SOVIETS DECLARE EAST REICH FREE

Three Dead In Smash-Up Near Granby

Granby, Que. — (CP) — Three men were killed Friday on a highway near this town 45 miles east of Montreal when their car slammed out of control into a pole and caught fire.

Police identified the men as Wilfred Stamper, 45, of Otterburn Park, near Montreal; Arthur R. Beaudry, 28, Ste. Hyacinthe, and Ivan James Owens, 23, of Granby, Que.

The bodies of Stamper and Owens were found badly burned in the wrecked car while Beaudry's body was found in a water-filled ditch beside the road.

London Paper Says American General Erred

London (Reuters) — United States army wives, currently with Col. John R. Dilley in Germany, have won tactical support in London.

The Evening Star studied Dilley's communique to suppress scant clothing and decided Friday that the army official, commander of U. S. troops in Frankfurt, has made a major strategic blunder.

The newspaper says he should have checked first with a "superior officer" — his wife.

Dilley's communique, issued this week, has created a female insurrection in Frankfurt. It purports to outlaw feminine garments which permit exposure of midriffs, legs and other designated areas and it commands "mature women" not to wear tight-fitting jeans.

The Star says: "A really wise administrator leaves it to women themselves to tackle this eye-changing question of what is suitable in dress."

Western Powers See Latest Move As Effort To Win Recognition For East German Puppet Regime.

Moscow — AP — The Soviet government announced Friday night new measures recognizing East Germany as a sovereign country.

The move was made by cancellation of all the 1945-53 orders and decrees issued by the Soviet control commission and the Soviet Union recognizes full sovereignty in East Germany and wishes to place the relationship on the same footing as with any other sovereign country.

The announcement said the cancellations apply to all political, cultural and economic phases of German life. However, it added, the Soviet government expects East Germany to fulfill its obligations under four-power pacts for peaceful and democratic development.

No Curiosity Seekers At Dionne Rite

Callander, Ont. — CP — The doors of the Dionne home will be open Sunday for friends to pay their last respects to Emilie Dionne, one of the famed quintuplets, who died suddenly in Ste. Agathe, Que., Friday.

Her father, Oliva, said Friday night that persons genuine in their grief would be welcome but all curiosity seekers would be turned away at the gates of the country estate.

Urges India To Refrain From Force

London (Reuters) — Britain has asked India to "refrain from resorting to force or to methods bound to lead to the use of force" in settlement of the Goa dispute with Portugal, the Foreign Office announced Friday.

World News In Brief

Tokyo — (AP) — A 36-year-old man went berserk Friday, strangled his wife, hacked his four children to death with a knife, set fire to his house and perished in the blaze, police reported today.

Porto Ferrao, Elba — (AP) — The Duke and Duchess of Windsor arrived here Friday night aboard the yacht Narcissus. They will leave later this week-end for Capri.

Tokyo — (AP) — A U.S. four-engine transport plane crashed and burned on takeoff at Kadana air force base on Okinawa Friday. All 30 military passengers escaped serious injury, air force headquarters said.

Potenza, Italy — (AP) — Scores of residents of this southern town, hard hit by the earthquake of 1930, fled to the hills Friday night to sleep in the open after a noisy quake rattled their homes. There were no reports of casualties and there was little damage.

Brazil, Ind. — (AP) — A pastor's wife swore out a warrant against her husband today and charged him with deserting his pulpit, wife and little son to run off with "teenage girl in a sport red convertible." Mrs. Buford Blair said she saw her husband drive off with the girl.

Death Of Emilie Breaks Up Famous Dionne Quints

By MERRILL MORRIS
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Ste. Agathe, Que. — (CP) — Emilie Dionne, one of the famous quintuplet sisters, died Friday at a Roman Catholic hospital near this resort centre in the Laurentian hills.

Described as a victim of epilepsy since she was 3, the girl who celebrated her 20th birthday with her four sisters May 23 suffered three strokes prior to her death.

Two occurred Thursday night and the third, which proved fatal, while she lay in her bed Friday morning at the hotel operated for old folks by the Oblate Sisters of Mary Immaculate.

Thursday she was seen by residents of the hotel neighborhood, two miles from Ste. Agathe, strolling normally about the institution's grounds at Lac Brule in the dark habit of the Oblate Order.

She was said to have joined the order as a novice two months ago.

Emilie's death stunned authorities at the hotel and officials who had to contend with the formalities it created.

The Oblate Sisters declined to discuss any details of the event and Msgr. S. Noisieux, who as parish priest has charge of the institution, referred queries for information to provincial police headquarters in Montreal.

had ordered an autopsy to try to establish the nature of the illness.

Emilie's death occurred while Oblate Sisters who had been at her bedside during the night left to attend Mass thinking her quiet rest meant she was in no danger.

When they returned from the religious service they discovered the girl had suffered her third stroke.

Dr. Albert Joannette was summoned from Ste. Agathe but he reached her bedside about 10:30 a.m. E.D.T. to pronounce her dead.

Emilie's stay at the hotel was interrupted three weeks ago when her sister Marie left the Quebec cloister of the Servants of the Blessed Sacrament.

Religious circles in Quebec said at the time that Marie had given up cloister life at least temporarily after eight months because she was "confused and homesick."

Emilie travelled the 45-mile distance southeast from Ste. Agathe to Montreal to meet Marie but became lost in Montreal's busy streets and asked directions of police.

After questioning at a police station by officers who at first were doubtful about her identity, Emilie was taken to the Roman Catholic archbishop's palace.

Transportation was arranged to the home of a brother-in-law, Maurice Grouard, at Waterloo, 60 miles away, and from there Emilie and Marie were reported to have been driven to the Dionne home at Callander.

Vienna — (AP) — All sermons by Roman Catholic priests in Czechoslovakia are subject to serve pre-censorship by Czech security authorities, the Austrian Catholic news service reports.

The priests were warned by the Communist-run office for church matters that one of its officials will in the future be present in the church to check whether the text of the sermon is identical with the one submitted to the police, the report said.

Biggest single phase of the project will be the removal of a point of rock, weighing an estimated 2,700 tons, right at the edge of the American falls.

Order Repairing Of Niagara Park

Niagara Falls, N.Y. (AP) — The Niagara Frontier State Parks Commission Friday ordered a start on work to repair the Prospect Point area where 185,000 tons of rock fell from the American Falls last week.

Biggest single phase of the project will be the removal of a point of rock, weighing an estimated 2,700 tons, right at the edge of the American falls.

Reds Ready To Talk On Astronomy

By JOHN BIRD
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Ottawa — (CP) — A Canadian scientist said Friday Russia wants to co-operate with the West in solving the mysteries of the universe.

W. S. McClenahan, head of the time service section of the Dominion Observatory, said he based his statement on discussions with Russian scientists in Leningrad and Moscow in May and June. Mr. McClenahan visited Russia at the invitation of the Soviet Academy of Sciences to attend the official reopening of the Pulkovo Observatory, 10 miles from Leningrad. The Observatory was destroyed by the Germans during the Second World War.

The reopening ceremonies and a conference associated with the event were attended by scientists from many Western countries. The Observatory they saw reopened is regarded as one of the most modern in the world.

Mr. McClenahan, only Canadian government delegate at the ceremony and conference, was in Russia 16 days. Nine of them in Leningrad and the rest in Moscow.

Mr. McClenahan said Russian astronomers told him they want to exchange more astronomical information with the West. He said he told them that Canada would like to receive more information from Russia on their work in the field of astronomy.

"There has been an exchange of information between Western nations and Russia for several years," he said. "There was an improvement last year and I hope that our talks with the Russian scientists will bring about a further improvement."

He expressed surprise at the effort Russian scientists are making in the study of astronomy.

"The amount of money being spent on buildings and equipment is large," he said. "The Russians don't seem to be sparing any expense on the development of astronomical work."

Mr. McClenahan said he brought back a descriptive pamphlet on a new Russian-designed instrument for measuring the positions of stars. The observatory was considering whether it should build a similar instrument in Ottawa.

Waterloo, August 7 — The first of the Eastern Townships fall fairs and exhibitions got off to an auspicious start here yesterday as the annual Waterloo Fair opened its gates on a three-day program of livestock, farm produce and handicraft exhibits, manufacturing displays and midway thrills.

The weather was fine — suitable to the occasion — and fair officials estimated that despite a late arrival by the fabulous Bernard and Barry Midway, some 500 people flocked through the first-day free-admission portals to open this season's round of fair sightseeing.

Record entries were reported in all classes, except in the vegetable class, where poor weather has delayed many of the crops. Fair President Garrett Chapman of Waterloo, said, however, that "the quality of all entries, including vegetables, is the best I've seen in many years."

Other fair officials of the Shefford County Agricultural Society were jubilant over this year's show.

Director Irving Slack exclaimed "This is the largest and best fair ever. We have exactly a hundred entries in — far better than previous years, and nearly all of them are first class."

Several distinguished guests are also expected to attend the Waterloo Fair this year, either this afternoon or tomorrow to add lustre to this exhibition.

The Provincial Minister of Agriculture, the Hon. Laurent Barre is expected to be here this afternoon, as is Marcel Boivin, Member of Parliament for Shefford County. The genial and well-known Mayor of Granby, Horace Boivin, has also signified his intention to attend.

The first set of sulky races will also be run off this afternoon; three classified trot and paces, each for a purse of $250.

Three more will be staged tomorrow on the track in front of the grandstand for the same purse, and some of the best horses from the most popular stables in the Eastern Townships and surrounding districts will be running for the cash.

Yesterday there were 50 entries in to Lucien Yvon, racing secretary, who said that he has had to turn away some entries, so heavy have been the requests. There will be horses competing from C. Taylor's stable, Ayer's Cliff; the Beaudoin stable, Sherbrooke; Hauver stable, Waterloo; St. Hyacinthe stables; Pike stables, Bridgeton, Me.; and the Bernard Blanchette stable, Char-

Clean-Up Of Vagabonds Is Demanded

Montreal (CP) — Civic and labor leaders, stirred by the gruesome slaying of six-year-old Raymond Trudeau, have demanded a clean-up of pervers, alcoholics and vagabonds.

