PONTIFF STILL MAINTAINS THE UNEQUAL STRUGGLE— VATICAN MUCH RELIEVED

The Astonishing Resiliency of His Holiness' Constitution Has Again Brought a Shade of Hope to the Anxious Watchers by the August Bedside—Doctors Visited Him Early This Morning.

(See also pages six and nine.)

Rome, July 15.—1.10 p.m.—The Pope is restless, complains that he cannot sleep and is constantly shifting his position in bed.

3.10 p.m.—The Pope has been enjoying a calm sleep most of the time since noon.

4.50 p.m.—Perfect calm prevails about the Vatican. No change is reported in the condition of the Pope.

Rome, July 15.—6.20 p.m.—The doctors entered the sick room for their evening examination at 5.40 p.m. to-day, earlier than usual, intending to make a thorough examination of the patient.

Rome, July 15.—2 p. m.—The Pope's condition shows practically no change since yesterday. After a comparatively quiet night he became restless during the forenoon hours and complained of his inability to sleep. He turned uneasily from side to side and seemed unable to settle himself in a comfortable position, but there was no recurrence of those dangerous periods of delirium which aroused such apprehension yesterday.

The doctors continue to feel that the patient's condition is extremely dangerous, but they say he may still linger for days. They repeat that all of the ordinary calculations are quite likely to fail in the present extraordinary case. Speaking of the specific conditions the doctors say that they think the pneumonia has practically disappeared. The re-gathering of liquid in the pleura is so slight as to cause the patient no trouble.

The chief remaining danger lies in the almost complete prostration, succeeding the acute stages of the disease.

HIS HOLINESS ABLE TO TAKE NOURISMENT.

11.35 a. m.—The official news received from the Vatican during the past 24 hours states that in his delirium the Pope spoke especially of pilgrimages, and recited disconnectedly Latin verses. He often seemed panic stricken, crying to Dr. Lapponi, his valet, Centra, and Monsignor Angeli, one of his secretaries, "Where are you? Do not abandon me."

The delirium ceased entirely at 4 o'clock p. m. when His Holiness again revived. Having eaten nothing throughout the day he was then given four spoonsful of meat broth and masticated some beef without swallowing it.

From midnight up to five o'clock this morning the Pontiff was constantly drowsy.

DR. MAZZONI SAYS END IS NOT IMMINENT.

When Dr. Mazzoni entered the Pope's sick room this morning he found His Holiness in almost the same condition as last night. Pope Leo said: "I feel better than I did yesterday morning."

On leaving the Vatican Dr. Mazzoni, in reply to the query, "Is the end imminent?" answered.

"It cannot be called so."

"Then, is it near?" was asked.

To this Dr. Mazzoni replied:

"In order not to make a mistake, let us say it is not far distant."

11.05 a. m.—Dr. Lapponi left the Vatican this morning to pay another visit to his daughter, who is suffering from a fever. He said, in reply to inquiries, that the Pope might linger some days longer.

ALL MINISTERIES HAVE CEASED FUNCTIONS.

Paris, July 15. — The Eclair's correspondent at Rome telegraphs that yesterday a diplomatist asked Cardinal Rampolla for the bulls concerning the bishops appointed at the last consistory. The Cardinal replied:

"All the ministries have now ceased their functions. Pope Leo has not signed the consistorial documents, but you may reassure your sovereign that if a misfortune happens the future Pope will ratify the acts of the last consistory."

People are asking, says the correspondent, how Cardinal Rampolla can pledge the next Pope.

The Foreign Office received despatches from Rome to-day stating that the Pope is sinking fast and that, while His Holiness may live a day or two, a fatal termination is imminent.

REPORT IS RENEWED THAT POPE HAS CANCER.

Rome, July 15—"How extraordinary the Pope's fight for life has really been will be revealed by the post mortem," said a prominent Italian physician to a Star correspondent this morning when he learned that Leo was still alive. The speaker is one of several physicians who have been assisting the three principal experts. "The hepatization of the lungs has disappeared," he continued, "and therefore, according to the original diagnosis, Leo should be convalescent instead of dying."

One of the principal doctors maintains that Leo is afflicted with a malignant tumour of the pleura. The other two dispute this diagnosis. The analysis supposed to have been made of the tumour that was stated to have been extirpated three years ago from the Pope's side was never published. It is now asserted that the tumour was cancerous, and that it has reappeared in the pleura. If this is the case, the present diagnosis and treatment are mistaken. The pleuric serum, which when tapped showed blood, was analyzed, but that analysis, like others, has not been made public. This supports the contention of many of the most eminent physicians here and elsewhere that the Pope's case is most imperfectly understood.

TIE BETWEEN LEO AND FRANCIS JOSEPH A FORCE IN DIPLOMACY

Vienna, July 15.—Pope Leo's death would be a heavy blow to Emperor Francis Joseph, who has all his life been a faithful son of the Catholic Church. The Pope has had an immense influence with the Sovereign. At the time of the most terrible calamity of the monach's much-tried life, when the tragic suicide of his only son occurred in 1889, he found consolation in the Pope's words of fatherly sympathy. Nine years after, at the time of the assassination of the Empress, Leo's heart went out to the stricken King.

According to many critics the exceptional intimacy thus engendered caused the Emperor, at the expense of the nation's interests, to refrain from returning the King of Italy's visit, because he knew his presence at the Quirinal would be painful to Leo. Italy was enraged at the incident, which operated, along with Austria's supposed disposition to aid the Papacy in regaining its temporal sovereignty to produce the existing strained relations between the two allied powers.

Speaking to a Star correspondent, a prominent official of the Foreign Office said, "as long as Leo XIII lives it is quite sure the Emperor will never go to visit the King of Italy. Apart from the fact that the Emperor is a devout Catholic, he feels for the present aged Pontiff a peculiar reverence and affection, and would on no account take any step likely to pain him."

It has indeed been proposed the Emperor should meet Victor Emmanuel in some Italian town other than Rome, as he returned King Humbert's visit by visiting him in Venice, but to such an arrangement the present Court of Italy will not consent. However, should Leo die, the whole aspect of affairs would be changed and the Emperor would no longer be bound by old sentiment. Should Cardinal Rampolla be elected Pope he would likely renew his former intrigues against the Triple Alliance. Austrian diplomats would not be likely to favour such a policy, and it would not be astonishing to see a breach between Austria and the Vatican.

"CLOVER LEAF" MAY BE ADDED TO GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM.

In the absence of General Manager Hays in Ottawa to-day, those associated with him in the management of the G.T.R. would neither affirm nor deny the report that that company was negotiating for the purchase of the Toledo, St. Louis and Western railway, more commonly known as the "Clover Leaf" system.

This is the line over which the G.T.R. company will next year, through arrangements already made, be in a position to give its patrons through accommodation from Montreal and points in Ontario to the Lousiana Purchase Exposition.

When asked whether there was any likelihood of the G.T.R. acquiring the line in question, a high official at the head offices said: "I cannot say, because I do not know."

The report which came from New York to-day in this connection alleged that the decided strength of common and preferred stocks of Toledo, St. Louis and Western, the "Clover Leaf" line, in fact of yesterday's declining stock market, was ascribed in Wall Street to belief that negotiations are under way for its sale to the Grand Trunk Railway Company.

The Clover Leaf owns 451 miles of road between those two cities and its acquisition by the Grand Trunk would give the latter road a through route from Montreal to St. Louis by means of the Detroit shore line.

WILL INSPECT STATIONS OF PACIFIC CABLE ROUTE.

Mr. C. H. Reynolds, who is the general manager to the Board of Management of the Pacific Cable route, is in Montreal in connection with a tour of inspection on which he is starting to-morrow.

Mr. Reynolds is enthusiastic over the prospects of the route. He is to visit all the stations in Australia and New Zealand, and will be present at the laying of the forty-five miles of cable from the Bamfield cable station to Vancouver Island. Mr. James Kent, manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway Telegraph, will accompany Mr. Reynolds during the laying of the cable, which will add to the value of the present system. Mr. Kent will be away about five weeks.

LEFT FOR FRANCE.—Brother Oliver, professor of higher mathematics at Mount St. Louis Institute, left this morning for France. He will spend several months in Europe, visiting the various Universities.

SS. MONTEREY, OUTWARD BOUND, ASHORE AT ST. PIERRE-MIQUELON

Ship is in Dangerous Position and May Prove a Total Loss—Sailed From Montreal on July 10 with Large Cargo of Canadian Produce —Captain Williams in Command —Portion of Cargo May Be Saved.

Miquelon, St. Pierre - Miquelon, July 15. — The British steamer Monterey is ashore west of Point Plate. She will probably become a total wreck. Speedy assistance may save a portion of the cargo.

The above despatch tells in brief the story of another good boat that has met her fate.

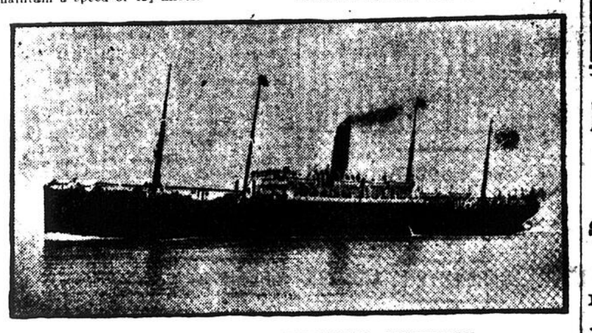
She left Montreal on July 10 with a full cargo, bound for Bristol, and was under the command of Captain R. O. Williams, one of the most trusted and capable captains in the service of the company.

The Monterey was of 5455 tons gross and 8000 tons dead weight.

She was comparatively a new boat, being built in the month of May, 1898, on the Tyne, by the Palmers, of Newcastle.

With a length of 445 feet, 52 feet wide and 27 feet deep, she was an up-to-date and excellent type of the vessel built for the Atlantic freight service. Her engines were of 661 horse power, and she could maintain a speed of 12½ knots.



THE C. P. R. ATLANTIC STEAMSHIP MONTEREY.

THE MONTEREY'S CARGO.

The cargo carried by the Monterey on what seems to be her last trip was as follows:

| | |
|---|---|
| 1043 | head of cattle |
| 20,046 | boxes of butter |
| 7025 | sacks of flour |
| 789 | boxes of boxed meats |
| 3150 | pails of lard |
| 250 | boxes of lard |
| 3932 | pieces of deals |
| 12,246 | pieces of boards |
| 28 | pieces of timber |
| 86 | bundles of backing |
| 71 | crates of moulding |
| 18 | bales of leather |
| 210 | barrels nickel copper mats |
| 88,115 | bushels of wheat. |

Mr. Cook, outward freight manager of the company, was seen by a Star reporter today. Mr. Cook was closeted the whole of the morning with the leading officials of the company, and he said that merely the brief announcement of the going ashore had been received and that nothing definite was yet known.

He expected that another wire would be received during the afternoon, and then prompt action would be taken as to the course to be adopted.

"Supposing the vessel is a total loss, what do you estimate the loss at?" Mr. Cook was asked.

"One and a half million," he replied, "would be about the figure. That would cover the boat and cargo. The point where the Monterey went ashore is well known as a dangerous spot to mariners, as the current is very strong and the rocks abound on every side."

MONTROSE WILL TAKE HER PLACE.

The steamship Montrose will take the place of the Monterey on the Bristol route. The details of the wreck are as yet very meagre, but Mr. Cook was of the opinion that the casualty occurred late on Tuesday night, the isolation of the spot accounting for the tardy arrival of the news.

The following is a list of the local shippers who are interested in the wreck of the Monterey:

CIVIC FUEL SUPPLY STILL REMAINS AT VARIOUS YARDS.

According to a report which will be submited in the course of a few days to the once famous Civic Fuel Committee by the City Comptroller, it will be seen that much of the talk this Committee did as to going into the fuel business on account of the poor was far from being justified.

The report shows that, in all, about nine hundred cords of wood were purchased, but it is also shown that fully one-third of it had to be bought by the various civic departments, as the poor wanted none of it, on account of the aldermen charging so much for it.

It will also come as a surprise to citizens to hear that the defunct committee is going to appeal to the City Council for a generous sum in order to make certain losses good that have occurred in the handling of the wood. This means that the city treasurer, and not the oldermen, as was supposed, will have to foot any amount which may be necessary.

It was said to-day that when these reports are submitted to the City Council, that there will be a big row. The contention will be advanced that when the civic committee went into the fuel business it made the statement over and over again that it would provide fuel practically free, and also foot any shortages there might be.

Instead of these promises being carried out, it will be shown the reports ask that the citizens themselves, through the civic treasury, pay the losses.

As the wood was sold at a high figure, and seeing the civic committee did not lose a dollar through being in the wood business, it will be asked that the reports be killed.

It is not likely, however, that the reports will meet a violent fate in Council on account of a move made by certain aldermen at the last session of the Provincial Legislature, when they succeeded in getting the following innocent looking clause passed:

"The city is authorized to take from the reserve fund, or from any fund derived from the revenue, a sufficient amount to cover the balance of the expenses occurred by the City Council during the winter of 1902-1903, in purchasing wood and coal in the interests of the citizens."

On account of the passing of this clause it seems that months ago the civic fuel committee expected a shortage and took the precaution to have the above clause passed.

The city comptroller, Mr. Dufresne, who has been peddling this civic wood for many weeks past to the different civic committees, went into the Fire Department to-day and begged Chief Benoit to buy some of the wood, as the corporation had not yet sold it.

"Why don't the citizens buy it?" queried the Chief.

"Oh, they do not seem to care for it," replied Mr. Dufresne, "and to tell the truth we must get rid of the wood as the books must be closed up before another year comes in."

The Chief, however, did not seem anxious to take the fuel, and then another official was appealed to. His reply was that the wood had always been too dear and was too dear yet; had it not been for this, civic officials would not have had to peddle it around to civic departments.

This reply discouraged Mr. Dufresne and he hurried away. A few moments later he tackled Mr. Drouin, superintendent at the City Hall, and after considerable discussion this official bought five cords and a half.

The comptroller has had good luck with the Road Department, however, it having given two orders for the wood, one for 85 cords and another for 96 cords. If this brisk selling keeps up, the water work yards at Point St. Charles, and on St. Charles Borrome street will soon be clear of the wood which was bought to "give" away to the poor.

The Bank of Montreal advanced money to the civic fuel committee for the purchase of this fuel, and now the committee is anxious to see the citizens themselves foot the bill.

It was pointed out by an alderman to-day that if the Mayor last winter had taken the $100,000 sent by Mr. Forget for the purchase of wood, there would have been no need of the aldermen appealing to the Legislature to see that they suffered no loss.

CAPIASES WERE QUASHED IN CASE OF NEWSPAPER ARTISTS.

Mr. Justice Curran to-day gave judgment in the case of Joseph Fortier and Henri Julien against J. M. Chuna, the manager of the Newspaper Artists' Association, which lately held an exhibiton and sale of pictures in this city.

The attorneys for the accused made a motion yesterday asking for the quashing of the two capiases issued by the plaintiffs against Chuna.

It was argued that the affidavits upon which the capiases were issued failed to state when and where the debt was contracted. The prosecution held that these affidavits could be amended.

Mr. Justice Curran decided to-day that the motion must be granted; that such affidavits could not be amended and the capiases were therefore quashed.

GIRL LOSES LIFE.

Fatal Drowning Accident at St. Hyacinthe.

Special to The Montreal Star.

St. Hyacinthe, Que., July 15—A drowning accident occurred here yesterday afternoon, by which Henrietta, a fifteen year old daughter of A. Beaugrand, Prothonotary for the Superior Court here, lost her life. She was playing on the banks of Yamaska river at the time and fell into the water. While attempting to rescue her the mother was nearly drowned and was rescued in an unconscious condition.

St. John, N. B., July 15.—The city labourers' strike is over and the men decided last night to accept the compromise offered by the Council. The old men get $1.10 and the younger get $1.40. The former rate was $1 and $1.20 and they struck for $1.25 and $1.50. Over 200 men have been out twelve days. The strike was conducted in good nature and all parties are pleased.

STRUGGLE ELEVEN WEEKS.

Strike is Called Off and Men Return at Old Figures.

Toronto, July 15.—After a struggle of nearly eleven weeks, the strike of the builders' labourers has been called off, and those of the men who so wish and can find employment will return to work at the old rate of wages, 25 cents an hour.

Of the 634 men who went on strike on May 1st, not more than 120 remained at the finish, the others having either obtained work at other occupations, or left town.

CITY'S SNOW REMOVAL AND STREET RAILWAY CO

English newspapers just to hand print the complete text of the judgment by the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council which dismissed an appeal of the City of Montreal against the Montreal Street Railway.

It was an appeal from the judgment of the Court of King's Bench of Quebec affirming a decision of Mr. Justice Pelletier in connection with the obligations of the city in the matter of removing the snow from the streets.

After a lengthy review of the situation from the time the electric cars were introduced the judgment sums up as follows:

The obligation of the city was an obligation to the public, not to the company, but for all that it was an obligation which the city council could not decline or neglect. It seemed to their Lordships that when this was borne in mind, Article 16 became clear enough. It described a continuous operation. Once begun the work must go on. The company and the city took different and separate parts. But the operation was a combined operation, and in the result the work was to be paid for jointly. The company was bound to clear its track. There was no provision as to how it was to be done. Seeing that the inhabitants were permitted to tumble snow from the roofs of their houses into the street, and to throw into the street snow from the sidewalks, it would be almost absurd to contend that the company, clearing its track for the benefit of the city as well as for its own benefit, was not at liberty to sweep the snow into the street. There were no words expressly and impliedly forbidding it to do so. The option of the city (which was really an obligation though not an obligation to the company) was to remove the snow from "kerb to kerb." Between those limits of course was included the company's track. In connection with that part of the case an argument was advanced at the Bar which did not appear to have been advanced by the courts of Quebec. It was an argument founded upon the case of "Ogston v. the Aberdeen District Tramways Company." (A. C., 1897, page 111.)

COMMITTING A NUISANCE.

In that case it was held that a tramway company was committing a nuisance, not merely by flooding the streets with brinysh injurious to the feet of horses, but also by piling snow from its track in ridges or lumps upon the surface of the streets. The argument as put forward at their Lordships' Bar seemed to be an argument drawn, not so much from the principles laid down in the House of Lords, as from the facts of a particular case where the surrounding circumstances were different. It by no means followed, as, indeed, a careful perusal of the Scotch case would show, that what was a nuisance in Aberdeen would be a nuisance in Montreal. In Aberdeen winter snow was not permanent. In Montreal it was, and the inhabitants were invited, or at any rate permitted, to throw the snow which was an inconvenience to them into the middle of the streets. Be that as it might, if the true construction of the contract be (as their Lordships thought it was) that the company was permitted by the street authorities to clear the snow from its track by sweeping it into the street, there could be no room for the contention that that operation was to be treated as a nuisance. As regarded the second question, their Lordships also agreed with the courts of Quebec.

CONTENTION OF THE CITY.

The contention of the city that, in order to exact terms which they would consider more equitable, they were entitled to put pressure upon the company by refusing to allow it to use the readiest and best, if not the only, means of doing that which it had contracted to do, was not a contention which commended itself to their Lordships. There was, however, no foundation for the position assumed by the city. The city granted to the company all rights and privileges necessary for the proper and efficient use of electric power to operate cars in the streets "in the manner successfully in use elsewhere." It was in evidence that electric sweepers were the only appliances which could enable the company to run its cars all the year round, without interruption as required by article 30 of the contract. Those electric sweepers were in use in Quebec, Ottawa, Toronto, St. Paul, Minneapolis, and Winnipeg, where the climatic conditions were much the same as those in Montreal. Their Lordships thought that the use of those appliances was authorized by the provisions of article 5 of the contract, and that no further authority from the city was required. Their Lordships would therefore humbly advise His Majesty that the appeal ought to be dismissed. The appellants would pay the costs of the appeal.

DADE AND HENDRY ARE AGAIN TALK OF SENIOR LACROSSE CIRCLES

Brantford Club Has Communicated With Them, and Montreal Wants to Make a Deal.

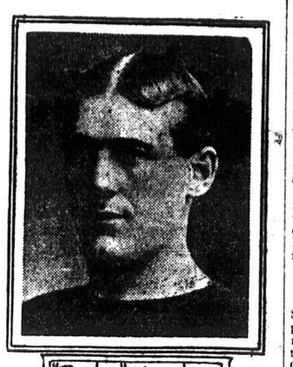
Albert Dade 1st Home



"Tacky" Hendry Outside Home

Dade and Hendry are again the talk of the senior lacrosse circles.

Great efforts are to be made to have them again out playing the game this season.

It is reported upon the best authority, that Brantford has repented and is anxious to get them back again.

Hendry was the recipient of a most cordial communication,it is said, from the president of the Brantford Club about two days ago, assuring him that they would be glad to see both Dade and he back in the ranks.

BRANTFORD REPENTANT.

It is said that the action of the Brantford officials here, in telling Hendry that he was not wanted any more, was due to the hard feelings of a prominent supporter of the club who had bet a large amount of money and had lost it, and seemed to think that Hendry was personally the cause of the loss. But if Brantford wants them, Montreal wants them also, at least Hendry.

MONTREAL WANTS HENDRY.

Barney Dunphy, the Montreal trainer, has been pulling the wires, and it is expected that there will be shortly called a meeting of the National Amateur Lacrosse Union, to discuss the matter as to whether the two men will be allowed to play here again this season.

There is no positive rule against this at present if the Union will waive the six months' residence clause.

The rule passed for the benefit of emigrant players at the meeting of the Senior League about two weeks ago, will only apply to Dade and Hendry if they go away again, as it was made non-retroactive at the request of the Montreal representatives.

A STRANGE DEAL PROPOSED.

Dunphy has been going around quietly trying to sound various prominent lacrosse people as to what they think of the scheme.

It seems Montreal has only need of Hendry, for Barney approached certain prominent Shamrock people and told them that Montreal would be quite satisfied to allow Shamrocks to play Dade if Shamrocks would allow Montreal to play Hendry. The Shamrocks have no need of and no place for Dade just now.

MONTREAL'S BASEBALL FATE TO BE DECIDED TO-DAY

President Hurley of Worcester Would Like to Come to Montreal.

Word was received here this afternoon that a special meeting of the Eastern League has been called for to-day to decide the fate of the Worcester Baseball Club, and the offer which has been made by Montreal. It is announced that President Hurley, of the Worcester Club, was prevented from answering the Montreal proposition because President Powers, of the Eastern League, called this meeting.

President Hurley assures the Montreal people that he is in favour of coming to some arrangement with Montreal.

It is understood that President Powers is trying to reach some arrangement by which the franchise can be carried in Worcester till the end of the season, but Mr. Hurley will not allow the League to carry it, and favours transfer.

WHAT THE TEAM IS LIKE.

The team is being improved.

Dan Sheehan, third baseman, and Hollie Souders, pitcher, both former Montreal players, have been signed for trial with new outfields now being sought. The team will be stronger than formerly. McCauley, formerly of Providence, catches finely. Kellackey, a fast youngster, is now playing the outfield. Falkenberg, several inches above six feet tall, was secured from Pittsburg. Pappalau and Hemming, both well-known minor leaguers, and Winham, a left hander from Wilmington, are the pitchers. Clancy is a splendid batsman and both clever and fast. At first Manager Demont is a $500 per month second baseman and strong in all departments. Connaughton has played wonderful ball at Short. Orbin Hurst at third is a former university student of Penns. The veteran Sharott Burden, a local player, is in the outfield, although Merritt, of Pittsburg, a pitcher, has been used there considerably. The club is to be strengthened by the addition of at least two outfielders.

On the Diamond.

Shamrocks and Moscottes will play on the grounds of the latter. For the game the Shamrocks have secured McCabe, a one-armed pitcher, who has been seen in Montreal before, and Sockalexis, the Indian outfielder, who is playing in St. John, N.B. A few years ago Sockalexis was the star of the Cleveland team.

A father and his son are playing with the Bridgeport team in the Connecticut League. The father is Jim O'Rourke, who played with the New York Nationals for over a decade. The son is a student at Yale, where he played for two seasons on the 'Varsity nine. This season he decided to turn professional.

Negotiations have been completed for a transfer of the Rochester club to Reading, Pa., as soon as the present series away from home is completed. The support in Rochester has been weak all the season and Manager Arthur Irwin has had a hard struggle. Reading has been seeking a franchise in the Eastern League and negotiations have been concluded to secure the Rochester team.

A baseball match between the Ponies and Watertown (N.Y.) was won by the first-named by 11 to 8. Chaucer Elliott, catching for the Ponies, was struck on the temple by a pitched ball and rendered unconscious, having to retire from the game.

At Toledo on Sunday Umpire Mullane was mobbed, and President Hickey, of the American Association, was struck by a stone and badly bruised trying to protect him.

"Shut your eyes, open your mouth and see what luck will bring you."

The mother smiles at the childish game, and doesn't realize that it is a game she as a woman has perhaps played for a great many years.

Many a woman is weak and sick, nervous and discouraged. She suffers from headache, backache and other ills. She wants to be well, but all she does is to shut her eyes and open her mouth for medicine and trust to luck for results. She "doctors" month after month, often year after year, in this same blind, hap-hazard fashion, and receives no permanent benefit.

Women take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription with their eyes open to the fact that it cures womanly ills. It cures irregularity. It dries debilitating drains. It heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. There is no trusting to luck by those who use "Favorite Prescription."

