Gun-Butt Blow Sends Citizen To Hospital

Stanley A. Vineberg, 24 Summit Crescent, required hospital treatment after being accosted by an unknown gunman in front of his home Thursday night.

Police said that Mr. Vineberg was taken to Royal Victoria Hospital after the thug struck him on the head with a gun. The victim told police that he answered the doorbell shortly after 9 p.m. and faced a man carrying a briefcase.

Mr. Vineberg told police that the man mentioned something about insurance and tried to enter the house. When Mr. Vineberg pushed the man outside a tussle started and the intruder produced a gun and fired it. He then hit Vineberg on the head and fled on foot. The thug was joined by a man who had been hiding in some nearby bushes police said.

Witnesses to the incident told police that the gun sounded like a toy cap pistol, and investigating officers could find no trace of a bullet. Besides Mr. Vineberg's daughter, his brother Dr. Arthur Vineberg was also in the house. Police are still investigating the incident which they said has them puzzled.

Value Of M.D.s., Hospitals Told To Rotary Members By Dr. William Turner

"The independence of the medical profession is important to everyone in the country", Dr. William Turner told members of the Rotary Club of Westmount at their regular weekly meeting Wednesday in Victorial Hall.

Dr. Turner, who is with the Royal Victoria Hospital, told the Rotarians that if our Canadian hospital systems were nationalized by the government it would mean every doctor becoming a slave to the state. He said once medicine is nationalized there would be nothing to prevent the situation spreading to other professions and groups.

He said the financing of our hospitals today is a situation which must be faced by citizens, the government, and the institutions together. He pointed out at present the hospitals in Montreal are running up huge operating deficits from year to year. Rising costs for equipment as well as costs for hospital staffs and other important essentials help the deficits on their way.

Dr. Turner said we should not forget the more we ask of the government, the more of our economy we are forced to give up. He said however that the financing of medical care is a problem we must face and must solve. "And the solution cannot be too long delayed", Dr. Turner emphasized.

He said the city of Montreal is unique in two facts pertaining to the medical profession in the city. These are the ability of the citizens to raise more funds year after year to support the hospitals, and the ability of the hospitals year after year to show a larger operating deficit than anywhere else in the country.

He told Rotarians that the City of Montreal does not support the out-patient department of any Montreal hospital although the matter has been brought to the attention of the authorities. He said hospitals were now big business with payrolls of more than $1,000,000 per month and costs which have more than quadrupled over the past years.

It was his thought that the government should take many of the financial burdens off the shoulders of the hospitals. He pointed out that the government should support institutions which care for the mentally ill, tuberculosis cases, disabled persons and polio victims.

In conclusion Dr. Turner said the future financing of Montreal hospitals is a grave situation which the citizens of the city must face.

Graham F. Towers To Speak Monday

Graham F. Towers, C.M.G., B.A., LL.D., will speak on the "Bank of Canada — The First Twenty Years", at the Canadian Club, Monday.

Mr. Towers, born and educated in Montreal, graduated from McGill University in 1919 as a Bachelor of Arts after Overseas Service as an Officer in France. At the age of 37, after 14 years experience as a commercial banker, he was appointed Governor of the Bank of Canada at its inception and has been re-appointed by succeeding Governments in 1941 and 1948. During the Second World War, Mr. Towers was appointed Chairman of the Foreign Exchange Control Board and President of The Industrial Development Bank. His outstanding services during this period were recognized with the award of the Cross of St. Michael and St. George.

Electors Lists Checked Here For Errors

Checking of the lists of electors as gathered by enumerators took place this week in the St. Antoine-Westmount constituency where a federal by-election will be held on November 8th to choose a successor to the Hon. D. C. Abbott following his appointment to the Supreme Court of Canada.

In addition to the careful scrutiny of the enumerators lists, both Liberal and Conservative parties continued with their organizational work.

The lists of electors have been placed in public places for citizens to see if they have been included in the rolls of eligible voters. Revision of the voters' lists will be held October 28, 29 and 30th and revision forms can be obtained from the various committee rooms of the candidates.

Allay Fears Says Doctor

Modern psychological methods of allaying patients' fears are necessary knowledge for today's anesthetists, Dr. Bernard B. Raginsky told a meeting of the Academy of Psychosomatic Medicine in New York this week.

He said emotionally upset patients are difficult to anaesthetize for operations. Drugging a surgical patient is no substitute for proper emotional preparation for anaesthesia, he added.

For this reason, he said, modern psychological methods of allaying anxieties, fears and tensions must be learnt before the administration of the anesthetic.

Dr. Raginsky, vice president of the Academy of Psychosomatic Medicine, spoke at the first annual meeting of that body. Anesthetists, surgical specialists, psychiatrists, psychologists and internists met for two days to discuss the Psychosomatic Aspects of Surgery.

Too little attention has been paid by anesthetists, said Dr. Raginsky, to facts well-known by psychiatrists: that as a patient goes under or comes out of anaesthesia, his emotional defences are temporarily weakened and he becomes very susceptible to emotional upsets during these half-waking periods. This is especially true when there is much talking, moving about, confusion and noise in the environment as the patient is passing through these stages.

Dr. Manuel Straker, Montreal psychiatrist, also speaking at the meeting, told the group patients undergoing eye surgery rarely develop post-operative neurosis or psychoses, whereas those having operations on other body areas show a greater proneness to these psychological troubles.

