

CANNED AN EVANGELIST.

A North Carolina Judge Thunders a Preacher For Criticizing Him.

GREENSBORO, N. C., June 29.—This town never had such a day of excitement as reigned here yesterday. Business was almost suspended for a while and the whole city was and is yet highly indignant. Several nights ago Judge David Schenck, late of the Superior Court, a historian of note, and president of the Guilford Battle Ground Association, gave a moonlight party at the Guilford battle grounds. Bill Fife, the drummer evangelist, who is now holding revival services here, denounced this as a disgrace to the soldiers who died on the field, and as a desecration of sacred soil. He also reflected on the name of Judge Schenck and his family, and declared that no true Christian would engage in such an exhibition.

Last night, after the services had closed Judge Schenck and his three sons attacked Mr. Fife and bruised him with canes very badly. During the affray a pistol shot was fired, which passed uncomfortably close to the evangelist's head. It is said that Judge Schenck did the firing. Excitement runs high and more trouble is expected.

IN A HUDSON RIVER STORM.

Rough Trip of the Steamer Mary Powell to

ROXBURY, N.Y., June 29.—The side-wheel steamer Mary Powell, from New York, reached here this morning over two hours late, having passed through a terrific storm. The steamer carried 1100 passengers, many of whom were women and children. A northeast wind was blowing and a flood tide flowing when the vessel left New York. After passing Riverside the waves beat upon the steamer, washing the decks. The guard rails on the starboard side were stove in and other damage done. It is believed that the pitching of the boat strained some of her timbers and that she is damaged about the stern.

The passengers, few of whom ever encountered such a storm on the Hudson, were inclined to be frightened. The officers relieved all their doubts regarding the safety of the vessel and landed them several hours late. The steamer will go on her regular trip to New York to-morrow and be repaired if it is found that she is in need of repairs.

BEL-AIR RACES.

An extra special train will be run from the G. T. R. and C. P. R. stations at 12:30 p. m. on Wednesday, July 1.

ARMED DESPERADOES.

Reported Attack Upon the Sac and Fox Agency—Escape of the Outlaws, KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 28.—A special from Wichita, Kas., says: "A sensational rumor is current here to the effect that an attack was made upon the Sac and Fox Agency Friday night by an armed band of desperadoes, who are reported to have captured a large treasure and to have made their escape with it. A United States marshal, who arrived here from Guthrie, Okla., reports that he heard the same story at Guthrie. The story which came to his ears was to the effect that the Dalton gang made the attack, and intimidated the people at the agency with drawn weapons, robbed them and made their escape. It is reported that the Indian traders, who have been doing a good business with the Sac and Fox Indians since the latter sold their lands to the Government, were the heaviest losers. No verification of the report has been received.

Indispensable.

One spoonful of Persian Lotion used with the water when washing every morning is indispensable if you wish to retain your color fresh and rosy. The sun and wind crack the skin and render it more difficult to return to its natural gloss if you neglect this precaution.

Her Son's Arrest Made Her Insane.

CANTON, June 29.—Frank Hahn, a well known Canton young man and member of a leading family, attended a picnic, became intoxicated and was arrested. His mother, Mrs. Augustus Hahn, brooded over her son's disgrace until reason left her, and she is a violent maniac, making desperate efforts at self destruction. She will be taken to the Toledo Insane Asylum.

Epps' Cocoa—Grateful and Comforting.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage, which may save many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us, ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many fatal shafts by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette. Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold only in packets, by grocers, labelled: "JAMES EPPS & Co., Homoeopathic Chemists, London, Eng."

Famous Bandit Found Dead.

HAYANA, June 29.—The famous bandit, Arturo Garcia, has been found dead near Artemisa. Numerous bullet and stab wounds were found on the body, but it has not yet been ascertained who killed him.

THE TRAINED MONKEY SCAM

How One of the Biggest Liars of the Day Perpetrated a Hoax.

