ET teachers to brief parents

COWANSVILLE (PG) — While there is still no sign of walkouts by Eastern Townships teachers over the declassification issue, teachers here plan to plug the information gap at a meeting tonight to brief parents on the dispute.

Government representatives, including Education Minister St. Pierre and area MNAs and MPs have been invited but so far only Brome MNA Glen Brown has definitely announced he would be present.

The meeting will take place at 8 p.m. in the Cultural Centre on River Street, next to Massey-Vanier Regional High School.

A spokesman for the Bedford Association of Teachers said yesterday "what we want to do is put forward to the parents exactly what the situation is — we feel the parents do not understand the situation at all."

The Bedford teachers had earlier voted strongly against joining their Montreal colleagues in rotating walkouts and indications are their sentiments are shared by most teachers in the Townships.

A poll of the 420 members of the Eastern Townships Association of Teachers ended this weekend with teachers 70 per cent in favor of taking no action at all, according to ETAT president Margaret Knapp.

The 2,800 members of the Association des Enseignants de L'Estrie had authorized their executive to take measures up to, but not including, a general strike, but President Olivier Tourigny said Sunday no action was planned for the near future.

Over 100,000 students affected despite call for court action

MONTREAL (CP) — Despite a call on school boards to take legal action forcing teachers to stay in classrooms, more than 100,000 students were affected Monday by teacher walkouts as a province-wide dispute over teacher reclassification entered its fifth week.

The Quebec Federation of Catholic School Boards decided at a weekend meeting to recommend that its 955 member boards seek court action against teacher unions which stage illegal walkouts.

By Monday afternoon, the 9,500-member Alliance des Professeurs de Montreal had called 4,400 teachers out of 103 schools operated by the Montreal Catholic school board. Affected were 85,000 French-speaking primary and secondary school students.

In three other schools, attendance was down as parents kept their children home. Two more were still closed by the board after student occupations last week.

The 3,000-member English-language Montreal Teachers Association called walkouts in 14 primary and secondary schools Monday morning after receiving the support of its parent group, the Provincial Association of Protestant Teachers, during the weekend.

REFUSE UNION CALL
A spokesman for the Protestant School Board of Greater Montreal said that 7,800 students were affected but that 44 per cent of teachers called out by the union reported for work.

Classes are cancelled for the 7,000 students at the city's largest junior college, Vieux Montreal.

In nearby Laval, 18 schools with 9,880 students were affected Monday afternoon when 500 teachers walked off the job.

The dispute stems from classification procedures established in the 1968 teacher-government agreement, the first province-wide teacher agreement in Quebec. It expires in June.

Decisions by a classification committee downgraded qualifications of many of the province's teachers, whose salaries were consequently frozen at present levels. Teachers earn between $4,500 and $14,500.

They have demanded that the government recognize teachers' acquired classification rights as a basis for further negotiation before they stop their pressure tactics.

50 persons still face trial under October charges

MONTREAL (CP) — Fifty persons are facing trial in Montreal as a result of Quebec's October crisis, but many cases have been put over to the spring assizes opening March 1.

Stephen Cuddihy, chief Crown attorney for the Montreal district, said Monday 28 men and women are free on bail and 22 held without bail.

In addition, eight persons faced charges elsewhere in the province on charges under the War Measures Act, invoked Oct. 16, and the subsequent Public Order (Temporary Measures) Act 1970. These included four in Sherbrooke, two in Quebec City and one each in the northern communities of Amos and Mont Laurier.

The speculation among the public is that proceedings will drag on for many months but Mr. Cuddihy said it is impossible to estimate just how long the actions will take.

The kidnap-murder trial of Paul Rose passed the one-month point Monday but reached the testimony-taking stage only last Friday.

Jacques Rose, brother of Paul, Francis Simard and Bernard Lortie, who are also charged with non-capital murder in the strangling of Pierre Laporte last October, have already made some spectacular court appearances but their trial has been postponed to March 1.

To illustrate courtroom atmosphere: At least 10 persons have been cited for contempt, one of them collecting five citations at one hearing. Mr. Cuddihy said two of Montreal's six Court of Queen's Bench divisions are occupied with cases involving alleged terrorism.

Nearly half of those charged here are facing four or five offences—including, notably, membership in the outlawed Front de Liberation du Quebec—and could be tried on all of them.

When a reporter commented that there seemed to be conflict among authorities regarding the total of accused in Quebec, one source said the Montreal total is sometimes placed at 54.

But a warrant was still outstanding against one woman in connection with FLQ activities. Besides, social welfare court had disposed of two cases involving juveniles and one man was found not guilty of FLQ charges early in December by reasons of insanity. So, 50 persons now faced trial.

A 15-month prison sentence has been the stiffest handed down so far anywhere in the province in connection with the October roundup.

Francois Mercier, 27, a teacher, was sentenced to 15 months at Cowansville, in the Eastern Townships, Nov. 16 after pleading guilty to FLQ membership.

Labor leader Michel Chartrand received a one-year sentence for contempt of court in January, but appealed and now is free on bail pending trial on a charge of FLQ membership.

The first two Montreal jury trials resulted in one acquittal and one conviction—both verdicts being promptly appealed.

Student Robert Langevin, 21, was acquitted on a charge of seditious libel Jan. 13 but still faces three counts in the spring assizes. The Crown appealed the acquittal.

Jean Boisjoly, 21, a teacher and native of St. Boniface, Man., facing five charges including seditious conspiracy, raised such a storm when he appeared for trial that he was sentenced to 15 months on five contempt citations and his trial was postponed to March. He has appealed the contempt sentences.

Over-all, the 50 Montreal accused tend to fall into several categories in public attention—depending not only on the charges against them but also on their personal prominence, or lack of it, on the Quebec scene.

Bourassa still faces primary challenge-jobs

QUEBEC (CP) — The primary challenge facing Premier Robert Bourassa's government when the national assembly opens today is to make the opposition and the people of Quebec believe in his promise to create 100,000 new jobs in 1971.

Mr. Bourassa first mentioned the objective in a speech on April 9, 1970 while campaigning for the April 29 provincial general election in which his Liberal party was swept to victory.

In a recent interview, Mr. Bourassa said he does not have the resources to state with certainty that these 100,000 new jobs will be created this year.

"This depends on the entire North American economy over which the Quebec government has little control," he said.

Sources here said Mr. Bourassa will spell out the guidelines for the government's policy toward unemployment in his inaugural address at the opening of the 29th session of the Quebec national assembly.

QUEBEC IN FOCUS

Nutrition study launched

QUEBEC (CP) — Claude Castonguay, Quebec social affairs minister, Monday launched the Quebec phase of a nation-wide study of nutrition.

