MONTREAL, FRIDAY, JANUARY 6th, 1933

PRICE—TWO CENTS

Arena Amusement Is Awarded $26,727 In Canadian Club Suit

Issue Dates Back to 1926 When Canadian Hockey Club Jumped to Forum—End of Long Drawn Out Fight Sees the Claim Greatly Reduced—Action Went to Superior Court, Appeal Court and Then to Supreme Court Where Retrial Was Ordered.

Bringing the settlement of the action against the Canadian Hockey Club by the Mount Royal Arena one step nearer settlement, Mr. Justice Curran of the Superior Court Thursday awarded damages totalling $26,727 to the local amusement company.

Already the action through which the owners of the Arena sought $198,547 has been through the Superior Court, the Court of Appeals and the Supreme Court of Canada and it reached Justice Curran on a Supreme Court order for a retrial in order to determine the amount due by the club.

The issue dates back as far as 1926 and is based on whether or not the Canadian Hockey Club had jumped their lease with the Arena when the Forum was built to hold a bigger hockey crowd. Louis Letourneau, Joseph Cattarinich and Leo Dandurand, well-known sportsmen were the three guarantors of the lease and joint defenders of the action.

Following an original lease of from 1920-1924 the Hockey Club, the company claims, entered into a new lease for a period of seven years. The three guarantors intervening to assure the Arena of a revenue of at least $12,000 a year with an increase of $1,000 if more than twelve games were played. The Hockey club denied the allegations and pleaded specifically that under the lease they were not obliged to play the games at the Arena. The three guarantors pleaded similarly and Dandurand and Letourneau added that it was not intended to enter into the agreement, unless Cattarinich signed and that he had never signed.

In June 1927 Mr. Justice Walsh ordered the hockey club to pay $83,891. The club appealed and the appeal court reduced the amount to $60,539.60. Both parties appealed to the Supreme Court and a retrial was ordered.

Y. W. H. A. NEWS

The first musicale of the season, open to the public, takes place on Sunday at 4 p.m. in the new Y.W.H.A. Music Room. Guest artists include M. Louis Bedard, pianist; M. Arthur Gelinas baritone; Mr. Bobby Litner, violinist; Miss Judith Seidel, pianist, and Miss Mary Friedman, star of the McGill University Operatic Society's recent production, "Yeoman of the Guard."

Rabbi Stern will lecture before the Sunday Night Group on January 15th, at 8.30 p.m. All interested are invited to attend. The topic will be "The Fear of Living."

The Senior Basketball Team, Provincial Champions, will journey to Hartford, Conn. on January 10th, to play the Etna Life Senior Basketball team. If present plans mature, they will stop at Poughkeepsie, N.Y. on the way, where they have also been invited to play.

On Wednesday evenings, the Y.W.H.A. gymnasium is reserved for basketball games. Until the season officially opens, exhibition games, with girl clubs from various parts of the city will take place every week.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has acquired motion picture rights to "Rendezvous," the play by Barton MacLane which recently completed a run at the Broadhurst Theatre. Arthur Hopkins produced "Rendezvous" with MacLane and Ruth Fallows in the leading roles. No cast or director has yet been announced for the new property.

That same Joan Blondell, who is so passionately devoted to dogs, has a correspondingly strong aversion to cats. She feels uneasy when they are around. And her historical researches have revealed to her that Louis XVI, Lord Roberts and other celebrated figures suffered from the same phobia, so she feels better about it now.

MANY TRAVEL TO MEDITERRANEAN

Steamship Lines Report Heavy Bookings for Eight Special Cruises

"One of the well-known steamship lines in the Mediterranean service has paused from a swirl of activity just long enough to make the very cheering report that its bookings are 300% ahead of last year, and that every ship is sailing with every cabin filled," states J. J. Bulger, Manager Canadian Division, American Express Company.

Mr. Bulger explained this increase was due to the splendid new ships placed into the Mediterranean service and which have heightened the interest of travelers in the sunny lands surrounding this historic sea, as well as to the low rates of exchange prevailing in certain of these lands, which reacts to the advantage of the traveler from America.

"Egypt," said Mr. Bulger, "seems to be the center of this magnetic region, and our bookings for Nile steamer trips are already far ahead of last year. One ceases to wonder at this sudden renaissance of interest in the ancient Land of the Pharaohs when one considers that, due to the present low exchange value of the English pound, visitors from America can live and travel there very reasonably indeed. For instance, one can stop at the very exclusive Hotel Shepherds in Cairo for only about $5.00 a day in American money, which would have been deemed an impossible low price in former years."

"And so the Mediterranean Sea, which geologists tell us was the original waters of the Biblical flood which poured through the Straits of Gibraltar and inundated the then known world, will find many splendid vessels floating upon its azure expanse this winter. Eight special Mediterranean cruises have been scheduled and the steamship lines which serve this region are also offering cruises in connection with their regular sailings."

