World News In Brief

Washington, June 16.—(P)—The State Department made public Saturday night a letter from William Benton, assistant Secretary of State, to Kent Cooper contending that a government information program is necessary to develop understanding of the United States abroad.

The letter replied to a speech in which Cooper, executive director of the Associated Press, said that international amity can best be attained by international news exchange through the press and its news agencies.

Cooper spoke May 26 at the 25th anniversary of the Medill School of Journalism at Northwestern University at Chicago. He explained he was speaking solely as an individual.

London, June 16.—(P)—A Foreign Office spokesman said today that Britain soon will consult directly with Russia concerning the aid-Europe plan advanced by State Secretary Marshall of the United States.

This source said initial contact would take place through regular diplomatic channels.

He added that he knew of no plan for Foreign Secretary Bevin to go personally to Moscow in the same way as he is going to Paris for talks tomorrow on the United States proposals for European reconstruction.

France already has asked Russia for her views on how Europe should respond to the American suggestion.

Atlanta, Ga., June 16.—(P)—Three hours after his arrest on a sodomy charge, Paul R. Refoule, French artist, was released Saturday on a $10,000 bond—another episode in the baffling story which began May 14 with the slaying of his socially prominent wife, Peggy.

The case will be presented to a county grand jury Tuesday. Conviction of sodomy charges in Georgia carries a maximum penalty of life imprisonment.

Refoule's arrest came just one month after the slaying of his wife by their old stone mill home on Peachtree Creek. She had been strangled and raped.

Agua Calientes, Mex., June 16.—(P)—At least 40 persons were killed and scores injured in a cloudburst flood which inundated the tiny village of Ciudad midway between San Rafael and Villa Garcia.

Flood waters swept over the Trillito and Alcantara dams and nearly levelled the village, destroying homes, drowning livestock and ruining crops.

Officials of this city, 250 miles northwest of Mexico City, said some damage in the area might reach 2,000,000 pesos ($400,000).

Troops and first aid squads were sent from military police zones at Villa Garcia to remove people to high ground. Military police reported 40 bodies had been recovered and that the search was continuing.

New Plane Crash Took Toll Of Twelve Lives In Vermont

New York, June 16.—(P)—A common grave today was a possibility for 13 victims of a Friday-the-13 air disaster near Leesburg, Va., as investigators pressed a four-way inquiry into the crash that killed 50 persons.

With 37 bodies identified, authorities said the prospect for singling out the others "seems remote."

Dr. William Fraser, coroner, telegraphed the families of persons known to have been aboard the capital airlines plane suggesting a mass burial for the unidentified at noon today.

The task of carrying the bodies of the 47 passengers and three crew members out of the treacherous wilderness in the Blue Ridge mountains near Keys Gap, W.Va., was completed yesterday under sunny skies after a day and night of drenching rain.

Cause of the disaster remained a mystery.

Two investigators on the scene of the crash near here reported the recovery of the plane's instrument panel.

One airline official said he was informed the altimeter registered 2,000 feet, while he gave the plane "safe" clearance of the mountain ridge into which it

Frigate Bell Is Presented To Coaticook

Memorable Occasion Marked In E.T. Town Yesterday as Impressive Presentation Ceremony Held.

Coaticook, June 16.—Yesterday was a memorable day for the citizens of Coaticook, when an impressive ceremony marked the presentation to the town of the bell from the "Coaticook Frigate."

Prior to the ceremony, which was held in the Armory, a luncheon was given in the Coaticook House in honor of Captain Louis Audet, commander of the ship, and Lieut. Commander J. Warren, second in command. Among the guests present were Mayor and Mrs. Charles Audet, Alderman J. N. White and Mrs. White, Rev. and Mrs. A. Hockin, Lieut. Commander Campbell, Rev. Father L. M. LeMay, Alderman A. Carboneau, Alderman and Mrs. A. Leclerc, Dr. Raul Laurence, ex-Mayor and Mrs. Denise Gerin, Mr. and Mrs. George Sheard, Dr. W. L. Shurtliff, K.C., Rev. H. Church, Alderman and Mrs. W. Paquette, Alderman F. Pelouin, Alderman Pilote, Mr. and Mrs. R. Dumas, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Thomas and Mrs. E. S. Beersworth.

Mayor Audet proposed the toast to the King and called upon ex-Mayor Gerin to welcome the guests. After luncheon all those assembled at the hotel proceeded to the Armory where the Harmony Band was in attendance and the citizens of Coaticook were gathered en masse to witness the presentation.

The ceremony opened with the playing of the national anthem, after which the Mayor introduced Captain Louis Audet. The latter, speaking in French and English, thanked the people of Coaticook, whose patriotism and generosity the Frigate owed its existence, and congratulated the town on the ship which he said, had done patriotic duty and seen action. "After V-E Day I relinquished my command and the Frigate sailed down through the Panama Canal to the Pacific, saw more patrol duty and finally, following V-J Day was turned over to War Assets and, as far as I know, has not been disposed of yet."

Captain Audet then declared that it was with the greatest of pleasure that he requested the Mayor to accept the ship's bell for the town of Coaticook.

Replying to the Captain, Mayor Audet thanked him in the name of the citizens and stated that it had been decided at the last meeting of the Council to use the remainder of the frigate fund to build a band stand in Jacques Cartier Park. On the stand will be placed the ship's bell, an honor roll for those who served in the last war and a plaque bearing the American Program Will Either Unite Much of Continent by This Year's End or Divide It Worse Than Ever Before, Depending on Russian Reaction—Russia and Eastern Bloc of States May Be Cut Off from Any Substantial U.S. Help.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington, June 16.—(P)—State Secretary Marshall and his top advisers have formulated an approach to what they consider the twin threats of chaos and communism in Europe. Their program will either unite much of that continent by this year's end or divide it worse than ever before, depending on Russian reaction.

Diplomatic officials say that if Russia holds to her refusal to co-operate it almost certainly will force the organization of western Europe alone into a sort of economic federation. That would mean that Russia and her eastern bloc of states would be cut off from any substantial American help.

Marshall is reported to hope this will not happen, that Russia will go along or at least permit some of the dominated countries to go along with the American proposal for some kind of economic federation of Europe. His policy apparently is one of an "open door" to Russian co-operation; if the door is to be closed, Russia will have to close it.

However, the probability that she will do so is considered here to be great. State Under-Secretary Dean Acheson said as much in a speech at Middletown, Conn., last night. He told a Wesleyan University commencement audience: "The minority communist regimes (of eastern Europe) have acted to cut the people off economically from the community of Europe, curtail their productivity, and to bind them to exclusive economic relations with the Soviet Union."

While President Truman did not comment directly on the problems involved, he also took occasion during the week-end to denounce three of the regimes in Eastern Europe, those of Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria. He said they "not only have disregarded the will of the majority of the people but have resorted to measures of oppression against them."

At the same time Truman praised the efforts of the Italians who, he said, "are rebuilding with their own labor a new democracy and restoring their lost freedoms."

The occasion for his comments, making a sharp distinction between eastern and western countries, was his signing of the formal ratification of the peace treaties with the four countries.

When the treaties come into force with Soviet ratification the occupation of the former satellite countries will end, and Russian troops must be withdrawn from the Balkans except for communications forces in Romania and Hungary.

Acheson suggested in his speech that this might be the beginning of a new political period in the Balkans. He said it is a question how long the present Communist regimes can survive after "the withdrawal of foreign bayonets."

Both the President's and Acheson's words indicated that however wide the east-west split becomes the United States does not intend to abandon its policy of trying to unite all Europe even though Russia does not co-operate.

Three meetings this year will furnish the forums for the showdown between the United States and the Soviet Union. They also will furnish what may be the most crucial tests for a long time to come of the two countries' respective Jerusalem, June 16.—(P)—A United Nations inquiry commission tackles today the complex and age-old problem of Palestine, a problem which has brought terror, destruction and the threat of civil war to the Holy Land.

Amid countless manifestations of the hostility engendered by the three-cornered conflict among Britain, Jew and Arab, the representatives of 11 "neutral" countries meet in this ancient city to wrestle with a problem that has defied questions which have stamped men for years.

Arabs called a 24-hour general strike to emphasize the Arab boycott of the commission. Irqun Zvai Leumi, Jewish underground organization, broadcast a welcome to the commission and assured the delegate that "you will come to us with a peace plan for the Jewish underground fighters."

All forces have been placed in a special security footing pending a military court session at which five Irqun members are to be sentenced for participating in a jail delivery at Acre May 4. The Jewish underground defence army, Hagana, displayed posters warning that "disident groups" were organizing a provisional Hebrew government in exile.

Another Hagana poster said that

Four Killed In Explosion Aboard Yacht

Three Others Escaped Injury as Blast Rocked 32-Foot Vessel On Its Maiden Voyage On St. Lawrence.

Montreal, June 16.—(P)—Tragedy struck the 32-foot yacht Alexis III on what was virtually its maiden voyage in the St. Lawrence River Saturday and two women and two young children were burned to death while three others escaped injury in an explosion that rocked the trim ship.

The explosion occurred in a gasoline stove as the yacht was proceeding on a pleasure cruise down the St. Lawrence to St. Ours, Que., 38 miles below Montreal.

The victims were: Claudette, five, and Carol Nihon, four, daughters of Alexis Nihon, industrialist and owner of the yacht, who resided in suburban Dorval; Mrs. Ubalde Demontigny, and Miss Marie Laroche, a housemaid, both of Montreal.

Miss Laroche was cooking a meal on the gasoline stove when the explosion occurred.

Mr. Nihon, 44, president of a hardware supply company, suffered a broken leg and injured ribs when he was blown on shore by the blast, and his 35-year-old wife was able to return home after treatment when rescued by James Leary, who jumped overboard from a nearby ship to pick her up.

Albert Therrien, 36, at the helm when the blast rocked the ship, was able to jump overboard after steering the vessel away from other ships in the basin. He was moved to hospital here where his condition was reported good.

Montreal, June 16.—(P)—A mysterious blast shattered 25 windows in office buildings on downtown St. Paul Street last night. Windows of the Alexis Nihon Hardware Company, whose owner, Alexis Nihon, was injured Saturday when his yacht exploded, killing four persons, including his two children, were broken.

Firefighters immediately rushed to the scene of the blast but were unable to detect any evidence of the explosion other than broken windows.

Police, unable to find any bomb marks after inspecting premises of firms whose windows were smashed, ruled out the possibility that thugs might have been cracking a safe in one of the buildings.

Freight-Rate Hearing Held In Vancouver

Vancouver, June 16.—(P)—West coast regional hearings in the Canadian railways' application for general freight-rate increases opened here today.

In the far-western end of its 7,000-mile tour across the Dominion, the Board of Railway Commissioners was to sit here for five days, hearing regional views on the railway attempt to boost rates by 30 per cent generally.

As in other provinces already visited by the commissioners—the Maritimes and Saskatchewan—it was expected British Columbia's presentation would be in direct opposition to the proposed increase.

Submissions from this province, it was understood, would feature the "mountain differential," under which the railways charge higher rates in adjacent areas for hauling products over the Rockies.

Palestine Problem Tackled By U.N. Inquiry Commission

because "disident" groups had ignored pleas to stop terrorist activity "we have decided to stop them by force." An Irqun spokesman commented: "The boys are trying to impress the United Nations visitors."

The U.N. Commission arranged to hear statistical information from a Palestine government representative today and to hear a Jewish agency spokesman tomorrow. Its report to the United Nations Assembly is due in the fall.

