

REAL ESTATE VOLUME HIGH; MARKUPS SAG

Real estate transfers in Westmount in December showed a run-away dollar volume, though a drop-back in sale prices in relation to city valuation.

There were 40 transactions recorded, same as in November. Nine, involving 12 properties with a city valuation of $265,500, were declarations or partitions in settlement of estates. Four, with valuations totalling $16,544,150, were shown as for "$1 and other considerations." And two sales, together involving $121,700, included non-Westmount property with $14,550 worth of Westmount land only.

Dawson College on Selby

The English-language CE-GEP, Dawson College, is to be located in Westmount, at Hollowell and Selby streets in the building of a chemical manufacturer, it was announced today.

The pharmaceutical firm of Charles E. Frosst & Co. is at 350 Selby.

The announcement said the facilities, to be used starting next fall, are ideally suited particularly for science students, with ready-to-use laboratories.

Capacity is expected to reach 4,000 students.

Sub-station sites bought

Residents of the Clandeboye and Prospect avenues area, who successfully fought back the proposal last year that a power sub-station be built in their midst, can now be satisfied that the site will, indeed, be over on Selby street instead.

Among the December real estate transfers are four transactions in which Hydro-Québec is shown as the purchaser, for $105,000, of properties bearing 12 different street addresses.

They are 208, 10 and 12 Selby street, from Jean-Réal Lalonde; 214, 6 and 8 Selby, from J. Arthur Lalonde; 322, 24 and 30 Selby, from Mrs. Joseph Ladouceur and Leo MacDuff, and 3465, 7 and 9 St. Antoine street from Mrs. Claude Sauvé.

Aggregate city valuation is $70,800. Thus, with a difference of $34,200, the owners together have been compensated at 48.3 percent more than the city assessor's value for tax purpose.

Excluding these, however, there remained 25 recorded sales aggregating $6,244,709 on total city valuation of $4,744,650, an excess of $1,500,059 or 31.6 percent.

(In November, this excess was 48.4 percent; in October, 37.8, and September, 28.8.)

Apartment block

By a wide margin, the biggest sale was that of the big apartment block which extends from Kensington to Metcalfe avenues, on the north side of St. Catherine street. The apartments are

Church comes off best

The church appears to come off best, percentage-wise, in Westmount's December real estate transactions, as recorded at the Montreal Registry Office.

It was the smallest deal of all, by both sale price and city valuation. After all, it is described as only 62 square feet of land on Côte St. Antoine road, assessed at but $200.

But St. Andrew's United Church sold the piece, adjoining their new place of worship, to Morris, Hyman and Isidore Katz for twelve and a half times that valuation: $2,500.

at 200 Kensington and 201 Metcalfe, with stores extending along St. Catherine from No. 4421 to 4445. The City of Westmount values this package at $2,015,750. Circle Development Ltd. sold it to Daniel Miller and Simon Schwartz for $2,276,500.

Another big apartment block, the Heather Manor at 239 Kensington, also changed hands: for $1,385,164. The city valuation is $870,600. Gino Mariani and Alfredo Galardo bought it from Heather Manor Inc.

FEBRUARY 1 to 8

Days will be chilly and dry, and nights quite cold this Full Moon to last quarter week, the eighth before Easter. Despite the cold, it is always a good winter holiday period because ski slopes are in excellent condition everywhere.

Gusty, polar cold winds through mid-week and clouding. Sunshine, showers and light snow, 3 to 5", to end the week as the cold spell comes to an end. Laurentians, 4 to 7 inches during the weekend.

Night and day temperature range, -15 and 35°F. The thermometer always rises rapidly after a snow-storm. Partial thaw next week.

McEntyre off to flying start: sworn mayor, to Paris, back

Peter M. McEntyre is off to a good, hard-running and rather typical start for the type of business or professional man who becomes Mayor of Westmount.

Monday evening, with two new aldermen, he was sworn in as the city's 30th "chief magistrate" at a colorful inaugural City Council meeting before some 200 carefully chosen guests.

Tuesday evening he was in Paris.

He is due to attend the Royal Montreal Regiment Ball here tomorrow evening.

Meet Monday

Monday night he'll be presiding over his first regular Council business meeting, expected to be largely review of pending items, plus routine business for the February statutory session — on the first Monday of each month.

Mayor McEntyre received the oath from City Clerk R. B. Seaman and "the heavy chain of office" from retiring Mayor Michael L. Tucker, both the old and new heads of local municipal government delivering addresses of appreciation of their colleagues and city servants and of the accomplishments of the civic administration.

Retiring Ald. Irving S. Backler was paid tribute and welcomes were given the two Council freshmen, Charles Aspler and Douglas Robertson.

