Next week's weather

By Eric Neal

June 10 to 16

Bright, with morning mists or drizzle and clearing for sunny, warm afternoons. Scattered evening thunderstorms along the border. Temperature range 55 - 85° or higher during the week.

Clear and relatively hot into the middle of the week, followed by light showers and strong winds. The rainy fringes of coastal storms could extend into the St. Lawrence Valley.

Fair and quite warm to end of the week, with widely scattered showers and some thunder.

Future pilots

By Larry McInnis

I mentioned recently that the high cost of pilots training themselves to levels accepted by airlines, plus the fact that many good pilots are out of work, will eventually make it tough to get qualified personnel because the number of commercial pilot licences granted is slowly getting smaller. Airline transport ratings are fewer still.

England has decided the problem must be solved, and independently of private schools. They have opened the College of Air Training, designed to provide Britain with airline pilots of the future.

English airlines, as was the case with Canadian lines, previously drew their top qualified pilots from the Air Force. This supply is drying up as the RCAF, in particular, seems to be shrinking, pilots do less flying, and many stay in the service longer than before.

The English college will graduate 100 pilots a year, 50 for BOAC and 50 for BEA. The course lasts for two years and is open to cream-of-the-crop 18-year-olds.

The course costs about $15,000 per student, but each boy must only pay from his own pocket about $1,500 for lodgings, uniforms and books.

A graduate starts a junior second officer at about $3,000 per year, but this can go up to $15,000 or more as he becomes more advanced. Retirement age is 55.

The English college is sponsored jointly by the Government, BOAC and BEA.

Would it not be a good idea for the Canadian government, TCA and CPA to consider such a scheme in Canada?

Hazen Argue (CCF-Assiniboia) asked the Minister of Defence Production Raymond O'Hurley if there was any truth in a report that a Winnipeg scrap dealer had bought 11 CF-100s in flying condition.

The question, asked in the House of Commons last Thursday, was answered by Hon. D. S. Harkness, Minister of National Defence, who said the dealer did, in fact, have the aircraft, but they were scrap only.

He said all engines, instruments and hydraulics had been removed, leaving nothing but 220,000 pounds of scrap.

Further, he pointed out, it would take about $200,000 to put one of the heaps in flying condition.

Hon. Hurley then said that tenders were called for by Crown Assets and four bids were received.

Price of the 11 relics was not disclosed, nor the location of the place from which the aircraft came.

Granby zoo trip opens Unity summer program

By MAURICE MARIASINE

As has been the custom for a number of years, members of the Unity Boys, Club will make their Annual Safari to the Granby Zoo as a prelude to the opening of the 1961 Summer Program Season.

The date of this trip has been set for Friday, June 30th, and this year in addition to the boys, girls, and their leaders, an opportunity to go along has been extended to the parents.

Registration for this annual event has already begun and will continue until June 20th. Parents and children are urged to register early.

SUMMER PROGRAM

The 1961 schedule of summer program activities has been compiled and is ready for distribution.

The slogan for the summer-time is "Fun with a purpose," and the program has been designed to accommodate all the youngsters, who remain in the City, with a healthful and happy experience in outdoor activity.

The program is varied. It will include trips to St. Helen's Island and the new Swimming, Picnic, Recreation Area at Chateauguay, Quebec. Many tours through Industrial Firms have been arranged with the emphasis on the educational factor. Staynor Park, provided through the courtesy of the City of Westmount, will be the scene of a wide variety of sports and group games. A Learn to Swim Program for beginners, both boys and girls, will be conducted at the YWCA, under the direction of the Montreal Park & Playgrounds Association. Other activities will include Ballet for the girls, and Inter-Club Softball for the boys. The program will be exciting and it is advised to register early.

The 1961 Unity Boys' Club Summer Program will be supervised and conducted by Chuck Tyler, Douglas Terryberry, John McDonough, and Linda Vaux.

IN THE MEANWHILE

The Club Basketball Season, which officially ended late in April, has been extended and weekly games are being played in the Unity Boys' Club House League.

The Club's two soccer teams, playing in the City of Montreal Soccer League, were presented with new uniforms through the courtesy of the Royal Montreal Regiment Association, Quebec Branch No. 14, Canadian Legion. These were presented to the boys last Monday evening in a brief ceremony by George Horwood and Georges Bonner, representing the Canadian Legion.

Little Leaguers of the Unity Boys' Club team, "The Indians," are doing exceptionally well in the Kiwanis West Section with five straight wins and no losses — A credit to their Coach, Manny Barhoff.

Excitement reigned at the Cartierville Airport last Saturday for members of the Unity Boys' Club Model Aircraft Class, who were provided with an opportunity to fly through the air for the very first time. A big salute goes to Jaques McCormack and William McGinnis for making the flight possible.

Rent control to end here

City Council acted Monday night to terminate rent controls in Westmount.

Alderman Drury moved that an application be made to the Lieutenant-Governor in Council praying that authority be granted Westmount to withdraw from the effect of the Rent Control law and that an effective date for such withdrawal be set. The motion carried.

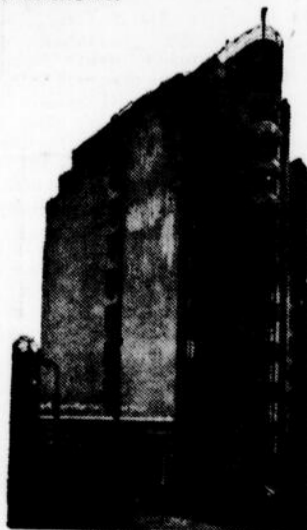

A. M. Weldon, City Attorney, in answer to a question by Mayor J. C. Cushing, advised, "It will be a matter of several weeks before authority can be granted. The effective date for our withdrawal from the effects of the act is not within our discretion. Westmount merely recommends a date."