The reason patients receiving surgical treatment of their eyes do so well emotionally following their operations, according to Dr. Straker, is that there has been adequate time in most instances for them to develop the right kind of psychological preparedness for the eye operation.

AA Meet Is Set Sunday Afternoon

A message of hope for problem drinkers will be given by an advertising executive of New York City, at a meeting of Alcoholics Anonymous, Sunday October 24 at 8.30 p.m., in the auditorium of Loyola College, Sherbrooke street west.

The principal speaker, who has been a member of A.A. for over ten years, will describe how alcoholism may be overcome through the A.A. program of recovery.

More Government Aid Forecast For Schools At Convention Here

More government aid to schools was forecast this week by Dr. W. P. Percival, director of Protestant education for the province of Quebec, in an address before the annual convention of Protestant teachers on trends in Protestant education.

The 90th annual convention was held Thursday and Friday at West Hill High School.

Feature points on the program were a public meeting Thursday night at the High School of Montreal, when Dr. W. E. Blatz, director of the institute of child study and professor of child psychology at the University of Toronto, discussed and upheld progressive education, "in its best meaning"; a panel discussion on juvenile delinquency; and an address on The Physical Basis of Endurance by Dr. Ernst Jokl, professor of physiology in the department of physical education at the University of Kentucky.

Dr. Percival predicted increased state contribution to school expenses, but added his hope that governments would "continue to look to the local people to play a big part in the effective management of their schools."

He said increased state aid would tend to eliminate "the inequalities of local systems of taxation."

Teaching will become an increasingly respected profession, he added.

"Just as there is no question between the underpaid poorly educated teacher of questionable habits of 70 years ago and the cultured lady and gentleman of today, so the teacher of the future will compare only with the best of this day," he said.

Dr. Percival defended Canadian education against the attacks of the "traditionalists," who said the fundamentals were being neglected. Education in Quebec has held neither to extreme "progressivism" nor "traditionalism," he said.

"I believe, for example, that

Mrs. Thomas Batshaw Buried On Friday

Funeral service was held Friday for Mrs. Thomas Batshaw, mother of Mr. Justice Harry Batshaw, of the Superior Court, who died Thursday after a short illness. She was 82 years old.

Long active in the fields of welfare and culture, Mrs. Batshaw was a director of the Hebrew Consumptive Aid Association of Canada, and a board member of the Jewish Hospital of Hope. She was also a member of the Sisterhood of Bnai Moshe Synagogue, along with several other charitable and cultural organizations.

The former Golda Gilman, she was born in Russia and came to Montreal with her husband in 1905, remaining here as a resident the rest of her life.

In 1951 as a gift on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary, their family and friends had 1000 trees planted in Israel in the name of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Batshaw. The site is now known as the Batshaw Grove.

She is survived by her husband; three sons, Mr. Justice Batshaw, Arthur, of Plainfield, N.J., and Manuel, of Atlanta, Ga., field director of the US National Jewish Welfare Board; a daughter, Mrs. S. Barsky (Frances); and seven grandchildren.

Service was from the chapel of Papernan and Sons.

great progress has been made in our schools of Quebec by reason of the qualities of heart and mind of our teachers, and by the sincerity of our school boards. I am confident also that many of our school procedures have been modified for the better under the influence of those liberalizing education movements that have developed particularly during the past half century."

The principal of Aberdeen School said there is an urgent need for more emphasis on prevention of juvenile delinquency in Quebec, in a panel discussion Friday morning before the Senior Elementary Teachers' Section.

Juvenile Delinquency

Heber Matthews, formerly guidance consultant to the Protestant School Board of Greater Montreal, compared the present system of dealing with juvenile delinquency to "sitting in an ambulance at the bottom of a cliff below a highway, ready to take the victims of crashes to the hospital."

More attention should be paid, he said, to putting guard rails at danger spots, and to teaching good driving.

He urged that home, school, church, and government should co-operate in working to prevent youngsters from going astray. He recommended that the state contribute funds to the work being done by such agencies as the YMCA and YMHA, in "constructive, recreational activities."

Other members of the panel were Rev. Gordon Phillips, chaplain of Bordeaux Jail and Dean Henry F. Hall, of Sir George Williams College.

Mr. Phillips emphasized the importance of home environment in juvenile delinquency. He urged that social workers go into the homes of children in trouble to meet other members of the family to help solve the problems.

He said an act of delinquency was a breach of the good order of society, and added the only difference between this act and one of crime was the age of the person concerned.

Mr. Phillips said the reason delinquency was so much to the forefront today is the diagnosis is better. Previously, when there was no social court or reform school, delinquents were either sent home or to penitentiary. This resulted in lack of recognition of the danger.

The teachers were welcomed by association president G. Arnold McArthur. Barbara A. Lax, of the High School for Girls, was elected president for the coming year.

... BILL BLACHFORD initiates son Jimmy in workshop technique as they put the finishing touches to a toy-cupboard door. This is just one of the many "Do It Yourself" situations featured at the special Do It Yourself exhibition at the Show Mart.

'Do-It-Yourself' Show At Show Mart Oct. 15-24

If Montreal's thousands of home workshops are buzzing, thumping and whining to the tune of hammer and saw these evenings, don't blame it entirely on Fall hibernation. These busy handymen and women are no doubt readying their entries to the forthcoming Do-It-Yourself Show coming to the Show Mart from October 15 to 24.

