Situation in Hunan Province Reported as Critical.

WOMEN AND CHILDREN FLEE FOR THEIR LIVES AND MANY BUILDINGS ARE BURNED.

Hankow, China, April 22.—(Special)—The situation in Hunan Province is reported as critical. Women and children are fleeing for their lives from Changsha, the capital. A number of villages near that city have been reduced to ashes by the native mobs. The country is placarded with threats to kill all foreigners. This disquieting news was brought by a missionary who arrived here from Changsha and nearby missionary stations at 10 o'clock this forenoon. Many of them had travelled thirty miles on foot and reached the Yangtse Kiang River in rags. Their houses had been burned and they had lost all of their personal effects.

THIRTEEN BELIEVED TO BE DEAD.

Steubenville, Ohio, April 22.—(Special)—Nineteen miners are believed to be dead as the result of an explosion in one of the mines of the Youghiogheny and Ohio Coal Company near New Amsterdam, today. One body has been recovered. Four men were rescued.

OLD DAYS PASSING AWAY.

Paris, Mo., April 22. —(Special)—Mr. B. C. M. Bartlett, "Barney" Farthing, said to be the original of "Huckleberry Finn" wept when he heard of Mark Twain's death. "The old days are passing," he said, "even the long sweep of the Majestic Mississippi seems to have dwingled. The noise of its traffic and music of its deep throated whistles are practically no more. The man who put into words for the delight of the world, pictures of the great river is dead."

PROSPECTIVE VACANCY IN HOCHELAGA DIVISION.

Ottawa, April 22. — (Special)— A prospective vacancy in the Commons for Hochelaga division of Montreal, is causing somewhat of a flurry in Liberal circles here, but more particularly among members for Montreal district, some of whom were in conference with Sir Wilfrid Laurier about it yesterday.

The vacancy in view will arise through the anticipated appointment of Mr. L. A. Rivet, M.P., to a judgeship. It seems to be pretty generally understood that he is to get one when the three extra judges are selected. He will probably take the place of some outside judge who would be transferred to Montreal.

TRADE DISPUTES AND FATALITIES.

Ottawa, April 22.—The total number of trade disputes during March was eleven, one less than in February, and four more than in March 1909; 2,405 employees of 21 firms were affected; five firms and 532 employees were affected in the new disputes during the month.

During March there were 394 accidents in industrial work in Canada, of which 133 were fatal.

MARK TWAIN PASSES AWAY.

Famous American Humorist Died at His Home in Connecticut.

WAS WORN OUT WITH GRIEF AND ACUTE AGONY OF BODY.

Redding, Conn., April 22.—Samuel Langhorne Clemens, (Mark Twain) died painlessly at 6.30 o'clock last night, of angina pectoris. He lapsed into coma at 3 o'clock and never recovered consciousness.

It was the end of a man outworn by grief and acute agony of body. Wednesday was a sad day for the little knot of anxious watchers at the bedside. For long hours the grey, aquiline features lay moulded in the inertia of death, while the pulse sank lower and lower, but late at night the patient passed from stupor into the first natural sleep he had taken since he returned from Bermuda, and yesterday morning awoke refreshed, even faintly cheerful and in full possession of all his faculties.

He recognized his daughter, Carrie, Mrs. Ossip Gabrilowitch, spoke a rational word or two, and, feeling himself unequal for conversation, wrote out in pencil: "Give me my glasses." These were his last words. Laying aside his glasses and pencil he sank first into reverie and later into final unconsciousness. There was no thought at the time, however, that the end was so near.

At five o'clock, Dr. Robert Halsey, who had been continuously in attendance, said that Mr. Clemens was not so strong as at the same hour on Wednesday, but that he had wonderful vitality and might rally again. Albert Bigelow Paine, Mark Twain's biographer and literary executor, said to a caller who inquired as to Mr. Clemen's condition:

"I do not think you will have to call often."

At the deathbed were only Mrs. Gabrilowitch and her husband; Robert Halsey, Dr. Quintard, Albert Bigelow Paine and two trained nurses

Restoratives — digitalis, strychnine and camphor— were administered but the patient failed to respond.

Mark Twain did not die in anguish. Sedatives soothed his pain; but in his moments of consciousness the mental depression existed. On the way up from Bermuda he said to Al-

SPEAKER PELLETIER REBUKES MEMBERS

Said it Was Shameful to Hear Such Language.

LIBERAL AND CONSERVATIVE CALLED DOWN FOR UNPARLIAMENTARY LANGUAGE.

Press Gallery, Legislature, Quebec, April 22.—Stern rebukes were administered by Speaker Pelletier to both a Liberal and a Conservative member of the House for unparliamentary language, undignified interruption, and for not speaking to the point. There had already been two disgraceful scenes during the day's proceedings, and the Speaker told the members plainly that he would not tolerate them any longer.

When Mr. Lavergne interrupted Mr. Levesque during a speech at 12.30 yesterday morning, the latter grew angry and said that "buffoons should not be allowed to interrupt members of the House," the Speaker protested that it was shameful to hear such language and such interruptions. Mr. Levesque said he would withdraw the words, only they were the only ones to characterize Mr. Lavergne.

"We cannot have a repetition of the scene we witnessed this afternoon," said the Speaker. He then demanded that Mr. Levesque should speak to the point, and that Mr. Cousineau should not persist in interrupting him.

TWO MEN KILLED AT SHAWVILLE.

A Gypsy Named Murphy Said to Have Fired Fatal Shots.

CLAIMS THAT HIS ACTION WAS DONE IN SELF-DEFENCE.

Shawville, P.Q., April 22.—A double tragedy, entailing the death of two promising young man of this locality, occurred here Wednesday night, when Harry Hawes and William Dale were killed outright with a shotgun. A gypsy named Mike Murphy is said to have fired the fatal shot. A third young man named Smiley, who was with Hawes and Dale at the time of the shooting, escaped without any injury.

According to the testimony of both Murphy and Smiley, the three young men approached the shack of the gypsy last night, and started to throw stones at the house. Murphy claims that they even tried to set fire to the place. He says that in his anger he went and got a gun loaded with buckshot and fired at the three men. According to Murphy's statement, only one shot was fired, and strange to say, although Smiley was running between his two companions, he was not hurt, while the two others fell on the ground dying.

Murphy made no attempt to escape, and was later taken into custody at his shack.

According to the testimony adduced at the inquest, eight young men of Shawville, including the two victims, were having a pleasure party at the lower end of the village. On their return towards the centre of the town, at about 11.30 o'clock, they stopped in front of Murphy's shack and started to tease him. Murphy, who was inside the house with his wife, came to the door and threatened to fill them with lead if they did not go away. The young men, thinking he never meant to go to that extremity, started to run around the shack, it is stated, and continued jeering at him.

Suddenly the gypsy rushed into the road and started to run after the crowd. There was then a stampede of the young men towards the road leading to the village. Murphy pursued them and fired four shots at the crowd, and at the first two shots Hawes and Dale fell to the ground mortally wounded.

After the shooting Smiley shouted to the rest of the crowd to come to the rescue of the two victims, but by the time they came back Hawes was gasping in agony, and Dale was mortally wounded. They both died shortly afterwards.

WANTED TO LYNCH MURPHY.

The alarm was given to the village and in less than half an hour the entire population was on the scene of the tragedy. It was suggested that Murphy be lynched right on the spot, but Bailiff Richardson, with some other influential people of the town, prevailed upon the irate mob to let the law follow its course.

It was a very sad scene that occurred at the Hawes and Dale homes when the bodies of the two victims were reverently brought in by the crowd. The brothers of the two victims, who had been so violently awakened from their sleep, were almost on the verge of collapse.

NEW PARISH OF ST. ISIDORE D'AUCKLAND

MEASURE WAS PASSED BY PRIVATE BILLS COMMITTEE.

Mr. John Leonard has just returned from Quebec, having been there to oppose a bill which came up before the Private Bills Committee to erect a parish municipality under the name of St. Isidore d'Auckland.

Mr. Leonard represented the municipality of East Clifton, out of which it was proposed to take a portion to form a new municipality and to divide the Township of Auckland.

The bill was passed dividing the Township of Auckland, but the municipality of East Clifton will remain as it was.

TO MAKE LICENSE LAW A MODEL ONE.

Large Temperance Delegation Wait on Premier and Cabinet.

WOULD SACRIFICE LIQUOR REVENUE TO CURE OVER INDULGENCE.

Quebec, April 22.—A big delegation composed of representatives of the Anti-Alcoholic League, the Dominion Alliance and the Protestant and Catholic clergy of a number of the principal towns and cities of the province appeared before Premier Gouin and the members of the Cabinet, yesterday, to ask for amendments to the license laws.

They numbered about 150 when they assembled in the Legislative Chamber for the audience with the Premier.

Judge Lafontaine introduced the delegates and said that the amendments asked for were drawn up at a big mass meeting held in Montreal.

CHANGES ASKED FOR

He briefly outlined the changes asked for, which included closing all bars on Saturday at six o'clock and ten o'clock the other nights. It was hoped by coming to the Government to obtain uniform regulations for the whole province.

Messrs. S. J. Carter, Canon Roy (representing the Archbishop of Montreal), Chief Justice Langelier, of Quebec, and Miss Curry, of the W. C. T. U., all spoke steongly in favor of the amendments, urging the necessity of their being passed by the Legislature.

PREMIER'S REPLY.

Premier Gouin, in reply, said that he could state on behalf of the Government, that if they thought that by passing a law such as had been suggested by the delegation, they could put an end to all the misery which was caused by drink in the province, they would pass such a law with pleasure.

