Canada revolts against shelving of disarmament

GENEVA (CP) — Canada today led a revolt against efforts to shove disarmament discussions into the background at the Geneva conference.

External Affairs Minister Green bristled when he heard today's discussions on disarmament would probably be shelved.

If the talks did not go on today, Green said, "all impetus" of the 17-nation conference would be lost.

Kennedy says hope still left

WASHINGTON (CP) — President Kennedy says the United States and Russia have encountered disagreement in negotiating a nuclear test ban treaty but that it is too early to abandon hope that some disarmament progress may yet be made at Geneva.

"It would be a mistake for us to feel that there the prospects are finished," Kennedy told a press conference Wednesday as he emphasized that the U.S. insists any treaty must include international on-site inspection of Soviet territory to make sure the Russians don't cheat on a ban.

More heartening, in Kennedy's view, was the response of Soviet Premier Khrushchev to the president's proposals for pooling of Soviet-American scientific efforts in space exploration.

Khrushchev agreed to have Russian officials discuss with the U.S. the possibility of joint efforts in launching satellites for intercontinental communications.

Green expressed deep disappointment at the delay already incurred. Supporting a previous speaker, he said this may be the last disarmament conference of all time unless some progress is made.

The Canadian intervention took place at the seventh plenary session of the 17-nation disarmament conference. Britain, Mexico and Italy all supported the call for urgency in dealing with disarmament.

ACTION SUCCEEDS

The concerted action succeeded. State Secretary Rusk of the United States conceded that there would be a meeting this afternoon. He apparently made the announcement after conferring with Russia's Andrei Gromyko, co-chairman of the conference.

Italy supported Canada's position, as did Mexican Foreign Minister Manuel Tello. Britain's Lord Home, who had urged the conference to "get on" with its work, said there should be a meeting this afternoon, whatever differences might exist between the co-chairmen.

There was general agreement. Despite the appeals, however, the deadlock deepened because the United States, Britain and Russia failed completely in a sub-committee meeting to find

Traffic death toll continues to rise

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's traffic toll continued to rise last year, claiming 3,390 lives, but safety officials see hope for the future in two different trends.

The Canadian Highway Safety Council said in a report Wednesday that the larger cities are making progress in preventing fatalities.

The council also noted that the rate of traffic deaths per miles travelled reached a low last year. The rate was 7.5 deaths for every 100,000,000 miles travelled, compared with 8.9 in 1960.

While the number of traffic deaths has doubled in the last 15 years, the number of vehicles has mushroomed to nearly 6,000,000 and the distances travelled have grown steadily.

The council found less comfort in a third modern-day trend. It reported an "alarming increase" in the number of traffic injuries to 97,703 last year from 38,500 in 1948, the first year when national statistics were compiled.

NINE KILLED DAILY

Every day last year, an average of nine persons were killed and 267 injured on Canadian highways and streets.

The death toll was higher by 107 than a year earlier, and the injuries increased by 8.1 per cent or 7,293 cases.

There were 265,620 traffic accidents in which damage reported by police exceeded $100. This is 7.2 per cent more than the 247,435 accidents reported in 1960.

Three provinces — Alberta, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick — and two cities — Montreal and Toronto — bucked the national trend last year and reported fewer traffic deaths.

The report showed that the country's 40 largest cities, accounting for 39 per cent of the total population, reported only 16 per cent of the fatalities.

Kingston became the first city with 50,000 population or more to report no fatalities. Moncton with a population of about 44,000 also had a fatality-free year after reporting only one death in 1960.

FATALITY RATES LOW

Other large cities with low fatality rates last year were St. John's, Nfld., and Saint John, N.B., with one each, and Regina and Oshawa, Ont., with two each.

Europeans protest independence

Strike paralyzes Algiers

ALGERS (AP) — A general strike by European workers demonstrating their resistance to Algerian independence shut down practically all activity in Algiers today.

Railroad service, plane traffic and city transportation halted. Water, gas and electric supplies were cut. Garages and filling stations refused to sell gasoline. Shops closed at noon. No time limit was set on the walkout.

Employees at the air terminal grounded traffic by demanding that passengers produce passes from the European Secret Army Organization, which is fighting to keep Algeria French.

Labor unions gave the strike order in protest against the arrest Wednesday night of the secretary-general of the Railway Union federation. But the movement appeared to be part of the secret army campaign to paralyze economic activity.

Business conditions were just beginning to return to normal after a one-day general strike Monday protesting the cease-fire between the French army and the Algerian Nationalists, which went into effect that day.

MEET FIRM OPPOSITION
The strike movement developed as the French army and police appeared to be putting up firm opposition to the European extremists seeking to wreck the cease-fire.

The secret army gave an ultimatum to government forces.

Mine blast kills nine

BURNLEY, England (Reuters) — An explosion ripped through a coal mine here today, killing nine men. About 14 others were injured, a spokesman said.

Several men trapped by a gas pocket were rescued by teams of other miners who battled to the blast site in a section of the Hapton Valley mine.

to clear out of Bab-el-Oued, a quarter in Algiers where trouble is frequent, by French gendarmes and secret army commandos battled openly for two hours in Oran Wednesday.

Throughout Wednesday night Europeans fired from balconies and windows on French army patrols cruising Algiers' deserted streets.

Police detained 100 persons for questioning in large scale security sweeps.

In contrast with the bloodshed between Europeans there was calm throughout Algeria between French army forces and the Algerian Nationalists.

For the most part, however, the secret army terrorists roamed unchecked. Officials reported at least 30 persons killed — 27 of them Muslims — and 58 wounded in 30 terrorist attacks across Algiers Wednesday, the second full day of the cease-fire between French forces and the Algerian nationalists.

President de Gaulle's government rushed two companies of riot troops from France to Corsica, apparently for forestall any attempt by the secret army to seize that Mediterranean island between southern France and Algeria.

Confused fighting broke out in three or four sections of Algiers shortly before midnight.

The Express also said it was standing by its criticism of Princess Margaret and her husband, former photographer Anthony Armstrong-Jones, "for needlessly spending £65,000 of public money on their new home when their present one was quite adequate and splendidly situated."

Meanwhile, a Labor member, William Hamilton entered the fray Wednesday night by introducing a motion in which the government is censured for "extravagance on the Royal Family, which makes criticism inevitable and desirable by the press and other bodies."

The Express in a front-page defence declared that Lindsay's motion was "a silly and ignorant attack (on The Daily Express and its sister newspaper The Sunday Express) which bears no parallel."

The statement said that the 76 alleged attacks on the Royal Family in The Express and cited by Lindsay "contain no reflection on the Queen of any importance whatsoever, merely news about the Queen's activities."

"The state is the kidnapper in this case," he declared. "The appellant cannot ask for his rights before a court of the state which kidnapped him."

Servatius also contended that the law under which Eichmann was tried—the Nazi and Nazi collaborators law passed by the Israeli parliament in 1950—was invalid because it was enacted after the Nazi crimes against Jews it was designed to punish.

In addition to Globke, the defence sought permission to call as witnesses two Israeli Airline officials who allegedly took part in bringing Eichmann from Argentina. The trial court had rejected a defence request to summon them.

Would introduce new evidence

Adolf Eichmann appeal is launched

JERUSALEM (AP) — Adolf Eichmann's lawyer appealed to the Israel Supreme Court today to set aside the death sentence against the former Gestapo officer on the grounds that Eichmann was brought to Israel illegally and tried under an invalid law.

Dr. Robert Servatius, Eichmann's West German defence counsel, also asked to be allowed to introduce new evidence and to summon new witnesses, including a high official of West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's government.

