

C.P.O.A. LADIES AUXILIARY HOLDS SPRING FASHION SHOW

C.P.O.A. Ladies Auxiliary Spring Fashion Show

(By Kathleen M. Cowper)

Tuesday evening, Maple School was the scene of a very pretty Fashion Show put on by the C.P.O.A. Ladies Auxiliary. The stage was very tastefully decorated, the courtesy of Henry Morgan and Co. and Ampleman Florists with spring flowers, a large sun umbrella and a flower covered arch, through which the models walked.

Mrs. Lee Jennings, President of the Ladies Auxiliary, was commentator and left little to the imagination in her detailed description of the fashions.

First to be presented was sleep wear. Dusters of all types, from the plain practical easy care type to the fanciest. These were presented the courtesy of Reitmans of the Regional Shopping Centre. A lovely collection of sports togs were also shown from Reitmans as well as fashions for mothers-to-be. These were shown at their best by models, Sheila Chamberlain, Julie Larkin, Pat Feltham, Maureen Dooner, Agnes Riendeau, Dorothy Mock and Jane Jackson.

Many of the latest styles in dresses, suits and coats were also modelled by the above girls.

Chateauguy High School

vs. Howick High

On Friday night, March 2nd, two very exciting basketball games were played in the gymnasium of Chateauguy High School. The boys were victorious over Howick by a score of 42-34. Though our girls put up a terrific fight, they were not as fortunate as the boys. During the first half of the game Chateauguy had the upper hand with Julie Kaiser and Sidje Oolman scoring most of the points. However, as the game progressed Howick began to take over and managed to beat our team by one small point, the score being 26-27.

Lecture at High School

Due to the efforts of Mr. R. Eaman, a member of Chateauguy High School teaching staff, the students of Grades 9 and 10 had a look at what engineering offers the students of today. Mr. Eaman engaged Mr. R. Tait, a graduate engineer from McGill, who gave the students a very clear picture of engineering.

Mr. Tait discussed the various fields of engineering, requirements, fees and what is expected of today's student. Everyone appreciated the lecture and I am sure Mr. Tait made quite an impression on all of us.

Valleyfield vs. Chateauguy

The hockey league organized by the Chateauguy Valley Schools, came closer to ending the playoffs last Wednesday when Chateauguy played against Valleyfield at the Ormstown arena. One might have thought that the two teams on the ice were of experienced players. This was not true, however. These two teams, which were formed early this winter, were so evenly matched that the game could have gone either way.

The first period was opened with Chateauguy scoring. From here on in a see-saw battle developed. Valleyfield managed to tie the game up in the second period to make it one to one. Shortly after it was two to one for Chateauguy only to be tied again by Valleyfield. The third period turned the tables though Chateauguy fought hard to keep the game at a tie. During the last two minutes, Valleyfield scored again ending the game with a score of four to three in their favour.

This was one of the best games ever played, due to the two referees who did an excellent job. An effort should be made to have referees such as these two next year.

Assembly at Chateauguy High School

This being Education Week, it was decided by our faculty that we be informed as to why we come to school. This was the main theme of our assembly.

After a few wise words from Mr. Mosher, we viewed a play presented by Mr. Patterson. The writer of the play was one of our own Grade 10A students, Karen MacKay. The actors were, Marilyn Sellers, Rona Adkins, Carolyn Purdy, Brian Powell, and Duncan Way. The title of the play was "Social Injustice".

Next on the programme was a talk by Mr. Ingram. He emphasized the point of education first, by the use of some of his own subjects as examples and, second, with a movie, "How to Study".

The final movie, "Appointment with Youth", showed the satisfaction of being a teacher and the rewards to the soul throughout his career.

DUTCH POPE

Pope Adrian VI was the only surviving pontiff of the Roman Catholic faith who came from the Netherlands. His election as a compromise candidate for the papacy, in 1522 A.D., marked the last time that a non-Italian became pope.

Unwarranted Action By Municipal Authorities

Special by E.C. Dowler

As reported in these columns last week, considerable speculation was rife when residents on Westside Avenue, which extends from Dunver Road to the Maple Schools received Shawinigan Power accounts with addresses substituted as Craik St., which starts at Dunver Road and runs right angle to McLeod Ave. From enquiries made, at the time to the Town Office, the information obtained was that the addresses were correct, as McLeod was to be renamed Craik St., and would be so authorized the following evening. The questions therefore arise:

- (1)-Who authorized this unwarrantable change?
- (2)-Who was responsible for notifying the Shawinigan Power of the intended change, before it had even been approved?
- (3)-Why residents had not been consulted and given an opportunity to discuss the matter before action was taken?
- (4)-What steps can be taken to remedy any action which may have been taken without delay by the municipal authority and a full explanation released with appropriate action promised all who wish to express their views regarding what has already been or is contemplated?
- (5)-Who is the instigator of this change of nomenclature and the basic reason for same?

When the Vetville Housing Project was completed over three years ago, no other building existed on McLeod Road of any description. It was named after the Royal Canadian Legion Official who originated the project, and who was the Chairman of the Board of Directors who saw the project through from start to completion. It is quite apparent that authority for it being so named had the approval of the Town Officials, and must have been duly registered on the municipal property rolls, and the town erected the various street identifications.

Since Vetville was completed, three Public Schools have been erected and numerous property owners residences have also been erected. It is understood by this correspondent, than any change in nomenclature will necessitate alteration in title deeds of all property situated on McLeod, and unnecessary expense as a result.

Despite the apprehension and flagrant disregard shown property owners interests in the matter, and various actions taken by groups to cancel the autocratic action which has apparently been taken, it is felt that public action should be taken without delay by the municipal authority and a full explanation released with appropriate action promised all who wish to express their views regarding what has already been or is contemplated.

Surely those whose responsibility it is, should realize that the property owners involved, are voters also, and are entitled to full consideration.

Julius Richardson Home And School Association News

(By M. McCutcheon)

The date of the Hobby Show to be held at the Julius Richardson School has been advanced to April 18th. It will not be held March 21st, as previously stated. In its stead a programme which was cancelled several weeks ago because of a severe snowstorm will be presented Wednesday, March 21st beginning at 8 p.m. Mrs. Jan Morgan, principal of Howick High School, will give a commentary with a tape-recording on the findings of American Intelligence officers in their study of repatriated U.N. forces who had been subjected to Communist indoctrination when taken prisoner in the Korean war.

The effects of such "brainwashing" on individual nationalities with their differing cultures and ideologies should make interesting and provocative study. A discussion period will follow. Refreshments to be served later in the cafeteria. Everyone is welcome to attend.

A Military Whist is to be held at 8:15 p.m. March 28th at the Julius Richardson School, under the auspices of the Home and School Assoc. This is the only money-raising project for the year. The proceeds are used to purchase items useful to the school. As in previous years, the children will be having a contest in the sale of raffle tickets. The tickets to attend the Whist are 75 cents each. Sandwiches, tea and coffee will be served. There will be door prizes, raffle prizes and table prizes. Please remember to bring your own cards.

For the purpose of providing additional recreational and educational services to the children of our Community a group of Ladies Auxiliary under the auspices of the Chateauguy Centre Recreation Association.

It is hoped that the nucleus of membership will be sought from the ladies in or around the Prudential and Parkview Area. To inaugurate the auxiliary a St. Patrick's Day Bake Sale will be held on Saturday, 17th March 1962 from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. at

Boy Scout Drive To Commence March 16th

(By M. McCutcheon)

The official drive period for the Boy Scout Annual Financial Campaign has been set for the week commencing Friday, March 16th. Mr. Warren Ken, Chairman of the Campaign, advises that Group Committee Members, the Women's Auxiliary and volunteers will undertake a door to door contact during the week. Many will be under the impression as I was, that the Boy Scouts' Campaign was consolidated with that of the Red Feather but this is not so far as Chateauguy and surrounding districts are concerned. They are on their own, only the Montreal Region made the merger last year.

Many of you must read our young correspondents column on Scouting and Cubbing each week and even if you do not have boys in either group you must be aware of the keen interest being shown. Financial help is needed in order to operate properly. Group work and recreation are a necessary part of education and our own life. Scouting offers just this with its varied programs. In the words of the Scouts "BE PREPARED" when the canvasser calls.

Ever mindful of the steady influx of families to our Community and with the welfare of the children under consideration, Mr. J. E. Gendreau, Principal of St. Willibrord's School has planned a survey. He has enlisted the voluntary aid of seven laides in the surrounding developments. Their names are listed below. If you live in an unlisted area, contact Mr. Gendreau personally at the school.

Highly Dangerous

(By M. McCutcheon)

Following the forums conducted by the Canadian Conference on Education held last week with great interest I noted that many of the delegates had their lunch brought in from Hotels in order to hear all of the speakers. I wonder how many of them have heard of the newest challenge to education 692-2255 and Mrs. LePoidevin, 692-9247. These ladies may be contacted for more detailed particulars. Mrs. LePoidevin has kindly offered to pick up home baked goodies on Saturday morning from anyone who may have transportation difficulties. So come along ladies and help make this Bake Sale a huge success.

Taxpayers-Chateauguy Centre Your Co-operation Needed

(By W. MacDonald)

I have been writing you a few articles on Chateauguy Municipal News. When I started the articles I thought that I might be able to arouse a few taxpayers of Chateauguy Centre to take an interest in Municipal affairs. What a thought!

Less than one percent of the English speaking taxpayers attend the general meetings. They would rather stay at home watching T.V. or complaining about the way our municipality is run, and the conditions of the roads around our town. Telling one another what they would do if they were on the council, etc. etc.

It is sickening to realize that in our town very few taxpayers care enough to attend meetings. As I have said in a previous article (Remember that you are responsible for the kind of municipal administration you get).

I may as well mention that our roads are in a deplorable condition if the fences were not up in the fields. It would be easier to drive in the fields. At the meetings they say phone your roads committee. What a joke.

The roads committee say call the town manager, etc., etc. Well taxpayers you can talk and complain to yourselves and your neighbours and anyone you can find to lend you a sympathetic ear. Watch T.V. and paddle a boat down your streets.

But whatever you do don't come to the meetings, for you would not open your mouth. But complain to everyone after the meeting is over.

Maple Home And School Association News

(By K. M. Cowper)

The week of March 4th being "Education Week" found Maple School and Chateauguy High full of activity. On Tuesday morning, parents were invited to visit classrooms at Maple School and watch the pupils at their studies. On Friday morning the four grade and grade IIA put on a demonstration in the gym of the High School. Every one visiting found their mornings well spent.

Thought For Today

To understand others, learn about yourself.

Presentation at B.I.S.

Miss Carol Ann Detimers was presented with a plaque for public speaking on Open House, March 7th. Mr. W. Kilgour made the presentation. Carol Ann was competing with Grades 7-8-9. Your parents must be really proud of your achievement, Carol Ann. Keep up the good work and best of luck to you.

