Apple Festival draws crowds despite rain

FESTIVAL QUEEN: Cathy Enderle, on being crowned Queen of the Apple Festival, gets a big kiss from Mayor Maurice Patenaude.

by AILEEN L'ESPERANCE

Blithe spirits triumphed over grey skies and rain Saturday to make Hemmingford's fourth renewal of its annual apple festival one of the best yet.

Cathy Enderle, a most popular choice, became the new Queen of Festival.

Crowds, seemingly not too put out by the rain, jammed the village.

And Festival Chairman Bob Petch, thanking those who worked or just came to enjoy, termed the long, fun-filled day "a tremendous success." So did Mayor Maurice Patenaude.

Exact crowd figures were not available but out-of-towners began arriving as early as 9 a.m. on foot and by every conceivable conveyance. Through the day village streets were crowded and automobile traffic jammed to the point where in mid-afternoon it took 30 minutes to get through town.

Pickpockets

A few minutes before parade time at 3 p.m. during a let-up in the rain the crowd was so dense that an official car drove down Frontier St. warning by loudspeaker about pickpockets.

Best guess on last year's crowd was 5,000 and it appeared just as many had come for this new salute to the apple where the atmosphere remained gay and lilting despite rain which began about noon.

Most people were dressed in outing clothes and seemed to care little that things were damp. They sought shelter in doorways, on verandahs or under trees and waited for the

Apple pie man tops the ladies

Twenty-two woman cooks became also-rans last Saturday when the judges, after two hours testing, tasting and touching declared Donald Saari's apple pie to be best-of-show at the Hemmingford Apple Restival.

On the other side of the Chateauguay Valley another apple pie gained similar fame for Beryl Myatt at the Huntingdon Fair, raising the question of whether or not these two cooks shouldn't consider some sort of a run-off for best-in-the Valley.

It turns out that Saari,who lives in Hemmingford and works in Montreal as a lighting expert for CBC photography, took to baking pies because his wife didn't like to do so. He's been the family pie maker ever since they were married.

Back of him in the competition for which Saari received a Festival plaque from contest organizer Maxime Kydd, were Mrs. James McAllister of Covey Hill and Mrs. Walter Keddy of Hemmingford.

Judges Ellen Krouse and Marylin McCaig were exacting in their efforts, first eating a tiny wedge, then testing the edge of the crust and finally the filling for sweetness and flavoring. The crust has to be cooked through and the use of spice is deplored in this particular contest since the whole fair is devoted to the theme that the apple tastes best just as God made it. The pies all had to be made from this year's apples

Earlier dates helped

by JUDY TAYLOR OF The Gleaner

Huntingdon's three-day annual Fair more than lived up to advance notices and broke records in almost every area.

Attendance reached an all-time 146-year record with more than 10,000 paid admissions over the three days and a record Friday night crowd of some 2,500.

Director Don Davidson and Secretary Tom Brooks cited several reasons for the success, among them the advancement of the Fair dates from the Labor Day weekend, the good weather for most of its duration and the addition of new events such as the old time fiddling contest won by Vincent Boyer.

Popular event

The fiddling contest was so roundly applauded and generally enjoyed that it will become an annual event, Davidson said.

As always this Huntingdon Fair, retained the intimate country flavor enjoyed by rural fair-goers in the earlier years. As usual it was also a big event for the area young people, who turned out in droves to the pet show, and the 4-H inter Club Calf Show and Junior Horse events.

Superlatives were in evidence as Tom Brooks described the registration figures and the quality of exhibits to The Gleaner:

Young Welsh farmers charmed by Valley

Corn on the cob, outdoor barbecues, visits to Safari Park and the Huntingdon Fair are just a few of the novel experiences being enjoyed by five young people from Wales who are visiting Valley farms as part of an exchange program sponsored by the British government and the Welsh Young Farmers' Movement in co-operation with the Quebec 4-H Club.

The four girls and one young man are spending two full weeks with area farm families before attending a five-day conference at MacDonald College which will also involve young farmers from Ontario and the Prairie provinces.

Brian Walters, 23, is the only one of the group to be farming on his own, in Carmarthenshire, South Wales, where there is "mixed farming in the hilly parts, and dairy in the flatter areas." Brian milks 30 of his 60 Friesian cows, and keeps about 70 sheep as well. The Gleaner found him admiring the Holsteins at the Huntingdon 4-H show last Friday.

Much bigger

"They're similar to my Friesians, but much bigger," he said. He is having lots of opportunity to study the breed at the farm of Maurice Smith, on Boyd Settlement Road, where he is staying.

Mrs. Smith commented, "It is a real educational experience for us to have the young people here."

The Smith's daughter Marion, along with Valerie Graham of Athelstan and another girl from Richmond, were the first Quebec 4-Hers to visit Wales, last year.

Mandy Pugh, 18, lives in the tiny village of Penygroes, about a quarter the size of Howick where she is staying with the Ross Irvings. She says she spends "about half her time visiting with relatives on farms." Mandy has been particularly impressed with the amount of machinery in use over here, and the size of the fields, much bigger than those in Wales.

Beryl Williams, 18, will take home the memory of a second place in the Senior Judging competition in the 4-H competition at the Huntingdon Fair last Saturday. Blonde and vivacious, Beryl is staying at the Lyell Graham farm in Athelstan during this part of her Canadian visit. At home, she has finished her schooling and is helping her family on the farm.

The farm of Dave Cavers in Dewittville is home for 18-year-old Mair Davies, who, alone of the group, will be attending university in the fall. She plans to take biology, with a view to doing "something with animals."

Real life

Mrs. Robert Tolhurst of Howick describes the visit of Gwyneth Lewis as "a real lift" after raising four sons.

Gwyneth was raised on a farm, but her parents have now retired to the village of Lampeter, and, after a stint at university, she cam e home to work in the Income Tax department. Because many of the young farmers in her area were too busy on the land to go abroad, she was chosen as their representative.

Gwyneth has been madly snapping pictures of Canada

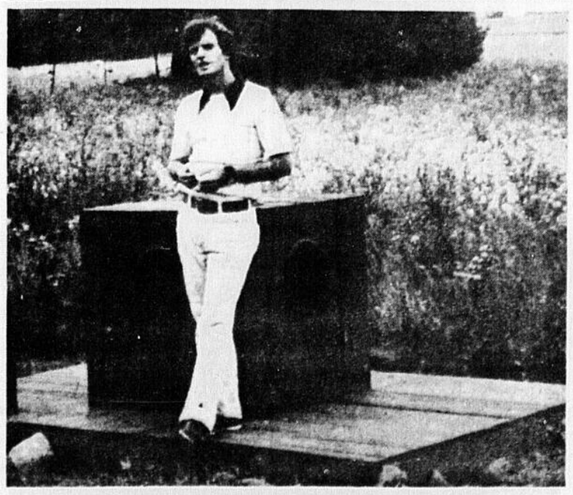
Antiques to be lived in

by ALAN RANDAL of The Gleaner

Without viewing their end product it's hard to imagine what Don Peck and Peter Derosier do to an old, old house. Once seen, it's hard to get their restoration work out of the mind.

Right now they are working on the late Herman Derick's faded, verandahed and much-added-on-to Victorian house in Noyan. When it's finished some city person with a lot of cash and love for the very old will live in an antique that has been made functional with today.



Restorer Don Peck and old well housing

Peck and Derosier, both in their early 30s are a couple of transplanted Montrealers who describe themselves as "antique nuts." Peck was a marketing man in the big city. Derosier was in advertising.

Now, in partnership for the last five years, they are the restorers of the old with tremendous attention to the detail of early architecture but combining that with contemporary needs and functionality.

Unspoiled area

These young men fell in love with the old, early-settled and still-unspoiled country around Noyan and Clarenceville. And, having come across the area by accident, they decided to do something about the spoilage that comes from nothing more than time, neglect and decay. They bought houses, old but beautiful examples of their period, and restored them to sell at a handsome

No bare cupboard for Fair

Each year the number of people served food at the Havelock Fair in September has increased and for the 1974 edition on Sep. 14 the Ladies Auxiliary of the Hinchinbrooke Fire Brigade has based its plans accordingly.

On order for Fair catering are 350 pounds of beef, 275 pounds of ham, 200 pounds of hamburger and 1,800 hot dogs.

At a special meeting of the firemen and their auxiliary this month it was decided that despite inflation and the difficulty with some supplies, prices this year will be reasonable. Nor will there be any cut-back on the usual the parade. Many had brought rain wear. Others quickly bought up all available supplies of dark green garbage bags, quickly cut holes for head and arms and sauntered about in the rain nearly dry.

Runner-up to Queen Cathy Enderle was Princess Ghislaine Bienvenue who will help her reign over next year's festival.

Doubtless everybody would have preferred a sunshine day but in certain areas the rain helped. For instance the good ladies who catered food in the three church halls were sold out by 2 p.m.

"Food just disappeared like magic," said one of them.

Sales action

When the parade was twice put back a lot of people took shelter at the antique and handicraft displays where booth operators reported business much brisker than they had anticipated.

"They were even interested in history," said Gerry Rogers, former president of the Chateauguay Valley Historical Society, who had a booth devoted to the society's literature

Bus trips to neighboring orchards, apple plants and the St. Bernard wine plant began early in the day, before the rain, and were well patronized. Some people said they came to the festival strictly to take this scenic 40-minute ride

The elements grew kinder as the day wore on and by the time darkness settled the huge crowd which went for dancing at the golf club was able to shift outdoors for the windup speeches, presentations and a lot of light-footing about to the music of a Bavarian band and Bill MacDonald's orchestra. At one point the club house was so filled with humanity one could scarcely move.

