

ET construction workers

Both sides hit stalemate

Following two days of negotiations, CNTU officials representing some 2,800 - 3,000 ET construction workers threatening strike action reached a stalemate in talks early last night with employer negotiators.

Although both parties have softened their previous positions — the workers scaling down increased wage package demands and the contractors increasing their wage offers — both sides firmly maintained that it was up to the other to make the next move in negotiations that have dragged on since May 15.

A joint press conference was held last night by the Corporation of Master Electricians, the Corporation of Master Plumbers and the Eastern Townships Contractors Association, at the New Wellington Hotel.

A negotiator for the Corporation of Master Electricians said "negotiations are stopped at the moment and both parties are now considering the final offers." Negotiators offered a new wage parcel to the CNTU-affiliated union late yesterday afternoon. The negotiator for the Electricians explained their offer was met by a series of counter proposals.

"There will be no further negotiations," the spokesman continued, "unless the union asks for a meeting. The CNTU should unite the workers at a general assembly and make public our offers."

When told of the negotiator's stand, CNTU representative Claude Thivierge said, "The union negotiating committee will decide this morning when to schedule a workers' meeting" to outline the proposals offered by the contractors' negotiators.

Mr. Thivierge indicated a strike by the electricians and plumbers is still possible if the contractors do not accept the union counter proposals.

The major areas of dispute are concerned with wages, a social security fund, holiday and vacation pay, a fidelity clause and a seniority clause.

Yesterday afternoon the three employer parties offered the general trades and plumbers a total increase of 85 cents an hour over a 30-month period.

This was a 10 cent increase over the 75 cent blanket boost offered earlier for all the construction trades. The 85-cent figure is broken down in the following manner: 30 cents per hour as of September 1, 1968 or upon signature of the contract; 25 cents as of July 1, 1969 and an additional 30 cents starting May 1, 1970.

The union apparently came up with the following counter proposal of $1.50 per hour over a 32-month period for plumbers and tinsmiths. The plumbers who presently earn $3.25 an hour had previously demanded a wage hike of $2 per hour.

The plumbers and tinsmiths' demands are explained as follows: 30 cents per hour upon signature of the contract; 30 cents starting March 1, 1969; 25 cents July 1, 1969; 25 cents January 1, 1970; 25 cents June 1, 1970 and 15 cents January 1971.

The Corporation of Master Electricians have made a fresh wage offer of 90 cents per hour over a 30-month period. This is a 15 cent wage increase over the previous offer.

The CNTU has countered with a demand of $1.75 per hour over a 32-month period which is a 50-cent slimming down from the former $2.25 bargaining position.

Union negotiators are suggesting the electricians receive 30 cents per hour upon signature of the contract; 30 cents March 1, 1969; 25 cents July 1, 1969; 35 cents January 1, 1970; 30 cents June 1970 and finally 25 cents an hour increase in January 1971.

The Corporation of Master Electricians yesterday suggested this wage boost breakdown: 30 cents September 1, 1968; 30 cents July 1, 1969; and an additional 30 cents May 1, 1970.

In regard to general trades only, the CNTU has come up with a total increase demand of $1.30 per hour over the 32-month period.

The wage increases would be spread out over the same period as for the electricians, plumbers and tinsmiths.

That is: 30 cents upon contract signature; 20 cents; 20 cents; 25 cents; 20 cents and 15 cents.

In a similar manner the union has suggested a global increase of $1.10 per hour for laborers over the same period which would be broken down this way: 30 cents upon contract signature; 20 cents; 15 cents; 15 cents; 15 cents and a final 15 cents per hour starting January, 1971.

Next to the wage hassle, the question of a social security fund has proved a sore point between both negotiating parties, according to the Electricians negotiator.

He said the Corporation of Master Electricians and Plumbers for the past three years has been heading towards a provincial social security fund. Both employers and employees would contribute five cents an hour towards this fund. "We're after a separate fund for plumbers, electricians and general trades," the negotiator explained, "due to the change in the distribution of workers" throughout the province.

The union apparently favors the establishment of a regional fund and wants to see this in operation now.

Another thorny issue centers in the area of holiday and vacation pay. The negotiator said all construction workers are presently receiving four per cent holiday pay.

They are asking for seven per cent vacation pay plus an additional two per cent for paid holidays. The spokesman explained all three contractor organizations are offering a vacation and holiday package increase from four to six per cent, with an additional one per cent tacked on starting January, 1970.

News in brief

Princely threats

LONDON (Reuters) — Security officials disclosed today they are worried about threats to kill Prince Charles because the 19-year-old heir to the throne may become the target of extremists who want independence for Wales.

The prince will be formally made Prince of Wales at an investiture at Caernarvon Castle in Wales July 1, 1969. But some independence groups said they will go to the "ultimate extreme" to prevent the ceremony taking place.

Wraps up

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The United Steelworkers union has wrapped up its richest contract ever, a three-year pact that will cost Big Steel more than $1,000,000,000 in wage and other benefits.

Hammered out in a month of secret negotiations, it was narrowly approved over strident objections Tuesday night, barely a day before a strike deadline at the end of the old agreement.

52 killed

SAN JOSE (Reuters) — At least 52 persons were reported killed as Costa Ricans continued to flee today from an area around lava-spewing Arenal volcano, about 110 miles north of here.

President Jose Joaquin Trejos Fernandez reported 94 persons, including 62 children, are missing following the volcano's first eruption in recorded history.

A battle ground

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexico City was a battle ground again Tuesday as mobs of young people ran wild through the city, fighting police, wrecking city buses and throwing rocks and bottles.

At least one person was dead, more than 400 were injured and at least 1,100 persons had been arrested since anti-government rioting began last Friday.

Start talks

WASKESIU, Sask. (CP) — Canadian premiers gather in this northern Saskatchewan resort tonight to begin two days of informal discussions with the accent on fiscal topics.

Also ranking are discussions about medical care insurance and federal-provincial relations although each provincial delegation has its list of subjects to talk about. All sessions are closed.

Urges program for hippies

The boys who sport long sleeved turtle necked sweaters, shaggy haircuts, long dangling medallions and hang around Wellington Street may have caused some Friday night shoppers to have changed their habits, Ben Hannan, director of the Sherbrooke YW - YMCA told members of the Sherbrooke Rotary Club yesterday.

Sherbrooke's "hippies" are not hippies in the sense of the Yorkville types, he said, but although the problem has not mushroomed yet, it could develop into something serious.

"If we can get the co-operation of private and public groups we can find answers before we get into a situation which we may not like."

He said that several women and men in the city had complained to the Y director and because of this situation were forced to change their shopping habits on Friday nights.

"We can only find the answer to the problem when we know why we have hippies."

Referring to City Council's recent resolution to remove the park benches from the city hall court, Mr. Hannan said that restriction is not the answer, but rather work to change the environment.

Mr. Hannan said that with Sherbrooke's — "excellent social services and two universities as well as the co-operation of other private and public groups, the answer to the Wellington Street situation could be solved."

"The Y is not just an English Protestant Association... a WASP group but is working to make the Y part of the community" and is constantly moving into the French speaking community. He added that there has been an increase from 8 per cent to 30 per cent French Canadian participation in Y activities.

Urge Trudeau to call government action to stop postal strike

Two national business organizations sent Prime Minister Trudeau telegrams Tuesday urging government action to stop the postal strike now in its 14th day, because of its effect on Canada's economy.

The Retail Council of Canada and the Automotive Industries Association of Canada both said the economy will be badly hurt if the strike by 24,000 postal workers continues.

The retail council's telegram said: "If progress in negotiations proceeds at no more than current speed, delay in solution will place unacceptable strain on economy."

Thomas B. Whellams, executive vice-president of the automotive association, said in his telegram: "Do not permit this situation to happen, as it will place an excessive financial load on all business firms, from which there is no recovery. The economy will be hurt through decreased employment and higher costs to the consumer and business, because of the added costs now being created."

COMMENDS STAND
G. W. Brown, president of the retail council, commended the government in the telegram for "not acceding to demands for settlement of public service wage claims at inflationary levels."

Meanwhile, business is attempting to find ways to maintain near-normal operations in the face of the strike.

Both the Montreal and Toronto stock exchanges are using Brink's Express Co. of Canada Ltd. to deliver and clear stock certificates with other stock exchanges in major cities as they did in the 1965 postal strike.

Both Eaton's and Simpson-Sears are relying on telephone orders to keep their catalogue sales running, although both companies report a drop in business because of the strike.

The automotive association said that the 10th of the month is the normal time for suppliers to be paid by their customers and obtain discounts.

"This is also the normal time of the month when all clearings are made through banks," the telegram said. "If they cannot be met then, firms will be faced with large loans over an extended period of time in order to carry on their business until collections can be made."

The retail council's telegram suggested "parliamentary machinery now be put into motion so that strike can be ended by legislative action by known date."

The council represents about 50 per cent of Canada's retail sales volume.

lights of an island fishing camp. "They could move on top of the muskeg while we would sink to our knees," said John Morisset, another uncle.

The tots were picked up shortly after 7 p.m., a couple of hours before the search would have ended for the night.

The searchers knew they were hot on the trail after finding two depressions where the children had lain. They finally moved into swampy bush at arm's length.

"Suddenly I saw something from the corner of my eye," said Percy Jensen, "a boy's sweater showing from behind a log."

"I looked and there was Kirby lying on top of Jill. It sure was a happy moment."

Masterful Indian tracking saves children

GRAND RAPIDS, Man. (CP) — Masterful and painstaking Indian tracking led Tuesday night to the finding—alive—of two lost children who held off the northern Manitoba wilderness for five days and nights.

Found huddled behind a log in a muskeg swamp were eight-year-old Jill Sinclair and her four-year-old brother Kirby. They were scratched and mosquito-bitten but otherwise appeared in amazingly good condition.

"They looked up, smiled, and then crouched back down again," said Percy Jensen, an uncle of the two who was the first to spot a patch of sweater sticking out from behind the log.

