Riot squad called in

Angry dairy farmers demonstrate in Ottawa

OTTAWA — RCMP riot police were called in to keep order yesterday afternoon on Parliament Hill when 5,000 angry Quebec dairy farmers demonstrated.

It was the first time the riot squad had been sent into action there since 1974 when Canadian Indians demonstrated.

Frustrated by not getting immediate reaction to their demands, the crowd broke through eight rows of Mounties guarding the steps to the House of Commons. The riot police rushed in to assist the regular force, preventing demonstrators from entering the Parliament building. Although the squad waved clubs breaking up demonstrators, there were no injuries to participants. Liquid milk, powdered milk, bottles, sticks and cans were tossed on the steps by the crowd.

RCMP Inspector Dennis Farrell said later that two Mounties were injured slightly in the surge at the main door. Both were taken to hospital and treated before being released.

"It got pretty hot and heavy for a while. We were there strictly in a defensive capacity. We were in no way of the offensive," said Insp. Farrell, who headed the riot squad.

The outburst followed two and a half hours of demonstrations held while protesters waited for a UPA (Union des Producteurs Agricoles) delegation to meet federal cabinet members. Prime Minister Trudeau was not present at the meeting.

Chanting for Whelan and Trudeau earlier during the protest, demonstrators finally saw Agriculture Minister Eugene Whelan appear on the steps. He only had time to say, "I'm your minister of agriculture," before being struck on the forehead with a gallon of milk which showered him. Attempting to speak again, the crowd drowned him out with boos and cries of "En Français". He re-entered the House of Commons.

"I don't blame the farmers, I'd be pretty upset too," he told reporters before retreating to the Centre Block.

Mr. Whelan has said repeatedly that parts of the new policy are unfair to some dairy farmers, especially those who stayed within their provincially assigned quota level in 1975.

The agriculture minister was preceded by Regional Expansion Minister Marcel Lessard who told the farmers, in French, that there was no easy solution to the problem, which he said was caused by surplus production.

Social Credit Leader Real Caouette emerged after Mr. Whelan's aborted address and delivered a fiery speech that left the throng cheering wildly.

The farmers were protesting the federal government dairy policy which has forced the industrial milk producers to cut back production by 20 per cent or face heavy fines. These producers total 23,000 in Quebec.

UPA Vice-president Armand Guard pointed out to demonstrators that the government allows a 10 per cent increase in revenues for most Canadians, but expects dairy farmers to take a 20 per cent drop.

demonstrators, who had been organized by the UPA called for three concessions from Ottawa: 1. A 40 million dollar subsidy to carry them through the crisis; 2. An 11 million pound reduction in Canadian cheese imports, allowing Canadian farmers a greater share of the national cheese market; 3. A 2.6 million pound of butterfat increase in Quebec's share of the national production allotment.

The demonstration began orderly with participants marching one mile along the Rideau Canal and along Rideau Street up to the steps of the House of Commons. Traffic was cleared by municipal police for demonstrators who chanted, "Ottawa, fait ta job".

Five hundred Eastern Townships dairy farmers took part, although English representation was small. Among those present were Doug MacKinnon, English sector president for Sherbrooke district, George Rogerson, English sector president for Brome district, and Fred Albers, provincial president of the Quebec Farmers' Association. Mr. MacKinnon said he was disappointed with the English turnout.

Demonstrators were finally told the cabinet had agreed to meet with UPA leaders Tuesday to discuss farmers' demands.

Although then told to disperse by Pierre St. Martin, president of the Quebec Industrial Milk Producers Federation, which is a branch of the UPA, protesters continued throwing more milk and curd cheese.

When they finally left ending the four hour demonstration, some militant members broke most of the light bulbs in the lamp posts lining the walk to the House of Commons. They set fire to placards, wooden garbage pails, a park bench and ornamental trees. The Ottawa Fire Department was called in to douse one minor blaze.

The federal dairy policy had been announced in late April this year. Regulations to the policy were only hammered out last week by the Quebec Industrial Milk Producers Federation, surprising farmers with the extent of the quota cutback.

Farmers were already two months into their dairy year.

The regulations hit hardest at industrial milk producers whose milk goes into the production of dairy products such as cheese, butter and yogurt. Fluid milk producers were only partially involved in the cutback.

The current crisis goes back to 1975 when the federal government called on dairy farmers to increase production by five per cent. However, the increase turned out to be 15 per cent, creating a surplus of dairy products in Canada that could not be sold on the world market, already flooded with dairy products.

Sherbrooke region farmers began protesting Monday at the Lennoxville Experimental Farm which is federally operated. They poured into the sewage system the 3,000 pounds of milk that the farm produces daily for sale as industrial milk.

They continued their demonstration Tuesday, but were halted Wednesday by provincial police.

If demands are not met for aid, farmers are expected to carry out more protests locally.

DEMONSTRATE — Five thousand irate Quebec dairy farmers marched on Ottawa yesterday seeking aid in the current dairy crisis. Farmers have been told they must cut back production by 20 per cent or face heavy fines.

Habitat weathers walkout

VANCOUVER (CP) — The United Nations Habitat conference weathered a sudden walkout by Arab, African and East European countries Thursday but the action demonstrated Canada's delicate position in the dispute over the national rights of Palestinian refugees.

The Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO) and supporting delegations walked out when Josef Burg, Israel's interior minister and Israeli delegation head, rose to speak in the conference's plenary session, but they returned shortly after.

PLO spokesmen later said the walkout was traditional at UN meetings and assured reporters it would not undermine the conference. Enrique Penalosa, Habitat secretary-general, also dismissed the walkout as normal and said he does not think "anyone gives any special significance to that."

But the protest highlighted a tense political dispute that has been obvious in conference working sessions throughout the week, despite Canadian hopes that the meeting would stick to the universal social problems of water quality and housing.

CREATE DISCOMFORT

The Iraqi delegation has put forward in conference working sessions several resolutions that have been supported by the PLO. Dealing with the refugee issue, the resolutions have created some discomfort among the Canadian delegation.

Justice Minister Ron Basford, head of the Canadian delegation, said at the delegation's daily news conference Thursday that one Iraqi proposal relates to the UN resolution that Zionism is a form of racism. Canada opposed the resolution.

Canada will seek to keep these "extraneous political issues" out of the Declaration of General Principles being developed at the conference, the minister said.

Other countries that disapprove of the Iraqi resolution include Australia and the United States.

While keeping an eye on the political front, the Canadian delegation was also busy explaining and defending its resolutions on land profits and ownership. The most vociferous critics were members of the Canadian non-governmental organization, participating as an observer group.

Truck overturns killing woman

ASCOT CORNER (GA) — Mrs. Cecile Simard, 51, was killed instantly after the car in which she was a passenger was struck from behind by a truck as she was attempting to turn into the driveway of her home on Chemin Galipeau yesterday.

According to a provincial police report, the truck driven by Donald Cournoyer, 28, of Waterville in attempting to stop jack-knifed and rolled over the Simard vehicle. The deceased's son, Gilles, 21, was driving the car at the time. Both he and the driver of the truck were admitted to the St. Vincent de Paul Hospital and remain in serious condition today.

According to the police report the accident occurred at 3:30 p.m.

Mrs. Simard is the mother of Constable Pierre Simard, a member of the Sherbrooke Police Department.

Quebec in focus

Raps insurance field

QUEBEC (CP) — Half the motorcycles and more than 20 per cent of cars in Quebec are not insured, the opposition Parti Quebecois said Thursday.

Marcel Leger, member for Lafontaine, called on Lise Bacon, minister of financial institutions, to enact a three-point plan to rectify the "catastrophic situation" in the automobile insurance field.

He told a news conference the government should: —Create a public agency to direct motorists toward private companies which will ensure them at "normal" premium rates.

—Guarantee insurance companies enough sources of liquid assets to permit them to accept new clients.

—Institute a new system of assessing damages to halt the artificial rise of repair costs.

Funding politics

QUEBEC (CP) — Quebec Premier Robert Bourassa said Thursday his government intends to introduce legislation on the funding of political parties before the end of the year.

Speaking in the Quebec national assembly, Mr. Bourassa first declined to give details of the new legislation, but after persistent questioning by opposition Parti Quebecois leader Jacques-Yvan Morin, he said it was aimed at placing controls on electoral funding.

Asbestos companies

MONTREAL (CP) — The Quebec department of natural resources has recommended that the justice department take legal action against three asbestos mining companies for employing workers who do not have medical certificates, it was announced Thursday.

The resources department said in a statement that inspections turned up 52 complaints against Canadian Johns-Manville Co. Ltd., 10 against Asbestos Corp. Ltd. and two against Bell Asbestos Mines Ltd., for employing workers without certificates.

An order-in-council adopted April, 1975, stipulates that a worker in a mine where asbestos dust is present must hold a medical certificate issued by the Quebec Workmen's Compensation Board.

Barrett makes comeback

VANCOUVER (CP) — To the surprise of almost no one, Dave Barrett, British Columbia's former New Democratic Party premier, made an impressive political comeback Thursday with a convincing victory in the Vancouver East byelection.

With all 179 polls counted, Mr. Barrett was almost 13,000 votes ahead of his nearest rival, Social Credit candidate Ralph Long, a lawyer. The riding has been strongly CCF-NDP for the last 40 years.

Mr. Barrett's victory came after an 18-vote loss in the Dec. 11 general election to car dealer George Kerster, a political unknown running for Social Credit in Coquitlam.

Following the defeat, paralleled by the defeat of the NDP government, former resources minister Bob Williams resigned his seat to make way for Mr. Barrett's return to the legislature. Mr. Williams had a 5,000-vote plurality Dec. 11.

Standing in the house now is Social Credit, 35; NDP, 18; Liberals, one; Progressive Conservatives, one.

A jubilant Mr. Barrett said in his victory speech that "tonight we celebrate, tomorrow we go back to work."

ASSESSSES VICTORY

He said the voters sent a message of dissatisfaction to Victoria and his win shows that "reason, logic, love and understanding is a better way of democracy and you've proved it tonight."

A disillusioned Mr. Long said after his defeat that "I never really wanted to get into politics in the first place."

RIOT SQUAD — Members of the RCMP riot squad are seen defending the main entrance to the House of Commons as they were faced by angry Quebec farmers. Order was restored with slight injuries to two policemen. Riot squad police were armed with clubs and tear gas, wearing protective plexiglas shields over their faces.

Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — The gold index recorded its largest loss in two weeks while prices in other major sectors of the Toronto stock market moved higher in heavy trading Thursday.

Analysts attributed the weakness in gold shares to concern that the next gold auction by the International Monetary Fund may not be as successful as the one Wednesday in which 780,000 ounces of gold was sold at $126 an ounce.

"If the price drops at the next auction (scheduled to be held in six weeks) there's no telling how far down the price of gold will go," said one Toronto analyst.

The index of gold shares fell 5.52, its largest decline since May 20, to 303.55.

The widely-based industrial index gained .34 to 191.69, base metals .31 to 89.00 and western oils 1.25 to 241.41.

Volume of trading was 3.09 million shares valued at $23.14 million, compared with 3.40 million and $24.48 million Wednesday.

New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Oil stocks scored some notable gains but the rest of the stock market lagged in another sluggish and indecisive session on Wall Street Thursday.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks slipped 2.13 to 973.80 after showing a small gain for most of the day.

Analysts said many investors spent the day waiting for further signs of the outlook for U.S. Federal Reserve monetary policy, interest rates and inflation.

Weekly Federal Reserve data issued at the New York Stock Exchange close showed no change in the basic measure of the money supply—but a sharp jump in business loan demand at the big New York banks.

The financial community also was looking cautiously ahead to today's scheduled U.S. wholesale price index for May.

OILS ACTIVE

Five oil stocks made the list of the 15 most active NYSE issues, with Continental Oil and Phillips Petroleum each rising more than a point and Exxon, Gulf and Texaco adding fractions.

Exxon, which ranks third among American stocks in market value and number of shareholders, traded at an all-time high of 103 1/4 at midday before slipping back again.

Brokers said oil stocks attracted buyers because of a rising earnings trend in the industry and expectations of strong gasoline demand this summer.

Standard and Poor's 500-stock index posted a .09 loss to 100.13. The NYSE's composite index of all its listed common stocks was down .05 at 53.28.

Among Canadian issues on the New York Stock Exchange, McIntyre Mines was up 1 at 39, Hiram Walker 1/4 at 31 and Canadian Pacific 1/4 at 17 1/4. Dome Mines was down 1/4 at 44 1/2 and Hudson Bay 1/4 at 19 1/4.

Cable companies say pay-TV is on the way

OTTAWA (CP) — The country's cable television operators say pay-TV is on the way whether on-air broadcasters like it or not.

Despite reluctance within the government and outright alarm among financially-troubled broadcasters, the cable industry is preparing for pay-TV in what is seen as the beginning of important changes in the basic make-up of the television industry.

Pay television will be the dominant topic at the four-day annual meeting, starting today in Toronto, of the Canadian Cable Television Association (CCTA), representing most of the country's 400 cable operators.

Cable companies in Toronto, Hamilton, Winnipeg and Vancouver have active plans for pay-TV while operators in most other cities across the country are said to be considering it.

Pay-TV is seen as the first big step away from the traditional sources of financing what viewers see on their home television screens—advertising revenues and the $343 million in direct government subsidies this year to the publicly-owned Canadian Broadcasting Corp.

PROPOSALS SIMILAR

Cable companies have offered a variety of tentative proposals to the CRTC, all variations on the basic idea of charging subscribers an additional $6 to $10 a month for a package of commercial-free movies, specially prepared musicals and other programming possibly including live sports events.

One group of cable companies wants to join forces with Telesat Canada, the government-private carrier consortium operating the three Anik communications satellites, to establish a national pay-TV network.

Two of the country's biggest cable firms, Rogers Cable TV and Metro Cable TV of Toronto, have detailed plans to offer pay-TV in several big apartment developments later this year. They would buy movies from Cable Video Services Ltd., a subsidiary of the companies now offering pay television in some hotels.

Communications Minister Jeanne Sauve and CRTC chairman Harry Boyle are expected in speeches to CCTA this week to offer the cable operators some grounds for going ahead with their plans.

PRESENT IDEAS

Mr. Boyle has asked the industry to present ideas on how pay-TV can be used to help finance production of domestic television programs. Officials say the CRTC may soon begin hearing detailed pay-TV applications.

Broadcasters' profits have been falling off precisely because of the ability of the existing cable system to bring in large numbers of distant, often U.S. television stations, giving viewers a bigger channel choice and making local stations less attractive to advertisers.