Autoreads From Finland

Mrs. P. Rae wishes to thank Mrs. Doris Good who prepared a delicious luncheon for the staff who were on library duty at Beauharnois Intermediate School Thursday morning, the occasion being a visit to the school by Mrs. Toni Palm from Helsinki, Finland. Mrs. Palm (sister of Mrs. Ester Kokko of Beauharnois) is a well known writer of children's books and while here will be compiling articles for children's books and magazines in Finland. While in Canada, Mrs. Palm will be visiting schools and libraries in Ottawa and Quebec City. Hope your stay in Canada will be a pleasant one.

Open House B.I.S.

A goodly number of parents and friends attended the Open House at Beauharnois Intermediate School Wednesday evening, March 7th. Grades 5 to 9 entertained their parents in song conducted by Mr. Gill. Mrs. Royko accompanied them on the piano. Refreshments were served and a very nice evening was had by all.

Ski Trails

It seems as if everyone in our area has deserted the Laurentian Ski Trails for Moon Valley, N.Y. One can't blame them, because in this district can take the less travelled roads to the border, which are not congested, have a wonderful weekend of skiing and make good time coming home without battling traffic.

Birthdays

Greetings to Allan Jenner who will celebrate a birthday on March 16th, and I hear a party is shaping up for you on Saturday. My best wishes for a very happy birthday.

Belated Greetings

To David Anderson who on March 3rd celebrated his 11th birthday. Many happy returns to you, David.

Best wishes to Heather Webb who had a birthday March 12, and to Ian Hamilton who was 14 on March 4.

W.R.A. Bowling

This week the high single and high triple go to Mrs. Georgette Goodfellow who rolled H.S. 166; H.T. 419. For the gentlemen — Bob Burns rolled High Single 171 and Ron Webb High Triple 423.

The Manhattans are still in first place.

Coming Events

On Tuesday evening, March 20 at 7:30 in the Church Hall, the Rev. Father John Hall, pastor of Trinity Church, Beauharnois will be giving a lecture on the Cree Indian. Rev. Hall spent some time as a missionary at James Bay. It is hoped that many parishioners and friends will attend.

World Day of Prayer

The Trinity Church, Beauharnois, held a World Day of Prayer Service on Friday evening, March 9th. The guest speaker was Miss MacKinnon, who spoke on the subject "Love of Christ". What better subject to choose. This talk was enjoyed by all.

A Day Across The Border

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stark and family spent a wonderful day Saturday skiing on the hills at Moon Valley. I believe Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Jones and family spent the day there too.

The Storm

The snow on Monday made our highways very slippery. On Highway 3 several small accidents occurred — nothing serious, just dented fenders and headlights. On Tuesday morning we awoke to several inches of snow and everyone had to dig themselves out. The snowfalls were on the job most of the night and did a wonderful job.

The trees were picturesque with the wet snow clinging to the branches.

A word of caution — do be careful of the curve at Woodlands before the tracks, it seems once you start to skid, you just slide along. Several cars piled up on this curve.

Parties

Someone in our young group holds a party every Friday evening. This past week Miss Janie Wright was hostess at her home to many of her young friends. From all accounts everyone had a wonderful time.

Week-end Visitors

Miss Sue Sawyer entertained Miss Pat Quenneville of Beauharnois for the week-end. St. Edward's Church is pleased to remind all the ladies that the monthly meeting of the Women's Association will be held in the Church Hall on April 2nd.

St. Edward's Coming Events

On April 12th a luncheon will be served in St. Edward's Church Hall at 12:15 p.m. The feature attraction will be the modelling of spring bonnets supplied by Chez Isabel of Beauharnois.

Club Sportive de Ville de Lery

Great news on our young bowlers. What a turn out we had on Saturday morning. 193 children had the time of their lives bowling. Competition was keen. Sixteen bowling lanes were used for these eager bowlers.

There is hope that the Club will be able to have two or three professional bowlers on hand to teach our young children the "Do's and Don'ts of the Game".

Hockey League

The Chateaugay Minor Hockey League has picked an All-Star Bantam team. A game is scheduled for Friday evening at 6:45 in the Paul Sauvé Arena. André Caron of Ville de Lery has been chosen as goalie.

For Teenagers

A new young teenage group is being formed under the name of "The Young People's Society", composed mainly of teenagers of the Anglican and Presbyterian Churches in Beauharnois. They will meet in St. Edward's Church Hall, April 15th, at 7:30 p.m. to discuss plans.

Entertainment

Master Derek Rae entertained his birthday guests at bowling. His cake was decorated with bowling pins and ball. A good time was had by all.

Important March Events

March 14, 1962 — First Trans-Atlantic radio broadcast.
March 17th, 1875 — Alexander Graham Bell patented the telephone.
March 25, 1807 — British Parliament abolished slave trade.
March 31st, 1949 — Newfoundland became the 10th province of Canada.

Little Lorette Butler entered St. Joseph Hospital, Lachine, March 6th to have a minor operation on her foot. That piece of splinter really dug itself in. So keep the shoes and slippers on. No more sliding on waxed floors in socks. It's fun I know, but who wants a lumber yard under their heel. Best of luck, Lorette. Sickens.

Get well wishes go to Bruce

Irwin who is sporting, of all things, "German Measles". Now, Bruce, you did not have to go that far. Glad to hear you are on the road to good health. Those spots didn't suit you anyway.

Miss Carol Stark is sporting "Spots" also. Best wishes to you, Carol, for a speedy recovery.

Also on the sick list is Mrs.

L. Ball, who has been hospitalized this past week. All your friends in Woodlands wish you a speedy recovery. Freda, Beauharnois Intermediate.

The Editorial Staff of the Blue and White are to be congratulated for their efforts in compiling the news of the school for the students. The students on the staff are: Alex Jones, Mike Arpin, Toramy Leduc, Jimmy Turnbull, Beverly Webb and Linda Gillis.

My Apology

So sorry a name was misspelled under photo of Ladies' Committee W.R.A. last week. It should have read Mrs. R. Chave.

Covering the Sports

Town League Final Playoff

Lalonde and Lalonde evened up the best of five Town League final (one win each, when they won by a five to one score over Dodge City. In the third game of their playoff. The first game was tied. The Plumbers opened up the scoring in the first period when twice they took advantage of some loose clearing by the Dodge City defence. Louis Lalonde and Andre Fournier were the scorers.

The second period had both teams missing good scoring chances but no goals were scored, as both goalkeepers came up with fine saves.

In the third period the Plumbers went ahead three to nothing, when Andre Monique broke in all alone on Nadeau, he made no mistake in jamming the Puck by the Dodge City Goalie. Ron Tremblay got Dodge City back into the game when he scored what proved to be the only goal for his team.

The Plumbers sewed the game up with two fast goals in the final three minutes with Roger Lessard and Andre Fournier being the marksmen. Fournier's goal was his second of the night.

The playoff games have been well played, though at times tempers flare when the will to win gets the better of some of the players. So far, the games have been kept under control by the officials but, both Coach George Lazure and Joe Boyle at times have been very vocal in their reaction to some of the officials' calls. This of course shows the depth of their interest in their respective team's fortunes and adds to the colour of the game at the same time. Next Monday, the same two teams will do battle at the Arena, game time will be at eight thirty.

Carnival Hockey

The first winter carnival got underway Friday night, with a large crowd on hand, at the Huntington War Memorial. The Pee Wees started with a hockey game followed by the Huntingdon Clydes and the "Former All Star Braves" of Valleyfield.

This was a fast, wide open, high scoring game. At the final buzz the Clydes had defeated the Braves by a score of 14-6. To win the annual trophy, for senior hockey. This trophy was presented to the Clydes team Sunday afternoon by President Viau.

The Clydes defeating a team of their years of experience shows us that we should be proud of our teams in Huntingdon.

The Wearing of the Green

There are many traditions of famous men in ancient times to which all Irish people like to look back upon. One of the most important was that of Niall of the nine hostages who were high kings for years. Niall made many raids into Britain and among the captives taken was a youth, a native of Gaul, who became the slave of a chieftain named Melchus. For eight years, he herded his master's flock on the mountains of Antrim. Then he escaped and went back to Britain, where he was ordained a priest. From Britain he went to Gaul and then Italy. But the thought of the island he learned to love weighed heavily on his heart so he turned back determined to win his pagan inhabitants to the Christian faith. He tried to land on the coast of Wicklow, but the people there would not have him. So he sailed up the East coast and landed on the shores of Strangford Lough. Thus it was the great St. Patrick came the second time to Ireland. This time not as a slave, but to bring the blessing of Christianity. Everyone knows the story of how he taught the great Christian doctrine of the Trinity by plucking a leaf of shamrock and pointing to the three perfect leaves growing from one stem. From that day on the shamrock has been used as the symbol of Ireland.

Then began the days of Ireland's glory. Great monasteries were founded, schools were established to which students flocked by the hundreds and learning spread among the people. Music and Goldsmith's art flourished. Some of the most beautiful manuscripts of medieval times were written by monks in hermit cells in great monasteries with the love of the Gospel they had learned in their hearts. Young men went out as missionaries to teach it to the Picts in Scotland, to Saxons in Britain, to the Gauls in France, to many Teutonic tribes in the forest of Germany, to the Frisians on the shores of the Baltic and to the Lombards in Northern Italy.

Wednesday night, March 7th, saw the Huntingdon Clydes defeating the Bombers by a score of 6-3.

Clydes were flying in the first period and took a 4-1 lead on goals by Raymond L'Heureux with two, Murphy and Riel with singles. Bombers goal came from Chachette.

In the second period each team began to lay on a little weight, but this didn't keep the Clydes team off the score sheet. Curran and Murphy each singled.

Bombers came out to try and even the score in the third period, but only managed to score two more on goals by C. Lefebvre and Chachette.

With only two penalties called, and both of these to C. Lefebvre, this was a fairly good game to watch.

The fourth game of the finals in the C.V.H.L. was played Saturday night, March 10th, at the Huntington War Memorial before one of the largest crowds of the season.

The first period got off to a slow start as neither team scored and only one penalty called on each team.

In the second period the Clydes team came bouncing back to score four goals, while Bombers did not check. This made the score 4-0 at the end of the second period. Six penalties were handed out by referee Smith.

Murphy went off at 0:45 of the third period, while the Clydes were playing short handed Curran and Pilon combined to score on goalie Leduc.

At 11:39 Heath of Bombers was given the gate for tripping and while he was off, linesman Steele made a miscall as we will all make a mistake once in awhile, and this started an argument by the Bombers team. Chachette was given a misconduct penalty and instead of going to the penalty box, he threw his stick on the ice and left for the dressing room. He was followed by Bombers coach and four or five players.

Things had settled down and play went on again underway. Roy and Curran began roughing and both received penalties, while in the penalty box they tried fighting, but were held back by players from each team. Referee Smith at this point called the game and awarded it to Clydes.

This ties the finals at two games apiece. The fifth and sixth game will be played Wednesday and Friday nights.

