Townships week

In Township Week, Jocelyn Boutin celebrates the virtue of round barns, a distinctive element of Townships architecture. Nelly Young reviews the disappointing but ambitious 5th Annual Eastern Townships Musical Lawn and Garden Party. Young's regular What's On column previews music, theatre, exhibitions and movies for the coming week.

Winona Matthews reviews the Festival de Bromont, Dave Mulholland writes about John Allan Cameron and the tradition he is keeping alive. Dick Loney reviews "Manhattan", a novel by Neil Travis, "The Last Convertible" by Anton Myrer and "The Buddy Holly Story" by John Goldrosen.

Cloudy and cool

A disturbance over the Great Lakes area is rapidly moving east and will bring overcast skies and rain to most parts of Quebec today. A small high pressure area will begin to move through the province from west to east on Saturday following the depression. However skies will still remain cloudy over the whole of Quebec. In the Townships it will be cloudy today with scattered showers this afternoon and later this evening. Temperatures today and tomorrow will be somewhat below the normal with a high today and Saturday of between 17 and 20. The low tonight will be between 10 and 12.

Plant future uncertain despite grants

OTTAWA (CP) — It is far from certain General Motors Corp. will build an aluminum parts plant in Quebec despite $100-million subsidy offers, says an official of the department of regional economic expansion. Andre Melikoff, a senior official with the department's Quebec division, said Thursday several offers have expired and the U.S. multinational has three months to decide whether to accept the federal government's latest "firm" subsidy offer. But he said in an interview it is possible the corporation will ask for yet another extension to give it time for more studies on the feasibility of building the proposed $500-million plant in Quebec. Melikoff said reports the latest subsidy offer could top $100 million are "well-informed." He declined to reveal the exact amount of the offer, which includes contributions from the Quebec government. When General Motors first announced in 1978 it might build the plant in Quebec, the federal government offered a subsidy of $58.2 million and Quebec said it would pitch in $19.6 million. The offer expired after three months but Ottawa has renewed it three times at GM's request. HAS TOP PRIORITY Melikoff said the department is giving top priority to the proposed plant, which would create more than 2,000 jobs. "Projects of such a scale must necessarily pass through a maturing period," he said, warning that General

Motors remains hesitant about going ahead for several reasons. —The energy crisis, which has resulted in a 17.6-per-cent decline in automobile sales in the U.S. so far this year. —The growing popularity of diesel engines, which use castiron engine-blocks rather than aluminum. —The new General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade, which limits aid Ottawa can offer multinational companies. —Quebec's French-language laws, high taxes on incomes of more than $30,000 a year, and a record of labor militancy. —Quebec's threat to expropriate U.S.-owned Asbestos Corp., which raises fears the province is becoming more "socialist." Quebec's economic development minister, Bernard Landry, was expected to discuss the proposed GM plant with his federal counterpart, Robert de Cotret, at a meeting in Quebec City today.

November byelections set QUEBEC (CP) — A technicality in the electoral law of Quebec has set back to early November three byelections originally planned for next month. Premier Rene Levesque said Thursday.

Levesque told a news conference that he could not call the byelections in Prevost, Beauce-Sud and Maisonneuve ridings for Sept. 26, as he had expected. The premier said the postponement was forced because, by law, elections cannot be called during the annual voter enumeration in the province from Sept. 17 to Nov. 11.

Liberal leader Claude Ryan issued a statement accusing the government of "opportunism and powerlessness."

Levesque should have known of the Election Act technicality when he said in the national assembly last June that the elections would be held in September, Ryan said.

If the premier knew of the conflict when he made the promise, his not informing the assembly was "proof of disgusting cynicism," Ryan said. "It will be hard to take Levesque's promises seriously in the future."

The premier said he was told of the requirement by the chief electoral officer of Quebec while on vacation on Cape Cod last month.

The decision to delay the elections followed the announcement Wednesday by Robert Burns, minister of parliamentary reform and member for Maisonneuve, that he was resigning his seat and his cabinet post.

TWO PREVIOUSLY OPEN

Prevost, north of Montreal, became vacant last March 16 after the death of Jean-Guy Cardinal, PQ member for the riding and deputy speaker of the assembly.

Beauce-Sud was opened by the departure of Fabien Roy for federal politics.

Asked if the postponement would improve government chances of winning any of the ridings, Levesque replied: "Six of one, half a dozen of the other."

"There's one riding where it may help, one riding where it may hurt and another where it's up in the air."

It may help in Prevost, where the PQ has had trouble finding a candidate to run against Liberal Solange Chaput-Rolland, a former member of the Popin-Roberts Task Force on Canadian Unity.

The decision presumably would hurt in Beauce-Sud, where a millionaire local businessman, Raymond Boisvert, is the PQ candidate. Local coroner Hermann Mathieu has been chosen to represent the Liberals.

Michel Bourdon, a union leader, and Jacques Dagenais, an aide to Consumer Affairs Minister Lise Payette, are interested in the PQ candidacy in Maisonneuve.

The Union Nationale has not found candidates for any of the ridings.

Distances, costs hamper North Shore students

BLANC SABLON, (FJM-CP) — A large number of English-speaking teenagers from this isolated corner of Quebec are dropping out of school and parents say it's because they are forced to leave their villages and travel up to 1,400 kilometres to continue their education.

"We get a rotten deal in education," complained one woman at a public meeting this week with Quebec government officials. "The kids got to leave home at 12 or 13 years of age to get an education. It's not fair."

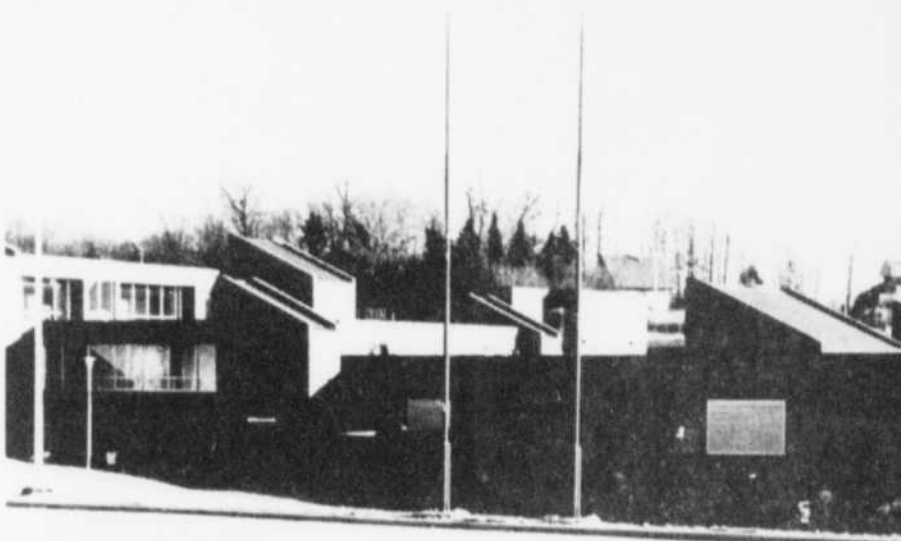

Many of the English-speaking children from the area go as far as Lennoxville in the Eastern Townships, for Grade 9 but many are reported to drop out. Loneliness is a major reason but some parents say a $250 annual charge for room and board causes them real hardship.

Frank Boushel, principal of Alexander Galt Regional High school, which accepts many of the North Shore students who leave home for their high school education, says he sympathizes with their plight and the dissatisfaction of their parents.

"Galt was approached when it first opened by representatives of North Shore schools as an optimum place for the students to go. Two points were stressed - the fact that it was an English school in an English community and the fact that Galt is a polyvalent school offering more of the technical subjects that North Shore students might want," Boushel said.

"Our position is that we try to give these children the best education we can, recognizing their special problems through providing them with advisers but trying at the same time to make them feel part of the larger student body. For example, we do not keep a special account of their drop-out rate which is, as far as I know, about the same as that of the rest of the student body," he said.

"But I sympathize entirely with the parents' desire to have a separate school for their children closer to home - I think that's entirely natural," he

The Quebec minister of education says that all children have the same opportunity for education but if I can't find $500 for my two kids they can't go to school," says Cletus Lavallee, a fisherman in this village on the Labrador border, across the Straits of Belle Ile from Newfoundland.

Lavallee was also speaking at a public meeting in a series of encounters between residents of 15 villages along the Lower North Shore of the St. Lawrence River and a special group of 12 officials led by David Payne, an aide to Cultural Development Minister Camille Laurin.

The 10-day visit to the largely English-speaking villages was organized to hear first-hand from the 4,000 residents along the coast who scrape a meagre living from fishing and have no road links to the rest of the province.

There is no high school in the area when it's time for children to go Grade 9 so they are sent away by the school commission to places like Montreal, Rimouski, Sept Iles and Lennoxville.

An official of the Commission Scolaire du Littoral in Sept Iles says it costs the board $1,665 per child a year for room and board plus $2,280 in education costs and several hundred dollars more for air fare at the start and end of the school year and at Christmas.

$250 IS TOO MUCH

The $250 is the only participation asked of a family since there are no municipal taxes in the villages, says

Head offices exempted

MONTREAL (CP) — Thirty-nine companies with head offices in Quebec have obtained special agreements lessening government requirements to make French the working language of the office, the chairman of the Office de la Langue Francaise said Wednesday. Raymond Gosselin said requests from another 24 companies are being reviewed.

The requests for special agreements were made under regulations for companies that earn more than half their gross income outside Quebec and have head offices in the province.

Gosselin said the provisions of the charter concerning francization of business need not undergo any other major changes.

"Our attitude is that the objectives of the charter are not negotiable, whereas the time frame and the means used are," he said at a news conference.

"The francization of Quebec is a change that must and can be made. Once businesses decide to become francized, they can handle it, just as they have handled other technological conversions."

He said that changes have been made in the law to permit English and other languages to be used in point-of-sale advertising of cultural and educational articles such as books, records and films.

The changes have not weakened the French language charter, he said. "We haven't diluted the law, but we have made it more precise and removed some of the difficulties of application."

Also clarified were regulations affecting conventions. The new interpretation means that posters and signs at conventions don't have to be in French only.

Reginald Groome, general manager of the Queen Elizabeth Hotel, said in an interview that this clarification will help dispel misinformation spread by those who might wish to discredit Montreal as a convention city.

MILK UP BY 4 CENTS

QUEBEC (CP) — The price of milk in the province is going up by four cents a litre on Sept. 1, the agricultural marketing board announced Thursday.

The new minimum price for a litre of homogenized milk sold over the counter will be 57 cents, while a litre of two per cent milk will cost a minimum of 54 cents and skim milk a minimum of 49 cents.

The price of the four-litre container of homogenized milk goes up 16 cents to $2.14 while two per cent milk goes to $2.01, up 14 cents, and skim milk to $1.89, up 12 cents.

The above price increases apply to the central region of the province including most population centres.

In the Gaspé, Abitibi and North Shore regions the increase will be six cents a litre, with the price of homogenized milk going up to a minimum of 60 cents a quart.

Benoit Lavigne, chairman of the board, says that even with the increase, the price of milk in Quebec will remain the lowest in Canada.