Exhibits of home handiwork will cover all manner of practical and artistic endeavour and are being sponsored by the newly formed Do-It-Yourself League of Canada. Operating on a non-profit basis, the League has no dues but plenty of plans insofar as bringing hobbyists together, staging exhibitions of new developments, pooling information and generally furthering the mushrooming movement towards Do-It-Yourself.

The Show Mart exhibition will be Canada's first major show of this type, and several ambitious projects will be attempted for the first time in this type of show's history. A six-room ranch-style bungalow will be literally built in the Show Mart, where as usually these model homes are erected by incorporating wall space of the exhibition building. In Montreal's Do-It-Yourself Show, the picture-windowed bungalow will be completed down to the last stone in the flower box and then furnished throughout with new do-it-yourself furniture and draperies. Throughout the ten days of the exhibition, a group of young Police Juvenile Club members will also build a home. In this case, a rugged log cabin of modern design which will also be furnished by the boys if time permits.

Free kits and plans, contests and demonstrations will show Montrealers how-to building everything from a concrete cellar to a television aerial. Women will find plenty to interest their handy-women hearts too, with new sewing methods, weaving looms, demonstrations of leatherwork and interior decorating schemes galore.

Local hobby groups are invited to exhibit all manner of handicraft, Ceramics, jewelry, lamp shades, novel picture frames and home sewing and knitting exhibits will be featured by handy club-women.

Louise Harvey, LPP Candidate, Urges Session

Unemployment in St. Antoine-Westmount will be allowed "to slide along without full and free discussion by the elected representatives of the people," Mrs. Louise Harvey, Labor Progressive Candidate in the coming federal by-election contends.

"Prime Minister St. Laurent has announced that parliament will not be called into session until January, 1955," she said. A fall session is necessary to deal with this situation, she added.

She said the St. Laurent government is "running away from the great national issues facing Canada today," and added: "Such problems as the farm crisis, would trade, the demands of an all-Canadian seaway, cannot be put to one side."

The LPP recently opened committee rooms at 3005 St. Catherine street west. Telephone number is FI. 3262.

"The Customer of Yesterday is a Friend Today"

Dangers Of Comic Books Told By Dr. George Reed

"Publishers and authors of comic books freely admit their only aim is to fill a demand at a handsome profit," declared Dr. George E. Reed, director of Verdun Protestant Hospital, addressing the St. James Literary Society at the Mechanics' Institute, on Tuesday evening October 12th.

In discussing "The Development and Present Status of the Comic Book", Dr. Reed reviewed the tremendous attention being paid to the problem of the impact of the comic book on the younger generation, and the many and varied efforts to eliminate the undesirable features which are characteristic of so many publications crowding the bookstalls today. "Censorship", said the speaker, "has not eliminated features most complained about, and it is unlikely to succeed alone."

Unfortunately some authorities, including psychiatrists, children's specialists, and educationalists", said Dr. Reed, have expressed favorable opinions without adequate knowledge of the subject or realization of their own responsibilities. There is an infinite difference, he went on to say, between the wonderful nonsense, and even the violence, of such fairy tales as Santa Claus, the Big Bad Wolf, and Who Killed Cock Robin and the psychopathological and crude emphasis on murder, torture, physical deformities, and crime in modern comics.

Dr. Reed expressed his amazement that some Canadians and Americans seem to think that the more children see and read of violence the less they, the children, will practise it. "They may be right", he said, "but if this is so, recruits in the army, navy, and airforce should be taught knitting, sewing, and bird watching, and our atomic scientists should do post-graduate work in a course on brewing tea."

Dr. Reed drew a sharp line of distinction between the comic strip, the so-called comic classic, and those publications which rely with the chiefs. Central theme of the campaign is the emblem being examined by Director Pare. Left to right, photo shows: Chief Raoul Proulx, Verdun; Assistant Chief F. W. Rafter, Outremont; Mr. Keith, Director R. E. Pare, Montreal; and Chief William C. Cobb, Westmount.

35 Fire Chiefs Were Guests Of Tobacco Company

Approximately 35 fire chiefs of Montreal and district marked Fire Prevention Week with a tour of the plant of Imperial Tobacco Company Limited. The purpose of the visit was twofold; to see something of the manufacturing processes of the plant and to compare notes with company officials on the Fire Prevention Campaign which the company has carried on on a national basis for the past five years.

The gathering of so many senior fire-fighting officials at the one place called for special arrangements through the company switchboard for calls to be immediately transmitted. A line was kept open for the exclusive purpose of receiving fire calls during the morning.

Welcomed by Bernard Dansereau, the company's chief legal counsel, the chiefs made a complete tour of the plant and were the company's guests at lunch. J. M. Keith, vice-president, gave the visitors highlights of the company's fire prevention activities which range from the production of films, printed material, and booklets, to the use of newspaper and magazine advertising, radio-commercials and TV announcements, all directed on a year 'round basis against fires caused through carelessness.

"Our fire prevention activities", Mr. Keith said, "stem from the belief of this company that business today has more than the responsibility to produce goods. It has the responsibility to see that these goods are correctly used. It has the responsibility to play an active role in improving the community in which it operates."

The careless disposal of cigarettes, cigars, or pipe ashes is not a correct use of our products. Five years ago this company undertook to educate the public to the careful handling of not only these but all combustible materials. In short, our educational efforts were directed against any sort of carelessness which might result in fire."

upon crime and horror for their main themes. It was significant, he said that some newspapers, notably in England, were enlarging the scope of the sections devoted to juvenile reading and some had gone so far as to publish separately junior editions designed specifically for children. Children's emotional and physical appetites are healthy, he said, and they need affection, understanding, and adequate means for self expression.