Including in the swearing rites were Ald. Jean Richer, commencing a new term, and Raymond Caron, QC, returned to the Library Board.

All offices were filled by acclamation Jan. 13.

Chief business, after the formalities, was the appointment of committees and commissioners, summarized in the following box:

Child gang led by girl of 14

A 14-year-old girl, up on her second robbery count, and her "gang" of three 8-to-10-year-old boys, appeared in Social Welfare Court last week.

They were charged with theft from a store in Alexis Nihon Plaza, using a method which more mature criminals might envy.

Smallest of the quartet had been able to wiggle beneath the after-hour gates across the entrance to Sherman's, from which he had filched a portable TV. The TV showed up among goods in possession of an inept Point St. Charles "fence," leading to the arrest of the youngsters by Westmount Police.

Another 10-year-old, caught in the act of stealing a record from the same store last week by Westmount Police rounding up youthful loiterers, also appeared in Social Welfare Court and was remanded to his parents.

3 local boys plead guilty on 'pot' count

Three juveniles, all 17 and all described as from "the very best" Westmount homes, were arrested by Westmount Police last week on charges of possession of marijuana.

Two readily pleaded guilty in Social Welfare Court. Being first offenders, they were remanded to the custody of their parents.

Nihon tower rises

Westmounters can expect another change to appear on their local skyline in the months ahead, as work got under way this week on the 600-apartment tower to complete the original plan for the Alexis Nihon Plaza.

A big gantry crane was erected this week atop the existing plaza, to ascend floor-by-floor with the 26 additional storeys.

First work is on the transition floor, in which there has been some change in design to accommodate a change in the relation of the apartment tower to the already-completed structure. Transitional beams are required to switch the new load to existing columns.

Original permit for the store-theatre-apartment complex was issued on Aug. 9, 1966, the work to be done for West End Plaza Inc. by Anglin-Norcross at a cost of $18,000,000. The resumed work is being done by Traders Group Inc. by its own related contracting firm of Cadillac Construction Co., both the earlier first having passed from the scene.

Suspicion right, wrongly placed

Alert neighbors of Dr. M. Browman, 68 Summit circle, had the right suspicions but of the wrong party and at the wrong time, for which Westmount Police nonetheless were grateful.

Sunday noon they reported a car being loaded with items from the Browman home, which they knew to have been unoccupied for several days. Westmount Police's check traced the car as that of a carpenter picking up some furniture for repair. All was well.

Dr. Browman returned about 1:10 am Monday. His call to police reported some $9,000 worth of furs, jewelry, TVs and other items gone. A loose screen and an insecure window were found at the rear.

Non-meeting at Vic Hall

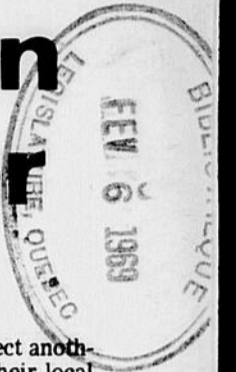

Because of either weather — there was freezing rain — or indifference, a "Greater Montreal Citizens' Council" of various local citizen groups did not get formed last night.

Albert J. Fisher, Selby street resident and president of the Westmount Tenants' Association, experienced an almost complete no-show at his proposed organizational meeting in Victoria Hall.

Mr. Fisher indicated he was not giving up.

Victoria avenue car loses tape recorder

A tape recorder was reported stolen from a parked car at 310 Victoria avenue Sunday afternoon.

Bow and arrow stolen from parked convertible

A bow and arrow described as of more than ordinary value were reported stolen at 12:40 am Sunday from a convertible parked on Prospect street Entry was gained by slashing the soft roof of the car.

The symbol of the postal service in several European countries is the ancient curved horn which postmen used to sound on their rounds, heralding their approach.

price, $1,363,495, was for the office building at 4115 Sherbrooke street west, between Wood and Elm avenues. Preceded by a $1 and other... transfer from Victor Levy to Elmwood Realities Ltd, Elmwood made the sale in turn to Edper Investments (40 percent) and in other portions to Jack and Robert Cummings, Herbert Siblin, Jack Zittler, David and Samuel Stein and Boris Levine. The firms Elmwood Realities Ltd. and Maxwell Cummings & Sons Ltd. are among tenants with offices in the building, which the City of Westmount values at $967,800 for tax purposes.

Square transferred

Biggest city valuation reregistered, to change title from Westmount Square and Centre Inc. to Mondey Corp. Ltd for "$1" etc., was of Westmount Square. The municipal books say it is worth $14,443,600. In the same transaction was $57,400 worth of other properties adjoining, facing on Greene avenue - Nos. 1249, 53 55 and 57. It is known that Seaton's Stationery is shortly to vacate No. 1253 and the building is to be demolished with the site sown in grass to enhance the Greene avenue entrance to Westmount Square and the Metro. It is expected this may be the fate of the other addresses involved on Greene.

