Tax claim affects local man

Mrs. Louise M. Scudder, of Hopkinsville, Ky., U.S.A., has challenged U.S. Government claims for $237,947 in income taxes and penalties against her and her former husband, Frank E. Scudder, whose reported address now is a business suite at 360 Victoria avenue, Westmount.

No personal knowledge

In an appeal to the U.S. Tax Court, Mrs. Scudder said she has no personal knowledge of the circumstances leading to the claims, and denied responsibility for any tax deficiencies of her former husband.

The court earlier granted her request for trial of the case in Louisville, Ky.

Last April 13 the Government notified the Scudders that deficiencies and penalties had been assessed against their joint tax returns for 1954 through 1958.

Embezzled funds

In her petition, Mrs. Scudder said the Internal Revenue Service erroneously added to the couple's joint returns a total of $281,665, described as "embezzled funds" from the Ownesboro Liquor Company, formerly managed by Scudder. The wife was one of several partners in the firm.

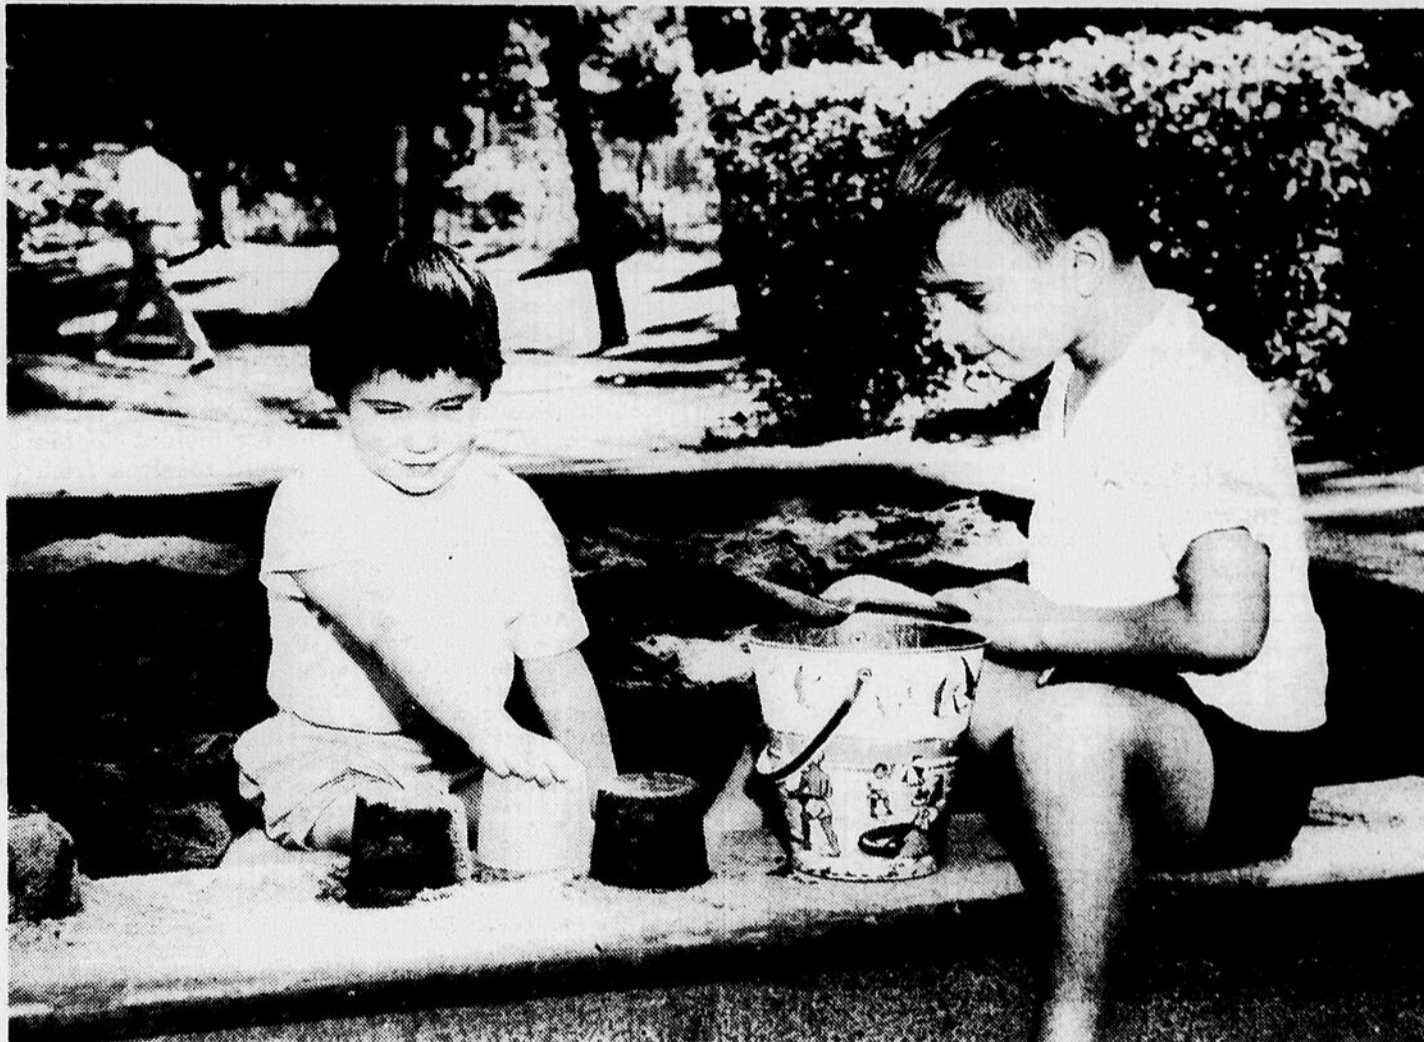

Mrs. Scudder also challenged the Government's contention that fraud penalties should be assessed.

Three days in jail or...

In the weekly bulletin published by the Westmount Rotary Club, editor Phil Page brings the attention of the program committee to the following:

Given alternative

"A Rotarian from Windsor, Ontario, before magistrate in small U.S. town on trumped up speeding charge, pleaded guilty, given alternative of three days in jail or addressing the local Rotary Club that evening. Good speaker, made a hit, and later learned this method often used to obtain speaker from out of town or country."

Lights in operation at Park Place

THE classic problem of traffic control is that of sharing the time available at an intersection between pedestrians and drivers, giving both the maximum necessary protection" stated Alex De Forest Heron, superintendent, light and power department, of the City of Westmount, in his office on Glen road, as he explained the procedures that brought about the installation of traffic lights at Park place and St. Catherine street west.

When a request, suggestion, or petition to install traffic lights is received by the City of Westmount it usually goes to the administrative traffic committee for consideration first.

This is a group that was organized about two years ago to study traffic problems in Westmount.

City of Westmount manager Norman Dawe is chairman of the committee, and other members represent the department of public works, police, and light and power departments.

Pooling knowledge

All the members have some knowledge of traffic problems, and working in this way on a committee is the best way of pooling knowledge.

After consideration by the committee, a pedestrian traffic count showing the patterns of pedestrians living in this area was taken by policemen at Park place and St. Catherine who spent many hours collecting the needed information.

Based on these and other findings, an elaborate chart of this area was drawn up to show existing traffic problems. A result of the traffic count was the decision that Park place and St. Catherine was a good place for pedestrians to cross in this area and that some form of traffic control should be installed here.

