

IMPORTANT NOTICE RE: POSSIBLE POSTAL STRIKE

It seems quite likely that there may be a strike of postal employees scheduled for Thursday of this week. That being the case, The Gleaner, which relies considerably on the postal service, will be seriously disrupted.

In order to aid us, advertisers and correspondents are asked to see if they can get their copy to us by the best means possible. The Gleaner will continue to put out its issues as long as the strike may last. Local subscribers may obtain their copies by calling at The Gleaner office in Huntingdon. Newsstand dealers will receive their copies for sale by special delivery system and perhaps regular subscribers in these areas can obtain their copies from these newsstand dealers. In this way both subscribers and advertisers will be served during whatever period the strike may last. Areas served by route boys will receive their weekly newspaper through the usual channels.

Your usual co-operation is anticipated. If the Postal Strike should materialize, we will do our best to see that The Gleaner reaches you as close to usual time as possible.

Catholic Regional School Planning Committee Outlines Its Recommendations

The members of the Salaberry Regional School Commission accepted a report, Thursday night, presented by the School Planning Committee formed last year to outline the major scheme of the regional school system in the years 1966 to 1971.

The committee, presided over by Notary Robert Lupien of Valleyfield, recommends that the Regional School Commission's territory be separated into two sections, one having Valleyfield as center, for the municipalities of Salaberry de Valleyfield, Grande Ile, Ste. Cecile, St. Timothee Parish and St. Louis de Gonzague, the other, having Huntingdon as center, for the school municipalities of Huntingdon, St. Agnes de Dundee, St. Anicet, Ste. Barbe, St. Antoine Abbe, St. Malachie of Ormstown and St. Stanislas de Kostka.

The committee also recommends that the Catholic-English speaking students of all the territory be directed to the Huntingdon section; that no efforts be spared to start the construction of the Huntingdon school as fast as possible; that the necessary rooms and laboratories be added to the plans of the Huntingdon school in order to make it a fully diversified secondary school able to accommodate the 1380 students of this sector; that an institute be established in Valleyfield. The independent schools (the seminary and the teaching school) and the trade school will be asked to cooperate.

The committee is of the opinion that the Edgar Hebert School be bought by the Regional School Commission and that it be used for first stage diversified secondary teaching by making the necessary changes, particularly by adding workshops to it, that a single campus be organized in the Valleyfield sector for students not going to Edgar Hebert school; that those responsible for school program foresee measures to favor an excellent education, sufficient individualism and personal success of the students; that the school commission cooperate to hasten the negotiations with the director of the cultural centre to have it built near the campus.

As for the academic part, the committee recommends that teaching include a general formation as well as a professional formation; that options be carried by the secondary course programs as soon as possible and that the personnel be prepared to make this change; that the Regional School Commission be responsible for the education of exceptional children both during the elementary and secondary courses; finally, that the courses for adults be under the responsibility of the General School Director and that the latter be able to count on the teaching personnel and have the necessary means for advertising.

At Thursday night's meeting, the regional commissioners also delegated Mr. Oza Tessier, President, and commissioners Raphael St. Maurice and Gerard St. Onge to the annual congress of the school Commissions' Diocesan Association, to be held September 11.

The readjustment to the salary of school principal and assistant principals, according to sales suggested by the Department, was approved.

Mr. Florian Tardif was named Director of the summer courses presently given to 420 students of the secondary course.

The Regional School Commission will receive until Thursday August 12, tenders to organize for a period of three years the transportation of students from the different municipalities of the area.

Miss P. Dahms Receives $250 Scholarship

The student aid committee of the National Council of Jewish Women, Montreal section, has presented Miss Patricia Dahms with a $250 scholarship. Miss Dahms, an elementary school teacher, with the Protestant School Board of Montreal will use her scholarship to pay for a special training course for students interested in teaching educable retarded children.

This scholarship was awarded Miss Dahms as part of National Council's "Higher Horizons for Youth" program. The Montreal section is interested in giving financial aid to students proceeding towards a university degree or special diploma such as Miss Dahms' course at Macdonald College Summer School.

The Protestant School Board recommended Miss Dahms to the National Council. Starting in the fall she will teach a new "Senior Special" class for retarded children at Central Park School in Lachine. This class will consist of 15 pupils taken from the Dorval and Lachine areas.

Miss Dahms became interested in teaching retarded children when some isolated cases turned up in her regular classes. She has worked at the University Settlement Summer Camp and taught remedial reading to children at the Montreal City Mission. At present she is a student at Sir George Williams University majoring in psychology.

Miss Dahms is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C.E. Dahms of Huntingdon.

Water Well Proves A Gusher

An unusual case was reported this week. It appears that M. Eugene Vaillancourt, Gore Rd., had a well drilled last Thursday by Walter Oes of Valleyfield and that this well is overflowing by some 6000 gallons an hour. The total capacity of the well, when pumped, is 15,000 gallons an hour. The water is reported to be very clean and fairly soft. The well goes 103 feet deep and is 6" diameter.

Jacques Brunet High Scorer At Provincial Trapshoot Meet

Brunet broke 140 of 150 birds to win the title, beating out Derick Adams of Clarenceville who scored 136. The high overall title goes to the competitor who makes the highest total score in the singles, doubles and handicap, the three events on the program.

Ormstown Recreation Centre Now Operating

It has been brought to our attention that many parents are unaware of the recreation centre available to children from the ages of 6 years to 15 years. This afternoon program features games, sports, entertainment, trips to the beach and training for a track and field meet to be held at the end of the season.

Red Cross Campaign Still Short Of Objective

The Red Cross Campaign in Huntingdon County is still continuing, but returns are very slow coming in. A little less than half the objective of $2,000 has been collected so far and it means that the campaign must go on. Not all of the canvassers have reported to this time and to this end they are asked to report direct to Mrs. R. J. Payne Phone No. 264-5793, Huntingdon at the earliest possible moment.

The committee is not only anxious to close off the campaign, but they also wish it to be a successful one. Everyone can help in this by giving generously when the canvassers call. If you have not made your contribution yet, then send it along to Mrs. Payne. It cannot be stressed too much the great work that the Red Cross has done and is doing in many ways. This continuing work takes money to keep it going and for this reason the annual appeal is made. Quotas are set in order to try and even out the appeal all around. If these quotas fall short for any reason, then the calculations are all out. For this reason, the local committee feels it must continue the local appeal until the objective has

Marvin Moore Of Hemmingford Sentenced

On June 14, 1963, an accident occurred at 12:15 a.m. on the Back Bush Road, on the outskirts of Hemmingford, which resulted in the tragic death of Ralph Moore, aged 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Moore, Sr. The victim was alone in his car, which was involved in an accident with a second vehicle driven by Marvin Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Moore, also of Hemmingford.

On June 25th, in Court at Valleyfield, Marvin Moore was found guilty of criminal negligence. He was charged under Article 221, paragraph 1-A of the penal code. He was sentenced to one month in prison, a fine of $200 and his driver's license suspended for three years.

District Jehovah Witnesses To Attend Convention

In order to gather with more than 4,500 of their associates in a Peterborough District Assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses, July 22 to 25, a delegation of about 25 local residents left Rockburn, Hemmingford and Huntingdon early this week. According to Mr. Kowalenko, presiding minister of Rockburn congregation, this is one of 30 such assemblies being sponsored by the Watch Tower Society in the United States and Canada during the summer months.

In explaining what could be expected by the delegates from more than 75 congregations who will convene, Mr. Kowalenko said, "The program will pinpoint the theme, God's 'Word of Truth'. Basic Bible doctrines will be discussed. Practical counsel on how the Scriptures can help us meet problems we face everyday will be demonstrated and explained. Recent archaeological findings and fulfillment of prophecy, two important lines of evidence which prove that God's Word is inspired and reliable, will be presented."

The climax of the seminar comes Sunday afternoon when a Watchtower representative speaks on the subject, "World Government on the Shoulder of the Prince of Peace."

Mr. Kowalenko, head of the local delegation, said that the majority of the local delegates will serve as volunteer workers in one of the 22 departments organized to care for the crowds.

Lucien Rivard Recaptured At Summer Home At Woodlands

The Chateaugay Area wasmer home is still not known, in the midst of great excitement on Friday afternoon, even though few would be aware of it. Probably one of the most wanted persons was caught that morning in the Woodlands district not far from Chateaugay.

There is much of mystery about this capture and what has taken place since Lucien Rivard escaped from Bordeaux Jail, several months ago.

His case rocked a country and rocked a government and his recapture was heralded with great delight. It was commonly felt that now more would be learned about the case and set many matters at rest.

Quebec Provincial Police and the R.C.M.P. took part in the capture of this fugitive from justice and actually he was quite close to the point from which he had broken jail. He was originally being held on a narcotics charge and was to be handed over to the States to answer the charge in that country. Meantime, the Canadian Government became involved in a scandal, which resulted in an enquiry, the reshuffle of the Cabinet, resignations of several Ministers and the firing of several other Government personnel. Consideration has been given as a result of the findings and all because of this man. During the course of the enquiry into the accusations with regard to the case, the main character, Lucien Rivard and a companion, escaped from the jail in which they were being held and no trace of them could be found. The companion was captured, but Rivard continued to be missing. Various letters were turned up which reported Rivard as being at a number of points in the United States and even in some other countries. Then another party in the States was arrested on charges and he was said to know Rivard. It was assumed that Rivard would be with him and it was even reported that he had been seen with this man. Still no trace of the missing No. 1 person.

Then suddenly on Friday afternoon, it is reported that a summer home in the Woodlands area had been raided and the much wanted Rivard had been recaptured. Right here in our own locality, so to speak.

There is a lot to explain in this case and for which so far we have not the answers. The police are not giving out too much information as yet, so just how they managed to know Rivard was at this summer home is not clear.

The man has been recaptured, a reward was offered for his capture, to whom will this be paid, if anyone. Will this be another burden upon the taxpayer for no reason other than this man gets away free. Oh yes, there are a lot of questions to be answered. Surely the Government will never be able to face the electorate if all that has happened is for naught and this man goes without light being shed on it all.

This and That In Town

Havelock Fair Officials are making a great stride forward in plans for entertainment at the biggest little one-day Fair anybody has ever seen: the Maxville Pipe Band of Maxville, Ont. will be at Havelock Fair this year. All the descendants of highland jags and lassies and all others who take delight in the swirl of the pipes will undoubtedly wend their way to Havelock on September 11. The Maxville Band, with pipers, drummers and dancers is probably one of the foremost pipe bands of Canada's two most important provinces, Quebec and Ontario. The directors and officials of Huntingdon Agricultural Society Division 'B', Havelock Fair, can stick a couple of feathers in each other's cap for arranging top-notch entertainment.

Frankly, The Gleaner is proud as punch about the increasing successes of Fairs in the area. Immediately following the 1965 Ormstown Exhibition last month, President John K. Dickson wrote indicating that the officials of Ormstown Ex were frankly pleased with the publicity and news coverage accorded in recent years. Then Stanley McNeil was in the Gleaner Office Wednesday afternoon and remarked that the 1965 Havelock Fair Programme would consist of several additional pages because everyone contacted appeared anxious to advertise. Stanley, too, said increased attendance was largely due to The Gleaner.

Last issue, The Gleaner introduced the Ann Landers column, stating we hoped it would be well received by subscribers. We didn't expect the flood of letters and phone calls that started in Huntingdon the day of publication and are continuing, by letter, from Hemmingford, Ormstown, Montreal, Chateauguay and, in fact, the entire district.

Starting this issue, another excellent column will be a regular feature: "To Your Good Health" by Dr. Joseph G. Molner. If this copyrighted column is one-half as well received as the Ann Landers feature, The Gleaner will consider both to be well worth their cost.

News Editor Sid Smith is back in his chair after an enjoyable camping trip to Prince Edward Island. Salesman George Dixon is, we believe in New Brunswick. Assistant Foreman Desmond Howarth is touring in Ontario and New York State. And Janet Ovens, Jane of all trades, returned to The Gleaner last Thursday after her vacation. Oh, yes, another of our big wheels is probably pulling in one of those famous New Brunswick salmon right now: Lew Lewis our bookkeeper. And Pressman Leo Lefebvre is touring some where south of the border.

So, have you noticed the impressive new signs at Viln: Furniture and at Huntingdon Motors?
Incidentally, Earl Fournier of Fournier Lumber & Construction tells us that classified advt. re. cement flower pots is bringing in the business: they're attractive, functional, AND inexpensive. Yes sir, it pays to advertise, in The Gleaner.

And who'd have thought ANYBODY would ravage a garden. Well, like we said last week, that's what happened Archie Hayter's. Moreover, the general public is pretty incensed about it, too.

Hootchy-kootchy-ko, or whatever one says to the newly arrived. Anyway, we understand there will be about a dozen more whooping cranes this year than a year ago. Almost extinct a decade ago, it seems they're destined to make a revival. Hippy-hippy-hoo-ray.

New edition of the Telephone Book — Valleyfield and surrounding territory's new telephone directory will be going to press shortly, so please check your listing. Is your name spelled correctly? And what about your address and phone number? Have you thought about additional listings? Other members of your family and relatives, roomers or boarders would benefit from having their names listed in the telephone book. If you're a businessman, you can use extra listings to show other firm names for your business — to associate your name and residence telephone number with your firm name — or to show after-hour numbers for you and your key employees. Remember, extra listings, at little cost, make it easier for people to find you. For any changes in your listing, or any additions, call The Bell Telephone Business Office without delay.