MOVING DAY — Yes Sir, They Did It

(By Linda Burns)

They said it couldn't be done, some even went so far as to place shackle bets on it. "Any project is a fool," they said. But Sam did it, for Sam Cullen lives by a code which says, "If it can be done, we can do it." Yes sir, Sam moved that 40 x 70 ft. barn four and a half miles from Howick through the fields, the impossible to all the neighbors, not only was Sam a fool to think he could move that barn, but Bill Cullen was a bigger one for buying it from Dave Fiskin in the first place. "There'll not be a beam in place if they move it 20 feet," they said. It'll take a week to get that thing moved," they said. Well it did take a week, it took almost a month, to do the ground work. They would have to cross 18 farms, get permission from the 14 owners to remove fences, cut scrub trees and brush, they would have to get permission from the C.N.R. to cross the track, the Hydro Co. would have to send men to remove power lines so that No. 4 highway could be crossed. Plans had to be formulated as to what procedure would be used in raising and moving the barn. Men had to be obtained to brace the building. A road had to be staked out, there was four feet of snow in places on the fields. The plow would have to work two days to prepare the way.

Everything was still and silent. Not a man spoke, there she was, smack dab in the middle of the track — no one said "I told you so" no one said, "That's it, there she is." Every man present went into action, jacks appeared as if by magic and in fifteen minutes the move was on again. Three bulldozers, a great hulking barn and 20 or 30 men — the speed, a good walking pace. In another hour the procession had reached the highway in front of Bill's farm, two hundred yards or so from its intended resting place. "That's it for today," announced Sam, the Hydro men will be here tomorrow and we'll finish up then. "They'll never cross the road and make that forty five degree turn, if they try it they'll twist that barn out of shape," they said.

Well, they were all there the next day, and Sam and his crew moved that barn and set her moving at an inch of her intended resting place. It took two and Eight 20 ft. elm logs were bought and many hours of painstaking work were spent on hand milling the skids. Sam obtained the expert services of Guy Schinck to help him shape the four pairs of skids. When these were in place, two inch steel shafts were driven through the front skids and a one inch steel cable was used as a hitch.

On Wednesday morning, a great crowd gathered to witness the "take off". Three bulldozers were lined up tandem style, the great 20 tonner led by a fifteen and a ten, for the five tons of power, and the barn moved, leaving a void in the place where it had stood for more than thirty-five years. Nostalgic memories swept over the old timers. George Fiskin built that barn in the early part of the century to house grain, coal and feed. It just seemed like all the old landmarks must go to make room for progress.

In less than an hour the grand procession, followed by many interested spectators had covered a mile or more and reached the railroad tracks. A train was due to be done under Winter Works Program.

Moved and seconded the sum of $100.00 be given the Huntingdon Agricultural Society to assist their financial situation. The following bills were passed: G. C. Moore, $76.25; Huntingdon Gleaner, $25.68; M. Wallace, $11.00; Morris Saupier, $7.00; W. Saupier, $31.25; D. L. Tully, $15.17; Dent Roads, $132.00; M. Orms town

The Women of Orms town met in the Presbyterian Church for the World Day of Prayer Service, on Friday, The combined Choirs of the three Protestant Churches sang "The Beautiful Garden of Prayer", with Mrs. Lindsay Cullen at the organ. Guest speaker was Mrs. Brown of Huntingdon whose topic, God's Love for all the World was very timely. Mrs. Brown pointed out that the meaning of the word love has changed greatly in the 1962 years since Christ mentioned LOVE so many times in his ministry. The meaning of the word Love has weakened since the days of Ruth, and since St. Paul said, "If I speak with the tongue of angels and have not LOVE, I am nothing. Mrs. Brown pointed out that we are told in the scriptures that if we say we love God and in reality we hate our brothers, we are liars. Ms. Brown thinks that if every woman would apply the true meaning to the word Love there would be no need of Summit meetings or disarmament programs. Those taking part in the worship service were Miss Nancy Lawrence and Mrs. Arthur Henderson led by Miss Gilker of St. James Anglican Church, Mrs. H. Greig and Mrs. E. Martin led by Mrs. Lorne of St. Paul's United Church and Miss M. Elvidge and Mrs. Goodall led by Mrs. Hood of the Presbyterian Church.

Obituary

The late Harold Cameron

Mr. Harold Cameron, 62, a former resident of The Beaver, Quebec, died about one o'clock Wednesday afternoon, March 7th, in the Huntingdon County Hospital, where he had been a patient for about one month. He has been in failing health for several months and had previously received treatment in the hospital and also in a Montreal hospital.

He was a son of the late Dan and Lillian Simpson Cameron of The Beaver where he grew up and then attended Fort Covington High School. He followed the occupation of farming until several years ago when he moved to Huntingdon where he had since operated a trucking business. A most affable person, he had a host of friends.

He is survived by one sister, Mrs. Harold (Mabel) McCaffrey of Huntingdon.

The funeral on Friday, at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, was largely attended.

Recently Mrs. Wilbur Stowell won the grand prize on a TV Quiz program. Prizes are still on their way but she has had letters from various companies stating they have been sent. More news about her good fortune when she has received her many prizes. However, her good luck doesn't end here for last Friday she received a couple of Revlon Products for sending in a beauty hint to the Carte Blanche program.

A SOLID FOUNDATION

Geologists tell us that the oldest rocks in the world underlie Canada. According to The Book of Knowledge, some of the oldest rocks in the world are called Cambrian, from the Latin name—Cambria—for Wales, where these rocks are abundant. The vast Canadian Shield that covers two-thirds of Canada is made up of rocks that were formed in a still earlier era referred to as Pre-Cambrian.

Good Attendance At Carnival Despite Mild Weather

Weather to some extent marred the Winter Carnival held at Huntingdon County War Memorial Arena last week-end. It was quite balmy weather, but that is not the kind for a winter carnival especially when natural ice is required. No one had any complaint on the nice days, but the ice in the arena took a beating.

The Hockey games on Friday night and Saturday evenings were very well attended and all the fans got value for their money. Due to the late start of the hockey game on Saturday evening, the twist contest was not well attended and it had to be called after only about thirty minutes due to closing time. However those who took part enjoyed themselves.

The four contestants for Queen of the Carnival did well for themselves and each piled up a good number of votes from the sales of tickets and refreshments. On Sunday afternoon the crowning took place and Miss Joyce Duhome was chosen as having the largest number of votes in her favor.

Events on Sunday were not too good due to a large amount of water being on the ice and preventing the carrying on of the scheduled program.

The scores for the Carnival Queen candidates were as follows: Joyce Duhome, 67,550; Betty Lough, 44,750; Ann MacDonnel, 39,650 and Jean Clarkin, 31,600.

Mr. Porritt V-Pres. Noranda Mines Tells Valleyfield Chamber Of Commerce About New Refinery

"The Mattagami Lake ore find has made possible the exploitation and treatment of these natural resources in Quebec to the greatest possible advantage of this Province and of Canada, as regards employment, export trade and Government revenues."

This statement was made recently at Valleyfield by R.V. Porritt, who was addressing the members of the local Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Porritt, a Vice-President and General Manager of Noranda Mines, Limited, is President of the Canadian Electrolytic Zinc, Limited, which is building a $20 Million Zinc Refinery in Valleyfield, located on the St. Lawrence Seaway, South of Montreal.

"The cost of plant to process zinc ore concentrate to metal is so high, explained Mr. Porritt, that it can only be justified where there is assurance of long-term supply of substantial tonnages of concentrate."

"About five years ago, zinc ore was discovered in the Mattagami Lake area of North-Western Quebec. Large tonnages of good grade ore have been proved in developing the Mattagami ore bodies, and they are the justification for this new project at Valleyfield."

"So far, there were only two zinc plants in Canada: one which is the world's largest, being operated by The Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co. in British Columbia, and the other by The Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting Co. in Manitoba. Those two companies supply the Canadian demand for metal and export the surplus to foreign markets. Other Canadian zinc producers without facilities for processing their concentrate to metal must sell then as such to foreign plants."

Mr. Porritt said: "Five Canadian Zinc Mining Companies have joined to finance and own and operate the new zinc plant. They are, in the order of their participation: Mattagami Lake Mines Ltd. 62 1/2%; Orchem Mines Limited 18 1/2%; Geo Mines Limited, 9%; Quomont Mining Corporation Limited, 5 1/2%; Normetal Mining Corporation Limited, 4%."

Canadian Electrolytic Zinc, Limited has been incorporated Mr. Porritt.

In another column will be found photos of the winners of the hockey games and the trophies they won and also the contestants for Queen of the Carnival.

Daughters Of Isabella Activities

Saturday, March the third, there was held in St. Joseph Parish Hall, our annual old time supper, which was a success despite many other parties being held on the same night.

Over two hundred and fifty persons enjoyed the delicious meal of meat pies, meat-balls, baked beans and home made pies and doughnuts. Guests of honour were: Mgr. J. A. David, Father Gareau, Mother Superior and Mother Ste. Henriette from Notre Dame School, Mr. and Mrs. Marcell from Valleyfield, Mr. Gerard Soucis, Mr. and Mrs. Rodrigue Montpetit, Mr. and Mrs. Jules Caza.

The door prize winner was Mrs. Bertha Menard. Andre Monique won a very beautiful cake decorated and donated by Mrs. P. A. Galipeau to whom we extend our sincere thanks. We also wish to thank the organist, Mrs. Lucienne Lefebvre, and all the daughters of Isabella who helped toward the success of the supper.

The Services will be continued as listed in the Church Column.

Girls' Prayer Service Outnumbers Adult Service In Huntingdon

33 girls attended the Girl's World Day of Prayer Service on Friday last in the United Church Hall at 4 p.m. Girls from three churches shared in the services and took their parts reverently and well.

A film strip, showing how the offering of this World Day of Prayer is used both in Canada and abroad, was enjoyed by those present.

Mrs. Stanley Rudduck addressed those at the Women's World Day of Prayer Service in the United Church Hall, on Friday afternoon at 2.30 p.m., illustrating what she had to say from the Lord's Prayer. Grippe and unavoidable events cut the attendance somewhat from previous years. Mrs. G. Tannahill sang a solo, "Keep Thou My Soul."

The address of Mrs. E. E. Brown on "God's Love for the Whole World" was much appreciated at the Women's World Day of Prayer Service in the Presbyterian Church in Ormstown, on Friday, at 2.30 p.m. There was a good attendance and women from various Societies of the three congregations took part.

Forty women attended the Women's World Day of Prayer Service in Franklin Centre on Friday at 3 p.m. Representatives of seven district churches took part in the service. Mrs. A. Kelen of Ormstown spoke to the gathering and Mrs. Harvey of Franklin sang a solo.

Joint Lenten Services Huntingdon And Ormstown Well Attended

The first of the series of Joint Lenten Services held on Ash Wednesday and on the first Thursday in Lent, were well attended. A strong choir and good congregations gathered in St. John's church to mark the beginning of Lent on Ash Wednesday evening at 8 p.m. A Penitential Service was followed and a sermon on repentance as it leads to conversion was delivered by the Rev. J. M. Grant.

In St. James' Church, Ormstown a choir of members of the Presbyterian, United and Anglican churches made a very fine addition to the Service on Thursday evening at 8 p.m.

The Rev. A. E. Lorie gave a very excellent and challenging sermon, making especially two points — one in regard to the "son" who repented, and went to work in the Lord's vineyard; and secondly the accepting of the words of the prophet Nathan, "Thou art the man" as applying to each one of us. The Lord speaks to us as sinners.

