Pouring rain continued yesterday to keep down attendance at the Sherbrooke Fair.

Attendance reached 537 by 1:30 p.m. after which guards and ticket examiners were sent home, said J. E. Lamontagne, secretary-treasurer of the Eastern Townships Agricultural Association, so no attendance figures were available for the rest of the day.

The fair entered its last day today with improving weather.

Yesterday evening's program started with a large parade of dairy cattle. The breed ribbons, premier breeder and premier exhibitor awards were given out.

Winning Jerseys were: grand champion male, Miss Elin B. Speyer of Massachusetts; Pierre Veillon of Sweetsburg obtained both the reserve grand champion male award and the grand champion female award; Mrs. Arthur R. Virgin, of North Hatley, obtained the reserve grand champion female award.

Tanks lead attack on India

Pakistan penetrates

KASHMIR AT A GLANCE

NEW DELHI (AP)—Kashmir is a strategically situated state nestled in the Himalayas and bounded by Red China, the Soviet Union, Afghanistan, Pakistan and India.

Its status was left ill-defined when the British pulled out of the subcontinent in 1947 and quickly became a subject of a bloody dispute between India and Pakistan.

Pakistani raiders in 1948 reached all the way to Srinagar, Kashmir's summer capital, before Indian forces pushed them back.

A UN ceasefire line was established in 1949 and there have been skirmishes along it ever since.

Large-scale guerrilla warfare broke out deep inside Kashmir Aug. 5 and India said the raiders were equipped and sent by Pakistan.

The situation deteriorated until Wednesday when it became a full-scale armored and aerial battle.

NEW DELHI (AP) — A Pakistani attack spearheaded by tanks penetrated five miles inside Indian positions in southwest Kashmir as fighting raged for a second consecutive day, India announced today.

Defence Minister B. Chavan told Parliament a massive attack by at least 3,000 Pakistani troops and 70 tanks across the international frontier had "seriously escalated" the fighting and that the situation is still "developing."

Chavan claimed 13 tanks were destroyed.

He acknowledged India lost four planes that attacked the tanks—two planes missing and two damaged.

It appeared that despite an Indian counter-attack at dawn today, Pakistani tanks were able to burst through the Indian lines and roam about in southwest Kashmir's flatlands.

No new major action was reported in three salient the Indians pushed into Pakistani territory in recent attacks, but there was ominous talk of a wider conflict.

Speaker Hukam Singh of the lower House of Parliament refused to let members ask Chavan questions, saying that it was not possible when there is "actual war between us and Pakistan."

Prime Minister Shastri was reliably reported to have said in a briefing for Indian political leaders that India expects "very big clashes" and that India's strategy must be considered in a "much wider context."

India claims at least 3,000 Indian troops supported by up to 70 U.S.-made Patton medium tanks attacked in a two-pronged offensive in the Chamb sector of southwest Kashmir after a heavy artillery barrage Wednesday morning.

One Pakistani spearhead crossed the international frontier and headed in the direction of Jammu, Kashmir's winter capital, and the other crossed the UN ceasefire line farther north and moved toward the towns of Chamb and Dewa, the Indians claim.

The Pakistanis claimed they had taken Chamb and Dewa and shot down at least four Indian planes in fighting Wednesday. The Indian spokesman said then he could neither confirm nor deny these claims.

The fighting, which followed three earlier Indian attacks into Pakistani Kashmir, moved the two countries closer to the threat of an all-out war. They fought such a war in 1948 over this same Himalayan state.

The use of tanks and planes represented a serious escalation of the fighting. The two nations had never before used air power or armor on a large scale against each other.

Pearson promises to end speculation

Election word by Sept. 8

OTTAWA (CP) — Sometime between now and next Wednesday, Canadians will know whether they are to be engulfed in another general election campaign.

Prime Minister Pearson Wednesday gave reporters an undertaking to reveal his intentions by Sept. 8. But for the second time since he returned from a western tour he declined to be drawn into the speculation about an election.

While in the West, the prime minister appeared to make a fall general election a virtual certainty with repeated comments on the subject. But since returning to Ottawa he has carefully avoided adding any new fuel to the speculation. In his only two meetings with reporters since his return—at the airport Sunday night and then Wednesday—he made no comments that threw any new light on his plans.

Meanwhile, members of Parliament representing all parties were coming into Ottawa in growing numbers and the prime minister was believed to be receiving a wide assortment of election views from his own party's membership. Feelings on an election, both in the party and within the cabinet, are known to be divided on the issue.

APPEARED IN FAVOR
Mr. Pearson himself appeared to make it clear in the West that he is in favor of an early election.

U.S. BOMBS OVER VIET CONG TARGET — A B-52 bomber drops its bombs over a Communist Viet Cong target 30 miles north-northeast of Saigon during a raid in this picture released yesterday by the U.S. Air Force. The August 26 strike was the third in the area.

Bomb Viet Cong site on Saigon's doorstep

SAIGON (AP) — Vietnamese troops launched an operation 320 miles northeast of Saigon today and claimed 22 Viet Cong killed, a U.S. military spokesman reported.

The operation, 15 miles south of Quang Ngai city, continued into the night. Government losses were described as light. Five Viet Cong were reported captured and 46 suspects detained.

No major activity was reported elsewhere on the ground. However, a spokesman said U.S. Air Force B-52 bombers pounded a suspected Communist position only 20 miles from Saigon in the closest strike yet to the capital by Strategic Air Command planes.

Reporters were told U.S. planes flew more sorties in South Viet Nam in August than in any single previous month of the war. The spokesman said pilots made 3,767 sorties—an average of 121 a day—compared with 3,531 in July, damaging or destroying nearly 8,000 structures.

However, there was no estimate on the number of Viet Cong killed in the strikes.

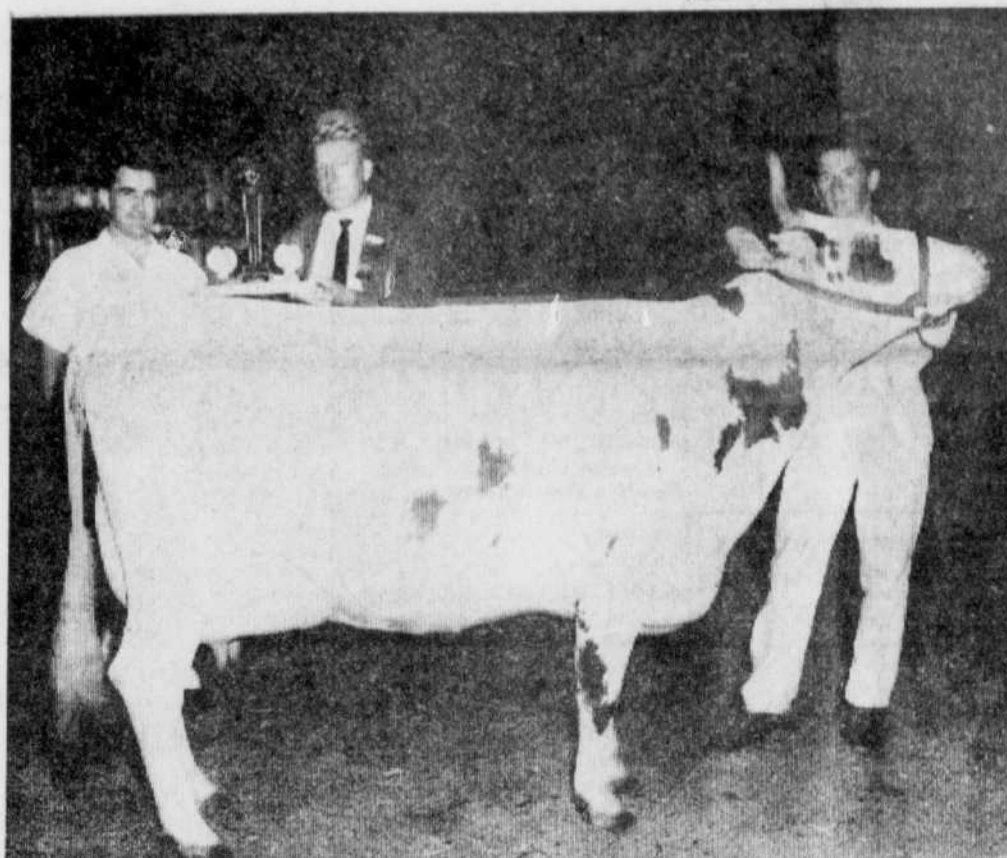

MADE 120 SORTIES
In the 24-hour period ending Thursday, U.S. and Vietnamese pilots made 120 sorties and reported they destroyed or damaged 540 enemy structures.

Two U.S. Air Force B-57 Canberras, supported by another air craft, bombed the Hon Mat Island radar site today, 20 miles northeast of Vinh in the Gulf of Tonkin, the spokesman said. The aircraft dropped five tons of bombs on the target, but the weather and darkness prevented an accurate assessment of damage.

CHANCE TESTIMONY
The document involved in the fabrication charge was signed by Raoul Gobeil, 54, a retired provincial government employee. It said Gobeil said he witnessed $10,000 being given to Mr. Dupuis in 1961. Gobeil testified at Deslauriers' preliminary hearing that the statement he made in the document was false.

CIA and state department on carpet

Bribe denial backfires; US demands why

WASHINGTON (AP) A congressional committee today called on the state department and Central Intelligence Agency to explain why a formal denial of a $3,000,000 bribery incident that took place in Singapore in 1960 backfired to the embarrassment of the U.S. government.

Rep. Clement J. Zablocki (Dem. Wis.), chairman of the House of Representatives foreign affairs subcommittee on the Far East, said closed hearings will be held after the Labor Day recess to hear an explanation from responsible officials on bribery allegations brought by Singapore Prime Minister Lee Kuan Yew.