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 14. — There are still frontiers offering limitless opportunity for fortunes to men with the courage — and cash — to take a chance. Paradoxically, one of the lesser gambles these days seems to be investment in the development of that unique community of the whirling roulette, Las Vegas. The only folks who lose money in Vegas are itinerant boobs who look for a fast buck on the green gauze of the crap tables or via the clicking whiz of the slot machines. Here the odds are so in favor of the house that the gaming-room operators have finally discovered how to make money faster than any counterfeiter could turn it out — and yet remain honest.

Las Vegas as I first remember it was a small Nevada desert town with three hostleries dotting the main highway westward. These were the Last Frontier, the El Rancho Vegas and the Flamingo. Since the war a dozen mammoth new lodges have opened, including the Sands, Sahara, Thunderbird and Desert Inn, and now comes a huge installation devoted mainly to entertainment of Negro patrons, the Casablanca. Each is crammed to capacity most of the time and no matter how many inns are erected the crowds grow and there is always room for another.

I'm told that the available accommodations could be doubled and still there'd be room for more. Countless smaller motels of the luxury type, with TV in every room and heated pools, dot every street. You can see the cream of entertainment stars for the price of a beer or cup of coffee, for the casinos have no minimum or cover charges and the shows surpass the most lavish New York could present.

All this is dedicated to mass entertainment minus any snob appeal. And therein lies the secret of the Las Vegas boom — the Nevada entrepreneurs will happily take your dimes and quarters as well as your dollars. They don't even sneeze at a penny.

It is difficult to trace the financial backgrounds of many Vegas projects, but there's no doubt much Canadian money involved along with backing from the New York and Los Angeles mobs. The tremendous taxation realized by the State of Nevada goes to pay for schools and roads and other benefits. So great has been the boom that commercial frontage along the main thoroughfare has quintupled in value in less than a decade.

Gambling is strictly regulated by the state, and none of the large casinos will cheat a patron. The risk is too great: loss of their license, swiftly and irrevocably. In this respect, at least, Las Vegas is a safer place than Montreal, where gambling is tolerated but illegal and unsupervised, the only retribution for a cheat being a bullet in the head.

NEW BOOKS ACQUIRED . . . PART I.

Book shops abound in New York City but as we have stated in these columns several times, the music sections are noticeably small in comparison to other subjects. One can find the same biographies and the "newest" music book in the momentary limelight in every shop. Treatises, biographies and academic books are numerous at Schirmer's, many are their own publications . . . Brentanos have mostly biographies.

"Covent Garden" by Desmond Shawe-Taylor is a chronological survey of this great opera house with six chapters, written in a most entertaining style . . . Chapter I, "The First Theatre" 1732-1808 . . . II "From Theatre To Opera House" 1809-1856 . . . III "Within The Memory Of Living Men" 1858-1888, IV, "An Age Of Great Singers" 1888-1914 . . . V, "The End Of The Star System" 1914-1939 and VI "The Prospect Before Us" 1939.

Our friend, Violet Archer, Canadian composer, has told us this summer that a Miss Eva Turner, a famous English opera singer is a staff member of the same college where Violet is teaching in Norman, Oklahoma. It is interesting because in this book, "Covent Garden" there is mention of this singer as an "incomparable Turnadot." Also a picture of the design for her costume as the "Princess Turandot" 1947.

I have read about the origin of the waltz by many writers but never have I enjoyed a book as much as "The Waltz" by Mosco Carner. Anyone, whether musician or layman, would add to his self would want to read it again.

Calling All Hearts

Catholic Federation Seeks $612,000
In Annual Drive

The annual combined appeal of the Federation of Catholic Charities starts today, and will run for two weeks. Like all charitable appeals, Catholic Federation has had to raise its objective again in view of population increase, rise in costs, and more exacting needs for protective and preventive social measures.

Catholic Federation comprises twenty-nine appeals in one, including St. Mary's Hospital, the work of which is familiar to all. A modern hospital like St. Mary's requires much more money per day to operate than its patients are able to provide. At the present time nearly fifty percent of the beds at St. Mary's are devoted to patients who can, at best, pay only a portion of their own hospitalization. A large number are unable to pay at all. Add to this ten percent more in-patients, and thirty-two percent more clinic patients, and it's easy to see why an efficiently-managed hospital like St. Mary's seeks additional sources of income in order to meet expenses.

Other agencies are in much the same position. Revenue from government sources provides some of the money, the rest must come from the community.

So when the canvasser calls on you, be generous. Your money couldn't be put to a better purpose.

School's In V

by Rev. Canon R. Kenneth Naylor
Rector of Trinity Memorial Church

This rather informal series was interrupted by Thanksgiving, but I feel that a word should be said about the largest group of all which is concerned with our schools, the community. The community provides the taxes and the pupils and the teachers, the raw ingredients which go to the amalgam which we call education.

The community provides the taxes, and is under an obligation to itself to see that it gets value for the very large sums of money paid in. Actually, it needs to do a good deal of grumbling, that it may make the school boards aware that it is watching them. A non-grumbling community is an apathetic one, and apathy never accomplished anything good. But the community should also learn from schools and press reports that something of vital importance is being done in the schools. What goes on does not happen automatically. It is brought about by constant drive on the part of boards and school teachers. Some occasional commendations from community to boards would be encouraging.