FIRE PREVENTION: is explained and Mrs. Covic, 13 Selby street, listens while Firemen Mike Wells and Leslie Smith detail the purpose of the annual in-service fire prevention inspection which began Wednesday. Firemen began in the far southeast corner of Westmount and plan to cover all of Westmount by October 9.

Harper heads Police and Fire Department

Alderman Drury Monday night in City Council meeting moved the appointment of Chief of Fire E. C. Harper as Acting Chief of Police, effective June 5, 1961, to hold office concurrently with his appointment and responsibilities as Chief of Fire. The motion carried. Police Chief Richard Edmonstone went on pre-retirement leave, effective the same date.

Mayor J. C. Cushing explained "It is customary to have the successor serve as 'Acting' while his predecessor is on pre-retirement leave."

In recognition of his service to the City the retiring police chief was presented with a silver tray by Alderman Drury, acting on behalf of Westmount.

During Edmonstone's three and a half years as chief, he improved police service and efficiency in Westmount by the introduction of radar, hiring of parking inspectors, use of security patrols, purchase of cars painted in civilian colors for the Detective Staff and reduction of the police work week to a 40-hour five-day week.

The Westmount Police Force received the Quebec Safety League and Canadian Highway Safety Awards for a fatality-free year, 1960, during Edmonstone's years as chief. The last time Westmount received the award prior to 1960 was in 1943. Last night's presentation was made by Frank Kenwood.

Harper has been with the Westmount Fire Department since 1932 with the exception of six years leave of absence while on duty with the Canadian Army. He enlisted in 1940, attained the rank of Regimental Sergeant Major and was captured by the enemy. He was appointed Chief of Fire November 1, 1957, and has served since with modest, conscientious efficiency.

Fire inspections deserve our support

THE Westmount Fire Department started their annual in-service inspection this week, checking the homes and businesses of Westmount for fire hazards and explaining fire prevention methods to householders and occupants. This service will continue from now until October 9 — the anniversary of the kicking over of the lamp by Mrs. O'Leary's cow which allegedly started the famed Chicago fire, and the end of Fire Prevention week.

Police and Fire Chief Ed Harper expects to cover every building in Westmount. The inspection, which supplements the year-in-year-out inspection duties of Lieutenant Motard and Inspector Schture, will be conducted on clear days only from 1 to 4.30 p.m. weekdays by uniformed firemen driving fire department apparatus — hose wagon, ladder truck and salvage truck.

This free and unique service is one which does not interfere with regular firemen duties. That is why it is called in-service. The fire apparatus is equipped so that pressing a button at the Fire Department activates the horns of the vehicles. When the horns go off the firemen on inspection call in to the station by radio and receive directions regarding any emergency requiring their presence.

The firemen find that electrical overfusing is the chief fire hazard. When people overload their electrical circuits they do not realize the wiring in the walls can get red hot and start a fire.

Co-operation with the firemen when they knock at your door is advisable. It may be the knock that saves you from death by burning or your property from destruction.

Westmount tenant wants rent control

Sir:—Why is the City Council of the City of Westmount going to petition the Quebec legislature to abolish rent controls in the City of Westmount?

Why doesn't the Council ask the tenants who pay rent to greedy landlords if they, the tenants, want controls abolished?

The Westmount Municipal Association is the Tammany Hall of Westmount and is responsible for the selection of the Mayor and the Council.

It would be a very excellent idea for the Westmount Municipal Association and their selected puppets to remember that there are many, many more tenant voters than there are landlord voters.

James Adams,
P.O. Box 689,
Montreal, Quebec.

Favors tenants only decide rent control

Sir:—I would like to know why the Westmount Council has decided to seek the termination of rent control, as well as what authority entitles them to do so without a prior city-wide vote by those concerned, namely the tenants.

The Councillors voted unanimously among themselves to withdraw from application of the Rentals Act. However it is felt that they do not speak for all tenants residing in Westmount. It is hard to believe that termination of rent controls is the wholehearted decision or wish of the tenants.

Prior to rent controls, landlords had their day of exploitation. The placing of controls on rents (particularly on older dwellings), has been the tenant's only saving grace.

As a Westmount resident I urge that a vote be taken whereby tenants (property owners excluded) may decide for or against termination of rent control before the matter goes any further. The decision lies in the hands of the tenants, not in those of the councillors and landlords.

"Tenant"

THE campaign to make men fuss like women about their clothes has evidently frightened the councillor who said that there is no harm in dustmen looking smart and clean, but that to overdo it is absurd. There is a dustman in Norfolk who comes to his work in a curly-brimmed bowler and carrying a neatly rolled umbrella with a spiked ferrule for spearing oddments of refuse.

Westmount's Mr. YMCA recalls his 50 years

Last month, Westmount's Mr. YMCA, Bob Drain, marked 50 years in Canada and 50 years with the YMCA, all but 10 months of it at the Westmount branch, 4585 Sherbrooke street west. He worked there first as building superintendent until 1957 when he retired and since then parttime in the office evenings and Saturdays.

He was born November 23, 1883 on Park Row, Greenwich, London, "where you get your time", son of a London 'Bobby'. His mother burned to death when he was small so his father "bundled him and his older brothers William and Hugh up, and sent the boys to his parents in the north of Ireland at Glen Manus".

"From Glen Manus, we moved to Bally Ness, a mile out of Bush Mills, where they make the Irish whiskey, to live with my uncle Robert. I worked on the farm with my uncle until I was about 15. Then I went back to London."

