of Dr. Thomas Jesperson of Neenah, Wis.

The significance of the Jesperson invention is the conservative estimate from authoritative sources that of the 6,000 tons of news paper consumed in the United States every day, at least 1,500 tons could be retrieved in the larger cities alone without organized effort. The tonnage that proper organized work would bring about is beyond estimation.

If the process works out as promised, the invention will provide the country with 1,500 to 2,000 tons a day of additional news print.

The chief obstacle to the employment of used print was the difficulty of getting the varnish and oils used in ink out sufficiently to make the paper white. This, it has been demonstrated, Dr. Jesperson has accomplished, according to tests carried out in New York. It is claimed the de-inked paper can be made over and over so long as there is any fibre left in it.

TRANSPORTATION MEET

It is the holders of 7 per cent debenture bonds of the Transportation Building Company, not the general bondholders, who are to meet July 12 to consider six years' postponement of sinking fund provisions as would be inferred from an item in yesterday's Star. There is a relatively small issue of the debenture bonds.

BEAR ATTACK ON MOTORS AND OTHERS

Special to The Star.

NEW YORK, June 28.—Steel stocks again were the favorites when the stock market opened to day, U.S. Steel selling at 131 and 130⅞, up ⅝ and ¼, while others showed gains of almost a point.

Equipment and industrials were also higher, Baldwin opening at 71¾, up ⅞; Westinghouse at 51⅞, up ½; and Central Leather up ⅜ at 95. Motors were soft and generally off. Rails were up fractionally and firm.

With the exception of the motor group and a few high priced specialties, firmness ruled at the outset. U. S. Steel advanced a large fraction, affiliated issues recording similar or greater gains.

Equipments, some of the metals and oils, Pittsburgh Coal and Ohio Gas shared in the rise, which was attended by considerable activity. General Motors, Studebaker, Texas Company and Industrial Alcohol were reactionary, declines of 1 to 2 points. A sale of Brooklyn Union Gas at 105 represented a loss of almost 12 points.

Rails were dull and irregular.

Liquidation and short selling of the automobile divisions, oils and utilities soon became so general as to affect the entire list. Declines in General Motors, Studebaker Common and Pfd., Chandler and Saxon Motors ran from 1 to 5 points. Ohio Gas yielded 6 and Alcohol as much, Texas Company falling 3½.

U.S. Steel reacted a point, but developed fresh strength with Crucible Steel, Baldwin Locomotive and American Car, Coppers, shippings and rails continued quiet at minor changes. Rallies of 2 to 3 points in the more speculative issues set in at noon. Bonds were irregular.

GERMAN CREDIT LOWER THAN MARK INDICATES

LONDON, June 28.— A despatch to the Daily Mail from The Hague says that the exchange rate on the German mark in Holland rose yesterday to 33.95 guilders.

The correspondent refers to the statement of the Frankfurter Zeitung saying that there are indications that the next returns of the Imperial Bank of Germany will show a considerable decrease in the stock of gold, and says German credit stands at a much lower ebb than the mark rate appears to show.

A renewal of the German treasury bonds, for exported foodstuffs, has been agreed to only upon extremely onerous conditions.

BERLIN, June 28, via London.—The statement of the Imperial Bank of Germany, issued June 23, shows the following changes:

EMPIRE LAND SCHEME BELIEVED FEASIBLE

Special to The Star.

LONDON, June 28 — Discussing the scheme of Empire resources development by a committee appointed for establishing land settlement on a vast scale in Canada, the Earl of Plymouth, a member of the committee, expressed his belief in the feasibility of the scheme.

Canada, he said, was not being ignored in the matter, as the committee realized the necessity for securing the assent of the Dominion Government; that, in fact, if the preliminary difficulties could be overcome, possibly the Canadian Government might take the initiative in the matter. Development of the country by individual enterprise might be considered preferable but under a big co-operative scheme such as that proposed by the committee much could be done which would be impossible under individual efforts.

The Empire Land and Settlement Committee, on which Bruce Walker, Western Commissioner of Immigration, was the Canadian representative, met yesterday when the whole committee considered a draft report drawn up by a sub-committee. The report will probably be issued shortly.

NEW WHEAT IS BEING OFFERED FREELY NOW

By Private Wire to Jas. Carruthers & Co., Limited, from Winnipeg Office.