The Service, as a whole, seemed to open the way for the needs of those present to be met.

The Services will be continued as listed in the Church Column.

Ormstown Legion And Lions Sponsor Ice Carnival

A record crowd was out for the carnival on Friday night. The Legionnaires and the Lions worked hard to make the evening a success and they were not disappointed. Pee Wee hockey was played at eight o'clock. The Ormstown Majorettes under the direction of Miss Dawn McMahon presented a fine routine and were called back later to repeat their performance. Many interesting costumes were worn by old and young in their effort to help make the carnival the real McCoy. After judging of the costumes, races were held with a brilliant display of fast skating. A great part of the success of the carnival is due to the generosity of the merchants who kindly donated gifts and money to be awarded as prizes. Health Week Observed By Rotary Club — Dr. H. Fyfe Guest Speaker

Huntingdon Rotary Club observed Health Week at their regular luncheon meeting on Monday, by having Dr. H. Fyfe address them. Dr. Fyfe is a psychiatrist and was introduced to the meeting by Rotarian President Alister Somerville.

Following are some of the highlights of Dr. Fyfe's address on the subject of Doctor-Patient Relationship.

THE DOCTOR PATIENT RELATIONSHIP

I am honoured to have this opportunity to speak with you today. I am also anxious and you may consider it strange that a psychiatrist would find himself in a situation like this. It is not really so; we all have similar feelings in circumstances which are in part unfamiliar — you are unknown as people to me and I to you.

Dr. McPherson who was to have addressed you wishes me to express his apology. It was his suggestion that the doctor-patient relationship would be an appropriate topic and the reason for this selection became clearer to me when he announced that he would be out of the country for three weeks because he had to accompany one of his patients to his home in Borneo. You will now appreciate that this relationship can be very interesting!

You may say, and indeed patients have been saying for a long time, that the present-day doctor is too scientific, too aloof, and too busy to listen to our problems. You may lament the passing of the "old family doctor" beloved by all his patients and to whom he afforded his support in all manner of their tribulations. This is a familiar cry and not without its elements of truth. I would say to you that there is another side to the coin. Patients too have changed, perhaps without being fully aware of it. It is the patient who has come to expect the detached scientific approach where tests replace talking. It is he who leaves the family doctor to seek consultation with a specialist.

What has brought about this change in patients' attitude and his image of the doctor? Once upon a time doctors knew very little about disease but patients knew even less. The patient approached the doctor in absolute faith and trust. Because of this the doctor was able to dispense reassurance in liberal doses. His patients often didn't get better but at least they felt so.

The situation has changed radically today. The doctor knows a great deal more about disease in its technical and scientific aspects but he is also not dealing with an ignorant and superstitious population. His patient is much better informed than his forefather. He is bombarded with medical information from the press, Readers Digest, television and so on — how many of you watch Ben Casey or Dr. Kildare? — and even by medical speakers such as myself.

All this serves to alter the relationship between doctor and his patient. The patient, often now approaches the doctor with a very well-defined idea about what is wrong with him, how it should be investigated, and what the current treatment is. We as doctors have to take an honest look at this and be a little less touchy if our views are challenged or questioned by a knowledgeable patient. You, as patients need not always consider that we are interested only in the aspects of your health which can be tested and measured and that this is the only way in which we can be approached.

I have already drawn attention to the fact that worry can be an accompaniment of all illness and this particularly in disorders of sudden onset that threaten our very existence. If one as a patient keeps his fears to himself, he might well be working hard against his recovery. Let us consider one extreme illustration of the adult patient who suffers a sudden heart attack and is admitted to hospital. He realistically has cause to worry but for reasons of shame he conceals his inner feelings and in his attempts to do this he may go the length of denying that he is in fact ill. Other compensatory behaviour may be invoked whereby he refuses medication, becomes querulous and difficult to handle. If this behaviour is not recognized for what it is, an unsuccessful attempt to handle his worry, it may invoke the self-same hostile response in the doctor and nurses with a consequent aggravation of the entire process.

With this, the relationship ends — at least it would if I were the patient — but not the illness. The doctor on the other hand may reassure the patient that he has no physical disease but that worry can cause the same symptoms, thereby inviting the patient to openly discuss his personal life. At this the patient may for a variety of reasons feel offended, ashamed and so on and quickly sever his connections with the doctor. His illness remains.

Huntingdon W.I. Concludes Successful Sewing Classes

Under the sponsorship of Huntingdon W.I. a very successful sewing class ended on Friday evening. Classes were held in Cafeteria at the High School under the capable leadership of Mrs. Wells of Macdonald College. Twenty-five ladies attended most afternoon and evening sessions. Friday evening, the ladies modeled the garments they had made and these included, suits, dresses, skirts, children's coats and one ambitious lady made a raincoat. Mrs. Otney had made all arrangements for the successful classes. On behalf of the ladies she expressed their appreciation to Mrs. Wells for the splendid manner in which she had conducted the class and presented her with a gift. Thanks were also extended to Mr. P. Hache, representative of Singer Sewing Machine Co. for his demonstration of the many uses to which the Singer machines can be put. The ladies were very grateful to the Company for the use of four electric machines. This is a very worthwhile project sponsored by the W.I. and it was gratifying to have both French and English ladies attend the classes. W.I. members served cookies and tea to all present.

Notes and Jottings

FROM

Robert Sellar's Historical Writings

After they had taken possession, one of their number James Brown, was sent to Quebec to secure titles to the lots. He had an interview with the governor, Lord Dalhousie, who listened with deep interest to the narrative he had to tell and assured him of his aid. In the fall, Mr. Bouchette visited them, and arranged for laying out the lots. He was exceedingly friendly and gave many hints as to bush-life and farming. He had much difficulty in understanding the broad Scotch of the settlers, and made himself popular with some of them by making a present of snuff. There was no order in the locating of the settlers, who worked very common. The most western shanty was that of Thomas Marshall on 19, and they straggled along the lake shore eastward to 14, where James Paul and Robert Barrie lived together in a low caboose. A shelter was provided, word was sent to Montreal for their families, who came as opportunity presented itself. The captain of the bateau which brought the first party, took a kindly interest in the settlement, and stopped whenever he passed. On one occasion he sold them a quantity of flour at $2 a barrel, for it was cheap that fall. Of the experience of one family I can give a few details. Marshall, having got everything ready, went to the city to bring up his family. Early in November, they left in a Durham-boat, and in three days reached Chateaugay, where, frost having set in, she could not get into the lake for ice. A canoe being expected, the wayfarers made beds of their wraps and lay down by the water's edge to be in readiness, the mother having her pillow the weaver's stone, for the loom formed part of their baggage. The canoe at last came, and was that of the negro, Bullard. When Mrs. Marshall stepped into the humble shanty her husband had provided, she said she considered it a palace, so proud was she of the first house she could call their own property, though she complained of the floor being "shoogly," owing to the uneven sawing of the boards. The Durham-boat continuing fast, the canoe had to make several trips for their effects.

The fall was a remarkably fine one, and the leaves being perfectly dry, the children were set to gathering and packing them into bolster-slips for the beds. December, though colder, was equally fine, and no severe weather was experienced until near its close, after which there were heavy falls of snow. The settlers found the cold very trying, owing to their ignorance in choosing fire-wood. Not knowing the difference in trees, and naturally inclining to those easiest to chop, they cut all sorts, and it was hard to keep up a blaze with swamp-elm and green basswood. Their houses, too, except the few that had been built shanty-fashion, were very cold, and they huddled around the great open fire-places when the west wind came screeching across the lake. In the mornings, they noted often that the blankets were frozen stiff with their breath. None of the women had ever baked bread in Scotland, and Mrs. Bullard's lessons were not first-class. They had no hops, and preserved leaven by covering it in a chaudière, for there was not a stove in the settlement, so the bread was sour and heavy.

With the advent of the ice, their communication was restored with Montreal, and they had many visitors to view the country and see about joining them. That winter, Peter McFarlane, a book-keeper fresh from a Glasgow countinghouse, with his worldly goods stowed in a train, drove up the Chateaugay from the Basin to above Huntingdon, where there was a lumber-road to the La-guerre, and thence made his way to the settlement, of which he became an active member. Every one was welcomed and the settlement grew until the string of shanties reached from Port Lewis to Hungry bay, when it was considered worthy of a name, and was duly called "Dalhousie Settlement," in honor of the governor. On New Year's morning its inhabitants were aroused at daybreak by Black Bullard firing a shot before each door, when he was rewarded by a glass from the carefully hoarded bottle. The day so ushered in, their first New Year in Canada, the settlers observed with the hearty customs of their mother-land and that night, from the shanties where they held their merry-making, rose in the frosty air the sound of Scotland's songs and many an old story was retold of the land their heartstrings were knit to. I may note that the settlers retained not only the social but the moral customs of their native land. Of their number, Hart and Dick had been prepared as secession preachers, and they, on alternate Sundays, preached in the house of Thomas Brown, which happened to be the largest. Neither was adapted for the "rolls of the bush, and both left the following summer, but after their departure, though no public services were held, Sunday was rigidly observed, and there was none of the hunting, fishing and card-playing that was too common in other settlements. Of Hart's unfitness for the bush, it is enough to relate that, on going out, he would wrap the edge of his axe with rags, to prevent its cutting him should it fall.

The Scotch citizens of Montreal, then few in number and bound together by closest bonds, took a deep interest in the new settlement, the first of its kind in Lower Canada, and did what they could to assist it. Two active promoters were Alexander Shaw and John Hunter. Sandy Shaw kept a tavern on the corner of Commissioners and Grey Nun streets, which had been a place of resort for the immigrants while in the city. He died of the cholera in 1834. Hunter had been a ship-chandler in Leith, and emigrated in 1819, opening a grocery-store on Bleury-street. During the early winter of 1820, he heard of a young Scotchman lying ill of the jaundice, and went to see him. Finding he was poorly attended, he induced his wife to take him into their house, and where he speedily recovered. The young man was James Brown, on his way back from seeing the governor at Quebec. The topic uppermost in his mind, and of which he was never tired talking, was the settlement on the shore of lake St. Francis. Hunter, who was of a singularly sanguine temperament, caught his guest's enthusiasm, and recommended all whom he could influence to throw in their lot with the party in Huntingdon. While hopeful as to their future, the settlers were uneasy as to the delay in securing deeds for their land, and had sent James Brown to Quebec to see about them, when he took ill on the journey as stated. He brought with him no patents, but his report was favorable. He had seen Lord Dalhousie, who told the settlers not to be discouraged and the head of the crown lands department led him to believe he (Brown) would be appointed agent. A stonemason by trade, his father had given him an education to fit him to be an architect, and his knowledge of civil engineering he now turned to account. He defined the limits of the lots of the settlers, and, on the occasion of a visit from his friend Hunter, after the New Year, he explored with him the country to the south, and determined on opening a road to the Chateaugay. Accordingly in February all the settlers who could be spared from home followed him to brush the line as he defined it. His object was to open the road left between 16 and 17, and considering that his only instrument was a makeshift theodolite he had contrived out of a field-compass, he ran it with singular straightness, for he came out on the Chateaugay within an acre or two of the true line. One evening, after a hard day's work running the line, the party made preparations to camp. The snow was trodden down, a fire lit, and branches cut for sleeping upon. While the two chain-boys were felling a dry pine to replenish the fire, it, proving hollow, suddenly fell, and nearly killed Mr. Brown, grazing one of his legs. While sitting round the camp-fire after supper, singing songs, and all grateful for the narrow escape, one of the party proposed that the swamp should be named in memory of the event, when it was agreed that it should be known as Teafield, from their then chief, Mr. Brown, upon it. On the line thus run, a road was finally brushed out by 7 of the young sons of the settlers, so that it was possible to pass from the lake to the Chateaugay. In the middle of March, Hunter made a second visit, examined the land, and accepted from Brown the lot at the outlet of the road, 17, range 5, on which he at once erected a shanty, and left his eldest son, John, and a Canadian in charge.