"My disease was displacement and ulceration of the uterus, and I was in a terrible condition with pain and weakness and had given up all hopes of ever being well again," writes Mrs. Harry A. Brown, of Orono, Penobscot Co., Me. "Had doctored with four different doctors without any help. Had been sick four months, and instead of getting better was growing weaker all the time. I decided to try your 'Favorite Prescription,' 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and 'Pleasant Pellets,' as I had heard of the many cures resulting from their use. I bought five bottles and fell so much better after taking them that I kept on until I am as well as ever in my life, and to Dr. Pierce all the praise is due. I cannot say enough in favor of his medicines. Before I began taking your medicines I only weighed one hundred and twenty pounds. I now weigh one hundred and sixty pounds. I gained forty pounds in six months. I shall doctor no more with home doctors, as it is only waste of money. I am now in perfect health, thanks to Dr. Pierce."

Race for Canadian Derby.

Fort Erie, Ont., July 15.—The summer meeting opened here yesterday. The weather was showery and the track sloppy. The sixth renewal Canadian Derby was run in rain and mud, but notwithstanding the weather there was a record breaking crowd in attendance and included fourteen cars of people, who came by special train from Toronto and Hamilton. On account of the heavy track Harding, Heatherlee and Wall Street were drawn from the Derby, leaving a field of five to go to the post. Claude was the public idol, but many of the horsemen and field betters backed Reservation. The betting was the heaviest in the history of the race. After a magnificent struggle and a head and head drive for the last quarter of a mile, M. J. Daly's, Claude won the Derby by a head from Reservation to which he was conceding two pounds. Sir Gallant was third, nearly a dozen lengths behind. The former made the running for the first mile, after the start. He opened up a gap of four lengths in the first quarter and maintained the advantage to the last turn. At the head of the stretch Sir Gallant was done, and Claude and Reservation came away together. From there the last few strides the pair ran like a team. Just at the end Claude forged ahead and had just enough margin to get the verdict. All Souls, which ran fourth and saved its stake, was twenty lengths behind Sir Gallant, and two before Soothsayer. Summary:

Hoofbeats.

A Chinese plunger is making it interesting for the bookmakers at Brighton Beach. He is Ah Fung Chang, a wealthy merchant from Seattle, Wash. He attends the track with an ease which excites the admiration of the American rail birds, and backs them to the limit. It is estimated that he has taken $10,000 from the betting ring within the last two or three days.

Ah Fung Chang is a rich fancy goods merchant at Seattle. He is reputed to be worth $300,000, made from the owning of fan tan palaces in the free and open days through Washington Territory. He was at New Orleans for a time last winter while en route from New York to the West, attracting no end of attention. In his entourage is to be found another Celestial with race-going propensities but he operates in the "field" where the game is not so stiff.

When the gossip of the ring centred upon the new-found plunger, old-timers of the "Little Pete" days known as the greatest Chinese race track gambler in the country. He was ruled off with Jockey Coons for complicity in the aforesaid jobbery, and then disappeared from view.

THE MYSTERY OF THE KOLUTOO

How the Boat Acquired Its Strange Name.

CLUB CARPENTER ARRIVES

Visitors Would Like to Take Back Challenge for the Quincy Cup—Coming Festivities.

The mystery of Kolutoo, which will be the challenger for the Seawanhaka Cup, has been solved.

The name is made from a transposition of the letters making up the names "Lookout" and "Outlook," letters which are supposed to be very lucky.

There first was a Lookout in Manchester, and she was fast enough to win the celebrated Quincy Cup, a Cup as well known in the United States as the Seawanhaka Cup.

The next year they built another boat, and transposing the letters, called her "Outlook," and defended the Quincy Cup successfully with her. This year they transposed the letters again and gave the name to one of the boats they built for the Seawanhaka Cup.

VAMPIRE OUT FOR A SPIN.

Yesterday Mr. Higginson, Mr. Burgess, and their men had the Vampire out again.

This morning the carpenter sent for from Manchester arrived and started to make certain surgical operations upon the hull of the Kolutoo.

Mr. Higginson is very anxious that the Royal St. Lawrence Yacht Club should challenge for the Quincy Cup, and says he is trying very hard to make them do so.

SHAMROCK III. HAS REDUCED TIME ALLOWANCE.

Lipton is Taking Great Chances by Increasing Sail Area.

Special to The Montreal Star.

New York, July 15.—Shamrock III. has sacrificed a large portion of her handicap in the Cup races by the change in her rig. The challenger has doubtless reduced it by from two-thirds to three-quarters of the time, allowance to be granted to her originally by the Reliance, at the risk of weakening the vessel's rig aloft, by adding tons of dead weight and other tons of wind pressure, whereby more driving power has been given to the yacht. It is probably a very long chance Lipton is taking, considering the added danger of an accident.

MISCELLANEOUS

CORBETT THINKS HE CAN DEFEAT JEFFRIES.

In Letter Says: "I Know People Don't Think So, But I Will Surprise Them."

New York, July 15.—If James J. Corbett fails to regain the world's heavyweight championship when he meets Champion Jim Jeffries, at San Francisco next month it will not be through any lack of confidence. The former champion feels certain that he will conquer the big boilermaker as is shown by a letter he has written. Writing from his training camp at Crools Gardens, Alameda, Cal., Corbett says:

"I am feeling even better than when I wrote you last. Well, in another month we will know if I am daffy or not because I feel I have it on Mr. Jeffries. I cannot believe he can whip me and I can only be convinced by his putting me out again. But I am going to make that big fellow step some. I know most people don't think I have a look in but I don't care what anybody thinks. I am sure I have a great chance and think I will win. Of course he is a big strong young fellow and all that but if I win so much more to my credit."

It is evident from the confident tone of the former champion's remarks that he is not worrying over the outcome of his encounter with the champion. He nevertheless feels that he has a tough proposition to dispose of in his huge opponent and he is going about the job in a determined manner, confident that he will be the winner.

All the details of the big battle have been settled. Ed. Graney has been selected to officiate as referee and the date of the contest will be August 14. Graney was the mutual choice of the two principals and his selection seems to have been a popular one. Jeffries is training for his fight at Harbin Springs, where he trained for his battle with Fitzsimmons. He now has Fitzsimmons with him and according to reports from the camp the Cornishman is proving himself a valuable assistant.

Two Well Known Boxers.

Jack McCormick, who intends to make Montreal his home has taken charge of the Maisonneuve Opera House and has arranged for a meeting between "Dude" Kennedy and Billy Armstrong, on Monday night at Maisonneuve. The former is from Philadelphia and the latter from the Pacific Coast. They will go ten rounds for a decision. Pat Rooney and McCormick will go afterwards for six rounds.

JOSEPH WILSON'S GREAT VICTORY.

Toronto Lad Wins the World's Half Mile Swimming Championship on Saturday.

Joe. D. Wilson, of the Toronto Swimming Club, won the half-mile swimming race for the King's Cup at London, England. Wilson, a youngster of twenty years, journeyed all alone to England and met the best men Europe and the United Kingdom can produce in the natatorial line. He was beaten Thursday in his heat of the 100 yards and lost in the quarter-mile, finishing fourth; but, nothing daunted, came out again in the evening and beat the whole field in the half-mile event.

Jarvis, the English champion, thinks well of Wilson's style, and says that he is of championship calibre.

Policemen Must Get Vaccinated

And now, on account of a new decision of the aldermen there is more dismay in the ranks of Montreal policemen.

The latest fiat which has gone forth is that all policemen must toe the mark and get vaccinated.

Already the doctors connected with the Health Department are laying in a supply of vaccine points and in a couple of days hence will hie forth to the homes of the "finest" and make them bare their manly arms.

Because of this recent order there is lamentation and a calling down of maledictions on the heads of the aldermen by certain policemen; for it is stated some of them have never been vaccinated and that they have strong sentiments against it.

Now, however, every policeman in the city must bow his head to aldermanic enactment, as must the most meek and unknown of citizen.

It is rumoured that the proud limbs of the law will have warlike encounters with the employes from the Health Department, but civic officials discredit the rumour and show that the policemen, those who are still unvaccinated, must know that it is in the interests of the whole city that they should be innoculated so that the danger of an outbreak of smallpox may be still further lessened.

"One of the 'finest' yesterday had some rather bitter things to say about the way the city fathers hamper the force with enactments of one kind and another: "It is not long since," he began angrily, "that the Police Committee decided that the age limit of admission to the force should be increased instead of decreased; then the height of a policeman was demanded to be less than formerly; still another decision was that if a policeman, by dint of stretching his neck could manage in that way to reach the height standard he would be considered eligible for employment.

"The Police Committee also takes upon itself to decide everything about a policeman's uniform, even to his boots. Finally, it is said that the city vaccinators are now to be put on our track and that we all must bare our arms, like a lot of school girls.

"What, I say," still more angrily the speaker went on, "will the aldermen do at us next? I think it will be found there will be policemen who will not consent to be vaccinated. I know certain firemen have informed Dr. Laberge, Medical Health officer, that they are pretty mad over the proposition that they, too, must go through this vaccination business. Of course it is bad enough for the firemen I know, but now just think of a policeman, with the position he holds, having to get vaccinated! I tell you we shall never be able to make an arrest after this story gets round." And with a fierce flourish of his baton the policeman turned about and was gone.

A West Indies Edition.

Although the present weather is not such as to make the thought of the West Indies especially tempting, there is much enjoyment and a large amount of useful information to be derived from the West India edition of the Morning Chronicle, of Halifax. About fifty pages, reading matter and illustrations, in attractive magazine form, are used to carry out the idea that Canada and the West Indies should become better acquainted. Trade with the Islands is expanding yearly, and many Canadians visit this fairy land each winter for rest and change.

Interesting descriptions are given of each island with beautiful views of scenery and buildings, and in many cases historical sketches. A vivid account is given of the Dead City of St. Pierre.

Will Investigate Algoma.

Rev. Andrew F. Underhill, of Yonkers, N. Y., a prominent American lecturer, left on the Canadian Pacific Railway transcontinental train yesterday for Sudbury. He will devote several weeks to an investigation of the resources of the District of Algoma with an intention of making these matters known to the American public.

C. P. R. Denies Rumour.

It was denied at the headquarters of the C.P.R. yesterday that there was any truth in the rumour, circulated by the Hotel World, that the company was behind an enterprise which seeks to establish one of the largest ship yards on the great lakes at Bridgeburg, Ont., opposite Buffalo.

HOTEL FOR TOURISTS.—A new hotel for tourists is to be built on the borders of Lake Rouge at St. Alphonse, Joliette County. Work will commence at once.

NEW PROFESSOR OF AGRICULTURE

WILL SUCCEED PROF. CAPPER

A Number of New Appointments in the Faculty of Medicine.

The board of governors of McGill has appointed Mr. Percy E. Nobbs, M.A., A.R.I.B.A., of London, Eng., Macdonald professor of architecture, at McGill, in succession to Prof. S. H. Capper, resigned. Prof. Nobbs, who is a Scotchman by birth received his earliest artistic instruction in the School of Design, St. Petersburg. Leaving Russia, he concluded his preparatory education at the Edinburgh Collegiate School, whence he proceeded to Edinburgh University, where he graduated M.A. During his school and college years he took various art and technical classes at the Heriot Watt College, the School of Art, and the New School of Applied Art, all bearing on his profession.

After graduating, he travelled abroad before becoming an articled pupil with Mr. R. S. Lorimer, A.R.S.A., of Edinburgh, with whom he remained four years, during the last year of which he acted as chief assistant. While with Mr. Lorimer, Prof. Nobbs was successful in several prize competitions for design, and in 1900 he won the Tite prize at the Royal Institute of British Architects. Passing the examination for the associateship of the R.I.B.A., he then studied abroad in France, Italy, Russia and Germany.

In the spring of 1901 he took an engagement with the London County Council which has given him much practical experience in the supervision of building operations. In January last he was awarded the Owen Jones Travelling Studentship of the value of $500 for a scheme for the decoration of a church.

MEDICAL APPOINTMENTS.

In addition to filling the chair of architecture, the board has also made the following appointments in the Faculty of Medicine:

Dr. J. G. McCarthy, to be assistant professor of anatomy.

Dr. J. T. Halsey, to be assistant professor of pharmacology and therapeutics.

Dr. R. A. Kerry, to be lecturer in pharmacology and therapeutics.

Dr. S. Ridley Mackenzie, to be lecturer in clinical surgery.

Dr. John McCrae, to be lecturer in pathology.

Dr. D. A. Shirres, to be lecturer in neuro-pathology.

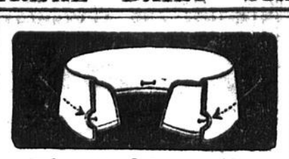
Dr. D. D. McTaggart, to be lecturer in medico-legal pathology.

On the motion of Sir W. Macdonald, seconded by Mr. John Molson, it was also resolved:

"That in the death of Mr. A. F. Gault this board deeply deplores the loss of one of its most valued members. Amid the multitudinous cares of immense business interests he was faithful in his attendance at the deliberations of the board, and ever ready with wise and practical counsel in the conduct of university affairs and with generous help in times of financial difficulty;

"Nor was his interest in educational matters confined to the university. His breadth of mind and his high appreciation of the value of education led him to take a lively and most practical part as well in the cause of primary as in the promotion of higher education. For the establishment and endowment of the Gault Institute at Valleyfield and for his splendid gifts to the Montreal Diocesan College—an affiliated college of the university—he will be forever remembered as a wise and generous benefactor;

"And, resolved, further, that the secretary be directed to convey to Mrs. A. F. Gault the board's deep and sorrowful sympathy with her and her family in their great bereavement."



The Tyfold Collar

The picture shows how the collar is cut out on each side to allow for adjusting a neck tie without springing the collar open. The collar comes close together in front, it keeps the tie in place and you don't see the cut-out part. Besides the tie is retained just over the button, which is also kept out of sight. Your summer comfort will be increased if you wear one, and you'll thank us for the style. Dealers sell them.

A Rainy St. Swithin's Day.

To-day is St. Swithin's Day, and it rained.

The fate of Montreal for the next forty days is, therefore, sealed, in so far as prophecy is concerned, and the people who have not a good supply of rain coats and umbrellas had better get them at once, so as to be prepared for the worst. As every one knows, the old legend states that, according as it rains or shines on this date, July 15th, so will the weather be for forty days following.

St. Swithin's Day, if thou dost rain,
For forty days it will remain;
St. Swithin's Day if thou be fair,
For forty days 'twill rain nae mair.

So long ago as 1697 an authority made declaration of the same, adding a word as to the saint himself:

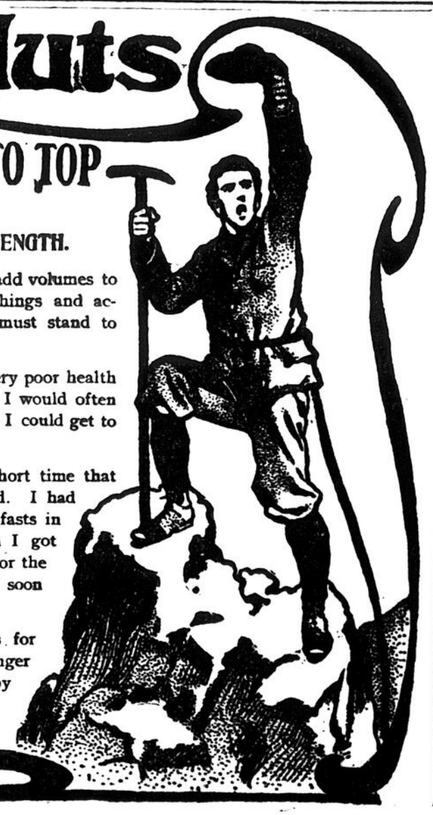
"In this month is St. Swithin's Day,
On which, if that it rain, they say,
Full forty days after it will,
Or more or less, some rain distill.
This Swithin was a saint, I trow,
And Winchester's bishop also,
Who in his time did many a feat,
As popish legends do repeat;
A woman having broke her eggs,
By stumbling at another's legs,
For which she made a woeful cry,
St. Swithin chanced for to come by,
Who made them all sound or more.
Than ever that they were before.
But whether this were so or no,
'Tis more than you or I do know.
Better it is to rise betime,
And to make hay while sun doth shine,
Than to believe in tales and lies,
Which idle monks and friars devise."

The story which gave rise to this old-time tradition is told somewhat as follows: St. Swithin, Bishop of Winchester, circa 850 A. D., was a prelate of many excellent qualities, but for none of them so famous as for his exceeding humbleness of spirit. So far did he carry the practice of this rare virtue that when he came to die he laid the strictest injunctions on his monks to bury him, not in the cathedral precincts, but beyond its walls, where the rain from its eaves might drip upon his grave, and its place be trodden by the feet of the passer-by. The request was complied with. A hundred years later, however, the clergy forgot the dying words of the bishop saw only the ignominy of his place of burial. On an appointed day they assembled with great pomp and ceremony to remove the body to a more fitting resting-place within the cathedral walls. At the first blow of the spade, however, a tremendous rain burst forth, and continued without intermission for forty days. It was a warning from heaven of the blasphemous nature of their attempt to disturb the bones of St. Swithin. So, instead, they built a chapel over his grave, where many miracles were performed to the confusion of unbelievers.

To cheer the drooping spirits of the Montreal public, and give to this quaint story a little twentieth century prose, it may be mentioned that the prophecy is not always borne out by the facts. A series of observations taken at Greenwich, extending over several years, go to prove that St. Swithin's Day has no occult influence on its forty successors. In fact, between the years 1840 and 1860 the greatest number of wet days were noticed to have occurred when St. Swithin's Day was fine.

The true explanation of the old tradition is said to be found in the wet weather, or the reverse, which is likely to occur after midsummer, for reasons which are believed to depend on the state of the preceding months.

Grape-Nuts
CLIMBED TO TOP



GRAPE-NUTS FOOD GAVE THE STRENGTH.

IT is a good thing to know of food that will add volumes to one's strength, for the strong can do things and accomplish work in this world while the weak must stand to one side.

A woman in Toronto writes: "I was in very poor health a long time and got so weak and run down that I would often stop at the foot of the stairs and wonder how I could get to the top.

"I began using Grape-Nuts and in a very short time that weak, broken-down feeling entirely disappeared. I had formerly been forced to give up my breakfasts in order to give my stomach a rest, but when I got hold of Grape-Nuts I could eat breakfast, for the food seemed to help digest other foods, and soon I began to gain in weight and strength.

"I regularly use fruit and Grape-Nuts for breakfast and can work harder and for a longer time than ever before." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Special to The Montreal Star.

S., July 15.—The Dominion Coal Company's charter boat Dominon arrived in port yesterday, leaking in one of her tanks, as result of injuries sustained to her bottom plates by running on a ledge off Bird Rock Island during a heavy fog Monday night. The steamer will have to be dry-docked for repairs, but it has not been decided yet where she will be taken. The Dominion, after she struck, leaned over and floated off the ledge.

The manager is having difficulty to make miners disbelieve idle words of the foolish woman who made the prediction. Your correspondent visited the homes of many of the miners and found they were waiting in fear for Saturday to pass. Prediction says 200 men will be killed.

REPAIRS APPRECIATED.—The members of the Business Men's League have written to Alderman Vallieres, chairman of the Road Committee, expressing their satisfaction at the great improvement in the roads and sidewalks.

BRITISH OFFICER STOLE CANTEEN FUNDS AND STANDS CONVICTED.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Kingston, Jamaica, July 15.—Great excitement prevails in military circles here over the sensational trial of a British officer of the 2nd West India Regiment, who was charged with embezzlement of canteen funds. The trial, which lasted a week, came to an end yesterday. Sentence has not yet been pronounced. The evidence disclosed gross irregularities. The major and other officers of the regiment are involved. Grave developments are expected.

KING PETER CHARGED WITH SERVIAN MURDERS.

Paris, July 15.—Under the caption, "The truth about the tragedy at Belgrade," Gil Blas yesterday prints an article written by M. de Prevignand, in which the writer accuses Peter of having been the leader of the Servian conspiracy. The leader of the plot, he says, was in Geneva, and he was Peter Karageorgevitch. He it was, who, through his secretary, gave the order for the assassination of King Alexander, Queen Draga, and several of the members of the cabinet. M. de Prevignand then gives the names of the officers on whom rests the responsibility for the mutilation of the bodies of the late King and Queen. He also gives what he says is the true story of the origin of the plot and the manner in which it was carried out.

BUILD UP CANADA.

TO THE GOVERNMENT OF CANADA.

Give the manufacturers, workingmen, and farmers of Canada the same kind of tariff as that which has made the United States the home of the most prosperous manufacturers, workingmen and farmers in the world.

TO THE MANUFACTURERS OF CANADA.

Force the Government to give you as good a tariff as that which has made the American manufacturers rich. When you get this tariff, pay your Canadian workmen American wages.

TO THE WORKINGMEN OF CANADA.

Take a leaf out of the book of the American workingman. Help your employers to obtain for themselves and for you a Canada-for-Canadians tariff.

TO THE FARMERS OF CANADA.

Profit by the experience of the American farmers, the wealthiest farmers in the world, who support a high tariff and prosper under it and because of it.

To the GOVERNMENT, MANUFACTURERS, WORKINGMEN, and FARMERS of Canada.

An active campaign has been commenced in England in favour of Preferential Trade within the Empire. It is to the interest of Canada to trade on liberal terms with countries that will trade on liberal terms with her. If the Dominion is to be in a position to grant substantial preferences to the United Kingdom and the sister colonies, her tariff against the rest of the world must be materially increased. The present time affords the opportunity of a nation's lifetime.

The Star at Summer Resorts.

The Star is mailed to any address in Canada or the United States direct from the office of publication for any period desired at city rates.

Orders for the Star by the week, fortnight, month or year may be left at either the head office, St. James street, or at the branch office, corner Peel and St. Catherine.

Cash must accompany all mail orders. No extra charge for postage.

MR. BLAIR'S PROTEST.

Mr. Blair's resignation as a protest against the proposed emasculation of the Intercolonial Railway — the property of the people of Canada — is a display of courage and of a determination not to join in a betrayal of plain public interests, which has had, unhappily, far too few parallels of late. It is difficult to imagine so much as a plausible excuse for duplicating the line of the Intercolonial with another Government railway. If it were proposed in cold blood without any other features to distract attention from this part of the scheme, it would be laughed out of— yes, even out of the court of a partisan Parliament. The only reason why so brazen a proposal has been ventured upon is due to a magnificent confidence in the fidelity of the party man and the inattention of the busy citizen, each aided by the magnitude of the transcontinental part of the plan.

But, nevertheless, this project is a conspiracy for turning the Intercolonial into scrap-iron. The day that the Government line is working from Quebec to Moncton, the Intercolonial loses its first, and almost its only, "raison d'etre." It sinks at once from a connecting line between the eastern and central sections of the Dominion a— necessary bond of Confederation— to a local coast line, which will have to face the murderous competition of another and more modern and direct railway, built and owned by the same proprietors.

It would be as wise for the C. P.R. to parallel their line through Maine to St. John, or for the Grand Trunk to build a rival to its own road from here to Portland. Both of these adventures are unthinkable. Some other men might put their money into competing lines over these routes; even the C. P. R might build to Portland, and the G. T. R to St. John. But that the owners of either line should deliberately destroy the value of their own property by building another link between two points they already connect, is too absurd to be considered; and if any insane board of directors should think of such a policy, the member who should stand out against the madness on behalf of the interests of the stockholders would deserve their warmest support and gratitude.

The position of Mr. Blair is precisely that of such a protesting director. He sees the folly of the scheme, its waste, its pillaging of public property, its arrogant selfishness, and he is prepared to cut short his political career at this point rather than share in the impudent transaction. The fact that he is Minister of Railways gives his protest a far keener point. He is the man whose business it is to know how such a policy will affect the Intercolonial, and who should have been permitted to have the first word in determining the railway policy of the Government. But possibly because of this knowledge, he is the very man whose advice is not sought, and whose warnings are not listened to. It is the managing director of the business who sounds the alarm in the hearing of the "Owners" that the policy of his colleagues will bring disaster upon past investments, and will plunder the very people they have been elected to defend.

It is difficult to believe that the Government dare persist in the policy after their own Minister of Railways has stamped it with the emphatic condemnation of his resignation.

SCIENTIFIC EDUCATION IN ENGLAND.

In these days of fierce trade competition, and international jealousy, the prize is, as ever, to the strongest and best equipped. Every one knows how true this is in his own particular department of industry, and how much skill and diligence is required to win a prize in the race for wealth.

Trade is no longer a matter merely of hard work. It is a science—and science means knowledge. Hence the necessity on the part of every man engaged in commerce or trade of continually increasing the amount of his knowledge, and what is true of business is true also of the professions generally, but more especially is this true of the naval and military professions. No one in his senses will dispute that science now reigns supreme in all matters connected with the army and navy.

Pluck, endurance, heroism are all very well in their way; but if the officers and men are without a scientific training, and the most approved weapons that science has discovered, they are useless and worse than useless.

For an illustration we need only to glance back to the experiences of the Boer war.

Consequently it seems somewhat strange to us, that the old country should only now be making up to the necessity of providing a college in the metropolis for the highest technical training of students in applied science.

In a letter which appeared in the London Press on June 29th, Lord Rosebery informs Lord Monkswell (chairman of the London County Council), that a large sum of money has been handed over to a body of trustees, for the purpose of providing London with a college on the same lines as that of the famous college of applied science at Charlottenburg in Germany, on condition that the L. C. C. will contribute $100,000 a year towards its maintenance. There can be no doubt that the Council will sanction the proposal, and that a noble building will soon be erected in South Kensington, supplied with the most modern equipments and open to all the young men of England and the Colonies, who wish to continue their studies. No better means of insurance, we make bold to assert, could possibly be discovered.

Lord Rosebery in thus taking the lead, and giving the enterprise his personal support, has laid the whole British Empire under a great debt of obligation.