The community also provides pupils. The schools take in the children from their own districts. If occasionally they draw from farther afield, that is a concession which they make to the spirit of neighbourliness. The community provides the children but it does not turn them over and forget them. Those children all go home at the end of the school day and they are in a position to report on what they have learned. Or they report on the wide variety of extra-curricular activities from football to bookbinding. The community may be dimly aware that those out-of-school doings may be the most important things the child does; or the community may be completely uninterested, wash its hands and say: "I pay taxes and leave it to the teacher." But the most alert of the community has a way of keeping in touch with the schools through the Home and School Association. Like all other institutions it may be helpful or harmful, depending on the sympathy and common sense with which problems are approached. The community is also concerned in the schools because it receives at the end the finished product. Sometimes it accepts that product gladly, sometimes with considerable criticism, especially if the finished product cannot write a decent hand, spell English words and compose an English sentence.

In its complaints the community seldom realizes that the failures of the schools are in part its own fault. It has not considered from day to day the progress made by the pupils; it has not supported the schools in the matter of discipline; it has acted as though the school system was a machine, which one kept oiled and provided with raw material, in order to receive at the end a nicely finished product. No, John Citizen, it does not work that way. You are concerned in those schools just as the boards and teachers and parents are. You may be concerned as a parent interested in your own child, but you are also interested as a citizen concerned in every child in the school.

Christian Science

How spiritual understanding of man's scientific unity with God overcomes fear and establishes harmony will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday. The Lesson-Sermon entitled "Doctrine of Atonement" includes the following passages from the Bible (Psalms 51:15-17):

"Lord, open thou my lips; and my mouth shall shew forth thy praise. For thou desirest not sacrifice; else would I give it; thou delightest not in burnt offering. The sacrifice of God are a broken spirit: a broken and a contrite

The illustrations are fascinating, all thirty-five of them . . . four of the plates being in beautiful colour, reproductions from famous paintings. The author of this informative volume, Mosco Carmer was formerly opera conductor in Vienna, Troppau and Danzig. He went to London in 1933, became well known as conductor, writer and broadcaster on musical subjects and has written other books including "A Study On Twentieth-Century Harmony" and "Of Men And Music".

Mr. Carmer not only traces the Waltz from its origin in the eighteenth century but shows that there are two branches which developed side by side. As dance music and concert music, the "Waltz" allured the attention of such great composers as Weber, Berlioz, Chopin, Brahms, Liszt,
Gounod, Saint-Saens, Schubert,
Sibelius and of course Strauss.

To get an idea of how popular the Waltz was in Vienna in the nineteenth century we will quote the following from "The Waltz"
... "Vienna now had two famous dance orchestras, each with its own followers and partisans among the public. Hanslick, an eminent Viennese critic, describing the idolatry of the Viennese for Lanner and Strauss, says,
"one cannot imagine the wild enthusiasm which the two created in Vienna . . . Over each new waltz the journals used to go into raptures; innumerable articles appeared about Lanner and Strauss, enthusiastic, humorous and serious, and longer, to be sure, than those devoted to Beethoven and Mozart. It goes without saying that the sweet intoxicating three-four rhythm which took hold of heads and feet eclipsed great and serious music, and made the audience increasingly unfit for any intellectual effort." Yet Hanslick was fair enough to admit that Lanner and Strauss filled the waltz form with unexpected musical charm and truly poetic life—reflecting "the Happy light-hearted spirit of the Viennese".

Lanner and Strauss came to be reckoned among the chief attractions for foreign visitors, particularly visiting musicians. While the twenty-one year old Chopin, anxious to gain recognition in the Austrian capital, states with some regret that "Lanner, Strauss and their waltzes obscure everything", the young Wagner is spellbound by Strauss, "the magical fiddler, the demon of Vienna's innate musical spirit". Once you start to read "The Waltz" you will not want to leave it until the last page.

Next Week: New Books Acquired . . . Part II.

Item of Interest: Just to show how historians differ . . . in one encyclopedia the date of the American premiere of Puccini's opera, "La Boheme" is listed as October 14th (today's date) 1897 in Los Angeles, California and another has the date October 18th, 1897. Which is it?

Saying of the Week . . . Our principles are the springs of our actions; our actions, the springs of our happiness or misery. Too much care, therefore, cannot be taken in forming our principles.
Philip Skelton,
1707-1787.

"A rolling ball is always followed by a running child." That's what one trucking company I know about tells its drivers—and excellent advice it is, too.

Now that Fall is at hand and schools are open, youngsters are more likely than ever to put themselves in harm's way.

They're creatures of impulse, and they dart out from curbs and cross against lights without warning. It's the driver's responsibility to protect children by staying extra alert. Here are a few suggestions.

If you see a sign reading "Slow, School Zone" take it literally. A child can appear from behind a parked car much faster than you can stop.

Next year, the annual Festival in memory of Scotland's greatest poet, Robert Burns, will be held in Ayr, where on a stormy January night in 1759, the poet was born in a house which his father had built with his own hands. This will be the biggest Festival since that held in Ayr in 1844, and Burns' enthusiasts from Canada and the U.S.A., Nigeria, New Zealand, England and Northern Ireland will attend. Accommodation is limited to 500, but the Scottish Tourist Board, which is organizing the event, believe it is more than likely it will be over-subscribed.

The Festival will last for over a week, starting on the evening of January 17, 1955, with a civic reception. After a short service in Ayr Church the following morning, the visitors will visit many places connected with the poet, including Kilmarnock, where the

Fruited Oatmeal Bread Delicious For Breakfast

With school just open, nutritionists are urging parents to see to it that their children eat better breakfast for the sake of general stamina during the day and better scholastic work.

