Duty hardships to mount with time—Benson

TORONTO (CP) — The longer the new additional U.S. duties remain on imports from Canada, the greater will be the damage to all parts of the Canadian economy, Finance Minister E. J. Benson said Thursday night.

"It is probable that the initial impact of the surcharge on the Canadian economy as a whole will not be too severe," he told the Law Society of Upper Canada, "although certain sectors of the economy will face serious problems immediately."

"But the longer the surcharge continues to apply to Canadian exports, the greater will be the adverse impact throughout the whole Canadian economy."

A text of the minister's speech was given to reporters in advance of delivery.

He said there were important signs of good recovery in the Canadian economy at mid-year, including growing retail sales, employment and capital expenditures, but the Nixon announcements cast a cloud on the outlook.

POINT OUT HARDSHIP

The new duties would affect almost one-quarter of Canada's exports to the U.S., and the government was emphasizing to Washington officials just how serious a hardship this could inflict on Canada.

It was also arguing that "any action that impaired the growth of our economy would only impair the growth of U.S. sales in Canada, the United States' foremost export market."

On the subject of tax reform, he said the present system of federal sales taxes is likely to remain basically the same for several years.

He did not propose to make any further basic revisions of tax law after Parliament deals with his new bill on personal and corporation income taxes this fall.

Moreover, when the federal government takes up the subject of sales and other commodity taxes "it will likely be the responsibility of a different minister of finance."

He is believed never to have mentioned in public the possibility of leaving the finance portfolio. Rather, the remark seemed to emphasize that he is not planning further basic tax law revision for some years. He said many people seemed to think that the income tax law revision was only the first step.

Report lauds 4H clubs; negative on cadet program

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's cadet program is an expensive cross between the boy scouts and the armed forces recruiting program and should be scrapped, a government-commissioned youth report said Thursday.

But the three-man committee who wrote the study gave high marks to government sponsored fitness programs and 4-H clubs in a section on recreation.

"The cadet programs have become anachronisms," the report says. "In 1970, it is imperative that the government rethink its philosophy toward recreational and social programming for young people, and develop programs which reflect the needs of the youth today."

Federal funds to the 93,000 air, army and sea cadets and their programs, which total "at least $10 million annually," should cease, the report recommends.

The money should be diverted to other youth activities within a loosely-constituted program designed to allow any number of individual programs within a federal frame.

DEVELOP PROGRAMS

The committee recommends that the government develop programs for "non-competitive physical recreation."

As well, it recommended changes that would eliminate "existing regional disparities" in the money available for amateur sports by basing fitness grants on needs rather than population.

The report says the government is concentrating on a program that produces high-calibre athletes and has not renewed federal-provincial programs aimed at general fitness.

The report calls on the government to buy and develop summer recreation land for public use and consider setting up a "permanent annual basis" for Summer and Winter Games.

It urges the government to continue to concentrate its fitness and amateur sport program on competitive sports.

PRAISES 4-H CLUBS

The report specially praises 4-H club activities, saying the organization provides "valid and valuable" programs for about 75,000 rural youth.

"Government does little enough to foster activities for young people in rural areas."

The federal agriculture department this year will provide about $180,000 worth of grants to the clubs, down from about $349,515 in 1968-69. Federal payments, broadly-speaking, equal provincial contributions to 4-H activities.

The report criticizes this system, saying that such shared-cost programs tend to benefit richer provinces.

But, "the majority of rural young people live in provinces which can afford to fund few programs for them."

The recreational section is followed by a short look at the Canada Council where the committee pleads for an expanded program to "include new emphasis on innovative and experimental cultural and artistic programming for young people."

It urges that more money be provided for expanded council activities and that "emergent" as well as well-established artists receive the benefits of the expansion.

Girls laid off brick laying...

TORONTO (CP) — Two teen-aged girls are doing a man's work — but are finding it tough to fill his shoes.

Bev Wooton, 18, and Lorrie Wilson, 17, both high school art students, were laid off from their job carrying and piling bricks Thursday because they didn't have safety boots.

They started the job last Monday.

"We're doing it for the liberation of women and to buy our art supplies when we go back to school this fall," Miss Wilson said.

As brick salvagers on a demolition site, they are paid 1½ cents a brick and earn between $10 and $12 a day.

They hope to be back at work today.

Miss Wilson, the only girl in a family of six children, plans to borrow a pair of boots from a brother "if they'll fit."

Miss Wooton hopes someone will lend her a pair.

Stewart Brink, 17, one of about 15 students laid off because they didn't have work boots either, said when the girls started he did not believe they would last the day.

"The work is even hard for us," he said. "Other guys have worked at this job and quit after one day. It's amazing that the girls have kept up with us brick by brick."

Meet the candy canes — Debra Middleton, Lisa Fedele, Trudy Simoneau, Debbie Lussier.

Wood products likely hard hit by surcharge

OTTAWA (CP) — Trade Minister Jean-Luc Pepin has sent provincial cabinet ministers a listing of Canadian exports likely to be hit hard by new United States import duties.

The announcement was made and the lists released to reporters Thursday while a delegation of Canadian officials met their American counterparts in Washington to back up Canada's request for a general exemption from the added duties of up to 10 percentage points on a wide range of goods, ordered Aug. 15 by President Nixon.

Mr. Pepin sent the list to provincial ministers who are principally concerned with export markets for their provinces' products. In doing so, he appeared to be soliciting their support for the federal government's plea for an exemption.

Mr. Pepin's listing showed that of approximately $10.5 billion of U.S. imports from Canada last year, $2.8 billion would be affected.

Products affected include:

—Nearly 85 per cent of Canada's wood products exports, or $461.3 million of total U.S. wood and wood products imports from Canada;

—Almost 47 per cent of Canada's sales of metals, alloys and basic shapes and forms, totalling $432.1 million last year out of total U.S. imports from Canada of $925 million;

QUARTER OF MACHINERY

—$332.2 million worth of machinery and mechanical equipment, more than one quarter of United States total imports from Canada in that field;

—Beverages—principally whisky, all of which would be affected by the surcharge—some petroleum and natural gas products, electrical machinery and equipment, and transportation equipment.

No definite result of the Washington conference Thursday was expected to be announced immediately.

Meanwhile, Agriculture Minister H. A. Olson has announced a meeting Sept. 1 of national farm organizations, national commodity groups and food processing councils to discuss the new duties.

Consumer protection council termed 'hoax'

QUEBEC (CP) — The provincial government's new consumer protection council is a "hoax," Marcel Leger, Parti Quebecois member of the national assembly, said Thursday.

Mr. Leger said in a statement the consumers' interest was ignored in favor of business interests in the council's membership, announced Wednesday by William Tetley, minister of financial institutions.

Half the council members are from the ranks of chamber of commerce employees and finance companies, said Mr. Leger.

He said he was surprised Mr. Tetley had not included representatives of labor and credit unions and the Family Economy Co-operative Association in the council.

Mr. Leger said the Bourassa government shows its lack of interest in the small consumer by appointing seven businessmen to the council. Wilfrid Stebbins, former vice-president of Montreal La Presse and director and chairman of the Montreal Better Business Bureau, is chairman of the Consumer Protection Council.

Yvan Patrick Phelan, vice-president and secretary of Avon Products of Canada Ltd., a former chairman of the Direct Sellers Association, current member of the Financial Executives Institute, the Montreal Board of Trade and the Canadian Chamber of Commerce is another member of the new provincial council.

Other members are Raymond Girardin, assistant vice-president of Niagara Finance Co. Ltd.; Raymond Cote, chairman of Syndicat de Quebec Libre and a director to General Trust of Canada; Charles Perrault, chairman of Casavant Freres Ltee and a director of Northern Electric, Cley and Tinker Ltd., Canon Ltd. and Chemcell Ltd.; Andre Bellavance, treasurer and sales director of Bellavance Inc. and chairman of the Rimouski Chamber of Commerce; Mrs. Flore D. Jutras, owner of Eugene Durocher et Fils and founding chairman of the world association of women business leaders.

FEDERAL REPORT ON YOUTH

Anti-marijuana laws termed 'ineffective'

OTTAWA (CP) — Opposition by young people to the rest of Canadian society will grow unless governments undertake basic changes, including the legalization of marijuana, a federal committee on youth reported Thursday.

The 218-page report to State Secretary Gerald Pelletier contains an ambitious plan to bridge the generation gap by bringing youth and its elders together in community forums and social development projects.

Pointedly received by the minister as an "independent inquiry", the report contains 28 other groups of recommendations challenging and criticizing several federal departments and provincial governments.

The ultimate fate of the report, which cost $500,000 and took two years to produce, was an open question following a news conference by committee chairman David Hunter, 28, a Toronto sociologist.

"Candidly, it will be very difficult for the federal government to accept all the recommendations," he said.

PLAYS DOWN INFLUENCE

Mr. Hunter expected the government's eventual decision on the anti-marijuana laws, for example, will be influenced more by the report of the Le Dain inquiry into the non-medical use of drugs than by that of the youth committee.

"I expect the Le Dain report will carry a greater clout than we would," he said.

A second member of the three-man committee, Toronto lawyer Vincent Kelly, 33, expressed dismay at the ready emphasis reporters put on the recommendation.

"Our worst fears have been realized," he said.

The third member of the committee was Pierre Bourdon, 28, now an official of the University of Quebec in Montreal.

The committee approached the issue of marijuana head on and at least did not fudge the conclusion.

"Drug laws as they stand are ineffective," the report advises.

"Logically, it is difficult to understand how a society, unsuccessful at suppressing the use of drugs such as tobacco, alcohol and chemicals by its members, can hope to erase the use of soft drugs now so popular with, and available to, such a large part of its population."

STUDIES NOT FIRM

The report adds that medical studies on the effects of marijuana are far from conclusive and that the "most reliable studies show it is not physically addictive."

Other recommendations that may also serve as a red flag to critics include proposals that:

—Federal funding, estimated at $10 million a year, be ended for the armed forces cadet training program.

—A federal program be introduced to advise welfare recipients of their rights and that provincial and municipal governments be encouraged to take fuller advantage of the Canada Assistance Program, "particularly in terms of the potential it offers for programmes aimed at young people."

—The Canada Council expand assistance for cultural and artistic experiments by and for young people.

—A new agency, entitled Committee to Report Investigations of Stress in Society, be created to intervene as a mediator in potentially violent social confrontations;

—The government disband the Company of Young Canadians.

AGE WON'T MELLOW THEM

Many of the recommendations grow from a general conclusion that young people now in opposition to views and values of their elders are unlikely to become less critical as they grow older.

The report portrays young people as "no longer content with conspicuous consumption," opting for "condition of simple, human happiness."

"A new social consciousness seems to be emerging. It reaches beyond the concept of the welfare-oriented technocratic state towards the ideal of a democratically developing society."

The report also reveals a view, however, that a variety of approaches is required to serve the needs of young people. Numerous recommendations deal with existing government programs, suggesting how they may be extended to help youth meet the problems of education or unemployment.

Thus the committee shares the view that the federal manpower department should drop barriers to participation by young people in its occupational training for adults program. In particular is the requirement that those taking part must have been members of the labor force for three years.

As a group, the report says, young people are having more trouble than almost any other in finding jobs. In 1969, it notes, 45 per cent of all unemployed Canadians were between the ages 15 and 24 and an increasing number of university-trained graduates are facing unemployment problems.

Criticizing the approach of the manpower department to the situation, the report urges it to re-evaluate its present counselling and placement procedures and its program of career counselling in high schools.

Turning to the issue of summer employment for students, the report flatly maintains that government, and society, will have to face the fact that it is an out-of-date means of financing education.

