World News In Brief

Berlin, July 8.—(P)—Dr. Walter Linse, a top official of the west Berlin free jurists, was kidnapped today and whisked to the Russian zone amid a flurry of gunshots.

The head of the economics department of the free jurists, Dr. Linse was attacked by three men shortly after he left his home in the United States sector. He was dragged into a car which sped into the Soviet zone.

London, July 8.—(Reuters)—The Queen stood on a dais in the state ball-room of Buckingham Palace today and with a long-bladed sword gave the accolade to 53 new knights.

The Queen tapped each knight lightly first on the right and then on the left shoulder then, returning the sword to her left hand, she shook hands with him.

More than 250 men and women passed before her to receive awards and honors at this first of five investitures to be held at the Palace during the month. Many were receiving awards conferred in the Queen's first birthday honors list last month.

Munsan, Korea, July 8.—(P)—The chief communist armistice negotiator today protested that the United Nations command killed two communist prisoners of war and wounded eight on Kojima Island last week.

The protest coincided with an official U.N. announcement that two North Korean P.O.W.s were killed and nine wounded on the prison-camp island last week in a series of isolated incidents.

The complaint was in a letter from North Korean Gen. Nam Il, senior communist negotiator, to Maj. Gen. William K. Harrison, head of the U.N. truce team. It was delivered just before the delegations held their fifth successive secret session on the truce-blocking issue of prisoner exchange. The conference lasted 48 minutes.

Copenhagen, July 8.—(P)—The 13,000-ton tanker Apheron, built in Denmark for the Russians and turned over yesterday in spite of United States protests, left Copenhagen today for a Russian harbor. She was flying the Red flag.

Foreign office officials drafted a note rejecting the strongly-worded U.S. protest against the ship's delivery.

Foreign Minister Ole Bjørn Kraft said he "hoped the Americans would not make good their threat" to cut off all economic and military help.

Washington, July 8.—(P)—Americans spent almost one-half as much on alcoholic beverages last year as they did for clothes.

The commerce department says $9,150,000,000 was spent on liquor, wine and beer, an average of $59.80 for every man, woman and child in the United States.

World Stands To Lose Much If British Recovery Fails

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Watching Britain go through her economic troubles is something like listening to the chant of a fight announcer: "He's up. He's down. He's up."

When "he's up" we cheer. When "he's down," old man Britain pulls in his belt a notch and, if necessary, a helping hand is given.

But it begins to look as though not enough thought is being given by enough people towards making the "up" cry stick.

Most everyone in the western world probably feels that Britain must not go "down"—certainly not at this stage of history.

We comfort ourselves with the thought, "Britain always comes through"; we pay tribute to her sacrifices in two wars, and commiserate with her people in their austere programs.

If, on this side of the water, we do lend a hand, it is still without much idea of what the ultimate outcome will be, and is based on the least that will allow Britain to avoid "going broke" as of the moment.

This seems to be the case despite the fact that no country ever before has extended economic help to another country in the measure in which the United States, particularly, has given aid to European countries, including Britain.

Eisenhower And MacArthur Hold Interest At Opening Of Republican Convention

3 Killed, 200 Hurt In Mexico

Mexico City, July 8.—(P)—Soldiers and police patrolled the streets and blocked all roads leading to Mexico's capital city today in the wake of political riots which left at least three killed, 200 injured and another 300 under arrest.

Similar outbreaks were reported in other Mexican cities. All apparently were quelled quickly and there were no indications of deaths or injuries.

Further outbreaks were feared today. Government sources said last night's riots were only the curtain-raiser to a larger uprising by supporters of anti-government candidates running far behind in the counting of votes from Sunday's Presidential elections.

The disorders ended the political peace which had reigned since the polling began. Although there were only three known dead, official sources estimated the toll might reach 15. Thirty-two of the injured were listed as in serious condition.

Scores of United States tourists were reported affected by tear gas fired by police as the fighting swirled near the Del Prado hotel. Gen. Leandro Sanchez Salazar, Mexico City police chief, blames "communist students" for the bloodshed. He said they refused to disperse and threw stones at police.

The rioting began last night when police attempted to break up a "victory celebration" called by supporters of Gen. Miguel Henríquez Guzmán. He is running far behind the government candidate, Adolfo Ruiz Cortines, in unofficial returns on the two-thirds of Sunday's vote so far reported.

General Henríquez claimed "victory" in full-page newspaper advertisements yesterday. Despite a ban on political meetings, about 1,000 supporters gathered in the belief they were hailing the next president.

Mounted police armed with sabres charged them when they refused to disperse. A few shots were fired. Fighting became general. Henríquez campaign leaders finally called off the demonstration to "avoid bloodshed."

Fighting broke out again in front of the presidential palace and the cathedral. Volleys of shots were fired and police laid down a heavy tear-gas barrage.

Despite Henríquez's claims, victory in the election appeared going overwhelmingly to Cortines. Unofficial and preliminary figures gave him a lead of 2,009,370 to Henríquez's 187,615. Other unofficial totals given out by the president office were: Rightist Efraín González Luna, 63,037 and leftist Vicente Lombardo Toledano, 123,555. The final official count begins next Sunday.

Ike Gains Psychological Victory Over Taft — MacArthur Gives Keynote Speech.

By CLYDE R. BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Chicago, July 8. — (CP) — Two five-star Generals held the interest of the Republican national convention today.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, who wants to be the Republican nominee for President, went into the convention's second day with a psychological victory over the forces of his chief opponent, Senator Robert Taft of Ohio.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who was removed from his job 15 months ago as supreme commander in the Far East, and who then announced he was going to "just fade away" like the old soldier of song, rocked the convention with his oratory in the keynote speech last night.

MacArthur is not a candidate and there was no complementary demonstration suggesting his candidacy, although delegates and spectators in the crowded stockyards amphitheatre cheered his oratory loud and long.

Eisenhower's workers, led by young Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., of Massachusetts, did not even have to precipitate the fight they won on the convention floor yesterday over the disputed delegates from Texas, Louisiana and Georgia.

For a reason not explained, the Taft forces brought up the hot issue, rising from the claims of Eisenhower forces that the Republican machine had prevented the popular delegates from these states, 68 of them, from selection as delegates because they were largely supported by Democrats who would turn Republican for Eisenhower.

The Taft forces, making what they claimed was a magnanimous gesture, offered a resolution which would have prevented certain delegates from voting on their own right to be seated as delegates.

The Eisenhower forces refused half a loaf, and in amendments moved for removal of all 68 from the privilege of voting on their own right to be seated. The Eisenhower people won a 658 to 548 victory.

Pro-Eisenhower forces immediately seized on this as an indication of how the vote will go when the ballots are cast for a candidate.

But the Taft forces claimed the 548 are the hard core of the Taft support and will remain through enough ballots to gain the additions to give the Ohio Senator the necessary 604 votes to win.

The real meaning of the vote will not be known until the nominations Wednesday night.

The candidates do not go near the convention hall until after the nomination. Thus the delegates have had time to be swayed by the personalities except in the meetings constantly going on at the Conrad Hilton and Blackstone hotels.

But their workers do the spell-binding for them and the Eisenhower orators in yesterday's scrap seemed to have the edge from every point of view.

MacArthur, not quite the dazzling figure in muffs that he presented in his war togs, was eloquent and impressive in his keynote speech. He is for Taft and there has been considerable questioning about the selection of a keynoter so strongly committed to advance to a candidate for nomination. He never mentioned either candidate.

But the General did make an indirect attack on Eisenhower when he criticized the war policy which left Russia in such a strong position in Europe.

"We practically invited Soviet dominance over the peoples of eastern Europe through strategic disposition of Soviet force at the close of the European war," he said.

"We foolishly permitted the encirclement of Berlin by Soviet forces, rendering almost inevitable the tragically high cost we had to pay to pay for lines of supply and communication between our zones of occupation there and in west Germany."

Eisenhower was the supreme commander in Europe. Eisenhower and Taft headed toward another clash over delegate contests today. The big convention seemed triggered to explode over a credentials committee report on the seating of 93 delegates from seven states, most of them Taft backers.

Of these, 68 from Georgia, Louisiana and Texas were barred from voting on any seating contests until their own status is decided finally.

Although Taft was beaten on that issue he bounced back to capture control of the convention's credentials committee. This group named former Representative Ross Ritzley of Oklahoma, a Taft backer, as chairman.

Some Eisenhower leaders feared the committee would bring back to the convention — possibly today but more likely tomorrow — a report giving the Ohio Senator the bulk of the contested delegates. They promised a bristling floor fight in the event.

The latest Associated Press tabulation of delegates gives Taft 534, Eisenhower 429, other candidates 131 and leaves 112 uncommitted.

Sidelights On Chicago Convention

Chicago, July 8.—(P)—Goaded by a rallying keynote speech, Republicans today whirl back into convention, the Taft-Eisenhower duel for Presidential nomination and its offshoot fight over delegate seating.

