PREFACE.

The Publishers take pleasure in presenting the Directory for 1907-1908 with the utmost confidence of its being received with the same favor and approval accorded previous issues.

A work of this kind to be valuable must be in all respects thoroughly reliable; and with a full appreciation of this fact every precaution is taken in order to secure the accuracy of the information; but it has to be taken into account that the whole of the work is done between the 4th of May and the 17th of July, a period of eleven weeks, and is a task that calls for the greatest anxiety and care.

It has been the aim of the Publishers to place the work in the hands of the subscribers at the earliest possible date in July, but this is a more difficult task each year, as the growth of the City and the Outskirts adds to the work, and there is a limit to the number of compilers who can be placed on it.

The Directory does not so far as the actual number of pages go, show an increase, but a comparison of the Alphabetical portion of this and last year will show a larger number of names to each page.

The Directory has now attained such a size, that it is necessary to give the information in as condensed a form as possible, at the same time not take away from the usefulness of it. This the Publishers have endeavored to do in the present issue.

The population of the outskirts as given from official returns received, shew a very large increase over those of last year.

The Directory contains about 119,000 names, and these represent a population of 434,000 for the City and outskirts; or, deducting for the outskirts 74,000, a population for the City proper of 360,000. The number of streets in the City and outskirts as shewn by the Street Directory number some 944, and our returns give 501 tenements, 166 stores, 281 offices and 232 houses as unoccupied. In sections of the City whole streets may be found in which there is not an unoccupied building. In over 25 of the large office buildings there is not one vacant office. This information has been especially compiled this year and may be accepted as correct.

The names of those residing in the outskirts of the City, except the residents of Lachine, Longueuil, St Lambert, Montreal South, Ville St Laurent and St Pierre aux Liens (Blue Bonnets), will be found in the Alphabetical portion of the Directory. The population of these last named places is not included in above estimate.

The Miscellaneous portion is given in a more condensed form as space will not permit of more extended information. Where information is wanting about some society or corporation the blame for the omission rests with the party who should have supplied it.

The Advertisers' Classified Directory is now a feature of the Directory, and as it is steadily increasing in size must now be of great value to those using it. In its pages are the names of the principal and most progressive firms in their several lines of business.

As usual, the Directory is divided into five parts, (1) The Miscellaneous Directory, (2) The Street Directory, (3) The Advertisers' Classified Directory, (4) The Alphabetical Directory, (5) The Outskirts.