QUEBEC IN FOCUS

Appear before coroner

QUEBEC (CP) — Four of six men arrested in Chicoutimi earlier this week have appeared before a coroner in connection with the murder of two members of a motorcycle club.

Marc Fournier and Marc George, both of Quebec City, and Pierre Bouchard of Montreal appeared Wednesday night. Guy Marchand of Montreal appeared Thursday.

Fire Commissioner Cyrille Delage, named coroner to investigate the deaths of Serge Bourque, 25, and Jacques Giguere, 18, ordered the four to appear in court again in eight days.

Bourque and Giguere died in a cabin fire Aug. 1 at Ste. Marie de Beauce south of Quebec.

The other two men have been cleared of any connection with the deaths.

Four young women were also questioned. Police said earlier the men who killed Giguere and Bourque "may have been settling an account."

The victims were in the house with six other members of the club when six masked men burst in, beat up the victims and set fire to the cabin.

The two burned to death before the other members could help them.

Warns of consequences

MONTREAL (CP) — Canadian fine paper manufacturers warned Thursday that loss of jobs, mill shutdowns and reduced production could result from President Nixon's imposition of an extra 10-per-cent import duty.

The Canadian Pulp and Paper Association said executives of five companies met with officials of the trade and commerce department in Ottawa Tuesday.

Some 70,000 tons of Canada's production of 630,000 tons of fine paper in 1970 was exported to the U.S. and brought in about $20 million. The increased import duty could mean the loss of this tonnage.

Industry representatives told the government that Kennedy Round tariff reductions in 1968 and accelerated implementation of the cuts in 1969 had subjected them to increased competition from outside Canada. Imports from the U.S. had risen sharply.

Companies at the Ottawa meeting included Abitibi-Price Ltd., Domtar Fine Papers Ltd., Dryden Paper Co., The E. B. Eddy Co. and Rolland Paper Co. Ltd.

No bond change seen

QUEBEC (CP) — The Quebec government has no intention of changing in the near future its system of selling government and Hydro-Quebec bonds through a single financial consortium, Finance Minister Raymond Garneau said Thursday.

He was replying at a news conference to criticism in Montreal La Presse of a consortium headed by A. E. Ames and Co. and the Bank of Montreal which has handled government bond issues. The newspaper article suggested making the Quebec Deposit and Investment Fund the government's financial agent for short-term obligations.

"We are not closing the door on innovations," Mr. Garneau said, but changes should be made only after detailed study. The Quebec citizens might have to pay for upsetting the system.

He said the performance of various brokers participating in the Ames consortium has been studied since the beginning of the year and the study will determine whether they will be allowed to participate in 1972.

Marcel Casavant, deputy finance minister, said that even if the deposit and investment fund became the sole government financial agent, it would still have to deal with brokers and pass on costs to Quebecers.

The finance minister rejected charges that French-speaking financiers are short-circuited by the English and said nationalist considerations should not be the basic criteria in dealing with the financial market.

WI hears talk on U.S. school system

DENISON MILLS — The regular W.I. meeting was held at the home of Mrs. W. Brock on Aug. 5 with eight members present. Mrs. L. Hawkins of Hemmingford and Mrs. G. Andrews were guests for the afternoon.

The roll call-bring in quilt patterns brought very interesting results as three members showed their unfinished quilts, a pretty pansy block, several patterns and a needlecraft book of illustrated patterns were shown.

The sunshine fund brought in $1.88 and Mrs. K. Brock was the lucky winner of the mystery prize.

Miss Ethel Rief who is recovering from a heart attack was presented with a lovely basket of flowers by the president, Mrs. Carson. Pictures were taken of the event, also several pictures of the members. Flowers were sent to Mrs. Duncan Rief who is ill at her home. All were pleased to hear she is home from the hospital and wish her a speedy recovery.

WI rewards young gardeners

BEEBE — The summer meeting of the Beebe Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Ezra Woodard, on August 12, with the president, Mrs. C. Nutbrown presiding.

The required food and articles were solicited for the Ayer's Cliff Fair on August 27. Miss V. Moranville gave a very excellent and detailed report on the provincial convention held at Macdonald College in June.

The September meeting of the branch will be held at the home of Mrs. C. Bullock at Graniteville on Sept. 21. The meeting adjourned and members left by car for Dot's Restaurant near Coventry, Vt., where an excellent supper was enjoyed by all.

The Day Under Your Sign

ARIES (Born March 21 to April 19) — Your penetrating mind is a plus factor in your favor. You can readily meet the competition today.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) — Some surprises around the house — could be unexpected visitors (even powers). Keep doors locked.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) — Don't add fuel to the fire. Stay behind the scenes for the time being. Make no sudden moves.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21) — A trying day when patience is a must. Vitality may be low, making you feel even more tense.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21) — A startling surprise awaits you so be prepared no matter when it pops up. All in all, a fine day.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — Friends seem to be on the aggressive side today. Try to remain calm even though aggravated.

©Media Features, Inc., 1971

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — Income is in a state of flux at the moment. Make no speculative moves. Visit and things settle down a little.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — A romantic day. If eligible, this is the time to accept the ring, set the date. Don't procrastinate!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Good time for self-analysis. You can be your own best friend or your own worst enemy, suggest lunars.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — A money-making day. Don't waste time on non-essentials when there is so much of importance facing you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — You can make money hand over fist but it may take more effort than you care to make. Exert yourself!

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) — You can't win for losing, as the old saying goes, so lay low for a couple of days. Surprising phone call likely.

Tap water usually free from germs

Dear Dr. Lamb — We frequently get virus, and our four small children often contract a variety of infections in addition to virus. We wonder if a water purifier attached below the kitchen sink would help. A water softener salesman contended that it would remove germs. We use water for drinking and also for mixing with frozen orange or grape juice. What about bottled natural spring water?

Dear Reader — Even if it is true that a water purifier removes germs, the water would first have to contain significant amounts of germs for it to add anything useful. Public Health water regulations require a rather safe level of chemicals in the water to prevent water-borne disease, which should adequately solve the problem. Most water softeners are used to remove chemicals that harden water rather than to remove "germs." I must add that viruses are not germs in the usual sense as germs are bacteria and are often more easily dealt with.

I'm not enthusiastic about bottled spring water. You can be fairly sure it is safe if you buy it in bottles in a supermarket, otherwise I can't give a blanket endorsement. A natural spring can be not too far from an outdoor privy in some areas (this also applies to that old well with the nostalgic oaken bucket) and that can lead to contamination.

If you want soft water for the kitchen you might just get distilled water from the grocery store. I am not opposed to using soft water in the house for the right purpose, and it has some advantages. But unless there is something else beside water-softening being added or something is drastically wrong with your local water supply I can't see that it will affect your health favorably.

Dear Dr. Lamb — Recently

my husband passed away from an aneurysm of the heart which was not discovered by electrocardiogram or X rays. What would cause this weak spot to form?

Dear Reader — An aneurysm of the heart is a sac-like protrusion where the heart muscle has been replaced by scar tissue. The weak scar tissue is the sac.

The usual cause is a previous heart attack (which may not have caused any symptoms), the area of damaged muscle being replaced by weak scar tissue.

North's four diamond bid was one of those special gadgets. It showed very strong heart support and diamonds void. South went into Blackwood. He thought of a grand slam after his partner showed three aces, but settled for six because he did not see much chance to ruff all five of his diamonds.

Against any other lead, South could take the black aces and make all 10 trumps separately, but now he could only score nine tricks with the trump suit. He had to get his 12th trick from either clubs or diamonds. He could not afford to play a second trump since he had to ruff three diamonds in dummy.

126th Ayer's Cliff Fair now underway

AYER'S CLIFF (WC) — Hundreds of people descended on this little lakeside town last night to attend the unofficial opening of this year's Stanstead County Exhibition.

They came to enjoy the Doc Williams Show which unfolded at 8 p.m. in the grandstand at the Stanstead County Fairgrounds. The little grandstand was nearly packed as those attending clapped, chanted and swayed to great country and western sounds.

This is the fair's 126th year and advance preliminary reports indicate it will be one of the best in the history of the Stanstead Counties Agricultural and Horticultural Societies' sponsorship of the annual event.

Grandstand attractions will include Tom Bishop's Rodeo and Wild West Show, a horse show, cattle parades, machinery and horse parades, flat races, majorettes and a calf cub parade, only to mention a few.

The Fair, which began last night, will continue throughout the weekend with a grand finale scheduled for Sunday night.

Ayer's Cliff Fair will feature livestock competitions in the different judging classes. Hereafter, horses and swine will be judged Friday morning, Friday noon and afternoon. Aberdeen Angus, Shorthorns, poultry and horticultural exhibits will be judged.

Saturday the judging of Holsteins, Canadians and Ayrshires will be held. Horses and 4-H interclub exhibits will be held the same day.

Caledonia County Fair this weekend

LYNDONVILLE, Vt. (DM) — Many people are expected to attend this weekend's Caledonia County Fair, which will be highlighted by circus acts, horse racing and a colorful midway.

This community is easily reached from Sherbrooke. Just take route 22 to the border and then US route 5 to Lyndonville.

The Caledonia County Fair's executive consists of President Bernard H. Willey, vice-president Gardner Blake, treasurer Leo J. Hebert and secretary Milton A. Peck.

Directors are Drury Vinton, Carrol Lafae, Gardner Blake, Raymond Austin, Guy Birchard, Calvin Chester, George Drown, Leo Hebert, Walter Hughes, Howard Little, Dennis Stevens, Milton Peck, Philip Grime, Bernard Willey, Lucien Benedict, Leonard Goss, Robert Larabee, Raymond Poulin, Harold Warren, Herbert Zitter and Harry Zabarsky.

Honorary directors are William Brock, Leon Hopkins, W. Arthur Simpson and William Woods.

The weather reads sunny today with the promise of a seasonable weekend to the directors of the Ayer's Cliff Fair.

Sunday night the grande finale will be held. An old-time Fiddler's Contest will take place in front of the grandstand with many well known fiddlers on hand.

at 9 a.m., horseracing, midway attractions, circus acts and a cavalcade of livestock. Sunday will be highlighted by the Imperial Hell Drivers Show in the afternoon and at night, a sky diving exhibition, horse pulling contests and Gymkhana an acrobatic horse show.

Members of new CEGEP corporation

QUEBEC (PT) — Guy Saint-Pierre, Quebec minister of education, yesterday announced the nomination of the first five members of the corporation of the new Saguenay-Lake St. John Regional CEGEP.

Lucien Bouchard, of Chicoutimi; Georges Villeneuve, of Mistassini; J. M. Lemay, of Alma; Maurice Parent, of Arvida; and Jean-Marie Couet, of Chicoutimi are to sit on the new French-speaking junior college corporation.

Jean-Marie Couet was named as the first president of the CEGEP's administration council, and St-Pierre spoke on a report submitted to the department on the problems of collegial education in the Saguenay-Lake St. John area.

Rams into phone pole

MAGOG (PT) — Marcel Brisson, 28, of 1720 Sherbrooke Street, Magog, an employee of the city's hydro department, suffered a number of injuries yesterday morning in an accident involving his car and a telephone pole.

The accident occurred at the corner of Merry Street South and Bellevue, at 1:45 a.m. yesterday. Apparently, Mr. Brisson lost control of his car and it simply hit the telephone pole, which was subsequently broken and will have to be replaced.

Brisson was taken to La Providence Hospital by Magog Ambulance Service Inc. suffering from several facial cuts. An operation was necessary.

Three-year study shows dust harmful to asbestos workers

MONTREAL (CP) — Asbestos production workers exposed to high concentrations of dust during their working life have a mortality rate about 20 per cent higher than that of the unexposed population, a medical study has indicated.

But asbestos levels to which the general public are exposed appear to be no health hazard.