There were other visitors; among them several who had been passengers on the Alexander. As the lake-front was taken up, Brown proposed they should settle on the new line, which he designed as a concession, the farms to run east and west. Peter and Paul McFarlane were given the first lot and the next lot fell to William Caldwell. To get to them, it was necessary to do some brushing and to blaze a track, which done, Caldwell moved in during April, taking the MacFarlane brothers, who were unmarried, as boarders. John and William Hamilton had to go farther to get lots, for the Teafield spread its dreary waste to the south of Caldwell's, and they settled on 17, 4th range.

from this scant information, it had already been decided upon, and merely awaited official sanction. Am hoping to elaborate on this very automatic ruling elsewhere, as it is a matter of urgent interest to many residents in adjoining housing projects. Verbum sapienti!

Congratulations

And happy returns of birthday to Mrs. N. Wilkinson of "Dunkirk" which appear a day late, 14th inst., to Mrs. B. Morrison of "Sicily" today and Mrs. E. Hannah of "Mons" which occurs on Monday next, 19th inst.

A quasi tragedy

Imagine the dilemma a good neighbour of this correspondent quite recently experienced when he discovered himself locked in his own bathroom at 11 a.m. This very bright and active old young man did not lose his head, however, for did his bathroom not overlook Molson Ave., but a few paces distant from his apartment building? Two would be a simple matter to signal his plight to a passer-by! Only a matter of a few minutes' patience. During the next half hour, two taxis drove past, but his violent hand waving accompanied by apparent incoherent shouting from the face at the window evidently conveyed no message to the drivers, who possibly were answering calls for a taxi; and two young lads whose attention was similarly attracted, were sufficiently scared at the waving and shouting apparition that they took to their heels. The self-incarcerated prisoner now decided to try violent wall banging, foot stamping and similar means to attract the attention of anyone within sound, which succeeded in several windows and enquiring heads being popped out about a block away to no useful purpose, and discovering that it was now a quarter of an hour past noon, the victim began to have visions of being starved to death within reach of fellow humans and ample provisions

Finally, in desperation, our hero, by herculean beating of fists on the bathroom door caught the ear of a neighbour, "Marines to the rescue" — the neighbour succeeded in discovering the origin of the noisy vibrations, and quickly managed to open the offending door and release a ramping, raving and severely ruffled but ravenous neighbour at 12.25 p.m. No my friends, he did not need placing in a straight-jacket. He recounted his adventure with gusto and even saw the humour of the situation, which says much for his sense of humour. Yes folk, the moral of this story — see that your locks and bolts, etc., are in working condition.

A real smart guy

Motorists pulling up at Service Station ordered a couple of dollars' worth of gas. As the attendant started to fulfill the order, he remarked to the customer, "Guess you will be the last customer to get this at the old price." "In that case, fill the tank right up" replied the customer. Whilst awaiting the service, he went into the restaurant for a cup of tea, and upon returning to his car, saw the new sign just put up "Gas war — 5 cents off per gallon."

Apology

(For any lapses or errors — usual light-headedness.) The indisposition mentioned last week came to a head and have been under care of physician for most of week. He diagnosed very severe lung congestion, and run down physically. Injection, medicine and tonic have worked wonders, but still think two days more was the real cause of the Dr. taking such a dim view of my condition. His parting instructions, "Cut down your cigarettes to ten a day, and filtered ones at that." I had the last word however, when I told him I used that number before I rose each morning. Unfortunately I discovered that I was forced to take his advice to a great extent. Not altogether though.

and welfare of every Legion Member and the very existence of the Royal Canadian Legion itself is highlighted and paraded at a Dominion Convention. Here the executive members for the next two years are chosen. The by-laws altered or supplemented. Resolutions presented and voted upon. Any Branch Resolutions should be forwarded as soon as possible for study by the Resolution's Committee, and in this respect it would be profitable if the Branches could receive a briefing of intention and aspirations of and from Quebec Command. Information must be reciprocal or it dies at its source.

The Ladies Auxiliary of Branch 108 chose Ash Wednesday to elect their officers for the coming year. Election duties were carried out by Pres. Harry Robinson assisted by I.P. Pres. George Johnston and the following officers were elected in due form:

President, Cde Margaret Lobban; 1st V.-Pres., Mary Malloy; 2nd V.-Pres., Phil Johnston; Secretary, Mavis Holmes; Treasurer, Dolly McGlashan; Sergeant at Arms, Joan Cooper; Asst. Sergeant at Arms, Jean Peers; Executive: Cde Mildred McCutcheon, Cynthia Colley, Peggy Oliver, Elinor Britton.

President Lobban has authority to add to the executive as occasion demands. During the ensuing business after the elections, the ladies voted $150.00 to the senior branch to pay for a badly needed water heater and its installation. It transpires that the ladies had previously intended to replace the electric stove relic with which they were struggling along, but on this item the senior branch beat them to the punch.

A very interesting weekend approaches at the Branch with a St. Patrick's Dance and entertainment on Saturday, and the mixed Cribbage Tournament on Sunday.

The Chateaugay Legion is still looking for a replacement for their worn-out and tired old piano and feel that there must be an unused piano somewhere that is taking up much needed space in someone's living room. If so please let's discuss it on OX-2-8566.

The next Monthly executive meeting will be held Tues. March 20.

Solution of last week's problem Correct answer is 2 1/4 inches. Volume I being on the left the bookworm moved to the right and as the first page was nearest the right cover, it travelled through only one cover of Vol I which was one eighth of an inch thick, then through the 2 1/4 inches of vol II, and the left cover of vol III, another one eighth of an inch. Total 2 1/4 inches.

One for next week Two pilgrims travelling to Mecca met another traveller who asked them for bread which he would pay for. Upon checking their packs, one of the pilgrims found he had 8 loaves and the other had 5 loaves. They agreed to share the bread equally among the three of them and take payment from the stranger according to the amount each had contributed. The loaves were then shared equally and the stranger paid with 8 coins of equal value. The one who originally had 8 loaves was dissatisfied when the one who originally had only 5 loaves had taken 5 coins and left him only 3. If the coins had been distributed in accordance with the amount of bread each had shared with the stranger, how many coins would each one have received as his share. Answer next week.

CHATEAUGUAY SPORTS ROUND UP

(by JOHN McDONALD)

The finals in the Chateauguay Valley Junior Hockey League got under way last Saturday night at Loyola College and over 200 fans saw those Mighty Mohawks from Caughnawaga continue on their winning ways with a 3 to 0 victory over the Chateauguay Center Castors.
The Mohawks finishing third in the four-team loop polished off the League Champions Lions in the semi-finals and now have a one game lead in the finals. Saturday's game was a real thrilling one to watch and had the fans on their feet cheering their teams on. The first and second periods were scoreless with both goaltenders coming up with some real important saves. In the third period young Conrad Bouvais, with ten minutes to play left in the game beat the Castors' goalie with a shot to the low left corner, to give the Mohawks a 1 to 0 lead. The Castors fought back desperately and were busy all around the Mohawks net. But for some fine net minding by Williams could have got the equalizer. The Mohawks second goal was a real beauty. Clifford Ryce on a breakaway from center ice, came in all alone on the Castor goalie and faking a shot, forced the goalie to make the first move, then placed a shot to the left hand corner to make the score 2 to 0. Roy Jacobs got the Mohawks third tally on a shot from about 35 feet out which the Castor goalie was screened on. A few interesting highlights of the game were, the large number of fans to see the game, the singing of our National Anthem by the Castors fans to start the game and the in-between period display on the ice by the Mohawks Cheer Leaders.
An All-Star team of Bantams from the Chateauguay District Minor Sports Association under Referee-in-chief John Dempster, will compete in a Metropolitan Bantam Tournament at the Paul Sauve Arena, Fri., March 16th, at 7:00 p.m. The boys have had three practices together under the shrewd eye of Coach Dempster and look like a team we of Chateauguay should be proud of. Twenty-eight teams are entered in this tournament and one loss will mean elimination. Our lads will be meeting the St. Irene team. So come on Folks, get out there and root our lads on to victory.

Sneezes, sniffles and sore throats seem prevalent in most homes, while quite a few have been confined to bed with the 'flu. At this time of the year mothers have more than their share of problems trying to keep junior dry. The sun has been so hot all week that the melting snow has left puddles everywhere. And to a toddler's mind, what could be more fun than playing in the water? I've yet to see a child walk around a puddle, it's much more fun to wade through it, just to see how deep it is. In the meantime mother is at wit's end trying to keep an endless supply of dry mittens, slacks, etc. Cheer up, in another month's time, there shouldn't be any snow, then we'll just have the mud to contend with. However, that shouldn't be too bad this year as all the streets are paved. Anyone remember the spring three years ago when you couldn't even walk down St. Louis without losing a rubber in the mud? Nearly everyone had boardwalks from their house to the highway. So you can see, things really have improved.

Received a report from a reliable source that the inside of the hockey shack is quite a shambles. Too bad some children are not taught to respect others' property. By the looks of it, the bigger boys were responsible and should be old enough to know better. Several locks were placed on the door during the winter, only to be torn loose. Anyone know the guilty culprits? Such acts of vandalism should be most severely dealt with, before anything serious happens. Who will pay for the damage? Most definitely not the children who wrecked the shack. People say to keep the shack locked — yet, if the boys tear the locks off the door, what good is that? Anyone with a good solution to this very important problem? Don't forget this shack is in a permanent place now, and with summer coming along, certainly won't do much to enhance the surrounding if the boys are pulling it to pieces now. Think it over folks, any good suggestions would be more than welcome. After all, this is our community and it is up to each and everyone of us to see that it is a place we can point to with pride as being our chosen "home".

Bad Reports on Town Water

WE feel that it should be a matter of great concern, that our water supply is contaminated in any way. That five bad reports, whether minor or major, have been received within a month, should call for action of some kind.

It is, or should be, well known that contaminated water can be a serious threat to the health of all people using it. A filter plant is for the purpose of cleaning water of impurities so as to make the water safe for human consumption. It was said at the recent Council meeting that the cause of the bad water which raised such a furor a short time ago, is the run off of manure from farm lands bordering the river from which the supply is obtained. It had been reported that the river is polluted, but it was thought that the filter plant was adequate to take care of this and filter out the impurities, but apparently this is not so. The samples of the water that are sent in daily for analysis are taken from the mains after the water has been through the filtration process. This means then, that the water in those mains is impure and therefore rates a bad report. The bad report does not mean that the water is entirely unfit for human consumption, but it does mean that the water is not up to the specifications of purity.