The commission has unrestricted authority for investigation and recommendation.

Stripped of its tangle of side issues, the commission's problem—and that of Palestine—boils down essentially to this:

Jews want a "homeland" or separate state in Palestine and substantial immigration to build up Jewish strength there; the Arabs bitterly oppose both. They want Palestine made an "independent, democratic state." Britain has a mandate over Palestine and the problem is in her lap.

The commission is made up of representatives from Australia, Canada, Czechoslovakia, Guatemala, India, Iran, Netherlands, Peru, Sweden, Uruguay and Yugoslavia. Justice Alfred E. Sandstrom of Sweden is the chairman.

And We Think It's Bad In The Townships....

Bruce Johnson, 14, and his sister, Phyllis, 11, stage a snowball fight in a park near Denver. Despite June weather, the Denver area had a six-inch snowfall, which is even worse than Eastern Townships' rain. Today the weatherman predicted clearing skies and cooler temperatures in this area.

Huntingdon By-Election Next Month

Liberals Seek to Retain Seat Made Vacant by Death of D. J. O'Connor—Fourth Provincial By-Election Since 1944.

Huntingdon, Que., June 16.—(P)—Quebec Province's fourth by-election since the Union Nationale Government was elected to office in 1944 will be held here July 22 with the Liberal Opposition seeking to retain the seat and the Government trying to keep its record of by-election victories intact.

In the previous by-elections, the Union Nationale increased its House majority in every case, winning Beauce from the Bloc Populaire and Compton and Bagot from the Liberals. The Huntingdon vacancy arose from the death of Dennis J. O'Connor.

With nominations still a month away, campaigning has not yet begun seriously but the Union Nationale chose its candidate at a convention here last Friday. John G. Rennie, Montreal insurance agent whose ancestors settled here more than 100 years ago, was chosen to carry the Government banner.

The Liberal candidate likely will be named within the next two weeks.

Several provincial ministers attended the nominating convention and from their addresses came hints of the platform the Government will present during the campaign. Provincial autonomy and labor appeared to be major planks.

Hon. Paul Beaulieu, Trade and Commerce Minister, said Premier Duplessis will continue to fight for the province's autonomy and its rights, while Mines Minister Robinson said "the biggest man at the inter-provincial conference is undoubtedly Premier Duplessis."

The Premier has sought to establish close co-operation and bonne entente between English-speaking and French-speaking Canadians. Mr. Robinson said Huntingdon is essentially a rural riding with the majority of electors English-speaking.

On the labor issue, Mr. Beaulieu said the Government had obtained the signing of 1,104 collective labor agreements between employers and workers and "we have had only 10 strikes to offset slightly this splendid record."

Present standing in Quebec's 91 seat assembly is: Union Nationale, 51; Liberal 33; Bloc Populaire, 10; Nationalist one, Independent one, vacant two.

The second vacancy is in Montreal-St. Louis, held formerly by Maurice Hartt who resigned to

Knife Murder Case Goes To Jury Today

Defence Counsel Intimates There May Be No Defence Witnesses in Case of Man Charged With Killing Young Daughter.

Cornwall, Ont., June 16.—(P)—With Defence Counsel John S. Latchford intimating there may be no defence witnesses, the case of William Earl (Bowler) Luma, charged with the pig-sticking knife murder of his nine-year-old daughter, Mary Elizabeth Luma, is expected to go to the jury late today.

By tomorrow the man who led police a 71-day chase after the stabbed bodies of his wife and daughter were discovered in their Harrison's Corner farmhouse last Aug. 16, may know his fate. Last February he was acquitted of a murder charge involving the death of his wife.

After questioning 23 witnesses, the Crown concluded its case at a night session of the Ontario Supreme Court on Friday.

If no defence witnesses are called it is expected the addresses to the jury will be made this morning and that Mr. Justice J. Keiller Mackay will charge the jury in the afternoon.

Luma, although appearing to be fatigued during the past ten days as the strain of the trial mounted, has calmly watched the proceedings and has shown no outward signs of emotion.

Sulyok Again Defies Reds, Convenes Political Rally

Budapest, June 16.—(P)—Deszö Sulyok, Hungarian Freedom Party leader, defied Hungary's Communist rulers today by calling an open political rally at which he was expected to denounce the new regime in even stronger words than he used last week.

Sulyok infuriated the Communists Thursday with a speech in Parliament in which he cried that "the wildest and most objectionable political terror reigns in Hungary." He said Hungary had become a police state.

The general opinion here was that there would be no attempt to interfere with the rally today, since many British and American reporters expected to attend.

Sulyok, considered by his friends to be the most courageous anti-Communist in Hungary today and the leader of the Hungarian anti-Communist element whether he likes it or not, called the meeting in defiance of what he said were "defenders of democracy" hired to prevent freedom of assembly.

He described the medium-sized Sulyok as entirely fearless and determined to speak his mind concerning his passionate belief in the ideals of western democracy regardless of any personal or political danger involved.

He is a devout Roman Catholic, nimble-witted and in his 50's. He is married but has no children. As a politician he was considered for appointment as Premier in February, 1946, when the first post-war

Soviet Push South Would Be Checked

Wallace Says U.S. and Britain "Would" and "Should" Fight Russia in Event of Soviet Expansion Into Turkey Near Arabian Oil Fields.

Washington, June 16.—(P)—Henry A. Wallace, bitter crusader against the Truman foreign policy, told a press conference yesterday that the United States and Britain "would" and "should" fight Russia if the Soviet Union tried to expand southward into Turkey near the Arabian oil fields.

He added he has no evidence that Russia would try that and he hopes she would not.

Later Wallace withdrew the words "should fight" and said he meant to say only that the United States and Britain "would fight" under the circumstances.

He told reporters he will have more to say tonight on how he thinks an "enduring peace" can be achieved and what he intends to do in the next presidential campaign. His appearance, however, hinged on a court action brought by the American anti-Communist Association.

Headed by Representative Alvin O'Konski (Rep.-W.), the group seeks to halt Wallace's scheduled speech at a government-owned amphitheatre.

Nine thousand reserve seats have been sold at prices ranging from 60 cents to $3.60.

The address is being sponsored by the Southern Conference for Human Welfare, labelled Saturday by the House Un-American Activities Committee as "perhaps the most deviously-camouflaged Communist front organization."

Wallace, the Conference, and Clark Foreman of Alta, its president, have denied Communist links. Wallace said yesterday the committee report was "without substance."

In his Sunday press conference, Wallace agreed with one questioner, that Soviet expansion across Europe would be a threat to world peace. He said Russia should be told that there is a point beyond which she could not go and that that point is near Central Turkey.

Asked what would happen if the Soviet Union were to send troops into that country, he first said Britain and the United States would fight and then added they should fight under those circumstances.

When a reporter asked him later to clarify, Wallace said he meant to use only "would" and wanted to withdraw his use of "should" fight.

"I am not a war monger," he said.

"But it is important for Russia to know there is a point beyond which she shouldn't go without awakening resistance. I'm confident our navy would fight if she got into Turkey because our navy is determined to get Saudi-Arabian oil. But that oil should be made available to all countries."

Wallace said he does not look upon the overturn of the non-Communist regime in Hungary as "Russian expansion" or a Russian coup. He feels this was accomplished by an internal Communist minority.

Asked to state the difference between his position and the views of Communists on American foreign policy, Wallace said coalition government was formed, but was vetoed by men members of the Smallholders Party who thought he was too strong a leader.

Ferenc Nagy later got the job, and lost it last month in the Communist coup. Sulyok was forced out of the Smallholders Party because of Communist charges that he was "reactionary," and formed the Szabadseg (Free, or Liberty) Party, which now has 18 members in Parliament, including Sulyok.

There was talk today that in the event of free elections the Smallholders again would rally to his support, although Sulyok declared last week that he would not participate in elections unless supervised by an international body.

Budapest newspapers, meanwhile, declared that Nagy and Bela Varga, former Smallholder Speaker of the House, would be tried in absentia on charges of trying to overthrow the republic. Nagy is in the United States with his family and Varga also was reported outside the Soviet sphere.

The papers quoted Justice Minister Istvan Rics as saying he had ordered the people's prosecutor to start "criminal proceedings" against both men. The papers also said the government intended to issue a white paper soon detailing the actions of Nagy and Varga, and showing that "Nagy was the man who actually led the whole conspiracy from behind the scenes." His forced resignation was based on similar accusations.

PITCHING HORSESHOES

by Billy Rose

Seeing as how I'm now in the cut-throat philosophy business, I decided yesterday to have a look at what the competition had to offer.

I went into a bookshop and said, "Give me a book on philosophy."

"Any particular kind of philosophy?" asked the clerk.

"Oh, something around two dollars," I told him.

He handed me "Critique of Pure Reason" by Immanuel Kant. I lugged it back to the house, sent out for two weeks' provisions, and opened the book. I picked out a chapter with a catchy title—"The Transcendental Unity of the Apperception."

Two hours and ten aspirins later, I tried another chapter which concerned itself with Kant's notions on Ethics.

According to Mr. K.'s rules for behavior, one should never tell the little white lie. Any violation, however slight, breaks down the whole structure of morality. It is a loony with a loaded revolver busting into a room and yells, "Where's my wife? I want to kill her," according to Kant you've got to tell him. If you don't you're striking a blow at Truth.

Well, it's a good thing for Immanuel Kant and his philosophy that he never met Sally Rand.

I'll tell you why.

Back in 1936, Sally was doing her fan-is-quicker-than-the-eye act at the big cabaret which I had produced for the Fort Worth Centennial Exposition. The dancer's nude deal made a big hit with the Art-conscious customers at the Casa Manana that summer.

One night, Governor Dave Sholtz of Florida paid us a visit. I stopped by his table to give him the big hello and to ask him if he'd mind being introduced from the stage just before the show. I explained it was our custom to have visiting celebrities take a bow.

Sholtz was a friendly fellow and said he'd be honored. As he started to walk away, he asked me if Miss Rand was around. Said he had met my Gal Sal some years before when she played the Citrus Circuit in his state.

I told him Sally was probably in her dressing room and asked him if he'd like to go back and say howdy. He said, "Sure," and I took him backstage.

I knocked at Miss Rand's dressing-room door and she yelled, "Come in." When the Governor and I entered, Sally was flat on the floor, wrapped in something pink, her chin propped up off her hands.

She was reading the Bible. No.

AMUSING PLAY PRESENTED BY BEEBE GROUP

The play, "Mr. Beane from Lima" was presented at the Town Hall by players from the United Church, under the direction of Mrs. Ida Haselton.

The play opened in the St. Clair drawing room, where "Inertia," whose mammy chose her name from a doctor's book, called "the modern home physician," and Blossom, the negro maid, were busy getting ready for a tea party that Mrs. Joslyn St. Clair, an ambitious mother, hoped would impress Mrs. Worthington Belcher, of the town aristocracy, and her dear nephew, Burlington Bixford Beane, a would-be novelist.

Mrs. St. Clair has two daughters, Zoe, who is married to Bob Dudley, a garage mechanic, but is introduced by mamma as a wealthy car manufacturer, and Amy, whose heart throb is Johnny, a medical student. Mamma's chief ambition is to separate Zoe and Bob, and get Amy married to the supposedly wealthy Burlington B. Beane, and she usually has her way in all things. Chiefly because she is an artist at throwing fits when her ends are to be served.

