BRITISH ACTION ON DEBTS ISSUE BRINGS PRAISE FROM ALL EUROPE

General Opinion Prevails that British Decision to Suspend Payments Brings Complicated Issue to a Head, with Next Move Up to Washington—House of Commons and Press Unanimous in Enthusiastic Endorsement of Government's Step.

The capitals of Europe were lined up solidly against the United States on the war debts question for the first time today and appeared to feel—"it is up to Washington."

As cheers rang out at home and abroad for Great Britain's decision to suspend payments, the sentiment was general that the complicated issue had been brought to a head.

A conference for a full and final settlement of the issue was England's goal.

France, happy to find Great Britain a bed-fellow and a logical leader in moves for the war debts, turned to its task of borrowing nearly $200,000,000 to pay for a military preparedness programme.

Italy, it was indicated, would follow in London's footsteps.

The development encouraged Germany to hope that its foreign creditors would now be more lenient.

Newspaper comment generally said world recovery and international amity would be greatly forwarded if an end to the question should be reached.

The House of Commons and the English public gave enthusiastic endorsement of the Government's step.

BRITISH PRESS IGNORES JOHNSON LAW FEATURES

London, June 6.—London's morning newspapers today welcomed unanimously the British government's decision to suspend war debt payments to the United States pending a final settlement of the debt question.

The papers emphasized that the United Kingdom's action was default without repudiation. Many of them pointed out the British taxpayer is twice as heavily burdened as the tax-payer in the United States, and that the United States has received some part of the total debt while Britain has received nothing from nations owing it war debts.

The Financial Times said British credit stood unassailed and the government had demonstrated its regard as meaningful stigma the United States Congress might seek to attach to it through the Johnson Law.

The Morning Post said it was unlikely any American financial debtor would interpret the British stand as "an example to himself."

SEVERE PUNISHMENT

Kiev, U.S.S.R., June 6.—Seven persons accused of taking part in organized thefts of money and supplies from the Agricultural Supply Trust were sentenced to death by the Supreme Court of the Ukraine today, and twenty-four others were given prison terms ranging from one to ten years.

TWO KILLED IN LEVEL CROSSING ACCIDENT

Summerside, P.E.I., June 6.—Two men were killed today when a Canadian National Railway freight train struck an automobile at a crossing two miles west of this town. They were identified as E. J. Keith, C.N.R. agent at Misouche, and his brother-in-law, Charles Holland.

ACTIVITIES OF LARGE STORES UNDER REVIEW

Bread and Butter Provided Less Leaders for Western Departmental Stores, Parliamentary Committee Told.

Ottawa, June 6.—Business methods and the financing of the huge department store business of Simpsons Limited and its subsidiary companies in Toronto, Montreal and other cities come under the scrutiny of the mass buying and price spreads committee of the House of Commons today. Committee auditors, commissioned to examine the books of the company, will make their report.

Yesterday the auditors gave the results of their probe into three western stores, Woodard Stores, Limited, Vancouver, David Spencer, Limited another British Columbia establishment operating stores in several cities, and Army and Navy Stores with headquarters in Regina and several branches.

Misleading advertising was charged against the Army and Navy Stores by the auditors, who told of articles offered for sale at a certain price and advertised as they were bought at a lower price and their sale provided a substantial profit.

Bread and butter were sold by the coast stores at cost or below as loss leaders, the auditor said. He also gave details of financing, profits, wages, executive salaries and range of mark-ups on various lines in the two stores.

WILL GIVE GREAT BRITAIN A ONE-MINUTE POSTAL CONTACT WITH FRANCE

London, Eng., June 6.—The world's first postal rocket was today tried out near London by the postal authorities and judged successful.

Deep secrecy veiled the experiment with the rocket which, invented by Gerhard Zucker, German expert, is said to be the forerunner of a service calculated to give Great Britain one-minute postal contact with France and three-minute contact with Ireland.

The rocket will carry 1200 letters, bearing special stamps, it was learned. It will be trained on Calais from Dover, or else across the Irish Sea, and the letters will be posted at the nearest postal point to where the rocket falls.

The speed of the rocket is estimated at twenty miles a minute.

Winston-Salem, N.C., June 6.—

Two young women, one a Canadian, lost their lives here early today in a fire which swept the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Carter.

They were Audrey Ellen Angel, a native of North Sydney, Nova Scotia, and Ethel Massengill, 23, formerly of Raleigh.

LARGE AREAS STILL MENACED BY FOREST FIRES DESPITE SHOWERS

Three Hundred Homeless in Scattered Parts of Maritimes and Newfoundland—Welcome Downpour Saved Small Newfoundland Fishing Village from Complete Destruction—Situation in Restigouche County More Serious than at Any Time Since Fires Broke Out.

Forest fires which spread through thousands of acres of valuable timberland wiped out villages and caused residents to flee for their lives continued to burn in scattered areas of Maritime Canada and Newfoundland today, but less furiously than yesterday, for rain in some districts held them in check.

A welcome downpour prevented flames from entirely wiping out the fishing village of Keels in Newfoundland, but it came after men, women and children were driven to their boats for safety. Today villagers were making temporary progress for the isolated village and counted among their losses the Church of England, the school, several small stores and a dozen smaller buildings.

The situation in Quebec was somewhat improved. Details were lacking concerning progress of a fire in the isolated Maligne district seventy-five miles north of Maniwaki. A blaze that destroyed buildings on the south Tiblement Mine property in Tiblement Township in Northern Quebec was reported under control. The adjacent Tiblement Mining Syndicate camp was also destroyed. A squad of forty men battled a stubborn fire thirty miles north of St. Gabriel de Brandon in the Laurentian foothills. Along the southern border of the province, fire-rangers bore a close watch on fires in the State of Maine. The Maine fire moved over the border at St. Adalbert in L'Islet County and caused alarm to Quebec farmers. Isolated fires on the northern New Brunswick border also spread to Quebec and were being fought by Quebec Forest Rangers.

Eagle-eyed forest protection aviators reported an outbreak on the international border between Maine and New Brunswick that has been raging unnoticed for a week, leaving in its wake a worsted stampage of 40,000 acres. Fire rangers of the Canadian province and the American state went forward today determined to check the blaze.

Residents of Point Sapin, Kent County, N.B., today summed up a total loss of $10,000 after four houses, three barns, a number of small buildings and a square mile of valuable timber went up in flames in Cumberland County, N.S., which had raced through virgin forest land almost unchecked for a week, were under control today. The little village of Polly Brook had been saved just in time by rainfall. Forest rangers saw less danger in smouldering areas in other parts of the province.

Strong shifting winds made the situation in Restigouche County, N.B., worse than ever yesterday, but weary rangers hoped for relief today. New outbreaks were reported in the Kedgwick and Upsalquitch districts, where serious damage has been caused during the past week. Only a few scattered showers have occurred in the New Brunswick danger zones—not enough to be of much help to the army of fire-fighters.

Two communities, Fall Brook and Oliver, were wiped out by the flames, leaving more than three hundred homeless, while scores of camps and summer cottages in remote districts were burned up like paste-board boxes.

HOPE TO HAVE MAINE FIRE SUBDUED IN A DAY OR TWO

Augusta, Me., June 6.—The State Forestry Department today expected the fire that had swept through six townships in northern Aroostook County to be finally subdued in a day or two.

GRADUATING CLASS AT STANSTEAD BID ADIEU TO THEIR ALMA MATER

Gathering of Relatives, Friends and Fellow Students Filled Centenary Church to Capacity Yesterday Afternoon at Annual Commencement Exercises—Principal Awards, Pitcher Memorial Prizes for Pupils Exerting Best Influence, Won by Beatrice Walsh, of Birchton, and Roger McKergow, of Waterloo—Graduating Class Vaudectory Read by Marion Best, of Bedford.