A social, if not political, note emerges from the purchase of 560 Grosvenor avenue from Montreal Trust Co. by Mrs. Duff Roblin, wife of the recently retired Premier of Manitoba.

India Day marked by local body

Attended by approximately 600 enthusiastic members and guests, India Republic Day was the occasion of a festive candlelight dinner and cultural program, given by India Canada Association of Montreal last Saturday, at Sir George Williams University.

Dr. Aileen Ross, dean of social sciences at McGill University, as guest of honor congratulated the association on its progress since its inception in 1956. She also referred briefly to the Shastri Indo-Canadian Institute, of which McGill was one of the founding members, founded for the purpose of supporting and promoting development of scholarly work in all branches of Indian studies in Canadian centres of higher learning.

The newly - elected president, Rao Manduri, referred to the advancement India has made during the last 20 years on many fronts, even to the agricultural. "Much has been achieved; much more is to be achieved," he said.

Cultural mosaic

The program, with R. Mukerjee as master of ceremonies, was a mosaic representing the many cultures of Canada.

Composed and directed by T. Mirchandani, the opening number, a hymn of dedication, Aarti, was sung by a group of 10 young Indian women, robed in their colorful saris.

Representing Canada's first inhabitants was a troupe of young Caughnawaga boys, led by Chief H. Deer, in full regalia. Their performance of early tribal dances, very creditably performed, brought to mind the need for preserving the culture of Canada's earliest inhabitants.

Dances and music of India, an Israeli folk song, an orchestra of Indian instruments playing contemporary jazz music, a harmonica solo by Mrs. Penman also were among the numbers presented.

The curry and spice dinner which preceded the program was a gourmet's delight, thanks to the capable convenership of Mrs. Mirchandani, Mrs. Hazra and their committee.

Cleaning women admit stealing

A rash of petty thefts from offices in Westmount Square may have been ended with the arrest recently by Westmount Police of two night cleaning women.

Mrs. Lise Vallant, 27, 6062 Hamilton street, Ville Emard, and Mrs. Marguerite Dumouchel, 32, 1120 Island street, Point St. Charles, pleaded guilty in municipal court later to theft of amounts under $50 and were remanded for sentence.

Most of the sums were taken from petty cash of various firms. The arrests were made by Sgt.-Det. B. Hunter and Csts. R. Holly and J. Coleman.

- From Victor Levy to Elmwood Realities Ltd., $1 and Cons ($967,800);
- 4115 Sherbrooke: From Elmwood Realities Inc. to Jack Cummings 20%, Robert Cummings 20%, Herbert Siblin 10.5%, Jack Zittler 3.5%, David Stein 1%, Samuel Stein 2.5%, Boris Levine 2.5% and Edper Investments 40%, $1,363,495 ($967,800);

Youthful loiterers jailed

Sunday was no day of rest at Westmount Police headquarters on Stanton street.

At one stage their list of 27 involuntary "guests" widely outstripped cell capacity, and like accommodation for some had to be found in another municipality.

Alexis Nihon Plaza yielded the biggest number of "patrons," four adults and 11 juveniles, picked up in the local constabulary's mounting campaign against loiterers at the Atwater avenue mall's "underground jungle."

On appearance in Westmount Municipal Court, the "adults" — oldest was 25 — got jail terms: five days for each of two of them and eight days for each of the two others who had records of previous offences. One for breaking and entering.

The juveniles will be dealt with in Social Welfare Court.

Little effect

Despite the number of young people thus removed from their seemingly favorite haunt in the plaza, visitors noted and police agreed that the drive appears to have had little effect thus far. This week there probably were as many unkempt, unruly characters in evidence, a growing source of irritation and even fear to the owners, tenants and patrons of the Nihon complex.

Indeed, Monday afternoon two more were picked up for rowdy behavior and yesterday one received eight days and the other the choice of $40 fine or five days — he chose the stay in jail.

Hampering a general clean up are recent changes in the law

Mayor Peter M. McEntyre's family was out in force Monday night to see him sworn in as Westmount's 30th "First Magistrate". This picture was taken in the City Council chamber at City Hall immediately following the inaugural session of the Council before some 200 invited guests. Left to right are son David, Mrs. McEntyre, His Worship, his mother Mrs. John McEntyre, and daughter Nancy.

which require police to obtain a warrant for each individual before making arrests, a time-consuming and tedious process.

QPP clear up local car theft

Quebec Provincial Police Monday arrested two juveniles, both 17, at St. Gabriel de Brandon in possession of a stolen car. Under questioning they admitted to having stolen another car previously, last Wednesday, from the parking lot at the rear of 4770 St. Catherine street west which had been reported to Westmount Police as missing by the owner, W. John Penticost, a resident of Verdun.