THE UNITED STATES AND RUSSIA.

The official notification that the Czar has declined to receive the American memorial on the subject of the Kisheneff massacre is interesting from many points of view.

New York at the present time is probably the largest Jewish city in the world, owing to the enormous immigration during the past few years from Eastern Europe, and this is an important fact in American politics. In consenting to forward a memorial from such an important body of the electorate, we would acquit President Roosevelt of any ulterior design. He is greatly moved, as all right-feeling men must be, by the terrible events in Bessarabia and maintains his right to bring the facts of the case immediately under the notice of the Czar and his government.

In acting thus there is no intention of interfering with the Czar's authority; but simply the assertion of a claim to make a representation on a matter which nearly concerns a large number of the population of the United States.

The attitude taken up by the Russian Government in declining to receive the petition can hardly fail to widen the cleavage which already exists between Russia and the States. Recent events have done much to convince American statesmen that their policy in the Pacific, and that of Russia can never be made to harmonize. Inasmuch as the one desires free trade with China, while the other insists upon monopoly. The result is that America is being driven more and more to adopt the policy of Great Britain, which Russia believes, either rightly or wrongly, to be inimical to herself.

But the important question is, has President Roosevelt any right to interfere in the matter, and to bring the influence of the Republic to bear, to prevent any possible recurrence of crimes similar to those enacted at Kisheneff?

We unhesitatingly answer "Yes."

Take, for instance, the strong rebuke given to Servia by England and Austria; and the frequent interference on the part of Russia, owing to the alleged Turkish persecutions of the Greek Church. Again the smallest alterations of the tariff are made grounds for strong representations; sometimes even for hostile action, as witness the action of a certain power in consequence of the step taken by Canada in reducing her tariff against England. Active interference would no doubt be inadvisable in the extreme, but a friendly remonstrance, even from one nation to another, is surely no breach of amity.

We cannot but regret that the Russian Government has decided to reject this petition. Had the Ministers of the Czar received it, they might have done so "without prejudice," and had they done so, they would have gone a long way towards effacing the ill effects of the recent diplomacy of Count Cassini, which was of a character more than usually tricky, even for a Russian diplomat.

The English are a very conservative people in educational as in other matters. It is looked upon as a great innovation that a layman has been appointed to the headmastership of Marlborough School. Heretofore only clergymen were held to be eligible to head masterships. At one time even the assistant masters had to be in holy orders, but that rule was abolished and for many years the great majority of those holding such positions have been laymen. Now the great step has been taken of making a layman headmaster. The change is generally approved, even the Guardian acknowledges that it was necessary. Some however, will doubtless be found who will see in it one more sign that the badges and pledges of England's greatness are being abandoned one by one to the pestilent spirit of the age. However, as Bacon says, the real innovator is time, the changes in institutions only record the silent changes wrought in the world of thought. The fact is that the restriction of the choice of headmasters to clergymen was working manifest evil to the cause of education. To be headmaster of a great school, a man should certainly have had considerable experience in teaching. The bulk of the masters in any given School were laymen, and amongst them lay, of course, the best and largest choice. To promote a certain teacher because he was in holy orders over the heads of men possibly more competent then he, simply because they were not, was not only discouraging to the teaching staff, but injurious to the school by depriving it of the best available talent in the highest and most responsible position of all. The British constitution will survive.

The universal and sympathetic interest taken in the condition of the Pope since it became critical may be accepted as evidence that, to a large extent, the age of religious feuds is past. There are still those who say that the very foundation principles of a "revealed" religion, dealing with issues of eternal happiness or woe, compel persecution whenever the power to persecute exists. Whether in strict logic this is so or not, let others determine, the fact is, that, at the present moment, the Protestant world stands in respectful sympathy by the bedside of the dying Pontiff, and that Protestant clergymen everywhere are uttering words of high appreciation of his character and of the value of his labours and moral influence to the world. If one discordant note has been uttered it has not come under our notice. And the Catholic world appreciates this; they feel that it is due to the revered head of their Church; but none the less are they touched by the attitude of their Protestant brethren. Nothing, perhaps, has ever made the world at large, with all its sects and creeds, feel so strongly that, so far as men worship sincerely, it is one and the same God whom they worship. This was the thought which came home to Pope when he wrote his "Universal Prayer," inscribed "Deo Optimo Maximo," and beginning:

"Father of all! in every age,
In every clime adored,
By saint, by savage and by sage,
Jehovah, Jove or Lord!"

To feel that his life has helped forward the moral union of Christendom must be one of the chief consolations of Leo XIII. in these last hours.

Mr. Chamberlain uttered an impressive phrase when he said, "Now is the creative hour;" but we could wish he had not added, "I feel we must unite now or the Empire's epitaph will soon be written." Who he would be the last man to despair were months ago? Who, indeed, but Mr. Chamberlain has used the word at all? The true British subject believes in the Empire under all circumstances and combinations of circumstances. No one believes in it more firmly or fully than Mr. Chamberlain, and he would bet he last man to despair were the policy to which he now stands pledged to fail of acceptance. His faith in the Empire would still be undimmed, however much he might regret what he regarded as an unfortunate turn of events. The time will never come, so far as the British Empire is concerned, to sit on the ground and talk of epitaphs.

HORSE KILLED.—An incoming train killed a horse last evening that had wandered on the track near Turcotte village.

THE PASSING HOUR.

According to reports from Manitoba, Robbin and crop prospects are about on a par.

It is said on good authority that the Hon. J. R. Stratton has declined the invitation to the Gamey banquet owing to a previous engagement. The Minister is booked to deliver his famous lecture entitled "The Gamey Bribery Affair; or, Alone I Did It."

"How would you like to own a little pup?" said the sporting young man to the Westmount girl.

Then the fair suburbanite laid her golden head on his shoulder and lisped: "Oh, this is so sudden."

And now King Peter is mixed up in a murder plot. The politics of Servia must resemble that dished up to the long-suffering people of Ontario.

Some one has called "Cap" Bullivan a "parasite," and the genial "Cap" will resent the criticism by inviting the critic outside.

Mr. Barr says that all he got out of the colony was $13,000. That's not half what he should get if the reports are true.

The political situation, federal and provincial:
Shuffle, shuffle, toil and trouble,
Boil cauldron, bubble, bubble!

The Detroit Customs report a tremendous increase in the imports of Canadian whiskey and lumber. They must have been going in for "barn raisings" on a large scale over there.

No wonder that Mr. Blair tired of being the outside door-handle to the Railway Department.

It was the American wind-guage that won the Palma trophy. Naturally, the Americans know more about wind than most people.

A boy lately swallowed a safety pin. The poor little fellow was probably misled by the name the pin gave itself.

It is obvious that whenever President Roosevelt sends for his Secretary of War he wants to go to the Root of the matter.

Mr. H. F. Gardiner, the man who became an expert on the treatment of the blind while editing a Liberal organ, is recommended for his new position at the Brantford Institute, because he is an "optimist." That is, he will make the blind see things on the bright side.

A mad dog was found on the docks at Toronto. He probably was mad because he could not find a boat to take him away from Toronto.

The Toronto Star says that Mr. Fielding promised the iron men a revision of the tariff next session. Now, will the Star tell us what Mr. Fielding wanted the iron men to promise him for the elections before next session?

Tarte; Blair; Sifton; with his eye on London. Who's next?

If the Man from New Brunswick does not want that line from Quebec to Moncton, who does? And why?

It is an off-day when the coal dealers do not think of some new excuse for lifting the price a peg.

Blair has resigned, but it is likely that Senator Ellis is resigned.

Now it's the Worcester Baseball Club we may get. It's pretty sure to be about the "worcestest" one we can pick up.

The Globe, in the course of an editorial article on Political Parasites, says that "the politicians are more afraid of one parasite than of ten honest Independent men." Perhaps the Globe has a tendency to exaggerate its own influence!

THIS DATE 30 YEARS AGO.

(From the Star fyle of July, 1873.)

The Rev. James Carmichael, at St. Jude's Church, to-morrow evening, on the conclusion of the Litany service, will give the Scriptural argument for Total Abstinence.

A LITTLE over a year ago, the Rev. gentleman was consecrated coadjutor bishop of Montreal. The Right Rev. James Carmichael, M.A., D.D., D.C.L., is one of the most learned and eloquent Prelates of the Anglican Church in Canada. He was ordained priest in 1859 by the late Bishop Cronyn, of the Huron Diocese, and became Rector of St. George's Church Montreal, on October 1st, 1862. He has consequently served the congregation of this church for nearly twenty-one years.

A portable chemical fire extinguisher was employed at the fire last night by Capt. McRoble and his men, and is considered to have saved a large building, which from its proximity to the market, was for some time in extreme danger.

THE market was the "Bonaventure," and was situated in the suburb called Cote St. Augustin, beyond the city limits. The town of St. Henri now covers the site. The market was built on property belonging to the late Messrs. W. and T. Workman. Captain McRoble was an efficient fireman and was in charge of the Salvage Corps of the Fire Brigade up to the time of his resignation some years ago. He then went to Manitoba and the Northwest.

Mr. Delisle has not returned as yet to the city; arrangements will, however, be made to proceed with the enquete into the stranding of the SS. Precursor as quickly as possible, probably before the close of the present week.

THE late Mr. William Workman and Mr. Delisle were appointed a commission to make an investigation into the disaster that befel the ship. Both the commissioners passed away years ago. The name of the Captain of the steamer was Johnstone, and Hamelin was the pilot in charge.

We understand that at a meeting of the Privy Council on Saturday last, Mr. Marshall Wood's design for the decoration of Parliament Square was accepted and that the work will be at once proceeded with under Mr. Wood's supervision.

MR. WOOD designed and cast the statue to the late Queen Victoria erected on Victoria Square. He also designed the monument to her late Majesty in the Library of the House of Parliament at Ottawa and a couple of others for cities in Ontario. The one intended for Quebec Parliament grounds was never accepted by the Provincial Government and the bronze figure lay for many years around the grounds before being boxed up, and stored at Mr. Wood's expense. Mr. Wood also modelled a very fine bust of Lady Macdonald.

A meeting of the French colony in the city was held last evening at the residence of Dr. de Bonald for the purpose of discussing the advisability of celebrating the day upon which the deliverance of France from the invading German armies should be effected.

THE small colony and their friends held a solemn service of prayer in Notre Dame Church on the day the last German soldier passed out of France. A Te Deum was chanted and after this ceremony the rest of the day was given over to picnics and other amusements on St. Helen's Island.

The ex-Pontifical Zouaves residing in this city will go to Quebec in a body on next Tuesday, the 29th instant, when they will become the guests of their comrades in the Ancient Capital.

THE movement to raise a battalion of Pontifical Zouaves in Canada among Roman Catholics began in 1861. Numbers of young enthusiastic French-Canadians left for Rome and enlisted in the battalions commanded by Colonel Allet and Colonel De Charette, to aid His Holiness, the Pope Pius IX., in defending his temporal rights as a Sovereign against Garibaldi and the Italian armies under the King of Italy. Large detachments were sent forth in 1867-68-69-70. Many of these Zouaves are living to-day in the city, among others Col. George A. Hughes, the ex-Chief of Police; Chevalier Gustave Drolet, Pendergast and L. A. Vallee, governor of the Gaol. They all gained reputations on the field of battle as gallant soldiers.

LONDON TIMES ON THE NEGRO PROBLEM.

Many are More Brutal and Turbulent Than Before Their Emancipation.

Special to The Montreal Star.

London, July 15.—The Times in an editorial on the negro question in the United States, says the conduct of the black race, many of whom are more brutal and turbulent than in the days immediately following emancipation, has not tended to mitigate the difficulty of conceding the negroes anything like an equal position, socially or otherwise. It is difficult to see how the proceedings of the Southern State Legislatures, if left unchecked, can be reconciled with the authority of the 13th, 14th and 15th amendments to the Federal Constitution.

Historically it is undoubtedly true the amendments were carried under various forms of military and political coercion. Negro suffrage in particular was never popular with the mass of the people of the United States, but whatever may be the vices of origin or defects of application they have constituted for a whole generation an integral portion of the political system of the Union. The Southern agitation for the revocation of the fifteenth amendment need not be taken very seriously. President Roosevelt's influence will be used within the limits of his constitutional power. His personal authority is on the side of fair dealing, at any rate. The proceedings brought to light in the Alabama peonage cases will very likely do away with any inclination to condemn the President for his courageous treatment of Booker Washington. They will lead people rather to applaude his resolution in dealing with lynching atrocities.

CANNED MEATS.

Marine Department Publishes Report of Examinations.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Ottawa, July 15.—The analysis of the Marine Department have just now completed the analysis of 99 samples of canned meats. The meat in two of the samples was quite spoiled, in three others it was slightly spoiled and the remaining 94 were in good condition. The only preservative discovered was boric acid, which was found in 21 samples. In no case did the quantity of boric acid found exceed the limit fixed by the British Parliamentary Commission, viz., 5 per cent., and in most cases it fell markedly below that amount.

THE COUNTRY DEVASTATED.

Austrian Floods Do a Great Amount of Damage.

Hundreds of visitors to the fashionable Spa were compelled to take refuge in the restaurants and pass the night on tables and chairs, as it was impossible for them to return to their hotels.

AMALGAMATION SAID TO BE IN SIGHT

Dominion Iron and Steel and Nova Scotia Company May Arrange.

OFFICIALS ARE RETICENT

Conference Between President Ross and President Stairs Last Evening at Sydney.

Special to the Montreal Star.

Sydney, N.S., July 15.—The report is again current here that regulations of an informal nature are pending between the directors of the Dominion Iron and Steel Company, and those of the Nova Scotia Coal and Steel Co., looking to a federation of interests of those two concerns.

Senator Cox and the other directors of the Sydney concern to-day visited Sydney mines, where the plant of the other company is located, spending most of the day in an inspection of the colliery and furnaces. President John F. Stairs had a long conference with President James Ross last night the nature of which cannot be ascertained. The officials approached by your correspondent on the matter are reticent or deny knowledge of any such agreement.

The report, which apparently emanates from some one who is speaking with authority, is to the effect that the Dominion Steel Company people are endeavouring to secure control of the Nova Scotia Coal and Steel Company industries, which include extensive coal and iron ore areas, and also blast furnaces at Sydney Mines and Trenton, all of which are yielding handsome dividends. There is a report also current that the Steel and Coal Company at Sydney will be separated before very long. This report cannot be confirmed. Directors interviewed deny all knowledge of such a proposal. The directors of the Dominion Steel Company leave for Montreal to-day.

BUILDING TRADES IN PRETTY TANGLE.

New York Unions are Now Being Expelled for Accepting Arbitration Agreement.

Special to The Montreal Star.

New York, July 15. — The Board of Building Trades, with parks and control, having rejected the arbitration plan of the board of governors, of Building Trades Employers' Association, met to decide decide what was to be done to Unions represented in it which have signed agreements accepting plan. The Board finally expelled four Unions which have done this, and gave Plasterers Union, which has accepted agreement provided plasterers' labourers get $3.25 instead of $3 per day, until to-morrow to give up the agreement or get out. Other Unions which have decided to accept plan, but have not got their men at work under it, are to be dealt with later. If the Board goes on expelling Unions as fast as they accept plan, there soon won't be any unions left on the Board, which, as employers say, will greatly simplify the situation.

CANADIAN MIDGET DEAD.

Queen Mary Bell Reputed Smallest Woman in World.

New York, July 15.—Queen Mary Bell, reputed to have been the smallest woman in the world, is dead after having predicted her death to her mother two weeks ago. She was Miss Mary J. Piercey, of No. 95 West Eleventh street, Bayonne, N.J.

Queen Mary Bell was born at Harrington, Canada, on May 24, 1863. She was called Queen Mary Bell on account of having been born on Queen Victoria's birthday. The father of the midget, who died some years ago, was a large-sized man and weighed 170 pounds. Her mother is about 5 feet in height and quite heavy. The couple had five other daughters and two sons, all normal in size.

The cause of Queen Mary Bell's death was kidney and hip trouble, which came after she had recovered from two attacks of pneumonia.

RUSSIANS FOR MONTREAL.

Over Three Hundred Immigrants Land at Halifax.

Halifax, N. S., July 15.—The Hamburg-American line's chartered steamer Pisa, Capt. Tendt, from Hamburg and Boulogne July 4th, arrived yesterday and proceeded this evening for New York. She landed 368 adults and 128 children passengers here, and they went west in a special this morning. Her passengers consist of Russians for Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg and Michigan, and Austrians and Hungarians for Winnipeg and Edmonton.

RUSSIA DICTATORIAL.

She Will Prohibit Foreigners Entering Manchuria.

Special to The Montreal Star.

St. Petersburg, July 15.—According to the Novikrai, a newspaper published at Port Arthur, Russia has notified China of her intention to prohibit for the present the settlement of foreigners in Manchuria and to postpone the opening of ports because a number of English and American traders disguised as soldiers are engaged in espionage.

Strikers Used Water Cure.

Clinton, Mass., July 15. — Abody of striking stone masons, who had been employed on the Wachusett dam of the Metropolitan water system, armed with revolvers, marched toward other workmen, and with threats compelled 450 to stop work. One man who hesitated in obeying striking orders was thrown into the Nashua river, but was rescued by his associates. The police were inadequate to check the strikers.

Dynamite in Croatia.

Vienna, July 15. — Two dynamite outrages are reported from Agram, the capital of Croatia. There was much material damage, but no fatalities. In one case a bomb exploded in front of the house of Deputy Matunci. In the other case, there was destroyed the cellar of a building occupied by a bank, and the governmental paper, the Narodke Novine. The outrages are believed to have resulted from the Coatian political troubles.

Would Not Work.

Toronto, July 15. — Fifty old country ironmoulders and twenty core and pattern makers have reached Toronto to take positions in the Canada Foundry at Toronto Junction, where a strike is on. Upon learning the situation they did not go to work, but many of them attended a union meeting and related their experiences. They said they had been engaged on the understanding that there was no trouble, but that there was a great scarcity of moulders in Toronto. The men are unionists. Another batch of men arrived from Eastern Canada and were switched into the company's yards. They were not molested by the strikers.

REV. J. M. BARR ASKS MONEY FROM GOVERNMENT

He Says His $13,000 in Commissions on Tickets is All Gone.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Ottawa, July 15.—Rev. J. M. Barr, who brought the Barr colonists over from England, is in the city to interview the immigration department in reference to his claims to a bonus for bringing in settlers to the number of over 2,500. Mr. Barr talked freely about his colony, admitting frankly that he would not attempt another colony scheme but would rather see the immigrants come in among the Canadians and become Canadians. Speaking of the financial end of the transaction, Mr. Barr said:

"My commissions on the steamship tickets were all I got and they amounted to $13,000. I charged no direct fee to the colonists although I might have done so. Of the amount I received over $8,000 was spent in my London office in clerk hire, postage, printing, rent and other expenses and incidental and unforeseen expenses have more than used up the $5,000 left. I was not in this work out of feelings of pure philanthropy and think it would only be fair that I should have my services appreciated."

"It has been stated, Mr. Barr, by London papers that your name is not on the clergy list."

"The statement is quite true as respects the English clergy list. I am Canadian born and was ordained in the diocese of Huron in 1870. My first charge was in Woodstock, Ont., under the late Canon Beltridge. I was afterwards rector of Exeter and then went to the United States where I worked twenty years in the Anglican ministry. I then went to England and was curate at St. Saviour's church, Crouch Hill, North London, under special license from the Archbishop of Canterbury.

"While there was more or less overcrowding on the boat it was the fault of the Elder-Dempster company in not properly distributing the passengers and in confusing the hand baggage so that many passengers could not get a change of linen during the whole trip across. Then the crew was short and we had to engage some of the colonists as waiters and servants. But we might have been worse crowded as there were 500 people who wanted to come on the same boat. I am satisfied with the work, however, as over 1,800 of those who came over are to-day settled on the land and the other 400 or 500 are scattered around the country working for others as they intended to do."

TOUR OF THE WORLD TO ESCAPE SCANDAL.

Victoria, B.C., July 15.—Steamer Empress of India, which arrived yesterday from the Orient, had among her passengers the Crown Prince Arpprecht, Marie Luitpold, Ferdinand of Bavaria, and the Crown Princess, who have been making an enforced tour of the world on acount of a scandal attaching to the Crown Prince, which agitated Bavaria. They are travelling incognito as Count and Countess Vonhaardt and are bound direct to Bavaria. Rear Admiral Grenfell, of H.M.S. Albion, on the China Station, was also a passenger.

Quebec Notaries.

Quebec, July 15.—The Board of Notaries met yesterday morning in Quebec and proceeded to the election of its officers for the next three years. W. L. Lavergne, M.P., of Arthabaska, was elected president; Hon. N. Perodeau, M.L.C., of Montreal, and J. B. Delage, of Quebec, were re-elected secretaries; Mr. Morin, N.P., of Montreal, was re-elected treasurer of the Board; and Mr. H. O. Roy, of Quebec, was re-elected as trustee.

Powder Works Explodes.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., July 15.—Three men killed, two seriously hurt, and three buildings were destroyed, as the result of an explosion at the Laflin Powder Works, at Laflin. The force of the explosion shook every house in the town.

CRASH LOOKS TO BE INEVITABLE

Manchuria as the Bone Has Dogs of War in Leash.

CONFERENCE IN WASHINGTON

Russia's Plans Stirs Japanese to Call for Resolute Measures.

Washington, D. C., July 15.—Far-reaching in the effect on the Manchurian situation was the conference at the United States State Department to-day between Secretary Hay and Theodore Hansen, the Russian charge d'affaires, who called, it is understood, to bring important advices from St. Petersburg regarding the ports in Manchuria which Russia is willing China shall open to the United States. Immediately after Mr. Hansen's departure, Mr. Hay sent for Mr. Rockhill, chief of the Bureau of American Republics, and formerly American commissioner to China, and the two were in conference until luncheon time. It was indicated by a State Department official that the next few days might bring to light important developments regarding the Chinese-American treaty.

JAPS MEANS BUSINESS.

According to advices received by the Empress of India just arrived, the crisis in the Far East is close to a breaking point and even the most conservative journals fear that war will result, Russian-Chinese intrigues culminating in the draft of a secret treaty between China and Russia having fired the war party in Japan, and many newspapers urge an appeal to arms. In this connection they quote Pekin correspondence in connection with the Anglo-Japanese protests. Prince Ching was said to be at his ease as Russia was fully prepared to meet the combined movements of Britain and Japan. As a result Prince Ching refused to deal with the Anglo-Japanese protests. This resulted in excitement throughout Japan and a conference of the Cabinet, the older statesmen and the throne followed, at which, according to Japanese papers, the situation was discussed, and the newspapers aver a decision was reached to adopt resolute measures, and if necessary, attempt to oust Russia from Manchuria by force of arms.

The Pekin correspondent of the Mayichi says M. Lessar's reference to Russia being prepared is taken to mean that troops are now in the Yalu and that the force along the coast of the Yellow Sea is insufficient in strength. The Russian minister to Pekin also states that he has received advices from Admiral Alexieff that all defensive measures, in view of a possible Japanese invasion, have been completed along the coast of the Yellow Sea and Corean frontier. From many points telegrams are received telling of warlike preparations. From Mongolia news is given that the Russians are collecting large numbers of camels and horses, which are to be sent to Manchuria and Siberia via Harbin.

St. Petersburg, July 15.—The report that M. Lessard, the Russian minister to China, has advised the Russian civilians to leave New Chwang, Port Arthur and Corea by a certain date is semi-officially declared to be entirely unfounded.

CARNEGIE'S VIEWS.

Steel King Discusses Preferential Issue.

London, July 15.—Mr. Andrew Carnegie, in the course of a speech at Dingwall, Scotland, said he hoped the British people would consider the tariff question thoroughly, because Great Britain's future as an empire depended upon their decision. He was certain that a discriminating tariff as between the United States and Canada would not tend towards the unity of Great Britain and America, without which the English-speaking race could not become the dominant world power.

PETITION NOT FORWARDED.

Kisheneff Affair May Be Dropped by the President.

Oyster Bay, L. I., July 15. — An important conference was held at Sagamore Hill yesterday between the President and representative Jewish citizens of the Society of the B'Nai B'Rith regarding the petition to the Russian Government on the Kisheneff outrages. Besides the President the parties of the conference were Simon S. Wolf, of Washington; Oscar S. Strauss and Lo N. Levi, of New York. Inasmuch as the Russian Government has indicated by the adoption of severe measures a genuine disposition to punish adequately the perpetrators of the Kisheneff murders and in addition those who instigated them, it is suggested that the whole matter may be resolved into a brief statement through diplomatic channels to the Russian Foreign Office, that such a petition is in the hands of the United States, thus leaving it to Russia to say whether it would or would not receive the document, if it were presented.

DR. FABER CHARGED WITH ILLEGAL PRACTICE.

He is Immigration Inspector at Quebec for Steamship Line.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Quebec, July 15.—Dr. Faber, supervisor of immigration for the C. P. R. Atlantic line, has been proceeded against by the College of Physicians and Surgeons, charged with illegal practice of medicine.

Dr. Faber has been employed to care for those suffering from tracoma, etc., who have to be deported, during their stay here, instead of sending them to an hospital. The College of Physicians and Surgeons allege that he is not licensed to practice here, that he has no right to the title of doctor, and that he cannot receive remuneration for his services.

The doctor says that he is an American medical man in good standing, that he has not engaged in general practice and that he is acting as an expert on a salary. He is resisting the case and prominent legal counsel is employed on both sides.

ATTEMPT TO RESCUE HISTORIC STEAMER, THE OLD BEAVER.

