Commons
may sit
all night

OTTAWA (CP)—A crisis atmosphere spread over Parliament Hill today as the government took up the challenge of Real Caouette's Creditistes to block all legislative action.

The Creditiste challenge centred Monday on a government measure seeking parliamentary authority to pay October and November expenses.

In reply to the Creditiste blockade of the measure, the government gave notice that it will ask the Commons to suspend rules governing the adjournment hour, raising the prospect of round-the-clock sittings.

The Creditiste challenge centred Monday on a government measure seeking parliamentary authority to pay October and November expenses.

In reply to the Creditiste blockade of the measure, the government gave notice that it will ask the Commons to suspend rules governing the adjournment hour, raising the prospect of round-the-clock sittings.

The Creditiste blockade was imposed last Thursday night and Creditiste Leader Caouette announced Friday it applies to all government legislation until his group's demands for recognition and precedence as the third-ranking opposition group are met.

NOT NEW

Sitting round - the - clock wouldn't be new for the Commons. In 1913, during debate on the Conservative government's naval aid bill, the House sat for two weeks without interruption.

In Chicoutimi, Que., Mr. Caouette said that before the government begins 24-hour sittings it should "sit normally and recognize Le Ralliement."

Creditiste House leader Gilles Grogio said the government "should stick to regulations which do not include 24-hour-a-day sessions."

Seats are empty
at Vatican meet

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Roman Catholic ecumenical council began the second week of its current session today with representatives of many orthodox churches still missing from their reserved seats in St. Peter's Basilica.

Nine days ago, a pan-Orthodox conference on the Greek island of Rhodes agreed to establish contacts with the Vatican to encourage the cause of Christian unity. It was left to the 11 participating churches to decide individually if observers should be sent to the council.

Four were reported to oppose sending observers.

"So far we have not received a single letter from the Rhodes group of churches," said a spokesman of the Vatican secretariat for promoting Christian unity.

Canadian Chamber of Commerce

Immediate tax relief is urged for continued business growth

QUEBEC (CP) — Immediate action must be taken to ease the burden of taxation before it destroys opportunities for business growth, Victor Oland of Halifax, president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, said today.

Mr. Oland told the chamber's annual meeting that the federal, provincial and municipal governments "have imposed taxes of every conceivable kind."

If taxes continued to rise at the same rate as in recent years, "a disproportionate share of the national product will be siphoned off into government channels to the detriment of the private sector."

Text of his remarks were given to the press before delivery.

Making the keynote address to the four-day meeting which got down to business today after a formal opening Sunday night, Mr. Oland said the trend of government expenditures in Canada "has shown an almost-unprecedented upward trend in the post-war years."

Per capita taxes, as a percent of national income, have nearly doubled in little more than 30 years and expenditures have more than doubled.

"The chamber believes that the rising level of government expenditures in Canada, which is outstripping the rate of increase of national income and national products substantially, is approaching the saturation point."

Mr. Oland, president of Oland and Sons Brewery, said the answer to the economic problems facing Canada lies in increased economic growth.

"When a government provides a subsidy to one group of citizens or makes a concession to another and when it attempts to provide a support or underpinning for one sector or other of the economy, it is doing nothing to increase the national wealth, it is doing nothing to assist Canadian business to compete."

"It is merely transferring the burden from one group to another."

While it was true that, for those who had work, Canadians never had it so good, "unfortunately there are far too many Canadians without jobs."

Kennedy signs

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy formally ratified the limited nuclear test - ban treaty today, calling it "a clear and honorable national commitment" to the cause of man's survival.

UK Rights fight

LONDON (Reuters) — Fresh "Mac must go" pressure was reported from within his ruling Conservative party today as Prime Minister Macmillan headed into what could be the most fateful week of his political career.

Revolt goes on

ALGIERS (Reuters) — President Ahmed Ben Bella was in a forgiving mood today but there was no sign that this would ease rebel opposition to his regime.

Informed sources said Ben Bella was prepared to drop charges in the Kabylia rebellion led by Col. Mohamed el Hadji and Hocine Ait Ahmed provided they agreed to settle the crisis within a congress of the ruling National Liberation Front.

Seek expedition

CHIHUAHUA Mexico (AP) — The United States government moved in helicopters and a para-rescue team today in the mounting search for a group of American adventurers in desolate northwest Mexico.

The expedition of 12 men and two women hasn't been heard week during their attempt to conquer the uncharted Rio Urique River. The 15th member is in hospital here after he had been sent for additional supplies.

To settle dock strike
Union has new proposals

MONTREAL (CP) — The International Longshoremen's Association (ILA) is presenting a new set of contract proposals today as mediation continues to end the St. Lawrence River dock strike.

The ILA's members voted Sunday to give their executives full power to settle the strike, without further consulting members, on the basis of the new demands.

Nearly 2,000 longshoremen attended the general meeting in Montreal to discuss the mediation talks.

The vote marked a deep change in the members' position, and ended an element of uncertainty that has plagued the ILA negotiations with the Shipping Federation of Canada.

In March, the union executives came to an agreement with the federation but the members voted to reject it and stuck to their original demands. In September, the members rejected a conciliation board recommendation with which the union's own representative on the board agreed, and again stuck to original demands.

SHUT OFF TRADE

The 3,800 ILA members struck Friday at Montreal, Quebec City, Trois-Rivières, and Sorel, and effectively shut off trade in the St. Lawrence River just at the beginning of the regular autumn boom period—a boom magnified this year by the scheduled shipment of 60,000,000 bushels of wheat and flour to Russia through the ports.

Phil Cutler, union lawyer, declined Sunday to reveal the nature of the new proposals. He said he thought Judge Rene Lippe, the federally-appointed mediator, should be told first.

In approving the new demands, the union members refused a basis of settlement put forward by Judge Lippe, a Montreal magistrate with extensive experience in mediating labor troubles.

Mr. Cutler said the new demands are "far from our original demands" and are "quite different" from other proposals which he termed as based too much on dollars and cents and not enough on fringe benefits like working conditions, vacation, retirement, and medical plans, would be rejected.

Some sources indicated the new union proposals would scale down wage demands, but emphasize increased welfare and other fringe benefits. The strike, which some authorities estimate is costing $2,000,000 a day, has been peaceful in Sorel and Trois-Rivières but has led to violence in Quebec City and some skirmishing in Montreal.

Mr. Mutchler, the retiring commissioner who is seeking re-election, was first named to the local commission to fill out the term of a commissioner who resigned from office. Later in 1960 he was re-elected by acclamation for a three-year term.

Born in Pennsylvania 45 years ago, he moved to Sherbrooke in 1926. He received his education at the Sherbrooke High School, the Mercersburg Academy and the Wyomissing Polytechnic Institute at Reading, Mass.

For the past 15 years he has been in the employ of the American Biltrite Co. of Canada, Ltd., as a chemist.

He has two children, both attending local schools. One is in Grade XI and the other in Grade III.

He resides at 372 Moore Street.

Gordon MacMillan, making his first bid for public office, is a native of Sherbrooke and received his education at the Sherbrooke High School.

He has been active in the Scouting movement and in other local organizations.

The father of three children, girls 12 and nine and a boy four, he is employed as a superintendent at the Hall Machinery Co. Ltd.

He resides on Lavergne street in the East Ward.

An election is also being held tomorrow to select a North Ward representative on the Roman Catholic School Board. The candidates are retiring Commissioner Pierre Bachand and Michael Marengo who has been active in the affairs of home and school groups.

In a special announcement over the weekend the Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce has urged that all qualified electors exercise their vote at tomorrow's elections.

The Chamber release declares that the size of the school board budgets, six million dollars for the Roman Catholic Board and a half-a-million dollars for the Protestants, makes these elections of direct concern to all citizens.

Portuguese claim American cash supports rebellion in Angola

LUANDA, Angola (AP)—In the jungled hills of northern Angola, 12,000 Portuguese troops are fighting a hide-and-seek war with increasingly well armed and well trained rebels.

Since the savage uprising of March, 1961, which produced the greatest massacre of whites in African history, and brutal reprisals, the Portuguese have steadily whittled down the battle zone.

Lt.-Col. Castro Ascencio, assistant chief of staff of the Angola command, claims that if weren't for aid the rebels received across the Congo border, Portugal could crush them within a year.

At a weekend press briefing, Portuguese officers claimed the rebellion was being kept going largely by American money.

Col. Ascencio said six percent of Angola—about 28,000 square miles—is infiltrated now by African nationalist insurgents.

But he admitted the rebels are becoming increasingly efficient as guerrilla fighters.

When the revolt exploded, rebels fought fanatically with machetes, knives, old flintlock rifles, home-made guns and a few weapons seized from the Portuguese.

Within days 700 white men, women and children had been slaughtered. Almost as many Africans also fell victim to the rebels.

Today the rebels have a variety of modern weapons, including British light machine guns, British and Belgian rifles, French and German automatic pistols, Italian grenades, British anti-personnel and anti-tank mines, and Russian explosives.

He said nearly all the fighting is being done by Holden Roberto's Union of the Angolan People and is directed from Leopoldville in the neighboring Congo.

Sugar production, the backbone of Cuba's economy, already had fallen to the lowest level in 30 years because, Castro admitted, of poor Communist management, lackadaisical work by peasants and the breakdown of trucks used to take it to market.

The Miami weather bureau said Flora, after sitting in one spot just south of Cuba for 24 hours, striking out at Oriente and Camaguey provinces, now has begun a slow northward drift.

This would take the wet, 100-mile-an-hour storm across Cuba for the second time, bringing the Bahamas Islands once again within range and threatening Florida.

TURNED BACK

In her first thrust into Cuba Friday, Flora gave signs that she would thrash on northward into the Bahamas. But the storm stalled over Oriente province, then turned westward back into the Caribbean sea.