He did not consider it a crime for a man to take a drink. If the question was asked it would be found that there were but few of the members of the Legislature who did not occasionally indulge, yet they were never seen any less sober than they were at the present time. Over indulgence was the cause of a great deal of misery yet no means of stopping the use of liquor had ever been found either in the province or the world at large. Reference had been made to the revenue which was received from the liquor traffic. He would say that the Government would sacrifice this revenue without hesitation if a cure for the evil could be found.

THE AUTONOMY QUESTION.

The municipalities asked absolute autonomy in matters of this kind, yet when such an important measure as early closing was to be considered they sent the matter to the Legislature. The Premier said that he could not make any promise without consulting his colleagues, but that the matter would be given serious consideration. He did not think that including groceries in the early closing regulations would be just, however.

The Government did not consider temperance a political question. All the members of the Legislature, both Government and Opposition were anxious to put an end to all abuses of the traffic, though there might be a difference of opinion as to the means. The early closing law would be considered, and if it was considered possible it would be introduced this session. It was hoped to make the license laws of the province a model for the whole Dominion.

RURAL DEANERY OF SHERBROOKE.

REGULAR MEETING WAS HELD AT BISHOP'S COLLEGE, LENNOXVILLE.

A meeting of the Rural Deanery of Sherbrooke was held on Wednesday, April 20th, at Bishop's College, Lennoxville, where the clergy of the Rural Deanery were guests of Prof. Hamilton.

The Rev. Canon Shreve was appointed Rural Dean in December last and this was the first meeting held under his presidency.

The proceedings began with a celebration of the Holy Communion in the oratory, attached to the Divinity building. Meetings were held both in the morning and in the afternoon, at which several matters of interest were discussed.

In the morning a paper was read by the Rev. R. W. E. Wright on the subject of sermons, which led to an interesting discussion and helpful interchange of ideas

Besides the Rev. Canon Shreve and Rev. C. R. Eardley-Wilmot, from Sherbrooke, and the members of the University Faculty, there were present the Rector of Lennoxville and the Rev. J. F. Belford, Incumbent of Windsor Mills.

Breakfast and dinner were served in the College Hall. It was decided to hold the next meeting at Sherbrooke in October, and to arrange a conference on Sunday School work in the afternoon, to which Sunday School teachers from the different parishes in the Rural Deanery should be invited, and in the evening a special service in St. Peter's Church with addresses on missionary subjects.

A vote of thanks to Professor Hamilton for his kindness in entertaining the members of the Rural Deanery was passed, and the meeting adjourned at a quarter to four o'clock.

THE TRAGEDY ON LAKE MASSAWIPPI.

Father of Young Tomkins Gives Out Statement of Facts Learned at the Cliff.

REASON FOR GOING TO BOATHOUSE WAS TO GET PROPELLER OF MOTOR.

Coaticook, April 22.—(Special).—There have been so many stories extant concerning the recent drowning accident at Lake Massawippi, some of which are wholly unfounded, that Mr. E. F. Tomkins, father of one of the young men, asked the Record to give the facts as he found them after investigation, and his theory as to the cause of the accident.

Mr. Tomkins says that about one o'clock last Saturday, his son called him by phone, stating his desire to go to Ayer's Cliff that afternoon and get the propeller shaft of the motor in Mr. Tomkins' motor boat upon which the son was making repairs, The father told him he could have the horse, and he went to the house before starting. Mrs. Tomkins suggested his taking along some provisions, but he stated that he would go to the home of one, Frank Hibbard, whom he knew well and get his supper there. When he thought of going alone, he stated to an employee of his father's that he might be back the same night. Afterwards he arranged with Mr. Hubert Moyle to go along with him. They drove to the cliff, making a few short stops along the way, and went to the home of Mr. Hibbard, who by the way, had charge of the Tomkins' cottage, and there they had supper. While there, Mr. Moyle, in conversation, stated that he would like to have a canoe ride on the lake. They left Hibbard's and went back to the Cliff and went into the barber's shop. They were detained for quite a lenhth of time, which was passed in conversation with Mr. George Young and others there. On their way to the Cliff, they stopped at the house of one Roberge, and bought some milk, and at the Cliff they bought other provisions for their breakfast. These were found upon the table in the kitchen at the cottage. The fire was laid, the bed had been made and the clothes turned down ready for use.

Then they went back to the cottage. A little later, Mr. Young, on his way home, passing the cottage, saw a light in the boathouse and hollered to the young men, asking what they were doing. The reply came back from Mr. Tomkins that they were looking over the boat, probably with the thought in mind that they would get out the propeller shaft that night and be able to start back home the next morning; the arrangement being that Mr. Moyle was to stop at a home in Barnston, on the way back, and that the other should drive on to Coaticook.

At first there was some uncertainty as to why the canoe should have been taken out of the boathouse. It appears, however, that the boathouse of Mr. Tomkins, in which the launch was stored, was surrounded by water, and it was necessary for them to approach by means of a canoe or boat. It is therefore, Mr. Tomkins' thought, that they went to the boathouse belonging to himself, and Mr. Nunns, where the canoe was stored, and took this out with the intention of using it to approach the boathouse where the launch was. They were unable to get the propeller shaft and evidently had left it until the next morning.

Mr. Tomkins' belief is that when they got into the canoe, as they would have to do in order to get from the boathouse to land, Mr. Moyle may have suggested a canoe ride on the lake. It has been said that the water was rough that night, but Mr. Tomkins was assured by Mr. Roberge, who lives on the lake side, that at that hour the lake was like glass. Moyle wore a heavy sweater in addition to his coat. Mr. Tomkins believes that when they started out in the canoe he must have undertaken to take off the coat, and in doing so possibly rocked the canoe and fell overboard. He is strengthened in this theory by the statements made by the ladies who heard the young men. They stated that they were not cryiny for help and that one of them was reassuring the other, saying, "Don't be afraid, I'll get you out of this all right." Mr. Tomkins thinks it was a the thought of his son to tow Moyle ashore while he was clinging to the canoe, and that likely when Moyle became exhausted, and had difficulty in clinging to the canoe, he went to his assistance and overturned the canoe and went into the water himself. It appears that the voices heard by the ladies were only in a conversational tone for an hour, when suddenly there was a cry for help, saying "We're in the water—We're drowning." Mr. Tomkins' thought is that these cries likely came from his son when he too had been precipitated into the lake. As regards the story, that the boys went out to set a night line, Mr. Tomkins thinks this is wholly without foundation. He says there was no fishing tackle at all at the cottage, and further than this, his son was not a fisherman, had never made a practice of fishing even during the fishing season, and had not, to his knowledge, ever caught a fish from the lake.

HISTORIC RECORDS OF 70 YEARS AGO; HOW SHERBROOKE CELEBRATED BIRTHDAY OF KING.

The following notes of invitation, dated 1840-42, and yellow with age, were recently found by Mr. Jack Morkill, in going through some papers belonging to his father, the late Mr. R. D. Morkill, one of the first citizens of Sherbrooke.

Those who penned them, once prominent in the community, have long since been gathered to their father's, but a few remain, to whom the names will recall the early days of Sherbrooke, when it was a small English-speaking village, and there was as yet, no hint of the bustling, thriving city of the future.

CELEBRATED KING EDWARD'S BIRTH.

Among others is one with the heading: "A Ball and Supper in Honor of the Prince of Wales

"The birth of an heir to the British Throne will be celebrated by a ball and supper at Crosby's Hotel, in Sherbrooke, on Friday, the 4th of February, at the hour of 7 o'clock, precisely.

"Stewards — John Moore, Esq., M.P.P., Lt.-Col. Wm. Morris, Benj. Pomeroy, Capt. Q.M.R., A. T. Galt, Esq., C. E. Wurtele, Esq., Henry Mears, Esq., J. S. Donohue, Esq., Henry Beckett, Capt. S.V.

"Tickets for gentlemen and the ladies of their family to be had at Crosby's Hotel.

"R. Armour, Jr., Secretary."

A BALL AT STANSTEAD IN 1840.

Another interesting relic is an invitation to a "Union Ball" at Stanstead Plain, May 5th, 1840. It reads as follows:

"The company of Mr. Morkill and lady is respectfully solicited at the Hall of Mr. Osgood, this evening at 5 o'clock p.m. Managers: E.G. Johnston, J. W. Baxter, E. B. Bigelow, C. A. Kilborn, John Hazeltine, John Meigs, S. W. Snow, N. T. Foster, F. W. Brooks, R. H. Rollins, G. W. Eaton, H. D. Holmes, with compliments of Mr. Kilborn."

A SOCIAL.

A third is an invitation to a "Social Party," as follows:

"The company of Mr. Morkill and lady is respectfully solicited at the hall of Mr. Crosby on Thursday, the 23rd instant, at 2 o'clock p.m. Managers: Mr. S. A. Edgell, Mr. Milton Crosby, Mr. J. S. Donohue, Mr. S. Sleeper."

There is also an invitation to a "Pastoral Visit," at Rev. J. Robertson's, on Thursday evening next at 5 o'clock p.m., Sherbrooke, Jan. 28, 1842.

The Crosby's Hotel referred to, is now the Magog House, and was the leading hostelry in the Townships, affording entertainment for man and beast, as well as being a centre of many social functions, which began and ended early for our forefathers kept better hours than we to-day. Social parties evidently began at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, or at latest five o'clock, while a ball on a very special occasion, opened at "seven o'clock, precisely."

The Rev. J. Robertson, at whose house the "Pastoral Visit" took place, was the pastor for many years of the Congregational Church, a man of mark in the community, of great ability, and intellectual force, and who was always affectionately termed "Father Robertson."

