REPORTED INDIA'S BIG PROBLEM SETTLED

SINN FEIN DRAFTS ANSWER; COUNTER PROPOSALS MADE

London and Dublin Still Optimistic Over Prospects of Settlement

MORE CONCESSIONS

De Valera Will Ask Changes in Financial and Military Provisions

LONDON, July 29.— (Special Cable to Montreal Star and Chicago Tribune. Copyright).—Referring to Ireland during the presentation of a gift by the members of the House of Commons to Lord Fitzalin, the new Viceroy of Ireland yesterday afternoon, Prime Minister Lloyd George said:

"We are looking forward to seeing the inauguration of a new era of peace there and the closing of the great feud between two nations that have been cast by Providence side by side in these islands."

COUNTER PROPOSALS.

DUBLIN, July 29.— (By Charles M. McCann, United Press Staff Correspondent).— Sinn Fein today began drafting a rejection of the principal terms in the British peace proposal. The Irish will make counter-proposals, principally regarding the degree of self-government and the relations to be maintained between Ulster and the southern counties.

The reply probably will not be sent to London before the middle of next week. It is drafted from a "trading" viewpoint. That is the principal terms in their present nebulous state are turned down, with the idea that the counter-proposals will lead to further parleys. If the Government's offer is elastic, Lloyd George is expected to answer by invitation to de Valera to come to London for more conversations. The invitation, it can be stated authoritatively, would be accepted. If the Government's proposition is a flat "take it or leave it" offer the peace negotiations seem doomed.

OPINIONS DIFFER.

Sinn Fein officials are resentful at the insistence of the London press that Lloyd George's terms are "generous." They regard the terms in their present form as non generous.

The Sinn Feiners object, in the first place, to Britain's desire to maintain military domination over Ireland. They also object to the fact that the offer does not give Ireland Dominion home rule as it exists in Canada, South Africa and Australia, either as regards freedom to determine its own course in Imperial affairs or freedom from "military domination." Sinn Fein wants the peace terms clarified so London will be eliminated as a connecting link between Ulster and the South. They want a united Ireland.

The Sinn Fein Cabinet is undecided whether to call a meeting of the full Parliament to approve the reply to the British proffer. If the Parliament were called, 36 of its members would have to be freed from jail by the British.

INSIST ON DETAILS.

LONDON, July 29. — (By A. E. Johnson, United News Staff Correspondent.) — The Government's set policy of maintaining dead secrecy in the Irish negotiations is having a boomerang effect. Serious criticism is developing, especially through the Houses of Commons and Lords and it is becoming evident that the Premier's hand will be forced within a short time unless the terms of Lloyd George's proposals are divulged.

Opposition is particularly apparent in the House of Lords, where Lord Salisbury announces that he will introduce a resolution on August 3, asking for explanations. At the same time the insurgents in the Lower House are growing obstreperous.

No new developments are reported from Dublin save that de Valera and the Premier are known to be in constant communication on issues apart from the main problem.

SAYS MESSAGE RECEIVED.

LONDON, July 29.—A communication from Eamonn de Valera was received by the Government yesterday, according to the London Times.

"The contents were not divulged" says the Times, "but it was noticeable in Government quarters that there was no abatement in the hopefulness lately apparent there."

UNUSUAL OPTIMISM.

DUBLIN, July 29.—An air of unusual optimism prevailed in Dublin yesterday. Eamonn de Valera, the Republican Leader, had an informal meeting with some of his colleagues, after which it was confidently stated that a communication from Mr. de Valera to Premier Lloyd George might be expected soon upon the proposed basis of a conference.

It was also declared that another meeting between Mr. de Valera and Sir James Craig, the Ulster Premier, was imminent and that an acceptable solution of the financial difficulty had been found in the shape of Ireland's assuming a portion of the national war debt.

The Dublin Evening Herald understands that matters of tremendous import were discussed by the Dail Eireann Cabinet Wednesday and that "the stage of discussions was passed and a fateful and happy decision reached."

SESSION SEEMS CERTAIN.

DUBLIN, July 29. — (Associated Press)—It now seems certain that the summoning of the "Irish Republican Parliament" to consider the British terms will be one of the next steps. Although the calling of the Dail Eireann for this purpose is not likely to occur immediately, no date having yet been fixed, the apparent fact that such a session has been decided upon encourages the hope here that the negotiations will prove fruitful.

No application has as yet been made for the release of those members who are still in prison, but the freeing of these men is declared to be certain once the date of the meeting is fixed.

Pessimism Not Justified Says Railway President

NEW YORK, July 29.—(Associated Press)—Howard Elliott, chairman of the Northern Pacific Railway, was optimistic today on his return from a 6,000 mile tour of the Pacific Northwest and Canada.

"Everywhere I went," he said, "there was a feeling of hope and belief that conditions would be better, and in few places did I find any feeling of pessimism. The outlook, for agricultural production is good."

THOUSANDS FLEE FROM FAMINE IN SOVIET "PARADISE"

Volga Valley Choked With Those Bent on Escaping Starvation

DEATHS INCREASE

Homes are Abandoned or Sold for Third of a Sack of Flour

LONDON, July 29.—(By Ed. L. Keen, United Press Staff Correspondent.)—Russia's famine flight continued today.

Cross-roads in parts of the Volga Valley were choked with thousands of rickety carts, small herds and pedestrians. The wildest confusion reigned at these points.

Great clouds of dust rose as conflicting lines tried to force their way past each other. The stifling dust descended again to the caravans, leaving the miserable travellers choking and dying. The cross-roads became centres of death.

Even cattle which had staggered along, attached to their owners' carts, failed to survive heat and dust at the crossings and fell dead in the road. The carcasses were stripped of flesh and used as food.

While the caravans, heading toward the promise of harvests in the Ukraine and Russia's boundary countries, continued the most miserable victims of Russia's great drought, there were millions more of sufferers, according to reports reaching here today by way of Revai, Copenhagen and Berlin.

The principal developments, according to these reports, were:

The extension of the Soviet relief committee's activities.

The threat of mutinies by different regiments who suffered ration-cuts.

FOOD RESERVE GUARDED.

The establishment of a heavy guard around the Kremlin in Moscow where Soviet officials stored provisions to withstand a siege if necessary.

Moscow became virtually a military camp. Many regiments were taken up to the city and stationed so that every possible gathering place could be commanded.

The international battalion, including many foreign enthusiasts for the Bolshevik cause, was assigned to the honor of guarding the Kremlin. Soviet authorities have abandoned their policy of mingling freely with the crowds. When necessary to leave the Kremlin now they go about in closed cars, accompanied by armored cars and squadrons of cavalry.

The panic has affected all Russia. With thousands dying daily in the drought region, the great Volga Valley, every other section was endangered by the shortage of wheat.

Flour commands almost any price. In Simbirsk the best of peasant cottages is offered for thirty six pounds of flour. Generally the peasants make no effort to sell. They merely load their portable goods into a cart and join the great throng which are shuffling across the shimmering steppes, chasing the mirage of plentiful food.

Meat is valued at thousands of roubles a pound.

The Minister of Food has reported that 70,000,000 poods of corn have been collected in the Ukraine and will be distributed. Even that amount will make little impression in Russia however.

The offcial has even gone to the extreme of taking next year's seed in requisitioning supplies from districts where crops are fairly satisfactory.

Reports to the food minister's office showed that rains had fallen in some dry sections but only added to the damage.

SITUATION VERY GRAVE.

LONDON, July 29.—(By Sydney Thatcher, to The Montreal Star and Philadelphia Ledger, Copyright.)—Reports from Russia, emanating from sources more trustworthy than the average, show that the famine conditions are not as serious as reported in some quarters, but are a great deal worse than stated by those who attempt to minimize the situation.

It may be stated with reasonable accuracy that there are approximately 10,000,000 people of the Volga region in dire need of assistance, which will be difficult to render.

According to semi-official reports available in London which do not bear a political coloring, the worse sufferers are in Samara Province, from which the drought spreads north and south. Toward the south the famine district embraces Saratov, and east of the Don, Astrakhan; to the northeast the Kuban-Terek region; in the north Simbirsk, parts of the Tartar Republic, the Chuvash region, Ufa and to the southwest the districts of Viatka and Perin.

JUSTICE ANGLIN'S SON DEAD.

OTTAWA, July 29. — Frank Warren Fraser Anglin, aged 21 years, eldest son of Hon. Francis A. Anglin, judge of the Supreme Court, and Mrs. Anglin, of Ottawa, died in a local hospital last night as a result of injuries received in a motor accident on the Gatineau road last Tuesday night.

REPORT PREMIERS REACH AGREEMENT ON NAVAL POLICY

Each Dominion Responsible for Own Coastal Defence, Rumored Policy

ALL-RED WIRELESS

Premiers Decline to Pledge Governments to Empire Aerial Development

LONDON, July 29—(United News)—It is understood that the Imperial Conference has decided to re-affirm the 1917 policy providing that each Dominion shall provide its own navy and that they will be responsible for the protection of coastal trade in wartime and assist in the working of the convoy system with the provision of suitable vessels. The need of providing oil storage at all important naval bases is also being considered.

South Africa, hithertofore unenthusiastic, has agreed to the policy, especially so far as it applies to local defences.

Important developments are planned for a dockyard at Simmonstown capable of effecting quick repairs. Harbor improvements will provide a safe anchorage for South Atlantic vessels. Oil tanks will be erected, capable of providing the navy with war-time requirements.

WIRELESS CHAIN PLAN.

LONDON July 29 — (Special Star Cable. Copyright) — The Empire Premiers' conference has adopted plans for an Imperial wireless chain and work of establishing stations will early be proceeded with. At present the cost of a wireless telephonic chain is considered prohibitive but the contemplated wireless telegraph station is so designed as to supply telephone services when future developments have lowered costs.

In addition to existing stations in Egypt and India, others proposed for the Australian route will be at Karachi, Singapore, Perth and Sydney. On the South African route stations will be built at Kenya and Capetown. It is probable Canadian stations will be at Montreal and Vancouver.

AIRSHIP DOOMED.

Today Empire Premiers have before them the report of the expert committee which has been investigating potentialities of airships as long distance transport vehicles. The Times, although the apostle of economy in many other directions, has been making special efforts to save the airships, which, unless Dominion Premiers are prepared to come to the rescue with funds, are doomed to be scrapped next Monday. It is believed experts have reported that airships are capable of everything their advocates claim. Northcliffe's organ declares that time is too short for Premiers to make a decision and urges the Government to hold over the question of abandoning airships until the visiting statesmen have had the opportunity of examining the committee's report thoroughly and of placing the situation before their Parliaments and leading business men. One million pounds is the sum mentioned as necessary for further airship trials over a period of two years and altogether the British Empire States would be required to find at least four million pounds for the development of air liners after results of preliminary experts had crystallized.

GREEKS CHANGED PLAN OF ATTACK

SMYRNA, July 29, — (By Larry Rue. Special Cable to Montreal Star and Chicago Tribune. Copyright.)— When on July 1 the Turks began to oppose the Greek advance guards, the Twelfth and Second Infantry Divisions, which were making a big encircling movement east of Kutaya to cut off the retreat of Kemal's army toward that place, the Greek scouts discovered that instead of retreating toward Kutaya, the Turks were moving toward Eski-Shehr. The General Staff, which had believed the Turks would risk a decisive battle at Kutaya, changed their original plans and immediately ordered the two divisions to proceed with all haste to the railroad immediately south of Eski-Shehr.

I joined the Twelfth Division, commanded by Prince Andrew, at noon of the same day ten miles beyond Beyki, where it had camped the night before. This division used animal transport entirely, the automobile transport ending at Beyki; and the route taken ran along a stream between a mountain pass so narrow that for miles my horse was not able to pass pack animals and plodding soldiers.

The following day, Prince Andrew and his staff and two men, including myself, while riding immediately behind the advance guard, were ambushed by 200 Turks. It was dusk and we were hurrying, but we easily made out the Turkish positions on the side of a hill above the village and we watched the Greek cavalry attempt an encircling movement.

The Greeks by this time had trained their artillery on the Turkish machine gun nests, knocking them to pieces.

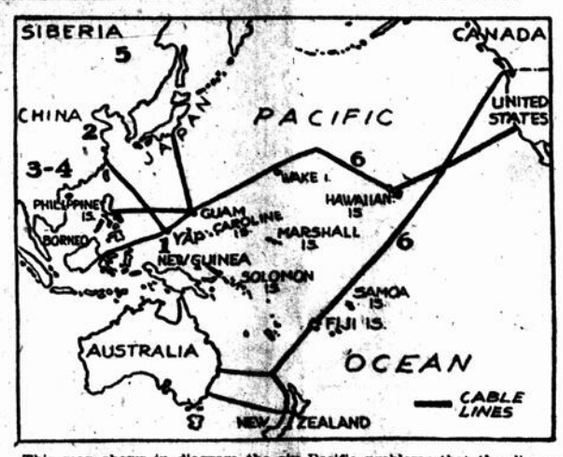
Two Out of Three New York Children Physically Wrong

NEW YORK, July 29.—(Associated Press)—Two out of three New York children of first year school age are physically defective, according to results of a study of 1,057 prospective entrants into Manhattan public schools, made public today by the Department of Health. Of 506 boys and 551 girls examined, 66.7 per cent had physical defects.

Defective teeth were found in 72.6 per cent. of the cases studied and were the only defects found in 25.2 per cent. of the defectives.

Other common defects were Hypertrophied tonsils, 26.3 per cent; defective nasal breathing 23.1 per cent. and malnutrition, 19.2 per cent.

PACIFIC PROBLEMS IN DIAGRAM



This map shows in diagram the six Pacific problems that the disarmament conference will have to settle. No. 1 shows the Island of Yap, centre of the squabble over League of Nations mandates. No 2 shows the Shantung peninsula. Nos. 3 and 4 show China where the "open door" policy and the country's territorial integrity are at stake. No. 5 shows Asiatic Russia, whose territorial integrity also is in the balance, while No. 6 shows the cable lines which also are the centre of a heated argument. The map also shows how United States is vitally mixed up in Pacific problems because of its island possessions there—the Philippines, Guam, Wake Island and Hawaii.

EMPIRE PREMIERS TO HOLD CONFERENCE UPON PACIFIC POLICY

Unofficial London Despatches Say Meeting Will Be on Pacific Coast, Probably in Canada—Britain Pressing U.S. to End Delays?

WASHINGTON, July 29.—(United Press).—The United States has outlined to Great Britain America's final word of opposition to the proposals for a preliminary conference to the Washington disarmament and Pacific conference, it was learned today. Mr. Hughes, Secretary of State, is understood to have made plain the American attitude in detail to Sir Auckland Geddes, British Ambassador, in response to continued and persistent suggestions from the British Government for an early preliminary conference.

LONDON, July 29.—(By John Steel to The Montreal Star and Chicago Tribune. Copyright).—A preliminary conference to the Washington peace meeting is likely to be held within a month somewhere on the American continent. This means the Pacific Coast, either in the United States or Canada. This information was obtained from 10 Downing Street, where I was informed the matter has been practically settled, only awaiting formal replies from the nations concerned.

These nations are the United States, the British Empire and Japan and the purpose of this informal conference will be to discuss the problems of the Pacific and to agree upon the agenda on this subject for the larger and more formal conference in November.

It is settled that Prime Ministers Hughes and Massey of Australia and New Zealand will attend on their way home from London, and it is likely that Lloyd George himself will go.

The reason why Washington is ruled out as a meeting place is the fact that it is the Capital, where all the nations of Europe are represented, and the different diplomats would insist on being consulted although they have no special interests in the meeting.

IF ARRANGEMENTS HELD UP BRITAIN WILL REQUEST POSTPONEMENT TILL SPRING

LONDON, July 29.—(United News.)—If arrangements for the Washington conference on disarmament and Pacific problems are not completed within a short time, indications are that a request will be made by Great Britain for postponement of the meetings until spring.

VIEWS FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, July 29. — (By Ralph H. Turner, United News Staff Correspondent.)—Great Britain is still pursuing her idea of a preliminary conference to be held before the main armament and Far Eastern discussions open in Washington.

Secretary of State Hughes clings to his belief that a preliminary gathering is not necessary. He also is averse to holding a session of the Powers anywhere else than Washington.

These were the developments of a conference Thursday between Hughes, Sir Auckland Geddes, British ambassador, and Baron Shidehara, Japanese ambassador. It was diplomatic day at the State Department and the British ambassador, taking advantage of the presence of Hughes and Shidehara, brought up a subject which heretofore has been confined largely to suggestions from London.

Geddes stated that the Dominion Premiers were urging the preliminary meeting which they could attend while en route to their homes from London. They also were represented as favoring a later date than November 11 for the main conclave. Shidehara, convenient for the Japanese, agreed while saying this plan would be more to abide by the original program.

The British representation is understood to have been made largely in behalf of the Dominion Premiers. The British home Government, it is intimated, might attend the conference without the colonial delegates, if the latter found it difficult to adjust their plans to the present program.

The Harding administration is busy on the basis of its initial plans, for intensive preparations are being made at the State Department now for the details of the conference. These details are being worked out with the view of holding one meeting—and that one in Washington, to open in November.

Experts on every conceivable subject — international politics, world geography, foreign concessions, military topics, naval armament — are preparing sheafs of reports for the use of the American delegates to the conference.

The minesweeping and hydrographical survey divisions of the navy will be increased. The above measures will take the place of any of the existing monetary contributions.

FRANCE NOT REPRESENTED.

PARIS, July 29—(Star-Chicago Tribune Cable. Copyright) — Premier Briand will not attend the disarmament conference in Washington if published reports are true that only the official (English) language will be used, in the conference, it was intimated today.

Difficulty was expected in selecting competent representatives for France, as few big French officials speak English.

SAYS MEET IN CANADA.

LONDON, July 29.—(Star Cable. Copyright).—Imperial Conference is inclined to mark time until the details are known of the notes passing between Japanese and United States Governments regarding the former's acceptance of the invitation to the Pacific conference. It is assumed that Japan will insist on the compilation of a definite agenda and also that the scope of the conference should be discussed before the first formal meeting. Pending information on the actual state of negotiations between Japan and America the British Empire Premiers are arranging details of their own preliminary consultations in case the acceptance of the idea of preparatory conference should become general.

At yesterday's meeting this question of preliminaries to Washington conference was again under consideration. Although no official pronouncement was made it is generally understood that the idea of a meeting in London between the Empire Premiers and representatives of other nations has now been abandoned, but preliminary discussions will be held in Canada between Empire representatives before the date of the first Washington meeting.

CHINA IS GRATEFUL.

SHANGHAI, July 29.—(By J. B. Powell, to Montreal Star and Chicago Tribune. Copyright).—China is especially grateful for its inclusion in the invitations issued to a Pacific conference at Washington, according to Dr. W. W. Yen, Minister of Finance Affairs for the South Chinese Republic. He said the Chinese interests and problems in the Pacific and particularly those concerning the Far Eastern and Asiatic countries, were the greatest facing any nation and the invitation was taken as a recognition of this by the United States, Great Britain and Japan.

The Chinese stand, according to Dr. Yen, will be taken first on the general policies of the powers in the Pacific in the belief that once such principles, such as the open door, are asserted the specific questions may be more clearly solved in the light of them. He said China's representatives have not as yet been selected but declared they would be the country's best and most able men.

A Great Leader Pays Tribute to His Great Successor

LONDON, July 29—(Star Special)—Lord Byng, at the Canadian Club dinner in his honor last evening, said, "I sometimes think that, when I leave this sphere and have to face the recording angel, I shall expect him to say 'Young fellow, what have you done?' I will reply, 'I got Arthur Currie to command the Canadian Corps,' and the recording angel will say at once 'Step into the elevator. You can go straight up.'"

BRITISH ANSWER TO FRANCE FRIENDLY BUT NOT YIELDING

Calls Attention to "Extraordinary Action" by France and Its Perils

PRESS ANXIOUS

Briand Calls Cabinet Session to Consider the British Note

LONDON, July 29. — (Associated Press. — Great Britain's note to France regarding the Silesian problem, dispatched last night and delivered in Paris this morning, recapitulates the circumstances which led to the present situation and refutes the allegation that Great Britain had set herself against the French and was thereby strengthening the German attitude.

Officials describe the note as of a friendly character, " in marked contrast to the attitude displayed in the French note," to which it is a reply.

Great Britain, officials declared, is still anxious to consider any means by which the French desire can be met, but it is emphasized that according to the news being received in London there is no danger threatening the French troops in Silesia which renders the sending of reinforcements urgently necessary, as the French have claimed.

DELIVERS GENTLE REBUKE.

The note calls attention to what is described as "the extraordinary action on the part of France," in endeavoring to act independently of the Supreme Council in insisting upon the immediate despatch of troops. It points out that this is an impossible basis upon which to pursue any future policy together, and that no good purpose would be served by further discussion until there was a clear understanding of France's intentions.

The note further expresses the view of the British Government that it "would fain not believe" that the French note represented the considered opinion of the French Government.

The British press today took a serious view of Upper Silesian dispute.

The general opinion seemed to be that the hope of a Supreme Council meeting on August 4 had been abandoned both by France and Great Britain. It was believed that France now intends to go on with her announced purpose of sending additional troops to Silesia without awaiting Britain's acquiescence.

FRIENDLY BUT UNYIELDING.

PARIS, July 29. — (Associated Press.)—Great Britain's reply to the latest French note on the Upper Silesian question, in which divergencies still exist between the two nations as to the procedure to be adopted in dealing with the problem, notably as to the sending of reinforcements to the area was delivered at the Foreign Office conversation between Lord Hardinge the British Ambassador. An hour's conversation between Lord aHrdinge and Premier Briand ensued, after which the Premier joined his colleagues in the Cabinet meeting in progress at the palace of the Elysee.

It was announced after the Cabinet adjourned that Premier Briand had arrived too late to go into the Silesian question at this session and that the Cabinet would meet again at 3:30 o'clock to consider the British reply.

As to the contents of the note, it was said in an authoritative quarter that although the tone of the communication was conciliatory it did not appear that in it the British Government had made any sensible progress toward reaching the French viewpoint. The communication expressed a desire to find a solution acceptable to France it was said, but maintained Great Britain's opposition to the sending of reinforcements to Silesia before the meeting of the Supreme Council on August 4. Nevertheless, it was added, the note does not bar the way to further discussions and admits of the hope that the finding of a solution acceptable to both France and Great Britain will be possible.

The despatch of the British note followed two conferences by the Lloyd George Cabinet Thursday on the Upper Silesian situation. It was said afterwards that no change in the British policy was to be expected, and that Great Britain hoped the French would not send troops to Upper Silesia until the Supreme Council had considered the situation.

MILLERAND STUMBLING BLOCK.

PARIS, July 29.—(United Press.)—Rumors of a disagreement between President Millerand and Premier Briand over handling of the Silesian situation were heard here today.

The President was said to hold that France should stand firmly on her declaration that additional troops must be sent to Silesia immediately, with or without British acquiescence. Briand was said to be more in favor of reaching an agreement with the British.

ST. KITT'S HENLEY EVENTS STARTED

Perfect Weather for Big Regatta at St. Catharines

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., July 29. —(Canadian Press).—The weather is perfect for the Canadian Henley this morning, cool and windless, though rain is threatened.

Two heats in 140 pound singles were rowed this morning as a curtain raiser. R. J. Clench, St. Catharnes; J. Ingham, of Toronto Dons, and J. Walsh, of Hamilton, started in first heat. Clench, of St. Catharines, won by two lengths with Ingham second. Walsh was away behind. Clench's time was 10.30.

F. Rodican and T. Stevenson, both of Toronto Argonauts, raced it out in the second heat. H. A. Clarke of Detroit, S. Stevenson and J. Durnan of Argonauts failing to start. Rodican won in a pretty race by half a length. Time 10.51.

READING AND GHANDI REACH AGREEMENT ON GOVERNMENT OF INDIA

Calcutta Despatch States Longstanding Difficulty Settled and Plan for Self-government of India Agreed Upon—Removes One of Britain's Most Important Problems

CALCUTTA, July 29.—(Special Cable to Montreal Star and Chicago Tribune. Copyright.)—According to reports circulating in well-informed circles here, Mr. Ghandi, the founder and leader of the "non-co-operative" movement and Lord Reading, the new Viceroy of India, have reached an understanding whereby the Nationalists will drop their policy of taking no part in Indian affairs and will do their best to make the new reform Government a success and the British will dissolve the present Parliament, calling a new election so that Nationalists will have a voice in the Government.

It is said Mr. Ghandi was well satisfied with the result of his conference with the Viceroy and is doing his utmost to bring his followers to fall in line with the new policy.

Ghandi wants to prove to Great Britain that India is capable of self-government and he feels that if his followers desire they can influence the British to grant it before the expiration of the ten-year probation period originally fixed upon.

In a recent speech at Bombay Ghandi said he was fighting for a parliamentary Government with control over the army, courts, police, revenue, etc., and that he would be content with Dominion self-government.

He declared he did not care whether the ministers were natives or Englishmen, but he wanted them elected by the people.

NEGOTIATIONS HAVE BEEN GOING ON SINCE EARLY IN MAY

The Earl of Reading's negotiations or "conversations" with Mr. Ghandi, leader of the Indian Nationalists, began about the middle of May, according to an official announcement issued from Simla.

Mohandas Karamchand Ghandi is an ascetic whose political activities in India have succeeded in creating a spirit of unrest among a great number of the low caste Hindus. When announcement was made that Lord Reading had been appointed Viceroy of India, despatches declared that he owed his appointment to his brilliant achievements in diplomacy and that his first task in India would be to meet and placate Ghandi.

At a congress held in Nagpur late in 1920, Ghandi called for the destruction of the British Empire, declaring that the success of the movement might involve "wading through oceans of blood."

NON-RESISTANCE MOVEMENT.

In his organ, "Young India," Mr. Ghandi not long ago quoted Newman, "I do not ask to see the distant scene; one step enough for me." He declared his movement to be essentially religious and called upon all to renounce evil in their own lives without regard to consequences. "Every God-fearing man," he said, "must have faith in a good deed producing only a good result. . . . God does not permit him to peer into the future. . . . Whoever is satisfied that this government (i.e. the British) represents the activity of Satan has no choice left to him but to dissociate himself from it."

A special meeting of the Nationalist Congress named five articles of the Passive Resistance propaganda; the gradual withdrawal of children from the government schools and colleges and the founding of national schools; 2, gradual boycott of British courts by lawyers and litigants and the founding of private arbitration courts; 3, refusal by all classes to volunteer as recruits for service in Mesopotamia; 4, withdrawal of candidates for the Reformed Councils and refusal of voters to vote should any offer for election; 5, the boycott of British goods.

The regular session of the Congress was attended by 20,000 delegates. But while great unrest has followed the programme laid down and "really good men have refused to stand for election," items 1, 2 and 4 have not been obeyed generally by the nationalists. There is also an influential party of Moderates who have "a faith without a prophet," whose goal is self-government (the Indian word is Swaraj) within the British Commonwealth of nations.

SAINT AND FIREBRAND.

Those who know Mr. Ghandi, as he really is, have never hesitated to pay tribute to the purity of his motives and the loftiness of his aims; he has been called "a saint and a firebrand." They recognise his ideals of equality and his earnest desire to remove the barriers of caste, as a great new power in Indian politics and as the beginning of that breaking down from within which is utterly essential if India is ever to attain anything in the nature of responsible government. "We Hindus," declared Mr. Ghandi recently, "must call no man unclean or mean or inferior to ourselves, and must therefore cease to regard the pariah class as untouchable; we must consider it sinful to regard a fellow being as untouchable."

LORD READING'S AIM.

When he landed at Bombay, Lord Reading was presented, of course, with an address of welcome, and through his reply there ran a frank insistence that, as far as an intimate knowledge of Indian affairs was concerned, he had no qualifications, but that if a deep sympathy with India's needs and hopes and aspirations was to be of any help, in the great task of solving India's problems, then they might depend on him to the uttermost. Lord Reading noted specially the sympathetic reference, in the address of welcome, to the ancient race (Jewish) to which he belonged. It was, he said, his only connection with the East until that moment, a fact which led him to wonder whether, in some fortunate way, it might not quicken and facilitate his understanding of India's needs, and assist him "to catch the almost inarticulate cries and inaudible whispers of those multitudes who suffer most and yet find it difficult if not impossible to express their needs."

SAY TURK MORALE NOT DEPRESSED

London States Turks Withdrew Skilfully, Suffering Slight Losses

LONDON, July 28. — (Associated Press)—The report that the Turks have approached the Allies through the Central Turkish Government with the purpose of obtaining a cessation of the hostilities between them and the Greeks is unfounded, according to information received in official circles here.

This information substantiates the fact that there have been Greek victories in Asia Minor, but it minimizes the moral effect they have had upon the Turks.

It is said that the Turkish withdrawal was executed skilfully and with but small losses in men and supplies.

A despatch from Constantinople to the Exchange Telegraph Company of London on Wednesday said Mustapha Kemal Pasha, head of the Turkish Nationalist Government had sent a telegram to Constantinople asking that the central government intervene with the Allies in an effort to obtain a cessation of hostilities.

A despatch from Constantinople dated last Saturday said the Nationalist Prime Minister had told the National Assembly that although the Turks had been obliged to yield ground in the face of the Greek advance the Greeks had suffered terrible losses. He warned the assembly against panic, saying every precaution had been taken for a successful continuation of the struggle, which he declared was entering the decisive stage.

CHICAGO, July 29. — The city's wireless telephone system connecting all fire and police stations and operated from the top of the City Hall, was given a workout today. According to City Electrician Keith it is planned later to attach receiving apparatus to the coats of all policemen.

ALBERTA PREMIER CHOOSING CABINET

Four Farmers, Two Labor Men and Lawyer in Tentative Slate

CALGARY, Alta., July 29.—Herbert Greenfield, Premier-designate of Alberta, after spending a busy day conferring on the cabinet situation, announced last night that he would make no statement as to the probable make-up of the new administration and is not likely to do so until the next conference of the U.F.A. members-elect which will be held in Edmonton pridr to the taking over of the Government administration.

According to some members of the party attending the conference the Cabinet line-up will be as follows:

Herbert Greenfield, Premier and Minister of Health.

John Brownlee, Calgary, Attorney-General.

George Hoadley, Okotoks, Minister of Agriculture.

Perrin Baker, Medicine Hat, Minister of Education.

Alex Ross, Labor member, Calgary, Minister of Public Works.

V. A. Smith, Camrose, Provincial Secretary and Treasurer.

R. C. Reid, Vermilion, Minister of Municipalities.

It is possible that there will be an adjustment of the departments, placing telephones and railways with some other departments. Mrs. Pariby is also mentioned as a Cabinet possibility.

NO NEW DEVELOPMENTS REPORTED.

OTTAWA, July 29.—(By Canadian Press.)—No new developments have as yet taken place regarding the application of Canadian National Railways Employes for a Board of Arbitration. A. R. Mosher, grand president of the Canadian Brotherhood of railway employes was in conference with the Minister of Labor this morning for a short time, but at the close of their talk it was stated that nothing new had transpired in the application.

Was to Have Been Guest at Reception at British Embassy

LONDON, July 29.—(United Press)—Sir Auckland Geddes, British ambassador at Washington, acted on his own initiative in "boycotting" Lord Northcliffe as a dinner and house guest, it was stated in official circles today.

It was stated that Geddes was considered to have acted properly.

Lord Curzon, foreign minister, who was attacked by Northcliffe's papers as not the proper man to attend the proposed disarmament conference, was not to be found today.

WASHINGTON, July 29.— Lord Northcliffe, the British publisher, now in the United States, in a statement issued here last night said that "for reasons of which he is not aware," invitations extended him to stop at the British embassy and to attend a dinner here last night had been withdrawn.

"Knowing the methods in India of Lord Curzon, the British foreign secretary," the statement declared, "Lord Northcliffe is pretty certain that Lord Curzon has adopted those methods here."

The British publisher's statement conveyed the impression that the whole matter involved in the reported cancellation of invitations was an outgrowth of the recent controversy between Lord Northcliffe and Lord Curzon with respect to news rights in the British Foreign Office.

PRIVILEGES SUSPENDED.

Soon after President Harding made his overtures for a disarmament conference, The London Times, the leading paper published by Northcliffe, opposed the suggestion that Lord Curzon be appointed one of the British delegates to the proposed conference and attacked both the foreign secretary and Premier Lloyd George. This attack was followed by suspension of privileged rights enjoyed for years by the London Times in the obtaining of news from the British Foreign Office. These developments have stirred England for several weeks.

Lord Northcliffe issued his statement last night after questions had been asked him concerning current rumors that invitations extended him by the embassy had been withdrawn on instructions from London. The only comment obtainable from the embassy with respect to the reports were that they were "inaccurate."

It was established, however, that Lord Northcliffe was stopping at a local hotel and had gone there on his arrival in Washington early in the day from New York. The publisher visited the White House during the afternoon and spent an hour and twenty minutes with President Harding, discussing, as the visitor said, "newspapers." He was presented to Mr. Harding by H. Wickham Steed, editor of the London Times, but the failure of Sir Auckland Geddes, the British ambassador, to accompany the publisher was not considered significant in that Lord Northcliffe on arriving in this country stressed that he was not on an official mission or in an official capacity.

EMBASSY SILENT.

The British embassy was in semi-darkness last night and inquiries from newspaper reporters as to the facts connected with the cancellation of Lord Northcliffe's visit elicited no response beyond the mere statement that there was nothing to be said in behalf of the embassy or the ambassador.

It was learned that invitation to Lord Northcliffe to make his home at the British embassy during his visit to Washington was extended by Ambassador Geddes several months ago and long before the publication of the criticism of Lord Curzon in the London Times which led the minister for Foreign Affairs to adopt punitive measures toward the great British journal. As set out in Lord Northcliffe's statement tonight, he and Sir Auckland Geddes have been personal friends of long standing and it was understood that the extension of the hospitality of the embassy to Lord Northcliffe and his staff was on a purely personal footing.

TIMES EDITORIAL.

The incident which caused the rupture between the British Foreign Office and the Northcliffe press arose through the publication in the London Times July 12 of an article in its editorial columns discussing the possible British representation in the Washington disarmament conference. The Associated Press cable dispatch of that date summarized the editorial as follows:

"It declares that neither the Premier nor the Foreign Minister is fitted by his position, his temperament and his past career to take a direct part in these negotiations."

Concluding its editorial with a bitter criticism of Lloyd George and Lord Curzon, the Times said:

"It is for the same reason of avoiding suspicion that the attendance of Premier Lloyd George and Lord Curzon in Washington seems particularly undesirable. The great qualification needed by the representatives of this Empire is character for conspicuous straightforwardness and honor. Mr. Lloyd George does not possess this character. Of all statesmen in Europe he probably is most distrusted. In America he is widely regarded as a man who encompassed President Wilson with his 'wizardry.'"

"The newspaper then turns to Lord Curzon, alleging that his 'pompous and pretentious manner and incapacity for business do not fit him to discharge the responsible duties the mission would impose."

NORTHCLIFFE'S STATEMENT.

WASHINGTON, July 29.— (United News. Copyright, 1921, by The United News).—Lord Northcliffe made the following statement to the United News on Thursday night in commenting on the British embassy's cancellation of entertainments, which had been arranged in his honor:

"I don't know very much about the matter, but the facts are these:

"My friend, Sir Auckland Geddes, invited me and my staff to stay at the embassy and I was informed that one or two banquets had been arranged at which I was to meet members of the Cabinet and others. Meanwhile my London Times expressed views that I entertained, and which I am entitled to hold, that Lord Curzon is entirely the wrong man to send to the United States for the conference.

"On arrival in New York I was diplomatically informed in the kindest and nicest way that the visit to the embassy and banquets were off and that one of your well known social leaders of Washington has kindly undertaken to re-invite the embassy guests to meet me at her house Friday night.

"Now, I happen to know something about Lord Curzon's press methods and I am very sure that he is trying to do the same things in the United States as he did with the natives of India when in India. If a newspaper criticized him he placed an embargo on its news, as he has upon my newspapers, and he also placed a social embargo upon writers to the newspapers, striking their names from the list of entertainments given by the Government. He is very much afraid of criticism and is hostile to Americans in general.

"I have not seen the official denial issued by the British ambassador. No official denial will alter my conviction. I have no feeling about the matter at all.

"I have been to the British embassy here before, but I have not had the pleasure of being entertained by Mrs. McLean which will be a novelty and I am told a charming one.

"I have had a most delightful visit to Washington, seeing many old friends and a one and a half hour's vastly interesting conversation with the President."

BODY OF DR. STONE NOT YET RECOVERED

Body Lies in Most Inaccessible Part of Mountain

BANFF, Alta., July 29.—(Canadian Press.)—Up to a late hour last night no word had been received of the recovery of the body of Dr. W. E. Stone, president of Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind., which is lying somewhere at the foot of the rock chimney where the University President fell when climbing Mount Eon with his wife last week. The spot where, according to Mrs. Stone, the body lies, is in a most difficult part of the mountain to approach.