Lee threatened to name an American presidential intermediary of high rank who he said offered him the bribe in 1960 to withhold news of the arrest of an American CIA agent trapped trying to buy information from Singapore secret agents.

State department officials were taken aback Tuesday when Lee released a letter from State Secretary Dean Rusk which apologized for improper activities by American agents and promised disciplinary action.

'MOST UNFORTUNATE'

Zablocki said it was "most unfortunate" that the state department had issued a formal denial of the bribery charge Tuesday and then had to reverse itself Wednesday.

"It is not too difficult to look back to what action Prime Minister Lee was talking about," Zablocki said. He refused to elaborate.

State department officials insisted that only Rusk and the Central Intelligence Agency knew of the letter to Lee. Zablocki indicated that Congress had been filled in on the incident when it occurred toward the close of the Eisenhower administration.

Administration authorities said U.S. Ambassador James D. Bell in Kuala Lumpur will meet today with the late Singapore prime minister to discuss problems between the two countries.

Consideration also is being given to naming an ambassador to the newly-independent island state.

Road is smoothed for convict return

MONTREAL (CP) — A. J. MacLeod said Wednesday night measures are being taken to smooth the road for convicts returning to normal life from prison.

Mr. MacLeod, federal commissioner of penitentiary services, said: "We've never had enough staff, equipment or institutions small enough to concentrate more on the individual."

However, the commissioner told the international criminological congress an attempt is being made to solve the latter point by establishing five tiny half-way houses in Canada.

The houses are an experimental aimed at making the transition from prison to freedom easier on the convicts.

Construction of the houses, places from which the convicted offender goes to work in normal society but to which he must return at night, is to begin during the next fiscal year which begins April 1, 1966.

Prisoners serving sentences of from two to five years will be treated in the houses.

Yet, despite his relative freedom, "we will have control over him" because of the nightly curfew.

Anglicans approve remarriage

VANCOUVER (CP)—The divorced Anglican has a promise that he may look forward to.

Parish priests say one unhappy effect of the law has been to drive people from the church. They are married in civil ceremonies or in other churches, and their break with the Anglican communion is made with great suffering.

Among 300 clergy and lay delegates in the lower house of the synod to object to the new canon Wednesday night, and a four-hour fight over procedure and substance ensued. Bishops, laymen and priests lined up against the new canon.

Under the existing canon, which remains the law of the church for the intervening two years, a divorced person cannot be remarried by an Anglican priest.

persons apply to diocesan tribunals, headed by bishops, seeking approval for their new marriages.

The canon is unique among the laws of the church because it states not only rules but doctrine—in this case the church's standard of what a Christian marriage means.

This break with canonical tradition caused the legal counsel of the synod to object to the new canon Wednesday night, and a four-hour fight over procedure and substance ensued. Bishops, laymen and priests lined up against the new canon.

Shipping rules and Red wheat sales

Washington reports that President Johnson is planning to relax the United States rule that fifty per cent of any shipment of wheat to the Soviet Union must go in American ships undoubtedly reflect the envy felt in the Great Republic for the two huge sales of wheat to Russia effected by Canada recently.

There is no reason to believe that the Russians bought this wheat from Canada for anything but cost reasons. Left to make their own shipping arrangements the Soviets have been able to obtain cheaper charters by using ships from any part of the world than they would have been had they been compelled to use the vessels of one or two countries.

But the 50 per cent rule adopted by President Kennedy in 1963 to pacify Maritime labor in the United States does more than raise the landed cost of grain. It also causes delays when U.S. ships are not available.

Washington reports state that the President is seeking to mollify maritime labor by pointing out that the U.S. mariners will suffer little by the lifting of the restrictions because no American wheat is moving to Russia anyway. It may even improve their position by the general increase in international trade which would follow any Russia wheat order.

But the United States ban on the sale of wheat flour to the Soviet bloc also has a bearing on the latest wheat deal.

The order includes a substantial quantity of milled flour. Canadian-owned firms are having a field day because subsidiaries of American firms operating in Canada are not allowed by Washington to participate in the contract — trading with the enemy you know.

In this particular case, the flour order can be met because there are enough Canadian-owned mills to meet the demand.

But what would happen if Canada wished to sell wheat, petroleum or rubber products to the Reds?

Would this country lose valuable exchange earnings because more than 90 per cent of these industries are controlled by foreign capital?

Certainly the argument that there are no political implications in foreign ownership of Canadian industry proves rather thin.

Late summer dusk on the mountains

When summer has worked along and the first faint chill of a new season ride the breeze at day's end, there comes a period when dusk on the mountains paints memorable pictures. Sunsets are often spectacular canvases. The colors in the sky above the mountain rim are a blend of reds and yellows, maroons and purples.

When the bright colors fade and a silver-pewter patch in the sky marks the sun's trail, for a few poignant minutes dusk time on the mountain means pictures of soft hues and muted shades. Shadows bivouac in the lowlands and deepen while the light above the mountain rims fades from rich silver to light pewter and then to thin gray.

On the mountain slopes, for a few minutes just after the sun drops from sight, there is a patina of soft blues, deep purples and rich wines. Sometimes when atmospheric conditions are favorable, in this hue one can see faint traces of red and streaks of yellow and gold. For a brief time, the richness of the blended colors lies like a blanket over the spruces, firs and pines on the mountain-side.

As one watches, the colors change. The blues and purples change to deep gray and then to black. The last lingering light fades in the sky. Woodlands and valleys become indistinct. A fox barks from the pasture ridge and the first stars break through the black velvet of the sky. Dusk on the mountains is finished for a cycle and the dark masses against the horizon stand sentinel above the countryside.

Other papers say:

Diefenbaker real man of surprises

Before the right Honorable John G. Diefenbaker had crossed the border into enemy territory, even the Leader's faithful friends were worried. It was feared that at the best he would be an embarrassment to the remnants of his party's Quebec wing — at the worst, he'd be tarred and feathered.

Nothing of the sort. Mr. Diefenbaker goes to Quebec and receives not brickbats, not apathy, but cheers.

This is not to be taken as evidence that the Conservatives are on the way to a major comeback in Quebec. Mr. Diefenbaker chose his audiences carefully. He spoke to farmers and told them the things they wanted to hear about controlling the price of feed grain and raising the price of milk. But the point is that he was able to find and exploit a soft spot in the Liberals' underbelly in Quebec.

Only about 10 per cent of the Quebec population is actively engaged in farming and even in the ridings which are predominantly rural, the Conservatives do not seem to have the candidates who might be able to deliver the vote. But if the Conservatives

Leader could appear to be able to hold on to what little he has left or add a seat or two, he would have pulled off a major coup. He might even be able to convince many English Canadians that he could deal with Quebec.

But, whatever the consequence of his visit on the vote of the province, the Opposition Leader has again demonstrated that for a man who will soon be 70, he still possesses an incredible amount of vitality and political astuteness. His progress in the inhospitable East at least matches the Prime Minister's in the inhospitable West.

International Monetary Fund could be improved, but how?

UNITED NATIONS — (TNS)—One of the ironies or history has placed a Frenchman at the helm of the International Monetary Fund at the very moment when the French Government is showing itself to be unhappy with the world monetary system which the IMF was set up to preserve.

Prior to becoming managing-director of the fund in 1963, Strasbourg-born Pierre-Paul Schweitzer had held high-level posts in the French Government, including the jobs of Inspector of Finance, Director of the Treasury, and Deputy Governor of the Bank of France. Yet as the boss of the fund, Schweitzer has behaved as a model international civil servant in the best tradition of the U.N. (the IMF is one of U.N.'s specialized agencies).

DEMONSTRATED

While not going out of his way to antagonize the de Gaulle Government, Schweitzer has demonstrated in numerous speeches that he doesn't particularly care for de Gaulle's policy of trying to alter the world monetary system for the purpose of cutting the U.S. down a few pegs and thus enhancing French "grandeur." However Schweitzer does realize that as the U.S. reduces its balance of payments deficits, some new means must be found, probably through the fund, to provide fresh sources of international liquidity.

The whole question of international liquidity — the amount of world financial resources needed for trade and economic development — is No. 1 on the agenda at the IMF's annual meeting to be held in Washington Sept. 24-Oct. 1.

It would be no exaggeration to say that the Fund is at the crossroads of its career which began when the Bretton Woods Conference called it into being in 1944 as one of the self-governing, autonomous agencies of the U.N.

But the curious thing about the situation is that no one has come up with any clear idea of what should be done to improve the operations of the fund.

NEW SYSTEM

The U.S. has suggested a world monetary conference to ratify some new and unspecified system for insuring international liquidity — the major American proviso being that the dollar retain its role as the mainstay of the world monetary system. The French don't like the idea of the dollar enjoying this role, but outside of some mumblings about a return to the gold standard, the de Gaulle Government hasn't come up with anything.

There has been talk about creating a currency reserve unit—called Cru—but the Americans and French have fallen out over how far the Cru will go in supplementing the dollar in international financial transactions.

Schweitzer and others have vaguely suggested having the IMF evolve into a sort of world central bank with far greater resources and regulatory powers than the U.N. agency now enjoys.

NOT JELLED

Yet, in spite of all the talk about reform in the international monetary system, nothing has jelled yet, and it is highly likely that the fund's Washington meeting will see a lot of public groping without any decisive results.

The IMF's purpose is clearly laid down in the articles of agreement which were drawn up at Bretton Woods:

"1. To promote international monetary cooperation.
"2. To facilitate the expansion and balanced growth of international trade, and to contribute to the promotion and maintenance of high levels of employment and real income.

"3. To promote exchange stability, to maintain orderly exchange arrangements among members, and to avoid competitive exchange depreciation.

"4. To assist in the establishment of a multilateral system of payments in respect of current transactions between members and in the elimination of foreign exchange restrictions which hamper the growth of world trade."