Its aim is to provide information on the nutritional state of Canadians with a view toward planning a public hygiene program and food legislation by the federal minister of health.

Mr. Castonguay told a news conference that about 4,000 persons throughout the province will be examined and questioned between the March 8 start of the program in Montreal and its windup in September.

Cross-examination blocked

MONTREAL (CP) — Mr. Justice Marcel Nichols blocked prosecution attempts Monday to cross-examine Bernard Lortie, one of four co-accused in the kidnap-slaying of Pierre Laporte. But the judge cited Lortie, 19-year-old student, and Lise Balcer, 21, for contempt of court for refusing to testify at the trial of Paul Rose.

Lortie, whose trial is scheduled for March, was called as a Crown witness in the Rose case but refused to be sworn in or to testify. When Prosecutor Jacques Ducros asked that Lortie be declared a hostile witness—thus being made subject to cross-examination—Justice Nichols ruled:

"If this were the trial of Bernard Lortie it would be different. But this is the trial of Paul Rose."

Diesel locomotive with CP

MONTREAL (CP) — The world's most powerful single engine diesel locomotive was turned over to CP Rail Monday by MLW Industries which built the engine at its plant in east-end Montreal.

The 4,000-horsepower highspeed locomotive will be used in fast-freight service between Calgary and Montreal. Robert L. Grassby, president and general manager of MLW Industries, a division of MLW Worthington Ltd., said the locomotive was being sold for more than $400,000 although, being a prototype, "it cost a lot more than that to build."

The railway company now uses locomotives ranging from 2,400 to 3,600 horsepower on its transcontinental runs.

Union president beaten

MONTREAL (CP) — Henri Gagnon, local president of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, returned to hospital Monday for further treatment of facial injuries received during a beating by thugs Friday night.

Mr. Gagnon said he was attacked by three or four "hired killers" as he was entering his car parked outside union headquarters.

He required 14 stitches to his left ear. His left eye was blackened and swollen shut and several ribs were bruised. In an interview Monday, he said his assailants were obviously professionals, but "they don't scare me."

Mr. Gagnon is president of the 11,500-member Local 567 of the IBEW, an affiliate of the Quebec Federation of Labor.

TO HECK WITH IT — The two gorillas shown above were seen leaving an area zoo yesterday. Asked where they were going, Paolo, the rakish one in front, told The Record "south." It seems that the two animals figured enough is enough.

US assessment on Laos unchanged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defence department officials acknowledged Monday that the South Vietnamese ground forces suffered a setback in Laos during the weekend, but said this is "no reason to write off the whole operation," which is backed by United States air power.

A similar assessment came from state department sources.

And at the White House, press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said the objective in Laos remains the disruption of the flow of Communist command supplies along the Ho Chi Minh Trail and this project "is being carried out by the ARVN (South Vietnamese Army) and the ARVN is performing well."

Ziegler spoke in response to reporters' questions about published reports that delivery of Communist command supplies, through use of routes west of the Ho Chi Minh Trail, actually has increased. Ziegler said the White House has no information to suggest such a development.

The Nixon administration assessment of the situation was in sharp contrast to that of Senator George McGovern who said Monday his reading of the reports from Laos indicate to him "the military situation is desperate."

The South Dakota Democrat who is the only announced candidate for his party's 1972 presidential nomination told a news conference: "Congress has the obligation to pass legislation to cut off funds for the war." But he opposed any effort to impeach Nixon.

But while U.S. officials appeared optimistic about the overall outcome of the drive to cut the Ho Chi Minh Trail, indications were that stiffening Communist command resistance was forcing a re-evaluation of the campaign's objectives.

Defence department officials no longer characterize the South Vietnamese drive as being on schedule as they have in the last two weeks.

The South Vietnamese push has been stalled by bad weather and heavy North Vietnamese attacks for five straight days with lead elements in Saigon's 15,000-man force only 17½ miles from the South Vietnamese border.

White points way for Union National revival

THETFORD MINES (WC) — "If the National Union party wants to survive as a major force on the Quebec political scene, it must absolutely reconstitute the coalition it has always had, a coalition of right-wing elements," Peter G. White, president of The Record, told the meeting of the local Kiwanis Club last night.

In his speech on "The Future of the National Union," Mr. White, NU candidate in Brome in the April 1970 provincial election, noted the priorities to be followed if the party wants to once again become the principal alternative to the Liberal party.

They would comprise the merger with the Ralliement Creditiste; winning back of the votes belonging to the ultra-nationalists; increasing the French-speaking vote in the Montreal region; regaining the English-speaking vote outside Montreal.

"All four priorities are essential if the UN is to return to power," he said.

If the Ralliement Creditiste joins the NU party, according to the 1970 vote, 12 per cent of the popular vote will be added to their totals but if they don't they will only destroy each other, much to the enjoyment of the Liberals, as they did in 1970.

"The right-wing ultra-nationalists who received about seven per cent of the vote in 1970 could be absorbed by adopting a modest nationalism policy such as that in the time of Duplessis. All they want is that prestige of Quebec be defended with conviction and dignity against the centralistic ambitions of Ottawa," he said.

Since the death of Duplessis, the NU party has gradually lost the vote of the rural English-speaking Quebecers. This came to a head in 1970 when nearly all their vote went to the Liberals.

In order to regain that vote the NU must fulfill the following essential conditions, Mr. White told the meeting. It must elect a leader who is clearly anti-separatist and who is able to control the ultra-nationalists in his party.

It must adopt a constitutional policy which is clearly pro-Canadian even if it has to reject the status quo.

It must make a place for the English-speaking in the party and not on the periphery as has been the case.

It should adopt a linguistic policy which is clear and just but does not take away anyone's rights.

It must adopt an educational policy based on good-sense and elementary justice that also guarantees the right of choice of language.

It must adopt an economic policy that clearly accommodates private industry and investment outside Quebec in order to combat the province's unemployment.

In the Duplessis era, the four counties of Brome, Argenteuil, Huntingdon, and Pontiac normally elected English National Union representatives to the Assembly. It was thanks to the English vote that at least ten other counties were normally in the National Union fold: Missisquoi, Compton, Chateaugay, Two Mountains, Gatineau, Hull, Papineau, Shefford, Sherbrooke and Stanstead.

"The NU leader that adopts these six conditions will be assured of not only the English rural vote but in my estimation, a large proportion of the undecided vote."

"Even the English-speaking voters in the Montreal region might begin to doubt the real intentions of Mr. Bourassa and think twice before voting as blindly as they habitually have for their Liberal candidate," he said.