Special to the Montreal Star.

Vancouver, B. C., July 15.—As a result of an exhibition by the Vancouver Tourist Association of one of the boats of the Pioneer Steamer Beaver, the wreck of which now lies beneath the waters just outside the narrows, an agitation is now on foot to petition the City Council or the Provincial Government to raise the venerable timbers, patch them up and place them on permanent exhibition in the Court House grounds, or some other suitable place. When the Beaver was stranded on the rocks before she fell to pieces, the City was urged time and time again to have the ship carried bodily to some safe place on the land, and an attempt was even made by a Victoria man to raise capital to have the boat shipped to Centennial exhibition. Portions of this steamer, the first to cross the Pacific, can still be seen above water at low tide. As to saving this priceless wreck from annhiliation from the ceaseless wash of waters, it may be a case of now or never.

BADLY WANTED MAN BELIEVED TO BE AT PRESENT IN CANADA.

Special to The Montreal Star.

New York, July 15.—That Dr. John D. Woods and wife, for whom the police of several cities are watching to arrest on charge of stealing property belonging to Col. Wm. J. Best, who died suddenly in their home in San Rafael, California, are now in Canada, is the belief of relatives of Col. Best. They base the belief on the fact that a letter written by the editor of a newspaper in Easton, Pa., by Mrs. Woods and was published yesterday was mailed in Buffalo Friday last. It was written on paper of a hotel at Niagara Falls. It's generally believed Woods will be charged with murdering Best.

STRIKE DECLARED OFF.

Iron Moulders Go Back to Work at Old Scale.

Providence, R. I., July 15.—The strike of the Iron Moulders in several foundries in this city, which was inaugurated in September last, has been officially declared off. The demands were both union recognition and a new wage scale. No concessions have been made by the master moulders and few of the strikers have been re-instated.

FROM PLANTATION TO CUP.

Tomorrow we shall publish in this paper the first of a series of ten articles under the heading "From Plantation to Cup." Though intended only as advertisements for Ubero Coffee, these articles were found to contain so much of interest and instruction that they have attracted a great deal of attention and much favorable comment from writers for the press and teachers of the young.

We have had the articles prepared and revised by authorities on the subjects treated.

Because of the nature of the facts stated regarding Mexico and her people, the Mexican consul in Boston was so well pleased with the series that he gave it his official recommendation.

The language used is simple. Mothers are advised to have their children read the whole series. We think that all, old as well as young, can read this series with profit.

The Black Ball.

(L. T. Meade and Robert Eustace in Cassell's Magazine.)

His friends considered Hugh Stanford one of the best fellows in existence. He was a perfect gentleman — handsome, had a pleasant manner — some, kind, and generous. He was gracious, sympathetic, and almost affectionate. In short, he was a universal favourite. Stanford might have done anything with his life and risen to almost any position, for he had talent of quite a remarkable order. He was well educated, too, and had in the beginning of his days small private means. But all the advantages that nature and education had given him were over-balanced by one master passion. He was a confirmed gambler. The curse in his case took the strange form of gambling at billiards.

"I hate your game of pure chance," he used to say. "If I may only play skill against skill, I will stake anything on earth on the result."

There was no question with regard to Stanford's skill—it was clearly a natural talent. To watch the balls obeying his cue as though he mesmerized them was simply wonderful. In short, he was a first-class billiard player. His favourite game was pool, and it was at this he lost most heavily. With such a propensity, money slipped rapidly through his fingers and, notwithstanding his talents, he was very often in low water. Stanford's special work was that of a mechanical and electrical engineer. He had original theories with regard to his profession which were the wonder of his friends. There was one in particular which referred to the transmission of ether waves as applied to wireless telegraphy, and another with regard to aerial navigation; and if these two ideas were carried into effect, they would certainly cause a sensation. All things considered, it was a special tragedy to see this young and brilliant man throwing his life and substance away with the vice of gambling.

There arrived a certain day when Stanford, aged twenty-five, stared ruin in the face. He was heavily in debt, and he had all but come to the end of his resources. His mind was bubbling over with ideas, but he had no means to work them out. He sat in his rooms in Newman Street and thought. To whom should he go? He hated to apply to any one; but there was one special friend. He thought and thought about him. He was not like others; he was not rich himself, but he was prudent. He was rising in his profession; he was, in every acceptation of the word, a sane man, kind as well as sensible. Stanford made up his mind to go to him, to tell him boldly everything, ask his advice, and even, if necessary, beg for his assistance. The name of his friend was Anthony Lister. He had a small house at Wimbledon. Stanford took the next train there. He found Lister at home; who greeted him heartily.

"I am glad to see you, old man. And how goes the world with you? I must say you don't look too fit."

"I am about ruined," replied Hugh. "I have come here to make a big confession. If I am left to myself I shall gamble away my last penny."

He stretched out his hands with a significant gesture, then he sank into a chair; his face was white as death.

"You must be mad, Hugh," said Lister with some indignation. "A man with your resources and your prospects! When last I saw you, you were in a good position in the firm of Russell and Ryder."

"I know I am mad," answered Hugh, "but the knowledge does not help me."

"The old thing?" said Lister. "Billiards?"

Stanford nodded.

"That's the odd thing about you. Cards one can understand, but for a man to wreck his whole life over a game of skill seems incredible. Surely the pleasure of such a game is enough in itself; it is unnecessary that you should play for high stakes."

"You cannot understand my feeling, Anthony," replied Hugh. "I am not an ordinary player, and I know it well. All my misfortunes have been owing to bad luck and to giving too long odds. Well, old man, the thing is over now for ever. I want to get away somewhere, for I have a big scheme in the back of my head. I scarcely like to ask you to lend me a little money, but if you would, Lister, I believe that I am on the brink of a good thing, if only I had time and quiet to think out my theories. But I haven't a chance to drudge in an office all day doing other men's dirty work. I suppose I have got brains," he added. "I can't understand this curse that is over my life. It spoils everything. What does it mean."

Lister looked thoughtfully at his friend.

"I tell you what it is," he said. "I will help you just this once. I have liked you since we were school-fellows together. You needn't feel under any obligation in accepting the offer I shall make you. You are a clever chap, and, I do believe, a bit of a genius. I am going to leave this house soon in order to take a bigger place, and—yes, of course, I see you guess it. I am engaged to Dolly Masson. Well, you can congratulate me by-and-by. Now you must do this: You must come and stay with me while I remain here. If it makes you happy you can pay a trifle for your board by-and-by after you have earned it, or you are heartily welcome to it for nothing. I will rig you up a place downstairs to develop your hanks in. I am in myself with most of the big engineering firms; so if you run across anything commercially good, I will stand in for my share. Consider it a pure business speculation if you like, and I only attach one condition to it. You must promise not to go to London, and not to do any more gambling as long as you are here. Do you accept?"

Lister made this offer with genuine feeling. He would give a great deal to save the man whom he had known as a boy, who sat there before him with his handsome face clouded with cares and perplexity, his form huddled up, his whole attitude that of despair.

"Cheer up, old man," he said. "You have come to the right quarters. Do you accept?"

"You are the best chap on earth," was Stanford's reply. "I came to you feeling sure that it was my last chance. You are a brick. Of course I accept."

As he spoke he laid his hand on Lister's shoulder.

"And what about the promise, old man?" said Lister.

"You can trust me, Tony," was the answer.

After that the two men sat chatting over the old days, and finally it was arranged that Stanford should come to Wimbledon the next day, and that he should take his name off the books of his clubs in London. It was quite apparent that he meant to have a good try to overcome his failing. He would settle down and do careful research work.

The weeks that followed passed quietly. Lister introduced Stanford to several of his friends, and in especial to Dolly Masson, the girl to whom he was engaged—a very pretty, merry-looking little person, with a sincere expression of face, and wide, open, bright, brown eyes. She was devoted to Lister, and took all his friends on trust.

"Why, Tony," she said, "I am half in love myself with that big son of Britain. He has told me all about you—how good you are to him. Is he a very old friend?"

"As old as our boyhood, Dolly."

"He said there were no words to express what you were doing for him. Now I want to know the reason?"

"May not pure friendship suffice, little woman?"

"There is more than friendship here," answered Dolly. "You are doing a big thing, Tony, and you know it."

He smiled at her; then his face grew grave.

"I will tell you all about it, Dolly, for I am certain you will keep it to yourself."

"That I will," she answered.

"Very well. This is the story: In most respects Hugh is the best fellow in the world, and yet there is a dark side to his character. He gambles—he cannot keep his money. He gambles, especially at billiards. Even as a boy he had a leaning in that direction. I have known him all his life. I knew his mother. When she died she asked me if ever I could to hold out a kindly hand to him. I am trying to do it now, and you will help me, little girl—for, Dolly, the poor chap is worth saving. He has the kindest heart on earth, and he is a genius to boot. If we save him there is no saying what great things he may not accomplish."

Dolly's eyes filled with tears.

"Of course, we will save him," she said. "I am glad you have told me everything. He must be pretty safe with you, for you are so honourable and upright."

"You look rather sad yourself, little girl, just now."

"I don't suppose I ought to be," she said with a smile; "but the fact is I am getting fastidious. Mother has arranged to receive a boarder whom I do not like."

Now Mrs. Masson had for some time eked out her slender means by taking boarders, and this point was a sore one with Lister. He drew Dolly now to his side.

"Man or woman?" he asked.

"Man, of course—a Frenchman, who calls himself Count Dampier. I dislike him. I don't know why; and I wish he was not coming."

"I will stroll up some evening and look at him myself, Dolly; but now I must be off. I am frightfully busy just now."

Lister hurried away, and for the next few days so absorbed was he in his own most important business that he had no time to inspect Mrs. Masson's new boarder.

Meanwhile, Hugh Stanford was busy. He worked all day in the laboratory fitted up for him in Lister's house, and in the evenings he and Lister often resorted to a small local club at Wimbledon, of which they were now both members. The club possessed two excellent billiard tables, one an especially good one in a separate room which was reserved for matches; and here Lister, when he had a moment to spare, could not help admiring his friend as he watched him with the balls.

There came a certain evening when the two men strolled round to the club together. Lister intended to watch Hugh during a couple of games of billiards, and then to go to see Dolly. Hugh had just finished playing when a man, who had been watching him with the greatest interest, suddenly came forward.

Lister did not remember having seen him before at the club, and supposed that he was a new member. A casual glance showed that he was not an Englishman. He wore evening dress, and a solitary diamond shone in his shirt-front with great brilliancy. His face was unnaturally pale. He had a heavy, black moustache and dark eyes, in one of which he wore an eye-glass. Hugh had just finished a wonderful break when the stranger said:

"Excuse me, sir, I have been watching your play. I have never seen a finer pool-player in my life. I do not think I can be mistaken—your name must be Hugh Stanford?"

"It is," replied Hugh.

"I thought so. I heard your name in town and often wished to see you play, but you have not been at the Victoria lately."

"No; I am not a member now."

"They must miss you. May I introduce myself as Count Dampier? I am boarding with a lady of the name of Masson close to here, and have just joined this little club. It is convenient to stroll in here in the evenings."

"I know Mrs. Masson quite well," said Stanford, his eyes brightening. He looked towards Lister. "May I introduce my friend Mr. Lister?"

Lister bowed somewhat stiffly. He wanted to read the man through. He remembered Dolly's aversion to him.

"I have heard of your famous skill in scoring off the black ball, Mr. Stanford," continued the Count, giving Lister but scant attention. "What is the biggest break you have ever made off it?"

"Forty-one," said Hugh.

"What!" cried Dampier. "Nonsense."

"It is perfectly true—it was my record at the Victoria. I could be almost sure to make above twenty every time, and certainly sixteen."

Count Dampier looked keenly at him.

"You talk big, Mr. Stanford, but I suppose a player of your skill has a right to do so. Now I am an old pool-player and a sportsman. Here is a table. I will bet you a hundred to ten that you fail, and I give you two tries at it."

"I won't bet with you," answered Hugh, colouring, "but I will do the break to show you that had you betted you would have lost your money."

He rose quietly, arranged the balls, and began to play. For the first few strokes his play was faultless, but before scoring the number he broke down. The black ball went straight for the pocket, but it lacked force, and stopped three inches away. Lister, who was standing near, felt surprised, for he had seen his friend do the break many times before. Count Dampier laughed.

"You would have lost, you see, Mr. Stanford."

"If I had accepted your bet I should have won, sir," was his answer. As he spoke a curious change passed over his face. The devil of his life came into it.

"I will repeat my offer," said the Count.

Lister came a step nearer. He was watching the wild battle which he saw raging on Hugh's face, but the next instant his friend put his cue in the rack. The men chatted for a few moments on indifferent subjects, and by-and-by Hugh and Lister went home together.

"A nice chap, and a sportsman," said Hugh. "Curious thing, was it not, my losing that time? But I spoke the truth, all the same; if I had accepted his bet, I should have won."

"And broken your promise," said Lister. Hugh laughed.

"My dear Anthony, you don't suppose I should have done it; that would, indeed, have given your kindness a sorry return."

Lister longed to say something more, but there was something about Stanford that restrained him, and as soon as they arrived home he found important letters which absorbed his attention, and obliged him to hurry off to town at an early hour next morning. When he came back in the evening he found Count Dampier seated with Hugh in his laboratory.

"How do you do, Mr. Lister?" said the Count. "I came round to pay you both a visit, and found only Mr. Stanford in. I did not know until last night that you were a friend of Mrs. Masson's. I think myself in great luck to have secured rooms in her house, but I don't remain long in this country. I am going back to Paris in a week or so."

MR. BLAIR'S RESIGNATION NEARLY A WEEK OLD.

Handed in on Thursday Last to the Premier.

Effort to Induce Him to Withdraw is Unavailing Under the Existing Railway Policy of the Government.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Ottawa, July 15.—It is learned that Hon. Andrew G. Blair's resignation was in the hands of the Premier so far back as Thursday of last week. At that time several of the New Brunswick contingent were aware of what was in the wind, but for a great number of reasons the matter was kept remarkably quiet, so much so that the announcement on Monday night came as a great surprise to most of the members on both sides of the House.

Mr. Blair has not adopted a swash-buckling attitude; he has not made a "row" or created a "scene." His views were ignored in respect of the Moncton-Quebec part of the Grand Trunk Pacific project, his plans for the development of the Intercolonial were all knocked endways, his ideas of railway economics—liberal and all as they always have been, for political purposes—were outraged. He considered the project against the best interests of his province; it would not contribute anything, he believed, to the general good of Canada, even after a sacrifice of provincial welfare should have been made. The scheme was, is and would be indefensible.

And so Mr. Blair resigned.

ONE ASPECT OF IT.

Take one aspect of the proposed agreement for instance. Those who know say that in the documents drawn up for signature by the Government and by the Grand Trunk Pacific people, respectively, there is a clause setting forth that the Government and the Grand Trunk Pacific shall have exactly the same rights either to St. John or Halifax on the Intercolonial. This applies to the whole machinery of the institution and practically hands the Government road over to the company. Mr. Blair has had an opportunity of granting such terms to the C.P.R., but he refused. In fact he curtailed that road's running rights and other privileges. Why, then, he has asked his colleagues, grant them to another railway company? But apart from the logic of the question involved in this aspect of the case, Mr. Blair takes the ground that the whole project of a Winnipeg-Moncton line is unjustifiable, and when the correspondence comes up in the House on Thursday his attitude will be clearly defined along this line in a series of letters exchanged with the Premier.

Of course the pretence set up in some papers—not in Government organs, for they are better advised—that Sir Wilfrid is not sorry to see Mr. Blair go, is nonsense. Emissaries of the Premier had been after Mr. Blair from Sunday night until twenty-four hours later, trying to induce him to return to the cabinet, promising a compromise, if the striking minister would get into line. Sir Wilfrid himself made a personal appeal; it is even said that the question of Government construction of the Winnipeg-Moncton line would be re-considered.

KNEW HIS CASE; STUCK TO IT.

Mr. Blair would not accept anything short of the abandonment of the Quebec-Moncton branch, and this was the rock on which the split occurred.

Hon. Mr. Fielding occupies a very peculiar position in the crisis. He favours the Quebec-Moncton line, because he knows if the Grand Trunk Pacific reached Moncton that it would necessarily send its trains on to Halifax, with such freight as would come from the West. This is good business for Mr. Fielding, who has aspirations to run for a Halifax city constituency. There is reason to believe that the Nova Scotian, having premiership aspirations, thought the contemplated project would be a very efficacious way to lessen the influence of the big New Brunswick man in the latter's own province. Mr. Fielding never gave Mr. Blair the credit for having courage to resign his seat in the Cabinet. Not only has Mr. Blair done this, but, if present indications go for anything, he will seek vindication for his course in Nova Scotia as well as in New Brunswick; and a formidable case he would be able to make of it. It is doubtful if Mr. Fielding's plea of more trade along the Nova Scotia end of the Intercolonial and increased traffic at Halifax as an ocean port would count for as much as an opposing statement of all the millions which this increase would cost the electors.

Such, however, it is said, is the line on which Mr. Blair will fight from the moment he makes his statement in the House on Thursday. He thinks he has a good cause—one of the best in his career—and he will seek justification at the hands of the electors on the ground indicated.

HAS LIBERAL SYMPATHY.

It would seem that already a majority of the Liberal members of the House are covertly sympathising with Mr. Blair. One may meet a dozen of them willing to go to the extreme of calling the proposal a d——n fool scheme. Many more use milder language or give a grave headshake when the subject is mentioned. One could understand the Opposition members opposing the project; but to hear Liberal denunciation of a Government proposal is certainly remarkable, and it goes to show that unless the details of the Grand Trunk Pacific scheme clear up much that is now dark, there will be few hearty supporters of the measure in the House, no matter what course they will pursue in response to the appeals of the party whips.

SPECULATION RE BLAIR'S FUTURE

There is good reason to believe that Mr. Blair has no intention of going into Opposition against the Government on any other point than the present railway policy. Few believe, however, that he will be satisfied to confine his aggressiveness against several of the members of the Cabinet to one subject alone.

It is not considered possible now for the Government to "reach" Mr. Blair. There are a number of offices vacant for which he is eminently fitted; more could be opened up very easily, if necessary. There is a disposition on the part of the Government to provide for the ex-Minister. Nothing, however, is further from Mr. Blair's plans, than the acceptance of an office, his friends say. He wants vindication. He is able to fight for it, and no one doubts his willingness. He has resources, friends, methods and money. If New Brunswick fails to respond to these arguments then Mr. Blair's hand has lost its cunning.

MR. SUTHERLAND IN EVIDENCE.

If straws show which way the wind blows, then the fact that Hon. James Sutherland took the place of the Minister of Railways at this morning's meeting of the Railway Committee, would indicate that he is the coming successor to Mr. Blair. The rumour was renewed this morning that Mr. Blair had been induced to withdraw his resignation, the conference with Mr. Sutherland held last evening being quoted as proof. Enquiry elicits the fact that so far from last evening's conference being in anyway connected with Mr. Blair's return to the Cabinet, it was a certain sign of the irrevocable nature of the step he has taken.

Mr. Blair's supplementary estimates have yet to be put through and there is some railway legislation which he had to explain. Mr. Sutherland was in charge of both in the House and it was for the purpose of explaining these matters that the conference was held.

The Montreal Witness on Mr. Blair.

If Mr. Blair has resigned the portfolio of Minister of Railways and Canals, as the Globe avers, because he would not consent to see the Intercolonial paralleled from Moncton to Quebec and its usefulness taken away, we believe that the country as a whole will applaud him for so doing, all the more seeing that the only province to benefit in any way by that foolish precedure would be his own. . . . . . The statement of the Globe that Mr. Blair has resigned because his colleagues insist on paralleling this national line with a competitive one which would practically wipe it out give a seriousness to a preposterous proposition we have determinedly refused to believe to be serious. The demand for this section of line did not come from the Grand Trunk Pacific Company. Whence it did come, if not from New Brunswick, we are left to imagine. Strange then that Mr. Blair, the personification of New Brunswick interests, should be found sacrificing his position in opposing it. Yet a self-respecting man who had made the interests of the Intercolonial so much his own could hardly do less.

The paper draws attention to the various breaks in the Laurier Cabinet since its formation in 1896 and concludes: "Mr. Blair goes of his own accord because he will not consent to ruin the national railway's present and future. In no sense was the departure of the other ministers damaging to the cabinet, but if Mr. Blair is leaving for the reasons alleged it will constitute a distinct rebuke to the Government."

C. P. R. CAR MEN LOOK FOR AMICABLE UNDERSTANDING.

There were no new developments to-day in the difficulty which has arisen between the Canadian Pacific Railway car men and the company.

"The negotiations," said Mr. W. J. Adames, of Winnipeg, who is directing the men, "have proceeded no further than they were a week ago. They are now practically at a standstill.

"But from that statement I do not wish you to infer that we have no hope of reaching a satisfactory solution. We had a conference with Mr. Williams, the superintendent of machinery and rolling stock, yesterday afternoon.

"So far we have not come into contact with Mr. McNicoll, the general manager. The answer he made to our note of Saturday suggested that we should accept the basis of agreement reached with the men of the Ontario division. But the men on the three divisions interested—the Lake Superior, Eastern and Atlantic divisions—are anxious that the terms should be made to cover some conditions peculiar to their surroundings. That difference of opinion is all that now stands in the way of an amicable understanding, and I have no doubt that it will be speedily overcome."

MR. F. H. M'GUIGAN RETURNS FROM TRIP.

The manager of the Grand Trunk Railway, Mr. F. H. McGuigan, returned to the city last evening on his private car the "St. Lawrence," after a visit to points on the line in Western Ontario, whither he was accompanied by his private secretary, Mr. G. R. MacLeod.

Mr. McGuigan, aside from the demands of business, took occasion on the present trip to visit Grenville, Pa., where his mother had been ill, and whom he now reports as much improved.

Norwegian Reaches Quebec.

Quebec, Que., July 15. — The Allan steamer Norwegian, which recently went ashore at Cape Ray, Newfoundland, arrived in port last evening and is moored at the company's wharf, where she began to discharge cargo from the after hold this morning. The damage done to the Norwegion is not so serious as was anticipated. Four plates at the Kelsar under the No. 4 hold were undented and although the vessel is only single bottom, the holes are not large and were stuffed with okum that kept out the water. However, the cargo in Nos. 1, 2, 3 and 4 holds is to some extent damaged. Captain Whitney in command of the ship says that the vessel only requires three or four new plates and the repairs ought to be made within three days.

Manchester Importer Due.

St. John, N. B., July 15.—The steamer Manchester Importer due to-morrow, will take cargo of lumber pulp and cattle from this port. It had been intended to go to Montreal for the cattle, but the agents here prevailed on the shippers to send the cattle to this port. The Donaldson liner Almora, now here, will take 750 cattle to Liverpool.

CHAMBERLAIN HAS ABUNDANT FUNDS

Anti-Chamberlain Ministerialists Will Be Opposed in Ridings.

NEW CABINET FIGURED ON

Anti-Chamberlainites in Present Ministry Will Quite Probably Resign.

(Special by Cable from the Special Correspondent of the Montreal Star in London.)

London, July 15.—Mr. Joseph Chamberlain's programme is being gradually unfolded. Enormous funds are being obtained from British sympathizers which will enable Mr. Chamberlain's candidates to be run in all constituencies where the Ministerialist is anti-Chamberlainite. Two hundred Ministerialists therefore who have up to now been hesitating are faced with the dilemma of having either to accept Mr. Chamberlain's proposals or be opposed by Chamberlainite candidates, who have a good chance of slipping in between them and the Opposition candidates.

The Birmingham tariff committee is issuing pamphlets under what the Times calls high official approval. These suggest a tax of two shillings per quarter on foreign wheat. This is for the purpose of encouraging increased production at home and in the Colonies.

Many political forecasts are current, anticipating a break up of the Ministry when an attempt is made at a settlement with Mr. Chamberlain prior to the opening of Chamberlain's campaign on October 6th.

The resignation is regarded as probable of three or four Ministers, say, Rt. Hon. Mr. Ritchie, the Duke of Devonshire, Lord Balfour of Burleigh, Sir Edward Hamilton, or Lord Londonderry and two or three minor Ministers, for example the Hon. Arthur Elliot, Lord Minto's brother; or Lord Stanley, the Earl of Derby's son; all of whom are opposed to Mr. Chamberlain, in which case Mr. Balfour will not attempt to carry on the Government.

A free trade coalition government, under the Duke of Devonshire, is just possible, but a Spencer government or a Rosebery government, or a combination of the two is more probable, in which case an early dissolution is inevitable.

BRITISH PREFERENCE DID THE TRICK.

Decided Point Scored by Mr. Chamlain and the Policy.

(Special by Cable from the Special Correspondent of the Montreal Star in London.)

London, July 15. — The most decided point scored, both for Mr. Joseph Chamberlain's policy and for the Canadian preference, is by the now officially admitted fact that the new Canadian Pacific Railway locomotives contracted for by the Glasgow firm would not have been secured for British Industry, but for the preference, which amounted in this case of fully $2,500 upon each locomotive.

PARDON FOR MILLER.

Petition Filed on Behalf of Witness Against Col. Ammon.

New York, July 15.—District Attorney Jerome to-day forwarded to Governor Odell, who is in the West, a petition asking for the pardon of William F. Miller, of Franklin Syndicate notoriety, who recently appeared as the chief witness in the trial of Colonel Robert A. Ammon, his counsel. The chief reasons set forth are that Miller became a state witness, and is ill of consumption. Miller is still in the Tombs prison, in this city.

Water Lot Law Suit.