The whoops of joy that went up from the searchers, many of them relatives of the youngsters, terrified them momentarily.

Then recognition came. "Hello, Uncle Saul," said Jill. Then, with more recognition: "When did Uncle Percy get back?"

SURVIVE ORDEAL
They had somehow survived the astonishing ordeal without food except berries, with only light clothing against overnight temperatures that dipped to the low 40s and a drenching overnight rain Monday.

The determined Indian search party carried the children two miles through thick bush to reach the nearest road. They were brought by car to this Lake Winnipeg hydro-electric centre 270 miles north of Winnipeg, then under police escort to the hospital at the Gypsumville radar base 110 miles south.

Doctors there said after a preliminary examination they appeared to be suffering only from exhaustion but decided to keep them for at least a day for further checks until they recovered their strength.

In straight-line distance, the two had travelled only 12 to 15 miles after wandering off last Thursday from the camp where Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Sinclair had been picking seneca roots at Honeymoon Lake, 35 miles north of here.

"They covered a lot of miles," said Saul Cook, the uncle who first gained Jill's recognition.

He knows. He knew they were alive and he had been on their trail since their disappearance, before an official search was started.

"There were signs showing every day," he said.

STRAND OF WOOL
These signs were so sophisticated in wilderness reading that they included one strand of wool from a sweater and a single hair from the Sinclair girl's head.

Finding of the children showed the Indians and Metis to be right in their figuring that they would be found close by the area, nine miles from the Honeymoon Lake camp, where fresh footprints were found Sunday.

Just prior to the happy ending, more than 150 Canadian forces members had moved into the Grand Rapids area to participate in the RCMP-directed search.

Their plan was to make a more thorough sweep of an area already covered, while the Indians, sometimes against opposition, concentrated on the area where the children were eventually found.

The Indians said one difficulty was that every time they came up with sign they knew was fresh, RCMP would keep the area clear while it was checked by a tracker dog.

By the time the dog had gone through, and found nothing, the children were miles away.

LIGHTS ATTRACTED
The Indians figured the children moved down into the treacherous muskeg because they were attracted by the

Bits and pieces

Mrs. Margaret Brown, Vimy Street, is the kind of person everyone should have for a friend... browsing through a private sale of books in a North Ward home the other day, she picked out two albums of a stamp collection as a gift for her son... after checking to make sure they were for sale, she paid a quarter each for the albums and departed... but when the owner of the albums arrived home a little later, consternation reigned... he had left the albums out for sale by mistake... catalogue value of the stamps in them was in the neighborhood of $600... Mrs. Brown's identity was completely unknown, so an ad was placed in The Record Monday asking the purchaser of the stamp albums to contact the owner... Tuesday night, she was back, and upon being told of the mix-up, readily agreed to return the albums for a 50-cent refund... Mrs. Brown is our nomination for friend of the year... The Record's advertising boss is dedicated to his work and that's a fact... the other day he was seen with his shirt and tie and summer jacket pedalling a two-wheel bike through the city streets... flying on a wing and a prayer, he yelled out: "And they say we don't work in the advertising department..." Don't know how it happened but there's a light pole on the corner of King West and Jacques Cartier Boulevard that leans dangerously to one side... as it perches precariously, seeming to lean backwards, or forwards depending on how you see it, one feels that a strong gust of wind could easily blow it down... timber?

Clothes and furniture are in demand at the Sherbrooke Branch of the Salvation Army, Welfare Officer Arthur Laforest says... he's asking the public to lend a helping hand to the Sally Ann so it can distribute clothes and furniture to the needy families in the Sherbrooke area... beds, tables, blankets, sweaters, anything that can still be used or worn would be greatly appreciated... Mr. Laforest says he has no furniture or clothes left at all at the office... anyone who can make a contribution should telephone Mr. Laforest at the Sally Ann office, 562-844, any morning between 9 and 11 a.m... Quiet, secluded one-way Esplanade Street has become one of the city cyclists' favorite strips for drag contests... The list of Sunnyside High School graduates released in the Record left out the name of Keith Grady of Rock Island...

Tony Thompson, seven-year-old grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rodell, went through a harrowing experience last week and took it all with apparent cool-headedness... the youngster, staying at his grandparents' summer camp on the Ayer's Cliff road, picked up a plastic container filled with a liquid he thought was water... it wasn't... Tony began to pour the contents over a blazing bonfire and the gasoline which came out shot up in great licks of flame... still holding the burning container in his hands, he walked away until his grandmother screamed at him to drop the jug and run... he did so and luckily sustained only minor burns on his hands... Motorists are finally finding out why nothing was ever done to fix up that nightmare stretch of Prospect between Jacques Cartier and Frecheite... men and equipment are busy there now widening the thoroughfare... Directors of the Sherbrooke Rotary Club tried something new last night when they held an open air supper and directors' meeting at president Paul Nadeau's farm home near Waterville...

family welfare centre said yesterday afternoon that the Quebec supplements to the old age assistance payments are being delivered by a group of about 15 mailmen who will be performing this duty without remuneration.

These and other provincial cheques will be delivered personally; they will not be deposited in mailboxes should the person not be home. In the latter case, the mailmen will bring the cheques back to the family welfare bureau which will hold them until individual inquiries are made.

The cheques for needy mothers, the widows pension cheques, and the public assistance payments from the Quebec Social Service will all be delivered in a similar way on August 10 if the postal strike has not ended by that time.

As regards the federal paycheques, the system of delivery is similar. These government payments, said Jean Lemieux of the local Manpower Centre which is handling the delivery of these cheques, will either be sent out personally or they will be left at the main office at 299 Olivier Street where they can be picked up.

As regards wives and families of servicemen, the system of delivery will be the same.

BARN DANCE — Campers put on an energetic wheelchair display of the Virginia Reel during the annual visit last night of the Sherbrooke area Independent Order of Oddfellows who donated their third rowboat to the camp. (Record photo: Gerry Lemay)

Ayer's Cliff children 'dance' night away

AYER'S CLIFF — (Staff) — Shafts of light gleamed from the spinning wheels of the wheelchairs as they darted into the centre of the floor and spun around each other, their little riders glancing about with flushed faces and eyes shining with excitement.

Last night was an event the campers at the Ayer's Cliff McKay Centre Camp for Deaf and Crippled Children had been looking forward to for some time.

It was the annual visit of the Sherbrooke area Independent Order of Odd Fellows who donated their third rowboat to the camp, not to mention a bountiful supply of lip-smacking ice cream and candy.

Last night the recreation auditorium of Camp Massawippi was filled with the happy clapping and laughter of the campers as the wheelchairs swirled through an energetic exhibition of the Virginia Reel.

Guided by the counsellors, the wheelchair-bound little campers raced through do-si-dos, promenades, a-la-main lefts and rights, all to a sprightly piano and violin accompaniment.

Along both sides of the auditorium the children with shiny faces clapped to beat the band as the square dance unfolded before them.

Soon after the Virginia Reel was over, professional square dancers, the men dressed in yellow shirts with black fringes and the women wearing flowered dresses, showed the campers the real McCoy in square dancing.

Harold Smith did the calling last night and the music was provided by Harold Nutbrown's orchestra.

Earlier in the evening, Camp

Director Art Douglas described the July 2 to August 10 period as "a tremendous summer."

Mr. Douglas said an effort has been made to individualize the programs available to the campers who come from throughout the province.

He said two camps, junior and senior are run at the same time. Four times each day the campers are engaged in one of three different programs which are all carried on at the same time.

The interest program is concerned with handicraft work while the variety program may range from an archery contest, to square dancing to perhaps a ball game.

Swimming is the other program in which the campers participate.

Summer Bible course to open at Danville

DANVILLE — For at least one week, from Aug. 5 a need of the town of Danville will be filled when the Vacation Bible School, organized by the four Protestant Churches, will hold its sessions each morning as has been done in previous years.

The Pre-School and Grade 1 pupils will meet in St. Augustine's Church and Primary and Junior Classes in Trinity United Church from 9 to 11:30 a.m. and the mothers will be free from the wail of nothing to do for five mornings, while the various volunteer teachers and assistants will be busy with a program to keep the children interested and preparing a program for the closing which will be held on Friday evening in St. Augustine's Parish Hall, at which time the many articles of handicraft, made during the week, will be on display.

Cookies and kool-aid will be served each morning, and anyone wishing to make cookies for this worthy project or assist in the kitchen, is asked to contact Mrs. E. G. Stevens.

Registrations for the classes can be made by phoning Mrs. M. Morrill, Mrs. W. Rick or Mrs. E. G. Stevens, and any donations for helping to defray the costs will be handled by Mrs. N. E. McNiff, who will be most happy to receive them as the small registration fee per child is far from adequate to cover expenses incurred.

With classes opening on Aug. 5, it is hoped that parents will form car-pools to enable other children to attend. Of particular benefit to the child who will enroll in school this fall will be the opportunity of making friends of children, who will be in the same class at school, a valuable asset for the Kindergarten set.

Sent to assizes on charge of attempted breaking and entry

Yvan Chartier, 23, of Sherbrooke, will appear at the next sessions of assizes facing charges of attempted breaking and entering and causing $100 damage to the garage of Herman St. Amant in Rock Forest.

He is accused of trying to break into Mr. St. Amant's garage on the nights of July 4 and 5 at 4:50 a.m.

Three witnesses testified for the Crown at the accused's preliminary hearing yesterday in Court of Sessions before Judge Benoit Turmel.

The principal witness was Armand St. Amant who was sleeping inside the garage on the nights of July 4 and 5 when he was awakened by noises he thought were caused by a strong wind.

He got up and looked outside and it was then he saw two men trying to break into the garage restroom.

He said they failed at this and then walked around to the front of the garage, which is close to the Woolco Shopping Centre, moved on to the back of the building and immediately returned to the front.

One of them went to the side of the garage and seemed to be keeping a lookout, he explained.

The other came to the front door and with a heave ho smashed the plate glass window in the door of the garage with his shoulder. He said it was then the would-be burglar noticed him.

