World News In Brief

Batavia, Sept. 16.—(P)—The Netherlands Army communique today said a force of 350 Indonesians attacked a Dutch camp at Kawi, west of Batavia, and that Dutch camps south of Cheribon were fired upon. Other Republican attacks were beaten off in Central Java, the communique said, and 72 Indonesians were made prisoners on the north-east coast of Java.

Quebec, Sept. 16.—(P)—Thousands of Quebecers today jammed the concourse of Quebec's downtown Palais National and overflowed into the streets outside to give a rousing welcome to Bernard Cardinal Griffin, Roman Catholic Archbishop of Westminster.

Cardinal Griffin, who arrived from Montreal where he yesterday participated in celebrations marking the centenary of St. Patrick's Church, was officially welcomed upon his arrival by religious and civil authorities.

Norman Cardinal Gilroy of Sydney, Australia, who along with Cardinal Griffin and James Cardinal McGuigan, Archbishop of Toronto, are scheduled to arrive in Quebec Wednesday. Cardinal McGuigan will not be able to come here due to previous engagements.

Dunkirk, N.Y., Sept. 16.—Wrecking crews today began hauling a greyhound bus up a 40-foot embankment from a gully where it had crashed, killing two and injuring 20.

The bus, proceeding from Buffalo to Erie, Pa., went out of control yesterday a mile east of here and hurtled 40 feet to the bottom of the gully. Its plunge was halted by a tree.

Dead were Mary Nobel, 18, of Fredonia, N.Y., and Mrs. Della Carey, 72, of Erie. Still in hospital were 12 other passengers who were being treated for varying degrees of shock and injuries to the back. None of the 12 was in critical condition.

Havana, Sept. 16.—(P)—Fourteen persons were held in custody today after a two-hour gun battle between police and a group of suspected "revolutionaries" at the home of Police Inspector Antonio Morin. Duplico yesterday during which five persons were killed and 12 wounded.

Quito, Ecuador, Sept. 16.—(P)—Ecuador's Congress met today to name a vice-president after adopting a resolution barring the return of Jose Maria Velasco Ibarra to the presidency from which he was ousted by a revolt last month.

Under present plans, acting President Mariano Suarez Veintimilla will resign upon the election of the vice-president and the latter will assume the presidency until September 1, 1948, when elections will be held.

Slav-Italian Rioting Marks Birth Of Trieste Territory

Trieste, Sept. 16.—(P)—Yugoslavia, jumping the gun on a three-power timetable, peacefully occupied Trieste today, but Slav-Italian rioting heralded the birth of the free territory of Trieste embracing this Adriatic port and environs.

Italy thus lost some 3,000 square miles of territory, which she had held since a few years after the First World War, by terms of a treaty with the victors of the Second World War ratified formally in Paris yesterday. Some 470 square miles went to the free territory under the United Nations, the rest to Yugoslavia.

(The peace treaties for four other Axis satellites—Romania, Bulgaria, Finland and Hungary—were activated yesterday by deposit of ratification instruments in the Kremlin, in Moscow.)

The Italian treaty went into effect at midnight, Greenwich mean

Inevitable Showdown Over Soviet Obstructionism Is Faced As Assembly Opens

Sees No Hope For Check On Living Costs

Senator Claude Pepper
Declares American People
"Might Just as Well Get Ready for Another Recession."

Washington, Sept. 16.—(P)—Senator Claude Pepper (Dem.-Fla.) said today there is no hope for any effort to check rising living costs and "the American people might just as well get ready for another recession."

He told reporters the Republican-controlled Congress is to blame.

But Senator Owen Brewster (Rep.-Me.) said that so far as food prices are concerned, they are high because the Truman administration is shipping too much food to Europe and other areas.

Pepper scoffed at this, saying: "We've got to help those people more, not less. If we want to stop Communism, we've got to make the capitalism of Europe work."

Senator Homer Capehart (Rep.-Ind.) said he thinks high prices are linked to the American foreign aid program but the basic answer to rising living costs is increased production and "we ought to be working 48 hours a week instead of 40."

Pepper contended that the Republicans led the fight which brought about removal of price controls last year. It is "too much to hope" that they would "reverse themselves" and do anything to haul down prices.

The Republican reply to this argument is that Congress only has the administration, which claimed the new set-up was unworkable, removed them.

"Save food to save American—that would be my slogan," Brewster declared.

He preferred putting it that way rather than saying "eat less and eat less extravagantly," as suggested by Senator Robert Taft (Rep.-Ohio). Taft said that was President Truman's idea first.

Capehart said he believes that if controls had been continued "the black market would be a terrific problem." To restore price controls would require a return to rationing and he questioned whether the American people want that.

Meanwhile the Agriculture Department called on United States grain markets to double the amount of cash required from speculative traders. J. M. McEl, administrator of the department's commodity exchange, authority said the request was being made to lessen the danger of a "boom and bust situation."

At present some grain purchases for future delivery can be made with a margin—or down payment—of around 16 per cent.

Delegates from 55 Member Countries Begin Sessions Full of Fears and Apprehensions but Determined Peace-Loving Agency Succeed—Double Veto Invoked by Russia to Keep Balkan Problem from General Assembly.

By CLYDE BLACKBURN, Canadian Press Staff Writer, New York, Sept. 16.—(P)—The Second General Assembly of the United Nations went into session today at nearby Flushing Meadow Park facing what seemed an inevitable showdown over Russian obstructionism which has dominated the organization's deliberations ever since they began two years ago.

Delegates from the 55 member countries went out to the converted World's Fair Building full of fears and apprehensions, but determined to be optimistic that the peace-keeping agency could be made to work.

Canada's delegation leader, Louis St. Laurent, Secretary of State for External Affairs, admitted he was worried but determined in his belief that success could be attained.

"There are important divisions of opinion that might make our hopes of success look pretty flimsy," he said in an interview.

"But there is world-wide demand for a strong and efficient organization for peace and we have to think that failure is impossible."

"It will require clear thinking and careful acting and we must keep in view the necessity, for the sake of all mankind, of not permitting the creation of two worlds, one out to destroy the other."

The opening ceremonies were overshadowed by yesterday's bitter fight in the Security Council when Russia's Andrei Gromyko invoked the double veto in an attempt to keep the fiery Balkan problem away from the General Assembly.

The General Assembly is not constitutionally permitted to intervene in subjects under active consideration by the Security Council.

The Balkan-Greece question has been subject of bitter controversy in the Security Council and the United States move to have it dropped so that it might be handled by the Assembly where the veto does not apply was fought by Russia and Poland.

Through a complicated interpretation of procedure the Soviet obstruction was overcome after five hours of hectic debate and the question now may be discussed and recommendations made by the Assembly.

Today's business was planned to bring an immediate election of an Assembly president and last-minute indications were that Australia's Secretary of External Affairs, Dr. H. V. Evatt, would be the choice.

Brazil's Dr. Oswaldo Aranha, temporary president who presides at the opening, was reported to be discouraging votes in his favor and Dr. Evatt was the only active candidate.

St. Laurent revealed last night that approaches had been made to delegation leaders indicating a general desire to have his undersecretary, L. B. Pearson, take the chairmanship of the important special committee on Palestine.

He said he had asked that another choice be made because Pearson could not spare for so long an absence from his duties in Ottawa.

It still remained possible, however, that Pearson would be drafted for the task he did so well when chairman of the political committee of the special General Assembly on Palestine last May.

Some of the world's best-known leaders, including State Secretary Marshall of the United States and the French Foreign Minister, Georges Bidault, were on hand for debates which may mark a critical point in the world's quest for organized peace.

Others, notably Foreign Secretary Bevin of Britain and Foreign Minister Molotov of Russia, were absent at the outset but possibly may show up later. Molotov was

On strike are the employees of the "Big Three" of Canada's meat packers—Swift, Canadian Company, Canada Packers Limited and Burns and Company. About 2,000 workers at small independent companies remained at work.

Another provincial angle crept into the workers' demands for wage increases when it was learned that a letter urging Ontario Labor Minister Charles Daley not to intervene in negotiations being carried on in Toronto has been sent out to employees at the Swift Canadian plant there.

Dated Sept. 10, it was sent from manager E. E. Miller's office and also requested Mr. Daley not to waive any provincial jurisdiction in the dispute.

"Swift Canadian Co., Ltd., has continued its negotiations with the union for collective bargaining agreement covering the six meat packing plants ever since the strike commenced two weeks ago," the letter said.

"Each day negotiations continue some progress is made toward consummation of a new contract and

Sherbrooke Today Welcomes Governor General

A unique opportunity to honor Canada's Governor-General will be accorded residents of Sherbrooke and Stanstead Counties when His Excellency Field Marshal The Right Honorable Lord Alexander of Tunis spends two days visiting in the district. His Excellency will arrive at the C.P.R. station at 12:10 p.m. today and will be met by His Worship Mayor Guy Bryant, the Aldermen and members of the Reception Committee. A civic luncheon at the Sherbrooke Hotel will follow a reception at the Officers' Mess of Les Fusiliers de Sherbrooke.

Later the Governor-General with his party will attend a military ceremony at the Parade Grounds. He will be welcomed by the Mayor at 2:45 p.m. and will reply after inspecting a Guard of Honor and veterans of both wars. Highlight of the event, scheduled for the William Street Armory in the event of rain, will be an investiture at which twelve men from the Eastern Townships will receive decorations for awards in World War II.

At 4:15 p.m. His Excellency will leave for a sightseeing tour of the city. He will visit Rt. Rev. Philippe Desrosiers, Bishop of Sherbrooke, and will attend a reception at the Officers' Mess of the Sherbrooke Regiment.

Tomorrow the Governor-General will tour through Stanstead County, accompanied by John Hackett, K.C., M.P. for Stanstead County.

Violence At Graveside At Vigus Rites

Newspapermen Beaten Up by Mourners Who Objected to Pictures Being Taken at Committal Service for One of Two Murder Victims.

Toronto, Sept. 16.—(P)—Police today sought two strangers in the "Lovers' Lane" killings of George Vigus and pretty Iris Scott, as one chapter of the bizarre murder case ended in violence at a graveside.

Relative and friends of Vigus beat up two newspapermen yesterday at his burial, and smashed three cameras as they objected to pictures being taken. The disturbance occurred even as the committal service for Miss Scott went on at another grave less than 100 yards away.