Municipal Judge Marechal Nantel said the courts will do everything possible to rid the park surrounding Mount Royal of all undesirable characters.

He said 500 arrests had been made on Mount Royal this summer and warned gross indecency offenders that sentences will be five years in the penitentiary and the lash "to prevent a repetition of these cases."

City Councillors Harry Kolber and Frank Horan complained only eight policemen are assigned to patrol the 500-acre area on Mount Royal, in the heart of the city. They asked for better lighting and the thinning out of low-lying bushes.

Claude Jodoin, president of the Montreal Trades and Labor Council, said all AFL-TLC labor bodies in the province would be asked to join a drive to take pervers off the streets.

"We intend to follow it up," Mr. Jodoin said. "Resolutions are being sent to the city, provincial and federal governments."

Roger Prevost, president of the Quebec Federation of Labor, said: "The murder of the Trudeau child is the result of our slums, and the insufficient number of health institutions."

The boy's body was found last weekend, packed into cardboard cartons and a suitcase. Police said the slaying was the work of a "sadistic maniac."

Lucien Picard, a four-foot, 11-inch unemployed machinist, has been charged with the murder.

Today's Chuckle

"What funny names these Korean towns in the news have," remarked the man from Schenectady as he read a Poughkeepsie newspaper on his way to meet a friend in Hackensack.

Ex - Premier Heads Trip To Peiping

By FRASER WIGHTON
London — (Reuters) — Labor Party leader Clement Attlee began packing his bags Friday for a visit to Communist China — first such political mission to Peiping since Mao Tse-Tung seized power nearly five years ago.

The 71-year-old former Prime Minister will leave by air Monday for Moscow at the head of an eight-member labor delegation including leftist rebel Aneurin Bevan. It is considered the most influential British labor delegation ever sent abroad.

The delegates will spend two days in Moscow — and may see Soviet Premier Georgie Malenkov — before flying on to Communist China for a visit of about two weeks.

A Reuters dispatch from Moscow quoted diplomatic observers as saying they expect Malenkov to receive Attlee and reiterate Russia's declared wish for improved relations with Britain.

Attlee has accepted an invitation from Sir William Hayter, British ambassador in Moscow, to be his personal guest. Other members of the delegation will stay in a Moscow hotel.

The delegation has strong labor union representation. It also contains one woman — tall, auburn-haired Dr. Edith Summerskill, 53, Minister of National Insurance in Attlee's post-war government.

Morgan Phillips, a delegation member and Labor party secretary discussed arrangements for the trip with Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-lai at the Geneva Far East conference last month. Phillips, 52, is chairman of the Socialist International.

The goodwill mission stems from a resolution put forward for the Labor party conference last year. The party national executive approved the resolution and made overtures to Peiping.

Communist China, recognized by Britain shortly after it came to power, gave a green light to the visit some months ago.

Following their stay in Peiping, the Labor leaders — with the exception of Attlee — will visit socialist parties in Japan, Malaya, Singapore and Burma.

Attlee will not accompany the delegation to Japan because he has accepted invitations to visit Australia and New Zealand before returning to Britain in time for Labor's annual conference at Scarborough in late September.

In addition to Attlee, Bevan, Phillips and Mrs. Summerskill, the delegation includes: Wilfred Burke, 64, M.P., current chairman of the party; Sam Watson, 55, a coal-miner's leader; Harry Earnshaw, textile workers leader; and Henry Franklin, former president of the National Union of Railwaymen.

Kingston, Jamaica — (Reuters) — Lester Simmonds, former Jamaican minister of education, today filed an appeal against the sentence of 15 months imprisonment passed on him last month for conspiring to communicate secret information to "persons unknown."

French Assembly Agrees To Showdown On EDC Plan

By HAROLD KING

Paris. — (Reuters) — France decided Friday to face up to a decision on the European Defence Community treaty after stalling for more than two years.

The National Assembly voted 514 to 100 in favor of beginning the EDC debate Aug. 24. Premier Pierre Mendes-France proposed the "date with destiny" in presenting the next two weeks of parliamentary business.

No French government has dared submit the six-country army treaty for ratification since France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands and the Duchy of Luxembourg agreed on it in May, 1952. Italy is the only other country which has not ratified the treaty.

It now appears certain that by the end of this month, France will have accepted, rejected or proposed amendments to EDC for better or worse. France may then have consented to share control of her armed forces with the governments of the other five countries including her historic enemy, Germany.

Meantime, the Premier took the sting out of the current two-day debate on his "new deal" economic policy by announcing he will seek a vote of confidence on it Tuesday. He is virtually assured of winning his demand for special powers to execute sorely needed economic reforms.

Questioners in the National Assembly tried to pin down Mendes-France on his attitude to EDC but he skillfully sidestepped any commitment.

He told a questioner that the debate would cover the reports of the assembly's foreign affairs and national defence commissions, both of which are critical of the present EDC treaty. Any other counter proposals also would be discussed, as well as European affairs in general, he said.

Before the great debate begins, the Premier will meet the foreign ministers of the other five EDC countries in Brussels Aug. 19 and 20. He will tell them his compromise proposals now being formulated and will urge that they agree to adopt these modifications as the sole chance of getting the French Parliament to adopt a European army scheme.

At present nobody, including the premier himself, knows exactly what he will propose.

If Your Child Is Born Today

Today's child is one of those very ingenious youngsters who has all the answers at his or her fingertips as soon as he or she learns to be quiet awhile and combine accurate intuitions, that are definite part of this child's nature, with deliberate judgment arising from careful forethought. Unless you have this youngster's care make point of this, your progeny will miss a big, glorious chance for success in any vocation requiring profundity, depth, intelligence and firm, right convictions.

Waterville W. M. S. Holds Meeting For July-August

Waterville, Aug. 7. — Miss E. Nilsson entertained the Waterville W.M.S. for the July-August meeting on the lawn of her home.

Mrs. Beckett presided and Miss Swanson was pianist. Hymn No. 15 was sung, followed by a general thanksgiving prayer in union.

The president introduced the topic "Your Family and the World." Passages of Scripture were read by Mrs. Butler, Mrs. James Burnell and Mrs. E. Parkinson.

Mrs. Ingham reported on the food sale table at the garden party at "Loch Gael," thanking all who contributed to its success. The president thanked Mrs. Pocock and Mrs. Ingham, the conveners, for their efficient services in that connection.

Two former members, Mrs. Peasley and Mrs. A. L. Blier, who have moved from Waterville were welcomed to the meeting. Satisfactory reports were given by the secretary and the treasurer.

The solo "The Lord Is My Shepherd" was very pleasingly rendered by Mrs. Charles Smith, accompanied by Miss Swanson. Mrs. James Burnell reported a box of good used clothing shipped for Overseas Relief. Miss C. W. Woodside read a letter from Dr. T. V. Mooney, acknowledging financial payment for this shipment.

In the social hour that ensued Miss Nilsson served refreshments to twenty-seven guests. She was assisted in serving by Mrs. G. Knutson and Mrs. C. Smith. Tea and coffee were poured at the very attractive tea table by Mrs. W. Ayer and Mrs. Baglow.

Daddy Ringtail Talk With A Frog

By WESLEY DAVIS

Mugwump Monkey, the monkey boy, stopped very still to listen. The noise was slow with a hum on the end. "Chigger-rum! Chigger-rum! Chigger-rum!" said the monkey, and then it stopped.

Mugwump also stopped. He stopped very still on his hands and knees where he had crawled. He was right at the edge of a little pond of water. The pond was very little—as little as a small table.

Oh, but there on the edge of the pond sat a frog. He was such a little frog that Mugwump didn't see him at first, and then the frog began to say: "Chigger-rum!" "Chigger-rum!"

"Do tell!" said Mugwump. Mugwump looked at the frog. The frog looked at Mugwump. "Do you know something?" asked Mugwump. "I sure do wish that you were a talking frog."

But the frog was not a talking frog. All he could say was a frog noise of "Chigger-rum." Oh, but the frog seemed to be a friendly fellow, and he listened while Mugwump did the talking.

"Yessir," said Mugwump, "if you were a talking frog, I'd ask you why you live here alone in the little pond. I'd ask you why you don't live in the river, or maybe in the duck pond. I'd ask you why you don't live some other place with more water."

The frog blinked his eyes at all these words, and then Mugwump hurried on to say: "Yessir, and I betcha if you could talk you would tell me why you live here. And I betcha you would have a very good reason, and I betcha I know what the reason is."

"Chigger-rum!" said the frog, without really moving at all, not even to blink his eyes.

"Sure," said Mugwump, "and I bet you live here because this pond is your home, and Daddy Ringtail says that home is the happiest place in the world."

"Chigger-rum!" answered the frog, and then he dived into his pond of water and swam on down beneath a leaf.

"Yessir," said Mugwump, "home is the happiest place in the world, I guess, and away he ran back home to supper, and that was the end of the talk with the frog, all on a very fine day. Happy day!"

Miss C. Sanborn Feled At Shower

Cowansville, Aug. 7.—Mrs. W. Beattie and her daughters, the Misses Eris and Wilma Beattie, entertained at a delightful miscellaneous shower for Miss Carole Sanborn, of Thetford Mines, formerly of Sweetsburg, whose marriage will take place in Sherbrooke on August 21st.

Over thirty-five guests were in attendance from Farnham Centre, Sweetsburg and Cowansville, also Mrs. Kristian Lukassen and her daughter Gail, of Sutton, Mrs. William Melen, of Toronto and Miss Mary Smith, of Farnham.

Miss Sanborn was taken completely by surprise when she entered the home of her aunt and cousins. Decorations in the living room were carried out in pink and white, the feature of interest being a large table of gifts, which was centered with flowers.