"One of the longest of the special cruises to Mediterranean lands will be aboard a ship visiting this part of the world for the first time, and that is the "Statendam." This 29,500-ton flagship of a well-known trans-Atlantic line will sail from New York February 9th and take 56 days for a leisurely cruise to most of the important spots of this picturesque region, including, of course, Egypt and Palestine, also Jugo-Slavia. What is of especial interest is an arrangement which has seldom before been attempted on a economical cruise of this type, and that is giving its members the choice of going either tourist or first class, with its accompanying wide range in the cost of the cruise."

Donald Dilloway has been added to the cast of "Men Must Fight," which will go into production soon at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, under direction of Edgar Selwyn. Others in the cast of the new film are Phillips Holmes, Diana Wynyard, Lewis Stone, May Robson, Ruth Selwyn, Hedda Hopper and Mary Carlisle. Dilloway has been seen in "Min and Bill" and "Pack Up Your Troubles."

Prince Purchases Speedier Craft

Our picture shows the Prince of Wales in the usual informal dress in which he makes his flights, while in the background is a photo of the new "Foxmouth" he has purchased for his private use. The machine is fitted with a 130 h.p. Gipsy Major engine, has a continuous cruising speed of 110 miles an hour. It is a similar type of machine to that which won the King's Cup Race around Britain last July. Painted in royal blue and dark red, colours of the Household Brigade, the machine is reported to be the acme of perfection.

MACVICAR MEMORIAL CHURCH NOTES

In connection with new plans for the year 1933 provision has been made for a Young Men's Guild Study Class on Sunday afternoons at 2:15 p.m. to which all men are invited; and at 3:15 an Adult Bible Class will be conducted in the Church Auditorium for the study of the life of Christ as contained in the Gospel of St. Mark. This Class is open to everybody.

The Communion will be celebrated on Sunday, January 15th at the eleven o'clock service and at the close of the evening service.

Mayor of Mount Royal
New Year's Message

Mayor T. S. Darling, of the town of Mount Royal issued the following New Year's Message to all residents of the town.

"On behalf of the council and myself I wish the citizens of the town of Mount Royal and of our neighboring municipalities a very happy and prosperous New Year. We cannot hope for immediate prosperity but we are looking forward to a decided improvement in conditions generally. During the past year the council was able to have the new lighting system completed and has made many other improvements in the town with the development which will follow the return of prosperity it will be possible to complete many other projects, and we trust that it will be possible to do this during 1933."

DESTROY EVIDENCE OF OLD DOBBIN'S REIGN

Workers are at present engaged in destroying the only remaining evidence that Old Dobbin once held sway in the Cote St. Antoine station of the Montreal Fire Department. Two years ago when the equipment at station 34 was completely motorized, the stalls in which the trusty horses were quartered were demolished but the iron posts which separated the stable section of the building from the apparatus remained in place.

Visits King George

Here is the Rajah of Khallicote, who has reached London, to pay a visit to the King-Emperor. The picture was taken when the Rajah arrived in Victoria Station.

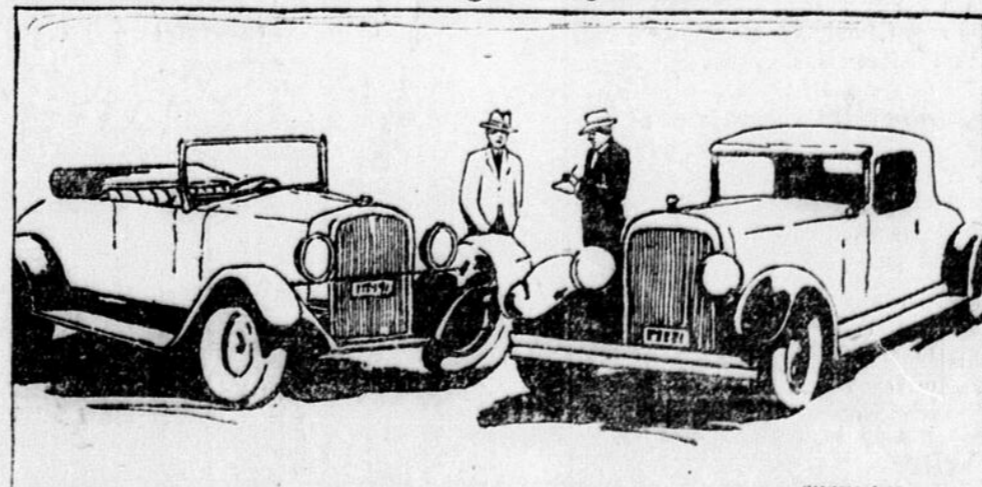

They bore mute testimony of the horses which once responded to Notre Dame de Grace alarms. These posts are now being removed and the cement floor in the rear of the building is being relaid.

Information on "Yellow Light" Question

Members of the Province of Quebec Safety League are reminded this week in the information to motorists issued that the yellow light of the traffic electric control lights has particular meaning for both the motorist and the pedestrian.

The yellow light when it comes on has a message for everyone. To those drivers or pedestrians who are crossing the intersection on the green it is a signal that they must hurry across as the direction of traffic is about to be changed. To those about to cross it is a sign that they must wait until the next green flash. To those stopped on the red light, waiting for the green, it is a sign that in a few seconds they will get the right of way. But to no one does the yellow light mean they can have the right of way.