Joseph Mulholland says: "None of my fabrications attracted wider attention than that in which I stated that a southern planter had successfully employed a number of monkeys in breaking hemp in his hemp fields. This report was dated at Richmond, Ky., and was as follows:

"J. B. Parkes, a substantial farmer near Kingston, in this county, has successfully trained a force of seven large monkeys to work in his hemp fields and to break and prepare the hemp for market. They do the work quicker and better than the negroes he formerly employed, and the cost is about one-fourth. It required about four months of patient training to get the animals to understand their respective jobs. But now they seem to comprehend it all, and perform their daily labor with but little difficulty. The monkeys were sent to Mr. Parkes by John G. Taylor, another extensive raiser of hemp and a neighbor of Mr. Parkes."

To carry out the hoax my friend W. H. Felt wrote a lengthy communication to the Lexington Press, in which he stoutly protested against this importation of cheap foreign labor as an outrage upon the negro race. This new phase of the labor problem was commented on all over the country by editors, most of whom appreciated the joke. The Lexington Press printed an editorial on the subject a column long, in which, after repeating the story of the dispatch, it observed: "The result of the experiment is, we regret to say, everything that Mr. Parkes expected or could have desired. The sort of thing will never do. Monkeys are excellent and engaging animals on barrel organs, or seen from the right side of stout bars at a zoological garden. Monkeys, however, must not be allowed to engage in occupations which are too lofty for them. They should not, under any circumstances, whatever the temptations to adopt such a course be permitted to enter into rivalry with human beings."

"At present we are glad to think that there is no immediate prospect of Mr. Parkes' experiment being repeated on our shores. No one can tell how soon the infection of the new system may spread to England. Monkeys at the dock gates at 6 in the morning; monkeys filling the workmen's trains into the city before dawn, and going back again at night, heads of monkeys prowling round the streets of the metropolis, and yelling out something intended for 'We've got no work to do'—how soon will this infestation be upon us in grim reality?"

"The negroes, however, were filled with mingled terror and indignation, and held mass meetings all over the South, denouncing Mr. Parkes and his monkeys and protesting against the further importation of these new African rivals."

I continued this "monkey business" in a subsequent article of some length, in which I described how monkeys are employed in British Honduras as drummers, street car drivers and policemen, and how at Belize they have been successfully used to break up a gang of duels who loitered on the street corners and in the vestibules of the theatres and churches. The authorities trained several hundred monkeys to wear eyeglasses and fashionable clothes and stand in these places. When the ladies passed by they bowed politely and tipped their hats gracefully, at the same time murmuring:

"Ah, there, ladies! Stay there, ladies! aw—egad!"

The duels all grew disgusted and quit the business until one of them is to be found in all British Honduras.

Such, in brief, is my career as a preparator. I have not attempted to furnish a complete list of my fables. No one knows so well as myself, perhaps, how gigantic would be the authorship of many really creditable lies, such as that about the famous cucumber man of Texas, which emanated from the fertile brains of fellow impostors. I have no desire, and I think the public will sustain me in the assertion that I have no need, to claim the laurels which belong to other men. I am content to keep those I have honestly won.

Sure Cure for Verdancy.

Beeeswax—Do you know, Miss Kullshaw, that when I mingle in literary society I am quite ashamed of myself. I've really read so little that I can't understand half the allusions, and in fact I'm sure awfully green. What would be a good thing to read up? Miss Kullshaw—if you feel so very green as you say I should be inclined to recommend a course of Browning—Grip.

The Value of Cosmetics.

He—"What a creamy complexion Lily White has!" She—"Very; and when you take the top of it off it becomes skin-milky."

Before and After.

It is really humorous to note the marvelous effects of the patent medicines as shown by their "Before and After" illustrations. One in particular, that has appeared in nearly every paper in the country of less than five hundred circulation, is very remarkable. "Before" was a man of about sixty years of age, thin face, drooping mustache, uncombed hair and round shoulders. "After" is a naty young man of about twenty-five, and the result of using this Liver Tonic is great. It not only made him twenty-five years younger, but it combed his hair, waxed his mustache, gave him a new set of false teeth, put a new collar and necktie on him and a clean shirt. It reduced the size of his ears, and to complete the wonderful transformation even changed his coat. The most wonderful of all the inventions of this age is the patent medicines. Electricity is nowhere, and it's cheap, also—100 doses only $1.00.