The bride-elect, who was assisted ed by her sister, Shirley, Mrs. Marcel Fregeau, in opening the parcels, expressed her thanks to all her friends for the gifts and to her hostesses for their hospitality.

A bride's cake, attractively decorated, was served with the refreshments.

But No Correct Entries So Prize Money In Crossword Mounts To $40

Well, we're off again for the grand sweepstakes.

Over one thousand persons—1,008 to be exact—answered Record puzzle contest No. 62 but none of you returned the right solutions so the prize-money now amounts to forty dollars, or eighty dollars if a sales slip from Au Bon Marche, Engr., is enclosed with your reply.

Remember, that a current sales slip from Au Bon Marche will double your share of the prize-money in case of a division of the spoils.

And do not worry about using up your puzzle forms and then being done out of the Lucky Dollars. If you get hold of one of these dollar bills, we will see that you get a puzzle form to qualify yourself.

And now to the letters. There is this plaintive note:

"Since you would not let me have the twenty dollars to spend while in Niagara, please let me have the thirty when I get home."

Well, maybe we could make it forty—or even eighty if you buy at Au Bon Marche—for the fair. It all depends on your entry.

And from a newcomer: "This is only my second try, and I never was much good at crosswords before, so cannot hope to win so soon. But here goes! Enclosed find Au Bon Marche sales slip."

On the other hand we have a veteran contestant who writes:

"Here I come with my 61st try and still anxious. You have thought up a tough one for us this week or maybe I am slipping. I had to rush in from the garden to finish this in haste. Wishing you all success and myself good luck."

And we learn something on milk consumption, as follows:

"Regarding the quantity of milk taken daily. If you can, go on a milk diet. Drink a glass of pure milk every hour, every day for a week. After that drink or 'chew' a glass every three-quarters of an hour and by the end of this diet you can consume a glass every half-hour. Imagine eating GLASS like that," said Zany Brain.

"Note: Milk should be 'chewed' to get real benefit."

As Zany Brain is not with us, we will close with a word from his pal, "Zoot Brane," who addressed "Deer Bizzy Clirks":

"I done no Y, but sum peepul R mad becuz they cannut yoor nize puzzul (I'll hiliar if I can't find a lucky dollar). I thing it iss fun. I no U'R glad 2 no U av at least wun entilegent

RECORD - CROSSWORDS

$40. or $80. IN CASH!
As no contestant was successful in winning last week's prize of $30.00, this week's prize will be $40.00.

HOW TO DOUBLE THE PRIZE MONEY

If a sales slip from AU BON MARCHE ENGR. is included with your entry the prize money will be doubled.

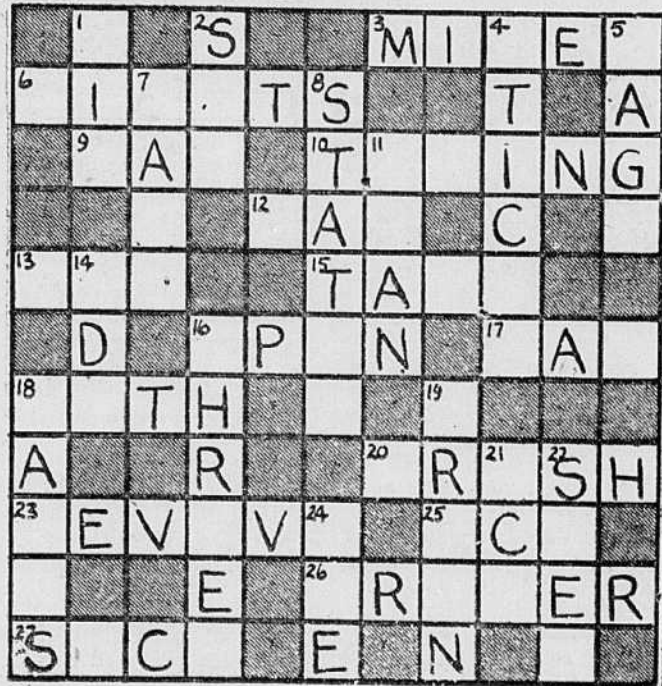

Solve the clues as you would any crossword puzzle. Clip out the puzzle after you have filled it in and mail it — or good exact-size facsimile of it — to RECORD CROSSWORDS, c/o the Sherbrooke Daily Record. All answers must be received by mail or delivery in the Record Office not later than next Friday at 8 a.m. If more than one contestant succeeds in answering the puzzle correctly the prize will be divided among those having the correct solution. If no one succeeds in answering the puzzle correctly the prize will be added to next week's puzzle prize money.

No household may send in more than TWO solutions. Sherbrooke Record employees and their families are not eligible for the prize money.

Study the clues carefully before you write down your answers. There is always one answer which is the best. The decision of the judges in the contest will be final and all contestants taking part agree to abide by the decision.

IMPORTANT — To be acceptable all entries must be clipped along the dotted line. This is important.

EXPLANATION OF MORE DIFFICULT CLUES:

ACROSS:

- HOPE is one of the virtues, and it would certainly seem rather sad for a person to be without it. Many a wandering minstrel has been of this type has HOME, and is perfectly happy about the fact.
- True of JAW. It is not when he is breaking the LAW that a man "tells" but rather after he has broken it and is arrested.
- To find which of two men is the FASTER, all you have to do is time them to find which has the most "AT" or FASTER might not be at all easy. To measure them will merely tell you which is the bigger.
- SLY is best. The clue says "do a world of good" which indicates a characteristic exists that is good, such as SLY. A SHY youngster is not a bad youngster and you would more likely refer to such a club as "helping" a SHY youngster.
- A SPILL — an upset, CAN BE SEEN. SKILL is an abstract quality and cannot be seen. All you can see is a demonstration of SKILL.
- A fine SON, his own flesh and blood, gives him every reason for pride. As for SOW he may value it highly but he is less likely to be actually "proud" of it unless perhaps he has bred it and raised it himself.
- ART is the more comprehensive answer, since it covers both cases. There is definitely ART in putting over an ACT.
- "Successful men" definitely means men successful in LIFE, and LIFE is a perfect answer. Where is restricted to MARRIED men, whereas the broad term "successful men" would include many bachelors.
- DENSE is best; it is suggested by "world series crowd". Whether it is TENSE or not depends on how tight the game is.

DOWN:

- NATURALLY she will want to be sure it's the right SHAPE. The question of SHAPE of color will not always arise; for example very many handbags are BLACK, and black is not, strictly speaking, a COLOR.
- DELAY is best because the clue says "can lead". DELAY of perishable goods, to all intents and purposes, is less. DELAY "can lead" to DELAY (i.e. loss).
- IT CERTAINLY doesn't pay to be NASTY, since this can only make things worse. IT PROBABLY doesn't pay to be HASTY, but if you're giving truthful evidence on facts of which you are sure, there may be no special need for caution.
- A tendency to excitability is often an inherent characteristic of FOALS. FOALS is a weak answer because there is no necessary connection between FOOLISHNESS and excitability. In fact, FOOLS by their very dullness of intellect, often tend to be LESS excitable than many other people.
- NOVICE is best. The object of a NOVICE is to convey information with maximum simplicity and the minimum of ambiguity; that is, you don't expect ANY subtlety, whatsoever. A NOVICE may have some subtlety, but you certainly don't expect much.

1,000TH BIRTHDAY CLUB MEMBER — Pictured above is baby Barry Reginald Wilkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Wilkins, of Danville, who was born on Saturday, July 31. He was the thousandth baby to be enrolled in the Sherbrooke Hospital Auxiliary Birthday Club and is an honorary member. The baby is pictured on leaving the hospital, just after his mother was presented with two gifts, donated by leading Sherbrooke merchants — a baby blanket, from Tot's Town, and a Baby-book from The Darby Shop. With the baby, in the picture are: Mrs. R. E. Rockwell, who with Mrs. G. A. Rockwell, is co-convenor of the club, Miss Bernice MacMillan, nursery nurse, who is holding Barry, and the baby's mother, Mrs. Reg. Wilkins. (Record Photo by Gerry Lemay)

First Annual Soapbox Derby Being Staged Upon Joffre Bridge Today

Anyone who happens to wander about the Eastern approaches of the Joffre Bridge about two o'clock this afternoon will see a surprising collection of pint-sized vehicles — more popularly known as soap-boxes — accompanied by their drivers and in many cases by adult supervisors.

To satisfy the curiosity of the passers-by, these will be the participants in the soap box derby which is being sponsored by the 12-15 Club of a local playground group.

When entries closed on Wednesday evening, it was found that some 36 boys between the ages of twelve and fifteen plan to start in the event today. They will start from Bowen Avenue South and travel to a point midway on the bridge. The twelve taking the longest time to complete the distance will be eliminated from the first round. Each boy will make his trip separately and his time will be clocked.

Another twelve will be eliminated from the quarter-finals, and six from the semi-finals to leave six in the last stage. It is surprising the ingenuity the boys have displayed, often aided by their fathers, and the spectators will get a thrill out of seeing their vehicles and their costumes.

It is hoped to make this an annual event, open to all boys in the city. Through a misunderstanding on the part of one group of the promoters, the idea prevailed this year that entries were limited to the members of the 12-15 Club.

The supervision of the program will be in charge of Father Cloutier and Eugene Lalonde. The judges for the most original and best-built car will be Robert Ricard, Jean Paul Savard, Robert Martin and Gilles Cloutier, the time-keepers Eugene Lalonde, Georges Sylvestre and Odilon Fortier, and the commentators, M. Gobeil and Henry Delorme. Among the guests-of-honor will be Mayor J. Emile Levesque, members of the City Council, Police Chief Edouard Moreau and Alphe Gauthier.