PETER G. WHITE

THE PROVINCIAL ASSOCIATION OF PROTESTANT TEACHERS POSITION IN THE CLASSIFICATION CONFLICT

The present atmosphere of insecurity, mistrust and conflict between the teachers and the Department of Education has lasted too long. We are now faced with a further deterioration in teacher morale which can only affect the quality of education in Quebec.

Since 1967, we have asked patiently for a definitive statement on the Department classification policy. The result was Regulation 5 which is ambiguous. Decisions of the Provincial Classification Committee based on Regulation 5 are both ambiguous and inconsistent.

1 - Our basic demand is for Acquired Classification Rights, i.e. the classification for salary purposes which the employer recognize for the teacher's qualifications upon his engagement based on the contract in force in June 1968.

Where does the Quebec Association of Protestant School Boards stand on the classification issue?

2 - We ask for meaningful parity consultations before any new classification policy is finalized.

3 - We ask for the right of judicial appeal against classification decisions.

Are these unreasonable demands?

Prior to any teachers taking action, the Provincial Association of Protestant Teachers along with the Quebec Teachers' Corporation and the Provincial Association of Catholic Teachers made representation through legal channels to re-open the negotiation table as provided for in our contract to discuss classification problem. The government refused!

We are ready to negotiate any time the government indicates it is prepared to seriously discuss our demands.

Local services director says

Castonguay health report needs flexible blueprint

SHERBROOKE (WC) — "The goal of everyone should be to try and develop working models of the various suggestions of the Castonguay-Nepveu Commission," Claude Lanctot told a meeting of the Sherbrooke chapter of Association of Nurses of the Province of Quebec last night.

Dr. Lanctot, the director of health services of the regional planning committee of the Eastern Townships, was the guest speaker at the meeting held in the Norton Residence of the Sherbrooke Hospital.

"The Castonguay report tries to reflect the basic philosophy of the government is trying to inflict on us. Overall, the report is a logical system for 30 years from now without a blueprint on how to get there. There are many questions left unanswered in the report. I can predict mass confusion in the health industry for the next five to ten years," he said.

The specific goal of the commission is to provide complete access to health centers acceptable to the public while also providing effective quality care services from a scientific, human and social viewpoint.

To be able to do this, the commission divided public health into three basic fundamentals: global medicine, the open system and the responsiveness to change.

Global medicine would be the development of the different levels of education needed to meet health needs.

The open system would involve the prevention of disease as well as the utilization of all health industry resources to combat those already developed.

Responsiveness to change would require the regional organization of medicine into three types of care: general, specialized and super-specialized.

General care would be available through the local health centers and would cover 80 per cent of the public's needs. Community health centers would furnish specialized care and super-specialized care, which would also include research and would be dealt with by regional centers such as the Sherbrooke Medical Center. There will be regional health offices in Montreal, Quebec and Sherbrooke.

"This system is a major symptom of a technology gone wild," he said.

"The health service committee for the Sherbrooke region is two to three years ahead of the other regions," he added. The region has to plan for itself or the plans will be imposed by the government.

Mr. Lanctot noted that the first priorities of the committee were the integration of the health institutions and the development of demonstration health centers.

"It's partly up to the nurses to provide critical comments to some of the report's nonsense," he said.

Bruck Mills Ltd.

Grant no compensation for proposed lay-offs in April says union agent

SHERBROOKE (WC) — "The situation of the textile workers at Bruck Mills is a far cry from being as bright as Sherbrooke MP Paul Gervais led us to believe," Gilles Picard, regional agent for the Textile Workers Union of America told The Record last Friday.

The agent said that it is impossible that the company start enlargement construction within two months.

Mr. Picard affirmed that the $71,000 grant Bruck Mills received from the federal government would be used to change the weaving operation into a knitting one. The money would be used in the buying of machines and the recycling of employees needed to create new jobs between now and 1973.

"The grant, although it is very important, does not compensate for the 95 employees who will be laid off before the middle of April," said Picard, who is the union agent for Bruck Mills.

"Being very optimistic we can predict that about 30 employees who were laid off might be able to get new jobs in the new knitting division before April," he said.

"It is only with the condition of a salary decrease of between 50 and 70 cents an hour that the jobless would be rehired. Under these circumstances you can understand the situation is not as rosy as the politicians would like us to believe," he concluded.

According to Mr. Picard, the Sherbrooke plant of Brucks Mills Ltd. had 260 employees in January of 1970. In February of last year, the night shift of the yard mill division was closed representing a permanent job loss of 45 employees. During the last few months, for every five weeks the company operated, it was closed for a week.

In January 1971 there were 190 employees in Sherbrooke. In mid-April the company will close its weaving division which will leave another 95 jobless. At the same time it will rehire about 30 employees for its new knitting division.

"Therefore," Picard concluded, "in mid-April there will be approximately 130 employees at Bruck Mills or exactly one half as many as the same time last year. With the help of the $71,000 from the government, Bruck Mills will probably regain its employment totals by 1973."

Picard also said that plans are being made to re-adapt the 70 former employees of the defunct Glenhill Knitwear Ltd.

Detained should be rewarded says Liberties Assoc.

OTTAWA (CP) — The government should take action to compensate people "detained but not charged under the war measures legislation," the Canadian Civil Liberties Association says.

In a letter to Quebec Justice Minister Jerome Choquette last Thursday, the association says people charged under the War Measures Act or the Public Order (Temporary Measures) Act, 1970, who were subsequently released without charge suffered "more harshly" the consequences of the legislation than any other Canadians.

The letter was written by the association's Ottawa-area branch and carried endorsements from other branches and related groups in various areas.

The letter said:

"The problems faced by these citizens vary in kind and degree, but in all cases certain measurable damages have been suffered under the government's use of its extraordinary powers."

The letter cites "unjustifiable physical damages... alleged bodily harm inflicted by the authorities and seizure of property of various kinds" as well as psychological harm and the "defamation, real or imagined, of their reputations" as examples of such damages.

The association calls on the government to take a number of steps to redress people detained but not charged under the legislation.

The government should "pay all the actual expenses of such people, seek to reinstate those who lost their jobs as a result of detention, return all seized property, destroy all files "which identify these detainees in any way as criminal or as suspect under the emergency legislation," and supply each person with a "letter of exoneration."

The letter from the Ottawa region Civil Liberties Association to Mr. Choquette was endorsed by several other human rights groups.

Included were the Alberta Human Rights Association, the British Columbia Civil Liberties Association, the Fredericton chapter of the association, the Newfoundland-Labrador Human Rights Committee, La Ligue des droits de l'homme in Quebec and civil liberties groups in Windsor, Ont., Hamilton, London, Ont., and Owen Sound, Ont.