"I don't even remember what grade I went through. That shows how little schooling I had. We walked two miles to school in Glen Ness and got in the habit of going by way of the apple orchard and stealing apples."

"One thing that has made me work at this job all this time is that I have never had any schooling. I have had a pretty good time but I have had to work hard because of that. I tell these boys here at the YMCA—I really drum it into them—be sure and stick to your school. By the time I realized the importance of school I had a family and couldn't just drop everything and change."

"What I've learned I've had to pick up by myself. I will say I did know enough so when I first came here the physical director and I were able to keep this place going without a secretary for a while."

"First I worked as a dispatcher on the London-Brighton Railway for five years. Then I went to work for the South Metropolitan Tramway Company for another five on the doubledecker streetcars."

"In 1907, I married Charlotte Louise Facey from south London. Our only child, Eileen, was born in 1909."

"A friend in Canada told me things were a lot better over here than in England. I got here in May of 1911 with the idea of going to work with the street railway here in Montreal."

"Then I went up to the YMCA on Dominion Square. Mr. MacKinnon, who was superintendent, offered me a job. It wasn't long after I started there that they opened up this place. They had two fellows here before me but they didn't stick it."

"It wasn't an easy job. Whenever we had a storm it would get flooded in the basement. One August it flooded five times. That situation was relieved when they put the new sewerage in down in the Glen."

"I've seen this place grow up. They had board sidewalks when I first came here. I've watched Westmount gradually build up into cement sidewalks."

"I started working here at the YMCA in March of 1912. The place opened Saturday, the fourth of May. 400 to 500 people came to watch the swimming and stayed for tea put on by the Ladies' Committee."

"We had a lot of trouble with two brand new big Axminster rugs on the floor out there in the lobby. Downstairs, outside the swimming pool, the terrazo floor hadn't properly set yet. When the people watching the swimming walked with their wet feet across the tile and upstairs they tracked red across the rugs and ruined them completely. We took them up and sent them to the cleaners and some of the red came out but the rugs were spoilt."

"I remember Clarence Dutton I wouldn't be surprised if he were first in the pool that day, like he claims. He came in here pretty regularly until he got tied up over in Vic Hall."

"In those days we had 60 kids on the gym floor and then in swimming afterward. We are lucky to get a dozen today. The schools did not have gym classes like they do today."

"Another one I remember is R. N. Watt. He's pretty high up in the Montreal Transport Company now."

"Ernie and Al Mills of Westmount Realities used to live here until they got married. I remember they both studied a lot."

"Then there was Alec Tinker, with the textile mills at Huntingdon, and a fellow by the name of Dodwin with the fur department at Henry Morgan. They both lived in room 13. We are connected in a family way. Tinker and Dodwin married the Bronstetter sisters and my daughter married the brother."

"Bug Andrews, who used to live on the corner of Lansdowne avenue and Sherbrooke street was one of the early ones."

He got up and let a husky young fellow into the swimming area. "That was Bailey, one of the Alouettes. He comes here all the time to exercise."

"I was talking about the early days. The first director here until the first world war broke out was T. Hicks Miller. A lot of people will remember him."

"My first assistant here with me was W. Munro. He was with me a couple of years. Then he went to work on the railroad helping to build a tunnel through the mountain as an electrician."

"There were two brothers, Stan and Bob, who are with Marcell Real Estate. I can't think of their last name. They used to take a lot of exercising here. As time went on they were in the Wise Men's Club."

"You know the Fossils Club originated here in Westmount. It was just a bunch of young fellows who got together and put on shows over in Victoria Hall. They broke up when they went overseas. When they came back they got other quarters downtown."

"The YMCA is not used as much by younger people as it was in the old days. It is used by the older people. They just have dances here once in a while. They used to have them all the time during the war for the soldiers and sailors. When the war was over it all fell through."

"Yes, they have a good turnout for the hobby show, though not like it used to be. Young people aren't so much interested in hobbies as they used to be. They are more out for a good time."

I asked where he lived when he came to Montreal. "We, my wife, her little sister, Daisy, who came with us, and our daughter all stayed for a few nights with a friend. Then I took over a boarding house on Mackay street for a while. It didn't pay off but it was alright until I got settled. Then I moved to Sussex avenue and took care of an apartment building owned by Mr. Bailey, a real estate broker."

"I stayed at Sussex avenue for 27½ years. Then I moved to 216 Redfern avenue and have lived there ever since, for 22 years."

"Yes, we are right across the street from the Reader's Digest building. There have been a lot of changes in that neighborhood. Before they put the new school up we could watch the Alouettes practice football from our apartment. Before the Reader's Digest building went up we could see all the way down to Greene avenue and now 4300 Western avenue blocks off our view of the mountain."

Frank Kenwood of Kenwood Movers came in with his family for a family swim and admitted to coming to the YMCA since he was 6 or 7 in 1928 or 1929. Frank commented that "You are right the man you are talking to is Mr. YMCA."

Mr. Drain annotated, "Frank and his brother, Paul, both came in all the time when they were kids. In fact, their father used to be in before them. You know, his father started out the moving business with a horse and cart."

Next, there was a brief interruption when Boy Scout Peter Fenton, 435 Grosvenor avenue, won a free bag of potato chips so he then had two. He countered a suggestion that he share the extra bag with his friend, Bruce Robb, 4198 Roslyn avenue, with a query to Bruce, "Would it be worth that nickel I owe you?"

"Harold Cross was the first secretary here. He came up here from Moncton, New Brunswick. H. Best came after him and then W. Spearman. He's retired now. Then there was Norm Millington."