The pair is being dealt with in Social Welfare Court.

We Say

Montreal problems Westmount's too

A city becomes great by the sum of many factors; certainly not just by one man.

Even so, the dynamism of Jean Drapeau has been a key in pushing Montreal, in this one decade, to become one of the great metropolitan centres of the world.

He's done more for his city (and province and country) than any other mayor and, if his suggested retirement comes soon, none can take away the accolades and proud memories of accomplishment he will take with him.

The fate of Man and His World takes nothing away. A man of vision and solid accomplishment can be excused being found out in his over-optimism.

Montreal's finances, for sure, are on a sticky wicket. But this cannot be blamed alone on Expo, or its continuation last year, or on Metro or on Place des Arts, or any other project for which Mr. Drapeau can be credited.

His has been a benevolent dictatorship, enthusiastic, progressive, popularly supported. His "party" government in City Council has had no real say in the major decisions taken by his Executive Committee, presided over by the capable Lucien Saulnier.

But things got done.

The financial problems of Montreal are, rather, associated with those of countless other cities on this continent. Revenue resources are in question everywhere, and the role of the cities vis-a-vis provincial and federal authorities are overdue for review.

Westmount has a somewhat unique position, its affairs in order. But our ties to Montreal, as a part of the metropolis, make Montreal's concerns ours.

Press and politics are interdependent

It's easy to become schizophrenic about the press, as it is with politics.

Both are imperfect institutions involving even less perfect persons.

The Trudeau - journalists clash has well exemplified this, with interested citizens coming down on both sides and in the middle.

The fact remains, politics and press need each other - even in the most totalitarian state.

This need is reflected in the relationships between those in public office and the journalists which, to work, must be based on mutual trust, understanding and, ideally, goodwill and even friendship.

After Prime Minister Trudeau blew his "cool" or, more correctly, blew cold toward his newsman entourage in London the other day, he and the public might expect a more critical journalistic following to ensue. But to charge that there now will be biased reporting, or conversely, that in the past it was biased, is not to know either politics or the press.

Let's not confuse climate and integrity. If Mr. Trudeau chose to dampen his chumminess with the press, it does not mean competent newsmen and editors are to drop their basic vocation of seeking the truth and informing.

The important point is that the journalist, like the politician, represents the people. Good rapport with public figures makes the task easier. The politician's task of communication with his public is made easier, too.

THEY SAY

We're not immune to day's problems

This is what is said about the Westmount YMCA in a background paper published recently by the Montreal YMCA: Last week was YMCA Week in North America:

Westmount Y serves a community that has long been considered a bastion of middle and upper class respectability. It has been forcibly demonstrated many times, especially over the past 12 months, that this image has its inaccuracies.

Westmount is not immune to the problems of the day. It has juvenile delinquents, school drop-outs, drug users... its alienated, hostile and apathetic young people.

One of Westmount Y's current main objectives is to become an integral part of its constituency, instead of just a building which serves part of the community. In search of this objective, the branch is opening new lines of communication and co-operation with the Rotary Club, the police department, the schools, home and school associations and church groups of all faiths and denominations.

In addition to organizing parent-teen communication workshops, and seminars on issues of the day, efforts are also being increased to contact young people who normally avoid any of society's institutions.

Currently, there are three YMCA workers on detached service in the area served by Westmount Branch.

Changes mark program

Many changes have been made in the Westmount YMCA this year. Gary Boone has taken over as physical director while Ann Erb, formerly of the Dartmouth YM-YMCA, is youth program-director.

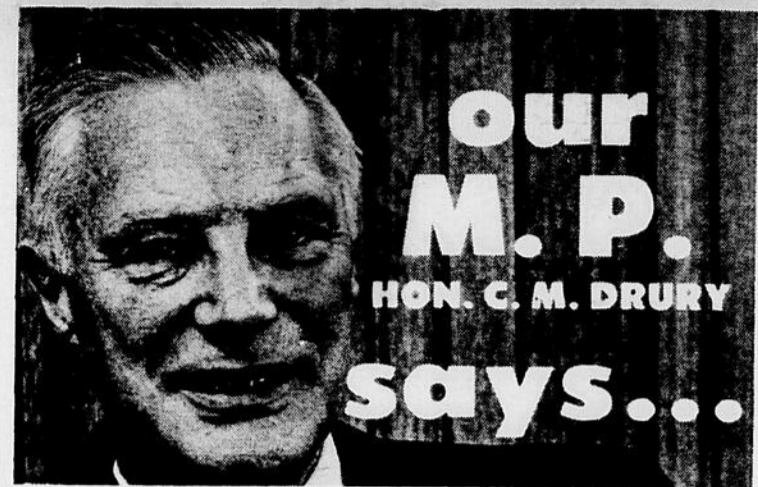

The Y has organized a mixed leader corps with members between the ages of 12 and 17. Their prime objective is development of youth to its fullest potential. They are conducting classes in aquatics and gymnastics. Club meetings are Saturday mornings combined with skill sessions in the afternoon. A training seminar dealing with communications and group mechanics is planned. Ultimately, they would like to send several representatives to the Leader's Training School in Orillia, Ont., this summer.

