The R.M.R. arriving at St. Matthias Church

Municipal Association invites citizens to take active part

The Westmount Municipal Association, which was founded in 1908 to make itself useful in the interests of the city, is holding its annual spring open meeting on May 17 in Victoria Hall.

At this meeting members of the Association and interested citizens are invited to take part in the activities of the Association and if they are not already members, to join it.

Mr. Colin Russel, president of the Association, addressed an invitation to all Westmount residents recently, to do just that, and as this letter went out in April, and many Westmount households have changed hands during the annual May first moving day, the Examiner reprints it for those who missed it, and especially for those who are new to Westmount.

Dear Westmount Residents:

Are you in favor of good civic government and intelligent management of municipal affairs? Are you interested in what happens in your community by way of recreation, traffic rules, education, safety and protection? It may be that you already contribute to the maintenance of good government in Westmount through your membership in the Westmount Municipal Association. If not, this is the time to join, as the new fiscal year starts on May 1, 1967 and there are many projects in the months lying ahead which your voice should influence.

Membership in the Association gives you the right to receive the regular news letter informing you on Westmount affairs, to attend the general meetings, to convey your ideas, "beefs or bouquets" personally or in writing and thus be assured of their immediate consideration.

In the past, the Association has conducted useful studies on municipal projects such as the swimming pool, Sunday use of recreational facilities and the future of Westmount Park. It conducted a poll of the citizens of Westmount on the subject of annexation to Montreal and presented a brief to the Blier Commission. More recently, it promoted a contest for the best civic Centennial suggestion and conferred with civic officials in implementing the complete renovation of the Westmount Library as the City's Centennial Project. Police patrol get help from canine 'Buddy'

Patrolling the top of Westmount's mountain every night for the last 18 months are Police Sergeant Walter Richardson and his faithful dog Buddy. Buddy is no ordinary canine pet however, as our police force knows, but a highly trained member of the force, and a great help to Sergeant Richardson.

The houses on the mountain top are not as close together as they are in other parts of the city, and there are many wooded areas where the street lights do not penetrate. It is here that Buddy is very useful, for his keen hearing and sight, and perhaps an extra sense that even policemen haven't got, tell his master when there is something strange in the bushes.

Sergeant Richardson stresses however that three year old Buddy is not an attacker; in fact he does everything (but warn with a low growl) only on command.

Rescue work is his specialty, and he is available at any time to find a lost child, or to swim out to save anyone in difficulty in the water.

He would of course also track a burglar, even hold one gently by the arm, but never without a command from his police master.

Buddy lives with the Richardson family, and the children find him a lovable pet. "To have the dog with me at all times is the best way to keep him useful," the Sergeant said in a recent interview. Buddy agrees with the Westmount Police Force policy, for, he thinks, all dogs need a family, even dogs with an important job like his.

Centennial Essay contest winners announced

The Examiner's Centennial Essay contest for high school students of Westmount has now been judged, and the judges are happy to award the first prize of a Season's Passport to Expo to Winnie Beebe of St. Paul's Academy. Winnie lives at 454 Argyle Avenue.

Winnie's essay on the subject 'My responsibility as a Canadian' will be published in this week's Examiner, and the other prizewinners and the first and second honorable mention at later dates.

Second prize, five daily Passports to Expo was won by John Aimers of 559 Roslyn Avenue, who goes to Lower Canada College, and the third place goes to Patricia Cooney of St. Paul's Academy who lives at 223 Melville Avenue. Patricia's prize is two daily passports.

First honorable mention is Ann Norkus, also of St. Paul's, of 1214 Greene Avenue, and second honorable mention, David Astrof, 468 Wood Avenue a student of Westmount High School.

The judges found that the calibre of the essays was high, and some contained interesting and well written material. Unfortunately among these were works which had neglected the theme of the essay, and so could not be considered prize-worthy.

has made an independent study of the Selby Street problem and assisted where possible in bringing the City's Urban Renewal Scheme to fruition. It brought the attention of citizens to the inequities of assessing school taxes in Greater Montreal and is seeking ways and means of a more equitable allocation in the future.

These and other municipal affairs of outstanding importance are before us all at present. The Association should have wide representation among Westmount residents so that it can effectively express your views. The Association is the only organized citizens' group in our community. It is a non-profit organization and at present has 2,000 members. If you care about Westmount and have not already joined this group we earnestly ask you to do so and thus increase its strength.