Elvira and Hiram Skaggs, the lovable grandparents, straight from the hill billy country arrive on the scene, and the fun begins. Hiram reminds Mrs. St. Clair, who has changed her name from Josie Skaggs to Joslyn St. Clair, that when she was a chubby little shirt-tail young'un running around Possum Trot, folks called her Fatso, but when Elvira gets a twenty thousand dollar prize for a recipe entered in the Sunshine Satin, Sheen Cake Flour contest, Mrs. St. Clair is ready to forgive all.

Some of the wittiest scenes are enacted by Johnny, Bob and Burley, when Burley wagers that he can meet a perfect stranger and within ten minutes have him take off his shoes and stockings, and Johnny takes him up on it, may be Burley wins this wager but just wait until Johnny bets Burley that he can't sit perfectly still for fifteen minutes with his hands behind his back, and not say a word.

The players were all well cast as follows: Inertia, Mrs. Phyllis Sylvester; Blossom, Mrs. Thelma Lenney; Mrs. St. Clair, Jean Miller; Amy St. Clair, Bessie Bachelier; Zoe Dudley, Deryl Monahan; Johnny Rand, Errol Norton; Elvira Skaggs, Mrs. Ina Wilson; Hiram Skaggs, John Lees; Mrs. Worthington Belcher, Mildred Muir; Burley Bixford Beane, Conrad Haselton; Bob Dudley, Raymond Greenwood.

Conrad Haselton was much enjoyed in vocal solos during both intermissions, accompanied by Viola Moranyville.

Refreshments were served to the players by members of the W.A.

General Notes

Miss Lois Wells, of Lennoxville, spent the week-end with the Misses Mary and Patricia Miller. Mr. and Mrs. D. B. McKay and Lee, of Sherbrooke, spent a week-end at their home here.

Mrs. Hamilton Tinker and son, Michael, of Three Rivers, have returned to their home, after spending some time with Mr. and Mrs. W. Tinker, while Mr. Tinker was absent on a business trip.

Mrs. Fowler, of Toronto, Ont., is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Frank Finch, and Mr. Finch.

IN HOLLYWOOD

by Erskine Johnson

NO GLAMOR GAL FOR TURHAN BEY

Hollywood, June 16.—"I don't mind going out with Hollywood glamor girls socially, but I've never met one yet I'd consider marrying."

Turhan Bey speaking, girls.

Yes, the same Turhan Bey who has had romantic interludes with Lana Turner, Yvonne de Carlo, and quite a few other movietown queens.

"Just beautiful friendships, nothing more," he told me on the set of the Eagle-Lion movie, "Out of the Blue."

Then he cracked out with some opinions that will probably have him diving off the Santa Monica pier, with the glamor dolls in hot pursuit.

"You just can't tell whether a Hollywood actress means what she's saying. After all, actresses get paid for parading their emotions. After a while they become accustomed to emoting all the time and probably can't help themselves."

Like, he said, the first time he fell in love with a Hollywood star.

"She was beautiful in a slinky black evening gown," Turhan said. "The night was balmy and the stars were twinkling overhead. I told her that I loved her, and she turned toward me and said, 'I love you, too, darling.'"

OLD SCRIPT TALK

"Then she started talking about love and emotions. Her choice of words was beautiful and I listened, entranced. All of a sudden it hit me. I'd heard those words before—in her last picture, completely with the same gestures."

"Even then I wouldn't have minded so much," Turhan said, "but she upstaged me."

Turhan looked gloomy.

"But you know what will probably happen. I'll meet a girl, an actress, a truly great actress. She'll convince me that all she wants out of life is to be happily married. So I'll propose and she'll accept. And as I turn to kiss her after the marriage ceremony, I'll find that she has upstaged me so that the audience can only see the back of my neck."

Humphrey Bogart's former wife, Mayo Methot, will try matrimony again, it's reported, with a wealthy gent from Portland, Ore. Bogie probably is much relieved. Until recently, Mayo was going places with a fellow who moored his yacht near Bogart's at Newport Beach. Mayo and Lauren Bacall would sit on deck and glare at each other.

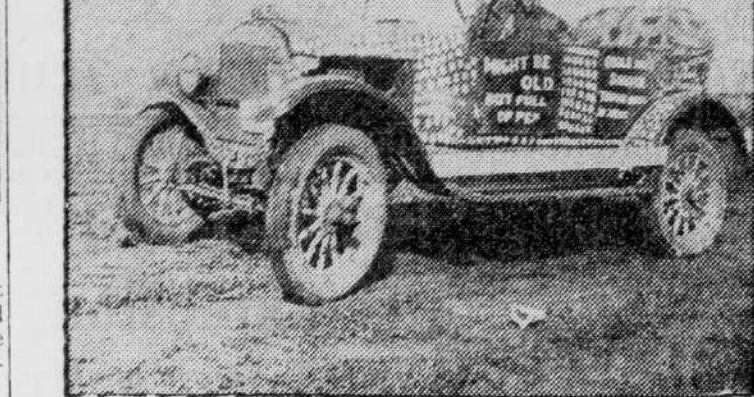

NO FOOT APPEAL

Don Ameche had to walk down a long flight of stairs in pajamas, bathrobe, and bare feet for a scene in "Sleep, My Love." After one rehearsal, Director Douglas Sirk ordered Don to put on socks and slippers. Said the director, "I'm sorry, Don but your bare feet just don't have sex appeal."

Now that her romance with Mike Todd has cracked up, Joan Blondell will take her two children to England, says Joan: "For a bicycle vacation." . . . No truth to those separation rumors for the Ray Millands. Mrs. M. goes to England to join Ray this month, with 7-year-old Danny tagging along.

Reason "Nightmare Alley" is keeping its terrific punch ending as in the novel, is because Ty Power wanted it that way. The Johnston Office, however, now is reconsidering its original approval.

At The Fair

This scene is from an act featuring the widely known comedian, Silvers Johnson, who will be featured in the "Grandstand Follies," at the Sherbrooke Fair during the week of August 23 to 29.

MEETING HELD BY GIRL GUIDES AT EAST ANGUS

The annual meeting of the Girl Guide committee met at the home of the president, Mrs. E. P. Wilson. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved and a balance of $93.50 was reported on hand. Two new members were welcomed, Mrs. Robins and Mrs. R. Hayes. A resignation was read from Mrs. P. H. Scowen. All committee members were re-elected. The captain, Mrs. E. Warcup, resigned, and a committee of two was appointed to choose a new captain. It was decided to organize a new Brownie Group. Names were suggested for leaders, but no definite action was taken. A letter of thanks was sent to Mr. Daniel Miller, of Red Rock, Ont., for a generous Christmas gift to the Guides. At the close of the meeting, the president, Mrs. Wilson, poured tea. The table was centred with pink snapdragons and pink candles in silver holders. Miss Diana Wilson assisted in serving.

A charmingly arranged tea took place at the Brompton Clubhouse, in honor of Mrs. P. H. Scowen, who is leaving East Angus shortly. The clubhouse was attractively decorated with spring flowers by Mrs. E. P. Wilson and Miss Diana Wilson. Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Warcup presided at the attractive tea table, which was covered with a linen cloth and centered with a bowl of spring flowers with tapers to match. After tea was served Mrs. Warcup presented Mrs. Scowen with a beautiful silver tray, silver bracelet and earrings, from her many friends and wished her happiness in her new home. Mrs. Scowen thanked these friends for the gift and their kindness to them during their stay in East Angus. Those assisting at the tea were Mrs. E. Davis, Mrs. L. M. Morgan, Mrs. H. Gregory, Mrs. T. Earley, Mrs. L. MacLeod, Mrs. C. Simons, Mrs. E. Warcup, Mrs. D. Ferguson and Mrs. P. Rankin. Among the out of town guests attending the tea were Mrs. J. Reed and Mrs. C. OPERATIONS OF WALLACE FIRM ARE DISCUSSED

Cookshire, June 16.—The directors of R. Wallace and Sons, Canada, Limited, Silversmiths, met at Cookshire on the afternoon of June 6. FATHER'S DAY IS TOPIC OF KIWANIS TALK

Waterloo, June 16.—At the regular meeting, the Waterloo Kiwanis Club was entertained by an address given by their charter president, Kiwanian Pete Gunter, who spoke on the appropriate topic of "Father's Day."

Delving into history, the speaker brought his audience up to modern times in sparkling fashion, and pointed out in no uncertain terms that causes of divorce and separation are very often two sided affairs. "Father's Day," Mr. Gunter stated, is the one day when "Dad" is made to feel that he is king, and is told that he is a pretty swell guy after all. It is not a too difficult job to put yourself out at this time to go up to dad and tell him so. He has had the responsibility, along with your mother of course, of seeing that you had all the necessities of life during your bringing up, and now that you are on your own, let him know that you appreciate what he has done for you.

At the outset of his address, the speaker passed out flowers among the members, explaining that all fathers were to wear a narcissus, while the fatherless were presented with a beautiful pansy. The one and only bachelor in the club was made a special presentation of a nosegay comprised of two dandelions.

Thirty-three members and two guests, Messrs. Leonard Larkin, of the Central Mortgage Company, and John Hanson, of Waterloo, were on hand to welcome the guest speaker, who was introduced by Kiwanian Roger McKergow, and thanked by Kiwanian Moe Katz.

Secretary George Dubois was presented with his one year tab for perfect attendance by the chairman of the attendance committee, Kiwanian Douglas Schofield.

The results of the Minstrel Show were given and the chairman of the committee, Vice-President Ben Marchessault, stated that they would amount to approximately $850 net, which is much more than had first been anticipated. This money will be used exclusively for the purchase of athletic equipment for the teen-agers in town.

President Bob Millinchamp was in charge of the meeting and he expressed his sincere appreciation to the committee, which had worked so hard in order to make the Minstrel Show such a huge success. He also expressed his thanks to the speaker, who did such a swell job in his humorous talk to his club members.

PARTITION FOR INDIA

Another important step for India is achieved by the decision of the Hindu Congress party to accept the principle of Pakistan, the establishment of an independent state for the predominantly Moslem sections of the country. Of course, there was bitter opposition in certain quarters to the proposals, opposition which made itself felt in the Congress party deliberations when the proposals were accepted. But it is important that an overwhelming majority of the delegates accepted the compromise idea as the best apparent solution for the crisis which has frequently resulted in bloodshed.

The Moslems have already accepted the plan put forward by the British Viceroy, Viscount Mountbatten, for the creation of a separate Moslem nation. They have yet to decide where the capital of Pakistan is to be and who is to run it, so within their own ranks there are still causes for discord.

The Congress decision was forecast some days ago when Mahatma Gandhi, who opposed partition right down to the end, reluctantly admitted that the Indian people as a whole appeared to favor it. His attitude will have a great deal to do with the question of whether the actual partition, as contrasted with the principle of partition, can be peacefully accomplished or not. For a saint who professes to believe in non-violence, Gandhi has created plenty of trouble in the past. His followers, while adopting many of his demands, do not always show their willingness to accept the other parts of his teachings.

The position of the independent princely states also provides an opportunity for discord. The native princes have been almost unanimous in declaring they will head independent nations when British control is withdrawn. The Hindus and Moslems naturally demand the inclusion of these territories within the new India. This desire is more readily understood when it is realized that the richest areas of the sub-continent are within the principality boundaries, the very reason the princes are determined to maintain their own power.