There are two Hi-Y teen clubs operating. They are the girls' club, Kappa Nuxi, and the boys' club, Group I. Kappa Nuxi doubled its membership during its recent member drive. Group I began its drive with a member dinner prepared and served by the boys.

There is a conference planned for early in February and the theme will be Human Rights. Delegates from Sherbrooke are expected to participate in this

The 'Omnibus Bill'

Bill C-150, containing substantial changes to the Criminal Code, was reintroduced for second reading last week. It is in essence the same bill as that tabled in the House over a year ago by the then Minister of Justice, Mr. Trudeau. The original died on the order paper with the dissolution of Parliament prior to the June Federal election.

The Conservatives criticize the bill as being too liberal, the NDP criticize it for being too conservative. However, it is a bill so complex and so diversified it would be unwise to affix any such labels to it. In some instances, it involves a continuation of recent practices (abolition of the minimum sentence for theft of postal matter), in others it attempts to clarify what is unclear (therapeutic abortions) and in still others it is adopting a method which has proved successful elsewhere (breathalyzer tests).

The Conservative opposition attempted, unsuccessfully, to have the bill divided into several sections so that members could vote according to their consciences. For the Government to say, "No! It must be voted upon as a complete package," might seem a bit unfair considering both the wide-ranging implications of the bill and the heterogeneous composition of the House.

However, a distinction has to be made. As Mr. Turner has pointed out, members will have an opportunity for clause by clause discussion of the provisions of the bill in the Standing Committee and further, when the bill is sent back to the House for third reading, members can express their personal views by proposing amendments to any objectionable clauses. Once these amendments have been adopted or rejected then the bill is to be voted upon as a unit.

Perspective

As in almost any bill with moral overtones, there are certain clauses which, by their very nature, arouse more public debate than others. Perhaps I can place two of these more controversial clauses in proper perspective.

With regard to therapeutic abortion, people are quite right when they say that the amend-social and informative weekend. This is the first conference attended by the clubs and it is being eagerly anticipated.

There is an interesting Youth Program every Saturday. To date drama, arts and crafts, folk guitar and movies have been included in the schedule. Susan Young, assistant youth director, has initiated a children's library which is open Saturday afternoons. Book donations would be greatly appreciated.

The Y is also greatly in need of volunteer leaders for all ages and all types of programs. Anyone who may be interested can obtain more information by phoning Ann Erb at 937-3916. All leaders will receive training for their area of interest.

ments should not greatly increase the number of abortions performed yearly. A major purpose of the clause is to clarify in the minds of jurists and doctors alike when an abortion is permissible. At present the law prohibits abortions but annually a number of therapeutic abortions are carried out in hospitals.

However, the Department of Justice knows of no Canadian prosecution for the unlawful procurement of an abortion in which the defence has argued the therapeutic reasons as a justification. The Government has decided that, in the interests of humanity, the law should be amplified and that under certain circumstances, namely, when the life or health of a mother is in danger, therapeutic abortions should be permitted.

The related problems of drinking and driving have not as yet been attacked on a national basis, save for warnings and exhortations on public billboards and in the mass media. These have evidently not proved an adequate deterrent as DBS statistics show that between 1958 and 1967 the number of highway deaths increased by 66 per cent. This figure indicates the urgent need for preventive and enforceable measures to reduce this appalling toll.

The question has been asked why the figure of 0.08 per cent is to be the maximum permissible blood alcohol level. The maximum level of 0.10 contained in the original bill was considered too high by, among others, the Canadian Bar Association. A thorough study at Grand Rapids, Mich., on the role of the drinking driver in traffic accidents showed that the probability of accident involvement increases rapidly at blood alcohol levels over 0.08 per cent. The British Road Safety Act of 1967, legalizing breathalyzer tests, uses the same maximum blood alcohol level - 0.08 per cent.

Effect in U.K.

A recent release from the British Ministry of Transport shows just how effective these breathalyzer tests have proved. In the 12 months since the introduction of the "drink and drive" legislation, 1,152 fewer people were killed in that country than in the preceding year, a reduction of one death in seven.