Citizens who are already members are requested to send in their annual dues. New members will be warmly welcomed. Our next general meeting will be held on May 17, 1967 at Victoria Hall.

In their forecast of the nation's food outlook for May, economists of the Canada Department of Agriculture note that prices of broiler turkey and onions may go up.

The forecast is: EGGS — Prices will likely remain stable at present relatively low levels. BROILER TURKEY — Production is somewhat reduced and prices may advance slightly. BROILER CHICKEN — Supplies are plentiful and prices have gone down. APPLES — Plentiful supplies at stable prices. POTATOES — Unusually heavy supplies are holding prices low. ONIONS — Stocks are below normal for the time of year and prices may firm. CARROTS — Plentiful supplies are still available at weak prices. BEEF — Marketings of high quality beef are expected to be above last year, and lower quality in smaller volume, with little change in prices. PORK — Prices are expected to remain firm with supplies about in balance with market demand.

SHOPPING WITH CASH WILL BE OUT OF STYLE BY 1980—

Those who think to today's credit and banking facilities as the ultimate in customer convenience are in for a big surprise one of these days, suggests Arthur Ellwood, editor of Canadian Hotel & Restaurant. By the early 1980's, as things now stand, cash will be a whole lot more redundant than it is even today. The typical shopper, whether at the department store, supermarket, gas station, restaurant or cigar stand, will "pay" for his purchase with a kind of universal charge plate. Monthly bank statements will show every transaction as well as a credit for net pay paid directly by the shopper's employer. Standard items such as mortgage payments will be automatically deducted and transferred to the payee.

Commodity Imports Canadian imports moved upward 3.9% in March to $862,600,000 from $830,400,000 during the same period of 1966, while during the three-month period they showed a 14.4% rise to $2,522,900,000 in 1967 over the previous year total of $2,204,800,000.

IT'S A NEW GAME — Canadian banks will be free of interest ceilings on bank loans by Jan. 1, 1968, The Financial Post reports. The banks, which are already in the middle of a major price war to lure depositors, next week begin operating under new Bank Act revisions. The old 6% interest ceiling on loans dies with the new revisions and will be replaced for the rest of the year with a higher ceiling of 7 1/4%.

Urban Family Expenditures. Expenditures reported by a sample 2,034 urban families and individuals for the year 1964 indicated that 20.7% of total expenditure was taken by food and 16.8% for shelter expenses. Next in importance was the transportation group, accounting for 12.1% of total expenditure, 10.1% of total expenditure being contributed by car purchase and operation. Clothing expenses represented 8.6% of average expenditures made by families and individuals; furnishings and equipment, 4.3%; household operation, 4.0%; alcoholic beverages and tobacco, 4% (comparisons with independent data have indicated that reported expenditures on this item are considerably understated); medical care, 3.9%; recreation, 3.2%; personal care, 2.3%; reading and education, 1.5%; miscellaneous consumption items, 1.3%. The foregoing relative outlays on current consumption amounted to 83% of total expenditure. The remaining 17% comprised personal taxes (9.4%), security payments (4.7%) and gifts and contributions (3.1%).

WHERE TAX REFORMS WILL REALLY COUNT — At this crucial stage of analysis of the vast Carter tax report, Canadians should remember that improvements we hope to get at the federal level are only one step in achieving long-needed reforms in our overall tax system, the Financial Post comments. Real property taxes, for instance, are virtually the sole source of municipal revenues, hit hardest at the poor, are higher in proportion to income than in any other advanced country, and now account for 13% of all tax revenues. Yet this key area of taxation was outside Carter's terms of reference. Property taxes in Canada are based largely on improvements on the land rather than on the value of the land itself.

Tower clock needs parts after 38 years service

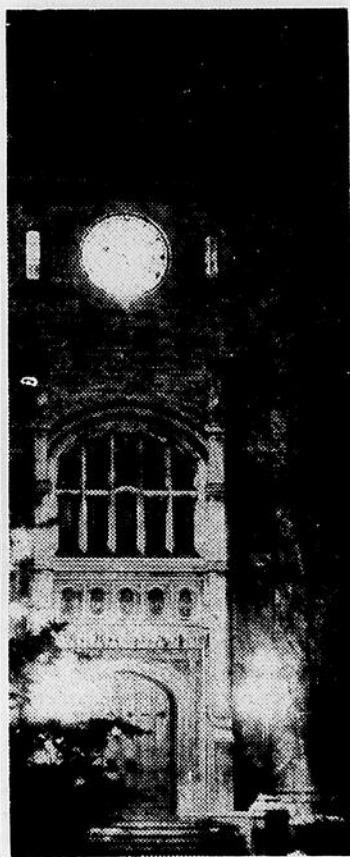

Citizens who depend on the large timepiece atop our city hall for the correct time of day may be confused this week to discover that it has apparently not been wound up.

