U.S. WILL STAND BY HUGHES' NOTE TO LORD CURZON

Matter of Debts Not Discussed at Franco-American Talk

STRICT SECRECY

French Reply to British Note Received in London Today

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6. — (United News.)—The United States still stands by the Hughes' note to Lord Curzon proposing an unrestricted expert investigation of Germany's capacity to pay and methods of payment and refusing to discuss the allied war debt in connection with the reparations question, was the statement which followed a conference of an hour and three quarters between Secretary of State Hughes and Jules Jusserand, French Ambassador.

The sponsor for the statement said that the debt question had not been raised. Paris dispatches had intimated that France intended to link them in its statement to the American government.

Both Hughes and Jusserand refused to divulge what took place, but there was no indication of a break. As he left Hughes' office, Jusserand said: "There is nothing that I can say except that we had a very friendly talk filled with great interest. I wish I could go further but that is all I can tell you. I know what you want, and I am sure the secretary will be delighted to tell you."

Hughes then went to the White House and conferred with President Coolidge for fifty minutes, giving him a report of what had happened at the conference with Jusserand.

Negotiations presumably are continuing with the hope that some formula may still be devised which will permit the United States and the Allies to join hands.

Previously the State Department announced that the Hughes' plan had been accepted by Great Britain, Italy and Belgium, leaving France alone in her opposition to an unlimited inquiry.

The speech of Myron T. Herrick, American Ambassador to France, attracted much attention here because he had just arrived in France after a visit to the United States. He was met at the White House for several hours but the statement that America would follow the furrow through was [illegible] to have been made entirely on his personal responsibility and without instruction from Washington.

[illegible]ITE DECISION.

[illegible]IS, Nov. 6. — (Special Star-[illegible]e Cable. Copyright.) — The [illegible] of official circles here is that [illegible]ador Jusserand's conversations [illegible]ecretary of State Hughes will [illegible] in definite decisions, but it is [illegible] the beginning of pourparlers [illegible] may be continued a couple of [illegible].

[illegible]s pointed out that Premier Poin[illegible] has no desire for any abrupt [illegible] either way and it is in France's [illegible]est to await developments in the [illegible]eland Republic, the agreement [illegible]een the Ruhr industrials and the [illegible]n of Bavaria, Saxony and Thurin[illegible] as well as the reported Nationalist [illegible]e on Berlin before committing [illegible]elf one way or another.

It further is remarked here that the British Government prefers to await the imminent closing of the Imperial Conference, which is now winding up in London, so as to have its hands free to proceed to deal with European questions concerning reparations and war debts.

It is expected that Mr. Hughes' rejoinders to M. Jusserand's statements will be referred to Premier Poincare for deliberation and he will reply via the French Embassy in Washington.

WIDEN SCOPE.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—(United Press.) —The French reply to British reparations made through Lord Crewe, Ambassador in Paris, was received at the Foreign Office today.

While the note was not made public, it was understood to contain suggestions which would slightly widen the scope of the proposed reparations inquiry.

The strict limitations made by Premier Poincare barring determination of Germany's capacity to pay reparations were reported to have been modified by the suggestion that Germany's "productivity" be estimated for a limited period of years.

The note was said to adhere to the French Premier's previous condition that the inquiry should only determine Germany's "present" capacity for payment.

TREATIES TO TAKE LIQUORS TO U.S.

Washington Says France and Italy Soon to Negotiate

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6. — (United News.)—Foreign nations who want the privilege of bringing liquor into American waters under seal will have to negotiate treaties with this Government similar to that now under consideration with Great Britain.

Under the proposed conditions the British ships shall be allowed to bring liquor under seal into American waters in exchange for permitting the United States to search and seize British vessels twelve miles off shore.

It was indicated at the Treasury Monday that France and Italy would soon begin negotiations for a similar treaty.

OTTAWA, Nov. 6.—(Star Special by Own Correspondent.)—The execution of the two Eskimos sentenced to death at Herschell Island on December 7, will be postponed probably till the end of January owing to the difficulty of the officer going in with the executive order reaching the island in time. The Government, however, re-affirms its decision not to interfere with the sentence.

John C. Hopkins

Noted Canadian journalist and bookman, died last night in his Toronto home.

CASTELL HOPKINS, AUTHOR, IS DEAD

Large Contributor to Canadian, British and U.S. Journals

TORONTO, Nov. 6.—(Star Special). —John Castell Hopkins, F.S.S., F.R.G.S., publisher of the Canadian Annual Review, died last evening at his home, 121 Farnham avenue.

John Castell Hopkins was born of British parents at Dyersville, Iowa, U.S.A., April 1, 1864, and came to Canada as a youth. He received his education in Bowmanville and Toronto. He spent some years with the Imperial Bank, later becoming associate editor of the Toronto Empire. After 1893 he pursued an independent career as a bookman and free lance writer, contributing very largely to British, American and Canadian magazines and newspapers. He became widely known to the general public as the Editor of the "Canadian Annual Review of Public Affairs," a publication which is now in its 22nd year of issue. Altogether he wrote and published over thirty volumes of Canadian and British history or biography. His published works include: "Canada, an Encyclopedia," "The Life and Works of Sir John Thompson," "The Prosperity of Canada in the 19th Century," "The Sword of Islam, or Annals of Turkish Power," and "The Story of the Dominion."

Mr. Hopkins was the founder of the first branch of the Imperial Federation League in Ontario, and served as honorary secretary of the League in Canada for some years. He was a Fellow of the Royal Statistical Society; a Fellow of the Royal Geographical Society, and a Fellow of the Royal Society of Literature. In 1907 he married Anne Beatrice Bonner. There are two daughters.

HITTLER ORDERED TO END OPPOSITION

Unsettled Atmosphere as Troop Movements Continue in Germany

BERLIN, Nov. 6. — (Associated Press).—General Ludendorff, according to a despatch from Munich, has ordered Adolph Hittler, the Bavarian Fascisti leader, to cease his opposition to Dr. von Kahr, the Bavarian dictator.

BERLIN, Nov. 6.—(Special Star-Tribune Cable. Copyright).—General Count von der Goltz, leader of the successful German offensive in the spring of 1918 when the Kaiser's troops nearly pierced the Allies lines at Amiens, has taken supreme command of all the Monarchist troops, it is learned from high Reichswehr sources.

BERLIN, Nov. 6.—(United News). —While northern junkers link hands with Bavarian Monarchists in the Bavarian movement to overthrow the republic, the Federal Government is taking full measures to prevent the threatened coup by concentrating three Baden regiments in Thuringia under command of General Hasse.

Democratic and Socialist organizations, apparently acting independently of the Government, are endeavoring to form "red, black and gold hundreds" to defeat any Monarchist uprising that may develop.

The Bavarian Fascisti number at least 6,000 with headquarters at Bamberg. The troop line runs through Rodach, Neustadt and Kronach. The encampment is in the industrial district that supplies a great part of the German output of toys and Christmas tree decorations.

Daily manoeuvers are being carried out, and the scene in the rebel zone is said to recall early days of the war.

Indications point to the belief that a coup will be attempted on or before November 9, the fifth anniversary of the Republican revolution. Captain Ehrhardt, Adolph Hittler and General von Ludendorff are variously mentioned as directing minds of the rebel band.

The Central Government is attempting to prevent northern Germany from becoming aware of the strength of the southern movement but as word of the Fascist concentration spreads, intense excitement is sweeping through Monarchist junker ranks in the north.

It is learned that two thousand men of the former Iron Divisions headed by General von der Goltz, are now concentrated at Neu Ruppin, fifty miles northwest of Berlin.

Trade unions are considering a general strike as a means of suppressing any revolutionary movement, but it is realized that this would probably result only in starving the city populations while the Monarchists marched toward Berlin, living on the country.

DEPORTATION OF HALF OF PAROLED IMMIGRANTS SEEN

Illiteracy, Disease or Poverty Expected to Cause Disqualification

EMERGENCY ACTION

Parole System Does Not Mean Laxity of Applying Law

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—(Special to The Star From Our Own Correspondent).—Of the number of immigrants brought in last week in excess of the quota, now estimated at 3,000, about half are expected to be returned to Europe under the customary disqualifications for illiteracy, disease or poverty.

E. J. Henning, Assistant Secretary of Labor, said yesterday that he wished to correct a wrong impression regarding the ruling of Secretary Davis to parole the 3,000 excess immigrants now held at Ellis Island. Mr. Henning pointed out that no letting down of the observance of the law is to be tolerated. He said that of the 3,000 about half would be returned to Europe because of the usual disqualifications, 1,000 more would be found to be entitled to enter the country and the other 500, would remain on parole under bond of $500 eachr until their cases were disposed of. They may be permitted to enter later if it is found that the quotas for others of the thirty ports in the country have not been filled.

"The present law fixing quotas expires next June," he said. "It was designed to meet an emergency. That emergency was the threatened invasion of this country by several millions of Europeans, who were dissatisfied with after-war conditions in their own countries. Certainly a new law to take the place of the present patchwork one must be enacted by Congress. We hope it will eliminate many of the awkward features of the present law."

"Mr. Lloyd George told me he felt sorry that so many young Britishers were being driven by unemployment at home to emigrate," said Mr. Henning. "I told him they were just the kind of immigrants this country wanted. The British immigrants, for the most part, are those who grew up while hostilities were on and who, on coming to manhood, found themselves unable to procure work because of demobolisation and the law of seniority for discharged soldiers, who returned to their old work."

"Inspectors yesterday took 1,300 immigrants from the Italian liner Conte Verdi to Ellis Island. The passengers of the Greek liner Byron, who are being detained, will fill the island to capacity. Commissioner Curran said that about 2,000 of the immigrants to be admitted to parole may be released tomorrow."

Immigrant records since the enactment of the three per cent quota law in 1921 are expected to be smashed this month. Commissioner Curran said yesterday. November is likely to end all immigration for the current year, except from Germany, the allotment of which has not been exhausted.

Mr. Curran said he had been informed that upward of 5,000 more foreigners were on their way to America, due to arrive this week. The majority of these, he said, were from countries whose quotas have not been filled, though some were from the dozen nations which had already sent their full share for this month, and the arrivals may have to be deported or special rulings made.

Inspectors at Ellis Island are working at top speed to examine as many of the aliens already there before the arrival of the 5,000 others congests the station. Since the passage of the quota law, Mr. Curran said, the largest number of immigrants admitted in any one month at all the ports of the United States has been 71,000 but present indications are that this mark will be greatly surpassed before December 1.

"PAROLE" COMMENT.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—(Canadian Press).—Commenting on the action of Washington officials in admitting 1,367 British immigrants to the United States "on parole" after the quota had been filled, the World says: "When the immigration quotas of countries in the south of Europe are filled to excess, as often happens, the unfortunate surplus is sent home without question. It is cruel, it is heart-breaking at times, but so the law stands, and it must be done. When, however, there are 1,367 Britons in excess of the British quota, the case is altered. The law remains as it were but the immigrants are admitted 'on parole.'"

The World states the premise from this is simply that the in-rush from the south and east of Europe is to be curbed, while immigration from the north and west of Europe is to be encouraged.

The writer declares that while Washington may not admit it, the "American" policy of the United States has shifted, and he sees in this change a plan to base a new quota system on the census of 1890, under which a larger percentage of immigrants would be admitted from Great Britain and Teutonic countries who, he says, as a rule, "slip readily into place among us."

RUSSIA THREATENS REPRISALS ON POLES

Send Official Protest Against Alleged Violation of Women

MOSCOW, Nov. 6.—(United Press.) —The Russian Foreign Office has handed the Polish mission in Moscow a note protesting against the ill-treatment of Russians in Poland and threatening reprisals, it was learned today.

The note alleged that violation of Russian women had occurred. Reprisals will be taken against Polish citizens in Russia, the note says, unless the attacks cease. The note demands compensation.

TUBERCULOSIS

The Tuberculosis Poor Cannot Contribute to Party Campaign Funds—Is That Why They Are Neglected?

The shocking facts and the startling statistics which The Star has been publishing from week to week have proven beyond question that Tuberculosis is infinitely the greatest curse which afflicts the Canadian people.

It kills more men than war. It widows more women than the concentrated fury of all the bloodiest battles in history. It orphans more helpless children than any other instrument of death.

We talk of the Millenium we would enter if we could only establish permanent peace. But if every armament factory were closed and if never again were a shot fired in anger, we would save far fewer lives than would the single act of banishing Tuberculosis.

* * *

It is a thousand pities that we cannot see this thing straight and clear and large. But, through mere familiarity, our eyes are holden.

Death strikes about us on every side. But we are not alarmed. We bow to it as to Fate. We are worse than the superstitious Oriental with his Kismet.

We let a tubercular parent infect and kill a family of children. We would rush madly to save the little fellows from a wild beast. But we do absolutely nothing to save them from the far deadlier germ of Tuberculosis.

We publish, year in and year out, the long and tragic casualty lists of Tuberculosis. But they mean nothing to us. They do not startle and arouse and stagger us as do far shorter lists from a shell-torn "front."

Yet war is only an occasional horror. Tuberculosis never stops firing. It kills by day and it kills by night. It kills the aged and it kills the young—it strikes down the strong and looses the last shaft at the feeble. It wages a war upon us that never calls truce and never signs a peace.

* * *

Yet the Governments—Federal and Provincial—do practically nothing to stop the massacre.

Our Quebec Government spends millions on roads, largely made out of whiskey. Good roads are good things; but not when they lead to a cemetery. Some of this whiskey-loot might far better be spent on saving the lives of innocent victims, who are daily infected with Tuberculosis because there is no adequate accommodation for the isolation of the diseased.

There is lots of Government money for contractors. Contractors are grateful folk who turn a part of it back into the party campaign funds. But the ill-fated martyrs to Tuberculosis are left to die. They have nothing for party campaign funds. Their thin fingers are empty. That is why they die.

When the Government deserts the pale hosts who suffer from Tuberculosis, it deserts the poor. It is the poor patient who cannot get the treatment which will save himself and shield his family. The rich victim can buy everything needful—nourishing food, clean air, isolation. But the poor must fester in their helplessness in crowded rooms, dying themselves and bequeathing a dread heritage to their children—a heritage they deliver in person before death.

The Government should forget the contributing-contractor and succour the poverty-cursed prey to Tuberculosis.

* * *

Whiskey-money could not be better spent than in fighting a disease of which whiskey is an effective ally.

The Provincial Government should provide vast "camps" in which people suffering from Tuberculosis could be isolated, sheltered, fed and given a chance to win back to useful life.

Into these camps, the Government could sweep the thousands of human centres of contagion, now dotted everywhere throughout the community. This would at once reduce the problem to manageable proportion when private philanthropy could cope with the sporadic cases which might emerge. Incidentally countless precious lives would be saved.

The lives directly saved in this way would be worth a thousand times the money expended.

The lives indirectly saved by lifting suffering patients out of crowded houses, full of still uninfected women and children, would be worth far more to the country than even a great flood of alien immigrants.

REVOLTING SCENES IN SLAUGHTER OF SCARED BUFFALO AT WAINWRIGHT

WINNIPEG, Nov. 6. — (Star Special.) — A blundering mess was the movie round-up and killing of buffalo staged in the National Park at Wainwright, according to reliable information that has reached the city. Dead and wounded buffalo littered the coulee, while other wounded animals were able to rush off with the surviving monarchs of the plains in their panic-stricken flight into the lightly wooded portions of the park.

Dr. R. A. Rooney, chairman of the big game section of the Northern Alberta Fish and Game Protection League, stated: "It was quite evident that the American movie concern had not placed the killing in proper hands. It might have been much more efficiently carried out and so have avoided cruelty. The affair will be brought before a meeting of the league in order if possible to prevent a repetition of the cruelty."

In preparation for the killing scene, 25 riders and cowboys had been hired and taken into the movie camp which is 20 miles within the boundary. Close by was the Indian encampment where 14 Crees brought from the reserve at Hobbema spent a week. While the braves made ready for the hunt, the squaws prepared to make pemmican of the two buffalo carcasses promised them. A few miles further in the interior of the big park strong fences had been erected, both leading to a point where concealed pits gave protection to a few riflemen.

SHOOT TAME ANIMALS.

Rounded up by cowboys and headed toward "location," a large herd of tame buffalo, driven down the wedge-shaped lane, were stampeded towards the coulee by the riders. In all their war paint and feathers, whooping Crees followed along the flanks of the rushing herd, shooting harmless arrows in profusion. But before the buffalo had reached the appointed spot, rifles began to crack. The great herd paused in its rush and all was confusion.

The cow punchers on the flanks fired their heavy revolvers along the sides of the rushing mob. Frightened, the untried cayuses and ponies of the Indian braves bolted, huddled into whirling groups and made for the rear. With the "wind up" the riflemen got out of control and fired indiscriminately into the part of the herd that came on. Many of the big bulls had turned aside, and the herd broke through the fences in a dozen places, bullets ricochetting over the ridges. The wonder was that no performers were numbered among the casualties. The company had even provided for that eventuality, as they had medical aid at hand.

Instead of ten head which it had been announced would be instantaneously killed by expert riflemen, over a score lay helpless on the ground after the promiscuous shooting, not only bulls but cows and buffalo calves. And later, when the riders had trailed those with broken legs or slightly wounded, the total slaughter exceeded 30. The heads are to be stuffed to adorn the studios of Hollywood and the movie houses of California.

DONE IN SECRET.

Much resentment has been expressed in Wainwright that, in order to cater to the perverted tastes of an American public which crave for thrills, the affair should have been so staged. The incident would have been avoided if the movie men had only sought and followed the advice of the park officials, who thoroughly understand buffalo and how to handle them.

Owing to the published objection of sportsmen as to the proposed manner of conducting the slaughter of the buffalo now domesticated and protected in a national park, the movie director was most careful to clap the lid down tight on all plans.

Two thousand surplus buffalo are to be killed by the Government, beginning a fortnight hence. From authoritative sources it is learned that the winter kill will be carried out in the regular butcher trade manner, and that a modern abbatoir is now being erected in the park and close to Wainwright. A. S. Ducles, of Edmonton, who has the contract for handling the buffalo meat and pemmican, stated that the buffalo must be slaughtered like beef cattle for the sake of the products.

"There will be no circus or public spectacle in connection with the coming kill," he declared.

SEPARATISTS HAVE FULLY EVACUATED COLOGNE DISTRICT

Duisburg Burgomaster May Become Home Affairs Minister

RIOTS CONTINUE

Food and Clothing Shops Looted by Starving in Berlin

COLOGNE, Nov. 6. — (Associated Press.) — The Rhineland Separatists have completed their evacuation of the Cologne area.

LONDON, Nov. 6. — (Associated Press.) — Herr Jarres, chief burgomaster of Duisburg, has been invited to become Minister of Home Affairs in the Stresemann Cabinet, taking the place of one of the Socialists who recently withdrew from the Ministry, says an Exchange Telegraph despatch from Berlin.

BERLIN, Nov. 6. — (Associated Press.) — The looting of food and clothing shops continued throughout the night in the northern districts of Berlin, while in the fashionable west-end of the city numerous automobiles were held up, the occupants of the cars being robbed of their personal belongings.

Considerable anti-semitic rioting occurred in the Jewish quarter.

Most of the pillaging was done by gangs of men and youths whose numerical strength was in some cases as large as 300. Women freely participated in storming the food shops.

The price of bread this morning was fixed at 80,000,000,000 marks a loaf against 140,000,000,000 yesterday.

The Bourse has contributed $70,000 to the public feeding fund.

Numerous assaults upon Jews were committed in the ghetto districts by gangs of young ruffians. One of their methods was to seize bearded native Galicians, slip off sections of their Oriental beards in patches and then permit their victims, with the resulting grotesque hirsute adornments to pass on.

Cloth shops were also favorite targets for the looters, who would seize a bolt of goods, clip off strips several yards in length and pass them on to the waiting queues.

Contents of cash registers were dumped into the streets where the mobs would pounce upon the bundles of paper money.

Police intervention was invariably late, or else there would be a refusal on the part of the policemen to disperse the mobs through the use of firearms.

PULPWOOD MARKET IS COMPETITIVE

Association Secretary is Examined Before Royal Commission

OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 6.—(Canadian Press.)—When the Royal Commission investigating the Canadian pulp and paper industry resumed its sessions here today, Amie Geoffrion, K.C., of Montreal, appearing in the interests of United States pulp and paper manufacturers, questioned Edward Beck, who yesterday read a statement outlining the attitude of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association towards an embargo on the export of pulpwood.

Mr. Geoffrion wished to know if the association favored the embargo on wood cut by settlers and farmers. To this Mr. Beck said the principle of an embargo had been adopted, but some individual members had expressed themselves as in favor of excepting the product of settlers.

Mr. Beck would not admit that such an embargo would leave the settlers without a market. They could still sell to Canadian manufacturers.

Some 85 per cent of these were members of the Association, he said. He contended, speaking of the Abitibi district, that there was a very considerable competitive market among Canadian mills.

He quoted from the house organ of the Abitibi Paper Company to the effect that this company during the past nine years had paid out $1,200,000 to settlers on account of wood cut over their land.

Mr. Geoffrion reminded the witness that Hector Authier, member of the Legislature for the Abitibi district, had asserted in his evidence before the Commission yesterday that the American market was essential to settlers in that district.

Questioned as to whether his association favored an embargo on poplar, Mr. Beck said there was but small demand for poplar. He was unable to give a direct reply to the query.

Commissioner Anstie, of Vancouver, attended the session this morning for the first time.

SCOTS VOTING ON LOCAL OPTION PLAN

LONDON, Nov. 6—(Canadian Press Cable.)—Great interest is being taken in the local option voting in Scotland which opened yesterday at Falkirk. There the anti-prohibition or "no change" party obtained an absolute majority in all five wards.

Polling on the question of a continuance of the present licensing system or local option is taking place in 26 other towns today.

ALLEGED SLAYER OF GIRL ARRESTED

LETHBRIDGE, — Alta., Nov. 6. — (Canadian Press.) — Joe Blackhorse, alias Two Stab, Blood Indian, charged with slaying Winnie Tollestrup, at Raymond, Friday, was captured about midnight, near his mine on the St. Mary's River, 15 miles northwest of Raymond.

Canada Won't Join With Rest Of Empire In Economic Body

LONDON, Nov 6.—(Star Cable by Staff Correspondent.) — Hon. George P. Graham has informed the Economic Conference that Canada declines to join in a permanent Imperial Economic Committee.

The rest of the Dominion and other parts of the Empire have approved of the plan.

PREMIERS' PARLEY HAS BARREN END

Despatch Forecasts No Material Results from Imperial Conference

EMPIRE DEFENCE

Permanent Economic Commission for Circulating Information Mooted

LONDON, Nov. 6.—(British United Press Cable.)—The Imperial Conference which will be brought to a close this week, according to present indications and expectations, has probably been the most barren of results of any conference of the kind yet held. The principal work of the delegates seems to have been the correct drawing up of the various reports of the proceedings which undoubtedly have not excited any very great interest in Britain owing to the decision of the Conference to maintain the utmost secrecy on questions of foreign policy and Empire defence.

Information on the latter point has been practically entirely withheld on the ground that the Premiers must first lay the decisions reached before their respective Parliaments before they can give formal adhesion to the proposals.

While the British Government last week announced the decision that the extension of the area of search of ships on the high seas might be extended to the twelve mile limit when it was reasonably expected that the ships were engaged in illicit trade, it is now admitted that the announcement was premature for the question has not yet been considered at a full meeting of the Conference. At such a meeting both Canada and the Colonial Office as guardians of the interests of the West Indies will undoubtedly have something to say. Much pressure is being brought to bear on the Conference to establish a permanent economic commission of the Empire for the purpose of circulating information throughout the colonies and Dominions with regard to trade matters.

THUGS MAKE GIRL OPEN BANK SAFE

Quebec Institution Robbed of $11,800 Early This Morning

ST. HYACINTHE, Que., Nov. 6.—(Star Special). — Forcing the young lady manager to get out of bed and go down stairs in her nightdress to open the safe for them, three armed and masked men looted the Banque Nationale at St. Liboire, Que., 9 miles from here, of $11,800 between 2.30 and 3.00 o'clock this morning.

While the robbers fled from the little village in an automobile the girl fainted in front of the looted safe. She recovered consciousness in a short time and gave the alarm.

The Provincial police at Montreal were notified of the case.

The St. Liboire branch of the Banque Nationale is in a small frame house in the centre of the little village. Under cover of darkness the bandits cut a hole in a ground floor window with a diamond glass cutter. Miss Olive Dupond, 25 years old, the manager, has her bedroom above the bank.

She was awakened to find the three masked men standing beside her bed. They forced her at the point of revolvers to go downstairs and work the combination to open the safe. Speaking in English with a slight accent, which detectives believe was assumed, they told her to "walk."

After looting the safe they left with threats to shoot if she called for help. The girl fainted as they climbed through the window and got away.

The affair was reported to Chief Lorrain of the Provincial Police this morning by bank officials, and Detectives Houle and Larivee came here on the morning train.

TWELVE BODIES ARE TAKEN FROM MINE

Explosion Entombs 65 Men at Glenrogers, Wyoming

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 6.— (Associated Press). — Twelve bodies have been taken from the shaft of the mine of the Raleigh-Wyoming coal Company at Glenrogers, Wyoming County in which an explosion occurred this morning and little hope is entertained for 30 men still within the workings, the State Department of Mines reported at noon today.

Sixty-five men were in the mine at the time of the explosion and 23 were brought out uninjured, in addition to the twelve bodies found by the rescue squads, the officials of the department said. Their report, they declared, came from the company's office at the mine.

REDRESS WILL BE MADE FOR ATTACK ON SOFIA ATTACHE

Apology and Salute of Flag to Be Carried Out Today

MASSED TROOPS

London Sees Need for Empire Plan to Check Entanglement

SOFIA, Nov. 6. — (Associated Press.) — The Bulgarian Government has accepted the conditions of reparation laid down in Jugo-Slavia's note for the attack here last Friday on the Jugo-Slav military attache, Colonel Krastitch.

The conditions will probably be carried out today.

The Jugo-Slavian Government demanded complete apologies and salute of its flag by Bulgaria following the wounding of the attache by shots fired by unknown men.

Jugo-Slavia concentrated troops along the Bulgarian border as a warning to back up its ultimatum dispatches from Belgrade said.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—(Star Special Cable by Staff Correspondent).—The nervous condition that exists through Europe is evidenced by Jugo-Slavia's ultimatum to Bulgaria, with its consequent possibility of another Balkan flare up.

It is convincing proof of the necessity of some informative and consultative scheme whereby Great Britain may maintain touch with the Dominions regarding problems of this character. They are a potential danger in their possibilities for drawing the Empire into further conflagrations.

Some means are needed to avoid a repetition of the Chanak affair which shocked and irritated the peoples of the overseas Dominions by the S.O.S. from a clear sky, sent without previous intimation of danger.

It is understood that the question of Great Britain keeping the Dominions au fait with European policies is not solved. There is no agreement within sight, but the end of the week will likely see a big effort to make some arrangement of this nature.

CANADA BIT BY BIT GOES "WET" AGAIN

Alberta Province Joins Quebec, Manitoba and British Columbia

OTTAWA, Nov. 6—(Star Special by Own Correspondent.)—Alberta, which yesterday went "wet" on a referendum based upon a Provincial enactment, went "dry" originally under the Canada Temperance Act, a Federal measure. The latter does not figure at all in this latest plebiscite, except that, when effect is given to yesterday's vote, the enforcement of the Dominion statute in Alberta will cease, as it has in other Provinces which have voted similarly.

Of the nine Canadian Provinces four—Quebec, Manitoba, Alberta and British Columbia—are now wet or, in the case of Alberta, preparing so to be; Saskatchewan is moving for a referendum and there is little doubt that at the coming session of the Ontario Legislature the moderationists will make a move for a new vote in this Province. There is curosity here as to the effect of the Western votes on Ontario.

It is within the powers of each Province as a matter of civil right to determine what is to be its liquor law. Of course such Provincial law would be subordinate to any national measure of prohibition, but this could come only from the Federal Parliament which heretofore has refused such a law. The recurrent Provincial results do not strengthen the probability of any Federal action.

DECLARE SHIP WAS IN 3-MILE LIMIT

U.S. Prohibition Official Denies Capture 12 Miles Out

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 6.— (Associated Press).—Capture of the British schooner Louise F., with a $375,000 liquor cargo after members of the crew had wrested the vessel from her captain, was effected within the three-mile limit, P. A. Hazeltine, divisional prohibition enforcement chief, who made the capture, declared today.

Previous reports said the seizure was made "within the 12-mile limit."

LONDON, Nov. 6. — (Associated Press.) — Despatches received here from Jacksonville, Fla., reporting the seizure of a British liquor-carrying vessel "within the new 12-mile limit," which was featured prominently on the first pages of the London newspapers today, caused some surprise in British ministerial quarters.

There is an apparent desire on the part of officials here to make it clear that while Secretary of State Hughes' proposal for the curbing of rum running has been tentatively agreed to by the Imperial Conference, it has not been enacted into law or embodied in a treaty.

The draft of the proposed treaty, conferring on the United States the right of search and seizure over suspected British vessels within the specified distance from the shore is still in the hands of the experts and will not be presented to the Imperial Conference before Wednesday or Thursday.

It is felt here that until the new treaty is signed by both Governments and ratified by Congress the existing three mile territorial limit must remain in force.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

President's Tea at Armory.

The annual President's tea of the Ladies' Montreal Tennis and Badminton Club was held yesterday afternoon at the Royal Highlanders' Armory, Bleury street. All the courts were used during the afternoon, while bridge and mah jong were played at about twenty tables. Mrs. W. D. Birchall, the President, received the guests. BIG GRAIN CARGOES LEAVE FOR EAST

Fort William Ships More Than 5 Million Bushels Over Week-end

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., Nov. 6.—(Canadian Press).—A big week-end movement of grain cleaned out 5,195,000 bushels of grains from the local elevators, the movement being marked by considerably more varied cargoes of grain than have recently been going east, wheat, oats, barley, flax and rye all figuring in the cargoes. Twenty-eight vessels cleared Sunday and Monday, including nine United States boats.

The largest number of bushels went down on the Berryton, which had a mixed cargo of wheat and oats for Tiffin, totalling 419,000 bushels, and the American boat H. H. Brown took 380,000 bushels of wheat consigned to Buffalo.

Three boats were loading last night, including the big freighter, W. Grant Morden, and the United States boat Cletus Schenider. Eleven boats are reported coming light for grain. Four are discharging coal and three of them will be taking on wheat today. Two are in port awaiting orders.

Elevatormen report that the week-end shipments have given ample room for grain, especially in some of the smaller houses, where it is important that all shipments shall balance receipts in order to give them space to handle the grain.

WHY THE WEATHER?

DR. CHARLES F. BROOKS,

Secretary, American Meteorological Society, tells of:

SIDEWALKS DRY IN DRIZZLE.

A dry sidewalk while the air is full of drizzling rain is not an uncommon sight. The reason is that the surface is warm from previous heating or from sunlight which penetrates the clouds, even while they are dense enough to give forth a drizzle. In the case of cement the heating may be also conduction from below. In either case, or in the combination of the two causes, the surface is sufficiently warm to evaporate the moisture as fast as it falls and leave the sidewalk dry.

Clouds, of course, do not shut off all sunlight. One can be badly sunburned on a cloudy day, though not when the clouds are dense enough to produce a drizzle. The occurrence of a drizzle is often an indicator of clear skies, which, during the night, have allowed a lower moist layer of air to cool below its dew-point, and so to form the thin clouds from which the drizzle falls.

McLachlan, imprisoned Sydney miners' leader, on bail pending appeal, will come before District Lodge 82, International Association of Machinists, at a meeting in the city tomorrow evening. District Lodge 82 comprises delegates from all the local machinists' lodges in Montreal.

The resolution was unanimously adopted by Lodge 111, International Association of Machinists at a meeting last Friday evening.

At this meeting, according to a report issued by H. A. Spence, business agent of the machinists, the opinion was unanimously expressed that "the authorities should have awaited the outcome of the investigation now being carried on by the Royal Commission before proceeding against McLachlan."

Further, the meeting resented the fact that McLachlan was tried in Halifax instead of the district where the alleged offence was committed.

TEXT OF RESOLUTION.

The text of the resolution which the District Lodge will be asked to endorse tomorrow evening is as follows:

"Resolved that Lodge III, International Association of Machinists, petition the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada to use its good offices in an effort to bring pressure on the Government of Nova Scotia to release J. B. McLachlan who is now being refused bail under the Criminal Act inaugurated last year by the Federal Government of Canada."

Following consideration by the District Lodge, the resolution will be submitted for endorsement to the Montreal Trades and Labor Council at the regular meeting of the council on November 15, and to the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada with a view to intercession with the Nova Scotia Government.

NEW ARGUMENT TO QUASH DRUG CASES

Lawyers Contend Swearing of Witnesses by Clerk Illegal

Criminal court procedure in vogue in Montreal for the past half a century is menaced with destruction through a plea made today that Recorder Semple must dismiss drug charges preferred against Alexandre Sayed, Joseph Riyk, and Georges Laurin, because the Crown has acted illegally in that witnesses against the prisoners were sworn by the clerk of the Recorder's Court when the Canada Evidence Act requires that the swearing must be done by the judge himself. Judgment will be given next week.

The law point, based on Section 13 of the Act named, featured a barrage of law argument laid down by Joseph Cohen, Lucien Gendron and Rene Gauthier, counsel for the accused, who alleged that Maurice Lalonde, clerk of the court, is not empowered to swear witnesses, despite the custom pursued in the Recorder's and indeed in all Montreal criminal courts.

Seven other law points were made, all directed toward dismissal of the drug cases. The lawyers contended that option as to mode of trial rests with the accused and not with the Crown; that the option must be made when the complaint is laid; that the Constable making the complaint must make the option and not the clerk of the Court, in the event of the Crown being awarded right of option; that the Crown, charging Sayed with giving drugs to Riyk, must prove Sayed is not a minor; that Riyk could not be charged with possession if he had a deck only for a moment, since possession means ownership, not custody; that the police must state definitely what kind of drug the man is charged with having; and that all these points were in "full answer of defence."

Arguing for the dismissal of the charge of selling drugs, laid against Dominique Frisco, Maurice Tetreau, supporting the plea of "already acquitted," pointed out that Frisco had already been freed of a charge of having drugs on May 8, 1923. The present charge, laid August 31, 1923, was based on the same arrest. In the meantime, however, the new drug law had become effective June 13, 1923. Since the new law prescribed jail without a fine option and was not retroactive, Mr. Tetreau held his client was suffering prejudice through being sued under the new law, while the alleged offence was committed under the old law. Judgment is due next week.

GOUIN BOULEVARD AGAIN

A public meeting is to be held in Bordeaux ward to-night for the purpose of protesting against the continued bad condition of Gouin Boulevard from St. Lawrence Boulevard to the western limits of the ward, and to demand that the city immediately remedy the defects, which prevent the proper circulation of traffic, and are a danger to public safety.