And to think Lucien Rivard was at Lower Woodlands, on the outskirts of Chateauguay, all this time! But perhaps on a short time; moreover, one report claims he was preparing to move to another hideout when he was captured. Too bad some of the Chateauguay Gleaner friends couldn't have claimed that reward.

The helicopter that landed in the Ormstown Exhibition Grounds about 6 a.m. Saturday didn't contain parcels of dope or hate literature or anything like that. Seems there is a strike-bound plant in Valleyfield and the pickets won't allow some of the top brass in the building to leave. The parcels contained food and provisions destined for the roof of the building.

Dozens of Huntingdon and Ormstown families, as well as many from Hemmingford, Franklin, Dundee, Chateauguay and Howick people attended the Valleyfield Regatta this past week-end, in addition to about every fifth family living on the south shore of Lake St. Francis. While the bay at Valleyfield was comparatively calm when the water wasn't being churned by the power boats, the lake was choppy and some people planning to attend in small craft decided not to venture out. Vacationers have found the lake quite rough almost every day of the past three weeks. This will change in a matter of hours now, though: Ralph Lepoidevin, who has spent the past twenty summers on Lake St. Francis, says he just overlooked ordering 80-plus temperatures and clear skies this year before taking his three-week holiday.

And from Ian Watson, M.P., Chateauguay-Huntingdon-Laprairie, we received the following: 'Dear Keith: I am enclosing herewith translation of a letter which I have sent to the Minister of Tourism and Fisheries (as a result of an item in This and That in Town').

The Honourable Gerard Cournoyer, Minister of Tourism and Fisheries, Parliament Buildings, Quebec, P.Q.

Dear Mr. Minister:
For many years Lake St. Francis on the St. Lawrence River above Valleyfield was one of the best maskinonge fishing grounds in Canada.

However, recently the annual catch has been steadily decreasing. Your Department is, I believe, stocking maskinonge in Lake St. Louis, and the Ontario people are stocking around Cornwall.

I hope that your Ministry will give serious consideration to restocking Lake St. Francis with young maskinonge. Thank you for your kind attention and co-operation.

Yours respectfully,
Ian Watson, M.P.,
Chat-H'don-Laprairie.

Thank you, Mr. Watson. Your prompt attention to this matter further confirms what everyone in your constituency professes: "Ian Watson attends to business and does every thing in his power for the good of the Chateauguay Valley."

The crew of Bell employees working west of Huntingdon on Route 4, laying underground cable, is making rapid progress. On the job early in the day and hard at it until evening, they are a commendable group of workmen.

Farmers in the Chateauguay Valley who have a Green Giant contract are in a much happier position than those who aren't growing peas and corn for the Jolly Green Giant Cattle thrive on the fresh pea plants that are residue after the machinery at Ste. Martine and St. Louis de Gonzague harvest the peas. Farmers with contracts pay $1 per ton for the fodder and trucks are lined up ten and twelve at a time waiting to load. A Howick farmer told us this week that he took his dairy cows off the pea fodder for two days and production fell about 10% but picked right up when the treat was resumed. With all the current strikes, we just hope Bossy Moo won't strike for a year-round diet of the stuff.

With a low of 45 forecast for tonight (Wednesday) people around these parts are wondering if those alleged flying saucers being reported from various parts of the universe aren't fooling around with our old Mother Nature. She's sure unpredictable at best and we think those saucers better head right back to their own planet(s) and wait a thousand years or so until we visit them.

Now you've all heard of nervy people, but get a load of this: a man visited a new camp at the lake on Sunday and brought along a friend, the friend's wife and their two kids. The owners of the camp weren't around, but their dog (friendly and barking a joyful greeting, was) and at sight of the dog one of the kids began to howl, whereupon the uninvited guest tied the dog to a length of stiff wire (the kind that won't bend) and attached it to a pole. The dog's owner arrived in time to prevent the dog from choking to death as the visitor had tied the wire to the loose end of a choke collar. The character explained 'I tied the dog up because my little boy is afraid of dogs, we just want to look at your camp to see if we like it because we may build one some day.' Fine, build all you want, but if you're going to choke other people's dogs, you'd be further ahead building yourself a pine box... the kind that goes six feet down.

YOICKS AND TALLYHO — Where the skirt length is now decided in Paris, New York, Rome or somewhere else, London still has a lot to say about gents' suitings; and the latest from the British metropolis is a little unnerving, The Financial Post says. By next spring, men, we will all look as if we had just come from a foxhunt. "The classic hunting suit of Edwardian days," an authority says, "is coming back or daytime wear." The "hacking-type jacket" will be long and slim with a "sharply defined waist" and "flares over the hips." After dark the shirt will identify the well-dressed male. Evening shirts will have "bands of pleats or tucks interspersed with jacquard and dotted patterns." More "decorative" ones (does he mean prettier?) will have "jade lattice pattern with broderie anglaise, fly-fronts and bluff-edged cuffs." Having taken that in, The Post comments, one is not surprised to read on and find that Christian Dior and other "maestros of allure are opening boutiques for us. What happens when two of us turn up at the office with identical hacking-type jackets or at a party with identical broderie anglaise?

her of the children were hurt. Mr. Reid suffered shock and cuts and bruises to his left arm and hand. Little Cathy Campbell, granddaughter of Mr. Reid, suffered a fractured jaw and the loss of four teeth and her brother Douglas received bruises and cuts. It is a miracle and a blessing that the injuries were no worse. This is by no means the first accident to happen on this very spot. Just three weeks ago two cars met but the driver of the northbound car (coming from the south) swung to his right and rolled over down the ditch. wer once again expressed. This concludes the story of a "girl" — and "lady" — who devoted her life wholeheartedly to the worthy profession of a teacher for the past forty-two years. — Congratulations for a job well done — GOD BLESS YOU, KEEP YOU AND REWARD YOU, MISS LOIS ELLIOT.

Lois Elliot Retires...

auditorium of the Gault Institute. The organizer of this event was Mr. E. Burgess, with the assistance of a selected committee. This night consisted of a surprise gathering of many past students Miss Elliot had taught, and members of the staff. It was regrettable that all former students could not be located, as if this had been a possibility, the hall would definitely have been packed to the door in honor of this celebration. When Miss Elliot entered the hall, she looked astounded, and it was difficult to digest the fact that she could possibly be of the age for retirement. She was welcomed by a chorus of voices singing, "For you're jolly good teacher" while Mrs. O. Mayoh placed a corsage beneath her shoulder. The group of bygone pupils then rushed forward to smother Miss Elliot with hand shakes, reminiscing words, and expressions of good wishes for her future.

Following this touching moment, Mr. E. Burgess commenced the ceremony of the presentation of a gift. On behalf of those present, and those unable to be present, Mr. Burgess stressed the utmost appreciation to Miss Elliot for her loyalty, patience, learnings, and guidance, which she had so charitably bestowed upon many. He then presented her with a beautiful Longines watch and a purse of money. The inscription on the watch read as follows: — "Lois Elliot, from her former pupils — Gault Institute — 1923 - 1965."

Mr. Burgess called upon Mr. Gaw, a former teacher at the Gault. Mr. Gaw spoke words of great respect in reference to Miss Elliot, and further stated amusing remarks related to her, commenting on a joke which she had played on him when they were both residing at Mrs. Beale's. This brought tremendous applause and laughter from those present. To conclude, Mr. Gaw read a letter which he had received from Dr. Billings of the Department of Education. This was written to Miss Elliott or behalf of her loyal service in the profession as a teacher for the past forty-two years, and stressed utmost praise in regard to her outstanding capabilities in her work, and the great achievements which she had accomplished through these years. This was a letter of honor, and unquestionably earned by a person deserving of such.

The out-of-town guests present were: Mr. and Mrs. Mitti more of Cornwall; Mr. and Mrs. J. Gaw of Quebec City; Mr. and Mrs. McCann of Chateauguay, N.Y.; Mr. and Mrs. M. Cluff of Huntingdon; Mrs. M. Hackwell of Waterloo, Que.; Mrs. I. Bougue of St. Timothee; Mr. and Mrs. Garneau, and others overlooked in the excitement of the evening.

The evening climaxed with the serving of refreshments consisting of sandwiches, cakes and coffee. Those present mingled, enjoying a friendly chat with their fellow students and friends. It was an impossibility not to overhear the many school-day stories being told, and the great "howls" of laughter.

This was a tremendously successful evening, and one we know Miss Elliot will ever cherish within her memories.

On June 22nd., members of the staff of the Gault High School and Elementary School entertained Miss Elliot at the Summerlea Golf Club. At the completion of a buffet luncheon, Miss Getty, assistant principal at the Gault, spoke a few words of gratitude to Miss Elliot for her devoted service to the school, and expressed good wishes for her future. She then presented her with an attractive Samsonite piece of luggage, gratitude of the members of the staff. At this same time, Miss M. Read, who is also retiring this year, was presented with a gift, and warm wishes for her future.

Prior to her departure, the School Board of the Gault Institute surprised Miss Elliot with the gift of an elaborate matching Samsonite pullman case. Words of regret over the loss of a devoted and fine teacher

These talented boys from Montreal all go to college. Avis à nos lecteurs au sujet de la grève possible des postes

Une grève des employés des postes, prévue pour jeudi de cette semaine, semble fort possible au moment où ces lignes sont rédigées. Si tel était le cas, le Gleaner qui dépend en grande partie du service des postes, serait sérieusement dérangé. Pour nous aider, on demande aux annonceurs et aux correspondants de nous faire parvenir leur matériel du mieux qu'ils pourront. Le Gleaner continuera de publier ses éditions aussi longtemps que la grève pourra durer. Les abonnés locaux pourront obtenir leur journal en passant au bureau du Gleaner à Huntingdon. Les kiosques à journaux recevront leurs copies par un système spécial de livraison et peut-être les abonnés de ces régions pourront-ils obtenir leur journal de ces kiosques. De cette façon, on pourra continuer à servir tant les abonnés que les annonceurs durant tout le temps que pourrait durer la grève. Les régions desservies par des livreurs recevront leur journal comme d'habitude. On compte sur votre bonne coopération habituelle. Advenant la réalisation de la grève des employés des postes, nous ferons notre possible pour que vous receviez votre Gleaner comme d'habitude.

Jeunes trouvés dans des hôtels en fin de semaine

Le Bureau de la Police Provinciale à Huntingdon rapporte cette semaine que plusieurs descentes ont été effectuées en fin de semaine dans différents hôtels de la région et qu'environ une vingtaine de jeunes y ont été trouvés. Des mesures seront prises contre eux. On s'attend par ailleurs à ce que d'autres descentes soient effectuées dans un avenir rapproché. Il est à l'encontre de la loi.

La capacité totale du puits quand il est pompé s'élève à

Receives Letter From Mme. Vanier

A letter dated July 15th was sent from Government House Ottawa by Mme Georges Vanier, wife of the Governor-General, to Arnold McNaughton at Hemmingford in reply to a letter dated July 9 from her secretary Mr. Pitfield. The July 9th letter read: "During the course of a recent visit here Lord Mountbatten mentioned to Madame Vanier that you might be able to provide her with information concerning the Madame de St. Laurent with whom Prince Edward is said to have contracted a marriage in the late 18th or early 19th century. "As you know, Her Excellency is a direct descendant of Charles de Salaberry the hero of Chateaugay and a close personal friend of Prince Edward both before and after he became Duke of Kent. Madame de St. Laurent was also well known in the de Salaberry family, and her Excellency would like to discover more about her if that is possible. . . . The letter was answered and he one dated July 15th in Mme Vanier's own writing states as follows (copying on the first three paragraphs): "I received this morning your long and interesting letter in answer to Mr. Pitfield's. "As my Mother's family name is de Salaberry, a direct descendant of Louis Ignace de Salaberry, the Duke of Kent's friend, I am particularly interested in everything that is published on the subject of Madame de St. Laurent and the Duke of Kent. "I imagine you have seen the letters written from Kensington Palace by my great uncle Edouard de Salaberry when he was living with the Duke of Kent and Madame St-Laurent at Kensington Palace in London. This collection of letters is at the National Archives in Ottawa. My mother, Madame de Salaberry Archer, who is still alive and living in Van Vliet Brothers, Leclaire, are the owners of Alderwood Imperial Reunion who has qualified for an approval Type Paris is most interested in everything and anything which can be found out about the Royal Duke. Details follow concerning the various interests involved and which, in view of a story on this very same subject which is to appear in a story by Arnold McNaughton as told to Mollie Gillen in the November issue of CHATELAIN magazine, cannot be entered here until the story becomes public. This story has to do with those who claim to be descendants of the Duke of Kent (Queen Victoria's father) and this Mme. St. Laurent when they lived in Quebec City at the close of the 18th century. The research has so far taken this researcher to our continents and to most of the National Archives in western Europe and eastern Canada in order to prove or disprove such a wide variety of claims."

Chateauguy News Notes

By Fergus Horsburgh

✓ The EXTENSION to Maple School has been started at last! As of Monday morning, July 19th, at 9 a.m. Marcell Reid's pick-up truck and other vehicles were at the site with their surveyor's equipment, and lots of little pegs and sticks, which is the usual preliminary to building.

