WESTMOUNT BILLETTS PUPILS

Music Festival Readied For Montreal Next Week

By Don McLean

April 24th, 25th and 26th, 1947 will go down in School Music History as 'red letter days', not only in Montreal, but in many cities and towns all over the continent which are being represented here in the International Festival of School Music. Visiting students to be billeted in West End Montreal will number 1,520 with a further 700 in city hotels; breakdown of the total first named being Notre Dame de Grace 600, Montreal West 250, Hampstead 120, Westmount 300, and the Town of Mount Royal 250.

For the organizers, mostly teachers, who have given unstintingly of their leisure in making preparations for the big non-competitive, non-profit-making project, the time has arrived when, although there is a mountain of work to be accomplished, a successful climax is now fully assured.

Conspicuous among the problems which have arisen from time to time to plague the minds and bog down the hopes of the Festival Committee and its helpers have been those concerning the housing of the two thousand visiting participants, and the securing of suitable Conductors for the massed students' Band, Orchestra and Chorus on 'International Night', which is the final night of the Festival.

The housing jam in particular threatened at one time to ruin completely the whole aim and purpose of the Festival, which is to inaugurate a series of International School Music Festivals in member countries all over the world. In the words of the Festival Committee's 'Bulletin No. 3': 'Every hotel in Montreal had 'No Vacancy' signs working overtime. Even a group of public-spirited hotel owners and managers, attempting to cope with the situation, was able to supply only a small part of the requirements... The solution... A telephone rang. A woman's voice said: 'My son and daughter go to high school. They are keenly interested in this International Festival of School Music. But they are not happy about the idea of all participants being billeted in

G. W. Spinney Elected Royal Victoria Head

George W. Spinney, Braeside Place, Westmount, president of the Bank of Montreal and member of the Board of governors of McGill University, on Wednesday was elected president of the Board of governors and chairman of the executive committee of the Royal Victoria Hospital at the annual meeting of the board.

High tribute was paid Dr. Chipman, whom he succeeds, for his great services as a teacher, physician, member of the board, and as president of the hospital. In accepting office as president, Mr. Spinney, who has been on the hospital board since 1942, referred to the high traditions upheld by his predecessors in public service and administrative leadership. He said it was his hope to live up to these traditions.

Other members of the executive committee are: W. F. Angus, Ross H. McMaster, J. W. McConnell and Dr. Chipman.

Westmount Leads City In Campaign

Westmount Division of the St. John Ambulance Society Appeal leads all other such divisions in the Montreal area in their canvass for funds, it was announced by F. D. Knowles and Mrs. C. F. Fortier, co-chairmen of the Westmount division. This announcement was unreservedly confirmed by L. E. Brittle, National Campaign Director, who stated that he desires to express appreciation on behalf of the Society to Mr. Knowles and Mrs. Fortier, and all others who worked and contributed to put the campaign across. Mr. Brittle states that the final figure is expected to pass $700,000. Westmount has contributed over $10,000.

The Order's primary function is to serve humanity, to alleviate and prevent suffering. This it accomplishes through instruction in First Aid and Home Nursing, and by Blood Grouping. Such funds as are required to enable the Society to fulfil its humanitarian mission are obtained through donations, and the generous response of the people of Westmount to the Appeal does honour to their city.

Much credit for this local success is due to the unstinting and altruistic efforts of all those who actively participated to put the campaign across. Local groups who organized teams to canvass the city include the following: Westmount Women's Club, Catholic Women's League, American Women's Club, Canadian Legion Branch 39, Westmount Rotary Club, Westmount Taxis, a group of local Bankers, the Westmount Brigade of the St. John Ambulance Society, and others. To all concerned — Well Done!

Honour Dr. Stern On 50th Birthday

Special recognition of the 50th birthday of Dr. Harry J. Stern, Rabbi of Temple Emanu-El, will be observed at the closing Dinner Meeting of the Temple Men's Club to be held at the Temple Community House at 6.45 p.m. on Sunday. The actual anniversary is next Thursday.

Annual election of officers and board members will take place at this meeting. A reception prior to the dinner will be held in the Temple Lecture Hall and the ladies will be guests of brotherhood members.

GLEE CLUB AT VICTORIA HALL

The Dominion Rubber Glee Club, comprised of a group of company employees, under the direction of John Boisseau, entertained the Montreal Chapter of the Silver Cross Women's Association of Canada last night at Victoria Hall. This group of songsters, made up of mixed voices, presented a pleasing programme. Included were such songs as "Gypsy Love Song," "Without You," "When Day is Done," "Kiss in the Dark," "Night and Day." These versatile singers, who started the Glee Club merely to fulfil their desire to get together and sing, now find themselves a successful and much sought after group for entertainment purposes.

WAC Social Club Plays "Pinafore"

For its first public presentation, the Employees' Social Club of War Assets Corporation has undertaken an ambitious task—the presentation of Gilbert and Sullivan's "H.M.S. Pinafore," which will open, appropriately, on St. George's Day, April 23, in Victoria Hall. The opera will be repeated on the two subsequent evenings.

Jerry Shea, well known to the followers of the Savoy Operas in Montreal, is handling the musical direction, and the cast includes several people with extended stage and musical experience, including:

Miss Joan Lomas, as Josephine; George Youmatoff as Ralph; Ron Kinsman, as Sir Joseph Porter; Harry Elsey, as Captain Corcoran; Carol Burnett, as Buttercup; Ray Price, as Deadeye; George Bragonetz, as the Bosun; Judy Moen, as Hebe; and Ab Cohen, as the Carpenter's mate, supported by a full chorus.

Business Association Aim—Formulate Code Of Ethics

Business Association of Westmount is going ahead! President Chas. A. James states that the rapidly increasing membership is indicative of the rapidly growing interest among local business men in the kindred spirit and interchange of ideas for improvement in the general business of Westmount which would result from a strong Business Association. Their collective voice will carry weight.

The overall object of the Association is to develop a code of ethics among local business men, to build up their reputation for fair practice, and to inform the public of the established fact that Westmount business gives service equal to that obtainable anywhere.

In preparation now is a booklet entitled "What You Can Buy In Westmount, and Where You Can Buy It." This booklet is, in actuality, a directory of Westmount businesses, and contains a brief history of the City from its inception. It is to come out in the early fall, and will be distributed to all householders in the city.

Scouts & Cubs

BY REG GROOME

Rehearsals for the Scout Show scheduled for the Forum on May 17 will be held this Saturday at both the R.C.A.S.C. and Duke of York's Armouries. All Colour Parties should report to Mr. Ernest Harris at the R.C.A.S.C. Armoury, No. 1 Hillside Avenue, in Westmount at 2.30 p.m. All units participating in Items four, five and six will meet at the Duke of York's Armoury also at 2.30 p.m. Units in Item four report to V. O. West, in item five to Wm. Leeson and item six to R. Mounthey. It is essential that there be representatives from every unit in order that the Circus Committee may have an idea of how far you have progressed.

According to the list sent out by Headquarters, 2nd Westmount are putting on three stunts in item five and St. Matthias one stunt in item six. These are the only two Westmount units participating directly in the Circus.

The Scout Show Committee have offered TWO WEEKS CAMPING — FREE, at either Scout Camp Tamaracouta or Sea Scout Camp S.S.S. Venture. They will pay the 1947 standard camp fees for the whole winning patrol, 5-8 boys, who sell the largest dollar value of tickets for the Scout Show on May 17th. Ask your Scoutmaster or Patrol Leader about this sensational offer now, and enjoy two weeks camping "on the house".

There is a similar offer for the Wolf Cubs, one week's free camping at Jungle Grove Camp (MacAuley). The fee will be paid for any number up to ten cubs from the same Pack who have the largest dollar value of ticket sales by noon on Wednesday, May 14th. Ask your Cubmaster for more details about this chance to have a free holiday.

The March Badge report for Wolf Cub records shows that there were a total of 247 proficiency badges passed during the month compared with 254 during March, 1946. Eighteen 2nd stars were completed this March compared with 15 last year. This year's March badges were made up as follows: Artist, 17; Athlete, 3; Collector, 28; First Aider, 13; Gardener, 2; Guide, 27; Homecraft, 15; House Orderly, 38; Observer, 5; Swimmer, 5; Team-Player, 77; and Toymaker, 17. This is quite an impressive list and we are glad to see the number of teamplayer badges being awarded.

Transportation for Wolf Cub Camp has been arranged to leave Scout Headquarters on Saturdays at 1 p.m. by bus. Half a dozen strong-armed able-bodied people are wanted to open Cub Camp on the week-ends of June 7th and June 14th. There is no pay and lots of hard work and good fun. Have your application in for the Akela Training Course? What are you waiting for? We don't want to have to cancel the course again due to lack of sufficient applications.

Starman and Prospector Badges, two badges for senior Scouts, are slated to get underway in six-week courses conducted by Executive Commissioner E. Russel Paterson. Starman starts next Monday at Headquarters, from 7.15-8.45 p.m. while Prospector starts on Wednesday, also from 7.15-8.45 p.m. Anyone wishing to take either of these badges must start at the first session, there will be no "catcher-uppers".

It looks as though the road to Tamaracouta won't be open for some weeks to come yet and the weather we had on Wednesday won't help things along. Hampstead Scouts, after a futile effort to reach Camp this past week-end, report the road well covered with as much as ten feet of snow in some places, which, being soft, is impassable by foot, car or horse. They intend to wait a couple of weeks and try again.

MORE HONORS

Director John Farrow, now at the helm of Paramount's action-packed aviation epic, "Blaze of Noon," has received another award for his war service. Latest honor is a citation from the British War Department. Farrow served in the Royal Canadian Navy.

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

BY WINIFRED E. WILSON

We are inclined to think that bird banding is something essentially modern. True, it is less than 30 years since this has been done on a large scale, and improvements are still being made. However, birds were marked way back in the first century, and as long ago as 1710 a Heron was found in Germany wearing on its leg a ring that had been attached in Turkey several years before. Around 1803 Audubon, the noted bird artist, placed silver wires around the legs of two fledglings Phobes and so was able to identify them in the same neighbourhood the following year.

Less than 100 years later Prof. Mortensen of Denmark placed aluminum rings on Starlings, Storks and several birds of prey. Then in Germany the ringing of birds was begun, and almost simultaneously Paul Bartsch banded 100 Herons in America. But it was not until about 1920, after the U.S. Bureau of Biological Survey had taken the responsibility of supplying bands and keeping records, that real system came into the undertaking. Mr. F. C. Lincoln was put in charge, and the machinery began to hum. Canada and the United States agreed to use a common set of numbers on the bands.

Jack Miner, at Kingsville, Ontario, carried on the work of banding Ducks and Geese for 35 years, and now his sons are running this wonderful Bird Sanctuary where thousands of birds are banded each year.

Banding is now considered a most valuable method of bird study. The small aluminum rings graded in size to fit all species and marked with a number and return address, come from the government arranged on bent wires that resemble safety pins. Special tools (tiny pliers and awls) are required to fasten them on the birds. Full records are kept, and all information is sent to headquarters: Ottawa for Canadians. When a banded bird is recovered, the bander is notified, and the finder receives a card stating when and where the band was attached.

At first only nestlings were banded. Now they are considered too young, and either fledglings, or adults, caught in especially constructed traps, are ringed, carefully studied and liberated. A skilled bander can discover many facts about the migration, how the young scatter in successive seasons, the extent and relative permanence of an individual's territory, weight at different seasons and times of day, how long a bird lives, its parasites, plumage, moulting, and individual characteristics.

COWBELLS FOR CHIMES

Spike Jones, whose City Slickers are accompanying Mary Hatcher in Paramount's 36-star "Variety Girl," recently purchased an antique grandfather's clock but didn't like the soft, mellow chimes. So he replaced them with cowbells.