The YMCA is not so popular now as it was. They change and try all different ways but it doesn't seem to matter."

"The learn to swim classes for the youngsters are very popular. In fact, they were so popular this year they couldn't handle all the ones that wanted to take them. About a third of the kids really learned to swim and the rest are water free."

"We used to have a billiard room. They did away with that after World War II when some of the boys started gambling."

"The YMCA didn't allow dancing here until around 1914 or 1915. The Board of Governors came out of a meeting one night after deciding there was to be no dancing allowed in the YMCA and found the kids dancing in the gym. So that started that. From then on there was dancing allowed."

"They used to give a lot of parties here. They have allowed card playing for the last five years but they don't let the kids play for money. They are strict on that."

"I remember Mayor Jack Cushing when he was a little boy. His father Lem used to be on the Board of Di-

Parks Superintendent Cooper retired Monday

Westmount City Council by appropriate motion Monday night authorized the retirement of George Cooper, Superintendent of Parks, effective September 20, 1961. Alderman Bovaird, on behalf of the City of Westmount, presented Mr. Cooper with a silver tray in recognition of his service. Mr. Cooper went on pre-retirement leave commencing with the close of business last Friday.

Prior to his emigration to Canada in 1926, Cooper worked 10 years for the Parks Department of Burnley, England. During two years of that time he was Gardener at the Queen's Park.

He has been with the Westmount Department of Parks since a month after his arrival in Canada, serving first as a clerk from 1926 to 1953. In 1953 Cooper was named Acting Superintendent of Parks and in January of 1954 he became Superintendent of Parks. His successor has not as yet been named.

Leg of man injured in car bangup

William Ronaldson, 4128 St. Catherine street west, suffered an injury to his left leg when it struck the dashboard in a collision of his car with that driven by Robert Efeberg, 5419 Park avenue east, at 12.15 a.m. May 29.

Efeberg told police, according to their reports, "I was going east on Sherbrooke street and was making a left turn north onto Mountain avenue when a southbound automobile went through the stop sign and struck my car".

Ronaldson told police, according to their reports, "I was going south on Mountain avenue approaching Sherbrooke street when another automobile made a left turn from Sherbrooke street to go north on Mountain avenue. He cut the corner too short and struck my car".

Mr. Ronaldson was taken to Montreal General Hospital for treatment.

Public works program authorized by Council

The City Council Monday authorized public works totalling $324,585 by divers resolutions. First was commitment of $12,500 for reconstruction of Grosvenor avenue from Sunnyside avenue to the north city limits. Grosvenor will be widened from 25 to 30 feet to correspond to the width of the street in Montreal from Sunnyside northwards.

Next was the pledge of $7,150 to widen by five feet and resurface Werendale Park roadway. It is expected only one tree will be lost. The widening will permit parking of cars without rendering the roadway impassable and facilitate snow clearance.

$8,225 for development of the east end of Willow avenue, including street, sidewalks and sewer was authorized.

Commitment was made of $34,000 for widening Mount Pleasant avenue to 30 feet. Power poles carrying the overhead services will be moved behind the walks. Previous plans providing for placement of the power lines underground were discarded as prohibitive costwise.

A total of $64,200 concrete gutters, resurfacing and reconstruction of sidewalks on Western avenue is to be spent. The entire street will be resurfaced from one end to the other.

Resurfacing to cost $17,250 was voted for Edgell road east of Lexington avenue to The Boulevard, Kensington avenue from St. Catherine to Sherbrooke street, Springfield avenue throughout and Grosvenor avenue from Westmount avenue (Continued on page 10)

Two cars go up in smoke

Shortly after four in the morning last Saturday fire completely destroyed a Volkswagen and severely damaged a Chrysler in a garage at the rear of 635 Murray Hill. Mrs. C. W. Lansburger gave the alarm.

Westmount Fire Chief E. C. Harper theorized that a possible short circuit in the Volkswagen started the blaze.

There was some slight damage to the ceiling of the garage. However, firemen managed to confine the fire mostly to the automobiles.

Westmount spends on capital works

The list of accounts for April 1961 submitted to Council Monday totalled $694,302.06, $72,599.66 more than for the same month in 1960. The motion for payment passed without discussion.

Alderman Common then moved that the secretary-treasurer be authorized to arrange with the Bank of Montreal for loans up to $1,000,000 to finance the City's operations until the collection of taxes toward the end of the year.

He explained, "Due to the capital works programme, it is estimated the bank accounts of the city will be in a net overdraft position before the end of June. The net overdraft will increase to around $1,000,000 toward the end of November."

"Interest rates of 5½% per annum on daily overdraft balances are more than ¼ of 1% better than could be obtainable by the sale of debentures. The city will not have to sell debentures until at least May 1, 1962."

The motion carried without further discussion.

The 15th annual Forest Hills Trapshooting Championships will be held at the Forest Hills Hotel in Franconia, N.H., on July 1-4. There will be $1,500 in prizes and trophies.

King's to hold bike safe riding test

A bicycle safe riding test sponsored by the King's Home and School Association will be held in the Westmount Artificial Ice Rink tomorrow at 10 a.m. rain or shine.

All boys and girls who attend King's School and own two-wheeled bicycles of any size are eligible to take the test.

Those who pass the test will receive awards especially ordered for the event.

Westmount opposes upping gas rates

Council unanimously passed a resolution Monday opposing the application of the Quebec Natural Gas Corporation to the Electric and Gas Board of the province of Quebec for increase in the rates charged consumers of natural gas.

