CONTRADICTORY EVIDENCE BEFORE JUDGE WINCHESTER

Italians Say They Were Brought Over by False Statements as to the Labor Market—Cordasco Offers to Furnish Work or Refund Money.

Cordasco was again before Judge Winchester this morning, and underwent a rigorous examination as to his treatment of the Italian immigrants. The Judge produced correspondence in which the labor agent had refused to refund sums sent him, although he had not secured the senders' jobs. Cordasco however declared with fervid emphasis that anyone wanting their money back could get a cheque right in the court. Judge Winchester conclusively remarked that he would have to write a very big cheque in that case.

Several other witnesses were examined, to see whether a scheme had not been on foot to bring out a great number of Italians to Montreal this spring in order to keep wages down.

It was shown that the influx had had this effect, but no direct evidence that it had been asked for by great labor employers was produced.

A good deal of amusement was caused in court by the antics of an Italian who had been subpoened, and was very anxious to testify. He had been crown-bearer at the time Cordasco was hailed king of the Italian laborers, and turned up in a gorgeous regalia of silk and ribbons. Despite his bobbing up to the dais at every lull in the proceedings, he was not heard.

Greedy Speculation.

Alfred Derosa, chief editor of the Patrica Italiano, was the first witness called.

He remembered Alberto Dini asking him to write out an advertisement for 10,000 laborers last January.

This advertisement was produced, and the editor said it had appeared many times.

"Dini said here the other day that he knew nothing of this advertisement, but only saw it afterwards?"

A. He came himself to the office and asked that it be written.

To the Judge the witness said he did not know what Dini paid for the advertisement.

C. H. Catelli, a resident of Montreal for thirty-eight years, came next. He was president of the Italian Immigration Aid Society.

What is the cause of this excessive immigration?

Well, some of them told me they had been sent out by Paretti, in Italy, who told them Cordasco was a great employer of labor, and wanted 10,000 men. Other Italians at North Bay had written to him complaining.

Brought Out by Cordasco.

Both these sets of men made signed declarations that Paretti, in Italy, had induced them to come to Canada by showing them letters from Cordasco promising immediate employment for eight or ten thousand men. They had also seen the Montreal Italian papers with Cordasco's advertisements and pictures circulated in Italy, which induced them to emigrate.

The North Bay men stated they were starving, and would have died but for charity, and went on, "Now is the time for Cordasco to give us the work he promised in his letters to Paretti."

Cordasco Recalled.

Cordasco was then recalled, and said that during the present year 877 Italians from the States had registered with him at the usual rates, $10 apiece.

One man named Franco had put up $20 for a job, but had not got work, and had written several times to have it returned, but was refused by Cordasco.

Would Refund Money.

Cordasco explained that he had refused to return it expecting to find them work, but intended to pay him this evening. "Any man wanting his money back I will make him out a cheque right here in the court."

Judge Winchester—You had better fill out a good big one then, because there are a lot of them wanting their money. The trouble is you never think there is anything due them.

Cordasco—I will pay them whatever is due them. I want to get finished with this thing.

The Judge—Yes, and so do I.

Ganni, the clerk had written his letters for him while he had been sick, and he had warned him to be careful to so write as not to cause trouble.

"What kind of trouble did you fear?" This bothered the witness a good deal, and he could not explain what the trouble he feared was.

The judge read a letter sentence by sentence, the first part sounding pretty well, and Cordasco admitted that this part was by his authority.

The latter part, said Cordasco, needed 10,000 men, and he vehemently denied authorizing this, offering to swear before the Bible or anything else to that effect.

"Oh, never mind that; everything else in the letter is authorized by you but this," replied the judge with a smile.

The judge produced eighty-nine letters to people in the United States and Canada telling them to send out the money and be registered for jobs.

"I find here eighty-nine," said the judge.

The witness handled the letters gingerly, and finally remarked: "Oh, well, I guess your word is all right, Your Honor."

Not Working for Glory.

At the judge's order the witness then read a letter from him to an Italian in the States, refusing to register him without the money.

"So you would not register him without the money?"

"O, well, it's no use working for glory. I would not register without the money."

"And these men have paid and not gone out yet?"

"Yes, that was not my fault."

"And some men registered in March got jobs, while others registered in November did not; how was that?"

"They had better gangs, that's all."

This statement caused a good deal of noisy dissent from the crowds of Italians in the room.

G. A. Rodier was briefly examined as to the effect upon wages of the Italian influx.

Had Not Reduced Wages.

R. M. Hannaford, of the Montreal Street Railway Company, said the immigration had not reduced wages amongst the company's employes.

Labor Leader Testifies.

Mr. James B. Mack, vice-president of the Dominion Trades and Labor Council said this influx was liable to decrease wages and prolong the hours of labor.

The Italians said they had been grossly deceived and brought out by speculators anxious to make a dollar out of them. He understood that as a result wages had been reduced. The Italians said they had been induced to come out by Cordasco's advertisements, etc.

Cardasco Again on Stand.

Antonio Cordasco was then recalled and examined by the Judge.

He said the new arrangement with Superintendent Burns for him to be paid $1 a head by the C.P.R. and not charge the Italians anything was made some time in April. A letter from Cordasco to Burns was read, dated April 28, saying that as he was only paid by the day or hour by the C.P.R., it was a fair deal for him to get fees from the Italians, as none of them were forced to pay.

Was not this agreement made for the purpose of evidence at this commission? H has not paid you a single sixpence since.

No. It was a judgment he was afraid of, and was waiting to see how it would turn out before paying me.

The witness excitedly declared $1 a head was not enough to run his office, which cost him $300 a month. He denied having instructed one of his employes who was getting $6 a week to swear that he was getting $10 or $15.

STRIKERS WENT BACK BEGGING OLD POSITIONS

Troops Have Been Ordered Home—Political Movement Has Collapsed.

Sydney, N.S., July 25.—(Special.)—The employment bureau of the Dominion Iron & Steel Company was besieged this morning by strikers in search of their old positions. The settlement effected turns out to be much worse for the men than was at first given out. The company utterly refuses to acknowledge the P.W.A., and will receive committees from among the employes only. The scale of wages will be that in force May 31st. They will take all the men who asked for their places, but will not discharge those who have been employed during the strike. Moreover, the company reserves the right to refuse employment to a number who have been blacklisted for violence and intimidation and other causes. It is understood that two prominent P.W.A. officials are among the number.

The labor movement in politics seems to have fizzled out. It was looked upon merely as a subterfuge on the part of Moffatt and other P.W.A. leaders, who wished to make a scapegoat of the Minister of Labor. The troops have been withdrawn.

EDUCATIONALISTS WILL CONVENE IN WINNIPEG

Mr. C. Johansen, of Montreal, Will Deliver Address on Manual Training.

Winnipeg, July 25.—(Special.)—The Dominion Educational Association will meet in this city to-morrow, and all indications point to the most interesting convention in its history. Canada will be represented from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

There will be three sessions a day on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, with a wind-up meeting on Friday morning. On Tuesday evening there will be a meeting of welcome at which Hon. F. G. Haultain, Premier of the Territories, will deliver an address of welcome, which will be replied to by the president, Mr. D. J. Goggin, M.A., D.C.L., of Toronto. Then will come the president's address upon "Present Day Problems in Education." Rev. Chancellor Burwash, of Victoria University, Toronto, will speak upon "National Education," and Dr. J. R. Inch, chief superintendent of Education in New Brunswick, will speak upon "The Educational Outlook."

Mr. C. Johanssen, director of marine training schools in Montreal, will deliver an address on "Three Years of Macdonald Manual Training School."

DROWNINGS REPORTED FROM SEVERAL POINTS

North Sydney, N.S., July 25.—(Special.)—A sad drowning fatality occurred at Sydney Mines yesterday afternoon, the victim being an English miner, John Fraser, who came out from Newcastle some few months back. He, with three companions, Walsh, Goodwin and Rooner, were crossing a big pond in a boat. When about half way across Fraser and Walsh stripped and went in for a bath, when suddenly Fraser disappeared. The body has not yet been recovered.

A HANDSOME BUILDING.

Rapid Progress Expected on New Sovereign Bank Premises.

The Charles Thackeray Company which has the contract for the new Sovereign Bank building on St. James Street, has already excavated 6,030 tons of debris for the new building foundations. It is expected that the walls will be up to the street level and considerable of the steel work in place by the middle of August. Stanstead granite will be used to the second story, while the other nine storeyes will be of Kentucky bluestone. The building will have a frontage on St. James Street of forty-five feet and will be 130 feet high. It is hoped that the roof will be on before the end of November.

JOE YEAGER'S CONDITION.

Joe Yeager, the great shortstop of the Montreal baseball team, will not be seen on the diamond for some days yet. He is at the Homoeopathic Hospital, suffering from an abscess on one of the bones of the face, and his medical attendant is unable to say to-day when he will be sufficiently recovered to leave. It was stated, however, that he was progressing nicely.

REFORD CO. EXONERATED FROM SERIOUS CHARGE

The Harbor Commissioners Adopt a Resolution at This Morning's Meeting Withdrawing Charge of Altering Entries.

"That this board having carefully heard and considered the matter of ceratin Bills of Lading of steamships managed by the Robert Reford Company, Limited, as agents, have pleasure in fully exonerating the Robert Reford Company, Limited, from any attempt or wish to defraud or take advantage of the Harbor Commissioners in payment of charges accruing to or due to them under said Bills of Lading, and that the secretary of this board be instructed to write the Robert Reford Company, Limited, to this effect, expressing, moreover, the Board's sincere regret for the trouble and annoyance the mistaken statement made by the Board's secretary has caused to them, but made by the secretary as he then thought, correctly."

The above resolution was unanimously adopted at a meeting of the Harbor Commissioners to-day after both Mr. Reford and Mr. Seath, the Board's secretary, had expressed their satisfaction with it.

The matter was brought up by Mr. Reford, who raised a question of privilege at the beginning of the meeting in order to have the matter adjusted before the regular business was considered. Mr. Seath pointed out that he was every day making rulings regarding the way the wharfage rates should be paid and his decisions had never before been appealed against. The Mayor thought the resolution was very well worded and should be carried unanimously.

At the suggestion of Mr. Reford it was decided that in future when the secretary thinks he has any cause of complaint against a company, the company be given an opportunity to explain before the matter is brought before a public meeting.

WANT TO TURN OVER THE NEW ELEVATOR

The Contractors So Wrote To-day to the Harbor Commission

BUT BOARD WANTS A REPORT

Canadian Fire Underwriters Refuse to Insure the Grain in the Elevator—Government Notified Shed Contract is Signed.

The Harbor Board to-day received a letter from the Steel Storage and Elevator Constructing Company stating the new elevator was now completed and by the letter was handed over for service.

The letter caused a good deal of discussion, as the Commissioners were very much opposed to taking over the elevator before they had an opportunity of fully testing the building. Mr. Doran pointed out that the Board by the contract was bound to take the elevator over and afterwards make the tests.

At the suggestion of Mr. Bickerdike it was decided to ask Mr. St. Laurent, the engineer in charge, to make a special report, and when this report was received a special meeting will be held. A letter from the Canadian Fire Underwriters stated they did not desire to insure the contents of the elevator. This letter was referred to the Finance Committee for action.

The question of rates to be charged in the new elevator was also brought up, and while the Board thought the matter should be adjusted at once, seeing that some of the shipping companies wanted to use the elevator it was decided to wait for a report from the Finance Committee which has the matter in hand.

The G. T. R. Tracks.

Mr. C. M. Hays, general manager of the Grand Trunk Railway, regretted the action of the Board with regard to the application to lay additional tracks on the wharf. Mr. Hays said that if the matter could not be adjusted he would appeal to the Railway Commission, whom he understood, had jurisdiction to act in the matter.

The letter made the commissioners take another view of the question, and it was agreed that the question should be reconsidered, and Mr. Hays given an opportunity of stating his side of the question.

A letter will be sent to the Minister of Marine and Fisheries, saying that the contract for the new sheds had been signed with Mr. Peter Lyall.

On the recommendation of Mr. Doran the engineer will make preliminary arrangements to have all the material inspected.

The next meeting will be held Aug. 3

London, July 25.—The Sydney correspondent of the Morning Leader wires that the local press style the Chamberlain tariff recommendations as sheer protection certain to lead eventually to a tariff war between Britain and the colonies.

SALVATION ARMY DELEGATES RETURNING BY EVERY SHIP

Lieut. Adsit Tells of the Great Gathering Recently Held in London—There Were 100,000 Delegates.

Every passenger steamer coming into Montreal from the Old Country is bringing home Salvationists who have been attending the great International Congress in London, where over 100,000 Salvationists from all over the world met their General.

This is the second International Congress held in London, the first being ten years ago, when only about ten thousand Salvationists met, figures that show the wonderful growth of this institution which is administering good all over the world.

Over forty countries were represented, including Canada, U.S.A., Bermuda, Newfoundland, South America, West Indies, Germany, France, Holland, Belgium, Switzerland, Sweden, Norway, Italy, Finland, South Africa, India, Australia, Jamaica, New Zealand, Japan and Mexico. One man only represented the latter named country, he being the only Salvationist in that country and is trying to organize a corps there.

The Chinese quarter of San Francisco was also represented. Perhaps at the next Congress, three more great countries will be added to the list, for work has already been started in Russia, China and Spain.

During the Congress General Booth addressed over fifty meetings of 5,000 to 100,000 members of the Salvation Army.

Interviewed this morning Lieut. Adsit, of the Montreal division, who returned on Saturday by the Lake Erie, told The Herald that over 300 delegates went from Canada, and that they had a very good time, the English people treating them very well. The staff band gave a concert on the Thames embankment, which took very well, and was mentioned in "The British Bandsman" as being excellent, and that it came next to the British bands.

"On one occasion," Mr. Adsit said, "the massed bands, of 4,020 players, gave selections in Crystal Palace, and the same day the whole Congress marched past the General. They marched five deep and took over an hour to pass, which gives some idea of the great number of delegates present."

About fifty more delegates are expected in Montreal next Saturday by SS. Lake Manitoba.

OPERATIVES WENT ON STRIKE TO-DAY

Nearly 30,000 Employes at Fall River Have Quit Work.

Fall River, Mass., July 25.—The strike order issued by the Fall River Textile Council calling for upwards of 30,000 operatives to remain away from the mills this morning, in protest against a reduction of 12 1-2 per cent. in wages became effective to-day, and the response was as general as the labor leaders had predicted. In the thirty-seven mills involved in the agreement to reduce wages but a few, comparatively, of the usual force went to work. It is estimated that not more than 300 entered all the mill gates today.

Both sides admit that this is the beginning of one of the most determined contests which Fall River has ever seen. The manufacturers maintained that they have tried every plan which they could think of to avoid a reduction in wages, and took that final step only when driven to do so to save their business.

The operatives say that the conditions affecting cotton manufacture will not be remedied by cutting wages.

Word reached Napanee that Breeze's woollen mill and saw mill at Forest Mills was totally destroyed by fire. No insurance was carried on either stock or buildings. The loss is about five or six thousand dollars.

VLADIVOSTOK FLEET SUNK BRITISH STEAMER NEAR IZU

Squadron Has Also Captured German Vessel—Russian Volunteer Steamers Ordered Home—British Warship Near the Dardanelles.

Yokohama, July 25.—The Vladivostok squadron yesterday sunk the steamer Knight Commander, from New York, off the Province of Izu, after transferring the crew of the Knight Commander to the steamer Tsinan, which arrived here this morning.

The Vladivostok squadron also captured a German vessel believed to be the Arabia, with three thousand tons of flour, and an unknown British steamer. The two vessels were sent to Vladivostok in charge of prize crews. The American Trading Company are the agents here for the Knight Commander.

Knight Commander a British Boat.

New York, July 25.—The Knight Commander, sunk by the Vladivostok squadron yesterday, according to the Maritime Register, is a British boat of 2,716 tons burden, commanded by Captain Durant. She sailed from New York on May 6 for Singapore. On June 23 she was at Manila, and last week was reported as having arrived at Shanghai. The owners of the Knight Commander is the Knight Steamship Company, Ltd., of Liverpool. She was built at Newcastle by the Palmers.

Crew Arrived at Yokohama.

Tokio, July 25.—The British steamer Chinan has arrived at Yokohama with the crew of the British steamer Knight Commander, which was sunk by the Russian Vladivostok squadron off Izu. The Knight Commander's cargo was a general one. Her European passengers were detained by the Russians and her crew of twenty-one was transferred to the Chinan, which also reports that the Russians sank two Japanese schooners.

Russian Government's Decision.

St. Petersburg, July 25.—The Associated Press is informed that the Russian volunteer fleet steamers Smolensk and St. Petersburg have already been ordered home, and that instructions for them to return have been cabled. The assurances given Great Britain on this point are declared to be satisfactory.

The instructions given the commanders of the vessels repeat the orders heretofore announced in these despatches, directing them to refrain from further attempts to stop merchantmen either in the Red Sea or in the Mediterranean.

The decision not to insist upon the war status of the ships was probably reached at the conference held Saturday. The two ships may be brought to the Baltic and formally recommissioned.

Russia has reiterated her assurances that all vessels seized pending the receipt of instructions by the captains of the Smolensk and St. Petersburg shall at once be released and that the British steamer Ardova will be freed upon her arrival at Suez or Port Said, the same as the Scandia.

After a long discussion on Saturday, in which Count Lamsdorff took a leading part, it was decided that the present status of the volunteer fleet was not sufficiently well defined, according to international law, to render further search and seizures advisable, and that, therefore, Russia, in the interests of friendly relations with the powers, should withdraw the authority given the volunteer fleet in this respect.

Malacca Will be Released.

London, July 25.—It has been decided, at the request of Great Britain, in order to avoid further loss of time, not to send the Peninsular and Oriental steamer Malacca, seized in the Red Sea by the volunteer fleet steamer St. Petersburg, to Suda Bay, Island of Crete, but to release her at Algiers. The Associated Press is informed that it is possible there will be no formal inspection of her cargo by the British and Russian consuls, but merely a declaration by the British consul, on behalf of the British Government, that the munitions on board the Malacca belong to Great Britain.

British Warship Near Dardanelles.

Constantinople, July 25.—Vessels arriving here report that a British warship is patrolling off Cape Helas, fifteen miles south of the Dardanelles. She is using her searchlight with the supposed view of intercepting any British ships which may have been captured by the Russian volunteer fleet steamers, if they attempt to pass the Dardanelles.

Ardova is Held by Russians.

Suez, July 25.—The British steamer Ardova, which, after being fired at by the Russian volunteer fleet steamer Smolensk, was seized by that vessel, has arrived here. She is flying the Russian naval flag and has a prize crew on board. It is declared her destination is a Russian port. The British cruiser Venus is anchored close to the captured steamer.

Captain Smith, of the Ardova, has lodged a protest with the British consul against the capture and detention of the steamer. Part of the Ardova's crew who are on board the Smolensk will be landed at Jedda, Arabia.

How Red Sea Troubles Started.

St. Petersburg, July 25.—The popular version of the Red Sea entanglement which has so embarrassed the Russian Foreign Office is that it grew out of Grand Duke Alexander Mikhaileovich (head of the department of mercantile marine) practically taking matters into his own hands and commissioning the vessels of the volunteer fleet which had passed through the Dardanelles, bound for the Far East, to hoist the Russian war flag and seize merchantment in the Red Sea. It is understood that the Emperor has censured his brother-in-law for taking a step of such gravity without consulting the Foreign Office. There is general relief, however, at the fact that Grand Duke Alexander Mikhaileovich's precipitate action has not resulted in irreparable complications. The blunder of the Grand Duke is attributed to his comparative youth and inexperience in affairs of State.

The Feeling in Japan.

Tokio, July 25.—The passage of the Dardanelles by the Russian volunteer fleet steamers, the seizures of German mail and the capture in the Red Sea by Russia of the Peninsular and Oriental steamer Malacca, have attracted great attention throughout Japan. The Government is watching the situation keenly, but it has not given any form of expression to its views or indication that it will take any action in the matter.

The editors of Tokio newspapers have met and passed a resolution declaring that the passage of the Dardanelles by the Russian ships is a violation of the treaty obligations and an insult to all of the powers; that the seizure of ships by the Russian volunteer fleet jeopardizes the interests of all neutral powers, and that Russia's action endangers the peace of the world.

INFANT DEATH RATE SHOWS CONSIDERABLE DECREASE

There Were Only Eighty-one Last Week—Total Number of Deaths Was 150.

The children's mortality rate has once again returned to its normal level, only eighty-one deaths last week being due to infantile debility. The health record was remarkably clean, as the sole contagious disease recorded was typhoid fever with but two deaths to its credit.

There were 150 deaths in the city last week, of which 136 were Catholics, 11 Protestants and 3 Jews. Other causes of mortality were as follows:—Consumption, 13; pneumonia, 2; bronchitis and broncho-pneumonia, one each.

There were 75 births registered at the City Hall last week, as compared with 73 for the week previous.

ARE AFTER CANADIAN TRADE.

Ottawa, July 25.—(Special.)—Commercial Agent Ross, of Australia, writes to the Trade and Commerce Department that Australians are after the wine trade in Canada. They intend sending an exhibit to Toronto Exhibition, and the Australians are also after the salt trade of British Columbia and have a consignment of 200 tons forwarded to reach Vancouver next month. Mr. Ross says that the placing of the Manuka on the Vancouver line reduces the distance between Brisbane and London to twenty-nine or thirty days.

Weather To-morrow Fair and Warm.

To-day and Tuesday—Fine and warmer.

Fair weather, with thunderstorms in a few localities, is promised to-morrow.

A few local thunderstorms occurred yesterday in Manitoba and light scattered showers in the Maritime Provinces; elsewhere the weather has been fine. The excessive heat in the Northwest Territories has given place to more temperate temperature. There has been a rapid rise in temperature. The maximum point reached to-day was 80 degrees, as compared with 75 yesterday.

Maximum and minimum temperatures:—Dawson, 46, 62; Victoria, 52, 68; Kamloops, 52, 80; Calgary, 34, 76; Qu'Appelle, 58, 72; Winnipeg, 58, 76; Port Arthur, 44, 70; Parry Sound, 56, 58; Toronto, 56, 72; Ottawa, 60, 76; Montreal, 60, 76; Quebec, 58, 74; Halifax, 60, 80.