WINNIPEG, June 28.—Wheat markets are easier again today, declining 2c a bushel for September and 4c for July in Chicago, while Winnipeg October is 3c lower.

New American winter wheat is being offered freely by farmers, but grain interests are not taking hold of same owing to the uncertainty of the American Government's action as regards the handling of the new crop.

There is moderately warm weather throughout the Canadian Northwest, with showers in Manitoba and Saskatchewan.

Winnipeg July wheat is offering at 233 this morning but very little business passed.

Notes on 'Change

The following gentlemen were today introduced on 'Change: R. Dawson Harling, Toronto, by J. R. Binning; J. M. Wilson, Meridian, Miss., by R. H. Starnes.

It is not expected that the British Government will adopt the policy of grain control in Canada that has been adopted in Australia. There will probably be an exportable surplus of 80 million bushels of wheat in Canada.

The Canadian Pacific wires from Calgary, Alberta, that a farmer at Parkside, Sask., has wheat measuring 20 inches or better. Crop reports from the Lethbridge district says there never was a greater acreage or a larger per cent of the crop sown on prepared ground or showing a more even and thicker growth or better root. There is the greatest optimism over the estimated yield per acre. Within a ten-mile radius of Lethbridge a dozen tractor outfits are tearing up sod, breaking ground for the 1918 crop.

The local grocery trade is very quiet at present, and prices are keeping steady. There is a much weaker feeling in cheaper grades of various dairy products, and undergrades of butter have been reduced and poorer eggs are one cent per dozen less. Wholesale grocers have marked up the price of prunes about 1½ cents per pound. The new prices for the season have not yet been named, but it is probable that they will be high. Fruits sell freely, although they are rather high, bananas have never been so high before, as much as $3.50 per bunch being asked wholesale. Potatoes are still high, and keep steady. New ones are not sufficiently plentiful or cheap enough to cause any weakness in the old.

There is no improvement in the tea situation, and coffee is only ordinary.

IMMEDIATE EMBARGOES ON GRAINS?

CHICAGO, June 28.—Prospects of immediate embargoes to reduce wheat exports to European neutrals gave a downward impulse today to wheat values. The market was bearishly affected also by optimistic crop advices, especially from the spring wheat region.

Opening quotations, which ranged from 2 to 4 cents lower, with July at 201 and September at 1.80 to 1.81, were followed by a slight further decline and then something of a rally.

Grain interests are becoming uneasy over the continued uncertainty as to how the wheat crop now being harvested is to be handled. They want to do business but are at a loss as to what to pay. Many think that it is not wise to make high bids and farmers are in no mood to accept low ones.

A meeting of the Chicago Grain Receiver Association was held yesterday to discuss the situation. No one in a position to present definite plans, and it was decided that all they can do is to await official action at Washington.

Broomhall cables: What market easy with more liberal and Canadian offers. Buyers generally are very conservative. Argentine weather unsettled with showers in parts, wheat and oats favorable, corn arrivals continue damp and much not fit to ship.

Chicago grain range to noon:

STEEL AND IRON PRICES CONTINUE TO ADVANCE

NEW YORK, June 28.—The iron and steel trade is now beset with another element, inasmuch as the agitation for Government price control is assuming more pronounced proportions. Prices and perplexities increase simultaneously. However, steel makers, it is understood have arrived at an arrangement with Government authorities under which prices for steel supplied the Government are advanced substantially. The new price agreed on for plates is said to be $4 per 100 pounds, or $80 per short ton, which is $22 a ton higher than the price agreed on some time ago when Government requirements were believed to be much smaller than they have turned out. New prices for bars and shapes, involving a proportionate advance, are also believed to have been agreed on.

The Iron Age then continues: "Government buying is steadily increasing, part of it coming through department and committees which arrange with manufacturers as to prices, and part of it in quasi-commandeering orders, on which prices will be fixed later. For the army cantonments contracts were put through quickly. The wire nail purchases amounted to 42,000 kegs, of which half went to the leading producer, while the remainder was distributed among independents. The price was $3.20, whereas the market price of independent makers is $4.

"At Chicago a $5 advance has been made in light rails, bringing 24-25 pound rails up to $65.