Besides the crop destruction, the Cuban radio told of collapsing homes and buildings, serious floods and the evacuation of more than 40,000 persons from Santiago de Cuba and Victoria de las Tunas — a picture of havoc in Oriente and Camaguey provinces.

Only two deaths thus far have been confirmed in the guarded reports from the radio. The crews of two coastal fishing boats are missing in savage seas off the south coast. More than 400 bodies have been counted in Haiti.

43 plowmen
compete in Bromptonville

BROMPTONVILLE — (Staff) — Eddie Goodfellow has a head start on his plowing this year.

Mr. Goodfellow volunteered his farm on the Scotch Road near here for the Sherbrooke Ploughmen's Association annual plowing match this year, and 43 plowmen of all ages, sizes and sexes were turned loose on it Saturday morning.

They plowed with tractors for the most part, but there were teams of horses, some even driven by boys of 13.

Prizewinners in all classes will be announced at the Sherbrooke Ploughmen's Association's annual banquet at St. George's Hall in Lennoxville, Thursday at 6:30 p.m.

The oldest plowman in the match, Sam Morrison of Richmond, naturally chose horses borrowing a team from Andrew Dunn of Ulverton, since he is retired and his sons now run his former farm at Melbourne.

Celebrate Series
sweep

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The world champion Los Angeles Dodgers Sunday night celebrated their four-game sweep of the World Series with a swinging champagne - filled victory party at the stadium club in Chavez Ravine.

Willie Davis, whose long fly ball to centre scored Jim Gilliam with the winning run, easily won the twist championship.

Willie, whose pretty wife is a professional dancer, did twist steps that Chubby Checker never knew existed.

Tommy Davis, the leading hitter in the National League, ruled as the jitterbug champion of the night, was followed closely by Leo Durocher.

Wally Moon, the veteran outfielder of the Dodgers, kept asking the combo to play polkas. The orchestra obliged by playing waltzes and Moon danced polkas anyhow.

Despite the close 2-1 victory Sunday, the stadium club management never doubted the outcome. At the top of the ninth, they paged: "All waiters to their posts."

Today's Chuckle

One way to be popular is to listen closely to a lot of things you already know.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

JACOBY EXPLAINS LIMIT RAISES

In the earliest days of contract if you wanted to raise your partner you did and the better your hand the more you would raise him. Translated into points the single raise indicated 7 to 9 or 10 points in support; the double raise 10 to 12 and the triple raise 13 to 17. The double raise was not forcing and the 13 to 17 triple raise was a wonderful slam killer. If the opener saw slam possibilities he would have no way to move below game and obviously he would be deathly afraid to try for a slam with even 178 points. His partner might have jumped to game with only 13.

The experts solved this crisis by inventing the forcing jump raise and it is described and used in almost all textbooks today. The 10 to 12 points hands are called bids of 2½ and are shown by first bidding a new suit and then raising partner.

Of course, a passed hand still uses the old fashioned non-forcing jump raise so students have to learn two distinct systems at the same time.

The modern trend is to go back to limit raises so that the jump to three shows 11-12 supporting points for partner and is a strong invitation, but not a force. This has a fine pre-emptive effect as may be seen from today's hand.

North's limit raise to three spades shuts East out and South makes his three spade contract right on the nose after losing one heart, two diamonds and a club.

If North merely bids two diamonds East will surely muster up enough courage to bid two

Q—The bidding has been:

You, South, hold:

What do you do?
A—Bid one heart. You have enough high cards for a redouble, but there are a lot of spades out against you and if you redouble you may lose all chance to show your heart suit with safety.

TODAY'S QUESTION
You bid one heart. West bids one spade and after your partner passes East bids two spades. What do you do now?

Rand election Friday

An election among production and maintenance employees of Canadian Ingersoll Rand, Sherbrooke, will be held Friday October 11, J. H. Daly, General Manager announced this morning.

These employees will be able to choose between the company and the American Steelworkers Union in a secret ballot election, he said. The majority of the employees defeated the same union in 1962.

In a release to the press, Mr. Daly said: "Although the American Steelworkers wanted to be named as agent without a vote, we are pleased that company demands for a secret ballot election were finally accepted by the organizers and their lawyer." He said the Quebec Labor Board approved the election late last week.

In a letter to employees, Daly said the company position was that the American Steelworkers cannot create new benefits or higher wages. "Only orders, especially from I.R.'s U.S. plants, can cause jobs and better wages and benefits."

Daly said that the recognition demand filed by the American Steelworkers with the Labour Board more than seven months ago, has prevented the company from improving wages and benefits under Quebec Labour Law.

Rejean Lapierre, of Sherbrooke, was elected director during the convention of the Federation de l'Industrie de la Construction de la Province de Quebec (Quebec Provincial Federation of the Construction Industry) held recently at St. Foy, near Quebec.

The federation prepared a brief to be presented to the provincial government asking the government to pass necessary legislation to institute a licensing system for contractors.

No government decisions made regarding Bill 60 amendments, Gerin-Lajoie tells ET audiences

Thousands of Sherbrooke school children today have reason to remember the four-day visit of Youth Minister Gerin-Lajoie to the Eastern Townships. Pupils at the schools under the control of the Sherbrooke Roman Catholic School Commission are enjoying a special holiday granted them at the request of the Youth Minister, who wound up his tour of the district with a meeting in Thetford Mines Saturday afternoon.

During the course of a question and answer period at a conference with the school commissioners and teachers of the asbestos mining area, the Youth Minister stated that no date had been set for the next session of the Legislature at which the Bill 60 would be discussed.

This bill provides for the reorganization of the Quebec education system and placing education under the control of a Minister of Education. The Youth Minister made his visit to this district as part of his campaign to whip up public support for the proposed changes.

Mr. Gerin-Lajoie also declared

By CUTHBERT JONES
(Record staff writer)

ed that the Government had made no decision as to whether it would amend the controversial bill to include certain suggestions submitted to it by a committee of Roman Catholic bishops.

He indicated that each suggestion would be considered individually and in relation with the general program of reform proposed by the bill.

At Thetford he also came in for considerable questioning on his proposals for regional school administrations, which he claimed was the only system whereby residents of less populated areas could receive the full education required under present day conditions.

He told one questioner that a minimum unit of two thousand pupils was required before adequate primary, secondary and technical schools could be established.

To another who complained that the regional school system would require students to spend a long time in transportation each day in rural areas, the Minister said he did not believe the one hour consumed each morning and evening was excessive.

Even in the City of Montreal, he said, students taking specialized training took as much as an hour to travel from their homes and another hour to return in the evening.

On the matter of education costs, the Youth Minister said that the provincial government's educational budget was $330,000,000 annually with another $150,000,000 being raised by the school commissions in local taxes.

The global deficits of the various school boards amounted to about $60,000,000 annually.

Replying to a proposal that a provincial lottery be established to finance education costs, the Minister expressed himself in favor of the proposal.

But he also expressed serious doubts that such a lottery would provide any material relief.

"We cannot expect to repeat the experience of Ireland with its hospital sweepstakes," he explained, adding that it was unlikely the net proceeds would exceed ten to twelve million dollars.

He also expressed himself in favor of the co-ordination of universities in the field of instruction, examinations and the granting of diplomas. But the government should act only as an intermediary in such negotiations and should not exercise control. Each university, he said, would continue its present independent status.

In his opening remarks to the gathering in the Thetford Mines secondary school, the Minister repeated his earlier pleas for regionalization of the school system in order that the standards of education in rural areas might be improved.

Lennoxville High grads urged to meet own personal standards

A Protestant educator told Lennoxville High School graduates Saturday to concentrate on meeting their own personal standards, and the political life of their country would automatically benefit.

Keith J. Dowd, supervisor of schools for the Richmond-Drummond-Arthabaska Protestant Consolidated School Board, I got the man right, the world came out all right."

Mr. Dowd said his confidence in young people's keenness for excellence was raised by visiting a class and asking for suggestions on how to improve English courses. Everyone he received would have made more work for the students, he said.

One worthy of special attention was a desire for a central theme in books on the English course — and even for ties with history and other subjects.

Baptists oppose state lotteries

BAPTIST OFFICERS — Elected to the executive of the Eastern Association of Baptist Churches Saturday at the group's convention at Sherbrooke Baptist Church were, left to right, N. E. Perrier of Sherbrooke, vice-moderator; E. M. Jenkins of Montreal, re-elected moderator, and Miss Barbara-Lynne Wilding of Montreal, secretary. Support resolution calling for Bill 60 Protestant safeguards

The Eastern Association of Baptist Churches, in convention Saturday at Sherbrooke's First Baptist Church, decided to support a resolution passed by Presbyterian organizations in the province calling for greater safeguards for Protestants in the Quebec government's education bill.

The resolution called only in general terms for safeguards but Emrys M. Jenkins, re-elected moderator of the 21-church, 3,000-member Baptist grouping, said a specific demand would be a larger number of Protestant representatives on the superior council of education than the four out of 24 proposed by Bill 60.

Strictly, said Mr. Jenkins, "Baptists do not favor any religious connotation in state education."

They favored Bill 60 in its general purpose of creating a ministry of education, he said, because this was a step towards the totally secular system Baptist policy calls for. "We believe in complete separation of church and state," Mr. Jenkins said.

Short of that, however, Baptists would be willing to join with such groups as the Mouvement Laïque de Langue Francaise, a Montreal group of mixed religious beliefs which is demanding a "neutral sector" in Quebec education, which would be neither Catholic nor Protestant.

"And if you must retain a religious system," said Mr. Jenkins, "why not have some representation for Jews and Greek Orthodox?"

Baptists felt Protestants should, as long as the Quebec education system was based on religion, have representation on the Superior Council in keeping with their "ability" in the field of education, and not be restricted to representation by their fraction of the province's population.

"We Protestants feel we have done better in education than the Catholic church has," said the moderator.

French-speaking Baptist churches are not members of the Eastern Association—they are in another grouping—but they have called for French education within the Protestant system, again in lieu of completely secular education.