Farewell party for Rector and family

ST. ARMAND — Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Wade, St. Armand, entertained at a delightful party at their home on Friday evening, when upwards of fifty friends from St. Paul's Anglican Church and the Philipsburg United Church gathered for a Farewell get-together with Rev. G. and Mrs. Sandilands and daughter, Christine, who will be leaving in September for Africa.

The weather being ideal, all gathered on the spacious lawn and a most enjoyable time was spent in visiting and reminiscing.

Later, all repaired to the house where a delicious buffet lunch was served, after which, Mr. Wade, on behalf of the friends present spoke of the regret felt by all that the Sandilands were leaving, and presented Mr. and Mrs. Sandilands and Christine, each with a parting gift, which may serve as a reminder of their friends in this area, and extended all good wishes for success and happiness in their new undertaking.

Rev. Sandilands has been rector of St. Paul's Anglican Church in Philipsburg for over six years, and during that time has been ever ready to assist and take part in Services in the United Church. He has also conducted a most impressive Bible Study Group, attended by members of both Churches, which has been most interesting and educational.

He is now leaving on September 15 for a period of three years in Africa as a Projects Officer in the Administration and Finance of a French Area of the Anglican Church in Zaire, Rwanda and Burundi.

This area has 2,000 congregations with 550,000 members in 6 dioceses with 150 ministers. When they arrive in Africa the first three months will be spent in Kenya, learning a native language called Swahili.

All good wishes go with each one of them as they leave on their mission.

KNOWLTON
Kay Taylor
243-6177

Friends will be sorry to learn that Mr. Sydney Taylor is a patient at B.M.P. Hospital following an accident which resulted in bad leg burns. He is at present in isolation so not able to receive visitors, but those wishing to send him a card may address him Room 217, B.M.P. Hospital, Cowansville. His daughter, Mrs. Marguerite Rousseau arrived Monday from New Jersey and is caring for her mother. Mr. and Mrs.

Gordon Taylor of Ste. Dorothee, on vacation at their summer camp, Stanbridge East, are also frequent visitors.

We learned with regret that Messrs Oliver and Frederick Whitehead received word on July 18 that their brother, Sergeant Clayton Martin Whitehead had passed away that day in Chilliwack, B.C. Messrs. Oliver Whitehead and Wayne Woodard of Knowlton flew to B.C. on July 22 to attend the military service for Sergeant Whitehead. On July 24, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Whitehead and Mr. and Mrs. Johnny St. Pierre drove to Middle Steviack, Nova Scotia, to attend the burial on July 26. In Nova Scotia, Mrs. Frederick Whitehead has also received word that her uncle Mike Cross had passed away at Bridgeport, Conn. that same week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Syberg and daughter Mrs. Susan Greig and sons Terry and Patrick of Cowansville spent two weeks at Wells Beach, Me. While there, they visited several beaches in the area, including Biddeford, York Beach and Portland in Maine and Hampton Beach in New Hampshire.

Michael Krichew of Montreal stopped off in Knowlton when returning home from North Hatley on Sunday to visit his sister Mrs. Linda Denham and daughter Samantha of Shediac, N.B. who are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Batley, and also called on the Dennis Taylors. William James and daughter Cheryl, of Verdun, were overnight guests at the Harold Batley home Wednesday of last week.

Thought: Many a man's idea of charity is to give unto others the advice he can't use himself.

Obituary

ROBERT W. SPAULDING of Sheldon, Vermont
Robert William Spaulding, 68, of Sheldon, Vt., passed away on Friday, July 6, 1979, at the Mary Fletcher Hospital, Burlington, Vt., following a brief illness.

Mr. Spaulding was a resident and farmer in Sheldon for 41 years. He was born in Barnston, Que., on April 19, 1911, the youngest son of Albert and Eva (Perkins) Spaulding.

He was united in marriage to Lonetta Graves of Sheldon, Vt., on January 29, 1936.

He is survived by his wife, Lonetta, a daughter, Shirley, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Davis of Underhill, Vt., and three sons and their wives, Robert G. and Donna of Sheldon, Vt., Gilbert and Eleanor of Swanton, Vt., Hubert and Kimberly of Sheldon, Vt., and ten grandchildren; a brother David A. and wife Pearl of Canaan, Vt., and two sisters, Edith S. Childs of Foster, Que., and Geraldine S. Loukes of Newport, Vt., and many more distant relatives.

He was a member of the Haswell Lodge F. and A.M., a member and trustee of the Sheldon United Methodist Church; past member of National State Pomona Grange; Past master of the Sheldon Grange No. 310; and president of the Sheldon Cemetery Association. He was a substitute U.S. mail carrier for more than 30 years.

The funeral service was held Sunday, July 8, at 2 p.m., in the Sheldon United Methodist Church, Mr. Joseph Davison officiating, with interment in the family lot in the Sheldon Village Cemetery.

The bearers were two grandsons, William R. Davis and Robert Spaulding III, and four nephews, Basil Percy, Wayne Alderfers, Alton Loukes and Stanley Spaulding.

Funeral arrangements were by the Heald Funeral Homes of St. Albans, Vt.

The many floral tributes and memorials to the Sheldon United Methodist Church Fund spoke of the high esteem in which Robert was held and offered sympathy to his family.

Colfax Rebekah Lodge news

KNOWLTON (KT) — News over the past month from Colfax Rebekah Lodge, No. 28 Canada Day was a great success. Winner of the Bean guessing contest was Sandra Beatt with amount of 6300 beans. Her prize was an ice cooler with groceries, donated by Lodge members.

At the meeting of July 5, the District Deputy President, Sister Hilda Howard of District No. 2 honoured the Lodge with her presence, to have her commission read. She was introduced by Sister Rachel Norton, P.D.D.P., and given the Honours. Also, at this meeting, Sister Bessie Fuller was re-instated, after which two new members were initiated, Eva Westcott and Irene Boyce.

On July 19, with most of the members away on holiday, there was a small meeting.

Another initiation was planned to take place at the next meeting on August 2.

On August 2, the meeting was opened in ritual form with Sister Betty Ann Kirby, N.G. presiding. Visiting Brothers and Sisters were introduced, from Waterloo, Cowansville, Sutton, Granby. Sister Rachel Norton introduced Sister Hilda Howard, D.D.P., of District No. 2 and elective officers of the Rebekah Assembly of Quebec, Sister Madelyn Curtis, Warden and D.D.P. of District No. 10, Sister Roberta MacMillan, Marshall, Brother Fred Currier, Warden of S.G.L. and Brother Don MacMillan, Junior Warden, Grand Encampment and Grand Conductor of S.G.L. The Marshall, Sister Roberta MacMillan introduced the Rebekah Assembly President Sister Margaret Currier who was making her official visit. She was presented with a corsage of pink roses.

One of the president's aims is to increase in membership. The Lodge proceeded then to put on a degree for three new members, who were Sisters Susan O'Brien, Irene Royea and Flora Shufelt.

Other business was disposed of, and under "Good of the Order", the Noble Grand presented their president Sister Margaret with a pair of vases and invited her to say a few words. She started her speech with a very inspiring poem about roses, and also complimented Colfax Lodge on their hall and increase of membership. The meeting closed in ritual form.

Other activities: The Flea Market on August 4 was successful with 15 tables of vendors. George Anderson Sr. was winner of the lamp; Eugene Jones of Bromo went the Barbecue set and Norman McLellan, the cushion. A pre-Christmas Flea Market is expected to be held on November 3.

Townshippers enjoy scenic trip

BIRCHTON (MM) — The more one sees of Canada and thinks about our vastness and differences, the better we can understand each other. Realizing this, more Canadians are holidaying and sightseeing on Canadian soil.

On July 24, about 4:30 a.m., Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rogers, accompanied by Mrs. Marie Nutbrown started out for Northwestern Quebec, passing quietly through Montreal before the morning rush, and satisfying their hunger at Rigaud, Que.

Taking Route 17 to Ottawa, they followed the Ottawa River through many picturesque towns and villages; they explored Pembroke, and on northward. As they were leaving this area, they met a Mac Truck, whose lights flashed with the driver's hand-wave. The driver was son Gordie Rogers with a huge load of logs.

Further on, the next stop was at Duc Riviere, and on to Temiscamingue, where they planned to meet Gordie. About 5:30 p.m., they succeeded in finding a motel, had supper and toured the town, which is built on three terraces and depends largely on a very large Tembac Pulpmill.

Next morning, Gordie took his guests to Tee Lake where they saw the U.P.A. and Commonwealth Mills and the millyards where Gordie loads his Big Mac.

That afternoon plans were to go to Rouyn-Noranda area via Ville-Marie, during which trip they happily had rain, and hoped the same was blessing the Birchton area. They were amazed to find excellent farm land in the valleys, but much rock on the hills.

After a guided tour of the Copper Smelter at Noranda and a walk around part of Lake Osisko, they went to Val d'Or, past the Bourlamaque Gold Mines. The drive through the Verendrye Park was very scenic and interesting, and restful was the night spent in a small roadside motel at the Park's southern end.

Friday the road led homeward, through Mont Laurier and St. Jerome, across the ferry to Oka, and weary but happy, the travellers were home to "rest in their own beds."

UCW Meeting

SOUTH DURHAM — The U.C.W. meeting was held at the Wales Home with 11 members and eight guests present.

Muriel Watt, Pres., opened the meeting by all repeating the UCW Purpose in unison, followed by the Lord's Prayer.

Muriel Watt gave the devotional theme — "One Solitary Life" and two readings: "Summer and Nature" and "Today".

Roll call and minutes of last meeting were read and approved.

Treasurer's report was given by Mrs. Reg Webster. It was moved by Annie Jackson and seconded by Ruth Mountain that we buy a $100.00 share towards the Richmond Fair.

Donations were received from Mrs. H. Reed, Audrey Millar, Mrs. Fleming and Mrs. E. Richards.

Mrs. Doris Coote, Work convenor, handed in $45.00.

Next meeting to be held at Mrs. Annie Jackson's.

Meeting closed with Mizpah prayer and lunch was served to all.

Montessori Schooling: Private education has place

By CLAUDIA BOWERS
LENOXVILLE — Community spirit is running rampant in at least one household in this fair city. That rare quality so much in demand these days can be found in vast quantities at the home of Mrs. Zita Roy, whose undertakings include the Block Parents program and, for the past three years, the local Montessori School.

Mrs. Roy, a firm supporter of the concept of pre-school programs, battles parental and government indifference on a full-time basis as one of the administrators for the Sherbrooke-Lennoxville chapters.

Montessori schooling's concept was developed by Maria Montessori, an Italian medical doctor who developed an approach towards the child, encompassing philosophy of education, a new role for the 'teacher', a new role for the environment, and a vast array of educational materials for the child to use.

The Sherbrooke program has had its ups and downs. The first years, although the enrolment was more than anyone had hoped for, difficulties with staff and accommodation, as well as a complete attitude of total indifference by the Quebec government have hampered the schools.

This is not the typical garderie where a working mother may leave her child for an entire day. Because of this, the government refuses to help out financially in any way, requiring the administrators to spread the cost of operating among some hackers and parents of the children enrolled.

Mrs. Roy, whom this reporter caught carrying a bundle of curtains into the little house on Ontario St., is still enthusiastic and positive about the future of Montessori in Sherbrooke, despite the problems.