Universalist Summer School Stresses Practical Application Of New Theory

Universalists at Ferry Beach Park, Saco, are experimenting with progressive methods in religious education. At the two week Institute of Religious Education, Rev. Edna Bruner of Boston, field worker for the Council of Liberal Churches, Universalist-Unitarian, is carrying on a laboratory school conducted by expert leaders in the field of education and church school work.

The school is set up with classes attended by children of people at the Institute and children brought in from Biddeford, Saco, Portland and Old Orchard. The adults at the Institute, teachers from Universalist churches from all the New England States, Eastern Canada and from as far west as Illinois and Wisconsin are having a program of observation and discussion. The following people are present from North Hatley: Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Stoddard, Gordon Stoddard, Margaret Stoddard.

For an hour and a half each day the adults observe the classes in session, and then for the hour immediately after their observation discuss what they have seen with the Institute's psychological and educational consultant, Dr. Dorothy Tilden Spoerl, of American International College at Springfield, Mass.

Here they discuss what the teacher did, and why, what else she might have done, how the children reacted, and what makes them do these things. Later in friend. The longest word I no how to spell is "antidistastabularianism". So, until next week.

Denies Quebec Cathedral Is Canada's First

Taking issue with a statement recently appearing in the Record that the recent ceremonies at the Anglican Cathedral of the Holy Trinity in Quebec City marked the 150th anniversary of that church as a cathedral and that it was the first Anglican Cathedral founded outside of Great Britain, A. Raymond Perkins, a resident at 663 Argyle Street, Sherbrooke, declares that the Church of the Holy Trinity was consecrated 150 years ago but not as a cathedral.

At first it was simply a parish church and only became a cathedral a number of years later. He continues that the first Cathedral founded in Canada was that of Christ Church Cathedral in Fredericton, N. B., which was founded as a cathedral in 1845 and completed and consecrated as such in 1853, with Rt. Rev. John Medley as first bishop.

Mr. Perkins believes that this was the first Cathedral Foundation in the British Empire outside of Great Britain.

The Record makes no attempt to defend this error except to point out that it was a story received from a news agency which did not originate in this office.

St. Francis Flow Is Below Normal

Ottawa (CP)—Run-off of Canadian rivers in July was 153 per cent of normal compared with 163 per cent in June, the Department of Resources announced Friday.

Stream flows in Nova Scotia and Quebec were sub-normal, but run-off for the month in Canada as a whole was very high for the time of year, the division reported.

The run-off of some of Canada's typical rivers with percentages of normal:

Nova Scotia: St. Mary's 50, La-Have 108, New Brunswick: Lepreau 226, Saint John 213; Quebec: Outardes 82, St. Francis 81, St. Maurice 85, Harricana 99.

Wolverine Taken By Marbleton Man

Marbleton, Aug. 7. — A forty-pound wolverine was caught here on Wednesday by Dan McKenzie.

Naturally Mr. McKenzie is receiving the congratulations and thanks of his neighbors, whose poultry had suffered from the depredations of the animal.

The wolverine had visited every poultry house in the village, killing and eating over fifty birds. Several skunks, which are very prevalent, have also been caught.

The Primary Class is directed by Miss Martha Blackmer, superintendent of the Church School, Universalist Church, Orange, Mass., and a public school teacher in Orange.

The pre-school class is conducted by Miss Marjorie Woodman of Biddeford, Maine, trained at the University of Maine and Merrill-Palmer School in Detroit.

Each evening Rabbi Abraham I. Jacobson of Temple Emanu-El, in Haverhill, Mass., is presenting a series of evening lectures on "The Psalms" illustrated by experiences from his interesting background of travel and study. Rabbi Jacobson is at present writing his Ph.D. Thesis for presentation soon at Columbia University.

Recreational facilities are superb at Ferry Beach. Entertainment is provided for afternoons and evenings — dancing, movies, clam-bakes — make the visit a memorable one on the coast of Maine. Bathing has been of the best on one of the best beaches in the world.

Somebody has been playing tricks on us as far as the Lucky Dollar contest is concerned. Three time now, we have had phone calls from people who claim to have a winner. Telling them to either bring in the dollar or send it in, we sit back and wait for hours, with no results. This may be a practical joker's idea of fun, or it may be that the would-be winners got mixed up in their excitement and thought they had a lucky dollar, when they didn't have one after all.

We want as many winners as possible, but we want them to be winners, not just ones who think they are. Up to date we have had three dollars turned in for the ten dollar reward. There were three taken off the lucky list yesterday. But there are still ten Lucky Dollars lurking in the shadows, so don't forget to look out for them.

And, by the way, please be sure that you have the right number before you let us know. There are two letters and seven numbers on each bill. Your bill must correspond with the one in the paper in every way — not just the letters, not just part of the numbers, but everyone of the nine distinguishing figures that make up the serial number on the Lucky Dollar.

On each publishing day until further notice the RECORD will select and publish a serial number taken from a Bank of Canada one dollar bill. Persons having possession of these "Lucky Dollars" may redeem them for ten dollars each.

The bills whose numbers have been selected will have been put in circulation throughout the Eastern Townships immediately before the serial numbers are published.

Winners must produce the "Lucky Dollars" within two weeks of the first publication date of the serial number, and the winning bill or bills must be accompanied by the regularly weekly Record Crossword puzzle (or reasonable facsimile) at least 50% correctly completed.

If you have in your possession a dollar bill bearing a serial number published in the RECORD, telephone "Lucky Dollars," the Sherbrooke Daily Record, LO 9-3636 and arrange an appointment to exchange it for your reward.

If you live too far distant from the Record to make this convenient, send your "Lucky Dollar" and the crossword solution, to "Lucky Dollars," c/o the Sherbrooke Daily Record 119 Wellington street north, Sherbrooke.

The Record will not be responsible for "Lucky Dollars" delayed or lost in the mail.

All serial numbers not matched by the deadline automatically become inactive, and no payoff will be made on them. All "Lucky Dollars" and all other dollar bills submitted by persons who do not qualify for the reward will be returned to the owners after the serial numbers become inactive.

Work And Leisure

Another weekend is upon and finds most of us enjoying some form of leisure whether it be at home or at the summer cottage. The stricture of another working week is over (of course for the farmers this is not true) and for many it is a time to do those things which one enjoys doing.

This is where the controversy begins. The last statement would suggest that we do not all enjoy our work. We look forward to the five o'clock exodus, the punch clock bell, the locked shop door, the switched off machine. A certain anticipation of these moments is natural. After a day's work we are understandably tired. But a preoccupation with the clock's hands waiting for them to form the obtuse angle of five in the afternoon is not mentally healthy.

We hear so much by the older generation about these people whose ranks are chiefly filled with the young. "These young 'uns, all they want is an old age pension plan, the ability to collect their pay and get out early. They have no interest in their work apart from finding the lowest common denominator they can do and still get away with. What these people need is more work and less leisure." These older commentators are to be sympathized with but we feel they attack the problem in the wrong place.

We would suggest that the young have lost a healthy attitude to work precisely because they have lost an understanding of leisure. If we don't know how to use leisure its increase or decrease does not matter. What does matter is being educated to use leisure rightly and then the correct relationship towards work will follow.

What do we mean by leisure? To the modern mind it means absolute license to pursue pleasure, often with reckless abandon. As people have discovered through the last twenty centuries, pleasure is not something which can be pursued by and for itself. Pleasure is essentially a by-product of living. Its occurrence in our lives is fortuitous and unexpected. Those whose leisure hours and lives are spent in the pursuit of pleasure find that they cannot clutch the will-o'-the-wisp. Often they suffer mental ills as a result of not being able to satisfy this want.

Getting out of this atmosphere of wants and the pursuit of happiness, the Greeks looked upon leisure as a time of creative living and intellectual stimulation. They believed we should work to live and not live to work. Work was necessary and useful but was not the chief end of man. Life was lived at its fullest and deepest during leisure hours — which to the Greeks were few. Because this was so, the Greeks had a proper attitude towards work.

The meaning and purpose of life was not something which ended at nine o'clock in the morning when work began and then reappeared at five o'clock in the afternoon. Infusing their work they had this idea of a constructive leisure which gave purpose to their work no matter how trivial and dull. Happiness was omnipresent during the whole day.

Therefore we would say to the old timers, teach the young the meaning and purpose of life. Teach them the proper use of creative leisure whether it be from handicrafts to reading. Teach them that recreation means re-creation. In that way they will have a proper understanding of work whether they be company president or filing clerk.

Rhee's Dilemma

President Syngman Rhee of Korea is an old man who has single-mindedly nursed the dream of unity for his country for a long time. He wants to see it realized in his lifetime, which he knows has but a few years to run.

That explains why he is so belligerent in his attitude toward the Communist rulers of China and North Korea. His position, as outlined to the United States Congress, is crystal clear. He favors fighting a preventive war against the Communist world.

He believes in this course, with all the horror of atomic devastation it would bring, because he is realistic enough to understand that short of general war his country is unlikely to be unified in the foreseeable future.

Throughout the world, Rhee has many friends and admirers who respect his courage and his furious concentration upon the goal of Korean unity. But probably none of them would agree with his fantastic plan for achieving that objective at the cost of a third world war deliberately contrived by the free nations.

Certainly the United States, which gave him the forum of the Congress to make his appeal, does not share his extreme views. It is significant to the rest of the free world that at the conclusion of Rhee's talks with President Eisenhower says nothing about joining hands in a colossal drive to shake the Communist grip on Asia. It merely says that the two will continue co-operating as before.

Undoubtedly the United States is as determined as Rhee that the people of North Korea shall not be consigned permanently to permanent Communist oblivion. But that country, like other free nations, recognizes that in the years just ahead nothing very practical can be done about freeing them.

The United States could never launch a preventive war for far greater goals than a united Korea. Its position as virtual leader of the western world bars the way as does the knowledge that it would be unleashing the most horrifying weapons man could conceivably employ in warfare.

Rhee appreciates that leaving the unification of Korea to the United Nations' diplomatic corps is a pretty empty thing. That is where it was before the Korean war began — and nothing happened. Nothing is likely to happen now.