Court briefs

SHERBROOKE (DM) — Two youths convicted of breaking and entering were given suspended sentences by Judge Roland Dugre of Sessions Court yesterday.

Crown prosecutor Michel Cote told the court Pierre Lepage, 18, of South Stukely and Yvon Thomas, 21, of Saint Etienne de Bolton, both had no previous records.

An unemployed man who drives around in a Ford "Thunderbird" was sentenced to a $20 fine plus costs by Sessions Judge Roland Dugre yesterday.

Daniel Perrault, 29, had earlier pleaded not guilty to a charge of travelling at 80 m. p. h. in a 60 m. p. h. zone outside of Rock Forest.

An American visitor who became inebriated one night and then was involved in a hit and run accident which resulted in $70 damage to the other vehicle will not be able to drive in Canada for one year, Judge Roland Dugre of Sessions Court ruled yesterday.

In addition to having his right to drive in Canada lifted for that period, Emile Olivier, 48, of West Charleston, will have to pay two $100 fines.

Sessions Judge Roland Dugre will render sentence Feb. 25 for two Sherbrooke youths who pleaded guilty at their arraignment yesterday to multiple charges of theft.

Andre Vachon, 19, is charged with stealing $155 on Jan. 28, $4 on Jan. 4 and $48 on Jan. 9 as well as obtaining $80 under false pretenses July 30, 1970.

Pierre Vachon, 18, is accused of stealing $155 on Jan. 28 and $4 on Jan. 4.

Rudolphe L'Heureux pleaded not guilty in Sessions Court yesterday to two charges of obtaining money under false pretenses.

Both charges will be tried March 10 by two different judges. Judge Roland Dugre withdrew from hearing a charge which involves Sherbrooke Wood Products since he is related to the owners. He will be replaced by Judge Redmond Hayes.

Music industry honors Maritimers Anne Murray, Stompin' Tom Connors

TORONTO (CP) — Maritimers took top honors at Monday night's presentation of the 1970 Gold Leaf Awards, the Canadian music industry's annual tribute to its most distinguished representatives.

But the greatest applause at the awards ceremony in St. Lawrence Hall went to a man outside the industry—Pierre Juneau, chairman of the Caradisa Radio-Television Commission.

Mr. Juneau was acclaimed 1970's man of the year by the industry, because of the increased Canadian content regulations imposed on Canadian broadcasters earlier this year by the CRTC.

The regulations were proposed early last year, and one in particular—requiring AM radio stations to have at least 30 per cent Canadian content in their daily musical programming—brought about what one industry spokesman Monday night referred to as "Year One" for a truly Canadian music industry.

FAMOUS FOR SNOWBIRD

Unquestionably, the biggest star of the year was Anne Murray, the young Nova Scotian singer who rose to international fame in 1970 with her recording of Gene MacLellan's Snowbird.

She was on hand Monday night to personally accept her award as the year's top female vocalist.

Naming the other Maritime winners who came before her—MacLellan, Canadian composer of 1970, Stompin' Tom Connors, top country male singer, and Myrna Lorrie of the Halifax TV series Countrytime, top country female singer—Miss Murray proclaimed that the "Maritime Mafia" had just scratched the surface.

Mr. Connors, who like Mr. MacLellan is a resident of Prince Edward Island, said he was accepting the award on behalf of the young people of that province.

Miss Lorrie was the only one of the top singers who has not made a recording, but was voted the award for her performances on the television series.

SNOWBIRD BEST SINGLE

Brian Ahern received the award for best production in single for 1970 Snowbird, as well as the award for best production in a middle-of-the-road album, Anne Murray's Honey, Wheat and Laughter.

The top male vocalist was Gordon Lightfoot, who received the same award in 1967 and was top folk-singer every other year since 1965. He was not present at the awards ceremony.

The 1970 top folk singer was Bruce Cockburn. The top vocal instrumental group was Guess Who, winner in the same category in 1965, 1967, 1968, and 1969.

Another of the 1969 winners, The Mercey Brothers, again were selected as top country instrumental vocal group.

New Brunswick premier to call it quits

FREDERICTON (CP) — After nearly 12½ years as New Brunswick Liberal leader, more than 10 of them as provincial premier, Louis Joseph Robichaud announced Monday he will step down in the spring.

Mr. Robichaud, 45, said in a statement he would remain until the end of the legislature session which opens March 2 but he had asked the provincial Liberal association to call a leadership convention by autumn. He did not indicate whether he would retain the Kent legislature seat he has held since 1952.

The announcement was made following a Liberal caucus meeting at which Fredericton was chosen as the site for the leadership convention but no date set.

Mr. Robichaud said in an interview he began to think about resigning shortly after the election although there had been no pressure for him to step down.

"Lots of evidence to the contrary," he added.

"I just felt that I had accomplished my job as leader of the party and premier. Maybe someone else can do better but I'm satisfied that I did the best I could."

DECISION A 'RELIEF'

The decision was a "relief" to both himself and his family, he said.

But it would not change his plans for the upcoming session.

"I will not change my pattern, my tactics, my strategy—nothing will change."

His years as leader and premier had been "challenging, dynamic and even hectic" and he added up to "a long time in terms of this generation," he said.

But the time had come to "relinquish this post which I cherish in favor of a new man or woman with new ideas, new strategy, new approaches, a new image and renewed vigor."

While his announcement came as somewhat of a surprise, there had been mounting speculation since the Liberal defeat in last October's provincial election that he would resign.

EVASIVE QUESTIONS

When questioned by reporters, however, he evaded the issue with quips such as "the future will tell" or "it's a matter of how long the people want me."

The October election loss was his first since becoming Liberal leader in 1958 and just two years later leading the party to a stunning defeat of the seemingly entrenched Conservative administration of Hugh John Flemming.

Only 34 at the time, he became the first Acadian premier in the province's history and the then youngest premier in Canada.

He fought two more successful elections—in 1963 and 1967—before suffering his first loss last fall to the PCs under Richard Hatfield.

Mr. Robichaud declined at a news conference following his statement to say what he planned to do after resigning but said he would remain in public life.

Since the October defeat, it had been speculated he might step down to accept a judgeship or Senate appointment but he ruled out both when he spoke to a Fundy-Royal Liberal association meeting Saturday in Sussex.

"May I say here," he said, "that I am not going to the Senate and I am not going to the bench."

Sherbrooke Snowshoe Club news

SHERBROOKE — The "Red Party" organized an evening that will be recalled as a highlight of the 1970-71 season.