"Although many of our former 'students' have been transferred to another city, we are looking forward to a full roll sheet."

"We need 60 children, and we'll keep working until the operation of our program is guaranteed in Sherbrooke." According to Mrs. Roy, Montessori educators try to encourage the child to develop his own potential and try to stimulate a love of learning for its own sake. A Montessori graduate will have learned to learn, will have strong self-identity, will be independent and capable of working on his own, and will seek out work and take tremendous satisfaction in overcoming obstacles within his reach.

This revolutionary approach to pre-school development and preparation has been widely accepted across Canada, some cities boasting official schools starting with children only 2½ to three years old and continuing until age 12 or at the secondary level.

There are many pre-school programs offered in Quebec using Montessori methods but few can boast of qualified Montessorians directing the program.

Here in Sherbrooke, the small house on Ontario Street has been purchased and the children enrolled in the local program, which is carried out by two qualified Montessorians.

The little house can comfortably accommodate up to 35 children at one time, and because the program is offered in half-day segments, up to 70 children may be enrolled at any given time. Full day sessions are available for mainly older children - from 4 to 6 years.

A tour of the premises accompanied by Montessorian, Howard Dayfoot, recently graduated from the Maria Montessori Training Organization School in London, England, explained several of the variety of materials used to help the pre-school child develop his co-ordination and understanding of everyday things such as filling a glass, and quite often, cleaning up little messes.

The program includes placing the child in a special environment with materials which encourage co-ordinacepting enrollment for the 1979-1980 year. The staff will be augmented by two more bilingual Montessorians in September. The Montessori program is also offered in Lennoxville at the United Church on Queen

St. One of the Montessorians arriving within the month will be a director at the Lennoxville program and registrations will be accepted for either location immediately.

The cost of enrollment is $60 per month for half days or $120 for full days. The program runs from September to June, 9 to 11:30 a.m., and from 1 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. daily. Extra hours may be arranged through the directors.

Anyone interested in the Montessori program may make arrangements to meet with Howard Dayfoot, at 836 Ontario St., from 8:30 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays, or make an appointment by calling 569-2091.

Bus cuts defended

SHERBROOKE (FJM) — The Corporation Municipale de Transport de Sherbrooke published a communique yesterday defending their recent decision to opt for an improved and more complete bus service during six days of the week starting August 27, rather than extend the current bus service to include Sundays.

The CMTS defended its decision by pointing to the benefits of a uniform scheduling system, the reidentification of bus stops, the more thorough covering of the city's territory and the better quality of the buses themselves.

In giving reasons for its decision not to resume Sunday bus service, the CMTS argued that there have been no complaints about the current lack of Sunday service. In any case, the communique said, the number of users of the bus service would be so small as to make the operation of the buses inefficient.

The CMTS drew attention to the fact that the Sores Report of 1976 recommended that it would be more advantageous to drop the Sunday bus service in favor of a more intensive service on the days when there is a considerable demand for buses.

Furthermore, said the communique, no city in the province outside Montreal and Quebec has a bus service on Sundays and in several cities of a size similar to Sherbrooke in Ontario and the United States there is also no Sunday bus service.

Finally, hearings held in April, 1979, on the subject of city's transportation needs did not reveal any demand for Sunday service.

Crop insurance figures released

SHERBROOKE (CB) — The new crop insurance program initiated by the Quebec Crop Insurance Board earlier this year reports 1265 farmers have joined the plan in Region 05.

At present, personnel from the board are in the process of taking crop samples from the 25 producers in each section whose names were drawn on May 15. These samples, which will serve to determine the value of hay, corn and cereal crops in each section, will be taken on a total of 587 farms. The producers chosen remain test farms for 12 months.

Hay crop sampling is completed and, to date, sampling of the silage corn crop is well underway.

Producers chosen in the draw are urged to call the Board one week prior to cutting crops. A letter has been sent to all farmers concerned to this effect and the Board stresses the importance of notifying them before any harvest begins.

Galt

Leonard Landry, director of financial services for the school board. But for fishermen like Lavallee, the money is just too much.

"I can't see how I can afford it," he says. "If you can't pay the money they stay home and walk the road."

"I didn't get much fish this summer and it doesn't seem fair for kids to have to stay home from school."

Other youngsters go to school but come back home to stay at Christmas because they are homesick or have trouble adapting to life in the outside world.

"I had four that went out and two quit," says Raphael Letemplier, a father of seven. "My girl of 14 she quit. Her education finished at 14. It's ridiculous."

A former adviser to North Shore students at Galt says she would not be surprised to see far fewer of them coming to Galt in the future. The government was satisfied with two experimental Level 3 classes which were offered on the North Shore as an alternative to going south last year and she expects they will try to introduce Level 4 in a year's time.

"I've turned the problem over in my mind many times - should they come to schools like Galt or should they stay on the shore - and I suppose I believe that there are advantages and disadvantages whichever way you look at it.

If you want a purely academic course I don't think there is any point in coming south but if your child has learning disabilities or wants a more specialized technical education then he or she will find better facilities away from the shore," she said.

"Even if students were to stay on the North Shore because a high school were built for them up there, many of them would still only be able to go home very few times each year because the 15 communities involved are quite spread out," she added.

Rev. Peter Spackman, rural Anglican dean for the Lower North Shore, said in an interview from Baie Comeau that the main problem is not financial but rather emotional and family related.

"You can imagine taking children from Avlmer Sound with a population of 60 and not even any cars and putting these children in a school of 3,000 in a city of 100,000. It's a form of mental rape. I should imagine."

Rev. Spackman estimates that up to half the children fail to finish their education.

The only figures the school board has date from two years ago. Lionel Landry says only 25 of about 300 students did not return to school after Christmas.

Says Paul Lavallee, whose daughter is supposed to attend Grade 9 out of the village this year: "If she comes home at Christmas and doesn't want to go back I won't make her go back."

Letemplier and others want to see Grade 9 and 10 added to their small school. They look jealously to Labrador a few miles away with its high school and to Lourdes de Blanc Sablon, a neighboring French-speaking village and its new school.

Lourdes de Blanc Sablon is one of eight villages along the coast getting high school classes to cope with the dropout problem. This year, Lourdes will have a Grade 10 class but it won't help the English-speaking children in Blanc Sablon and nearby Bradore Bay because the classes are in French.

"They got Grade 10 there this year and they got a gym there," complained Betty Hobbs of Bradore Bay. "Our kids in Bradore and Blanc Sablon got nothing."

These inter-village rivalries manifest themselves in the attempt by the school board to set up high school classes along the 400-kilometre coastline from Kegasaka to Blanc Sablon, says Landry.

In one case, it was decided to provide high school classes in one village to serve children from it and a neighboring community. But the people in the neighboring community refused to attend it because they had wanted their own school.

"Most go outside the area rather than a few miles away because they didn't win their point," the official said.

Les Grands Ballets returns

MONTREAL (CP) — After a five-week European tour which brought the company enthusiastic reviews, members of Les Grands Ballets Canadiens have returned home tired but happy.

"I'm tired but really delighted with the artistic success of the tour," director general Colin McIntyre said on his return recently.

The company performed in 11 cities in four countries and were seen by more than 45,000 people.

The program included Brian Macdonald's Double Quartet, John Butler's Catullus Carmina and Tam Ti Delam, a work set to the music of Quebecer Gilles Vigneault.

More construction

The City of Sherbrooke will begin construction work on Prospect Street between Queen and Quebec on August 13 and the section of road involved will be closed for about four weeks. The work project involves the excavation of the road surface, the installation of new sewers, the repaving of the road and the reconstruction of the sidewalks.

Sweetsburg Ward

"Considering the considerable quantity of cannabis, possession of three pipes and a portable scale, the crown is perfectly justified in its demand," Judge Bernard Legare said prior to sentencing John C. Briere. Briere, of Brigham, earlier pleaded guilty to a charge of simple possession of 1,070 grams of marijuana when Crown attorney Claude Noiseux called for a $500 fine, confiscation of the objects seized, and a two year probation order.

Peter Turner had suggested the interests of justice would be well served with a fine of $300 during his representations for sentencing.

Judge Legare fined Briere

$500 and costs, in default 60 days, bound him over to keep the public peace for two years, and ordered the goods seized confiscated. Briere was allowed 90 days to pay the fine and costs.

Jean Pierre Lefebvre, of Farnham, changed his option and pleaded guilty to a charge of having contributed to the delinquency of a minor. Crown attorney Noiseux, with the consent of the defence, produced his declaration.

Judge Legare upheld defence lawyer Pierre Lestage's request for preparation of a presentence report. Lefebvre was allowed his provisional freedom pending sentencing on Nov. 6 with the condition he refrain from communicating with his daughter in the interim.

Bell restores service

BY JASPER MEYERS
SHERBROOKE — Bell Canada yesterday reinstated service to the 25 customers who were still affected by the seven cable-cutting incidents which knocked 1,750 telephones in the Sherbrooke area out of operation early Tuesday morning.

Bell Canada management employees doing the repair work on the sabotaged junction posts gained entry to the company's store houses on Ave Street after 11 a.m. on Wednesday with the help of police after the picket lines formed by 250 striking technicians prevented them from entering the buildings.

Bell Canada had to deal with further cable cuttings Wednesday and Thursday but this time the "sabotage" occurred accidentally.

"Every summer we have some cables cut by contractors in the process of digging up the streets or sidewalks for other ends," said company spokeswoman Christine Maurice. Four cables were cut Wednesday affecting 200 subscribers and one more was cut on Thursday.

Maurice said the company did not wish to divulge the locations of the accidentally cut cables because heckling by striking technicians at the seven intentionally sabotaged sites had interfered with the repair work.

Pollution committee seeks petitions

SHERBROOKE (FJM) — The Upper and Central St. Francis de-Pollution Committee, of which Promotion Regionale de l'Environnement is the executive group, ask people who still have petitions to send them to Promotion at the following address: 95 Merry North, Apartment 200, Magog, Quebec J1X 2E7. The group wants to include the petitions in a report to be sent to Environment Minister Marcel Leger.

Grants available for the water de-pollution project for the St. Francis River basin have been divided as follows: $7.5 million for the Upper St. Francis and $14 million for the Central St. Francis.

KEITH SPICER COMMENTS:

Chaput-Rolland: Lucid voice to Ryan bandwagon

Dropping pen for sword, Solange Chaput-Rolland has made the leap a lifetime love affair with Quebec and Canada prepared her for. In next month's provincial byelection in Pre-vost, the Montreal mediastar-writer should add a passionately lucid voice to Liberal leader Claude Ryan's opposition bandwagon.

Mme Chaput-Rolland is not just another name candidate to add class to out-of-steem Quebec federalism. She is a moral authority known through an archive of books on her schizophrenic homeland, through countless radio and TV debates, and through lectures from Saint John's to Victoria.

Her link-up with the Liberals confirms and focuses Mr. Ryan's high-road strategy to counter the Parti Quebecois goal of independence.

For the past two decades, defenders of Canada's cause in Quebec have sapped its appeal through four mistakes:

- the federalist approach has been negative (anti-separatist) and apologetic. The "no-to-separatism" of rejected premier Robert Bourassa mirrored a camp in spiritual bankruptcy.