The Father—"So you want to marry one of my daughters, eh?"

The Suitor—"Y-yes, sir."

The Father—"Well, there's Clara, who is just 20; her dowry will be $10,000. Maude is 25, with a dowry of $20,000, and Mary, who is 30, will have a dowry of $40,000. Now which will you take?"

The Suitor—"Well, er—you haven't got another daughter of—say 35 or 40, have you?"

O river breeze, on other shore
You lovingly caress,

Remember we are, as of yore,
Here at the old address.

THERE'S ROOM FOR THE OLD HORSE YET.

Though the trolley goes buzzing along the highway
And under the blossoming trees,
And past the broad fields where the scent of the hay
Floats lazily out on the breeze;
Though it fills the red steed with suspicion and fear,
And causes the goslings to fret,
And zipps up and down through the once quiet town,
There is room for the old horse yet.

Though the automobile whizzes over the scene
That once was so peaceful and still,
Leaving dust in its wake and the scent of benzine,
As it disappears over the hill;
Though its zipps and its jolts give alarm to the colts,
Let us not for a moment forget
That, in spite of man's need of excitement and speed,
There is room for the old horse yet.

A thousand inventors are busy to-day
Building ships to be sailed in the air;
By to-morrow the eagle may flutter away
From the gay people soaring up there;
The chickens may squawk, seeing men as they flock,
As high as the birds ever get,
But in spite of the things we may do with our wings,
There is room for the old horse yet.

Though the lightning express, with its rush and its roar,
Remains but a moment in sight;
Though the trip that took months in the wagons of yore
Is easily made in a night;
Though the engine's wild toot causes heifers to scoot,
And the country lies under a net
Made by long rows of steel for the steam-driven wheel,
There is room for the old horse yet.

PERRY'S was another shot that was heard around the world.

AT THE investigation of the Gen. Slocum disaster a girl testified Thursday that after she had taken a life preserver from the rack a man grabbed it from her. Maybe in doing that he saved her life.

PTE. J. PERRY RICHLY DESE VED THE KING'S PRIZE WHICH HE WON

A Sketch of the Man Who Won the Highest Shooting Honors in the Empire—Began Eight Years Ago and Made His Own Marksman's Outfit—Steady Shooting Under Great Strain Won the Victory—He is a Born and Bred Canadian.

(Canadian Associated Press Cable.)

London, July 25.—At Bisley on Saturday Private Perry was given a grand reception when the Princess presented the prize. The Prince, before leaving congratulated Aanderson and said he was more than pleased that a Canadian had won the King's prize.

The Prince of Wales asked the audience to join to welcome the representatives of the King's Dominions oversea. The audience gave rousing cheers.

An enthusiastic crowd followed Perry as he was carried around the camp. At the Canadian hut Perry was photographed. All the Canadians in camp decorated their hats with maple leaves, taken from trees lining the avenue, leading to the Canadian hut. Colonel Anderson is jubilant and the adjutant equally so as Scotland won the National trophy.

"Perry's win was the most popular one I have seen in sixteen years attendance at Bisley. Perry's first thought was to cable his intended at Vancouver, of his success," cables the representative of the Canadian Associated Press.

THE SCORE WHICH WON.

The score by which he won the prize will be found interesting. It is as follows:—

First stage, seven shots each at 200, 500 and 600 yards:

200 yards	—31
500 yards	5545555—34
600 yards	5545442—29
Total first stage	94
Highest score first stage	101
Possible first stage	105

Second stage, twenty shots at six hundred yards:

44555555554444445555—92

Perry's aggregate	—186
Highest aggregate	—192
Possible	—205

Third stage, ten shots each at 800, 900 and 1,000 yards:

800 yards	5555354353—43
900 yards	—45
1,000 yards	5554545554—47
Total	135
Possible at three ranges	150
Perry's score at three stages	321
Possible at three stages	355

The other Canadian in the King's Corp. McGregor, of Ottawa, was well to the front. He stood twenty-first in the prize list and won a prize of £12.

PERRY A TORONTONIAN.

Private Perry, of the 6th Duke of Connaught's Rifles, Vancouver, was born in Toronto in 1878. He moved to Vancouver in the spring of 1902.

FOLLOWED THE GIRL.

"He followed the girl," was the explanation given by one of his friends for Perry's departure from Toronto. The family of the girl he admired went to British Columbia in the spring of 1902. He left Toronto in the latter part of March of that year, and his marriage in the western province followed immediately.

Perry joined the Royal Grenadiers on October 12, 1896, and was a member of F. Company. He was exceedingly popular and very well liked by the boys. Of a somewhat retiring and very modest disposition, he was at the same time jolly and good-natured, and devoted to his work. He is a total abstainer and was most reliable and steady.

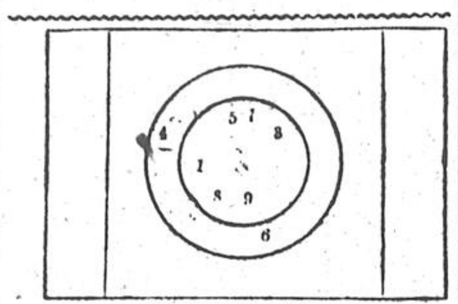
"What I honor him for," said an old comrade, "is the way he pushed himself along. He had to do everything for himself, and he had no advantages like some. He had to do with all kind of makeshifts for his rifle; and you should see how he made a rifle-sling, orthoptics, sight-protectors, windguages and other things he could not afford to buy. He has done everything for himself."

His first exploit at shooting was seven or eight years ago when he won a prize of $5 in the section shield prize given by Major Gooderham. The match was at 200, 500 and 600 yards, and he was so elated with his success that he determined to devote himself to rifle shooting.

A S. A. VETERAN.

Perry volunteered for South Africa in the first contingent. He was then a little over twenty. The regulations required him to be twenty-two. An obliging non-commissioned officer reported when asked his age by an officer: "Twenty-three next birthday."

"I wasn't going to stop the boy," he added. "He stands five feet eight or eight and a half, and is plump and fair in appearance. Dr. Nattress, when he examined him for service, said he never saw a man in better physical health or who had taken better care of himself."



5554545554—47.

Private J. Perry's score at the last range of the last stage of the "King's," 10 shots at 1,000 yards.

The score of 321, by which Perry captured the blue ribbon of the ranges, was ten points higher than last year's record. The honor is unrivaled by any similar contest, and is keenly coveted by the best shots of the Empire. Scotland has been very fortunate in winning the prize and the "Queen's Edinburgh" have four wins to their credit.

The match was originally shot over the 300, 500, 600, 800, 900 and 1,000 yards ranges, but in the year after its inception the first range was changed to 200 yards.

The first prize consists of £250 given by His Majesty, the King, the N.R.A. gold medal and the N.R.A. gold badge. This year there were 1,371 entries for the coveted distinction, and it speaks well for Pte. J. Perry to have taken the proudest position of them all.

Col. Otter remembered Perry in South Africa, where he was wounded in the ankle, in the same engagement in which the colonel himself was shot. They returned in the same steamer.

"I was very glad, very glad, indeed," he said. "Perry was always a very steady shot. It is always the steady man that wins, not the man who occasionally makes a brilliant score."

Private Hayhurst, the only Canadian who had previously won the prize, did so in 1895.

ST. GEORGE'S VASE.

Pte. Perry was not the only Canadian to distinguish himself on Saturday, though his performance eclipsed that of Major Howard, the agent general of Nova Scotia, in London, who won the second great prize of the meeting, the St. George's Vase, the Dragon Cup, the gold cross and the £30 that accompany them. Pte. Perry was the only other Canadian in the second stage of this competition, and he ranked forty-second, winning the N.R.A. badge and £6. In the first stage of the St. George's Staff-Sergt. Crowe was 115th, winning £2.

In the Association Cup, Pte. Goudie was eleventh. Sergeant Bayles, thirty-seventh; Corp. McGregor, forty-second; Corp. McGregor, forty-ninth; Sergt. Gould, eighty-first; Staff-Sergt. Crowe, eighty-fifth and Corp. McGregor ninety-fifth, each winning £2.

In the Handsworth, Pte. P. W. Smith won £2 and Sergt. Crowe and Pte. Tyers £1 each.

In the Corporation of the City of London £105 divided into twelve prizes open to Indian and Colonial volunteers and awarded on the standing of competitors in the Grand Aggregate, Corp. McGregor was second, winning £15; Sergt. Crowe, third, £10; Pte. Baynton, tenth, £5; Capt. Crowe, eleventh, £5 and Pte. Neil Smith, £5.

Corp. McGregor was forty-seventh in the volunteer aggregate and won £2.

In the Peddie, Pte. Tyers was second, and won £10. Sergt. Mortimer won £2 and Sergt. Crowe, Capt. Blair, Pte. Westman, Pte. Goudie, Pte. N. Smith and Corp. McGregor, each won £1.

In the Kynock, Capt. Crowe won £2, and the following £1 each: Pte. Goudie, Sergt. Youhill, Sergt. Mortimer and Major Moore.

CHRONICLE'S APPRECIATION.

(Canadian Associated Press Cable.)

London, July 25.—The Chronicle says that Perry's victory is the chief volunteer event of the year, and will help to obliterate the bad feeling caused by the Dundonald affair. At the same time it recalls the high service rendered the Empire by Canadians in the Boer war.

The following have been the winners of the King's prize:

1860—Pte. Ross, 7th North York.
1861—Pte. Jopling, S. Middlesex.

Mr. Alberti is Commissioner of French Government to Study Labor Conditions in America —Some Interesting Views.

Mr. Gaston Alberti, secretary of the French University of Commerce and also secretary of the French-General commission at St. Louis, accompanied by Mr. Paul Desachy, editor-in-chief of Le Siecle, of Paris, arrived at the Windsor this morning.

Mr. Alberti has been commissioned by the French Government to study the existing labor conditions in America, and to this end he has been touring the United States and part of Canada. He leaves to-morrow night for Quebec and will shortly sail for Paris.

His return to Paris is brought about by the fact that Mr. Michel Lagrave Commissioner-in-chief of the French exhibit, has been recalled to France to answer charges brought against him of being implicated in the famous Chartreuse bribery case. Mr. Lagrave is mentioned as being the one who transmitted to Premier Combes the offer of 2,000,000 francs to allow the Chartreuse monks to remain in France.

Mr. Alberti received a cable from his Government this morning announcing that Mr. Alfred Picquart, late Commissioner-General of the Paris World's Fair, had been named to succeed Mr. Lagrave. Mr. Alberti will leave for Paris this week in order to confer with his new chief.

Mr. Alberti finds the labor conditions in America altogether different to what they are in France, and, although his findings must be given to his Government first of all, he could not refrain from saying that in his opinion, the unions go altogether too far and that, the strikers, as a rule, carry things to excess.

"In France," said he, "we have syndicates instead of unions and each syndicate is managed independently from all the other ones. The consequence is that a sympathetic strike is altogether unknown to us. In our country strikes are not nearly as numerous as they are in America. They are caused as a rule, by politicians who incite the men to stop work in order that they may gain their own ends. The workingmen have no complaints to make against their wages, which have been the same for many years and which continue to remain satisfactory, as the cost of living in France has not increased.

"I understand that things are different here," continued Mr. Alberti. "In this country the unions appear to be too autocratic, they wish to rule with too high a hand and I do not think that all this is conducive to their own benefit.

Speaking of the French exhibit at the World's Fair, Mr. Alberti said that the national pavilion was a perfect representation of the "Grand Trianon" at Versailles. It was surrounded by marvellous gardens planted with trees growing in the most beautiful and extraordinary shapes. It took thirty two of the best gardeners in France, headed by the head gardener of Paris, to put these grounds in order.

One of the most interesting exhibits in the French pavilion is the collective displays of Parisian dressmakers. Here each dressmaker has, as his part of the exhibit, a dress which he regards as the finest costume his house is capable of making. Needless to say this is one of the principal attractions of the Fair, so far as the ladies are concerned.

RELIGIOUS SITUATION IN FRANCE

Mr. Paul Desachy, whose paper Le Siecle, was the only one in all France to try and promote "l'entente cordiale" between England and France at the time of the Fashoda incident, when both countries were apparently anxious to fly at one another's throats, spoke interestingly of the religious situation in France to-day.

"There is in France, no movement against the Catholics," said Mr. Desachy. "France, which has always been considered the "eldest daughter of the Church," and which respects all religions, is, of course, Catholic at heart. The Republican government found out, however, in July '99, that certain of the wealthy congregations were helping with their money and with the influence of their newspapers, of which they possess considerably over one thousand, those who wanted to overthrow the Government of the Republic and, of course, it was the first duty of the government to protect itself against these actions. In order to protect itself, properly it found it necessary to suppress the congregations, and that is practically all there is to it."

Mr. Desachq, was also chief of the cabinet of Mr. de Lanessan, Minister of Marine, in the Waldeck-Rousseau cabinet.

Trouble Between G.T.R. Telegraphers and Company Covered by Labor Disputes Act.

Ottawa, July 25.—(Special.)—The outcome of the trouble between the Grand Trunk Railway and their telegraphers is awaited with some concern. It transpired a few days ago that the telegraphers decided by ballot to strike. For nearly a year trouble has existed between the company and its telegraphers owing to the question of wages and status. The telegraphers appealed to the Minister of Labor, under the Railway Labor Disputes Act, to refer cases to the Board of Arbitration. This Sir William Mulock has done, notifying each party to choose its arbitrators.

The case, therefore, will, in due course, be dealt with under the act. The men have agreed to abide by the award. No doubt the company will do likewise. It is fortunate Parliament has provided this method for dealing with railway labor troubles. But for it the present trouble would have meant a strike of telegraph operators and demoralization in the operation of the railway, that might be followed by railway accidents of a very serious character.

SERIOUS FIRE AT FERNIE.

Town Was Threatened by Fire Which Broke Out in Timber Limits.

Fernie, B.C., July 25.—(Special.)—A serious forest fire broke out Saturday in the extensive timber limits across Elk river, from Fernie which threatened the north and [illegible] ends of the town. The fire was carried by a high wind from the right of way for the extension of the Great Northern Railway into the neighboring slashing of the Elk & Lumber Manufacturing Co. Hundreds of acres of dry brush mixed here and there with standing timber were burned. A fierce fight was waged on the west side. The large mill of the Elk Company and its well-filled lumber yards were attacked on two sides, but the fine water system saved the property. The stables, a mile up the mountain side, were burned. The whole season's cut of logs, two million feet, were burned. Total loss of company will be about $20,000.

MR. MONET SLIGHTLY ILL NERVOUS PROSTRATION

Member for Laprairie Victim of Heat and Over-work.

It was reported from Laprairie on Sunday that Mr. Dominique Monet, the member for Napierville and Laprairie, had been stricken with an attack of paralysis, and that his recovery was problematical.

Mr. Monet's many friends in Montreal were naturally anxious, and as a result of their enquiries it appears that the reports were much exaggerated. Mr. Monet is suffering from an attack of nervous prostration, superinduced by his hard work at Ottawa and the recent hot wave. While still far from well he is by no means in a critical condition.

On Sunday afternoon Mr. Monet was standing on the verandah of his residence at Laprairie when he suddenly fell in a fainting fit, and when he came to it was for sometime feared that the right side of his body was paralyzed. This has happily proved incorrect, and his friends expect that with a much-needed rest Mr. Monet will speedily recover his accustomed health.

MEMBERS REFER TO PERRY'S VICTORY

Supplementary Estimates to be Brought Down This Afternoon.

Ottawa, July 25.—(Special)—Sir Frederick Borden took occasion when the House met to-day to call attention to the honors won by Pte. Perry, of the 6th Duke of Connaught Regiment, Vancouver, in gaining the King's prize at Bisley. This was a matter of congratulation for Parliament and the people of Canada. The prize had been won once before by a Canadian, but this is the first time that it had been captured by a native born Canadian.

Col. Hughes endorsed what the Minister of Militia said that it did not matter where Perry was born as long as he was a good citizen of Canada. He was not a stranger or foreigner whether born in Canada or not.

Mr. Fielding said that Canada had won even a larger share of the honors at Bisley because Major Howard, Agent General of Nova Scotia, another native born Canadian, had won a great prize.

Mr. W. F. Maclean said that Lou Scholes, of Toronto, had proved himself the best oarsman of the world, which was another honor to Canada.

Mr. Clarke, of Toronto, had a couple of long questions on the order paper as to whether the Government were going to take any steps to find out what Sir Elzear Taschereau had said in England on the Dundonald affair.

The Premier replied: No.

TRADE WITH SOUTH AFRICA.

Sir Richard announced that the Allan's had retired and two-thirds of the South Africa service is being performed by the Furness-Withy Company and one-third by the Elder-Dempster Company. The South Africans showed a willingness to buy Canadian goods. Trade had been checked by the dumping of a large amount of war supplies on the market. Many of these came originally from Canada. Recent manifests showed Canadian exports increasing. However, there was no return cargo.

SUPPLEMENTARY ESTIMATES TO-DAY.

The cabinet sat all day Saturday and until nine o'clock Saturday evening finishing up the supplementary estimates which will be presented to Parliament to-day.

It is understood that the Georgian Bay canal proposition was up for consideration and it will not be surprising if the supplementaries show something for the beginning of the work on the French part of the project that is between North Bay and Georgian Bay.

On a vote of $12,000 for a winter service from Quebec to Murray Bay on River Ouelle, the Opposition asked about keeping the St. Lawrence Channel from Quebec to Montreal opened.

Sir Richard said the problem was an interesting one.

The Minister of Marine thought it should not be attempted except with an especially constructed steamship. The same Minister thought a special boat should be built for the River Ouelle.

Mr. Monk and Mr. Morin advised an attempt at ice-breaking on the St. Lawrence.

Sir Richard said he thought the season of navigation might be lengthened.

PILOT WAS TO BLAME FOR THE GROUNDING

Officers of the Vancouver are Cleared of Any Blame—Order Was Given Twice.

The Court of Inquiry, composed of Captain R. Salmon, wreck commissioner; Capt. A. Reid, port warden; and Pilot A. Naud, assessors, delivered its finding to-day in the matter of the grounding of the SS. Vancouver below Sorel, on July 2. The following were the findings of the court:

1. That the SS. Vancouver was properly equipped and her steering gear was in good order and condition both before and after the casualty.
2. That the orders of the pilot, in regard to the handling of the vessel, were carefully carried out.
3. That the casualty was caused by the pilot injudiciously repeating his order to starboard, while the vessel was moving on the starboard helm, which had the effect of making the ship take a broad sheer; from which she could not recover in time to prevent stranding.
4. That no blame attaches to the master and officers of the Vancouver for the casualty.
5. That Pilot Onesime Naud committed an error of judgment, and in consideration of this and his long experience and good record, the court is of the opinion that the case is fully met by the administration of a caution to the pilot, to exercise more judgment in the future.

(Signed)
R. Salmon,
Wreck Commissioner.

We concur:
(Signed) Archibald Reid,
Port Warden
Aubert Naud, Branch Pilot.

MONTREAL GIRL WAS FOUND DEAD

The Body of Girl Found in Albany Hotel Was Identified

AS MISS CAROLINE HEYWOOD

Suicide Was at First Suspected, But Autopsy Showed She Had Died of Chronic Bright's Disease.

The Heywood family, on Durocher street, has received no further word in confirmation of the report that the body of the young woman found in the Ten Eyck Hotel at Albany, N.Y., was that of Miss Ellen Heywood, who left Montreal in March last to seek her fortune in New York. A despatch from Albany states that the body was identified by Miss Caroline Heywood, who went to New York to search for her sister.

The unfortunate young woman was well known in Montreal. Since going to New York she has been studying to prepare herself as a beauty specialist. She had been in poor health for some time, and it is believed that this so preyed upon her mind as to lead her to contemplate self-destruction.

On Wednesday last Miss Carrie Heywood received the following letter from her sister, in response to which she at once went to New York:

Dear Carrie—Do not be alarmed, for I am not going to make a scene. I am going to leave here and to take some ordinary name, so that I shall not disgrace the family. On Wednesday, if all goes well, I shall be dead. All you can do is to tell mother I am in an hospital. Come on here and stay what would be a decent time to bury me in, and no one need know but you and me. I shall take laudanum with me."

The search in New York was unavailing until the police authorities of Albany wired police headquarters in New York that a girl answering the description of the missing Miss Heywood had been found dead in Albany. Her sister went to Albany at once and identified the body.

Though the letter which Miss Heywood received would indicate that her sister intended to kill herself, it is believed that she did not carry out her intention. In the room in the Ten Eyck where the body was found a bottle of laudanum was also found, but the autopsy showed death to be due to chronic Bright's disease. Her right lung was also congested with pneumonia, and there was evidence of appendicitis.

Enquiry at the Heywood home this morning elicited the information that nothing further has been heard of the girl. Her brother, however, expressed the belief that the story was true. Miss Heywood had not been in good health for some time before leaving Montreal, but no complaint had been heard from her recently. He believed that Miss Heywood was slightly demented when she wrote the letter to her sister.

OTHER TRADES GO OUT IN SYMPATHY

General Strike of Sympathy With Meat Packer is Now On.

Chicago, July 25.—The long threatened general strike of miscellaneous trades at the stockyards, called to assist the butchers' workmen, began today about 10 o'clock with the walkout of nearly all the machinists, can workers and the 150 millwrights and helpers employed by the seven big packers. This was done without awaiting the result of the conference between the packers and the officers of the teamsters' joint council or the meeting of the joint trades being held in the office of the Packing House Teamsters' Union.

Business agents of the unions went among the members employed at each of the packing houses, announcing that the sympathetic strike order was in effect.

All the big plants in the yards were reported as killing cattle, sheep and hogs to-day, Swift & Co., it was asserted, killing 700 cattle, 1,000 hogs and 9,000 sheep, and others about the same. The receipts for the day were 3,000 cattle, 5,000 hogs and 8,000 sheep, or about 15 per cent. of the normal run.

The teamsters employed by the Union Stockyards and Transit Co. have struck. The packers' teamsters are still at work.

