Bobcat Shot In Hemmingford Area

by Mrs. L'Esperance

Mr. Norman Akester of Roxham and Bob-Cat

Sun. Jan. 4th, was a good day for hunting, enough snow on the ground to show footprints but not deep enough to make tracking through the bush difficult. One of our keen hunters, Mr. Norman Akester, received word from his brother, Kenneth, and a friend, Clifford Williams that they had spotted some unusual prints in the bush on the Williams Road. Together they explored and decided the prints were those of a Bob-Cat. Several have been shot in years gone by up on Covey Hill, but this was the first time in the memory of these hunters that one has been found in this area — about three miles as the crow flies north-east of the village this 'tame country' as Norman laughingly remarked.

He tracked it for about a mile and a half through the bush and had just passed a stand of tall pines when he glimpsed the cat behind some low bush. He fired but did not think he had hit it. Reloading, he crept cautiously forward and, on rounding the bush, found the cat stretched out, dead, and facing him. Whether it had turned to attack, Norman does not know, but he thinks it was just as well that the first shot found its mark.

The animal, quite attractive in appearance with its well-marked fur, weighs about 17 lbs, stands 18 to 20 inches high and is about 3 feet long.

At the moment, its fate is undecided, mounted, it would take up quite a bit of room and already the walls are graced with several trophies of the hunting trips which Mr. Akester has enjoyed in the past, many in the company of his father, Mr. Robert Akester.

'Perhaps I'll just have a small rug made, or cut off the tail and hang it up' he says. Now he, and his companions, are waiting for another fall of snow in order to search for more tracks, they are convinced there was more than one in the area.

Family Lose All In Disastrous Fire Near Hemmingford

(by Mrs. L'Esperance)

On Friday, January 8th, Hemmingford Firemen received a call at 6:25 p.m. to go to the home of Mrs. Pat Leavey in Henrysburg and as the fire truck raced eastwards adong the Williams Road (2 miles north of the village), they could see the flames mounting skywards.

The fire originated at the electric stove in the kitchen where Mrs. Leavey's teen-age daughter Marie-Ange was preparing supper for herself and her four brothers and sisters. Mrs. Leavey, whose husband died suddenly some two years ago, has been in poor health for some time. During the past week she suffered a thrombosis and at present is in Hotel Dieu Hospital in Montreal.

A pan containing fat, which was heating on the stove, caught fire and in no time the wall at the back of the stove was in flames. The children ran to the neighbour for help but by the time he got to the house the fire had gotten a good hold. A call was put through to the Hemmingford Brigade who were on the scene in minutes but by this time the interior was well alight. Marie-Ange, remembering that her mother kept the family papers in a metal box upstairs, ran up in an effort to save them but the smoke was so thick that she was unable to locate it and then found that she could not get back downstairs. She made her way to the window, broke it and, fortunately, was seen by those outside who quickly put a ladder up and got her out.

The woodshed adjoining the house was filled with a large quantity of good, dry wood and this burned fiercely. Realizing they could not save the house, the firemen concentrated their efforts on saving the barns which are fairly close to the house and also the new house which Mrs. Leavey's son Eddy recently built nearby. On two occasions it was touch and go but eventually they brought the worst fire points under control and then continued soaking the smouldering rubble.

It was 1:15 a.m. when the firemen, cold and soaked from the torrential rain which had fallen for several hours, as well as from their own hoses, finally climbed back on the truck and went back to the station.

The sympathy of the entire community goes out to Mrs. Leavey and her family in this serious loss. One chair, standing forlornly by the house, was all that was left of their home which had recently undergone a little face-lifting by the addition of a bathroom and various other alterations inside.

Mrs. Leavey's five oldest children, three sons and two daughters, are married but there are still seven children at home between the ages of 8 and 16 years: two attending High School, one in Hemmingford and the other in Candiac the younger ones are at St. Bernard School. Friday night's fire took all their clothes and books. On Saturday, Mr. Rufus Fisher, Chairman of the local Red Cross Disaster Committee, provided the children with enough clothing to enable them to go to school and to tide them over for a few days.

Women's Auxiliary of H'don County Hospital Meeting

An executive meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the Huntingdon County Hospital was held in the board room on Monday evening, January 11, with seven members present.

In the absence of the corresponding Secretary, the president, Mrs. Lawrence McCallum, read a letter of thanks from Mrs. Lorna Hughes for her special invitation to the Hospital December Tea as a past president. A letter was also read from Mr. Francois Cleyn of the Hospital Board of Governors stating that as it was late in this term to carry out their promised project for this group, the Board decided to make a cash donation instead. An amount of $250 was donated to be at the disposal of the Auxiliary to purchase, at their discretion, item or items for the hospital. The group is exceedingly grateful for this donation. The steel filing cabinet was again discussed at this meeting but was left for further discussion at the Annual Meeting.

The treasurer reported that proceeds from the Tea in December amounted to $101.40 and from the Food Table $142.52. The president expressed thanks to Mrs. Isabel Payne and her helpers for the success of this event. A new television was purchased for the Nurses' Residence before the Christmas holidays.

Mrs. N. Bourgon for the Service Committee stated that twenty-nine gifts were purchased at Christmas for the nurses and staff of the hospital and also gifts for each patient. Some new de-

Barrie Memorial Flag At Half Mast For The Late Murray R. Stalker

(by B. M. Cullen)

The Late Dr. M. R. Stalker

Not only our own community but the entire province and indeed much of our country was shocked and saddened by the untimely death of Dr. M. R. Stalker, which occurred in the Barrie Memorial Hospital on Sunday evening. He was in his 64th year.

Murray Stalker was born in Richmond, Quebec on April 2nd, 1901. He was called to Ormstown in 1925 on the death of the late Dr. Cowper. He worked diligently among the people of Chateauguay and Huntingdon Counties, often travelling many miles with a horse and buggy, or sleigh, to reach a sick friend. It is recalled by some that on more than one occasion the horse had to be replaced by a fresh one as the animal tired, not so the MAN called Doctor. A few years later Dr. Stalker was joined by his friend and colleague, Dr. J. Quintin; together they opened the Ormstown Medical Center which was situated on Lambton Street on the site now occupied by the post office.

In 1939, the Barrie Memorial Hospital was officially opened. This was made possible through a legacy left by the late Margaret Barrie with a restriction that if the $18,000 was not used for a hospital in Ormstown within a certain period of time, the money was to go elsewhere. Dr. Murray Stalker, through diligent and concentrated efforts, persuaded five prominent local men to help with the cause and in a short time the Doctor's dream came true. He had a hospital, albeit a small one of twelve beds, but it was a beginning.

From this humble beginning a large new 60-bed hospital with plans for expansion was erected just outside the town. The Barrie Memorial Hospital and Doctor M. R. Stalker became synonymous. Doctor Stalker's Medical and Surgical knowledge were administered to rich and poor alike and he became affectionately known to his staff and to many of his patients as Father Stalker.

Murray Stalker was keenly interested in education and in July 1937 he was sworn in as a school commissioner on the Ormstown School Board. He held that position until July, 1943, when he became Board Chairman, a position he held until the end of 1946. He served for some time on the board of the Provincial Association of Protestant School Boards and was chairman of that Association for two years. It was he who used his influence to persuade the Ormstown School Board to become affiliated with the Association which later became known as Q.A.P.S.B.

Dr. Murray Stalker was an active curler and member of the Ormstown Curling Club for 37 years. A great deal of his curling was with W. G. McGerrigle, the dean of curling in this district. Their team won many events such as The Bank of Commerce Trophy, Quebec Challenge and several competitions in the International at Quebec City as well as many local events. On the retirement of W. G. McGerrigle from curling Dr. Stalker took over as Skip of the team and as was his nature he strived for perfection by studying the techniques of the game, including the psychological analysis of the opposing team, he was most successful in competition.

One of his great loves was the autumn woods and he enjoyed the hunting season and a few days of relaxation with good friends.

He leaves to mourn his loss his wife, the former Phyliss Pennington; his 92-year-old mother; one daughter, Mrs. Alan McEwen of Toronto; one son, Dr. Merrill of Ormstown; three granddaughters and two grandsons. Two brothers, Alan of Toronto and Stuart of Springfield, also survive.

Funeral service will be held today (January 13th), at St. Paul's United Church, Ormstown, at 2:30 p.m.

In Tribute To The Late Dr. M. R. Stalker

It was with deepest regret that the news of the death of Dr. Murray R. Stalker reached the people of this area. The Doctor was well known and highly respected throughout the entire Chateauguay Valley and over a still wider area. The Barrie Memorial Hospital of which he may be called a Founder is a lasting momument to his memory. It was his dream child and his love over these many years for he was truly dedicated to his profession of medicine and the treatment of his fellow men.

It is fitting therefore that much tribute should be given in memory of this man and thus the following have paid tribute in their own words below.

The sudden passing of Dr M. R. Stalker leaves us all with a sense of shock and deep sorrow. The fact that one, who up until three weeks ago, played such a leading roll in his chosen field, in our community and district, is no longer with us is hard to accept.

During the ten years which it was my privilege to serve as Chairman of the Board of Governors of the Barrie Memorial Hospital I had the opportunity of working closely with him on many problems. In this role I became more fully appreciative of his many sterling qualities of dedication and leadership; Dr. Stalker was a man who set his objectives high and had the ability to instill an atmosphere of enthusiasm into those working with him that assured that high objectives would be reached.

He was a man of unswerving devotion to the highest degrees of honesty and principles and could not be persuaded to deviate from these yardsticks to the slightest degree even when an organization in which he was deeply interested might on a short term basis stand to gain.

Dr. Stalker had the vision and the ability to provide organizational leadership, this is exemplified in the creation of the Ormstown Medical Centre providing medical and diagnostic services which are unique in such a small centre of population.

The will of the Late Margaret Barrie undoubtedely provided a challenge to create some hospitalization facilities in the Chateauguay Valley but it was Dr. Stalker and his partner at that time that met that challenge and organized the creation of the first Barrie Memorial Hospital in Ormstown in 1939; with the successful operation of a hospital under the late doctor's leadership, facilities have been expanded and are in need of expansion again.

I have many times remarked that mortar, brick and cement can create a great building but the reputation of a hospital will not depend so much on the building but on the excellence of the medical care that is provided therein. The high excellence of this care under the leadership of the late doctor has resulted in many patients outside of our district desiring treatment at the Barrie.

In his practice of medicine and surgery Dr. Stalker was a stickler that no slightest detail would be overlooked in the diagnosis or treatment of patients under his care and the slightest hint of carelessness on the part of anyone under him always raised his righteous wrath. Not withstanding the rush of his many duties every one of his patients was treated as an individual case, his patients always felt that they were dealing with an old friend and that is why hundreds will mourn for the rest of their lives the loss of one who to them has been their angel of mercy.

Dr. Stalker crowded a lot into his career, he found time somehow to give of his ability to many interests outside of medicine; for many years he played a prominent role in educational circles both locally and provincially. He was always willing to assist in any cause for the improvement of the community. He was an ardent curler and it was always the wonder of his many friends how he was able to sandwich his curling games into his busy schedule.

Yes he lived a full and active life, the results of his labors will long stand as a memorial to him and be remembered even longer. To-day the Stalker family mourn the loss of a loving husband and a fond parent while we mourn the loss of one who blazed a trail towards the providing of greater medical and surgical services in the District of Beauharnois and of a truly outstanding citizen.

JOHN K. DICKSON

To Mrs. Stalker, his son Merrill and daughter Marion my wife and I extend our sincere sympathy upon this sad occasion. We also extend our sympathy to his mother and to all members of his family

I did not know Dr. Stalker before becoming a member of the Board of The Barrie Memorial Hospital, and it was only after I became Chairman and had the opportunity of working closely with him that I was able to realize that he was a most wonderful man. He was not only a doctor but a friend to countless people in this area and to many farther afield. He was a busy man who found time to serve on public bodies in the district and to further Medicine by serving on Medical and Hospital Association Committees for many years.

A man of many interests his first thought was naturally for his family. After the family came his great desire to provide, with the help of his confreres, the best of medical and hospital care. It was not self-interest but rather this desire to serve others to the best of his ability that prompted him to devote long hours to the many administrative problems of the hospital.

Many tributes will be paid to the late Dr. Murray Stalker and we, who are in any way connected with The Barrie Memorial Hospital, can offer no greater tribute than to continue his high ideals and integrity in the operation of the "Barrie".

The world has been made poorer by his passing.

Norman H. Simms

The Executive and Members of the Women's Auxiliary of the Barrie Memorial Hospital mourn the passing of our beloved Dr. Stalker. We extend our heartfelt sympathy to his wife and family.

The loss we experience in his passing cannot be expressed in words but by the sadness that is in our hearts which is felt, not only in our Auxiliary but by the whole community in which he served. We shall always love, honor and remember him.

ANGIE L. BARRINGTON
President

It was with deepest regret we learned of the passing of Dr. M. R. Stalker, who has been a very worthy citizen for many years.

Dr. Stalker was always very active in various organizations in the community giving his valued advice and generous support, wherever and whenever needed.

Today we all mourn with his family the loss of this remarkable personality.

ARCHIE McCORMICK
Mayor of Ormstown

In the death of Dr. M. R. Stalker the comunity has lost a valued friend and Medical Practitioner. Only the years ahead will show how great this loss really is. Too seldom do men of the calibre of the Late Dr. M. R. Stalker, pass our way.

JEAN PAUL RIENDEAU,
Mayor
Parish of St. Malachie D'Ormstown.

The feelings which swept our community with the unexpected passing of Dr. M. R. Stalker was one of profound shock, and a realization that we had lost a great doctor, who always took an active and intense interest in all community affairs. His was a personality, filled with tactfulness, honesty of purpose, and one which gave to our community, a unifying force which made it almost unique in our Province.

The Barrie Memorial Hospital owes its existence almost entirely to his efforts. He gave unstintingly of his time, and knowledge to its betterment. He justly earned the thanks and esteem which the community bestowed on him.

It is with a sense of deep personal loss, that I pen these few words and my deepest sympathy is sincerely extended to those who were closest to and meant most to him, his wife and family.

EARL E. SAULT

There are very few families in the Community of Ormstown who have not felt the skill of his hands and the tenderness of his heart. He shared our sorrow as he shared our joy. Today we mourn his passing and we are the poorer for his loss in our midst.

L. R. ROSS

In the death of Dr. M. R Stalker, Ormstown and Community of the Chateauguay Valley has lost its most distinguished citizen. His interests were in the health, welfare and the general well being of all. No words can express the magnitude of his loss to our community.

B. L. McGERRIGLE

Our community is saddened by the loss of a great man. Regardles of race or creed, the late Dr. Stalker was a friend and confidant of all who had the honor of knowing him. His absence in our midst will be noted in sorrow for many years to come.

IRENEE D'AOUST

It is difficult to pen words that will express the feeling of a Community when its citizens have suffered the great loss of one of its outstanding citizens, as was the late Dr. M. R. Stalker. His death has registered a feeling of shock throughout the area. He shall long be remembered for his great contribution to the area in which we live, he gave freely both of himself and his great talents; his name shall long be remembered and honored for what he was.

MERRILL E. BARRINGTON.

It is with deep regret and sorrow that I have learned of the passing of Dr. M. R. Stalker, a great man and a great friend. I have always admired and respected him ever since he came to Ormstown, but it was only when I had the honor and privilege to sit with him on the Board of the Barrie Memorial Hospital for many years that I realized how great a person he was. I sincerely believe that his life was a daily challenge, trying to relieve and help others and never sparing his energy, to make our wonderful hospital a better place to go to when in need. His too short life has been one of devotion to this community and district. A great man has passed away but his astounding achievements will never be forgotten.

I wish to express my deepest sympathy to Mrs. Stalker and her family.

ADORIS BEAUCHAMP

Ormstown vient de perdre, en la personne du Dr. R. M. Stalker, non seulement un excellent médecin et chirurgien, mais aussi un homme consciencieux, probe, d'un dévouement sans borne. tant auprès de ses patients que pour "son" hôpital, se méritant ainsi la plus haute estime de tous et chacun de ses concitoyens.

Sa mémoire sera inoubliable. Qu'il repose en paix. A son épouse et ses enfants si durement éprouvés, profondes sympathies.

HECTOR CRETE,
Notaire,
Ormstown

As well as having been a Medical Practitioner and Surgeon of the highest calibre I think that most will agree that Dr. Stalker's ability to plan and organize has been the dominant factor in building medical and health service in Ormstown to the magnitude that exists to-day.

CARLYLE DICKSON
Secretary,
Ormstown Exhibition

It was my privilege for eleven years to have been associated with Dr. M. R. Stalker, and others, in the administration of the Barrie Memorial Hospital of which he was a co-founder and its Medical Director and to which he gave so devotedly of himself and his great talent, often to his physical detriment.

His overwhelming desire was that the people of the communities served by the Barrie should have not only the most competent medical and surgical skill available but also the advantage of modern equipment as it was developed by medical research. And how often was he grieved that inadequate finances did not always make the latter possible.

Dr. Stalker's complete sincerity; his devotion to the people he loved and served, as well as his unfailing interest and assistance in worthwhile community projects, will never be forgotten by those who knew him. He will always be remembered as a friend, often a counsellor in times of stress, and always a doctor and surgeon into whose healing hands they could commit themselves without fear, secure in the knowledge that nothing would be left undone that could be done to give them every opportunity for renewed health.

C. V. CURTIS

Dr. Murray Stalker was a man of many parts in each of which he was eminent. At the outset of his career he was a dedicated and skilled General Practitioner. He became interested in Surgery and went away for two years for training in this Specialty. Though Surgery became his chief interest he still maintained his interest in General Practice and, though he was a Certified Surgeon, always spoke of himself as a General Practitioner. Actually he was interested in everything pertaining to the practice of medicine and excelled in everything in which he took an interest.

He was an outstanding Diagnostician and soon became the Consultant of the Chateauguay Valley and, indeed, a large part of the District of Beauharnois. As a Surgeon he combined his diagnostic acumen with conspicuous operative skill, sound judgment and diligent attention to post-operative care.

His organizing ability was phenomenal. He came to Ormstown as the one Doctor in the town. The nearest hospital was in Valleyfield. By virtue of his genius for organizing, as well as his professional excellence, he leaves Ormstown with a beautiful well equipped hospital and a modern Medical Centre. As was said of Sir Christopher Wren on the memorial tablet on St. Paul's Cathedral in London: "If thou seek his monument, look about thee".

His success in all his endeavours required a strength of character possessed by few. He had an intellectual honesty with a refusal to compromise, a deep dedication to everything in which he believed and the will to strive toward perfection in all he undertook. He never took the easy way — always the best.

He was an inspiration to his colleagues all of whom were better Doctors by association with him in any way. His colleagues in the District have sustained a griveous loss. They join his bereaved family and the thousands of his grateful patients in mourning his loss with the knowledge that his like we shall not soon see again.

F. G. McCRIMMON, M.D.

The members of the Ormstown Curling Club were saddened Monday morning to learn of the untimely death of Dr. Murray Stalker.

Murray had been an active member of this club for 37 years. He had held various offices during this time and had carried out his duties as faithfully as though they were his own personal affairs, always with a long range view for the benefit of the club.

While President of the Community Centre organization he and his executive were instrumental in making possible the purchase and installation

LEO CAPPIELLO ANNOUNCES CANDIDACY FOR MAYOR

MR. LEO CAPPIELLO

Mr. Leo Capiello, Registered Public Accountant, informed The Gleaner this morning (Wednesday) that he will be a candidate for Mayor in the February 1st Election in the Town of Huntingdon. Mr. Cappiello served on the Town Council as Alderman from 1943 to 1947 and as Mayor for a ten-year period, 1949-59.

This And That In Town

ORMSTOWN — Word spread rapidly in this town Monday morning that Dr. M. R. Stalker, Medical Superintendent at The Barrie Memorial Hospital, had succumbed to a heart ailment. The entire community is bereft of one of its foremost citizens and greatest benefactors. See elsewhere.