The credentials committee begins hearing disputes, on appeal from the national committee, involving 93 delegates from voting on delegate contests whenever the controversy gets to the floor.

Reaction to Gen. Douglas MacArthur's keynote address, generally warm with a few cool comments, continued to bubble. The speech last night called Democrats blundering "war party" and rallied Republicans to rout them from office.

The platform committee, agreed on all but the civil rights plank, worked on the final draft of their proposed statement of policies, expected to be ready for convention action tomorrow.

Senator Robert Taft, of Ohio, meets with Minnesota and Utah delegations.

Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, after breakfast with the Missouri delegation, confers with other state groups.

Everyone seems to be trying to get into the convention act and there are so many people and cars in Chicago that it usually costs $1 for 50-cents taxi ride.

Even Canada got into the act yesterday as the milling crowds in the stockyards amphitheatre sweated through an hour's wait for the gavel to fall.

A television time-killing show in the press lounge suddenly gave

Reformatory Prisoners Clean Up Riot Damage

Guelph, Ont., July 8. — (CP) — Bedded down in the open and reduced to bread-and-milk rations, 900-odd prisoners today helped to clean up the damage they wrought in the $200,000 week-end riot at the Ontario reformatory.

The last of the rioters surrendered yesterday, giving up the knives, pieces of lead pipe and other makeshift weapons they had brandished during the 12-hour disturbance Saturday night during which they made a shambles of their quarters. Dormitories, furniture, food, clothing and equipment were smashed during the rioting.

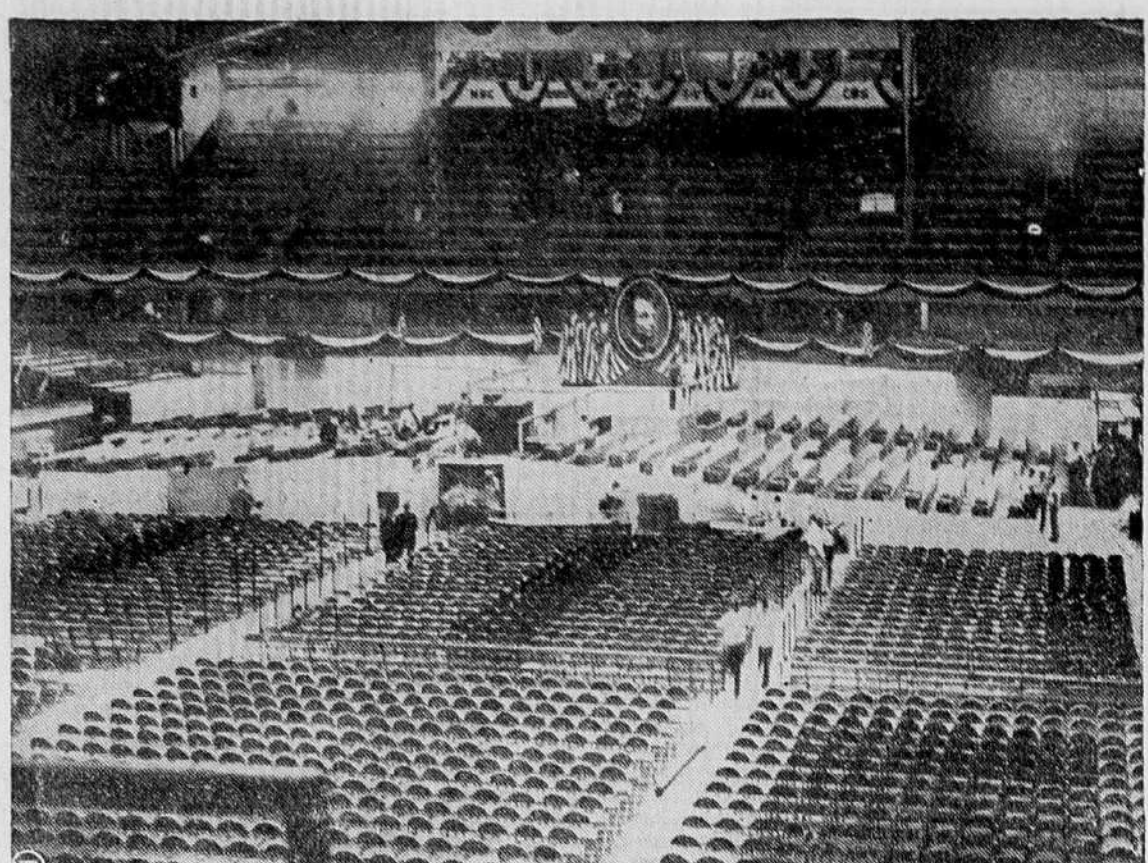

It may take another 48 hours before the prisoners can move back into their dormitories. Ten men accused of leading the riots which suddenly broke out Saturday night, gave themselves up yesterday. They stepped out of the compound ranks after their names were called by superintendent Wright. They were quickly marched to cells.

Prison officials said charges of assault, threatening and unlawful assembly may be laid against the prisoners who instigated the break.

Earlier in the day the prisoners in the outside compounds were searched — 20 at a time — for weapons. The search yielded a small harvest of razor blades, wrenches, knives and keys.

Meanwhile Premier Frost called for punishment of the riot leaders without making them heroes.

He said they will receive "justice tempered with understanding" but ringleaders will pay the penalty for their misdeeds. One of things which "appalled" him was

Gallantry Awards Go To Canadians

Ottawa, July 8. — (CP) — The determination of Canadian soldiers in Korea to keep their comrades from falling into enemy hands is shown in the citations for four immediate gallantry awards announced today by army headquarters.

One Military Cross and three Military Medals were awarded. Two of the Military Medals were given to soldiers who showed bravery in bringing back wounded comrades to their own lines.

Lieut. David Alexander Middleton, 28, of Moose Jaw, Sask., and Toronto, was cited for gallantry in action with the 1st Battalion Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, was awarded the Military Cross.

Military Medals were awarded to: Acting Sgt. Trevor Allen, 28, of Springfield, N.S., a member of the Lord Strathcona's Horse;

Cpl. John Glenford Dunbar, 26, of East Groydon, Surrey, Eng., who enlisted in Vancouver with the 1st battalion, P.P.C.L.I.;

Pte. Jean Guy Guay, 20, of Montreal, of the 1st battalion, Royal 22nd Regiment.

Cpl. Dunbar and Pte. Guay both won their medals for bravery in saving wounded soldiers. Cpl. Dunbar and Lieut. Middleton won their awards in the same action on the night of May 21 last, when the corporal carried his wounded officer away from enemy lines under heavy fire despite the lieutenant's order to leave him.

Canadian prisoner-of-war figures have been remarkably low since the first elements of the 25th brigade went into action early in 1951. Latest army figures show eight missing and one prisoner of war.

In the action May 21, Lieut.

Death Claims John Labatt At London

London, Ont., July 8.—(P)—John S. Labatt, wealthy London brewer who was the central figure in Canada's most celebrated kidnapping for ransom, died today at his summer home at nearby Port Stanley following a heart attack.

Death came to the former president of the Labatt Brewing Company of London almost 18 years after he was kidnapped—on Aug. 14, 1934—on a deserted road near Sarnia and held for $150,000 ransom. The money was never paid and he was released on Aug. 17 after being held captive at a summer cottage in the Muskoka district 130 miles north of Toronto.

MacArthur Raps Democrats; Bridges Calls For Unity

Chicago, July 8.—(P)—Old soldier Douglas MacArthur, amid a cannonade of applause, last night blasted the Democrats as a blundering "war party" and rallied Republicans to a "crusade" to rout them from office.

The General's keynote address knifed through the strife stirred by the Taft-Eisenhower battle for Presidential nomination. It united the packed convention hall in a standing ovation as it hit sharply at the Truman administration's policies.

The 57-minute speech, punctuated 73 times by handclapping and roars, formally plotted a non-partisan course in the nomination battle between Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Senator Robert Taft, of Ohio.

MacArthur, who backs Taft and who has been mentioned as a possible Vice-Presidential running mate for the Ohioan, said the Democrats are "desperate for a plan which will revive hope," to win the November election.

MacArthur named neither Taft nor Eisenhower. But he hit at the administration's policy of containment, which Eisenhower supports, and called for more air power, a Taft objective.

Comments on the speech ran to adjectives like "wonderful" and "dramatic" and "thoughtful."

MacArthur, wearing civilian clothing, spoke slowly and deliberately. He leaned well forward into a thicket of microphones and, closely following his prepared text, levelled his heaviest blast at the administration of President Truman, who fired him last year as United Nations commander in the Far East.

The administration's foreign policy, he said, "practically invited Soviet dominance over the free peoples of eastern Europe."

In the East, the U.S. "proceeded with precipitate haste to divest ourselves of our own military strength." This policy caused the loss to communism of China, North Korea and the Kuriles.

MacArthur's emotion-packed words lashed particularly at what he called the lack of the traditional will-to-win in Korea.