Every live stock handler in the yards has quit. Mechanical trades workers, steam fitters, electricians, plumbers, machinists, box makers, millwrights and helpers and engineers and firemen are out. Thousands of men carrying lunch baskets are leaving the yards, but no cases of disorder are reported.

LATE CITY HAPPENINGS

BOOT AND SHOE STORES CLOSE.

As the boot and shoe merchants are holding their annual picnic next Thursday their stores will be closed for the day.

SUFFERS FROM SUNSTROKE.

An unknown Italian was picked up unconscious by the Notre Dame Ambulance at the corner of Chaboillez and St. James Street this morning. He is still unconscious, apparently from sunstroke. His condition is regarded as serious.

CUT BY FALLING STONE.

A laborer named Lapointe was walking along Sanguinet Street, near the C.P.R. track at Mile End, this morning when a stone fell, seemingly from a house top, and gave him a bad cut on the side of the head and almost severed his ear. He was taken to Notre Dame for treatment.

ST. MARY'S Y. P. S. MOONLIGHT.

The fourth annual moonlight excursion under the auspices of the Young People's Society of St. Mary's Anglican Church will, weather permitting, be held Wednesday night, down the river. The steamer Duchess of York will leave Victoria pier at 8 o'clock and Dessery Street wharf, Hochelaga, at 8.15. An orchestra and brass band will be in attendance.

FUNERAL OF MR. J. E. MULLIN.

The funeral of Mr. J. E. Mullin took place this morning from his late residence, 65 Tupper Street, to St. Anthony's Church and thence to Cote des Neiges cemetery.

Solemn requiem mass was celebrated by Rev. Father Donnelly, parish priest of St. Anthony's, assisted by Father Legace, as deacon, and Rev. Father Shea as sub-deacon.

A large number of friends of deceased accompanied the cortege.

DIED IN A CAB STAND.

Napoleon Miron, a carter, thirty-eight years of age, residing at 183 McCord Street, died in the cab stand at the corner of Rachel and St. Denis Streets, yesterday morning. For several years he has been suffering from acute indigestion and this is what caused the sudden death. The body was removed to the morgue and thence to his home, where Coroner McMahon disposed of the case this morning as death from natural causes.

REPORT WAS EXAGGERATED.

Mr. Thos. Harling, agent for the Canadian Lines, Limited, wishes to have the report from Quebec as to the very large percentage of the passengers on the Lake Simcoe having been detained there to be deported on account of disease, contradicted. The report, he says, is a gross exaggeration. Dr. Bryce made a searching examination of the passengers and some few have been rejected, but nothing like the number mentioned in the despatch from Quebec. Others have been detained, simply for lack of funds, which it is expected their friends will forward in a short time.

HOUSEBREAKING THE CHARGE.

Telesphore Galarneau, who is well known to the local police, was arrested this afternoon by Detective Dion on a charge of breaking into the house at 81 Vitre Street and stealing a quantity of jewellery and clothing. He will appear before Magistrate Lafontaine tomorrow morning.

CHARLES DE DION IS CANADIAN BORN

He Has Astounded Paris With His Restoration of Sight.

London, July 25. — Mr. Charles de Dion, whose remarkable success in restoring sight has created somewhat of a sensation in Paris and London, is a Canadian.

He was born at Chambly, near Montreal, in 1828. For four years, in Prescott College, he studied medicine. His health giving way, he abandoned all thoughts of the medical profession. He turned his attention to mechanical invention, for which, as his many successful experiments show, he has a natural aptitude. So far as mere discovery is concerned, he anticipated Marconi in wireless telegraphy. His fire indicator, patented in New York a great many years ago, is in use all the world over. An extremely simple contrivance it is, all depending upon the sensitiveness of a diaphragm to a sudden change of temperature, the movements of the diaphragm causing a bell to ring, or giving some other signal.

CAN DETECT ICEBERGS.

Mr. de Dion is also the inventor of a method for detecting, by means of a thermometer attached to the keel of a ship, the neighborhood of an iceberg in foggy weather. At the electrical exhibition of 1881 in Paris he won a prize for his invention of a coil which proved to be twenty-five per cent. more economical than any at that time in use. Having come to Paris in 1881, he has remained in it ever since. A French-Canadian, he is much more at home in France than in England. In facial contour and expression and in manner he is French. He is descended from one of the old French families which settled in Canada in the seventeenth century, founding, as they thought, a "New France" and a colonial empire on the St. Lawrence.

"You see with your blood," says Mr. de Dion. "My method of curing short sight and even blindness is as simple as my fire detector. It depends upon the principle that you see with your blood, as well as with your optic nerve. 'The blood is the life;' yes, and the blood is the sight."

No optic nerve, no sight. But also, no blood, no sight. Simple in the extreme. For the process of cutting, one leg of a pair of scissors is as indispensable as the other. Restoring the sight is, according to Mr. de Dion's theory and practice, merely a matter of restoring the circulation of the blood to the optic nerve, and to the retina—which is the continuation of the optic nerve, as the branches of a tree are the continuation of the trunk.

FIVE THOUSAND HOGS WILL BE THE WEEKLY CAPACITY

New Packing Plant at Point St. Carles Will be No Small Affair.

Five thousands hogs a week will be the capacity of the big packing plant that the recently organized Montreal Packing Company will erect at Point St. Charles. The site secured by the company is situated immediately next to that of the Montreal Stock Yards Co., on St. Etienne Street, and an agreement has been made with the latter company by which the new company will use its receiving pens.

It was expected that the new big plant will give a great impetus to hog-raising throughout the Eastern Townships, just as the packing plants west of Ontario built up a big industry in that section.

RECEPTION TO LOU SCHOLES.

Toronto, July 25.—(Special.)—Arrangements for the reception of "Lou" Scholes have been completed, and there will be an enormous crowd out to witness the landing parade, while the bay will be alive with all manner of craft, which will accompany the Niagara steamer from the eastern gap to Yonge Street wharf. The boat will arrive at five o'clock, and the parade to Queen's Park will take place at six. There the presentation will take place before an expected crowd of 20,000 people.

BRANTFORDS BEAT CHIPPEWAS.

Brantford, Ont., July 25.—(Special.)—The Brantford lacrosse match between the Chippewas of Toronto and Brantfords, played here Saturday, resulted 9 to 1 in favor of Brantford. The weather was raw and the ground was wet and slippery. In the first quarter Brantford made two and repeated the trick in the second, while Durkin tallied for the Chips. Half time found the score 4 to 1 in favor of Brantford. The home team got three in the third, and two in the last quarter. The Brantford team showed remarkable improvement as a result of the Minto Cup games, and will give the Tecumsehs a hard race for championship honors.

NEW CHWANG HAS BEEN EVACUATED

Russians Were Driven Back After an All Day's Fight.

New Chwang, July 25.—A battle took place yesterday east of Ta Tche Kiao, which resulted in the Russians being driven back, and it is believed they will have to retire to Liao Yang. The battle lasted all day.

Russians Evacuated New Chwang.

Washington, July 25.—Minister Conger at Pekin has cabled the State Department, under to-day's date, that he has been informed that the Russians to-day evacuated New Chwang. He also confirms the published reports of the sinking by the Validovostok squadron of a British steamer with a cargo consigned to "the American Trading Company."

Further Details of Fight.

Tien Tsin, July 25.—Information has been received here to the effect that the Japanese have not entered New Chwang. The Russian civil administration departed last night (Sunday), and the destruction of Russian Government property began this morning at the instance of the administration. The fighting reported yesterday took place between New Chwang and Ta Tche Kiao, and Japanese troops from Kai Chou were engaged. No engagement has taken place at Ta Tche Kiao.

Russians Unable to Advance.

Fusan, July 25.—The position of the Japanese centre and right is unchanged and the enemy is inactive, except on the left, where minor outpost affairs occurred yesterday. A movement will be made at an early date probably. I am unable to account for the delay in the advance, unless it is connected with operations against Port Arthur.

The Chinese report that Kuropatkin and 40,000 Russians are at Liauyang, while his second in command, with many men, is still at Haicheng. I still adhere to my former opinion that the Russians are unable to seriously oppose the Japanese advance.

Tokio, July 25.—The Vladivostok squadron was sigted twenty miles off Katsu Ura, in the prefecture of Shimosa, at seven o'clock this morning steaming slow east.

Katsu Ura, where the Vladivostok squadron was reported yesterday, is about 100 miles north-east of Cape Iro, and almost due east of Tokio.

COUNTRY CLUB REGATTA.

The Country Club at Dixie is already a strong factor in the social and athletic life of Montreal, and their regatta on Saturday, despite the unfavorable weather, was a great success. The events were well contested. Mr. Robertson was starter, assisted by Mr. Kennedy, of the Grand Trunk Boating Club. The four oared was one of the best ever witnessed on local waters. The Grand Trunk won.

In the evening there was a dance in the hall of the Country Club. The Royal Scots band supplied the music. Mr. Fulton, the manager of the Country Club, had every arrangement perfect, and much of the success of the regatta was due to his efforts. The results were:

Senior single—1, C. Boaz, G. T. B. Club; 2, A. McLean, G. T. B. Club; 3, G. Davidson, Lachine Boat Club.

Single scull shell—First heat—1, C. S. Waton, Country Club; 2, C. N. Fulton, Country Club. Second heat—C. S. Watson and Logan, tie.

Double scull—1, M. Logan and C. Lawson; 2, Smith and McLaren.

Senior tandem—1, Murriett and Brown, G.T.B. Club; 2, Marshall Bros., G.T.B. Club; 3, Davidson and Johnson, Lachine B.C.

Junior tandem—1, Smith and Fulton, Country Club; 2, Watson and Kerr G.T.B. Club.

Four-oared shell—1, Grand Trunk B. C. crew, C. Phillips, C. W. McLean, K. Andras, E. Murriette; 2, Country Club crew, D. Campbell, Dawson, M. Logan, B. Magor.

War canoe—1, Grand Trunk Boating Club canoe; 2, Country Club canoe; 3, St. Stephen's Club canoe.

PRIVATE PERRY'S VICTORY.

A few days ago all Canada was gratified to learn that Scholes, a Canadian, had beaten all opponents at the Henley rowing regatta. The news that another young Canadian, Private Perry, of Vancouver, has won the blue ribbon of the British shooting world—the King's Prize at Bisley—is a cause of even greater satisfaction, for the competition was keener, the interest more widespread, and the nature of the contest of perhaps greater moment to the well-being of the nation. Rifle shooting is to-day of more value, from the standpoint of the efficiency of the country's defence force, than any other part of our military system. Give Canada a large number of citizens able to shoot straight, and in times of emergency deficiencies in matters of regimental organization or military discipline will not be of much consequence. Perry's victory, even as Hayhurst's in 1895, will undoubtedly encourage rifle shooting, and in that way it will confer direct benefit on the country. But outside of that feature of the victory, all Canadians are glad that one of our boys has had the grit and the skill to take the premier position in the ranks of the Empire's rifle shots—the first time that such a position has ever been held by a native-born Canadian, Hayhurst, who brought the Queen's Prize to Canada in 1895, being an Englishman by birth. Perry has a creditable volunteer record, having been in the engagement at Paardeburg and being afterwards wounded in another encounter with the Boers. He appears to be a simple, manly chap, who has thrown himself whole-heartedly into the study and practice of rifle shooting, and by steady work, rather than through any natural aptitude or brilliancy, has made himself the crack shot of the Empire.

Private Perry, of Vancouver, Canada is proud of you.

THE WAR SITUATION.

The news from the seat of war foreshadows important happenings. The possession of New Chwang will mark an important epoch in the progress of the campaign. A reference to the map will show how strategically valuable it must be to the Japanese admiral in facilitating the aid he gives to the capture of Port Arthur, and what a relief it will be to the military commanders to have a supply base in such a valuable port and roadstead on the western side. Moreover, New Chwang is one of those treaty ports which have been such a boon to the world's commerce. In the hands of Japan it may be expected to be once more declared "open" with a better guarantee of its continuing so, and an impetus will be given to trade dislocated by the war. It seems to be the deliberate and consistent policy of Japan to bid for the support of Europe and the United States when the terms of peace really come up for settlement by showing that there will be far more of the "open door" as Japanese influence supersedes that of Russia in Manchuria and China proper.

As regards military movements the armies which now appear nearly ready to act in unison after gradually concentrating a scattered front of over 200 miles are three in number.

(1) That under Kuroki, which marched 100 miles from Kiu-lien-cheng, capturing the important Mo-tien-ling pass, from which the Russians have been making such desperate attempts to dislodge them.

(2) The army under Oku, which advanced 115 miles from Kiu-chan and after capturing the highlands near Kaiping, has reached the margin of the plain which lies before Liau-Yang.

(3) The army under Nodzu, which moved eighty miles from Taku-Shan, and has crowned the eminences of Hai-cheng by forcing the Fen-Shuiling pass.

The most serious menace to Kuropatkin lies in the further success of the first army, operating on his left wing, which not only threatens Liau-Yang, but given the necessary coalesced support by Nodzu and Oku, may menace the railway and retreat on Mukden.

The evacuation of New Chwang shows that the pressure of the Japanese armies is becoming active and uniform. If Kuropatkin risks a big battle he will have it in his favor that he can now cause the issue to be decided upon ground favorable to his superior cavalry for the first time: a defeat would, however, be a far more serious matter for him than for his opponents, who have only to fall back upon the mountain passes. In any case the evacuation of New Chwang would show that the Russian commander has no hope of making any serious diversion to aid the besieged in Port Arthur.

A GREAT SANITARY REFORMER.

The death of Sir John Simon, K.C.B., former president of the Royal College of Surgeons, and of the Royal Society, removes not only a great surgeon, but one of the leading authorities in the world on the subject of sanitary reform. He became senior assistant surgeon in the King's College Hospital in 1840, when only twenty-four years old. Seven years later he was appointed lecturer in pathology at St. Thomas', with which institution he was thereafter associated. He soon established a great reputation by his writings on pathology and therapeutics, and began to devote his best energies to the work of sanitary reform. Being appointed Health Officer of the city of London, he was practically the father of most of the important sanitary legislation of that period. He drained the city of London, abolished cesspools, intramural slaughter houses and sepulture in city churchyards, expelled malodorous manufactures, and labored heroically, if at the time somewhat vainly, for the purification of that big sewer, the Thames. He pointed out the true moral of the several visitations of cholera, with which London was afflicted between 1848 and 1855, and so created a public sentiment which compelled the Government to take necessary precautions. For twenty-one years he held the post of central medical officer and during that time presented a series of reports to the Privy Council, which may properly be described as invaluable. One of the most important of them was in defence of vaccination. A detailed account of his official career would be a history of the progress of hygienic reform in London for a space of fifty years.

PARTY FUNDS.

Astonishment is expressed by the Montreal Star at Mr. Monet's declaration that if he were again to be a candidate for Parliamentary honors he would have to depend to some extent upon the Liberal campaign fund, as he could not afford to defray the whole of the expense himself. Astonishment from such a source is more feigned than real. More than that, it is hypocritical, coming as it does from the men who in 1900 handled the Conservative campaign fund in this province. Who does not remember the famous telegram of that campaign, addressed to the Conservative candidate in Megantic:

"What are your needs?
"Hugh Graham."

Is the man who wrote that telegram now to sit in judgment on the Liberal party organization because it has a campaign fund? Are the managers of the Conservative campaign of 1900 entitled, by the use they made of the power assumed by them at that time, to assume that a campaign fund in the hands of Liberals is nothing but a corruption fund?

CANADIANS COMING BACK.

A despatch from Sherbrooke states that the trains are bringing in many French-Canadian mill-workers who are returning to Canada to live.

Their wages in the New England mills have been cut from 15 to 40 per cent., while in many cases the mills have been shut down altogether, owing to the depression in business.

The return of workers from a high tariff country to a moderate and sane tariff country is one of the object lessons of the day.

Under a high tariff business inflation is produced and balloon ascensions result. But the balloon comes down.

Canada has, and will, weather business storms better than the United States.

This is being proven now, and the lesson will be made still plainer in the next twelve months.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

Canada is with Laurier.

Judging by Bisley, the militia of Canada are not so inefficient as a noble lord would lately have had some people believe.

These rowing, shooting, bowling and athletic competitions in which our men participate upon the soil of the Motherland with cousins from Australia, New Zealand and remote corners of the Empire have a beneficial effect upon the Empire, unalloyed by any consideration of policy or self-interest, such as attend discussions as to Preferential Trade and Imperial Defence. The victories we have achieved this year will, it is to be hoped, stimulate a still more extensive development in inter-Imperial sports.

John Sandfield Macdonald, in 1862, at the time of the Trent affair, writing to the commanders of the militia in reference to filling vacancies in their regiments, said: "I must ask you to bear in mind not only the qualifications I have suggested as requisite, but that your recommendations shall not be in any way affected by party or political or other undue considerations." Evidently the gentlemen who attempted to make the Thirteenth Scottish Light Dragoons a Conservative organization had never heard of John Sandfield's letter.

There is reason to hope that the Malacca incident is closed, as Russia appears to have acknowledged the force of the British representations. To English ideas there was no escape from Russia's dilemma. If the St. Petersburg is a warship she ought not to have passed the Dardanelles; if she is a commercial vessel, she cannot commit belligerent acts without laying herself open to the charge of piracy. This was the main issue, not the question as to whether a Russian war vessel had, or had not, the right to seize a British merchantman suspected of carrying contraband.

The Toronto News, an independent journal, rebukes the Opposition for its factious attacks on the administration of the Department of Agriculture, made evidently for the purpose of discrediting, if possible, the Minister. This judgment is confirmed by the Conservative Montreal Gazette, the Ottawa correspondent of which says, in reporting Friday's session: "The discussion was prolonged for almost four hours, and was both dull and ineffective, much of it having as its object the worrying of the Minister, rather than the throwing of any light on the farms or their work." When the Opposition is condemned out of the mouths of its friends, it must have canted a good deal out of the plumb.

"The loyalty of Canadians is not called in question by the Dundonald incident. The issue is whether the militia is to be regarded as an agency for rewarding political friends or humiliating political opponents of the Ministers.—Toronto News.

Lord Dundonald, who gets credit for creating whatever issue may exist, abandoned this position long ago. In its place he propounded the proposition that the Government was indifferent to the needs of the militia, and as principal proof gave the withholding of part two of his 1902 report. In his Toronto speech he abandoned this position, by acknowledging that the main recommendations in that report had been adopted by the Government.

His Lordship has moved backward, from one position to another, so rapidly that the gentlemen who undertake to say what the current issue is have to wear seven-league boots.

The decision of the Finance Committee to suspend the publication in pamphlet form of the departmental reports may be justified on economical grounds, but it is certainly not in the interests of the city as a whole. For many years Montreal has exchanged reports with the large cities of the continent, and in this way an intelligent idea has been obtained of the new methods adopted in other places. If Montreal breaks the custom and ceases to supply other cities with reports, we can only expect a process of retaliation, and our civic departments will be deprived of the assistance that these reports always render. It is of little use to publish the city reports in the Municipal Gazette, a paper limited in circulation. And what head of a department would send away a copy of the Municipal Gazette in return for the neatly prepared reports of such cities as New York and Boston?

Another Blunder of the Opposition

(Toronto News (Ind.)

In branching off from the discussion of the Dundonald incident to make an attack upon Mr. Fisher's administration of the Department of Agriculture, the Opposition committed an obvious tactical blunder.

Mr. Fisher has made an excellent Minister of Agriculture. He has builded upon the foundations laid by his predecessors, as every minister does, but his work has been admirable in conception and in results. In a general way the country recognizes his competence. The farming community are aware of it by "the jingle of prosperity in their pockets," to quote Sir Wilfrid Laurier. Statistics of our exports testify to the judgment and energy of the minister. From that source abundant evidence can be produced to prove the efficiency of the department under his direction. But that evidence is more illuminating and convincing when it is analyzed. It will be found, for example, that the great increase in our exports of butter and the enhanced price obtained on the British market for our cheese is traceable, in some measure, to the improvement brought about by capable administration at Ottawa and in the provinces. By personal supervision from the factory in Canada to the consumer in Britain, Mr. Fisher has been able to detect the weak links in our commercial chain and strengthen them.

The very remarkable increase in our exports of food products during the past eight years did not come haphazard. Their was design in the work and policy of the department, which it is useless for the Opposition to attempt to discount. The minister was favored by the prosperous era that set in when he assumed office. He would not deny that. It must be admitted, however, by the candid student of our politics that to the adoption of an adequate system of cold storage, beginning at the butter factory, and continuing to the British retailer, must be attributed the growth of our export of butter from $1,052,089 in 1896, to $6,954,618 in 1903. In this one item alone, one that most intimately affects the prosperity of the farmers in the older provinces, is found proof of intelligent activity somewhere in the Department of Agriculture. It would be ungenerous and unfair, as it would be untrue, to say that the minister had no part in accomplishing that splendid development.

Other products of the farm show the same significant increase in export value. Our cheese, which has for years enjoyed a high reputation in Britain, is sold at half a cent a pound more when cooled in a curing room, as advised by the department. These facts are stated to illustrate the general tendency under the present administration. Others equally important, such as the improved facilities for the shipment of fruit, which has aided the grower greatly in marketing his crop in good condition; the special research of experts to find the best breed of hogs for the bacon trade; the removal of the American quarantine against our cattle that enabled us to sell 86,989 head of the value of $1,401,137 in 1900, where we sold only 577 head, worth $9,717, in 1896. A leading Canadian cattle dealer said the removal of the quarantine had added $10 a head to the value of the cattle of the Dominion. The poultry trade and other branches tell the same story of encouragement and development. With this record it is unwise for the Opposition to leave the strong position they occupy on the militia question and seek a conflict upon ground so surely held by the Minister of Agriculture.

A GOOD SERVANT.

At the centenary anniversary of Hawthorne's birth in Salem, Dr. Edward Waldo Emerson, of Concord, said, apropos of sympathy and compassion:

"I used to know an aged man servant whse heart was singularly kind. In him the quality of compassion, of sympathy, of pity was brought to nearly perfect development.

"This man was driving his master and me through the country on a certain winter day.