Simultaneously square dancers took over the Presbyterian United Church Hall, where earlier the cold plate dinner was well patronized, and danced until midnight.

Laurie Orchards took first place in floats in the parade, Ivan Brown won the antique vehicles class, Les Etoiles de St. Hubert were the best band and Mrs. Margaret Keeton won the photographic contest.

The best five acres of orchard prize went to Joe Enderle of Fisher St. Hemmingford. He won the Aaron Churchill plaque, named after the Hemmingford orchardist who was killed recently in a tractor accident and who contributed a great deal to festival organization.

Candlelight features Ormstown wedding

The Ormstown Presbyterian Church was the scene of a candlelight wedding on Saturday evening, July 20 when Donna Ruth, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Tannahill of Allen's Corner, Ormstown, became the bride of Richard Edward Archer of Toronto, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Archer of Sarnia, Ont.

Rev. J. Wm. Milne, B. A. M. Div., officiated at the double ring ceremony and Mrs. Wm. Lawrence presided at the organ.

Baskets of gladioli, delphinium and hydrangea were arranged at the front of the church with the open Bible and candles on the altar. Guest pews were marked with small arrangements of pansies and merry widow and held in place with white satin bows.

When all the guests were seated, Mrs. Jennie Rember was escorted to the front of the church to light the candles, marking the beginning of the service. The bride, escorted by her father and given in marriage by her parents, wore a floor length fitted gown of white polyester satin and lace which fell into a short train. She wore a shoulder length veil and carried a cascade bouquet of red roses, white carnations and baby's breath.

Miss Lois Munro of Toronto, Ontario, as maid of honor, and Miss Colleen Lowry of Charlottetown, P.E.I., as bridesmaid wore similar gowns of white and blue, and white and yellow floral satin, fashioned on princess lines with puffed sleeves. They carried cascade bouquets of matching chrysanthemums and baby's breath and each wore a matching ribbon in her hair.

Best Man

The groom was dressed in a royal blue evening suit, with pale blue ruffled shirt and black bow tie, as were his attendants. Wm. Bell of Bolton, was bestman for his friend, and the ushers were Bryan Cathcart of Sarnia, Reed Archer of Toronto, brother of the groom, Keith Tannahill of Ormstown, and Brian Tannahill of Thunder Bay, both brothers of the bride.

MR. AND MRS. RICHARD A. ARCHER

The brides mother wore a pink floral floorlength gown with matching coat and wore a white orchid. The groom's mother chose a turquoise polkadot gown and also wore a white orchid.

The bride's maternal grandmother wore a salmon pink dress, and her paternal grandmother chose mauve.

During the service, which was planned by the bride and groom, the guests took part in the singing of hymns, the Apostles Creed and the Lord's Prayer. Mrs. Carolyn Cameron and Mrs. Lynn Bryson sang the "Aaronic Blessing" following the wedding ceremony, and during the signing of the register, "Lord of All Hopefulness."

After the service, pictures were taken and the bride and groom were escorted on a short tour of Ormstown in a 1919 Chevrolet which was decorated for the occasion.

The wedding banquet was served in the church hall by the ladies, after which all were invited to the bride's home to see the gifts and enjoy dancing to the music provided by The Country Tradition. Lunch was served about midnight. Then the bride threw her bouquet and the couple left amid showers of good wishes. For travelling the bride wore a blue and white fortrel dress with white accessories and a corsage of yellow pom poms. The groom wore a grey checked summer suit with white accessories and a yellow boutonniere. Following their honeymoon they will reside in Toronto.

Best foot forward

Congratulations to all those who worked so hard and so well to make the Huntingdon Fair and the Hemmingford Apple Festival standout events again this year.

Certainly both events showed the Chateauguay Valley people at their most entertaining and hospitable best.

However , occasions such as these don't just happen. Weeks and months of preparatory work must be done by dedicated people who deserve a vote of thanks from all who enjoyed so very much the results of their efforts.

On of those is Secretary Tom Brooks of the Huntingdon Fair Agricultural Association, ever-pleasant, smiling and seemingly tireless as the Fair preparations moved from one crisis to the next and overcame them all with such élan.

A bouquet too to Dave McCoy and wife Edna for providing such a fine series of Fair horse shows and also to President Mervyn Graham and Grant Whyte, Henry Bonenberg and Donald McCaig for their handling of the cattle end of things.

All in all a great show and little wonder it broke all attendance records.

Similarly over in Hemmingford.

The Apple Festival Committee under Chairman Bob Petch did a fanciful job, made more apparent by the fact that the fourth annual salute to the apple industry was a tremendous success despite the rain. It was a damp festival, to be sure but the very fact that nobody's spirits sagged showed clearly how strong a fun atmosphere that has been engendered by this unique country celebration.

On inflation

Poetry is supposed to stir deep and troubling thoughts. This applies to modern, off-beat verse as well as to the classics.

A new, experimental magazine, APPLEGARTH'S FOLLY, published in London, Ont., carries a strange poem by Robert Kroetsch, novelist and university teacher in English at Binghamton, N.Y.

The poem is largely constructed from pages and excerpts found in an old ledger in Bruce County Ont, dated in the 1880s.

Parts of the poem at least might start some deep and troubling thoughts among readers of The Gleaner, especially those who think hard about today's inflation.

One particular stanza is an excerpt apparently quoting a carpenter's invoice to a farmer-settler:

Dec 5 to 1 bed	4.00
Dec. 5 to 6 chairs	4.50
Dec. 5 to 2 chairs	1.00
Dec. 5 to 1 sink	4.00
Dec. 5 to 1 dressing case	16.00
Dec. 5 to 1 sideboard	10.00
Dec. 5 to 1 table	4.00
	$43.50

Poets have a way of narrowing in on a major point, even in strange writing styles, in this case the prices of yesteryear. Those items would cost eight to 10 times as much as an old barn auction nowadays.

But the carpenter never got his cash. There's a notation in the ledger: "Settled, one horse, $43.50."

Snobbery

We are all quite adept at detecting snobbery in others, seeing it generally as the uppitiness of the other person over some bogus excellence he thinks he has which compares most unfavorably with our own genuine excellent authentic distinctions.

Being aware of the snobberies of others does give us some comfort: We can be thankful that we are not like them.

Our feelings of gnawing insecurity demand some kind of emotional compensation. And this often leads to attitudes and actions which make for some degree of special separation from other persons. This is the heart of snobbery.

John Buchan, the first Lord Tweedsmuir, put it in this way: "Insecurity is the mark of the snob ... the true definition of a snob is one who craves for what separates men rather than what unites them

The lighter side

Four young bulls were standing in a pasture discussing what they wanted to be when they grew up.

The first bull said he wanted to go to Rome and be a papal bull.

The second said he wanted to go to New York and be a bull on Wall Street.

The third said he wanted to go to Philadelphia and be a bull in a China shop.

But the fourth said he just wanted to stay in a Chateauguay Valley pasture for heifer and heifer and heifer.

Double ring rites for Ormstown bride

At St. Malachy's Church, Ormstown on Aug. 3 Betty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Watson was married to Gerald, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil McDonagh of Huntingdon.

Father Poirier of St. Malachy's celebrated the wedding mass and officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Readings from the Old and New Testament were read by Mrs. Earl Pringle and Miss Erma Robidoux. Miss Anna Marie Laberge soloist, accompanied by her sister Marie Thérèse at the organ, provided the wedding music. Baskets of pink gladioli and white daisies decorated the altar.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a floor length gown of Trivera crepe fashioned with a high frilled neckline and long sleeves with frilled cuffs. The fitted bodice had appliqued lace which was accented with satin bows and seed pearls.

The frilly apron effect skirt and tapered train were also garnished with appliqued lace. Her floor length veil of tu lle illusion was held in place by a cascade of white flowers and seed pearls. The bride carried a cascade bouquet of garden flowers and baby's breath.

Picture hat

The matron of honor Miss Barbara Langley of Dollard des Ormeaux wore a long sleeved floor length gown of pink flocked nylon voile garnished with white guipure lace appliqués. Her white picture hat had matching pink veil and she carried a cascade bouquet of white and pink carnations.

The bridesmaids Mrs. Dorothy Bourdon, sister of the bride, and Miss Karen McDonagh, sister of the groom, were in floor length gowns of pink flocked nylon voile with short puffed sleeves and trimmed with white guipure lace appliqués. In their hair they wore a cluster of pink flowers and carried a cascade bouquet of white and pink carnations.

Murray McDonagh brother of the groom acted as best man and Jean-Yves Bourdon and Kevin McDonagh were ushers. The groom and his attendants wore tuxedoes of light blue brocade with velvet lapels.

The bride's mother was in a floor length sleeveless dress of floral print nylon sheer with matching coat, beige accessories and a purple orchid corsage. The mother of the groom wore a floor length gown of powder blue crepe with white accessories and a corsage of pink sweetheart roses.

The reception was held at Les Joyeux Lurons at St. Antoine Abbé where pink and white flowers decorated the hall. A four tier wedding cake baked by the bride's grandmother, Mrs. A. Robidoux, centered the honor table. After cutting and serving the beautifully decorated white and pink cake the bride and groom left for the Birchwood honeymoon resort in the Poconas.

For traveling the bride chose a tailored pant suit of yellow polyester gabardine, navy accessories and a white orchid corsage. En route Jerry and Betty also visited Hamilton and Niagara Falls.