✓ On driving very slowly around certain parts of the Town, the writer observed an unusual number of new homes in the process of being built. Seignior Park in particular has quite a 'boom' going on at the present time. Another spot is along Vanier and all the streets running off to the left and right. The meadows and orchards are fast disappearing.

✓ Spoke to the Foreman, Mr. Blanchette on the new Post Office building; he tells us that the completion of the building will probably be 'avant Noël'.

✓ On entering the Chateauguy Centre Police Station on Monday a.m. the first thing one noticed was the absence of the portrait on the wall of the famous Lucien Rivard. Neither the Centre or Town Police had any part in the capture. They were just as surprised as most of us were.

✓ During closing ceremonies of CHATO 67's exhibit at the Shopping Plaza last Friday, Chato Chairman Tom McLeod announced that the salute to Expo 67 would be his final performance, but no one took that very seriously!

✓ Chief Senechal reports only a dented fender on a car, their 'major' accident of the past week.

✓ From the Town of Chateauguy Police, these next two items: — At 2.15 a.m., July 17th in front of 452 Youville Blvd two constables No. 107, Pregent and No. 103 Gauthier were following a car, sans lights in the front of the vehicle. The driver lost control, when the police approached and the following ensued: three wooden posts in front of No. 452 broken, five trees in front of No. 456, and two cement posts in front of No. 458 all demolished. The car, a Ford '53 was a total loss; the driver uninjured to appear in court as of July 19th.

✓ On July 17th at 11.30 p.m. a rear end collision at the intersection of Highway 3 and 4 and St. Francis Blvd. saw one woman, Mme Josephine Beraldin, 32 years, 209 Grandjean, Valleyfield to Hospital in Losalle. A large transport (for cars) was stopped at the traffic lights, when the automobile crashed into the rear, causing extensive damage to the front of the car plus a broken windshield. The truck had very minor damage. Both were heading from the direction of Montreal. Constables No. 101, Black and No. 106, Asselin investigated the accident.

✓ Gleaner Correspondent Mrs. Edith Bate is planning a brief holiday with husband Alfred in the Gaspe Peninsula next week.

✓ Chateauguy Heights looks as if it is in the middle of a wartime bombardment, with excavation underway on its new water and sewage system. Extra care should be exercised by parents, as children wandering among heavy construction equipment could so easily come to learn.

✓ Town of Chateauguy has received a resolution from the Centre concerning the digging of the Chateauguy River. The item reported in this column last week. Resolution was adopted by the Town in agreement with the Centre and this has now been sent to Quebec City.

✓ Concerning the two railroad crossing signals that were to be erected: The Board of Transport Commissioners (Federal) have written to the legal advisors of the New York Central Railroad, requesting from them their comments. To date, the firm Hackett & Drummond have not submitted any comments. The Federal Govt. are to send an ordinance to Chateauguy and as soon as received the Town will go ahead with the work on the signals. The crossings involved are Station Road and Notre Dame Street.

✓ Next meeting for the Town of Chateauguy will be August 3rd.

✓ The rat problem on Royal, mentioned in this column last week, is perhaps at the same stage, except that the Town has been placing rat poison around parts of the area.

✓ From Chateauguy Centre the next eleven paragraphs:

(1) Council has received three tenders for the repair of ALL streets. The contract is to be awarded within a few days.

(2) Council has authorized the erection of a fence around Reid Park. Contract also to be awarded in a few days.

(3) Centre had purchased an island in the River, in the Haute Rivière area, in order to install a large water pipe. It has now been decided to build a park on this island. Seavay Nursery have been authorized to place sods and install equipment. Name of the island is "Leo Seers."

(4) A new contract will be signed within a few days with the "Fraternity of Police Department and Chateauguy Centre". This is a collective agreement.

(5) A notice of motion has been given for by-law No. 409 to prohibit construction permits on non-subdivided lots. For instance, one cannot build one's home in the center of a huge parkland lot, and sit back and survey one's estate. There will be NO MORE permits granted unless the lots are subdivided.

(6) An amendment to by-law No. 496 (nuisance by-law) specifies that any contractor building houses must remove stones, earth and any other unsightly debris, etc. within seven days of the completion of the work.

(7) By-law No. 498 adopted to amend the zoning by-law No. 212 on lot P.97 to authorize apartment houses on lots No. 97, 80, 81, 82, 83, 84 and 85. This by-law is to be submitted to the Electors meeting on August 4th, 1965.

(8) By-law No. 503 also adopted to install curbstones, enlarge paving, and for surface drains on part of Laval and St. Mary's Streets. Electors meeting for this is July 26th.

(9) By-law No. 505 for the execution of macadam and paving on streets bearing the numbers 199-2 and 199-8. (It is quite evident that these streets have no names yet). At an electors meeting on July 22nd, this will be discussed.

(10) Council has adopted a pension plan for all employees of the Centre.

(11) Notice of motion has been given for installation of water ONLY, on Ste. Marguerite Range (Industrial Park).

✓ I hear that the reason for the Ville de Lery Police Force's non-participation in the sensational recapture of Lucien Rivard was that the said Force was taking his annual vacation!

✓ Certain citizens of Woodlands are rightfully indignant with some reporters' ideas in describing their picturesque community. Quote, "Woodlands, a nondescript summer community." After viewing some of the homes on last year's Historical Society Tour, one could hardly say it was 'nondescript'.

✓ News from the Catholic School Board, courtesy of Mr. Casavant: In the Concordia Development, area of Seignior Park, they had applied to Quebec for approval to build an Elementary School, consisting of 18 classrooms and 2 kindergarten classes. Preliminary sketches are being prepared by the architect, Mr. Roland Dumais of Montreal. It is not expected to have the school ready for occupancy until late Spring, 1966.

✓ Also another school (close to the new St. Paul's) will be built, same size as the Seignior one. Sketches have already been approved by Quebec for this school. General area is Champlain Blvd. and St. Joseph Street. These two schools will be equipped with the very latest and most modern facilities.

Soccer Highlights

Loisirs St. Jean Baptiste withdrew all their teams with out permission from the Chateauguy Soccer League; consequently they have been suspended from the League for the remainder of the 1965 season.

A special meeting of the Soccer League was held Wed. July 14th, to discuss a request by the Loisirs St. Jean Baptiste to enter their Atomosquito, Pee Wee and Bantam teams in the Jacques Cartier League. The request was turned down on the grounds that it was not in the best interests of the League for any one team to play in 2 separate leagues. When one considers that boys as young as 6 years of age play in these teams and that the schedules of the 2 leagues will undoubtedly conflict, then the League's decision appears to be justified.

On hearing the League's decision, Mr. J. Patenaude representing the Loisirs, stated that all his teams would be withdrawn from the league forthwith.

The Loisirs team, named the Legionnaires, have served some excellent soccer in the past and it is with great regret that we see them forsake the Chateauguy Soccer League.

Results received for the 3 weeks ending Sunday, July 18th.

Wade Henny, well-known to Seignior Parkers as the former Pool Manager at the Beach Club, was featured on local television channels last Friday evening. Wade is now Manager of Woodlands Recreation Association, and as such gave permission last Friday to the R.C.M.P. to launch their boat at the nearby yacht club jetty, as a precautionary measure in case Lucien Rivard attempted to evade recapture via the lake.

Seignior Park Soft-Ball Old Timers had a good 9-4 win over Terrace, the Sunday before last. The game was played at the Seignior Park sports ground.

I hear that a number of Northern Development home owners may be called upon to staff the new multi-million dollar Northern Electric sheet metal plant in Vaudeuil.

Apparently I am not the only gooseberry addict in Seignior Park, as I saw a number of berry-laden bushes in a recent stroll around Woodbine Park. I should point out to fellow-gardeners that the fruit, to be enjoyed fully, should be picked and stewed while still green. Left to ripen on the bush, the gooseberry is not at its best when fully ripe, i.e. red. It is relatively tasteless and rather uninspiring fruit at that stage. Presumably this is why the gooseberry has never been very popular in Canada. Stewed green, with sugar to taste and a good dollop of whipped cream, it has a delicacy of flavour hard to match.

My son Brian and I had our annual game of tennis on the Heights Courts last Saturday. How sad that these fine courts were otherwise unused on a lovely sunny afternoon.

The Pezray man came along last week and sprayed mosquitoes. For a couple of Seignior Parks Gardens for evenings it was an unaccustomed pleasure to sit out in our deck-chairs free of the mosquito pest. At the moment of writing, alas, they seem to be building up their attack once again.

Parents of wee ones who will be attending nursery school were advised last week-end of plans by the Seignior Park Co-operative Pre-School Association for the coming school year. Registration is scheduled for August 9th. Chairman Mrs. Pat Bedard states that opening date for the school has been set for October 4th.

Our Pee Wee Soccer team gained their first win of the season in a game against the strong Terriers team on our home ground Tues. July 13th. Our boys won by a score of 3 goals to 1 after being 3 goals to 1 down at half time which is a very convincing performance. All our boys played extremely well; three of them deserving a special mention: Grant Wilson and Alan Frost for their great performance and Paul Fletcher who stopped many hard shots in his debut in goal as a last minute substitute. Goal scorers for Seignior Park: Grant Wilson, Alan Frost (2) Lionel Ryan, Robin Hewitt and Terry Murphy.

The Mosquito soccer team has been out of action for approximately 2 weeks and they will continue to be so for another week or so. This is due primarily to the number of boys on vacation from what is already an understaffed team.

Paying a welcome visit "home" is Mrs. Jocelyn Werry, former Chairman of the Pre-School Association. Jocelyn is staying with Mr. and Mrs. MacConnell of Montcalm and will be followed shortly by her husband, Dr. John Werry. Dr. Werry's taped interview by Pierre Berton was telecast three weeks ago.

Dear Ann Landers: Last month our daughter was married. The groom's cousin, who is an amateur photographer, asked if he could take pictures of the wedding. We agreed.

Our daughter and her husband returned from their honeymoon a few days ago. Last night they brought the pictures over to the house and we are just sick. There are 63 pictures of THEIR side of the family and only 21 pictures of our side look as if he waited to catch us looking like imbeciles. It's hard to believe he got pictures like that by accident.

Our daughter says we should give him $20 "for his trouble". I say we should give him a punch in the mouth and a book on how to take pictures. What do you say? — VERY DARNED DISAPPOINTED.

Dear Very: I say it's unfortunate that the pictures were disappointing but I'm sure the young man didn't do a poor job intentionally.

Buy him a modest gift and say "thank you". And next time you want pictures of a special occasion hire a professional photographer.

Dear Ann Landers: It's after midnight and for the umpteenth time my next door neighbors have awakened me saying good-bye to guests. It's always the same routine — "Good night Josephine, Good night Newton. We had a lovely time. We'll give you a call. Next time our house". Then the guests give a final foot on the horn, and the dog poots in his two cents worth.

In addition to the noise, these neighbors have spotlights in their backyard, which would blind a person. Should I write them a letter, give them a phone call, pay them a visit or shout some obscenity out of the window and see if that doesn't shut them up? — BLEARY EYED LOUISE.

Dear Bleary: Obscenity shouting is for fishwives. A letter or phone call is cowardly. Talk to your neighbors in person. Some people only need to be told.

Awkward and self-conscious? Unsure of yourself. Write for Ann Landers' booklet, "The Key to Popularity", enclosing with your request 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Gleaner, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Memorandum From McLeod

Here I am once more, after another fast drive to Rawdon. And back again of course this time with our son, Steven. Today, Monday, the 19th, he finally received his new bicycle, a reward for passing from Grade Five into six. Who had the first ride on the bike? Father Bate naturally. Great excitement!

This week, Friday the 23rd of July, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Berry of Hillsdale Drive, will celebrate forty-six years of happily wedded bliss. Most sincere good wishes to you both, and many more years of happiness in the future.

Another celebration or I should say two, will be in the Harris household. That is the Harris' of Lang Avenue. June H. will be 21 on the 10th of July, and Les has his birthday on the 27th, at which we will celebrate his 23rd. (Second time around I'm sure). Lots of best wishes to both. And just in case I forget, for next week's column, Les and June will be 20 years old on August 4th. That is the china anniversary. I believe. After 20 years that means you are supposed to top throwing the dishes at one another. All teasing aside — Happy Anniversary!

Sandra MacDonald will be 11 years old on July 27th. Sandra lives on Hillsdale Drive, and we'd like to wish her an especially nice birthday wish at this time.

How did you like that disconcerting description of our neighbouring town, Woodlands, on the TV news last Friday? Which just proves that you shouldn't believe all you hear on the T.V. or radio. I've been wondering if the noted person captured last Friday, passed us at various times over at the Shopping Center. Perhaps he had other things to do this shopping for him.

Visitors from Merrie Olde England are Mr. and Mrs. D. Fisher and their daughter Linda from Liverpool. We would like to welcome them here to Chateauguy, where they are guests of Mrs. Fisher's sister, Mrs. Len Perrigo of Hillsdale Drive. Hope they enjoy the hospitality of Canadians. When you return to Liverpool, give our love to The Beatles!

The African violets are still blooming all over the place, in our basement. Some of the younger plants are in bud. These are the ones started on April 24th. If all goes well, I think I'll have my own African violets. Show when the holidays are all over.

Next Sunday at Maplewood Presbyterian Church will be the last 9.30 a.m. service in July. In August please note that the services will be at 11.00 a.m. only, when Rev. Gerald Doran of St. Edward's, Beauharnois, will be in charge.

