Judge Talks Delinquency

Respect, warmth of feeling and tolerance are the key words in the fight against juvenile delinquency, Judge J. G. Nicholson told members of the Westmount High School Current Events Club Tuesday.

The root of delinquency is embedded mainly in the situation at home. Poverty, diet, illness and unfavorable living conditions help the spread of this social disease, he said.

He noted it is difficult for someone in the legal profession to deal with these youngsters, as they are not to be classified as criminals but rather as offenders requiring aid.

There is a clinic associated with the court which deals out medical, psychiatric and social care.

He said that if these do not work, it is often necessary to break up the family. This, he added, is left to the discretion of a specially trained judge.

Corporal punishment in schools was also brought up for discussion by the panel and it was advanced that this type of punishment is resorted to when the person administering it cannot find a more affective means of dealing with the problem.

Chief Byford told the gathering that members of his department were working to help the youth of the community. He said their biggest problem was to overcome the image a great deal of youngsters have of a constable being their enemy and someone to fear.

The policeman will do what he can to help, but where good recreational services exists, the police can act as referral service.

Dr. Lehmann pointed out that we must get away from and avoid developing problem children or for that matter problem parents. He said that there are actually very few problem children or problem parents, but many problem situations.

The doctor expressed the opinion that if parents are really fond of their children they will do a good job at being parents.

Mrs. Swan listed the services and activities which are available in Westmount for the youth of that city, indicating that the community did provide recreational outlets and other outlets for young people.

Dr. Kilpatrick pointed out that some help must be given also to the young newly weds, who today face housing shortages, and other like problems and are still trying to raise families.

Professor Hawkins of Macdonald College School for Teachers spoke on the proper instruction of teachers and the problem of conveying a second language beyond life of the pupil. Professor A. the classroom into the everyday Rigault of the French Department at McGill University stressed the importance of learning to speak French before they learned to read it.

Professor Hawkins and Professor Rigault agreed that oral teaching augmented by discs and tape recorders facilitated a pupil's mastery of the language.

Dr. Verity Ross, Consultant Psychologist at the School of Social Work of McGill University they spoke on the pre-school child and the possible effect of using one language at school and another at home might have on the child. It was concluded that the advantages outweighed the disadvantages.

Ancient Egypt Its Mysterious Beauty In

"The Egyptian" In CinemaScope

At Snowdon, Outremont, Savoy, Strand

All the glory of ancient Egypt, the mystery of the forbidden land of the Hittites, the decadence of Babylonia and the beauty of Syria have been recreated by 29th Century-Fox in bringing Mikla Waltari's best-seller, "The Egyptian" to the screen. Starring Jean Simmons, Victor Mature, Bella Darvi, Gene Tierney, Michael Wilding, Peter Ustinov and Edmund Purdom, in the title role, "The Egyptian" returns to the city today and will be featured at the Snowdon, Outremont, Strand and Savoy.

While the story of the Egyptian is essentially about the life of one man, Sinuhe the Egyptian, (played by Edmund Purdom), it encompasses an entire era in Egypt 1300 years before Christ and brings to life the colorful civilization of Akhnaton, the first Pharaoh to discard the worship of Egypt's numerous animal-headed god idols in favor of monotheism. The human side of the story is as monumental as the spectacle. The CinemaScope medium is used to give pictorial splendor to the story.

Special selected short subjects will also be featured at both the Snowdon and Outremont. The companion feature at the Strand will be "The Spider" with star cast and at the Savoy "Space Ways" with Howard Duff and Eva Bartok.

"For Better, For Worse"

Excellent Domestic Comedy

Arthur Watkyn's grand domestic comedy "For Better, For Worse", which ran for years in London's West End as a play, has been brought to the silver sheet with a star-studded cast headed by Dirk Bogarde, Susan Stephen, Cecil Parker, Dennis Price and Eileen Herlie. Filmed in Eastmancolor, the picture opens on Friday at the Avenue theatre.

The story of "For Better, For Worse" concerns two youngsters Dick Bogarde and Susan Stephen, who get married on a shoestring and immediately find themselves up to their necks with bills, housing problems, nose neighbors and fussy in-laws. The climax of this riotous adventure comes when they have to entertain their in-laws in their one-room flat and it is essential to make a good impression. The plumber arrives, the butcher mixes up the orders and general pandemonium reigns. Cecil Parker plays the pompous father-in-law who always gives advice and scorns the youth of today. Eileen Herlie is his understanding wife, quietly on the side of the youngsters. Dennis Price is the refined house-agent; Athene Seyler, the nosy neighbor; Thora Hird, the char with the wagging tongue; James Hayter as the plumber without respect for the housewife's frantic efforts to cook dinner; and Sidney James and Charles Victor as the furniture men hindered by the confused mind of the tenant.