Stanstead, June 6.—Stanstead College tendered a fond farewell to the graduating class of 1934 yesterday afternoon as it ushered a group of young men and women into the practical world equipped with the theoretical knowledge which has made Stanstead College the pride of the Eastern Townships and universally acclaimed as a high-ranking educational institution. Accompanied by the best wishes for success from teaching staff and college mates alike, the graduates ventured forth to put into practice the fundamental principles they were taught during the years which were culminated with yesterday's Convocation.

Ministry of Education, which characterizes annual Commencement Exercises, were present as the graduates stood together for the last time as students of Stanstead College. In the presence of a large gathering of relatives, friends and fellow students that taxed Centenary Church to capacity, each graduate in turn received from the hands of Principal Errol C. Amaron, M.A., B.D., the parchment which represents the crowning achievement of four years of toil and preparation for post-college life.

Owing to the oppressively warm weather the Commencement programme was curtailed to the distribution of diplomas, prizes and certificates and a few brief remarks of advice from some of the professors. The scene in Centenary Church presented the customary colorful spectacle and decorum as the young men and boys sat on one side and the young women and girls occupied the other side of the centre aisle. On the platform with the beloved and popular principal sat C. S. Daintrey, of Boynton, chairman of the Stanstead Township school committee, Rev. H. A. Carson, of Rock Island, representing the Brock Island School Board, J. J. Tilton, of Stanstead, chairman of the Town of Stanstead School Board, and Rev. J. Howard Philp, pastor of Centenary Church, while the college orchestra was arranged in front of the dais.

The principal awards, the Pitcher Memorial prizes for the pupils voted by teaching staff and students as exerting the greatest influence for good on the student body, were won by Miss Beatrice Walsh, of Birchton, and A. Roger McKergow, of Waterloo, while the Gordon McIntosh Shield for citizenship honors the property of Charles Comstock, of Stanstead, for a year. In the ranks of the Eastern Townships Conservatory of Music, Miss Frieda Bindman, of Thetford Mines, carried off the Anne MacKenzie prize. Other awards achieved by Miss Bindman included the Melville Kearns Memorial scholarship and the Dr. T. B. Moody Memorial prize for religious education. Austin Young, of Stanstead, was presented with the I.O.D.E. scholarship, and Billy McKear, a member of grade six, was declared the winner of the Stanstead Church presented the customary

DRY SPELL CONTINUES TO SPREAD RAVAGES THROUGH UNITED STATES

Crops in Eastern States Feeling Effects of Two-Weeks' Dry Spell—Scattered Rains in Middle West Too Late to Save Wheat Crops, but Corn, Forage Crops and Pasture Have Benefitted—Roosevelt Recommends $252,000,000 Drought Relief Programme.

Chicago, June 6.—New dry spots appeared on the United States drought map today as rains brought some relief to other hard-hit sections.

Speeding eastward, the dry area increased today, especially as the official forecasts indicated "showers and cooler" for much of the drought territory today.

Maine, just beginning to feel the drought, has suffered considerable loss to gardens, pasture-land and the hay crop, with the apple yield cut in half by sub-normal temperatures last winter. The situation is said to require abundant moisture within three days.

Relief measures were placed before Congress by President Roosevelt, who recommended a $252,000,000 drought relief programme.

CONFERENCE TO AWAIT FRENCH ARMS PROPOSAL

French Delegation Busily Preparing Plan of Procedure as Result of Challenge Issued by Conference Chairman.

Geneva, June 6.—Accepting the challenge of the Conference president, the French delegation to the Disarmament Conference today went on a draft resolution outlining a plan of procedure.

A heated argument ensued between President Arthur Henderson and Louis Barthou, French Foreign Minister, in the steering committee yesterday after the French had flatly rejected Mr. Henderson's draft resolution on the next steps to be taken.

Mr. Henderson asserted the French would neither accept the plan nor assist in drawing up an alternative. Today the French were busy polishing off a plan submission today went on a meeting of the steering committee.

One of the chief points of the French draft, it is understood, is an endeavor to clarify the position of Germany in regard to the parity, which she left last October. The French are nettled at any suggestion Germany should be approached with a view to getting her back.

DUKE OF YORK PLANS TO VISIT CANADA

London, June 6.—Rumors were current today the Duke of York, second son of His Majesty, would announce that he will visit Canada when he speaks as chief guest at the Dominion Day Dinner in London.

It is well known that His Royal Highness has often privately expressed the desire to visit Canada, but no confirmation of the report could be obtained.

WROTE HIS OWN DEATH HEADLINE

Pass Christian, Miss., June 6.—Ralph L. Morse, 38, publisher of a small newspaper at Waveland, Miss., wrote a headline describing his own death, then committed suicide today.

"Exit the fool—death takes all comers—prominent young journalist takes bow," were the headlines he wrote before he attached a rubber hose to the exhaust pipe of a truck and placed the other end in his mouth.

ROOSEVELT SIGNED STOCK EXCHANGE BILL

Washington, June 6.—President Roosevelt signed the United States stock exchange control bill today at noon.

A LENNOXVILLE MAN KILLED IN AUTO SMASH-UP

Arthur Maskery, 34 Years Old, Met Tragic Death Near Lime Ridge Yesterday Afternoon When Automobile in which He Was Passenger Overturned.

Arthur Maskery, thirty-four years old, of Lennoxville, met a tragic death last night when the car in which he was a passenger overturned on the highway near Lime Ridge and he was instantly killed.

Maskery was returning from Fontainebleau in a roadster driven by John McVeety, 26, Melbourne street, Sherbrooke, when the fatal mishap occurred.

Although the cause of the accident has not been definitely determined, it is presumed that a tire went flat and that the jar threw the car out of McVeety's control. The vehicle had climbed a hill and was travelling along a level stretch of highway when it suddenly plunged into the ditch, overturning twice. McVeety believes that Maskery attempted to jump out of the car. The unfortunate man struck his head on a bolt inside the top of the car and sustained a fractured skull. McVeety, who was pinned under the overturned vehicle, miraculously escaped with only minor injuries.

Leonidas Bachand, district coroner, held an inquest at Lime Ridge last evening, when a verdict of accidental death was returned. The evidence indicated that Henri Marchette, of Lime Ridge, who was riding to Ludswell on his bicycle, was the first to reach the scene of the mishap. By that time McVeety had managed to extricate himself. Maskery was on the ground a few feet from the car.

Shortly after Marchette's arrival upon the scene, Alfred Lacroix, also of Lime Ridge, reached the scene of the accident and Dr. Gerard Lemieux, of Weedon, was summoned. Maskery was given medical aid, and Dr. Lemieux treated McVeety's injuries.

The jurymen for the inquest, which was held at the home of Adolphe Brousseau, were Eugene Boisvert, Adolphe Brousseau, Astruc Couture, Hubert Charvoix, Luc Bourgard and Doris Bernier. Maskery leaves his wife and two children to mourn his tragic death.

MAYORS' CONGRESS POSTPONED

Montreal, June 6.—Decision of the Canadian Government to cut off contribution to the dole on June 15 has resulted in postponement indefinitely of the congress of mayors of the province of Quebec, which was to have opened at the Queen's Hotel Thursday, adjourn to Ottawa Friday to ask the federal authorities to relieve municipalities of dole payments, and resume here Saturday.

It is nonsense to talk of our joining the boycott. We are doing business with German manufacturers now as always and intend to continue to do so," Woolworth officials said they would make vigorous representations to the German government demanding that the campaign against their stores be stopped.

COUNCIL ACCEPTED WITH REGRET RESIGNATION OF ALD. OMER BLAIS

West Ward Representative Left No Alternative to Council but to Abide by His Decision—Mayor Announced Tuesday, June 19, as Nomination Day in West Ward Bye-Election—Lamp Posts Before Residences of Former Mayors Provoked a Lively Discussion.