Mr. A. T. Galt was afterwards Sir Alexander T. Galt, one of the Fathers of Confederation and for many years an honored citizen of Sherbrooke, whose handsome residence, "Rockmount," is now owned by Mrs. Paton.

The other names mentioned will be almost equally familiar and this glimpse of life in our city, 70 years ago cannot fail to be interesting.

HAND AND EYE TRAINING.

At the present time there is a quickened interest in Hand and Eye Training over the whole civilized world. Many new books appear on the subject every year, but none are more deserving of high praise than "Educational Handwork," by T. B. Kidner, Director of Manual Training, for the Province of New Brunswick, (Educational Pub. Co., Toronto).

Mr. Kidner is an Englishman of sound common sense and thorough education. He came to Canada ten years ago at the request of Prof. Robertson, to assist in establishing the Manual Arts in Canadian schools. He is well known to most of the teachers of this country through his illustrated articles on Hand Work, which have appeared frequently in the leading Canadian and American educational journals.

The work deals briefly with the general question of Handwork, and then describes courses of lessons to extend over the first eight or nine years of school. The first courses carry the pupils from exercises with Kindergarten paper, through modelling with stout paper into the constructing, designing and decorating of cardboard models, book-covers, etc. For the higher grades there is the construction in cardboard work to the study of Descriptive Geometry. Finally, there is a well illustrated chapter on raffia work, the wrapping, braiding, netting and weaving of this material into a hundred forms, beautiful and useful.

There are plenty of drawings in the book to make the work practical. In addition to the working drawings, a perspective view of many models is shown. The descriptions are perfectly clear. In fact, Mr. Kidner prepared the book for those who knew little about the subject, and he tells just what to do and how to do it. Any interested and intelligent teacher can take the book and give the course of lessons. That the work is just what thousands of teachers are looking for goes without saying, and it is not surprising that the book is being introduced into almost every Normal School in Canada.

Great Novelist's Gratitude

His Bonny Child Stricken With Eczema.

Marvellous Deliverance by Zam-Buk.

The beautiful three-year-old son of Mr. Campbell Rae-Brown, author of the famous "Kissing-Cup's Race" and "The Great Newmarket Mystery," has been cured in a fortnight by Zam-Buk, of a most distressing attack of eczema.

Little Stuart Campbell Rae-Brown, because of his clear skin and regular features, is constantly being sought as a model by painters and photographers, but his prettiness would now be a thing of the past, but for Zam-Buk's timely healing of the terrible sores on his face.

"I cannot express to you," writes Mr. Campbell Rae-Brown from his country home at Eden Villa, Dunoon, "the gratitude felt by my wife and myself for the astounding way in which your Zam-Buk cured our only child's face of its terrible affliction.

"There was scarcely a pin's-point of his face left untouched by the disfiguring eczema. Perfectly sound and well in other respects, imagine our feelings when, after trying many so-called cures in vain, we began to think our boy might be permanently disfigured!

"No sooner had we applied your great remedy, than, hour by hour, and day by day, the unsightly blotches began to disappear, to fade—I can think of no better expression—gradually away, leaving behind not the very slightest trace of the affection! The skin on his face again assumed its own delicate texture and natural bloom, and when the glad day came when the cure had been wholly affected, we could scarcely believe our eyes. Our boy, whose beautiful face had been lost to us, had been restored—a miracle had been performed—by Zam-Buk."

Surely no higher testimony could be required to prove Zam-Buk's unique power over skin diseases than this spontaneous and unsolicited letter from such a popular author.

Eczema, disfiguring sores, rashes and skin injuries, are daily perils, and Mr. Rae-Brown's practical advice to all parents, is to get Zam-Buk into the home, and so have it always handy.

Zam-Buk is also a sure cure for ulcers, skin eruptions, poisoned sores, bad legs, varicose veins, chilblains, cold sores, itch, piles, ringworm, and all skin diseases. Also heals cuts, burns, bruises, etc., and used as an embrocation, relieves rheumatism, sciatica, etc. All druggists and stores sell at 50c. box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price.

CARE OF BEES IN SPRING

NO OTHER PERIOD CALLS FOR MORE CARE ON PART OF BEE-KEEPERS.

No period of the year so generally calls for care on the part of beekeepers, or is so dangerous to the beekeeping industry as the first few sunny weeks of spring. The efforts of numerous county beekeeping associations have served to impress upon amateur beekeepers the importance of taking adequate care in preparing colonies of bees for the winter, and as a result of these precautions they usually pass through the trying months safely; but as the brood nest grows in early spring, at which time in many districts there is but little nectar to be gathered, stocks are frequently found by travelling experts to be dead from starvation. Apart from the revolting idea of allowing thousands of industrious worker bees to perish from want of food while in the midst of their labors, and of causing the death of the queen bee, with her potential power of creating so large a population that some twenty thiusahs of the bees, attended by their queen, must leave home to found another colony, there is the practical fact to be realized that an expenditure of a shilling or two on properly made candy or syrup would have saved a stock of bees of the approximate value of at least one guinea.

Many beekeepers are misled by the fact that the bees are flying freely, concluding from the incessant going forth and returning home of the foragers that they are gathering enough nectar to provide for the thousands of larvae, whereas in some districts they are probably gathering little else than water and pollen. In all stocks that are headed by a young queen, breeding begins early in January, the rate of egg laying being slow at first; but as soon as mild weather enables the bees to go for frequent journeys, brood-raising increases at a rapid rate, with a consequent drain upon the stores of food in the hive. If these become exhausted and further supplies, either natural or artificial, are not forthcoming, the colony is bound to perish, in which case numbers of the bees will be found with their bodies inserted in the empty cells. When there is any doubt as to a sufficiency of food being in the hive, it is wise to keep a cake of suitable candy constantly over the feed-hole in the quilt, renewing it as the candy is consumed, and as both water and pollen are also necessary, supplies of these should be placed in a sunny corner of the garden. Either lentil flour or pea flour makes a suitable substitute for natural pollen, and by sprinkling some on chaff or chopped straw in a box sheltered from the rain by a piece of glass, the beekeeper will have the pleasure of seeing his bees loading their pollen baskets with the flour until the natural food is so abundant as to prove more attractive.

Many beekeepers are still unaware of the fact that it is impossible to insure against liability to third parties for damages occasioned by the stings of bees. This useful scheme of insurance is carried out under the auspices of the British Beekeepers' Association, the cost to the insurer being but nominal. Compensation to the extent of £30 in the aggregate in any one year can be provided for by those owing twelve stocks of bees for an annual premium of 1s 6d, and those who are members of a beekeeping association can secure this advantage on payment of only 1s. The policy runs from March 25 for one year, thus allowing ample time for the insurance to be effected before stocks are manipulated, since such work ought not to be begun until the end of March. It is unfortunately the fact that what is known as the "robbing fever," which causes bees to become dangerous to cattle in close proximity to an apiary, is sometimes the result of an accident on the part of another person than the beekeeper whose bees cause the damage; just as the ignorance of a beekeeper possessing only two or three stocks may be the means of numberless colonies within a radius of a mile or more of his apiary becoming affected with foul brood.—London Times Correspondent.

SEEDING VERY EARLY THIS YEAR.

EARLIEST IN 17 YEARS IN OTTAWA VALLEY DISTRICT.

Ottawa, April 22.—"The seeding this year is the earliest in the history of the Central Experimental Farm," said Dr. Wm. Saunders, director of the farm.

"We started seeding on April 6 this year; the very earliest I can remember in previous years was April 16, and that was considered exceptionally early. We have fully a third of our land sown; had it not been for the rain we would have been half through by this time.

"From reports which have come to hand, the early seeding would seem to be general throughout the country."

A letter received in the city from one of the largest farmers in the Ottawa Valley, who lives in Arnprior, says: "We have just finished seeding. This is the earliest seeding of the last 17 years. The ground was beautifully dry—drier than in early May of most years."

COW GIVES BIRTH TO TRIPLETS

Scottsmore, April 22.—(Special) — Mr. E. S. Miltimore has a cow which gave birth to three heifer calves. All three are alive and smart and look exactly alike.

THE LATE STEPHEN A. GREENLEAF OF ROCK ISLAND.

Rock Island, April 22.—(Special)—The funeral services of the late Stephen A. Greenleaf, who died on Tuesday, in his 73rd year, took place on Thursday morning at 10.30, at the home of his only son, Mr. J. Edson Greenleaf, on Station street, Rock Island.

The end came suddenly though not unexpected as Mr. Greenleaf had been in failing health for some time and had taken to his bed about a week ago.

Deceased may be looked upon as one of the landmarks of the town as he had been a miller in the same mill at Rock Island for about 51 years, having given up his work only about two months ago.

His wife, whose maiden name was Anne Robinson, died two years ago.

He leaves one son, J. Edson Greenleaf and his two children, Fred H. and Susie A., also two brothers, Lee L. and Wesley Greenleaf, and two sisters, Mrs. Harriet Greenleaf and Mrs. Galvin Shanks, besides nephews and nieces to mourn his loss. Other mourners were Mr. Fred Shonow, of Lyndon, Vt.; Mr. and Mrs. A. Porter of Smith's Mills; Mr. Avery Brown, Lisbon, N.H.; Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. Dale and Mrs. Norris, Newport; Mr. and Mrs. Sam Harris; Mrs. B. Drew, and Mrs. Fred Greenleaf, Mr. Fred Laythe, Mrs. S. Harris and Mr. Lawrence Laythe.