Chateauguay Valley experienced its weekly thaw starting Saturday, last week. Seems we get a little snow and right after we have a thaw, sometimes rain, and our snow is gone again. Late last summer the ex-mayor of Ottawa, Miss Charlotte Whitton, predicted a mild winter with very little snow, prophesying there would be several fierce storms but that's about all winter would amount to. So far, Miss Whitton is again correct. Our own ski slopes, at Franklin, Hemmingford, Covey Hill and Moon Valley are suffering from lack of snow (business) as much as the bigger resorts in the Laurentians. However, as soon as the white stuff starts coming down, one can be sure the local slopes will be busy. High wind Tuesday was the forerunner of lower temperature, but as yet no appreciable amount of snow.

DEWITTVILLE — Did you know the Dewittville W.I. members are sponsoring a Winter Carnival, weather permitting, on January 23rd. (Watch for advt. in next week's Gleaner).

HUNTINGDON — Interested in learning to dance? Or to dance better? Or learn the newest steps? See advt. in this issue of The Gleaner. By phoning 264-2950/5765 you can get all the details.

HEMMINGFORD — A bobcat was shot in this district the past week. Read elsewhere.

ELECTIONS — will soon be held in the district to determine who the mayors of our towns and villages will be. In Huntingdon, we know Mayor Paul Lefebvre is standing for re-election and we are quite certain one of the town's ex-mayors will throw his hat into the ring also. There are rumors of others but we'll have to wait until nominations close to learn if they are serious or not.

All you folks saying you need exercise are invited to the Rotary Rink Romp at the Huntingdon County War Memorial Arena (see advt.) Even if you haven't seen your skates for 20 years, you'll feel right at home. There's a bean supper too. This do isn't only for old-timers Rotary President Leslie A. Sanderson advised Rotarian Fred Anderson at Monday's meeting, "It's for all youngsters (at heart) from 8 to 80." This is a sincere effort on the part of the Huntingdon Rotary Club to give a helping hand to the Huntingdon County War Memorial Arena Ltd. directors who are faced with a shortage of funds. Tickets are two dollars per couple and are available from the County War Memorial president, Jon Proudfoot, or from any Rotarian. Frankly, the Rotarians are hoping to see a few neighbors from Ormstown, Howick, etc. at the Rink Romp . . .can do?

STAMP COLLECTING — There will be an interesting story by philatelist Richard L. Tinker in the next issue that we believe should be read by young and old, whether or not they are interested in this (sometimes lucrative) hobby.

One of our farmer friends has asked for the address of a good psychiatrist. Purebred Polly is suffering an acute case of moorosis.

Tickets are being printed today in The Gleaner printery for a 'diner du bon vieux temps' and sleigh ride (with a few little extra surprises thrown in) to be held January 31st. Seems sleighs leave Huntingdon at 4 p.m., arrive at (secret) where refreshments and warmth will prevail, return to the Chateau's Gai-Lounge by bus where the dinner will be held. Sounds good . . . see advt. next week.

EASTER ISLAND — Thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Nicol Stark of Huntingdon whose son Garnet (RCN) is serving on the current Easter Island Expedition, The Gleaner will carry a most interesting feature in the next issue — please read.

Heard that self-propelled snowmobiles (call them what you will) aren't going to be allowed on highways? General reaction of those who own them in this community seems to be 'So what - - - they can go anywhere and there's more fun in the fields and on the rivers - - - if we want to go on the highways, we'll go by car'. Seems logical, too.

And Little Barfin Fannie in the funny papers only has to say 'Jumpin' catfish, Daddio, I wish we were out of here' and immediately a turban-topped swami appears and the whole shebang changes and she has her wish. Well we know quite a few people around who'd like to borrow her so she could wish for some snow where snow belongs at this season. It's like our friend Bud Bourgon (of Philps &) says, 'What good are new skiis standing in the corner?'

Did you know Georges Caza (graduate of a three-year course in Upholstering) is one of Ourtown's busiest men these days? Georges is advertising a Special Discount this month elsewhere in The Gleaner and people are taking advantage of the savings. If you are in need of this type of craftsmanship, you won't find any better.

Just this: Auctioneer H. P. 'Jake' Higgins tells us the bankruptcy sale of horses last Saturday at Ste. Barbe brought in just double what those concerned had anticipated.

Did you know the channel (Lake St. Francis) is just as open as any day in summer . . . and this is January 13!

NOTE— Because of the exceptionally large number of tributes to the late Dr. M. R. Stalker appearing in this issue, some articles have been held over until next week's Gleaner.

ORMSTOWN — Big news is expected to pop one of these days and if so, the town will boast heavy industry, real heavy. To give credit where credit is due, let's say Ormstown's Board of Trade is wide awake.

Induction of Rev. R. W. Prendegast At St. Luke's Anglican Church

On Thursday evening, January 7th, at St. Luke's Anglican Church, Hemmingford, the Venerable I. M. Lidstone, B.A., D.D., Archdeacon of Bedford assisted by the Reverend J. B. Bonathan, L.Th., Rural Dean of St. Lambert, officiated at the Induction of the Reverend Ross W. Prendergast as Incumbent of St. Luke's, Hemmingford, Trinity Church, Havelock and St. Matthew's, Edwardstown.

The church was filled with parishioners and friends and those who could not be seated in the Church, heard the service over the loud-speaker system which had been linked up for the occasion.

Mrs. E. Millroy was at the organ and seated in the front of the Church were the men with whom the new Pastor will join forces in this community.

They were Canon Laurent Corriveau of St. Roman's (Catholic), Reverend G. Ficko of St. Andrew's (United), and Mr. Coomb of St. Andrew's (Presbyterian). With them were seated the Wardens, Mr. Rufus Fisher, Vicar's Warden, Mr. G. Bychowski, People's Warden, both of St. Luke's, and Mr. Garth Waddell of Trinity Church, Havelock. Also present were a number of Rev. Prendergast's former colleagues and friends from various parishes around.

They included Rev. Allan Cameron of Clarenceville. Rev. Cecil Royle, Hudson Heights, Rev. Desmond Rowe, Greenfield Park, Rev. Henry Blase, Point St. Charles, Rev. T. Dale Jones, Secretary of the Bible Society, Montreal, Rev. Tom Ramsey. Otterburn Heights and Miss Ruth Matthews, Deaconess, Hudson Heights.

The Induction service is a very special service, full of meaning, and, listening to the charges and admonitions of the Bishop as read by Archdeacon Lidstone and the replies given by the Rev. Prendergast, one could not help but be impressed by the solemnity of the occasion and be made aware of the responsibility which rests on the shoulders of the men who have dedicated their lives to the service of God.

The sermon was given by the Reverend J. W. Davidson, B.A., B.D. of Brome. He had known the new Pastor for ten years, said Rev. Davidson. They had done much work together and he was going to miss him very much. The words of his text, said Rev. Davidson, were taken from chapter 26 of the Acts of the Apostles, verses 16 and 18 and in Mr. Prendergast we surely have a servant of God. In a sermon which came straight from the heart — and shoulder — Mr. Davidson likened the Minister of Religion to a Doctor of medicine. One cared for the body, the other for the soul.

At the conclusion of a very fine sermon Reverend Davidson left this thought with his listeners, 'Being a Christian means giving Jesus Christ the opportunity of living His life in you.'

After the service an informal reception was held in the Hall, and all present met with Mr. and Mrs. Prendergast. In a few words of introduction and welcome, Mr. Rufus Fisher spoke of the pleasure felt by the congregations of the three churches at having Mr. Prendergast in their midst. Thinking of his arrival in terms of Christmas one might say that Reverend and Mrs. Prendergast were celebrating the birth of a new chapter in their lives and that the people of Hemmingford were rejoicing in the gift of a new Pastor.

Mr. Garth Waddell, Vicar's Warden of Trinity Church, gave Mr. Prendergast a very brief, but very warm welcome. Mr. Bychowski extended a welcome to Mr. and Mrs. Prendergast and to all present and looked forward hopefully to a year of greater prosperity and that their new Pastor might remain here for many years to come.

The Reverend Allan Cameron, Clarenceville, well-known in this area from having worked at Hardee Farms with his father, spoke briefly of his pleasure at having Rev. Prendergast whom he knew very well, as a close neighbour.

Replying, Mr. Prendergast thanked his Wardens, his parishioners, his colleagues, several of whom had travelled a considerable distance in order to support him at this time, the ladies of the three churches for the delicious refreshments and last, but by no means least, his friend, Reverend Davidson, for his fine sermon.

Proposed Stadium At Expo Sixty-Seven Will Be Unique

The proposed stadium, now under study by federal and provincial authorities, will be a "permanent temporary" structure which may remain in place where it is on the Expo site, or it can be knocked down and reassembled at an entirely different location.

Mr. Dauphinee, who managed Vancouver's Empire Stadium from the day it opened in 1954 until he joined Expo in August, 1964, said the stadium would be a valuable legacy with "an extremely high salvage value".

He said: "Even with a 25,000-seat-capacity, we could quite easily add another 4,000-5,000 seats by placing portable stands around the track area, just like we did in Vancouver for the Grey Cup game. Without any additional construction, we could have a 30,000 seat stadium.

"However, we feel that 25,000 seats is the optimum number for Expo's need's" he added.

Mr. Dauphinee said the stadium, according to present plans, would make "one of the finest high school and track and field stadiums in the world."

He speculated that the stadium would be sold to the highest bidder at the end of Expo. Because of its unique pre-cast concrete construction "sections could be added to make it a 40,000 — or even a 75,000-seat stadium. With this feature, it will have an extremely high salvage value." he said.

The Woman And Agriculture

There is no enterprise, no field of man's activity in which the woman is more closely associated with her husband than in work on the land.

Even though the requirements of income and competition may necessitate a rational organization, reducing the individualism of the agricultural profession, the farm remains a family enterprise here and as a result the co-operation of the farm wife is an indispensible element in its success.

This is reflected in the big annual winter agricultural exhibition that will be opening in Febraury. The 13th National Salon of Agriculture will be held at the Show Mart in Montreal from February 12 to 18, 1965, with "The Woman and Agriculture" as the theme for its numerous female visitors.

City Dwellers, too

This theme is designed to appeal to both the women of rural Quebec and those who live in the cities and whose role as consumers has a considerable influence on agricultural development.

This influence is expressed in a thorough knowledge of our farm products, of their cycle and of the importance of knowing when they are in abundant supply and may be found on the market at the best price.

Interdependence To Be Considered

For the city woman to appreciate the problems of the farm market, she has to see that she is sharing in a better distribution of wealth, aware of the interdependence that exists between industrial workers and those who till the soil.

In concrete terms, this means that when the worker's wife buys dairy products — cheese, eggs, yogourt, etc. — in generous quantities, when she often includes in her many chickens which we raise in abundance, she not only nourishes her family substantially and economically, but she also contributes to the maintenance of the standard of living of the farmer's wife. The latter in turn, with a better income, will become a better consumer of the output of industry.

This interdependence between urban and rural women will be pointed up in the various events scheduled on the women's program at the Salon of Agriculture, a program that is designed to appeal to all women, both from the country and from the city.

Builders Spend More For Better Lighting

The average new home you visit this fall or spring will have $120 worth of lighting fixtures provided by the builder.

That's over twice what you would have found only eight years ago.

A recent survey by a builders magazine indicates that builders who were spending an average of $50 per home for lighting in 1956 are now spending $120.

What's the reason for this new attitude?

Better educated builders and buyers and a shift in the housing market are cited by Gwen Butterworth, Home Advisor.

Poverty lighting allowances were standard in a sellers market. People took what they got. If the builder, by intent, or accident, left them to live forever in a state of semi-darkness (or invest two or three times as much to do the job after the house was built) there were few objections. Not many people appreciated the importance of a complete and fexible lighting system.

Buyers know more about what goes into a house today — including lighting. This is especially true of the large number of present homeowners that the building industry is trying to attract into new homes.

These homeowning veterans are not likely to make the same mistake of trying to live with the hazards and discomforts created by a poverty lighting system, or again trying to stretch a $50 fixture allowance to do the whole job. They know how quickly $50 evaporates in a modern lighting showroom and often is expended on a single beautiful fixture — like a dining room chadelier.

Another factor enters the picture. A growing number of builders have discovered the selling power of installed lighting.

Besides adding a genuine and important quality element that lasts the life of the home, smart builders found that lighting emphasizes that total quality of the house and adds drama and charm of its own.

One builder observed:

"Its visibility is its greatest advantage. It is difficult to demonstrate the structural quality of most of the house. But people who see the kind of quality we put into lighting more readily accept what we have to say about the heating system, the insulation, the kind of wood and nails we use."

He revealed that the frustration that once attended buying lighting fixtures has been turned into a tactical advantage.

"One of the reasons we did not put in more fixtures in the past was fear that the buyer would complain that they were not suitable for her furniture or just didn't appeal to her.

"Now we tell her she can choose some other style of fixture from our supplier's showroom. Instead of being negative about making a change in a finished house — which is the case with just about everything put into place — we win her confidence and loyalty thanks to the flexibility of fixture lighting."

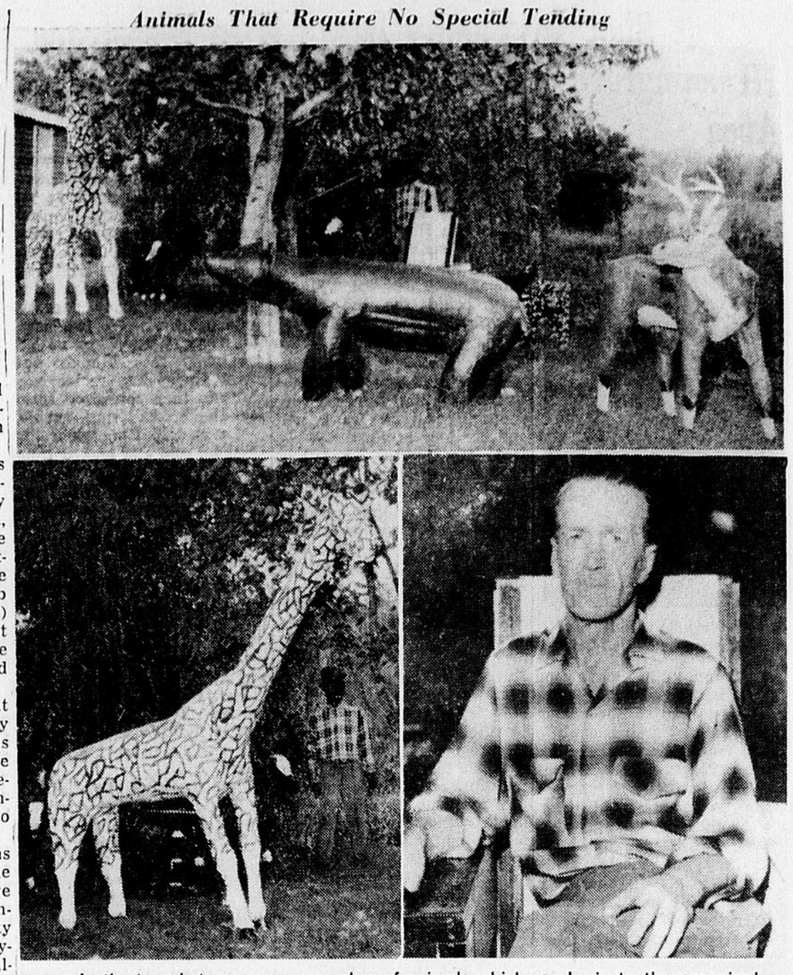

Snowy Owls Moving South This Winter

QUEBEC, December 7, 1964 — The southern portions of the Province are playing host this year to a rare winter visitor from the North.

Snowy owls, large white birds usually with greyish brown flecks in their plumage, are showing up in many widespread localities in the Province of Quebec this fall. Normally a bird of the artic tundra, the snowy owl occasionally moves south in large numbers to spend the winter in southern Canada or northern U.S.A. These periodic migrations are apparently due to a failure in the owl's principal source of food — the lemming (a small mouse-like animal). The abundance of lemmings varies greatly from year to year. In years when lemmings are plentiful, the snowy owl remains in the Northland; when they are scarce, the owls move southward to seek out other forms of food.

Snowy owls frequently show little fear of man, thus becoming tempting targets for hunters. The Quebec Department of Tourism, Fish and Game would like to remind hunters that the provincial game laws prohibit the killing, capturing or molesting of snowy owls at all times.

Animals That Require No Special Tending

In the top photo are seen a number of animals which can be instantly recognized probably strange creatures to be found in a village like St. Antoine Abbe, but they are there. They are situated on the lawn of Mr. Alcide St. Germaine, right in the village. He makes a hobby of carving these animals out of wood with just a knife and an axe as his tools. He produces some very fine images too. Lower left is a giraffe, while on the right is the carver himself, sitting in a lawn chair which he also made. Mr. St. Germaine will produce any model to special order if you want something different. Simply supply him with a picture or photo and he will go to work.

Animals That Care For Themselves

Do you like animals? Most people do, but are not always appreciative of the extra work which animals make. Now if we told you you could have animals which would not be a a bother to you, but which might be an attraction around your home, you may not believe us. But such is the case.

A Gleaner representative visited St. Antoine Abbe recently and discovered these animals quietly stationed on the lawn of a house in that village. There were bears, deer, leopards, giraffes, moose and men who watch out for them. They were not fenced in, there was no restraint to keep them from wandering off. You have probably guessed it by now, they were lifelike models of these creatures. All of them had been carved from wood and made by the owner of the house, Mr. Alcide St. Germaine of St. Antoine Abbe.

Mr. St. Germaine is the caretaker of St. Antoine Abbe school and it is in his spare time that he does the carving of the animals in wood. The only tools he uses are an axe and a knife and one model will take from three to four weeks to make. He gets the plans for his subjects from pictures in books, newspapers, etc. It was about five years ago that he started this hobby and since that time he has made a number of subjects and sold nine of them to people in various parts of the Province. Among those sold were: Two Deer, a white Bear, a Tiger, Models of men and women. He said the models are mostly used in summer camps and some have been sold to taverns. The cost varies from $40 to $100 depending upon the subject required. They are not polished in any way, but are left rough and painted according to type.

It is getting more and more difficult to find trees large enough to make the larger type of animals. For the most part cedar and white wood are used and the body is cut from one piece of the trunk of a tree. The legs and other parts are cut from smaller branches then joined to the body. On a model of a deer, real antlers were used to give a more natural appearance.

Mr. St. Germaine also makes lawn furniture of various types.

Quite a number of American tourists stop at his place to look and admire the models he displays on his lawn by the house. Not too long ago, he had three of them stolen. He does most of this kind of work in the fall.

It would be worth a run out to St. Antoine Abbe sometime to take a look at what this man has made and can make. The models of the men are of the negro type and dressed in plaid shirts and cloth pants and also a hat.

These models, as may be expected, are quite heavy and are not easily moved, so there is good reason that once placed in a spot they are going to stay there. They would make good ornaments for a lawn or in a large garden.

And could not say good-bye.
Always remembered and sadly missed by Alice and family.

Rev. George McMichen Is Now Minister Of St. Andrew's Here

An impressive Service of Induction was held at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church in Huntingdon on Thursday evening, January 7th, when The Reverend George McMichen M.A., B.D. became the Minister of St. Andrew's congregation.

Order of Service: — Organ Prelude; Call to Worship; Invocation and the Lord's Prayer; Psalm Selection No. 110 "I joyed when to the house of God"; The Lesson: Revelations 3:1-6; Prayer; Offering and Prayer of Dedication; Anthem; Hymn Selection No. 291 "Break Thou the bread of life"; Sermon "Appearance and Reality" — The Rev. James Armour; Hymn Selection No. 486 "Father of peace and God of love"; The Narration of the Steps — The Rev. D. N. MacMillan; The Act of Induction — The Rev. Wm. M. Brown; The Signing of the Formula — The Very Rev. C. Ritchie Bell; The Charge of the Minister — The Rev. John A. Simms; The Charge to the Congregation — The Rev. Gerald E. Doran; Hymn Selection No. 366 "O Thou who makest souls to shine"; Benediction; Organ Postlude.

The Reverend William Brown, Minister of Georgetown and Riverfield Presbyterian Churches, presided. The Reverend James Armour, B.A., recently inducted Minister of Ephraim Scott Memorial Church, Montreal, gave the sermon.