It is because there are too many persons, both motorists and pedestrians, trying to beat the yellow light that accidents occur at intersections despite the traffic control.

A large number of pedestrians do not pay any attention to the light system whatsoever. A large number of motorists see the yellow light and hurry across regardless of pedestrians. Another large group of motorists start off on the yellow light instead of waiting for the green and some day they will all come together and there will be a terrible crash.

Members of the Province of Quebec Safety League are informed this week that they must respect the yellow light, which is perhaps the most important of the three colors of the traffic control lights for the prevention of accidents.

CHAPEL ALMOST COMPLETED AT LOYOLA COLLEGE

Inaugural Service Will Be Held in New $150,000 Edifice Early Next Month

ST. IGNATIUS PARISH

Exterior Work is Practically Finished—Assembly Hall on Lower Floor

It is expected that inaugural services at the $150,000 Loyola College St. Ignatius Parish chapel will be held sometime next month, probably on Sunday, February 19th. Construction of the edifice is rapidly nearing completion.

The exterior work is practically finished, workmen being at present engaged on laying the metal roof sheeting. The brickwork is completed and installation of plumbing fixtures is well underway.

In architecture the building will be Tudor to conform with the style of other buildings now standing on the Loyola grounds. It will be connected with the administration building by a stone cloister. The building will have a seating capacity of over 500. It is being constructed of fireproof materials.

When completed the two-story building will see the realization of a dream entertained by the Jesuit fathers ever since they moved their school from Drummond street many years ago and commenced the building of the college on the West end property. Construction of the three edifices which now form the administration and other school and college building axed the finances of the institution, and the chapel project was held in abeyance as the $150,000 expense could not be incurred at that time.

During the past few years sufficient funds were raised to undertake the work. Subscriptions from friends and old boys aided the authorities in realizing their objective.

Construction was commenced last summer and work has been progressing favourably ever since. The new chapel will occupy the upper floor of the building according to the plans drawn by Henri Labelle, the architect. On the lower floor there will be an assembly hall for public debates and other similar functions.

FUNERAL OF MRS. A. P. THWAITES WAS HELD ON TUESDAY

Wife of Late Sgt. Thwaites Suffered Relapse Following Influenza Attack

WORKED IN DISTRICT

Rev. Harold S. Laws Officiated at Funeral Service—Many Attended

A relapse following an attack of influenza caused the death suddenly on Saturday of Mrs. A. P. Thwaites, wife of Sergeant Thwaites, well known militiaman, at her residence 5998 Park Avenue. Believing that she had recovered Mrs. Thwaites returned to her employment in an electrical firm here in the north end of the city, was taken ill again and died in two days. She was in her 45th year.

Mrs. Thwaites was born in Grimsston, near King's Lynn, Norfolk where her father and mother Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hammond, had charge of a school. Her mother survives her also three sisters and two brothers in England and Leonard Polkenhorne, of Montreal, a cousin.

Sergeant Thwaites pre-deceased his wife by less than three years. His military career began in boyhood when he became a cadet at Ragby. Later he joined a Yeomanry regiment of which his father was colonel. He came to Montreal in 1913 and at the outbreak of war joined the Victoria Rifles later being transferred to the Royal Montreal Regiment. He was wounded at the first battle of Ypres. After discharge from the militia hospital he was appointed to Military headquarters in London where he served until 1920. He was later attached to Military headquarters in Montreal. A noted rifleman he was chairman of the Quebec Rifle Association and secretary of the miniature Rifle Association.

It was only right to reduce his own salary from $300 to $275 but the board refused to grant his request.

However as he did the paying himself he only took $275 and the reduction stood O.K.

Edward Turner, a workman, received a severe scar that showed badly when he combed his hair on the left side. He asked damages. The insurance company demurred on the grounds that he could easily comb his hair on the right side and thus cover up the scar. The adjustor however admitted the man's right to comb his hair as he liked and awarded him $250 damages.

Vienna has a new serve-yourself system. It is an outdoor cafeteria and the thing that you help yourself to is sand. The town is so poor that they can't afford to have any sanding of the streets done and the pedestrian is supposed to take a small paper bag of sand, which is placed on a kiosk at street corners.

George W. Klover recently created quite a flurry at the Chicago Hobby tournament by showing a collection of seven hundred and fifty golf tees. He even included the old-fashioned tee that is made by scooping up a handful of sand.

With leopard skins adorning his lean, slender frame, Charley Chase is running wild as an ape man at the Hal Roach Studios. He is filming his latest comedy, "Tarzan in the Wrong," with Muriel Evans playing the part of his jungle sweetheart.

Hedda Hopper, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer actress, added to her bag collection on her recent New York trip, bringing back to Hollywood a purse with braided frame of red leather, a bag with huge metal initials against black suede, and an evening model of jet beads.

A HERO PASSES

Just as the old year was fast drawing to a close a resident of Outremont, stricken at his post on the footplate of the locomotive that he had driven for many years, reached for the throttle for the last time and with consciousness rapidly ebbing slowly unlinked the valve lever to the last notch and brought his train to a standstill while a passenger train roared through.