It was with regret that members of the City Council last night accepted the resignation of Omer Blais as West Ward alderman, a position which he has held since 1928.

The Council had little choice in the matter. Although not present at the meeting, ex-Ald. Blais made it very emphatic that he desired to be relieved of his mandate.

His final decision was made known to the Council in a letter from the former West Ward representative which was read by City Clerk Antonin Deslauriers.

"Mr. Blais is master of the situation and if he is insistent upon resigning we have no other course than to abide by his decision," Ald. Dubuc, the other West Ward alderman, said in proposing a motion that the resignation be accepted. The motion was seconded by Ald. Sylvestre.

Before putting the motion to the Council for a vote Mayor Bradley expressed his personal regret that the former West Ward alderman had seen fit to conclude his municipal career. The motion was unanimously adopted.

Immediately following the adoption of the motion the Mayor announced that nominations for a successor to ex-Ald. Blais would be held on Tuesday, June 19th, and voting, should there be more than one candidate nominated, would take place the following Tuesday.

PARLIAMENTARY CONTROL OF NEW MARKETING BOARD IS DEMANDED

Ottawa, June 6.—Prime Minister R. B. Bennett will speak on the marketing bill as the last shots in the long debate on that measure are fired in the House of Commons today. The bill is up for third reading and, as was expected, the Opposition took the chance to assail it anew.

A move towards unanimous acceptance of the measure was made last night when Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Liberal leader, urged the Government to allow it to go back to committee for the making of certain changes. It is expected the Government will refuse.

Mr. King took credit to the Opposition for the amendments already made, which he said, brought it more in line with principles of responsible government and parliamentary supremacy. However, there were still clauses which negated the rights of Parliament, and if the Government would go the whole way in the direction on which it had already embarked the Opposition would support it.

Strong objection was taken to the sections of the Act which permit marketing boards, representing groups of producers, to establish codes which would have the force of law without parliament sanction. The British Marketing Act provided that any scheme adopted must have the approval of both houses of Parliament and he thought a similar provision should be embodied in the Canadian Act.

Few flew early in yesterday's sitting when C. E. McIntosh, Liberal, North Battleford, rose on a question of privilege to reply to some remarks on Monday of Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture. On Monday, Mr. Weir called the Speaker's attention to the fact that last Friday, Mr. McIntosh attributed to the Minister the expression "merrily political tattle" in referring to the Mennonites, the French, the Belgians, the Scotch, the Welsh and other western settlers. Mr. Weir said he did not hear Mr. McIntosh attribute this expression to him and that none of his colleagues on the Government heard it but that the words were added by Mr. McIntosh when he was revising his speech in Hansard, that the words were written in with a red pencil, that Mr. McIntosh had instructed the Hansard official that they should appear.

Mr. McIntosh said yesterday in the House that he admitted he used the words, even though the Minister and his colleagues said he did not, and that he expressed to Hansard the desire that they appear in the revision of the report of his speech. Trouble began, however, when he said that if he were to be named on a committee of the House, as had been suggested by the Prime Minister, to explain or defend such action, he would also request that Mr. Weir be called to explain the changing of a report of remarks of his in the House last year. Mr. Weir jumped to his feet and denied he had made such a change, and demanded a retraction. Mr. McIntosh, after noisy clamors from Conservative members, withdrew this charge, but later Mr. Weir said he did not charge Mr. McIntosh with inserting the words complained of on Monday in Hansard.

MANSONVILLE FIRE CAUSED MAN'S DEATH

Ashton Snodgrass, Twenty-Seven Years Old, Electrocuted while Assisting Firemen to Extinguish Blaze of Undetermined Origin.

Mansonville, June 6.—Ashton Snodgrass, twenty-seven years of age, is dead and the coroner for this district, Dr. G. W. Rummels, of Granby, is delaying the inquest into the fatality in an effort to discover the origin of the fire which was indirectly responsible for Snodgrass' death. The victim, a telegraph operator here, was electrocuted yesterday afternoon while assisting local fire-fighters to extinguish a blaze in the store rented by A. Camille on Bridge street next door to the Mansonville post office.

The fire, which caused but slight damage, was discovered shortly before four o'clock yesterday afternoon. How it started has so far been undetermined, investigation tending to show that there was no fire for heating purposes in the building at the time. Snodgrass went to the aid of the brigade and was in the dry-goods store when electric wiring dropped from the ceiling.

Snodgrass became entangled in the death-dealing wires and remained caught until Albert Brouillette, a local electrician, freed the victim after a heroic effort which entailed considerable personal risk to the rescuer. Owing to the absence on a sick call of Dr. Elwin Gillanders a call was sent to Troy, Vt., and Dr. Shean arrived on the scene fifteen minutes later. After attempting for half an hour to revive Snodgrass Dr. Shean pronounced the man dead.

Snodgrass, unmarried, was a brother of Mrs. Norman Boright, of Mansonville.

MANSLAUGHTER CASE OPENED THIS MORNING

Gustave Bolduc, Twenty Years Old, of Asbestos, Appeared for Preliminary Hearing Before Judge J. H. Lemay on Manslaughter Charge Arising from Death of George Mackenzie, of Danville.

The preliminary hearing of Gustave Bolduc, twenty years old, of Danville, who was killed on May 26th when the carriage in which he was driving was struck by Bolduc's car, was inaugurated before Judge J. H. Lemay, in the Magistrate's Court this morning.

MacKenzie and Miss Adele Atkinson, twenty-one years old, of Danville, were driving to a dance in Asbestos when the accident occurred. MacKenzie was instantly killed and Miss Atkinson was quite seriously injured.

Mr. Bolduc was sufficiently recovered today, however, to allow her to testify at Bolduc's enquete before the Magistrate.

Due to the oppressive heat, the preliminary hearing was held in the Superior Court chamber this morning. After several witnesses for the Crown had been heard, Judge Lemay adjourned the preliminary hearing until two o'clock this afternoon.

One of the important witnesses for the Crown today was Howard Robinson, of Danville, who said that he was driving in a horse-drawn team with Duncan Kerr and Douglas Andrews about 500 or 600 yards behind MacKenzie when the accident occurred.

At what speed would you say the car was going? asked Dalma Landry, representing the Crown.

"I would think it was going at about forty-five miles an hour," witness replied.

"Did it pass close to your team?" "Yes, pretty close. I was driving our buggy and we were almost in the ditch."

Robinson said that he had not seen the crash, but he heard it. It took them about two minutes to reach the scene of the accident.

Mr. Landry: "Were there any lights on the car?" "I did not notice."

"Did you notice any reflection?" "No."

"Was it still daylight?" "It was getting dusk."

"Other cars had their lights on?" "Yes, sir."

The witness said that the Bolduc car stopped after the accident but he had not noticed the accident. About eight minutes or so after the accident Bolduc's car drove away.

Mr. Landry: "Did any of the occupants offer to help the victims?" "I did not see any."

Gaston Desmarais, acting for the defence with Raoul Gagne, asked the witness if he had ever driven a car, and Robinson said no.

"Then it is possible the car was going 40 instead of 45 miles an hour?"

Mr. Landry: "It passed like a flash?"

Mr. Desmarais: "When you say you did not notice if Bolduc's car had lights, you mean you would be ready to swear it had none?"

"No, I'm not ready to swear. But I never noticed any lights. I did see the tail light of the car when it stopped."

Duncan Kerr rendered testimony similar to Robinson's.

GRADUATING CLASS AT STANSTEAD BID ADIEU TO THEIR ALMA MATER

Among the articles which young McKee wrote for the Annual to achieve the distinction of a bidding poet was the composition "It Must be the Weather" which reads as follows:

"Isn't it funny that when you meet 'A teacher walking on the street, 'She is nice and says to you 'Hello, good-day, or how-do-you-do?'"

"But in the morning when school begins 'Off many faces go the grins, 'For the teacher, instead of 'how-do-you-do?'"