Servatius asked the five-judge Supreme Court to summon Dr. Hans Globke, 63, a government councillor in Hitler's interior ministry, as an expert witness on the workings of Nazi racial laws.

Eichmann, condemned to the gallows as a major figure in the Nazi slaughter of 6,000,000 European Jews, claimed during his trial he was only carrying out orders and had pointed a finger at Globke.

Eichmann charged that Globke was directly involved in working out the legal framework for deporting the Jews and confiscating their property—the job he himself was accused of carrying out as chief of the Gestapo's Jewish affairs section. He did not ask during the trial, however, for Globke to be called as a witness.

Adenauer has repeatedly defended Globke, who claimed that while serving in the Hitler regime he saved Jews' lives even at the risk of his own.

Eichmann, 56, appeared rested after his three months in solitary confinement, since the special three-judge tribunal condemned him to death last December.

The defence counsel charged that Eichmann, who was captured by secret Israeli agents in 1960 while hiding in Argentina under an assumed name, was illegally brought to Israel for trial.

Chaudiere valley relieved

Light rain no threat to weak dam

LAC MEGANTIC, Que. (CP) — Residents of the Chaudiere River Valley kept a wary eye on the skies today. Upstream from them, the army kept a warier eye on the leaky Gayhurst Dam.

Both sighed in relief Wednesday night when an expected rainstorm turned out to be light showers that contributed nothing towards raising water levels behind the dam.

The dam, completed in 1934 at a cost of $2,000,000, keeps the swollen waters of Lake Megantic from thundering down the Chaudiere valley and drowning the farming towns of Quebec's Beauce district. No one knows how long it will keep holding them back.

Resources Minister Rene Levesque warned the legislative assembly two days ago that the dam was in bad condition and might burst, sending a wall of ice and water 30 feet high down the slow, meandering Chaudiere. Army and civilian engineers are at the dam site, watching for cracks and building a run-off dyke to let out some of the pressure.

DYNAMITE ICE

Downstream, army units are dynamiting ice jams out of the river. The Chaudiere is a problem each spring as ice jams form in the slow curves of the river and back up water. The deterioration of Gayhurst Dam has only added a threat of disaster to an annual nuisance.

Army units are also standing by to help evacuation of the valley's 10,000 people if it becomes necessary. The military engineers hope to be able to give 24 hours notice of possible collapse.

The property owners said they would only accept a Shawinigan Water and Power Company offer of $500,000 for the structure if the provincial government would provide the additional subsidy to help pay a $1,600,000 debt accumulated from operation of the dam.

Canadian chemists report

Find new technique against drug trade

WASHINGTON (AP) — New chemical techniques offer promise of tightening international control of illicit trade in opium and marijuana, a team of Canadian chemists reported today.

The researchers said the techniques help pin down the geographic origin of different samples of the two types of narcotics—thus possibly enabling enforcement officers to narrow down sources of supply.

Chemists Klaus Genest and T. W. McConnell Davis of the Canadian food and drug department, told about it in reports to the 141st national meeting of the American Chemical Society. Dr. Charles G. Farmilo, director of the project, was co-author of the separate reports.

Genest said all opium contains PM—short of porphyry-like-mecordinine—and that concentration of PM varies from country to country.

Employing a method involving exposure of a sample of opium to infra-red light, and examining the spectral colors emitted, he said, it is possible to identify PM, codeine, and morphine in the sample. Then, by a simple additional color test, the concentration of PM can be determined.

Davis told of applying another type of color-analysis technique to the examination of certain resinous constituents of marijuana originating from many different parts of the world, including the Middle East, South America, Europe and Canada.

"Changes in the hours of sunshine, amount of rainfall, the kind of soil, and latitude all govern the chemical composition of the marijuana resin," he said.

"By correlating these facts from geography and chemistry, the chemist can tell with reasonable certainty the origin of his marijuana sample—which information helps the enforcement man stop the gaps in the wall of narcotic controls which surrounds the U.S.A. and Canada."

The researchers said their work is part of an effort being carried on by more than 60 chemists from 50 nations—working under United Nations auspices—to apply physical and chemical methods to trace the geographic origin of narcotics.

If the three soldiers convicted of smuggling remain in the army, the severe reprimand imposed on them means possible promotions will be held up.

Two-year term

EDMONTON (CP) — Henry Rea Howard, 51, of Edmonton, was convicted in Alberta Supreme Court Wednesday of possession of bonds stolen in a $1,100,000 bank robbery at Outremont, Que., in January, 1957. He was sentenced to two years. Howard was arrested last September after he presented 24 Canada Victory Bonds, worth $1,000 each, at a bank in suburban Jasper Place.

Looks for way out of crisis

Frondizi deep in negotiations; attempts to unite all parties

BUENOS AIRES (Reuters) — President Arturo Frondizi today looked for a way out of the country's political crisis by negotiating after taking a firm stand against disgruntled military men.

The president was deep in efforts to form a new government which would unite all democratic parties in the face of electoral victories scored Sunday by supporters of exiled dictator Juan Peron.

Frondizi announced Wednesday night he had refused to accept the resignation of his three armed services chiefs.

Gen. Rosendo Fraga, Navy Secretary Rear - Admiral Gaston Clement and Air Force Secretary Brig. Rojas Silveira—submitted their resignations under pressure from subordinate military men who wanted Frondizi to quit.

The president had already begun work on the formation of a new cabinet following the collapse of his government Tuesday under the weight of the polling success run up by a front comprising Peronists and Communists.

The general impression was that the military dissidents would not press for the resignation of their chiefs and that the situation might remain in the negotiation stage for some time.

Despite the political crisis, Argentina went ahead with plans to welcome the Duke of Edinburgh this evening on his arrival in the course of a South American tour.

Even as strong forces of police, patrolled the downtown street of Buenos Aires to forestall trouble, trucks were out installing flags along the official welcoming route into the city. The duke decided to go ahead with the planned visit, but his itinerary has been trimmed.

there is no way to keep the ace of trumps from taking a trick South was down one.

About Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—Actors are a resilient group. They start each new project with high hopes and brave words, but if the show folds, or if they are clobbered by the critics, they pick themselves up, dust themselves off—and get on to the next.
Victim of one of the season's resilient groups is Robert Cummings, whose comedy series on CBS, "The Dick Van Dyke Show," went off the air earlier this month without even finishing a full season. But is Cummings downhearted?
"No," said the veteran actor. "We knew, by about the 15th

Road-e-o to be held in April

The Sherbrooke Junior Chamber of Commerce announced Wednesday night that this year's teenage safe driving Road-e-o will be held from April 23 to the 29th.

Roland Bernard, president of the Junior Chamber said the Road-e-o is designed to give Canada's young men and women the opportunity to improve their driving habits and attitudes.

"The Road-e-o will also help to stimulate community activities towards more and better driver education programs in our schools," Mr. Bernard said.

To be eligible to compete in the Road-e-o young drivers must be between the ages of 17 and 20, have a driver's license or permit, and have a record free of traffic violations in the six months prior to registration.

Other musts to compete in the Road-e-o are the knowledge of how to apply the laws and rules of the road, and to be aware of practice of good driving.

Winner of the Road-e-o will be able to go to Victoria, B.C. and compete in the National Road-e-o, during the month of July.

Road-e-o drivers will be judged by a written test of driving knowledge and a performance test in four obstacle-type exercises for the local Road-e-o.

For the national finals the drivers will be judged by a performance test in four obstacle-type exercises, a road check for in-traffic performance, a driving attitude scale, psycho-physical examination and a personal interview.