In the absence of Rev. J. G. Hindley, the Rev. F. H. Cole conducted the services at the house, while the I.O.O.F., of which he had been a member for over forty years, having been the first member to be initiated at Rock Island, conducted services at the grave. The bearers were Mr. Harley Holbrooke, Mr. J. Batchelder, Mr. Gilbert Dorman and Mr. Lysander Hopkins. The body was interred in the Derby Line cemetery.

MARRIAGES.

JESSIMAN—GOOLEY.

Coaticook, April 22. —(Special)—In the parlors of the presbytery of the Roman Catholic church, Coaticook, at high noon, on April 20th, Rev. Father Seguin officiating, Miss Winifred J. Gooley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Gooley, was united in marriage to Mr. Robert Jessiman, of Montreal. The bride wore a suit of Alice blue, heavily braided, a duchess satin waist to match, and a large black hat with white ospreys. Little Master Lloyd Gooley acted as ring bearer. The ceremony performed, the bridai party returned to the Thorndyke Hotel, the home of the bride, where a bountiful dinner was served. The table was decorated with pink and white carnations while the large wedding cake graced the centre. On the afternoon train, amid showers of confetti and the best wishes of many friends who were there to see them off, Mr. and Mrs. Jessiman left for Montreal en route for Toronto, Buffalo, Chicago and Winnipeg. The gifts were very numerous and really beautiful, the groom's gift to the bride being a beautiful pearl brooch with diamond centre.

BYRD—MacKENZIE.

Corris, April 22.—(Special) — A quiet but pretty wedding took place at "Mount Pleasant," the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Mackenzie, on Wednesday at 6 p.m., when their niece, Catherine Annie, daughter of the late John MacKenzie, was united in marriage to Mr. Willian Henry Byrd, of Danville, Que., son of the late Harry Byrd. The Rev. H. Carmichael, M.A., of Richmond, performed the ceremony, only the immediate relatives being present.

The bride, who was given away by her uncle, Mr. K. MacKenzie, entered the drawing-room to the strains of the wedding march, played by Miss Florence MacKenzie, cousin of the bride and looked charming in a princess gown of white silk mull, her only ornament being a pearl crescent, the gift of the groom. After the ceremony all sat down to a dainty supper, after which the happy couple left for their wedding tour. The bride's going-away gown was of grey broadcloth, with hat to match. The many beautiful and costly gifts received showed the high esteem in which the young couple are held. On their return they will reside at Valley Farm, Danville.

THE EIGHT HOUR DAY BILL.

COMMITTEE WILL NOT MAKE ANY RECOMMENDATION THIS YEAR.

Ottawa, April 21.—The special committee under the chairmanship of the Minister of Labor, which has been taking evidence respecting the eight-hour bill, as applied to Government works, will do nothing in respect to it this session, in so far as making a recommendation is concerned. A good deal of evidence has been taken and data collected, and this will be printed in both languages and distributed during the recess. Next session it is intended to reappoint the committee, and it will then report. The manufacturers and employers have been heard in opposition to the bill, and several witnesses in support of it. The Dominion Trades and Labor Congress will present its evidence favoring the measure at to-morrow's sitting.

MARK TWAIN PASSED AWAY.

bert Bigelow Paine: "This is a bad job; we'll never pull through with it."

On shore once, and longing for the serenity of the New England hills, he took heart and courage, and said to those who noted his enfeeblement and sorrow: "Give me a breath of Redding air once more and this will pass." But it did not pass, and, tired of body and weary of spirit, the old warrior against shams and snobs said faintly to his nurses:

"Why do you fight to keep me alive Two days of life are as good to me as four."

Where Mark Twain chose to spend his declining years was the first outpost of Methodism in New England, and it was among the hills of Redding that General Israel Putman of Revolutionary fame, mustered his sparse ranks. Putman Park now encloses the memory of his camp.

Through these lanes the "Innocent at Home:" loved to wander in his white flannels for homely gossip with the neighbors. They remember him best as one who above all things loved a good listener, for Mark Twain was a mighty talker, stored with fairy tales for the little maids he adored, and racier, ruder speech for more stalwart masculine ears. It is a legend that he was vastly proud of his famous mop of white hair and used to spend the pains of a court lady in getting it to just the proper stage of artistic array.

Last summer the walks began to falter; last fall they ceased for good. The death of H. H. Rogers, a close friend, was a severe blow. The death of his daughter Jean, who was seized with an attack of epilepsy last fall while in her bath, was an added blow from which he never recovered. It was then that the stabbing pains in the heart began. Mark Twain died as truly as it can be said of any man, of a broken heart.

Does Your Flour, Madam, Whiten Through Kneading

We well remember our little chat with Mrs. B.

An A1 breadmaker and four-square home-maker.

Said she; "After kneading my dough awhile, I often wonder how "it whitens so noticeably under the hands. The more I knead and "work it, the whiter it gets, more wholesome-looking, you know. "That's a very encouraging thing in FIVE ROSES flour which I've "sadly missed elsewhere. Sort of makes you roll up your sleeves "and get busy."

Maybe, Mistress Housewife, you've noticed it, too.

But all flours, alas! are not FIVE ROSES.

With flour from poor quality wheat, poorly milled, there's no material improvement in the color of the bread due to kneading.

No reward for your trouble, you see.

It's the gray that's developed, Madam, not the white.

It's whiter dough you want, whiter the longer you knead it, and you want it so without having your elbows hinged and lubricated like John L. Sullivan's.

And FIVE ROSES, Madam, responds beautifully to the least exertion.

* * * *

That fine uniform granulation answers to yeast action, and in the morning your dough is up as light as a cork.

The strong, live dough crackles and snaps heavily as you knead it down.

Then the snowy whiteness in the pans to be proved and baked!

From the oven your crusted golden loaves fill that kitchen of yours with the aroma of freshly-barked hickory nuts that portends a tooth-teasing flavor irresistible.

And the kiddykins need no other call to breakfast, Madam; just follow their noses.

* * * *

Don't let your neighbour beat YOU at breadmaking.

You can so easily do better, Mistress Housewife,

By getting FIVE ROSES.

So roll up your sleeves, Madam, and—

DO IT NOW.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of Fred A. George, who died April 22nd, 1908.
We thought again to greet him here,
Thought yet on earth to feel, to hear
His warm hand-clasp, his voice of cheer.
But God had need of him elsewhere,
And, since he joyeth to be there,
Strive we to stay the selfish tear.
And, though in this world none may see
His face again, we know that we Shall meet him where no partings be.

MILLING COMPANIES TO CONSOLIDATE.

For some days past there have been reports in trade circles than an important consolidation might be looked for in the near future of two of the largest flour milling concerns of Ontario, and that prominent Toronto capitalists were becoming identified with the enterprise, and would place in the new company $1,000,000 of additional cash capital, which would result in the new concern being able to show just as large an output as any other Canadian milling concern. Enquiry at the offices of the companies reported to be in the deal failed to elicit much information regarding the details, but it is understood that an important announcement in regard to the consolidation will be made within a few days.

CHARITY SALE IN EAST SHERBROOKE.

For the last three days a charity sale has been going on very successfully in the Church Hall of St. Jean Baptiste, East Sherbrooke, which was very elaborately and effectively decorated for the occasion. The fete was arranged by the young girls of the parish, assisted by several of the matrons, and was largely attended, both afternoon and evening.

Booths were erected around the sides of the hall, the standards twined with colored bunting and gay with brilliant hued flags and flowers, presenting a very attractive appearance. The drop curtain on the stage represents the St. Francis River, including the famous "Lone Pine Rock," with the church of St. Jean Baptiste in the distance. The eight booths were devoted to the sale of fancy work, national flowers, home-made candy, cigars, paper flowers and dolls, with a food table, a "guess cake" and a fish-pond, especially attractive to children.

Every evening a euchre party was arranged, the prizes on Tuesday evening being won by Mrs. S. Deziel and Mrs. J. Simoneau, Messrs. O. Bouchard and S. Deziel. On Wednesday evening the prize winners were Miss Marie-Louise Maille and Miss Ella Bourque, Messrs. Eugene Asselin and Philip McGee.

Music was furnished by Vallee's Orchestra, and a very pretty entertainment given by the girls of the parish, who had been carefully trained.

Last evening the sale closed at a late hour in the evening, a gay crowd being present.

The euchre prizes were won by Mrs. Adolphe Denault and Miss Marina Rouillard, Messrs. Emile Marechal and A. Leclaire.

The programme of the evening's entertainment was much enjoyed, those taking part being Miss Clodia Beauchesne, Miss M. Beauchesne, Miss Morin, Miss Dion and Mr. W. Legare. Vocal solos, trios and duets were well rendered, Professor Cartier acting as accompanist. An auction was held of all unsold articles and was very successful, Messrs. C. E. Therrien and J. B. Duford being the capable auctioneers.

Rev. J. H. Laporte, parish priest, graced the occasion with his presence every evening. The receipts for the benefit of the church were very gratifying.

When You Clean House.

Try a can of DUSTBANE and save 90 per cent. of the work—it is no longer necessary to remove carpets from the floor to clean them—a liberal application of DUSTBANE will do it more thoroughly and in half the time.

DUSTBANE

is a green colored powder, packed in tin cans ready for use. In sweeping a carpet, take one or two handfuls, according to the dust. Sprinkle where you are to begin (not all over the carpet) then sweep as you always do.

The powder is swept ahead of the broom, and falling on the carpet, absorbs the dust, leaving the carpet clean and bright. This dust is not thrown into the air to settle back on the carpet and furniture.

DUSTBANE should be used in sweeping carpets, rugs, straw mattings and bare floors.