A three-year study of 10,421 asbestos workers by 12 medical and statistical researchers revealed that the five per cent exposed to unusually high concentrations of dust recorded more deaths due to respiratory and cardiac disease and cancer of the lung.

Results of the study were published in the June, 1971, issue of Archives of Environmental Health.

However, the over-all group, including 9,981 men, was found to have a mortality rate from all causes lower than the level expected in the general Quebec population.

The study was headed by Dr. J. Corbett McDonald, head of McGill University's epidemiology and health department.

Dr. McDonald said the report bore out his earlier conclusion that primary malignant mesothelial tumors (in the epithelium covering of heart and lung membranes) were rarely associated with production of chrysotile asbestos.

Therefore, "in view of these findings in asbestos production workers, it is difficult to believe that the very much lower levels of chrysotile asbestos to which the general public is exposed under normal circumstances could constitute any appreciable health hazard."

Annual provincial plowing matches slated here Oct. 1-2

WAYS MILLS (WC) — Friday, October 1 and Saturday, October 2 will be two very important days for this community near Stanstead.

On Saturday the provincial title will be at stake in the Provincial Plowman's Association annual matches while the local and regional playoffs will be held Friday.

This year the plowing matches are being held in conjunction with one of the oldest plowmen's associations in Canada, the Stanstead Plowmen's Association. This year's program will be the biggest the Stanstead Association has organized in its 52-year history.

To help Quebec farmers do an effective plowing job, the Provincial Plowmen's Ass'n stages its annual Provincial Championship Matches each year in a different county.

Many Quebec farmers, when taking over new land, find that it has many ridges, and some deep drainage ditches. These are relics of a type of plowing which was popular 50 years ago, when all the plowing was done by horses.

Known as Labour Richard, this type of cultivation was wasteful, cut down on the area on which crops could be grown, and made the crop uneven in maturing.

Today's farmers, using only tractors, aim to get rid of these ridges, to level out the whole field and make a uniform seedbed.

At the same time, to get rid of weeds and the trash left over from the previous crop, tractor plowing must turn over a uniform furrow, exposing new soil to the sun and frost.

Today's tractors, with their two, three and even four plow hitches, do a splendid job when properly adjusted.

Canada's output up

OTTAWA (CP) — The country's output rose by six-tenths of one per cent in real volume during June, continuing a period of relatively steady expansion, Statistics Canada reported Thursday.

Real domestic products, the physical volume of output measured so as not to include any price inflation, rose to an index of 167.4 in June, a full index point higher than in May. The index is based on 1961 output equalling 100.

The government's statistics bureau said the dominant factor in June was the fifth consecutive monthly increase in wholesale and retail trade, supplemented by a strong increase in activity in transportation, storage and communications.

Manufacturing was also higher in June, in both durable and non-durable goods, with the latter moving ahead more strongly with a pick-up in pulp and paper mills and increased production of chemicals.

The country's output lagged during most of 1970 but turned upwards again towards the end of the year. Except for a one-tenth of an index point slip downwards in February, it has risen each month in 1971.

The real domestic product index is a comprehensive measure of the country's output, but not exactly parallel to the gross national product figure which measures the total output in current dollar value. Mid-year gross national product figures are expected to be released in a few days.

Non-durables manufacturing showed an increase in output of seven-tenths of one per cent in June with for the first time this year, an increase in pulp and paper manufactures.

Durable goods manufacturing is regarded by economists as an important driving force in economic growth. There were advances in June in metal fabricating, primary metals, and transportation equipment, but a drop in glass products resulting from a strike.

Says federal report

Youth jobless rate growing

OTTAWA (CP) — Exceptionally high unemployment among young people has been chronic in the Canadian economy for the last 20 years says a federal report on youth. And, it adds, all indications are that it is getting worse, particularly for young men.

Released Thursday, the report concludes that if youth is "conditioned to accept unemployment as a way of life, the effect on the fabric of our society is, to say the least, difficult to analyze."

Supporting its predictions is a stack of statistics to prove that the current rate of youth unemployment can't be explained away by reference to post-war baby booms or general shiftlessness.

Since 1953, the report says, the unemployment rate for males between 14 and 19 in the labor force has been at least twice as high as the national average. In 1970 it was 2.3 times as high.

In the same period, the rate for men 20- to 24-years-old has been rarely less than 1.4 times greater than the national average and was 1.6 times higher last year.

LESS FOR WOMEN
Young women in the same age bracket were much closer to the national average, unemployment among them being 1.13 times the national rate.

Equally significant has been the increase in the proportion of each age group which simply has dropped out of the labor market.

In 1969 the number of males between 14 and 24 was growing at an annual rate of 2.6 per cent and the number of employed in the group was growing at an annual rate of 2.4 per cent. The number of labor-market dropouts, however, increased at a rate of 4.2 per cent a year.

Women in the same age group naturally grew in numbers at the same rate as the men but the number of them with jobs was growing at a 4.9-per-cent annual rate in 1969. The number of dropouts was increasing at a rate of 1.3 per cent.

Reviewing the factors that influence unemployment among youth, the report says young workers are among the most vulnerable to the effects of government anti-inflation policies.

FIRST LAID OFF
"In a recession," it states, "the young people are the first to be laid-off, and paradoxically, the first to be hired in an expansion."

Rock Island C of C supports move

STANSTEAD (IH) — The Boundary Chamber of Commerce met on Tuesday evening, August 24 at the Mexican Room of the Imperial where President Denis Bouchard presided.

A resolution was approved to support the Town of Rock Island to have the Municipal court remain in Rock Island. A copy of the resolution will be sent to the honorable minister of justice; George Vaillancourt, MNA; the Town of Rock Island and Mr. Lynch, judge.

The government has proposed closing such Municipal courts for regional courts.

Raymond Proulx was added to the committee to complete the Chamber constitution.

It was reported that the Summer Festival netted a sum of $800 of which $200 was given to the Sports Federation which was included in the $500 sum recently turned over by them to the Frontier Swim project; another $400 is saved for sports in the communities and $200 for the Chamber use.

The Eugene Lambert and Henry Nadeau families have both moved from the Boundary communities and it was moved a record be made of appreciation to these two men who worked for the Chamber prior to their departure.

Maxime Doyon, secretary, announced that Congress will be held Sept. 16-18 at St-Adele where the prime minister will also be a guest and that August 30, the regional director will hold an administrative session at 7:30 p.m. in Brompton.

Since this Chamber has been reorganized, the directors have used every possible means to have a liquor store in Rock Island but little action has been taken by the Provincial Liquor Board. However, with bulldog determination, the Chamber will further seek to have it by asking support of the provincial Chamber.

Denis Bouchard agreed to be chairman of nominations for 12 directors and bring in a slate at the annual meeting on September 14 at the Imperial. From these 12 elected, they will elect the executive.

Bernard Laberee will make an inquiry and bring in stickers for car windshields at the September meeting.

Mr. Lemieux, Bank of Commerce manager, Beebe, the treasurer, and Raymond Proulx will be in charge of memberships for the fiscal year. Mr. Lemieux was congratulated on his forthcoming marriage September 4.

Jean-Guy Roderique was congratulated on starting his new Crystal Bowl Fish business in Rock Island and was wished every success in his venture.

Lions Club, Jaycees plan Labor Day show

DERBY LINE (IH) — The Derby Lions Club and Friendly Nations Jaycees are both well underway with their plans for another annual Labor Day Horse show and carnival at the Baxter Park in Derby Line.

There will be several classes of horses and ponies and three championship trophies will go to the winners for show championship, gymkhana championship and junior championship.

In addition, there will be reserve champion trophies and using a new source of supply, the trophies awarded this year will be unparalleled to those of previous years.

The Lions Club members are handling the entertainment and food booths and report many new additions to the gala celebration planned. The show is scheduled to start at 9:30 a.m.

With increased regulations at both the American and Canadian Customs pertaining to horses, the organizations have made special arrangements to facilitate quick passage.

Full details will accompany class lists mailed to horse owners. Anyone not receiving one but who would like to participate may contact any Lion or Jaycee by writing to P.O. Box 192, Derby Line, Vt. 05830.

All proceeds go towards the many area projects. Art Judd is president of the Lions and Buzz Roy of the Jaycees. The Lions Club, among its many endeavors maintains the beach at Salem Lake for the Frontier Swim project and has recently purchased a boat for project use.

Witnesses to dedicate hall

RICHMOND — The local congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses in the Richmond-Danville area are happy to announce the dedication of their new Kingdom Hall on route 5 between Richmond and Danville.

On Saturday afternoon, August 28, open house will be held and all friends and neighbors are invited to come and visit the new Kingdom Hall and enjoy a cup of tea with their hosts.

On Saturday evening the dedication program will begin at 7:25 p.m. Those taking part in the program will speak on such subjects as "The history and advancement of Jehovah's Witnesses locally," "Planning and building a Kingdom Hall," and then the dedication talk will be given explaining fully the purpose of a Kingdom Hall as a house for worship and a place to preach.

The talks will be given in both French and English. Many will remember that 20 years ago, Jehovah's Witnesses started having meetings in private homes and in a rented room in Melbourne.

Mayor strikes out

We find most incomprehensible the public's reaction to Mayor Marc Bureau's statement that he isn't sure whether a civic reception will be tendered in honor of the Sher-Lenn Little League All-Star team.

You can be sure the average citizen will rant and rave if a zoning-by-law inconveniences him or a skating rink closing makes his children walk five extra blocks to play hockey.

You can also be certain the same average citizen will just sit on his fanny and claim he is minding his own business when something does not concern him directly.

We feel this attitude is exactly the type of civic apathy that has led to the deterioration and impersonal atmospheres of many large North American cities.

Civic spirit, we suggest, is a genuine concern in the community's well-being. That involves speaking out for or against any matter which affects the community, even if it does not have any direct effect on the individual making his views known.

It is thus extremely difficult to find any element of civic spirit here in Sherbrooke.

The Sher-Lenn All-Stars represented our city well. Not only did they win the Quebec and Eastern Canadian titles but also showed themselves to be a squad of well-behaved and disciplined boys.

They played hard and came close to winning the Canadian championship. They put Sherbrooke's name in the news in a positive fashion.

The Sher-Lenn All-Stars were representatives to the rest of Canada and did a creditable job but received little support from the authorities at city hall.

We grant that city hall did renovate Amedee Roy Stadium to Little League specification for the Quebec and Eastern Canada playoffs but City Fathers only acceded to Sher-Lenn's request to do so after much cajoling.

That tournament, incidentally, did wonders for the reputation of the Queen City of the Eastern Townships. More than 6,000 enthusiastic fans attended each of the playoff games and it now seems possible Sherbrooke will be asked to play host to the Canadian championships in the near future.

But what exactly did city hall do to show its support and appreciation of the Little Leaguers?

Some councillors, such as Tony Pinard, did all they could for the team. For the most part, though, City Fathers attended some of the games and jumped on the Sher-Lenn bandwagon only after the team turned out to be a winner.

Once the team was eliminated from the Canadian championships not a peep was heard from City Hall. One might have expected a letter of congratulations and appreciation for a job well done but even that didn't materialize.

The Sher-Lenn All-Stars deserve that letter and in addition a civic reception. Teams before them have been accorded the same treatment and we see no reason why the 1971 squad should be treated differently.

The boys worked hard, played hard and sacrificed one heck of a lot.

They deserve a little bit more than the cold shoulder they are getting currently from Sherbrooke municipal officials and citizens.

THE PRAYER FOR TODAY FROM The Upper Room

Love worketh no ill to his neighbour: therefore love is the fulfilling of the law. (Romans 13:10)

Our Father, we thank Thee for Thy love to us and for every opportunity given to us to show Thy love to others. In the spirit of Christ, who taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven... Amen."