The installation of traffic lights at this point was recommended to the City Council by the administrative traffic committee. In this case Council approved the commitment of funds, and the material was ordered.

Late in June the various Canadian and American component parts of light standards that were ordered, were assembled in Canada, and delivered to Westmount. Work on installation began immediately.

The public works department installed underground conduits, and concrete bases were poured for the single bend upsweep mast arm standards that carry the overhang traffic lights so

Tar pots blaze quelled

Westmount firemen rushed to Victoria Avenue garage, 360 Victoria avenue, Friday, when clouds of smoke were seen billowing from the premises.

On arrival it was found that two tar pots being used to lay asphalt floors on the third storey had caught fire.

Employees of the firm used their own extinguishers on the blaze before the arrival of the firemen, who quickly had the outbreak under control with two streams.

There was no damage.

easily seen in the middle of St. Catherine street by drivers coming up the slope from Landsdowne avenue.

Controller testing

Then light and power department took over the work at this stage, and installed all standards, cable conduits, signal heads, controller, and power supply. Testing of controller took place at the Glen road power plant before installation. Electric power for these traffic lights comes from secondary lines at the rear of properties on the south side of St. Catherine.

Control tests were carried out last Friday morning when controller and lights were put in use for a few minutes with Westmount police in attendance in case both red and green lights were to be illuminated at the same moment.

At 2 p.m. that afternoon they were turned on officially.

"The standards installed at Park place conform to the ones recommended by the Canadian Good Roads Association in their manual that covers standardization of traffic controls for Canada," declared Mr. Herron.

"The standardization of signals and signs are prerequisites in any educational program for drivers and pedestrians alike," he added.

Next week's weather

AUGUST 4 TO 11

Another hot holiday week. Days very warm, nights pleasantly cool. Morning wet mists in the mountains, clearing afternoons. Fog along the coasts and in the Gulf. Temperature range 50-90° F; a little cooler in the north and east.

Hot and mainly sunny through the middle of the week with soft winds and only occasional spotting rain, with thunder. Heat wave continuing in Ontario; may spread into Quebec.

Thunder activity for the Lakehead and around the Great Lakes. Heavy showers in north-west Ontario, then southern Quebec and north-eastern States. Ottawa had a cloudburst at this time last year, and some years the Island of Montreal has been so visited. Some risk of very heavy thunderstorms for the Lake St. John, Saguenay and Gaspé regions, then New Brunswick. Elsewhere a pleasant holiday time continuing.

Following the rains, settling generally fair and warm for several days... Evenings becoming cooler. Fishing best at dawn.