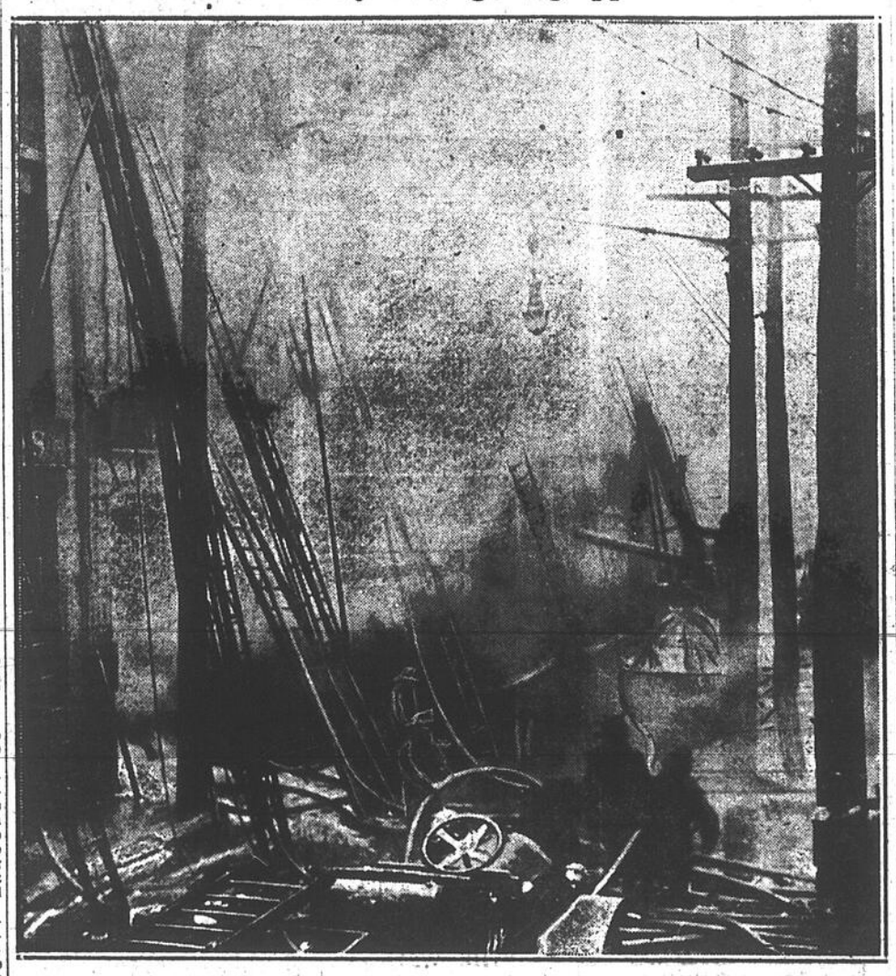
Street a Maze of Fire-Fighting Apparatus



Scene in St. Peter street this morning while firemen battled the $200,000 outbreak in the Ciceri and Telfer buildings this morning. The fire followed a bungled attempt to blow a safe in the Ciceri premises. The yeggmen were not caught.

SAFEBLOWERS CAUSE $200,000 BLAZE IN DOWNTOWN DISTRICT

Building on St. Peter Street Gutted—Several Firms Suffer—Outbreak Followed Blowing of Safes Early This Morning—Charwoman Saw Yeggmen Escaping

Nitro glycerine, used by safe-blowers at an early hour this morning in blowing open the safe in the offices of Charles Ciceri and Company, wholesale grocers and importers, 84 St. Peter street, and the safe in the Italian Consulate on the second floor of the same building, resulted in fire which gutted the building and damaged adjoining premises. The losses totalled $200,000.

YEGGMEN SEEN

Terror stricken by the force of the explosion, which evidently exceeded their calculations, the yeggmen fled but not before they were seen by one charwoman and janitors hurrying to their early morning labors.

The first firemen into the building found the glass doors blown away and the thick heavy smoke, either caused by an explosion or the work of an incendiary, belching from the doors and windows. The initial suspicion was that the conflagration was the work of a fire bug, but later information and a subsequent inspection of the safes lead the police and fire fighters to believe that the flames resulted from the attempt on the safes. The explosion and fire prevented the bandits from getting away with any of the valuables, except $100 in cheques and cash, from the Ciceri company.

FIRMS' LOSSES

The firms affected by the outbreak with the estimated losses caused by fire, water and smoke, are:—

The Charles Ciceri Company, 84 St. Peter street, completely destroyed. Stock estimated at $80,000, was stored in the building. The building was roughly placed at $60,000, total loss $140,000.

The Telfer Biscuit Company, 86 St. Peter street, stores, supplies and building damaged by fire, water and smoke, total loss, $60,000.

Other firms suffering damage from smoke and water, are Gnaedinger Sons, furriers; William Galbraith and Sons, grocers; Chase and Sanborn, coffee makers; Debenham's Limited, wholesale and fancy drygoods, and the Miner Shoe Company.

When the firemen arrived the glass door was broken open. Shortly after a charwoman working in the offices nearby stated that she saw two men running from the building just before the firemen arrived on the scene.

TRAFFIC TIED UP.

Traffic in the rush office hours of the morning was completely diverted and tied up and the fire fighters had to battle for three hours and one half before the flames were subdued. The water pressure was good, but the narrow streets and the numerous overhead wires were a handicap.

When the firemen arrived on the scene about six o'clock the Ciceri establishment was a mass of flame and smoke.

The building, which is a four-storey one, was packed with supplies for the Christmas season of catering. According to Charles Ciceri, president of the firm, there was nothing of an inflammable nature in the building.

"I only got here at 7.45," he said, "the building was then a mass of flames. I have no solution to offer for the outbreak. It is all a mystery to me."

His interests are completely protected by insurance, he added.

DANGEROUS OUTLOOK.

For a time the outlook looked dangerous. There was a possibility of the flames spreading to adjoining buildings, but the good work of the fire department, under Chief R. Gauthier and five Deputy Chiefs averted danger. Tons of water were poured from every side onto the burning fabric, and about forty lines of hose were laid. A steady downpour of rain also helped the firemen considerably.

In the rear of the building, where shipments are made and received, the firemen made their way and poured torrents of water from the alley. This flowed back and inside of a short time they were up to their knees in water. The greater part of the flood found its way into the cellars of the adjoining storehouses and factories.

With the turning in of the second alarm over one hundred constables from the central stations, one, three, four, five, six, ten, twelve and fourteen turned out on fire duty and held the lines in check.

SLIGHTLY INJURED.

Only one fireman was slightly injured, Captain H. Thereaunt, of No. 2 station, who was hurt by falling brick. Captain Thereaunt escaped with a bruised head and cut nose. He was attended to on the spot by Dr. Heney of the Montreal General Hospital.

The Ciceri Company employes, 14 in number, have been thrown out of work until business is resumed. This will be done as early as possible, Mr. Ciceri said.

The office of the Italian Consul-General occupied quarters on the second floor. Papers and documents of every description, it is feared, were destroyed, with the exception of those locked in the safe.

The outbreak was completely under control at ten o'clock, but a number of the fire force and police remained to watch the buildings.

CLOTHES AND TOYS ARE BADLY NEEDED

Toys, children's books and clothing are badly needed by the Social Service Department of the Children's Memorial Hospital. The stock of playthings, which bring much happiness to the kiddies who are convalescing or who come to the clinics, is now very low. Warm clothing of all kinds for men, women and children also is urgently needed. Those who have donations are asked to communicate with the Social Service Department.

STOLE CLOTHING.

Andre Mount was found guilty of breaking in and stealing ten suits, eleven coats and one pair of pants from the store of Phil. Aboujov, tailor, 31 Bleury street, by a jury in the Court of King's Bench this morning. He was arrested as he was leaving the store along with two accomplices and a rig containing the booty. The two accomplices escaped. Sentence will be pronounced later.

RECORDER KNEW JAMES

Recorder Semple admitted on the bench to-day that he was guilty of an "awful lie" on a St. Catherine street car when he told a friend he did not know James Brady, aged 59, 3 St. Antoine street, who was begging from passengers and was so drunk that he could not stand properly.

The judge levelled things up, however, this morning when he sent Brady to Bordeaux Jail, "for five months—the winter."

DELORME DEFENCE HAS SENT AFFIDAVIT TO CROWN PROSECUTOR

R. L. Calder, K.C., Crown Prosecutor, today received from Alleyn Taschereau, K.C., counsel for the Rev. J. Adelard Delorme, the affidavit required yesterday by Acting Chief Justice Martin, who ordered that "cogent reasons" be presented for the defence's motion that trial on the merits of the murder charge be postponed until after December.

Communication of the contents of the affidavit to the public will be a matter for Judge Martin to decide when the Delorme case is re-called tomorrow in the Court of King's Bench.

LOCAL FIRM WINS IN COTTONS CASE

English Goods Declared Not According to Sample and Rejected

Because goods ordered and delivered were not according to sample, Mr. Justice Maclennan, in Superior Court, dismissed an action taken by M. J. Silverman, and Company, of Manchester, Eng., against the Shaw Manufacturing Company, Limited, Montreal, to recover $774 on account.

The Shaw Company had ordered merchandise, consisting of cottons for manufacture, and one shipment had arrived here some time in January last. These had been paid for. In March following, another consignment had been shipped and received here.

About April 12, the goods were examined and found to be faulty, and not according to sample, and Shaw company asked the English company to take them back.

The Silverman concern then took action to recover balance due for the goods, $774, while the local firm asked the Court to order annulment of the sale contract and the return of money paid for the first shipment.

In rendering judgment, the court held that a receiving company or individual is not held to examine goods immediately they are received, as was contended by the claimant, and maintained the defence that the materials were not according to sample.

The principal action for $774 was dismissed, and the counter claim of Shaw for recovery on the first consignment was upheld.

TO DECIDE OWNER OF WAMPUM BELT

The Montreal courts will decide on November 15 who is the rightful owner of the famous Indian Wampum belt of the Caughnawaga reservation when they render judgment in the case in which Iroquois Chiefs Sose Kentaratiron and American Horne are charged with stealing the belt from the custody of the Roman Catholic priest of the reservation church.

The hearing of evidence in this case was completed before the Court of Sessions this morning in the presence of Frank Jacobs, Justice of the Peace of Caughnawaga, Dominique Two Axe, Chief of the Iroquois, and other Indian parties.

ONLY DANGEROUS WEAPON WAS PIPE

"Shoot him!" shouted one of two men pursuing a fleeing Chinaman along St. Monique street last night, so Constables Charland and Bergeron arrested Edward Smith, 77 Pacific avenue, and Joseph Paquette, 330 Lagauchetiere street east, for loitering. But the Oriental might not have run so fast had he known that the only "weapon" the pair had was a clay pipe!

Both men were sentenced by Recorder Semple today to $15 and costs or a month.

WELL SATISFIED WITH BIG DRIVE

Contributions to Federated Charities Still Being Received

MAY EXCEED $440,000

Consider Organising Another Team to Collect Promised Contributions

Officers and officials of the Financial Federation today expressed keen satisfaction on the success of the drive, and on the fact that there is every prospect of the final grand total exceeding $440,000. Contributions are still coming in and the force of the campaign will probably not expend itself for several days.

W. H. Cottingham, formerly of Montreal, who is now in England, was cabled to last week, with reference to his subscription of $1,000 to last year's campaign. This morning General McGuaig, chairman of the campaign committee, received a cabled reply in which Mr. Cottingham doubled his subscription, donating $2,000. This was considered a fine subscription from a man who no longer lived in Montreal, and was greatly appreciated by the executive.

W. E. Cushing, auditor for St. Andrew's division, who was at headquarters this morning reported many cases where cheques were ready for the Federation when the canvassers called. In some instances cards which had been left on last year's subscribers early in the week, still had to be called for. An effort will be made to form a team of workers to bring in these last subscribers, as it is of vital importance that the grand total should exceed the objective by as much as possible in order to provide an appreciation which the budget committee reports is necessary in order that consideration may be given to contingencies.

Among the larger subscriptions received during the final drive of the campaign were: "L. C. W.", $1,000; Clarence A. Lyman, $400; Nesbitt, Thomson and Co., Ltd., $250; O'Brien and Williams, $200; N. A. Timmins, $1,000; Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Heaton, $200; Sir Herbert S. Holt, $1,500; Hudson's Bay Co., Ltd., $250; Dr. W. F. Hamilton, $200; Hampton Mfg. Co., Ltd., $200; Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Ballantyne, $300; Bank of Montreal, $5,000; Thomas Arnold (additional), $250; Associated Clubs Committee, balance from Lloyd George meeting, $297.14; Anonymous, $350; Canada Steamship Lines, Ltd., $350; Canadian Cottons, Ltd., $300; Canadian Fairbanks Morse Co., Ltd., $500; Col. G. S. Cantlie, $300; Compo Company, Ltd., $300; James Coristine and Co., Ltd., $200; Mr. and Mrs. James N. Laing, $250; Robert Lindsay, $280; William Lyall, $200; Mrs. A. Crathern McArthur, $300; Dr. W. W. McDougall, $1,000; Mr. and Mrs. Lorne D. McGibbon, $500; I. O. D. E., various chapters, $1,070; W. J. Morrice, $800; Sun Life Assurance Co. (additional), $1,000; Wabasso Cotton Co., $250; Hon. Lorne C. Webster, $3,000; W. R. Cottingham, $2,000; Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Wood, $200.

TEN CHILDREN ORGANIZED INTO SHOPBREAKING GANG BEFORE JUVENILE COURT

Ten boys of ages ranging from 12 to 14 are under arrest and merchandise worth several hundreds of dollars has been recovered as the result of a burglary gang round-up made last night by Special Constables Gariepy and Emond of No. 12 station. All are before the Juvenile Court.

A series of thefts in north end stores and offices culminated two weeks ago in a contractor's office being cleaned out two nights in succession. The sleuths found that the gang, working under a chief who is now before the Juvenile Court for the fourth time on a theft charge, was operating under an organized system by which the smallest and slimmest of the burglars were used as scouts, and often entered buildings by little windows and cellar openings. If the loot was light, the little fellows did the whole job themselves. If the stock was big and the assistance of the bigger fellows was essential, they reported to the gang chief who then detailed some of his men to aid in the task.

Resale of a motor spotlight was a clue that permitted the police to fasten on the gang charges covering two thefts. It is accepted, however, that the boys are responsible for a number of recent burglaries.

Officers in Denikin's Army to Be Deported; Came as Stowaways

Three young Russians who came all the way from the little Greek island of Patras, have proved themselves the most successful stowaways who have landed here during the present season.

This is the result of an inquiry on three seamen who were found on board the SS. Scatwell last week and who were sentenced to a month of imprisonment.

The men, who were all Russian refugees, are thought to have been officers in Denikin's army. They hid themselves on the SS. Scatwell before it left Patras but were discovered within 24 hours of the ship sailing. In spite of this they succeeded in remaining on board during the whole of the journey, and although the captain tried to land them at Messina, Napies, Algiers and Lisbon, they were refused permission to land at each port.

MEETING TONIGHT.

Prof. C. A. Brodie Brockwell of McGill University will address the Mercury Club at the Mount Royal Hotel tonight at 8:15 o'clock on "Lost Links in the Chain of Cultural Evolution."

BRYANT PROVIDES BOND FOR $20,000

Will Have Liberty Pending Appeal Against Conviction

Norris P. Bryant furnished bail of $20,000, or nearly five times the amount of the defalcation of which Judge Cusson found him guilty, in Court of King's Bench this morning. The bail consisted of $10,000 personal security, and $10,000 furnished by James E. Barry, 291 St. James street, on real estate on Notre Dame street west, deposited by registered notarial bond in favor of the Crown passed before Notary Emile Gravel.

The accused Bryant was admitted to bail on these terms by Justice S. Letourneau of the Court of Appeal in view of Bryant's pending appeal against the judgment of Judge Cusson. F. Philippe Brais prosecuted and W. K. McKeown defended.

SUM FOR TEMPLE TOTALS $173,495

Masonic Canvassers Raise 24 Per Cent of Objective in Two Days

If the enthusiasm displayed last night at the dinner of the workers, in the Masonic campaign to raise $500,000 for a new temple, is any criterion, prospects for success are promising.

It was announced last night that, with the second day's subscriptions amounting to $98,420, the total for the two days amounts to $173,495 or 24 per cent. of the desired sum.

The various lodges so successfully vied with each other in creating diversion at dinner that the banquetting room resembled a New Year's frolic, but apparently Antiquity Lodge created the most noise as they were adjudged the winners of the special box of cigars, given by R. W. Bro. John J. York, to the lodge which enlivened proceedings the most.

It was announced that, commencing tonight, the gallery of the banquetting room will be open for relatives of the workers.

On Thursday night, Sir Arthur Currie will address the canvassers; the meeting on Friday, for captains and lieutenants only, will be held in the Masonic temple, while the final dinner and announcement of the result will take place in the Windsor hotel on Saturday night, it was announced.

The goal for each lodge is based on 80 per cent. of its membership and the appended list shows the total collected up to date by each lodge team and the percentage (in brackets) of its goal:

Antiquity, $6,925 (25); Elgin, $3,625 (23); St. George, $5,000 (16); Zetland, $9,160 (30); St. Lawrence, $5,000 (22); Mtl. Kilwinning, $6,600 (22); Royal Albert, $3,575 (18); Mount Royal, $9,475 (35); Mount Moriah, $9,225 (27); Coeurs Unis $3,375 (30), Prince Consort $10,875 (30); St. Andrews, $4,825 (18); Ionic, $12,775 (44); Royal Victoria, $7,300 (23); Corinthian, $12,050 (43); Argyle, $3,950 (9); Eastern Star, $16,025 (36); Westmount, $6,660 (28); Benechas, $2,700 (28); Waverley, $8,750 (28); University, $1,475 (13); Royal Arthur, $4,000 (13); Royal Edward $6,750 (63); I. H. Stearns $3,000 (36); Victory, $3,950 (42); Beaver, $250 (16), Un-affiliated, $2,825; Un-affiliated Temple Club, $375. Grand total $173,495 (24%).

Thieves reaped a haul of $85 in two store robberies last night, according to reports to the police today. The victims were L. Lefebvre, grocer, 212 Bercy street who lost an alarm clock and a typewriter, the two valued at $40, and W. F. Canavan, 264 Clifton avenue, Notre Dame de Grace.

RAPID DEPLETION OF FORESTS' PULP INDUSTRY'S PERIL

Beck Presents Statistics to Show Immediate Need of Reduction

ACTION URGED

Present Rate of Cutting Too High, Expert Tells Royal Commission

OTTAWA, Nov. 6.—(Star Special.) The present rate of depletion of the Canadian pulpwood forests, the source of an industry which brings to Canada over $250,000,000 annually, is ruinous to the future of this industry and can be materially reduced, declared E. Beck, the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association's representative at the session of the Royal Commission here yesterday afternoon.

To bring about this reduction in depletion Government action is needed, Federal or Provincial, or both, Mr. Beck contended, adding however, that this did not mean that the whole management of the conservation processes must be entrusted to Government officials or politicians. That the rate of depletion cannot effectively be reduced by any action that can economically be taken by the lessees of the Canadian pulpwood lands, or even by the private owners who possess some small portion of the total amount of these lands, was another point emphasized by Mr. Beck, who in the first place had declared:

"The rate of forest depletion is dangerously high, in the sense of involving imminent and certain peril of a grave handicap to the Canadian pulp and paper industry and a marked increase of advantage to its competitors, not in one hundred years from now, not in fifty years from now, but in ten or fifteen years, or even less."

NEED BE NO HARDSHIP.

The association is convinced, said Mr. Beck, that the depletion can be materially reduced without hardship to any Canadian interest or injustice to any interest whatsoever and the future be thereby secured, with very great benefit to the economic position of the Dominion.

The present rate of depletion involves a certain prospect of a steady diminution in the advantages now enjoyed by the Canadian pulp and paper industry in respect of cost of production, a diminution not in the far distant future, but likely to commence within a few years and to progress with rapidity until the industry in Canada from its present character of a swiftly expanding one will become stationary and eventually a contracting one, said Mr. Beck.

Exact statistics are not obtainable either for the total amount of pulpwood in the Dominion, nor of the rate of its diminution by use and destruction, nor of the extent to which that diminution is offset by natural or artificially stimulated growth. Even if the most perfect statistics were obtainable, they would not give use an accurate statement of the case; for it is not only the amount of the consumed timber which is of importance, but its geographical situation. The destruction by fire of a hundred square miles of timber in an area which is not likely to be cut for another hundred years is of less consequence, it may be, than the destruction of ten square miles adjacent to an existing pulp mill. The former may be replaced by the unaided action of nature long before the expanding industry has reached out to utilize it; the loss of the latter may materially increase the operating cost of a great Canadian mill within a year, with an increase which will be permanent and irremediable.

UNAVAILABLE TIMBER.

In the absence of statistics we are compelled to have resort to the most expert estimates that are obtainable, Mr. Beck continued. Of these there is no lack, and they are in substantial agreement one with another. As the authorities dealing with forests are mainly provincial in character, the estimates are for the most part provincial in area; and as Quebec is the most important of the pulpwood-producing provinces of the East, it is expedient to devote some time to a discussion of the estimates for that province, treating the other provinces more briefly and by means of analogy.

The American interests, argued at Washington in 1920, in favor of the adoption of the Underwood Resolution were naturally concerned to make as light as possible of the depletion. They presented an estimate that Quebec alone contained 608 million cords of wood, and that 24,320,000 cords could be cut annually without depletion if it were conducted as a "scientifically lumbered forest." As against this we may place the estimate set forth in "The Forests of Canada," by the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, in 1923, under the Dominion Forestry Branch.

In this the total stand of merchantable timber of every kind of soft wood is given as 871,720,000 cords for all of Canada. But of this amount only 65 per cent, or less than two-thirds, consists of good pulpwood, namely, balsam and spruce, the bulk of the remainder being jack pine, utilized to a limited extent. This gives us a total of about 580,000,000 cords of merchantable spruce and balsam in the whole of Canada; but "merchantable" refers only to sizes and quality, not to location, and it is therefore necessary to deduct all that immense quantity of pulpwood north of the great divide in Quebec and Ontario, and hence in watersheds running down to Hudson Bay, for such wood, unless within a short distance of the very few railway lines which enter that territory, cannot be brought out. Estimating this inaccessible wood at the moderate figure of 80,000,000 cords, we get 500,000,000 cords an approximate total for the good merchantable pulpwood of all Canada. Of this the eastern provinces are estimated to contain 552,210,000 cords of all kinds of soft wood, which gives about two-thirds of that amount of pulpwood, or 368,000,000 cords, and deducting 80,000,000 cords for inaccessability we get 228,000,000 cords of accessible pulpwood in Ontario, Quebec, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia.

It is out of this 228,000,000 cords (and out of only a part of it at that) that almost the whole of the cut of 5,000,000 cords per annum is now being derived; and yet the experience of the best foresters of Quebec shows that the rate of increment which can be attained by spruce and balsam under the best conditions is only 1.22 per cent per annum.

RESERVE FOR FUTURE.

A large part of this stand of 500,000,000 cords is not part of the "operated forests," continued Mr. Beck, but is simply a reserve for the future, the utilization of which cannot take place until the cost of securing wood in other accessible areas has become a good deal higher. The contents of this untouched reserve are stationary, or may by accident be actually diminished; there is no rate of growth upon them whatever, whether 4 per cent or 4-10 of one per cent; there can be no rate of growth upon them until they begin to be cut; they cannot grow one single new log to replace anything that may be cut in the new operated areas, because all that they can do is to replace their own natural decay. They are "matured timber" and growing forests.

Whatever rate of reproductive power these areas would possess is at present being wasted, and must continue to be wasted until it becomes economically feasible to cut timber there. This consideration applies to probably at least 100 million cords of the above estimate, which will continue to be 100 million cords (unless diminished by fire) for a thousand years, if that time should elapse before it begins to be cut, and would not contribute one additional tree even though every tree in the other forests of Canada should be cut down or burnt off in the interval.

The total annual cut of pulpwood in Canada has not hitherto greatly exceeded 4,000,000 cords, but the present greatly increased rate of export of unmanufactured pulpwood to the United States, together with the coming into action of several new mills in Canada, indicates that a cut of five million cords will henceforth be a minimum figure so long as the accessible woodlands of this country continue to afford such a crop. A small proportion of this total, not exceeding 300,000 cords, comes from British Columbia, the remainder being the product of the eastern Canada areas already sketched. This of course is the net cut, as brought to the mill or to the port of export; the gross cordage actually destroyed in getting it out is considerably larger.

OTHER DEPLETIONS.

But if the Canadian forests lost each year only what is actually taken out of them by loggers, the situation would be comparatively cheerful, even admitting that this 5,000,000 cords is not spread over the whole 500,000,000 cords of standing pulpwood in Canada, but comes out of only some 200 to 250 million cords in forests under actual operation. Such a rate of consumption, while it certainly would not, even with the most scientific forest management, allow anything to be added to the contents of the forests, would not greatly exceed the rate of replacement which could be attained under such management in all but the coldest portions of Eastern Canada. But we have to add to this consumption an unknown but infinitely alarming rate of destruction by fire and by disease.

Statistics of fire and disease loss in Canadian forests are even less exact than those of forest contents and rate of extraction. But that it has been in the past and still is immensely in excess of the loss by cutting would be admitted by anybody with the slightest knowledge of Canadian forests. The Forestry Department 1923 document gives what must certainly be considered a very cautious and moderate estimate. Unfortunately, no distinction is drawn between hard and soft wood. The annual utilization (gross) is placed at 2,616,000,000 cubic feet of standing timber, the fire destruction at 790,000,000 cubic feet and the insect destruction at 1,350,000,000 cubic feet, plus an unknown loss due to fungous diseases, with the total result that "the forests have, during the last five years, been depleted at the rate of upwards of 5,000,000,000 cubic feet per annum." This, it is frankly admitted, much exceeds the existing rate of increment, which it is estimated (by the same authority) "should be," with good management and adequate fire protection, between 7,500,000,000 and 11,500,000,000 cubic feet. As it is, even with utilization and loss estimated as low as 5,000,000,000 cubic feet, "the forest capital of Canada is being materially reduced, owing primarily to the failure to provide for a future crop while cutting and the lack of protection from fire for the natural reproduction."

But other authorities are even less cheerful.

Frank J. D. Barnjum, a profound student of the situation and a lumberman of 34 years' experience, speaking before the Canadian Society of Forest Engineers in January, 1923, said:

"If you will look over the records of our forest history you will find that the amount of the annual cut is not over one-tenth of the amount of destruction by bugs; fungi, fire and wind. If we had only the annual cut to contend with, and there was no loss from the above-mentioned causes, there would today be just as much timber in Canada as there was when the country was first settled."

The statement that the annual loss from fires and other destructive agencies is ten times greater than the annual cut, it is fair to state, has been challenged by experienced lumbermen when applied to the particular districts with which they are most familiar, their deductions being arrived at by multiplying the annual cut ten times and by showing the impossibility of such a drain taking place; but the statement receives credence in other quarters and as applying to Canada in general. It must not be assumed that total destruction is the invariable accompaniment of forest fires, since usually much timber is left standing that is subject to salvage. Fire is vastly more destructive than even the most unscientific logging. The logger is obliged by regulations, to leave the young trees of the pulpwood species; fire not only destroys, but it leaves the soil in a condition which allows such unimportant woods as birch and poplar to spring up first, and it is often many years before the pulpwood species attain to their normal proportional strength.

DEAD WOOD MENACE.

The rate of fire loss rises with the rise of population—until that advanced stage is reached when the forest area begins to be intersected by extensive agricultural clearings, Mr. Beck went on say, as is the case in most of the American States; these in time begin to limit the extent of any single fire in a way that it is not possible in such vast uncleared areas as those of Northern Ontario and Northern Quebec.

The rate of disease loss, on the other hand, rises as a direct consequence of both fire loss, when the destruction is not fully complete, and of careless cutting. The tree diseases which are most destructive are due to the over-multiplication of natural scavengers, the beetles and fungi where there is too much dead wood on the ground, such as partly burnt trees windfalls or lumber men's cuttings; they multiply in it and attacks the living trees.

Mr. Beck dwelt at some length as to the course which might be adopted by the Government on the matter of preservation, citing cases of the action taken by the Governments of other countries where the chief industry was pulp and paper. He also dealt with the question of destruction by settlers and the failure of the provincial authorities to enforce the elementary rules of fire prevention.

MONUMENTS TO DEAD WRECKED BY LADS

Seventy Headstones in Maxville Cemetery Broken by Vandals

CORNWALL, Ont., Nov. 6 — (Star Special.) — Two lads, Albert and Andrew Picard, eighteen and eleven years, living with their parents at Dominionville, appeared in the Police Court yesterday, charged with wrecking about seventy monuments in the Maxville cemetery Sunday.

The older boy said that his sister, about fourteen, and a young man named Bellefeuille, about twenty, were mixed up in the destruction and alleged that Bellefeuille was the father of the idea to wreck the stones.

The three Picard's had walked from Dominionville to Maxville to attend church, and the acts of vandalism were committed after they left the service. Police Magistrate McDougall, of Maxville, was present at the hearing, and sat on the bench with Magistrate Cline.

The older Picard boy was remanded to jail here until November 13, when the case will be resumed at Maxville, and the presence of Bellefeuille and the Picard girl will be demanded, warrants for their appearance were issued after the hearing.

It is said that the damage done to the monuments, will aggregate close to $5,000. Many of the larger stones were broken in several pieces and cannot be set up again on theif bases. The whole countryside about Maxville is wrought up over the depredation.

Only known diamond mines in North America are located in Pike county, Arkansas.

William Richmond played square with his son—

W. T. Richmond, a widower, died practically penniless the year before his son was to enter college. It seemed like a veritable tragedy; for Fred Richmond, the son, was an exceptionally brilliant student and a great future seemed ahead of him. His friends were all pitying him. But the pity was misplaced—for William Richmond had played square by his boy.

The North American Life man called with a cheque for $7,000 "payable to Fred Richmond."

"What is this?" Fred asked.

"Your father took out a Child's Endowment policy when you were two years old.

This policy guaranteed the payment of $7,000 to you when you were seventeen, even if your father died before this time."

You may be surprised, as others have been, at the protection afforded all concerned in this policy. Send for our booklet "The Child's Endowment Policy."

Net Operating Revenue for Eight Months Set at $5,011,845

DEFICIT IN CANADA

Surplus of $6,063,232 on U.S. Lines Gives System Profit

OTTAWA, Nov. 6. — (Canadian Press.) — The Canadian National Railways turned in a net operating revenue of $5,011,845 in the eight months of the present year ending on August 31 last. During the same period of 1922, operations resulted in a net deficit of $1,166,098.

This year there was a deficit of $1,051,387 on Canadian lines of the system, but operations on the United States lines showed a surplus of $6,063,232. During the eight months of 1922, Canadian lines turned in a deficit of $4,680,139, while the net revenue on the United States lines was only $3,523,040.

During the same period the Canadian Pacific Railway showed a net operating revenue of $13,836,464, as compared with $14,661,921 in 1922. Gross operating revenues on the C. P.R. during the eight months of the present year totalled $112,938,967, an increase over 1922 when they were $108,232,426. Operating expenses, however, showed a greater increase than revenues. For the eight-month period of 1923, they totalled $99,602,503, as against $93,370,505 in 1922.

The gross operating revenues on Canadian lines of the Canadian National increased from $122,488,292 in the eight-month period of 1922 to $133,902,913 in 1923. On the United States lines the increase was from $20,019,454 to $25,846,901. Operating expenses on Canadian lines this year totalled $134,964,801 as against $127,177,431 last year. On United States lines, operating expenses rose from $16,496,414 in 1922 to $19,783,668 in the 1923 period.

The net operating revenue on all Canadian railways during the eight months was $23,209,284 as against $16,603,198 in 1922. Gross revenues were $286,805,062 and operating expenses totalled $263,595,778.

CARGO OF RYE CAUSES PORT'S DOCK WORKERS TO FALL FROM GRACE

St. John's Prohibitionists Shocked by Jingle of Breaking Bottles and Tortuous Gait of Laborers Homeward Bound

ST. JOHN'S, N'f'd., Nov. 6—(Canadian Press.)—The Canada Steamship Manoe got away from that port last night for Montreal after almost a day's delay due to research activities by the 'longshoremen who were unloading her cargo of 7,000 cases of whiskey.

After operations were started on that section of the cargo the laborers in the hold showed signs of a liveliness that could not all be ascribed to fumes from the booze. Symptoms of giddiness were displayed on the deck and adjoining pier. Some Sherlock Holmes made the discovery that cases had fallen open, that bottles were uncorked and that the laborers were making a laudable effort to prevent waste.

When some of the men started carrying goods into doors that did not exist and others walked over the sides of the pier, it was decided to suspend operations. 'Longshoremen turned to on Sunday but started right in on their salvage work again. Whiskey cases mysteriously opened and displayed their contents. The jingle of breaking bottles was heard and the odor of Canadian rye shocked the noses of prohibitionists.

Again closure was applied and the unloading squad for the second time wove their uncertain ways tortuously homeward.

The final instalment of the booze was removed from the Manoa yesterday morning. Agents for the ship anticipate no difficulty in recruiting laborers for discharging cargoes so long as Walkerville continues forwarding consignments of old mellow rye here, via Montreal.

There is a fly farm in London where the pests are deliberately bred, as a means, however, of studying methods of exterminating the species.

You Had a Right to Expect Lower Rates!

—and naturally you had a right to expect Bramsons to make the cut. For lower rates you offer higher volume of business—a fair offer and a fine trade—and we were glad to make the bargain—for the life of our business is volume.

And ever since October 15, when our last cut in rates took effect—volume of business has been steadily on the increase—to your lasting good as well as our own. Service, safety and lower rates ever follow in the footsteps of volume.

Yet aside from the money we save you It really pays to be sure your taxi is a Bramson—for yellow cabs provide the best taxi transportation in all Canada. Units of organized responsibility, organized by men who have given a life-time of study to the responsibility of taxi transportation. 'Knowing how' is not the least of Bramsons superiority.

From the cabs you ride in to the men who drive them—there is no equal to Bramsons. This is not a mere idle boast—but a reputation honestly won, in the field of public service. No city can boast of a finer taxi service nor a more economical one, than Montreal.

Even as it is an unvarying truth that "it always cost you less to ride in a Bramson," so is it equally true that a Yellow Cab is a symbol of safety, comfort and convenience.

N.Y. Theatre Guild in Ironical Comedy from Pen of Leonid Andeyev

THE work of Leonid Andreyev is not yet widely understood, either in Europe or over here. It is too closely bound up with the great wreckage of ideals and traditions wrought by the war. It is too heavily laden with the weight of an irony that has gone beyond endurance, beyond suffering. In twenty or thirty years, perhaps, the genius of this great Russian may receive full recognition in all quarters competent to accord it. But in the meantime it is being sedulously studied, sympathetically interpreted, and intelligently cultivated by devoted organizations whose aim is to give to the world of today the best of today's drama. And among those organizations the Theatre Guild of New York must be accorded a prominent and well-established place.

The man who literally died of starvation in a hovel by the Baltic a few years ago will yet be heard by an admiring world. But until his day shall come, it is well—it is more than well, that there should be such admirable interpretative work accomplished by such intelligent and unprejudiced students as the members of this Guild. In choosing "He Who Gets Slapped" as the representative Andreyev play to produce in Montreal, they have made an intensely interesting selection. For of all the dramas from Andreyev's pen so far translated into English, this perhaps, possesses most of the qualities of a directly human appeal for western minds. It is as if Andreyev had shed for a period his cloak of fatalistic gloom; as if he had determined to write in a form that should intrigue the Anglo-Saxon imagination, for he chose the oldest, and the most popular method,—the presentation of the gamut of human emotion under the mask of the motley of a circus fool.

Into the self-centred life of a circus company,—a little world unto itself, holding itself distinct and apart from the great world "out there,"—Andreyev pitchforks his protagonist, a thinker, a creator of ideas, a man who has held a high place in the esteem of his fellows, but who has suffered the tortures of disillusion in its most bitter form—disillusion in love, in friendship, in estimate of the world's capacity for understanding. Into the strange little world of pantomime and make-believe he carries his bitterness of soul, his agony of heart, his ceaseless rebellion against the injustice that refuses recognition to creative genius, in the hope that he may regain something of his lost illusions, his vanished happiness. But in his self-chosen guise of buffoon, He Who Gets Slapped, and who thereby makes the people of the world outside the circus laugh, speedily discovers that the strange little world of pantomime where he hoped to find surcease holds its own tragedies, its own disillusions, its own hopes and fears and sorrows and ironies. And strangest irony of all!—his love for the little bareback circus rider, a Corsican waif who is being exploited by a rascally adventurer Count as his daughter with whom to bait a gross German baron,—he very sure Andreyev drew at least that one portrait from intimate life!—which had seemed for the moment to promise a gleam of hope, is inadequate to prevent her sacrifice to the Baron. Even here, in the world of make-believe, the same old hypocricies, the same old pretence, the same old lies and mockery and disillusion.....and only one way out, from the darkness of that disillusion to the greater darkness of death. That way he takes, for himself and the girl of his hopeless love, and upon the sacrificial bier of two lives gone forth to seek, beyond the limits of human existence, the happiness that existence did not hold for them, the last sad curtain inexorably falls.

* * *

And the meaning of it all? I see no reason for bewilderment. Andreyev was no juggler of mysteries. Only one mystery eluded him,—that which lies safe-hidden behind the portals of death. And in this comedy of life's ironies he tells us that there is no escape on earth from the shadow of disillusions that overcast the soul,—that the way of escape lies beyond the portals. There are those who can compel themselves to a mood of quiescent endurance, of platitudinarian agreement with grief; but in them the light has died down. For Andreyev and all such ill-starred, tortured souls, who, so free from life's littlenesses, hunger so keenly for peace of the soul, no compromise will suffice. They must seek their way to the light as best they can.