In the back of everyone's mind at Bretton Woods was the economic anarchy which took place between 1920 and 1939, characterized by restrictions on trade and foreign exchange, and other practices which might be termed "the hell with my system of trade and payments, the fund since 1945 has provided more than $8 billion in short term (three to five year) assistance to members experiencing balance of payments difficulties. In other words the fund resources have acted as sort of "carrot" to induce countries not to follow the cut-throat tactics of the twenties and thirties. The fund's "carrot" has also served as a means to encourage economic reforms among member states.

Although questions are now being asked about the IMF's future, the agency's record over two decades is commendable—a fact testified to by the wide-spread prosperity in the world today and the IMF's membership of 100 countries (the Communist countries, with the exception of Yugoslavia, have boycotted the fund).

The fund's headquarters are located in Washington. The agency's financial resources—which this year increased from $16 billion to $21 billion — are supplied by quotas from member states.

Holds mountain sacred

Sherpa ascended Everest twice

NEW DELHI (AP) — Na-and whetted his appetite for wang Gombu is a shy little man. When strangers speak, a blush rushes across his smiling face. This time I want to do it from the Western side, more difficult than the traditional South route," he says. "If someone can give me 300,000 rupees I can organize an expedition."

Nepal has closed the Himalayan range to mountaineers, under pressure from China. But this doesn't discourage Gombu. "I will wait until they open it again," he said.

Gombu, deputy director of the Indian Mountaineering Institute at Darjeeling, got into mountaineering through a combined military and adventure and comedy expedition. He and his Buddhist monks, A. S. Cheema of the Indian Army, went to Tibet as a boy to study with monks in a monastery located—unfortunately—within sight of the snow-capped Himalayas.

"I wanted to climb them and be nearer God," says Gombu. "This took him up Everest—peditions attempting dizzy heights.

"The next five years I was a high altitude loafer, wandering amidst the snows of the Himalayas. I felt at home nowhere else."

Swiss climbers noted the boy's ability to climb like a goat and they showed him the rudiments of professional climbing and taught him a little English.

When Gombu was 16 he won the Tiger badge, conferred only on Sherpas who repeatedly carry heavy loads to the highest camp. He was the youngest ever to wear the proud symbol.

But the real motivation to become a great climber came in 1953 when his uncle, Tenzing Norgay, reached Everest's peak with Sir Edmund Hillary of New Zealand—the first time the mountain was conquered.

Gombu, incidentally, doesn't call it Everest and he thinks it is sacrilegious to say it was conquered.

Gerald Waring REPORTING

CAMBRIDGE BAY, N.W.T. — By the time you read this I will, with a great deal of luck, be standing beside the grave of Sir John Franklin.

Nobody knows where this great Arctic explorer was buried after his death aboard ship in 1847 — or indeed if he was buried on land, or overside, or found his final resting place at the sea's bottom in the crushed and sunken hull of his ship.

But since the day last winter when Dr. Fred Roots, a Canadian government scientist, found strange stone markers on O'Reilly Island, hopes have rekindled that this would prove to be the location of Franklin's grave.

There was too much snow for Roots to do more than guess at the significance of his find. But now it is summer, the snow has gone, and two of us from Ottawa are flying in to have a closer look — either to solve one mystery or to confirm another.

Dr. Roots, director of the government's polar continental shelf project of Arctic studies, came across seven large boulders with smaller boulders poised on top of them, forming a rough circle on a height of land at the northeastern point of O'Reilly Is.

This small island is west of Adelaide Peninsula and not far south of the point where Franklin's men abandoned HMS Erebus and HMS Terror on April 22, 1848, to try to make their way overland and up Back's River to Fort Resolution. Their bleached bones blazed a trail all the way to Montreal Is. at the river mouth, and there the trail ended. None of the 129 men who sailed into the Arctic in 1845 ever returned.

Dr. Roots found other things too. He and his party scraped aside some snow, and in two places found stones fitted closely together, apparently by human hands. From photographs Dr. Roots took, one area appears to be a pit or a trench, the other a platform. The stones were frozen in place. What lies under them?

Along the shoreline a member of the party, Lt. Comdr. Ben Ackerman of Toronto, found some timbers and an iron spike stamped with the broad arrow that identifies the property of Her Britannic Majesty's forces.

Flying across the sea a half mile north of the island, their airborne magnetometer registered an anomaly. Dr. Roots theorized it might be a kickback from the steam engine, boiler and other iron work in the sunken hull of one of Franklin's ships, and he went back this spring with a diamond drill. Punching through the ice and down into the bed he found only low grade iron ore.

Lt. Comdr. Ackerman, however, is not satisfied that the wreck of either Erebus or Terror is not there. Old maps show "one ship, probably Terror, sunk hereabout." Eskimos told Hall (1861-65) there was one body on the ship. Others told Schwatka in 1879 there were five bodies. Both these men led parties seeking, as we seek, to unravel this greatest mystery of the Arctic.

Ackerman is taking navy divers to the area; we should all be there at the same time. Between his wet-suit divers and the land explorations of Scott Alexander and me there may soon be some interesting news in the Arctic.

And I'll be the only reporter within a thousand miles!

Canadians aid Africa get TV

By TOM MITCHELL

OTTAWA (CP) — In Ghana, one of the problems was getting a television signal from the capital of Accra across 130 miles of bush to Kumasi.

In Malaya, a big headache was setting up multilingual telecasting.

Both these emerging Commonwealth countries turned to Canada for help. It was given and TV signals started going out in both countries this year.

The aid means a bill of about $1,000,000 for Canadian taxpayers. But government officials and the CBC technicians Canada sent to the African and Asian countries feel the money will pay dividends.

"Our stock is pretty high there," says Wes Harvison of Winnipeg, just back after four years in Ghana helping to organize a TV system for the West African country. "I think we got our money's worth in appreciation at the personal level."

"I feel we really succeeded," says Earl Drake of the external aid office, which ran the programs in Ghana and Malaya. He emphasized that the job of Canadians was to help the Ghanaians and Malaysians set up their own systems, not to do it for them.

"At all times they were in complete charge," says Mr. Drake, who was first secretary of the Canadian high commission at Kuala Lumpur during the Malaysian TV program. "We were only advisers."

As Mr. Harvison, 37-year-old TV technician and son of former RCMP Commissioner C. W. Harvison, put it: "Our job was to organize ourselves out of a job, not to make a career out of it."

THEME IS EDUCATION

Both Ghana and Malaysia see TV as an educational rather than an entertainment medium. One teacher can reach thousands more minds through TV than by travelling from community to community in countries where travel is usually difficult.

Because they see TV as a link that will help weld their people together, both countries went ahead without heeding the commercial aspects that stimulated TV development in North America.

Ghana, with a population of some 4,500,000 ordered only 1,400 TV sets—one for every 3,000 Ghanaians.

Many sets go to schools and to information centres set up by the government, so the number of viewers per set is much higher than the family group of three or four that clusters around a Canadian receiver.

Malaya had bids from commercial firms to set up a TV system in return for advertising commissions. But it turned to Canada because this country offered technical aid without any strings. This was in line with Malaya's view of TV as an aid to building a cohesive nation despite the grab-bag of races and cultures within her population.

Another factor was Canada's bilingual nature.

"We think we've got problems with two languages," Mr. Drake says, "but they are producing television programs in four languages — Malay, English, Chinese and Tamil."

LANGUAGE NO PROBLEM

There was no language difficulty in Ghana, a former British colony, because English is the official language, although there are more than 100 dialects in use in eight major African language groupings.

Ghana particularly wanted advice on techniques for telecasting long distances across sparsely-settled areas—a problem the CBC has tackled in many parts of Canada. CBC advisers helped set up a microwave tower system that already is carrying programs from Accra to Kumasi and 120 miles along the coast to Takoradi.

In both countries, CBC technical advisers picked Ghanaians and Malaysians to go to Canada for a first-hand look at Canadian TV. They also got a look at Canadians at home.

"This is almost the most worthwhile thing about the whole scheme," Mr. Harvison says. He picked 18 Ghanaians for training in Canada, gave them talks on what to expect here and sounded them out after their return home.

WELCOMED IN CANADA

"Everyone who came back is a real booster. I think we're getting good mileage for our money that way." He told them they might encounter some anti-Negro prejudice among some individual Canadians. "I suggested they write such an individual off as a nut and look for someone else."

The returning Ghanaians found some isolated instances of racial discrimination "but on the whole they said they were treated royally."

Canadians working in Ghana have built up a reservoir of goodwill, Mr. Harvison says.

There are about 40 Canadian teachers working in Ghanaian schools, engineers from Ontario Hydro are helping with power development on the Volta River and Canada is working with the government to set up a trade school and a road transportation system.

"I think our efforts are really being appreciated. I found that Canada is respected and that Canadians as individuals are liked."

"People say, 'Oh, you're from Canada,' and they're happy to meet you."

THE PRAYER FOR TODAY FROM The Upper Room.

Whatever things are true, honest, lovely, of good report, if there be any virtue, if there be anything, (Philippians 4:8).

PRAYER: O God, we are Thy creatures, possessed of talents Thou hast given us. Grant us abundant guidance in their development and use. We ask in the name of the regenerating Christ. Amen.

A Silent Auction was discussed. It was decided to try it at the next meeting with the proceeds to be given to Pennies for Friendship fund.

Mrs. Farnam, welfare and health convener, had the evening's program for which she read an article "Be Careful of Aerosol Containers." She also read an item on foot care.

Two get well cards were signed by those present for two hospitalized members, Mrs. Calvin Harvey and Mrs. Junior Harvey.

What is being done in the province, problems and possible remedies were discussed at this first get-together of its kind in Quebec.

"I thought the meetings were a very wonderful idea. The three-day meeting and film showings were beautifully organized and will prove of much benefit, I'm sure. I must compliment the organizing committee and the University of Sherbrooke especially for the impressive events and flawless arrangements made," said Mrs. Lee.