"Korea stands today as the hallowed graveyard for countless American dead," he said. "We must not let it become as well a graveyard for American hope, American faith and American honor."

Autonomy Stand Is Questioned

Montreal, July 8.—(P)—Georges Lapalme, Quebec Liberal leader, said yesterday although Premier Duplessis claims to be the saviour of provincial autonomy he recently turned over some of Quebec's rights in pension matters to the federal government.

Mr. Lapalme spoke at two rallies for the July 16 provincial general elections in the afternoon he spoke at St. Tite de Champlain and in the evening at Cap de la Madeleine.

His reference to old-age pensions was in connection with the federal-provincial agreement reached last winter, whereby such pensions at 70, are paid by the federal government while costs of those paid at 65 are shared evenly by the provincial and federal governments.

He urged mothers and wives to take greater interest in provincial politics "to help extricate it from the mud and dirt into which it has been plunged."

He said corruption is rampant in the Union Nationale party, and said as a lawyer he had seen a man sentenced to seven days in jail for stealing a loaf of bread.

"But whole mountains of the province have been stolen by these people who today are great of the hour."

He said he was referring to the exchange and handling of woodcut areas which "had been done for the benefit of Union Nationale party followers."

Premier Duplessis, speaking at Rigaud, Que., said federal members of Parliament should "keep their noses out of Quebec affairs."

He said the federal government abolished the "double mandate" under which a man could sit in both the House of Commons and the Quebec Legislature because it was realized "it was impossible for a man to serve two masters."

Mr. Duplessis said Georges Lapalme admitted publicly last week that at the present time he did not have a job and was paid a salary by the Liberal party.

"That is evidence that Mr. Lapalme is devoted to service of a party and not service to the people of the province of Quebec."

He said that choosing a government is important but in the present election "it is the whole future of the province that is at stake."

Premier Duplessis said that if Quebec people wanted to see the province prosper in the same way and same degree that it had dur-

CHANEY VIEWS MONSTERS RIPE FOR 'TASTEFUL' HORROR MOVIES

Hollywood—Behind the Screen: The monster's about to grab the goose-pimpled heroine again and carry her out on the lonely moors while the studio "moonlight" shines through her nightie and movie audiences choke on their popcorn.

That's the prediction of Lon Chaney, Jr., who hit stardom as a horror man in "The Dracula, Frankenstein and Wolfman series. Lon, currently menacing Gary Cooper in "Springfield Rifle," says that screamer-jeamers will bring stay-at-homes rushing back to the box office and adds:

"Horror is as ripe as Hades in Hollywood right now. All the studios, particularly U.I., are beginning to realize it. Hollywood killed the horror picture cycle that my dad started. He was a sympathetic horror man and there was always a reason for it.

"Producers started to put too much horror into movies. The PTA's and religious groups protested and producers stopped making them. Now we're going to start again—his time with some taste and discipline."

They're writing "Jean Simmons and Bob Mitchum Get Along" on the walls at RKO. Jean and Bob co-star in "The Murder" when they finish "Beautiful, But Dangerous," but crew members still remember how Bob and Susan Hayward tangled during production of "The Lusty Men."

I asked Bob about it and got this: "Maybe Susan didn't like me, but I liked her."

Too Heavy For Ladd
There are heavy acting scripts from tales by Theodore Dreiser, F. Scott Fitzgerald and Henry James being offered to Alan Ladd, but he's turning them down with a "No, thanks."

It seems that the boys who guessed that Alan was out to prove he was in the Lawrence Olivier class when he left Paramount were wrong.

Mr. Box Office isn't giving up the Ladd style.
"I don't want to convince anybody that I'm the world's greatest actor," Alan shrugged on "The Iron Mistress" set. "It's too late for that, anyhow. I left Paramount because I wanted important stories. I just want to entertain people."

He goes to London for "Red Beret" when he completes "Desert Legion" for U-I, then return to Hollywood for two more films at Paramount, five for Warners and one additional U-I flicker.

She'll avoid being a Sagebrush Sue on her NBC telefilms, too. "Too many westerns on TV," Judy confided. "The story is what's going to count in my series. We're going to pick all kinds of locations so that we won't be hemmed in by any set cast or format."

The contract between Judy Canova and Republic is the first in Hollywood history to give a star the right to devote most of her time to TV and make movies when she's free.

It's in the fine print of her contract and may cut down her movie Bishopston, July 8. — St. Luke's Guild of Magog, presented their three act comedy, "Three Pegs," by Alice Williams Chaplin, at the Bishopston Town Hall, on Thursday evening, June 26th.

This play directed by Mrs. Jane Pilton and Mrs. John Comfort, was excellently portrayed, although the audience was very small.

THE LADIES' AID

The regular meeting of the Ladies Aid of the United Church was held in the Sunday School room, on Wednesday afternoon, June 25, with an attendance of eighteen members and visitors.

The meeting under the presidency of Mrs. M. Porter, was opened by the repeating of the "Lord's Prayer" followed by the reading of the minutes of the last meeting and the roll call.

Discussion took place on several items pertaining to the work of the society and plans were completed for the play to be given by the St. Luke's Anglican Church Guild of Magog, which was to take place the following evening.

Rev. and Mrs. Nickerson and Mrs. Mitchell, of East Angus, were present.

The July meeting of the Aid will be held in the same place on the last Wednesday in this month. Lunch was served by Mrs. M. Porter, Mrs. Denzil Kenney and Mrs. Grace Downes.

making to one a year after she completes "The Hot Heiress" in London this summer.

In this and her current film, "Wac From Walla-Walla," Judy is going light on the cowgirl theme, concentrating instead on background comedy that has nothing to do with her hill-billy past.

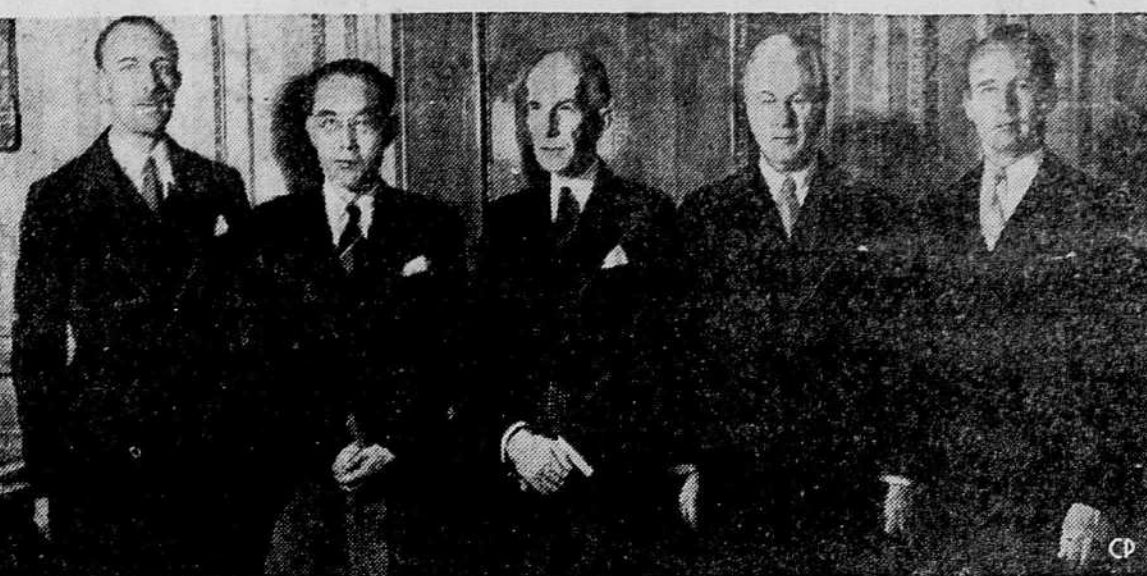

"I'm Not An Actor"
Cowboy star Rex Allen will desert the saddle long enough to star in "The Life of James Whitcomb Riley" for Republic in the fall.

It's not an attempt to switch to duels roles, though, and Rex is saying: "Even if I could, I wouldn't want to get out of westerns. I was born a cowboy, I've lived as a cowboy. It's my life. Anyhow, I'm not an actor."

New York's highest-paid and most-seen TV queen is saying phooey to talk that a lot of video Bernhards just aren't interested in old-fashioned, dying Hollywood.

"Sour grapes," howled Nina Foch, who's back in town to play a Mexican chamber in MGM's "Sombbrero." "Anybody in television who gets a movie offer is going to be interested. We're in the acting business. Wherever it's more advantageous to me and easier to act, that's where I go."

New York or Hollywood as the future centre of TV? I think it will be nice if everybody just relaxed," says Nina. "There's plenty of room for both New York and Hollywood."

Guy Blanchette Says Col. Bourque Has Not Clarified Lots Transaction

Ste. Hermenegilde, July 8.—“All that Hon. J. S. Bourque has done is his supposed answer to the definite charges I have brought against him and his friends of the Union Nationale concerning the exchange of lots is to confirm the truth of the facts, earlier made official by deeds passed through the registry office, without giving any clarification as I demanded in the name of the public concerning these transactions,” declared Guy Blanchette, of Sherbrooke, during the course of an address here last evening, in support of Gerard Bergeron, Liberal candidate in Compton county.