"To do your work and stop your talking, 'You'll see the teacher's face as you walk, 'She's not at all like when she's walking!"

"It must be the weather, I would say, 'That makes the teacher act that way."

"I'm going to speak to some movie director 'About the teacher being an actor, 'For she might be as famous as Clark Gable."

"If she'd act as well as she is able, 'Still I think it's the weather that changes teachers 'From turtle-doves to terrible screechers."

First, said the Minister, the aim had been to give to the primary producers the regulating of the marketing of their own products.

Second, power was given to the Government to deal with any emergency or condition on its merits.

Third, power was given in the bill to investigate spreads, or the cost of marketing, thereby giving assurance to the producers that they would not be exploited in the marketing of their product, an assurance which, the Minister said, applied similarly to the purchaser.

Fourth, power was given to deal with the importation and exportation of natural or primary products "so that we would have the necessary machinery to enable us to take our place among the trading nations of the world."

Fifth, provision was made in the bill to enable complete co-operation between the provincial boards or boards and the federal boards which might be set up.

After admitting there were many charges made in the bill and that most of these were to meet objections which were expressed during the early stages of the debate, the Minister concluded: "I requested constructive criticism of the bill as introduced, and I regret that the discussion so repeatedly wandered so very far afield from the subject matter of the bill itself. I regret that we really did not have more constructive criticism than we were able to express my appreciation to those who have contributed to bringing the bill into the form in which it now is."

Hon. W. R. Motherwell, former Minister of Agriculture, who followed Mr. Weir, humorously remarked that he had not been present at the Government in bringing this legislative baby into the world that it might well have resorted to twilight sleep. He described its first appearance in the House as "a most distressing spectacle. While a good deal of the 'fogy' plangage" had disappeared there were still some objectionable features. There was just enough left for identification purposes, "just enough to show its semi-forgotten origin or its foster parentage because the Government was really not its parent."

This bill was born in the farmers' and producers of Western Canada, particularly, and the statement that the Government is thrusting this upon the people, is not right. It is the people who are thrusting this down the throats of an unwilling Government.

Meeting Mr. Weir's argument that there was an absence of constructive criticism Mr. Motherwell said that on the contrary as the result of constructive criticism an almost entire new bill had been brought before the House. There had been at least thirty amendments, many of an important character. Mr. Motherwell explained his action in voting with the Government for second reading while his leader Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, had voted against it.

Mr. King had properly opposed it on the ground that there was no safeguard to the consumer provided. Mr. Motherwell said his own important reason for supporting it was that it would mean a great deal to the producers of Canada.

The city is going to spend some hard-earned cash on travelling expenses. The Council approved the recommendation of the Police Committee that the Chief of Police and four members of the local force represent the city tomorrow at the civic funeral in Three Rivers of Chief Vachon, who lost his life serving his city, while it was agreed that Dr. Dion, Municipal Health Inspector, would attend the Congress of Hygienists for Canada, which is to take place in Montreal from June 11th to 13th.

The City Clerk read a letter from the Canadian Pacific Railway asking that the city immediately repair the damage caused to their property on Belvidere street which resulted from the laying of sewer pipes. Ald. Ross informed the Council that preparations had been completed by the city to have this work started immediately.

At the request of Ald. Fortier, Ald. Ross was named temporary chairman of the road committee to replace ex-Ald. Blais, while Ald. Dubuc is already replacing ex-Ald. Jobin as chairman of the market committee.

Ald. Dubuc gave notice of motion that at the next regular meeting he would introduce a by-law regarding the early closing of stores. He did not give any explanation as to the changes which would be proposed.

The road committee recommended the purchase from Dawson Auto Parts, Limited, of one grease gun at a cost of $142.50; the purchase from J. S. Mitchell and Company, Limited, of one barrel of battieshire grey paint for bridges at $2.25 per gallon and the purchase from Colere, Limited, of one carload of down-flake calcium chloride at $27.90 per ton.

The gas and electric committee reported that whereas the Daigle Lane is a private street, the city cannot install a street light as requested by residents of this street unless the proprietors pay for the installation.

The committee favored the request of Rev. Father Maurice Fortier who asked for permission to lease a city-owned lot in Orford. This lot was desired for the purpose of building a boys' camp.

A number of committee reports were adopted at last night's brief session. Several of these were for large amounts, but those in the majority of cases were for the payment of salaries, insurance accounts, telephone costs and inter-department financing.

Ald. Fortier did not seem much concerned whether the Mayor was paid a salary or not, but he does believe it was mistaken economy to pull up the lamp posts and shift them about from residence to residence. He would continue the present system. Leave the lamp posts where they are. Each new Mayor was entitled to his own lamp posts.

This meant, he said, that the city would have to by two lamp posts every two years but that was only a minor question.

Ald. Loranger held much the same view as did Ald. Fortier and the remaining aldermen, however, appeared to be in the same frame of mind.

Ald. Armitage said he had no objections. So it was decided that each Mayor would still have his own lamp posts, and when he had concluded his term these would continue to grace his home as a mark of public recognition.

Happening to remember that the City Council as yet had not been granted with a photograph of the past Mayor, Ald. Armitage asked the chairman of the City Hall committee to give attention to this matter his immediate attention.

It so happened, however, that the picture is in the course of preparation. It will likely be "hung" in a few days.

The unemployed made another request to the City Council tonight. They presented a petition asking that the city water their gardens. The request has been referred to the water committee for study.

This is not the first request which the unemployed have made in connection with their gardens. First they asked that they be given land. This request was granted. Next they asked to have the ground ploughed by the city. This also was granted. They then decided that they needed fertilizer to improve the soil. The city again came across, and donated fertilizer.

Everything was ready, but the city again was right on hand. The seeds were provided. And now they want to water the gardens for them. No mention has been made yet about having the city pull the weeds or pick the vegetables should there be any vegetables to pick. The city hall staff may be asked to quit work, get their rakes and hoes, and let the unemployed see them do the work.

The Council went on record as favoring the motion recently passed by the Council of St. Lambert's favoring a reduction in the toll costs on the Victoria and Harbor Bridges leading to the Island of Montreal.

It is felt that with a lower toll increased traffic will follow and the

Another border fire which claimed over three townships in Somerset County, was declared out by the Forestry Department.

An undetermined number of sporting and lumbering camps in the Mt. Katashdin region had been levelled by the flames which have burned for a week in that picturesque area, a mecca for sightseers and sportsmen.

The Forestry Department's aeroplane continued today to patrol the fire, relaying progress word of the flames to the thousands or more weary men who have fought the fire relentlessly day and night.

ROCK GARDENS.

Myrtle J. Bea.

There's nothing quite so beautiful As a rock-garden, where The flowers smile between each stone, Fragile, and heed so fair,— And there is always some tinkling pool Where'er you find one, as a rule.

HOW THEY HATE THOSE WHOM THEY INJURE.

Great Britain's debt to the United States, as incurred during the war, was fixed at $4,368,000,000, on which yearly payments of $30,000,000 interest and $65,000,000 on principal was agreed. When the debt was being arrived at Great Britain sent to Washington the Hon. Arthur Balfour. The presumption now is that Great Britain selected a representative who knew least about monetary affairs, thus standing by the characteristic of all the arbiters sent to settle Canadian-United States differences—geographic and internal. We did get some terrible deals, and so did England in the matter of war debts.

France rather diddle the United States, charging that country rentals for the occupancy of their battle-preparing fields, and all other possible and freakish fancies.

On the principle that the debtor who defrauds his creditors always heartily hates him, France has been hating the United States ever since. More tourists from our neighbour go to Germany than go to France nowadays. But most of them go to England, for the ladies are afraid of the frowning Hitler.

THE GAMES WHICH SURVIVE THE AGES.