"Pig iron buying has continued in spite of advances of $1 to $3, but the attitude is causing consumers to think seriously of the dangers of the decline when it comes. Some of the buying for 1918 has been plainly speculative, and some thought is being given to the share pig iron would necessarily take in any scheme of control of steel prices."

The abnormal conditions in the steel industry in the States continues to be reflected in Canada. Prices of a number of steel products have advanced, including iron and steel bars, plates, shapes, black, blue-annealed and galvanized sheets, Canada plates, wire and wire products. Consumers, anxious to obtain steel, are paying fancy prices and are thus assisting materially in the upward movement. The shortage of steel is becoming more acute. The Canadian mills are booked up for at least six months and their output is largely being absorbed for war purposes, thus private consumers have to rely on United States mills for a considerable proportion of their requirements.

Shortage of Labor Closes Schumacher

Special to The Star.

PORCUPINE, Ont., June 28.—Mining and milling operations at the Schumacher mine were suspended today owing to shortage of labor. During the past month the force employed at the mine, although considerably below requirements, was sufficient to keep things going fairly satisfactorily. However, the recent change in wages at McIntyre and Dome Mines served to further reduce Schumacher forces.

In the meantime, however, the construction of a second mill of one hundred and fifty tons daily capacity is being continued.

Canadian Vessels in U. S. Coast Trade

CLEVELAND, Ohio, June 28.—The change in United States coastwise laws by which Canadian vessels can trade between American ports will increase offerings of tonnage on this side, and Canadian boats were on the market for ore yesterday.

No charters were reported, but some Canadian vessel capacity will probably be lined up during the week. A number of big Canadian steamers will be kept busy in the ore trade during the summer months, but they will go for grain as soon as the new crop begins to move.

LIVERPOOL EXCHANGE

LONDON, June 28. — The British Board of Trade has agreed that the Liverpool Cotton Exchange may reopen tomorrow under conditions preventing speculation. Details will be published later.

BIG COMBINE FRAMING UP IN SHIPPING

Special to The Star.

LONDON, June 28.—A demand for Cunard, Royal Mail, Peninsula and Oriental and Furness Withy shares is noted, accompanied by a revival of confident rumors regarding important working agreements between the biggest lines and companies to increase the strength of the British shipping industry against post-bellum competition.

NEW YORK, June 28.—Warrisks insurance has a softer tendency than last week, although there is no actual reduction in rates. Quotations to ships for the war zone now cover bigger lines, but the rates remain about 8 per cent, with a few special risks at 7 per cent. French ports are charged upward of 9½ per cent. Mediterranean is first, with a minimum of 10 per cent.

Lloyds' low rates on United Kingdom sailings is said to be attracting an increased amount of business. It is announced that Sir Raymond Beck, chairman of Lloyds, and E. Nicholl, chairman of the Institute of London Underwriters, have accepted invitations to attend the weekly meeting of the Chamber of Shipping War Committee. The outlook is decidedly for lower rates.

HORSES FOUND BUT THEY WON'T NEIGH ANY MORE

"Anti-Conscription" Blesses His One Eye for Escaping Death

All five horses stolen from George Meunier, of St. Vincent de Paul, have been found. But their mothers would never recognize them now. They were found yesterday afternoon, minus their heads, hides and other features that once belonged to them, cut up into steaks, chops and quarters and arranged neatly on the floor of C. P. Sekyer's abbatoir at St. Hubert. And the hides, where are they? Salted, tied in bundles and piled neatly at Martin Stewart's, 177 Duke street, awaiting shipment to Toronto. Just why they should go to Toronto has not been explained, but the fact remains.

But a day ago the two mares and their three lusty children had besported in the fields of St. Vincent de Paul. They had nothing to do till tomorrow.

"Anti-Conscription," their companion of the fields, looked at them mournfully out of his one eye and said such happiness could not last. The two festive mothers and their three gay children kicked up their heels, waved their tails derisively, shouted "Neigh, neigh" to the warnings and gave a hoarse laugh of contempt for danger. This morning they are steaks, common, ordinary steaks.

TO THE ABATTOIR.

Detectives Lorrain and Sampson, of the Provincial Detective Bureau, traced the horses to the abattoir of C. P. Sekyer, St. Hubert. No horses were to be seen, nothing but steaks, steaks and steaks. Were they cab horses or country horses—that was first to be decided. Experiment number one was tried.