The world can sympathize with an old man in his sad dilemma, but it cannot accept his idea that it should risk bringing the house down in an effort to rebuild one of the back porches.

HUMAN CRAVING FOR BEAUTY

Windsor Star
The human soul has many built-in cravings. These, though they vary from person to person, are universal. They are inherent, in some degree, in all of us. They have prevailed down through the centuries.

Among these natural instincts is the desire for beauty. It is one of the most worthy of all human attributes. It has contributed much, in all generations, to making life worth living. It has created the great developments in architecture, horticulture, art, music, literature and associated endeavors. It has had its influence on all the finer things of life.

Beauty is to be found in many forms, natural or man-made. It is found in the human form; in the flowers of the field; in animals and birds; in the forests and streams, hills and lakes.

It is in fine buildings, pictures, gardens, clothing, furniture and other things with which we surround ourselves. It is an unfortunate soul indeed who is so bereft of a sense of beauty that he or she doesn't want some beauty nearby, or doesn't seek it out elsewhere.

Our modern era is an industrial, utilitarian one. Our factories and most other buildings are designed primarily for functional purposes. This is too bad. We have to look to the architects and builders of previous ages for the wonderful cathedrals and other masterpieces. Yet beauty and utility should be compatible, not contradictory.

But this very utilitarianism of modern times is, in a way, an outcome of our search for beauty. The products of our industry, usually, have fine designs. The profits and wages are used, in no small measure, by the recipients to enable them to have or to enjoy beautiful things.

Each summer millions take vacations. Mostly they go where they find, or hope to find, beauty. They go to the country where it still exists largely in its natural state. Even those who visit cities usually "sightsee" to inspect the finer buildings, art galleries, museums, etc.

Yet many moderns seem to lack that urgent sense of beauty which imbued so many of previous generations. It has been made subservient to the hectic scramble for the mediocrity of material success. We chase mirages rather than take time to cultivate and enjoy beauty.

Otherwise there would not be so many monstrosities of modern buildings; our streets and highways would be something more than mere thoroughfares; our waterfronts wouldn't be cluttered with eyesores.

The world could be so much more beautiful, enjoyable, happier and finer if we allowed our natural craving for beauty more freedom from the hobbles placed upon it by our modern materialism.

The River

By Rev. B. S. Murray, M.A.

By Rev. B. S. Murray, M.A.

To those who live in Eastern Canada there is only one river which is to them "Old Man River" — the stately St. Lawrence!

Unfortunately whilst we do not know its exact age, we do know that those explorers who discovered the river on that sixteenth century August 10 day decided to name it after the saint whom the church that day commemorated — "Laurence, Roman deacon, martyr, 358 A.D."

So today I am thinking of this mighty river. If that old man river could only speak what a story of men, their exploits, their hopes and dreams — great names and deeds, and names that are just names, ordinary men and women. And those ships, great and small, with their cargoes which have taken them perhaps across the seven seas must have their stories — colorful, romantic, hair-raising, worthy of being preserved and passed on from generation to generation.

Now as the river Jordan is sacred to the followers of the Master because He stood therein and was baptized, so, in a lesser degree, is the St. Lawrence revered by the lovers of Canada because along this river-lane came, with the explorers and discoverers, missionaries of the Cross of Christ with the message of "Love divine all loves excell-ing." Where the pioneers went, the Church of God with her ministries of the Word and the Blessed Sacraments followed, blazing trails, building spiritual highways, preparatory to that time when Christ shall reign as King from sea to sea.

So across the centuries this old man river — the St. Lawrence — has continued to make history and with its 2,338 miles extending from the Great Lakes to the sea providing transportation for ships is one of the really great highways of the world's transportation. Today a new project — the St. Lawrence seaway — has focused attention on the mighty river with some wishing that this old man river would just keep rolling along as he has for centuries, untouched, unmolested. Stately! That's the word! And whilst these protestations will not stop the project, they do show the depth of affection some Canadians have for The River. Their river! The stately St. Lawrence!

In re-thinking the story of the St. Lawrence and recalling the happy times I have had sailing on its waters, I find myself drawing parallels with life "as is." And don't you sometimes find life resembling a river? Joseph Fore Newton gave us, a few years ago, a fascinating book entitled "The River of the Years." To that beautiful, fertile mind and lovable, radiant spirit, like the palmist of old who regarded Time as an ever-rolling stream, life was like a river. The river of life! I, too, have often caught myself saying "how like a river is this experience or that." I like to think that is your experience, too.

If, perchance, you ever desire to prove the thesis that life is like a river, then sit down and have a think of the small beginning, the enlargement and enrichment of youth, the changing scenes of later days, many human contacts in experience, overshadowing mercies, hours of stress and strain and labor that test the soul, the onward effort until twilight falls.

Three Rivers

Rivers, you know, have tongues which those with especially attuned ears can hear as well as thoughts too deep for words. Oftentimes as I have sat on river banks they have, as they rushed along seemed to say "Men may come and men may go but I go on forever." That moment I have felt afresh the impact of "The river of the years."

Searching for the secret of their continuous, orderly flowing I couldn't but think that it was due to their keeping within the bounds of the river bed. In a similar way we, as children of God, can only live victoriously, happily, usefully when we, too, stay within the laws and commandments of God. So the river challenges us to walk in the Lord's appointed way and thereby experience the solid joys and lasting pleasures reserved for God's chosen.

Now all such welcome the second river — the river all have to cross — the River of Death for they know that Jesus, their Saviour and Friend, will be with them. He is all they need for hasn't He promised that He will bear us safe above, a ransom soul? And His promises never fail. Never.

Up there in the Better Land, amidst the sweet fields of Eden where the Tree of Life blooms, we shall discover the third river. The river that river whose waters are as clear as crystal which proceeds out of the throne of God and of the Lamb (Rev. 22: 1).

That river — unlike any other river — pure, clean, deep, sweet, satisfying, ceaseless — bespeaks the abounding love of God and His forgiveness. Alleluia! His salvation — full and free — is for who-soever will accept and obey Him. To such is given the sure and certain hope that they will, in the sweet bye and bye, "gather with the saints at the river" — beautiful, shining, silver.

This summer then, may rivers, little and large, suggest to you thoughts useful and challenging, all the while inspiring you to focus attention at that Land that is fairer than day where we shall find the River of Life beside which is the Tree of Life for the healing of men and nations. And do Thou, O God, give us to believe that we shall discover how the River of Life moves into the sea of Thy love. Amen.

Little Boy Next Door

By Pasinta J. Knowles

McClure Syndicate - WNU Features

New people were moving in the old house across the fence, and Molly went about her sewing near the window complacent with the certainty that the couple with the ten-year-old boy with whom she'd talked just the other day were not the folks moving in today.

Molly Turner had never liked children, and through all these twenty-five years she had been fortunate that none had moved next door. She felt in a way that telling prospective tenants with children the bad features about the old house had spared her an association she couldn't have endured. There hadn't been anything wrong in speaking the truth.

Molly put her sewing on a table, got up from her chair with difficulty and hobbled over to the coal stove to shake it down and put in a scuttle of coal. She had told the woman the truth about the house needing repair, and about Frank Overton being to tight he'd never do anything about it.

She straightened and turned toward the window, and that was when she saw him: Ronnie, the ten-year-old boy belonging to the woman she had talked to the other day. He was standing against the fence looking toward her house. Planning up his conquests of devilry, she thought, and she groaned in sick disappointment.

She hobbled back to her chair. So they had taken the house after all! Well — some-way she had to keep the brat out of her yard. There were her flowers in the spring and summer. He'd rummage in her sheds and break up things.

She glanced out of the window and saw Ronnie climbing the fence. She pulled herself out of the chair and waddled hastily to the door.

"Here, here," she called

Molly thought she had Ronnie settled, but the next afternoon there he was at her door.

to the child. "Get back in your own yard," Ronnie looked at her a second then climbed back over the fence.

Molly thought she had Ronnie settled, but the next afternoon when she went out to the shed for a bucket of coal, he came to the door. "I'll get your coal in," he said.