He told the Court that one of the men told the other: "You've made a mistake", referring to the presence of Mr. St. Amant.

He said they then fled in a blue car.

The next witness, Edouard Auger, 46, of Sherbrooke, told the Court he lent his 1958 model blue car to a friend on July 4.

He said it was returned on July 8.

The last man to testify, Leo Bilodeau, said two men came to his home at about 5:30 a.m., July 5.

He said he knew the two men who asked him to go fishing with them.

He said he told them to leave because it was too early to go anywhere, even fishing.

Bail was set at $1,000 or $2,000 property value.

Gilles Paquette, 21, of Ste. Therese de Bienville, will be sent to a mental institution for psychiatric treatment, Judge Turmel ordered yesterday.

He is accused of breaking into the Armand Nadeau Pavilion over the weekend and stealing $721.95 worth of merchandise and cash.

He stole $290 in cheques, a chronometer and $375 cash.

He is also accused of trying to break into the trailer restaurant of Robert Maras in Sherbrooke.

A psychiatrist testified yesterday Paquette suffered from "emotional troubles" and "mental alienation."

Freddy Dowling, 39, of Sherbrooke, pleaded not guilty to a charge of possession of stolen goods and chose a trial by judge and jury.

Bail was set at $500 cash or $950 property value.

He is accused of being in possession of two portable television sets worth $325.95.

His lawyer, Warren Lynch, asked for minimum bail and Crown Prosecutor Andre Langlais asked for a high bail because the accused is an American citizen. However, Mr. Lynch told the Court Mr. Dowling has lived in Sherbrooke for the past nine years and is married. Judge Turmel called the bail he set, "the usual bail."

Prominent Thetford industrialist dies

THETFORD MINES — (Staff) — Funeral services for Andrew Stuart Johnson, president of Johnson's Co. Ltd. and Johnson's Asbestos Limited, will be held Thursday at 2 p.m. in St. John the Divine Church in Thetford Mines.

Mr. Johnson died in the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal, early Tuesday morning. He was 68 years old.

He will be buried at the Elmwood Cemetery in Sherbrooke at 4:30 p.m. on Thursday.

Mr. Johnson was also a director of the Asbestos Corporation Ltd. in Thetford Mines.

He had been a member of the Board of Trustees at Bishop's University in Lennoxville since 1929 and in 1955 he was appointed chairman of the University's executive committee.

He was a member of the St.

George's Club in Sherbrooke, the Thetford Mines Golf Club and Curling Club.

Mr. Johnson's wife, the former Hazel W. Briggs, predeceased him 12 years ago.

He is survived by two sons and two daughters: Andrew S. Johnson Jr., regional sales director of Asbestos Corporation Ltd.; Robert James Johnson, senior analyst of Asbestos Corporation Ltd.; Mrs. C. T. Manning (Joyce) of Montreal; and Mrs. Patricia Barbier of Berne, Switzerland.

Western intervention would help Russians

In keeping with his traditional willingness to speak on any issue at any time without giving too close study to the facts of the situation, NPD Leader T. C. Douglas has demanded that the Canadian government address a strong note to Moscow protesting any possible armed intervention by the Soviets in the internal affairs of Czechoslovakia.

In doing so he flies in the face of common sense. One of the prime propaganda arguments being used by Moscow is that the liberalizing policies of the Czech regime are in large part fomented or supported by the Western democracies and any overt act by any of these government would only strengthen the claims of the Muscovites.

And Czechoslovakia, 1968, cannot be compared to Hungary, 1956, although on the surface the developments may be similar.

The Hungarian Revolution was a popular uprising not only against Russian overlordship but against Communism itself.

So far, though it has the enthusiastic support of the people, what is happening in Czechoslovakia is a palace reformation within the party, not against it.

But the Russians fear that should "democratization" get out of hand, with Czechoslovakia turning its face towards the West, a gaping hole would be left in the string of buffer states protecting its western boundary and this might be expanded to include Romania, already restive in its own right.

Nothing is more certain than that self-determination and democracy will one day come to the nations of Eastern Europe.

Time and the tide of human affairs are on the side of those who love freedom.

The democracies can do two things to hasten that day — keep out of the Russian-Czech squabble and continue to pursue every avenue that can lead to a detente with Russia.

For the more tensions and suspicions are relaxed between East and West, the less reason the Russian bear will have to unsheath her claws when one of her cubs wanders away.

A philosopher is a fellow who realizes you can burn your steak in the oven without all the bother of barbecuing it outdoors.

Better by-law notices

All's well that ends well, so owners of single or two-family dwellings in the closely restricted B zones can rest comfortably, for the time being at least, now that the City Council has annulled the by-law to the zoning by-law which would have permitted the construction of apartment blocks in these areas.

But the rescinding of the by-law, resulting from the acute observation of a few North Ward residents who realized the implications of the rather hazy notice appearing in the press, only accents the weakness of the present system of advertising the public meetings called to deal with proposed change in the zoning regulations.

Unless the proprietor has a clear knowledge of the various zone limits in the city, which very few have, the notices mean little to him. As a general rule there is little to indicate where the zone is located, the notice merely carrying the zone number.

The logical solution is that proposed by Mayor Nadeau that future notices bear the street names of the area affected by the amendments.

It would mean little extra work for the municipal officials and would remove some of the suspicion now surrounding the procedure for building by-law changes.

TODAY in history

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

July 31, 1968 . . .
Dr. Hawley Crippen of the United States, sought for one of the most grisly murders in English history, was arrested near Rimouski, Que., 58 years ago today—in 1910. The arrest of the doctor and his paramour, Ethel Le Neve, marked the first use of radio for tracking a criminal. Crippen was hanged later that year for the murder and mutilation of his wife.

1929—The Graf Zeppelin began its transatlantic journey with 19 passengers, a stowaway, and a crew of 40, reaching Lakehurst, N.J., five days later.

1945—The United States cruiser Indianapolis was torpedoed off the Philippines, losing 880 men.

First World War
Fifty years ago today—in 1918—Americans became involved in fierce hand-to-hand fighting in the Serres area while heavy artillery exchanges continued along the entire front; British gunners shot down 26 German planes; Von Eichhorn, a German military leader, was assassinated at Kiev.

Bygone days

TEN YEARS AGO

Hon. Chas. B. Howard, president of the Stanstead and Sherbrooke Insurance Company and the Sterling Insurance Company of Canada, was host at a buffet supper in the Mayfair Room of the New Sherbrooke Hotel last night in honor of Victor Mongeon who recently relinquished his position as manager to join another group of companies in Montreal.

The group was attended by the directors and officers as well as the branch managers inspectors and members of the head office staff.

Senator Howard, in extending best wishes to Mr. Mongeon, made special reference to the loyal and faithful services Mr. Mongeon had rendered during his 14 years with the companies and as a tangible token of his appreciation, presented him with a suitable gift.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

BURY — The moose that was seen at Sand Hill on Tuesday or possibly its mate, also put in an appearance at Bury.

Wright Goodenough saw what he described as a large rangy bull moose walking casually up the road past his house. It followed the road some distance and then disappeared into the woods.

The moose was seen before the one that paid the visit to the farm of Mr. and Mrs. B. Labaree at Sand Hill. Mr. Labaree said that the one he saw was a cow moose.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Miss Viola Thompson and Miss Julia Westerhaven entertained the Sweetsburg W.C.T.U. with a good attendance of members and friends on hand last night at one of the home meetings.

Mrs. James Moore gave a very impressive paper on "Narcotics" and a fine report of the WCTU convention held in Montreal.

Light refreshments were served by the hostesses. Mrs. Ricker was thanked for her fine devotional contribution to the meeting.

Ahead of France

Dutch and Italians lead in trade with Soviet-bloc nations

THE HAGUE (CP) — The Soviet-bloc countries of Eastern Europe offer a market for an estimated $25,000,000,000 worth of Free World goods and services a year, and the Dutch are keenly aware of it.

Netherlands and Italian businessmen have long been dealing with the Communist countries, and the governments of these two Common Market countries have encouraged them. They appear to be well ahead of the drive by France's Gen. de Gaulle to bridge the East-West gap commercially.

Joseph Luns, foreign minister of The Netherlands for the last 15 years—longest term of any foreign minister in the world—has repeatedly visited Eastern Europe to discuss international affairs. And each of his visits has been followed up by Dutch traders.

The Soviet-bloc countries and Cuba represent 10 to 15 per cent of world trade. They imported $21,400,000,000 worth of goods in 1965, the latest year for which figures are available on the international standard calculation prepared by the Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development. Canada is a member of this 21-country collection of major Free World industrial countries.

TOUGHER FOR CANADA
One of the principal policies of Robert Winters, former Canadian trade minister, was to try to get Canada into the East European market. Interest has been shown in a wide range of Canadian products, from livestock for breeding purposes to highly sophisticated electronic measuring devices.

The difficulty for Canada is similar to that encountered by members of the European Common Market—how to buy enough from the state-controlled economies of Eastern Europe to balance their imports.

The difficulty, however, may not be as great for the six Common Market countries. Their governments are more influential in many industrial importing companies than is the case in Canada, where the government exercises little or no direct influence in the market place except by way of exhortation.

Part of The Netherlands' current rapid expansion of freight handling facilities, at Rotterdam for traffic by sea and at Amsterdam's Schiphol airport for air freight, is geared to greater participation in East Europe's trade with the rest of the world.

GATEWAY TO EAST
In addition to much of Western Europe, the ports of the Low Countries are a natural gateway to Eastern Europe. In direct East-West trade with the Six, the Common Market's new common external tariff, effective July 1, also is important. The Six—Belgium, France, West Germany, Italy, Luxembourg and The Netherlands—also claim their common tariff will be accompanied by the simplest customs procedures and documents in the world.

In Italy, the banking community is closely in touch with trade developments in Eastern Europe, and the Italian banks collaborate closely among themselves and with the Italian government, which owns a large part of them.