This is Health Week

THIS week from March 11th to 17th is Canada's eighteenth annual National Health Week. It is a co-ordinated effort to call to the attention of the Canadian people the necessity for promoting and conserving health by all possible means. The Health League of Canada which sponsors the annual observance, recognizes the fact that health is everybody's business and that the co-operation of all voluntary and official agencies is necessary.

There are many, many problems which enter into the matter of health, yet by being thoughtful and careful, a large number of them can be overcome. It is rather strange in a land with the high living standard which is found in Canada, that less than a third of the people have the proper nutrition. The food rules for nutrition, if followed, builds strong, disease-resistant bodies. Therefore this is an important point for everyone to make a study of. If our bodies are not strong, then it is very hard to maintain the proper standards of health. It is not the quantity of intake of food that counts, it is the nutritional value of the food that is important.

Many diseases which were prevalent in past years and which accounted for the loss of a large number of our population, have been reduced. These have been reduced through the introduction of vaccines which produce immunity. Even polio which had great potential threat, has been decreased by the use of Salk vaccine. Infant mortality is still too high, there are ten countries with a better

Future In Elections

THE controversial question these days seems to be elections. The foremost being when the Federal election will be held and all the changes that are being sought for future Quebec Provincial Elections.

The first one we cannot answer yet, anyone more than anyone else can. It is presumed that a Federal Election may be held this year — but when, your guess is as good as the next fellow's. One thing however, that appears certain, there will be four separate parties in the field when it is called. There will be Social Credit, New Democratic Party, Liberals and Progressive-Conservatives. You take your choice. It is understood that Social Credit will come out strong in Quebec this time, but how it will be throughout Canada is not yet certain. Already Social Credit is stopping the country and feels it has a very good chance on account of having won two provinces — Alberta and British Columbia. The New Democratic Party also feels it has a very good chance of making headway and might even form a government. In Saskatchewan, at least, Tommy Douglas, the Leader, has many friends, having lead the C.C.F. Party to power in that Province over a period of years. In the industrial Provinces it is quite possible his party may make progress in view of the strong backing of the Unions which make up the Party.

There will no doubt be a great battle between all the parties who will be offering "burnt offerings" to the people in hope of catching votes. The Progressive-Conservatives have taken some of the wind out of the Liberals bid for higher rates of old age pension, although the Liberals still have an edge

This fact alone should call for investigation of the entire system to check on what can be done to improve the situation. It is something that should not be allowed to just drift along. The situation occurs too often and eventually it could reach very alarming proportions. The warning has been given, the remedy must be found, it is not something that can be ignored in the hope that it will remedy itself.

Water is an important matter for the health of the people and medical authorities are continually warning people who go on vacation to be sure of the water they use and drink. We have gone to considerable expense in having a filtration plant to supply us with as pure as possible a supply of water, yet it is not doing the job it is supposed to. The fact that we have had bad reports proves this. It also proves that we are not getting the protection that the plant is supposed to give. If more cleansing properties are required to give the right amount of protection, then steps should be taken to do this. It is a prime requisition in the interests of the health of all the people. It is a very important and serious matter.

record in infant deaths than Canada. Accidents are taking a great toll of our population, with motor accidents as the greatest cause. Alcoholism is affecting at least one in every fifty adults and the number is increasing daily. There are six countries with a worse rate of alcoholism than Canada. Over $500 million is lost annually in wages in industry through absenteeism, much of which is preventable.

These are only a few of the health problems of this country, there are plenty more. In nearly every case, if not all, something could be done to bring about a decrease and thus improve the health standard of our country. Good health is a priceless asset and one that should be strived for by everyone. There is no doubt that the health of everyone can be improved and the proper attention to nutrition is very important. This need not involve great expense, for the food rules do not call for very expensive varieties of food. They include such items as milk, fruits, vegetables, cereals and breads, meats, fish and eggs, just ordinary everyday items of food that can be spread out over each week. It is an inexpensive contribution to the road of good health and should be followed.

Health week is intended to promote thought of health and periodical check-ups by your doctor are also recommended in order to detect any disease which may be attacking your body and be checked before it reaches dangerous proportions. Make Health Week every week and keep healthy.

of $10 per month which might catch a few extra votes. However, there is an upturn in the economy at this time, according to statistics, from the previous downturn, and this may make a difference for the Progressive-Conservatives. The Liberals are making a strong bid for return to power, by a platform that promises many things. If they take the bull by the horns as the Liberals did in the last Quebec Provincial Election, they may just pull it off. They would then have to worry about carrying out their promises as the Provincial Liberals have had to do.

From the few glances at the moment, a Federal election could be very exciting right up to when the final count is taken. In Provincial politics, a similar picture could be painted when that event should take place. It is not likely that this would be very soon, as the Government platform is only just getting into stride. Should an election be called, it is quite possible there would be four political Parties in the field also. These would include: Liberals, Union Nationale, Social Credit and possibly a new one made up of the Promoters of Separatism. It was announced the past week that the supporters of the separatist movement will likely form a party of their own, unless they can get one of the other two groups to take up their cause and embody it in their own platform. Union Nationale Leader Johnson has already turned it down, so that leaves the Liberals. It is hardly likely that they will take it up, so it would seem that a new party may be formed.

There is no doubt there is lots of time for the development of this plan and time

Provincial Capital Report

QUEBEC (CP) Premier Lesage told Prime Minister Diefenbaker this week that the resources are strictly a Provincial affair.

I must persist in my opposition to the principle of any meddling by the federal authority in the domain of electric energy and cannot agree to be present nor represented at a conference on this subject.

This was part of Lesage's reply to an invitation from Prime Minister Diefenbaker to attend a Federal-Provincial Conference on a National Power Grid.

The Premier said Quebec will discuss power with other provinces but not while Ottawa is present.

The correspondence between himself and the Prime Minister was tabled during one of the Legislature's brief sittings this week, most of which was devoted to study of private bills.

Outside the House, the Winter Carnival came to an end with fireworks, laughter, folk singing and a few tears as Bonhomme Carnaval — The great snowman who spreads good cheer about the city — left town for another year.

The last carnival weekend saw hotels, motels and tourist homes packed and some visitors sleeping in city hall and police headquarters.

One hotel reported some reservations already made for next year's carnival period.

Back at the Legislature, Montreal's annual bill of Charter Amendments drew most of the attention of the Private Bills Committee.

It approved in principle Sunday elections in the metropolis.

Municipal elections this year are scheduled for Sunday, Oct. 28, as a result.

Mayor Jean Drapeau and Premier Lesage both favored Sunday as an election date.

The Premier noted that political rallies usually were well attended on Sundays.

"The right to vote is so sacred it is fitting to hold elections on Sundays," Premier Lesage added.

But Opposition Leader Daniel Johnson said he is opposed personally to the idea. Mayor Drapeau said two Protestant churches — the Presbyterian and one other — opposed Sunday elections. Others had registered no protest.

Montreal's racket-riddled taxi industry came up for discussion, with Independent City Councillor Raymond Mondor telling the committee some permits were sold 10 times without leaving the hands of the owner.

High interest rates left purchasers unable to meet payments.

The taxi questions were left up in the air however pending a report from the Provincial Transport Board on the subject.

Meanwhile, Transport Minister Gerard Cournoyer announced that drivers of a popular little ski vehicle being seen more and more often on suburban hills and fields will have to pay $4. for licence plates.

Furthermore, they would need a driver's permit and insurance if they ventured onto public roads.

This would mean more security for all, Mr. Cournoyer added.

Alberta, the fastest growing province, expanded its population by 41.8 per cent to 1,331,944.

British Columbia recorded a 39.8 per cent gain to 1,629,082. Ontario's rate of growth was 35.6 per cent and Quebec's 29.7.

Newfoundland's population went up by 26.7 per cent to 457,853. Manitoba's by 18.7 per cent to 921,686. New Brunswick by 15.9 per cent to 597,936. Nova Scotia's by 14.7 to 737,007. Saskatchewan by 11.2 to 925,181 and Prince Edward Island by 6.3 to 104,629.

Along with news of a booming population, came the report of the skirting balance of payments deficit. Last year, said the bureau, it was down to $989,000,000 thanks mainly to a surplus on merchandising trade.

This marked a reduction of nearly 20 per cent from the $1,217,000,000 deficit in 1960.

But the report said that there was a record high $1,168,000,000 deficit in non-merchandise transactions with other countries last year. Nearly half of it resulted from dividend and interest payments on foreign investments.

Canada's merchandise trade position has been improving for the last two years, said the report, but there has been a widening deficit on "invisible" non-merchandise transactions such as interest and dividend payments and travel and shipping costs.

The largest single factor in the reduction of the balance of payments deficit was a $179,000,000 surplus on commodity trade. When this figure is compared with a $145,000,000 deficit in 1960, it marks a turnaround out of $324,000,000.

Another announcement on trade last week came from Finance Minister Fleming in the Commons when he said that Canada and the United States have agreed to a round of tariff-cutting that will affect about $128,000,000 a year in across-the-board trade. Canada will cut 61 tariff items on a wide range of American goods, and in return the United States will reduce 71 tariff items on Canadian exports.

There was no clear indication on what this would mean to the Canadian consumer, but Mr. Fleming said the long-range effect will be "greatly enhanced prospects for Canadian exports."

This was one of a series of new tariff-cutting agreements made by the United States with 19 countries, and under the rules of the General Agreement on tary basis, but there are some things which must be paid for. Once again they will be!

The worried frowns are disappearing from the brows of the members of the Athletic Association. At last they are seeing their way clear to continuing their sports programme for another year. The Village Council of Hemmingford have made them a generous donation of $200 and the Township Council one of $150. alone will tell the outcome. However, we can only point out that such a move would be dangerous for the future of Quebec Province. If the movement grew to such proportions that it could form a government, there would be serious implications for everyone. No matter how strong Quebec is at present under today's conditions, if it was to cut itself off from the rest of Canada, it would be very weak. Despite the fact that so much is said of autonomy, much Federal assistance comes to Quebec for a number of its services that it would be hard to go along without it. Many other factors would enter into the picture also which would have damaging effects upon the economy. It is doubtful if the British North America Act would be of further use under such circumstances. It is this which preserves the autonomy of the Province.

Thus we see that future elections hold plenty of food for thought in the meantime.

Report From Ottawa

OTTAWA — (CP) Canadians learned last week that, as of last June 1, there were 18,238,247 of them.

And this, said the Dominion Bureau of Statistics in its reckoning of last year's census, means that Canada grew at a faster clip during the last 10 years than any time since the west was opened by a wave of immigration in the 1901-11 decade.

Since the 1951 census, 4,228,818 new residents were added — a 30.2 per cent increase. Only the 1901-11 increase of 43.2 per cent beats this.

In its second major report of the week — an earlier one reported that Canada's balance of payments deficit last year was reduced to its lowest point since 1955 — the bureau produced census figures to show that two-thirds of the population increase occurred in Ontario and Quebec in the 10-year period; that the fastest growing provinces were Alberta and British Columbia; that Prince Edward Island and Saskatchewan were the slowest.