And as the sombre proceedings took place in a drizzle of rain, police who had found a second piece of ash-card in west-end High Park, located the keys to the car in which the bodies of the 21-year-old part-time artist and her 30-year-old friend were discovered stuffed early Friday.

Still missing were two watches worn by the victims and a wallet. Finding of the second piece of cord led police to believe two persons were involved in the thrashing of the couple and the fiendish crumpling of their bodies in the locked luggage compartment of the car.

Just as the last quiet words of committal were spoken yesterday, eight mourners at Vigus' graveside turned on reporters and cameramen.

Role Played By Irishmen Is Reviewed

Governor - General Says Ireland Has Contributed Notably to Building of Many Countries, Including Canada.

Montreal, Sept. 16.—(P)—"We Irishmen," Field Marshal Viscount Alexander of Tunis, Governor-General of Canada, said last night, "are noted for our love of Ireland. We are also, somewhat paradoxically perhaps, noted for our reluctance to remain in Ireland if we can go somewhere else. Because of that latter trait we have contributed notably to the building of many countries not the least of which is Canada."

Speaking at the centenary banquet of St. Patrick's Church held under the auspices of the St. Patrick's Society of Montreal, he traced the history of the storied mother-church of the Irish Roman Catholic community in Montreal and paid special tribute to Rt. Rev. Msgr. Gerald McShane, who is celebrating the golden jubilee of his ordination and his 40th anniversary as pastor of St. Patrick's.

"I know," His Excellency said in paying tribute to the contribution of the Irish people to the building of Canada, "that this great Dominion has been built by the joint efforts of men of many races and that the racial contributions to her culture have been varied as they were valuable. Nevertheless I do not hesitate to say that the contribution made by my countrymen is second to none."

Flour Price Goes Up 90 p.c., Other Commodities Also Soar

The Canadian consumer winced today as the surgeon's knife of high prices sliced larger chunks off his bankroll without anaesthetic following Sunday's removal of wartime controls on a long list of goods and commodities.

Straws in the wind were price increases announced yesterday: Flour—up 90 per cent from $4.05 to $8.55 a barrel at Edmonton and to more than $8 at Toronto.

Bread—up three cents a loaf at Quebec, with a general increase of five cents predicted within a week.

Lumber—up $5 to $8 per 1,000 feet at Vancouver.

A wide increase in all bakery products was foreseen when bakers' current stocks of flour are used up and they have to buy at the higher prices in about a week.

One cheering note sounded from Hamilton when International Harvester Company of Canada, Limited, announced there would be no increase in farm implement prices despite the removal of controls.

Organized labor stirred as A. R. Mosher, president of the Canadian Congress of Labor, said in an Ottawa statement that "in effect, workers are being invited to seek new wage increases in order to meet higher living costs."

And the people's representatives responded to the sharp pain the average citizen was feeling in his pocketbook.

Federal authorities, who announced the removal of the controls, kept a sharp watch on retail prices of goods affected, with F. A. McGregor, Combines Investigation Commissioner, warning the baking industry against any "collusion" to fix prices.

The decontrol order was called by M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, "a fatal step toward economic chaos and inevitable depression." Toronto City Council called on the Federal Government to restore control of prices and subsidies affecting the consumer price of bread, milk and coal.

One of the signs that industry was alive to the situation was the statement at Toronto by Alberic Deschamps, president of the Canadian Construction Association, that self-control was needed to prevent further increases in construction costs.

Curium, New Metal, Very Radioactive

No Use Yet Foreseen for New Metal Partly Because of Difficulty in Making It in Any Quantity.

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
New York, Sept. 16.—(P)—A strange new metal that seethes and bubbles and emits a soft glow was described for the first time today to the American Chemical Society.

This metal is Curium, Element 96, the heaviest known element. It is man-made, it no longer exists in nature, and is the most violently radioactive solid ever isolated.

Prof. Theodore Papanicolaou of the University of California announced that a tiny amount of curium, smaller than a grain of sand, had been produced for the first time in pure form. There is just enough to see it with the naked eye. And this sand-grain amount now represents the total world supply.

Curium is one of four man-made metals discovered during the atom bomb project. The others are plutonium, the super-explosive for atom bombs; American and neptunium.

All four probably existed naturally on earth millions of years ago when the planet was younger, and much hotter. But because of their radioactivity they broke down or decayed into other elements.

This tiny bit of pure curium has a slight yellowish cast, Dr. Perlman said. It is kept in a solution, and it tears apart the hydrogen and oxygen in the water, making these gases bubble off.

If enough of the curium was concentrated, it would probably melt by itself. It would be warm to touch. But touching it might be fatal. Even if an extremely tiny amount entered the body, it would cause eventual death due to its extreme radioactivity.

Higher Allowances Planned For Dominion's Servicemen

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Ottawa, Sept. 16.—(P)—Canada's servicemen, too, are feeling the pinch of higher living costs and the Defence Department, which will launch a recruiting drive this month, has under review the possibility of increasing subsistence allowances, it was learned today. However, it is not known what decision will be reached.

The allowances—food and lodging—have been under review for some time because of the effect of rising living costs on members of the Permanent Armed Forces, most of whom still are stationed outside permanent department quarters.

They were boosted over the pre-war and wartime scales, but since the last increase in April 1946 the cost-of-living has gone up 15.8 points to 136.6 as at July, 1947.

The allowances vary according to rank, ranging from $45 a month for a private to $89 a month for a Lieutenant-General. As in the case of basic pay, the allowances were placed on a parity last year.

The figures do not include trades pay, which now ranges from $4 to $28 a month compared with $1.50 to $12 a month in pre-war years. Trades pay is not paid to officers. Nor do the figures include the allowances for married personnel, which amounts to $30 a month for officers and $20 a month for men compared with a pre-war scale of from $21 to $42 a month depending on rank.

PITCHING HORSESHOES

"Come in, Major," I said to Timothy Morgan. "Haven't seen you in weeks. The old place has seemed exactly the same without you."

The self-commissioned Major beamed at me from the doorway of my office. "That's my Billy boy," he boomed. "If he can't think of a good thing to say about somebody, he says a bad thing."

"How about one of those twenties you owe me?" "I was coming to that," said my favorite confidence man. "Very shortly I expect to be reaping a golden harvest from my Live Forever Ellixir. Guaranteed to keep you alive or your money cheerfully refunded."

"If you play your cards right, Morgan," I told him, "I think I can get you nominated as the October selection of the Crook of the Month Club. Meanwhile, how about my double sawbuck?"

"Speaking of children—" said the Major smoothly.

"We were speaking of the twenty dollars you owe me," I cut in.

"You were speaking of dollars," the mountebank corrected. "I was speaking of children. It might interest you to know I recently became the godfather of a child."

"It might not," I said, but my voice had lost its assurance.

"It happened recently," said Timothy. "I was doing a bit of public relations work for a snake charmer with the Considine Wonder Shows. With the carnival was a girl named Margie, who did a bicycle act on the high wire. Nice girl. Widow of an Army flier who was killed in Italy. She had a son by him. Darling kid. The flier's parents—very upper-crust Baltimore—had been using every legal shenanigan to get the kid away from Margie and give it what they called the proper bringing up."

"And you, I take it, played the white-plumed knight and rode to Margie's rescue?"

"Precisely," smiled the Major. "I had Margie address a letter to her late husband's parents, stating she had reconsidered and suggesting they come to Wilmington to pick up the child on the day when the Considine show was playing there."

"Some white-plumed knight," I said to Morgan. "You start out by getting it on paper that Margie is willing to give the kid away."

"I was willing to take my chances," said Timothy, "in view of the fact that the kid wasn't even going to be there. When the parents arrived on the lot in Wilmington, the little boy they chucked under the chin was my old comrade, Captain Billy, the midge. He looked real cute in his sailor suit. When the pretty nurse the parents had brought along picked up the little fellow and kissed him, the Captain wrapped his arms around her neck and held on for the best part of a minute. When they broke, the wide-eyed nurse gasped and gave the youngster a look of frank admiration."

"Then Billy crawled over and bit the old man in the leg. While the old boy was hopping around, Billy set fire to his would-be grand-mother. 'Inventive little fellow,' I commented. But the old gent from Baltimore didn't agree. 'I know something about children,' he said, leading Billy out behind the tent. 'Spare the rod and spoil the child.'"

"What happened then?" I asked the Major.

"Well, might you ask," said Timothy. "There were a bunch of scuffle and a yelp of pain. When the old man came back into the tent, he was sporting a puffed-up eye you couldn't ever with a teacup. 'He hit me with brass knuckles,' he screeched. 'Let's get out of here,' he said to his wife, 'before the little murderer does us both in.'"

The Major smiled at the recollection. "That was the moment for me to step in," he went on. "Not so fast, I said to the parents. 'This child is flesh of your flesh and blood of your blood. Margie hasn't the means to raise him in the traditions of gentility and culture. You may walk away from your son's son, but tomorrow morning you will find him on the front stoop of your house in Baltimore.'"

"The old man paled and began to shudder in a six-inch radius. I finally let him off for a ten-thousand-dollar check made out to Margie to cover the boy's schooling. In recognition of my services, Margie took me to the trailer where the snake charmer was minding the real son and appointed me his godfather."

"How about Captain Billy?" I asked. "What did he get out of it?"

"I wouldn't know about that," smiled the Major. "The last time I saw Captain Billy he was sitting on a high stool at the refreshment stand, sharing an orangeade with the pretty nurse."

JOHNSON BECOMES THE FOURTH STOOGEE

Hollywood, Sept. 16.—The next time I visit the Three Stooges, I'm going to wear a suit of armor with a built-in attorney.

People kept telling me that the cinematic slapstick of the Keystone Kops wasn't dead in Hollywood—that the Three Stooges were still making eight two-reel comedies a year.

But, just because I looked them up on a Columbia sound stage, I didn't think it was necessary for them to:

1. Throw a custard pie at me.

2. Try to push me into a rain barrel.

3. Drop a brick (rubber) on my head.

Then I read an excerpt from their script and realized they were only playing patty-cake with me.

BIT PART? "Moe," the script read, "is hit over the head. He backs into a red-hot stove. His head is all but torn off by a flying saucer. A dog bites him. He reacts slightly."

"We react slightly to everything," Moe Howard said.

"Including our pay checks," Shemp Howard added.