Mr. Blanchette criticized Mr. Bourque for having taken fifteen or twenty minutes of his speech “in an effort to blacken me, adding that the Minister had not denied that the transactions with the Tessiers and the Morins had taken place and that 11,208 acres of “cutover wood” situated in La Patrie and St. Mathias had been “exchanged for 15,329 acres of virgin forest, taken from the natural resources of the Province, without stumpage duties or ground rents.”

Replying to Mr. Bourque's charges that he had made a base attack, Mr. Blanchette quoted a recent statement by Mr. Lapalme

Recordings Led To May's Huge Success

Nowhere in the annals of popular music's history has there been an entry that could compare to the spectacular acclaim gained by Billy May and his orchestra, which plays tonight at the Arena.

With the unheralded release of three recordings by Capitol Records a new era in the dance music field was established. Two of the sides, “All of Me” and “My Silent Love,” had already been heard and acclaimed by dancers, having been previously featured in a dance album for the Arthur Murray series.

Mrs. Candace Turner, of Magog (above), is celebrating a birthday today—her 91st.

The little old lady, who is esteemed and respected by a host of friends, was awarded the Medal of Merit by the Canadian Red Cross on May 25, for her valuable contributions to that organization. She has knitted some 800 articles for the Red Cross and continues her work in spite of the fact that her eyesight is now beginning to fail.

Otherwise Mrs. Turner is in excellent health and frequently comes down to Sherbrooke to visit her grandchildren. She was also able to take a trip to the States this spring.

She makes her home in Magog with Mr. and Mrs. Grayson Turner and is looking forward to a family gathering in her honor at Brompton Lake, this Sunday.

Auto Plows Into Lake At Hatley

North Hatley, July 8.—A man who had his feet wet but not literally had a hair-raising adventure at North Hatley's famous hill yesterday and provided an equally hair-raising few moments for a group of people “thick like flies” about the lake.

A resident of the Waterville area, driving a 1934-model Ford, missed the turn as he attempted to round onto the bridge and scattered people in all directions as he zoomed into the lake, making swimmers out of two rowboats owned by C. W. Ride. As if protected by St. Inebrius, he missed two trees as he was laced-bound.

The car ended up in about four feet of water right at the Ride pier and the diver was able to emerge and climb onto the pier without getting wet.

“Are you drunk?” inquired one of the investigating Provincial Policemen.

“You bet your life I am,” said the Waterville man.

He will appear in court, probably later today.

Report On International Convention Is Given Optimists By Crochetiere

A report on the recent Optimist International Convention at Louisville, Ky., was given to the local Optimists last night by Henry Crochetiere who was Sherbrooke's representative there.

Mr. Crochetiere said that 1,800 persons were in attendance at the convention and that Optimist International now embraces 60,000 members in 800 clubs throughout the United States, Canada, Mexico and Puerto Rico. The immediate goal of International is 1,000 clubs and 100,000 members, he said.

The Sherbrooke delegate said that J. Warren Day, of Houston, Texas, had been elected president of International for the coming year.

One of the great convention features, he said, was the boys' oratorical contest in which 145 of the 28 Optimist districts competed for scholarships valued at $1,000, $800 and $600, respectively. Their topic was: “Optimism, Faith and Courage.”

Mr. Crochetiere stated he was now converted to the idea of the oratorical contests and hoped that next year a competitor would be entered from district 28, in which Sherbrooke is located.

After attending the convention, Mr. Crochetiere said he was more than ever convinced that in its message, “friend of the boy” citizen of tomorrow, Optimism was better than any other service organization in the world.

During the meeting, President Erich Marquardt, on behalf of the club, presented a silver tray to Jean Chartier, sports editor of La Tribune, who covers the meetings for his paper. Mr. Chartier is to be married Saturday.

Three guests were introduced: James Clowery, of Columbus, Ohio, by his brother, Don Clowery; Billy James, by Paul Delorme; and Ted Pizzali, by Paul Allard.

President Marquardt announced that Boys' Town had opened Monday morning and urged the members to drop down regularly and show the youngsters they are interested in them. Copies of Sports Guide, booklet which governs the conduct of the lads at Boys' Town, were given the members.

Seated at the head table were: Henri Blais, Mr. Crochetiere, the president, Mr. Chartier, Frank Edwards and Jacques Laliberte.

Lions Honor Members With 10-Year Records

The Sherbrooke Lions Club last night honored some of its older members and heard the first of three reports by local delegates to the Lions International convention at Mexico City last month.

Old Monarch chevrons were presented to six members who have completed 10 years service with the club.

Club president Douglas Amaron made the presentations to Leopold Chevalier, Jos. Begin, Alberic Julien, Wilfrid Routhier, J. A. Ste. Marie, and Neil Tracy, a seventh 10-year member, Dr. Rene DuBerger, was unable to be present.

Dr. A. N. Dupuis, who is a charter member of the club and who completed his 10th year last year, was presented with his 10-year charter chevron.

Mr. Amaron, in making the presentations, paid tribute to the loyalty of these members to their club and spoke of the contributions they all have made to the work of the club during the last 10 years.

Cecil Dunn, one of the club's three delegates to the Mexico City convention, reported on the trip to and from the convention. The delegates travelled from Sherbrooke to Toronto by car and from Toronto to Mexico City by air.

Mr. Dunn also told something about conditions in Mexico City itself and about the accommodation problems faced by the more than 10,000 delegates to the convention.

At later meetings, Edgar Strachan and Rene Robert, the other delegates, will deal with different phases of the trip and the convention itself.

It was announced that next Monday's meeting will be held at noon, following the practice of alternating meetings between noon and evening during the summer months.

Local Scheme To Train Doctors For General Practice Is Praised

Sherbrooke's scheme to train young doctors for general practice is praised in the current issue of the Canadian Medical Association Journal.

Dr. T. J. Quintin of Sherbrooke says in an article that “probably as the direct result of the scheme,” three young doctors of the 19 trained here will return to practice in the area, and another will go into practice in another part of rural Quebec.

The scheme, sponsored by Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal, and set up for a group of five hospitals, sends two young interns through Sherbrooke hospital services every two months.

Idea, the article says, is to develop the old idea of apprenticeship of medicine and to encourage young doctors to make and take personal interest in patients.

Sherbrooke doctors let the young intern look at the life of a busy doctor in general practice and take them to see men in smaller villages.

“The interns get to know something of the districts from which a hospital draws its patients and where ‘Sam McLeod’ turns up in the district the intern has visited,” the article says.

The responsibilities of dog owners, municipalities, and owners of farm animals were outlined in a recent radio address by W. G. MacDougall, County Agriculturalist, on protection of livestock.

Owners Of Dogs Asked To Co-Operate With Municipalities To Protect Sheep

Mr. MacDougall recommended that municipal council arrange suitable regulations to control the abuses of livestock by dogs and bears. “In the Eastern Townships,” he said, “the sheep population has decreased by at least eighty per cent in the last thirty years, and one of the main factors of this decrease has been the damage caused by dogs and bears.”

Regarding bears, the Provincial Government will pay a bounty of $5 to all residents killing a bear within the limits of the Province and where a bear was apparently a danger to farm animals, but no bounty will be paid for killing bears on the premises of a fishing and hunting club or in a national park. The person killing a bear has to fill in a sworn declaration, bring to the mayor or J.P., or superior court commissioner of the district where the bear was killed, the entire body or the head with the skin of the skull and the ears not detached from the head; prove to the satisfaction of the authorities that the bear was killed by the person claiming the bounty; the mayor or justice of the peace must cut the ears from the head and burn them before delivering a certificate to the huntsman.

Cooler Weather Due Tomorrow

Here's welcome news, if the weatherman knows his business. Cooler weather is in store for tomorrow.

The noon forecast from Dorval today was that the hot, sunny weather will continue today but that it will be followed tomorrow by cloudy, cooler weather, accompanied by showers and thundershowers.

That doesn't mean that a cold spell is on its way. A maximum of 80 is forecast for tomorrow and a minimum of 67.

Yesterday, by the way, was the hottest day of the year, with the official reading of the thermometer at the Experimental Farm at Lennoxville showing a 90 degree top.

Today's maximum was forecast at 88, but predictions were that it would pass that mark.

130 MILES ON BIKES: The heat failed to discourage this young couple from Beaurepaire, Que., from cycling 130 miles from their home town to Sherbrooke. Norma Ferguson and Robert High are the couple who made the trip last week, when it wasn't quite as warm as today but when the temperature was still well up in the 80's. UNFAIR TO CANADA

Ottawa may be wise in letting Dr. James Endicott off with a severe public tongue lashing for spreading poisonous Communist propaganda lies, but, in the opinion of the Vancouver Sun, because Canada does not choose to martyr him by prosecuting him for abusing the privilege of free speech, that is no reason for letting him continue abusing the privilege of a Canadian passport.