"For Better, For Worse" is light, bright and amusing, rich in fun and sparkling with good lines.

★ Anthony Quinn will star in "Flight From Hong Kong."

★ Glenn Ford has a deal with Metro to make twelve pictures during the next five years.

★ Marjorie Garetson signed for a pianist role in "Dark Venture."

★ Barbara Stanwyck, Joan Bennett and Fred MacMurray will have the top roles in "Universal's "There's Always Tomorrow."

Romance Of Steel Pipe Subject Of Rotary Talk

The manufacture of steel pipe by the but-welded process was related to members of the Westmount Rotary Club by Lynn Davenport at Victoria Hall on Wednesday.

Red Cross Receipts Aren't Needed For Quebec Tax Forms

Welcome news for thousands of Quebec subscribers to the Red Cross is contained in a special ruling announced by G. H. Shink, Controller of Provincial Revenue.

Because the 1954 Red Cross Campaign was already under way when the Provincial Income Tax Law was sanctioned last March 5, receipts for donations made to the Red Cross during the year 1954 need only be attached to the Federal Income Tax form.

However, while it will not be necessary to obtain duplicate receipts, for Provincial Income Tax deduction purposes, the amounts of such donations must be listed on the Provincial Income Tax return.

The ruling concludes: "As far as the year 1954 is concerned, the Provincial Revenue Office will verify the claims of the taxpayer with the Red Cross authorities."

Local Man Named To Insurance Body

Named among the top 150 sales representatives for Occidental Life Insurance Company of California, one Westmount man has qualified for the company's "Top Club" convention to be held March 6-9 in Palm Springs, Calif., Vice Pres. William B. Stannard announced in Los Angeles recently.

Scheduled to attend the meeting is general agent Martin Arno-vitz, 3995 Montrose avenue.

Qualification for the Top Club meeting is based on the individual's sales record for the past 18 months. It has been during this period that Occidental's total insurance in force has soared past the $5 billion mark.

Attendance at the Palm Springs convention will be limited to top company representatives in the United States, Canada, and Hawaii.

Mr. Davenport, who is a member of the Westmount club was giving his classification address. He traced the history of tubular products from early days when in China hollow bamboo was used as pipes. He said metal was first used to carry liquids in England, when an unnamed genius fitted together a number of discarded rifle barrels.

He said pipe is made by various processes in the modern plant today, and approximately 150,000 tons per year are used by Canadians. Although this amount is still below the per capita figure in the United States, it is increasing steadily.

"The steel pipe is the industry's peculiar product," he said. Figures given for size and dimension of pipes are not true to scale and change from outside to inside measurements depending on the size of the pipe. When pipes are ready for shipment they are bundled, and the amount of pipes per bundle also depends on the size of the pipe and can vary anywhere from two to 22.

In tracing the operation of pipe manufacture by the butt-weld non-continuous process, Mr. Davenport said a start is made with a piece of raw material cut to the desired length and known as skelp. The skelp is then cut and formed on its front end for the welding coil, and then placed in the hearth and heated to a temperature of 2500 degrees. It is then forced down through the welding bell, which shapes the skelp and welds the two edges together.

Oxygen Used

Oxygen is introduced to the skelp at this stage to increase the temperature. Mr. Davenport pointed out that the right amount of heat combined with the right amount of pressure will produce a weld of maximum strength.

The pipe then goes to what is called the hot seizing operation and is carried from here, by seizing rolls, to a cooling rack. The end of the pipe is then cropped and it is cooled to 900 degrees. From here the pipe is quenched in a water tank, for rapid cooling, and

Frank R. Clarke Buried Yesterday

A funeral service was held yesterday in the chapel of Jos. C. Wray & Bros., 1234 Mountain street for Frank Randall Clarke, Montreal employment consultant, and former Westmount resident, who died suddenly on Tuesday at the Royal Victoria Hospital. He was 75.

A native of London, England, Mr. Clarke came to Montreal in 1909, and was a reporter-photographer for the Montreal Daily Witness and The Star. For 17 years he managed the Protestant Employment Bureau following a course in industrial psychology at McGill. He also lectured at the University of Montreal.