THE SOVIET PATTERN IN THE BALKANS

The determination of Russia to prevent by any means within its power an international examination of the recent coup in Hungary which saw the Communists grab power in that nation only serves to focus the spotlight of world attention upon Soviet activities in other parts of the Balkans. One incident is the arrest of Nikola Petkov, Agrarian leader in Bulgaria, by the Communist Government of that country. British and American protests were met with the blunt declaration that it was a domestic affair and none of their business. However, it does have grave international implications in that, like the coup in Hungary, it is a move to squeeze out effective opposition to Moscow domination.

Developments in Bulgaria follow remarkably those in Hungary. The Communists charge a conspiracy against the government and the leading opponents are promptly thrown into jail. British and American intervention is rebuffed and a further move is made towards consolidating Communist governments in states bordering upon the Soviet Union.

There are also important differences in certain respects. In Hungary, the Communists had only a partial hold upon the government while in Bulgaria there was not even an opposition newspaper. In the long-range development of Russian power, Hungary is still far short of Bulgaria's Red Utopia, but the Petkov arrest indicates what Moscow has in store for all satellites. By the very nature of their being, totalitarian regimes cannot tolerate even weak opposition.

This fact must be remembered on this continent before accepting the Bulgarian incident as another answer to the doctrine proclaimed by President Truman, both in his declarations at home and on his recent visit to Ottawa. The Bulgarian move, like that in Hungary, has probably been under consideration for some time and there is no reason to believe that it was speeded up by the American plan for supporting anti-Communist governments. Rather it appears a logical development in the drive for establishing dictatorial states in satellite countries.

CONTINUING IN PUBLIC SERVICE

Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, P.C., C.H., has a long record of unflinching service to the people of this country in many fields of activity, perhaps his most important being that of Canadian High Commissioner to London during the critical years of the last war. Although he has to a certain degree laid down some of these burdens, especially those of a diplomatic nature, by accepting the position as Chancellor of the University of Toronto he has indicated his readiness to continue in the field of national interest.

A man of high cultural achievement, being a graduate of the University of Toronto and of Oxford, he has long played an active part in educational affairs, and the experience he has gained as chairman of the Massey Foundation and a governor of U. of T. and Upper Canada College is bound to serve him in good stead during his occupancy of this important executive post in one of Canada's leading educational institutions.

Canada owes much to the Massey family for their splendid support of education and the higher arts, both in the manner of practical assistance and by providing lecturers and professors at different institutions. The appointment of Mr. Massey to the Toronto University position indicates that this close connection will be continued during the years ahead.

Washington Column

BY PETER EDSON

WHO'S LOONEY NOW?

Everybody haw-hawed when Henry Wallace in a barnstorming speech at Chicago several weeks ago proposed a positive peace program. It involved American investments and exports of $150 billion over a period of years to raise the standards of living in Europe and Asia. The general verdict was that this was just another of Henry's hybrid, cracked-corn ideas in a milk bottle.

But in the June issue of Fortune—self-styled magazine of business—there is a lead editorial three pages long which proposes an idea so similar to Henry's it will make your eyes pop.

It would be wrong to believe that this editorial was inspired by Henry Wallace. Fortune goes to press weeks in advance, and this editorial was probably in type before Henry Wallace got to Chicago. As a matter of fact, Fortune rejects Wallace's general philosophy with this comment:

"Neville Chamberlain believed in 1937 that the world could 'do business' with Hitler. Henry Wallace believes in 1947 that the world can 'do business' with Stalin. We believe both proposals to be identical fallacies."

Despite this, the fact that Wallace and Fortune could come up with similar proposals should be significant of something, and the casual bystander is entitled to ask that old rhetorical bromide, "Who's Looney Now?"

The Fortune proposal is too long to quote in full here. Also it is tough going and should be read a couple of times by every businessman to get its full meaning. It is addressed "To the Boards of Directors of American Business." Its high spots go something like this:

U. S. PRODUCTION TO SERVE THE WORLD

It begins with a proposal that a 50-year lease on peace would be worth $100 billion to American business. That's $50 billion less than Wallace proposes, but it's $2 billion a year for 50 years. This is considered cheap when compared to the $100 billion a year for three years which the last war cost.

"If the U. S. businessman does not thrust . . . the whole business process . . . into helping save the world," says the editorial, "the world will not be saved. It's as flat as that."

Wars, it says, are caused by the fact that there is not enough food, shelter or goods to go around. The only way nations have tried to get enough in the past has been to go out and take it from each other by force.

The U. S. is the only country on the globe with an organized capacity to produce and re-produce. The idea is to put that production to the service of the world—not for altruism, but for world policy and for profit.

"We believe," say the anonymous editors of Fortune, "that $100 billion invested in peace now would begin returning net profits long before the first 50 years of our leasehold had run its course."

FOUR STEPS TO PEACE

There are four steps which Fortune says U. S. business should take to make this policy stick. Remember as you read them that this is Big Business talking, not Henry Wallace.

1. A 15 to 20 per cent reduction in the U. S. internal price level. This reduction would be made "in the beginning" at the expense of profits. The cost would be $750 million a month. But as prices declined, purchasing power would rise and the volume of business with it. This 15 to 20 per cent price reduction would make it possible for foreign consumers to buy on U. S. markets.

2. A series of massive U. S. loans or grants abroad. Some of this would come out of the hides of Americans in the form of taxes. But Big Businessman Beardsley Rumel is quoted to the effect that nine-tenths of this money would be spent in the U. S. because "It has no place else to go."

3. The U. S. should encourage imports. U. S. businessmen will have to reject utterly the philosophy of that wing of the Republican party which would return to the days of high protective tariff. Big Businessman Will Clayton is quoted to the effect that the U. S. could raise its imports by $20 billion with only good results.

4. Wherever U. S. money goes there should go U. S. engineers to help spend the money loaned. This is not to control foreign industry, but to make it productive.

"It is not too much to hope that this plan might be organized between business and government," Fortune concludes. "What is the Department of Commerce for?" It asks without mentioning Big Businessman Averell Harriman who heads it. "Is it only to organize statistics and standardize pipe sizes?"

"Is the National Association of Manufacturers only a lobby for organized selfishness? Is the International Chamber of Commerce merely a sounding board for stuffed shirts?"

The alternatives are said to be One Last World War—the one that will never get into the history books—or Russia wins the world by default.

CANADA PRICES OF FOOD FOUND WELL UNDER U.S.

Canada kept food controls when the United States dropped its Office of Price Administration, and the result is Canadian food prices, according to a survey by the Canadian Wartime Prices and Trade Board, are well below comparable prices in the United States.

Food and living costs were checked in adjacent cities on either side of the Canadian border for the purposes of the comparison.

According to the survey, the cost of living in the United States cities rose 54.8 per cent from 1939 to the present date.

In Canada, in the same period, with retained controls, living costs rose only 30 per cent, the survey shows. Since V-J Day the cost of living increase has been held to 6 per cent.

Comparisons were made between Vancouver and Seattle; Winnipeg and Minneapolis; Toronto and Detroit and Cleveland; Ottawa and Syracuse; Montreal and Boston.

Only items "comparable in identity, quality, and style" were priced. The same pricing experts made the surveys on both sides of the border. The conclusion drawn is that Canadian food prices, some of which are subsidized, are "substantially lower"; clothing prices "the same or lower excepting for women's stockings"; home furnishings prices "are very similar."

The United States Bureau of Labor cost-of-living index, using 100 as the 1935-1939 average, stood at 133 in June, 1946, with relaxation and then elimination of OPA controls, it reached 156, in March, 1947.

Comparison of retail prices April 14-24 follow, Canadian figures given first, United States second. Starred Canadian prices are items that are subsidized:

OUR NEW CANADIANS

Kenora Miner and News Five residents of the Kenora district received Canadian Citizenship certificates when they appeared at the sittings of the General Session of the Peace and District Court on Tuesday, and they also heard a very frank talk by the presiding judge on the "so-called Labor-Progressive party," which he branded as Communism, a force seeking to break down established organizations and institutions. In comparison to the number present for the first presentation of certificates under the new act, the spectators in the court room were few in number, but lacked nothing in enthusiasm as they accepted the judge's invitation and came forward to welcome the new Canadians.

The warmth of the reception could not be denied, and it could also be seen that the recipients of the certificates appreciated the sincerity of the friendship offered, and the new status that they have attained in becoming citizens of this great Dominion.

The judge's warning about Communism was timely. He pointed out that even such a strong organization as the Canadian Legion had been warned that Communists would seek to infiltrate the ranks, and that all Communism had to offer Canadians was the "breaking down" of our institutions.

The alternatives are said to be One Last World War—the one that will never get into the history books—or Russia wins the world by default.

NO TRICKS NEEDED

Victoria Colonist

It may be a tricky device, as reported from Montreal, to abolish street vendors by forcing them to comply with impossible conditions or else disappear, but procedure of this sort does not increase respect for the law. Official ordinances should be straightforward and honest, just as officials expect people to be in observance of their edicts. Rubbing obviously designed to get around the law as it stands merely invite similar circumvention in the opposite direction.

To designate a popcorn stand as a "restaurant" and thereby necessitate so much room for kitchen, refrigerator and cloak room may be a clever move, but it is too blatant a trick to be commendable. If street vendors are a public nuisance, the remedy lies in prohibiting them as such without resort to evasion. Direct dealing with communities by civic authorities is the only wise and proper course, no matter the subject matter.

NEED FOR FLOOD CONTROL

Exeter Times-Advocate

With every swollen creek and every raging river goes some of the value of every piece of land through which it passes and which cannot be restored or replaced. From the top six inches of the soil comes Canada's bread and butter and on which every other industry, trade and calling is more or less dependent. To neglect its conservation or to delay in putting into execution some form of effective control will have far-reaching, disastrous results to say nothing of the damage and the loss sustained in many municipalities when the flood waters drive many from their homes and places of business.

BIRTHS—AND ADVERTISING

Sarnia Canadian Observer

While the mistaken belief has been held by many that the British are a little "slow" in general affairs, there can be no doubt that they have used advertising to effect a great many social changes. Speaking before a publicity club in Southampton Mr. C. F. Carr mainly dealt with the future work of the Royal Commission of Inquiry on the Press, but near the end of the remarks he pointed out that Great Britain was becoming a nation of old people.

He said, "There is little doubt that, in the course of a few years, we would have the biggest government campaign ever launched, in which advertising and publicity would have to play an important part, to increase Britain's birth-rate."

Advertisers have never been so "touchy" as Canadians about the themes of advertising campaigns, nevertheless it will be extremely interesting to see just how Britishers will react to governmental slogans, catch-phrases and appeals designed to boost the size of British families.

TOO MANY WHITE COLLARS

Lethbridge Herald

Time was when 90 per cent of the people on this continent lived on the land, raised their own food, spun their own cloth from wool and flax, built their own homes from logs or mud, raised and processed their own food. There wasn't much government in those days, and there were not many white collars.

The industrial revolution has changed all that, and today in Canada only some 40 per cent of the people live on the land. Today we have a complex society, a highly mechanized industry including agriculture, a lot of government and a large percentage of so-called white collar jobs. And the question rises whether we're not getting things a bit out of balance. "A Chicago Daily News correspondent writes from London that Britain's trouble is 'too many white collars.'"