LADYSMITH AS IT IS TO-DAY

HORROR OF SEIGE STILL FRESH IN MINDS OF MOST PEOPLE.

An interesting article on Ladysmith as it is to-day, appeared in the "Dundee Courier," Dundee, Scotland, recently. Ten years exactly, says the writer, have elapsed since the hearts of Britons were gripped by the terrible reverses which the army suffered at Stormberg, Magersfontein, and Colenso.

The horror of it all is still fresh in the minds of most people.

They have only to let their thoughts go back to that ghastly week, and the sickening shuddering and dismay creeps over their minds again.

In January, 1900, we had learned to the full meaning of the word war. For the time being it slipped out of its resplendent outer-husk of field days and sham-fights, polo-playing, long and short leaves, and it stood revealed in all its fearful grimness of fatal mistakes and mismanagement, death from disease, fruitless marches, and weary seiges.

THE ZIZZ OF THE SHELL.

It is exactly ten years ago since the memorable siege of Ladysmith was raised, and it is difficult now to realize that the sleepy little town was once the heart of such hardship and misery. It is true that in the broad, straight streets there are mementoes of the siege, which bring one to a sudden halt, and once again we see the town as it was under the bombardment—the streets full of life, regulars and mounted volunteers hurrying past, the citizens cracking the well-worn jokes about "Long Tom" and "B. Ben," the ambulance with its disease-worn patients on its way to the Intombi Hospital—and once again we hear the warning bell and the zizz of shell overhead.

In the main street the Town Hall, with its clock-tower half-shattered, remains to this day untouched, a token that "Long Tom" ment to make himself felt as well as heard. There is still the splintered hole in the inside wall of the Royal Hotel, where the shell which killed Dr. Stark lodged itself.

But quite the most interesting of all is the little English Church, with its windows depicting peace and war, and its transept, with the overwhelming but glorious red-lettered death-roll. The Klip River, which encloses Ladysmith in one of its loops, still makes its way between its deeply-indented, sun-baked banks—at times a mere trickle of water, and then again, almost in a moment, a swollen, impassible torrent. The "dug-outs," where the Imperial Light Infantry used to shelter, have long since been washed away, and the bomb-proof shelter made for Sir George White, has also disappeared, but the small house in which he passed so many hours of illness and anxiety has again become a comfortable, peaceable dwelling.

MARKS OF THE SIEGE.

These are memorials which we feel will stand for many generations, let us hope for centuries, but there are others which we know will endure to the world's end. The hills which gird in Ladysmith can never be pulled down by unappreciative hands—they are never-dying land-marks of the siege. Long, flat-topped Umbulwana will always rise like a wall to the east of the town; Caesar's Camp and Wagon Hill, where the Imperial Light Horse were so sadly cut up, and where the Devons made their famous charge, will ever remain the burnt, parched, slippery-grassed kopjes that they were in January, 1900. There are monuments—gravestones and crosses—everywhere, but surely the sun-baked ground, seamed with the reddish iron-stone, can never for itself forget all the suffering and the agony, the sweltering heat and the parching thirst endured by those who trod her.

And then again, there is the cemetery. Rows and rows of little crosses, sometimes no more than the private's number and the name of the corps to which he belonged, with here and there a larger monument put up to all who fell in one regiment. English, Scottish, Irish, and Colonials, all members of the British army, lie here at peace, side by side with their enemies. No names appear on the Boer crosses. Only the simple inscription, "Here Lies a Brave Burgher." From this space of time we can view the campaign as a whole, victories and reverses joined by their connecting links. There is no doubt that we are more able to look on the war with an open mind than we were ten years ago, when we were hearing of the battles and sieges as disconnected events, and could hardly realize what actually led up to them and how great was either their merit or mismanagement. It is when we stand thus apart and look back on the war with calm criticism, taking its measure, as it were, that we realize and mourn the immense number of lives unnecessarily lost. Nowhere is this truth more keenly felt than on the summit of Spion Kop. Now it is nothing but a harmless, steep-faced kopje, covered with short grass, which in winter turns a curious pink. Commanding the ridge of hills to which it belongs, and the colorless plain which extends as far as Ladysmith, it was well called "the key to the Boer positions."

NOT A MISFORTUNE.

In the clear atmosphere one can pick out all the farms and kopjes that have helped to make history, and far down below, right at the base of the great well of mountains, winds the Tugela River. It is so easy now to see all that Spion Kop might have been, all that it was not, all that it might have saved—in short, the truth that it was not a misfortune but "a well-deserved punishment." It is almost impossible to realize that on this very ground, where it is difficult now to find pieces of shell or even stray bullets, men fell in hundreds exposed to a pitiless cross fire.

Years come and go, and the din of the great Boer War grows fainter and fainter. Boer meets Briton, and their hands join in a friendly grasp when they learn that they have encountered each other before under different circumstances on the summit of Spion Kop or on the plains of Colenso. They discuss at length the whole campaign—the mistakes that were made on either side, the chances that were missed. The war in already becoming a basis of yarns—or moral from which many lessons can be pointed. But the living reality of it, the misery and suffering, the scorching sting of disgrace that the reverses brought with them must little by little be less keenly felt by many, barely realized by the upgrowing generation. And although it is good to forget suffering in joy, misery in gladness, yet it is well for us as time goes on to dwell for a little, if only for a few hours, on the dark days our empire went through not so many years ago.

PRISON POET PARDONED

HAS SERVED HALF OF A TEN YEAR SENTENCE.

The young Englishman, known as "John Carter," who has served half a ten-year sentence for burglary, and whose case has attracted wide attention because of his poetic genius, was freed by the state pardon board yesterday afternoon. He was released from the Stillwater Penitentiary on Monday morning, April 18, which is his 24th birthday. Carter was not pardoned for technical reasons, but the board ordered a commutation of sentence.

Pleas for Carter's freedom were made by Judge J. W. Willis and the Rev. L. R. S. Ferguson, of St. Paul. Telegrams and letters were read before the board from magazine editors.

Harry Phillips, director of music at McAlester College, who had become interested in Carter through his playing at the services in the prison chapel, and the managing editor of a Minneapolis journal also sent letters. Judge Willis read a letter from a man in England, who knew Carter as a boy, and who told of the condition of his father, the refinement of the family and the reasons the boy had been sent to Canada.

The young poet admits that Carter is not his right name, but says that he is an Englishman, and of good family. He will not divulge his family name. He says that his poems, which have been published in a number of leading magazines and have attracted considerable attention, were written "to kill time and ease my unhappy thoughts." His poem, "Ballad of Misery and Iron," won him especial recognition.

According to a statement made before the pardon board by Judge Willis, Carter was less than twenty years old when the crime was committed. His father was in an asylum, and John, who had been working in a bank building, not liking the confinement, was sent to Canada by the family, who were in straightened circumstances, to learn farming. Being unable to secure steady employment, Carter started to "beat it" from Winnipeg to St. Paul, but during the night was put off the train at Karlstad, Minn. Having nothing to eat for 36 hours, Carter broke into the railroad station and stole $24 and a silver watch. He was captured, pleaded guilty, and, having no attorney, was given the maximum penalty of ten years.

During his confinement, Carter has been employed in the prison library cataloguing books and assisting in the publishing of the prison "Mirror." He also is a pianist and plays a clarionet in the prison band.

GIVES $100,000 FOR BIBLES.

The greatest offer ever made for Bible distribution in New York city has been made to the New York Bible Society. A gentleman, who withholds his name, has offered to give dollar for dollar for all that shall be raised up to $100,000, for the work of Bible distribution among the immigrants, the sailors, and among all nationalities of the city of New York. The New York Bible Society is alone carrying on this great work. It employs missionaries at Ellis Island to supply bibles to the immigrants, so that each may have the Book in his mother tongue. A missionary is also employed to work among the sailors of the harbor, visiting over three hundred vessels every month. In the city, Bibles are placed in hotels, hospitals and prisons. Missionaries and pastors of every creed are supplied with the Scriptures for house to house visitation. Up to the present time $35,000 has been subscribed. There remains $65,000 to be raised before May 1 if the $100,000 shall be obtained from the gentleman.

THE DANISH FARMER.

GREAT BULK OF PEOPLE HAVE INTEREST IN THE SOIL.

"Denmark is democratic, enlightened, and self-governed because the great bulk of the people have an interest in the soil," writes Mr. Frederic C. Howe, in the New York "Outlook." Three things, according to Mr. Howe, have placed Denmark in its fortunate position. They are:—The system of peasant ownership, the co-operation movement, which is well-nigh universal, and the political supremacy of the peasant class in politics. "The second and third causes are due to the first," continues Mr. Howe, "for home ownership lies at the root of the Dane's success.

No illiteracy, little poverty, good wages, and a high standard of living are the main features which distinguish Denmark from other countries in Europe, says Mr. Howe. "One would not expect this," he adds, "for Denmark is a rather unfertile spur of Northern Europe. The land is lag from rich, the climate is not the best, and the winters are very long. But the Danish peasant owns his land. The traditions of the country are those of home-owners."

Credit societies and land banks fostered and stimulated by the State are the basis of Denmark's prosperity. "The general effect of legislation and of the mutual credit societies has been," says Mr. Howe, "to check the movements of the people away from the land. Denmark is almost the only country where this is true." There is very little tenancy in Denmark. Over 80 per cent of the farmers own their farms. Credit societies enabled them to obtain the land, and co-operation has enabled them to make it profitable. "The farmer is aided in this in countless ways by the State," adds Mr. Howe. "The State is always at his service. Commissions are sent abroad to study foreign markets and foreign methods. Stock is bred from the best studs and bulls. Chickens are selected for their qualities as egg producers. Soil is studied, and the latest agricultural and dairy implements are bought either co-operatively or by groups of men in the same village. The Danish farmer gets all he produces—absolutely all. The State owns the railways and protects the farmer from exploitation. And he himself performs all of the processes of production, distribution and exchange.