Roslyn News

By Ross Southward and Douglas Turner

A softball league has been started by Mr. Pitcairn of Room 19. The games will be played at King George Park on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday afternoons. The teams are made up of Grade Five and Six pupils. There are twelve boys on each team. Each team plays five games with the two winners meeting in the finals.

On Tuesday an exhibition softball game was played between Room 19 and Room 16. Room 19 won 15-9. It was a very exciting game with Room 16 leading only once and that was at the end of the first inning. Both teams played good baseball, with Ross Southward, the winning pitcher, and Allan Warnock, the losing pitcher. The decisions of the umpires were hotly questioned.

Some of the girls in Room 20 won ribbons in the Westmount Hobby Show. Patsy Smith won first in her penmanship and also in her leather book-ends. Carol Armour won first in shell work. Elizabeth Loebel won one first and two seconds in swimming. Carol Reaper won first in cooking and first and second in swimming. Barbara Martin won first in World War I buttons.

Miss Vera Jamieson has announced that the school choir will sing at the next meeting of the Home and School Association.

The school nurse is giving the Patch Test to all pupils in the Kindergarten classes and to those in Grade I who are attending school for the first time this year.

Westmount Highlights

By The Forman Twins and Mary Dickins

On His Blindness

For several weeks one of this pillar's more remorseless critics has maintained that ye Highlights lacks news of the local frailery. To which we replied in our most austere and dignified T-Zone baritone that Westmount chicks do very little to redeem themselves in print. Obnoxious critic No. 1 retaliated to the effect that The very idea, they certainly do and furthermore you're just too blind to see half of what goes on around our garden suburb. At this point we strategically retreated with a half-hearted promise to do something about it. Our first move flopped. Johnny Holmes simply would not issue a pass to the Vic Hall ladies powder room. Downcast and depressed, we shuffled to the Grease to drown sorrows with a cuppa cawfee. Whilst thus engrossed, inspiration struck. Why not enlist some females of the opposite sex to do the colyum? Man of action that we are, 't was no sooner said than done — result, penned by the Fro duo and Tien, appears below. Are we happy? Thankyou. — J. D.

Hang on, everyone, here's what you've all been waiting for (we have anyway). Now's our chance to get back at all your dirty cracks, Art. And as for you, Jake, you're just a show-off. (This is fun!)

Female Flattery

Midge Palmer seems to have had a red-hot time up north judging from her burn. . . . Diane Ferdan plus Joan Rowe, minus their skis, but multiplied with reading material, divided their resources and spent a day in Ste. Adele. . . . Audrey Campbell appeared during the day, but we're wondering what happens on a rainy night in St. Sauveur. . . . Having quit her job, Pannie Kindersley will devote her time exclusively to modelling. . . . Georgine Ferguson was seen here and there in the company of her red-haired (?) friend. . . . Dee-Dee Reid, when asked what had happened to her hair, replied wittily, "I walked into the tail of a horse." . . . We like Joan Brown's interpretation of Spring. Seen last week on Sherbrooke Street sporting a new suit, red shoes and Patty Peirce.

Ted Van Brunt, rising young Paramount player seen in the suspense drama, "The Big Clock" with Ray Milland, was never in the United States, although a citizen, until 1939, when tension in the East forced his family to return.

. . . Speaking of new clothes, Pat Bennet looks delicious with her head in that pink cloud (or have you noticed?) . . . While on the subject of girls, here is a reminder to all of them that the long awaited Sadie Hawkins takes place tonight at Westmount High. We hope you've done your dating early and avoided the last minute rush, 'cuz it looks like a big night. . . . Was that Pam Smith we saw flashing New York togs all over the place? . . . All this is just to humour the eager beavers who wanted to hear a little about the girls. Hope you're satisfied!

Hockey Handouts

Westmount High School's hockey team returned victorious from their Ottawa sojourn where they downed Nepean High six-zero. Masterman got two goals and Jones was red-hot, handling no more than a dozen shots to snatch an easy goose-egg. The game roughened up in the third period with a bit of a scrap and double punishments to both teams. Wilbur Young is reported to have enjoyed life immensely when he partook of the victory celebration. (Way to went!)

Item Info

Which pink cloud is Gordie Cuttle chasing in his Chev? (look above). . . . Among the unfortunates who were left in the metropolitan is Peter Merrill, who passed many a "Bevening" in the company of blond John Turpin. . . . Angus Boright was observed Friday nite totting an amorous armful. Was it heavy, Angus? . . . Saturday nite Bert Grindley was caught "underwear". . . . Ted Earl took a liking to bum over the week-end. . . . Glen Harmon's long awaited washing machine finally arrived at Mitchell's Panda Emporium during the heat of the Boston-Montreal play-offs. Gagsters Doug Mitchell and Bob Grant, who is now among the ranks of the unemployed, inscribed it to Milt Schmidt as the Mitchell Award for all-round hockey proficiency in forty-seven. Mrs. Harmon's boy collected with a chuckle. . . . Gerry Burke was down with a temperature this week-end but he has taken great strides toward complete recuperation. . . . We wonder what's happened to George Brow's black stockings. He must be wearing them on all fours (the dog). . . . The Easter holidays saw Charlie Burgess at odds with a tree, on skis (Charlie, not the tree). He is now sporting wrist and leg casts. . . . All Sol's sundae won't help Jimmy Parsons to reduce (Never mind, Jimmy, we know that it's all muscle!) . . . Eric Doehler, the strong silent type, seems to have had a nice quiet week-end up north. . . . Latest reports tell of Jake Dickins' close escape from abduction last Friday nite. . . . Dick Holden was accompanied by a long list when he left for New Yawk Tuesday (Don't forget the bubble-gum, Dick!) . . . Bette Thompson suffered through an appendix operation during the holidays, was discharged from the Homeopathic Tuesday. . . . According to the Oriole the Fossils Club Revue, "Push Up In Front!" which ran last nite and will run tonight at Vic Hall, is nothing short of terrific! Max Ford, advisor to the Purple & White Revue committee 'forty-five, composed the music and lyrics — also superb. Star of the show is Bod Goodier of Navy Show fame. The Johnny Holmes crew works in the pit, put in overtime to supply music for dancing after the performances. All this for two beans — one for the revue — one for the dance. . . . Get wise, Art; now you know what real literature reads like. . . . Well, we're down to our last pair of nylons, and we gotta run. . . . so "buy now!"

"ABC of Capitalism"

ROTARY TALK by ROOT

"The ABC of Capitalism" was the title of an informative address delivered at the Westmount Rotary Club luncheon by guest speaker Claude A. Root, General Manager of the Better Business Bureau. Mr. Root was Coal Controller for the Province of Quebec during the War, and is a Westmount resident.

"Our system of government was organized for the people, not for the glory and power of the state," declared Mr. Root in opening his address. "Our forefathers came to this country and founded a system for the preservation of individual freedom, upheld by the supreme rule of the people. The net result has been freedom and a democratic form of government."

"Business is a necessity as old as man. We're all in business mainly because we have to eat. This is true all over the world regardless of the system of business or form of government. The essentials of the different economic systems are much the same everywhere.

They are: Enterprise — getting out and doing things; Incentives — to encourage enterprise; Technology — methods of doing things; Property — some of the rewards and results of enterprise, including the products of business and the equipment, materials and money used for business; Capital — money saved to provide the means for business; Money — system of tokens for use in exchanging goods and services and in keeping track of property; Markets — means of exchanging goods and services; Management — organization for running business, the "know how" for getting things done; and Regulations — some system to prevent unsound frictions among businesses and unsound actions by or against them. "In our system there are millions of 'capitalists,' said Mr. Root, "because everyone who has savings in a bank or has a life insurance policy, or owns a share of stock, or owns his own business, however small, is a 'capitalist'. In our system, capital makes it possible for workers to use equipment worth billions of dollars to produce more goods, reduce costs, raise wages and increase the standard of living, and the 'capitalists', the people who own the system benefit by it.

"An understanding of profit is important because our system is sometimes called the 'profit system'. Profits are necessary in any system. If by 'profit' we mean the difference between what the owner of a business puts in and what he gets out — in any form — then the 'profit motive' applies to every human activity. Under our system, a business must offer what its customers want. Our system is based on economic as well as political democracy, and under the capitalistic system in Canada, we have one of the highest standards of living the world has seen. Our standards of individual freedom are as high as any in the world, and nearly all Canadians work. If we use our opportunities for education, skill, improvement and experience, we can go far, whether we work for others or for ourselves.

Two Economic Systems

"There are two main economic systems. Our capitalistic system is one; the other is the totalitarian system in which the government has supreme authority. Although the totalitarian system has the same nine essentials as the capitalistic or any other system, it is not owned by the people, and it is not based on individual freedom or a democratic government. The small controlling body gets the profits, living standards are low for the masses, and there is no individual freedom.

"Our system may not be perfect," said Mr. Root, "no system is. There is need for improvement which is receiving serious attention, and substantial progress is being made.

"We should never cease to strengthen and improve our sys-

Special Youth Service At Calvary Church

Allister Kirker, chosen delegate of the Montreal and Ottawa Conference Young People's Union of the United Church to the World Christian Youth Conference at Oslo, Norway, in July of this year, will deliver the sermon at the evening service at Calvary United Church on Sunday. At the invitation of the session of that church, Al will replace the Moderator, the Right Rev. T. W. Jones, whose duties take him out of town for this Sunday. Taking as his theme, that of the Oslo Conference, "Jesus Christ is Lord," Al will challenge young people with the significance of the Lordship of Christ in individual lives.

The entire Special Youth Service will be conducted by young people. Others taking part are Sam Russell, President of the Montreal Presbytery Young People's Union, who will conduct the service, John Ferguson, President of Glen-garry Presbytery; Audrey Gerth, President of Dominion-Douglas Young People's Group who will read the scripture; and Isabel Frith, President of the Montreal and Ottawa Conference Young People's Union, who will introduce

Review Aids Parish Fund

Young People Present Excellent Performance

Playing to a capacity crowd at Victoria Hall last evening, "Two-Tones", the musical revue presented by the Young Ladies' Sodality of Ascension Parish, consisted of a programme of gay singing, dancing and comedy by a cast of local talent.

The show opened with a welcome of original lyrics, sung by Joan Melvin and John Asselin, backed by a chorus of over forty young people who soon had the audience into the spirit of the proceedings.

An interlude of popular pieces by a group of instrumentalists was well done, and was followed by a number entitled "A Girl, Four Half-Tones, and A Doll", featuring Joan Melvin as the girl, Lang Desjardins, Norman Hall, Stuart McGarr, and Patrick Palmer as the half-tones, and Frances Whelan in a novelty doll dance to the tune of "Oh, You Beautiful Doll".

Fred Browne, comedian, was assisted by Mary Culbert, Rosaleen Rooney, Kenneth Black and Lorne Foy in a humorous ventriloquist act.

Reveal Talent

One of the highlights of Act I was the display of talent shown by Helen Losito, pianist, in both classic and swing tunes. Also taking the spotlight were the "Four Gentlemen and A Guitar", including John Sessenwein, Peter Farrell, John Asselin and Robert Sessenwein.

The dancing of Irene Thoms and Patrick Palmer, and the voice of Lorne Foy were featured in a very clever "shadow" dance.

The Sessenwein brothers, Robert and John, won acclaim for their presentation of "Ma Blushin' Rosie".

Blackface Interlude

Providing variation was the complete changeover of the cast in the second half of the show to blackface, and the presentation of such favorites as "Dinah" and "Evelina".

Worthy of note was the rendition of "Old Man River" by Lawrence LeGros.