Newfoundland had the highest growth rate among the Atlantic Provinces.

Together, Ontario and Quebec accounted for 67 per cent of the increase with Ontario adding 1,638,559 people to reach 6,236,992 and Quebec gaining 1,203,530 for a total of 5,259,211.

Alberta, the fastest growing province, expanded its population by 41.8 per cent to 1,331,944. British Columbia recorded a 39.8 per cent gain to 1,629,082. Ontario's rate of growth was 35.6 per cent and Quebec's 29.7.

Newfoundland's population went up by 26.7 per cent to 457,853. Manitoba's by 18.7 per cent to 921,686. New Brunswick by 15.9 per cent to 597,936. Nova Scotia's by 14.7 to 737,007. Saskatchewan by 11.2 to 925,181 and Prince Edward Island by 6.3 to 104,629.

This marked a reduction of nearly 20 per cent from the $1,217,000,000 deficit in 1960.

But the report said that there was a record high $1,168,000,000 deficit in non-merchandise transactions with other countries last year. Nearly half of it resulted from dividend and interest payments on foreign investments.

Canada's merchandise trade position has been improving for the last two years, said the report, but there has been a widening deficit on "invisible" non-merchandise transactions such as interest and dividend payments and travel and shipping costs.

The largest single factor in the reduction of the balance of payments deficit was a $179,000,000 surplus on commodity trade. When this figure is compared with a $145,000,000 deficit in 1960, it marks a turnaround out of $324,000,000.

Another announcement on trade last week came from Finance Minister Fleming in the Commons when he said that Canada and the United States have agreed to a round of tariff-cutting that will affect about $128,000,000 a year in across-the-board trade. Canada will cut 61 tariff items on a wide range of American goods, and in return the United States will reduce 71 tariff items on Canadian exports.

There was no clear indication on what this would mean to the Canadian consumer, but Mr. Fleming said the long-range effect will be "greatly enhanced prospects for Canadian exports."

This was one of a series of new tariff-cutting agreements made by the United States with 19 countries, and under the rules of the General Agreement on

tary basis, but there are some things which must be paid for. Once again they will be!

Tariffs and Trade, these other tariff reductions will be passed on to GATT partners, including Canada.

Meanwhile, on the political front, the date of the next general election — a guessing game for months — wasn't out of the news.

Just as though a general election was the last thing he had in mind, Prime Minister Diefenbaker rose in the Commons and announced that by-elections would be held in Waterloo South and Nicolet-Yamaska Sept. 19 to fill two of the three vacant seats.

The announcement came as a surprise to the many observers who thought the by-election would be held in June, providing a political weather vane for a fall general election. But while this theory has been torpedoed, the by-elections do nothing to indicate just when an election might be called.

If the general election is called before Sept. 10, the two by-elections will be washed out.

The Nicolet-Yamaska seat has been vacant since last Oct. 6 when Mines Minister Paul Comtois resigned to become Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec. Although the seat has a predominantly Liberal record, Mr. Comtois won it with 11,380 votes compared to 7,219 by his Liberal opponent. The riding is about 50 miles northeast of Montreal.

The Waterloo South seat, south of the industrial centre of Kitchener, has been vacant since last June 6. The late William Anderson won the traditionally conservative seat with a 9,831-vote margin.

On a subject far-removed from elections, the House was informed by External Affairs Minister Green that at least one Canadian serving in Indochina with the international truce commission has been brought home for violating Canadian law.

Mr. Green did not elaborate on the details, but a source outside the House said the case involved the acceptance of money by an army officer to smuggle narcotics into Canada. The source said that other officers may be involved.

It is understood that Canadians in Viet Nam have frequently been approached with offers ranging up to $50,000 to deliver narcotics to contacts in Canada.

Anti-Bomb Women

Outside the Commons chamber on Parliament Hill last week, women were in the news. A delegation of 250, some carrying babies, came from Montreal to demand that the Canadian Government try to persuade President Kennedy to call off his country's plans for nuclear testing in the atmosphere.

They crowded into the biggest committee room to present their demands to Mr. Diefenbaker, External Affairs Minister Green and other cabinet ministers. The group also asked that Canada renounce nuclear weapons and take part in the "non-nuclear club" of nations proposed by Sweden.

The Prime Minister and Mr. Green said Canada is doing all it can to promote peace and end nuclear explosions, but they made no commitments on any of the women's proposals.

Annual Meeting W. A. Barrie Memorial Hospital Shows Another Successful Year

The Annual Meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the Barrie Memorial Hospital was held in the Hospital Board Room, on February 26th, at 2 p.m.

Mrs. W. O. McClintock presided and welcomed a goodly crowd who braved the elements of the weather, showing a keen interest in the Hospital welfare.

Mrs. McClintock expressed her thanks to Mrs. Fearn, Executive and members for their co-operation to further the work of the organization. Mrs. Eugene Sauvé welcomed the French ladies.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. An islette has been purchased. It was decided to make a payment of $400, on it, balance to be paid later.

Reports from the various committees were given.

1st. Publicity by Mrs. O. Goodall.

Notices of the Annual and General meetings were read in St. James' Anglican, St. Mark's Anglican, (Valleyfield) and Franklin Anglican Churches; Ormstown Presbyterian, Georgetown and Riverfield Presbyterian (Howick) Rockburn Presbyterian and Valleyfield Presbyterian Churches; St. Paul's United, Ormstown, Franklin, Rennie's Zion United Churches; and Valleyfield United Church on the previous Sundays. Mrs. Sauvé had those announcements read in the Ormstown and Howick Roman Catholic Churches.

When we had our Fall Tea and Home Bake Sale notices were sent to all Protestant Churches on the South Shore and Ormstown and Howick Roman Catholic Churches.

Notices were inserted in the local English and French newspapers.

2nd. Refreshment Committee by Mrs. John Whitehead.

Refreshments were served at our last annual meeting, on March 6th, 1961: Hospital Day on May 10th, the General Meeting, when we celebrated our 10th Anniversary. We had a Birthday Cake which was shared with a large number of members and friends.

3rd. Membership by Mrs. B. M. McCarty.

Repotting Plants

Repotting of house plants is usually done in the spring, however check your plant by turning the pot upside down and tapping it gently against wood, while holding the stem firmly between your index and second fingers. The plant will fall out in your hand and if the soil is covered with webbed, dryish roots you know your plant is potbound and should be repotted.

As a rule a pot one size larger is adequate. If you use new pots soak them in water first, and if you are re-using old ones make sure you clean them thoroughly and scrub them well with a stiff brush to remove all mold or fungus.

Cover the hole in the pot with a piece of broken crockery, then add a little potting mixture. Place the plant in the pot, and fill in around the roots, leaving a space of one inch below the rim. Settle the soil by jarring the pot against the table or bench and then pack it by pressing it with your fingers lightly until it is evenly firm.

When you have finished repotting, water the soil thoroughly. If the water passes through it rapidly press it down. If the water remains on top loosen the soil a little.

It is important to avoid overwatering the plant before new roots can establish themselves. A good standard potting mixture would be one-half good garden soil, one-quarter peat-moss and one-quarter sand. To this add some manure and bone meal.

When changing the soil in a planter, soak the soil for a few hours and then, using a fork, dig each plant out preserving as many roots as possible. After removing the plants take out

MRS. BRODIE BRITAIN'S ADDRESS

It is an honour for me to be your president and I shall try to fulfil to the best of my ability.

As you know, this Auxiliary is now ten years old. Five very capable ladies have preceded me as president. They have set me a fine example and a high standard. I shall try to follow in their train. With God's help and your continued cooperation, we will continue to expand.

I have been much interested in the reports just given. They show a record of work well done. We have much of which to be proud in past accomplishments. There is a place for every lady to fill. Some can only pay their dollar fee and attend the general meetings — for this we are grateful. Others can render more, such as serving in the Hospitality Shop, taking the ward cart around to the patients, baking a home sewing, knitting goods to be sold at the Shop, serving on committees, and so on down the line; but somewhere there is a place for you.

At this time, I would like to pay tribute to Mrs. McClintock, our retiring president. Her two years in office have not been without her problems. In her quiet and efficient manner she has performed her duties well. It is a privilege for me to present this plant to Mrs. McClintock from her executive in recognition of her faithful service.

After Mrs. Brittain's address the meeting was adjourned. A social hour followed — the refreshment committee serving delicious refreshments.

We celebrated our 10th Anniversary and during those years with the following presidents — Mrs. C. Bryson, Mrs. Geo. Elliott, Mrs. A. A. McCormick, Mrs. J. A. Davidson, Mrs. W. O. McClintock, a tremendous amount of work has been accomplished. We hope the coming years will be as successful for our Auxiliary.

FREEDOM STAMPS Several friends and members have sent in stamps for which the Pomona Lecturer Kay Williams is grateful. However, the stamps which are required are the Commemorative and Pictorial Stamps — showing the industries, agriculture pictures, etc. the portrait stamps of the Queen and American Presidents are NOT required as the Afro-Asians receiving the stamp packages are not interested in people, but do need the scenes of natural resources, etc. necessary to the "Stamp Out Communism" Project. The Commemorative and Pictorial stamps tend to show these people that Canada and the United States are not backward countries as the Russians would have them believe. (The portrait stamps so far received have been sent to Church Groups who collect this type of stamp). Please keep on sending in the Type of Stamp Required — Watch all your mail — Canada has some very beautiful ones.

New Eyes for the Needy Project. Old eyeglasses have been received from several sources, including a friend from Verdun, Quebec. These too are urgently needed. Dundee DUNDEE — Last Thursday morning funeral services were held for John Edward Farley in the St. Agnes Church. Father Bagnon officiated.

Mr. Farley died March 2nd in the hospital in Hoboken, N.J. He was born in Dundee in 1901, a son of John and Harriet McFarley. Although living in New Bergen, N.J., Mr. Farley enjoyed coming to his old home in Dundee, during the summer holidays. The Farley family were all musical and as young people they enjoyed an orchestra of their own. His sister, Grace, played the piano, Thomas and Jack the violins and Herman the drums although they could alternate at the different instruments.

The Farley home at that time was a favourite gathering place for the young people of the district and everyone was welcome.

Those left to mourn have loss are his daughter, Miss Antonia Farley, two sisters, Miss Grace Farley of Dublin, Georgia, and Mrs. Newman Smith of Oak Ridge, Tenn., and a brother, Leonard, of Syracuse, N.Y. He was predeceased by his wife, Elfrida Peters, a sister, Mrs. Anne Farley Johnson, R.N., and two brothers, Thomas and Herman.

It is in white "Terylene" batiste printed with red, pink and orange chrysanthemums. The dress is slim with a deeply scooped neckline back and front. A sweeping train falls from the back and hangs severely straight just touching the ground.

A number of ladies from this district attended the Public Speaking Finals in Howick High School on Wednesday, March 7th. Much effort had been put forth by the entrants.