The Provinces of Quebec and Ontario will have three finalists while, British Columbia, Alberta and Saskatchewan will have one each, and the Maritime provinces and Newfoundland will have two each.

The three high-scoring contestants in the national finals will receive $1,250, $750 and $500 scholarships.

The local Road-e-o will be opened officially at city hall on April 23 and close on Sunday April 29th with a parade of six to eight colorful floats through city streets.

Judgment on April 11 in liquor case

SWEETSBURG — Judgment will be rendered April 11 in the case of Paul Perrier, 34 year-old owner of the Montcalm Hotel at Farnham, charged with having let minors into the grill of his establishment.

According to the charges against him, the incident occurred December 30, 1961 when a 19 year-old Farnham youth and a 17 year-old Adamsville youth were arrested by provincial police.

Jacques Barselou, 34 and hotel manager, together with Roland Millette, who is the 'maitre d'hotel' both claimed that they made use of a checking system asking each young person that entered the hotel their age. If the young people claimed they were over 20 and still proved to be suspicious in these men's eyes, the young people were asked to sign a form on which they claimed to be over 20.

Both men did testify however, that they did not see either of these young men enter the hotel during the evening of December 30.

Won't print

TORONTO (CP) — Jargon, the University of Toronto's annual literary magazine, will not appear this year because of a dispute over whether its contents are obscene. The Students' Administrative Council said a delay which started with accusations by an Oshawa, Ont., printer that the magazine contained obscene material has made it impossible to publish the magazine this term.

NOISE TAX

LONDON (CP) — The Noise Abatement Society suggests that taxes should be imposed on noise. Owners of noisy machines would be taxed on the basis of a decibel rating, thus encouraging the development of quieter machinery.

Pope Memorial High School student wins public-speaking contest

BURY. — (Staff) — A 16-year-old Pope Memorial High School student will be one of the more than 600 students from Canada and the United States who will be taken on a guided tour of the United Nations in New York this summer.

Miss Margaret Maher, daughter of Nathan Maher, of Montreal, a grade 10 student, at Pope Memorial High School, was judged the winner of the 13th annual public-speaking contest sponsored by Lodges three and five of the Oddfellows and by the Rebekahs of the area.

Miss Maher who won the contest held at Pope Memorial High school Wednesday evening will represent the area as a member of the tour group.

Judges of the contest were Mrs. Gordon Peabody, of Sherbrooke High School, Miss Joan Murphy and Philip Lawrence, both of Lennoxville High School.

Runner up in the contest was Brian Heath of Cookshire High School.

Other speakers in the contest were Miss Jeanne Dougherty from the Scotstown High School, Miss Caroline Graham, from Sawyerville High School, Miss Pam Lane from Cookshire High School, and Mary Jean Ross, of the Pope Memorial High School.

The speakers were supplied information on the United Nations from the University of Michigan in October, were given an examination, and an interview and asked to give a speech on the UN.

Expenses of the trip will be paid by the Oddfellows and Rebekahs.

Miss Maher in her winning speech expressed the highest hopes of mankind for brotherhood on earth.

Referring to the UN flag, she said: "The map in the centre of the pale blue banner depicts the globe viewed from the North Pole and the olive branches, the age-old token of peace, wreath the insignia."

"To nations throughout the world the simple blue and white banner stands for human dignity wherever it flies—atop a thatched hut in the Congo, along a boundary line Jerusalem and above a cemetery in Korea."

"Soldiers have raised it above the battlefield armistice lines, scientists have hoisted it in antarctic research stations and doctors have flown it above jungle hospitals."

"The U.N. flag has been a battle flag—a universal rallying point in the crusade against poverty and disease, so highly regarded is the flag that U.N. member nations have decreed it shall not be subordinated to any other flag."

Miss Maher pointed out that the U.N. has doubled in size since it was founded in 1945. It has admitted 54 more nations since its inception, most of which are African or Asian.

"It has acquired crucial new powers that have magnified the scope and influence beyond the original blueprint," she noted.

The U.N. has managed to continue despite the pressures and conflicts of the Cold War, Miss Maher added.

"Even today, troops flying the banner of U.N. serve as buffers of peace in no man's land of international security such as the Gaza strip and the Congo."

She also outlined the work of agencies of the U.N. in such fields as education, agriculture and medical care.

"The building reaches the clouds, people of alien appearance crowd its chambers and its halls resound to diverse tongues, but this is no present day tower of Babel, that place of vanity which according to the ancient's first divided mankind against itself, rather it is a monument to the hope that humanity will last."

CONTEST WINNER — Miss Margaret Maher, 10th grade student of Pope Memorial High School, is awarded a certificate for a tour of the United Nations by Mrs. Gordon MacAulay, her coach, and Philip Lawrence one of the judges at the Oddfellows and Rebekahs public speaking contest held at the Pope Memorial High School, Bury, Wednesday night. Miss Maher was among five other students in the area who competed in the contest.

Private dumping pollutes waterways

Much has been said in recent months of industrial and municipal sewage system wastes polluting Quebec waterways, but thoughtless private individuals must also share a large portion of the blame for our serious water pollution problem.

There are examples in many places right here in the Townships of riverbanks being used as private dumps for the disposal of rubbish and unwanted furniture.

One of the most glaring examples of this is the Yamaska River where it flows through Cowansville.

During this winter, a veritable mountain of garbage has built up along its banks — everything from tin cans to paper bags to crates to food scraps.

It seems that some people believe that because a waterway is covered with ice in the wintertime, no harm can come from littering it with rubbish. This, of course, is false. When the ice melts, the accumulated refuse pollutes water just as surely as if it had been dumped in during the summer months.

Cowansville, like many other towns and cities in the Townships through which rivers flow or where there are lakes has adequate bylaws prohibiting the dumping of refuse in waterways.

Smashups with autos are often caused by people who drink any given amount.

Lady Chatterley judged fit reading

Lady Chatterley has been judged fit reading for clean-thinking Canadians.

The Supreme Court of Canada, in a five to four decision last week, said the book is not an obscene publication.

Those who have not read it (and by now, their number must be small, for even when the Lady was obscene, it was comparatively easy to obtain a copy anywhere in the country) will probably rush out to peek at the purple pages.

They will probably be sadly disappointed. The Lady was pretty lurid stuff in her time, but today alas, she is rather quaint and antique. There are thousands of paperbacks and tabloids on our newsstands today, the obscenity of which has never been judged by the courts, that are far trashier than the Lady ever thought of being.

And even though the Lady, and that other celebrated book, Tropic of Cancer are causing far more stir

Doctors looking for greener fields

Growing dislike among doctors with the British National Health Service is indicated in figures recently published by the British Medical Journal which showed that during the past nine years the number of doctors who have left the country has been equal to the total of general practitioners and specialists in five of the major cities.

And boding ill for the future of the nationalized health scheme is the fact that most of the emigrants are young men recently graduated from medical school. If the trend continues, the situation may become acute as the older doctors retire or die.

A breakdown of the figures for the five years ending in December, 1960, shows that during this period 1,071 doctors left the British Isles to take up practice in Canada, 1,060 moved to Australia and 749 to the United States. This influx from Great Britain of men who see no future in nationalized medicine has done much to relieve the shortage of doctors in Canada, but it also raises the question of what may happen to these 1,071 men if some sort of state medicine system is adopted here.

Will they seek greener fields south of the border? A lot would depend on the type of system adopted, of course, but recent figures issued in Ottawa, showing an alarming increase in the number of skilled and professional people emigrating to the United States give cause for genuine concern.

THE COWARD DIED!