When the remains of Dr. Stone are recovered, they will be held in Banff till the arrival of relatives, according to A. O. Wheeler, director of the Alpine Club of Canada, who received these instructions today in a telegram from Miss Helen Hand, Dr. Stone's secretary. Miss Hand said that Richard Stone was leaving St. Paul, Minn., Friday morning en route to Banff.

INGERSOLL DAILY CHRONICLE DIES

INGERSOLL, Ont., July 29.—(Star Special).—The Ingersoll Daily Chronicle, which came into existence three months ago, has ceased publication. An assignment has been made by the publisher, N. A. Willoughby. Insufficient support from sources where it had been promised is the reason assigned by Mr. Willoughby for the failure of his project.

ONTARIO MINISTER'S CRITICISM.

HAMILTON, Ont., July 29—Domestic manufacturers and retail merchants who cry "Buy in Canada," and yet hold for war-time prices for their goods were warmly criticized by Hon. Walter Rollo, Minister of Labor, at a mass meeting of unemployed. To such business men he strongly commended the attitude of manufacturers and retail merchants of the United States, who had accepted their losses courageously, he said, because they believe that the sooner they did so the more quickly would industry and commerce be rehabilitated.

SWITZERLAND AS ARBITER.

GENEVA, July 29.— The Peruvian Government, in accord with the British Government, has requested the Swiss Federal tribunal to act as arbiter in the dispute between the two countries concerning the boundaries of certain petroleum wells in Peru. These wells belong to an English company, with headquarters in Canada. Switzerland has consented to act.

DIES ON BOARD SHIP.

QUEBEC, July 29.—A passenger died suddenly on board the Canada Steamship liner Cape Diamond on Wednesday. The name "Magloire Dagenais, Montreal" was found on the inside of his suit, while a ring which he wore bore the initials "M. D." The remains are held at the morgue for identification.

BURDETT-COUTTS DIES AT HIGHGATE

Philanthropist, Scholar, Author, War Correspondent, 36 Years M.P.

AMERICAN PARENTS

Assumed Wife's Name when as Ashmead Bartlett He Married Baroness

LONDON, July 29—The Right Honorable William L. Ashmead Bartlett Burdett-Coutts, who had been a member of Parliament for the Abbey division of Westminster since 1885, died yesterday.

Death occurred at Holly Lodge, Highgate.

Mr. Burdett-Coutts had been ill for several months with arterial trouble. It had been arranged to amputate one of his legs on Wednesday but Tuesday night his illness took a sudden turn for the worse.

The Right Hon. William Lehman Ashmead Bartlett Burdett-Coutts represented Westminster in the House of Commons without a break for thirty-six years. He was an American by birth, the second son of the late Ellis Bartlett, of Plymouth, Mass., by Sophia, daughter of John King Ashmead of Philadelphia, Pa. His grand-parents on both sides were British subjects. He was educated privately and then, proceeding to Oxford University, gained the first scholarship at Keble College (M.A.).

In 1881 he married the late Baroness Burdett-Coutts, the noted philanthropist, whose father, Sir Francis Burdett himself represented Westminster in Parliament for thirty years. He then assumed her name by royal license. After studying for the Bar, he proceeded in 1877 to the Russo-Turkish War in a voluntary capacity as Special Commissioner of the Baroness Burdett-Coutts's Turkish Compassionate Fund, and subsequently received the star and ribbon of the Second Class of the Medjidieh.

PHILANTHROPIC LABORS.

He subsequently largely developed the Baroness's scheme for benefiting the fishermen of Ireland, and in many other instances took part in her vast philanthropic enterprises.

In 1881 he was one of the originators of the Fisheries Exhibition, being interested in the question of the food supply of the poor of London. In 1883 he founded the Brookfield stud for the encouragement of the breeding of light horses in England, especially of the harness type. This brought large sums of money into the pockets of Yorkshire farmers, but after the introduction of motors the enterprise was abandoned in 1910.

WORK IN SOUTH AFRICA.

In 1900 he proceeded to South Africa as special correspondent of the London Times with regard to the sick and wounded, and his published work in this connection caused a sensation and led to the appointment of a Royal Commission of Inquiry. After the publication of the commission's report the British Government promised a "drastic reform" of the Army Medical Service (session of 1901,) and a complete reform followed. His lectures on the platform and action in the House of Commons had a great deal to do with bringing about the reform. He was closely identified with many other reforms in the British Empire.

OTHER USEFUL ACTIVITIES.

One of the founders and for many years treasurer of the Great Northern Central Hospital, he advocated the pay system in hospitals. He was twice Master of the Turners Company, one of the first of the old London guilds to promote technical education, and was a Governor of Christ's Hospital. During the four years of the Great War Mr. Burdett-Coutts devoted Holly Lodge entirely to wounded soldiers. In Parliament Mr. Burdett-Coutts was a prominent advocate of railway reform, and a leading opponent of proportional representation. He was a Conservative-Unionist.

He was an able and ready writer and had published many articles in reviews and magazines. He was also the author of a volume on the Russian-Turkish war, and one entitled "Lest We Forget" on the South African hospitals.

On January 1, 1921 he was created a Privy Councillor.

KITCHENER REDUCES GAS PRICES.

KITCHENER, Ont., July 29. — The light commission has made another reduction in the price of gas, from $1.70 to $1.60 per thousand feet. An effort is being made to increase the number of consumers. Owing to the advanced price of gas during the past year there has been an increased demand for electric stoves. The commission expects to cope with this competition by reducing the price of gas.

CALECHE FOR NIAGARA FALLS.

TORONTO, July 29.—A visitor who recently returned from Quebec says that there is a plan on foot to transplant the old Quebec caleche to Niagara Falls for the use of sightseers. The Toronto visitor was told that plans are being made to have a number of the historic high-slung Quebec vehicles brought to the falls for the pleasure drives of the route near the mighty cataract.

WAR ON SUNDAY THEATRES.

QUEBEC, July 29.—A committee of citizens composed of clergy and laity met here yesterday and decided to wage war on the Sunday theatres. A sub-committee appointed at a recent meeting consulted legal opinion and decided that the Lord's Day Act was very clear in this connection, and that theatres operating on Sunday were not within the law.

CHINESE RETURN TO CANADA.

VICTORIA, July 29. — Of the 416 Chinese passengers on the Blue Funnel Liner Tyndareus, which docked here yesterday, only 36 are newcomers to Canada. All the rest are classed as "returned immigrants" coming back to their Canadian homes after a visit to China. The newcomers are boys under 16, joining their fathers in Canada.

ST. JOHN'S POPULATION.

ST. JOHN, N.B., July 29.—It has been intimated that the census returns for the city of St. John will show an increase of about 5,000 in the population making the total about 47,000. Most of the city's growth since the previous census has been outside the city limits.

THE LATE RT. HON. W. L. A. BURDETT-COUTTS.

UNDERGRADUATES FOR AIR FORCE

Four Months' Course for Three Consecutive Years for C.A.F. Students

OTTAWA, July 29.—(By Canadian Press).—A draft plan for the training of university cadets by the Canadian Air Force, and the provision by this means of a reserve of pilots and aeronautical mechanics in case of need has been submitted by the Air Board to the various heads of universities in Canada for their consideration and comment. The plan includes a four months' course for three consecutive years, to university students, who are desirous of studying aeronautical engineering where they can get practical experience. The number taking the first course, dated to open about May 1, 1922, will be limited to 30.

Details of the plan are thus outlined by the Air Board:—

1—University students C.A.F. are undergraduate students in applied science of Canadian universities. They agree to undergo at an air force training centre a practical course in aeronautics.

2—Each such course will include three terms: i.e., one term of four months (May to August) in each of three consecutive years. A syllabus of training will be issued later.

3—University cadets must be British subjects, physically fit for military service, unmarried and when their course begins, under twenty-one years of age.

PAY AND ALLOWANCES.

4—In the C.A.F. the status of university cadets, during their first and second terms, will be that of airmen. In their third term they will be eligible for commissions (provisional) as pilot officers.

5—They will be allowed free transportation from their home or universities to places of training and return. While under training they will be provided with quarters, rations, uniform and camp equipment. They will be entitled also to hospital and medical treatment. Pay will be at the following daily rates: First term, $2.00; second term, $2.50 and third term, $3.

When they complete their third term their provisional commissions will be confirmed; and they will be borne on the active establishment of the C.A.F. unless at their own request they are transferred to the reserve of officers, in which case they will not be liable for service except in time of emergency.

The first term of the first course will open at Camp Borden about May 1, 1922, and the number attending it will be limited to thirty, all of whom must be undergraduates who have taken only their first year examinations.

BRITISH COMMENT PRAISES JAPAN

Tokio's Decision to Enter Disarmament Conference Given Warm Welcome

GENERAL RELIEF

Belief Expressed Her Reservations Will Really Assist Decisions

LONDON, July 29. — (Canadian Press)—Hearty approval is expressed by several London newspapers this morning over the Japanese Government's decision to accept President Harding's invitation to discuss limitation of armaments and the Far Eastern question.

The Times, in a lengthy editorial, says:

"Japan's best friends knew that she would accept the invitation, but the fact that her acceptance now is actually on record is a relief to all who realize the magnitude of the issues with which the conference will be confronted."

Speaking of the constant temptation "politicians with narrow motives" will find to drag subsidiary questions before the conference "in order to make capital for themselves," the Times says, every precaution must be taken to guard against such proceedings in Washington.

"From this viewpoint, Japan's desire to limit the scope of the agenda is to be approved," the newspaper declares.

The writer also is convinced that Japan in making reservations as to what shall be discussed at the conference, is not acting merely from a desire to safeguard her present interests in the Pacific, but also under a strong impulse to reduce the burden of naval armament. The editorial concludes with the hope that "friendship, tried and proved in alliance, may be broadened and deepened in a greater union that will be a sure bulwark for peace."

The Daily Telegraph says that an agreement between the United States, Great Britain and Japan that such a conference is desirable, "is the best news which has gladdened the world since the guns ceased firing in Europe and it looks as though before long we shall not need to contemplate with misgivings activities in the shipyards of the United States and Japan."

The Daily Mail says if the conference succeeds in limiting the great naval programs now in progress, it will render a great service to all concerned, not the least of which will be to the Japanese people, on whom the enormous cost of armaments is beginning to weigh heavily.

EDUCATOR KILLED IN MOUNTAINS

Dr. W. E. Stone, president of Purdue University, at Lafayette, Ind., killed by a fall into a crevice in the Canadian Rockies while attempting to rescue his wife. She had slipped and fallen into a shallower crevice. Mrs. Stone was rescued alive by guides.

Indian Fears the "Mountie" as He Does the Manitou

VANCOUVER, B.C., July 29.—(By Canadian Press.)— The Indian's respect for the mounted police was again demonstrated a few days ago when George Williams, an Indian fugitive, suspected of murder, drew his gun on a provincial police inspector, but promptly dropped his weapon when a red coat appeared behind. Williams heard that a warrant was out for his arrest and took to the woods, leaving a message at his village that he would shoot Provincial Constable Matthews on sight.

Brought to bay in the woods, 125 miles from here, Williams prepared to carry out his threat, but was instantly cowed when a mounted policeman stepped into the clearing. Williams will be brought to Vancouver by motor launch for trial charged with the murder of another Indian.

Million Dollar Loss—Bank May Pay 65 Cents on Dollar

CHICAGO, July 29.—(Associated Press).—With the trail of Warren C. Spurgin, missing president of the closed Michigan Avenue Trust Company apparently leading to the vicinity of Mobile, Ala., and authorities predicting his speedy apprehension, State attorneys and investigators today continued their delving into affairs of the defunct institution and its president.

James McShane, assistant State's attorney, said today that Spurgin, another man and two women, made a visit to the bank on Sunday, July 15. Formerly, it had been believed, Spurgin left Chicago on July 15.

Clarence Beutel, cashier of the bank, today intimated that the loss would be in the neighborhood of one million dollars and that depositors might expect to retrieve sixty-five cents on the dollar.

BRIDGEWATER, N.S., ALARMED.

TRURO, N.S., July 29. (Star Special) — The Bridgewater Board of Trade has heard of a rumor that the repair shops of the Canadian National Railways at Moncton, Truro and Bridgewater are to be removed to Halifax. Being somewhat perturbed over the matter, the Bridgewater board wrote the Truro board to find out what Truro knew about it. The rumor is news here, no one having heard of it before.

SCORES U.S. WAR HOSPITALS.

WASHINGTON, July 29. (United Press) — Describing to the Senate hospital inquiry committee conditions at hospitals in which disabled veterans are quartered, Colonel Charles R. Forbes, director of the war risk insurance bureau, yesterday characterized the Old Soldiers' Home at Johnson City, Tenn., as "a madhouse" and Fort McHenry, near Baltimore, Md., as "not a good sewerage disposal plant."

EDMONTON APPOINTMENT.

BROCKVILLE, July 29. — Relatives here have been advised of the appointment of Major the Rev. W. B. Carleton, Croix de Guerre, to the post of rector of the new Roman Catholic Cathedral at Edmonton. He served overseas as a chaplain and previously was stationed in the Archdiocese of Ottawa.

HEALTHY CHILDREN

Girls Form Larger Part of Contented Classes

Hundreds of happy, cheerful children were seen this morning at the Mount Royal summer school, on St. Urbain and Rachel west, in contented enjoyment of everything but lessons, the very name of which is taboo to children during their summer vacation. Three recreational schools are being conducted this summer, under the financial guidance of the Local Council of Jewish Women, and about 1,500 children are enrolled for the six weeks. The idea is to create centres where youngsters, and bigger children too, can meet and find something to do, places where they can enjoy themselves, as was explained by H. A. Coveler, secretary-superintendent, so that they are safe from the dangers of the streets, and also subject to kindly influence during the long holiday. An important result of the opening of the schools claimed by Mr. Coveler is that as soon as they commence the number of youngsters in the Juvenile Court drops, substantial proof of the benefit to the youngsters.

THREE SCHOOLS.

There are three of these recreational schools, the one already named, the Aberdeen school, on St. Denis, opposite St. Louis square, and the Alexander, on Sanguinet, near St. Catherine street. Each has about five hundred children, from the tiny tots of the kindergarten age to some ready to enter high school. While French and English speaking children predominate, there are many of the varied nationalities included in Canada's cosmopolitan metropolis.

Girls form a larger part of the classes, Mr. Coveler explaining that boys were not so easy to keep interested. With sewing, knitting, basket work, hat making, and drawing, etc., it was easy to keep girls happy, while there were games for them, too, but boys prefer to take on vacation work and earn a few dollars. Manual work for them in recreation branches, demands expensive outfits in the way of tools and materials, and funds available do not run to that. This season an attempt was made to charge a quarter for a registration fee, but this was abandoned, for the attendance dropped. Many of the materials are supplied free by local factories, such as scraps of cloth and materials from which little things and garments are made. But drawing materials, paper of different kinds and colors, for paper cutting work, run away with lots of money.

OUTDORR GAMES.

It was surprising to see in holiday time such big classes as were present this morning, and the quality of the articles turned out was also remarkable. Some excellent elocutionists and apt little actresses were discovered in the smallest class, which went through several recitations in great style. Outdoor games form a large part of the program, and are played on Fletcher's Field each day. Three cups are put up for competition by the schools, for athletics for the boys, and sewing for the girls, while the third is for the school which at the end of the six weeks has the best exhibit of articles made. Very keen interest is taken in this exhibition by the children, who make lots of things not only wearable, but pretty.

The teachers are all MacDonald College graduates, said Mr. Coveler, while some are McGill medical students, who can give proper care to youngsters who may need it.

Next Wednesday will be a red letter day, with a picnic on Fletcher's Field in which many hundreds of children will take part. It will be an all day affair, with games and sports, the children bringing lunches the better to make a real day of it, while the schools also provide entertainment and ice-cream, etc.

SALVATION ARMY TO CLOTHE NAKED

The scene which was witnessed in the Recorder's Court last Wednesday, when a man appeared in the dock bare from his waist up has caused the inauguration of a scheme by the Salvation Army for providing articles of clothing to prisoners, who have lost their apparel. Brigadier McMillan, of the Salvation Army, said today that many prisoners come to the cells with hardly a stitch of clothing on them. Today he said two men were practically naked. When they were brought before Recorder Semple this morning they had been supplied with suitable clothing. A stock of shirts, vests and trousers has been purchased and deserving cases will be relieved.

COAT MAY BE CLUE TO DEAD MAN

A coat believed to belong to the unidentified man who was found dying of sunstroke in a field at Dorval on Tuesday and who died at the Lachine General Hospital on Wednesday night, was found in a lane in the village of Beaconsfield this morning.

The find was made by Mrs. Munro, of Beaconsfield. She had read of the finding of the man at Dorval and notified the police. The Coroner was told of the find and ordered the coat to be brought to the city morgue and placed with other clothing belonging to the dead man in the hope that it may in some way provide a clue to his identity.

Descriptions of several missing persons which were said to tally with that of the man, have been forwarded to the city morgue, but investigation in every case has revealed important differences which exclude the possibility of the man being any of the missing persons whose cases have so far been brought forward in connection with him.

VEGETABLES AND FRUITS STILL HIGH

People Eating Little Fish, Says Manager of Stall

MELONS DEAR

Garden Produce Dwarfed Owing to Continued Drought

Fairly high prices still prevail for fruits and vegetables on the Bonsecours Market, and most of the produce brought in is still stunted as a result of the lack of rain. The recent showers have helped some but the rain has not as yet fallen in sufficient quantity to saturate the ground, and dwarfed corn, and small, inferior berries are the general rule.

Large quantities of lettuce was displayed this morning, and some very fine Montreal melons also had a ready sale. The farmers who had grown the famous local fruit were reluctant to dispose of it except to dealers, but were asking between a dollar and a dollar and a half for medium-sized melons. Blueberries from the St. John district are now on the market in fairly large quantities and are selling at forty cents a box. Wild raspberries were to be had in pails holding three or four quarts at a dollar a pail.

Never in the twenty years he has been in business has he had such a summer, stated the manager of one of the fish stalls. During this hot weather, he complained people are eating very little fish, many good customers are in the country and the large majority of those left in the city are out of work. Few lake fish will be on sale from now on, he says for during July and August the fishermen are forbidden to use seines and nets, but must depend on hook and line. The first sword-fish is now in at 35 cents a pound, but will be cheaper next week.

Few changes are reported in meat prices. Forequarters of lamb can now be had at 18 cents a pound, and hind-quarters are selling at 35 cents, 3 cents a pound less than last week.

FRUITS—Apples, 75c pk.; bananas, 40c; cherries, $1.15 small basket; currants, 20c; blueberries, 40c; lemons, 60c; oranges, 25c; peaches, 40c and 50c; $1.25 basket; pears, 50c; plums, 20c and 25c; $1.25 basket; raspberries, 45c; watermellons, 75c.

VEGETABLES—Beets, 5c; beans, 2 for 25c; cabbage, 10c; cucumbers, 4 for 25c; lettuce, 2 for 15c; onions, 2 for 15c; parsley, 5c; potatoes, 50c pk.; tomatoes, 3 for 25c.

MEATS—Sirloin steak, 45c lb.; round steak, 35c; sirloin roast, 50c; beef brisket, 12c; tongue, beef, 40c; leg of veal, 30c; veal cutlets, 50c.

Spring lamb, hind quarter, 35c; spring lamb, forequarter, 18c; lamb chops, 40c; pork loin, 38c; pork chops, 40c; pork kidneys, 35c; pig's head, 8c; cooked ham, sliced, 75c; smoked ham, 48c; bacon, 45c; lard, 23c.

FISH.

Steak cod, 15c; dore, 25c; frogs' legs, 30c; haddock, 10c; halibut, 30c; lobster, 35c; mackerel, 18c; perch, 18c; pike, 18c.

FARM PRODUCE.

Butter, creamery, 40c lb.; butter, dairy, 30c; eggs, special, 44c; eggs, new laid, 41c.

POULTRY.

Turkeys, 60c and 62c lb.; chicken, milk-fed, 44c; capons, 50c; boiling fowl, 35c; ducks, 43c; Brome Lake ducklings, 46c; guinea chicken, $4.00 pair; guinea hen, $3.00 pair; squab, 90c pair.

COOLER TODAY, BUT HOT TOMORROW

A temperature ten degrees lower than that which Montrealers have learned to expect in the last few weeks was announced at one o'clock today. Seventy-four degrees, announced the weatherman, and the hearers could scarcely believe their ears, for into many downtown offices the cool air had not yet made its way, and the hurrying pedestrians were still complaining of the heat. Residents of the city had a good sleep last night, for shortly before dawn the thermometer had dropped as low as 63 degrees. At nine o'clock it had only risen to 66 and the fresh northeast breeze gave new life to worn-out office-goers. In the playgrounds a response to the change in atmosphere was noted and the youngsters made their way to the centres in large numbers, and were eager for the strenuous games which have proved unpopular during the heat.

A higher temperature is predicted by the weather prophet, but citizens are grateful for the brief respite which has lasted longer than cool spells following any of the previous rains.

PREMIER MEIGHEN SAILS TOMORROW

Expresses Himself Well Satisfied with Empire Conference Results

BALLANTYNE STAYS

Minister Will Attend Final Sessions—Bristol Seeking Trade

LONDON, July 29.—(Star Cable by D. Hemming, Copyright).—"I have definitely decided to sail on the Carmania on Saturday, for at last I feel that I can leave with justification," Premier Meighen told me this afternoon.

The Canadian Premier looked tired after the long-continued strain of the work of the Empire Premiers' conference, but he expressed himself as well satisfied with the achievements of the conference.

Hon. C. C. Ballantyne will remain in England to represent the Premier at the final meetings of the conference next week and will not sail for Canada before August 4.

Mr. Ballantyne has attended the special meetings all this week called to consider naval matter and constitutional relations within the Empire.

BRISTOL SEEKS TRADE.

This afternoon Mr. Ballantyne received an influential delegation from Bristol which advocated steps to increase trade between Canadian ports and Avonmouth. The delegation strongly urged an increase in the number of vessels, both freight and passenger, on this route, and pointed out that the Canadian Northern Railway which operated the steamships Royal Edward and Royal George had suspended the service which had never been replaced. It was stated that the importation of Canadian lumber, butter, cheese, grain and apples would increase in volume if more vessels were available.

Mr. Ballantyne replied that Canada was always eager to increase her trade with the Mother Country and promised that he would urge upon the companies now running freight and passenger service the need of more ships. He added that the Canadian Government owned sixty-five merchant marine vessels, with a management free from politics and with regular sailings and fixed routes. The line had thirteen vessels equipped with cold storage and, in conjunction with the new refrigerator plant in Montreal, he thought, should be able to accede to the request to increase traffic to Bristol.

EIGHTY HOUSES WITHOUT WATER

City Council Has Not Voted Money for Main Connections

Eighty houses that have been built in Montreal are at present without any water supply, for the money necessary to make the connections with the service main, has not yet been voted by the City Council. At their last meeting the aldermen had before them a report from the Administrative Commission asking for a credit of $25,212.86 for the laying of service connections. The Mayor adjourned the Council meeting till August 9, because he had not sufficient aldermen there to kill the large number of paving reports that were before them. As a consequence the waterworks credit was not voted, and there is no money available for opening up the roads and cutting the mains to make the connections required.

Mr. Terreault stated this morning that he was receiving three or four applications every day for water connections, and there were now some eighty houses on the waiting list. The money could not be voted now until August 9 and if it was not voted then it would have to remain automatically in suspension until the thirty days allowed in the city charter had expired.

In addition to this request for $25,212.85 the aldermen have been asked to vote $108,000 for the laying of a water main for the C. N. R. shops at Longue Pointe, from Lafontaine to Boyce street, the C. N. R. having guaranteed the city a revenue of 6 per cent. on the outlay. The Commission also asked for a credit of $90,000 for the furnishing of a water supply to Verdun, who would levy a tax similar to that charged in Montreal. These reports have similarly been held up by the mayor and aldermen and will not be dealt with for nearly a fortnight.

In 1920 the city spent $18,231.75 on main water pipes, and $25,258 for service connections. This year since March $35,000 had been spent on water mains, and the anticipated expenditure, if the aldermen vote the money, will reach $75,000 during the present year, owing to the increase in house building.

DRUG SELLER IS HELD RESPONSIBLE

Verdict of Manslaughter Against Unknown is Returned in Gould Case

A verdict of manslaughter against a person unknown was returned by a coroner's jury this morning at the inquest into the death of Chauncy M. Gould, of Hartford, Conn., who was found dead on the floor of his room at the Grand Central Hotel, Windsor and St. Antoine streets, at 1:30 on Tuesday afternoon. Gould's death was due to morphine, according to a searching autopsy performed by Dr. McTaggart, medical expert of the Coroner's Court. At the investigation today William O'Neil, a colored man, arrested yesterday by detectives working on the case, was released when it was found that he was just a chance acquaintance of Gould's and had no knowledge of where the man had obtained the drugs which caused his death.

Evidence this morning showed that Gould was registered at the hotel for five days before his death. One day he had been seen to tremble by a parlor maid. She asked him what was wrong, was he sick? "Too much dope," was his answer.

Gould's death was discovered when maids found that they could not enter his room to clean it. The manager was called and when special keys had been used to open the door Gould was found, naked and only covered by a sheet of newspaper, on the floor.

Constable Isadore Laberge, of the traffic department, was called and a doctor summoned, but the man was beyond aid. Special Investigator Pusie, in searching the room, found packets of cocaine and bottles of opium and morphine. Friends testified at the inquest that on Monday night Gould had said that he was "on the rocks." They had lent him money.

William O'Neil, colored, testified that he had picked acquaintanceship with Gould in the hotel saloon on the Saturday night preceding the death. He had been with Gould several times since, but did not know that the man took drugs or that he ever purchased them.

Coroner McMahon told the jury that the law holds a seller of drugs responsible for the death of anyone as a result of them. He advised them to hold the man who sold Gould drugs or who obtained them for him responsible for his death. The jury's verdict was rendered accordingly and a rider included asked the police to arrest the unknown seller or procurer and charge him with manslaughter.

CHINESE CIVIL WAR SPREADING FAST

General Uprising in Yangste-Kiang River Region Now Feared

SUN YAT SEN BUSY

Reformist President of Southern Republic Heading His Troops

PEKING, July 29. — (Associated Press).—Fear of a general uprising along the Yangste-Kiang River is felt here as a result of hostilities between the Provinces of Hunan and Hupeh, the former under control of the Canton, or Southern Chinese Government and the latter under jurisdiction of the Peking, or duly constituted Chinese Government.

Troops from Hunan have invaded Hupeh with the evident intention of ousting Wang Chan-Yuen, inspecting commissioner of the two Provinces, whose authority, however, is not recognized by Hunan. Wang Chan-Yuen is one of the three "war lords" who met recently at Tien-Tsin to impose their will upon the Peking Government, causing a re-organization of the Cabinet.

The invasion appears to be directed by Chao Feng-Ti, Governor of Hunan, for an alleged violation by Hupeh of the inter-provincial peace agreement. General Pu Pei-Fu, commander of the Government troops in Hunan and idol of the hordes, has been ordered to lead the advance on Hupeh, while Gen. Chang Tsao-Lin, Governor of Manchuria, is despatching troops from Mukden to aid the northern forces.

Despatches from Canton, seat of the Southern Government, would seem to indicate that the invasion is prompted by Dr. Sun Yat-Sen, head of that Government and is in line with his plan to accomplish condition of the Yangste-Kiang and southwestern provinces against Peking.

A CANTON PROCLAMATION.

CANTON, July 29. — (Associated Press)—The Constitutionalist Government here has issued instructions to the Provinces of Hunan, Sze-Chuen, Kwan-Tung, Yunnan and Kwei-Chow to co-operate in efforts seeking to abolish the military domination of the Yangste-Kiang River territory by forces operating under the Peking Government.

Troops from Hunan and Sze-Cheun Provinces are advancing on Hupeh for the purpose of eliminating Wang Chan-Yuen, inspecting commissioner of the two Provinces, who holds office by virtue of the northern, or Peking Government, but who is not recognized by Hunan. In addition to these troops, the Canton Government also is despatching forces from three other directions with Dr. Sun Yat-Sen, head of the Canton Government, reported to be personally leading one division.

Unconfirmed reports reaching here say that Chang-Si in Hunan Province, was looted during an outbreak against Chao Peng-Ti, Governor of Hunan.

DEATH FROM FALL

Child Climbed on Balcony Railing and Fell

Falling to the sidewalk from a second storey balcony at her home last night, Phyllis Callum, 22-months-old, of 322 4th avenue, Maisonneuve, was fatally injured and died soon afterwards. A verdict of accidental death was returned by Coroner McMahon at an inquest this morning.

Evidence showed that the child, in the absence of its mother in the garden, hanging out clothes, had climbed on the railings of the balcony and fallen to the street. She was picked up by neighbors, who carried her into her home. Medical aid was summoned but the child's skull had been fractured and she died almost immediately. Permission was given to keep the body at home.

WEINGARTE ASKS FOR RESERVE CASE

Sentence in the case of Edouard Van den Weingarte, the ex-policeman found guilty of keeping a disorderly house, was today postponed by Recorder Semple until August 2, to allow R. L. Calder, K.C., counsel for the defense, to make out in writing an appeal to have a reserve case made.

Mr. Calder maintains that as it was proved by the evidence that the accused was not the owner of the house but that it belonged to his son, therefore, he cannot be sentenced for keeping a disorderly house. The clause which says that anyone who holds himself out to be the owner of the house is liable to be prosecuted, only applies where the identities of the owner is concealed, the defense maintains, and that in this case where it is clearly shown who the owner is the clause does not apply.

CITY FOUNTAINS AS SHOWERBATHS

Fletcher's Field Pool Will Now Be Joy to Many Children

FILTH REMOVED

Water Will Be Changed and Pool in Future Kept Clean

The fountain basin in Fletcher's Field, near Esplanade avenue, was emptied last night by the city waterworks department, and thoroughly cleaned out to the cement bed. The overflow pipe, which had been broken by the children using the top of it as a jumping-off place into the water, has been replaced, and as the pipe had become choked, the Sewer Department this morning started to open up the roadway and clear the drainway. This, Supt. Terreault, of the Waterwarks Department, anticipated would be completed by tonight, when not only would the central fountain be kept continually playing, and clean water be run into the basin all day long, but he would probably open the four other fountains in the basin, providing miniature shower baths for the hundreds of children who use the pool every day. All sorts of materials find their way into the pool, and these had choked the overflow pipe, but attention will be given to it to keep it clear in the future.

SLIME AND FILTH.

Slime and filth galore were fished out of the pool and now the concrete bottom which has not been seen for some long time is again visible and looks clean and sanitary. It seemed, however, that the work was being done without much thought, for the slime was being dumped quite close to the pool, where the children leave their clothes while bathing.

Yesterday afternoon there were fully 60 youngsters in the pond and the state of the water seemed to worry them not all. Had their parents seen the water, though, the strong probabilities are that their joy would have been short-lived. There was filth of every description and a thick scum floating on the water, while the bottom was not visible owing to the slime. Mothers need not in future have any fear regarding the state of the pond.

BOY'S DEATH ACCIDENTAD.

A verdict of accidental death was returned by Coroner McMahon this morning at the inquest into the death of Malcolm Isaacson, 10 years old, of 74 Gladstone street, who was drowned when he fell into a branch of the Lachine canal at Cote St. Paul at 8.45 yesterday morning. The boy was running along a plank over a basin which feeds a manufacturing plant near the canal. He was warned by another little boy with whom he was playing that he was risking his life but he did not heed his playmate and fell into the water.

BIG WAGE REDUCTIONS REMAIN IN FORCE IS CONCLUSION REACHED

The conference between Canadian railway officials and general chairmen of the four running trades was concluded here yesterday afternoon. The five hours which the two interests spent in discussion of wage reductions and incidentally of working conditions resulted in a fuller understanding of the positions of both sides but the conference brought no agreement from the railways to waive tentative wage reductions.

It was announced this morning that the reductions made effective July 16 will continue in force pending final negotiation, or perhaps arbitration.

Detailed consideration of all matters affecting labor and wages is expected to be taken up in conferences between the various unions and railways early in the fall. In the interval both parties will assemble data in order that the actual conferences may be expedited.

The following statement was issued by C. F. Riddell, general secretary, The Railway Association of Canada, this morning:

"The meetings between the representatives of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, Order of Railway Conductors, Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, and Order of Railway Telegraphers, and the representatives of the Railway Association of Canada, have been for the purpose of general discussion of the whole situation. The position of the railways was re-stated as has been previously outlined; that is, that tentative reductions in the rates of pay similar to those already in effect in the United States as from July 1st, and the same as have already been accepted by the Shop Crafts and the Maintenance of Way Employes, will be made effective in the pay of all employes from July 16th.

"It was again made clear, however, that this decision has been made without prejudice to pending negotiations for the revision of general agreements covering rates of pay and rules of service. It is understood that if in the final settlement any modification of the tentative reduction in rates is agreed upon employes will receive the benefit of such modification from the date upon which the tentative reductions are made effective."

APPLICATION WAS ALLOWED IN PART

OTTAWA, July 29.—(By Canadian Press)—Judgment was issued by the Railway Commission today in the application of the Canadian Pacific Railway for an order permitting the cancellation of stop-off arrangements at Montreal and Outremont, Toronto and West Toronto on shipments of grain products, hay, and potatoes for inspection and forwarding order. The Chief Commissioner rules that the application should be granted insofar as cancelling the stop-off arrangements at Place Viger, in Montreal and Simcoe street and Esplanade in Toronto is concerned. Inspection is to be retained in all cases as it now exists and the right of inspection stop-off for orders, etc., is to be retained at Outremont and West Toronto, or Lambton, the same as at present.

MACKENZIE KING MAKES NEW ATTACK UPON GOVERNMENT

Liberal Leader Also Criticizes Railway Purchase and C.G.M.M.

TAXATION PROBLEMS

Government Has Failed to Tax Big War Fortunes, He Says

BRAMPTON, Ont., July 29.—(Canadian Press)—The Liberal leaders, Messrs. Mackenzie King, Hartley Dewart, and J. A. Robb, of Huntingdon, Que., were given a good reception by eight hundred people, when they entered the Armories last night to the strains of "The Maple Leaf." It was Mr. King's second stop in his Ontario tour. After they reached the platform the touring trio were presented with a bouquet of roses by two little girls, the Misses Martin and Irvine.

The Liberal Leader took up much of his time in charging the Government with usurpation of power and in criticism of its failure to tax war fortunes and war bonds and its failure to permit investigation into railway deals.

James Martin occupied the chair. W. J. Lowe, Liberal nominee for the Dominion house for Peel, delivered a short speech and was followed by Mr. King.

KING'S SPEECH.

That the problems of taxation should be clearly understood by every woman in Canada as well as every man, was insisted upon by Mr. King. He accused the Federal Government of extravagant and unjustifiable expenditures, and declared that in one way or another, every one in Canada has to dig down into his pocket and pay his share.

A nation's prosperity, said Mr. King, was a reflection of the contented condition of its people. If people are obliged to pay excessive prices for everything they need, for their enjoyments and their opportunities, their condition of life is rendered more difficult.

"If there was one thing above another for which the Government in office during the war was to blame," asserted the speaker, "it was in not seeking to meet some of the war expense out of current revenue, in not seeking to get back for the state through taxation of war fortunes some of the vast sums of public money which were helping to make millionaires in one direction while men were sacrificing their lives in another." Neither the government of Sir Robert Borden prior to 1917 nor the Unionist government since had made the slightest effort to tax war wealth, said Mr. King.

Loans and subsidies to the railways during the war should have been curtailed. The 100 to 200 millions expended in this direction was, said Mr. King, most unwarranted.

Since 1911, said Mr. King, the government of Canada had taken into its possession and control, without ever consulting the people, the entire railway system of the Dominion excepting only the Canadian Pacific Railway, and the yearly deficit, ever increasing, would probably be over $100,000,000 this year. And notwithstanding the millions of dollars spent on the National Railways, the Government, the speaker charged, had consistently declined to give out such information as would enable the best course to be decided upon in this branch of public administration.

Mr. King said he had again and again insisted upon the right of Parliament to scrutinize every dollar which was being spent out of the public treasury. He believed, he said, that the public debt and current taxation had been enormously increased by the Government's deliberate method of giving to a small circle of its friends an all but perfectly free hand in spending public monies.

GOVERNMENT INSURANCE.

"Though denied the information on the floor of parliament," continued Mr. King, "one or two of the Liberal members of the House were able, in an investigation before a select committee of parliament, to show how certain of the money was being spent. It was disclosed, for example, that insurance to an amount over $100,000,000 had been placed on the railroad property. Further investigation revealed the fact that one of the directors of the Canadian National Railways, an appointee of the Government, was also a director of the insurance company through which practically the whole of this insurance had been placed."