Returning Holiday-makers

Mr. and Mrs. Aylmer Hadley are back from a most enjoyable trip to Florida. They, together with Mr. and Mrs. McMillan of Franklin, motored down the West coast, called on the Walsh's in Dade City, went out as far as Key West, called on the Earle Radley's who showed them around St. Petersburg, Tampa and Silver Springs, met the Robinsons and Mrs. Ethel Barr and, of special interest to Mr. Hadley, visited Hardee Farms. They returned up the East coast and stopped a little while at a charming, quiet place, Vero Beach, which Mrs. Hadley has earmarked for next year's trip? Apparently the weather down there can be quite as unpredictable as it is here, they had the hottest February ever, 90 and some very cool nights when it dropped to 42. The speedometer showed a total of 4,500 miles, for that figure they should have many happy memories to recall for some time to come.

"Hemmingford Women's Institute Hold Annual Meeting"

The annual meeting of the Hemmingford Women's Institute was held in the High School, on Wednesday, March 7th. Twenty-four members and two guests attended.

The Education Convener, Mrs.

E. Keddy, mentioned that it was Education week and anyone interested would be most welcome to visit in the school. She also reported that the local Public Speaking Contest in Hemmingford High School will be held on the afternoons of Thursday, March 15th, and Friday, March 16th, at 1 p.m. in the auditorium. Again this year parents and friends are urged to attend. This is an opportunity for the pupils to improve in the art of public speaking. Please give them your support by attending. The County finals will be held in Ormstown on March 30th.

The Home Economics Convener, Mrs. G. Ellerton, reminded members that the closing date for entries in the Salad Competition is May 15th, 1962.

The Agriculture Convener, Mrs. J. L'Esperance, is already hard at work on the details of the programme of exhibits and calculating the quantity of flower and vegetable seeds required for the pupils to plant in the spring in readiness for the school fair next fall.

Mrs. J. Robertson, Health and Welfare Convener, read a letter received from the Unitarian and Service Committee. It was in appreciation of the fourteen sewing kits sent in by the Hemmingford branch. The sewing kits are to be sent on to the needy mountain women of Greece.

It was decided to renew the branch membership in the Auxiliary of the Verdun Protestant Hospital again this year. The Hemmingford W.I. is to purchase space in the High School Year Book again this year.

There was considerable discussion on the much debated subject of "meat that is unfit for human consumption". Various points of view were put forward. It was noted from the bulletins issued by the C.A.C. that they are already seriously looking into this matter.

The roll call was "pay your dues and tell a joke". Many good laughs were enjoyed!

At this time the regular meeting was brought to a close and the annual meeting began. The minutes of the 1961 meeting were read and approved.

The Secretary's report showed a roll call of forty-three members in the past year with an average attendance of twenty-one. Mrs. K. Campbell, Mrs. G. Ellerton and Mrs. H. McAdam had perfect attendance while Mrs. E. Keddy, Mrs. J. Robertson and Mrs. R. Curry missed only one meeting.

The Treasurer, Mrs. R. Let, reported a bank balance of $302.43.

During the past year the members toured Hinde and Dauche Paper Co., The Dutch Greenhouses, the Salvation Army came to pick up twice, the group membership to the Verdun Protestant Hospital was renewed, and $5.00 was donated towards their Christmas Party. They helped the Red Cross with a Blood Donor Clinic and a water safety demonstration. Sewing kits were made for the Unitarian Service and a sewing course was well attended. A utility cart was donated to the school.

The usual projects such as the School Fair, Public Speaking Contest and Shell-out for UNICEF were carried out. Dr. Paul Belanger gave a most informative talk on cancer at an open meeting.

The finances were increased by a plant sale, card party, food sale and catering to the Little League Banquet. There was a special collection of Pennies for Friendship.

The following Conveners gave full and interesting reports: Mrs. E. Keddy, Education, Mrs. J. Robertson, Health and Welfare, Mrs. G. Winter, Publicity, Mrs. G. Ellerton, Home Economics, Mrs. J. L'Esperance, Agriculture and Mrs. F. Barr, Citizenship. The adoption of the foregoing reports was moved by the officers concerned and seconded by Mrs. MacGregor.

Mrs. H. Palmer then took the chair for the election of officers. Mrs. D. Orr, Chairman of the Nominating Committee, submitted the slate of officers and as there were no further nominations from the floor, they were declared by Mrs. H. Palmer. She then thanked the retiring officers for their good work and wished the new officers good luck. The slate of officers reads as follows:

 1st. Vice-President: Mrs. F. Greer
 2nd. Vice-President: Mrs. R. Curry

HOWICK — A meeting of the Howick Red Cross Society was held at the Curling Rink, on Monday, March 5th. Sixteen members were present.

This meeting was primarily a quilting bee. Two quilts were completed and six more are ready for quilting at the next meeting on April 2nd.

Mrs. Fletcher, President, presided at the short business meeting. Special mention was made of the large amount of knitting Mrs. T. T. Gobbie has done for the Howick Branch and it was moved that a note of appreciation be sent to her in this connection.

The World Day of Prayer Service was held at Georgetown Presbyterian Church, on Friday afternoon, March 9th, with members of Howick, United, Riverfield and Georgetown Churches participating in the programme.

The Order of Service, as prepared by the Women's Inter-Church Council of Canada, was followed. Mrs. Wallace Logan opened the Service with the call to worship and led in the first section of the responsive reading.

Miss Jean Ritchie and Mrs. Bruce Chisholm led in the second and third sections of the programme. Those leading in prayer were Mrs. Glen White, Mrs. Russell Logan, Mrs. Wm. Stewart, Mrs. J. Tillotson and Mrs. Ronald Tennant.

An interesting address given by Mrs. Janet Reddick was based on the World Day of Prayer theme, "God's Love for the Whole World."

Members of the Georgetown choir, with Mrs. Wilburn Anderson at the organ, rendered the anthem "Keep on Believing God will Answer Prayer."

Three hymns were sung, "Love Divine all Loves Excelling," "Lord Speak to Me that I may Speak," and the closing hymn "This Day Thou Gavest Lord is Ended."

Collection amounted to $22.60. An additional $10.50 was received from a Prayer Service held at the Preston Home in Howick.

Twelve ladies met at Mrs. Vi Preston's for the World Day of Prayer Service. Mrs. R. B. Ness led the service assisted by Mrs. Gobbie, Miss Goudrey, Miss Tait and Mrs. Crawford. An interesting true story about a young friend in Scotland, was read by Mrs. Wm. Brown and a duet was sung by Mrs. Ness and Mrs. Crawford. Miss Tait read a poem.

Following the meeting several others joined the group, including Rev. W. Brown, and refreshments were served. Everyone enjoyed visiting with old friends. Offering $10.50.

Annual Meeting W. I. The annual meeting of the Howick Women's Institute was held Tuesday, March 6th, at the home of Mrs. J. Crawford. Mrs. J. R. Younie presided and 18 members and friends were present.

Irish songs were sung, and the roll call gave new ideas for 1962-63 program. Highlights of the meeting were the convener's reports, which covered Agriculture, Education, Citizenship, Welfare and Health, Home Economics and Publicity. The W.I. is open to women of all races and creeds, and as we study, discuss, demonstrate, learn new arts and crafts, and carry out projects, we become more aware of the needs and desires of our sisters across the seas, as well as those in our own community and country.

Last year our disbursements were $347.00. This included about $80 for prizes to Howick High School students; $5, to music Festival; $25 to Barrie Memorial Hospital; $70 to Quebec Service Fund; $10 U.N.I.C.E.F. $11 to student who attended seminar, new mattress for our hospital bed and other annual expenses which must be met.

We celebrated our 50th anniversary and a large delegation attended the 50th anniversary of C.W.I. Talks were given by a student who attended a Seminar; travel talks were given by Mrs. G. Roy and Miss Muriel Cairncross; talk on health by Mrs. A. Peddie, R.N.; Ormstown kindergarten was visited; picnic held for senior citizens; There were many interesting discussions, papers and demonstrations by members.

Plans have been made for a sewing course, which is open to the public and will start March 19, at the High School. Plans are being made for a Safety Test for bicycles riders, which is a necessity in every community, to protect the rider and the public. A W. I. member has paid $10, to repair a bicycle left lying flat in front of her car. Other infractions of the safety rules are seen daily. Mrs. F. Sutherland was named delegate to the annual convention at Macdonald College. Mrs. J. D. Lang explained about the new measurements for children's clothes. Mrs. Lang read a government paper concerning the value and uses of potatoes, how to buy and store.

Potatoes are recommended for daily use in Canada's Food Rules as they supply valuable minerals and vitamins, if properly cooked. There were many ideas for new ways to cook and serve this lowly vegetable.

$10 was voted towards Retarded Children's Home and $7 towards public speaking prizes.

Delicious sandwiches and cookies were served by the Howick ladies. Mrs. Arthur Kerr presented the new slate of officers, which was accepted. Under their leadership and with the enthusiastic co-operation of all members, 1962-63 season should be a profitable and enjoyable one for all concerned.

President: Mrs. J. R. Younie; 1st Vice-Pres. Mrs. R. B. Ness; 2nd Vice-Pres. Mrs. E. Smith; Secretary: Mrs. J. D. Lang; Treasurer: Mrs. Frank Sutherland (ass't) Mrs. J. J. Peddie. Welfare and Health: Mrs. P. Peddie; Home Economics: Mrs. H. Greig; Agriculture: Mrs. F. Hope; Education: Mrs. H. Kerr; Publicity: Mrs. J. Crawford; Citizenship: Miss J. Ritchie.

The High School auditorium was filled with interested students and friends on Wednesday afternoon, March 7, to hear the semi-finals of the public speaking contest. As usual the younger pupils appeared to enjoy being in the limelight. The speeches were varied, original and interesting. The Women's Institute of Aubrey-Riverfield and Howick, appreciated the effort made by the students, many of whom find it a great ordeal. Some future day they will realize the value of these contests in public speaking.

While the judges were conferring a short play, "Brothers in Arms", was presented by Grade IX pupils. The play also is an invaluable help in public speaking as it involves action with speech. Cheryl Cullen, Roy Younie, Richard Turner and Brian Brown took part and spoke very well.

Judges for the speeches were Mrs. Math McKell, Mrs. H. Greig and Mr. W. F. Welch. Timekeeper, Mrs. H. Robertson.

Contestants Grades 4 and 5: 1. Lorne Templeton, 2. Diane Allen, 3. Philip Cullen, 4. Keith McCartney.

Grades 6 and 7: 1. George Elvidge, 2. Penny Root, 3. Keith Nussey, 4. Jimmy Hope.

Grades 8 and 9: 1. Carol Carson, 2. Lynn Brown, 3. Joan Cullen.

Mr. Douglas Ness accompanied by Mr. Ralph Cooley of Ghent, N.Y., spent a week at Prestwick, Scotland. On returning Mr. Cooley spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Ness.

Lynn Fontaine, hurrying to keep an appointment after a performance of "I Know My Love", said to the stage manager, "Please ask Mr. Lunt to come down the stairs in the last scene a little more quickly, as he holds up my line."

The message was relayed to Mr. Lunt. "Please tell Mrs. Fontaine," he replied, "that if she wants me to come downstairs faster, she should have married a younger man."