An old vaudeville skit in blackface was revived to delight the audience, the scene being stolen by Lang Desjardins who sang "My Mammy", and featuring such players as Fred Browne, Gerald Barry, David Shaughnessy, John Sessenwein, and Joan Quinlan.

The popular singing duo of Joan Melvin and John Asselin was again presented, as were the tapping feet of Irene Thoms to such tunes as "On the Sunny Side of the Street".

The finale, which left the audience humming "Swanee" featured Lang Desjardins with the entire cast.

Praise must go to Joanne Schoeller and Robert Boyd for their original stage settings and also to Nancy Asselin, Commentator.

"Two-Tones" was produced and directed by Reverend George F. Thoms.

Proceeds will go towards the Ascension Parish Rectory Fund.

TO HONOUR LATE JACK MINER

Not a holiday, not a week anyone would be compelled to observe but with the week of April 10th being so appropriate as the season of the year when the birds are returning and the date of the late naturalist's birth—The Hon. John R. MacNicol, M.P., Conservative from Toronto, has introduced a Bill in The House of Commons asking that the week be observed and known as The Jack Miner National Wild Life Week throughout Canada.

A day when service clubs can feature bird house building contests in the schools, a day when school teachers can stress the value of bird, plant and tree life in the schools, a day when departmental stores can dress their windows to remind one and all of the significance of the week. Mr. A. J. Bradette, Liberal of Cochrane, is seconding the Bill when it has its second reading in The House of Commons.

Not only would it have tremendous educational value but by being named The Jack Miner National Wild Life Week after the late Jack Miner, whom Irvin S. Cobb declared "was the greatest practical naturalist on the planet," it would be a living memorial to the most famous Canadian. It being the birthday of the late naturalist thus it is such an appropriate time both the season of the year and a way in which to honor the late Jack Miner at no expense to the country in the form of dollars and cents. Should the Bill pass the House of Commons, The Jack Miner Foundation, made up of a group of the late Jack Miner's friends, would act as sponsors of the week and distribute literature and plans for building bird houses.

All Provincial Premiers have co-operated in the plan by sending The Jack Miner Foundation the names of the schools and teachers in every Province. You can help by sending a telegram or letter to your M.P., asking his support when the vote is taken, or have your mayor or Educational Dept. wire their support to Hon. John R. MacNicol, House of Commons, Ottawa, Ontario.

WEEKLY REVIEW

War Controls And Taxes Hamper Peace Recovery

By LEWIS MILLIGAN

There may be something to be said in favor of price control in time of war, even though such control is for the most part a mere gesture and does not in reality keep down the cost of things in general and the cost of living in particular. We know that we were fooling ourselves into thinking that by fixing the nominal prices of certain essential commodities we were saving money, whereas we were merely shifting the natural increased cost of those commodities into subsidies and other subterfuges which we had to pay for in extra taxes. Moreover, the cost of controlling prices in itself must have added considerably to the overall cost of living.

Nevertheless the psychological effect of price control may have helped to prevent a runaway inflation. But most of the arguments that have been put forward in favor of the rigid controls during war do not apply to peace time. The purpose of wartime controls was to restrict the production and distribution of manufactured goods and commodities, upon the freedom of which the commercial life of the nation depends in time of peace. In war our freedoms, even our personal freedoms, are for the time being suspended. Commercial enterprise and competition, which are the stimulants of peace-time industry, cease to exist. This was seen in the suspension of competitive and promotional advertising of popular goods during the war. Prices were fixed at profitable levels, but profits were heavily taxed and all other incentives to enterprise and extension of business were arrested.

Cast-iron restrictions and high taxation that were necessary for the successful prosecution of the war have become the shackles of industry now that the war is over, when unhampered enterprise is needed for the recovery of peacetime trade and commerce. In Canada these shackles have been loosened to some extent and a measure of recovery has been achieved, but in Britain they are still handicapping private enterprise and rendering recovery more difficult. From the Labor Government's point of view, wartime restrictions are necessary for the introduction of a socialist system, and the people are asked to endure austerity with the promise of permanent prosperity to come when capitalism has been abolished and a perfect Socialist State is established.

But Britain is falling between the two stools of socialism and capitalism. While the Labor Government is doing its utmost to establish socialism, it is appealing to capitalist private enterprise for help in bringing about the New Order. In other words, the British capitalists are being urged to assist in the process of eliminating themselves. The Government is also appealing to capitalists in the United States and Canada for help in that process. This is hardly fair, to say the least, and it is a policy of national frustration. State Socialism and a vigorous private enterprise are two opposites, and the situation is like that of a freight train with an engine at both ends, each pulling in the opposite direction.

FINE FILM MADE BY N.D.G. FIRM

"A Romance of Two Hemispheres", the film story of a great Canadian company, will be one of the main features of the Massey-Harris centenary celebrations, taking place this year. Produced for Massey-Harris by Associated Screen News of Montreal, the motion picture is in colour, and, as it is intended for world-wide distribution, it has been recorded in three language versions—English, French and Spanish.

John Martin, Massey-Harris' Advertising Manager, prepared the scenario for the film and supervised production, making a trip across the Atlantic to give his personal attention to the filming of the European sequences.

After briefly tracing the history of the world-wide Massey-Harris organization, from its modest beginnings in a blacksmith shop in Brantford one hundred years ago, the film circles the globe to show the varied farm equipment in use.

"A Romance of Two Hemispheres" is a trip around the world—a trip on a "self-propelled"—that tells much of the countries through which it passes and of their people, that tells the picture story of world agriculture, and marks the centenary of a mighty company.

DO HOLIDAYS BORE YOU?

A sizable proportion of business and professional men look forward to Sundays and holidays not with pleasure but with a feeling that a day of boredom must be endured. I hasten to say that I am not among this group. I enjoy my days of rest and am seldom bored, writes William Feather.

Some men wake and get up as early on Sunday as any other day. Long before noon they are wondering what to do to kill time, and wish they were at the office where time goes fast and where they seem to enjoy a kind of freedom that does not exist at home.

We sometimes wonder if there are many wives who are glad when Monday comes so that their husbands will be out of the way.

The chronic alcoholic cares more for his liquor than for his family. He nags, he shouts, he quarrels, he blames his wife for unfaithfulness without cause and often threatens the lives of those he loves. I have seen mothers collapse trying to endure with patience the burden of a drunken husband. According to reliable court records, 20 to 30 percent of our divorces are caused by alcohol, because its excessive use makes a man physically and often economically unfit for married life.

Amendments to the Fire Prevention Act of Sask. bars the use in hotels of heaters, stoves or other burners which require inflammable liquid for fuel unless written consent of the fire commissioner is obtained. During 1946 there were 30 deaths from fire in Sask, and 15 were caused by the misuse of gasoline. The sale of gasoline in glass containers is against the law.

THE FORUM.

Conducted by Howard S. Ross, K.C., D.C.L.

In Which Subjects of General Interest Are Discussed

The opinions expressed in this Forum are not necessarily those of this newspaper, and it does not accept responsibility for them.

After losses incurred during the war years, Canadian Sunday Schools increased their enrollment twenty-one percent in 1946.

Nowadays we know that alcohol has no nutritional value. It can neither repair nor build tissue. It contains no minerals, no vitamins and no other substance necessary for maintaining health. In fact, it actually hinders the absorption of vitamins and takes away the desire for needed foods. A pint of whisky yields 1,200 calories—but only calories. No proteins, no minerals, no vitamins. It satisfies the desire for food to the extent that it supplies calories, and hence reduces the intake of essential food-stuffs. The inevitable insufficiency of essential nutrients following prolonged substitution of alcohol for food produces a variety of diseases. Fatty infiltration of the liver is found in about 75 per cent of all chronic alcoholics.

According to the autopsy records of many hospitals, cirrhosis of the liver occurs nearly nine times more often in the chronic alcoholic than in the abstainer. Polyneuritis, sometimes known as dry beri-beri or simple vitamin B deficiency, occurs in some 20 per cent of these drinkers. Another 20 per cent develop wet beri-beri, which is usually manifested by a dilated heart and swollen extremities.

Because of a deficiency of the B-complex vitamins, about 13 per cent of all chronic alcoholics who come to hospitals suffer from alcoholic pellagra. When alcohol replaces food over a long period of time, the multiple deficiencies often result in brain diseases, such as Wernicke's disease, which are characterized by a diminution of consciousness. Before the discovery of vitamin therapy, death speedily ensued in practically all these cases, but now a large percentage of them are saved.

The mortality rate of children from alcoholic families is nearly twice as high as among children of temperate families. The economic, social and hygienic deterioration of the alcoholic family contributes to the spread of disease, especially tuberculosis. The children who do survive are deprived of a good environment for the best physical and mental growth.

The USA Chamber of Commerce after a survey covering all 48 states established that there is a close relationship between educational standards and economic efficiency. Dr. Clark appointed by Columbia University to carry out an investigation on an international scale, found that inhabitants even of countries richly endowed with natural resources, if their educational budget was relatively small, lived on a very low economic level. The most striking contrasts were provided by Columbia and Denmark. The latter, least favored by nature, has been generous in her educational budget and has the highest standard of living in the world.

of earning more or cutting down on their standard of living and appealed to the people to give up high salaries for "useless" work and instead turn their energies to essential industries now short of manpower. He said: "We are short of workers and of raw material. We must use our limited resources in the best way. Britons must ask if they are doing the sort of work which the nation needs in view of the shortage of labor and material. Perhaps the time has come when this sensible question should be put to the peoples of the world. A proper response would mean billions of dollars."

There are 120 teachers in Alberta's Correspondence School under the Provincial Department of Education. The school started with a staff of five. The teachers are given adequate clerical help. More than 10,000 students enrolled for courses last year. Many grown-ups enroll for the various courses. Students of French study the spoken language through programs broadcast from CKUA. "One of these days someone is going to ask about my alma mater," a backwoods student said recently. "Won't they be surprised when I tell them I was educated privately—in the corner of the kitchen by Mom's cook stove."

The Bonneville-Coulee publicly-owned power project is making money for the U.S. During the past seven years it has shown a surplus of $16,327,000 after provision for all charges including interest, depreciation and amortization of the debt.

Canon Naylor To Present New Church Radio Series

Winding up the special series of broadcasts sponsored by the Bishop's Radio Committee of the Anglican Diocese of Montreal, the Rev. Kenneth C. Bolton, secretary of the committee and rector of the Church of St. John the Divine in Verdun, last Sunday announced the start of a new series this Sunday over the same station CJAD.

Mr. Bolton, who was the special speaker at one of the early broadcasts of the series, "Truth for Living", was the only speaker on the half-hour program last Sunday which he devoted to "a summing up" of the series, answering one of the letters from the program's mailbag and announcing the new program, which will be entitled "Tomorrow Must Come".

The new program will be presented by the Rev. Canon R. K. Naylor, rector of Trinity Memorial Church who is a regular contributor to the Church Page of The Guardian and is a commissioner of the Montreal Protestant Central School Board. The series will be devoted to educational matters.

Making the announcement, Mr. Bolton said that in order to reach a larger audience, particularly the young people of the city, the time of the new program would be from 5.45 to six o'clock every Sunday evening instead of from ten to 10.30 P.M. He said that the program would be of particular interest to young people and appealed to those who already formed the listening audience to continue as followers of second series.

Masses of Easter lilies formed the decorations and the wedding music was played by the church organist Mr. W. Johnston Hislop.

Male, of Chatham, Ont., took place on Saturday afternoon at three o'clock in Westmount Park Church, with the Rev. E. W. Goth officiating. Spring flowers adorned the church, and the organist was Mr. G. E. Flower.