"We are very subtle comedians," Larry Fine said.

Moe and Shemp started beating Larry over the head.

No, slapstick comedy isn't dead in Hollywood. The Three Stooges collect $10,000 for four days' work on these two-reelers, which Jules White directs and produces for Columbia.

White practically grew up with a custard pie in his face. He started as a kid actor with Mack Sennett in 1912, has been producing or directing comedies ever since.

He remembers when actors used to talk to themselves.

"We didn't have much money in those days and if an actor couldn't play at least 20 different roles in a picture he wasn't worth carrying on the payroll. I remember a scene where an actor walked into a room, shot a gun through a window and then came in the doorway and dropped dead. All he did was change his clothes and put on a mustache."

REAL BLOOD ONCE Beating up each other is the Stooges' chief stock in trade. But they never seem to get hurt.

Shemp complained, "I got a broken nose once."

"Yeah," said Moe, "but he won't tell you how he got it. So I will. Larry was taking a bow on the stage of a theater and his elbow came up and hit Shemp's nose. Even when it started to bleed we didn't believe it—we thought it was a gag and that the blood was only chocolate."

"So Larry took another bow, and let his elbow come up and hit Shemp again. Shemp started yelling and then we knew it was on the level—that his nose really was broken."

There are still youngsters, of course, who think the Stooges are mighty men of muscle who can withstand almost any kind of physical punishment, including being run over by a truck.

One day the three of them were walking on the Atlantic City boardwalk when a kid about nine spotted them, walked up and cracked them over the head with a heavy cane.

Moe still gets purple at the thought of it.

"If that kid had been an inch taller," he said, "I would have kicked his teeth right down his throat."

Council Names Committee To Study Union Bus Terminal Plan

A special committee was appointed last night at a meeting of the council sitting as a committee of the whole to study the proposal advanced by Alderman Henri Labonne that the city erect a union autobus terminal on the site of No. 3 Police and Fire Station at a cost of $200,000.

The committee consists of Aldermen Labonne, Armand Fiset and Alphonse Trudeau, and will report to the Council at a later date. In his proposal, Alderman Labonne has pointed out that buses have several terminal places in Sherbrooke with the principal one being on King Street west opposite the New Sherbrooke House.

WORK REVIEWED AT MEETING OF LOCAL V.O.N.

The monthly meeting of the Victorian Order of Nurses was held in the Order's offices, 100 Wellington street north, with a good attendance of members. The president, A. C. Skinner, was in the chair.

After the reading of the minutes of the last meeting, held in June, by Mrs. G. A. Sirois, secretary, and adoption, a detailed report of receipts and disbursements was presented by the honorary treasurer, R. C. Muir, and covers the following statistics:

Receipts: June, 1947, $385.25; July, 1947, $2,574.42; August, 1947, $842.20.

Disbursements: June, 1947, $577.58; July, 1947, $779.31; August, 1947, $1,028.10.

Total receipts from January 1 to August 31, 1947: $7,371.36.

Total disbursements for the same period: $7,135.55.

The receipts for July, 1947, included the grant from the City of Sherbrooke of $2,000, which was gratefully acknowledged.

That sum helps the V.O.N. to make the nursing services available to all who need them.

Nursing staff during June, July and August comprised Miss Hattie O. Empey, nurse in charge, and Nurses O. Roy, G. Dallaire, B. Savage, D. Morin and P. Doyon.

Miss Empey gave the following statistics for the period under review: Visits, 2,138; confinements, 22; Child Welfare Clinics, 12.

The matter of school nursing in connection with the schools under the supervision of the Sherbrooke Protestant Board of School Commissioners was discussed. It was explained that the board was unable to obtain the services of a full-time nurse. It was reported that a nurse was required for each 1,500 pupils attending school and that the average attendance in Sherbrooke was 800. The V.O.N. has been approached for help in this matter. As another public health nurse is available for the Sherbrooke branch of the V.O.N., it has been suggested that she be used part time by the schools. The matter will be discussed with the commissioners shortly.

The Sherbrooke branch voted the uniform allowance which has been recommended by the national office to be paid at the rate of $25 every four months for each nurse, starting September 1, 1947.

In connection with the annual fund-raising campaign, R. C. Muir

This is very unsatisfactory and makes for congestion of traffic. He has proposed that the city tear down the No. 3 station buildings and erect a new structure at a cost of $200,000.

COUNCIL MEETING TO BE ADJOURNED IN RESPECT TO DR. F. H. BRADLEY

Out of respect to the memory of Dr. F. H. Bradley, former mayor and alderman, whose death occurred here yesterday morning, a regular meeting of the Sherbrooke City Council scheduled for tonight, will be adjourned to Thursday evening.

A meeting of the council sitting as a committee of the whole was held last night.

of about $200,000, which would serve as terminal point for all passenger-conveying vehicles.

This project would be most effective if carried out in conjunction with the erection of a second bridge across the St. Francis, but may well be developed on its own pending construction of a new bridge, Alderman Labonne believes.

Construction of this terminal would entail shifting Lansdowne Market to a new site in the West Ward.

C.W.L. RALLY ADDRESSED BY REV. E. CARTER

Members of the Catholic Women's League of Canada, Sherbrooke Diocesan Council, had the privilege, at the banquet which closed their 21st annual Diocesan convention, of hearing Rev. Emmett Carter, principal of Jacques Cartier Normal School, Montreal.

Father Carter's address, timely and forceful, was on "Catholic Education."

"All education," he said, "is a challenge and Catholic education an even greater one to the forces which oppose the Christian spirit and strive to make us reject as a heresy from the Christian doctrine. The challenge is greater in our generation because the enemies of Catholic education use more subtle weapons. We are face to face with a war of ideas—with Communism which is a perversion of the intelligence."

"We may defend ourselves against this Communistic ideology by Catholic education, the formation primarily of a Catholic mentality, a Catholic viewpoint. We are on this earth for the greater honor and glory of God and the salvation of our souls. Nothing else is important. We must not forget this regardless of what is put forth through the medium of radio, screen or other realms of publicity."

"It is necessary that we return to the supernatural. We must realize that we Catholics have the light of the world and it is up to us to go forward and to see that that light is not extinguished."

During the afternoon session of the convention which was held in Richmond, Miss Aileen Hand, convenor of resolutions, announced that the Sherbrooke Diocesan Council resolved, among other things, to study the immigration policy in Canada and thus be in a position to give assistance when needed; to crusade individually against the menace of salacious literature; to organize study clubs in all the subdivisions; and wholeheartedly endorse the adoption of the song "Carry On" as the official League song.

Importance Of Blood Grouping Stressed In Lions Club Talk

J. R. Potter, of Ottawa, field organizer of blood grouping of the St. John Ambulance Association, speaking to members of the Sherbrooke Lions Club last evening, stressed the importance of instituting a system of blood grouping which would eliminate unnecessary delay in the case of any emergency requiring transfusions.

"Blood transfusions have saved many lives since the first one was given in 1667," he said, "and every individual in the country should know his type. Minor accidents become major and major accidents become fatal if first aid is not rendered."

Mr. Potter stated that members of the police and fire departments and the R.C.M.P. in Sherbrooke had already carried out this system of grouping and that a number of industries were taking the idea under consideration.

Members so grouped would carry their blood identity cards on them and in this way would themselves be safeguarded in the event of accident. In other cities where it has been adopted, this plan has resulted in the saving of lives which might otherwise have been lost through needless delay in obtaining the right blood type.

Reviewing the work carried on by the St. John Ambulance Association he said that the first aid training received by the members was invaluable and in many cases prevented casualties from becoming fatalities.

"Every member of the family should be trained in first aid," he said, "as seventy-five per cent of accidents occur in the home." It is also interesting to note that the accident ratio in industries where the employees had received first aid training was lower, because the employees so trained were accident conscious and exercised greater prudence.

Dr. George Saine introduced the speaker, who was thanked by Harry Horsfall.

Dr. Rene Duberger, in a brief talk, referred to the recent death of Dr. J. A. MacDonald, director of the Canadian Institute for the Blind. "Blinded at the age of 17," he said, "Dr. MacDonald has been an example of courage and determination, helping not only himself, but others similarly afflicted."

He was well known to members of the Lions Club, having visited here on several occasions and his death is a great loss to the province and to all who knew him personally. A minute's silence was observed in tribute to his memory.

Seated at the head table with the guest speaker and President Alvin Adams were Dr. A. N. Dupuis, Narcisse Amiraux, M. T. Stenson, Armand Turgeon and J. Bégin. Guests were Pierre Lajoie, George Sneyd, Toronto, Alfred G. Flume, New York, and Thomas Cullen, Montreal.

WELCOME TO THE GOVERNOR-GENERAL

Sherbrooke is honored today by its first visit from the King's representative in Canada, Field-Marshal Alexander, hero of Dunkirk, Burma, North Africa, Italy, and distinguished Governor-General of Canada.

The Governor-General is assured of a warm welcome to this city, not only because he represents His Majesty, but because of his own outstanding war record, which included leadership of the 1st Canadian Corps, and because of the great and sympathetic interest he has shown in Canada since his arrival in this country.

This is not the first visit of Viscount Alexander to the Eastern Townships, as in June, 1946, he received an honorary degree at the annual convocation at the University of Bishop's College. He has, too, perhaps heard of the beauties of this district from Ogden Glass, headmaster of Ashbury College, Ottawa, where one of the Governor-General's sons attends school. Mr. Glass learned to love the Townships well during four years at Bishop's College School and three years at Bishop's University.

But today Sherbrooke officially welcomes Viscount Alexander for the first time, and tomorrow he will be welcomed throughout the towns and villages of Stanstead County. Many Townships' men served under him in Italy, and he will want to see as many of them as possible, and it will be a pleasure for them to see him in these happy surroundings.

On this the Governor-General's first visit Sherbrooke and the Townships bid him a hearty welcome and a quick return.

DR. F. H. BRADLEY

Fred Bradley died at his home early yesterday morning, and his loss will be felt throughout the whole city and district. There were few men in Sherbrooke more active in civic, sports and church affairs than he was, and he counted among his friends men in every walk of life.

For the past five years Dr. Bradley had to take things more easily due to a heart ailment, but he never lost his interest in the city, the E.T.A.A., sports, or good works of any kind. His jaunty, familiar figure, swinging a cane, could be seen almost any day on Wellington Street, as he smiled and chatted with his friends.