There is no doubt that there is a disposition in all the western democracies for people to refuse to do what are called the "dirty jobs." We can't say we blame them, but if the hard jobs are not done, the white collar jobs grow somewhat thin in material returns. We've heard a lot about the shortage of butter, meats and other foods on this continent. There's a shortage of lumber, and we may face a shortage of fuel next winter because Canada's coal production is falling off sharply—30 per cent down in April. The production of these commodities generally represent the so-called dirty jobs which do not appeal to the white collar workers. They represent jobs which take people away from the bright lights, and in the case of agriculture they represent long hours.

Perhaps new machinery will clean up these dirty jobs and put them in the white collar class. The trend is in that direction. But in the meantime if the butter supply is short and if there isn't enough coal to go around, perhaps we'll know the reason. Perhaps there are a lot of people in Europe and elsewhere who would like to come to Canada and live in freedom even if they had to take a dirty job for a living.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

By Wm. E. McKenney, America's Card Authority

BE ON THE LOOKOUT FOR SAFETY PLAYS

The open-pair championship in the Southeastern Regional Tournament at Hollywood, Fla., was won by Waldemar von Zedtwitz of New York and William Seamon of Miami Beach, Fla. Seamon is one of a family of bridge experts. His father and mother played a good game of bridge. One of his sisters, Mrs. E. J. Seligman of New York, is a Life Master, and another sister, Mrs. Anne Bernstein of Miami, is the present holder of the national mixed pair title. Billie is younger than his sisters, but if he plays much more tournament bridge, he soon will be a Life Master.

Seamon pointed out the safety play in today's hand, which many of the players in the game missed. Some safety plays can be catalogued, others have to be figured out as they come up in the play. It is important for every bridge player to learn them.