The bride was given away by her father, and wore a full-skirted gown of ivory broche, with sweetheart neckline, long sleeves, peplum and bustle bow at the back. A coronet of broche held her shoulder-length veil of tulle illusion, and she carried a semi-cascade bouquet of pink delight roses.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Queen's Hotel. Later, the newly married couple left for Quebec City, Mrs. Male travelling in a beige dress, caramel brown topcoat, two-toned

Miss Elizabeth R. Hirsch attended her sister as maid of honor wearing a sky blue dress with a short train, and carrying a bouquet of light and deep pink sweet peas matching the flowers in her hair. Miss Pat Berube and Miss Margaret Dibblee were bridesmaids, the former in dove grey with pink and white sweet peas and the latter wearing tea rose with pink and white sweet peas.

Career Girl Hats Jaunty And Smart

For the girls with careers on their minds and easy-to-brush, easy-to-manage coiffures on their heads. There are plenty of smart hats. Back interest bretons, bretons with soaring plaid taffeta bows, cuff bonnets, and sailors and pillboxes maneuver for position and place, mostly posed on the back of the head.

Watch for the dramatic straw hats faced with black velvet. Peg Fischer designs a striking leghorn bicorne and faces it boldly in black velvet. Bicornes also flourish made of light felts with a pale gold cast. These blend with the new orange shades and other costume colors. Irene plans a campaign of light black horse-hair halos, distinctly summery and devastating with print dresses and theater clothes.

Whichever way the wind blows, these hats are straws in the wind.

In 1946 the U. S. flag flew over 51 per cent of world merchant shipping tonnage, compared to 14 per cent in 1939.

GERRY'S CHATTER COLUMN

Name fashion's favorite pekingese

After having attended several fashion shows I am now convinced that the new old-fashioned styles must be worn with discretion, and to do this one just can't go out and pick the first attractive garment shown. JUDITH CLARK has for many years been considered one of the finest "style counselors" in Montreal. Her salon, situated at 1254 Sherbrooke St. W., offers the discriminating woman the unusual in fashions. When you purchase your frocks at JUDITH CLARK'S you do so with the utmost confidence. Her first concern is, whether or not the frock suits your individuality, or whether it is the style that will fit in with the rest of your wardrobe. In other words, once you become a customer of Miss Clark's, you know that your clothes will have that individual look. By the way, so many queries have been sent in about the little pekingese that JUDITH CLARK is featuring in her press ads, that we thought you would be interested in giving this "little female canine" a name. Send in as many suggestions as you wish to Gerry's Chatter Column, 4087 Hampton Ave., N.D.G., Montreal, and a suitable prize will be awarded to the most interesting name received.

A boys first lesson

This year promises to be a peak year around the golf clubs, new pars to break, more competitions to enter, and more clubs to buy. In all it looks as if the golfers will be hitting their stride pretty soon. Being only a beginner at this ancient and honourable game, I don't intend to give any advice as how to break par, but I do know what it means to have the correct shoes when playing. If you pass the New Henry Marks Store, in The Mount Royal Hotel, Peel St., you will see the proper shoes displayed in their windows. They are a Scotch grain, made from imported leather, moccasin type and with removable spikes. These spikes may be bought separately at HENRY MARKS. The sizes being 6 to 12. What a thrill for a boy when his father takes him down to Henry Marks for his first golf shoes, for then he will be sure to follow in his father's footsteps. Sorry ladies, we can not buy our golf shoes here, BUT you can buy BERMUDA DOE SKIN SLACKS, these are an exclusive article at The New Henry Marks Store. They are the most perfectly cut slacks that I have even seen. They have been made by one of the finest tailoring houses in England, and the colors are the softest of pastels, with the belt-top finish as neat as-a-new-moccasin. Here are slacks that will never look baggy, and are just the garment for spring wear in city or country. When you visit the New Henry Marks Store and ask for these slacks, I'm sure you will say I have not done them justice. While there, be sure and see the lovely mohair pull-over and cartigan sweaters, to match your slacks.

April Showers bring May flowers

Do you remember that exquisite Chinese handmade lingerie that we used to receive from China? The C.S.L. Gift Shop, 1480 Sherbrooke St. W., near Mackay St., has been fortunate in receiving a small shipment of these. There are pink and white silk flowered nighties and slips with elaborate embroidered yokes. This type of lingerie is seldom seen today. The collector of small figurines will be delighted with the plaster and plastic Dickens characters shown at the shop. You will find Uriah Heep, Scrooge, etc., besides Romeo and Juliette, Falstaff, Amish Man and Amish Folk. These little characters are beautifully done, and the colorings are very vivid. Over the shoulder bags are still very popular, and The C.S.L. Gift Shop have something very different to offer in their natural deer hide bags made by the Manitoulin Island Indians. They have been tanned to a silk like quality, with insets of deer skin, having the zipper down the side, very original and something out of the ordinary. April showers bring May flowers, BUT, when I was in the C.S.L. shop yesterday, a new consignment of umbrellas had just arrived, and ladies if you are looking for something in an exclusive umbrella, be sure and see the nylon taffeta parasol-umbrella with scalloped edges; there are several color combinations such as, black with red scallops, blue with white, and brown with beige. They have bamboo crook handles, and have been copied from the old fashioned parasols.

The Duchess and the Maple Leaf

"WHAT IS THE SHIRT-BLOUSE THAT MAKES YOU LOOK NICE, AND MAKES MEN LOOK TWICE? — IT'S A DUCHESS." Yes, you have seen those words before, and if you keep watching the papers you will see many more smart sayings about "IT'S A DUCHESS". This name and the maple leaf are synonymous with the very finest styles in blouses, tubable dresses, pyjamas, nightgowns and slips made by THE CANADIAN CONVERTERS CO. LTD. Have you just bought your new spring suit, but as yet have not completed your ensemble with that all important blouse? Then be sure and ask for the DUCHESS 400 blouse. This comes in a lovely crepe, in all pastel shades, tailor-made, with a collar that can be buttoned up or left open, and long sleeves. The plainer shirts are both smart and wise to wear, providing they don't defeminize one, and these definitely do not. Special attention has been paid to the shoulders, and if you are a tall person, you will be delighted with the extra length that has been provided for in these blouses. Another clever feature that I noticed is, a small button has been placed below the waist line, so that you are sure of a perfect fit. Yes, when shopping for a blouse, be sure and ask for a DUCHESS 400.

The new replaces the old

Many years ago only the fortunate wealthy ladies were able to have wired bras. Today, where the accent is on youthful styles a very clever designer has recreated this custom of wearing wired bras and has put them on the mass production line so that every one now can afford one. The ALENE wired bras are made of nylon and rayon satin, in black, white and tea rose. With this make you will never have shoulder strap trouble, as they do not cut or slip off, and the wire may be removed when laundering. The flat chested type is taboo today, and to wear the new styles, day or evening, you must have a beautiful bust line which only a perfectly fitted ALENE Bra can give you. This is a corrective brassiere designed to give you a lovely uplift, comfort, and a beautiful natural separation. For the strapless evening gowns the strapless ALENE Bra is a necessity. Not until you have actually worn one of these creations will you realize what a comfort they are. This spring we will be wearing the new nylon blouses and with their sheerness they demand some under support. I was told how much better a bathing suit will look with an ALENE Bra. Yes, the oldtime fashions are returning, look back at some of the family's old tin types and see what they wore; not ALENE'S, but a fair facsimile. This wired brassiere is carried by most leading departmental stores, and corset shops, or write Gerry's Chatter Column, 4087 Hampton Avenue, N.D.G., for nearest dealer.

coat collected by L.P.L.'s and returned when you require it.

Two little moths were having the following conversation. One, a bit shop worn, said to the other, a strong little fellow, "How do you manage to get such a good fur feed in the summer months?" "Well, you see," said little fatty, "I hide away in the bottom drawer during the winter months, and in the spring time when my mistress wraps her fur coats in a newspaper and puts it away in her cedar chest, thinking her coat will be quite safe, I just fly into the chest and nibble away all summer." "Lucky you," said little skinny. "No such luck for me, my mistress POLLY PERSIAN, takes no chances with her furs, she calls L. P. LAZARE, 1454 Peel Street, just opposite the Mount Royal Hotel, as soon as she stops being worn." Polly is a wise old gal; have you read her press notices lately? She seems to be making headlines in every paper, and the reason, she really has something to bleat about. Polly Persian insists on spending the summer months in well ventilated vaults, where her fur will be well examined and any minor operation will be attended to before she returns to her worldly haunts. Her board charge is the same as in any other establishment, 2% plus 1/2 of 1% for year round world-wide insurance. In following Polly's habit you are only doing what thousands of Montrealers are doing now. In using L. P. Lazare's storage vaults you are eliminating any chances of moth damage to your furs. By calling MA. 1255 you may have your

WHITE DOESKIN GLOVES SHOULD NOT BE LAUNDERED ON THE HANDS. Wash them in lukewarm water. Never rub them; squeeze instead. Do not let them soak, but wash immediately. After they're washed, rinse them several times in clear lukewarm water. To the last rinse water, add just a small amount of soap flakes. Roll in a Turkish towel to remove most of the moisture, blow in them, and hang them to dry. Before they are completely dry, put them on your hands, remove from your hands and allow to dry completely.

This Spring let style go to your head

This week I had the pleasure of meeting Miss Curran of the millinery dept. of Robert Simpson's. Have you visited their salon with its new decorations of pale pink? It is most attractive with ample room to admire one's new chapeau before a mirror. I have never seen so many beautiful models of every color, shape and size. There are many, many elegant hats under $10.00 and of course more expensive ones too. Once more I was taken behind the scenes and had a peep into the large hat boxes. Beige, burnt straw and white are very popular, as are also the black and white hats. If you have been looking for a dressy hat, you will find a wonderful variety at SIMPSON'S. Here are just a few; a small fluffy pill-box type of sable colored maline veiling, having the very new back treatment of two beautiful beige roses. When looking at the next hat I immediately exclaimed "the bride's going away hat"; it is a cream satin sailor, with moss green coarse lace veiling, which completely covers the hat and hangs in great profusion down the back. The brim is encircled with ten small pink roses. Then came the white straw, bowler-type off the face hat, covered with a gold mesh veiling, and two gold feather wings darting up the front. BUT, wait 'til you see the striking large brimmed hats, which will take your breath away. They are so flattering that I know you will all want one, after you have seen SIMPSON'S display. There is one more hat that the young 'teen ager will love. It is a wheat straw sailor, open crown with a huge brown taffeta ribbon bow, placed in back, held by a bunch of luscious red cherries. Be sure and visit SIMPSON'S millinery dept. where you may let STYLE GO TO YOUR HEAD.

Price Control And Rationing

- Q. Can you tell me the ceiling price of shortening?
- A. The ceiling price of shortening varies according to the brand. If you would give us details of the name of the brand and your dealer, we would be pleased to check and give you the proper ceiling price.
- Q. My grocer is still taking sugar coupons for corn syrup. I'm sure it is no longer rationed. Am I right?
- A. Yes, you are right. Send in the name of your grocer and we will check at once as to why he is asking for sugar coupons on a product which is no longer rationed.
- Q. I purchased a pair of infants white boots and paid 98c. They were too large so I returned them and bought a pair of the very same shoes at another store and was charged $1.39. Is there a ceiling price on shoes?
- A. There is no ceiling price on footwear of any kind now. When you bought these boots, the ceiling price was still in effect and you were not overcharged. The store selling at 98c is a cut-rate store and often sell far below other merchants. As we have mentioned in the column many times, the WPTB sets the maximum price at which items may be sold but there is no regulation saying that the article cannot be sold for less.
- Q. Under the new regulations affecting rentals may I apply for possession of a house I bought some time ago?
- A. Yes, if you bought the house in the period between October 31, 1944 and July 25, 1945 you may apply to the nearest office of the - War-time Prices and Trade Board with a written statement in duplicate setting out your date of purchase and needs as compared with the tenants. If the Court of Rentals Appeal approves, your application, you may then give three months notice to vacate under the laws of the province.
- Q. We rent an apartment of four rooms and a bath. It is self-contained. We have two children three and five years of age and the janitor complains that the children bother the other tenants. Can we be given notice to vacate?
- A. No. As you occupy self-contained accommodation, you are protected by the "freezing order." While this order remains in effect you cannot be given notice to vacate because of the children.
- Jim Conway And Troupe Slated For Legion Social
- Owing to a social evening being put on by the senior branch last night, the regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary, Canadian Pacific, Branch No. 64, Canadian Legion, will be held on April 24th, instead of today at the club rooms, 354 Youville Street, at 8 p.m.
- Members are asked to note that the Ladies' Auxiliary is invited to the social being held tonight. A member of the senior branch, Comrade Jim Conway, and his entertainment troupe will put on a show for the members. Comrade Conway has entertained at various veterans' hospital and Legion branches. Refreshments will be served by the Ladies' Auxiliary Social Committee.