Said the Council, "The Council is gravely concerned that the proposed rate changes, applied for by the Quebec Natural Gas Corporation, will be to the disadvantage of small consumers, in particular householders. Preliminary evidence suggests that the burden of the proposed increases will be borne by them."

"The Council also noted that higher rates for natural gas are being asked for by the Corporation at a time when the distributor of natural gas in the Metropolitan Toronto area has applied for a reduction in rates for services to small consumers."

"The Council, on behalf of the residents of Westmount who are customers of the Corporation, unanimously endorses the protest of the City of Montreal against the proposed rate increases before the Electricity and Gas Board of the Province of Quebec."

Italian immigrant hit by boy driver

An Italian immigrant, who could only speak Italian, was severely injured May 26 at 6:48 p.m. when struck by a car driven by 18-year-old Westmount high school student, Duncan Peachey, 488 Mountain avenue. Sylviano Palladini, 36, 19 Brooke avenue, suffered a dislocation of his right shoulder, a compound fracture of the right femur, tibia and fibula and a skull laceration. Police took him to Montreal General Hospital.

Duncan told police, according to their reports, "I was travelling south on Aberdeen avenue. I stopped for a stop sign at Montrose. I then proceeded east on Montrose travelling at approximately 30 miles per hour or under when all of a sudden a man stepped from the south side of the curb of Montrose onto the street without looking."

"I immediately sounded the horn and at the same time applied the brakes but I did not stop in time before hitting him with the left front fender. I stopped the car and got out and looked at the man."

"I was told by a man who was with him to go call police. I jumped in the car and went home and told my dad what had happened and called the police. I returned to the scene with my father."

The left front headlight of the Peachey car was broken and the fender buckled.

Officer dodges traffic

It all seemed to happen at once. Barry W. Barnes, 4955 Lavoie avenue, reported to Westmount police, according to their reports, that at 10:58 p.m. June 1, "I was going east on The Boulevard and was stopped at Edgemoor road to make a left hand turn when an automobile proceeding west on The Boulevard on the wrong side of the street struck my car.

Also at 10:58 p.m., Officer William Kavanagh reported, "I was standing in the middle of the intersection of Victoria avenue and The Boulevard directing traffic, the traffic lights being out of operation, when I saw an automobile proceeding west on The Boulevard at a fast rate of speed. I started to run for the sidewalk and the car went out of control and turned down Victoria avenue and went on to the lawn of R. Cordeau, 4754 The Boulevard."

Edward McKenna, 1424 Perce street, was charged with leaving the scene of an accident, imprudent driving and driving without a license.

Car rolls back, strikes another

Arthur Sydney Nops, 1367 Greene avenue, who was charged with failing to report an accident May 3 at 3:50 p.m. claimed, according to police reports, that the car driven behind him by Mrs. H. Devitt, 3282 Cedar avenue, which he struck when he took his foot off his brake and rolled back a couple of feet "must have been too close for intelligent driving anyhow".

Said Mrs. Devitt, according to police reports, "I was proceeding North on Mountain avenue following another automobile. Upon reaching the intersection of Montrose, the auto in front came to a stop for a slow sign. When the traffic cleared, the auto backed into my car."

Mrs. Devitt claimed the accident damaged the chrome around her left front headlight and sprung the hood of her car.

Mr. Nops told police, "I was driving up Mountain avenue and stopped at the corner of Mountain and Montrose for a minute to make up my mind whether I would turn right or go straight.

When I started to move another car crossed in front of me going west on Montrose, so I took my foot off the brake and rolled back a couple of feet."

"I felt the car bump Mrs. Devitt's car but had not rolled more than two feet. There was no power on and I cannot have done the damage she claims."

"My own right rear lamp was broken but only the red outer casing and not the bulb which would have been the case if I had hit the other car very hard."

"The car behind me did not blow its horn or give any warning that it was there and must have been too close for intelligent driving anyhow."

Missing muffler is $10 and costs

Acting Municipal Court Judge Alex McT. Stalker kindly explained to an earnest teen-ager charged with driving a motor bike without a muffler that the missing manifold is what is meant by a muffler under the terms of the Code.

Said the lad, "What I am missing is a manifold. It is home in the garage waiting to get welded which cost $25. My bike has two mufflers and two manifolds except I am missing one manifold."

It turned out that the piece that was missing was the wide piece which fits on the end of the exhaust pipe. The boy thought the muffler was close to the engine.

The judge concluded $10 and costs.

Clues to Cashword Explained

ACROSS:

1. VARNISH is best. A care-less housewife may not care about how a VARNISH looks, whether it is TARNISHED, or blemished, or just dull, for she is not likely to want to bother with improving its appearance. Such a housewife may not go to the trouble at all of putting a GARNISH, or decoration, on food she serves.

6. POOL, yes. One may have to be an optimist to depend on a POOL, as an aggregate gambling stake, for the odds are generally against one's winning. One may be able to depend on a FOOL for anything that requires little intelligence. TOOL is vague. WOOL is remote.

11. COAT is the word. One might expect a COAT to retain moisture after a storm, for it can only dry slowly by evaporation. A BOAT may have water in it at all times. GOAT is remote.

12. HOOKED, to be sure. A suitor who has been HOOKED may wish he had not been smitten, for he may rue the loss of his freedom. If he does not feel he was snared, he won't care if he is HOOKED, as by bachelor friends, for he may prefer wedded bliss to being a benedict.

16. SPUR is likely. A busy-body might feel called upon to SPUR, or goad, a lazy person who is not likely to have the energy to resist such meddling. Anyone who disapproves of laziness might SLUR, or cast aspersions at, an idler.