The so-called basic breakfast (fruit, cereal, bread, butter, or milk) has acceptance by leading nutritionists. It is easy to prepare, inexpensive and provides the essential protein, carbohydrates, vitamins and minerals needed to supply $\frac{1}{3}$ to $\frac{1}{4}$ of the body's nutritional needs for one day.

Quick breads, using cereals, add interest to breakfast and increase the nutritional value.

Fruit Oatmeal Bread

Yield: 1 large or 2 small loaves)

One-quarter cup fat, $\frac{1}{2}$ cup brown sugar, 1 egg, well beaten, $\frac{1}{2}$ cup chopped Brazil nuts, pecans, or walnuts, $\frac{1}{2}$ cup diced cooked prunes, $\frac{1}{2}$ cup diced cooked apricots, 1 tablespoon grated orange rind, 1 cup rolled oats, uncooked, 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, $\frac{3}{4}$ teaspoon soda, $1\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoons salt, $1\frac{1}{4}$ cups buttermilk or sour milk.

Cream fat, add sugar gradually. Add egg to creamed mixture. Stir in nuts, prunes, apricots, orange rind and rolled oats. Sift together flour, baking powder, soda and salt. Add dry ingredients alternately with buttermilk to creamed mixture. (To make sweet milk sour, add 1 tablespoon vinegar to $1\frac{1}{4}$ cups sweet milk.)

Turn into greased loaf pan 5×3 inches, and bake in moderate oven (350-375 degrees F.) about $1\frac{1}{4}$ hours; or turn into greased loaf pans, $7\frac{1}{2} \times 4 \times 2\frac{1}{2}$ inches and bake in moderate oven (350-375 degrees F.) about 1 hour. If desired, decorate the top of the loaves before baking with whole pitted prunes, apricots and nuts.

Schiaparelli's 12 Commandments

The fashion-conscious woman can make the most of her figure and her budget by following 12 commandments when buying clothes, famed designer Elsa Schiaparelli says in the current issue of Maclean's Magazine.

Here they are in the words of the woman whose exotic hats and Daliesque displays shocked her way to the top of the fashion world:

1. Since most women do not know themselves, they should try to do so.
2. A woman who buys an expensive dress and changes it, often with disastrous result, is extravagant and foolish.
3. Most women (and men) are color-blind. They should ask for suggestions.
4. Remember — 20 percent of women have inferiority complexes. Seventy per cent have illusions.
5. Ninety per cent are afraid of being conspicuous and of what people will say. So they buy a grey suit. They should dare to be different.
6. Women should listen and ask competent criticism and advice.
7. They should choose their clothes alone or in the company of a man.
8. They should never shop with another woman, who sometimes consciously, and often unconsciously, is apt to be jealous.
9. She should buy little and only of the best or the cheapest.
10. Never fit a dress to the body, but train the body to fit the dress.
11. A woman should buy mostly in one place where she is known and respected, and not rush around trying every new fad.
12. And she should pay her bills.

Tests Prove Breakfast Aids Pupils' Alertness

Going without breakfast, as a shockingly large number of Canadian school children do, is detrimental to both their attitudes and scholastic attainments.

That is the conclusion of a recent controlled test on 25 students, ages 12 to 14. Data were collected from the 25 schoolboys over a period of 26 weeks.

The teacher's report "showed that the majority of boys had a definitely better attitude and better scholastic record during the period when breakfast (a basic cereal and milk breakfast—fruit, cereal with milk, bread, butter and milk to drink) was included in the daily dietary regimen than when it was omitted. For example, some of the boys were careless and inattentive during the late morning hours when breakfast was omitted. During the period when they ate breakfast, these same boys showed recognizable improvement, especially in scholastic attainment."

"One subject was reported to be careless, languid and listless during the late morning hours when he did not eat breakfast, but did good scholastic work and had sufficient energy for outside activity during the period when breakfast was included in his daily eating plan. It was the opinion of the school principal and of the teacher that breakfast was a material asset to the boys both in the matter of attitude and scholastic accomplishment."

A cup of coffee and a doughnut is not an adequate breakfast. Yet thousands of school children have

Ontario Stars Trounce Quebec McGill, Barbs Are Both Winners

By JIM ADAM

Ontario, Canada's strongest rugger province, soundly trounced Quebec 23-3 in an interprovincial match played last Saturday in Toronto.

The Quebec team which had been weakened slightly by late changes due to injury were never in the game against the powerful Toronto select team. Ian Monroe was the lone scorer for Quebec when late in the second half he kicked a long range penalty goal, good for the three points. Ontario ran in five touchdowns, four converted.

The result was a disappointment to the Quebec team who had hoped to put up a good fight but the superior speed of the opposing backs was just too much for them. Gordon Lowther on the wing for Quebec played a fine game, tackling well all afternoon.

Here Next Year

Next fall Ontario return the visit when they will play in Montreal on Thanksgiving weekend.

The Westmount club weakened with 11 of their players away in Toronto played McGill University Saturday morning. A fast interesting game saw the college crew finish deserving winners on the long end of a 10-0 count. The Redmen who had only been training for a week showed a lot of promise and look likely to retain their intercollegiate championship. There are some rough spots in the team but coach Howie Ryan should soon sharpen those up.

The Westmount team tried hard and held their own for the greater portion of the game but the college squad were quick to take advantage of two lapses in the Westies defence to go over for TD's. both were converted.