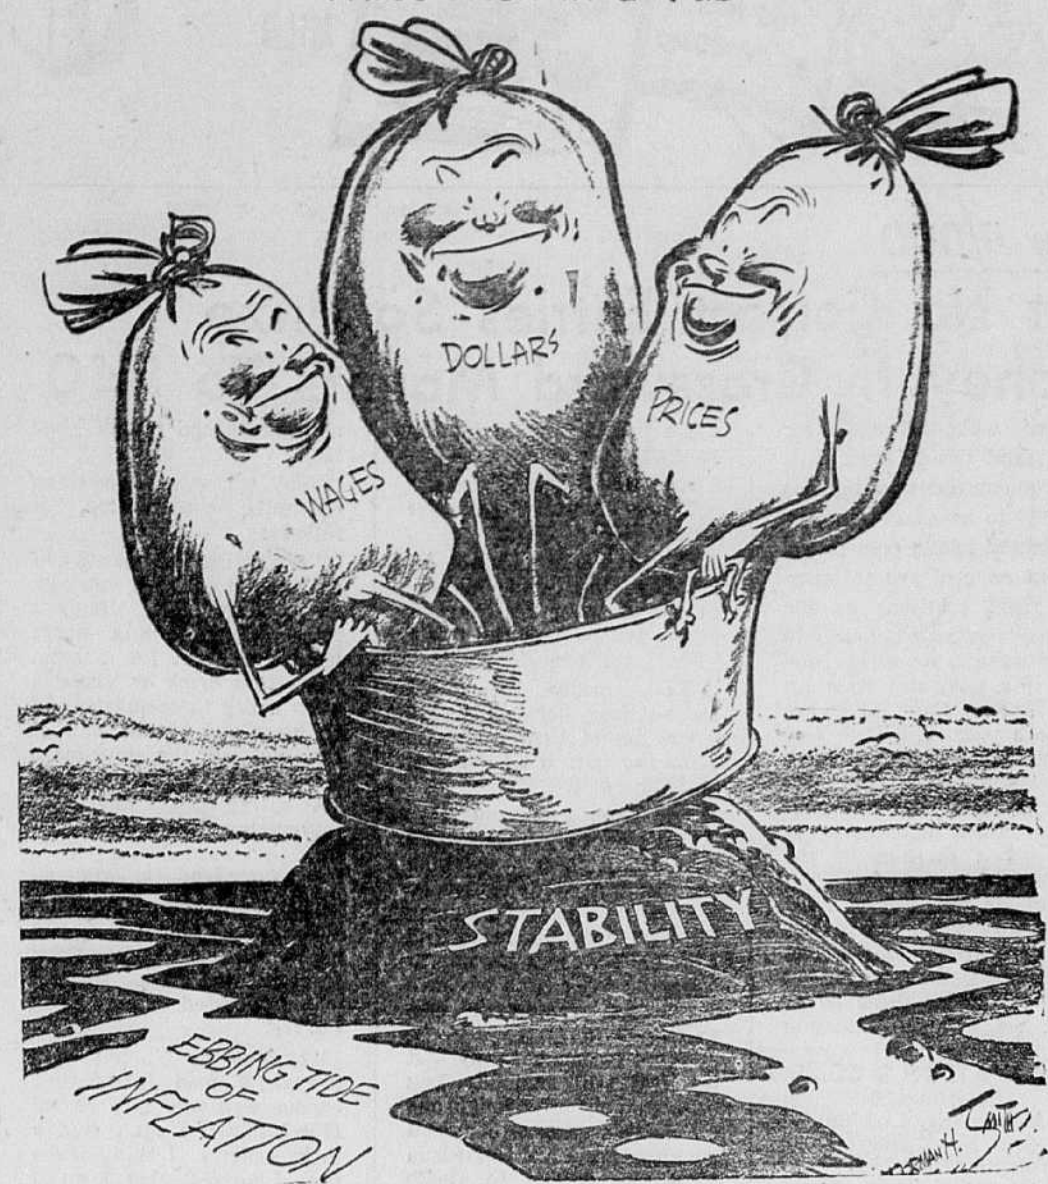

Molly wouldn't look at him. "I don't need you to get my coal in," she said. "Get back in your own yard. Go on, now!"

It was the way Molly looked that caused the kid to scamper down the walk and climb over the fence as if she had actually shot at his feet.

The unpleasant incident didn't keep Ronnie away. Every day Molly had to chase him out of her yard. Every day she vowed she'd skin him alive. What kind of mother did Ronnie have that she allowed him to pester a crippled old woman like her!

But one night a blizzard came, and the town of Hanover was covered with ice. Molly just had one bucket of coal by her stove, and she dared not venture out on the ice to get more. She needed the coal sparingly, and when she got down to the last shovelful, a lost, desperate kind

DON'T GET EXCITED OVER THIS BIDDING

Don't take the bidding of today's hand too seriously. It is given as though it actually happened by Pierre Albarran in his latest book, "One Hundred Extraordinary Hands," but I'm inclined to believe that the hand is more extraordinary than real.

The bidding is only a means of getting South into the fairly reasonable contract of three no-trump. This contract is defeated only when East appears to be taken with a fit of madness. West opens the ace of clubs, and East throws away his ace of diamonds. West continues with the queen of clubs, dummy plays the king, and East now throws away the ace of spades.

After this remarkable series of plays, South can take two high spades, three high hearts, one high diamond and a club. As soon as South tries to develop either the spades or the diamonds, West will gain the lead and defeat the contract with his long clubs.

East's mad plays are, of course, necessary to defeat the contract. If East keeps the ace of diamonds, South can lead a diamond from the dummy to wards his king. East can win one diamond trick with the ace, but then South's king will clear up the rest of the suit. South will therefore make enough diamond tricks to guarantee the contract.

The effect of throwing away the ace of diamonds is to transfer the defenders' only diamond trick to West. The ace of diamonds is dead, but the queen of diamonds lives on.

This unusual play is still not enough to defeat the contract. Declarer can lead spades to wards his hand, giving up one trick to the ace whenever East wants to take it. This shuts West out and gives South enough spade tricks to guarantee the contract.

East defeats this plan by throwing away his ace of spades. The defense is still sure of one and only one spade trick, but now it is West who wins that trick with the jack instead of East with the ace.

of feeling went over her. What would she do?

Late that afternoon a knock sounded on her door, and when she opened it, Ronnie smiling up at her uncertainly.

"I'll get your coal in, Miss Turner," he said. "It's slick. 'n you might fall. . ."

Molly couldn't speak for a moment. She felt almost humble with shame and gratitude that he had come. "Well, I — well, that would be sweet of you," she said finally, and for the first time in all these twenty-five years of not wanting children next door, she saw the injustice of her prejudice toward them. What queer quirk in her mind had blinded her to the happiness a child could bring her?

Maybe it was because she had never looked at one — not as she was looking now at Ronnie and seeing the clear innocence of his eyes. A smile broke across her old face, "Thank you, Ronnie," she said.

Strange, how good she felt saying it. The feeling was beautiful — one that she had waited much too long to experience.

Q—With both sides vulnerable, the bidding has been: South West North East

1 Heart Double Redbl. 1 Spade

You, South, hold: Spade 7, Hearts A-K-J-6-3-2, Diamonds 4-3-2, Clubs A-3-2. What do you do?

A—Bid two hearts. This may be your only cheap chance to show that you have a good heart suit. Your unwillingness to pass the spade bid around to your partner indicates also that you have poor defense against spades and a near-minimum opening bid.

TODAY'S QUESTION

The bidding is the same as in the question just answered. You, South, hold: Spades A-3-2, Hearts A-K-J-6-3-2, Diamonds 4-3-2, Club 7. What do you do?

tierville. Both this afternoon and to-night, too, as well as tomorrow afternoon and evening, a gala grandstand attraction will be staged, featuring such famous acts as Linon, the famous tramp on the rope, and Hodgins' dogs.

The glamorous midway, rivaling any in the Eastern Townships in variety and thrills, will also be in full swing today and tomorrow, with its traditional games of chance, exciting rides, and fabulous sideshows.

Yesterday, judging in most of the classes was just about completed. Results of judging were in to officials in swine, sheep, Canadian, Jersey, Holstein, Guernsey and Ayrshire cattle, flowers, cooking, farm produce, domestic products, handicrafts and canning. Poultry and horse exhibits were in the process of being judged, and complete results were expected to be in all departments by this afternoon.

In the sheep department, two exhibitors carried off most of the honors—Slack Brothers of Waterloo, and C. Persons, of Sweetsburg. Mr. Persons' prize Oxford won blue ribbons in each of their ten classifications, while the Slack Brothers' entries took the rest of firsts in all classifications for Hampshires, Suffolks, Cheviots and South Downs.

Leicester entries from the Lattelle farm, East Farnham, took the three top prizes in the classes in which they were entered: Ram, over two years; ewe, over two years; and ewe lamb.

In the swine section, R. Ares, of Waterloo, and P. D. Brodeur, of St. Valer, shared the honors in the Yorkshire class. Ares' entries captured top honors in seven of the 14 classifications, while Brodeur's took blue ribbons in five classifications. William Vincent of Waterloo, walked off with firsts in all Tamworth sections—three of them—while H. Thomas, of Brome, won the Canada Cement special prize for his entry of the best grade sow with a litter of pigs.

A. Edoin's prize herd of Canadian cattle from his Bedford farm won nearly all the prize ribbons in that class—eighteen of them—except for the bull two years and under three, which went to R. Ares. Ares' cattle also placed second to the Edoin entries in all the other classes.

Other cattle results were not yet tabulated, but fair officials said that there were no entries in the beef or dairy grade sections.

A horshow last night, sponsored by the Shefford County Agricultural Society highlighted opening day features here. A full program of sixteen events, including an interesting potato race and an obstacle competition were run, and horses from many well-known Eastern Township stables took part, under

Legion Hits Priority Of Guards Unit

By ALAN DONNELLY

Canadian Press Staff Writer

Toronto — The Canadian Legion thinks the position of precedence given the new Canadian Regiment of Guards is "an affront and a disgrace to the famous regiments of this country."

The Legion, in one of the closing acts of its week-long Dominion convention Friday, criticized the decision to give the Guards, formed last September, the honorary distinction of precedence over all other active force regiments.

In a resolution, the delegates said the Legion "abhors and condemns the degradation of our famous infantry regiments by this act." The Guard should not be given that arbitrary honor "until such time as this regiment shall have earned its position honorably on the field of battle."

The delegates' decision was made as the convention drew to a quiet close in a day devoted mainly to discussions of the Legion's internal business.

The more important decisions came earlier in the week:

A demand for compulsory selective service in both active and reserve forces, a rejection of the government's plan to reorganize the reserve army and a renewed demand for a better financial deal to the 40,000 needy veterans' widows receiving war veterans allowances.

The subjects of immigration and citizenship came before the convention Friday.

Delegates said that only immigrants who file notice of intention to become citizens should be admitted to the country. They should be deported, the convention decided, if they do not become citizens within a year after qualifying for it by living in Canada for five years.

Another resolution criticized the exemption from military service given Hutterites and Doukhobors.

Until its next convention in Vancouver in 1956, the Legion will be led by its newly-elected president, Very Rev. John O. Anderson, Anglican dean of Ottawa.

U.S. Turns Down Polish Protest

Washington (P) — The United States has rejected as "completely untrue" Communist Poland's charge that U. S. warplanes fired on two Polish merchant ships near Hainan Island July 26.

In a terse note delivered to the Polish foreign office in Warsaw Friday, the state department "categorically rejected" Poland's protest and said: "No American planes fired on any vessel or ship of any kind Polish or otherwise, in that area."