INCOMES OF LANDED UTILITY.

$15,000,000 GOES TO DUKE OF WESTMINSTER FROM REALTY HOLDINGS.

An explanation of the opposition of the lords to the land tax provisions of the budget may be found in the published list of their realty holdings.

In the aggregate British peers possess 16,411,986 acres, or one-fifth of the total area of the United Kingdom. The lords whose vote defeated the budget own 10,078,979 acres. In the matter of individual holdings the average ducal domain is 142,564 acres. Marquises own an average of 47,500 acres; earls, 30,127; viscounts, 15,324 and barons, 14,152. Seven titled landlords derive an annual income of above $70,000,000 from their property holdings in London. The Duke of Westminster receives $15,000,000 a year from this source. Lord Howard de Walden, half a million less; the Duke of Bedford, $11,500,000 and the Duke of Norfolk, $7,500,000.

These privileged ducal and baronial demesnes the budget subjects to three forms of taxation—a 20 per cent. tax on unearned increment, a tax of two-tenths of 1 per cent. on the value of undeveloped land and on mining royalties, and a ten per cent. duty on benefits accruing to the owners of leased land at the termination of the lease. It is these features of the Lloyd-George taxation scheme that have specially provoked the antagonism of those who—

Love their land because it is their own.
And scorn to give aught other reason why.

If the budget is sustained by the British public the lords' realty holdings, after centuries of exemption from the burdens which have oppressed the small householder will be called on to bear the brunt of a most radical experiment in taxation.

CLOCK HAS RUN 500 YEARS.

OLD TIMEKEEPER IS NOW RUNNING IN PALAIS DE JUSTICE, PARIS.

The old clock on the Palais de Justice, Paris, which stopped a couple of years ago, is again running. It has kept time more or less regularly for over five hundred years; it has weathered the storms of the Revolution, the Commune, numerous wars and seiges of Paris, during all that time its long, rusty iron hands, having moved around and pointing the hour day and night, and justifying the name of the "Grand del'Horloge," given from time immemorial to the quay which it overlooks.

The tower known as the "Tour de l'Horloge," was completed under Philippe le Bel, about 1313, and for more than a century the hour used to be given by striking a bell. In 1370 Charles V. proposed to have a big clock made to replace the bell, and in those days a clock was simply called a machine. Charles V. searched in vain for an artisan capable of making it in his own dominions, and, therefore, he called upon a famous German craftsman, named Henrich von Vic, who came to Paris and undertook to build a clock which would mark the hour for sittings of Parliament.

The clever workman took up lodgings in the tower, but the task he had undertaken was considered of such magnitude that he settled down in the tower, remaining there for the rest of his life. He did solid work, indeed, for few pieces of mechanism invented by a human being ever lasted so long. The dial alone was nearly five feet in diameter, and the decoration forming a frame with artistic figures and bas reliefs measured twenty-one feet in height and was seventeen feet wide.

Rheumatism and Kidney Troubles

ARE QUICKLY, SURELY CURED BY "FATHER MORRISCY'S No. 7."

It is doubtful if any other form of disease causes so much acute suffering as does Kidney Trouble, with the Rheumatism which results from it. In treating the sick of his parish Father Morriscy soon found this out, and he set himself at once to find a safe and certain remedy.

He succeeded, and has left us a prescription, known as "Father Morriscy's No. 7," which has already relieved and cured thousands.

The Kidneys have been called the "sewers" of the body. Their work is to take out of the blood the worn out tissue and other impurities which it gathers up from different parts of the body. When the Kidneys get sluggish, and fail to do their work, the blood gets loaded with these impurities, which form Uric Acid—a most irritating poison.

This Uric Acid is deposited in the joints, the muscular tissue, and in the valves of the heart, causing agony in every movement,—in short, Rheumatism.

"Father Morriscy's No. 7" begins by toning up and stimulating the sluggish Kidneys to clear themselves of the accumulated poison. When they once get working properly, they soon filter out the Uric Acid from the blood—the whole system is cleared of it—the joints limber up—and the Rheumatism is cured.

FATHER MORRISCY MEDICINE CO., LTD.

Two years ago I was that bad with Kidney trouble that six hospital doctors told me that it was not possible for me to live. I was bloated so that I could scarcely walk, my usual weight being one hundred and ninety pounds and I was bloated so as I weighed two hundred and thirty. I went to see Father Morriscy and after using his medicine for eight days I went to work and have been at work ever since, and I am glad to say that at present I am in perfect health.

Respectfully,—DAVID FAHEY.

I took Father Morriscy's Prescription for Inflammatory Rheumatism. I had suffered everything with it, but in three weeks after starting Father Morriscy's Prescription I was able to do my work, and after taking four dollars worth of medicine I was well. I highly recommend it to any sufferer with Rheumatism.

I have much pleasure testifying to the great benefit I received from Father Morriscy's Medicine and I feel that I cannot say too much in favor of a medicine which has done me so much good. I was a great sufferer from Rheumatism and Catarrh. I tried several remedies, but without success. In Sept., 1906, I consulted the late Father Morriscy and I am thankful to say that I used his medicine with very gratifying results.

I had been troubled with muscular rheumatism for twelve years, till my brother Matt advised me to go to Father Morriscy, who had cured him.

I consulted Father Morriscy, and he prescribed for me. Since using his medicine I have not been troubled any more. You may use my name if it will be the means of any person using the medicine, and I hope others will receive the great benefits I did.

Yours truly,—J. W. BOHAN.

During the Fall of 1906 I contracted a Severe Cold which settled upon my Lungs. After being treated by two Physicians of high standing my condition was not any better, but in fact getting worse.

My friends began to have serious doubts about my recovery. I had heard of Father Morriscy's remarkable career as a medical adviser and wrote to him explaining my case. In a few days I received an encouraging letter from him, and some of his "Lung Tonic," and immediately I began to improve, gaining fourteen pounds in two months.

I am, Yours sincerely,—ANNIE McDONALD.

ACHES AND PAINS DISAPPEAR

BEFORE FATHER MORRISCY'S LINIMENT.

Pains and aches, due to accident or disease, are all too common in every family, and there is a vast amount of needless suffering among those who do not know Father Morriscy's Liniment.

Father Morriscy prescribed this Liniment regularly in his practice, and with most satisfactory results. It is mild and pleasant to use, yet most effective in getting right in to the seat of the trouble and curing it.

It makes a splendid rubbing Liniment, as it makes the skin very soft and smooth, and does not blister. Moreover, it feels and smells clean. In Rheumatism it gives valuable assistance to the "No. 7" prescription in promptly relieving the pain.

In Sore Throat and Cold in the Chest, the Liniment, well rubbed in, with a few drops more applied on a piece of flannel wrung out of hot water, will help "No. 10" (taken internally) to break up the cold and stop the cough.

For Backache, Toothache, Earache, Sprains, Strains, Sore Muscles, Chapped Hands or Chilblains, Burns or Frost Bites, Cuts or Bruises, Father Morriscy's Liniment gives quick and certain relief.

25 CENTS A BOTTLE.

These are exactly the same remedies as were prescribed by Father Morriscy himself. They are put up by the same druggists, from the original prescriptions left by the priest-physician. TENANTS HOUSE IS HIS CASTLE.

NOT EVEN PROPRIETOR CAN ENTER AGAINST HIS WILL.

Montreal, April 22.—"A tenant's house is his castle," said Judge Lanctot, in the Police Court, "and no one, not even the proprietor of the house, may enter against his will. He can even employ force to prevent the intruder from coming into his house." The case was one of assault, the plaintiff being John O'Brien, of 2465 Esplanade avenue, and the defendant John Ewart, of the same address. The property, which belongs to Alex. Trudel, is managed by O'Brien.

At the beginning of April Ewart informed the proprietor that he intended to leave the house. After the rent had been paid some tradesmen came to make repairs on the roof of the house, and Ewart objected to O'Brien. No attention was paid to his complaint and he then put up a barricade to prevent the men from getting on his roof. Their operations had caused damage in the house, as some china was broken and water and lime had come through the ceiling and had ruined some of the furniture. O'Brien had come to remonstrate with Ewart, but the latter had ordered him out of the house and had threatened him if he did not obey. An action was then taken out against Ewart, but the judge dismissed the action with costs, as he considered that the plaintiff was not justified in taking it.

THE MISSING SPEAKERS.

REASON WHY TWO TEMPERANCE ADDRESSES WERE NOT DELIVERED IN ST. JAMES CHURCH.

Quebec, April 20.—The return of Mr. Justice Lemieux from Montreal has been followed by the statement, that he was requested by his Bishop not to carry out his intention of speaking on Sunday night at the anti-saloon meeting in the St. James Methodist Church. The names of Mr. Justice Lemieux and of Dr. Joseph Edmond Dube, of Montreal, both appeared in the advertisements announcing the meeting, and it is said that Dr. Dube received an intimation of like tenor to that which prevented Judge Lemieux's appearance at the gathering. It is stated here that Archbishop Bruchesi some years ago signified his displeasure when the late Hon. J. Israel Tarte was announced to deliver a temperance address in a Protestant temple in Montreal, so the departure of Judge Lemieux on a like errand created interest amongst his friends here, and no great surprise was expressed when it was learned that he had been headed off. It was known, in fact, that Mgr. Bruchesi would not give Mr. Tarte permission to deliver his speech until he had been assured that the church in question had been sold and no longer belonged to a religious congregation.

