Sing-Song Is Called Off Due To Storm

Heavy Downpour Brings Event to Close—Second Cancellation of Season

A bad thunderstorm brought to a close what promised to be one of the most largely attended sing-songs of the season on Wednesday evening.

A crowd estimated to number 2,200 persons gathered at the Westmount Athletic Grounds shortly before 9 o'clock to participate in the singing and witness a series of wrestling matches.

Shortly after arrival of the crowd the skies became downcast and within half an hour from the commencement of the singing a heavy downpour drove everyone inside the athletic building for shelter.

The storm marked the second time during the series of events that a sing-song had to be called off on account of rain.

Next Wednesday the entertainment, will consist in the showing of motion pictures. Max Ford, principal of Argyle Junior High School, will again lead in the singing.

Burial Held Yesterday Of Mrs. F. Palmer

Claremont Avenue Resident Died in Homoeopathic on Monday

Funeral services for Mary (May) Wood, wife of Frederick Palmer, 2054 Claremont avenue, were held yesterday morning. The cortege left the D. A. Collins, Funeral home, for services at the church of St. Augustine of Canterbury at 8:30. Mass was sung by the Rev. Father Healy.

Mrs. Palmer died in the Homoeopathic Hospital on Monday following a stroke, which occurred at her residence on Saturday. It is believed that the condition was brought about as the re-acton of an automobile accident that she figured in in August 1936.

The accident occurred at the corners of Fort and Tupper streets when Mrs. Palmer was struck by a hit and run driver and sustained a fractured skull. The driver of the automobile was never located. Since the time of the accident Mrs. Palmer has been in poor health. She was in her 65th year. She was born in Martintown, Ont., and came to Montreal 45 years ago.

Surviving are her husband, Frederick Palmer, three sisters, Mrs. W. Murphy, of Montreal, Mrs. William Black of Cornwall, Ont., Mrs. D. Anderson, of Superior, Wis., three brothers, Ruben Wood, William Wood, both of Martintown, Ont., and James Wood, of Superior, Wis.

Masquerade Picnic For Girls Is Held

A masquerade picnic for girls of Westmount was sponsored by the municipality at the athletic grounds last week when 160 participated, over half of them dressed in fancy costumes.

Group games were played during the afternoon followed by the serving of supper.

Park Pools Lose Their Popularity

The cooler weather of the past week has taken away much of the popularity of the pools in Westmount Park as children no longer wade in them in an effort to escape the heat.

While not officially designated as wading pools, the ponds nevertheless have served in that capacity on particularly sultry days.

Funeral Held Monday For Joseph Shaw

Last Tribute Paid to Westmount Resident in First Baptist Church

The late Joseph Hampden Shaw, of 4493 Sherbrooke street, was paid final tribute at the First Baptist Church on Monday afternoon. In the absence of the minister, the Rev. Dr. Miles F. McCutcheon, the service was officiated at by Rev. W. D. Ross, pastor of Rosemont Baptist Church.

Mr. Shaw died suddenly at his residence last Friday afternoon in his 80th year.

The son of William Shaw and Hanna Hall, Mr. Shaw was born in Longworth, Huddersfield, Yorkshire, on June 19, 1859. He came to Montreal in 1882 as manager of the Montreal Woolen Mills following business life in England in the firm of Shaw, Sons and Company.

At the time of his death he was the senior partner in Shaw, Bros., Montreal. Also, he was a commercial agent for British woollens and textiles. He was the only surviving charter member of the British Agents' Association of Montreal, of which organization he was a former president.

Mr. Shaw was a member of the Royal Arc Masons. His church affiliation remained the same throughout his life in this city for he began as a member of Olive Baptist Church and remained with this congregation when it became First Baptist Church. He was at one time an active cricketer and also a golfer with memberships in the old Westmount, Outremont and Forest Hills golf clubs.

He was married first to the late Emma Dyson. There were two children by that marriage, both since dead. His second wife, Margaret Crossley, predeceased him also, leaving three sons, Hampden C. Shaw, Lawrence D. Shaw, and Ralph G. Shaw, and a daughter, Margaret L. Shaw, all of Westmount from the second marriage.

Among those at the funeral were: W. W. Williamson, Dr. A. H. Gordon, W. R. Somerville, P. J. Ferguson, Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Jotcham, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Barnard, M. E. Lowe, Wesley Lowe, Miss Frances Lowe, G. Walcot, St. Clair Tilley, representing Norman Tilley, president of the British Agents' Association, F. Brigg, E. J. Kose, Alex. McDougall, Dr. J. A. Meet Westmount's New Chief Acting-Chief Walter Gough took over official leadership of Westmount's Police and Fire Departments yesterday when his appointment to the office vacated by Chief Wren came into effect.

A resident of Notre Dame de Grace, for some years, Walter Gough, 4447 Harvard avenue, takes over office as Acting-Chief of the Westmount Police and Fire Department today, succeeding ex-Chief W. Wren in the capacity of leader of the joint police and fire forces.

Acting-Chief Gough rose to his present position through the ranks. Sixteen years ago he joined the force as a constable and through sheer industriousness, loyalty to duty, and personal ability, has won promotion to his present position.

Reserved in manner, Mr. Gough impresses one most with his quiet self-assurance.