For those who may argue, for one reason or another, that the reduction was only partly attributable to breathalyzer tests, the release goes on to say "figures confirm the earlier indicators of considerable decreases in casualties late at night and in the early morning hours. Between 10 pm and 4 am, casualties decreased by 33 per cent compared with 4 per cent during the rest of the day."

The figures speak for themselves. It seems only reasonable to hope that with similar legislation in Canada, we can control and effectively decrease the number of highway deaths that plague us every year.

30 mixed-race boys looking for homes

Thirty youngsters between the ages of two and four, all boys, and all of mixed racial origin are in foster homes awaiting adoption through the Children's Service Centre, 5 Weredale Park.

The young fellow pictured here is one, a shade junior to most of them. He's 22 months.

A member of The Open Door Society, comprised of parents who have adopted some of the 300 or so children whose blood may be part white, part negro, or part oriental, told us this week about the opportunities awaiting persons wishing to adopt.

The mixed-origin children offer something special, if only because the need to find loving homes for them seems to be greater than for others.

To start, there is the phenomenon that the group now available is all boys. The explanation would seem to be that some adoptive parents may be loath to give their names to those who will go through adulthood bearing them, as opposed to girls who likely will marry.

Whatever the reason, both Open Door and Service Centre people wish simply to make the need known, and invite inquiries to the Centre, 937-9581.

The procedures for adoption have been greatly streamlined, all formalities being possible to complete within about six months. Further, there no longer is the requirement that only married couples may adopt. It now is possible for single men and women to adopt children, with the only proviso that the child be of the same sex as the adopting person and there be an age difference of at least 18 years.

Fraud accused from Q.M. road

Thirty-one-year-old Peter Wiseman, Apt. 303, 4580 Queen Mary road, was arraigned in Westmount Municipal Court yesterday morning on two charges of fraud and one of attempted fraud against the Celina Soria dress shop in Westmount Square last October.

Fire award: Westmount tops class

Westmount was the top-ranking municipality in its population class (25,000 to 99,999) in the Province of Quebec in the 1968 Fire Prevention Contest of the National Fire Protection Association, which embraces both Canada and the United States.

In addition, Westmount was rated fifth in Canada in its size range, topped only by Oakville, Ont.; St. James, Man., and North Bay and Kitchener, Ont.

And our city placed 12th in Canada, for all population groupings. In addition to those mentioned ahead of us, and all 100,000 and over, were Calgary, Ottawa, Scarborough, Vancouver, Montreal Winnipeg and Edmonton. There were 284 Canadian communities entered, 60 more than in all of the U.S. Quebec province entered 97.

Second and third places after Westmount in the Quebec Class B rating went to Hull and Jonquière, respectively, with Ou-

Math, prayer rules linked

Both mathematics and prayer are based on fixed rules - rules that must be followed before they can be demonstrated, according to Harold Rogers, CS, a Christian Science lecturer, in an address at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel Tuesday evening.

"In Mathematics," Mr. Rogers went on, "it is the rule of numbers. In prayer, the Principle is God Himself."

"When we work a problem in arithmetic and come up with the right answer, this is the proof that we have applied the rules correctly. So, too, with prayer. There are fixed rules that govern it; and when we apply these rules correctly in working out a problem, we get the right answer - the proof. Scientific prayer, then, is prayer that has a fixed Principle, established rules, and unmistakable proof."

Mr. Rogers related how he first learned about prayer from the Christian Science textbook, and how, as a result, he was soon healed of a painful knee affliction which had been medically pronounced incurable. "But what was even more important," he commented, "I realized I was coming to know God. And this is really the key to answered prayer."

After outlining the nature of God as understood in Christian Science, Mr. Rogers concluded: "Since scientific prayer reveals to us our own real nature as God's complete expression of Himself, then true healing must mean complete healing - it must restore the whole man."

Majors and Minors

Classics-to-jazz

It is amazing how many singers of popular music started with the classics. With a foundation of thoroughness laid in childhood, the road to top billing has been made easier for many famous singers and instrumentalists. One cannot arrive at any peak of perfection in the entertainment field without basic knowledge.

Therefore, I was not really surprised when I learned recently that Nana Mouskouri, the internationally known Greek chanteuse (that's what I like to call her) had a formal musical education in the classics studying piano, then singing. The strict discipline of classical technique in the Conservatory Hellenique in Athens (lacking with many average students of music nowadays) is to what the Greek singer attributes much of her success.

This has happened to quite a number. I always think of Johnny Mathis, concentrating on becoming a concert pianist, then discovering at 16 that he had a fine voice. The classical training stood him in good stead. Oscar Peterson, drilled by his music teacher sister, Mrs. Daisy Sweeney, in the classics, then switched to jazz and originated his own inimitable style.

Liberace?