The Banca Nazionale del Lavoro, for instance, does regular business with Cuba, and sends representatives at least twice a year to Communist China. This is in addition to its daily contact with East European countries.

It was a senior official of this bank who was asked by the Chinese to help solve an international importasse that roused Italian tempers recently, but which cooler heads regarded as a joke.

EXPORT MAOISM TOO
A Communist ship anchored in Genoa harbor to discharge export cargo, and displayed huge banners inscribed with the thoughts of Chairman Mao. They became an embarrassment only after a newspaper man found someone who could translate the Chinese characters, and the Chinese then claimed as an inalienable right the privilege of spreading the word of Mao.

A dock strike resulted, and it and other ramifications of the incident were solved by the simple expedient—suggested by the Lavoro bank—of having the ship move to a less conspicuous part of the harbor.

Laughing at it now, the bank official said the Chinese, Cubans, and East Europeans are, in fact, good people with whom to do business—thus supporting former trade minister George Hees' assertion that you can't do business with better people.

They are specific in stating their needs and preparing technical specifications, and they are willing to buy the best quality—with price a secondary consideration. And they are prompt in paying their bills.

PROPAGANDA FIRST
One difficulty the Lavoro bank's officials have had in China has been to sit mum through a quarter-hour's anti-American propaganda before each business conference. But once the tirade has been voiced, the Chinese get down to business.

Corrects imbalances

New IQ test isn't for middle-class

NEW YORK (CP)—Who are the Dixie Hummingbirds? Who did Stagger Lee kill? What's a blood?

These are the sort of questions that may help correct imbalances in intelligence tests now given in many North American schools.

Many teachers are convinced the present tests are heavily weighted against children who are culturally deprived—the polite euphemism for children growing up in slums.

They say that children from white, middle-class backgrounds are much more likely to do well on most intelligence tests—not because they are any brighter than poor children, but because their backgrounds equip them better to answer the sort of questions on the tests.

For instance, middle-class children are more likely to know what a sonata is than their classmates from underprivileged backgrounds.

The above questions are examples on a test designed for ghetto children, who might be expected to know that the Dixie Hummingbirds are a modern gospel group, that a man called a blood is a Negro and that Stagger Lee, in the popular song, killed Billy.

DEvised BY NEGRO
They are contained on a test devised by Adrian Dove, a sociologist and a United States government worker in Washington and himself a Negro.

The test, now being circulated on an informal basis, is known as the Dove Counterbalance General Intelligence Test and is a 30-question, multiple-choice examination.

Dove says he designed the test as a "kind of half-serious way of proving the point that we're not really measuring intelligence."

"People were failing employment and intelligence tests, not because they were stupid, but because the test was geared to middle-class white society."

Some other examples from the test:

Bo Diddley is a . . .
(a) game for children; (b) down home cheap wine; (c) down home singer; (d) new dance; (e) Moejoe call.

Jet is . . .
(a) an East Oakland motorcycle club; (b) one of the gangs in West Side Story; (c) a news and gossip magazine; (d) a way of life for the very rich.

A "handkerchief head" is . . .
(a) a cool cat; (b) a porter;

(c) an Uncle Tom; (d) a hoddie; (3) a preacher.

If you throw the dice and seven is showing on the top, what is facing down?

(a) seven; (b) snake eyes; (c) boxcars; (d) little Joes; (e) 11.

KNOW ANSWERS

It's Dove's contention that Negro children in U.S. ghettos could be expected to know that Bo Diddley is a down home (from the South) singer; that Jet is a magazine; that a handkerchief head is an Uncle Tom, and that with seven showing up on a pair of dice, seven will be facing down.

Dove says the test could be used for people other than Negroes.

"You could utilize the test for people working in the ghetto, like highway patrolmen or parole officers, to see if they were sensitive and alert to what's around them," Dove says.

Egypt produces more oil

CAIRO (Reuters)—Egypt is producing 30 per cent more oil than before the June war last year with Israel and expects to earn up to $60,000,000 from the commodity during the next fiscal year, says an official report issued here.

The closing of the Suez Canal for the second time in just over a decade has forced the Egyptian government to look elsewhere for foreign currency earnings, and officials hope natural riches beneath the desert will provide the answer.

Americans and Russians are among engineers of many nationalities now bombing Egyptian territory from the Suez Gulf to the Mediterranean in hopes of locating oil and gas fields to rival those in Libya and more than compensate for the loss of the Sinai oil wells overrun by Israeli troops in the six-day war.

Industry Minister Aziz Sidky said in a recent progress report that oil production in Egypt now has topped the 200,000 barrels-a-day mark, the highest figure since oil was first exploited in the country.

REPAIRS PROGRESS
Meanwhile, the refineries at Suez, shelled by Israeli guns last year in retaliation for the sinking by missiles of the destroyer Eilat, have been almost completely repaired, reliable sources here say.

Vancouver Island's lone miner has mined coal since 1917

NANAIMO, B.C. (CP) — Bob Carruthers is the lone miner in the last operating coal workings on Vancouver Island.

He says the job isn't glamorous, but does have its virtues. "I am my own boss," the 69-year-old miner says, and he works only when he feels like it.

Mr. Carruthers has worked alone at the mine off Jingle Pot Road for the last six years, using wedge and sledge to eke out 14 to 26 tons of coal a month.

Choice lump brings him $16 a ton and nut $13, but for every ton he must shift two tons of dirt into the old workings.

He estimates his labors bring him about $3,500 a year.

Mr. Carruthers started working in mines in the coal-rich Nanaimo area in 1917 when men still were talking of the 1909 disaster at Extension which took 32 lives.

ALWAYS CAME BACK

The talk burned deep into Mr. Carruthers. His proudest possession today is a certificate which says his name appears on a provincial department mine rescue competition shield.

The only serious injury that has marred his 51 years in mining came when he was straddling a pole while dragging it. The mine face let go and squeezed his knee, damaging the cartilage.

He recalls that when he started mining he quickly moved to winch driver and was paid $1.67 a day. But the mine workers union interceded and his pay was increased to $3.16.

Mr. Carruthers says he tried leaving mining a few times, spending three summers commercial fishing and another time track laying at another mine, but always returned to working the coal seams near Nanaimo.

He teamed with Billy Wakeham at the present workings 20 years ago, and then with Billy Loudon until he was left on his own six years ago.

He says he may give up the mine next year. It all depends on how he feels.

In Memoriam

MCCUTCHEON, Lyle — In loving memory of my dear son, who passed away July 31st, 1967. "Asleep in God's beautiful garden. Away from all sorrow and pain. Some day when life's journey is ended. We will all be together again." Always remembered and sadly missed by your loving mother.

MCCUTCHEON, Lyle — In loving memory of our dear brother and uncle, who passed away July 31st, 1967. "God took you so quickly. We were in a dash. For we loved you dear brother, in a thousand ways. Although we smile and make no noise. No one misses you more than us." Ever remembered and sadly missed by your sisters, brothers and their families.

Card of Thanks

LAWRENCE — Sincere thanks to all of you for the lovely shower gifts I received last Friday evening and special thanks to the hostess, Mrs. Donald Parsons, Cookshire in whose home the surprise shower was held.

Bury

On July 23 a fire of undetermined origin broke out at approximately 10 p.m. in a large pile of debris at the town dump. Mr. Teddy Coates, on his way to Bury from the Island Brook road, first noticed the fire and alerted the town officials, who called out the fire brigade under the direction of Chief Walter Atkins, which went immediately to the scene and remained until the fire, which completely demolished the debris, was under control at 1 a.m. The pile of debris had been taken from the Concord factory to the dump, but was not to be ignited until snow was on the ground. Fortunately no further damage was done.

Correction — In a recent article, School board closes at Bury, the name of Charles Hawley was incorrectly spelled as Haroley. Also the name of Dr. Alex McDonald, who served as a chairman in the 1920's was omitted.

Mr. Lorne Asker, Detroit, Mich., is spending a few days guest of his mother, Mrs. Cora Asker.

Mr. Arthur Loveland is spending a holiday at the home of his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ward.

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Murray were Mrs. Murray's sister, Miss Ethel Gillis, Chelmsford, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Coty and Miss Catherine McNeil, Compton, N.H. Recent callers at the same home included Mr. and Mrs. Fred McKenzie and Mrs. McKenzie's sister, Smith Falls, Ont.

Miss Jean Murray has returned home after spending several days guest of her sister, Mrs. L. R. Stickles at East Angus.

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Cook were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Berwick, daughter Chris and son Paul and friend, all of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Clifford McCormick and two sons, St. Hilaire; Mr. and Mrs. Galen Morrison, of Sherbrooke; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Cooney and daughter, Dawn, Toronto and Mrs. Pansy McLeod, New York, who will be spending several months guest of friends in Bury and Gould. Callers at the same home were Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Morrison, Mrs. Walter Berwick and Mrs. Wm. McCormick.

Misses Harmony and Donna Dougherty, Cowansville, are guests of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Dougherty.

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Purdie and daughter, Heather, Pointe Claire, have been calling on friends and relatives in the vicinity, prior to leaving on July 30 for a trip to Scotland.

Mr. and Mrs. Aylmer Parsons, Mountaintop, Pa., and Mr. Dale Parsons, Ottawa, who are spending their vacation at their parental home, spent a day in Quebec, where they were accompanied by Mrs. Thos. Parsons. They also visited Mr. and Mrs. Carl Mayhew at Ayer's Cliff, accompanied by Mrs. Thos. Parsons.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald McMillan and son Peter, Lachute, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Dougherty and Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Dougherty.

Mrs. Winnifred Kirkpatrick has returned home after a few days visit to her daughter, Mrs. Theron Bennett and family at Bishopston.

Mrs. Earl Berwick and daughters, Misses Kathleen and Wilma, spent the weekend in Bayonne, N.J., where they attended the wedding of their son and brother, Mr. Earl Berwick Jr. to Miss Anne Worock. The newly wedded couple will reside in Bayonne.

Bride-to-be is showered

SAWYERVILLE — The Canadian Legion Hall here was the scene of a miscellaneous shower on July 25 in honor of Miss Carole Statton, an August bride-to-be.