This and That in Town

HUNTINGDON FAIR - which ended Saturday - was most successful. Pix report and prizewinners appear elsewhere. Met many old friends we haven't seen for a long time including Mrs. Charles Hammond [nee Margaret Kelly] of Montreal. "I decided I'd just have to come to see what the Fair is like now. The arena is wonderful but I remember people driving cows along the street to the Fair and people passing the house all day long." [What 'Peg' doesn't realize is that today show animals are trucked in and out and people arrive in cars and buses]. "I guess what appeals to me most is seeing so many old friends.. Rita, Alberta and everybody. Maybe I'll come for the opening night parade next year."

AND THE HEMMINGFORD APPLE FESTIVAL - now there was a successful event too despite the rain on Saturday. Huge crowds and plenty of entertainment.

SO NOW - we can look forward to the annual Havelock Fair. Without a doubt, that's the biggest one-day fair we know of. Everybody goes and all have a good time. More about Havelock Fair next week ... suffice it to remind you to plan now for that Saturday. Remember the fine dinners served in the dining hall?

JUST THIS - did you see the thirsty pony at the Fair? Susan Murphy raced her pony to the tub with the apples floating in the water, ducked her head in and came up with an apple and was about to mount and race back but her pony had a better idea. He wanted an apple too. Despite Susan's tugging on the reins he kept his head in the water for about 90 seconds. Maybe he wanted a drink, maybe an apple .. he's not telling.

WAYNE McDOWELL - a Huntingdon youth who had parts of his thumb and fingers of his right hand severed in an industrial accident in LaSalle this summer - was a t the Fair. One of the first things he told us "Whoever told you I wouldn't be able to play hockey was wrong. I'll be playing as usual this winter." Sorry about that Wayne and we're pleased to know you'll be back at CVR next month and playing in the area leagues again.

Huntingdon Fair results

Cooking, handicrafts

Satisfying job: Mrs. Murray McCaig and Mrs. Les Rogers judge Junior Division muffins in the cooking and handicrafts section of the fair.

"This year saw the largest cattle entry ever ... The horse show was as good as any year... We had a full house in poultry entries; I think every cage was full... and the Flower display was exceptional"

Despite some anxiety about the freshly laid dirt and tanbark in the Arena, the horse show hit its full stride by Friday night, when the 1200 seats just purchased from the Quebec Games were filled and many standees watched the equestrian events and the square dancing and fiddlers' events.

Though the official opening took place after the Thursday evening parade through the streets of Huntingdon which featured bands, majorettes, and floats, including the ballet-dancing prize winning Rotarians, things had already moved into high gear on Thursday afternoon with the Huntingdon 4-H Achievemnt Day and the ever-popular Pet Show, presided over by Judged "Doc" Sweet and Rene Foran. Masses of children, each clutching a dog or cat, sometimes at unusual angles, lined up in the afternoon sunshine to display their pets, and were rewarded with ribbons, trophies and samples of dog food.

The attitude of the participants was more professional, but not less enthusiastic on Saturday at the 4-H Inter Club calf Show, when houngsters from Howick, Ormstown, Huntingdon, St. Anicet, Havelock, and Beauharnois gathered to show their valves and try their skill at judging.

Saturday's events were dampened slightly by the rain which began around noon but cleared up by evening.

The consensus was that the change of dates was a good thing as reflected in the attendance, and that in mid-August Fair would be planned for next year too.

"Labor Day week-end is a time when most people are closing up their summer places and getting ready for school," said Don Davidson. "They are busy, and they don't have much money to spend at the fair."

He did not feel that the conflict with the Hemmingford Apple Festival on Saturday was a drawback to either event.

Canada to illustrate talks she will be giving when she gets home.

The sightseeing has been frantic for the visitors, with their hosts determined to give them maximum opportunity to absorb the countryside, farm methods, and the people. They have been in Montreal, and across the border into New York State. On Monday they toured the Green Giant plant in Ste. Martine and a cider plant in Franklin and other activities are planned before they leave the area on Aug. 22.

Three other members of the group are visiting in the Eastern Townships.

Bridal pair honeymoon on trip to maritimes

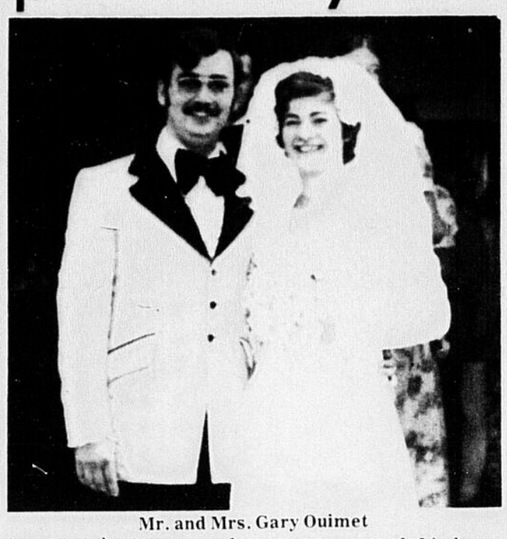
Carol Roberta Crawford and Gary Vernon Ouimet were married in Huntingdon United Church July 20 by Rev. Brian Prideaux of St. John's Anglican Church, Huntingdon asssisted by Father René Poirier of Ormstown.

Miss Lee Ann Ruddock was organist and Miss Debbie Wright was soloist, singing "We've Only Just Begun" during the signing of the register.

Baskets of white shasta daisies and mauve flowers decorated the altar.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of white embroidered polyester with lace bodice and long sleeves, with lace train extending from the waistline. Her shoulder length veil of tulle illusion was held in place by a lace and seed pearl band and she carried a colonial bouquet of yellow roses, white shasta daisies and baby's breath.

Miss Mavis Crawford, sister of the bride, maid-of-honor, wore a pink flowered gown made with a shirred bodice, round collar and short puffed sleeves. Miss Lorraine Ouimet, sister of the groom, bridesmaid, wore an identical gown in blue, and both girls carried baskets of carnations, daisies and baby's breath, the carnations matching their gowns



Mr. and Mrs. Gary Ouimet

Keith Bryson of Ormstown was best man, and the ushers were Stanley and Joey Ouimet, brothers of the groom.

Mrs. Crawford, the bride's mother, wore a royal blue flowered gown with off-white accessories.

Mrs. Ouimet, the groom's mother, wore a coral gown with short matching embroidered cape and white accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of cream-colored rosebuds and baby's breath.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Church Hall where a buffet supper was served to 95 guests and from there the wedding party went to the Trout River Golf Club where dancing was enjoyed to the music of Lindsay Cullen's Orchestra.

Guests were present from Ottawa, Cornwall, Espanola Ont., Montreal, Valleyfield, Ormstown and Chateaugay, N.Y., Saranac Lake N.Y., New Hampshire, Massachusetts and Whitehorse, Yukon.

The bride and groom left for their wedding trip to the Maritimes, the bride wearing a powder blue suit with cream accessories and a corsage of pink rosebuds.

Prior to her marriage, Roberta was honored at a linen shower given by Rosetta Brisebois, Mary McDermott and Marie Brunet held in St. Joseph's School, a miscellaneous shower, given by Mrs. Hendrick Bonenberg and Mrs. Art Bonenberg at the former's home.

Roberta and Gary were also guests of honor at a small family gathering in Kensington Grange Hall, hostesses being Mrs. Tom Hooker and Mrs. Wm. Crawford and also at a mixed shower in Ormstown Legion Hall when Miss Debbie Wright and Mr. Keith Bryson entertained and the Country Tradition musical group provided music for dancing.

Burns fatal to ex-Valley resident

Fifty-one-year-old Gerald Tremblay, a native of Franklin Centtre who lived in Azilda, Ont., near Sudbury died in hospital recently as the result of burns suffered while he was syphoning gasoline from his snowmobile.

Fire Chief Gerald Joliat said Tremblay was working on the snowmobile in a shed when an explosion occurred and suffered third degree burns to more than 90 per cent of his body. He died in a Sudbury hospital about five hours later.

The victim's son, Gilles, heard the explosion from the house and pulled his father from the flames. The explosion blew out the walls of the shed and destroyed the structure.

The victim was born March 30, 1923, in Franklin Centre, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Tremblay of Huntingdon. He joined the Canadian Navy in the fall of 1941 and was employed with the Department of Veterans Affairs.

Early days recalled

To school by raft in spring floods

by FLORENCE CRAWFORD

Because of rain the Howick Women's Institute took its annual picnic indoors to the United Church Hall and made Aug. 6 an exciting and interesting occasion which brought to life the history of the community of Allen's Corner.

Originally it was planned to hold the picnic on the Allen's Corner lawn of Jim and Isobel Templeton where the picnickers could see the present buildings in that community and hear the story of the earlier days. In the church hall Jim and Isobel hosted the event anyway and were accompanied by their neighbors Frank Hope, the guest speaker, and his wife Marjory and Mrs. Wilfrid Bryson who lives at the site of the monument commemorating the Battle of Chateauguay.

All plans were in the hands of the W.I. program committee--the Chateauguay River members and their job was excellent.

MRS. JIM WHYTE... lived dangerously

Mrs. Donald Chisholm presided at the opening ode and collect and welcomed everyone and history really came to life when the roll call gave members and visitors an opportunity to show a treasured antique and tell why it was precious to them or had historical interest.