People like Murray Cherkover, president of CTV Television Network, want pay-TV left on the sidelines until the basic problems of audience fragmentation caused by cable can be solved.

The cable companies are responding with an assortment of plans to placate the broadcasters by diverting a portion of potentially big pay-TV profits into domestic on-air programming. There might also be some protections against pay-TV and on-air competitors trying to outbid one another for the rights to popular movies and live sports events.

Census figures show a growing increase in elderly population

WASHINGTON (AP) — If current birth trends continue, an estimated 17 per cent of the U.S. population will be 65 and older by the year 2030, compared to 10.5 per cent today, a new census bureau report shows.

The report, a major study of the over-65 population, also shows that as the elderly population continues to grow in the U.S. and women continue to outlive men, there will be more educated, widowed, older women living alone in the country than ever before.

The report shows that women continue to outlive men by an average of almost eight years. As of 1974, women may expect to live an average of 75.9 years and men an average of 68.2 years.

Today, there are 69 males for every 100 females 65 and older. Forty years ago, the ratio was about even. By the year 2000, the figures show there will be about 65 males for every 100 females in the same age category.

"I view this as one of the most important demographic issues of our time," said Jacob Siegel, a senior statistician in the census bureau's population division.

RESEARCH NEEDED

Siegel, who prepared the bureau's report, said more medical attention must be given to such chronic degenerative diseases as strokes and heart attacks which, for reasons still not understood, are more deadly for men than women.

"We must learn how to save a 45-year-old man from dying from a heart attack," Siegel said. "More can be gained from saving the life of a 45-year-old man than prolonging the life of a sick 75-year-old. More must be learned about whom to save. Male and female health differences influence what family life will be like which has a great deal to do with our happiness.

"The world of 2000 will have a population of fairly sophisticated, educated, elderly women, many who have had outside work and have held managerial and professional positions."

Siegel says that as of March 1975, three out of four men 65 and older were married and living with their wives, compared with one out of three women of that age who were married and living with their husbands. Women 65 and older are much more likely to be widowed than married, and a sizable proportion of them live alone, the report says.

Siegel's report shows that as of March 1975, a little over one-third of the U.S. elderly population had graduated from high school. By 1990, the government estimates the proportion will rise to one-half.

Siegel says that if women continue to have an average of two children each, the growth rate of the elderly population is likely to grow slightly faster than the growth rate of the population as a whole.

Legal Aid hits UIC proposals

SHERBROOKE (RM) — The Quebec Legal Aid service bureau here has expressed its dismay with the federal unemployment scheme, and to make its point has produced a multi-media presentation.

The presentation, produced by legal aid worker Peter Welden, purports to explain the bureaucratic tangles involved with applying and receiving unemployment insurance.

However, according to Rod Macdonnell, another worker in the legal aid office, the unemployed's lot could worsen as a result of the proposed budget changes presented by finance minister Donald Macdonald last month.

The proposals include increasing the qualifying work period from eight to 12 weeks.

The legal aid bureau maintains these changes will hit Quebec most, because of its 35 per cent unemployment rate. The seasonally adjusted national rate is presently 5.6 per cent, and the rate for Sherbrooke and region, 5.3 per cent.

"Those prevented from receiving benefits will find themselves on welfare rolls," he said. Welfare, a provincially administered scheme, offers less funds than unemployment insurance.

employment insurance.

Mr. Macdonnell also explained that the changes may also affect agricultural workers, because the seasonal nature of their work will prevent them from becoming eligible.

The proposals are also termed an injustice by legal aid, insofar as workers who pay into unemployment insurance now may not be able to collect should they require it.

Mr. Macdonnell cited a study by the Confederation of National Trade Unions, which indicates that 80 per cent of the province's work force will experience at least one day out of work.

However, he said, "those unemployed do not relate to the problem" and the complications, and for this reason the slide-and-sound presentation has been made.

The cost of its production was paid from the education budget of legal aid, an independent service providing free legal service to those who qualify. It is financed by the provincial government.

The presentation is available from the legal aid office at 105 Gordon Street, in Sherbrooke.

Historical society exec meets

ROCK ISLAND (IH) — Members of the Executive of the Stanstead Historical Society gathered at the home of the president, Arthur E. Curtis and Mrs. Curtis on Tuesday evening, June 1.

With Mr. Curtis presiding, summer and fall plans were made, which includes the seasonal opening of the Barn museum in Rock Island and the museum at Beebe. As a great deal of desk work is done at the Beebe museum, there was discussion for a desk and chairs. It is hoped for a gift of an old fashioned desk that will correspond with the historic items, maybe a roll top desk. If anyone has such a donation, it will be gratefully accepted and acknowledged, or if someone has one for sale, this will be considered.

Miss Aline Ricard will continue work at the Beebe museum with Miss Linda Gerber and her brother at the Barn museum. June 9, Allen Nourse, a teacher at Drummondville, will be bringing a group of students to visit the museums. The visitors will be received by Miss Viola Moranville and Mrs. Enid Cooke in Beebe and by Mrs. Byron Brown and Mrs. H. Skelton at Rock Island.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Aikman, cemetery committee, spoke in regards to some cemeteries. They are in correspondence with persons from many points of the North American continent as they seek information of their ancestors.

Mrs. Enid Cooke, archivist, spoke on her work with historic papers. Douglas Farrow, in charge of an art gallery arrangement at the Beebe museum gave his report. He plans to do this in stages in the basement section, to add another interesting room and to display historic photographs, paintings and documents.

Edwin Earle displayed some American Bicentennial posters, one of these to be displayed in each museum.

Mr. Curtis announced the summer meeting will take place at 2:00 p.m. on Saturday, August 7 at Centenary church hall. J. D.

Ferguson will be the speaker and his topic, "The Provincial Bank of Stanstead." He will also read a delightful historic paper. Tea will be served after the gathering but details are yet to be finalized for this.

The autumn pilgrimage will be on October 2 leaving Sunnyside school at 9:00 a.m. going to visit the Canadian Railway museums at St. Constant, then to Caughnawaga museums. There will be more information as to price, deadline for reservations and so forth, made at the summer meeting.

It was voted to have volume 7 of the Historical Journals printed for the 1977 year. Historic information of articles for this volume will be appreciated.

Mr. Curtis announced the Quebec Museums Society convention will be taking place at St. Constant on June 19 at the Canadian Railway museum.

J. D. Ferguson gave a brief story of how the wooden quarters came about, which are being sold for a quarter by the Society. Already many have been purchased and more are available from any of the executive, and will be on sale at the summer meeting.

There are a few Journal volumes No. 4 available and several copies of volume 5 and 6.

Edwin Earle announced that during the month of July, the gallery at the Haskell Opera House will feature a Bicentennial exhibit, compliments of the Vermont Arts.

After the meeting adjourned, Mrs. Curtis, assisted by others, served refreshments. Pourers were Mrs. Howard Aikman and Mrs. Malcolm MacDonald.

Presents defense of big business

OTTAWA (CP) — Ontario Treasurer Darcy McKeough presented a strong defence Thursday for big business to the royal commission on corporate concentration and warned against federal policies that emphasize competition.

"The size of the postal workers' union has posed a much greater threat to the country than the size of Massey-Ferguson or Argus," he told commission chairman Robert Bryce.

Mr. McKeough acknowledged that there is a general feeling among many people that large corporations have an unfair amount of power. But he said it is a feeling "perpetuated by opposition parties of all stripes" and is not a problem for the Ontario government.

Two to be honored at U of S exercises

SHERBROOKE (RM) — The University of Sherbrooke will hold its annual spring convocation tomorrow.

Some 651 candidates will be conferred degrees in six faculties - administration, arts, law, sciences, applied sciences, and theology.

As well, two honorary degrees will be bestowed on two noted persons - Arthur Tremblay and Northrop Frye.

Mr. Tremblay, 60, is an educator and is often called the architect of the province's ministry of education, having been appointed its deputy minister in 1964.

He is presently deputy minister of inter governmental affairs, responsible for dossiers between Quebec and other governments.

Mr. Frye, a native of Sherbrooke, is considered a leader in the American school of the so-called New Criticism. He has penned many books in his long academic career, including studies of William Blake, T.S. Eliot, criticism and Canadian Literature.

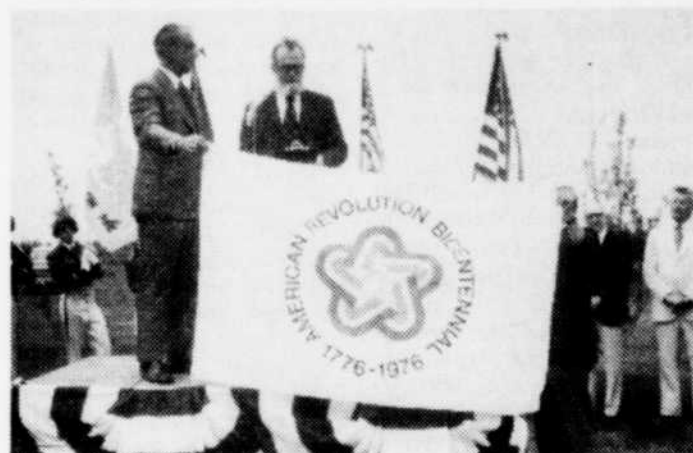

The convocation is scheduled to begin at three o'clock in the Salle Maurice O'Bready, on the main campus.

International buffet held

LENNOXVILLE — The recent fifth annual Buffet des Nations saw a crowd of at least 800 persons gathered in the Bishop's University Arena. There were a record 36 beautifully decorated tables, representing 31 different countries, 8 of which were presented for the first time - Brazil, Latvia, Madagascar, Peru, Portugal, Turkey, Venezuela and Vietnam.

Those who attended the Buffet were treated to a gastronomic world tour in viewing the tables before the food was served. Hostesses and children in national costume added greatly to the colour and interest.

A short folklore programme followed the Buffet, including a Scottish dance by David and Carol Taylor of Lennoxville, a Philippino bamboo dance by David, Valerie and Lisa Imperial and Rex Rosales, all of Sherbrooke and a Dutch song presented by Mrs. Katie Galeazzi and her daughter, of Windsor.

The Service of Aid to New Canadians which has organized the Buffet des Nations for the past 5 years (as well as the International Dinner each autumn), does so in order that some of the immigrants to the region may show to Canadians some aspects of the cuisine and culture of their countries of origin, and also to provide a meeting place for the two groups.

The richness of the Canadian mosaic in the Eastern Townships was well demonstrated by the representation of more than 30 different countries at this year's Buffet des Nations.

Retirements

ROCK ISLAND — After many years of loyal service, two employees of Butterfield Division, Litton Business Systems of Canada Ltd., started their early retirement on June 1, 1976.

George Coburn of Beebe has been employed in the Cutter Turning Department since August 26, 1940. George takes with him many years of experience and his job ability will be missed a great deal.

Roland Lefebvre of Rock Island started work in the maintenance department on November 10, 1941. He was transferred to the blacksmith shop on September 12, 1946 and then to packaging on November 25, 1974. Roland also has a great deal of job knowledge and experience and will be a loss to the company.

Employees and management at Butterfield wish George and Delight Coburn and Roland and Valeda Lefebvre many years of health and happiness.

Stanstead College

By IVY HATCH
(Record Correspondent)

STANSTEAD — Monday evening, May 31 at dinner, the final athletic awards were announced and presented by Alex J. Philip, Director of Athletics and others of staff.

Captain Peter Howard presented to three boys the Hunter Safety Shield for having 99 percent marks in their tests. They were Dave Bjorklund, J. Coleman and Terry Skaperdas. There were two gold medalists, Mark Roberts and Keith Mayor. Mark Davies was the recipient of a cup in rapid fire contest, shooting four times within no misses. To all the gold medalists of the school year Captain Howard presented each a Stanstead College Shooting crest.

Brian Denney, in charge of the softball league said that during this spring season the league had expanded at the Senior and the Lower school. The Expos were junior champions and Capt. Kevin Philip was presented the team trophy with team crests to all the players.

In the senior division Captain Steve Philip received the team trophy and crests were presented to each player. John Stacey, who played with the Reds, was the recipient of the most valuable league player award. Gary "Softball" Massad, an important figure in the league, was awarded for his efforts.

Mr. Philip mentioned the All Campus league has been in operation the past three years, he noted keen competition, close scoring, that went right down the line, he especially made reference to the attitude of the senior boys who took time to assist the junior boys, this, he said, "is a great step forward."

The scores for the season were South, 75 points; North, 108; East, 111 and West leading with 125 pts. Malcolm Graham assisted the coaches to present team crests to all the boys.

Peter Boyd, coach of track and field, gave a brief review of the six weeks "rainy" period of this sport. He, assisted by headmaster Thomas Russell and Mr. Philip presented the Major S to Tom Rowan, Angelo Tozzi, Peter Jacobsen, Steve Donahue, Peter Churchill and Philippe Charron.

The Senior "S" to Albert Brandt and John Nadeau. The varsity pin to Luc Angers. Bantam "S" to Carlo Cammalleri and Sylvio Rodighiero. The Junior "S" to Bobby McLeod, Dave Carron, Mike Bailey and Martin Renaud. Team bars were presented to each. Mike Shane, manager was given recognition and presented a certificate for his efficiency and helpfulness in the Track and Field program.

At the Y's Men's Meet the teams brought back two trophies and these were presented with all due ceremony and remarks by Mr. Boyd to Phil Charron.

Bill Walker announced the tennis winners and made the presentations in the juniors to Martin Renaud, singles winner, and to Monty Allan and Charles Alexander, doubles champions. The senior singles winner was Louis Roy, the doubles Dan Simard and Jean Benoit to whom were presented the shields.

Mr. Russell voiced appreciation on behalf of the school to Mr. Philip for the time, effort and thought he put into the athletic program. John Nadeau on behalf of the school thanked Mr. Philip, Mr. Boyd and Mr. Gomez for their work done with the boys in the program.

School closes this Saturday, June 5. Friday evening there will be "an end of school dinner" with announcements and presentations to be made.

Uneven contest

The co-ordinated violence that erupted all across Europe after the suicide in prison of the West German terrorist leader, Ulrike Meinhof, should cause grave international concern. Within 24 hours Frankfurt was turned into a battlefield — a police spokesman described the Frankfurt rioting as "the most brutal in the post-war history of the city" — and bombs were thrown in Toulouse in the south of France, in Rome and in Paris. The co-ordination among the terrorists was swift and effective, and the international terrorist network obviously is no figment of imagination. Nor can Canada be considered outside the scope of terrorist aims. Last week a spokesman for the Palestine Liberation Organization said that the PLO will make contact at the Habitat conference with Canada's native people to forge an "informal alliance." What the terrorists have in mind for the Montreal Olympics is anybody's guess.