The choir rendered an anthem during the service and special organ music, played by Mrs. Smellie, church organist, were much appreciated by all.

Following is the Order of Service: — The Ministers Participating in the Service of Induction were: The Rev. Wm. M. Brown, Minister, Georgetown and Riverfield, Past Moderator of the Presbytery, who is presiding in the absence due to a prior engagement of the Moderator, the Rev. E. J. Briard, B.A.

The Very Rev. C. Ritchie Bell, B.A., B.D., D.D., Clerk of the Presbytery, Professor of Pastoral Theology and Homiletics, The Presbyterian College.

The Rev. James Armour, B.A., recently inducted Minister, Ephraim Scott Memorial Church, Montreal.

The Rev. Donald N. MacMillan, M.A., B.D., Ph.D., Professor of Systematic Theology, The Presbyterian College.

The Rev. Gerald E. Doran, B.Sc., B.A., B.D., Minister of St. Edward's, Beauharnois.

At the close of the service the ladies of St. Andrew's Church served refreshments in the Church Annex when friends became acquainted with The Reverend George McMichen and his daughters, 14-year-old Caroline and 13-year-old Frances. A third daughter, Helen, is living with Mr. McMichen's parents in Scotland where she is pursuing her studies. Caroline and Frances have settled into the routine of school here and both have already made a good number of friends with the younger set.

The long absence of a Minister at St. Andrew's, since March of last year when The Reverend Jim Grant accepted a call, is now over and all reports indicate that the charge has been filled to the satisfaction of the congregation. Mr. McMichen imparts a feeling of sincerity and goodwill which, coupled with his friendly manner and humor, augur well for a long and contented life in our midst.

"COUNTRY NOTEBOOK"

BY WALKER RILEY

"Country Notebook" by Mr. Walker Riley, Agricultural Extension Specialist with Macdonald College, appears in The Gleaner with this edition. The column will be a weekly feature which we trust will be of interest to all in the Chateauguay Valley.

For two days this past week I attended the annual conference of the Soil and Crop Improvement Association at Kemptville in Eastern Ontario. This is the area where I worked before coming to Macdonald College. It felt good to once again travel familiar roads and to meet old friends. But it was also humbling to find that they were getting along just as well without me.

This popular program had its highest attendance yet; within twenty minutes of the start, every seat was taken. The overall theme was "Making Best Use of your Resources". Each of the four sessions was a subdivision of this idea.

Once again, corn received the lion's share of the publicity. It appears that the drive for more corn will continue until every acre that has suitable soil and climate is growing it.

Mac MacRae, a very successful corn grower, hasn't a silo and doesn't want one. He stores two hundred tons silage each year in a heap on the ground and has reduced spoilage to almost zero. The stack is shaped like an inverted saucer which he builds with a bulldozer rented for $20 a day.

He pushes each wagon load of corn to the top of the stack with the bulldozer. Then, as he backs away, he hooks onto the chains of the false front and pulls off the load. While he is waiting for the next wagon load to arrive from the field, he spreads and packs with the bulldozer. In this way, it takes only four minutes to unload a wagon, instead of thirteen if a blower were used. And, as Mr. MacRae put it, "I don't like to keep equipment waiting in the field when I am paying out $12 an hour for it".

Storage in a stack without loss has taken Mr. MacRae several years of experimentation.

Now he covers the stack with a sheet of 4-mil plastic held down with chopped, wet straw. It is important, he says, to see that there are no air bubbles and that the wind can't get under the plastic. It is there that spoilage takes place. He tried wet sawdust one year, but it slipped off the plastic.

The plastic material to cover the 85'X42' stack cost him $47, and expects it to last three to five years. Adding to that the cost of twenty bales of straw, he stores 200 tons silage for $22 a year. This compares with $180 interest on a $3000 silo.

Mr. MacRae does admit that it can be a cold job bringing in the silage on January morning. "You have to learn to blow your nose with your mitts on," he says. Nor can a stack ever have as much eye-appeal as a good silo.

D. L. Parks, Director of Extension for the Ontario Department of Agriculture, in the evening program spoke on "The Role of Education in Agriculture". He pointed out that in Denmark, 87% of the young farmers have studied in agricultural school, a sharp contrast with our own standards.

Production may soon become an appendage of marketing, Mr. Parks believes. We will have to produce only what the market wants and not be seeking to market what is convenient to produce. He says a product must be able to pass the three-foot distance test the distance from the supermarket shelf to the housewife's cart. For this kind of farming there will have to be more education in agricultural colleges for business management.

Speaking of credit, he said "Farmers have never been ashamed to use other peoples' labour, but they have been very reluctant to take advantage of other people's capital".

It seems to me that the value of attending these meetings lies not only in the information you glean but also in the charge of enthusiasm you pick up from rubbing shoulders with the country's top farmers.

corations were purchased this year, two new sets of lights, boxes, extensions, etc. and tablecloths for the nurses' dining room.

The purchase of a baby cup for the first baby of the year was discussed. The first baby of the new year was born to Mr. and Mrs. Philip St. Onge of St. Anicet.

Mrs. Wm. Goodall reporting for the Shoppe on Wheels stated that she was looking forward to the Annual Shower of gifts at the Annual Meeting of this department as the stock is now quite low. She suggested articles such as hasty notes, tooth brushes, tooth paste, lotions, cigarettes, chocolate bars, stamps, pens, face cream and other types of small articles. Mrs. Goodall turned in $74 to the treasurer for this committee at this meeting.

A new name was added to the Nominating Committee, namely, Mrs. John McCallum. The Nominating Committee will draw up a slate of officers for the Annual Meeting, which this year will be held on Monday, February 1st. in the Masonic Hall, if available.

Mrs. F. Clevn suggested at this meeting that we might delve into the matter of possibly forming sub-committees etc. for members living in the outlying districts. This matter will be discussed further at a later date.

Notes From The Police Blotter

There was a rash of accidents over the past week, but fortunately no one suffered too much from injuries, but damages were high.

On January 6th, an accident occurred on the gravelled part of Highway No. 4 near Dewittville when a car overturned. The accident occurred at about 9.45 a.m. and involved two brothers in two separate cars. They were travelling along the highway one behind the other, with André Guérin in the lead and his brother Bernard in the rear. In some way Bernard hit the lead car in the rear and it went into the ditch. Damage to that car was approximately $1,000 and to the other car a bout $20. Andre was slightly injured. The brothers are from Ormstown.

On January 8th at about 10.30 p.m. an accident occurred at the Bouchette Street C.N.R. crossing when John Ryan, age 54 collided with the diesel engine of a C.N.R. freight train. Mr. Ryan, who lives on Cemetery Street in Huntingdon, was driving on Bouchette Street from north to south when he collided with the moving train that was travelling from west to east. The car was dragged a long about 190 feet along the tracks, but Mr. Ryan who was alone in the car was not hurt. Damage to the car amounted to about $175. Town Police investigated the accident. At the time rain was coming down in a deluge and it may have been this that blurred the vision of the driver.

On January 9th there was an accident in front of Lapierre's Garage in Cazaville about 3.55 p.m. It involved a car driven by Jean Maurice Deschamps of Cazaville and John L. Winnill, of St. Genevieve, Que. Deschamps turned to go into the garage, but due to slippery conditions the other car could not stop and collided with it. Damage to Deschamps car amounted to about $250 and to the Winnill car about $350.

Again on January 9th, an accident occurred at Dorea, Franklin Centre, at about 11.55 p.m. and involved two cars. One was driven by Miss Christiane Lemieux of St. Dorothy and one by Marcel Lemieux of St. Antoine Abbe. The accident occurred at an intersection with Miss Lemieux on the straight road and Mr. Lemieux was coming out onto this road when the collision took place. Damage to Miss Lemieux's car was about $800 and to the other car about $500.

On January 11th, an accident occurred near the Golf Club at Port Lewis on Highway No. 3, at about 2.30 p.m. One car was driven by Philippe Trudel of Beauharnois and the other by Thomas R. Patton of Caughnawaga, who gave his age as 77 years. The two cars sideswiped and the damage to the Trudel car amounted to about $400 and to the Patton car about $375.

Provincial police from Huntingdon investigated these accidents.

Break-ins

A break-in was discovered on January 9th, at the summer home of Lucien Langlois of Beauharnois, at Franklin Centre, on Route 52. The back door had been broken and a number of articles had been stolen. Among the stolen articles are: 5 bed sheets, 3 men's coats, a painted tapestry, 22 automatic rifle, all valued at about $150.

Another break-in was discovered at the summer home of Mr. Arthur Barwick of St. Lambert, at Athelstan, on January 10th. Again the back door had been broken and a 22 rifle was stolen. Including the damage the loss was valued at $50.

Both these cases are being investigated.

Special Christian education week-end at St. Andrew's and Wesley-Knox United Churches

Rev. Donald Bardwell, field sec. of Christian Education for Montreal and Ottawa Conference, visited St. Andrew's and Wesley-Knox on January 9th and 10th.

Saturday afternoon, Mr. Bardwell met with the Church School teachers, to discuss New Curriculum of the United Churches. Sunday morning, he addressed both Churches and explained the four basic Principles of the New Curriculum.

First: That adults need to grow, in their understanding of the Christian faith.

Secondly: That the Christian faith needs to be related to persons at each developing stage of their life.

Third: That persons learn by being involved.

Fourth: That the teaching ministry is jointly shared by Church and home.

In the afternoon, Mr. Bardwell chaired an open meeting to those who wished to know about the New Curriculum. To finish the day he met with the High C group, and assisted them with their plans for the future.

Mrs. Thos. Barr left during the holiday season for De'ray Beach, Florida, where she will spend the winter months.

Mr. and Mrs. Addie Trottier and Bonnie Beth of Dorval were Sunday guests of her mother, Mrs. W. F. Orr.

Sympathy is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Eric Millroy at the death of her aunt, Miss Maggie Hanna Hodgson, at the Griffith McConnell Home, Montreal, on Thursday, January 7th, 1965. Remains were resting at the J. M. Sharpe Funeral Home, Hemmingford. Burial was Saturday, January 9th at 2:30 P.M. at St. Luke's Anglican Church. Service was conducted by the Rev. Mr. Prendergast. Pallbearers were Messrs. Des. Woolley, Fred Clevers, Glen Hadley and David Barber. Interment Hemmingford Cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Weldon and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Weldon and daughter Shirley of Montreal, and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Fisher and children were Saturday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Fisher.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Novinger and Bob, Eric and Ross, of Toronto, motored down and spent Christmas and New Year holidays at their home here.

Mr. Albert McDowell passed away on December 22nd, at the Verdun Protestant Hospital. He was a son of the late John McDowell, and his wife, Matilda Thompson. He was 77 years old, and had lived most of his life here with the exception of a few years spent in Sawyerville. Funeral was from Sharpe's Undertaking parlors on December 24th, with the Rev. Mr. Ficko conducting the funeral services. Pallbearers were Messrs. Ed. Ellerton, Rufus Fisher, Charlie Hadley and Arthur Kyle.

Mrs. Gerald Ellerton entertained two tables of "500" Thursday afternoon, and Mrs. Ethel Williams entertained last Tuesday afternoon to three tables of "500". Prizes were awarded and "bountiful" refreshments in keeping with the holiday season were served by both hostesses.

It was with a feeling of regret that we, Hemmingford people, heard of the passing of Mrs. A. A. Clayland at Riverview Terrace Convalescent Home, on Dec. 29th. As one of us, she was held in high esteem, and will long be remembered. She was very active in Church work, and also Women's Institute. Of a very hospitable nature, her home was always open to friends and was a visiting place for many people. To Mr. and Mrs. Mervyn Forrester, Mrs. Della Clayland, and her sister, Mrs. Myrtle MacNeill, of Calgary, Alberta, and many cousins, we extend our sincere sympathy.

Chamber of Commerce Christmas Decorations Contest

The annual contest organized by the Hemmingford Chamber of Commerce for the most beautiful Christmas decoration has again been quite successful. Many people had their lighting arrangements working by December 16th and all were kept lit until this past week-end. There seemed to be more decorations this year,too. The judges were Mr. Bob Reid, Mr. Fraser Matheson and Mr. Walter Smith and here are the winners: First prize goes to Mr. and Mrs. S. Metcalf of Roxham, the lay-out of their grounds and the natural trees surrounding the house made a fine setting for their artistic decorations. Second prize goes to Mr. and Mrs. J. Blair of Route 52, east of the village; third prize is awarded to Mr. Wilmer Sample of Covey Hill.

New Arrivals In Hemmingford And A Fifth Generation

Our community was blessed with several new arrivals during the Christmas season. On December 13th, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Perras (née Hélène Hébert) welcomed the arrival of a boy, at the Barrie Memorial Hospital. He weighed 8 lbs. 2 ozs.

On December 23rd, at the Champlain Valley Hospital, a son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Patenaude, Jamie Steven.

On January 7th, at the Barrie Memorial Hospital there arrived a baby girl weighing 6 lbs. 2 ozs. who becomes the fifth generation of the Stanford family. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Hebert (née Barbara Stanford). Barbara is the daughter of Mr. Patrick Stanford of Montreal and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Stanford of Hemmingford with whom she has lived for a number of years. Mrs. Stanford's mother is Mrs. John Bruce of Rochester, N.Y. Mrs. Bruce is 80 years young and her grandmother, who lived at Brockville, Ontario, lived to the grand age of 119 years. We hope to get a picture of the five generations if Mrs. Bruce can be persuaded to return to Canada for a visit.

Just heard of another new arrival. This time to a former Hemmingford resident, Mrs. Marcel Naud, née Germaine Cere. Mrs. Naud's baby girl was born at the LaSalle Hospital on December 17th and weighed 8 lbs. 2 ozs.

The operation so far this winter has been quite successful with an income of over six hundred dollars from Hockey, Skating and Season's Skating Tickets, in the past two weeks. The season was a little late starting, due to very unseasonable weather this year. This has worked out to the benefit of the Arena because, the outside rinks at the schools have had a problem making ice whereas the Arena has had ice of a sort everyday.

The schedule of operations for the week has been laid out as follows. Skating, every afternoon 2 to 5 p.m., Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evenings, 7.30 to 10 p.m.

Hockey, Monday evenings junior Hockey, boys 14 to 18 a four team league, games starting at 7 and 8 p.m. All boys in this age group are invited to take part.

Wednesday and Friday evening the six team Town League will take over the Arena, playing two games each evening, the first game at 7.30 and the second at 9 p.m. The league has teams from Cazaville, St. Anicet, Athelstan, St. Joseph's School, Grant's Bakery and Huntingdon Red Hawks. The first league games start tonight, Jan. 13th. Admission to all hockey games is twenty-five cents, this is a good evening's entertainment that is not hard on the pocketbook. Saturday morning is the big time of the week for the small fry. The ice is reserved from 9 to 11.30 in the morning for boys from 8 to 14 years of age. The stars of tomorrow play in groups from 8 to 10, 11 and 12, 13 and 14. This year no one is charged admission and every boy is welcome to take part. Last Saturday was a dismal day, when the boys arrived at the Arena to find the ice covered in water and the session cancelled. We hope there are no more Saturdays like this during the winter.

Last week at the Arena

HOCKEY — Wednesday evening Grant's Bakery and Athelstan played to a 5-5 tie. Red Hawks romped to an easy 6 to 1 win over Cazaville. Friday evening Red Hawks found it hard going but, managed to win 2 to 1 over Grant's Bakery. Athelstan and Cazaville played to a 3-3 tie. Glen Gordon, Grant's Bakery and Murray Rennie, Athelstan, both goalkeepers, were standouts in Friday night's play.

Coming up — Town League Hockey, Wednesday and Friday.

Rotary Rink Romp, Friday, January 29th, skating with special prizes, dancing in the Arena Ballroom and an Old Fashioned Baked Bean Supper.

Monday Night Junior Hockey Scores

Artie MacIntyre's Macs ran up an 8 to 2 score over Howard Welburn's Washouts, Raymond and Murray led the Macs attack with three goals apiece. Rene Foran, the oldest junior player anywhere, picked up four assists. Thornton scored both goals for the Washouts.

The game between Rennie's Roughriders and Emond's Eagles was a thriller all the way, until Darryl Johnson scored two goals in the last two minutes, to give the Roughriders a 2 to 0 win. Murray Rennie scored the first shutout of the season, while keeping goal for his team.

HEMMINGFORD TOWNSHIP COUNCIL

The regular meeting of the Hemmingford Township Council was held in the Town Hall on Monday evening, January 5th. Mayor Alister Somerville presided and all councillors were present.

The secretary reported that an inspector from the office of the Fire Commissioner would shortly visit the Fire Station to inspect and pass the new fire truck. In a communication received from the Canadian Underwriters Association, it was learned that because of our up-to-date fire truck and trained fire brigade it was almost certain that a reduction in the amount of fire insurance premiums would shortly be decided upon for the residents of this community.

Once again the question of the building of line fences between farms came up for discussion and the Council was asked if the Code required a farmer to cut back the brush along a line fence to any specific distance. There is no exact distance specified but it was agreed that there must be sufficient clearance to enable a man to build the fence properly. Mr. Willis Clark and Mr. John Clark asked that Mr. A. Bailie and Mr. K. Dudka be asked to build their share of the line fence between their properties. Mr. Jerry Dauphinais asked that Mr. C. E. Berry be asked to build his share of the fence. The secretary was authorized to notify the respective parties by registered mail that the line fence must be built and the brush be cut back.

Councillor Barr gave a notice of motion that he would introduce a by-law at the next meeting to regulate the building of line fences.

Councillors Dame and Hadley reported that, after six or eight meetings with the two councillors appointed by the Village Council and Fire Chief Harry Warner, agreement had been reached concerning the payment for and use of the new fire truck. The contract was now ready for signing. The contract was then read to Council and it was moved by Councillor Brown, seconded by Councillor Barr that the contract be signed by Councillors Dame and Hadley as representatives of the Township Council and it then be sent to the Village Council for their signature. Details of the new fire truck, cost and details of the contract between the two municipalities will be published, together with a picture, in the next issue of The Gleaner.

Numerous complaints were heard concerning the state of the roads in the Township. Attention was drawn to the snowfall which started around 3 p.m. and was so heavy that roads were almost impassable by 6 p.m. yet it was mid-morning on Saturday, the following day, before the plows appeared on several roads. The question as to what quantity of calcium was required to be mixed with the sand in order to de-ice the roads elicidated the fact that no specific amount was quoted in the contract between Council and Contractor. This then led one Covey Hill resident to state that she was forced to conclude that little or no calcium was being added to the grit which was being sprinkled on the roads as the Covey Hill road, from Clelland's Corners to the Hemmingford Line, had been covered with ice for a week and the few sprinkles of grit it had received had made no impression on the hard glassy surface of the road. After some further discussion a resolution, moved by Councillor Bouchard, seconded by Councillor Poissant, to the effect that — whereas a number of ratepayers were present and complaining of the state of the winter roads, Regional Construction be notified to have the snow removed immediately and that all roads be well sanded at all times. This was carried unanimously and the secretary was asked to dispatch the notification immediately.

Attention was drawn to the fact that Mayor Alister Somerville has completed his second term of office, having held the office of Mayor for the past four years, he is not seeking re-election. Councillors Martial Bouchard, W. J. Brown and Aylmer Hadley have also completed their term of office.

Ladies Curling Association Silver "D" Games

Midnight Mass At St. Joseph's

They came down the central aisle of the Church, eighty young and not-so-young men, faces scrubbed, hair brushed, uniform spotless, as shiny as new coins. The first in line are walking a bit too fast, pushing a little as real boys would but soon, their voices rise in the opening hymn "Holy Night" and it seems like angels had come down in our midst, bearing the good news.

A few hours earlier, how many mothers had been told: "Don't forget to wake me up at 10.30. Mr. Talbot wants us to be at the school no later than 11.15!" And for these young boys, Mr. Talbot's every wish is their command. To them, Mr. Talbot not only is the founder and director of "Les Petits Chanteurs de la Paix". He is even more the one who opened to them a whole new world of achievement, who has made known to them the power of their limpid young voices united in one large instrument — the most beautiful of all instruments: the human voice.