The plastic bag that was a danger last year is still a danger this year, and will continue to be one for many years to come. No amount of safety education will change this fact, just as it can't take the poison out of furniture polish or the scalding property out of boiling water.

The facts are simple and most of us know them by heart.

Plastic film is air-tight. The very thin kind has the added ability to attract static electricity, making it cling to the face. These facts, put together, spell suffocation if the fabric is misused.

After all the warnings by safety groups in Canada over the years, it is difficult to understand how a parent could carelessly put a used dry-cleaning bag in a crib, carriage or playpen.

It is easier to see the possibility of a child finding one in a garbage tin or a drawer, and trying it on.

Eight children died

But, of the eight children who have died since the beginning of the year, six had plastic right in their cribs or carriages, used as mattress covers. Sheets which had covered the plastic were, in every case, pulled away to expose it.

The National Safety League of Canada warns parents again that thin plastic in the crib, in the carriage or playpen, or in the house at all, is a suffocation threat to their children.

Find it now, and destroy it.

Mrs. H. G. Thornton, 499 Mount Pleasant avenue, has won the Dent Harrison Memorial Trophy for the best flower garden of a competing member of the West End Horticultural Society living in Westmount, it was announced Tuesday.

Her entry was for side or back flower garden.

In addition, she took second prize in the flower box section of the contest. Mrs. R. D. I. Morton, 4381 Mayfair avenue, was first in this division, winning the William Hamilton Bowl. Mrs.

W. L. Tait, 5190 O'Bryan avenue, was third.

The annual summer garden competition, judged by W. H. Warr and J. Kydd on Tuesday, drew 34 competitors and 52 entries.

Mrs. Morton was first in the front flower garden of house class and third in the side or back flower garden class, besides winning the flower box contest.

This Week in Westmount

Tentative date for opening ceremonies for the new Westmount Swimming Pool located on the old site of the Westmount tennis courts set for approximately August 11 according to the latest word received from the Westmount recreation department.

Westmount Lookout is the outcome of a park, "Sunnyside Park," acquired by the City in 1898. The area is bounded by Sunnyside Avenue, Summit Circle, and extends along from No. 12 to No. 36 Summit Circle east and west respectively.

Original plans for a formal style of gardening were never carried out.

In 1925 the beginnings of the present Lookout were established on Summit Circle. By 1932 a retaining wall, flight of steps leading up to Summit Circle, and a winding path from Sunnyside to the foot of the Lookout steps, were finished.

The natural beauty of oak trees was enhanced by planting of shrubs by the City of Westmount.

The Lookout structure itself is of reinforced concrete of an approved length of 225 feet and width of 45 feet, ample parking space, and walk or promenade containing one large centre gallery and two smaller side ones, two flights of stairs merging and leading down Sunnyside Park.

In the middle of the Lookout is a pedestal bearing a plaque giving longitude and latitude; bronze indicators point out points of interest seen from this site like Heron Island, Lachine Rapids, Mount Johnson, City of Verdun, Sun Life Building, Royal Bank Building, Adirondack Mountains, Green Mountains, Nun's Island, Town of Laprairie, Mother House, Victoria Bridge, St. Lambert, Montreal Harbor, St. Hilaire Mountain, St. Hubert Airport, Aldred Building, New York State, all of which are clearly visible on a bright day. Visiting tourist locate points and thoroughfares in our city from here.

Story published

Miss Kay Jones, 250 Lansdowne avenue, Westmount, has a fiction story published for the first time in Jack and Jill, a children's magazine published in the United States, and widely circulated in Canada.

Entitled "The Marlin Manor Mystery", the story centers around the strange owner of a manor house whose favor prospective tenants must win if they are to live there.

Miss Jones attributed her interest in juvenile writing to a three-year period working in the Westmount Public Library. She has written children's stories for a number of magazines, as well as book reviews and articles for local publications.

Historical look at Canada's largest local club

Westmount Stamp Club 'exposed'

Local public figure Victor M. Drury dies

One of Westmount's foremost public figures, Victor Montague Drury, 3016 St. Sulpice road, died in the Ross Memorial Pavilion of the Royal Victoria Hospital, Saturday.

The funeral of this 78-year-old industrialist and financier was private.

He was the father of the newly-elected Liberal Member of Parliament for Westmount-St. Antoine, C. M. Drury.

Born in Quebec City February

20, 1884, he was the son of the late Maj.-Gen. Charles W. Drury, a member of Canada's former active militia. His mother was the former Miss Minnie Henderson.

Educated in Ontario

Mr. Victor Drury received his education mainly in Ontario, and graduated from Queen's University, Kingston.

He first entered the banking business by joining the Bank of Montreal in Kingston. After six years' experience, however, he transferred to the Montreal Trust Company in 1908, and the following year joined the Royal Securities Corporation.

Mr. Drury rose quickly from

THE Westmount Stamp Club, which was formed over a quarter of a century ago, has long been by far the largest local club in Canada, and is one of the largest and best-known in North America.