Return Game Slated

Westmount will play a return game with the McGill boys at Molson Stadium on Tuesday, October 26. The game will be under lights with the kick-off slated for 8 p.m.

M.I.T. were attractive visitors to Montreal last weekend when they tangled with the Montreal Barbarians. Fit and tough though they were the Boston team couldn't handle the experienced Barb team on the mud-heap pitch and lost 9-3.

This weekend Toronto Wanderers will be visitors in Montreal. They are bringing two complete fifteens with them so the local rugger action will be thick and fast come this Saturday and Sunday.

Saturday the Westmount second team will play Wanderers seconds at Westmount Park, kick-off at 2 p.m. At the same time the Barbarians will be playing the Wandand Bill Cullens on the unavailable list and there they will remain for the balance of the year... welcome home to Jean Watt head of the club's ladies auxiliary... Shirley Thompson also of that same fine group leaves for England with daughters Pamela and Valerie next Tuesday... she'll be back in the spring... publicity man Jim Adam has been on the move and can now be contacted at HU. 8-8316 if you have any rugger news to pass on... congratulations to Barbarians Barry Ward on his recent engagement... Verdun Scores Third Straight Win With 22-0 Victory Over Westmount Showing only occasional sparks of offensive strength, the Westmount High School senior B football team was decisively beaten 22-0 by Verdun Wednesday at Westmount Park.

The Verdun squad, led by quarterback George Tsonos, was more than a match for the locals and at no point in the contest was there any doubt as to which team was in control.

The game had been postponed because of a heavy downpour on Tuesday, and the field was still wet and muddy. However, this had no apparent effect on the outcome of the game nor on calibre.

Early in the first quarter Verdun was in scoring position. Quarterback Tsonos attempted a field goal from 20 yards out, but it was wide of the uprights. Paul Hamilton was forced to concede the point when he found himself trapped in the end zone with six opponents charging towards him. The time was three minutes in the first quarter, and the score Verdun 1, Westmount 0.

Threaten Again

In very short order, Verdun was threatening once again. Jerry Stevens stole a pass out of the W.H.S. players' arms and carried the ball to the Westmount eight yard line. Verdun's first down attempt at a touchdown was spoiled by the hard-hitting Purple 'n White defensive wall, which had ample opportunity to show well on goal line stands.

Second down and goal to go. Quarterback Tsonos plowed through the line himself to register the five point score. His convert attempt was missed, but Westmount was offside. Tsonos tried the kick again, and this time was successful — the score after six minutes of play, Verdun 7, W.H.S. 0.

Another Single

Towards the close of the opening quarter, Tsonos again utilized his kicking ability. A 55 yard punt forced Paul Hamilton into his own end zone and left him with no alternative but to concede the point. Verdun was ahead 8-0 when the team exchanged ends at the end of the first quarter.

During the first quarter, Westmount executed a beautiful set of long forward passes. Both were completed by Paul Hamilton. The first was a long toss to end Lance Thomson for 40 yards. Lance played an outstanding game all the way and was Westmount's leading ground-gainer. The second of the two passes was to Bob Hamilton, who made a sensational snare for a 25 yard gain. Unfortunately these occasional gains by coach Ron Sharp's squad were few and far between and presented no real threat.

In the second quarter, Verdun scored another major. This one was on a pass which took the Blue and Red from their own 49 yard line to the Westmount 16. The Verdun squad recovered the ball after W.H.S. gambled on third down and lost. Tsonos faded back and heaved the pigskin 35 yards into the waiting hands of Rich Bateman who then proceeded to the Westmount 16 yard line.

Porous Pass Defence

This completion was one of the many made by Verdun through the tussle. As in the Catholic High game last week, the W.H.S. pass defence was very weak and only occasionally did they manage to prevent a completed pass. Verdun, on the other hand, found that the Purple 'n White offensive line did not hold well and often broke through to pin quarterback Hamilton quite a distance behind the line of scrimmage. This weakness in the Westmount offensive proved costly and contributed greatly to the final outcome of the game.

With Verdun in the opposing 16 yard marker, Rich Bateman carried the ball across the goal line on a line plunge. Tsonos made the convert, and the half-time score read Verdun 14, Westmount 0.

Jackie Bowman, much-heralded Verdun athlete who scampered for three majors in the short 15 minute contest against Lachine in the football carnival, must have had a bad day. As the teams returned to the field to resume the tussle after the half-time break, Bowman had as yet to score a point that afternoon. No sooner said than done, for after 10 minutes had elapsed in the third quarter, Jackie ran around his own left end and went over for a major standing up. The convert by Tsonos was good and the scoreboard read 20-0 in favor of the Red 'n Blue.

Miller "Best" Blocker

The outstanding play in that quarter was a 30 yard run by Paul Hamilton which was made possible through the blocking of official Lou Miller. He put three Verdun

St. Laurent Inter Open Season Sat.

The curtain will rise Saturday on the 1954-55 schedule of the St. Laurent Intermediate Hockey League with last year's champions Royal Pharmacy and runners up MacRae Electric teeing off at the St. Laurent Arena.

In the second game of the afternoon Michaud Freres meet the NDG Regents as the first of 18 doubleheaders get the pucksters started on their long journey. Starting time is set for 2 p.m.

The St. Laurent Hockey League is headed by Jimmy Slater, who also toots the whistle in the QHL. Going into his third year as president, Jimmy heads the executive consisting of Gerry Kerr, vice-president, Jimmy Kerr as treasurer, Clifford Farnworth as secretary, and directors Pat Patterson and Pat Lomasney.