He was a member of the Kiwanis Club, the American and Canadian Psychologists Association, Personnel Association and the Protestant Community Church on Bigras Island.

Predeceased by his first wife in 1953, he is survived by his widow, Eve Ducharme, a son, Lawrence, and three daughters, Beatrice, Dorothy and Mrs. Frances Macaulay.

Interment was at Mount Royal Cemetery.

is then sent on its way to the inspection department.

After receiving an ok from the inspectors, the pipe is then processed by a cold straightening machine and then goes through a burring and reaming operation to remove the rough spots prior to galvanizing or varnishing. It is also tested for internal pressure at this point.

In the galvanizing department the product is prepared with an acid bath and then a dip in the fluxing tank. From here it goes for a dip in the galvanizing tub which is full of molten zinc at 850 degrees. It remains in the tub for two and a half to three minutes and is then removed and runs through the wiper rolls which wipe off the excess zinc. The product is then turned in what is called blowing position, and the excess zinc is blown out from inside it, after which it is cooled rapidly in a quenching tank.

If the pipe is not to be galvanized it goes straight to the threading operation and is coated with a high grade varnish covering. The threading is an important phase of the operation in pipe manufacturing, the speaker pointed out.

It is here in the threading department that the product which went on to be galvanized once again meets up with the other pipes that were varnished and both products are handled together.

They are bundled in the proper number of pieces and stored in the storage bins ready for shipment.

The speaker was introduced by Ted Harrison and thanked by Howie Simpkin. President Borden Empey was in the chair.

RYAN-HICKMORE

The marriage of Millicent Rosina, daughter of the late Lionel Frederick Hickmore and of Mrs. Hickmore of St. Laurent to Mr. Maxwell Ray Ryan, son of the late William A. Ryan and of Mrs. Ryan of Campbellton, N.B. took place on Saturday afternoon at half-past two o'clock in St. Andrew's United Church, St. Laurent, the Rev. J. A. Hockin officiating. Miss Marjorie Howell played the wedding music, and Mr. Michael Conway sang during the signing of the register. Standards of white gladioli and spring flowers banked by greenery were used as decorations.

The bride, who was given away by Mr. Alec C. Vincent, was in a ballerina-length gown of white chiffon velvet, over white tulle and satin, the fitted bodice having an Elizabethan collar, and fitted sleeves ending in points over her hands, and the full skirt fashioned with a peplum. Her fingertip-length veil of tulle illusion was held by a petal cap, and she carried a semi-cascade bouquet of Happy Days roses.

Miss Doris Smith, as maid of honor, was in a ballerina-length frock of rose taffeta. She wore a headdress to match, and carried a semi-cascade bouquet of pale yellow carnations.

Mrs. Hickmore, the bride's mother, was gowned in grey iridescent taffeta. She wore a white hat, a grey muskrat stole, and a corsage bouquet of pink roses.

bouquet of pale pink Demure roses.

The reception was held at the residence of the bride's mother, 855 Cardinal avenue, where spring flowers were used as decorations.

Mrs. R. K. Naylor Speaks To Trinity Evening W.A.

Mrs. R. K. Naylor was the special speaker at the fortnightly meeting of the Evening Branch of Trinity Memorial W.A., which was held last Thursday, in the Ladies' Room.

Mrs. Naylor gave a very interesting illustrated talk on the Evanston Conference of the World Council of Churches. She spoke warmly of the wonderful welcome extended to the delegates by the people of Evanston.

The speaker stated that while there were delegates from many nations, representing various denominations, who worked under forms of government as diversified as those of the United Nations, at no time was there the slightest evidence of friction. Opinions were frankly and freely expressed by the many delegates and, despite often wide and sharp differences of views concerning the work of the Christian Church, doctrinal points and other matters concerning the church as a whole, yet through it all there was a deep and abiding harmony — a oneness of spirit which could only be achieved and maintained at such a gathering, because the basis of membership in the World Council of Churches is simply belief in and allegiance to Jesus Christ, God and Saviour.

Mrs. K. G. Gates thanked the speaker and a lively discussion followed.

Two new members were welcomed and the president announced that the guest speaker at the next meeting to be held on February 24 would be Dr. Gomery, who would speak on her forty-nine years' work as a medical missionary in India.

Refreshments were served and the meeting was closed with prayer by Canon Naylor.

One of the highlights of Miss Lane's talk will be a visual demonstration of how to plan a two-week vacation wardrobe.