The Eastern Association of Baptist Churches, Saturday re-affirmed its opposition to legalized lotteries in Canada.

In a resolution passed during its annual convention at the Sherbrooke Baptist Church, the association said lotteries "would be a retrograde step and would accelerate the evils that are an inevitable part of gambling."

The Association groups 21 Baptist churches in Quebec with a combined membership of about 3,000.

A spokesman for the Association said Baptists draw no distinction between a state-run lottery with revenues going to government uses, and simple legalization of private gambling.

The Lesage government would like the Criminal Code changed to allow a state lottery in Quebec.

"The government speaks of all the money it makes from the sale of liquor," explained the Rev. G. De Haas of Quebec, "but without that sale, would it have nearly so many welfare cases to support? Our church took a survey at the racetracks of Camden, N.J., and found that the same was true there—when there was betting the number of welfare cases went up."

The church could perhaps raise funds through such forms of gambling as bingo, Mr. De Haas said, but refrained on moral grounds. "I think I can say that no Baptist church has made a penny on bingo," he said.

Sunday voting was rejected by the church on both practical and spiritual grounds, he said. "They say more people vote when the election is held on Sunday, but this is a fallacy," said Mr. De Haas. "If people want to vote, they will, if not they won't do it even on Sunday."

Sunday was the "Lord's day," Mr. De Haas said, and elections involved both labor for certain workers and journalists, and other practices not fit for such a day.

Another delegate insisted that Baptists were not speaking against participation in politics. "Politics are with us all year round she said.

Other resolutions at the convention called for a Protestant exhibit at the Montreal world's fair in 1967, referred back to committee along with a suggestion that it be the Moody Institute of Chicago's "Sermon from Science," already shown at the Seattle fair, and supported the Billy Graham crusade which is scheduled to arrive in Montreal shortly.

Dr. Graham's activities have been frowned on by some denominations, delegates said, but

Blaze destroys chalet

WINDSOR — (Staff) — A fire early Sunday afternoon completely destroyed a recently constructed chalet belonging to Sherbrooke resident Paul Beaulieu, with damage amounting to about $4,000.

Windsor fire department officials reported this morning that they were called to the scene of the fire at the side of Lake Watoupeka, at 11:35 a.m. Sunday and had the flames out two hours later.

At one point, the wind-blown flames threatened the neighboring house of Roger Laroche of Windsor, but the nine firemen confined the fire to the Beaulieu chalet.

Guarantees for the future needed

Quebec Youth Minister Gerin-Lajoie had reassuring words for Protestant school authorities in this province when he spoke at a meeting at Bishop's University last week.

He stressed that it was not the intention of the bill to impair the minority rights of the Protestant education system in the province. He said minority dissenting reports from Protestant members of the proposed Superior Council of Education, or from any individual, would not only be accepted, they would result almost automatically, since certified copies of proceedings at every session must be filed with the Minister of Education.

He said, too, that under the terms of the bill, a number of special committees would be set up to advise the minister of specific problems. He indicated these might include special groups to advise on strictly Protestant and strictly Catholic problems.

Mr. Gerin-Lajoie said there was absolutely no intention of unifying the two systems, although he expressed the hope that there would be greater coordination between the two "to the mutual advantage of both."

In short, Mr. Gerin-Lajoie sought to lay to rest any fears for the future of Protestant education in this province once Bill 60 is passed.

It would probably be fair to say that so far as the present political administration is concerned, he was largely successful in this.

But it would also be fair to say that

Speeders should be told that the average person has 24 ribs, none of which can safely be spared.

Haydn S. Pearson's COUNTRY FLAVOR

Kerosene lamps lit up farm life

Do you remember when a line of kerosene lamps sat on an oilcloth-covered shelf above the kitchen sink? Remember when two or three lanterns hung from nails in the back kitchen, and a big brass-bowled lamp on an up and down chain hung above the kitchen eating table?

Lighting up time on the farm was a definite period of day. Dusk began creeping down eastern slopes by mid-afternoon, and as soon as the sun disappeared behind the mountain crest, dark shadows gathered in the valleys. As a man came in from shocking corn in the gray-blue end of day, he saw the light in the kitchen window and the shaft of gold that slanted into the yard.

Part of a nation's history could be written in terms of lamps and lanterns. Men coming home from town saw the light of the farmhouse and knew they were near-the concern of Protestant educational authorities in recent months has not been with the intentions of the present administration, but with the potential intentions of future administrations. As Bill 60 now stands, it would be possible for some future government — should it be so inclined — to substantially damage the existing structure of the Protestant education system.

What Protestant educational authorities have been seeking are more specific, written guarantees in the bill that would make preservation of the Protestant system a matter of law, not of intention or of good will.

A brief presented to Mr. Gerin-Lajoie at the Bishop's meeting by Keith Dowd, supervisor of schools for the Richmond-Drummond-Arthabaska central school system, suggested a number of guarantees, largely in the sphere of representation on various bodies; representation which is nowhere spelled out in the present bill.

Other spokesmen for the Protestant education system have also made formal presentations to the government along similar lines.

The most serious consideration should be given to these proposals by the Lesage government. They represent not a criticism of Mr. Gerin-Lajoie's policy, but a deep and informed concern for Protestant education in Quebec after Mr. Gerin-Lajoie, Mr. Lesage and all members of the present government have gone.

Cosa Nostra's arm in Canada is well organized, efficient

By FRASER KELLY

TORONTO — (TNS) — The addict clenched one end of his handkerchief in his teeth and held the other end in his right hand. Then he twisted it around his left arm just above the elbow, hard—so hard the veins stood out like blue cord.

Into a vein he eased the hypodermic needle he'd bought shortly before—no questions asked—in a midtown drug-store.

He released the pressure on an eyedropper he had connected to the needle with a paper washer. Blood welled into the dropper and mixed with the heroin he had dissolved in a spoon over a match flame.

He shot the works into the vein.

He had bought the "stuff" in the washroom of a restaurant (four caps $60).

The heroin, which can be traced back through France and Italy, was peddled to Al by one of three or four pushers in Toronto working for a multi-thousand-dollar dope ring supplying this area.

It is one of three rings active in recent months in Toronto.

And they are the kind of international, highly-organized operations that were flourishing when the Royal Commission on Crime was sitting, last year.

FATHER AND SON
At least one of them was linked with the high-grading racket which has smuggled thousands of dollars in gold out of Northern Ontario.

One of the three narcotics rings operating locally is known to the addicts as The Frenchmen.

Its main source of supply was a Paris nightclub owner. Two Montreal men had "the connection" (the main Canadian link) with him.

They forwarded the heroin to a swarthy Toronto thug who took most of his calls in a restaurant.

He supplied pushers who, since last spring, sold hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of narcotics here.

Police seized $3,000,000 worth of heroin when they arrested key members of the gang in August.

A few days before, police arrested a separate group of men and women who, they charge, handled about $500,000 worth of drugs since last March.

The key man in this ring who has connections in Italy, lived in a small city about 50 miles from Toronto.

Police experts and addicts say without hesitation that this man's father, about 76, was a Mafia don (a leader in the Sicilian crime organization). Father and son are reputed to have controlled much of the crime in Southern Ontario.

When a special squad member spent four days in Timmins, Ont., last winter, a fake friendship with the son provided an "in" with the high-graders. The advice to drop this name came from criminal sources, but police also confirm he is a power in the high-grading racket.

There is evidence that the drug ring he led was connected with a Buffalo Mafia boss known as the Undertaker. According to the FBI, the Undertaker is one of the 12 members of the Cosa Nostra or crime syndicate's grand council. Ontario operations were by his permission, and he got 10 per cent of all profits.

Members of his ring have often held important "meets" in small Ontario communities including Guelph, Brampton, Thorold and Haliburton.

With two gangs crippled by recent police action, a third is moving in. It is also run from Montreal. It is believed to have been getting its narcotics from the Parisian who supplied The Frenchmen.

This man is supplied through Italy from Turkey and Lebanon where huge heroin shipments are waiting for ready market here.

Although the Royal Commission on Crime uncovered no proof of Mafia activity in Ontario, it is now known that four Toronto men were members of the killer syndicate being described by convicted murderer Joseph Valachi to a U.S. Senate subcommittee probe.

John (The Enforcer) Papalia, who first gained prominence here for his part in the Town Tavern, beating gambler of Max Buestein, is serving 10 years for narcotics.

Police now wonder about a former narcotics dealer now operating a legitimate business in Hamilton. He lived with an old man who, some police believe was another Mafia don.

Science vindicates the coffee break

By RON LAWRENCE

The coffee break, a touchy subject in labor-management relations, has recently emerged as a hero fighting on the side of both employer and employee.

Not too long ago, the idea of workers spending their employer's time dawdling over coffee would send competent plant managers into paroxysms of demonic rage.

It was unthinkable that workers should waste 10 minutes in the morning and another 10 in the afternoon swilling coffee and thinking up new plots against management.

But over the years, the coffee (or tea) break habit grew to a point where management came to look upon it as a necessary evil.

Research on the subject has been going on all over the world, but a survey conducted in Canada has shown how the coffee pot can save lives, cut down on manpower losses and increase production.

The survey was conducted by the Ontario Department of Agriculture. It did not aim to study the coffee break alone, but was looking for the causes behind an increasing number of farm accidents.

ACCIDENT PRONE
During the course of its study the department discovered that farmers are accident prone at 10 in the morning and three in the afternoon.

Subsequent research disclosed that because most farmers are their own laborers, they just didn't take time off for a break.

As a result, they suffered from mid-morning and mid-afternoon fatigue.

Afternoon accidents were found to be particularly prevalent between three and four o'clock.

HAZARDOUS

"This would suggest," said an investigator, "that operating a tractor with the accompanying jostling and bouncing over rough ground, coupled with the steady hum of the engine, under hot and dusty conditions tend to produce a lowering of the mental and physical ability to react to, or even recognize, hazardous conditions."