This however is not the case. Like all clocks, large and small, Westmount's big fellow needs attention to keep it in perfect running order, so the works have gone to the jeweller for an overhaul.

This will leave the face of the clock with the hands set at the same time day and night. City Manager Norman Dave says that the works should be back on the job, keeping the hands moving to perfect time in about a week's 'time'.

A spokesman from the city engineer's office says that the clock has been kept running up to now by maintenance men on the staff of the city. Every two years it has been cleaned and rebalanced on the spot. This is the first time since 1929 when the clock was installed on the city hall tower, that major repairs have been made and old age has been given as the reason of the parts.

Winning Centennial Essay

My Responsibility as a Canadian

by WINNIE BEEBE
Of Saint Paul's Academy

This is 1967, the one hundredth birthday of Canada, centennial year. With all the centennial projects we are constantly being reminded of Canada and Canadians. But do we always think of what this entails, what are the responsibilities of a Canadian? We seem to take Canada and all it offers for granted. Its democratic government is among the most republican in the world. Any citizen can be elected to the House of Commons by the people. Nowhere in the world can a person find more opportunity for advancement.

Yet to have the privilege of being a citizen of this attractive country, surely he must expect certain encumbrances. He must accept certain responsibilities. He must have a spirit of loyalty, patriotism, and nationalism.

Even though he may disagree on certain superficial matters, he should agree basically to the British North American Act of 1867. Another expression of patriotism is when he is overcome by a certain feeling of pride having seen the Canadian flag flying in the breeze on foreign soil. If the need arise, he should feel it his duty to fight for the freedom his country offers. He should not knock down the image of his country, but rather he should build it up. Rather than blowing up the bad points, he ought to accentuate the good qualities it possesses while not completely ignoring its faults.

It is the duty of every Canadian to use his privilege of voting. This is one of the most powerful weapons the public has against corrupt or idle members of parliament. This privilege belongs to everyone male or female over twenty-one years by polling day. A voter must be a resident of Canada for the twelve months preceding polling day, and the British citizen must vote as well. Every Canadian citizen is also automatically a British citizen. This is one of the advantages of belonging to the British Commonwealth of Nations.

John Stuart Mill, a famous Englishman, wrote almost a century ago: "A people may

We Say

Advertising's detractors are the misleaders

SEE a misleading advertisement recently?

We've seen tastless ads which didn't bestir us, and ads which fascinated, excited, performed a distinct service bringing useful buying information to our attention, and ads which sold us completely on the goods and the firm behind them.

But misleading ads, in our experience, are few and far between.

And that is said despite the recommendation of the Senate-Commons Committee on Consumer Credit and the Cost of Living, to the government this week, that alleged advertising abuses which mislead the public should be investigated, as an immediate chore for the proposed federal department of consumer affairs.

The new department may be a good thing, though we have a strong feeling that the public — that includes business and the consumer — would like to know first in what areas this new proliferation of Big Brother bureaucracy is designed to meddle.

Perhaps one is an educational campaign to show families and individuals how to budget their spending, whatever their income — so that a new car doesn't take precedence over new clothes for children, or holidays over housing, or booze over food. We say "educational," because government has no role in a free society in merely coercing citizens.

Perhaps choice of foods is a specific area. Yet we wonder if such a department could do more than attempted through the years by such existing departments as Fisheries and Agriculture in boosting the merits of fish, dairy foods and other products of Canada's seas and farms.

But back to advertising.

There already exists a highly effective, tripartite "conscience" of the advertising world through which abuses, if there be any, can be detected, screened and eliminated. It is the advertiser, the advertising agency (if one is involved) and the medium propagating the advertising — newspaper, magazine, broadcasting station or network, billboard and direct-mail association.