Wide variety

The event drew a wide variety of articles including christening robes, dishes, a book of mathematical drawings and problems done by a small boy in Sctoland before he came to Canada, a silver spoon, an interesting autograph book, a wedding dress designed and made by the bride, buttons from the uniform of Capt. Stewart who led the Canadian troops in the 18 66-70 Fenian Raids and lived beside the house now occupied by Ken McFarlane, son of Robert McFarlane; an embroidered pillow sham made about 1830 or earlier by Isobel Robertson, mother of David Hay, first secretary of the Tres St. Sacrement Council at Howick (constituted in 188 5): a receipt to Thos. Chisholm Tullochgorum Road for three years' subscription to The Canadian Gleaner, Huntingdon, Nov. 1, 1870-Nov. 1 1873-- $4.50

Also a soldier's coat, trumpet, officer's pistol, powder horn and slugs dating back to early conflicts on the Chateauguay River involving the Wright family were of historical value.

A Scottish-born lady from Riverfield, when asked if she had brought something said blithely, "No, my husband is working today."

Ancient bulb

Mrs. Mollison held up a light bulb bought in Canada in 1929, the first she had bought in her life since electricity was not in use where she had come from in Scotland. Her statement that the bulb still works brought loud applause.

There were many more items and all were displayed later where everyone could examine them.

Mrs. Chisholm invited Isobel Templeton to chair the program planned for the day and she introduced Frank Hope who remarked that at Allen's Corner on that very day there was probably more excitement than when the Battle of Chateauguay was fought. He noted the highway was closed to traffic because two huge trucks had been involved in a dramatic accident and he almost wished he could have stayed home where the action was.

He described Allen's Corner as it was andwhat remains today. He told the amusing incidents he had heard of the early days in Allen's Corner and included more which belong to the years since 1905 when he went to live there.

Mrs. Wright who lives on the historic Wright homestead near Georgetown recounted exciting stories told to her by her husband's mother who knew about the family history. There was, for instance, 10-year-old Margaret Wright who escaped through a bedroom window, took a horse from the stable and rode to the block house where the soldiers were alerted and routed the enemy who had taken over the Wright home. Pictures, war mementos and excerpts from the history written by one of the descendants of the Wright family (named Lighthall) brought history alive.

Ninety-one-year-old Mrs. Jim Whyte, the former Eva Glen of Brysonville, told about an unusual flood late in June when she was about 10 years old (1893 or '94). The gully between her home and the McCartney's ran high with water but the commissioners were coming to school for the June examination and she intended to be there. Her father, Andrew Glen, made a raft and the two of them made their way down the flooded fields near the river until they landed behind Mr. McCartney's barn and she could walk along the road to the school.

The water was deep and she thought it was great fun-but she said she wouldn't have allowed her children to do the same thing had the occasion arisen.

Questions or comments from the floor were encouraged which brought added data to light. Rhoda McFarlane sensed the feeling of the audience and very ably thanked Frank Hope and the senior members of the Howick W.I. who had given everyone so much pleasure in recounting the early history of that area of the Chateauguay River.

Mrs. Osborne Orr from Aubrey-Riverfield W.I. added their thanks. Margaret Chisholm was pleased with the program planned by the committee and showed her appreciation.

Tables for 10 each had been set before hand and the crowd of 70-odd enjoyed a fruit salad lunch. Before the sweets were served the birthday song was heard as a large cake was carried to the table where Martha Bryson, a past president of Howick W.I., was seated. This was a real surprise but Mrs. Bryson blew the candles out and a picture was taken. The cake had been made by her sister, Florence Crawford, and decorated by Hazel Robertson.

Group pictures taken included Mrs. J.R. Younie and Mrs. Frances Greig wearing their W.I. 50-year pins. They had been officially presented at the Younie 60th wedding anniversary on June 24, as Mrs. Younie had joined the W.I. in 1914 and Mrs. Greig in 1917.

Mrs. James Crawford

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Rorison and Kenny, Surrey B.C. spent a week at the home of Carl's sister, Mr. and Mrs.James Chisholm and visited their friends in the area. Carl worked with the flight simulators for the Pacific Western Airlines in Vancouver. Their eldest son, Greg, was unable to accompany them as he has summer work.

Mr. and Mrs. T.J. McMahon spent a week in Dartmouth N.S. with Jack and Joan Ogilvie and family. Their daughter lives beside water where the fishing is good so Mr. McMahon was happy. While in Halifax they saw Dr. Johnson. As usual they have flowers and a garden. This trip was taken by bus and train.

The Murray Templetons did well at Huntingdon Fair winning Premier Breed Award and other Holstein prizes. The young people were successful in 4-H. Watch for Gleaner prize lists.

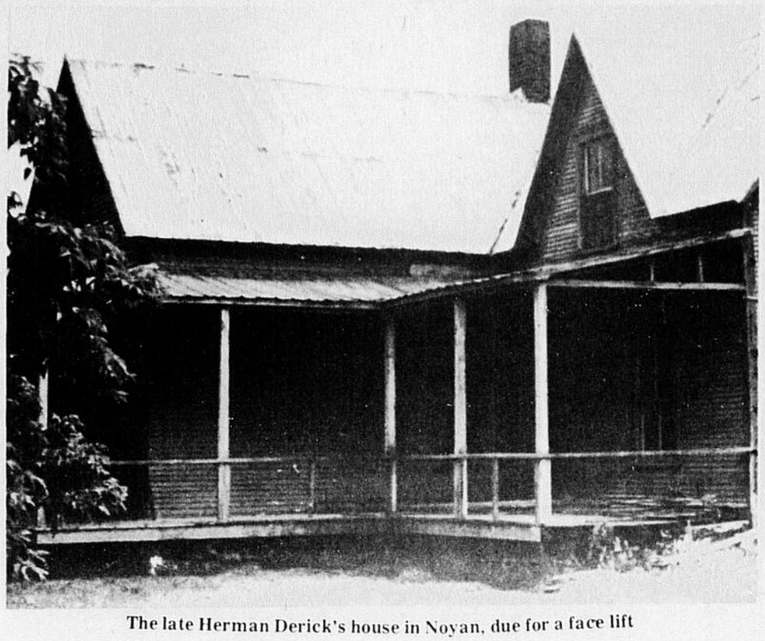
Incidentally, they won't sell to just anyone who has the necessary long green. Should a prospective buyer come through the front door of one of their restorations and not react with the same degree of ecstasy and joy that Peck and Derosier feel themselves over what they've done there's no sale.

"We are very selective" said Peck as he moved through the circa-1830 restored, red brick New England-type house in which he and Derosier live amid their many antiques. "We even draw up our advertisements so that we hope only the right people will respond and then we screen a prospective buyer carefully."



The late Herman Derick's house in Noyan, due for a face lift

To qualify

How does one qualify to live in a Derosier-Peck authentically restored antique?

First you must feel about the pastoral farm country around Noyan and Clarenceville the way they do - sort of soft and warm and joyfully tranquil.

Also you must abhor the idea of a city-type dwelling in the country. You must feel they've returned the house to its original glory and added in exactly the right way the contemporary necessities such as insulation, walk-in cupboards, island sinks, insulated walls, heating systems and such mundane things as bathrooms and showers.

After all that you can talk money.

Incidentally a shower in one of their restored beauties can be quite a thing. One of them, for instance, is enclosed by old church windows but so subtly done you'd never know.

Derosier explained that he and Peck used to spend a lot of time at antique auctions and came across the Noyan area when they made a wrong turn five years ago going home to Montreal from a sale in Aulburg, Vt.

"We were impressed with the utterly unspoiled nature of the area and the tremendous specimens of early architecture," he said. "Even though some were in sad states of repair we saw that here was a place where we could put to work the creative restoration urge we both felt."

The partners, with a lot of study and a large library of reference books on architecture in New England and early Canada have become experts on the detail that went into old houses, such as mouldings, beading, windows, gable fans, shutters, hardware, various antique frills and so on.

At the same time they know about today's living and the trick is to combine the new with the old and keep things authentic.

For instance there were 14 rooms in the downstairs of the house in which they live and which is up for sale. When they were through there were only six rooms. Several inside walls disappeared but now it is more functional and, furnished entirely with their own antiques, it looks authentically its age to the Nth degree, even to the period housing they placed over the old well.

Full time

"No way can you do this sort of thing on a spare-time amateur basis," said Peck. "We discovered that when we tried it for the first two years. We were stripping off layers of paint, sanding old wide-board pine floors, tearing out walls and doing everything ourselves. But it was endless and much too much for a spare time operation so after two years we decided to go at it full time since this is what we want to do."

"Now," added Derosier, "we contract-out for the major changes and rough work that must be done to make an old house fit with today's living. Then we both move in for the detail work".

In their present house they got it livable; then they moved into it with their antique furniture and finished the interior detail work in the next few months. "Very frustrating," said Peck, "because detail work must be so correct, takes so long to do right and must be exactly authentic".

For instance this pair would not think of laying a new wide-board pine floor with anything but the old square, cut nails. They also found carpenters who still use the old planes to make the period-type mouldings and bead-work they need.

When they lay a pine floor they get the boards months before they are to be used and, in effect, kiln dry them so that once put down they don't warp and curl up. They've found a stain formula that makes this floor look ages old, particularly with the old nails.

But there are a good many concessions which must be made to the present. Old beams, for instance. Peck noted that the builders of the eight houses they have so far restored covered the beautiful hand-axed beams with plaster ceilings. In those early days a home was felt to be something considerably more sophisticated than a barn which was full of exposed hand-axed beams. But today people like exposed beams in an old house, particularly in the kitchen though they still don't fit in the "drawing room." And today's buyers want roominess. So as often as not two or three rooms become one.