William J. Farley, a resident of Bloomfield avenue, was bringing his train from Labelle to Mile End station. At Val Morin his train was in a siding picking up cars and had started towards the main line. The fireman and a sectionman were in the cab at the time of his death but without a word to either of them Farley assumed his characteristic pose at the throttle of the iron giant and closed the throttle bringing the train to a stop just as a passenger train roared through on the main line. He then collapsed. The fireman took control of the locomotive and brought the body back into the yards aboard the train after life had been pronounced extinct by a doctor at Val Morin.

Farley had travelled through the mountain district for many years and was well known to the people of the towns and municipalities through which his train passed. His sudden death while on duty came as a great shock to the members of his family and to the officials of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company in whose employ he has been for the past 41 years. He was a resident of Outremont for the past 28 years a member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Catholic Foresters and the Third Order of St. Francis.

Even in death he carried on the tradition that has been the glory and making of the iron trail on this continent since the first rail was laid.

THE MONTHLY LEASE

There is considerable agitation in Montreal to change the custom of leasing property for twelve months to the monthly lease system such as that in vogue in Ontario. For some reason that is not clear, the majority of the landlords favour the twelve-month custom. It has been found in Ontario that the monthly lease is a benefit to both landlord and tenant, and the experience has been that there is no more frequent moving than under the twelve month system, and considerable less default. There is in everybody a tendency to put off unpleasant jobs, and this tendency is encouraged under the monthly lease system. No job is more unpleasant than moving, and when a man can move at a month's notice, he is inclined to postpone the unpleasantness from month to month. The landlord benefits, keeping a good tenant in many cases much longer than he would under the twelve month plan. A long lease scares the average man, makes him bargain for low prices, forces down the general average of rents.

A short lease encourages a higher level, for the average man is quite willing to pay well, provided he is not tied down in case of emergency. When it is considered that in spite of the widespread slump in business, three-quarters of the workers are still in receipt of living incomes, it will be seen that the landlords would not have anything to lose under the shorter rental term.

CHILDREN'S MOTION PICTURES

The question of again admitting children to motion picture theatres is again very much to the fore. Petitions have been circulated and will be sent to the authorities. It is not likely, however, that anything will be done, as the average parent does not know what is best for his children in many things, and the authorities have taken their cue from the opinions of the judges in juvenile and other children's courts. About thirty per cent of pictures are unfit for young children to see, and the theatres have shown no discrimination in separating the suitable from the unsuitable films. It should be an easy matter, however, to arrange for the board of censors to distinguish between films suitable for children and those which are unsuitable, and it should be equally easy for the theatres to arrange their programs in such a way that children could be admitted two or three days a week. This would be simpler and probably more successful than trying to have the old regime revived when children were allowed to anything, any time.

WHO DARE PROPHECY?

The prophets of early recovery claimed in the closing days of 1931 that all would be well in the year 1932 and that many things within twelve months would be well along the way to normal. Eddie Cantor sang "Potatoes are cheaper" and claimed that "Prosperity was just around the corner." In most respects however the year compared not at all favorably with that of its predecessor and many commodities were sold at a new low. The various thermometers such as grain movements, car loadings, etc., which are used by the prophets as indications of which way the wind is to blow, were very disappointing. A revival of market conditions here and in New York in the summer caused a slight flurry but it proved to be of slight duration.

It is hoped that the incoming Democratic President of the United States, Mr. Roosevelt, will make an agreeable change but the outlook on the whole is not at all bright. The war debt question could certainly be handled to have a better effect all around.

Canada however is in a favorable position. There has certainly been a remarkable growth of trade during the past century and it is continuing to all reports. On Tuesday evening the Honorable H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, talked on "Canada's Rise in the World of Commerce." The minister warned against comparing the immediate present and the immediate past in considering Canada's position.

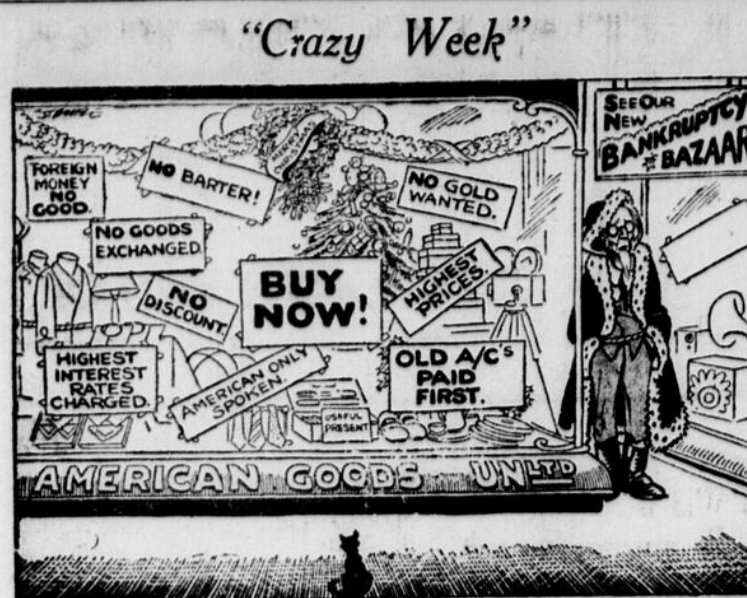

And this is indeed the way to view the entire situation. A survey of the past century will show that there have been other periods similar to the present one. The fact is also evident that there has always been a bright period after each dark cloud. The cloud has always passed. Today Canada stands seventh among the trading nations of the world. Her rise as an industrial nation has indeed been spectacular. It would indeed be difficult and somewhat foolhardy to prophesy for the year 1933.