As a tribute to the club, the Westmount Examiner decided to take a look back on the history of the association.

The 600th meeting was held on April 17, 1962, in Victoria Hall, when the first president, R. H. Falls, was presented with a life membership in the club.

Seven original members

Of the seven original members three were present at this meeting. The others were T. Kearney, who was the club's first vice-president, and J. E. Pickering, the first honorary secretary. R. J. Sutherland, and the late R. Haldimand joined soon after the club's formation, and these four were subsequently also made life members of the club.

At this time there were more than 225 active members, and a junior club membership of over 50, the latter figure was increased to over 200 during the following year when the total membership of the senior club exceeded 350.

This was an active period in the club's history, and its efforts to raise substantial sums for the Governor General's Fund for European Flood Relief, and the Westminster Abbey Appeal, made headlines in the world's philatelic press.

Two auctions were held on February 12 and 19, 1953, for the victims of the European floods realizing over $1,000, and on November 12 and 19 of the same year over $750 was raised for the restoration fund for Westminster Abbey.

The Westmount Junior Stamp Club also ran auctions for these causes.

Red Cross supported

For the past 17 years the club has held annual auctions for the benefit of the Canadian Red Cross Society. In the last three years such satisfactory sums as over $750, $300, and $500 have been raised and handed over to this deserving cause.

In 1953 a copy of the book "The Royal Philatelic Collection," edited by Sir John Wilson Bart, Keeper of the Royal Philatelic Collection, was pur-at the same time to assure that present and future generations of philatelists have this magnificent work available for reference and study.

First in Canada

Westmount was the first stamp club in Canada to purchase a copy of this book to present to its public library.

In the early years it was the practice for the club to hold an exhibition annually, the first being in 1935. In 1949, during the presidency of J. W. Yaxley, the club acted as hosts to the annual Convention and Exhibition of the Canadian Philatelic Society.

The exhibition, the club's fourteenth, was held in Victoria Hall from April 21-23.

The fifteenth exhibition was held in Victoria Hall on May 15-17, 1952, during the presidency of Carl R. Mangold, and was opened by Mayor J. S. Cameron, of Westmount.

WE SAY YOU SAY

These traffic lights take lots of plans

IN this thriving, busy city, people take all the amenities for granted.

Take traffic lights, for example.

Motorists just drive happily along, glad when they hit a green light, angry if the red light stays red too long.

But no thought to the problems of putting a light there, and not much more thought to the reasoning behind it.

Of course, the prime reason for installing a traffic light is to speed the flow of traffic while maintaining a safer right-of-way for pedestrians.

This week we sent a reporter out to find out all the whys and wherefores of traffic lights, particularly the one just installed at St. Catherine and Park Place.

The amount of work involved is amazing!

The story is on the first page of this issue.

Now, no doubt, after reading it, motorists will more appreciate traffic lights, regardless of their number, and be a little more patient when obliged to wait those few seconds for the red to change to green.

Westmount bulletin to appear again

ONCE again the City of Westmount is going to issue its informative little bulletin on what's what in the city.

It has not appeared since last May, and has been sorely missed by the residents.

Once again it is time to say that while Westmounters do not take an active interest in their council to the extent of, for example, appearing at meetings, they are keenly interested in what is going on.

So, city council and Mr. Norman Dawe, city manager, congratulations on once again looking to this matter.

And meanwhile, residents will be anxiously awaiting the next edition.

Red Cross urges water safety study

Sir: We're very fortunate in Canada to have so many natural resources for pursuing water sports. This year, we'll see many millions of men, women and children enjoying the water in a variety of ways.

It is unfortunate that many of these people will drown this summer. They won't be with us by the time Thanksgiving arrives.

We wonder how many of these men, women and children are amongst your readers. It is even possible that a close friend or a member of your staff may be one of them.

For this reason, we should be grateful if you would encourage your readers, your staff and your associates to take time out to brush up on their water safety knowledge and habits before they go on vacation or on a weekend trip to the lake. We urge, particularly, those who have recently acquired a small boat to look not only into the common sense boating safety habits, but also the federal laws regarding the operation of small craft.*

We'd like to recommend that everyone contact the Red Cross during this time for information about water safety. Perhaps many may be interested in obtaining a copy of the Red Cross "Water Safety Manual." It is a comprehensive guide to healthy, but safe water recreation.

We hope you and your readers have a very happy vacation this summer and hope that all of you will still be around at Thanksgiving.

Rude Grimace?

A woman who failed to induce mice to go away by courteous pleas posted a notice in block capitals just above the wainscot. It said "Trespassers will be deprived of the cheese in their traps." To her amazement an old mouse came out, adjusted a pair of spectacles, read the notice and made a rude grimace at her. A mouse psychiatrist has been summoned.

Why the King built his abbey in a marsh

IT was somewhere around the year 610 A.D. Eddric the fisherman was in a savage mood. Night after night for a whole week now he had spread his wide net across the water and drawn it back empty: why else would he be still at work on a Sunday night when sensible folk were long abed?