Only in Winnipeg

Canadian theatre education is rare

TORONTO (CP)—The director of the Canadian Players says that only one Canadian city—Winnipeg—is providing young acting prospects with a fully rounded theatrical education.

Desmond Scott, 36-year-old actor, writer and director who left England for Canada in 1957

"because everything sounded so much more exciting over here," he shared the duties of resident director at the Manitoba Theatre Centre with John Hirsch for three years.

Even at the National Theatre School in Montreal, where he has been an instructor the last two years, he found shortcomings.

"Though the students there work much harder than they do in England, they're behind. The reason is there's so little real theatre for them to see here."

"At the National Theatre School we actually get people, very talented people, who've never seen a play in their lives."

Only in Winnipeg does he feel the right things are being done to rectify the situation.

"That's not just because the Manitoba Theatre Centre's standards are as high as, or higher than, anywhere else. But the MTC is also doing an active job of educating young people in the theatre, by going on tours and by taking production right into the high schools. They've also got a very good theatre school."

Scott says he left the Manitoba group last year because "I felt it was time for me to move on" but hopes "to continue directing productions at the MTC for years to come."

He's currently immersed in the problems of rounding the Canadian Players' new productions into shape—and one problem is a shortage of qualified Canadian talent.

The Canadian Players, founded in 1954 by Douglas Campbell partly to provide an outlet for the talents of Stratford Shakespearean Festival actors during the winter, goes on tour in mid-October with King Henry IV, Part I and Ibsen's An Enemy of the People.

But because the Stratford season now runs so long, the Canadian Players must look elsewhere for featured performers and this year has filled most of the major roles with Americans.

He says it was a "dismaying experience" trying to find good actors among those at liberty.

Granby police seek three men

GRANBY — (Special) — Granby police are searching for three men who broke into the home of a local doctor Thursday and tied up his wife, two daughters and a maid.

The masked men gained entrance to the home of Dr. Pierre Lacoq on Denison Avenue about 12:45 a.m. through the garage entrance.

Dr. Lacoq was attending patients at the St. Joseph Hospital and Mrs. Lacoq with their two daughters and the maid were alone when the burglars entered the home.

They first demanded money and then asked for nylon stockings which they used to tie up the victims while they searched the house for money.

About an hour later Mrs. Lacoq's smallest daughter freed herself and untied her mother who went to the neighbors and called the police. The masked men had cut the Lacoq's telephone wires.

Police said they believe the men are the same ones who forced their way into Judge Patrick Delaney's home a few years ago and bound him in the cellar of his home, as well as the same men that robbed the Granby-Abbotsford Golf Club in the spring and bound the night watchman.

Eminent botanist shows slides to W.A. in Waterloo

WATERLOO — With slides shown by Dr. J. L. S. Simpson, eminent botanist, at the evening meeting of St. Luke's Woman's Auxiliary, the audience was taken for a delightful trip to California, with little side trips to the desert and surrounding territory, featuring plant life there. Even weeds and bush on the desert provided interesting material, and the various plants with their luxuriant bloom were beautiful.

Dr. Simpson gave an informative commentary with her slides, which included fine shots of her trip to the coast, the interior and cities.

Following a coffee break, Dr. Simpson showed local scenes taken in the Eastern Township, particularly around Waterloo, the glowing colors of the autumn foliage being second to none.

Cowansville art exhibition

Enjoyable and worth a visit

COWANSVILLE — An exhibition of works by Montreal painter J. D. Lawley, opened Saturday afternoon at the Cowansville art centre.

Lawley, a native of Cape Breton, is fairly well known in certain circles for his paintings of the horses on Sable Island.

A rather large number of these are included in this present collection, which will remain on exhibition at the centre until October 18.

The artist combines two professions, that of teacher and that of the painter.

His approach to the subject matter of his paintings is quite simple, clear and easy to understand.

A trifle conservative, the canvases do, nevertheless, trap the movement of the horse, making a sensible sacrifice of detail to make this effect even more pronounced.

He occasionally strays from Sable Island to Montreal and Quebec City, quite aptly capturing the blue haze over the metropolis and the quaint charm of our provincial capital.

Even here the horse creeps in, whether hitched to a caleche or a sleigh, in spring or in winter. In these paintings the colorful dress of the caleche drivers of Quebec, the racoon coats and so on provide a good deal of life and interest to his works.

Occasionally the horse gets left out of the picture altogether and the viewer moves with Lawley into little harbors which abound in brightly painted ships, which must be inspired by his native Nova Scotia.

Seen as a whole the exhibition is a bit conservative, a bit out of balance because of the numerous horses and consequent lack of works showing the painter's other talents, but still enjoyable and worth a visit.

Junior Auxiliary conference

Former members invited to become leaders

A leaders conference of the Junior Auxiliary of the Anglican Church of Canada was held under the chairmanship of Mrs. W. Brosecomb. Branches represented included, Danville, Sawyerville, Lennoxville, Drummondville, Thetford Mines, St. Peter's Church, and Church of the Advent, Sherbrooke.

The conference followed the service of Holy Communion in St. Philip's Church, Sawyerville, at which Rev. M. Thomas, the rector and celebrant spoke briefly on the text "Feed My Lambs," pointing out both the responsibility and the joy of this work among the children of the Church.

The morning session was devoted to preparation of the Festival syllabus, at which time it was announced that the 1964 Festival would take place in Danville on May 2 and in Three Rivers on May 9.

Lunch was served at the home of Mrs. George Halliday, where Mrs. L. H. Hunt and Mrs. G. W. Elliott represented the hostess organizations, namely, St. Philip's Guild and the afternoon branch of the W.A.

Miss Catherine Wark on behalf of all present, thanked these ladies for the delectable meal, served in charming surroundings.

Mrs. Hunt, in responding, expressed the hope that the conference might prove rewarding to those who attended.

The afternoon session saw the conclusion of the Festival discussion. As India is the country to be studied this year, it was decided that the Indian Jalsa would make an attractive theme for the Festival.

A panel composed of Mrs. S. A. Meade, Mrs. T. J. Matthews and Miss Catherine Wark, answered questions on J.A. matters, and much interesting information was exchanged.

Leaders were hopeful that girls who enjoyed and profited by their time in J.A. would later return as leaders. At the conclusion of the meeting tea was served by the hostess groups.

Marriages

Butler - Carswell

WESTMOUNT—On September 14, 1963 at Oshawa, Ont., a very pretty wedding was solemnized in the Westmount United Church, when Patricia Lynn, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ewart Carswell was united in marriage to Gary Wendall Butler, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Butler, formerly of Ayer's Cliff, Rev. N. T. Holmes, of Harmony United Church officiated at a double-ring ceremony. Mrs. William Taylor of Port Perry played the wedding music, and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. John Stone, of Oshawa who sang "O Perfect Love" and "Because", before the ceremony, and during the signing of the register. A contrast of white and gold chrysanthemums and ferns were used in decorating the church, with the guest pews being marked with white satin bows.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was in a gown of pure silk embroidered organza, plain round neckline with a bouffant skirt and long sleeves. Her shoulder length veil was of nylon tulle and was held in place by a crystal crown. She carried a white Bible, adorned with sunflower ribbons and white satin streamers.

Miss Sheri Wilson, maid of honor; Miss Wanda Butler, sister of the groom, and Miss Linda Rundle, bridesmaids; were gownned alike in dresses of sunflower, having circular necklines and short sleeves, with bell-shaped skirts and matching headresses and veils. Each carried a cascade of white pompons tinted in the sunflower shade.

Mr. Robert Wright was best man, and the ushers were Messrs. Dale Butler, brother of the groom and Wayne Bent, cousin of the bride.

Mrs. Carswell, mother of the bride, wore a teal blue dress with silk embroidered ribbon bodice with dropped beading, a white feather hat and a corsage of petite white carnations.

Mrs. Butler, mother of the groom, was gownned in light blue lace over taffeta, with matching hat, navy blue accessories and wore a petite pink carnation corsage.

The reception was held at the Grandview Golf Club and was attended by more than 100 guests.

The bride's table was centered with a three-tier wedding cake, topped with white wedding bells, and decorated with small white doves and pink roses. Silver candle sticks on each side completed the decor.

Mr. and Mrs. Butler left on a wedding trip to points in Ontario, U.S.A. and Quebec, the bride travelling in a navy blue suit, red feathered hat and a corsage of white carnations.

Guests attending were from Quebec, Belleville, Madoc, Niagara Falls, Whitby, Brougham, Toronto and Florida. Prior to the wedding the mother of the bride entertained at a Trousseau Tea in honor of her daughter. Several "Showers" were held and a "Night of Cards" was held for Gary by his friends. On September 13, a rehearsal party was held at the home of the groom's parents where a buffet lunch was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Butler on their return from their honeymoon have taken up residence at 70 LaSalle Ave., Oshawa, Ont.

SANGSTER MEMORIAL U.C.W.

The regular meeting of Sangster Memorial U.C.W. was held recently in the church hall Mrs. R. Larrabee presiding. In the absence of the secretary minutes of the previous meeting were read by the treasurer, Mrs. J. Hosking; who also gave the financial report.

Mrs. M. MacCoubrey turned over further receipts from the recent wedding reception to the treasurer, also a cheque for the Gas Day project which was most gratifying.

It was unanimously agreed the Scout Mothers' Auxiliary have use of kitchen facilities.

Date set for the Tupperware sale was Wednesday, October 16 at 2:00 p.m. in the church hall. All members and ladies of the church are invited and asked to bring friends.

As there were conflicting dates with that chosen for the Christmas Tea and Sale the date was changed to December 7.

Members were reminded of the annual fall casserole supper, October 17.

Further contact has been made with Mrs. L. Blanchette and "Singing Girls" regarding a fall concert and date will be set shortly.