And how about Liberace? Playing with the Chicago Symphony in his teens, then - after struggling for recognition - well, who doesn't know how he packs them in now? Mr. Showmanship!

I first heard Nana Mouskouri when she was the protégé of Harry Belafonte, (I had met this nice chap in Vancouver at the International Music Festival, also at a press reception the last time he was here) and she is really an impressive personality. Belafonte and Liberace are two celebrated stars who always "give a break" to a new entertainer that they think will branch out BIG.

Nana Mouskouri is an example of Belafonte's good judgment. I am looking forward to hearing her as the star of her own show tomorrow night in Place des Arts where she will be backed by a combo who play percussion, electric guitar, bouzoukia (a Greek mandolin and very popular) and guitar.

Now known on two continents through her recordings (some records have sold over the million mark and won prizes) she sings in Greek, French, German, Spanish, Italian and English.

Children's Library seeking $20,000

Westmount women are deeply involved in the growing work and service of the Montreal Children's Library.

This is amply demonstrated by the names of the officers elected at the annual meeting on Tuesday at MacDonald House, 3700 St. Dominique street, from which it and its five other branches throughout the city are operated.

Elected president was Mrs. D. B. S. MacKenzie, 723 Upper Roslyn avenue, who succeeds Mrs. G. L. VanVliet, 4733 Roslyn.

Mrs. J. P. Skelton, 501 Victoria avenue, is one of the three vice-presidents.

Mrs. J. N. Doyle, 100 Sunnyside avenue, and Mrs. W. K. G. Savage, 4 Grenville avenue, are recording and corresponding secretaries, respectively, while Mrs. W. I. Robinson, 79 Chesterfield avenue, is treasurer.

Book-binding chairman is Mrs. E. C. Hague, 582 Lansdowne avenue. The library does all its own binding and repairs with volunteers under Mrs. Hague specially trained for the work.

And, particularly important at this time, was the naming of Mrs. R. T. Bassett, 636 Grosvenor avenue, as fund-raising chairman. The drive starts Sunday, lasting for two weeks, and seeks $20,000 - badly needed this year in the face of rising costs of the widespread services which, according to the librarian, Miss Kathleen Jensen, are particularly important among foreign-born children.

Special speaker Tuesday morning was prominent architect Ray Affleck, who lives at 16 St. George's place.

The head branch is at Devonshire School and others at Mackay street, Montreal West, Park Extension, Pointe St. Charles and MacDonald House. First home was in the old Fraser Library on Dorchester street, as the boulevard was then known.

Miss Jensen pointed out that one of the greatest hurdles is language, coupled with lack of staff to provide foreign-born children with sufficient individual help, backbone of which has been by volunteers.

CHILDREN'S LIBRARY DRIVE CHAIRMAN

At the annual meeting of the Montreal Children's Library Tuesday, Mrs. R. T. Bassett, 636 Grosvenor avenue, was named chairman for the campaign which opens Monday to raise $20,000 for the library.

"Seek and ye shall find" has certainly been true with Unity's figure skating program. We are happy to announce that exhilarating sport is now included in our weekly schedule. Miss Janet Lorimer, a talented young lady, is in charge of the classes being held on Wednesday nights from 6 to 7:30 pm at Staynor Park rink, opposite the club.

Miss Lorimer has many talents and she will be instructing the basketball for girls between the ages of 11 and 14 on Wednesday nights from 8 to 9 pm.

Sports are the rage at Unity lately. Miss Kirsten Badenduck ("Shush" for short) will be working with our boys' program director. Wally Zikita, on Monday evenings providing gymnastic training for members. Wally has trained in gymnastics with professionals for many years.

An inter-club table tennis tournament has been arranged among the MBA boys' and girls' clubs. This is scheduled for Saturday and should prove exciting with some close contests. Representing Unity for the girls

Students vote relaxed dress but WHS rules stand for now

At a Student's Council meeting in December it was suggested that a referendum on school dress be held. The motion was approved by the principal, Mr. Hamilton, and the council took on the task of organizing it.

On Jan. 15 the ballots were passed out to the students and the

Disappointed

President Hank Baig was a little disappointed with the response to the referendum. Not all the students took the matter seriously. But the result clearly indicates the desires of the students.

Unfortunately, their hopes for change were dashed by the following announcement in the Daily Bulletin on Monday, signed by Mr. Hamilton:

"At my request, the Students' Council prepared a dress questionnaire, which was distributed to students with my approval. This was a step toward learning what students' opinions are. However, I should emphasize that I intend to gather opinions from teachers, parents and local school board members before any further changes in school dress will be made. There will be no further changes in dress regulations during the remainder of this school year."

As far as students are concerned the matter remains settled for the year, whether they like it or not.

How the voting went:

results were made known at an assembly last Monday.