"As we approached a new house that the master was building, we saw an aged and bent woman peep forth at us from an unfinished window. She recognized us, and in a shamefaced way went slinking off. She had been taking a little wood. There was a bundle of wood under her old shawl.

"The master tugged excitedly at his servant's sleeve:

"'Jabez, Jabez,' he cried, 'do you see that old woman taking my wood?'

"Jabez looked with pity first at the old woman, and then with scorn at his master.

"'No, sir,' he said, stoutly, 'I don't see her; and, what's more, I didn't think that you would see her either."

BETTER AWAY.

[The "Neues Wiener Tageblatt" paints a lurid picture of the dangers to which visitors to St. Louis are subject, saying there are more criminals than exhibitors in the city, and that the police are incompetent to prevent robbery, assault and murder.]

I once had hopes I, too, might see
The Mississippi city,
And that its sights might yield to me
A subject for a ditty;
The "Neues Wiener Tageblatt"
Has laid its interdict on that!

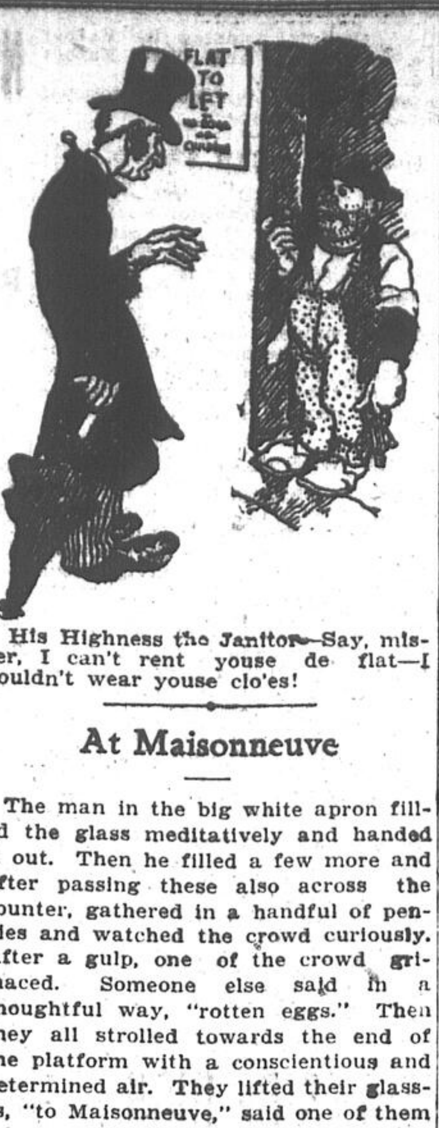
For in St. Louis' fatal streets
The unsuspecting stranger
With every passing moment meets
A more alarming danger,
And few, indeed escape the snares
Which take the heedless unawares.

Each morning brings its tale of woe,
Its murders by the hundred;
For there, where only vices grow,
The thread of life is sundered—
By gun or lasso, sword or knife—
Who steals not money takes a life!

And so I thank a kindly fate
(Though one disposed to grumble),
Though danger meets the rich and great,
There's safety for the humble,
Whose poverty, against their will,
Has kept them in Old England still.
—London Chronicle.

Great battles are really won before they are actually fought. To control our passions we must govern our habits and keep watch over ourselves in the small details of everyday life.

The habit of blaming others when things go wrong is an insidious and dangerous one. Far more is it to the purpose to inquire within whether the fault, or much of it, may not lie at home.



His Highness the Janitor—Say, mister, I can't rent youse de flat—I couldn't wear youse clo'es!

At Maisonneuve

The man in the big white apron filled the glass meditatively and handed it out. Then he filled a few more and after passing these also across the counter, gathered in a handful of pennies and watched the crowd curiously. After a gulp, one of the crowd grimaced. Someone else said in a thoughtful way, "rotten eggs." Then they all strolled towards the end of the platform with a conscientious and determined air. They lifted their glasses, "to Maisonneuve," said one of them solemnly, "and her sulphur springs," added another, and put their glasses to their lips. One gulp, two gulps, three gulps, and then one of them with a gesture of hopelessness held his glass out at arm's length and turned it upside down. "It tastes like the ——," said he, and then stopped with a glance at a ministerial form near him, "like rotten eggs," finished he. The others took another gulp, nodded, and followed his example. Then they went soberly back and ranged their glasses on the counter. "Fine stuff, old man!" said one of them to the white-aproned individual. The others chimed in. "Yes, a swell drink, that." The individual looked at them suspiciously. "Why don't you," said the first speaker "Why don't you people here in Maisonneuve make this a kind of Saratoga? Maisonneuve Springs sounds well. A kind of interesting summer resort, with an extra charge for the drinks. You have your Viauville and Riverside Parks, your beer gardens, your magnificent views on the river——" Here he stopped, for the look on the individual's face was not a happy one, and the whole crowd shoved their spokesman off the platform, crying, "what's the matter with Maisonneuve?"

They strolled along the street noisily. The music of a hurdy-gurdy could be heard in the near distance, and they followed it. Soon they stood in a miniature "Pike," where the swings were going, and moving pictures were to be seen, and a hurdy-gurdy took the place of orchestra, band and vaudeville performance. One of the crowd took his cigar from his mouth, and spoke in an absent way. "Let's swing, boys," said he, whereupon they made a rush for the boats, and clambered in. Back and forth, higher and higher they went, and noisier and noisier did they become. Then they got tired of it, and remarked that the swings could "go hang," if they liked, which remark pleased them immensely. They wandered down into Viauville Park, and decided to hire a boat for a row, but after getting down to the water, suddenly discovered themselves shaking hands with each other, without purpose or reason, and came to the conclusion the sulphur water had gone to their heads. "It's not wise," said their spokesman soberly, as he dropped two or three silver pieces unconcernedly into the water, thinking it was his pocket, "it's not wise to risk ourselves, since we do not know what possible effect this Maisonneuve water may have on one." The others agreed with him, and laboriously got back to the promenade and found their way to the street. They wandered up and down. They smiled in a silly way at all the girls. They remarked on the beautiful evergreen trees, and rustic seats before the hotels. They watched the river. They eventually got to Riverside Park. They stopped outside and looked questioningly at each other. "Shall we, or shall we not?" they questioned, and then headed for the entrance. One of them stopped. "Boys," said he, unsteadily, "better take next car home. Something about this spring water makes me queerish in my head." The others laughed, they guffawed, they commenced to sing "We won't go home till morning," with a gusto that brought a uniformed figure suddenly bearing down upon them. Then they all changed their minds. Of course they wanted to go home, and they headed for the corner on the other side of the street. They even hurried across, and wondered why it took them so long. They seemed to have so many hands and feet, that they would stop in wonder to count them. The conductor looked at them suspiciously, but decided they were harmless and even kept a straight face when the spokesman told him blandly, though huskily that Maisonneuve sulphur springs had a most peculiar effect on one.

They even forgot where to get off, and said "anywhere," quite unconcernedly in answer to the conductor's query, so he let them off near a cab stand, and said a few words to a cabman. "Yes," they said blankly, "they wanted to get home, but where was their home?" "Did cabby know?" Cabby didn't know, but he undertook to find out by relieving them of two or finally left them each on his own doorstep, vowing that he would sue the town of Maisonneuve for adulterating its sulphur springs. —Francis Daor.

ANOTHER COMPLAINT AGAINST HEALTH DEPARTMENT.

Editor Herald:

Sir,—In Friday evening's Herald "J. M." writes on "The Garbage and Gathering System." One thing I would like to add to his remarks, and which should be attended to without delay.

Not only in the district of flats is this garbage a public nuisance, but on the streets where some of our wholesale houses are situated. I mention those connected with butter, cheese and eggs, the last named being placed in barrels along with other rubbish, and left standing until the collecting cart arrives. Then comes the climax, when windows have to be closed and remain closed the entire day.

Fever? Smallpox? These are trifles in comparison to the foul air that one must inhale, and it is nothing short of miraculous that an epidemic or some loathsome disease does not break out in this vicinity. Health Department? Well, if there is such a department in Montreal, it certainly is no credit to the city, and I, for one, would like to hear or see some results of its work.

Sincerely yours,
C. H. R.

Spite is a little word, but it represents as strange a jumble of feelings and compound of discords as any polysyllables in the language.

The greater a man is the less he is disposed to show his greatness. True nobility of soul rises above and suppresses the love of show.—W. E. Channing.

Mark Guy Pearce

A large man with a kindly face, strong featured and earnest, with a certain humor withal, is this Mark Guy Pearce. His name is familiar to Montrealers. More than once has he spoken in our city, and seats have always been filled by those who came to hear him.

Last night was no exception. This London preacher, with his slight English accent, his marked personality, so long associated with the beloved Hugh Price Hughes, seems to have an attraction about him that draws all men to him.

He does not talk over the heads of his listeners, and he teaches an everyday Christianity. He knows life as he has studied it in the slums of London, and has realized the need of a practical religion, a gospel for the people.

He told the gathering at St. James last night the story of the fishermen, the toilers of the sea, in whose boat Christ slept, and upon whom the fierce storm broke and frightened. How Christ had wakened and stilled the waves, with his "Peace be still." He drew the picture of the sleeping Master, so human in His weariness, so like all human kind who get tired. He told them that it was a human Christ, who had a message for humanity in its daily work and sorrow.

"You come to church to hear about Him," said Rev. Mr. Pearce. "Do not go away without Him." The religion that did not last through the week, was not the religion of the Master, who had taught that faith which penetrated all daily duties.

A human Christ for humanity, is the keynote of Rev. Mr. Pearce's preaching. He draws his illustrations from homely bits of everyday life and experience, and he draws them cleverly. He is interesting. What is more he is sincere. He pleases the people, for his religion includes all of them.

The people who filled the church to the doors listened attentively, and even seemed regardless of the heat of the evening. When they came out they spoke appreciatively of the man and his words to them. Every-day people understand philosophy based on every-day facts. The world needs an every-day religion, based on every-day life. So the people appreciate a man who preaches an every-day gospel in every-day language. It ensures interested audiences to Mr. Pearce so long as he preaches to his people, not above them. It ensures a lasting welcome from his listeners.

—Francis Daor.

OUR GREATEST SCIENTIST.

Some interesting tales are told of Lord Kelvin's discoveries, and how the ideas of them have come to his quick mind. For instance, this is said to have been the way in which he found the mirror galvanometer. He was puzzling over the difficulty of perfecting the ordinary telegraphic apparatus used on overhead wires, which was not suited for the varying currents passing along cables. The lagging of the electric currents had the effect of making them run together into one bottom current, with surface ripples, which correspond to the separate signals of the message. The problem was how to invent a means of interpreting clearly and easily all the delicate fluctuations. One day Lord Kelvin's eyeglasses fell off and swung in front of the magnet, reflecting its movements, and instantly the idea of the mirror suggested itself. So a monocle has had a direct effect on science.

Thirty years ago an article appeared in "Good Words" from his pen on the subject of the mariner's compass. The second article did not follow, for in the interval Lord Kelvin had invented a far superior mariner's compass. That is one of the many cases where directly he has begun to investigate he has been led to improve.

When wireless telegraphy was still treated as a questionable discovery, Lord Kelvin sent a message from the Isle of Wight to Bournemouth to his old friend, the late Sir George Stokes, Lensfield Cottage, Cambridge. It was in the following terms: "Stokes, Lensfield Cottage, Bournemouth. This is sent commercially paid at Alum Bay for transmission through ether (1s) to Bournemouth, and thence by postal telegraph (15d) to Cambridge—Kelvin." Few things have interested the veteran teacher so much as the developments of wireless telegraphy since that experimental message of six years ago."

DROWNED AT BEAUMARIS.

Beaumaris, Ont., July 25.—A young man named Tait, aged 21, was drowned at Huntsville by the upsetting of a canoe. He had a young lady with him and she clung to the canoe until rescued. Tait was employed by Skitch, the tailor, and came to Huntsville on April 28 from Hamilton.

CORDASCO A CROWNED KING USED ITALIAN ROYAL ARMS

Labor Agent Again Severely Cross-examined—Memory Was Bad—He Said He Had Been Advised by His Counsel.

Antonio Cordasco, the "King of Italian Labor," had a very busy time before Judge Winchester on Saturday, explaining the methods by which he made money out of the supplying of Italian labor to the C.P.R. and other corporations. Incidentally the methods by which the Italians are brought to Canada, and made to pay good prices for the chance of a job were exposed in a far from favorable light.

Judge Winchester had secured a large amount of correspondence, advertisements and other documents in connection with Cordasco's business and scored the wealthy Italian unmercifully.

Cordasco's memory was far from satisfactory to the judge, who plainly intimated that he intended to get the facts no matter how long it took to get them. Cordasco was confronted with advertisements and "write ups" in Italian papers, lauding him as the friend of Italian labor, and stating that thousands of Italian laborers would be required in Canada this year. All these and numerous other matters of like import were attributed by Cordasco to his clerk, Mr. Ganni, until the judge became very satiric as to "poor Ganni again."

Other witnesses were Mayor Laporte, Italian Consul Count Mazza, who testified as to the trouble from the overimportation of Italians. Ganni himself was also called, and stated that all his correspondence was done on Cordasco's instructions.

Mayor Laporte explained the efforts he had officially made to have the many needy laborers fed. He said Detective Charpentier had informed him there were 2,000 able Italians in the city, while more were expected. He was also informed that under the conditions in which the Italians were brought out the situation was decidedly dangerous, although the Italians were of a peaceable disposition.

AGENCIES CAUSED TROUBLE.

He had tried to help the situation by asking the railways to employ the Italians direct, but the companies could not consent to this.

A report was also read from the Italian consul, saying he had tried to stop this intolerable immigration from Italy, but it still kept on.

To Judge Winchester the Mayor said 600 men came here from Italy via New York, these being largely the destitute men. Most of the destitute men came from Italy, not from the United States.

Did you ascertain what induced them to come from Italy?

Yes; I understand the trouble is principally caused by giving work through the labor agencies to those who had made the deposit first, and who were interested in bringing them out.

Well, I had the names of railway labor agents who brought out a large number of men. One said he wanted 10,000 men, Cordasco said this about June 2nd. He came to my office when Ald. Gallery was present, and said the men had plenty of money. This did not agree with my information.

And you found that statement incorrect?

From the information of the Montreal police, and the Italian Immigration Society, I knew it must be incorrect.

CORDASCO'S BAD MEMORY.

Antonio Cordasco, the Italian labor agent, was then recalled, and put through a severe examination by the Judge.

He produced a statement showing that he had registered sixty-three for jobs as foremen, the regular toll being $10 apiece, although some of them had not paid up.

You have given credit for only $465. Is it right that 3,910 laborers applied?

Yes.

And you got from them $5,356.

A. Yes; some people paid $1, some $3.

What did you charge the C.P.R.?

A. I did not get a cent.

What did you charge them?

A. A dollar apiece. I don't care whether they pay or not.

Oh, yes you do. You are not so liberal as that. You charged them $5 a day to send them out men.

As to the provisions, Mr. Cordasco said he got them from a neighboring grocer named Spinaro, and had them sent to the trains of immigrants.

Did you ever show the C.P.R. your bills from Spinaro?

No; and they never enquired for them.

What profit did you charge?

I had a lot of extra charges for men to help, and had to add this to my charges. I had to be there myself.

Yes, and you got $5 a day for that.

A. Yes.

It is said you got 60 to 65 per cent. profit on these provisions? Mr. Burns shows you got 150 per cent. profit for sardines. Why did you hit sardines so hard?

I don't know. It was fixed so. If they said it was wrong I would stop it.

And last year you were paid by the C.P.R. $3,800 profits on these provisions? A. There is no money paid me, but I have charged the C.P.R. They would not pay.

TOLD NOT TO REMEMBER.

Judge Winchester then examined Mr. Cordasco as to whether he had ever called for 10,000 men. Cordasco, after some hesitation, admitted that probably he had.

Did you? A. I did in conversation.

When?

I said they might be needed.

The witness dodged questions, and the judge became very sharp in forcing him to an answer.

What did you actually say about it? A. Probably I said there would be work for 10,000 men.

But actually? A. I said from the C.P.R. I said I was sure there would be work for 10,000 men. I did not say I wanted them.

When did you see Stavelli—what are you beating about the bush for. I will get an answer if I stay here a month. Did you tell Stavelli you wanted 10,000 men? A. Never.

Now be careful. A. No; I did not tell him. I don't remember telling any of the agents I wanted 10,000 men.

Didn't you mention 10,000? A. I might have said that, but I don't remember it.

Now don't play with me, will you contradict a witness who says he heard you say that?

I don't remember it.

Has your lawyer told you to put in that word 'Remember.'

A. Yes; he has.

Now, don't be trifling with me that way, that is no way to get out of it.

A. My lawyer told me to use that word remember.

Cordasco said he had sent agents to the United States, but not to Italy.

PROFITS ON TICKETS.

It's like pulling teeth to get you to remember anything. Who sent Marsucci to Italy? A. I don't know who.

You are very innocent to-day. How much money did he pay for tickets?

A very heated argument followed, the judge scoring the witness most unmercifully.

Finally, it appeared that Bocancelli had shipped Italians from Naples to Montreal via New York, Cordasco getting $7 commission on each ticket.

Cordasco said he had lent Marsucci money; "not much, $380."

Bocancelio was a great friend of yours? A. No; no relation.

Oh, never mind that; was he a friend?

A. No, an honest man.

What did he charge these men for the tickets?

A. I don't know.

What's the use of saying that when you have already told me you knew he charged them $60 for the tickets, A. Or $75 or $80.

Why did you not tell me that. You knew I would get it out of you? A. I knew he would get $60 or more.

What did you do with Bocancelli.

A. He gave me a list of his men, and I put them on jobs with him as foreman. He had to repay me out of his and the men's wages. I lent him money on that idea.

He was to secure this money out of the men's wages? A. I had no idea. I trust he will be able to pay it back.

How much did you pay Bocancelli.

A. I don't remember.

Yes, you do. A.—Oh, yes; $380 he owes me.

Was the fee to come out of the wages?

The judge repeated this question in increasingly severe tones, the witness finally answering "Yes."

Exactly. He was to collect the men's wages for what they owed him, and so it would not take long to repay you this large sum? A.—That's what he said.

Cordasco admitted he had lent one Meiller $400 at 25 per cent. also.

So to get a job as foreman they have to owe you money? A.—Yes; I favor them. No, it's not that at all. If a man I find to be honest, I lend him money.

Have you collected for the men for the C.P.R.? A.—No, not at all; not that I remember.

Now, you take your lawyer's advice, and don't remember. A.—I swear I did not.

Letters were produced written by Cordasco's clerk Ganni, calling for 10,000 men, but the witness declared Ganni had not been authorized to send these out.

Further, Cordasco said some 100 men had been glad to pay him $4 to be booked for jobs, while about 200 more had paid $3 for the same privilege.

Clerk Ganni's list showed that also since last November 3,916 Italians had been registered at $1 apiece.

ADULATORY ARTICLES.

Cordasco stated that he owned a controlling interest in the Courrier del Canada. The judge read an article in this paper by one Scarroni, of Toronto, lauding Cordasco to the skies as the friend of Italian labor in Canada, a philanthropist, and "friend awaiting all Italian emigrants," etc. Cordasco denied having ordered this article, saying he had allowed it to be published, but had simply laughed at it.

The judge then produced a letter from Cordasco to Scarroni, gently disclaiming so much praise, but advising Scarroni that he must not praise him (Cordasco) so much as a capitalist, etc., but might write more about the C.P.R. works, of which he (Cordasco) was the sole labor agent.

A special article in the Courrier del Canada from New York was also read, sharply criticising the Italian Immigration Society, Mr. Cordasco saying that the society, like everybody else, was interfering with his business.

Mr. Cordasco admitted having put in an ad. in the Patria Italiano for thousands of men, which the C.P.R. paid for.

Mr. Cordasco also described a celebration arranged by a number of his foremen admirers when they had jubilated greatly over him and presented him with a huge gilt crown and profuse bouquets, floral and ornamental, and a fully illustrated description of this event had appeared in Cordasco's paper.

The witness readily translated an advertisement of Labor Agent Dini's, calling for 10,000 men.

Another of his own was published, as an important notice to the "army of the pick and shovel," with Cordasco's picture over it, and in wonderful language advising them to register in Mr. Cordasco's books at $1 per, or when they came to Canada they would run their hands through their hair, and call Mr. Cordasco "Lordship" and "Don Antonio," etc., but would be left out in the cold, while those registered would get good jobs.

The court was convulsed with laughter as this wonderful composition was read, and Mr. Cordasco said the inevitable "Ganni" was responsible for it.

Honore Gervais, M.P., was also called, and corroborated Mayor Laporte's evidence as to the influx of needy Italians last spring.

CONSUL CONDEMNS AGENTS.

The Italian Consul, Count Francesco Mazza, was the next witness. He told of the trouble during the spring, when between four and five hundred Italians had landed in Montreal. These men had been brought out without his approval, and twice he had cabled the Italian Government to stop the wholesale exportation. To prevent the abuse of Italian immigrants he suggested the stopping of all agencies who made money out of the immigrants, and he had made representations to the Italian Government along those lines.

He had complained to his Government of Mr. Cordasco's letters, and done all he could to prevent the inrush of needy Italians, many of whom had mortgaged their little properties to come here. The Italians, he thought, were largely smuggled through a town called Chiassa and shipped to Canada via Antwerp. The Italian Government tried to stop such emigration.

MISTAKES IN FIGURING.

Cordasco was then recalled, and cross-examined by the judge as to some apparent discrepancies in his evidence, he having stated that he had only registered nine men during July.

I should say it was more like 100, said the judge.

Mr. Ganni here came to help the witness, who read a number of names.

Why did you say you registered only nine? A. Well, I misunderstood you. The rest registered afterwards.

And you registered sixty-four on July 4th. Why do you say this, when you registered several hundred in July? A. That is a mistake.

Of course it is a mistake. I will find out, if I keep on for months. These are all $3 men, too. How many $4 men are there? A. About 400.

Go higher. A. There are 406 by my books. I go by them. There are 186.