"I, when I am lifted up from the earth, will draw all men to myself." (John 12:32, RSV)

Dear Father, encourage us to be ready all the time to pursue Thy will. May our attitude help our enemies to become our friends. Amen.

The Lord said to me, "Do not say, 'I am only a youth'; for to all to whom I send you you shall go, and whatever I command you you shall speak." (Jeremiah 1:7, RSV)

Help us, dear Lord, to listen as youth speak to us in these days. May we, through our ministry, help them to strengthen the sinews of their faith. Amen.

What can be seen lasts only for a time; but what cannot be seen lasts for ever. (II Corinthians 4:18, TEV)

O Lord, when we look at the heavens and the work of Thy fingers, we are humbled with gratitude that You are mindful of us. Amen.

French press opinion

This is a selection of editorials on current topics translated from the French-language press of Canada.

Quebec Le Soleil: The city of Sydney, N.S., is learning, at its own cost, and especially at the cost of its taxpayers, what the policeman's right to strike is worth. In effect, as a result of legislation passed in 1969, this Maritimes city can today claim the doubtful honor strike by policemen in Canada.

While disorder increases everywhere, while mischief makers go to it with happy hearts, while young motorcycle hoods paralyze the main streets, the police stand by with arms folded.

There is no question, it seems, of protecting property, no officer is assigned to traffic control, and the only calls bringing a response are emergency calls in which human beings are in physical danger.

There you have a capsule picture of what can happen when the "fuzz" decide to be donkeys.

The strike now has ended and the police are back on the job.

Here in Quebec, we have only to remember the tragic occurrences of October, 1969, in Montreal, when anarchy quickly threatened to get out of the control of the forces of order.

It remains useful to recall these events and to evaluate their occurrence in light of certain campaigns which persist in pressing for extension of the right to strike to our policemen.

In the event that such a right were given to our police officers, even with all the restrictions that could be brought into it, are we correct in supposing that the result could be otherwise?

The policeman certainly has the right to be treated as a full citizen. . . . Perhaps for the very reason that he has special functions to fulfill, he should receive a special guarantee in the area of labor relations . . . such as to affirm the continuity and efficacy of the duties he fulfills.

On the other hand, an individual who wants to take on a role as decisive and weighty as that of a police officer, acquires by this very fact many privileges and extended powers that permit him, in some sense, to limit the liberty of citizens.

Is it not logical, then, that in return he agree to renounce certain privileges to guarantee the effectiveness of his task? — Paul Lachance, Aug. 23

Montreal La Presse: In face of this mess precipitated by President Richard Nixon's economic pronouncement, what attitude should we adopt?

It certainly seems that over the short term, there is nothing better to do than to support the American action.

What is good for the United States can only be good also for Canada, a country where inflation, unemployment, excessive government spending, the spiral of salaries and prices as well as the extremely high rate of taxation continue to ravage us, despite the attempt to introduce panaceas.

According to an English speaking confrere, Ottawa also should decree a freeze on salaries, prices and rents, which would perhaps oblige the big unions and big businesses to sit down around the same table to discuss the advantages for all citizens to be found in putting an end to ruinous rivalries.

Long-term action would also be necessary. . . . Even world action might be needed, with governments, businesses and unions carrying out a re-examination of the system.

The economy can no longer continue on a 1930 basis. Unions must unload their turn-of-the-century mentality and stop pretending to be "little guys" when they are "big guys" in fact. They have become all-powerful, and are, as much as business, responsible for economic ills.

Business must understand that an economy which has become infinitely complex and diversified can no longer depend on laissez-faire or "wait-and-see" policies.

Governments, for their part, must stop isolating themselves in national pride. The world economy must be rethought, no longer in terms of national or ideological barriers, but in terms of a planet that has become too small to be split into bits and pieces. — Jean Pellerin, Aug. 23

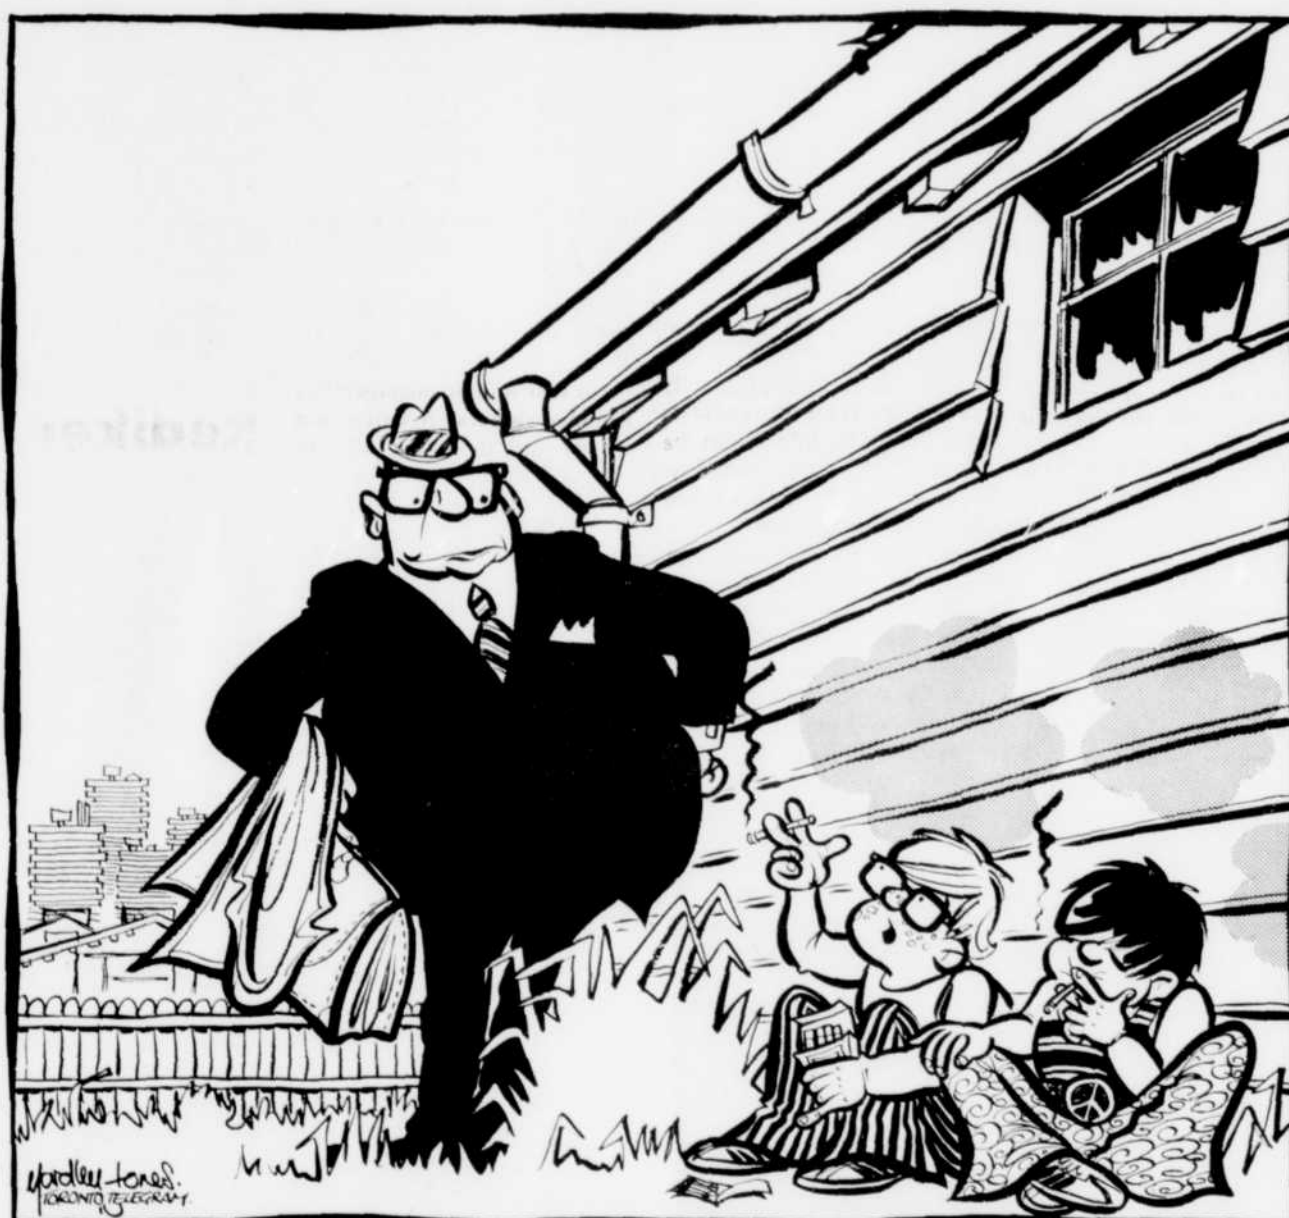

Granby La Voix de l'Est: Are members of Parliament taking more than their turn at absenting themselves from the Commons? We certainly get that impression in looking over the study of Prof. Roman B. March of McMaster University.

The level of absenteeism, according to this study, reached 38 per cent for the period Oct. 8, 1970, to June 30, 1971.

In any case, many MPs are not in attendance when votes are taken on division. For it is by taking account of attendance during votes that Mr. March came to his conclusions.

The MP or minister is perhaps in his office at such a time, or at a committee meeting, etc., but he is not in the Commons.

Certainly one must admit that an MP sometimes is obliged to be absent to meet his electors, see to personal affairs or go home to his constituency.

"But Dad! These officially rated a relatively low tar and nicotine percentage . . ."

Dollars and sense

WASHINGTON (CP) — Almost two weeks after President Nixon decided on drastic measures in an effort to wipe out the red ink in American foreign-trade ledgers, nothing much is resolved.

But commentators here are agreed, using the kind of awesome phrase that has become popular lately, that neither the world monetary system nor world trade patterns will be quite the same again.

The two-pronged Nixon plan—new duties on imports and floating of the United States dollar—is aimed at working not only a change for the better in the U.S. trade balance but also a more realistic and flexible way for the world to pay for its trade.

For either of those American objectives to be achieved, the cost is likely to be painful for many of the United States' principal trading partners, at least temporarily.

Their arguments and complaints have been flooding into Washington since the Nixon program was announced. The reply from Treasury Secretary John Connally, chief mover and shaker of the new policy, has been unrelentingly tough, as the Canadian delegation discovered last week when it sought exemption from Canada from new import duties.

Connally's view, over-simply stated, is that the U.S. has been trying for some time to persuade other countries, notably Japan and some European countries, to help correct an unhealthy situation and they have failed to act. So he has had to present them with a situation which will force them to act.

He wants foreign currency rates to reflect their actual value, not an artificial value that helps others' foreign trade. He wants the same access to foreign markets that he thinks foreign products have to the U.S. And he wants other countries to pick up more of the cost for Western defence.

The foreign reaction has been a mixture of sympathy and rancor. Other countries are said to appreciate that to varying degrees their own prosperity depends on a prosperous United States.

But there have been numerous reports reaching Washington of irritation and even anger at what is regarded as U.S. arrogance in believing that the U.S. alone should decide when and how other countries are to revalue their currencies and alter their trade policies.

Although not all other countries are equally guilty, all are being equally punished, the argument goes. And besides, other countries should not be forced to help pay for measures to correct U.S. domestic inflation which the Nixon administration has neglected.

Even closer to home, there are reports of criticism. The International Monetary Fund, whose headquarters are in Washington, is understood to have been pressing the U.S. behind the scenes to increase the price it will pay for gold above the long-standing $35 an ounce.

Their advice has been flatly rejected, published reports say. Nixon is said to be totally against the idea.