But now it is midnight and our little angels have regained the heights and are grouped around the organ. Miss Gilberte Demers, regular organist at St. Joseph's Church, plays the first chords of "Minuit, Chretiens" and it is truly a "solemn hour" with Mr. Talbot's serene bass voice handling the solo. The Mass in four parts by Theodore Dubois, goes very smoothly with high points such as "Domine Fili unigenite" in the "Gloria" and the "Hosanna" in the "Sanctus". The Men's Choir has joined the "Petits Chanteurs" for this occasion and adds to it a new dimension. The boys give a good rendition of the "Alleluia" in Gregorian chant. We would like to hear them more often in this style, such as in the "Gaudens gaudebo", one of the masterpieces of the Gregorian repertory.

During the second Mass, we can enjoy the choir's rendition of all the familiar Christmas hymns, with members of the Men's Choir taking care of the solos. Mr. Talbot treats us to yet another surprise with his interpretation of the very difficult "Né dans une crèche". Mr. Guy De La Rocheliere, visiting our town with his wife, Mrs. Therese Guerard, whom we have come to know and admire very much here, brought his contribution to the occasion by singing the solo in "Adeste, Fideles".

It is said that Christmas is the children's very own day. After the enchantment of this Midnight Mass at St. Joseph's, may we amplify on this and say: "The more children there are around, the more it is felt that it is truly Christmas". Our congratulations and our thanks to all of them, to Mr. Talbot and to the Men's Choir.

ORMSTOWN LIONS CLUB MEETING

A regular meeting of the Ormstown Lions Club was held on Tuesday, January 5th with President Gordon Green in the chair and twenty Lions attending. One guest, Dr. Mitchell of Hamilton, Ontario was present.

Lion B.L. McGerrigle reported that 305 Christmas cakes had been sold and expressed his thanks to all the kind people who had purchased them and so helped the Lions in their welfare work.

Lion Merrill Barrington, who was again in attendance after an enforced holiday, reported that the Village of Ormstown and the Parish of St. Malachie d'Ormstown had both made a generous contribution towards the operation of the skating rink which is again being sponsored by the Lions Club. Lion Mervyn Barrington reported that the rink is in full operation and anyone wanting season tickets should contact any Lion.

It was reported that 11 Christmas boxes had been given to needy persons. The Lion treasurer reported that the treasury was in fair condition and gave an account of recent receipts and disbursements.

The guest speaker of the evening was Austin Henry of the Ormstown High School staff. Mr. Henry spoke interestingly about the reduction in Canada's existing armed forces as announced by the government some time ago. Mr Henry had spent some 15 years in the Canadian Army and was fully familiar with his subject. Many questions were asked by those present and answers were capably given by the speaker, Mr. Henry was introduced by Lion Pierre Sauvé and thanked by Lion Lindsay Cullen.

Au sujet des Petits Chanteurs de la Paix

On est gâté à Huntingdon. Je pense qu'il faudrait chercher longtemps dans le comté et même en dehors pour trouver une paroisse qui a eu du chant à ses offices religieux, au temps des Fêtes, aussi magnifique que chez nous.

Les Petits Chanteurs de la Paix sont une richesse pour notre ville. Cette chorale comprend 30 hommes et adolescents et 55 petits sopranos et altos. Ils sont tous de la paroisse et ils nous donnent une leçon d'art, de caractère et de beau.

D'art, parce que leur travail relève d'une science pas facile: la musique. Ils sont loin de tout maitriser dans ce domaine mais les progrès réalisés depuis un an doivent être mentionnés. Une leçon de caractère, parce que il faut en posséder de la persévérance et de la volonté pour s'astreindre à des répétitions pas toujours faciles et ceci à chaque jour de la semaine et bénévolement. Finalement, une leçon de beau par l'harmonie qu'ils sèment en nos esprits par l'excellent souvenir qu'on garde de leur costume, de leur tenue, de leur discipline.

Je rends donc hommage au directeur de cette chorale, M Henry Talbot et à tous et chacun des membres qu'il dirige. Je félicite également les parents des plus petits qui encouragent et aident leurs enfants à persévérer dans cette voie de l'harmonie et du beau.

Sans être un docteur en musique, je me permets certaines remarques qui je l'espère serviront de stimulant et non d'éteignoir. La messe de minuit fut une véritable réussite; je mentionnerai cependant que ecrtains ténors manquent de contrôle dans le volume de leur voix et que d'autres manquent d'attention aux directives de leur directeur; du côté des basses c'est bon, mais à certains moments, on dirait que ça manque de corps, de rondeur, de volume; les attaques sont précises et l'attention est plus soutenue; les voix d'enfants sont magnifiques; quelques exceptions semblent forcées un peu, peut-être qu'ils respirent mal ou qu'ils se laissent distraire par les spectateurs et qu'ils ne maitrisent pas assez leur partie. Les solistes manquent de fermeté mais l'accompagnement beaucoup trop fort à ce moment-là ne m'a pas permis de juger de leur valeur véritable.

En définitive, il y a beaucoup de travail de réaliser et il reste heureusement du temps et des compétences pour voir à l'amélioration et au succès toujours grandissant de nos chanteurs, petits et grands.

Je voudrais féliciter les membres de la Commission Scolaire pour l'aide qu'ils fournissent à cette organisation mais leur contribution est tellement minime que je dois l'ignorer. De toute façon elle ne correspond pas au travail réalisé depuis un an.

Les conseils municipaux, je suis loin de les louanger, je les blâme ouvertement. Il me semble qu'une ville qui possède une telle richesse doit faire les premiers pas pour assurer le développement, l'embellissement, le succès et même l'exploitation de ses beaux talents. Qu'avez-vous fait Messieurs les Maires et Messieurs les conseillers municipaux?

Pourquoi est-ce qu'à Shawinigan, à St-Hyacinthe, à Drummondville, à Granby etc. etc., des groupes d'enfants et d'adolescents, pas supérieurs aux nôtres, sont devenus et demeurent les ambassadeurs de ces villes et répandent leur renommée à travers la province et nous laissent les yeux ronds d'envie? Ne se trouverait-il pas dans Huntingdon un comité de citoyens qui accepterait de s'occuper de notre chorale qui verrait à ses besoins, à lui procurer des fonds, de la musique, des récompenses, à assurer sa publicité, à lui permettre même d'aller dans d'autres villes, d'apparaitre à la télévision, d'enregistrer un ou des disques..etc. etc.. Pourquoi cela est-il possible ailleurs et irréalisable ici? Je pourrais répondre mais j'ai confiance et j'espère.

Dans un court entretien que j'avais dernièrement avec M Talbot celui-ci m'avoua qu'il était seul et responsable de tout: répétition de chacune des voix, discipline, achat de la musique, transcription des partitions, arrangements musicaux, financement et confection des costumes, etc. etc et ce dernier ajoutait: "Il y a beaucoup de gens qui nous félicite mais bien peu et même personne qui s'offrent à collaborer avec nous et à nous aider à élargir nos horizons et à épanouir les talents des jeunes que nous dirigeons. Je fais ce que je peux avec mes petits moyens!" Consolez-vous, M. Talbot, vous faites beaucoup et vos moyens ne semblent pas limités..

N'y aurait-il pas un conseil municipal, une organisation paroissiale, un comité de citoyens, une association de marchands, une compagnie, qui va se décider d'assurer la survie, l'épanouissement et la réussite ici comme ailleurs des Petits-Chanteurs de la Paix?

Et vous, les parents de ces chanteurs, trouvez-vous normal qu'un seul homme soit responsable de toute cette organisation et qu'on ne le paie même pas, excepté pour le travail qu'il fait pour l'église paroissiale? "Pensez-y donc, mon bon ami...et..agissez??.

Meilleurs succès aux Petits Chanteurs de la Paix et je souhaite que très prohainement, notre journal local publie le nom du comité qui décidera d'appuyer et de prendre en charge l'organisation de notre chorale.

Vous découvrirez les vraies valeurs, les grandes richesses de la vie à deux et en même temps les problèmes qu'elle suscite. Des spécialistes tels que médecins, notaires, psychologues, banquiers, prêtres, couples mariés vous ouvriront à votre vie conjugale future.

Vous aurez les yeux ouverts. Vous découvrirez l'essentiel; l'échange, le dialogue, la connaissance de l'un et de l'autre. Ces cours sont une réflexion à deux. Vous ferez l'apprentissage de votre vie à venir qui est: partage de la vie, mise en commun, communion d'âme, d'esprit, de coeur, de corps.

Vous recherchez le bonheur l'Absolu, la perfection. Ces cours donneront peut-être une optique nouvelle et merveilleuse à votre vie conjugale. Vous ne serez pas des demi-aveugles tâtonnant ici et là, mais bien des fiancés réalistes, sachant discuter, émettre leur point de vue, accepter l'autre sexe avec ses qualités, ses défauts. Vous aurez ensemble des discussions franches.

Je pense à quatre domaines en particulier où vous ne vous êtes pas aventurés par pudeur, par gêne. Pourtant ces quatres domaines sont très importants: 1) la sexualité; 2) l'argent; 3) les enfants 4) le travail féminin. Une fois les cours terminés, ces points auront été retournés sur tous les angles face à face. Ces difficultés ne vous sembleront pas anormales, au contraire vous aurez des questions auxquelles vous répondrez à deux. Vous aurez aussi des résumés de cours, des livres conseillés.

Vous sortirez de ces cours enthousiastes, heureux, vous saurez où aller. Les témoignages de nombreux couples ayant suivi les cours de S.P.M. en font foi.

Bienvenue!

Liturgie — Chant d'entrée — Le psalmiste invite toute la terre à acclamer le Seigneur qui manifeste sa présence parmi nous. Le psaume rappelle une manifestation de la gloire de Dieu: "il changea la mer en terre ferme (Ps. 65, 6)" il s'agit du passage de la Mer Rouge — pour le salut de son peuple. C'est aussi le miracle de Cana qui appelle notre émerveillement et notre adoration. Mais l'action de grâces doit se développer surtout à partir de l'Eucharistie d'aujourd'hui. Le Seigneur fait merveille pour nous, il manifeste sa gloire dans son Fils incarné. La célébration eucharistique est le festin de noces du Royaume nouveau, image lui-même de l'intimité bienheureuse du ciel. Le vin abondant offert gratuitement, et d'une qualité merveilleuse, c'est l'Eucharistie que le Seigneur nous donne, jusqu'au jour où nous boirons avec lui le vin du Royaume.

be able to announce a very large scale project which will really improve things in this area. We can only say that it will be a construction project that should be of interest to all. We see 1965 as a big year for Chateauguay. With a little help from the public and civic authorities, we could make it one to remember.

DAN FLANIGAN PRESIDENT, PARENT-TEACHER ASSOCIATION

The PTA looks forward to Nineteen Sixty-five with the hope that at least some of our problems will be solved. The classroom situation seems to be on the way to some improvement but we would really like to see a solution to the salary problem for our teachers. We recognize that teaching standards have to be improved and look to the new High School and implementation of the Parent Report to provide the needed incentives in these areas. Perhaps more concrete interest on the part of parents will help us all in our search for the perfect educational system.

REV. FREDERICK BELANGER PASTOR, OUR LADY OF PERPETUAL HELP CHURCH

All over the world, in North America and perhaps in particular, here in the province of Quebec, 1965 will be a year of decision. As this marks the last year of the current Ecumenical Council, the Christian world must decide whether to accept or reject the moral responsibilities which have been presented to us. We in Chateauguay have decided. For example, March the 7th, will see our parish conducting service in our native tongue. This is only the first barrier in the path we have chosen. We can only pray that continued examination of our mutual problems and differences will finally prove that we are not as far apart as supposed.

NORMAN PALMER PRESIDENT CANADIAN LEGION

The Legion hopes to see recreational facilities improved all over Chateauguay in 1965. We plan to contribute on our part by erecting a new building on Maple St. In this area we hope to see baseball fields, hockey rinks and perhaps even a skating rink for adults, complete with music. We plan to continue our usual Community activities with some emphasis on track and field for the youngsters. Our fondest hope would be to double our membership in 1965.

ED MacELROY PRESIDENT LIONS CLUB

The Lions Club does not have a large membership in Chateauguay, but we feel very proud of what we have accomplished in the past year. We can also look with pride to our program for 1965. We plan to continue our work with underprivileged children. But we are making a special community effort by starting a sinking fund for a boys and girls club. We are now busily looking for someone to donate the land required. Give us the land, the Lions will do the rest.

The Glowing Art Of Eric Wesselow

(By Susan Thackeray)

The following article appeared in the Fall Edition of the C.I.L. Oval together with photographys in color of the designs that Mr. Eric Wesselow of Chateauguay, Quebec, has made in a plastic product. We believe our readers will find this interesting.

In Montreal's Christ Church Cathedral, six small but brilliantly colorful windows glow in the sunlight, illuminating the dean's handsome high-ceilinged office. Stained glass, one would suppose. But, look again. Those colors are remarkably rich. There is a depth, an almost three-dimensional quality to the panels — and what happened to the dark, leaded out-lines that have characterized this particular art form for the last 1,500 years? These contemporary designs flow freely, unencumbered and unbroken in form.

Not one sliver of glass was used in these windows. They are plastic. Each one is fashioned from thin layers of translucent acrylic sheeting, cut to intricate shapes and pieced together with cement on a base of thicker transparent "Perspex". Study them closely and you'll find only five basic colors. It is the skillful way in which the fragments have been overlapped that gives depth and difference in tone.

The dean's windows are the first commissioned works in a new medium, developed a few months ago by a Montreal painter, Eric Wesselow.

It might make a more dramatic story if Wesselow had been an unknown artist, struggling for recognition when he introduced his first works in plastic. But the truth of the matter is that his reputation as a portrait-painter was already established. He has also been described by a Montreal critic as "...a virtuoso of the character study in water color, a master of the quick sketch in charcoal or sepia, a lover of the landscape" and in addition, he creates sculptured figures, mobiles and panels in colored glass. Wesselow is a man with plenty to say, visually and vocally — in six or eight languages, if necessary. He talks, teaches, lectures and writes on all aspects of modern art and his energy and enthusiasm are matched only by his eagerness to find new ways to express himself.

This latest expression in plastic actually began about four years ago, when Eric Wesselow caused a flutter in artistic circles by presenting a new technique in a traditional medium, stained glass.

For some time, he had been experimenting with the use of epoxy adhesives. "For hundreds of years", he explained, "artists have been trying to find a way to liberate stained glass from the limintations imposed by lead. Now we suddenly had transparent resins and adhesive to hold the glass in place, and we were able for the first time to do away with the dark heavy outlines that have always distracted the eye and dictated the design. It was a most exciting step forward."

You can see examples of this first step at Montreal International Airport. Using the new technique, Wesselow created 20 panels to decorate the upstairs lounge.

But, although many viewers applauded the treatment, he himself had not finished with glass. He was sure he could go even further and develop a method of working without adhesives of any sort. He worried over the problem for a time.

"The answer came to me in a dream," he said. "It was so increadibly simple that I couldn't imagine why no one had thought of it before." To explain it to me he reached down in the depths of an oversized briefcase, hauled out a small stained glass panel and shook it vigorously. There was a faint rattle but no piece was dislodged from its place in the design. "Using my system, I can create a window that will last forever. It will stand up to all sorts of weather — from 100 degrees of heat to 40 below freezing — because there is nothing in here but glass. This is the answer for our Canadian climate,"

Like so many good ideas, the Wesselow System is quite simple. Pieces of colored glass are arranged in layers, each fitted together like a jigsaw puzzle so there is no room for movement, and each carrying a specific part of the complex overall design. There may be as many as five separate layers in one window. When they are all complete and the design perfect in every minute detail, the whole is sandwiched between two sheets of plate glass and held firmly together in a heavy frame.

The more layers there are pronounced is the three dimenpronounced is the three dimensional effect and the more brilliant the color that radiates from the work when light streams through it. Using 200 different colors and textures of the finest hand-made European antique glass — which is stained, not merely colored — Wesselow says he can create more than 600 million color values in one five-layer panel.

The Wesselow system had its first public showing in May, 1962, at the Montreal Museum of Fine Arts. The critics were intrigued and enthusiastic. Later that year, with three other Canadian specialists in stained glass, Wesselow shared the first exhibition of its kind ever held at the C.N.E. Better Living Centre. The public flocked to see the fascinating effect of light shining through these new prismatic compositions; and many smaller works were commissioned by private collectors.

Eric Wesselow will tell you firmly that there is nothing accidental about good contemporary art. Although his abstracts look gloriously spontaneous, he may make as many as 50 sketches on paper before he is ready to cut.

The design may be deliberate, but his discovery of a new medium in which to express those designs can only be described as shere serendipity.

"Pure chance", he said cheerfully, when I asked how he came to pick on "Perspex". "I just happened to be in the right place at the right time — browsing around a Montreal store when a salesman called in with samples of colored acrylic. I took a few sheets home out of curiosity, and it wasn't until I had tried some experiments that I began to see the enormous potential this material had. How it could be textured to give different effects. How it responded to light — even infra-red heat treatment. Believe me, the cathedral windows are only the beginning!"

Traditionally, painters are supposed to seek solitude when they work, to slave away in uncomfortable attics with the all-important northern light. Wesselow works in the basement of his sunny rambling home in suburban Chateauguay Heights, amidst the clamour of children playing cowboys and Indians. When the noise becomes to great to bear, he puts his head through the window and suggests gently that eight-year-old Stephen move the battle to the other side of the house.

The narrow winding stairway down to the studio is lined with pictures. Abstracts, landscapes, portraits and sketches are stacked on every stair.

"My daughter, Cornelia", said Wesselow, taking out a delicately sketched study of a solemn little girl wearing a rapt expression and a piece of folded paper on her head. "And this is my severest critic — my wife," pointing to a portrait on the staircase wall.

The word "studio" suggests easels, half-finished canvases, palettes and tubes of paint. This one is more like a cross between a workshop and an office. At one end are files, papers and a shelf full of reference books. At the other, power tools, slabs of "Perspex", a sanding machine, workbench, rolls of plastic sheeting, a large light box and lots more paper. The sill, like every window sill upstairs, holds pictures and sculptures in plastic and glass.

"The lighting is vital," Wesselow said. "You get the best and most exciting effect with sunlight — but, obviously, this isn't always possible. In a gallery or museum, for instance, artificial lighting has to be carefully arranged so that it floods through the framed panel. Now, I'll show you how I work."

Using the lightbox as a surface, he took what seemed to be a simple uncluttered abstract design and transferred it to a piece of sanded "Perspex". Then he began to build, cutting fragments of colored plastic to fit each segment of the design, laying one over the other, changing and rearranging them to try a different effect.

To start with, he explained, he used only the five colors you will find in the cathedral windows — red, orange, yellow, green and blue. Then he discovered it was possible to pigment the Tensol cement used to hold the pieces in place.

"Now I have unlimited color and it remains to be seen what I can do with it. There are so many possibilities still to be explored with plastic."

Ordinary, unartistic people tend nowadays to take plastic pretty much for granted — except perhaps to be fleetingly grateful for its convenience. Eric Wesselow looks at it differently. He sees modern buildings made beautiful, city squares brought alive with light and color, the ugliness banished from urban living by the lavish use of plastic.

"This is a magnificently flexible medium — perfect for the contemporary artist, whose job it is to interpret in abstract terms the world around him. What could be more fitting or more logical than to offer that interpretation in the materials that are most typical of the time?"

Apart from the Christ Church windows, his first finished works in plastic have been confined to small pieces for individual collectors, decorative panels and windows for private buyers. But this is more than a purely ornamental art. It is also functional, an asset that the principal patrons of modern art — industry and government — have never been slow to appreciate.

For example, Wesselow is presently working on a design for a bank — great colorful walls of bullet prof "Perspex". Also in the planning stage is the focal point for a city centre, a massive indestructible monument of plastic and metal, which will scintillate in the sun by day and with interior lighting by night. And, most practical of all, there is the question of cost. In collaboration with secular and church architects, Wesselow has developed an economical way to provide decorative colored glazing in almost any building.