The four teams of the loop are gradually rounding into shape with this year producing the greatest player changes as seen in recent years. Improvement has been seen in each of the teams and after last week's practice the coaches of each of the teams will have a tough job selecting players for the opening game.

With competition declining from the various other sports which usually conflict at this time of year, more faces were seen at last Saturday's practices. Some were familiar but some were new and so it is with anticipation of a bigger and better season that the St. Laurent Intermediate Hockey League opens its 1954-55 season this Saturday.

G. Ramsey Cops Tennis Crown In St. Leo's Autumn Program

Six man touch rugby and tennis are currently being featured in the autumn sports program at St. Leo's Academy.

Gerry Ramsey took the school senior tennis title when he defeated brother Phil in three straight sets. Despite bad weather, the tourney had several well played matches and displayed a good brand of tennis.

Seven teams are entered from the grade classes in the city touch rugby leagues. Over 75 youngsters are taking part in the sport, and athletic director Andy McGillis says it should provide a fine training ground for future Academy tackle teams.

Senior boys have been on the sidelines this year because no senior football team was sponsored. Their first brush with sports this season will come Monday when the opening hockey practice will be held at Verdun Auditorium.

Rebuilding Problem

Eight members of last year's champion crew have left the school, and coach McGillis is faced with a rebuilding problem.

Those returning this year are Gerry Ramsey, Frank Rooney, Karl Hurley, Jacques Lefebvre, Phil Drummond, John Roche, and

Greens Win 12-7 In Pee Wee Tilt

Green sand Greys of the pee wee touch rugby league staged a thriller at the RMR field Friday, with the Greens finally winning 12-7.

Greys, who had edged the Greens 9-5 last time out, in a brief encounter which was halted by rain at the half-way mark, took a 2-0 lead in the first quarter on a rouge.

Brian Thompson intercepted a Greys' pass attempt early in the second quarter and went all the way to make the score read 5-2. Both teams were scoreless in the third quarter.

Greens made the count 7-2 as Steve Gill's attempted pass from behind the goal line was knocked down.

Wayne Dallas revived the Greys as he caught a forward and romped over unmolested — this tied up the game 7-7.

Bill McNally was the pay-off man for the Greens as his final effort resulted in a T.D. to give the greens a well-deserved victory. Mike Dwyer was outstanding for the losers.

Any resident interested in joining this group is asked to call Rocky Rothwell or Johnny Garland at FI. 6975 to register.

Swim 'n Gym Classes Formed For Y Lasses

Sauve Swim Coach At Westmount Y

Don Sauve, well-known athlete, has been appointed coach of the Y.W.C.A. swim team this year. Don holds a Y.M.C.A. senior life saving certificate, master swimmer award and has recently been appointed a Y.M.C.A. authorized examiner.

The Westmount Y swim team has won the total point score for city-wide progressive swim meets for four consecutive years. The boys are enthusiastically going into training for the 1954-55 pennant.

Boys between the ages of 10 and 15 are invited to try out for the team which meets Thursday from 4 to 5 p.m. in the Y pool. The first swim meet of the season is scheduled for Westmount branch on Friday, November 5.

would-be tacklers out of the way before he could find a place to rest. That run by Hamilton typifies his many others throughout the games.

The Westmount squad had an opportunity to demonstrate its goal line stand strength again in the last period of play. With the cheer-leaders and the few remaining home-team fans hoarsely hollering, "Hold that line," Ron Sharp's boys proved to be genuine "players to the gallery." Verdun recovered the ball on the Westmount 10 yard line after another W.H.S. third down passing gamble had failed and after a short toss over the right side of their line they were threatening on the Westmount first. Time after time, the Purple 'n White boys were penalized for being offside and the Verdun squad had another chance to try to break through the Westmount line. But every attempt was stopped right on the line of scrimmage and Westmount recovered after a powerful stand.

Safety Final Points

But the Blue 'n' Red men were just too strong. No sooner had W.H.S. recovered the ball, than Paul Hamilton was forced to concede a safety touch and that's how the game ended, Westmount 0, Verdun 22.

That victory was the third straight for Verdun, who have yet to be scored upon. They defeated Catholic High by a decisive margin 27-0, and shut-out Cardinal Newman 23-0. The Westmount score brings their total to 72 points, while no team has been able to tally against them. Presently, they are favoured to steal the senior B championship trophy from the current possessors of the silverware, L.C.C. The main reason for this assumption is that George Tsonos can kick, pass, run or tackle, and they have a powerful line which gives him all the support necessary.

Co-captain Dick Christensen of the Westmount team was sidelined because of an injury to his left leg, suffered during the weekend. Dick's fine ground-gaining was sorely missed by the squad who need much more power in that department. Other players who were not in uniform Wednesday were lineman Al Golden, end Phil Johnston and back John McKergow.

Terry Gray, a backfield star from the Junior High School made his first appearance in a Westmount uniform on Wednesday. The next Westmount encounter will be against the champion L.C.C. squad at the Westmount Athletic Grounds next Tuesday. Kickoff time is 3.45 and mentor Sharp hopes to bring his team through for their first win of the season.

Lineman Stu Decary and Bob Baker deserve a lot of credit for their fine game. Decary is the team's leading scorer at present. He has two points which he registered at the Catholic High game last week. By the way, he is the only Westmount scorer.