Improvements sought

E. T. Agricultural Association has lengthy history of service

By W. G. MACDOUGALL
(County Agriculturist)

The Eastern Townships Agricultural Association operates the Sherbrooke Exhibition and the Winter Show. During the past six months this association has been in the headlines of our local newspapers. Immediately following the 1961 summer Exhibition, the Directors of this Organization decided the time was ripe to improve the appearance of their exhibition grounds. They were investigating the possibility of replacing the old central building commonly called the main building. Which is in great need of repair.

The plan was to build a new building facing the arena, which would house such agricultural exhibits as field crops, fruits, vegetables, flowers, handicrafts, cooking and industrial exhibits and rest rooms.

Unfortunately, fire destroyed the grandstand just a few days before the Winter Fair. This meant that the Directors were faced with two major problems.

The Directors sent delegations to Quebec and Ottawa to interview the Provincial and Federal authorities regarding the possibility of securing financial assistance in order that these two major projects might be accomplished.

After some delay, it was discovered that the assistance offered would not be sufficient to carry out these two projects. The next step was to approach the civic authorities to see if some plan could be reached whereby these projects might be accomplished.

Consequently a meeting of the shareholders was held March 14 to study the tentative plan with the City. No decision was reached, the meeting being postponed to late April, so as to give further time to get the final word from Ottawa and Quebec and the city regarding the future of the Eastern Townships Agricultural Association.

The first exhibitions held in Sherbrooke were under the auspices of the Sherbrooke County Agricultural Society. The location of the early exhibitions was in the vicinity of where the Sherbrooke Market is now located. The early records show that as early as 1886 there were classes for livestock, agricultural products and home manufacture.

The president's report for 1887 stated $419.25 was paid in prizes; $4.00 being the largest prize paid. However $4 in those days meant a lot.

In this same report, it was stated that an attempt was made that year to organize a district show, by the amalgamation of the various country Agricultural Societies.

This study continued until 1883-1884 when the Directors of the local society decided the time was ripe to enlarge the Exhibition. Consequently, they arranged for a meeting of public spirited citizens of the Eastern Townships to discuss the possibilities of organizing an Eastern Townships Agricultural Association to promote the Agricultural and Industrial interests of the area.

The meeting decided to make application to the Provincial Legislature for an act incorporating the Eastern Townships Agricultural Association having for its purpose the development of our agriculture and industries in the Eastern Townships and the establishment of an agricultural and industrial exhibition on a permanent annual basis.

In the list of those signing the application, we find the names of many well known Eastern Townships families, such as Pope, Bailey, Robinson, Hall, Heneker, Colby, Cochran, Pomeroy, Camirand, Stevens, Bourque, Lyster, Green, Mairs, Baker, Fisher, Foster, Wadleigh and Tyler.

The charter was granted in 1885 by the Quebec Legislature, Paragraph three of the Charter authorized or gave the said Corporation the power to purchase and lease real estate for the purposes of the Association, to mortgage the land and premises which it may require, if found necessary, and to sell or lease the same or any portion thereof, if found advisable to do so. Paragraph four permits the said Association to issue bonds or debentures.

Further, the charter gave the Association the right to charge entrance fees, to control the sale of refreshments or other commodities on the grounds, to conduct sales of livestock or other agricultural products.

The E.T.A.A. according to the act became a joint stock company with an authorized capital of $25,000, to be divided in 2,500 shares. This was later amended to read $75,000, to be divided in 7,500 shares. Voting rights to be the same as in all joint stock companies.

The affairs of the Association are administered by a board of 32 Directors elected annually by its shareholders. The Board of Directors elect the various officers and the committees of the Association. The Executive Committee having control of the finances of the Organization.

The E.T.A.A. can rightly be called a community enterprise, the Directors being a group of public spirited citizens, who have given freely of their time without any thought of any compensation.

In order to qualify for a Director, he or she must own at least five shares. It should be noted that the shareholders have never received any interest on the capital they invested. All surplus income was spent in improving the grounds and buildings.

The E.T.A.A. has continued to function since 1885 through the continued support of the civic, provincial and federal authorities and the goodwill of the citizens at large. The city council has given grants and other services, such as reduced rates on water and electricity. Annual grants have been received from the Provincial and Federal Governments. From time to time special grants have been received from these sources for building purposes.

REPORTING

OTTAWA — Treasury Board, the cabinet committee that watchdogs government spending, is expected to approve a purchase order soon for 190 CL-41 airplanes at a cost of about $90 millions.

The CL-41 is a subsonic jet aircraft developed by Canadair Ltd. of Montreal. It is intended to replace the piston-engined Harvard as the RCAF's primary trainer, the first plane the tyro airman flies.

Importantly involved in this transaction are the future of Canadair and the jobs of more than 9,000 workers. While Canadair would appear to be in a favorable position with a contract for 200 F-104 Starfighters for the RCAF, plus a much smaller contract for Starfighter airframes and parts for Lockheed Aircraft Corp., plus a $200 millions contract for Starfighters and spare parts for NATO, it needs another product to make better use of its production capacity.

It had such a product in the CL-44, a swing-tail turbo prop transport, but thanks to ruinous indecision and delay in the Canadian cabinet this airplane now seems to be a dead duck. Nobody is buying it, and Canadair has gone out of production. The CL-41 jet trainer will take up this slack.

When the story of this government and the Canadian aircraft industry is finally written, the CL-44 will rank close to Avro's CP-101 Arrow as an example of monumental mishandling by Ottawa.

Two years ago the US was ready to take 35 CL-44's on a straight swap for 66 North American F-101 Voodoo interceptors. This was embarrassing to Diefenbaker, for in washing out the Arrow he had forecast that by mid-1962 the main threat would be missiles, and the RCAF would not have any great need for interceptors.

Production Minister O'Hurley was eager to make the swap, but he was stayed by Diefenbaker's reluctance to approve it. The PM had said the RCAF didn't need such planes. The Americans were frustrated by Ottawa's procrastination. It was nearly a year before the cabinet was ready to proceed with the swap, but by then it was too late. The USAF, under political pressure from the Congress to "buy American," got the transport planes it needed in the US.

What was lost was much more than the sale of 35 airplanes. Had the US taken the CL-44, it would have given this airplane worldwide standing. Pan-American was interested, for one. But when the deal collapsed, the big commercial carriers lost interest. Canadair peddled the 44 energetically, but it only managed to sell a few to second rate airlines. In addition, the RCAF bought 10 of the non-swing version, called the Yukon, and the government financed the construction of five 44's that are sitting at Montreal, unsold.

Despite the fiasco, the RCAF is getting its Voodoos. A new swap was arranged: Canada would take over 16 US Pinetree radar stations in Canada, and go in on a 25-75 split with the US on $200 millions order of 104's to be built by Canadair for poorer NATO countries, and the US would supply the 66 Voodoos for RCAF home defence squadrons.

When you consider that it costs about $26 millions a year to run these 16 radar stations, and that in 10 years this cost will be $260 millions, it seems that Canada is getting no bargain on these 66 obsolescent Voodoos.

Golf for workers, but country went broke

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—When Juan Domingo Peron was president, the Argentine working man flourished. After a day's work, he came home to a full dinner table and wine cask. On weekends, he had the workers' clubs with swimming pools and golf courses.

All this is nostalgically recalled in these days of austerity, high prices and crises.

"We were better off with Peron," many Argentines say. But in the course of making things better for the working man, Juan Peron became a brutal dictator—Argentina's first in 100 years—and spent South America's richest country broke.

An election sweep by Peron followers last Sunday indicates that millions of Argentines still don't blame Peron for their troubles today. They want him back from exile in Spain.