In a city where its administrative heads are known mostly for the office they hold, the acting-chief is probably an exception. On "inside" duty on the force during the greater part of his time there, he has had personal contact with hundreds of residents.

Owners reporting lost dogs, traffic violators complaining of their fine, persons reporting summer vacancy of their homes, and those making use of the fire and police departments for countless more serious reasons have in a good percentage of the instances laid their troubles in the lap of Walter Gough, when he was Inspector of Police; earlier when he was captain; and still earlier when he was desk sergeant.

Joined Force in 1922

At the present time he is a resident of Notre Dame de Grace but intends to move into Westmount. His new office doesn't demand his residing here but he feels that the head of the police and fire forces

Many Improvements Made To Schools Of District

All schools throughout the city have undergone complete renovation during the summer and with the exception of St. Leo's Academy, where a new heating system is being installed, are in full readiness for school opening next week.

Alterations have been made to one of the fire escapes at King's School. Although it complied to safety regulations, it was necessary for pupils to step up to a window ledge to reach the escape. This has now been remedied, the landing having been brought to the level of the floor.

Considerable work has also been done to the playground at this school and all uneven surfaces have been smoothed out.

A complete new set of desks are being installed in the manual training room in the Argyle Junior High. The room serves all Protestant schools in Westmount and was one of the first of its kind to be established on the Island of Montreal.

The original desks were donated by the MacDonald Tobacco Co., and have been in use for a good number of years.

General repairs made to all schools included repainting, retarring of roofs to prevent leakage and the checking of plumbing and lighting fixtures.

Brother Merry Alphonse, principal, announced that a completely new heating system is being installed at St. Leo's Academy for

Nine-Year-Old Girl Sets Unique Swimming Record

Nine-year-old Elinor Brown, of 116 Arlington avenue, set a record at the local Y.M.C.A. on Tuesday morning by successfully swimming almost the entire length of the tank without water-wings following only three periods of instruction.

It usually requires at least seven or eight lessons before a child can swim even a few yards unaided by her instructor, D. Fairbairn.

Mr. Fairbairn stated that it was the first time in the history of the local Y.M.C.A., that any youngster had been successful in learning to swim in so short a time.

Officially Resigns as Head of Westmount's Police and Fire Departments

Chief W. Wren of the Westmount Police and Fire Department officially retired from the force yesterday, following 40 years of continuous service to the municipality.

Chief Wren left the force last week to attend the International Conference of Police Chiefs at Toronto and his duties were automatically handed over to his successor, Walter Gough, at that time.

Members of the police and fire forces paid farewell to the Chief at an informal gathering in the court room of the Police Station on Friday evening. A mahogany writing table was presented to Mr. Wren as a token of esteem and appreciation, by the officers constables and firemen of the departments. The presentation was made by P. E. Jarman, City Manager.

Ex-Chief Wren joined the force when the city was but a small municipality, and reached the rank of Chief through a series of promotions. On his retirement he was leader of what is considered one of the most efficient police and fire departments on the continent.

Mr. Jarman congratulated the ex-Chief on his long association with the municipality and on behalf of the officials and staff of the city wished him luck and happiness upon his retirement.

Mr. Wren thanked Mr. Jarman and praised the members of the joint departments for their loyalty and co-operation on the force through the forty years he served with them.

Chief Wren was born in Ware, Hertfordshire, England, on September 11, 1872. He was educated at Catford Collegiate and Nelson College, Blackheath, England, and served in a patent attorney's office in London from 1890 to 1894. He came to Canada in the latter year and worked in a law office in the Eastern Townships until 1895 when he entered the Car Department of the Grand Trunk Railway.

He joined the Westmount police service on March 20, 1898, was promoted sergeant in 1907, senior sergeant and clerk of court in 1908 and police inspector on July 18, 1912. In 1922 he was made chief of police, and in 1925 was given control of the fire department also. On August 1, 1931, he is a past president and life member of the Chief Constables' Association, and also of the Province of Quebec Police and Fire Chiefs' Association, a member of the International Association of Chiefs of Police and of the Province of Quebec Safety League, and a charter member of Westmount Rotary Club.

SMASH! GOES ANOTHER BOOKIE JOINT

Chicago bookies no longer feel the security of bygone days as raiders under the direction of State's Attorney Thomas Courtney continue to smash handbook joints in the Windy City. This pile of equipment and furnishings, reduced to so much debris, is a result of Courtney going over the heads of Chicago's mayor and police to conduct his own raids.

Floral Clock Westmount's Most Photographed Spot

The most photographed spot in Westmount is unquestionably the electric floral clock in Westmount Park opposite Victoria Hall. Apart from the beautiful design of the large timepiece, its main attraction probably lies in its uniqueness.

Every day dozens of automobiles, bearing license plates of every province in Canada and every state in America pull up to a stop in front of the clock while the occupants of the vehicles usually get out of their cars in order to get a closer view.

The tremendous popularity of amateur photography this year accounts for the unusual number of camera shots taken of the timepiece. Even the 'round-the-mount' open air street cars come to a full stop in front of the clock, and it is seldom that at least one of the passengers does not stand up to take a picture.

Sightseeing buses, also, include the clock as an important point of interest on their tour and never fail to stop for two or three minutes.

Little Activity At Y This Week

Commencement of regular activity will get under way next week.