English house

Back to Herman Derick's house at the Noyan crossroads:

"I haven't thought it all out yet," said Peck as one of his carpenters dismantled a built-on shed far to the rear of the sagging verandah. "But the way I visualize it this will end up as an English country house. We'll restore the verandah, perhaps have a couple of arbors for sitting out and entertaining, maybe plant an English perennial bed of flowers and ornament the verandah and front with authentic ginger bread and curlicues. Also, we'll try and work out a paint color for this old clapboard beauty that will be just about the same as its current faded and weathered grey."

Peck sounded a little wistful as he outlined what he and Derosier planned. The reason: The Derick house is about the last one available in the area for their tender restorative efforts.

Local sea cadets away on courses

Thirteen members of Huntingdon's Sea Cadet group are spending part or all of their summer vacations in various parts of the country, taking courses in connection with their naval training.

Officer Cadet Kari Jaatinen told The Gleaner, "This represents about half our enrolment of 25 young men who meet in Huntingdon during the school year. Those who took shorter courses are already back home, except for three who left for a two week session at Cornwallis on Aug. 3, but all those on six or eight-week courses are still away.

"Though we meet here in Huntingdon, our members come from a larger area, including Dundee, Dewittville, and Ormstown."

Marc Deschambault (Dundee) and David Gillespie (Huntingdon) have completed a two-week general training course at the Quadra Naval Base in B.C., while Gerhardt Schmidt of Dewittville is engagedin a six-week administrative training course there. At the same base for the whole summer is Benoit Dupont of Ormstown, who is working as a corporal call-out.

François Chabot (Ormstown) spent a week taking a sailing course in Kingston, Ont., while eight other cadets went to Nova Scotia.

They are Guy Galipeau (Huntingdon), Sylvain Royer (Huntingdon), and Camille Duchesnes (Ormstown) who are now taking two weeks general training at Cornwallis base: Pierre Lefeovre of Hunfingdon, on a six weeks leadership course, and three corporal call-outs: Denis Dupont and Luc Bolduc of Ormstown and Alain Goulet of Huntingdon all spending eight weeks at Cornwallis. At Halifax for six weeks is Denis Deschambault of Huntingdon, who is taking a bosun's course.

'Help our Centre' Auction planned

A giant community auction is to be held at Ormstown Fair Grounds Sept. 21 in aid of the projected Walshaven Community Centre.

This centre will be in the basement of the new Walshaven Apartments -- a housing project for retired people-- which are now under construction adjacent to the Barrie Memorial Hospital. It will be available to residents of the whole Chateauguay Valley for crafts, hobbies, sports and social activities including meals.

An application for assistance has been filed with the New Horizons Department, which is a Federal Government sponsored program and Funds projects for retired people and senior citizens.

A committee is at work to raise funds to help finish the Centre (Wall paneling, carpeting, floor tile, etc.) and here is where the community at large can lend a hand in providing assistance.

Any donations of good furniture, clothing, household articles, antiques, white elephant, baked goods, etc. will be welcomed and accepted at the dining hall at the Fair Grounds from 2-4 and 7-9 p.m. from September 2. to Sept. 7 for cataloguing.

Anyone who is unable to deliver items to the fairgrounds may telephone any of the following volunteers, Mrs. Everett Mason 829-2970; Mrs. Laure Lauzon 829-2088; Mrs. Alan Cavers 829-3194 Mrs. Wm. G. DUNDEE - $64,000

272 acres - 200 tillable. This delightful old farm has a stone house with a fireplace, but needs work. It is presently a dairy farm, but could be easily converted to beef. It has good drainage and fences and the machinery and cattle are available if desired.

ST.BARBE - $49,500

192 arpents - 100 tillable. This property has a very charming home sitting back from the road with a beautiful view of the surrounding valley. There are three bedrooms large living room and country kitchen. There is a large barn, silo and corrals, as the farm is now a beef operation but would be ideal for horses as well.

ATHELSTAN - $27,500

Maybe you've looked at about a dozen farms, and the only thing stopping you from buying was the house. Well, how about 108 acres with 90 tillable and a large barn, which just needs a little work to be in top shape. Now all it needs is the house you've always wanted.

PORT LEWIS - $60,000

Here is another farm without a home. It has 150 acres but has to be seen to be truly appreciated. The timber lot is mature and clean and 100 acres of the hay land is as good as you'll see in the county. To top it off, you have access to Lake St. Francis for sailing and swimming - if you have time!!!

HEMMINGFORD - $18,500

104 acres. If you want privacy this could be it! This piece of land has just come on the market. It is not really suitable for farming, but would be a magnificent place for a home, with the possibility of development later on.

We have several large and small farms in the Chateauguay Valley and if you are interested, I would be delighted to hear from you.

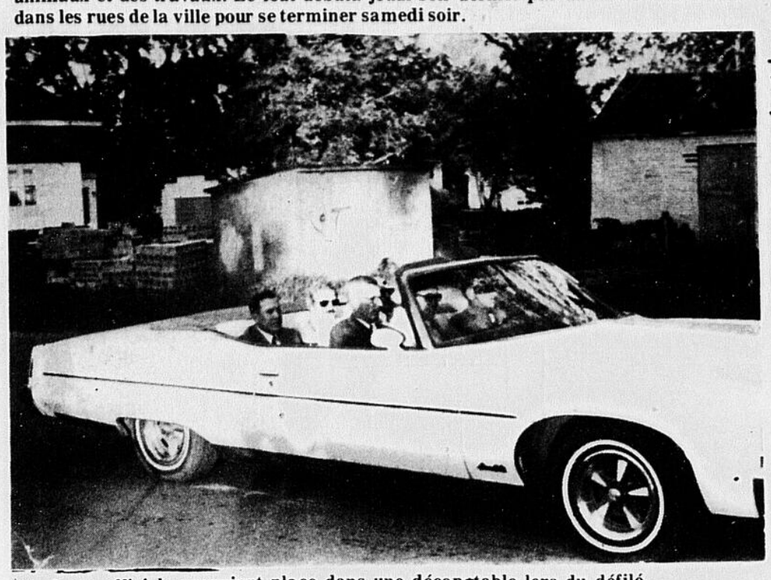
VOL. 18 — No. 34 LE GLEANER · HUNTINGDON, QUEBEC MERCREDI, LE 21 AOUT 1974 PRIX 20¢

L'Exposition de H'don s'avère un succès

L'exposition agricole de Huntingdon a remporté un franc succès cette année. Une foule record de 10,000 personnes se rendit au terrain de l'exposition afin d'admirer des animaux et des travaux. Le tout débuta jeudi soir dernier par un défilé intéressant dans les rues de la ville pour se terminer samedi soir.



Plusieurs officiels prenaient place dans une décapotable lors du défilé On reconnaît le député fédéral Gérald Laniel, Peter Tully, Claude Pilon, Allan Wilson et Lucien Perron.

Le corps de fanfare d'Ormstown mit un peu plus de beauté au défilé. Leur musique fut apprécié par les personnes réunies le long des routes.

Le Club Rotary a remporté les honneurs avec leur char allégorique. Des rotariens étaient déguisés en femmes, et ils [ou elles] dansaient dans leur petite robe de ballet.

Fraser de retour

Le député Ken Fraser de la circonscription de Huntingdon est de retour de vancances.

Ces vacances lui permirent de ne pas se prononcer en troisième lecture sur le projet de loi 22 sur la question des langues officielles.

Pendant ce temps, Ken Fraser fit beaucoup parler de lui. Plusieurs gens n'apprécièrent pas le geste du député.

Il faut toutefois espérer que le député Fraser se prononcera officiellement sur cette question afin de clarifier toute la situation.

Le CRD continuera le travail commencé

Lors d'une conférence de nouvelles le 11 août dernier, le président du Conseil Régional de Développement de la région 6-C, M. Jean H. Massey, a dévoilé les intentions futures de l'organisme, même si l'Office de planification et de développement du Québec a décidé de couper les vivres de cet organisme.

Le secteur de Huntingdon, Valleyfield, Beauharnois et Chateauguay appartient au CRD de la région sud de Montréal. Or, c'est pourquoi une telle nouvelle peut affecter le secteur d'une façon ou d'une autre.

Refletant l'esprit d'initiative de son président, le CRD de la région sud de Montréal continuera le travail. Par la décision de l'OPDQ, le CRD deviendra plus autonome dans ses actions; il pourra alors voir davantage aux problèmes du secteur et non pas toujours considérer ce que les grands penseurs veulent bien croire et entendre.

Pour sa part, Jean H. Massey a caractérisé la décision de l'OPDQ de retirer l'accréditation du CRD 6-C et de ne plus assurer son financement d'un "geste gratuit et arbitraire". Il faut noter qu'il ne s'agit pas de la première fois qu'une telle attitude est prise par l'Office, car en 1972 le CRD de l'Outaouais se retrouvait dans le même situation.

Dans la région sud de Montréal, le travail se poursuivra malgré tout. C'est pourquoi on entreprendra d'ici les prochains mois une campagne de recrutement intensif afin d'apporter certains fonds. Il semble que le CRD 6-C est assuré de l'aide des Conseils Régionaux de développement.

POURQUOI PAS UN NOUVEAU ROLE:

Avec la prise de position de l'Office de Planification et le Développement du Québec, le CRD 6-C veut se donner un nouveau rôle. En somme, un rôle plus conforme à ses vues.

Le président de l'organisme fit un historique du début du CRD. Il nota qu'au début le tout était axé sur la consultation. M. Massey affirma ensuite que le rôle du CRD devait être plus important que cela. Il veut que le CRD devienne le noyau d'une prise de conscience de la population. Alors,la population connaîtra ses besoins, et pourra acheminer des dossiers et des avis aux paliers décisionnels gouvernementaux ou locaux, si tel est le cas.