As a politics of fear, it merely heightened curiosity about the forbidden fruit of independence. And pussy-footing about the freedom-in-security advantages of federalism told everyone that Canada was somehow always second best to a sovereign Quebec.

- Canada's spiritual muscle in Quebec has been blood-starved by an obsession with economic payoffs - Mr. Bourassa's "Profitable federalism" was only the frankest statement of this trivialization of Canada.

His predecessors in Quebec City and Ottawa also left poetry to the poets, leading Quebecers to believe that Canada could never be a homeland, just an adding machine.

- federalist pleaders in Quebec have too readily agreed to reduce every public issue to an English-versus-French confrontation. This we-against-them mania has over-simplified or distorted everything from agriculture to aviation, twisting a far more complex Canada to fit exquisitely the PQ's caricatures.

- Until Claude Ryan, the content and management of the federalist cause were shaped mainly in Ottawa, not Quebec.

Even with devoted Quebecers in Ottawa (from Guy Favreau to Marc Lalonde), the federal filter tended to obscure the need to make Quebec's dignity the essential building block of "Canadian" policy in Quebec.

In joining the fray, Mme Chaput-Rolland brings a mind and heart disposed, like Mr. Ryan's, to change all this. She does so in time to help make the referendum debate a contest of two estimable options.

To begin, she is not one to debase herself or her beliefs in sterile anti-separatism. Although the tit-for-tat of polemics will force her to sock it back to PQ triflers with truth, she will lend most of her energies to extolling the Canada she believes Quebec could bargain out a home in.

Neither will she define this Canada as an accountant's paradise, as a milch-cow to drain, not nourish. "I have two loves, Quebec and Canada," she explained when she joined the Pepin-Robarts Task Force on Canadian Unity.

Love, values, the civilizing benefits of making an impossible country work are likely to animate her speeches as they do her books.

Her travels with Pepin-Robarts also expanded her grasp of the infinite nuances of Canada's peoples and societies. In helping Mr. Ryan articulate Quebec's place in Canada, she can go far beyond facile slogans replaying the Plains of Abraham.

Finally, as a deeply-rooted Quebecoise, Mme Chaput-Rolland will insist, like Mr. Ryan, on a made-in-Quebec defence of Canada.

Not only will her credentials as a Quebec nationalist make her an elusive target for the PQ, her knowledge of English-speaking Canada should help her state Quebec's interest in ways (including humor and anger) more likely to strike sympathy than will the poker play of sovereignty-association.

In all, Mr. Ryan has acquired a gilt-edged candidate. Running in her home riding, she looks like a winner. If she does win, we shall hear a great deal more of this tough but tender, lady with two loves.

Nothing was certain but death, taxes...

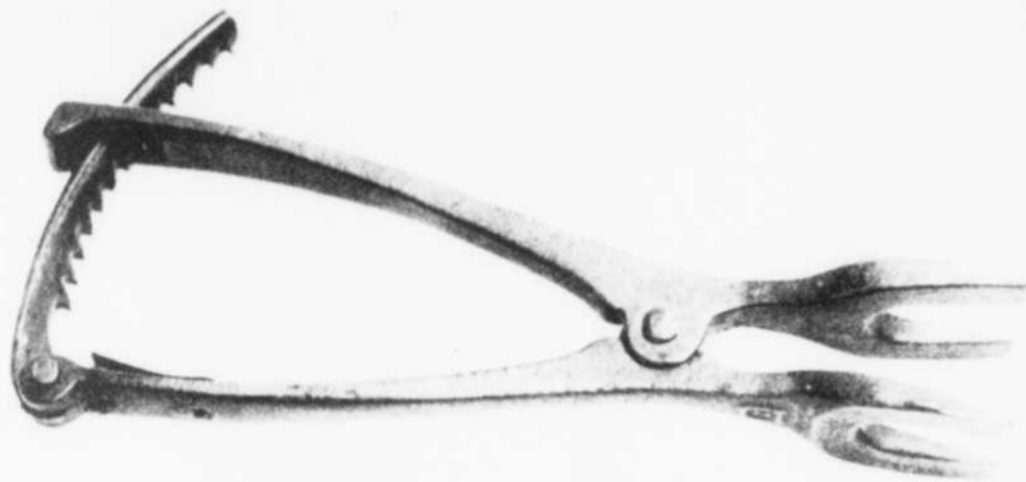

By MARJORIE GOODFELLOW

In 1789, Benjamin Franklin wrote, "in this world nothing is certain but death and taxes." Taxes were certainly a part of pioneer society in the Eastern Townships. The records of early days in the Municipality of the Township of Brompton provide proof of this fact. The text of By-law number one - "a Bye law to assess the sum of 75.4.8 pounds on the Municipality of the Township of Brompton" - reads as follows:

"That there shall be and there is hereby assessed on and to be levied of all rateable property in the Municipality of the Township of Brompton the sum of seventy five pounds four shillings and eight pence to be rated equally upon all the said Municipality now in force and shall be due and payable to the Secretary Treasurer thereof on the fifteenth day of September current in accordance with the law.

"It That the said sums shall be applied for the following among other purposes vis. To pay the amount assessed on this Municipality by the Municipal Council of the County of Richmond, the amount of the Valuers accounts of this Municipality, the Salary of the Secretary Treasurer thereof, and other expences (sic) of the Council, which have already been, or will be incurred."

(September 1, 1856)

The purpose of By-law number two was similar: to provide for the making and maintaining of roads, also by the levying of a property tax. Unfortunately, both by-laws had to be repealed and introduced all over again because they had not been published, as required by law, within fifteen days of their passage. The members of the newly created (1855) Council were learning the ropes by means of trial and error.

In addition to the property taxes collected to cover the costs of administering the municipality and the road taxes, school taxes, rental taxes, dog taxes, and wild land taxes were also the concern of the municipal government.

The first mention of school taxes appears in the municipality's minute book in 1859, when a document entitled "Extract from the Journal of proceedings of the School Commissioners of the Municipality of Brompton at a meeting of the Board May 9th, 1859" was received by Council. This was a copy of a School Commission resolution directing the Secretary Treasurer, Joseph H. Rankin, to turn over to the Municipal Council the "Roll of the School Rates" for collection. Council agreed to collect these rates at the same time and in the same manner as the municipal assessments. It would be fascinating to read the "Journal of proceedings of the School Commissioners of the Municipality of Brompton". Does any reader know where it might be?

The Wild Land Tax ensured that those portions of road bordering unsettled land would be maintained. For example, a November 4, 1867, motion of Council directed "that $1.85 be paid to Simon Beattie for work done by him in Division No. 6 being the amount of Wild Land road tax on behalf of lot 18, Range 4, said Township".

A rental tax, imposed in 1880, proved to be so unpopular that it was removed after one year. The text of the By-law, number 77, authorized an assessment of three cents on the dollar on all rentals other than those inhabited by people who already paid taxes on real estate. When a similar resolution was introduced the following year, it was amended to read that the rental tax be cancelled. The amendment carried with four members of Council (Boagie, Allaire, Chevalier and McMahon) voting in favour of the amendment and two (Rankin and Beattie) against.

The dog tax was imposed by Council in the face of opposition. In 1872 a tax of one dollar to be levied on the owner or keeper of any dog in the township was the subject of a resolution. Attempts to amend the text so that the tax would apply only to keepers of more than one dog were unavailing and By-law number 54 was enacted. One wonders how strictly it was enforced, particularly in the farm sections of the municipality.

Today brings another puzzle to test the memories or the ingenuity of readers. The object pictured here is nine inches long. What is it? Send your answers to:

Editorial reaction to FLQ sentences mixed

Editorial opinion in Canadian newspapers was divided Wednesday over the equity of the sentence of two years less a day meted out to Jacques and Louise Cossette-Trudel for their role in the FLQ kidnapping of James Cross in 1970.

The Toronto Globe and Mail called the sentence "an unacceptably small price for a heinous crime," while the Montreal Gazette said "it was probably the wisest decision Chief Sessions Judge Yves Mayrand could have made."

Chief editorialist Marcel Adam of Montreal's La Presse wrote that he understood why Judge Mayrand had not wanted to impose a sentence smacking of revenge, but "I admit I find it difficult to understand why a sign of vengeance would have been seen in a bit longer term, let's say four or six years."

The Ottawa Journal commented that "the assessed sentence is long enough to make clear that there is no substitute for jail for serious offences simply because they are political in motivation. A longer sentence wouldn't have made that point any better."

The Edmonton Journal observed: "Canadian justice has treated the Cossette-Trudels fairly and compassionately. They did not do the same for James Cross." The Globe and Mail said in part: "Jacques and Louise Cossette-Trudel have been asked to pay an unacceptably small price for a heinous crime... It was a cruel crime, a crime that let loose in Canada the kind of terrorism that has afflicted so many other countries to the point where justice has been virtually suspended.... 'Nobody cries for vengeance, but what kind of deterrent is this?' 'The trivial sentences imposed upon them are the most eloquent statement that could be made in the matter... Most Canadians will have concern that they be some day rehabilitated, but not before they have endured a penalty that fits the very ugly - and contagious - crimes which they committed."

DECISION 'WISE'
 The Gazette commented: "For at least some of those who remember the October crisis in 1970, the sentence... may seem, if anything, light. But it was probably the wisest decision Chief Sessions Judge Yves Mayrand could have made."

"It may not be greatly relevant that the crimes were committed nearly nine years ago; it certainly seems irrelevant that the Cossette-Trudels lived most of that time in Paris, in what their supporters called 'exile'... What does matter is that when they chose to come home again they did so openly, giving themselves up to justice..."

"All things considered, a sentence of two years is about right. And now, at last, we may be able to begin putting the terrible events of 1970 behind us." La Presse said: "It is necessary to take into account, before judging, what the judge said: The major criterion, the basic philosophy which must inspire a judge in the determination of a sentence, is public interest."

"The judge took into account, doubtless with reason, the defence argument that the eight years abroad could be the equivalent of four years in prison..."

"But he wanted above all to avoid a higher sentence being perceived as revenge. This preoccupation is important. However I admit that it is difficult for me to understand why a sign of vengeance would have been seen in a bit longer term, let's say four or six years, when it is known that ordinarily crime of the same nature... calls at least for 10 years imprisonment."

The Ottawa Journal said: "The Cossette-Trudels, like most other leftovers from the short-lived revolutionary era of Quebec politics, no longer constitute a grave threat to public order or safety..."

"None of this, however, was cause for the courts opting out of the responsibility to punish the offenders. The defence counsel argument that eight years out of the country constituted a sufficient sentence was pure nonsense..."

"The assessed sentence is long enough to make clear that there is no substitute for jail for serious offences simply because they are political in motivation. A longer sentence wouldn't have made that point any better, however much it would have satisfied many Canadians whose sense of the fitness of things is understandably challenged by the sentence and their memories of October, 1970. But making new martyrs of old criminals would ultimately make those memories more bitter..."

The Edmonton Journal editorialized: "It would have been a terrible miscarriage of justice had the Cossette-Trudels been discharged without serving time in jail..."

"A harsh sentence on the repentant couple, who voluntarily returned to Canada after eight years in exile, would have been malicious. But punishment in the form of jail was essential, despite concern for their two children."

"Canadian justice has treated the Cossette-Trudels fairly and compassionately. They did not do the same for James Cross."