Then, suddenly over the week-end at a time when he felt considerably better, he was stricken with a serious attack and he never really rallied. But at the end he died quietly in his sleep, surrounded by those he loved. To few men is it given to come through the travail Fred Bradley did, and live to see his faith justified in the end.

One of his sons was a prisoner of the Japs in Hong Kong and another was wounded in the fighting in Western Europe. Both returned safely home at the end of the war and the family was re-united. He lived to see his three daughters happily married, with their husbands also safely home from war.

It would be possible to list a great many achievements of Fred Bradley. He served his city well as alderman and mayor. As a director of the E.T.A.A. and in many other capacities he undertook a great measure of responsibility from the days of the first war when he left his growing family to join the army.

But it is as a sportsman that Fred Bradley would best like to be remembered. Long after he was no longer able to participate in sports he retained a lively interest in boxing, wrestling, riding, sailing, hockey and football. He was a sportsman in every sense of the word. He lived by the code of fair play all through his life. His memory will be an ever-living example to all those who knew and loved him.

INCREASE IN COST OF BREAD

Every Canadian will be affected by the increase in the cost of bread, which can be expected to rise by two or three cents a loaf. But it should be clearly understood that this increase is not the result of releasing bread from the list of goods controlled in price by the Government, but because the Government subsidy of over seventy-seven cents a bushel on wheat, paid to millers, has now been abandoned.

This wheat subsidy has been paid for all wheat milled for domestic use, and the saving has been passed on by the millers to keep down the price of bread. The subsidy cost the country $3,000,000 a month, and this will be a direct saving to the taxpayer. But in order to compensate for the increase in cost of living this saving must be passed on by the Government when the next budget is brought down.

Bakers cannot be expected to absorb this extra cost, even though bread is part of the basic diet of the nation, and any increase in its price affects everybody. There is no danger of a bread shortage as long as bakers are permitted to operate profitably, and the extra cost of a loaf of bread will only replace the Government subsidy, and will not mean any increase in the bakers' profits.

The baking business, like every other business, has been faced with increased labor costs and higher prices for raw materials—higher prices which in large part go to pay higher wages in the industry concerned. It is only reasonable that with the removal of this $3,000,000 a month subsidy the price of bread would increase.

But the responsibility of the Government is to ensure that this saving is passed on to the same person who must pay the new higher price for bread—the Canadian taxpayer. This money must not be diverted to other Government purposes, but must be reduced from the tax bill next presented to the public. Only in this way will the Government act to stop the spiral of inflation, even now assuming serious proportions in this country.

BEATING THE VETO

(This is the third of four dispatches on the forthcoming session of the UN General Assembly.)

The troublesome United Nations Security Council veto—which thus far has been used 18 times by Russia and twice by France—has one chance of being revised by action of the General Assembly at its forthcoming, third session.

This will come through an item put on the agenda in separate proposals from Australia and the Argentine. In simplest terms, the idea is to call a general convention of nations to consider modification of the voting rules as set forth in the United Nations Charter adopted at San Francisco in 1945.

Importance of this proposal can hardly be underestimated. If it goes through, it would mean another full-dress conference like that at San Francisco. The decision to call such a conference can be made by two-thirds vote—38 of 57 members of the General Assembly. The Security Council has no power to veto such action.

Anything might come out of such a world conference now. It is likened by U. S. experts on the UN to the American Constitutional Convention of 1787. That gathering was called to revise the Articles of Confederation after the Revolutionary War. What came out was not a revision of the loose federation of colonies, but the brand-new U. S. Constitution.

ONLY FAILURE WOULD BRING CHANGES

There are plenty of people who believe that a complete revision of the UN charter is now necessary to maintain world peace. Many members of Congress think so. But such a development in world affairs may now be considered to have a chance only if the present UN organization checks up complete failure on the international political and security matters soon to be considered in General Assembly.

The report of the 11-nation Security Council to the General Assembly may be one such stumbling block. It will have three main items. First is the report of the international atomic energy commission, which is stalemated.

Second is the report from the limitation of armaments commission. Here again, stalemate. Third is the report of the commission on creation of a UN police force. After refusing to discuss this subject for months, Russia has finally come through to suggest a peace force considered inadequate by other powers.

Failure of the Security Council to resolve these three major problems is expected to lead to some demand that these matters can be given to the General Assembly to handle.

EASIER TERMS FOR ITALY DOUBTFUL

Politically, the three most important matters before the General Assembly concern Palestine, Greece, and revision of the Italian peace treaty. This last is a proposal from eight Latin American countries. Their idea is to give Italy easier terms than were imposed in the treaty drafted by the Big Four, but their prospects are doubtful.

There are three Palestine items on the agenda. First, the British propose their old League of Nations mandate over Palestine be terminated. Second, Saudi Arabia and Iraq propose that Palestine be made an independent government with, presumably, Arab control. Third is the report from the General Assembly's own special commission to investigate the Palestine situation, which recommended partition into Jewish and Arab states.

American policy on these three proposals has not yet been disclosed. On the matter of Greece, however, U. S. policy is definitely, and is a follow-up of the position which the U. S. has maintained in the Security Council against Soviet bloc opposition.

It calls for a constant UN watch on the Greek border to stop the aggression which threatens the independence of Greece from Communist pressure. Since the north in Albania, Yugoslavia and Greece. Since the Security Council failed to solve the Greek issue, it is in order for the United States to bring the matter before the General Assembly. This is the one major issue put on the agenda by the American government.

THAT TAX ON JEWELRY

Calgary Herald

A Calgary woman walked into a local jewelry shop the other day and bought some silverware. She paid the purchase price, plus a 25 per cent luxury tax, imposed by the Dominion Government. Beside her stood an American woman. She bought identically the same goods, but she paid no luxury tax. Why?

By federal provision, a foreign tourist is exempted from the tax. The tourist is permitted to buy up to $100 worth of goods tax-free and duty-free. It is true that goods exempted from the luxury tax are not immediately turned over to the purchaser. They are shipped in bond to the United States customs port nearest to the buyer's home. A customs declaration must also be made. But the fact remains that the tax is not levied.

On the other hand, this same Calgary woman visited the United States during the past summer. She made a modest purchase of jewelry there. She was charged the purchase price, plus a federal tax and a state tax.

FAIL OF SINGAPORE

Edwin Howard in London Times

Those of us who were in Singapore in 1941 have, on return home, endeavored to make clear that the loss of Malaya was directly due to the fall of France.

When the Battle of Britain was being fought, here in 1940, the Japanese were already consolidating their grip on Indo-China and preparing for the invasion by land, for which no provision could have been adequately made in that time of Britain's isolation. Against sea attack Singapore's impregnability was accepted but not put to proof.

To those who ask why the possibilities of invasion from the land had not been taken into account before the war, let it be asked in return what hope any Secretary of State of War would have had of obtaining funds for such provision, for his demand would have had to be based on the assumption that France would not be strong enough to deny her Indo-Chinese territory to the invading Japanese.

COST OF OBSCULESCENCE

Toronto Globe and Mail

The disastrous wreck at Dugald, Manitoba, has shocked Canadians across the country. So many take advantage of holiday week-ends, especially at Labor Day, that an involuntary thought that "I might have been in that" passes through almost every mind. There is a peculiar solemnity in the instant transition from carefree merrymaking to painful injury and death itself that must move the most cynical. Pictures and eyewitness descriptions of the event make it clear that the accident exceeded in horror any railway tragedy we have had in many years, with fire and the consequent prevention of assistance crowning the holocaust. Pity for the victims and sympathy for the survivors fill every heart.

It is unhappily true that it seems as if it is only when such tragedies occur that we stop to take stock of our habits and measure the shortcomings. There can be no doubt that considerable latitude has been given the railways because of the double handicap of a deep depression, followed immediately by an almost total war. A great deal of their equipment is obsolete, and in the ordinary course of events would probably have been broken up for scrap. Restrictions that had been placed on the use of old wooden cars had been relaxed during the war, and were evidently not reimposed when it ended. The use of gas illumination in wooden cars is apparently responsible for the rapidity with which the fire took hold of the wreck.

No one would wish to be unreasonable in this matter, but the patience of the Canadian public is running thin. Weekly and monthly it sees alluring advertisements in American publications depicting the comfort and safety rapidly being introduced by the railways in the United States. Many of our citizens have experienced it for themselves. In comparison, it is difficult, not to say impossible, for them to find any evidence of aggressive effort on the part of Canadian railway management to improve or replace the antiquated equipment in which the public in this country is forced to ride. Uncomfortable, unventilated, in far too many instances rolling death traps, these cars should be earmarked for immediate replacement, and definite limits placed on their continued use. Whatever else is done, gas illumination ought to be abolished.

No system or safeguard can hope to overcome entirely the human factor. Wherever the investigation may point the blame it is clear at this time that someone failed somehow to carry out the obvious precautions that would have enabled these two trains to have passed each other safely and gone their respective ways. It is a pity that expediency should take chances with the lives of people in the face of the inevitable possibility. The least that may be done in advance is to compensate wherever possible for the dangers inherent in the failure of the human factor. At the speeds at which trains travel, the use of wooden cars is a negligent disaster. Railways should not be permitted to run them on lines with high speed schedules, and their total elimination should be earnestly pursued.

ABSOLUTELY!

Manchester Guardian

To the list of overlooked words, periodically and playfully gilded by "Miscellany," there might (writes "B.") be added our insistent friend "absolutely." With fine impartiality things are absolutely awful, absolutely beautiful, absolutely this, that, and the other, but not until recently had I seen this working-over-time word used on a public notice. In the doorway of some business premises in Manchester there threatens the would-be offender:

Absolutely No Smoking

What fiendish fate awaits the man who forgets to pocket his pipe or "dimp" his cigarette in time is not indicated. But it must surely be something unspeakable—absolutely.