M . Massey déclara que le CRD voulait surtout s'impliquer au niveau de l'aménagement du territoire et de la qualité de la vie de la population du secteur, en ce qui concerne le social.

Il fit le point également en affirmant que le temps était venu afin d'adopter des lignes d'actions pour obtenir des réalisations bien concrètes. Il faut noter que plusieurs projets sont actuellement à l'étude; on pense à l'aménagement en parc des îles du pont Mgr Langlois à Valleyfield, et au Canal Soulanges.

M. Massey n'a pas ménagé ses paroles envers l'OPDQ lors de l'assemblée générale du CRD: "Bousculés par l'OPDQ pour être l'organisme que nous sommes aujourd'hui, trompés par l'Office sur un dossier fantome, traités d'incompétents par l'Office. nous avons appris qu'il était préférable de prendre nos distances « avec ces génies transcendants."

Le président Massey termina en disant que le CRD 6-C sera celui de la région sud de Montréal, et non plus celui de l'OPDQ.

Ormstown

Trois blessés

Trois personnes furent blessées dans une collision impliquant deux véhicules à la sortie d'Ormstown, le 16 août dernier.

Le tout survint lorsqu'un camion conduit par Michael Dennigan de Ste-Clothilde vint frapper l'arrière de l'auto conduite par Louis Pompey de Queen's Village, dans l'état de New York. Le tout survint sur la route 14 près de l'intersection de la route 3.

Lydie Joachim, 49 ans, Keaty, 17 et Carol, 5 ans étaient des passagers de l'auto de M. Pompey. Ces derniers furent blessés et conduits par ambulance à l'Hôpital Barrie Memorial d'Ormstown.

Pas d'aide étrangère:

Or les pomiculteurs devront se débrouiller

Plusieurs pomiculteurs de la région de Franklin seront certes déçuc cet automne car ils ne pourront pas bénéficier de l'aide de travailleurs étrangers. C'est en effet ce que nous apprenions lundi en fin de soirée.

L'automne dernier, plusieurs travailleurs des Antilles vinrent aider les pomiculteurs de la région dans leur récolte; il en fut de même pour le secteur de Rougemont. L'expérience s'avéra fantastique, et c'est pourquoi certains pomiculteurs désiraient fortement continuer l'initiative.

Or, ce ne sera pas la même chose cette Les pomiculteurs québécois ne pourront pas bénéficier de cette main d'oeuvre supplémentaire, car la protection assurée par la Commission des accidents du travail ne s'étend pas aux travailleurs de la classe agricole. Ces pays fournisseurs de main d'oeuvre refusèrent de répondre aux demandes des pomiculteurs québécois car le tout ne répond aux normes des pays.

Parce qu'il y a une législation inadéquate dans la province de Québbec, cette dernière province sera la seule qui ne pourra bénéficier de ce service lancé dernièrement.

René Vanasse, vice-président de l'Association des Pomiculteurs de la belle province, nota que ce n'est qu'en juin que les producteurs agricoles, désireux d'obtenir une main d'oeuvre étrangère, furent avisés que leurs assurances n'étaient pas satisfaisantes pour les pays étrangers.

Selon des données officielles, les pomiculteurs auraient demandé cette année 300 travailleurs étrangers. Certains se posent une question: est-ce-que le ministre Andras avait promis de trouver la main d'oeuvre nécessaire durant la saison de récolte? Donc, il semble que ceci pose un certain problème cette année pour les pomiculteurs du secteur et du reste de la belle province.

Le Québec pourra bénéficier de ce programme lorsque sa législation sera éclaircie. Pendant ce temps, le problème de la main-d'oeuvre sera encore plus aigu cet automne.

Pour cueillir les pommes, if faut une main d'oeuvre imposante, et le facteur temps est très important. A chaque année, très peu de québécois répondent à l'appel lancé par les centres de main d'oeuvre pour la cueillette des pommes.

On peut douter que la main d'oeuvre sera suffisante.

Déjà, on croit que plusieurs milliers de minots de pommes seront gaspillés à cause du manque de main d'oeuvre.

Samedi soir, on couronnait la reine du Festival de la Pomme à Hemmingford. L'heureuse élue fut Cathy Enderle [au centre]; elle est épaulée par deux princesses, Eileen Cleland [à gauche] et Ghislaine Bienvenue [à droite].

Festival de la Pomme:

La pluie de la partie

Le Festival de la Pomme à Hemmingford samedi s'est avéré un succes malgré le temps gris et la pluie.

Cathy Enderle a été élue Reine du Festival et une foule considérable est venue participer aux festivités.

Le Président du Festival, Bob Petch, en remerciant tous ceux qui y avaient travaillé ou qui y étaient simplement venus en profiter, a qualifié la journée de "grand succès." De même le maire Maurice Patenaude.

On ne sait pas exactement combien de personnes le Festival a attirées mais les gens de l'exterieur ont commencé à affluer dès 9h du matin. Toute la journée, le village était rempli et la circulation automobile si dense que vers le milieu de l'après-midi,il fallait une demi-heure pour traverser le village.

Quelques minutes avant le défilé à 3h p.m., pendant un arrêt momentané de la pluie, il y avait tellement de monde qu'une autopatrouille a parcouru la rue Frontière en avertissant les gens par haut-parleur de se méfier des tire-laine.

On avait estimé la participation l'an dernier à 5,000 et il semble qu'autant de monde est venu saluer la récolte-vedette de la région cette année - son Honneur la Pomme.

Pour se protéger de la pluie qui commença à tomber vers midi, beaucoup de personnes s'achetèrent de ces grands sacs à poubelles verts, y pratiquèrent une ouverture pour la tête et les bras et purent ainsi se promener au sec.

Mlle Ghislaine Bienvenue fut proclamée 1ère Princesse et aidera la Reine à régner sur le festival de l'an prochain.

Tous auraient sûrement préféré un beau soleil pour cette importante journée mais en fait, pour certains, la pluie fut un avantage. En effet, les dames qui vendaient de la nourriture dans les salles des trois églises, ont pu vendre tout leur stock et à 2h de l'après-midi,il ne leur restait plus rien.

"La nourriture disparaissait comme par enchantement", a dit l'une d'entre elles.

Les étalages d'antiquités et d'artisanat furent aussi très achalandés et ceux qui s'en occupaient ont dit que les affaires avaient été encore meilleures que ce qu'ils anticipaient.

"Ils étaient même intéressés dans l'histoire,"a dit Gerry Rogers, ancien président de la Société Historique de la Vallée de la Châteauguay,qui s'occupait d'un kiosque consacré aux publications de la Société et à l'histoire régionale.

Jim Thomson présenta également une exposition de chevaux en dépit de la pluie.

Les randonnées par autobus aux vergers, fabriques de pommes et le Cellier St-Bernard, débutèrent tôt dans la journée et connurent beaucoup de succès. Il y a même des gens qui ont dit venir au Festival spécialement pour cette pittoresque randonnée de 40 minutes à travers la jolie campagne aux alentours de Hemmingford.

La pluie cessa vers la fin de la journée et la danse au Club de Golf put se terminer à l'exterieur,aux sons d'un ensemble bavarois et de l'orchestre de Bill MacDonald. En même temps se pursuivait à la salle de l'église presbytérienne unse soirée de quadrilles et on y dansa jusqu'a minuit.

Les Vergers Laurie obtinrent le premier prix pour les chars allégoriques et Ivan Brown remporta le prix dans la catégorie des véhicules antiques.

Les Etoiles de St-Hubert furent déclarés la meilleure fanfare et Mme Margaret Keeton remporta le concours de photographie.

Le prix pour les meilleurs cinq acres de verger fut décerné à Joe Enderle de la rue Fisher à Hemmingford. Il reçut la plaque Aaron Churchill à la mémoire de ce pomiculteur qui perdit la vie récemment dans un accident et qui avait été l'un des plus fervents organisateurs de ce Festival de la Pomme.---

Mercredi soir, à l'exposition de Malone, Bobby Bare et les Hagger Brothers offriront un spectacle de toute beauté.

La rentrée des classes (2):

L'infirmière et le travailleur social rentrent aussi en classe

NDLR--- Le journal La Gazette publie dans son édition de cette semaine le deuxième d'une série d'articles

par Maurice Arguin

L'infirmière et le travailleur social en milieu scolaire assurent le bien-être de vos enfants et adolescents, de la maternelle au collégial. Ils portent une attention spéciale à ceux qui leur sont référés par les parents ou les professeurs.

Si votre enfant se blesse légèrement à l'école, ne vous inquiétez pas, l'infirmière lui prodigue les premiers soins. Elle peut aussi rendre certains services, si on le lui demande. Par exemple, elle peut changer un pansement à l'école, ce qui évite des déplacements.

En cas d'accident à l'école, l'infirmière assure le transport immédiat et sécuritaire de l'enfant au centre hospitalier et prévient les parents.

L'infirmière enseigne aussi à vos jeunes que le meilleur remède contre la maladie, c'est la santé. Au moyen de semaines d'information, de dépliants, de films, elle les renseigne sur l'alimentation, l'hygiène, la cigarette . . .

Les parents, ou l'Association des parents de l'école, peuvent faire des suggestions à l'infirmière. Lui demander, par exemple, de parler de la drogue et de ses dangers. Lui suggérer de s'entendre avec les responsables de l'Unité sanitaire pour qu'ils viennent à l'école faire des radiographies pulmonaires; lui demander la visite d'un hygiéniste dentaire à l'école, etc. Les étudiants, dès le niveau secondaire, peuvent aussi exprimer leur point de vue sur les programmes de santé à l'école.