Five pieces of steak were placed one behind the other, the head piece was taken away; when the other four pieces did not move up, it was certain they were not cuts from cab horses. Suddenly an auto horn was sounded close to 'em—all stirred slightly; they were country nags alright.

Experiment number three was then tried to find just what locality they came from. A striped sweater was waved in front of them—the hearts of the horses bled at the sight—homesickness—they were from St. Vincent de Paul.

Sekyer's assistant said that the horses had been brought there at 5 o'clock in the morning by Joseph Michaud, of Terrebonne, an agent of Sekyer, and killed immediately.

The detectives were on their way back to the city when they met Sekyer and Michaud driving towards St. Hubert. Michaud was arrested in spite of the protests of himself and Sekyer. The hides were later found at Martin Stewart's, Duke street.

Michaud pleaded not guilty in the Police Court this morning to the charge of stealing the horses and was remanded for preliminary trial July 6.

NEARLY KILLED CATCHER IN LAST BROKERS' GAME

Baseball again ocupied the attention of local Stock Exchange brokers, when teams composed of the employees of McDougall & Cowans and the local branch of the New York firm of E. & C. Randolph met on Fletcher's Field, the latter winning by a score of 12 to 5.

The brilliant play of the game came in the first inning, when, with M. & C. at the bat, three men on base, and none out, the Randolphs pulled a triple play—Buckingham to Love to Kent to McFadden.

In the sixth inning Weiner, of M. & C., had to be taken out of the box. He was replaced by Percy Walters, who immediately set about killing his catcher. In fact, it was the incapacitation of the latter in the beginning of the 7th inning which made it necessary that the game be called.

We understand the winners are open to challenge any brokerage teams, Whites or Khakies preferred.

The box score is as follows:

HIGHER FINES FOR BREAKING BYLAW

So common are cases of drivers ignoring the by-law that states that they must stop their vehicles at least ten feet behind a tramways car when it has stopped to take on or let down passengers, that Mr. Recorder Semple today launched an increased fine of $25 and costs in place of the usual penalty of a warning with costs, or a nominal fine of $5 or $10 with costs. The first victim was John Levy, a chauffeur, living at 1829 Clarke street.

COMMISSION IS STILL WORKING ON GALT DOSSIER

If Evidence is Heard it Will Be in Public, The Star is Told

Any evidence taken by the McLeod-Tellier commission on the charges affecting the Hon. Robert Rogers will be in public.

This point Sir E. McLeod made clear to The Star this morning.

"We have not yet decided whether we shall have any witnesses to call" he said. "We are now studying the evidence taken by the Galt commission, but if we do call witnesses, you may be assured that there will be no secrecy. Everything will be public and we shall give full notice of our intentions to that effect before any witnesses are called."

Judge McLeod turned to his colleague, Judge Tellier, who was standing by, and asked: "I am right in that, am I not?"

"That is quite correct," Judge Tellier assented.

The commissioners have been appointed by the Dominion Government to review the findings of the Galt commission. They are meeting in the Green room at the Rizt Carlton where documents and volumes of evidence taken by the Galt Commission are piled up in stacks. Both commissioners were at work today on the preliminary stages of their work.

The Hon. Robert Rogers has arrived in the city. He informed The Star that he had not so far been called upon by the commission to make any statement or give any evidence.

"So far as I know" he said, "the commission is engaged in consideration of evidence taken by the Galt commission."

Villeneuve Makes Answer to the Leader of Council

"Can you imagine the City of Montreal run by the present council? There used to be big men in the council once—you can see their portraits on the walls of the City Hall—but now. . . . . ."

Such was Controller Villeneuve's answer this morning to the attack made by Ald. Lariviere or the Board of Control yesterday, when he stated that the board did not meet often enough, and hinted that the council might not vote the controllers' salaries unless they did the city's business better.

"The whole thing is just a part of the continued campaign for the abolition of the Board of Control and advance work for the taking of the referendum in the fall," Mr. Villeneuve continued. "I do not think that the people are dissatisfied with our actions or conduct of the city's affairs—we have done the best that we could since 1916.

"Does Ald Lariviere expect us to be here at 9 o'clock every morning? What we are expected to do is to get through the work, and we do it—with two meetings practically every day."