Upon entering Ruby Mills pinned a corsage on Miss Statton and escorted her to the seat of honor between her mother, Mrs. Eugene Statton and her future mother-in-law, Mrs. Graydon Winslow, who assisted her in opening the many gifts.

Miss Statton expressed thanks for the lovely gifts and to the hostesses.

R. Mills fashioned a hat for Miss Statton to wear from the gift bows. Gloria Parker, who had written down everything said by Miss Statton as she opened her gifts, read it to the assembled guests.

Refreshments, including a shower cake, made and decorated by Mrs. Clive Thompson, were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Thompson and Miss Mills, assisted by Mrs. Gordon Forgrave, Miss Barbara Burrows and others.

For and about Women

Martin — Perreault nuptials

BEDFORD — The marriage of Micheline Perreault, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Perreault of St. Sebastien d'Iberville to William Frank Martin, only son of Mrs. William Martin of Bedford and the late Mr. Martin took place July 13 at St. James Anglican Church here at 10 p.m.

The rector, Rev. Kenneth Trickey officiated at the ceremony.

Arrangements of white lilies and summer flowers in baskets were used for church decorations while the guest pews were marked by bows of white ribbon and roses. The wedding music was played by the church organist, Mrs. Harry Jones.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Roger Perreault, wore a floor-length gown of white satin with lace sleeves. Lace was also used in trimming the dress and the train. She wore a mantilla and carried a semi-cascade bouquet of red roses.

The bridal attendants were Mrs. Ben Ladabouche of New York as matron of honor, who wore a two-piece dress with pale blue skirt and a sequin trimmed blouse. Her bouquet was of yellow roses. The bridesmaids were Mrs. Norman Monette and Mrs. Linda Royea, who wore similar styled pink dresses trimmed in lace. Their bouquets were of pink carnations.

Ben Ladabouche of New York was best man. The ushers were Norman Monette and Eric Royea.

Mrs. Perreault, mother of the bride, was in a costume of brown and beige figured silk, with beige accessories. Her corsage was yellow rosebuds.

Mrs. Martin, mother of the bridegroom, was in an ensemble of yellow taffeta with an overdress of pale green sheer, complemented by white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

The wedding reception was held at the Hotel Maurice after which Mr. and Mrs. Martin left on their wedding trip to the Maritimes. For travelling the bride chose a pale blue dress with long cape to match white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

On their return from their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Martin will take up residence in Cowansville.

Guests from out-of-town were from New York, Greenfield Park, Mystic, Chambly, Cowansville, Longueuil and Stanbridge East.

Guild holds shower

DANVILLE — The members of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church Guild were hostesses at a miscellaneous shower held at the home of Mrs. Charles Coburn on July 24 for Jennifer Lunan, an August bride-to-be.

Mrs. Coburn, on behalf of members of the guild presented corsages to Miss Lunan, her mother, Mrs. J. R. Lunan and her future mother-in-law, Mrs. Douglas Johnson.

Seated at a table piled high with gifts, the bride-elect was assisted by Mrs. Lunan and Mrs. Johnson in undoing the wrappings.

Miss Lunan extended her thanks to the guild for the lovely gifts.

Members of the Asbestos guild were also guests for the occasion.

A social hour was enjoyed with refreshments served by guild members, including a decorated shower cake, made by Mrs. Coburn.

Guests from out-of-town included the groom's mother, Mrs. Douglas Johnson, his two aunts, Simone Roux and Mrs. Gerard Roux, as well as other guests from Richmond.

BEAUTY BRIEFS

Beauty-Treat Feet

Before a big night at the discotheque, give your feet this treatment to help them keep their comfort and cool all evening long. Pour about a half-inch of chilled baby lotion with built-in hexachlorophene into a pan and let your feet rest in the lotion for five or 10 minutes. Then massage your feet and legs with gentle upward strokes. The lotion will soften and soothe the skin and the hexachlorophene in it provides a natural deodorant.

DOWN THE AISLE — Mr. and Mrs. Gilles Grimard are shown following their recent wedding at St. Peter's Anglican Church officiated by

Canon J.D.R. Franklin. The bride is the former Deborah Joy Warner, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Warner of Lennoxville. The groom is the son of Mrs. Alfred Veilleux and the late Lionel Grimard. The couple are living at 138 Brooks Street, Sherbrooke.

Cheney — Fontaine vows

Personals

BEDFORD — A pretty summer wedding took place July 13, in St. Damien's R. C. Church at 3 p.m., when Manon Fontaine, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fontaine, of Bedford, was married to Yves Cheney, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Rolland Cheney, of Bedford, in a double ring ceremony.

During the service several vocal selections were sung by Mrs. Gilbert Clark. The wedding music was played by the church organist C. Dery.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was in a floor-length gown of white peau de soie with train. Her veil of floor-length tulle illusion was worn with a headdress to match and trimmed with Guipure lace. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

The matron-of-honor was Mrs. P. Bibeau, of Montreal, sister of the bride, who wore a floor-length gown of floral print in shades of blue, rose and pale yellow. She wore white marguerites in her hair and carried a basket of the same flowers.

P. Bibeau, of Montreal, was best man.

The bride's mother chose an ensemble of blue shantung, with white accessories and a corsage of rose colored carnations.

Mrs. Cheney, mother of the bridegroom, was in a gown of beige silk and matching accessories with a corsage of pale pink carnations.

Following the wedding ceremony the reception was held at Manoir des Falaises at Philipsburg after which Mr. and Mrs. Cheney left by motor on their wedding trip to Lake George, N.Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Cheney have taken up residence on Church Street in Bedford.

Entertain couple

ROBINSON'S BAY — Mr. and Mrs. A. Sanborn of Sherbrooke, entertained for the bridal party of Miss Lois Sanborn, Frank Stanbridge and a few friends at their summer home on Robinson's Bay on the eve of the couple's wedding day, following the rehearsal at St. Paul's Church, Knowlton. Buffet refreshments were served by the hostess.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Gustafson will be pleased to know that the couple is leaving to visit his parents in Stockholm.

Mrs. Walter Beaudreau of 515 Short Street is a patient in the Sherbrooke Hospital, Room 412.

Britain is banking on new system

By TOM A. CULLEN
European Staff Correspondent

LONDON—(NEA)—One reason why there are so many payroll robberies in Britain is that British workers insist upon being paid in cash, rather than by check, so deeply rooted is their mistrust of banks.

The spectacle of little, gray-haired ladies being coshed on the head and robbed while hurrying from the bank with the firm's payroll may soon be brought to an end, thanks to the National Giro Center which will open here in the autumn.

A Giro (from the Greek meaning circle) is a banking service, with the difference that it is faster, cheaper and simpler because everything is housed under one roof.

In Britain's case, the roof costs $37 million and is located in Bootle, Lancashire, where the most modern computers and data-processing machines in Europe have been assembled.

Thanks to this computerized array, the average worker will soon be able to have his wages paid into the Giro Center, and the gas, lights, telephone, insurance and mortgage installments paid out without himself lifting a finger. It will add nothing directly to his income, but will save him much trouble and inconvenience.

The Giro idea is 85 years old, was first tried in Austria in 1883 and has since spread in one form or another to 58 countries. But for Britain it is little short of revolutionary.

For one thing, only one-third of the adult population have bank accounts in this country, the other two-thirds being deeply suspicious of such "new-fangled" institutions.

The suspicion dates back to the 19th century when snooty bank managers did their best to discourage the rabble from opening accounts. These toffee-noses have lived to regret the error of their ways, but no amount of advertisements picturing "your friendly bank manager" will convince the newly affluent working-class that the manager is in fact the smiling, open-handed chap he appears in the ads.

In the past, most household bookkeeping has been done by what is known as the "jam jar" method. From the family earnings each week, the housewife puts so much in jam jars labeled rent, electricity, TV rental, etc. At the end of the month the jars are emptied and the bills paid.

Affluence, however, has brought a huge increase in installment buying, which now averages $600 million a year, and which has made such bookkeeping methods obsolete.

The General Post Office, which will administer the National Giro Center, is hoping to coax the family savings from under the mattress and into its coffers, from which it can by computer pay the multiple bills incurred by most households.

Scheduled to open in October, Giro is aiming for one million accounts in its first year of operation, five million by 1973. Among Giro's disadvantages, it pays no interest to its customers, nor does it permit overdrafts.

However, it is faster than an ordinary banking service because checks do not have to go through a clearing-house system. The Giro Center is set up to clear all transactions on the day of receipt.

Another advantage is that the General Post Office has 23,000 branches that are open for long hours six days a week, whereas there are only 14,000 banks throughout Britain.

Among the enthusiastic backers of Giro are the 185,000 members of the Post Office Workers' Union. "We believe it will be of tremendous advantage to working people generally, and also to business and commerce," says Tom Jackson, the union's general secretary.

Bury

Miss Nancy Lawrence, Macdonald College, was a weekend guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gwilym Lawrence.

Mr. Cecil Rainey, Toronto, has returned after visiting his aunt, Mrs. Elvira Cathcart. Mr. Rainey spent his boyhood here, and called on several old friends while in the vicinity.

Mrs. Bertha Little was taken by ambulance to the Sherbrooke Hospital, after suffering a broken hip in a fall at St. Paul's Rest Home.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Dougherty and family, Cowansville, are spending a holiday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Dougherty and Mr. and Mrs. Heegsma at Lawrence.

Mr. and Mrs. Ashton Herring have returned from their wedding trip and are guests of the former's parents, before taking up residence in Sherbrooke.

Mr. David Dougherty, Montreal, spent the weekend at his home.

Mr. and Mrs. Aylmer Parsons and family have returned to their home in Mountaintop, Pa., after a two week's holiday with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Parsons and Barry. Mr. Dale Parsons has returned to Ottawa.