That is how I see the play. I make no dogmatic claim to the interpretation. I merely state it because it helps me to understand the comedy. And when you understand this particular comedy, you find you are have a wonderfully good time, intellectually. Your mind chuckles; it is all so richly stored with choicest irony, subtle wit, delicate cynicism that merely passes across the mirror and is gone.

* * *

The Theatre Guild company give us a surprisingly attractive presentation. Their work is obviously directed by sympathy, and they have studied the play as a dramatic entity and their respective roles as individual parts of that entity. With intelligent direction, effective setting and mounting—the whole action passes in the green room of a travelling circus—and with the dominating roles in the hands of experienced and resourceful artists, the result is a performance that appeals to the intelligence, that satisfies the intelligence ,and that creates a very emphatic and comforting sense of good work well done.

* * *

Mr. Basil Sydney's portrait of He is charged by a wide illuminative sweep. He shows us the soul writhing under its torture, the battle between irony and contempt, the passionate craving for a peace that is not; and in the final sacrifice, the ironic spirit strong even in the throes of death. He invests the portrait with strength because he paints it fearlessly, without hesitation. He lends it vividness by the daring of his brushwork. And we find ourselves admiring the mental stature of the actor and giving little thought to his art.

* * *

In a long cast there are many minor roles, but none so minor that the Guild deems them unworthy of study. Over and over again apparently trivial detail revealed the thoroughness of the production and the broad grasp of Andreyev's aims that underlies the work of this organization. The musical clowns playing their inconspicuous but picturesque and absolutely essential roles are admirably depicted by Romney Brent and John McGovern. Mancini, the Adventurer Count, is admirably portrayed by C. H. Croker-King, adding still another to that sterling actor's fine character-studies. Mr. Stanley Wood, in the role of Briquet, the manager of the circus, gave us a plausible impersonation of the sort of man we all expect a circus manager anywhere to be,—and that is the best thing he could have done. Miss Florence Auer, from whom we always expect colorful and vigorous work, depicts the manager's wife, Zinida, the lion-tamer, a woman hungry for love, with fire and realism, though at times she strains unnecessarily after emphasis which she does not need. Redfield Clark's conception of the Baron is notable in its sinister import and menacing impassivity. Hermann Lieb gives us a convincing picture of the man who stole He's wife and ideas—a difficult role, but handled with discretion and restraint. Miss Rita Johann, as Consuelo, the little bareback circus rider, was at all times picturesque, and rose surprisingly to the supreme demand of the big climacteric moments,—a characteristic, by the way, of the company as a whole.

It was from beginning to end an enjoyable performance of a rare play. A large and representative audience said so in Montreal's restrained "please - don't-be-offended-if-I-clap-hands-a-little" style.

Ain't it a Grand and Glorious Feeling

Bright Spots on Bill At Imperial Amuse the Audience; Contest Held

The program at the Imperial this week reminds one of a variegated flower garden,—there are some bright spots, and there are others not so bright. However, judging from the audience last night, the outstanding acts not only constituted good entertainment in themselves, but so materially enhanced the whole program as to leave a very pleasant feeling at the end of the last curtain drop. This was to a great extent due to the efforts of Eddie Nelson, who closed the bill and created such a favorable impression that he was recalled again and again. Nelson is a blackface comedian with a splendid voice and also a compelling entertaining manner.

Another bright spot on the program was the attractive and colorful little skit, entitled "Blondes," and presented by Lewis and Gordon. It is based on a bet made by one man to another that a blonde is more susceptible to flattery than a brunette. The objects of their conversation, two charming young ladies, overhear them and determine to teach them a lesson. The result is a wholesome bit of comedy in which the humor is not vulgarized for the sake of securing laughs. The cast is thoroughly competent and do as good work.

* * *

Armand Voliano, Arvil Avery and Gene Aleer, a dancing trio, possess much merit. They are youthful, and even in their wildest moments of dance they are graceful. They close their number with a novelty steeplechase feature that proves most interesting. More careful staging might make their act even more attractive; they have plenty of good material.

* * *

In Miss Ann Butler, of Butler and Parker, who present "Don't Make Me Laugh," there is an actress who possesses as latent possibilities as an entertaining comedienne. Not that she does not take full advantage of her role of an ambitious chorus girl who impersonates an east-side tailor's daughter to secure a position but that, eliminating the chorus part, and devoting herself to careful study of character roles, she ought top rove a valuable addition to the ranks of those who are known chiefly for their character work. Mr. Parker makes an excellent foil.

* * *

The Clairmont Brothers in "Fun a la Ladder" accomplish some skilful work on a ladder and close their act with a feat which wins praise. Dorothy Wahl has some new material in a turn combining songs with humorous recitations and ending with a short dance.

The Imperial theatre is again holding a dancing contest. Last night a large audience was present, and the dancers on the stage afforded no little interest and entertainment. The contest will be continued every Monday night.

"Broken Wing," the feature film, is adapted from the stage play that met with success on Broadway last season. On the screen it proves entertaining. Miriam Cooper as the dark senorita is interesting, while Kenneth Harlan as the aviator, who is forced to land in Mexico on account of a broken wing, proves wholly effective.

Audience Thrilled By Proved Favorite At Orpheum Theatre

In fulfilment of an old promise, M. Calmettes is giving us "Amoureuse" this week at the Orpheum Theatre. Earlier in the season, he himself scored a great victory in this masterpiece by Porto-Riche, in the first production of which in Paris some years ago he had played an important part. Nobody should regret his decision to play this piece again. No matter how sweet one's tooth, one cannot live on meringues and ice cream alone. The mind craves for more solid nourishment at times, and in "Amoureuse" we have a play which gives us much to think about, but little to laugh at. It has, moreover, a very high dramatic quality. The second and third acts vibrate passionate emotion, which is sustained at high pitch by the finished acting of the company. We thank M. Calmettes for giving us this treat.

"Follies of the Day" At the Gayety Proves A Strong Drawing-card

Scientists and writers have told the world that in the ages to come people will convey their thoughts to others without word of mouth. They might do worse than use Bozo Snyder, the well-known silent comedian at the Gayety this week, as an object-lesson. "Follies of the Day," Barney Gerard's Revue, introduces "What Does The Public Want" and then proceeds to answer it. Bozo himself comes on the boards after the ninth scene. He is introduced by Sam Green, who gives Bozo effective support throughout the performance.

Bozo is an individual who can convey jokes of all types by smiles, nods, and gesticulations, dainty or otherwise. He dances well and plays the trombone with ease. But he does not speak.

The beauty of the performance as a whole is that there is not a dull moment in any of the scenes. These are arranged in such a way that none of them is either too short or too long. The music is appropriate. Those in the cast who can sing blue songs are given blue songs to sing, and those who stick to the "true" note are left with the older melodies.

* * *

Johnny Weber, the Eskimo Pie Man, contributes much to the acts in which he appears. He has the capacity for providing others with opportunities to show their strong points. Upon him and Sam Green rests the onus of Bozo's support.

Beatrice Tracey, who leads the chorus and does a little tempting in the Police Court scene, possesses a voice of real charm, and keeps the singing of the chorus well in hand.

Gertrude Hayes dances as well as she sings. Few of the seasons' "blue" songs have approached her interpretation of "Lonesome Baby."

Bert Hunter, Chick Hunter, John Williams and the dancing boys do well in their respective roles. The chorus is well trained and well costumed.

The house was packed. People standing at the back, and the isles filled with chairs, testified to the popularity of the show.

Vaudeville at Loew's Is Attractive; Western Film and "Jackie" Logan

California in '49 is the scene in which thrilling events contained in the film "Salomy Jane," at Loew's theatre this week, are enacted. This is the first time for many months that a Montreal audience has been afforded the pleasure of seeing pretty little Jacqueline Logan in a leading role. She is well supported by a cast tha tincludes George Fawcett, Maurice Flynn, W. B. Davidson and others.

There are several mob scenes in the picture and melodramatic incidents which include a manhunt, night riding and murders galore. The story is of a young girl, the idol of a rough frontier township in California's mountain regions. The hold-up of the mail stage which links the town with the outside world gives lead to a whole chain of events during which the girl meets and falls in love with a young stranger who is the hunted hero of the film. There are rivals for her love, and their jealousy and devotion give rise to many complicated situations. The confession of one of these suitors and the unravelling of the mystery surrounding several deaths brings the film to a climax.

* * *

William Ladd and Elizabeth Morgan, with their company, present the feature act on the vaudeville program this wek. This is aided by tasteful scenery, pretty costumes and clever dancing and singing.

Maxson and Brown contribute clever comedy. Emmett and Lind prove effective ventriloquists and by employment of novel methods lend their work distinction. DeHaven and Nice back up their work with still views thrown on a screen, depicting their adventures as vaudeville artists. The Flying Henrys do daring feats on swinging bars and ropes. The Caledonian Four, in Scottish costumes, are entertaining with songs and jokes.

Brennan With a New Margie Chief Feature On the Princess Bill

The old partnership of Savoy and Brennan was famous wherever vaudeville flourished. The death of Mr. Savoy broke it, and the vaudeville world mourned the loss of one of its most popular comedians. Yet this week Jay Brennan, with a new partner, is the principal feature at the Princess in an act that follows closely along the lines of that made so deservedly popular. Mr. Brennan and Mr. Stanley Rogers are using the old title. The act is exceptionally clever, thought it consists only of a gossipy conversation carried on by a gentleman and a lady. Mr. Brennan's new partner who is a well known impersonator of feminine roles, is an invaluable asset, for he possesses a rare gift of comedy as well as of impersonation. Mr. Rogers' personal appearance is in itself comical, and although he makes a very attractive woman as far as figure is concerned, his comical facial expressions are inimitable. The act possesses all the qualities that go to make vaudeville popular with the public, and is sure to attract large crowds this week.

* * *

Will Cressy and Blanch Bayne, in a skit entitled "The End of a Perfect Troup," afford much genuine amusement. Mr. Cressy, in the role of a good-natured country hotel-keeper, is at the same time funny and pathetic, if the combination can be imagined. These comedians are resourceful, and with the helpful background of a country hotel they achieve a very realistic and colourful result. Although the plot is rather fragile, the sense of comedy values possessed by those who take part renders plot a secondary consideration, and the scarcity of situations, throwing them back on their own resources, serves rather to accentuate their real talent, and shows that they depend more on their own ability than on the author's imagination.

Wade Booth, in spite of a severe cold, which places him at a decided disadvantage, has a delightful baritone voice and pleases the audience with a varied and attractive repertoire of songs. Mr. Booth has chosen his program with a great deal of discrimination, and was greatly appreciated by the audience, who would have liked to hear him sing a great many more numbers, if it had not been for the obvious strain under which he was apparently working.

* * *

Walter C. Kelly in the "Virginian Judge" plays his ever-popular, difficult and varied role, portraying at the same time a judge and all the prisoners he interviews, Mr. Kelly, who possesses a rare gift of mimicry and changes his voice and whole attitude to suit each character. He is always a welcome visitor to Montreal. Miss Grette Ardine aided by John Tyrrell and William Allen, presents an attractive dance revue, called "The French Model," and provides a refreshing picture. Miss Ardine wears some very charming costumes, is a graceful dancer, and is ably supported by her two partners.

Breaker's Bear Comedians is an act amazing in its cleverness. The bears are trained to perfection, and one of them rides around the stage on a bicycle, to the admiration of the audience. The trainer is certainly to be congratulated on his success and the feats of the bears make the act one of undoubted interest. The whirlwind Hassens complete an attractive bill with a fine display of dervish spinning.

The Palestine Exploration Society is soon to make excavations on the Mount of Olives.

JEWISH PANEL FOR SCHOOLS ENDORSED

Large Meeting in Monument Nationale Supports Community Council

BETTER TERMS

Speakers Insist That Desire Does Not Conflict with Patriotism

The division of opinion between the Jewish Community Council and the Uptown School Committee regarding the desirability or otherwise of forming a separate Jewish panel for the education of Jewish children is as pronounced as ever, and there is little doubt that when the revision of the Protestant School Commission's Act comes before the Quebec Legislature early in the new year the two bodies will be before the committees of the House in full force to argue the question.

The Jewish Community Council held a mass meeting on Sunday afternoon in the Monument Nationale to discuss the question, and, although there was some opposition advanced by one or two of the audience to the statements of the speakers in favor of separation from the Protestant panel, the work of the Community Council was endorsed with enthusiasm and applause by a practically unanimous vote. The opposition came from one man and two women who raised questions from the floor of the hall were invited to state their objections from the platform, but their chief complaint was that the committee was not properly organized or representative of the Jewish Community, which was answered by the chairman, who explained how the committee had been formed and asked the audience whether they authorized it to continue its negotiations with the Protestant School Board and the Protestant Committee of the Council of Public Instruction.

OFFERS PROTEST.

The declaration was made by A. D. Paltiel, an officer of the New Adath Jeshuran Synagogue that that synagogue had not joined in a protest against the formation of a Jewish Separate School panel, while other speakers also questioned the attitude that had been attributed to other synagogues by the Uptown School Committee, it being pointed out that some of those reported as opposed to the movement had only protested against the proposed terms of separation, thinking they might be made better.

Louis Fitch, chairman of the separate school committee told the meeting of the progress of the negotiations with the Protestant Board and pointed out that the movement had not been launched until it was clear that the Protestant Board was going to get the 1903 law amended. The Protestant Board had a perfect right to abrogate the arrangement made if they wished to do so and it was not for the Jews to interfere with the desire of Protestants to maintain a Protestant character in their schools. He did not think the desire to create a public school system either desirable or possible and therefore the Jewish people were entitled to have the opportunity of instilling Judaism in their children the same as other bodies.

The meeting was presided over by M. Garber, and the speakers included Rabbi H. Cohen, Rabbi Zalmanovitch, who spoke on behalf of the Jewish Orthodox Communities, M. Caiserman and Principal Wiseman of the Jewish People's school who declared that the Jewish labor unions were unanimously in favor of a separate school panel; and R. Epstein, president of the Chevra Shaas Congregation, who emphasized the need of educating Jewish children along Jewish lines.

STEEL CREDITORS ARE ORGANIZED

Will Name Committees for Province of Quebec

The first meeting of L. R. Steel stockholders in Montreal and the Province of Quebec was held at the Windsor Hotel when steps toward re-organization of the Steel enterprises in Canada and the United States were discussed.

W. Wilkins and Parker Stewart, of Buffalo, representing the international committee of stockholders were present and explained the condition of the companies, the organization work accomplished by stockholders in various other cities throughout Canada and the United States and the stockholders protective trust plan at present in operation.

A committee was chosen to represent Montreal stockholders and work in co-operation with the general international committee in support of the trust plan.

Steps were taken to get in touch with all local stockholders and it is understood that a general meeting will be called at an early date. It is also planned to hold other meetings of stockholders throughout Quebec, Sherbrooke and Three Rivers.

The committee elected consists of Andrew Lefaivre, chairman; Orval Clark, secretary; D. J. Miller, George H. Robert, Edgar Pouliot, Henri Lousoun, James S. Ingles, J. P. Ryan, John Dalquist, Edward Lalumiere, William Fowler, John McMullen and Miss Ida Beusquet.

WOULD FINE CITY

Doctor Asks That Penalty Be Made Effective

Fining the City of Montreal $2,000 for every day that it continues to empty sewage into Rainbault Creek, Cartierville, is the latest means invoked by Dr. D. E. Lecavelier to end what he claims to be a menace to public health and a distinct personal disadvantage to himself.

Last summer he appeared in Superior Court, before Mr. Justice Desauniers, to ask that the courts enjoin the city to cease this practice, and obtained a court order to this effect.

Now he claims that the delay of 75 days in which the city was to put a stop to existing conditions has expired, and this morning he asked that a fine of $2,000 a day be imposed against it for contempt of court.

The city contested this action by asking six days' delay in which to file written rebuttal.

GARMENT FIRE.

Fire caused considerable damage in the Radio Ladies' and Children's Wear Company premises at 149 Amherst street early last evening. It broke out in the rear of the store shortly after the departure of the employes. Smoke damage was considerable in the adjoining dwellings. The firemen under Acting District Chief Sarrazin had the fire in hand within fifteen minutes of the outbreak.

Life and Character Reading
NOVEMBER 6.

Women born on this date who have not learned to control themselves are apt to be great scolds and the worst of masters. Their children are usually victims. Such women are jealous and suspicious of their husbands and so fearful that other women will have some power over them, that they are constantly on the watch for an appearance of infidelity. Those born on this date are usually robust of appearance, and inclined to corpulency in middle life. They have dusky complexions, broad, square faces, and dark hair.

The governing sign of this date is Scorpio, the sign of the Scorpion and the middle sign of the Water Twiplicity. The planet is Mars, known as the God of War.

Cooks, chefs, waiters and waitresses are favored of the Star Want Ads this month, and they will do well to watch the Want Ads carefully for positions.

The Action.

The first test of a piano as made by experienced pianists, is of the action.

A piano may have the finest tone imaginable, but if the action is unresponsive, the labor necessary to produce it, takes all the joy out of playing, for correct interpretations are next to impossible.

The Heintzman & Co. action is made from high grade woods, sectioned to a fraction, balanced in a manner which assures the player of perfect graduation of tone, from the almost indiscerning sound to the loud crescendo, and the hammers surmounted with specially selected felts.

The finish is a wonderful example of the exceptional workmanship of Heintzman & Co. craftsmen.

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 1923.

THE ALBERTA VOTE AND ITS MEANING.

It will be a great mistake if any one imagines that the vote in Alberta, following that in Manitoba, indicates any lessening of temperance sentiment in Canada. Alberta has not voted for "whiskey." The people out there are no more tolerant of intoxication than they ever were. They do not propose to drink any more intoxicants. They have not voted for easy access to liquor in any form.

What they have voted for is that, if liquor is to be sold in their Province, the profits on its sale shall go to the Province and not to the "boot-legger." They have intelligently recognized the fact—the unpleasant and greatly-to-be-condemned fact — that liquor is sold in spite of the law; and they have with equal intelligence decided that it is most undesirable that the criminals who thus break the law shall be subsidised for their lawlessness.

That is, Alberta has voted against bonusing the "boot-legger." It has voted for lifting the selfish motive out of the sale of liquor. This latter point is well worth considering. Where liquor is vended by a "boot-legger" or by any other private vendor, the seller has a strong pecuniary interest in pushing the sale. Where it is sold by a salaried public official in a Government office, no one makes any money by pushing to sale. Any business man will see the great difference which this makes.

* * *

But the decision of Alberta to torpedo the "boot-legger" and put liquor on sale publicly under close restriction, is also a challenge to the temperance people. It will now become possible for the Alberta citizen to buy liquor legally. Hence it becomes doubly imperative for the temperance workers to tell him why he should not buy it.

Their case has not been changed by yesterday's vote. They have been, and doubtless still are, so thoroughly convinced that liquor is an evil and the drinking of it a form of insanity—which it undoubtedly is—that they went to the length of getting a law passed making it a crime. They could not have established their conviction or proven their sincerity more clearly.

The people have now voted for another form of temperance restriction which, however, leaves the young, the inexperienced and the weak exposed to the legal sale of liquor. Obviously the temperance workers have a new duty laid upon them. They must educate the young, warn the inexperienced and doubly warn the weak. They may possibly have grown slack while they imagined that the law was doing their work for them. But obviously it was not. In any case, the battle is now joined again, and gallantly will they enter the lists.

FRANCE AND THE CONFERENCE.

France is fighting very cleverly and very warily in the battle for another Reparations Conference. From time to time she shifts her stance ever so slightly, but she refuses to give ground by a single inch. It is a pretty duel which is going on between M. Jusserand and Mr. Hughes, with sparrings and feintings, with long consultations and provoking silences.

Great Britain wants to throw the new enquiry wide open, while France wants to close the doors as tight as possible, admitting only just sufficient air to give the proceedings life. The State Department of the United States, which announced some time ago that the plan initiated by Mr. Hughes had been accepted by Great Britain, Italy and Belgium, does not want to be a party to any conference where the conflicting policies of the nations of Europe have more power to dictate the subjects of the agenda paper than the economic needs of the case.

France's attitude toward the conference seems to be largely that of the boxer who does not want to fight and does not want to refuse battle. France does not want another conference of experts. Her attitude in this matter is neither complex nor difficult to understand. The Versailles Treaty and the complementary findings of its nominated Reparations Commission of 1921 gave France terms which in the light of subsequent events must be regarded as distinctly favorable. Under this agreement France is to receive from Germany the sum of 26,000,000,000 of gold marks out of the first 50,000,000,000 which Germany is to pay and a share of the balance of the reparations payment which is fixed at some staggering sum which really means nothing. France has drawn up her budgets and embarked upon schemes involving big national expenditures on the basis that those gold reparations are more than promises to pay and are liquid assets.

France believes that while it may be possible that Stresemann cannot or will not squeeze money out of the German taxpayer and from the pockets of the German financier, it does not follow that such money does not exist. Yet when it is suggested that a committee of experts should enquire as to Germany's ability to pay, France is very suspicious. France is not anxious for a wide open enquiry, because she knows that a committee of experts would not be likely to deal in the airy nothings of quadrillions of marks, but would bring forward practical suggestions as to how much Germany can actually pay and when the first payments must be made.

Belgium shows a more pronounced disposition to adopt the British view and suggests that the practical way to untie the latest knot is by omitting the word "present" out of the invitation to discuss the "present ability of Germany to pay," upon which France insists. France has had a costly experience of extracting reparations by armed occupation of territory which have not only brought nothing to her coffers, but have added to the bill which her bankrupt customer owes, and she will hardly be likely to play a lone hand again in extending the area of her occupation. The alternative would seem to be co-operation with the Allies on the terms which they propose. If France persists in making it impossible for the United States to enter the conference she will isolate herself from her old Allies more and more until she stands, solitary and aloof, without reparations and without friends.

From such a catastrophe the common-sense of the French people should save them before Poincare has slammed the door in the face of those who would now befriend her.

AT THE MASTHEAD

With the unerring instinct for striking the appropriate note that has marked all his public utterances and appeals since the War brought him so close to the hearts of the people, King George has asked that all flags be flown at the masthead on Armistice Day. This is a significant point, and it is well that we should appreciate its significance. Hitherto there has been a wide divergence of practice in flying the flag on the day set apart for perpetual celebration of the end of the war and commemoration of the valiant dead. Many have flown the flag at half-mast, as on a day of national mourning. But the King has touched the imaginative ideal.

Armistice Day is not a day of mourning, nor is it a day to set apart for the indulgence of grief, public or private. It is a day for rejoicing, for the celebration with fitting pomp and pride of heroic deeds and indomitable sacrifices—the deeds that thrilled the world and the sacrifices that made possible the final triumph of right over wrong and the destruction of the most frightful menace to human liberty the world has ever known. Is there in this anything that calls for the averted face, the trappings of woe? It would indeed be the height of callousness if, on such a day, we failed to pay to our gallant dead that tribute which their gift of life for our liberty impels. But we pay that tribute also in pride—a pride touched with deep regret that such a gift was the inevitable price, but a price that prompts those who have lost most to hold their heads high and to meet the world with a smile.

It was the Union Jack flying at the masthead that kept the spirits of the whole Empire, and the spirits of other nations than those within the Empire, firm to endure to the end throughout all the horrors of the four-year conflict. It is the knowledge that the flag still flies there that prompts hope for real peace today, amid a maze of bewildering and depressing hindrances. Of all days in the year, it is upon Armistice Day that the Union Jack must fly at the masthead, fluttering its silent but no less impressive message of freedom still throughout the world.

THE FALSE ALARM FIEND.

Almost unsatisfactory state of affairs is revealed in figures demonstrating that there were in this city no less than three hundred and fifty fire alarms last month, and that half of this number constituted "false" alarms. The false alarm fiend has for many years past been a great source of tribulation and danger to the Fire Department. On more than one occasion fatal accidents have happened while the Fire Brigade has been rushing to answer these futile calls.

There are laws inflicting heavy penalties for the sending in of false alarms, but from the abnormal number of such alarms it is quite evident the offenders have precious little respect for the law. This is apparently due to the meagre percentage of those arrested. Undoubtedly it must be a difficult procedure to catch a man breaking open an alarm box in the streets and sending an alarm for a fire which does not exist; at the same time, surely greater watchfulness on the part of the police would result in far more arrests of fire fiends than are now recorded. This is a subject that might very profitably be probed into by the Chiefs of the Police and Fire Departments. Those who are wicked and demented enough to ring in false alarms should be put behind bars in the public interest.

This faith that makes faithful enables us to rest in our humblest endeavor. It is not for him who sits at this end of yon telegraph line, and with deft and diligent fingers transmit the message into its electric veins, to anxiously stop and query whether it will ever reach its destination, and to wonder who is to receive and transcribe it upon its arrival. That is not his business. The management is adequate to that work. . . . . It is for him faithfully to transmit.—Jenkins Lloyd Jones.

An intelligent conscience is one of the greatest of luxuries. It can hardly be called a necessity, or how could the world have got along as well as it has to this day?—Henry Ward Beecher.

THE WORLD'S PRESS

Respect for Law.

New York Herald: No community can be in a healthy condition if the law does not make itself respected.

Unemployment Casualties.

London Daily Herald: The casualties due to unemployment are not so dramatic as those due to shot and shell, but they are more lasting and more pitiable. The lives sacrificed do not attract the same attention, do not arouse the same sympathy, but they fill an even sadder chapter in the volume of human misery.

An "Adequate" Navy.

Providence Journal: We should understand, first of all, that it is not a question of little navy or big navy, but of an "adequate" Navy. Preparedness for the nation's defence that is not adequate is an expense without being a defence. Germany built a big navy, but when the hour came it proved to be inadequate — a billion dollars had been thrown away.

Agriculture's Plight.

London Daily Express: The desperate plight of our greatest industry remains one of the most menacing factors in our national life. If the threat of the farmers to put their land out of cultivation were carried out there would at once be enormous additions to our woeful army of workless. The life or death of British agriculture is not less vital to the townsman than to the farmer and the farm laborer.

Movie Improvement.

New York Evening Post: From both the artistic and business standpoints the motion picture industry is open to great improvement. If the flow of films from studio to public could be steadied, so that production could be kept at even pace, overhead cut down, and borrowings reduced, the film companies would make more money and lower charges would be possible. They might also have time to make better pictures.

Industrial Co-Operation.

Buluwayo Chronicle: It was something else than any lack of education which caused Britain last year to lose about thirty million working days through Labor disputes, with the result that the trade union funds faded away to practically nothing and the membership of the unions fell off. What is needed everywhere is a better understanding between Capital and Labor, and that depends upon a maintenance and an encouragement of the improved spirit which has been so much in evidence throughout Rhodesia.

Safeguarding Industries.

London Morning Post: The existing Merchandise Marks Act should be extended to include all imported goods, whether of food, raw material, or manufactures, in detail. The customer should be enabled to know exactly what he is purchasing. . . . . There is today hardly any article of general use which is not imported in masses from the Continent, mainly from Germany. These things are eagerly purchased because the price is lower than the price of British goods. All that is now proposed is that the fact that the articles are German in origin should be plainly stated.

Rhineland "Patriots."

Boston Globe: Matthes is an ex-pugilist long in bad odor among the Rhinelanders because of his open efforts to win French applause by breaking up the German Republic. Herr Doctor Dorten's relations with the French Foreign Office and the French Exchequer became recently so notorious that his fellow "separatists" besought him to resign leadership of the movement. With these two patriotic idealists at the helm, the "Rhineland Republic" woggles on its way, sustained by French and Belgian bayonets wherever it can be done without too patent an affront to the British, who seem to be hanging on to Cologne and cannily saying nothing.

Taxing Foodstuffs.

London Daily Mail: Any attempt to tax foodstuffs will instantly wreck the Government or the political party which makes so preposterous an attempt. It may do far more. Revolutionary influences are undoubtedly at work in Great Britain, and they are being stimulated by the tragic prevalence of unemployment. If our misguided Ministers try to tax the food of the people, they will instantly find volcanic passions roused in an extremely dangerous direction. There are great numbers of people in our midst who vaguely and quite foolishly hope to profit by a revolution.

The "Sucker" Industry.

Chicago Tribune: The sucker trading on margins has no chance to win. The broker has no chance to lose. The sucker usually buys at the top for a rise when the professional is ready to clean up by breaking the market. . . . The suckers are born to be hewers of wood and drawers of water. They support the brokers and the brokers support the Follies and thus art is advanced. The glistening flanks of Flo's show girls are in a New York frame because humble dumbells plod along at their work and put their savings up on margins. Intelligence enjoys the show girls and the man who never got an even break supports them without seeing them.

Bird Migrations.

Baltimore Sun: The laws of bird migrations demand a study as far-reaching as the American Continent. Observers must be scattered along from one extreme to the other of the flights in order to record the paths, schedule the speeds, note the junction points, and finally report what proportion of the flocks return as adults to the vicinity of their original nests. It must be left to the scientists to tell what practical purpose, if any, is served by all this study, but there is no doubt about its romance. "The way of an eagle in the air" seemed wonderful to Solomon, and the migratory birds perform wonders which the eagle never has thought of.

The Free Trade View.

Manchester Guardian: For the permanent increase of population within the Empire what is needed is economic development. That this is to be best attained by development of trade within the Empire as compared with trade outside the Empire is quite another proposition and one which on general economic grounds is not plausible. The best economic development is secured when people are trading to the best advantage and not when industry and exchange are diverted from the routes of maximum profit by political considerations. It may be worth while paying a good deal to cement political unity, but let us recognize that we are paying and not gaining from the pecuniary point of view when we divert the channels of trade from those in which it moves with the maximum of profit.

A CANADIAN QUOTATION

Children roving the fields
With early flowers in spring,
Old men turning to look,
When they heard a bluebird sing.

Have seen me a thousand times
Standing here in the sun,
Yet never a moment dreamed
Whose likeness they gazed upon.

Ah! When will you understand,
Mortals who strive and plod—
Who rests on this old gray wall
Lays a hand on the shoulder of God!

RUGBY FOOTBALL

They have been celebrating the centenary of Rugby football at the famous school from which the game takes its name, and some of its greatest exponents have been taking part in order to give the commemoration a fitting observance.

The fact that it is just one hundred years ago since a schoolboy picked up the ball and ran with it towards the opposite goal might induce the belief that the handling of the ball and the carrying it in a game of football in which two sides compete, dates no further back than one hundred years.

* * *

In many parts of Scotland and in a few in England football has been linked up with holiday keeping for many centuries. Hazelton tells us of the apprentices who repaired to Finsbury Fields on Shrove Tuesday to "play futeball" while there is an older rhyme that tells of the villager who

O'ercometh in winter
Ye driving foote ball."

An unsympathetic writer in the early Queen Anne days tells of the game at Teddington on Shrove Tuesday which was conducted with such energy that careful householders had to protect their windows with hurdles and bushes. Yet the place where football was the chief feature of the pre-Lent festivities was at Scone, near Perth in Scotland where today the point-to-point races of the Perth Hunt Club (that strange club which has no master, no huntsman, no hounds and no followers) are held every year before a great gathering.

At Scone the men of the parish assembled early at the town cross (Scone is the capital of the old Pictshire kingdom) the married men on one side and the bachelors on the other, a ball was thrown into their midst and the game went on merrily from two o'clock until sunset. Sir Frederick Morton Eden, thus describes the game. "The game was this—He who at any time got the ball into his hands ran with it until overtaken by one of the other party and then if he could shake himself loose from those of the opposite side who seized him he ran on; if not he threw the ball from him unless it was wrested from him by the other party but no one was allowed to kick the ball. There is still a Scottish proverb in this part of the world that "A' is fair in the ba' o'Scone," which would seem to indicate that the game was not always as gentle and as quiet as might be.

* * *

"The football games of Scotland were however more closely associated with Candlemas Day than with Shrove Tuesday and the "Candlemas Ba'" brought out the whole countryside in fine excitement. The oldest men of Jedburgh tell even to this day of a famous match when after a struggle lasting for over two hours through the streets, the battle was transferred to the bed of the River Jed and there fought out amidst a scene of fearful splash and "dabblement" to the infinite amusement of the crowds who looked on from the brig.

* * *

Ancient records however show that a game far more closely resembling modern Rugby than these village free-for-alls was played in Greece under the name of Episkuros. The Romans took it over and gave to it the title of Harpastum, handing it on in succession to the countries they subdued. Those taking part in this game were divided into two bands and the ball was thrown between them along a line in the middle. The object of the game was to carry the ball behind the line at one end or the other and to do this the players had to push one another forwards or backwards. The records of the present Rugby game of one hundred years ago show that much the same game was played in various parts of England and Scotland a century ago.

In East Anglia where village football has long flourished fifteen players on each side took part. The ball was thrown into the middle to start the game, as in the game of Harpastum, and players were pushed forwards or backwards to the lines 150 or 200 yards apart; while passing the ball was a feature of the game. When therefore William Webb Ellis at Rugby picked up the ball and ran with it he was only doing what was done in other parts of the country in a game more akin to modern Rugby Football than the game then was at Rugby School.

There is a record of football being played in Brittany in 1147, and if the game as introduced into Britain by the Romans had been forgotten the Norman invasion would probably be the means of re-establishing it again in this country. At any rate, we read that in the reign of Henry II., owing to the roughness with which the game was played, an edict was issued forbidding it. It does not appear to have had much effect, however, for many other edicts were issued up to and including James I's reign in vain endeavor to suppress football.

In Elizabethan times the game was rougher than ever, a sure sign of the virility of that age! The game in England was more a fight between two local villages than a test of skill, and the side which could claim the least number of broken heads and limbs as likely as not ran out the winner. On the Continent, however, the game at this period seems to have been better organised; it was not a mere rough-and-tumble without rules or fouls, but was a complicated game where skill and good sportsmanship prevailed.

At Auxerre the Church controlled it, and at the end of the fourteenth century rules were in vogue—indeed, it became a combined religious and civic ceremony, starting with psalm singing and ending with dancing. During Elizabethan days the game in Florence had reached a stage of magnificent pomp and glory, where the players were required to be "of noble or gentle blood, or such as had gained distinction and rank in the profession of arms..and to be of unblemished reputation and of graceful figure, and possessed of accomplished manners."

* * *

The rules of the Florentine game, played on State occasions by gorgeously dressed nobles, makes interesting reading. The sides were about twenty-five strong, and were divided into forwards, half-backs, three-quarter backs and goalkeepers. The object of the game was to kick or hit with clenched fist the ball past the flag of the opposing side, when a goal was scored. It was a foul if the ball was struck with the open hand and after so being struck rose above the average height of a man, while there was always a chance that a foul instead of a goal had been scored when the ball went beyond the boundary line or above towards the angle of the ground.

A diagonal line drawn across the ground prolonged decided the matter. There was even legislation for offside play, for if the forwards remained in the half-backs' ground when the ball was about to be kicked by one of the three goalkeepers the judges had to determine if a foul had been committed or not. Two fouls balanced a goal, and the side scoring most goals and least fouls won the match and was awarded the flag of the losing side.

In the eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries the game was patronised by many influential people, such as Windham and Sir Robert Walpole, who organised games between picked sides for the benefit of their guests. For the most part, however, villages or counties strove against each other, with a stream or house, perhaps a mile or two apart, as goals. In Wales a game was played there some three or four hundred years ago called Knappan, and by all accounts was a most dangerous pastime. The knappan was a greased wooden ball, which was carried or flung, and as many as two thousand people sometimes took part in the contest, in which "all who had horses rode and carried hazel sticks of specified circumferences, with which they beat the footman running with the ball on the head till he dropped it, the infantry using their fists with a similar freedom."

The Rugby players today live in a more fortunate age than this unfortunate footman. G.F.W.

BRIEFS FROM THE EDITOR'S MAIL BAG

HIGH HEELS AGAIN

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star:

Sir,—Does Mr. John Horn object to footwear having any heels, or is it to heels beyond a certain height? If so, what height? Unfortunately there is so much generality in the discussions of this matter. It is too often forgotten that there are many differing types of feet, and that one law does not apply to all alike. With a very finely-arched foot one gets a receding heel-bone, and the capacity to wear with comfort a shoe with a heel perhaps as high as two inches. A heel so high for a shoe with a low-arched foot and projecting heel-bone looks inartistic and proves uncomfortable in wear. Heels on ladies' shoes from one and an eighth and two inches, according to type and character of foot and shoe, are perfectly comfortable, and do not offend against any law of anatomy known to me.