The vast terrorist network is largely financed out of the oil revenues of Libya's Col. Muammar al-Gaddafi who, according to The Sunday Times of London, recently ordered his terror teams to buy or seize a nuclear bomb. The successful Soviet-trained terrorist "Carlos," recently sought in Canada, is on Col. Gaddafi's payroll. The assault on the Lebanese Christians has been largely waged with Col. Gaddafi's money, the Palestinian armed forces having received by now more than $50 million from their Libyan paymasters.

From IRA to the ETA Basques, from Italian, French and German anarchists to the southern African "liberation" movements, and now, perhaps even to North American Indians, the network is co-ordinated with money from Libya and arms from the Soviet Union.

In a strange about-face, Col. Gaddafi, whose Islamic ideas used to be hostile to communism, has now welcomed Soviet help, largely to annoy neighboring Egypt that cancelled the Soviet-Egyptian friendship treaty. In a new arms deal the Soviet Union has provided Libya and the Soviet Union to foster and enlarge the so-called Palestinian "Rejection Front" that refuses all accommodation with Israel. The PLO terrorists, who perpetrated the massacre of Israeli athletes at the Munich Olympics, are living in Libya on the proceeds of their $10 million reward received from Col. Gaddafi.

Although there have been various discussions at low police levels about international co-operation against terrorism, no country has taken stringent measures that would prevent such outrages as the two murders in Paris recently — one of the Bolivian ambassador, one of a Paris banker. Added to which, France is to deliver to Libya a nuclear reactor that Libya needs about as much as France needs a massive supply of camels.

The problem of international terrorism is becoming critical, and Canada, which stood firm on the Toronto UN law conference and refused to host it if it meant admitting the PLO, has now relented at Habitat — and we may have a new problem on our hands. At the moment the terrorists have Soviet Kalashnikov guns and homemade grenades and fire-bombs. If Col. Gaddafi and his Soviet friends have their way, the terrorists will wield nuclear weapons. Meanwhile high-minded American senators are gagging United States intelligence services, while in Canada we hear outraged do-gooders accuse the RCMP of using unorthodox methods to keep potential terrorists under surveillance. It is an uneven contest in which the terrorists cannot lose.

Opinion from the French language press

This is a selection of editorials on current topics, translated from the French-language press of Canada:

Quebec Le Soleil: The June 20 elections in Italy will be held in the midst of the most serious crisis that country has known since the collapse of its fascist government 30 years ago. Many aspects of its society are affected; politically, the Christian-Democrats' long reign has corrupted them and weakened their political leadership, bringing the Communists to the verge of power.

Economically and socially, the country is badly disorganized. Productivity is dangerously low, and inflation is higher than in the rest of the Common Market countries. If the Communists gain power in such a context, we may legitimately wonder what the effects will be on a united Europe and the Atlantic Alliance, in both of which Italy is an important member.

At the end of its fascist dictatorship, Italy started a parliamentary system without much framework—numerous, undisciplined parties, proportional vote leading to constant coalitions and unstable governments. What was needed, on the contrary, were stable governments, self-assured leadership to absorb its rapid industrial and urban growth.

Now the Communists are justly worried about taking power in such conditions. They aspire to a coalition with the Christian-Democrats, to maintain confidence and stop the capital losses already being suffered by the country. The Christian-Democrats wish to govern alone, which is difficult to envisage given the growing strength of the Communists.

The Italian Communist party, largest among the countries of Western Europe, was the first to declare its independence from Moscow, and its influence on the French party is obvious from that group's new stand accepting pluralism and no longer founded on dictatorship. The situation is even more delicate with NATO, the alliance created to brake the expansion of the Communist Eastern Bloc.

How can a Western country with a Communist government, or even a coalition government with Communist participation, be part of NATO? Italy is a front-line member, especially since the Soviet navy has increased its strength in the Mediterranean.

Historical precedents show that Europe's future was decided in Italy in the 1920s. Today, the arrival of Italian Communists in power could influence the situation in France, where the Socialist-Communist alliance of the left is growing stronger all the time.

The June 20 elections will mark a turning point in Italy and in Europe as well. A sort of secular religion, communism has up to now conducted itself like a "church" run from Moscow with little tolerance for schisms. The question now is to what extent a Western European country governed by Communists can detach itself from this law up to now always applied to Communist regimes.—Gilles Hoyer (May 20)

Montreal Le Jour: Le Jour is once again in a critical situation.

In the paper, before the Quebec Press Council, in public, before everyone interested in the quality of our democratic life, and in the freedom of the press, we have repeated that the boycott of Le Jour by the governments of Quebec and Ottawa and the resulting boycotts by private and para-public organizations have rendered almost impossible the maintenance and survival of Quebec's first daily newspaper supporting the cause of independence.

We had the temerity to believe, two years and three months ago, that we lived in a civilized society which respected the right of its citizens to be informed. That was an error. In May 25, 1976, edition of Le Devoir alone, the Quebec Lottery Corp., Statistics Canada (Census), Quebec Savings Bonds, the Anti-Inflation Board, the Olympic Lottery, the Bank of Montreal and Canadian Pacific placed ads worth $3,390.

As though the readers of Le Jour bought neither lottery tickets nor savings bonds, were not counted in the census, did not participate in the fight against inflation, had no accounts at the Bank of Montreal, and never flew with CP Air. The reference to the daily Le Devoir is without malice, and is used as an indicator mainly because it is an enterprise of the same size, with roughly the same number of readers.

Deprived of public advertising by the governments of Quebec and Ottawa, suffering from constant discrimination and bans from most ministers in both cabinets, short of important revenue accessible to all other dailies in Quebec and Canada, it is becoming more and more difficult to sustain our newspaper with only our own resources.

Le Jour has survived two years and three months by miracles, sacrifices, self-denials, the fidelity of its readers and the loyalty of its personnel. Whatever its future, those who say it is a failure have lied. —Yves Michaud (May 29)

Trois-Rivieres Le Nouvelliste: The Gallup poll published in La Presse last weekend raises serious questions.

It says that if an election were held today in Quebec, the Parti Quebecois would obtain more than 30 per cent of the vote, and the Liberals only 23 per cent.

This poll confirms the tendencies of an earlier study by the Centre de Recherches sur l'Opinion Publique for the CBC and contradicts another by the Institut Quebecois d'Opinion Publique.

It says that although most voters prefer the PQ to the Liberals, twice as many think the Liberals will win the next election, which is quite confusing.

The survey estimates the undecided at 30 per cent of the voting population who, we presume, would in despair vote Liberal in the event of a quick election.

The survey indicates three out of four voters are dissatisfied with the Bourassa government.

The Gallup poll says the Union Nationale, the Social Credit and Popular National parties are marginal, with six per cent of those polled saying they would vote for each of the first two and only four per cent for Mr. Choquette's party.

It must be said, however, that the survey was made before the UN leadership convention, won surprisingly easily by Rodrigue Biron, and during the common front crisis, where the Bourassa government showed little leadership.

Finally, the survey showed the popularity of Premier Bourassa is dangerously low. Rene Levesque's popularity, while gaining a few percentage points among English-speaking Quebecers, has remained mostly stationary. Normally, he should gain what Mr. Bourassa loses, and this is not the case.

The last survey is encouraging for the new leader of the UN, because it indicates that a high percentage of Quebecers are looking for a party.

There is no doubt that the UN can capitalize on the high degree of dissatisfaction in Quebec. If Mr. Biron can unite the opposition, as he proposes to do, he could cause some surprises at the next election.

In the current context, it is easy to understand that Mr. Bourassa is in no hurry to call an election. No doubt he will go to the end of his mandate (in 1978) hoping the political and social climate in Quebec will improve before then. —Sylvio Saint-Amant (May 26)

Ottawa Le Droit: As if it weren't enough that Ottawa is considered a dull city, Mayor Lorry Greenberg now has warned that it is becoming a phantom city, abandoned by its civil servants and its tourists. Mayor Greenberg says the construction of federal buildings in Hull will result in the mass exodus of federal civil servants now working in rented buildings in downtown Ottawa.

Mr. Greenberg himself admitted his theory may have arisen out of rumors started by Ottawa businessmen and confirmed by "very high-up civil servants." It wouldn't be much to ask of the mayor of the capital of Canada to take the time to check his sources before causing a public fuss.

Mr. Greenberg had set a trend, however. Next to cry out was the convention bureau. At a regional executive meeting, the bureau claimed federal buildings in Hull, and, more particularly, a convention centre at the new Place du Centre would cost Ottawa millions of dollars in annual revenue from tourists and conventioners.

By playing on the sensitive strings of prestige and fear, the representatives of the tourist industry assured themselves a favorable reception before the executive committee.

The politicians responded valiantly to the call to save their city by ordering a profitability study on a new convention centre for Ottawa, but forgot to ask whether it is proper to speak of competition between Ottawa and Hull. One need not be a keen observer to note that the centre of the two cities is more and more becoming a single entity.

The possibility of two neighboring cities fighting for conventions is obviously dangerous. The convention bureau's statistics show the number of conventions rising every year, but are there enough to justify the existence of two large centres? The bureau may not be realistic in not taking Place du Centre into consideration in evaluating the region's tourist needs.

LOOK KID...LET'S FACE IT...
YA JUST AIN'T GOT IT NO MORE!

Ford's political courage

Jack Anderson's

Washington Merry-Go-Round

WASHINGTON — We have watched President Ford closely since he picked the government reins off the floor nearly 22 months ago. We have often disagreed with his policies; occasionally, we have criticized his performance. But we have detected one characteristic that has gone largely unnoticed:

Gerald Ford has political courage. This side of the President has been revealed behind closed White House doors. Ford made the decision, for example, to send Secretary of State Henry Kissinger to Africa on the eve of some crucial Southern primaries.

The President saw advance drafts of the statements Kissinger intended to make in Africa, supporting the rights of the black majority. Political advisers warned that the timing couldn't be worse, that the Kissinger tour would antagonize many Southern voters.

The President said the situation in Africa was too critical to wait and personally gave Kissinger the go-ahead. Subsequently, Ford lost to Ronald Reagan in the Texas, Georgia and Alabama primaries.

Yet the confidential minutes of a White House meeting on May 12 show the President had not relented. The takeover of Angola by Soviet-supported Cuban troops and guerrillas, he said, had made the situation "potentially very dangerous" for African moderates.

"Without some strong position by us," he declared, "Africa would become ripe for the picking." There had been "some criticism of the timing" of the Kissinger visit, he said, "but I can't hold foreign policy in abeyance for political reasons."

Ford has also dismayed his political advisers by calling for an increase in social security taxes and a five per cent ceiling on pay raises and pensions. Past presidents managed to postpone such unpopular moves until after the election. But Ford told aides it was more important to bring the budget under control.

Even more astounding, he ordered the shutdown of four Air Force bases in states where he was courting votes — Craig in Alabama, Richards-Gebaur in Kansas, Webb in Texas and even Kincheloe in his home state of Michigan.

When Republican leaders pleaded with him to spare their pet projects, according to the confidential minutes of a May 5 meeting, the President replied bluntly: "There are definite limitations on what we can spend."

He demanded fiscal reforms before he would agree to bail New York City out of its financial crisis, despite a warning that the stringent measures would cost him votes.

He replied that the city would never have wound up on the financial rocks if past mayors had been willing to face the facts. "We cannot go on spending," he said, "without worrying about where the money is coming from."

Probably no presidential action was more unpopular than his attempt to make gas and oil more expensive. Although we criticized him for penalizing the poor, he felt this was the best way to hold down oil consumption and, thereby, to reduce U.S. dependence on Arab oil fields.

"This may not be good politics," he told his advisers, "but it is good for the country."

Ford also sought to curb electronic surveillance by the FBI and CIA in a move that brought praise from Sen. Ted Kennedy, D-Mass., but criticism from some conservative Republicans.

Confidential minutes quote the President as responding: "It was a tough decision, without total unanimity, but I felt we had to move in the national interest."

Another time, his irrepressible former campaign manager, Howard "Bo" Calla-way, suggested to White House aide Richard Cheney that the politically embarrassing trial of ex-Sen. Edward Gurney, R-Fla., be held up until after the election.

Cheney had been around President Ford long enough to respond immediately: "We don't do that sort of thing in this Administration."

Cubans in Africa — The announcement from Angola that the new government will maintain a preferential relationship with Cuba means that the Kremlin will be calling the shots from behind the scenes.

For secret intelligence reports state flating that the Soviets are subsidizing and directing the Cuban operations in Africa. Cuban merchant ships, meanwhile, are "prominent" in the Angolan ports of Luanda and Lobito. Intelligence reports suggest they are moving military equipment from Luanda to Lobito as the Marxist MPLA faction continues to solidify its rule in southern Angola.

Apparently, Cuban troops are still conducting combat operations against the remaining, retreating UNITA guerrillas. The ruling MPLA forces, according to our intelligence sources, cannot yet direct successful military operations on their own.

The tiny Angolan air force is also manned by Cubans, the intelligence reports suggest. There have been a number of reports, too, that more Cuban technicians are arriving in Angola, perhaps accompanied by their families.

The best estimate is that more than 12,000 Cuban troops and 1,000 Cuban technicians are now stationed in Angola. Until recently, there had been few reports of friction between the Cubans and native Angolans.

But reports have now been received that Cuban soldiers have pulled out of Angola's Cabinda area after harassment by the local populace.

Footnote: Intelligence reports claim Cubans are secretly training guerrillas in Mozambique, Somalia and Guinea.

SHERBROOKE — Charges by the Liberal-Social Credit alliance was only a desperate bid on the part of Liberal leader Georges Emile Lapalme to gain power and that the Liberals would ditch their Social Credit friends after the elections on June 20 were hurled by Hon. John S. Bourque at the opening of his campaign last evening.

The Lands and Forests Minister addressing an enthusiastic rally in St. Jean Baptiste school auditorium in East Sherbrooke, declared that the Social Credit group had a particular monetary doctrine which might have many points in its favor.

DEADLINE FOR CHURCH NOTICES

Church notices to appear on Friday must be received by 10:00 a.m., on Wednesday.

High on Mount Zion, the flag of St. Andrew flies over the sturdy stone tower of the Scots Memorial Church.

The cornerstone laid by Viscount E. H. Allenby, commander of British forces in Egypt and Palestine, the Presbyterian church commemorates Scots who died there in the First World War and in the years that followed, up to Israel's independence in 1948.

Inscribed on a metal plate on the chancel floor are these words: "In remembrance of the pious wish of King Robert Bruce that his heart should be buried in Jerusalem. Given by the citizens of Dunfermline and Melrose on the sixth century of his death."