No little amusement was also created amongst the indifferent when they saw both Mr. Justice Lemieux and Mgr. Paul Bruchesi board the Montreal boat on Friday evening and more than one asked the question if His Grace of Montreal would discover the object of his travelling companion's visit to Montreal while en route, yet that question remains unanswered up to the present moment. A gentleman who arrived from Montreal declares however, that although the Archbishop and the Judge discussed temperance and other matters and although the Monument National meeting was referred to, it appears that His Grace got no inkling of Judge Lemieux's engagement to speak in the Methodist Church before he reached the place on Saturday morning, for it must be remembered that His Grace had been down to Antogonish and out of touch for some days with the Montreal newspapers. As Mgr. Bruchesi would have no jurisdiction over Judge Lemieux, whose domicile is in the Archdiocese of Quebec, it goes without saying that Mgr. Begin was communicated with.

The theory is that His Grace of Montreal reasoned out the matter as follows: Supposing in the face of the Roosevelt-Fairbanks episodes in Rome someone should cable the Vatican that a Roman Catholic judge of the Superior Court in Montreal had appeared in a Methodist temple on a Sunday evening under the chairmanship of a Methodist minister, what would the Holy Father and the ever alert Merry de Val think of the discipline practiced by the Archbishop of Montreal amongst the faithful of that diocese.

The affair also recalls to mind an incident which took place in this city about the time Rev. Dr. Barclay assumed the incumbency of St. Paul's in Montreal. The newly arrived Scottish minister came down to preach, and as his eloquence and ability had been talked of for weeks in advance, crowds went to hear the divine at St. Andrew's in this city. Amongst those present were Sir F. Langelier and the late Hon. John Hearn, who were both delighted with the sermon and said so to their many friends on the morrow. The incident came to the knowledge of the Archbishop of Quebec, the late Cardinal Taschereau. In a day or two the Judge and the Legislative Councillor received an intimation that they were wanted at the palace. Both gentlemen, however, thought that their Catholicism was too well known to have their intentions called in question, consequently they paid no attention to the episcopal missive. A second letter was forthcoming, but it is also understood that no response was made to the appeal, and the matter was allowed to drop, only to be revived in the memory of a few when the Montreal incident was referred to by those who learned of the experience of Mr. Justice Lemieux in Montreal.

GREAT PAGEANT OF LONDON.

RELICS OF ENGLISH MAMMOTHS AND OTHER ANIMALS WILL BE SHOWN.

The great pageant of London is to be the central feature of the festival of empire to be held at the Crystal Palace this year, and of all its scenes the first—"The Dawn of History"—will be one of the most remarkable. The spectators will see London as it was long, long before the Roman first set foot in the land; they will see the ancient Britons near their mud huts; they will be carried back to the days when the mammoth and the rhinoceros wandered where the metropolis roars to-day.

Frank Lascelles, the master of the pageant, has sent us a few interesting notes on the discovery of prehistoric remains in and near London. It is impossible to say exactly how long it is since the mammoth and the woolly rhinoceros dwelt in the Valley of the Thames; but it is generally agreed that it must have been many thousands of years ago. Evidence in the shape of bones comes to light occasionally. In the bed of the Lea the bones of both animals have been discovered, and it is interesting to note that a skull of the woolly rhinoceros found quite recently during excavations for the purpose of installing new machinery beneath the offices of the Daily Chronicle, is now in the museum at South Kensington.

The mammoth, while resembling the modern elephants, differed from them in the possession of a coat of long, thick hair, and the woolly rhinoceros had a similar protection against the rigors of the climate. Both animals survived till a later time in Siberia than in Europe, and in the frozen soil of the north practically entire bodies of the mammoth have been found.

There were many other animals whose bodies were sometimes swept away by the floodwaters of the Thames and Lea, and whose bones, separated by decay, were widely scattered and deposited in the gravels of the valleys. Among such animals may be mentioned the reindeer, the brown bear and the grizzly bear, the bison, the beaver, the wolf and species of lion, hyena and hippopotamus.

More important than all these animals was man himself, whose rude flint implements have been found in great numbers in the gravels from which the fossil bones have been taken. This period of man's history is spoken of as the Old Stone (or Palaeolithic) Age, and it affords the earliest certain evidence that we have of his life and activities.—London Chronicle.

TOOK THEM AT THEIR WORD.

(Dundee Advertiser)

"Any article removed from the window," was the notice prominently displayed at an outfitter's shop. Attracted by it, a supercilious person entered the shop and asked to be allowed to inspect a particularly vivid tie in the front row. The salesman having disarranged the window and brought out the desired object, the supercilious person remarked, "Rather lous, isn't it?"

"Well, somewhat striking," agreed the shopman.

"I thought so," replied the visitor, as he turned to leave the shop. "It offends my taste. You needn't put it back. Good day."

SCOTT LIQUOR BILL KILLED.

Ottawa, April 20.—The Senate yesterday killed the bill of Sir Richard Scott to regulate the transportation of intoxicating liquors.

The bill was designed to prevent liquor being taken into Prince Edward Island, where there is a prohibition law. Senator Domville moved that the committee rise, and thus kill the bill. This was carried by 29 to 20.

POTATOES ARE VERY PLENTIFUL.

FARMERS FEEDING THEM TO STOCK IN CORNWALL DISTRICT.

Cornwall, April 22.—It is i many years since potatoes were as cheap in this section as they are this spring. Instead of being scarce at $1 a bushel, they are very plentiful at from 40 to 45 cents per bag. In recent years Cornwall grocers imported annually from sixty to seventy-five cars of potatoes from Western Ontario and the Maritime Provinces to eke out the local supply. Last winter, instead of importing, Cornwall exported potatoes to Cobalt and other points in New Ontario. The potato crop was so big last year that farmers have been using them as fodder for their cattle and still have an abundance on hand. A larger quantity than ever will be planted this spring.

HIS AFTER IMPRESSION.

When a wild-looking big chap burst noisily into a downtown billiard parlor a day or two ago and glared eagerly about, it was easy to be seen that trouble was coming.

"Where is he?" he shouted. "Lemme git hold o' th' sawed-off runt. I'll show 'im!"

Suddenly he spotted a short, fat man who lurked in the shadow of the big stove, apparently anxious to escape observation.

"Come out o' there!" yelled the big one, and he made a rush at the other. Seeing he was cornered, the little man emerged from his corner to meet his opponent. Straight at him he went with a rush like those that used to electrify the ring followers of Terry McGovern, hitting out right and left with lightning speed. Before the big fellow could strike a blow he was smothered and overwhelmed by a shower of "wallops" that peppered his anatomy. Before anyone could interfere it was all over. The big fellow lay in a crumpled heap and the little fat man had hurried out without saying a word.

The proprietor hastened over, helping the vanquished one to his feet, sat him in a chair, and handed him his hat. For a moment he gazed about in a dazed manner, then fell to weeping.

"Come, come," said the proprietor, "you're not hurt much."

"W-w-well, I know I ain't," sobbed the big fellow, "an' I wouldn't a-been hurt at all if they'd come at me one at a time. B-b-but th' hull gang jumped me at once."—Pittsburg Gazette-Times.

HALLEY'S COMET.

CANNOT YET BE SEEN BY THE NAKED EYE.

Montreal, April 20.—That no person has yet seen Halley's comet on this appearance with the naked eye was very positively stated by Prof. C. A. Chant, of the University of Toronto, in a lecture Monday evening. For one thing, a bulletin he received from the Yerkes Observatory of Chicago stated it is fainter than the faintest star visible by the naked eye, and another reason is that it is too near the sun to be perceived in its present brightness. Photographs of it seem to indicate that it has lost its tail at present, but it may develop one of a hundred million miles after it passes its perihelion, or the point nearest the sun (about 54,000,000 miles from it).

If you smell anything queer within the next month or so it may be the odor of comet, but that is about the worst that can happen to you from the present visitation. On the other hand the head of the comet—1,000,000 miles through, as was said—is made of something else; the scientists are still arguing over it as hotly as they argued over it 200 years ago.

The nearest the earth will come to the head of the comet will be about 15,000,000 miles. Since the tail will still be dragging behind it, it is likely that the earth may whisk through a section of it on or about May 18. Scientists have figured it out that earth's atmosphere may be appreciably mixed with the gas from the comet's tail on the night of May 18, but expect nothing in the way of results good or bad.

WINNIPEG MAN OFFERED TO SUPPLY NEWS DEROGATORY TO CANADA.

Winnipeg, April 22.—J. Bruce Walker, Commissioner of Immigration, has been informed a Winnipeg newspaper man has offered to supply United States railways with a news service derogatory to Canada, with the idea of dissuading farmers from leaving the native States.

This offer has been made to railways whose traffic might be interfered with by an exodus of United States farmers to Canada.

The articles were to deal with agricultural and climatical difficulties experienced in Canada.

Mr. Walker has been authorized to enter prosecution against the journalist on the first message sent.

Now—and Then

YEARS ago when none of us knew better we took our wheat to the village mill and our good friend the miller ground it for us the best he could.

It wasn't his fault if our wheat was mostly grits or if it was frosted or smutty. He did the best he could with the materials we gave him and the facilities he had for grinding.

The making of flour today is not a mere grinding process. It is a scientific process. The great Ogilvie Flour Mills of today are a vast commercial enterprise extending from ocean to ocean.

ROYAL HOUSEHOLD FLOUR is a world product. It is well known in Africa as well as in Canada. It is as much appreciated in the poorest household at home as it is in the Royal Household abroad. To make Royal Household Flour the product it is, involves vast capital and vast resources. Every advanced process, every modern device that can in any way improve the quality of Royal Household Flour is immediately adopted regardless of expense.