CHAMPIONED WORKER
Peron was elected president of Argentina in 1946 in the most honest and democratic election the nation had ever had. Championing the worker with a "social justice" program and building his strength in labor unions, Peron soon made it so only he could be elected president in the next election.

He removed the constitutional prohibition on a president succeeding himself. He imposed restrictions on opposing political parties so that the only thing they could campaign for was Peronism. He closed newspapers. He silenced with prison terms those who spoke out. And all the while, he poured out Argentina's wealth to keep the masses happy.

By one account, he doled out $3,000,000 in favors and gifts for political friends by the time he was ousted in September, 1955.

The money he spent was earned by neutralist Argentina during the Second World War from exports, especially of beef. When Peron took office, Argentina's peso was one of the soundest currencies in the world.

But Juan Peron always had a great feeling for the lavish. At 66, Peron is still burly and healthy-looking. His weight runs around 200 pounds. In his days as president he slept no more than six hours a night but kept himself fresh during the day by taking cold showers between callers.

GUIDED LABOR MOVEMENT
Peron was popular, almost a living god, but his second wife, Eva Peron, perhaps was more so. An attractive blonde former actress, she guided the Peronist labor movement and established the Eva Peron Foundation to help needy Argentine children and families. The buildings she built for the foundation still stand in Buenos Aires and many Argentines proudly point them out to visitors.

Many say that Eva's death in July 1952 of leukemia was the beginning of the end of the Peron dynasty. Some say she really ran things.

Peron, a professor of tactics at the National Military Academy, joined a military revolt in 1943 that overthrew the regime of president Ramon S. Castillo. He joined the succeeding government of president Edelmiro Farrell and began his climb to power by establishing a government department of labor and taking control of labor unions.

BURNED CHURCHES
Peron's end came after he ordered his mobs to burn Roman Catholic churches. The day he ordered two prelates expelled was the day the Argentine armed forces opened a revolt against him by bombing and machine-gunning Casa Rosada, the presidential headquarters, in downtown Buenos Aires.

In three months Peron found himself aboard a Paraguayan gunboat and sailing into exile. He went to Asuncion, then to Panama, Venezuela and the Dominican Republic. He moved his exile to Spain in 1960 and has been there since.

He refrains from talking publicly about Argentine affairs in accordance with the rules for his asylum in Spain. But friends say he follows events at home closely, often by transatlantic telephone. His constant companion is his secretary, Isabel Martinez, a woman in her mid-20s. Recently he has been introducing her as "la senora" (the wife) but he declines to say whether she is his third wife. His first wife died in 1938.

One associate said: "We believe Gen. Peron and Isabel were married in Panama, shortly after they met there during the early days of his exile. But it is something we don't discuss with the general."

any basis on which they could agree to negotiate for a nuclear weapons test ban treaty.

After a two hour and 40 minutes meeting of delegations of the three atomic powers to discuss a test ban, Sir Michael Wright of Britain, told reporters: "We shall report that we have reached no agreement."

Russia's Semyon K. Tsarapkin said: "We have reached a complete stalemate... we have found it impossible to agree."

American sources said no further meeting was fixed and the subcommittee will report to the conference Friday.

In the plenary session, Manuel Tello, the presiding officer, announced this morning the co-chairmen had failed to agree on how to organize the work and suggested that there be no meeting of the 17 this afternoon. In effect they were asking more time to decide.

Then came the push for action. Green spoke with what conference observers described as "controlled indignation."

He said it is "beyond my comprehension" why the talks should be stalled. The East-West differences causing the delay were not about substance but about procedure.

If the ministers didn't meet today they probably wouldn't meet Friday afternoon, because of the weekend, and the whole matter would have to be held over until Monday.

Activities at Stanstead College

Many members of the community will have learned with deep regret that, because of family reasons, Dr. Harry Hutchison, headmaster, feels he will be unable to return to Stanstead College after the summer. Dr. Hutchison regrets deeply having to announce his resignation, but his family responsibilities to Scotland make it imperative for him to return there. Announcement of his successor will be made, it is expected, later this week.

Over one third of the students from Grades 7 through 11 are taking advantage of the New York Laboratories Inc. supplementary reading course in late afternoons.

Keen interest is being taken this week as the interhouse basketball, hockey and skiing competitions are run off. Monday, David House and Colby House, resulted in a score of 52 for David and 18 for Colby. So it goes all week long. Most scored points in the trophies.

Second term exams are now in progress and holidays commence March 28 until April 10. The French Club held a meeting on Tuesday evening after yielding its hours for the past month to the Dramatic Club for practices of the play, Hamlet.

Speaking of Hamlet, the cast received high praise from all who saw it. Mike Reichmann, as Hamlet, made a handsome blond, with the aid of gold spray. Both he and James Ball, the stars gave an excellent performance. After the play on Friday night, the cast and assistants met with Dr. and Mrs. Hutchison, and other members of the staff in the College reception room for lunch and a social hour.

Mr. Gordon McGilton, Montpelier, spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard McGilton, Stanstead College.

Works for tips

Veronica Lake now a waitress

NEW YORK (AP)—Remember Veronica Lake, the "peek-a-bow" girl of the 1940s? Today she waits on tables and serves as a part-time hostess in the cocktail lounge of a Manhattan hotel.

Once one of Hollywood's most glittering stars, she appeared in dozens of films, and her face and figure were featured in scores of magazines and newspapers.

Today, two decades and three husbands later, she lives at the Martha Washington Hotel for Women and works for tips and her meals at the Colonnade Room downstairs.

Miss Lake now goes by the name of Connie DeToth. Connie is her real first name, and DeToth is the name of her second husband, film director Andrew DeToth. She was divorced about two years ago from her third husband, music publisher Joseph A. McCarthy.

STILL ATTRACTIVE
She looks older now, of course, and her long blond hair—once combed so that it fell over her right eye in a showbusiness trademark—is swept back. But she is still an attractive woman and recognizable as the former star.

Miss Lake—or Connie—began working at the lounge about three months ago because, she said, "I like people. I like to talk to them."

Connie wasn't working Wednesday night. An old ankle injury has been bothering her recently, and she came into the cocktail lounge on crutches, sat down in a booth and propped up her left foot on the seat.

"That ankle is just a mass of shattered little bones," she said, her voice still as sultry as in the old days. "It happened a couple of years ago when I went to the Forest Hills tennis matches with a 200-pound date. He tripped, and I was the nearest piece of furniture."

CHANGES SUBJECT
A man sat down at the booth and asked her if she'd be interested in a part in a play. Connie changed the subject.

Later, she said, "everybody wants to manage me. I can't stand being managed."

She said she doesn't need the money, and talked of taking a part "sometime" or maybe investing in a business.

Some nights, when the television set in the cocktail lounge is turned on, Connie DeToth can see Veronica Lake in an old movie. Recently she watched the glamour girl on the screen for a while, then turned away and said:

"I don't believe anybody was ever that young."

Power company chairman

Raps state control of electricity

MONTREAL — The creation of a single state monopoly supplying the electricity requirements of the entire province would not be in the best interests of the province itself, or of the consumers of electric power, Chairman J. A. Fuller of The Shawinigan Water and Power Company said yesterday.

"In our opinion, the interests of the public can best be served by maintaining the investor-owned utilities as a strong yardstick of comparison," he said.

Addressing shareholders at the company's annual general meeting, Mr. Fuller repeated Shawinigan's suggestion for establishment of a permanent body of representatives of the investor-owned and government-owned sectors of the power industry to study all aspects of the complex matter.