Cricket scores in England, now that the Aussies are attacking the precious ashes do not show many aimless walks to the wicket. Once I joined a senior club when I was fifteen, and it irked me to see the pompous old-timers make their zero walks to and from the bathole in the crease. So I was driven to organize the Parkdale Cricket Club Colts, who celebrated their birth by defeating the muscle-bound oldsters.

Perhaps curling is the more selfish game, for often have I seen new members acting as plate glass skips most of the season, the while the veterans were hogging the ice and dubbing their out-turns.

Just this season I tried to persuade a novice at golf to switch from a left-handed set of clubs to the right. It was a deep design to be able to borrow a set of matched steel shaft clubs when I visited the "Catarqui," but even my argument that a left-hander never won the Canadian championship was foiled by another critic who reminded me that once upon a time Fritz Martin, of Hamilton, defeated George S. Lyon in the finals for the premiership of a year. Martin was a port-sider, but one must remember that in those days Hamilton was tigerish in all its sports.

Some twenty-five years ago I joined the only lawn bowling club in Montreal. It was in Westmount, where it still is, and the club had fifty members, all ardent players who concentrated on the game. As an early member of the executive I concentrated on the fence-viewers. If they appeared thrice I had them inside, fitted with a pair of tennis shoes, and in a quiet corner showed them the rudiments of the game. Always they joined. Shortly we had 175 members and had to add six more rinks to our grounds. As we had always the Mayor and aldermen as members the town bought the block, and leased it to the club at a nominal pay-if-you-can rental. The membership has never reached again the "high" under my presidency. That easy rental paternalism has perhaps something to do with the lethargy in gaining new members to take the place of those moving away. A city changes its district personnel faster than a town does.

Perhaps a departure from self-pursuit of the pleasures of a club may impair our skill, but with the redoubtable "Willie" Brown as preceptor, I managed to win a trophy at the Dominion Tournament in Toronto, together with other prizes and trophies, not forgetting a watch won in an individual points tourney.

There are other games. Baseball may not be a selfish game, but a quarter century ago it was as rowdyish as was empire-baiting, and I preferred the game of cricket which we had played on the old college grounds.

After being well-nigh smothered in rugby football, where it was then the rule for as many as could fall on top of a chap who had the ball, I organized an "Association" or "Soccer" football club, and as the lightest mon on the team I played as full back and team captain. We were defeated once when we ventured as far as Galt, which town produced many international stars in the olden days.

Which brings to mind in these lazy days of convalescence an incident of early days in 1886, when I graduated from the printer's case to the editorial floor of the Mail. Mr. Farrer, the chief editor, first tried to dissuade me, saying he could not pay me half as much as a good printer's wage. As I persisted that it was experience that I sought he gave me my choice of either assistant sporting editor, or criminal court reporter. Naturally, as a sixteen-year-old, I preferred any position as "Editor."

"Ha!" said the Chief Editor, "I knew that would be your choice. But I think too much of you, my lad. You report to the City Editor this afternoon to do the Police and Assize Courts. There you will always be in close touch with all the 'sports' of the city. They come there in time."

A son of a judge got the post of assistant sporting editor, and within six months I had to request my five comrades at the reporters' table to keep the name of that young man out of the day's report. The dishevelled young colleague had just come up the cell stairway, charged with being drunk and disorderly. Then did I understand fully the wisdom and kindness of the Chief Editor.

Winning the international championship at whist in 1915, I have not risked the loss of the honour in any tournament, but I hereby announce retirement from the position of Foreman Farmer on Nick Dean's Salmon River Farm, for I shall devote my rest period to "bridging it."

That is my Sports Review, written as a prologue to the assertion that in all Sports and Pastimes we feature such games as are purely amateur. Take Babe Ruth away from professional baseball, and all the other ivory slaves cannot make the game long survive. Where the players are hired men no game can be a gentleman's game.

But any game on the Parade Grounds, particularly the young girls' soft ball, are worthy the pen of our Sporting Editor and his amiable assistants.

I have not a word to say against Horse Racing the way Henry Ingram and I understand the game down in this English corner of Quebec, though I am not enamoured of it since once I attended an ice-racing meet with thin-soled shoes on.

Hockey will lose interest just as did lacrosse if the amateur rules permit such episodes as that which occurred in the Arena last winter when three of the best men from the defeated East Angus team appeared in the finals on the front line of the Coalbrook team to play against Dominion Cottons. That is just chiseling in. And I am told that secret professionalism is creeping into the Amateur Leagues.

EDITOR'S NOTE BOOK.

The grim old bachelor grins when he reads the society news from New York and Hollywood. He sees in each new marriage the story of "Ten Nights in a Bedroom," with the grim shadow of the Divorce Court, and the malign possibility of Alimony. But all the fascinating blondes are preserving their reputation as a One-Man-Girl by taking courses in the Breach of Promise Law. It has cost many a rich man $200,000 for catching the eye of a peach blonde with a Mae West lilt, and a Texas Guinan follow through. It is considered taboo for any woman to sigh for domesticity or to become an incubator.

In 1933 Ontario collected $12,650,000 from motorists for gasoline taxes alone. It was all supposed to go into the highway fund in payment of the costs of roads and their upkeep. The total collected for this purpose from 1925 to 1933, eight years, was $69,000,000. But not one cent was ever placed in a Highway Fund. After the general election this month a prize will be offered to anyone who can find either a surplus or a highway fund.

Animalism and Alimony will soon destroy fires of sacred love and marriage. They say marriage is a Lottery, and that is the only kind of sweepstakes we encourage in Canada, where a man sweeps the girl off her feet.

Let those who would sweepstake us to riches and glory take thought of Public Opinion which they profess to be quite above. They would bolshevik us into gambling, and clean us of our cash to one hairy Doukhor.

What Editors Say

ON THE PENITENT BENCH.

Boston American

Once was current a limerick which started off in this way: "A peculiar bird is the pelican, For his bill can hold more than his belly can."

The ribald rhyme furnishes an apt commentary on our "peculiar" system of over-government—sole counties, ward municipalities, overlapping municipalities, petty districts, all laden down with excessive political payrolls and all preying on the public pocketbook.

The bill of too much government is exactly like the ridiculous pelican's bill—insatiable. And the oppressed taxpayer is not willing to go on feeding his hard-earned wage to politics. Our Legislature—and that includes the Legislature of Massachusetts—must make less government and less taxation the new order of the day.

The Boston American, at one time an exponent of socialistic theories, is now an exponent of government, has seen the light, and traces the burden of taxation to the weak politicians who mistake the voice of the self-seeking few for the voice of the people. Every new bureaucrat, every commission created in but another place for the political parasites and drones who encourage waste and extravagance. You find at the heads of these commissions men of no experience as employers, and of little knowledge how to finance public business. They have never had a business of their own, therefore they do not and care not, so long as the taxpayers do not rebel.

THE END OF LIFE'S JOURNEY.

British Exchange

In a competition, offering one hundred dollars holiday money for the best answer written on a post-card to the question "Where would you go, and why, if you won a hundred dollar holiday?" one of the winning cards sent in had this written on it:

"Fifty years ago a girl sat on a fence outside a little Cornish village, and a young man asked her to marry him. Now I am a lonely old woman, but for my last holiday I should like to find that little old Cornish village again."

A life story of fifty years told in words. This works out at $2.50 an exactly fifty words. This works out at two dollars a word. Not too much for a little masterpiece that even the great de Maupassant himself might have envied. The sun shines warm again in the little old Cornish town.

NEWSPAPERS AND POLITICS.

St. Thomas Times-Journal

The Times-Journal has on more than one occasion expressed the opinion that there are too many people in public life who place party before country; who maintain on each and every occasion that what their side says and does is right and that whatever the other side says and does is wrong. It has urged less bitter partisanship and more toleration of opinion, recognizing that no man or party can always be right, and no man or party can always be wrong.