What use was King Sebert's licence to take salmon from the Thames if the salmon were not running?

Yet this spot had never let him down before, he mused.

Certainly the river was wide and sluggish here, wandering as it did across the stagnant marsh that barred the western approaches to London city. But there was a fair depth of water between the Lambeth bank and the Isle of Thorns, and a fair current too.

There were always salmon in that run. Yet for a week now his nets had been empty. It was disastrous.

Frightened?

Perhaps the recent building work on the King's new church had something to do with it, he thought. Perhaps the workmen had frightened the fish.

But the new church was on the opposite side of the island from the salmon-run. And anyway, the fish simply had to pass this spot on their way up-river to spawn.

So why were his nets so continually empty?

Eddric turned his eyes towards the dark bulk of the new wooden church looming through the night a hundred yards behind him.

St. Peter's it was to be called because the King was a great admirer of St. Peter (A fisherman like me, thought Eddric). The Bishop of London was coming tomorrow to consecrate it, and the King and the nobles. What a show that was going to be — if only he could have a whole basketful of salmon to sell to the gentlefolk! At that moment a brilliant light sprang up on the Lambeth shore and a voice hailed him across the black water: —

"Boatman, come quickly and ferry me across!"

At this hour, wondered Eddric, and to a deserted islet in the middle of a marsh? The man must be mad.

Still, so long as he would pay a fare, what else mattered? And he pulled his little boat rapidly across towards the opposite shore.

The elderly stranger was obviously foreign, and the short trip to the island was completed in silence.

Disappeared

"Wait!" he ordered as he stepped ashore, and he disappeared in the direction of the King's new church.

Eddric gave up any idea of further fishing that night and relaxed tiredly into the comfortable curve of his boat to await the stranger's return.

But he was not left to relax for long. A few moments later, a light appeared inside the new church, moving about and waxing stronger and stronger, until the windows seemed to blaze with 10,000 candles.

Eddric would have seized his oars and rowed for his life, but found himself petrified with terror.

As he watched, frozen to his seat, the sound of singing burst tumultuously from the little church — wonderful singing, the like of which Eddric had never dreamed. And he saw shining figures moving back and forth in front of the altar.

The light brightened and the singing swelled until Eddric felt both blinded and deafened, though exhilarated beyond belief. Then, in a flash, the whole scene disappeared from view and the island was dark and silent as before.

The terrified fisherman rubbed his eyes. Had it all been only a dream? He wondered. But no — here was the stranger making his solitary way back through the darkness towards the boat.

The proof

"I am Peter, keeper of the keys of Heaven," said the man. "When Bishop Milletus comes here tomorrow, tell him I have consecrated my church myself, and that he will see the proof of that inside. For yourself, I reward you by granting you successful fishing here from this day on — but on two conditions: never again fish on the Sabbath and always give a tithe of your haul to the monks of this church."

The stranger entered the boat and was rowed across to the mainland, where he stepped ashore and disappeared.

That is the legend, and legend further has it that when the King and the bishop and all the nobles heard Eddric's tale next morning they hurried into the church to see what signs had been left by the mysterious stranger.

There were plenty: 12 crosses blazoned on the walls; the inner and outer walls moistened with holy water; the Greek alphabet traced twice in the sand; traces of anointing oil; even the dripings of angelic candles.

Bishop Milletus was convinced that a miracle had happened here, and refused to consecrate the church "a second time."

To the Pope

He even referred the problem to the Pope in Rome, and his decision was upheld. The Church officially ruled that St. Peter's of the Island of Thorns had been consecrated by saintly hands and that the ceremony must not be repeated by human ones.

Some 400 years went by, and the Island of Thorns became both a sacred spot and the centre of Government, for the Danish conqueror Canute built his palace and lived here right on the water's edge, as did his sons and successors Harold and Hardicanute.

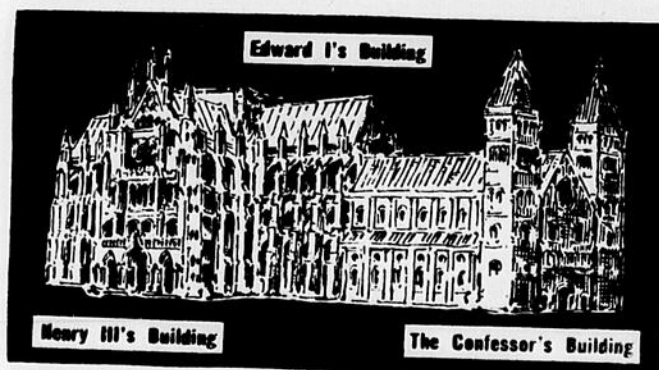

Edward, the last of the Saxon royal house, had fled to his mother's people in Normandy after Canute's great victory over Ethelred. And he had sworn on oath that if ever he should regain the throne of England he would make the pilgrimage to Rome and give thanks at the tomb of his patron saint, St. Peter.