VERDUN STREET CARS

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star:

Sir,—While endorsing generally what Mrs. Atkinson has to say, I cannot but contradict her opening remarks, "that the service given the public on that line is one of the best in Montreal." I would particularly draw attention to the slow pace these cars travel at, compared with cars on other routes. The population of the Verdun route is ahead of the transportation arrangements. The street cars were never intended to be able to move such a mass of humanity, and the big railway companies, who should have had Montreal's troubles settled in advance, are to be condemned for their desert or wilderness extension schemes when right here in Montreal they could have had the finest revenue producer in the Canadian railroad world, viz., a great suburban train service. If the railway authorities are not to blame, then the city authorities are. We should have an electric railroad around Montreal second to none.

THE NEW POLICE BADGES

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star:

Sir,—How many readers remember when the last change in the police badges was made? I doubt if there are any that can tell off-hand. We are now seeing new ones on the arms and caps of our "Finest." It is a pleasure to see our public officials well dressed, and appearing up to the minute, but could not the city have left well enough alone for the time being? Weren't the former police badges of sufficient size, and plain enough to see without spending our money this way? These new badges will have cost approximately $700.00 for the complete outfit. It is my opinion that if the officers on active duty were provided with flash-lights and batteries along with other small things of like consequence it would serve the city and the public as a whole a great deal better than to replace the badges in this manner. As I remember it, this is the third time there have been changes in the dress of our police in the last fourteen months. There was the band they wore on the lower end of the sleeve not so long ago; then that was replaced with the metal badges they were wearing until a week or so ago. Now there is another change. Couldn't the contract have been for lights, that the police could go into our many dark lanes and scout around without breaking their necks? Can't we have a little less "show" and more efficiency in the needed equipment?

FROM THE STAR FILES

THIRTY YEARS AGO.

(From The Star Files, Monday, November 6, 1893.)

Montreal.—Yesterday morning for the first time, High Mass was celebrated on the upper portion of St. Anthony's Church, just completed. The opening service was conducted by His Grace Mgr. Fabre, in person, who commenced by blessing the new church with impressive formalities. His Grace made two complete tours of the building preceded by his cross-bearer and followed by the bearer of the crosiers, attended also by the Rev. Father Donnelly, parish priest, and the deacons of honor, the Rev. Father Larocque, of St. Louis Seminary, and the Rev. Father Quinlivan, of St. Patrick's, and forty acolytes.

Montreal.—Sir Donald Smith and Mr. W. C. Van Horne returned to Montreal yesterday after a sojourn of several weeks in Great Britain. "I am getting aged now," said Sir Donald, in reply to an enquiry as to his health at an interview this morning. "Aged now," he repeated in his characteristic conversational style, "and I cannot expect always to be well and active like you younger men. But I am not seriously unwell; I have only a cold just now."

London.—Summonses have been served upon William Field, member of Parliament for the St. Patrick's Division of Dublin; Luke Hayden, member of Parliament for the South Division of Roscommon, and eight other persons on the charge of illegal assembly. The offence is alleged to have been committed at recent evictions of Irish tenants. Both the accused members are Parnellites.

Cape Town.—Premier Cecil Rhodes has wired the following from Fort Victoria: "Our people have fought every day since October 16. Apart from the Shangani engagement, there will be one more fight near Buluwayo, for King Lobenguela has evidently abandoned the idea of escaping over the Zambesi."

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

(From The Star Files, Friday, November 6, 1903.)

London.—The Hon. George E. Foster's speeches are making a decided impression, especially as he is looked upon as a representative of the political party opposed to Sir Wilfrid Laurier's Government, and is mainly supported by the manufacturing vote in Canada.

Washington, D.C.—The United States Government has recognized the de facto government of Panama.

Paris.—General satisfaction has been created here by the news of the revolution in Panama. The long suffering officials and stockholders of the Panama Company are especially delighted. They regard the event as removing the last difficulty in the way of the purchase and completion of the canal.

Montreal. — The Canadian Pacific Railway has been more successful this year in coping with the grain transportation in Manitoba and the north-west. Up to the present there has been no congestion whatever, and the grain has been brought forward as expeditiously as conditions required.

ARCH DEFENDERS are not an orthopaedic freak—they are elegant shoes made in the Acme of Style and Quality. But they are also made with the patented feature of a spring support—a hand shaped insole moulded on a true foot-form last.

Thus your foot-arch is supported, not by a rigid prop that is clumsy, heavy and cramping but by the spring steel support concealed under the insole, extending from the heel to right under the Scaphoid Bone which is the keystone of your foot arch.

If you have the slightest degree of trouble, Arch Defenders will give you quick relief.

ENTENTE FORMED BASIS OF NATION

Good Feeling Between Ontario and Quebec Emphasized by Ferguson

Three great needs, immigration, capital and bonne entente between the two great races in Ontario and Quebec, were emphasized by Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Premier of Ontario, in addressing the regular meeting of the Liberal-Conservative Association at the Ritz-Carlton hotel last evening. A large audience greeted the speaker of the evening when he entered, and cheered him to the echo when he finished his plea for co-operation.

Introduced by the president of the association, F. W. Stewart, Premier Ferguson dwelt for an instant on the coincidence that it was just twenty years ago to the date that Hon. J. P. Whitney, came to Montreal for just such an object as the speaker had in view.

He then launched into a review of Canada's political history, particularly that which dealt with Ontario and Quebec. In the first instance, Confederation had been the direct result of the unity and close relationship of the best of both provinces, he said. This outstanding achievement of the co-operation and entente cordiale between the two great provinces had formed the basis of the nation of today.

Then came the troublous days of 1873-70 when commerce, industry and finance witnessed a crisis such as had never been experienced before or since. Here the speaker paid a tribute to the memory of the late Sir John A. Macdonald, through whose agency the National policy was elaborated and put into effect. Both Ontario and Quebec had solidly backed the program of protection that formed the basis of the party today.

Then, in 1891, when danger of annexationist propaganada reared its head, Sir John had again been able to rally the forces of the two sister provinces. Later, in 1911 when reciprocity was brought before the country, Ontario and Quebec displayed their solidarity and were marshalled behind the standard of the Conservative party.

That party had stood for national development and self-preservation, and the speaker challenged a single example to prove the contrary.

With a debt of two and a half billions, it was high time that some stimulus was injected into the national life. Two great needs were imminent and imperative. They were immigration and capital. With almost boundless resources and wealth untold in natural products, Canada today required thousands of farmers and other laborers of various kinds to till her soil and operate her industries.

Careful selection would be necessary but the objective of obtaining sufficient workmen to fill Canada's needs and furnish markets for her products must not be lost sight of. And with increased population the country must have increased capital to develop her resources and feed her industries.

Continuing the speaker showed the necessity of inculcating in the youthful mind of today the responsibilities of citizenship. Here the mother's influence was felt and the Premier commented that he was glad to note that in Ontario the beneficial influence of woman suffrage was being felt.

The Liberal-Conservative party had always shown itself to be the champion of the country's best interests and the province of Quebec should realize that its interests were identical with those of Ontario and should strive to form a strong Conservative mentality, particularly among the young.

Now, if at any time, strong leadership was needed, and the speaker predicted that after the next general election, which he considered to be not far away, there would not be enough Liberals elected, from Ontario anyway, "to furnish a chairman and doorkeeper for a meeting."

There had never been such indecision and hesitancy and change of policies as in the past three years, the speaker reminded his hearers, and public affairs were in a state of chaos. Something must be done and done quickly to restore stability and confidence.

In conclusion Mr. Ferguson promised that he would always work towards securing better understanding and co-operation between Ontario and Quebec.

Hon. C. C. Ballantyne and Hon. Rodolphe Monty both addressed the meeting briefly, and the vote of thanks to the guest of honor was tendered by Brig.-Gen. C. A. Smart, M.L.A., and John MacNaughton, K.C.

Among those present at the meeting were: Senators G. G. Foster, Rufus Pope, Lorne Webster and Smeaton White; Hon. E. L. Patenaude, Farquhar Robertson, F. P. Jones, and E. W. Sayer, M.L.A.

George Harvey, tenor, sang a vocal selection, "There is a Land," before the meeting.

GUEST AT DINNER.

Prior to the meeting, Premier Ferguson was the guest of the association executive at dinner in the Vice-Regal suite of the Ritz-Carlton Hotel. F. W. Stewart, president, was in the chair and others invited to meet Mr. Ferguson were: Hon. C. C. Ballantyne, Hon. R. Monty, Senator G. G. Foster, Hon. E. L. Patenaude, Senator Smeaton White, Senator Lorne C. Webster, Senator R. Pope, Farquhar Robertson, F. P. Jones, Ald. E. W. Sayer, M.L.A., Brig.-Gen. C. A. Smart, M.L.A., R. S. White, J. A. Lamarre, W. Godbee Brown, John Macnaughton, A. C. Cordner, G. A. Forbes, J. H. Larmonth, Isaac Lando, F. G. Roe, A. F. Gault, Dr. J. S. Ibbotson, Dr. F. W. Gilday, D. Bremner, W. R. Bullock, C. T. Anstey, Leslie G. Bell, D. Campbell, Robert W. Lipsett, H. S. Lunham, A. P. Barrett, William Jennings, H. O. Barrett, William Evely, C. Gendreau, L. E. Curran and R. W. Marshall.

ANNEXATION VERY GREATLY FAVORED

City Council Members Do Not Favor Separate Municipalities

The fate of the Metropolitan Commission of Montreal hangs in the balance so far as the council is concerned. If the expressions of opinion at the city council meeting yesterday afternoon are endorsed by the special committee of aldermen that is going to consider the question of the annexation to Montreal of all the municipalities now under the jurisdiction of the Metropolitan Commission, the life of this body will rest with the Quebec Legislature at the coming session. There was practical unanimity among the aldermen that the time had pretty nearly arrived when a Greater Montreal should be established and that instead of the city being saddled with municipalities that are unable to meet their liabilities from time to time there should be a complete sweep made and those in good financial position as well as the others should form part of the city.

Alderman Bray brought the question forward with a motion asking the council to direct its eight representatives on the Metropolitan Commission to support his proposition before that body that the Legislature should annex to Montreal all municipalities under its jurisdiction, but after a lengthy discussion, during which members pointed out the undesirability of tying the hands of its representatives and the lack of definite figures as to the financial standing of the respective municipalities, the council accepted a proposition by Alderman J. A. A. Brodeur, who is the chairman of the Metropolitan Commission, to refer the whole question to the special committee.

This committee will also consider the advisability or otherwise of asking the legislature to annex to Montreal all the municipalities on the island of Montreal as well as those under the jurisdiction of the Commission. The chairman of the committee, Alderman J. E. Sanasregret promised to call the committee together at once, and it has to make its report within thirty days, which will enable the city to give the necessary parliamentary notices for any amendments to the charter before the Legislature.

Alderman Bray contended that the Commission had done nothing to lessen the debts of the municipalities under its jurisdiction and that Montreal was bearing the major portion of the cost of its administration.

Alderman Lalonde, who seconded the motion, declared that the sooner they were annexed the more advantageous it would be for Montreal, because it was bound to come sooner or later.

Mayor Martin strongly supported the idea of annexation and stressed the point that as long as it was delayed the municipalities outside the city could go on carrying out improvements and charging the cost to the public generally, thus increasing their debts

Alderman Sansregret while favoring the principle of annexation thought the aldermen shuld have more details as to how it would affect the city before adopting a definite resolution on the subject and seeking to dictate to their representatives on the Metropolitan Commission. They should look carefully into the financial situation of all the municipalities and see whether it would be an advantage to Montreal to annex them and support them.

Mayor Martin replied that they had a strong enough example of what delay cost in Maisonneuve.

Ald. Gareau pointed out that a committee had been appointed last December to consider the question, but it had made no report.

Ald. Quintal said that Montreal had not asked for the Metropolitan Commission and had not wanted it, but it had been forced on them because some municipalities less important than Montreal had objected to annexation. Was it fair that those who earned their living in Montreal and slept in Outremont and Westmount should dictate how Montreal should be managed and what it should do.

Alderman J. J. Creelman maintained that the aldermanic representatives on the Metropolitan Commission had never lost sight of the interests of the city, and the Commission had been created to protect Montreal from the surrounding insolvent municipalities and to nurse those at present bankrupt up to a point where they could be annexed without being a loss to the lety. The Commission might be costing Montreal money but not nearly as much as if the legislature each year added to it some bankrupt municiplity.

Mayor Martin put forward the suggestion that Montreal might withdraw from the Commission and leave to the solvent municipalities who would not join the city the burden of supporting their insolvent neighbors.

Alderman J. A. A. Brodeur, chairman of the executive, pointed out that it was unfair to tie the hands of their representatives. The electors had not tied the hands of the aldermen when they elected them as to what they should or should not do.

Alderman Bray disclaimed any idea of dictation and pointed out there were only thre municipalitoes against annexation, and the others could be saved just as well by annexation as by Montreal continuously paying for them.

Alderman Brodeur then submitted his amendment to refer the matter to the special committee, which is composed of Aldermen Sanasregret, Carmel, Gareau, Turcot, Quintal, Drummond, Trepanier, Lalonde and Bray, and after further discussion Alderman Bray accepted the proposal and it was unanimously carried.

THAT BOBBED HAIR AGAIN.

This subject like "Jack in the Box" has been continuously bobbing up and down. Shall we ever hear the last of this controversy—no—so long as women maintain their prerogative, they are entitled to their say as to whether they want it or not. To my recollection, this question was answered in your columns some five years ago, I predicted the Dutch cut as it was then called would be worn for the next five years. At that time it was considered another freak for flappers. This was the cry of the human bloodhounds—bobbed hair must go, and so it went on for year after year.

Up to a few weeks ago another article was written (on what authority we have not yet learned) stating that bobbed hair was out of date. The New York Hairdressers Association was falsely accused for this statement. It was learned at their annual conference that the Hair Manufacturers were trying to introduce transformations, switches, etc., to overcome this freakish style. This is old news. It only rendered assistance to the older sex, who like the younger ones have the privilege of trying once that freak coiffure known as the bobbed cut, but finding their modesty and good sense was misjudged, the ladies were glad to avail themselves of some kind of hair work that would convert short hair into their usual head dress. Now fancy, a young girl doing this. Can one picture her appearance with transformations, pin curls, chignons and hair switches. This is what some of the critics would have them do. Let me now flatly refute these silly ideas.

No hairdresser on the four continents has ever publicly condemned bobbed hair. The hairdresser seldom creates hair styles. He improves on them. It is the fair sex which is mostly responsible for the various changes in coiffures. So now we are confronted with the old problem, what shall we do with the bobbed haired women. Who introduced it? A woman—what woman? A woman that had the misfortune to lose her hair through that terrible influenza. Her own instinct, and partly through the advice of her medical adviser, she did this to save her hair without shaving it close to the head as many did.

What happened, we all know. The influenza was responsible for this, and since then it has become a universal head dress. Then came the question as to who should control its privilege. The elderly lady, middle age, or the young girl. We must be fair to all three. It did not become the first named, it deprived her of her dignity, the middle aged woman was outclassed in appearance, so the young girl kept it on for these long five years.

We were told that flappers with bobbed hair would lose their positions. If that is so, where are all of them getting a living. Now, we hear that the board of health authorities in New York City and elsewhere have endorsed a recommendation that it is considered sanitary, tidy and hygienic especially in industrial factories. Certainly the opposite sex are coming to their senses. They must and will acknowledge the higher standard in our young girls for a little common sense. They know a smart and well-dressed flapper when they see one. The bobbed haired girl has undergone many changes in style, and we must frankly admit it is the only appropriate head dress that ever became a young girl. Many persons differ on this subject, but it has been acknowledge that never was a coiffure introduced for the younger sex that gave soft lines to the face and contour so much as the bobbed hair cut. I do not suggest the latest freak, the pineapple cut and the shingle cut. It is too masculine in appearance and we are glad it died a lingering death. It has been the means of thousands of women and girls obtaining a better head of hair. Bobbing hair does not cause baldness and as long as they keep it in this condition they will never have poor and scraggy hair.

Lastly, bobbed hair has been brought to perfection with its new way of curling and waving. Go where you will they are there. Don't blame the neglected straight hair for the well-groomed and curled bobbed hair. A girl has a perfect right to decide her own comforts, and no man can challenge that right, no more than he will be dictated as to whether he will part his hair on the side or down the middle. Bobbed hair is here to stay. I will again dare to predict that it will be recognized as the future coiffure for the young girls and some of the older ones who have been fortunate enough to maintain their youthful appearance.

A curling fluid that will help to curl very straight hair can be made up as follows. Gum Arabic ¼ oz., boiled water 8oz., alcohol 1 oz. Apply to ends of hair and use any make of curlers.—A.COOKE.

SHE LIKES YOUNG KNIGHT

Young Knight—you're wrong, just as wrong as wrong can be. I'm sorry. Maybe it would be kinder to let you think that your lost love sometimes wished you back, but I thought that it would not be fair to her to allow you to remain under this illusion, because—well, maybe she really does only love her husband—some women are made that way you know.

I was really speaking of my own experience when I wrote to Miss Currie which she headed "Princes and Gods." If my story gave you the impression that I was married I'm sorry, because you see I have not yet taken the plunge and although I have been on the brink several times I always seem to get cold feet. I guess maybe I have not met the real and only one yet, because they tell me that when one really does why there is no hesitation. Funny now, isn't it. I happen to be one of those poor unfortunates who seem to be continually of two minds. Always as long as I can remember I have had to fight with myself because there always were two ways to go, two things to chose from, two issues to decide, etc. Do you understand? Some people don't ever seem to be in doubt as to what to do—whether they should go or not—if they should marry him or not—whether they really want this or that. It must be great to know without a doubt that you want this or that and that Jack is the man for you no matter how fascinating Harry may be. How I wish I were endowed with that gift.

I like you, Young Knight. I like the way you say things.

I'll bet to the world you are something different altogether than the man you appear to be when you write. Is that not so? I'll also bet that most of the people who write to Miss Currie wear, as it were, masks and the world only see them with their masks on, but in the sanctity of their own homes, they take up their pens and on paper write as they really are. They can say the things they would really like to say, express the thoughts they would really like to express without fear of being scoffed at. Take myself for example. The world at large has me catalogued as a dancing, flirting, devil-may-care flapper. But the real me is not like that at all. That other self of mine is just what the world seems to expect of me and I live up to it—but my unspoken thoughts, my ideals and hopes are different from that. Somehow, I don't know why, but I feel that you understand what I'm trying to say, Young Knight. You see, I remember some little things that you have done—such as sending a book to Nobody's Sweetheart before she died and her mother wrote to Miss Currie asking her that she thank you through her column. It was such a little thing, but oh, how clearly it showed what you are. Really, if I go on like this I will be making you vain—but I just can't help expressing my admiration for you. There now. Don't you feel all puffed up? Do write soon to the page.

BRIDGE

Will you please settle this argument between A and B.

FOR THE BOYS

Why do you hurt a girl's heart? You make love to all the girls you see when you don't mean it. You hurt the one you love. Would you like other girls to play with your heart. Do you ever feel sad? Do you ever feel when others are sad? Why do you hold a girl's hands when she does not approve of it? Just try to forget her. Get out of her way so that she may love another. Do not keep getting in her way. If she is not nice, she will make love to any one she meets, and not care for any of them, but for herself, but don't hurt a nice girl. Love is like a deep red rose that springs forever in a warm climate. There is such a thing as true love and that is from my heart.

DEEP RED ROSE.

YE FLAPPER

I ask the word you hear the most,
'Tis Flapper,
From man to man, from ghost to ghost,
It's Flapper.
To all the countries which we go,
In land of sun or land of snow;
You'll find the word that they all know
Is Flapper.

She is so bright she needs no lamp,
Does Flapper.
Some time ago they call'd her vamp,
Now Flapper.
As such we see her ev'rywhere,
With earrings long and barber'd hair,
And even by radio in the air
Is Flapper.

They say 'twas Eve that started her,
This Flapper,
Now women have perfected her,
Ye Flapper.
Ma follows her and cuts her locks,
Jane who is fourteen rolls her socks;
All try to imitate the walks
Of Flapper.

But a few kind words I can say
Of Flapper;
A sport she is in ev'ry way
Is Flapper.
Oft the cause of many a strife;
Without them sad would be our life:
Man is the husband of the wife,
The Flapper.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

DANNY FINDS A TREAT.

By Thornton W. Burgess.

The Great World has too many needy
To love the selfish and the greedy.
—Old Mother Nature.

Danny Meadow Mouse was having a wonderful time. He had climbed into the airplane, which all the little people called a man-bird, and which had been left on the Green Meadows near Danny's home. It had taken him no time at all to decide that there was no danger there. Having made up his mind to this, he ran all over that machine. That is, he ran all over the parts he could get to. He poked his inquisitive little nose into every nook and corner.

So it was that presently Danny found a great treat. The man who had been flying that machine had left part of his lunch there. Danny found it. There were a couple of sandwiches Danny's nose told him at once that they were good to eat. He began to nibble one. My, how good it tasted! He hadn't tasted anything so good for a long time.

Danny forgot where he was. He thought of nothing but filling his stomach with this splendid food. He was greedy. Yes, sir, Danny Meadow Mouse was greedy. He didn't think of Nanny Meadow Mouse.

At last he could eat no more, and still there was plenty left. Then Danny thought of Nanny. He knew he wouldn't be able to induce her to come over there.

"I'll just take her a piece of this good food," said he to himself. "I won't tell her where I got it. I'll say I found it, but I won't say where I found it."

So Danny took a piece of bread crust in his mouth and climbed out of the man-bird. Back home to the old scarecrow he hurled. He wondered if Nanny had missed him. He climbed up to their home. Nanny wasn't there. Danny chuckled. Then he left the piece of crust just outside the doorway and curled up inside for a nap. He was tired.

He was awakened by the return of Nanny Meadow Mouse. He heard her stop just outside the doorway. He knew what she was doing. He knew that she was smelling of that piece of crust. He chuckled down inside. He knew that crust would smell just as good to her as it had smelled to him and that she would nibble it. He knew that once she had nibbled it she wouldn't be able to resist finishing it.

Back home to the old scarecrow he hurried

Danny waited and pretended to be asleep. After what seemed a long time Nanny Meadow Mouse came in. "Where did you get that splendid food?" she demanded, for she knew very well that Danny wasn't asleep.

"I found it," said Danny.

"I suppose you did," retorted Nanny. "Where did you find it?

"Oh, I just found it," replied Danny, and that is all he would say.

Nanny teased and teased, but Danny wouldn't tell her where he had found that crust.

"Well," said she at last, "I'm glad you found it. I hope you can find some more. But, whatever you do, keep away from that man-bird."

Danny chuckled, but he took care that Nanny shouldn't hear him chuckle. Then he curled up again for his interrupted nap.

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

By JAMES J. MONTAGUE

TIMES HAVE CHANGED

Ah! happy the farmer, who lolls on his plough,
Content in his face, and with clothes like an actor.
No walking the furrow for husbandmen now;
The whole of his labor is steering the tractor.
There weren't any tractors when I was a lad,
I rose from my bed when the dawn-light glowed pearly,
And a wearisome tussle till darkness I had—
I got here too early.

Serenely the milkman now summons his kine,
A tiny electrical motor he throttles,
Then he twiddles his thumbs till a quarter past nine,
While the milk is withdrawn and collected in bottles.
They didn't milk cows by mechanical means
When I was a youthful and laboring hick,
I milked fourteen cows, in my tattered blue jeans—
I got here too quick.

The gardener rolls on through the fast-flying grass;
A canvas umbrella provides him a bower,
He shifts a few levers and turns on the gas
And cuts a whole lawn in the half of an hour.
I pushed a lawn mower—and I pushed it blamed hard—
I recked not a whit of this wonderful boon,
And I dropped from fatigue when I'd finished the yard—
I got here too soon.

No low humming motors, no gas-driven wheels
Made easy my labors when I was a boy,
Enabling me idly to kick up my heels
And figure that life was one long dream of joy.
I went to my slumbers disgusted and worn,
I quit the farm early—and took up with rhyme—
I am not a farmer, because I was born
Ahead of my time.

ECONOMY CORNER

DAMSON JAM
(For Eva)

To each pound of fruit allow one poung of sugar. Put fruit into preserving kettle and let stand by the side of the fire until a little of the juice is extracted, then boil for one-half hour. Now add sugar gradually, and boil for 20 minutes longer, reckoning from time jam begins to reboil. It must be frequently stirred, and if preferred, some or all the stones may be removed before turning the jam into the pots. Bottle and seal.

CITRON PRESERVE
(For "Rita.")

To make citron preserve, cut citron in thin slices, and boil in water until clear. Make a syrup of three-fourths pound of sugar to a pound of citron. Boil a piece of ginger in the syrup, then add the citron and let it boil a few minutes. Add one lemon, sliced, to five citrons. Another recipe for citron preserve requires less sugar. Select sound fruit, pare and divide into quarters, taking out the seeds. To every pound of fruit allow half a pound of sugar. Cook the citron until it is clear, then remove it from the kettle to drain. To the weighed sugar add enough water to clear it through. Boil until very clear and before putting in the citron, add to the syrup two large lemons, sliced, to every five of the citron, and also a small piece of ginger root. Cook the citron in this syrup for fifteen minutes. Fill the jars with citron, pour over it the hot syrup and seal the jars.

THE HEALTHFUL LIFE

By Dr. JOHN B. HUBER

USES POWDER.

For nearly a year I have had skin trouble (my face under my chin and even on one ear at times, and I am wondering if it is eczema. When it first appears, it resembles somewhat a mosquito bite (swollen) and then after a while (after I have applied some salve) it diminishes to a smaller spot sometimes red and a bit swollen. It also itches when it first comes out. I have followed a diet for this but did not know really what exact diet I should follow. I have also made long daily walks and have exercised thinking that would help. I have heard that some cases of eczema are very serious and last years; I would do anything to avoid this. The diet I followed made me lose much weight and weakened me greatly so I am trying to rebuild my strength by drinking milk and eating raw eggs. I often wonder if such trouble (whether eczema or not) is caused by richness or poorness of blood. I have been told to clean my face with olive oil; I did this but disliked it. Can I use water and soap? I am nearly 27 years. I had eczema when I was a child. Whatever this skin trouble is, is it caused by my digestion? One doctor told me the trouble was caused by having used too much powder on my face. Is it possible that this has caused the trouble?

Answer: I should not advise without examination; but you appear to be suffering from eczema. No doubt poor digestion has something to do with it; also the powder. Of course, the practice of using face powder is now well nigh universal; I cannot understand why good complexions should be turned into hideous ones in this way. Use no water on your face except, once a day for cleansing purposes. And never any soap, unless for cleansing purposes. If milk and raw eggs are not easily digested they are apt to cause poor complexions. I am mailing you further advice.

ENUCLEATION OR THE X-RAYS.

I have been advised by a nose and throat Doctor to have my tonsils enucleated, which I understand means "digging out" as a result of not being able to run down the cause of my two-years arthritis. He states that in their present condition they are not good neighbors where arthritis is appearing. They do not appear to be in first class condition, being follicular. If the tonsils are the cause of my rheumatism, could they not be treated by the X-Ray, and the toxins similarly removed? Which would you advise?

Answer: The Doctor has wisely advised. Many a case of rheumatism and arthritis has followed upon infected tonsils. Operation is best unless you are very old. Then the X-Rays are the best. The doctor must decide in the individual case and you must follow his advice.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

SCORCHED PANS.

Milk scorches so easily it is well to rinse the pan with hot water before heating it. Incidentally, this makes the pan easier to wash.

POLISHING CLOTH.

Nothing is better for a polishing cloth than an old piece of velvet or velveteen. China silk from which all stiffness has been washed is also excellent for fine wooden surfaces.

KITCHEN UTENSILS.

In selecting utensils for your kitchen, avoid those with sharp edges or with cracks or lines in which food may collect and be removed with difficulty.

TOO STIR GRAVY.

Stir your gravies with a fork instead of a spoon. A small egg beater is even better.

HOW IT STARTED

By JEAN NEWTON

THE CURFEW BELL

We are all familiar with the common use of the term "curfew" or "curfew bell" as synonymous with bed time. We have this from the old "couvrefeu" (cover fire) bell of the middle ages. The ringing of this bell was the signal for the fires to be covered up for the night and consequently for the people to go to bed.

In those days the custom was necessary as a police measure because the fires were built in the centre of the room and there were no chimneys. With the contemporary wooden houses the danger of destructive fires was great; hence the curfew law. Its introduction into England is attributed to William the Conqueror but the custom of the curfew bell was known on the continent long before his time.

A curfew bell today would be considered an infringement on personal liberty and it is this change in ideas that is the cause of the sarcastic note that sometimes finds its way into our use of the term.

SAYS SHE LOOKS TWENTY YEARS YOUNGER

Tells How She Did It With a Home-Made Remedy

Mrs. E. H. Foots, a well-known resident of Buchanan County, Ia., who darkened her gray hair, made the following statement:

"Any lady or gentleman can darken their gray or faded hair, and look twenty years younger with this simple remedy, which they can mix at home. To half a pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, one small box of Orlex Compound and ¼ ounce of glycerine. These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair every other day until the gray hair is darkened sufficiently. It does not color the scalp, is not greasy and does not rub off. It will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger.—adv.

GOVERNMENT CONTROL OF LIQUOR ENDORSED BY ALBERTA PROVINCE

Moderation League Scores Decisive Victory in Referendum of "Wet" and "Dry" Issue—Majority of Over 30,000 Expected When Count Ends

CALGARY, Alta., Nov. 6. — (Canadian Pres.) — In by far the largest vote ever polled in Alberta on a liquor question, prohibition yesterday was beaten decisively. Seven years ago, the province gave a dry majority of 20,000 in a total vote of 95,000 on the abolition of the retail sale of liquor. In 1920 the matter of importation came up, and with a total vote of 108,000, there was a majority against importation of 18,596. Yesterday's vote will go close to 150,000, the majority against prohibition standing at the moment at about 34,000, probably will approach 30,000 when the returns are complete.

There are 62 provincial constituencies and on incomplete returns there appears to have been a majority for Government control in 36 of them, including the four cities, Calgary, Edmonton, Lethbridge and Medicine Hat. In some rural constituencies the figures are so close that later returns will involve some shifting from one column to another.

There was little confusion in the use of the four clause preferential ballot, and there appears o have been comparatively few spoiled ballots. The contest, as the returns quickly showed, had resolved itself into a practically straight fight between prohibition and Government control, A. and D., with B. and C. as representing the beer advocates, having no chance of achieving success. On the present showing, clause D has such a decisive majority over all other clauses that it will not be necessary to count second or later choices.

The City of Calgary voted two to one for Government control and in the whole city less than half a dozen polls favored the continuance of prohibition. With a few polls missing there were 15,799 first choices for D., 8,039 for A., and 540 altogether for B. and C. Clause D. in addition to Government control of all liquors, authorizes also the sale of beer in licensed premises by glass or bottle, without specific instructions to the Government as to the procedure to be followed, and there is a good deal of speculation today on this subject. Many people are anxious to know whether beer licenses would be confined to hotel proprietors or whether something like the tavern license system of Quebec will be established.

Clause D., in the words of the ballot means "sale of all liquors by or through Government vendors — beer to be consumed on licensed premises and in private residences; wine and spirits to be purchased in limited quantities under permit issued by the Government, under Government control and regulation." The bill to cover the acceptance of this double principle has yet to be drafted.

Commenting today on the result, the Calgary Albertan, which supported prohibition, says: "The people are tired of prohibition. They have lost patience with it. The reaction has come and for another period, at least, we must return to the liquor traffic."

The paper says the Legislature should meet as soon as possible and that clause D. should be in operation by the opening of the year.

On figures compiled last night there was a majority for Government control in Alberta of 23,545 in a total counted vote of 114,933. Slightly more than half of the polls had reported, but they accounted for about 75 per cent of the expected vote and so the result will not be altered appreciably. At 10.30, a total of 1,170 polls, including the majority of those in Calgary and Edmonton, gave the following results: (a) meaning continuance of prohibition, 42,963; (b) meaning sale of beer in hotels, 3,114; (c) meaning sale of beer by the Government, 2,345; (d) meaning Government control, plus sale of beer in licensed premises, 66,508.

EDMONTON, Alta., Nov. 6.—(Canadian Press).—It is altogether likely that the Alberta Government will decide upon a December session of the Legislature to deal with the problem of enacting a law to regulate Governmetn control of sale of liquor in accordance with the verdict of the people in yesterday's referendum.

Neither Premier Greenfield nor Attorney-General Brownlee would comment on the result late last night. "I have absolutely nothing to say until the final returns are in," the Premier said.

That a December session will be held was indicated by private members of the United Farmers' Party in official statements during the last two weeks. It was apparently realized that enforcement of the present prohibition law could not be successfully carried on for any considerable length of time if the system of Government control was endorsed by the people.

CALGARY, Alta., Nov. 6.—(Canadian Press).—"The much-lauded system of Government control should have a fair trial," said H. H. Cragg, secretary of the prohibitionist committee of one hundred commenting last night on the result.

"Every prohibitionist," he added, "knows well what the result will be without waiting for experience to teach us."

Mr. Cragg said the result was disappointing, in view of reports they had received.

L. F. P. Conybeare, president of the Moderation League of Alberta in expressing his satisfaction with the verdict, said he hoped the Government would appoint a liquor commissioner for a fixed term, subject to earlier removal only if found guilty by the Supreme Court of misconduct. Such a board, he said, should have absolute control over its staff, with political patronage completely eliminated.

OTTAWA HOLDS ALL GRAND TRUNK STOCK

Can Only Expect "Compassionate Consideration" from Canada

OTTAWA, Nov. 6. — (Star Special.) — Lord Askwiths advice to the junior stockholders of the Grand Trunk Railway in London, last week to hold their stock with the prospect of some dividend from the Dominion Government and the report in a London cable yesterday that still another meeting between the Grand Trunk shareholders and the representatives of the Dominion Government would be held this week indicate the determination of the English investors to get some definite commitment from the Government of Canada, as to payment of a dividend on their stock.

Lord Askwith, it was pointed out here yesterday, made one serious mistake last week in creating the impression that the holders of junior stock should hold their stock. That stock is no longer theirs.

By an Order-in-Council passed here on January 19, this year, all the preferred and common stock of the Grand Trunk Railway held in England and elsewhere passed into the hands of the Canadian Minister of Finance, to be held in trust for the Dominion Government. There can therefore, be no question of dividends being paid on that stock but only the question whether or not compassionatte consideration can be extended later on.

WAKEFIELD HOTEL RAZED BY FIRE

OTTAWA, Nov. 6.—(Canadian Press) Fire of unknown origin last night completely destroyed Lusk's Hotel, a well-known hostelry at Wakefield, Que. Mrs. Lusk, the only occupant of the hotel, escaped from a second-story window. Neighbors former a bucket brigade in an attempt to quench the blaze but the frame building was quickly razed.

The loss is estimated at $7,000, partly covered by insurance.

FORMS PRECEDENT IN CANADIAN LAW

Magna Charta Invoked in Denying Demand for Costs

OTTAWA, Nov. 6. — (Canadian Press.) — Recourse to an article of the Magna Charta was taken yesterday by Judge Louis Loranger of Montreal when, in Hull Superior Court, he rejected a motion for security of costs in a writ of habeas corpus taken out by Louis Cousineau in behalf of Mrs. Anna Fortin, of Ottawa, who sought to recover possession of her minor child, alleged illegally detained by Domina Dussault, of Hull.

The judgment is regarded here as a most important one, being the first of its kind in Canadian jurisprudence. The child was placed in possession of Mr. Dussault last summer through a family council, while Mrs. Fortin was in jail for an infraction of the Liquor Laws, on the ground that she was not a fit and proper person to have charge of her. Upon her release Mrs. Fortion sought to obtain the child from Mr. Dussault, and upon his refusal applied for a writ of habeas corpus.