The Judge—Go higher still. Look at the last page. What are these? A. There are over 200. My man does not put them down right.

The Judge—Now, these statements only say so many, while the records say over 114 have recorded twice and paid $4. A. I am ready to repay it if they want it.

The Judge—From 8th to 12th of July you have got $1,200. A. Yes, and if they want it back they have only to ask for it.

The Judge—Oh no, you don't give much back. How much have you given back yet? A. I cannot remember now how much.

The witness tried to explain through Ganni, when the judge said: "Oh, that's only your excuse. You are getting out through Ganni."

Witness—Oh, that's all right."

His Honor—Oh, it's not very much all right yet."

Several questions more were asked, to each of which were replied. "Oh, Ganni did that."

The Judge—"Oh, poor Ganni."

On being asked by what right he used the Italian royal arms on his letters, Cordasco said if the court desired he would drop it.

"That is not the point," declared Judge Winchester. "Did you not use it so as to make these poor people believe you were connected with the Italian Government?"

Manager Coudorie, of the Italian Immigration Aid Society, was recalled. To Mr. Mowat he said he had informed the C.P.R. that Cordasco was charging the men fees, contrary to his agreement, and had mentioned specific cases, telling Superintendent Burns of a foreman who had been charged $25 for his job. The witness had been roughly received by Cordasco when he tried to investigate, and the matter was finally compromised.

"POOR GANNI" TESTIFIES.

Antonio Ganni, Cordasco's much-quoted clerk, was next called.

He stated he had been secretary and general assistant to Cordasco for nine months past at $45 a month.

He declared that in matters of correspondence he always acted on Cordasco's instructions. He could not remember being instructed to call for 10,000 men, but had often heard Cordasco say he needed that number.

After some further questioning, Mr. Ganni admitted that the call for 10,000 men was a standing instruction.

On being examined by the Judge, Mr. Ganni remembered one occasion, on July 1st, when a consumptive young Italian begged Cordasco for his money in order to return to Italy, but was refused by the labor agent.

As to the receipts of the labor agency, Mr. Ganni said since the first of the year $6,121 had been received from the Italians and $700 from the C.P.R. These sums were entered, but other moneys were received of which no record was kept.

Frank Jeffrey, Cordasco's office boy, heard his employer tell Pisterino, of Boston, that he wanted 10,000 men. He also testified to a daily correspondence between Cordasco and Special Agent Burns, of the C.P.R.

Several Italians were called, and said they had paid various sums to Cordasco without securing jobs.

FAIR FOLKS.

Don't Blame Nature But Investigate.

Many claim they are nervous "by nature" when it is really only because they are slaves to the coffee or tea habit, and this is easily proved by cutting out the coffee or tea for ten days and using well-boiled Postum Food Coffee instead—then comes the change.

"I seemed endowed by nature with a nervous constitution," says a lady of Knoxville, Tenn., "and although I felt tea and coffee were bad for me the force of habit was so strong, I just couldn't give them up.

"Someone suggested that I try cereal coffee, but I remembered what insipid drinks we used under that name during the Civil War, and so without ever looking into the subject or realizing what progress science has made in this direction I just wouldn't give Postum a trial until finally the W.C.T.U. in our city started an exchange where there were so many calls for Postum it was served regularly, and many were thus induced to try it, myself among the number. How delighted I was to find it so agreeable, delicious and satisfying. As I had suffered from nervous prostration a change from tea and coffee was imperative, but all these troubles disappeared ater I had used the Postum faithfully for a few weeks.

"A sister and a son-in-law were converted to Postum at the same time and now we all enjoy it as well as we ever did coffee, but instead of making us nervous like coffee, we enjoy steady nerves, sleep sound, and are in every way better for the change." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

This lady found what she thought was natural nervousness was only due to an acquired taste for coffee that is to some people a sure destroyer of nerves and health. Like her, anyone who cuts off coffee altogether and uses well-boiled Postum in its place will be greatly benefited after a few days, and the return to health is a joyful journey.

There's a reason.

A FOOD WITH SILVER SERVICE.

In reducing the very best elements of Canada's best wheat to the most nutritious and palatable form, Orange Meat has scored a distinct triumph among Canadian housekeepers. "We do not tire of it," says Mrs. T. Reid, Southampton, Ont. Aside from the merit of the cereal, your grocer will show you a coupon which is enclosed in every 15c package. These coupons, for the balance of the year, can be redeemed in heavy silver-plated tea and dessert spoons, handsome sugar shells and butter knives. The coupons give full information and directions concerning the premiums.

CANNOT FIND WORK IN THE UNITED STATES

Many Canadians Are Returning to Canada—Hard Times Across the Border.

Sherbrooke, Que., July 25.—(Special.)—There is an unusually large number of French-Canadians who have been employed as mill operators in the mills of the New England States, passing through Sherbrooke, lately over the I. C.R., they state that since spring a reduction in their wages has taken place to the extent of from thirty to forty per cent., but the most serious feature is that many of the mills are closing down, while ohers are cutting down the number of employes. Finding that labor is plentiful in Canada they are returning to where they can be sure of work and good wages.

PAINS CAUGHT ME IN THE BACK

Kidney Disease Made a Cripple of This Man Until He Used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Mrs. J. Lessard, 150 Aqueduct Street, Montreal, Que., states:—"My main trouble was with my back, which was very weak, and whenever I stooped I could hardly straighten up again on account of the severe pains which would catch me in the small of the back. Believing that my ailment was caused from deranged kidneys, I began a course of treatment with Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and to-day I am all right again. The medicine seemed to act directly on the kidneys, and as a result improved my health generally. The distressing pains in my back have entirely disappeared, and I feel real strong and well.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. To protect you against imitations, the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous recipe book author, are on every box.

PHYSICIANS ASK AID FOR INFANTS

Committee of New Organization Issues an Appeal to the Public.

The following special letter on infant mortality is from the new organization to combat it.

Montreal, July 25.

Editor, Herald:—

Dear Sir,—The heavy infant mortality and the still larger infant sick list of Montreal during the summer months, have for many years been the subject of much thought to the medical profession, the members of which have thus far striven without much avail to combat the causes responsible for them.

While they recognize as important factors in this unfortunate death and sick rate the faulty hygienic conditions existing in many dwelling houses, which can only with difficulty be improved, the irregular and injudicious feeding of the infants due to lack of care and knowledge, they consider the most important and remedial cause to be the difficulty, almost impossibility, for those living in the more congested portions of the city to obtain daily a pure wholesome milk supply, uncontaminated by the myriads of bacteria which during the summer months so readily find in milk a medium in which they develop with a rapidity scarcely to be credited, and which not only by their presence but also by the toxines which they produce render milk poisonous to the infant.

At a meeting of a few medical men specially interested in the diseases of infancy, it was resolved to make another effort to remedy this most potent source of trouble. Pure fresh morning's milk is to be obtained under conditions as efficient as possible to prevent contamination; is to be so modified as to render it acceptable to the individual infant's digestion, and is to be supplied in the amount required for the daily use of the infant in absolutely clean bottles, each containing sufficient for one feeding.

The intention is not to come into general competition with dairymen or others supplying milk, but, recognizing the difficulties with which the poor have to contend during the hot season in procuring the milk sufficiently fresh and free from contamination to serve as a food for infants, they hope to establish depots where, on the order of any physician or nurse, pure or modified milk, suitable to the need of the sick or enfeebled infant, can be obtained either at cost price or below it according to the circumstances of the family.

To begin with these depots are to be started in the four districts where the necessity for a pure milk is most imperative, in the north, in the east, in the south and in the west. In the last district the Montreal Foundling and Baby Hospital is going to continue the good work which it has been doing for the past two years. At the same time leaflets containing simple directions to mothers on the care and feeding of the infant, are to be issued for distribution.

To carry on this work effectively will require money. The depots have to be equipped with modifying materials and with ice; special precautions have to be taken with the supply of milk, of which an examination should be made with more or less regularity to ensure its being kept up to the standard; and a lady superintendent must be in attendance at every depot qualified to modify the milk and look after its distribution, to see to the sterilization of bottles, etc. The City Council, considering the importance of the work, in view of the heavy infant mortality, has donated $500. Probably, at least, as much more will be required.

Can we appeal to you, Mr. Editor and to your readers, to assist us in this urgent work which is to be carried on irrespective of race or creed, and to enable us to lighten the heavy mortality list and save the helpless infant?

UNIFORM RULES FOR CANADIAN RAILWAYS

Railway Commission Has Under Consideration Adoption of One Set of Rules.

Ottawa, July 25.—(Special.)—The railway commission has under consideration the adoption of one set of rules for operating railways all over Canada. At present almost every railway has got rules of its own and this causes confusion and sometimes accidents. The intention is to have a conference of all the railway companies and discuss the question after which the result will be submitted to the commission and have one rule book adopted.

COMMENCING SATURDAY, JULY 16TH, AND ON EACH SUCCEEDING SATURDAY UNTIL FURTHER NOTICE, THE CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY WILL RUN A SPECIAL SUBURBAN TRAIN TO VAUDREUIL, LEAVING WINDSOR STATION 12.30 NOON, STOPPING AT WESTMOUNT, MONTREAL JCT., GOLF LINKS, DORVAL, VALOIS, LAKESIDE, POINTE CLAIRE, BEACONSFIELD, BEAUREPAIRE, BAIE D'URFE, AND ST. ANNES, ARRIVING VAUDREUIL 1.10 P.M. RETURNING, WILL LEAVE VAUDREUIL 2.40 P.M., STOPPING AT INTERMEDIATE STATIONS NAMED ABOVE, ARRIVING AT WINDSOR STREET STATION 3.30 P.M.

BESIEGED WITH PROPOSALS.

Heroine of the Slocum Disaster Has Rejected 1,000 Offers.

New York, July 25.—Mary McCann, seventeen years old, who, although only three days out of a hospital at North Brother Island, saved six persons from drowning, after they had jumped from the burning steam General Slocum, has appealed to the postal authorities on North Brother Island to help her with the enormous mail arriving for her each morning. Since the testimony at the coroner's inquest established the fact that Miss McCann was a heroine, she has received more than 1,000 letters, containing as many offers of marriage. There are offers from young men and old men, from bachelors and widowers.

The girl refuses to consider the sentimentalists, however, and declares she will receive no more mail unless the offers cease.

VICTORIA ORDER OF NURSES.

Toronto, July 25.—The annual meeting of the Toronto branch of the Victorian Order of Nurses tok place Saturday. Mr. D. R. Wilkie, honorary treasurer, announced that the home of the order in Toronto was now free from all encumbrances, and the sum of $3,750 having been collected and applied in liquidation of the liability. He also stated that through the efforts of the Countess of Minto the sum of $52,500 was subscribed in the city to the Cottage Hospital fund, of which $32,000 has been collected already. The old officers were re-elected.

TREATY WILL BE SIGNED AT LHASSA

Col. Younghusband Refused to Give Up Object of Mission.

Nagastse, July 25.—The British Thibetan expedition has arrived here. The peace delegates were met by mounted infantry, which halted to receive them, but upon seeing a large convoy escorted by mounted Thibetans, the British went back. They were attacked, however, and a sharp skirmish ensued. Later the delegates conferred with Col. Younghusband, the leader of the expedition. They said they had come finally to make peace. They asked that the British return to Gyang-tse to discuss terms, adding that a treaty signed at Lhassa could not be lasting, as Lhassa was a purely religious city, and was not concerned in civil affairs. Col. Younghusband replied that he only decided to go to Lhassa after giving the Thibetans repeated extensions of time to treat while the expedition was en route.

The treaty, he declared, must now be signed in Lhassa.

He consented to discuss the terms while the expedition was en route to the capital. It depended upon the Thibetans, he said, whether there was any more fighting. In conclusion, Colonel Younghusband informed the delegates that he did not wish to prolong his stay in Lhassa. At a second conference with the Lhassa delegates there were no developments. The delegates said they might find Lhassa empty. They were not responsible for outbreaks on the road.

The expedition is now less than seventy miles from Lhassa.

BULL AND TIGER FIGHT.

Animals Were Goaded to Fight, and a Panic Ensued.

San Sebastian, Spain, July 25.—Ten thousand Spaniards and foreigners witnessed a fight here between a bull and a tiger. The fight took place in a large cage in the centre of the bull ring. The bull charged twice, but the tiger crouched so low that he escaped unhurt. Then the brutes refused to fight and the spectators became so excited that squibs, firecrackers and spikes were used to goad the animals to fury. These failed, the bull bellowing piteously and the tiger crouching. Men then entered the arena and goaded the animals until the bull charged again, literally driving the tiger through the door of the cage, where the exhausted animal lay on its back. A panic ensued and the people fled.

Noorna Will This Year Defend Seawanhaka Cup on Lake St. Louis

She Had a Close Race for the Honor With the Thorella.

(For other Sporting see page 8.)

Noorna has been chosen to defend the Seawanhaka Cup against the challenge of the White Bear Yacht Club of St. Paul, Minn. This choice was arrived at on Saturday after an all day's series of trials, the committee making the announcement aboard the club steamer after the racing.

Having raced the trio, Noorna, Aeolus and Thorella together in twelve races, out of which Noorna had won six, the committee went about it on different lines for the fifth series of trials, sending the two crack crews about two boats, at a time. There were three races, Noorna winning two over Aeolus and Thorella winning her race over Noorna.

Although the members agree that the choice of the defender is the best, there is a feeling among some that Thorella would do better, but Mr. Sherwood, as designer of all three should know and the members are quite content to stand by his decision. Thorella is a favorite of known qualities, while, as Mr. Sherwood says, Noorna has yet to show her best form. She has not yet been tuned up to such a fine pitch as Thorella, her hull having the usual roughness of a brand new boat.

When the announcement was made, the club members gathered round Mr. Drummond and showered upon him their congratulations.

In the races to test the boats Noorna fully demonstrated her superiority over Aeolus, which has not the stability or the power of Noorna, while between Noorna and Thorella there does not appear to be any marked difference at the present time. In windward work, which is undoubtedly the real test of a boat, Noorna has shown herself to be exceptionally stiff and able to stand up with Thorella, which is at her best in a blow, although this year the boats have not been out in a really stiff breeze which is a pity as it would have given a display of Noorna's powers. It is known what Thorella can do in that direction and it would have been more satisfactory to have seen the new boat in a good stiff wind with, say, a couple of reefs in.

NOORNA QUALIFIED.

However, Noorna seems to possess the all round qualifications required for a defender and will, no doubt, do her full shares towards keeping the Seawanhaka Cup within the four walls of the club house at Dorval.

Saturday was not so pleasant as the previous trials, and from Dorval it appeared that the committee would have to whistle for the wind, but once outside, a little breeze was found on the lake. A nasty rain fell during the day, making it most unpleasant for everyone aboard the club steamer. Red noses and shivers being the general order of things, and it was with pleasure that the order "Home" was received after the races.

On the St. Louis, with the trio in tow, getting away from the shelter of the land, it was found that there was a fair breeze from the north, which afterwards freshened from that point and then veered round and during the remainder of the day shifted between north and east, being usually north-northeast.

For the first races it was decided that Aeolus and Noorna should try conclusions; and accordingly they had the two trials over the triangular course from the buoy of Pointe Claire. Mr. Drummond was aboard Noorna and Mr. Routh took Aeolus. Although he gave her a splendid race and in the windward work held her up in better shape than she had shown in any previous race, Noorna won, but only by a narrow margin.

For the second race, over the same course, Mr. Routh took Noorna and Mr. Slaughter boarded Aeolus, with the result that the latter was badly defeated. At the conclusion of the second race, the crews went aboard the St. Louis and partook of a well earned luncheon.

Having thoroughly tried Aeolus in the morning, it was decided to leave her out of the afternoon's trials and Thorella and Noorna fought it out. The third race was one of the prettiest ever seen on Lake St. Louis and afforded the critics a better chance of judging than either of the morning races. There was a good breeze blowing and at times there were some pretty strong puffs that heeled the pair over until the lee rail was awash. Mr. Routh had the Noorna and Mr. Drummond the Thorella. Both were sailed to their utmost limit and made a keen contest from start to finish. Thorella's elapsed time was twenty-five seconds less than Noorna's. It was this race that created the impression that Noorna was not superior to Thorella, but it is only natural that Mr. Sherwood should desire a new boat to defend the Cup. Herreshoff did not like it when Columbia was chosen over Constitution to defend the America Cup in 1901. Like Herreshoff, Mr. Sherwood has brought the Seawanhaka type of craft to such a fine piece of perfection that improvement is almost impossible.

The following is a summary of the day's races:

First race, triangular.

Start.	1st buoy	2nd buoy	Finish.	Elapsed time.
Noorna
11.52.26	12.02.52	12.18.30	12.35.50	43.24

THE AMERICA'S CUP.

New York, July 25.—It begins to look as if we were to have another international yacht race in 1905, says a member of the New York Yacht Club. Sir Thomas Lipton is seriously considering the building of a new boat, and another British yachtsman, Mr. J. P. Coats, stands ready to furnish a challenge, if he does not. Lipton and Geo. L. Watson, England's foremost designer, are not very friendly, and the story goes that Watson only consented to draw up the plans for Shamrock II. after being directed to do so by King Edward, then Prince of Wales.

THE LIPTON CUP.

New York, July 25.—The regatta committee of the Brooklyn Yacht Club, after considering the protest made by Gilbert Ray Hawes, has unanimously decided to award the Lipton Cup to the little Rhody, C. F. Tillinghast, owner.

Dr. De Tersey White has returned to Montreal from Lac Charlebois, and has resumed his practice at 70 Cathcart Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Thompson, of Westmount, have left for a trip to the Thousand Islands, to spend a short holiday.

The engagement of Miss Lilian May Breuls, of Toronto, to Dr. W. Russell Cook, of Elmwood, is announced. The marriage will take place in August.

Miss Adelia C. Hills, Montreal, and Miss Nora A. de Lisle, Ottawa, are the guests of Miss Edna L. McOuat, Fernleigh Cottage, Sixteen Island Lake.

Mr. Turnbull, of Montreal, and his brother, who have ben cruising about since the middle of May, were visitors at the yacht club dance last week at Kingston.

The engagement is announced at Toronto of Miss Bessie Currie, daughter of Mr. Archibald Currie, to Mr. Robert J. McIntosh. The marriage will take place on Augut 18th.

Montrealers at the Chateau, Quebec, are:—W. J. Fisk, W. T. Mason and wife, J. Blaverhill, Misses Hayes, Mrs. J. R. Macgregor and child, Mr. and Mrs. M. Hersch, Paul F. Sise, B. L. Porteous, E. L. Norseworthy.

Dr. Geo. Fisk, Union Avenue, has returned from New York and Boston.

The marriage took place at eight o'clock this morning of Miss Meva Garneau, only daughter of Dr. D. Garneau, St. Denis Street, to Mr. Jerome Internoscia, advocate, of this city. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Bourassa, in the presbytery of St. Louis de France Church. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore her travelling suit of brown laura cloth with champagne trimmings and hat to match. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Internoscia left for St. Louis, and on their return will reside at No. 4 McGregor Street. The bride received many beautiful presents, among which was a gold locket studded in pearls and diamond pendant, the gift of the groom.

Lady Marjorie Gordon.

Canadians who have taken such a deep interest in the marriage of Lady Marjorie Gordon to Captain John Sinclair, will be pleased to hear her speech in answer to the presentation made to the bride and groom from the Scottish Liberal Association and the Scottish Women's Liberal Federation. Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, who represented the deputation, asked Lady Marjorie Gordon whether she had nothing to add to the observations made on her behalf—no corrections to make? To which she answered:

Sir Henry, I should like to add my very hearty thanks for the three magnificent presents we have received. We shall always be very proud of them, and it will always make us very happy to look at them and to use them. To me they represent a great deal; both of the past and of the future, because I know they mean the friendship of so many workers—a past friendship which I shall always value so much—and also a friendship which I hope to share with Captain Sinclair in the future, as I hope to share, in some way, in his work. I would especially thank Mrs. Lang-Todd for her words, and for the great generosity of the Scottish Women's Liberal Federation. Since I have grown to know them a little bit they have been very good friends of my own, and I should like to thank them for their constant loyalty and kindness to my mother, in whom I have an example I shall never be able to follow, but it will give me something to aim at. Especially do I thank you for your personal sympathy in my great happiness. As Captain Sinclair says, it makes more difference than anyone can know, and I am sure the Liberals of Scotland and all of you here cannot know better than I the truth of what Sir Henry said about Captain Sinclair and cannot realize better the very great good fortune that is given to me.

PIANO BOASTING.

Large firms rarely boast much of the quality of their pianos. They are so confident that they leave the boasting to the customers who buy from them. When you own a good piano, it is hard not to boast about it, particularly if it is a Chickering or a Heintzman & Co. C. W. Windsor, Ont.—A thunderstorm did a great deal of damage in Essex county, especially near the river. Lightning struck the home of Patrick Hanrahan, Glengarry Avenue, and the shock rendered Mrs. Hanrahan and her daughter unconscious for a time. The roof was partially demolished. Great damage is reported to crops in Sandwich West and Sandwich South.

THE GREAT RUBY

By T. W. Hanshew, Author of "The World's Finger," "The Mallison Mystery."

CHAPTER XIII. (Continued.)

Night shut in before Tredennis had got a quarter of the way across it, and it required all his watchfulness to keep the horse from stumbling into one of the many hundreds of rabbitholes dotting its uneven surface. About him everywhere the furze bushes crowded, black as night and sharp with countless thorns; through the bracken rabbits scurried with a strange uncanny sound and, dim with distance, droned the dismal deep-throated boom of the far-off sea. Overhead the flickering bats flapped silently their clammy wings and cheeped their little mournful thread of sound; in the darkness beyond an owl hooted eerily from the shelter of unseen trees, and with steady monotony there rose up from the wet and fragrant earth the ceaseless "poo-loop! poo-loop! poo-loop!" of the horse's hoofs, as man and animal forged ahead with scarce a star to light them on their way.

But, suddenly, a blaze of quick-coming, quick-going, light leapt out of the bushes before them, and flashed, orange-red, in their eyes; a sharp report followed swift upon its heels, and as the frightened horse reared and flung off its limp and bleeding rider, the echo of a gunshot rumbled away over the waste and frightened to flight the hooting owl.