The Secretary was instructed to advise the Quebec Department of Roads re several complaints having been received from ratepayers, that the employees of the Roads Dept. during the erection and removal of snowfence are being careless in that they leave pieces of wire lying in the fields, thus causing a severe hazard to cattle and subsequent loss to the farmer.

Mr. Arnold Bryson waited on Council re the building of a road on the Sixth Range of Jamestown. After discussion it was decided that Mayor Riendeau and Councillors Gagnon and Bryson should take this matter up with the Road Dept. Engineer, Mr. J. P. Bonneau to obtain the necessary survey of the land and road in question.

On motion of Councillor Wilfrid Bryson seconded by Councillor Gilles Gagnon the Secretary was authorized to enter into an agreement, on behalf of the Council, with the Shawinigan Water & Power Company to have some trees cut in the Parish of St. Malachie d'Ormstown.

On motion of Councillor Gilles Gagnon seconded by Councillor John Rodger, Councillor Douglas Sproule was appointed Pro-Mayor until the April meeting of Council.

Maple Home And School Has Interesting Evening Planned

By Edith Bate

At the next meeting of Maple Home and School Association a Panel Discussion has been planned, with four subjects of general interest to almost all parents of children in the schools. Of the four subjects on the agenda there will be at least one of these, probably two or even all, that is of prime importance to parents.

Each subject will have a Resource Speaker and a Chairman, and during the evening separate into classrooms, with members of the Home and School Executve acting as recording secretaries. A summary of each discussion will be presented to the whole group of parents at the close of the evening.

Herewith a list of the subjects and names of leaders:

HOMEWORK — Resource Speaker, Mr. Peter Royle; Chairman, Mr. Russ Mosher.

TEEN-AGE ATTITUDES and REACTIONS — Resource Speaker, Mr. Ron Marr; Chairman, Mr. M. Tyler.

EXTRA-CURRICULAR ACTIVITIES and SCHOOL WORK Resource Speaker, Mr. Larry Eldridge; Chairman, Mrs. Jan Morgan.

PUNISHMENT — Resource Speaker, Mr. Colin Harrowing; Chairman, Miss Jean Smith.

A great deal of effort and preparation has gone into this planned evening, and it is hoped that most of the parents will attend.

The meeting will take place on Tuesday, January 19th, at 8 p.m. in the Maple School Gym. Refreshments will be served after the meeting. Hope to see you there.

New Tax Forms Being Mailed To Individuals

The massive mailing of six-and-one half million income tax forms direct to taxpayers was scheduled to begin on January 8th. This is a new method of distributing tax forms according to an announcement from the Department of National Revenue.

In addition, farmers and fishermen, for whom a special "Farmer's and Fisherman's Guide" is printed, will be receiving these about one week before they get their tax forms.

Every taxpayer who filed last year will receive a "personalized" tax form with his own name, address and identification number, together with an extra copy to keep for his own records. Included will be a tax guide, a brochure explaining the new procedure and a return envelope.

Taxpayers should begin receiving their forms in Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick beginning January 12; in Newfoundland beginning January 15; in British Columbia, Alberta, the Yukon, Saskatchewan and Manitoba beginning January 18; in Quebec beginning January 15 (Montreal area beginning January 18); and in Ontario beginning January 19 (Toronto and Hamilton areas beginning January 25).

In the past, employee taxpayers got their forms from their employers. Self-employed people, including farmers and fishermen, picked up their forms at post offices.

New taxpayers, taxpayers who spoil their "personalized" returns or who do not receive them because they may have moved during the year, may get extra forms at their local post office or district Texation offices.

Report From Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP) 'Twas the week after Christmas and all through the Capital election talk was the rage.

Whether it comes by a government defeat in the Commons or by a decision of Prime Minister Pearson, the betting here is that voters will be called to the polls in 1965.

The Liberals say the government itself won't call an election. They say Mr. Pearson is anxious to get more of his party's program on the statute books first.

But the Liberals' chief campaign officers were in Ottawa during the week to plot campaign strategy. They want to be ready at a moment's notice to swing into action.

Meanwhile both the Conservatives and the New Democrats say they are ready to bolt from the gate whenever an election is called.

"We're as ready now as we would be six months or a year from now," said Tory national director R. D. Thrasher.

Said Terry Grier, the NDP director:

"We're not in bad shape. Should a general election be called in the spring, we should be in better shape than for the last two elections.

Support Elusive

Election talk has been sparked by signs that the government won't be able to count on voting support from the nine Social Credit MPs Creditiste house leader Gilles Gregoire also said his party is ready to vote with the other opposition parties against the Government unless a judicial inquiry is set up to investigate the source of Liberal party campaign contributions.

Earlier Social Credit leader Thompson issued a warning to the Liberals to "clean house" or lose his support in the Commons when it resumes its session Feb. 16.

Government troubles have been piling up lately. They include the Dorion Commission set up to inquire into allegations of bribery and coercion by ministerial assistants; furniture purchases by State Secretary Lamontagne and Immigration minister Tremblay, and criticism of immigration procedures.

Said Mr. Grier in calculating election possibilities:

"A lot depends on how Prime Minister Pearson handles the charges levelled at his cabinet. If he can satisfy the opposition parties that there are no grounds for them or that he will act if there are grounds, that may take the heat off.

"But he'll get their backs up if he tries to bull it through."

"Breakthrough" Point

Confidence oozes from the New Democrat camp over election chances. Mr. Douglas says the party is on the threshold of a "major break-through politically." He tells party workers:

"If you give us 70 seats, we are going to turn Parliament upside down; if you give 170 seats, we are going to turn Canada rightside up."

The NDP now has 18 members in the Commons.

Meanwhile Privy Council president George McIlraith says the government expects to wind up the current session of Parliament after the Feb. 16 resumption and start a new session immediately after.

He said the session would be ended as soon as the Canada Pension Plan, the National Labor Code, the opting-out legislation for federal-provincial programs and a few other minor bills are approved.

"No Election" Likely

Mr. McIlraith, government house leader, said there will be no general election this year unless the opposition makes it impossible to carry on.

Election or no election, one thing seems sure — John Diefenbaker will remain at the helm of the Conservative party for some time to come. No sooner had the Tory chief gone off to a vacation in Tobago than a news reporter quoting informed sources said that Mr. Diefenbaker was considering retirement.

In a telephone interview Mr. Diefenbaker branded the report as "utter nonsense".

"It (retirement) has never entered my mind," said Mr. Diefenbaker.

Both Languages Used.

When the Commons does begin sitting in February, spectators in the public galleries will be able to follow debates in either English or French.

Work will have been completed on an electronic simultaneous translation system by that time. A translation system has been available to MPs and to reporters covering Parliament since 1959.

The system in the galleries is another plank in the federal government's bilingual program. For some time now bilingual practices have been expanded in the civil service, the armed forces, crown corporation and Parliament's supporting services.

More far-reaching projects have been suspended while the Government awaits an interm report from the Royal Commission on Bilingualism and Biculturalism. These projects include a salary bonus for bilingual employees.

The government program has stirred up some controversy in the capital. English-speaking civil servants and MPs fear that bilingualism is being pushed too fast.

Provincial Report

QUEBEC (CP) — The Attorney-general's department is getting a top-to-bottom reorganization under Claude Wagner, and close co-operation in fighting rackets already is evident between law officers and other government departments.

The revenue department and Mr. Wagner's men have joined forces to wipe out a widespread fraudulent bankruptcy system.

Forthcoming is a concentrated effort, with the co-operation of the Transport and Communications department, to demolish stolen car rackets and to make things tougher for drunken drivers.

Provincial police in Montreal have complained recently that the registration system in the motor vehicles branch makes tracing stolen cars difficult. They want a tighter, more efficient system, and action in this area is likely.

Police blame drunken drivers for many of the accidents that caused some 1,000 highway deaths in 1964, and they want laws that will allow breath tests to be presented as evidence in court.

At present, police aren't even allowed to take breath tests to measure the alcohol content of motorists. However, the supreme court of Canada has upheld such a law in another province.

Mr. Wagner also wants to get the wheels of justice turning more quickly, and in the same direction.

He hopes to have the number of assizes increased — in some areas, cases must wait a year to get to court — and crown prosecutors from across the province have been called to a meeting to be brifed on bail policies and other court procedure.

"Dead End" Fears

Arnold Peters New Democratic MP for Timiskaming, said in the Commons last Nov. 5 that civil servants who don't speak French "find they have reached a dead end street, particularly in Ottawa as far as promotion is concerned as a result of the emphasis which is being placed on bilingualism today."

A group of bilingual French-Canadians have formed an association to ward off their fears of being discriminated against in the civil service because they can't work in their mother tongue.

Still a third group of public servants fear discrimination. They are persons of the non-British, non-French origin who speak two or more languages but not French. They feel they should be regarded as bilingual but fear they won't.

Shown above is the second in The Gleaner pen and ink reproductions of sketches by artist Donald Chart, 396 Montmorency, Seigniory Park, Chateauguay, Quebec. The Gleaner hopes to run a complete series of Churches of The Chateauguay Valley. When the Church Series is completed, Mr. Chart will provide a new series which will be of equal interest. All, or any, of the Church Series is available from Mr. Chart on drawing paper suitable for framing. The cost is nominal, only One Dollar. The Gleaner suggests readers acquire the complete series, they are truly works of art and readers will derive great pleasure from studying the intricate lines and shadings. Simply mail your payment to: Mr. Donald Chart, 396 Montmorency, Seigniory Park, Chateauguay, Quebec for each reproduction desired. Mr. Chart's residence phone number in Chateauguay is 691-1576.

The Church is this issue in St. Joachim Roman Catholic in Chateauguay. It was built in 1774 and the two towers were built in 1812. Three years ago, the interior was renovated and an addition was made to afford increased seating capacity. Now more than 123 years old, this landmark that was once used as a fort has been a focal point of admiration for generations of our people. The parish priest now is Father Vaillancourt.

CHATEAUGUAY – 1965

(Compiled by Russ Faughnan and Fergus Horsburgh)

The quickening tempo of progress in the Province of Quebec will be reflected in Chateauguay in 1965 as far-reaching Provincial Government projects develop. Our lives, and those of our children, will all be affected by plans for amalgamation, plans for education, plans for transportation — plans, plans, plans. The Chateauguay Gleaner has asked some of those who will be directly concerned with the unfolding events of 1965 to state their predictions, hopes, expectations and fears for the year ahead. 1965 may be a good, a bad or an indifferent year. It will be eventful.

The year 1965 is expected to bring greater economic development through the whole country and such expansion should carry on, at an increased rate, until after the World's Fair of 1967. In view of this forecast, one can ask himself: what share of it will affect personnally? in what way will it affect my community? what will it represent for Chateauguay?

We can assume that everyone should get its small share, may be not very much noticeable, but enough to bring progress, expansion, employment and stability of work, and mainly, confidence in the years to come.

Besides' these generalities, I hope that 1965 will witness the birth of a new Chateauguay, united in one great community. By the joint effort of all, the set forth unification should be resumed without too much difficulty, and for the benefit of everyone.

The construction of your new postoffice should be underway very soon and is expected to be terminated during the year. The problem of the Chateauguay river is not an easy one to solve, but I plan keeping working at it intensely for the coming months. The engineers' reports on the possible solutions are quite contradictory and thus, bring quite a bit of hesitation as to the course to follow. Another obstacle is the fact that the river is not considered as a navigable river, and thus falling under the provincial juridiction — but I have not given up yet.

I remain at the disposal of your municipal authorities and offer them my complete cooperation in the solution of any problems, and my door is open to everyone.

May 1965 bring all the best for Chateauguay and its population.

GERALD LANIEL, M.P.

MAYOR JOSEPH LABERGE, TOWN OF CHATEAUGUAY

I have been asked to predict coming events or at least to comment on my hopes and expectations for 1965. I am neither a prophet nor a Seer. I shall make no predictions, therefore, but will confine myself to speaking of one development that is certain. I refer to the amalgamation of the two municipalities of Chateauguay into what will be known as the City of Chateauguay.

Amalgamation will obviously be the subject of many deliberations in these coming months. According to the new constitution the electorate must dispense with one Mayor and eight Aldermen from among those at present on the two councils. I hope that comparative harmony will prevail when the new choice is made and that, God willing, the taxpayers will choose the best administrators, because the success of amalgamation depends entirely on the competence of those who will be the first to administer the new City. If the first council has the experience and talent necessary to make a good start, then there will be no problems after a few yaers.

I hope that the new administrators will give their electors confidence and the best possible standards of living within our present capabilities, financial and otherwise. Paradise is not a free handout. It must be earned.

I hope that each and every one of us will have the patience and the self-sacrifice necessary at the beginning, to ensure the best possible future for our children.

MAYOR RICHARD SUTTERLIN TOWN OF CHATEAUGUAY CENTRE

While writing this message, the first thing that comes to my mind is to offer my very best wishes to everyone for this new year.

In Chateauguay we are off to a promising start and the entire population should be delighted to know that Chateauguay and Chateauguay Centre will undoubtedly become one city before the end of 1965. This will be a definite step in the direction of progress and prosperity.

Besides the resolutions on amalgamation which will be effective in a manner equitable to everyone, I look forward to, and will do everything possible to get under way, many other projects. These will include an extensive promotion and advertising campaign to stimulate residential, commercial and industrial development; planting of trees and the embellishment of the town; improvement of parks and recreational facilities. While land is still available at a feasible price, it is planed to purchase a large stretch in anticipation of a central recreational and civic centre.

For the residents of Chateauguay Centre the year 1965 should be one in which progress and prosperity are felt and I look forward to this year with confidence and determination

MAYOR JEAN LABERGE TOWN OF CHATEAUGUAY HEIGHTS

To the people of Chateauguay Heights, I convey my sincere best wishes for the fulfillment of our plans for 1965. Each of us, as individuals, have made resolutions and plans for the coming year in work and recreation. Some of these plans will be fulfilled, some we will not quite accomplish, and others will just not be completed.

As Mayor of your town, I too have made resolutions and plans for 1965, but these are not my personal plans — they are yours. You all voted fairly and honestly for a Mayor who would be your chief representative for the careful and wise use of public funds to the end of maximum future benefits for us all. In the past year I honestly believe this has been accomplished with your support. Of plans for the past year, some were completed, others were nearly completed and one or two items just were not started. However, this year you will see the completion not only of the unfinished items of 1964, but the completion of all the projects we planned when you elected me.

I need your support towards the realization of our hopes for 1965. Together, we can overcome all difficulties and hazards in our paths.

MR. GEORGE KENNEDY, M.P.P. FOR COUNTY OF CHATEAUGUAY

1965 will be a vital year for the growth and prosperity of the Chateauguay Valley. Many more millions of dollars will be spent on the highways in or near to our Valley. The Provincial Parliament will consider legislation of the highest importance for Chateauguay in the fields of municipal reform and education at all levels. The climate will be created for the equal opportunity for all to share in a bright future, with success proportional to effort in any chosen field of endeavour.

Let us show a fraternal spirit in all the happenings of the busy year ahead. Let us not disparage success. Jealousy of achievement is a negative force which erodes personal effort.

Joint achievements are the composite of the labours of individuals; to destroy a part is to damage the whole. Our problems are beyond the capacity of the individual, but working together in fraternity and goodwill there is hardly any limit to what can be done.

I send my best wishes to the people of the Chateauguay Valley for peace, prosperity and happiness in the year ahead.

REV. HOWARD FRASER, ST. ANDREW'S UNITED CHURCH

I would hope that in 1965 more of a community spirit might be developed amongst the citizens of the three Chateauguay municipalities. Various agencies are already promoting this spirit, and the proposed unification of Chateauguay would undoubtedly help to give the Town or City an identity and a greater sense of one-ness. The Central School Administrations, the Sports Activities, the Social Service Centre and the local newspapers are all assisting to remove the lines of demarcation by showing the benefits of co-operation. The Churches of Chateauguay also have an important role in bringing people together for worship and fellowship. Relations between the Churches here have never been more cordial, and 1965 may witness further ventures in Christian unity.

MR. R. A. JOBBER, CHAIRMAN OF PROTESTANT SCHOOL MUNICIPALITY OF CHATEAUGUAY

The year 1965 will be most important to the Chateauguay Valley in the field of education. During the coming year, the Regional School Commission will be elected and in operation. This Regional Commission will be responsible for Secondary Education for the towns of Dundee, Huntingdon, Howick, Ormstown, Hemmingford, Valleyfield, Beauharnois, Franklin and Chateauguay. In order to properly evaluate the needs of the Chateauguay Valley, a Planning Committee will be appointed. This Committee will comprise representatives of industry, social agencies, service groups, Government bureaus (Unemployment Bureau) church organizations, Home and School Associations, School Boards, teachers and administrators. They will be charged with the responsibility of assessing the educational requirements of the Valley, and will forward their recommendations to the Regional Board. The Board will study this report and implement the recommendations as soon as possible. New schools will be built, complete with vocational training facilities. Through centralization, students will have access to courses and equipment that individual towns could not afford.

The year 1965 will see major changes in Education, from which we will all benefit.

RENE LABERGE, CATHOLIC SCHOOL COMMISSION

Nineteen Sixty-five should be a big year for students in Chateauguay. We can look forward to at least two more schools. One to open in less than two months and another in September. Perhaps more. The big news will be the type of schools that will be built. It is hoped that the buildings being planned will serve a civic function as well as an educational one. We would like to see schools built near parks and recreational grounds so that the school facilities can be made available to the general public. We are thinking in particular of meeting and dressing rooms as well as showers to be used by those active in tennis, hockey and other sports. This is close to being a reality and more will be heard of it soon.

GERARD DESROSIERS MANAGER, ROYAL BANK OF CANADA

We at the Royal Bank are very optimistic about the new year. We see a booming business comunity with no sign of recession. Our own survey indicates that Chateauguay will grow to more than Fifty Thousand residents in the next five years and we feel this is a conservative estimate. Even our own staff has risen by two and one half times in the past three years. We can hope that the impending merger of the Towns will stimulate further growth but it is a little early to say.

KEVIN DUFFY PRESIDENT OF THE KINSMEN

The Kinsmen plan to continue their efforts to provide more and better recreational facilities for the children of Chateauguay. We hope to soon

"Mercier Bridge Approaches Six Months Ahead Of Schedule", Says Kennedy

(By Fergus Horsburgh)

At last Friday's unveiling of the model of the Mercier approaches at Spot-Towers Store Mr. George Kennedy, M.P.P. announced that construction of the Mercier Bridge complex of Northern approaches was six months ahead of schedule.

As reported in The Gleaner two weeks ago, arrangements for the public display of the model in Chateauguay were made by Mr. Kennedy and Minister of Roads Mr. Bernard Spinard. The model, a picture of which appears elsewhere in this issue, was constructed by consulting engineers Lalonde and Valois of Quebec City, and has been in great demand as a show-piece in Quebec and Ontario. The display in Chateauguay is sponsored by the dormant Greater Chateauguay Mercier Bridge Committee and space is provided by Spot-Towers Super-Market. While it is hoped that the model will remain available for inspection in Chateauguay for a period of four weeks, it is reported that the Minister of Roads is under pressure to permit its transfer elsewhere at an earlier date.

Mr. Thomas McDade, Secretary of the Bridge Committee, acted as master of ceremonies. Mr. Emil Adamyk, Chairman of the Bridge Committee, spoke briefly on the events last summer culminating in the final conversion of Mercier Bridge to twin-span status.

Mr. Kennedy, keynote speaker, pointed out that a multi-million dollar project such as the twinning of Mercier Bridge and its associated complex of approach roads and subsidiary bridges could not have been expected to proceed without a hitch. Unfortunately it had been deemed necessary by Provincial Government engineers to close the old span for extensive repairs immediately after completion of the new span.

Mr. Norman Lafontaine, Manager of Towers' Store, and Mr. Lowie Litvack, President of Spot Supermarkets Corporation spoke of the great interest generated by the model, which had caught the imagination of the public. "Our area is known as the Chateauguay Valley", said Mr. Litvack, "but a better name would be the Valley of Progress. The great road-building now in process at the Mercier Bridge approaches is symbolic of the growth in the Valley which is now underway and will continue for many years to come".