The fund's thinking is that a price increase for gold would allow the U.S. to share the burden with foreign governments of the forthcoming general shakeup in world currency values. The U.S. doesn't want any new emphasis placed on gold as a currency standard.

One indication of the complexity of the problems that must be solved and the difficulties ahead came Monday in the European money markets.

The U.S. dollar went on sale in European exchanges for the first time in a week and dropped only a trifle in value. Dealers were reported to be so uncertain about the effects of recent events on the value of the dollar, they held back on trading.

The aim of Nixon's program has been widely reported to be a devaluation of the American dollar of up to 15 per cent in relation to some other currencies. The unexpected strength of the dollar in the face of drastic U.S. moves only seems to show how much remains to be done before world trade and money values settle into a new pattern.

A minister is quite often called on, furthermore, to travel in Canada or in foreign countries in the interests of the country.

And, finally, a minister who spends his time in the Commons has scarcely any time left to look after the business of his department.

Sessions are becoming longer and longer because of the numerous problems that have to be solved. The Commons sit most of the year. We certainly could not require each of its members to be there five days a week.

It is evident, however, that his role orders him to attend; he is elected to participate in debates and to speak if he has reason to. Only a major reason can justify his absence from the Commons. — Roland Gagne, Aug. 20

Montreal Le Devoir: The fundamental fact about the present economic crisis is that, despite the changes and snubs that have been inflicted on it with more or less impunity, the American economy remains the most powerful industrial machine in the world.

However, in scuttling the Bretton Woods monetary system, in voluntarily sacrificing the increasingly onerous privileges that this system conferred on them, the United States has again taken the initiative and placed its partners on the defensive.

But the masters of Washington know full well that henceforth they will no longer be able to make others finance the deficit in their balance of payments — they is to say their investments and military presence in foreign countries.

Perhaps the United States will be able to obtain a more efficacious method to increase international liquidity than the mining of South African gold or the tolerance of imbalances in payments. Perhaps they will win more flexible exchange rates for currencies, and rates which will be revised more frequently.

All these measures favor economic growth — for their own economy as well as others.

But from now on, the dollar will have to be content with being a currency like the others. U.S. enterprises will not be able to invest more in foreign countries than the commercial surplus eventually realized will permit.

The treasury will have to find a means of reimbursing the $50 billion it has borrowed from nearly every source — probably through liquidating a part of its "extra-territorial" economy.

And the White House will no longer be able to speak louder in the assembly of monetary powers than is justified by the real power of the economy it directs. — Claude Lemelin, Aug. 23.

TIMELY QUOTES

The mind is not a vessel to be filled. It is a fire to be lighted.

—Apollo 15 commander David R. Scott, quoting the Roman philosopher Plutarch.

There is at least one lesson that we should learn from this war. That lesson is that we should never commit the armed forces of the United States to combat unless we have decided at the same time to use the non-nuclear power we have available to win in the shortest possible time.

—Adm. U. S. Grant Sharp (ret.), Pacific commander during the height of the Vietnam war.

We are so preoccupied with higher education that it has become a national fetish. High schools measure their success by the number of their students who go to college. People view vocational education as a great thing for the neighbor's children.

—Dr. Sidney P. Marland Jr., U.S. Commissioner of Education.

We can't preserve a forest and keep it from growing old, dying and being replaced by putting a fence around it and locking it up any more than we can keep a child from growing up by locking him in his room.

—Alvin Z. Owen, supervisor of Ouachita National Forest, Arkansas.

THOUGHTS

"The waters wear away the stones; the torrents wash away the soil of the earth; so thou destroyed the hope of man." — Job 14:19.

The will to persevere is often the difference between failure and success. —David Sarnoff, industrialist.

And indeed you do love all the brethren throughout Macedonia. But we exhort you brethren, to do so more and more, to aspire to live quietly, to mind your own affairs, and to work with your hands, as we have charged you. — I Thess. 4:10, 11.

A happy life must be to a great extent a quiet life, for it is only in an atmosphere of quiet that true joy can live. — Bertrand Russell, philosopher.

"Whatever house you enter, first say, 'Peace be to this house.' And if a son of Peace is there, your peace shall rest upon him; but if not, it shall return to you." — Luke 10:5, 6.

If half a century of living has taught me anything at all, it has taught me that "nothing can bring you peace, but yourself." — Dale Carnegie, biographer.

For they sow the wind, and they shall reap the whirlwind. The standing grain has no heads, it shall yield no meal; if it were to yield, aliens would devour it. — Hosea 8:7.

Results! Why man, I have gotten a lot of results. I know several thousand things that won't work. — Thomas Edison.

Lennoxville. No gifts, please.

THE FAMILY

Bridal showers

HATLEY — A surprise shower-luncheon was held August 19, in honor of Miss Barbara Moulton, a September bride-to-be, at the home of Miss Valerie Cutler.

The bride-to-be was taken completely by surprise when upon entering the house she found about 20 of her friends and former classmates already there to surprise her.

She was escorted to her chair by Valerie, who also presented her with a corsage of red rose buds.

A delightful lunch was enjoyed by all those present.

Barbara was assisted in opening her gifts by her mother,
Mrs. Archie Moulton.

After the opening of the gifts, Barbara expressed her thanks to all her friends for coming, and to Valerie and Mrs. Cutler for having the shower for her.

BIRCHTON — Miss Shirley Taylor came to Birchton Hall with her sister-in-law-to-be, Mrs. R. Lassenba, to a Group meeting, and was very much surprised to be met at the door by Donna Sparkes and Judy Halsall, while "Here comes the Bride" came from the piano with Mrs. Arthur Rogers playing.
Judy and Donna pinned rose corsages on Shirley and on the mothers, Mrs. Robert Taylor and Mrs. Russell Lackie.

The guest-of-honor was escorted to a chair decorated with yellow streamers and multi-colored balloons suspended overhead, which when jabbed, showered the bride-to-be with confetti. Baskets of gladioli added more color to the room.

Shirley was assisted by the two mothers with the opening of the many gaily-packaged and useful gifts, which had been attractively arranged on the long table centered by the bride's cake, a confection of yellow and roses.

After the gifts had travelled around the circle of guests, Shirley graciously thanked the hostesses and the donors of the gifts.

Then the hostesses, assisted by Joan and Betty Jane Halsall, served refreshments.

Rehearsal party held

DERBY LINE — Friday
evening, August 20, Mr. and Mrs.
Dalton Downing of Derby Line entertained at a party after the rehearsal at St. Edward's Church for the marriage the following day of their son,

Michael, to Celeste Roy, the daughter of Mrs. Roland Roy, Sr.

The bride and groom exchanged gifts. Celeste presented her maid of honor, Betty Downing, with a gold heart
design pin, and the bridesmaids,
Mary Downing and Madeline
Roy each with gold bracelets.

Michael presented his groomsman, Michael Allen, with a gold money clip and the ushers,
Raymond Routhier and Thomas
Williams, with cuff links and tie tacks.

The Downing home was decorated with arrangements of summer flowers. A buffet was served, with the table having an arrangement of pansies.

Birthday tea held

Mrs. Charles Lefebvre, Queen Street, Lennoxville, was the guest of honor at a pleasantly arranged tea at the home of Mrs.
Noble Smith, Park Street on the occasion of her birthday.

Relatives and friends attended and a social time was enjoyed.

At the tea hour Mrs. Smith was assisted by Mrs. Dorothy Pearce, Mrs. Dale Smith, Mrs.
Gary Winslow and daughter Candy.

Mrs. Lefebvre was the recipient of congratulations, gifts and cards.

Art exhibit to be held

THREE VILLAGES — There will be an exhibition of the arts of local people, to include paintings, handicrafts, and the like, in the Hall of Our Lady of Mercy Church, August 29, from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Displays will be received at the hall Friday and Saturday.

Milby WI meets

Milby Women's Institute held the August meeting at the home of Mrs. Ralph Broadhurst with Mrs. Gertrude Beattie as the assisting hostess.

The president Mrs. Fred Green conducted the meeting with the usual opening and the roll call was responded to by telling how to postpone old age.

Members were named to take charge at the WI Handicraft booth at the Sherbrooke Fair.

Mrs. Eldora Turner read an article regarding the CEGEP courses and Mrs. Roscoe Patrick for home economics read an article giving tips on mature fashions.

To conclude, an exchange picnic lunch was enjoyed.

How to retire gracefully

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I don't know who wrote this but it makes a lot of sense these days when more and more men are retiring—and getting on their wives' nerves. My copy says,
"Sent In By Ruth Strait, Modesto, Calif." I hope you think it's worth printing.

—Another Californian

Dear Beloved: I'm coming home to live with you 24 hours a day. Something I've been looking forward to for 40 years. I didn't marry you so I could work. I worked so I could marry you—and I figure we've spent at least 100,000 hours apart because of my job. I hope to make amends in the years left to us.

I'm sorry I'm not the same handsome fellow in the wedding picture, with black, wavy hair and a waistline a belt could go around—and legs that could still chase you around the dining room table. But I do have a deeper appreciation for you and a better understanding of what marriage means. I owe you a great deal. You stood by me during those rough times. You never worried me with other men (not too much, that is) and you never spent more than I made. You put up with my peculiarities and you were nice to my nutty relatives.

I don't have many requests, but I do have a few. I was a fairly important man down at the office. Please don't make me a flunky at home. I don't mind doing some of the chores but don't ask me to do woman's work. And when your lady friends drift in and out of the house, don't ask me to play host.
They come to see you, not me.

And now that the kids are gone and we have two vacant bedrooms, will you please let me have one? Not to sleep in, I still want my place next to you in the old four-poster, but I'd like a room where I can throw my junk around, or take a nap, or just accumulate things. Give me these few privileges, dear, and a little time to adjust, and I'll be the finest fellow you ever retired with.

Devotedly, Your Loving Husband

Dear Husband: You sound like a pussycat. I hope your wife is as smart enough to smile and say—"Yes, dear..."

Dear Ann Landers: I've had my share of problems, but by the grace of God, and a marriage counselor who couldn't save our marriage but helped me grow, I've come through my divorce a stronger and better person.

I am presently involved in a situation that has me half crazy with indecision. I've been seeing a divorced man who has six sons.
I believe I am in love with him and have told friends that he might marry. The consensus is that I would be crazy to mix my three children (two boys and one girl) with his six (all boys). My mother tells me we would be fighting over the children constantly.

I am not a child (I'm in my early 30's), and I realize no marriage is without problems, but I do love this man and I don't want to lose him if this thing with the children can be worked out. What are the chances, Ann?
I should tell you that his sons are well-behaved and they seem to like me very much. Thanks for your help.

—Teeter Trotter

Dear Teeter: I see no reason why you could not have a successful marriage with a father of six boys provided you agree in advance on the ground rules: No favoritism, and no "do you know what YOUR son did to MY daughter" complaints. When the kids squabble (and you can bet your life they will) there must be no taking sides.
Punishment should be swift, just and equal.

THE VEGETABLE FOR FALL — A meal-in-one, both in flavor and nutrition, is this well-seasoned stuffed baked sweetpotato.

Sweet potatoes go versatile

Mellow flavors join with mellow colors to give autumn its traditional amber and crimson warmth, and these rich tones are captured in foods from the autumn fields such as fresh sweetpotatoes. They are especially plentiful during this time and make for hearty eating as the season ushers in cooler days.

Sweetpotatoes, which are members of the morning glory family, are one of the most nutritionally complete foods—some of the South Sea islanders live on them exclusively.
They're loaded with vitamin A, vitamin C, iron, thiamine and other essential vitamins and minerals, advises the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association. Sweetpotatoes are such a versatile food, too. They can be boiled, baked, fried or candied, used to make biscuits, bread, pies, custards, cookies or cakes.