In 1042 the Danes withdrew to the Continent and the English throne was vacant. The Saxon nobles lost no time in recalling the Prince of their own blood, and he was crowned immediately amid scenes of great rejoicing. With the saintly Edward on the throne, people felt, the country would enjoy a new era of peace and progress and plenty.

But Edward soon remembered his oath and began to make preparations to make the painful pilgrim's path to far-off Rome.

The nobles were appalled. The country could not afford his absence for so long, they

Church Chuckles by CARTWRIGHT

"Every church in town sent us congratulatory telegrams—collect!"

The Westmount Examiner, Friday, August 3, 1962

Why the King . . .

said, and the journey itself was much too dangerous.

Even if he did come back safely how could he be sure the throne would still be waiting for him? And the Council forthrightly forbade him to leave the country.

Helpful

With their help, however, he did the next best thing. He sent a deputation to the Pope to explain about the oath he had taken and to ask whether he might be released from it since it was physically impossible for him to honor it.

The messengers brought back a helpful reply from Rome. The Pope would absolve Edward from his oath, providing he would "found or restore" a monastery of St.
Peter — to whom the oath had been dedicated — and himself become its special patron. Edward was delighted by this decision.

There were several places for him to choose from — Winchester Cathedral was a very worthy candidate, for one — but how could he possibly overlook the special claims of the church of St. Peter on Thorney Island, with its long and miraculous history?

Even in Edward's own lifetime, Earl Leofric and his famous countess, the Lady Godiva, had seen an angel in that place — and it was close at hand!

Two West End woman achieve careers in their 'home town'

Interviewer and interviewee had a lot in common when Doris Clarke, Grosvenor avenue, talked to Bev Forsyth of N.D.G. on the radio the other day. Both are Montreal women who "have made good" in their home city. Both have followed similar paths leading to their meeting on The Doris Clark CJAD program.

Doris Clark was born and educated in the West End, and is a household name in Montreal. Doris prefaced her career with extensive experience in the world of commerce, entering the radio and television fields via the side door of "fashion" — all this excellent training eliminated the necessity of starting on the bottom rung in radio, and when she joined the CJAD staff she very capably assumed the important role of women's editor. The marriage of Mary Alison, daughter of Mr. E. Howard Cliff, QC, and the late Mrs. Cliff, of Westmount, to Mr. Donald Fraser Ross, son of Mrs. Albert Ross, of Beaurepaire, and the late Dr. Ross, took place recently in St. Andrew's Church, Westmount. Rev. Douglas Smith officiated and Miss Mary Blaikie played the wedding music.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a gown of white organdy trimmed with Swiss lace; the fitted bodice having a sabrina neckline and a full skirt falling into a single train. Her long veil of tulle illusion was held by an organdy bow and she carried a cascade bouquet of shasta daisies and stephanotis.

Mrs. J. Allen Ferguson was matron of honor for her sister. She wore a blue and green print dress with a matching headdress and carried a cascade bouquet of daisies and cornflowers.

Mr. J. Bruce Pearson was best man and the ushers were Mr. David G. Dorion and Mr. Philip O. Evans.

Mrs. Ross, mother of the bridegroom, was in a gown of beige lace with matching hat. Following the reception which was held in the Montreal Badminton and Squash Club, the couple Later, Mr. and Mrs. Daigneault left for the Eastern United States, the bride traveling in a white linen suit, and wearing a pink hat, and accessories and a corsage bouquet of pink carnations.

Daigneault-Melling

The marriage of Mary Lynda, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Melling, of Westmount and Ville de Lery, to Mr. Roger Daigneault, son of Mrs. Joseph Daigneault and the late Mr. Daigneault, took place on Saturday.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a gown of white Swiss cotton lace, fashioned with a fitted bodice having a scoop neckline and short sleeves, and with an overskirt falling into a slight train. Her long veil of French Tulle illusion was held by a small circlet of flowers and she carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations.

Miss Margaret Glegg, as maid of honor, was in a frock of golden yellow lotus silk, fashioned with a slightly blouson bodice, having a round neckline, short sleeves, and an A-line skirt. She wore a matching circlet in her hair, and carried a bouquet of white shasta daisies.

Mr. Robert Smith was best man for Mr. Daigneault. Mrs. Melling, the bride's mother, was in a draped gown of pale yellow georgette. She wore a matching picture hat of mohair appliqued with straw daisies.

Mrs. Daigneault, the mother of the bridegroom, was in a sheath gown of French blue poul de soie, the fitted bodice having a portrait neckline, and short sleeves. She wore a small hat of the same color, and had a corsage bouquet of cybidium orchids pinned to her purse.

The reception was held at the country residence of the bride's parents in Ville de Lery, where arrangements of white, pink and

Divine Adventure

Unmoved and free, my ships go out
Spreading their smooth white sails
Their names are Hope, and Faith, and Love,
They glide with singing gales.

These gallant ships that sail away,
Will they come back to me?
I stand and watch from day to day,
O'er life's tempetuous sea.

But only one, storm-bent and torn,
To recompense my loss,
Came bearing precious cargo,
It was, a Cross linked to a Crown.

fashion specialist and a very popular women's club speaker, Doris has to know her women, and this translated in terms of radio and television, plus fashion shows, has been a tremendous asset to her programs.