Endicott has discredited himself in the minds of all decent Canadians. But as long as he keeps his passport, he retains official Canadian backing as he glides around Red countries vouching as a Canadian for whatever new rottenness the Reds think will rouse hatred against Canada and other UN nations.

A passport is not necessarily issued to every Canadian who asks for it. It goes only to a reputable Canadian citizen as a formal request by the Canadian government to other countries to treat him with all courtesy as a decent Canadian.

Endicott can hardly claim this reputation.

Not when Justice Minister Garson denounces him as a dupe and tool of "the forces of oppression, terror and atheism," when CCF leader Coldwell finds Endicott's mouthings "deplorable," and a leading Progressive Conservative like John Diefenbaker agrees with them.

Continuing his passport is akin to backing a cheque for a well-known forger.

True, cancelling it won't keep Endicott home. But it will formally warn other countries that this man is not vouchered for by his own country and they deal with him at their own risk.

Fairness to reputable Canadians using passport almost demands lifting Endicott's.

If he can continue travelling on a Canadian passport, how much stock will other countries put in anyone's Canadian passport?

U.S. ISOLATIONIST TREND

The American people are "tending to drift more and more toward isolationism," Quentin Reynolds, editor-in-chief of the United Nations World reports in a special nation-wide survey of the trend of foreign-policy opinion in the magazine's July issue.

Alarmed by an increasing flood of unsolicited letters expressing "doubts and fears," Mr. Reynolds says, U.N. World sent a questionnaire to all the daily newspaper editors in the country and to ten thousand general citizens, asking their opinion on the present attitude of Americans on nine issues with international implications.

Six out of ten said they believe they would jeopardize their social or business interests in voicing an unorthodox opinion. "Very few felt that they were as free to express their views as they had been before the war," Mr. Reynolds says. Yet some six out of ten said they would like to see more investigations, loyalty boards and oaths, while 67 per cent felt we have too much thought control. Most of those who thought there was too much of it "indicated in their explanations that they were in fear of potential thought control rather than concerned about the present situation."

To the question, "Are the American people going isolationist?" 67 per cent answered yes. Mr. Reynolds says, and "the ratio of 67 per cent to 33 per cent did not merely represent the attitude of the Midwest; it represented the attitude everywhere."

Replies to other questions indicated that while less than half the people are impatient enough to want to withdraw from Europe or Asia, "one or two more acts of aggression" would make only 17 per cent "mad enough to go to war."

The survey showed that 83 per cent do not believe that "peace" and "appeasement" are synonymous. "The general sentiment seemed to be that searching for peace is in no way incompatible with a determination to achieve security," Mr. Reynolds said.

DANGER IN BLASTING CAPS

While thousands of sticks of dynamite and thousands of blasting caps are safely used every day in mines, quarries, road building, land clearing, oil prospecting, construction and other important jobs, serious accidents can happen if they get into inexperienced hands.

Consequently, with the summer work season approaching full swing, explosives engineers repeat their annual warning to parents and children: "If you find blasting caps or explosives lying about, do not touch them but notify police or other authorities immediately."

There are two types of blasting caps, both readily recognized as small aluminum or copper cylinders slightly less in diameter than an ordinary pencil. Both types are designed to detonate dynamite and are loaded with powerful and sensitive explosive charges for this purpose. One type, about an inch and a half long, has an open end and is fired by flame from a fuse. The other type, from two to five inches long, has two wires extending from one end and is fired by electrical current. Either type, if struck with a hammer or rock, may kill or injure anyone standing within a 25-foot radius.

Dynamite cartridges are usually about eight inches long and an inch or so in diameter. Special types may be up to two feet long and from four to eight inches thick. Most have a brown waxed paper shell but some are in cardboard tubes. The important point to remember is that they are all sensitive and their purpose is to explode with tremendous force. In skilled hands they are essential tools. In the hands of children or inexperienced adults they can cause injury or death.

The warning is repeated: If you find blasting caps or explosives, don't touch them. Report them to police or other authorities.

GOP AND DEMS ARE IN POSITION TO TAKE MACHINE CANDIDATES

By PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

Chicago — (NEA) — On the eve of the presidential nominating conventions in Chicago, both Republican and Democratic parties placed themselves in position to take machine candidates in place of the people's choices.

If public opinion polls mean a thing this year, they have indicated consistently that in the minds of the voters Gen. Dwight Eisenhower and Sen. Estes Kefauver had a slight edge over their opponents.

The professional politicians, however, have indicated plainly that they wouldn't take Estes and they didn't like Ike. This has been shown in most of the states where convention delegates have been picked by the state convention method.

These states went largely to favorite sons or national machine favorites. The situation in the two major parties differs on this point.

Republican Old Guard machine strength has been concentrated behind Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio. In state after state the GOP bosses who have kept the party organization together through 20 lean — for them — political years, have lined up behind Taft. This is particularly true in the South.

The result is that Senator Taft entered the Chicago convention with an initial advantage of from 200 votes — his own count — down to the 75-to-100 lead which more neutral and disinterested scorers give him.

But it is entirely possible that Taft could win the nomination on the first or an early ballot.

Taft Began Working For Nomination in '30

Senator Taft won this advantage in the same way that Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York won it in 1948. This way by superior organization in the states.

Learning the lesson which Governor Dewey taught in that victory, Senator Taft began working for this year's nomination right after he won reelection to the Senate in 1950. And his managers have been in the field picking up delegates. This, also, was the way Jim Farley won the nomination for Roosevelt in 1932.

Backers of General Eisenhower got into the business late. Part of the delay was in getting a clear statement from their candidate that he was available.

Winning the presidency is done in two parts. The first step is to win the convention delegates who have the power to vote the nomination. The second is to win support from a majority of the voters who elect the President.

There is still a chance that Eisenhower can get the nomination. Wendell Wilkie was the Republican people's choice in 1940. He wasn't given a chance by the professional politicians who assembled for the GOP convention in Philadelphia that year. But he won over Taft on the sixth ballot. Ike's managers think their man can do that this year.

In the Democratic race, the professional political bosses have shown no hesitancy in letting it be known that they do not share the public support for Senator Kefauver.

Part of this stems from what he did to the big city professional gamblers. Scott Lucas of Illinois, who blames his 1950 defeat in the Senate on Kefauver's crime expose, has been a "stop Kefauver" leader.

Stevenson Stands As Politicians' Favorite

President Truman himself has outwardly shown strict presidential and impartiality for all Democratic presidential hopefuls. On his behalf, however, people like Secretary of Interior Oscar Chapman have been using their influence to persuade Illinois Gov. Adlai Stevenson to head the Democratic ticket.

Governor Stevenson therefore stands today as the politicians' favorite, even though he has only 50 delegates against Kefauver's 250. Senator Kefauver would need 366 more votes for the 616 necessary to give him the nomination. Where they are to come from is not at all clear.

There are approximately 375 unpledged Democratic delegates. They are expected to split among nearly a dozen candidates on early ballots. Barring only a runaway convention, however, these unpledged delegates are ultimately expected to go where the party bosses want them to go, just as in the Republican convention.

Building up Governor Stevenson's strength from an even greater handicap is being carefully plotted, though probably without the governor's knowledge or consent.

First indication was the reported offer of the vice-presidency to Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia. Kefauver's campaign manager, Gael Sullivan, took a wide swing at that one. Actually, the offer made to Russell was that he could have either the vice presidency or the majority leadership in the Senate.

The various favorite son booms for Williams of Michigan, Dever of Massachusetts, Humphrey of Minnesota, Bulky of Ohio are regarded as largely holding operations.

Their delegates are expected to fall into line for whomever the party bosses finally agree on.

'Talk to My Lawyer'

APPROPRIATE CARTOONS

Editor: I feel the urge to send, along with my compliments to the artist, a brief comment on a pair of excellent cartoons in recent issues—one showing an iceberg with the submerged mass labeled "Hidden Taxes" with "Income" and other clearly labeled taxes above the water-line, with the descriptive head, "Brother, You Don't Know the Half of It!"; while the other pictorial story said its proverbial thousand words, by indicating the giant "Cold War" blithely pouring buckets of $$$ into a hole in the ground, as battered old Global Man stands by and cries, "Oh, Boy! What I Could Do With All That Stuff!"

The latter can be easily disposed of, because in that same issue the news from Ottawa carried a suggestion put forward by Canada's organized farmers and which "urged the Government to establish a $500,000,000 defence food plan" — the money to be raised by deducting about ten per cent from Canada's three-year, $5,000,000,000 defence program. (CP). I have not the necessary experience to comment on all the implications and consequences likely to stem from this decidedly thought-provoking idea—but it does seem to me to be 'long' on commonsense—which, if I remember accurately, one of the wise men described as "the highest statesmanship."