At St. George's Anglican Church, the Rev. Michael Lloyd will be Celebrant at both the 8 a.m. and 9.15 a.m. Holy Communion services, July 25th.

Well, I'll just finish off with a little joke: "We all make mistakes, the architect covers his with earth, and the bride covers hers with mayonnaise".

Dear Sir:

It was with much interest that I read in your latest edition that people living adjacent to Reid Park are complaining about balls being knocked on their properties.

That is true. It is not the end fire story. A visit to Reid Park during a baseball game would acquaint anyone with what is actually happening.

Since this park was opened a few weeks ago there has been a continuous battle between public and private property owners. It was an unfortunate decision to place the back stop fence and grandstands where they are instead of at the other side of the park where there are no homes. The person and persons responsible for this decision admit that the original site was to have been at the corner of Cartier and Beurling streets but because the sun is in the West at 3.00 p.m. when the games are held some of the youthful players on and about third base would have the sun shining in their eyes so it was decided we are to locate the diamond practically in people's back yards with the result that three or four evenings per week one cannot sit in his back yard without being exposed to danger from flying baseballs and if one objects receiving abuse from players and fans.

We are told that it would be too expensive to move the site to the other side of the park and this is an admission in itself that an error has been made. These are the ones started on April 24th. If all goes well, I think I'll have my own African violets. Show when the holidays are all over.

A few of the present executive of the Home Owners Association have indicated that they do not intend to seek re-election next September when the new Association year starts. However, several have stated that they are willing to run again, so some continuity in the office-bearers seems assured. It should be a wide-open election, and with the ever-increasing scope of Association Activity, there should be no lack of well-qualified candidates. It is hoped that the new residential area above the transmission-line will be adequately represented.

NITRO NEWS

(Mrs. E. St. Onge)

My husband and I had a wonderful trip over a very busy holiday week-end to and from Matamoros, Pa., two weeks ago with such a happy Sunday to remember. Here we were so very thankful to know we were leaving the store in the trusty hands of two old friends, Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Laplante. Miss Rolande Benjamin was her sister's helper and Miss Eileen Keays, who has been our right hand "man" for quite a few weeks was "Johnny on the spot" to help all she could too.

This week-end we were so very glad to welcome Lawrence and Barbara and her parents here again. They had hoped to come for the regatta and this was a very pleasant experience for Barbara and Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland. Sunday evening came all too soon and it was time to say "Bye" to our son and the lovely daughter he has given to us, also her parents who have become such good friends. Right now it takes a long time to drive to and from Matamoros, I'm looking forward to the time — within two years I hear — when the Thruway will be all finished and we will then be able to sail along for many miles more over it and by passing the old route 9 which is so crooked and narrow, and get here and back in a much shorter time.

Throughout the various phases of Dr. Scott's ministry he has served and worked in many different relationships. At one time he produced a weekly, syndicated news column called "The Press Pulpit". He was chaplain, and is outbreak of war. During the years 1927 to 1940, St. Luke's United Church, Montreal, was the scene of Dr. Scott's labours and it was while he ministered there that the present beautiful sanctuary was erected. Previous to his ministry in St. Luke's Dr. Scott had served in Carleton Place, Ont., and in Ste. Therèse, P.Q. where he went immediately after ordination. In the same year that he was ordained, Robert Dewitt Scott was married to Florence Edna Pearson, a graduate of Toronto University and of the Ontario College of Education. Mrs. Scott is also the holder of diplomas in Physical Training and Religious Education.

Their family consists of two both married. Charles is associated with the N.D.G. Photo Supply Ltd., and Carolyn now lives in Kingston where her husband is an official of C.I.L.

Perhaps it is worth noting that Dr. Scott came into the active ministry from a teaching position in the English Department of McGill University, immediately after the First World War.

His degrees are from McGill, Harvard, The Presbyterian College and The United Theological College which conferred on him the Doctor of Divinity degree (honoris causa) in 1949.

During his years as a student, Dr. Scott served mission fields in Saskatchewan and in Northern Ontario. In addition he spent a year travelling in the interests of the Student Movement and was one of the founders of the Student Christian Movement in Canada before entering McGill, he was a chemist's assistant in one of Canada's large flour mills. These activities and experiences have all become part of a rich background for service in the church; and Dr. Scott is strongly of the opinion that parish work and preaching, the teaching of the young and the instruction of adults is today's great opportunity. He declares that he was exceedingly happy, in the Army, and for the last seven years in an administrative position, but that he is confident he will be still happier in the work of a minister serving a growing community such as Chateauguy Centre.

Although Dr. Scott's Ministry in Chateauguy Centre will commence on August 1st, official induction ceremonies have been postponed until the Fall, to enable other local Ministers to share in the welcome to the distinguished addition to their ranks. Rev. Howard Fraser of St. Andrew's United Church is known to be a close personal friend of Dr. Scott.

To Renew Wrought Iron
Renewing wrought iron is easy if you follow these tips. First, clean thoroughly. Next, sand away any traces of rust. Prime the spots of bare metal with a quality metal primer such as zinc chromate. Let the primed areas dry, then apply a quality enamel.

thrilled to meet him and hear about the family in Cordoba. Our other guests all from Cordoba were, Santiago Insua, Osvaldo Fada, Hugo Alberto Fuyane, Jose Hugo Escobar. On Sunday we had three more guests call in to visit the young men, two brothers Alberto and Carlos San Martin and Chari Martines, who drove down from Toronto, but who originally hail from Spain. It was a very enjoyable week-end for us all and made me realize that I have one important thing I must do for future visits. Learn Spanish, for even though they all spoke a bit of English, Spanish ruled the roost.

And that's about all for this week folks.

Now that the Raspberry Season is here thought some of you homemakers might like to try using up some of those berries in a cake.

Raspberry Cake
2 cups flour
1/2 tsp. baking powder
1/4 tsp. salt
(from the above take out 1/4 cup of flour to coat the berries)
Place in a bowl: 1/4 cup shortening — 1/2 cup sugar

Beat together until light and fluffy then add:
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
2 egg yolks
1/4 cup milk

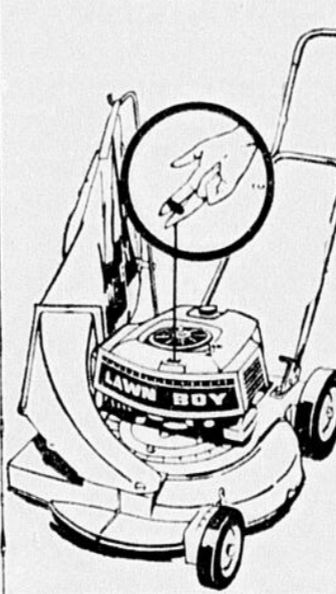

Add the sifted dry ingredients and stir until smooth. Stir in the stiffly beaten egg whites and lastly stir in the floured berries. Turn in to greased cake pan and bake for 30 minutes in a 375 degree oven.

Handy Hints For Homemakers

A few drops of vinegar added to water will freshen the salad leaves if they have become wilted.
If you want to pretty up your cucumbers, after peeling it take a fork and scrape the sides from top-to-bottom. Scrape down hard. Then slice your cucumber. This will leave a little design around each slice. So pretty and so easy.

Chato 67 Closing Ceremonies Held

By Fergus Horsburgh

Chato 67, Chateauguay Centre's Salute to Expo 67 closed its doors last Friday night after its two-weeks colourful display of Expo exhibits some 3,500 guests had signed Chato 67's guest book, and it is estimated that in all, some 5,000 people from points as far apart as Miami, California, Vancouver and Newfoundland had visited the exhibit.

At the closing ceremonies, Chato 67 Chairman Mr. Thomas McDade was accompanied by Federal M.P. Mr. Ian Watson, Centre Acting — Mayor Edouard Reid and Centre Secretary Mr. Sarto Blais. Seven of the 14 Miss Chateauguay who have acted as guides throughout the exhibit were on hand for the final "lights out" — the Misses Joan Taylor, Iris Glenn, Judy Geppert, Linda Priest-Brown, Brenda Toop, Linn Nielsen and Sandra Watson. Without disclosing names, Mr. McDade stated that his committee would recommend a number of the guides to Expo 67 for future duty on the real thing when the World's Fair opens less than two years from now.

LOIS ELLIOT RETIRES AFTER 42 YEARS OF TEACHING AT GAULT INSTITUTE, VALLEYFIELD

(By Mrs. P. Stewart)

This column is dedicated to Miss Lois Elliot for her innumerable worthy accomplishments during her forty-two years service at the Gault Institute, Valleyfield.

MISS LOIS ELLIOT

I think a most appropriate manner in which to start this write-up, centered around "this is your life", would be to quote a verse which Miss Lois Elliot placed within my autograph book in the year 1943. These were not just words which she had memorized, as "proof is value," and Miss Lois Elliot lived, characterized by her spontaneous expression of feeling of this lyric. —

"This above all: to thine own self be true And it must follow, as the night — the day, Thou canst not then be false to any man. Shakespeare's - Hamlet. Our hats are raised to Miss Elliot for her unfeigned belief in living by the words of this poet.

Miss Lois Elliot was born and raised with her brother, Wallace, and her sister, Ruby, in Howick, Quebec. The Elliots are a well known, and admired family in Howick and the surrounding districts. Mrs. Elliot, Sr., is at the moment one of the oldest, if not the oldest resident in Howick, celebrating her 99th birthday on June 21st of this year.

After completion of her time in Grade school and High school, Miss Lois Elliot entered Macdonald College to take up training as a teacher; passing her course with high honours. She then commenced her career in teaching at the Gault Institute, Valleyfield, in the year 1923, and after forty-two years of loyal service, is now retiring in this present year of 1965. During these many years, Miss Elliot taught grades three, four, three and four combined, six and seven combined, and the majority of her years, teaching grade seven. During such time, she taught under the supervision of the following principals, Mr. Ferguson, Mr. Campbell, Mr. McLeish, Mr. Ferris, Mr. Garneau, and Mr. Wilson. As the years passed and this school continually progressed in development, Miss Elliot grew with this school, stable as a tree that blooms from good earth, and in doing so, she observed the tremendous amount of changes, be it the text books, the building, the pupils, the staff, or even the old wooden sidewalk which the youngsters were out to remove and hide every Hallowe'en night.

Yes, Miss Elliot holds a full and unforgettable book of treasured memories of the Gault Institute.

It would be a most incomplete statement to say that Miss Elliot was merely a teacher now retiring after 42 years of service, as this would not justify the full merit deserving of such a great woman. Miss Elliot was more than "just" a teacher, she was "a prize", and a "God given gift", in her profession. Throughout her 42 years, her pupils were not just a group of children, no, in her heart, each child was her individual responsibility, to be corrected when wrong, praised when right, comforted in times of distress, but, mainly to be analysed and loved, and dealt with in accordance to their own independent natures and capabilities. It is through her devoted interest, understanding, patience, and guidance that Miss Elliot accomplished the glory bestowed upon her name through the past years and now, in the time of her retirement. This cannot be classified in a glory which all the riches in the world could buy; it is far superior, as this is a "victory of all victories!" Miss Elliot is imbedded deeply and lives within the hearts of approximately 1,200 pupils; loved with a sincere, devoted respect, and an utmost gratitude for the learnings and knowledge which she was so greatly responsible in helping to provide to the many of today. How very often are these praising words spoken in recognition of her name. She will ever remain an "idol," for her manifest qualifications in her profession, and her uncompromising nature in the belief of living by that which was unquestionably justified.

Another Vacation Bible School At Calvary Baptist Church

Following the custom of the churches in summer time, Calvary Baptist, on Dubois Crescent at St. Joseph's Blvd., takes its turn July 26 to July 30. The sessions will be held in the church from 9 to 11:45. The lessons are based on Scripture Press Publications' "Preaching Christ our Peace". There will be four general age groups from 4 years to teens. Ten teachers will participate and if the attendance exceeds 100, more will be called in to help. It is hoped and expected that every household in Chateauguay will want their children to attend. Besides impressing the great truths of God's Word upon our minds we learn to work happily in groups in the pleasant atmosphere of worship and praise. Related handwork will be a daily exercise. Missionary activity will also be portrayed by illustrated stories. We hope to have a really worth-while week with the Young Folk of Chateauguay. If possible students should bring a Bible, Crayons, Scissors, a needle and thread. The director says we should bring as much cheerfulness as we can too.

Near Fatal Car Smash At St. Francis Traffic Lights

By Fergus Horsburgh

Late last Saturday night a south-bound Vauxhall driven by Mr. Beraldin of Valleyfield ran into the rear of a Charleston Transport car-carrier which had halted at the traffic lights on Routes 3 and 4 at St. Francis Boulevard. Accompanying the driver was his wife Mrs. Josephine Beraldin, aged 32, who was treated by Dr. Jean Lafleur and taken to LaSalle General Hospital in critical condition, suffering a broken nose and leg. Provincial, Centre and Town Police, sharing jurisdiction of this stretch of the highway, investigated the accident.

The Beraldin vehicle sustained extensive damage, and the carrier only minor dents.

of the children of the Gault Institute, and who inspired her pupils to believe that: —

"No River so deep that an arm can swim,
No wall so steep but a foot can climb."
This edition of "Crossroads" is affectionally dedicated.