Even today, this golden sweet vegetable is a prominent food in nutritionally balanced diets. A simple, yet special, accompaniment to a dinner meal, Stuffed Baked Sweetpotatoes go a long way in both flavor and nutrition. Fresh sweetpotatoes are baked until tender—then comes the interesting variation. The fillings are scooped out of the skins and mashed with butter, milk, salt and pepper. Crunchy almonds are stirred in to contrast with the smooth texture. The seasoned mixture is spooned back into the shells and heated for a few minutes—so delicious, and so good for you!

STUFFED BAKED SWEETPOTATOES

4 sweetpotatoes
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons milk
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1-3 cup toasted slivered almonds

Wash and scrub the sweetpotatoes. Bake in a 375 degree F. oven for 45 minutes to 1 hour, until tender when tested with a fork. Cut lengthwise slice from side of sweetpotatoes.
Scoop out sweetpotatoes, being careful to keep skins intact, and mash in bowl with butter, milk, salt and pepper. Stir in almonds and spoon into sweetpotato shells. Return to 375 degree F. oven and heat for 12 to 15 minutes.

Makes: 4 servings.

SWEET POTATO AND APPLE BAKE

½ cup molasses
¼ cup sugar
2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
¼ teaspoon each, ginger and ground cloves
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
1-3 cup fresh orange juice
2 pounds sweetpotatoes, cooked, peeled and halved or quartered
2 medium cooking apples, pared, cored and sliced

Combine molasses, sugar, butter, spices and orange juice. Pour over sweetpotatoes and apples in baking dish. Bake in 350 degree
F. over 45 minutes, basting occasionally.

Makes: 8 servings.

Rediker, Maclure exchange vows

ROCK ISLAND — The marriage of Carmen Nicole, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emile Maclure, Rock Island, and Lindsay Bruce Rediker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Rediker of Graniteville, took place on Saturday, August 21, at 10 a.m. at Our Lady of Mercy Church.

Father Rock Lecours, parish priest, met the guests at the church door, extended a welcome and invited all to enter the House of God.

The bride walked down the aisle on the arm of her groom.
Mr. Paul Morel played the organ music. Mixed summer flowers were used to decorate.

The bride was wearing a semi-
A-line gown of white peau de soie with full sleeves gathered to wide lace over peau de soie cuffs. This was topped with a sleeveless spanish lace coat, fastening at the high lace collar, with scallops down the front and around the chapel length train.
Her short veil of silk illusion was held in place by a cluster of orange blossoms and petals having seed pearl clusters. She carried a peau de soie and lace muff adorned with red roses and white satin ribbons.

Miss Nicole Maclure, as maid of honor for her sister, was in a floor-length gown of rose pink georgette crepe over peau de soie, having a high rise waist and long sleeves with lace trim and a hood, which she wore as her headdress. She carried a colonial of white miniature carnations looped with pink and white satin ribbons.

Miss Colette Maclure, younger sister of the bride, as flower girl, was in a gown of deep rose crepe styled on semi-A-line with short sleeves and high collar. A white satin ribbon circled the highrise waist to tie with a bow at the front and streamers. She carried a nosegay of white miniature carnations looped with white and pink satin ribbons. A white bow was worn in her hair.

Mr. Brian Rolleston was groomsman, and the ushers were Ronald Wilson, Jr., brother-in-law of the bride, and Larry Rediker, brother of the groom.
The gentlemen of the party had red carnation boutonnières.

Mrs. Maclure, mother of the bride, chose a carnation pink crepe fortrel dress, accessorized in white, and a corsage of white carnations with silver ribbons.

The groom's mother, Mrs.
Rediker, was wearing a dress of seafoam green chiton over taffeta, and was trimmed with daisy lace. Her accessories were in white and she wore a corsage of toning mums.

Mrs. Emile St. Hilaire, maternal grandmother of the bride, was in a turquoise blue silk crepe dress; she wore beige accessories and a corsage of yellow mums.

The groom's paternal grandmother, Mrs. Ezra

Rediker, was in a blue-green with white figured silk dress, black accessories and wore a corsage of miniature white carnations. Mr. Rediker had a white carnation boutonniere.

The reception was held at Crystal Beach Hotel, where approximately 100 guests were served a turkey dinner.

The Day Under Your Sign

- ARIES (Born March 21 to April 19) — You try to cover too much territory in too short a time. Avoid scattering your energies in this manner.
- TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) — Health may be under stress. Perhaps you're just overtired and need more rest. A good day to get it.
- GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) — The world is in sad shape and your personal world seems to be the same. Seek solitude; avoid people.
- CANCER (June 21 to July 21) — If your schedule is overloaded, you wind up accomplishing nothing. Weed out non-essentials in week ahead.
- LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) — A new point of view expressed by younger member of family could catch you completely by surprise.
- VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — Seek every source of information you can to obtain facts and figures necessary to back up your contention.
- LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — You may be called upon to help out an elderly relative. Be happy you are in a position to be of service.
- SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — Outlook similar to Taurus. Nerves are taut and you are inclined to be somewhat irritable. Try to relax.
- SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Examine your innermost feelings. You may find that you want to back up and start all over again.
- CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Pursue difficult tasks with as much assurance as the easier ones. You are mentally alert and manually dexterous.
- AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — Negative rays early in morning suggest postponing the job progress may not be as fast as you'd hoped. Be patient.
- PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) — So many areas demand your attention that you find it difficult to concentrate on any one item.

The Day Under Your Sign

- ARIES (Born March 21 to April 19) — Everything should be serene as the Aries home now so do nothing to upset the status quo.
- TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) — A wise move will impress those who matter and you're on your way much faster than you dared hope.
- GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) — Take the initiative in seeking ways and means of approaching community problem that concerns everyone.
- CANCER (June 21 to July 21) — This can be a rewarding day if you've played by the rules in all areas of endeavor. Be a good sport.
- LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) — If you are persistent in the right time and place — you can get what you're after. Be diplomatic.
- VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — Don't get engrossed in personal matters that you neglect your job. Put first things first.
- LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — Although you have a few qualms about making a change, you'll be pleased with results in the long run.
- SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — Although you put your heart and soul into your job, progress may not be as fast as you'd hoped. Be patient.
- SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Find memories are motivated by sentimental reminiscences with friend you happen to run into somewhere.
- CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Your know-how will impress others but it should be followed by action without delay. Get going!
- AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — Although you have a few qualms about making a change, you'll be pleased with results in the long run.
- PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) — Some pet project you have could work out at this time if you've done your "homework" thoroughly.

Stanstead County WI meets at Ayer's Cliff

AYER'S CLIFF — The Quarterly meeting of the Stanstead County Women's Institute meeting was held on Tuesday afternoon, August 17 at Beulah United Church in Ayer's Cliff where the new President, Mrs. Nelson Pierce presided.

Mrs. Pierce welcomed the several members of the five branches that make up the County. She asked for a moment of respectful silence for Mrs. Antonia Binnekamp, a member of Ayer's Cliff Branch whose funeral was to be held the following day.

On behalf of the Ayer's Cliff hosting branch, Mrs. E. J. Astbury spoke a welcome.

Routine reports were heard. The roll call showed seven members each from Ayer's Cliff and Beebe, one from Hatley, two from Hatley Center and nine from Stanstead North, there was also guests attending.

Conveners reports included that of Mrs. I. Lord, Agriculture, who reported the plans for the September 18 school fair well on the way.

Mrs. R. Knight, Education, said she had received three applications for the Estella Holmes scholarship, but none met the requirements. It was suggested that the scholarship committee have a meeting to discuss changing the scholarship requirements to conform with the changes in the present day education. The scholarship will not be given this year but it is to be considered giving two next year.

Home Economics, Miss Viola Moranville, read an informative

item that the CAC are working to have standard sizes in clothing, especially children's. She also gave pertinent current affairs information and some recipes and reminded everyone of the sale table at Ayer's Cliff fair on August 27, 28 and 29.

Publicity, Miss Norma Holmes, said she would appreciate Branch news as quickly as possible after the meeting as it must be in Macdonald office by the 20th of each month for the magazine.

Mrs. John Johnston, chairman for the Ayer's Cliff Fair tea room said all is well, she plans to clean the room before the fair and other members offered to assist. Sweetbreads, donuts and other goodies will be served with beverages.

It was noted all five branches will be entering the Fair special exhibit for Women's Institutes and Cercle de Fermiere members.

Stanstead County has the September WI Broadcast over CKTS Sherbrooke radio station.

The next Quarterly meeting will be October 15 at the Wesley United Church in Beebe commencing at 10:00 a.m.

The program was a tape played of the address of Rev. Sister Moore, a nun and schoolteacher, at the FWIC convention at Winnipeg, Man.

The subject of her talk was "Women's Right to Nag." Mrs. V. A. Christiansen of Ayer's Cliff very kindly came and played the tape, she was thanked on behalf of the assembly by Miss Viola Moranville, immediate past president. Pierce reading an Edgar Guest poem, the hosting branch served a tasty salad supper with cake and ices for dessert.

After the closing by Mrs. and ices for dessert.

Fun Fair coming

KNOWLTON - The Brome County Historical Society is holding a benefit party in the Royal Canadian Legion Hall, Main Street, Knowlton, on Saturday September 18th next commencing at 5.30 p.m.

This is to be in the shape of a "Fun Fair", there will be various opportunities to demonstrate your skill, possibly an auction sale, refreshments will be served, and it should prove to be an all round entertaining evening.

The purpose of this Fun Fair is twofold, firstly to bring the existence of the Museum to everyone's attention, as many are unaware of the large and interesting collection of historical data and exhibits that are on display in the new Centennial Building, and secondly to raise funds and encourage new memberships in the historical society.

The Museum belongs to all the people of Brome County, and therefore the Society is looking for support from 'all the people'.

Don't forget the date, time and place, September 18th, Legion, Knowlton!

SCOTIABANK APPOINTMENT

Andre Bisson

The Bank of Nova Scotia announces the appointment of Andre Bisson as General Manager of Quebec Region with headquarters in Montreal. He succeeds T. W. Pilley who becomes General Manager of the Bank's British Columbia Region in Vancouver.

In his new role, Mr. Bisson will also offer advice and assistance on matters relating to the Bank's operations in Europe in concert with Scotiabank's Regional Office in London.

Before joining the Bank, Mr. Bisson held key posts in business and banking education and served as a consultant to several prominent Canadian corporations.

Until his appointment, Mr. Bisson was director of the Institute of Canadian Bankers, the educational arm of the Canadian Bankers' Association, and associate professor of business administration at Laval University, where he graduated with a Master of Commerce degree. He also holds an M.B.A. from Harvard University.

Champlain: Quebec's 34th junior college

LENNOXVILLE — A new concept in educational co-existence will be launched this September, as Bishop's University opens its campus to the Lennoxville section of the newly established Champlain Regional College (CEGEP), and Quebec's 34th government-sponsored junior college comes into being.

This is the fourth and latest CEGEP to be chartered to serve Quebec's English speaking population.

A second section of the college is being planned, with the acquisition of office space and an administrative and secretarial staff being engaged to plan programs, hire professional teaching staff and registering students.

This section will be opened in the St. Lambert-Longueuil district in September, 1972.

The first section of Champlain Regional College will be taking advantage of the existing facilities and staff at Bishop's through a contractual agreement between the new CEGEP and Bishop's University.

This contract will see Bishop's supplying teachers, classrooms, and other related student services in the areas of health, recreation, library, dining hall facilities and so on.

Because of the very limited time element between granting of the charter and the opening of the college in September, plus the usual formalities necessary to receive approval for course offerings from the department of education in Quebec, Champlain Regional College will be able to offer, in 1971-72, technological courses in addition to those offered in the academic field.