BRITAIN SHOULD DROP MAN-DATE

Globe and Mail

As the wretched tale of conflict between Jewish refugees and British troops goes on, it becomes increasingly evident that the British Government ought to resign the Palestine mandate at once. To Britain this responsibility now brings no advantage and little honor. The argument for abandoning it, already overwhelming, has been made conclusive by the United Nations committee's report which now goes to the UN Assembly—recommending that Palestine be partitioned into an Arab state and a Jewish state, and that the mandate should end in two years. The origin of the mandate dating from 1922, is worth recalling. It was a duty not sought by Britain, but accepted as a trust from the League of Nations. Some leading Power, it was obvious, would have to administer the areas rescued from the rule of the corrupt Turkish Empire. As British troops under Allenby had wrested Palestine from the Turks in 1917 and were there when the First World War ended, Britain was chosen as the League's agent in the Holy Land. The territory was in no sense added to the British Empire. Britain was to be a trustee, with the duty of establishing a Jewish National Home while guarding the rights and interests of the Arab majority.

These two objectives have proved hard to reconcile in practice, and ten years ago the last official British inquiry into the subject led to the conclusion that the mandate was "unworkable." This was the verdict of the Peel Commission in 1937, after exhaustive study on the spot. It recommended partition and a termination of the mandate. The British Government was getting ready to lay down its Palestine burden when the outbreak of war in 1939 put such issues in the background.

In the light of this history, and the international judgment of UN that the mandate chapter should carry on an administrative job costing both lives and money while bringing no reward except insults and abuse, friendship for the Jews explains why Britain has carried the load until this date, though one would not expect the British batters in New York to perceive that. The one reasonable excuse for Britain's policy has been that withdrawal would expose the Jews in Palestine to wholesale slaughter by the Arabs.

This is a humane reason for staying put, considering the activities of the Stern gang and other terrorists, some would argue that the Palestine Jews have already overstepped their claim on British goodwill. Britain left India, where her obligations were centuries old, at the risk of a Hindu-Muslim civil war. Why should she not leave Palestine, where she has not been established for only thirty years, at the risk of an Arab-Jewish civil war? If it be argued that world statesmanship has a duty to prevent that calamity, the answer is plain: Why should the cost and the grief fall exclusively on Britain, a country which can ill afford to accept such commitments?

The obligation clearly belongs to UN and should fall on UN as quickly as possible. The eleven-nation UN committee proposes a ten-year period in which the Jewish and Arab states could be made ready to take over, and suggests that the British mandate should continue in the interim. This demand on Britain is unreasonable. UN should accept its committee's report or adopt some alternative new deal in Palestine. It should then find the means of enforcing its decision, presumably by nominating a group of Powers to share the responsibility. If this is done, Britain will be fully justified in walking out of Palestine and leaving the rival claimants to fight it out.

HAPPY RENDEZVOUS

Fort William Times-Journal

Dr. Thomas R. Niven, minister of the First Presbyterian Church at Omaha, Nebraska, and Mrs. Niven were holidaying in Minnesota this week, when on impulse they decided they would like to have a look at Canada. So they drove up to the Lakehead before returning home. Maybe their decision arose from the fact that Dr. Niven was born in Motherwell, Scotland, and a little tug from the past was pulling him towards Commonwealth soil.

At any rate, on Dr. Niven's arrival in Port Arthur, the tourist information man thought he detected a slight trace of Scottish accent in the doctor's voice, and sent the Omaha couple to the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Harrison on North High street.

And thus came about one of those strange coincidences which brighten life. For Mrs. Harrison is a Scot—from Motherwell.

DOUBLE ASKS FOR SPECIFIC SUIT LEAD

For the first time in the history of the world championship Masters pair event, the von Zedwitz gold cup went to the middle west, when Frank Weisbach of Cincinnati, O., and Allen Harvey of Louisville, Ky., led the field at the end of four sessions. Today's hand was defended in the tournament by Weisbach in the North and Harvey in the South position.

The double of a three no trump contract usually asks partner to lead the first suit bid by dummy. Many players employ this convention against slam contracts also. Harvey had failed to open the bidding. When the opponents reached four spades, he thought that he could defeat the contract with the right opening lead. He gambled, therefore, that when he doubled four spades, his partner would read that he wanted the club suit led.

The club happened to be a natural opening for North to make, and Harvey trumped. He then cashed the ace of hearts and Weisbach gave him the eight-spot; so Harvey led a small heart which North won with the king. Another club was led back, and the contract was down one.

If Harvey had come into the bidding with hearts at any time, as many players would, his partner would have opened a heart and the contract would not have been defeated. Harvey likes to bid distributional hands, but having both majors, he felt there was no reason for hurrying into the bidding.

Italy Marked Out For Communization

By

DEWITT MACKENZIE

AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

As the signs read the battle is about to be joined between the Eastern Bloc (headed by Russia) and the Western Bloc (led by the United States) to determine whether Italy shall become another satellite of the Soviet Union or whether she shall be an independent democracy.

It's an ironic circumstance that this fresh tribulation should descend on the beaten and distraught Romans just as the signing of the peace treaty by the Allies formally signalled the end of the Second World War for Italy. Stripped of much money and territory and, what hurts worst, of her position as a great power, her government now is facing a fight for its life with a powerful Communist party.

Well, those who sin must pay. It's a pity that Mussolini couldn't have lived to see the misery he brought upon his country. Or is it? Maybe he is where he has a hot front seat from which he can see the show.

The Allies signed treaties with four other states besides Italy—Finland, Hungary, Rumania and Bulgaria. All except Italy already are within the Russian zone of influence. That circumstance isn't a happy omen for Italy. It means that the forthcoming fight between Communism and the anti-Red forces is going to be a tough one.

It long has been obvious that Italy was one of the nations specially marked out for Communization, and the big Red Party in that country has been doing yeoman's work in preparing the ground for a coup. Recently this preparation has been spurred because of the advent of the Marshall plan for European rehabilitation, which has as one of its objects to help countries like Italy defend themselves against aggressive Communism.

With the hope of forcing the issue in Italy before the Marshall plan can become effective, the Communists are adopting drastic measures. Sunday, on the eve of the formal ratification of the Italian peace treaty, Palmiro Togliatti, Russian trained Italian Communist leader, made a bitter speech in which he charged America with "working eagerly to prepare a new war." He also criticized President Truman and Pope Pius.

A cry of "death to Truman" was voiced by perhaps a dozen of the throng listening to Togliatti.

While this speech was being delivered the country was being torn by labor troubles which Premier Alcide de Gasperi's Christian Democratic Party charges were inspired by leftists. Italian harvests were threatened by a strike of 1,000,000 farm laborers. Leaders of 850,000 metal workers announced that they would begin a 48 hour strike today.

And on Sept. 8th Togliatti was quoted in press dispatches era men. They mumbled curses and shouted threats as they made for the newspapermen.

One threatened to throw a reporter in the grave—"a good place for rats"—another shouted: "You've caused all this trouble." The latter then ran at a photographer, tore the camera from his hands and dashed it to the ground. Then he picked it up and bounced it over neighboring graves.

Police moved in to herd the mourners back to their cars. One man flicked with a handkerchief at mud on his coat. He had tackled his man as if in a rugby game.

They had disregarded pleading of a woman relative earlier at the funeral in a Young street funeral home.

Half an hour before the service began, one of the men dashed through groups of bystanders threatening to "bust any damn camera that clicks, remember that."

The woman begged: "Please don't cause a disgraceful scene here."

from Modena to Roma newspapers as declaring before a partisan rally:

"We shall call the Italian people to fight for liberty which is threatened by the Government."

It is worthy of note that the United States and Britain must withdraw their occupation troops from Italy within 90 days of the signing of the peace treaty, thus leaving the Government to look after itself. Moreover, Moscow has left it known that there is a Molotov rehabilitation plan ready for the relief of those who desire it.

This is bolstered by the announcement of a bumper Russian grain harvest—the Soviet Union being virtually the only area in all Europe where crops haven't failed or been bad. So the word has gone out that Russia will be able to provide bread for the needy.

France being another country in which Russia is particularly interested, the French Communists also have been redoubling their efforts to gain control. Russia has let it be known that the proposed Franco-Italian customs union is regarded with disfavor in Moscow, and is holding out the prospect of wheat for France which is short of bread.

Thus the war of the isms in Europe is rushing toward what looks to be a climax. The economic crisis will bring the thing to a head soon if nothing else does.

Plante Says Heavy Bribes Offered Him

Montreal's Assistant Police Director Takes Personal Direction of Drive on All Forms of Illegal Gaming Projects.

Montreal, Sept. 16.—(C)—Assistant Police Director Pacific Plante replied today to a bribery offer by Montreal's gambling lords by taking personal direction of an intensified campaign against all forms of illegal gaming projects, including lotteries and raffles.

The youthful, energetic head of the city's anti-vice and anti-gaming department, disclosed at a press conference sanctioned by his superior officer, Director Albert Langlois, that he had been offered fabulous amounts of bribe money to "soft-pedal" his current drive against gambling.

Upon his refusal to accept the bribes, he said, the city's gangland threatened it would use the money to fight "a war to the finish" against him, using all the means at its disposal.

Police had been notified of the bribe offers, the former police attorney said, and of the subsequent threats and he had been assured he would receive adequate protection.

Plante did not disclose the amount offered him, "because I don't think anybody would believe me," but it was reported unofficially that the bribes ran to five figures.

Plante, appointed assistant director a month ago, said the campaign against lotteries, baseball and hockey cards, slot machines and all types of drawings and raffles had been turned over to his department.

Previously jurisdiction over these illegal activities was the responsibility of the anti-subversive squad, but the latter squad found it was fully occupied with its investigation of Communism and other similar movements in the city.

Plante said operators of lotteries and raffles and organizers of the baseball and hockey card rackets, in which prize money is paid on the basis of combinations of scores on a week's games, will no longer be summoned but will be arrested, photographed and fingerprinted.

If they plead innocent they will have to post $1,000 deposits pending court appearance.

Plante said his drive against illegal gambling in private clubs was bringing good results.

"We have special agents and officers spending long hours in these clubs which prevents the operators from gambling not in ac-

Coaticook And Magog Prepare For Governor-General's Visit

Magog, Sept. 13.—Preparations have been made by the Municipal Council and the Legion of Magog, under the direction of Mr. Colin MacPherson, organizer for the reception of the Governor-General of Canada, His Excellency Field Marshal, the Right Hon. Viscount Alexander of Tunis, tomorrow, September 17, at 11.30 a.m. in the Park Braves, near the Post-Office.