"No illumined parchment reads 'well done' But living satellites proclaim your worth."

During her years in Valleyfield, Miss Elliot did not only revolve her life around teaching, she held an interest in various organizations and activities of interest. She was an active member in the Chateauguay Valley Teachers' Association, holding the offices of secretary and treasurer. Much of her interest revolved around church work, in which she was also a member of the W.M.S. For recreation, Miss Elliot was a member of the Valleyfield Evening Section Curling Club and held the offices of Chairman and Match Committee.

Chairman and proved of great value to the club in both these positions. In the year of 1963-64, Miss Elliot thought that it might be a good pastime and experience for the senior Girls to learn to curl, therefore, she personally organized and supervised instructions to the girls in this sport. Mrs. Elliot is noted as possessing skill in leather craft work, and she taught this skill to the boys in her class. As many of the older pupils will remember at one time, she also instructed the girls in her class in lessons on sewing and knitting, and even purchased a small knitting loom to add additional learning and interest. Even the boys became intrigued in this little machine. Oh, there is still very much more which is hidden in that skeleton's closet, but, as Miss Elliot is a modest person, much shall ever remain hidden. As the saying goes, "All good things must come to an end." In this year of 1965, Miss Elliot is retiring from the Gault Institute, Valleyfield. This is a sad day, and one all regret deeply. The fortunate are those who had the honour of having been one of her pupils, and they are sorry for those who were denied the opportunity of such a privilege.

Yes, Miss Elliot has retired, but these are merely words, as she is as part of the solid stone structure of the Gault Institute; although she will not be there day by day, her memory will ever remain as important and stable as the construction of this building.

Two Accidents At St. Timothee

In reports of accidents during the past week-end, the following appeared as having occurred at St. Timothee, in our area.

At 2:40 a.m. on Saturday, Alfred Luzon, 32, of Montreal was killed when struck by a car while walking on Route 3 in St. Timothee.

Freddie Masson, 32, of 1213 Ropery St., Montreal, was killed Friday night when his car ran off a highway near St. Timothee.

Lucien Rivard Recaptured In Chateauguay Outskirts

By Fergus Horsburgh

Woodlands, the beautiful secluded residential area of Ville de Lery (Pop. 1800) came awake with a bang last Friday evening, and could hardly believe it had been catapulted into the world's spotlight.

Rumours spread quickly as commuters returned home for the weekend. "Lucien Rivard captured in Woodlands" said the rumours. "What would they think of next?"

Then came an unconfirmed report on a local radio station — surely this was carrying the joke too far? But gradually, as the evening wore on, came the realization that the incredible was really true, and that Lucien Rivard, Canada's most-wanted and most-publicized man, had been taken, just across the waters of Lake St. Louis from the former residence of another much-wanted man, the absent Hal Banks.

The brown and yellow house, not far from the Lery-Chateauguay roads junction, was reported as leased by Mrs. Birch to an impeccable couple, accompanied by an eight-year-old girl. Wade Kenney, Manager of the nearby Woodlands Recreation Association willingly granted permission to the R.C.M.P. to launch their patrol boat from the Yacht Club pier. Chief Sable boat instructor Robin Wood, greeting the returning Mounties, suddenly found himself the possessor of the hottest piece of news in Canada, but was frustrated to find local radio stations skeptical of his scoop.

Curiosity-seekers from Greater Montreal by the hundreds flocked to Lery over the weekend, and found that a civic-minded person had added dreds flocked to Lery over the to the sign the words "Home of Lucien Rivard". Perhaps we have witnessed the start of a new local industry — Lucien Rivard Souvenirs. Or a new historic site — Lucien Rivard Slept Here!

A Woodlands weekender, who refused further to identify himself, told me that he was a moonlighting fish curer and that in search of cedar wood for his smoke furnace, he had wandered close to the Rivard hideout, and had seen what he later realized must have been Rivard strolling in the garden. A local entrepreneur whose clients had previously been wasted made himself a poster which he placed in his chest, reading "Informations. $1 par fois". He was "business, and made enough to pay the rent for a while. The general reaction was one of relief, although all the resultant publicity was something Ville de Lery felt it could well have done without. Mr. Ian Watson, M.P., in neighbouring Chateauguay Centre for Chato 67's closing ceremonies, expressed the view, pronounced later that evening by his Party Chief, Prime Minister Lester Pearson, that this was wonderful news. "The whole image of Government — and I don't mean the Liberal Party — has been damaged by the Rivard affair," said Mr. Watson, "and this will help restore confidence in all the law-enforcement agencies. It will give our detractors something else to think about!"

Amen. But will Woodlands, Ville de Lery and Chateauguay ever be the same again?

In conclusion, may we just say, "thank you" Miss Lois Elliot. "For everything!" When the golden sun is setting, and from every care you're free, While of others you are thinking, won't you sometimes think of "we"!

Think of us at times when lonely, leave for us one little spot, In the heart of your affection, plant a sweet — "For-Get-Me-Not."

With Love, Pupils, Staff and Acquaintances.

With respect for a fine woman, and a great teacher, Miss Elliot received innumerable surprises before her departure from the Gault Institute and Valleyfield.

On behalf of her faithfulness, and many performed duties in the Evening Section Curling Club, the ladies presented Miss Elliot with a souvenir of a sterling silver spoon, forwarding expressions of regret over losing such a worthy member, and "a good curler."

The ladies of the Presbyterian Church held an evening in honor of Miss Elliot, and presented her with a gold bracelet. The ladies expressed wishes for a happy and prosperous future. The evening climaxed with the serving of delicious refreshments. The hostesses for this occasion were the ladies of the W.M.S.

Miss Elliot received an additional and touching surprise from the Student Council of the Gault Institute, who presented her with forty-two silver dollars, one for each of her forty-two years of service to the school. Once again, words of regret were emphasized over her retirement and the great loss to the Gault.

Dr. Dewitt Scott New Minister Of Chateauguay Centre United Church

By Fergus Horsburgh

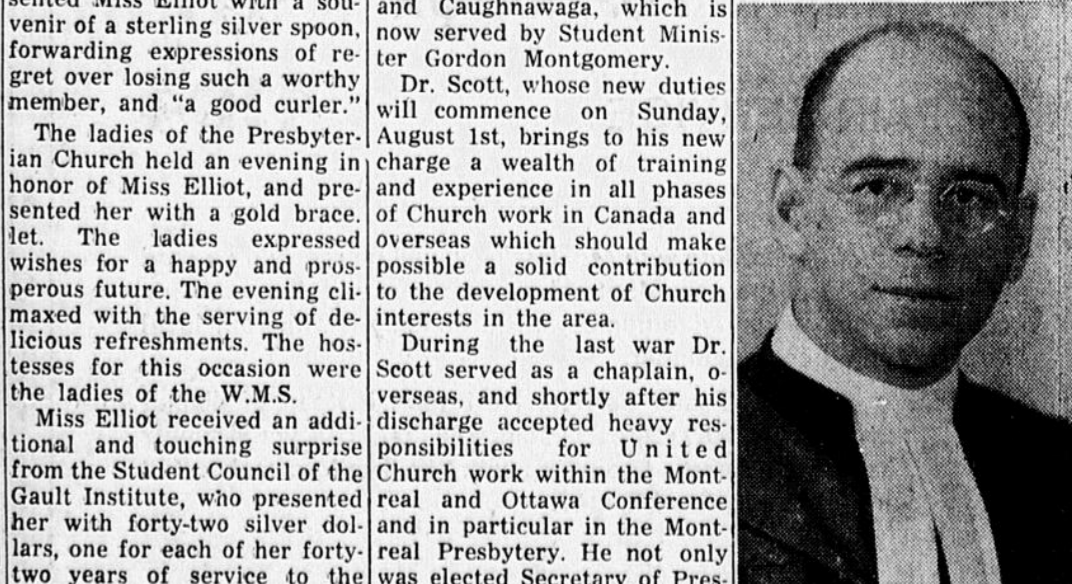

The United Church in Chateauguay Centre has been successful in obtaining the services of an outstanding churchman for the first Minister exclusively its own. Rev. R. Dewitt Scott, M.A., B.D., D.D., has been appointed to Chateauguay Centre by the Montreal Presbytery and the Board of Home Missions of the United Church of Canada. Dr. Scott succeeds the Rev. Douglas Dunn of the lay supply who has moved to a three-point country charge in Finch, Ontario. Mr. Dunn was formerly jointly in charge of congregations in the Centre and Caughnawaga, which is now served by Student Minister Gordon Montgomery.

Dr. Scott, whose new duties will commence on Sunday, August 1st, brings to his new charge a wealth of training and experience in all phases of Church work in Canada and overseas which should make possible a solid contribution to the development of Church interests in the area.

During the last war Dr. Scott served as a chaplain, overseas, and shortly after his discharge accepted heavy responsibilities for United Church work within the Montreal and Ottawa Conference and in particular in the Montreal Presbytery. He not only was elected Secretary of Presbytery but also Secretary of The Finance and Extension Board. In this latter connection Dr. Scott found himself confronted with the dual problems of no funds and constant appeals for assistance.

Under his leadership over a million dollars was realized, and then loaned or "invested" in new causes. Sites were secured as in our community and work started in new districts throughout greater Montreal. When this project had reached a stage where it could continue to operate on a sound basis, Dr. Scott relinquished his post, and is now prepared to return to pastoral work which he left at the (Continued on page 6A)

Editorial Notes...

New Gleaner Features

Of all organizations and groups given free boosting and publicity in a year's time, perhaps the newspaper itself receives among the least. This, one might truthfully point out, is nobody's fault but the publishers. In the case of The Gleaner, we advertise regularly that we operate a commercial printing department and offer photography service and admittedly our printing goes from coast to coast in Canada, mainly because quality work is done in the printery, at a reasonable cost.

On occasion, we reproduce one of the letters from a satisfied reader who tells us The Gleaner is steadily improving, but generally this is only if the reader is a former resident of the area now living in another part of the country. For all of this, we are quite human and we do derive satisfaction when we are told we are doing a good job. Conversely, we receive complaints, too: one lady subscriber in Montreal wrote this week saying that for three consecutive issues she had received only one section of her Gleaner; some years ago, there was a feeling in Hemmingford that that part of our area wasn't receiving proper news coverage. Some complaints may be remedied immediately, such as the Montreal lady who only received part of her newspaper: a talk with Postmaster Jim O'Hare informed us how the service can be improved and we are doing it. In the case of Hemmingford, it has been covered in an excellent manner for several years now.

The Gleaner is constantly trying to improve and to serve every district in the Chateauguy Valley, one as much as any other.

When Bill Smiley's column "Sugar And Spice" was introduced on a regular basis some years ago, it was recommended to us by one of the most successful weekly newspaper publishers in Canada. It is no secret to anyone that most of our readers would be greatly disappointed if this column was ever discontinued (heaven forbid). In last week's issue, we introduced "Ann Landers", one of the most popular syndicated features in the most prominent Canadian daily newspapers. The Gleaner hadn't been out two hours before the first call was received asking if the column would be a regular feature. Now, this week, we have subscribed to another popular feature, "To Your Good Health" by Dr. Joseph G. Molner.

The Gleaner is pleased to augment its columns with these quality features. Frankly, our wastebaskets fill up every day with "filler copy" and promotional schemes, but readers are well aware that very little filler is ever used in The Gleaner. Ann Landers and Dr. Molner columns were only recently made available to selected weekly newspapers and if these columns prove as popular as Sugar And Spice, we will consider our money well invested.

Our Fairs and Societies

Country Fairs are as much a part of Canadians' lives as are June Examinations to our students: both come about once a year and in nine times out of ten, one custom is as old as the other. Last month, the Ormstown Fair was held, and it was bigger and better than ever as predicted in these columns. Again, all records for attendance were broken and again there were more entries in all classes than ever. Next month, the annual Huntingdon Fair sponsored by Huntingdon Agricultural Society Division 'A' will be held and we doubt if anyone has to be told that this Fair has taken great forward strides in recent years and the 1965 Huntingdon Fair will be the biggest and best ever, too. Then, the second Saturday in September, the greatest little one-day Fair ever, Havelock Fair sponsored by Huntingdon Agricultural Society Division 'B', will wind up the local Fairs for 1965.

Referring to something being held two months or so from now may seem to be rushing the season, so to speak, but days and weeks slip quickly by. Have you stopped to consider the year is more than half gone now, that the days are getting noticeably shorter again? We aren't saying that we'll soon be reading 'only 60 more shopping days until Christmas' for a while yet, but we do want you to know that officials and directors of both Huntingdon and Havelock Fairs have been on the job for months, just as members of Ormstown Fair Board were working behind the scenes to ensure the success of Ormstown Ex., "The Little Royal", long before opening night.

Huntingdon Fair Prize List will be going to press in a few days. Havelock Fair officials were in the Gleaner Office last week and we are expecting their copy shortly. It won't be long after that until the secretaries will be receiving entries, and that is what we are coming to. How many people are planning to exhibit for the first time? Just read over the prize list: livestock, horses, cattle, sheep, swine, goats, poultry, etc.; baking, handicrafts, flowers, fruits and vegetables, photography and dozens more. Almost every second person would be eligible to enter something in one of the many classes. Now is the time to give this a little thought. The Fair Officials can make plans and do the spawork to make the events successful, but it is up to each individual to make their own entries. The more the merrier, and local fairs are yours just as much as the next person's.