He said: "We are prepared to place our many years of experience at the disposal of the government and we believe that in close co-operation with Hydro-Quebec, any problems with regard to the provision of an adequate and reliable power supply at reasonable rates to all areas, may be solved." The chairman's speech dealt entirely with arguments advanced by proponents of nationalization.

He denied that Canada's largest investor-owned utility made large profits which, in the event of nationalization, would revert to the province.

"The so-called profits of investor-owned utilities simply constitute a normal part of their cost of capital," Mr. Fuller said. "In 1961, Shawinigan earned 5.12 per cent on its net investment in power operations, a rate of return considered low in comparison with generally accepted rates of return in Canada and the United States."

Mr. Fuller pointed out that both Shawinigan and Hydro-Quebec, the provincially-owned electric utility, must raise funds to pay for new facilities. The interest paid by Hydro-Quebec on the sale of its bonds is inevitably part of the cost of the power; the investor-owned utilities must realize a return on their investment which is sufficient to pay the interest of Hydro-Quebec in Montreal, on money borrowed or obtained in their case, partly by sale of preferred or common shares.

"Our shareholders have invested their money voluntarily," he told the annual meeting. "If, however, the government acquires a business, every taxpayer becomes an owner, whether he wants to be or not, and without any control or voice in the conduct of its affairs. Under these circumstances, ownership, in the practical sense, becomes a myth."

The shareholders were told that the level of all Shawinigan distribution rates is lower than that of 1939 and that there was no true basis of comparison with the rates of Hydro-Quebec because the provincially-owned utility serves the densely-populated metropolitan area of Montreal where the cost of services per customer is far lower.

In spite of this, Mr. Fuller said, Shawinigan's rural rates are substantially lower than those of Ontario Hydro. And the city rates of Quebec Power Company, a Shawinigan subsidiary, are slightly below those of Hydro-Quebec in Montreal, even though Quebec Power Company also serves large rural areas.

The Shawinigan Chairman recalled that proponents of nationalization argued that the natural resources industries, including electric utilities, should be owned by "the people" and that the top administrative and technical posts should be held by French-speaking Canadians.

"The 'people' are owners of rivers which happen to be a convenient means of turning water wheels to make electricity, providing someone will invest the necessary millions to build the plants to produce the electricity and the transmission and distribution lines to carry it where it is needed," he said.

HYGIENE

For and about Women

Mary Brooks Picken on sewing

Spring highlights those seams

This spring, beautiful chiffon dresses and tailored wool and linen suits have brought new importance to seams.

Sheer fabrics require a narrow French seam, or a pressed-open pinked seam.

Lightweight wools, cottons, linens, and silk linen often are finished with a welt seam—some as wide as a 1/2-inch, even 3/4-inch in rare instances. It is used as a trimming feature and when made perfectly can be decidedly decorative. The slot, made much the same as a welt, is also seen in the better suits, dresses and coats.

There is no seam more beautiful than a plain one, where the two edges of fabric are put together so perfectly that they seem to have been woven that way.

To insure a perfect seam, lay the two edges that are to be joined, one over the other, flat on a table. With the fingers, ease the edges together. Then pin edges together every few inches; or pin, then baste. Never stretch one seam to make it even with the other. Let the fabric ease into place as it will.

Test length of stitch on a scrap of fabric, 11 to 12 to the inch is usually best. ALWAYS press each seam before it joins another.

French Seam: For firm sheers, organdie, lawn, batiste, voile, etc. Make a scant 1/2-inch seam on right side. Trim it close. Press seam. Stitch second seam from wrong side so as to conceal first seam completely.

Welt Seam: For tailored skirts, jackets, boleros, coats and sports clothing. Practical for form fabrics. Baste, stitch, and press seam open. Cut underseam edge away to within scant 1/4-inch of stitching line. Press wide seam edge back over narrow edge and baste. Stitch in place from right side. If a wider welt than 1/2-inch is desired, allow 1/4-inch extra on seam lines when cutting.

Open-Welt or Tucked Seam: Even-baste seam line with short stitches, but do not machine stitch. Press both seam edges to one side; then machine stitch the distance from the seam line that you want tucked to be. The tuck appears when you remove basting.

Welt seams should be made in firm fabrics that tailor perfectly and hold their shape.

Dear Mrs. Picken: Which side of fabric is the right side?—L.B.

Dear L.B.: Most cottons have the right side out. With linen, it does not matter which side you use, because they are exactly the same on both sides.

For many, many years the right side was folded in, but that is not the practice with all companies now. Many woollens today have the right side out, but not all of them.

If you are in doubt about it, I would ask the sales person who would know what the custom of that manufacturer was.

If there is stamping along the selvage, that usually is the wrong side.

I'VE NEVER KNOWN why wine connoisseurs speak lovingly of "little" wines... but if "little" is a praise-full adjective, then here's the best "little" red wine I know... the delightful BRIGHT'S MANOR ST. DAVIDS CLARET. The first sip will tell you that this is a red wine worthy of connoisseurs' praises... yet not, good news! at connoisseurs' prices! That's because Manor St. Davids is a red wine of the country... made from grapes grown right here in the Niagara Peninsula. Serve it with steaks, chops or red meat of any kind... delicious! Yes, one sip—and I know you'll agree that Bright's Manor St. Davids is for connoisseurs—and you!

WE MAY NOT CALL IT by the same name, but you and I know that old laundry demon... "Hangover Dirt". Or, I should say, I did know it until I was introduced to CALGON, the Water Doctor that cures "Hangover Dirt". Do discover the many advantages of Calgon... it's truly the wonder water conditioner. It conditions water so you need less soap, clothes are softer, more absorbent and really clean. Yes, Calgon cures "Hangover Dirt"... the film of soil, minerals and soap or detergent that sticks to your clothes. For brighter, cleaner, naturally softer clothes, do let me introduce you to Calgon!

IT'S EASY TO FILL THE FAMILY DEMAND for "something really good for breakfast"... just serve piping-hot RED RIVER CEREAL. ASK THE DESIGNER

by gaile dugas

Dear Gaile: I read your column regularly in the paper. I wonder if you can help me. I have four very good dresses. Two are cut with low backs and two are sleeveless. But I've reached an age where neither style looks well on me. Can you suggest something I can wear with these dresses so I won't look so bare? I had a little white silk jacket made but it doesn't look nice with any of the dresses. These are all summer dresses.—Mrs. H. S.

Dear Mrs. H. S.: For help on this problem, I went to the famed Roman designer, Eleanor Garnett. She has some very practical suggestions for pretty ways to provide needed cover-up. She says:

"I think the best solution lies in a little wrap, a shrug, to be made with a back and cap sleeves but no front. It should be shaped and fitted carefully, of course. It would be suitable either to crepe or chiffon, could be done in a solid color or matched to the color of the dress. This shrug should be cut butterfly style, to drape gracefully at the back. And, of course, those lovely stoles in airy chiffon are always a sure means of providing needed cover-up."

Dear Gaile: I have an all-weather coat and while I like it very much, I'm doubtful as to when and where to wear it. It is a red wool jersey. Could it suitably be worn to church?—Mrs. P.W.V.

Dear Mrs. P.W.V.: The solution to your particular fashion problem comes from Henry Friedricks, long an expert in the matter of designing handsome coats. He has this to say:

"There is no reason why the coat you describe could not be worn to church. Any daytime clothing which is neat and presentable is suitable. It is my feeling, however, that a pretty, dressy coat in black might be one in which you would feel more comfortable. You could accessorize it with a bright spring hat, kid gloves and bag and shoes in black. Possibly black patent leather would be a good choice for shoes and bag."