Among those attending from across the province were from Shawinigan, Arvida, Sorel and Three Rivers.

Granby Kiwanis visit camp at Missisquoi Bay

GRANBY — The Kiwanis Club held its regular meeting on August 17 at the Social Club. This was the annual visit to La Colonie des Vacances summer camp at Missisquoi Bay. It was also ladies' night, unfortunately not too many ladies were able to be present, but attendance was good. The dinner served even surpassed previous ones.

The Kiwanis express appreciation to Kiwanians, Louise Desnoyers and Editha Gemmell for their contribution to the evening.

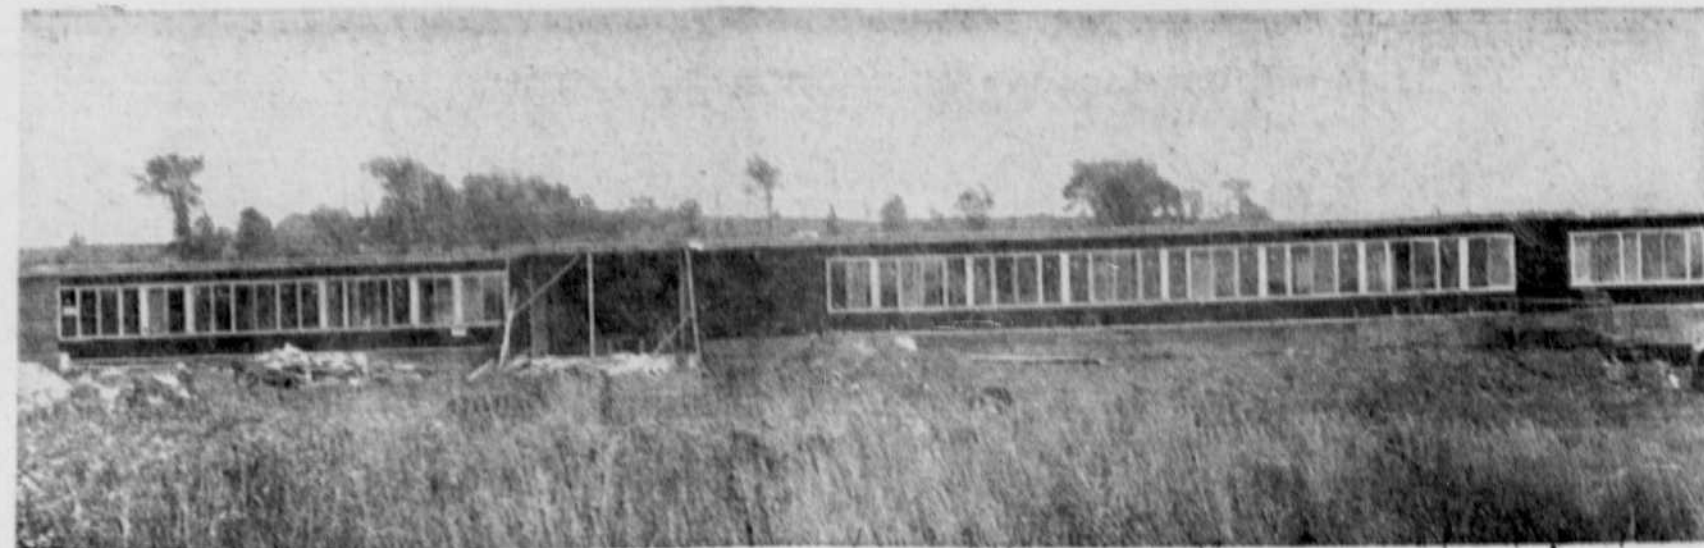

The outing was enjoyed and the members were interested to see the arrangements made to provide excellent care for the children who attend each summer.

Following dinner, chocolate bars were distributed to the children, who entertained the visitors with a sing-song. The club looks forward to visiting this camp each year as it is one of their main projects.

The Kiwanis report that for the second quarter, ended June 30, the club received a rating of 84 points out of a possible 100, which was encouraging as 6 points were lost on Circle Clubs, about which they can do nothing, as there is not college in which to form such a club. They received full points on activities, losing points only on attendance and new members. It is resolved that beginning in September each member will make a real effort to improve this rating.

Congratulations went out to Bill and Sheila Munro, who celebrated their anniversary on August 21.

President Jack Fanning has signified his intention of attending the O. Q. M. District Convention at the Sheraton Mount Royal Hotel, Montreal, and hopes for a good delegation from the Granby Club. Members attending should contact the secretary, Fred Wallace at the club or his home.

WATERLOO HOSPITAL PROGRESSES — The Waterloo Hospital presently being built on Hillside Street, is coming along well. Framework is entirely completed and the building is enclosed. It is expected the building will be completed and ready to accept its chronic and convalescent patients by November 1, 1965.

Quebec City case

Darabaner now charged with arson

QUEBEC (CP) — In an unexpected move Wednesday, the Crown laid charges of arson and conspiracy to commit arson against Moise Darabaner, following evidence that there was a plan to do away with the 52-year-old woman president of a company.

Darabaner, Quebec City businessman, is already charged with fraud and conspiracy to commit fraud involving $115,000.

The new charges were laid when Darabaner appeared in court for voluntary statement on the fraud charges.

Judge Paul Roy put over the voluntary statement proceedings until today and fixed Sept. 9 for Darabaner's preliminary hearing on the arson charges.

The arson charges say that Darabaner unlawfully conspired with Gaston Cadrin March 5, 1965, to set fire to La Tour, a Montreal. Darabaner testified at preliminary hearing that Miss Smiley claimed she had paid a first amount of more than $95,000 as a guarantee that she would honor her contracts. She never got any back. The payment was to obtain government contracts, she claimed.

Judge Roy refused all bail and said the judge who presides at preliminary hearing will be able to decide this on the basis of the evidence.

"I told Darabaner that there was a difference between fraud and murder and so far as murder was concerned I wouldn't go along."

"Government is not slowing down"

QUEBEC (CP) — Pierre Laporte, Quebec municipal affairs minister, Wednesday described as inaccurate statements that the provincial government is slowing down.

Mr. Laporte commented in a statement on a news story carried Sunday night by The Canadian Press which erroneously attributed to him a statement that "there could be some truth in the story that we're slowing down."

Mr. Laporte's statement today said: "This is exactly the opposite of what I said. The statement I did make was the following: 'Certain people say that the government is slowing down. This is inaccurate. How could one say such a thing after a session that produced the most important legislation in all the history of Quebec?'"

Mr. Laporte also denied having said there is inevitably a tendency to slacken off after the same party has been in power for five years. The story Sunday night had quoted him as making such a statement in a speech to a Montreal area Liberal association.

Wednesday's statement said: "I said it was easy for the Liberal Federation to exist in opposition but that it is now, while the Liberal party is in power, that it should firmly assert itself as the party's spearhead."

"I asked the federation not to consider so much what has been accomplished, but rather the immense tasks that still await us."

Chill wind from cold war blows into New Jersey elections

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — "Those of you who know me know that I am a Marxist and a socialist. Therefore . . . I do not fear or regret the impending Viet Cong victory in Viet Nam. I welcome it."

With those words by a Rutgers University professor at a Viet Nam "teach-in" April 23, a chill wind from the cold war blew into New Jersey's election campaign.

State Senator Wayne Dumont Jr., an underdog Republican candidate for governor seeking to end 12 years of Democratic reign, charged a state university had no right to keep on its payroll a professor who expressed such sentiments.

The University board of governors made two reviews of the criticism of Prof. Eugene Genovese, 35, and refused to fire him. It said he kept his political views out of his history classes.

Democratic Governor Richard J. Hughes, favored to win re-election after his upset victory four years ago, refused to overrule the board of governors. Academic freedom prevented it, he said.

Dumont cited the editorial as proof Genovese, who has been reluctant to say anything in the controversy, retorted that Dumont was repeating false statements originated by the Communists.

Then followed letters to editors, resolutions by veterans organizations, and formation of committees for and against Genovese or academic freedom.

The centre of the controversy is a professor who had admitted being a teen-aged Communist. He said he was expelled by the party in 1950 a few months before the Korean War started and was signed the standard non-subversive oath required of state university professors.

Two years ago he wrote a book review criticizing a Communist author for a retreat from Marxism. A party organ retorted by accusing Genovese of being opposed to peaceful co-existence, accepting nuclear war and of generally favoring Red China and Albania over Russia.

Feed grain agency decision coming

OTTAWA (CP) — The Liberal government is moving towards final decisions on a feed grain agency, informants say. The odds favor commitment to an agency of some kind.

For one thing, Forestry Minister Sauve, whose mixed-bag portfolio includes feed grains, is said to be committed to it, despite the controversy which surrounds it.

His department has drafted a proposal on which legislation would be based. A cabinet committee has it under consideration. There is no reason to think it will be tossed out although the cabinet could amend it.

The agency proposal is based on recommendations made by the Commons' agriculture and colonization committee March 22. It recommended a federal agency to protect the interests of feed users, particularly those in Eastern Canada and British Columbia.

The proposed agency would have sweeping powers to buy, store, transport and sell feed to livestock users in Eastern Canada and British Columbia.

Officials say these powers may never have to be used. They contend their mere existence might be enough to prevent abuses in the distribution of Canadian grain.

Before election talk got into full swing, officials hoped to introduce agency legislation at the fall sitting of Parliament scheduled to start Sept. 27. A fall election would postpone the scheduled start.

Historical group, Stanbridge East realizes $660 on June horse show

BEDFORD — A meeting of the Missisquoi County Historical Society was held recently in the museum at Stanbridge East.

The report of the treasurer, Neil Creller, showed receipts of $1224.95 from the June horse show at the Bedford Arena, which was sponsored by the society. Net proceeds were $660.11. Bank balance is now $913.11.