Advertisers, agencies and media have, first of all, their own reputations. Misleading, untruthful or dishonest ads have many barriers to surmount in the process from conception to publication. And finally there is the Criminal Code, with existing severe sanctions which can be invoked by anyone wronged.

Last winter much heat but very little light was generated by the Senate-Commons Committee hearings, much of it by emotional busybodies. Truth is that the advertising industry, as a whole, would welcome concrete examples of the alleged abuses, if there be any, so that they may be eradicated.

A free-enterprise society is worth maintaining, without further un-called-for inroads by government at all levels, specially when business exercises the rights of that freedom with responsibility.

Advertising, the greatest booster of our economy and standard of living, itself deserves boosters, not detractors.

Paragraphs on Philately

By MARK WEINER

HYPOCRISY. Of course. It is now reported from Red China that philately is now passé and condemned as a bourgeois custom. If this is so, then why do they issue such attractive stamps? By continuing this policy, rather than discourage they tempt their nationals to continue the hobby, on the other hand perhaps they are only hoping to attract the bourgeois dollars.

Belgium has paid honour to one of her great statesmen, Paul-Emile Janson, on April 17th a 10Fr. stamp was issued in his memory. A one time Minister of Defense and Minister of Justice, he was requested by his King in 1937 to form the Government. In 1940 an exile in Nice and in 1943 arrested and in 1944 deported to the Weimar concentration camp in Germany, where he died under very mysterious circumstances.

Another national hero has also been honoured with a postage stamp in his memory. On April 26th the Netherlands Antilles issued a 20c stamp to commemorate the 150th anniversary of the death of Manuel Carlos Piar. Piar will long be remembered by the Dutch for having repulsed several British attacks, driving off invaders on several occasions when they tried to occupy Curaçao. The stamp was printed by screen engraving in two colors on coated paper without watermark and depicts a bust of Piar and on the bottom right the dates 1777-1817.

May 2nd saw the issue of the Ethiopian "EXPO" issue consisting of three stamps, 30, 45 and 80c, with a common design, printed in four colors each by offset process. The Ethiopian Pavilion, in the form of a bright red tent, eye-catching in daylight, doubly appealing at night when the bright lights inside cause the tent to glow like a Mas-kal bonfire, affers a warm inviting welcome. So colorful is this unique pavilion that it was chosen as the theme for the stamps. In the upper left corner is the text "EXPO 67" and directly beneath is the EXPO symbol. The date of issue was arranged to coincide with King Haile Selassie's visit to EXPO and the Pavilion.

Korea is another country that has commemorated her participation in EXPO with stamps. On April 28th two stamps, 7 and 83 won, with a common design, depicting the National Flags of Canada and Korea with the Korean Pavilion as the main setting. In the upper right corner appears the EXPO symbol and beneath it the text "EXPO 67." Printing was by lithographic process on fibrous unwatermarked paper in three colors each.

Additions to the 'Europa - - C. E. P. T.' omnibus issue reported earlier are two values from Greece, 2.50 and 4.50 drachmas, printed four colored offset and two values from Belgium 3 and 6Fr. printed three colored photogravure. Both sets were issued May 21.

C. M. DRURY

Last week I wrote about some of the achievements of our External Aid program. Over the years we have accumulated a considerable reservoir of experience which is being used as the basis for some changes in the size and direction of our program.

In recent years our aid budget has been growing by about $50 million a year. The government has announced its intention to reach the internationally accepted goal of 1 per cent of out gross national product by the early 1970's, making Canada one of the few nations which has committed itself to a substantial increase in its program.

We have also decided to concentrate the bulk of our capital assistance on a small number of countries which we believe can be lifted to the take-off point of economic self-sufficiency. Emphasis will be on such fields as power, transport, natural resources and education in which we feel we are particularly qualified by our experience to make useful contributions.

We are interested in comprehensive programming, rather than merely responding to individual requests for a bridge or an adviser. A typical program might include a survey of educational requirements, a technical team to install a training school, teachers to operate the school, and train their own replacements, and grants for buildings and equipment.

Those critics who proclaim that Canadian aid has been squandered and misused have not bothered to find out how our projects are run. Our assistance is largely provided in the form of Canadian goods and skills. When we build a dam, an irrigation project, an atomic reactor, an airport, or harbour facilities, we employ Canadian designers and contractors. We deliver not a blank cheque but a completed project. The projects are undertaken in partnership with the recipient government, which itself invests a portion of the costs.