To his advice, let me add this: generally, we feel better when we dress the part. If the day is stormy, of course you would wear your all-weather coat. But if it is not, make church an occasion on which you look your very best. For there's no escaping the fact that though our purpose is going to worship, we do gather with friends and relatives when the service is ended.

MISS JUNE SPENCER, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Spencer and Mr. RONALD PETTES, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Pettes of Knowlton, Que., whose engagement is announced. The wedding is arranged to take place on April 21, 1962 at 2:30 p.m. in the Knowlton United Church, Knowlton, Que. (Miss Spencer's photo by Wm. Notman & Son)

A.Y.P.A. honors Jim Elson

Members of the Anglican Young People's Association and their friends met at St. George's Lennoxville, recently to honour one of their number Jim Elson, on the eve of his departure for a Navy Training Centre.

The guest of honour was presented with a leather wallet suitably inscribed.

In making the presentation, president Judy Woollerton spoke of the fellowship and loyalty to the A.Y.P.A. shown by Jim during his years of membership.

Following the expression of thanks by Jim, the Rector was called on to speak.

Archdeacon Matthews expressed his appreciation and that of the congregation for the faithful service of this A.Y.P.A. member and Server, and added his good wishes for the future.

The A.Y.P.A. counsellor, C. Dougherty, assured him of the continued interest and support of the group, and noted that in joining one of the Services, he would be following two other former members, John Burnside and Winston McLellan.

On behalf of the congregation of St. George's Church, the Rector's Warden, H. A. Simons, wished Jim well in his new undertaking.

Following refreshments, the evening concluded with the singing of Auld Lang Syne.

Cover Up Scratches
To conceal scratches on wood, use a mixture of one-third each of white vinegar, turpentine and boiled linseed oil (from a paint store). Shake the mixture in a bottle, rub it over the scratched wood with a lint-free cloth, then polish with a dry cloth.

Shake Off Lint
Clothing that has picked up lint can be shaken clean if placed in a dryer which is circulating only air. The heat should not be turned on.

Didn't Know Her Own Child
he was so cross, cranky, sulky. When constipation soured your child's disposition, give Children's Own Tablets. Made for youngsters over 3, they have a gentle laxative plus a stomach-soothing action that works overnight. Then see how quickly a "difficult" child turns happy and bright. Won't gripe. Taste good. Get clinically-tested, dependable Children's Own Tablets today at your drugstore.

Rustproofing? Rambler spills more than others use!

Here in Canada, drivers experience some of the worst weather and driving conditions in the world. Most rust and corrosion, which start inside body panels and girders, is caused by the salt spread on our roads. To eliminate this problem, here's what Rambler is doing about it.

GALVANIZING Side body panels below the doors are galvanized. This area is constantly exposed to salt.

DEEP-DIP The entire car body is submerged six times into huge tanks. Each time a solution cleans, scours and prepares the surface of the metal.

PRIMER DIP The car is dipped again, right up to the roof, in rustproofing primer paint. Hundreds of gallons surge inside girders and pillars, reaching all corners, crevices and curved areas. This is more rustproofing than any other Canadian car gets, and more spilled, literally, than others use. The body then receives a second primer which is sprayed on. Well over 15 pounds of rustproofing primer now coat the steel. After this, the primer paint is baked on.

TRIPLE ENAMELLING A chip-resistant, salt-resistant super enamel is sprayed and baked on. A second and third coat follow immediately, then baked to a durable gloss.

SEALING A corrosion-inhibiting wax compound is sprayed inside girders, rocker panels and fenders. A sealer compound is also sprayed on critical underbody areas to provide additional protection.

The Canadian Rambler is the most completely rust-proofed car in the world. Visit your nearest Rambler dealer soon. Take a test drive for the final reason why Rambler is Canada's best car value.

Baltimore's prized Kiddie Corps is a question mark as injuries take over, Angels blast Giants

NEW YORK (AP)—Baltimore Orioles' prized Kiddie Corps consisted today of Chuck Estrada, a possible weekend recruit, an appendicitis case and a big fat question mark.

The question mark was pencilled after the name of Jack Fisher, 23, towering young right-hander jolted by a series of sharp pains in his right shoulder while warming up to pitch Wednesday's exhibition game against Cincinnati Reds.

Fisher, who had an inflamed shoulder earlier in the spring grind, reported himself ready to take his turn on the mound, then suffered the recurrence without warning and was forced to quit. The sudden loss of Fisher, who posted a 10-13 record with a 3.90 earned run average during the 1961 campaign, left only Estrada as a full-time, able-bodied member of the Birds' big four.

Steve Barber, the club's big winner last season with 18 triumphs, is toiling for Uncle Sam, but may be available to pitch weekends. Milt Pappas, 33-9 last year, is recuperating from an emergency appendectomy and will not resume work until April.

WHIP REDS
The series of stunning setbacks has forced manager Billy Hitchcock to realign his starting quartet, using Estrada with veterans Hal Brown, Dick Hall and Billy Hoelt, Hoelt, acquired from Detroit Tigers, pitched five innings as the Orioles whipped the Reds 12-6 Wednesday.

Meanwhile, Kansas City Athletics got strong pitching from Norm Bass and Bob Grim to edge Washington Senators 2-1 and then announced that $125,000 bonus hurler Lew Krausse was being shipped to their minor league camp.

Elsewhere, top pitching performances were turned in as Chicago Cubs shut out Cleveland 2-0, New York Mets blanked Detroit 1-0 and St. Louis downed Chicago White Sox 2-0.

In other games, New York Yankees belted Philadelphia 13-10 at Clearwater for their 10th victory in 11 games. Los Angeles' Angels blasted San Francisco 18-3 at Palm Springs, the Los Angeles Dodgers beat Pittsburgh 4-1 and Boston edged Houston 8-7 in 13 innings.

The Orioles hammered 17 hits against the Red with Marv Throneberry getting four, including two homers, and Russ Snyder chipping in with a circuit shot. Bass and Grim checked the Senators on seven hits with Haywood Sullivan driving in both Kansas City runs on a homer and double.

FELT TO 4 HITS
Glen Hobbie, Dave Gerard and George Schultz fashioned a three-hitter for the Cubs as Lou Brock led the attack against the Indians with a double and triple. Elio Chacon squeezed Gus Bell home with the lone run as Mets pitchers Ray Davisall, Herb Moford and Charles Moorehead held the Tigers to four hits.

Larry Jackson and Paul Thoe checked the White Sox on five hits. Former teammates Minnie Minoso and Carl Sawatski drove in the runs for the Cards. A three-run homer by pitcher Marshall Bridges and a solo shot by Pedro Gonzalez powered the Yankees to their triumph over the Phils.

The Angels scored 12 runs in the third, all off Giants' pitcher Billy Pierce, as every regular edge Washington Senators 2-1 but catcher Bob Rodgers had a hit in the uprising. Lee Walls had three hits, drove in two runs with a homer and scored twice himself to insure the Dodgers win over the Pirates.

Olympics blank Ramblers, meet tonight

MONTREAL (CP)—Montreal Olympics blanked Amherst Ramblers 2-0 Wednesday night to take a 2-1 lead in their best-of-five Eastern Canada Allan Cup quarter-final.

Amherst took the series opener 4-3 in overtime Sunday, but Montreal beat the Maritimes champions 3-1 in the second game Monday night.

A tremendous offensive drive and, on the whole more hustle, was the feature of Wednesday night's Montreal win.

GOALIE INJURED
Jean-Guy Morrisette, tough little Amherst goalie, was injured when hit on the chin by a shot from Montreal's Phil Latreille with just 3½ minutes to go in the first period. He retired to the clinic, but returned shortly after and turned in a brilliant game.