20. RIDE is logical. Though the commutation is high, a young man may take a job because he hopes for a RIDE, as in a friend's car, for then his expense may be reduced or eliminated. A RISE, or advancement in his job, might not bring him enough to compensate for the high commutation rates.

24. TALLER is selected. Advantage in height generally attracts attention, so the TALLER of twins is likely to be more noticeable than the other. It is what a person says, not how much, that attracts attention; a TALKER, or talkative person, may be ignored if he utters nothing noteworthy.

31. FARCE is chosen. A playwright's FARCE may repel theatre-goers, as when it may satirize their own weaknesses and defects. FORCE would need additional information; this quality in a play usually puts it in the "hit" category.

DOWN:

3. RETAIL is wanted. The witness to a crime may RETAIL, or relate in detail, facts that preceded it, as when questioned by police. RETAIN suggests an effort to commit to memory which may not be necessary if the facts are simple and impossible to forget.

7. LENDER is preferred. A LENDER is likely to have a good understanding of character, for such an individual will see people when they are under pressure of need. A LEADER may see in people only those qualities he wishes to see, and persuade them that they possess such qualities.

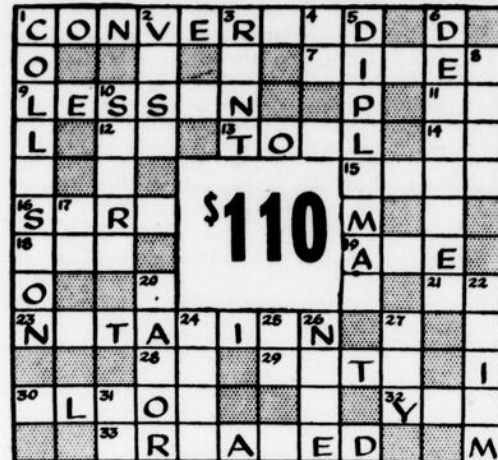

10. BOAST is selected. It may be best to avoid a stormy BOAST, as one made in anger, for it is likely to be exaggerated and one may have trouble making it good afterwards. COAST is not sure; from a vantage point a stormy COAST might be an interesting spectacle and without danger. TOAST is remote.

15. STRIKE is wanted. The manner in which men STRIKE may give a hint of their forcefulness, for in attack, whether mental or physical, directness would indicate a sense of power. How men STRIDE may merely show whether they are hurried or not. STRIVE may have more to do with how much interest they have in what they are doing. STRIPE is remote.

19: BETTER is preferred. A man's responsibilities may cause him to BETTER himself, for his need to fulfill his obligations may act as a spur. "May" is weak with FETTER, in a sense we are all chained by our obligations; there is no choice. LETTER is remote.

Ukrainians put on hit at Vic

Last Saturday night, before a capacity audience in Victoria hall, the Ukrainian Canadians put on a Shevchenko Festival of Ukrainian Song, Music and Dance in tribute to the bard of the Ukraine.

The Toronto AUUC String Orchestra maestroed by Mary Kuzyk was superb. This talented amateur group played through the entire program.

Spontaneous applause marked the renditions of the Toronto Dance Group directed by Nick Pelowich and the Montreal-Lachine Children's Group directed by Peter Wrona, both of which performed with agility, alacrity, pure joie de vivre and a generous portion of gusto. Their dancing was the most.

The program lagged hardly, if at all, during the first part of the program, mostly Ukrainian folk songs, for those who did not understand Ukrainian. For most of the audience the language was no problem and an air of nostalgia prevailed.

From a critical point of view the evening had its unevennesses but as a whole the loss in spontaneity could not have been made up by the addition of any amount of professional slickness and syncopation. Both audience and performers enjoyed themselves hugely and, after all, that is what we were all there for, a good time.

Trucks crash at No Trucks sign

The left front of a truck was demolished Tuesday when the driver was unable to stop going south on Atwater avenue in time to avoid hitting another truck backing out of Selby street because of a No Trucks sign. The second truck suffered a dented right front door and running board.

Joseph Jodoin, 4231 Messeaur street, explained, according to police reports, "I was going south on Atwater. When I was approaching Selby street I saw a truck turning west on Selby street. It stopped and started to back up. I applied my brakes but could not avoid hitting the other truck."

For his part, Jean G. Carriere, 660 Delinelle street, told police, according to their reports, "I was going south on Atwater and turned west on Selby street. I noticed the No Trucks sign and stopped. I then started to back up on to Atwater. A truck on the outside lane stopped to let me back up but another truck in the inside lane hit my truck."