Mr. King claimed that while the Canadian Merchant Marine project might have been justified at first by war emergencies, the $70,000,000 which had been spent in this direction since the war was without justification. Once the war was over it was "the height of stupidity" for the Government to proceed with its programme.

BLAZING FORESTS DRIVE N.S. PEOPLE INTO THEIR BOATS

Village of Neil's Harbor Endangered and New Haven Fire-Swept

OTHER PARTS BURN

Recent Fires in Quebec Caused Damage of Millions of Dollars

SYDNEY, N.S., July 29.—Sweeping down on the coast under the impetus of a fresh southwesterly breeze, a gigantic forest fire last night wiped out the hamlet of New Haven, and for several hours menaced with destruction the village of Neil's Harbor, about sixty miles north of Sydney.

Some four hundred people, reported in early advices to have been trapped between the burning forest and the sea, and to be suffering intensely from smoke, escaped in motor boats or on board the revenue cutter Gribb, which with other vessels, started to their rescue immediately upon receipt of the news of the fire.

BLAZE NEAR SPRINGHILL.

SPRINGHILL MINES, N.S., July 29.—A forest fire on Athol road, near Springhill, which was supposedly under control Wednesday night, broke out afresh yesterday and destroyed one unoccupied house at Miller's Corner before the Springhill fire brigade, reinforced by the brigade of the Dominion Coal Company and every available volunteer from the district, was able to check the spread of the flames toward the little village.

The fire is now under control and if the wind holds will probably burn itself out without doing further damage to the buildings in this section. To the north of Springhill a fire is burning over second growth timber toward Springhill Junction, five miles from here.

OXFORD IN DANGER.

OXFORD, N.S., July 29. — Forest fires cutting a swath six miles in length and one mile wide endangered the town of Oxford yesterday and destroyed timber to the estimated value of hundreds of thousands of dollars. Thundershowers in the afternoon helped to check the sweep of the flames and gave some relief to scores of men who were fighting for the preservation of the town and cut timber along railway sidings. At Oxford and Oxford Junction last night men were on guard over seven million feet of lumber piled for shipment.

THREE MORE FIRES.

FREDERICTON, N.B., July 29. — Three new forest fires have been reported to the Crown Lands Department, one is at Rockwell, about three miles from Gerry; another fire was located at the outlet of Michael Lake, in Charlotte County, while the third is near Barnaby River station on the C.N.R. south of New Castle.

Crews of men are employed on each but detailed information is lacking. It is feared that with the dry weather and winds they may become serious unless the rain which has fallen in the eastern part of the province is a forerunner of further showers.

HEAVY DAMAGE TO LUMBER.

FREDERICTON, N.B., July 29.—The New Brunswick Forest Service have been notified of a fire at Nelson, on the Miramichi River, near New Castle, N.B., which burned about a million dollars worth of lumber piled on the wharves at the mill at Fraser Companies, Ltd. The fire is still spreading with many houses in the path of the flames.

HEAVY LUMBER LOSS.

NEW CASTLE, N.B., July 29. — A disastrous fire which started in the lumber yard of the Fraser Company, Ltd., yesterday afternoon destroyed 13,000,000 feet of sawn lumber, a large new office, a new cook house and boarding house and an old cook house, as well as two residences owned by the Fraser Company, all of which were insured, as well as three other residences and two barns which were not insured. All the contents of the houses were saved.

DAMAGE IN QUEBEC.

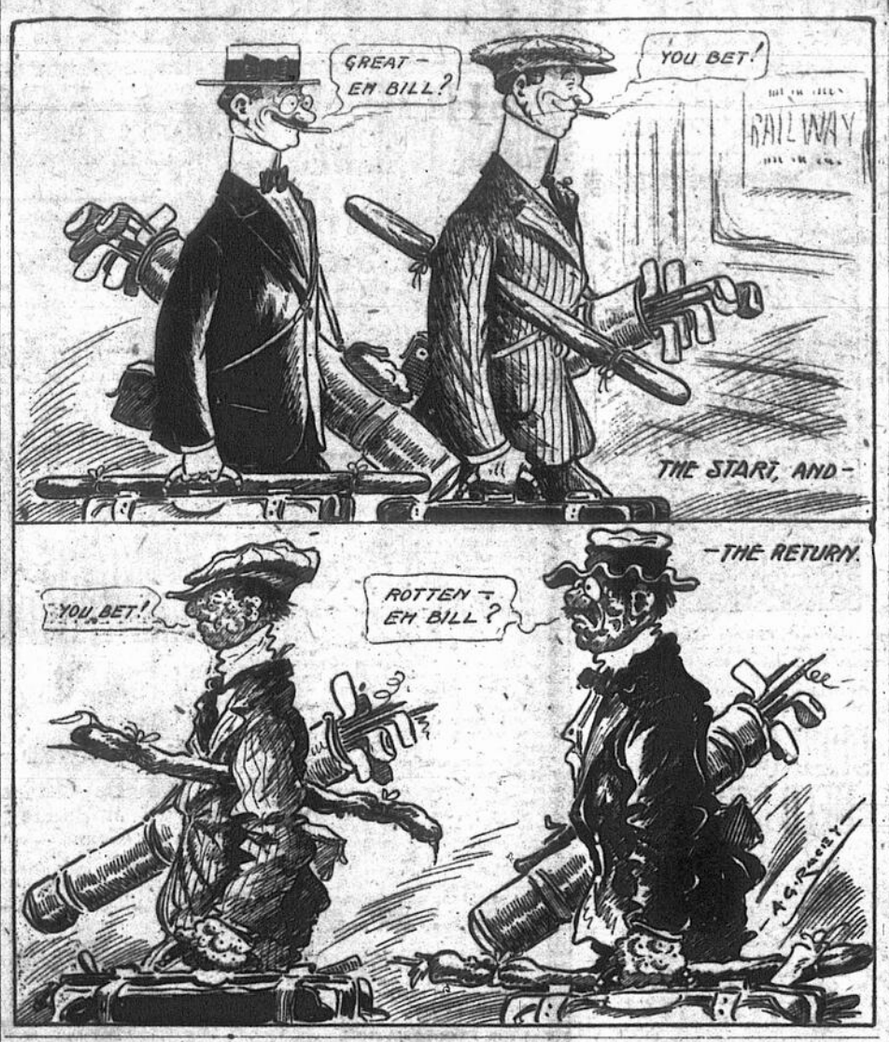
QUEBEC, July 29, (Star Special)—Losses estimated at millions of dollars are said to have been suffered in the province through the recent forest fires.

Experts who have been engaged in preparing estimates have not yet supplied the forestry branch of the Department of Lands and Forests with any official figures, but it is learned from a reliable source that in the Abitibi region alone, where forest fires have not reached the proportions of these of some of the northern sections, over $800,000 worth of forest has been destroyed, with about $300,000 worth only covered by insurance. Though there have been cases of neglect forest fires in that region have apparently been caused by sparks from locomotives. Settlers are said to have been prudent.

PULP PLANT BURNS.

ST. JOHN'S, N.F., July 29.—The pulp plant of the A. E. Rex Company, at Bishop's Falls, N.F., was totally destroyed by fire Wednesday with a loss of many thousands of dollars, partially covered by insurance. Only the walls remain standing. A large stock was completely destroyed.

SUMMER PASTIMES—WEEK-ENDING FOR A REST



ORGANIZER OF THE R.N.W.M.P. DEAD

Major-General Sir George French is Dead in England

WINNIPEG, July 29.—(Canadian Press)—Word was received here of the death in England on July 6, of Major-General Sir George Arthur French, K.C.M.G., first commissioner and organizer of the R. N. W. M. P.

Two sons and three daughters survive, one son, Major John A. L. French, being engaged in fruit farming at Sooke, B.C.

He was born at Roscommon, Ireland, June 19, 1841, the eldest son of John French, of Mornington Park, County Dublin and received his education at the Royal Military College, Sandhurst, and the Royal Military Arsenal, Woolwich. In 1860 he joined the Royal Artillery and from 1860 to 1862 was adjutant, Royal Artillery, Kingston, Ont.

In 1870 he was appointed inspector of artillery for Canada, with rank of lieutenant-colonel, which position he held for three years. From 1873 to 1876 he was Commissioner of the Northwest Mounted Police.

He was the first Commissioner of the force and did splendid pioneer work in its organization. He was also a stipendiary magistrate for the old North West Territories. While in office as Commissioner of the North West Mounted Police he commanded a strong detachment of the force which marched from the Red River to the Rocky Mountains in 1874 and cleared the country of a gang of American desperadoes.

From 1878-83 he was inspector of war stores at Devonport, and from 1883 until 1891 he was commandant of forces in Queensland, with rank of colonel. He received the thanks of both Houses of Parliament for his work there.

He was appointed in command of the Royal Artillery at Dover in 1891, and the following year was chief instructor of the School of Gunnery at Shoeburyness. From 1894 until 1896 he was colonel on staff and brigadier-general of the Royal Artillery, of Bombay forces. From 1896 until 1902 he was commanding the forces in New South Wales, in the latter year retiring on full pay. Later he was placed in the reserve.

He was decorated for services in Canada, and especially with reference to the expedition from the Red River to the Rocky Mountains in command of the Northwest mounted police in 1874, and was promoted colonel for "distinguished services other than in the field," November, 1892. He was created C.M.G. in 1877 and K.C.M.G. in 1902.

Sir George French married, in 1862, Miss Janet Clarke, daughter of Robert Long Innes, formerly of the 37th Regiment.

McMILLAN'S PLANS FOR SCIENCE WORK

Observations of Arctic Exploration May Greatly Benefit Mankind

EARTH'S MAGNETISM

Will Attempt to Measure Height of Northern Lights Above Earth

NORTH SYDNEY, July 29.—(Star Special)—R. H. Goddard and Dawson Howell, the two scientists of the McMillan expedition, spent most of their time here before their ship sailed in repeating observations made in 1907, '08, '12. These they have repeated with great care and exactness. They have to do with the yearly changes in the world's magnetism, declination of the needle, or, nautically speaking, variation, the vertical and horizontal intensity of magnetism.

In discussing their work in the north, the scientists stated that they proposed to take as great a number of observations as possible and to have as great a number of stations as possible around the area of the magnetic pole, which has a radius of about fifty miles. These observations would lead to the location of the magnetic pole discovered by Sir James Ross in 1830.

It might be mentioned that all the British explorers combined scientific research with the work of exploration but since 1860 very little has been done along scientific lines.

STATIC ELECTRICITY.

The two scientists will divide up sledges to establish the greatest number of stations possible and will erect observatories at the winter quarters at Hecla and Fury points, far enough away from the magnetic pole to ensure that the horizontal force of the earth's magnetism will be strong enough to influence the needles in two different instruments in the observatory, one to record magnetic declination and the other to record the horizontal force of the earth's magnetism. A fourth instrument will record continuously the potential gradient of atmospherical electricity. This latter is what wireless operators and others call static electricity. The entire atmosphere is charged with electricity in static form. The most acceptable theory to date of its source is the earth itself, which charges the atmosphere.

During the present expedition for the first time observations on three elements of the earth's magnetism will be taken in cor-relation with measuring the potential gradient in the Arctic region. The particular significance of the expedition's observations so cor-related is that they will be taken in the magnetic area of the North Pole, where the lines of force are pouring down into the earth. The chances are very favorable, in fact almost certain, that the observations will throw great light upon the relationship between the atmospheric electricity and the earth's magnetism and so help the efforts now being made by scientists in this and in European countries to devise means of utilizing this almost limitless source of power stored in the air.

HEIGHT OF NORTHERN LIGHTS.

Likewise the scientists will measure at frequent intervals the distance of the Northern Lights above the earth's surface, and will make various studies and observations of these. The method of measuring the distance above the earth to which the beams of the Northern Lights penetrate will be as follows: Simultaneous photographs will be taken from each end of a base line ten miles long, equipped with cameras with special lenses. By focussing both cameras on the same star it is possible to compute from known angles the distance of any particular part of the display above the earth. These observations of the Aurora, taken in conjunction with the continuous observations being carried on at the observatory, should give information which will lead to a rational explanation of the phenomena.

It is expected that with the most complete scientific equipment which has ever been sent to the Arctic, the results obtained will be of the greatest importance and possibly of immediate benefit to humanity.

NANTASKET BATHERS STUNG BY JELLYFISH

BOSTON, July 29. — More than 150 bathers were treated at a hospital and thousands more were driven from Nantasket and adjoining beaches yesterday when a school of red jelly-fish drifted in shore and severely stung all who came in contact with its tentacles.

This species of red jelly-fish is commonly called the "stingaree," and sometimes the "Australian stingaree," because it is commonly found in Australian waters. The feelers exude a poisonous substance which infects the skin and causes swelling and pain.

ASKS FULL INQUIRY INTO GRAIN CHARGES

Henderson Challenges Crerar to Investigation Into Allegations

WINNIPEG, July 29.—(Star Special.) — R. J. Henderson who supplied the grain inquiry board with evidence of alleged false bottoms in the United Grain Growers elevator at the head of the Lakes, has called Hon. T. A. Crerar's alleged bluff to have a part of the regular grain commission make a new investigation.

Crerar's challenge was to have the investigation by the board, excluding Hon. William Staples, the chairman. Henderson in an open letter now challenges Crerar to have the Grain Commission as a whole make the investigation and adds that if it does so, he will have some further evidence of the truth of his previous evidence to present to them when the probe begins.

Crerar's proposition excluded Staples from such an investigation by other members of the regular Grain Commission on the theory that Staples prejudiced toward the Grain Growers.

In the meantime, many secretaries of local grain growers branches have written Winnipeg headquarters for further information about the alleged false bottoms and they want to know why, if there was no truth in the evidence brought out by the grain inquiry board, the United Grain Growers thought it desirable to join with the other forty firms in the grain exchange to stop further investigation by injunction.

That the probe will be resumed by a special parliamentary commission, this fall, where the grain inquiry board stopped, is now generally expected here on confidential reports from Ottawa.

LARGE INCREASE IN BUSINESS FAILURES

TORONTO, July 29—Business failures in Canada during the second quarter of 1921 showed a large increase over the same period of last year, being 467, compared with 206. Total liabilities in that period this year were $10,024,885, against $3,300,449, according to Dun's report. Manufacturing failures numbered 98, against 43 last year. Failure among traders were 343 this year against 146 a year ago. The group chiefly affected this year was general stores, numbering 95, against 20 a year ago.

COLLAPSE OF CULT OF OMAR KHAYYAM

New Convert's Admission of Real Object Causes Disintegration

THE PAS, Man., July 29.—(Canadian Press)—The Church of the Cult of Omar has expired. Founded on the Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam, a new religious organization born in The Pas this spring, it sprang into sudden importance, and yesterday only three of its original members would admit that they still held firm to their beliefs.

The exodus from membership started when a new convert made the statement that the whole affair was arranged with the object of getting a Government permit to purchase liquors from the Government store under guise of its necessity for sacramental purposes. Officials of the cult deny that they had any such intention.

Many leading business and professional men of The Pas were members of the cult, and the movement had assumed an importance and standing that was thought to threaten the temporary disruption of the local churches. Ministers were alarmed and amazed to read in a local paper the names of the members of the Cult of Omar, some of whom were leading members in the Orthodox denominations. Following the statement of the truant member as to the alleged purpose of the society, the movement collapsed rapidly.

W. H. McCutcheon, first disciple of the cult, issued a statement yesterday saying he and his followers had embraced the Rubaiyat because they found in it the truth of life. "Wine is necessary," he said, "in the form of our devotional service, and our intention was to ask the Government for a permit to secure a moderate amount for baptismal purposes only. Reports issued by rival religious bodies that the cult is a subterfuge to a means of getting liquor is a libel and a lie."

LIMITATION OF DOCTOR'S FEES

Johns Hopkins Establishes Schedule For Operations and Visits

BALTIMORE, July 29—(Associated Press.)—The board of trustees of the John Hopkins Hospital yesterday issued the following dictum:

"The maximum fee than any surgeon ought to charge for an operation no matter how wealthy the patient may be, is $1,000.

"The maximum charge that any physician ought to make for attending patients in a hospital is $35 a week."

The dictum takes on the force of an order to physicians and surgeons practising in the hospital, limiting fees to be charged.

The ruling was issued after long and thorough consideration of all the conditions surrounding physicians and surgeons, the cost of living, scale on which physicians and surgeons are required to live and the like. In it many eminent scientists at the hospital concurred.

HEAVY RAIN IN ALBERTA.

CALGARY, Alta., July 29. — Very heavy rain fell over the territory from Calgary to Red Deer last night, lasting from one to three hours, doing much good to hay lands.

NATURAL GAS FOR LONDON.

LONDON, Ont., July 29. — The city may get natural gas very shortly as a result of the special committee from the council yesterday afternoon deciding to place a proposition from a new company, which has wells four miles east of London before the city gas company, which now has an exclusive franchise. Should the city gas company refuse, it is planned to allow the new company to supply certain areas.

POOR APPLE CROP IN N.B.

FREDERICTON, N.B., July 29. — Apple orchards about Fredericton and in the vicinity were inspected by A. G. Turney, Provincial Horticulturist, and George Danbym of the Horticultural Branch of the Department of Agriculture. It was found that the apple drop has been quite heavy and that the apples are small. A further continuation of the drop is feared if present heat conditions continue.

U. S. BUYS UP FUR MARKET.

TORONTO, July 29. — Fur buyers who have been in Northern Ontario and other parts of Canada to make purchases for local firms state that the supply has been cleaned up by buyers from the United States, who have been paying good prices. Even the supplies of wolf skins which were plentiful at Edmonton and Winnipeg until recently, are said to have been bought up for the United States.

25.8 Miles
On One Gallon of Gasoline

THIS was the record made yesterday by the LIGHT-SIX in its striking demonstration of gasoline economy—a test publicly held and carefully checked by observers in every detail!

In this test, the main gasoline line was first disconnected—a one-gallon can, attached to the side of the windshield, was filled with gasoline — and the car driven continuously until its one-gallon supply was exhausted.

The speedometer reading told its own story of economy at the finish of the test—it showed that the LIGHT-SIX, on this single gallon of gasoline, had traversed 25.8 miles!

The results of this demonstration confirm our most optimistic claims for the LIGHT-SIX as a car of exceptional economy.

VIVIANI EXPLAINS FRANCE'S FEARS IN SILESIAN SPHERE

Sees Insidious German Attempt to Entomb Poland Industrially First

THEN BY FORCE

Declares Diplomats on August 4 May Meet with Grave Surprise

PARIS, July 29. (By Rene Viviani, for Montreal Star and Philadelphia Ledger. Copyright.)—It is impossible that the United States should not have an interest in the lively transactions now in progress between France and Great Britain regarding Upper Silesia. They are not solely technical or industrial questions, but rather have great political interest, even from a world standpoint.

The bloody combats which have been eternly repressed thus far, in spite of efforts of the German press to exaggerate their importance, have placed Upper Silesia in such a situation that security of person and property are perpetually in danger.

France, the godmother of Poland, and France, the guardian of the peace treaty, is taking care that Poland, which for over three centuries was entombed by Prussia, Russia, and Austria—shall not be submerged anew by an industrial force which is a forerunner of military force.

France wishes to send a new division of troops to Silesia, and it seems incomprehensible that Great Britain should be opposed to an act which is not an act of aggression and which is still less of an imperialistic gesture, an act which presages no conquest and no occupation and which is simply a police operation destined to preserve human and material interests.

It was first necessary to decide on a date for the meeting of the Supreme Council, and this date has been fixed as August 4. Permit me to be a sceptic with regard to the practical results of this meeting. So often has an adjournment been taken by the Supreme Council after the achievement of more or less vain results that I can hardly resist predicting that the question of Upper Silesia is likely to suffer the same fate.

MUST ENFORCE PEACE.

One thing is certain, and that is that the first duty of those who through tradition and through respect for the treaty, are protecting a territory is to prevent this territory from being the object of violence. I imagine it is not necessary to prove that acts of violence have been committed; I recognize that the perpetrators have come from both sides—and that it is necessary to enforce peace on both sides. No one has the right to violate it. Furthermore, because of power of organization and celerity of action, which bear witness that, despite the disarmament clauses of the treaty, she is maintaining a sort of historic camouflage of which Prussia formerly has given us an example, we must hold a tight rein on all transactions which take place in Germany.

To protect in the first place, so as to be able to deliberate afterwards in security and peace and, if necessary to gain time so as to adapt the people involved to whatever solution may be adopted. This has been the supreme policy, a policy distinctly French.

In place of that, while all Silesia is effervescing, the diplomats are going to meet and deliberate with animation. I shall be much mistaken, if, during the days which precede and which accompany the deliberation, new alarmists do not spring up who will bring their influence to bear upon the ministers, and who, however steadfast these ministers may be, will take from them their spiritual liberty.

If France desires to preserve Poland from an industrial and ethnic invasion which would pave the way for future annihilation, it is not solely because that martyred people are entitled to justice; and if sympathy and friendship come to them in addition, that is a private affair which has no need to be described in a treaty. However, the plebiscite which was prepared by the Treaty gave results which now are well known. It was a grievous error to wait so long before arranging for a plebiscite, for the least far-sighted man could understand that two years after the Peace Treaty the animosity of a beaten Germany would be re-born each day and with it its power of inertia; while, fatigued by a spectacle offered before them during so many years, the other people — deeply scarred by war but astonished by such a peace, would very likely become victims of indifference.

What Germany demands is well known, and it is precisely because it is well known that conscientious governments and far-sighted peoples should be on their guard. It is entirely useless to speak of disarmament and to hurl upon paper high-sounding formulas which already have been current in the world for a century if, in practice, the poison well is left open from which may flow over the world a new lava of destruction.

SOME STRIKING STATISTICS.

However, when one considers the status anterior to war in order to ascertain if, from an industrial point of view, Germany made us of Upper Silesia for exportations or even for its internal commerce, certain facts are received which cry aloud to be brought into the light.

In 1903, Upper Silesia exported into the interior of Germany hardly one-fourth of its coal production—as a matter of fact, 10,000,000 out of 43,000,000 tons. It is doubtful if Upper Silesia, in 1903, contributed one-third of Germany's total consumption. As a matter of fact Germany has always depended for its interior needs on the Ruhr, which produced 120,000,000 tons a year.

Poland, itself, or at least the provinces, which constitute Poland as well as certain regions of Austria-Hungary, absorbed the production of Upper Silesia.

What Germany is trying to obtain at the present moment is the domination of Poland economically by regaining the mistress of her industrial districts and thus to prepare, by means of industrial serfdom, for the political servitude which always follows the former.

If Germany is allowed to develop in this manner; if we confine ourselves to methods of control which each day are being bluffed and duped, if we forget that the Peace Treaty is constructed in such a manner that the troops of occupation, have as a duty to advance, after certain delays, by certain stages, and that at this moment none of the lines established can be re-constructed — in that case we are preparing dolorous days for our children in the future.

We suppose that in the United States it is as well known as among us who, it is true, are the first witnesses, just as we were the first victims, that Germany has quantities of hidden armaments. At present the question of Silesia is not solely one of a division by plebiscite votes, but it is also a world-wide question. It is a question of deciding whether Germany will be put in position where she may regain her old-time arrogance.

VICTORIA RIFLES ATTEND RANGES

Fortieth Annual Shoot Takes Place at Pointe Aux Trembles

A good attendance is expected at the fortieth annual shoot of the Victoria Rifles of Canada Rifle Association, which will take place tomorrow at the Pointe aux Trembles ranges. Thirty entries have been received for the morning matches, which start at 9 a.m., by Col. Gascoigne, who has charge of the arrangements, and the afternoon matches are expected to receive equally good support.

An extra prize of $10 has been donated by Sergeant James Boa, the crack rifle shot, for tyros in the aggregate, and a special prize will also be given for tyro officers.

The first match will be for tyros, for which the commanding officer, Lieut.-Col. W. W. Burland, D.S.O., has given eleven prizes.

The association match follows, in which each competitor will shoot at the 200, 500 and 600 yard ranges, seven shots at each. For this there are eight prizes to which are added ten tyro prizes.

CHALLENGE MATCH.

The challenge match, open to all members of the association, will be next. This will be seven shots at 600 yards. Of the twenty prizes offered ten will be for tyros.

In the afternoon the program will open with an extra series match, 5 shots at 600 yards. There will be ten prizes for open competition, and, in addition, five prizes for V.R.C. tyros.

The open match follows. This is open to teams of five members of any battalion or rifle association, ten shots at 600 yards. The arms to be used is the S.M.L.E. as issued. Slings and orthopedics may be used, but no peep sights or wind gauges. In this match there are 17 prizes for individuals, with five additional for V.R.C. tyros, and four team prizes.

Visitors to the meet are reminded by the arrangements committee that the terminal line car from La Salle avenue passes the range, which can also be reached from the end of the Notre Dame street line by a walk across the fields.

SAMUEL GOMPERS WILL COME HERE

Warm Welcome Awaits the American Federation of Labor President

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, will visit Montreal between August 8 and 15, while in this province to attend the annual convention of the typographical union at Quebec, according to a letter read at a meeting of the executives of Montreal Trades and Labor Council last night.

Mr. Gompers, in his communication to the council did not specify the date on which he expects to arrive here, and pending further information on this point arrangements for his reception by the local branches of the international unions can not be completed. As Mr. Gompers, in his letter, expressed a wish to meet the members of the representatives of the various unions here, plans will be drawn up providing for an elaborate reception to the aged labor chieftain as soon as further details are available.

Mr. Gompers is scheduled to attend the opening of the typographical convention at Quebec on August 8, and after the close of the gathering, is due to attend another convention at Toronto, so that it is considered likely he will stop off in Montreal en route to the Queen City.

RETURN FROM CAMP

Camp Cushing Proves Popular Among Senior Girls

Brown as berries the party of Senior girls who have been enjoying ten days of boating, bathing, camp fires and hayrack rides at Camp Cushing, returned home today.

The camp which is being conducted under the auspices of the Presbytery of Montreal has proved most popular, and accounts of the good-times enjoyed there have already caused a rush of applicants for the remaining parties —mothers, brothers and sisters all being eager to test for themselves the Camp's attractions. The manse at Cushing, as well as the schoolhouse have been placed at the Camp's disposal, and the sleeping tents are pitched on the campus in between.

FIVE HUNDRED MEN SENT TO PRAIRIES

Expenses of Trip Will Be Paid by Kinsmen Club

Five hundred men will be sent to the western harvest field next month at the expense of the Kinsmen Club. The club will not only pay the fares of the men, but it will provide for their needs during the journey, will assure them of work on their arrival on the prairies, and, in the case of married men, will see that their families are provided for until they are able to send them money. A special train will be provided for the Kinsmen's guests.

The object of the undertaking is to relieve distress in Montreal caused by unemployment. It is estimated that the cost for each man will be about $20, or a total of $10,000. The fare to Winnipeg for each man will be $15, and $5 per head is estimated as necessary for food and incidental expenses, including fare from Winnipeg to more western points. A committee of the Kinsmen Club of Montreal met last evening to formulate a plan to raise the necessary $10,000.

MUST HAVE WIFE'S PERMISSION.

The meeting, which was held in the Central Y.M.C.A., was opened by F. C. Stackpole, president of the Kinsmen Club, who outlined a plan of campaign. The city should be divided, he proposed, into sections, and each section covered by a team composed of four club members under a leader. Enquiries would be made into the acute cases of distress, and as to the best possible means of relieving them. The men chosen will be both married and single, and the club will be helped in its selection by several welfare organizations of the city. One of the difficulties mentioned is that there might be a possibility of some of the married men making use of the opportunity to go west with the object of not returning to their wives and families, it was decided to have forms printed to be signed by the wife of the man recommended, stating that she was willing to allow her husband to leave her.

From the time the men leave Montreal until they are in a position to send money to their wives, the Kinsmen Club will look after the wants of the families. The cost of sending each man out west will be a gift. The man will not be required to return the money, but should he do so it will be used for some other relief work in the city.

GIVEN SUPPORT.

The Kinsmen Club has the assurance of the Rotary Club of Montreal, the Kiwanis Club and the Merchants' Association, that these organizations will give their fullest support to the movement. Welfare organizations of the city have also promised to help in choosing the men.

W. R. Allen, president of the Rotary Club of Montreal, who was present at the meeting, in endorsing the movement, said, "I think your campaign an excellent one, and worthy of the ideals of the Kinsmen Club. As to its success I have not the least doubt. Your cause is one which will appeal to the public, and with their sympathy the way will be easy. I will put the matter before my club, and rest assured that anything we can do to help will be a pleasure." Walter C. Taylor, president of the Kiwanis Club, also offered the help of his club, and stated that he would put a team into one of the districts to work in conjunction with the Kinsmen Club.

ROTARIAN HEAD WILL BE WELCOMED

International President, Dr. C. C. McCullough, Returns from Convention

Crawford C. McCullough, M.D., of Fort William, Ont., who was unanimously elected international president of Rotary at the recent international convention of Rotary Clubs held at Edinburgh, Scotland, will arrive here this evening at 8.40 from Three Rivers, on his way home from the convention. Dr. McCullough is the second Canadian to hold this office, his only Canadian predecessor being E. Leslie Pidgeon, who was international president in 1917-18, and curiously enough he arrives in Montreal on Sunday evening on the Minnedosa.

Dr. McCullough is accompanied by Chesley R. Perry, the secretary general of the International Association of Rotary Clubs, who has held that office for a number of years, with headquarters at the international office in Chicago. They will stay at the Windsor Hotel, and proceed on their journey tomorrow. They are being entertained today by the Rotary Club at Three Rivers, and will be met at Windsor station this evening by the president and directors of the Montreal Rotary Club.

NEW BOAT CLUB FOR OTTERBURN PARK

At a well-attended meeting of the residents of Otterburn Park it was decided to form a boating and swimming club to be known as the Otterburn Park Boating and Swimming Club. The following were elected to act as the club: first officials: President, R. S. Daly; vice-president, J. J. Corcoran; secretary, W. H. Johnston; committee, H. W. Edson, F. W. Strike, D. Mason, C. G. Morris, G. Edwards and H. Carter. These are well-known in the boating and swimming world and there is no doubt but what, with the ideal location (on the Richelieu River at Otterburn Park), and with the great number of old G. T. B. C. members that are living there, men who will be able to coach the youngsters, it will not be long before some of the older clubs will have to sit up and take notice.

It was decided to hold a regatta the second Saturday in August, and the following program was adopted:

50 yards swim for boys, 14 years and under; 25 yards swim for girls, 16 years and under; 50 yards swim for ladies, open; tandem canoe, lady and gent; lady and gentleman rowing; 50 yards backward swimming rac; one mile war canoe (senior); half mile war canoe (junior); fancy diving; blindfold race, one man to boat; 220 yards swim; tug-of-war in flat bottom boat; senior fours, one mile; greasy pole.

Events are open to all residents of Otterburn, Belœil, MacMasterville and St. Hilaire.

Watching the Scoreboard

Yesterday's hero—Jack Graney. The veteran Indian scored from first base on a single in the ninth and marked up the run that beat the Red Sox, 5 to 4.

Waite Hoyt let the Browns down with four hits and the Yanks won, 6 to 0.

Four runs in the ninth inning enabled the Giants to beat the Pirates, 6 to 4, and gain a full game on the league leaders.

The Braves were outhit by the Reds but by better base-running they turned in a 2 to 1 victory.

Cadore had the better of Cheeves in a pitcher's battle and the Robins won their third straight from the Cubs, 3 to 2.

Jess Haines allowed the Phils five hits, and the Cards won, 9 to 0.

Home runs by Shanks and Milan helped the Senators make it three straight from the White Sox, 8 to 5.

Ty Cobb returned to the game after a month's absence, and the Tigers won, 9 to 2, after they had dropped the first part of a double bill to the Athletics, 3 to 2.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 30.—George T. Adee, former president of the United States Lawn Tennis Association, will referee the Davis Cup matches between the teams of the British Isles and Australia at the Allegheny Country Club next week if Norman Peach, captain of the Australians, agrees to the proposition. Clinton L. Childs, secretary of the Pittsburgh Tennis Committee, obtained Mr. Adee's consent yesterday, provided the captains of the two teams agreed. Captain Woosnam, of the British team, at once expressed his pleasure and a telegram was sent to Mr. Peach at Toronto.

The British team will today begin active practice upon the courts where the matches are to be played.

NAP LAJOIE'S "OLD TIMERS" TO PLAY VETS

CLEVELAND, O., July 29. — One of the greatest gatherings of veteran baseball celebrities in the history of the diamond was scheduled here today for a game in which the "old timers" were to meet a team of veteran sand-lotters as a feature of the 125th anniversary of Cleveland. It will be the first time in years that several of the aged heroes have appeared in a contest.

Nap. Lajoie, the former second baseman, is managing the old timers and will play his former position. Neal Ball, hero of the first unassisted triple play in the major leagues, will be at short. Bill Bradley, who held the major league record of a home run a day for four consecutive days until "Babe" Ruth broke it a few weeks ago, will take care of third base, and "Cy" Young, the only pitcher who ever won 500 games, was one of those to occupy the mound.

Larry Twitchell, who once made six hits in six times at bat, was assigned to right field. Alternating with him will be "Bunk" Congalton. Terry Turner will alternate with Bradley at third and Heinie Berger, Earl Moore and Frank Knauss will take turns in the pitcher's box.

Others in the line-up are: Jesse Burkett and Elmer Flick, left field; Charlie Hickman and Nick Altrock, first base; Harry Bay and Ollie Pickering, centre field, and Bobby Woods, Fred. Gatch and Paddy Livingston, catchers.

The game will be played tomorrow if rain causes a postponement today.

LADYSMITH VICTORIOUS.

WINNIPEG, July 29.—The Ladysmith soccer team, champions of British Columbia, last evening defeated the Regina Post eleven of Saskatchewan by two goals to nil in the first of a two-game series in the semi-final of the Connaught Cup.

NEW YORK, July 29.—A. B. Spreckles' Runstar, which was disqualified after a sensational finish in the Eastview stakes Saturday, came back at Empire City yesterday and scored a victory that was not disputed. He won the $4,000 Wakefield handicap, a five and a half furlong dash for two-year-olds with the top weight of 122 pounds and ran the distance in the fastest time that has been recorded for the meeting.

WESTERN CANADA'S WHEAT CROP.

30,000 Farm Laborers Wanted to Garner It.

There was a general rain throughout Manitoba and Saskatchewan and Central Alberta a few days ago which should enhance the crop, and all danger of the grain not filling out is removed.

The Canadian Pacific Railway, as in the past, is doing everything in its power to help garner this bumper harvest. Special Farm Laborers' excursions will be operated from stations in the province of Quebec and Ontario—Toronto, Sudbury and east, but not north of Parry Sound, Ont., on August 8th and 17th. The fare will be $15.00 second class to Winnipeg, plus ½-cent per mile, with a minimum of 50 cents from Winnipeg to any station in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, at which the farm laborer has engaged to work, but not west of Edmonton, Calgary and Macleod. Special trains will leave Montreal, Windsor Station, about 11.00 a.m. on above dates. These trains will carry convertible colonist cars, with special accommodation for ladies and families. Box lunches and tinned meats will be sold on train for those who do not wish to avail themselves of the convenient and moderate-priced lunch rooms, which are located along the line.

Complete arrangements have been made by the Governments of the three prairie provinces and the Canadian Pacific Railway for handling the laborers expeditiously and distributing them immediately on arrival at Winnipeg, to points where they are most urgently needed. Crop reports now coming in seem to indicate that 30,000 farm laborers will be required.

STATE PREPARING HASTY REBUTTAL LIST

CHICAGO, July 29. — The baseball trial resumed today with the State preparing a hasty list of rebuttal witnesses after the sudden move of the defense yesterday in resting its case with nearly a score of witnesses yet to be examined.

State's attorneys intimated that several witnesses would be called today, these probably including Joe Gedeon, former St. Louis ball player, who was not used by the State in its direct examination.

The surprise action of the defense which followed testimony of White Sox players that tended to refute the statements of Bill Burns, star State's witness concerning the former Sox players on trial for conspiring to throw the 1919 world series left future action on both sides a matter of conjecture, but seemed to assure a speedy ending of the trial with the case probably going to the jury Saturday night or Monday.

The State was expected today to make an effort to refute the testimony of White Sox players that all the Sox, including the defendants, practiced for two hours in the Cincinnati Park the morning of the first game when Burns testified he met some of the defendants at a room in the Sinton Hotel.

The State also was expected to try to show that the conference could have been held prior to the practice at the park. The State's rebuttal testimony was expected to take up most of today. Sir Godfrey Collins and W. P. Burton, skipper of Shamrock IV., were chosen after tryouts by eleven yachts built to meet the American entries.

LARGE ENTRY LIST FOR LACHINE REGATTA

Entries for the Lachine Racing Canoe regatta to be held at the Lachine wharf on Saturday, have passed all expectations.

At least six and possibly seven crews will start in the half mile and mile war canoe races.