The theme for the night was "You Auto Know" and the club house was decorated with pictures of vintage cars and maps of the area of yesteryear. The members were decked out in the costumes required for driving in the good old days.

The band that played was made up of Irv Richards, Bruce Patton, Archie Quick, Sid Carr, John Pille and Charles Coates. Someone mentioned that for six fellows all playing solos, they weren't too bad.

Andrew Sheeran of the Stanstead and Sherbrooke Insurance Company was the guest speaker. He told the gathering that the rise in rates was due to inflation and that if cars were built stronger the cost would decrease. "The average cost of labour in repair shops is $8.00 in Canada and the replacement parts are very expensive," he said. These costs can not be controlled by insurers. "Unless the general public are willing to give serious attention to the problems of reducing the incidence of highway accidents, the high cost of repairs and spare parts, and the damage susceptibility of modern car insurance premiums can only continue to rise for everyone," he said.

To conclude his part of the program, Mr. Sheeran presented a film on the relative costs of low speed damage claims involving popular makes of cars.

During the course of the evening there were several raffle and door prizes distributed.

Selling out minorities

The English population of Quebec, who were almost unanimous in their support of the Liberal party in the last provincial general elections can be excused if they express grave concern over certain recent statements by Premier Robert Bourassa on the future of the English-language in this province.

In a declaration at the weekend, Premier Bourassa said his government is committed to the protection of minority-language rights in Quebec. Reassuring as this statement might be it loses a lot of its effectiveness when one considers the amendment Premier Bourassa proposes to the British North America Act. The amendment would reduce the constitutional guarantees contained in Section 133 to a privilege.

Exactly what anyone will gain by the change is difficult to determine. Certainly it will not improve the existing rights of the French-speaking residents of the Province. On the other hand the English-speaking population loses one of its basic rights.

No one will accuse Mr. Bourassa of bad faith or misrepresentation when he declares his government will preserve the basic English-language rights and that English will not necessarily disappear from the provincial courts.

But as long as the minority rights exist only on sufferance there is no assurance that some successor to Mr. Bourassa in the office to Provincial Premier may not curtail or eliminate these rights completely.

And even more disconcerting to the minority in this province is the apparent willingness of the federal government and other provincial premiers to abandon them to reach an agreement on constitutional reform.

This may be covered by double-talk to the effect that the English minority in this province should not be given any guarantees not offered the French minorities in other provinces. But this only begs the point.

There is a movement underway across Canada to give the French minorities greater linguistic and educational rights, a campaign that runs counter to the proposals now offered by Premier Bourassa.

Little boy should grow up

Psychologists, both professionals and parents who are considered amateurs in this line, agree that the average child goes through a smart-alecky phase in which it is considered clever to utter obscene words and make suggestive gestures.

With the passage of time, he puts away childish things, realizing that certain types of behavior are unacceptable under adult conditions.

But it would seem that for all his intellectual qualities, Prime Minister Trudeau has not grown up and frequently lapses into the show-off little boy, seeking attention through the use of shock tactics.

Such was the case with his ill-mannered behavior in Parliament when he chose to respond to opposition criticism in a manner more appropriate to a restricted adult movie than the House of Commons.

Having got the attention he craved, the Prime Minister followed up with a shoulder-shrugging "Who, me?" characterization outside the Commons.

There may be a certain novelty to Mr. Trudeau's lapses of taste but there is also an underlying nastiness which suggests that he tends to hold parliament, his fellow MPs and the whole democratic system in some contempt.

Arrogance has long been a Liberal trait but the Prime Minister goes even further, demeaning not only the office he holds but demeaning himself in the process.

Perhaps two years hence he will learn that he has not been given the country as a toy to play with.

A look at Trudeau, the leader

DOUGLAS FISHER

My father, like so many railroaders, revered King. I did not. This grew into detestation during the conscription crisis in 1944-45. It was frustrating that Canadians kept re-electing King, not least because it was not done with great enthusiasm.

He was not a man you warmed to or cherished. I detested him. Now, long after his passing, I meet others of my age who shared this low opinion.

Invariably, we find now that King ranks higher in our judgment. Perspective lets you see that he was a narrow, selfish, self-deluding man in many ways, terribly petty, capable of cruelty to his colleagues.

Yet his accomplishments — and I don't mean only mere survival in power — were considerable. A generation or two from now there's a likelihood that King will be thought our greatest prime minister.

It is possible that a like case could be made by a Quebecker about Duplessis. Little that I've read since his demise improves the estimate of his character or excuses the extent of his chicanery and his meanness to those who might rival him.

On the other hand, a Quebecker could read much worth into his persistence on the question of autonomy and his organization and promotion of the Tremblay commission out of which came a new interpretation of Confederation that even the English Canadians came to accept.

Mitchell Hepburn was an engaging bouncer, so quick-silver and confident. Once I helped carry him onto a plane in Northern Ontario, the Premier of Ontario, drunk and sodden but charming. He didn't leave much of a heritage. He was on the bad side in almost every controversy.

I'm always reminded of this by the good work over many years, right up to today of Senators Croll and Roebuck.

These were Hepburn ministers who fell into his disfavor and out of office. But Arthur Roebuck can still comment wryly about Hepburn's "magic" and some of the good things he did.

There are lots of other dead politicians one can reconsider in this question of whether unadmirable or objectionable traits in character should count in judging whether a man made an able or competent leader of a government.

Over in another popular area, sport, the same argument always goes on. Do nice guys finish last, as Durocher said? Should they finish last? In wrestling, a sport carried to entertainment and then to a mimed drama, the issue is built right into most encounters. The Whipper Watsons against the scoundrels.

It is not so black and white in politics. More people are coming to know what so many of us around and in political Ottawa have known for months. Mr. Trudeau is capable of lies, bullying, arrogance in the extreme, evasion of the most obvious of duties to simple courtesy and a smart-alecky snottiness that is staggering.

He's a man without compassion. He refuses to accept responsibility for things he has set in train. He's a slippery master at putting the blame on others.

He can jeer and mock the unfortunate. He's the meanest politician in power whom I've seen. In comparison, Mackenzie King can even seem benign. So the question merges, more and more: Does it matter?

OTTAWA — Is a man who is mean and nasty — as a reference might say: Of doubtful character — a bad choice, a menace as political leader?

The question in one form or another is creeping forward. It is likely to become more and more topical. It could become the key argument, excessive and bitter, during the Federal election campaign.

One can sense the politicians and the parties are shaping and pointing toward June, 1972. Rather quickly, it is clear that the prelude will feature the Prime Minister.

This would not have been a surprising projection, even a few months ago. It's trite to say that he has loomed large since his triumph three years ago at the Liberal leadership convention. But I think few people would have anticipated that the issue would crystallize so suddenly around judgments of his moral worth.