Often called the "first lady of touring," Miss Lane answers thousands of queries yearly concerning travel problems. On her trips across the country, she searches out new practical ways of solving these problems and personally tests her results. Unity-MAAA Semifinal Shapes As Tough Series

Unity Boys Club senior B pennant winners move against the runnerup MAAA squad in a two game total point semifinal for the city intermediate basketball championship Monday and Wednesday.

The UBC club knocked out International Y in a similar series 124-91 on the round, while MAAA disposed of Holy Trinity.

The winner will meet RMR in a final series later; the Soldiers scored an upset victory over YMHA to move into the finals, and were given the bye on the strength of their 7-1 season record leading 6-2 record in section 1.

Maurice Mariasine's squad swept both games from the Y club, 64-43 in the opener Monday and 60-48 in section 2 compared to Unity's in the second match Wednesday. The second tilt was a poorly played affair, with International taking it easy. The match was rough and Jack McKissock and Grant Peterson of Unity were thrown out on fouls, as were Leier and Bridle of the Y.

Unity played well in the series opener, and would have taken a bigger lead were it not for a slippery floor, and some loose ball-handling.

The UBC mentor said his charges were in "pretty good shape" for the semifinal series, and looked upon it as a "tough" one. The teams split two games over the schedule, Unity taking the first by one point and MAAA the second by three.

Monday's match will be reeled off at the Peel street gym, while the second will probably be at Mont St. Louis.

Unity 64: McKissock 13, D. Barnard 6, Peterson 9, Reddon 10, Buokberrough 9, Brown 7, Murphy 2, Paul 8.

Int'l Y 43: Leier 3, Toke 2, Powers 2, Bridle 3, Craulis 17, Taylor 1, Applegate 9, Keir 2, Burkes 4, Hobson, Campbell

Unity 60: McKissock 14, D. Barnard 17, Petersen 9, Reddon 2, Buokberrough 9, Brown, Murphy, M. Barnard, Paul 9.

Int'l Y 48: Leier, Applegate 7, Campbell 13, Taylor 4, Craulis 4, Toke 2, Bridle 9, Burkes 7, Hobson 2.

A tentative offer was made this week to coach Mariasine for a two game exhibition series with Valleyfield. Dependant on playoff obligations, the games would be played here Saturday, Feb. 26, and at Valleyfield Wednesday, March 2.

Grant Gill's Millionaires and Hugh Laws' Unity Boys' Club midgets, will meet this evening in the first of a two game total goals playoff series for the Municipal midget championship.

The game will be played at Stayner Park and will be the feature attraction of the Unity Boys' Club annual carnival.

Gill's boys finished on top of the league with 17 points having lost only two games. Gordon Merritt, hard working forward of the Millionaires won the league scoring crown.

His 14 goals and eight assists edged teammate Paul Hamilton, who finished with 19.

Ken Lyon led the Unity squad in scoring with 17 points. Sammy Gavin, also of Unity, had the most assists in the League over the regular season with ten.

The bantam Cougars out of Westmount Junior High and ably coached by Howard Stutt came through with a big win as they upset the previously unbeaten Unity Boys' Club by a 5-4 count.

Mike Thomas put Unity on the score sheet first; Sandy MacDonald and Peter Gillespie scored to put Cougars up 2-1, as the first period ended.

Lead Changes Hands Jimmy McCourt scored to notch the count 2-2 early in the second frame, MacDonald then scored his second goal of the afternoon to put Cougars in the lead again. The lead changed hands again in the third period Thomas and Wojcicki put Unity ahead, 4-3. Valdmanis scored with less than a minute remaining in regulation time to force an overtime.

Valdmanis came through again at the four minute mark to break up the game and give Howard Stutt's boys a well deserved win. St. Leo's Blues won their fifth successive game without a loss as they whitewashed the Beavers 5-0. Chris Walsh scored three, Mario Scocco and Dan Carriere one each in the fray, to lead the production department.

Unity Pee Wees Upset Westmount Junior High pee wee A Goldts masterminded by Ashford C. Kenny edged the powerhouse Unity team 4-3 in overtime. The Goldts whose record was a mediocre three wins and three losses over the regular season were really up for this encounter.

Unity's top line couldn't get untangled and Goldts had the better of the play in every period. Ray Lawson scored the winning goal on the first play of the overtime taking a pass from Derek McLearn. Bobby Stewart, the Unity netminder, made several brilliant saves but was the victim of poor defensive work. Coach Tom Nixon was put off by the loss and blamed Frank Taylor and Duane Keit on overconfidence.