MOVIE SHORTS

Lee Tracy, seen recently in "Blessed Event" and "Washington Merry-go-round," has signed a long-term contract with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and will have the male lead in that company's production of "Clear All Wires." This adaptation of the Herman Shumlin stage play, which not long ago completed a Broadway engagement, was prepared for the screen by the co-authors, Bella and Samuel Spewack. Benita Hume, young English actress, who is now at the M-G-M studios in Culver City, will have the feminine lead and George Hill is director. Others in the cast include Jimmy Gleason, Melvin Bleifer, Ari Kutai and Eugene Sagaloff.

Tracy's vehicle on the New York stage, before he began his career in pictures, include "Broadway," "The Front Page," and "Louder, Please."

Lionel Barrymore's two etchings, "Quiet Waters" and "A Little Boatyard in Venice," now on exhibition at the National Arts Club, are the first by the screen and stage actor to be displayed in public in New York. For several years, Mr. Barrymore has been interested in etching and has displayed several subjects on the coast.

John Lawson, author of "Success Story," which is now in its third month at Mexine Elliot's Theatre, has been signed to write screen originals for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

Phyllis Barry, who has just finished a role opposite Ronald Coleman in "Cynara," has been given the feminine lead in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's yet untitled Buster Keaton-Jimmy Durante co-starring picture, which will be directed by Edward Sedgwick. Durante has just finished work in "Pigboats."

Robert Young has added a pan-trope to the new apartment he is furnishing. All his spare time is spent in music stores, where he is making a collection of his favorite phonograph records.

The cast of "Pigboats," now nearing completion at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, now includes Robert Montgomery, Walter Huston, Jimmy ette, John Mahin, James Donlan, Matt McHugh, Bradley Page and Sterling Holloway. The film is being directed by Jack Conway from an original story by Commander Edward Ellsberg.

Thought On Going To Bed

And so to bed,
(As Pepsys said)
And so to bed when she—
To talk in sleep, and dwell upon,
A young man's ecstasy.

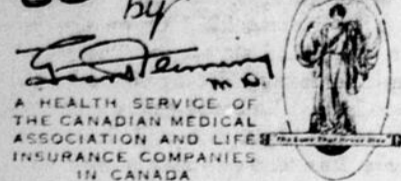

To dwell upon,
But not for long.
In Time's fast-fleeting ways
"For, 'eripes,' it cannot be I've left him in a daze!"

This flitting thought
Her mind had sought
To quell with numbing sleep.
But, there it was, and up it bobbed,
As toes from sandals peep.

And so to bed.
(As Pepsys said)
And so to bed went she.
To think a thought, and think a lie,
And think a lie of me.

HEALTH

We hear a great deal of talk about "the danger of overweight after forty." There is also danger in "underweight before thirty," which should not be forgotten in this age of slenderness.

There is no definite measure of normal weight. We know the average weights for sex, age and height, but averages are not necessarily normals. The long-legged person with a slender frame may be below average weight and still be normal. The average weights are a good guide, however, and the individual who is far from the average should seek the cause.

Under thirty years of age, weight that is definitely below the average is not desirable. Tuberculosis is frequently associated with a run-down physical condition, and underweight is a warning signal of such condition. The younger person who is too thin has less power of resistance.

Tuberculosis cannot be cured simply by adding weight to the body, but the chances of developing the disease can be minimized by having the body fortified against the germs of tuberculosis. Resistance can be built up with adequate food, rest, fresh air and sunshine.

It is the early adult years that tuberculosis reaps its largest harvest. Tuberculosis seldom develops in the healthy-well-nourished body. The early adult years are particularly trying, for these years bring the physical and mental strain of starting work, of marriage and the beginning of a new home. To this is added, in women, the strain of childbearing. The early adult years, are the years when most of us carry our heaviest physical and mental burdens.

Underweight due to disease or to some abnormal condition of the body can be corrected only by the removal of the cause. If there is no disease, to gain weight we must eat more food each day than our body needs, just as when we wish to reduce weight, we must eat less food than our body uses.

The person who is underweight needs added rest. He should spend more hours in bed at night, take noon-day rest (if only for ten minutes) and a rest before meals so that he will not take food when his body is fatigued. He should spend as much time as possible in the open air and avoid strenuous exercise. Walking is an excellent form of exercise for the person who is underweight as it keeps him out of doors and does not cause fatigue.

Food, rest, fresh air and sunshine are the means which are available to build up strong, healthy bodies. They must be made use of regularly if results are to be achieved and maintained.