Hostesses for the lunch hour were Mrs. S. MacLean and Mrs. E. Morel.

25th wedding anniversary observed by local couple

A 25th wedding anniversary party was held recently at the Lennoxville Rifle Club in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hurley.

Upon arrival at the hall, the couple were led to the front, where they were presented with a corsage and boutonniere by their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Morgan.

While the orchestra played the wedding march, about 90 guests congratulated the bride and groom of 25 years.

The bridal pair then led the first dance, after which dancing was enjoyed by all. Mr. Fred Hurley and Miss Mary Hurley, son and daughter, presented the couple with a chest of silver, for which they expressed their gratitude to all present.

Refreshments were served in the lower hall, under the supervision of Mrs. Raymond Bailey, the head table being centred with a three tier wedding cake, made by Miss Myrtle Hurley and decorated by Mrs. Albert Bradley.

Mr. Ernest Hurley, being out of town, was unable to attend. Other out of town guests were from Barre, Vt., Albany, N.Y., Thetford Mines, Kingston, Ont., and Richmond.

Today's recipe

Here's a streamlined version of a coffee ring that is somewhat quicker to prepare than the usual yeast-raised product.

Lightly spiced and flavored with tangy overtones of orange, it cuts down on preparation time by including a commercial biscuit mix in the ingredients.

From start to finish this Glazed Orange Spice Ring can be made in about two and a half hours—and this includes rising, baking and cooling time.

The finished product is a kind of upside-down bubble "loaf", topped with a delicious sticky glaze of orange caramel sauce. It can be served plain, but is best spread with butter or margarine. Cool before slicing.

GLAZED ORANGE SPICE RING

(1, 9-inch coffee ring)
1 cup lukewarm water, 2 teaspoons granulated sugar, 2 envelopes fast-rising active dry yeast, 1/2 cup orange juice, 1/4 cup granulated sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 1/2 teaspoons nutmeg, 1 teaspoon mace, 5 cups variety baking mix, 1/2 cup butter or margarine, melted, 4 teaspoons orange rind, 1/3 cup brown sugar.

Measure lukewarm water into a large mixing bowl; stir in the 2 teaspoons granulated sugar. Sprinkle with yeast. Let stand 10 minutes; then stir well.

Meantime, combine biscuit mix with the 1/4 cup granulated sugar, salt, nutmeg and mace. Stir with a fork to mix. Stir orange juice into dissolved yeast, then stir in dry mixture until well blended. Dust baking board or canvas generously with a little additional baking mix which has been sifted or forced through a fine sieve. Turn out dough and knead about 20 times; form into a smooth ball. Cover and let rest 10 minutes.

Meanwhile, generously grease a 9-inch tube pan. Combine melted butter or margarine with orange rind. Pour 1/4 cup of this mixture in bottom of prepared pan. Sprinkle with 3 tablespoons of the brown sugar.

Roll out dough into a 12-inch square. With a sharp knife, cut into 6, 2-inch wide strips in one direction and 4, 3-inch strips crosswise, making 24 pieces. Shape 2 by 3-inch piece of dough into a smooth ball. Place a layer of 6 balls in the bottom of the tube pan, then use 6 more balls to cover the spaces in the first layer. Brush half the remaining butter or margarine mixture, about 2 tablespoons, over this layer of dough rounds, then sprinkle with the remaining brown sugar. Make another layer using the remaining 12 balls; brush with remaining butter or margarine mixture. Cover. Let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk—about 40 minutes. Bake in preheated moderate oven (350 deg. F.) for 35 to 40 minutes. Loosen coffee ring in pan by running a knife around all edges of the pan. Cool in pan 25 to 30 minutes before removing pan and inverting ring onto a rack to cool.

Questions readers ask

Q—I am very worried about my daughter. She won't eat decent meals because she wants to stay thin. I scold her, but she won't listen. What should I do?

A—"Whatever you do, don't scold or preach good nutrition," warns Dr. Evelyn Spindler, nutritionist, U.S. Department of Agriculture Extension Service, active in 4-H Club nutrition counselling. She adds, "Most teen-age girls are afraid they are or might be fat. That's one reason why a good many of them are not eating adequately."

She cites three other reasons why teen-age girls are poorly nourished: 1. They skip breakfast. 2. They eat poor snacks (one-fourth of a day's calories may come from snacks). 3. They drink no milk — or not enough. The problem, as Dr. Spindler sees it, is to erase the fear of being "overweight" by showing how they can have normal weight and still eat good, nutritious meals.

Mr. and Mrs. Roberts will reside in Montreal and West Shefford.

Los Angeles Dodgers sweep World Series

Home Run Hitters

Frank Howard Mickey Mantle

Frank Howard drives ball into second deck but Mickey Mantle ties it with his homer in seventh

LOS ANGELES (AP)—If only it had been a dark day and the crowd in the left field stands had kept their jackets on.

But it was bright and warm and there was nothing but white shirts in the line of vision between New York Yankees' Joe Pepitone at first base and the Clete Boyer playing third.

Jim Gilliam, the Dodgers third baseman, smashed a hard one at Boyer in the seventh. Clete jumped high to make a fine stop and threw a bullet across the infield to Pepitone.

The young Yankee first baseman lost sight of the ball in the glare of sun on white. The next thing he knew it was coming off his wrist, forearm and chest and disappearing to the stands down the right field line. By the time it could be recovered, Gilliam was on third from where he scored easily on Willie Davis' sacrifice fly to centre.

40 SWEET

That gave the ball game to the Los Angeles Dodgers 2-1, and the World Series 4-0.

"All I could see was shirts," said Pepitone sadly. "If it had only hit the ground first I might have caught it."

Although the Series splits have not been announced yet, the winning players' shares could go as high as $13,000 as against about $8,500 or $9,000 for the losers . . . both records.

But if the Yankees felt Pepitone was responsible for the blow to their pocketbooks they certainly hid the fact. Being realistic they knew that even if they had won Sunday they would have needed three more in a row against pitching that proved invincible.

It was ironic that a cheap run could decide both the game

Dressing Room Comments

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Something, maybe the Hollywood influence, induced the Los Angeles Dodgers to come up with a new ending this season.

A year ago, after they blew the pennant to the San Francisco Giants, the scene in the Dodger dressing room was one of despair. The doors were locked for an hour. When newsmen finally got in, they found the floor cluttered with half-empty bottles and half-loaded athletes.

Cameramen were summoned Sunday to re-shoot the last scene. They finally got their happy ending.

The team that had pulled one of the most astonishing fainting spells in baseball history in 1962 had pulled one of the neatest tricks of the generation a year later by taking the World Series from the Yankees in four straight.

In 1962, they were pouring bourbon for each other. In 1963, they were pouring champagne on each other.

HOUK VISITS

The celebration barely had begun when Yankee manager Ralph Houk walked in to congratulate Dodger manager Walter Alston.

"You had it coming to you," Houk said graciously.

"We just caught you in a slump," said Alston.

The rest of the dressing room dialogue was predictably exuberant. Until Frank Howard, the Bunyan-esque outfielder, got into the act.

Sandy Koufax stops Yanks, gives up homer to Mickey Mantle as Dodgers humiliate Yanks in four straight

By JOE REICHLER

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Los Angeles Dodgers' incredible four-game World Series sweep over the New York Yankees could be the start of a new dynasty and the end of an old one.

The world champion Dodgers, loaded with youth, speed, confidence, pep and pitching, could rule the National League for years to come.

The ability to draw upwards of two million annually in this ever-growing area and their spacious new stadium is bound to pour additional millions of dollars into already bulging treasury and enable the front office to pay handsome bonuses to promising youngsters.

The humiliating four-game downfall not only is a loss to the Yankees' pride and prestige but is bound to encourage the rest of the American League clubs which have acted as puppets on Yankee strings for many years.

Sandy Koufax' brilliant work Sunday in the 2-1 Dodger victory proved again what the Dodgers had shown during the entire Series—that strong pitching can beat good hitting, even such power-hitting teams as the Yankees.

The winning run was unearned. It came in the bottom of the seventh after the Yankees had evened the score on Mantle's 15th Series home run, which tied Babe Ruth's record for most homers in Series play.

Jim Gilliam opened the Dodgers' seventh with a high bouncer to third. Clete Boyer made a leaping stop and good throw to first but Joe Pepitone tied the ball through him. By the time the first baseman had retrieved the bounding ball, Gilliam was on third. He scored on Willie Davis' sacrifice fly to Mantle in deep right centre.

"I lost the ball in the sun and in the white shirts of the grandstands," Pepitone said in disgust. "It hit my wrist, then my forearm, then my chest. All I could see was shirts."

Pep's misplay was the only Yankee error of the Series.

"It was not bad defensive play that cost us the Series," said Houk. "It was good pitching by the Dodgers. No team can win without scoring runs."

It marked the first time a National League team had been able to sweep the Yankees in four straight. The New York Giants of 1922 beat the Yankees in four but there was a 3-2 tie during the Series.

Koufax, the Series hero with two victories, fanned eight Sunday to boost his two-game total 23, a record for a Series of seven games or less. Bill Dineen of the 1903 Boston Red Sox fanned 28 Pittsburgh Pirates but that was in an eight-game series.

It was only the second time the Dodgers had beaten the Yankees in eight post season classics. The only other win came in 1955 when the Dodgers were in Brooklyn.

Dressing Room Comments

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Joe Pepitone took it like a man.

The slender young first baseman of New York Yankees, whose error in the seventh paved the way for the winning run in the deciding game of the World Series, sat slumped in his cubicle.

"I lost it in the sun and in the white shirts of the grandstands," he said in a low voice. "It hit my wrist, then my forearm, then my chest. All I could see was shirts. If it had only hit the ground first I might have caught it."

He was referring to the fast throw Clete Boyer made after a fine stop on Jim Gilliam's hard grounder. The throw was in time to beat Gilliam but instead it bounded to the fence and by the time it was retrieved Gilliam was on third. He scored on Willie Davis' fly to centre, and that gave the game to Los Angeles Dodgers, 2-1, and with it the series.