I close this column with a quote from Maurice Strong, a dynamic young businessman who recently resigned as President of Power Corporation to run our external aid program. It augurs well for out international development efforts that a man of his qualifications and achievement would take on such a responsibility.

"We have long acknowledged the fact that the stability and prosperity of our own society depend upon the government's role in redistributing wealth so that those of the lower part of the economic scale may enjoy at least a certain minimum standard of life and opportunity. Through the medium of government-sponsored foreign aid programs, we are now witnessing the extension of this practice into international life. In

Roslyn School holds Ballet recital May 17

The Roslyn School Ballet Project is having a recital at the Westmount High School Auditorium at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, May 17th. The show is entitled "Young at Heart" and "The Royal Doulton Figurines". The "Young at Heart" half of the show is a dream voyage to the exciting land of make-believe where children need no passports save their youth, and adults youthful memories. In this land of imagination we'll find "Tinkerbell", "Puppets", "Skaters", "Cinderella", and the "Seven Dwarfs". The second half of the show is based on the distinctive ceramic figurines of Royal Doulton. Moved by their aesthetic beauty and charm, our dancers will give life to "Coralie", "Lorna", "Rose", and "Dancing Years". Hon. Wm. B. Scott dies at his home

Funeral services were held at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday May 9 in Christ Church Cathedral for William Bridges Scott, retired chief justice of the Quebec Superior Court and outstanding Canadian jurist. Mr. Justice Scott died at his home in Westmount last Friday night at the age of 79.

Named chief justice in 1961, after 11 years as associate justice, Mr. Scott retired two years later on his 75th birthday because "it is now time for a younger man to take over."

Retirement did not halt his activities as he continued his interests in the Anglican Church and the City of Westmount.

He voiced concern over the introduction of Quebec Education Bill 60 and reminded the Government of its obligation to preserve English-Protestant education.

A former alderman of the City of Westmount, Mr. Scott was interested in the establishment of parks and playing fields. He was instrumental in the acquisition of King George V Park, between Cote St. Antoine Rd. and Westmount Ave., from the Murray estate.

Born in Drummondville, Que. on April 7, 1888, he was the son of Frederick George Scott, CMG, DSO, MA, DCL, LL.D, Anglican Archdeacon of Quebec, and Amy Brooks.

He received his early education at Quebec High School, then won his Master of Arts from Bishop's University and the degree of Bachelor of Civil Law from McGill University.

Called to the Bar in 1912, his legal career was interrupted by the First World War.

He enlisted in August, 1914, with the 14th Battalion of the Royal Montreal Regiment and was wounded overseas in 1915.

During the Second World War he played an active role in recruiting work for the Canadian Army.

After the First World War, he resumed his law practice and was named King's Counsel in 1928. During this period he took an active part in community affairs, being president of the Montreal School of Social Work and president of the Canadian Club. Mr. Scott also was an officer of the Canadian Bar Association.

In 1951 he was elected by acclamation as Batonnier of the Bar of Montreal. He became associate chief justice of the Superior Court a year later.

He was awarded an honorary degree of Doctor of Civil Law by Bishop's in 1947 and an honorary degree of Doctor of Law by McGill in 1956.

Mr. Justice Scott is survived by his wife, the former Esther Florence Aird; two sons, Dr. H. J. Scott and Dr. Geoffrey Scott, of Montreal; and two brothers, Professor Frank Scott, former dean of McGill's Faculty of Law, and A. E. P. Scott of Quebec.

A third son, Richard Aird Scott, was killed in action in 1943 while serving with the Royal Canadian Air Force.

Folksinger to entertain children of all ages

Tom Glazer, one of America's foremost balladeers and a leading children's folksinger, will come to Westmount Saturday May 13, to give a special concert for young folk.

His hour-long performance of songs and stories for children of all ages will be given at the Westmount High School Auditorium, 4350 St. Catherine St., W., at 2 p.m. on Saturday the 13th.

Glazer, a recording star as well as a concert artist, has that almost uncanny ability of being able to speak with children in their own language, both with words and with his guitar. When he tells them "I think you sing delicious," or makes up verses on the spot using their names, they know they are with a man who is "one of us."

He has, as a result, another wonderful ability where mothers are concerned—he is able to keep children so enthralled that they actually sit for a whole hour and listen, that is, when they themselves are not participating in the show.