The Mayor, Council and the Secretaries of the Township and the town of Magog, the Clergy, the Legion president, Major J. Gilchrist and others, will be seated on the platform. The school children will be stationed near the platform and should be carrying flags. Arrangements are being made so that they will leave their schools at 11 p.m., to be in readiness. The band, veterans, Scouts, Guides and cadets, etc., will also assemble to be ready to fall in behind the Legion. All veterans who served in any war in which Canada has been involved are requested to attend, whether members of the Legion or not as His Excellency has expressed his desire to meet every veteran from Magog.

His Excellency will be arriving in Magog from Katavale. After introductions to those on the platform His Worship Mayor Dr. M. E. Adams will deliver the address of welcome to which His Excellency will respond. He will review the veterans and then proceed to lay a wreath at the base of the monument. Later he will drive to a point near the Mayor's office for the march part of the parade.

The parade will then proceed to the wharf, where they will form a guard of honor through which His Excellency will pass to embark on the "Diana Lisa," for Georgetown. It is suggested that the citizens decorate their homes and places of business in a suitable manner befitting the reception of the official representative of His Majesty King George VI, especially along the route the guest will take. He will drive the entire length of Main Street from the eastern limits to Lake Street, and thence to the wharf.

With the Royal Canadian Mounted Police stationed at the wharf, the official greeting of the town of Coaticook will begin with the National Anthem played by the band as Viscount Alexander arrives, following which Mayor Charles E. Audet will meet His Excellency. The Governor-General will then be handed a wreath by R. Jean-Martin, president of the Coaticook Branch of the Canadian Legion, and will deposit a wreath at the base of the cenotaph.

Proceeding to the platform, under R.C.M.P. escort, the Governor-General will be welcomed in an address by Mayor Audet, and will make a brief reply. The school children will then ask for a half holiday to be granted them in honor of the occasion, the request for which will no doubt be granted.

With the Coaticook Harmony Band playing the Inspection March, His Excellency will then make an official inspection of the Legion Branch accompanied by President Jean-Martin. He will then meet the next-of-kin of war casualties who will be assembled at the right of the platform, and then will have the religious and civic authorities of the community introduced to him.

Coaticook's reception will close with three cheers for the Governor-General, started by the Legion, and the official party will leave for East Hatley and other points in the county after the band plays O Canada. In the event of rain the ceremony will take place in the armory.

On the platform will be Mayor and Mrs. Charles E. Audet, the aldermen and their wives, the mayors and their wives from Dixville, Barnston and Barford, Roger Jean-Marie, president of the Coaticook Branch of the Canadian Legion, with Mrs. Jean-Marie; Sdn-Leader Rev. J. A. Hocken and Mrs. Hocken of the United Church; Rev. Harold Church of the Anglican Church, and Rev. and Mrs. G. F. Gorman, of the Baptist Church; with the Catholic churches represented by Rev. Father J. A. Robidas, Rev. Father L. M. Lemay and Rev. Father J. P. Michaud; Lt.-Col. J. E. R. Roberge and Mrs. Roberge; Major F. Lyman Armitage and Mrs. Armitage; Henry G. Edwards and Mrs. Edwards; Dr. W. L. Shurtliff; Denis Gerin and Mrs. Gerin and John J. Forrest and Mrs. Forrest.

When the Yugoslav troops arrived, an American officer, stepping in front of a barbed-wire roadblock, signalled the approaching group to a halt. Covered by their Tommy-guns, he shook hands with some of them.

On the Yugoslav side, Slovene citizens with the troops cried, "Long Live Tito! Long Live Stalin!" and sang. They started dancing to accordion music, and American soldiers joined in.

On the American side, Italian soldiers waited beneath trees some 50 yards back of the barrier to take over the boundary from United States troops at 9 a.m. on schedule.

Maj.-Gen. Bryant E. Moore, in command of the United States 88th Division, said the Yugoslavs had agreed to begin taking over the rest of the territory at 9 a.m. today but moved forward 10 hours ahead of schedule. He called this manoeuvre a "hot curve," apparently meant to confuse us.

Later the Allied Military Government in Trieste reported the 88th had finished withdrawal without incident.

Revin was believed to be staying in London primarily because of prospective developments in European economic recovery under the Marshall plan.

Other scheduled issues, some of which will also serve to bring out sharp differences between Russia and the western powers, include Palestine, admission of new members, proposals for a world conference on freedom of information, election of new members for various U.N. councils and reports on the progress—or lack of progress—made in the Security Council to organize an international police force and provide international control of atomic energy.

curium, partly because of the terrific difficulty of making it in any quantity.

The sand-grain piece of curium is dying rapidly. In 57 days half of it disappears, then in another 57 days half that remainder is gone. In one minute's time, one-millionth of a gram of curium emits 20,000,000,000 alpha particles, or electrically charged helium ions.

The curium breaks down or decays into plutonium. All these radio-active materials decay to elements of lower atomic weight, and eventually into lead.

The Doctor Says

CRICKEN POX CAN ATTACK ADULTS SEVERELY

By William A. O'Brien, M.D.
Chickenpox can be serious in adults who failed to develop the infection when they were children. Severity of the illness is also related to the extent of the eruption.

Dr. O'Brien, chickenpox is preceded or followed by shingles. Susceptible individuals contract chickenpox readily. The incidence of the disease tends to increase with the coming of cold weather; closed windows favor its spread indoors.

Epidemics of chickenpox occur at two-to-four-year intervals, although small outbreaks and isolated cases may develop from time to time. One attack usually confers permanent immunity. The incubation period of chickenpox is two to three weeks. Slight fever, general aching and soreness, loss of appetite and headache herald the appearance in children. A skin rash appears the second day.

At first, chickenpox resembles early stages of scarlet fever, but later typical pimples and blisters appear. The final stage is infection and crusts. The cycle takes about three or four days to run its course. It may be difficult to distinguish chickenpox from smallpox. The difference is the character of the eruption. In smallpox, the extremities and face show the most severe reaction. Another difference is that, in chickenpox, the eruption is found in various stages, while, in smallpox the entire eruption is in the same stage of development.

Mild or Severe
Mild chickenpox may not show more than a dozen pox, while in severe infections, especially in adults, the patient is extremely ill and the skin is covered with the eruption. Because of the severe itching, secondary infection and scarring is a common complication. Special skin care is necessary in chickenpox to prevent excessive secondary infection. Skin should be kept clean with soap, water and alcohol, and preparations containing phenol can be applied to prevent scratching. It is better to have chickenpox when young, as the disease is milder and the complications fewer in childhood.

Q—I have had heart trouble for years. Should I take dicumural?
A—Not unless your physician recommends that you should. It helps to keep clots from forming in the coronary artery of the heart.

DOROTHY DIX

Smart Fatherhood

Good Deal Should Become Offspring's
Guiding Spirit And Confidante

A correspondent asks: "What makes a good father?" I think a good father is a man who is half boy and half boss, a man who plays with his children, but who keeps a strong hand over them. When a man is his children's most intimate friend, he is entitled to pin the Good Father Medal on his chest. Not otherwise.

A good father is a man who accepts the responsibilities of fatherhood and who realizes that when God gave children two parents instead of one, He knew it was a two-handed job that would require the united effort of both father and mother, working together, to make a success of it.

DOROTHY DIX

So he doesn't turn over his youngsters to mama to spoil, pet, baby and ruin for life. He is also in there pitching. He is seeing that their moral muscles are not weakened by too much coddling. He is teaching them how to play the game squarely and to take a blow and get up and fight again. For the good father knows that there comes a time in the life of every child when it loses respect for mother's opinions. Boys and girls alike think that mother doesn't know what she is talking about when she warns them against the pitfalls that are sure to lie in their path, but when father speaks they listen, because he is a man who is worldly wise and who has travelled that road before them.

GUIDING SPIRIT

A good father establishes his relationship with his babies in their cradles. He talks to them when their only means of communication is baby talk. He chums with them. He teaches them how to build block houses. He plays horsey with them. He knows what they are thinking before they know it themselves. He has a diagram of their every fault and weakness and virtue. So when the time comes when they need someone to guide them and start them in the right direction, father is right there to do it.

A good father knows that all of this talk about natural affection is just so much hooey. There isn't any such thing. Parents have to earn their children's love and their respect and their confidence by working for it and being worthy of it, just as they do with strangers. If papa has never taken the trouble to get acquainted with the kids, he can't expect them to be sentimental over him. Probably plenty of children think they were sired by a cheque book.

A good father never forgets his youth. He remembers how vivid he was for pleasure when he was a teen-ager; how crazy he was about his first sweetheart; how easily he was influenced by older boys; how many silly, foolish scrapes he got into through sheer ignorance, and he doesn't set himself up as a harsh judge of his children when they commit some folly that they are afraid to tell him about.

He doesn't call Jack a young fool because he runs up a bill at the florist's while he is in the clutches of some little gold-digger. He doesn't hawl Mary out before her date when she comes home too late from a party. He talks to them sympathetically and understandingly, and they watch their steps a little better next time.

A good father once said to me: "The one thing I depend on my children is never to go to strangers when they get into trouble or need money, but to come to me."

Being a good father is a difficult job, but it is the most worthwhile one in the world. Try it on your kids.

The Record will be pleased to receive any letters to this Dorothy Dix column. These will be forwarded to Miss Dix who will answer them as quickly as possible.

MODERN

IT'S NORMAL TO BE NORMAL.
Dr. Paul Popenoe

If you have no "problems," just lean back and relax!

Mr. and Mrs. McK. are not sure about it. "Before we married," they write, "we made an earnest attempt to educate ourselves for marriage. We wanted to be prepared to meet all the problems that might arise."

"We have been married for more than a year now, and no problems have arisen. What's the trouble with us? Is not having any problems a real problem in itself? Or are we merely normal, well-adjusted human beings—as we hope? All the books talk about is "problems," won't you please tell us what it feels like to be just normal?"

That's an excellent idea, Mr. and Mrs. McK., and I hope most of my readers are, like you, interested in being normal. If they are, how will they behave? Dr. Percival M. Symonds, the distinguished psychologist of Teachers College,

Columbia University, has recently discussed the point and suggested a number of ways to recognize the normal person, who is, in general, merely the well-balanced person. Let me mention just a few of them:

1. The well-adjusted person is headed in one direction. He isn't trying to ride several horses going opposite ways. Many a woman for instance, is so badly adjusted that she is trying to be a woman and at the same time trying to be a man; or trying to be a successful wife and mother and at the same time trying to push to the top in the competitive world of business. The normal person, on the other hand, has a small group of harmonious and compatible goals to which he gives all his energy.
2. The well-adjusted person enjoys social contacts and interests. He is able both to give and to receive love.
3. The well-adjusted person accepts responsibility for himself. He doesn't depend on others for everything he wants, doesn't blame others for all his mistakes, doesn't let others make all the decisions for him.
4. The well-adjusted person is adaptable. He doesn't butt his head against a stone wall. He is flexible, can change his course when necessary to his own well-being or that of society.