The president William Taylor stated that the recently issued copy of the society's report was meeting with great success, many copies having been sold. Copies may be obtained from William Taylor, Bedford, also from Neil Creller, Stanbridge East, at a cost of $2.50.

A report was given of the work of the society in connection with the preservation of wooden bridges in the county. One in the Blinn neighborhood, near Stanbridge East, has been repaired, but another at St. Armand joining that village with the Bradley Road has been demolished and will be replaced by a modern bridge.

Much interest was taken in the society's booth at the Missisquoi County Agricultural exhibition, many visitors taking advantage of the opportunity to see the antiques on display.

The receptionist, Mrs. J. J. Moore, reported that over 800 had visited the museum, since it was opened in July. High tribute was paid by the president, Mrs. Moore for her splendid work at the museum.

In closing the president thanked all those who had given addresses or otherwise helped with the society's cavalcade, held on August 7, which covered many points of interest. Mrs. Clifford Rhicard, at the St. James Church hall at Pigeon Hill, gave an outline of the history of Guthrie, and of the ministry of the Rev. Sornberger, who was instrumental in the building of the church there.

At noon a picnic was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jones, owners of the historical Krams house. In the afternoon the members visited the home of Senator Beaubien of Montreal at Abbott's corner. The former Methodist Church, a handsome stone building, has been transformed into a most attractive home. Sherman Young was the speaker and gave a vivid picture of the early days of the church, in which services had been discontinued for many years.

Man injured in Dunham accident

DUNHAM — A serious accident occurred here early Sunday morning, Aug. 22, at approximately 1:30 a.m., when Marcel St. Onge had to take the ditch in order to avoid hitting an oncoming car. He was descending the Catholic Church hill, when the accident occurred.

Mr. St. Onge is presently in the B.M.P. Hospital, Sweetsburg, where he will remain for an indefinite time. He received cuts to his face, which required a total of forty stitches, and the cords to his left arm were cut.

Mr. St. Onge is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Noe St. Onge.

Granby Kiwanis holds meeting — GRANBY — The Kiwanis Club held its regular meeting on August 24 at the Granby Social Club on Elgin Street at 6:30 p.m.

The Kiwanis Education and Attendance Committee, under the chairmanship of Bill Turnbull, sponsored a short program on the subject of Members. Mr. Turnbull was to have been in charge but due to his absence, the secretary read the paper. The Kiwanis have many projects and feel the need of more interest among the long-standing members and feel that it is important that members give more thought to attending the meetings.

The next dinner meeting will be held on August 31.

Cinderella's parallel, she's home by midnight

NEW YORK (CP) — Winnipeg-born Heather Hazell's rise to the top as a fashion model is not exactly a rags-to-riches story but there is at least one parallel to Cinderella—she's always home by midnight.

At 27, after less than three years in New York, she earns $200 to $250 a week during the busy seasons and is never without regular work. She shares a penthouse apartment with another Canadian model, Pat Roberts, who came here 10 years ago.

She has a steady beau who takes her to dinner and nightclubs on evenings when she isn't working, but the midnight curfew still stands. Miss Hazell calls it work insurance.

An unlined, no-shadows-under-the-eyes face is essential for a model, especially one who is consistently used by such famous milliners as Mr. John and Emme. That's because the audience looks at both the hat and the face underneath. For the same reason, Heather doesn't drink.

Raised in Toronto (her widowed mother Mrs. Jessie Hazell lives in suburban Islington), Heather left Etobicoke Collegiate in her fourth year to work in an advertising agency as an assistant to a television director.

WORKED IN TV

Then she became style co-ordinator for fashion photographer Ken Bell and from there naturally moved to fashion modelling. In 1960 she was planning to try her luck in New York when she was offered a challenging job as assistant to the director of sales and marketing for CFTO-TV Toronto. Later she and the director moved to the Toronto office of Hamilton's CHCH-TV.

When she finally moved to New York, it was still in TV, as producer's assistant at NBC.

Miss Hazell finally got back to modelling after two years, catching on as a "house" model, that is, one who works for only one firm. She spent eight months with Elizabeth Arden, then took a vacation trip to Paris last summer. She had a friend there who was already established as a model with the Givenchy couture house.

When one of the other models came ill, Heather stepped in and was so successful that she remained for the rest of the summer as a substitute.

Back in New York last fall, she had no trouble getting top jobs with her Paris background. Now she works an average of four days a week at $40 for a one-hour show.

Professional fashion models are not usually used as photographic models but at Mr. John's press preview in July, Mr. John's partner, Brandon, rushed around snatching hair and earrings in which Heather could pose for a newspaper photograph.

It was fascinating to watch the smiling blonde suddenly freeze into a fashion pose, her face, medley becoming aloof, almost disinterested mask that is assumed by all haute couture models before they step on runway.

Mary Anne Smith and Michael C. Byrne wed

SWEETSBURG — The marriage of Mary Anne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Smith, of Sweetburg, to Michael Christopher Byrne, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Champagne-White wedding

STANSTEAD — A pretty summer wedding took place at 2:30 on August 21, in Christ Church, Stanstead, when Joan Rena, daughter of Mrs. Sidney White, of Rock Island, and the late Mr. White, was united in marriage to Jean Louis Champagne, also of Rock Island, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Francois Champagne, of Coaticook. Rev. R. Peirce officiated at the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Reginald Blake, wore an Empire sheath gown, the lace bodice fashioned with a scoop neckline and her nylon tulle veil styled in petal effect. She carried a cascade bouquet of red roses with a lace bow. Her only jewelry was a pearl drop necklace, a gift of the groom.

Miss Linda White, sister of the bride, as maid of honor, wore a variegated emerald green satin dress, with white accessories. She carried a bouquet of yellow mums and miniature white carnations.

The bridesmaids were Miss Irene Whitehouse, of Dixville, who wore a pastel pink dress of chiffon over taffeta with a lace bodice and matching hat; and Miss Linda Falconer, of Rock Island, who was in a pastel blue lace dress with white hat and accessories. Both bridesmaids carried bouquets of yellow and white pompons.

Mr. Andre Champagne, brother of the groom, acted as best man and the ushers were Mr. Kenny Blake, cousin of the bride, and Mr. Roger Champagne, brother of the groom.

Mrs. White, mother of the bride, chose a dusty pink sheath dress of shantung linen, with black hat and accessories. Her corsage was of pink and white carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Del Monty Hotel, where a buffet supper was served to about 80 guests. The bride's table was centered with a three tier wedding cake, the lower layer being in the shape of a chapel, with a bride and groom descending red velvet stairs.

Later, the bride and groom left on a honeymoon to the United States, visiting the summit of Mount Washington and other places of interest, the bride wearing for travelling a three piece knitted suit of buttercup yellow with white accessories. Her corsage was of pink and white carnations.

Guests were from Sherbrooke, Coaticook, Ayer's Cliff, Lennoxville, Baldwin's Mills, Dixville, Judd's Mills and Colebrook, N.H.

Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Champagne will reside in Rock Island.

DEAR POLLY—Many times a plastic button with a shank back gets ruined in the washing so a garment is spoiled or else has to have all new buttons because of that one broken shank. By heating a small nail, red hot, two holes can be punched through the button so it can be sewed on again and it will hardly be noticeable that it is fastened differently from the others.—MRS. I. S.

GIRLS—The nail may have to be heated two, or even three times, before it will go through a thick button. After the nail is started in, keep turning the button round and round to speed up the process. This button could be switched with another and sewed on the least conspicuous part of the garment and be even less noticed.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY—If you want your husband's monogrammed handkerchiefs to stand neatly in his coat pocket, spray the wrong side of the monogrammed corner with starch before ironing.—A. K. G.

DEAR POLLY—When making scalloped collars and so on, pressing the "faced" scallops neatly (after turning to the right side) used to be a real chore. Now I insert in each scallop a piece of cardboard cut to the shape of the scallop curve. Push the cardboard firmly to the seam line and hold the material taut against the cardboard while pressing. This is a real time saver and my scallops are much neater.—MRS. L. N. A.

DEAR POLLY—I do not have many chances to use my lovely cocktail glasses so they usually stand on the shelf and collect dust. Until a few months ago I would have to run to the kitchen and wash them quickly when unexpected guests dropped in. Now I wash and dry them thoroughly and place each one in a plastic sandwich bag and stand on end. Each glass is now sparkling clean and ready at a moment's notice.—MRS. S. T.

DEAR POLLY—As a thrifty gal who discards almost nothing, I would like to pass on one of my ideas. I found three plastic egg containers which I used to use to hold eggs in the refrigerator. I sprayed them with gold paint, let them dry and they now look most decorative on the top of my dresser with a pair of earrings in each egg cup.—MRS. C. H.

MONTREAL (CP) — Nurses-in-training should be regular students and not have to give their services at hospitals in return for room and board, says the first Canadian president of the International Council of Nurses.

Alice Girard, dean of nursing at the University of Montreal, talked about education of nurses after her return from the council's conference in Frankfurt, West Germany, where she was elected.

"Nursing is the only profession still using the medieval apprenticeship system," she said. "Nurses should be trained in independent schools — post high school technical schools such as the Ryerson Institute of Technology in Toronto."

Several independent schools were emerging across the country but except for a smaller number who took degree courses at universities, nurses were usually trained at hospitals.

Nurses would, of course, continue to take part of their training at a hospital but they would not be required to give service until they completed their nursing education. The result might be to shorten training periods.

QUEBEC CLOSE

"Quebec is getting nearer this system than any other province," Miss Girard said, explaining that the Parent report on Quebec education had recommended nursing education take place in institutes under the education department. Hospital schools are under the department of health.

The Hall report, the result of an inquiry into health services on a national scale, also recommended independent schools. Miss Girard, a member of the Hall royal commission, figures the impact of the two reports will hasten legislation in Quebec.

"It will cost more for a nurse to get her training this way but it is up to the government to provide bursaries and grants if the increased cost results in a shortage of nurses. Society must be provided with the kind of professional people it needs."