You only have to mention late, successful politicians like Mackenzie King, Maurice Duplessis and Mitchell Hepburn to realize the opening question of this column is difficult.

Mr. King was prime minister when I first began to follow politics. In 1935, I scrutinized in my first election work for a candidate who stood for King.

"When they're not separating over Wafflism — they're waffling over Separatism . . ."

MATTER OF FACT
JOSEPH ALSOP

WASHINGTON — No one will be able to predict Soviet policy with more than a random chance of accuracy until after the party congress at the end of March. Then, and only then, will the various factions in the Soviet government sort themselves out in a new balance. All will depend upon the nature of the balance.

Even then, moreover, the question will not be whether the new balance indicates beautiful or bloody-minded purposes toward this country and the world. The purposes will always be bloody-minded. The question will be, rather, whether the new balance inclines toward taking more or less risks in the military-political arena.

These are the provisos which have to be made before the dramatic new developments in the ghastly Middle Eastern crisis can be rationally analyzed. For rational analysis too, it is essential to avoid indulging in perfect balderdash.

The relatively down-to-earth Egyptian answer to U.N. negotiator Gunnar Jarring is encouraging balderdash. So is Egyptian President Anwar El Sadat's proposal for a military pullback from the Suez Canal, combined with reopening of the canal itself.

By order at the moment, State Department Arabists are fanning out through the Senate, saying for the umpteenth time that they hold peace in the palm of their hands. They are also saying that Israel's intransigence is the only obstacle to peace.

This is balderdash — except that the Israelis will be most unwise if they do not explore the chances that the new situation may open to them.

Just what, then, is the nature of this new situation? The answer is, in brief that there is new evidence that the Soviets, who hold the whip hand in Egypt, may be willing to settle for an intermediate solution that will help them a lot and will help the Egyptians very little.

Until now, all the hard evidence consisted of Soviet preparations for large-scale military operations across the Suez Canal that were obviously designed to crush Israel by force. There was not a shred of contrary evidence, except the habitual lies of the Soviet Embassy, plus the wishful theorizing of the State Department Arabists.

But now, at long last, there is solid contrary evidence, in the form of the proposal for a pullback from the canal. If you think about it, this Soviet-inspired proposal must envision, at a minimum, a lull in the fighting enduring for at least a couple of years.

It will take at least six months just to get the Suez Canal in working order again. Temporary use of the canal cannot be what the Soviets want, either. Even by the present roundabout route, they could reinforce their naval power in the Indian Ocean to any desired degree in less than six months.

What the Soviets want, in fact, must be fairly long-term use of the canal, as an easy route between their Black Sea ports and their naval vessels in the Indian Ocean. And if that is what they want, it is not consistent with anything but a fairly long-enduring lull in fighting along the canal.

This formula is not without risks for the Soviets. To say the very least, it is something of a sellout of their Arab clients.

Because it is something of a sellout, it could conceivably endanger the big naval base the Soviets are building at Mersa Matruh on the Mediterranean coast of Egypt.

But the new formula unquestionably involves much lower risks for the Soviets than the brutal, Soviet-supported attack on Israel that has been in active preparation for so many months.

For the time being, therefore, there has been some sort of recalculation of risks in the Kremlin. In other words, there is hesitation about doing what the Soviets were preparing to do, in fact because it has begun to seem too risky.

The wonderful stoutness and courage with which the Israelis have faced such terrible danger have certainly been significant factors in the recalculation of risks in Moscow. But the analysts of the Israeli defense ministry believe there are two other factors that have had much impact in Moscow. These are the toughness and realism President Nixon showed in the Jordanian crisis, plus Mr. Nixon's stoutness and courage in handling his problem in Vietnam.

What may be called the Nixonian factors will be unpalatable news for many friends of Israel, who are both anti-Nixon and anti-Vietnam. But not long ago, the leaders of the United Jewish Appeal came to New York from all over the country to hear the Middle Eastern crisis explained by Yigal Allon, Gen.

Zvi Zur and other representatives of Israeli government. The factors above-listed were prominent among the things they heard.

Evil minds

Sir:
What is wrong with some of Ontario's people? It seems as if they are preoccupied with sex and making a big thing out of a little situation.

The article on the front page of the Record Feb. 17, 1971, stated "Hamilton" Benches are for sitting. But the benches will not be placed near bus stops for fear of young lovers using them for rendez-vous lying down sites.

For shame, this committee has taken action to refuse older people and perhaps anyone in need of a short rest, a seat. They should perhaps take their minds out of the gutter. They seem to be thoughtless and overly critical.

In Montreal 1967 we had Expo. There were all kinds of seats and benches throughout the area and it was very relaxing to see people, teenagers, older people from all walks of life come and share these benches for resting, eating, talking, dozing, but I never once saw a degrading situation as this committee suggests and I went quite a number of times.

I would like to know why can't there be benches near bus stops so anyone can come and rest awhile while waiting for a bus? Really the buses do not come so close together. At least not around here.

And another thing the story of the "Megantic Outlaw" written in Ontario. My teenagers were told to watch it because it was a true history story — I won't say anything except that I was appalled and embarrassed to know that my children were seeing suggestive crude portions of untrue sex, because as one person wrote no one but no one would be out in a sugar camp in the middle of winter apprehending the police in the nude or birthday suit.

So I'm just wondering about our Ontario neighbours and hope that not any more dirt comes our way.

CRTC to release proposals for new cable TV guidelines

TORONTO (CP) — An issue of growing importance in the broadcasting industry—programming by community groups—is expected to come into focus Friday when the Canadian Radio-Television Commission releases proposals for new cable television guidelines.

TORONTO (CP) — Eskimos are offended by their name, a spokesman for the minority group said Monday. At the weekend conference, several people from the North decided that the word Eskimo should be dropped from the association and also organized a new organization—Innuut or Inuit Taparissat of Canada.

Canadian dollar up, export prices lower last year

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian exporters trimmed their prices significantly during the second half of last year while the volume of exports rose to record levels. The lower prices apparently were forced by the freeing of the Canadian dollar in June from its old International Monetary Fund peg of 92.5 cents in U.S. dollar terms.

Total exports rose to $16,886 million last year from $14,931 million in 1969 and $13,624 million in 1968. At the same time, Canadian imports declined last year to $13,939 million from $14,130 million in 1969. They totalled $12,358 million in 1968.

Michael Houle; Leondre Audet, winner of the 297-340 c.c. division title; G. Archer who presented the trophies; and Henry Provost, champion in the 341-440 c.c. class.