Not their job

We agree the CBC shouldn't be in the fund-raising business, neither for the boat people nor for anybody else, but since there are few other organizations with the technical facilities or the staff to push a nationwide campaign, surely they have some role to play in any fund-raising effort?

Yes, there are too many unanswered questions about the Vietnamese immigrants arriving in Canada, and the federal and provincial governments have to clarify details such as who is going to pay the air fares and health costs. And the CBC shouldn't be a prime organizer of this Boat People extravaganza. But who else would or could do it? This is where all the best intentions in the world can't accomplish as much as a touch of professionalism. Let's see the pro-Boaters doing a little more national organizing and a little less talking. Then there wouldn't be any question of the CBC taking the initiative.

Hush, Maggie

Margaret may kiss and Margaret may tell, but as long as there's a breath of life in this typewriter, Margaret Sinclair Trudeau will never be the prime minister of Canada. The mere fact that she fantasizes this possibility leaves us feeling bleak.

It's not because she's a woman. It's not because she's separated. It's not even because she's such a blabbermouth. It's because she's the ultimate development of modern North American society, a total hedonist, an idolator of the credo which says if it's fun, do it.

We're not saying she doesn't have the right to break all the laws and social conventions she can get away with, but what really roasts us is that if she wasn't Margaret Sinclair Trudeau, she would have been in jail or an asylum years ago. She's a spoiled brat, a rich kid who used everything she was born with to work her way higher. Even so, we wouldn't object to this if it wasn't at the cost of pain and embarrassment to so many essentially good human beings.

This lady is a shark. She belongs in an aquarium.

Letters

Editor:

The attached is a copy of a letter sent to Premier Levesque, relative to his government's attitude toward the Syndicat des Fonctionnaires Provinciaux du Quebec:

Dear Mr. Premier:

As a national union representing 190,000 provincial employees across Canada, we wish to express grave concerns with your government's present rigid attitude toward the members of the Syndicat des Fonctionnaires Provinciaux du Quebec.

In the past, your government (and your party), has been perceived as both responsive and sympathetic to the cause of labor and working people. We therefore find it most difficult to understand the unrealistic wages and benefits you recently offered your own employees.

We are aware of the political pitfalls you might face in granting fair increases to public employees. But we are strongly opposed to politicians trying to demonstrate fiscal "responsibility" at the expense of public employees. Taxpayers cannot continue to expect valuable government services without equitable recompense to those who deliver those valuable services.

The dollar is not the only commodity being devalued today. The public employee is being systematically devalued, and an entire mythology has arisen about these employees. The popular image of the public employee as overpaid, underworked, etc., etc., has reached a point of gross distortion. Your government, through its recent unreasonable offer to the SFPQ, has sadly shown that it wishes to perpetuate, rather than dispel, this elaborate mythology.

Escape routes close as Viets, U.S. talk airlift

HANOI (AP) — Vietnam is willing to discuss flying refugees directly out of the country on U.S. planes, U.S. congressional sources reported, but has vowed to stop illegal exits by sea and has executed some of its citizens who planned escapes and arrested 4,000 others.

The sources were among a nine-member delegation headed by Representative Benjamin Rosenthal (Dem. N.Y.) who met Thursday with acting Foreign Minister Nguyen Co Thach and Deputy Foreign Minister Hoang Bich Son, then left for Hong Kong en route home.

Another delegation, led by Representative Lester Wolff (Dem. N.Y.) arrives today.

The sources, who asked not to be named, said in addition to the U.S. airlift that Thach said one million ethnic Chinese are waiting to get out of Vietnam and that his government was willing to accept three consular officers in Ho Chi Minh City, formerly Saigon, to process refugees under UN auspices.

and that the officers could be American.

Thach also said Vietnam has dropped its demand for reconstruction aid as a condition for establishing relations with the United States, the sources said, and Rosenthal later told reporters as Thach stood alongside the congressman that Vietnam was "very, very anxious for relations with the United States."

Thach told reporters earlier the United States backed down on a pledge to establish relations last fall because of the refugee problem and Vietnam's invasion of Cambodia eight months ago to oust the pro-Chinese government there and install a pro-Hanoi one.

But Rosenthal said after his talks Thursday that the two sides have moved closer together on the refugee issue and that there has been a "narrowing of viewpoints" toward the goal of achieving an orderly emigration of refugees from Vietnam. About 400,000 are jamming camps throughout Southeast Asia.

A U.S. congressional delegation returning from Hanoi said Thursday that Vietnamese leaders say they are doing everything possible to halt the exodus of refugees.

"We were told that 4,000 people had been prosecuted for attempting to leave Vietnam illegally," Representative Richard Nolan (Dem. Minn.) said. "Several people have been executed there for organizing departures in unseaworthy vessels."

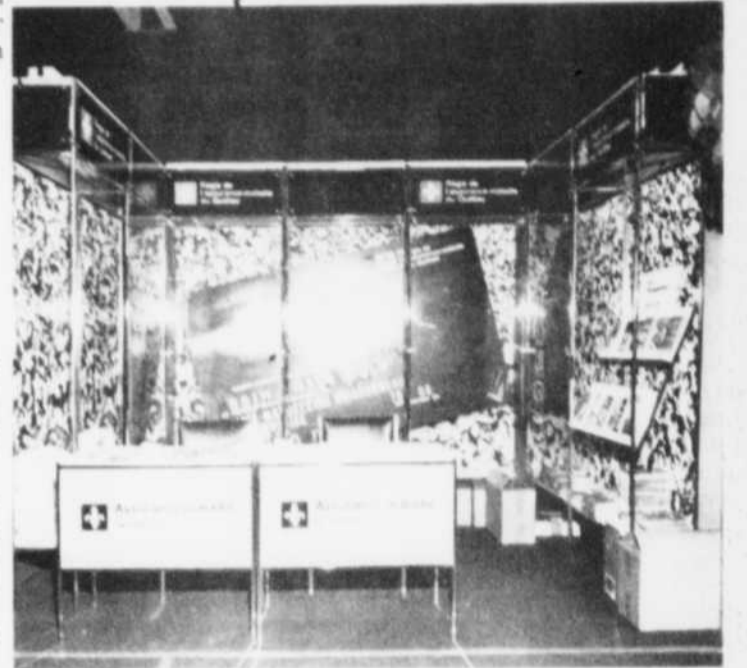

Rosenthal said, and Thach nodded in agreement, that Vietnam's moratorium on the unauthorized exodus of refugees by sea was "a permanent policy that would go on forever," and that Thach has informed the delegation that 4,000 people were awaiting prosecution, half the fishing fleet of Vietnam has been stolen by refugees and some would-be escapees have been executed.

The delegation, led by Representative Benjamin Rosenthal (Dem. N.Y.) spent 24 hours in Hanoi and met leading Vietnamese officials including Deputy Foreign Minister Hoang Bich Son.

Representative Robert Drinan (Dem. Mass.) said the Vietnamese offered a complex explanation of the exodus of ethnic Chinese.

Nolan termed the situation "somewhat understandable."

"The Vietnamese officials have a serious fear of the Chinese government and see the Chinese become a fifth column within their nation. They reminded us several times of the U.S. incarceration of Japanese Americans during the Second World War."

CBC RAPPED FOR AID SPECIAL

SHERBROOKE (NY) — A three hour superspecial coordinating live concerts in six major Canadian cities - Montreal, Toronto, Vancouver, Edmonton, Winnipeg and Charlottetown - will be telecast on the CBC national network on Friday, September 14, bringing the plight of the Vietnamese boat people to the attention of Canadians.

However, the project came under fire almost immediately after the announcement of the variety show was made by its executive producer, Stan Jacobson, at a press conference in Toronto on Thursday morning.

It's outrageous for the Canadian Broadcasting Corp. to telecast a musical special to help raise money for Vietnamese refugees, says a self-appointed spokesman for a group of Edmontonians objecting to their large-scale resettlement in Canada.

Jack Pickett, former Alberta Liberal leader, said Thursday he objects to the CBC's plans to hold the television benefit.

"I have sent a telegram to the president of the CBC, Al Johnson in Ottawa," Pickett said. "I've sent a telegram to Ron Atkey, the minister of immigration. I've sent a telegram to Sinclair Stevens, the president of the treasury board and I've voiced my objection most strongly."

"I think the CBC has no right doing this. It destroys its impartiality on this issue because it's a very emotional issue. A lot of Canadians are objecting very strongly to large numbers of these people being brought in."

Pickett said the CBC has not held similar fund-raising activities for the native peoples of Canada or for other immigrants to the country and to do so now, "indicates the top management of the CBC favors bringing these people into Canada."

Pickett said the telecast will cost Canadian taxpayers about $300,000.

The proceeds from ticket sales will go to Operation Lifeline. This unprecedented affair will show-case prominent Canadian artists who are being urged by their professional unions (ACTRA, AFM, Equity) to waive all performing fees. Already a large number of well known entertainers have volunteered their services - The Irish Rovers, The Feux Follets, John Allan Cameron, Liona Boyd, Bruce Cockburn, The Canadian Brass, Patsy Gallant, Buffy Ste. Marie, Murray McLaughlin, Carroll Baker, Gloria Kaye, Leon Bibb, and Dan Hill. Others are expected to follow suit.

In a telephone conversation following the press conference Jacobson told The Record that he likened the plight of the Vietnamese boat people to the holocaust of World War II.

The idea for this benefit was not one man's idea but the result of a desire among many at the CBC to do something constructive, said Jacobson. It seemed a logical follow-up for the national television network to spearhead a mammoth sponsorship drive, after the federal government led the way by admitting the refugees he said.

Nyerere asks Clark aid

DAR ES SALAAM (CP) — President Julius Nyerere asked visiting Prime Minister Joe Clark on Thursday for more financial help for Tanzania but Clark told his host this would be politically and economically difficult for his government at present.

"I'm like Oliver Twist," an official quoted Nyerere as telling Clark, a reference to the hungry waif in the Charles Dickens novel who asked the boss of the workhouse after a lunch of gruel: "Please, sir, I want some more."

The aid question came up during discussions that stretched 90 minutes, a half-hour scheduled. The talks, sandwiched between a luncheon and an official dinner at the presidential state house, followed the formal signing of the next phase of a five-year $30-million aid program to develop wheat farming in this East African country. RETURNS SUNDAY

Clark, in Tanzania for two days on his way home from the Zambia Commonwealth conference, was flying north today to visit a Canadian wheat research farm and a luncheon and an official dinner at the presidential state house, followed the formal signing of the next phase of a five-year $30-million aid program to visited a handicraft shop and factory, a small industry backed by $25,000 from CUSO, Canadian University Students Overseas.

Nyerere made his bid for more aid after outlining his country's severe financial and economic problems, made worse by the cost of the long war in neighboring Uganda, that toppled dictator Idi Amin earlier this year. Tanzanian troops are still there.

While the prime minister and the president held their talks, Maureen McTeer

News Briefs

Malouf inquiry delayed

QUEBEC (CP) — Mr. Justice Albert Malouf's report on the $1.4-billion cost of the 1976 Olympic Games will be delayed for "technical" reasons, Premier Rene Levesque said Thursday.

Originally due Sept. 30, the report may not be released before next April, the premier said.