When the case came before Judge Loranger, Mr. Dussault and the family council opposed the writ and moved that the plaintiff should deposit security for costs. Yesterday Judge Loranger declared that the demand for costs in such a case was monstrous and entirely against the principles of the Magna Charta, which guaranteed that no subject of the realm should be detained against his or her will except for legal cause.

Blotchy Skin—upset stomach—
intestinal trouble—

Ills that embitter the lives of millions . . .

yet, in most cases, needless!

Failure to nourish the body properly, or—failure to remove its waste-matter regularly—these are at the root of 99 out of every 100 cases of constipation, skin trouble, digestive disorders.

When the intestinal tract is sluggish and weak, the whole body becomes flooded with poisons: the blood is impoverished, the skin perhaps affected. The digestive organs may not be equal to the strain. In many cases medical or surgical aid becomes imperative.

Scientists agree, however, that medicine can never cure the trouble: it can only relieve the symptoms temporarily. The body must cure itself, so to speak.

The really startling results which Fleischmann's Yeast has given so many sufferers are easily explained. 2 or 3 cakes a day of this fresh, natural food contain the very elements needed to help build up the body afresh. The millions of tiny living plants in each yeast cake make digestion easy, and give the intestinal muscles regular, healthy exercise. The wealth of vitamins and proteins increases the white corpuscles in the blood, and gives new tone and vigor to the whole system.

Remember that Fleischmann's Yeast for health comes only in the tinfoil wrapper, and cannot be purchased in tablet form.

All grocers have it. Eat it before or between meals, plain, in water or fruit juices, or spread on crackers or on bread, whichever you prefer.

Send for free booklet, "The New Found Value of Fleischmann's Yeast in Building Health." THE FLEISCHMANN COMPANY, Dept. 202-C, 208 Simcoe Street, Toronto, Ont.

"I believe I tried every kind of salts advertised in America," writes Wilson Lovett, of Louisville, Kentucky, "and the same thing with pills. I ran, played tennis, rode horseback, took abdominal massages—still constipation stuck with me .... Fleischmann's Yeast appealed to me as logical. I began eating two cakes every day at the lunch hour .... After about eight weeks I was able to do without pills or salts of any sort. It is now eight months since I have found it necessary to use a cathartic of any kind—and this, understand, is after a condition of chronic constipation that had lasted for seventeen years."

"When I say that I used to dread the sight, smell, or taste of food—well, it's the absolute truth," writes Homer Gauthier of Beverly Road, Brooklyn, N. Y. "I would come home and mother would have the table fairly groaning with good healthy foods—yet just as sure as fate, about three hours later a thousand demons would seem to start fighting inside me." Then he began eating Fleischmanns' Yeast. In less than a month "my agonies vanished. I gradually indulged in the foods which used to have the most appalling effect, but nothing doing—they couldn't annoy me!"

"My face was so covered with pimples that I could scarcely touch it without an exclamation of pain, and so unsightly that I was ashamed to go out," says Olive Kraus Kestin, of N. Sacramento Blvd., Chicago. "Then a skin specialist advised me to eat two cakes of Fleischmann's Yeast every day, saying that my bodily resistance was low, and that there were not enough white corpuscles in my blood. I took the yeast regularly in a little orange juice, and now my face has changed so that my friends don't recognize me."

STRESEMANN ASKS PEOPLE'S HELP TO PRESERVE NATION

Chancellor, in Appeal, Admits Menace of Internecine Strife

DICTATOR DEMANDED

Berlin in Grip of Hunger Blockade—Farmers Refuse Produce

BERLIN, Nov. 6. — (Associated Press)—Armistice week finds the five-year-old German Republic in the throes of a nation-wide political, economic and social crisis, the outcome of which may be determined through such minor factors as the rising or falling prices for bread, potatoes and coal.

It may also terminate in the sudden proclamation of a National dictatorship, the demand for which is gaining perceptible momentum among all classes of the people, who apparently are willing to barter their present political liberties for even a hazy prospect of amelioration of their social condition. Germany last night outwardly suggested a loosely federated pseudo-Republic without such elementary pre-requisites as a national currency or a safely anchored constitutional Government supported by a representative Parliament.

Into this situation President Ebert and Chancellor Stresemann last night projected an appeal to the nation, in which they affirm their determination to defend the Republic and its constitution against all attacks from within and summon the citizens to come to their aid. In part the proclamation says:

"In this very serious time Germany is threatened with internal convulsions. Certain sections of the community, although numerically not strong, are relying on the distress of the people to attempt to exercise illegal pressure on the Government and to throw the torch of internecine warfare among the people."

After declaring the Government's determination to repel such attempts, the proclamation continues:

MARKET STALLS CLOSED

"The maintenance of the unit, of the Reich and law and order in the interior are necessary pre-requisites for overcoming the present distress resulting from unemployment, serious economic conditions and unparalleled political pressure."

In the way of warning, the proclamation says: "Those nations and leading personages who are aware of Germany's intolerable distress and who desire to help Germany should not despair of the German people. The German Government possesses the necessary strength to deal with any putsch and protect the constitution of the Reich. The Reichswehr and police, loyal to their oath, will do their duty. The Government firmly believes that, if against its will it is forced to fight, the whole German people will stand behind it in defence of order and the freedom of the German Reich."

The Government's pronouncement finds the bake shops of Greater Berlin shut down, market stalls locked up and long rows of shops in the eastern section of the city disfigured by broken windows, with shelves and counters looted. Berlin is virtually in the grip of a hunger blockade, as agragian producers within a radius of 150 miles continue their refusal to deliver their products in exchange for paper marks.

This is one aspect of the situation which suggests to the mass of the people that a dictator who ruled with a mailed fist would promptly coax forth flour, potatoes and such necessaries through the preliminary punishment of food profiteers and agricultural magnates. Yet the growing clamor for a dictator has failed thus far to mention a single man, whatever his political antecedents, who would fit into the situation, and even the Nationalists, who are loudest in their demands for an iron rule, advocate a Government composed of a limited directorate.

WILL NOT RETIRE

The Chancellor last night received a telegraphic appeal from the executive committee of the National League of Front Soldiers, popularly known as "The Steel Helmets," requesting the immediate installation of a dictatorship free of partisan parliamentary influences, and suggesting that he make immediate use of the prerogatives accorded him, before other elements assume the initiative.

The Chancellor informed the conference of the German people's party yesterday that he did not propose to retire from his post in the present internal and foreign situation, but that he intended to fill the gaps in his "rump" Parliament with men possessed of patriotic sentiment. He informed his party colleagues that he would not invite German Nationalists into his Cabinet. He also declared that he was opposed to calling up volunteers for the protection of the Republic, on the ground that the Reich Government could completely rely on the Reichswehr, which alone would become masters of the situation.

It is officially announced that the Government has authorized a price of eighty billion marks for a loaf of bread, which yesterday was held at 140,000,000,000 marks.

The dollar continues to be held at 420,000,000,000 marks, despite the disparity represented in quotations abroad. New York's appraisal of the mark at figures exceeding one trillion is viewed here as wholly fictitious, although it continues to create confusion on the bourse and in ordinary transactions where the gold mark figures on a basis of one hundred billion. The Bourse had another hectic day, and its governors are seriously considering the proposal to close the institution indefinitely.

ACCUSE LUDENDORFF.

Estimates of the total strength of the Irregular bands on the Bavarian-Thuringham frontier range from 5,000 to 10,000. The Nationalists are said to be under the supreme command of Capt. Ehrhardt, whose "iron brigade" figured in the notorious Kapp Butsch.

The charge has also been made that General Ludendorff stands behind the whole movement and that the aims sought for are the overthrow of the Republic and the establishment of a nationalist military dictatorship.

Thinking it inopportune to allow political debates in the Reichstag at a time of such high tension, Chancellor Stresemann has requested the President of the House to postpone its next sitting indefinitely.

With the object of countering rumors that the Reichswehr cannot be relied upon to cope with the nationalist movement Defance Minister Gessler who holds dictatorial powers under the state of emergency, has issued a decree forbidding public calumnies of the Reichswehr or circulation of reports calculated to prejudice the reputation of the Reichswehr organization in the public minds.

MANY JEWS ATTACKED.

Many Jews suffered severely in outbreaks of plundering in various parts of the capital yesterday, the pillaging apparently arising from the workers' resentment over the tremendous cost of bread, which was quoted at 150 billion marks a loaf, with none available at that price after the early morning sales. One Jew was surrounded by a crowd which ordered him to hand over all foreign money in his possession and on his refusal he was stripped from head to foot and all his money taken.

The neighborhood of the Bourse was the scene of an anti-Jewish demonstration but the police there prevented serious excesses. The disorders continued for two hours before order was finally restored. Available reports show no fatalities.

In order to alleviate the bread situation the Government has ordered concentration of the stocks of flour held in warehouses and its distribution among the bakers at a reasonable price. Negotiations are also proceeding between the bakers and the Food Ministry with the object of fixing a fair price for bread.

CLOSE DOWN PLANTS.

MULHEIM, Germany, Nov. 6.—(Associated Press).—All the plants of August Thyssen, including the steel works at Mulheim and Hamborn, will be closed next Saturday. Notices of the shutdown, applying to all employes, were posted at the plants yesterday.

August Thyssen, who is about eighty years of age, has been the most unrelenting opponent of co-operation with the French and Belgians and it is understood that his decision to close his plants completely was to avoid being coerced by other industrialists into a working agreement with the French.

His son, Fritz Thyssen, however, who also controls steel works and mines is participating with the Stinnes group in the negotiations with the French, which were resumed yesterday, although there is no indication when they will be completed.

BALDWIN LEARNS FIRST EFFECTS OF PROTECTION PLEA

M.P.'s Gather in London for Bonar Law's Funeral

RETURN TO POWER

Opposition Concedes Comfortable Majority in Election Mid-January

LONDON, Nov. 6.—(Star Cable by Windermere Copyright)—Bonar Law's funeral brought members of Parliament to London from all parts of the country and gave Ministers a chance of learning the first effects of Premier Baldwin's protection bombshell.

Is the Unionist paper, the Spectator, right when it declares that the Unionist party is "shivering as a ship shivers when it strikes a huge mass of floating wreckage—in this case the wreckage of tariff reform and the Chamberlain policy?"

The answer is euphatically "No!"

The general belief is that the Prime Minister, having declared protection indispensable as a means of curing unemployment, cannot go pottering on with mere palliatives.

The general election is probable in the middle of January, with a general tariff on manufactured imports as a central issue.

The result will be almost certain to be Baldwin's return to power with a comfortable majority. Labor itself expects this, but banks on winning an election say in 1924.

Three incidents illustrate Baldwin's difficulties. Lord Derby, the Duke of Devonshire and the Cecils of the Cabinet have so far committed themselves no further than to exceptional temporary duties to ward off exceptional dumped imports such as French lace and German steel. Lord Derby, whose influence is great in Lancashire, has told Baldwin that protection could only win if it were linked with bread measures of social reform which would ensure an advance in standard of living to the working classes. The labor line of attack points in the same direction.

FARMERS ANXIOUS

The agriculturists await impatiently Baldwin's agricultural policy, now that he has definitely pledged himself against taxes on meat and wheat. He is expected to promise a substantial subsidy per acre of arable cultivation but agriculture cannot live on temporary bribes from the general tax-payer. Moreover, no practical means has yet been propounded of providing an Imperial preference through a system of subsidies.

It is generally expected that Baldwin will invite Austen Chamberlain, if not also Lord Birkenhead, to join his Ministry, for the Cabinet is pretty sure sooner or later to lose some free trade members such as Lord Salisbury and Lord Robert Cecil.

What Lloyd George and Winston Churchill will do they probably know themselves as little as the rest of the political world. Their hands are tied by their semi-protective actions as Coalition Ministers. They await developments—which will come quickly when Parliament re-assembles next Tuesday.

WINDERMERE

ASQUITH ATTACKS BALDWIN'S POLICY

Twits Premier and Lord Derby With Being "Open Minders"

LONDON, Nov. 6. — (Canadian Press.)—Former Premier H. H. Asquith, leader of the Independent Liberals, speaking at Dewsbury last night, attacked the Government's protection policy and twitted Premier Baldwin and Lord Derby, Secretary for War, with being "open minders."

It looked as if the country, continued Mr. Asquith, was about to witness the evolution of a new type which, if he might borrow a term from the woollen industry, one might call without offence the cross-bred free trader. So far as he could gather the new policy had two avowed objects, namely, to fight unemployment and to develop and cement the unity of the Empire.

Mr. Asquith proceeded to deal with the first of these proposals, reserving the second for a second speech, asserting only that an Imperial preference which did not extend either to food or raw materials was nothing but a hollow sham.

The former Premier quoted figures to show that unemployment was much greater now and the import trade was much less than before the war. He contended that only ten per cent of the unemployed could be helped by the new tariff, and the most depressed trades, like shipbuilding, engineering, cotton and transportation would be unaffected by a tariff.

In further enunciation of the Liberal policy, Mr. Asquith said the Liberals believed their proposals for joint control of industrial undertakings and the sharing of surplus profits would bring about an equitable distribution of the product of industry. They believed that the taxes, both direct and indirect, falling on people with small incomes could be reduced.

OPPOSE REMOVAL OF CROWN PRINCE

Britain and France Will Ask Holland to Prevent Departure

PARIS, Nov. 6. — (Associated Press). — Premier Poincare has approved suggestion of Great Britain that the Allies make joint representation to Holland to prevent former Crown Prince Frederick William from leaving Holland for Germany.

Lord Crewe, the British Ambassador, communicated the suggestion to M. Poincare yesterday.

According to a semi-official source, Lord Crewe also impressed upon M. Poincare the necessity of instructing all, French officials in the Rhineland to maintain strict neutrality toward the separatists.

STILL SEEK SLAYER SUSPECT.

CALGARY, Nov. 6—(Canadian Press)—Police were still searching last night for Joe Blackhorse, the Blood Reserve Indian, who is charged with the murder of Winnie Tollestrup, 16 year old high school girl of Raymond, Alta., whose charred remains werefound in a smouldering straw stack on Saturday night.

A Furnace That Paid $43.00 Dividends

The other day I met a man who told me that his new Gurney Hot Water System paid him $43 in dividends last winter.

I asked him to explain.

He said: "Winter before last I burned eleven tons of coal in my old furnace.

"Then last year I had a new Gurney Hot Water System installed. I put eleven tons in the cellar and had nearly three tons left.

"The eleven tons cost me $170. The two and three-quarters tons left in the cellar are worth $43, so I figure that your Gurney System paid me $43 in dividends. At that rate it will pay me $430 dividends in ten years."

After leaving that man the thought struck me that it would pay a lot of other people to "scrap" their old "coal-eaters" and put in Gurney Dividend-Paying Furnaces, equipped with the Gurney Patented Economizer and other fuel-saving features. If you feel that way about it write me for further particulars.

Yours sincerely,

Holt Gurney

Elgin Strap Watches for Men and Women, cases in Gold, Gold-filled, or Silver may be had from your jeweller at a wide range of prices.

Some Watch Ideas are Getting Out-of-Date

OUR plain-living, plain-speaking grandfathers used to have a phrase—"Handsome is as handsome does."

You don't hear it so much nowadays—but there are signs that this old-fashioned, sane sense of values is coming back.

It is no surprise to Elgin that men on the average are buying better watches today than they ever did.

The vogue of the cheap watch was bound to come, have its day, and die out.

Only to be expected, too, was that mistake in the other direction—regarding a watch as a piece of jewelry rather than as a timepiece. Now also passing out as buyers become better informed.

The field of the Elgin Watchmakers is far removed from such temporary and artificial swings this way and that.

It is the field of the professional timepiece, for people who value accurate timekeeping before all other watch considerations.

COUNCIL APPROVES WORKLESS SUNDAY

Calls Upon Federal Government to Enforce Legislation

FERRY SERVICE

Will Be Improvement in Schedule to St. Helen's Island

If the Dominion authorities give heed to the request of the city council the time is not far distant when no one in the city will be allowed to work or do business on Sundays unless it is a matter of emergency for the public safety, health or welfare. The aldermen at yesterday's meeting unanimously adopted the motion of Alderman Trepanier urging the Dominion authorities to strictly enforce the law making it unlawful for any person to do or employ any other person to do, on the Lord's Day, any work, business or labor, so as to ensure a proper observance of the Lord's Day. Mayor Martin thought that this law had to be adopted by the province before it could be put in force but Alderman Trepanier and Ald. Desroches argued that the courts had held that the provinces had no jurisdiction in the matter and that it came solely within the purview of the Federal authorities.

Alderman Jacobs put through a motion urging the Executive Committee to consider the desirability of widening St. Urbain street at the corner of Sherbrooke street, while Ald. Carmel had passed a resolution asking the executive committee to hold an inquiry into the manner in which the assessment of properties in St. Edward ward had been made in order to ascertain whether both or either of the assessors were qualified or incompetent. He complained bitterly of the increased assessments that had been made on some properties and made an attack on J. Hamilton Ferns, the chairman, demanding that there should be a French-Canadian as joint chairman. Mayor Martin hotly defended Mr. Ferns as a highly competent official who spoke both languages fluently and who always sought to give justice to all. Ald. Lalonde joined in the protest against the way assessments had been carried out in Maisonneuve where on one side of a street they had been increased 50 per cent but on the other, with different assessors, there had been no increase.

ENLARGING MARKET.

The request of those using Bonsecours market for an enlargement of the market place was referred to the legislation committee with a request to draft the amendment to the charter necessary to enable this to be undertaken next spring.

The Trades and Labor Council was informed that the council had expressed itself in favor of another bridge to the South Shore in December, 1920, and that the executive were actually considering plans for a shelter on Place d'Armes for the public waiting for tramcars.

The request of the City Improvement League and other organizations that the council should put in force the draft building code which had been prepared several years ago was referred to the executive committee with a recommendation for prompt action.

Alderman Rubenstein brought up the question of an efficient ferry service to St. Helen's Island next summer, declaring that during the past season it had been very unsatisfactory. Alderman Rushion endorsed this and said that the service had been a disgrace to the city. Alderman Brodeur said the contract had been given for five years and he believed the service would be better next summer, as a new channel had been routed which would enable a regular service to be kept up despite exceptionally low water.

A committee was appointed to study the question of early closing by-law amendments, and the council adopted a report from the executive declaring that, although the Poultry Dealers Association of Montreal had written thanking the city for allowing the Jewish dealers to remain open after the fixed hour on certain days, that no such permission had ever been given.

The council approved of the awarding of a contract to C. Frascarelli, for laying a sewer on Sherbrooke street, Lafontaine ward, in the sum of $38,244.50 and also of an appropriation of $10,000 for the laying of the Fullum street outlet through the new wharf, and one of $11,705 for a sewer in Notre Dame de Grace avenue, besides adopting a number of smaller reports from the executive.

Put your Complexion at ease

A COMPLEXION that is bathed night and morning with Peerless Erasmic Soap has nothing to fear from the verdict of close inspection—it is as enchanting in the brightness of day as in the softness of evening lights. Its bloom of youth revels in the nearness of eyes, for an Erasmic complexion is your own complexion; its innocence of make-believe is its charm.

And Peerless Erasmic is as delightful for its subtle fragrance as for the enchanting beauty it lends to the skin. It is distinctive without being insistent; it is neither pronounced nor obvious, and it has a lasting fragrance that few soaps possess.

LAST MINUTE RALLY BROUGHT FUND UP TO TOTAL OF $434,166

Final Results of Federation Campaign Announced at Dinner Last Evening—Amount Will Be Further Increased by Further Subscriptions—Cup Presented

Montreal has a "heart." An avalanche of money, pouring in at the last minute brought the drive of the Financial Federation to splendid success, the objective of $425,000 was exceeded and the sum of $434,166.60 secured for the benefit of the under privileged and distressed.

The announcement, made by Colonel George S. Currie at the dinner given by the campaign workers in the Mount Royal Hotel last evening, following a series of inspiring declarations by the division captains, was greeted with a storm of cheers, indicative of the sincerity and heartfelt enthusiasm with which the drive for the 28 agencies, forming the Federation, was conducted.

At six o'clock last evening when the last report was filed at campaign headquarters, and indeed throughout the course of the get-together dinner there was every indication that the grand total would fall short of the objective, but with the first of the series of announcements from division chieftains the element of doubt was eliminated and success became a certainty. The Federation executive prepared to announce a total of $388,257.90 was compelled to make a swift series of additions when the women's divisions reported a further $13,168.60 and the men $82,690.10.

The objective was exceeded by $9,166.60 with every possibility that at least $10,000 more will be added before the flow of subscriptions ceases.

WOMEN'S SUCCESS.

The success of the Women's Division in securing the magnificent total of $91,964.23 was greeted with a storm of cheers for the ladies. The Women's Special Names Committee filed a total of $41,113 at campaign headquarters and added another $1,985 at the dinner. Montreal Women, with an extremely heavy list of calls reported $22,962.17 and an additional $4,477.61 at the dinner, the total of $27,438.88 being the signal for repeated applause. Mrs. Robert W. Reford in making the announcement paid special tribute to her workers and marked the sincerity with which they had thrown themselves into the task. The North End Women's team showed a grand total of $994.86 of which $271.41 was reported at the dinner. Mrs. T. Ludington in making the announcement declared that with the experience gained her district would make an even greater showing next year.

Mrs. R. G. Gilbride, reporting a total of $13,228.95 for Westmount, declared that the amount was $469 more than was secured last year, adding that there was more to follow. Mrs. Gilbride announced an additional $4,812.66 last evening. Mrs. Andrew White sent the grand total soaring higher when she announced $1,995.65 from Montreal West, of which $65 was secured since the final report to headquarters. Mrs. R. M. Cushing of Notre Dame de Grace added $1,046.40 at the dinner to make a total for her district of $3,749.45. Mrs. William Stewart announced $839.00 from the East End with a promise of additional amounts to come.

Mrs. Arthur Drummond, in thanking the women workers, said that the feeling of having accomplished a wonderful piece of work for Montreal would be their recompense. The women, she emphasized, worked hard and with spirit as was demonstrated by one lady canvasser who refusing to be discouraged by a return of 80 cents for a hard day's work, went out again and brought in a much more substantial sum.

SCHOOL CHILDREN HELP.

One of the features of the ladies' campaign was the result from the distribution of cards in 20 different schools. A collection of these cards, involving a visit to the home of each child added $748.24 to the funds and was one of the substantial reasons for the success of the campaign.

The cheers for the ladies on the completion of their announcements was especially coupled with the names of Mrs. Drummond, Mrs. Reford, Miss Meredith Hodgson and Miss Ivadell Hurd.

Brig.-General Eric McCuaig, campaign chairman, in calling upon the captains of the men's divisions to submit their reports declared that the evident success of the campaign was splendid evidence that the Federation idea was succeeding in Montreal. They could still feel, he said, that after two years the work of the Federation was not only important but necessary. General McCuaig sounded a deep note of appreciation for the efforts of those taking part in the campaign, making reference to the loyalty of the office staff.

The effort was not wasted, but demonstrated that the Federation was the best possible means of carrying on welfare work in Montreal.

INSPIRING REPORTS.

The announcements by the men's division captains was a series of inspiring reports. Lieut.-Col. W. Leggat started the ball rolling by announcing a grand total of $155,120 for the Special Names Committee, adding that he had just received a subscription of $5,000 from the estate of the late Dr. Beatty. This subscription was given through E. W. Beatty, Federation chairman. Colonel Leggat also announced a further donation of $5,000, but said that the name of the donor could not be disclosed.

Theodore Morgan emphasized that every team in St. Andrew's division went over the top, and that the team under Stewart MacTier had exceeded its objective by 203 per cent. The division was 30 per cent above its objective with a grand total of $46,247.93. This result, he declared, was only obtained through the energy and enthusiasm of his workers.

The division of St. George's "A" turned in a grand total of $60,429.68, announcing an amount of $3,001.50, not previously reported. Colonel Robert Starke for St. Joseph and St. Ann, announced $41,799 of which $2,314.50 was not secured in time to file at headquarters. In St. George's "B" F. W. Fairman recorded the sum of $36,639.50 of which $3,207.50 was new money. L. A. Wilkinson for Delorimier announced $8,234 winning a second cheer with the announcement that 20 per cent of the amount was made up by French Canadians.

HAD RUSSIAN ROUBLES.

At one time, said Mr. Wilkinson, his team had been in high hopes of setting a new high record when 100,000 Russian roubles appeared in their accounts. However the low market made the amount look small. Maisonneuve, under the captaincy of R. H. Gillean, added $2,668.25 to the funds. Mr. Gillean entered a protest on foreign money, stating that if German marks were of any value a great number might be secured in the East End. C. G. Higginson, for Montreal West, reported $2,538.50, and W. H. Watson, for Notre Dame de Grace, $3,445. St. Henry added $9,799 to the funds according to the report of H. L. Piper, while Outremont swelled the total with $10,076.25. The division captain, W. A. Walsh, reported that this amount was $1,076 in advance of last year.

In the St. Lawrence division W. R. Christie declared a respect for his Jewish fellow-citizens, assuring his fellow workers that the Jewish canvassers in their campaign had accomplished a piece of work of which any Scotchman might be proud. The Jewish people, however, had shown themselves warm-hearted and generous and had assisted materially. He reported $12,766.

In Westmount the canvassers under W. G. Shepherd secured $24,652.52, and Mr. Shepherd was convinced that it would have been nearer $60,000, but that many Westmount subscriptions were given in Montreal. Mr. Shepherd paid a special tribute to the ladies of his district, and declared that they had carried through a magnificent piece of work, reporting well over 100 per cent.

SUCCESS AT McGILL.

The splendid work accomplished at McGill University was especially mentioned by Andrew Fleming in his report. Mr. Fleming announced that the University contributed $7,100.25 from the professors alone. The students secured $635.75 and the University employes $86. The total sum, secured from employes, exclusive of McGill, amounted to $57,505.84. Where last year the Canadian National employes had contributed more than the C. P. R., this year the publicly owned road had been vanquished. The C. P. R. employes raised $13,650, while the C. N. R. employes $9,250.

At the request of Mr. Shepherd, of the Westmount division, General McCuaig presented a silver cup to Mrs. Gilbride, of the Westmount Women's division, as a token of the appreciation in which the men's team held the efforts of the ladies.

J. Howard T. Falk supplied evidence that the work of the Federation was appreciated outside of Montreal when he announced that subscriptions from points in United States and Canada, received by mail, totalled $3,840.07.

MADE PRESENTATION.

Incidentally Mr. Falk took advantage of the moment to show the high regard in which the members of the Federation staff hold General McCuaig, the drive chairman, presenting him with a framed original of the sketch of Federation officials made at the first campaign luncheon by "Le-Messurier," one of The Star's staff of artists. General McCuaig, said Mr. Falk, had maintained his reputation of always being in the forefront of the battle line.

The presentation was greeted with three cheers.

Owing to the tremendous amount of work accomplished by the men's team, and the narrow margin between their percentage collections, it was found impossible to decide the winner of the silver cup, emblematic of the men's championship, without recourse to close figuring at campaign headquarters. The Montreal West Ladies' division, under the captaincy of Mrs. Whyte, was announced the winner of the Ladies' Cup. The presentation to Mrs. Whyte was made by Lady Meredith.

J. S. Brierley moved a vote of thanks to the following firms for their assistance during the course of the campaign.

William Thomas Co., for poster advertising, value $1,000; Mr. Norrish, Associated Screen News, for help with motion picture; Harold Inns, for work on score board; Messrs. Mappin & Webb, Henry Birks Co., G. F. Hemsley Co., and J. R. Gaunt Co., for cups; Gladwish & Mitchell, for uptown office; Estate Boxer, per R. B. Hutchison, for offices; Burroughs adding machine, W. V. Dawson Co.; many people for cars, per Stuart Molson, Esq.

THANKS PRESS.

And last but by no means least, said Mr. Brierley, was the outstanding service rendered by The Star Publishing Co., through the courtesy and interest of Lord Atholstan, in listing all the subscribers throughout the campaign, and in their generous reception of news of the Federation during the past two months.

The dinner, held at the expense of the workers for the presentation of final reports, was marked by an attractive musical program and by the showing of a moving picture of the work of the agencies in the Federation.

Those at the head table were:—Brig.-Gen. Eric McCuaig, campaign committee chairman, who presided; Sir Vincent and Lady Meredith, Senator Lorne C. Webster, Walter Mitchell, K.C., M.P.; T. B. Macaulay, Lady Drummond, Rev. S. B. Snow, Col. W. Leggat, George Lyman, J. S. Brierley, Andrew Fleming, J. N. Morris, Col. Geo. S. Currie, A. D. Anderson, E. W. Dawson, J. J. M. Pangman, G. P. Butters, W. K. Trower, J. D. Molson, R. W. Reford, and Mrs. Reford, J. W. Thomas, Percy Williams, Col. Royal L. H. Ewing, Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Norrish, Edgar Berliner, Mrs. Arthur Drummond, Mrs. Alister Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Fairman, Mrs. Wellington Dixon, Mrs. Walter Stewart, Mrs. J. W. Ross, Mrs. Colin Russel, Mrs. J. P. Black, Mrs. C. R. Bourne, Mrs. R. G. Gilbride, Mrs. R. M. Cushing, Mrs. Andrew Whyte, Mrs. Tracy Ludington and Miss Kathleen Moore.

SYDNEY, N.S., Nov. 6.—(Canadian Press.)—A law making it a criminal offence for maintenance men to leave their posts in mill and mine when strikes occur was advocated yesterday by Roy Wolvin, president of the British Empire Steel Corporation, before the Royal Commission on Unrest in Cape Breton. Questioned as to the cause of current unrest, he said:

"I think from what knowledge I have that the Maritime Labor Herald, the teaching of Bolshevism, and radical speeches have a lot to do with it. In addition, our young men returning from overseas have become accustomed to a different kind of life."

Mr. Wolvin said wages at Sydney were better than at Algoma, in that more work was provided here. It was the bulk of what a man was able to earn in a year and not the rate that counted, he said. Besides, Besco steel was largely for export and had to meet competition of cheap foreign labor.

Mr. Wolvin said the unrest was not all on one side.

"There is just as much unrest among our shareholders who are getting no dividends."

To Commissioner Bancroft, who asked about alleged over capitalization, he said:

"Besco has outstanding $50,000,000 preferred and $20,000,000 common stock and since its incorporation this has not distributed one cent to any shareholder. I get calls on the 'phone when I am shaving in the morning from people asking when they are going to get some of their money out of it. People tell me the head of the family has died and the widow is looking for the $60 or so put into the stock.

"Besco stock is not watered and is well within the law of the potential assets of the corporation."

An alleged strike incident that had not come to light before turned up during the examination of Prescott Anthony, Deputy Chief of Police of Sydney.

He was questioned about the charge of the Provincial Police on Victoria road.

"Did you know previously that this was going to be done?"

"I knew they (Provincial Police) were going to be on duty."

"Did you hear that they were going to 'put on a show' at No. 4 gate at a certain time?"

"I heard it after."

"Who told you?"

"A sergeant of police said it."

"Said what?"

"That Colonel Eric MacDonald said he was going to put a show on."

"Did you understand that show to be a charge of troops at No. 4 gate?"

"No."

Witness testified that the sergeant told him the colonel had told the sergeant previously of his intention to put on the show.

The sergeant will be called to give evidence and a reply will also be made by Colonel MacDonald, it is understood.

MELBOURNE LIKE AN ARMED CAMP

Armed Soldiers and Sailors Guard Buildings Against Strikers

SYDNEY, Nov. 6.— (Star-Tribune Cable. Copyright.) — Melbourne is practically an armed camp as a result of the situation caused by the police strike. Naval and military authorities with fixed bayonets and ample supplies of ammunition are guarding banks, government offices and other public buildings. Machine-gun companies and large military forces are held in reserve.

General Monash has organized an extensive citizens' force of special constables, chiefly former soldiers, including light cavalry.

The city was quiet yesterday but the Government was taking every precaution to prevent further disorders. The authorities demand unconditional surrender of the ringleaders, but the demand has been refused.

The damage caused by the recent rioting is estimated at from £100,000 to £1,000,000. Five hundred persons are being treated in hospitals for injuries.

MELBOURNE, Nov. 6.—(Star-Tribune Cable. Copyright.)— A mob attacked a number of special constables replacing police officers who are now on strike. A pitched battle ensued, during which there was considerable firing. A number of constables were injured, one seriously.

All saloons have been ordered to close at 2 o'clock today, which is Melbourne Cup day, a public holiday.

G. E. TANGUAY IS DEAD IN QUEBEC

Provincial Government Architect Was Only Ill Few Hours

QUEBEC, Nov. 6.—(Star Special.) —Geo. Emile Tanguay, 66, well-known architect of Quebec, died early this morning at his residence, D'Aiguillon street, after a few hours' illness.

The late Mr. Tanguay was the Provincial Government's chief architect, and was the author of the plans of most all important buildings in the Ancient Capital and of many churches in the district of Quebec. He was president of the Quebec and Levis Ferry Company and connected with several financial enterprises.

Mrs. Tanguay and two of her sons, George Emile and Fernand, are in Paris. Two other sons, Paul and Berchmans, were in Montreal.

In addition to his wife and his five sons, Mr. Tanguay is survived by two brothers, Dr. P. Tanguay, St. Gervais, and Amede Tanguay, Roxton Pond; one sister, Mrs. F. Marquis, mother of Colonel G. E. Marquis.

Deceased was a member of the Corporation of Architects of the Province of Quebec for the last forty-five years. In addition to having made plans for local buildings, he was also author of the plans of the Immaculate Conception Church, Montreal and other buildings in the metropolis.

LAPOINTE SEES U.S. IN LEAGUE

Only Question of Time, He Says, Until America Enters

WINNIPEG, Nov. 6. — (Canadian Press.) — The entry of the United States into the League of Nations is only a question of time, declared Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, n an address before the Canadian Club yesterday.

"Those who read" he said, "may see that public opinion in the United States is going that way. All the strongest men in that country are in favor of membership in the League—the woman's organizations, the American Federation of Labor, the United Boards of Trade all the agricultural associations; all these bodies have declared in favor of an international association to promote the peace of the world."

Declaring that the League is not designed to promote "entangling alliances" but is an association of all peoples against war, Mr. Lapointe said the nations would make the League effective in its work when they gave it universal backing.

RACE WITH DEATH TO SAVE ILL CHILD

Auto Aids Kiwanians to Snatch Victory from Grim Reaper

BRANTFORD, Ont., Nov. 6.—(Canadian Press).—Two Brantford Kiwanians—D. T. Williamson, vice-president, and H. E. Gignac, secretary—raced death and won, Saturday, after they received word that, unless at once taken to the Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto, and operated on, a little girl would die.

Within 30 minutes Williamson in his sedan with Gignac, a nurse, the child and her mother, was on his way to Toronto.

The run to the hospital for sick children was made in excellent time, and ten minutes after arrival the operation was under way. At its conclusion the surgeon reported it successful, but blood transfusion was necessary. Both Kiwanians volunteered, underwent blood tests, and Williamson was chosen. The girl is recovering nicely.

PREFERENCE RUMORS.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—(Star Special by Staff Correspondent.)—It continues to be persistently rumored that flour duties are coming, and it is also currently stated in quarters in touch with the Imperial and Economic Conferences that one proposal includes the establishment of an all-round 50 per cent preferential duty within the empire.

CENTRAL GLASGOW ELECTION PIVOT

Contest for Late Former Premier's Seat Strength Indication

LONDON, Nov. 6.—(British United Press Cable.)— The eyes of political Britain are today fixed upon central Glasgow, where a by-election is to be held in a few days, necessitated by the death of Bonar Law. The result of this pivotal election will be regarded by all political parties in some degree as a demonstration of their strength.

Although the candidates of the two older parties have not been selected yet, E. R. Mitchell is in the field for Labor, and already interest in the election far exceeds that in the contest at Leamington, which is scheduled to be held on November 22. At Leamington the Countess of Warwick is the Labor candidate, and she is opposed by both Liberal and Conservative nominees.

Just a year ago Mr. Mitchell was defeated by Bonar Law by a majority of 2,614, which in view of the popularity of the former British Premier was regarded as exceedingly small. On that occasion Sir George Paish, the former editor of the Statist, and one of the leading authorities in Britain on financial and economic subjects, received only about 2,500 votes altogether. Labor is supremely confident that it will win on this occasion, more especially if both Asquithians and Georgians put up a candidate in the contest, which is a development which is threatened by the former, who claim that the Georgians have stolen a march on their rivals by inviting Winston Churchill to contest the seat. It is regarded as doubtful whether Mr. Churchill will accept in view of the heavy defeat which the Liberals sustained in this constituency last year.