Toronto, July 15.— Judge Osler this morning gave judgment in the action of F. H. Clergue versus D. H. Preston and W. B. Heath, of Sault Ste. Marie, for specific performance of an agreement to sell water lots to Mr. Clergue, which Preston afterwards sold Mr. Heath. The action is dismissed as against Heath, but $500 damages are awarded against Preston.

Railway Offices Were Draped.

Out of respect to the memory of the late T. A. Mackinnon, general manager of the Boston & Maine Railroad, the local office of that company, at 138 St. James street, was appropriately draped in black to-day. In the window was also a large portrait of the deceased, covered with crape.

Holding a Demonstration.

The Grand Trunk Boating Club is to hold a demonstration to-night on the island opposite the club house, to celebrate the club's recent victory over its opponents at Brockville. The Mayor and a number of aldermen have been asked to attend.

CIVIC DELEGATION RETURNED TO-DAY

Blair Bill Will Get Stout Resistance in Ottawa.

RECEPTION BY THE PREMIER

Objectionable Measure Would Have Ultimately Been Killed in the Senate.

The members of the civic delegation which went to Ottawa yesterday to fight Hon. Mr. Blair's Railway Bill returned to the city to-day.

They were pleased with the reception given them by the Premier and other members of Parliament, and they felt sure that no clause would be allowed to stand in the bill which would take away the rights of Montreal, and other cities, as to the granting of franchises to railways.

Speaking of the visit, one of the delegates said: "When we arrived in Ottawa we were met by delegates from other cities who had come to fight the proposal that the Railway Committee, alone, should have the right of dealing with railways.

"A species of general meeting was held in the Russell House and a plan of campaign agreed upon. It was decided to prove to the Premier and his colleagues that the important question of municipal rights could not be ignored by the Government. When the delegates withdrew they felt certain the bill would be remodelled.

"Several delegates took the occasion to interview the senators, and it became apparent that even had the bill passed the House it would have been killed in the Senate."

LATEST BULLETIN ON POPE'S CONDITION.

Rome, July 15, 7.25 p.m.—The following bulletin has just been issued:

"During the day no special phenomena were noticed in the general condition of the august patient. The depression in his strength was not augmented. Respiration, pulse and temperature about stationary. Respiration 30, temperature 36.4 centigrade, pulse 84.

CANADIAN CARDINAL NOT AT ALL UNLIKELY.

Coming Pope is Expected to Also Give Larger Representation to England and Germany.

(Specal by Cable from the Special Correspondent of the Montreal Star in London.)

London, July 15.— Regarding the Canadian statements that a Canadian Cardinal would shortly be appointed, a high Roman Catholic authority tells me that a Canadian Cardinal is quite probable, but only as part of the general policy of the recognition of greater friendliness towards the Papacy throughout the whole British Empire, United States and Germany. Unless the new Pope is chosen from the very heart of Roman diplomacy, which is very unlikely, Pope Leo's successor is expected to open the Pontificate by a considerable increase in the proportion of Cardinals from these three nations, which are now represented by only a tiny fraction of the College.

LOSS OF MONTEREY FOOTS UP $1,500,000

(See also page one.)

Later despatches received at the offices of the company state that holds 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5 of the Monterey are leaking, and the salt water has got into the tanks of fresh water that is used for the cattle.

An attempt was made at high water today to float the steamer under her own steam, but the attempt was not successful.

Fortunately the weather is quite calm, and the efforts to float the Monterey are being carried on, therefore, under favourable conditions.

In the event of a storm springing up the outlook will be grave, as, owing to the position of the vessel, she would be speedily broken up. The hull of the Monterey is valued at $700,000, and her cargo of live stock alone is valued at $97,000.

There was one passenger on board, Mr. Percy J. Chalmers, of Vancouver.

THE NEWS ON 'CHANGE.

The news of the accident to the Monterey passed around the Board of Trade like an electric shock. Little else was spoken of all morning. Every one felt that it was a great calamity.

Insurance men and others who are in a position to estimate what the loss will amount to spoke of it as being over a million dollar matter. The vessel itself was a very valuable one, and the cargo was very large and costly, so that it is just possible that $1,000,000 may not be very far from the mark.

Both the hull and cargo are fully covered by insurance.

OFFICIALS OF THE IRON MOULDERS LEFT FOR TORONTO TO-DAY.

The officials of the Iron Moulders were notified to-day that serious trouble is expected in Toronto, which may possibly lead to a riot.

The message states that the Old Country iron moulders, patternmakers and coremakers, when they reached Toronto yesterday refused to go work in the Canada Foundry, at Toronto Junction, where a strike is on.

They told the authorities that they had been engaged on the understanding that there was no trouble, but that there was a scarcity of skilled mechanics in the Dominion of Canada.

The men are all unionists. They marched in a body to the headquarters of the strikers, where they were given a great reception. They deposited their working cards with the secretary of the union and were placed on the membership roll.

An action for $50,000 is to be taken. Some of the officials of the Montreal Union left for the scene of the trouble to-day, where a conference will be held and a line of action mapped out.

HOPE FOR FREQUENT MATCHES IN FUTURE

Americans Would Like to Meet Canadian Shots More Often.

TO-DAY'S BISLEY SHOOTING

It Was Rather Poor, Not a Single Score of Any Value Being Made.

(Special to the Montreal Star and the Toronto Telegram.)

Bisley Camp, July 15.—Captain Bruce, of the American Rifle Team, to-day asked the support of the Montreal Star in favour of his suggestion that more frequent matches be arranged in future between Canadian and American riflemen.

The members of the Canadian team did very little shooting of any consequence today. Not a single score of any value had been made at half-past four o'clock this afternoon.

Several members of the team attended the memorial service to the late Mr. Justice Armour, of the Supreme Court, in the Temple Church to-day.

MACKINNON MATCH WILL COMMENCE TO-MORROW.

The Mackinnon competition takes place to-morrow. This is a contest for the possession of the Mackinnon Challenge Cup, a trophy which was first put up for competition in 1891 by the late Colonel Mackinnon. It is now competed for annually between teams of twelve, as follows: One team of volunteers or yeomen from England; similar teams from Scotland, Ireland and Wales; one team from the militia or volunteers from Canada, Australia, or from any other British colony or dependency; one team from members home on leave of the Indian Staff Corps, or of the Covenanted or Uncovenanted Indian Service, or Indian volunteers, or composed of all four.

The match consists of three stages, being fired at 800, 900 and 1,000 yards. Each man is allowed ten shots at each range. Each team is allotted three targets, and a time limit of eighty minutes governs the shooting at each range.

Teams representative of England, Canada, Scotland and Australia will enter to-morrow's competition.

The personnel of the Canadian team will be as follows: A. Elliot, 12th Regt.; T. H. Hayhurst, 13th; J. M. Jones, 82nd; W. C. King, 46th; E. C. O'Brien, 30th; J. T. Peddie, 5th; J. H. Simpson, 10th; R. J. Spearing, 53rd; J. D. Stuart, 6th D. C. O. R.; E. Skeddon, 13th; G. H. Vroom, 69th; J. White, 13th.

14 YEAR-OLD BOY MISSING FROM HOME.

JOHN MILLEN, aged 14, with light complexion, blue eyes, somewhat of a stammerer, who left home on Monday between 1 and 2 o'clock, has disappeared and has not been seen since. Information as to his whereabouts would be thankfully received by his mother at 36 Victoria Square. Young Millen, his mother says, had but recently finished his school term and had gone to work. He had been paid 75 cents, the first money he had ever earned. He has not been seen since.

A Big Folder Case.

The largest and most complete folder case in use in any office in America is what the C. P. R. claims for one which the company has just installed in the passenger department at the head offices in this city. The upper portion of the case will have a place for the folder of every railroad company on the continent, while the lower cupboards will be devoted to spare stock and to C. P. R. folders.

THE GREAT BREAK IN WALL STREET

Prices of Leading Securities Again at a New Low Level.

RUMOURS OF DIFFICULTIES

Heavy Shrinkage in Values Brings Out Rumours of Troubles Among Financiers.

(From the Special Correspondent of the Montreal Star in Wall Street.)

New York, July 15.—The stock market was exceedingly feverish and excited throughout the forenoon. A large number of important stocks sold at the lowest prices yet made on the present decline, including such securities as St. Paul, New York Central and others of the same grade. The most severe declines were in the higher priced securities. General Electric broke 5 points and 'Frisco receipts for Chicago and Eastern Illinois broke 16 points.

The dealings were in tremendous volume and were again largest in the railway list. Notwithstanding the apparent demoralization it was common report that stocks could still be sold without bringing about undue concessions in prices except in comparatively inactive issues.

Money on call was easy about 3 1-2 per cent.

London houses traded quite actively on both side of this market.

The marked depression did not last long, however, and a rally carried prices considerably higher in the first half hour. The strength shown, however, was not pronounced, and at the end of the first hour the market was about steady, giving no particular assurance against further breaks. Sentiment was mixed and while there was hope of a better feeling, few were willing to pin their faith to it.

There was evidence of some support after the opening, and although St. Paul sold below 140 it showed strength generally. In a rall; it gained a full point, but again lost it and broke below 140. Steel preferred acted well during the early trading and even at the opening although showing a fractional decline.

New York Central was weak in early trading, selling as low as 113 3-8. It rallied to 114 1-2, but was not very strong and sold down again.

Atchison preferred broke sharply at the opening, selling off from 89 to 87 1-2. The common sold down to 62 3-4, then rallied slightly. Consolidated Gas was again weak, selling down 1 1-2 on the first sales.

Early in the second hour weakness was again evident. Some of the low prices up to the last half hour of the forenoon were: Atchison, 62 3-4; Baltimore & Ohio, 81 1-4; Brooklyn Rapid Transit, 51 1-4; St. Paul, 139 5-8; Amalgamated Copper, 48 1-4; Metropolitan, 118; Missouri Pacific, 98 1-4; New York Central, 112 5-8; Pennsylvania, 118 1-2; Wabash preferred, 28 1-4; Steel, 27 1-8; Steel preferred, 77; Erie, 30.

During the first hour there were 318,300 shares dealt in. Canadian Pacific was active. It declined from 119 7-8 last night to 118 1-2, and rose to 119; its sales to 1 o'clock were 25,000 shares. There was an entire absence of news over night which would explain the demoralization.

As was to be expected, the continued decline of prices served to create the gravest apprehensions with regard to the ability of the "Street" to withstand without disaster such an extensive shrinkage in values, and many rumours were in circulation of impending difficulties.

MR. BICKERDIKE'S BILL WITHDRAWN

Special to The Montreal Star.

Ottawa, Ont., July 15.—At the meeting of the Railway and Canals Committee of the Commons this morning, the bill respecting the Montreal Bridge and Terminal Company was withdrawn on the suggestion of Mr. Bickerdike, in whose name it stood. The bill has to do with the renewal of a charter.

Consideration of bill to incorporate the Canadian Telephone and Telegraph Company was continued. The chairman submitted the resolution passed by the City Council of Toronto confirming the statement, that the telephone service given by the Bell Company in that city was inefficient.

Mr. Ritchie, solicitor for the Bell Company, said he did not wish to let the resolution go unchallenged. If the service in Toronto to-day was not all it should be it was largely the fault of that city in delaying the company in securing an increase in their capitalization.

A clause was suggested by Mr. Fraser, providing against amalgamation with the Bell Company or absorption by that company. Mr. Brock stamped the Toronto Council resolution as untrue on the face of it.

Mr. Fowler was against the prevailing idea that the Bell Company was the only one permitted to embark in the telephone business.

Mr. Sutherland, Minister of Public Works, recommended the adoption of a clause preventing amalgamation in any shape or form with the Bell Company.

Mr. Belcourt insisted on the insertion of his clause preventing the amalgamation of the company with any other company.

Mr. Sutherland did not think this advisable, because there were small lines in different sections that the company might wish to take over.

An amendment by Mr. Clarke was unanimously adopted providing that the company or any interested municipality may apply and be heard by the Governor-in-Council on a revision of telephone rates.

An announcement was made by Mr. Clarke to the effect that he intended submitting a resolution before the House favouring the enactment of legislation compelling the Bell Company to exchange business with other telephone companies.

HACKMEN'S INJUNCTION COMES UP FRIDAY.

The arguments on the merits of the motion for an injunction in the case of Samuel Thompson vs the National Observation Car and Coach Company and the Montreal Street Railway Company will take place on Friday next.

It was called before Mr. Justice Curran to-day, but Mr. Meredith, who is appearing for the companies, asked for the delay in order to allow him time to look into the matter.

Wife Searching for Husband.

A pathetic little letter was received at the City Hall to-day from a Mrs. Frank Louis Perkins, living on Desjardins street. The writer is in search of a heartless husband.

"He left me twelve years ago," wrote the wife, "and for the past five years the little boys and I have been very poor."

Continuing in a more hopeful and proud strain, the letter says: "But Mr. Perkins was very nice looking. He was quite tall, too, five feet and a half. I do wish he would come back to me. He speaks both English and French."

In conclusion, the letter begs the civic officials to send her any news they can get of the handsome, but wayward husband.

AFTERNOON STOCK MARKET.

The trading in the stock market in the afternoon opened with a lower range of prices, more particularly in stocks affected by the continued declines in Wall Street. The trading was light, and declines were fractional in the majority of cases. Canadian Pacific opened at 118¾, compared with 119 at the close of the morning board, and Twin City sold at 95. Nova Scotia Steel went down to 90, and Montreal Power to 76¼, but the latter recovered to 78, and Dominion Coal, which opened at 96¼, recovered to 97. There was a sharp recovery in the late trading in Wall Street, which resulted in a firmer tone in the local dealings.

BALFOUR REFUSES TO DEBATE ON FISCAL CHANGES.

London, July 15.—Premier Balfour, in the House of Commons to-day refused to give the House facilities for a full general debate on Colonial Secretary Chamberlain's proposed fiscal changes. The matter was brought up by Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, former Chancellor of the Exchequer, and was supported by Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, the Liberal leader. Mr. Balfour said he did not think any useful purpose would be served by an abstract discussion addressed to no particular motion; that the matter had already been debated several times under similar conditions. If Sir Henry wished a debate by introducing a vote of censure of the Government he said he would grant the facilities desired.

Street Gossip and Stock Exchange Echoes.

Star Office, Wednesday, July 15.

There appears to be more money at the disposal of stock brokers at the present time than they can make use of, so that the call loan situation can be described as genuinely easy. This is owing to the low volume to which speculation has fallen in the Canadian markets and the heavy reduction in the speculation account which has taken place in the past few months. In the autumn it is probable the banks will find plenty of opportunity for the funds now looking temporarily for employment, as the growing crops in the west give promise of being large. If the expectations of brokers are realized, the present supply of money would come in very handy just about the time the banks will need it all to move the crops.

BEARS POINTS.—Town Topics says: "There are bear points out on Canadian Pacific. Louisville and Nashville pays 5 per cent., so does Missouri Pacific; both are good roads. The question is asked why should the former be selling seven points above the latter? We find no support to the market as yet. A big volume day will culminate the decline, in our opinion. We are assured there will be no panic, but we are also assured there will be no bull csampaign in the near future."

TRADERS' TACTICS.—Wherever traders perceived realizing orders in process of execution they rushed in and took the market away from the seller, offering the price down. If it was an order to be executed "at the market," as most urgent realizing orders are, the broker had no recourse but to sell at arbitrary price concessions. This explains the abrupt declines that were seen in some of the less active stocks, notably Illinois Central, Consolidated Gas, Metropolitan and Delaware and Hudson. They subsequently recovered almost as abruptly as they had declined.

DETROIT UNITED.—The gross traffic of the Detroit United Railways for the first week of July was $100,664, against $86,233 the same week a year ago, a gain of $14,431 or over 16 per cent. From January 1st the gross earnings are $2,096,126, against $1,879,088, a gain of $217,038, or over 11 per cent.

CAPITALISTS' LOSSES.—An instance of how some of the wealthy men have been forced to take immense losses through Wall Street operations is given in connection with the flotation of the International Mercantile Marine. J. P. Morgan organized this syndicate for $50,000,000. The financiers who were invited to become members of this syndicate did not believe that over $10,000,000 would ever be called. The entire $50,000,000, however, has been called by Mr. Morgan. The members of the syndicate have been forced to furnish the additional $40,000,000, and to do so many of them have had to liquidate a large part of their investment holdings. It has been the throwing over of such stocks as Pennsylvania, New York Central, Atchison and Norfolk and Western by capitalists who were forced to meet their underwriting obligations, that has been the principal cause of the decline in the stock market. It is current gossip in Stock Exchange circles that a financier identified with the United States Steel Corporation has lost between $15,000,000 and $18,000,000. There are a number of others whose names are freely mentioned as having lost between $2,000,000 and $5,000,000.

ROCKEFELLER AND STEEL.—Among the rumours in circulation there was one that John D. Rockefeller, jr., at the last meeting of the U. S. Steel directors, had insisted on the reduction of the dividend on the common stock. Mr. Rockefeller's advice was not taken, and the regular dividends were paid. According to the story, John D. Rockefeller, sr., was much put out because no attention was paid to his request, and was therefore a heavy seller of steel stock. This story could not be confirmed, but sixty Stock Exchange houses have had U. S. Steel common stock delivered to them in the name of Bertram Cutler, who is one of Mr. Rockefeller's private secretaries. About a year ago Mr. Rockefeller held 90,000 shares of Steel stock in the name of Mr. Cutler.

STANDARD OIL DESIGNS.—Standard Oil brokers are generally believed in Wall Street to be behind the recent movement, and John D. Rockefeller is credited with having organized the attack in order to get control of the New York Central Railway. Some colour is lent to this report by the fact that Mr. Rockefeller on Saturday acquired 20,000 shares of Central at a private sale from a Philadelphia interest. The leader of the bear movement is Harry Weil, who conducted the operations against Pennsylvania during the break of two weeks ago. Mr. Weil is believed to represent the Standard Oil Company.

CALLS FOR MARGINS.—It is the observation of New York brokers that many clients who took up their stocks at an earlier period of the decline rather than carry them longer on margin, are now bringing them back to be sold or offering them in lieu of money to protect speculative commitments. The response to calls for margins, brokers say, is more backward than at any previous time in perhaps five years.

Messrs. J. S. Bache and Co., New York, send the following advices to their Montreal manager, Mr. C. D. Monk:

Americans weak in London; declines extend to 1 per cent. Burlington and Quincey borrows $5,000,000 for improvements till next March at 5½, plus ½. Pennsylvania Railway begins to-day to pay off notes and will pay $40,000,000 by the end of the month. It is reported a purchase of Clover Leaf by the Grand Trunk. Great importance attached to an interview with President Mellen, of Nor. Pac., indicating wheat crop on Pacific coast is 20 per cent. poorer than last year. Lehigh Valley gets permission to increase capital from $5,900,000 to $10,000,000, to take up leased lines. Interest identified with International Mercantile Marine says last six months most disastrous in history of American shipping, but revival of export trade in fall expected.

The New York market this morning has been under severe pressure from continued liquidation and bear activity, but good support has been shown in many instances, Morgan and Harriman brokers were active in supporting the stocks chiefly allied with these interests. The Gould stocks also showed good support. Severe pressure was directed against St. Paul, which reached a new low level for this morning. Low records were also established in N. Y. C., Pennsylvania, and U. S. Steel. Erie issues have acted well. No definite news of importance, but an undercurrent of discussion is prevalent as to the financial troubles of various large individual operators. Money on call easier at 3 per cent.; time money firm at 5½ to 6 per cent. for six months. Some rally on the shorts is rather expected at the moment. In Boston Dominion stocks were very quiet to-day. No sales in Dominion Iron up to noon. Dominion Coal sold at 97 and 97⅛. Other local stocks are dull and weak. Amalgamated Copper made a new low record selling down to 48¼.

George C. Ryan & Co. received the following from McIntyre & Marshall, New York, over their private wire:

This is the fifth day of successive selling and continuous decline in the stock market. There has been a flood of outside liquidation and western selling all the morning, and this pressure caused the low prices. Among the stocks that have suffered the most are New York Central, Canadian Pacific, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, Brooklyn Rapid Transit and General Electric. If we are going to have a rally it seems to be due. Such a movement might be extended two or three points. London has been quite a buyer of stocks during the day, mostly Atchison, Gates buying Atchison.

Sub treasury statement shows banks lost $2,561,000 since Friday. Sterling exchange reduced ⅛. London 2.30 p.m.—There is a slight all round improvement on the Stock Exchange market. Americans are active and hardening somewhat on the closing of bear contracts. The sentiment is helped by the plentifulness of money and discounts are easing somewhat.

The behaviour of the stock market this morning was perhaps better than the Wall Street community had reason to expect, in view of the intense depression, which characterized sentiment last night and this morning. At best, however, prices have failed to become thoroughly demoralized. This may be attributed in great measure to the stimulating influence of a sharp rally at London in the afternoon, and to evidences of good support at certain points in the local market. The fact that St. Paul rallied and held seadily compared with the sharp declines in various other high priced shares, made the professional element proceed with extreme caution on the idea that the attitude of the Sandard Oil interests toward the market had been modified. Prices rallied irregularly from the early depression, but when the short covering movement was concluded the market dropped again under the lack of proper support and a further bear pressure. New low records for the year were established in several issues.

Montreal Power Was Lower on Liquidation—New Low Level Touched in Wall Street.

FORENOON MARKETS.

For Afternoon Trading See Page 6.

The correspondents of the Montreal Star in Wall Street and on the Chicago Board of Trade report that stocks were heavy, while wheat was easier. In the local market stocks were heavy. Sales on the New York Stock Exchange yesterday were 709,285 shares.

The local market has seldom been so effectually tied to the tail of Wall Street as it was this morning. There was very little doing in domestic securities, and consequently very little change in prices. Montreal Power was an exception, and there was some liquidation in that quarter which depressed the price, but it was the only mentionable case apart from the declines which were directly attributable to the depressed condition of the New York market.

Canadian Pacific went as low as 118½ during the forenoon in Wall Street, and declined here from 119½ to 119, and in the larger market Twin City went off to 95, while here it declined from 96 to 95¼. Yesterday Canadian Pacific closed locally at 120, and Twin City at 96¾. Detroit United went back to the level of three days, at 70, compared with 71½ at the close yesterday.

There was a good deal of conjecture as to the source of the selling of Power, and there was a disposition to attribute it to interests frequently mentioned in the "Street" in that connection. The price opened two points down at 78, and in the early trading declined to 86½, but later recovered to 77¼. Further selling in the late forenoon again depressed the prices to 76¾.

Dominion Coal was fairly active, with frequent price changes during the forenoon trading. The opening was two points lower than yesterday at 97, and very soon afterwards went to 96½, which proved the lowest of the forenoon. In the later transactions the prices moved between 96¾ and 97. Dominion Iron common and preferred were dull and unchanged at 14½ and 45, respectively. Nova Scotia Steel was also unchanged at 93.

Some Commercial Cable was marketed at 158½ to 157⅞, the lowest figures for some time. Richelieu, which closed at 90 yesterday, sold at 89⅝ to 89⅝. Some Montreal Power bonds of the 5 per cent. issue sold at 99¾. Toronto Rails sold at 98¼ to 98⅛ compared with 99¾ yesterday.

Messrs. L. J. Forget & Co.'s London cable to-day quoted: Grand Trunk first, 112½; second, 96½; third, 49⅞; Canadian Pacific, 123⅝; Hudson Bay xd 35⅝.

The Montreal Clearing House returns of bank clearings to-day were $4,122,069.

J. S. Bache & Co., New York, send the following prices for copper:

London—Copper, spot, £56 7s 6d, a decline of 7s 6d. Futures, £56, a decline of 5s. Market easy.

The Lehigh Valley Railway Company has been authorized by the New York State Railroad Commission to increase its capital stock from $5,900,000 to $10,000,000. The increased capital is to be used entirely to take up capital stock of the leased lines of the company in exchange for Lehigh Valley Railway stock.

The sale of the Clairton Steel Company to the United States Steel Corporation, which was supposed to have been closed last March has at last been consummated. Negotiations which have been in progress for some time in the east ended a few days ago by the signing of the papers by all parties interested, except the Crucible Steel Company of America, which owns all of the capital stock of the Clairton concern. The papers were sent here from the east and at the meeting of the board of directors of the Crucible company yesterday the plan was finally approved and the papers signed for the company closing the deal. The sale is practically the formation of a partnership by the United States Steel Corporation, the Oliver Iron and Steel Company, and W. P. Snyder. By the terms of the sale the United States Steel Corporation pays into the treasury of the Crucible Steel Company $4,000,000 and the Oliver and Snyder interests pay $2,000,000, making $6,000,000 in all. The Steel Corporation receives one half of the shares of the capital stock, the Clairton, the Oliver and Snyder interests one-fourth and the remaining one-fourth is still held by the Crucible Steel Company.

Montreal Exchange Quotations: New York Funds, 3-64 dis. to 1-32 dis. between banks; ¼ counter; Sterling, 60 days, 8 15-16 dis. to 8 31-32 dis between banks; Sterling, Demand, 9 15-22 dis. to 9¼ dis. between banks; Sterling Cables, 9 9-16 dis. to 9 5-8 dis. between banks; Paris, France Long, 5 18¾ dis to 1-16 dis. between banks; Paris, Francs Short, 5 15 5-8 dis. to 1-16 dis. between banks.

Among the forenoon sales in Toronto were: C.P.R., 1,810 at 119 to 120; Canadian General Electric, 20 at 158; Twin City, 275 at 95 to 96½; Dominion Coal, 100 at 97.