Malouf recently concluded a lengthy series of public hearings into construction problems that pushed the cost of Olympic facilities to more than three times the original estimates.

Swan Lake to tour Canada

MONTREAL (CP) — Canadian audiences will have their first opportunity to see the National Ballet of Canada's new sets and costumes for Swan Lake when the company opens an eight-city Canadian tour here Sept. 6. The decor, designed by Desmond Heely, was first seen during the company's recent debut in London's Covent Garden.

Cablevision sold

MONTREAL (CP) — National Cablevision Ltd., Quebec's largest and Canada's second-largest cable television company, has just concluded a $1.3 million agreement to buy Video Cable Services of Laval from Treeford Lee. The company has 9,200 subscribers in Laval and several towns north of Montreal.

Sherbrooke man charged in slaying

SHERBROOKE, Que. (CP) — Patrick Baron, 22, of Sherbrooke pleaded not guilty Thursday of second-degree murder in the deaths of two women who perished in a fire here in October, 1977. Sessions Judge Laurent Dube set a preliminary hearing for Aug. 14.

Young Liberals meet

DRUMMONDVILLE, Que. (CP) — About 500 members of the Quebec Liberal Party's youth wing will hold their annual convention here Aug. 16-18. Party leader Claude Ryan is also expected to attend.

Magog Foundry reopens

MAGOG, Que. (CP) — Magog Foundry, which closed last year after experiencing financial difficulties, has been bought by the Belgian-American company, American Magotteaux of Nashville, Tenn., foundry manager Rolf Nutten announced Wednesday in this town about 150 kilometres east of Montreal. The Fonderie Magotteaux Canada will invest $3.5 million in the plant to diversify production. American Magotteaux has six other foundries around the world.

Terrorist trial starts

REHOVOT, Israel (AP) — The trial of two Palestinians charged in the bloodiest terrorist attack in Israel's history began Thursday with the defendants flashing V-for-victory signs and claiming they did not take part in the shooting.

Thirty-four Israelis were killed when 11 terrorists came ashore in northern Israel on March 11, 1978, went on a shooting spree along the Haifa-Tel Aviv highway, seizing a busload of Israelis, and then were stopped by Israeli police and soldiers in a battle about 15 kilometres north of Tel Aviv.

Spraying comparisons said unfair

KIRKLAND LAKE, Ont. (CP) — Comparisons between aerial spraying programs to combat spruce budworms in Ontario and New Brunswick are unfair, an entomologist with the ministry of natural resources told a meeting Thursday.

Dr. Rod Carrow said Ontario will spray only 45,000 acres this year, compared with the four million acres planned in New Brunswick.

Oil spill hits beaches

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — Tests indicate the world's largest oil spill, diluted and broken down during its two-month advance on the Texas shores, is less deadly than first feared for the delicate environment of the Gulf of Mexico coast, scientists say.

"The results are pretty encouraging; we did not find that the oil was significantly toxic," Dr. Patrick Parker, head of the University of Texas Aransas Pass Marine Laboratory, said Thursday. "This oil has changed drastically. What we tested is much less toxic."

Nazi jailed in West Berlin

WEST BERLIN (Reuter) — Foundry worker Wolfgang Rahl was sentenced to three years in jail Thursday for trying to reestablish Adolf Hitler's Nazi Party with a series of meetings in West Berlin beer halls. Nine other neo-Nazis, including two women, were sentenced to six to 18 months. Seven of the sentences were suspended.

LATE SUMMER-EARLY FALL SAVINGS? SURE

And did you know there couldn't be a better time to be in Holland or Europe?

In Europe, you can still have sunny, pleasant days right into October. Which is why so many experienced vacationers prefer to go to Holland and Europe in the late summer and early fall when the tourist hordes have gone and hotel and land arrangements cost less, being off-season.

Best of all, KLM makes it easier to get to Europe's gateway, Amsterdam, during this time with healthy reductions on all air fares. From August 6th, you could save as much as $75 on KLM's super-bargain Charter Class Fare and yet another $25 on September 16th, depending on your return date. KLM's economy return fares drop by $164 and 14-60 day excursions drop by $139 on September 15th, too.

Check the chart for CCF Savings. You can save all year 'round with these bargain priced fares but particularly in the late summer and early fall. And remember, these fares are the ones that offer the greatest choice of departure and return dates.

With KLM and CP Air, you can choose from 5 to 7 departures a week! With our new one-way fares (return combinations are necessary, see chart) you're free to choose exactly the day you want to go and the day you want to return within 7 to 180 days.

There are other benefits, too. With us, your children under 2 fly free, under 12 for 20% off the CCF or 50% off the excursion fare whichever is less.

See Europe by car and save even more. Ask about KLM's 4 Country Summer Surprise at $66* U.S., the Drive-Inn Europe at $254* U.S. for one week and car rentals at $17 a week with unlimited mileage. At the same time you can get all the details on KLM's lower Charter Class Fares. Whether you're visiting Holland, or using Amsterdam as your gateway to Europe, there really isn't a cheaper way to get such holiday freedom and flexibility for the coming off-season. Ask your Travel Agent.

CCF fares only available for return trips. $50 non-refundable deposit at time of booking. Balance due 30 days before departure. Cancellation fee of $100, if cancellation within 30 days before departure. Low cost cancellation insurance recommended. Fares do not include $84 Canadian transportation tax, and are subject to change. *per person, for 2 persons travelling together.

Area students chosen

Six Sherbrooke area students were recently chosen to be subventioned for their post-secondary studies under the Canadian Forces Regular Officer Training Plan (ROTP).

The ROTP offers outstanding students from the secondary or collegiate level the possibility of pursuing their education to the baccalaureate level at either one of the three Canadian Military Colleges or at a university of their choice, depending on their academic aspirations. They receive a basic salary of $415.00 per month, covering food, lodging and expenses, while all tuition, books and material are paid by Canadian Forces. During the summer holidays, the candidates travel to various Canadian Forces bases to undergo military training and "on the job training" in the profession of their choice.

During the past year, Nora Naaman, Yves Messier, Denis Lessard and Alain Savage attended the CEGEP de Sherbrooke. Jean Laliberte attended the Seminaire de Sherbrooke and Marc Vaillancourt was a student at Stanstead College. Miss Naaman will follow a three-year program at the University of her choice, while the male candidates will be subventioned for four years at one of the Canadian Military Colleges. They are presently undergoing Basic Officer Training at Canadian Forces Base, Chilliwack, British Columbia.

Fleury-Bennett

On Saturday, July 7, Linda Beryl, eldest daughter of Beryl and Theron Bennett was united in marriage to Owen Allan, only son of Laura and Leo Fleury, and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Betts, all of Bishopton, at the Bishopton United Church. Reverend Gordon Simons officiated.

Traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. Florence Harrison. She also accompanied Miss Merilee MacAulay, who rendered two solos: "Love Me Truly," as the bride party came down the aisle, and "You Light up my Life", during the signing of the register.

The church was tastefully decorated for the occasion, with the guest pews marked with a nosegay of two daisies, centered by a rose.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a satin and lace gown, featuring a high neckline, long sleeves ending in points over the hands and a short train. She wore a large matching picture hat and carried a bouquet of yellow daisies, with a touch of white and edged with green fern.

Miss Cynthia Logan of Birchton, the maid of honor wore a gown of ice blue. Her bouquet was of white daisies with a touch of blue.

Marcel Breton of St. Adolphe de Dudswell, acted as best man, and the ushers were Lyndon and David Betts, first cousins of the groom.

The bride's mother wore a printed beige dress of polyester, and a corsage of bronze and yellow roses.

The groom's mother chose a two piece sky blue dress. Her corsage was of yellow roses.

Mrs. Betts, the groom's maternal grandmother was in a printed dress of variegated shades and a corsage of white roses.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Salle Jean Paul in Bury, where approximately 175 guests assembled to extend good wishes to the young couple and enjoy an evening of dancing. A delicious lunch was served by the groom's mother, Mrs. Fleury. The head table was centered with a three tiered wedding cake, made by the bride's mother and great-aunt, Mrs. Sara Bewick, iced and decorated by Rosemary Lowe.

The bride and groom later left for a weekend of camping. Out of town guests attended from Herts, England; Hampton, Mass.; Kingston, Ont.; Wakefield, Que.; Sherbrooke, Lennoxville, Sawyerville, East Angus, St. Adolphe, Bishopton and the surrounding area.

On Friday evening, a rehearsal party was held at the home of the groom's mother. Prior to her marriage, Linda was entertained at a kitchen shower by Cynthia Logan in Birchton, and a joint miscellaneous shower with Carolyn Downes by several ladies in Bishopton.

Mr. and Mrs. Owen Allan Fleury

Klan camp like others... almost

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — In most ways, it looked like any other summer camp — children munching hot dogs and playing volleyball. But the guard at the gate was dressed in white robes and packed a pistol, and the kids took time from their games for rifle practice.

A counsellor at the camp told the youngsters they were being taught how to fire a rifle because, "Some day you'll be Klansmen in robes and you'll be fighting beside us."

The camp, somewhere north of Birmingham, is run by the Invisible Empire of the Ku Klux Klan. The 47-acre site is owned by Roger Handley, Alabama grand dragon of this particular Klan faction.

Reporters who visited the camp Sunday, at the Klan's invitation, were taken to its convoy-style, over a roundabout route of country roads that made its exact location hard to pinpoint.

Bill Wilkinson of Denham Springs, La., imperial wizard of the faction, said in addition to usual summer-camp activities, target practice and karate lessons, campers attend weekly classes on "what it means to be white."

"We want to make what the liberal media would call racists out of them."

Tony Anderson, state director for the Klan's Youth Corps program, said after Life magazine printed several pictures of camp activities in its August issue, it was decided that the camp should be opened to other media.

So on Sunday, NBC News showed up. So did a crew from CBS's 60 Minutes, the U.S. correspondent for the Danish national television network and a reporter from a New York newspaper.

They waited for hours under a blistering sun to see youngsters heft a rifle and take two shots apiece at paper plates lined up in a ravine.

"There are people, particularly Communists, who would stoop to anything, even attacking kids," Wilkinson said.

Some of the youngsters told reporters that they joined the corps because of harassment and physical attacks from blacks in schools.

Wilkinson said members of the youth group, which is open to 12- to 18-year-olds, are not Klan members. He said he expects most will join the Klan when they are adults.

Ann Landers says

Boozing for the birds

Dear Ann: I have been a flight attendant with a major airline for the past ten years. My flying partners and I have taken a lot of abuse from passengers and we are fed up. May we enlighten your readers by quoting the U.S. Department of Transportation, Federal Aviation Administration Regulations?

(a) No person may drink alcoholic beverages aboard an aircraft unless they are served by aircraft personnel. (In other words, you can't bring your own bottle.)

(b) No passenger should be served any alcoholic beverages if that person appears to be intoxicated.

(c) No person should be permitted to board any aircraft if that person appears to be intoxicated.

Ann, I am writing to you on behalf of many of us who have had it with obnoxious, drunken passengers. They not only give us a hard time but they make it impossible for the other passengers to enjoy their flight.

Here's one last quote from the FAA regulations: 91.8 Prohibition against interference with crew members.

(a) No person may assault, threaten, intimidate, or interfere with a crew member in the performance of his or her duties aboard an aircraft being operated in air commerce.