There is good authority for believing that the by-election will probably be advanced to a date somewhere in mid-January, owing to reports made by the Government political machine that a short and sharp campaign will be most effectual in winning them votes. Yet inasmuch as the battle will probably be fought largely on the tariff issue, Mr. Baldwin may delay the contest as it is scarcely possible that the soon to be appointed commission of experts will have collected and collated sufficient facts regarding a new protection measure before the end of January at the earliest.

LIBERALS WANT WINSTON CHURCHILL

LONDON, Nov. 6. — (Canadian Press).—Glasgow Liberals have telegraphed an invitation to Winston Churchill, former Colonial Secretary, to contest the late Bonar Law's seat. It is thought that Churchill is eager to return to the House of Commons. A triangular contest for the vacant seat is anticipated. It is rumored that if Churchill is nominated by a section of the Liberals the Asquithian Liberals will put up another nominee.

The free traders of Lancashire have decided to invite Lloyd George to address a great demonstration in Free Trade Hall, Manchester, in December. This, following Winston Churchill's visit to Manchester on November 16, will rank as the beginning of the battle in the general election.

Lord Birkenhead was interviewed on his arrival at Southampton on his return from Canada and the United States. He declined to make any statement relating to the political situation. He said to the pressmen, "I have been with gentlemen of your fraternity for many weeks. I found them very enterprising and on the whole, extraordinary reliable."

Lord Birkenhead smilingly assented to a request to pose for his photograph, observing "that is non-committal." He arrived at Glasgow last night, and will deliver an address there today.

AFRICO-CANADIAN TRADE TREATY AIRED

Conference at London May Bring New Commercial Accord

LONDON, Nov. 6. — (Canadian Press.)—A trade treaty between Canada and South Africa is in the air. At a conference between Premier King and Hon. George P. Graham, representing Canada, and Premier Smuts and Hon. H. Burton, Finance Minister, representing the South African Union, yesterday, improvement in the trade relations between the two countries was discussed.

The South Africans expressed a desire to come under the higher preferential tariff on certain dried fruits provided in the legislation passed by the Canadian Parliament last session. It was then understood that the legislation would not become effective till the proposed trade treaty with Australia was concluded. But the Australian treaty was not concluded and the increased duty did not come into effect.

South Africa, however, is anxious to take advantage of the new preferential rate on dried fruits whether Australia proposes to do so or not, and has intimated her willingness to give Canada some reciprocal advantages in the South African market. The conference did not reach the stage of definite proposals for a trade treaty although it is hoped that such will be the ultimate outcome.

WHEAT PREFERENCE IN CANADA'S GRASP

British Tax on Grain, Beef, Mutton But Waits on Dominions' Bid

LONDON, Nov. 6.—(Star Special Cable by Windermere. Copyright.)—If Canada wants British preference on wheat and other food products she seemingly can have it on terms. The British Ministers position is that they cannot give something for nothing. What other interpretation can be put upon following public statement of Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, at Cardiff:

I can conceive of circumstances in which it might pay us very well to tax foreign wheat, beef and mutton, admitting Empire produce free or at any rate under substantial preference. If we could show an offer from the Dominions, then I think it would be a proposition well worth considering. But in the absence of any such offer, and we have none today, a tax on wheat, beef or mutton does not form part of the Government's proposals.

Preference will, however, be given in every case where duties are imposed on manufactured imports. Also the revenue from new taxes will be used to subsidize Empire development enterprises. WINDERMERE.

NEW 'PHONE SERVICE.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 6. — (Canadian Press).—Something new in the way of telephone services in this Province has been instituted by the Manitoba Government telephone system with the inauguration of "phonogram" calls, which will be similar to the night letters of the telegraph companies. The "phonogram" messages will be delivered to local operators and transmitted by them to long distance stations.

BROTHERHOOD OF MANKIND.

REGINA, Nov. 6.—(Canadian Press).—Need for the creation of a brotherhood of mankind that would end nationalism, racialism and denominationalism, was urged by Rev. Dr. Alfred Gandier, Moderator of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, and Principal of Knox College, Toronto, in addressing a joint meeting of the Canadian and Rotary Clubs yesterday. He announced his subject as the "need of getting together."

"A PINE FOREST IN EVERY HOME."

PEPS

THE healing effect of Peps on the throat and chest is so remarkably like the famous curative Alpine air that a handy box of Peps is popularly described as "A Pine Forest in Every Home."

The potency of Peps is due to the ingenious idea of sealing within a silver jacket certain volatile chest-strengthening medicines which are concentrated in every tablet.

When you remove the silver-wrapping and let a Peps tablet dissolve on the tongue, the healing and germicidal fumes given off, are carried with the breath down the throat and bronchial tubes direct into the innermost recesses.

The Peps medicine thus reaches all vital parts and heals sore and inflamed places beyond the reach of old-fashioned liquid "cough medicines."

Peps put an end to coughs, colds, sore throat and bronchitis, and strengthen the entire breathing system. Being free from all harmful drugs, Peps can be taken with perfect safety even by the frail old folk or the young.

PEPS are stockists of all medicine dealers. 60c box, 2 for $1.25. Any reader can obtain a FREE SAMPLE by sending postal to The Peps Co., Toronto.

FOR COUGHS, COLDS & BRONCHITIS

Test It Free

You'll be amazed

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube of Pepsodent. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth become whiter as the cloudy coats disappear.

You will be amazed and delighted. And you will want those results continued in your home.

Protect the Enamel

Pepsodent disintegrates the film, then removes it with an agent far softer than enamel. Never use a film combatant which contains harsh grit.

That Enamel

So precious—so attractive

Learn this way to protect it

Note how many glistening teeth you see everywhere today. Mark the added beauty they convey.

Millions of people are brushing teeth in a new way, largely by dental advice. Accept this offer of a test and learn what it means to you.

Combats the film

It is film on teeth that dims them—that viscous film you feel. Much of it resists the tooth brush, clings and stays.

Soon that film discolors, then forms dingy coats which hide the teeth's beauty.

Film also holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Under old methods, very few escaped the film-caused troubles.

New ways found

Dental science has now found two effective film combatants, and has amply proved them out. One acts to disintegrate the film at all stages of formation. The other removes it without harmful scouring. A new-type tooth paste was created to apply these methods daily. The name is Pepsodent. Now careful people of some 50 nations apply it every day.

No harmful grit

Pepsodent multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva, also its starch digestant. Those are Nature's agents for fighting acid and starch deposits on teeth. Soapy tooth pastes, it is found, have just the opposite effect.

Thus Pepsodent brings cleaner, safer teeth, without harmful scouring and without harsh grit.

You see the results everywhere

Wherever dainty people meet you can see what Pepsodent is doing.

But it means more than whiter teeth. It means new protection. Dentists advise that children use Pepsodent from the time the first tooth appears.

You will want these benefits in your home when you find them out. Cut out coupon now.

'Newsy' Will Not Wait Long For F. McLean

"Newsy" Lalonde, former captain of the Canadiens Hockey Club, of the N.H.L., but at the present time playing-manager of the Saskatoon club of the Western Canada Hockey League, will wait until Thursday for Fred. McLean, Frederickton, N.B., puck-chaser, to accept terms he has been offered, The Star learned today.

"Newsy" has already wired twice to McLean lately, once last week and again yesterday. McLean was supposed to meet Lalonde here today, ready to proceed West, but word comes from Frederickton that he is still in that city. The Saskatoon manager when informed of this today, stated that he had sent his last word.

"If I don't hear from him by Thursday morning, I'll let him go and take on a couple of other players that I have in mind," he declared.

"It is understood that "Newsy" will leave for Saskatoon on Thursday evening. Once there he will get his team together and likely proceed at once to Vancouver, where the Crescents are scheduled to do their pre-season training.

Double Victory for Lachine Juveniles

About a week ago Lachine High School played and defeated Macdonald High School in a lively game of rugby. The game was played at Lachine and resulted in a score of 8 to 0 in favor of the "home team."

A return game was played at Macdonald between the same teams. The first few minutes of play looked bay for Lachine when Macdonald scored a touch, but the Lachine boys came right back and evened up the score through a snappy end run. Two more touches were scored by the visiting team thus ending the game 15 to 5 in favor of the Lachine squad.

Both games showed a very good brand of rugby and in the near future much can be expected from these players now in the making.

The line up:

Lachine		Mcdonald.

Hall	Halves	Ward
Duross	Halves	Tait

Guessing Identity of Papyrus New Owner

LONDON, Nov. 6. — Guessing the identity of the new owner of Papyrus and the sum paid for the famous colt is the latest diversion of followers of horse racing in England. Those able to give out the desired information refuse to do so, but latest reports are that the buyer of the Derby winner is either Basil Jarvis, his trainer or somebody "who has long been associated with Jarvis' stable."

As regards the price, the racing reporter of the Daily Telegraph says it exceeded the £31,500 paid for Diamond Jubilee which won the Derby in 1900 when Edward VII. was Prince of Wales.

PARKDALE BEAT VARSITY.

TORONTO, Nov. 6. — Superior backfield playing and a strong line gave Parkdale Canoe Club a 13 to 2 victory over the University of Toronto second team in an Ontario Rugby Football Union match at the University Stadium. The Paddlers meet Hamilton Rowing Club here on Thanksgiving Day, and if they win the O. R. F.U. senior race will be tied up. A victory for the Oarsmen will give them the honors.

BASKETBALL

The Trojan A.C., met and defeated the strong Monarch Circle B team in a very fast and hard fought game of basketball. The score was 22 to 20.

The Trojans showed all round good combination and exceptional speed. They prove by this game, the first they have played this season, that they have one of the best teams of their weight in the city. Score:

Trojan A.C., 22; Monarch Circle, 20.

TAYLOR DEFEATED ZBYSZKO, BUT CROWD WAS NOT SATISFIED

WINNIPEG, Man., Nov. 6. Jack Taylor, Canadian heavyweight wrestling champion, defeated Wladek Zbyszko of New York, two out of three falls here last night when Zbyszko conceded the final fall owing to an injury to his knee that was far from satisfactory to the crowd.

How Hoppe Managed Tie With Cochran

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—(United News.) —With a sensational rally in which he showed all the brilliance of a great champion Willie Hoppe defeated Jake Jake Schaefer 500 to 472 in the final game of the world's 18.2 balk-line billiard championship and finished in a tie with Welker Cochran for the honors.

Hoppe and Cochran will enter a playoff match for the title that probably will be staged in Chicago next month.

Schaefer got away to a big lead and early in the match was leading Hoppe 330 to 69 and later 408 to 269. Hoppe rallied with runs of 152 and 127 and won the match in the twelfth inning.

Hoppe's average was 41 8-12 while Schaefer averaged 40 7-11 with a high run of 167.

Cochran earned a tie for the honors by beating Edouard Horsemans the Belgian star, 500 to 472.

Both Hoppe and Cochran lost one out of five matches, Cochran beating Hoppe early in the tournament and Erich Hagenlacher, the German, giving Cochran his only setback.

Promoters of the tournament could not find a suitable place in which to stage the play-off in New York before late December, and they decided to stage the match in Chicago as soon as the arrangements can be completed.

WHAT THE PRESS AGENT OF THE BOXERS SAYS

Some more home news from abroad. Jack Neary of New York writes:

Midget Smith, New York's hard punching bantamweight will make his reapearance to the fight fans of Montreal, on the 14th when he meets Kid Roy for ten rounds.

I am given to understand that Roy is on the same style as the Midget and the fans, ought to see one of those old-fashioned slugfests.

The following telegram was received: PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 6.—Eddie "Kid" Wagner, local featherweight, outpointed Danny Kramer, of California in an 8-round bout here. Ad Stone, local light heavyweight outfought and outpunched young Bob Fitzsimmons, son of the former heavyweight champion in another 8-round battle on the same program.

England Loses Another Rackets Professional

NEW YORK, Nov. 6. — Followers of rackets and tennis in England are lamenting the loss of Charles Williams, professional at the Queen's Club, who has accepted an offer to come to America next May to become head professional at the Chicago Racket and Tennis Club. "As a rackets player Williams is facile princeps over here," says one English critic, "though in America Jack Soutar, of Philadelphia, also English by birth, defeated him last year."

'VARSITY AND PENN. DRAW.

TORONTO, Nov. 6.—'Varsity's intercollegiate champion soccer team and Pennsylvania State College, the smartest 11 in the Eastern States, played to a one-goal draw at the 'Varsity Stadium yesterday. The game was as close as the score with the American students having the better of the play in the first half, and the Toronto team were the better of the last. Only a small crowd witnessed the match, and the drizzling rain made the field slippery, which made it hard for the players.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6—Johnny Dundee, who has been training at Hot Springs, will resume his campaign to force Benny Leonard to defend his lightweight championship this winter, Jimmy Johnson, his manager, said today. Dundee, he said, would bet $25,000 that he could beat Leonard at 135 pounds.

How Things Look For Mr. Wills Now

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—(By Henry L. Farrell, United Press Staff Correspondent.—"Set the rest of them up and we will knock 'em over," Paddy Mullins, the squat, dumpy manager of Harry Wills, said today.

As stunt No. 2 in his belated campaign to force Jack Dempsey to accept his challenge, Wills knocked off Jack Thompson, one of the leading seventh raters over in Newark last night.

Thompson became what is known as a "technical" victim when his seconds tossed in the towel five seconds before the end of the fourth round.

"I suppose those who have been trying to keep Wills away from Dempsey will say that Harry looked bad and Thompson was only a ham," Mullins added.

They are saying that very thing.

The most flattering thing said about the colored challenger after he had landed on Thompson at least a hundred times without getting one back was that Wills didn't have brittle hands.

It had been reported that his "dukes were in bad shape.

"They didn't say anything about Firpo, when he was knocking over bums," Mullins continued.

Firpo was panned, however, for feasting on set-ups, but he was deaf and he got a bout with Dempsey and a pile of dough.

The pile of dough for the loser's end of a fight with Dempsey probably is more of a lure for the present crop of contenders than the title itself.

It has been suggested that Wills only wants the big loser's end of a championship fight and circumstantial evidence to be found in the retirement of Wills for a year from the ring makes it look at least plausible.

Leo Flynn, manager of Jack Renault, announced after Renault had knocked out Floyd Johnson that he was going to send the Canadian after Wills, Gibbons and Firpo.

Flynn wanted witnesses yesterday to go along with him and see him throw Renault's gloves at the feet of Wills.

Renault, according to Flynn, is going to keep in shape during the rest of the winter by hunting big game and set-ups, and in the spring he is going to make Firpo fight him.

Apparently Renault wants nothing to do with Wills or Gibbons and Firpo is way down in South America.

Floyd Johnson is going to spend the winter on a ranch in Oregon and will get back to business next summer.

Everyone who has golfed at Old St. Andrews is familiar with Hell Bunker. One day, as a party of players were journeying from Edinburgh to the little old grey town for a day's golf, they were seated in the railway carriage discussing their games of the previous week. The only other occupant of the carriage was a prim old lady, who, apparently, for something better to do, was listening to the conversation. "I found myself in Hell," said one, "and I had an awful time there."

An expression of genuine alarm overspread the countenance of the lady in the corner.

"I was there myself," remarked another of the party, "but I got out with a spoon."

After flashing a terrified look about her, the thoroughly scandalized passenger gathered up her parcels and hastily quitted the compartment at the next station.

A very stout and portly gentleman was once asked why he did not play golf, and this was the reason:

"I did try once, but I found that when I put the ball where I could see it I could not reach it; and when I put it where I could reach it, I could not see it."

PROFESSIONAL BILLIARD HONORS TO BE COMPETED FOR IN BUSINESS-LIKE MANNER

The following letter has been received from Toronto:

THE BILLIARD ASSOCIATION OF CANADA

The Sporting Editor, Montreal Star, Montreal, Que.

Sir.—Re Professional English Billiard Championship.

Noticing the challenge of Mr. E. Crossley in your issue of November 1, we think the attached may be of interest to you and your readers. The new association is dealing with the whole of Canada which is only just, we feel sure you will admit, as up to the present no attempt has been seriously made to put the championship on a sound basis, and give an opportunity for all players to compete for the title.

THE BILLIARD ASSOCIATION OF CANADA,
Kenneth C. Waters, Secretary.

A new organization has recently been inaugurated and incorporated under the title of "The Billiard Association of Canada." with the object of "upholding and upbuilding an unimpeachable moral standard in the operation of public billiard rooms," and "to adopt and enforce uniform conditions, governing amateur and professional matches." The following well-known gentlemen have consented to act as patrons: Commodore G. H. Gooderham, R.C. Y.C.; Fred Ratcliff, past president, Toronto Rotary; Major Sampson, Toronto; Judge Hawley S. Mott, Juvenile Court, Toronto; A. O. Hogg, president, Toronto Board of Trade.

The association is already arranging contests amongst the amateurs of Toronto and district, and has a Dominion wide scheme for a Professional English Billiard Championship with prizes amounting to over $3,000 in addition to a valuable trophy.

A Quick Lunch Review Of Standing Of Old Country Soccer Clubs

There is no first league team in the Old Country today whose record can compare with that of Glasgow Rangers. Either home or away they have not sustained a single defeat since the start of the season, and it is not over-estimating their work in the slightest when it is stated that but for the necessary birth qualification the whole Ibrox team could be trusted to uphold Scotland's colors in her International games. The real secret of their success is their unanimity of purpose, the all-one-body-me sort of stuff. The main strength of the team lies in their half back line. Muirhead, Merklejohn and Dixon are a powerful trio, who give little work for the men behind them to do.

Cardiff City's record is a splendid one, their single defeat being still fresh in our memory, and there is a curious belief among those who are setting foot in this country these days that just as Preston lowered the colors of the previously undefeated English league leaders so will Clydebunk rise to the occasion when they face the all conquering Rangers. Jimmy Hay has said that his boys stand a good chance of beating any team at Clydeholm, where, by the way, the contractors are hurrying on the erection of the new stand in preparation for the Rangers game.

It is a somewhat extraordinary fact that there should be no fewer than six drawn games in the First Division of the English League alone, and it would be difficult to say just which was the more meritorious Notts County's divide with Astor Villa, or Huddersfield's draw with Liverpool. The Welshmen have again resumed the lead, and will probably remain in that neighborhod for the remainder of the season, exchanging places on alternate Saturdays with the Yorkshire men.

For a goodly period now, I have been telling you to notice the progress of Derby County. They are occupants of the third bench meantime, but have two games in hand and there is evidence that both in defence and attack, they are superior to Stoke. This race for promotion beats all the Zev and Papyrus stuff. The tension is great meantime, but what will it be like round about Christmas and New Year?

REVIVAL OF RACING.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 6, — Horse racing came back to California, after an absence of twelve years and before a crowd of between 25,000 and 30,000 persons at Tanforan track. All Over, owned by Thomas F. Ryan, of New York, won the Inaugural Handicap for three-year-olds and over at a mile and a sixteenth in 1:45 4-5.

It was a "betless" race track, but this seemed to detract little from the enthusiasm.

M.A.A.A. And McGill Both Work Hard

M.A.A.A. rugby players had an off night at the grounds last night, but several of the players who wanted to get the stiffness out of their system went through a little workout. The team returned from Ottawa feeling pretty good, with another win credited to them. Only two victories went to the team this year, and both of them were taken at the expense of the Ottawa aggregation. Gardner is the only member of the team that suffered in Ottawa, but will be out for the exhibition game between McGill and Montreal.

The game in Ottawa was a toe-to-toe affair from beginning to end, and the teams had to extend themselves to the uttermost. Joe Glickman turned the trick by jumping on a loose ball after Harding had fumbled it. Joe raced over the line and placed the ball behind the bars. Dink Carroll, however, was unsuccessful in converting it, but the team was able to hold their own until the final whistle was blown. "Pean" Bennett, as per usual, put up a stellar game and had the Ottawa halves worried stiff when he tackled them. Bennett was here, there and everywhere at the same time, and he tied Harding and Connell up in a knot.

Montreal has an off day here this week-end, but they will clash with the McGill team on Thanksgiving Day for the city championship. There has been some talk of using the foreward pass in the game, but it has met with disapproval from all sides. The management of both squads will decide today what is to be done. It is doubtful, however if the American rules will be used. McGill are preparing for a big game this Saturday when they journey to Toronto to meet the fast 'Varsity squad, and they do not want to spend too much time on teaching their players the American rules.

The Montreal squad will be given a brisk workout tonight, and one tomorrow. There is considerable feeling amongst the two teams and the fans are promised plenty of excitement.

ANNUAL MEETING ST. EUSTACHE BOATING CLUB

The annual meeting of the St. Eustache Boating Club was held last night in the Board Room of the Central Y.M.C.A., Drummond street, and there was a large attendance. The principal business being the election of the Board of Directors for the ensuing year, the voting for which took up considerable time resulted as follows: A. A. Boire, president; M. E. Morrison, vice-president; A. C. Whiting, sec.-treas.; T. O'Rourke, Jr., J. L. McLaughlin, W. G. McCutcheon, J. Belisle, directors; A. S. Riva and H. G. Potter, auditors. The retiring president, H. Milburn was tendered a vote of thanks for his services to the club during the past two years, and he in turn thanked the members for their support. A. A. Boire also spoke and the usual vote of thanks to the ladies for their support during the past summer was unanimously adopted.

"Witty" Warren About Again as Usual

The many friends of "Witty" Warren, will be glad to know that after recuperating in the Mountains, he is able to be about again, looking healthier and stronger than ever after his operation.

McGILL EXPECTS TIE WITH VARSITY FOR SECOND PLACE

The rain which chose the latter part of yesterday afternoon to fall, made certain the fact that there would be no practise for the McGill footballers till today. With the exception of Cope there were no serious casualties suffered, and although there are one or two of the players limping around, notably among them Wilson, who wrenched his knee, it is not thought that there will be any prevented from answering the summons of their coach when the time to don uniforms this afternoon comes around.

As a result of their victory over the Tigers the men are all in high spirits and are confident that they will be in second place, along with 'Varsity, after their game with the latter next Saturday. Queens have, of course, the championship cinched, but should the red and white players defeat 'Varsity in Toronto when they meet these last mentioned universities will be tied with three losses and one victory apiece. In addition to the meeting with their rivals in Toronto, McGill is scheduled to line up against the M.A.A.A. at the Percival Molson Memorial Stadium on Thanksgiving Day. In connection with this latter match, rumors are current to the effect that the game may be played under American rules for a portion of the time at least, and that the forward pass will be instituted in order to give the attendance an idea of its working. Whether or not Coach Shaughnessy's men, in view of the fact that they will be compelled to practise all this week under purely Canadian rules in an effort to down 'Varsity will view with favour the proposition, is not assured, but it is, nevertheless, probable that they will cede to the demands of the officials if the forward pass be the wish of the latter.

MERELY EXHIBITION.

The game will be merely an exhibition contest, as both aggregations will have completed their list of regular games by that time. However, it will involve the disposition of the city championship, which is a matter that is creating so e considerable interest, especially among the followers of fortunes of the two teams.

There are only two days of practise left to the red and white representatives after today, as they are due to leave for the Queen City on Thursday evening, in order to afford them an opportunity of working out on the 'Varsity gridiron prior to the game.

M.A.A.A. RUGBY PLAYERS TO MEET AT GROUNDS AT 6 P.M.

The M.A.A.A. rugby players are asked to attend a meeting at the Westmount Grounds this afternoon at six o'clock preparatory to practice for the game with McGill on Thanksgiving day.

Coaches Nicholson of M. A. A. A. and Shaughnessy of McGill will confer today upon the details of the game.

Dr. Knight Elected Head Cornwall Hockey Team

CORNWALL, Ont., Nov. 6.— (Star Special). — The Cornwall Intermediate O.H.A. team held its annual meeting at the King George Hotel last night. The attendance was the largest since Cornwall entered a team in the O.H.A. and the greatest enthusiasm prevailed throughout. R. F. Kellock, president, occupied the chair and a gave a resume of last season. The report of the treasurer, W. B. Newton, showed that the club had gone through last season with a balance on the right side. The club is in a fine position for the coming winter, and should travel well up into the intermediate finals, having a lot of good players to choose from. The officers chosen are as follows:

Hon. presidents — J. C. Milligan, M.P.P.; J. Wilfred Kennedy, M.P.; and Major S. M. Gray. Hon. vice-presidents: E. Howard Smith, W. D. Leroux, Arthur Chevrier and W. L. Macfarlane. President, Dr. W. Jack Turton to Live in Hollywood

Jack Turton, all-round sportsman, will be missed from the curling rinks this winter having made up his mind to go and live in California and of all place in Hollywood, which has created no end of good-naturad banter amongst his host of friends.

The curlers will miss him most because curling has always been the sport he has been most interested in.

His ever-ready flow of repartee and funny stories and recitations, and the wholesouled manner in which he throws himself in any organizing work or entertainment he is asked to assist made him a much desired member of the fraternity, with the Thistle rink as his headquarters.

He was one of the Directors of the Committee in charge of the Canadian trip to Scotland in 1921 in which he participated, and in charge of the entertainment of the Scottish team when it paid a visit to Montreal the following year.

J. C. Hornung New Owner of Papyrus Now

LONDON, Nov. 6.—(United Press.)— J. P. Hornung, a millionaire sugar merchant, is the buyer of Papyrus, Great Britain's three-year-old champion racehorse, according to the Evening News, which adds that Papyrus will race only one year more under the colors of his new master.

Ben Irish, the gentleman farmer who bought Papyrus for a small price as a yearling and was rewarded by worldwide fame and a fortune in purses and winnings, declined to announce the name of the purchaser at the time of the sale.

Hornung is no new-comer to the racing game. Basil Jarvis, trainer of Papyrus, has conditioned several of his horses, and therefore is likely to continue in close association with the champion that he escorted to the United States, where Papyrus was defeated by Zev.

It is understood that Papyrus will compete in several classics in 1924 and will be retired to the stud thereafter.

URGES REVISION OF SCHOONER RACE RULES

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—(By Canadian Press.)—A straight revision of the rules under which the races for the fisherman's international trophy are sailed appears to be imperative in the opinion of the Herald which discusses editorially "the fiasco of 1923."

"Skippers and crews will have to live up to the rules if the annual series is to be continued," the Herald says adding:

"Yet, for the men who sailed the Bluenose, Columbia and Henry Ford in the last two series it might be argued that such a revision of the rules and agreement to abide by them would be of little use if in the course of the sailing of a series of races the committee made a new rule, as this year, about the passing of a bouy or apparently changed its mind as to when a race was a race as in 1922.

"If the trophy contests for the fishermen are to be continued the committee will have to take itself in hand as well as the actual crews of the contender, for this year it answered a protest lodged against the Bluenose by the Columbia after the finish of the race of October 29 not by a decision on that protest but by issuing a new rule about passing marks on the seaward side. The first foul by the Bluenose was against an established rule and should have brought a judgment from the committee."

Halifax Wanderers Enjoyed Themselves

HALIFAX, N.S., Nov. 6.—"We were given a wonderful time which we will remember for years," said Captain Ritchie McCoy of the Wanderers on the arrival of part of team back from Montreal, in speaking of the reception given the Halifax men by the Montreal English rugby team and friends.

"They couldn't do enough for us," said another of the party.

LADIES' NEW WATER POLO LEAGUE STARTED AT Y.W.C.A. SWIM GALA

A crowded house witnessed the aquatic gala at the Y. W. C. A., Dorchester street natatorium last night. A program of about twenty events was run off without a hitch and the meet as a whole was a credit to the young ladies who had arranged all the many details. The talented mermaids of the city are making rapid strides in aquatics sports and this meet was far ahead of anything seen here for a long time. The relay race was the feature of the night and was won only by inches by the "Y" girls who were pressed all the way. Miss Agnes Brownlee gave a demonstration of fancy and trick swimming that for neatness and execution was far above the general run of exhibitions of this kind. The polo match between the Montreal Ladies' Swimming Club and the M. A. A. A. girls, was the first fixture of the new ladies' water polo league and was won by the Montreal ladies team who were better trained in handling the ball with one hand.

SCORED THREE GOALS.

Miss Gledhill scored the three goals for the M. L. S. C. team and Miss Gertrude Gallery tallied the one for M. A. A. A., and likewise proved herself the star on her team. Miss Gallery was the winner in the city diving championship and was presented with a handsome cup which was donated by Harold E. Smith, of the M. A. A. A. The conditions of this contest are that Miss Gallery must win this event one more year to keep the silverware. Miss Beth Doyle won the highest aggregate of points at the meet and this fair young lady should soon be in the front ranks in some one of the Dominion meets in the near future. The following Royal Life Saving Society awards were presented at the conclusion of the program: Diploma, Miss Grace Newmark, Miss Eva Benwell. Awards of Merit, The Misses Clara R. Aikenhead, May Gledhill, Elsie Ethel Haslam, Iris V. McKyes. Bronze Medallion, Misses Anna M. England, Margaret Carthaus. Proficiency Certificates, Misses Margaret Carthaus, Anna M. England.

SORRY FOR EFFECT, NOT FOR ACT, SAYS WALTERS

HALIFAX, N.S., Nov. 6.—C. F. Bond, Halifax business man, made a statement to the press last night to the effect that Captain Angus Walters did not, as understood, retute the statement credited to him, which expressed regret over the effects of his action in refusing to race his vessel in a third race with the Gloucester Columbia on Saturday. Mr. Bond had been in telephone conversation with Captain Walters yesterday and he said the Bluenose captain "does not refute the statement credited to him as published, but he does take exception to the manner in which it was published with misleading headlines stating 'Captain Walters is Sorry.' Sorry for what? Sorry, sincerely sorry, for the effect his action had."

Mr. Bond's statement went on to say: "The following is an extract from a letter which I sent to Captain Walters today:

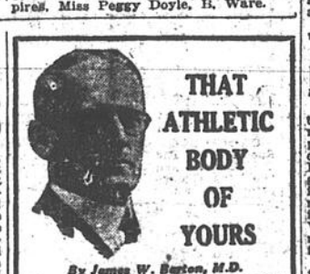
"Captain Walters, I congratulate you that you were man enough to stand by the statement as published in the papers. In doing so you have proved that you are the reverse of your own statement; 'I am a fisherman, not a sportsman.' All the world loves a courageous man ,and in saying what you have, I submit, you have redeemed the effect of your action and proved to the world that you are a sportsman, as all Lunenburgers and Nova Scotians know you are a good fisherman and a skipper."

DINNER AND ELECTIONS WETSMOUNT BOWLERS

The twenty-second annual meeting of the Westmount Lawn Bowling Club was held recently at the Montreal Curling Club. Dinner was served to over one hundred members and friends. The feature of the evening was several fine speeches and songs, thus closing a most successful season of the club, and a very enjoyable evening.

The following officers were unanimously elected for the season, 1924.—President, F. G. Mingay; vice-president, W. H. Moore; treasurer, H. D. Loucks; secretary, J. G. Swaiwell.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded the Montreal Curling Club, for the use of their clubrooms.



THAT ATHLETIC BODY OF YOURS

By James W. Barton, M.D.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.)

DO YOU DREAM MUCH?

Do you dream that you are in the midst of an exciting drama? The train is rushing toward the crossing and you are going to attempt to get by in your car before it arrives there.

Or, are you in a street encounter and about to attack someone who has insulted you? Perhaps you are about to be attacked for a similar, or even different reason.

Or, is it an open field with an enraged bull at your heels?

Maybe it is none of the above, but you are in front of an audience of a thousand or even one, and you are pouring forth your words from the very depths of your being.

Or, you may be the audience and you have been stirred as never before in your life.

You wake up and find—what?

That your heart is pounding, your forehead is wet with perspiration, and you are trembling like a leaf in the wind.

Now what about it?

I'm not going to go into a discussion of the theory of dreams. Some of the best nerve specialists have written volumes upon the significance of dreams.

Some of their ideas seem reasonable enough, but for the most part, the medical profession is still waiting to be shown.

But from the standpoint of that body of yours, what do dreams mean? Simply that if your brain is going to be actively engaged, that your entire body will not get the relaxation necessary to health.

I know that these dreams take but a short time as minutes go, but the effect is there just the same.

So if you find that you seem to need more sleep than other members of the family, take an account of the number and extent of your dreams. Try and prevent them.

How?

By not eating or drinking before you retire. By trying to lie on either side instead of on the back. By rising when you wake in the morning, even if it be a half-hour earlier than your usual hour.

Remember, a dreamless sleep is a restful sleep.

A dreamful sleep often takes a lot out of you.

Another Easy Victory For Youngster, Sarazen

PIMLICO, Nov. 6.—Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt's jr., two-year-old champion Sarazen won the second weight-for-age Pimlico serial here yesterday, and won it just as he had his nine other consecutive victories, in a romp. He outran the Nevada Stock Farm's General Thatcher and J. S. Cosden's added starter, Blazes, from the start, and finished a length and a half in front under restraint.

The veteran Callahan had the leg up on Sarazen, and he allowed the gelding to dash a length and a quarter lead before he took him in hand. Thereafter he rated him along ahead of the pace set by Blazes and was never in danger. Rounding the turn out of the back stretch General Thatcher moved up on the leader. Blazes quit in the face of General Thatcher's challenge.

Sarazen ran the mile in 1:40 on a track which was little better than slow and added $3,500 to his season's winnings.

Brockville Vs. Grand Trunk Championship

Brockville Rugby Club, winners of the western section of the O.R.F.U., will play the Grand Trunk Rugby Club, winners of the eastern section, in the first home and home games on Saturday next, on Alexandra Park, the home of the Grand Trunk club.

To all those who follow the national game of the British Isles (soccer), the Alexandra Park is well known, as many championship games have been decided on this field; but many lovers of Canadian rugby will witness for the first time a championship game there.

The Brockville team is coming to Montreal with a great reputation of having gone through their section with but one defeat. They are a heavy team, but have lots of speed. And one of the most interesting games that have been played this year is being looked forward to. The town of Brockville is well-known to football lovers, and have always had a hard team to beat.

DOINGS IN LOCAL SCHOOL RUGBY

Strathcona Juniors provided one of the outstanding surprises of the present rugby season when they held the champion Montreal High team to a 15-all draw yesterday afternoon at Notre Dame de Grace. High were lucky to get away with a draw, for it was only in the last seconds of play that they managed to tie it up. Beaten 52 to 1 in their previous meeting the Navy and White cadets back with unexpected determination and ripped into the High line for yards 21 times.

The game was a thriller from gong to gong, with the greatest thrill of all coming in the last minute of play. Strathcona kicked off, and within three minutes High had scored a touch. It looked like another walk-away. But the Northsiders tightened up and forced the play. Tucker, Laurie and Lennon plunged for yards frequently; and at half-time both Tucker and Laurie had scored trys, giving their team a 10-5 lead.

High scored five more points in the third, and the teams entered the final on even terms. Two long runs through broken fields by Laurie and more line plunging by the Strathcona backs, sent the ball over the High line again. There were but two minutes to go and it appeared as if High would be beaten. With but a few seconds remaining to play, High were given the ball at centre. The timekeepers agreed to call the game after the next play, but on play proved enough. In the gloom it was difficult to distinguish the players. Cameron was given the ball and he slipped round the end. He shook off half a dozen tacklers, then broke through to an open field for the line. The try was not converted, leaving the teams deadlocked at 15 points each.

Findley Laurie put up about the best exhibition of football seen in the junior series this year. He was ably seconded by Tucker. This is the first year at the game for both these boys. For High, Slapback and Cameron starred, the former getting one try, and the latter two. The teams:

Strathcona.		High.
Tucker	fly, wing	Hollingsw'th
Orr	half	Slapback

SYRACUSE HEAD PICKED OUT SITE— TALKED 'FORM' RUMOR

Enthusiastic about everything in Montreal from a baseball point of view, except as regards a central site for a ball park, Phil. Bartelme, president of the Syracuse Baseball Club of the International League, who is here at the present time with the idea of looking over the situation, and eventually switching his franchise to this city, awaits the arrival late tonight of Stan Breaden, president, and Branch Rickey, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, of the National League, before reaching any kind of a decision about his future move.

Mr. Bartelme has a half interest in the Syracuse club, the other half belonging to the St. Louis president.