Le travailleur social

Le travailleur social a besoin, lui aussi, des suggestions des parents. Il est important qu'ils lui fassent part des problèmes de leur enfant. Par exemple, si vous avez remarqué chez lui une plus grande agressivité qu'en temps normal; ou si vous vous rendez compte qu'il a de la difficulté à s'adapter dans son milieu familial ou scolaire; ou s'il est aux prises avec la drogue . . . Dans tous les cas où vous notez un problème de comportement, consultez le travailleur social de l'école. Il rencontrera votre enfant et prendra les moyens nécessaires pour l'aider.

En outre, vous pouvez compter sur la discrétion du travailleur social. Comme l'infirmière, il est tenu au secret professionnel et ce que vous lui dites, ce que votre enfant peut lui dire, reste entre ses oreilles.

S'il y a, dans une école ou l'autre, des problèmes qui empêchent les étudiants de travailler normalement, l'Association des parents, un groupe d'entre eux, ou un parent, peut demander au travailleur social de chercher les causes qui provoquent cette situation et de proposer une ou des solutions. Il peut s'agir d'un manque de motivation généralisé chez les étudiants, d'absences très nombreuses aux cours, de conflits . . . Il faut connaître le pourquoi de ces difficultés pour rétablir un climat où chacun se sente à l'aise et fonctionne normalement.

Les infirmières et les travailleurs sociaux sont dans les écoles du Québec pour vous rendre service. Votre commission scolaire est en mesure de vous fournir une information complète sur les services de santé et les services sociaux en milieu scolaire. Vous pouvez rejoindre l'infirmière ou le travailleur social en téléphonant à l'école. Ils sont là pour vous et vos enfants.

Les règles du jeu: santé adaptation. Les arbitres: l'infirmière et le travailleur social

Un festival réussi!

Pierre Picard et Roland Lavallée préparèrent les jeunes pour la course de la poche dimanche dernier à la plage Somerville lors du Festival d'été des Chevaliers de Colomb de Huntingdon.

Les jeunes sont partis; une course intéressante à tous les points de vue. La course de la poche attira plusieurs jeunes dimanche lors du festival des Chevaliers de Colomb. La température était idéale pour des activités en plein air.

"Je le lance doucement, attrape-le" semble dire ce jeune garçon lors du concours des oeufs. Le tout était dans le cadre du Festival d'été des Chevaliers de Colomb de Huntingdon dimanche dernier à la plage Somerville.

Des bouteilles brisées

La Sûreté Municipale de Huntingdon faisait remarquer l'autre jour au rédacteur du journal La Gazette que plusieurs bouteilles d'eaux gazeuses étaient retrouvées brisées dans les rues de la municipalité.

Il semble qu'il s'agit d'une nouvelle vague; maintenant, on brise des bouteilles dans les rues de Huntingdon pour s'amuser et rire.

La sûreté Municipale espère obtenir la coopération des gens dans cette affaire. Des bouteilles brisées dans les rues peuvent causer des accidents fâcheux et malheureux. Et il faut penser aux propriétaires de véhicules motorisés; les crevaisons existent encore.

Il faut donc lancer un appel aux personnes qui s'amusent à briser des bouteilles dans les rues. Après chaque fin de semaine, plusieurs coins de rues sont garnis de bouteilles cassées. Ces personnes devraient se montrer plus civilisées, et devraient penser avant d'agir.

Et les commerçants devraient également prendre des précautions. Ils devraient s'assurer qu'il n'y a pas de bouteilles autour de leurs établissements, car la tentation peut être forte.

Soyez plus civilisés, messieurs les briseurs de bouteilles!

Conseil de St-Malachie

A l'assemblée du 6 août du Conseil de la Paroisse, il fut décidé de remettre la décision finale concernant un appel de soumissions pour l'enlèvement des ordures à une assemblée spéciale le 13 août, alors que tous les conseillers seront présents. Deux soumissions furent reçues, l'une du présent contracteur Georges Demers d'Ormstown, et l'autre de Lucien Leduc de St-Stanislas.

Un avis de proposition fut donné concernant un règlement à être soumis à une future réunion, en référence à une dépense de $93,000 pour la construction d'aqueduc, égout et station de pompage sur les rues Borden et Osmond et une partie de la Rte 14. Un autre règlement sera également proposé pour fixer les taux de compensation pour les résidants de ces rues.

On demandera au Ministère de l'Agriculture et de la Colonisation un octroi pour compléter la 5e Concession de la Route 14 pour rejoindre la section construite en 1970. Cette route donnera accès à de nouvelles terres agricoles pour les fermiers.

Une requête fut formulée au Ministère des Transports pour du gravier sur le Chemin Brysonville car le gravier qu'il y avait est disparu et le chemin est un "trou de boue" après chaque pluie.

Le règlement no. 110 fut adopté, pour l'abrogation d'une partie du règlement de construction no. 104 qui rendait obligatoire la pose d'une fondation en ciment ou blocs de ciment sous les maisons mobiles. Les propriétaires de ces maisons devront quand même payer des taxes, même si les demeures n'ont pas une telle fondation.

Il fut résolu de demander des soumissions pour des souffleurs à neige et des camions pour l'enlèvement de la neige dans la Paroisse pour les prochaines trois années. La Municipalité fournira les charrues et les ailes.

La Voirie sera priée de nettoyer le fossé devant la propriété de Mme Austin Sproule, sur la Basse Concession.

Deux cultivateurs de la Route 4 présentèrent une requête au Conseil, demandant leur appui pour obtenir la construction d'un canal additionnel sous la nouvelle route, là où il y en avait déjà un avant la nouvelle construction. Les cultivateurs de ce secteur, dont plusieurs ont investi dans le drainage souterrain, estiment que ce canal sera nécessaire à l'avenir pour assurer le drainage de leurs terres quand le fossé actuel souffrira de sédimentation.

Parce que le canal peut être construit assez facilement et pour pas trop cher pendant que les travaux sont en cours, le Conseil s'est prononcé fortement en faveur de cette initiative. La question a été référée à l'examen du Ministère des Transports.

Des comptes à payer de $1,484 et des chèque émis au montant de $6,657 furent approuvés.

Smith annonce

Le député Walter Smith est heureux de communiquer que le gouvernement du Canada continue à effectuer des achats importants dans le Comté de Saint-Jean. Voici quelques-uns de ceux des dernières semaines:

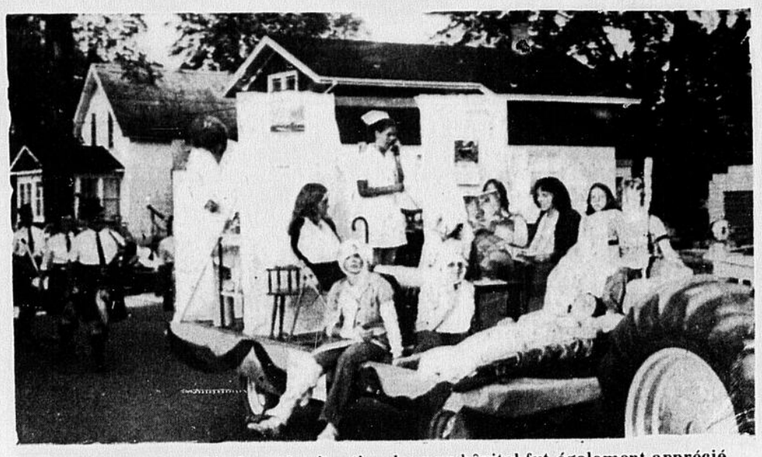
- Dominion Blank Book Ltd., $51,250 de cartables
— Héroux Ltd: $11,559 pièces d'avions;
— Entreprises Generales Enrg: $25,000 de réparation de meubles à la BFC St-Jean.

Conseil de Franklin

Au conseil de la municipalité de Franklin, les conseillers acceptèrent d'engager G. Putorti de Franklin pour faire le parterre devant l'hôtel de ville en gazon (tourbe) pour la somme de $225.

Les sapeurs volontaires de Franklin seront dorénavant protégés par une assurance; c'est en effet ce que les conseillers décidèrent, suivant ainsi la proposition offerte par J-L Trépanier.

En ce qui concerne les endroits, 43 accidents sont survenus en 1973 sur les lacs et les étangs tandis qu'on en comptait 33 sur les rivières.



Un char allégorique décrivant la situation dans un hôpital fut également apprécié par la foule. Ce char était suivi de la Chateauguay Valley Highland Pipe Band.

Sécurité et dîner

SECURITE, TIRAGE ET DINER DANS LA NATURE

Dans le cadre d'activités sur la sécurité au travail, l'usine CIL De Salaberry a procédé à un concours questionnaire et quatre tirages ont eu lieu les 10, 17, 25 juin et le 2 juillet 1974. Un total de 28 prix d'une valeur de $25 chacun ont été décernés aux gagnants suivants: H. Masse, G. Gourley, Mme M. Perrier, G. Chan, C. Tardif, R. Miron, M. Morin, R. Larocque, A. Boyer, A. Hébert, J.C. Lavigne, M. Sauvé, R. Gauthier, R.Crête, W. Lécuyer, A. Daoust, G. Leduc, G. Thompson, D. Larivière, P. Moore, N. Boulerice, A. Genest, Mme F. Bérubé, R. Sauvé, J.G. Lalonde, G. Boutin, J.P. Haché et L. St-Michel.