Passengers who do not comply with regulations may be fined up to $1,000. — Sally Starstream

Dear Sally: As a frequent passenger, I hope all airline personnel will have the courage to enforce these regulations. Thanks for writing.

Dear Ann: I know you were trying to do the Administration Regulations? favor when you suggested that people not ask them to send cards to relatives who were celebrating anniversaries and birthdays under 100 — but you goofed.

The following appeared in the National Retired Teachers Assn. news bulletin: "The White House will send a birthday card to anyone 80 or over, and an anniversary card to a couple celebrating a 50th anniversary or higher. Send requests at least one month before the event to Greetings Office, Office of the President, The White House, 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20500." — Scout in Kalamazoo

Dear Scout: When the Carters first went to the White House, requests for birthday and anniversary greetings were answered with a form letter that read in part: "It is necessary to limit presidential greetings to citizens of 100 years or more." The policy was changed and they didn't let me know. Result: Egg on the face!

Dear Ann: I've been living with this guy four years. Problem: I'd rather be his wife than his housekeeper. We get along fine but I want marriage. Whenever I bring up the subject he has to go to a meeting or he falls asleep. How can I get him to walk me down the aisle — or get out of this mess? — Maid Service in K.C.

Dear Maid: My advice is to get out of the mess by announcing you are leaving — if it's his pad — or informing him that HE is leaving — if it's yours. Don't settle for anything in-between or you'll be writing this same letter again in four years.

Dear Ann Landers: I would like to respond to the person who wrote, "I know what I want to say, but when I begin to talk, even in small groups, my brains turn to jelly and my tongue leads a life of its own."

Your answer suggested that "someone else do the presentation" since not all people are talkers... some are doers.

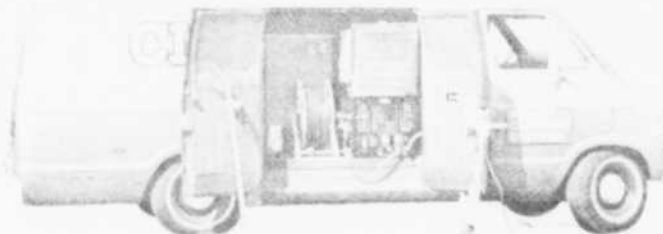

May I make another suggestion? Sign up for a public speaking class. This will give you the know-how, confidence and experience that will enable you to handle the speaking part of your job without fear and worry. Thousands have done so — and you can, too. Even students who start out shaking with stage fright often end up enjoying the experience of speaking before an audience. I've seen it happen. — Natalie Selibar, Speech Instructor, Roosevelt University, Chicago.

Dear N.S.: Your suggestion was a great deal more positive and constructive than mine. Thank you for the assist.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) It's fine to offer your sympathy to one in need today, but material loans should be avoided. Chances are you'll both lose out.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Group endeavors go smoothly for you today, but dealings on a one-to-one basis may prove a little more difficult. Use fact.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Summon help before tackling any tasks that are really too strenuous for one person. Surprising, it won't be too difficult to find help.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Although you normally like to be where the crowd is, you'll be much happier today in intimate surroundings with the one you love.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You may get a chance to show where your true loyalties lie today when someone in your family comes under attack. Stand up for your loved one.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Your thinking may be slightly off the track today. This could throw you into a state of confusion. Good advice from a friend, however, will set things straight again.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Use your creativity and talents, not your pocketbook, to further your lot. Apply yourself and you can achieve your desires without spending a bundle.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Meet opposition today by turning on the fact and charm of which you are so capable. You'll be able to melt even the hardest of hearts.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) If a project isn't turning out right today, retreat and begin anew rather than fight a losing battle. Your second methods will prove to be effective.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You have a tendency to be a trifle antisocial today and could even spoil the fun for others. Listen to a friend if he or she gives you the high sign.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You are quite capable of achieving what you want by yourself, so don't look for others to cater to you. In fact, you'll be far happier reaching your goals on your own.

you meet socially will find you to be refreshing today. You compliment them for things that are legitimately deserving of praise. They'll recognize this.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Achieving recognition is very important for you at this time. You may have felt you have been denied this up to now. Today you may begin receiving your just desserts.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) The wheel of fortune seems to be spinning in your direction today. You should profit from it. Remember, though, that Lady Luck can be a very fickle companion.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Some interesting changes that you didn't inaugurate or anticipate could take place today. If conditions seem to be fluctuating, don't let it disturb you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) If you have an important matter to work out today, skip the committee bit and get to the top person on a one-to-one basis. The results will be fair for both parties.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) In matters affecting your personal well-being, you're fortunate today. Since luck is on your side, make the most of your opportunities.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Persons who are associated with you today in bold, imaginative projects should consider themselves fortunate. You're lucky for all concerned.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) The welfare of others is your prime concern today. Though your motive is selfless, you could derive some fringe benefits from your excellent attitude.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Your ability to recognize the seeds of success where others see only potential weeds is well-founded today. Your optimism is right. They're wrong.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Career or financial matters should be given top priority today. Tend to things that enhance your security first, and have your fun and games later.

Fishing, hunting and conservation
by Real Hebert

Even though we are in the middle of the holiday season and most of us are spending our free time fishing, it won't be long before the hunting season will be upon us. In fact, the caribou season will open in Zones 03, 04 and in the part of Zone 01 situated to the west of the railway linking Sept Iles and Labrador on August 25 and on September 1 the deer season will open on Anticosti Island.

In Zones A3, A4, B1 and B2 there will be hunting for bucks only between October 27 and November 4. In Zones C and D this restriction will be in effect from October 27 to November 11, in Zone F1 it will be from October 27 to October 31, and in Zones F2, F3, and F4 it will be from October 27 to November 7.

Last spring, the Ministry of Tourism, Fish and Game passed several amendments to regulations affecting the hunting of moose. In all Zones except K2, K3, M, N, 01 and 02, it will no longer be permissible to hunt moose individually, one will have to go as a member of a party of two or three and each group will be allowed to kill only one animal.

Here are the hunting seasons allowed for moose this fall: Zone B2 will be open from October 6 to October 14, Zones C, G, J1, J2 and J3 will be open from October 6 to October 21; Zone D will be open from October 20 to October 28. Zones F3 and F4 will be open from October 13 to October 21; Zone H1 will be open from October 6 to October 28. Zone H2 will be open from September 29 to October 21; Zone K1 will be open from September 22 to October 14; Zone K2 will be open from September 15 to October 14; Zones K3 and M will be open from September 22 to October 14; Zone N will be open from September 29 to October 14; and Zones 01 and 02 will be open from September 1 to October 8. Elsewhere in the province, moose hunting is prohibited.

The hare and partridge seasons both start on September 15.

Although in the past one could hunt bobcat, racoon and fox at any time of the year, (last spring) the Ministry of Tourism, Fish and Game brought in restrictions on the hunting of these animals in Zones A1, A2, A3, A4, B1, B2 and the part of Zone E situated on the south shore of the St. Lawrence so that now the season has been limited from November 1 to March 31.

These are the most notable elements of the regulations for the 1979-80 hunting season. I recommend that all hunters acquire a copy of the brochure entitled "Resume of hunting regulations for the 1979-80 season". They are available from Ministry offices and from places which sell hunting licences and should be carefully read in order to note all the modifications which have taken place since last year.

It is also time to start planning your hunting trips if you have not done so already. In fact, it is already too late to make reservations in many of the provincial parks. For example, no more reservations for caribou hunting or for hunting on Anticosti Island can be made.

If you intend to be making a hunting trip through an outfitter you should make your reservations as soon as possible; many outfitters no longer have any more space.

Those of you who are interested in hunting small animals on reserves in Quebec can reserve a chalet by calling the following toll-free number: 1-800-462-5349.

Here are the names of the reserves on which small animals can be hunted: Papeau-Labelle and Joliette (September 15 to November 11).

You can also reserve chalets for hunting Virginia deer on the Rimouski reserve where the season runs from October 27 to November 11.

In concluding, I hope that this information will help you plan a successful hunting trip this fall.

JACOBY'S BRIDGE

made the slam in spite of the jack of hearts being wrong. He discarded his low club on the ace of spades, ruffed a spade, cashed his ace of clubs, led a trump to dummy, ruffed a club, led another trump to dummy, ruffed dummy's last club, led a heart toward dummy and rose with the queen.

East took his ace and was caught in a total end play. A club or spade lead would allow South to ruff and discard a heart toward dummy; a heart lead would run up to dummy's 10.

Why did the Professor adopt this unusual line of play? He was sure from the bidding that East held the ace of hearts. West's three-spade opening showed seven spades. He had played one diamond and three clubs so could not hold more than two hearts.

If one of them had been the jack, the simple play of leading toward dummy's 10 of hearts would have won and the Professor would have looked silly when his fancy play backfired, but experts play the percentages and the percentage play worked this time.

Montrealers explore deserted island

MONTREAL (CP) — A dozen young Montrealers will soon cast off in their home-made 12-metre sailboat, bound to start a new society on a deserted island in the South Pacific.

"We want to go somewhere where we won't bother anybody and nobody will bother us," says captain Daniel Kemp.

It's not a religious philosophy that is pushing the group to seek their new utopian home, explains Kemp. "It's a philosophy about the individual. We're just a group of friends who want to live together with more humane values than in the rest of the world."

The first leg of the journey will take the crew from Montreal along the St. Lawrence River and then south to Champerico, Guatemala, where they will rendezvous with 25 more partners who have been experimenting with survival techniques needed to start life on the deserted island.

Then it's through the Panama Canal and across the Pacific

Not one member of the group, which includes former engineers, secretaries, nurses, a translator, housewives and a 13-year old child, has sailing experience on any body of water bigger than Lake Champlain, which straddles the Quebec-Vermont border.

But at least they know their vessel. It was crafted of teak and mahogany in a year-long, 15-hour-a-day cooperative effort by group members.

LEARN FROM RIVER

The St. Lawrence River will be a good teacher, Kemp expects. "It's hard to navigate here because there are a lot of wind changes and currents."

CALL FOR TENDERS

The Ville de Sherbrooke is calling tenders for the sale of lot 18A 360, Range V1, Canton d'Ascot, located on Galt West Street and having an area of 6,605.8 square meters. The City will retain a servitude of sewer at the north extremity of said lot and one servitude on the south east side of the lot.

Unless the City Council decides otherwise, the successful tenderer must bind himself to complete the construction of an edifice industrial on said lot within two (2) years of the signature of the deed of sale in default of which said lot will be retroceded to the Ville de Sherbrooke for the amount of the tender, without interest, all notarial fees being the responsibility of the tenderer. The successful tenderer must bind himself not to resell said lot without first offering it to the Ville de Sherbrooke at the price of the tender unless the construction requested in the preceding paragraph is completed.

Tenders must be accompanied with a certified cheque, payable to the Ville de Sherbrooke, for an amount of one thousand and fifty dollars ($1,050.00). This deposit shall constitute an account on the price offered by the successful tenderer, shall be returned to the unsuccessful tenderers and shall remain the property of the Ville de Sherbrooke should the successful tenderer refuse to conclude the transaction.