Morrisette, a standout throughout the series, turned back 32 shots after stopping 64 in the series opener and 44 in the second game. Andre Binette of the Olympics needed only 16 saves for the shutout.

The fourth game of the series will be played here tonight, and if a fifth game is necessary, it will be Friday night.

The Ramblers had a one-man advantage twice in the first period, but both times Montreal's strong defensive play held them scoreless.

KILL OFF MAJOR
In the second, Amherst had its back to the wall when Dave Kiley was assessed a five-minute penalty.

Ramblers couldn't get organized for most of the game, but a spectacular job by netminder Jean-Guy Morrisette still made it close.

They were the opportunists in the series' opener, winning 4-3 in overtime, and gave Olympics a tough time in losing the second game 3-1.

The fourth game will be played here tonight and the fifth, if necessary, will be held Friday night.

Coach Lou Kiley was a bit downcast after Wednesday night's game.

"You can't win a game unless you score goals," he said.

Asked if the Montreal defence had tightened up since the series' opener, Kiley snapped: "Well, we've been passing the puck to them and that doesn't help either."

Morrisette was injured when hit on the chin by a shot from Montreal's Phil Latreille with just 3½ minutes to go in the first period.

But he came back after a trip to the clinic and turned back 32 Olympic shots. He stopped 64 in the first game and in the second.

"Morrisette is the only player keeping us in this series," said Ernie Adams, general manager of the Amherst club, after the game.

With some justification they claim that modern curling duels between topflight rinks are now won by the toss of the coin before the match commences. Because of the precision hitting and deadly drawing of contemporary curling machines, it will soon be possible for a team winning the flip to blank every end until the final frame and produce a 1-0 ball game.

The mania for scoreless frames has indeed spread through the rank and file. Even the high school champions at Halifax last month were employing the device with gay abandon. The eight-enders will now remain the exclusive domain of the duffers and the rock is a heinous strategy that will never know the thrill of the perfect score.

Before getting too far astray the case in point for today's preamble has nothing to do with the pros and cons of blank end strategy. Let us accept the fact that this so-called diabolical device is here in our midst. How do we defend against it? If you find yourself in a close-scoring match and your opposing skip has a mania for rock-cocheting off your final draw on the odd-numbered ends how can you out-general him?

First let's not be naive enough to think that anything can be done about the problem if each member of the opposing rink executes his orders perfectly. Restrain yourself and wait for a miss.

Then if your team rises to the occasion you can hang on to the initiative on the even-numbered ends. However, keep this point in mind.

If you are playing the second last end and the game is all square, you are theoretically still behind the eight ball for if you force the opposition to take a point then you tie up on the final end; he will enjoy last stone on the extra frame. Yet that is the risk you must take.

Avoiding a blank end suggests at least three probabilities. First and possibly the most acceptable and fraught with less danger - draw the first stone to the side rings then wait for a miss so that a second rock can be placed on the other side of the rings, as you will see in the diagram.

The second manoeuvre would call for a stone in front of the rings then a draw behind if an opposing stone missed or hit it flush.

Finally, a short raise might offer itself in the later stages of the end but make certain it is not such a short raise that a split shot smash is possible by the opposing skip (Fig. 2). Whatever it may be watch the scoreboard and keep thinking!

Cloux accepts offer to meet Zora Folley

TROIS-RIVIERES, Que. (CP)—Al Bachman, co-manager of Bob Cloux, said Wednesday night he has accepted an offer for the Canadian heavyweight champion to meet Zora Folley in San Francisco under promoter Benny Ford.

But he said the match has not been settled. Ford was seeking to tie it up by lining up Folley.

The proposed 10-round bout was tentatively set for April 16. Bachman said Ford's offer to Cloux called for a guarantee of "close to $10,000."

Folley is rated fourth among world contenders by the National Boxing Association and third by Ring magazine. Cloux is seventh-ranked by the NBA and fourth by Ring.

Bobby Hull faces tough job as he goes after NHL scoring record, play against Canadiens and Rangers

Can Bobby Hull do it? That's the most popular question in big-league hockey circles these days as Hull, Chicago Black Hawks' golden boy, continues his razzle-dazzle rush towards the National Hockey League's 50-goal scoring record.

The answer will be soon. Chicago has only two games left in the 1961-62 schedule — at Montreal Saturday night and New York Sunday night.

Hull popped in his 48th goal Tuesday night.

Maurice Richard, retired Montreal great set the 50-goal mark in 1944-45, and Bernie Geoffrion, also of Canadiens, equalled it last season.

Left winger Hull has been hot since Jan. 11, the night he scored his 16th goal. He has been almost unstoppable since, scoring 32 times in his last 28 outings.

Others have had difficulty hitting the 50 mark.

GOT ONLY 48
Frank Mahovlich of Toronto Maple Leafs had 45 goals after 60 games last season, but he went into a tailspin and wound up with only 48.

Gordie Howe of Detroit Red Wings came closer. He scored his 48th and 49th goals in Detroit's 68th game in 1952-53, but couldn't get No. 50 in two remaining games against Chicago and Montreal.

There is one striking comparison between Richard, Geoffrion and Hull. Richard and Geoffrion each scored in nine consecutive games during their historic seasons and Hull matched that when he potted his 47th goal at Toronto last Saturday. No other NHL player has been able to score in that many consecutive games.

While Hull rests until Saturday night, two games are scheduled tonight with the big one at Boston where the Bruins face New York.

The Rangers are struggling with Detroit for the fourth and last playoff spot and a win tonight would push them three points ahead of the Wings.

After tonight, the Rangers have only one more game — against Chicago Sunday night.

The Wings, meanwhile, have two more games — at Toronto Saturday night and at home to Montreal Sunday night.

In tonight's only other game, the Canadiens will be at home to Toronto.

REMEMBER WHEN . . .
Harry Vardon, one of the great golfers of all time, died in England 25 years ago today, aged 66. The English stylist, who never had a formal lesson, won six British Open titles between 1896 and 1914 and was holder of 62 first-class trophies.

Clash in key game of final series, Jets must win or face elimination in Sunday game slated for Richmond Richmond Braves and Rock Island Jets clash at the Border Arena tonight in the third game of the best-of-seven final for the St-Francis Valley Intermediate Hockey championship.

Richmond will be looking for their third consecutive victory and their 11th in twelve games. In disposing of the Magog Aces in the league's quarter-finals and the Windsor Paper Makers in the semi-finals, the Braves have won ten of their last eleven games.

They now hold a two-game lead over the Jets, having defeated them 4-3 in the playoff opener at Rock Island on Sunday and following through with a 2-1 Tuesday night victory on home ice.

Michel Sawyer will be looking for his 12th goal of the playoffs. He picked up eight in semi-final series "B" and added a hat-trick in the opener of the Rock Island series. He was held off the score sheet Tuesday evening.

The victories are coming harder to the Braves than they did against Magog and Windsor. Rock Island have a big, fast team and they are by no means out of the picture. Al The ice is a little narrower than the other towns of the circuit and there is a possibility that the Jets timing is off and cannot connect for their famed passing attack.

Fourth game of the series will be played in Richmond Sunday afternoon before an expected turn-away crowd.

Many Rock Island players have voiced their discontent at the narrowness of the Richmond ice and blame this for their 2-1 Tuesday night loss. The ice is a little narrower than the other towns of the circuit and there is a possibility that the Jets timing is off and cannot connect for their famed passing attack.

Fourth game of the series will be played in Richmond Sunday afternoon before an expected turn-away crowd.