With two educational institutions sharing the same campus and many of the same teachers and facilities, it will be a unique educational experience and one, it is hoped, that will contribute to a broader understanding and achievement of each other's needs and goals.

Champlain Regional College will, it is hoped, bridge the gap between secondary level education offerings and those at the university level by providing specialized technology training and a college diploma to many who would have otherwise terminated their education at the high school level.

This will now make possible a continuum of education in this area from kindergarten to graduate university studies.

The new CEGEP

administration has expressed its appreciation to Bishop's principal and vice-chancellor Dr. Dennis Healy and his staff at all levels, for their professional help and co-operation in the establishment of Champlain Regional College on the University Campus. A close liaison will be maintained throughout the coming year so that both schools can co-operate harmoniously towards the sole reason for their existence, that of providing a sound educational framework

Another potential Champlain student discusses program selection with college guidance counselors.

FREDERICK TURLEY

Frederick E. Turley, the new director-general of Champlain Regional College, is a former Ville LaSalle resident who attended school in that town and in Lachine.

A graduate of the University of Maine with a bachelor's degree in education, he also holds a diploma in advanced studies in education, and M.Ed., both from Bishop's University.

His background in teaching and administration includes positions as teacher of social studies at the North Country Union High School in Newport, Vt.; chairman of the social studies department at Orleans High School, Orleans, Vt.; guidance counselor at Lake Region Union High School, Barton, Vt.; chairman of the department of moral and religious education at Massey-Vanier Regional High School, Cowansville; and executive administrator of the same school.

Mr. Turley has overall responsibility for the operation and development of the entire multi-campus institution of Champlain Regional College, and serves as an ex-officio member of the corporation of the college, reporting on the progress and affairs of the college.

He also is chairman of the corporation's executive committee.

JAMES WILLS

N. James Wills, as director of buildings and equipment, will be responsible for all feasibility studies of existing facilities to be used by Champlain Regional College, in the technological and academic course offerings.

He also will take charge of the acquisition, construction and renovation of buildings in which to house the various campuses and programs, and will be responsible for all equipment and purchases, and for the furnishings of all campus classrooms and office buildings.

Mr. Wills is a graduate in arts and engineering from McGill University and is a member of the Corporation of Quebec Engineers and the Association of Professional Engineers of Ontario.

The Massey-Vanier High School in Cowansville was built under Mr. Wills' direction between 1968 and 1970, where he remained until taking on his new duties at Champlain.

During 1967, Mr. Wills served as engineering advisor to the Protestant School Board for the District of Bedford, before which he was an engineering advisor in Montreal and to construction programs in the Brome-Missisquoi area.

Among his tasks were a flood project for the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers at Richford, Vt.

Originally from Ottawa, where he started in the construction field with his father, Mr. Wills has been involved in engineering and buildings sponsored by major corporations across Canada.

THOMAS McGRATH

Thomas R. McGrath, campus principal, also is serving as director of pedagogical services, and in addition to planning and administering the Lennoxville campus will work very closely with the director-general in research and development of new technological offerings to be offered by the college.

Mr. McGrath holds B.A. and B. Comm. degrees from the University of Ireland, where he was an honors graduate in history, commerce and education.

A native of Waterford, Ireland, he comes to Champlain from the Gaspé Peninsula College, where he was associate director of teacher education and associate academic dean of the English section.

During the 1969-70 academic year, Mr. McGrath established a regional high school-college curriculum coordinating committee for Gaspé College's English division, and more recently modified the teacher education program there by introducing workshops to replace the former, more theoretical courses in methodology.

He successfully promoted the concept of a bilingual CEGEP in 1970, which contributed to the change in status of the college, to make College de la Gaspésie, which also assumed the name of Gaspé Peninsula College, the first bi-ethnic CEGEP in Quebec.

Mr. McGrath also has taken post-graduate courses at Laval and Harvard universities.

Family Reunion

DANVILLE — A family reunion was enjoyed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Beliveau on Tuesday, Aug. 17, when many of the family gathered to wish Mr. Beliveau many happy returns of his birthday which had occurred only a few days previous.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Errol Beliveau and family of Waterville, Mrs. Julie Gagnon of the Upper Melbourn Residence, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Beliveau of the Richmond Home, Richmond, Mrs. Gertie Nadeau of Melbourn, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Beliveau and Mr. and Mrs. Anatole Demers, all of this place, as well as Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Beliveau and son Wayne of Waukegan, Ill. who were house guests at the Beliveau home.

Other callers included Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Morrill who are enjoying a holiday at their summer home at Three Lakes, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Fleming, Pointe Claire, Mrs. Annette Malboeuf, Richmond and her guest, Mrs. Lucille Taylor, Burlington, Ont.

This year the annual Family Picnic which has become a tradition in the Horan family was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Lockwood, Lennoxville, Sun. Aug. 15.

Those attending for Danville were Mrs. Charles Horan and her guests, Mr. and Mrs. Foster Morrill, Guelph, Ont., Mr. and Mrs. Roy Carson and daughter Heather and their son, Mr. Donald Carson, and Mrs. Carson, Victoriaville, Mr. and Mrs. George Horan and daughters, Cheryl and Janice, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Horan and sons, David and Keith and Mr. Craig Horan.

Also present were Mrs. Mary Gow, Montreal, Mr. and Mrs. Sinclair Horan, Shawinigan, Mr. Stanley Horan and son Steven, Montreal, Mr. and Mrs. Garth Carson and daughter Lois of Richmond and Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Horan and three daughters of Drummondville.

Vacation School and picnic

SCOTSTOWN — The children who attended Vacation Bible School for two weeks held their closing exercises on Thursday evening August 12 in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church hall. Several parents and friends attended.

Miss Laurel Nesdoly of Kentville, N.S. and Miss Joan Lay of Montreal were the teachers this week.

The programme opened with all joining the children in singing an hymn. The children sang a chorus and then Miss Nesdoly on behalf of Miss Lay and herself thanked the children for attending the school, the parents for sending or bringing them, Mrs. Kay Coates for use of her home for one week and Mr. George Riglar for the use of his trailer for a week and all who entertained them. She welcomed all to the hall.

The children sang selections of songs, recited memory verses and answered a quiz on the lessons they had learned and all came up with the right answer. One of the teachers told two stories using the flannelgraph board.

Rev. Davidson spoke briefly, expressed thanks to the teachers for the splendid work they had done with the boys and girls. The children expressed their thanks to the teachers by applauding.

Jeff MacDonald and Parker MacDonald received the offering which was dedicated by Rev. Davidson.

The teachers presented prizes to the boys and girls who had perfect attendance and for memory work done. Several had done their memory work every day and received an extra prize.

Rev. Davidson pronounced the Benediction after the singing of How Great Thou Art. The people looked at the display of the handwork done by the children and several bought books that were for sale.

Friday afternoon the Sunday School children and the Vacation Bible School boys and girls with the teachers, parents and friends held a picnic at the Irving Farm.

Rev. Davidson and Misses Nesdoly and Lay looked after the games, the weather was nice and all had a good time. After the games a picnic lunch was enjoyed by all.

Ayer's Cliff

Mr. and Mrs. Philip McConnell accompanied by Mrs. Ellen Cole and Mr. and Mrs. Clive Thompson attended the Thompson family reunion held in Birchton Hall recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Thompson of Lennoxville were also among those who attended. Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clive Thompson have been their granddaughter Miss Brenda Sample and friend from Aymer, Que., and Myrtle Thompson from Montreal, Mr. and Mrs. Thompson and their guest Myrtle Thompson attended the silver wedding anniversary of their daughter Mrs. Tracy Chute and Mr. Chute in Bulwer.

Friends of Mrs. Lora Fish were saddened to learn of her death which occurred at La Providence Hospital on Aug. 6. Mrs. Fish resided in Ayer's Cliff for several years and had many friends here. Her funeral was held at the Cass Funeral Home on Monday August 9. Sympathy is extended to the members of her family.

Recent guests at the home of Mrs. Estelle Robinson, Mr. Sydney and Miss Hilda Robinson have been Mrs. Colleigh, Winchendon, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. Roland Drew and daughter Jackie of Morrisville, Vt., and Miss Rhonda Farr of Chelsea, Vt., Mr. Grover Robinson and Miss Lee Ranlet, Keene, N.H., and Mr. and Mrs. Hector Channell, Stanstead.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Smith, Steven, Scott, and Sherri of Halifax, Mass., are spending their holidays with their parents Mr. and Mrs. A.C. Keeler and Mrs. Opal Smith and visiting other relatives in the district.

Chit-Chats entertained

BEEBEE — Miss Mary Lees entertained the Chit-Chat Get-together on August 11, with 10 members in attendance.

A short business meeting was conducted, followed by a social evening of games of bingo. The marathon winners were Mrs. Alice Huntington, Mrs. Mabel Crawford, Mrs. A. Brault and Mrs. Madge Miller, while Mrs. Elizabeth Williams claimed the door prize.

At the termination of the games, all members were seated at a lace-covered table, where dainty refreshments were served.

The August 25 meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Maud Probert.

PROVINCE OF QUEBEC CITY OF SHERBROOKE PUBLIC NOTICE Business and Tenant Taxes Special Valuation Roll 1971.

PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given that the Special Valuation Roll for Business and Tenant Taxes is now completed and deposited at the Assessment Department, 75 Wellington Street North. Said Valuation Roll shall remain open for the inspection of those interested, or their representatives, during the fifteen (15) days following its deposit, to wit: from August 27th until September 10th, 1971 inclusive.

During such time, any person having reasons to complain against the Roll as prepared, either for himself or for another person, may appeal to the City Council by giving, for such a purpose, a written notice to the City, stating the grounds of his complaint and if he complains against the amount of rent or of the rental value of the premises that he occupies, he shall mention in his notice the amount which he considers to be adequate. The said notice must reach the City Clerk, on or before September 10th, 1971, at 4:30 p.m.

Complainants will be advised in writing, of the day and the hour when their protests will be considered by the Board of Revision appointed by the City Council. They may then appear in support of their protests or be represented.

Given at Sherbrooke, this 24th day of August 1971.

H. P. Emond, Assistant City Clerk

Red Sox avoid season sweep by KC Royals

After 12 straight defeats and the possibility of an embarrassing season sweep by Kansas City Royals, Boston Red Sox were on the verge of becoming the Red Sox.

The complexion suddenly changed, though. Boston averted a series shut-out with a 7-0 triumph over Kansas City Thursday night, whipping the Royals for the first time in a year. The Red Sox lost the last game of 1970 and the first 11 this year.

"All good things must come to an end," philosophized Kansas City manager Bob Lemon.

"There's not much else you can say."

"The odds just caught up with them, the law of averages," said Boston Red Sox manager Eddie Kasko.

The odds may have had something to do about it, but the Red Sox also had something else going for them—Ray Culp. He pitched a six-hitter.

"They had been beaten up on us," said the burly right hander. "They've got a good, young club."

It took one of my better nights to get them out."

All the action Thursday night was in the American League as Cleveland Indians trimmed Milwaukee Brewers 10-6, Baltimore Orioles beat the Chicago White Sox 8-7 in a rain-shortened, eight-inning game and Washington Senators drubbed California Angels 8-3.

Before running into Culp, the Royals were close to doing something that only one team in the history of baseball has done—sweep a season series.

Orr signs five-year pact....$1 million?

BOSTON (AP) — Bobby Orr, the National Hockey League's outstanding defenceman for the last four seasons, has signed a five-year contract with Boston Bruins, the NHL team announced Friday.

Financial terms of the contract were not announced, but it was speculated that the pact was for $1 million, which would make Orr the highest paid player in NHL history.