Finally, we at The Gleaner were more than a little pleased when John K. Dickson, 1965 President of Ormstown Exhibition, wrote telling us that all records had been broken this year and that he wanted to thank The Gleaner personally for whole-hearted support. That was one letter we took pleasure in reproducing. Then, when Thos. Brooks and Stanley McNeil, secretaries of Huntingdon Fair and Havelock Fair respectively, each told us last week that response to soliciting advertisers for the two prize lists is better than ever, we were busting out all over because both told us The Gleaner can claim a good share of the responsibility of making local fairs so successful.

Well, thanks sincerely. We feel if something is good for the Chateauguy Valley and good for the people, we want to be behind it. A few weeks ago we wrote about a movement that is good for the Chateauguy Valley but that was slipping away from its original idea. In fact, that original idea was fostered right here at The Gleaner by the late Adam L. Sellar, publisher of The Gleaner until his death. We refer to the Chateauguy Valley Historical Society. Our criticism was justified and it hurt where the shoe pinched, in fact one person said he was going to cancel, or did cancel, his subscription. However, a little pressure from news editor Sid Smith's pen had the desired effect and we predict a Chateauguy Valley Historical Society everyone will be proud of and support. Incidentally, no individual's toes were stepped on intentionally, but we do want all toes to kick the ball, together, so hard that it goes right out of the field and the original plans are far surpassed.

In order that this be achieved, and to carry out new plans of merit envisioned, it is imperative that everyone pitch in. When Upper Canada Village was started, the countryside for miles around was scoured for antique pieces. The same at Fort Chambly and other well-known museums and historical sites. Donald Watson is in charge of the Chateauguy Valley Historical Society museum project and in advertisements in The Gleaner he is requesting that all persons owning relics of bygone days that would be of interest to visitors to a museum, send them to any one of a dozen or so persons whose homes will be receiving-depots for the antiques. As noted in the article regarding the recent meeting at Allan's Corners, the front page of last week's Gleaner, Bernard Bolter has offered to pick up any such article, too. Or, if you wish, send them to The Gleaner, Huntingdon, marked "For The Chateauguy Valley Museum". From time to time, all donations will be acknowledged in this newspaper.

SUGAR AND SPICE by Bill Smiley

THE HOLIDAY

Next person who chuckles at me, "Huh. Nothing to do now until school opens in September, eh?" is going to get a punch right on the nose, even if it's a dear, little, old lady who says it.

That's how I feel about things after three weeks of "holidays" from teaching school. If the rest of the summer is anything like this they'll be putting fresh sod over me about the middle of August.

It all began innocently enough, when two kids stole a taxi while the driver was having a beer, rammed it into the side of my car, across from the tavern and vanished.

Next day, I had to dash a round trip to the city of 200 miles with my daughter, for her final teeth-straightening appointment. The whole deal cost me $700. Know her reaction? She's going to miss her braces. "Gee, dad, they're a status symbol. Everybody knows that".

Next day I cut grass all day because visitors were coming. They were old friends. And we were all a lot older next day, after hitting the sack at 6 a.m. Up at noon and out for golf. Ever seen two old cart-horses trying to pull something up-hill which they couldn't even pull down-hill? That's what Pete and I looked like as we drag-tailed our way up to the 18th green.

Had to get the first-born out to his summer job on the boat by 8 a.m. next morning. But had no trouble waking up. The ruddy birds started yacking at 4 a.m. two paper-boys had a violent altercation about conflicting routes under our window at 6, and the construction gang tearing up the road in front of our place got their mechanical monsters snarling by 7 o'clock.

Wrote column, planted grass, weeded flowerbeds, soothed wife, distraught because her son was leaving. If she tried to make a big symbolic deal out of it. "Don't you realize this is the very last day in his entire life that he'll be at home, one of us?" (He'll be home two days a week all summer, but apparently that doesn't count).

Next day, took Hugh to his boat again at 8, put car in body shop to have door fixed, wrangled with insurance company, helped two high school valedictorians with their speeches, told wife to stop fretting about her son, told daughter to stop fighting with her mum.

Whole family was going to boat to see Hugh off on maiden trip, to his unutterable disgust. Car wasn't ready. Panic. Tears. Recriminations. Borrowed a car; beelined to dock. Boat almost out of sight when we arrived. My fault, though wife was half an hour out on embarkation time.

Early a.m., drove wife to town 30 miles away for eye examination. Couldn't find doctor; he'd moved. My fault. Late. Dashed for home after exam which confirmed opinion wife is eagle-eyed.

Had to change and drive 30 miles to still another town for big ceremonial dinner. But wife had to dally and watch a wedding before we left. Got there when most of the booze was gone.

Insulted by lady who thought my wife was my daughter. Entertained by lady who fell flat on her face on the lawn after bar re-opened. She got up garbly, chortling. "He never laid a glove on me".

However, today has been peaceful. People and their kids invited for outdoor dinner. It rained. Hugh arrived from boat with two accomplices, headed for a beach party. Kim is on her way to a pajama party for some kid leaving town.

Really quite placid. Mom downstairs doing eight acres of dishes. Dad sitting writing his column. And the blasted construction gang working overtime out front. Holidays? You can't beat them. But if you can, please beat them to death with a big stick. Roll over on September!

25 YEARS AGO

July 17th, 1940
Bridge to be Erected
A new concrete re-inforced bridge will soon be erected over the Hinchinbrooke River to replace the old steel structure in the village of Athelstan. It will be 62 feet by 70. The contract was left to O'Connor's Inc. of Huntingdon for a reported sum of $10,500.

Construction Near Valleyfield
Valleyfield is bristling with activity these days. Machinery of all kinds and description has arrived on the lands taken over by the Federal Government, between Valleyfield and St. Timothée. The Dominion Construction Company of Toronto has been let the huge contract of $12,500,000 by the Federal Government for the construction of several plants which will be used for the production of chemicals and war explosives.

Relief Abolished in Valleyfield
Relief is a question of the past in Valleyfield. All persons who are on relief will have to work, otherwise they cannot expect further assistance. Invalids, cripples, sick persons will be the only ones who can receive assistance from charitable organizations.

find the chemical name in small letters.

The cheapest preparation will likely be the emulsible concentrate. Mix with water and syrup in the proportions indicated on the label. Other dichlorvos preparations may be available as powders and will require only the addition of water and sugar before use. As dichlorvos is unstable when exposed to air, fresh bait should be prepared every two or three days. As with all materials of this kind, I will add my plea: Read the precautions, keep tightly sealed, and well out of the reach of children.

A hand sprayer is a better way to apply the syrup mixture than a brush. It is faster, and besides, some will stay around the stalls to give a measure of control to houseflies. Another good thing — it controls horn flies as well if sprayed over the cows' withers.

These treatments will be most effective if you can get your neighbour to treat his cows at the same time.

If you are not using dichlorvos or cyodrin, you can control horn flies with one of several ready-made preparations. Many of these contain pyrethrins, piperonyl butoxide, and lethane. These must be applied daily; they have little residual effect. Some do contain repellents which give a more lasting effect.

Electric foggers do a good job of clearing the flies out of a stable with short-lived, knock-down type of insecticides.

For dairy heifers and animals (other than calves) where you want a lasting effect, you can spray with methoxychlor (50% wettable powder) at 1 lb. in 10 gals. water, or malathion (25% wettable powder) at 2 lbs. in 10 gals. water. With either, about two quarts per animal will be sufficient and will provide protection for two to three weeks if it doesn't rain.

For house-fly control in stables, try to clean out the calves every few days. Then apply a residual spray to the walls and ceiling with all the animals out of the barn. There is a wide range of good materials available like coumaphos, diazinon, dichlorvos, lindane, malathion, dimethoate (Cygon), and ronnel. Change them about to prevent a build-up of resistant strains.

Impregnated strips attached to the ceiling are useful. And you can use scatter-baits on the floors while the cows

"Country Notebook" by Mr. Walker Riley, Agricultural Extension Specialist with Macdonald College is a weekly feature which we trust will be of interest to all in the Chateauguy Valley.

Who says brothers and sisters can't work together. Sandra and Ken McFarlane representing the Howick 4-H Club were high scoring team judges in the Young Farmers' elimination contest for the Montreal region held here at the College. Now they will go on to the finals in Quebec City early in September.

Highest individual score, however, was made by Janet Cavers, Ormstown, with a remarkably good score of 340 out of 400.

At Rymer, 15 clubs took part. Robert Rodgers and Andre St. Pierre came in a strong first as a team. On top of that, they placed first and second as individuals.

We will be waiting to hear how the Eastern Townships clubs make out. Congratulations to all who took part and to their leaders.

Altogether, close to 400 4-H boys and girls visited us that week. Besides the judging where seems to be the time for visitors to step on a broken bottle or a clam shell while swimming, catch a bad cold following a sudden change in temperature such as we experienced on Monday and Tuesday, suffer a fractured something-or-other following a fall caused by the vacationer being wobbly on his feet because he imbued too much holiday liquid, or even for getting fish hooks caught in his fingers, or fanny. There are a thousand and one other ills and misfortunes to choose from and chances are you'll know someone looking for first aid before this week is out.

There is also the possibility you will be the first on the scene at a car accident — they, too seem to occur more frequently in summer, despite the fact there is no ice or snow and local roads are only slippery after a rain. Again, the influx of motorists and tourists on week-ends. Also, you might be on hand at a drowning accident. While the Town of Huntingdon has a respirator that can be put into operation on a few minutes notice, chances are there won't be time to either get the victim to the machine, or the machine to the victim.

That is why everyone should learn the latest artificial respiration method: mouth-to-mouth respiration. Every year, the lives of many Canadians — children and adults — are saved because someone performs mouth-to-mouth respiration on them. Yet, many more lives could be saved if more people knew this simple artificial respiration method. It is taught by Red Cross Water Safety instructors. It is easy and requires no special skill. Every parent, especially, should learn the method. Too many children die every year from drowning, or suffocation, and many of them could be saved if they had the breath of life breathed into them. The Red Cross would be pleased to instruct a group, again, on mouth-to-mouth respiration, and even those who have already learned from this same source could give the necessary instruction. Our suggestion is that interested parents and others drop a line to The Gleaner if they are interested in learning and if a couple of dozen or more signify interest, Mrs. Payne, local Red Cross President, will arrange to have Red Cross instructors come to Huntingdon in the near future.

ROUND BYRE and RING

By Frank Napier

Whether or not it be a "pat on the wrist" or "a kick in the pants", albeit very politely so, of this writer for having dared to suggest experiments with Fodder Radish, the Letter to the Editor, by Prof. J. S. Burbar, Macdonald College, is interesting and commendably informative.

We are, of course, aware that it would perhaps be unwise for his Department to advocate the permanent growing of any such crop at this stage. However, as Burns has it, "desperate diseases need desperate cures", and I therefore suggested in effect, that in view of the current crop situation, it might still be possible to try out the growing of Fodder Radish as a temporary measure. In that respect it might still be suggested that a number of farmers in this area might give consideration to placing several acres each at the disposal of either Macdonald College or the Agronomy; thereby perhaps making possible an assist insofar as fall feeding is concerned. Moreover, any such would be made under ordinary farm conditions, instead of in select, carefully tended plots.

The New Classification
It is true that, nowadays, livestock breeders of this area seldom exhibit at the C.N.E. (Canadian National Exhibition). However, quite a number of the said breeders still take an active interest in the Cattle Show of that World famous exhibition, which cattle show is second only to that of the Royal Winter Fair. A few details of this year's C.N.E. prize list, which is based on the Hon. Harry Hays new show classification, are out to pasture.

Sooner or later, someone had to think this one up. On our last trip down from the farm, a large sign in front of a gas station — a non-tiger one obviously — proclaimed, "We take the dead tigers out of your tank. No charge for inspection".

Havelock
HAVELOCK — Mrs. Oasie Mannagh enjoyed Monday in Montreal, visiting her aunt, Miss Clara Stacey, whose health is poorly at this time. Her friends wish her a speedy recovery.

Birthday wishes to Miss Kelly Allen, who will be 6 years old; to Mrs. Bill Gibbs and to Mr. Fred Laurin; who celebrate their birthdays on July 20th.

Mr. and Mrs. D. MacCuaig and the two eldest boys enjoyed a week's holiday recently at Trent, Ont.

Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Gibbs and family were Mr. and Mrs. Syl. Wilson of Lafleche.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Goodman and Mr. and Mrs. J. MacCuaig enjoyed the week-end at their summer homes in the district.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond New and family were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. Allan, Mr. and Mrs. A. Buchanan of Howick were Sunday evening guests at the same home.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Allan and family, Mrs. J. Allen were Sunday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Allen and family.

Insofar as the Holsteins are concerned, and we presume that same will apply to the other cattle breeds there will be only eight classes with prize money. In the case of the Holsteins, and we presume to the same or lesser extent with the other breeds, there will be fifteen other classes for ribbons and/or trophies. The usual championship rosettes will also be awarded.

The "money classes" will be: Bull Calf, born from July 1/64 to June 30/65 from dam with one record 115% BCA, 15 prizes from $160 to $35.

Yearling Bull, born July 1/63 to June 30/64 from dam with one record 115% BCA, 12 prizes from $180 to $35.