Librarian to retire next year

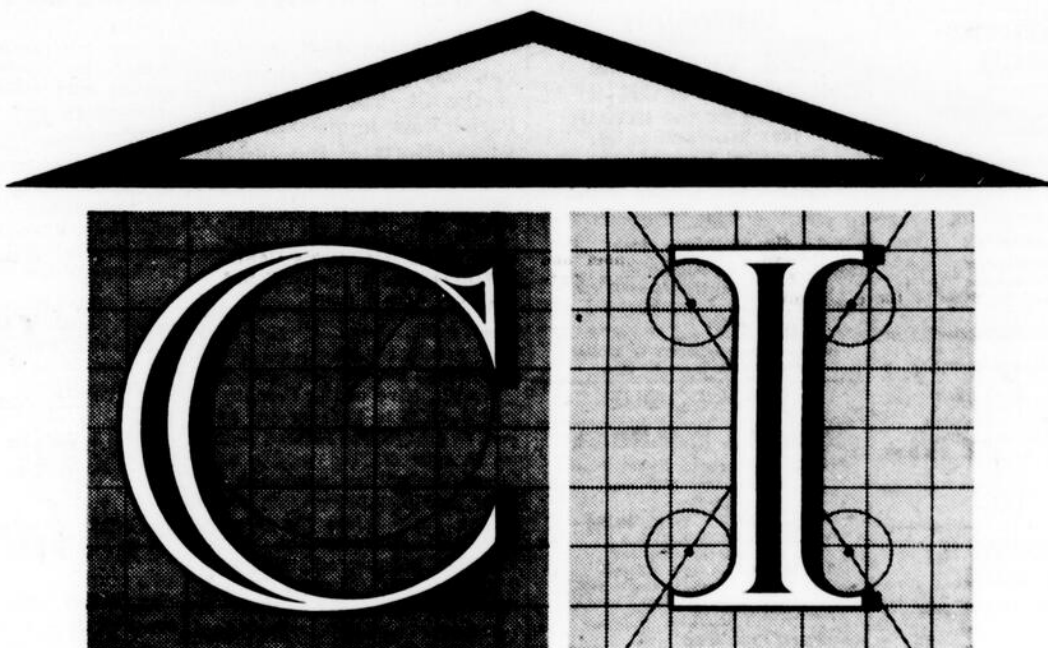

Council smoothed the way toward the retirement of Miss Kathleen R. Jenkins, head librarian of the Westmount Public Library next year.

A motion to permit her to retire June 18, 1962, after 35 years outstanding service passed unanimously.

Trapped, ticketed

An ironclad excuse for parking more than four hours in a limited parking area is being hemmed in by bumper to bumper parkers. A young lady who parked at 9 a.m. on Park avenue just above Western avenue recently came out several hours later and found her car "parked in" so she couldn't move it.

She returned at 1 p.m., again at 3 and finally at 4:45 p.m. On her last trip she found her car disentangled from its too familiar neighbors but festooned with an unwelcome parking ticket.

Whither away, young man?

by

The Venerable
R. Kenneth Naylor, D.D.
Rector, Trinity Memorial Church

The urge to teach school takes hold of me at this time of year, and I feel compelled to ask all the usual questions. Why did you go to school in the first place? What did you get out of it? What is your own reaction to it? If you were running the school system what would you make of it? And finally, what are you going to do with the education you have acquired?

Let us look at the first question: Why did you go to school? Because the State said you must go; because you are a Canadian citizen and you can only be a profitable citizen if your natural abilities are trained by the kind of education that is of value to the community.

The schools are not equipped to teach astrology, or divination by the stars, because the community sees no value in them, though there was a time when men spent endless hours in such studies. So the Province has spent a very large sum of money to train you so that you in your turn may make your best contribution to the Province. It was your parents who saw to it that you went to school regularly and that you went with your lessons prepared. Principal James at the McGill Convocation reminded the graduates of the enormous debt they owed to their parents.

You had not very much choice about going to school, but you had a great deal of choice in the answer to the second question: What did you get out of it? You know the old saying: "You get out what you put in." The saying is not completely true, for when you put yourself into the process of education you take out a great deal more than the little self you put in.

The work of the teachers, the impact of the scholarly minds behind the text books; the competition with minds as keen or keener than yours; the excitement of solving a problem in algebra; the sports we have engaged in; the girl whose books we carried home; those have all shaped us; and from all of them we have drawn our education.

And if we have put ourselves into the great game we have won our epaulettes. But if we have sat sluggishly, with passive resistance, we have gained little from school and we can only hope that the Lord will be good to us and wake us up before it is too late. Some of us are late learners and provision is made for us, but even that opportunity must be grasped and made our own. Very few things that are worth while come to us without effort.

RC churches back bid by St. Thomas Aquinas for future security

"It's do or die", said H. Lawson, publicity chairman of the St. Thomas Aquinas Parish Fair, in discussing the latest efforts of the 38-year-old church located at 4040 St. Antoine street, which is going through a difficult period of adjustment in the St. Henri district.

"For the last five years it's been going downhill," he said, "we've had rummage sales and everything, but nothing pays off."

The objective of the Fair, to be held June 15 to 17 from 7:30 to 11 p.m. is $15,000, the amount required to pay off the parish debt. Other parishes are supporting the drive, including the various groups of the Holy Name Society, the United Irish Societies, the Catholic Women's League, and the many friends of St. Thomas Aquinas, who once lived in the parish.

Preparations for the Fair began more than three months ago under the direction of William Hickey, chairman of the Executive Committee, and co-chairman, Mrs. H. Yaxley.

It will be a gala affair, with 15 different booths including groceries, records, refreshments, housewares, candy, dolls and toys, fish pond, out-doors, toiletries, home

The Council authorized spending of $28,500 to rebuild sidewalks on Kensington avenue from Western avenue to Sherbrooke street, Grosvenor avenue from Westmount avenue to The Boulevard and throughout Somerville, Thornhill and Montrose avenues.

A walking survey conducted by the Public Works Department engineers established the need for replacement of the sidewalks authorized Monday night.

Repair of the roof deck over the comfort station in King George Park will cost $3,825, the amount committed by Council Monday. Seepage of water through the roof deck has caused serious damage to the suspended ceilings in the rooms of the Comfort Station. The roof deck is used as an observation lookout. Resurfacing seven years ago which cost $1,000 did not eliminate the seepage problem.

Council authorized expenditure of $1,000 for renovation of a room in the basement of City Hall which will be used to house the new switchboard equipment.

This should be a satisfactory run financially for Nordair, a subsidiary of Maritime Central Airways, providing top service can be given.

At the time the question came up, I mentioned that I had recently covered this route myself, and found facilities lacking at most of the stopping points.