BUILDING THE CANADIAN WAY — Workmen build a two-storey house near Eindhoven in The Netherlands using Canadian timber-frame technique and British Columbia hemlock and fir plywood and Western Red cedar. The Canadian government has been trying to interest Western Europe in this method of housing construction, but breaking down prejudices against timber frame houses is a slow process.

Archaic laws trouble to European manufacturers

PARIS (CP) — At the seaport of St. Malo, Brittany, from which Commodore Jacques Cartier sailed away on a smiling morning in May on his first exploration trip to Canada, there is a law prohibiting any structure taller than three storeys.

Its purpose is to ensure that cannon in the fort behind will have an unobstructed line of fire to any sailing ships entering the harbor.

The law was promulgated 300 years ago by Jean Baptiste Colbert, Louis XIV's financial reformer and navy builder. It's still in effect, representing the kind of archaic regulation that pervades not only France but most members of the European Common Market.

The six countries—Belgium, France, Germany, Italy, Luxembourg and The Netherlands—now are moving into the forefront of world trade in a highly-competitive spirit.

And they are all worried about their so-called technological gap with North America, the way the United States remains constantly ahead of them in developing new skills, techniques and products.

The problem is a deeply-rooted one, which politicians have fought over, universities and other research institutes have analysed, and businessmen have discussed.

ARTS EMPHASIZED

It shows up in the markets for industrial goods and in retail stores and food shops, where English and American brand-name products abound.

It also lies at the root of recent student disturbances. There are violent complaints about the educational system which is over-weighted on the arts, rather than the sciences, and requires many more years of swotting to turn out fewer technicians than American universities.

But trying to do something concrete about the technological gap, even in one field such as housing, is frustrated by regulation and deep-rooted national conscience.

In the face of competition in lumber and timber from the Scandinavian countries and the now-predominant use of steel and cement in commercial construction, the Canadian government has been trying to interest Western Europe in Canadian techniques of timber frame construction for housing.

Europe is desperately short of housing, with a big backlog of demand still remaining from war damage and a rapidly expanding population. Multi-unit row housing, if not high-rise apartment blocks, is the only answer to the limited space available for housing.

STILL SHUN TIMBER
But fear of fire and requirements of sturdiness still dictate brick, stone and mortar construction, heavy and slow to erect. Some timber frame houses have been built in The Netherlands, as in Britain, but breaking down prejudices against it is a slow process.

Use of timber frame construction, the technique now almost universally used in new housing projects in Canada, may bring to Europe, too, the use of Canadian furnaces, plumbing fixtures, and hardware, some Canadian officials think.

But Italy's dominance in this field, with its small family-run enterprises of 10 employees or less, is likely to remain and probably grow with the removal of tariff restrictions among the Six.

Other officials say that the only real hope Canadian manufacturers have of breaking into the market is to produce totally new and distinctive products, unlike anything on the European market.

At the other extreme from basic housing materials and techniques, there is a growing market in Western Europe for electronics products from Canada. This appears paradoxical in the light of German prowess in instruments and the like. The reason is that an entirely different set of criteria enters into the electronics business than in most other fields.

PRICE NOT TOP FACTOR
One expert in the field said that price, quality and availability are the main factors.

HALIFAX (CP) — Negroes who emigrated to Guysborough County in Nova Scotia after the American Revolutionary War took part in "a grim adventure in an alien world," says an article in The Dalhousie Review, published here by Dalhousie University.

The writer, Associate History Prof. G. A. Rawlyk of Queen's University, says it was a traumatic experience for Negroes to leave their homes in the southern United States and face life in the harsh Nova Scotia wilderness.

Through the years, the descendants of the Negroes who followed the white Loyalists to Guysborough County continued to live "a second-class kind of existence," and at mid-20th century, were in "an extremely depressed condition."

By the 1950s, some Negroes had left Guysborough County for industrial Cape Breton, New Glasgow and Halifax, and others had gone to central Canada; but those who remained "were forced to struggle from crisis to crisis."

Prof. Rawlyk says Negroes who first settled in Guysborough County in 1784 were worse off than others who settled elsewhere in this province. The land was less fertile and the region more isolated, so that the Negroes were more cut off from ready assistance from their white neighbors and the government than were other Negro settlers. In more isolated communities racial prejudice was more intense, and segregation, though unplanned, "was an assumption reached more or less independently by both races."

TREATMENT UNEQUAL
Negroes received less productive and smaller land grants than other settlers. It was almost impossible for man to exist on from 10 to 40 acres of the worst land in Nova Scotia, the history professor says.

They were ignorant of methods necessary to survive on frontier farms in a northern climate and because of their previous slavery and the warmer climate to which they were accustomed, were deficient in industry and initiative.

After their second winter in Guysborough County, when many died from starvation and exposure, those who remained became increasingly dependent on white settlers.

In 1787, when the government granted 3,000 acres at Tracadie in the interior to the Negroes, some moved there from the coastal settlements and became even more isolated.

The manuscript census report of 1871 shows that most of the Negroes in Guysborough County were farmers, laborers and domestics. Almost all were illiterate. From the last decade of the 19th century until 1930, few Negroes were educated at even elementary school level.

EFFECTIVE USE of animals in studying mouth disorders similar to those suffered by man has contributed greatly to dental research. This hamster is having fluorides applied to his teeth to test the chemical's decay-fighting effectiveness.

Tooth decay problem gnaws at researchers

SUITLAND, Md.—(NEA)—The mouth is telling more these days than scientists ever thought it knew.

That's the word from the National Institute of Dental Research, where an end to dental caries (tooth decay) is predicted in the near future and where replacement teeth are being successfully implanted into gums.

"In the past, dental care has been aimed at relieving pain and restoring and replacing diseased teeth," says Dr. Paul Keyes, researcher at the institute.

"This situation has existed because the dental profession has not been able to identify satisfactorily the causes which lead to damage of the teeth and their supporting tissues."

But what was once a microbiological wasteland is, finally, grudgingly yielding the fruits of knowledge. Now the potential exists for stopping dental problems before they even start, for broader segments of the population.

By the next decade, says Dr. Seymour Kreshover, director of NIDR, it should be virtually possible to completely prevent dental caries in the United States. A Caries Task Force is being formed to speed that day, he said.

The breakthrough came, in part, with perfection of animal models and test systems which allowed researchers to better study the conditions that lead to dental disorders.

Grade school hygiene has long testified that food particles equal bacteria equal cavities. But the giant strides being made now concern just what foods and just what bacteria combine to eat through tooth enamel.

Three factors co-operate to cause tooth decay, say NIDR researchers: (1) a diet high in fermentable carbohydrates, particularly sugars; (2) the presence of decay-producing bacteria; and (3) the susceptibility of the individual.

Unfortunately for teeth, the three factors are not only usually present, they also work well as a team. Attacking any one of them deals a harsh blow to caries.

With modern society's sweet tooth, complete removal of sugars from an individual's diet is highly unlikely. But fluorides, hailed by dental scientists as the greatest modern dental discovery in the fight against decay, great-

Foresee river diversion program controlled by computer to end seasonal flooding problem

A river diversion project is being studied in Alberta as a potential forerunner to computers controlling the flow of all major rivers on the Prairies.

"I probably won't live to see it," said R. E. Bailey, director of Alberta's water resources branch. "But it's realistic."

Mr. Bailey for sees programmed computers adjusting flood gates at reservoirs and along a labyrinth of diverted rivers—allocating water to cities and municipalities at specific times and adjusting supplies to meet local peak demands.

The pilot project would be on a portion of a massive river diversion concept called P.R.I.M.E., one portion of which will study diversions of northern flowing rivers into the drier south.

The Pembina-Sturgeon River basin, where the project may be located, is not large but has all the complexities to provide experience of larger projects, Mr. Bailey said.

HOPE TO END FLOODS

The project would involve a flood control dam on the Pembina River where severe flooding occurs each spring and which would be balanced by the dam. All data would be fed into a computer which would determine adjustments for the flow gates, accommodating estimated needs for water downstream.

Mr. Bailey said the feeling is that if such a pilot project could be put into operation, the experience could be used to plan a similar one on a provincial scale. This could set the pattern for an inter-provincial scheme.

The pilot project and P.R.I.M.E. (Prairie Rivers Improvement, Management and Evaluation) have become complementary projects to an interprovincial study now entering its first full year of field work.

The study will evaluate the Saskatchewan-Nelson River basin and involve the three Prairie provinces in their co-operative assessment of Prairie rivers. The basin is the only waterway in which all three provinces are vitally concerned.

INVESTIGATE DIVERSION

Purpose of the study is to make a physical inventory of the rivers—from the Rocky Mountain headwaters of the North and South Saskatchewan rivers, through the Nelson River to its mouth on Hudson Bay. There will also be an assessment of the potential for storage and diversion, and the feasibility of introducing water supplies into the basin from adjacent watersheds.

While Alberta's P.R.I.M.E. concept paved the way for much of that province's role in the Saskatchewan-Nelson study, it has a much wider scope. A primary objective is conservation, but the concept also embraces utilization and distribution.

Mr. Bailey forecast that a time would come when the value of water will be measurable in pre-unit terms, in a manner similar to evaluation of other natural resources.

The concept may be a departure from today: While conservation is a universally accepted philosophy, water is still considered a low-cost, or free, commodity.

SUPPLY ASSURED

The change will come when industry finds that guaranteed water supplies are essential; when industry and municipalities are no longer willing to gamble on the vagaries of silt-choked flood and periods of low flow in rivers.

"But how do you tell how much water is worth?" Mr. Bailey asked. The value would be in guaranteed delivery of a specific water supply.

The concept of payment for a value received, of assurance of guaranteed water quantities, has already started in Saskatchewan, he said. In that respect Saskatchewan was ahead of the other two provinces.

How far this new approach to water insurance will go is open to a speculation no authorities are willing to engage in publicly. But it is already accepted as an inevitable concept by some who will be part of the three province Saskatchewan-Nelson study.

If the concept is embraced by the three Prairie governments, the next step would be assigned values for specific amounts of water provided to industries.