Yearling Heifer, born July 1/63 to June 30/64, 25 prizes from $180 to $35.

Two-Year-Old Heifer, born July 1/62 to June 30/63, 20 prizes from $210 to $40.

Three-Year-Old Heifer, born July 1/61 to June 30/62, 20 prizes from $210 to $40.

Four-Year-Old Heifer, born July 1/60 to June 30/61, 20 prizes from $210 to $40.

Five-Year-Old or older cow, born previous to July 1/60, with at least one record 115% BCA, 20 prizes from $235 to $55.

(In each of the four classes, from 2-year-olds to aged cows, the entry is to be in milk or within approximately 8 weeks of calving.)

Breeder's Herd — 4 animals bred and owned by exhibitor, not more than one bull, each animal to be shown in a "money" class which may include the inter-breed best under class.

The money prizes probably constitute a record insofar as any Canadian Show past or present is concerned. It will be noted that there will only be two male classes with, in each instance, only animals from qualified dams. The heifer calf classes are dropped, and there will be only one yearling heifer class. It will also be noted that while the "dry" and "in milk" females will be shown together, the dry two-year-old and over females must be within approximately 8 weeks of calving.

"Ribbon" Classes
However, other classes without money prizes (ribbons only) will be held for: Two year old aged bulls, respectively.

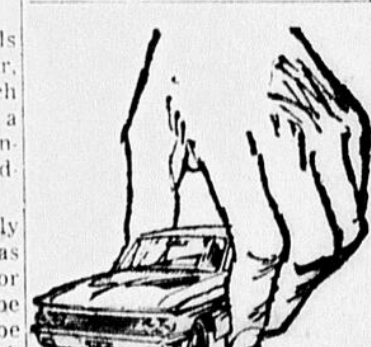

Heifer calves, born from July 1st, 1964 to June 30, 1965; dry 3 and 4 year olds; aged dry cows; best udder (entries in milk that have calved at least twice).

Senior Get of Sire; Produce of Dam, and County Herd.

The C.N.E. will permit an exhibitor to use two animals in the Get of Sire class that need not be shown in the individual classes. In classes for single animals, two entries may be made in two classes, otherwise one entry per class. Only one entry per exhibitor is permitted in the group classes. A jointly owned animals must be identified on the entry form as to the herd in which it is to count but any joint owner may use the animal in a group entry.

Another "Old Timer"
While he was of the older, older generation, a number of the older generation Holstein breeders, as well as these of other breeds in this area will still remember Clayton (Clay) C. Haviland, will regret to learn of his passing, on June 29, at Norfolk County Hospital, Simcoe, Ont. Clay Haviland was the fifth generation owner of Braeside Farm, Wiltonville, Ont., the original, a U.E. Loyalist, having migrated there from U.S.A. in 1803. "He had an implement agency back in 1911 when he traded a gas engine for a purebred Holstein heifer and some fencing for an old cow", according to the Holstein-Friesian Journal. "He joined the Association in 1913 and has been one of its most influential members for half a century".

He was elected a director of Holstein-Friesian Association in 1938, served on the Executive Committee, and as chairman of the Extension Committee before his elevation to the Presidency in 1946. He was subsequently, for a considerable number of years until his death, a member of the two-man Committee on Elections which enumerates the votes for directors in all provinces except Ontario. Ironically, he and Mrs. Haviland had just purchased a house in Waterford, Ont., and planned to leave the farm which is now managed by their son Charles.

Why Not Learn Life Saving Methods?

ALMOST everyone looks forward to week-ends, especially during July and August. Everyone, that is, except doctors, nurses, pharmacists and others who remain on call to treat cuts, burns, poison ivy and the many minor accidents that befall the summer influx of campers and tourists. One nurse at the Huntingdon County Hospital recently stated that week-ends, especially in summer, are extremely busy. It

Letarte Family Move From Ste. Agnes

Mr. and Mrs. Gaston Letarte, Jean and Diane, left on Wednesday for Chomedey where they expect to make their home for the next few months.

Since the disastrous loss of Hotel Ste. Agnes last November, the Letarte family have been making their home with Rev. Curé Gagnon at the rectory.

Ranking high in Mr. Letarte's fondest wishes is the one to return to Ste. Agnes and to rebuild, either in the form of a hotel or a cocktail lounge, but many decisions have to be made before these plans can actually materialize.

However, may we in the surrounding area take this opportunity to wish the Letarte family success in whatever field of endeavour they choose to follow, and to assure them that the welcome mat will be out to greet them should they decide to return to Ste. Agnes.

Hi-C Activities

The young people enjoyed a game of softball on Wednesday evening, July 14th, on the school grounds and on Thursday evening, July 15th they enjoyed a dance at Fraser's barn. Music was supplied by Messrs. Lisle Watterson, Clarence Platt and Stan Stavely, with Mr. Franklin Cameron doing 'the calling' for the square dances.

Everyone had a good time, but they were disappointed that the response from the Huntingdon Young People who had been invited to attend, was not very gratifying.

On Wednesday afternoon, July 21st the girls from the Hi-C will give leadership during the opening devotions of the U.C.W. and will also present Biblical charades at the monthly meeting of the ladies group which will be held in the Church Hall.

On Thursday morning, July 22nd, at 8 a.m., weather permitting, the group will travel to Lake Meacham, N.Y. where they plan to enjoy an all-day picnic.

I guess it can be said, without exaggeration, that things have really been humming for the young people since holidays have begun, and they seem to have just as much activity planned for the weeks ahead.

Take Advantage of Swimming Program at S.R.C.S.

The Misses Wendy Sutton, Mary Jean Cameron and Lois Cameron are enjoying the swimming classes as well as those in handicraft and recreation.

News of the Rutledge Family

In a recent letter received from the Rev. Frank Rutledge to a local resident he states that the family is well, and are kept very active in church and community work.

The boys did extremely well in their final examinations, and while they enjoy life in Rainy River, often speak of the good times they had in Dundee.

The family plans to motor to the West Coast during the month of August when they will be on holiday. Both the Rev. Rutledge and Mrs. Rutledge plan to take a course in Christian leadership during this period.

Aubrey-Riverfield

AUBREY-RIVERFIELD — A joint meeting of W.M.S., Evening Auxiliary, Explorers and C.O.C. was held in Riverfield Church Hall, on July 13. Marion Craig read the report for the Explorers. Stars of various colours were given out for work done during the year. A very interesting story was read by Mrs. J. Scoble. The meeting closed with Hymn 742 followed by prayer by Bernice Angell. Following the meeting a food sale was held which amounted to $12.60 and with the collection of $6.60 netted the members of the Explorers and the C.O.C. each a total of $9.60.

Friends of Mrs. Dugald McCaig will be very sorry to hear she had the misfortune a week ago to fall and break her hip and is at present in the Barrie Memorial Hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Finlay Milne called to see her on Sunday as well as Mrs. Melbourne Stacey, who is undergoing surgery on Monday. Best wishes for a complete recovery in the near future to both these ladies.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Cairns and family were supper guests on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Allen.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Ness were pleasantly surprised on Friday evening, when a group of their friends dropped in to help them celebrate their 10th wedding anniversary. All enjoyed getting together and having a barbecue on the lawn. As a little remembrance of the occasion a pair of cut glass bud vases was presented to the happy couple and good wishes extended by Mrs. Murray Templeton to which "Joan and Bob" each expressed their appreciation.

When is a Spot not a Spot?

When it's a stain!

You were thinking there isn't much difference? Well, there is in principle and approach. A spot is a colored substance that contacts a garment, leaks down through the fabric, and surrounds the fibres in a certain area. A stain penetrates into the fibres. It acts like a dye. In simple terms, a spot is superficial — a stain is total absorption.

Any food particle containing starch forms a spot. So does milk, ice cream, lipstick, grass and mildew. Tomato sauce and ketchup, vegetable oils forms stains. Mustard has a spirit personality. The sauce is a spot — the yellow color is a stain!

Spots and stains have one thing in common. They're both a nuisance!

And we know how to lick 'em both!

Telephone by Candlelight

Talking with a young friend of mine not too long ago, I was asked how it is that during a power failure the telephone continues to work. The lad was excited and pleased one day when all the lights went out in his neighbourhood, and wanted to share his glee with another lad across the town. But he was frustrated because he thought the telephone wouldn't work either.

However, on picking up the phone, he was amazed to find that it did work. This led him to assume that the telephone company has a separate power supply.

Well, we do and we don't! Like everyone else, we depend on commercial power, and commercial power keeps your telephone working day in, day out, just as it does your lights. But telephone service is vital, and so all our exchanges — including Huntingdon of course — have standby power sources in case of emergency. The instant our equipment detects a power failure, it switches onto reserve battery power that can keep the exchange operating for many hours. And diesel-driven emergency generators are kept in readiness at strategic points throughout our territory to be brought in immediately to keep any exchange operating indefinitely.

Power failures are very infrequent these days, but severe storms, construction accidents, etc., can and do cause disruptions every once in a while. Though these are usually short-lived — thanks to the diligence and public spirit of the power commission employees — it is still reassuring (and sometimes even romantic) to be able to "telephone by candlelight."

Those Cranky Good Old Days
Some people like to reminisce about the "good old days" and how much better things were then. I wonder if they remember how much cranking it took to get those good old days started! You cranked the car, the clothes wringer, the gramophone, and the telephone. And they tell me that after you placed a Long Distance call, you had to wait an average of nearly eight minutes before you got your party.

Today, of course, it's flick a switch here, press a button there — a sort of "instant action" way of doing things — and as far as Long Distance goes, you can telephone all the way to the Atlantic or Pacific coasts, have a nice little chat, and then be off the phone in less time than it would have taken you to get started way back when. And for five or six times less the cost in those days!

Could it be that the "good old days" required so much cranking and waiting on the line, etc., that people just didn't have the time they take today to think of how "bad" things are????

Mr. Jacobsen of 'Little Denmark' Discusses Flowers At Howick W.I.

Howick Women's Institute after discussion, to plant salvia this year as a beginning. The contest this month was a baked pie shell: 1st prize, Mrs. Marsden; 2nd, Mrs. R.B. Ness; 3rd, Mrs. Donald Chisholm.

The speaker for the evening was Mr. Jacobsen of "Little Denmark". From boxes of beautiful carnations and mums he deftly arranged beautiful bouquets, both low and tall ones.

He demonstrated the making of corsages. Feather Carnation and Sweetheart Rose. A number of ladies were proudly displaying same. Six ladies were also fortunate in winning the beautiful bouquets that were arranged. Mr. Jacobsen answered many questions on which flowers were most suitable for decoration. Roses, he felt were not suitable as they lasted such a short time.

Mrs. Scoble thanked Mr. Jacobsen for his talk. Sandwiches, cookies and a cup of tea were served to end a delightful evening.

To your GOOD HEALTH

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Would it be harmful to take a female hormone tablet every day, instead of for three weeks straight and then stopping for a week or 10 days?

Also, please discuss osteoporosis.—MRS. R.E.H.

Answer: Female hormones are very helpful in the menopause interval but they should not be taken every day indefinitely.

Prior to menopause the secretion of hormones ebbs and flows on a cyclical basis, which is a good reason for doing the same thing with hormones given artificially later.

The "start-and-stop" schedule, as in your case, gives your doctor a better chance to see whether the dosage requires readjustment.

Taking the medication every day without the pauses after three weeks will not help you in any way. Actually such a procedure is wasteful, and consequently costs you money.

Follow the schedule specified. It will be best for you. Your doctor has good reason for that schedule. He didn't suggest the three-weeks-on-week-or-so-off, just for nothing. See my point?

As to osteoporosis, this is a loss of calcium (and hence loss of hardness) in the bones, which quite often follows menopause. The exact chemical causes are under intense study, but the problem appears to be quite complicated.

For practical purposes, we know of four remedies:

- 1—Hormones, such as you are taking.
- 2—Plenty of calcium. If you get enough in your diet, you don't need it in tablet form; otherwise you do.
- 3—Exercise. Like the rest of the body in general, using it strengthens it.
- 4—Amply protein in the diet is important—lean meat, poultry, fish, eggs, cheese.

Follow all four rules. Don't expect wonders overnight, but don't get discouraged. Over

On motion of Councillor John Rodger seconded by Councillor James Smith that the Valuation Roll for the year 1965, as presented, be homologated without change or amendment.

It was moved by Councillor Gerald Dagenais and seconded by Councillor Wilfrid Bryson that a tax rate of 4 mills on the dollar, be levied on each dollar of valuation as appears on the 1965 valuation roll in force, to cover the general and necessary expenses of the Municipality for the year 1965 and that the Secretary prepare the collection roll accordingly, giving notice of it having been completed and collecting the taxes enumerated therein, according to law.

Messrs. Hermas Beauchamp, Eugene Guerin, Romeo Guerin and Donald Dandurand waited on Council to object to the proposed new dump site. Council promised to give consideration to the complaint of the above mentioned ratepayers.

A letter from the firm of Meloche et Perron, lawyers, for their client Mr. Florian Thibeault, was tabled.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have used a hormone cream to increase the size of my bust. Now I am worried that I may have endangered my life.—MISS S.C.

Answer: I doubt that you have harmed yourself, much less endangered your life. I'm even surer that you haven't even your problem, either. So just forget the whole business.