"Why does a nurse need all this education when she only has to do what the doctor tells her?" is the attitude of many people who do not realize that the nurse now performs many of the tasks that used to be reserved to doctors alone, Miss Girard said. "The nurse's work is changing and today's nurse must be better prepared."

If better preparation is too expensive, the government must subsidize nurses in the same way it now subsidizes other health personnel.

Q—My husband doesn't like the mild-cured ham I usually buy. What type of ham should I get to please his taste? He was raised on a farm.

A—Many people like "ham that tastes like ham," as they say. They probably mean country-style hams which have been heavily cured. This type always needs either soaking or parboiling before being baked. The milder-flavored hams can be either the cook-before-eating type, or the fully cooked hams. Although the fully cooked hams can be eaten without further cooking, their flavor is improved if they are heated to 130 degrees before serving.

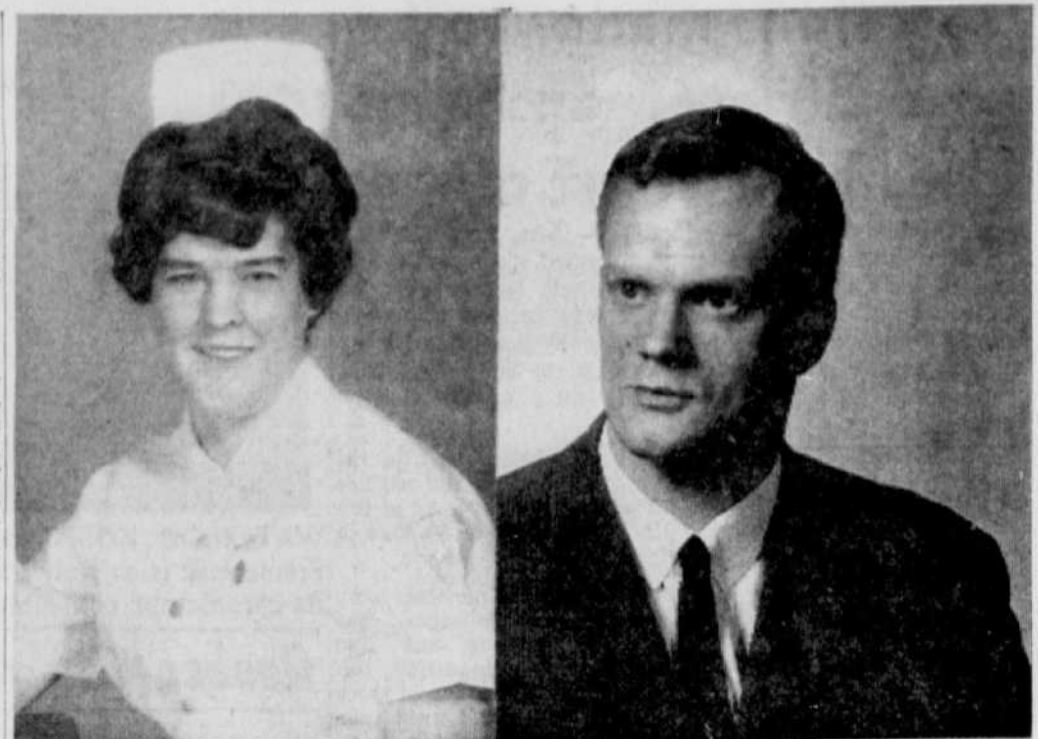

Q—A friend says there's a new soft-type margarine that comes in a little tub. Do you know anything about it?

A—Yes, there is such a new product. It contains a high percentage of liquid safflower oil and therefore has a soft consistency. It spreads readily on bread or toast right from the refrigerator or even the freezer. Unlike most margarines, this soft-type comes packed in little plastic tubs, two to a pound.

Today's recipe

We went to Spartanburg, S.C., to learn about this area's famous peaches. Spartanburg County, in the north-western part of the state is, as the natives proudly tell you, "the peachiest county in the entire country."

The peaches begin to arrive in markets around June 1, reach peak production toward the end of July. The last picking is in the first week in September.

PEACH PANTRY PRESERVE

8 cups sugar
2 cup cider vinegar
2 cups water
1/4 teaspoon salt
5 sticks cinnamon, each 2 inches long

1 1/2 teaspoons whole cloves
1 teaspoon whole allspice
7 lbs. sun-bushed peaches

Place 6 cups of sugar in a 6-quart saucepan. Add next 4 ingredients and mix well. Tie spices in a cheesecloth bag and add. Bring to boiling point and boil 5 minutes. Dip peaches in boiling water, then into cold water and remove the peel. Drop enough peaches to fill a jar in boiling syrup. Cook peaches, slowly, 10 to 15 minutes or until they are tender. (To test, pierce with a toothpick.)

Remove peaches from syrup and repeat until all peaches are cooked. Bring syrup to boiling point and pour over peaches. Let peaches stand in syrup overnight in a cool place. The next morning, heat peaches to boiling point in the syrup. Pack peaches in hot sterilized jars.

Add remaining 2 cups sugar to syrup and bring to a full rolling boil (a rolling boil cannot be stirred down). Put a piece of cinnamon in each jar. Fill the jar to 1/2-inch from the top. Run a silver or stainless steel knife around the inside of jar to release air bubbles. Seal airtight. Label jars and store in a cool place.

Quebec to 'advise' Ottawa on treaties

QUEBEC (CP) — Pierre Laporte, Quebec minister of cultural affairs, said Wednesday that Quebec and Ottawa have agreed that Quebec will "advise" the federal government of international agreements it plans to sign, but not "seek permission" to sign them.

The man who will communicate with the federal authorities is Claude Morin, chairman of an interdepartmental committee formed to deal with international relations in areas of Quebec jurisdiction.

Special session remote

QUEBEC (CP)—Premier Lesage said Wednesday the possibility of a special session of the Quebec legislature this fall to deal with the development of Churchill Falls in Labrador is becoming more and more remote.

Following a cabinet meeting, the premier said that necessary studies toward bringing about "an eventual agreement" between Hydro-Quebec and British Newfoundland Corp. "are taking longer than we thought."

He was discussing negotiations on harnessing the river's hydro potential of 7,000,000 horsepower in the projected $1,500,000,000 undertaking.

Negotiations have concerned the sale of Churchill Falls power, controlled by Brinco, to Hydro-Quebec, the price Crown-owned Hydro-Quebec would pay WOULD SELL SURPLUS

The power would be transmitted from the Labrador border to Hydro-Quebec lines. Newfoundland and Quebec would get first call on the power, and Quebec-Hydro would sell surplus power to buyers in the United States, including Consolidated Edison of New York.

When the Quebec legislative session ended early in August, Premier Lesage said a fall session was a "probability" to adopt necessary agreements with Brinco.

"It is not that the negotiations are going badly," he said Wednesday. "Please understand me. But they are taking longer than we thought."

Mr. Lesage plans to tour Western Canada later this month and to visit Italy late in October to open a Quebec business office in Milan.

He said a special session could not be held until after October and "it is possible we will begin the regular session."

Asked by a reporter whether he was hinting that the 1966 session may begin in 1965, he replied: "It's possible."

MENTIONS CULTURE PACTS

The announcement of the Quebec-Ottawa agreement came at a press conference at which Mr. Laporte announced a forthcoming cultural agreement with the province of Ontario and reported on progress in Quebec's cultural relations with France.

Mr. Laporte said Ontario and Quebec have taken steps toward a cultural agreement between the two provinces.

He said he is delighted that Ontario took the initiative and that preliminary discussions have already been held.

He said also that similar steps are being taken toward cultural agreements between Quebec and New Brunswick and between Quebec and Louisiana.

The agreements are expected to be completed and signed before the end of the year. They will provide principally for exchange theatrical groups motion picture personalities and musicians.

Mr. Laporte plans to go to New Brunswick around the end of September to talk with Premier Robichaud about an agreement, already reached in principle but not yet drawn up.

Police power extent contentious at bar

TORONTO (CP) — Two Toronto defence lawyers argued against giving more power to the police Wednesday, while a Crown counsel and the chairman of the Ontario Police Commission said they were necessary to enable police to carry out their duties and reduce crime.

In a panel discussion before the Canadian Bar Association's annual convention, defence lawyers Arthur M. Maloney and Joseph B. Pomeroy said increasing the power of the police would diminish the cherished liberty of Canadians.

Their opponents on the panel, however, said police should be given more power to enable them to ask citizens for mandatory identity cards and fingerprints, tap telephones, hold suspects incommunicado, administer compulsory breath analysis tests and allow a wife to testify against her husband.

News flashes from around the world

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Gemini 5 astronauts fly home to Houston, Tex., today for a brief reunion with their families.

For L. Gordon Cooper Jr. and Charles Conrad Jr. it means a welcome break after four days of intensive debriefings here on their record eighth orbital journey.

Technical and medical experts have wrung everything possible out of the astronauts in general terms. At the Manned Spacecraft Centre in Houston, other specialists will keep them in seclusion another week, reviewing various aspects of the mission in deeper detail.

ST. JOHNS, Que. (CP)—The RCMP arrested three persons Tuesday in a raid on a farmhouse near St. Valentin, Que., 30 miles southeast of Montreal, confiscating 240 gallons of alcohol, 300 gallons of mash, eight barrels of molasses, 75 pounds of sugar and 200 pounds of yeast.

Aime Blais, 51, his daughter, Nicole, 19, and Mrs. Gerard Gagnier, 39, are to appear in court in St. Johns today on charges resulting from the raid.

NEW YORK (CP)—Theodore Sorensen says President Kennedy thought during the Cuban missile crisis that the odds on war with the Soviet Union were "somewhere between one out of three and even."

Kennedy gave that assessment after the crisis was over and Premier Khrushchev had ordered the missiles removed from Cuba, Sorensen says in the current Look magazine.