Messrs. Kennedy and Adamyk unveiled the model, and the guardian Boy Scout Troop of Our Lady of Perpetual help permitted the [illegible] fleur-de-lys.

dience to approach for a close inspection. Mr. Kennedy then made his surprise announcement that Provincial Engineers were so far ahead of schedule that completion of the three-level complex of the Northern approaches was expected by March 1966. It had previously been announced that construction was scheduled to be completed late in 1966.

Mr. Bernard Lamarre, representing the consulting engineers, was on hand to answer questions from the public concerning progress of the work. He stated that the Government had been forced to abandon its plan to porvide a temporary overpass at Ville St. Pierre because of the prohibitive cost. He pointed out that even during the present phase of construction it was possible for vehicular traffic to and from the island of Montreal to make good time by using the LaVerendrye-Atwater tunnel route.

Many of the audience had their first look at the new Canadian flag, the first to be seen on public display in Chateauguay. The red maple leaf flag donated by C.K.G.M., formed an attractive backdrop to the proceedings, and blended harmoniously with the

Obituary

Mrs. Ellen Gertrude Blahuta

Mrs. Ellen Blahuta, one of the most colourful personalities in Chateauguay, died suddenly in the Jewish General Hospital in Montreal on January 3rd.

Daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Herman Croft, Mrs. Blahuta was born in Kingsville, Ontario, on July 1st, 1920. Following early schooling in her home town, Mrs. Blahuta studied at Carleton and McGill Universities before graduating with a B.A. degree at Sir George Williams College, as it was then known, in 1951. While studying at Sir George, Mrs. Blahuta worked in the pathology laboratory at Queen Elizabeth Hospital. Her war effort included service in the Army Women's Service Volunteer Corps in Windsor, the R.C.A.F., and the Signal Corps in Ottawa. She was the holder of a pilot's licence until a back injury caused her to give up flying.

Mrs. Blahuta's greatest interest and talent lay in the various news media. Well-known in radio and television circles, Mrs. Blahuta took a course in journalism at Ottawa High School, took a radio announcing course just prior to marriage in 1958 and was a reporter and society editor for an English language newspaper in Quebec City. She had a fine talent in her writing ability, and after her marriage and the birth of her children, she wrote at home. She wrote television scripts, newspaper articles and technical papers. Last November she wrote a paper on educational techniques for teaching retarded adolescents, and at the time of her death was doing research for another paper she was to write in February. She was a frequent contributor to The Gleaner.

Her greatest ambition in recent months was to organize "Cancer Anonymous" in Canada, similar to the organization of the same name in the United States. The purpose of this organization is to offer emotional support to cancer patients. She was but one step from her goal — that of seeing her lawyer for the purpose of drawing up a charter.

Her interests were multitudinous. One of the founders of Seigniory Park Nursery School, Publicity Chairman of the Seigniory Park Co-operative Pre-School Association, the instigator of the McLennan Travelling Library visits to Seigniory Park, an outspoken member of Seigniory Park Home Owners Association, she lived her life deeply with a fine and dynamic mind that was always active. She was unique, non-conformist, remarkable, had a kind and purposeful concern for others, and leaves a legacy of happy memories.

She is survived by her husband, Mr. Peter Blahuta and sons Nicholas and Robert, to whom the sympathy of the entire community is extended in their bereavement. Mrs. Blahuta also leaves three sisters and one brother.

Funeral services were held in St. Basil's Ukrainian Catholic Church, and burial was at Lachine Cemetery.

Q. L. B. Strike

By Fergus Horsburgh

Sympathy is widespread for the desire of the striking Q.L.B. workers for higher wages, although the timing of the strike suggests an intention to blackmail the public. Fortunately the Q.L.B. has had the fortitude to resist, as all attempts at blackmail must be resisted.

This strike must be regarded as the first fruits of the Government's decision to grant to certain classes of civil servant the right to unionize and the ultimate weapon of the strike. Other countries and Provinces have found by experience that it is impractical to govern when the Government's servants can in the final analysis withhold their services at a time of their own choosing. Will the Government in Quebec come to regret the possibly rescind the right to strike? A stoppage of liquor supplies is, for most, only a nuisance though if unduly prolonged, the effects could be expected to be similar to those experienced during the Great Experiment, Prohibition, in the U.S.A. For the present, however, it is just a nuisance. But what if Hydro-Quebec employees strike, and the supply of electricity is threatened? Or a strike by Hospital's staff? No Government could in these cases afford to delay a settlement for anything approaching the duration of the present strike.

Sympathy for underpaid Q.L.B. staff must not stop when a moderate increase in wages is eventually granted. Surely the whole question of alcoholic beverages must now be reviewed . The jobs themselves of the liquor salesmen have not been up-graded in keeping with the times. What chance does a salesman capable of answering only routine questions have of job-advancement? Does a salesman capable only of stating that, my 129-F costs $2.25 a bottle merit much pay-increase? Would it not be better for the employee and for the public if he learned adequately the arts and crafts of the liquor trade? Could not this be achieved more readily if the liquor trade was turned over to where it belongs — private enterprise? Must we forever remain heirs to the Puritan philosophy of those who opened up North America — the philosophy which says "We disapprove of alcohol, but we shall sell it to you and we shall make a profit out of you, but you shall buy it under conditions as tough as we can make them, and you shall, in public at least, drink it in joyless mausoleums?"

It is to be hoped that the Provincial Government will not sit back and think the job is finished when and if the strike ends. The examples of the methods of selling liquor in other countries should be studied — the licenced grocer, the wine-merchant, the jovial tavern-keeper — why should we not have them here in Canada — here in Quebec? Quebec is showing the way to the rest of Canada in many other fields — why should Quebec not lead the way in taking the squalid sordidness out of what should be the companionship of the glass?

Chateauguay News Notes

The annual Red Cross Blood Donor Clinic will be held in Maple School on January 26th. The target this year is for 500 pints

The monthly meeting of the Heights Town Council scheduled for last (Tuesday) night was expected to be adjourned to a later date to consider the Engineer's progress report on the survey and engineering phases of the water and sewage plant. Work is reported to be about one week behind schedule but the preliminary phases should be completed by January 15th. It is expected that tenders for construction of the plant will be called by the end of February. Construction start is scheduled for April 1st.

Mr. Alister Somerville, M.P.P. for Huntingdon sent the Greater Chateauguay Mercier Bridge Committee a telegram expressing regret for his inability to be present at last Friday's unveiling of the scale-model of the Mercier Bridge approaches; a previous engagement prevented Mr. Somerville attending. Centre Mayor Richard Sutterlin was delayed unexpectedly, but arrived after the ceremonies to inspect the model.

Mr. Roger Bisson's car was robbed of twelve hockey sweaters to the value of $125. while parked outside the Plaza Hotel, on Salaberry Boulevard, early in the morning of January 10th.

It was reported on January 8th that Mr. E. Guy Carmel's summer house at 627 Youville Boulevard, had been forced open. After investigation by the Police and Mr. Carmel's son it was found that nothing had been stolen.

How about instituting a 999 emergency call for fire, police, ambulance, etc., at least throughout the Montreal area. With so much regionalization and amalgamation in other directions, could not this too be centralized? It ought to be an easy number that anyone can remember, even in a state of panic.

On January 4th, the Town Police found several stolen articles — an aluminum boat which Mr. Avon, whose summer residence is at 399 Salaberry, had reported stolen March last. A 10 h.p. Johnson motor belonging to Mr. Bruneau Favreau of 410 Legaré Blvd., and some decoy ducks belonging to Mr. Gerard Couillard of 419 Salaberry. The articles were returned to their respective owners and police are investigating.

The party given by the Town of Chateauguay for its employees on Decemer 30th was reported a great success— until the not-so-wee-any-more small hours.

It is reliably reported that Montee Barrette near Ste. Philomene is to be widened.

Centre Council has now ordered that a truck equipped with a whistle go around blowing said whistle loudly, before each foreseeable temporary water shut-off. This should help housewives get a supply of water in containers before it has to be cut off.

There will probably soon be a Centre Notice Board outside the United Church in Chateauguay Centre. Formal permission from the Minister is expected shortly.

The local St. Vincent de Paul conference for the uninitiated, a charity devoted to helping needy families, — received a cheque for $200.00 from the Centre Council recently.

Apparently a lot of people living in Chateauguay work at Air Canada's repair and maintenance base at Dorval. Now if this base is closed and all repairs and maintenance of DC8's is carried out in Winnipeg, as has been suggested by some, then a lot of people here are going to be out of a job. So the Centre Council has written to the Thomson Commission of Inquiry — the body responsible for recommending a solution — suggesting that an Open Meeting on the whole subject be held in Montreal soon.

There will be more lights in the parks, especially those equipped with hockey nets on the rinks.

St. Andrew's Notes

Advance Notice

The combined Week of Prayer services at which the Protestant Churches of Chateauguay come together for worship will be held on Sunday, January 24th at 7.30 p. m. in St. Andrew's United Church. It will be thus during the Octave of Prayer for Christian unity, which is from the 18th to the 25th of January.

Thanks to those who responded to the appeal for a special Christmas Offering for the Missionary and Maintenance work of the church in support of overseas relief. The amount received by the Stewards for this purpose was over $100.

The ladies supervising the nursery could make use of children's records to play during part of the nursery period. Donations of good used records would be gratefully received. These may be left at the church office or given directly to the nursery supervisors any Sunday morning.

A half-hour Vesper Service was held in the sanctuary on Sunday evening and followed by a Youth Fellowship in the Memorial Hall. Two younger church members assisted in the conduct of worship and the Rev. H. Fraser delivered a message entitled "Discovering God's Plan".

The annual Congregational Meeting of St. Andrew's will be held in the Memorial Hall on Monday, January 18th at 8 o'clock. This is a meeting for all members of the congregation, not just the office bearers. Your interest and support will be appreciated.

Preaching Mission

The Rev. Hugh Robert MacDonald, B.A., B.D., minister of St. Paul's United Church in Port Arthur, Ont., will be the missionary during the Preaching Mission to be held at St. Andrew's United Church from Sunday, February 7th until Wednesday, February 10th. Rev. Mr. MacDonald is a graduate of Carleton College in Ottawa and of the United Theological College in Montreal, having received his Bachelor of Divinity degree at McGill. He has held pastorates at Minden, Ontario and at Thornhill United Church in Toronto. He has participated in other preaching missions and has a real vital message and forceful delivery. Plan now to attend as many nights of the mission as you can and tell your friends about it. Pray, too, that God will use these services to bring all closer to Christ.

Town of Chateauguay Council

A special meeting of the Town of Chateauguay Centre Council was held December 30th, at the Municipal Hall, with Mayor Richard Sutterlin presiding and all members present. The meeting was called on the subject of amalgamation between the towns of Chateauguay Centre and Chateauguay.

Mr. Armand Poupart, lawyer for the Town of Chateauguay Centre submitted to the Council a bill titled: "Law creating as a corporation the City of Chateauguay".

Councillor Yvan Gilbert mentioned that he had asked, at the amalgamation committee meeting held October 13, 1964, that a clause be included in the said bill stating that anyone wishing to be a candidate for councillor at the next elections will have to have his residence or main business place in the ward where he will seek to be a candidate.

Councillor Romeo Bourcier suggested that the reasons which caused him to leave the amalgamation committee meeting on December 21 1964, be included in the minutes of the said committee.

Following a discussion, it was moved and seconded that the bill titled "Law creating as a corporation the City of Chateauguay" be adopted, with the following clause added amending paragraph 8, article 123 of the Cities and Towns Act: Whoever did not have his residence or main business place in the ward of the municipality where he seeks to be a candidate, for at least twelve months before the election or the nomination.

It was also moved and seconded that the following be included in the minutes of the amalgamation committee meeting held December 21; That Councillor Romeo Bourcier did not want to take his seat on the amalgamation committee meeting held with closed doors, when he had asked that the said meeting be opened to the public.

It was finally moved and seconded that the public notices having to do with the above mentioned bill not be published before a resolution to that effect is adopted by the Town of Chateauguay Centre Council.

The following corrections in the minutes of the amalgamation committee meeting held Dec. 21, were made: (B) Choice of either the two plans showing a division in 6 wards The name of Councillor Jean Chevrefils previously taken as in favor of Mr. Lucien Colle's plan was also crossed out and added as a vote in favor of Mr. Benoit W. Marcotte's plan.

The meeting was closed.

We were all saddened over the holiday by the untimely death of Mrs. Ellen Blahuta. One of the outstanding personalities in Seigniory Park, Mrs. Blahuta was involved in most of the activities in our midst. Her many interests included the McLennan Travelling Library, the Pre-School Association and she was an occasional contributor to The Gleaner. The sympathy of our community is extended to husband Peter and their two children in their loss.

The Art Classes of the Home Owners' Activities Committee resume on Saturday, January 16th, at 10 a.m. in the Clubhouse.

-o-

The oft-delayed sleigh-ride organized by Activities Committee's Mrs. Pat Bedard, finally got under way on Sunday afternoon, January 3rd. Unfortunately Mrs. Bedard was unable, through sickness, to see the results of all her hard work, but Mrs. Julie Kelcher and Messrs. Keith Strike and George Brand and others chipped in on the final arrangements. Four sleighs carrying some 105 adults and children had a most enjoyable outing, ending up in Murphy's Barn with hot chocolate. Gifts from the children had previously been collected by Mrs. Bedard and were distributed via the Chateauguay Social Welfare Association to needy children in the Chateauguay area in time for Christmas. Unfortunately the turkeys did not contribute towards the cost of the outing as much as had been hoped, and at the moment of writing the problem of financing the deficit has not yet been solved. Miss Murphy stated that the behaviour of all the children was excellent.

Obituary

The late Albert Theberge

Delson residents were saddened to learn of the sudden death of Mr Albert Theberge, who was always referred to as "Black" by his many friends and co-workers of Domtar Co. The deceased was keenly interested in community activities and was a resident in Delson for many years. His sudden death took place on December 28th while attending a social evening in St. Constant. The late Mr. Theberge is survived by a sister who resides in Thetford Mines where the burial took place. He will be greatly missed in the community and at the plant where he worked and was so well liked.

Funeral Service for late Mrs. S.M. Skidmore held in St. Andrew's Church

St. Andrew's United Church in Delson was filled to capacity on December 28th, when relatives and friends assembled to pay a last tribute to the late Mrs. S.M. Skidmore, who lived in this community for many years before taking up residence with her daughter Mrs. L.W. Cullen, in Ormstown. Mrs. Skidmore, fondly called "Mom" to her close friends, was loved and respected by all who knew her. Mother of a large family, the deceased made a major contribution to the community in which she then lived, and also to the country when four of her fine sons served during the war years. One son, Clyde was killed in action in Italy, another son, Laurence, lost a leg in, combat. "Mom" Skidmore was a fine example to all for she showed great courage and proved her faith in God. Rev. Wesley B. Ball, whom "Mom" called, "One of her boys" conducted the service in the Church and at the graveside. The hymns sung were "What A Friend We Have In Jesus" and Rock of Ages". Wesley gave a message of comfort and hope to the sorrowing family and friends. Members of the Firemens' Association were Pallbearers. Deepest sympathy has been extended to the family.

Memorandum From McLeod

Correspondent: Mrs. Edith Bate, 282 McLeod Ave. 692-9453

Route Boy: Aubrey MacLean, 246 McLeod Ave. 692-9069

It may be a little late, but anyway here's a Happy New Year to you all! Hope you are all back to normal now, although I can't say the same for myself.

Jimmy Skelly of Fairmount had a "really red" Christmas holiday. By "red", I mean he was red all over — with measles. It's a good thing they were all cleared up by New Year's, otherwise Jimmy would have had a lonesome Birthday. The big day was the 2nd of January, and Jimmy had the usual birthday party with guests and lots of goodies, lots of games to play and all had quite a nice time.

The Bairds' of McLeod also were doing some celebrating this past week. Alice had nth birthday on the 4th, and George was twenty-nine (what?) on the 9th. of January. To all of you many Happy returns, even though they are belated. I very rarely have a birthday on time.

In The Gleaner issue of Dec. 23rd, you will recall that I had a little feature in concerning four generations — the families involved were the Wyatts of Vetville, the Taylors of Massey Drive and the Delaneys of San Diego, Calif. The youngest of the group, little Billy Delaney, 16 months old, took quite sick just the day before Christmas and upon calling in the Doctor it was discovered he had pneumonia. Coming from such a warm climate, I guess he just could not stand our severe weather. He was very ill all during the Holiday season, but I am very happy to report that he is well on the way to complete recovery now. In the meantime, Billy's mother, Mrs. Heather Delaney (nee Taylor) was given permission by their doctor to travel back to California with him, and the warm sunny days are helping him right back to his normal busy little self.

I thought with having a week off writing I'd have scads and scads of news to write this week — but let's face it — one of my New Year's resolutions was NOT that I must get out and scout up news. I knew that I could not keep a resolution like that — but I did promise myself that I would try to do a little better on this writing venture particularly. Santa brought me a typewriter table, and now I can keep all my muddle off the dining table.

Maplewood Presbyterian Church News

The Annual congregational meeting will be held on Thursday, Jan. 28th. All financial statements and reports must be in the hands of Mr. R. Weston not later than January 18th. All members will be contacted with regard to the casserole supper at 6.30 p.m.

The Sacrament of Baptism will be administered (D.V.) on Sunday, January 31st. Parents desiring to have their children baptized will meet with Mr. Allan on Sunday, Jan. 24th at 2.30 p.m.

Things around the church should look a little brighter this coming week. The women of the church are doing a chore of dusting and polishing etc. on Tuesday morning, January 12th.

St. George's Anglican Church News

The Annual Vestry Meeting will be held Monday, Jan. 18th, at 8 p.m. in the Church Hall. All members are invited to attend. Reports of organizations will be printed this year and not read aloud, but presented as printed for discussion and approval. This will allow time for fruitful discussion of matters vital to the spiritual life and growth of the parish. Do plan to attend.

The Young Mothers' Group of the W.A. are holding an "Auction Sale" on Sat., Jan. 30th, from 2 to 4 p.m. in the Church Hall. Proceeds for the Anglican World Mission Fund. Mr. Art Walker, Sr., has agreed to act as the Auctioneer. (This should be fun). Any enquiries may be directed to Mrs. Osterlund, 692-2235 or Mrs. Harney 692-2057.

Ecumenical Service

This is an advance notice to all Anglican, United, Presbyterian and Baptist Church members, and all who may be interested: The Annual Ecumenical Service of Prayer and Witness for the Chateauguay area will be held this year in St. Andrew's United Church on Sunday evening, January 24th, at 7.30. Choirs of St. George's and St. Andrew's will combine for this service. All are most welcome.

Most sincere condolences to Mrs. Marg. Schurman and the family on the death of Mr. Sherry Schurman.

Also to the family of Mr. George Starkey, (formerly of Vetville) who passed away on Dec. 26th. Our sympathy to Mr. Frank Evans of Vetville on the death of his dear wife, Mrs. Catherine Evans on Dec. 30th.

I usually forget to mention my house guests — probably I get so used to them that they seem part of the family. My mother, Mrs. Helen Deans visited us over the Christmas holiday, and then spent a few days here again last week.

Holly Blenkhorn of Lang St. celebrated her ninth birthday on Dec. 24th, but had her party delayed just a week or two, for obvious reasons. The party was held last Sat. with to start off: a skating party, then a scavenger, dinner, games and a sing-song. All the little guests had such a good time! Daddy Blenkhorn was in charge of the party, and apparently he had the best rink in the whole of Chateauguay even after all the rain we had on Friday night. The secret is to make a really good base. The girls certainly enjoyed the skating.

"An atheist," wrote John Buchan, "is a man who has no invisible means of support".

See you back at the same spot next week.

West-end teams played their first games last week, to get the season under way. Our Mosquitos lost their first game to Chat. Park Score 7-1. Our mosquitos lost their first game over Prudential, Score 6-2, and lost the second game to Chat. Park. Score 8-0. Mosquitos play again on Mon. and Wed. nights, Pee Wee on Tues. and Thurs. nights. Last week was the largest turnout of parents ever to see a game, and they were well rewarded, as the kids all played a good game, and their morale was boosted by the many fans, I hope we will have a good turnout next week, the children seem to play better, when the parents are watching. All games commence at 7 p.m.