RANGERS, ST. GERMAIN, ROYALS TROJANS AND MAPLE LEAFS WIN WHILE ST. VIATEUR-OLYMPIA TIE

Without Stan Neville and Batson One-Goal Win is Managed—Roseman Scoring Deciding Tally—Deguire's Outfit Goes Down to Defeat by a Score of 3-0—Red Wings Lose 2-1 With Richmond Saving His Team From Whitewash.

(By H. W. SYLVESTER)

After a two-week lay-off, speedy Rangers of the Outremont Hockey League, Senior Section, were first to capture victory, when Ouimet-Wilson C. sustained defeat by a score of 1-0, last Sunday afternoon at the North Avenue Rink.

The return of old man winter and his chilly blasts after two weeks of spring-like weather, was unexpected, but welcomed by local hockeyists and supporters, who crowded the rink side in fairly large numbers on New Year's Day.

Rangers were in the spotlight from the outset of their daring comeback for signal honors again this season, and Ouimet-Wilson were forced into hard, defensive playing.

The absence from Rangers of "Stan" Neville, leading scorer last season and Batson, burly defenceman of the champions, gave spectators a new light on Rangers desperate try for victory this week. "Red" Furlong was hurriedly signed to replace Batson and Neville on this year's speedy six, and it is now thought that such a move was a very good one. The new right winger has seen plenty of hockey with outside aggregations in past seasons, distinguishing himself greatly as a high scorer. He is a local boy for this reason Rangers pride in having him.

By the result of this game, Rangers cannot be credited with more apparent shut-outs in succeeding games, but show every sign of a renewed spirit among the boys, who in the past three seasons, suffered only four losses.

Ouimet-Wilson C. were not without a good body of supporters on Sunday as they battled Rangers to such a close finish. Lack of co-ordination in spots left the losers unaware of many breaks, that properly handled would have netted one or more counters. Braced by the steady speed of "Stan" Neville, Ouimet's front line kept up a vigorous rush on the Rangers throughout the first period. No goals were scored, but spectators drew a sign of relief after many hectic moments.

Roseman Scores Winning Goal
Rangers went into the second part driving fast and hard, until Ouimet were forced into the defensive. "Hughie" Claxton handled a score of passes from Durocher and Roseman, piling many a shot into McPhee's net. Eight minutes of the second set found both teams struggling for the slightest opening. A few minutes later, Roseman appeared unchecked and broke through Ouimet's disrupted line for a shot. The disc rose from his stick with a flash of bullet-like speed and found an opening before McPhee could clear.

Manager Neville later switched his front line for a new series of attacks, leaving more security in his defence line. His object was of no avail, although it served to restrain any further counters on the part of Rangers, who stood up well in checking Ouimet's swift-moving combinations.

St. Germain Victorious
An uproar of cheers followed the victory of St. Germain over Deguire's Pharmacy here in the second fixture. The Saints emerged successfully after piling up a 3-0 score over Deguire. A. Lanctot again proved his valor for scoring, marking up the first tally and adding two assists to L. Trottier and Three specially selected plays will be presented on Tuesday as the Third Evening in the Y.M.H.A. Dramatic Tournament. The Masquers Club of the Y.M.H.A. will present on this occasion the play "Chapman" by I. L. Peretz. Mr. Maurice Silcove is the volunteer director of this play, and the cast includes: Betty Bosnack, Dorothy Boyaner, Mrs. N. Gold, Beatrice Goldstein. The Y.W.H.A. Dramatic Group will present the play "Suppressed Desires" by Susan Glaspell; the cast of the play includes: Edith Koltz, I. Koltz, Ruth Popliger. The Y.M.H.A. Masquers Second Group, directed by Miss Doris Malles will present on the same evening the play "Overtones" by Alice Gerstenberg; the cast includes: Betty Bosnack, Mrs. N. Gold, Freda Lecker, Pauline Treuh. A nominal admission fee is charged and the program begins at 8:30 p.m.

The judges in the contest, which includes 18 plays of which the 7th, 8th and 9th will be given on January 10th fixture, and it reasonably certain of victory next Monday night against St. Viateur. The latter team naturally compliment his guest, but the proof is in the pudding, and Manager Fortin is asking for a good slice.

Fred Tucker Gains Partial Freedom With Plaster Cast Removed From Broken Neck

The three month imprisonment of Freddie Tucker is now a thing of the past, and the young Westward rugbyist, who has been lying in a cot in the Royal Victoria Hospital since the early Fall, has been freed of the uncomfortable confinement of a bulky plaster cast. Just three months after he was rushed to the Royal Vic, after suffering a broken neck in an exhibition rugby match between Westward and McGill, Tucker found some measure of freedom, when the large cast, which held his head and neck rigid as broken bones were knitting, was removed.

Now Freddie is up and about, but hardly scampering around like a two-year-old just yet. Tucker has been finding his legs again in the hospital ward, and getting a glimpse of some of his neighbors who might just as well have been miles away, for all he could see of them.

Fellow rugbyists are kidding Tucker these days that he will not have to worry about clean collars for a little time yet. Freddie has been fitted with a wide leather collar, not altogether unlike a dog collar, which will keep his chin up and neck in place.