The following is a specimen of the bear tactics being used to depress C.P.R.: In a circular being sent around gratuitously, the following statement is attributed to a "prominent banker": "C.P.R. stock is quoted at an absurdly inflated price. It should not sell any higher than stocks like Northern Securities, S. R. pref., or Atchison pref. C.P.R. ought to fall to 90, and probably will. Railway experts consider ninety dollars a share a very fair price for it."

J. B. Picken & Co., stock and exchange brokers, received the following New York stock market advices over their private wire:

Lower records were made right and left this morning, and the entire list is in a semi-demoralized condition. The opening was unsettled, responsive to London's lower prices, and ravages of liquidation forced prices down from 1 to 3, and further in special issues. No special news, but tone is very feverish. Europe bought on balance to same amount. Exchange, 4.86.75.

F. J. Penfold & Co. received the following over their private wire from New York:

Foreign buying was a source of much needed strength, and Mr. Keene seemed to be taking care of Morgan's stocks to some extent, but liquidation still serious, and only limited by inability of the market to take big blocks of stocks. Weakness of Rock Island preferred, 'Frisco seconds and allied stocks due to the belief that the R. I. combination wanted money, and would have to raise it through its controlled road at fairly high interest rate. It is reported a very large account in Atchison was again in process of liquidation. It is thought some 25,000 shares of these holdings came to the market last Tuesday.

BETTER ENQUIRY FOR BUTTER TO-DAY.

A Few Cables Received But No Orders—Public Cheese Cable Again Declined.

CHEESE.—Country cheese boards show practically no change, and the market here is of much the same character, Holders of finest Ontario are demanding 9⅞c, but it is not always possible for them to realize that figure. However, they have no trouble in getting 9¾, and the general idea of the market ranges between these prices. Quebecs sold in the country at 9⅛c, and holders here are receiving as high as 9½, so it is said, the quotation being from 9⅜ to 9½c. Townships are worth about 9⅝c. The market continues very dull, demand from England having dropped off almost entirely, though the receipts and shipments of cheese are both larger than ever before in the history of the trade.

Receipts reported on the Board of Trade this morning amounted to 20,867 boxes.

BUTTER.—Enquiry from the other side showed an improvement this morning, though actual demand continued dull, notwithstanding low prices. There is lack of anything approaching spirit or snap, though some hope to receive orders this week. Quotations for choicest Townships are 18¼ to 18⅜c, the latter figure being said to be sufficient to secure the best brands. Good qualities may be secured at 18c.

Receipts reported on the Board of Trade this morning amounted to 4,224 packages.

EGGS.—The market is steady at recent quotations, straight gathered selling in small lots at 14¼ to 14½, and in small lots at 15c. As it takes about a cent to candle them, small lots of candled bring 16c, and large lots 15½c. Country prices range around 13½c.

Receipts reported on the Board of Trade this morning amounted to only 227 cases.

POTATOES.—Old stock is not wanted, and very little of it is offering.

New stock was being purchased on the market at $2.50 a barrel this morning, and the supply was hardly equal to the demand. Barrels are offering in small lots from store at $3.75. Bags will become more plentiful in a week or so when the skins grow a little harder. The stock offering is on the whole excellent, and the appearance of the potato plants in the fields indicates that the crop will be a large one.

BEANS.—The market continues steady at about $1.70 per bushel for primes, on track, and $1.75 to $1.80 for small lots.

MAPLE PRODUCTS. — Jobbers report that they are willing to pay 70c an imperial gallon of 13 lbs. for choice fresh maple syrup, and 8c a lb. for new maple sugar.

LIVE STOCK MARKET EASIER TO-DAY.

Trade at the Eastern Abattoir Cattle Market was fair to-day, and prices were lower than last week.

Cattle.—Receipts amounted to 500 head, most of which were of fair quality. The demand for them was slow, and at noon 200 remained unsold. Prices ranged as follows: Choice butchers, 4 to 4¼c; good, 3 to 3¾c; medium, 2¾ to 3c; common, 2 to 2½c.

Calves.—Receipts amounted to 500 head, the quality being mostly common. The demand was good, and at noon none remained unsold. Fair demand for calves.

Sheep and Lambs.—Receipts of sheep amounted to 500 head, those of lambs amounting to 300 head. The sheep brought from 3 to 3½c, lambs selling at 4c. The demand was fair. Good demand for shippers.

Hogs—Receipts of hogs amounted to 300 head. The demand was dull, and prices ranged from 5 to 5¼c.

LIVE HOG MARKET WAS RATHER FIRMER.

Live hogs were somewhat scarcer and firmer to-day, and sales were being made at $5.60 to $5.75 off cars, according to quality.

At Abattoir dressed hogs were firmer, sales being made at $8 to $8.25 for finest.

Firmer Cotton Market.

Mr. D. M. Sexton, cotton broker, 26 St. Sacrament street, reports the New York cotton market opening steady 23 points up on summer and 2 to 11 points up on new crop months.

The opening options were: July, 11.75-90; August, 11.76; September, 10.40; October, 9.66; November, 9.50-58; December, 9.50; January, 9.46; February, 9.46; March, 9.45.

Liverpool opened easier 9 to 10 down on summer, and 8 to 4 down on new crop, and at 12.30 was steady and unchanged, 1 to 2 down.

Port receipts this date were estimated at 800 bales, against 3,500 this day last week and 1,800 this date last year.

Options at 12.30 were: July, 11.90; August, 11.74; September, 10.43; October, 9.75; December, 9.55; January, 9.53.

According to the Journal of Commerce, entomologists of the Agricultural Department throw cold water on the reports that have been circulated here, to the effect that the Mexican cotton boll weevil has made its appearance in large numbers in the cotton fields of States other than Texas. While receiving samples of insects alleged to be the genuine Mexican cotton boll weevil from many States outside of Texas, and especially Louisiana, not one of the samples has yet been found to be the genuine insect, and it is not believed that the pest has crossed the border of Texas. It is admitted, however, that the boll weevil may possibly get into Louisiana before the end of the present season, but on the other hand it may be some years before it crosses the Mississippi River. The loss to the Texas planters will probably be as proportionately great as last year.

DECLINE REPORTED IN THE HAY MARKET.

Wheat Firmer in All Markets—Local Grain Market is Very Dull—Flour Firm.

During the ten days ending July 7 there were inspected at Winnipeg 459 cars of grain, comprising the following:

Wheat—No. 1 hard, 103 cars; No. 1 northern, 123; No. 2 northern, 54; No. 3 northern, 81; No. 4, 6; feed, 1; rejected, No. 1, 7; rejected, No. 2, 1; no grade, 2; rejected, 3; condemned, 1. Total 382.

The total number of cars of grain inspected as above was 459, of which 422 were on the C.P.R. and 37 on the C.N.R.

Stocks of wheat in store at Fort William, Port Arthur, Keewatin, Winnipeg and interior country points were approximately 5,033,000 bushels, against 5,195,000 bushels a week ago, 3,090,000 bushels a year ago, 2,482,000 bushels two years ago, 3,625,000 bushels three years ago, and 3,625,000 bushels four years ago.

The report of Manitoba wheat stored at Duluth in bond for the week ending July 6 was as follows:

| | Bush. |
|---|---|
| Previously reported | 13,633 |
| Shipped during week | none |
| Balance in store | 13,633 |

The rains have been general and abundantly distributed all over Mexico, says Modern Miller: For the last seven years we have not seen the beginning of July show the crop prospects under such favourable auspices as this year. Both wheat and corn will yield abundantly, and good pasturage is sure for a year to come. In the Central Mesa there has never been a more favourable showing for the wheat crop, as the irrigating dams are almost full and we yet have three months of rain to come. For the same reason the prospects for cotton are also good. In the hot country the first corn crop, which is harvested about July 30, will be an average one, and the second crop, harvested about December and January, bids fair to be a fine one, as the abundant and general rains have put the soil in favourable conditions.

English weather was fine—forecast cool.

Liverpool wheat market closed ⅛ up. July at 6s 6⅝d; Sept., at 6s 3⅝d and Dec. at 6s 3½d. Spot wheat closed at 6s 6½d to 6s 7d for No. 1 Stand. Cala., 6s 4 1-3d to 6s 5d for Walla Walla, 6s 3d to 6s 3½d for No. 2 red winter and 6s 5½d to 6s 6d for No. 1 Northern spring. Paris closed at 24.80 for July and 22.20 for Nov. and Dec. At London, pcls. No. 1 hard man., shipment within a month, 31s 4½d; No. 3 Calcutta club, July, 29s 6d, June 29s 9d; pcls., Karachi white, shipment within a month, 29s.

By private wire to George C. Ryan & Co. from McIntyre & Marshall:

Chicago, July 15.—St. Louis wires: Receipts of wheat 75,000 same day last year 269,000. Of to-day's receipts about half hard wheat. There are a lot of orders here for cash wheat from outside millers. We will not accumulate any wheat here until we get to a point where Toledo territory will ship.

LOCAL MARKET.—Hay is easier and flour firm. Demand for oats and other grains for export is almost nil. Manitoba wheat is scarce and in demand for the home trade but holders are out of line. Asked prices at Fort William afloat, were 84½c for No. 1 hard, 83¼c for No. 1 Northern, 81c for No. 2 and 76¼c for No. 3 but dealers said bid prices were fully ½c lower.

No. 2 oats, afloat, 37c; No. 2 oats, in store, 39c for local trade; No. 2 peas, 68c high and 73c afloat; buckwheat, 48½c afloat; No. 2 rye, 52c east and 58½c afloat; No. 3 extra barley, 46c middle and 53 to 53½c afloat; Manitoba wheat was reported too uncertain to be quotable in view of the difference between buyers and sellers.

FEED.—The market is steady. Manitoba bran, in bags, $19; shorts, in bags, $21 to $22; Ontario bran, in bulk, $18 to $18.50; shorts, $21.50 to $22.50 in bulk; middlings, $22 to $23; moullie, $23 to $30, according to quality.

FLOUR.—In sympathy with the wheat market. Flour is firm and it is claimed that purchasers of both Ontario and Manitoba grades must pay full prices. Quotations in Montreal on track at $3.50 to $3.60 for straight rollers, in bbls.; in bags, $1.70 to $1.75; extra bags, $1.40 to $1.55; winter wheat patents, $3.80 to $3.90; Manitoba first patents, $4.30 in bags; second patents, $4.00.

ROLLED OATS.—The market is steady, and prices range from $3.90 a bbl., and $1.85 in bags for broken lots.

HAY.—The market is weak and plenty is now offering owing to the constantly improving appearance of the crop. Quotations on track at $12.50 to $13 a ton for No. 1, $10.50 to $11 for No. 2, and $8.50 to $9 for clover mixed.

Special to the Montreal Star.

Corn—Easier, No. 3 American yellow quoted at 57½c on track, Toronto, and No. 3 mixed at 57c, Toronto. Canadian corn purely nominal.

Flour—Ninety per cent. patents sold today at $2.80, middle freights, in buyers' sacks, for export; straight rollers of special brands for domestic trade quoted at $3.25 to $3.45 in bbls. Manitoba flour steady, No. 1 patents, $4.20 to $4.30, and strong bakers, $3.90 to $4 in bags, Toronto.

Millfeed—Bran steady at $17, and shorts $18.50 here. At outside points bran quoted at $15 to $15.50, and shorts at $17. Manitoba bran, in sacks, $19, and shorts at $22 here.

CROPS IMPROVING IN ONTTRIO AND QUEBEC.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Quebec, July 15.—Within the last few weeks crop conditions in this district have improved immensely. Daily thunderstorms and warm rain have been the rule of late, and ideal growing weather has been the result. Consequently the prospects are that, though the season is somewhat backward, the crops will be quite equal, if not superior, to the usual run. Cereals are heading well, and root crops are less liable to rot owing to the early drought. Hay is rapidly gaining in body and is maturing finely.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Kingston, July 15.—George Richardson, on being asked for an estimate of the grain and root crops in the Kingston district, said: "There will be an average crop all round, unless excessive heat or rain comes. Few peas have been sown because of the bugs. Other grains are all a good average crop. Fall grain is looking well, and there will be two-thirds of a hay crop, which will be good timothy. As to the root crop, little can be said yet."

HOW CANADIAN LUMBER STANDS IN ENGLAND.

Messrs. Farmworth & Jardine's circular, dated Liverpool, 1st July, says of the wood trade for June:

Arrivals from British North America during June have been 37,082 tons register, against 14,877 tons register during last June, and the aggregate tonnage to this date from all places during the years 1901, 1902, and 1903 has been 169,224; 172,991; and 192,343 tons respectively.

Business has again been quiet, with little change of importance; new season's imports have arrived freely, deliveries have been satisfactory, and stocks are not excessive. Values of most woods rule high.

Canadian Woods.—Pine Timber.—Waney, chiefly on contract, arrived freely, and goes largely direct into consumption, values rule high; stocks moderate. Square.—Demand limited, deliveries disapointing, and stock, which consists chiefly of lower grade, is sufficient for present requirements; prices steady. Red Pine.—A moderate import demand limited, prices firm, and stock light. Oak.—New season's wood arrived on moderate scale; the demand quiet, prices firm, and stocks of first quality wood, although light, appear sufficient. Elm.—Import consists chiefly of first class Rock Elm on contract; fair consumption; prices steady, and stock fairly moderate. Ash.—Demand is dull. Pine Deals now arriving more freely; deliveries fairly satisfactory, and stocks too large; little change in value to report. Red Pine Deals continue dull of sale; stocks are sufficient.

New Brunswick and Nova Scotia Spruce and Pine Deals.—June import was the largest for many years, viz., 15,630 standards against 10,000 standards for last June. Deliveries, although not brisk, have been fairly steady, and stocks are not excessive. Owing to reported drought in Canada, causing a large quantity of logs to be hung up, and also disastrous forest fires, prices hardened, and latest sales have been at a slight advance. Pine Deals are only in limited demand; prices steady.

Birch.—Logs arrived more freely, chiefly from Quebec; deliveries fair, but stock is sufficient; prices unchanged. Planks also arrived freely, but consumption has fairly kept pace, and although stocks are not excessive, prices continue very low.

United States Oak.—Of logs, the import has been small, viz.: about 5,000 cubic feet; demand quiet, deliveries disappointing and prices rule low; stocks sufficient. Planks continue to arrive freely, deliveries fair, but stocks are ample for present requirements; prices show no improvement; total stock amounts to 308,000 cubic feet.

United States Whitewood.—Of logs: good quality and dimensions in fair demand at steady prices, and the stock is light. Planks and boards in fair request, but little change in value to report; stocks not excessive.

Pitch Pine. — Arrivals were 6 vessels, 4,820 tons, against 5 vessels, 3,071 tons last June. Hewn—both import and consumption have been small, and the already moderate stock is further reduced; good demand for first class logs of good dimensions. Sawn has come forward much too freely, and prices have declined; stocks increased, and are too heavy. Deals and Boards—Heavy import; stocks in excess of requirements.

Wheat is Higher.

(From the Special Correspondent of the Montreal Star on the Chicago Board of Trade.)

Chicago, July 15.—Wheat is higher, with sales of July at 76 1-4 to 76 7-8 and September at 77 1-8 to 78 compared with 76 3-4 and 77 5-8 respectively, a year ago. The feature of the day was the heavy buying of December by local professionals and the narrowing of the September-December spread from 3-4c to 1-4c. This was a bullish argument. Sentiment was inclined to the bull side. St. Louis continued to send in bullish reports which were accompanied with buying orders. Damage reports sent early from the North-West caused local operators to buy. A big milling concern in the North-West wires that harvesting will commence in North Dakota in 10 days to 2 weeks, and that the wheat crop will be the largest ever raised.

A Winnipeg despatch says the western sections are improving while the Central and Eastern sections are going back, and that Manitoba and the territories are now estimated at only 50 million bushels, compared with 65 million bushels last year.

Hungarian Minister of Agriculture estimates the present wheat crop at 143,200,000 bushels compared with 160,100,000 bushels a year ago, and rye at 43,000,000 bushels against 49,500,000 last year.

EXPORT CATTLE MARKET WAS ALMOST UNCHANGED.

Cables from London quoted the market for Canadian cattle easier at 11½c as against 11¾c a week ago; Americans being steady at 12c. Other cables quoted 11¾c for Canadians and 12c for Americans. Sheep were unchanged at 12c.

Cables from Liverpool quoted the market for Canadian cattle steady there at 11½ to 12c.

Shipments from Montreal were large, though less than those of the previous week. Last week's shipments were as follows:

| | Cattle. | Sheep. |
|---|---|---|
| To Liverpool | 3,363 | 800 |
| To London | 529 | 282 |
| To Glasgow | 726 | ... |
| To Bristol | 326 | ... |
| To Manchester | 774 | 590 |
| To Newcastle | 244 | ... |
| Total | 5,942 | 1,672 |
| Last week | 7,337 | 5,624 |

STEEL AND IRON TRADE IN HEALTHY POSITION.

A careful review of the actual conditions existing in the steel and iron trade to-day shows that the outlook for the last six months of the year are of a decidedly encouraging nature. The United States is producing pig iron at the rate of 1,750,000 tons a month, or 19,000,000 tons a year, a much larger output than England and Germany combined. One of the prominent iron trade journals shows that while more iron was made in the United States in May than ever before in any one month (about 1,775,000 tons) yet unsold stocks were less than 100,000 tons, or about a two-days' supply. This shows conclusively that the present enormous output of pig iron is going into active consumption and is not being piled up in the furnace yards. In addition, the big consumers of pig iron have been buying regularly in the open market and in some cases have recently paid slight premiums in prices in order to get early deliveries.

The pig iron market is quiet at the present time, but this is invariably the condition in July and comes largely from the fact that many rolling mills and foundries are closed for repairs and to take stock and absolutely refuse to buy pig iron or anything else until repairs and stock taking have been finished.

Not a single blast furnace in the Central West, where more than 75 per cent. of the pig iron output of the whole country is made, has been shut down because it has no orders on its books. On the other hand many furnaces have their entire output of pig iron under contract to October and some for a longer period. The steel trade, which embraces billets, sheet and tin bars, has passed through about the same experience as the pig iron business and with the same result—prices have gone off to some extent since the increased supply of coke put an end to the artificial scarcity in the output.

The steel market has gradually settled down to an equitable basis and billets are selling to-day at about $28 a ton Pittsburg mill. At this price there is a handsome profit to the manufacturer, who would much prefer to run his mill fulltime on billets at $28 than spasmodically at $33 a ton or higher.

PREPARING FOR WHEAT CROPS

Canada Atlantic Transit Company Adds New Vessel to Fleet.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Ottawa, July 15. The Canada Atlantic Transit Company has added another large boat to their fleet plying on the great lakes between Chicago, Duluth and Depot Harbour. The last boat chartered is the Chili and she left Chicago on July 12 with a cargo of 150,000 bushels of wheat. This increases the fleet to five boats with a carrying capacity of about one million bushels of wheat every ten days. This enormous capacity is keeping the C. A. Railway line exceedingly busy handling it.

So far this season between Chicago, Duluth and Depot Harbour the Canada Atlantic Transit Company has handled over five million bushels of wheat. This is largely in excess of the amount handled during the same period last year.

Every car on the railway system has been called into service. The passenger traffic is also exceedingly good. Owing to the immense amount of traffic the company has had to give over some excursions. The package freight business has also been good, but has been considerably handicapped by the lack of accommodation at Montreal.

ELEVEN YEAR CHILD ASSAULTED BY NEGRO.

Only Quick Wit of Officer Saves Criminal From Angry New York Farmers.

Albany, N. Y., July 15.—The quick wit of a deputy sheriff of Coxsackie yesterday afternoon prevented the lynching of James Little, a 19-year-old negro hailing from Summerhurst, N.J., who near New Baltimore, criminally assaulted Emma Cole, aged 11, daughter of Jos. Cole, a farmer living near New Baltimore.

The child with her 5-year-old sister, and Maud Lobdell, aged 12, was picking berries by the roadside in the long woods between New Baltimore and Coxsackie, a mile from home, when Little accosted them, asking them for something to eat. The Lobdell girl went to her home, but her mother was not there, and returning to her companions she found the negro dragging Emma Cole into the woods. She ran to her aid, and the negro pulled out a handful of her hair. She then ran away with the little Cole girl, screaming for help, while Little dragged his victim into the woods and assaulted her, then escaping after threatening her with death if she moved.

Her father and neighbours met the child coming home, and at once organized a party to scour the woods. A description of the negro was sent to near by towns, and an hour later he was captured on the railroad track near Coxsackie by Roy Cutler. He confessed the assault and was locked up. In the meanwhile news of the capture reached New Baltimore, and a mob of 150 enraged farmers started for Coxsackie, augmented by a large number of striking Coxsackie moulders and river men, all frankly avowing their intention to lynch the negro.

Yesterday was the strikers' "benefit day" in Coxsackie, and the town was crowded. Threats of lynching filled the air, and every train augmented the crowd. Deputy Sheriff Sumner Vanloon, realizing that the coming of darkness would mean the breaking of the flimsy local lock-up, and the violent death of his prisoner, smuggled the negro out, and took him down the river on the boat to Catskill, where there is a well-built gaol. The Cote child is seriously injured, but may recover. Her father and the neighbouring farmers are in a terrible state of excitement, and but for the deputy's quick action would certainly have lynched the negro.

AMERICAN SMELTER PLANT FOR KINGSTON.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Kingston, July 15.—For some days past a New York iron smelting company has been sending experts to Kingston to look the ground over, with a view to erecting a smelter here. The company has decided to come and to-day secured an option on a large parcel of city land, part of the old smelter site, the price being fixed at about $4,000, to be paid within 10 days. This land adjoins that which is held for the Frontenac Cement Company.

POPE'S LIFE SLOWLY EBBING— HIS HOLINESS HAD SEVERAL HOURS' REST LAST NIGHT

The Marvellous Vitality of the August Patient Astonished His Physicians—Death Was Expected at Any Moment —This Morning's Bulletin Showed Little Change in His Holiness' Condition.

Rome, July 15, 9 a.m.—The following medical bulletin has just been issued:

"During the night the Pope had several hours' rest. His pulsation is 82; respiration 30; temperature 36.2 centigrade. There has been no noticeable change in the general condition of the august patient.

"LAPPONI,
"MAZZONI."

NIGHT BULLETINS.

Rome, July 14.—8 p.m.—The following bulletin has just been issued:

"The Pope passed a fairly quiet day, but had short periods of depression. Pulse, 88, weak; respiration, 32; temperature, 36.08 centigrade. The strength of the patient is diminishing slowly continuously. (Signed)

"MAZZONI,
"LAPPONI."

Rome, July 15. — 1.20 a.m. After midnight the Pope's sleep seemed tranquil enough, although his breathing at times was difficult.

4 a.m.—The general condition of the Pope is almost unchanged. Periods of restlessness succeed periods of drowsiness.

6.15 a.m.—The Pope has passed a comparatively tranquil night, but the depression of his forces continues.

Rome, July 15— Another remarkable rally in Pope Leo's condition occurred yesterday afternoon, after a morning in the course of which His Holiness suffered spells of delirium, and at times his strength sank to the lowest ebb, and last night he lay in no worse condition than he was on Monday evening, except for the steady diminution of his strength. Mgr. Bisleti, master of the chamber, visited the sick room just after midnight, and after emerging, stated that the Pontiff's condition was unchanged. A little later the Pope fell into a sleep, which it has just been announced is fairly tranquil, although the patient's respiration is troublesome.

Yesterday's rally was characteristically opposed to every modern theory, and consisted in getting out of bed, on which, two hours previously, the Pope had made all preparations for death. Unsatisfied with this exhibition of vitality, he transacted business and received four cardinals, with whom he talked in an animated way. In fact, Pope Leo's record for yesterday, little of which appeared in last night's official bulletin, would be incredible if it were not confirmed by the doctors and cardinals present in the sick chamber. None seemed more perplexed than the doctors themselves. Dr. Lapponi said frankly: "I cannot imagine how the Pope manages to keep alive."

PONTIFF'S STRENGTH SLOWLY LESSENING.

According to the physicians the Pontiff may die at any moment, even in the midst of one of those extraordinary intervals when his mind and body present a comparatively sound appearance. All those around the patient have long since ceased to hold definite opinions regarding the duration of the Pontiff's existence. The slow but progressive diminution of the strength of the august patient foretells the approaching end of the struggle with death, but the doctors will not venture to predict how near the end he is. Constant relapses, they say, such as created alarm early yesterday, are gradually wearing down the Pope's constitution, which seems immune from any specific disease. Most persons are inclined to the idea that the Pope may go through, perhaps, two or three repetitions of yesterday's ups and downs till, as Dr. Rossom puts it, "His pulse stops forever." Various causes may accelerate the end, viz., continued inability to take nourishment, which was exhibited yesterday; sudden heart failure, or the progression of pleuric disease.

The latter is thought the least probable. As day succeeds day, it becomes pathologically clear that it is a case of a very old man dying because he has lived his allotted time.

The Pope himself, yesterday afternoon, ordered the four cardinals to be admitted, and received them standing, he who is supposed to be at the point of death saying: "Please be seated." He recounted the impressive ceremony of the morning, when he received the benediction of the Franciscan Order. The Cardinals informed him of the world-wide prayers for his life. Pope Leo answered that he was much gratified, but that he was ready for his final departure, concluding by saying: "God's will be done." Even more striking was the Pope's interview with his secretary, Monsignor Angeli. His Holiness sent for him, saying he wished to see certain papers, which the secretary brought. Then, after a short explanation, Mgr. Angeli wished to get the Pope's decision on the matter, but Pope Leo said, "Well, well, not to-day. We will do that some other time."

A curious controversy is proceeding between the Vatican medical body, composed of ten doctors of lesser importance than Dr. Lapponi, and several foreign physicians over the embalming of Pope Leo's body. Several foreigners having offered process of embalming, each more wonderful than the other, the Papal doctors unearthed bulls giving the right to embalm the Pope solely to the Vatican medical body.