Mayor Given Welcome By City Council

Attended First Meeting Since His Return From Vancouver on Monday

Having returned from his trip across Canada, Mayor John Jenkins was formally welcomed back to the city at a regular meeting of the City Council on Monday evening.

Attended, besides his Worship, by four aldermen, a large number of routine matters were disposed of at the session.

Councilmen favored the adoption of a by-law to compel the pasteurization of all milk sold within the boundaries of the city and the proposal will be given further consideration at the next meeting of the municipal governing body.

A report was also read showing the activity carried on under the Westmount Recreational program, of which Norman Smyth is director. The sing-songs, track and field meet, and general sports have proven unusually popular this year, it was shown.

Duranceau and Duranceau Company was awarded a contract for the asphaltting of Argyle avenue, Belvedere avenue and Edgar road.

An additional nurse for the supervision of school children will be added to the staff of the municipality, it was decided.

Business Important Aspect Of Sport T. Gorman States

Noted Sports Figure Addressed Meeting of Westmount Rotary Club—Believes Montreal One of Continent's Greatest Hockey Centres—States Canadiens Will Have Fine Team

If sport is to succeed—any sport—it must realize the importance of the business side of the game. Thomas R. Gorman, manager of the Forum and former manager of the Montreal Maroon Hockey Team, declared when addressing the regular weekly luncheon meeting of the Westmount Rotary Club on Wednesday.

The employment of proper business methods was largely responsible for the popularity of hockey in the world of sport, he said. In its early days a team could be operated for $20,000 and a player was lucky if he received $600 a year.

Since that time hockey has progressed to the point where a league shows a yearly intake of $1,500,000. Playoffs, alone, sometimes bring in as much as $255,000, the speaker said.

In referring to the application for the suspension of the Maroon contract, Mr. Gorman felt that the disbanding of the team would be a good thing for Montreal. It was expecting too much to ask Montrealers to support two teams, he said.

"Furthermore we still have a fine team in Canadiens," Mr. Gorman continued. "I hope you will give them great support this year and feel confident that they will have a successful season."

Montreal is a great sporting city, declared the speaker. He believed that it is one of the greatest hockey centres on the North American continent.

As an example of the business alertness among successful sporting ventures, Mr. Gorman pointed out that the American League had spent over a quarter of a million dollars on publicity in 1937.

The difficulties encountered in the entertainment world were well exemplified this year when the Barnum and Bailey and Ringling Bros., circus was forced to retire to winter quarters at the height of its season.

It is just as difficult to gauge the public pulse in sport, and it was for this reason that the most astute business methods must be followed.

Mr. Gorman was introduced by C. E. Medlar and thanked by R. Baker. The president, J. Colton, occupied the chair.

SUMMER IS OVER—BUSINESS PICKS UP

Business is on the up-grade for Westmount merchants again. During the past two weeks families in large numbers have been returning to town from the country, and the influx has been reflected in greatly increased local retail sales.

In a suburban City like Westmount, largely residential and prosperous, inhabited by people who own their country homes, or who can afford to send their families away for a month or two during the hottest weather, business naturally lags somewhat for a few weeks, but with the return around Labor Day of these thousands of residents, with many things to be bought, business jumps ahead.

Local merchants will be on their toes to get their share. Henry Ford's formula for business success is this: "First, get something the public needs or wants, and then LET THEM KNOW YOU HAVE IT."

Rev. Hindley To Preach at Calvary

In Calvary Church, Greene Ave. and Dorchester St., on Sunday morning, the guest preacher will be the Rev. J. G. Hindley, B.A., B.D., of Wilmette, Illinois, U.S.A. "Life's Royal Road" is to be the theme of the sermon at this service.

Mr. Hindley was formerly a student at the Congregational College in Montreal and also McGill, and at that time shared very actively in the life and work of Calvary Church, which was then situated on Guy St., Montreal.

The friends of days gone by, as well as present members of the church and congregation, in addition to visitors, are all cordially invited to attend this service and share in the renewal of happy fellowship in this hour of worship.

The evening service has been withdrawn for this one Sunday. On Sunday, September 11th, the minister of Calvary, the Rev. Dr. T. W. Jones, will occupy the pulpit at both morning and evening services.

What a chance there is today to mould the future of the world, or at least, to become a part of the big world that's being moulded by others, and not being left behind because we have no imagination and no ideals.

The new Provincial Treasurer has a very likeable personality. While a strong partisan, once elections are over, he remembers only that he is a representative of the whole country, and not merely of those who voted for him.

Christian Science Church Notes

"Man" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, the Golden Text is: "Blessed are they that dwell in thy house; they will be still praising thee . . . O Lord of Hosts, blessed is the man that trusteth in thee." (Psalms 84: 4, 12).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "He that dwelleth in the secret place of the most High shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty." (Psalms 91: 1).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "If Life or Soul and its representative, man, unite for a period and then are separated as by a law of divorce to be brought together again at some uncertain future time and in a manner unknown, and this is the general religious opinion of mankind,—we are left without a rational proof of immortality. But man cannot be separated for an instant from God, if man reflects God. Thus Science proves man's existence to be intact." (p. 306).