The half mile war canoe race is confined to crews that have not finished one, two or three at any regatta this season. Seven crews have so far been entered for this race.

The feature race, the one mile war canoe race, promises to be one of the closest contested races of the season. Chateauguay, who are still rankling from their defeat and disqualification last Saturday, have been training hard all week, and are confident they can win. It is rumored that Cartierville will have to win before the club will send them to the championship finals. Lachine have had a shake up, and will be using another canoe which they believe will enable them to cross the line first. St. Lambert, winners of last week's half mile, will try the mile, whilst Valois, the dark horse, will be seen for the first time. Grand Trunks, after their splendid finish when they nosed out Cartierville by inches, will be favored to win, but whoever wins everything points to a wonderful race, well worth travelling miles to see. The race will start just below Dixie Island, and will be plainly visible to the spectators on shore from start to finish.

FOUR OIL WELLS TO BE DRILLED

A Heavy Summer's Program Mapped Out at Fort Norman

HIGH HOPES

Original Gusher One and a Half Degrees South of Arctic Circle

(By Chester A. Bloom...Staff Correspondent of The Montreal Star and Calgary Herald. Copyright.)

Fort Norman, North West Territories, June 25. (By aeroplane and wire)—Under a drizzling rain your correspondent watched yesterday the unloading of tons of supplies, gasoline, storage tanks and various appurtenances of oil well machinery at the sites chosen for new wells adjacent to the original "gusher" well of the Imperial Oil Company. This well, the bringing in of which created a furore in oildom throughout the civilized world, is situated on the right bank of the river as one goes toward the Artic Ocean, about fifty-three miles north of the old trading post of Fort Norman.

This location put the original well precisely on latitude 65 north where perpetual daylight prevails during the summer months, though one does not see the midnight sun exactly, as the location is still south of the Arctic Circle by about one and one half degrees of latitude. However the sun merely dips beneath the horizon for a few minutes at midnight at this latitude and the principal darkness just now is when the sky is overcast with clouds and it is raining as it was yesterday.

TANKS FOR GASOLINE

The first up river steamer of the year on which we traveled stopped at the site of the original well where the material for gasoline tanks was unloaded. Here there were found two employes of the company, Messrs. Cleaves and Morrow who had busied themselves during the long nights of last winter in distilling gasoline from the crude oil in the well by means of a very primitive plant on a small scale. They had managed however to turn out five large barrels of the fluid which, while not of the grade desirable for use in aeroplanes, can still be employed for that purpose. They also had gathered up from other posts along the river another two barrels of gasoline in anticipation of providing it for the flying men.

At this location also the all metal monoplane in which Geologist T. A. Link of the company and his party flew in some three weeks ago, was floating in river off shore. In place of the pontoon which was damaged in alighting at Fort Norman, the flyers had rigged up a scow so that the machine was floating on an even keel, lifting to the swell of the wide river like a duck. Mechanic Pete Derbyshire of the company unloaded at this point a new wing which he had brought down from the other crippled machine at Fort Simpson, and repairs to the second machine now await the arrival of a new portion which is being brought down river from the Vermilion Chutes on the Peace river.

Nothing further had been done around the original well since last summer with the exception of the distilling of gasoline from crude oil. The oil is under pressure in the well as it spurts out with force when a valve is turned on and the ground in the vicinity of the well is saturated with the crude oil from the gusher.

THE SECOND WELL.

From this site the steamship crossed over the river to Bear Island on which the Imperial Oil Company will drill the second well. As a matter of fact four new wells will be drilled this summer, the rig and machinery being brought in for that purpose. One of these will be on the northernmost tip of Bear Island, the supplies for this well and crew being unloaded yesterday from the "Northland Trader." Still another well will be drilled on the left bank of the river just opposite the original well which is on the right bank as one goes north through Bear Island, and lies in between these two locations. This third well will be drilled right at the mouth of Loon creek.

Another well will be drilled also on the right bank of river, but about two miles up river at the mouth of Joes creek. The fifth site in this locality chosen by the company for a well will be just about a mile up-river from the third well on the left bank of the river, and opposite about the central part of Bear Island

Bear Island itself, where supplies were unloaded with a big drilling crew, is a well timbered island of about two square miles extent. It lies to the left side of the river which is fully four miles wide at this point, presenting a magnificent vista of water and hills in the distance. The northernmost part of the island appears to be high above the flood tide, that is, of floods caused by ice jams in the river, though appearances in the centre of the island indicate that flood waters have been over the lower portions.

The Mackenzie River Oil Company also is reported to have selected two or three well sites in this general vicinity but none of their machinery has yet come in though it is expected to arrive on barges towed by the new A. A. T. Company's "Distributer," within a very short time, as that vessel was scheduled to sail from Port Smith on June 24 according to last reports.

The Imperial Oil Company has a large warehouse partly completed on Bear Island and the first work of the crew landed there yesterday will be to complete the warehouse and erect temporary living quarters before beginning work on the next well.

EDUCATION ENEMY OF SOCIAL DISEASE

Quebec Making Greatest Strides in Eliminating Venereal

CO-OPERATION NEED

Only by Educational Campaign Can Menace Be Eradicated

CHICOUTIMI, July 29.—Addressing the delegates to the convention of the medical health officials now in session here, Dr. J. A. Ranger, assistant director of the venereal division of the Superior Public Health Board, Montreal, told of the wonderful strides made by the Province in the past few years in combatting venereal disease.

While he admitted the pulpit and the press had given great assistance, he urged even greater co-operation in fighting what he described as one of Canada's greatest evils. It was only by a great educational campaign, he stated, that the menace to the country could be stamped out.

Telling of the work in Quebec by his department in the eight months ending July 1, Dr. Ranger said the total number of analyses during that period was 6,547. The number of patients at the dispensaries was 3,135 and the number of treatments 29,690. During the period there had been 50 lectures and cinema shows illustrating the danger of venereal disease.

EIGHT MONTHS' WORK.

In the Province of Quebec there had been diagnosed in the eight months 4,150 cases of venereal disease. Eighty-one per cent of the patients were men; 1 per cent. under ten years of age; 3 per cent. between eleven and fifteen years; 18 per cent. between sixteen and twenty years. It is estimated that 34 per cent. of the cases were traceable to commercialized prostitution and that only 1 per cent. was congenital.

The operations of the department, proceeded Dr. Ranger, were very encouraging and appreciable service had been rendered to the population of the Province. He was pleased to report that there had been excellent co-operation in combatting the disease by pulpit, press, doctors and manufacturers. This, with the aid of the hospital employes, had rendered easier the work of the department.

Due to the work of education, the people of the Province were now consulting experts for their troubles rather than purchasing the alleged remedies of quacks. The gravity of the disease was now more appreciated. Doctors all over the Province stated that the campaign being conducted had opened the eyes of many who were lulled into false security and as a result they were treating many more than in former years.

MORE CASES IN QUEBEC.

In comparing the work in the Province of Quebec with the other Provinces, Dr. Ranger stated that according to the statistics compiled at Ottawa, the number of cases treated in Ontario dispensaries for the first three months this year was 426 and in Quebec 944. The report adds that in this Province the people are much better educated regarding the dangers of the disease than in any other and as a result, while there are more cases treated in Quebec in the dispensaries than in any other Province, it is because the people realize the necessity for professional treatment.

There had been distributed in the Province 130,000 pamphlets dealing with the subject and the press had been most generous in giving free space to the work of the department.

Mention was also made of the fact that doctors in the Province were at all times welcome to the use of the laboratories and received all the assistance possible. The service was gratuitous, rapid and sure.

DAVIES IS SWORN IN AS ADMINISTRATOR

Unusual Ceremony on Empress of Britain at Quebec

QUEBEC, July 29.—An interesting and quite unusual ceremony took place on the Empress of Britain shortly after nine o'clock yesterday morning, when the Right Hon. Sir Louis Davies, who has just returned from England, was sworn in as administrator of the Government of Canada until the arrival of the new Governor-General. The ceremony took place in the smoking room.

The oath was administered by G. R. Kezar, assistant clerk of the Privy Councils. Sir Louis immediately afterwards signed the usual proclamation.

Sir Louis left yesterday for his summer home on Prince Edward Island, where he will spend a holiday. All important papers will be sent there to him until Lord Byng's arrival.

Sir Louis is not returning to Quebec to swear in the new Governor-General, but has written to Mr. Justice Anglin to ask him to perform the ceremony instead.

HUNGER STRIKE IN B.C.

KERRIDALE, B.C., July 29.—A hunger strike has so weakened Mrs. Patricia Reid, held in Okala prison, that the prison physician is in doubt as to her ability to appear in court to answer the charges. Another physician will examine Mrs. Reid and report.

WIFE OF ALBERTA'S NEW PREMIER GLAD

"Almost Too Good to Be True," Exclaims When Hears News

GREENFIELD A SINGER

No Announcement of New Cabinet—Stewart Thinks Choice Good

STRATHROY, Ont., July 29.—Mrs. Herbert Greenfield, wife of Alberta's newly chosen premier, who is visiting here, heard yesterday morning with undisguised pleasure of her husband's selection as head of the Farmer government of the western province.

Mrs. Greenfield was visiting friends of her girlhood days in Adelaide township when a telegram from Mr. Greenfield arrived here to tell her of the event.

"It is almost to good to be true," she remarked, "I am not altogether surprised. We had considered it as a possibility, but is is nonetheless pleasant news for all that."

Mrs. Greenfield is a pretty little woman of about 48, of decidedly jolly disposition. People in Strathroy and the surrounding country, who knew her when she was Miss Elizabeth Harris, at the time when Herbert Greenfield had just come out from England to take up farming, say she has not changed a bit. They also remember Mr. Greenfield as a jovial soul and recall that he used to have a decidedly pleasing voice and a reputation as a singer.

"I can hardly realize what it means yet," Mrs. Greenfield said. Asked as to how she would like the idea of leaving the farm and going to live at the provincial capital, she repeated it was too big a thing for her to realize.

TAKE REINS IN AUGUST.

EDMONTON, July 29.—The transfer of the Alberta Government to the incoming Farmer administration will not be made until about the middle of August, according to the present outlook. Premier Stewart says there is still a considerable amount of departmental business to close up, and it will take another two weeks to put it fully in shape for turning over to the new government.

Nothing will be done, in any case, until Premier-elect Greenfield signifies his readiness to assume office. As soon as he has drawn up his cabinet, he will presumably lay it before the members for their consideration, and when finally agreed upon, will notify Premier Stewart accordingly, after which the usual procedure of recommending the new premier to the Lieutenant-Governor will be followed out.

Premier Stewart says that in his opinion the Farmer members made a wise selection in the person of Mr. Greenfield, who, he thought, would give good service as leader of the new government.

NEW CABINET.

CALGARY, July 29.—Premier-elect Greenfield is not yet prepared to make any statement regarding the selection of a new cabinet. He states that he is giving this matter his serious consideration.

PROBABLE MINISTERS.

WINNIPEG, July 29.—The new Alberta cabinet, it is expected, will consist of eight instead of seven members as at present. Mr. Greenfield is likely to take over the portfolio of municipal affairs in addition to the premiership. Public Works and Labor will likely be amalgamated under Alex Ross, Labor M.L.A., for Calgary, or V. E. Smith, U.F.A. member of Camrose.

Hon. C. W. Ross, Attorney-General under the Rutherford regime in Alberta ten years ago, is understood to be under consideration for the Attorney-Generalship, as is John Brownlee, U.F.A. counsel in Calgary. Perrin Barker, of Medicine Hat, seems certain of the Department of Education, and Mrs. Parlby for that of Public Health.

The portfolios of Provincial Secretary and Treasurer are likely to be amalgamated. J. G. Clark, of Irma, is mentioned as Minister of Agriculture, and George Hoadley, who was spoken of as a possibility for the Premiership, is now said to be the likely choice for the Speaker's Chair.

FAMOUS MEDAL FOUND IN ONTARIO

Penetanguishene Find Dates Back to Days of La Salle

PENETANGUISHENE, Ont., July 29.—A medal which has been recovered in the course of the investigation being made on the site of the old Indian town of Huronia bears the date 1680 and an inscription showing it to have come originally from Mont St. Michel, the picturesque mountain monastery fortress off the coast of Normandy, opposite St. Malo, the birthplace of Jacques Cartier.

Local historians connect the medal with La Salle. He built a boat called the Griffon at Niagara, and, with Huron Indians and one M. de Monty, toured the Great Lakes, discovering Green Bay, Mich. The Hurons induced him to visit their old home land, Huronia, which he did, and then packed the Griffon full of furs and sent it back to his Niagara encampment.

The Griffon medal just found here is thought to have belonged to one of La Salle's sailors.

WASH-OUT IS CAUSE OF RAILWAY WRECK

NORTH BAY, July 29.—The fireman was killed and the engineer had a narrow escape from death, when the Canadian Pacific eastbound Imperial Limited ran into a washout near Schrieber on Tuesday, according to passengers who travelled through here on the delayed train yesterday.

The locomotive toppled over into the water and two dead-head tourist cars followed, while two baggage cars left the track and turned over. The remainder of the train stayed on the rails. Traffic was held up until five o'clock Thursday afternoon. The dead man lived in Schrieber.

ONTARIO BARRISTER REFUSES K.C. TITLE

Says It's Out of Harmony With Democratic Standards

TORONTO, July 29.—One of the 91 lawyers placed on the new list of King's Counsel has declined the honor. He is W. D. Gregory, whose home is in Halton county but who has been in practice in Toronto for many years. As chairman of the Public Service Commission, Mr. Gregory recently presented to the Provincial Government a report recommending radical changes in the system of holding coroner's inquests. Writing to Attorney-General Raney, Mr. Gregory says in part:

"I see that my name is on the list of those whom the chief Justice of Ontario, Sir William Mulock, and Mr. John Hoskin recommend to you for appointment as King's Counsel. I have long felt that no more appointments of King's Counsel should be made and I trust that in declining the appointment, as I must do, I shall not seem guilty of any discourtesy to yourself or to the eminent men who have placed my name upon the list.

"No duties are attached to the office of King's Counsel and it appears to me that no public interest requires the making of such appointments. There is no form of examination or test and no fixed standard for determining to whom the title should be given.

"I feel strongly that the practice of giving certain barristers precedence over others in the courts by making them King's Counsel is undesirable and out of harmony with the democratic standards that generally prevail in Canada."

Life and Character Reading
JULY 29.

Leo men are wonderful financiers, they take desperate chances in finances and usually win out. They are generous in spending their money, ardent lovers of home and family and a power for good in the community.

With their ardent affectionate nature and their good spirits, they are usually very popular and will be found occupying positions of trust and responsibility. The birthstone of this date is a ruby or diamond and should be worn at all times.

People born on this date are called in astrology Leo, because this is the sign of the birthdate and is represented as a lion. Leo people have wonderful hope and courage and are seldom found in a morbid or melancholy mood.

Domestics or waitresses should advertise in the Star Want Ads for positions during the coming month.

NAVAL SQUADRON IN HALIFAX SATURDAY

HALIFAX, N.S., July 29.—The Canadian Naval Squadron is expected to arrive here Saturday, advices received from Bermuda stating that the ships had sailed at nine o'clock Wednesday morning.

The earth is continually colliding with great clouds of dust and particles ranging in size from a pinhead to a walnut.

BLACK RUST IN CROPS

Definite Announcement by Provincial Officials

REGINA, July 29.—Definite announcement that black rust has invaded some areas in the south-eastern Saskatchewan fields is made today by field men in the employ of the Provincial Department of Agriculture. Some fields, it is stated, that promised a forty bushel to the acre yield will be a total loss.

MANITOBA SPENDS $561,000 ON HOUSES

WINNIPEG, July 29.—(Star Special.)—Money spent under the housing scheme in Manitoba during 1921 now amounts to $561,000.

The sum of $1,000,000 was appropriated by the last session of the House for the purpose of making loans to municipalities for construction of houses. It is believed the whole of this amount will be spent before the building season closes.

School Clothes And Dechaux Services

Mothers who are already mentally reviewing their children's school wardrobes will find that money and time may be saved by making use of Dechaux Dry Cleaning and Dyeing Services, instead of discarding as liberally as they have done in past years.

We, also suggest that children's garments should be sent to us just as soon as possible. We can give them very prompt attention at present, and early cleaning and dyeing will afford ample time for necessary repairs, alterations and other refurbishing, after we have completed our work.

MARRYING YOUNG.

Please, can you tell me why it is that parents of this day do not want to give their consent to their childrens' marriages? There are those who are under age, they have to wait; and those of age, their parents won't consent and consequently its bad friends all round. Don't you think it would be much better for them to say yes, even if it goes against the grain a bit, than to have their sons or daughters marrying against their wish? Some parents put forth the argument that their children should profit by their (the parents) experience, that they married young, but if they had their time over again they would wait until they were thirty anyway. But, no doubt, they were given the same advice as they are now giving and did they take heed? Not they! They wanted to enjoy each other's company while they were still young and why should they deny that to the present generation? Do they think people have changed since the time when they were young? Don't you think too, that they enjoy their children more when they are younger? And don't the children enjoy their parents more if they are young with them than when they are older and do not take so much pleasure in the childrens' play? Will you please give me your views on this subject, Miss Currie, and I should be glad to see letters from others interested, also from parents who would care to tell us their side if I have pictured it wrongly. ANNE, WHO WANTS HER MAN.

Ans:—I wrote a long editorial and published a great number of letters on the subject of early marriages a very short time ago.

TO "AO-TEA-ROA."

Dear Methuselah — While looking over the paper I very naturally opened at Miss Currie's page, which is always very interesting and helpful. I there saw your letter, and oh, Methy, after managing to calm my mirth, I re-read your sweetly written letter again, and at once wondered why you have not made up your mind to go back to that much-mentioned place of the Empire, and there choose the gentle-faced, clinging vine sort of lady (your choice) as your future spouse to be the mama of the sweet, clinging, helpless girdies of the coming generation.

I trust, however, they will not have to think their own way, because their helplessness will be rather a handicap to them, working for the average business man of today.

How accurately you photographed the said Amazons on your mind in so short a time, because I take it, that they had manly, arrogant strides, ere before they were out of sight in a second.

Tisk! I remark here that we all cannot possibly have soft clinging arms and full figures of the 18th century. And remember Mr. Ao-Tea-Roa, bustles are out of date, with the minuet. Very pleasant to the eye I must admit, but far too slow for the gentlemen of today. And is it possible that you really know anything about Vaudevilles? It is somewhat contradictory, you must admit, and you from that old-fashioned place too.

I should like to ask if you can get along without the modern stenographer in that St. James' street office of yours? And how much work would you get through without her wonderful help? The lady of today can still be modest in mind. Even if she bobs her hair and is up-to-date, she at least does not sit with folded helpless hands.

It seemed to offend your masculine eyes too, that the bobbed individuals did not cast longing eyes and side glances at the male species of the supposed interesting topic of conversation.

Referring to the smoker for women, well, it is much cleaner and not so impossible as the snuff-boxes used in your father's and his father's time. Think this over. FLAT CHEST.

There Are Many Novelty Dress Accessories to Brighten the Wardrobe.

Novelties in gloves, shoes and other dress accessories are prominent in the displays of apparel for early fall, now being given tenative try-outs. In footgear quite the newest thing is the fur shoe. Quite a number of fur shoes styles are offered, one of the most effective being a smart pump combining black and gray broadtail, and looking at a little distance much like the gray and black suede pumps worn for years.

Extremely interesting things are being featured in gloves, as the group of illustrations on this page will help to prove. Mousquetaire and gauntlet gloves offer the best field for novelties. The long glove, either in white with little domino shapes set in panels of black or in black with white trimming, is a smart type. The full gauntlet glove trimmed in embroidery or appliqued motifs of kid in contrasting color is also to be worn. Fur is used in various ways as a glove trimming, some having little tails or tabs of fur appliqued on, and others being finished with narrow pipings or bandings of fur. The two-section gauntlet faced and piped in contrasting color is also smart.

In dress accessories one of the interesting novelties of the moment is the waistcoat of novelty cotton. It is shown in checks and stripes in color, cotton matelasse, embroidered pique and cretonne, and is equally popular in the form of an actual blouse with sleeves, and as a sleeveless vest. When sleeves are used they are almost always made of plain color fabric and in a lighter weight than the waistcoat proper. When worn with a pongee linen, or novelty silk coat and skirt suit these bright waistcoats are decidedly chic.

CANNING BEANS.

Next to tomatoes, string beans are the most satisfactory of the vegetables canned at home without steam pressure. Failures are rare, the beans keep their shape, texture, and flavor, and are a most welcome addition to the winter diet. A can of string beans weighing twenty ounces yields a hundred and ten calories, of which twenty-four are protein, or tissue building calories, an unusually high proportion for a green vegetable.

For a large family it is economy to can string beans either whole in quart jars, or cut into half inch pieces in pint jars. For a small family enough can be packed whole into a pint jar to serve for a meal. The beans must be well picked over, one bad may spoil a jar; they must be strung, unless, as is better, they are so young and fresh that it is unnecessary to strip off the tough thread of fibre from the edge of the pods. Then, if they are to be canned whole, they should be blanched, plunged, that is into boiling water for five minutes, then dipped quickly into cold water, and placed into the jars with a teaspoonful of said added to each quart jar, and the jars filled to overflowing with cold water. The jars are then steralized either three hours in boiling water on one day, or half an hour on each of three successive days by the intermittent method. This latter is tiresome, but safe. If the beans are cut into half inch pieces, they should be blanched after they are cut. A cheesecloth bag in which to hold them for blanching is almost a necessity. The jars must be sealed at once after the sterilizing is completed; or, if the intermittent method is used, after each day's sterilizing, the wire being raised again each day while the boiling is done to allow for the expansion.

READ YOUR CHARACTER

By DIGBY PHILLIPS

No. 17—The Stiff Upper Lip

On of the most astounding things about character reading is the way in which so many conclusions, scientifically proved by examination of thousands of cases, are found to correspond closely with popular ideas on the subject.

Occasionally the scientific investigation proves the popular idea wrong, but far oftener, almost overwhelmingly oftener, it proves it right.

Take the case of the stiff upper lip. You know the expression, "keep a stiff upper lip," and what it means. It means, of course, to be indifferent, impervious to what others think of you through a crisis, to stand pat on your own judgment and not be swayed from it.

Actually the long, stiff upper lip denotes permanent personal characteristics almost identical.

This type of lip shows a decided tendency to be independent of what other people think. More than this, there is a certain amount of indifference denoted.

The degree in which these qualities are measured, however, is not entirely by the actual length of the lip between the nose and the red part, but to a large extent by its shape, in profile. If it bulges between the nose and the red part, this independence more likely than not amounts to extreme self-satisfaction. This isn't the conceit that likes flattery. It is a self-contained opinion. When well-controlled, it may well be an asset, but uncontrolled it generally lears you from disaster, despite the efforts of others.

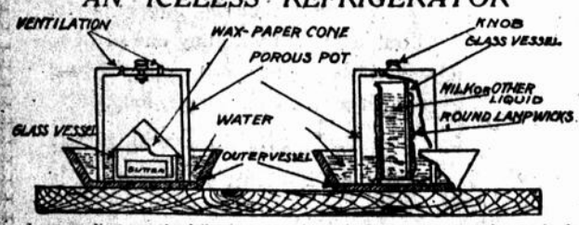
RECORD RAIN FALL.

MONCTON, N.B., July 29. — About an inch of rain fell in less than half an hour's time during a thunderstorm which passed over the city yesterday afternoon. This is the heaviest rainfall experienced here in the same length of time for some years.

AN ICELESS REFRIGERATOR



I am sending you the following contrivance, which will be found useful, and will help to cut down the expense of the ice-man.

The device is to keep small edibles, such as butter, milk, etc., cool, without using ice. Referring to the sketch, first obtain a large, shallow, round, earthenware dish, also one a little smaller in diameter, but of the same height, and preferably thin in construction. Next, construct a cone of burlap, to fit on top of this latter vessel. (If the burlap does not hold its shape, a wire frame may be made, and the burlap sewn on). Obtain, from any large electrical supply house, what is known as a porous pot, used in the old-fashioned Daniel battery, it should be large enough to fit loosely over the smaller vessel (see sketch).

In assembling, first place the smaller sized vessel in the larger one, then place the butter etc., in the inner vessel as shown. Next cover this dish with the burlap cone. (The purpose of which is to prevent drops of water from entering the dish.) Finally place the porous pot inverted over the vessel, and pour fresh cold water between the two vessels, as shown in the sketch, which is self-explanatory. The top of the porous-pot may have a small hole drilled and a small handle attached (such as are used for lids of cooking utensils) if desired, and small ventilation holes may also be made, although these are not absolutely necessary.

A similar cooler may be made for liquids such as milk, etc., instead of the shallow inner vessel, a tall thin glass vessel should be used, and round lamp-wicks, such as are used for oil-heaters, should be fitted on the outside of this vessel as shown. A correspondingly taller porous-pot will be necessary, and the rest of the procedure is same as before.

In both these cases an unglazed flower-pot may be used, but not with such satisfactory results as the porous-pot. The action is simply a capillary one, the porous-pot slowly drawing the water up and vaporizing it, at the same time lowering the temperature within, and cooling the containing substance.

Although the results are not quite the same as if ice were used, the food may be kept moderately hard. The little labor and expense required to build this device is amply repaid by the convenience and saving gained. —"Archimedes."

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

By JAMES J. MONTAGUE

THE MAN WHO KNEW HOW.

The cave man, when he found his wife was weary of her narrow life,
And now and then on other men
Bestowed caressing glances,
Did not sit down and tear his hair, and wail in accents of despair,
"As soon as she gets her decree
She'll wed the man she fancies."

Instead, he told her to behave or he would shut her in the cave;
And if she sighed or cried or tried
To see her handsome lover,
He made no argument at all but took a hammer from the wall,
And with its aid he quickly made
A faithful help-mate of her.

Divorce courts then were quite unknown; a lady in the Age of Stone
Had little chance for fresh romance,
Once she was safely married.
She soon discovered it would pay to love and honor and obey
The man she wed till he was dead
And most securely buried.

Our modern lovers wed and part, then make a fresh domestic start,
Get sick of that when it falls flat,
And once again they sever.
The simple honest cave-man's course would do away with all divorce,
But those old ways, like those old days
Are gone, alas, forever!

A HUSBAND TO MARCIA

By CAROLYN BEECHER

CHAPTER XLII.

Muriel Doran had come close to John Aldrich's life, its longing, its every frustration. She had sensed this and it had touched understanding in her, and sympathy, which they tell us is akin to love, and which we know often precedes love.

Muriel was about thirty years old, yet she looked younger than Marcia, who was now about twenty-seven. Marcia's lines of discontent, a certain peevishness which had developed about her mouth, had in a way aged her, without making her lose her prettiness appreciably. In opposition Muriel's face was always reposeful and her smiling eyes gave a look of youth in spite of her usual seriousness.

John wondered why Muriel never had married. He could not imagine a man, free, knowing her, and passing her by. While in the same moment Marcia, young, arrogant, making her exorbitant demands, so easily and selfishly swayed by her desires, would appear before him, making the comparison odious, regardless of the effort John made to refrain from criticising his wife or comparing her with another.

At times Marcia's selfishness, her inherent love of ease, and luxury even, when she knew it was beyond their means to gratify, annoyed him so that he would speak sharply to her, or leave her without a word, fearing that if he spoke he would say too much.

At such times Marcia would weep and wail with nearly the same abandon as when they were first married. But with a far opposite effect upon John.

It was noticeable at such times that John's thoughts flew to Muriel. She was the one woman in the world for him, and the fates had ordained they never could be anything more than friends. She could, from the sheer depth of her nature, influence him to finer things. At times he longed to tell her that he loved her, almost sure that she cared. But his very love held him back. He could give her nothing, be nothing to her. It would be cruel to disturb her, and another thing, if he confessed his love he would not be able to see her, be with her even as he now was. So he strangled the impulse and they met as friends—nothing more.

There was within him, had been for a long time, the crying need for companionship, for the understanding Muriel Doran gave him. He could not afford now to lose that companionship, to break the frail bond between them by showing the craving he had for something more.

John would remain away from Muriel until the longing to see her became overpowering. Then, making excuse that he wanted to add something to his collection, he would steal away from the office for an hour, choosing the time of day when she was liable to be not too busy, and talk with her of the merits of this or that piece of china, while he feasted himself upon her sweet face and gloated over the tones of her voice.

Occassionally now he would buy some small bit of china, always with a feeling of doing something he could not afford. But he could not keep on going to the shop without buying. It would make the reason for his visits too plain.

Marcia resented this occasional buying of china, just as she had resented it from the first. Even more so perhaps. Because with John's indulgence had developed within her a feeling that he owed her, rather to her enjoyment, everything he had. And she took no pleasure in his china. Indeed it was an ever present thorn in her flesh.

This was exaggerated after a brother collector had spent some time with John one evening and Marcia had overheard much of their conversation, including the value of the small collection John had made.

She was astounded. All that money for a lot of old china, when she wanted so many things; needed them in fact. By the time the collector left, she had worked herself up into a perfect passion of self-pity because she was denied what she wished for, so that John might tie up a lot of money in that senseless china.

"I am astonished at you, John Aldrich!" she commenced when the door closed after their guest.

"What have I done?" good-naturedly, asked John.

"I heard what Mr. Norton said. The idea of your spending all that money on china."

"You heard him give the value of my collection, not what I paid for it."

"You could sell it for the figure he named, couldn't you?"

"I could, yes. But I never shall."

"And I have to scrimp and save in all sorts of ways while you have a lot of junk that would give me things I need. Suppose the house should burn or something."

"My collection is insured."

"Another silly expense. Don't you dare talk economy to me, John Aldrich, now that I know what that junk would bring. I am through economizing so you can waste money on things like that! Money that belongs to me because I am your wife!"

THE WONDERFUL OLD STONE WALL.

Little Pete, the lost baby of Peter Rabbit, wondered where he was for as yet he was not fully awake. He was in a snug little room with walls of stone, quite dark but for the little bar of golden sunshine which, coming in at the doorway, had wakened him. For a minute or two he lay blinking at the little ray of sunshine. Then all in a flash he remembered. He was in the old stone wall to which Danny Meadow Mouse had brought him the night before. All the sleepy winks left him. He was sure from what he had seen of it in the dark that it must be a wonderful place, and he just couldn't stay still a minute longer when there was so much to see.

Like a jack-in-a-box Little Pete got his head up out of the opening through which he had crawled to his queer resting place. "Oh!" he gasped. "Oh, isn't it wonderful!" Then for a long time he sat without moving, just his head sticking out between the stones, his big eyes opened their very widest, and his two little ears pointed straight up.

In one direction as far as he could see lay the piled up stones of the old wall, with vines covering them in places and bushes and tall weeds growing up on both sides. It was just the same in the other direction. In front of him was a little fringe of bushes, and looking between them he could see the waving grass of the Green Meadows. Was there ever such a wonderful place for a little Rabbit to play in? It was even better than the dear Old Briar Patch.

Little Pete forgot that he was lost and alone. He itched with curiosity in every hair of his furry coat. Curiosity to peek into every nook and cranny of the old stone wall and to find all the splendid hiding places he was sure must be there. But first he must fill his stomach, for it was empty, and there would be no fun exploring on an empty stomach. So very carefully he picked his way to the edge of the Green Meadows, and with eyes and ears and wabbly little nose on guard for danger, he soon found enough tender sweet clover to fill his stomach. Then he scampered back to explore the old stone wall.

"Hello!" exclaimed a sharp voice.

Little Pete gave a startled jump. Sitting on one of the biggest stones of the old wall was a pert, saucy-looking stranger. He was not very big, and Little Pete concluded that he couldn't be an enemy.

"Hello," he replied. "Who are you?"

The stranger grinned. "My, but you are green!" he exclaimed. "Who am I? Why I thought that everybody knew me. I'm Striped Chipmunk. What are you doing around my stone wall?"

"I—I didn't know that it was your stone wall," faltered little Pete. Danny Meadow Mouse brought me here, and said that I could hide here as long as I wanted to. He didn't tell me that it belonged to any one. Will you mind if I stay here a little while?"

Striped Chipmunk had just opened his mouth to reply when another voice broke in. "Don't you mind what that fellow tells you," it said. "He doesn't own the old stone wall any more than you do. He's just trying to scare you."

Little Pete and Striped Chipmunk both looked up to see the bright eyes of Tommy Tit, the Chickadee, twinkling down at them. Striped Chipmunk made up a face at Tommy Tit.

"I guess it's mine as much as any one's," said he.

"It isn't any one's; it's every one's," retorted Tommy.

Striped Chipmunk winked at Little Pete. "Have it your own way, Tommy," said he. "I guess there's room for all of us. Come on," he added to Little Pete, "and I'll show you what it is like."

And so he did. There wasn't any hole in its whole length that he didn't know about, and Little Pete found it even more wonderful than he had thought.

"It's perfectly splendid! I think I'd like to live here always," he cried at last.

Next Story — "Over the Old Stone Wall."

"Have it your own way, Tommy," said he.

HEALTH TALKS

By JOHN B. HUBER, A.M., M.D.

A CHEERING SIGHT TO SEE.

I am writing on one of those 90 degrees in the shade days—precisely 91 degrees. I happen to glance across the way and lo, what do I behold! A hero is that he is a defier of the conventions. A man handsomely clad—without a hat and without a coat and vest—neatly dressed in a negligee shirt and a soft collar, the loose ends of his tie coquetting with the hot breeze. His trousers were neatly belted.

Now isn't that the only sensible way for a man to go about on a hot day? With a light straw perhaps, if you are bald, to keep the flies "offen" that shining and moistening surface, to which it must be as tempting as it is to a Hibernian having his shillalah handy. In villages and towns men naturally go that way; why not the most of us mere men in the city street? It does require nerve, doesn't it, to take part in such an innovation? But we'll get around to it in time. Our fathers will remember that no "gent" would go about even in summer time without a frock coat and a heavy high hat. But who dresses like that nowadays, except perhaps, a colored clergyman?

Every summer these ten years past I have written on this subject, and the only person I have ever known to take any notice of this produce of my poor pen has been a gentleman who wrote me from Manila in the Philippines. How welcome was this hand thus extended to me across the seas!

My friend (first time I ever heard from or of him, and I hope some day to shake hands with him) wrote that after living some years in Manila (where the people are thinly clad in white clothes in summer) he travelled to New York where he put on a wool suit, "same as the New Yorkers and he didn't want to appear eccentric." Thus clad, he suffered so much that he dared to change to a white suit, clean and starched, to find he was making himself quite conspicuous. People seemed to think him a "nut" just because he was making himself comfortable.

Every summer the rest of my life I am going to keep on writing an article on this subject. And if I live long enough I shall expect to see a map on a public street in summer time wearing a coat and a hat—I shall expect to see such a man pointed out derisively by his fellow citizens as the prime "nut" of the dogday season.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS DOES NOT HEAL

I have a very bad ulcer on my left leg. It has been bothering me for five years; it was caused from broken veins. I have had a number of doctors, they can heal it up but it breaks down in three weeks' time.

Answer—This is a most painful malady. The varicose veins break down and the ulceration results. The trouble is cured for the time being, but only partly so because the patient will not (perhaps cannot) keep off her feet until the healing is entire. The varicose ulcer will not keep healed otherwise. The leg must be constantly bandaged from foot to knee, and the patient has got to lie abed for at least a month—to keep the blood from congesting the inflamed part.

A Scotch farmer was selling wool one day. After weighing it he went into the house to make out an invoice. When he came back he missed a cheese that had been standing on a shelf behind the outer door, and glancing at the bag of wool, he observed that it had suddenly increased in size.

"Man, said he to the wool buyer, "I maist clean forgot the weight o' that bag. Let's put it on the scales once mair."

The other could not well refuse. The bag was, of course, found to be heavier by the weight of the cheese inside. A new invoice was made out and the crestfallen buyer went his way.

At once the farmer's wife missed the cheese, and, rushing to the yard, told her husband that some thief had taken it.

"No, no, Sarah," replied the former quietly, I have just sold the cheese for 2 shillin's the pound."

BOY DIES TRYING TO SAVE BROTHER

WINNIPEG, July 29. — Gordon and Cyril Taylor, 9 and 5 years of age respectively, sons of Fred Taylor, of this city, were drowned in the Red River yesterday afternoon. Gordon lost his life when making a gallant effort to save his little brother, who had slipped off a scow on which the lads were playing.

EXPECT TO CLEAR UP ROBBERY.

WINDSOR, July 29. (Star Special)—Within the next twenty-four hours it is expected that the Petite Cote bank robbery of last week, when $18,000 was taken from the Merchants Bank branch in that village, will have been cleared up. Provincial authorities and Walkerville police have devoted themselves almost entirely to the task of solving the robbery and at one place raided today. It is reported that $4,000 in Merchant Bank bills was found hidden behind a picture on a wall.

A NEW "LIGHT" IN "ASIA."