Sealed tenders, marked "Tender for the sale of lot 18A 360" must reach the City Clerk's Office, at the City Hall, 145 Wellington Street North, Sherbrooke, on or before August 20, 1979, at 11:00 hours.

The Ville de Sherbrooke does not bind itself to accept the highest nor any of the tenders.
Municipal valuation ($10,500.00)

Your Birthday

August 13, 1979

Events could unfold this coming year in a manner that will contribute to your reputation and status. Along with this, you should start to see a more stable financial picture.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) The payoff may come today for something on which you've worked quite hard. Celebrate by spending your evening with dear and loyal friends. Find out more about yourself by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Today will prove to be successful in its own quiet way. Everything is settling down to where your grip on things is sure.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Sharing today with some friends you may not see too often and getting caught up on all the news will be delightful, but do take care not to gossip.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You may have to make some tough or hard decisions today. Once you do, everything else will appear to flow along easily and smoothly.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Serving the needs of another before your own interests today will prove a good investment. Others will respond in a most favorable manner.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Today you may figure out how to handle a relationship that has heretofore always appeared hard to manage. You'll feel so good about it.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Your concentration today will be most appreciated. It will put you in a good light in the eyes of someone with whom you'd like to make a big hit.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You'll receive the peace of mind you've been looking for when you complete a difficult task today. To top it off, praise comes to you from above.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Tasks that normally are tough for you to do won't seem so laborious today. You're in a good mood. You'll turn any job into play.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You'll set aside your worldly cares today and let your family command all your attention. Doing things for them will give you personal pleasure.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If at all possible, don't isolate yourself today. There is someone you would enjoy seeing if you allow them to drop by.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Outside interests could pull you off-course a bit today, but don't get upset. This could prove to be quite rewarding in the long run.

Vaive, Bourque among players taken in draft

RICKY VAIVE...played with Birmingham

MONTREAL (CP) — The National Hockey League held its entry draft yesterday by conference call telephone hookup conducted from league headquarters here. Among top players selected were former Beaver Ricky Vaive and last year's sensation with Verdun Black Hawks, Raymond Bourque. Vancouver Canucks picked fifth and chose right winger Vaive, a six-foot, 180-pounder who played with Sherbrooke two years ago and at Birmingham last season, where he scored 26 goals and had 249 penalty minutes last season. Minnesota North Stars, believed to have wanted Vaive, chose next and took defenceman Craig Hartburg after a short delay. He played with Birmingham as a defence partner of Ramage after a junior career with Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds of the O.M.J.H.L.

Chicago Black Hawks used the seventh pick to grab defenceman Keith Brown from Portland. He weighed in at 172 pounds last year and, at 6-foot-1, is expected to fill out.

Boston Bruins, using a choice acquired from Los Angeles Kings, then selected defenceman Bourque from Verdun of the O.M.J.H.L.

Colorado Rockies picked first in the draft and chose Rob Ramage their pick. They wasted no time in taking Ramage, one of a handful of players available after signing WHA contracts as underage juniors.

The draft, known in previous years as the amateur draft, was limited this year to six rounds, meaning the 21 NHL clubs could take no more than 126 players. Those not drafted may negotiate as free agents with any team.

The order of selection was based on the reverse order of over-all finish from the 1978-

79 season, with the four expansion clubs - Hartford Whalers, Winnipeg Jets, Quebec Nordiques and Edmonton Oilers from the Defunct WHA - picking 18th through 21st respectively in the first round.

Ramage, a 6-foot-2, 195 pound rearguard who accumulated 165 penalty minutes with Birmingham Bulls, a WHA team that didn't earn entry to the NHL, is expected to add offensive punch to the Colorado blue line.

St. Louis Blues, choosing second, selected left winger Perry Turnbull from Portland Winter Hawks of the Western Canada Hockey League. He is 6-foot-2, 200 pounds and is rated a good skater with toughness.

Mike Foligno, a 6-foot-1 right winger from Sudbury Wolves of the Ontario Major Junior League, was taken third by Detroit Red Wings. He had 65 goals and 85 assists with 98 penalty minutes last season. Washington Capitals had the fourth pick and took right winger Mike Gartner from Cincinnati Stingers, another former WHA club. Gartner played junior hockey with Niagara Falls Flyers of the O.M.J.H.L. before scoring 27 goals in the WHA last year.

Brown and Bourque were the first two of six 19-year-olds taken consecutively. Players usually must have been 20 to be drafted, but because of the underage players available from the WHA, 19-year-olds were eligible this year. An underage junior who does not make the roster of a team drafting him must return to his junior club.

Former Verdun Black Hawk star Raymond Bourque, battling here with Alan Haworth of the Beavers, was drafted by Boston Bruins.

PHILLIES' OZARK SUPERSTITIOUS?

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — At this rate, Philadelphia Phillies manager Danny Ozark may never open his clubhouse office door.

Three times he has shut the media out of his usual postgame haunt in the Phillies' locker room. Three times his once-stumbling ball club has defeated Montreal Expos.

"Maybe he's superstitious," said slugger Mike Schmidt, whose double drove across the lead run in the midst of a five-run fifth inning Thursday as the Phils finished a sweep of the Expos with a 6-4 win.

That's one explanation for Ozark's self-imposed exile. Others are that he's angry at management for not extending his contract, which ends this season; he's upset at his players for not putting out the way he expects; he's piqued at the media for constant second-guessing. Or all of the above.

But, as Schmidt added: "He did another great job today."

The Phillies' great pitching came from Nino Espinosa, who raised his record to a career-high 12 victories against nine losses.

He fell behind, 2-0, in the second inning on Ellis Valentine's 18th homer of the season, then got the win when Philadelphia scored five unearned runs in the fifth, thanks mainly to an error by third baseman Larry Parrish.

Bill Lee (10-9) was the victim of that biggest of three errors.

After his double scored Pete Rose in Philadelphia's big inning, Schmidt scored from second on Bob Boone's two-run single, extending himself as he approached home plate to beat Warren Cromartie's throw.

Manny Trillo also batted in two runs in the inning with a single.

Already suffering from a groin pull, Schmidt had to leave the game.

But after going ahead, 5-2, against Lee and Stan Bahnsen, the Phillies didn't need Schmidt's bat. Mike Anderson hit his first homer of the season in the sixth and Espinosa breezed into the ninth with a 6-2 lead.

Pinch-hitter Tony Perez cut that four-run margin in half with a two-run double and Ozark came out to replace Espinosa with Rawly Eastwick.

Eastwick threw one pitch, got pinch-hitter Gary Carter on a fly ball and the Phillies, fresh off a six-game losing streak, had won their third in a row.

Tennis tourney at Mont Bellevue

SHERBROOKE (MG) — Beginning last Wednesday and running until Sunday is the Sports Experts Open Tennis tournament at Mount Bellevue. The organizers have placed a $200 purse for the male winner, as well as the female winner. The semi-finalists will receive $100 each.

The admission is free and the public is invited to go and see some pretty good tennis.

Munson leaves everything to family

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Thurman Munson, captain of New York Yankees, left his entire estate to his wife and three children in a simple will.

Munson, 32, died Aug. 2 when his twin-engine jet airplane crashed while he practiced landings at Akron-Canton Airport.

The will was filed Wednesday in Stark County Probate Court, but Munson's lawyer, Arnold Shifman, said he will ask for an extension of the 30-day period for submitting an inventory of the estate because of the complexity of the task.

Walter O'Malley dies at 75

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Walter O'Malley, one of baseball's most powerful owners whose 1958 move from Brooklyn with the Dodgers began the westward expansion of pro sports, died Thursday of heart failure. He was 75.

O'Malley had been ill for some time and had been in hospital at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., since June 28. He died there early Thursday.

O'Malley, whose death followed that of his wife, Kay, by four weeks, had little to do with the running of the Dodgers for several years, although he had built the club into one of the richest in sports.

Archers set records

LAKE EDEN, Alta. (CP) — Leaders in the Canadian archery championships turned in two Canadian records and eight Canadian and open records in the second day of their tournament Thursday.

Lucille Lemay of Boisbriand, Que., placed first in the women's freestyle, beating former Canadian champion Joan McDonald of Toronto with 1,234 points of a possible 1,440 to McDonald's 1,214.

Stan Siatkowski of Toronto made an open and Canadian record 504 in the men's freestyle to squeak by Lucille's husband Roger Lemay, who scored 502 of a possible 600.

Sandra West of Ottawa, Federation of Canadian Archers' technical director, said both Siatkowski and Roger Lemay qualified on the strength of their first two days at the tournament for the 12-member Canadian team going to the All-Americas field championships in Mexico this fall. Others qualified after Thursday's round were Wayne Pullen of Dorchester, Que.; Carl DeWilde of London, Ont.; and Ray Vandale of Prince Albert.

Four championship fights set

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (Reuter) — Four world championship fights will be held at Caesars Palace hotel-casino this fall, a hotel spokesman said Thursday.

The spokesman listed the bouts as heavyweight Larry Holmes against Earnie Shavers on Sept. 28, middleweight Vito Antuofermo against Marvin Hagler on Oct. 6, welterweight Wilfredo Benitez against Sugar Ray Leonard, and either light heavyweight Victor Galindez or Marvin Johnson against Mike Rossman on Dec. 1.

Holmes of Easton, Pa., will defend his World Boxing Council title; Antuofermo, originally from Italy but now a Brooklyn N.Y. resident, will defend his undisputed world championship.

Orioles end losing streak

Baltimore Orioles ended a four-game losing streak Thursday night and 15-game winner Mike Flanagan had some thoughts about responsibility.

"I started the losing streak, I thought I might as well finish it," Flanagan said after striking out 10, scattering six hits and working out of a jam in the ninth inning for a 3-2 American League baseball win over Milwaukee Brewers.

It was the opposite story last Sunday when Flanagan tossed an eight-hitter at Yankee Stadium, losing 3-2 to Tommy John, the first 15-game winner in the AL, to start the Orioles skid.

Before that game, the Orioles were eight games ahead of Boston in the AL East, 11 in front of Milwaukee. Now, the Orioles are 5½ in front of second-place Boston and 10 games ahead of the Brewers.

Before a rain-delay of 81 minutes in the fourth inning, Flanagan had struck out four, including the first two men in the inning.

Eddie Murray smacked his 16th homer of the season for Baltimore in the seventh, and Rich Dauer drove in the winning runs with a two-run double in the eighth.

Then, in the ninth, Milwaukee's Dick Davis reached on an error by Orioles' shortstop Billy Smith. Davis was forced at second by Sal Bando, but Flanagan walked Jim Wolford.

Flanagan got out of the mess by striking out Charlie Moore and Robin Yount in succession.

The Brewers, considered an outside pre-season threat to win the AL East, start a three-game series at Boston today, then don't play another East Division team all season.

In other AL games, Boston Red Sox edged Cleveland Indians 3-2, Detroit Tigers nipped Texas Rangers 3-2, Chicago White Sox defeated New York Yankees 5-1 and Kansas City Royals clobbered Toronto Blue Jays 10-3.

RED SOX 3 INDIANS 2

Boston right-hander Dennis Eckersley joined Flanagan and John as the league's only 15-game winners, allowing nine hits in his seventh consecutive complete-game victory. Eckersley got most of his offensive support from Carl Yastrzemski, who drove in two of Boston's three runs with a single and a sacrifice fly.