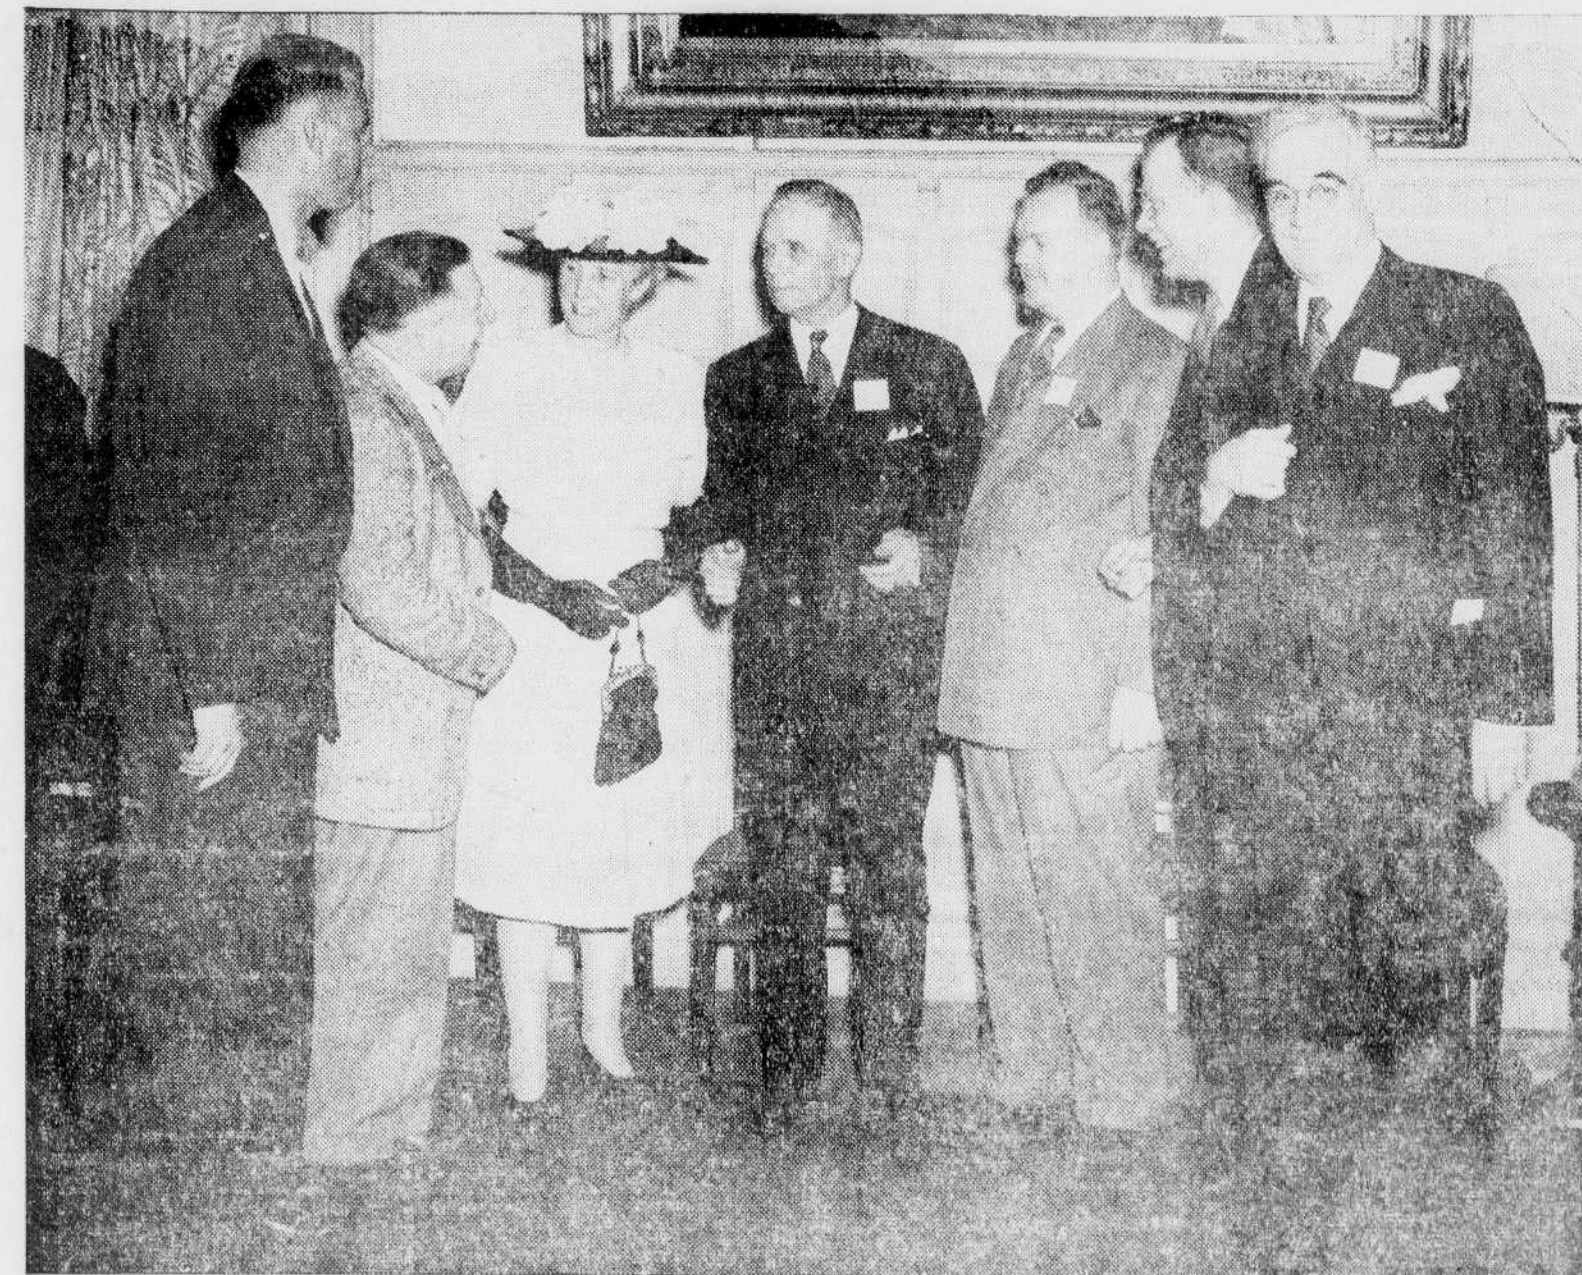

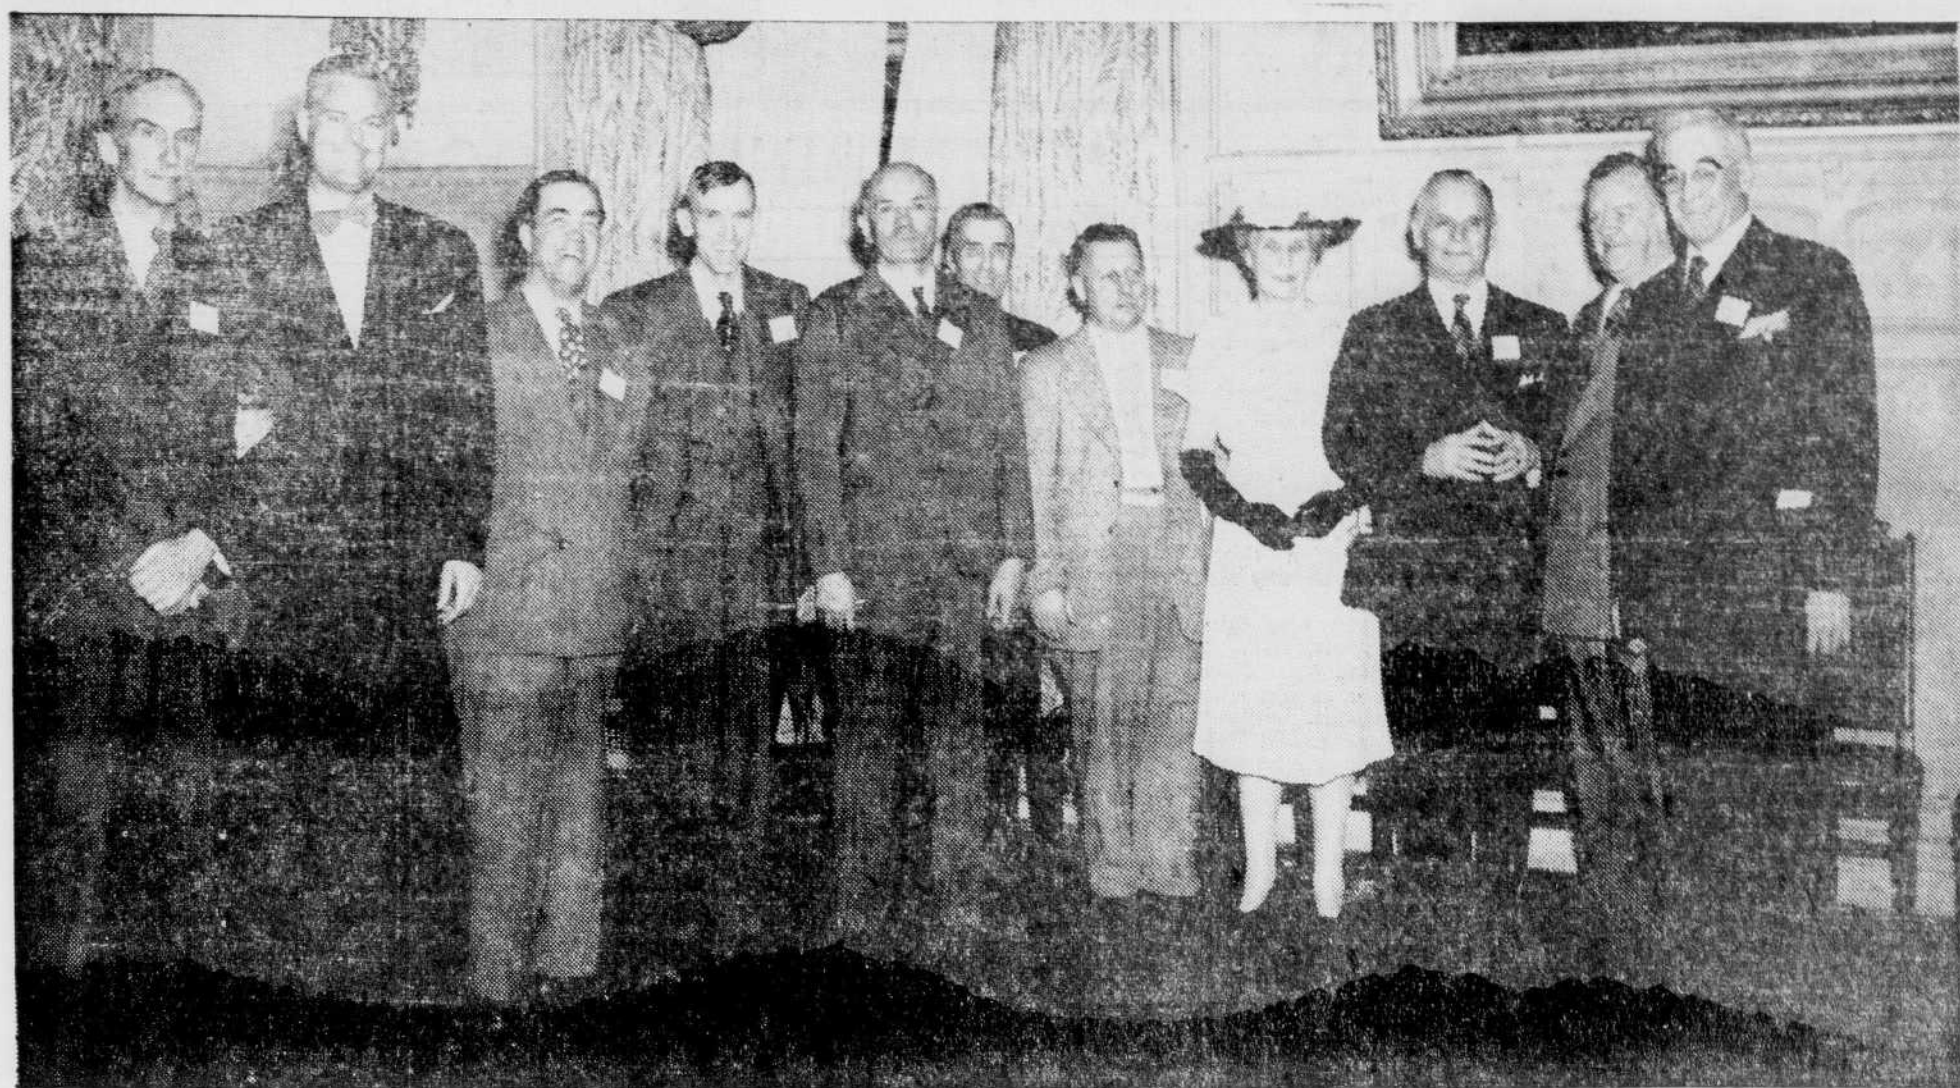

At most tables West held the opening lead and played another spade, which declarer trumped. Two rounds of trumps were taken, a shift and a ruff and a small diamond led to the king. A small diamond was played back from dummy, East showing out, and declarer complained of hard luck when he went down one, losing two diamonds and a spade.

Seamon pointed out the correct play after ruffing the second spade

P.C. Convention Asks Probe Of War Assets Corporation

Montreal, June 15.—Highly lighted by a demand for a Royal Commission investigation into the workings of the government-owned War Assets Corporation, the annual Provincial Conference of the Progressive Conservative Party concluded its two-day convention here Saturday.

Some 500 delegates from all parts of the Province approved 15 resolutions, touching Dominion-Provincial affairs, housing, taxation, communism, agriculture and national unity, among others.

Concerning Dominion-Provincial relations, a resolution was passed that "the arbitrary and autocratic attitude of the present government in relations with the provinces has created a critical situation."

CONSTRUCTION MEN RETURN TO JOBS IN MAGOG

"All the men that left their jobs last Tuesday, when their demands for a 15 cent increase were refused, have returned to work," stated John Germain, superintendent of the Atlas Construction Company, to a Record reporter this morning.

The convention, charging that the Federal Government "has violated the spirit of the pact of Confederation," went on record with a demand that the Dominion-Provincial Conference be reconvened immediately "for an equitable agreement."

Such an agreement should provide for:

1. Preservation of the rights guaranteed to the province by the British North America Act.
2. Exclusive tax sources to the provinces sufficient to permit them to carry out their responsibilities.
3. Elimination of duplicate taxation.
4. Federal aid to provinces on the basis of fiscal year.

Service Station By-Law Protested

Montreal, June 15.—A Montreal by-law enforcing a 7 p.m. closing of gasoline service stations is to come under study by the city legal department as a result of a protest by the Royal Automobile Club which held that a service station was not in reality a store and that the automobile today is an indispensable part of modern transportation at all hours.

Recently Recorder Leonie Plante, in a court decision, upheld the early-closing hour and held that a service station was a "store" and that gasoline was "merchandise."

City authorities will study a judgment of the Manitoba Appeal Court which held ultra vires a Winnipeg by-law forcing early closing of gas stations.

Premier Hart of British Columbia was to appear first before the commission. However, like the members of the Saskatchewan Government last week, he was expected to be merely one of witnesses and apparently the government was reserving a formal brief for later hearing of the board at Ottawa.

After completing regional hearings, the board will go to Ottawa for final rebuttal testimony by the railways, some more provincial evidence and then last week's meeting was expected to last about a month.

Union Strike To Paralyze U.S. Shipping

Meetings to Be Continued Today in Renewed Efforts to Break Union's Stalemate With Ship Owners.

New York, June 15.—Five C.I.O. Maritime unions acted today to immobilize American shipping and federal conciliations announced later that meetings will be continued in renewed efforts to break the union's stalemate with ship owners.

Less than two hours after midnight, when contracts of three of the unions with the ship owners expired, Joseph Curran, president of the National Maritime Union, messaged N.M.U. locals, that "there should be no sign-on and no sailing of vessels that all crews should remain aboard as long as possible."

The east coast policy committee of the five unions, which claimed 200,000 members, said that all would engage in this "sit in" work stoppage, and if the men are put off the ships, would contend they were "locked out" by shipowners.

William Margolis and Frederick Livingstone, federal conciliators, announced that the ship operators would meet at 10 a.m. with N.M.U. officials and at 3 p.m. with officials of the American Communications Association.

These two unions and the National Association of Marine Cooks and Stewards announced last night they would stop work on a "no contract, no work" basis at 12:01 a.m.

Representatives of the east coast ship owners ended a meeting with them after midnight but made no statement.

RANDBORO

South Newport Women's Institute held its June meeting at the home of Mrs. Cora Austin one afternoon with an attendance of nine members, four men and four members from the Sawyerville W.I. as guests. The roll call was answered by members giving a household hint. The county fair project was discussed with Clifton without arriving at any definite decision. The sending of a delegate to the provincial convention was also discussed.

The president, then turned the meeting over to the entertainment committee composed of Mrs. Alfred Robinson, Mrs. Fred Robinson and Mrs. Graydon Montgomery. The program consisted of a number of contests, one of them being a spelling contest, and contests on well known proverbs, public utility, agriculture, home economics, education and current events. These caused much amusement and hilarity. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Arthur Loveland.

Talks In Progress In Lachute Strike

Lachute, Que., June 15.—Val-Barnason, organizer for the United Textile Workers (A.F.L.) last night told a mass meeting of strikers of the Ayers, Limited plant that "unofficial discussions are in progress regarding settlement and a substantial victory for the Lachute workers will soon be reached."

In his talk to the workers who have been on strike since April 10, the organizer also accused Premier Duplessis "of deliberately prolonging the strike to advance his private political purposes. The union was always ready to enter into negotiations for a settlement based on a union contract and wage increases."

The strike was called to gain recognition of the union as bargaining agent for the employees and to obtain a higher wage scale. The U.T.W. was certified by the government as complying with labor laws.

"The only Communists who have ever sat down and talked with me—and there have been only three—definitely do make a distinction." He said he assumed the questioner meant Communists in America.

On domestic affairs, Wallace said he is still trying to make the Democratic party liberal. As to whether he would run for president in 1948, he said he might if he thought it would make the Democratic party liberal.

But the "primary thing is not me but the party," he asserted. About the vice-presidency? "I would not sell out that cheaply," he replied with a grin.

If you suffer from Backache, Leg or Rheumatic pains, Nervousness, Swollen Ankles, Burning Passages, Bladder Weakness, or Getting Up Nights, due to Kidney and Bladder troubles, you may easily enjoy the delightful benefits experienced by thousands who have depended on Cystex for such troubles. The following letter from a well-known Massachusetts housewife is typical of the world: "I was so laid up with pains in my back, legs and arms that I was miserable. Finally I decided to try your Cystex. In a couple of weeks I was like a new person, the pains had left and I could walk anywhere. My husband had pains in his arms, took Cystex and the pains left." To prove what Cystex may do to bring you lots of help from the pains and distress of Kidney and Bladder troubles, get Cystex from your druggist and give it a fair trial with the positive understanding that if you are not satisfied for any reason, you get your money back on return of empty package.

Plymouth has a sound "pedigree". The same Chrysler engineers and craftsmen who create in Canada the great Chrysler Motor Cars, design and build the big-value Plymouth.

Plymouth is most like the high-priced cars in quality features! Of 21 important features found in high-priced cars, Plymouth has 20, car "B" has 9, car "C" has 8. More quality features mean better performance.

Although Plymouth is a full-sized, roomy, comfortable car—way out front in big-car quality features, it is nevertheless priced right down with the lowest.

Precision manufacturing: super-finished crankshaft and camshaft bearings; full-pressure lubrication; full-length water jackets and other famous Chrysler Engineering Advancements make Plymouth a long-lasting, economical car to own and operate.

DOROTHY DIX

Party-Loving Husbands

Wife Should Accompany Her Mate
To Dances And Affairs

Dear Miss Dix: I am a married woman with grown children. My husband and I are both in our forties. I am a home-staying woman and my husband likes to go to dances and parties. He wants me to go with him, but when I do I am bored to tears as no one ever pays me any attention. He gets a kick out of dancing with the young girls and they seem to enjoy dancing with him.

I am certainly not jealous, but I don't enjoy this state of affairs. What shall I do?

MRS. PAT M.

Answer: Go with him unless you want to lose him. He has come to the restless age when home and domesticity suddenly pull upon a man, when he has an irresistible longing for amusement and adventure. It is the most dangerous time in a man's whole life, and it is a time when a wife needs wisdom and gentleness in dealing with her husband.

DOROTHY DIX

So, no matter how much you are bored, go along with your husband to the dances, and thank Heaven he is willing to take you instead of leaving you parked at home. Go cheerfully and willingly and make your husband feel that you enter into his pleasure. In this way you will keep him feeling that you are a pal instead of a jailer and a spoilsport.