It has been a tough fight for the Westward boy, but he has taken his medicine smiling, and has made a really remarkable recovery, and is quite a bit ahead of schedule in his gradual return to health. It will be a long time before Tucker is fit to run around, but it is expected that he will be able to leave the hospital during the next two weeks.

to guide active men in elementary anatomy and personal hygiene. These lectures will be supplemented by a sub-series of illustrated lectures which will humanize athletics as a form of bodily recreation. The speaker in this sub-series will be S. A. Levy, M. M. Bruker, G. P. Smith, the Rev. I. Forsythe, Mr. Wm. Sellars, Mr. Frank Van Wagner. All information may be had from M. M. Bruker, Director of the Department of Health, Y.M.H.A.

in your stove keeps citizens from want!

Cold winter blasts that whistle harmlessly round your home . . . will chill less fortunate citizens to the bone! Burn Quebec's native fuel . . . PEAT-HEAT . . . in your stove, cooker or fireplace . . . it costs far less than Cannel-Coal, and its harvesting gives work to many of Quebec's needy.

PEAT-HEAT
stands on its own merit! A few lumps in your stove . . . presto! gives clean, crisp sparkling fire . . . maximum heat, minimum ash, at trivial cost!

Only 20 Cents for a bag of PEAT-HEAT at your grocer.

Vary Your Cakes By The Addition Of Ingredients

We can vary our cakes with the addition of other ingredients and one would never suspect they were made from the one recipe when baked. We call this foundation cake.

The following are two good foundation cakes.

Molasses Layer Cake

- 1 egg or yolks of 2
 - 1 cup molasses
 - 1 tablespoon melted butter
 - 1/2 cup boiling water
 - 1 teas. soda
 - 1 teas. cinnamon
 - 1/2 teas. cloves
 - 2 cups flour
- Make 2 layers and cover with icing.

Fruit Cake

For a delicious fruit cake use the above recipe with the additions of 1 cup boiled and drained raisins and 1 cup broken walnuts. Bake in loaf tin and ice with white icing.

These cakes must be iced as there is no sugar in them.

Valentine Cake

- 1/4 cup butter.
 - 1 cup sugar.
 - Cream together and add:
 - 2 eggs
 - 1/2 cup milk
 - 1-1/3 cup flour.
 - 1 1/2 teaspoon baking powder.
- Bake in deep tin and ice.

Or bake in flat round tins and when partly cool, split, spread with raspberry jam. Put together and ice with chocolate icing and nuts.

Another variation is to ice with bitter-sweet icing. That is, spread cake with a very rich butter icing. When set, spread with melted butter or unsweetened chocolate.

Yet another is, divide batter and colour 1/2 with cochineal to desired pink pour white and pink batter alternately into loaf tin. Ice with delicate pink icing and sprinkle with shredded cocoanut.

Use your favorite flavorings. Then one can have caraway-seed, peel, or cocoanut cake by just adding those ingredients the foundation "Valentine Cake."

SOMETHING WRONG IN LAND OF LOVE

Maybe Cupid is working as effectively as ever, and probably betrothed couples have not dispensed with the conventional diamond ring. But there's something radically wrong in the world of love and luxury.

The famed diamond mines of British Guiana are far less active. Pearly tears fall from eyes that once gleamed with the joy of selling more and more glittering gems to the outside world. The diamond market has gone all to pieces. However, nothing daunted, British Guiana has turned to another aspect of love and luxury. The export of gold from this country for the first six months of 1932 was 8,282 carats, compared with only 5,696 carats for the first six months of 1931. But British Guiana will not forsake the diamond business; not while tourists landing from Canadian National liners from Halifax and Boston and from other ships from Europe, continue to arrive almost as well-bejewelled as ever before.

Amy Welcomed at Croyden

It must be a hard job for press photographers to keep track of Amy Johnson Mollison, considered to be one of the finest aviators in the British Empire. One day she is Cape Town, then in Paris, and again in London. Here we see her receiving a wonderful welcome at Croyden, London, at the completion of the round trip to Cape Town and back in record time. With Mrs. Mollison is her husband, Captain Mollison, who also holds several records for flying. In the background between the happy couple is Sir Malcolm Campbell, holder of the world's land record for automobiles.

HEALTH

By W. Holmes, D.C., Ph.T.

One of the most prevalent diseases of to-day is Neurasthenia. This can be readily understood by virtue of the fact that we are, of necessity a much more highly-strung and nerve-wrought race, that were our ancestors. We must hustle and then hustle again, until the enforced strain upon the nervous system results in Neurasthenia or nervous prostration, which is really a debility of the nervous system.

Nervous debility may affect any organ of the body; it is a condition of exhaustion, the nervous energy necessary for functional activity of any organ, being depleted. A common example of this is nervous Dyspepsia. Neurasthenia may present a number of symptoms. There may be trouble with the eyes, derangement of the heart, stomach, and other organs. Sometimes there is a feeling of chilliness, or flushes of heat. Insomnia is usually present, and in females, troubles common to their sex. In time, a cycle of symptoms develop, until the sufferer feels that every part of the body is out of order.