After Bruce's death, the story goes, one of his generals, Sir James Douglas attempted to carry out his wish. But Douglas died on the way, fighting against the Moors in Spain. The king's heart was recovered and returned to Melrose. His body was buried at Dunfermline.

St. Andrew's is a church in simple, classic style. The interior is lighted by a dome-covered opening in the ceiling. The pew chairs were the gift of various congregations in the mother Church of Scotland.

Attached to the church is a hospice or hostel, where some 20 visitors may find accommodation, and the manse, the home of the minister.

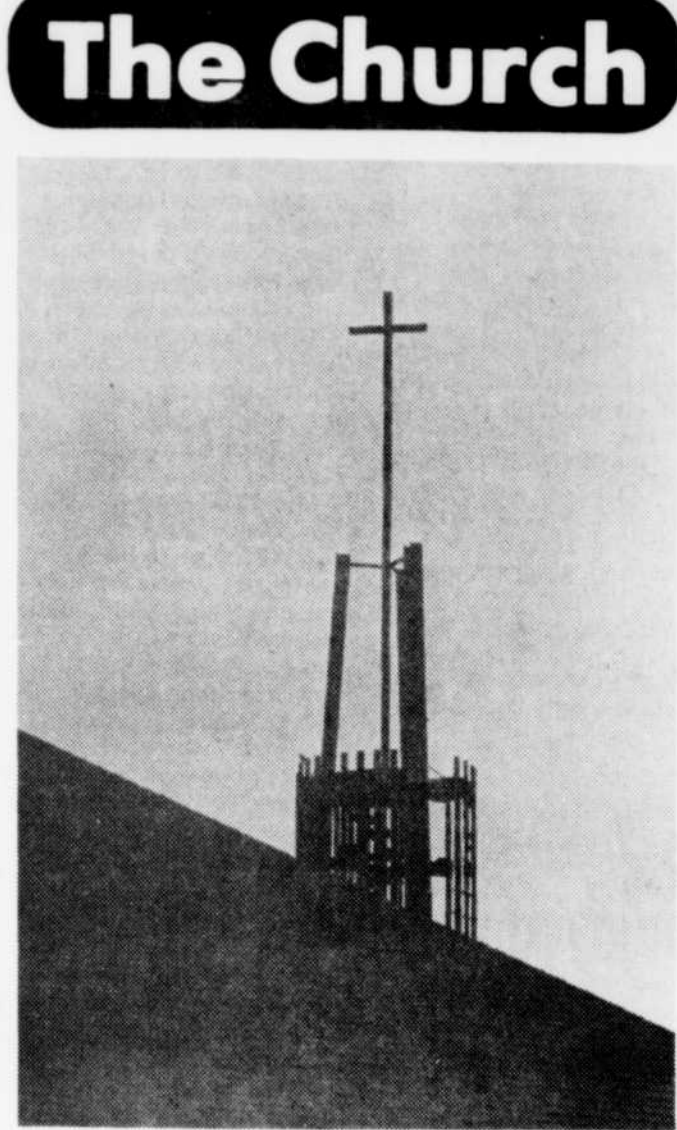

At one time the Scots Memorial Church was the religious centre and, in a sense, the national club for Scotsmen and their families in military or colonial service. When Israel became independent in 1948, all but one couple departed and the church extended its ministry to the community.

It is one of the few Protestant churches in Jerusalem that holds services on Sunday, a working day in Israel. Baptists, Pentecostals and others meet at church on Saturday.

At Tiberias, overlooking the Sea of Galilee, is another Church of Scotland building which is used by a Hebrew-speaking congregation as well as an English-speaking one. And on a hill in Tiberias, set in a beautiful garden, is a hospice which was formerly a Church of Scotland hospital. It has room for 90 guests and is popular with tourists.

In the ancient city of Jaffa, adjoining Tel Aviv, the Scottish Presbyterians once operated a residential school. It now is a day school with an enrolment of some 250 children.

Dr. Rayner, editor of the Presbyterian Record, recently returned from his fourth visit to Israel.

Church notes from Knowlton

KNOWLTON (KT) — At St. Paul's Church, the regular Sunday sermon was replaced on May 22 by a report of happenings at the Annual Synod of the Diocese of Montreal which took place about ten days before.

The report was given by Judy Armstrong of Mansonville, who is one of the lay-readers of the Parish of Knowlton-Mansonville. The service was led by Arlen Bonnar, also a parish lay reader. The move of Mr. Bonnar to Magog in about a month is learned with regret. His unselfish service as lay reader will be much missed. He is the youngest person serving in this capacity in the Diocese of Montreal.

Theology '75. Mrs. Stella Collier was one of the 12 people chosen by the bishop to attend this important conference at London, Ont.

UCW meeting

SAWYERVILLE — The regular meeting of the United Church Women was held in the Church Hall on May 19 with the Pres. Mrs. H. Lassenba presiding and opened with devotions by Mrs. Alice Wilson, consisting of scripture Reading, meditation on Life is a Partnership. All joined in singing three verses of the Hymn, "Lord, Speak to me that I May Speak," and closed with prayer.

A number of thank-you notes were read from those remembered with plants at Easter, also for cards.

Cheer Committee sent out ten cards and several more were signed by all to go to sick and shut-ins.

during the last week of May. An opportunity to gain some insights into the proceedings is being looked forward to on her return.

A second copy of Watership Down, a novel, has been added to the little library at the rear of the church.

At the meeting of the Advisory Board, the engagement of a new organist for St. Paul's, selected by a special sub-committee was recommended.

Miss Pat Going, who holds impressive credentials in music, particularly choral music, including a doctorate in music from the University of Montreal, is a director of the Yamaska Regional Choir and teaches music, will commence as organist on the first Sunday in June.

A resulting new impetus to aprons to be made up and wool for knitting on hand. A donation of a quilt top was received.

Supply and Welfare - several bandages are to be sent to Angola for leprosy patients.

The Montreal-Ottawa Conference was held at Bishop's on May 30 to June 2nd.

A donation was given to the Piano Fund at the School, also to Second Mile House.

It was decided to purchase a new vacuum for the Church and this has been done.

A report was given on the Presbyterian held in Sherbrooke - when several members attended.

The meeting was turned over to Mrs. Percy Gray, in charge of the programme, a skit entitled, "A Look at Leprosy." Leaders were Mrs. Gray and Mrs. F. Williams with Mrs. H. Ord, Mrs. A. Fowler and Mrs. D. Mackay as readers.

All enjoyed a pot luck lunch and social time.

revitalization of music at St. Paul's as well as an increase in the size and development of the abilities of the choir are hopefully anticipated.

Under Congregational concerns several items of interest appeared in Knowlton United Church bulletin.

Recovery, Inc., is a community self-help organization devoted to better mental health. It is non-sectarian and non-profit. It is now initiating a group in this area with meetings to be held every Tuesday at 8:00 p.m. downstairs in the United Church of Canada at 203 Main Street, Cowansville.

They will last about two hours and are open to the public. There are no required fees; however a free-will offering is taken at the meetings.

For further information, call the group leader, Audrey Lamarche at 263-1154.

Pulpit Exchange — On Sunday, May 30, Bruce Roffey, a theological student working with the Knowlton-Creek, Mansonville-Bolton Center, Sutton-Dunham charges, was the worship leader at Knowlton and the Creek. The children of the Sunday School and Rhoda Northrup told the children's story in Knowlton.

Owl's Head Family Day — On Sunday, June 5 from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., all twelve churches of the Yamaska Valley Parish Council will share worship. All are invited to bring a lunch and join in.

The Yamaska Valley Regional Church Service will again be held at Owl's Head, Mansonville, on Sunday, June 5. It will commence at 10:30 a.m. with a church service, followed by a picnic lunch and games for all. To close at approximately 3 p.m. All are invited to bring a lunch and be prepared for an old fashioned gathering with fun, games and fellowship.

HOWARD S. KEELER of Ayer's Cliff
Howard Salls Keeler, 68, of Ayer's Cliff, Que., passed away on May 4, 1976, at the C.H.U. Sherbrooke, after a long illness.

He was born June 13, 1907 in Stanstead, son of the late George and Ethel Keeler.

He is survived by his daughter Audrey (Mrs. Francis MacKenzie) and two grandchildren, Laurie and Darrin of Shelburne, Vt., four sisters, Ruth (Mrs. William Sparkes), Florence (Mrs. Thomas Campbell), St. Catharines, Ont.; Helen (Mrs. David McClellan), North Bay, Ont.; Jennie (Mrs. Bart Smithson), Toronto, Ont., and four brothers, Gordon Keeler, Ruskin, Florida; Henry, Elwin and Harold Keeler of St. Catharines, Ont., and a very dear aunt, Mrs. Mable Cooper, Ayer's Cliff, also two uncles, Mr. John Keeler, Orleans, Vt., and Mr. Walter Keeler, Ayer's Cliff.

He served in the Canadian Artillery in Belgium where he was severely wounded; after being returned home, he spent over a year in the Military Hospital in Montreal.

In the years following, he was an active member in the Royal Canadian Legion Branch 128, of which he served as President for the years 1964 and 1965.

Dad was a long and faithful member of the Odd Fellows Alexandra Lodge No. 59, Harmony Encampment No. 16, Canton Friendship No. 16 and Fidelity Rebekah Lodge No. 33. He was grand Patriarch of Grand Encampment of Quebec in 1962.

Dad retired from the Tapatco Ltd. in 1971 after many years of enjoyable service often returning after retirement to visit his many friends.

Memorial Services were held at the Cass Funeral Home in Ayer's Cliff by the Royal Canadian Legion and the Orders of the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs on May 6.

Funeral service was held on May 7, at the Beulah United Church in Ayer's Cliff with Rev. Max Surjadinata officiating, assisted by Mr. Stanley Beerworth.

The organist, Mrs. Nelson Pierce, rendered beautiful music during the service, including Dad's favorite selections of "Amazing Grace" and "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere."

Bearers were Albert Jensen, Lysle Thompson, James Walker, Frank Smith, Nelson Pierce and Ludwig Voggenteiner.

Interment was at Crystal Lake Cemetery, Stanstead.

Growing number of skid row women studied by NFB

MONTREAL (CP) — Last fall, a mulatto woman known only as Doris was found on St. Urbain Street. She had been raped and murdered by three men—it was rumored. No one ever found out for sure.

Doris was one of a growing number of women who live on Montreal's skid row, with no place to go and no hope of anything better. She and another woman, Camille, were featured in a National Film Board production about life on skid row released recently.

Camille, too, is dead now, of alcoholism.

Grace Kelly has been arrested more than 150 times for vagrancy and drunkenness. She is blind in one eye and it's probably too late for her.

NEED PLACE
"There's just got to be a place for these women to go," says Sheila Baxter, a para-professional organizer employed by the Family Service Association. She is active in the Urban Core Support Network, a coalition of social services set up to co-ordinate efforts in the hiatus created by Quebec's Bill 65.

Intended to group social services under provincial responsibility, Bill 65 has yet to be applied in a uniform way, and many groups still negotiate funding individually.

Ms. Baxter is frustrated by the difficulties she says are experienced by Montreal social agencies in obtaining provincial funding to care for women transients.

"Quebec's priorities are Olympics and roads," she says. "They have money for those, but they keep telling us there's none."

There are places to go in Montreal for male transients—more than 1,000 beds run by the English-language social services alone. Most will not accept women.

"At a meeting, I asked one of the men's shelter representatives if they would take in women," says Phyl Davies of the Catholic Community Services.

"He said absolutely not, so I asked him about a meal. Would you believe they wouldn't even give a woman a meal? There's only one place where they will feed women, but they must use the back door and sit in the kitchen, apart from the men."

HAVE FEW OPTIONS

Thus, a woman alone on the street in Montreal at night has few options. Vagrancy is an offence for which she can be jailed if caught. The alternatives include hiding in the back alley or shed, turning herself in to police or finding a man who will take her in for the night.

She may discover when she gets to the man's room that he shares it with three or four others, in accordance with the skid row practice of pooling money and resources. Ms. Baxter had seen women who have been beaten under such conditions.

Women who find themselves on the street are there because they have serious problems.

"Maybe they can't get work," says Ms. Baxter, "so they're lonely and poor."

Ms. Davies is working with Ms. Baxter on a project for a women's shelter: 15 beds, a protective setting and resources to help transients build a stable, new life. They have requested provincial funding but have received no answer yet.

PROJECTS SUCCEED

Several such projects are said to operate successfully in Winnipeg, Edmonton and Vancouver. In Toronto, a small volunteer group which started with rented quarters now owns a house in the city and a farm where cooperative work and companionship aim to help women get back on their feet.

FEW FACILITIES
Montreal has no detoxification centres, such as those both inside and outside hospitals in Toronto, which help relieve the immediate pressure on shelters dealing with transients.

The few Montreal hospitals that treat skid-row alcoholics are inadequate, says Mr. Davies, because "they only treat the symptoms and nothing about the problem."

An average of 20 women sleep in Montreal jails every weekend because they have nowhere else to go.

One recent month, 45 women were turned away from a shelter called La Maison d'Accueil Welcome House because of lack of space. Others were rejected because they could not pass an elementary screening process.

"The churches are doing fantastic work now on social issues," says Mr. Davies, "but they are having a hard time from within because the traditionalists are fighting their involvement."

"And the old notion of the man who deserves to be helped is still in there," adds Ms. Baxter.

DAVID COPPERFIELD — The Charles Dickens' classic David Copperfield debuts on CBC-TV Saturday, June 12 at 9 p.m. Jonathan Kahn stars as young David and Pat Keen as Peggotty.

Out-door early church service enjoyed

BULWER — A year ago, the congregation of the Bulwer United Church held an early morning church service as one of their 50th anniversary projects. This was such an enjoyable experience that it was repeated on Sunday, May 30, at "man-made" Lake Waymer at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Labere.

The quietness of the water, a warm sun, singing birds, and the occasional bawl of the cattle across the fence, all made a fitting atmosphere for the sermon delivered by Rev. P. Gaudine, who compared our lives and society to a garden.

As a garden needs attention and care in order to produce, so society needs our care and attention, through the love of our Saviour, in order to be a productive and worthwhile society.

The choir sang "There shall be Showers of Blessings", being grateful there weren't any rain showers.

Music was supplied on tape by the organist, Mrs. Morris Smith.

Following the service, a bountiful breakfast was cooked on the barbeques and a time of fellowship and visiting was enjoyed.

Several who attended don't want to wait a year for a repeat service.