MAN'S DANGEROUS AGE

The elation probably gets upon your nerves because it forces you to face one of the bitterest truths that women have to swallow, and that is that a man in his forties is still young and attractive to young women while a woman of the same age is middle-aged and has no allure for boys.

Just have patience with your husband. Realize that this is just a passing mood and is soonest cured by being humored. Go with him and help him to enjoy himself and all will be well. But if you make yourself a killjoy so that he has to slip away from home to avoid scenes, and lie to you and deceive you to have his good times, then disaster is certain to follow.

Dear Miss Dix: I am a housewife and I love to read books, magazines and papers, but my husband never reads at all and he can't understand why I do and he always makes some crack about my reading. As long as I do not neglect my household duties and take good care of my children, I see no reason why I shouldn't read as much as I want to. What do you think?

A READER.

Answer: Perhaps none of us can ever understand how anyone finds pleasure in doing the things that we do not like to do ourselves. So if the printed word holds no allure for your husband, if he has no interest in what is going on in the world, he just doesn't get your point of view, and he thinks you are wasting your time reading when it would bore him to tears.

A love of reading is a life-saver for everyone, but no one needs it more than the housewife, because her work is so monotonous. It is, therefore, most important that she should have the diversion of books that lift her out of herself and take her to far places, and thrill and amuse and entertain her.

I consider a love of reading one of the greatest gifts that God can bestow upon us, because if we have that we have a charm that prevents boredom, an antidote for loneliness and a narcotic that even drugs pain to sleep. So continue to be a reader and pass the habit along to your children. It is the best heritage you can give them.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I have been going with a married man for a year. Now his wife is suing him for divorce and naming me as co-respondent. I am terribly upset about the matter for I don't want to marry this man. I really wouldn't have him on a bet. He is much older than I am and I have just realized that I don't love him and that I couldn't trust him around the corner. Please warn girls not to play this game.

MISERABLE.

Answer: It is a dangerous game and a wicked game and if the girls who play it get their fingers burnt, nobody need greatly pity them. It is no more than they deserve. A girl who wantonly breaks up a home and orphans little children commits a crime that is as black as murder.

The Record will be pleased to receive any letters to this Dorothy Dix column. They will be forwarded to Miss Dix who will answer them as quickly as possible.

MODERN MARRIAGE

TAKE VACATIONS TOGETHER

Dr. Paul Popenoe

Vacation time is near. Mr. and Mrs. L. want to make their plans for the summer. Shall they go off together, or separately?

"Why don't you get a change?" one of their friends urge. "You two have been together for 50 weeks. Get away from each other for a couple of weeks—you'll appreciate each other more!"

"It's dangerous for husband and wife to take separate vacations," other friends warn them. "They get into all sorts of trouble!"

How shall Mr. and Mrs. L. decide? The general principle, of course, is that any arrangement must be such as to strengthen the marriage, not weaken it. A second principle is that occasional short separations in marriage are desirable, long ones undesirable. A third principle is that husband and wife should make it a particular point to be together when they are having a good time. That includes, ordinarily, vacations.

Each case must be decided on its own merits. Here Mr. and Mrs. Y. just back from a two weeks' tour by auto and disgusted with life. Mr. Y. owns a service station, which keeps him away from home for long hours. His wife has formed the habit of finding her entertainment visiting friends, telephoning them or going to the movies. On this trip they stopped at service stations often than Mrs. Y. thought necessary, and each time her husband would spend an hour "talking shop" to the boys while she sat in the car and boiled with indignation. Their mistake was not in taking a trip together, but in failing to plan wisely for it. A boat trip, if available, would have met their needs better, or a fortnight at the beach—without an automobile!

Mr. and Mrs. B. own a small restaurant, to which they both give their time. They enjoy it and are prospering. They are rarely out of sight of each other, and always have something to talk about. They decided this year that Mr. B. would take a vacation attending the American Bowling Congress in Los Angeles while Mrs. B., when her turn came, would go back to Dallas to visit her sister, who had a new baby. Each came home refreshed.

But in general, husband and wife should measure their separations in days rather than weeks and they should plan their vacations together, not apart, in order to build up more interest in common, get new things to think and talk about, and identify their marriage with the process of getting as much fun as possible out of life.

MARRIAGES

CARTER—ANDREWS

Waterloo, June 16.—The marriage of Verna Leman, daughter of the Rev. Harry Andrews, M.B.E., rector of St. Luke's Parish, Waterloo, and Mrs. Andrew, to Mr. Edward Robert Erskine Carter, son of Mr. Arthur N. Carter, K.C., and Mrs. Carter, of St. John, N.B., took place on Saturday, May 31, in St. Luke's Church, Waterloo. The Rev. Harry Andrews, father of the bride, officiated, assisted by Rural Dean I. M. Lidstone, of Granby, Que.

The organist, Mrs. Murdoch Macintosh, played the wedding music and accompanied Miss Dorothy Templeman, of Montreal, who sang "For You Alone."

Spring flowers adorned the church for the occasion. Attending the bride as matron of honor was her sister, Mrs. Harry Jay, while the Misses Janet Slack and Lyn Berens were bridesmaids. Acting as best man for his brother was Mr. Norwood Carter, and the ushers were Mr. Fore Carter, Mr. Sydney Frost and Mr. Gordon Fairweather.

Given away by her brother, Mr. Harry Andrews, the bride wore a gown of white satin, fashioned along simple lines, having a high rolled neckline and full bishop's sleeves, the long full skirt ending in a short train edged with heirloom lace from her mother's wedding veil. Her veil of tulle illusion was gathered to a coronet of orange blossoms and she carried a colonial bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley and white roses.

The matron of honor was wearing a floor-length gown of steel blue crepe made on long lines, with a bandeau trimmed with violets in her hair. The bridesmaids wore shell pink dresses and bouquets of lilies, similar to those of the matron of honor. All three carried nosegays of violets.

Mrs. Andrews, mother of the bride, was wearing a floor-length gown of lilac crepe, a small flowered hat and a corsage of violets. Mrs. Carter, the bridegroom's mother, was wearing a long gown of blue crepe with a profile hat of forget-me-nots and a corsage of bachelor buttons.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the bride's home. The couple motored to the United States for their honeymoon, the bride wearing for travelling a green gabardine suit, a small flowered hat and black accessories. They will reside in Rothesay, N.B.

Mrs. Carter is a graduate of the Montreal General Hospital. The groom is a Rhodes Scholar for New Brunswick, and is attending Osgood Hall, Toronto. He served overseas as a lieutenant with the Kingston Scottish Borderers.

City Dwellers' Summer Cottons
Flash Bold Plaids, Huge Skirts

By EPSIE KINARD

New York—Cotton fashions will put on a sophisticated summer show of extravagant yardage, striking colors, smooth styling.

Unhindered by shortages and style restrictions, fabrics are used lavishly to make cool, crisp cotton dresses a high-fashion choice of city-dwellers.

Longer and fuller skirts give town clothes their new look of formality. Sleeves of daytime suits and dresses are long or short and puffed, to accent yardage. The look of fabric generously used shows in longer jackets, longer waisted. Peplums, bustles, upstanding collars and whoops-what-shashes take up where full skirts leave off to add silhouette interest to both daytime and late-afternoon dresses.

Cheeks, stripes and plaids make bold bid for city-dwellers' favor with new taffeta-like textures and sophisticated patterns. Many checks are as big as hop-scotch squares. When muted tone-on-tone is crisscrossed with black or navy, the bold pattern links gaiety with sophistication, as in the plaid dress shown left above.

Yards and yards of crisp ging-

FOR PROGRESSIVE PEOPLE

He wanted to pay the Bank

A BONUS!

June 20th—John J. Veroba of Lampman, Sask., applied to the Bank of Montreal for a loan of $2,000 to purchase a threshing combine. His proposition was sound... and the loan was made.

John Veroba's new machine was delivered on June 25th. Ten days later, with his own crops still four weeks from harvesting, he set out for Sharon Springs, Kansas. With his new combine he worked for the farmers there and in the neighbouring communities for one month to the day.

In the meantime his own crops were ripening. Early in August he turned northward to Lampman, and on his arrival, August 11th, immediately remitted to us the full $2,000 he had borrowed. His work had given him back the entire purchase price of his combine!

The total interest charge was $12.60. So pleased was this customer to possess his own combine free of all debt, and to commence his own harvesting with a happy and easy mind, that he wished to pay the Bank of Montreal a bonus to mark his appreciation.

The Bank, of course, declined the bonus, but is gladly accepting the expression of John Veroba's thanks in the form of his permission to tell his story in this advertisement.

This case is typical of the assistance which the Bank of Montreal is extending to progressive people in every walk of life and demonstrates how it makes true its promise: "When you ask for a loan at the B of M, you do not ask a favour."

If you need money, see your nearest B of M manager today. If your proposition is sound, there's money for you at the B of M.

Murrell Jones Slams Two Homers In Spectacular Debut With Red Sox

His name is Murrell Jones but up in Boston the fans believe it should be "Merriwell" Jones.

Playing his first game in a Red Sox uniform, the 26-year-old first baseman smashed out a home run to help defeat his former mates 7-2 yesterday in the opener of a doubleheader. He did even better in the nightcap, belting a home run with the bases full in the 9th inning to win for Boston 8-4.

The best York could do in his first game in a White Sox uniform was to get a pair of singles in eight times at bat, both hits coming in the second game.

Jones' slickwork enabled veteran right-handers Tex Hughson and Joe Dobson to register their fourth and seventh victories, respectively, and moved the Red Sox into a second-place tie with Detroit Tigers. They trail the American League-leading New York Yankees by one game.

The Yankees climbed into the A.L.'s No. 1 position by sweeping a doubleheader from St. Louis before 55,661 at the Yankee Stadium. After belting Jack Kramer for a 10-4 victory in the opener, the Yanks behind Randy Gumpert, eked out a 2-1 triumph against Bob Muncie.

Washington surprised the Tigers by taking both ends of a doubleheader 1-0 and 5-1 to knock the Red Sox out of the lead. Bengals out, fresh from his 10 scoreless innings against the White Sox last week, blanked the Tigers with eight hits in the opener. Hal Newhouse lost his first game to Washington since 1945 in the opener when an infield tap by Eddie Yost, Newhouse's wild throw, a safe punt and Stan Spence's infield out accounted for the only run.

The battling Boston Braves blasted eight Pittsburgh pitchers for 29 hits to swamp the Pirates 13-4 and 12-3 in a doubleheader and take over possession of first place.

Ben Hogan All Set To Defend His P.G.A. Crown At Detroit This Year

Detroit, June 16.—(AP)—Hustling from one major championship to another with only two days intervening to sharpen up their game, the country's foremost professional golfers paraded into Detroit today for their final tune up rounds in preparation for the gruelling seven-day National PGA championship starting Wednesday at Plum Hollow Golf Club.

Almost without exception, the top stars hastened here directly from the National Open at St. Louis, where 29-year-old Lew Worsham, who only this month was assigned as pro at Oakland Country Club in Pittsburgh, yesterday defeated Jimmy Hines in a playoff for the title.

While Worsham's newly won stroke play supremacy strengthened his rating among the favorites here, the former Navy physical instructor who has been a pro since the war was 18 years old had little more backing than a half dozen other sturdy candidates for the P.G.A. dindon methodical. Ben Hogan won at Portland, Ore., a year ago.

Although the P.G.A. field never is anything other than "wide open" Hogan, off his match play experience, must be called the man to beat. As defending champion, he is the only automatic qualifier for match play starting Friday and continuing through Tuesday, June 24.