CHAPTER XIV.

"A fine young fellow—a very fine young fellow indeed, Helen; I like him," was Sir Nigel's comment as Tredennis made his adieu and left them standing in the station tea-room with Abbas Luttrell. "I no longer wonder that you allowed yourself to become acquainted with him, for he is a gentleman through and through, and I quite believe that he is all he thinks he is. Good blood has a way of showing itself, and I am positive there is good blood in him."

"I thought you would say that, dad dear, when you came to meet him," said Helen in reply, a gratified smile curving her lips and adding attractiveness enough in all conscience. "I think, after what he has told us occurred at Hildon Castle yesterday, there can hardly be a doubt that his suspicions are correct in every particular."

Sir Nigel was of the same opinion; but as both he and Helen wisely forebore from making any allusions to what those "suspicions" really were while Abbas Luttrell was present, that worthy had of course no means of knowing what they were talking about; although he listened with all his ears, as the phrase goes, and was rather surly over being so absolutely ignored.

"I think it would be just as well if we were to start for the Cottage now, dad dear, if you are ready," said Helen presently, "for I am quite tired out after our long ride, and shall be glad of the opportunity to get into a tea gown and slippers. I suppose the vehicle you have brought," she added, turning to Abbas, "is in readiness to take us at once?"

"Quite in readiness, Miss Forrester."

"Thank you; then we will go to it without any further waiting. Dad dear, please pay for our tea, and let us go."

Sir Nigel complied with the request, and then he and Helen went out together in Abbas Luttrell's wake to the waiting vehicle, finding—in spite of that young man's assertion that it would not hold more than three—that it was a large, roomy conveyance (obviously hired for the occasion, since the equipment of the cottage boasted of nothing more dignified than a small dog cart), and that, in addition to this fact, it boasted both a driver and a groom.

Helen was about to make some remark relative to these discrepancies, when the remarkable swarthiness of the two attendants attracted her attention, and forced an unpleasant truth upon her.

"Don't betray any excitement, don't make any remark, dad, dear," she said, under her breath, as she pressed Sir Nigel's arm warningly; "but just look up quietly and notice the driver and the groom."

"Good heavens! a couple of East Indians!"

"Sh-h-h! not so loud. Yes, of course they are. We are in the hands of the Philistines and no mistake, dad, dear. There can't be any two opinions regarding Mr. Gideon Luttrell's little game now, I think. He really is 'a seeker after the ruby,' and he is putting us into safe hands, from his point of view—whilst he prosecutes his search for it. Sh-h-h! not another word. We don't want Abbas Luttrell to find out that we have noticed, or our liberty will be restrained as soon as we reach the cottage, and—who knows?—even worse may happen if we are not careful. We are dealing with a race of assassins, dad, dear, and we must be as wise as serpents."

"Oh, this is awful!" said Sir Nigel in a scarcely audible voice, and with a face like the face of a dead man; then he put his arm about Helen's waist and held her close and whispered in her ear as he helped her into the waiting vehicle, "Don't be afraid, Helen; the old dad's here, my precious girl."

She did not reply in words, merely gave him a look that told him plainly she was a soldier's daughter, and laughed reassuringly as the Indian driver chirruped to the horses and drove away from the station. But her look had said as plainly as words could have done, "Stratagem is the card to play now. Remember, Jack Tredennis is coming to-morrow, and if we throw these people off their guard, we can easily get him to see that Gideon Luttrell never leaves the Chase with the Great Ruby, if he finds it."

Meantime the carriage rushed on, up the streets of Penvarney and out into the farm districts beyond, and so, by rapid stages, to the lonely section where the Cottage lay, deep set in a wooded hollow, with a stretch of wild waste land spreading out before it, a thick plantation behind and, to the west, a far-off glimmering sheet of silver blue that was the sea.

The twilight had been steadily fading as they drove along, and it had sunk down into a wan grayish something, that was neither light nor dark, and yet partook of the elements of both, by the time they reached Lonewood Cottage, and reined in before the little red-tiled creeper-covered wholly isolated house that was Helen's heritage from her dead-and-goone mother. The sound of the wheels upon the gravel brought old Margery Millet and her daughter to the door, and presently Helen was in the arms of her old nurse.

WHITAKER WRIGHT'S EPILOGUE.

London, July 25.—The epilogue of the Whitaker Wright tragedy was spoken by an auctioneer at Tokenhouse yard. He recited the wonders of Wright's palace at Lea Park, its pleasures, wood and chain of little lakes, its glass room under the lake, rubbed by the tails of skimming fishes, and the great marble fountain, part of which is still in packing cases, but the audience was unmoved. Minutes passed, and no bid was made. At last some one offered £90,000.

"The wall round the estate cost £37,000," said the auctioneer.

Very slowly the bidding rose to £145,000. Then the property was withdrawn and Wright's desolate monument will continue to stand in the fairest part of Surrey.

BAD TRAIN WRECK AT OWEN SOUND

Engine Pushed by Heavy Train and Could Not Stop.

Owen Sound, July 25.—The worst railway wreck ever experienced on the Owen Sound division of the Grand Trunk Railway, occurred Saturday afternoon, when locomotive No. 490, was forced over the end of the rails, plowed up three hundred feet of macadam roadbed and finally buried herself in the west side docks, almost touching the schooner Ida Ilsen. Five mail cars of a train of twelve followed up the engine and piled themselves up in an indiscriminate mass of twisted trucks, broken timber and mail.

The wreck was prefaced by one of the most hair-raising runs ever experienced by a railroad crew. The train, consisting of engine 490, twelve cars heavily loaded and a caboose, in charge of Conductor Kee, developed a high rate of speed on the grade near Ben Allen, a station five miles out of Owen Sound.

The engineer, H. Brown, of Palmerston, whistled for down brakes. The brakes would not work, and from then on the train rushed wildly and helplessly at a high rate of speed down the grade towards Owen Sound. The engineer reversed the throttle, but the weight of the train and the momentum made this utterly useless. The engine was being pushed by the train.

The train swept into the yard and flashed past the depot. Fireman Wm. Johnson jumped at the last switch. At the end of the rails the engineer jumped also and the locomotive plunged across the roadway and buried herself in the dock at the side of the big schooner Ilsen. That no one was killed is a remarkable fact.

EASTERN TOWNSHIPS NEWS.

Sherbrooke, July 25.—(Special.)—Mr. Frank Grundy, general manager of the I.C.R., has been appointed vice-president of the road. Many are pleased to see that his able management of the property has been recognized by the directors.

A meeting of the Fenian Raid Veterans will be called shortly for the purpose of forming an association to join with the other associations in the Province in waiting upon the Government for the same recognition as was given the veterans of Ontario by the Ontario Government.

At a meeting of the directors of the Brompton Pulp and Paper Company, it was definitely decided to proceed with the erection of a paper mill. The daily average at the pulp mill is eighty-five tons.

Rev. E. Chartier, son of Mr. E. Chartier, of the Inland Revenue Department, Sherbrooke, has passed the examinations of Doctor of Philosophy. Mr. Chartier has been studying at the Canadian College in Rome, and will now proceed to Lille, France, to study French literature before returning to Canada.

MORMONS IN TORONTO.

Toronto, July 25.—(Special.)—There are four Mormon elders in town: They have been here since July 12. They came in before the parade and have been here ever since. Their mission is to gather adherents to the parent church. They will remain here till November, when they, with fourteen others, will attend a convention at Albany N. Y. The four elders are: Le Roy Boreu, in charge; John O'Garfield, R. J. Stone, A. O. Durant. There are seventeen saints within seventeen miles of Toronto. On August 1, five new ones will be baptized, four at Richmond Hill and one at Toronto.

QUICK OCEAN MAIL DELIVERY.

New York, July 25.—Vernon H. Brown, the New York agent of the Cunard line, received a cable despatch stating that the record for the delivery of New York mail at London has been broken through the agency of the SS. Campania. The Campania, which sailed from this port on July 16, delivered its mail, by way of Queenstown, in London at seven o'clock this morning, allowing it to be sent out on the eight o'clock delivery. This breaks the best scheduled time by about three hours, and the average time by about four hours.

TRIBUTE TO FRANKLIN M'LEAY.

London, July 25.—The Daily Mail, in a eulogy of Wilson Barrett, say that his limitations as an actor did not prevent him recognizing the talent of others. The best of his proteges was, undoubtedly, Franklin McLeay. Mr. Barrett took him out of a Canadian university, where he was a professor, and in a few years he stood among the great ones of the London stage.

DIDN'T KNOW IT WAS LOADED.

Napanee, Ont., July 25.—Another distressing gun accident, the result of pure boy carelessness, happened on the farm of John Fields, about three miles from Napanee, the victim being Miss Pensy Warner, the fourteen-year old daughter of Wellington Warner of North Fredericksburg. The charge, which was buckshot took effect in the girl's shoulder and breast, but will not prove fatal.

COMPLETE NEWS OF ALL THE SPORT

Big Crowd Sees the Birds Give Away the Game Through Errors

Rain Held Up Something That Looked Like a Win Saturday.

RAIN spoiled everything Saturday.

After the sensational games of the week the biggest crowd of the season was looked for, and Tom Martin expected to have money to feed to the pigeons.

As it was 2,100 umbrellas passed through the gate and were hoisted while the teams played an inning and a half.

The game was stopped and might have gone on, but Hugh Jennings was afraid of getting his feet wet.

In the few brief moments they had at their disposal the Birds showed a disposition to give Pitcher Wiltse, of Oysterville, the time of his life.

Gibson ripped off a three-bagger, Le Roy bunted safely, Walters rapped a safe one, and Bill Clancy was at the bat.

It looked like an array of at least 140 runs when Sullivan called the game.

The Baltimore bunch came in smiling.

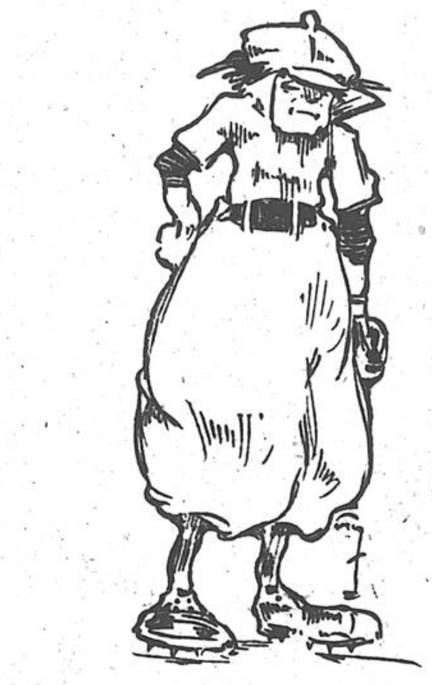
When the half hour wait was up it was still drizzling, but Jennings said it was the heaviest rain storm he had ever seen.

So as Jennings refused to play owing to the fact that he might get spots on his lily white uniform, Sullivan came out and made signs to the crowd that it was all off.

The fans denounced the luck, the weather man and everybody else they could think of and went home.

The crowd at the Shamrock grounds yesterday must have been close to the 4,500 mark.

The mysterious part of baseball is that the big crowds see the poor games and the small crowds the good ones.



Mr. Jordan, of Baltimore, has a Distinctly New Shape—He Wears His Belt Up Around His Chest.

Yesterday's entertainment was slower than an ice waggon.

The fans had very little vocal work to do, as when the time came for the Birds to pull off a last winning rally and win the game the sluggers were not there with the needful.

With the score four to one against them "Dutch" Hartman made a two-base hit, but the others expired peacefully, and in impressive silence, leaving the able "Dutch" indignantly stranded at the second cushion.

Wiltse, Baltimore's pitching artist with the hatchet face, was the same gentleman who escaped a terrible slaughter Saturday.

Wiltse pitched a very good article of ball and felt pretty chesty around about the sixth inning when he saw things were coming his way.

Hiawatha Leroy also delivered an excellent line of goods for the Birds, and was not hit as hard as Wiltse.

But Leroy suffered from support that was at times decidedly on the yellow.

Dyer was found slumbering at the switch, Atherton juggled a ball for a fraction of a second that proved costly, while Gibson at a critical moment slipped gracefully on his neck at the plate, allowing a throw of Clancy's to roll to the fence.

Bill got the error for this from the scorers, although he hardly deserved it.

A passed ball also figured in the tragedy.

So with perfect support Leroy should have captured the game.

Our one and only came in the second inning, when Atherton biffed one over the little fence for two sacks and scored on a drive of Joyce's that Jennings made a leap for and which tore over the tips of his fingers.

Our college chum Mike is making a great specialty of these low drives just now and Jennings had his infield playing away back for him every time he came to the bat.

Mike might profit a little when they get back that way by laying down a soft and juicy bunt.

In the valued estimation of the fans Joyce is coming to the front in fine shape.

He has developed into a good pinch hitter, and many of the rooters are getting stuck on the way he travels on the bases.

On the getting down to first proposition Mike leads the team.

A fan had a stop-watch working at a game the other day and announced that Joyce travelled to first in 3 2-5 seconds, that is from the time he hit the ball until his foot touched first base.

Bill Clancy was caught at 3 3-5 once and on two other occasions at 3 4-5.

Walters took 3 4-5 once and 4 another time; Atherton did 3 4-5 and 4, and Joe Yeager about the same.

The left-handed batters have a slight advantage, however, as they are nearer the base.

The players on Saturday got talking about the great hit Odwell is making in the National League, with his sensational catches and throws to the plate.

The Herald always said that Odwell had no peer in the Eastern League as a thrower, and it now turns out he has them all faded in the National.

Many a time the Montreal fans have seen Odwell cut off runs at the plate by perfect throws from deep centre field.

Most players hurl the ball in, and it strikes the ground in front of the catcher.

Oddie cuts out the ground part and lines them plump into the catchers' mit.

We recall now that several of the old Montreal players used to charge Odwell with grand stand work.

The charge was that he made easy catches look difficult by starting late to catch a ball and then swooping in on the dead run and nailing it.

This may have been jealousy, and then again it may have been true.

We do not intend to umpire the point.

In any case, Oddie is making the hit of his life just now, and the Cincinnati fans far and wide proclaim that he is the goods.

Odwell was fast getting down to first, but he was not a base stealer.

It requires something more than fast moving legs to steal bases. The other chief qualification is brains.

Odwell was a trifle shy on the latter at times when he was with us, but he may have improved since.

Latest market quotations for peanuts are about as follows:

One bag	5 cents.
Two bags	10 cents.
Three bags	15 cents.

The quality is only fair just now, and as far as we can make out, every bag contains about 6 peanuts that were grown in the crop of 1879.

NOTES OF THE GAME.

The rain checks given out Saturday are good for any game.

Had it been fine Saturday at least 5,000 persons would have been out. Everybody was talking baseball last week after those sensational games.

The Star announced that Burchell was pitching Friday. Some day when a rule is introduced compelling the players to wear their names printed across their backs the Star will be able to get things correctly.

Umpire Sullivan has come out on top after his recent troubles and has done good work. Sully is a good fellow and is popular with the players.

Bliss was out in uniform yesterday, but his side hurt him every time he threw a ball.

Jersey City is here for a series of four games. Lively times are looked for.

The Baltimore team plays good, but not scrappy ball. The Newark bunch showed three times as much ginger.

It's nice to see the home team win, but there is no use howling when it doesn't. The real fan turns out for the love of the game itself.

Umpire Sullivan says Parent, the Boston shortstop, is one of the greatest ball players he ever saw. Montreal fans remember Parent when he played with Providence.

"R. M."—Odwell pitched for Wilkesbarre in 1897. He won 7 and lost 22 games. Atherton was with Wilkesbarre that year and hit for .327.

"S. S."—Hollie Souders was with Buffalo in either 1896 or 1897. He pitched one or two games for the New York Nationals.

"Mackay Street."—The ball hit Umpire Sullivan, and was consequently blocked. 2. Yes.

"Smith's Falls."—Sorry, but it would take a year to look up all those figures.

"Right Field."—Well, perhaps not, but nevertheless Jennings is still considered to be a great ball player. His only trouble is his glass arm.

The Toronto Club has ninety-five shareholders, and there are, consequently, ninety-five different opinions on what ought to be done. A meeting of shareholders sounds like an iron factory working overtime.

Pete Cassidy to-day at 4 p.m.

Yesterday's crowd was one of the biggest of the season. The 25 cent seats were black.

Our old friend, Jack Barry, has been taken from Philadelphia by the Chicago Nationals. The papers say Jack is one of the best men playing ball.

"Dutch" Hartman's beautiful black eye hasn't spoiled his hitting any. Dutch is lining 'em out in great style.

"C. A." writes: "Who played on the local team the year Montreal won the championship?"

The names follow:

Dooley	First Base
O'Brien	Second Base
Henry	Third Base
Schiebeck	Shortstop
Shearon	Right Field
Barry	Centre Field
Jacklitz	Catcher
Butler	Catcher
McFarlan	Pitcher
Abbey	Pitcher
Souders	Pitcher

As far as we know only four of those men are in the game to-day. Barry and Jacklitz in the National League, Tom Bannon in the Connecticut League, Souders out West.

Hayden made a circus one-hand catch off Joyce's bat. He was backing up for the drive, saw he could barely reach it, held his glove hand out, and then fell over and stood square on his head. He held the ball.

Hollie Souders is pitching for the Fargo, N.D., team and is doing great work.

MASCOTTE BEAT FARNHAM.

Mascotte went to Farnham yesterday and beat Joe Page's team after a short contest. The Mascotte batteries got after Bishop in the fifth and sent in five runs. The score:

By innings—

Farnham	0 3 0 0 1 0 0 0 0—4
Mascotte	0 0 0 0 5 0 0 0 1—6

Summary—Three-base hits, Currie, Payette. Bases on balls, by Gehring, 2; by Bishop, 2. Sacrifice hits, Miron, G. Farrel. Struck out, by Gehring, 5; by Bishop, 6. Umpire, Blumhasett. Time, 1.25.

THE QUARTER GRAND.

That "Perfect Gem of a Piano," the "Chickering Quarter Grand," takes up little more space than an upright, and embodies most of the qualities of the largest grands. C. W. Lindsay, Limited, head office, 2366 St. Catherine St.; East End Branch, 1632 St. Catherine St.—Adv.

The Capitals Are Certain to be Declared Professionals

They Played Tecumsehs Though Warned Not to Do So.

Toronto, July 25.—The Capitals on Saturday proved themselves far too good for the Tecumsehs. Hitherto unbeaten, the locals were defeated by 7 goals to 2.

The first half of the game was played in a drizzling rain and the Caps, who seemed to take to the heavy going, more kindly than the Indians, proceeded to pile up a score which at half time was five to one. The Caps are, without a doubt the best team that has appeared here this season.

From goal to inside home every man on the visiting team is a lacrosse player. The defence is strong, the field fast and the home as tricky as they make them. Macdonald in goal; Ralph, Shea and Robertson, were the most prominent in the defence; and, Butterworth at centre played his usual good game, while the home radiated around the big Indian defence at times in a manner that almost caused Harry Gillespie to weep. The Tecumsehs did not play up to form. Lambe, Murray, Querrie, Kirkwood were the most effective players. The defence gave the worst exhibition of the season and allowed the Capitals' home to lead them all over the field.

The Caps had things all their own way in the first quarter. They led the Tecumsehs defence around the field in the most astonishing manner and when the whistle blew they had piled up a score of 3 to 0.

Robertson and Murphy were penalized for shady tactics and Ralph was given a rest for putting Donaldson out of business. The Caps were still the aggressors in the second quarter and had considerably the better of the game, scoring 2 to the Indians 1. E. Murphy rapped James in the eye and he had to retire for a short time. Eastwood and Shea and Lambe and Swayne decorated the fence, the Indians braced up in the third and appeared to have the game well in hand. They took two games and their supporters had hopes that they would tie the score. But the Caps went at them hard in the last period and scored two more shortly after the start. The remainder of the time was put in by the Caps playing rag and wasting time.

MONTREALER'S BIG WIN.

It had been anticipated that the match between Sherbrooke and Montreal Intermediates would prove a close affair, but it ended in a runaway victory for Montreal by 13 goals to 3. Sherbrooke won the first match by 5 goals to 4. There were only a few spectators. Mr. Tom Potter made an excellent referee. The teams were:

The Orient Lacrosse Club defeated St. Lawrence on Saturday by 3 goals to 2.

A team of Shamrock Juniors were in Almonte on Saturday, and suffered defeat at the hands of the local organization by 10 goals to 3.

Point St. Charles defeated the Montcalms at Quebec by 5 goals to 4.

In the Junior Lacrosse League, Saturday afternoon, the Points continued their winning streak by defeating the Y.M.C.A. aggregation by a score of 7 to 2. The teams were as follows:

The C.L.A. reputed superiority over the last has received three bad blows recently. Brantford twice beaten and Tecumsehs once can hardly be palatable.

The action of the Capitals has been hotly criticised in Montreal. They ought to have waited the result of a conference at least.

WHAT C.A.A.U. MUST DO.

"I'm sorry the Capitals have taken this stand so early in the season," said Mr. W. J. Magee, president of the Shamrocks, to a representative of The Herald this morning. "The C.A.A.U. can do nothing now but declare the Capitals professionalized.

"It had been our intention to wait awhile and endeavor to have lacrosse bodies manage their own affairs independently of the C.A.A.U. just as the Football Association does in England. We wanted the C.L.A. and the N.A.L.U. to be brought together and whatever professionals existed in the combined bodies could be dealt with by the C.A.A.U. when they attempted to take part in other sport over which the C.A.A.U. exercised control.

"This seems to me the only reasonable course to pursue, and it would clear up the present difficulty.

"But I regret very much that the Capitals played the Tecumsehs so early in the season. It will completely spoil the N.A.L.U. schedule. They adopted a very short-sighted policy."

That the Capitals should play Tecumsehs after the warning issued by the C.A.A.U. caused considerable consternation in N.A.L.U. circles in Montreal. The feeling generally seems to be divided. It is claimed by some that the C.A.A.U. should have no authority over lacrosse, and that lacrosse bodies should be left to manage their own affairs. Others hold that the C.A.A.U. ought to control amateur athletics.