Mr. Humphrey cited the Times-Journal view, and put forward the claim that as the Sarnia Canadian Observer is also a non-party newspaper it naturally followed that it, and all other independent newspapers, should support independent candidates. Theoretically that might appear to be a logical contention, but Mr. Humphrey has not got the right slant on the question. By advocating a more independent appraisal of political issues, the Times-Journal was taking up the judges on behalf of independent candidates. Independent candidates are too often people who run in the interest of one particular issue which appeals to them—it might be temperance or some other matter—and are not much concerned about anything else. What the Times-Journal and other non-party newspapers assert is that there is right and wrong in both the main parties of the state, and that the patriotic citizen will weigh the pros and cons in relation to both sides, form a judgment as to which side has the better claim to support, which has the more good in its policies, and vote accordingly. It might be that he would prefer to vote for an independent, provided there is one in the field, but independents are few and far between and the average elector must choose between Liberal and Conservative. An elector who really thinks over election campaigns and does not blindly vote for one party from the time he is twenty-one until the end of his span, will not always vote one way. That is what we mean by independence of thought in this or any other election.

The public is in a much better position to judge the issues nowaday than it was when every town or city had two papers, one for the Liberal side and the other for the Conservative side. The papers used to be to color the reports of the candidates' meetings so as to make it appear that those of the candidate endorsed by the paper were crowded and enthusiastic, and those of the other man were sparsely attended and dull as ditchwater. With the merging of newspapers into one style of reporting was stamped out, and both candidates are given fair and unbiased reports. The partisan method of reporting is also eliminated by the larger and more reputable party newspapers which give impartial reports and reserve their comments for the editorial columns.

"What happened to that nice lodger you had, Mrs. Murphy?" asked one landlady of another. "Oh," was the reply, "I had to get rid of him. Do you know he told he was a Bachelor of Arts from Chicago, and a week or so later I found out by chance he had a wife and family in New York."

SCHOOL CLOSED AT SWEETSBURG; GENERAL NOTES

Sweetzburg, June 6.—Miss E. H. Aiken, of Highwater, closed another successful term of school on Thursday, being the fourth of that nature which Miss Aiken has taught in Sweetzburg.

The children, numbering about twenty-three, enjoyed a picnic lunch at noon and then played games until the parents arrived in the afternoon. The guests were then treated to lemonade and asked to sign the school register, after which Rev. E. S. There was a book or a present for each child, regardless of whether they had won prizes in proficiency.

V. O. N. ACTIVITIES REVIEWED

During the largely attended meeting of the Victorian Order of Nurses in Sherbrooke held at the MacKinnon Memorial yesterday afternoon under the presidency of Mrs. Andrew Sangster, the serious problem of finance again perplexed the members. The nurses' monthly report was given by Miss G. Porteous. The visits totalled 363, 168 being bedside or maternal, and 195 child welfare and inspective. LIBRARY NEEDS MORE SUPPORT FROM CITIZENS

Drastic Cut in Municipal Grant Has Made Task of Maintaining Sherbrooke's Public Library and Free Reading Room All the More Difficult.

Realizing that any worthwhile organization has to face many difficulties, the officials of the Sherbrooke Library are determined to "carry on" their work. They hope that perseverance will overcome the problems which the library is confronted with at the present time, and that with renewed interest and support on the part of the citizens the library and free reading room will be enabled to take its rightful place in the intellectual growth of the city.

It was with regret that the library executive at its annual meeting yesterday accepted the resignation of John Leonard, K.C., as chairman of the board, and as Mr. Leonard relinquishes this post after many years of faithful service. Under his guidance the library has faced its problems in the past. He has seen it through many difficult times. Realizing that a public library is not only an asset, but a necessity to any well-organized community, Mr. Leonard has always fought for the continuation of Sherbrooke's library.

Now he leaves to others the task of carrying on. At yesterday's meeting three honorary presidents were appointed to the board. These are Mayor F. H. Bradley, Alfred Wood, editor and president of the Sherbrooke Record, and Mr. Leonard, who will continue his association with the library in this capacity.

In its hard fight for existence the Sherbrooke Library has received little encouragement from the municipal authorities. While the annual financial statement, which was submitted yesterday by Albert T. Kraushaar, honorary secretary, shows a small balance in the bank, this cannot be attributed to financial help received from the City Hall.

The library is receiving at the present time the meagre annual grant of $800 from the city—a small amount for the encouragement of intellectual growth. Originally the City Council set aside each year $1,500 for the library. It was then decided that annual would be reduced to $750. A little later came another "cut" and the library found itself receiving but $650. But the council did not stop there. They later reduced the grant to $300.

In presenting his financial report yesterday, Mr. Kraushaar said that reasons for the poor returns during the past year were attributed in a large measure to this pronounced reduction in the municipal grant.

In order to strengthen the present executive committee of the organization six new members were added yesterday to the committee. These are E. J. Page, D. J. Salls, G. E. Ewing, Lewis Rosenbloom, Walter Murray and Willard Humphrey.

It was evident at yesterday's meeting that the public-spirited men and women who are working on behalf of the library are not discouraged. They realize that the future will not be easy sailing, but they are going to put their shoulders to the wheel and do their utmost for the continued existence of the library which has served Sherbrooke for many years.

In their work they realize that they must have public support. It is self-evident that a library cannot function with only a few persons interested.

The Sherbrooke Library belongs to the citizens of Sherbrooke. It is open to everyone, and the present Board of Governors hope that the people of Sherbrooke will take full advantage of the opportunity afforded and do their utmost to keep the Sherbrooke Library a thriving public institution.

In presenting her report, Miss Winnifred A. Farmer, librarian, stated that the number of books in circulation during the year totalled 22,724, a decrease of 7,314 compared with the statistics for the previous year. Of this total 20,246 were fiction books and 2,478 non-fiction. There were sixty-one new subscribers, a decrease of fifty-nine as compared with 1933 figures.

During the past year two hundred and ninety-seven new books were purchased, including two hundred fiction, forty non-fiction and fifty-seven juvenile.

Twenty-three books were donated to the library during the year, the donors including Mrs. N. E. Brooks, Mrs. W. J. Booth, A. Genge, Miss Seaward, Miss Louise Arnold and J. P. Wells.

The fees and fines collected totalled $384.25, a decrease of $110.18 compared with the amount received in 1933.

The financial report of the ladies' committee revealed a balance on hand of $72.38. The receipts totalled $424.03, with cash on hand at the beginning of the year, $187.79. The sum of $516.13 was spent on new books, and advertising and sundry expenses accounted for $23.31.

The ladies' committee receipts totalling $424.03 were made up of the following: Tag Day, July, 1933, $105.35; two rummage sales, $69.26; bridge and tea in I.O.O.F. hall, $88.35; contest, $25; and from Mr. Kraushaar for new books, $175.

This scholarship was won this year by Miss Beverly Ames, who is a pupil of Miss Mildred Lergie. Miss Ames obtained 79 per cent.

This scholarship was won this year by Miss Vivian Parr, who is a pupil of Miss Nora Leonard. Miss Parr obtained distinction average with 95 per cent. in the theoretical examination and 82 per cent. in the practical examination.

Some of the fixed assets of the Library may have to be disposed of to maintain the free Reading Room for the coming year, as the Directors will keep it open as long as there is a dollar in sight.

Some discussion took place at the hard-going of an institution which is a cultural center for the city. No city aiming to be a metropolitan center or a place growing in importance can afford to be without a public library.

The Reading Room is generously used by the public, and it has been very popular with the unemployed during the long weary winter months. It was thought that an appeal for help from the City Council in this present emergency would be favorably listened to in view of other grants made.

Miss M. Euphemia Ross, of Montreal is spending a few days with friends in St. Etienne d'Ifford.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Arnold are enjoying a week's motor trip to the Gaspé Coast.