The Syracuse president in discussing his plans with The Star this morning, admitted that the grounds were the only difficulty to overcome. "I like Montreal," he said, "and believe that it is one of the best baseball prospects on the continent at the present time."

He stated that there was just one place that he fancied, but what this was he was unwilling to announce. Some decision may be reached by tomorrow evening, although this is not likely. Mr. Bartelme believing that both he and Mr. Breaden would like some more time to think things over. The old Mascot ground, corner of Ontario and Delorimier, was mentioned, but there seems to be some hitch about its ownership, which would make it almost out of the question.

With regard to an opinion voiced locally that the club, should it materialize here, would be nothing more than a "farm" for the St. Louis Cards, it was pointed out that at the present time with the new draft regulations, major league clubs can no longer draft from the International League, and the latter body cannot buy players from the majors.

CAN SELL PLAYERS.

Straight sales are in order from international to majors, but the Syracuse man says he is not prepared to sell good players during the playing season. Another argument he brought forward to show that this opinion was false, had to do with young players, whom he said he had been in the habit of scouting for the Syracuse team. He said that it was his policy to look around for promising men who would not necessarily be expected to come up to big league standards, but rather to good Class A.A. ball players; and "there is a big gap between these two classes," he added with a smile. He said that Syracuse had perhaps the largest squad on its roster of any international league club at the start of the season, and they could not hope to sell any of these to the major teams.

President Joe Page, of the Eastern Canada Baseball League, which controls this territory, Frank Shaughnessy, manager of Syracuse, and Jean Dubuc, assistant to Shaughnessy in the baseball season, and former "big league" twirler, were with Mr. Bartelme this morning and spent the morning talking things over.

All seem to be of the opinion that the matter is very close to becoming a realisation. Bartelme naturally will not commit himself before he confers with Breaden and Rickey, but from the way he spoke he is up to the present time favorably impressed with the prospects.

Mr. Bartelme is of French descent, his grandfather having come straight from France to the United States. For some years he was graduate athletic director of Michigan University, and was the first man to discover Branch Rickey, who has turned out to be one of the brainiest baseball managers of the day.

NEW Y.M.H.A. GYM IS A BOON TO MEMBERS

There is great activity in the new Young Men's Hebrew Athletic Association gymnasium.

Everyone wants to try out the floor and the apparatus, and it is expected that not only will it increase the activity of the members but increase the membership.

For purposes the Association now has a proper place to run off basketball championships and similar important events.

The new gym. is of brick and steel, and is 68 feet long and 61 feet wide in side. The basketball court is 63 x 85 feet. Collapsible bleachers at the sides will provide a seating capacity for about 850 people. When used for dancing, about 250 couples can be comfortably accommodated. As an auditorium, it can seat 800 people. It is well lighted and has an efficient heating and ventilating system. C. Davis Goodman, Architect, had complete charge of the erection of the building.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6. — Carl Duane, New York featherweight, won a 12-round decision from Frankie Conway.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 6.—Harry Greb, world's middleweight champion, won the popular decision from Soldier Jones, Canadian light-heavyweight, in a ten-round bout. Jones floored Greb twice in the first round for counts of eight and four.

STRANGE EFFECT OF RUGBY INJURIES

WOOSTER, Ohio., Nov. 6.—Students of Wooster College tell a good story on Willie Flattery, star tackle of the Wooster football squad, who, during a scrimmage in an Ohio conference game at Cincinnati last Saturday, landed on his head, receiving an injury which temporarily disturbed him mentally.

When the teams lined up for the next play, Quarterback Swigart, of Wooster, called the signals and Flattery announced loud enough for all the players on both teams to hear, "that play goes through here"—and it did. As they lined up again and the signals were given, Flattery called out: "That goes around the end." Swigart, hearing him, checked and called another play.

"I know that one, too," the big tackle announced, "it goes around the other end."

Time was called and Flattery was led to the side lines until the effects of the bump wore off when he went back into the lineup and played a great game.

LIDDELL QUITS RUGBY.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—E. H. Liddell, of Edinburgh University, whose new record for the 100-yard dash was recently accepted by the Amateur Athletic Association of England, has decided not to play rugby football this season, but will devote his leisure to training and keeping fit for the Olympic games at Paris next year.

Tom Trihey, of Hockey Fame, Branches Out

Thomas Trihey, who comes from a sporting family, and who has for the last three years been connected with the Canada Steamship Lines in the capacity of Asst. to Superintendent of Passenger Steamers, severed his connection with the Company on Saturday to commence a business on his own account. The name of Trihey has been linked with the sporting fraternity of Montreal for many years, especially in hockey circles, his uncle Harry Trihey, now a lawyer, being one of the famous Shamrock players in the earlier days when the game was played for its love only. Thomas Trihey has been secretary of the Montreal City Amateur League, and vice president and manager of the Irish Canadian Hockey Club, as well as being connected with the Eastern Canada Hockey League. He leaves the Canada Steamship Lines with the best wishes in his new sphere of life. It is understood that he has entered into the sporting goods line.

C.P.R. LADIES ALSO HAVE A BOWLING LEAGUE

The Ladies' Bowling League of the Canadian Pacific Recreation Club, has organized for the second year of its existence. At a meeting held in the company's offices, with Mr. Arthur Lizard in the chair, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bell were elected Hon Presidents, and Miss A. Graydon secretary. The league will consist of twelve teams, and it is anticipated that 100 members will turn out for play, which commences at the Roma Alleys on the 29th, and will continue every Monday night throughout the season. Suitable trophies will be awarded, and it is hoped that a challenge trophy may also be instituted. Profiting by their experience of last year, the ladies hope to be able to give the teams of other institutions a run for their money and will be glad to consider challenges.

Board of New Ottawa River Power Company

The Ottawa River Company, Limited, which is to carry out a big development at Bryson, Que., will be a subsidiary of the Ottawa and Hull Power Company, Limited. The board of directors of the new company will include J. B. Fraser, Ottawa; A. J. Nesbitt, Montreal; Hon. Geo. Bryson, Fort Coulonge; Rt. Hon. Sir Robert Borden; E. R. Bremner, of W. C. Edwards & Co., Ottawa; D. McLachlan, Arnprior; P. A. Thomson, Montreal; W. H. Dwyer, of W. H. Dwyer & Co., Ottawa; J. B. Woodyatt, Vice-President, Southern Canada Power Co., Montreal.

It is understood here that A. J. Nesbitt, of Montreal, who is President of the Ottawa and Hull Power Company, will also be president of the Ottawa River Power Company.

The engineers' plans call for the development of the water power at Bryson under a sixty-one foot head and the ultimate capacity of the plant will be from 60,000 to 75,000 horse power.

An indication of the demand there is for power in this territory is given by the announcement that the Ottawa River Power Company has already negotiations on for the sale of a couple of large blocks of power, and when these go through it will take up the entire capacity of the first unit of 25,000 horse power.

Inquiry Opened Into Cotton Future Trading

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 — (United Press).—Future trading in cotton was today brought under investigation by the Federal Trade Commission in compliance with a resolution adopted by the Senate last winter.

Representatives of the Cotton Exchanges of New York, New Orleans and other cotton trading centres, cotton associations and farm labor organizations were present at the request of a commission as hearings in the inquiry opened. They were to be asked to testify as to future trading practices, market manipulation and related questions.

Senator Smith, of South Carolina, is the author of the resolution which brought about the present investigation. Smith pressed his resolution to passage last winter after the commission reported to Congress that most of the ills affecting the cotton industry were due to trading in cotton futures.

BARCELONA'S SHARP ADVANCE

TORONTO, Nov. 6.—(Star Special.)—The quiet but sharp advance in Barcelona in the past week has passed by almost unnoticed. The stock, however, has moved up from 13¼ to 18 on foreign orders. It is understood that this indicates that the Loewenstein re-organization plan has been virtually completed and that as a result the Company's funded debt will be cut almost in half and placed in a position where it can be handled. This will permit further expansion which, coupled with the absorption of its chief competitor in the past year, places Barcelona in a position to attract the attention of continental buyers.

MAKE WORK OF STOCK EXCHANGE BETTER KNOWN

It is understood that at various times the Montreal Stock Exchange has contemplated adopting some measures to make better known the real functions of the organization and clear away misapprehensions which have arisen regarding operations which are carried on by members. For some reason this has not been done and it is felt by some associated with the local market that it should be done. The following account of what has been done in New York along those lines will in consequence be of interest here at this time, more particularly as a new organization is in the making which may in future have a vital influence in market matters.

To promote a clearer understanding of its methods and problems by members of its own organization coming in personal contact with the public throughout the country, the New York Stock Exchange this year held a conference of out-of-town members and branch managers. The conference included a visit to the floor, where the method of executing orders was shown, and talks by the president and other officials on such topics as "specialists" and "odd lots." It is expected that this will become an annual feature.

This move to equip office men to answer accurately the many questions constantly being raised by their customers is only a part of a broad educational campaign being carried on by the Exchange. Recently the Stock Exchange authorities arranged for the picturization of a normal day's business on the floor. Combined with other scenes of every-day Wall Street, the film will be shown throughout the country.

President Cromwell has made numerous speeches in the last several months, taking as his subject the problems of the Exchange in maintaining the integrity of a free and open primary securities market. His speeches have had a country-wide circulation through the press. A director of publicity makes speaking trips, appearing before conventions, business and civic organizations, and colleges classes. These talks are all by invitation.

Attention is given to the growing mind, and to the education of educators. A text and reference book on organized markets, "The Work of the Stock Exchange," by J. Edward Meeker, economist of the New York Stock Exchange, is widely used by classes in economics. Invitations are extended to all educational institutions to have their faculties and classes visit the Exchange. It is almost a daily sight to see visiting parties of teachers and students. They are shown over the building, witness trading from the galleries, and are given a talk on the Exchange's functions by the director of publicity.

These visits to the Exchange have become a feature in the programs of many conventions held in New York, and are always popular. They play a very important part in the Exchange's educational campaign. As a member once remarked: "It is a significant fact that in every instance where an individual has attacked the Exchange, he has never been within its precincts."

B.C. IS PLEASED WITH MINING PROMINENCE

VANCOUVER, B.C., Nov. 6—(Star Special).—Great satisfaction is expressed in official circles here over the publicity British Columbia is receiving in connection with the rich mineral resources of the Province. It has been particularly gratifying to the Department of Mines to see their efforts to assist development meeting with such favorable results, particularly with reference to the Portland Canal district, where rich deposits of gold and silver were confidently believed to occur long before their existence was actually proven. After many years of patient waiting the necessary development is taking place, and the results are fully up to the most sanguine expectations to the Dominion and Provincial geologists, who have made exhaustive examinations of the district in question.

While British and American capitalists have evinced a lively interest in this district of late, no feature of the development has given more satisfaction to the Department of Mines than to see Canadians sharing prominently in the opening up of properties in the neighborhood of the Premier Mines, the richness of which did so much to attract the attention to British Columbia.

The listing of the shares of Indian Mines on the Montreal and Toronto markets aroused much interest here, and the market is attracting a good deal of attention, as there are many shareholders of this company scattered throughout the Province. It is hoped that other Canadian groups of capitalists will be encouraged by the success of those already interested, and continue to look for profitable mines.

Little doubt is entertained from the results of the development work so far carried out that the Indian is a big mine in the making and some mining engineers go so far as to predict that it may in time rival even the riches of the famous Premier.

Blue Quartz Gold Has Encountered Big Vein

MATHESON, Nov. 6.—(Star Special.)—A big vein has been encountered at the 500-ft. level of the Blue Quartz Gold Mines, and the outlook is that a big tonnage of commercial ore lies at this horizon. The deposit shows a width of between seven and eight feet, with assays from the top, middle and bottom of the working face showing a gold content of $8, $10 and $12 a ton, respectively.

This average of $10 a ton compares almost identically with the general average recovery per ton from ore being treated at the leading gold mines of Northern Ontario. Added to this, are high-grade ore shoots in other parts of the mine and with work proceeding at the 500-ft. level with a view toward developing the downward continuation of these ore shoots.

General Electric's New Preferred Sold

TORONTO, Nov. 6.—(Star Special.)—Strength in General Electric is apparently due to the market which is being made on the curb in the new $50, par seven per cent preferred on an "if, as and when issued" basis. This stock has been carried up a fractional premium.

Those bullish on the stock point out that this new issue is virtually under an American General Electric guarantee if the deal is completed, as its dividends must be met before the buyer can get any return on the common stock. With the new preferred at $50, the existing stock shows a value of around 113, Canadian funds, on the merger basis.

Whether or not the stock will stand up at par when free trading begins remains to be seen. One broker expresses the belief that the old stock is not being deposited so speedily as was anticipated.

COPPER FEATURE OF ROUYN IS IMPORTANT

VILLE MARIE, Nov. 6.—(Star Special.)—A leading nickel-copper mining engineer who has made a visit to the Rouyn gold area has made the statement to the representative of The Star that it is now pretty certain that the Horne property is a "sure" mine. This authority declares that it is now only a question of how big the deposit will prove to be.

A diamond drill core showing a copper content of seven per cent, plus gold values of about $6 a ton is regarded as being of extremely big importance, especially as this metal content occurs across a width of about seventy feet.

The indications are that the Rouyn mining field will differ considerably from any other in Canada, for the reason that commercial gold ore deposits occur in close proximity to deposits of copper.

Property owners are predicting the erecting of big smelters in the district and the establishment of an important industrial community. Very few mining fields come into existence with such assurance of success as is made manifest in the Rouyn district of north-western Quebec.

N. Y. MARKET CLOSED.

Owing to this being election day in the State of New York there was no session of the New York Stock Exchange.

Topics of the Street

With Wall Street closed today on account of the State elections in New York, the local market was somewhat quieter without the usual influence of the larger market.

The most striking price change was in Howard Smith Paper common, which rallied 2½ pts. to 65. This rebound is regarded as natural following the release of selling pressure on a stock which has a narrower market than the bulk of the paper group.

The advance in General Electric continued today to 112 in the early trading, and this is taken to confirm the view expressed at the time the terms of the deal were published that under the circumstances the stock ought to work higher. This is particularly the case as it is believed the new preferred ought to sell at a premium, as it will have the practical guarantee of the American Company behind it.

After yesterday's display of weakness in Asbestos common the market for that company's securities was watched with special interest today.

Up to midday there were no transactions in the common, with the offering price remaining at 38, the same as yesterday's close. While there was apparently no pressure to liquidate there was equally a lack of inquiry, and no bids came out on the tape up to noon. The best bid at the close yesterday was 30. The preferred sold off two points to 68.

Considering the strong position of the company, apart from its current earning capacity, the action of the common is getting perilously close to discounting the discontinuance of the reduced 4 per cent. rate. On the other hand, it is urged that the asbestos situation has moved to the stage where something is likely to be done before long to better market conditions.

The market value of twenty industrial stocks used in Dow, Jones and Company's averages, exclusive of a decline in Texas Company, advanced $103,324,130 in the aggregate in the last four trading days of last week.

Texas Company was the only one of twenty industrial stocks used in the Dow Jones averages that did not advance between Wednesday's opening and the close on Saturday. This was due to the special consideration of possibility of dividend reduction or financing.

However, other industrials in the averages, as well as practically the entire list, were lifted substantially in value following Steel Corporation's splendid earnings statement for the third quarter and the extra dividend. Steel common, as the result of the advance, appreciated $34,945,797 in value in the four day period, the largest gain of any of the twenty stocks. General Electric was second in size, with an appreciation of $20,690,651. American Telephone, seldom a speculative favorite, gained one eighth of a point, retarded undoubted by the new $100,000,000 debenture issue.

After reciting facts and figures to show the remarkable growth of the mining industry in recent years in Canada, and in Northern Ontario particularly, the November letter of The Royal Bank of Canada sees in this development a future force of economic unity for Canada. In the past, East and West have been economically divided by the barren district stretching south of Hudson's Bay for some distance, and east and west for a much greater distance. This area has heretofore presented serious problems in transportation and distribution of goods. Its gradual utilization and settlement may have far-reaching significance in the future development of the country. In addition to this, the recent developments emphasize the tremendous future possibilities of the mining industry in Northern Ontario and Quebec from a purely industrial viewpoint.

During the past generation the output of Canadian mines has risen from $10,000,000 to approximately $220,000,000. The first six months of the present year show an increase of 44 per cent. over the corresponding period of last year. The most notable expansion, however, has taken place in the mining of gold and silver. Until recently the shortage of power was a serious handicap to the production of gold, but this problem has now been solved.

Business improvement in various parts of Canada shows a marked degree of diversity, corresponding with the rather striking variation which existed this year in the yield and quality of the field crops in different sections of the Dominion, says the November letter of The Royal Bank of Canada. A review of business conditions from coast to coast follows, in which the outstanding points are as follows:

On the Pacific Coast the satisfactory improvement which business has shown may be regarded as seasonal rather than fundamental. A number of logging camps have resumed operations. Lumber prices have shown a slight increase. Considerable building activity exists, farm crops are uniformly good, though prices are still unsatisfactory, and improvement is reported in the fish market, especially in salmon.

In Alberta and Western Saskatchewan, business has improved very materially as a consequence of the unusually bountiful harvest, which is better even than reports of a month ago indicated. In Eastern Saskatchewan and Manitoba the disappointing crop returns are reflected in the quietness which exists in practically all lines of wholesale and retail business. Flour mills, however, are operating at full capacity.

In Ontario satisfactory activity in most industries has been stimulated by the marketing of the crops. The automobile trade is well occupied with export business; pulp and paper mills are operating almost to capacity; there has been some improvement in the milling industry; and marked activity exists in mining.

In Quebec, mining and manufacturing industries are generally quite active, although there does not seem to be any improvement in demand for manufactured goods. On the whole crop returns are gratifying. In the Maritime Provinces, agricultural conditions have improved somewhat, and a gradual improvement in the manufacturing industries is anticipated.

RUSSIAN GRAIN IN COMPETITION WITH CANADIAN

LONDON, Nov. 6.—(Star Cable by Staff Correspondent)—The Russo-British Grain Export Company, Limited, has been incorporated as a private company, to transact business in the importation of grain, and to act as agents, grain brokers and dealer in grain.

The board includes A. Kiratcovski, N. Junakoff, A. Kissin, E. F. Wise, A. W. Golightly, J. Hawkins, F. Kahl, A. E. Lawrence.

The capital of the company will be £100,000 in one pound shares.

Canadian grain interests both on the producing and exporting side will be intensely interested in the developments connected with the formation and operations of the newly announced Russo-British grain handling corporation.

It is confirmed that a great Anglo-Russian combination including sellers, buyers and exporters of wheat with a subsidiary branch which is to utilize profits in the purchasing in Western Europe of all kinds of goods, manufactured and other classes, has been completed.

That this is not one of the class of schemes which have, so often made their initial bow only to disappear after the promoters met with the usual initial obstructions is proven by the composition of the body. On the Russian side it includes the one great and powerful trading body of Russia, the Russian Co-operative Union, with which even the present Russian government has seldom interfered, the State Grain Export Company, the official Soviet agency which alone has officially the right to trade with foreign countries, and the Arco Russian Buying and Selling Agency, the latter having its offices in the Kingsway district in London. The first two named, it is presumed will handle the grain business and the latter the purchasing of goods and materials required by Russia.

On the British side the membership includes The Co-Operative Wholesale Society, two great grain importing firms, Shipton, Anderson and Company and A. E. Lawrence and Company, and shipping will be represented by Furness Withy and Company, the well known maritime firm.

The corporation it is stated will have British incorporation of the nominal value of one hundred thousand sterling, and it is claimed that an important section of the "Big Five" banking interests is prepared to finance the new combination up to one million sterling. This financing will be utilized for the warehousing of grain, its transportation and marketing in Britain, Italy, France and Southern Europe and similar business.

London financial circles consider this the most important development in Anglo-Russian matters since the signing of the Anglo-Russian Trade Agreement.

At the present time, however, the Export Trades Act does not apply to Russia and British credit cannot therefore be extended to business connection there, but the City believes that there will not be much difficulty in persuading Rt. Hon. Mr. Lloyd-Greame, President of the Board of Trade, to extend the privileges of Act to the new corporation.

It is even predicted that should the new concern show a reasonable degree of success it would not be long before the Stock Exchange would resume quotations on Russian currency.

ISSUE OVER-SUBSCRIBED

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Applications for $100,000,000 American Telephone and Telegraph 5½ per cent 20-year debentures are understood to have been received in excess of the offering. The allotments are expected to be scaled down.

Molsons Bank Held 68th Annual Meeting

At the 68th annual meeting of shareholders of The Molsons Bank, which was held at the head office yesterday afternoon, the board of directors was re-elected as follows: Wm. M. Birks, W. A. Black, A. O. Dawson, Wm. Molson Macpherson, F. W. Molson, J. M. McIntyre, and John W. Ross. At a subsequent meeting of the directors, Wm. Molson Macpherson was re-elected honorary president; F. W. Molson, president, and W. A. Black, vice-president, for the ensuing year.

The annual report and balance sheet for the year ending September 29, 1923, which were reviewed in The Star some time ago, were presented and adopted. In his address to the shareholders, a verbatim report of which appeared in yesterday's Star, the president struck a note of optimism as to the future, referring to such favorable factors as a large crop, a decrease in the number of failures, improvement in Canada's foreign trade, and amelioration of the unemployment situation, and remarked that it is pleasant to see that the Western farmer is taking to mixed farming and thus spreading his risk.

A vote of thanks to the board of directors, officers and staff of the bank was moved by Arthur Browning, who stated that the past year has been one of solicitude not only to depositors but also to the directors. Each member of the board was personally known to him, he said, and he was confident that the shareholders could safely rely upon their ability and integrity.

BIDGOOD REORGANIZATION

TORONTO, Nov. 6.—(Star Special.)—The reorganization of the Bidgood Mine is now well under way. Cash has been provided for the payment of all its outstanding obligations, which paves the way for the deal under which control of the property will pass into the hands of McKinley—Darragh for development.

The re-organization will probably be a reduction in capital and the issue of one new share for each two outstanding. This will provide sufficient treasury stock to permit thorough development, and McKinley, it is said, will option blocks of the new stock at 25 and 35 cents a share.

QUEBEC INCORPORATIONS

QUEBEC, Nov. 6.—(Star Special.)—Nineteen companies, with capital totalling $1,114,900, were incorporated in the Province of Quebec in the course of the week ending November 3.

NEGOTIATING HUGE OIL DEAL

LONDON, Nov. 6.—Sir Henry Deterding, director-general of the Royal Dutch Petroleum Company, is negotiating with the British Government for the purchase of the latter's holdings in the Anglo-Persia Oil Co., according to financial circles quoted by the Daily Express. It is understood that if the deal is effected, a cash payment of £12,000,000 will be involved.

N.Y. SUGAR EXCHANGE FILES REPLY IN COURT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—The reply of the New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange and the New York Coffee and Sugar Clearing Association to the appeal of the Government to restrain them from making sugar quotations was filed today in the Supreme Court.

Referring to the Government's contention that there was no economic justification for the sudden and appreciable increase in sugar prices on the exchange last spring, and that the "increase" resulted from a conspiracy to establish arbitrary prices "to the enrichment of the members of the exchange and to the detriment of the public, the brief said the exchange was organized on substantially similar lines to the Chicago Board of Trade, with the exception that practically no spot sales or sales for immediate delivery are made.

"The exchange, by affording a market for future transactions under regulations which prevent fraud and unfair dealing" the brief stated, "fulfills a great economic function, facilitating the marketing of the sugar crop, keeping the producing and consuming public advised of the trend of world opinion with respect to prices and thereby preventing the control of prices by a few great refineries, which with their vast capital might otherwise be able to largely dominate prices, as they notoriously have done in the past."

Speculative transactions, it was insisted, have been relatively few.

WHEAT PRICES EASIER; SMALL VOLUME OF TRADE

The following noon grain letter was received from Chicago by E. C. Morris, managerf for Logan and Bryan, at their Board of Trade branch:—

Wheat.—There were indications of further liquidation through commission houses and market had a heavy undertone, although firmness in corn encouraged buying that prevented serious declines. Volume of business small. Receipts here estimated at twenty cars; other domestic markets Minneapolis excepted had comparatively light receipts, while the total at primary points was 1,546,000 bus. Liverpool futures closed ½ to ⅝ lower. Winnipeg reported cash wheat slow with all grades on delivery basis. Deliveries on November contracts here this morning were 1,000 bus. Berlin dispatch told of possibility that Germany would appeal to United States for wheat on extended credit, but the trade here paid little attention. There was some buying of May here against sales December by traders expecting to see extensive liquidation in the latter.

Corn.—Commission houses bought, and there was little pressure aside from that which came from locals inspired by the weakness in wheat. Cash interests bought December against sales of May causing some widening of the difference between the two, December gaining. Receipts estimated at 70 cars. Cash prices started unchanged to ¼ up for new crop. Weather predictions are more favorable.

Wheat inspections at Winnipeg today resulted in 713 cars being graded as No. 1 Northern; 494 cars as No. 2 Northern; 527 cars as No. 3 Northern, and 335 cars as lower grades.

Cash spreads at Winnipeg today were: No. 1 Northern, November price; No. 2 Northern, 3 under; No. 3 Northern, 8 under.

Late Financial News

CAR AND GLASS FIRM FEATURES; STEEL EASIER

An irregular tone prevailed in the afternoon trading on the Montreal Stock Exchange today. Car preferred was the most active issue and advanced another point to 74, after touching 74½. The common was 27 bid and 30 asked; the last board lot sale occurred on November 1 at 23. The strength of Car shares was regarded as a natural recovery from the depressed market for the shares which adversely affected prices not long ago, particularly in view of the good showing which is expected in the current year's earnings.

Montreal Tramways appeared in board lot quantity for the first time since July, at which time it sold at 43. Since then it has been selling in small lots at between 145 and 150. Today's price was 148¾.

Dominion Glass was another firm feature advancing ½ to 98.

While the strength of Dominion Glass is generally attributed to earnings which are said to be running at a high rate some observers saw in the disposition of the Provinces to return to the wet column a bull argument. There is a heavy demand for bottles which are shipped out and never get into circulation again in this country. The stock was up 1-2 to 98.

Other price changes included Abitibi, off 1-8 at 59; Breweries, off 1-4 at 54¾; Shawinigan, up 3-4 at 119; Smelters, up 1-2 at 26. Steel of Canada was off 1 at 69, and Connecticut Cotton preferred was off 1 at 82½.

NIGHT HAWK OPERATIONS

WESTERN BANKER SEES BRIGHTER OUTLOOK THERE

TORONTO, Nov. 6.—(Star Special).—A distinct brightening in the general western outlook of a character which boded well for steady expansion and general prosperity was reported by James Hamilton, general manager of the Union Bank, who was in the city today en route from Winnipeg to Montreal, where the Bankers' Association meets tomorrow.

A feature of western rehabilitation, Mr. Hamilton remarked, was the steady elimination of the "land miner" and his replacement by the real farmer. The "land miner" was the type of man who, attracted by war prices for grain bought large tracts of land, often at twice their actual value, put up a rude shack, sowed wheat and then went to California for the winter with the proceeds. He bought all his food in cans from the general store so long as his money lasted and then drifted.

The successor to this type of wheat grower, Mr. Hamilton said, was the real farmer who built himself a home and really settled, doing a little mixed farming to carry him if wheat was bad, and steadily improving his position. Farmers of this type, he said, were the banks' best customers. They were frugal and independent, their credit was good for they had come to stay. Mr. Hamilton regarded his bank's franchese in the West as particularly valuable on account of the steady business it had with this type of settler.

With regard to the crop, the general manager of the Union said that broadly speaking it had been good. In the more easterly provinces the grain was in many cases dirty, but the spectacular showing of Alberta where his banks had some 68 branches brought the average well up.

"The Alberta crop needed to be seen to be realized," he said. "In places the growth was so strong that one could almost lay a blanket on the wheat and rest on it. The wheat was moving well and while much still had to be paid for, farmers were showing a disposition to meet their obligations at the banks. Collections," Mr. Hamilton said, "were distinctly better than had been expected and the whole situation was encouraging throughout."

Referring to the situation in Winnipeg, Mr. Hamilton said that the city was more or less in the pangs of a transitional period just now. Winnipeg was the gateway to the West, but its share in the West's business was not as great in comparison as it once had been. The city was gradually working out its salvation as a manufacturing centre, he said. It had abundance of power, as cheap, if not cheaper, as could be obtained elsewhere, and steps were being taken to locate plants there to manufacture western requirements. He anticipated great expansion along this line in the next few years.

Big Lumbering Plant For British Columbia

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—(Special to Star from Own Correspondent)—One of the largest lumbering operations in British Columbia is about to be undertaken by the Weyerhauser Interests. A mill it is estimated will cost $1,500,000 will be operated at Chemainus on Vancouver Island. In that locality the big American timber and lumber corporation holds thousands of acres of fine timber.

CONSOLIDATED GLASS

Henry Fuller, New York, was elected a director of Consumers Glass at a recent meeting of the board. The board now consists of F. P. Jones, Arthur Lyman, M. E. Williams, J. A. Kilpatrick, Toronto.

DOME'S MINING POLICY

TORONTO, Nov. 6.—(Star Special). — Dome directors leave Toronto next Tuesday evening on a special car for a special visit of inspection. This will be completed by the time the new split stock is on the market. It is understood that present plans are to keep the mill running steadily for the rest of the year on a grade of ore which will cover dividend and other requirements each month and to devote special attention for the balance of the year to underground development. This work is progressing very steadily, it is reported and a number of informative drill holes are being run at depth. It is just possible that developments will reach a stage to permit some announcement by the time the board returns.

REDUCE ST. JOHN GAS RATE

ST. JOHN, N. B., Nov. 6.—A reduction of 10 per cent. in the price of gas will be put into effect here January 1, 1924, by the New Brunswick Power Co. It is proposed to spend $850,000 on improvements to the gas service and $61,000 has already been approved. Changes in railway fare and light and power rates depend on future business.

Main Shaft at 900 Feet On Tough-Oakes Mine

KIRKLAND LAKE, Nov. 6. — (Star Special.)—Rapid progress continues to mark operations on the Tough-Oakes-Burnside. The main shaft has reached a depth of 900 feet, where a station is now being cut preparatory to cross-cutting to the downward continuation of rich ore found on the preceding levels. Once this is accomplished, the shaft will be continued to still greater depth.

In the meantime, work is proceeding in that area lying east of what is known as the north and south fault. A crosscut is being driven northward in this area, the object being to intersect a number of veins which are showing at surface. This work will open what has heretofore remained a virgin section of the mine.

The rate of progress being maintained and the favorable nature of development assures the Tough-Oakes-Burnside of a place among the important gold producers of Kirkland Lake early in the coming year.

Mining Notes

SCHREIBER, Nov. 6.—(Star Special). —According to official advice, the No. 1 drift on the Schreiber Gold Mines, formerly the McKellar-Langworth, has encountered rich ore, showing native gold as well as gold tellurides in spectacular quantities. The vein shows about twenty-eight inches of quartz, and the face of the drift is stated to be the richest in the mine.

KIRKLAND LAKE, Nov. 6. — Star Special). — Reports have reached here that a plan is under way to reorganize the Bidgood Gold Mines. The McKinley-Darragh Company of Cobalt is mentioned as being interested in a plan to secure control.

COBALT, Nov. 6.—(Star Special). — As work proceeds on the property of the Rouyn Gold Mines, Limited, situated in the Pelletier Lake section of the township of Rouyn, additional veins are being uncovered. Surface assays show gold content in such quantity as to indicate the property is one of outstanding merit. Those associated in the enterprise have made the declaration that they are now confident of establishing an important mine.

GREATER INTEREST TO STIFLE CRIME

Police Chief Tells Rotarians of Some Local Problems

Chief Belanger of the local Police Department, and Mrs. Wallace Reid pleaded before the Rotarians for a greater public interest in stifling crime at the weekly club luncheon in the Windsor Hotel today.

Speaking on behalf of the 2,000,000 drug addicts on the North American Continent rather than against them as criminals, Mrs. Wallace Reid, widow of the late film star stressed, in a short address, the great necessity of a whole hearted public support in the work of morality forces against the evil. She was emphatic in her denunciation of the indiscriminate selection of officials in governing capacities. "Those," she said, "are generally men and women who do not know even the symptoms of addiction on sight."

She showed that it had been proved that drug addiction was hereditary. Many, in the attempt to stifle the traffic had not taken that point into consideration. Had they done so, doctors, as a universal thing would have taken up the matter and concerted their efforts towards its treatment in the early stages.

Chief Belanger outlined the work of the local force, laying stress upon the difficulties encountered by the 833 men on beats and in special work in Montreal.

Speaking of the types of criminals, he stated that the transient crime men and women were the worst in that they came silently and left just as secretly. They included pickpockets, confidence men, burglars, safe-blowers and highwaymen.

"Bailing out persons who are apprehended when caught in the act of committing a crime, also liberating 'ticket-of-leave' men are serious handicaps to police work," he said. He deplored the fact that criminals found it so simple to enter Canada, but he claimed that the arrests were decreasing, and that conditions were, as a whole, improving.

The following members of the force were present in full regalia:

Deputy Chief Leggitt, Inspector Egan, Inspector Robert, Capt. Kavanaugh, Capt. Corbeil, Capt. Maranda, Lieut. McRae and Sergt. Gauthier.

Water Power is driving street cars, lighting cities, factories and shops.

By means of it our manufacturing industries are increasing production and reducing costs.

In the home it is being used to cook, clean, wash, iron and do other chores.

An Investment
founded upon universal necessity

Water Power service is the one outstanding necessity to the public to-day. It saves for manufacturers millions of dollars in coal bills annually; it drives railways, lights streets and homes, and every day in some form or other is required and used by every person.

First Mortgage Bonds of Water Power Companies are safe, because the plants back of the Bonds supply a universal necessity. They are more than safe—they are profitable. Growing recognition of their value is making them one of the most popular mediums for the investment of savings.

	$880,675.07

As usual all the branches of the Bank have been carefully inspected during the year, and we have pleasure in testifying to the zeal and efficiency of our staff.

We record with extreme regret the passing away in January last of the late Mr. S. H. Ewing, who had been a Director for 44 years, 27 of which he served the Bank as Vice-President. To fill the vacancy on the Board your Directors were fortunate in securing the services of Mr. A. O. Dawson.

You will notice an item with the assets in the annual statement "Shares of and loans to controlled companies, $222,396.95." This represents the Bank's interest in the property adjoining this building and fronting on Notre Dame Street, long occupied by the S. Carsley Co. This property came into the market in 1917 and then requiring space for our stationery department and also furnace room we purchased it with a view to some day extending our present banking room, in that direction. In place, however, of putting a considerable sum of money into a new building we seized the opportunity to enter into an agreement with the Insurance Exchange Corporation, Limited, under which we grant to them the use of the land for 99 years. In return we have, over the whole area, the use of the basement, the groundfloor into which we can extend our main banking room if desired, and also the floor above. We shall, of course, rent the space we do not require for our own occupation. In compliance with Section 54 of the revised Bank Act we subjoin to our annual statement a statement of the affairs of The St. James Land Co., Limited, which company we found necessary to form in order to enter into the transactions we have just mentioned with the Insurance Exchange Corporation, Limited.

We would draw your attention to a change in the law with respect to the auditors. Section 56 of the revised Act calls for the appointment by the shareholders of two persons, not members of the same firm, to audit the affairs of the Bank. We recommend the appointment of Mr. Lemuel Cushing, of Messrs. Creek, Cushing & Hodgson, and Mr. Geo. C. McDonald, of Messrs. McDonald, Currie & Co.

F. W. MOLSON,
President.

THE PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS

After the Annual Report had been read, the President, Mr. F. W. Molson, delivered his annual address, in the course of which he explained the standing of the Bank and certain changes in the Banking Act, reviewing the condition of business in general throughout Canada; (the address was printed in extense in yesterday's Star).

There was no discussion on the report, the adoption of which was moved by the President, seconded by the Vice-President, Mr. W. A. Black, and unanimously adopted.

It was moved by Mr. J. M. McIntyre, seconded by Mr. John W. Ross, and resolved that Mr. Edward C. Pratt, the General Manager, be appointed as proxy to represent the Bank at all meetings of The St. James Land Co., Limited.

It was then moved by Lieut.-Col. Herbert Molson, seconded by Mr. W. B. Blackader, and resolved that Mr. Lemuel Cushing and Mr. George C. McDonald be appointed Auditors for the coming year.