How to get rid of leg cramps and foot pains? The answer may be simple. Write to Dr. Molner in care of The Gleaner for a copy of the booklet, "How To Stop Leg Cramps and Foot Pains," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20c in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all mail from his readers, but because of the great volume received daily he is unable to answer individual letters. Dr. Molner uses readers' letters in his columns whenever possible.

Sudan-Sorghum Seed Available

OTTAWA — Agriculture Minister Harry Hays today announced that sudan-sorghum hybrid seed was now available to farmers in the drought areas of Eastern Ontario and Western Quebec.

The seed was purchased in the U.S. mid-west as part of the joint federal and Ontario and Quebec government's drought relief program.

It can be obtained from regular seed dealers in the areas concerned and it is understood that the price will be a maximum of 22 cents a pound to the farmer at the dealer's premises.

There are 72,000 pounds of sudan-sorghum seed available — enough to seed 3,000 to 6,000 acres depending on the seeding rate.

Sudan-sorghum seed has been unobtainable in Eastern Canada for several weeks through regular channels.

Sudan-sorghum will make good emergency pasture for livestock in late summer or fall and requires less moisture than most other forages.

It should be planted immediately and should not be pastured until it is at least 18 inches in height.

The crop can be used for silage (if first mowed and wilted) and for hay.

Howick W.I. Members Assist Council To Complete Project

(By Mrs. Crawford)

Visiting tourists from as far away as Ohio and Edmonton stopped at the Bridge St. triangle in Howick on Thursday night wondering what those Quebecers were doing. They saw women, some gray-haired, one bare-footed, spading, raking, and finally planting and watering a bed of bright red salvia.

We assured them we were respectable members of Howick Women's Institute helping to complete a project started by the local council.

Last year the W.I. approached the Council, offering to back any efforts they made to improve the appearance of the Village and surrounding area, and the triangles were mentioned.

The Council cut two dead trees from this triangle, covered it with several loads of earth and erected a flag pole. We hope a good grass job will be done before next year, but in the meantime flowers will brighten it and the weeds and grass will be kept under control.

Involved in this work were Mrs. Arthur Kerr, president and Mrs. J.J. Peddie, treasurer of the Howick W.I. and the flower committee, M. Scoble and F. Crawford. Mr. Armand Simon, son of a member of the Cercles des Fermiers, noticed what the ladies were doing and gallantly finished the spade work. Mrs. May Jones was the walking boss! The next night Mrs. René Mailloux, president of the Cercles des Fermiers, and husband, Mrs. J.P. Brault, Mrs. Haddon Kerr and several young people joined forces with the W.I. ladies and finished the clean-up job on the plot, cut the weeds and grass and placed whitewashed bricks around the flower bed. (The Pres. of Howick W.I. whitewashed more than five dozen bricks and brought them to the plot in her truck). Everyone had a lot of fun.

We believe, where numbers help, other beautifying projects might be carried to completion in a similar way. So look around folk and let us help the council and centenary committee make Howick more beautiful before 1967.

Dundee Branch
Guest speaker at the July meeting was Mrs. Elva Moore from the Dewittville Branch. She attended the Leadership Training Course held at Macdonald College in May, so in her enthusiastic way, told much of what she had learned there. She touched on many topics on which they had discussions, on tours and on films shown but an important topic was the New Look in W.I. work with the theme "Adapt".

There must be new projects, new programs. We must study about new fabrics, modern ways of doing things, new equipment. Elva had listed several items that might be of help to the branches. Do things for others, as a group and with a purpose; remember that we are an adult education group; apathy or enthusiasm can greatly affect our projects or our programs; have meetings with a purpose; develop potential leaders; make sure the W. I. is democratic—short terms of office; cherish community heritage—old landmarks, place names, landscape are fast disappearing, preserve them in some way; welcome information and help from older citizens; include young people in helpful programs; use own members' talents to teach crafts or give leadership in projects and programs.

Elva reminded us of the W. I. motto "For Home and Country" in which the example or change begins at home with the family, spreading the influence to the community and eventually will reach out into the world.

The meeting closed and refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. A.H. Fraser, assisted by her daughter, Jessie.

Liturgie — Est-ce qu'on invente les cyclones? Peut-être y en a-t-il, parmi vous, qui seraient tentés de me le dire, en guise de taquinerie. Inventer des histoires, ça va bien quand tout va bien et qu'on a le cœur gai; mais j'arrive justement de visiter la région sinistrée: j'en ai trop vu à Padrisbipur, à Barisal, à Gournadi, à Narikel bari, pour avoir le cœur à inventer quoi que ce soit. Imaginez-vous une famille de huit à dix, vivant sous un toit de fortune formé de quatre morceaux de tôle: c'est tout ce qu'ils ont pu récupérer des débris de leur hutte — et ils sont des milliers comme cela. D'autres doivent s'accrocher sous deux morceaux de toit de feuillage mis en pointu — et c'est la saison des pluies qui s'annonce. Beaucoup d'autres n'ont absolument plus rien, ni chez-soi, ni nourriture: c'est la grande misère dans toute son horreur! Ça, je l'ai vu, de mes yeux vu! Et, croyez-le ou non, on trouve encore des sourires, des visages où rayonne encore l'espoir malgré tout, chez ces gens qui découvrent le doigt de Dieu de telles calamités.

Liturgie — Every modern teen-ager is confronted by a question, the answer to which can drastically change his or her life for the rest of time and for eternity. The answer to this question is a simple "yes" or "no". Just as there is no sidewalk in the middle of the street, there is no middle course which teen-agers can take. And the question is: Will you serve? Say "yes", that you will gladly serve, and your life will never again be the same. Say "no", that you will not serve, but wish to be served, and whatever happiness you receive on earth, will be the limit of your joys — there will be no other joys.

TRANSFIGURATION DE N.S. JESUS-CHRIST — 6 AOUT Un soir, Jésus monte sur le Thabor avec ses trois Apôtres préférés, Pierre, Jacques et Jean. Il se met aussitôt en prière quand, soudain, l'éclat de sa divinité perce à travers l'enveloppe de sa nature humaine: il est transfiguré. Les Disciples sont témoins de cette scène grandiose que nous raconte St-Pierre dans l'Épître de cette messe. Cette transfiguration est l'une des preuves les plus éclatantes de la divinité du Christ. Dieu lui-même l'affirme en déclarant: "Celui-ci est mon Fils bien-aimé, écoutez-le". Ces derniers mots "écoutez-le" doivent éveiller en nous des sentiments de foi en la parole de Dieu. Ouvrons les saintes Ecritures, surtout le Saint Evangile, et méditons les conseils et les avertissements que nous donne Notre-Seigneur. Chaque page nous révèle la pensée de Dieu sur les hommes — et les choses; sa révélation nous conduit au bonheur éternel. ASSOMPTION DE LA TRÈS-SAINTE VIERGE MARIE — c'est la satisfaction du devoir

Marie monte et il faut voir en son humilité un des plus beaux charmes de son exaltation. Marie monte, portée par les anges, resplendissante de beauté et d'une lumière qui fait pâlir l'éclat du soleil. Son corps, tout spiritualisé, est d'une légèreté et d'une transparence merveilleuse. Mais tout cela, il faut bien nous en rendre compte, n'est que le jaillissement dans la partie sensible de la béatitude et de la gloire dont son âme est à jamais le sanctuaire. Et ainsi, l'on peut dire que c'est l'âme de Marie qui entraîne son corps par-delà les nuages, vers les hauteurs. Ce sont les transports de son âme, les tressaillements de son cœur, la joie toute divine dont son intérieur est inondé, qui éclaire dans le sourire de son visage, dans le mouvement de son corps, dans la grâce de ses conseils et son attitude. Ici, O Marie, vous enseignez à l'homme à être chrétien une chose très importante. Vous nous enseignez le secret de la vraie joie, la source du vrai bonheur. Et vous nous dites, par votre attitude, que la joie, c'est la satisfaction du devoir accompli et la tranquillité, la paix qui accompagne toute vertu. C'est aujourd'hui le triomphe de Marie est d'abord et avant tout une exultation, une allégresse, un consentement, un rassasiement. "Elle s'éleva du désert, pleine de délices". Le prêtre ne se comprend bien que dans son lien à l'évêque et aux autres prêtres. Il ne se comprend bien également que relié au Peuple de Dieu. Les prêtres ont toujours été pour le service de l'Eglise. Célébrer l'Eucharistie et les sacrements, enseigner la doctrine chrétienne, faire et défendre l'unité du troupeau, visiter les gens, être présent aux grandes étapes et aux grands événements de la vie de la communauté, être l'animateur spirituel d'œuvres diverses, telles étaient (et telles sont toujours d'ailleurs) les grandes fonctions du prêtre. Celles-ci sont autant de formes du service du peuple chrétien. Pour regarder l'Eglise, nous ne devons pas tourner nos yeux d'abord vers les ministères hiérarchiques seuls ou vers les laïcs seuls, mais vers l'ensemble du Peuple de Dieu, constitué par l'union au Christ glorifié dans la foi et les sacrements. L'autorité du prêtre, loin d'être de domination, est tout entière ordonnée au sacerdoce commun des fidèles. Le prêtre est revêtu d'un certain nombre de pouvoirs. Ces pouvoirs sont moins sur les laïcs que pour les laïcs. Dans la catéchèse, dans la célébration liturgique, dans les aumônes diverses, dans les contacts et visites, en un mot dans tous les aspects du ministère, le prêtre vise à rendre les laïcs davantage laïcs, conscients de leur dignité et de leurs responsabilités. Et en retour, à leur contact, il prend mieux conscience de son être propre et des exigences qui en découlent.

Conseil de Franklin

Une assemblée du conseil municipal de Franklin avait lieu lundi le 5 juillet en présence de tous les membres sauf le Maire Floyd Stevenson et le conseiller Brooks.

C'est le conseiller Brault qui agissait comme maire suppléant.

Le conseiller Kyle Blair donna avis de motion qu'à une prochaine assemblée du conseil il présenterait un règlement en vue de créer des fonds pour défrayer les dépenses.

Le contribuable Anatole Tremblay se présenta devant le conseil pour demander qu'une partie du fossé situé à l'ouest de sa propriété soit nettoyée. Le maire fut autorisé à demander au Département de la Voirie d'Ormstown de la tuer pour cette partie du fossé.

Le contribuable Keith Dunn demanda la permission de couper un érable mort en face de sa propriété, permission qui fut accordée.

accompli et la tranquillité, la paix qui accompagne toute vertu. C'est aujourd'hui le triomphe de Marie est d'abord et avant tout une exultation, une allégresse, un consentement, un rassasiement. "Elle s'éleva du désert, pleine de délices". Le prêtre ne se comprend bien que dans son lien à l'évêque et aux autres prêtres. Il ne se comprend bien également que relié au Peuple de Dieu. Les prêtres ont toujours été pour le service de l'Eglise. Célébrer l'Eucharistie et les sacrements, enseigner la doctrine chrétienne, faire et défendre l'unité du troupeau, visiter les gens, être présent aux grandes étapes et aux grands événements de la vie de la communauté, être l'animateur spirituel d'œuvres diverses, telles étaient (et telles sont toujours d'ailleurs) les grandes fonctions du prêtre. Celles-ci sont autant de formes du service du peuple chrétien.

On fit une lettre de Me. Loche & Perron, avocats, représentant M. Florian Thibault.

Une lettre de Mme Ellen B. McKellar, au sujet des chiens errants fut lue et filée. Le conseiller James Smith fut nommé maire suppléant pour les prochains trois mois.

La Régionale Salaberry approuve le rapport du Comité de Planification jeudi soir.

Autres affaires.

Les membres de la Commission Scolaire Régionale ont accepté jeudi soir le rapport présenté par le comité de planification scolaire institué l'an dernier pour prévoir les plans d'aménagement scolaire régional pour les années 1966 à 1971.

Le comité, que présidait le notaire Robert Lupien, recommanda que le territoire de la Commission Scolaire Régionale soit partagé en deux secteurs: le premier ayant son pôle à Valleyfield, pour les municipalités Salaberry de Valleyfield, Grande-Île, Ste-Cécile, par St-Timothée et St-Louis-de-Gonzague; et le deuxième ayant son pôle à Huntingdon pour les municipalités scolaires de Huntingdon, Ste-Agnès-de-Dundee, St-Anicet, Ste-Barbe, St-Antoine-Abbé, St-Malachie d'Ormstown et St-Stanislas de Kooka.

Le comité recommande également que les élèves catholiques de langue anglaise de tout le territoire fréquentent le secteur de Huntingdon; que rien ne soit négligé pour accélérer la mise en chantier et la construction de l'école à Huntingdon; que des locaux, et laboratoires soient ajoutés aux plans de l'école de Huntingdon pour en faire une école secondaire polyvalente complète afin d'accueillir les 1380 élèves de ce secteur; qu'un institut soit établi à Valleyfield. Les institutions indépendantes (le séminaire et l'école normale) et l'école de métiers seront appelées à y collaborer.

De l'avis du comité il est recommandé que l'école Edgar Hébert soit achetée par la Commission Scolaire Régionale, et qu'elle soit affectée à l'enseignement secondaire polyvalent du 1er cycle en y faisant les modifications nécessaires particulièrement en y ajoutant des ateliers; qu'un campus unique soit construit dans le secteur de Valleyfield pour accommoder les élèves qui ne seront pas logés à l'école Hébert; que les respon-