Brush with death spurs survivor to open avalanche training school

EDMONTON (CP) — In one terrifying moment, a Rocky Mountain avalanche came roaring down on Jack De Bruyn of Edmonton.

"The next thing I knew well I was pressed under a huge wall of snow," said Mr. De Bruyn, whose brush with death inspired him to found Western Canada's first free-enterprise avalanche school.

"I was hurled downward, face forward, skis dragging behind me."

"I was seized with panic, but I kept telling myself not to panic. My chest and back were just about breaking."

Finally the slide stopped and he was able to push the snow away from his face and get his wrists out. Then, "as usually happens," a second slide began.

This time the ski mountaineer, who was trailing behind a ski party at the time, emerged with head and shoulders above the snow.

"It was like walking out of a grave," Mr. De Bruyn said.

SPARKED INTEREST

The 1970 experience, at 7,000 feet on Observation Point in Banff National Park, "got me interested in finding out about snow and what makes it slide."

He took a job as assistant observer at a snow research station in Rogers Pass. Then, still fascinated by avalanches, he decided in 1972 to start an avalanche school.

"Ninety per cent of avalanches can be predicted," said Mr. De Bruyn, who conducted nine weekend schools last winter at Parker's Ridge in Banff National Park, near the Columbia Ice Fields.

Knowledge of proper rescue techniques could do much to lessen the 65-per-cent mortality rate recorded in most avalanches.

"So many people are killed needlessly," he said, explaining that most avalanches occur between 7,000 to 8,000 feet above sea level, and between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m., the warmest part of the day. Most deaths occur within 18 inches of the avalanche surface.

While few Canadian statistics are available, a recent European study found that 57 of 85 avalanche victims—or 67 per cent—were killed. Sixty per cent died of suffocation and 16 per cent when settling snow iced over them moments after the avalanche.

MUST WORK FAST
The chances of finding a victim alive in an avalanche diminish rapidly as time elapses, said Mr. De Bruyn. After five minutes the chances are 85 per cent. An hour later they are reduced to 50 per cent.

"A person can help the victim if he knows what the procedures are," said the instructor, who works for a dry-cleaning firm and runs the school as a hobby.

He should mark the last spot where the victim was seen, then use an avalanche probe or the blunt end of a ski pole to search systematically.

"All that is needed for an avalanche to start is snow and a hill," said Mr. De Bruyn, who advises victims to remove equipment and stay calm.

SLIDES DEFER
Students are taught to differentiate between the "slab" slide, which fractures right across a slope, and the "wet" slide, which occurs when the snow surface melts.

Snow craft, survival, avalanche work and terrain traveling are included in the curriculum, with groups of 10 charged $35 for two full days of instruction.

"People want to get away from ski trails but don't have enough mountain know-how," Mr. De Bruyn said.

"I try to shed light on some things they may not have thought about, like wind chill, snow caves, alpine search detectors and the importance of checking with park wardens and forecasters before taking a trip."

Mrs. Allan Little was a dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Little, of Sand Hill. He also called on Mr. Louis Brochu, of Disareli, who is recovering nicely from the amputation of one leg in the CHU, Sherbrooke.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Little were Mrs. W. Lunnie, of Waterville, Mrs. Olive Batley, of Lennoxville, Mrs. G. Kendrick and Mrs. Grey of Gaspé, Rev. G. Kenrick, of Gaspé, was also a guest of the Littles while en route to Montreal to visit his mother.

Due to the long wet spell, and the fine showing of the hay crop, one farmer declares that haying will precede seeding this year. If so, was it not Tennyson who wrote "The old order changeth yielding place to new?"

A letter has been received by your correspondent advising us that the Lennoxville-Ascot Historical Society will visit points of interest in this area. We do hope that they will have a fine day, and will enjoy the day with the "Down Homers" — We are really proud not only of the district in which we live, but of the title given us.

BROOKBURY

Mrs. L. A. Allison 872-3341

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Vintner, Cindy and Danny of Bishopston were Saturday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. C.J. Thompson on May 29.

Many from Brookbury attended the benefit dance which was held at Jean Paul's Dance Hall on May 21st for Mr. and Mrs. Ted Ward who lost their barn and all their animals, four horses and four head of cattle, some time ago by fire. The Nugent Orchestra, Mrs. Hams Nugent and sons and Mr. Glen Coates, donated the music and Mr. Buckland gave the hall for this very worthy cause. All enjoyed a pleasant evening dancing to very good music and a goodly sum was received at the door to help the Wards towards building their new barn.

Mr. Ward thanked all who had been so generous, the musicians and Mr. Buckland for the use of his hall, as well as those who have been helping him on the new barn and in many other ways since their great loss.

Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Allison accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Harrison attended the supper at Island Brook on Saturday evening. They reported having an excellent supper and stated that there was an abundance of food for everyone as is always the case when you attend a supper at Island Brook.

Weekend guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Batley were their daughter, son-in-law and family, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hodge and three daughters, of Lithia, Mass. Dinner guests at the same home on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Batley and three daughters of Island Brook.

Callers at the Allison home on Friday were Mr. and Mrs. Gary Allison and two sons of Longueuil. On Sunday, other callers were Mrs. Alex Fowler, Mrs. E. Raye and Miss Marion Daniels of Lennoxville while here to attend the Turkey Supper at the town hall.

Mrs. Sterling Batley and Mrs. Lawrence Hodge were at Bishopston on Saturday afternoon callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Batley. They reported finding Mr. Batley somewhat better after his recent illness.

Miss Susan Batley spent the weekend at the Girl Guide Corroborree which was held in Lennoxville.

Friends and relatives extend sympathy to the families of the late Mr. Howard Locke and Mr. Albert Heath, both of Bury, in their sad bereavements.

Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Allison accompanied by Mrs. Alex Fowler of Lennoxville attended the funeral of the late Mr. Isaac Morrill at Danville last week. Mr. Morrill passed away at the Asbestos Hospital after a long illness. Sympathy is extended to Mrs. Morrill and family in their sorrow.

Miss Paule Jolicœur of Thetford Mines spent a few days visiting Miss Susan Batley at her home here. The following week Susan spent a couple of days at Paule's home at Thetford Mines. This was part of the exchange visits arranged by the two schools.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Lowe have returned home from a visit to their daughter and son-in-law in Nova Scotia.

Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Allison spent a Sunday recently visiting relatives in Richmond. During the afternoon they called on Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Pease at New London and were supper guests of Mrs. Donald Perkins in Richmond. On the way home they were callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Gibbs and sons in Danville.

On May 14, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lowe, Mr. and Mrs. Burton Lowe and son, Billy Joe were supper guests at the Lebourveau home to celebrate Messrs Arthur Lowe's and Reginald Lebourveau's birthday which falls on the same day.

Mr. and Mrs. Reg. Lebourveau, Mr. and Mrs. George Lebourveau, Henry and Mary, were dinner guests at the Ponderosa in Sherbrooke on Mother's Day.

Sunday guests at the Lebourveau home on May 23 were Mr. and Mrs. George Leech and Mrs. Rita Burzyk who were dinner guests. Other callers during the afternoon and evening were Mr. Randy Ainsworth and Miss Joan Westman; Messrs Douglas and Lawrence Willey, all of Montreal; Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Goyette, Lynda and Anita of Cookshire and Mr. Wendall Joyce of Bishopston.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Oswald: "We get lots of letters about freak hands. Maybe we should discuss some of them."

Jim: "Here's a dilly. It occurred in a friendly team match. At table one South decided to be really brilliant and wound up playing two diamonds. He ruffed the heart lead and decided to play to make sure or nearly sure of success at two diamonds. So he led the ace and king of spades, discarding one heart from dummy. East ruffed the second spade and led a second heart. South ruffed, led another spade and discarded dummy's last heart. East ruffed and led a third heart. South discarded a spade, ruffed with dummy's ace of trumps, and led the six of diamonds to his king. Then he cashed the queen of trumps and led spades to wind up making four add.

Oswald: "Not much consolation when he had a cinch spade slam!"
Jim: "No, but the play was a winner. At the other table, South used a complicated series of asking bids. He found out that his partner held the ace of diamonds, but seven spades and went down one. The diamond jack was a sure winner for the defense."

The answer is a strong affirmative. You will not show a profit every time you open with this sort of hand, but in the long run you will gain more than you will lose.

Canada faces tough job in handball

The best Canada hopes to do in team handball at the Montreal Olympics is to avoid last place and, considering this country's background in the sport, even that seems to be asking a lot.

Team handball—a game similar to basketball except that the players shoot for a guarded, floor-mounted goal instead of an elevated basket—is popular in Europe but it's a relative newcomer to Canada.

The game didn't show any sign of popularity here until the 1960s and it was just 10 years ago that the Canadian Federation of Olympic Handball was formed.

Until recently it couldn't draw the financial support it needed to prepare for the Olympics.

It wasn't until this spring that the Canadian federation found the funds to hire Eugen Trofin of Romania as national men's coach. Trofin arrived in Canada March 30 with just 3½ months in which to prepare the Canadian men's team.

"I would have liked two years with this team," said Trofin after less than a month of work with the Canadian squad.

SEES SOME TALENT

Trofin, who guided the Romanian national team to the 1974 world championship, is realistic about his task though he recognizes his new team has some talent.

"I'm satisfied with their work and discipline. They're keen to learn. But there's still a big difference between the world-class teams coming in for the Games and Canada."

In the short time he has before the Olympics open July 17, Trofin hopes to improve on the Canadians' fundamentals and technique. "I can improve the boys' passing, running and give power to their shooting. But there can't be anything fancy. There's not enough time to work out complicated moves."

Most of the Canadian squad comes from Quebec and Trofin sees some good talent in the group.

SHOOTS EFFECTIVELY

"Pierre Fardais, the captain, has a good jump shot, shoots penalties very well and can motivate others. Pierre Desormeaux is the team's best pivot. He can shoot with either hand and is a good defenceman."

"Rick Lambert links well with Desormeaux. They play as double spearhead."

"We also have three young players, Pierre St. Martin, Christian Chagnon and Philippe Dauphin. These boys have made noticeable progress."

"Claude Lefebvre is No. 1 goalie. I'm sorry Claude is not taller (he's six feet), but he has good reflexes and plenty of courage."

Lefebvre sums up the team's estimation of coach Trofin this way: "He has built up our confidence. We're just sorry he wasn't here a couple of years sooner."

In the Olympic tournament, Canada plays in Group I along with 1972

Olympic champion Yugoslavia, the Soviet Union, West Germany, Denmark and Japan.

Group II has Romania, the United States, Czechoslovakia, Hungary and a representative from Africa.

MUST BEAT JAPAN

Trofin hopes at least to beat Japan.

"This is a game we must win. We must beat Japan to show something for all our effort."

This will only be the third time men's team handball has appeared at the Olympics. It was first played in the 1936 Games when Germany won. Yugoslavia won when it reappeared at the 1972 Munich Games.

In women's handball, there isn't even enough money to form a national association.

The 14-member team based in Montreal was established in 1969-70 but gained its first international experience on a recent trip to Iceland where it split a pair of games.

Maurice Loeub of Ste. Julie, Que., is coach of the Canadian girls—all from Quebec—whose average age is 19.5 years, compared with European players who average around 25.

Team handball, after its early beginning as an outdoor game with 11 to a side, now is an indoor game with seven to a side—six on the court and one goalie. The object is to throw the ball into the opponent's net to score a goal.

night at the plate to complement his masterful mound performance.

SCORED IN FIFTH

The Pirates got a single from Rennie Stennett to lead off the game but then were held hitless until the fifth, when they got their run on a walk to Richie Zisk, a single by Manny Sanguillen, a fly ball and Bill Robinson's pinch hit.

Willie Stargell slammed a one-out double in the sixth but was stranded. The only other Pittsburgh hit was a single by Al Oliver after a walk to Richie Hebner in the eighth.

Barry Foote and Gary Carter hit solo home runs for the Expos, and Carter also contributed a sacrifice fly. Jim Dwyer had a two-run double to account for the rest of the scoring as Pirates starter Jim Rooker, 6-2, suffered his first loss in his last six decisions.

Bumper year for Alberta

Susan Sloan sets Canadian, Commonwealth records

TORONTO (CP) — This has been a bumper year for small towns in Alberta.

First there was Joe Clark from High River. Now comes Susan Sloan of Stettler.

Miss Sloan, who now lives in Vancouver, set Commonwealth and Canadian records Thursday night in winning the women's 100-metre butterfly final at the Canadian Olympic swimming trials.

The Alberta swimmer's sudden emergence in the top ranks of Canadian swimming bears some resemblance to the sudden rise to fame of Clark, a relative newcomer who earlier this year won the national leadership of the Progressive Conservative party.

Until last year, Susan's swimming career was going nowhere in her small home town. Then her coach, Larry Neilson, moved to Calgary and the 18-year-old decided to move as well.

HEADS WEST

She headed for Vancouver's Canadian Dolphin Swim Club where coach Deryk Snelling is rated as one of the top two coaches in the country.

Susan's time of 1:02.41 in the 100-metre butterfly was one of three performances Thursday night that broke Commonwealth and Canadian records.

Two other events produced Canadian records for a total of 10 national and five Commonwealth marks in 14 events during the trials' first three days. The trials continue through Saturday when the Olympic team will be named.

Other record-breakers Thursday were Gail Amundrud of Vancouver in the 200 freestyle, Joann Baker of Thunder Bay, Ont., in the 200 backstroke, Mike Scarth of Edmonton in the 200 backstroke and Michael Ker of Vancouver in the 500 freestyle.

Miss Sloan won her heat of the 100 butterfly in 1:02.68, beating the 1:03.82 Commonwealth record held by Australian Lyle Smith and the 1:03.88 Canadian mark held by Barbara Clark of Calgary.

In Thursday night's final, she lowered the mark to 1:02.41.

TEAM-MATES RUNNER-UPS

Wendy Quirk of Pointe Claire, Que., took second spot in 1:02.83 and Pointe Claire team-mate Anne Jardin was third in 1:03.25.

Miss Amundrud, 18, an Ottawa native and another transplant to the Dolphins, captured the 200 freestyle in 2:02.63, beating the Commonwealth and Canadian mark of 2:03.42 held by Shannon Smith of New Westminster, B.C.

Miss Jardin was second in 2:03.37 and Debbie Clarke of Thunder Bay third in 2:05.02. Miss Baker, 15, lowered the Commonwealth and Canadian time for the 200 breaststroke to 2:36.74 after setting it at 2:37.17 in the heats.

She had owned the previous mark of 2:40.97 set earlier in the year although Marg Kelly of Britain last week knocked the Commonwealth mark down to 2:38.60.