AWARDED MILITARY MEDAL

Mrs. E. Cairns, 961 St. Catherine street, west, has received a letter from Major F. J. Alderson, officer commanding the 5th Battery, telling her that her son, Bombardier G. A. Cairns has been awarded the Military Medal for consistent good work and gallantry in the field. His commanding officer writes in part:

"I take this opportunity of congratulating you on his conduct in the field, which is an example of devotion to duty to his comrades in this battery. At the time of writing your son is with his battery and is safe and well."

Bombardier George A. Cairns went to the front with the 5th Battery and with the exception of a short holiday to Paris and London, he has been continuously fighting on the battle front. He writes that very few are left, of the original battery. He says that the Y. M. C. A. has been doing splendid work for the happiness and comfort of the men in the trenches. Previous to enlisting, Bombardier Cairns was employed for fourteen years with the Union Consolidated Paper Company, as an expert paper maker. He is 32 years of age.

BRITISH BOMB TURK STEAMER

By Canadian Press.

LONDON, June 28.—"British airplanes have bombed one of the few remaining river steamers," says an official report issued today regarding operations in Mesopotamia.

"At least one direct hit was secured with a 65-pound bomb on June 22.

"Hostile airplanes bombed our camps, without causing damage, on June 25. The next day British airmen dropped twenty-four bombs on enemy camps at Tekrit. Seven direct hits were secured on tents, which were destroyed. It was observed that other bombs exploded amongst the tents, inflicting damage. All the British machines returned.

ITALIAN OFFICIAL REPORT.

By Canadian Press.

ROME, June 28.—"The fighting yesterday was mainly confined to the artillery," says today's War Office report. "The activity was particularly intense in the Col Bricon area: at Monte Croco Pass in Carnia; east of Gorizia, and in the Monte Faiti area.

"Last night an enemy attack on Angella Pass, recently captured by us on the Asiago Plateau, was immediately repulsed."

GERMANS SHELL DUNKIRK.

By Canadian Press.

BERLIN, June 28, via London. — German heavy long-range batteries yesterday bombarded the Anglo-French fortified port of Dunkirk with visible effect, says the official statement issued today by the German War Department. In retaliation Entente artillery bombarded the German occupied town of Ostend, in Belgium, but, the statement adds, the shells did no military damage. The text of the announcement reads:

"Western Theatre: Army group of Crown Prince Rupprecht — Heavy long-range batteries yesterday bombarded the Anglo-French fortified port of Dunkirk, with visible effect. As a retaliatory measure the enemy took Ostend under his fire. There was no military damage. A bombardment by our artillery and minethrowers caused great damage to the English trenches on the coast.

"After a quiet morning, the firing activity in some sectors on the Flanders and Artois fronts increased to an appreciable extent. Southeast of Nieuport a Belgian post was broken up by our thrusting troops."

Food Controller Will Issue Appeal to People Tonight

Special to The Star.

OTTAWA, June 28.—Hon. W. J. Hanna, Food Controller, plans to issue a statement tonight which, it is understood, will be simultaneous with one to be issued by Controller Hoover in Washington. Instead of outlining at this juncture details of what is proposed, it is likely that the pronouncement will be more in the nature of an appeal to the people for co-operation in avoiding waste, etc., and in conserving food.

SIX GERMAN SPIES ARRESTED.

COPENHAGEN, June 28.—The arrest of three men and three women, all German-speaking, for espionage is reported in the press.

REDUCTION IN COAL PRICES IN UNITED STATES

WASHINGTON, June 28.—An immediate general reduction of $1 to $1.50 a ton in the price of coal at the mines was agreed upon here today by representatives of the coal operators.

This reduction is expected to be followed by still further decrease in price after investigation into the costs of mining coal and it is probable that the Government will be given a still lower price than that to the general public. Hundreds of millions of dollars will be saved to the American people through this decision.

About 600,000,000 tons of coal were mined in this country last year, and Secretary of the Interior Lane who has earnestly urged a reduction, believes that the saving to the American people will be enormous. After hearing of the operators' action Mr. Lane wrote a letter to F. S. Peabody, chairman of the coal production committee, who has been in constant conference with the operators, expressing his appreciation "of the generous, prompt and patriotic manner in which they have acted."

TO DEPORT BOGUS CAPTAIN TO U. S.

Special to The Star.