For the entire hour of Glazer, youngsters are so busy keeping time, singing, clapping, and just having a good time, that they never seem to want to do anything else.

His forthcoming concert in this city is a direct result of this wonderful rapport with children. A group of Montreal mothers, feeling that there has never been enough live entertainment for children here, decided to get together and organize a concert comprising some of the best of children's entertainment: Tom Glazer.

The three mothers-turned-impressario are Mrs. Fred Heller, of 4998 de Maisonneuve Blvd. Mrs. Lawrence A. Nadler, and Mrs. E. Leo Kolber, of 756 Lexington Avenue

Beginner readers come to children's library

Due to popular request from parents and children, the library has ordered a quantity of the "Follet Beginning to Read Series" and the slightly more mature series the "I Can Read Books."

These books are specially designed for the first grade or "beginning" reader as books which he can read and enjoy by himself at his present reading level. The books stand on their own merit as interesting stories which will thrill and motivate children to further reading.

Follet Beginning to Read Series

Too many Dogs by R. Dupré; Curious Cow by E. Meeks; The Splendid belt of Mr. Big by S. Bulette; Bertie the duck by Georiady and Roman; Pearl goes to school by E. Hastings; The Little Red Hen by J. Children's painting Library display

A Grade two art class from St. Paul's Academy, has lent a number of very attractive paintings. Using the technique of combining crayon and water colour, the children have made colourful pictures of fish in their natural setting as well as flowers and insects. Summer fun in Westmount

Preparations are well under way to provide the 6-13 year boys and girls of Westmount and vicinity with a fun filled summer of activities from July 4th to August 11th.

The Westmount YMCA Summer Fun Club and Happy Holiday Club are in-the-city programs designed for boys and girls who spend much of their summer vacation in the city. Its general purpose is to provide FUN for youngsters through programs such as: swimming instruction and recreational swims, handicrafts, in-door and outdoor sports of all kinds, sing-songs, dramatics (skits) trips and tours to places of interest, hikes, track and field events and a Penny Carnival.

Happy Holiday Club is for boys and girls six and seven years old. Summer Fun Club is for children from eight to thirteen. Activities which are organized within the small group setting are planned for the children and by the children, with the aid of a qualified counselor. This offers the opportunity for the growth of youngsters towards physical, social and spiritual maturity. The program is planned and supervised by highly trained professional workers with youth. Each of the small groups will have a counselor who has been carefully selected and trained. They are high school students chosen for their interest in working with children and in their various skills and experiences.

There is LOTS TO LEARN... because the 'Y' believes that the best learning takes place when the campers' feelings of responsibility and the campers' interest are high. They are able to learn more about their city, its places of interest and some of its cultural heritage. They are also able to acquire new skills in swimming, sports and games. Thus, the individual learns to make wise decisions based on principles, rather than on self-interest alone.

The 1967 Exposition offers a unique opportunity to all Canadians and to Montrealers in particular. For sometime the Westmount YMCA has been working on a program to incorporate these once in a lifetime educational opportunities into the program. The local schools have been asked for recommendations as to how the camps can best take advantage of Expo 67 supplement their educational program. The itinerary has not been set as yet but the campers will be going to Expo 67 not just for fun visits but for an educational purpose which will be the focus of each visit.

In the dedicated service of all, Salvation Army workers make no distinction of race or creed. They are always ready to assist victims of poverty, personal tragedy and disaster. Help The Salvation Army to give aid and comfort whenever it is needed.

BAHA'IS FORM LOCAL ASSEMBLY

April 21st was a happy day for the Baha'is of Westmount. Our new Local Spiritual Assembly was formed and now we have the strong foundation from which all future activities can be developed.

Our happiness was shared by millions of Baha'is throughout the world who were also electing their assemblies. The number of assemblies has increased from 4,566 in 1964 to the present total of 5,266.

The Westmount community held a party afterwards, attended by people of many racial and religious origins — a wonderful example of the Bahai Principle of racial unity under one God.

St. Paul's present album to Madame de Saint-Exupery

Last week the Comtesse de Saint-Exupery, wife of the late Antoine de Saint-Exupery, visited the pupils of St. Paul's Academy to receive an Album of songs and poems dedicated to her celebrated husband.