"It was one of the most expensive errors in series play," "You couldn't fault a player for it," said the Yankee manager, Ralph Houk.

FEELS BAD FOR PEPPY

"I feel bad for Peppy. The ball was right there for him. It wasn't bad defensive play that cost us the series. It was a case of a ball being lost. It was magnified by the fact it was in the series."

Houk told his team after the defeat—the only time the Yankees have been beaten four straight in a series—that they had nothing of which to be ashamed.

"We played a very good series, and we'll win a lot more series in the future," he said to the team.

Houk paid tribute to the Dodger pitchers—Sandy Koufax, Johnny Podres and Don Drysdale—but quickly came up with a compliment to his own pitcher. Whitey Ford, who gave up only two hits in losing Sunday's game.

Houk took the defeat philosophically. It was his first series loss, after two victories in three years as Yankee manager.

"Somebody has gotta lose, somebody has gotta win," he said glumly.

"I don't think the fact we clinched the pennant early had anything to do with it. We were ready when the series opened."

"I'd be pleased to have the Dodgers in our league. I'd like to play 'em all year. They have got a good ball club and we have too."

The Yankee dressing room, as might be expected, was silent. The players sat on benches half-dressed, and spoke in low voices in answer to questions. There was no kicking of furniture or temper tantrums. The ex-champs took it like gentlemen.

No substitute for experience says Casey Stengel, referring to error by youthful Joe Pepitone on throw

LOS ANGELES (AP)—and drove in three runs.

In the Dodgers' dressing room, Skowron's teammates happily sang a parody on Walt Disney's Meowtelers song—but the Dodger version, in tribute to one of the happier trades of the year, was called "Mickey Mouse."

Over in the solemn Yankee dressing room, no one sang—or even smiled.

PEPITONE DEJECTED

And Pepitone, curly-haired, handsome and a powerfully-built 185-pounder, grabbed a towel, uttered another curse and then walked to the showers.

His hand went up to his eye and he brushed away a tear. Then he looked sheepishly at his teammates, hoping they didn't see it.

His teammates missed it because most of them were crying inside. It's easy to cry when you're out $4,000 or so—the difference between winning and losing the World Series. And the Yankees don't lose often.

FIGHT HOODLUMS

ST. TROPEZ, France (Reuters)—Between 4,000 and 5,000 French gendarmes and riot police formed themselves into beach patrols here and at other popular seaside resorts this summer to combat the growing menace of rowdy teen-age gangs. Reports from returning holiday-makers indicate some improvement.

DRESSING ROOM QUIET

As Pepitone tossed off his socks Sunday in the Yankee dressing room—a place that resembled a mausoleum in many ways, he added:

"Clete's throw was good. I lost it in the crowd. I just saw a white spot. It hit my wrist, then forearm and finally my chest—every place but my glove."

Clete Boyer, going three feet in the air like a graceful bird, made a sensational stop of Jim Gilliam's hard smash down the third baseline in the seventh with the score tied 1-1.

Boyer, with one of the surest arms in baseball made a perfect throw. But it sailed past Pepitone and rolled toward the stands. By the time Pepitone retrieved the ball, Gilliam was on third base on what should have been an out.

THROW TO LATE

Then Willie Davis drove a long fly to Mickey Mantle in center. The Mick threw a strike to home plate but Gilliam could have crawled the last 20 feet and still have scored.

It was the game and Series for the Dodgers.

Skowron, who batted only 203 during the regular season, hit .385 for the Series—even with a hitless day in three times up in the final game.

He had five hits in 13 times at bat, including one homer,

REMEMBER WHEN

The National Hockey League All-Stars defeated the Stanley Cup champion Black Hawks 3-1 before a record Chicago crowd of 14,762 two years ago tonight. All-Star goal-getters were Alex Delvecchio of Detroit, Don McKenney of Boston and the veteran Gordie Howe of Detroit. Eric Nesterenko saved Chicago from a shutout.

450-FOOT SLAM

In the fifth, Frank Howard of the Dodgers belted one of Whitey Ford's pitches into the second deck in left field, an estimated 450 feet and the first time a fair ball had ever been hit there in two-year-old Dodger Stadium.

Then in the top of the seventh Mickey Mantle evened it up by connecting with a fast ball thrown by Sandy Koufax, the ball went into the left field seats well over the 380-foot sign.

Ford and Koufax pitched superbly. Ford, in fact, yielded only two hits as against six off Koufax, but the big error at first turned the tide.

It looked briefly as if the Yankees might strike in the ninth. Bobby Richardson, who had a cheap double in the fourth when a pop fly fell untouched in a group made up of Dick Tracewski, Gilliam, and Willie Davis, led off with a single to center.

Then Koufax got Tom Tresh and Mantle with called third strikes—his seventh and eighth of the game. But Ellie Howard grounded sharply into the hole between short and third and both he and Richardson were safe when Tracewski failed to hang on to Maury Wills thrown for the force out at second.

But the game ended with Hector Lopez meekly grounding out to shortstop.

With this the Dodgers went wild and the Yankees trudged gumly off the field, smarting under the knowledge that this was the first time they had ever lost the Series in four straight in 28 appearances.

CHAMPAGNE SHAMPOO

In a corridor outside the dressing room, Pete Richert was pouring champagne over the head of Ron Fairly.

"I'm still using that greasy kid stuff," Fairly said.

Other clubhouse quotes:

Don Drysdale—"What a difference a year makes."

Johnny Podres—"I don't even know how I feel yet. It's still a shock."

Bill Skowron—"After the season I had, this Series was the biggest thrill of my career."

Alston—"This club was pretty much like the one we had when we won in 1959. We had a lot of spirit and momentum at the end. This club was best in key spots. We won when we had to win."

"The kind of pitching the Dodgers had would beat the best team that ever played," said Yankee general manager Roy Hamey.

"We just never had a chance to hit - and - run," said Bobby Richardson. "We never had anybody on base."

Houk said Whitey Ford, who allowed only two hits in seven innings, "pitched a great game."

"I'd be pleased to have the Dodgers in our league. I'd like to play 'em all year. They have a good ball club and we have too."

BEAT GREAT TEAM

"This was the most gratifying victory of all. We beat a great team, one which has been called by some of the greatest Yankee team of them all."

The Dodgers didn't exactly knock down any fences there. They had only 25 hits, two on Sunday, but as Alston said:

"We got our hits when they counted the most. That's the way we've played all year. We never hit much but we won the key games, and got the key hit when we needed it."

Ford, who lost the first and fourth games, pitched brilliantly Sunday. He permitted only two

Sandy Koufax, who wins two in Series, is rated greatest pitcher in baseball, host of Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A couple of weeks ago, while the Dodgers were away winning the National League pennant, there was a political rally in the big baseball park here for Barry Goldwater.

As the Arizona senator was speaking, a spectator repeatedly shouted:

"Take him out and put in Koufax."

Anyway, if there are any political offices open here in the land of the chickenfurter and bumper-to-bumper living, they would go today to Sandy Koufax, the Los Angeles Dodger left-hander, without the formality of a ballot.

Koufax won half the games in the astounding four-game sweep of the Yankees, the opener Wednesday and the closer Sunday to cap a glorious season.

PODRES PRAISES KOUFAX

"He's the greatest pitcher in baseball," said Johnny Podres, the left-hander who won the second game. "He's the greatest I've ever seen."

And the Yankees, who said before the Series started that Koufax was great but, after all, "he's only human," weren't so sure, now.

The only thing that has stopped the Dodger ace since he emerged from the ranks of the flame throwers and went to the head of the pitching class two years ago has been a mysterious numbness of the index finger of his pitching hand last season.

He missed the last half of the season, and the Dodgers missed the pennant. For a time doctors feared they would have to amputate the finger, but new drugs restored the circulation and saved his career.

GETS HERO ROLE

He went on to a 25-6 season, a 1.88 ERA and a flock of strikeouts records, capped by the hero role in the Series.

Mel Allen lost his voice in closing innings

LOS ANGELES (AP)—It was just a bad day for the New York Yankees. They even lost their voice.

Veteran sportscaster Mel Allen, "The Voice of the Yankees," lost his voice during the tension-packed final innings of Sunday's fourth World Series game.

"Mel just lost his voice and we figured he'd better rest his throat for perhaps an inning," said Vin Scully, "Voice of the Dodgers," who shared television duties for the Series with Allen.

"It was just a laryngitis attack," said Tom Gallery, Sports Director for NBC.

Bishop's edge Carleton 3-2 in soccer tilt

A strong second half rally gave the Bishop's Soccer Satans their second win in three starts last Saturday, as they defeated the vastly improved Carleton Ravens, 3-2 at Bishop's.

Carleton, a league weakness last season, spotted a goal by Bishop's forward, Vair Frenkel, in the first half. However, the Ravens then popped in two quick goals to take a half time lead of 2-1.

The Satans paced in the second half by team captain Bruce Bristowe, who scored twice in the period, once on an indirect kick and once on a penalty shot went ahead 3-2.

Both teams complained about the manner in which the officials handled the game, which was a free swinging rough affair.

Strong defensive work by Sandy MacLaughlin was a major factor in the win, particularly late in the second half, when Carleton turned on the pressure in an effort to get the equalizer.

Each Dodger to get about $12,900 while Yanks get $8,100 for share of richest World Series ever held

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Baseball is just a sport, the law says, but sometimes it adds up to pretty good money, too. Each winning Dodger may take home about $12,900 and each losing Yankee can console himself with about $8,100 from the World Series player pot. Both will be records.

No official figures can be released until commissioner Ford Frick's office has checked and double checked the figures. That probably won't be finished for several days. Frick's office also comes up with the pay checks

Two Swedish players to return home

TORONTO (CP)—Two Swedish amateur hockey players, who trained with the National Hockey League champion Toronto Maple Leafs this fall, have decided to go back home to their engineering jobs.