The President then named Messrs. Chas. E. Sprague and G. W. Badgley to act as Scrutineers.

It was moved by Mr. Walter Molson, and seconded by Mr. Arthur Browning, that the Secretary be instructed to cast one ballot for the re-election of the Directors, which was unanimously carried.

The Scrutineers then presented their report as follows:—

To the General Manager, The Molsons Bank:—

Sir,—We have the honour to report that at the Annual Meeting of the Shareholders of The Molsons Bank, held this day, the following gentlemen were re-elected to the Board of Directors:

Wm. M. Birks	Wm. Molson Macpherson
W. A. Black	F. W. Molson
A. O. Dawson	J. M. McIntyre
	John W. Ross.

Mr. Arthur Browning then moved a vote of thanks to the President, Vice-President, Directors, General Manager and Officers of the Bank. Mr. Browning said that he felt sure that the shareholders realized that existing financial condition must cause solicitude to the Directors. Each member of the Board, he said, was personally known to him and he believed that the shareholders could safely rely upon their ability and integrity, and be confident that they would give to the affairs of the Bank the same conscientious care they gave to their own.

The President, Mr. F. W. Molson, in returning thanks for the Directors, assured the shareholders that they could rely upon the Board to continue to give their earnest attention to the business of the Bank.

The General Manager, Mr. Edward C. Pratt, on behalf of the staff, thanked the shareholders for their resolution.

The meeting then terminated.

At a subsequent meeting of the Directors, Mr. Wm. Molson Macpherson was re-elected Honorary President, Mr. F. W. Molson, President, and Mr. W. A. Black, Vice-President, for the ensuing year.

PREMIER FERGUSON VISITS BOYS' FARM

Pays High Tribute to Shawbridge Institution as Model System

The keen interest that the Ontario authorities are taking in juvenile work was again demonstrated yesterday when the Prime Minister of that Province, Hon. Howard Ferguson, went by special train from Montreal to the Shawbridge Boys' Farm and Training School and made a thorough inspection of the plant and administration. A few days ago the Provincial Secretary of Ontario, together with the judges of the Juvenile courts of Toronto and Ottawa, paid a similar visit to the Farm, and were so impressed with the work being done under the direction of Superintendent J. N. Barss that they declared their intention of getting Premier Ferguson to visit the place, so that the head of the Government could be familiar with the possibilities of the system of training when the Ontario system was remodelled.

Yesterday Premier Ferguson was in the city and at the invitation of E. W. Beatty, head of the C.P.R. and president of the Shawbridge Boys' Farm, the Prime Minister, accompanied by Senator Smeaton White, travelled by special train to Shawbridge and spent several hours at the farm. On reaching the farm siding the Premier was greeted by Superintendent J. N. Barss, and Owen Dawson, one of the directors. The boys were there with their band, and the staff of the farm, and joined in the welcome to the distinguished visitors. The latter were then escorted across the campus to Molson Memorial Chapel, where brief addresses were made to the boys, preceding which the band played a number of selections under the direction of Bandmaster N. Pollard.

Mr. Beatty introduced the Ontario Premier to the boys, pointing out that he had expressed a desire to see how the problem of delinquent boys was being handled in Quebec. The president expressed regret that he had not been able to visit the farm himself during the summer as frequently as he had hoped, but he had been travelling all over the Dominion for the past three months, but he said he hoped to arrange for monthly visits by prominent business men of Montreal to address the boys on the subject of business success.

Premier Ferguson said he was glad to visit the farm because the work that was being done there was well known not only in Ontario but throughout the whole Dominion, and it was regarded as a model institution for the care of those boys who had perhaps not had as many opportunities as others and who needed a little training to set them on the path to become useful citizens.

TOURIST TRADE

Maritime Provinces and Quebec Make Reciprocal Arrangement

A reciprocal arrangement has been arrived at between the New Brunswick Tourist Association and the Montreal Tourist Bureau with the object of making the attractions of Quebec and the Maritime Provinces more widely known to tourists and residents of other provinces. J. R. Douglas, president, and G. A. McNamee, secretary-treasurer of the Montreal organization, have just returned from a motor trip through New Brunswick at the invitation of T. P. Regan, K.C., the head of the Tourist Association of that province. They found that the sister province has not only a large mileage of good roads but that they are more efficiently equipped with direction posts, danger, curve and other road signs. The arrangement completed provides for the exchange of literature between the two bureaus, so that tourists from the United States to Quebec province may be induced to continue on through the Maritime provinces and return to their homes by a different route.

THREE ACCIDENTS

Man Fell Forty Feet—Plank Struck Workman—Car Injured Woman

Mrs. Evelyn Floyd, 32 years of age, of 2508 Notre Dame street east, was struck by a street car at 3:45 o'clock Monday afternoon and taken to Notre Dame Hospital.

Struck in the back by a plank at about 4 o'clock Monday afternoon, Thomas Murray, aged 35, a workman employed by E. G. M. Cape and Co., on the new Bell Telephone exchange at the corner of St. Urbain and Ontario streets, suffered severe internal injuries and was taken to the Montreal General Hospital.

Falling a distance of 40 feet from the framework of the new elevator at the foot of Papineau street, at 2 p.m. Monday, Baptiste Fleury, 25 years of age, suffered a fractured skull and broken arms. He was removed to Notre Dame Hospital, where he is reported to be in a serious condition.

FOURTEEN APPLY FOR SCHOLARSHIPS

Fourteen applications for the Rhodes Scholarship which is usualy granted to a student in this Province have been received by Major Gilbert S. Stairs. Of these ten have been filed by men attending McGill University, three have been received from students of the University of Montreal and one from a student of Laval University, Quebec. Last year the coveted scholarship was awarded to a McGill student.

Candidates submit a number of papers and in many cases are interviewed personally by the selection committee. The qualifications of the student nominated are then passed upon by the Central Committee in England.

LANTERN LECTURE

An address given last night by Rabbi M. J. Merritt, pastor of the Temple Emmanu-El, at the monthly suppermeeting of the Men's Club of the Church of St. James the Apostle, dealt with experiences caravaning through the desert of Sinai to Palestine, and was illustrated by lantern slides. At the head table were E. A. Cunningham, Col. Irving Rexford, F. L. MacGachen, Canon A. P. Shatford, W. A. Edwards, H. A. Dale, G. A. Glennie, Dr. E. T. Cleveland, jr., A. G. Edward, W. F. Macoun, E. Hodgskin and E. Claghorn.

NEW CAFE PARLOR CAR.

The first of a series of new Cafe Parlor Cars was finished and turned out of the Canadian Pacific Angus Shops yesterday, and is now on exhibition at the Windsor Station. The new all steel cars, six in number, will operate out of Montreal and Toronto, affording every convenience and luxury. They are the only Cafe Parlor Cars existent which are fitted with a smoking room, and the revolving slumber-back chairs are another distinctive feature.

ARMISTICE BANQUET

The second military Armistice banquet will be held on Saturday night in the Rose Room of the Windsor Hotel, under the auspices of the United Services' Club. It is expected that over 300 will attend the dinner. The guest of honor for the occasion will be General Sir Arthur Currie. Lt.-Col. D. Rykert McCuaig, D.S.O., will occupy the chair.

WOMEN'S WORK

EVIL OF NARCOTICS MENACING YOUNG

Mrs. Wallace Reid Pleaded Before Women's Club for Sympathy

Pleading for a more sympathetic attitude on the part of the general public towards those addicted to narcotics, Mrs. Wallace Reid, widow of the film actor who was a victim to the drug habit, addressed the Montreal Women's Club at the Mount Royal Hotel yesterday afternoon. There was a large audience, the meeting being opened to the public following the regular business session of the club.

Mrs. Reid stressed the urgency of the problem of dealing with the narcotics evil, particularly in view of its menace to the young. The average age of drug addicts, she said, had dropped from the early thirties to the early twenties within the past few years. In four of the States the drug evil had been found in the High Schools, and the same might possibly be found in many States.

In order to deal with the matter, Mrs. Reid urged, it must be more generally understood. There were 2,000,000 drug addicts on this Continent, she stated, and it was a mistake to think they were all criminals. Only about fifteen per cent were of the underworld. The problem was one for medical, solution, not for criminal punishment.

Mrs. John Scott presided at the meeting. A vote of thanks to the speaker was moved by Mrs. J. Holmes McIntyre, and seconded by Rev. A. E. Runnells.

At the business meeting fifty new members were admitted, the membership list now approaching its limit of one thousand.

Teachers and Parents Should Get Together, Principal Tells Club

The desirability of parents and teachers "getting together" was emphasized by A. E. Rollitt, principal of Montreal West High School, in a short address before the Montreal West Women's Club yesterday afternoon. Mrs. A. W. Allyn, chairman of the Home and School Committee of the Club, presided, and referred to the organization of the committee with a view to the possibility of cooperation between the club members and the teachers.

Mr. Rollitt expressed his sympathy with any movement to bring together mothers, teachers, and scholars. Every child in school was an individual problem, and it was only by cooperation between teacher and parent that the right solution could be arrived at.

The attitude of the teacher towards the pupil was one of genuine interest. The "nightmare of annual examinations" to some extent influenced the teacher's methods, for example, in the giving of home lessons. "We don't want to give home lessons," Mr. Rollitt said, "but there are things we are obliged to do because we are controlled by the educational system."

In dealing with the "troublesome pupil," a more intimate knowledge of his temperament and family life would be a decided help. "Let teachers and parents meet," concluded Principal Rollitt, "and do together what singly they cannot do. Only by frequent exchange of ideas can we arrive at a successful method of dealing with any one incident which may arise in school."

Papers on "Current Events" were contributed by Mrs. H. H. Black, Mrs. R. A. Outhet, and Mrs. O. C. Bissell. Mrs. E. T. Spidy and Miss Margaret McCammon sang solos, Miss Taylor and Miss Helen White playing the accompaniments. Mrs. Andrew Whyte presided over the business meeting.

TO MAKE PLANS FOR MEMORIAL HALL

At the meeting of the Municipal Chapter I.O.D.E. yesterday, among the items of business was a reference to the project of the War Memorial Hall, and it was decided that a meeting of regents of all the primary chapters should be held on November 19, when plans for taking steps to proceed with the enterprise would be discussed. Since the decision at the annual meeting to erect a hall as a War Memorial, a number of the Chapters, it was stated, had been working quietly during the summer.

Mrs. A. W. McDougald, honorary National vice-president, who has just returned from spending three months in the West, gave an interesting account of I.O.D.E. work with which she came in touch in the four western provinces. The work was proceeding actively in the west, the I.O.D.E. being in many places the centre of patriotic activity. Mrs. McDougald told of the unveiling at Banff in September of a monument as a memorial to the men who enlisted at Banff. The monument had been erected through the efforts of the Mount Rundle Chapter, which though few in numbers was very energetic. The Lieutenant-Governor officiated at the unveiling.

Miss Clara Andrews, of London, gave a talk on the work of the National Children Adoption Association. Mrs. Walter E. Lyman presided as acting regent, Mrs. Duncan Anderson having recently resigned from the position of regent, owing to illness in her family.

NORTH END WOMEN'S CLUB.

The Outremont and North End Women's Club will hold its regular meeting in the Y. M. C. A., Park avenue, on Friday afternoon of this week at three o'clock. The Hon. Walter Mitchell, K.C., M.P., will speak on "Marriage laws and women's rights." There will be a short musical program, and tea will be served. There will be a special meeting of the executive at the home of Mrs. George McGregor, 2136 Waverley street, tomorrow evening at eight o'clock, to complete arrangements for the charter day dinner at the Windsor Hotel on November 16.

KNITTED MANY GARMENTS

The V.C.H. Knitting Club will resume its meetings on Thursday afternoon at 261 Melville avenue. During the past two years this club, of about twenty members, has met twice a month, and made knitted garments for the returned soldiers at St. Agathe, as well as for various charitable institutions in the city, and for the Anglican leper station at Kumamoto, Japan.

LECTURE IN FIRST AID.

The Women's Social Club of the University Settlement will meet this evening at half past eight o'clock. The first of a course of lectures in first aid and home nursing will be given under the direction of the St. John Ambulance Brigade Overseas.

ARMISTICE DAY MEETING.

An Armistice Day meeting of the Women's Canadian Club will be held in the ball-room of the Ritz-Carlton Hotel next Monday, at 1.15 p.m. The speaker will be Sir Arthur Currie, principal of McGill University.

CANADA SHOULD HELP WITH IDEAS

McGill Professor Gives Impressions of Old World Following Tour

The moral and intellectual currents in Europe today, the demand for a new creative philosophy which should incorporate humanitarian and religious ideas, and the importance of the development of a Canadian culture as this country's contribution to civilization, were the chief points of an address by Professor William Caldwell to students on "Philosophy, Europe, and Canadian life," before the McGill Philosophical Society last evening.

Professor Caldwell, who has just resumed his duties at McGill after a year's travel in Europe, described some of the more important currents in European life today, and gave an account of the impression he brought back with him about the intellectual activity of the Old World. He believed that the Old World needed a vigorous and progressive national life like that of Canada and the United States, but that it, in its turn, had much to offer the New World in the way of inspiration and guidance.

It is important, Dr. Caldwell urged, that the world develop a spiritual philosophy of universal love, based on justice and good will, and on the love of man for man. There are already signs of this in parts of England, Czecho-Slovakia and other countries. "We need not assume with Dean Inge, that human nature is unchangeable and that we shall always have war and hatred. We must work for a change of attitude, a new outlook, which stresses the importance of personality and which recognizes the human value of the ordinary man.

"Philosophy has the duty of incorporating into itself humanitarian and religious ideas. Such philosophy is the only one which is capable of affecting the life of the ordinary man, who is not interested in abstract ideas. Philosophy must be creative. It must discover the forces of work in human life and apply its results to the resolution of human problems.

"Has Canada a philosophy of this kind?" Dr. Caldwell asked. "It is true that Canada has evolved something new, a new type of national life, which is however largely provincial and sectional. Canada has not evolved a true cultural life, a living philosophy of its own. Canada must make its contribution to the Empire and to civilization as a whole. We must develop a sense of the value of certain ideals which are more important than life itself. Ideas seem to be at a discount in Canada. We are not giving ideas to the world. We must do our share in keeping for the British Commonwealth the leadership in civilization and in the world.

"We must not adopt the melting-pot idea of national life," Dr. Caldwell concluded. "As Lloyd George said, Canada must stand for the free development of all peoples within the country. And in the constructive work which is necessary for national development, McGill must play its part by turning out men who can help, men who are not merely specialists but ideal citizens."

Declares Constable Was Hero, Defending Property of Citizen

J. Lapierre was found guilty this morning, in the Court of King's Bench, of shooting at a constable with intent to cause him grievous bodily harm. The shooting took place as Constable Simard tried to arrest Lapierre in a grocery store which he had broken into. The accused opened fire on Simard and a gun duel resulted.

Mr. Justice Wilson complimented Constable Simard, describing him as a hero who risked his life in defence of public property. Sentence will be pronounced later.

JOURNALIST'S WIDOW

Mrs. A. M. Taylor Died Last Night

Annie Margaret Taylor, widow of the late J. Haddon Taylor, Montreal journalist, died yesterday at the Western Hospital after a short illness. She had resided in this city for the past 24 years, after having come from England in 1899. She was a native of Chorley, Lancashire, England. The late Mr. J. H. Taylor predeceased his wife at Victoria in 1912.

Mrs. Taylor is survived by four sons: J. H. Taylor, Frank S. Taylor, William O. Taylor, all residing in Montreal, and Eric W. Taylor, of San Francisco, Cal. She also leaves a sister in England. The funeral will take place from her late residence, 151 Percival avenue, Montreal West, at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow.

CARNIVAL EXPENSES

To Discuss Means of Raising Funds

The following statement of the carnival expenses last year was issued by the committee last night: administration, including salaries, stationery, telegrams postage and travelling expenses, $4,744.43; publicity, including booklets, newspapers, magazines, and photographs, $12,359.83; Park slide, ski jump, snowshoe, skating and several other features, including the "Miss Montreal" and "Miss Canada" competition, $17,038.34; making a total of $34,142.65.

The delegates from various sporting organizations will meet again tonight to discuss means of raising funds for next season.

ROSEMOUNT WANTS BETTER CAR SERVICE

A delegation of residents in Rosemount ward will wait on the executive committee of the city to-morrow at ten o'clock to urge that representations be made to the Tramways Commission to improve the car service on the Frontenac line. At present this runs only to Notre Dame street, where transfers have to be made and Alderman J. N. Drummond, who will head the delegation, will ask that the Tramway Commission be requested to continue the service to either Place d'Armes or to some other central part of the city so as to give residents in Rosemount a direct line to the business district.

NEW ROLL ORDERED

The city council decided at their meeting yesterday afternoon to annul the roll apportioning the cost for the expropriation of Bromby street, in order that a new apportionment may be made after making allowance for rentals received from the property and the sale of materials from the demolished dwellings. It also decided to extend over a period of ten years the payments by proprietors interested in the expropriation of Bourassa street, St. Henry Ward, and St. Denis street between Des Carrieres street and the C.P.R. tracks.

SHIPPING NOTES

PAROLE SYSTEM FOR NEXT QUOTAS

Shipping Men Here State That U.S. Discriminated to Save Leviathan

HEAVY PENALTIES

Would Have Cost Liner $400,000 in Costs—Cassandra Docks Here

Interest in the sudden modification of the strict American immigration regulations with regard to aliens entering the country in excess of the quota is very general in local shipping circles and equally so with the public coming into immediate contact with shipping men. The general impression in shipping circles is that because it became evident that the United States Shipping Board liner Leviathan must suffer heavily under the quota restriction, a discrimination was made.

A local authority on shipping and immigration laws stated in this connection today that if the Leviathan had had to repatriate the sixteen hundred odd passengers she carried in excess of the November quota, and paid the fines which America imposes on British lines it would have cost the ship in the neighborhood of four hundred thousand dollars. Penalties as heavy as this have been suffered by other big liners this year while flying the red ensign.

The fact that to allow the Leviathan to escape the effects of this law, all the other aliens on British liners were likewise allowed in on parole, does not palliate the indulgence extended to an American ship, states the local expert. He pointed out to The Star today that the effect of the free and easy interpretation of the law will be to place America in the same category as Germany before the war.

The latter country used to refuse visas and hinder and delay all aliens passing through Germany en route to Antwerp and America if they were not travelling by a German steamship company. As soon as these continental emigrants transferred their bookings to a German line they met with every courtesy on the part of German railway and consular officials. It is suspected now that those wishing to make sure of getting into the United States will get preferred treatment if they travel by American and not British liners.

Local steamship companies stated today, however, that the parole system adopted for the benefit of the Leviathan and extended to British vessels will ease to a great extent the harshness of the law and they expect to see the British companies carrying a greater number of immigrants in consequence. They are of the opinion that when the boot began to pinch and the Washington authorities realized that their own taxpayers must pay the fines and costs of deportation by American liners the severity of the penalties became realized. In the meantime plans are already under under way here to establish Montreal and the St. Lawrence route more firmly than ever as one class cabin liner route for the whole continent ad westbound bookings to the States via the St. Lawrence are expected to be heavy in 1923.

COST OF STOWAWAYS.

An interesting situation has arisen with regard to the handling of stowaways in Montreal and it was pointed out in this connection today that the Canadian taxpayer is being needlessly mulcted by application of the Canadian Immigration Act. Three stowaways, Russians of superior type, were found on the Thomson Line freighter Scatwell, while in the Mediterranean. The men had boarded the ship at Patras, Greece. They were put off at this port a week ago after having worked in the stokehold.

When hailed before the court, they were sent down for a month's imprisonment at Bordeaux, with orders that they be deported back to Greece at the expiry of their sentence. This means that the men will have to be sent to St. John, N.B., at the Canadian taxpayers expense, and shipped to Greece at considerable cost. It is not likely, in the opinion of Captain J. O. Grey, the local shipping Master, that another Greek ship will put into this or any Canadian port within the next two months, and the expense of feeding these men may be greatly increased when it is realized that their passage back to Greece will have to be provided out of Canadian Government funds or at the expense of the shipping company on whose ship they stowed away.

CASANDRA DOCKS.

The Anchor-Donaldson Liner Cassandra, from Glasgow, arrived here early this morning, after debarking 236 third class passengers at Quebec yesterday.

She brought a good list of cabin passengers numbering 104, a few of whom were destined to the United States. The passenger list contained mostly the usual type of sturdy Scotch settlers, who are coming to this country to settle.

Very heavy weather was encountered during the first five days of the voyage, which fortunately improved towards the end.

A masquerade dance was held on Friday evening, and enjoyed immensely by the cabin passengers.

The following Montrealers were among those on board: Miss R. Abrahams, Miss S. Abrahams, Miss I. Appleton, Mrs. A. Burnett, Miss L. Burnett, R. Clark, Mrs. N. Kinnear, Miss E. Kinnear, R. McFarlane, Miss J. McLean, Mrs. E. Minto, Miss M. Minto, A. Nelson, J. Nesbit, H. Quirie, Miss M. Scott, Miss G. Sharp, Miss L. Williamson.

The Cassandra sails for Glasgow at daybreak on Friday, the ninth of November, her last from Montreal this season.

CUNARDER HERE.

The Cunard liner Andania from Cherbourg, Southampton and Liverpool docked here shortly after noon yesterday with a list of passengers which was more than usually cosmopolitan. The liner made good time in crossing and the voyage was uneventful. In her steerage the Andania brought no fewer than 105 Russian refugees all of whom are being absorbed by Quebec lumber companies. There were also on board 2 young travellers who have been travelling for exactly one month from their home in Poland.

The much travelled youngsters were Petro Chonyuk, aged 16, and Sarakina Chonyuk who have come over alone from Poland and will proceed from here to Samburg, Saskatchewan to rejoin their father. There were also on board 49 British women who have come over under the auspices of the Society for Overseas Settlement. Miss Vaughan Jones acted as conductress.

There was a touch of romance in an incident which took place when the Andania docked at Quebec. Among the cabin passengers was a Miss G. Jamille who boarded the ship at Cherbourg. When the ship arrived she was met by her future husband, Mr. Cassar who brought a clergyman with him. The marriage ceremony took place immediately after the docking of the ship. The Andania had on board 108 cabin passengers and 800 third class. She will be followed by her sister liner the Antonia which will make the last Cunard passenger sailing from this port.

FRANCE NEAR BELLE ISLE.

On her last trip of the year to Quebec, the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of France was reported yesterday as nearing the Strait of Belle Isle and providing clear weather prevails during her passage through the gulf, she will dock at the Ancient Capital early in the morning of Wednesday, November 7, several hours ahead of her scheduled seven-day ocean trip.

The last appearance of the "France" on the St. Lawrence this season, which, by the way is the last of an Empress liner, coincides with the arrival of many Canadians and Americans returning home after a holiday of several months spent in England, Scotland and Central Europe, and the incoming of several British notorieties journeying to the Dominion combined on business and pleasure trips.

Carryings of the Empress of France on this voyage include 84 first and 122 second-class passengers in addition to a capacity complement of 738 third-class travellers.

CANADIAN NOTABLES.

Amongst the many passengers of prominence are: Lady Eaton, Toronto; C. J. Simard, K.C., and Mrs. Simard, Quebec; Brig.-General H. T. Hughes, C.M.G., D.S.O., accompanied by Mrs. Hughes; Mrs. I. Glazebrook, Toronto; Dwight Brianerd, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Mullarky, Miss K. Sisco, all of Montreal; F. Harris of the well-known publishing firm of Frederick Harris Pub. Co., Toronto; F. A. Welling, connected with the British Empire Steel Corp., London, Eng.; S. Fay, son of Sir Samuel Fay, manager of the British Railway; W. D. Herridge, Ottawa; G. Pollock, London, Eng., representative of T. Eaton and Co.; J. Blackie, director of the Blackie and Co., Pub. concern of Glasgow; and Miss F. Leslie, Barrie, Ont.

The third-class list includes several parties of settlers, destined to the Western Prairies, also a party of 24 miners destined to Hancock, Mich., and a party of 24 bushmen coming to Canada where employment has been guaranteed by a large contracting firm.

LAKE AND RAIL SHIPPING.

The Canadian Pacific Railway announces that it will discontinue acceptance of freight for the lake and rail route on the following dates:—East of Megantic, November 27th; East of Montreal to Quebec and Megantic, November 28th; Montreal and West to Windsor, including branches, December 1st. To Ports of Call via Owen Sound, November 17th, from all stations. After these dates shipments must be routed via the all rail routes.

CREW SAVED

HAVANA, Nov. 6.—(Associated Press) Captain Donnelly and seven members of the British motor schooner Nellie were brought in port yesterday by the British steamer Artemis. The Nellie went down in a gale near Gulfport, Miss., Oct 15. The schooner sailed from Havana Oct. 8, with a cargo of liquor.

She had clearance papers for Isla de Cozumel, Mexico of the east coast of Yucatan.

HAVANA, Nov. 6, — (Associated Press) — The new freight steamer Ingalaterra, recently built in England for a Cuban company and which went aground near Nassau, Bahama Islands, while on her voyage to Havana to receive Cuban registry, probably will be a total loss. The crew of the steamer was saved when she hit the reef off Nassau.

OFF-YEAR VOTES THROUGHOUT U.S.

Elect One Federal Senator and Many Lower Offices

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—(Associated Press.)—With few issues bearing on the next Presidential campaign involved in today's off-year elections, there will be little to indicate which way the national political wind is blowing.

Only one new member of the United States Senate is to be elected, from Vermont, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late Senator Dillingham.

Porter H. Dale, Republican, and Park H. Pollard, Democrat, are candidates. Dale favors enforcement, and Pollard advocates modification of the Volstead Act. Dale is favored.

Seven new representatives will be elected to Congress, four in New York, and one each in Illinois, Vermont and North Carolina. In Illinois and North Carolina the Democratic candidates will have no major party opposition. In the 24th New York District a close vote is forecast.

Maryland, Mississippi and Kentucky will elect Governors. New York, New Jersey, Virginia and Maryland will elect members of the State Legislature. Philadelphia will hold a municipal election.

The campaign in New York was enlivened with references to William Randolph Hearst by Gov. Alfred E. Smith, who in Harlem urged negroes to forego their traditional adherence to the Republican party and vote on issues of today.

DETROIT EFFORTS.

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 6.—(Associated Press.)—In the municipal elections here today 150 telephone operators called 70,000 subscribers, while newsboys asked each customer if he had voted.

Mayor Frank E. Doremus, former member of Congress, is candidate for re-election, opposed by Thomas. E. O'Brien.

FIGHT MORMONS.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Nov. 6.—(Associated Press.)—A spirited three months' campaign of "American party" candidates against "church candidates" for city offices in which the American party slogan has been "separation of church and state," ends with the election today. In the mayoralty election C. Clarence Neslin, a Mormon bishop, is standing for re-election, against Joseph Galigher, American party, a business man.

CLASH OVER ZOO.

CHICAGO, Nov. 6. — (Associated Press.)—Voters of Cook County today are balloting for 23 Superior and Circuit judges and a Congressman. Somewhat of a fight has developed over the proposed tax for a $7,500,000 zoological garden.

INVITE CANADIAN WOMEN.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6. — Canadian Leagues of Women Voters were yesterday invited to send representatives to the fifth annual convention of the National League of Women Voters to be held next April 24 to 29 in Buffalo.

VOROVSKY'S SLAYER TELLS OF CRIME

Swiss Engineer Informs Court He Slew Soviet Envoy for Revenge

LAUSANNE, Nov. 6.—(Associated Press.) — Maurice Conradi, Swiss engineer, who on May 10 last shot and killed Vaslav Vorovsky, Soviet envoy to the second Lausanne Conference told of his determination to kill leading Bolsheviki, in revenge for sufferings inflicted on his family in Russia, when examined yesterday at the opening of his trial for the assassination of Vorovsky.

He accepted full responsibility for the crime, telling the court: "I had no need of encouragement, but Polonnine agreed with me," when the judge asked if his alleged accomplice had not incited him. Paul Polonnine a Russian, was secretary of the Russian Red Cross organization in Geneva under the Czarist regime.

Conradi said his plan of revenge was made, when at Gallipoli, he learned that his father had died of hunger in Russia and that his uncle and several members of his family had been killed by the Bolsheviki. He told in a clear voice how he had fired seven bullets from his pistol at Vorovsky.

Conradi's preliminary examination finished, Polonnine was brought to court. He denied that there was any widespread conspiracy to kill Vorovsky as he alone knew of Conradi's plan and had aided him only by supplying money.

The defence's efforts to raise technicalities by demanding that the marriage certificate of Madame Vorovsky and the birth certificate of her daughter be produced were without affect, and attorneys for the women were admitted to the case.

Police documents were read to show that Vorovsky and his fellow delegate, Hermann Ahrens, who was wounded by Conradi, had refused offers of special protection, but were nevertheless watched like the other delegates to the conference.

ACCUSE GUARD AS DRUG TRAFFICKER

Convict's Wife Says Prison Keeper Delivered Narcotics to Husband

KINGSTON, Ont., Nov. 6.—(Canadian Press).—Telling of the sending of heroin and morphine to Kingston to be given to her husband, a convict in the Portsmouth penitentiary since December, 1922, a Toronto woman yesterday gave evidence in the charge against Arthur Twigg, guard at the penitentiary who is facing a charge of trafficking.

The witness, together with another woman with whom she stays in Toronto, claimed that drugs were sent to "Arthur Kirkwood" at 28 Chatham street, the address of guard Twigg. The wife of the convict admitted that she herself had been a drug addict and told of paying $40 for two ounces of heroin and also of sending money along with the dope to the Kingston address.

Deputy Warden Tucker who is acting as warden in the absence of Warden Ponsford said that the convict in question had been in the asylum dungeon and was now in the isolation ward on the charge of sending out a letter in connection with the present case. The names of the Toronto witnesses are withheld from publication at the request of the Crown. The women admitted that they were arraigned in Toronto last Tuesday on a certain charge and were remanded until December 4.

ATTACK GUARDS, FLEE FROM PRISON

One Convict Slain, Two Recaptured, After Break for Liberty

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 6. — (Associated Press.) — One convict was shot and killed and three others escaped from the Eastern State penitentiary here late last night when four long term prisoners made a break for liberty after attacking two guards. Two of the fugitives were captured within two hours after the break and the third was reported surrounded by police within a few blocks of the prison. His capture was said to be imminent.

The prisoners Joseph Lorimer, Francis Joseph Flynn, Emil Bradlem and George Duback, were doing carpenter work in the administration building when they suddenly attacked Hugh O'Neill and Joseph Gilbert, guards, with blackjacks.

O'Neill was knocked senseless and Gilbert then opened fire, one of his bullets fatally wounding Lorimer, who died a few minutes later.

In the confusion the other three convicts grabbed O'Neill's pistol and the keys to the main gate of the prison and made their way to the street.

BRAINS SCARCE IN U.S., SAYS DR. MEYERS

Princeton Head Asserts Less Than 1 in 5 Possess Intellects

HAMILTON, Nov. 6. — (Canadian Press.) — Addressing the Canadian Club last night Dr. Wm. Starr Meyers, who succeeded ex-President Wilson as professor of history and politics at Princeton University, said that only twenty million of the 105,000,000 people in the United States could be classified as intellectual. It was on these that the great Republic must depend for leadership and judgment.

What of the remaining 85,000,000 of people? From the best psychological, biological and other tests 45,000,000 of them were sub-normal and had intellects equal to juveniles of 14 years; 15,000,000 of them were feeble-minded and had the mental equipment of children of eight years of age, while the remaining 25,000,000 could at best only be classed as being mediocre.

Deplorable as these statements were, Dr. Myers said they should be recognized as facts.

Confronting the brains and the intellect of the United States therefore, was not the problem of Americanizing the foreigner, but rather, the prevention of the foreigner de-Americanizing the United States.

FIRE DESTROYS VESSEL.

LOCKEPORT, N.S., Nov. 6.—(Canadian Press). — The Lockeport fishing schooner Dorothy L. Bill, recently built at Shelburne, was destroyed by fire, five miles off shore at one o'clock Sunday morning. Her crew of seventeen escaped in three dories and rowed to shore arriving at Lockeport after a five hours' row. The fire was caused by an explosion of the vessel's gasoline engine which set fire to the cabin.

IN MEMORIAM.

REID — In loving memory of William Wallace Reid, who passed away November 6, 1918. Too dearly loved to be forgotten.—Inserted by wife and family.

SHERIDAN—In loving memory of Albert, who was killed in action November 5, 1917; also John, killed in action May 21, 1915. Eight years passed our hearts still sore, as time goes on we miss them more.—Fondly remembered by Mother and family.

WILKINSON — Pte. E. A. In loving memory of my dear brother, Ed., killed in the Battle of the Somme, November 5, 1916. I ever think of thee.—Brother Herb.

HUGE GRANARIES AGAINST WAR RISK

British Also Suggest Keeping Dominion Meat in Storage

LONDON, Oct. 19.—(Special Star Correspondence by E. Poole). — The wheat supply question, probably because of the emphasis given that problem during the Great War, is proving one of the most frequently discussed questions both in political and private conversations these days.

One of the latest interesting suggestions for fore-stalling a possible shortage of grain in the case of war was aired in a recent meeting in Manchester when Marshall Stevens, chairman of a big estate, proposed the erection of huge granaries in Britain. He declared that even if Britain disregarded the submarine menace in the great war an enemy aerial fleet would have have the British mercantile fleet at its mercy inside of two years at the utmost. He therefore proposes the establishment of a great chain of grain warehouses in which both Dominion and home-grown wheat should be stored, free of charge.

In addition, Mr. Marshall made the interesting statement that the Chancellor of the Exechequer had promised to place before the Imperial Economic Conference a proposal that the British government should give free storage of Dominion-grown frozen meat in cold storage warehouses in Britain.

Canadian cattlemen might find that this scheme, if carried out, would force them to consider the advisability of turning their attention to the chilled beef industry to replace the shipment of live cattle for fattening on this side.

COUNTESS MAKES ELECTION APPEAL

Labor Candidate for Leamington Tells of Class Division

LEAMINGTON, Eng., Nov. 6.—(Associated Press.)—Wearing a fashionable black satin dress, furs, long diamond earrings and red-heeled shoes, the Countess of Warwick made her first platform appeal to the Socialist and Laborite electors here last evening.

It had been stated that the Countess was to tour the constituency, from which she seeks a seat in the House of Commons in a carriage drawn by four white horses, but these did not appear last evening, and Her Ladyship arrived at the hall without ostentation. She was well received, but most of the audience was not of that social class popularly associated with the traditional aspirations of labor.

The Countess told her hearers that there were only two classes in the world—workers and idlers. Brain workers, such as lawyers nad doctors, she said, must learn to regard themselves in the same category as hand workers.

SMUTS AS VOICE OF EMPIRE VIEWS

New Royal Audience of S. African Premier Revives Interest

LONDON, Nov. 6.—(Star Cable by Staff Correspondent.)—The news that Premier Smuts has again been received in audience by the King has revived curiosity regarding the special status of the South African.

He seems to have seized the public mind in Great Britain, and in some quarters there is a feeling that it would be a good thing if he could be persuaded to enter the larger field in Great Britain, though in what capacity has never been clearly outlined.

Since the announcement of the program of Premier Smuts to visit Belgium and Holland, it has been thought that possibly he is being used to give an unofficial interpretation in Europe of the attitude of the British Empire, giving an opportunity to inform the Belgian and other governments, possibly including that of Germany, exactly how Great Britain views the situation. It is considered that this might be done throught Smuts without giving that embarrassment to the British Government which an official declaration of that character might cause.

DOCTORS SUPPORT DRUG TRAFFICKER

OTTAWA, Nov. 6.—(Canadian Press.)—The charge of furnishing drugs to persons other than those requiring drugs in medical treatment preferred against Dr. Gordon E. Booth by officers of the R.C.M.P., has resolved itself to a duel of expert evidence.

Dr. Booth, although convicted and fined $200 on the first charge, which dealt with a specific sale of drugs on September 17, was again on trial yesterday for a specific sale of drugs on September 22. Counsel for the defence called five local doctors who all supported, in substance, Dr. Booth's method of treating a special agent of the R.C.M.P., supposed to be an addict, by the ambulatory method, which means the giving of supplies of drugs to the addict for self-administration. The case is proceeding.