A brief business session was held under the presidency of Mrs. Arthur Farr, during which plans were made for a card party. A pleasant social hour followed and later the hostesses served dainty refreshments.

Mrs. M. S. Macdonald entertained the Women's Association of Trinity United Church yesterday afternoon at her residence on Queen street. A prettily decorated box filled with gifts was presented to the bride-to-be by little Miss Annie Page and Master Bryce Billings. Delicious refreshments were afterwards served on the lawn, when Mrs. Winget, assisted by her daughters, the Misses Elsie, Gladys and Ruby Winget, and Miss Vivian Clark.

The grand finale to a friendly quilting contest, sponsored by the Women's Association of Plymouth United Church, was a delightful supper party given by the losers last evening in the church hall. Captain, Mrs. Z. W. Griffith, and her team, who were defeated by only two points by Mrs. Garnet Ross and her workers, acted as hostesses. Covers were laid for sixty, the tables in T formation being most attractively arranged with lilac and pink candles. The pleasant social gathering and delectable supper, made a very suitable ending to the contest, in which the keenest interest has been evinced by the captains and their respective teams.

LOCAL FARMERS WELCOMED RAIN THIS MORNING

Slight Rainstorm Worth Thousands of Dollars to Farmers Throughout Eastern Townships—Indications Point to More Rain Before Nightfall.

Farmers throughout the parched Eastern Townships this morning breathed a prayer of relief as a gentle rain watered rapidly-drying fields and gave promise of much-needed additional moisture. The brief storm, worth thousands of dollars to agriculture in this district, was not sufficient to counterbalance the arid spell of the past month, but indications at noon were that more rain could be expected before nightfall. Following yesterday's tropical weather, which saw the mercury rise to eighty-nine degrees, the highest mark recorded to date this year, the rain was welcomed alike by farmers and sweeter city dwellers.

The extremely dry spell few weeks has had a very serious effect on the crops in this district. Lennoxville Experimental Farm officials said today that as a result of the parched conditions the hay crop will be much shorter than expected, while other crops, such as grain and corn, may also be affected. "It will not be much more of this dry weather than severely curtail our farm production," the Record was informed.

The lack of rain over an extended period has caused anxiety, not only among local farmers, but throughout the Province of Quebec. Hon. Adolphe Godbout, Quebec Minister of Agriculture, said today that if there was no rainfall within a day or so the situation would be "fraught with serious consequences." The soil was excessively dry, he pointed out. First there was heat and then wind, and of the two he considered the latter the worse. It was at this time of year, Mr. Godbout remarked, that crops are being made ready, and it could be easily understood that if a long drought affected growing plants the entire crop was necessarily menaced. Fortunately, no forest or brush fires have broken out in this district to date this summer or there is no saying what might have happened. The second hottest temperature recorded this year was in May, when the mercury climbed to eighty-four degrees.

PHILLIES TOOK DOUBLE-HEADER FROM DODGERS

Late-Inning Rallies Brought Philadelphia Double Victory Over Brooklyn Yesterday — Cardinals and Giants Still Engaged in Keen Battle for Leadership.

One of the best of this year's crop of baseball yarns concerns the fan who watched the Phillies as they lost their seventh successive game at the start of the season and toward the end loudly addressed Manager Jimmy Wilson:

"You asked for it, Jimmy; now you're getting it." After a long trail, however, it begins to appear that the Phillies aren't quite as bad as they have been painted. The Phils showed plenty of power and in a crowd-pleasing way yesterday as they trimmed the Brooklyn Dodgers in both ends of a doubleheader. And they made it look as if they might begin to go somewhere if they could only round up a little more reliable pitching.

After spotting the Dodgers a six-run rally in the opener, when Ed Holley weakened in the fifth inning, the Phils got four runs back and knocked an Mungo out in the same frame and finally won out in the ninth chucker by eleven to ten when Bud Ciano, recently brought up from Buffalo to supplant Don Hurst at first base, socked a home run with one on base.

They repeated the comeback in the second clash scoring all their runs in the eighth canting for a five to four victory after Ray Benges had given only three hits in the first seven frames. Ethen Allen again brought in the winning runs with a homer.

Philadelphia's double victory could change the league standing. The first-place St. Louis Cardinals took care of that part of the day's activities by trimming Chicago by six to three to knock the Cubs out of the three-way virtual tie for the lead. Paul Dean pitched seven-hit ball for his sixth mound victory. The New York Giants kept their place six points behind the Cards by making effective use of sixteen hits, including three home runs, to beat Boston by thirteen to four.

The Boston Red Sox made the only real forward step in the American League when they turned back the pace-setting Yankees, by eight to three, while all the other clubs divided double bills.

The Detroit Tigers barely failed to capture the lead from the Yanks. They equalled the season's high scoring record in the first game against Cleveland by slamming up twenty-one hits and a twenty to two victory, but lost out in the nightcap when Bill Knickerbocker's triple in the ninth frame brought a five to four decision for the Indians.

The Athletics and the Senators had to go ten innings in each game to split their bill. Philadelphia won the first battle by eight to seven with a three-run rally off Al Crowder. Washington took the second tilt by four to three with a couple of tenth inning walks off Joe Casarella and Johnny Stone's single doing the damage.

Sad Sam Jones limited the fourth-place St. Louis Browns to six hits to give Chicago an eight to two opening victory, but three flingers, starting with Less Tejrie, couldn't check the second-gamers hitting and St. Louis won by ten to five despite Zeke Bonura's fourth-inning homer.

NEWARK AND TORONTO GAINED ON LEAGUE LEADERS A heavy-hitting outfielder and a clever southpaw pitcher took over the International League headlines today. The slugger was Vince Barton, of Newark; the pitcher Al Hollingsworth, of Toronto.

Leading the loop in home runs, Barton cracked out number fifteen in the seventh inning of Newark's tussle with the Baltimore Orioles yesterday to climax a four-run rally that won the game for the Bears by six to four. All square at two-all going into the last half of that frame, the Bears quickly put over two runs and Barton's home run with Jesse Hill on base accounted for another pair. They were needed, as it turned out, for the Orioles came back with two runs in the ninth stanza.

Baltimore gave a striking demonstration of how not to score runs. The Orioles punched out ten hits off Fledy Newkirk in the first seven frames and added five more off Walter Brown in the last two chapters, were handed four passes, and still wound up with only four runs. Newark made ten hits off George Granger and Euel Moore. Keith Moleworth contributed four hits to Baltimore's attack and Hill hit three for three to lead the Bears' drive. The victory left Newark one game back of the idle Rochester Red Wings.

Hollingsworth, young left-hander, pitched his seventh successive victory for Toronto as the Leafs easily turned back Montreal by five to two. He allowed only five hits, struck out six, walked only one and only one of the Royals' two runs was earned. Manager Ike Boone's triple and two singles featured Toronto's batting.

Syracuse regained sixth place, replacing the idle Buffalo Bisons, by taking the last game of the series with Albany by ten to five. Four-run rallies in the first and seventh innings decided the game. Ralph Judd travelled the route for the Chiefs although walloped for thirteen hits including a home run and two singles by Del Bissonette. Max Rosenfeld contributed a home run to Syracuse's attack.

INACTIVITY COST HENDRICK "BIG SIX" BERTH Harvey Hendrick, who remained on the bench while the Phillies won a doubleheader yesterday, was ousted from the "Big Six" on his record of inactivity, thus making a place for "Arky" Vaughan, although Joe Medwick climbed past the idle Pittsburgher in the National League batting list. Hendrick, appearing in only twenty-four games, including numerous appearances as a pinch hitter, has made only seventy-two official trips to the plate, while most of the "Big Six" members are approaching the mark of two hundred at bats. Charley Gehring won a place in the sextette by hitting five times in eight attempts to hoist his average twelve points, while Joe Vosmik lost ground.