The article is another excerpt from a forthcoming book by Sorensen, a former top aide to Kennedy.

The Cuban crisis reached a peak, Kennedy writes, five days after Kennedy had informed the U.S. of the existence of Soviet missiles there and announced a naval blockade of the island to stop further shipment of offensive weapons.

ST. FRANCISCO (AP) — Britain's Beatles left for London Wednesday, some $1,000,000 richer at the end of an eight-city U.S. tour.

They also visited Toronto.

The mop-haired singers succeeded in eluding the screaming, clawing teenage fans who turned Tuesday's two appearances at the Cow Palace into pandemonium.

While hundreds milled out front of their hotel Wednesday, Ringo Starr, Paul McCartney, John Lennon and George Harrison slipped out to a waiting 1½-ton truck which started up so fast that drummer Ringo was only half-aboard and had to be pulled up.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Slight progress was reported today in emergency White House steel negotiations with President Johnson pushing the talks toward a critical phase in an attempt to head off a country-wide steel strike.

A source in the negotiations said the steel industry had raised its money offer "a little," but that the AFL-CIO United Steelworkers Union refused to budge from its last demand.

The last reported industry offer was a 40-cent hourly increase in wages and fringe benefits over three years. The last union demand was reported as 49.8 cents.

STANSTEAD — A special meeting of Our Lady of Mercy Council, Catholic Women's League, on August 17, proved to be a surprise farewell party for Mrs. E. R. Greaves, Rock Island, a past president and an active League member for some time. She left on August 28 for Quebec City, where the family will reside.

Almost 100 percent of the membership attended. Mrs. Kay Waterman, on behalf of the group, proposed a toast to Mrs. Greaves. She said all wished her every happiness in her new surroundings and that she would be much missed by the League and the community.

Mrs. Helen Bushnell, the Council president, presented Mrs. Greaves with a beautiful china cup and saucer.

Refreshments, provided by the Council executive, were served by them. As they left the home of Mrs. Floyd Webb, where the event took place, adieux were exchanged and Mrs. Greaves thanked each one for the delightful get-together.

A Sherbrooke ex-con who had sued a city policeman for shooting and wounding him in 1962 was back in court Monday.

Fernand Jutras, 24, pleaded not guilty to stealing a car (worth only $100) and failing to remain at the scene of an accident in Sherbrooke August 19.

His lawyer Jacques Page obtained bail of $1,000 cash or $2,000 property.

This summer Superior Court had awarded $323.50 hospital expenses to Jutras in a suit against city policeman Jacques Arguin.

The shooting occurred after Jutras phoned police to say he was planning to rob a King Street bakery. Police then set up a patrol in the vicinity.

Constable Arguin stopped one car and seeing Jutras in it, apparently became nervous and fired his gun, wounding the latter.

A Sherbrooke girl described as Jutras' girlfriend, was also arrested for theft of $70 in articles from another girl in Sherbrooke the night of August 19.

Miss Rejeanne Saucier pleaded guilty.

Both cases were postponed to a later date.

NEW YORK (AP)—Crews return today to ships that have been strikebound for 78 days, signalling the end of one of the longest and costliest maritime walkouts in U.S. history.

Deck and radio officers, who had removed their picket lines Monday, voted Wednesday to ratify four-year contracts agreed on in Washington sessions.

The 13,000-ton freighter American Crusader, owned by the United States Line, cast off from her Hudson River pier Wednesday night. More of the approximately 100 idle ships in Atlantic and Gulf coast ports were to follow today.

OTTAWA (CP) — Some form of government assistance will be provided farmers hit by bad weather in the Saguenay-Lake St. John region of Quebec, a federal spokesman said today.

Form and amount of the aid has not yet been decided. But the spokesman said "in principle there is a recognition that there will be some form of assistance."

The Quebec and federal governments have been talking over the demands of farmers in the Quebec region 100 miles north of Quebec City for financial aid.

In line with this, the federal agriculture department has offered to participate with the Quebec government in some form of assistance.

The farmers have threatened to set up roadblocks in the region and withhold repayment of federal and provincial loans to back up their demands for crop loss compensation.

It was also confirmed here that S. C. Barry, the federal deputy minister of agriculture, indicated the federal position in a telegram to Joseph Bouchard, president of the Catholic Farmers Union in the protest region. The farmers' protests have been channelled through the farm organization.

No comment was available from Agriculture Minister Hays who is in France for the start of a fall promotion tour of a 20-head exhibit of Canadian Jersey cattle. He is to return to Canada later this week.

Mr. Hees went on to criticize the conduct of government business by the Liberals. He said that the dignity and prestige of parliament had suffered because of language and tactics in the House of Commons and because of the "disclosures of irregularities participated in by members of the government and those associated with them."

He said that cabinet ministers involved in these affairs should have resigned, either voluntarily or by order of the prime minister.

Speaking of Quebec affairs, he said that separation from the rest of the country would not occur, because of economic interdependence among Canada's various regions, Quebec included.

The speaker added that Quebec's surge of nationalism was "caused more by their economic than their cultural problems, although they are striving for reforms in both fields."

The chief political problem between Quebec and the federal government has been a lack of communication between the two, saying that all federal party leaders should speak French and thus be able to speak directly to the people in Quebec, instead of relying on the counsels of Quebec lieutenants.

Echoing the theme of Dr. James Aitichin in the keynote address to the congress earlier this week, Mr. Hees urged greater student involvement in politics. "All of you can and should, without delay, take the step that will enable you to play an active role in the political life of your country," he advised the delegates at Bishop's University, and "that step is to join the riding association of the party which appears to be the closest in its thinking to your own."

and hence parental control. The University of Manitoba, in opposing the motion, countered that students would be obliged to gain independence from their parents at the expense of becoming "in effect children of the government."

"The responsibility for financing education must remain with the individual," argued Manitoba. "And a government may try to complement but never to take over this individual responsibility."

Miss Sholzberg of McGill branded this view "Goldwater conservatism."

Another motion passed by the University Affairs Commission yesterday asserted that CUS supported the principle of federal projects of regional development in educational matters, if established in co-operation with one or more provincial governments.

"These can only be considered as part of the federal responsibility to develop resources of regions in an attempt to eliminate regional disparities," the motion declared.

Opponents of this motion argued unsuccessfully that education was constituted a matter of provincial concern in the British North America Act in such a way that this proposal advocated federal infringement in provincial fields.

Comment on council development

The Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce directors have noted with deep satisfaction recent steps toward forming an E.T. Regional Economic Council, a chamber press release reports.

THE WORLD OF SPORTS

On Labor Day weekend

Top motorcyclists enter competition at Autodrome

The Sherbrooke Autodrome, currently enjoying a second year of bringing stock-car racing, and demolition derbies to the population of the Eastern Townships, will highlight their second annual Labor Day weekend program with a special motorcycle competition for the Eastern Townships Championship.

The half-mile hard packed track at the Autodrome will be the test of skill among the drivers. In such motorcycle races, it is not the power of the machine that matters, but rather the manoeuvring ability of the man behind the controls.

All bikes in the Expert, Junior, and Senior classes are geared to the same output, exactly 500 cc., but the risks taken, the skill and experience of the driver make the big difference, either winning the event, or perhaps taking an early spill.

Officials for the event estimate a rather large entry, and the addition of the Lightweight class also attracts many. These machines are limited to 250 cc., and again, the top driver will take the money purse.

In order to insure the smooth operations in this annual competition at the Autodrome, a judge will convene, also being sanctioned by the CMA.

Last year's cycle contests proved to be a huge success. Autodrome officials are proud in returning the spectacle to the public in the Eastern Townships.

Pirates make losers of Dodgers as Koufax and Drysdale stumped, Reds sweep pair over Braves 7-6, 2-0

Los Angeles Dodgers have had a great fall, and now they must wonder if Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale can put them back together again.

Koufax and Drysdale, the winningest pair of pitchers on any team in the majors, were on the bottom of the fall Wednesday night as Pittsburgh Pirates dropped them in a doubleheader 3-2 in 11 innings and 2-1.

At the same time Cincinnati Reds swept a pair from Milwaukee Braves, 7-6 and 2-0. That put the Reds one percentage point ahead of the Dodgers on top of the National League.

San Francisco Giants, rained out at Philadelphia, are one-half game back, the Braves are fourth, two behind, and the fifth place Pirates, with 10 victories in their last 11 games, trail by only 2½ games.

Koufax and Drysdale have kept the Dodgers in first place nearly all season. Since they usually follow each other in the starting rotation, Los Angeles rarely has lost more than two consecutive games.

Now they have dropped seven of their last 10 decisions, Koufax losing three in a row and bringing his record to 21-7. Drysdale is 18-12.

In other NL games, St. Louis Cardinals trounced Chicago Cubs 9-0 and New York Mets defeated Houston Astros 4-1 before bowing 8-5.

SETS LEAGUE RECORD

En route to his latest loss, Koufax broke his 1963 National League season strikeout record.

Egyptian Candor wins

Noses Canada's Armbr Flight by neck in fourth heat, 35,000 fans on hand

DU QUOIN, Ill. (CP)—Egyptian Candor, driven by Del Cameron, earned $9,900, with finishes of fifth, first and second in the three heats.

Armbr Flight, Canada's Harness Horse of 1964, placed sixth, third and first and won $29,950.
Short Stop's share was $14,376.

The surprise of the meet was Noble Victory, owned by K. D. Owen of Houston, Tex., and driven by veteran Stanley Dancer, whose wife owns Egyptian Candor. Noble Victory, with 20 consecutive victories and $280,566 in earnings, the richest horse ever to enter the Hambletonian, could do no better than a third-place finish in the third heat.

A crowd of more than 35,000, including many Canadians, saw Short Stop win the first heat in a photo finish over Nimble Boy, driven by Ralph Baldwin, a native of Lloydminster, Sask.