IRELAND WATCHED LAST HOURS WITH INTENSE ANXIETY.

(By Special Cable from a Correspondent of the Montreal Star.)

Dublin, July 15.—Ireland, whose soul is Catholic, and the genius of whose institutions is deep rooted in that faith, will mourn profoundly the death of Pope Leo. In no part of the Catholic world is the great Pope regarded with more reverence and affection. This fact is remarkable, since Leo's intervention in Irish political affairs during an important crisis in the national movement was directly opposed to popular sentiment and not only resented, but disregarded.

When Parnell was at the height of his power in the days of the Land League, a public subscription was organized for him. The movement was largely aided by priests and even by bishops. The Holy See, which objected to the methods of the Land League agitation, took active steps to check the collection of money for the testimonial to the Irish leader, but the subscription went on, and Parnell got $200,000. In the later days of the "Plan of Campaign," Mgr. Persico was sent to Ireland by Leo to investigate the situation. Ruinor said that the commissioner's report was favourable to the Irish movement. However, that may have been a strong circular was issued by the Vatican condemning the "Plan of Campaign," and also boycotting. These incidents aroused intense feeling, but latterly they were forgotten. The fall of Parnell and the failure of the "Plan of Campaign" were construed by many as a verification of the Pope's wisdom, and as a penalty for having disregarded his warnings.

Of recent years Leo never failed to express warm sympathy with the Irish movement, and never lost an opportunity of welcoming the Nationalist members of Parliament, and even disobedient Parnellites in audience at the Vatican. On the occasion of his Pontifical Jubilee last year the Irish party, in behalf of the Irish people, forwarded an official address to the Pope. His Holiness received the tribute joyfully and responded with many expressions of esteem.

Numerous Irish pilgrimages to Rome made Leo's personality familiar to thousands of Irishmen and spread throughout the land enthusiastic appreciation of his mind and character.

VIENNESE COMBINE PRAYERS AND LOTTERY.

(Special by Cable from the Special Correspondent of The Montreal Star.)

Vienna, July 15.—No other crisis in recent years ever modified the daily life of the Viennese so markedly as the desperate illness of the Pope. The form which this modification has taken is creditable to the religious spirit of the nation. Prayers have been offered for Leo's recovery almost continuously in the Catholic churches. The services have been attended largely. On the other hand, thousands of people are less imbued with devotional emotion. They devour daily the budget of news from Rome with the hope of finding lucky combinations of numbers for lottery gambling. "The collectors are reaping a harvest at the expense of men and women who will rue their folly when the news of the Pope's death comes," said one of this class to a Star correspondent. "We do not know which way to turn for work or food," he explained, "and this lottery preys on the working community and brings the state annually 18,000,000 crowns ($3,600,000) profit."

THE POPE A FACTOR IN GERMAN POLITICS.

Berlin, July 15.—The imminent death of the Pope causes general regret throughout Germany and sincere sorrow among the Catholic population. Leo XIII. has maintained close relations with German politics. He has exercised power over the clerical party, directing the closer alliance with the Government, reconciling differences and increasing the party's influence upon public policy. Officials frankly say that Leo XIII. has been one of the best Popes ever known so far as his attitude toward Germany is concerned. He always showed comprehension of German affairs; smoothed out difficulties between the Centre party and the Government, even exerting pressure upon the clerical party to carry measures like the septennate of 1878, in order to get concessions and ecclesiastical legislation. Although the Centre party was opposed to the septennate the Pope's hint sufficed to induce the party to abstain from voting, thus making its passage possible. The clerical party also opposed the subsequent ecclesiastical bill, but Leo's orders caused its members to change face and vote for it. Officials further point out a recent case where the Pope ordered the Bishop at Treves to withdraw the circular forbidding communion to persons patronizing the Government's mixed schools. Leo XIII. was directly instrumental in settling the Kulterkampf (the great Bismarckian struggle between Protestantism and Catholicism in Germany), which he followed up with a steady policy of reconciliation, thereby giving the Centre party a dominant political position. No expression gained greater currency in latter-day German politics than "the Centre is trumps." Emperor William entertained almost affectionate regard for the Pope, whom he visited every time he went to Rome.

ENGLISH VIEW OF CANADIAN ELECTIONS.

London Journals of Opinion That Contest Will Be Made This Autumn.

(From the Special Correspondent of the Montreal Star in London.)

London, July 15.—The London Chronicle, discussing the prospects of the autumnal dissolution of the Canadian Parliament, says that the political advantages in securing immediately a fresh five years of power, instead of risking the fiscal complications that may arise within the next two years, are lessons which certainly appeal to such keen strategists.

This journal quotes approvingly Mr. Borden's statement that the Liberals promised free trade as it is in England and prohibition as it is in Maine, instead of giving Canada free trade as in Maine and prohibition as in England.

The Chronicle adds that the longer the delay in appeal

RAILWAYS AND MUNICIPAL RIGHTS

Union of Municipalities Deputation Waited Upon Government Yesterday.

RESOLUTIONS PRESENTED

Mayor Cochrane, Mr. Ethier and ex-Mayor Lighthall, of Westmount, in Deputation.

Special to the Montreal Star.

Ottawa, July 15.—Yesterday afternoon the deputation of the Union of Canadian Municipalities met the Premier, Sir William Mulock, Hon. W. S. Fielding, Hon. Charles Fitzpatrick and Hon. Raymond Prefontaine to discuss the question of municipal rights and control.

Mr. Lighthall, secretary of the union, presented the following resolutions:

"That undertakings entirely provincial and essentially for local or municipal purposes, should not be removed from provincial and municipal control, by the mere declaration that such works are for the general advantage of Canada.

"That no such declaration should be made in any case until the Government and Parliament are satisfied by actual proof that the declaration is true.

"That all street railways or tramways or electric railways constructed and operated wholly or in part through the streets or highways of a municipality are essentially of a local character and should be left under the jurisdiction of the local legislatures and the municipalities.

"That the local legislatures have hitherto dealt with the incorporation of such railway companies and have provided safeguards for the construction and operation of such railways, and their right so to do should not be interfered with.

"That the construction of an electric railway from the city of Toronto to the city of Hamilton, as proposed in Bill No. 147, is not a work for the general advantage of Canada."

Mr. Aemilius Irving, K.C., Toronto, said that in the past the Governments of Canada had not attached sufficient importance to the declaring of works as "for the general advantage of Canada." No doubt the Federal Parliament had power to make such a declaration, but was it wise to use that prerogative in every case? He reminded the Ministers that years ago there was passed a Cable Act, which the Anglo-American Company deemed an infringement of their rights, but the Imperial Privy Council refused to interfere on the ground that any Imperial interference in such matters would have a tendency to reduce the measure of self government enjoyed by Canada. The Legislature of Ontario had protested against the incorporation of provincial railways as works for the general advantage of Canada. In such works the Dominion Government primarily had no jurisdiction. They only had jurisdiction over works running from province to province and to the frontier.

Mayor Urquhart spoke on the point of granting local roads powers that had been refused them by the Provincial Legislatures.

After several other speakers had been heard, it was decided that the municipalities should be supplied with the written argument of the promoters' solicitor in the Toronto and Hamilton case, and the deputation withdrew.

TENDENCY TO LARGE THOUGH SHOW STEAMERS.

Such Will Be the Effect of Withdawal of British Mail Subsidies.

Special to the Montreal Star.

London, July 15—Announcement by Arnold Forster, Secretary of the Admiralty, of the proposed withdrawal of shipping subsidies has naturally attracted much attention in shipping circles. There appears to be a strong leaning to the opinion that the effect of the new policy will be still further tendency to building of vessels of Celtic and Ivernia type vessels of reasonable speed, large passenger accommodation and great cargo capacity.

An eminent authority on shipping at Liverpool is inclined to believe that only English companies enjoying mail money will be encouraged to go in for anything like speed. Subsidies at present paid to British companies for steamers classified as mercantile armed cruisers cannot be considered great, but money has been very useful.

BRITISH COLUMBIA MINISTERS

They Meet Premier and Make Many Requests.

Special to The Montreal Star

Ottawa, July 15.—The two British Columbia Ministers who are here, Messrs Wilson and Green, had an interview with Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his colleagues Tuesday, and asked for aid for the New Westminster bridge, assurances that restrictive measures in regard to Oriental immigration would not be disallowed by the Federal authorities, and an increased subsidy. The Prime Minister replying, declared that upon certain of the matters brought forward the Government's views were already well known.

London Man Arrested in Connection With Wife's Death.

London, July 15.—J. H. Wallace, formerly secretary of the late Sir Francis Cook, who recently achieved great notoriety here in connection with his suits for libel against Lady Cook (formerly Miss Tennessee Claflin, of New York), has been arrested in connection with the mysterious death of his wife. She was found dead in their flat, while Wallace was discovered on the floor with his throat cut.

SECOND TERM FOR SIR LOUIS JETTE.

Special to The Montreal Star.

SIR LOUIS JETTE.

Lieut. Governor of Quebec for second term.

FRUSTRATES EMPLOYERS.

The Walking Delegate, Parks, Still Able to Hold Out Unions.

Special to the Montreal Star

New York, July 15.—Meeting of many special committees of trades represented in Building Trades Employers' Association were held yesterday to lay plans for resuming work. But few, if any more, men are being re-employed. The influence which Parks, of Housesmiths' Union, is still able to exert on this Union has disconcerted plans of employers.

It was ascertained yesterday that there was no truth in the statement that persons holding forged cards voted at the recent election of Parks for walking delegate.

Jesse P. Larimer, financial secretary, said: "Parks was re-elected by votes of Members' Union, and it is not right to take that credit from him. Statement to the effect that I said Parks was elected by fraudulent votes is false and I wish to deny it most emphatically."

CHAUDIERE POWER BILL LAID OVER.

Motion for Six Months' Hoist Fails in Senate Railway Committee.

Ottawa, Ont., July 15. The Senate Railway Committee yesterday took up the Ontario & Quebec Power Company's bill.

Mr. Fraser, for the promoters, explained the bill, which seeks authority to utilize the Little Chaudiere water power. He pointed out that more than half the power at the Chaudiere, a little more than a mile below the power dealt with in the present bill, was owned by the promoters of the bill. The works would include the erection of a dam above the Little Chaudiere, that would, in the opinion of eminent engineers, improve the Ottawa water supply by removing all danger of the formation of anchor ice.

Mr. J. C. Christie, on behalf of Mr. J. R. Booth and the Upper Ottawa Improvement Company, opposed the bill on the ground that the construction of the dam would seriously affect their interests.

Hon. Senator J. P. B. Casgrain disputed on the ground that the building of a dam would not change the head of water.

Mr. Christie urged that his clients had invested millions of dollars, and their rights should be protected.

Mr. Henry Aylen, K.C., representing riparian owners in the Province of Quebec, with the exception of the E. B. Eddy Company, said that the Ottawa and Hull Company owned practically all the riparian rights at the Chaudiere. He charged that the promoters did not want to develop water power at the Little Chaudiere but to improve their power at the greater Chaudiere.

Hon. Mr. Miller asked if there were any cases affecting this bill before the Supreme Court or Privy Council at present.

Mr. Aylen said the questions were in the hands of the Minister of Justice, and would be submitted to the Supreme Court immediately after the session, so that they would be passed on in October. He asked that the bill be put back till the Supreme Court decided.

Hon. Mr. McMullen, seconded by Hon. Mr. Miller, moved that the further consideration of the bill be postponed.

NO MINISTER PRESENT.

Mr. McMullen thought there ought to be a Minister of the Crown present at the meeting.

Hon. Mr. Owens wished to move an amendment that the bill be proceeded with this day six months.

Hon. Mr. McDonald, B.C., said the bill proposed to build across the river from side to side and must endanger private rights. He seconded Mr. Owen's amendment.

Hon. Mr. Edwards, largely interested as president of the Ottawa and Hull Company, which is developing the power on the other side, said that if the committee properly understood the matter the bill would never pass. A private dam unauthorized by the Government to-day robbed the Quebec owners of water. His company now controlled that dam and intended to remove it. This bill was the consequence. As the promoters could not muzzle the current below, they now proposed to build a dam higher up and muzzle them there.

The motion for the six months' hoist was lost by 10 yeas to 13 nays, and the postponement carried, Tuesday next being fixed for the next hearing.

The Kettle River Valley Railway bill and the Kingston and Pembroke Railway were reported. The Marconi Telegraph bill; the Columbia River improvement bill, and the Algonquin Lumber and Power bill were all reported.

BODY HAS BEEN FOUND.—The body of Lance-Sergt. John Hockings, of the 85th Regiment, who was drowned in the river St. Maurice during the camp at Three Rivers, has been found.

NEW YORK SUN LEARNS WISDOM ABOUT CANADA.

Chamberlain Campaign Has Opened Annexation Journal's Eyes.

New York, July 15.—The New York Sun says: Trade relations between Canada and Germany have played a prominent part in the discussion of Chamberlain's plan of pan-Britannic zollverein. It is claimed Germany has "penalized" Canadian products, and that Mother Country has no means of retaliation for a grievous wrong done one of her children. As far as any outward indications go, Canadians are not losing sleep over their trade relations with Germany, nor do the trade returns indicate any violent animosity on the part of Canada. As a matter of fact, it is not easy to see just where any special grievance exists as far as Canada is concerned, although the incident has undoubtedly furnished Chamberlain with a key upon which to hang an apparently forcible argument, that of the absence of retaliatory power in the event of an actual or supposed trade injury to any part of the British Empire.

RUSSIANS ENACT LABOUR LAWS.

Government Also Plans for New Police Force for Rural Districts.

St. Petersburg, July 15.—In furtherance of the proposed domestic reforms a new law has been promulgated, giving factory employes the right to appoint delegates from their co-workers to represent their interests in conferences with the factory inspectors.

The plan for the formation of a new police force to maintain order and security in the rural districts of forty-six provinces of European Russia will be carried out immediately in fifteen of these provinces. But, owing to the large expenditure involved, $2,250,000, six years will be allowed for its complete execution in the other provinces.

Over 320,000 men have been called to the colours in order to complete the strength of the Russian army and navy for the present year.

LABOUR CONGRESS TO MEET IN SEPTEMBER.

Mr. P. M. Draper, of Ottawa, secretary-treasurer of the Trades and Labour Congress of Canada, has issued a circular summoning the nineteenth annual session of the Congress to convene in the city of Brockville during the month of September. The circular states that the coming convention will be the most important in the history of the labour movement in the Dominion of Canada, inasmuch as the present session of the Dominion Parliament witnessed the introduction of legislation of an oppressive character aimed at organized labour. The circular also states that two of the bills introduced in the Senate threaten the very existence of trade unionism. The following are the bills most complained of:

"Bill H.—An Act to amend the Criminal Code respecting offences connected with trade and breach of contract."

It is stated that the object of this bill is to kill trades unionism in Canada.

"Bill S.—An Act to amend the Criminal Code, 1892, respecting free labour."

The officials of the Dominion Trades Congress are of the opinion that this bill, if passed, will prevent a trade union discussing ordinary trade matters.

SUSPENDED ON LEDGE.

Narrow Escape of New York Woman in Yosemite.

Yosemite Valley, Cal., July 15.—Mrs. Johns, of New York city, who has been staying in the valley for a few days, was found yesterday in a steep crevasse back of Sentinel Dome. Mrs. Johns started from Glacier Point Hotel to walk to Fissures, two miles from the hotel, and did not return at night. Searching parties started out, and one of them found the almost lifeless body suspended on a ledge that jutted out from the steep side. She was too weak to speak, but was able by feeble signs to make known that she still lived. With ropes and a stretcher a party of eight made its way to the crevasse to extricate Mrs. Johns from her perilous position.

FUNERAL OF LATE MR. T. A. MACKINNON

It Was Held To-day and Many Friends Were Present.

FEATURES OF FUNERAL TRAIN

The Interment Took Place in Mount Royal, the Rev. Dyson Hague Officiating.

Shortly after nine o'clock this morning, the train bearing all that was mortal of the late Mr. T. A. MacKinnon, formerly first vice president and general manager of the Boston and Maine Railway, drew into the Windsor street station.

On the platform there had gathered one of the most conspicuous assemblages of railroaders ever drawn together in this city.

All the notable figures in the Montreal railway world were present, with one exception, together with many from the surrounding district. The exception was Mr. C. M. Hays, general manager of the G.T.R., who would also have been present but for the fact that he was suddenly called to Ottawa this morning to confer with Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

The engine which drew the funeral train was heavily draped in streamers of black crape. Additional interest was added to the circumstance through the fact that the engine No. 29, was purchased by the late Mr. MacKinnon while he was general superintendent of the old South Eastern Railway, and was used by him repeatedly until that road was merged in the C.P.R. At the lever was Mr. D. A. Bowker, who worked under the deceased as an engineer, and has been on the line since 1869. The conductor in charge, Mr. John Sheldon, was in much the same position, having been connected with the South Eastern for twenty years.

The special train consisted of three cars, an engine and a tender. The mortuary car was car No. 111 of the Boston and Maine, and the mourners occupied car No. 555, belonging to the same road. Both of these are official cars.

FINE FLORAL TRIBUTES.

As soon as the train arrived, the attendants commenced to unload the floral offerings, which filled several long baggage trucks. Rarely has a more extensive display of funeral bloom been seen in this city, some of the designs being of a unique and costly nature.

When the casket was removed from the car all present bared their heads. It was subsequently borne along the station platform through a double file of sorrowing railway men.

Immediately behind the remains walked several relatives of the deceased: his son, Mr. Allen MacKinnon, of Boston; his brothers, James MacKinnon, manager of the Eastern Townships Bank at Sherbrooke, and Robert MacKinnon, of Lyndonville, Vt. Then came his two nephews, the Messrs. Clarke, of Boston. Next a number of the chief officials of the Boston and Maine Railway, including the president, Mr. Lucius Tuttle, and Mr. Frank Barr, the assistant general manager. Other mourners were Mr. W. S. Streeter, of Concord, Mass., an old and close friend of the departed, and Mr. Alvard, of Malden, Mass.

There were six pall bearers, all connected with the Boston and Maine in an official capacity, Messrs. Rowell, of the Motive Power Department; E. T. Millar, of the Car Department; John Perant, of the Order of Railroad Conductors; Geo. Dority, Grand Chaplin of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers; George Eaton, General Freight Agent of the Eastern and Western divisions; and Charles Gilpatrick, Assistant Superintendent of the Union Station, Boston.

Twenty-six in all accompanied the remains to the city.

After the casket had been placed in the hearse, the cortege started on its way to Mount Royal Cemetery, where the interment was made, the Rev. Dyson Hague officiating.

CORTEGE A BIG ONE.

Most of the leading railway officials in the city followed in the procession on foot for a certain distance and then in carriages the remainder of the way.

Among those present were:—
Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, D. McNicholl, F. H. McGugan, C. W. Spencer, J. H. Walsh, Quebec Central Railway; C. R. Hosmer, J. W. Loud, W. R. Baker, I. G. Ogden, G. M. Bosworth, W. R. MacInnis, Frank Grundy, General Manager Quebec Central; Armand Lalonde, Canadian Passenger Agent of Boston and Maine; S. P. Heward, A. P. McTier, Robert Kerr, G. T. Bell, R. S. Logan, C. J. Smith, Traffic Manager, C. A. R.; J. S. Mitchell, of Sherbrooke; Major Wood, Director Eastern Township Bank, Sherbrooke; Wm. Farrell, President Eastern Townships, Sherbrooke; E. C. Lalonde, Quebec Central, Sorel; H. S. Foster, President Butter and Cheese Association, Eastern Townships, Knowlton; Lt.-Col. Mattice, Fred. Cushing, F. W. Morse, James Oborne, G. A. Balfour, R. H. Harris, G. E. Hall, George Hodge, John Hoolahan, E. E. Usher, A. Suckling, H. O. Wilson, E. H. Twohey, United States collector of Customs; P. J. Dunnagan, assistant collector of U. S. Customs; F. B. ### DEFENCE HEARD IN ACTION TO CANCEL LEASE.

In the Practice Court yesterday afternoon, before Mr. Justice Curran, the defence in the case of Scroggie vs. Poulos claimed there had been no candy manufactured in the store used by the Poulos brothers, in the Scroggie Block.

The suit is brought by Mr. W. Scroggie to cancel the lease of the Poulor brothers on the ground that in the lease there is a clause prohibiting the manufacture on the premises of the candy which the defendants sell. Several witnesses swore they had knowledge of the manufacture, but this was denied. The case will be argued on Friday, M.R.A.E. Greenshields is appearing for the prosecution, and Mr. Thomas E. Walsh for the defence.

Action for $10,000 Damages.

Mr. J. G. Boissonnault, advocate, has entered suit against Mr. Eugene Villeneuve for $10,000 damages. The complainant alleges that at various times, and at the Club Morin excursion to Valleyfield in particular, the defendant used certain language which is calculated to damage the reputation of the complainant.

MANY RUMOURS IN STEEL CIRCLES

Considerable Speculation With Reference to the New Bounties.

THE EFFECT THEY MAY HAVE

United States Steel Corporation Will Not Build Plant at Port Colborne Just Now.

There is still considerable speculation on "the Street" in regard to the influence that the new bounties will have on the steel trade. Many rumours are afloat, but the general opinion is that until legislation goes into effect it is hard to say what the result will be.

A special despatch to the Star from Quebec says that the Dominion Iron and Steel Co. will shortly take to its small smelters a trial lot of 100 tons of iron ore which will be brought from Lake Kénogami and shipped to Sydney in barges. Should the ore turn out to be all right and of good quality, it will mean much for the Lake St. John country and the mineral wealth will be thoroughly explored.

Then again the Street was discussing today the divorce of the Dominion Iron and Steel Co. and the Dominion Coal Co. The visit of Messrs. Cox, Plummer and McMaster to Sydney is said to be on this account. The man on the street is now wondering whether the cancellation of the lease of the Coal Company to the Steel Company can be brought about without prejudice to the share holders. The opinion was expressed that the Coal Co. shareholders would look upon the divorce with a certain degree of satisfaction.

A prominent Canadian who has just returned from New York states, on the authority of one of the officials of the United States Steel Corporation, that there is no present design on their part of establishing a steel plant at Port Colborne.

The corporation, however, has in view the advisability of establishing a steel plant in Canada at some future day, and while the point for locating the enterprise has not been definitely settled upon, the choice probably will lie between Port Burwell and Sarnia, when the time comes to make the selection.

MUCH DELAY IN APPOINTING TREASURER FOR PROVINCE.

The vacancy in the Quebec Cabinet caused by the death of the late Hon. Thomas Duffy is creating considerable discussion in political circles in Montreal.

A prominent Liberal in discussing the reasons for the delay in filling the vacant Treasurership, stated to-day that it was probable that the Premier would desire to rearrange the portfolios.

It was not at all likely that the man to be appointed to the Cabinet would be made Provincial Treasurer.

The appointment of Dr. Guerin, he claimed, would shut out the Protestant population from any representation whatever in the Cabinet.

It would seem necessary, therefore, that the new appointee be one of the religious minority in the province.

Another difficulty arises from the scarcity of the elected representatives belonging to the minority in the Quebec House. The English-speaking population has much fewer representatives than formerly. The minority has now a population of about 220,000 in the province, or about one-eighth of the total population.

The claim of the Eastern Townships, to have the minority representation in the Cabinet, is another difficulty that has to be faced by Mr. Parent.

The claim is viewed as an unreasonable one by many, inasmuch as the Eastern Townships are now represented in the Federal Cabinet by Hon. Mr. Fisher, and there seems no reason why the other districts in the province should be permanently barred from representation in the Quebec Cabinet.

Among the names suggested is that of the Hon. Mr. Turner, Legislative Councillor. His position, however, in the Upper House would seem to debar him from the portfolio.

The same conditions rule out Hon. Mr. McCorkill, of Missisquoi. Many favour the claim of Mr. W. A. Weir, K.C., who has rendered considerable party service to the Liberals.

PIERRE GIRARD'S DEATH DUE TO NATURAL CAUSES.

A verdict of death from natural causes was returned to-day by the Coroner's jury at the inquest into the death of Pierre Girard, who resided at 45 Plessis street, and who died last Saturday night.

The evidence showed that after the funeral a report had been circulated that death was due to certain injuries which the deceased was said to have received in a quarrel. The matter was brought to the attention of Chief Carpenter, and, on an order from the Coroner, the body was exhumed yesterday evening.

Dr. C. A. Dugas, medical expert, was the first witness sworn. He said he had examined the body and had found no marks of violence. Death was due to tuberculosis.

Dr. J. E. Garceau, of 196 Maisonneuve street, testified that the deceased had been ill for several days. When he was first called he found him suffering from the effects of delirium tremens. He prescribed for him accordingly, but before Girard died he was called again, and this time he found the patient suffering from pneumonia. He told the family he was going to die.

Mrs. Pierre Girard said that her husband told her he had been badly beaten by a man in a saloon. He had bruises and contusions on his breast and side and he complained of great pain in his chest.

Roch Marien, of 134 Champlain street, swore that he had no quarrel whatever with Girard, but, on the other hand, befriended the dead man by buying him a pint of ale. He said he saw the deceased the day he died.

A. Forest and Joseph Monette, bartenders, said they knew nothing of a quarrel between the deceased and Roch Marien.

The jury was unanimous in its verdict that there was no crime.

The body was re-interred this afternoon.

BUILD UP CANADA.

WHEN WILL CANADA BE A MANUFACTURING COUNTRY FOR EXPORTS?