Antoine de Saint-Exupery is the author of "La Terre des Hommes", which has been taken as the theme of Expo '67, 'Man and His World'. He was an air force pilot during the second World War, and was killed on a reconnaissance mission in 1944.

It was another book of his, "Le Petit Prince", which inspired the pupils of the elementary school to compose the album, writing all the material themselves.

Madame de Saint-Exupery was also taken around a "Mini" exposition of drawings, flags and photographs made by the children as an Expo project.

She addressed the pupils thanking them and telling them how touched she was by this attention; she also explained to the children how the book "Le Petit Prince" was inspired.

The children took the opportunity to invite another favourite author, Tante Lucille, of Elm Avenue, to meet Madame de Saint-Exupery. Tante Lucille is a well-known writer and broadcaster for children, reading her own stories over the air every Saturday, and has a large following among the pupils of St. Paul's. On behalf of the children she presented Madame with one of her books and received one from her in return. She also told Madame how much the children loved "Le Petit Prince".

Tante Lucille told the Examiner that she wished to congratulate the children on their album on Antoine de Saint-Exupery and said "I think the children of to-day can do wonderful work and I am very proud of them."

Information kit for Youth Pavilion

The official sponsor of the program of activities of the Expo 67 Youth Pavilion, Steinberg's Limited, has devised a unique way to promote the Pavilion among young people across Canada.

The company has received a great number of letters from high school and university students, teachers and educators interested in learning more about "the first pavilion in the history of world exhibitions particularly designed for Youth." Many of the students require this information for essay assignments and for articles in their school papers or magazines.

Steinberg's responded by preparing a detailed "information kit" which describes the origin, theme and program of activities of the Youth Pavilion. Besides a series of press releases, the kit also contains floor plans and photographs suitable for reproduction.

Students and other interested persons need only drop a line to the Public Relations Director, Steinberg's Limited, Place Crémazie, Montreal, and the kits will be sent to them by return mail.

Parent Federation to debate varied Education Proposals

Representatives of Quebec's Protestant parents will vote on 17 major resolutions about educational affairs on May 12 and 13 at the 23rd Annual Meeting of the Quebec Federation of Protestant Home and School Associations, to be held at Sir George Williams University.

The Federation, composed of 160 local associations at English Protestant schools in Quebec, will debate the resolutions at a business meeting the afternoon of Friday, May 12. A program of clinics and panel discussions on Friday evening and Saturday will consider a variety of subjects under the theme, "How can we prepare our children for tomorrow's world?"

Appeals for action by Quebec provincial authorities feature a number of the resolutions, each sponsored by a local home-school association. Subject to adoption by a majority of delegates, they call for:

Establishment of elected regional school boards, neutral as to language and religion, to administer all public education in their areas.

Election of school boards by all people of voting age entitled to use the services of the boards concerned.

Advancement of nomination
day for school board candidates, and extension of the hours of nomination.

Financing of all public education costs from the general provincial revenue rather than local property tax.

Education of all children in all subjects in both English and French.

Speeded-up development of television and radio as educational tools.

Exemption from sales tax on clothing for students, rather than the present law based on child size.

School boards and principals,
too, come in for a number of proposals including these:

School boards and principals
should encourage formation and operation of Home and School Associations, considering parents as partners in education.

Schools should not charge
Home and School Associations
rent for facilities engaged for cultural activities by children such as ballet, art and French conversation classes.

Winning Centennial Essay . . .

prefer a free government but if, from indolence, or carelessness, or cowardice, or want of public spirit, they are unequal to the exertions necessary for preserving it . . . they are unlikely long to enjoy it". (1) Democracy and freedom are dependent not on a handful of leaders, but on the public as a whole. If the people of democratic Canada do not "understand or believe in their own institutions" (ibid) enough to preserve
them and make them work,
then this country will be faced with a most dangerous situation.

The government can only do
what the populus want it to do.
Many, however, feel that the more a government does, the more the people should get,
and that they themselves have little or no responsibilities.
They forget, however, "one of wisest" things ever said about the democratic citizen and his government: "Those who have responsibilities without rights are those who have rights without responsibilities are parasites".

(ibid) Democracies require from their people not merely obedience
co-operation" (ibid).

Today in this atomic age, it would be wise to remember that our influence goes far beyond the boundaries of our own country. We are citizens not merely of one country but of the whole world. This world needs, everywhere, the spirit of democracy at its best, if it is to solve its problems of world government.