Le dernier objectif de 850 jours sans accident a été atteint le 20 juillet. "A cette occasion, un diner aux fèves au lard fut servi et plusieurs employés ont goûté ce mets de chez nous et le plaisir d'un repas en pleine nature. C'était très agréable!" de nous dire Louise Comier, infirmière à l'usine DeSalaberry.

Au sujet

Le mafre de poste de Huntingdon, Jim O'Hare, a pris sa retraite dernièrement. Il occupa ce poste pendant vingt-huit ans.

Le Moustique et le Bantamde Huntingdon au sein de la Ligue de Baseball Bo-Chato furent disqualifiés des séries éliminatoires par la direction de cette ligue. Le tout survint dimanche, et ce de façon officielle. Seul le Midget de Huntingdon continue d'evoluer au sein de cette ligue. Cette dernière formation est en course avec les Castors de Beauharnois pour le championnat des eliminatoires.

De l'air frais s.v.p.!

"Je me demande bien quand le soleil va arrêter de nous chauffer la couenne", semble dire le Sergent Philippe Cardinal de la Sûreté Municipale de Huntingdon. Travaillant dans un bureau où il fait entre les 80 et 90° F., les policiers et les employés d'administration endurent ces moments. Pourquoi il fait si chaud à l'hôtel de ville, et pourquoi il y a tant de mouches? Deux bonnes questions, donc voici les réponses: il fait si chaud car le système d'air climatisé ne fonctionne pas, et les employés doivent ouvrir les portes pour laisser entrer un peu d'air. Les mouches entrent donc par la même occasion... Il semble que le système d'air climatisé ne fonctionne pas depuis la fin de l'été dernier. Le nouvel édifice municipal fut construit dernièrement, et ce problème existe quasi depuis le début. Les policiers ont demandé au conseil de la ville de faire quelque chose; le conseil fit pression auprès de la compagnie, mais on répond toujours qu'on attend certaines pièces. Messieurs les employés municipaux d'administration et messieurs les policiers, patience, car vous allez peut-être avoir votre air climatisé pour la période hivernale. --

Trois morts à Caughnawaga

Trois résidents de la réserve indienne de Caughnawaga trouvèrent la mort durant le dernier week-end à la suite d'accident de la route.

Le 18 août, vers les 14:15 heures, Henry Montour, 68 ans, et son épouse Mary, 66 ans, trouvèrent la mort après que leur véhicule, Dodge '68, est entré en collision face à face avec un autre véhicule. Le tout survint sur la route 138 à 2 milles de Chateauguay.

Le 19 août, vers les 19:15 heures, sur la route 138 à Caughnawaga, Suzanne White, 19 ans, perdit la vie dans un accident de la route. Il s'agit encore d'une collision frontale entre deux véhicules.

Cette dernière était une passagère dans l'auto conduite par Mark Winston Montour, 26 ans. Ce dernier a subi plusieurs fractures. L'autre automobile était conduite par Royston Lalle, 44 ans de Chateauguay. Ce dernier repose dans un état critique à l'hôpital de Lachine.

Les agents de la Sûreté du Québec, détachement de Laprairie, se rendirent sur les lieux de ces deux accidents pour faire les constat ations d'usage.

Octroi

Le député Libéral du comté de Beauharnois et adjoint parlementaire du ministre de l'Industrie et du Commerce, M. Gérard Cadieux, annonce que le ministre des Transports, M. Raymond Mailloux, a accordé une aide financière de $2, 245 au Club de Moto-Neige Beauharnois Inc. conformément au règlement numéro 7 sur la motoneige.

M. Cadieux fait savoir qu'il espérait que cette nouvelle politique du gouvernement rendra plus agréable la pratique du sport de la motoneige et que cette subvention du ministère des Transports contribuera à l'amélioration des sentiers et de la sécurité des motoneigistes.

Le député de Beauharnois a précisé que cette aide financière du ministre des Transports permettra à tous les membres du Club de Moto-Neige Beauharnois Inc. de participer pleinement à l'activité de la motoneige au cours de la saison prochaine.

Accident

Georges Alary, de Huntingdon, arrêta son véhicule près du Bluebird Diner sur la route 11 (près de Malone dans l'état de New York), mercredi dernier, afin d'éviter une vache. Le tout a eu comme résultat qu'une auto conduite par Léon Robideau, de Plattsburgh, vint heurter l'arrière du véhicule de M. Alary.

Plusieurs jeunes avaient décoré leurs bicyclettes pour le défilé de l'exposition de Huntingdon. Les costumes étaient originaux.

Parmi les 38 personnes qui se sont noyées au cours de 1973, 23 d'entre elles avaient entre 36 et 65 ans.

Nadeau en danger

Il semble que l'échevin Normand Nadeau serait en danger dans son quartier. C'est ce que le journal La Gazette a su dernièrement d'un informateur.

La gravité de la question se résume ainsi: il semble que certains confrères échevins aimeraient voir disparaître Nadeau de la table du conseil municipal de Huntingdon. C'est pourquoi ils sont à la recherche d'un candidat pour affronter M. Nadeau lors des prochaines élections municipales.

Est-ce-que le tout se réalisera? C'est à voir...mais il faut noter que l'échevin Nadeau a accompli du bon travail depuis qu'il fut élu échevin au sein du conseil de Huntingdon.

le CASCADE
a le sens de l'économie
Le chauffe-eau électrique Cascade jouit d'une grande popularité auprès des familles québécoises.
Il y a de bonnes raisons à cela.
D'abord, le Cascade utilise une énergie propre, sûre et puis : c'est un produit de chez nous.
Enfin, la cuve vitrifiée du Cascade, qui porte une garantie de dix ans, est enveloppée de laine minérale isolante.
Les pertes de chaleur s'en trouvent réduites et votre eau reste chaude plus longtemps, ce qui limite votre consommation d'électricité.
Alors, pourquoi gaspiller de l'énergie quand il existe un chauffe-eau . . . qui a le sens de l'économie.

Tous les services y ont participé

Les Jeux d'été du Québec pour 1974 sont maintenant terminés et la ville de Valleyfield reprend petit à petit son aspect habituel après avoir été prise d'assaut pendant plusieurs jours par quelque 4000 jeunes athlètes et plusieurs milliers de spectateurs.

Pour assurer le succès de cet événement, une foule de personnes ont travaillé ferme pendant plusieurs mois. A Bell Canada, un comité spécial a été formé dès février afin d'être en mesure de fournir un système de communication répondant aux besoins des Jeux. Et là aussi, il a falllu travailler ferme.

Quelque 30.000 pieds de câble,une quarantaine de téléphones publics, 250 téléphones ordinaires, des réseaux spéciaux de communications entre les différents sites, un système de transmission à micro-ondes, ce ne sont là que quelques exemples des installations qu'il a fallu effectuer, souvent en un laps de temps record.

Pendant plus d'un mois, l'equipe de l'installation a travaillé pratiquement sept jours par semaine.

"Une chose est sûre,de mentionner Bill Côte, directeur de l'Installation à Valleyfield,on ne risquait pas de s'ennuyer. Lorsqu'il s'agit d'un événement comme les Jeux d'été ce qu'il faut avant tout, c'est de la souplesse, car il y a beaucoup d'éléments comme l'état du terrain par exemple, ou encore, les conditions atmosphériques qui peuvent entraîner des changements importants dans l'organisation et le déroulement des Jeux et par le fait même nécessiter des modifications rapides dans les différents réseaux de communications."

Mais les installations téléphoniques ne sont pas les seuls services qui ont été fournis par les employés de Valleyfield.

Ainsi, Mme Pearl Johnson, du Service des tétephonistes, a profité de ses vacances pour aller donner un coup de main aux standardistes des Jeux tandis que le Service commercial, de son côté, à la demande des organisateurs des Jeux, déléguait Mme Colette Bougie afin de veiller à la formation des hôtesses.

"Toutefois, de mentionner Denis Cutler, président du comité de coordination à Bell, ce qui a ressorti le plus, à l'occasion des Jeux d'été, c'est la participation enthousiaste d'employés de tous les services et l'esprit d'équipe qu'ils ont manifesté à tous moments."

En 1973, 83 personnes étaient victimes d'accidents à la pêche; de ce nombre, 38 perdaient la vie tandis que 45 se blessaient.

Fiançailles

Mme Erma Shearer annonce les fiançailles de sa fille, Dorothy Ann, à M. Cyril Alary, fils de M. et Mme Georges Alary, tous de Huntingdon. Le mariage aura lieu en octobre.

Même si ce n'est pas toujours de tout repos, les Jeux d'été, c'est une expérience qu'il faut vivre. Ci-dessus, on voit, de g. à d., Denis Cutler, président du comité de coordination formé à Bell Canada pour la circonstance, Michel Rochefort, directeur technique des communications pour les Jeux d'été et Bill Côté, directeur du Service de l'installation de la Compagnie à Valleyfield. Les trois hommes discutent, on le devine, de télécommunications..

Carrefour

L'exposition de Malone a débuté dimanche soir par le derby de démolition. Une foule incalculable s'est réuni afin de regarder le spectacle. Lundi soir, c'etait au tour de la Lutte Grand Prix de prendre la vedette; quelques milliers de personnes crièrent de joie après avoir vu Edouard Carpentier l'emporter sur Tarzan "La Bottine" Tyler. Gino Brito remporta la victoire suite à une disqualification de Hans Smith. Peggy Hyland l'emporta sur Trace Duncan. Le nain Little Brutus et Luigi Macera se méritèrent la victoire en battant Sky Low Low et Bobby Bass.

La finale du derby de démolition de l'exposition de Malone aura lieu dimanche prochain. C'est à ne pas manquer...