The United States is to-day the most conspicuous export manufacturing country in the world. Why is this? Because the people and statesmen of the United States realized years ago that a strong Protective Policy would first of all build up home manufactures by securing for Americans the best home market, feeling sure all the time that once the manufacturers of the United States grew to the needs of home consumption they would go on building for export trade. And to-day all that was predicted for the manufacturers and workingmen of the United States has come true. Millions upon millions of foreign money and tens of thousands of foreign workmen are pouring into the United States to reap some of the fruits of the great National Protective Policy of the American Union. Can Canada repeat this? Look at the Cotton Mills, Tobacco Factories, Rolling Mills that were built up in Canada under the National Policy, and we can easily picture what would happen if the Government of Canada would give to Canadians a Canada-for-Canadians policy, looking first to the securing for Canadians the Canadian consumption, and then a share of the markets of India, Great Britain, Australia, Japan, Italy, Spain, South Africa, in fact, of the whole world.

CANADA AND THE FOOD TAX.

It is to be hoped that the idea will not be permitted to get abroad in Britain that Canada is seeking a bonus for her wheat at the expense of the very poor of the Home Land. Already this travesty on our position has been set afloat by the opponents of Mr. Chamberlain's proposals. They wax pathetic over the difficulty of the "submerged millions" on the British Islands to get food as it is; and plead with an imaginary Canada not to insist upon this "blood price" for its loyalty and friendship to the United Kingdom.

It should be said with the utmost plainness and vigour that Canada does not ask any favours which will bring starvation an inch nearer to the British poor. It is the calm judgment of the people of Britain—who are in the best position to judge—that a preferential arrangement of tariffs will make it harder for the British workingman to get food, we would wish—what they would undoubtedly do—that they should vote such a scheme into everlasting oblivion. No Canadian farmer on the free prairies asks a subsidy from thin hands in British slums.

But if we understand the Chamberlain argument at all, it is that his proposals will not lessen the chances of the working people to obtain food, but will increase them. There are two sides to the transaction by which a man buys food. He must give something as well as get something; and Mr. Chamberlain's contention is that the British workman is now not in as good a position to pay down his money for his loaf as he would be if his manufactured goods had a better chance in the colonial markets.

Whether this is true or not, is, perhaps, not a question for us. Mr. Chamberlain is submitting it to the British people, and they are the very individuals who can best decide it, and who must endure the results of their decision. All we want to say in the matter is that Canada is not asking that any burden be placed on the backs of the already hard-pressed people of some sections of the British Islands. We want a tariff bargain of mutual benefit, or we want nothing. Canada cannot afford to be made the ogre of the empty pantry throughout the British isles.

HON. A. G. BLAIR'S RESIGNATION THE SOLE TOPIC AT OTTAWA

Now That Premier Has Confirmed Announcement in the Commons, Speculation Is Busy as to Successor—Mr. Emmerson Likely to Be Chosen—Comments by the Chief Government Organ.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Ottawa, July 15.—The resignation of Hon. A. G. Blair still continues to absorb conversation in the party rooms and corridors of the House.

Efforts are, it is said, being made to win him back, and last night he was closeted with Hon. James Sutherland in one of the private rooms of the House. It is hardly likely, however, that any serious hope of Mr. Blair's return to the Cabinet has been entertained, as no hint of any such feeling found its way into the announcements made in the Senate and Commons during the afternoon.

Every indication is against such hope, if entertained, being gratified. Mr. Blair spent most of the day in the department cleaning up his desk and making preparations to leave as soon as possible.

In some ways his resignation differs from any other that has been tendered for many years. Resignations on account of disagreemnt with other Ministers have taken place, but it is long since a Minister has left office, as Mr. Blair has done, on account of a conscientious principle.

It is also noticeable that he has not come into the House to combat his colleagues' wishes and policy, but has fought his fight in the Cabinet, and having failed to secure the victory for the principle he has espoused, has resigned office.

The story told in the corridors is that Sir Wilfrid Laurier personally made the agrement with the representatives of the Grand Trunk Pacific, which Mr. Blair cannot accept, and that in Council he is being strongly supported in carrying out the policy embodied in that agreement, by Sir William Mulock, Hon. W. S. Fielding, Hon. Clifford Sifton and Hon. James Sutherland.

It is said that yesterday afternoon's council was one of the stormiest that has ever been held in the white chamber. It is also stated that Hon. Wm. Paterson and another Minister are not satisfied with the policy which has been determined on. If the building of a line to Moncton will not advantage the Maritime Provinces it is hard to see how Mr. Fielding can remain in office.

Speculation is rife as to who will succeed Mr. Blair.

A GENERAL SHUFFLE

may be made, in which case Hon. Wm. Templeman, minister without portfolio, may be raised to a full cabinet position. The name of the Hon. Wm. Pugsley, Attorney-General of New Brunswick, has been mentioned, but it is not likely that so close a friend of Mr. Blair's would take his place, nor would it be easy to find a seat for him. The old rumour that Mr. Sutherland will go to Railways and Canals, Mr. Prefontaine to Public Works, and Mr. Emerson take Marine and Fisheries is revived, but up to the present nothing has been done, and it is said that Mr. Bernier, Minister of Inland Revenue, strenuously objects to Mr. Prefontaine being given a portfolio of more importance than his own.

The announcement of the Government policy will be made by the Premier during the week, following, it is claimed, the precedent set by Sir John A. Macdonald, in announcing the C. P. R. policy. At that time Dr. Tupper was Minister of Railways, but was absent. When the policy of the loan of twenty-five million was brought down Sir Chares Tupper made the announcement. It is considered as certain that as a private member, Mr. Blair will oppose the policy and vote against it, and it is more than probable that he will not be the only New Brunswick Liberal member who will do so.

GENERAL ELECTION NEXT.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Toronto, July 15.—The Mail and Empire's Ottawa correspondent, referring to Mr. Blair's resignation says that his objection to the Quebec-Moncton branch was the outcome of his desire to see the Intercolonial Railway become a paying concern. The new line according to his view will parallel the Intercolonial and will mean that the two roads will be operated at a loss instead of a single Government line at a profit. This is the chief reason for Mr. Blair's retirement.

It is also said that the impression is greatly prevalent in view of the latest break in the ministerial family, that no time will be lost immediately after the session in dissolving Parliament.

THE GEOGRAPHICAL GLOBE'S VIEW.

The Globe's Ottawa correspondent wires his paper that the majority of the Ministerialists from the Maritime Provinces appear to regard a new line from Quebec to Moncton as a commercial necessity. They say that it is absurd to talk of it paralleling the Intercolonial and that the new line will open up an entirely new district to colonization and development. There will be a considerable shortening in the distance between Halifax and Moncton, and if Canada is to have another transcontinental line this would be the eastern outlet to the seaboard.

Editorially the Globe says: "Mr. Blair seems to have convinced himself that it would be better for the public good or for his own reputation, or for both, that he should wash his hands of a policy he could not bring himself as Minister to carry out. In taking the extreme step the retiring Minister has acted on the theory of Cabinet solidarity and responsibility, which has been for many years characteristic of the British system of responsible government and of the colonial systems modelled upon it. Statesmen cannot work together unless they are agreed as to the main features of the Government policy, however they may compromise on details."

COMMENT OF OTTAWA PRESS.

The Evening Journal (Independent) says editorially: Beyond a doubt, the resignation by Mr. Blair of the portfolio of Railways and Canals is due to that clause of the Grand Trunk Pacific agreement by which the Dominion Government undertakes to build for the Grand Trunk a second line of railway from Moncton to Quebec. Already a Government railway, the Intercolonial, spans that distance. The Government is agreeing to build another line, to be leased to the Grand Trunk Pacific company for fifty years. In other words, the Government is agreeing to build for private capitalists a railway which will compete with and kill the business of a Government road. Mr. Blair, although a New Brunswick member himself, has had the sense, the patriotism, and the strength to step out of the cabinet in protest against this extraordinary project, which, as he suggested in the House of Commons some days ago, would be a death blow in Canada to the hope of national ownership of a trans-continental line.

THE FREE PRESS.

The Free Press (Lib.) says: Mr. Blair, as is well known, has always been devoted to the interests of the Intercolonial Railway. He has done much during the few years that line has been under his control to advance its interests and promote its efficiency. He has in consequence maintained that in any scheme of transcontinental rail that road should have been taken as the eastern link, and that the whole system should be a national undertaking. In this his colleagues have dissented from him, and as a consequence Mr. Blair has felt it his duty to withdraw from the Government, as it would be manifestly impossible for him to advocate a plan to which he was utterly opposed, and as a Minister take the principal part in promoting. The public will see that Mr. Blair has acted as a conscientious statesman, and the public generally, while regretting the necessity, will laud his consistency.

MR. BLAIR'S RESIGNATION ANNOUNCED IN SENATE.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell Calls Attention to Unusual Cabinet Position.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Ottawa, July 15. — In the Senate, yesterday, replying to Sir Mackenzie Bowell, Hon. R. W. Scott stated that Hon. A. G. Blair had resigned, and the resignation had been accepted, but that the ministerial explanations would be made on Thursday.

Several bills were advanced a stage, the greater portion of the session being spent in committee on the bill respecting contagious diseases affecting animals.

On the orders of the day Sir Mackenzie Bowell called attention to the rumours of a ministerial crisis and asked if Hon. A. G. Blair had tendered his resignation on account of differences of opinion with his colleagues on the railway policy. It was not surprising to hear of differences of opinion when one remembered the various utterances of ministers, afterwards carefully repudiated by their colleagues. He asked how far responsible government was to go. He reminded the House of the same in the Commons Railway Commission, when Mr. Blair advocated one course and Mr. Fitzpatrick another. He also asked if Mr. Scott were to be treated as was Mr. Tarte on account of his recent utterances on the question of provincial subsidies, which views, in answer to Mr. Lemieux, Sir Wilfrid Laurier said could only be his own views, as the matter was still under consideration. If a matter of such vital importance were still under consideration it was rather surprising to find a Minister expressing very decided views. The present state of affairs and the mode of carrying on government individually was serious. He would like to know whether Mr. Blair has resigned, and if he had been induced to withdraw it.

Hon. Mr. Scott said Mr. Blair had tendered his resignation, and the resignation had been accepted. The ministerial statements would be made on Thursday. He did not propose to study the academic question of responsible goernment. As to the instance of his having expressed his own views, the matter had not been discussed at Council, and he hoped, as indeed he still hoped, that his views would be shared by his colleagues. He did not consider Sir Wilfrid's answer a turn down in any way, as he was at liberty to express his own candid opinions.

Hon. Mr. Macdonald (B.C.) reminded Mr. Scott that Ministers were expected to give Cabinet views, not their own views. He urged Hon. Mr. Templeton's claim to a portfolio.

Hon. Mr. Dandurand said the occasion of the difference between Mr. Blair and Mr. Fitzpatrick in the Railway Committee was over a private bill. Mr. Scott had, in speaking of the subsidies, only expressed his own views.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell thought Mr. Scott occupied a very unenviable position in advising His Excellency in a new way from his seat.

Hon. Mr. Scott—I was trying to form public opinion.

Hon. Mr. Dever defended the Government from charges of speaking at one's purposes, and the matter dropped.

BILLS FORWARDED.

The bill to incorporate the Imperial Agency was read a third time and passed.

On the motion of Mr. Ferguson, the bill respecting the Rathbun Company was referred back to committee.

The Brandon, Saskatchewan and Hudson's Bay Railway Company was read a second time and sent to committee.

The House again went into committee on the bill respecting contagious diseases affecting animals.

After nearly two hours spent in discussing the various clauses, the bill was reported as amended on the previous occasion.

The bill to prevent the manufacture of process butter, and the bill to amend the Post Office Act were read a second time. The Senate then adjourned.

PREMIER ANNOUNCES BLAIR'S RESIGNATION

QUESTION OF IMMIGRANTS

Members Think That Inspection Should Be as Strict as That of United States.

Special Staff Correspondence.

Ottawa, July 15.—A noticeable air of interest pervaded the House and the galleries when business opened yesterday afternoon. It was known that the leader of the Government could not avoid making a statement of some kind with regard to the affairs of his political family, and as there had thus far been no official pronouncement, there was naturally a good deal of curiosity as to just what he would say. Sir Wilfrid Laurier recognized the situation, and when the time came he did not wait to be asked any questions, but rose in his place and said:

"I have to inform the House that the Hon. Mr. Blair has tendered his resignation as a member of the Cabinet and Minister of Railways, and His Excellency the Governor-General has agreed to accept the resignation. The detailed explanations, which are to be given of this event, will be given probably on Thursday next."

It was brief, and it leaves a great deal still to be said, but it was, at any rate, authoritative on the point that the resignation is in and accepted.

This incident naturally somewhat overshadowed the other business of the day, but a number of other matters were, nevertheless, got through with in turn.

Mr. Monk moved that the part of the report of the Railway Committee which recommended the rejection of the Ottawa Valley Railway bill should be referred back. Mr. Monk made a lengthy speech in defence of the bill, which had been thrown out by the committee, and accused Mr. Prefontaine of using his official position in order to defeat this measure in order to gratify his own personal spite against Mr. C. N. Armstrong, of Montreal, the promoter of the bill. He appealed to the members of the House to accept his motion as it would be a most unfair thing to deprive several counties of a much needed railway in order to gratify the personal animosity of the Minister.

Mr. Marcil (Bonaventure) objected to the bill on the ground that the Atlantic and Lake Superior Railway which had been practically abandoned, owed $300,000 in his constituency and that this new proposition was merely a scheme to avoid paying the old debt.

Mr. Prefontaine defended the action of the committee in throwing out the bill. He denied that he had ever been more friendly with Mr. Armstrong than one would be "with a man who tries to ruin you"; in fact, he said he had lost $25,000 by backing paper for Armstrong.

Mr. Monk—"How much did he lose by you?"

Mr. Prefontaine—"He could not lose anything. He never had a cent in his life. He was a very clever man because he could fool other men who thought themselves cleverer than he was. I was one of his victims, and am still trying to recoup myself." (Laughter.)

Mr. Prefontaine said that neither he nor the people in the Baie des Chaleurs district wanted to have anything more to do with Mr. Armstrong.

Finally the question was put, and Mr. Monk's motion was defeated on a division by 51 yeas to 87 nays.

Mr. Prefontaine introduced his bill to amend the Fisheries Act. He explained that it was to provide for the hunting of whales "and other wild animals of that kind" by explosives; also that the Minister of Fisheries might be authorized to license the use of purse seines in the Pacific and also to provide for issuing permission to use trap nets. The bill, he said, was founded on the report of the commission to investigate the matter, which report he would present to the House.

Mr. Osler complained that under the present regulations the salmon fishing streams of Quebec and New Brunswick were being practically ruined. The Government was spending a lot of money in restocking these fisheries, and at the same time permitting them to be spoiled by the illegal use of nets. To such an extent was this the case, that on the Restigouche and other famous rivers it was a rare thing to catch fish that were not maimed by the nets.

Mr. Lemieux said that these river fisheries were under the provincial jurisdiction, and that under the present regulations they were very much improving. The bill was read the first time.

THE CONFERENCE WITH CHAMBERLAIN.

Mr. Bell drew attention to a statement published in to-day's papers to the effect that Mr. Joseph Chamberlain had been invited by the Canadian Government to a consultation with regard to the proposed changes as to the commanding officer of the Canadian militia. He asked Sir Frederick Borden as to the correctness of this statement.

Sir Frederick Borden replied that a short time ago Mr. Chamberlain had intimated that as a Militia Bill was being put through the Canadian House he would like the Minister of Militia to go to England at the clase of this session and discuss the matter with him (Mr. Chamberlain) and the Secretary of State for War. Sir Wilfrid Laurier expressed his willingness that this should be done.

Mr. Wilson, of Lennox, on the motion to go into supply, offered some observations on the Government's immigration policy. He was glad to see a large number of people coming to this country, provided they were of the right class; but he thought the Government had not been careful enough in regard to those who were allowed to come. He had been under the impression that immigrants were inspected before being allowed to land, but he learned the other day that in such inspection no attention was paid to smaller diseases, such as tracoma and favus, but only to such diseases as smallpox or others equally serious. If a ship were reported with a clean bill of health, everybody was allowed to proceed, even if they were paupers. There was no other machinery for stopping them. The result was that the United States were compelled to keep a strong staff all along their border to keep out these people coming through Canada. During May 2627 persons landed at Quebec bound for the United States. Of these there were 2584 passed and 43 detained. Of these 23, before being allowed to proceed, were compelled to furnish a good and substantial bond that they would not become public charges, and a number were kept for a period in hospital. The Government of Canada should come to an understanding with the United States on this subject. People who were not good enough for the United States were not good enough for Canada. The number of immigrants destined for United States who came by way of Canada in 1896 was 6542. In 1902 it had risen to 29,199.

DISEASED IMMIGRANT PEST.

This certainly went to prove the allegation that undesirable persons thought it easier to reach the States by this route than by regular American ports, and the steamship companies encouraged this traffic. Congress last session had made the rules most stringent, raising the fee for immigrants to two dollars per head, and providing a penalty of $100 for each diseased person brought to an American port, provided that in the judgment of the commissioner the disease could have been detected by a medical examination at the port of embarkation. He failed to see what Canada had to gain by not copying the American plan. Mr. Wilson illustrated his remarks by quoting from the Montreal Star interviews with Mr. Robt. Watchorn and parts of reports made by that gentleman, who is the American officer charged with the work of watching the frontier. There might have been some improvement in the Canadian practice since last December, since which time there had been an effort to inspect persons landing at seaports, but Mr. Wilson did not think that enough was yet being done. At the port of Montreal for the ten months of 1902 there were examined 44985 persons destined for the United States and 2028 were rejected. None of these were deported, so they must have remained in Canada. Only the decent, healthy, and self-supporting from other lands should be admitted here. Mr. Wilson then commented on the homestead entries for last year. These numbered 14,633, but of these there were 4080 from the older provinces and 1158 previously in Canada. This left 9395, and even if this number were multiplied by 3 1-8, which was the recognized method of computation, it fell far short of the number of immigrants given as the total for the year. He would like to know what had become of the balance. There were 6550 Galicians among last year's immigrants and 3759 Scandinavians, but none of them appeared among the homestead entries. The expenditure on immigration was not yielding such a return as might reasonably be expected. He also thought there was little use paying a commission to ticket agents to secure immigrants from the United States. The result of the system was that the land companies did the work and then the agents sold the tickets and took the commission.

Dr. Roche, of Halifax, argued that the present regulations, if enforced, would be amply sufficient to keep out undesirable immigrants.

Mr. Oliver, of Alberta, declared that Canada did not want any such immigrants as the Doukhobors and other samples of low grade humanity. There should be no difficulty in securing settlers of a proper class.

Mr. Puttee, of Winnipeg, protested against the waste of public money in introducing immigrants who were a menace to the country. The keen inspection of immigrants to the United States meant that many who were physically unfit were left behind in Canada. He complained also that a great many mechanics were being brought in instead of farm labourers.

Mr. Bell protested against Canada being made an asylum for people who were not eligible to enter the United States. There was a natural desire for setttlers in the West, but there should be some discrimination as to the kind of people brought in. One trouble in this country was the high railway rates, which drove people to the States instead of into Western Canada. This was a matter which should be looked into, instead of giving immigrants so much better treatment than our own citizens, who might desire to look for new homes. It was high time the Government should pay some attention to keeping the Western population in Canada.

Mr. Sifton declared that he would not be in favour of spending public money to move Canadians from one point in the country to another. It would have a tendency to pauperize men and prevent them from becoming useful citizens. As to the difference between immigrant and domestic rates, he had tried to induce the railways to equalize them, but thus far without success. The reason for the exodus from Eastern Canada to the States was that the people did not desire farm life. This movement, however, had been considerably checked, and young Ontarioans were beginning to realize the possibilites of the North-West. The Government did not desire to encourage the introduction of any labour but agricultural. The Government could not consider it wise to assist the movement of mechanics from one part of Canada to another. At the same time there was a great demand for labour in Winnipeg, and the organizations that were opposing its coming in were taking an extreme position. Mr. Sifton went over the various points on which the Government's immigration policy had been criticized, and made a vigorous defence on each point, promising to enter into greater detail later.

The House then went into committee of supply, and a couple of the immigration items were passed. Adjournment was reached at 12.20 a.m.

Salt Rheum

You may call it eczema, tetter or milk crust.

But no matter what you call it, this skin disease which comes in patches that burn, itch, discharge a watery matter, dry and scale, owes its existence to the presence of humors in the system.

It will continue to exist, annoy and perhaps agonize, as long as these humors remain.

CONFEDERATION FATHER PASSES AWAY.

THE LATE HON. ROBERT BARRY DICKEY.

Amherst, N. S., July 15.—After months of weary illness, Hon. R. B. Dickey passed away late yesterday afternoon at the age of 92 years.

Hon. Robert Barry Dickey was born at Amherst, N. S., in 1811, his father being a native of the North of Ireland. He was educated at the Truro Grammar School, and at Windsor Academy. He was called to the bar, both in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, in 1834, and he practiced his profession at Amherst for many years.

Mr. Dickey was made Judge of the Probate Court of Cumberland, and was created a Queen's Counsel in 1863. A Conservative politically, Mr. Dickey was called to the Legislative Council of Nova Scotia, 1858, and sat in that body until the accomplishment of Federation in 1867, when he was appointed to the Senate of Canada by Royal proclamation. Mr. Dickey served as a delegate from the Government of Nova Scotia to the Colonial Office, London, in 1858, and again in 1859, the matter before it at the time being the building of the Intercolonial Railway.

Senator Dickey was a delegate to Charlottetown and to Quebec on matters pertaining to Federation, and he declined to subscribe to the Quebec resolution on the ground that the financial terms were inadequate to the Maritime Provinces, owing to insufficient subsidies. When this objection was partially removed by the substantial additions which were made to the subsidies, conceded at the London Conference in 1866, he voted in the Legislature for Confederation, hoping for better terms eventually, which were afterward granted. He yielded general support to the Conservative party, but occasionally opposed measures of which he could not conscientiously approve, his objections being upheld by subsequent events.

In the death of Senator Dickey, not only Nova Scotia, but the whole Dominion, loses one of its most esteemed men and one who has taken a prominent place in many of the councils of his country.

He is survived by three children, Jas. A., Amherst; May, wife of H. E. Milner, C.E., London, and Ellen, wife of M. W. Maynard, of the Department of Railways and Canals, Ottawa.

THE MEXICAN AT THE WINDSOR HOTEL.

When the Mexican, in all the glory of his native dress, drifted into the rotunda of the Windsor, all eyes were fixed upon him. The large open space was full of people. Bellboys were rushing to and fro, and the scene was one of frequent occurrence during the height of the tourist season.

The stranger in a strange land paused at the door. Then he summoned up his courage, placed his hat at a more jaunty angle, and sauntered with the grace that comes of ancestry through the serried ranks of chair boarders.

He dropped into one of the leather-covered chairs, glanced casually around, and proceeded to roll a cigarette with infinite pains.

After lighting it, he leaned back and appeared to be totally oblivious of what was going on.

"Oh, dear," said a bright eyed English girl to her male companion, whose nether garments spoke of inclement weather in England's metropolis; "oh, dear, look at that horrid Indian, Bob. Isn't he dread——"

"How extremely curious," exclaimed a lady in pince-nez, with Boston written all over her in large type. "I wonder if this can be a habitant in native costume? Do you know, my dear, these poor people live in the woods and do the most wonderful woollen work. Why last year I saw——"

"Mamma, mamma, here's Santa Claus," lisped a little tot of five. O, mamma! I wonder if he left his reindeers outside and came down the chimney? O, mamma, may I play with——"

"By Jove, Jack, just look at that chap in the chair. Isn't he the exact image of Albert Chevalier singing "My Old Dutch." I wonder whether this is the fashionable style of evening dress this year, or whether they wear this sort of thing when they go out snow——"

"Say, Jimmie," said a bellboy, "catch on to the guy with the dago rags. Ain't he a beaut? I wonder if our new uniform will come up to that. Gee, put your lamps onto his shape. Ain't he just——"

The Mexican's cigarette was finished. He yawned and got up. Hundreds of curious eyes followed him to the door of the ladies' entrance.

There on guard stood Colonel Fish and General Johnston. The Colonel turned as pale as the law of race would allow, and made a dive for the elevator shaft. General Johnston stood his ground as became one who had guarded the door for years, and had even been known to ring in an alarm when the chimney smoked too profusely.

On came the Mexican.

"I've got 'em this time," he muttered.

Then he followed the shades of Fish into the elevator, and the Mexican representative of The Consolidated Ubero Plantations Company, passed silently through the big swinging door.

Many people are convinced coffee is the cause of their sufferings and stop its use from time to time to get relief. During these periods when they are not drinking coffee they feel better. They are getting well in small instalments.

"How much better it is to stop short on the coffee and shift to well made Postum and get well once and for all. As soon as this is done the destroying effects of coffee are stopped and a powerful rebuilding agent is set to work. Health comes back by bounds and so long as the right food and drink are used and improper food is left alone the cure is permanent.

A lady of Readfield, Me., says: "I was always a great lover of coffee and drank it so steadily that I would have to stop it at times on account of dizziness in my head, gas in the stomach and other troubles. I would leave off the coffee for a few weeks until I felt better, then would go to drinking it again.

"I continued this for years and paid dearly for it, until about a year ago I read a Postum Cereal article and bought and carefully prepared some. It filled the place of coffee from the start so far as flavour and taste go and it has righted my stomach troubles. I have improved so that my friends notice the change. I have exchanged sickness and misery for health and happiness. Through Postum I have got well all at once." Name furnished by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.