Lisa Borsholt of Vancouver clocked 2:40.14 for second place behind Miss Baker and Melanie MacKay of Oakville, Ont., took third in 2:41.02.

WINS BACKSTROKE

Scarth captured the men's 200 backstroke in 2:07.46, beating Steve Hardy of New Westminster, 2:08.54, and Daryl Skilling of Thunder Bay, 2:08.70.

Scarth beat the previous Canadian record of 2:07.76 held by Stephen Pickell of Vancouver.

Ker led all the way in the 1,500 to win in 15:51.73, beating the Canadian mark set a day earlier by Paul Midley of Pointe Claire. Midley topped the heats Wednesday in 16:08.86 but finished second in the final in 16:01.78.

Tom Alexander of Thunder Bay, finishing third in 16:19.69, failed to make the Olympic standard for three entries at Montreal. The standard for three is 16:10.1 but for two entries it is 16:29.1.

Alexander was the only bronze medalist of the day to miss a qualifying standard.

East Germans team to beat

Smashing American records

BERLIN (AP) — In a cascade of world record performances, East German swimmers smashed one of the sport's great barriers Thursday while erasing the names of such American stars as Mark Spitz and Shirley Babashoff in butterfly and freestyle events.

Barbara Krause set the third world mark in the third day of the East German championships and Olympic trials with a clocking of four minutes 11.69 seconds for the 400-metre freestyle for women. The East German official news agency ADN reported.

That topped the previous world mark of 4:14.76 set by Miss Babashoff at Long Beach, Calif., last year.

The latest mark came after ADN reported Roger Pytell had become the first swimmer to go under two minutes in the 200-metre butterfly with a time of 1:59.63. Only hours before, in an earlier heat, he had done 2:00.21 to better Spitz's 1972 mark of 2:00.70.

That was followed by Kornelia Ender setting her 11th world record, a 1:01.62 effort in the 100-metre backstroke. She bettered the old record of 1:02.6 held by her team-mate, Ulrike Richter.

SET EIGHT RECORDS

In three days of competition, the East Germans set eight world records, seven by their phenomenal women.

Riding their wave of world marks, the East Germans were taking dead aim at the Montreal Games this summer and a showdown with the United States, the world's perennial swimming powerhouse.

This was unheard of as late as the 1972 Games, when only the world record holder in the backstroke, Roland Matthes, was of world-class calibre among the East Germans.

In 1971, in Leipzig in their first head-to-head meeting, the United States, led by Spitz, badly trounced the East Germans, who were first beginning to make their move.

In Miss Ender they have a potential female Spitz. If she's entered in enough freestyle and backstroke events, along with the relays, she could challenge his record seven gold medals won in 1972 in the Munich Games.

On Tuesday, she set a world mark in the 100 freestyle in 55.73. On Wednesday she became the first woman ever to swim under two minutes in the 200-metre freestyle with a phenomenal 1:59.78 to lower her old mark of 2:02.27.

SNATCHES RECORD

Pytell, a Leipzig schoolboy, burst into full international view by snatching away Spitz's 200-metre butterfly world record. The confident 19-year-old said he had to "brake" his speed early in the race so his plan to come on strong over the last 50 metres would jell. And he hit his pace as planned.

"I felt good and had an even stroke but over the last metres it became very hard. I felt how difficult this distance is."

Pytell, a six-foot-five, 183-pound high school senior, left Spitz with only one individual world record, 54.27 seconds in the 100-metre butterfly.

The lanky German was second in the 100 and 200 butterfly in the 1975 world championships at Cali, Colombia. He can be expected to use Montreal as a springboard to go after the record in the 100 as well.

Ali in Yankee Stadium

NEW YORK (AP) — Muhammad Ali stood on second base at Yankee Stadium Thursday to sign his latest $6-million fight contract and admitted that the legend of Babe Ruth left him cold.

"People keep asking me how I feel being in the 'House That Ruth Built,'" the voluble heavyweight champion said. "What they expect? They think my eyes ought to go wide and I say, 'Babe Ruth, he was a great man.'"

"No sir, nobody is big enough to impress me. I am the greatest. So why should I be impressed by Babe Ruth? Nobody ever heard of him in Alexandria, Egypt. Nobody ever heard the name in Casablanca."

"But everybody's heard of Muhammad Ali."

It was all an orchestrated ceremony to make official Ali's title defence against Ken Norton on Sept. 28 in the revamped ball park, Madison Square Garden, sharing the promotion with Top Rank, Inc., disclosed that Ali will receive $6 million and Norton $1.1 million. Norton beat Ali and broke his jaw in their first meeting but lost a close decision in the return bout.

The winner is expected to face the survivor of the June 15 battle at Nassau Coliseum between ex-champions Joe Frazier and George Foreman. It was Foreman who floored Frazier six times before scoring a second-round knockout in Jamaica in January 1973. Foreman subsequently was stopped in the eighth round by Ali in Kinshasa, Zaire, Oct. 30, 1974.

"Foreman will destroy Frazier. I will destroy Norton and then I will destroy Foreman," Ali bellowed.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Rider of Magog had dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Rider and called on other relatives while here to attend the committal service at Marsboro Mills Cemetery for the late Mrs. Lawrence Rider of Lake Megantic, on May 22, with the Rev. Kalman Toth of Sherbrooke in charge.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Simpson, Montreal, were at their cottage here for the rainy Victoria Day weekend. House guests were their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Dalbec and children, Ian and Chantal, also of Montreal. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Davis of Coaticook called on them, they also being here to attend the services for their sister-in-law, Mrs. Lawrence Rider.

Miss Nancy Veary, accompanied by her fiancé, Mr. Dannie Jibb of Ottawa, was at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Veary, for the holiday weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Poteet and children, Natalie, Eric and Nicholas, of Montreal, spent the weekend at their home here.

Guests at the home of Miss Violet Slater for the holiday weekend were her sister, Miss Mable Slater, and Mr. George Walsh both of Montreal.

The first service of the season was held in St. John's Anglican Church on May 23 with the Rev. L. Westman of Sawyerville on charge. Due to the generosity of several people who have given donations in memory of relatives who were former members of the congregation, metal railings have been installed on the stairs and veranda, which as well as improving the appearance of the Church, are extremely useful and fulfill a longfelt need for those of riper years.

HATLEY

Mr. and Mrs. Raphael Sharman and family of Montreal spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Sharman.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Orcutt of St. Catharines, Ont. are spending a holiday with Mr. Allan Wheeler and Mr. Jim Hunter.

Mrs. Dempsey has been visiting her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Roarke and family recently.

Mrs. J. Bourner of Montreal spent several days with her friends, Mr. and Mrs. Leigh Bladon.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Blandford of Noyan, his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Blandford from England were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Cutler and Mrs. Nellie Hartwell on Thursday, May 27.

The first Hatley Girl Guide Troop and their leaders spent the week-end at the Mystery Spot near Lennoxville.

Mr. and Mrs. Gaston Mongeau and family of Rock Island, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Doherty and family, Mrs. Caroline Rymill and Mark and Mrs. Emma Walker of Lennoxville were visiting Mr. and Mrs. Walter Walker and family over the week-end.

Mrs. Carroll Sawtelle of Peterborough, N.H. spent several days with her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. William Cutler, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Premdas and family of St. Hilaire, Mrs. Lloyd Hartwell of Sherbrooke, Mrs. Alberta Cutler of Ayer's Cliff and Mr. Lloyd Johnson of Cookshire were visitors during the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Cutler, Mrs. Nellie Hartwell and their guest, Mrs. C. Sawtelle were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Cutler at Coaticook.

At the Church of the Epiphany May 23, a "Book of Memory" was dedicated by the Rev. Ron Smith. This was a gift in memory of the late Mrs. Albert Davidson given by her granddaughter, Mrs. R. W. Vipond, of the Town of Mount Royal, who, with her husband and parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Pedersen, was present at the service.

Mrs. Carl Mayhew and her house guest, Miss Fran Drolet, attended "Le Buffet Des Nations" at Bishop's University arena, May 22.

BIRCHTON

Congratulations are extended to Mrs. Stanley Logan and Clifford Sparkes on their receiving Awards at the Bishop's University Convocation on May 29. Betty carried home her Bachelor of Arts Degree, History Honours, and the Roderick Thaler Memorial Prize in History; while Clifford has his Bachelor of Science, Degree with Biochemistry Honours, and the University Prize in Biochemistry.

Clifford, with Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Halsall, motored from Oshawa, Ont., where he is employed by the E.P. Taylor Farms, where he is getting firsthand experience in veterinary work. They came to attend Convocation.

Clifford spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sparkes, John, Donna, Bruce and Trudi, while Herbert and Carolyn, with Jennifer and Richard, were at the Halsall home.

Mrs. Gilbert Nutbrown has returned from a visit with the John Brazel family in Lost Nation, East Clifton.

From England came Mr. and Mrs. H. Clark and were supper guests of Mrs. Oscar Desruisseau.

At the Harron-Kirkby home for the weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Wiley, and Mr. and Mrs.

Douglas Wiley, all from Montreal.

Congratulations to Mrs. Kirkby who celebrated her four-score-years-and-one on May 24. Best wishes for more, Jean!

Several from the area enjoyed the Shorthorn Calf Club dance in Sawyerville on the 29th; and the Graduation Dance at Alexander Galt High School the following evening.

The Pot-Luck Supper, sponsored by the Youth Group on the 29th, was a success. The Young Folk, under the leadership of Mrs. Nick Turchyn, are to be complimented on the efficient manner in which they handled it, and also the Bingo games which followed.

The twin event was an all-around "feather-in-the-hat" event. Birchton is a spreading, with the Herbert Loveland house having been put upon its cement basement; the Roy home of French-Canadian design nearing completion; and with plans for two more on the Hawley-Smith road.

Miss Betty Beaumont of Montreal spent the weekend with Mrs. Pearle Damon at Maplehurst. Mr. Frank McConnell of Eaton Corner was a supper guest at the same home.

At the 8 a.m. Church Service at the Waymer Laberee's, Mrs. Damon and her house guest joined the assembled folk, and shared in the pot-luck breakfast.

Mrs. Alex Glen of Eaton Corner was Sunday supper guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. Picard.

The Logans and Mrs. Murdo MacKinnon were overnight guests of relatives in Montreal.

The Richards have been enjoying some outdoor living at the Riverside Camping Area in Randboro.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Patton of Kinnear's Mills were weekend guests of their son-in-law and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Nick Turchyn; and callers at the Prescott and Moore homes.

Sunday callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Basil Prescott included Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Allison of Bury.

A very pretty wedding took place here May 15, when Miss Judy Fisher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy S. Fisher, and Ian McMartin, of Montreal, were married at St. Paul's Church. The reception took place at Knowlton Golf Club.

A group of five youths from India arrived, May 27 under Youth Exchange, a seven-day exchange programme which is an annual project of the Sherbrooke Presbytery of the United Church. They were entertained at Knowlton United Church at a "pot luck" supper that same evening followed by a social evening.

Local friends are thinking of Mr. and Mrs. Al Staples at this time and extend best wishes. Mr. Staples underwent surgery May 20, at the Jewish General Hospital.

Miss Sharon Miller of Chateaugay Terrace was a weekend guest at the home of Mrs. Marshall Miller.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant Howard of Sudbury Ontario spent Wednesday with the former's aunt Mrs. M. Miller on Wednesday while on their honeymoon trip.

On May 22, Mrs. Miller and her daughters Christene and Isabel were among the 65 guests attending the surprise 25th-anniversary combined with a Housewarming Party in honour of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Crotty of Lennoxville who have just completed their new home. Friends here join in extending best wishes to Mrs. Miller's daughter Jackie and her husband for much future happiness.

Mr. and Mrs. H.J. Devlin were recently visiting Mr. and Mrs. George Hall of Magog. Mrs. Devlin reports her brother was in excellent spirits and much improved in health.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Duboyce returned home Tuesday after spending the Victoria holiday weekend in Ottawa at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Duboyce and Timmy where they joined Mrs. Duboyce's parents the Rev. James and Mrs. Cross of Highgate, Ont., who had been guests for the previous week.

Family and friends are wondering to what extent Kenneth Battley is involved in the serious forest fires reported from the Kenora area in Ontario. Kenny left his home here May 23, then by air from Montreal early Monday morning to again spend the summer in construction work. He is stationed at Minaki. Word from Ken will be most welcome and also of interest.

Board ignored middlemen: Whelan

CALGARY (CP) — Food retailers, wholesalers and manufacturers were let off too easily in the debate over food prices, a speech by Agriculture Minister Eugene Whelan said Wednesday.

The speech at a convention of the Canadian Grocery Distributors' Institute, delivered for Mr. Whelan by Senator Harry Hays blamed the defunct food prices review board for failure to study the portion of the food industry that lies between the farmer and the consumer.

"The board did not complete its studies on vertical and horizontal integration in the food industry, nor did it draw substantial conclusions about the relations between profits and prices in the processing and distributing chain," he said in the speech.

"The board got sidetracked in its obsession about marketing boards and so farmers, marketing boards and the minister of agriculture have taken the brunt of the questioning and criticism."

Mr. Whelan, who cancelled his appearance at the three-day meeting because of budget discussions in Ottawa, said he is concerned about a Statistics Canada prediction that farm net income will drop this year, although a rise of seven per cent is forecast in retail food prices, with most of the increase due to higher costs for processing and handling.

"I question how much of this packaging is warranted in the name of convenience and how much is fancy marketing and trying to get the consumer to pay more for the same-quality product."

Dr. McGowan, 45, has been director of the Bureau of Veterinary Medicine, Health Protection Branch, Health and Welfare Canada, since 1974. He held other positions in the Health Protection Branch since 1968.

From 1964-1968, Dr. McGowan was director of the Veterinary Services Branch of the Manitoba Department of Agriculture. He was a graduate student at the University of Guelph from 1962 to 1964. Prior to that, he had a large-animal practice at Ponoka, Alta., for eight years.

A native of Iroquois, Ont. (west of Cornwall), Dr. McGowan holds a Master of Veterinary Science from the Ontario Veterinary College at Guelph.

In his new position, Dr. McGowan will also hold the title of Veterinary Director-General of Canada. He succeeds Dr. Ken Wells who retired in March after 21 years as Canada's head veterinarian.

Bottom heat beneath trays or pots is helpful. It warms soil, encourages more rapid and uniform germination too. This technique is especially useful with hard-to-grow, tiny seeds. Once seedlings sprout, grow several inches, you can transfer them to individual larger peat pots, or into the garden if the weather is right.