It would open a new era in water use, and the revenue derived would help finance massive construction projects estimated to cost hundreds of millions of dollars.

Shell Oil hopes for a strike in Nova Scotia

HALIFAX (CP) — Shell Oil of Canada Ltd. is hoping for a major oil strike in Nova Scotia soon.

Shell now holds exploratory rights to about 23,500,000 acres of offshore territory, stretching from the northern tip of Cape Breton to the southern end of Nova Scotia.

A floating drilling rig will be built by Halifax Shipyards Ltd. in time for drilling to start in 1969.

The self-contained rig will explore the possibilities of striking oil and gas in Shell's offshore permit area.

A spokesman for Shell in Calgary says the work has passed from the seismic to the drilling stage.

He says the drilling would be a gamble, but "the seismic work has shown us some very promising areas and we are optimistic about a degree of success."

If oil or gas is found, a production test would be run to evaluate the site's possible production rate.

Further drilling would be required to determine the extent of hydrocarbon accumulation and then a permanent drilling-production platform would be installed if justified.

SETS NO POLLUTION

The spokesman said there would be virtually no danger of pollution in the exploratory area because drilling would be carefully controlled, with operative valves able to close off the drill hole in any case of emergency. Operating cost of the operation is estimated at $22,000 a day.

Shell's announcement on intentions to drill has stimulated local interest and the interest of most major oil companies in the area.

A Halifax spokesman for Imperial Oil Ltd. says if oil were found locally, it would have a tremendous effect on Maritime oil businesses, making the acquisition of crude oil for refineries a much cheaper operation.

K. C. Irving, president of Irving Oil Co. Ltd. in Saint John, N.B., says his company's source of supply would be greatly affected if Shell struck oil in Nova Scotia.

Mr. Irving says such a discovery would have great economic advantages for the Maritime region as a whole.

Today's hand, played in the recent Bridge Olympiad, shows that even the best players in the world make mistakes.

The bidding and entire play went the same way at both tables. The first trick saw the heart jack covered by the queen, king and ace. The ace of trumps was cashed at trick two to guard against the possibility of West holding all four trumps. When East followed, the winning line of play would be to lead a club toward dummy. West's best play would be to duck, whereupon the 10 should be played from dummy. South would cash dummy's queen of trumps and his own king before leading another club.

West's best play would be to take the ace of clubs and throw South in dummy with another club, whereupon South would lead a diamond from dummy and finesse either the queen or 10. It wouldn't matter. West would be on lead and have to play away from his remaining diamond honor or lead a club to give South a ruff and discard.

Both declarers made the mistake of leading a spade to the queen at trick three and taking the double diamond finesse at trick four. Each West player was on lead with the jack and showed that their defense was up to world's championship form. Each led his jack of trumps.

Each South was in his own hand and could do no better than to lead a club to dummy's 10. This left the declarers in dummy at the wrong time. The best they could make was to try the finesse of the diamond queen. West had the second defensive trick with the king and it was a simple matter to take the third trick with the club ace and let East make his 10 of hearts in the cool of the evening.

Daniel Denault's homer gives Red Sox win, Orioles win in LL

A home run by Daniel Denault in the bottom of the sixth gave the Red Sox a close 8-7 win over the White Sox in a Little League encounter played at the Parade Grounds last night. In the other game played, the Senators took a come from behind 9-5 win over the Twins.

The Red Sox's win puts them in second spot in the league standing. Tonight the Orioles meet the White Sox and Indians tangled with the Twins at the Parade Grounds.

White Sox on hits from Thiberge, Houle and Lapierre got away to a two-run lead in the top of the first inning. The Red Sox in their half of the first came up with six big runs on three hits from Robert, Caron and J. L. Roy coupled with two White Sox errors.

Desilets and Houle, hitting in the top of the second, cut down the Red Sox lead as two runs crossed the plate. Denault led off the Red Sox second inning with a double and Caron singled, driving Denault home with the seventh Red Sox run.

Two errors gave the White Sox one run in their part of the third, while the Red Sox went scoreless in the same inning. In the fourth and fifth the White Sox got single runs tying up the ball game at seven all. Then in the last of the sixth Denault homered to lead off giving the Red Sox the win. Houle had three hits for the winners while Denault and Caron each had two hits for the winners.

Twins on two hits and three errors got away to a five-run lead in their game with the Senators. Bouchard and Coates were the hitters. Senators in their half of the first got a single run. Twins after the first inning were kept off the score sheet by Murray and Provencher, the respective Senators pitchers. Senators added two runs in the second, third and fourth and finished up with three in the fifth to win 9-5.

Marcel Dion fires 76 to win Belvedere CC Field Day

Marcel Dion of the East Angus Golf and Country Club fired a 75 over the weekend to capture top honors in the annual Belvedere Golf and Country Club Field Day. Jean Louis Gagne was second in the 1-5 handicap class with a 76.

In the 6-10 handicap class, Gordon Harmer of the Sherbrooke Golf and Country Club took first place with a 76, three strokes better than Jean Rosano of the Belvedere Club.

Other class winners were: 11-15, Gerry Bergeron, 84, Belvedere; 16-20, Bert Ledoux, 86, SCC; 21-25, J. P. Lebevre, 91, Lennoxville; and 26-32, R. Gagnon, 103, East Angus.

Second-place finishers in the above classes (follow the same order) were: Roger Drouin, 84, Lennoxville; Serge Gregoire, 86, Belvedere; A. Boulet, 96, Belvedere; and B. St. Martin, 105, Windsor.

Yves Messier, Belvedere Golf and Country Club publicist, said the tournament was a great success with a total of 215 golfers in the two-day event.

Aussies retain ashes, cricket masters again

LEEDS, England (Reuters) — Australia has retained "the ashes"—the symbol of 86 years of cricket rivalry with England.

The fourth test match ended in a draw Tuesday as time ran out on the fifth day with English batsmen struggling to score an impossible number of runs needed to catch the Australians.

It was the third draw in the five-game summer series and guaranteed at least an overall tie to the Australians, who won the first match. England has not won a series since 1956.

The tradition of "the ashes" dates back to 1882 when the pride of English cricket lost to the colonialists for the first time on English ground.

At first the ashes were just a joke—derived from an obituary notice in a newspaper about the "death" of English cricket.

The following year, when England took revenge in Australia, a cricket stump was cremated and presented to the winners in an urn.

The urn stays in a London museum, but symbolically is possessed by whichever country last won an England-Australia cricket series.

Australia won the ashes in 1959 and has kept them ever since.

England finished 95 runs behind Australia, having scored 230 runs for the loss of 4 wickets in the second innings and 302 in the first innings.

The Australians scores were 315 runs in the first innings and 312 in the second.

Granby still soaring

Alouettes meet Miners tonight

Sherbrooke Alouettes will attempt to gain ground on the Granby Cardinals while Thetford will continue their bid to secure a play-off berth tonight when the Als and Miners clash at 8 p.m. at the Park Avenue Stadium.

In Provincial League action last night, Thetford and Plessisville split a doubleheader with the Miners carrying the first game 2-1 and then winning the second 8-5. The Cards squeaked by the Indians 8-7.

Tonight in other Provincial League play the Plessisville Braves will travel to Drummondville to meet the Royals. Tomorrow night the Als travel to Thetford to complete a two-game home and away series while Lachine is in Granby to meet the Cardinals.

Tonight's game at the Park Avenue Stadium is a rescheduled tilt following last Saturday evening's rainout game at the local ballpark.

Williams, Martinez and Occhionero are ready for this evening's game with the probable starter being Williams. Williams, a Florida State Leaguer who joined the Als at the season's quarter mark, is 1-1.

Rumors throughout the league are circulating presently which, if true, could put Thetford into hot water again. According to a Provincial League ruling, a salary ceiling of $2,000 is placed on each player. Thetford and Quebec are rumored to be paying higher than this ceiling for a couple of players.

No comment has yet to come from League president Yvon Ellyson nor has an investigation begun. If true, both teams would be fined $500 by the league. Other steps could also be taken.

Quebec Indians at present are battling it out with the Als, Cards and Royals for pennant honors in the Provincial League while Thetford, losing first place because of an ineligible player, have just about secured a play-off berth. In the Provincial League the first six teams enter the play-offs.

Plessisville is holding down seventh place at the moment although with the number of games left the Braves will in all possibility bypass the Mets for the sixth and final play-off spot. Plessisville was pushed from fourth and a half games off the pace, in fourth place, to last spot, 19½ games back, because of an ineligible player also.

Jim Ridley continues to lead the Als offensively with (prior to weekend action) a .300 batting average. Closing in fast on the Alouettes batting leaders, Ridley and Erasmo Felipe, is leftfielder Willie Madison. Madison, like Ridley, is an excellent fielder.

In the Als' last game, Monday night against the Royals, Madison singled three times in four trips to the plate and scored four runs. Three of these runs Madison set up himself by stealing second twice and third once. The Als lost the game 6-5. So far this season Madison has stole 15 bases in home games. He has not been caught trying to steal in any of these home games.

Alouettes' supporters may also have noticed that team mentor Nick Testa has changed his batting order in the past week. Felipe, who has held the cleanup spot since the season opened, is batting fifth now with Gilles St. Onge in the fourth spot. Ridley bats third, Madison second and De Leon continues to lead-off. Pace, who for a while was on a hot batting streak has cooled off and Dick Wiecezak is now taking over second base chores. He is batting behind Sabather in seventh spot. The two (Pace and Wiecezak) have alternated at second base during the season and Pace may return to his usual spot tonight. Pace also acts as back-up catcher for Coach Testa.

GROTE SAFE — Mets catcher Jerry Grote sidas safely home as Reds catcher Johnny Bench appears to do a cross-legged dance step in second inning of game at New York's Shea Stadium. Grote scored on teammate Jerry

Buchek's grounder to Cincinnati's Tony Perez whose throw to Bench was not in time. (AP Wirephoto)

Gibson wins 12th straight as Cards whip Mets 7-1, Reds win

Bob Gibson, who's been dealing almost exclusively in zeros for two months, shrugs off an occasional odd number on the scoreboard.