In connection with that iceberg scene, with the approaching liner, s.s. "National Economy", it reminded me of the fact that only about one-sixth of the average iceberg shows above the waterline. This, in turn, was reminiscent of the Lenin formula: "The democratic countries must be either tempted or compelled to spend themselves into bankruptcy."

In Emerson's "Politics" there is this picture: "Of all debts men are least willing to pay the taxes. What a satire is this on government. Everywhere they think they get their money's worth, except for these."

Doolittle Raider Has Returned To Japan For Christianity

Osaka, Japan.—(AP)—No man of God draws bigger crowds in Japan than Rev. Jacob DeShazer, Christian missionary.

His theme is "hold no bitterness in your heart." For three years the people of this country have flocked to hear his remarkable story.

As a member of the U.S. air force, Sgt. Jacob DeShazer bombed Japan spectacularly in the early days of the Pacific war—and then endured 42 months as a Japanese captive.

Missionary DeShazer says Sgt. DeShazer was "quite a rough character" back in 1942. For three years the people of this country have flocked to hear his remarkable story.

DeShazer's plane ran out of gas over Japanese-held Chinese territory. The crew parachuted in the dead of night. Bombardier DeShazer and the others in his crew were picked up the next day by the Japanese, with three survivors of another crash. The pilot and rear gunner of DeShazer's plane were beheaded. So was the pilot of the other crashed plane.

DeShazer entered Seattle, Pacific College in 1945 and began studying for the ministry. He came back to Japan in December 1948—with the wife he had met in college.

Today, Rev. DeShazer, representing the Japan Free Methodist Mission at Osaka, travels to all parts of Japan.

He uses a car equipped with loudspeaker to drum up attendance for nightly meetings. In sermons he always uses an interpreter. "I say a sentence and the interpreter repeats it. It sounds like a slow business, but the Japanese will go to hear an American in greater numbers than they will go to hear a Japanese preacher."

DeShazer's ex-prison guards now are his good friends. "One of the guards visits at my home in Osaka for a week at a time. He brings his little girl and she plays with my sons," DeShazer has two sons, Paul, 4, and John, 2.

One Japanese woman went to the DeShazer sermon in an angry frame of mind. Her husband had been killed by U.S. bombs. She carried a knife to one of DeShazer's meetings, planning to slay him.

"At the meeting," he smiled, "she had a change of heart. Later she visited my home and brought flowers. She finally married a Buddhist priest but she still prays now and then."

HERE'S A GOOD TIP: YOU FIGURE THE REST

"This is a play that every first class player would make on paper," Harry Fishbein told me the other night, "but nobody would make it at the table!"

Harry Fishbein, the famous impresario of New York's Mayfair Club, never gives me a dull hand, so I always listen to him very carefully. I suggest that you cover up the East-West cards and decide for yourself how you would play the North and South hands at a contract of six diamonds.

"You get a spade opening lead," Fishbein told me. "And you put up the queen from dummy. East covers with the king, and you win in your own hand with the ace. How do you continue?"

"I lead the queen and then the jack of diamonds," Fishbein declared. "Both defenders follow to the first round of diamonds." Fishbein declared, "but East throws a heart on the second trump."

Take it from here, dear reader, how would you assure the contract against any distribution?

The right play is to lead a third trump to the king, discard the losing spade on the ace of hearts, and lead a low club from dummy.

If East plays low, you take a safety finesse of the seven or eight of clubs. Lou don't mind losing this finesse, because the top clubs will then surely clear the suit. The finesse would actually hold, and the slam would then be on ice.

If East puts up the nine of clubs, you win with the king, return the low club to dummy's queen, and then lead another club through East.

It is important to note that you are worried only about a 5-0 break in clubs. If West has all the clubs, you can do nothing about it. If East has all the clubs, however,

Q.—The bidding has been: East South West North 1 Diamond Double Redbl 1 Spade Pass ?

You, South, hold: Spades Q-J-7-3, Hearts A-9-6-2, iDiamond 4, Clubs A-K-8-5. What do you do?

A.—Bid two spades. Your partner's free bid shows at least a five-card spade suit with some slight strength (or a four-card spade suit with more than slight strength). With any such hand he should be able to make two spades easily, and there may even be a game in the hand (if one of the opponents has been up to mischief).

TODAY'S QUESTION

The bidding is the same as in the question just answered. You, South, hold: Spades K-J-7-3, Hearts A-Q-6-2, iDiamond 4, Clubs A-K-8-5. What do you do?

The Record Short Story

WHEN WIVES COLLUDE

By HOLLIS STARNES

"There's concoctin' an conspirin'," chambermaid Kate Kilfeather told the beautiful blonde, who, despite midsummer heat in the heart of New York, looked cool as seafoam. "Then again there's connivin' an' colludin'." But since ye ask me advice, what this case calls for is colludin'."

"Colludin'?" Madge Storrs' tense, troubled echo belied her outer composure. Her setting seemed strangely incongruous — a fashion plate perched on a rickety, unpainted stool in the maid's linen room of the shabby old Hotel San Pedro, off Broadway.

But the stunning young wife of Hollywood hero Reggie Storrs had her blue eyes fixed on the plump, gray-haired woman who went on sorting laundry as she talked.

"Take them ratty divorce cases, where husband an' wife want out from each other, an' agree—" "Collusion, yes," Madge cut in. "But Reggie and I don't want a divorce. As to the other couple—" "Same here," said Katie. "Eve Patton's nuts about her big lug, an' vice versa."

"But why did she wire my husband to give her a part in the play he's to do at summer theatres, before he starts his next picture? Everyone knows about their old romance!" The show-wise maid, who during her years among theatrical folk, has seen countless romances, flourish and fade, asked lightly, "So what? She married Kent Patton, whilst your man—" "Married his poor little hometown sweetheart, on the rebound!" Madge filled in with a touch of bitterness. "He said he couldn't be happy with a girl like Eve, whose name and wages topped his."

The maid wagged her head. "Times have changed! Poor Eve ain't earned a thin dime since she's been Mrs. Patton. Her name's shrunk to midget size, sittin' back bein' just a wife."

Madge said, "Reggie argues that's the only reason she wired him for work. But why doesn't her own husband give her a job? Kent Patton's a big Broadway stage star—he's doing a new play this fall."

"Pat's got a phobia about husband an' wife actin' teams," the maid sighed. "Eve had to swear, when she wed him, never to ask for a part in his shows. She thought then she'd be sittin' home—but now she's bored stiff."

"In any case, it's outrageous of her to ask to be in Reggie's show!" "I'll tell ye somethin'," Katie confided. "Pat still goes green-eyed at mention of Reg's name. Eve figured if Reg offered her this job, Pat might break down an' let her be in his own show."

"Why didn't she tell Reggie that and save me all this heartbreak?" "Would ye have believed her?" Madge shrugged. "No, I'm jealous of her, and right now I'm bitter as well. She caused the first serious quarrel Reg and I ever had. I said if he had in his case, I'd leave him. He said if that's all I trusted him, it might be just as well. So I took the plane east. Now I'm in a panic!"

The motherly maid took time out from her chores to pat her visitor's shoulders. For a moment Madge rested her head against the older woman. Then she said humbly, "It's helped me to come here and talk to you, Katie. Reg often speaks of you; how good you were to him when he lived here, poor and unknown."

"Shucks, I did nothin'!" "He wanted me to meet you when we came east for our honeymoon. But I knew he'd met Eve here, it's where their romance started. So I wouldn't come. But today I was desperate."

Katie said as she went back to work. "Let's get down to business. A bit of colludin' with Eve should work this thing out hunky-dory!" Madge shuddered. "Would I have to meet her?"

"Mebbe not. I'll call her up first, start the ball rollin', then give ye a buzz at the Waldorf. Now off with ye, chin up. Remember, if wives collude, hubbies ain't got much chance!"

When her linen was bagged and tagged, Katie called the Pattons' Long Island home. Eve reported morosely, "Pat's in town, hearing other actresses read the part I'm dying to play."

The Doctor Says:

FIND GALLSTONES MOST COM-MON IN WOMEN BETWEEN 40
AND 50

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.
Stagnation, or slowing of the flow of bile through the gall bladder, is believed to be at least one of the causes of gallstones.

Although no one knows exactly why stagnation should occur, such things as excessive fatness, lack of exercise, wearing of corsets, sagging of the abdominal organs and long-held position of stopping forward may slow the bile flow.

Whatever the cause for the formation of gallstones, they become increasingly common after 30 and are most frequent between 40 and
50. About three-fourths of all cases are in women.

Gallstone can get caught in the duct or passageway leading out of the gall bladder and produce severe pain and blockage to the flow of bile. Unless this happens the symptoms are likely to be rather mild, at least at first.