Indian Pension Seekers Stump Security Experts

The question of undetermined age appears as the biggest stumbling block in an attempt of elderly Ute Indians to prove themselves eligible for old age pensions. "What can you do," asked Earl M. Kouns, State Welfare Director, "when an Indian says he was born during the year of the big snow?"

William Powell And Annabella Are New Team

The gay, dignified swish of peerage and its coming a cropper in a middle-European New Deal offers a delightfully exciting theme for "The Baroness and the Butler," which opens at the Westmount United Theatre starting Sunday.

This production co-stars William Powell and Annabella in a blithe screen version of the stage hit that had half of Europe agog. Annabella, in her first American-made picture, believes butlers are born to obey... but debonair Bill obeys such un-butler-like impulses! She's so proud; he's so proper... and you'll be so surprised!

This film has caught the tone and flavor of an old regime—years of tradition and generations of escutcheon worship—suddenly confronted with a blue bloods' dilemma in which the self-effacing butler emerges from his cocoon to assume social equality with his noble employers.

Powell, at his suave best, tries to save the Count's family from the blow of learning that he has been elected to Parliament on the Socialist-Progressive ticket. By his very actions he brings down charges of impoliteness, fraud and trickery on his head. He incurs the wrath of every one but his Count—whose chief worry is that he will lose a good butler. The solving of this situation and the ensuing battle of wits with "Baroness" Annabella and a brilliant cast, gives movie fans a treat, long to be remembered. Powell never was better. Annabella reveals the most glamorously exciting personality ever to grace the screen.

Ritz Brothers New Idea Stops Poster Daubers

The Ritz Revenge is a terrible thing.

And this time the brothers are directing it at the Auxiliary Poster Artists of America.

That explains why, in "Kentucky Moonshine," their latest screen scream, at the Monkland United Theatre starting Sunday, the boys appear in whistles that have all the mileage and density of a floor mop. Each face is adorned with hirsute foliage that hangs in fulsome festoons from the visages of the three zanies.

"The last time we appeared in a picture," Al Ritz explained to your reporter, "the movie company put up a lot of posters all over the country advertising the fact that we would appear at the local theatres.

"And before the paste was even dry on these posters, the village Van Dycks had our faces all daubed up with beards and moustaches.

"So now, in this film, we'll fool 'em. We'll already be wearing the beards on all the posters."

"Maybe," suggester Harry and Jim, "they'll go to work with erasers, now."

First Of Series Of Meetings On Friday

First of a series of public meetings to be held throughout the fall and winter under the auspices of the Montreal branch of the Canadian Civil Liberties Union will be held on Friday, at Bonsecours Market Hall (Longshoremen's Hall) on Bonsecours street. The meeting will begin at 8.30 p.m. Speakers at the meeting will include R. L. Calder, K.C., vice-chairman of the Montreal branch of the C.C.L.U.; Rev. Frank W. Beare, professor of church history at the Presbyterian College; Paul Fournier, member of the executive of the Montreal Trades and Labor Council; and others.

COUNTY IN ENGLAND, SMALLEST IN SIZE, TOPS IN EMPLOYMENT

Rutland, smallest of England's counties, does not take part in the county cricket championships, but all the same it can claim to be champion county on one important score.

Latest Ministry of Labor statistics show that Rutland leads in having more of its men and women in jobs than any other county.

Rutland's jobless total is only 3.1 per cent of its population. England's average, according to the new figures, is 12.1 per cent.

Championship of the towns is gained by Hythe, Hampshire, a village with only one in 100 of its folk out of work. Not far behind is Cottenham, Cambridgeshire, with a jobless percentage of 1.5 which means that there are only 30 unemployed in Cottenham, and the villagers say, they would have been at work if it had not been for the early summer drought which meant that less fruit-pickers have been needed recently.

Appropriate Hubby: "Where did you buy your link sausage?" Wife: "At one of the chain stores." — Philadelphia Bulletin.

"THE BARONESS AND THE BUTLER"

William Powell and Annabella in a scene from the film "The Baroness and the Butler" opening a three day engagement at the Westmount United Theatre starting Sunday.

"ROBIN HOOD"

Errol Flynn and Olivia de Havilland in a scene from the film "Robin Hood," now playing at the Westmount United Theatre opening at the Seville United Theatre starting Sunday.

OF... MASKS AND MIKES... AND THINGS By JACK HIRSHBERG

We Pinch-Hit For a Columnist Jack Hirschberg, keyhole peeker around radio studios and pre-view snoop at movie houses, at present in Mexico (or somewhere) writes to caustically inform us that on account of he is going to take a much-needed holiday this week, there will be no column forthcoming. As such a crisis would leave a very noticeable gap in our columns, "ye editor" will attempt to fill the hole, and at the same time answer a much belated letter to the "masks and mikes," to say nothing of saving a stamp. Jack, en route home from California, should be within hailing distance for next week's column.

Dear Jack: Your note received, advising that owing to unforeseen circumstances, and the Southern sun, you will be unable to write your column. This grieves us. Had we known that you were going to lay under a palm tree for a whole week, we would have saved your picture-postcards, and I am sure could have gotten enough live matter from the texts thereof to fill most of the column.

However, whilst you are laying down on the job, I am sure that you would like to hear just a word or two on what's going on in the home town — not that there is anything much, but then there always is a word or two of gossip worth passing on.