THE rumor that the British Government is thinking of cancelling the trade treaty with Soviet Russia may not be all "moonshine." The Greek victories in Asia Minor have reduced the value of that agreement very considerably. It was primarily—as well-informed people knew all along—not a trade treaty at all, but an effort to buy the Bolsheviki into an abandonment of their poisonous propaganda in Central Asia. The experienced British officials probably did not expect it to work very well; but it was better than nothing and might at least slow down the "gas attack" by compelling the Moscow Government to conceal any support of it.

The chief danger point was, of course, the Kemalite movement. That possessed an armed and highly patriotic force which could offer to inflamed Moslem feeling a practical backing. Mustapha Kemal had soldiers and guns to put at the disposal of any Mohammedan uprising against the rule of the "Christian oppressor," and he thus constituted the western wing of this new Moslem area of discontent as the Amir of Afghanistan constituted the eastern. Consequently an alliance between Moscow and Kemal was full of menace; and the British Government very wisely sought to let some of the fire out of the Soviet section of the threatened conflagration.

But the gallant Greeks have now punctured the Kemalite section. There is no Turkish fortress left from which a Soviet-Moslem movement could emerge to menace British Asia. So the British probably care much less about placating the Soviets.

Then we publish today a most heartening rumor from Calcutta, to the effect that the Indian leader of unrest, Mr. Ghandi, has come to an understanding with Lord Reading that the Nationalists will make a sincere effort to work the new British scheme of self-government. If this really means the stilling of discontent in India, and the slow removal of all the rancour that arose during and after the war, then that part of the British Empire which is by far the most vulnerable to Moslem excitement and religious appeal, will have been rendered locally immune; and we shall care even less about the activities of Lenin or the power of Kemal.

The British are again proving their genius for government. They may have had to employ some hasty and unhappily rough methods during the war when there was no time for finesse or argument; but, now that the stress of the struggle for existence is over, they have the leisure and the opportunity to apply their ancient solvents of conciliation and compromise. They have achieved at least an armistice in Ireland; and every humane observer hopes that these two islands will reach a basis of lasting peace, founded securely on mutual trust. Here they seem to have won over the embittered Indian factions to give a trial to their recently devised Home Rule scheme. This is not only important, but vital. In the long run, the British Empire cannot keep populous India within the family circle unless the leaders of Indian opinion want to stay there.

Egypt is still disturbed, but the trouble seems to be more between two Egyptian factions than with the British officials. Before the war, Egypt was a model of calm and content; and we have no doubt that a similar peace will again be established in the valley of the Nile. The British occupation of Palestine and the shattering of the power of Turkey have removed one menace from the future of Egypt. The ambitious Egyptian will no longer fear that the withdrawal of the British might mean the arrival of the tax-gatherers and tyrants of the Turkish Empire. But civilized and peaceful Egypt must still fear the fierce tribes to its south in the Soudan, and it will come to appreciate the British presence as a guarantee against devastating and murderous raids on its southern settlements.

It is just as well to pause a moment and remember how much we owe to the Greek armies which have won a most difficult campaign amidst the mountains of Asia Minor. They have dispelled a real danger to British policy from the Suez to the China Sea. It would be very foolish to permit our quite excusable feeling against King Constantine—who is certain to reap a lot of glory from this succession of victories—to obscure our rejoicings over the strategic skill and the high courage of the Greek soldiers. They have won a campaign of more value—to us at all events—than the capture of Troy.

There is nothing so good to the human heart as well-agreed conversation; better than wine, better than sleep, like love itself—for love is agreement of thought.—Richard Jeffries.

THE PATRONAGE CURSE.

IT is to the credit of the Administrative Commission—which will soon go out of office—that it has done much to abate the patronage evil, and the electors should see to it, at the forthcoming elections, that men of such calibre are placed in office that a continuance of present improved conditions will be assured. If we drift back to old and discredited methods the man with the ballot will be alone to blame. The patronage menace has crippled the finances of other cities than Montreal. A commission appointed in the United States to report on the general ramifications of patronage in cities has compiled an interesting document in regard to the matter. It declares that when the average American city increases its population by some three hundred thousand, it means adding a disproportionate increase in the municipal payrolls. About one-third of the entire revenue is consumed in salaries; only about one-eighth of the income is used to purchase supplies.

The latter small amount is usually pretty closely safeguarded; while the enormous expenditure represented by the payrolls, is distributed with a free and easy hand—and is entirely without the checks which safeguard the purchase of supplies. It is shown, for instance, that if a thousand dollars' worth of cement is needed the usual procedure is first to call for tenders. In due course they are opened with proper ceremony. When the material is finally purchased it is checked by the storekeepers and receipted for by the superintendent. Later on the warrant for the paying passes through five hands and receives numerous seals and signatures.

But very different is the custom when an employe is to be added to the payroll. An alderman sends an applicant to the head of a department and asks that he be placed as "quickly as possible." The man gets his job in short order, often without any examination as to his qualifications. His pay may range from a thousand to two thousand a year.

The striking advice of those who compiled the report is that such intelligent interest should be shown, by the electors, in the administration of their cities that the patronage evil would become unworkable. This advice is peculiarly applicable to Montreal.

"THE BRITISH ASS."

DEAN INGE of St. Paul's is a British institution. He is part and parcel of the Motherland, like the Oxford and Cambridge boat race, Piccadilly and Bass Ale. He tempers profound learning with a piquant wit. He has the melancholy humor of Jacques and those who do not understand him call him "gloomy." He is abused and disliked because he tells people unpleasant things which come true, just as the weather glass is scolded for foretelling rain. Dean Inge appears sad because he believes that his native land, for which he has a deep and abiding affection, is in the midst of a series of grave disorders. You might just as well expect a man to cut capers at a funeral or a clown to continue his buffoonery after the tent had caught fire as to expect roseate hopes and glad words about the future of the British Isles from Dean Inge. "The country is going to the demnition bow-wows," and he knows it, and he spends his days and nights "like a voice crying in the wilderness" against the coming Judgment Day.

Dr. Inge has once more raised the anger of the men and women who do not understand him by declaring that the Englishman is a very good fellow, but a very stupid one. He likens him to an ass, and with a delightfully subtle wit he recalls the words of Job in contemplating Behemoth. "He is the chief of the works of God and who can measure the thickness of his skull?" Now, thick skulls often go with thin skins and the average Briton seems to be encased with a most sensitive tissue. England has not readily forgiven Mark Train for irreverently declaring that whenever he looked upon a colored map of the British possessions, his belief in the Gospel was re-confirmed; for was it not written "The meek shall inherit the earth?"

Plunging and laboring like a great Behemoth through the pages of history, the British nation seems to have built its strength and its prosperity on a series of the blunders that are worse than crimes, only to emerge from the waters that are muddied by his own flounderings as more formidable and more imposing on land and water than ever before.

Just as formidable, indeed, and just as imposing, but as unteachable, as obstinate and as intractable. "Who shall measure the thickness of his skull?" He has wealth in abundance and resources seemingly inexhaustible. He is set at the very cross roads of all ocean routes to which Admiral Mahan tells us he owes his Empire and his Sea supremacy. The ripe fruits of the earth are his for the picking. But who can keep toll of his blunders and his wilfulness?

Today he is staggering under a crushing financial burden because he trusted the Hun against the experience of centuries, because by some freakish chivalry he refused to believe that the guests in his house were lying and scheming to overthrow him. Today the trade of his own country is in dire peril because while he trusted the German stranger a decade ago there is no mutual trust among his own folk today. He has sought to govern Ireland by force for seven centuries, although century after century has revealed the hopelessness of such a method. He has brandished the sword and the policeman's truncheon when soft words would have availed and has been kind and conciliatory when the iron hand was needed. He pats himself on the back as the model of all democracies and the finest exponent of self-government, and Ireland musses up his backyard. He loves his neighbors violently one hour and breaks violently with them the next. He will head the list of subscriptions for some prostrate foe and leave his own defenders to suffer want. There is no half way with him between quixotic idealism and blinding materialism. He either gives his guest the best chamber in the house or he kicks him downstairs.

So the Dean says, and says truly, that for all these things he is foolish. Well, let it be so. Dean Inge is too broad a scholar not to have been caught by the lines of Chesterton to the Ass—

"Fools! For I, too, had my hour;
One short, fierce hour and sweet.
There was a shout about my ears
And palms about my feet."

Who can foretell the future. It may be that on the back of the patient and long-suffering British nation the world may ride into the streets of the New Jerusalem to the singing of hosannas manifold.

THE WORLD'S PRESS

The Teachings of History.

London Daily Chronicle: It is not only supremely important that the masses on whom Governments in the last resort depend, should be educated, but also that they should be specially versed in the historical lessons of their own and other countries. No other subject is more educative; none is more necessary to the civic life of today—yet in most of the schools of England history is still abominably taught. It is really of incalculable importance for the future of this country.

Making the Movies Useful.

Los Angeles Times: In Holland the Government is furnishing films to the people on an educational plan. The citizens are shown how to act under various circumstances. Pictures indicate what to do in case of fire and accident and how to behave at a banquet or a funeral. The humblest citizen can be taught how to manicure himself in seven lessons on the screen. The extension of human knowledge through the medium of the movies is just beginning to be understood.

A New Star in the Firmament.

The Villager: A new name is rising in the world. We have long heard of General Smuts, but he has heretofore been merely an important national figure. He may never be anything more. But he is a young man yet, and in the past year his prestige has been mounting with that inexplicable acceleration which often prefaces the coming of genius into its own; there is no particular reason for it, but of late General Smuts' name is found on every other page, he is mentioned for every other embassy, and men in many places are considering how to harness up his influence to their plans. It may be only a little wave, soon to break upon the shore of Time. But it is alluring to think that after a silence of more than twenty centuries, another world figure may come out of Africa. Hannibal, too, was the son of a colony planted by world-famous traders.

Preachings and Performances.

Hong Kong Press: Urged, no doubt, by the Anti-Opium organizations and the attention which is given to the question by the League of Nations, the President of China issues from time to time fulminations against the recrudescence of the traffic. A mandate was issued last year, and another about ten days ago. This last one says that owing to local disorganization the former mandate has not been faithfully observed in some parts of the country, and it emphasizes the Government's determination to see that it is strictly carried into effect in future. The Mandate adds that Special Commissioners will be sent to the provinces to enquire into to cultivation of poppy and the traffic in drugs, and threatens severe punishment for local officials who do not observe the anti-opium measures already introduced. These threats are not new, and experience gives us little reason to hope that the latest fulmination will prove a whit more effective than its predecessors.

Japan and the Conference.

New York Evening Post: It may very well be that Tokio wants preliminary assurances in regard to the general program, just as it has been suggested from London that opinion there favors preliminary discussion. But this much is obvious: If Japan should enter the conference with a caveat against extending the armament question into a Far Eastern question, she would find herself at a distinct disadvantage. Great Britain has accepted the call unreservedly. So has China. We have, therefore, only to imagine the United States, England and China sitting down to discuss the Pacific and the Far East out of the conference, she has seen that this would mean Japanese isolation, an almost certain rupture of the alliance with Great Britain, and its replacement by an Anglo-American understanding, with China as the lesser partner. If it is really Japan's intention to keep the Far East out of the conference, she has already been outmanoeuvred. No matter with what purpose she enters the discussions on the Far East, enter she obviously must.

False Teachers.

London Morning Post: The strength of countries like France and Italy in the end depends upon their peasant populations, and the soil is the great disciplinarian of the world. But in an industrial country like ours great masses of the people never get near the soil, so they have to depend for their souls' health on other teachers. But what if the teachers are teaching false doctrine, if they are enervating instead of fortifying their pupils, if their gospel is the gospel of flabbiness and not of virility? The people of this country have been told to be audacious. Well, beggars are audacious. They have been told that they are heroes. The popular idea of a hero is a gentleman who swaggers and does nothing. These are not the cries by which we can be inspired to overcome the crisis. For we are living in a time of crisis. We won the war, but at a terrible price, and it will require all the traditional spirit of the English race, all the discipline so carefully bequeathed to us by our forefathers, all the energy and resolution of which we are capable, to rise above the ills which beset us.

Say Not, the Struggle Naught Availeth.

Say not the struggle naught availeth,
The Labor and the wounds are vain,
The enemy faints not, nor faileth,
And as things have been they remain.

If hopes were dupes, fears may be liars;
It may be in yon smoke concealed
Your comrades chase e'en now the fliers,
And, but for you, possess the field.

For while the tired waves, vainly breaking,
Seem here no painful inch to gain,
Far back, through creeks and inlets making,
Comes silent, flooding in, the main.

And not by eastern windows only,
When daylight comes, comes in the light;
In front, the sun climbs slow, how slowly,
But westward look, the land is bright.

—Arthur Hugh Clough.

LEGENDS OF DANTE

LEGENDS often have some foundation on truth. Many great men have become victims of stories about their life, which, although not entirely true if taken one by one, are apt to give a fair idea of the individual's general character when considered as a whole. Dante, the sixth centenary of whose death the world will commemorate next September, is no exception. The so-called average man of his time and after was unable to understand him fully unless the poet was shown him through a fantastic and legendary representation. Hence the legend flourished abundantly around Dante.

While he was a guest at the Scaligeri, the Seigneurs of Verona, a jester of the Court said to Dante: "How is it that I, although so uneducated, am richer than you, great and learned poet, are?" Dante replied him: "When I shall find a prince similar to me, as you have found one similar to you, then I shall be even richer than you are now."

* * *

At the Court of the same Seigneurs of Verona the jester was making both Prince and guests laugh, but Dante, who was there too, evidently annoyed, remained lonely and thoughtful in a corner. Cangrande, the prince, approached him and asked him why he had not joined the conversation and did not enjoy the funny jester. "Why?" he said. "Why? Because simillia simillibus congregantur. You and your company feel happy together because you are alike one another. I don't"

* * *

This incident might have happened either in Florence's Santa Maria Novella, or in Ravenna's Church of San Francesco; Dante was attending mass and did not kneel down, as other people there did at the elevation of the consecrated wafer. Somebody took pains to report this would-be offense to the bishop, and the bishop sent for Dante questioning him: "What were you doing while the sacramental wafer was being raised?" Dante answered plainly: "Verily I do not now remember what I was doing in that moment because my attention was turned entirely to God. But these people who are accusing me could tell you, as they undoubtedly had their eyes turned to me rather than to God."

* * *

Guido Novello da Polenta, Seigneur of Ravenna, offered Dante hospitality for the last few years of his earthly life, and Dante enjoyed the friendship and confidence of that good prince, who once sent him as a special ambassador to Venice. In this latter city the Doge invited him at an official dinner. There was fish that day, and Dante was given a dish holding some aquatic animals of much smaller size than the other guests. The Poet was rather disappointed, and, after some hesitation, took one of them and put it to his ear as if listening. The Doge in seeing that asked him why he did it.

"My father was drowned in the nearby sea"—Dante said—"and I was just asking the little fish whether he knows anything about his death."

"And what did the fish answer you?"

"He said that on account of his being so young he is unable to give me any information; but he adds some of the older fishes that are here to-day would surely be able to do so."

The joke was promptly answered by giving Dante an enormous fish. But whether he was able to eat it all the legend does not say.

* * *

Dante's memory was phenomenal. On hot days he used to rest on the square of Santa Maria del Fiore in Florence, on a particular place called Dante's stone. A man approached him one afternoon and asked the Poet to help him frame an answer to a certain friend who had just questioned him on what the most exquisite bit was. "An egg," said Dante.

The man, apparently satisfied, went away.

One full year later, the same man approached him in the same place and asked him abruptly: "Seasoned with—?"

"With salt," Dante replied briefly.

* * *

Dante's complexion was dark, and women of Verona said as they saw him passing by: "See the man who goes to Hell and comes back whenever he likes! See how dark he has been made by the infernal smoke and warmth!"

* * *

The oldest manuscript of his Divina Commedia now existing goes as far back as 1337, (only sixteen years after the Poet's death, which occurred in 1321,) and at present belongs to Prince Trivulzio of Milano. The Hoepli Publishing Co. of Milano has just published an ellotipic reproduction (150 numbered copies only) of this manuscript, which is a perfect imitation in every particular of the original's sheets, color, binding and general tone. This manuscript was written by Ser Francesco di Ser Nardo da Barberino, and the poor man seems to have done such a work with the sole object of securing by the sale of it, a dowry for his many daughters.

Whether he did secure money enough for his daughter's dowry the story does not say. But it is unquestionable that he would today, if he could come to life again and claim the property of the precious document. Too bad there was no copyright at that time.

R. DE PIERRO

THE SHIP AT SEA

By DR. FRANK CRANE

An ocean liner is a symbol of this planet.

Here we are, a little speck in an infinite sea. All about us is the wide blue of the waters. Not a ship is in sight for days.

So the globe on which we live swings through boundless space, speeding on, as the ship speeds.

Here is a group of people — men, women, and children. We never saw them before. We don't know why they came. And we get acquainted, somehow.

So when we come into this earthly life we find family, schoolmates, fellow citizens, the whole motley of human companionship. We never chose them. Our problem is one of enforced intimacies.

Destiny picks our relatives as our fellow passengers to Europe. And we must do the best we can.

At night we may sit in the saloon, where there is light, the chatter of voices, music and laughter, warmth and home likeness.

We go out upon the deck. It is dark. It is raining, and the sharp wind dashes the drops in our face. Around us nothing but inky darkness and the roar and swish of the waves as the huge vessel ploughs through.

A feeling of our insignificance invades us. What are we, fragmentary motes amidst the swirl of cosmic forces and mass?

The same feeling has come to us at night when we have stepped out of the house and shut the door and looked up at the sky. Within, in warmth, love, certainty, content. Without is the tremendous unknown.

Man is a home-making animal. It is in the home he lives his life. There he expands, his emotions flower, his ideas take shape, his vanities and sins flourish.

Over against the sky, the ocean, the universe, he is crushed.

And on the ship is the constant unconsciousness of danger. It crops out in sailor speech. "When will we land at Plymouth?" "Oh, Thursday—if we have luck." A mariner allows himself no certainties.

A hundred whatifs keep poking into your mind. What if we strike a mine, or break machinery, or explode a boiler, or run into a derelict?

It is all very much as the dim dangers of earthquake, fire, revolution, lightning, cyclones, and accidents back home.

Danger! Life means danger. No one anywhere knows he will live till tomorrow.

The secret of Life is not to be Safe. It is to be Unafraid.

TOMATO ON A TRAY.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—Through the medium of your paper, in your various editorials in the past, this city and perhaps other cities in Canada have benefited a great deal in the lowering of price of many commodities used in every household. On visiting a St. Catherine Street restaurant, about five weeks ago, I was more than surprised when asking for one tomato, that the charge for same was twenty-five cents. On a subsequent visit to the same place, which was only a week ago, and in making inquiries, I found that they still charge twenty cents for one tomato. I believe that this is profiteering in its highest form, when a consumer has to pay twenty cents for a tomato and has to serve himself by carrying the tray, while tomatoes can be bought at three cents a piece in the grocery store.

DAILY READER.

MILITARY BANDS.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—In answer to the letter of C. B. Price, soliciting sympathy, because the engagement of the Royal Montreal Regimental Band at Dominion Park was cancelled, through the efforts of the Local Musicians' Union; he states that they all, without exception, work at commercial or industrial avocations for a living, and most of them belong to the union connected through their trade. Then why try to take an engagement from a professional union musician, who is making his living at music, especially in these hard times, with most of the theatres closed, and about 500 musicians out of employment, many returned men amongst them? When the Grenadier Guards Band take an engagement there is no question; because they are all union musicians, and the majority of that band, work at a commercial or industrial avocation for a living. A union delegate was invited to address the band, to point out the advantages by the band joining the union and to take advantage of the reduced membership fee, $30 a man less than the writer, who is also a returned man. Certainly the only way for a band to progress is to give all the concerts it wants to, but not at unfair prices and in competition with the musician who is making his living at music only. Live and let live! The union is not interfering with the work they are making their living by, so why try to take our living from us? C. B. Price says, "the bandsmen have been deprived of a helpful augmentation of their wages in these hard times." He says nothing about taking the weekly living wage away from the union musician. Perhaps no other band would care to play in Westmount Park at the unfair price these bandsmen are getting. Some of these bandsmen are union musicians, and not all are returned men.

RETURNED SOLDIER.

"MADE IN GERMANY."

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—I am glad to see that your paper is endeavoring to bring before the proper parties the crying need for something to be done in connection with the Un-employment Problem. It is extremely difficult for the public to realize without having the matter brought repeatedly to their attention that the present position is unlike any other and for this reason it is more trying to those who are unfortunate enough to find themselves without work.

For a long time it was the apparent attitude of capital and labor that the other was responsible for present conditions. Lately, however, one does not see this breach, and while at present there does not appear to be exactly co-operation, at least it is a good sign when they are each endeavoring to get at the cause.

As one who was in England last summer when it was becoming very apparent that Germany was recovering — not slowly, but very rapidly—and endeavoring to dump her goods on England in order to cause economic disaster, it has occurred to me that if both capital and labor would co-operate and seek the cause of our financial depression and resultant loss of revenue, it might be proved that we are receiving through other countries similar quantities of German goods. It is not necessary to stamp them "made in Germany." The mark is quite recognizable to me and I am willing to state that in Montreal at the present time there are quantities of boots and shoes, millinery, hosiery, cutlery, leather goods, women's neckwear and other articles of apparel which were manufactured in that country and which have caused the demand for "made in Canada" goods to become almost a negligible quantity.

It seems to me that if ever we required the co-operation of all parties we do so now, and it should be the aim of capital and labor to awaken to the fact that while they have been crying "Wolf!" Germany has been working nine hours a day, of which one hour a day was conscripted by the State. If a Board of Commerce—out of the hands of a Government, if possible—could be created, it might be proved that we are being economically strangled by the octopus which still has many ways of endeavoring to ruin the Allies, and when one fails, is resourceful enough to use another.

CURIOUS EVE.

FOOD PRICE MANIPULATION.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—We have had it generously hammered into us, time and again, that it is very wrong to criticize or attack the methods of a food manufacturer in putting upon the market some article that quickly enriches him.....so long as his product is, even, of a comparative benefit to a dependent community. Theoretically, and in times of plenty, this might be passable doctrine, but.....with One Hundred and Forty Thousand people out of work, in Canada, and hunger facing many more.....Theories go by the board and a little quiet and thorough investigation is decidedly in order. In a morning paper, we read that, "The Un-employment Situation is Very Serious", and that "A Scheme of Federal, Provincial, and Municipal Co-operation is Being Sought"—all of which is very good, as far as it goes.

But, if prompt results are desired, if food lines and consequent trouble are to be avoided this coming winter,—why not cut through the roots of the conditions which are likely to lead to bread and meat riots—when navigation, harvesting operations, and other temporary employments will have closed? We know that reduction in the High Cost of Living will make permanent employment more general.

In the past, The Star, single-handed, has accomplished more, through healthy and vigorous investigation and exposure, than all the legislation previously enacted. When healthy cattle bring the farmer four dollars per hundred pounds, as it has done in many many instances, and beef retails for from 22 to 40 cents per pound in the average city shop, the time for investigation and action, by the "Star", would appear to have arrived.

It has been stated that, as a basic industry, the production of food reflects conditions with fair accuracy. This is not altogether correct. Professional "hog" and beef buyers point to occasional prices paid for raw material, in the more congested producing districts, as indicative of the general prices paid to the producer.

A little careful, discreet, and competent investigation of actual conditions in the more remote and productive hog and cattle raising centres will prove the existence of "take-it-or-let-your- cattle-starve" prices to be more general than it is represented. Trace food and other products, from their original sources of supply and the prices obtained for them there,—trace them and their rising prices from the time they leave the producers' hands until they are sold to the consumer, and note the prices then obtained for them. Contrast prices paid to the producer for raw hides with the prices asked, and obtained, for shoes and finished leather goods. Compare the prices paid to the producer for his wool with the prices asked and obtained for clothing. Do that,—and you will find many queer and non-essential practices wedged in between,—practices which call for immediate adjustment.

Bear in mind, also, the ever-increasing amounts of food that, each year, are carted quietly from warehouses to out of the way places and dumped there as un-reclaimable waste. Investigation of Food Production and Consumer's prices, with all that lies in between, is a job of about The Star's size. Elimination of many irresponsible, non-essential, and speculative elements; the establishing of strict Government Supervision of Food Storage and Government regulation of price, —and a decline in the Cost of Living, and consequent Un-employment will naturally follow. And with it, un-mourned, the passing of the unsanitary shops, the indifferent and, sometimes, grudging service, the ill-kept, stock, the fly-specked, wind-streaked, dust-covered windows carelessly and disgustingly decorated with wilted, musty, and decaying foods.

"A little good stock"

The cookery books tell people to use it; and you know what a difference it makes to the tastiness of a soup, a stew, a hash, or a meat pie. But in summer stock is such a trouble to make. It is far better to use Bovril. Bovril gives the dish a delicious flavour.

And there is more real goodness in Bovril than in the richest stock or gravy. Bovril has a body-building power of from 10 to 20 times the amount taken.

"WE KEEP THE QUALITY UP"

Thrilling Duel to Death Between Girl and Big Gambler

Aileen Dulcifer, Known to All Cabaret Habitues, Challenges the Famous Stock Market Operator, John Schmaar, Believing He Is Planning to Swindle the Man She Loves. George Kibbe Turner Reveals the Facts in This Most Curious Case of a Woman's Devotion in These Hectic Days.

One of the most sensational stories of the summer is that involving a death wager between Aileen Dulcifer, known wherever the lights are brightest along Broadway and the Atlantic City Boardwalk as a type of the feminine butterfly that has developed since the war, and John Schmaar, stock market operator and one-time famous Western gambler.

The affair, it seems, had its beginning at the beautiful home of Schmaar, overlooking the Hudson River. It has been the promoter's custom to gather about him there during the summer some of the fluffiest of New York butterflies and whatever man happened to be ripe for his plucking.

Aileen Dulcifer was such a girl, living from day to day on her bridge-winnings, only to be caught at last in the meshes of Schmaar's net along with a young Western mining man by the name of Gladden.

The sensational death-wager between the Dulcifer girl and Schmaar, it appears, developed in the course of a conversation on the terrace of the home, in which Schmaar denied that the modern women—of the class he surrounded himself with by choice—possessed any sense of honor or a shred of real bravery.

The whole story of the affair has now been told in detail by George Kibbe Turner, the famous American author, whose knowledge of Schmaar's past and present life is most minute. Mr. Turner calls his account of the death-compact "Moonlight," because it seems that the effect of moonlight on a certain sort of human being is most definite. The outcome of the wager will be awaited with lively interest by every one who reads the entire story.

No less extraordinary, though less sensational, is the result of the quest of Major Cardon, wealthy man of fashion and ex-soldier, for a certain girl whom he met under unusual circumstances in Chicago. Pursuing her and her mother to the Yellowstone she there denied that she had ever met the Major and fled to Del Monte, California. The quest came to an end there this month under most unusual circumstances. The story of the pursuit of "The Astonishing Suzanne" is told by Emerson Hough, the famous author, who is a friend of all the people concerned.

In neither of these stories, however, is there the same quality of clever detection that develops in the case of "The Mottled Butterfly," all the facts in which are disclosed by the greatest literary detective in the world, Melville Davisson Post. Just how a French police inspector restored to a famous Marquise the pearls that had been stolen from her will capture the imagination of every reader.

In addition to the foregoing you may today read a wonderful capital-and-labor story by Burton Kline, another vivid story of childhood by Booth Tarkington, the story of a feminine crook by John A. Moroso, and a remarkable baseball story by Gerald Beaumont. For they are all to be found—with six other great stories—in the August issue of The Red Book Magazine. At all news-stands—NOW.—Adv.

PRISONERS BETTER FED THAN CAPTORS

Statement of Editor of "Soviet Russia" on U.S. Prisoners in Russia

PRISONER'S LETTER

Says Food is Bad—Details of Conviction and Imprisonment

NEW YORK, July 29. — (United Press)—Details of the conviction and imprisonment of American citizens in Soviet prisons were given out by the American Red Cross and Kenneth Durant, publisher of "Soviet Russia."

A letter from Captain Emmett Kilpatrick, one of the imprisoned Americans, to the Red Cross gave the names of others who were held. It declared the food was bad.

Durant, who investigated the details of the imprisonments, supplied the United Press with the actual charges against the Americans and some of the information given at trials which preceded their imprisonment. He said he had direct information that the Americans were better fed than the Russian commissaries.

A Greek-American named Kalamatiano, who formerly lived near Los Angeles, Cal., is the American imprisoned for the longest period. He was sentenced to death for plotting the overthrow of the Soviet regime in the Lockhart plot, but was never executed.

Mrs. Margaret E. Harrison, Baltimore newspaper woman, is in prison, charged with "double-crossing" Soviet officials. She was first in the employ of "Anti-Soviet forces" and when arrested, it is reported, agreed to enter the intelligence department of the Soviet regime. She was later re-arrested, states a Berlin despatch, when Tchitcherin received information that she had turned against them.

FOUGHT AGAINST SOVIET.

Captain Emmett Kilpatrick, Uniontown, Ala., whose brother, Dr. G. C. Kilpatrick, Mobile, has attempted to obtain his release, was captured on the battlefront with an American nurse, who was later released. At his trial in Petrograd, evidence was introduced to show he fought in the Lithuanian army against the Soviets.

Dr. Estes, New York dentist, was captured with a motion picture man named Flick. At this trial evidence was produced to show that he served in the American intelligence department during the war and had no proper credentials for entering Russia. Flick was arrested on suspicion because he was found with Estes.

The Red Cross letter from Kilpatrick added names of Kelly, imprisoned since May, 1920; Lumare, American citizen, living in Russia, imprisoned six months ago; Solomon P. Conn and Abraham Sheftman, claiming service in the United States army and navy; Hazelwood, American soldier, who was in Siberia with the United States army; Charbereau, Brooklyn, N.Y.; who is said to have a brother in the United States secret service and was imprisoned on suspicion as a spy.

ARREST COUNTY TREASURER.

BOWBELLS, N.D., July 29.—Charged with embezzling $166,000 during his term as county treasurer, Laurence Larsen, farmer, was arrested late Wednesday on a warrant sworn by J. R. Jensen, county treasurer, who succeeded Larsen. Larsen has asked a preliminary hearing and is at liberty upon his own recognizance. County Treasurer Jensen and county auditor C. J. Kopriva charge that Larsen loaned money out of the county to banks and accepted certificates of deposit before leaving office.

STORM LEAVES U.S. TOWNS IN DARKNESS

Telephones Put Out of Commission People Injured in Storm

WORCESTER, Mass., July 29. — Five persons were injured, 400 telephones put out of commission, scores of trees felled, crops damaged, car schedules disarranged, and towns left in darkness by an electrical and wind storm which swept over the eastern and southern section of Worcester county late yesterday.

In Whitinsville an occupant of an automobile was struck by a tree felled by lightning, and suffered concussion of the brain. Two men and a woman were stunned by lightning in Uxbridge and at Oxford a child suffered severe shock.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., July 29. — Damage estimated at several thousand dollars was caused last night throughout western Massachusetts by a terrific storm which tore down trees and paralyzed telephone, telegraph and lighting services. Crops were beaten into the ground in a number of districts.

SUFFIELD, Conn., July 29.—More than one thousand acres of standing tobacco was ruined by a terrific hail and wind storm that swept over Suffield today. The property loss is estimated at between $300,000 and $400,000. Trees were uprooted in many places, blocking the highways, and the hail fell to a depth of six to eight inches in spots.

U.S. RHINE TROOPS NOW TOTAL 13,795

WASHINGTON, July 29. — (United Press.)—There are now 13,795 American soldiers on German soil, according to the statement of Secretary of War Weeks, sent to the Senate yesterday in response to the resolution of Borah, Idaho.

The total cost of maintaining the troops, Weeks' statement showed, was $275,324,192, or $96,649 a month. Of this amount, he said, Germany is responsible for $240,744,511.

CONDEMNED MAN REPRIEVED.

SPRINGFIELD, Ills., July 29—Governor Small, through his office in the Capitol, yesterday granted a reprieve to Carl Wanderer until September 30. Wanderer was sentenced to hang today for the murder of the "ragged stranger" an unidentified man killed in a fictitious hold-up when Wanderer shot and killed his wife.

CANADIANS LAND FISH CATCH IN U.S.

Schooner Awarded War-Time Privileges, Now Revoked

BOSTON, July 29. — In accordance with orders received from Washington late yesterday, the Canadian fishing schooner Helen McLain was allowed to land her catch of 77 swordfish at a Boston pier.

The port authorities earlier in the day had refused such permission, because of the revocation on July 15 of the war-time privileges accorded ships of British registry to market their catch in United States ports.

The advices from Washington said that as long as the Helen McLain was on the fishing grounds when the privilege was revoked she should be exempted.

OTTAWA, July 29. — (Canadian Press.) — The arrangement made at the Canadian-American Fisheries conference in 1918, by which Canadian fishing vessels subject to customs duty enjoyed equal privileges with those of the United States of entering or clearing from American ports and vice versa, lapsed on July 15. This provision was a war measure, conceded with the object of making the utmost use of the resources of the Allied nations, and in common with other war measures, has now been rescinded.

A permanent fisheries treaty has been before the U.S. Congress since 1918, and the subject was under discussion in the Canadian Senate at the last session.

HELP ENFORCE PROHIBITION.

TORONTO, July 29. — The Social Service Council of Ontario, Incorporated, is organized for business as a "clearing house" for information pertaining to breaches of the prohibition law which may come in from friends of prohibition in all parts of the province. Any "tips" coming in will be sent on to the Attorney-General and the ordinary legal machinery to take charge of the prosecution from that stage. Rev. Dr. Geo. C. Pidgeon presides over the Council.

DIED IN AGONY.

HAMILTON, July 29. — A bottle beside him containing a small quantity of wood alcohol bore mute testimony to the cause of the death of John Wallace, whose body was found last evening in a clump of bushes at the head of John street. Wallace had apparently died in violent agony. The police have been unable to locate relatives of the deceased.

CANADA CLUB GIVES DINNER FOR BYNG

New Governor-General Proud to Have Led Canadian Corps

LONDON, July 29. (Canadian Press Cable)—The Duke of Connaught presided at a dinner last night tendered by the Canada Club to Lord Byng, the new Governor-General of Canada, who sails from Liverpool on August 4.

In proposing the toast to His Excellency, the chairman read a message from the Duke of Devonshire, the late Governor-General, wishing his successor nothing better than an experience in Canada as happy as his own had been.

Lord Byng, responding, declared that if Canada as a whole extended to him the same spirit as the Canadian Army Corps in France had while he was its commander he could readily hope that his tenure of office as representative of the King in the Dominion would be successful. If he should prove a failure in the important office to which he has been appointed it would not be because of any lack of affection on his part for the men of the great Dominion, whom he had been proud to lead in war.

Lord Byng concluded by paying a specially complimentary tribute to General Sir Arthur Currie, who succeeded him as commander of the Canadian Army Corps.

CLOUDBURST WIPES OUT SMALL VILLAGE

OMAHA, Neb., July 29.—Two persons were drowned in a cloudburst that practically wiped out Beulah, Wyoming, a village 14 miles west of Spearfish, South Dakota, early yesterday, according to advices reaching Omaha.

The known dead are Mrs. William Bower, Missouri Valley, Iowa, and John Bower, her grandson, Chadron, Nebraska. The two were members of a tourist party which had camped for the night in a canyon near the village.

A relief train has left Chadron. It will be several days before wire communication can be re-established, it is reported.

The Best Thing on Earth

—is earth itself, and every one of its inhabitants should own a piece of it, no matter how small, in his own name even if he leaves nothing else to his children.

If you don't own your piece, it is your own fault, because you can secure a most desirable homesite, or a home itself through us at a price, terms and conditions to suit your own purse.

The time to do it is right now, today, tomorrow or the next day, the last three days of our 36th ANNIVERSARY SALE, so as to get the benefit of the special 25% discount we allow during this great sale.

Our Real Estate Department has broken all previous records for House-and-Lot selling since last Saturday, the inauguration day of this enormous sale. This proves conclusively that not only shrewd Real Estate investors, operators and speculators, but the general public is not slow to grasp a real opportunity, when they see one.

Get busy now, while the sun shines on this golden opportunity. Never mind the heat. Call, phone or mail us the annexed coupon today if you wish any further particulars, and you will receive them by return mail.

To our numerous regular out-of-town customers, who will mail us the following coupon bearing Post mark not later than Saturday August 6th., we will give the full benefit enjoyed by the Citizens of Montreal and vicinity. They should state the amount they wish to invest cash and monthly, quarterly and otherwise, and we will select for them what we consider the best lots available, on receipt of their letter. Orders by wire and long distance phone will receive the same best attention.