For and About Women

WOMEN WITH IDEAS

MISS IRENE AUGER

By HELEN B. SANDWELL

Irene Auger, one of our most expert interior decorators and brimful of ideas about Canadian fine furniture, rugs and upholstery, is in town this week exhibiting examples of her handwoven textiles at the Beau Manoir on Sherbrooke Street just east of Guy. Some of her pieces are as Canadian as a maple leaf, some would find a fit setting in a modern boudoir and others of great beauty and dignity have been created to grace fine homes in the Dominion, the United States, South America and France, for her fame has travelled far. Once a year Irene Auger brings a showing here from her Quebec studio, and a rare treat it is for beauty-lovers.

Although she shows gay little coats handhooked with bits of the Canadian scene (which the American tourists love—and buy!) the exhibit at the Beau Manoir consists mainly of upholstery fabrics and drapes with the design woven right into the material, or hand-hooked in wool. Under her direction the old-time arts of the Province are combined to create beauty in which we can all take pride. Quite a little "cottage industry" has grown up in connection with her Quebec studio for she now employs 45 girls, each carrying out the Auger designs at home. Miss Auger's mother and sister Therese, also skilled at the handloom, weave the first samples from Irene's drawings as a guide to the girl weavers, and see that they are provided with supplies of cotton. Many of these girls are specialists in certain patterns and much prefer to work at home instead of in more industrialized surroundings.

Reading about color and design is somewhat like reading about a perfume — not nearly so exciting as experiencing the real thing, but in case you have not yet had time to see the exhibit at Beau Manoir here are a few items the writer noted on Tuesday. One drape in blue-grey had great soft 'mums hand-hooked in varying shades of peach, greens, Delft, and light and dark rose. Its companion piece had a background of pale rose, with the 'mums in turquoise and varied rose tones. These were commissioned by a client for the drawingroom and dining room of his home, and are complementary and interchangeable.

"ALOUETTE"

Something completely different for a cocktail bar is a material woven in a red and rose warp and woof, on which steep-roofed cottages, suggestions of fences, roosters and cafes parade in daring colors. That Miss Auger can even set music to color is shown by one of the fourteen drapes created for the Willis Music Company in Quebec City. This is in gold, with a treble clef as central motif and a deep slanted border of the staff notes of "Alouettes" in black and white dancing across the bottom. The other thirteen drapes feature bars of music from well known folk songs.

For a boy's room or a summer camp Irene Auger has designed a black homespun splashed with angel fish in rosy shades with suggested waves and bubbles in turquoise, yellow and greens.

One of the most beautiful of all those at the Beau Manoir is a soft, complex weave of turquoise and white which result in

Calvary Club Plans 'Womanless' Parade

The Calvary Progress Club of Calvary United Church is presenting "A Womanless Fashion Show" to be held in the Church Hall, corner Greene Avenue and Dorchester Street West, on Wednesday at 8.15 p.m. Proceeds are in aid of underprivileged children at Macaulay Camp, L'Orignal.

This fashion show will present the various male members of the group and church in fashions of old and up-to-date clothes showing what the modern "woman" is wearing. Here is your opportunity to enjoy an evening of original fun and entertainment.

Tickets can be secured from any member of the group, or at the door.

an aqua tint. With economy of line and no "clutter" the design, wrought in fine wool handhooking of Burgundy, through dusty, fuchsia to palest rose, suggests seaweed ribbons undulating gently in quiet waves.

Then there are multi-square colonials, each square adorned with alternates posies of nasturtiums and marguerites. Deep flower borders bloom half-way up other drapes in great swooshes of color, and of course there's a wide choice of stripes and geometric patterns.

This woman of ideas, whose forefathers (fortunately for us) came to Canada in 1750, was born at Ste. Croix, Lotbiniere County. From the country school there she continued her studies at l'Ecole des Arts in Quebec City, and later worked at Les Arts Domestiques designing rugs and drapes for the Province of Quebec. To widen her field still further she studied for two years in New York and then opened her studio.

Well, it seems a most colorful way to earn one's living and have fun at the same time!

◆ For and About Women ◆

Chubby Girls Should Avoid Bare Midriff Swim Suits

If your figure is good enough to rate a whistle from the life guard, wear as extreme a style in a swim suit as you like—as brief, skin-tight or bustle-ruffled as your tastes dictate.

But if curves aren't THAT good, a little more conservatively-cut fabric in a suit used to gloss over faults will still make your figure whistle-worthy.

So says George A. Hamid, master showman of an Atlantic City pier. This noted impresario has probably watched a bigger parade of bathing suits—good and bad—than any resort man in America.

The good bathing suit for the slightly largish woman—good because it trims her down—is one with a slim, flared skirt that comes about six inches above the knees, according to this fashion-wise observer. The best neckline for this suit is V-shaped, not squared off by a bodice top and two straps.

Two-piece bathing suits—even those conservatively-styled—are so trying to plump-waisted figures that even Mr. Hamid wonders why some women who shouldn't do it persist in wearing them. He thinks, however, that a covered midriff, particularly if it's covered by a suit of dark, solid-colored fabric, can keep a spare tire a secret.

Nor do midriff-slimming or figure-trimming suits have to be black, he says. Deep blue, maroon or hunter's green is as slenderizing and can be more flattering to a woman's personal coloring.

Unless you are a Miss Venus, this observer thinks that white

Only slim-waisted bathing beauties should wear extreme swim suits.

—although as beautiful on the beach as white coral and sugary-looking sand, he says—should be ruled out.

Scholarships, Many Donations Noted At Maritime Meeting

At the annual meeting of The Maritime Women's Club of Montreal, Inc., held last night in Tudor Hall, the President, Mrs. A. D. Ross, expressed her pleasure and gratification in the growth of the club during the past two years. To the many other activities were added public speaking and dramatics, and a definite interest in developing in Civic affairs.

Miss Florence A. Sutherland, treasurer, in her report showed that the club's finances were in a satisfactory state after donations were made to the following:

Save the Children Fund; Canadian Red Cross; Family Welfare; Montreal Boy's Association; Montreal Children's Library; School for Crippled Children; Art Association of Montreal; Anti-Tuberculosis League; Mackay Institute for the Blind; Salvation Army; Old Brewery Mission; and the Women's Voluntary Services.

Total receipts for the year were $3,338.00. The membership stands at 191 members.

Four scholarships were provided for, totalling $200. Miss E. Jean Ellis, winner of the scholarship granted to the McGill School for Graduate Nurses, was a guest at the meeting and in a few well chosen words told of her work, and expressed her thanks to the club members.

Mrs. A. J. Moore, Chairman of the Committee which visits the Military Hospital at Ste. Anne de Bellevue, reported that 24 visits had been made during the year, and that $695.00 from club funds was spent on gifts and comforts for these men. Sixty Christmas hampers had been packed from donations from club members.

Mrs. A. J. Boyd, Chairman of the Personal Parcels for Britain, has been sending one box a month to five needy families in Britain. In all 50 parcels have been sent this year at a cost of $425.00. This is in addition to any parcels which individual members are forwarding.

The Ways and Means Committee, under the chairmanship of Mrs. H. T. Mitchell, planned and executed during the year a marathon bridge, a telephone bridge, and a very successful sale of handiwork and home cooking.

The Red Cross group still meet regularly to aid in preparing surgical dressings, and other articles needed in peace time work. During the year this group sponsored two teas, the funds from which were used to purchase life certificates in the club for Miss Sarah Isabel Livingston and Mrs. A. B. S. DeWolf for their outstanding services to the club and also to the Red Cross. These certificates were presented by the president, Mrs. A. D. Ross.

Two honorary memberships were presented by Miss D. L. Gass; one to Miss Mary V. Allen of Shelburne, Nova Scotia (in absentia), a member of the first Board; the other to Miss Florence A. Sutherland, who has been treasurer since the club was formed 16 years ago.

Old House Yields Gracefully To Artist's Beauty Treatments

Sophistication and so-called artistic temperament have no place in the exuberant, delightful personality of Esther L. Stewart, artist. Against the background of the homey, rambling bungalow near Vienna, Virginia, where she and her architect husband live, she presents a picture of a completely happy, successful woman.

Eleven years ago, the Stewarts bought their present home. Very much except the price was wrong with the place. It was without modern conveniences and part of the lot was under an unsightly rubbish heap. But it was secluded and quiet and would be a fine spot in the country for ten-year-old Carolyn and young Stanley.

Goats, ducks, chickens, and a huge garden soon made scheduled appearances. Mrs. Stewart papered the walls and her husband helped her set up a studio. When she had too many hours of painting, or felt the need of action, her painter's smock gave way to work clothes and she went out to join in helping to get rid of the rubbish heap (there's a picnic terrace there, now), to work in the garden, or dig out the ground for the new swimming pool.

Ester Stewart laughingly admits she's no housekeeper, but the warmth of her enthusiasm and talents has spilled over in every room so lavishly that she is indeed much more than a housekeeper: she is a true homemaker. The walls are bright with extravagant treats from her palette and brushes as well as pictures done by fellow artist friends.

Her kitchen is a colorful departure from the ordinary treatment. The cupboards are green

It has a double row of flap pockets.

New Bubblefill And Foam Rubber Being Considered For Bedding

All materials used in bedding manufacture have been to war and have profited by the improvement that had to be made to meet the rigid requirements of war products. Such newly developed fabrics as rayon-acetate and plastic-coated fabrics may be used for mattress covers. Bubblefill, described as a "new material which consists of trapped air in a continuous stream of cellophane balls," may be used in bedding products eventually. (We often talk of walking on air—it will be something new to most of us to sleep on air!)

Foam rubber mattresses appear to have a future, but they promise to be scarce and expensive for sometime to come.

Mattresses and springs should always be selected to go together. They won't provide comfort unless they are compatible. For use with a solid pad mattress, but not with an innerspring mattress, an open coil spring of double deck construction is recommended. For "lightweights," a good single-deck coil spring should be satisfactory.

Earmarks of a good mattress, include heavy, firm ticking, a well-tailored finish, inner roll edges and prebuilt borders to prevent side sagging, firm handles to make turning easy, and ventilators to air the inside.

A good pillow should meet four requirements: lightness, resiliency, buoyancy, and freedom from odor, dust, stiff feathers, and lumps. Tickings should be guaranteed feather and down proof.

CLEVER YOUNG THESPIANS APPEARING IN HANSEL & GRETEL

Scene from Hansel & Gretel, a Children's Theatre Production directed by Dorothy Davis and Violet Walters, taking place at Victoria Hall Saturday afternoon, April 26th, at 2.30. The witch is Harriet Sabbath, and Hansel & Gretel are played by Phyllis Gibson and David Luck.