The standing to date follows: G. A. B. R. H. P. C. Hemesley, Browns 32 115 14 46 400 Manush, Senators 46 194 35 75 387 Gehring, Tigers 44 171 37 65 380 Leslie, Dodgers 44 166 22 62 373 Medwick, Cards 43 178 43 95 365 Vaughan, Pirates 40 143 45 32 364

YESTERDAY'S STARS Outstanding players in yesterday's major league games were: Sam Jones, White Sox, and Sam West, Browns, who pitched six and five hits and five runs in double bill.

Hughy Critz, Giants: Scored three runs and knocked in two more tallies in victory over the Braves.

Eric McNair, Athletics: Made five hits, including three doubles, in two games against the Senators.

Paul Dean, Cardinals: Limited the Cubs to seven hits, fanning seven.

Charley Gehring, Tigers, and Bill Knickerbocker, Indians: Formerer batted in six runs in first game; Knickerbocker knocked in winning tallies in second contest.

John Moore, Phillies: Walloped three doubles in first game against the Dodgers.

Wesley Ferrell, Red Sox: Limited the Yankees to two hits in five and two-thirds innings of relief hurling.

DESIGNER CLAIMS BLUEOSE STILL WORLD'S BEST Halifax, June 6.—"The schooner Blueose, of the Lunenburg fishing fleet, is still able to show a clean pair of heels to any competitor, notwithstanding her age," stated her designer, W. J. Rouse, on his return to Halifax from Saint John.

He was discussing the proposal for a race with her old Gloucester rival, Gertrude L. Thebaud, and the doughty skipper, Ben Pine, of Newport, R. I.

The Blueose is in Toronto where she will be exhibited at the Canadian National Exhibition.

FAVORITE LOST DERBY CLASSIC BY BIG MARGIN

Scoring Smashing Upset, Windsor Lad Won 155th Running of Derby Today, with Onbo, Hottest Favorite in Years, Finishing Third Behind Easton.

Epsom Downs England, June 6.—Scoring a smashing upset, Windsor Lad won the 155th running of the Derby today.

The French-bred colt Easton raced into second place and the hitherto unbeaten Colombo, hottest favorite in years, was third.

Windsor Lad, owned by the Maharaja of Rajpipla, administered a decisive trouncing to Lord Glanely's Colombo, who took his first defeat in Mrs. Easton's hands, second to Colombo in the classic Two Thousand and Guineas, also got revenge on the Glanely crack.

The race was run over extremely hard going. Nineteen entries went to the post, with Colombo a strong favorite at slightly less than two to one odds.

Windsor Lad had been third of fourth choice, behind Colombo, Easton and Unidwar.

More than half a million people were stunned by the defeat of Colombo, who had been called the best colt in England since Isinglass, forty years ago.

Windsor Lad paid 15 to 2, Easton 10 to 9 and Colombo 11 to 8, the latter's odds having further shortened sharply overnight.

The winner had a length margin at the finish of the gruelling up and down mile and a half of the historic Derby course. In turn, Easton beat Colombo out of the place by a neck.

In view of Colombo's dominance in the betting there was special place betting in which Windsor Lad was at 13 to 8, and Easton proportionate.

Easton, for whom Lord Woolavington paid Ralph Strassburger, of Philadelphia, $75,000 after the colt had run a good race behind Colombo in the Guineas, was well beaten by the winner.

Charlie Smirke had the mount on Windsor Lad, a colt by Blandford out of Resplendent who could win only one of his three starts as a juvenile.

Gordon Richards, record-breaking jockey of last season, rode Easton for Lord Woolavington and the veteran Johnston had the mount on Colombo.

All starters carried equal weight — 126 pounds.

The usual colorful scenes marked Derby Day.

The King and Queen drove through cheering crowds to the course from London.

Sir Abe Bailey's Tiberius finished fourth.

Admiral Drake, the second French horse in the classic, was unplaced, as was Bondsman, running for William Woodward of the United States, and the Irish colt, Rathmore.

Windsor Lad, a good hard bay, level of back, with a well-placed shoulder and broad hips, confounded the experts who claimed even when he won the Chester Vase last month that he was not up to Derby calibre.

The Blandford colt is a bigger horse than two other famous sons of that sire, Trigo and Blenheim, the latter a Derby winner. He is resolute and calm and not easily ruffled.

Windsor Lad, bred in Ireland, equalled the Derby course record of 2:24 made by Hyperion last year, aided by the lightning-fast condition of the track. He was sent into command by Smirke after being off the pace in the hard uphill drive and won easily.

Colombo was never in front at any stage of the journey. He raced well up but in the home stretch went wide as Windsor Lad surged forward, then dropped back.

At the mile post, Mediaeval Knight was in front, having set the pace since the field settled down. At Tattenham Corner he was displaced by Tiberius, who was in front of Windsor Lad, Mediaeval Knight and Colombo. In the final drive Windsor Lad went in the lead over Easton, while Colombo hung on in third place.

GOLF MANY TOOK PART IN LADIES FIELD DAY

Twenty-eight lady members of the Sherbrooke Country Club participated in the first field day of the season yesterday afternoon.

Despite the torrid sun which beat down on the links throughout the day the ladies posted creditable cards and competition for the various prizes was very keen.

In Class "A" Miss Mona Bigg captured the prize for the best gross score for the twenty-seven holes. Miss Ave Walsh placed second in this department. Mrs. Gordon Miller turned in the best net, with Mrs. Arthur Kerridge as runner-up.

The prize for the best eighteen holes of morning play was captured by Mrs. Philip Robins, while Mrs. B. N. Holtham carried off the honors for the best nine holes during the afternoon.

Mrs. S. R. Fuller was entitled to several prizes in class "B," but accepted the laurels for the best in ten starts. Easton, second to Colombo in the classic Two Thousand and Guineas, also got revenge on the Glanely crack.

BRITISH LABOR PARTY RETAINS SEAT IN WALES

Party Nominee Gets Eight Thousand Majority Over Liberal—Two Independents Received Meagre Support.

London, June 6.—The Labor party today greeted a new member of its parliamentary force who will take the place of a man who represented the Welsh borough of Merthyr Tydfil during the past twelve years.

The new member, S. C. Davies, was returned yesterday in the fortieth bye-election since the National Government obtained the country's support in 1931. He will sit in place of R. C. Wallhead, who died recently.

Election of Mr. Davies with a majority of 8,272 votes over J. V. Evans, Liberal candidate and his nearest rival, left the party complexion of the House unchanged. Mr. Davies was given 18,645 votes and Mr. Evans 10,373.

Yesterday's bye-election was fought by four candidates, but the two returned, Campbell Stephen, Independent Laborist, and Wal Hanington, Communist, were far behind.

The candidacy of Mr. Stephen sent the three Independent Laborites in the House rushing to Wales for the campaign. James Maxton, John McGovern and George Buchanan urged the electors to "return Stephen and give us a fourth," but their man polled only 3,508 votes, ninety-nine more than Hanington.

The Conservatives did not contest the seat this time nor in the general election. However, their executive instructed Tory supporters to vote Liberal in the bye-election.

FRANCE PREPARING TO DUMP HER SURPLUS WHEAT SUPPLY

To Sell Over 1,500,000 Bushels of Wheat at Slightly Less than Fifty Cents a Bushel.

Paris, June 6.—Reports were current here today that France is prepared to export more than 1,500,000 bushels of wheat at a price of slightly less than fifty cents a bushel. The wheat, it was said, would go to the United Kingdom and Denmark.

Usually well informed sources said they expected the French Government would be asked to maintain a minimum domestic wheat price at a level to be determined after the yield of the current crop becomes known.

It was reported 50,000 metric tons or 1,333,333 bushels of wheat would be exported to Britain and Denmark at twenty-eight francs, currently $1.85, a quintal. That would place the price at 49 1-2 cents a bushel, f.o.b. French ports.