Both goaltender Kjell Svensson and left winger Carl Oerberg rejected minor league contracts in the Leaf chain and will return today, Toronto officials said Sunday.

Oerberg scored two goals in 12 exhibition games for the Leafs while Svensson turned in a fine effort against Chicago Black Hawks, shutting out the Hawks for 59 minutes and 57 seconds.

Ulf Sterner, the Swede who is scheduled to have a five-game NHL trial with New York Rangers, has said he will stay if he plays in the NHL.

Bears edge Colts while Packers win

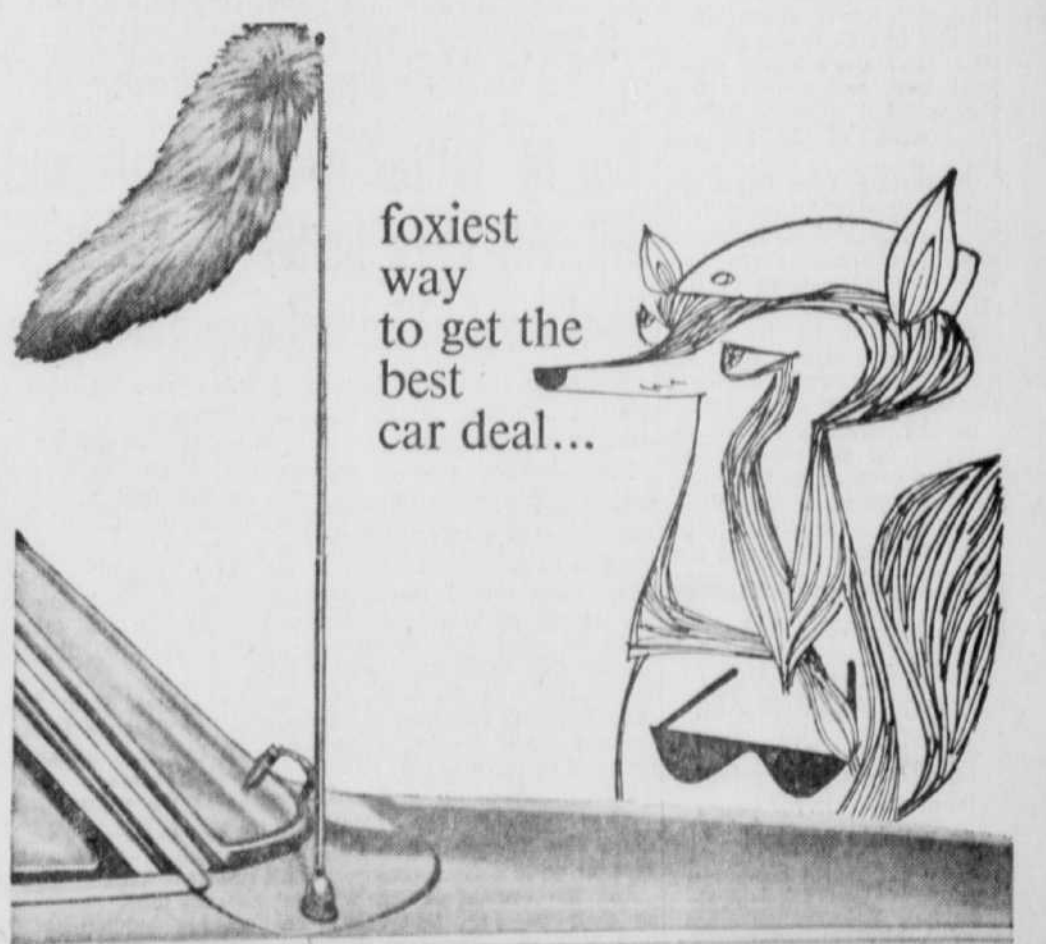

Rudy Bukich, a 30-year-old journeyman quarterback playing for the first time this season, connected on a 44-yard pass play to Ronnie Bull that accounted for the game's lone touchdown Sunday as the Chicago Bears remained undefeated with a 10-3 victory over Baltimore Colts in the National Football League.

An eight-year NFL veteran, Bukich has sat on the bench so often during his career he has averaged only 40 passes a year.

Three-way tie for Big Four scoring spot

Ottawa Rough Riders' Dave Thelen scored a touchdown and teammate Moe Racine booted two converts in their team's 28-13 win over Saskatchewan Saturday night to create a three-way tie for the Eastern Football Conference individual scoring lead.

Both have 48 points, tying them with Dick Shatto of Toronto Argonauts. Thelen and Shatto have eight touchdowns each, and Racine has kicked for all his points.

Sherbrooke High school Seniors and Junior soccer teams are riding high in league standing of the St. Francis Valley Inter-Scholastic Soccer League.

The Seniors and Juniors won their games against Drummondville High Saturday morning with the wins giving each team the lead. B.C.S. also took their twin bill against Notre Dame the Juniors winning 2-0 and the Seniors 4-0. Today the Sherbrooke High Juniors meet Drummondville and on Wednesday the Juniors and Seniors meet Stanstead.

In the Junior tilt the locals got away to a 2-0 lead in the first half. D. Connor scored after nineteen minutes of play, he was assisted by Cotterell on the goal. P. Klossner got the second goal of the half.

The teams battled it out on even terms in the last half with no further scoring taking place. The defence of both teams stood out on this one with both goalies pulling off some smart saves.

The Sherbrooke Seniors in their 1-0 win were fortunate to take the two points. The Drummondville squad missed on a penalty shot awarded them in the closing minutes of the game.

Sherbrooke got their goal on a penalty after six minutes of the opening half. J. Haffenden scored on the shot. The Drummondville goalkeeper blocked Haffenden's kick but the ball bounced back to Haffenden and he made sure on the second attempt. This was all the scoring in the game with both teams coming close on occasions of getting the ball in the net.

Starting in a well played game for Sherbrooke were, D. Cooper in goal, M. Steinman, J. Haffenden and R. Warren. Drummondville's stars were Peacock, Grebhen and Haggerty.

Dumont's Chipman's Direct wins in 2:09 for best time on weekend, win prices run high on program

Donald Dumont's Chipman's Direct, teamed by L. Lapage, of Malone, N.Y., walked off with the best time on the weekend card presented at the Sherbrooke Race Track. The six-year old gelding paced under the wire in 2:09 flat to cop the Eighth race on Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Chretien's True Gold set a torrid pace going to the quarter in 30 2/5 seconds and the half in 1:02 1/5, the best on the two-card program, but then he faltered and Lapage teamed Chipman's Direct around the field to win the event in 2:09.

The big class Sunday didn't come close to Chipman's Direct's mark. They were clocked in 2:10. They went to the quarter in .31 seconds and the half in 1:06 as Major's Buster, another Dumont entry from Malone, N.Y., slowed down to pass the half in 1:06. It was the first start for Major's Buster at the local track and a better time was expected since the gelding has a mark of 2:08 3/5 this year.

On Sunday Fern Desrochers teamed Reynolds' Carroll B to win the first half of the double while L. Lapage drove Free Wyman's Dandy Song to first place to pay their backers the sum of $68.00. In the Fourth race it was Prince Lou and Bomb H who formed the quinnella and $17.10 was collected.

In the Seventh $54.90 was collected for the winning combination of Senator Dave General Franklin while $117.90 was picked up for the Exacta in the Tenth for Fleet Abbe and Bertha C. McElwyn. C. Leavens with Count E. Lee finished second in the race but was set out of the money for causing interference.

On Saturday evening Dr. S. Churchill of Orleans, Vt., teamed his Golden Echo to first to cop the first half of the double with Lafond's Lou Direct C finished on top of the field in the second and their backers received $85.80 for their investment.

In the Fourth it was Daley Joy and William West Kyer who finished 1-2 in the class and $102.30 was collected.

In the Seventh $15.80 was collected for the winning combination of Bravaway and Dearie Laid. In the Exacta it was Vic Express and Rusty Will and $107.20 was paid out at the pari-mutuel windows.

The top win bet was paid on Miss Rosette Saturday in the Third race when $51.60 was collected while $13.00 and $8.40 was picked up in place and show.

'Big M' tallies two as Leafs and NHL All-Stars battle to 3-3 tie, Abel would like to keep power-play

TORONTO (CP)—Who is the greatest leftwinger in the National Hockey League?

Paste pictures of Frank Mahovlich and Bobby Hull on opposite sides of a coin and flip—it's that close.

Mahovlich scored two goals and earned an assist Saturday night to help the defending Stanley Cup champion Toronto Maple Leafs tie the NHL All-Stars 3-3. Hull, strongboy of the Chicago Black Hawks, scored the most spectacular goal of the night.

They proved they should share the All-Star left wing spot for quite a few years.

And the coming season will be their personal tie-breaker. Hull was the first-team leftwinger four years ago, Mahovlich succeeded him the following season. Hull won the spot again two years ago and Mahovlich was the top man last year.

Veteran Eddie Litzenberger scored the other Leaf goal before 14,004 fans at Toronto.

ADD ALL-STAR GOALS
Henri Richard of the Montreal Canadiens and defenceman Marcel Pronovost of Detroit

Red Wings were the other All-Star marksmen.

The teams were tied 2-2 after one period and each scored once in the final period, the Stars overcoming three Toronto leads.

Sid Abel, Detroit manager-coach who handled the All-Stars, wishes he could take his powerplay back to the Red Wings.

He had Howe, Hull, Bernie Geoffrion and Jean Beliveau of Montreal and Andy Bathgate of New York Rangers.