Final Play Of Children's Theatre For Season Is Fairy Tale Fantasy

Fairy tales have been ever dear to the heart of childhood, and Hans Christian Anderson's story of "Hansel & Gretel" ranks among the immortals. Now, for the first time, the Children's Theatre, which for fifteen years has given to Montreal audiences many of the best loved children's stories in dramatic production will present this delightful play.

Hansel and Gretel, the Children's Theatre final major production of the season under the direction of Dorothy Davis and Violet Walters promises an afternoon of memorable entertainment. This full-length adaptation has been written by Jean Low, whose charming and imaginative radio plays, presented weekly by the Children's Theatre over CFCF are familiar to innumerable child listeners.

In addition to the characters of the original story, over seventy others have been introduced from the magical land of make-believe. Through the great black forest passes a colorful pageant of fairy-book people, who will amuse you with their antics and enchant you with their beauty.

There is sheer loveliness in the dream sequence, when fourteen white winged angels are seen ascending the heavenly stair; drama and pathos in the scene between the two children and their inexorable stepmother; and delightful whimsical nonsense supplied by the many odd creatures of the Forest, who caper their way into your very hearts.

Costuming of the play alone has taken the skill of many designers, and the beautiful forest setting and lighting effects combine to make this dramatic fantasy one of loveliness that will remain long in your memory. Hansel and Gretel will be presented at Victoria Hall on Saturday afternoon, April 26th.

Three One-Act Plays By C.A.T.

"Still Stands the House," one of three one-act plays to be presented by Canadian Art Theatre at Victoria Hall on May 15 and 16, was written by a Canadian, Gwendolyn Pharis, of Magrath, Alberta. Miss Pharis has written several other plays and is at present associated with the Playmakers Theatre at Chapel Hill, North Carolina.

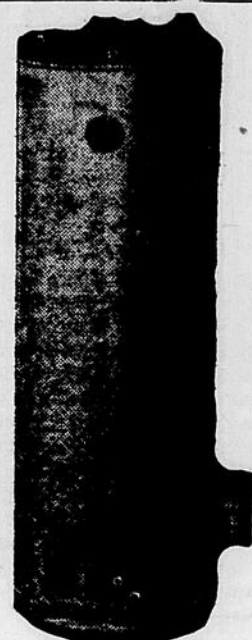

"Still Stands the House," which took first prize as the best Canadian play in the annual Dominion Drama Festival in 1939, is a drama of the Canadian frontier, the story of the struggle which has broken the spirit of many men and women in their vain efforts to make wheat grow on sun-parched prairies.

The author describes the play also as the tragedy of a "woman whose life is concerned, not with present realities, but with memories of the past." Norma Springfield is directing, and the four characters in the play will be portrayed by students from the C.A.T. School of Theatre Arts.

"The Courting of Marie Gendrin" by the same author, and a new play by Harold Whitehead, a young Montrealer, will complete the program. Joy Thomson is directing the latter two and is designing original settings for all three productions.

Little Black Sambo, the fictional character who holds a special place in the hearts of young and old, will appear in person at Victoria Hall on Saturday, May 3rd, when the Theatre for young folk presents "Little Black Sambo and the Tigers."

Expected to prove the most popular children's play of the season the Canadian Art Theatre box office will open Monday, April 14th, for telephone and mail orders.

"Fun Parade" A Wild Laugh Riot For Four Solid Hours

Credit, if credit it can be called, for pioneering the series of mad antics which go to make up radio shows like the sensational "Fun Parade", moving into the Forum on Monday, April 28th next for a one night stand, must go to Roy W. Dickson, famous master of merriment, who manages to keep not only his own madcap gang and the participating volunteers, but everyone within striking distance, rocking in their seats in side-splitting stitches at every performance from the minute the wild shenanigans begin until there is no strength left to rock! For the "Fun Parade" is a riot, as those who have heard it over the air have very good reason to know.

Dozens of similar shows have sprung up in recent years across the line, "Truth or Consequences", "County Fair", "Bride and Groom", "People are Funny", among them, but the "Fun Parade", which started right here in Canada, claims the proud distinction of being the granddaddy of them all.

And its unbelievable success can be largely attributed to two principal factors, first its novelty—every performance is practically a new show, and secondly, the audience have as much to do with the fun as have the regular performers themselves. The volunteers, as a matter of fact, are the ones who really make the show. And there are always dozens of them. Moreover, the lucky among them get much more than amusement for their pains. For the prizes are always worth while, and the present list has now grown until it has reached close to $3,000. The "Fun Parade" is being brought in under the auspices of Court Riverview, Canadian Order of Foresters, with Arthur Chambers, Charles Searby, Fred Fletcher, Fred Smith, Dave Chambers, and Ed Howarth, the committee in charge, and the Forum box office reports a heavy advance sale of tickets.

Mental Strain Usually Cause Of Artery Ills

Excessive mental work is more likely than hard physical labor to cause arteriosclerosis—hardening of the arteries—and more men than women suffer from that malady.

A well-established condition of arteriosclerosis is made apparent by the rigid and tortuous condition of the arteries which, to the touch, feel like a string of beads. The earlier symptoms are less definite and often are so slight as to pass unnoticed.

These symptoms arise from a diminished blood supply, resulting from the thickened condition of the arteries which reduces their inner capacity. Naturally, symptoms vary according to the parts of the body which are being deprived of a normal blood supply.

Thus, if the arteries supplying the brain are affected, there will be increasing loss of memory, inability to sleep properly, defectiveness of judgment, irritability and despondency. In the aged, sufferers are restless, even delirious, during the night. During the day they are drowsy.

Breathing Affected

Arteriosclerosis affecting the heart produces notable changes in the condition and functioning of that organ. The change is likely to be shown first by a shortness of breath. The attacks come on suddenly at night. Sometimes the patient is afraid to go to sleep. At others the attacks resemble bronchial asthma. In cases where the muscle of the heart is much affected, or there is a coronary defect, there is likely to be distress in front of the heart.

Angina pectoris may develop with disease of the coronary arteries. Finally there may be thrombosis—plugging of the vessels by a clot of blood.

Heredity appears to be a factor, in this disease, while typhoid fever and rheumatism have long been thought to produce changes in the arteries. Scarlet fever, diphtheria and influenza also are blamed. Infected teeth, tonsils, sinuses, gall bladder, prostate or appendix probably are exciting causes. However, diagnosis is readily made by a physician, and treatment should be directed by him.

BRAWNY BATTLERS

As big and rugged as he is, Burt Lancaster was outweighed by 48 pounds in his spectacular fight with Mike Mazurki in Hal Wallis' "I Walk Alone," a coming Paramount release. Burt tipped the scales at 190, while Mike weighed

Heroic Nurse Kenny Portrayed By Rosalind Russell

The dramatic saga of a dauntless woman's success against personal tragedy and orthodox medical opposition is vividly presented in the biographical film "Sister Kenny", which starts at the Seville United Theatre on Wednesday, April 23rd. Co-starring Rosalind Russell as the famed Australian nurse whose method of treating the effects of infantile paralysis brought new hope to stricken victims, and Alexander Knox, as Dr. McDonnell, her friend and advisor, the picture is an authentic record of one of the outstanding figures of contemporary life.

Made with the full co-operation of Elizabeth Kenny, and featuring Dean Jagger as the fiance she never married, "Sister Kenny" traces the protagonist's activities from the time she was a young nurse in the Australian bush to the moment of victory when her Institute in Minneapolis was opened.

She first encountered the then little known disease, poliomyelitis, on one of her rounds in the back country. It was not until a later date that she learned that her treatment of her small patient eliminated the crippling effects that were subsequently striking hospitalized patients in urban communities.

There started her long and arduous fight for recognized medical groups, all of whom were equally anxious to allay suffering, but who differed from Nurse Kenny in method.

Rebuffed again and again, she opened clinics only to see them shut down. Her treatment, so different from that laid down in the medical books, was condemned in Australia, in England, and in America.

However, nobody fought harder to relieve children of this dreadful scourge than did Dr. Charles Brack, played by Philip Merivale, eminent orthopedic specialist and Sister Kenny's chief antagonist.

MELODIC MASTERPIECE! 32 Irving Berlin song-hits form the musical background of "Blue Skies," in Technicolor, which starts on Saturday at the Monkland United Theatre, playing until Tuesday night. Joan Caulfield, Fred Astaire and Bing Crosby are co-starred with Olga San Juan and Billy De Wolfe in featured roles.

Alan Ladd Stars In Famous Saga Of The Sea At Westmount

Based on Richard Henry Dana's famous saga of sailing ships, "Two Years Before The Mast", which is now playing at the Westmount United Theatre until Saturday, is a grand picturization of a great literary work. The stirring film tale of wooden ships and iron men is enacted by a blue-ribbon cast headed by stars Alan Ladd, Brian Donlevy, William Bendix and Barry Fitzgerald, and features a supporting cast which includes Howard da Silva, Esther Fernandez and Albert Dekker.

One hundred and six years ago, Dana published the scathing narrative of his adventures on the high seas, and, overnight, the American public was aroused to such a pitch of indignation that Congress was impelled to pass the bill that, today, guaranteed civil liberties to every American merchant seaman on the high seas. That book, a perennial favorite and a classic of marine literature, has, at last, been brought to the screen for millions of filmgoers to enjoy.

"Two Years Before The Mast" is an exciting tale of the voyage of the torture ship, "Pilgrim", from Boston, around Cape Horn, to California. With a record time goal as his only aim, the ship's conscienceless skipper (Howard Da Silva) with the aid of his tough first mate (William Bendix), inflicts hardships and cruel punishment on his crew. Shanghaied on board by mistake is the n'er-dowell son of the ship's owner (Alan Ladd), and a writer, Richard Henry Dana, (Brian Donlevy), who signed on to obtain material for his novel.

Romance steps into the story when a young Spanish girl (Esther Fernandez) boards the ship in Brazil, and she and Alan Ladd become interested in each other. He, toughened by the vicious discipline, leads the crew in mutiny, which sets off a series of suspenseful events that lead to the passage of the first bill offering a new code of decency and justice for American seamen.

Sylvia Sidney, Congresswoman At Monkland

The private life of a glamorous and ambitious Congresswoman, portrayed by Sylvia Sidney, is the theme of "Mr. Ace", which co-stars Miss Sidney and George Raft, and which is now playing at the Monkland United Theatre until Friday night.

George Raft plays the role of Eddie Ace, a cynical political boss, while Sylvia Sidney is seen as the brilliant and elegant Congresswoman, Margaret Wyndham Chase, whose cap is set for a governorship.

To ensure her nomination for the governorship, she is forced to call on tough, blunt Eddie Ace. They meet, are dynamically attracted . . . but Eddie refuses to support a woman's candidacy.

By a clever, unscrupulous move, Congresswoman Chase forces a split in Ace's party, thus winning the nomination in spite of his opposition. But she leaves herself vulnerable to Eddie's revenge, as her husband is seeking a divorce, which she is unwilling to grant for publicity's sake, and Eddie can fake the evidence Mr. Chase needs.

In the ensuing blaze, she takes a beating in the game of love, but triumphs in politics. Unhappy, despite her victory, and not a little ashamed of herself because of the means she used to win, she suddenly resigns her candidacy and retires from the fight.

Ace, impressed by her penitence, anonymously forms a new party and drafts Congresswoman Chase to run on their ticket for a cleaner and better government. Touched and fired by the party's faith in her, she accepts, not knowing that her sponsor is Ace, and that he will be the first to be crushed in the clean-up campaign she so firmly promises the people. The ending is happy, if rather unexpected and unusual.

Sara Haden plays the role of Miss Sidney's secretary and Jerome Cowan that of her manager. Sid Silvers adds a touch of comedy in the role of Raft's henchman, Pencil.