Gerry Flynn left St. Francis one Monday morning over the holiday and returned home the same evening. Perhaps that does not sound very exciting, but in between Gerry, flew to Nassau Bahamas and had five hours' sunbathing before flying home for supper.

In the Big 12 Bowling league play started badly with nine people ill or working. However, with spares there was a good night's bowling with many high scores.

Results were: — Flies 7 — Beetles 0; Bees 7 — Wasps 0; Worms 7 — Grasshoppers 0; Ants 5 — Shrews 2; Groundhogs 5 — Hornets 2. Harold Westacott tied Gerry Whalen's high triple of 545.

The Old-Timers Hockey team, coached by Allan Wilding lost 5-4 to the Gardens last week. One of the stops was made on Norm Rowntree's stomach (he wasn't even in goal!) and he has a beautiful bruise to prove it. The Old Timers on Sunday lost 9-3 to Chateauguay Park.

The Seigniory Park Sports Association holds a general meeting on Monday, January 18th, at 8.00 p.m. in the Clubhouse.

Helpful Hints For The Homemaker

(By Mrs. Fabio)

Reading through the American Women's Cook book by Ruth Berolzheimer I came across these interesting facts on food which I thought might interest some of you homemakers —

The appearance of food is important to civilized man. Beautiful color and dainty, attractive arrangement play a large part in a successful meal. A combination of colors pleases the eye, stimulates the digestive juices, and creates an appetite. Plan to use foods of different colors or use edible garnishes, such as parsley, pimiento, hard cooked eggs and paprika. Avoid overcrowding of plates on table.

Flavor of foods — fine flavor in foods is developed by proper cooking. Additional flavors are provided by herbs: garlic, onion, celery, and by spices. Highly seasoned foods whet the appetite, while sweets satisfy it. For that reason well seasoned foods are served for appetizers, and sweets for desserts. Serve only one strong flavored food at each meal.

Texture of Foods — A most important point is the serving of at least one each soft, solid and crisp food at each meal. They give a meal necessary contrast.

Use of Equipment — If planning to bake one dish, arrange your menu so that the whole oven may be used. This saves fuel time and energy.

Leftovers — Learn to buy so that there is a minimum of food left over.

Serve leftovers differently from the originals. The liquids from cooked or canned vegetables are full of vitamins and minerals and should be used in cocktails, soups or gravies instead of going down the drain.

Soup garnish — An excellent garnish for creamed soups is hard-boiled eggs grated across the surface of the soup.

— One of the simplest garnishes for soup is a tablespoon of salted whipped cream, sprinkled with a dash of paprika, or a little parsely chopped very fine.

— cubes of bread or puff paste, buttered and browned in the oven make an excellent garnish also.

And just a word of caution to those of you homemakers who received a gift of a potted plant over the holidays. The hot dry air in our homes will cause your plant to sulk and drop its leaves and flowers. Try keeping them on a cool windowsill when not actually on display, water frequently. Avoid drafts and move tender plants away from frosty window panes.

And just a word of caution to any of you ladies who may have been presented with a Christmas Cherry Plant (also called Jerusalem cherry) — the fruits are poisonous and can cause skin rashes, so keep your children away.

And now's the time while we are still eating those walnuts to do a bit of touching up on scratches on our wood furniture. It's an old old timer I know but still effective. Dip a walnut meat into salt, then rub this over the scratch. The oil of the walnut will color the scratches so they will almost fade away.

And that's all I have this week Madam Homemaker and may I add to one and all my best wishes for a very happy and prosperous New Year and a very sincere thank you to the homemakers who called to say they had tried and enjoyed some of our recipes. Your calls and comments are always welcome so keep them coming in the brand New Year.

Editorial Notes...

A Project For '67

ORDINARY conversation sometimes brings forth personal opinions that give food for thought. A recent one brought forth what we believe has merit and we pass it along as a suggestion.

No doubt many will be aware that there is a suggestion, if not a plan, to decrease the number of municipalities in Quebec by merging some of them into larger units. It is considered that considerable saving will acrue and greater governing powers will be centered in an overall unit such as the County Councils. These would have the job of regulating police forces, some municipal services and so on. In this way it is possible that the people in the various areas would enjoy better and greater services for their tax money. In a number of cases, some municipalities do not cater to many improvements and are loath to improve services and buildings, etc.

In view of the fact that councils now receive a portion of the Sales tax, they are receiving a new revenue which could be made to benefit the taxpayer in a number of ways. Some have made a reduction in the tax levy, others have made improvements in and around the municipality, still others have not done much of anything. There is also the help which the Provincial and Federal Governments are giving these days by way of grants for winter works undertaken by various councils.

The conversation mentioned earlier had to do with these various aids and the matter of the County Building in Huntingdon came up. The suggestion was that something should be done to improve this building even to modernize it. The great eyesore is on the inside in what is known as the Court Room. The suggestion as to modernizing contained a note that a new and wider modern type entrance with large glass and aluminum doors be made. It was felt that the court room should be thoroughly repaired and redecorated and then this could be put to greater use for the purpose of public meetings and so forth, whereas now it is useless and a disgrace. It is not likely to be used again as a court room, so all the desks and the Judge's bench etc. could be removed and this part modernized for use for any occasion. The County Building, or Town Hall, if you like, should be a place for public use and house the public offices of the municipal services.

A few years ago considerable renovation work was done at the County Building and this was a great improvement. The inside was modernized to some extent. It is thought now that the benches in the council meeting room should be removed and chairs or some other modern seating arrangement be substituted. These benches are very uncomfortable and too close together. This room is presently used for all other types of meetings whereas the court room if it were converted would be a much better place for the public type of meetings. It is suggested that furnace pipes which appear in the council room should be covered in some way to take away this old fashioned look and present a much tidier appearance to the room.

The question was asked, where is the money to come from. Immediately the answer came, do the work on Winter Works program and the cost would be considerably reduced and provide work for the people of the municipality.

It struck us as a very good idea and perhaps this could be a project for Canada's Hundredth Birthday — the renovation and improvement of the County Building. It would be the winter of 1965-66 before the plan could go under the winter works program now, so it could be classed as such a project. It would be a great opportunity to do something really worthwhile. We would not be in favor of any drastic attempts to modernize the structure on the outside, for it is one of our older buildings, being over one hundred years old. However, it is in very good condition and likely to stay that way for many more years. There is certainly need of improvement on the inside and it has needed it for many years. Surely with the opportunities of securing extra revenue and the help extended this is the time to consider some action.

The Ormstown Village Council have made a wonderful improvement in their Town Hall.

The New Flag

WELL whatever your opinion as to Canada's new flag, it is here and you can do as you please about it. We have noted some firsts for the new flag in various parts of the country, but so far none for this area.

In one town we note the Canadian Legion held a ceremony of installing the new flag. No doubt there will have to be many such as time goes on. In this area, there are a number of churches with flags that have been dedicated and which contain the Union Jack and the Red Ensign. There are a number of clubs with similar insignia. We would presume that these will have to be changed and new ceremonies will need to be held when this is done. Some churches have flags from many years back which have been dedicated. What will happen in such cases?

We note that Japan is getting into the flag making business and we feel that such should not be tolerated. No matter what the flag we feel that this of all things should be of Canadian manufacture and by Canadian workmen from Canadian materials. After all, this is something which should be sacred to Canada and Canadians. However, there is some argument as to the points on the Maple Leaf. The official version is said to be a leaf with 11 points, while once it was set at 13 points. A Japanese one was shown with 13 points and one Canadian manufacturer had one with 13 points. It is said the correct number has been decided as 11 points. This may be something to remember.

Very soon, our government buildings will no doubt be flying the new Canadian Flag.

A Stitch In Time

IN the immediate post-war years many of us were proud that Canada's natural wealth was a big attraction for foreign investors.

Our tremendous industrial development in the last 20 years, in fact, owes a lot to capital that poured in from abroad, mostly from the United States.

But not many years ago we awoke to find that American investors owned 50 per cent of our manufacturing, 70 per cent of our petroleum and natural gas industry and 60 per cent of our mining and smelting.

Among those deeply concerned was Walter Gordon, who headed a royal commission inquiry into Canada's economic prospects in 1956. When the Liberals came to power in 1963, Mr. Gordon, as finance minister, decided to try to do something to reverse the trend.

His first experience was unhappy. He wanted to offer special depreciation benefits on new equipment to firms at least one-quarter Canadian-owned and to impose a 30-per-cent tax on sales of large blocks of stock or assets of Canadian companies to non-residents.

The idea was to encourage American owners to make stock available to Canadians and to discourage American takeovers of existing Canadian firms.

However, the reaction of the business community was so violent that Mr. Gordon was left with little of his original plan.

Undaunted, he's trying again. But the difference is that he is working with an area where there is reasonable hope of success.

A bill approved in principle by the Commons places a limit of 25 per cent on foreign ownership of shares of federally incorporated life insurance companies, trust firms and loan companies.

Insurance companies already more than half foreign owned and mutual firms are not covered, but 12 of Canada's insurance firms will be affected.

Later bills will provide similar regulations for chartered banks and finance companies. The banks are all understood to be under the 25-per-cent limit now so that, although many bankers are annoyed at the extra bookwork that will be involved, they presumably will be able to obey the law.

The whole idea is that financial institutions under Canadian control are more likely to have Canadian interests uppermost when they lend and invest money.

There are some who question this thesis, and only time will tell whether it's a correct analysis.

What is important is that a move has been made in an area of affairs where it is possible to do something before — instead of after — foreign control has been established.

SUGAR AND SPICE by Bill Smitey

AND WHERE DID IT GET YOU?

Well, here it is mid-January and another year has slipped down the drain.

It's rather depressing to look back over the 12 months and realize that neither civilization nor yourself has improved one iota, despite the frantic scrambling of the pair of you, thoughout the year.

Not that I'm admitting for a moment that 1964 was a complete failure. There were some things from which I derived a good deal of satisfaction. For one thing, I remained alive. With the traffic the way it is, and the tension cutting swaths through the ranks of chaps my age, just staying alive these days is quite a feat.

In the second place, I hung onto my job. This may seem like a trivial boast. But what with computers, it's like staying alive. Ask the fellow who hasn't managed to do either. Or both. What it meant was that I was able to continue keeping in high style a woman I never met until I was 25, and two kids who think money grows on fathers.

Keeping my job also meant that I was able to keep up my payments, no mean accomplishment in this age. In fact, I would be content to have my epitaph read: "He was a good man. He kept up his payments".

As a matter of fact, I did a little better. Not only did I meet all my interest payments, but I reduced the mortage on my house by $28.64, leaving a mere balance due of $12,971.36. This was somewhat offset by the borrowing of a couple of G's from my friendly banker, in order to replace the family transportation, which was rotting on the vine, but you can't win them all.

I'm not trying to brag. There were a lot of things in 1964 that I'd do differently another time. That is, if I'd ever got around to doing them. But since I didn't, they probably weren't worth doing in the first place. Figure that one out, if you can find an Irishman to help you.

I have already drawn up a program for 1965 that is perhaps the most positive plan, in a negative sort of way, that I've ever come up with. It's composed of all the things I'm NOT going to do this year.

For one thing, I'm not going to worry so much. My reckoning shows that I spent 20 to 30 minutes worrying last year about trifling things, like my son running away from home, my daughter going out on her first date, and my wife reporting cancer in a new location weekly. That's enough to put a fellow in the hospital. I aim to cut that down to a maximum of ten minutes this year. And it'll be worry about something worth-while, like my golf slice and trout that got away.

Another thing I'm not going to do this year is lose so many arguments with the Old Battleaxe. Last year, I must have lost about 97 per cent. of them. I don't know just how I'll go about it, but I'm determined to cut that figure to the bone — maybe right back to 95 per cent.

Once again, I'm not going to buy my wife a mink coat; I'm not going to build that patio that I didn't build last summer; I'm neither going to start getting to bed early nor getting up early; I'm not going to stop smoking because it might kill me, nor drinking ditto; I'm not going to pay my income tax with anything milder that rage; I'm not going to pay any attention to all the silly people in the world who tell me what I'm not supposed to do.

In short, the next year will be much like every other year. And good enough for me. But perhaps we could all join heartily in repeating a little slogan for the coming year. It goes,

"Let's stay alive In '65.".

25 YEARS AGO

January 10, 1940

Interesting Speaker

Miss Alice Lighthall of the Canadian Handicraft Guild, was an especially welcome speaker at the meeting of the Huntingdon Women's Institute. D. K. Lighthall, her great grandfather, was a resident of Huntingdon and Registrar of the County. Her grandfather was raised in Huntingdon and studied as a Notary in his father's office here. Her father is W. D. Lighthall, a Montreal Barrister, and this was Miss Lighthall's first visit to Huntingdon.

To an audience of over fifty, she unfolded an absorbingly interesting story of Canadian handicraft from the pre-French down to the present.

Hobby Becomes Avocation

Dr. R. W. Walker left Huntingdon in 1886 and settled in Chicago where he became associated with a dental firm. Moving to Riverside, Illinois in 1904, he made the acquaintances of Warren A. Drake, a teacher of penmanship and a writing expert who appeared from time to time in legal cases as an expert witness. Dr. Walker worked with Drake to learn the art and when the latter died, succeeded him in that capacity. In carrying out his hobby profession, Dr. Walker has been called to various cities in the states of Wisconsin, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, Indiana, South Dakota, Iowa as well as Illinois.

Urges Financial Support For Local Public Institutions

About 50 were present at the oyster supper staged at the Huntingdon Curling Club rooms on Monday when an enjoyable evening was spent. Rev. Father Arthur Pigeon was the guest speaker. He pointed out that it would be an acceptable move if residents of Huntingdon on passing away should leave in their wills bequests to the Huntingdon Curling Club as well as to other public institutions which were deserving of support.

Ormstown High School Notes

(By Nancylyn Cullen)

It is surprising to note the great surge to "uneagerness" that prevails around OHS after the ten-day holiday, but then it is most difficult to replace the three Fs, (fun, food and fantasy) with the three Rs demanded by our educators. That Christmas Dance sponsored by the Student Council was a great success, the entertainment provided by the Ormsteenaires, a group of instrumentalists picked from the school band was the highlight of the evening, followed closely by the refreshment committee's contribution.

The Student Council held its first meeting of the New Year this week, seems something interesting is in store for the students very soon, nothing official as yet.

The editor and staff of the Oracle (the school year book) have been working at fever pitch. Most of the material has been collected, and now the real trial begins... editing.

Even though exams are just around the corner, our sports teams are at it with a vim, curling and hockey practices are a very serious business with the Senior Hockey Team expecting its first test of the year on Thursday. Big Question??? Will the boys be as GOOD at hockey as they were at Basketball? Time alone will tell.

MAPLE LEAF GRANGE

The first meeting of the Grange in the New Year was held on Tuesday evening, January 5th. In the absence of Worthy Master Hawley, the Worthy Overseer, Sis. Cosgrove conducted the meeting.

The usual opening ritualistic work was held.

Early that morning the Grange members and the community had received the sad news of the sudden passing of Bro. Leo. Coffey. Although Bro. Coffey had spent the last part of his life away from Elgin, both he and his wife Madeline were Grange members, and if opportunity presented itself they would be present at a meeting, and every Christmas they sent sincere Greetings to the Grange. During the reading of the correspondence on Tuesday night, the 1964 Christmas Greetings from the "Coffeys" was read. The charter was draped in Bro. Leo's memory and the sympathy of the entire Grange is extended to Sis. Madeline and her daughter, Maureen, also Bro. John Coffey and all other relatives.

The committee reports were heard and the Lecturer Bro. David Rankin was congratulated on the success of the Christmas Party.

The report from the State Deputies visit to our Grange was read, showing Maple Leaf had received 119 points out of a possible 150, which the members felt was quite an achievement.

Under unfinished business, the dues paying supper and social evening was discussed. Any Grange member who would like to participate in same may call Sis. Hattie Shearer or Sis. Margaret Wilson for particulars.

The Lecturer's Programme consisted of recreational numbers, a reading "The Legends of Christmas" and a closing thought.

Tickets were sold on a white wool stole made and donated to the Grange by Sis. Evelyn Donnelly. Further tickets will be on sale at the supper this week, on January 15th.

Lunch was served and a social hour enjoyed.

Obituary

The Late John L. Beaudin

Last rites for Mr. John L. Beaudin, 43, who died Thursday night, December 24th at 9:30 o'clock in the emergency room at the Malone hospital to where his wife had taken him by car after he complained of feeling ill, were conducted Monday morning, December 28th, at ten o'clock at St. Mary's Church, Fort Covington.

The Rev. Thomas J. Robillard, pastor, officiated and burial was in the parish cemetery. Prior to the rites his body had been in repose at the Cappiello-McKenzie Funeral Home in Fort Covington.

Mr. Beaudin had not enjoyed good health for about two and a half years and death was attributed to a heart attack. His sudden and untimely passing shocked the community.

The deceased was born in Huntingdon, on January 25th, 1921, a son of Mrs. Virginia Houle Beaudin Cartier, Fort Covington, and the late Noe Beaudin. In October, 1942, he married Miss Ethel Smith, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Smith of Fort Covington and they had since made their home in Fort Covington.

For 17 years he was employed by the Aluminum Company of America at Massena and for the past few years he was an operating construction engineer. During the past year he had worked at Elizabethtown. He was a devoted husband and father always ready to look on the bright side of life, an attribute which helped him immensely during the past couple of years when he was not enjoying good health.

Surviving besides his wife and mother are three sons, Donald, 19, Roger, 16 and Steven, 9; two daughters, Shirley, 20, and Pauline, 18, all at home; a brother, Napoleon Beaudin, Fort Covington; a sister, Mrs. Leo (Jeanette) Cartier, Fort Covington; a half-brother, Raymond Cartire, Fort Covington; two step-brothers, John Cartier, Fort Covington, and Edward Cartier, Westville; three step-sisters, Mrs. Gerald (Marjorie) Jock and Mrs. William (Yvonne) Schramm, both of Fort Covington, and Mrs. Robert (Janet) Bigness, North Bangor.

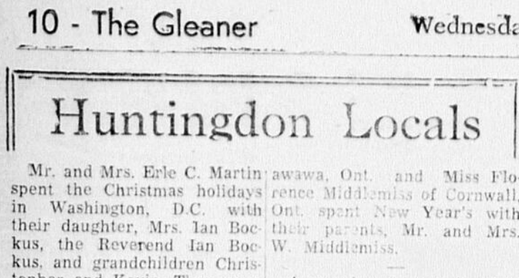

Relatives from Huntingdon include an uncle, Mr. Hector Beaudin; an aunt, Mrs. Fred Laberge and a cousin, Mr. Jean Claude Houle.

Pallbearers at the last rites included Messrs. Anicet Castagnier, Paul Drumm, Gary Lamay, Leo Bossey, Charles Henault and Wesley Richards.

Many relatives, friends and co-workers from Huntingdon, Chateaugay and Malone attended. Mrs. Beaudin's sister, Mrs. Alex Montroy of Geneva, was unable to come due to the illness of her husband.

By Mary Clandinan

Gault students returned to school on Monday, January 4 after a ten-day Christmas and New Year's holiday. It is hoped that it was a happy one for everyone.

With the coming of the New Year, basketball for Gault was concluded. Unfortunately, Gault did not bring home any trophies in 1964. The final competitions in the district will be held soon when the winners of both the boys' and girls' teams will be decided. Good luck to all the teams involved.

Although senior basketball is finished, junior basketball will commence for the girls and boys. Tumbling, also, has started for all boys who are interested. Curling, moreover, is a popular sport with the boys, who are presently in a competition.

A news item from "Federated News" on the first Country Women's Association in New South Wales Australia and the tremendous work they have accomplished was read by Mrs. Easton.