In the first place the kids will be going back to school next Tuesday. That is always big news in these parts, for it means that Mr. and Mrs. together with junior, must return from Old Orchard, the Laurencians, Eastern Townships, Plattsburgh (and even Mexico), in order to get the offspring into school, and themselves get down to serious business again. That also means the living up of many things in which you are vitally interested. For instance, some of the bright spots downtown, out of reach of the tourists, have begun dusting off the cash register and making preparations for the proprietors to lift their chins off their chests. Community theatres are drawing up copy for the launching of their new season, and the radio publicity blubs are beginning to come in with hints and "rumors" of the new fall shows.

And speaking of shows. From all present appearances, the new cinema (we recently had a letter from London) now under construction at the corner of St. Catherine and Mackay streets is going to be a honey. As was announced before you left, the new entertainment palace has been named the "York," and will be a welcome addition to United Amusements string. We have been keeping a close watch on the York, and have, perhaps, been doing a little more worrying about it than the contractors. It is hardly possible, though, that the new houses will open on the first of October as originally scheduled, although the builders are stretching every muscle to get there. It seems that a chain grocery store (with a lease) on the corner was the hold up. They have most of the new building, except the corner, almost completed — even to the floors laid in the auditorium. In the meantime the grocery store is doing a flourishing business. While on the subject of theatres, I suppose you have heard that Loew's has been purchased by Consolidated Theatres Limited, whom you will recall is the same outfit at present operating the Palace, Capitol, Princess and others. After being closed all season with a "closed for alterations" sign outside, we finally saw a ladder being carried in last week. Rumor is that stage shows will go into the discard, and the theatre will become the ace house for the big releases. No official announcement, though.

You being in California most of the summer, I suppose you missed the English production of "The Victor," currently at the Orpheum here, and marked with a masterful performance by that old vaudevilian Will Fyfe. I am curious to know what will happen to this show when it hits the screens in the States, from Oshogosh to Pawtucket (if it does). Without doubt it is one of the finest things we have enjoyed this year. Rural communities, particularly, should eat it up, if only for the shepherd dog sequences.

This is another rumor which is worthwhile passing along. We heard along the grapevine over the weekend that Norma Shearer, whom I believe you had the pleasure of meeting while on the coast, was scheduled to return to her home town for the Montreal premiere of "Marie Antoinette," due to open here in two or three weeks. This morning's papers (it is Monday, and we send our copy out early) however, have Norma Shearer in New York hospital, and the plans (or rumor) may blow up before opening date.

Associated Screen News have been turning out some valiant efforts this year. The latest, one of the Canadian Cameo series, "Ballet of the Mermaids" is playing on the same program with "Alexander" at the Palace. Too bad you were not here to write about it, for I had to last week, and mention that many from this district had responsible part in its production. We understand that several others, expected to be just as good, will be emanating from the Notre Dame de Grace studios this fall.

I think we have said too much already. Hurry over, Jack, and take over this column—we want to get away and take in a show or two in New York this weekend. Yours, Editor.

MUSICAL Sharps, Flats and NATURALS by FRANCES GOLTMAN

APPLAUSE

A great controversy has arisen lately over a very unusual topic—applause. When we attend a concert we always expect to hear applause and probably would be disappointed if it were omitted but what can we do if we are forbidden to show our appreciation and pleasure between the movements of a symphony? Just sit and squirm in our seats and hold back our natural enthusiasm!

Recently at one of the Boston Symphony renditions at the Berkshire Festival applause was not allowed and caused such consternation with the audience that they could not control their emotions and (hurrah!) burst forth with extra force. Dr. Serge Koussevitzky the renowned conductor was completely annoyed but, as the Symphony being performed was Tchaikowsky's "Pathetique," a very popular and well known number the audience just didn't refrain from its enjoyment much to the displeasure of the leader. After all, what is wrong with applauding between movements for most often each is a separate part, entirely different in composition, character and mood. Many important conductors, such as Toscanini and Stokowski will not tolerate applause between movements (too bad) but we may say it is really a pose for even on radio programs is not enthusiastic applause stimulating to our interest? It not only shows that we appreciate the musician's efforts but that we are enjoying ourself for how else could we show that our emotions have been awakened?

When the movement is connected to the next part then naturally we feel that that mood must not be disturbed but where it is a finished ending why not applause? If the composer did not hear any he might feel that his work was not good or that the audience was cold and unfriendly. It is sad that the greatest conductors should attempt this new gesture but perhaps if they realize the injustice of this attitude to the composer and the public they might relent and excuse this natural form of emotional exuberance — applause!

STARDUST On and Off the Set By Morty Green

Tables Turned

The Indian used to hunt the white man, now the white man is hunting the Indian. This time the Red-skins will benefit. One of the greatest talent hunts in film history is underway as the Indian reservations of the Southwest are being scoured for types to appear in the leading Indian roles in "Northwest Passage," starring Robert Taylor, Spencer Tracy and Wallace Beery. The types desired were unable to be secured among the reservations of British Columbia, Idaho and Wyoming. (Note: Mothers, here's your chance for some people who act like Indians around the house to attain screen fame. Why not drop a line to the talent committee.