Doris believes there is no such thing as an average home maker anymore — every Canadian woman has an individual personality — today's home maker is yesterday's business girl — she is better educated, more independent and better trained to think. For all these reasons, Doris brings her audience material that is informative and thought provoking, in addition to being entertaining.

Bev Forsyth, assistant branch manager of Office Overload, Montreal, and acting chairman of the Administrative Assistants and Private Secretaries Association, Montreal Branch, was also born and educated in the West End.

Bev began her career as a junior clerk with the Bell Telephone of Canada some twelve years ago, and to supplement the excellent on the job training, she spent her evenings at Sir George Williams University and later attended McGill University night courses to improve her French.

Bev has a positive belief in the ability and intelligence of her sex, and a strong desire to see women more openly demonstrate their potentials in the business world. She expresses her belief in the integrity and sound judgement of a trained intelligence, along with their intuitive under-one position to another until in 1914 he became manager. Five years later he was promoted to the position of vice-president, and in 1924 he severed his connection with the corporation to organize the firm of Drury and Company — an investment security business of which he was president.

He had a number of commercial ties at this time, one of the more important being with the E. B. Eddy Company Ltd., of which he became president in 1928 in succession to the late George H. Millen. He had been a member of the board of directors for several years.

In 1929 he was instrumental in forming the firm of Drury and Thompson, which, however, was dissolved on the death of the junior partner of the firm.

Shortly afterwards, Mr. Drury took a prominent part in the floating of the $100,000,000 National Service Loan raised by the Canadian Government. He was vice-chairman of the central committee in this venture.

Mr. Drury was associated with a long list of companies both in western and eastern Canada.

Among the most important of his later business connections were the presidency and chairmanship of the executive committee of Canadian Car and Foundry, the position with which he had been most closely identified in recent years, and from which he retired in 1953; International Holding and Investment Company, and Canadian Hydro-electric Corporation, of which he had been president.

He was at one time vice-president of the Foundation Company of Canada, and of Canadian Vickers; and at various times a director of Brandram-Henderson Ltd., Price Bros. and Co., Ltd., Hull Electric Company, Canadian International Paper Company, Hamilton Bridge Company, Canadian Wright Company, W. M. Aitken and Company, North

North American Aviation Corporation, the Sikorsky Company, Porto Rico Railways, the Crossen Car Company, Calgary Power Company, Canadian Airways, the Sherwin-Williams Company Ltd., Gatineau Power Company, and Montreal Dry Docks.

Mr. Drury was also a director of the Boys' Farm at Shawbridge, and also gave a great deal of his time to the Welfare Federation, of which he was president for a term; the St. John Ambulance Association, of which he was a director; and the Boy Scouts' Association, being an honorary member of the Canadian General Council.

He was a member of several clubs, including the Mount Royal, the St. James's, Mount Bruno Golf and Country Club, the Rideau (Ottawa), and the Montreal Racquet.

In 1911 he married Miss Pansy Mills, daughter of the late Dr. James Mills, L.L.D.

He is survived by his widow, two sons, and a daughter. They are Charles M. Drury, CBE, DSO, MP, and Lt.-Col. Chipman H. Drury, and Mrs. Diana Norris.

Westmount stamp . . .

The then Postmaster-General, the late Alcide Cote, presented the awards and addressed the large gathering present.

In 1956, the sixteenth exhibition was held in conjunction with the Laurentian Council of the Telephone Pioneers of America in the Bell Telephone Building on Beaver Hall Hill during the presidency of L. G. Buck, on October 25-27.

It was officially opened by René Boileau, Postmaster of Montreal, representing the Postmaster-General. Major R. M. Watson, a past president of the club, was chairman of the exhibition committee of these last three successful exhibitions.

One of the most important functions of the senior club has been the attention given to junior collectors, and a deep debt of gratitude is owed to those members who through the years have devoted their time to guiding and counselling the juniors at their meetings.

It was some 10 years ago that the juniors formed their own separate organization which is known as the Westmount Junior Stamp Club.

Another phase of the Club's activities which is perhaps scarcely sufficiently appreciated is the warm welcome that it has extended, particularly since the end of the last World War, to new Canadians.

Meetings are held regularly every Thursday, commencing at 8 p.m., in the Oak Room at Victoria Hall, except during the summer months. Visitors are always welcomed.

Two-hit, shut-out victory

White Sox swamp Lions 6-0

WHITE SOX Doug Rose led the Kiwanis West Little League tournament team to a two-hit, shut-out victory as the localites swamped Lions' Lachine 6-0 in their second round game at Lachine Saturday. In turning in his outstanding performance, Rose walked only one batter, and struck out eight.

Kiwanis never headed

Kiwanis West took a three-run lead in the first inning and were never headed. With the first two men grounding out, third-to-first, four consecutive singles by Pierre Goupil, Dalton Barnoff, Steve Alleyne, and Norm Plante, sent the three runs home.