If the production of ROYAL HOUSEHOLD FLOUR was purely a milling process it would not be better than any good flour. But it is not the milling alone that makes it the finest flour in the world. It is the all embracing system of care and watchfulness and scientific knowledge that surround it at every stage from wheat field to kitchen.

Every step in the production of ROYAL HOUSEHOLD FLOUR from the planting of the wheat to the delivery of the package to the grocer is embraced in the requirements of this system. It is watch, watch, watch, and test, test, test and know, know, know at every step. No happen-chance. No guess work. Everywhere and always, scientific knowledge and eternal vigilance.

Canadians ought to be proud of Royal Household Flour. It is no small thing to have to say that the world's most perfect flour is made in Canada from Canadian wheat and has become a world-wide factor through Canadian skill and capital.

"Royal Household" is head and shoulders above ordinary flour in quality and perfection. It is the result of Capital, Skill and Experience which are the parents of scientific milling knowledge.

The best flour for Bread and Pastry is "ROYAL HOUSEHOLD." To try it is to prove it.

RUPTURE

MR. A. CLAVERIE

The distinguished specialist from Paris,

IS TO-DAY AT THE

CHATEAU FRONTENAC UNTIL

Saturday the 23rd.

I draw again the attention of those of my readers who are suffering from rupture, that they will be able in a few days to secure a radical relief to their disease.

Mr. A. Claverie, the distinguished specialist from Paris, at the request of numerous persons from Sherbrooke and surroundings, is going to return again to the CHATEAU FRONTENAC, where all the ruptured may go to consult him free.

The Apparatus and Method of Mr. A. Claverie are too well known to-day in Canada, and specially in the Province of Quebec, to praise any further their high qualities.

I will simply state again that the main reasons which have made the Apparatus of Mr. A. Claverie, ABSOLUTELY INCOMPARABLE, are the following:

They maintain any KIND OF RUPTURES, even the largest and the oldest, and this PERFECTLY.

They never get out of place, no matter the exertions made.

They are extremely COMFORTABLE and easy to wear, even by the most delicate persons.

They can easily be worn during the night: (THIS BEING ABSOLUTELY NECESSARY FOR ALL SERIOUS TREATMENT).

They can always be kept perfectly clean. They are light and absolutely invisible under the clothing.

In a word they are designed upon scientific and medical lines, to secure a DEFFINITE CURE.

One may thus easily understand why this Apparatus has created a REAL REVOLUTION in the treatment of rupture, and why they are accepted with SUCH ENTHUSIASM by the best scientists, doctors, and the patients themselves.

There is not a ruptured in Sherbrooke who will want to lose this chance of securing safety and health.

DR. NAMY.

Abdominal Belts for ladies and gentlemen. Absolutely new models.

Elastic Stockings. Perfected appliances for deformities and weakness of limbs, back and shoulders. The only ones of their kind in the world.

Mr. A. Claverie will receive at the Chateau Frontenac to-day, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., and from 6 to 9 p.m., and Saturday, the 23rd, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

DISCUSSED AMALGAMATING.

Commerce and Councils of Board of Trade and Chambre de Commerce Met.

MATTER WILL BE SUBMITTED TO LATTER'S MEMBERS FOR DECISION.

The provisional committee of the proposed Chambre de Commerce and the Council of the Sherbrooke Board of Trade met in the latter's board room last evening.

This meeting was the result of a resolution passed at the annual meeting of the Sherbrooke Board, recommending that an effort be made to bring about the amalgamation of the two organizations.

The matter was very fully discussed, and the members of the Sherbrooke Board asked that those who were active in the organization of the Chambre de Commerce join with the present Board and take an active part in the work.

The representatives of the Chambre de Commerce will report to their members at a meeting which will be held at an early date.

The fact that the interests of the city could be better served by one large Board than by two smaller ones was emphasized by the Council of the Board of Trade.

METHODISM IN FRANCE.

Canada has a special interest in the American Methodist Mission recently opened in France. It was founded by Bishop Burt, an Englishman by birth, one of the bishops well known in Canada. The superintendent of the mission, Ernest W. Bysshe, was born and brought up in Ottawa and is one of a company of young men given by the McLeod Street Methodist Church to the ministry. And the first resident in our Huyler Institute for Young Ladies, just opened in Grenoble is an Ontario young lady, who is here in Grenoble studying French at the University.

It is said that some of the best ministers in the Protestant churches of France have been converted and raised among the Methodists of that country.

MANUFACTURE OF BUTTER AND CHEESE.

Legislature Passes Measure to Regulate It.

THIRD READING OF BILL TO AMEND CHARTER OF SHERBROOKE STREET RAILWAY.

Quebec, April 22—After being under discussion for four days the Government measure on the regulation of the manufacture of butter and cheese was adopted last night, shortly after midnight. The bill will only come into force in 1912, provided it is passed by the Legislative Council, about which there is little doubt. It provides that after 1912 no person, company or society shall operate a butter or cheese factory in the province without having previously obtained from the Minister of Agriculture a permit to carry on such business, which permit shall be granted only on a report of a general inspector of the department. The refusal of a permit may be 'for a factory badly built, badly equipped or unhealthy. Upon a report that such a factory is unfit for the business of manufacturing butter and cheese, the minister is empowered to close it. Furthermore the bill states that after January, 1912, no one shall act as head butter maker or head cheese maker without a proper certificate of competence. The general purpose of the bill is to increase the butter and cheese standard of the province so that better prices may be obtained for their products by the farmers of the province. The objects of the bill were not denied by the Opposition, but they expressed their fears that the large powers of inspection would head to political patronage of the kind known as graft.

Mr. Jean Prevost spoke on the matter last night, saying he considered there were other and better ways to control the number of butter and cheese factories in the province than on the reports of inspectors, who sooner or later would fall under the influence of the party system. Hon. Mr. Caron, minister of Agriculture, replied, saying they were all that could be reasonable expected.

It was a few minutes after midnight when the division bell rang for the members. Mr. Tellier, leader of the Opposition, proposed that the bill be referred back to the committee for the purpose of defining more clearly what the conditions were for closing factories. The amendment was lost by 38 to 12, and the bill was carried on the same division reversed.

The bill amending the charter of the Sherbrooke Street Railway Company was passed on its third reading.

SPORTING NEWS

AT THE RANGES.

ANNUAL MEETING OF GRANBY RIFLE CLUB.

Granby, April 22.—(Special)— The adjourned meeting of the Granby Rifle Club was held in the Council room on Monday evening. There was a good attendance of members and others interested in this popular sport, and the outlook for the coming season appears bright. Shooting will commence the second Saturday in May and continue during the summer on every Saturday afternoon, commencing at 2 o'clock sharp. S. Martin was re-elected captain and C. B. McDonald first lieutenant, Gerald McDonald second lieutenant. In order to stimulate interest in rifle shooting Lieut. C. B. McDonald has decided to put up the silver tray won by him last season for competition among the members. This valuable trophy is on exhibition in the window of the Messrs. Monty Bros., and the prospect of becoming its fortunate winner should urge the members of the club to regular attendance at the meets.

LACROSSE.

LITTLE OR NO INTEREST TAKEN IN LOCAL LACROSSE CIRCLES

The meeting held at the Albion Hotel, last night, for the purpose of organizing a lacrosse team, fell through.

There were only about half a dozen present and it was not thought advisable to enter a team in the Intermediate League, when so little interest was shown.

who recently disposed of his farm to Albert Holmes. The story goes that Bolton was assisting Holmes in the slaughter of hogs, and while the men were thus engaged Holmes, without the slightest provocation, deliberately struck his victim on the back of the head with an axe, killing him instantly. He then escaped to the woods, and at last accounts had not been captured, though a posse of men are in pursuit. The crime is thought to have been the act of an insane man, as Holmes is said to have acted strangely of late. Bolton was well known throughout the neighborhood, and highly respected. He leaves a widow and one son.

GREAT CONSTRUCTION WORKS AT MONTREAL AND TORONTO.

London, Ont., April 22.—Chas. M. Hays, president of the Grand Trunk Railway, at the annual banquet of the Board of Trade, last night, told 150 citizens politely, but firmly, that London had failed to take advantage of one opportunity to abolish grade crossingt here, and that before a second opportunity should come, bringing with it the circumstances making possible a new station, great construction works would be accomplished at Toronto and Montreal.

The expenditure will reach into millions.

SHIP BRAKE A SUCCESS.

Philadelphia, Pa., April 22. — The United States battleship, Indiana ref turned to the Philadelphia Navy Yard yesterday after a five days' test at sea of a brake which is claimed will help in the quick stoppage of warships. Capt. Chauncey Thomas, who came from Washington to observe the vessel, said that the brake worked successfully. With its use, he said, the Indiana could be stopped in half its own length when going at good speed.

The brake, which is the invention of a Canadian, is attached to each side of a ship, and is operated from the engine room.

HIGH PRICE OF BUTTER.

Ottawa, April 22.—That the new Payne-Aldrich tariff with its provision that Canadian cream be admitted into the United States at a duty of 5 cents per gallon, is responsible for the present extraordinary high price of butter, and that neither as regards this most necessary article, nor beef, which is also quoted at almost prohibitive prices, can Canadian consumers expect much, if any, relief, was the consensus of opinion of dealers and others who were interviewed in regard to the situation.

Butter on the Ottawa market yesterday morning was selling at 30 cts. for a pail variety, an almost unheard of price for this time of the year.