Modern Day Professional Hockey Seen Deteriorating Into "Brand of Shinny"

Professional hockey may be considered rough and tumble today, but as far as one old time player is concerned, it is deteriorating into a "brand of shinny."

Walter Smail, one of the great athletes of yesteryear, thinks the brand of hockey played today is inferior to that of the old days. As one of hockey's most stitched up players, he knows his subject.

He cites three reasons for his conclusion: poor officiating, carrying of personal grudges for long periods, and inferior skating ability.

As changes that would help the game, Walter has some concrete suggestions. He would like to see a larger ice surface, and the return of seven man teams. He also figures enlarging the net area would be better, from a spectator standpoint.

"People like to see scoring, and this would provide more opportunity for more goals. There would also be fewer ties," he added.

As a former referee, he deplors the manner in which a game is handled today. "Not for a minute," he states would I have tolerated "the abuse heaped upon a referee by present-day players and coaches. It is absolutely ridiculous; heavier penalties should be levied on offenders."

He recalls one memorable night while playing with Cobalt Silver Kings in a rugged northern mining town in which seven players on Cobalt wound up in the hospital after a very rough contest.

"Despite the lambasting we took, the refereeing was very good. Had it been handled in a present-day fashion, we would have been massacred."

He also contributes the grudges some players carry for each other over an extended period as detrimental to the game. "In the old days, if players had a rhabarb, they had it out, and the following day they would meet and have dinner together, and the incident was forgotten. "Perhaps," he added, "thoughtfully that's because in those days it was sport, now it's a business."

He contends that present-day players have lost the art of skating. He attributes this to lack of practice. "We were made to practice skating for two or three hours a day," he said. "Today skating is secondary. You just pick it up as you go along."

Mr. Smail shows very few traces of his rugged athletic career, where apart from hockey, he starred on many MAAA football teams, paddled for Cartierville, and played basketball and lacrosse. He has suffered two fractured skulls, and over 300 stitches have been taken to sew up his wounds. This remains as one of the all time highs for pro players.

Annual Silver Foil Handicap Tournament At YMCA Saturday

The annual Westmount Silver Foil Handicap tournament will be held Saturday, in the Y gymnasium. Last year the tournament was very popular as it gave all fencers an opportunity to meet top notch foilists on more or less even ground. The meet is open to both men and women regardless of class. To put competitors on an equal footing a handicap system has been devised.

Individual entries are expected from the Royal Military College of St. John's; McGill University; Palestre Nationale, as well as other fencers in vicinity of Montreal. The meet begins at 2 p.m.

Last year's winner of the Silver Plated Foil was Carl Schwendie, of

Stitch Survey of Walter Smail's Face

This picture and story appeared in the Vancouver Daily Province in 1917, while he was still playing for Montreal Wanderers.

Who is the worst battered man playing hockey? This question was put to a number of Montreal hockey players a few years ago.

And the answer projected from the vocal organs of every player within hearing distance, came without hesitation: "Walter Smail."

This famous warhorse of hockey who has played the game for years for Montreal Wanderers and the Victoria Coast League team, is now leading the Sommes in the Winnipeg Military League.

From the time Walter Smail started to play hockey up till the present season, he has been receiving wallops over the head and in the face with the same cheerful disregard for the attendant pain until he can boast today that at various times he has had over one hundred stitches sewn into him by surgeons in all parts of the Dominion. Some of the more memorable occasions we have endeavored to place on record in the survey of Smail's.

Pride of place among his injuries in the way of the number of stitches required to close up the wound is given to a Y-shaped scar which decorates his chin immediately below his mouth on the right hand side. This little souvenir was the gift of Harry Smith, an expert at the rough and ready school of hockey, in the course of a desperate encounter in the Cobalt district in 1909. It took eight high-class stitches to draw the edges of the wound together. So much for the good old days.

But the real pride of Walter's unique collection is his nose, which is more battered than that of even old Ad Wolgast.

Loyola Plays At Kingston Sporting Perfect Record

By CHUCK HARWOOD

With a record of three wins in three starts to date, the Loyola College Warriors hook up with the dauntless cadets of R.M.C. this coming Saturday in Kingston. With this tilt under their belt, the Westenders will face but one more contest in regular league play of the Ottawa-St. Lawrence Valley Conference circuit.