In the third inning, Kiwanis added two more runs. Goupil walked, and Dalton Barnoff sent Lachine pitcher, Dee Singh's, pitch over the fence in left-centre field.

Roger Harte scored the sixth and final run in the fourth inning scoring on an error by the Lachine third baseman.

Barnoff leading hitter

Leading Kiwanis West hitter was Dalton Barnoff as he picked up two hits in three official times at bats including his home-run. He also led to the RBI department with two.

Larry Crouch, Doug Rose, Pierre Goupil, Gilles Labranche, Steve Alleyne, and Bradley Syvret all added singles to round out the eight-hit attack.

Claude Cardinal and Warren Sebastianovitch were the only Lachine batters to pick up hits, both of them getting singles.

This Saturday afternoon, at 3 p.m., Kiwanis West will visit Lions' Dorval at Dorval. The game will take place opposite the Dorval City Hall, at the corner of St. Joseph and Martin.

Probable pitchers will be Dalton Barnoff and Jack Pieriotte.

Pieriotte is the much talked about Lakeshore pitcher who boasts two no-hitters to his credit thus far.

Barnoff, on the other hand, has tossed one no-hitter in Kiwanis West action.

Pitching duel likely

The game promises to be a pitching duel.

People in the know have placed their money on the local team because of the greater hitting power.

Should Kiwanis West defeat Dorval, they will have won the District 2 championship and will then meet the District 1 winners which will, in all likelihood, be Valleyfield.

Game time for this will be 6 p.m. Tuesday at Little League Stadium at Atwater and Centre streets.

Wayne Green signs contract

Wayne Green, right-hander hurling for John Hepson's St. Laurent Braves of the Royals Junior League, yesterday signed a contract with the Philadelphia Phillies of the National League for an undisclosed sum.

Wayne, the 16-year-old 5'11" sensation of the league this year, was inked by Phillies' scout Henri Paul Duval, and will report to Dothan of the Alabama-Florida Class "D" League next spring. His record for the season is presently 6-1, and he has retired over 50 men at the plate.

Baseball program outlined for adults

The City of Cote St. Luc recreation department has this week sent out letters to parents whose sons are registered with the Minor Baseball program so that they can become acquainted with its purpose.

Minor baseball, says the report, is an institute of informal training in the skills of baseball, the rules of sportsmanship, the value of teamwork, and the courtesies of fellowship.

Enjoy baseball

The recreation department's objective is to provide an opportunity for every boy, regardless of his ability, to enjoy a well-organized program of baseball under selected qualified adult leadership.

The recruiting and training of coaching and administrative personnel has just begun.

"Belief in an equal opportunity for every boy, and a proper attitude towards winning and losing in sport, are primary qualifications," says the letter.

It is estimated that some 24 million American women smoke cigarettes; that's 34 per cent of the U.S. cigarette smokers.

Swimming pool for residents only

The City of Westmount swimming pool, to be opened in August, will be restricted to residents only, it was stated this week by the recreation department.

Users will be admitted with a rink badge or tennis permit.

In order to obtain a permit, proof of residence must be produced.

A car licence, bicycle licence, light department receipt, house lease, or a satisfactory official document will be accepted.

Roomers and boarders are required to show a letter from their landlady or landlord, stating that they live at the given address, and have resided there for a period of six consecutive months, as well as one of the above documents.

The recreation office is located in the artificial ice rink, with hours from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Busy month of tennis tourneys

The Canadian Senior Men's national tennis tournament will be played at the Mount Royal Tennis Club from August 13-18.

The provincial tournament for unranked junior boys and girls between the ages of 16 and 18 will be held from August 20-25 at the same time as the national tournament for juniors is being held in Ottawa.

From August 29 to September 3, the provincial tournament for junior champions of all groups from age 12 to 18 will be seen at the Mount Royal Club.

Duguay wins O'Keefe trophy

In spite of recent heavy rain there was a good turnout of contenders in all classes for the O'Keefe Amateur Golf Trophies at the Anjou Club, Montée St-Léonard, Saturday.

In the gross scoring, A class honors went to R. Duguay (Municipal) who shot 72, one over par. I. Rasinkoff (Municipal) tied with R. Deschêneau (St. Jean) both with 79. In class C, G. Mayer (Municipal) went round in 83, thus easily outplaying runner-up C. Lalonde of Anjou, 91.

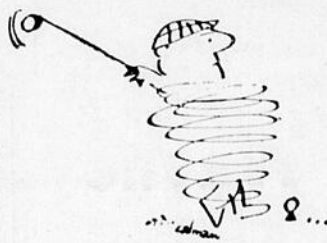

Leaders in the net scoring were: Class A: R. Verville (Anjou) with 67; Class B: C. Poirier (Anjou), 64; and Class C: R. Mindel (Municipal), 66.

Some players found the new hazards of additional bunkers and recently planted trees made the course more difficult to play on, though at the same time it was a more interesting test of their skill. Several paid tribute to the way in which the course had been kept and how well the greens played.