NUMBER TWELVE COMING UP

Paramount's forthcoming "The Emperor Waltz" is the twelfth picture to be written by the studio's versatile couple, Charles Brackett and Billy Wilder. And, starring Bing Crosby and Joan Fontaine, it is also their most expensive and elaborate.

OLGA DYES AGAIN

Olga San Juan, lovely Latin of Paramount's 36-star "Variety Girl," changes her hair color with every film role. It was its natural dark black shade in her first movies, was dyed auburn brown for "Blue Skies" and is a brilliant blonde in "Variety Girl."

Rex Harrison In Sophisticated British Drama At Snowdon

characteristics which carry him steadily downward in the human whirlpool also bring him redemption via a hero's death in the war. But this is not a war picture, except for the opening and closing scenes. Harrison's vivid personality and flawless performance lend a lot to the high quality of this production. But he is closely pressed by numerous members of the cast, outstanding among them being his wife, Lilli Palmer. She plays Harrison's screen wife, and does a remarkable transition from gay to serious moods.

Popular Plays Have Extra Run

All attendance records at the MRT Playhouse have been broken by the current production, "The Barretts of Wimpole Street", every seat for each of the ten performances having been sold a few days after the box office opened. Because of this unprecedented demand, the MRT is giving two extra performances on Monday and Tuesday nights of next week.

One main reason for the success of this production lies in the unusual popularity of the play itself, but all critical reviews have likewise stressed the great skill with which this drama of the romance of Robert Browning and Elizabeth Barrett has been interpreted by Roeberta Beatty, the director, and a first-rate MRT cast headed by Eleanor Stuart, George Alexander, and Charles Miller.

Margaret Johnston, another victim of Harrison's fickle love, is a newcomer to the screen, but audiences are going to see and hear much more about her.

Jean Kent, one of Britain's most photogenic female players, handles a difficult role with finesse.

Godfrey Tearle and Griffith Jones as Harrison's father and best friend, respectively, also turn in excellent performances.

BASEBALL STEALS THE SPOTLIGHT

Even although the final games to decide the winners of the Memorial, Allan, Stanley Cups have not yet been played, baseball steals the sports interest from hockey this week, for last Monday and Tuesday, the sixteen major league teams started the 1947 season, and today, the Montreal Royals are scheduled to start the defense of their International League championship.

For the second consecutive season the Royals are expected to start the first game with a negro player in the lineup. Last year it was Jackie Robinson, first Negro to play in organized baseball, and he went on to win the batting title and is now in the majors with the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Today in Syracuse, Roy Campanella will likely be doing the catching for the local team. Campanella, a hefty backstop, last year performed for the Nashua Dodgers of the New England League. He hit a solid .301 in a pitchers' league, and many of his blows were for extra bases. His fine hitting and smart catching made him a unanimous choice for the league all-star team. At Nashua, he formed the all-negro battery with Don Newcombe, a slender pitcher who won 13 and lost 4. This was the only negro battery ever to appear in Organized Baseball. With the Dodgers, Campanella caught the slants of a local pitcher, in fact an N.D.G. boy, Harry Sheppard.

At the present time, Campanella, younger than Robinson was when he first came to the Royals, seems to have an excellent chance of making the grade and scouts who have seen him in action say that he can't miss becoming a top-line catcher.

FELLER STILL HARD-LUCK PITCHER

It's beginning to look like another tough year for Bobby Feller. Like the late Walter Johnson, he seems to be a hard luck pitcher. When he goes to the mound, his teammates suffer from some kind of psychological reaction that prevents them from hitting. Johnson had the same experience. During his career, he won forty games by the score of 1 to 0, and lost twenty games by the same score.

WILL ENZINIKI LEARN A LESSON

The recent one-game suspension of Maurice Richard recalls two other suspensions under much the same circumstances, but with much more dire results. It happened back in the early twenties when Canadiens met Ottawa in a two-game play-off for the N.H.L. title and the right to meet the western winners for the Stanley Cup.

We were reminded of this series when a fan remarked to us the other day: "Can you imagine what would have happened to Mr. Enzinkif it was Sprague Cleghorn or Newsy Lalonde that he skated across the rink to bump?"

Ottawa had a young defenceman named Lionel Hitchman who had just broken into the N.H.L. from the ranks of the R.C.M.P. In his very first game against Canadiens he showed a lot of courage but not much discretion by bodychecking Cleghorn to the ice frequently, a very difficult thing to do, and by throwing back his head and having a great old laugh when he did it, a very foolhardy thing to do. Hitchman was a terrific hitter at the blue line.

Came the play-offs. The game was at Montreal. It was important for Canadiens because few of the experts expected them to win the return game at Ottawa, and as total goals in the two games decided the winner, Canadiens had to take a lead back to the Capital with them.

As expected Hitchman gave the Canadiens a terrific bumping, and the small ice surface at the old Mount Royal rink made him a hard man to avoid. Hitchman was well over six feet tall, and his weight was solid.

There was no score in the first two periods. Tension was running high, but Canadiens had orders to stay on the ice. A penalty might lose the series.

The tension was broken when Cy Denenny nicked the corner for an Ottawa goal on a play with Hitchman. A few seconds later, Sprague Cleghorn and his defence mate, Bill Coutu, had felled both Denenny and Hitchman with their sticks. There was a free-for-all fight that took a whole battery of police to straighten out. Denenny went to hospital for six weeks, and Hitchman for almost as long.

Cleghorn and Coutu were suspended indefinitely, and fined $200 each—a fair penalty in those days. Years later, Coutu was suspended for life for laying a referee low.

Denenny was a quiet, clean player, against whom nobody bore a grudge. His injury caused an uproar in sports circles. Hitchman settled down the following season to play clean, heady hockey, developed a fine poke check, and teamed with Cleghorn on the Boston Bruins defence for a couple of years.

Ottawa won that game, 2 to 0, and strange to relate, Canadiens took the second game, 2 to 1, in the face of a wild, hostile crowd at Ottawa, and with old Didier Pitre playing defence.

If the Richard incident has the same effect on wild, young Mr. Enzinkif, as the Cleghorn incident had on Hitchman, the stick swinging won't have been done in vain. But our opinion is that Mr. Richard didn't hit Mr. Enzinkif nearly as hard as he should have.

Outdoor Life, Softball And Tennis Items To Start Soon

Besides all the football, softball, hardball, track and field, lacrosse, lawn bowling and many other summer sports, there is the lover of the great outdoors. He is the man and some are women, that like to fish and hunt. Take a canoe trip or any other form of outdoor sport.

In Verdun, they are very lucky to have three waterfront clubs, with a small group of sportsmen having formed a group of their own in Crawford Park.

This paper would like to carry all the stories about fishing trips. The kind of bait that gets the best results? New tricks in the care of the motor or boat? Rigging a shelter the fast way when needed in the case of emergency and everything that pertains to the outdoor life.

Starting Next Week

So far a title has not been suggested. Maybe you sportsmen can do that too. Let's hear from you by dropping a note to the Fish and Game Editor, c/o of this paper. I'm sure that the local sportsmen that love this kind of life will appreciate a column which they can call their own.

The first item of this forthcoming column will commence next week for the canoe owners entitled "Choose The Right Paddle".

Do let us know how you feel about a column of this kind. If you feel too shy about telling us about your little tips in the game or your trips, drop us a line about the column and by all means, tell us if you like it or not.

Besides the Fish and Game column, there will be a column on softball and tennis. Arrangements are under way to continue the softball tips, which were written by C. W. "Buck" Tahamont, well-known hardball and softball expert. This, the sports department hopes to carry on this summer.

American, Empire Crews Invited Bermuda Racing

Word has been received by the Royal St. Lawrence Yacht Club that the Bermuda 14 ft. International Dinghy Association has issued invitations to dinghy sailors in the United States and Great Britain to compete in the series of races early in May off the island.

The Royal St. Lawrence has already accepted the invitation, and named the skippers and crews who will represent the Lake St. Louis club in what now looks like the first three-cornered international dinghy races ever to be sailed. Those who will represent Canada in this important event are John Schwab and Dick Stevenson, skippers, their respective crews being Bob Townsend and Ian MacLean, all of whom have had experience in interclub and international dinghy racing.

ESSEX INVITED

The invitation to participate in the first international yachting event of the 1947 season has been extended by the Bermudians to the sailors of the Essex Yacht Club of Connecticut and to the International 14 ft. Dinghy Association in California in the United States. British dinghy sailors have also been invited to send crews to the island and to bring their boats with them if possible. The United States yachtsmen have also been asked to bring their 14-ft. international racing sloops and so were the Montreal tars. However, as there was no possibility of "tuning up" the dinghies on Lake St. Louis due to ice conditions, the Royal St. Lawrence committee reluctantly decided against the crews taking their own dinghies. Therefore they will sail in the dinghies of the host association in Bermuda.

As to whether the other competitors would bring their dinghies or not is not known yet, although it does appear rather a long way to bring boats from California and England, yet yachtsmen do like to sail races in their own boats.

MAY FLY DINGHIES

If the invitation is accepted by the Californians, there is a possibility that their dinghies may be flown at least part-way to the regatta, and it is altogether likely that the Essex sailors will send their own craft down by boat.

However, even if none of the crews bring their own dinghies there will be enough in the local fleet for the visiting crews to each be supplied with a boat as the Bermudians have brought eighteen new sloops to the island this year. These are the latest from the Royals open today against Syracuse for three games, and Saturday's game will come over CKVL, 990 on your dial at 2.30 p.m., while Sunday's will be from Baltimore. If the Royals - Sherbrooke hockey series are still in session, hockey will be brought to fans instead of the Sunday ball game.

ABOUT WILD BILL

Undoubtedly the most disliked Toronto Maple Leaf Lead in this hectic Stanley Cup playoff series is Bill Eziniki, the young winger who makes up one third of the Leafs' number two line of Syl Apps, Harry Watson and Eziniki. The Polish Canuck has specialized in dirty hockey since his junior days, when he gained a certain notoriety while playing for the Oshawa Generals.

I remember back in 1944 when the Oshawans came to Montreal for an Eastern final playoff tilt with the Montreal Royals. The Oshawans had a real smart team and they took the Royals but the thousands who filed into the Forum to see the game were not little enraged by the performance of Eziniki. For Wild William not only employed the elbow and the knee in the conventional manner of dirty hockeyists, he had a few original tricks of his own.

One was to trip opposing players, preferably when the refs weren't looking, with the tip of his skate blade.

Such performances are something out of the ordinary, especially in Junior hockey, and Jimmy McCormick, who was writing reports for The Standard at the time was told to interview the dirt-dealing lad.

Eziniki, who is a personable and likeable gent off the ice, was quite frank about it all.

"I play dirty quite deliberately," he told Jimmy. "I do it deliberately because I have hopes of some day playing NHL hockey and is about the only way I can attract attention to myself. If I didn't go in for this dirty stuff I'd be just another Junior. This way I get my name in the papers after every game and people hear about me."

Well, Eziniki is playing NHL hockey today, as Maurice Richard well knows. But it's my opinion that, if he doesn't get wise to himself, some laddie like Kenny Beardon is really going to step into him some night and Wild Bill is going to become an ex-NHL'er.