A lady the other day reported to the Police that she had thoughtlessly sold to a second hand dealer, among other things, an old pair of slippers in which she had hidden all her jewels! She was advised to and since rented a Safety Deposit Box which cost her less than 2 cents a day, in which she has placed all her valuable papers, precious objects, etc., and is now relieved of all worry regarding their safety.

If you have not yet rented one of these boxes in our modern Fire and Burglar proof Vaults, don't put it off any longer, but secure one today. We have them from $5 a year up.

DEPARTMENTAL STORE SOCCER FEAST--NEW BALL SCHEDULE

U. S. WORLD SCULL CHAMPION AFRAID TO LOSE HIS TITLE

Jack Kelly, of Philadelphia, Will Only Row in the Doubles at Canadian Henely—All the Crews Were in Good Shape

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., July 29.—(Star Special).—There is not much likelihood of Jack Kelly, of Philadelphia, amateur single sculler of the world, going up against Bob Dibble, the Canadian champion, on Saturday. Kelly would have everything to lose and nothing to gain. Kelly is here, but other than rowing with his club mate, Costello, in the senior doubles, will do no active work. It would be same way at the National in Buffalo. Those who claim to know, say he will simply row in the doubles. Dibble expressed himself this afternoon as being in the best of condition and confident of holding the title. The Durnans, of Toronto, and Stacey, of Brockville, are expected to give him a good race.

The Detroit contingent got in at noon yesterday and lost no time getting on to the water. They look very fit. The Argonautts, Dons, Lachines of Montreal, Ottawas, Buffalo, and other crews were also out, though under the fierce rays of the sun it was hard work. The Henley course calmed down as smooth as a mill pond. The St. Catharines end of the arrangements is very good. The first storey of the new club house at Port Dalhousie is completed, and there appears to be ample accommodation for the shells and boats here. In this contingent there is an unique feature; Belyea, the St. John sculler, is using a home-made shell which was made by his brother. Lachine crews put in good day's practice and seem confident of getting something with all their crews.

MUSIC GALORE AT BIG DEPARTMENTAL STORE SOCCER GAME

Frantic Excitement at McGill Stadium When Almy's Defeated Goodwin's Before 2,000 Spectators Last Evening

One has to go a long way back in Montreal soccer to find anything that could duplicate the scenes at the Stadium last evening, when Almy's met and defeated Goodwin's by 2—1. This fixture virtually meant the championship of the Mid-Week League, and Almy's, by their victory, head the table by one point, with one game to play. Fully 2,000 spectators were present, armed with every concelvable instrument of torture to make a row and make their presence felt, and right royally was it all done. But the spectators did not all come from two of Montreal's great departmental stores, in fact the biggest local officials of the game were present, in full anticipation of seeing something out of the ordinary, nor indeed were they disappointed. Goodwin's supporters arrived first, headed by the band of the Royal Montreal Regiment, under Lieut. H. G. Jones, which, after settling themselves on the stand, played music of the best. Almy's followed soon after, nine motor trucks bringing up their supporters, and long before the start, "music," other than supplied by Lieut. Jones' band, filled the air, and refilled it. For were not the most deadly rivals about to take the field, and were both sides not supported by the "fairest of the fair?" The very sight of young ladies armed with club colors sent envy to the hearts of members of clubs in such ordinary walks of soccer as the First and Second Divisions. Truly it was an inspiring sight.

Then came the photographer, and with this finished, the line-up, which was as follows:—

Goodwins.—Capon, Aspinall, Robinson, Peacock, Leith, Callan, Neilson, Gaill, Grossmith, Keenan and Galley.

Almy's.—Munro, Outwin, Witt, Taylor, Cochran, Donachie, Carlisle, Couper, Gilchrist, Franklyn and Casey.

Referee—Harry Roberts.

C. Goodwin kicked off, and then the game went on its way. Galley made for Munro, and hit the net. Almy's paid a quick visit, Casey sending a centre which Aspinall cleared. After pressure on Capon, who seemed a little too cool in letting balls go idly past his post, Goodwin's advanced with pretty forward work, Galley being the most dangerous and prominent man. Just when it looked they would break through, Outwin rushed over and kicked out—a narrow escape. Galley was soon back, centering in grand fashion, but gave Capon an anxious time, but the shots at goal lacked strength. For a time, Goodwin's held the whip hand, and had the inside men shown a little more steadiness when in front, they surely would have scored. Then came Casey's turn, and he led many an Almy's attack, but like Galley, was poorly supported. Gilchrist missed an almost open goal, excitement apparently affecting the players. A myriad of legs tried to put the ball past Capon, and for a minute it looked as if Almy's were sure to score. Then the ball was got rid of, and for a time danger passed. Capon punched out a shot and the ball went to Casey, who ran well in, only to miss a glorious chance. Play compared very favorably with many a senior game of late, even if it did lack the finishing touches, and as for the crowd, they urged on their sides with frantic calls.

Galley was next in the picture with another fine centre, which Outwin met and cleared. Donachie, of Almy's, was a treat, showing all the old tricks of an old hand. From another of Casey's specials, Robinson headed through his own goal, at express speed. Hard luck for Goodwin's, but Almy's deserved a score on the play. End to end play followed, full of excitement, but nothing more was done to half-time, at which stage Almy's led 1—0.

The second period opened hammer and tongs. Outwin headed away a free kick of Goodwin's that looked mighty dangerous. Goodwin's were now having the best of it, and from Galley's centre Neilson missed a grand chance at drawing level. Munro tipped a beautiful shot from Neilson over the bar for a corner. Galley placed this right in front of Munro, and the ball went about three inches over the line before Munro scooped it out. The referee had no other option but to award a goal, and the scene that followed Goodwin's equalizing the score beggars description. They yelled, danced and rattled every kind of rattler, even the man with the trombone added his quota, and the air was full of electricity.

Almy's took due note of all this, but it did not upset them in the least, for they immediately ran off and pressed Capon hard. Play went to midfield, and Almy's bagks lay too far up. Grossmith broke through on his own with a clear course, and Franklyn fell apparently injured. The whistle called Grossmith back, but he planted the leather into the net. It was awful luck for Goodwin's. Strange to say, the referee gave Goodwin's a free kick, but it was of no value. Franklyn resumed to loud cries of "bluffer." Gilchrist settled all doubts by giving Almy's the lead and victory. Goodwin's struggled gamely, but could not draw level, Almy's winning the game by 2—1.

The match was a pleasure to witness, and was productive of much good work.

NEW SCHEDULE FOR FIRST WEEK OF BALL LEAGUE ANNOUNCED

Atwater and City Leagues Combine to Play Every Evening in Week, Starting Monday—Six Teams Compete in New Play

The City League ball clubs have arranged a new schedule, starting next week that will call on some heavy pitching to be made.

The final game at Atwater Park takes place Saturday. Athletics and Crescents will battle Indians and St. Arsene respectively, as a loss to either club will eliminate their chances for the first half title.

Next week the Atwater League will be known as the Montreal City Baseball League, with Metropole and St. Henri admitted to the twilight games. The first half City League games ended last week-end, with Athletics and St. Henri tied for first place. They will iplay the winners of the first half Atwater Park League ending Saturday.

The winners will then play off winners of second half schedule of City League, starting this week-end. Here are the dates for Montreal's biggest baseball meeting, Saturday, Atwater Park final games for first half title:

St. Arsene vs. Crescents.
Indians vs. Athletics.
National Grounds, July 31, doubleheader:
St. Henri vs. Athletics.

August 6—Metropole vs. Indians.
St. Henri vs. Crescents.
National Grounds—
August 7—St. Arsene vs. St. Henri.
St. Arsene vs. Indians.
Shamrocks GroundsJ
August 7—Athletics vs. Metropoles.
Athletics vs. Crescents.

Games at Atwater Park will start at 6 p.m. in future.

RINGERS, THEY SAY, IN BUSINESS BALL CIRCLES

It is said that several club managers in some of the amateur baseball leagues in operation in Montreal, are in the habit of playing men under assumed names, thus trying to put one over on their opponents. It is claimed that several cases of this nature have been brought up to the notice of the executive head of the various Spalding leagues. But as the complaining managers did not comply with the regulations, which are to be observed in cases of this nature nothing could be done in the matter. The rule covering cases of this nature reads as follows:

Article IX.—Any club wishing to complain or protest a game must do so within forty-eight (48) hours after the game is played; the club so doing shall at the same time furnish the secretary of the league with two copies of its protest or compliant, signed by the manager or captain of the protesting club, and shall deposit with the secretary the sum of ten dollars ($10). If the decision of the executive be in favor of the protesting club, the deposit shall be forthwith returned, but if the decision be adverse, the deposit shall be forfeited to the league. The decision of the executive shall be final.

In the Mercantile League game between Guaranteed Pure Milk Co. and American Railway Express baseball clubs, which took place on Fletcher's Field on Wednesday night and was won by the former club, however things have gone differently. It is said that the winners had in their line-up an eligible player. Thus the losers have sent to the executive of the league the following letter:

Montreal, July 28th, 1921.

Mr. Champlain Provencher,
President Mercantile Baseball League,
371 St. Catherine street west.

Sir,—I, J. J. Schick, manager of the American Railway Express ball team, do hereby protest game played July 27, 1921, between Guaranteed Pure Milk Co. and American Railway Express on the grounds that the Guaranteed Pure Milk Co. played Wilhemy, who is not an employe of the above-mentioned company and therefore, ineligible to play in the Mercantile League according to our rules.

You will find enclosed ten dollars ($10) to cover our protest fee. Copy of this protest has been forwarded to the Guaranteed Pure Milk Company.

Yours truly,
J. J. SCHICK, Manager.
American Railway Express Baseball Club.

When seen President Provencher said that all players in the Mercantile Ball League have to be bona fide employes of the firms' clubs they represent and no others are eligible to take part in any league games of this organization.

As to the protest, Secretary J. S. Burnett, of the Mercantile League, will investigate as to the eligibility of the protested player.

TWO JOCKEYS LOST LICENSES; 1 DISCIPLINED

Form players who were jubilant at their success on the opening day at Kempton Park race track, received a severe set-back yesterday when the tables were turned and more or less outside mounts placed themselves at the top of the different fields.

The prices were not so extraordinary, but stilly they were long enough to satisfy the lucky betters who happened to strike things right. The longest price of the day was paid when Cannonball came across in the first race, graduating from the maiden class. A $2 mutuel ticket for this horse returned $19.

A much better crowd was on hand for the second day of the Manitoba Jockey Club's summer meeting, and the betting on the mutuels was fairly brisk. Three rulings were handed down by the judges at the track yesterday. In the first place jockeys H. Dennler and J. Dominick had their licenses withdrawn for conduct contrary to the best interests of racing here, and will not be able to ride from now on any of the tracks under the jurisdiction of the Quebec Breeders and Racing Association. Not only were these two jockeys thrown out, but the judges also disciplined Jockey Matthews for a poor ride on Assumption. It appeared to be the opinion that under a better ride Assumption should have won the feature handicap, carded as the St. Lambert's Handicap, and Matthew was given a severe reprimand. He was also warned that he was to accept no other mounts except Assumption for some time.

The handicap was won by American Eagle by a small margin in the small field of four. The little band got away to a good start and kept well bunched for the full distance. Assumption led in the early stages, but at the end American Eagle pulled to the front and won going away.

Considerable commotion was caused at the track yesterday morning, when a man, whom it was found out later had taken absolute leave of his senses, ran amuck on the park grounds, yelling and leaping until he was quieted down. According to those who know him he is said to have been in poor health for some time. He was taken to the lock-up for safe-keeping.

R. C. M. P. FIELD DAY

ST. JOHN, N.B., July 29.—At the Royal Canadian Mounted Police field day held here yesterday the following were the results of the different events:

Bending race, Constable Chalmers; musical chairs, Constable Hayden; jumping, Constable Mortimer. Troop two team won both the relay race and the horseback wrestling events.

Inspectors Fraser and Trundle were in charge and the affair was watched by a large gathering.

MAJOR LEAGUE LEADERS NECK AND NECK NOW

NEW YORK, July 29.—By Henry L. Farrell, United Press Staff Correspondent.—Neck and neck all the way seem to be the prospects for the major league pennant races.

Seldom, if ever, have battles for the championships been so closely contested and uniformly alike as they are now in both leagues.

Today Pittsburgh, leading the National League and Cleveland out in front in the American League have won sixty games and lost thirty-four.

The Pirates, both acting the roles of runners-up, are but a fraction dissimilar. The Giants have won fifty-eight games and the Yanks fifty-seven. Both have lost thirty-four games.

Pittsburgh goes right along, clinging to the lead. Much depends for the rest of the journey on what the Pirate pitchers will be able to do under the strain.

The Giants are battling along right within striking distance of the leading Pirates, but with a club that seems to yet lack what McGraw wants in it.

The Giant pitching has been one of the greatest handicaps so far in the race. Efforts are being made now to secure another experienced hurler, but the attempt to secure Lee Meadows from the Phils seems to have fallen through.

The acquisition of the hard-hitting "Irish" Meusel will help the club on the offense, but the most glaring need of the club is defensive strength in the box.

Cleveland is out in the lead with the American League, principally because they have the fighting spirit.

The Indians encountered enough this season like the way of accidents and disappointments to send a less courageous club down to the bottom.

INTER-PROVINCE CRICKET GAME, ONT. VS. QUEBEC

On the McGill Campus on Monday and Tuesday, August 1 and 2, commencing each day at noon there will be inter-provincial cricket matches played between Ontario and Quebec.

Here are some thumbnail sketches of the Quebec cricketers:

W. C. Baber, McGill—The skipper; forcing bat, heady bowler, born "slip fielder," has faculty of imparting jazz to his side.

A. T. Beebner, Lachine—Prolific run getter, has been known to bowl. Fine fielder in any position, being the fastest man in Montreal cricket with a tremendous "whip."

A. J. Burgess, Verdun—Formerly considered the best right hand bowler in the district, but unfortunately sickness has supped some of his old-time vim, but is yet worthy of his place in a representative side. Is a steady and reliable bat, and safe field.

E. R. Cross, West Indies—Good all-round man; first-class bowled, right hand medium with irreproachable length, and a sound bat and good field. Much is expected from this player.

L. C. Goodman, McGill—A fine specimen from a grand old family of cricketers. A classy bat, a good judge of a run, a fair change bowler, and good in the field. His long reach enabling him to pull off many unexpected catches.

W. B. Johnson, Verdun—A new comer to Montreal cricket. Have not seen him in action, but sound judge, class him as a fine bat, a fair change bowler and a good field. The needed essentials of a real cricketer.

H. Mitchell, McGill—The left hand bowler of the side and the best of his kind in the district. Is steady and is never easily rattled, not having the temperament attributed to the south paw.

R. V. Mustard, Westmount—Splendid bat, hits with tremendous power and scores rapidly. Is a magnificent field in any position.

F. Probyn, Westmount—A really fine wicket-keeper. Safe as the proverbial bank. His batting has been under a cloud, as he is a far better bat than the records show.

E. P. Wallace, Westmount—One of the best all-rounders in the game. Good and reliable, but good bowler, with a penchant for quickly discovering a batsman's weakness, and good field. A most valuable man to a side.

D. Wallace, Lachine—The most stylish and correct bat in the district, and much is expected of him in this line. Formerly was good change bowler, but of late years has discarded this art.

STAGE ALL SET FOR PRO. AND OPEN GOLF PLAY IN TORONTO

TORONTO, July 29.—(Star Special)—The stage is all set for the golf festival which opens today with the national professional championship over the Lambton course, and will continue with the Canadian open championship on Monday and Tuesday. For the latter Jack Kirkwood, the Australian champion, has wired his entry, and Bob McDonald, of Bob-o-link, Chicago, the winner of the Metropolitan yesterday at New York, will be another starter.

The professionals have re-elected Karl Keffer, Ottawa, secretary of their association and several Montreal men are included in the list of officials elected last night as follows: Hon. president, C. N. Rudel, Montreal; hon. vice-presidents, G. D. Montgomery and H. Coulson, both of Toronto; Captain C. H. Murray, Montreal; vice-captain, J. A. Black, Montreal; executive committee, George Cummings, J. H. Pritchard, N. T. Thompson and D. L. Black.

PRO DRAW.

Twenty-two games are listed for today's professional championship, the draw for which is as follows:

T. F. McPherson vs. W. Freeman; J. A. Black vs. W. P. Johnston; Norman Bell vs. Karl Keffer vs. J. Hulsh vs. D. Cuthberts; D. T. Black vs. C. R. Murray; Arthur Desjardins vs. C. H. Pritchard; A. H. YACHT RACES FOR BRIT.-AMERICAN CUP TODAY

LONDON, July 29.—The international six metre yacht races for the British-American Cup will open at Ryde, Isle of Wight, today, when the first of a series of six races will be called.

The race will be between teams of four yachts, the trophy going to the team which makes the best record over a course of 15 miles. The starting gun will be fired at 11.30 a.m., and the winner must finish by 8 p.m., or the race will be declared void.

Some of the foremost British designers have been employed to produce the British competitors. Charles E. Nicholson, designer of Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock IV. produced three of the little vessels which will compete in this series.

The territory of Quintana Rio, Mexico, twice the size of Massachusetts, is owned by eight men.

BOYS' FARM WINS KANAWANA CUP IN TWO-DAY MEET

Following two days of athletic competition in their annual meet with Shawbridge Boys' Farm, the boys from camp wended their way over the mountain to Kamp Kanawana, again defeated by a large margin. The points as given out were Boys' Farm, 151; and Kamp Kanawana, 46. The Farm was successful in both the junior and senior ball games, which gave them a big lead; the junior game score being 13 to 5, and the senior game 20 to 4. For the first time in several years the Farm was able to take both games.

Hart held no secrets for the Farm this year, while "Waddleduck," of the Farm, fanned ten men and the men behind him were water-tight. Elliot played a brilliant game at 2nd for the Farm, as well as taking three firsts and a second in the meet. Lorne Buckman, the junior pitcher for the Farm, hit out two three-baggers and four two-baggers in the two games. Patterson, Hyman and Killingbeck starred for the Kamp.

Senior Baseball Throw.—1, Robt. Stevens, Farm, 278 ft., 6 in.; 2, Harold Ward, Farm, 276 ft.; 3, Patterson, Kamp, 264 ft.

Junior Baseball Throw.—1, Geo. Allen Farm, 229 ft. 6 in.; 2, J. Ross, Farm, 228 ft. 6 in.; 3, M. Dreyfus, Farm, 220 ft. 6 in.

BALL CLUB WANTS GAMES.

The Rouses Point ball club would like to book a game or more with a good local team, to be played in Montreal at an early date. The above team has played 14 games, winning 12 and losing 2. If any local team is desirous of meeting this nine, they can make arrangements by writing to M. E. Franks, manager Rouses Point Baseball Club. Box 98.

JUNIOR LACROSSE EXHIBITION.

A lacrosse exhibition will take place on the Shamrock grounds Saturday afternoon between the Emeralds of the Juvenile League and the Varities. These teams have met before and the latter were victorious by the score of 8-4 The following players will represent the Emeralds: P. O'Connell, D. Ticker, L. Bracken, J. French, J. Kelly, J. O'Brien, J. Regan, L. Scanlan, G. Dancey, F. Keough, E. Flannagan, W. Feron, E. Duggan, G. Scanlan.

DUSKY BALL PLAYERS PLAY AGAIN TONIGHT

The New York colored Red Six team will play another exhibition game of ball at 6 p.m. at Atwater Park tonight, with the Crescents.

The Red Sox won both games last week against St. Arsene, and Athletics and Crescents made final arrangements yesterday to play one of the final games before the departure of the colored gents. On the New Yorkers' line-up there are clever men in the field and at bat.

Wallace, their outfielder, is known as the "Dusky Babe Ruth," due to his hitting ability. Young Green, the local youngster who has been burning them over in amateur league games, will do the twirling for the Red Sox, opposed to Ray Evans or Dubuc for Crescents. Calvert, considered one of the smartest ball players in Montreal, will line up at short stop for Red Sox. The game should create a great deal of interest, and Crescents' heavy sluggers will get an opportunity of showing their wares against clever pitching and fielding.

ATHLETICS LAST NIGHT OUTHIT ST. ARSENE EASILY

Three double plays, two men run down between first and third, and one nailed at the plate, did not avail Gingras last night at Atwater Park, and Athletics beat St. Arsene 8—1, outhitting them 18 to 3.

It was a game until the eighth. In this inning J. Delisle sent a scorcher through short, but got caught stealing. Papineau singled to short, Pigeon hit one which Gingras could only deflect to Major, who threw to second, where Papineau fas safe on a dropped ball. Grenier then settled things with a triple, scoring Papineau and Pigeon, and Crevier settled them still more by dropping Carmel's liner to right, and letting him go all the way round, scoring Grenier.

St. Arsene's only run was the result of excellent base-running by Cutter. He got on with a pass, went to second on a hit and run play by Crevier, and on to third, and home on the throw to get Crevier at second.

A rather flashy feature of the game was the catches, one after another, by Farrand, of Cutter's and Crevier's line drives. They were straight at him, and to miss them would have amounted to a crime, but they were both hard hit balls, and the holding of them made a little firework display appreciated by the stand.

Genereux and Fortin supplanted Gingras and Wingo in the ninth, but the damage done could not then be repaired.

Athletics and St. Arsene both having bitten the dust to the Red Sox, the colored team which recently visited Atwater Park, this evening at 6:30 Crescents will undertake the task of trying to restore the fallen honour of the league—in other words, Red Sox versus Crescents at Atwater Park tonight, 6:30.

Ste. Rose Swimming and Canoe Association

The first of a series of evening handicaps for the junior members of the Ste. R. A. S. and C. A. were held yesterday from the association's diving scow and were viewed by a large number of the senior members. There were about fifteen boys and girls taking part in the events staged, with the following results:—

Event No. 1—Boys' 12 years old and under, 25 yards—Eric Gilman, 1st; Billy Dow, 2nd. Time, 22 4-5 secs.

Event No. 2—Girls, 12 years old and under, 25 yards—Edith Lorimer, 1st; Muriel Martin, 2nd. Time, 26 2-5 secs.

Event No. 3—Boys, 15 years old and under, 50 yards—Howard Martin, 1st, Billy Dow, 2nd. Time, 43 secs.

These events have been arranged in order to get the younger members into shape for the annual swimming regatta which will be held on August 27th, and comprise eleven events as usual, including the classic "bridge to high" and the 440 yards Canadian championship. This year, for the first time and owing to the acquisition by the association of a large scow with spring boards and ten feet diving towers, fancy and high diving will be a feature of the meeting.

SOCCER GOSSIP

BY CRAIG CAMPBELL

The P. Q. F. A. has now a new council, president and vice-president. This was settled at last night's resumed extraordinary meeting, when thirty-five clubs' representatives gathered in the Auditorium Hall. Humphrey Payne called the meeting together and asked them to appoint a chairman, and this honor fell to Jim Keith, president Verdun City. Mr. Keith in accepting said he would only do so if the meeting finished in a reasonable time. This was promised. The first question asked was how did W. Topp stand in the matter. The secretary stated that all members of the old board had been asked to resign, and all had done so save Mr. Topp. The latter gentleman was asked to declare himself, and said he left the matter entirely in the hands of the delegates. Next a motion was passed that only accredited delegates of clubs could speak, and this quashed at once any proposals of the committee of seven.

Nominations were then asked for the new council, thirteen names being put in. Jack Kyle intimated that Col. F. S. Meighen, while appreciating the honor, could not join the council owing to calls of business. Then the voting took place with the following result: Dick Walker, 63; Jim Phillip, 60; Jim Flockhart, 59; Tom Mitchell, 59; Jack Kyle, 58; Boby Milroy, 51; T. Woodward Smith, 48.

These gentlemen constitute the new board. Tom Mitchell was chosen president, and Jim Phillip, vice-president, the latter over Jim Flockhart on the casting vote of the chairman.

D. F. A. delegates to the annual meeting in Toronto next week are: Joe Scott and Josh Wilson. Business of the meeting was got through in a splendid manner, handled in a first class way by Jim Keith, who was accorded a hearty vote of thanks.

C. P. R. Connaught Cup team leave this evening for Toronto to play the return game with Scottish tomorrow. Over 400 have signified their intentions of making the trip.

Sons of England are running a special motor excursion tomorrow to Bethell, and those wishing to make the trip should communicate with the club executive before 6 o'clock this evening. Motors will leave Sons of England's club rooms, 360 Wellington street, tomorrow afternoon, at one o'clock.

Owing to the Fair on Fletcher's Field, 5th C.M.R. are without a ground for their next two home games. Tomorrow they will meet Printers F.C. on Verdun City's ground and 5th M. R. players are asked to meet at Place d'Armes, at 2:15 p.m.

The following team will represent the Printers against 5th C.M.R. at Regina Park, Verdun, on Saturday. Kick-off 3:30.—Clipston; Fogg and Stewart, Hunter, McKenzie and Hamilton, Linnington, Porter, Rose, Jenkins and Powis. Reserves: Davies, Campbell, Cassidy and Sinclair. Referee—Roe.

"UNO'S" SOCCER TALK

I was not present at the election of the F.Q.F.A. last night, but I was given a few facts upon which comment is permissible. There were evidently those present who were out to score "on points," as usual, but it was quite a right and proper thing that the motion of Mr. Walker of Calvin should have been minuted, an omission, however, which was pardonable in the circumstances of the meeting, concerning the change of date for the playing of the Provincial Connaught Cup finals to July 15, a wise decision.

With the board as elected one can find little fault, but it was—what shall we say?—a tactical blunder on the part of the chairman when he accepted the nomination of our good friend Tommy Mitchell, even as a member of the Council, when he was not actually present at the meeting. It was absolutely unconstitutional, and more so to accept his nomination as president, but perhaps in the exceptional circumstances these unusual methods of procedure are pardonable.

As elected it is a fairly good board, and it says not a little for the enthusiasm of at least one "man of the moment" that he should emerge from his retirement after so many years' absence from the game to give of his wisdom. He once received a medal from the P.Q.F.A. commemorating his retirement from the game, which he had served so faithfully for so many years, and no one will grudge it to him now that he has made a "come-back." Every actor, however, on every stage who has ever played a prominent part in any play usually emerges from obscurity a year or two after their farewell tour.

The presidents of the Leagues will no longer sit on the board, but it will surprise me in a few to learn that if they care they can still retain their position until such time as the D.F.A. ratify the amended constitution. It is doubtful if the D.F.A. will do anything of the kind, but among the presidents I think it will be found that there is no desire whatever to clog the chariot wheels, but it is just as well the facts should be known all the same.

I have always maintained that this constitution was so much indigestible matter, and now that I have been more than five minutes in the country, I am getting wise to the principles upon which it is upheld. Today it may suit. Tomorrow it may be regarded as a conglomeration of confused ideas. What a game it is, to be sure!

At the great annual gathering of the Welsh Druids there is a part of the ceremony where the question is asked —"Is there Peace?" Let us hope there is, at any rate in football Montreal.

I am not surprised at Col. Meighen refusing to accept office. When I saw him last week — being unable to get in touch with either Mr. Mitchell or Mr. Kyle — I laid before him the needs of the football community at some length. He thought matters over very carefully and he said he would continue to think over them, but his decision could be discerned through the smoke. Col. Meighen is one of the busiest men in Montreal, and football is his only recreation. What he would do to popularize the game can not be estimated. I am privileged to know one or two of his ideas, and assuredly they are not of the club-selfish order.

One ought really to be thankful that these meetings of "seven" and "ten" are over, but one wonders what the obstructionist will do now for a recreation.

CHARLES MILNE.

An after-thought! It is amusing to reflect upon the fact that the newly-elected president of the P.Q.F.A. is a printer. So is the vice-president. Yet, all this hubbub has been caused in consequence of a decision that no member of the "Fourth Estate" should sit on the Council who communicates with the press. I am beginning to see the truth of what Craig Campbell told me, that the more I saw of local legislation the more I would be amazed. C. M.

TRIS SPEAKER INJURED; NOT TO PLAY FOR WHILE

NEW YORK, July 29 — By winning their third straight game from the Pirates yesterday, the Giants edged a little closer to the National League leadership, only eight points separating the two clubs.

The battles for first position in both leagues are not only close, but very similar in figures. Pittsburgh, the National circuit leaders, and Cleveland, on top of the American League, each have won sixty games and lost 34, with a percentage of .638. The Yankees, in second place in the American, and the Giants, in the same berth in the senior organization, each have lost the same number of games, 34, but McGraw's team has won one more game than the Yanks. The National team's victories number 58, while the American club has won 57.

Both the Yankees and the Cleveland team won from their respective opponents yesterday. Manager Tris Speaker, center fielder, may be lost to the Cleveland team for several days, due to a fracture in a small bone in his ankle, suffered while turning first base in Boston yesterday.

The hard-hitting Harry Heilman, of the Detroit Tigers, leading swatter in Ban Johnson's league, added two more homers to his 1921 string yesterday, his total to date being fourteen; Other "take-your" hits were made by Dykes, Athletics; Shanks and Milan, Washington, and Sargent, Detroit.

Herman's Manager Made Kilbane Offer

NEW ORLEANS, La., July 29.—Promoter Al Pillsbury has wired Johnny Kilbane, featherweight champion, an offer of $25,000 to meet Pete Herman, bantamweight champion, in a decision bout here next fall. Herman already has signified his willingness to meet Kilbane. The promoter hopes to stage the bout here in November when the races open.

Herman declared on his return here yesterday he was also ready to meet Joe Lynch again if the former champion wanted another bout.

"I will be ready to defend my title within thirty days," Herman said. "No legitimate bantamweight is barred. Let it be Joe Lynch, or anyone. Lynch was sportsmanlike about giving me a return match; he can depend on my being just as sportsmanlike."

He—So you have broken off your engagement with Fred.

She—Oh, no; only suspended it until I return to town in the autumn.

BRITISH ATHLETES CLEARED WITH THEIR AMERICAN VISIT

NEW YORK, July 29.—"We have had a fine time in the United States. We are pleased with the results of our competition with Americans. Everyone has treated us nicely and we'll be glad to come back again," B. G. D. Rudd, Olympic hero and captain of the Oxford-Cambridge track team, said here today.

The British tied with Princeton and Cornell yesterday in a meet at Travers Island. Each won five events.

OXFORD-CAMB. CAPTAIN SAVED DAY FOR HIS TEAM

TRAVERS ISLAND, N.Y., July 29.—(United News).—The great Oxford-Cambridge combined track team, tied the combined Princeton-Cornell teams in the international meet here yesterday afternoon, each team winning five firsts, which were the only positions that counted in the scoring. The score was 5 to 5.

Captain Rudd, of the Oxford team, saved the invaders from defeat by winning the last event of the day, the half-mile in 1:56 4-5. Milligan, of Oxford, was second. The count was 5 for the Americans to 4 for the British up to this time.

If second place had counted for points the British would have won the meet, 6 to 5.

Abrahams, of Cambridge, led the field all the day in the 100 yard dash, the first event, and finished one-half yard to the good, in 10 2-5. Lovejoy, of Cornell, was second.

The sixteen-pound shotput, second event contested, was won by Halsey, of Princeton, with 43 feet, 9 inches. Reece, of Oxford, was second.

Stevenson, of Princeton, won the quarter, the star race of the meet, in 49 3-5 seconds. Rudd, of Oxford, was second.

Stevenson finished three yards to the good in the quarter, after a desperate challenge by Rudd, who pulled abreast of him, going like the wind, on the backstretch. Stevenson jumped in the last few yards and won handily.

Stack, of Cornell, and Dickinson, of Oxford, were tied in the high jump at 5 feet, 8¾ inches. Brumden, of Princeton, was second.

Stallard, of Cambridge, won the mile in 4:23 1-5. Irish, of Cornell, was second.

The 120 yard hurdles was won by Mass, of Princeton, in 15 4-5, with Partridge, of Cambridge, second.

Nokes, of Oxford, won the hammer-throw at 160 feet 7 inches. Baker, of Princeton, was second.

Froman, of Princeton, covered the three mile run in 15:18 3-5, and won it with Seagrove, of Cambridge, second.

Abrahams, of Cambridge, made 21 feet, 8 inches in the broad jump, winning from Lourie, of Princeton, who was second.

100 yard dash—Won by Abrahams, Cambridge; Lovejoy, Cornell, second; McKim, Princeton, third; Rudd, Oxford, fourth. Time, 10 2-5 secs.

440 yards dash—Won by Stevenson, Princeton; second, Rudd, Oxford; third, John, Cornell; fourth, Gregory, Cambridge. Time, 49 3-5 secs.

Mile run—Won by Stallard, Cambridge; second, Irish, Cornell; third, McCullough, Princeton; fourth, Kent Hughes, Oxford. Time, 4.23 3-5.

Sixteen pound shot put— Won by Halsey, of Princeton, 43 feet 9 in.; second, Reese, of Oxford, 40 feet 7 in.; third, Goodsnow, of Cornell, 39 feet 7½ in.; fourth, Waterhouse, of Cambridge, 39 feet, 5¾ inches.

Sixteen-pound hammer throw — Won by Nokes, Oxford, 160 feet 7 inches, a new intercollegiate record; second, Baker, Princeton, 145 feet 6 inches; third, Wagar, Cornell, 128 feet 3-16 of an inch; fourth, Burt, Cambridge, 121 feet 5¾ inches.

Broad jump—Won by Abrahams, Cambridge, 21 feet 9 inches; Lowrie, Princeton, second; 21 feet 5 inches; Ingram, Oxford, third, 21 feet 4½ inches; Nichols, Cornell, fourth, 21 feet 1 inch.

Half mile run—Won by Rudd, Oxford; Millikan, Oxford, second; Johnson, Princeton, third; Carter, Carnell, fourth. Time, 1.56 4-5.

Telephone Association Moonlight Excursion

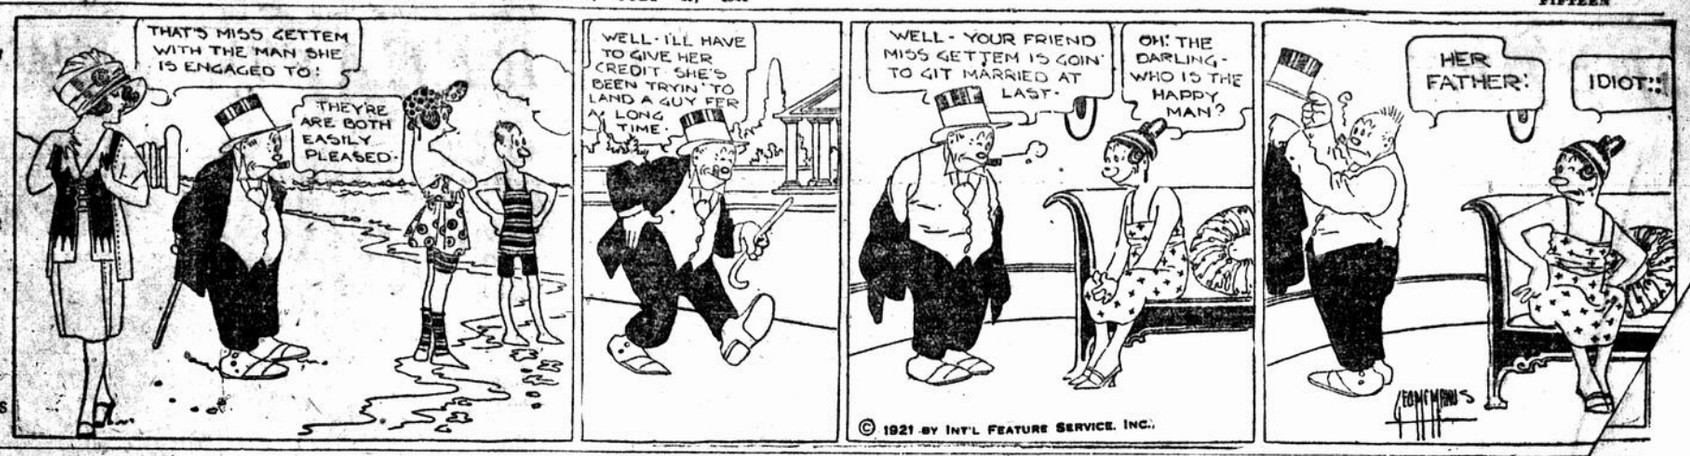
The Telephone Athletic Association held another moonlight excursion down the river on the steamer Three Rivers.

Over six hundred employes and their friends availed themselves of the delightfully cool breeze and the respite from the sultry heat of the city. For those who wished to dance, first class music was rendered by the Legrove's Jazz Orchestra. If the hot weather continues the executive will probably cater to the popular demand and hold another moonlight trip on the river next month.

The association has also decided to stage its annual picnic on August 25, very likely to King Edward Park, as in former years.

Downey Ought to Be Recognized Soon

NEW YORK, July 29.—Bryan Downey will be recognized as the middleweight champion by the New York State Boxing Commission as soon as the Cleveland commission sends official notice that it reversed the referee's decision, it was said here today.