Nimble Boy, owned by Castle-ton Farms of Lexington, Ky., also finished second in the second race, this time edged by a neck by Egyptian Candor. The finishes gave the horse over-all fourth place and $9,584.

Two other Canadians figured in the race. Johnny Chapman, a native of Toronto, drove Poplar Jamie who was scratched after finishing fourth in the first heat. Clint Hodgins of Clandehoie, Ont., guided Perfect Freight who placed well back in all three heats.

O'Brien said an unlucky draw for the first race and "trouble with Baldwin's horse" in the second might have made the difference for Armbr Flight.

Tony Oliva back in action for Twins in 5-2 win over Tigers, Yanks down

When baseball starts handing out its post-season awards Tony Oliva may wind up with his second silver bat and first Purple Heart.

Oliva, 24, playing this season with a bone chip in the middle finger of his right hand, came back from a week's layoff Wednesday night and resumed defence of his American League batting title with two doubles and a single in Minnesota Twins 5-2 victory over Detroit Tigers.

The left-handed swinger still trails Carl Yastrzemski of Boston Red Sox (.323) and Brooks Robinson of Baltimore Orioles (.319) in the three-way struggle for the title and the silver bat that goes with it.

But Oliva's 3-for-4 performance quickly shot him back into contention with a .315 mark as he attempts to become the first champion to repeat since Boston's Ted Williams accomplished the feat in 1957 and 1958.

The Twins moved eight games ahead of second-place Chicago in the AL pennant race. The White Sox were rained out at Baltimore.

Elsewhere, Kansas City Athletics edged Cleveland Indians 4-3, Washington Senators outlasted Boston 8-7 and Los Angeles Angels nipped New York Yankees 7-6 in 12 innings.

PROVIDES EARLY LEAD
Oliva doubled home the first run and then scored on a passed ball in a three-run first inning outburst against the Tigers.

The uprisings proved enough as Jim Perry brought his record to 9-5. Ray Oyler accounted for Detroit's runs with a homer. Home runs by Bill Bryan and Wayne Causey got the job done for the Athletics. The Indians took a 2-0 lead against John O'Donoghue in the second but

Cops main event in driving finish, Mighty Dudley to lead parade as nine meet in finals this evening

Fern Charbonneau's Hope's Star, teamed by Henri Leroux, turned out to be the best muddier in the Mighty Dudley Consolation last evening at the Sherbrooke Raceway when she nosed out Jacques St. Jacques' Belle Gowan at the wire.

This evening a field of nine starters will battle it out in the main section of the event. Keith Waples, co-owner of Mighty Dudley, and one of Canada's top drivers, will be on hand to lead the parade to the post this evening. Mighty Dudley is standing at the Dream Valley Farm, owned by Miss Eileen Morgan.

The track was heavy last evening following the steady downpour all day and at a time it was doubtful if any races were going to be held. After some discussion it was decided by the club to stage their card in line with the past. A good crowd was on hand.

In the top attraction, the Mighty Dudley Pace, all three favorites finished well down. Martyn G. Herbert and Express Beauty found the footing heavy and broke stride during the race. This changed the outcome and Hope's Star and Belle Gowan battled down the stretch for top money. The former won by a head at the wire.

This evening's final should be a better race, providing the track is in fair shape, as the weatherman predicts a little sun for a change. The past week rain turned the oval into a muddy surface.

Mrs. Dumont's Drummond Gene, who won a division last week, has drawn the fifth position and on this is rated as one of the favorites. Amadee Beaudin's Charmante that the other winner in the division races and has the eighth spot.

Camille Bardier's Bill Johnston and Rosario Guertin's Gabelle Ibf are the other two favorites in the class. Bill Johnston has the fourth position while the Guertin entry will get away from the tenth spot.

Adios Sherbrooke has the pole position while Drummond Law has the second spot. Both these entries could cause the field of top favorites plenty of trouble as last week they finished third and fourth.

Stanley Kidd's Carla Gallon, who came from behind to win one of division events, has the ninth spot in the back which should make things tough but the little roan mare has a reputation of coming from behind in fine style.

A well balanced card comprises the other races on the evening program and the fans should witness some close battles. In the class for trotters last night General Franklin finished first but was set back to third when he broke and driver George Rockhill failed to lose ground moving Frank's La Salle and Sambee up a notch.

The biggest payoff of the evening was in the tenth when Doug Raider and Walter S finished ahead of the field. $37.00, $13.20 and $12.80 was paid across the board for the winner and $176.60 was shelled out for the Exacta.

Ontario junior team members still winning, eye Canadian match title, Graham Cooke wins easily in first

BRANTFORD, Ont. (CP)—Fonthill, Ont., 2 and 1, and The four Ontario golfers who Douglas MacAfee of Sussex captured the interprovincial team championship Tuesday continued their winning ways Wednesday in the opening round of match play for the Canadian junior championship.

The team leader, Graham Cooke of Cooksville, whose 36-hole score of 147 was best in the qualifying round, easily defeated Ray Briddon of Toronto 6 and 5 to advance to the second round starting Thursday at 8 a.m. EDT. Cooke is the 1965 Ontario junior champion.

The other members of the Ontario team had a more difficult time in winning. Jim Short of Toronto eliminated Alec Lockington of Dundas, Ont., 2 and 1; John Nugent, also of Toronto, edged Peter Lago of Guelph 1 up, and Ian Thomas of London, Ont., defeated John Brockert of Stouffville, Ont., 4 and 3.

Four Ontario golfers who failed to make the provincial team but came in with an aggregate score 20 strokes lower than the official foursome, had no trouble disposing of their opponents.

Peter Turner of Toronto, second-lowest qualifier with a 148, eliminated Wayne Moses of London, Ont., 5 and 4; Wayne McDonald of Milton, 1964 Ontario junior champion, defeated Thomas McCrae of Hamilton 9 and 7; Peter Knechtel of Kitchener downed David Blakely of Pembroke, 4 and 3; and Gordon Stollery of Toronto ousted David Beavan of Toronto 5 and 3.

McDonald's victory over McCrae, a four-handicap golfer, was the most one-sided of the day.

New Brunswick's four surviving entries all came through with victories. Pierre Rossignol of Bathurst eliminated Nick Wright of Toronto 5 and 4; Robert MacFarlane of Edmundston, defeated Allan Bilyard of

Two other provincial golfers, Don Lunn and Andre Jette, were quickly eliminated in the first rounds. Lunn, provincial junior champion, from Cowansville, Que., and Jette, of Betsieil, lost to Gordon Falk, 6-4 and Norm Allen, 3-2 respectively.

Douglas "Duke" Doucet, who has been swinging the woods and putters ever since he knew which side met the ball, will remain as Quebec's best hope in the annual competition.

Doucet eliminated Don Misere, of Sault Ste. Marie 3 and 2 in his opening match play.

Royals host

Granby tonight

DRUMMONDVILLE — (Staff) — Changes in the finals of the Provincial Baseball League, as regards the schedule of games, was announced last night, and inclement weather has forced a re-arrangement.

The second game of the finals between the Royals and Granby Cardinals will get underway this evening at 8:30, in the Municipal Stadium here, with the third tilt slated for Saturday evening in Granby.

For the Sunday program, a doubleheader has been planned, should a fifth game be necessary, as Drummondville will be hosts in the afternoon, only to pay a return visit in Laval Stadium Sunday night.

The first game, which saw Granby take the decision on a two-run homer by Carlos Thorne in the twelfth inning, was a pitcher's duel, and may offer a preview of what will be seen throughout the series.

Drummondville Royals won the playoff championship in 1964.

The Reds won the opener with two runs in the ninth when rookie Tommy Helms tripled home Marty Keough and scored as Tom Harper singled. Jim Maloney, now 17-6, pitched a five-hitter and struck out 12 in the tightcap.

Tracy Stallard posted the Cardinals' second straight shutout over the Cubs with a three-hitter. Curt Flood knocked in two runs while Bob Skinner homered.

Joe Christopher's two-run triple in the eighth helped New York's Al Jackson to his seventh victory against 17 defeats in the opener. The Astros came back for the second-game victory as Rusty Staub hit a three-run homer and Jim Gentile drove in three runs with two homers.

The suit avers that Marichal "did without provocation commit assault and battery against the plaintiff with a deadly weapon, that Roseboro was severely injured and was caused pain and suffering."

Roseboro, in Pittsburgh for the Dodgers' series against the Pirates, said Wednesday night he brought suit for "the unprovoked attack made upon me at

President Warren Giles of the National League suspended Marichal for eight playing days, fined him $1750 and ordered him to stay out of Los Angeles for the Giants' last trip there Monday and Tuesday.

Marichal took exception with the latter portion of the ruling. "I don't think it is right," he said. "When you're trying to win the pennant, you have to be in there with everything you have."

Marichal said the fight flared when Roseboro ticked his car with a baseball throw to the mound. He said Roseboro had threatened him, too.

Because of the postponement and ruling banning him from Los Angeles, Marichal won't be able to take his regular turn for six days after today's start unless he pitches in Chicago Sunday with two days rest. Marichal said he was willing.

But manager Herman Franks said: "I won't pitch Marichal with only two days rest. I'm not panicking. There are 33 games left to play, and that's a long stretch."

WEDNESDAY'S STARS
Batting — Tony Oliva, Twins, returned to lineup after a week's absence and stroked two doubles and a single as Minnesota downed Detroit Tigers 5-2 and increased its American League lead to eight games.

But he hasn't indicated any drastic shifts. Instead he's trying different combinations with familiar faces in an effort for the badly-needed "big play."

Winnipeg's coach and general manager, Bud Grant, isn't happy with the Bomber offense to date. Winnipeg's 4-1 record is courtesy of the defence, which gave up just 49 points in four games before being bombed 25-6 by Saskatchewan Roughriders last week.