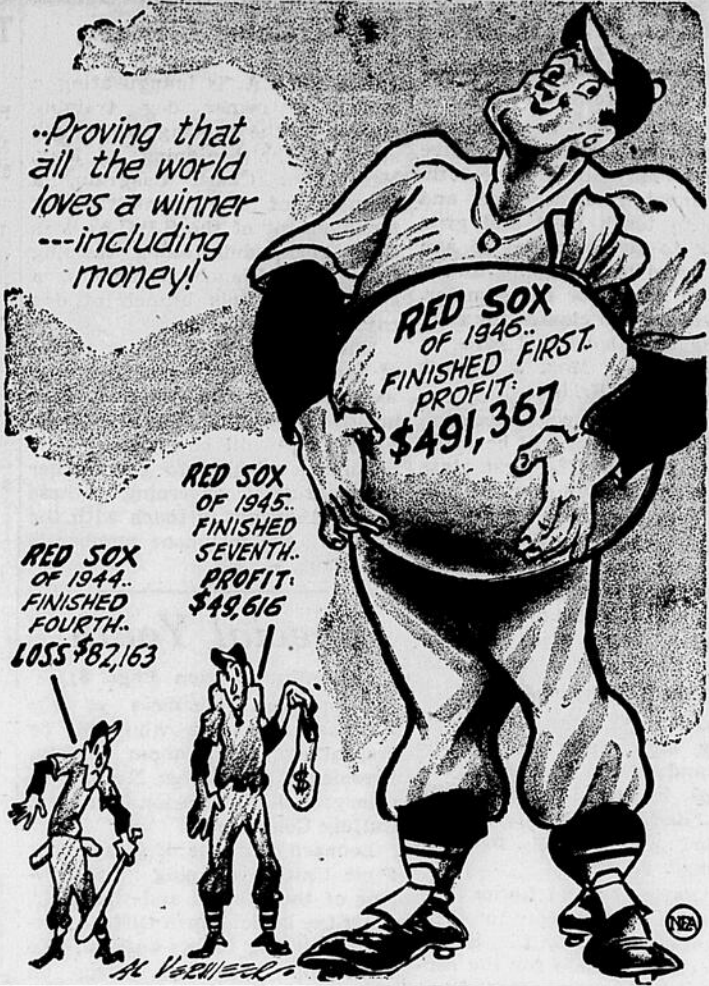

And, if that happens, there won't be very many tears shed around these parts.

While on the subject of birthdays, Pete Farrell, the former St. Leo's, Westmount High griddier, will be celebrating his 20th next Wednesday . . . Many local lads reported interested in playing in the city's Junior baseball league which will be playing a large percentage of its games at what Al Parsley calls Delormier Downs . . . St. Leo's Sports

With the arrival of Spring it brings the usual lull in the Academy sport scene with boxing occupying the spotlight for a few weeks. Of interest in the sport news this week is the announcement that the following well-known boxing clubs will send fighters to the show on Friday May 2nd; St. Anthony's, Holy Cross Boys Club, Iverley Settlement, Central Y.M.C.A. and Verdun Klsmen. The opposition for this year's event will be plenty tough as coach Andy McGillis is not figuring on lining up any set ups for the program and like last year every bout promises to be keenly fought. Already there has been a good demand for tickets for the show and we would advise those intending to take in the fistic proceedings on the night of May the second, to secure their tickets well in advance.

the Westmount Boys & Girls Hobby Show came off Wednesday night, with mermaids of all ages participating.

school emblem on the surface. The boys on the team were given a voice in the type of award they wished and the great majority were all in favor of a school ring.

Dave Manning and Buckey Orr, two former St. Leo's boxers, participated in this year's Golden Glove Tournament and both made a smart showing. Dave Manning after winning two fights was forced to default on his scheduled third bout on account of a head injury. Buckey Orr scored an impressive win in his first outing and went down fighting in his second effort, losing a close decision to his opponent.

Dave O'Meara is making good progress as he trains for his bout in the show and looks like a sure bet for the semi-final bout on the card. Dave is expected to enter the ring at 140 lbs. Martin McKenna at 155 lbs. will take over the final bout on the program. Martin is receiving some valuable pointers in his training from Frank Creaghan and John Heney, two former St. Leo's boxing idols who made a name for themselves this year by winning Intercollegiate Boxing titles while fighting under the Red and White of McGill University.

The 1947 Golden Glove finals will be staged at the Forum tonight and it will be an event well worth seeing as the crop of this year's tournament will be in action and you can be sure of plenty of thrills. This 1947 boxing tournament is being sponsored by the Montreal Rotarians with the proceeds going towards helping to finance the many worthwhile boys' activities carried on by this popular service club.

the hotels. They want to bring a couple of these boys and girls home to be their guests during the Festival. My husband and I would like it too. And, of course, we don't want any money for it . . . You really are serious about wanting to improve international relations through the contacts of the boys and girls, aren't you? . . . Well, then! . . . This thing happened more than once . . . A housing committee had to be formed to look after the many similar requests. As a result, the majority of our teen-aged visitors will be the guests of families in Montreal's finest residential areas during the Festival.

Another Problem

The matter of obtaining suitable Conductors for the huge massed events of the Festival was another question for which the answer was not easy. There were Conductors to be had, and of the finest, at a price. Some world-famous wizards of the baton, though willing to serve in a worthy cause without remuneration, shied at the idea of placing their reputations at the mercy of inexperienced performers such as make up the majority of the high school units. It is no secret in musical circles that the most brilliant Conductor does not necessarily succeed with teen-aged players. Conducting is not enough! There must also be a motivating background involving deep understanding of how the teen-ager feels about the performance. The absence of this sympathetic bond has caused the downfall of more than one 'big name' Conductor taking a flier at directing the high school type of performance.

However, the Executive feels that this problem has been solved with imminent success. Three outstanding Conductors have accepted—gratis—the task of rehearsing and directing the massed events of the Festival. Captain J. J. Gagnier, of Montreal, will direct the Band; Albert J. Wassell, Worcester, Massachusetts, the Orchestra; and Dr. John Finlay Williamson, Princeton, New Jersey, the Chorus.

Captain Gagnier, famous Montreal musician, is well known as a conductor, adjudicator, and lecturer throughout Canada and the United States. Music Director of the CBC for the District of Quebec, he holds the degree of Doctor of Music from the University of Montreal, and a commission in HM Grenadier Guards, whose music he has directed since 1913. Many of Captain Gagnier's Band and Orchestral compositions have won high praise in musical circles. He has also to his credit more than one successful encounter with high school festival musicians, the most recent being at the Ohio State Festival in May, 1946, where he and the teen-agers under his baton turned in a scintillating performance.

Conducting the International Orchestra, of 200 players, Albert Wassell holds a Master's degree in music, has studied conducting abroad, and brings to his task a rich background of experience in the school music festival field.

Dr. John Finlay Williamson, who has assumed direction of the 2000 voice International Chorus, is a Conductor of International repute, and the founder of an institution unique in the musical world—the Westminster Choir College of New Jersey. He also directs the appearances of the Westminster Choir, which is the professional touring unit of his college. In its 25 years of activity, this choir has given over 2000 public performances in the United States, Canada and Europe, and has built up an unparalleled reputation on both continents. For contemporary musicians Dr. Williamson has inspiring words. 'Remember,' he

Win Championship

Westmount 'Y' won first place standing and captured both the ladies' and men's doubles championships in the Inter-Y Round Robin Badminton Tournament conducted Wednesday on the Westmount courts.

Elsie Patterson and Lorna Ferguson had a perfect score for their eight games to take the ladies' doubles championship for the second consecutive year. Eric Duncan and Don Guess defeated R. Abercromby and J. Innes in the final play-off game to win the men's doubles championship. In the mixed section, C. Smallwood and C. Rogers of N.D.G., and C. Meynard and C. Smith of Westmount each won seven of their eight games. In this section total points made determined the winner. N.D.G. totalled 115 points to Westmount's 111.

Westmount also won the club championship with a total of 303 points over 282 for N.D.G.

The Tournament was conducted by Jim McJanet, Chairman, Tournament Committee of the Westmount Club, and George Barker, Physical Director.

Badminton Tournament

Starting Wednesday evening the Badminton Committee is conducting a Club Tournament for all players. GROWING CHILDREN

Parents who worry because their children do not seem to be sprouting as fast as they would like, are reminded by health experts in the Capital that individuals cannot always be measured by yard-sticks. If parents fear that children are not growing satisfactorily, they are advised to consult a doctor to determine whether there are any physical defects or underlying causes of illness. Mere retarded increase in stature does not necessarily imply ill-health.

BOXES OF CLOTHING TO FRANCE

Due to generosity of Montrealers over $5,000 in picked clothing, packed in boxes as shown in the upper photo; below shown loaded on truck ready for transportation for shipping; have been made available for the really needy people of France. Report comes from the Salvation Army Industrial Centre who also reveal that this is but one of the multitudinous charitable services of the Salvation Army.

FOUGHT FOR INDIANS

Renee Randall, pretty Paramount startlet in "Road to Rio," lists among her ancestors a grandfather who, although of pure French descent, was elected president of the Flathead Indian Tribunal. He spent his life fighting for the tribe's rights.

ONCE AN ACTOR—

No actor really interested in this profession can ever be happy doing anything else, according to Edward Arnold, now in Paramount's "Dear Ruth." "Once a ham, you can't quit," Arnold says.

BENEFIT AIDED

The Damon Runyon Memorial Fund for cancer research benefited by approximately $27,000 as result of the gala premiere of Paramount's "My Favorite Brunette," the picture being augmented by a two-hour stage show arranged by Bob Hope.

DIFFERENCE BY LOCALITY

In the United States, a billion is a thousand millions, and a trillion is a thousand billions. In England and Germany, a billion is a million millions and a trillion is a million billions.

Clothing Sent To France Gift Of Salvation Army

Through generosity of citizens of Greater Montreal contributing regularly to the Salvation Army Industrial Centre all manner of salvage and clothing it has been made possible for the Centre to pack and ship to France 50 cases of good clothing which will be distributed amongst the needy. The contents of these valuable cases represents good will from many families here, regardless of nationality or creed.

Many must be cared for. The need is the call, and in response to this call the Salvation Army alleviates the suffering of humanity. During the past year clothing was given to 1,465 persons, the number of garments totalling 3,965.

Safety League Warns Richard On Open Doors

"Open the door, Richard" — says the Province of Quebec Safety League — "the door on the curb side if you're parking your car and getting out. The other door, the one on the traffic side, should be kept closed unless you want to risk having a hospital door opened for you" according to Mr. Arthur Gaboury, general secretary of the Province of Quebec Safety League.

"Especially when several persons alight from a car, it happens too often that they use the doors on both sides", says Mr. Gaboury.

"Too many injuries and fatalities have resulted from this. It is just as important to remember this when entering a car as when leaving it."

ROMANTIC CAREER

Victor Varconi, importantly cast in Paramount's "Where There's Life," co-starring Bob Hope and Signe Hasso, scored his early motion picture success in romantic leads for Cecil De Mille, notably as the Prince in "The Volga Boatman."

Temporary work was given 1,321 transients in need of tide-over employment, and permanent work was found for 53.

The Salvation Army conducts religious services in all prisons and reformatories throughout the Dominion, last Sunday being named Prison Sunday when special services were arranged in all institutions by selected officers with bright music supplied, bringing hope and cheer to the inmates.

Activity Report

Report of Police Court and Prison activities for the Centre for the past year is as follows:— Visits to prison, 65, Police Court, 478, men spoken for, 688, placed under S. A. Supervision, 487, interviews in Police Court, 2,370, in Prison, 1,040 and re-united to families, 381.

From Prison to employment, the number was 267, visits made in interests of prisoners, 615, meetings held (religious) 26, religious service attendance, 3,049 and letters written for prisoners, 69.

As many as 2,694 hours were spent in prison work, one person was assisted with railway fare and five families with food. Free meals numbered 1,414, beds, 486, receiving clothing, 304, garments given, 748 and telephone calls, 1,201.

Robert Lowery has eight completed pictures awaiting release. His latest is "Jungle Flight" for Pine-Thomas at Paramount.