BRITISH BOWLERS TO LAY GAME AT WESTM'T

A test match between British and Canadian rinks will be played in the Westmount lawn bowling green Monday afternoon, when the visiting British team will make their first appearance on a lawn in Canada in connection with their tour. The Old Country team is due to reach Montreal on Saturday or Sunday, and will be welcomed here by a large number of local enthusiasts. Full arrangements for the reception and entertainments will be concluded when the exact time of the arrival of the Old Country bowlers is announced. The visitors will also appear on the St. George and Outremont greens before leaving the city for Ottawa on August 3.

Following are the rinks selected to meet the visitors on Monday afternoon in the test match, at Westmount:

Westmount.	St. Lambert.
A. E. Gallagher	E. Lalanne, jr.
G. Cheese	G. Proctor
W. J. Brown	S. J. Milligan
W. Brown	A. McMath

Valleyfield	Montreal West.
J. Inross	.....
J. Marsden	E. N. Ames
M. A. Beale	Dr. W. Paterson
C. H. Potter	J. Hood

St. George.	Outremont.
W. M. Hall	H. McKenzie
C. Sturdy	G. L. Cohoon
W. L. Thom	E. W. Sayer
J. M. Wilson	E. J. McCormick

The Westmount Lawn Bowling Club representatives last night again defended the Province of Quebec Lawn Bowling Association Challenge Cup when they defeated four Montreal West rinks by 63 to 68.

A spoon competition was held at the St. George Lawn Bowling Club green, when G. W. Walker's rink won the honors from the four skipped by M. Hibbard, by 17 to 7.

Scrapper II.'s Chances Are Slim for Cup

HAMILTON, Ont., July 29.—Scrapper II of Toronto, won the second of the Large Cup races yesterday by over a mile in distance and 9.10 seconds in time. Nirwana, of Hamilton, the defender, was second, and Huskie, of Watertown, N.Y., the United States challenger, third, beaten by 25 seconds. Nirwana won the first race by 25 seconds, with Huskie second, while Scrapper II., well beaten and with her new mainsail rigging stretched all out of shape, third.

The second round of yesterday's race was just a parade as far as Scrapper II., the leader, was concerned. It was different with the two others. On the run on the first leg of the second round, Huskie, third boat, took Nirwana, the second boat, but could not stay second long. Nirwana was ahead of her at the first and second buoys and, after a pretty battle on the last two miles to windward, beat her 200 yards at the finish.

Scrapper wins today and Nirwana if again second, the Nirwana retains the cup with seven points against Scrapper's six. In other words, Nirwana, with one victory and two seconds over Scrapper, wins. Toronto, with two wins and "no finish," Scrapper's only hope is to win tomorrow with Huskie second, in which case she and Nirwana will be tied with six points each. If Nirwana is first or second tomorrow she retains the cup, which she won at Cobourg last July.

Argoes Meet Machine Gunners Tomorrow

A scheduled game of the City and District Int. League, Fargoes and 1st Mr Machine Gunners will come together tomorrow at the Lower Canada College grounds on Royal Ave. While the Gunners are out of the running, Argoes still have a slim chance. If the Northenders can win this match and the next two, they will create a three-cornered tie; that is if Kensington A.A.A. lose their coming match with the Gunners. The soldiers are a much strengthened team since they started, and may do a lot of damage in tomorrow's game as also next Saturday. The game will start at 3:15 p.m.

POSTPONED CLOSING.

COLUMBUS, O., July 29 —Owing to the train Thursday, the Grand Circuit races meet here will not come to a close on Saturday evening. Three unfinished races, the free-for-all pace, the 2:08 pace and the Southern Hotel stake, will be concluded today and in addition the 2:12 pace, the 2:10 trot and the 2:06 pace will make up Friday's program. The program on Saturday will consist of the 2:10 trot, the 2:09 pace and the 2:18 trot. Entries in the 2:18 trot will be confined to horses who did not win first or second money in the two divisions of the 2:18 trot on Monday.

60 TO 1 SHOT.

VANCOUVER, B.C., July 29.—Hastings Park race fans witnessed a 60 to 1 shot yesterday, when Snow Cap won the sixth race and paid $120 50 for a ticket.

GAELIC ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION HAS HURLING PRACTICE

A special practice match for two of the hurling teams on July 31, at 3 p.m. on Fletcher's field. All members are requested to attend as players are to be picked to represent both teams in cup final at King Edward Park on Aug. 20.

Full Brother of Peter Volo Won

COLUMBUS, Ohio, July 29.—Another shower after seven heats of yesterday's Grand Circuit programme had been raced brought a delightful speed carnival to an abrupt close just after the final heat of the three year old colt trot had been raced, and in which The Great Volo, a full brother of Peter Volo, 2.02, won his maiden race and trotted three miles close to 2.10.

2.15 class trotting, for three year olds, purse $1,000, three heats:

The Great Volo (Cox)	1	1	1
Peter Pluto (McDonald)	2	2	3
Belvue (Pitman)	4	4	2
Peter Brewer (Ray)	3	3	4

Time 2.11¼, 2.11¼, 2.12¾.

Free-for-all class, pacing, purse $1,500, three heats (unfinished):

Single G. (Allen)	1	1	1
Sanardo (Murphy)	4	2
Hal Mahone (Childs)	1	3
Louise Gratton (V. Fleming)	2	4

Time 2.02¼, 2.00¼.

2.08 class trotting. "The Southern Hotel," purse $3,000, three heats (unfinished):

The Toddler (Stinson)	1	2
Great Britton (Dodge)	7	1
Kilo Watts (Childs)	2	5
Walnut Frisco (McDevitt)	5	3
Mightell (V. Fleming)	3	6

Grey Worthy, Dottie Day, Bolvo and Eliza Dillon also started.

Time 2.04¼, 2.04¼.

"BOB" MACDONALD WON METROPOLITAN TITLE

NEW YORK, July 29. — Bob MacDonald, the burly Scot of the Bob o' Link Club, Chicago, came into his own yesterday by winning the metropolitan open championship at the Siwanoy Country Club. He had missed out in the open at Washington, in an unfortunate manner and his win in the Metropolitan was well received. A wonderful exhibition of steadiness over the last half of the 72-hole route brought him home a winner, with a total of 304 shots, leading Pat O'Hara, of Richmond County, the former Irish open champion, who finished second, by a margin of four strokes.

Long Jim Barnes, of the Pelham Club, winner of the national open title, and who tied with Walter Hagen in the metropolitan event at Greenwich a year ago, today finished with a 76 and 77 for a grand total of 302, placing him in a tie for fourth with Tommy Kerrigan, the Siwanoy professional and Willie MacFarlane, of Oak Ridge.

Canadian Express Lost to Y.M.C.A.

The Y.M.C.A. nine defeated the Canadian Express Co. to the score of 12 to 4. The central team has finally came out of an early season slump and is playing fast ball. The features of the game were mostly provided by Wright of Central, who made some fine plays. Bryson pitched a steady game for Central, keeping the Express from bunching any hits or from hitting in the pinches. The batteries were as follows: Central "Y", Bryson and Orr; Express Co., McManus and Descelles.

The Y.M.C.A. having some open dates, would like to hear from some fast industrial teams and also the Strathmore team.

Fight Pictures at Chateauguay

Special arrangements have been made to give the residents of the south shore of Lake St. Louis an opportunity of seeing the Dempsey-Carpentier fight. The film will be screened at the Chateauguay Boat Club on the night of August 4th, and it is expected that the limited number of tickets which have been issued will be quickly taken up. Jackie Coogan, in "Peck's Bad Boy," is being put on next Monday night as a special attraction for the children.

The card party given by the ladies was a great success, and a substantial sum was raised for the paddlers' fund. Arrangements for the party were under the supervision of Mrs. Seath Smith, assisted by Miss K. Wickham.

The paddlers are reported to be in fine shape for the regatta at Lachine on Saturday, and Captain Smith and the crew expect to justify and retain the confidence of the membership and friends by bringing back a number of the prizes put up for the various events. The club is arranging to take over those who desire to go, and the launches will leave the wharf at two o'clock.

In Holland, milk is being put up and sold in solid form.

SATURDAY RACES AT ISLAND BATH

The Montreal Swimming Club offers another interesting program for this Saturday's handicap at the Island bath. As usual, there will be two events open to swimmers of all sister clubs, and the other two will be for club members. This Saturday's bill will be as follows:—

50 yards on back, junior, open.
Fancy diving, junior, club.
100 yards on back, open.
Duck hunts.

Events start at 3:30 p.m., and conditions can be had on the club grounds at the Island.

TO ADD EXPRESS CRUISER RACE.

DETROIT, July 29. — Addition of an express cruiser event to the 24th, the Gold Trophy power to be held in conjunction with the Cup and the Harmsworth Detroit Gold Cup-boat races here August 1 to Sept. 5, was considered by committee here to-day. A race of 17 to 30 miles an hour is planned. Seven events already have been scheduled for the regatta.

PAPER LEADERS FIRM HERE---RAILS STRONG IN WALL ST.

LIST QUIET AND PRICES NARROW; AMES PREF ROSE

With less activity to be noted, a more reactionary tone developed in the Montreal stock market this morning. The more uncertain tone in Wall Street coupled with the pending holiday did not encourage a further expansion in operations, apparently.

Fluctuations in the list were of a moderate nature, in the main, although here and there was to be noted a slightly wider spread in prices.

Activity in the paper stocks was much less pronounced than has been the case for the past few days, while the tone of the group was less bullish. At the same time, prices were maintained at fairly steady levels.

In Spanish River common there was less interest, while the price of the issue, which opened easier at 54½, firmed during the session to close at 54¾, leaving a net loss of ¼ point. The preferred, on the other hand, held unchanged at the top recently established at 60. Laurentide did likewise on a fair turnover, the price ranging at 62⅝ to 69 to 68½. Riordon was again one of the active leaders, but the price continued to rule unchanged at 4, the low. Abitibi held at 27½.

Ames Holden pfd., however, supplied some interest to the list. Recently this stock has shown a distinctly harder tone, after some months of idleness. Last week the stock sold at 18 in odd lots and yesterday 2 points higher at 20. Today the stock was bid up sharply to 23 before any offerings could be secured, following which it advanced further to 24 at the close, making the net gain 4 points. Whether the strength in the issue is occasioned through the cropping up of a demand for the stock, or through the circulation of good reports on the industry, is not clean, but today's strength probably was brought about by a combination of both factors. After its long period of dullness, following the drastic liquidation which sent the price down to around 15 per share, the recovery was followed by traders with some interest and surprise.

There were two ex-dividends on the list this morning, Montreal Power 1¼ per cent, and Ont. Steel 2 per cent. The former issue sold at 81¼ to 81½ to 81¼, or unchanged from yesterday, with the disbursement taken in. The latter stock sold at 42¾, which, with the dividend, represents a loss of ¾ point.

National Breweries was an active issue throughout the session. After a firm opening with the stock selling at 53½, it eased off, however, to close at 52⅞, a net loss of ⅛ point.

The balance of the list ruled as follows: Dom. Steel 27, unchanged; Brazilian 22, down ⅛; Quebec Ry., 24; Toronto Ry. 72, down ½; and Lake of the Woods, 131.

Officially, there is nothing new in the Riordon Pulp & Paper Company situation. Frank P. Jones, chairman of the executive committee of the company today told The Star that there was no change to be reported. He said that he could not say when an announcement of the company's new plan would be made. Other interests close to the company made similar statements, so that, apparently, while the various interests have been in continued close consultation they have not yet arrived at a point where matters can be discussed publicly.

Meantime the usual number of rumors are going the rounds on the Street, some of which are of a highly unlikely character while others are similar to projects which have already been widely discussed. It is not known whether creditors have actually granted the company a further extension of time, their first agreement having expired on July 25.

It is known, however, that meetings between creditors and other interests have been held. It is presumed that the matter is fast working out, however, and that the next few days will bring a definite announcement concerning the company's position. Whether this will be that liquidation proceedings have been instigated, that the bondholders and creditors have assumed control, or that the executive will continue to try to work out the salvation of the organization, either as it presently exists, or in divided form, remains to be seen.

INCREASED NET SHOWN BY C.P.R. HALF YEAR

The June statement of the Canadian Pacific Railway which has just been issued by the company rounds out the reports made for the first half of the year. The figures thus indicated are of a reassuring nature, dividend requirements being more than covered. It is shown that the net earnings of the company for the first half of 1921 to June 30, amounted to $12,950,166, which is an increase of $1,521,980 over the same period of 1920 when the net totalled $11,428,186.

The showing was effected at a time when gross earnings are falling heavily, the gross for the six months being $84,055,671, down $8,001,914 from a year ago. This decrease was offset, of course, by a decrease of $9,523,894 in operating expenses. Thus it is shown that the ability of the road to increase its net earnings rests largely upon the success of the management of effecting a correspondingly larger decrease in costs.

The showing of the road for the first six months of 1921 is shown hereunder, as compared with the same time in 1920:

	1921	1920	Decrease
Gross .	$84,055,671	$92,057,[illegible]	$8,001,914
Expen..	71,105,505	80,629,[illegible]	9,523,894
Net...	$12,950,166	$11,428,1[illegible]	*1,521,980

* Increase.

In June gross earnings amounted to $14,461,642 as compared with $16,480,574 in 1920, a decrease of $2,018,931, while net was $3,104,757 against $2,630,817, a gain of $473,940. The June figures compare as follows:

	1921.	1920	Decrease
Gross.	$14,461,642	$16,480,574	$2,018,931
Expen.	11,356,884	13,849,757	2,492,[illegible]

Owing to the increasing scarcity of good quality baled hay, a stronger feeling developed in the local market yesterday and prices advanced $2 per ton. The demand was fairly good and sales of No. 2 timothy were made at $30 to $32; No. 3 timothy at $28 to $29, and clover mixed hay at $24 to $25 per ton, ex-track.

FLUCTUATIONS STILL NARROW IN WALL STREET

NEW YORK, July 29. — The stock market opened irregular today with Studebaker 76½, unchanged; B. R. T., 12½, up ⅝; Asphalt, 52, off ¼; United States Steel, 74, up ⅝; Baldwin, 77¼, unchanged; Bethlehem "B" 49⅝, up 1¼; American Sugar, 68½, unchanged; Reading 70, up ⅝; American Tobacco, 122, off ½; Mexican Petroleum, 104½, up ¾; Pennsylvania, 37¼, up ⅛; United Fruit, 102¼, off ¼; American Car and Foundry, 123¼, off ¼; Texas Pacific, 24⅝, off ¼; American Locomotive, 80½, up 1; Utah, 48¼, off ¼; United Drug, 50¾, off ¼.

Shippings were under pressure during the morning; Mercantile Marine pfd. declined over 4 points, and United Fruit added 1½ points to yesterday's setback. Rails showed increasing irregularity, Northern Pacific rising 2 points, while Louisville & Nashville lost that much.

Equipments of the better grade were firm, but Crucible Steel was heavy, and coppers reacted on the lower prices quoted for the refined product. Oils were dull, foreign as well as domestic issues moving within very narrow limits.

Call money opened and renewed into next week at 4½ per cent.

Rails were conspicuously strong in noon trading. Nearly all dividend paying carriers got into new high ground for the month during the morning session. The industrial oil list, however, was soft and much selling was in evidence.

As the trading progressed rails continued to stand out prominently as features of strength. The undertone elsewhere continued fairly strong but with occasional exceptions. United Drug which has been so active recently following the severe break of some 30 points opened steady at 59 3-4 to 60, eased to 58, and rallied to 59 1-2.

In the railway list C. P. R. was fairly active and held up well at 112 1-4 to 113 1-4, later reacting a fraction. Union Pac. touched 121 1-4, but reacted to 120 3-4; Southern Pac. went to 79 3-8 and reacted to 78 3-4; Reading touched 70 3-8 and compared with a later low of 69 1-2 rallied to 70; Northern Pac. was 76 1-8 to 77 3-4 to 1-2; Gt. Northern 71 to 72 1-4 to 72; New York Cent. 72 to 1-8 to 3-4 to 72.

Other features of the list were: Union Bag, 60; Am. Loco., 80½ to 82 to 81½ to ¾; Asphalt, 52 to 53; Am. Car, 122¼ to 124; Sumatra, 48½ to 49¼; A. GfW., 21¼ to 22¼ to 20¾ to 21¼; Baldwin, 77¼ to 78¼; Beth. Steel B., 49 to 48⅞ to 49⅝; Crucible, 55 to 54¼ to 55¼; United Fruit, 101½ to 101 to 102¼ to ¼; Gen. Electric, 118 to 116 to 117¾; Int. Paper, 52½ to ⅝ to 50¾ to 51⅛; Mex. Pete., 104¼ to 105 to 103½ to 105¼ to 104½; Pan American 48¾ to 49; Studebaker, 76½ to 77⅜ to 75⅞ to 77 to 76⅝; Steel, 74¼ to 73¾ to 74⅛. Money was 4½ per cent.

Six Months' Showing of Dominion Bank Good

TORONTO, July 29.—A statement issued by the Dominion Bank for the first six months of 1921, shows profits of $618,915, compared with $664,729 for the same period a year ago, and $1,347,011 for the whole of 1920. Considering that the first half of this year was subjected to business depression, the showing is regarded as a good one.

After taxation and dividends, and adding the balance carried forward at the end of 1920, there remained a profit and loss balance of $819,214 compared with $701,936 a year ago, and with $660,218 at the end of 1920.

Current loans in Canada decreased, in line with the tendency of the past few months, standing at $61,647,623, compared with $66,216,946 on December 31 last. Demand deposits made a substantial increase to $23,377,659, compared with $20,051,816 on December 31 last. Savings deposits, however, are lower, at $76,899,961, compared with $84,889,439 at the end of the last year. This leaves total deposits at a decrease of something over $4,000,000 for the six months. Liquid assets are $56,755,178, against total liabilities to the public of $111,917,853 or over 50 per cent. Total assets are now $125,916,437, against $139,263,093 on December 31 last and $140,164,643 a year ago.

BRAZIL'S JUNE NET

June net earnings of Brazilian Traction were 7,803,000, or just below the May record, while the net increase was 2,007,000, which exceeded the favorable comparative record of last October by 30,000 milreis. Gross earnings were 14,257,000 milreis, which was slightly exceeded in May. Aggregate gross for the first six months are 80,199,000 milreis, an increase of 19,159,000, and aggregate net 40,826,000, an increase of 7,769,000. Translated into dollars, even the recent gains in net do not come up to net earnings of the early months of the year, because of the decline in Brazilian currency since that time.

Mining Notes

TORONTO, July 29.—Better production and operating conditions have led the Lakeshore mines to resume the payment of dividends, one of 2 per cent, having been declared, payable August 10 to shareholders of record August 1, and a further dividend of 2 per cent., payable November 10 to shareholders of record November 1. Production in June exceeded $52,000, a new high record for the mines. All the ore for this output was taken from the development work and none from the slope. The last previous dividend on Lakeshore was paid in January, 1921. Last year Lakeshore paid four per cent.

COUNTRY DAIRY BOARDS

STIRLING, Ont., July 29 — Five hundred boxes cheese, white, were boarded and sold at 24 11-6c.

CAMPBELLFORD, Ont., July 29 — Cheese boarded yesterday, 530 boxes of white and 40 colored. The white sold at 24 9-16c; colored unsold.

KINGSTON, Ont., July 29— At the Frontenac Cheese Board yesterday, there were 325 boxes boarded. All sold at 22⅝c.

IMPORTANT RULING ON SHORT SELLING RULES

A New York message states that the New York Stock Exchange has made an important ruling respecting short selling and borrowing stocks for that purpose.

The rule is to the effect that stock exchange firms selling stocks short for their own account must borrow the same in the open market and shall not use their clients stock for delivery.

It is pointed out that this is a most important ruling and the hope is expressed that it will be strictly enforced. The message, which was written by Edmund Randolph, of E. & C. Randolph, adds:

"There are supposed to be a number of houses, the ones who make notoriously low rates, who heretofore have financed themselves in this way. Of course it is easy enough to make cheap rates where customers stocks are sold out and not carried."

The above announcement created a good deal of interest in the local market as numerous complaints have been heard, of clients calling for delivery of shares carried on margins which were not obtainable when wanted. The inference is that if the transaction was purely a commission one there would be little or no hesitation in covering the short contract for delivery at the expense of the client. If the short transaction happens to be for the account of the firm itself there are expedients which may be resorted to for the purpose of seeking delay with a view to avoiding a loss.

Topics of the Street

The smaller amount of business which was noted on the Montreal Stock Exchange this morning, together with a less bullish price range came about with a smaller list of issues appearing in the trading. In all 2,875 shares changed hands, down 1,372 shares from yesterday morning's total of 4,247 shares.

Riordon was the active leader of the session with a turnover of 650 shares, National Breweries coming next with 395 shares. Other active issues included: Laurentide, 345 shares; Lake of the Woods Milling, 300; Spanish River, 225; Mont. Power, 124; Brazilian, 105; and Abitibi, 100 shares.

That a section of the public is beginning to watch the local market with a good deal of interest now that it has made some sort of a display of underlying strength is indicated by the reports brokers make of the increased inquiries they have received from people concerning different stocks.

While no great expansion is expected for a while this is considered a favorable sign, indicating that there is a potential buying power ready when conditions are more favorable than they are at present.

The technical position is believed to be improving, and there is a disposition to encourage further buying for cash at present prices rather than a speculative following which might be disappointed over immediate results.

One of the reassuring signs after an extended depression in market values is unrest among the shorts and one of the surest signs that the bears are beginning to be worried is the clamorous character of their claims of what is going to happen to the market. This is one of the characteristic antics of a certain little animal which exudes a noxious odor as a strong arm of defence when its safety is endangered..

There seems very little doubt that broad fundamental conditions are shaping for betterment and the fact that the markets do not respond in the usual way is that the circumstances attending the sweeping decline have been historically exceptional and entirely new economic conditions confront the public which makes a revival of confidence necessarily slow.

The foundation may not be complete yet in all details for an industrial revival. The financial setting has worked ahead of the other, as is indicated by the stronger position of banking and the easing of money rates. Even when the setting for a restoration of security values is complete in every detail the recovery is going to be slow. The old market forces are decimated and crippled financially. It will prove a slow process to recruit and mobilize another strong enough to take the places of those who have been forced into a fiscal obscurity.

But taking the situation as a whole signs are accumulating that the worst is over and a constructive market is gradually getting under way. Its quietness has made for effectiveness as there has been no effort to bull prices or make a demonstration of premature strength which would do more harm than good.

The stability of many of Canada's leading interests throughout a trying period is widely known and will make for confidence. Ability to weather storms gives a degree of comfort and assurance which success in plain sailing will never do.

The promise of a better average crop in the western grain belt than for some years past is very encouraging. Indications are accumulating that the farmers will get a good price for their wheat this year, although considerably below the wartime average. This will bring revenue to carriers and allied interests as well which will impart a degree of activity in many directions.

The better showing of C. P. R. earnings for the first half of the year, coming from such a representative and widely watched corporation, will be a great strength.

The confidence of the public is one of the essentials and that will not be long withheld.

It is interesting to note that in Wall Street some of the belated fluctuations in isolated industrial issues is being ignored so far as the standard values are concerned.

This is one of the many indications of returning improvement. The improvement in the bond market, which always precedes a stock market uplift, is another.

The sharp decline in call money shows the trend of the money market and the abundance seeking temporary employment in the market is a prime factor making for demand and strength in values.

It is claimed that some industries are still in a weak position and that further readjustment will be necessary, but it is believed these have been to a great extent discounted and there is a feeling that they will right themselves without doing violence to the market as a whole.

TORONTO'S DOUBLE HOLIDAY

TORONTO, July 29.—The local security markets are about to enter upon another holiday season. When the Toronto Exchange and the Standard Mining Exchange conclude business this afternoon, they will remain closed until ten o'clock Tuesday morning. The brief Saturday session is omitted, as is usual during the summer months, and Monday is given over to the observance of a civic holiday.

LIGGETT BACKED HIS OWN HORSE TOO STRONGLY

One of the features of the business readjustment has been the over-confidence of some industrial leaders in the stability of their own business and the belief that it would not be affected to the same extent as others. Some men who have attained eminence in their own line have suffered from the fact that their judgment became submerged in the flood of contrary opinions representing the market as a whole.

This is prominently brought out in the case of the president of the United Drug Company, Louis K. Liggett, whose personal financial collapse has already been referred to in these columns. The Boston News Bureau tells the story as follows:

The frank statement from Louis K. Liggett explaining the cause of his financial embarrassment was just what was expected by State and Wall Streets and business men generally.

Briefly, it was an admission by one of America's great captains of industry that he was too confident as to the impregnability of his company against trade recession. He was sure that his company was secure against all adverse post-war readjustments.

He carried the load alone. And though he went under with United Drug Co. common stock bought all the way down from $142 to $80 per share, his first words were of regret for his Rexallites—the United Drug stockholder agents and special distributors—who now number close to 10,000 and who have always been referred to by Mr. Liggett as his "pardners."

Mr. Liggett's personal affairs are in the hands of three trustees for adjustment, but he is far from being "down and out." Forty-six years old, a perfect physical specimen of manhood, he has the same ability, vim and enthusiasm that 18 years ago conceived the United Drug Co. The genius that expanded sales from $63,000 in 1903 to $100,000,000 last year, is still there. He has simply turned the old page over and starts anew with the dominating idea in his mind still unchanged, viz., that the United Drug Co. is the biggest thing of its kind in the world.

On Wednesday afternoon, after the Stock Exchange closed, he remarked: "I feel free of worry today over personal affairs; more relieved than I have been for six months."

The popular question is: "What'll he do now?" The answer is that he will still be president of the United Drug Co.—his greatest achievement and for the moment the cause of his greatest personal downfall. He will still dominate that company and its subsidiaries and right now is concentrating on plans he conceived six months ago of merging the biggest chain of drug stores in this country with the biggest chain of drug stores in Europe, making the resultant combination the biggest manufacturing and retailing drug company in the world.

To use his words, Mr. Liggett "backed his own horse too strongly"; his confidence and enthusiasm carried him a bit too far in the face of post-war financial and merchandise adjustments. His bank borrowings were negotiated to enable him to carry United Drug in ever increasing amounts. He was not a speculator as the word is ordinarily used.

Though he will of necessity have to revamp his personal budget, he does not intend one whit to drop his interest in civic and national affairs.

He is already taking steps to rebuild what he has lost.

Mr. Liggett yesterday tendered his resignation as a director of the National Shawmut Bank. The directors unanimously declined to accept his resignation, on the ground that he has acted honorably in every way; that they believed in him and in his company; and that they wanted that kind of man to sit on their board.

BEET CROP AFFECTED BY PROLONGED DROUGHT

NEW YORK, July 29. — (Special to The Star.) — Cubas were advanced a quarter of a cent from 3 to 3¼ cents by the Cuban Sugar Committee yesterday. This action was predicted the latter part of last week, and had been anticipated by the trade. The three cent quotation was withdrawn at noon when the committee went into executive session. About two o'clock announcement of resumption of business at the new figure was made.

Several morning sales to Europe and United Kingdom were made before the price went up at 21s., about 3¼ cents c. and f., August shipment. The market continued strong and active, with European sales predominating. At 21s., 20,000 tons were ordered for European delivery. Refiner Howell bought 15,000 tons at 3 cents, and Godchaux 3,000 tons at the same price. St. John, N.B., placed an order for 25,000 bags of San Domingos at 3 cents, August delivery.

The European markets are understood to be affected by unfavorable beet crop conditions due to prolonged drought. In addition to damage reported in Czecho-Slovakia, cable advices from Paris state the drought has caused injury in some parts of France. Advices from Detroit stated that dry weather is affecting the eastern beet crop in Michigan and Indiana, and as far west as the Missouri River.

Refiner Arbuckle withdrew yesterday morning, having booked a fairly large business at 5.85 cents for fine granulated, while the Federal Sugar Refining Company remained withdrawn. Warner was firm at six cents basis for fine granulated, and during the morning the other local refiners revised their lists upward to correspond. Demand was reported only fair, but brokers declared that a much larger business could have been done were it not that all refiners were largely oversold.

FAIR BUSINESS IN WOOL

BOSTON, July 29.—The Commercial Bulletin tomorrow will say:

Fair business in wool in the local market is reported for the week, chiefly in the finer grades, which are firm. Some business in medium grades are reported at prices barely steady. The successful opening of lightweight goods this week by the American Woollen Company is regarded as a forerunner of good business for the coming season, especially in the finer grades of wool.

LOCAL BUTTER AUCTION

At the local butter auction held today by the Quebec Agricultural Co-operative Society at the Board of Trade, prices were unchanged. There were 1,301 boxes of butter offered, and from these the following sales were realized: No. 1, 813 boxes at 39½c per lb.; 196 boxes of No. 2 were offered and 38⅝c per lb. bid, but no sales were realized; Pasteurized, 292 boxes sold at 40½c per lb.

WHEAT PRICES SCORE DECLINE AT CHICAGO

The following noon grain letter was received from Chicago by E. C. Mo[illegible]s, manager for Logan & Bryan, at their Board of Trade branch office:

Wheat—Buying by a leading commission house with N.W. connections and one of the leading cash grain houses brought prices up to around the opening level, the July losing its premium over the Sept. Snow's report was construed as bullish showing crops of 62 million bushels. Cash markets 3c lower. Old crop spring sales were made at $1.80 for No. 1 dark nor., 55½c over July and at $1.60 for No. 2 dark nor. Estimated receipts were 585 cars. Deliveries on July contracts 3000 bushels.

Corn—Prices started lower and after displaying a little resistance eased a bit under the opening levels with free houses on both sides of the market. Trade was not large and little buying followed Snow's estimate that the potential crop losses in 25 days had totalled 300,000,000 bushels. Cash market started unchanged, with receipts estimated 125 cars. Deliveries on July contracts 140,000 bushels.

Black Rust Checked; Copious Rains in West

Merchants Bank Western Crop Report says: A very marked change for the better has occurred during the past week by reason of the fact that the black rust has been checked owing to more favorable weather conditions. Copious rains have fallen throughout the three Prairie Provinces, and the weather has turned cooler. We now have good filling weather and the change in conditions at this stage is very opportune.

Harvesting has started in the earlier districts in Manitoba and a few shipments of new wheat have already been received. It is expected that cutting will be general in all three provinces by August fifteenth.

Present prospects are that the total wheat yield will be in excess of last year.

DRY GOODS PRICES AT BOTTOM, IS OPINION

Bradstreet's Montreal weekly trade report says:—In the wholesale dry goods trade, merchants have reduced their prices to such an extent that it is believed they have found bottom at last time. It is the opinion of the trade, it is stated, that it is quite safe to do business at today's level. Manufacturers of dry goods state that prices at present are as close to producing costs as is possible, and should encourage business. Travellers on the road are booking up a good assorting trade, but very little for the future, as retail buyers are sticking to the hand to mouth policy. [illegible]ns are easier, and carpets are down about 25 p.c.

The wholesale grocery trade is [illegible]et. Canned tomatoes are higher. The [illegible]ar market lacks the confidence of b[illegible]rs.

The situation in the hardware trade is unchanged, the principal demand being for the light line of household [illegible]cts and sporting goods. Heavy lines are neglected.

The boot and shoe industry is more active, retailers are buying more liberally to replenish their light stocks.

Shipping companies say that the past week showed some improvements in the import trade. Ocean freight rates on cattle were reduced ten dollars per head during the week. A large number of tramp steamers left port during the week, carrying full cargoes of grain to European ports.

Favourable weather, accompanied by rain, has considerably improved the crop outlook in the North West Provinces. Cutting commenced in some localities this week, the quality of which is reported as fine. Bone dry weather in the Province of Quebec has been experienced mostly the past week. The crop outlook is not very favorable at present.

Remittances are good, but city collections are only fair.

BUTTER STOCKS IN STORAGE SHOW SHARP INCREASE

OTTAWA, July 29.—Statistics issued today show that the butter in storage in Canada now amounts to 10,213,320 pounds of creamery, and 525,647 pounds of dairy. Comparative figures show this to be an increase of 26.73 per cent in the case of creamery butter and 41.13 per cent in the case of dairy butter over the amounts held in storage on the corresponding date last year.

Oleomargine stocks have decreased to 171,043 pounds, a decrease of 68.23 per cent from last year and 34.33 per cent from last month.

Cheese in storage amounts to 4,725,660 pounds, an increase of 70.26 per cent over last month, but a decrease of 47.02 per cent from last year.

Eggs in cold storage total 9,544,908 dozen, other than cold storage 836,099 dozen; and frozen eggs 776,822 pounds.

Pork stocks are as follows: 9,496,645 pounds of fresh frozen, 2,031,331 pounds of fresh not frozen, 1,293,583 pounds of dry salted, 6,260,728 pounds of sweet pickled and 10,911,761 pounds in process of cure. Comparative figures show a decrease in fresh frozen of 24.38 per cent from last month and an increase of 2.30 per cent from last year, a decrease in fresh unfrozen of 8.44 per cent from last month and 7.45 per cent from last year, a decrease in dry salted of 35.56 per cent from last month and 40.08 per cent from last year, a decrease of 35.81 per cent in sweet pickled from last month and 13.25 per cent from last year, a decrease of 9.93 per cent in process of cure from last month and 47.41 per cent from last year.

The beef stocks amount to 8,164,260 pounds of fresh frozen, 2,968,975 pounds of fresh not frozen, 365,429 pounds of cured and 296,241 pounds in process of cure, a total of 11,794,805 pounds. Comparative figures show the following: Fresh frozen has decreased 24.67 per cent from last month, but shows an increase of 23.48 per cent over last year.

ANNOUNCS REDUCTION IN GRAIN EXPORT RATES

NEW YORK, July 29.—(Special to The Star.)—Reduction of five cents a hundred pounds in the export rate on wheat, corn and rye from Buffalo, Erie and Fairport to eastern export points, and a cut of three cents a hundred in export rates on barley and oats were announced yesterday by R. N. Collyer, vice-chairman of the Eastern Traffic Executive in this city. An adjustment of rates from central to eastern territory will be given further consideration at a conference to be held in Chicago next week.

The reduction in wheat, corn and rye rates amounts to about 25 per cent. The present export rates from lake points to New York are: wheat, 2.17 cents per 100 pound; corn and rye, 19.79 cents; oats, 19.63 cents; and barley, 20.08 cents per 100 pounds. It is understood the railroads will preserve the usual port differentials. It is admitted that the reductions have been made because of a demand from grain shippers for concessions in rates.

Reports that Japanese tonnage had withdrawn from the Pacific coast grain trade were untrue. Three more Japanese vessels have just been chartered to carry grain from Portland, Oregon, to the Orient.

AGAINST SECRECY AT CONFERENCE

NEW YORK, —uly 29. — (United Press.)—Success of the Washington disarmament conference depends to a large extent on the publicity it gets, James Wright Brown, of the Editor and Publisher, declared here today.

The several hundred newspaper men who will be gathered for the meeting will fight for "Open covenants openly arrived at" so that the error of Versailles where secrecy was the rule may not be repeated, said Brown.

A preliminary newspaper men's conference is now being arranged, he said, at which the seed for full publicity will be sown and an effort made to lower cable tolls on the news of the conference.

"The historical position of the American press and the experience of the last few years demand that the public be informed step by step of the actions of the conference," Brown said. "For more than two thousand years, the Old World has failed to maintain peace upon a secret diplomacy basis. Isn't it time to retrieve the ground lost and have the discussion in the open, free from the blighting touch of the curse of the ages—secret diplomacy."

The differences between United States and the Far East can be directly traced to the high cable tolls, he said.

"How can the Japanese people be informed of the true feeling of the American people in detail when it costs 30 cents a word to tell them about it? If the tolls are lowered the Japanese people will receive the accurate and detailed accounts of American sympathy that have linked America with England and France."

WOOD ALCOHOL ON EMPTY BOTTLE

Lying in a stupor on Windsor street at midnight Wednesday, Charles McHale, no address, was found by Special Constable Etherbert Hebert of No. 6 station. When first found the constable thought McHale was in a drunken stupor, and being unable to waken him called the patrol and had him taken to the station.

While in the patrol, Constable Hebert noticed a strange odor from the prisoner. Search at the station revealed an eight ounce bottle which was labelled wood alcohol. The man's breath smelt strongly of the poison. The ambulance from the Montreal General Hospital was called and McHale taken to that institution. Restoratives were applied and McHale regained consciousness. This morning he was brought before Judge Leet, charged with attempting to commit suicide. As he was still in a weak condition the case was remanded for another week.

CANAL TRAFFIC REPORT.

OTTAWA, July 29.—(By Canadian Press) — The traffic on the Welland and St. Lawrence canals increased 37 and 35 per cent respectively in June, 1921, according to an announcement made public this morning by the transportation branch of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. The traffic on the other canals showed considerable decreases compared with June last year. The Chambly canal dropped 58 per cent, Trent canal 54 per cent, Murray Canal 43 per cent, Rideau 31 per cent, SS. Marie 30 per cent, Ottawa canal 17 per cent and Peters canal 15 per cent.