The unanimous opinion is that the Capitals should not have precipitated the conflict. They have crippled the N.A.L.U. and rendered impossible the adoption of a mutual policy meanwhile.

Capitals to Join C.L.A.

Mr. W. Foran, of the Capitals, states that if his club is suspended they will join the C. L. A.

CRICKET CREASE

HILL SCORES A CENTURY.

McGill met Westmount on Saturday on the College grounds in their return match and the result was a very easy win from McGill by six wickets and 152 runs. The ground was very heavy and wet from the rain, which continued almost throughout the game. McGill, despite, this, however, treated the spectators to a very fine exhibition of cricket. McGill batted first, and made the splendid score of 258 runs for four wickets. Hill 114 (retired), Baber 90, and Jones 30, kept Westmount bowlers busy. They declared their innings with the above score.

It may be mentioned that a few years ago these two clubs met in a friendly game, when Hill and Hainsworth each scored a century, and it looked as if it would happen again; a good catch, however, deprived Baber of the coveted score.

Westmount, against the bowling of Baber and Hill, after some good cricket by Mayers, 22, and Thom, 9, could only reach 74, losing the match with only about three minutes to spare. Hill had four wickets for twenty-five, and Baber five for thirty.

Following are the scores:

MONTREAL'S GOOD BATTING.

Longueuil met Montreal for the first time this season on Saturday afternoon. On account of rain the game resulted in a draw. The ground was very wet and good cricket out of the question. Rev. Mr. Plumptre, 57, and Motherwell were the only players to reach double figures. Montreal, who played one man short, declared their innings with a score of 112 runs. Nash, of Montreal, performed the hat trick. Longueuil replied with 29 runs for five wickets. Following are the scores:

Longueuil play their return match with the men of the R.M.S.S. Tunisian this evening, commencing at 6.30 o'clock. The Tunisians are somewhat stronger than on the last occasion, and a good game is expected.

Victoria Annex C. C. will hold a smoking concert to-night at the Park House, corner Van Horne and Park avenues, as a farewell to Mr. Mather, their captain, who, accompanied by his mother, is leaving for England on July 30 by SS. Canada.

Mr. Gilbert Ferabee, the captain of Montreal C. C., is expected back from England, where he has been for about three months, on Thursday. He will probably take his place with Montreal in the rest of the league matches.

DRAW AT VALLEYFIELD.

Valleyfield played Victoria at Valleyfield on Saturday, and the game resulted in a draw. Valleyfield batted first and reached the total of 73, J. Mather 34, H. Miller 10, Dryden 11, all playing good cricket. Valleyfield replied with 39 runs. W. M. Hill, 12, was the only one to reach double figures. For Valleyfield, Moore (5 wickets for 16 runs) and Hastings (3 wickets for 15 runs) were the most successful bowlers, while Dryden and Norton divided the honors for Victoria, getting 3 for 14 runs and 3 for 15 runs respectively. HAVERFORD DREW.

London, July 25.—The cricket match between Haverford (Pennsylvania) and Charterhouse School, at Godalming, Surrey, ended in a draw.

ATHLETICS.

YALE AND HARVARD WON.

London, July 25.—Yale and Harvard were the victors in the international games held Saturday at the Queen's Club, West Kensington. They defeated Oxford and Cambridge in six out of nine events before an immense crowd which never lost interest even in such a tedious contest as the hammer throwing. A mast was placed on one side of the field from which flew American and British flags as the victory went from one side to the other. It finally floated the Stars and Stripes as an official notification of the success of the blue and crimson.

At 3.27 the men appeared for the 100 yard dash. R. W. Barclay, of Cambridge; Chapman, of Oxford; W. A. Schick, jr., of Harvard, and Torrey, of Yale. Schick won the 100 yards dash, with Barclay second. Barclay got away first, but Schick caught him after thirty yards, passed him and held the lead to the end. Schick's time 9 4-5 seconds equalled his previous record for the same distance.

The one mile race began with Welsh and H. W. Gregson, the former a Scotsman and the latter an Englishman, in the lead. Gregson increased his lead at the half mile and won. C. C. H. Hamilton, Oxford, was second, Welsh Cambridge, third. F. L. Olcott and Hill, both of Yale, came in last. Time, 4 minutes 21 1-5 secs.

In high jumping England was represented by E. E. Leader, and Doorly, both of Cambridge, and America by C. F. Victor, of Yale. The two Englishmen went out when the bar was at 5 feet 10 1-8 inches. Victor won; Leader, second; Doorly third. Victor's best jump was 6 feet 1-8 inches. Victor continued jumping, but failed to better his record.

In the half-mile run, E. P. Parsons, of Yale, got off ahead, but Holding, Oxford, forged past him and just passing Cornwallis, Oxford, won in an exciting finish. H. B. Young, Harvard, was third and Parsons last. Time, one minute 56 1-5 seconds.

Barclay and Wilson, both of Cambridge; C. R. Long, of Yale, and S. J. Dives, of Harvard, were the competitors in the quarter mile run. Barclay led for two-thirds of the distance, when Dives, who had been keeping just behind, forged ahead and won by two feet. Long was third.

Throwing the hammer was next. M. Spicer, Cambridge; Tomlinson, Oxford; Shevlin, Yale, and E. T. Glass, Yale, were the contestants. Shevlin won, making 150 feet 1 1-2 inches. The best throw Glass made ias 125 feet 11 3-4 inches. Spicer's best throw was 111 feet 7 inches.

In the hurdle race which came next F. H. Teall, represented Cambridge; A. M. P. Lyle, Oxford; E. J. Clapp, Yale, and Bird, Harvard. Clapp and Bird both went over the first hurdle in the lead. Then Bird took the lead, but Clapp overtook him at the last hurdle and won by six inches. Bird was ahead of Teall, who was third by four yards.

In the long jump A. Leach, representing Oxford; Smith, Oxford; L. P. Sheffield, Yale, and D. M. Ayres, Harvard, were the competitors. Sheffield made 21 feet 10 3-4 inches in the last round, thus gaining the victory. Ayres was second with 21 feet 9 1-4 inches, and Smith third with 21 feet 6 1-2 inches.

There were five contestants in the two mile race. A. R. Churchill and H. W. Gregson, Cambridge; Godby, Oxford; Colwell, and A. King, Harvard. Gregson took the lead, but dropped out after the third lap. Godby, Oxford, won. Churchill second, Colwell third. Time, 9 minutes 50 seconds.

SPORTS AT LAVALTRIE.

The annual picnic and games of the Canadian Rubber Company took place on Saturday at Lavaltrie. The steamer Three Rivers had been chartered for the occasion, and was crowded to its utmost capacity with the management, employes and friends of the company, all out for pleasure and recreation. Shortly after eight o'clock a departure was made, and after a couple of hours delightful sailing down the St. Lawrence, Lavaltrie was reached. After luncheon, the programme of games was run off.

So great and keen was the competition that nearly all the events were run off in heats, the results being very interesting and very closely contested. The most exciting was the 100 yards dash, open, which, after a severe struggle was won by Mr. A. Lavalle, of the Montreal branch, who also captured the hop, step and jump competition. Great interest was evinced in the tug of war, which proved a hard fought contest, each team being confident of victory. But ere the minute pull had elapsed, the brawny stalwarts of the mechanical goods department had a decided advantage over the strong and weighty men of the shoe department.

In the guessing competition, Mr. Thornton, the general superintendent, was found to be the best guesser, with Mr. McGibbon, the general manager, a close second. On the completion of the sports, games of all descriptions and dancing were indulged in. Casey's Orchestra supplied the music. At six o'clock p.m. a return was made to the boat, everybody feeling the day had been all too short, and wishing that for once "time and tide" should wait.

Just before arriving at Montreal the presentation of the prizes to the successful competitors was made by Mr. D. Lorne McGibbon, who in a short speech warmly congratulated the picnic committee and Mr. Brydges, the secretary, on the very excellent and enjoyable programme they had provided and for the great success of the day. Mr. McGibbon, who is extremely popular with all the staff and employes, was given three very hearty cheers and a tiger, and was told in melodious song what a jolly good fellow he was.

The Toronto Police Athletic Association will be represented at the police games in Montreal on the 27th by Sergeant McFarlane, Constables Guthrie, Latremouille, Stemman and Egan. The Toronto games will take place on Aug. 17.

YACHTING.

TROUBLE AT KINGSTON.

Kingston, July 25. — The T.Y.R.A. races were begun on Saturday afternoon. Only one boat started in the 24-foot class, the Chinook, of Hamilton. The other four Toronto yachts entered in this class had not arrived. The Chinook started out at one o'clock to go over the coursse and received half of the first money. She made the twenty-four miles in four hours. In the 30-footers there were four entries, a new yacht turning up, the Neola, said to be from Sodus, N.Y. She was unmeasured. The start was made at 1.10 and ended thus: Neola (Sodus), 5.18.54; Teresa (Oswego), 5.24.00; Thelma (Kingston), 5.30.35; Kumin (Toronto), 5.36.32. The race is in dispute over the Neola's reefing and also on the ground that Teresa went to the wharf and reefed after the gun had fired for the start.

THE CHALLENGERS.

Sigma and Delta, the two new boats of the White Bear Yacht Club have arrived at Lachine, but have not yet been unpacked. It is expected that they will be in the water sometime this week. Johnson, the St. Paul rigger, is on the spot and the crews are due to arrive to-day. The delay is caused through the custom formalities. The entries had not been passed on Saturday.

MISCELLANEOUS

WABEWAWA CAMPING CLUB.

The members of the Wabewawa Camping Club left on Saturday for their annual outing on their island at Ste. Rose. Previous to leaving for Ste. Rose the annual meeting of the club was held and the following officers elected for the ensuing year: —Joseph Gagnon, president; Osais Renaud, vice-president; Oscar Renaud, secretary-treasurer; L. D. Thibault, H. E. Bernier, J. Guimond, D. Durrisac, and Joseph Valiquette, board of management. The members of the club will be prepared to receive their friends on July 31, and show them the attractions of the beautiful Ste. Rose river, which are not so well known as they ought to be.

LAWN TENNIS

F. B. Alexander, of New York, has again won the State lawn tennis championship.

Larned, the ex-national tennis champion, has won the Achelis challenge cup, defeating Beals C. Wright, of Boston.

FOOTBALL.

WESTMOUNT WON.

Westmount, the holders of the Caledonia cup, defeated the Y.M.C.A. in the first round of this year's competition on Saturday by three goals to nil. Mr. A. Stewart, of the M.A.A.A., was referee.

For the first twenty minutes the game was of a ding-dong nature, both teams working hard. Macfarlane eventually beat the Y.M.C.A. goalkeeper, with a hot shot. Y.M.C.A. played hard after this, but could not equalize, and Westmount finished the first half a single goal ahead.

Westmount had the better of the second period, and Navin and Harding had scored, the latter off the rebound of a shot by Deans.

Paquette, an English International forward, who plays with Plymouth, will shortly arrive in Canada for a long vacation, and will probably turn out for the Britannias.

Outremont football team defeated the second string of Westmount on Saturday by three goals to nil. Outremont head the intermediate league.

MAT AND RING.

HARD FIGHTING.

Philadelphia, July 25.—Jack O'Brien and "Bob" Fitzsimmons on Saturday fought the fastest six rounds bout ever witnessed in this city between men of their weight. When the gong announced the close of the fight, both men were on their feet, but both bore the marks of the gruelling fight that they had just been through. Fitzsimmons's eyes were twice their normal size, and his left eye was almost closed, while O'Brien's left eye was also cut and swollen.

ROD AND GUN.

MONTREAL GUN CLUB.

Only two events were shot off by the members of the Montreal Gun Club on Saturday afternoon, which resulted as follows:

25 birds, known angles—Redman 22, McDuff 20, Laudreault 20, Kearney 19, Galbraith 15.

15 birds, known angles—Redmond 15, Kearney 13, Laudreault 13, McDuff 12, Galbraith 12.

TURF AND TRACK

The Paris Jockey Club has restored the license to J. Rieff, the American jockey, which had been withdrawn owing to his infraction of the rules.

The final day's racing at Windsor, Ont., was cancelled, owing to rain and the heavy condition of the track.

DELORIMIER PARK MEET.

The second summer meeting, under the auspices of the Gentlemen's Driving Club, will commence to-morrow and will continue until Saturday at Delorimier Park. The largest fields of the season are entered for the five days' racing, and there are a number of speedy ones from across the border, while the pick of the local talent is well represented.

Just at present stabling at the park is at a premium and every stall is in use, while many owners have been compelled to look elsewhere for accommodation. The entries are from all over the circuit, from Boston from the Vermonters, and the New Yorkers, while several old favorites from Quebec are on the list.

Some more are expected by this morning's mail, and altogether the prospects are for the largest fields ever seen at a local meet.

The track is in fine shape and fast enough for record breaking, and with so many good ones in, there ought to be a chance for some one taking away the purse hung up for the lucky owner.

Serious Situation in Canadian Athletics Discussed in Toronto

Admission is Made That C.L.A. Players Are Being Paid.

Toronto, July 25.—One of the most important meetings in the annals of athletics in Canada took place here on Saturday evening at the King Edward Hotel. Those present at the meeting were W. G. Ayling, president of the C.A.A.U., and E. Herbert Brown, secretary of the C.A.A.U., both of Montreal; Fred W. Frank, president of the C.L.A.; Harry Gillespie, C.L.A. executive; John Ross Robertson, president of the O.H.A., and Frank D. Woodworth, secretary of the O.R.F.U.

The object of the meeting was to bring about an understanding between the C.L.A. and the C.A.A.U.

The complication was that the C.L.A. did not recognize C.A.A.U., suspensions; on receipt of a telegram from Mr. Frank the suspensions were raised in order to allow the Minto Cup games to be played, while the Capitals had played Tecumsehs.

For over three hours the discussion of the situation proceeded. The representatives from the east were told that it was the general opinion in the west that the N.A.L.U. was just as much a professional body as the senior series of the C.L.A.

Mr. Gillespie said that outside of the fact that the Tecumsehs were playing members of the Toronto Lacrosse Club, who were professionalized by the C.A.A.U., all the members of the team were paid every Monday morning. He said that such was the case to a greater or less extent either directly or indirectly in all the senior C.L.A. clubs. Mr. Gillespie also alleged that a majority of the players of the Shamrock team were professionals, either directly or indirectly. The same might be said of the Montreal Club, even if the officers of the club did not have even direct knowledge of it.

It was pointed out that Mr. W. Foran of the Capitals had admitted that his team could be professionalized.

Mr. Gillespie's argument was for a recognition of the professional by the C.A.A.U. He wanted professionals to be allowed to compete with and against amateurs.

President Frank stated that he was a strong supporter of amateur athletics, but his executive would not support him to the extent of running a purely amateur team. He would endeavor to get the C.L.A. to discuss the matter.

Mr. Frank was asked by the representatives of the C. A. A. U. whether, in the event of the C.L.A. joining the C. A. A. U., would the C. L. A. expel the nineteen players late of the Toronto Lacrosse Club, who had been professionalized by the C. A. A. U. as the C. L. A. could not become members until this was done. In reply Mr. Frank said that he could only speak unofficially, but he was quite sure the C. L. A., would not take this step.

Mr. John Ross Robertson, said, speaking unofficially for the O. H. A., under no circumstances could a professional lacrosse player ever be allowed to compete with an amateur hockey player.

Stocks and Money.

LOCAL STOCK MARKET IS RATHER SICK; NOVA SCOTIA STEEL AGAIN GOES LOWER

Nova Scotia is maintaining its reputation as one of the most erratic stocks on the local list, declining to-day from 60 to 56½ without any news developments that the Street could hear of.

When it was around 62 the other day the stock looked really strong, and when brokers went in to buy they found little stock on the market.

This morning, however, a little selling pressure broke it easily enough, and probably a few stop orders were caught to help the break along. There was a two-point rally from the low point, then a slight reaction.

The Street professes to be completely in the dark in regard to the movement and certainly there were no new rumors apart from those already mentioned some time ago when the drop began.

Some assert that the thing is all manipulation, and if this is true the people behind the movement are not doing the stock or the company any good. Every stock needs the confidence of the public, and once this confidence is lost it is difficult to regain.

Very optimistic opinions are heard from people close to the inside of Nova Scotia in regard to the work of the company, and the views expressed by these people make the declines in the stock more difficult than ever to understand.

Dominion Coal was another weak issue this morning with not much life to the stock.

In fact, the local market generally is disappointing to many people on the Street who were hoping to see it act more in sympathy with the New York market.

Very uncertain opinions are expressed in regard to Richelieu and considerable interest is expressed in the return of Mr. Rodolphe Forget.

ANOTHER G.T.R. INCREASE.

Grand Trunk Railway System earnings from July 15th to 21st were as follows:

1904	$671,816
1903	729,216
Decrease	$57,400

MONTREAL EXCHANGE.

Montreal Exchange quotations to-day are reported as follows by Marler & Hodgson: New York funds, 5-65 to 3-64 dis., banks; par to 1-8 prem. counter; sterling sixty days, 9 to 9 1-16 banks; 9 1-8 to 9 1-4 counter; sterling demand, 9 5-8 to 9 11-16 banks; 9 3-4 to 9 7-8 counter; sterling cables, 9 3-4 to 9 13-16 banks; 10 to 10 1-8 counter; Paris, francs short, 5.17 1-2.

FORGET'S CABLES.

L. J. Forget & Co.'s London cable quoted Grand Trunk first at 102 1-2, second at 87 1-2, Canadian Pacific at 127 3-4, Anaconda at 3 3-4, Hudson Bay at 38 1-4.

The sales to noon in Wall Street today were 196,200 shares.

LABOR TROUBLES.

A noon wire to Mr. C. D. Monk said: There was a disposition shown to go slow on account of the serious labor outlook at Fall River and Chicago. Both sides seem to remain firm, and developments are awaited before any decided movement can be looked for. Some cheerful news was received here from Chicago as to general conditions and crop prospects are considered very good. Markets quite and steady at noon.

MORNING LETTER.

The western traffic conditions have improved, the crop damage scare apparently overdone and prospects are a great deal brighter. Railroad people are talking of big traffic in the fall. Steel trade is without a doubt improving and this will stimulate the confidence that has been restored. While the labor situation is rather bad it is not beyond mending.

NOON LETTER.

Noon letter.—The market has dried almost completely to-day. At the opening there was some activity in U. S. Steel stocks, which was communicated to T.C.I. and R.B.C. and C.F.I. All of these were strong on what looked like manipulative operations. The railroad list, on the contrary, has been inclined to sag. Operations have been almost entirely professional, and commission houses are doing practically nothing.—E. & C. Randolph.

LONDON CLOSING.

London close.—Anaconda, 3 3-4 and 72 1-2; Atchison, 90 3-4 and 78 5-8; C. P. R., 127 3-4 and 124 1-2; St. Paul, 15[illegible] and 148 1-8; Erie, 26 1-4 and 25 1-2; E. F., 64 1-4 and 62 5-8; Illinois, 140 1- and 137; L. & N., 120 12 and 117 1 N. Y. Central, 122 and 119; Pennsylvania, 62 1-4 and 121 1-2; Rio Grande, 27 1-2 and 53 1-2; Southern Pacific, 52 1-8 and 50 3-4; Union Pacific [illegible] and 96 78; U. S. Steel, 13 and [illegible]; U. S. Q., 64 3-4 and 63 1-8.

American stocks in London dull and irregular.

Consols closed at a decline of 1-8 under Saturday's closing, at 88 9-16 for money and 88 5-8 for account.

Open market discount rates have firmed up, and closed at 2 7-8 to 2 15-16 per cent. for short bills, and 2 15-16 at 3 per cent. for three months bills. Money on call dearer at 2 3-4 per cent.

CONSERVATIVE TONE.

A noon wire to Laidlaw & Co. said: The conservative tone of the week end market criticism caused a quiet market during most of the morning, with prices reactionary. There was, however, no sign of real weakness at any point. Commission house business was practically nil. The announcement that independent steel mills are opening gave the market an undertone of strength, but the trading was almost entirely professionals. The steels both trust and independent were both strong, and A. C. P. had a characteristic spurt on reports that an advanced price for the Met. 1 was impending. While sentiment is reactionary on theory that some recession is due, there are few people who care to part with their holdings here, not to mention to sell the market short. Under such circumstances any violent reaction is extremely unlikely.

IRREGULAR WHEAT.

A wire to Robert Meredith & Co. said:—"Irregular and inactive describes the stock market this morning. At first buying of Steel preferred and Tenn. Coal were offset by selling of Union Pacific and Atch. Amal. Copper advanced to 53¾ on good buying. The advance was easily made and showed little disposition of present holders to realize at the current prices. Tenn. Coal also held its advance and little stock for sale. The general list has a firm und ertone and with a little bull pressure stock will advance rapidly. There is no gossip to affect values this morning and the market is professional. We favor purchases on reactions and sales on bulges.

"Canadian Pacific closed in London 127¼. Sales to noon 196,000 stocks. Bonds, 925,000."

WEEKLY BANK CLEARINGS.

PREMIER BOND'S VIEWS ON HAY-BOND TREATY

Warns United States That Newfoundland Will Not Always Wait.

London, July 25.—Sir Robert Bond, premier of Newfoundland, sailed for home on the steamer Buenos Ayrean, from Liverpool, after having settled up Newfoundland's share in the Anglo-French treaty.

Interviewed by the Associated Press or the subject of the Hay-Bond treaty, which is awaiting ratification by the Senate, the Premier, said:—

"I have been unable to give the British Government any hope that the treaty to which it lent support will be ratified by the United States. Newfoundland is and has been anxious to secure reciprocity upon a mutually advantageous basis with our great friendly neighbor. To assure that end I have made every effort consistent with the dignity and interest of the colony. More than this, Newfoundland has given American fishermen, during fourteen years, rights which it has power to withhold. It has been a matter of comment in connection with Joe. Chamberlain's campaign that Newfoundland gives America greater privileges than the Mother Country.

"The next move in the matter must be on the part of America. In the untoward event of our failing to secure any measure of reciprocity, it may become necessary—although I hope it never will, to put into execution those differentiating tariffs which the other British colonies have enacted against foreign countries.