Tony Cloninger hardly can afford the luxury.

Gibson's latest shutout string was severed at 23 innings Tuesday night but the St. Louis ace breezed past the New York Mets 7-1 for his 12th consecutive victory.

Meanwhile, Cincinnati's Cloninger, whose next shutout will be his first in two years, blanked Philadelphia on three hits for seven innings but had to settle for relief help and a 5-2 victory that sent the Reds into second place in the National League.

FOR 17TH TIME

Cloninger, acquired from Atlanta in a trade last month after an injury-plagued 1967 flop with the Braves, failed to go the distance for the 17th time in as many starts this season.

Pittsburgh swept a two-night doubleheader from Atlanta 8-5 and 5-4 in 10 innings, dropping the slump-ridden Braves from the runner-up spot to third. Los Angeles edged Houston 3-2 and Chicago Cubs trampled San Francisco 10-4.

Gibson checked the Mets on five hits, including a run-scoring double by Ed Kranepool in the fourth inning, in boosting his season mark to 15-5. Eight of his victories have been shutouts and he has allowed just three runs in 101 innings since June 2. With an earned run average of 0.96, the 33-year-old fireballer is zeroing in on Grover Cleveland Alexander's all-time ERA mark of 1.22, set in 1915.

Tigers blank Yankees 5-0, Orioles and Indians win

Ron Hansen of Washington Senators pulled off the first unassisted triple play in major league baseball in 41 years, but it didn't take Cleveland Indians long to get over it.

After falling victim to Hansen in the first inning Tuesday night, the Indians went on to build up an 8-0 lead by the end of the fifth en route to a 10-1 breeze over the Senators.

Detroit Tigers and Baltimore Orioles also had easy times as the American League race remained at the status quo.

Detroit rolled behind Earl Wilson's hitting and pitching to a 5-0 victory over New York Yankees after the Orioles used six runs in the seventh inning to bomb Boston 8-3 in the afternoon.

The Tigers still lead the Orioles and Indians by seven games.

In the only other game, Oakland Athletics halted Chicago White Sox' four-game winning streak with a 3-1 triumph.

Hansen got Cleveland off to a bad start after Dave Nelson singled and Russ Snyder walked in the first inning. Joe Azcue lined to the shortstop, who stepped on second to double Nelson, and then tagged Snyder coming from first base on the hit-and-run.

26-Long Irons

The key to good long iron playing, I'm convinced, is hitting them just like fairway woods. With the irons, of course, you start to get better control.

One of the first golf articles I ever read, and it helped me with my long irons, was by Jay Hebert. Jay was and still is the best long-iron player around. I had been trying to hit down on the long irons and spin the ball up, gouge it out. Jay, on the other hand, recommended that the golfer hit them like a fairway wood—play the ball a little farther forward on your left heel and spank it.

You don't take a divot with a fairway wood, and here I was trying to take a divot with a two-iron. He said: "Take the club—a one, two or three—or even a four-iron if you consider that a long one—and spank the ball. It's a square shot. Not an ascending or a descending blow."

How do you choose which iron to hit? The primary distinction is directly related to distance because clubs are engineered precisely. But some times you have to look behind the scene. If a pro hits a three-iron one day and the next day uses a five-iron from the same spot, you can be sure the conditions have changed.

Maybe the second day, the ball was sitting down and had a "flyer" lie, which picks up extra distance. These are the little subtleties of golf you gain from experience. Ordinarily, you can figure a change in irons will mean a difference of 12 to 15 yards.

Saskatchewan repeats WFC playoff, beat Calgary 25-24 in CFL opener

CALGARY (CP) — An unsuccessful field goal attempt by Calgary Stampede's Larry Robinson with just more than a minute left in the game preserved a 25-24 victory for Saskatchewan Roughriders in Western Football Conference action Tuesday.

Stampede were in good field position on Saskatchewan's 16-yard line and trailing 25-23. Robinson kicked from the 23-yard line, but the kick was wide and went for a single.

A booming punt by Saskatchewan's Alan Ford two plays after Roughriders took over the ball, put the Roughies out of danger.

The game, played before 20,276 fans, was the first one for both clubs as the 1968 season opened.

End Jim Worden was Saskatchewan's outstanding player grabbing two touchdown passes from quarterback Ron Lancaster. Henry Dorsch scored the other Saskatchewan touchdown on a one-yard run and Bill Goods rounded out the scoring with one field goal, three converts and a single on a field goal attempt.

Calgary touchdowns came from fullback Ted Woods, and Terry Evanshen and halfback Grry Shaw. Robinson converted two, kicked one field goal and one single.

ALWAYS AHEAD

The Roughriders, who beat the Stampede in the 1967 WFC playoffs, never trailed in the game. They led 10-3 after the first quarter, 18-9 at half time and 18-16 after three quarters.

Calgary quarterback Peter Liske stuck mostly with a passing game and piled up 467 yards, completing 25 of 37 passes. Stampede gained only 55 yards on the ground and had a total offense of 467 yards.

Saskatchewan, displaying good ball control had a total offense of 280 yards.

The team ground out 169 yards rushing and Lancaster passed for 111 yards with nine completions in 17 attempts.

The Roughriders opened the scoring less than three minutes after the opening kickoff when Goods, traded to the team by Calgary during the off-season, kicked a 47-yard field goal.

Robinson tied the game with a 17-yard field goal at 8:04 of the first quarter, but Worden gave Saskatchewan the lead again when he took a 19-yard pass in the end zone. A 30-yard pass to Jason Francis earlier set up the touchdown.

Worden scored his second touchdown on a 10-yard pass late in the second quarter after Lancaster took the team from his own 14-yard line to Calgary's 10 in 11 plays. Dorsch scored the Roughriders' last touchdown midway through the fourth quarter.

Lions nip Bombers 18-16

WINNIPEG (CP) — Standby quarterback Paul Brothert's capped a fourth-quarter march from deep in his own end with a touchdown throw to flanker Sonny Homer to give British Columbia Lions an 18-16 win over Winnipeg Blue Bombers Tuesday night in Western Football Conference action.

Homer was left alone when defensive half Ernie Pitts of Winnipeg slipped in the end zone on turf made greasy by a wind-blown rain that began just after the start of the second half.

Bombers took a 15-11 halftime lead on majors by flanker Ken Nielsen and halfback Dave Ramsey. Pierre Guindon kicked two converts, and a field goal in the losing cause. Punter Ed Ulmer got the other Winnipeg point.

Homer also scored Lions' second-quarter touchdown on a 31-yard pass from starting quarterback Peter Ohler who was shaken up near the start of the last quarter. He never returned to the field.

Ted Gerela converted both

B.C. majors, added a single and kicked a 12 yard field goal.

APPLIED PRESSURE
Bombers seemed to hold off the Lions effectively for the first few minutes of the last quarter and applied plenty of pressure on Brothert.

The young quarterback led his club steadily along the ground until he reached midfield with powerful running by Leroy Sledge.

It looked as though the drive was stopped when Brothert threw straight into Ulmer's hands on a rollout play, but an infraction was called against the Bombers and the interception was nullified.

One account of the penalty was that veteran Bomber tackle Bill Whiser was caught holding a receiver at the line of scrimmage.

Bombers tried to come back but Schneider was unable to mount a threat and failed on a one-yard plunge on a third down gamble in the dying seconds of the game.

Als meet Eskies tonight, to be televised on CTV

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Alouettes will be out to avenge a 17-6 pre-season exhibition loss to Edmonton Eskimos tonight when the two clubs play for standings points in the Canadian Football League's first interlocking game of the year.

Coach Kay Dalton Tuesday expressed optimism that his club will erase the pre-season result and start on the road to improving its dismal 2-12 record of last year that found the Als mired deep in the Eastern Football League cellar.

Dalton Tuesday pruned his squad to the required 14 imports and 18 Canadians when giant defensive end Wayne Coleman was released only two days after his arrival in camp. He is an import obtained from Calgary Stampede.

Tonight's game will be televised on the CTV network at 8 p.m. EDT.

"We should have beat them the last time in Edmonton," Dalton said Tuesday. "But it was our third game in six days and we were tired."

Carroll Williams, who showed a diversified attack when the Als beat the defending Grey Cup champion Hamilton Tiger-Cats 34-15 in an exhibition game last Thursday, received a vote of confidence when a back up quarterback Ed Buzzell was turned loose over the weekend.

CHICAGO (AP) — Avery Brundage, president of the International Olympic Committee, indicated Tuesday that the future of the Winter Games is at stake because of commercialism arising in this year's Olympics at Grenoble, France.

"We have a committee now investigating the future of the Winter Games," Brundage told a meeting of the College Sports Information Directors of America.

"They have grown too big and too expensive. At Grenoble, we had 3,400 journalists there. We had Olympic butter. We had Olympic sugar."

Brundage told The Associated Press later that, "I wouldn't go as far as saying the Winter Games will be abandoned. And they definitely will be held as scheduled in 1972 in Sapporo, Japan."

"But there is one sentiment to abandon them, and the investigating committee, whose chairman is Mr. Van Karmabek of The Netherlands, may make a report at the Summer Olympics in Mexico City in October."

Provost, 34, a right wing for the Canadiens, and Blake have pleaded innocent.

Blake trial opens

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Trial began Tuesday for former coach Hector (Toe) Blake of Montreal Canadiens and player Claude Provost, both accused of assaulting a fan during a National Hockey League game.

Jury selection took up the day. Each is charged with one count of assault with a deadly weapon—a hockey stick.

Bernie Wiesman, 39, a salesman from suburban Northridge, claimed he was attacked here last Nov. 19 with hockey sticks during a game which the Canadiens lost 4-2 to Los Angeles Kings.

Wiesman said he suffered lacerations requiring 23 stitches. Blake, 55, who retired May 11 after 13 years as coach, is assistant vice president of the Canadiens.

Provost, 34, a right wing for the Canadiens, and Blake have pleaded innocent.