Poland in a note July 31 said the incident occurred on the same day U. S. navy fighters shot down two Red Chinese planes.

The American planes were searching for survivors of a British airliner which was shot down three days earlier, killing or wounding six American passengers.

COOKSHIRE—

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Smith, of Montreal, who spent a week with Mr. and Mrs. Archie Cook, have returned home.

The friends of Mrs. Bert Cook will be glad to know she is home from the Hospital, where she was confined for several weeks.

Quebec—(CP)—The Quebec government so far is committed to spend $46,024,335 in housing grants under the Quebec Housing Act, Premier Duplessis said Friday.

Mr. Duplessis, outlining housing progress under 1948 Quebec legislation said the money is the sum the government is committed to pay as its share of interest payments on Quebec-approved housing loans now totalling 23,757.

sets, fridges, milking machines, cars and kitchen utensils, all of the very latest in design are on display.

In one corner of the exhibition, stands an army recruiting information booth, manned by Sgt. R. K. Dick, of Sherbrooke. An electrically-operated garage door occupies another corner.

Upstairs, cooking and flower exhibits, as well as handicrafts and other farm produce were on display. Results in the cooking and flower sections were available yesterday.

Mrs. S. Chapman took most of the honours in the cooking class, largely in the canning section, carrying off 11 firsts. Mrs. O. P. Quilliams captured nine, and Mrs. Fred Allan, eight, including the Sherbrooke Daily Record Special for the best tray of Miniature cooking. Miss Joyce Talbot took four firsts, Mrs. Donald Spencer, three, Mrs. G. E. Hanson, two, and Mrs. M. Marsh, one.

In the flower section, Fred Allan walked off with seven firsts, Oscar George, four, R. R. Mizener and Mrs. F. McLean, three each.

Duke Urges Keeping Of Real Values

Vancouver — The Duke of Edinburgh reminded Canada Friday that she must not forget other values in the rush to develop resources.

He included the message in a crisp speech at a luncheon tendered by the Men's Canadian Club of Vancouver. He spoke five minutes, from notes.

The Duke said Canada must remember that development is only material gain and not an end in itself.

"Unless we think of our children and the future the work will have been in vain and vast resources will have been squandered."

"We should work for a happy, secure and peaceful life for the generations to come after us."

A high standard of moral values must be maintained. There must be a stable pattern of community life without injuring opportunities to pioneer.

The Duke started off with a couple of quips about the British Empire Games. He has been a regular visitor to the athletic events.

The Games he described as a "family party" and that meant he must be strictly neutral. "I'm equally delighted whoever wins."

Philip said the world had been given ample proof that Canada has her responsibilities as a mature nation. He mentioned her membership on the Indo-China truce team.

If this task is well done, he said, it will add immensely to the world's admiration and respect of Canada.

Quebec — (CP) — United States financial interests have approached the Quebec government with a plan to build a railway from James Bay in Quebec's unexplored northwest to Mont Laurier, about 120 miles north of Montreal.

Premier Duplessis told his weekly press conference Friday U. S. financiers headed by Edgar F. Kaiser, son of H. J. Kaiser, U. S. industrialist and automobile manufacturer, visited him this week to submit a project.

Beyond stating that the Quebec government is studying the possibilities Mr. Duplessis gave no details of the U. S. proposal.

A Canadian Pacific Railway line links Mont Laurier with Montreal.

ULVERTON—

Mrs. Bert Waterhouse has returned from a two week vacation spent in Hartford, Conn., where she visited her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Reed, and her sister, Miss Eleanor Reed, of Boston, and other relatives. She was accompanied home by Mr. and Mrs. John Gifford and family, of Hartford, who spent the weekend in Ulverton visiting relatives.

Mr. Horace Waterhouse, of Toronto, Ont., is spending his holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Waterhouse.

Congratulations are extended to Mr. Elton Doyle, formerly of Ulverton, who has successfully passed his final bar examination.

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Doyle, of Sherbrooke, were overnight guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Doyle on their return from a vacation in Prince Edward Island and New Brunswick.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Mace and two children and Mr. P. Miller were evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Prince, in Drummondville.

Asylum Is Granted To Polish Tar

London—(Reuters)—The Home Office announced Friday night that Antoni Klimowicz, the Polish stowaway taken off a Polish freighter in the Thames five days ago, had been granted political asylum.

The Home Office statement said that Home Secretary Sir David Maxwell Fyfe had decided to cancel the condition limiting the period of the Pole's stay in Britain.

It added: "Klimowicz is therefore at liberty to stay in this country in the same way as any other alien upon whose stay no time limit has been imposed."

Klimowicz, 28, had been granted permission to remain in Britain for one week after he was taken off the 3,219-ton Jaroslav Dabrowski by a posse of police last week-end.

This week Communist Poland protested in a note against the treatment Polish sailors had received from the police, and demanded compensation and the return of Klimowicz.

The Home Office declared Thursday there was no truth in allegations contained in the note.

Friday night's statements reviewed the case of Klimowicz who has lived this week with friends in a secret London hideout.

It said that because the captain of the freighter failed to give any assurance that a writ of habeas corpus would be obeyed, police searched the ship, removed Klimowicz from where he was confined under lock and key, and took him ashore.

The habeas corpus writ called on the captain to produce Klimowicz in court where it would be decided whether he had been unlawfully detained against his will.

OBITUARY

HERBERT TAYLOR MASON, OF FARNHAM CENTRE

Farnham Centre, August 7.

It was with regret that citizens of this community learned of the passing of Herbert Taylor Mason in the Neurological Institute of the Royal Victoria Hospital in Montreal on the morning of Wednesday, July 28, following a sudden but serious illness caused by cerebral hemorrhage.

Mr. Mason, the eldest son of the late Robert Mason and of Mrs. Belle Mason, of Iron Hill, was born March 16, 1898, at Iron Hill.

He was married twice, first to Miss Muriel Cameron, of Rawdon, Que., in June 1929, who predeceased him on December 6, 1946. Of that marriage one daughter, Ruth, Mrs. Stanley McKee, and one son, Dale Mason, both of Burlington, Ontario, survive him.

On September 24, 1947, he married Mrs. Margaret L. Sanborn, of Sweetsburg, who survives him. He also leaves a four-year-old son, Donald Mason, residing at Farnham Centre; his mother, Mrs. Belle Mason, three brothers, David, Cecil and Rodger Mason, and a sister, Alice, Mrs. Arnold Chapman, all of Iron Hill, and another brother, William Mason, of Cumberland, Ontario.

Mr. Mason was very well and favorably known in this section of the Eastern Townships.

The funeral took place at 2:30 o'clock on Saturday July 31, in Christ Church, Sweetsburg, with Rev. Percy Rollett, of Cowansville, and Rev. Dr. S. Wesley Boyd, of Sutton, officiating.

Christ Church was filled with the many relatives and friends of the deceased gentleman.

The bearers were his neighbors, friends at Farnham Centre, G.

Sunday School, 10 a.m.

Sunday Service, 11 a.m.

Subject: "SPIRIT."

Service at 8:00 p.m.

Wednesday

Reading room open Monday, Wednesday and Friday 3 to 5 p.m.; Friday evening, 7:30 p.m., at His Majesty's Building.

How every individual can find true joy, health, and courage through gaining a spiritual understanding of God will be explained at Christian Science church services on Sunday.

Keynoting the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Spirit" is the Golden Text from Galatians: "The fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance: against such there is no law."

The blessings bestowed on man by God, divine Spirit, will also be brought out in readings from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, including the following: "Spirit blesses man, but man cannot tell whence it cometh. By it the sick are healed, the sorrowing are comforted, and the sinning are reformed."

From the Bible, the following passage from John will be among those read: "God is a Spirit; and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth."

Sermon: "WHAT IS LIBERAL RELIGION?"

Universalists believe that we have a truly universal faith which is capable of meeting the challenge of the atomic age. Universalists are not bound by doctrinal restrictions and thus we are able to embrace the best to be found in the religious thinking of the world. Universalism has no quarrel with science, but works with science to create a better, happier world. Universalism believes that man is a creature of supreme worth who is capable of making come true the ancient dream of a kingdom of heaven upon earth.

At Rockcliffe, Quebec Street, on Wednesday, a luncheon was given by a number of friends, in honor of Miss Beverly Dawson, a bride-to-be of the month. The dining table was tastefully arranged with sweet peas in a variety of shades.

Following coffee in the living room, poured by Mrs. G. M. Young, a miscellaneous shower took place, when Mrs. Arthur Hogg, on behalf of the group, presented the bride-elect with a collection of lovely gifts which will add to the embellishment of her new home.

Mr. and Mrs. John Chesbro, Belvidere street, recently attended the funeral of Mr. Herbert Mason, which took place in Christ Church at Cowansville.

Amateur Prizes For E.T. Open Chosen With Great Care; Equal Distribution Assured; Post Entries To Be Accepted

All amateur players taking part in the E.T. OPEN at the Sherbrooke Country Club, on August 14th and 15th, will notice that great care has been taken in making the choice of their prizes.

First, the value of the prizes is great and it is the same for the players of class "C" as for those of class "B" and "A". It is felt by those in charge of the Open that players of class "C", which are great in number are those that patronize most of the events, and it is felt that recognition of this fact should be made by awarding prizes for class "C" equal to class "B" and "A".

The following prizes will be awarded for the E.T. OPEN:

Class A - B - C - Gross
1st.: "Featherweight" Bag Boy.
2nd.: "Coke" Portable Cooler.
3rd.: "Pop-Up" Electric Toast-er.
4th.: English Gabardine Golf Slacks.

Class A - B - C - Net
1st.: Reach Golf Bag.
2nd.: McFarlane Golf Shoes.
3rd.: 1 Doz. Golf Balls.
4th.: Nylon Golf Windbreaker.
There will thus be a total of 24 prizes given out at the Open. Furthermore, special prizes will be awarded to all players of

War Hero Is Top Designer For Jump Courses In International Horse Show; Wounded In Retreat From Dunkerque

By JEFF RYAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer
London (CP) — A blind man designs courses for horse show jumping that are among the finest in the world.