McCarthy Rises Again

It is now Charlie McCarthy, M.I.S.C. "And them letters don't mean 'miscellaneous,'" Charlie declares. McCarthy will be permitted to sign his fan mail with the additional letters after the Northwestern University conferred upon him the honorary degree of "Master of Innuendo and Snappy Comeback." The invitation was extended to Dean Ralph Denis of the University.

Corrigan Signed Up

R.K.O.-Radio pictures have signed a deal with Douglas Corrigan for filming of the latter's life story, including the "wrong way" flight. Corrigan will assist the studio in the story arrangement and will aid in production.

Comedy Team Split

Last week, as you know, Stan Laurel was ousted from the combination of Laurel and Hardy. Producer Hal Roach gave his own reasons. The latest report is that Hardy will be teamed with Harry Langdon of silent picture fame.

Story Of Robin Hood Has Been Told For Centuries

Robin Hood! How strange the fascination, how thrilling the sound of these two words — the legendary name of a hunted outlaw — beloved by thousands of Englishmen.

Well may it thrill, for "The Adventures of Robin Hood," a Warner Bros. film in Technicolor, starring Errol Flynn is now playing at the Westmount United Theatre will open at the Seville United Theatre starting Sunday.

Rich in lore is the story of how a Saxon noble, Sir Robin of Loxley, the ablest archer in all England, gathered a band of stalwarts around him to harass the cruel Norman knights. How the outlawed Robin Hood plundered the rich and fed the poor has been sung and re-sung in ballads and has come down through the centuries — an incomparably fascinating story.

With this wealth of material did two writers sit down to fashion the script. "Constant readers" all over the world are probably going to take their pens in hand to launch loud and lusty complaints to newspaper editors when they get a glimpse of the line, "Original story by Norman Reilly Raine and Seton I. Miller," which will flash on the screen among the credits for "The Adventures of Robin Hood."

Messrs. Raine and Miller, when assigned to do the screen play on Robin Hood, discovered a great wealth of material through which they waded with mounting enthusiasm. After digesting several dozen different versions of the popular legend, still popular after eight centuries, they went back

UPWARD TREND

The patrician beauty of this new hairdress for late summer and early fall ought to inspire any fashion-minded woman to try an up-sweep coiffure for a few weeks anyway. Notice that the hair is brushed upward all the way around and finished on top with lovely soft curls.

Page Boy And Long Bobs Given Way To "Up" Coiffures

The page boy and long, straggly bobs are gone. For a time they waged a merry struggle for supremacy with the new shorter, hair-do's. But as was inevitable, they lost out and went the way—not the guillotine—but of the hairdresser's scissors. Now, we know all about this "war" between the defenders of the shoulder-length bob and the advocates of a shorter hairline, yet we say "inevitable," because the page boy was really a trick fad from the start—one of those things which catch on without rhyme or reason.

Think of your friends, and then ask yourself how many of them could ever wear the extreme page boy style becomingly. I'm sure the answer will be very few. How do we account, therefore, for the furore it created? Just one word gives us the clue—Hollywood. Because of camera angles and lighting problems, some of the famous stars, like Joan Crawford, found it advisable to wear their hair in a shoulder-length effect in order to soften what the camera revealed as a hard triangular junction of jaw and neck. Now this is a problem which the average woman never encounters in her everyday existence; hence the unsuitability of the page boy for real (not reel) life. And hence, the inevitability of victory for shorter, more practical and more becoming hair arrangements.

Now that the shorter hair-do's have emerged triumphant, we are confronted with another battle. (There is never peace on the fashion front.) Who deserves the credit for introducing and sponsoring shorter hair? Paris says "Mais certainement—it is we!" But American hairdressers say "Not on your life! This time you don't get away with it. We can prove that we were the first to advocate shorter hair styles!"

And thereby hangs a story. The American Hair Design In-

is consequently truer than ever to say, "If the coiffure isn't right the ensemble isn't right."

A last word. Don't be alarmed at the prospect of cutting your hair. If you have visions of an old-time shingle, forget it. No reliable hairdresser will scalp you these days. Instead, he will cut your hair reasonably short enough so that you can have a simple, shaped neckline if it becomes you, or just long enough so that you can bunch a soft, little cluster of curls at your nape.

Summer, too, demands the cool, crisp loveliness of the shorter hair-do's. They're infinitely lovelier with your "action clothes," far smarter than the doll-like effect of long hair.

Shorter hair, too, is capable of infinitely more versatile arrangements. And now that the American woman insists upon a coiffure that emphasizes her own particular personality, rather than following a mysterious "they," this is especially important.

Flying her own plane, a Stinson Reliant, Mrs. Wilbur L. From this point Mrs. Cumming chartered the Gray Rocks Air Service Waco 87 and flew into Lake Commandant, approximately 65 air miles north of Gray Rocks Inn. What's Happened to the Old Coal Oil Can with the POTATO STOPPER?

REMEMBER the old coal oil can that stood in the kitchen? Someone lost the screw stopper that went on the spout, and one of mother's potatoes kept the kerosene from spilling out. If you ever went to the grocery for coal oil for the evening lamp, you remember how you watched the grocerman fill your can from the big kerosene container that stood in a little wooden shed just outside his store.