CUT IN LIVESTOCK RATES ANNOUNCED

Will Be 85 Cents Hundred Winnipeg to Montreal or Toronto

OTHERS RESTORED

Tolls Charged in Western Canada and Coast are Revived

OTTAWA, Ont., July 29—(Canadian Press). — The reduction in the rates on livestock, arranged as a result of the conference between shippers, representatives of the railways and the Railway Commission, were announced today in a letter from the carriers to the commission. They will come into effect immediately the new tariffs are filed with the commission.

Western Canada and British Columbia local rates in effect prior to September 18, 1920, are restored, as also are local rates in Eastern Canada prior to the same date.

The rate on cattle from Winnipeg to Montreal or Toronto under the new rate will be 85 cents per hundred pounds.

A BRAVE WOMAN CAPTURES BURGLAR

Calls to Her Mother to Bring Imaginary Revolver —Burglar Wilts

NEW YORK. (By Mail) — Because she has often pictured to herself how she would cope with a burglar if ever she discovered one in her room, Miss Margaret McDonald, a young concert singer living with her widowed mother at No. 316 West 88th street, coolly captured a burglar in her room by bluffing him into thinking there was a revolver in the house.

There is nothing morbid about Miss McDonald's forehandedness. It was inspired purely by indignation over burglaries and the way women acted when they met them. She made up her mind long ago, although she is only twenty-four years old, that the thing to do was to outwit and capture an intruder, not to have hysterics over his presence. In her imagination she pictured the drama of capturing a burglar. There was to be no jiu jitsu about it. Her encounter was to be wholly a matter of brains.

REHEARSED MOMENT ARRIVES.

At 4 a.m. yesterday, in the dressing room opening off the front parlor of her mother's first floor apartment, the curtain of sleep rang up abruptly on the first act of her long rehearsed melodrama. The gentle sound of a drawer in her chiffonier being opened wakened her to the fact of a burglar's presence. Her reaction was smoothly automatic.

"Drop that!" she shouted suddenly. Then, "Mother get the revolver. There's a burglar in my room."

It was a tense moment in the play, for her mother, in the next room, had never even heard of her part in the drama. She rallied to the emergency however, with a "scared, "All right!"

The succeeding action came rapidly. Up went the burglar's hands, on went the lights, in came her mother with one hand behind her, and plump went daughter's hands over his pockets to see if he carried a weapon. Finding none, she sat down on her bed to stall off his departure until the police came. Her mother withdrew to her bedroom and called down to Miss Grace Wallace, owner of the house, who slept beneath her, to get a policeman.

"MUST HAVE VAMPED ME."

For twenty minutes Miss McDonald hypnotized the man into standing uneasily in a corner of the room. "She must have vamped me," he said afterward at the police station, when the officers seemed puzzled that he did not escape.

His entrance was effected by standing on the porch of No. 316 and removing a screen from the front bay window of the next house. Departure would have been very simple. Still, there was the alleged revolver, which the nervous woman in the next room was supposed to have handy.

Miss McDonald elicited the following facts: His name was John. Bjorkman, his age 18, his nationality Finnish. He had no home, or any job. He had taken her purse with fifty-five cents in it from the drawer but missed diamonds worth hundreds of dollars. He wished most heartily to be allowed to go in peace and reform.

"I really felt sorry for him," said Miss McDonald later. "We shook hands just before I opened the door and confronted him with Detective James Fitzpatrick. He didn't seem to realize how serious an offence housebreaking is."

PRISONER PLEADS GUILTY.

Bjorkman was held for trial in West Side Court on bail of $5,000 when he pleaded guilty before Magistrate Tobais.

"It is terrible, lady," he said during the day, when Miss McDonald called. "I never would have done it if I hadn't been broke. I slept on Riverside Drive until it began to rain. You surely must have vamped me or I'd have been down at South Ferry by the time the cop came."

"Not a chance," answered Miss McDonald amiably. "If you had tried to get out that window I'd have grabbed you around the waist from behind."

This was the scene in the melodrama that was omitted evidently.

"I was terrified," said Mrs. McDonald. "I don't see how Margaret could be so calm. I never dreamed she would be so quick-witted as to yell 'Bring the revolver' when she saw him."

"Nothing quick-witted about it," answered her red-haired daughter. "I'd had it planned for years."

ST. TITE DES CAPS SCENE OF FIRE

Eleven Houses Destroyed by Flames—No Lives Were Lost

QUEBEC, July 29. — A bad fire broke out at the village of St. Tite des Caps, Montmorency county, at one o'clock yesterday, commencing in the bakery of Edgar Gauthier, and spreading to eleven houses, which were destroyed. The families driven out by the flames were taken care of by neighbours for the time being. There was no water available to figh the flames, and only a change in the wind saved the church and the greater part of the village from destruction. Albert Renaud lost two houses and two barns, Edgar Gauthier his house and bakery, M. Dubeau house and sheds, Theophile Gauthier house and forge, N. Morency house and barn, Auguste Lavoie house and stables, M. Crepault house and stable, O. Lablon house and stable, Francis Crepault and M. Davis their houses. The fire burnt all the afternoon and into the evening and was only stopped at the house of Cyprien Ferland. Most of the property lost is covered wholly or in part by insurance. All the furniture in the first two houses was destroyed, but the majority of the household effects of the remaining sufferers was saved before the flames reached their premises.

BICYCLE THEFT CHARGE.

Charged with stealing a bicycle Arthur Turcot, 17 years of age of 2571 St. Andre street was arrested on Craig street Wednesday afternoon by Detectives Daoust and Leberge. The bicycle, a Winchester valued at $50 together with the prisoner was taken to the station. The accused pleaded not guilty before Judge Leet this morning and was remanded for inquete. The owner of the bicycle has not yet been found.

NEED URGENT FOR EMPLOYMENT

Col. Almond Asks Where is Seven Million of Patriotic Fund

WINTER OUTLOOK

Pessimistic Views Regarding Unemployment in City Expressed

Vivid statements regarding the unemployment situation in Montreal and the bad prospects for the coming winter were made at the Kiwanis Club luncheon yesterday by Capt. G. H. Boyd, director of administration, Soldier Civil Re-establishment, for the province, the Rev. Canon Almond, and Dr. Dunstan Gray, who spoke on the subject of unemployment.

Canon Almond wanted to know what had become of the $7,000,000 that the Patriotic Fund had in hand somewhere, and why it could not be used to provide employment for the thousands of returned men who needed work, instead of the interest from it being used to pay officials to keep the fund in operation.

Capt. Boyd maintained that with the present state of trade, when every business was curtailing its staff, and requiring the highest efficiency from those who remained, the returned man who was under any disability had no chance of finding employment, and there were hundreds of men with families who had little chance of securing work unless some concerted movement was undertaken by various organizations to provide it.

What made the situation worse in Montreal was that thousands of people were coming into the city, spending their money in various ways, and then, penniless, walking the streets and looking for jobs. If Montreal had only to deal with its own people it would be in a much better condition to handle the situation in the coming winter, but there was no money available to send the outsiders back to their own municipalities, while some municipalities were even sending their unemployed into Montreal so as to get rid of them. Although it was only in the beginning of summer the situation was already bad and although last winter was a bad one, the coming winter would be one hundred per cent. worse The stamina of the men was being lowered, and they would not have the vitality to fight off any sickness that might occur; and it looked as if there might be an epidemic among the men and their families who were weakened by weeks and months of hunger. Inquiries among the big employing firms showed that they were only retaining 45 per cent. of their ordinary staffs, and these were working on short time, there was no work on the farms available, and the lumbering industry outlook for the fall was very poor. Returned men were disheartened and were losing their initiative and drifting with the stream and some radical steps would have to be taken in the near future by organizations to relieve the situation.

Col. the Rev. John Almond said they must try to face the future with cheerfulness for that was the only way they could win the war against unemployment, as they won the great war. The Government had done more for the Canadian soldiers than any other country on the face of the earth, but something further had to be done somehow. There had been criticism of the Soldiers Re-establishment and the Patriotic Fund, which had done good work, but there was seven million dollars tied up in the Patriotic Fund somewhere and the public wanted to know where it was and how it could be got hold of to help in the present emergency, instead of the interest from it being used to pay official salaries. "In the basement of Trinity Church this afternoon, you will find from one to three hundred men, incapacitated men, who are practically hungry and have no work. These men don't want charity, for every time," he said, charity is dealt out it takes away their independence and makes them beggars. They want work.

If I had $25,000 there would be a proposition started right away covering $200,000 before it stopped, and I want somebody to start me. These are the kind of things we must do, provide work. The country will be for ever damned if it does not give these men the opportunity of making their living.. Let them turn out the political parasites which eat up the country's revenue in overhead expenses, and let clubs like the Kiwanis and Rotary get together and see if they cannot start something that will create work this winter.

Dr. Dunstan Gray, as chairman of the Social Service Agency committee which is working quietly to seek a solution of the problem pointed out that there were thousands of civilian breadwinners who were without employment, whose savings had all been eaten up and who were in a weakened condition, and he hoped the Kiwanis would join wholeheartedly in any movement that would start something to carry these people over the winter.

President Walter Taylor said he had been invited to attend a meeting with the president of the Rotary Club and the Kinsmens Club, to consider a scheme for assisting men to get out to the northwest, and while this was only a temporary expedient, it might help a little, and he would report further on the scheme at the next meeting.

J. Doherty suggested that manufacturers should be urged to make more goods in this country, and thus not only provide employment, but save the country a hundred million dollars a year in exchange now being paid to the United States.

Chairman J. Meiklejohn felt sure that the Kiwanis would willingly cooperate in any movement that was brought forward that would aid in improving conditions in the city.

ALLEGED THEFT FROM FREIGHT CAR

Detective Walsh, Therien and Thibault arrested at 4.30 p.m. Wednesday afternoon George Johnson, 26 years of age, no address, and charged him with stealing from the Canadian Pacific Railway 3,400 yards of cotton, valued at $1,800. The accused was arraigned this morning before Judge Leet and pleaded not guilty.

According to the detective who made the arrest, Johnson boarded a freight train between Highlands and Montreal. One of the cars was loaded with cotton. It is alleged he opened the door and threw the cloth out, transporting it to Montreal by automobile. A quantity of the goods was recovered.

GIVEN DRINK, DRUGGED, STUNNED, ROBBED OF ALL HE POSSESSED

An acceptance of an invitation to go into a house with two casual acquaintances to have a drink, the drugging of two bottles of beer, which made him the easy prey of the two men, who hit him on the head with a beer bottle, robbed him of $1,165, and then locked him in a room, led to the appearance of George Gourdney in the Recorder's Court yesterday, charged with loitering drunk, according to the story which he told the Recorder.

Mr. Gourdney, the victim, who lives at 451 Clarke street, was arrested on Wednesday afternoon on the charge of loitering drunk on Craig street. The accused pleaded guilty to the charge, and in defence told Recorder Semple the following story, on the strength of which his sentence was suspended.

Wednesday afternoon Mr. Gourdney met by chance two men with whom he got into conversation, he said. They asked him to go with them to their house to have a drink and took him to a house on Clarke St. The party drank beer, which the two strangers produced. Mr. Gourdney had finished his second bottle, when he began to feel ill and asked to be shown to the bath-room. There he was hit on the back of the head with a beer bottle, which stunned him. The state of Mr. Gourdney's head this morning, which was badly cut, bore testimony to the force of the blow. He could not remember anything for two minutes, when he recovered he found that he had been locked in the room and had been robbed of all his money, a sum of $1,165.

The room was at the back of the house. When he broke the window and cried for help from the police he met with no immediate response. He then broke down the door and made his way to the street. The effect of the blow on the head and the two bottles of beer had not yet worn off and as he staggered down to Craig street he was arrested for being drunk.

Gourdney had been badly hurt by the blow which he received and the constable took him to the General Hospital, where his wounds were dressed. As he was being taken to the cells Gourdney told the officer his story and to prove it to him asked the officer to come to the house in Clarke street and he would show him the inside of the house. They went to a house but found the door locked. Gourdney forced the door. As they were about to enter the owner of the house came up and said that he would have to lay a charge against Gourdney for damaging his property. The man did not appear at the court this morning and the charge was not made.

Gourdney has returned to hospital and his condition is said to be serious.

ALLEGE MEN HAD BUSY EVENING

Today They Face Charges of Burglary, Arson and Assault

Charged with attempted burglary, arson and assault, Ovila Frechette, 22 years of age of 14 Hunter street, and Joseph Coursol, 23 years of age, the same address, were arraigned before Judge Leet on Wednesday. They pleaded not guilty to the charges, but were refused bail. Frechette's father-in-law laid the assault charge and the police laid the charges of arson and attempted burglary.

From the evidence given it would appear that the two young men had a very busy evening yesterday, for it is alleged that together with beating Frechette's father-in-law into insensibility about 11.30 o'clock they also attempted to break into the store of J. A. Turcot, 844 Notre Dame street.

Sergt. Desjardins and Constable Lachapelle, who placed them under arrest, found it is alleged that they had a large crowbar in their possession with which they were breaking down the front door of Mr. Turcot's store.

John Rafferty, Frechette's father-in-law informed the court that at about six o'clock Wednesday his son-in-law accompanied by Coursol had come to his home. Frechette's wife had ordered the pair to leave the place as they were too "tough" and their company was not desired. The two men left swearing vengeance. At about 11 o'clock Rafferty had occasion to go on the street and states he was set upon by Frechette and Coursol together with two other men. He looked as if he had been through a serious fray, as his head was swollen and both his eyes were blackened. Several cuts on his face also bore testimony that he had received rough treatment. They were remanded for one week.

NEWS ABOUT MONTREAL WANTED

Latest Civic Pamphlet Available is Four Years Old

The lack of up-to-date information about Montreal, suitable for tourists, was the subject of some complaint by an official of the Montreal Board of Trade this afternoon. Many Americans desirous of visiting this city were writing to the Board of Trade for information, and he knew of nothing more recent than the pamphlet issued in 1917 by the city authorities. That pamphlet was good, but he said it was embarrassing to have to confess to American visitors that Montreal's latest pamphlet was four years old. There had been a number of changes in the city since then.

The Plattsburg Chamber of Commerce had written for particulars, he added, saying that many people there were asking for information about Montreal, and for automobile routes and maps, with places of interest on the way between that city and Montreal. If up-to-date materials of that kind were available the Board of Trade would be glad to hear of it, and to receive supplies, so as to help in bringing more tourists to Montreal.

The only up-to-date publication he had seen was one explaining the facilities here for obtaining liquor, said to have been issued by the city, but on enquiry the city authorities had denied paternity of this pamphlet, which appeared to have been issued by a private concern.

BOYS TUMBLE AND DO ELEPHANT WALK

Folk dancing and small-boy "stunts" such as tumbling and the elephant walk proved novel and popular features to the neighborhood near Macdonald playground where the first demonstration of the work of the Parks and Playgrounds' Association took place Wednesday afternoon. It had been feared that the Dominion Park celebration might prove a counter-attraction, and that the merry-go-round might lure away the youngsters who were to take part. However, by the time the program had begun a very satisfactory number of boys and girls, the latter in stiffly starched dresses and with hair curled for the occasion, had assembled and about a dozen mothers had been prevailed upon to attend. A short program of dances was given and samples of raffia work and paper flowers were then inspected by Miss Blackader, of the Parks and Playgrounds' Association, and Mrs. G. Brandon, head supervisor, who were among those present.

MANSLAUGHTER IS JURY'S VERDICT

Two Men Held Responsible for the Death of Nickifort

RESULT OF FIGHT

Dead Man Alleged to Have Resented Help Given to Detective

Two Rumanians were yesterday held criminally responsible by a Coroner's jury for the death of Vasili Nickifort, of 460 Moreau street, who was found fatally injured on the street near his home early on Saturday morning. The two men are Ioan Rosca, of 163 Wurtel street, and Sakva Lazarovitch, also of 163 Wurtel street.

They will be charged with manslaughter. The evidence submitted in Rumanian, English and French at this morning's hearing was elucidated for the court by Miss Sally G. Solomon, attache of the Rumanian consulate here. It tended to show that, despite theories hitherto held by detectives working on the case, the death of Nickifort was due to injuries received in a fight. The Coroner is convinced that robbery was not the motive for the beating of the Rumanian, and no proof was found that the deceased had any large sum of money with him at the time of the fight.

The first witness called was Vasil Francius, of 460 Moreau street, who gave evidence at the opening of the case on Tuesday. He stated that he was present at his home on the night of the affair when a detective came and asked for Mrs. Dureski, one of Nickifort's relatives, who lived there. Nickifort met him at the door and refused him admission, striking him with his fist and ordering him away. The detective went but threatened to return with help to arrest the woman. The detective, witness said, met Lazarovitch and Rosca, and they offered to assist him to make the arrest. They returned with him to the house and the woman was taken away to the police station. Lazarovitch and Rosca returned to the house on Moreau St., witness said, and a fight started over the assistance they had given the detective.

Lazarovitch and Rosca ran from the house, with Nickifort at their heels. Witness did not see what ensued later, because the three men went under the bridge which runs across Moreau street near the house. He heard sounds of a scuffle, and heard Rosca say, supposedly to Nickifort: "What do you hit us for? Do we owe you something?" The last time he saw Lazarovitch and Rosca they were running towards Forsythe street, with their bent arms before their faces. It was later, while he was in the house, that he first heard that Nickifort was dead or dying on the street.

Mrs. Eldege Trugas, of 429 Moreau street, told the court that she was standing at her front window about one o'clock on Saturday morning when she heard signs of a scuffle in the street. She saw that two men, whom she has since recognized as Lazarovitch and Rosca, were kicking the other, Nickifort. The fight was taking place almost beneath a bridge over the street. About three quarters of a hour later she heard of the serious condition of Nickifort and saw policement at the scene.

Similar evidence was given by Joseph Boucher, of 429 Moreau street; Stephano Dureski, a Rumanian of 410 Moreau street; and Theodore Barba, of 460 Moreau street, all of whom had seen something of the fight.

Coroner McMahon's summary of the evidence was brief. He stated his belief that as there was no proof that robbery had any connection with the fight which caused Nickifort's death, he did not see how the two men, Lazarovitch and Rosca could be charged with murder in the case since it was found that the deceased had himself instigated the fight by chasing the two men. They could be held criminally responsible for the death, however, and charged with manslaughter. Without retiring the jury decided to act as the Coroner advised.

FRANKLY PUZZLED WITH PROHIBITION

Northcliffe Asks When, Where and What it Prohibits?

WASHINGTON, July 29. — (By James T. Kolbert, United Press.) — Lord Northcliffe, famous English publisher, still is dazed by the wonders of American prohibition.

In an interview with the United Press today, he flicked aside discussion of the Washington disarmament conference, funding the Allied debt, and other questions of international scope, and addressed himself to the task to find out what prohibition prohibits.

Northcliffe was informally attired in a dark blue dressing gown.

"What is your mission here?" he was asked.

The Northcliffe brow wrinkled as in deep thought.

"What is this prohibition? When and what does it prohibit" he queried in deep perplexity.

This is Northcliffe's first visit to the United States since the country went constitutionally dry. He had expected to find a Sahara. While not passionately attached to liquor in any form, he does like a little wine with his meals.

"Now while we were dining in New York we ordered some wine and got it," he narrated. "All kinds of drinks were on tap. I paid no attention to it until later it suddenly came to me that the United States is dry; that is, I remembered the reports that drink was prohibited in the United States.

"So I started looking for prohibition. So far I haven't found it. Everywhere I go I'm offered a drink. Everybody I talk with seems to have it or knows where to get it.

"My cab driver in New York — he makes about $50 a week—told me he had no trouble getting his whiskey. I've met other men of moderate means and they had their whiskey.

"No matter where I go, I see it—and smell it. It's beyond me. So far I have been unable to see where and what prohibition prohibits."

HOOVER RECEIVES REPLY FROM RUSSIA

U.S. Gov't Hears Million Russian Children Near Starvation

WASHINGTON, July 28.—(United Press). — The first reply to American representations for release of American prisoners in Soviet Russia was received at the office of Secretary of Commerce, Herbert Hoover today. The message was from Maxim Gorky who was told by Hoover that America could not help relieve Russian famine conditions as long as the Americans were imprisoned.

The reply from Gorky today said:

"Your message gratefully received. Detailed reply will be sent from Moscow by the president of the Central Russian Famine Relief Committee."

There are 26 American prisoners in Soviet Russia, Hoover stated. Twenty are men and six are women.

The American Relief Association is ready to step in to relieve Russian conditions when American prisoners are released, according to Hoover, who heads this organization.

Hoover today said the association has enough funds on hand to begin the work at least without any further appeal. Improved conditions in Central Europe also would release hundreds of relief workers from that territory for work in Russia.

Estimates reaching this Government are that there are 1,000,000 children in the Volga rural districts alone on the verge of starvation. Hoover, however, believes that this estimate should be cut in two. The estimate does not include the cities of Petrograd and Moscow but only the peasant districts.

It is expected here the coming harvest may help the country districts, but probably the effect will not be felt in the cities where conditions are worse. In Petrograd alone, according to advices here, 200,000 adults are on the verge of starvation. Hoover's organization, however, will feed only the children in case it goes into Russia.

Directors' Report to the Shareholders

Gentlemen:—

Your Directors have pleasure in submitting herewith Balance Sheet as at 30th June, 1921, together with Profit and Loss Account for the year ending that date.

The result of the year's operation is fully set forth in the appended Profit and Loss Account, from which it will be observed that, after making provision for all charges, including Bond Interest, and setting aside $100,000.00 for depreciation of Property and Plant, the net Profit amounted to $283,102.83. From this there have been paid during the year dividends at the rate of Four Dollars ($4.00) per share, amounting to $140,000.00, and the balance of $143,102.83 has been added to the Surplus Account, which, exclusive of the General Reserve Account, now amounts to $442,381.71.

As mentioned in Last Year's Report a Special General Meeting of Shareholders was held immediately after the last Annual Meeting and approved a Resolution of the Company, authorizing an application to be made to the Secretary of State, for the issue of Supplementary Letters Patent, changing the Authorized Capital Stock of the Company from Seventeen Thousand Five Hundred (17,500) shares of the par value of one hundred dollars ($100.00) each, to Thirty-five Thousand (35,000) shares without nominal or par value.

Supplementary Letters Patent were obtained, and two (2) shares of common stock without nominal or par value were issued in exchange for each share of common stock of the par value of one hundred dollars ($100.00).

The conditions of operation during the past year have been difficult, and your Directors feel that the results they are able to present to the Shareholders are very satisfactory. The future outlook is still uncertain, and it is felt that a cautious and conservative policy should be continued while the present disturbed conditions remain.

Respectfully submitted on behalf of the Directors.

C. R. WHITEHEAD,
President.

Three Rivers, P.Q., July 14th, 1921.

FIVE LINERS DUE OVER WEEK-END

SS. Vedric, Poland, Minnedosa, Cassandra and Tunisian in River

COLD STORAGE SOON

Mammoth Plant on Waterfront Will Be Ready in Fall

Five liners are already reported inbound to Montreal, and will dock here over the week-end. The incoming liners are the Minnedosa, C.P.R., from Liverpool, due at Quebec at 5 a.m. tomorrow, the C.P.R. liner Tunisian, from Glasgow, due at Quebec Sunday afternoon, and at Montreal Monday morning. The Anchor-Donaldson liner Cassandra is heading in by the short Belle Isle route from Glasgow, and is not expected to reach Montreal until Monday evening or Tuesday morning. In the lead is the White Star liner Vedic, due here tonight, followed by the SS. Poland, due Sunday.

It was learned at C.P.R. headquarters today that if there is no unexpected delay at Quebec, the Melita will make a quick turn round Saturday morning and will speed the entire distance to Montreal with the hope of docking here at 9 p.m. This will convenience the Montrealers on board, and will also enable cabin passengers booked for the west to make their western connections at Windsor and Bonaventure stations the same evening.

BIG HARBOR BUILDING.

Very rapid progress is now being made with the mammoth cold storage plant which is being erected by the Montreal Harbor Commissioners on the local waterfront near shed 25. Any doubts as to whether or not part of the building would be available for storage purposes this fall have been set at rest. F. W. Cowie, chief engineer of the Harbor Commission, under whose direction the building is being erected, stated to The Star today that occupation of the building would certainly commence in the late fall, by which time the entire ten-storey structure of reinforced concrete will have been completed.

The interior work, he added, will all be completed before winter sets in. The ground floor and cellars will probably be ready for storage before the other floors are completed. Each floor has an area of 440 by 110 feet, and is 11 feet high.

The total capacity of the building for dry and cold storage will be over half a million cubic feet including 9 floors and the cellars underneath. The opening of the plant is expected to be the most significant event of the year on the local waterfront and is expected to increase the activity on the waterfront of Montreal both in winter and summer.

Its main benefit will be felt by western shippers who can now forward foodstuffs for export to Montreal and keep in storage at a nominal cost until ocean bottoms are available, ships often being delayed by breakdowns in the engine room or by bad weather. The estimated cost of the cold storage plant is $2,200,000 but this amount may even be exceeded owing to fluctuating costs of building materials.

MANY MONTREALERS LEAVE.

Two liners leave Montreal this week end, namely the Melita, out today for Liverpool, with a heavy cabin list and the White Star liner Canada leaving shed 4 tomorrow at 11 a.m. city time. In both liners Montrealers again exceed in proportion any other part of the Dominion as far as cabin passengers go.

ON CANADA.

On the White Star liner Canada, which is carrying about five hundred passengers, the following in the cabin are from this city: Mrs. Attwood and five children, Mrs. H. M. Body, Miss A. Chadwick, Miss Charbonnelle, Mrs. J. E. Edwards and two sons and Miss Judith Edwards, (family of Captain Edwards, senior British Trade Commissioner), Miss S. J. Jones, Miss J. Lapdrix, W. B. Scott, Mr. Summers, Miss D. J Hawa, Mr. and Mrs. Dalton, and E. E. Lawson.

ON MELITA.

James Bielby, Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Brotherton, Miss E. Caster, Dr. and Mrs. Louis Gross, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hall and two children, Mr. and Mrs. E. Harvey, Mrs. M. J. Hayes, Miss Margaret Hayes, Mrs. M. NEW TRAWLER LINE.

NORTH SYDNEY, N.S., July 26.—(Star Special).—Preliminary steps are being taken by W. N. Mcdonald, of Sydney and James Dunne of this town to establish a fleet of trawlers with North Sydney as their base. Mr. McDonald is the owner of some nine or ten C.D.'s, several of which are now laid up in the upper harbor. One of these has been converted into a trawler and leaves tomorrow for the fishing grounds on a trial trip. Should success attend the venture the others will be similarly fitted up. The vessels are all of about 100 tons and will carry 180,000 pounds of fish. A catch of at least 100,000 pounds per week would be necessary to ensure profitable operation of these craft.

EUROPE WANTS FISH.

They would fish within a radius of about fifty miles of this port. Mr. Dunne, who has done business here for years and also is thoroughly familiar with European fishing grounds, considers the banks off here superior to the Dogger Bank in the North Sea. There are signs of a revival of the salt fish business, and, after a long interval, equiries are coming in here from Britain, Italy and other countries for fish in quantity.

MUNITIONS POUR INTO RUMANIA

"Herald" Fears Rumanian and Polish Attack on Bolsheviki

FAMINE IN RUSSIA

Premier Informs Commons Reports are Greatly Exaggerated

LONDON, July 29.—(United News) — Huge supplies of munitions for heavy artillery have been taken to the Bessarabian front of the Rumanian army, having been brought through by way of Hungary and there is reason to believe that Rumania is preparing to attack Soviet Russia, according to a report from the Socialist party of Rumania published by the Herald, the British Labor party paper. Whole trainloads of munitions and military equipment are said to have been moved.

In this connection the paper points out that it recently announced the formation of a plot by white Russians and influential French interests. It is further claimed that the French Ambassador to Great Britain admitted that France was equipping Rumania and Poland because of the immediate danger of a Soviet attack. The Herald charges that pressure is being exerted on Downing Street to cause the British Government to denounce the trade agreement with Russia because the Bolsheviks are alleged to have supported the Kemalists in the Near East.

Parliament has been informed by the Premier that the reports of famine conditions in Russia are greatly exaggerated, basing the statement on official messages from Moscow. The Soviet Government has not yet made any official request for assistance.

GRAND TRUNK STAFF WILL HOLD PICNIC

Some 3,000 holiday makers, members of the staff of the Grand Trunk headquarters office, with their families and friends, will disport themselves at King Edward Park tomorrow, at the picnic which has been organized for the staff of the McGill street office. The principal staffs affected will be those of the Auditor of Revenue's Department, the Auditor of Disbursements' Department, the Auditor of Pay Rolls' Department and the staff of the Freight Claims Agent. Representatives of all the other departments of the Grand Trunk in the city will also be present. A thousand members of the staff are expected to be present, as well as their families and friends, and along with the visiting representatives from other departments, it is anticipated that the total will not be far short of three thousand.

In order to get through the program of events, this has been divided into two sections. A first contingent will leave the city at 10 a.m. by boat, and the events for boys and girls will be run off during the morning. From noon to 2.30 p.m. athletic events for adults will take place. At 2.30 p.m. the second contingent of picnickers is due to arrive, accompanied by a first class orchestra, and from then onwards, dancing and general picnic entertainments will be engaged in.

The athletic program for which there is a substntial prize list, will be as follows:

Children, boys 8 years and under, 25 yards; children, girls, 8 years and under, 25 yards; boys, 17 years and under, 75 yards; girls, 12 years and under, 50 yards; boys, 12 years and under, 50 yards. Lunch 12 noon to 2.30 p.m. Three legged race, 100 yards; married men, 100 yards; single men, 100 yards; single ladies, 16 years and over, 75 yards; walking race, 440 yards; relay race (4 men teams), 880 yards; threading needle race, couples; married ladies, 50 yards; open race, 220 yards; running broad jump; Committee race.

DIED FROM INDIGESTION.

Acute indigestion caused the death of Gerrard Laurendeau, 18 years of age, of 113 Bourbonnier street, who died at his home shortly after 9:00 o'clock yesterday morning. On the night previous one of the sons of Jos. Laurendeau, 113 Bourbonnier street, had engaged in a private boxing bout. When Gerrard's death became known neighbors thought that he had died as a result of blows received in the bout, but it was Louis and not Gerrard Laurendeau who had been engaged in the contest. Gerrard was taken ill suddenly after his father had left for work yesterday morning. His mother did everything possible to revive him, and Doctor V. P. Landry, of 77 Orleans avenue, was called. The boy died soon afterwards.

CASH PRIZES FOR RIFLE COMPETITION

Provincial Association Will Open Meet Early in August

Four thousand dollars in cash prizes will be distributed during the three days rifle meet which will be opened at the Pointe-aux-Trembles ranges on Tuesday, August 9, under the auspices of the Province of Quebec Rifle Association. The meeting is open to the Dominion, and anyone may take part by becoming a member and paying a nominal fee.

Short magazine Lee-Enfield rifles will be lent by the council to those desiring them, and ammunition will be free. Team prizes will be divided, half being open, and half reserved for residents of the province of Quebec, and all the trophies will be reserved for provincial riflemen. Special prizes will be reserved in each match for tyros of the province, a tyro being any competitor who has not won a prize of, or exceeding four dollars in any Provincial, Dominion or National Rifle Association meeting.

DIFFERENT COMPETITIONS.

Six squaded competitions for individuals, ranging from 200 to 800 yards will be held. Military matches, in which skirmishing and rapid fire, advancing and retiring to conform, as near as possible with active service, will be held. A special team match of six competitors from each province taking part will be given, the prizes presented amounting to $150. Entries are unlimited. This will be ten shots at 500 and 600 yards. Five hundred dollars will be given in extra series matches and $100 and a gold medal emblematic of the revolver championship of the province will be given in the revolver matches. In the revolver matches there will also be given three revolvers presented by Webley and Scott, Limited, of Birmingham, Eng. In the open match a 38-calibre target revolver, with adjustable wind gauge back sight, and in the military revolver match two 22-calibre pistols.

The prize meeting will be conducted by Lt.-Col. H. Harrison, O.C., 4th Divisional Engineers, as chief executive officer, assisted by Lt.-Col. E. J. Peltier, R.O., Major W. G. Fellows, R.L., Capt. C. E. Ward, 2nd C.A., and Lieut. G. M. Butters, 4th F.C.E., as range officers. Major W. L. Bond, R.O., is treasurer, and Mr. J. B. Johnson, secretary. Those interested may secure a program on application to the secretary, P.O. Box 2255, Montreal.

"STOP-OFFS" CANCELLED.

"Stop-off" arrangements for inspection of grain products, hay and potatoes are cancelled for the stations of Place Viger and Outremont in the Montreal district, Simcoe street and Esplanade, in the Toronto district by judgment of the Board of Railway Commissioners received yesterday by the Canadian Pacific Railway. The application for this cancellation of stop-off was heard last December by the Board, and the judgment was handed down from the chairman, Hon. Frank B. Carvell.

SUICIDE'S HOME WAS IN NEBRASKA

The John Norton whose body was found in Lac Superieur, near St. Faustin, Que., on Tuesday, and in connection with whose death a verdict of suicide was returned by Coroner B. N. Wales, of St. Andrews's East is believed to have resided in Omaha, Nebraska.

Information was received by Coroner Wales last night that Norton had registered at Ryan's Hotel, Windsor street, here on July 20 for the third time in three or four week. His registration read, "John Norton, Omaha, Nebraska."

Employes of the hotel have reported that they knew the man well. He had asked them to refer him to a quiet place where he could have a rest. He was referred to Lac Superieur. During his stay at Ryan's Hotel, Norton had told employes that he came here for a rest. He suffered from cataract of the eyes, he said, and would be operated upon on his return home.

Coroner Wales has also located Louis Matagrain, of 119 St. Matthew street who is said to have spent part of the time with Norton in the Laurentians. The Coroner will endeavor to obtain further details of the dead man's home, from this friend.

UNION OF ST. PETER.

The tenth conference of the Union of St. Peter will be held on August 29 at 297 Marie-Anne street east. The conference will be preceded by a religious fete on August 28 when there will be a procession followed by a special grand mass celebrated at the Verdun church. A sermon will be preached by Abbe Louis Lafortune. The Union of St. Peter is one of the oldest Catholic organizations in the province and there are many branches all over Quebec.

AMUSEMENT PLACES MUST BE LIGHTED

Two by-laws prepared by the Administrative Commission last May and sent to the City Council became automatically adopted today as the aldermen had failed to take any action on them within the sixty days specified in the charter within which they may amend or reject any by-law from the Commission.

One by-law makes it compulsory for every theatre, moving picture hall, concert hall, dancing hall and every other place of amusement to be kept lighted to the satisfaction of the police during all the time they are open to the public.

The second by-law requires dealers in second-hand automobiles, accessories, tires, motor cycles or bicycles to register as second-hand dealers, thus enabling their books to be inspected by the police and forcing them to keep a list of all articles they buy, with the name and address of the person from whom they purchase it. The Commission believes that by the adoptation of this by-law there will be a better check on the theft of automobiles and their accessories.

WINNIPEG, July 29.—Damage estimated at from $35,000 to $40,000 resulted from a fire which broke out on the premises of the Union Clothing and Shoe Company, Main street, last evening.

Alexandor's

Annual August

Fur Sale

commences Monday

—an Event of supreme importance to all who require Furs for next winter.

The Most Phenomenal Values Yet Offered

Far back in the winter we determined that our 1921 August Sale should present the most noteworthy values of any Sale we have planned. Regardless of the cost, we would prepare the most captivating collection of Furs ever shown; maintain our enviable standard of quality and workmanship, and keep our craftspeople employed.

Throughout the past months of depression—the dullest period on record for years—our workrooms, far from being vacant and silent, have been literally humming with industry, every machine going at top speed, every cutter, trimmer, finisher and other worker, busy all day, every working day. We have not closed down one day in all this time of depression. And the 250 skilled fur-workers, employed in the Alexandor organization, have produced, in defiance of the difficult times, the most magnificent array of Furs they have ever produced—rich and beautiful peltries fashioned with infinite art into the most bewitching of the new modes one will see in Paris next winter. These are now placed in our Salons, and will create during our August Sale the greatest of enthusiasm on the part of all who love exquisite Furs and appreciate unusual values.

Wise buyers will waste no time in coming to our Salons. Many special trips to town to secure these Furs will be made by those who are spending the summer out of town. The savings are significent. Tourists, always keen on Canadian Furs, already have given evidence of this by buying eagerly in July, though they know that August prices will offer the lowest values of the past two years—cutting 1920 prices nearly in half, and far lower than the coming Autumn prices. The raw-skin market, long ago, reached rock-bottom, and is already on the upswing. That makes inevitable higher prices for the finished furs.

Part-payment will secure any Fur desired, stored free until needed.