HAMILTON, Ont., June 28.—Percy Seymour de Willoughby, the man who, posing as a British army captain just returned from the war, gained the confidence of prominent people in New York, Boston, Syracuse, Washington, Buffalo and other American cities, and then, it is alleged, fleeced them, and also won Miss Huaber, daughter of a wealthy Syracuse contractor, as a bride, is to be deported.

It will then be up to the United States authorities to decide where and on what charges he must stand trial. The probability is that he will be taken to Boston, where there are a number of charges of fraud and false pretences against him.

Sometime within the next few days he will be taken to Niagara Falls and escorted across the border. Without doubt United States officials will be awaiting him on the other side, and he will be promptly arrested, as they have had an officer here and are fully informed regarding the decision of the Canadian immigration authorities.

As De Willoughby apparently reaped a richer harvest in Boston than in any other American city, it is thought here he will be taken to that city for trial.

NOBODY NOTICES MAYOR'S ABSENCE

Mayor Martin has been absent from the city hall for ten days, and the only occupants of the royal chambers are two stenographers and his cousin, the valiant Sergt. Lafleur. "His Nibs" as he is sometime fondly called at the hall, is in Ottawa, in his capacity as Dominion member for St. Mary's, fighting the conscription bill. Meantime the Board of Control, of which he is chairman, has been acting in perfect harmony and getting through quite a lot of work.

An incorrigible cynic remarked this morning that they always do when the mayor is away.

AERIAL DUEL AT HEIGTH OF FOUR MILES, FOE JUMPS

Special Canadian Press Cable by Stewart Lyon.

CANADIAN ARMY HEADQUARTERS, June 28.—In an aerial duel at probably the greatest altitude at which aviators have fought—nearly four miles—a triplane today pursued an enemy two-seater Aviatik and worsted its crew. When the aviatik spotted the triplane it sought safety by climbing upward. The triplane went after it.

At a height of twenty thousand feet the pilot of the enemy machine either fell or jumped from it and disappeared at the moment of the first burst of fire from the gun of the pursuing airplane. The observer was then seen to get out upon the tail of the machine but he lost his hold, and he too, in a few moments, fell headlong to the earth. Finally, the machine was seen to turn its nose down and after falling nearly four miles crashed into the earth.

U. S. Labor Will Not Participate in Conference

WASHINGTON, June 28.—The American Federation of Labor has declined to participate in the international conference of trades unions, called by the recent Stockholm conference to meet September 17 in Switzerland. President Gompers has telegraphed to President Lindquist, of the Stockholm conference, that the American Federation's "regards all such conferences as premature and untimely and can lead to no good purpose."

TO MAKE REPORT IN ASSAULT CASE

The Board of Control has ordered Chief Campeau to make an investigation and report on the assault made by Charles Crepeau, a chauffeur, on Peter Sanchez, a returned soldier, Sunday, June 7. The case came up in Recorder's Court Monday, when Crepeau charged Sanchez with assault, and dismissed, it being proved that Sanchez struck in self defence. The idea of the Board is to prevent recurrences of such events.

Formerly sold under the name of GAULOIS TIRES

Manufactured by the Etablissements Bergougnan of Clermont-Ferrand, France. (Established in 1889)

BERGOUGNAN tires have a pedigree going back nineteen years. They are the fruit of the experience gained from year to year by experts devoting their best thought to the turning out of a perfect product built slowly and with care, with durability and comfort as the goal to be attained.

They are made of rubber, plus brains, plus time, plus the most careful, thorough and painstaking handling at every stage of manufacture.

BERGOUGNAN workmen are paid not according to how many tires they make, but according to how few mistakes they make.

They are the kind of tires that can be sold on the basis of satisfaction. We guarantee them for five thousand miles, but they frequently render double this service.

They look better

They wear better

They ARE better

And they do not cost more than ordinary tires.

There Will Never Be A Better Time To Buy An Automobile Than Now!

MOTOR car prices touched the bottom a year ago—they will never be as low as they were then. Your motor dollar has higher purchasing power right now than you can expect it to have in the future. The high prices of materials and labor which have been brought about by the war will be maintained for years after actual hostilities cease. The whole world will have to replace billions of dollars worth of machinery and equipment that has been destroyed.

The sensible time to buy a new car is right now—and the sensible car for the average man is the