Open event highlights Beebe snowmobile races

BEEBE (IH) — Excitement, fun, thrills and spills featured the snowmobile races held in Beebe Saturday afternoon and the awarding of prizes at the Del Monty Restaurant in Rock Island after the races.

The weather was inclement with plenty of snow but there were several entries in the racing events and a large number of viewers, many cheering on their favorite driver.

The races were sponsored by the Beebe fire department under the chairmanship of Robert Sheldon with all the men of the department pitching in to help and the department men's wives having a canteen for lunches which did a very good business.

The Ferguson Handy Andy Trophy was won by George

Papillon of Montreal racing against Maurice Houle of Beebe in the 441-640 c.c. centre metre class.

Papillon took the lead, lost control of his machine and was passed by Houle, who, when he was within some 100 feet of the finish line, had the misfortune to have a chain break on his machine.

In the 341-440 c.c. class Henry Provost of Derby won the Archer Auto and Sport Trophy. Larry Labor took the silver medal and Cedric Cormier the bronze.

Leondre Audet won the second Archer Auto and Sports Trophy in the 297-340 c.c. class and Bob Cloutier took the second place.

In the 0-296 c.c. class Brian

Domoulin won a Molson's Trophy for first place; Cedric Cormier a silver medal for second place; and Velmor Harrison the bronze medal for third place.

Harrison tipped over several times but, sportsmanlike, he always returned to complete the race, a little behind but there just the same.

Henry Provost won in the free-for-all, an exciting race.

Michael Houle, 14, placed first in the children's class. Denis Comeau was second and they received the gold and silver medal. Mitchell Goyette placed third.

In the women's open class, Mrs. Louise Rolleston placed first to receive the Molson's Trophy. Mrs. Helen Taylor took the runner-up's prize from the Del Monty Restaurant and in third place was Nicole Maclure.

Three gold medals were presented in the drag race class to Cedric Cormier, Leondre Audet and Henry Provost.

The four gold, four silver and four bronze medals were complemented by two trophies from Molson's.

Mr. Sheldon was assisted in the presentations by Arthur LaPenna. He thanked everyone for coming to race and all who came to watch. The event was a success and plans are being made for another in 1972 on an even larger scale.

McCrea sparks Pipers to win

BEDFORD (SA) — John McCrea of Alexander Galt Regional High School hockey Pipers scored four goals yesterday to lead his team to a 7-1 victory over Massey-Vanier Regional High School's skaters.

McCrea, with two power-play tallies, was the most productive Pipers offensively, but he was not the only one who impressed coach Rod McKell.

Bob Ditchburn, who scored one goal, came in for praise from the coach for having played "a whale of a game," and elevated Junior Piper Dave Turnbull was tabbed as a bright prospect for the senior club next season as he scored once in his debut with the big squad.

Ian Bailey had the other AGRHS score to tie the count at 1-1 after starting goaltender Steve Dowbiggin was beaten by a slapshot from Massey-Vanier's Art Rainville.

Dowbiggin played the first two periods before being relieved by Don Dixon at the start of the final stanza.

Turnbull scored what proved to be the winner and McCrea got the first of his four to give the visitors a 3-1 lead after one period.

Two goals by McCrea and Ditchburn's tally posted

Alexander Galt to a prohibitive 6-1 lead with 20 minutes to play.

McCrea was pleased with his club's showing and is looking forward after downing Bishop's University Junior Varsity last Friday night and MVRHS yesterday to staying on the winning track.

"We forced them to make the bad pass and we made the play at the blueline," said the Piper pilot.

Vanier cagers dispose of RVRHS

COWANSVILLE (TS) —

Massey-Vanier Regional High School seniors gained a large measure of revenge and a portion of the top spot in the South Shore basketball circuit Friday afternoon when they disposed of their most serious rivals, Richelieu Valley Regional High School by a 57-25 count.

It marked the first setback in eight starts for the high-flying RVRHS squad and also avenged an earlier 58-51 loss which the Massey-Vanier side had suffered on the home court of the former club.

The rematch between the South Shore League kingpins in no way resembled their initial tussle. After gradually hitting their stride in recent contests, Massey-Vanier reached peak form for the crucial battle and completely dominated the lacklustre visitors.

Mostly, it was a stingy defence which produced the startling result. "We put some bigger boys in the lineup this time," MVRHS bench boss Bill Busted pointed out. "In the other game, they simply put the ball over our heads, but today they couldn't get inside our defence."

This fact was revealed rather convincingly on the scoreboard, as the locals put the outcome well out of reach before the halftime break.

John Hunter emerged as the most deadly marksman for the victors, as he connected for 27 points. Meanwhile, the other half of the Hunter brother combination, Dale, chalked up the second best production with 17 points.

Leading the offensive charge for the RVRHS squad was Bob Quick, who sank 10 points, which McKell's charges face Bishop's College School, regular season Eastern Townships Interscholastic Athletic Association champions, in a two-game total-point playoff series March 3 and 10.

bettered the output of John Clayton by three.

Two contests are now the only obstacle preventing the MVRHS cagers from earning at least a first place deadlock, but they are of little concern to coach Busted. Since the opposition will be furnished by Macdonald-Cartier High School and Royal George High School, both of whom were pushovers in previous encounters, there is every reason for the MVRHS coach to regard the prospects with optimism.

While the boys were climbing to the summit, the MVRHS senior girls increased their unbeaten string to eight games when they battered MCHS 62-15. The result assured the local girls of at least a tie for first place honors.

Leslie Mizener poured in an even 20 points in pacing the MVRHS club to victory.

If you have jobs to fill...

Elisabeth Turcotte, stenographer, Quebec City

we'll help you with people like Elisabeth Turcotte

At 390 Canada Manpower Centres across Canada, we're in the business of bringing together workers and jobs. We depend on employers to list job opportunities with us. With our telecommunications network, we put employers in touch with available workers from coast to coast, and often we train workers and move them to new job locations.  Take the case of Elisabeth Turcotte of Quebec City. When she turned to the local Canada Manpower Centre for guidance, her counsellor urged her to take a special academic course offered under the Canada Manpower Training Program. She completed the course, and was then enrolled immediately for stenographic training. With this training she was able to find a good job.  Like thousands of others trained under the Canada Manpower Training Program, Elisabeth Turcotte was able to put her new skills to work at a full time job. And another Canadian employer found a skilled worker he needed.

We can take them all on. Any size shipment. Anyweight shipment. Including 20,000-lb container loads, heavy pallet loads, multi-piece shipments and full trailer loads. Smaller shipments, too. Because we have the capacity and the know-how. Try us. Just for size.

the name of the PROMOTER and for the benefit of the PROPRIETOR, one or the other for the following amounts for each site on which the PROMOTER-TENDERERS wish to bid.