The most common symptom is "indigestion." Many people merely complain of a sense of fullness in the abdomen and a vague feeling of discomfort. Sometimes nausea and vomiting, with an increase in the amount of intestinal gas, is complained of. At times there is some pain in the region of the gall bladder and this may be felt also

Gallstones can almost always be detected by means of X-rays. Some of them can be found by a simple X-ray plate of the gall bladder region. In most cases, however, a special dye, or coloring matter, has to be given to the patient which is eliminated through the gall bladder. An X-ray taken at the proper time after taking this dye shows an outline of any gallstones present.

Mrs. W. asks a double-barreled question about gallstones: "Is surgery the only treatment, and what chance do you think a woman 75 years old stands of coming through a gall bladder operation?"

Surgery Not Always Best
Now, to the first part of the question, the answer is that there is no medicine which will dissolve stones, nor is there any sure way of making them pass down the bile duct into the intestines. Consequently, operation often has to be seriously considered, though it is not always advisable.

A woman 75 years old—or anyone else—must depend on the judgment of the surgeon as to whether the particular symptoms, age, physical condition, and other circumstances do or not warrant an operation.

Bury W. A. Held Meeting, Shower For Miss Atkins

Bury, July 8. — The June meeting of the Women's Association was held on Thursday afternoon, June 12, at the home of Mrs. Earl Goodenough, with Mrs. W. E. Goodenough and Mrs. Thomas Lawrence, the joint hostesses.

There was a very large attendance. In the absence of the President and vice-presidents, who were detained at their respective homes by illness, the chair was taken by Mrs. L. D. MacLeod, who called the meeting to order.

The devotional period was conducted by the secretary, Mrs. A. Whitehead, taking the Scripture from St. Matthew XXV: 14-30. The subject, "In the use of Talents," and many interesting thoughts were brought forward. Prayer and the "Lord's Prayer" in unison concluded the devotional period.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and adopted. Several letters of appreciation were read from members who had been remembered when ill, also one from the Friendly Group of Cookshire, expressing their thanks for donation, to assist them with the work to be done at the parsonage. Two small bills were ordered paid and two members made their contribution to the birthday box. Mrs. G. W. Lawrence and Mrs. H. A. Taitton having attended.

Mr. Pierre Allard, driving Mr. Antonio Doucet's automobile last Sunday afternoon, parked it temporarily on the crest of the hill on Lindsay Street directly opposite the St. Francis Roman Catholic Church, for some unknown reason the emergency brakes failed to hold with the result the car started off down hill gaining momentum as it did so, until it finally crashed into a tree directly in front of Mr. G. Gregoire's residence on Lindsay street. Damages have been estimated at around $700, but luckily no one was injured as no children were playing on the street at the time the car got out of control.

Officers and men of 140th Anti-Tank Regiment R.C.A. (R.F.) comprising Batteries of Drummondville, Victoriaville and Sorel under the Command of Lt-Colonel J. E. Celebration of French-Canada's national holiday St. Jean Baptiste was celebrated here last Monday evening at St. Therese Park, Mercure Blvd. The occasion was marked by a concert by the Drummondville Harmony Band, followed by the traditional bonfire witnessed by several thousand spectators in attendance, the parish priest, Father Joseph Beauchemin, addressed the large attendance, which was concluded by a dance in which young and old alike participated. Tuesday high mass was celebrated at St. Frederick's Church, Brock street, at 9:30 a.m. During the course of the afternoon hundreds of children took part in organized games and races held at St. Joseph playgrounds with several prizes being awarded to the winners in the main sport events. The civic authorities had intended to conclude the day with a spectacular display of fireworks in the evening at Woodat Park, but this part of the program had to be postponed until the following evening on account of the electric storm and heavy rain that fell the previous evening. However Wednesday evening was warm and fine for this grand display and an estimated crowd of 16,000 were on hand for the fireworks, which proved to be the finest of its kind ever presented here, which included jets, waterfalls, maple leaf, flying saucers, etc. The city fathers can well be proud of the grand success of this very brilliant display.

St. Jean Baptiste Celebration In Coaticook

Coaticook, July 8. — The annual festivities of the local St. Jean Baptiste Society were highly successful this year and showed much preparation and careful planning by the committee in charge.

The program got off to a fine start on Monday with a gathering of over 700 people at Lawrence Park to witness the traditional "feu de la St. Jean" and a marvelous fireworks display.

The blessing was pronounced by Father L. M. Lemay and the torch was applied to the bonfire stack by Major Raoul Lawrence. The preparation of this feature of the evening was arranged by Mr. J. L. Bouchard and Jean Dupuis.

On added attraction was folk dancing by young people in traditional costumes and a group of children directed by Andre Lavoie rendered several musical numbers.

Tuesday, following Mass at St. Edmond Church, an attractive street parade with several nicely decorated floats led off the full day's program planned by the Society.

In the afternoon further festivities took place at the Park with president Francois Durand, in charge. Speeches by several prominent citizens were heard, including Mayor Lawrence, Louis Devost, Antonio Daigle, Father Lemay and Lucien Bouchard.

An evening presentation, by Sherbrooke talent, of an operetta, ended the celebration and was much enjoyed by all present.

A CHRISTENING
The christening of the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Edwards, took place in the United Church on Sunday, June 22.

MISSION CIRCLE

The Baptist Women's Mission Circle met on June 20, at the home of Mrs. John Brennan, with ten members present.

Mrs. Clayton Drew, of Barnston, presented the topic and the discussion period was led by Mrs. Harry Baldwin.

Following the business meeting tea was served by the hostess.

General Notes

Rev. D. W. Terry, of Montreal, was a guest of the Baptist congregation last week-end. He conducted service at Dixville and Barnston on Sunday, in Coaticook Rev. Terry completed arrangements for the induction service of the new Baptist Pastor, Rev. Kenneth Miller, which is to be held on July 17.

Mrs. George Allen, of Toronto, Ont., is a guest of her niece, Mrs. Gordon Drew, and Mr. Drew.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Akhurst have returned from Toronto, Ont., where they were guests at the Royal York Hotel, attending the banquet and Grand Lodge Session of the Independent Order of Oddfellows, of the Grand Lodge of Ontario.

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion, Coaticook, Branch, will be held on July 3, at the Legion Home. It is hoped that all members and prospective members will be present.

Mr. John Donaldson and Miss Jean Donaldson, were in Montreal, on June 21, to attend the wedding of their nephew, Mr. Alex Donaldson, Jr., of Verdun. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Campbell Donaldson, of Cabot, Vt.

Reports are still coming in of damage caused by a recent electrical storm. Mrs. John Cutting tells of a fine, large old tree on their property being destroyed by the gale.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Akhurst are guests of Mr. E. E. Akhurst. Miss Olive Parker, of Montreal, has arrived to spend the summer vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Parker.

The local Legion Branch fails to understand the unpatriotic attitude of some local firms in working on a national holiday, namely, Dominion Day, July 1.

Rev. D. W. B. Perry and Mrs. Perry were visitors in Montreal and attended a meeting held in the Laurentian Hotel.

Rumor has it that two candidates for the Council seat vacated by Jean Lincourt, will be Donat Ruel and John Bissonnette.

Up to now the election fever has not struck Coaticook very hard and we seem to hear very little propaganda from either side.

We understand a certain party who has been behaving indecently towards school children of the town has been apprehended by authorities, after several complaints had been filed. If such is true.—Congratulations!

NATIONAL LOOP RATED TO REPEAT IN TODAY'S ALL-STAR TILT

Curt Simmons And Vic Raschi Are Named As Starting Hurlers; A. L. Squad Minus Three Top Players

Philadelphia, July 8.—(AP)—Everything points toward a third straight National League victory in the 19th annual All-Star game today. The Nationals have the pitching, power and a capable opponent. The only thing Manager Casey Stengel of the American League is promising at the moment is to show up. He'll be minus two of his best pitchers, his third baseman and will start with an injured center fielder. But Old Case has proved himself a master at licking adversity in the past. His undermanned lads just might upset the 7-to-5 odds against them.

A capacity crowd of 32,785, paying some $180,000 into the player's pension fund, will be on hand to watch the men more than three million fans voted baseball's outstanding players. Additionally, $125,000 will be stashed away in the till from television receipts. If it should rain—and there may be thundershowers—the fun will be held over until 11 a.m. EDT tomorrow.

If the weather man's prediction of a cloudy, warm, humid day is correct, Manager Leo Durocher of the Nationals will start Philadelphia Phillies' fire-balling young left hander, Curt Simmons. He'll be faced by the veteran Vic Raschi, Stengel's right-handed money pitcher from the Yankees.

Simmons, a seven-game winner who has been beaten only twice, came back to baseball in April after 21 months' Army duty.

Raschi is being used only because Stengel's first two choices, Philadelphia's Bobby Shantz and Allie Reynolds, big Yankee right hander, are on the injured list.

Stengel has lost George Kell, brilliant third sacker of the Boston Red Sox, who is sidelined by a groin injury. Dom DiMaggio, also of the Red Sox, will start in center despite a leg injury.

The American League manager, who has failed to direct a winning All-Star team in two tries, indicated he planned to follow Raschi (8-2) with Bob Lemon (7-7), and possibly Satchel Paige (6-4), the seemingly ageless negro pitcher of St. Louis Browns.