In short, the well-adjusted person has achieved a good working relationship with himself and with the world in which he lives.

Questions and Answers

Q—You talk as if marriage were a beautiful thing, Dr. Popenoe. Why can't you be realistic?

A—Why can't you be realistic yourself? It is a pathetic mistake to suppose that realism is synonymous with sordidness and misery. There are more good marriages than bad marriages in the world—Realism demands a recognition of that fact.

Q—When is Better Parenthood Week?

A—Observance this year has been set for October 26-November 1 inclusive with the slogan "Better children for a better world." I hope observance of it will recognize the fact that better children can be produced only by better husbands and wives.

Q—What are the chances of marriage in the Negro race, as compared with whites?

A—There is a shortage of men, because more boys than girls babies die; so it is estimated that 800,000 Negro girls will lack husbands.

A business meeting of the 53rd Regimental Chapter was held at the I.O.D.E. Home, the regent, Mrs. R. Loughheed, presiding, opening with Raising of the Standard by Standard-Bearer Mrs. T. Wyatt, and the prayer of the Order.

It was with the greatest regret that the resignation of Mrs. Francis Hoyer from the committee was received.

After adjournment of the business meeting tea was served by the hostess, Mrs. Milo Lothrop doing the honors at a table prettily centered with autumn flowers.

This was made the occasion for the presentation of a gift to Mrs. Hoyer as a token of esteem from the members of the committee.

In voicing their sentiments, Mrs. Bayley told of the great interest taken by Mrs. Hoyer in all the activities of the committee, of her painstaking devotion and generosity in every endeavor undertaken to further the library's expansion, and added that Mrs. Hoyer would be a great loss to the Ladies' Library Committee and greatly missed by her co-workers.

In replying, Mrs. Hoyer expressed her keen regret at being obliged to resign for personal reasons, and thanked the members for their expression of friendship.

COWANSVILLE WOMEN'S GROUP HOLDS MEETING

Sweetsburg, Sept. 16.—The Cowansville branch of the W.C.T.U. was delightfully entertained by Mrs. James Moore, at Fordyce, with a good attendance of members and visitors.

Donations were made in articles and in money toward filling six comfort bags to be sent to the Sailor's Institute, in Montreal, for the use of outgoing sailors. Among the contents were woollen socks, writing material including new Christmas cards, soap, white and black thread, tape, needles, buttons, vaseline, tape, adhesive tape, combs, wash cloths and a handkerchief in each bag.

On the subject of "World Missions," a very interesting talk was given by Mrs. James Moore on mission work in West Africa, as explained by a missionary from there, who recently visited Fordyce, and an article on the same work was read by Mrs. Leon Harden, from an address given by Mrs. Ralph Collins, on furlough from Portuguese, West Africa, who said in part, how very much impressed she was by the warm fellowship existing between denominations, where she has been during her furlough.

which will be a wonderful thing to think about when she returns to Africa. She feels that a wider consciousness of the whole world has grown out of the war. Countries are beginning to speak to us in very compelling voices, one of which is Africa.

She drew a picture of spring coming to Africa, where she lived 6,000 feet above sea level.

The African language, Umbundu, is rich language but in all there is no word for hope for Africans do not know hope. Before Christ comes into a village it is like the black burnt landscape of June there. After He comes the African village and life show great beauty. The words, redeemer and spring, come from the same derivation. At present Africa is like a dim light just before the dawn, and the dawn will come only as the Church at home knows that its people are groping for that dawn to come. The prayers of all are asked for Africa.

Mrs. Lloyd Lewis kindly offered to entertain the next meeting of this branch late in September and it is hoped to begin the temperance study course in the High School this year.

All present signed a pretty birthday card extending best wishes to Mrs. Nettie Fair, on the occasion of her birthday.

Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Plans for the Governor-General's visit to Stanstead County include special receptions in many communities, the laying of wreaths and inspection of veterans, with the highlight of the day-long tour being a cruise on Lake Memphremagog, with luncheon served on board the "Diana Lisa."

Two special features will mark "Governor-General's Day" in Stanstead County tomorrow. At Georgeville, oldest community in Stanstead County, presently observing the 150th anniversary of its founding, Lord Alexander will plant a tree in commemoration of his visit at the time of the community's anniversary, while at the International Boundary a special international reception is being held to mark the occasion, all Boundary Communities joining in, with typical "hands-across-the-border" enthusiasm.

Most communities have declared civic holidays to permit everyone to attend the receptions, and it is indeed fitting that the Governor-General of Canada should arrange his visit to this part of the Dominion at such a time, with the current week being observed throughout the United States as United Nations Week, the Boundary ceremony certainly emphasizing this fact to the fullest extent.

The Governor-General will be accompanied tomorrow on his visit to Stanstead County by John T. Hackett, K.C., Member of Parliament for Stanstead, who will act as the official guide to Viscount Alexander and his party.

The official program gives a detailed and carefully-timed schedule, covering the entire 121-mile route. Adherence to this timetable will be made as closely as possible, but arrivals in each community are not set for a definite time. Some of the highlights of the tour tomorrow are as follows:

Leaving Sherbrooke, where he is receiving a civic welcome from the Queen City of the Townships today, Viscount Alexander will arrive in Coaticook about 9:00 a.m., proceeding to the Monument opposite the Armory, where a wreath will be laid and the war veterans inspected. Mayor Charles Audet will deliver the address of welcome.

Proceeding via Barnston and Kingscroft, the Governor-General will arrive in East Hatley about 10 o'clock, where the citizens will gather on the Village Common to greet His Excellency. Inspection of veterans and the laying of a wreath will be followed by an address of welcome given by Mayor R. R. Whitcomb.

Giving His Excellency a view of Lake Massawippi, the tour will then proceed through Massawippi to North Hatley where a similar ceremony to the preceding ones will be inspected and a wreath laid following the official welcome given by Mayor M. E. Adams. Departing from Merry Point, the Governor-General and his party will board the new lake cruiser, the "Diana Lisa," sister ship to the "Anthemis." A scenic cruise will be taken through Lake Memphremagog, with luncheon served on board the boat, the Governor-General's party being accompanied by the Mayors of Magog and Georgeville.

Arriving in Georgeville via the "Diana Lisa" about 1:45 p.m., Lord

Alexander will receive the official welcome of the citizens from Mayor J. G. Cochrane. As a special feature of the visit, in recognition of the fact that Georgeville is celebrating the 150 anniversary of its founding this year, Viscount Alexander will plant a tree, then inspect the veterans and lay a wreath on the monument.

From Georgeville, by way of Fitch Bay and Tomifobia, the Governor-General will then proceed to the Boundary Communities of Beebe, Rock Island and Stanstead in Quebec, and Derby Line in Vermont, where a joint international ceremony will take place at Stanstead College. Special arrangements have been made to enable the official party to visit Derby Line, with one of the highlights of the tour being a visit to Haskell Opera House, sitting right on the very Boundary, unique among public buildings with the audience seated in the United States and the stage being in Canada.

The County's distinguished guest will then be taken to Stanstead College, which has been chosen as a central point, to extend the welcome of the Boundary Communities. Principal Errol C. Amaron of the College will deliver the address of welcome, and in attendance will be the Mayors of the four communities, C. R. MacLean of Derby Line, Vt., Harold S. Beane of Beebe, Lyman Hill of Rock Island, and Robert Meekren of Stanstead. Inspection of veterans will include those from the American side, with special arrangements being made to have Derby Line's Foster-Cosby Post of the American Legion present, with the Stanstead Frontier Branch of the Canadian Legion. Special invitation has also been extended to the Governor of Vermont, Ernest W. Gibson, to participate in the ceremony. A wreath will be laid on the Memorial Gates at the entrance to the College grounds.

Leaving the College, the Governor-General will make a brief stop at the Ursuline Convent in Stanstead, and also pause for a moment at the summer home of John T. Hackett on the outskirts of the community.

Final point to be visited during tomorrow's tour will be Dufferin Heights, the highest and most scenic point in the entire county. Here, Lord Alexander will lay a wreath on the Veterans' Monument, and also one on the Cairn erected in memory of the first families, the Pioneers of Stanstead County. He will then proceed back to Sherbrooke.

The official timetable of the Governor-General's tour tomorrow is as follows:

8:30 a.m.—Leave Sherbrooke for Coaticook via Lennoxville, Huntingville, Compton Village to Coaticook.

10:00 a.m.—Leave Coaticook for Barnston, Kingscroft, East Hatley,

WAY'S MILLS

A serious accident occurred on the Market Road near the King's Croft corner one evening, when Gordon Whipple was returning with a load of hay. He was thrown off the load and under the wheels. A passing automobile with two young men came upon the scene and the unfortunate victim was extricated and taken to Ayer's Cliff, where a doctor administered first aid. He was rushed to the Sherbrooke Hospital, where it was thought best to send him to Montreal. The exact nature of the injuries are not fully known but they are very serious. His wife, the former Mabel Clark, is with him in Montreal, while their three little children are being cared for by

For many years he had spent the summers at his cottage at the lake near Ayer's Cliff, where he enjoyed meeting his old friends. MRS. WILLIAM BULLOCK,
OF GRANITEVILLE

Graniteville, Sept. 16.—The Community of Graniteville was saddened on August 19, by the passing of one of its oldest and most loved and respected citizens, Araminta Rosella Bullock, better known to everyone as Mrs. Menta Bullock.

Mrs. Bullock was born in the Township of Stanstead, on May 10, 1864, and was the oldest daughter of Jonathan Hall Haselton and Elizabeth Cole Haselton. Jonathan Haselton was one of the pioneers of the granite industry, being the first to operate a quarry in Graniteville.