Another type was developed for professional nurseries. It is the Deep Root package. The five inch wide by eight inch long plastic packs are filled with planting formula. Each compartment is two and three quarter inches deep to let roots develop well. Once plants get a firm root system, you simply pop out the seedling with root ball intact and plant it in your garden. The units are reusable.

Punch 'N' Grow kits and Seed 'N' Start kits also help get seeds sprouted well. The first type has seeds prepositioned and properly spaced. Just water, reverse the clear plastic top until seed germinate and then remove it.

When plants have several sets of true leaves, or are as tall as the directions advise, they can be transplanted into larger containers or set outside in the soil.

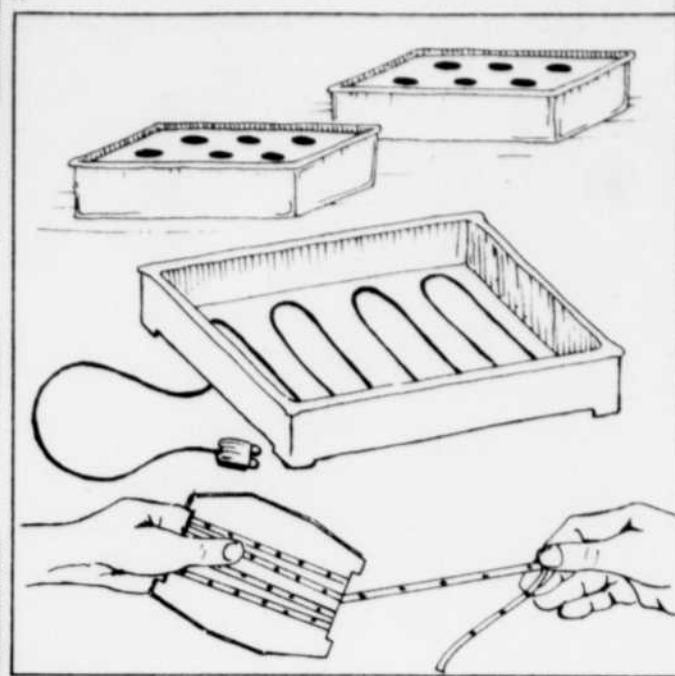

The other type has a fortified growing medium with a plastic top, too. This converts to a watering tray when seedlings are sprouted.

Many firms and stores offer seed tapes. This is especially useful for proper spacing of tiny seeds. The seeds are contained in water soluble tape. When watered in garden soil, the tape dissolves, letting seeds sprout. Be sure you plant exactly at the proper depth, so seeds can pop up and grow properly.

Try some of these aids this year. They are handy new growing experiences.

Aids for better gardens

By Allan and Sheila Swenson
NEA Garden Columnists

Gardening is growing easier every year. New aids are being developed that help us all plant seeds, grow strong, sturdy seedlings and extend our growing season.

Every year, we shop around to learn about the new products. Then we test these items to make sure they perform as well as claimed. That way, we can provide accurate appraisals of these aids and notes on their performance.

Here are some helpful aids for starting seeds. The Early Start kit contains a 12 by 18 inch plastic drainage tray with two smaller seed sowing trays to nest in it. You get two large bags of planting mix, 30 round peat pots, stakes to label the varieties and a heating cable.

Northern U.S. syrup crop down

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The U.S. maple syrup crop fell 23 per cent this year, mainly because of an early spring, the New York Crop Reporting Service said Wednesday.

One major New York producer said price increases up to $1 a gallon already are taking effect, pushing prices as high as $15 a gallon.

The report said total production fell to 927,000 gallons from 1,201,000 in 1975. New York's crop was down 24 per cent, and dropped behind Vermont as the leading U.S. maple syrup producer.

Vermont's output fell to 334,000 this year from 353,000 gallons last year. Only Wisconsin showed an increase, to 66,000 from 62,000.

Total national value of the crop decreased to $10,022,000 from $12,728,000, the report said.

Fidelity Rebekah Lodge

AYER'S CLIFF — The regular meeting of the above lodge was held in the Lodge room with the Noble Grand Sister Ellen Thompson presiding.

Roll call was held and minutes of the last meeting read. Several communications were read and these were placed on file. Some thank-you notes were also received.

Further plans were discussed for a reception to try and find a date in June for this and a hall. This to be continued at the next meeting.

Two applications for membership were accepted, and it was learned that Lennoxville was putting on the degree on Wednesday night. The Lodge decided to contact them to see if our candidates could be initiated at the same time.

Our charter had been draped at the last meeting in memory of Sister Vivian Richardson and Brother Dave Young. It was passed that we drape it for another thirty days in memory of Brother Howard Keeler who had passed away since our last meeting. A donation was voted to the United Church Memorial fund in memory of Sister Vivian Richardson.

All necessary arrangements were made, concerning the assembly session which took place on May 28 and 29.

Following the meeting, a practice was held for the Lodge part in this.

As there was no further business, Lodge closed in form.

On Wednesday evening, May 19 several members of Fidelity Rebekah Lodge No. 33 were in Lennoxville where Myrtle Rebekah Lodge No. 28 initiated Mr. and Mrs. Grant Sager as members of Fidelity No. 33. Those to attend from here were Sisters Ellen Thompson, Opal Smith, Fern Dezan, Madeleine Dezan and Brothers Lawrence Dezan, Alvin Smith and Frank Smith.

On Friday, May 28 and Saturday May 29, several members from Ayer's Cliff attended the Grand Lodge Grand Encampment and Assembly Sessions held at the LeBaron Hotel-Motel in Sherbrooke. These were Sisters Opal Smith, Irene Whipple, Ellen Thompson, Fernande Dezan, Gerry Dezan, Madeleine Dezan and Brothers Frank Smith and Alvin Smith. On May 29, Sister Gwen True was elected President of The Rebekah Assembly of Quebec.

Also on May 28, Brother Alvin Smith was elected Grand High Priest of the Grand Encampment of Quebec. Congratulations.

Travel: During the Games, enjoy some short side-trips

More than 100,000 visitors a day are expected in Montreal and area during the 1976 Summer Olympic Games July 17 to August 1.

Nearby cities and resort areas, as well as Montreal, expect to profit from the influx of tourists, many of whom will undoubtedly take pre- or post-Olympics side-trips.

It's just a short hop to the cities of Ottawa, Kingston, Ontario; or Quebec City; and even shorter to the Laurentians which along with our own Eastern Townships is a popular resort area.

OTTAWA — Ottawa, Canada's capital, with a population of just 300,000 isn't a large city by world standards. But it is an attractive city partly because it is virtually-free of heavy industry.

There are no towering smoke stacks to darken the atmosphere, no unsightly industrial districts, no ghettos and no traffic snarls. Ottawa is a city of parks, flowers, museums and elegant embassies.

Visitors may join a conducted tour of the Parliament Buildings and go up the 300-ft Peace Tower from which the whole city and surrounding area can be seen.

There is free admission to: the National Gallery, the Canadian War Museum, the National Museum of Man and the Museum of Natural Sciences, the National Museum of Science and Technology.

Free admission is also available to the National Aeronautical Collection, home of more than 50 aircraft, and the Central Experimental Farm, 1,300 acres of flowers, prize cattle and an Arboretum with 1,700 trees and shrubs from many lands.

The National Postal Museum has one of the finest stamp collections in the world.

The National Arts Centre, an ultra-modern showcase for the performing arts with a 2,300-seat opera house, will hold performances this summer.

There are boat cruises on the Rideau Canal and the Ottawa River and British-style double-decker sight-seeing buses.

KINGSTON — The historic city of Kingston is Canada's other Olympic city; site for the Olympic yachting events. It was a trading post as early as 1673 but soon became an important military and naval stronghold.

Today, the roar of cannon and the crack of muskets are heard only in ceremonies staged for the benefit of tourists.

Kingston is now the home of Queen's University and the Royal Military College, but its past military importance is evident everywhere.

Old Fort Henry was completed in 1812, later abandoned, and completely restored in 1938.

It is one of Canada's best-known attractions, drawing thousands of visitors each year to the fort itself, its museum and the precision drill and manoeuvres of the Fort Guard, resplendent in their bright red tunics of 1867.

Fort Frederick contains an interesting museum and the nearby Murney Redoubt is possibly the finest Martello tower on the continent.

A Martello tower is a small circular fort and this one has walls 15 feet thick.

Kingston has its Pump House Steam Museum, the Royal Signals Museum and Bellevue House, a former house of Canada's first prime-minister, Sir John A. Macdonald.

The fortress city is also the starting point for a 65-mile cruise among the 1000 islands.

QUEBEC — The city of Quebec is often referred to as the split-level city with two voices, because much of it is built high on a cliff overlooking the St. Lawrence River and most of its inhabitants speak French and English.

This natural citadel, founded more than 350 years ago, has a charm all its own. It was once the capital of a territory that included most of the United States and Canada of today.

The old city abounds with history. Fortifications and buildings have been restored to their original state and more are being dug out of the ground each year.

Several historic churches, ancient stone buildings, narrow winding streets and exceptional restaurants are concentrated in an area of the city easily covered on foot.

The Dufferin Terrace, in front of the Chateau Frontenac Hotel and 200 feet above Lower Town, is a favorite of both tourists and native Quebecers.

The Chateau, on the site of an earlier historic building, will go down in history itself as the meeting place of Roosevelt and Churchill on two occasions during the Second World War.

Place d'Armes, next to the Chateau, is a quaint little square where tourists can board a two-wheel, horse-drawn caleche for a tour of the city.

Just off Place d'Armes is the one-block rue du Tresor where artists display and sell their drawings and paintings.

From a kiosk atop Cape Diamond, 350 feet above the river, one can stroll down the Promenade des Gouverneurs to the western end of Dufferin Terrace.

At the eastern end of the Terrace, an elevator takes visitors to Lower Town for a visit of historic Notre-Dame-des-Victoires Church (1688), Place Royale and several renovated buildings dating back to the French regime.

The Ursuline Convent has a splendid chapel and an interesting museum and the Rue des Remparts, high on a cliff, is lined by old cannon which are a delight to children.

Just outside St. Louis Gate, one of the three gates leading to the old city, visitors can turn left onto the 235-acre National Battlefields Park, better known to Quebecers as the Plains of Abraham.

This is where France lost an empire, in 1759, when Wolfe defeated Montcalm in a battle that lasted only 15 minutes but proved fatal to both generals.

A visit of the famous Citadel and its changing of the guard ceremony is an unforgettable experience.

In the immediate vicinity of Quebec are Montmorency Falls, the highest in eastern Canada, the famous Sainte-Anne-de-Beaupre shrine, a zoo and an extensive aquarium.

THE LAURENTIANS — Just north of Montreal, along the Autoroute des Laurentides, is the greatest concentration of summer and winter resorts in Canada.

The mountains in this area, known as the Laurentians, are the oldest in the world.

It is a fun region of international reputation, popular with Canadians and Americans since the last century.

The territory is studded with lakes and streaked with fast streams and it has unsurpassed facilities for sports, excellent hotels and the finest of cuisine.

This tourist paradise offers golf, sailing, water skiing, skiing, riding, canoeing, mountain climbing, swimming, tennis and other sports plus great evening entertainment in most hotels.

It is truly a nature lover's paradise and has miles of nature trails as well as boats for rent.

THE EASTERN TOWNSHIPS — East of Montreal, the Eastern Townships of Quebec attract large numbers of visitors each year. Many of them Americans from across the border just a few miles away.

The mountains are natural parks, home to a variety of wildlife, and are popular with nature lovers, skiers, mountain climbers, and cottagers.

YOU DON'T SWIM BETTER IN A DAUPHIN ... YOU SWIM LONGER
We manufacture our pools right in Montreal, so we're in a better position to back our guarantees. (For example, you'll never have to dismantle your pool liner and send it to some out-of-town manufacturer). And our technical specialists with fully equipped service vehicles are always available for on-the-spot assistance.
Dauphin Pools LTD.
The stronger last longer.
DAUPHIN EXPERIENCE
Behind your Dauphin pool are 15 years in the engineering, construction and installation of quality Alcan aluminum swimming pools. Not a sideline or seasonal occupation, building pools is our only business.

Miss Barbara Willey, Ottawa, spent the 24th of May holiday weekend with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Willis Willey and sisters.

Mrs. Norman Sargent and son Kevin, Newport Centre, Vermont, were calling on Mr. and Mrs. Willis Willey on Saturday evening.

Mrs. Norman Sargent and son Kevin, Miss Cathy Sargent, Newport Centre, Vermont, and Miss Debbie Hamelin, Mansonville, were visiting Mr. and Mrs. Dick Burnham on Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Burnham and Mrs. Lindsay Davis were calling on Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Fuller, Bolton Pass Road recently.

Mrs. Blanche Schoolcraft has returned to her home on the hill after being a guest at the home of Harry Morrison, Gould, North Hill. She also visited Arthur and Clyne MacDonald and Mr. and Mrs. John Coates and uncle Malcom MacDonald who is ill at the present time, at the home of John and Madeline Coates. We all wish you a quick recovery.

Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Burnham were Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Burnham, Magog; Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Cote and family, Mansonville; Mr. Warren Woodard, Baker Tale Road; and Mr. George Dean, Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. James Scruton and daughter Tori were in Montreal on Friday, where they met Mrs. Scruton's mother, Mrs. Miller of Gasper. Mrs. Miller will be visiting at the Lane-Scruton home for awhile.

Recent callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Willey and family were Mrs. Florence Jasper, Bolton Centre and Mrs. Ross Smith and daughter Maureen, Mansonville.

Recent callers at the home of Mrs. Blanche Schoolcraft were Mr. Ormande Schoolcraft, Vale Perkins; Mrs. Hennie Lallier and son Andre, also her daughter and son-in-law, and Mr. Jeffrey Chester, Montreal; Mr. Windle Hamilton, Ayer's Cliff; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Royce, South Stukely; Mrs. Kathy Elston and Cindy, Ontario; and also several people from around town.

Mrs. Blanche Schoolcraft would like to thank the Knowlton's Lion Club, the South Bolton Women's Institute, and friends that were kind and thoughtful throughout the past winter.

Mrs. Hilda Hill has returned home after having attended the Women's Institute's Annual Convention at MacDonald College, Ste. Anne de Bellevue.

Mr. Jack Schoolcraft visited his mother Ms. Blanche Schoolcraft, on route to his home in Mattawa, Ontario after spending two weeks in St. John's, New Brunswick where he met many old army pals from his army days from 1939 to 1945. Jack also visited a number of friends in South Bolton and Bolton Centre, he also visited his father, Earle Schoolcraft, Knowlton.