In those coal oil days we would have scoffed at the idea that one day we would light our homes from cellar to attic with no more work than flipping a switch! We would have said it couldn't be done, or if it could be done, it would be only a fad for the idle rich. But it has been done. And with today's small cost of electric lights, only the rich can afford to light their homes with kerosene. For the magical coal oil lamp which once burned on the parlor table and cast a feeble glow on the family album, is now much more expensive than present day lighting with good electric light bulbs, in fact, five times as costly.

The day that Edison's genius produced the incandescent lamp, progressive manufacturers caught the inspiration of his idea. They began making lamps in quantities; they set up research laboratories; they began to advertise. Every year more and more people learned about these new lamps, wanted them, and the sales increased. Every year of larger sales provided the means for more research and still more and more production.

With what result? In the past 15 years there have been 18 major price reductions in the cost of your electric bulb. Lamps have cost less to buy and they have converted current into light more efficiently. Today, for example, the user of a 60-watt lamp receives 26 times as much light for his lamp dollar as he did in 1908.

Like so many other modern home conveniences, advertising popularized the electric lamp. This meant more demand, and more demand meant greater and more efficient production; which in turn means less cost to manufacture, and less cost to the consumer. If there had been no advertising, there would have been less light per penny by far than Canada enjoys today. Advertising works that way — for the benefit and advancement of Canada.

Cultural Education Is Valuable But Needs Supplementing

Culture is an essential and desirable goal of all education. So are good citizenship, the worthy use of leisure time, capacity to appreciate the good, the true, and the beautiful. There are other segments, however, in the circle of experience. One of these is vocational competence. We must be able to produce as well as to consume. We must be prepared to render some useful service the world wants done and will pay for. For this reason every individual must take stock of his occupational abilities, aptitudes and interests. In doing so he must remember that interest and ability are not always related. He will therefore need to analyse himself and his job problems. He will also need to explore the markets for his specialized training and experience.

Before me is a letter from a college senior seeking placement.

The writing is so fine and the letter so long that few employers would read it. This young lady has had only general education. I am unable to find what she can do. She has had no specific vocational training for any trade, profession or other work. My advice to her will be that she add such training to the valuable cultural foundation she has built. Meanwhile, she, like thousands of other young college seniors, must find a temporary means of self-support. Fortunately, there is often a solution of the job problems of these young people.

One young graduate in journalism, unable to get a newspaper job, took temporary employment, studied shorthand and typing, secured work as a stenographer and was later transferred to a position as editor of the house-organ of her company. Another became the teacher of journalism in a junior high school. Still another secured work in a radio broadcasting station.

All education has its values, direct or indirect. One need not question the value of a general education in order to clear the way for specialized vocational preparation. Both are worth while. That education which has direct vocational values will help you to get employment. That which has indirect values may pay big dividends in satisfactions later in life when you are well established in some trade, business, or profession.

—Harry E. Stone, (Guidance and Placement Service, West Virginia University.)

THEY LONG FOR SHORTS

Mayor Luis de Hoyos of Monticello, N.Y., may find he has revived the ancient puzzle "How old is Ann?", with his recent decree that only old women would be permitted to wear shorts in public. But he knows now that Youth will not be short-changed, as witness the decreed-picketing pictured above. At left, Ida Glick of Monticello backs up her resentment with a poster of protest, while at right Nelsie B. Pecker, vacationist from New York, goes to the front with the boast that young women "look zipperier." Sam Rosenblatt, local cop, ponders the situation.

Hawaii's Population Hits All-Time High

Hawaii has begun its forty-first year under the American flag with an all-time record population of 411,485 which represents an increase of 14,770 or 3.73 per cent during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1938.

Though some early Pacific voyagers estimated the population of the islands at a half million or more persons prior to Cook's discovery of Hawaii in 1778, never in modern times has the Territory been as thickly populated as it is today.

A breakdown of the Territory's most recent population figures reveals a slight decrease during the last fiscal year in the percentage of Japanese. Estimates for 1938 place the number of Japanese at 153,539 or 37.31 per cent of the entire population. This is a decrease of .8 per cent from 1937 figures.

Among the residents of Japanese origin the number of citizens increased 3,295 during the past year while the number of aliens decreased 879.

Other racial groups in Hawaii, according to the 1938 estimates, include: 62,135 Hawaiians and part-Hawaiians, 106,999 Caucasians, 52,810 Filipinos, 28,380 Chinese, 6,707 Koreans, and 915 others.

Frank Would Avoid Controlled Schools

Dr. Glenn Frank, former University of Wisconsin President, declared in Iowa City "schools of the United States will cease to be educational institutions if either 'rightist' or 'leftist' Americans, who are demanding they be made agencies of propaganda, gain control."

Dr. Frank, now National Republican Party Program Committee Chairman, discussed the role of the schools in democracy in the final University of Iowa lecture series. He warned that unless a majority of the people of the country remains "politically intelligent," a minority that knows what it wants "will rule the roost."

Circus Acts Stage Their Own Tour

The labor troubles that sent the Ringling and Barnum & Bailey shows back to their headquarters at Sarasota, have made it possible for youngsters in this State to see some of the star acts of that famous show, which usually disbands after it reaches Jacksonville on its return from the summer tours.

Daytona Beach and surrounding localities are having the treat of seeing 15 acts which are the cream of the show, it is showing at the recreation park on City Island.