The amount or amounts above mentioned should be valid for a period of 90 days from the date of tender opening.
THE PROMOTER upon final approval of the project, the chosen PROMOTER-BUILDER shall be obliged to complete his plans and specifications, which shall be approved before beginning the construction.

of the contract and also a guarantee of wages to employees and of material representing 50% of the contract.

(B) A certified cheque made jointly to the PROPRIETOR and the Quebec Housing Corporation representing ten per cent (10%) of the contract amount.

THE PROPRIETOR will only give consideration to those respecting all the requirements mentioned.

THE PROPRIETOR does not bind himself to accept the lowest nor any of the tenders, or accept any responsibility whatever motive it may be, or contesting the proprietor's choice. Furthermore, the tenders will be chosen on their conforming to the forms and regulations established by the

Spasm of Small Muscles Causes Pleurisy Pains

By LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb — Would you kindly write about pleurisy, possible causes and resulting pain and fever? Could this be contracted because of driving with an air-conditioner unit vented directly at the driver? After a recent automobile trip my husband began to have pains in his right chest where the cold air blew at him. It does not get better and the doctor says it could be pleurisy. He has been troubled for two months. Chest X rays, electrocardiograph and other tests are normal. Is there any treatment other than pain killers. Can this be cured or does it become chronic?

Dear Reader—The surface of the lungs and the inner surface of the chest cage are lined with a very thin clear membrane which is called the pleura. Inflammation of this lining is pleurisy. Interestingly enough, there are no pain fibers from this lining over the lung surface, so the pain must come from the chest wall. Many people think that the pain is caused by the inflamed lung surface rubbing against the chest cage. This is probably not true.

The pain appears to be more related to spasm of the small muscles between each of the ribs. When you breathe and the chest wall expands, these muscles move. Like any muscle cramp, the movement causes severe pain. This is why limiting the motion of the chest by tight bandages tends to relieve the pain.

Muscle spasm can indeed be caused by a cool air blowing over the body surface. Severe, sudden pain in the neck muscles can follow sleeping under a fan.

Pleurisy can be caused by a long list of medical disorders. Fortunately, most cases are caused by viral diseases that cause a lot of pain and discomfort but seldom cause any lasting damage or serious illness. The pain is usually far out of proportion to any actual danger, but it is quite severe.

Any infection of the lungs can be associated with

X rays and other studies are often normal when the problem is the usual viral form. The studies must be done though to be certain that some more serious disease isn't the underlying cause.

Aspirin in doses of six or more a day can affect the blood-clotting mechanism. People taking medicine to control blood clotting should be careful in their use of aspirin.

Supper plans made

STANSTEAD — Final plans for the annual Shrove Tuesday supper were made at the February meeting of the Centenary church Allegro Unit held at the home of Mrs. Charles Merriman. The supper, February 23, in the church hall was solicited for and workers arranged for various jobs.

In the absence of the Leaders, Mrs. Merriman conducted the meeting and reports were heard.

Estimates were received from Laurie Tilton for carpeting to cover the floor of the choir room and the minister's vestry. It was, after discussion, agreed to cover the choir room floor now, and possibly the other but only after the church roof has had repairs.

A sum of $3.00 is to be spent on a few kitchen supplies needed.

Mrs. R. W. Cairns will write the February letter to the Foster child, Maria Amparo de los Angeles Satelo in North Bogota.

A letter of appreciation was read from Mr. Nugent, principal of Sunnyside school for a contribution of money to Sunnyside school hot lunch program. A vote of thanks was made to send to Philip Poops for a kindness to the Unit.

Mrs. Howard Majury will entertain the March meeting at her home and a silent food sale will be featured.

The hostesses Mrs. Merriman, Mrs. E. C. Middleton and Mrs. Malcolm Morrison served refreshments.

card can win and can't lose for you. We might call those plays automatic false-cards."

Jim: "South lets West hold the first two spades but has to win the third one. He discards a club from dummy and East drops a heart."

In spite of 27 high-card points in the two hands, things don't look promising. South can count only seven top-card tricks. He can get to nine by playing clubs, provided East holds both honors, but South decides to go after diamonds. He leads a diamond toward dummy and finesses the jack. When it holds, South is up to eight tricks. He cashes dummy's ace of diamonds."

Oswald: "Here is the spot for the automatic false-card. If West plays the 10 of diamonds, South will make his contract. South knows West has the queen. If West false-cards with the queen, South will have a real problem."

Fitch Bay

Friends of this place were sorry to hear of the death of Mrs. John Wharry. Sympathy is extended to the family.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Markwell and little daughter Sherry were supper guests of their grandmother Mrs. Pearl Webster, Saturday, Feb. 13.

Mrs. Eva Sheldon has returned home from La Providence

Hospital, Magog, feeling somewhat improved.

Mrs. Bertha Corbett was guest of her sister Mrs. Eva Pelkie and Mr. Pelkie on Monday Feb. 8, when they attended the funeral of their aunt, Mrs. John Wharry, at Magog.

Several friends and neighbours also attended the funeral held at Cass Funeral Home.

He won't know whether to play East for both missing diamonds or play that the suit will divide 3-3."

Jim: "He will probably play out three rounds of hearts. West will shed a spade on that third heart and South will know that West started with six spades, two hearts and five minor-suit cards."

Oswald: "He will probably try to drop the 10 but he may not. West's false-card has given him a problem and no one solves all bridge problems."

The Day Under Your Sign

ARIES (Born March 21 to April 19) — Don't go beyond your depth while swimming — or in any other situation. A day for caution in all areas.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) — You seem to be in a quarrelsome mood. Avoid those born under the sign of Cancer for the moment.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) — You're in a spending mood, so stay away from stores unless there's something you really need at this time.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21) — Aspects favor trying to convert short-term romance to long-term commitment. Take the initiative.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) — An overwhelming attraction is possible under today's romantic rays. Proceed with caution, however.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — Phone call from a former romantic companion may add a little zest to your day as you recall old times.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — An uneventful day to say the least. Much of it will probably be spent in idle conversation, for example in all areas.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — An adverse day for bringing up salary matters, but if you insist upon doing so, be as subtle as possible.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Avoid little white lies. They have a tendency to multiply — embarrassing you at an inconvenient moment.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Unexpected visitors could upset your entire schedule. Your displeasure is apt to show, so be wary.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — Be as charming as you can, particularly on the job. Show what you can do and others will be properly impressed.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) — Don't be shy about accepting favors if influential person wants to make your way a little smoother.