In a double bill this past weekend, the Warriors picked up another four points to their credit in trouncing a fighting Sir George Williams College crew 10-1 and a determined but outclassed Carlton College of Ottawa crew 12-2. In their first scheduled league tilt the Bernie McCallum aggregation racked up an initial two points by handing down a severe 14-2 whallop to an out-played, out-witted and out-classed Bishops College sextet.

Sparked by puckmen Gary Gagnon and Connie Mandala, the Loyola crew opened the scoring against the Sir George Williams six with a marker by Gagnon at 12.50 mark of the first. Some 66 seconds later Gagnon notched the twine once more to firmly fix the Warriors with a 2-0 lead. Defenceman Brian McMullen brought the score up to 3-0 for the Maroon and White at the end of the first on an assist from Johnny Foy and Mandala.

The second saw Mandala and Gagnon, some 16 seconds apart, tally up their second each of the night, the latter on a screen shot with assistance from the former and then Ron Chisholm, George Lemieux and Joe Schnurr each rack up singletons. At the 00:55 mark of the third, Sir George's Robson picked up a rebound off Loyola's Kev. Dunnigan to tip in the squads one and only tally of the tilt. He was followed by two more Mandala markers to make the final score 10-1 for the Maroon and White crew.

The following night, Saturday, saw a victorious Loyola Warriors hockey club fire a total 43 shots on a busied Carlton goal-tender as opposed to a total 28 on their own Bob Allore to whip a determined but outclassed Carlton College of Ottawa crew to the tune of 12-2. Chisholm and for the victors garnering seven of the total 12 markers, Chisholm being responsible for four and Schnurr for three.

Schnurr opened the scoring early in the tilt for the Maroon and White when he put one past goalie Bob Williamson at the 4:55 (Continued on Page 16)

MacRae and Royal Pharmacy Chalk Up Wins

Clash Between Regents And Michaud Will Tell Playoff Position Tale

By CLIFF FARNWORTH

Two games still remain in the St. Laurent Intermediate Hockey League, but the big battle for the last playoff spot will take place this Saturday at the St. Laurent Arena, with the loop winding up regular schedule affairs Feb. 26.

The two teams that will be concerned in this battle are the N.D.G. Regents and St. Laurent's Michaud Freres, with the Regents holding a four-point advantage, but with Michaud Freres having a disputed game in their favour, which may have to be replayed if it affects their position in the league's standings.

The N.D.G. Regents have given Michaud Freres several chances to close the gap between these two teams, but Michaud failed to take advantage as both teams lost again last Saturday.

The opening game had MacRae Electric come from behind to down Michaud 6-4, while Royal Pharmacy clinched second place in the league by handing the Regents a 4-2 defeat.

This week the opening game has Royal Pharmacy meeting MacRae Electric, while the battle royal finds the Regents and Michaud Freres clashing one hour later.

A second period outburst which found MacRae Electric scoring four times without a murmur from Michaud Freres highlighted last Saturday's opening game. In both the first and third periods Michaud Freres outscored the Electricians 2-1, but it was the middle frame that caused the trouble as far as the northend team was concerned.

Bud Selby picked up one goal in the game to remain at the head of the individual scoring race. Other scorers from MacRae were Simmons and Mitchell with two goals each, and MacDonald with a singleton.

Allard tallied twice for Michaud Freres, while Lehman and Gaudette each notched one.

The second game of the afternoon found Royal Pharmacy with a one-goal lead in the first period on Marshall's effort, and this was extended to a two-goal lead with Walter David blinking the light in the middle frame. Bill Shaver fooled his former teammates at the end of the sandwich session to bring the Regents into the game.

Jimmy Campbell then tied up the game within the first minute of the last period, but that was as close as the Regents came to winning. Royal Pharmacy came back very strong to pump home two goals to wind up the scoring. Don Bussiere got one, while Frank Read notched a solo effort to finalize the game.

a power shot fired from some 20 feet out from Allors. Schnurr added one more to his record at the 18:00 mark of the stanza. The final period boasted two more tallies by Chisholm, a close in shot by Eddy Long that resulted in a second marker for the out-of-towners, and singletons by Schnurr, Gillmour, and O'Connor of Loyola, making the final count 12-2 in favor of the Maroon and White.

In this Saturday's tilt against the cadets the Warriors will most probably use the services of star puckman Gary Gagnon, but will limit his activity due to an injured ankle sustained in the Carlton contest.