While nobody has successfully defended a National P.G.A. Crown since Denny Shute turned the trick 10 years ago at Pittsburgh, Hogan has been given the No. 1 rating here despite the fact he never has played Plum Hollow's rolling, stretching fairways that have been lengthened from 6,790 to 6,997 yards for this tournament. Unfamiliar as the layout may be to him, the long holes—and Plum Hollow has more than it share—are made to order for the long-hitting Hogan's game.

Both Jimmy Demaret, former Plum Hollow pro, and his successor, Sam Byrd, figure to go far in match play along with such as Snead, who won in 1942 after twice being runner-up; Ed (Porky) Oliver, who eliminated the 1945 champ, Bryon Nelson, last year before bowing to Hogan in the finals; and Bobby Locke, the visiting sharp-shooter from Johannesburg, South Africa, who received a late invitation to come here from Pitching, Walter Mastersen, Senators—Following his brilliant 16 scoreless innings against the White Sox last Sunday with a 1-0 shut out victory over the Tigers in the first game of a doubleheader.

HURLER GEORGE DOCKINS BACK WITH BROOKLYN

St. Louis, June 16.—(AP)—George Dockins, one-time St. Louis Cardinal left-handed pitcher, claimed by Brooklyn early last season, has applied for reinstatement and will be placed on the Dodger roster when he again becomes eligible.

Low Worsham Downs Sammy Snead In Playoff To Win U.S. Open Golf Title

St. Louis, June 16.—(AP)—The corner golf folks have been talking about for several years—Lew Worsham of Washington, D.C.—finally has arrived, with the United States Open Crown perched jauntily on a fast-thinking head.

Some say it was San Snead's lack of putting control on the 18th green of their title play-off at the St. Louis Country Club yesterday that gave 29-year-old Worsham a dramatic one-stroke victory and a ticket into golfdom's big money bracket.

But when Sammy from Hot Springs, Va., blew a 30½-inch putt for his losing 70, it was seconds after Worsham pulled a psychological fast one by demanding that officials measure both golf balls to see who had the outside lie in the playoff taps for both.

Snead had judged he was a fraction outside of Worsham's ball, but Worsham waved in the officials. Armed with a tape measure, they took several minutes to confirm what Snead had guessed—he was a half-inch outside Worsham's ball on the opposite side of the cup and had first play.

But the interruption obviously nettled the already-harassed Snead.

Joe DiMaggio, Heel Cured, Is Back To Lead Yanks To Championship

New York, June 16.—Before a special dressing and protective shoe enabled DiMaggio to get into the lineup sooner than expected.

The ugly crescent gash on the bottom of his heel hurt like a toothache every time he ran or pivoted at bat, but the big fellow was at least fresh and playing himself into condition.

The turn came when DiMaggio was able to lace a regular spiked shoe on his left foot, May 13. He celebrated with a home run

Well Shod

Joe DiMaggio went into his consecutive-game hitting streak and soared to batting leadership of the major leagues shortly after lacing a regular spiked shoe on his left foot. Yankee Clipper broke in this season with special shoe protecting heel after removal of a spur and subsequent skin grafting.

"I could hit," smiled DiMaggio, explaining the 16 consecutive-game batting streak that skyrocketed him to the batting leadership of the major leagues with .368 and made the Yankees solid contenders.

It was that simple. DiMaggio was the best all-round ballplayer on one foot, so why not on two? DiMaggio is getting a fair shake for the first time since he returned to the New York club a year ago after three years in the Army, during which time he contracted such a case of stomach ulcers that he couldn't even appear in service games.

Joe McCarthy, obviously seeking to please the clientele and money-hungry Larry MacPhail, a year ago used DiMaggio in every inning of some 30 spring exhibition games. Having played the equivalent of one-third of the major league season before it started, by July it was a struggle for Giuseppe to lift his big bat.

By that time, due to marital trouble, DiMaggio also was carrying a terrific torch, which was a bigger burden than his bat. The result was that DiMaggio dropped below .300 for the first time in his life, although he started strongly and gamely closed with a rush.

Meanwhile DiMaggio developed a spur on his left heel, waited too long to have it removed. Once this was done, a skin grafting job was required. In one way the latter turned out to be a blessing in disguise, for while DiMaggio missed the first few championship games, the second operation also spared him the 1947 edition of the wearing spring exhibition grind, which on this occasion bore even deeper into the tropics.

who was anxious to follow up his failing first putt from 15 feet, a straggly short tap that left him the fatal 30½ inches shy.

Snead was less steady than before as he approached the ball the second time. Worsham's justifiable call for a measurement halts the damaging effect—some veteran observers said it was one of the easiest stratagems ever pulled in Open competition.

Sam's putt squirmed off to the right and missed the cup completely as a gallery of 5,000 groaned in sympathy.

Worsham, his confidence skyrocketed, casually stepped up and knocked in his 29½-inch putt for the title and a two-under-par 69 which climaxed four extremely steady rounds of 70-70-71-71—282 in regulation play.

The play-off Sunday between Snead and Worsham was forced Saturday when the two finished in a first-place deadlock. Bobby Locke of South Africa, early favorite, entered the final round one stroke off the pace but skidded to a tie for third with Ed (Porky) Oliver of Wilmington, Del., at 285, three strokes behind Snead and Worsham.

STOCKHOLM IS DARK HORSE OF '52 OLYMPICS

Stockholm, June 16.—(AP)—This Swedish capital loomed as a dark-horse candidate for the honor of being the host city for the 1952 Olympics as delegates from several cities wooed acceptance of their offers by the International Olympic Committee which opens its sessions today.

Putting on paper what already had been rumored in hotel lobbies, the influential Svenska Dagbladet in an editorial said "It is reported that Helsinki gets a decisive no, intends to appear as an applicant for the games."

The Swedes favor the invitation of neighboring Finland but might come up as the compromise choice if the I.O.C. is unable to agree immediately on the avowed bidders. Helsinki, Detroit, Los Angeles and Minneapolis have had delegations working here for several days. More competition was expected as officials received the bids of Chicago and Philadelphia.

INDIANS SELL ROGER WOLFF TO PIRATES

Philadelphia, June 16.—(AP)—Roger Wolff, 34-year-old knuckleball pitcher obtained by Cleveland Indians from Washington Nationals in a trade for George Case, has been sold to Pittsburgh Pirates. Tribe officials reported.

The price of the purchase of Wolff, who was credited with no victories or defeats during 16 innings of pitching this season, was reported at about $10,000, the waiver figure.

HOW THE STARS DID YESTERDAY

Ted Williams, Red Sox—Hit a double and was passed four times in nine at bats for a season total of 66 walks; he grounded out twice and flied out twice.

Joe DiMaggio, Yankees—Hit a single and double in five times at bat in the opener and drove in one run; he singled and walked in four times at bat in the nightcap.

Stan Musial, Cardinals—Smashed two singles, got hit by a pitched ball, walked and grounded out in five times at bat.

Jackie Robinson, Dodgers—Got two of his team's seven hits off Howie Pollett in five times at bat, both singles.

Johnny Mize, Giants—After going hitless in four times at bat against Johnny Vander Meer of the Reds in the opener, he belted his 17th home run in the eighth inning for his only hit in the second game.

Hank Greenberg, Pirates—Had his worst day at bat this year, failing to hit safely in eight official times at bat as the Pirates dropped a doubleheader to the Braves.

Earl Naylor Poles Out Homer To Give Royals Double Win Over Bears

One of the reasons the unhurried Jersey City Giants are bounding the front-running Montreal Royals in the International League pennant race is the sturdy stickwork of Felix Mackiewicz.

The 29-year-old Polish slugger, who joined the Little Giants less than a month ago, has taken over the power role since his acquisition from Washington Senators.

In 17 games to date, Mackiewicz has blasted six home runs and has driven in 17 runs. He added three to his total yesterday to lead the Giants to a double victory over Rochester Red Wings 7-3 and 12-7. The twin victory enabled Jersey to pass Syracuse Chiefs into the runner-up berth 3½ games behind the Royals.

Mackiewicz's first home run with one on the opener was only extra dressing for the Little Giants, but his two round trippers in the second game accounted for four runs to provide the edge in the nightcap.

At Syracuse, meanwhile, the Chiefs divided their double bill with last-place Toronto, winning the opener 2-0 on the two-hit pitching of Herm Wehmeier but dropping the nightcap 3-1 as Toronto's Jim Konstanty hurled four-hit ball. Two other close games wound up in a split at Baltimore, where the Orioles downed Buffalo 2-1 in the first contest but the Bisons took the nightcap 3-1 as Henry Perry pitched two-hit ball.

Ray Haasman was the pitching winner over Bob Kazava in the first game, although each hurler gave up only four hits in a game in which home runs accounted for all the scores.

Earl Naylor's home run with the bases loaded in the eighth inning gave Montreal Royals a 6-3 nightcap victory over Newark yesterday for a sweep of both the twin bill and the five-game International League series. The Royals won the opener 5-1 and the Bears could collect only one earned run all day.

Johnny Van Cuyk handcuffed the Bears with four hits in the opener and only a double error by Ed Stevens cost him a shut-out. Herb Karpel started for the Bears and yielded all five Montreal runs in the first five innings.

Art Cucurullo and Don Schmidt held the Royals scoreless in the last four rounds. Chet Kehn received credit for the win in the second game.

Jack Kramer Favored To Cop Crown In Wimbledon Tennis Championship

London, June 16.—(AP)—Jack Kramer, top-ranking United States amateur netman, was strongly favored today to win the men's singles crown in the Wimbledon Tennis Championships.

But the women's division was wide open. Pauline Betz, American star who walked through it last year, has turned professional.

"With Pauline out," said Mrs. Pat Canning Todd, one of the United States entries, "I wouldn't like to try to pick the winner."

Kramer was the men's favorite last year, but he blistered his playing hand in the London championship at the Queen's Club—annual prelude to the Wimbledon Tournament—and fell in the fourth round to the smashing play of respected Jaroslav Drobny, Czech Davis Cupper.

Kramer and Bob Falkenberg yesterday dropped a doubles match at the Queen's Club to John Bromwich and Dinny Pails of Australia, 6-3, 6-8, 6-3.

France's "tall timber" Yvon Petra, who won the Wimbledon title last year, is scheduled to try again, along with Drobny and many other topflight foreign players, but Britain has dug up nothing for opposition.

Overseas tennis players dominate the men's singles championship. There are only 38 spots in the announced acceptances for British players, and Kramer won't automatically have a tea party with a field which includes his own compatriots, Tom Brown, Budge Patty, Bob Falkenberg, and the best from Australia, South Africa and the continent.

Australia's challengers will be Bromwich, Pails, Geoff Brown, last year's beaten finalist, Colin Long and veteran Jack Crawford. Close behind them will be the pack of the continent, Petra, now recovered from a damaged foot, Sweden's 22-year-old Lennart Bergelin, a classy hard driver, and Drobny, reckoned by many judges to be the best player in Europe.

America's four women stars, Louise Brough, Mrs. Todd, Doris Hart and Margaret Osborne, probably will carry a up the Wimbledon event among them.

Britain, apart from Kay Stammers Menzies, doesn't seem to have much to offer in the way of opposition to the American queens of the court. But Australia's Nancy Wynne Bolton, South Africa's Sheila Summers and Mary Muller, and Magda Durac of Romania, are all playing good enough tennis to stage an upset.