The deceased married William C. Bullock on June 6, 1882. Six children were born to them, Maynard Daniel, Edith Elizabeth, Arthur Haselton, Mildred Louise, Kathleen Maud and Charles William. Of the six children four of the family, Edith, Arthur, Kathleen and Charles are left to mourn her loss, also one brother, William M. Haselton, of Beebe.

Mrs. Bullock served as postmistress in Graniteville for over twenty years, and was loved by young and old. She took a great interest in everything connected with the community, and was a devoted member of the United Church, having taught Sunday School over a long period of time, and was also an active member of the Women's Auxiliary, until the time of her last sickness.

The funeral service held in the United Church was conducted by the Rev. A. B. Lovelace, and was very largely attended. The many beautiful floral tributes showed the high esteem in which the deceased was held. One of her favorite hymns, "In the Garden" was sung as a duet by Mrs. Mary Wilson and Mrs. Hazel Labere, with Mrs. Carrie Leney officiating at the organ.

The bearers were grandsons, Messrs. Almond Bullock, Alfred Bullock, Leslie Bullock and William Hines, also Charles Stewart and Gordon Stewart, great-grandsons. The burial was in Marlinton Cemetery, where she was laid to rest beside her husband.

Mrs. Bullock will be missed, not only by her family and friends in the community, but her presence will also be missed in the little Church, where she worshipped so faithfully.

Miss Grace Shufeldt gave an interesting account of the committee which judged the school gardens. Several children had excellent gardens, several had made a decided effort, while others had not planted their seeds, and some had planted them here and there. All sincerely hope those taking seeds next year will have a plot of their own, and give more thought to the arrangement and care for it themselves. Mrs. R. McCutcheon gave an excellent talk on Amsterdam, the city, where a provincial past-president, Mrs. Smallman, is attending the A.C.W.W. She told of its unusual situation, quaint and picturesque houses, stately palaces, museums and of the oldest English speaking Presbyterian Church in Europe, whose history goes back to 1400. This city is one of the leading teaching centres of the world. At the conclusion of her talk each member felt that we could picture Mrs. Smallman in this important city more clearly. The prizes for these gardens will be given at the tea and Hobby show to be held in October.

A social hour was held, after which the mock marriage took place with the following filling the various roles: Minister, Mrs. Dwight Marco; bride, Miss Norma Lahue; groom, Mrs. Arlie McGrath; bridesmaid, Miss Ellen Hayes; best man, Miss Dorothy Sherrer; father of the bride, Mrs. Irene McGrath.

Following the ceremony the bride was presented with an electric toaster, a flat iron, and a number of other useful gifts, which were passed around and admired by the guests.

WOMEN'S GROUP HOLDS MEETING AT STANSTEAD

Stanstead, Sept. 15.—The Stanstead North Women's Institute met at the little red schoolhouse, where they heard the provincial publicity secretary give some excellent rules of Institute publicity. She recommended three rules: 1. Keep on good terms with your local papers and thank them for the publicity they give you. 2. Do not give the ordinary events of every meeting, but highlight the main feature and that makes each meeting different from the other. 3. Use intelligence to make Women's Institute publicity interesting to the general public.

Mrs. Byron Brown thanked Mrs. Taylor for her suitable and pertinent talk.

It was decided to hold the Institute dinner and sale on October 2, in the school house.

The English recipient of the Institute's monthly parcel sent thanks to the members for their birthday gift in July.

The Institute's work was placed third in the exhibit at the Ayer's Cliff Fair. Mrs. Vivian announced that Miss Walker, of Macdonald College, Ste. Anne de Bellevue, would give a demonstration on fine mending and repairs to clothing in November, probably on the 13th.

The Stanstead Historical Society paid its share of the repairs to the roof of the schoolhouse, which the Institute keeps in order.

There were twenty-one people present including visiting Institute members, to hear Mrs. Taylor.

WALCOTT TO FIGHT LOUIS FOR TITLE

Walcott Has Never Fought a 15-Rounder. But How Many Even Go Three Rounds With the Two-Fisted Bomber?

New York, Sept. 16.—(P)—A prolonged search having failed to turn up anything akin to a logical heavyweight title contender, Joe Louis has decided to make his next scrap worth while.

Joe went after golf seriously this summer, figuring it was up to the boxing moguls to try to find a ring opponent that would at least make it interesting. He agreed to an appearance against Jersey Joe Walcott but stipulated that the championship crown would have to be put on the shelf.

Then yesterday the Bomber changed his mind and agreed to make the Walcott party an honest-to-goodness, 15-round affair with the championship at stake.

They had originally been scheduled for a so-called non-title contest of ten rounds in Madison Square Garden Nov. 14.

Louis, never too warm about the non-title angle, readily accepted the suggestion of Eddie Egan, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission, to lengthen the bout to the 15-round championship route. The date was set back three weeks to Dec. 5.

Sol Strauss, acting director of the 20th Century Sporting Club, said that date was the first available at the Garden which would allow Louis sufficient time to train.

Egan, in suggesting the change from a non-title bout, pointed out that a defeat for the champion in such a bout would cause some controversy and that Walcott certainly would be recognized as champion if he should win by a knockout.

Joe will start preliminary training at West Baden, Ind., within the next two weeks and set up camp at Pompton Lakes, N.J., about Nov. 1 to complete his preparations. Walcott will begin training near his Camden, N.J., home in about a week.

Walcott, incidentally, never has fought 15 rounds, but he apparently doesn't see where it is much tougher than a ten-round fight. If he runs true to form of the champ's last few victims, he'll never get a chance to find out.

Expect $20,000 Deficit If Team Is Entered In Provincial Loop; Half Of This Sum Now Assured

An additional $10,000—over and above a similar sum to be realized through E.T.A.A. and City Council grants and subscriptions—has to be obtained between now and Saturday if the Sherbrooke Senior Hockey Team is to operate this year.

This was indicated last night at a meeting of the directors of the St. Francis aggregation, held at the E.T.A.A. Arena, when A. C. Ross, president of the E.T.A.A., said that his association would make a grant of $5,000 towards operation of a team and it was stated that the City Council would invest $2,500. An additional $2,500 can be obtained through subscription, it was felt—but this total will only cover half of the expected deficit of $20,000 on the season's operations.

Last season, the team finished in the red, to the amount of $10,000 and with a stronger club this year, which will cost more, the deficit is expected to run to $20,000.

Ivan Dugre, the coach of the team, who attended last night's meeting would not reveal any of the names of the players he has already signed, and will do so only when it is definitely decided that the club will operate.

However, after interviewing Herbie Carnegie, the local star center-replayer, over the week-end, Dugre stated that Herbie had no intentions whatsoever of signing to play in Europe with Manny McIntyre and Ossie Carnegie.

Although Dugre would not state it, he seemed confident that Herbie would be back in Sherbrooke, providing that there is a club for the coming winter.

Dugre guaranteed to the directors that with the players he has already signed since last spring, and the ones that he is trying to sign, the team would be at least 40% stronger than last year.

Forest Keane, business manager, and Dr. A. N. Dupuis, president of the club, remarked that it was not the intention to organize a team and then be forced to suspend operations in the middle of the winter from lack of sufficient funds.

"We had difficulty in financing the team last year, and we do not wish to face the same situation this season. If we commence the season we want to be able to finish it without leaving any debts outstanding," said Dr. A. N. Dupuis, president of the team.

The local fans, who desire to aid hockey in the city, through their subscriptions, may forward them on to the team, in care of the Arena, or send them to the sporting editors of either one of the local newspapers before Friday evening.

Trail Ride And Hunt Trials To Be Held At Hillcrest This Week-End

Invitations have been sent out by Hillcrest Lodge, at North Halloway, for a trail ride and hunter trials to be held there over the week-end.

The horsemen of the district who have been relaxing the past week from a strenuous season of field days and horse shows will move out to their favorite country lodge on Saturday for the two-day event.

The trail ride will take place on Saturday afternoon at two o'clock. For the eighteen who took the ride at this time last year, it will be a repeat of a tip-top riding experience. The trail, starting behind the Lodge, is a long one up hills, over rough country, onto flats and at one point it takes riders and their mounts across a river. Jumps are 3½ feet at the highest, with side passes for non-jumpers.

Following the ride there will be a gathering and dance. On Sunday morning the first of the hunt trials will be held. Last year's winner of the individual division was Tommy owned and ridden by Erich Marchand, M. T. Stenson's Commando, ridden by Anne Choquette, was second.

On the afternoon program of the trials are a pair of hunters or jumpers, a hunter hack, a unicorn jumping and a hunt team, tandem and abreast.

WHAT THE STARS DID YESTERDAY

Stan Musial, Cardinals—struck out, grounded out, singled to right and fled to centre.

Lou Boudreau, Indians—got one single in five times at bat but it drove in the winning run in the 11th inning as the Indians nipped

Lessard Takes Commanding Lead Over Savard For Industrial "A" League Title With 15-7 Victory

Lessard Servicemen downed Savard 15-7 to cop the fourth game in the final series for the Industrial "A" Softball League title last night at Dufresne Park before 3,000 local fans. Lessard now leads the series, three games to one.

Lessard started the ball rolling in the initial frame when they pushed one run across the plate. In the second and third they failed to score, but came back strong in the fourth and on four hits, including doubles by A. Dube and Bouchard, coupled with one free ride plus three errors crossed the plate five times to take the lead 6-0.

Savard picked up singles in the opening frame, third, fourth and in the fifth, they had their big inning, when the Servicemen fell apart for a few moments, allowing them to tally five times. Lessard committed four errors and Jimmy O'Connor poled out a circuit drive to register three of his team's runs.

In the seventh Savard scored two runs on two hits, plus an error, but could not overtake the large lead that Lessard had established and came out on the short end of a 15-7 score.

The two teams will meet Wednesday evening at 7:30 at Dufresne Park in the fifth tilt of the series, and if Lessard can manage to come through with a win they will cop the championship. On the other hand, Savard will be out to prolong the series, and will try to go back to sound ball to win the game and put them back in the race.

Nature Unspoiled YOURS TO ENJOY YOURS TO PROTECT

"RUFFED GROUSE" by T. M. Shortt, Ornithologist

Whenever danger threatens her brood of downy chicks, the mother Ruffed Grouse invites death by trying to lure the intruder away from the nest. While she acts instinctively to preserve the species, we can act intelligently to help her. We need only to give Nature a chance, in order to ensure the continued abundance of the "partridge", one of Quebec's most celebrated game birds.