They were not startling - everyone is aware that students favor lenient regulations governing dress.

IF the administration were to accept the suggestions of the referendum, dress would be as follows:

For boys: Jacket, shirt and tie would not be compulsory.

Turtlenecks, dress shirt without a tie but with a sweater would be acceptable.

For girls: Turtlenecks and colored blouses would be allowed but tunics would be compulsory. (In the actual voting the boys were in favor of throwing out the tunic as compulsory but the girls voted over 2-1 in favor of their V-necked, navy-blue jumpers.)

First Perrette holdup Jan. 9 cleared up in arrests of ten Westmount Police believe they have cleared up the first, on Jan. 9, of two holdups of the Perrette Dairy shop at 4471 St. Catherine street west.

Five nights later, St. Laurent Police arrested a gang of 10 young men, aged from 19 to 21, for a ruckus in a motel. They were arraigned in Sessions Court downtown and, when they appeared for enquete last week a Montreal detective matched one to a description in a series of Montreal store holdups.

Westmount's Sgt.-Det. Bruce Whiteford tied in the same description to the Perrette raid and subsequent interrogation resulted in 11 charges of armed robbery against the gang.

Four have been accused of the Westmount job, though only three were reported involved at the time of the holdup. The fourth, whose pockmarks were a key in the description, apparently was in the store watching.

The quartet are Gregory Upsaw, 20, 4585 Dupuis avenue; Michel Brunel, 20, 4720 Dupuis; Chris Nichols, 20, 3145 Barclay avenue, and Kelvin Jones, 21, 4885 Dupuis.

Two red lights mean $40 fine

It cost Claude Myette $20 per light in fines for driving through two red lights on Sherbrooke street early Sunday morning.

He pleaded guilty in Westmount Municipal Court of going through the signals, first at Metcalfe and then at Clarke avenues, before being arrested at 5:20 am on the grounds of the Congregation of Notre Dame Mother House.

The 23-year-old motorist, who gave two addresses, 270 Berard street and 162 Rose de Lima street, Montreal, pleaded not guilty to driving without a licence; that is, he said that he had lost his permit and was awaiting a replacement.

Carrière carries on Brig. Jean-Paul Carrière, ED, 250 Clarke Avenue, honorary colonel of the 3rd Field Engineer Regiment (Militia), has accepted an extension of his term in that capacity for another three years.

Brig. Carrière served in the Second World War and in the reserve forces since. He is president of Franki of Canada Limited and the Engineering Institute of Canada.

Westmounters help Museum buy Picasso

Nearly half of the donations making possible the acquisition of a Picasso by the Montreal Museum of Fine Arts came from residents of Westmount.

The work, "La lampe et les cerises," was announced Oct. 31 but did not go on display at the Sherbrooke street galleries until the beginning of this month, since when it has been attracting enthusiastic attention.

Museum Director David Giles Carter, 49 Rosemount avenue, describes the painting as "one of the most significant additions to our collection over a period of years". It was painted in 1945 in Vallauris, France, where the master lived during the Second World War.

It is the museum's first Picasso original oil on canvas. Several lithographs and one etching already are in the local collection. The 28½ x 39¼ inch work was exhibited in Le Grand Palais in Paris in 1966 and 1967. A companion piece is in the Musée d'art moderne in Paris.

The Westmount donors include Mrs. Joan E. Bourne, 25 Ramezay road; Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Bronfman, 475 Roslyn avenue; Samuel Bronfman, 15 Belvedere road; Paul Desmarais, 29 Ramezay road; Brian Heward, 11 Anwoth road; David Y. Hodgson, 3246 Cedar avenue; Mrs. Wilson G. McConnell, 80 Sunnyside avenue; William Molson, 66 Forden crescent; Ph. D. Papachristidis, 2 Forden avenue; Senator Lazarus Phillips, 48 Belvedere place; Hon. Jean Raymond, 3241 The Boulevard; Mr. and Mrs. A. Murray Vaughan, 41 Rosemount avenue; Mr. and Mrs. Alvin J. Walker, 4354 Westmount avenue, and Lorne C. Webster, 9 Murray avenue.

Twin girls born with 'finest' aid

Westmount Police were taking pride this week in their part in the delivery of a fine, health pair of twin girls in an apartment at 52 Academy road Saturday morning.

An 8 am call to headquarters from the father, asking for help with a premature arrival, brought two police vehicles on the run with Csts. R. Delo, J. Broulet and R. Roy. When they got there, one young lady had made her appearance in the world.

The agents of the law, trained for this along with other emergencies, had done their thing with daughter No. 2 as the hastily summoned doctor reached the scene, followed by a Montreal General Hospital ambulance which soon had three new admissions for Cedar avenue.

Twins, mother, father and police all doing well.