Justin Loyal, famous bareback rider, has collected some of the leading acts of the show, and started on a tour of the Florida cities.

EDUCATION — the right kind of education — represents the most valuable capital on which young people can draw in their adult years. Recognizing this fact, we limit our enrollment and use the INDIVIDUAL system of instruction, which enables our teachers, through a friendly and intimate contact with pupils, to discover their individual requirements and characteristics, and thus fit each pupil into the position best suited to his or her capacity. The exceptional success of our graduates during the past 20 years is thus explained. This year's class won the Gregg Gold Seal Proficiency Certificate, in a competition which brought together 30,000 shorthand writers from every quarter of the globe. Ask to see it. Early enrollment recommended. Only a limited number accepted.

CRICKET CHIRPS

Harry M. Williams

Last Saturday afternoon we witnessed one of the weirdest exhibitions called cricket. It ran the whole gamut of error (drooped catches) and trial (senseless appeals to the umpire) with the old time hidden ball mystery thrown in for an illusion of cricket in the gay nineties.

Of the ten wickets obtained by Lachine eight were by catches, one bowled, and one off the pads.

On the other hand Wanderers lost the game by eight dropped catches. Only two of Lachine's catches were outstanding. The other six were pop flies. Sufficient to say they got them and the rest of their fielding was good. Wanderers was correspondingly bad.

The disappointing feature about the whole thing was that Bert Hastings and Joe Crowe averted a most ignominious defeat by a heroic last wicket stand taking the score from 84 to 82.

We hope that "B" have got a bad game out of their systems and will make a better showing in their endeavors this week end.

Incidentally the game started at 3.20. Wanderers batted three hours for 82 (Shades of the Immortal Wheeler) Lachine made the same score in 45 minutes.

"A" made a better showing down at Maisonneuve and wound up the evening along with "C" who took a busman's holiday watching the denouement of "B".

Some of Lachine's vociferousness on and off the field were reminiscent of unlikely policies traditional to the team. It does not endear them to the cricket world or add to the dignity or gaiety of cricket.

In all fairness there are one or two players who gave Bert Hastings his head of due praise.

Next Saturday "A" meet West Indians at Royal Avenue for the first time this season. A colorful game is always the result of their visit.

"B" meet Mount Royal on L.C.C. grounds Saturday afternoon. The usual feast or famine in the West End. This game should be most interesting as "B" meet them again Monday in the final for a cup game.

It looks as though "C" will take another busman's holiday. Labor Day also sees "A" in the Davidson Cup final against Westmount.

At the time of writing the venue for this game has not been fixed. In former years it has been played on the old M.A.A.A. grounds. Wanderers to the best of our knowledge have never insisted on a neutral ground.

There has been talk of using McGill Grounds. These grounds are not suitable for cricket of any kind let alone a crucial cup game.

The light never has been exceptionally good and after a certain hour is decidedly bad. Added to this is the restricted feeling of the ground. Revenue could and should be derived from such a game. Under these conditions M.A.A.A. is the logical ground. If this factor did not enter into it Westmount might, for once, do the courteous thing and try Royal Avenue.

The whole matter rests with the powers who govern and sway and judgment will be given accordingly.

We still maintain in good old army fashion that McGill grounds, for all their glorious traditions, are no par.

We unbiasedly hope that both Wanderer teams are returned victors, not for the appeasement of a cup hunting appetite, but for the good of the game and its moral values.

Two million birds could be produced in six years from one pair of house wrens, if all eggs hatched and all offspring bred and produced normally.

Juniors tied in the series but also lost to Stewart in the handicaps. The Ladies senior teams led their section, the "B" Purple team ending up in third place and the "B" White contenders in fourth position.

GROVES DEFEAT BLUES 5-4 IN CLOSELY FOUGHT GAME PLAYED WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Take First Match in District Softball Finals At Westmount Park — Wilf Walden Flied Out in Seventh Inning — Don Maher Was Outstanding Fielder

Groves drew first blood in the District Softball finals at Westmount Park Wednesday night, by noosing out the Blues 5-4 in a closely fought struggle. The final score was in doubt until Wilf Walden flied out in the seventh inning with the tying run on the box to end the game.

Three unearned runs on the part of Groves in the first inning proved the margin of victory. Both hurlers pitched fine ball throughout the bitter struggle. Anderson, with two hits for Groves, led the maroon chested attack while Dazell was the foremost with the willow for Blues.

Don Maher supplied the fielding gems of the game with two brilliant catches in left field.

The second game of the series is not scheduled to take place until a week from tomorrow.

Groves 301 010 0-5 8 2
Blues 000 121 0-4 5 3
Batteries: Chizels and Dack; Walden and Dalzell.

Gym At "Y" Is Re-Opened

First Activity Held on Tuesday Following Laying of New Floor

The gym at the local Y.M.C.A. branch is once again the scene of athletic activity, a handball game on Tuesday marking the first time the room has been used in over a month.

The old flooring of the gym which had been in constant use for 27 years, was taken up early this month and a completely new surface was laid.

During the alterations all gymnastic activity was suspended. Apart from the laying of the new floor part of the wall, which was a natural brick color, was given a coat of white paint.

In memory of their owners who died during their duty, 30 brass helmets are preserved at the headquarters of the London Fire Brigade.