"Street" Gossip.

How Last War Scare and Earlier Ones Hit the Stock Market

The sudden fright of the foreign stock markets, over the passage of the Russian privateers through the Bosphorous and the seizure of English and German mails, has had all the earmarks of a traditional "European war scare." British consols dropped a full point, French rentes ¼, and prices on all European bourses fell steadily for three days. Then they began to recover, and it was characteristic that recovery set in while actual news of the action of England and Russia was most disquieting. The Paris banking community had apparently learned, from the highest quarters, what the Russian Government proposed to do, before any outside channel of news had been similarly favored. The episode naturally excited reminiscence; for the "war scares" are landmarks in the history of European finance, and some of them are the best of all reflections of historic incidents.

WAR SCARES IN WAR-TIME.

The fact that last week's "war scare" occurred when a war was already going on, was not unusual. Such scares are regular incidents of both politics and markets, whenever a war is going on. The flutter in the markets during the episode with the German Admiral Diedrich, at Subig Bay in the Philippines, during July, 1898, was one, but a very small one. The Russian advance on Constantinople, in 1878, when the treaty of peace with Turkey was under consideration, and England's prompt despatch of its fleet to the Bosphorous was another case in point. A far more interesting case was that of the "Trent affair," in November, 1861, when Captain Wilkes's seizure of Mason and Slidell from the British ship brought England and the United States close to the verge of war. This was a case where the markets grasped the situation's real meaning very slowly. It was only late in December, when the attitude of Lord Palmerston became known to the London bankers and their friends, that the crash began, which brought United States 6 per cents. to 89, as against 95½ before the incident, and sent down British 3 per cent. consols to 89¼, as against an earlier price of 94. But, as a rule, the most interesting "war scare" chapters on the markets have been those when the possibility of war appeared suddenly in the diplomatic sky, and took the markets fairly off their guard. Of this, there are three notable precedents in the past generation.

AFGHANISTAN IN 1885.

The first, and perhaps the most notable, was the high sensation over the "Pendjeh affair" in 1885. A boundary dispute on the Afghanistan frontier, between Russia and England, had not greatly influenced the markets until, in March, the Russian troops suddenly moved on the Afghans in the disputed passes. At the close of March, the Russian general, Komaroff, had summoned the Afghans to surrender; they had refused on the advice of the English commander, whereupon they were attacked and routed. Consols, which in March had fallen from 98¼ to 96⅞, had recovered to 98 again when news of this fight came in on April 7. In two days they broke again to 94¾, with French rentes falling 2¼ points, and the London Stock Exchange in a condition or which a financial critic wrote: "To find a parallel, we should have to go back to the commencement of the Franco-German war." But England and Russia did not fight; M. de Giers, speaking for Russia, alluded to "this regrettable incident;" the dispute was referred to the King of Denmark, and by May, when negotiations were resumed, consols and rentes were above their price of March.

THE VENEZUELA MESSAGE.

The "war scare" at the end of 1895 and the beginning of 1896 was equally sensational. First came President Cleveland's "Venezuela message" of December 19, on which British consols, in five days, broke from 107½ to 105⅞, with a crash on the general English and American stock markets which will be well remembered. From this collapse, a rapid recovery ensued, and consols were back to 107⅛, when, on Wednesday, January 1, came the news of the Jameson raid. The price fell by the close of the week to 105¾; the German Emperor's telegram to President Kruger, less than one week afterward, and the hasty mobilization of the British flying squadron, sent it down to 105⅛. Yet this cloud, too, blew over as quickly and completely as the others; the Jameson prisoners were released by Kruger, Germany explained, the Venezuela quarrel went to an arbitration board, and by January 16, consols were back at 108.

The Fashoda incident in 1898 also created something of a sensation.

One Broker's View of Canadian Pacific

The stock is getting to a point where it looks to the average trader to be high priced; and it is when compared with the figures that have been quoted on it during the past year. But Canadian was much too low hen it sold at 110-120. We repeatedly advised the purchase of it at anything below 120 and are convinced that anyone, who holds the stock even at the highest quotations of 1902, i.e., 145, will not suffer on a long-time investment. Canadian is a 6 per cent. stock, and as such ought to be worth somewhere near 130 all the time and considerably above that on a rising market.

It has been argued that since Canadian is under an English management and dominated by English policy it cannot be regarded as a permanent 6 per cent. stock. Ordinarily the directors of English corporations do not hesitate to reduce dividends promptly, if earnings fall off and the motives of stock manipulation enter very slightly into their actions. Canadian Pacific earnings, however, are good enough to make 6 per cent. a certainty with a possibility of a further increase. Nearly 11 per cent. net was earned last year. The development of Western Canada in the next five years will make Canadian Pacific one of the most valuable properties on this continent. Buy the stock on any recession from 125.—F. R. Tibbetts.

Sully's Famous Guess Away Wide of Mark

On December 3, 1903, the Department of Agriculture estimated 9,962,039 bales as the country's cotton crop—an estimate remarkable both for the wild speculation which it excited, and for the fact that it came within 24,000 bales of Daniel J. Sully's estimate. Sully and the Government were both wrong; for the movement into sight, reported at this week's close for September 1 to date, foots up 9,973,406 bales. Furthermore, there remain six weeks before the twelvemonth's total can be ascertained. At this week's movement of 45,328 bales, there would be added, in that period, 277,000 bales, making a total of 10,250,000. It may be more, or it may be less.

The bearing of these preliminary figures, on the year's consumption, is remarkable. Last November, Thomas Ellison estimated 10,877,000 bales of American cotton as the season's probable requirement of the spinners. Since the world's supply of American cotton, last September, was only a trifle over 440,000 bales, as against some 900,000 bales to-day, it would seem that spinners' requirements have been reduced, by the excessive prices, no less than 1,181,000 bales. The process has not been pleasant, but it has been a striking proof of the defensive power which consumers of staples have against corner manipulators.

The Public's Part in the July Rise

There has been much discussion in Wall Street as to how far the public has been a purchaser of securities during the rise of the last fortnight. Inquiries among bankers and brokers brought a variety of replies and a wide range of opinions. Investment brokers claimed that the outside public had absorbed a good, many high grade bonds, particularly over the counter, but brokers who executed orders on the floor of the Exchange were skeptical about the public having bought many stocks. They generally attributed most of the operations to professionals and pools. A member of one representative commission house put the matter thus:

"Not more than 5 per cent. of the transactions in stocks during the last two weeks represented purchases by the outside public or by investors. In fact, you may say that the public has been selling a good many. I should think 20 per cent. or more represent such profit-taking sales by those who had been hung up with securities for a long time and who took the first good opportunity to get out. Fully half of the buying was by the Fields and Gate cliques, while perhaps 25 per cent. represented traders in all parts of the country. The bankers have been something of a factor, but 20 per cent. would cover their purchases. Six months ago the outside public was buying nothing at all, but selling, just as they had been doing this month, on any good opportunity."—N.Y. Post.

Manistique, Mich.—Daniel Bunkley murdered Pearl Standway at the Hiawatha Hotel by cutting her throat with a razor. The parties came here from Blind River, Ontario, Thursday and registered as husband and wife. Bunkley gave himself up to the officers and claims that he killed her because she would not quit drinking and was not true to him.

Market Reports.

EUROPE WILL REQUIRE ALL OF AMERICA'S WHEAT SURPLUS IN THE NEXT 12 MONTHS

An interesting despatch on the wheat situation from Chicago says: "Estimates of experts whose opinion carries most weight in the grain trade now are that, barring accidents to the spring wheat, a total wheat crop of 600,000,000 to 610,000,000 bushels may be expected. This would be twenty-seven to thirty-seven millions below the Government's estimate on the crop of 1903, and about 140 millions below the record crop of 1901. It would be some 50,000,000 bushels below the prospect figured out from the Government's June estimate, and 60,000,000 under that reckoned from the July figures. But it would still be the largest wheat crop ever harvested here up to 1901, except for 1898 and 1891.

"This is a better promise than was generally predicted a week ago.

"With a shortage abroad of possibly 150,000,000 bushels of wheat from last year's foreign crop, it is commonly predicted that Europe will require all America's surplus the next twelve months. What prices it will have to pay, and how soon it will take it, is what is puzzling the American speculator more than the foreign consumer. At present prices abroad are too low as compared with those on the Atlantic seaboard, and European prices will have to advance materially before it can be profitable to send out large quantities of wheat. Yet, whenever prices advance on the other side, they are reflected by a further rise here, and it will be interesting, therefore, to see what will happen if the claims that Europe must have more of American wheat than last year are correct. For one thing, home consumption of flour is just now at a high level, probably because of the high price of meat. On the other hand, if it is true that the poor quality of last year's wheat caused the use of an increased quantity in making a barrel of flour, next season's consumption might be less. The census of 1900 placed our consumption per capita at 5.25 bushels. Estimates of the harvest year of 1901 made it 4.90 bushels, and those of 1902 at 5.3 bushels. With a population of 81,000,000, the consumption per capita the past year works out 5.53 bushels."

Cheese and Butter

The country markets have reflected a steadier feeling on cheese and it must be said that the same is not unsatisfactory to holders of the goods in store in Montreal. It is estimated that there is about 250,000 boxes held in store here, mainly on English account, the average cost of which is $6.40 per box, so that at the week's decline the loss is about 40c per box.

The butter market, while it did not reflect much change on spot, displayed marked buoyancy at country points, the prices realized there being at a rise of ¼c per lb., on the average on the prices paid last Saturday. On spot prices were nominal, but nothing like the equivalent paid for Townships creamery in the country could be realized on spot, though whatever may happen later on is another matter.

London, July 23.—Cheese market was steady during the week with a rather better undertone at 37s to 40s on new make. Butter also showed a higher range for best descriptions of Canadian creamery at 84s to 2s.

Bristol, July 23.—The cheese market was steady to firm on new cheese this week at 39s to 41s, while old make ranged from 41s to 44s as to quality.

Cheese Boards

Cowansville, July 23.—Twenty-nine factories offered 2,004 boxes of cheese and twenty-eight creamies offered 1,780 boxes of butter. A. J. Brice bought 220 boxes of butter at 18¼c, 225 boxes at 18⅛c; Hodgson Bros. bought 116 boxes at 18c, 157 boxes at 17⅞c; Lovell & Christmas bought 180 boxes at 18c, 45 boxes at 17¾c, 35 boxes at 17⅝c; J. Alexander bought 220 boxes at 18c; Gunn, Langlois bought 90 boxes at 17⅞c, 35 boxes at 17⅝c; J. Dalrymple bought 55 boxes at 17½c; balance unsold. Lovell & Christmas bought 151 cheese at 7 7-16c, 215 at 7⅜c; D. A. McPherson bought 370 cheese at 7⅜c; J. Alexander bought 274 cheese at 7⅜; F. Fowler bought 171 cheese at 7 7-16c, 69 at 7⅜c; balance unsold. Eleven buyers present.

St. Hyacinthe, Que., July 23.—At a meeting of the St. Hyacinthe butter and cheese board held to-day sixteen factories offered 680 packages of butter. All sold except 33 packages at 17⅝c. Sales were as follows: J. A. Vaillancourt, 179; J. Dalrymple & Sons, 188; D. A. McPherson & Co., Ltd., 220; Fortier & Monette, 60.

Cornwall, Ont., July 23.—At the cheese board here to-day 1,480 boxes were listed, 1,110 white and 370 colored; all sold. White at 7½c; colored, 7⅝c. Buyers present: J. F. McGregor, 407 boxes; J. A. Walsh, 604; J. A. McRae, 353; J. W. Weegar, 116; Capt. Cameron, unavoidably absent.

Belleville, Ont., July 23.—Forty factories offered 3,785 white and 50 colored cheese; 7½c bid for total offerings; 1,730 sold on the market, balance selling on the street at 1-16c better.

London, Ont., July 23.—At our market to-day 1,325 boxes of colored cheese were offered; sales on board, 220 boxes, at 7½c; 130 at 7 9-16c.

Watertown, N.Y., July 23.—Cheese sales, 9,000, at 7¼c for large.

Hogs and Provisions

There was no change in the condition of the market for fresh-killed dressed hogs, which remains firm, but trade today was rather quiet at $7.75 for light weights, and at $7.50 for heavy per 100 lb. In cured meats there was no new feature to note. Our private cables from London quoted Canadian bacon at 40s to 50s, and in Bristol at 45s to 48s, and Liverpool, 43s to 46s.

We quote—Heavy Canada short cut mess pork, in tierces, $25; selected heavy Canada short cut, boneless, in barrels, $19; heavy Canada short cut mess, $17; Canada short cut back pork, $16.50; heavy Canada long cut mess pork, $16.50; heavy Canada short cut clear pork, $16; heavy flank pork, $15.50; light Canada short cut clear pork, $14.

The Rossland Mines

Rossland, B.C., July 23.—The past week has seen fruitful developments in connection with Rossland's mining industry.

The announcement that the LeRoi directorate has been recommended to construct a large milling plant is of special interest, inasmuch as the proposition embraces erection works right at the mine, where it will profit first from expenditure on construction account, and then form employment of men in plant. There is a hopeful feeling regarded by the announcement.

Centre Star and War Eagle mines have added seventy-five men to their crews in the past ten days, and are shipping milling ore to the big works at Trail. Just now 100 tons daily are going to the mill, and this will be doubled in the course of a few days.

At present the ore is being taken from various stopes and to secure thorough sample of all bodies.

Cliff mine has about finished the large ore bins at the mine and is working in No. 1 quarry and on No. 2 level. Tenders have been called for teaming ore and arrangements are now being made for shipments to one of the smelters.

Velvet-Portland concentrator has been in operation the full week and excellent results are being reported.

Velvet mine is to be unwatered immediately and development rsumed there. In Portland mine a fine body of ore was opened up within two feet of the point reached by workings under former management.

PREMIER'S PROMISE REALIZED.

Ottawa, July 23.—(Special.)—Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Sir William Mulock took part this morning in the official opening of the driveway which has been constructed by the Improvement Commission along the banks of the Rideau and to the experimental farm. The Premier appeared to take considerable interest in the realization of his promise of some years ago to make Ottawa the Washington of the North.

DROWNED AT CARMAN.

Winnipeg, July 25.—(Special.)—Willie Badger, aged three, son of A. W. Badger, of Carman, was drowned in the Bayne River yesterday.

Grain Prices

Business in grain was generally quiet, the demand from both local and export buyers being slow; in consequence, the market was without any new feature. The tone of private cables on wheat and oats were firm and the prospects are that a good trade in the latter will be done next week. The stock of oats on spot showed a decrease of over 133,000 bushels to-day Locally, prices were firmly held at 38c for No. 2 white and at 37c for No. 3 per bushel ex store. Buckwheat was quoted at 59¼c, peas at 71c, No. 2 rye at 62c to 62½c, No. 2 barley at 49½c, No. 3 extra at 48½c, and No. 3 at 47½c, No. 2 white oats 37¼c to 37c per bushel, afloat.

Wheat in Chicago

The various options in Chicago to-day were quoted as follows:

	Opg.	High.	Low.	12.30.
Wheat—
July	93⅝	94	93⅝	93⅞
Sept.	87⅛	87⅞	86⅞	87½
Dec.	86¼	87¼	86⅛	87
Corn—
July	49⅛	49¼	49⅛	49¼
Sept.	49⅛	49⅜	49⅛	49¼
Oats—
Sept.	33	33⅛	32⅞	33⅛

The visible supply statement to-day showed:—Wheat, Dec., 544,000; corn, Dec., 306,000; oats, Dec., 979,000.

Flour, Feed, Hay

Flour—The condition of the market for Manitoba spring wheat grades is still unsettled and prices in consequence are still irregular, but patents are quoted at $4.80 and strong bakers' at $4.50 per barrel. Ontario grades rule firm, but business in all lines was rather quiet to-day. We quote as follows: Winter wheat patents, $4.80 to $4.90; straight rollers, $4.60 to $4.70; straight rollers, in bags, $2.20 to $2.25.

Feed—The tone of the market for millfeed was steady, but the demand was rather limited to-day. Manitoba bran, in bags, $15 to $15.50; shorts, $17 to $17.50 per ton; Ontario bran, in bulk, $15; shorts, $16.50, and mouillie, $24 to $28 per ton, as to quality.

Meal.—The trade in rolled oats continues quiet and prices were unchanged at $2.15 to $2.20 per bag. Cornmeal was slow of sale, but steady at $1.30 to $1.40 per bag.

Hay.—The tone of the market for baled hay is easy, but there is a fair volume of business passing on local account. We quote as follows:—No. 1, $9.50 to $10; extra good, No. 2, $9 to $9.50; ordinary, No. 2, $8 to $9; and clover mixed, $7.50 to $8 per ton, in car-load lots.

CAPT. DENSMORE DROWNED.

Halifax, N.S., July 25.—A drowning accident occurred at Noel, Hants County, on Saturday. Captain Levi Densmore, a prominent resident of Noel Shore, lost his life while bathing. The body was found on the beach at noon, not far from his house. Captain Densmore was alone when the accident happened, but it is believed he took a cramp and perished. His son, Dr. Howard Densmore, died last month. Captain Densmore had retired from the sea.

CARLETON PLACE NEWS.

Carleton Place, July 25.—(Special.)—The two Presbyterian Sunday schools ran an excursion to Ottawa and was a great success.

Mr. J. W. Burgess, of the C.P.R. shops here, has been transferred to Montreal.

The Presbytery of Lanark and Renfrew met here recently. Rev. Orr Bennett, of Almonte, was elected moderator. September 20th was fixed upon as the date for the ordination of Mr. Henry J. Keith at Smith's Falls. The Presbytery will meet in Carleton Place again in October.

Mr. Hiram Sykes, an old resident died at his home in Goulbourn township, aged eighty-two years.

Mrs. Benj. Hilliard, a young woman of twenty-three years of age, died a few days ago of a brain affection.

Miss Lena McDiarmid, the daughter of Mr. D. McDiarmid, died at Deloraine, Man., of heart trouble. Miss McDiarmid had gone West some weeks ago for her health, but the journey had a contrary effect. The remains were brought home for interment.

Mr. R. W. Robertson, D.D.G.M., installed the officers of Stella Lodge, I.O.O.F., in the lodge room. The officers are: N. G., W. J. McDiarmid; V. G., H. W. Dummert; R.S., Nath. McCallum; F.S., D. The Newest Fiction

"The Pillar of Light," by the author of "The Wings of the Morning."

If you have had the pleasure of reading "The Wings of the Morning," it is only necessary to tell you that this delightful story is just as exciting and fascinating.

If you have revelled in Louis Tracy's great Malay Island romance, you are sure to have your heart beat faster when he makes you captive in his wonderful lighthouse, "The Pillar of Light."

St. Catherine and University Streets.

THE MONEY-BACK RULE

Is always in active operation at this store. It is applicable to the goods bought at bargain prices during July, equally as much as to the purchase made at full prices in the beginning of a season. Exceptions to the rule are made in the cases of Millinery, Toilet Articles and goods cut from the piece only.

MAIL ORDERS ARE INCREASING.

The exodus of the public from the city for the summer months may diminish the number of at-the-counter shoppers, but it materially increases the duties of the Mail Order department's staff. All Mail Orders filled at the prices indicated in our daily announcements, but there should be no delay in acquainting the store with your selections. The service is prompt and satisfactory.

Ladies' White Underwear

"The Better it Fits the Longer it Wears"

The White Underwear that really fits. It wears the limit of time that an expert computes garments made of cotton should wear: one year. Every garment made of proper material, is carefully cut to a shaped pattern, and is properly put together. Yet it is the least costly White Underwear soliciting your patronage to-day. The undernoted are specials, but the stocks are full of specials during the Stock-reduction Sale.

SPECIAL VALUES ONE BEHOLDS WHEN PASSING

Through The Ladies' Blouse Section

We can't start calculating the profits made in the Ladies' Blouse Section this season until the last of this season's Blouses are sold. The different lines are becoming broken in sizes and groupings of various values at a price has become necessary to supply a connected range;—we'll lose some profit, but we'll gain your goodwill, and sell the Blouses—the goal of our endeavor. One description will apply to all. It will be understood that there are differences in the quality of the fabric, while the styles of embellishment vary, some being much more elaborate than others.

Blouses originally sold at $1.95 to $2.50, are now marked to clear at $1.50
The new price of the $2.98 to $3.75 Lines of Blouses is now $2.25

Splendid scope for selections, and an adequate staff of salespeople at your service in the Blouse section, 2nd floor of the new section.

Ladies' Summer Costumes Moving

Out Quickly as a Result of These Reductions in Prices.

We've maintained a splendid selection of popular styles in Ladies' Summer Costumes throughout the season. The variety and values have won encomiums. The best manufacturers compete for our business, but they've ceased to compete for re-orders in summer lines now, so we've resolved to follow their example and get stocks into shape for the Fall campaign. A clear-up of all the Summer Costumes is the preparatory step. The numerous lines have been divided into three lots, and should command a ready sale at the new prices. The limited quantities in each render immediate selections obligatory.

7 only White Lawn Costumes, made in a most becoming style; waist with several rows of wide tucks, finished with embroidery collar and cuffs; skirt with tucks and deep hem. These sell in the regular way for $3.50; to clear, Tuesday $1.50

10 only Summer Costumes, made of the new linen crash; colors of fawn, blue and green. These are made in a neat and stylish effect; waist has several rows of cluny lace and self strapping; skirt with lace insertion, deep hem. Regu- prices of these Costumes are $5.50, $6.50 and $7.50; Tuesday $3.50

13 only Ladies' Summer Costumes. These are made in the latest New York styles. The materials are linen, canvas and chambray. Some are handsomely trimmed with embroidered strappings; others with white cluny lace. They range in price from $12.00 to $15.00; Tuesday to clear at each $7.50

SUMMER CORSETS FOR 12½c

Never were sold for such a trifling price before, and there's little likelihood of this offer being repeated.

200 pair Summer Corsets, made of net, nice and cool. The following sizes only: 18, 25, 26, 28 and 29. To be cleared at pair 12½c

25c Lace Collars for 15c