Mrs. R. Rothney returned home from Australia on Wed. May 19 aboard a Russian ship which docked in Montreal. Mr. Labonte had spent nearly 2 years teaching there.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Little accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. William Pearson of Lennoxville motored to Waterloo to the home of Miss Edith Hanna and Mrs. Clarence Hanna. The occasion was Miss Hanna's 88th birthday. Mr. and Mrs. Eric Little of Chambly were overnight guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Little over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Cathart were supper guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Rothney on Sunday eve.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Sims attended the 25th wedding anniversary in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Nutbrown held at the Rifle Club at Lennoxville on Fri. eve. May 21st.

On May 16, Mr. and Mrs. H. Little were visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Barrie Armatage at Melbourne Ridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Rothney attended the Jack and Jill shower held at the Army, Navy and Air Force Hut in Lennoxville on Fri. eve., May 21st in honor of their daughter Marilyn and her fiancé David Grey of Lennoxville.

On Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Lerryl Painter, David and Karen of Lennoxville were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Little.

Sympathy of the community goes out to the family of the late Mr. Cleason Hadley who passed away at the Youville Hospital on May 26 after a lengthy illness.

Kay's Kitchen Korner

By Kay Taylor

For those who enjoyed the recipe last week for Lemon Frost you may also like this second recipe from a Waterloo reader. This is not quite as rich, having less eggs, and is scrumptious - no cooking and not too high in calories. I think those liking a light, refreshing dessert will find this very nice.

LEMON DESSERT

First Part
(1) 1 egg white
(2) one-third cup cold water
(3) one-third cup non-fat dried milk powder
Second Part
(1) one-third cup white sugar
(2) 1 slightly beaten egg yolk
(3) 1/4 teaspoon grated lemon rind
(4) 3 teaspoons lemon juice
(5) pinch of salt
+ + +
1 tablespoons graham cracker crumbs or more
Note: I found it took almost double that amount would depend on the dish).

METHOD
Combine first three ingredients beating until VERY STIFF. Mix the next five ingredients and then fold gently into the egg white mixture.
Sprinkle two tablespoons graham cracker crumbs into a small tray to cover the bottom. Spoon in lemon mixture and dust with the rest of the crumbs. CHILL. Makes about 5 servings.
Note: I would recommend a small bowl and electric beater for step one.

A nice recipe is shared with readers by Mrs. Ethel Mason of Fordyce Corner.
SPICE CUP CAKES
1/2 cup sugar
1 egg
1/2 teaspoon allspice and nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon cloves
1/2 cup nuts
1 cup sour milk
1/2 cup shortening
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup molasses
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 cup raisins
1/2 cup chopped dates
1 teaspoon soda
1/2 cups flour
Cream shortening and sugar. Add egg, molasses and sour milk, sift all dry ingredients together and add fruit and nuts. Bake in 350 degree oven for about 20 minutes. Top with butter icing if desired.
Once more, thanks for all the recipes received. Will you send a favorite?

Ann Landers says:

Hooked and unhappy

Dear Ann Landers: Like millions of others, I am hooked on cigarettes. I feel as if I have some loathsome disease.
Everywhere I turn groups are starting up to protect non-smokers against me and others who are similarly affected. Laws are being passed to prohibit smoking in public places. I'm not complaining. It has been proven that non-smokers can be seriously affected by the smoke of others if they are exposed to it in closed quarters for an extended period of time.
I suffer from high blood pressure and emphysema. I know I'm killing myself. But I am unable to stop this filthy, expensive, dangerous habit. Many people HAVE stopped smoking. Why can't I? Please ask your readers who have accomplished this gargantuan feat how they did it. I'd be eternally grateful. — Nicotine Freak Dear Nic: I don't need to ask my readers. I know how they did it.

question: "Why bother talking about such nonsense?" After a few minutes, he says, "That's enough. Get off."

It's difficult to respond to questions when I'm on the phone, but I do my best. It is also embarrassing because the person on the other end can hear my husband badgering me.

Last night I decided to ignore him. He became furious and started to use such foul language I invented a caller at the front door and rang off. Please suggest a solution. — Up A Wall

Dear Up: A person who is so immature that he can't be excluded from anything — not even an ordinary telephone conversation — should be treated like the child he is.

Keep a pad and pencil by the phone. When "Junior" begins to ask questions, write, "I'll tell you all about it later, dear." That should satisfy the noodnik until you get off.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm in love with a married man. Our affair started innocently. I didn't mean for it to happen and neither did George.

He married a woman he didn't love because she became pregnant (on purpose to trap him, probably). They have been living like brother and sister since a year ago February. George made up his mind to get a divorce before he ever met me.

I am eager to marry this beautiful man but I don't want people to think I broke up his marriage. My reputation is important to me and I need to protect it. What do you suggest? — Brown Eyes

Dear Eyes: If the marriage is dead and you don't want people to think you killed it, don't hang around the corpse.

Ask George to call you when he's free — and not before. But don't stand on one foot waiting for the phone to ring.

Dear Ann Landers: I am 26 years of age, not a raving beauty but I have a good figure and have been told I am very attractive. My husband (we married when I was 21) has spent most of the time on the road as a salesman. This has led to problems I won't go into. To make a long story short I've been thinking seriously of divorcing him. He doesn't know it yet because I want to make sure I can improve on the situation. (My mother always said, "A bird in the hand is worth two in the bush.")

Almost every evening after work I go to a little cafe-bar where there is dancing. (My mother lives with me and takes care of my two kids, so that's no problem.) Anyway, I've met some interesting men there. Everything goes fine till they see my wedding ring. When I say I'm "separated" they don't believe me.

Do you think I should leave my ring at home? I'd appreciate some advice — Want More Out Of Life Than I'm Getting

Dear Want More: Not only should you leave your ring at home but you should stay home WITH your ring. No matter how you feel, you are still very much married.

Steak n' onion stir-fry

By Aileen Claire
NEA Food Editor

It's time for a change of eating pace. One of the most delightful holiday eating experiences in recent years started with a basic holiday turkey with all the trimmings and spun off into such different dishes as huevos rancheros, tostados, turkey tetrazzini and then a stir-fry Chinese treat. The Chinese meal proved a pleasant, off-beat one for those who had been honoring traditional foods for several weeks. For a small party try a speedy Chinese meal for six that begins with clam chowder and includes a steak and onion stir-fry main dish.

SPEEDY Chinese meal for six features chowder and stir-fry steak.

ORIENTAL CLAM CHOWDER
2 cans (13 1/4 ounce each) chicken broth
1/4 pound mushrooms, thinly sliced
1 can (8 1/2 ounce) bamboo shoots, drained
1/2 package (10 ounce size) frozen peas, thawed
3 tablespoons finely chopped onion
2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley
1 can (8 ounce) minced clams, undrained
1/2 teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
3 tablespoons lemon juice

In large saucepan or dutch oven, bring broth to boiling. Add mushrooms, bamboo shoots, peas, onion and parsley; cook 2 minutes. Add clams with broth, salt, pepper and lemon juice. Bring to boil. Reduce heat and simmer 5 minutes. Makes about one and one-half quarts or enough for 6 servings.

STEAK 'N' ONION STIR-FRY
2 medium zucchini, sliced
1 pound flank steak, thinly sliced
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/4 cup finely chopped yellow onion
1 garlic clove, crushed
1 tablespoon soy sauce
1 box (29 ounce) pepper steak stir-fry entree
1 tablespoon sugar
2 tablespoons red wine vinegar
Hot cooked rice

In medium saucepan, cook zucchini in boiling salted water until tender crisp; drain well.

Meanwhile, in large skillet, brown flank steak in butter. Add mushrooms, onion and garlic; saute 5 minutes. Add soy sauce and one and three-fourths cups water; cover and simmer 5 minutes. Stir in sauce mix from entree, mixing until smooth. Stir in sugar and vinegar. Cook, stirring, until sauce thickens. Add well-drained pepper steak, vegetables and zucchini. Heat through. Serve on hot rice. Pass soy sauce. Makes 5 or 6 servings.
*Partially freeze flank steak in order to cut thin diagonal slices.

To celebrate 50th Anniversary

KNOWLTON (KT) — Friends and relatives are invited by members of the family to a 50th Wedding Anniversary party for Mr. and Mrs. Reg Battle at the Legion Hall, Knowlton, on June 12, 1976.

Refreshments will be served from 7 to 8:30 p.m., followed by dancing from 9 to 1.

Social and Personal

Mrs. Lorne Buckman of Rock Forest has returned home from Hudson, Que. where she had been called by the sudden death of her brother, Percy Knott. Burial was in Hudson.

Shower held

On May 13, the Ladies Auxiliary of First Baptist Church and several friends enjoyed an afternoon at the home of Mrs. Norman Bradley, the occasion being to shower Miss Valerie Humphries, a June bride.

Valerie was met at the door by Mrs. N. Bradley. Mrs. Dorothy Wright pinned on a corsage and escorted her to the chair of honor which was decorated with blue and white streamers.

Mrs. N. Bradley, having known Valerie since childhood, prior to presenting the gift, spoke briefly on her acquaintance during her growing up years.

On opening her gift, Valerie showed her pleasure and surprise in finding a china teapot and cream and sugar set matching her dinner set. She voiced her appreciation and commented on the pleasure she felt to be with old friends.

Games were played and prizes given, following which a delicious lunch was served by the hostesses, Mrs. N. Bradley and Mrs. D. Wright.

Mrs. J. Moore and Mrs. N. Humphries poured tea and coffee. Valerie cut the doll-shaped shower cake and an enjoyable afternoon came to a close.

A TOWN AND COUNTRY DRESS in a bouncy cotton print, with this season's newest accessory — a matching triangle scarf by Margaret Godfrey for Bagatelle.

Girl Scouts prepare for Bicentennial

DERBY LINE (IH) — As the days for the Valley Forge, Pa. American Bicentennial celebration near, the Derby Line Girl Scouts are very busy as they make preparations to attend.

The past months Mrs. Lloyd Selby has been training a group of Scouts to square dance as their presentation at the ceremonies. They have made early American costumes to dance in. Long full skirts in white with a white blouse top trimmed with red and a red neckerchief in a large triangle, a blue with red-lined hat. On the skirt are drawings of Vermont scenes.

To raise funds to attend, the girls, their leaders and Moms have held a hobby show, food sale and tea at Stanstead South Church Hall and a rummage sale. The Scouts appreciate aid from all who donated and supported these projects. The fund to travel to Pa. was actually started five years ago by the Cadettes and Senior Scouts. The travellers will leave Derby Line June 30 and return home after a week there.

It has been a busy past year for the Scouts; in addition to their rummage sales and tea, they made favors for homes and hospitals. They invited six girls to Merrybrook for a cook out in the snow, had games and crafts.

They have visited the American Maple in Newport; plastic factory at Derby; Ethan Allen Furniture in Orleans; State House and other places of interest in Montpelier, also the Legislature there in the State House. The Newport Express and Standard in Newport; Arbor Green House between Barre and Montpelier; Farrents Green House in Newport; Rock of Ages Granite Quarry in Graniteville, Que. They attended the May Muster in New Haven at Addison Fair Grounds that was the first big Girl Scout Vermont Council-wide event in the state. There were also cookouts, gatherings and meetings at Merrybrook and at some of the homes. It has been a successful year thanks to co-operation and support of many people.

Big demand may be on for Candu

OTTAWA (CP) — Foreign buyers may be lining up within a few years to buy the Canadian-designed nuclear reactor many doubted would ever be a commercial success.

Growing energy demands, rising oil prices and possible shortages of fuel for competing reactors may combine to spread the squat, concrete domes of Candu reactors around the world.

The Candu, developed from weapons research during the Second World War, lost in early overseas sales to a light-water reactor built by the United States.

But the U.S. reactor needs enriched uranium for fuel and experts say construction of enrichment plants is not keeping pace with projected use of the reactors. They forecast a fuel shortage by the early 1980s.

If that happens, they add, the heavy-water reactor made by Canada and fuelled with natural uranium will be more attractive.

"I would say the interest in Candu is accelerating in proportion to the concern about future fuel supplies," says Ross Campbell, 30 years a diplomat, who stepped down last December as ambassador to Japan to take over as chairman of Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd. (AECL).

CHANGED
Mr. Campbell, 57, said that as a diplomat he was trying to sell the reactor to foreign countries before it was a proven system for producing electricity.

"It has been interesting to watch the vicissitudes of this system of ours from the total skepticism of the early years when many felt it might not even work, let alone be commercially viable, to the point where it is acknowledged now as the most efficient nuclear generating system in the world."

Mr. Campbell recalled that in the early days the United States and most of the world chose to develop light-water reactors, using ordinary water for cooling.

Canada decided to stick with its system of a reactor cooled and moderated by heavy water.

Produced in special plants, the heavy water slows down fast-moving neutrons to make a chain reaction possible and also transfers heat from the reaction to steam boilers.

PROVEN RIGHT
Now, says the AECL chairman, the Canadian scientists have been proven right. He says the Candu reactor produces twice as much power per pound of fuel as the other system.

While it uses natural uranium, it can also take other fuels such as thorium without extensive changes.

He forecasts a bright future for the reactor, both at home and abroad, and says the need for its components may foster a large manufacturing industry.

As a former diplomat, he is well aware of the opposition at home to foreign reactor sales, especially those in the last two years to Argentina and South Korea.

He says he still favors selling to other countries, repeating the government stand that it has a moral duty to share its technology with an energy-hungry world, especially underdeveloped countries.

There are also treaty obligations, he says. The nuclear nonproliferation treaty designed to control the spread of atomic weapons requires those possessing technology to make the benefits of peaceful nuclear use available to the underdeveloped world.

TECHNIQUES CHANGING
Changes in marketing techniques may also make the Candu reactor more attractive to foreign buyers.

In the past, Canadian companies provided all the nuclear equipment needed for a reactor, but now buyers want more domestic content.

Mr. Campbell foresees future agreements where Canadian content will be high in the first reactor, a little less in the second and dropping progressively until the buyer is building his own plants.

AECL is also embarking on licensing programs, negotiating the first such agreement with an Italian company. It would allow the company to build Candu reactors in Italy, but retain some benefit for Canadian manufacturers—perhaps some form of joint ventures with the Italian firm.

NEEDED AT HOME
No matter what happens in foreign sales, the manufacturers will be kept busy with growing demands for reactors at home.

The federal government's latest energy policy paper forecasts that nuclear generation will increase tenfold in the next 14 years.

Ontario and Quebec already are heavily committed to nuclear plants. New Brunswick is constructing one and Manitoba is making preliminary studies.

Mr. Campbell sees little alternative. The country is running short of oil and natural gas and must find other sources of energy or face growing trade deficits because of oil imports.

"The only answer is nuclear. The country is going to have to turn to this source of power."