Surprisingly, though, Nordair has announced it has no present plans to stop at Oshawa because of facilities there. I would have thought that the facilities at Kingston were in much sadder shape than those of Oshawa, which airport has recently installed a complete lighting and approach system

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

TO THOSE CONCERNED :

Now that the Canadian Cancer Society's Campaign is drawing to a close, I would like to take this opportunity of personally thanking the District and Team Captains, and the many enthusiastic canvassors in the Westmount Division who worked so hard and cheerfully to make this worthy effort a success. They will be pleased to know that at this date we are only slightly below the objective.

As a group we also wish to thank the many generous donors, who can take pleasure in the knowledge that their contributions are at work actively fighting the scourge of Cancer, and giving hope and encouragement to less fortunate human beings afflicted with this dread disease.

Any Westmount residents who have not yet returned their cards, or who would still like to contribute, may forward their donation to —

The Rhythm of Life

The power, that wield's the planets, poised the sun,
And gives the fragrant beauty to the rose,
That paints the wing of butterfly and bird,
The Life behind each living thing that grows,
That breathed man into being by a word,
The Force that I can neither touch nor see,
When from sense-bondage free at last, I learn,
The Power must be too, a part of me.

CGIT group closing meet

Late in April, Miss Gladys Thornber, former WMS missionary in India, organized several very enthusiastic girls in Westmount Park-Emmanuel and Calvary United Church as a CGIT group. Great were their plans under such consecrated leadership. And then, suddenly and tragically, Miss Thornber died, but she had sown a seed which will grow and flourish as her girls carry on.

As their Christian service project, the girls journeyed to Allen's Corners to paint a cottage, certainly an ambitious project for girls in their early teens. Yesterday the traditional CGIT Mother and Daughter Banquet was held with Mrs. Donald Scoates, WMS Presbyterial CGIT secretary; as guest speaker, Miss Vera Jamieson led a sing-song and the girls themselves presented skits and songs.

The late Miss Thornber planned well and instilled great Christian fervor in her girls. Now they carry on, confident that adequate leadership will be forthcoming in September to continue the work so well begun this spring.

Mrs. H. E. Whipps heads high school alumnae

The Alumnae Society of the High School for Girls elected the following slate of officers at their annual meeting. President, Mrs. Hugh E. McLeish; recording secretary, Miss Helen Holmes; corresponding secretary, Miss Mona Lawrence; treasurer, Miss Irene McLure; membership secretary, Mrs. G. A. Smithers.

The past year has had some very interesting events. Last fall there was a wonderful travelogue from the CPR, Across Canada on the Canadian also a Caribbean Cruise. These films were both educational and entertaining. In March of 1961 we had a successful card party the proceeds of which went into the Scholarship Fund. On May 10 the pupils of 11c gave a most enjoyable variety show.

things to say at the hearings.

All, of course, against the present element controlling boxing in the United States and Canada)

Joe Louis at one time represented the International Boxing outfit — a James Norris outfit — rendered obsolete by anti-trust action; and Jack Dempsey and Tunney fought in an earlier era under some alleged shady circumstances. We hope their testimony cleansed them well of the former associations.

In the meantime out Los Angeles way Frankie Carbo, Truman Gibson and two others were convicted of attempting to extort money from boxer Don Jordan and his manager.

The Truman Gibson is one and the same who came to Montreal a couple of years ago, and was extolled by some local sports writers in plenty of free (?) space as the saviour of boxing. And, (yawn) all they had to do was read Dan Parker for the past 20 years in the New York Daily Mirror.

Yes sir. It's nice to read about the Verdun High School accomplishments!

We just stuck our big, fat nose in the boxing business. Now for Television: Did anyone see the CBS show Way Out, last week? We caught it, unfortunately, through a Burlington affiliate. It was so "Way Out", it really got lost!

Why don't some of you nice people take the weekend off in the country!

See you next week!

West Indians 'A' and 'B' cricket clubs hold first place in respective sections

Verdun Cricket Club, who are without a home ground, lost to West Indies in Montreal and District League action on the week end to put the West Indians in sole possession of first place.

But, the Indians received an assist from Westmount, who are also homeless, when the Westies held the Adastrians to a draw, against heavy batting.

Noel Harris, skipper of the West Indians, captured six Verdun wickets for only nine runs and fast bowler Len Simpson took four for 25.

Verdun's score of 62 was passed without loss of a wicket when Sandiford hit a quick 45 not out.

The Adastrians powerful batting was again very much in evidence, scoring 224 for four declared after being put in to bat by the Westmount captain.

Dave Almandoz with 80 and Frank Chessman with 52 led the way and received strong support from Mike Downer and Sadeek. Westmount played out time and had 91 for five at the close, with Ken Branker making 56 not out.

In the other A Division match Mount Royal gained its first win of the year, defeating Wanderers by seven wickets.

Alan Weedy with four for 11 was chiefly responsible for Wanderers poor score, and was unfortunate not to record a hat trick, being the victim of a dropped catch.

Only Bill Scutt with 29 showed any confidence with the bat and Wanderers were all out for 77. In reply, Mount Royal lost three wickets for only 30 runs, but Reg Docking and John Gouveia stayed together until the Wanderers score was passed.

In B Division, West Indians kept their lead with a four wicket victory over Stelco. Canadair scored a good win over Wanderers thanks to a fine all-round effort by M. Roulstone who hit 39 runs and then took six wickets for 21.

Mount Royal made a valiant but unsuccessful bid to defeat TCA after being dismissed for 67. TCA passed this total with their last two men at the wicket, the Mount Royal skipper Eddie Richards taking six for 21.

Another low scoring close game was that between Rolls Royce and the Bank of Montreal.