Manager Leo Durocher, who also has failed to win with two National All-Star teams, feels he has one of the best National League dream teams of all time. The Nationals have power to burn in big Hank Sauer who tops all players with 23 homers; the one and only Stan Musial, Jackie Robinson, Bobby Thomson, Roy Campanella and Enos Slaughter.

The senior circuit has good defence and such pitchers as Robin Roberts (11-6), Gerry Staley (11-6), who probably will hurl the middle three innings, Bob Rush (9-6), Sal Maglie (11-4) and Warren Spahn (7-9).

Figures indicate the National League has the advantage in power with 166 home runs so far this season to 133 for the Americans, and 740 runs driven in to 635 for the underdogs. The Americans will have six, 300 hitters in their starting lineup to five for the Nationals.

The starting lineups as selected by the vote of the fans with the batting order and pitchers selected by the managers:

Ottawa Wants Olympic Group To Add McEwen

Ottawa, July 8.—(AP)—Ottawa City Council last night passed a motion asking the Canadian Olympic Association to give "reconsideration" to its decision not to include the City's Don McEwen on the Olympic squad sent to Helsinki.

The motion was watered down from an original "motion of censure."

McEwen dropped out near the end of the 5,000-metre Olympic trial at Hamilton with stomach cramps.

Abel-Clancy In Line For Goodfellow's Job

Chicago, July 8.—(AP)—Sid Abel, retiring Detroit Red Wing centre, and King Clancy, former Toronto Star and ex-National Hockey League referee, today were reported to be top candidates for Chicago Black Hawks' coaching job which Eddie Goodfellow quit yesterday.

Hawk president Bill Tobin said he would give considerable thought in selecting the successor to Goodfellow, who stepped out with a year to go on his three-year contract. Goodfellow said he resigned to accept an executive post with a Detroit Motor Sales Company.

Abel, veteran Red Wing player, is reported retiring to operate a Detroit tavern. Clancy won the American League championship as coach of Pittsburgh Hornets last winter.

Under Goodfellow, the Hawks finished last the past two National Hockey League seasons. Injuries and retirement of such key men as Roy Conacher, Doug Bentley and Jack Stewart harassed Goodfellow last season.

Red Army Entered In Soccer Competition

Helsinki, Finland, July 8.—(AP)—Russia has entered its National Soccer Champions, the Red Army team, in Olympic competition.

The first 11 players listed today on the official Olympic entry list are the same men who took the field against Finland under the name of the Red Army team in the Olympic Stadium here a week ago. They had a tough time beating the Finns, 2-0.

A week earlier, the Hungarian team swamped Finland on the same field 6-1 in a rainstorm.

Kid Gavilan Retains Welterweight Title With T. K. O. Over Gil Turner In 11th As 39,025 Fans Watch Tiff

Philadelphia, July 8.—(AP)—Kid Gavilan still is welterweight champion of the world and Gil Turner still rookie of the year. That's the situation today as the Cuban Keed looked for new worlds to conquer after his 11th-round technical knockout over 21-year-old Turner last night at Municipal Stadium.

Al Weill, International Boxing Club matchmaker, immediately went to work on a future schedule for Gavilan. His managers are due to talk dates and opponents at the I.B.C. offices in New York tomorrow.

There is talk of a rematch with Turner—in a year or so.

Turner was running about even with Gavilan last night when he ran into that furious 11th-round barrage. Both judges, Charley Daggert and Lou Tress had it 5-5 after 10 rounds and referee Pete Tomasco had the Cuban out front, 6-4. The AP card showed Gavilan leading 5-4-1 going to the last round.

Coming into his big test as an unbeaten fighter with 25 knockouts in 31 straight wins, Turner paid the penalty of over-eager youth. In time he may be able to cope with the wiles and iron jaw of Gavilan, but not yet.

After setting a blazing early pace, Turner ran into trouble in the fifth when Gavilan hurt him with a flurry inspired by a patented Bolo right. Turner was penalized the round by Referee Tomasco for a low blow but it was only a formality. He won the round from here to Havana.

After the fifth, Turner slowed his furious pace. Gavilan, more sure of himself, was able to make the Philadelphia Kid fight his fight. The Cuban camp took the lead only to have frantic flurries by Turner force him to hide his time.

In the 10th it seemed Gavilan couldn't miss with a left hook. Time after time they thudded home on Turner's wide open jaw. Still Young Gil surged back with a round-ending flurry. But the end was in sight.

Coming out for the 11th, Turner shot the works in one last-gasp effort. It failed. Driving home counter hooks, Gavilan smothered the rally. Pressing Turner against the ropes, he rattled punch after punch off Gil's chin as the youngster sagged on rubbery legs. Referee Tomasco stopped it at 2:47 of the 11th.

Few in the crowd of 39,025 that paid a record welter gate of $269,677 disagreed although Turner, 11-to-5 underdog, had solid betting support from his home town. Turner even agreed that the ref

Armand Savoie Earns Decision Over Johnny Greco To Cop Welterweight Title In Rousing 12-Round Battle

Montreal, July 8.—(CP)—Armand Savoie, Canadian lightweight champion, added the welterweight title last night when he decisively defeated Johnny Greco in a rousing 12-round bout.

Savoie weighed in at 135 pounds and Greco at 145 1/2.

Both fighters were on the verge of knockouts during the bout. Spectators, in shirt sleeves, were drenched in perspiration in the Montreal Forum, where the bout took place. It was one of Montreal's hottest nights on record.

The paid crowd was 4,690 with the gross gate $12,043.50.

The decision was a split one. John Gow voted Savoie 6, Greco 5, and one even. Rene Ouimet voted similarly but the third judge, Jim Regan voted Greco 6, Savoie 5, and one even. Both fighters are Montreals.

Savoie's speed gave him the advantage and he outboxed the heavier Greco.

In the fifth round, Greco appeared to lose the steam in his punches, and Savoie pounded him consistently, and Greco seemed out on his feet.

In the 10th, Greco came back strongly and drove several hard jabs to Savoie's jaw. Savoie went down against the ropes but bounced back. He was wrestled down again for a no-count before the round ended.

As the 11th round opened, Savoie, realizing his sharp, speedy boxing had piled up points, stayed away from his heavier opponent and jabbed. He took this round by a slim margin, and hammered Greco in the last round, and the welterweight was almost out as the going sounded.

In the preliminaries, Bryan Kelly of Niagara Falls, Ont., 139 1/4, decisively won from Puerto Rico, 137, in eight rounds.

Jean Poirier of Niagara Falls, Ont., 144 1/2, and Pat Manzi, Syracuse, N. Y., fought to an eight-round draw.

Roger Chartrand of Montreal, 145 1/4, decisively won from Tony Giletto, Syracuse, 147, in four rounds and Joe Stack of Montreal, 185 1/4, fought to a four-round draw with Terry O'Connor of Syracuse, 147.

Dr. H. Mitten, Champlain Country Club, Holder Of Sherbrooke Record Trophy, Will Defend His Title Here Sunday

Dr. Harry Mitten, the 1951 amateur winner of the Eastern Townships Golf Tournament and holder of the Sherbrooke Daily Record trophy will be on hand again this year to defend his laurels as his entry has been received by the Tournament Committee.

Dr. Mitten who plays from the Champlain Country Club, St. Albans, Vt., led the heavy field of 242 amateurs last year and posted a 75, four over par, to cop the annual event.

This year's tourney points to one of the biggest to be held since the inception of the event four years ago and from the advance entries received it will take the two days, Saturday and Sunday, to get the field in action.

The Tournament Committee, under Len O'Donnell, has a strong squad of assistants hard at work and the prize committee under Bert Allard has a fine display of prizes for the contestants to battle for.

The tourney is an 18-hole gross score affair and there will be prizes for low gross and net scores in all three classes. The low class will run up to 10 while class "B" will consist of 11-20 and class "C" will be everything over 21.

Eastern Canada Tennis Championships Opened Yesterday Under 90-Degree Heat; 96 Competing For Titles

Quebec, July 8.—(AP)—Some 96 entrants yesterday played in the first round of men and women's singles of the Eastern Canadian tennis championships under a blazing sun and 90-degree temperature.

Lorne Main of Vancouver and Montreal, seeded second behind Harold Burrow of Charlottesville, Va., easily qualified for today's second-round play by defeating Hubert Gaumont, Montreal, in straight sets 6-0, 6-0.

Early last night, top-seeded Burrows outlasted Marcel Sirois, Quebec, 6-0, 6-1. He is scheduled to face Val Harit, Montreal, today.

Mrs. Hanna Sladek, Czechoslovakian star who has been playing out of Montreal for the last six months, kept up the form that won her the Quebec provincial title Saturday in Montreal by defeating Ann Kennedy of Montreal 6-0, 6-1.

Excessive heat slowed up play and experience paid off as stronger players won matches in straight sets.