The President then introduced the speaker of the afternoon Mrs. William Hudson, who gave a most interesting talk on the different kinds of therapy and with the aid of slides illustrated the work being done in hospitals and various centres and the wonderful treatment which patients now receive. Mrs. William Allen thanked the speaker for her most interesting talk and the showing of the slides and a social cup of tea followed with Mrs. Allen, Mrs McKell, Mrs. Janet Reddick and Mrs. Wolodarski as hostesses.

NITRO NEWS

(Mrs. E. St. Onge)

Well here we are with the Christmas holidays well behind us and trying to get back into the old routines. I really wish everyone could have had as happy a Christmas and New Year as it was my fortune to have this year.

Lawrence hasn't been home for months and believe me the night of the 23rd and 24th wasn't a night for me to get much sleep even although he didn't get in until about 6 a. m. on the 24th. We three had a lovely holiday together.

On the Tuesday before the New Year when he had to go back to Matamoras, Pa., I went with him for a visit with his new friends down there. I went off content as Charlie Tardiff was going to be the helper in the store and being perfectly bilingual I had nothing to worry about. We landed at the Cleveland home about 10 p.m. and we had such a lot to talk about. Next day L. had to work on his car so Barbara took me for a long drive around the beautiful countryside there and we got acquainted! I met so many of L's friends and on New Year's Day he took me along with Barbara and her mother to New York City. We went up the Empire State Building and what a view from there! On the way to the city and also on the way back L. showed me many places where he had worked.

New Year's Eve we "old folks" were going to stay home but L. phoned for us to meet them so away we went. Those days passed all too quickly and my visit with folk who were strangers such a short time ago had to come to an end. L. drove us up to Albany through a very bad storm. From there I got the bus to Montreal. From Albany to Rutland I had a nice warm ride but when I changed to another bus for the rest of the way I had visions of sleeping but that went out the window as the bus was so cold. The roads were bad so we were late getting into Montreal and maybe I wasn't glad to get on the familiar Valleyfield bus and before long I was home for a warming cup of coffee.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Seguin and family are rejoicing over the safe arrival of a baby girl on Jan. 4th. Little Mary Lisa was baptised on Sunday, Jan. 11th and her godparents are her brother Roger and sister Sandra.

Over the holidays the only folk I saw who were home

SOMETHING DIFFERENT!

CALENDARS

WITH LOCAL CHARACTER

Businessmen, Church Societies and others, before ordering your calendars for 1966, check with The Gleaner first. You can obtain calendars which will have local pictures, or even pictures of your own establishment, or church, to impart individual as well as local character.

Various sizes and styles can be obtained, which will make your calendar different from others. You can choose desk calendars, pocket calendars, as well as the hang-on-the-wall type.

Price-wise, the cost will be about the same as you would pay for other calendars, perhaps even a little less. And so you will obtain more individuality in your calendar that will make yours just a little bit different. It's worth investigating.

If you did not get calendars for 1965, we can make you something to fill in there too. Why not call us and talk it over. DO IT NOW.

Notre Dame High News Roundup

By Douglas McKenna

On New Year's Eve, a hockey game took place at the Huntingdon arena between Notre Dame graduates and the school team. The graduates won by a score of 10-

This was followed by a dance held in the school auditorium. The boys and girls made a great show of enjoying themselves.

Sunday afternoon, the Notre Dame hockey team lost a game to a team of Loisirs from Montreal by a score of 4-1.

Refreshments were then served at school where volleyball games were enjoyed by the visiting hockey team and the local boys.

The season has been hard upon people who are intent on preparing a skating rink, this year.

Despite four visits by city employees to our rink — the rink surface is still bare of ice and snow at this date.

Western Canadian blizzards are on the way, though, and we hope that Mr. Mayor will still willing to give a helping hand in sending his men once more to flood the ice.

Who knows? We may yet skate — this winter!

Have any of my readers grown an African Amaryillis? Or better still did any of you send for the bulb offered by a well-known little magazine last October or November? I thought about it quite a while before sending for it but am ever glad I did. I planted the bulb on Nov. 25th and the children and I have had a grand time watching this plant grow. Just before Christmas the first bud burst and I had one flower out and another partly open before I went to the states. Now the other bud had opened and it too had four flowers in it. I haven't measured these flowers but they must be almost eight inches across. You may wonder why I don't measure it now but, you see, I have loaned it to a couple of shut-in friends for them to have the pleasure of watching the last flowers open.

Here are three important reasons why it will pay you to renovate and redecorate your home now!

1 SKILLED MEN ARE AVAILABLE—NOW! Although more and more building is being done each winter, exterior construction does slow down during the cold weather. As a result, home improvement contractors and skilled craftsmen seek out the smaller interior jobs that they are unable to handle during the summer. You benefit—with skilled workmanship by experienced tradesmen when it's most convenient to you!

2 DISCOUNTS AND LOANS ARE AVAILABLE—NOW! To create incentives that will balance their sales and keep their staff employed throughout the year, building supply dealers run winter sales. These special discounts help you renovate and redecorate at the lowest possible cost. You'll find your bank a good place to visit, too—for low-interest Home Improvement Loans under the National Housing Act: up to $4,000.00, with up to ten years to repay!

3 MATERIALS ARE AVAILABLE—NOW! When building slows down, materials become more readily available. Result: irritating delays in completing your job because of late delivery of supplies are eliminated!

There's no doubt about it. Winter is the very best time to spruce up your home (and your place of business)—quickly, efficiently, inexpensively!

HOWICK High School HIGHLIGHTS

(Jo Anne Rorison)

Everything is in full swing at Howick High after a very pleasant —but short — holiday. Nine of the Grade Eleven students really got an exciting — or grim — welcome when they were faced by the S.A.T. on Saturday at Huntingdon.

The Senior boys report a good time at the holiday bonspiel and now they are working hard toward the provincial play downs at the end of January in Quebec City.

This past week most of the action has centered around the intermediate boys who are trying out for basketball and hockey teams. We are looking for great things from these boys. The boys who don't play on the intermediate teams will be playing hockey on Saturday mornings, if we ever get the weather.

Rockburn

ROCKBURN — Mr. and Mrs. D. Brown and family of Cornwall, Ont., were New Year's Day guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Sloan. Other guests at the same home on Saturday were Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Tannahill from Huntingdon, and Miss Marian Sloan of Montreal spent Sunday with her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Rosevear and family of Smiths Falls, Ontario, were Saturday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Williams and in the evening an enjoyable family gathering was held at the same home. On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Rosevear and family were dinner guests of his mother, Mrs. E. Rosevear, and Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Rosevear.

Rev. J. A. and Mrs. Anderson of Kemptville, Ont., called on a few old friends when passing through Rockburn last Saturday, January 2nd.

Several ladies from Rockburn attended the "Open House" and afternoon tea at the home of the Robb sisters "Glamis Farm" on Tuesday, December 29th, when a delightful few hours were spent meeting and visiting with old friends.

Mrs. Ernest Rosevear and Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Rosevear were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Middlemiss and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Middlemiss.

Mr. Nelson Patenaude returned home Sunday, after spending several days last week with his son and daughter-in-law in Malone, N.Y.

Mr. Stanley Arnold, Dundee, was a New Year's dinner guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs Bert Rennie.

Mrs. John Sprague, Chateauguay, N.Y., was a caller at the Trainer home last Thursday.

Sorry to report Mrs. Alan Elliott is quite ill at present writing; also Mrs. Fred Elliott and Mr. Walter Elliott are on the sick list.

After being a patient in the Huntingdon County Hospital for a few days, we are pleased to learn that little Joyce Sutton is greatly improved and will soon be home.

Musical Evening At St. Paul's

There were few, if any, vacant seats at St. Paul's United Church on Sunday evening. The occasion was the musical effort of the combined churches of Ormstown, at which over 500 persons attended. The evening began with the singing of four carols by all choirs and the congregations under the direction of the choir director and organist. A welcome by Rev. A. E. Loree of St. Paul's was followed by Scripture reading by Rev. J. L. L. McLean of the Ormstown Presbyterian Church. Prayers were given by Rev. P. R. Stote of St. James Anglican

The Ormstown Male Glee Club under the direction of Mr. Lindsay Cullen presented three selections.

A most inspiring address was directed to the listeners by Father J. M. Laroque of St. Malachie's Roman Catholic Church. Father Laroque said, "We have arrived at the point in our existence, when we now realize that we are all Christains and we must love each other as Christians. This is not the time for hate and disunity, this is the time for love and unity. We must now surely realize that the Other Person, is not wrong, it is now up to each individual who calls himself a Christain to see clearly into our future and prepare for it today."

Following Father Laroque's address the Catholic Mixed Choir under the direction of Mr. Claude Crete took their places in the Choir loft.

The choir presented the Convent Mass by Chas. Gounod. Troisieme Noel by Van Reysschvot and Les Anges dans nos Campagnes by Gagnon. Organists were Mrs. Jean Guy Barrette and Miss Huguette Crete.

This was a most enjoyable and inspiring occasion and the hope has been expressed by many that another musical evening may soon be possible.

News from Howick

Mrs. Bourcier, Sr. and Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Bourcier and family, St. Pierre Village, celebrated New Year's Eve with a big family dinner party at their home. All the children and grandchildren were there except Louis from Vancouver and Maurice from Florida. Maurice Telephoned during the evening.

The 35 guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Jean Bourcier and 2 boys, St. Hyacinthe; Mr. and Mrs. Armand Massé and 6 children from Coteau Landing; Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Bourcier and 2 children, Chateauguay; Mr. and Mrs. Hector Bourcier and 9 children, Beauharnois; Mr. and Mrs. André Trottier, Beauharnois.

Mrs. Bourcier, Sr., had made slippers and mittens for 32 grandchildren and 2 great grandchildren, also aprons and other gifts for the adults. These were displayed in novell arrangements on the walls, which must have delighted the children. Turkey, capon, and all the delicious baking that goes with this festive meal were served.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Marsden spent New Year's Day with Mr. and Mrs. Austin and family at Ile Perrot. Miss Wendy Austin had spent the holiday season with her grandparents and returned home on New Year's Day.

Mr. and Mrs. J.M. Crawford, Tony Crawford, Miss Linneaus Philips and Mr. and Mrs. Eric Smart, Stephen and Vicki from Lachine and Beaconsfield, also Miss Shirley Druton of Toronto, were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Crawford on Sunday of last week.

Mrs. Dan Mc Farlane and Miss Linda Mc Farlane entertained at a family dinner for 15, on New Year's Day.

Mr. Nap Parent was host at a family dinner party at 7 p.m. on New Year's Day. The sons and daughter and most of the grandchildren were there, coming from Huntingdon, Ormstown, Chateauguay, Montreal and Howick.

Mr. Parent in his 85th year is hale and hearty, and sings at the 7.30 mass every morning. Since his wife died he lives alone but visits daily his two sons who live in Howick. A daughter Marie Anne who teaches in Montreal is at home during holidays.

It is a great joy to him to have his family gather at the old home. Miss Marie Anne was busy during the preceeding days preparing the house and the meal for the big dinner party, when turkey and all the usual good things were served. Her sister assisted with the baking and serving. This year one table was set for 24 and another for 7 and everyone had a grand time.

Mr. Floyd Gruer arrived home from the hospital on Wed., Dec. 30, exactly one month from the day he went in. There will be quite a long period of recuperation which may be a problem at this season for such an ardent curler.

Miss Jeanie Morison has returned to the Davidson Nursing Home, Chateauguay, after spending a delightful week with her sister and brother at the farm in Fertile Creek. The Arthur Kerrs and Mrs. Burrows kindly drove her home and back again to Chateauguay.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Tellier entertained on Christmas Day. New Year's Night they were guests at Mrs. F. Jenneau's home, where 26 members of the family met for a delicious festive supper.

Miss Jean Glasgow spent ten days at her home during the Christmas season.

Aren't you glad you watched the B.C. vs Quebec curling game on TV, Jan 2? Elmer Black's rink had defeated B.C. Dagg's rink at the 1964 Brier Games, the only rink to do so. Later B.C. became world champions and it was Quebec's luck to draw them for the first game in Trans Canada Curling, taped in Winnipeg early in December.

The final tie end had most of us sitting on the edge of our chairs, but Quebec did it again, with Elmer's final rock. Congratulations to Elmer Black (skip) John Logan, Oakley McRae and Bill Ness.

On Jan. 16 they play their second game, Alberta vs Quebec.

Floyd Gruer can't complain about the TV entertainment provided by his friends as he recuperates. Others who were lined up watching for the game well before it started were the ladies at the Preston Home. The ex-curlers among them are still young at heart.

An enjoyable party was held at the curling club on New Year's Eve attended by most of the members..

The Seniors opened the 1965 season on Wed, Jan. 6, when 29 members met for an afternoon of curling, bridge, euchre, scrabble or knitting and visiting.

Some of the curlers have been "off-colour" during the past months but neither age nor ailments held them back from a 10-end game. A few extra men waited behind the glass, hoping, we are sure, that somebody would need a rest at the half way mark — but no such luck.

Light refreshments were served following the games. Mr. J. D. Lang welcomed everyone and hoped for a good season.

The Mc Gregor trophy was presented to J.R. Younie, the winning skip, with Melville Kerr, Arthur Kerr and Bruce Cairncross.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Daigneault (Aurore Bergevin) Montreal, were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Adolphe Bourcier.

Mrs. A. R. Bergevin, Village of St. Pierre was happy to have all her children and grandchildren with her for a family dinner party on New Year's Day. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bergevin and family came from Cayuga, Ont.; Mr. and Mrs. Victor Bergevin and family from Whitby, Ont., and Mr. and Mrs. Claude Bergevin and family from the Village. Other relatives visited during the day, including a brother, Mr. René Robidoux from Massena.

Miss Hazel Elliot, who teaches at Trochu, Alta, spent the holiday week with Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Elliot, at the family home.

Mr. Rodney Mc Kell, returned to his school at Magog after an enjoyable holiday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Whiteford Mc Kell and the family.

Mrs. Telesphore Hebert and Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Hebert entertained at a family dinner party on New Year's Day for 60 guests. Nine sons and daughters were there, with 39 grandchildren and 3 great grandchildren. They came from Ville Le Moyne, Ville LaSalle, Rosemount, Côte St. Paul, Ormstown, Valleyfield, St. Antoine Abbé, St. Chrysostôme, St. Martine and Chateauguay. Rev. Dr. K. G. Mac Millan of St. Lambert, conducted the service at the United Church on Sunday morning due to the illness of Mr. Wm. Hudson.

Dr. and Mrs. MacMillan were guests at the house following the service.

Mrs. A. Carruthers had returned home from the Barrie Memorial, as has her brother, Mr. Sid Stewart.

Mr. John Murray attended the Q.P.E. Bonspiel at the Seigniory Club, Montbello, on the week-end.

The curling rink has been a busy place. Outside rinks were curling on the Silver D. competition and we understand the rink from Huntingdon is the winner in this district.

There was mixed curling on Saturday night and the high scorers were, Mrs. M. Lemieux, Marcel Lemieux, Muriel Ness, Douglas Ness (skip) Grilled sandwiches were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Eastwood, Town of Mount Royal, and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Eastwood of Ormstown, were supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Mervyn Craig on Friday evening.

The biggest holiday house party we have heard about is the gathering of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Simon and their family on New Year's night. The party was held at the home of a daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. Surprenant of Ste. Martine.

The basement of the home had been transformed with seasonable decorations and ninety or more guests partook of a sumptuous buffet meal. Cards and dancing were enjoyed until the early morning hours.

A feeling of profound sorrow gripped this community when our citizens heard of the death of Dr. M. R. Stalker. Many of us remember the days when he travelled far and wide, over bad roads and good to visit the sick. The Barrie Memorial Hospital is a monument to his dedication as both the former and present hospitals were started with a little money and a lot of faith. We are grateful for the service he has given.

Howick U.C.W. Executive Luncheon

The Executive of the Howick U.C.W. gathered at the 'Hope' residence of Miss Isobel Frith at Allan's Corners on Saturday, January 9th. Everyone enjoyed a delicious buffet luncheon — a French Canadian Menu — served by the hostess Miss Frith.

An Executive meeting followed the luncheon and was opened with a Worship Service.

The President — Miss Isobel Frith presided at a business meeting.

The U.C.W. Purpose was repeated in unison and then each part studied with regard to our own fulfillment of each and ways of improving same.

The 1965 Budget was presented and studied.

Committees were chosen and dates set for the next General and Executive meetings.

Obituary

The Late Richard Champ

Relatives and friends of Mr. Richard Champ were saddened when they heard of his sudden death on Wednesday morning, Jan. 6, following a drive to Howick to do some errands for himself and a neighbour.

He was a member of Howick United Church and the funeral was held at that church, on Friday, Jan. 8, at 2 p.m. from Mc Gerrigle's Funeral Parlor, Ormstown. The Rev. A. E. Loree of Ormstown, conducted the service. Interment was at Georgetown cemetery. The pallbearers were: Roy Carson, Clarence Kerr, Geo. Baskin, Russell Stewart, Archie Roy and Norris Tait.

Richard Edmund Champ was born at Cote des Neiges on June 14, 1892. In 1913, the Rev. James Steeves of Cote des Neiges Presbyterian Church officiated at his marriage to Miss Sadie Smith and as the years went by baptized all of their seven children.

On the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary in 1963, the family in loving recognition of what their parents meant to them, arranged a gathering which included all the children and grandchildren.

Almost all his life was spent as a market gardener. At Cote des Neiges until 1913, during his early married life at St. Dorothee, and since March 3, 1946 at Howick. He retired two year ago, due to poor health, and his daughter-in-law started a business with assistance from Mrs. Champ.

During these later years, he became well known in the Howick district and many folk regarded him as a kindly and trustworthy friend.

He is survived by his wife, Sadie Smith, and seven sons and daughters, all of whom are married. They are Harry William, Margaret, (Mrs. Millard), Allan, Elsie (Mrs. Wills), Doris (Mrs. Roberts) and Leslie, also 26 grandchildren.

Protestant School Board Meeting

The Huntingdon Protestant School Commissioners held their regular meeting in the library of Huntingdon High School, on Thursday evening, with all members present.

There was little of public interest as the outcome of the meeting. Following the reading of the minutes and passing a number of bills for payment, the balance of the business was of a routine nature.

It is possible that a change may be made in the period designated for the Easter recess, but announcement will be made later with regard to this.

It was reported that the Home and School Association may be starting to function again and a meeting is being held on January 20th to choose a President.

A film is to be shown and a talk given to boys in Grades 10 and 11, on January 19th, which will be titled "A Career in the Armed Forces". Operation Scholarship will be held in the near future and plans are being made for this at the present time. It is expected there will be a larger number of students taking part in this rewarding project.

BELL LINES

by Marcel Boileau, your telephone manager

Now that the festivities are over and the Huntingdon area is looking forward to a happy and prosperous 1965, I hope we won't forget those friends and acquaintances for whom the New Year has not started out so well.

I'm thinking in particular of "shut-ins" — people who can't get around easily and are therefore confined to the house. Day after day can get terribly monotonous for them (tragically so if they're alone) and yet it's so easy to break that monotony and cheer them up a bit! A simple telephone call — even if you don't have anything special to say — can mean a great deal.

We sometimes forget people when we don't see them around as usual. But if the reason they're not around is that they're ill and confined to the house, then this is precisely the time we SHOULD be remembering them. So let's NOT forget! — Let's make that simple call, and often!

About Time

On the morning of her fourth birthday, a Miss named Nancy came into the house after playing in the yard. "Mommy," she asked "did I get a phone call this morning?"

"No, dear," her mother said, a little surprised but equal to the occasion, "were you expecting a call?"

"Well," said Nancy, "I'm four years old now, so it's about time someone called me."

Would someone special like to hear from you? Someone special who's far away? Birthday or not, Long Distance calls go over big with friends — and they're pleasant for you, too!

Then What Happened

This little story, reported by a telephone company in Florida, is too good not to pass along to telephone users up here. It certainly points out the importance of calling the right number!

A chap, belatedly realizing he would be detained at his office, hurriedly dialed his wife, dialing wrong and, when a woman answered, blurted out that he'd be late getting home. Before she could set him straight, her own husband who had overheard grabbed the phone and said, "Okay, Buddy, no hurry at all, TAKE YOUR TIME..." Yiiiii!