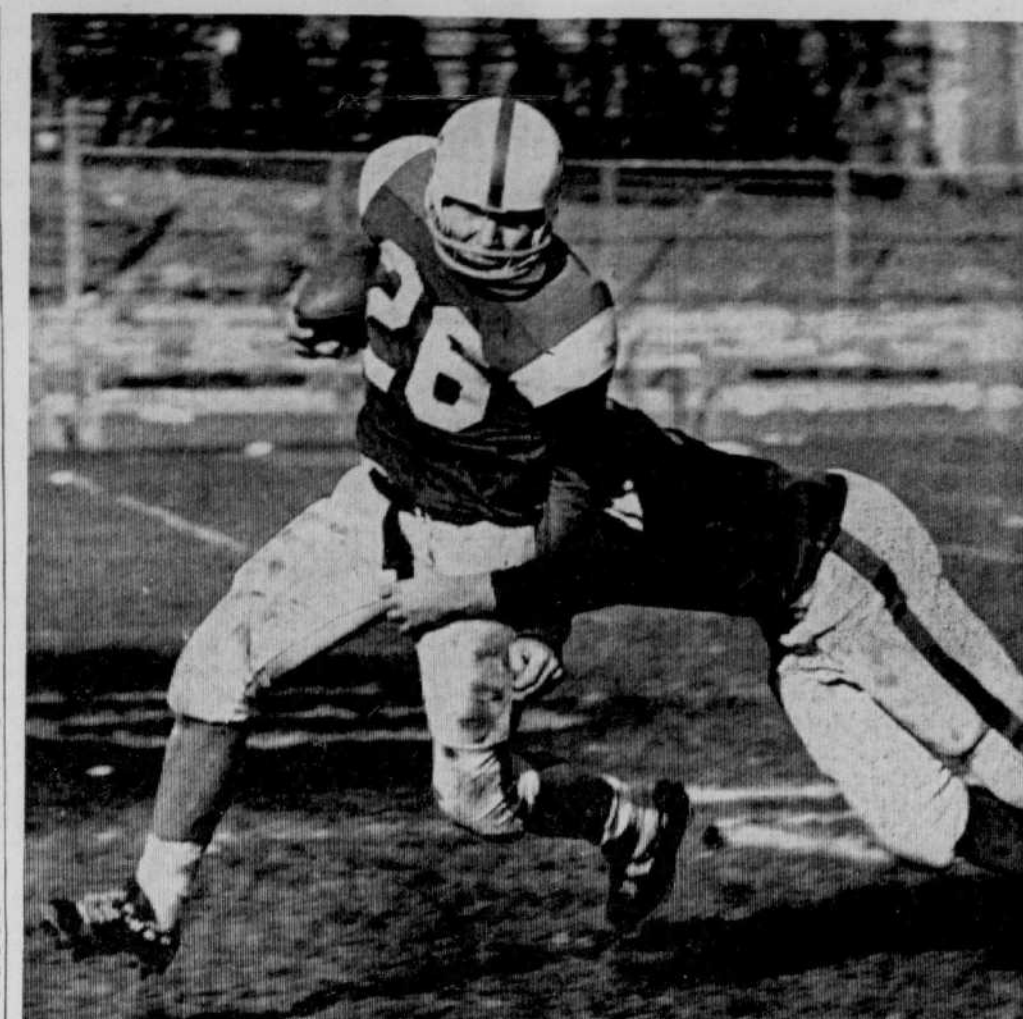

"Imagine the price tag that bunch would bring," whistled Abel.

All proceeds went to the players' pension fund.

In windup exhibitions over the weekend, Boston Bruins dumped Springfield Indians of the American League 5-3 Saturday night at Springfield; Montreal edged Omaha Knights of the new Central Professional League 4-1 Sunday at Montreal; and New York Rangers nipped St. Paul Saints of the CPHL 4-2 Sunday night at St. Paul.

The NHL season opens Tuesday night with Montreal at Boston.

Bishop's eke out 34-32 win over Macdonald

In their first league appearance of the year, the Bishop's University football Gaitsers survived a last minute rally to defeat their arch rivals, Macdonald College Aggies, 34-32 Saturday afternoon before more than 1,500 fans in Montreal.

The poorly rated Macdonald team held its own against a lax Bishop's defense in the seesaw battle of offenses. Having lost only two players from last year's winning team Bishop's was expected to win the game with a much larger margin of victory against their opponents who went into the game with a rookie-laden team that had only two holdovers.

Macdonald scored the first touchdown shortly after the opening whistle when star fullback Brian Murray romped 58 yards though the beefy Bishop's defence. This same off-tackle play was good for several long Mac gains in the game.

Last year's scoring champion, Mike Sommerville, scored his first of two touchdowns shortly after when he powered his way through the opposition for a 15-yard major. The hard-running Bishop's fullback played a lout play-calling ability which made him an Edmonton Eskimo draft choice. led his team on a long downfield march. Handing off to Sommerville for a three successive long gains, he then faked to his leading groundgainer and gave the ball to halfback Brock Thomson who bulled his way into the end zone from three yards out.

Seemingly having the game under control with only one minute to go, the Bishop's team was met by a determined Mac offense that steamrolled its way to the Gaitsers eight with Bradley going into the end zone. Seconds later the gun sounded to end the game and save the Gaitsers from near defeat.

The next game for the local team will be an exhibition encounter with the McGill Indians, junior team to the senior Redmen, which will be played at Bishop's on Saturday, October 12, starting at 1 p.m.

With five minutes remaining in the game, Brewer scored for Mac after a determined goal-line stand by the Bishop's defense. This narrowed the count to 28-26.

Gaiter quarterback John Milligan, drawing from his four years of experience in college ball and illustrating his excellent play-calling ability which made him an Edmonton Eskimo draft choice, led his team on a long downfield march. Handing off to Sommerville for a three successive long gains, he then faked to his leading

Coach Bud Wilkinsons Sooners gain top spot in US college football ratings with win over Southern Cal

son, whose scrambling Sooners gained the top spot in the U.S. national college football ratings Saturday with a victory over previous No. 1 Southern California, brought back a partial forecast after scouting Texas against Oklahoma State Saturday night.

The Longhorns, ranked third and 3-0 for the year, romped 34-7.

Oklahoma was idle and takes a 2-0 mark into the clash with Texas at Dallas, the big one on next weekend's schedule.

Texas have won their last five. For one thing, the game could prove whether the Sooner victory over Southern Cal was a fluke and will point out just how far the Sooners have come on the road back from mediocrity.

But while Texas enhanced its No. 3 rating at the expense of Oklahoma State, two other members on the Top Ten fell by the wayside. No. 5 Northwestern was edged by Illinois 10-9 and No. 7 Georgia Tech lost to Louisiana State 7-6.

TRUE TO FORM
Second-ranked Alabama, No. 6 Navy, No. 8 Southern California, No. 9 Pittsburgh and No. 10 Mississippi each won as expected. Wisconsin, ranked fourth, was idle, resting up for a key game with Purdue this weekend. The boiler makers edged Notre Dame 7-6.

Jim Plankenhorn's conversion and a 21-yard field goal were key contributions to Illinois' upset of Northwestern.

Georgia Tech, now 2-1, allowed its first touchdown of the season in the first quarter against LSU, with Pat Screen running from the seven for the score. Doug Moreau kicked the winning extra point. Billy Lothridge kicked field goals of 21 and 26 yards for Georgia Tech.

Alabama won its third in a row, bolting past Vanderbilt 21-6 at Nashville with Benny Nelson scoring on runs of 50 and 97 yards. Navy, also 3-0, got another inspired performance from Roger Staubach in a 26-13 triumph at Michigan.

THIRD QUARTER RALLY
Southern Cal, 2-1, had to rally in the last quarter for a 13-10 edge over Michigan State at Los Angeles Angeles; Pitt won its third straight from West Coast Powers, clubbing California 35-15 at Pittsburgh and Perry Dunn threw two touchdowns passes in Mississippi's 20-6 victory at Houston.

Duke's unbeaten Blue Devils scored their third straight, a 30-12 decision over Maryland in a televised game.

In some of the other major games, unbeaten Ohio State won its second with a 21-0 romp over Indiana, prepping for an important Big Ten match with Illinois this week; Penn State made a bid for a national ranking by trouncing Rice 28-7 and Dartmouth's Ivy League champions stretched their winning streak to 13, longest in the nation for a major college team, with a 28-0 rout of Pennsylvania.

Riddle tough Roughriders' defence for 28-13 victory, Lions roll over Esks for 40-1, meet Stamps

Ottawa Rough Riders quarterback Russ Jackson Saturday night pierced Saskatchewan Roughriders tough defence and tonight hopes to do the same to Calgary Stampeders.

Jackson led Ottawa to first place in the Eastern Conference with a 28-13 win over Saskatchewan of the Western Conference in an interlocking game. In a WFC encounter Saturday night, the leading British Columbia Lions took a firm grip on first place with a 40-1 win over Edmonton Eskimos.

Ottawa rattled the toughest defence in the country at Regina—scoring four touchdowns against the same Saskatchewan club which had allowed only one touchdown in six previous games.

The Rough Riders now have 12 points on a 6-3 record, two more than Hamilton Tiger-Cats (3-4) and Montreal Alouettes (3-5) in the east. Toronto Argonauts 2-8 are last.

The Lions' big win put them five points ahead of Calgary and Saskatchewan in the west. B.C. has 18 points on a 9-3 record, Calgary is 6-4-1 and Saskatchewan 6-5-1. Winnipeg Blue Bombers are next with a 6-6 record and the last-place Eskimos are 2-9.

End Jack Gotta scored both Rough rider touchdowns on passes from veteran quarterback Frank Tripucka. Tackle Reg Whitehouse converted one.

Quarterback Joe Kapp unleashed an aerial attack to lead Lions to victory before 14,000 fans in Edmonton. He fired three touchdown passes and set up two others with a first-half passing attack that accounted for 363 yards.

Kapp's touchdown tosses went to Ron Morris, 13 yards, and Willie Fleming, 39 and 63 yards. Kapp and Fullback Nub Beamer scored the other touchdowns on one-yard plunges.