The designer is Lt.-Col. Michael Picton Ansell, ex-cavalry officer and trick rider whose main interests are horses and flowers. At his home in Bideford, North Devon, he spends hours designing courses he will never see.

He uses a magnetized board and miniature models of the fences, scaled to the size of the arena. All the fences and obstacles at the six-day international horse show in London's White City Stadium were designed by Col. Ansell.

War Wounds
His sight, long deteriorating as a result of Second World War wounds failed completely shortly before the White City show opened July 24. Among the competitors at White City were members of the Canadian team, whose best showing was made by Ottawa's 19-year-old Shirley Thomas.

The show was a sporting success and British writers gave Col. Ansell much of the credit. Attendances have jumped from 50,000 in 1947 to 105,000 in 1953.

Col. Ansell, a tall, erect man with a strong sense of humor, is also chairman of the British Show Jumping Association, director of the Horse of the Year Show and honorary director of the British Horse Society.

He was wounded in the retreat to Dunkerque in 1940 and spent three years in a prisoner of war camp, being repatriated when his sight became affected.

Crack Rider
Britain since the war has become one of the leading countries in the sport, with such riders as Lt.-Col. Harry Llewellyn, Wilfred White and Patricia Smythe and such horses as Foxhunter, Nizefela and Prince Hal gaining an international reputation.

Hunting Fishing Boating

By Phil Dustin

The past couple of weeks have produced some excellent fishing from all corners of this area according to reports reaching your scribe. One of the best that has been reported to me is an eighteen pound salmon from Memphremagog, with a world's record of 22½ lbs. It is quite some fish, and our congratulations are extended to this lucky angler. Have been unable to find out just who caught the fish. The chap that told me said he saw the fish, but didn't know the angler's name.

Some mighty fine Lakers have been coming out of Massawippi, one 18 pounder, a few in the 16 lb. class; George Hatch of Rock Island was lucky enough to get two in this bracket.

Memphremagog has been producing a lot of Rainbows and a few salmon by spells, some of the boys have a total of 30 or better for the season, and that is pretty decent fishing for spare time fishing.

The trout streams seem to be producing pretty well over the weekend. I even caught my limit, so fishing must have been good. One fish I caught was a Brown 14" long, and when I dressed the fish I found 4 Rainbows and one Brown in him 4" - 5" long. Rather cannibalistic, eh?

My seven-year-old fisherman brought in his 6 trout on a Heddon Hopp, one of the new spinning lures that does seem to be destined for the better things in life. He decided it was high time he took Dad's spinning rod and tried it. With a bit of coaching he's doing right well I'd say.

Even the Bass fishing has been on the up, and fishermen everywhere are catching bass, with some mighty nice catches reported. One girl reported to me that she caught 4 one day, the smallest going 3 pounds.

I have received a preview of some of the tackle to be displayed at the National Tackle Show in Chicago this month. Looks like we are in for a lot of new stuff this coming year. Of course spinning is running ahead at high gear, and I guess by the end of '55 everybody but me will have a spinning reel on the market. Now they are down as low as $9.95 for a complete rig, reel and line, don't know how much lower they can go. Have had occasion to use the new Spinning Cherry and this is to be a running mate to the Cherry Bobber, and will be a very popular lure — there seems to be little question about that, and it does catch fish. Which is a fine quality of course, casts nicely too.

If you haven't visited the fish hatchery at Baldwin's Mills you have a treat coming to you. You will see one of the finest hatcheries on the continent and a very good stock of fish, including the "Spake", the cross bred Laker and Brook Trout; they also have a couple of Muskies, and a very genial and obliging staff to answer our questions.

Tight lines,
Phil

Every player has been hard at work this week trying to get his game up to par for the coming Club Championship over the week-end at the Sherbrooke Country Club.

With the weather not behaving too well recently, the scores may not be as expected, as some players do not relish to play in the rain. However, Harry Fowles, the local pro, has had his men working all week to get the links in first class shape and there will be no complaints on that side of the game.

Sunday night a large turn-out of members is expected to congratulate the winners. The Buffet Supper will be held at 6.30 and prizes and trophies will be awarded immediately following.

well known as one of Britain's crack all-round riders. As a pre-war cavalry officer, he formed a team of trick riders famed for its performance of difficult riding feats.

Gardening occupies much of his time. He and his wife, Victoria, now are busy producing blue polyanthus seeds for a nursery. He once won a gold medal at the Chelsea flower show.

The Ansell has three children, Nicholas, 16, Anthony, 14, and Sally, 9. The two sons hope to carry on the family tradition of hunting, jumping and showing horses.

Dow Retain First Spot In Richmond Softball League; Defeat Legion 4-1; Beliveau In Town For Short Visit

Jean "Le Gros Bill" Beliveau was in town Monday afternoon. He had previously gone to Asbestos with representatives of Molson's, with whom he is connected. He came to Richmond with Mr. Roger Lauzon, Molson agent in Drummondville, where he went after having stopped here.

But this has nothing to do with the game played here between Legion and Dow. Dow had taken the game 4-1 to extend their first-place hold in the standings.

Beliveau was here for advertising the product and we approached him, got his autograph and asked him if he would pitch the first ball at our game. . . then we remembered that one of the teams playing was Dow and since "Gros Bill" represents Molson's, it would seem slightly indifferent. . . but he said he had to leave right away for Drummondville.

Anyway, we had the pleasure of a short talk with the Montreal Canadian's hockey star and hope to see him during the hockey season.

The game had Rollie Letourneau of Dow pitching a three-hitter and allowing his team to win over the second-place Legion. Cliff Gunter hurled for Legion and gave up six hits. He also struck out one and walked four. Letourneau had four strike-outs and walked four.

The first inning went scoreless and Legion had one hit in the second when Gregoire hit a two-bagger. Then his mates were retired in order which paved the way for Dow's first run. Beaudette got the run after coming in on Fowler's double.

Legionnaires were put out in order in the third frame and Real Marcotte scored Dow's second run in their half. There was a double-play after Marcotte scored his run. . . Gagne had singled, which scored Marcotte. Letourneau flied out to Gunter and he relayed the ball to Desrosiers on second base, putting Gagne out for the double-play.

Coles scored Legion's only run after stealing home with Smith at bat. Smith took advantage of J. Marcotte's error and singled. Louis Tremblay flied out with catcher Beaudoin getting the fly and Horan struck out. Noel was the other man out when he bunted and failed to make first base.

Dow went ahead with two runs in their half of the fourth with Beaudette and Beaudoin scoring. Beaudette scored on J. Marcotte's grounder to third base which Noel missed. Fowler took his base on balls and Provencal struck out with the bases loaded. Gunter walked Real Marcotte and scored Beaudoin. With three men still on base, Marchand flied out to catcher Smith and Beland, pinch-hitting for Gagne, flied out to Coles in left field. Score at end of fourth innings: Dow 4, Legion 1.

Legionnaires garnered only one hit off Letourneau in the fifth off Cole's bunt. Dow batsmen were put out in order. In the sixth, both sides were retired in order and with the seventh inning coming, Legion had their last bat and chance to tie the game.

Harold Kydd went to bat in place of Horan and he struck out. Gunter singled on J. Marcotte's wild throw. Letourneau walked Pye and then Gunter stole third base. Desrosiers was next man up and Pye was put out stealing second. Desrosiers was put out at first for the third down and the game ended with Dow the victors 4-1.

These teams will not meet again until the playoffs and dates have not been released as yet.

The line score:
Dow 011 200 x-4 6 4
Legion 000 100 0-1 3 4
Letourneau, Gunter.
Umpires, Lavoie, Boucher.

New York (AP) — If the minors seem to be withering on the vine as leagues fold from day to day, baseball for the kids seems to be enjoying boom times.

The Little Leagues enjoyed a tremendous expansion and now the Babe Ruth League, formerly the Little Bigger League, is spreading to all corners of the United States.

Youngsters who outgrow the Little League class move on to this organization for boys in the 13-14-15 year age group and, eventually, play school or college ball.

Luthern And Locke Each Pitch Two-Hitters; Williamson Clouts Pair Of Homers; Stephens, Mayhew One Each

The Sherbrooke Indians last night won an important double-header from the Quebec Braves 7-1 and 6-1, thus moving ahead of the second-place club by two and one-half games.

Both games featured two-hit pitching by Bobby Locke and John Luthern who coasted to easy wins backed by solid hitting from Stephens who went four-for-four in the first game and two-for-four in the second. These included a homer, a double and four singles. Bill Williamson brought his home run total to 19 when he got one in each game. Bob Mayhew also accounted for another homer in the fourth inning of the second game.

In the first game Sherbrooke touched three Quebec hurlers for seven runs on 12 hits and two errors for the Braves. Peoples, the starter, was charged with the loss after he was lifted for a pinch hitter in the fourth inning. The second pitcher for the Braves, Jaber, gave up six hits and four runs in little more than an inning.

The Indians got two runs in each of the second, fifth and sixth innings and one in the third, while the Braves pushed over their lone run in the fifth.

Sherbrooke started out the second game with one run in their half of the first and Quebec came right back to tie it up in the fourth. The Indians then got three runs in the second half of the fourth on two homers by Stephens and Mayhew, and went ahead 4-1, never to be headed for the rest of the game.

Quebec's ace hurler, Sjakman, was charged for the loss in the second game while Luthern coasted to his 14th win of the year. Bobby Locke, winner of the first bill, now has a record of 13 won and four in the loss column.

Over the week-end Sherbrooke travels to Three Rivers for a game on Saturday night and one on Sunday, which will mean that there will be no home games until Monday night when the Theford Miners will come to Sherbrooke for a twin bill.