If a person does not respect his country he is not worthy to be called a citizen. It is important that we look at the traditions of our past with respect and reverence. We also have the duty to respect change and progress. For example, look how far Canada has come from the days of Jacques Cartier.
Why, without change we never would have achieved self-government, and without progress we would be left behind in the fields of economic, science, culture, industry, and just about anything else you could name. Thus we can see that it is our duty to build on what we already have. Of course, the wise and mature citizen knows what to improve and what to leave to posterity.

In addition, we, the Youth of Canada, should feel it our duty to pursue the knowledge of our country. We should know how the government operates and everything else concerning Canada. We are constantly being told that we are the leaders of tomorrow, well it is true. We must be ready to accept this supreme challenge of governing a country, a country which is very much alive,
vastly growing and maturing.
Of course, we want it to be a better country than it was in our father's time. To accomplish this we must take the necessary steps now.

These are what I consider to be the most important responsibilities of a Canadian. They are not only every other Canadian's responsibilities, but they are mine as well. If I wish and expect to be a good citizen I must live up to them and my heritage in this young country. You know, there is now-where else in the world that I'd rather live than in Canada.

Unity Boys' and Girls' Club

New Club Staff welcomed

By CHUCK TYLER

Mrs. L. Willis, club secretary, leaves this week for a holiday in Europe and the British Isles. The staff and members join in wishing her and hubby a bon voyage. Mrs. Willis' cheerfulness and efficiency will be sorely missed by all.

Two people joined the club staff this week. Miss Laurie Maxwell, previously of the Lions Boys' and Girls' Club, will be involved in arts and crafts and in girls' physical program. John McDonough who recently graduated from Bishop's University, has already formed a basketball house-league for senior members and old-boys and is preparing a training program for those interested in track and Tyndale House won the Melcher's Trophy for coming on top in Section B. The top scorers trophy went to Steve Bourke from the Westmount YMCA and the top goaler's trophy went to the St. Thomas Aquinas Boys' Club. The clubs participating in the league were: Weredale House; Dawson's Boys' Club; Negro Community Center; Tyndale House; Westmount YMCA; N.D.G. YMCA; Lachine-Dorval YMCA; and the St. Thomas Aquinas Boys' Club.

We wish to thank all managers and coaches and especially the executive committee for a job well done. We are looking forward to a bigger and happier season next year.

field. The club will be entering two meets within the next month.

Our woodwork shop is a going concern again, thanks to James McRae. Boys are flocking to the shop every afternoon and evening. 'Mr. Mac' hopes to involve the girls in a pottery class in the near future. Anyone with experience in pottery work and with a little time to spare is urged to contact the club. We have equipment and with a bit of skilled help we should be able to provide our youngsters with a very interesting hobby.

Registration has begun for those members who intend to go to one of the three Montreal Boys' Association Camps this summer. Camp Lewis is for boys, 8-15 years. Camp Light-hall, for girls, 8-14 years and Camp Amy Molson, for boys, 6-8 years and girls, 6-9 years. Register at the club to avoid line-ups at the head office and register quickly, as camps fill up before the end of May.

Unity girls emerged victorious from the semi-final round of the Boys' and Girls' Club Volleyball League. They defeated Rosemount by scores of 21-2 and 21-16. High scorers for Unity were Christine Henson with 13 points and Nancy Dallas with 10. The girls enter the final round against the winner of the other semi-final, Pt. St. Charles Boys' and Girls' Club or St. Andrew's Youth Centre. Good work so far girls. We are with you all the way. Girls' supervisor, Miss Greta Allen has done a fine job of coaching. Greta has arranged a game for the girls against a Sherbrooke team on Saturday, May 20th.

Let's face it. Seagram's Plant Tour isn't for just anybody.

Maybe buses give you claustrophobia. Or your feet hurt. In which case, we'll count you out.

But if you've a lively curiosity—would enjoy seeing the world's most technically-advanced distillery—take a scenic bus ride with us, from the Sheraton Mt. Royal to LaSalle.

As you know, it takes years to produce a perfectly-blended whisky. Many intricate steps are involved. Some as new as Expo... some go back a good 500 years to when the first Scot distilled something called uisgebeatha... making good whisky an integral part of man's world. See it all—just 2½ hours from tour-start to finish.