75c BOX FREE TO ANY SUFFERER. Over in Syracuse, New York a treatment has been found that hundreds of users say "brings splendid results." Many instances have been reported where only a few days' treatment brought quick relief where everything else had failed.

It helps to drive off the poisonous clogging waste matter from the system by acting on the liver and stimulating the flow of bile, which promotes regular and effective bowel evacuation and seems to neutralize the Uric Acid and Lime Salt Deposits which clog the blood, irritate the kidneys and cause stiffness, swelling, etc. Pain and soreness often seem to melt away and vanish.

The treatment first introduced by Mr. Delano is so good that his son has opened an office in Canada and wants every Canadian who suffers from Rheumatism, or has a friend so afflicted, to get a 75c package—just to prove what it will do—before a penny is spent. Mr. Delano says: "To relieve rheumatism, no matter how severe, stubborn or long standing the case, and even after everything else has failed, I will, if you have never previously used the treatment, send you a full size 75c package, if you will cut out this notice and send it with your name and address. Some Ideals For Sunday Night Suppers

Now that winter approaches, Sunday-night suppers are becoming popular again. Both in the city and in the suburbs the Sunday night festive board is something to look forward to, for then it is that the old circle meets again at the proverbial round table. The Sunday night hostess frequently resorts to light refreshments such as chafing dishes, open sandwiches and pickles, waffles and coffee. But other homemakers who do not mind stretching the household budget make a ritual of the affair.

With the hors d'oeuvres habit growing, sardine fillings, smoked salmon, and caviar on toast, with the inevitable accompaniment of chopped sweet pickles or sliced mustard pickles, are frequently on a platter of appetite inducers. Pickles make ideal decorations, but quite apart from that feature their spiciness adds interest by contrasting the flavorings of foods. What do you think of the following menu as a suggestion for an interesting and seasonal Sunday night supper:

- open rye bread sandwiches of cold turkey
- cranberry molds
- sliced dill pickles
- coconut fruit roll coffee

Recipe for Cranberry Molds

- 1 cup thick cranberry sauce, sweetened
- 1-2 cup celery, finely cut
- 1-2 cup shredded pineapple
- 1 package lemon gelatin
- 1 1/2 cups boiling water
- Juice 1/2 lemon

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Chill. When slightly thickened, add lemon juice, celery, pineapple and cranberry sauce. Turn into mold. Chill until firm. Unmold on lettuce.

Recipe for Coconut Fruit Roll

- Serves 6.
- 1 1-2 cups brown sugar
- 2 teaspoons light corn syrup

- 1-2 cup milk
- 1-2 teaspoon vanilla
- 1-2 cup raisins, finely chopped
- 1-2 cup dates, seeded and finely chopped
- 2-3 can coconut

Cook sugar, corn syrup and milk together until a small amount of syrup forms a soft ball in cold water (234 d. F.) Cool. Add vanilla and beat until creamy. Add fruit and coconut. Shape into an oblong roll, 1 1-2 inches in diameter, and wrap in waxed paper. Chill. Cut in slices. Make 15 slices.

HEARD IN HOLLYWOOD

Maxine Cantway, who was chosen three years ago as "The Perfect Chorus Girl" in the days when musical pictures had their first vogue, is coming to the front again, but this time as an actress. She is one of the eleven girls, all of them fair to look upon, who have just been signed by Warner Bros., First National to be trained and developed in dramatic art. She will be seen first in "Forty-Second Street."

Joe E. Brown expects to have more fun making "Elmer the Great" than in any other picture in which he has ever appeared. The reason is that in the Ring Lardner romance Joe will be able to play baseball to his heart's content. And baseball is the thing Joe E. likes best of all.

Hollywood is looking for another visit from Ward Morehouse, New York newspaper columnist and author. Morehouse made a great hit in Hollywood, and it is hoped that he will drop in frequently. It's said that

Place Royale

By Dan Faro

Note—This is the first of a series of articles of parks by Dan Faro, a resident of the North End. The second article will appear in an early edition.

If one can imagine a seventeenth century French square overrun with hardware, wholesales, marine employment agencies, grocery and dry-goods warehouses, then one can imagine Place Royale down on West St. Paul Street.

Where once Place Royale faced the broad stretches of the St. Lawrence, today it gazes blankly at the towering walls of grain-elevators. Where once the air resounded with the clanking of sailors from the fussy little French caravels, today there is only the piercing whistle of the Harbour Commissioners' electric locomotives tugging long strings of box cars.

Time was, when this square presented a different scene. There are still houses standing here that have looked down on the lace covered uniforms of officers serving Louis XIV, as well as on the paint and feathers of Indians unloading their canoes filled with furs.

These same houses have seen the arrival of ships from France bringing news of the death of the Sun King (Le Roi est mort), and later other ships with the news of the revolution in France, the death of Marie Antoinette, the triumph and defeat of the little Corsican general.

The halls of these houses have resounded with the clanking of swords and the soft rustling of white satin. They have known war, famine, siege, and misery untold; as well as love, laughter and triumphant song.

Today the square and the streets around it present a scene of grimy decay. The old houses neglected and forgotten will disappear to make room for modern factories and warehouses. Then, even the ghosts of Place Royale will be things of the past.