Alan Eagleson, Orr's financial adviser who also is executive director of the NHL's Players' Association, said the contract was "the highest in the history of hockey and probably one of the highest in the history of sports."

Orr, 23, the NHL's most valuable player the last two seasons, said he was "very, very happy" with the contract.

"I've spent five years in Boston that have been five of the greatest years of my life," the soft-spoken Orr said. "I hope to stay here at least another five years. I'm very happy."

"We've always speculated that Bobby would be a millionaire by the time he was 30," Eagleson said. "I think he will be one before then."

Weston Adams Jr., Bruins president, said the contract was completed and executed in February, after more than a year of negotiations. He said no announcement was made at the time because of several minor points that had not been resolved.

This would mean, presumably, that Orr's contract would not come under President Nixon's 90-day wage and price freeze.

Orr's salary last season is estimated at $35,000-$40,000. Orr, who said he has put on about 15 pounds during the off-season "taking it easy," has been an all-star defenceman each year since he entered the NHL in 1966. He holds the league record for most assists, 102, most goals by a defenceman, 37, and most points by a defenceman, 139, all set last year.

In 1969-70, when the Bruins won their first Stanley Cup in 29 years, Orr received the Art Ross scoring trophy, the Hart Trophy as the league's most valuable player and the Conn Smythe trophy as most valuable player in the playoffs.

For the last four seasons he has won the James D. Morris Trophy as the league's outstanding defenceman.

May have permanent eye damage says Carty

ATLANTA (AP) — Atlanta Braves outfielder Rico Carty, who led the National League in hitting last season, said Thursday his right eye probably is damaged permanently as a result of an altercation involving three Atlanta policemen.

The policemen have been suspended without pay and Police Chief Herbert Jenkins commented: "This case involved the worst case of misconduct by a police officer I've ever seen."

Jenkins said the matter would be taken to a Fulton County grand jury for investigation, and that the suspended policeman also would be brought before the Atlanta police committee.

Mayor Sam Massell called it "apparently an incident of blatant brutality."

Carty commented on the possible damage to his eye in response to questions at a news conference in the offices of the Atlanta Braves Thursday. He has not played this year because of other injuries.

"The way it seems right now, anything can happen," he said. But he declined to discuss the question of his eye injury any further, on the advice of his lawyer.

MAKE REMARKS

According to police reports, the incident happened about midnight Tuesday night. Carty and his brother-in-law, Carlos Ramirez, were in an automobile when they exchanged words with two white men in another automobile.

Carty reported the remarks to a uniformed policeman who was nearby, and an altercation developed, according to the report. Carty wound up with an injured finger and bruises on the head. He was arrested and charged with battery on an officer and creating a turmoil.

Stitches were required to close a wound in Ramirez' head, and he was charged with obstructing an officer.

Massell has recommended that charges against them be dropped.

"It is still hard for me to believe that an unprovoked beating like this could happen to me here," said Carty, a native of the Dominican Republic.

Hockey's Hall adds five more

TORONTO (CP) — Long denied his rightful place among hockey's greats, Harvey (Busher) Jackson was inducted into the Hockey's Hall of Fame Thursday night.

Jackson, a left winger of Toronto Maple Leafs' famed Kid Line of the 1930s, was one of five former National Hockey League players and builders inducted, bringing the Hall's honor roll to 180.

Others inducted were the late Terry Sawchuk, goaltender with Detroit Red Wings, Boston Bruins, Toronto Maple Leafs and New York Rangers; Ralph (Conney) Weiland, Boston great of the 1920s; Gordon Roberts, high-scoring winger with Ottawa Senators and builder Arthur Wirtz of Chicago Black Hawks.

Jackson was the last member of the famed Kid Line to be honored at the Hall, Centre Joe Primeau, and right winger Charlie Conacher preceded him.

A great competitor on the ice, Jackson's off-ice capers had him constantly in hot water with Leaf management and until this year the stigma that resulted followed him beyond the grave. He died June 25, 1966.

Conn Smythe, crusty owner, general manager and coach of the Leafs during Jackson's career and a member of the Hockey Hall of Fame selection committee, vowed that Jackson would never get into the Hall so long as he sat on the committee.

WAITED TOO LONG

But the committee decided this year that Jackson's inevitable elevation had waited too long and overrode Smythe's objections.

Smythe followed the decision with his resignation from the committee.

"The Kid Line is being reunited tonight," noted Milt Dunnell, former Toronto Star sports editor, in his eulogy of "one of the classiest left wingers of all time."

Dunnell followed Jackson's meteoric rise from the ponds of west Toronto where he first laced on "a pair of borrowed girls' skates" to his explosive arrival in a Toronto uniform two years later at the age of 21.

"All this happened," said Dunnell, "at a time when Canadians were more interested in the poverty soup line."

"The Kid Line was like a tonic for a country that needed encouragement."

Their emergence then, Dunnell continued, "was comparable to what Rocky Marciano did for boxing, Mickey Mantle for baseball and Red Grange for football."

Three share lead in junior golf tourney

EDMONTON (CP) — Three golfers were tied for first place with 141 after the second round of the 72-hole Canadian junior golf championship Thursday.

Adam Brown, 18, of Hamilton; Mike Defalco, 18, of Lucerne, Que., and Rob Laing, 17, of Prince George, each fired one-under-par 70s Thursday for a share of the lead. They had been among seven golfers tied for third Wednesday with 71s.

Alone in second place was 18-year-old Scott Keenlyside of Langley, B.C., with 142 on rounds of 71 and 71. He also had been tied for third after the first round.

Murray McLaren, 16, of Woodbridge, Ont., the co-leader after the first round, dropped to a third-place tie with Bruce Heuchan, 17, of Aymer East, Que.

McLaren, who had a two-under 69 on the first round, carded a 75 for a total of 144. Heuchan shot 71 to put with his first round 73.

The other first round leader, Bruce Moore, 18, of Edmundston, N.B., still was out on the course.

Defalco, who was out of golf for a month earlier this year after breaking his hand while playing hockey, shot par 35 on the front nine and a one-under 35 on the longer back nine.

Laing, who plans to take a physical education and recreation course at University of British Columbia this fall, had 71-70.

One of the favorites in the tournament, Daniel Talbot, 18, of Beloeil, Que., blew to a 74 for a 145—good enough only for a fourth-place tie with Stephen Ball, 18, of Weston, Ont., and Robbie Jackson, 16, of Ile Bizard, Que.

Ball had been alone in second after a first-round 70, but took a 75 on the second 18. Jackson, the 1970 juvenile champion, has 73 and 72.

Two other first-round low scorers, Kelly Roberts of London, Ont., and Gerald Brackett of Halifax, both had bad rounds and were knocked further back into the field. Roberts, with 71 Wednesday, took a 76 for 147 and Brackett, who also had a first-round par, soared to 79 for a total of 150.

Palmer advances to 3rd round match play

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Arnold Palmer held off a fast finish by Mike Hill, scored a comfortable 68-71 victory Thursday and advanced to the third round of the $200,000 United States professional match play golf championship.

Palmer's second consecutive four-under-par effort on the 6,973-yard Country Club of North Carolina course stamped him a solid favorite for the $35,000 first prize in this five-day tournament.

George Knudson of Toronto birdied the final hole to oust Master champion Charles Coody 68-69 in one of the day's closest matches.

The second round of this head-to-head competition, in which scoring is based on total strokes over 18 holes, cut the field to 16 for today's play. Quarter-finals and semi-finals are scheduled Saturday with an 18-hole final for the two survivors Sunday.

Exactly one-quarter of the field is 41 years or older as Julius Boros, 51-year-old national seniors champion, 43-year-old

Hooker Shield matches held

SAND HILL (NN) — The Hooker Shield matches were held at the Sand Hill Range last Saturday, August 21, sponsored by the Sand Hill Rifle Club.

Categories for the shoot were 1-20, 20-40, 40-60, 60-80, 80-100 years of age. The matches were first held in 1921 at Bishopston having been started by Jim Hooker of Bishopston.

The matches were shot in Bishopston until the Second World War. They were resumed after the war at Sand Hill.

This year there were 10 competitors; the oldest being Jim Beattie, 87 years of age, who shot a 91. Other winners were in the 20-40 group Mrs. Paul Bean (101); 40-60 group R. Kinghorn; 60-80 group G. A. Bishop (98); 80-100 group Jim Beattie (91).

The 60-80 group between G. Bishop and Ernie Jenkinson was a cliff hanger until the last rounds were fired and the targets rechecked. The final tally showed Gerald took the competition after careful study by a 1V-Bull.

This Sunday, August 29, hunters will be able to check their eyesight at the rifle range when the club once again sponsors their annual Hunter Shoot.

The program is slated to get underway at 10 a.m., rain or shine. There will be three prime categories—trap shooting, running deer and sight-in.

A full day of shooting will enable shooters and prospective hunters a chance to check their eyesight and firearms for the upcoming hunting seasons.

Everyone is welcome to attend the shoot with prizes being offered for the best in different sections.

Gardner Dickinson and 47-year-old Art Wall joined the 41-year-old Palmer as winners in Thursday's play.

Dickinson birdied the first extra hole to eliminate young Larry Hinson after each had shot a 73. Boros topped Terry Dill 73-76 and Wall turned back rookie Hubert Green 71-73.

The wave of upsets, which knocked out Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player in Wednesday's first round, subsided somewhat, but there still were a few form reversals.

SLIPS TO 73

Ray Floyd, who upset Nicklaus 67-69 in Wednesday's play, slipped to a 73, but still advanced against Bob Smith, who took a 74.

Palmer, gunning for his fifth victory of the season, had a five-stroke lead with two holes to play and appeared to be headed to a routine victory until the 32-year-old Hill unleashed an eagle-birdie finish.

He holed a 120-yard wedge shot for a two on the 17th hole and put his second shot on the front of the green on the 484-yard par-five finishing hole.

Palmer was short in two and pitched up to about 15 feet.

Hill, the younger brother of Jerry Dave Hill, left his 40-foot eagle putt about two feet short. Palmer took it out of doubt when he dropped his putt for a bird.

"Anything can happen out there," Palmer said.

Palmer will play 28-year-old Dave Eichelberger in the third round. Eichelberger, who won the Milwaukee Open a couple of months ago, eliminated veteran Lionel Hebert 72-76.

Veteran Bathgate retires

BARRIE, Ont. (CP) — Andy Bathgate, veteran of more than 15 years in the National Hockey League, said Thursday he is quitting professional hockey and hopes to become a player-coach in Switzerland.

"I'm positive I won't play pro hockey any more," said Bathgate, who will be 39 Saturday. Playing with the Swiss team would be an opportunity for his family to see some of the world, he said.

Bathgate, here as an instructor in a summer hockey school, said he is having difficulty acquiring his amateur card which would enable him to join Ambry Pottia, the Swiss senior amateur team which has offered him a job.

He said Vancouver Canucks, who acquired his playing rights from Pittsburgh Penguins in the reverse draft this summer, are reluctant to release him.

"I've been dicker for more than a month and a half to get my amateur card, but I haven't got to first base with Vancouver."

Giants plan new home

NEW YORK (AP) — New York Giants revealed plans Thursday to move their home games to a proposed new stadium in East Rutherford, N.J.

"We have a contract with Yankee Stadium through 1974, a spokesman for the Giants said at a news conference "but they say the stadium might be completed by 1973."

"Conceivably we could shift then, if all the legal difficulties could be ironed out."

Carnivals top Bucs 5-1

WATERBURY, Conn. (CP) — Paul Sullivan pitched a four-hitter while the Waterbury Pirates committed five errors allowing Quebec Carnivals to score a 5-1 Eastern League win Thursday night.

Sullivan, a native of Scarborough, Ont., walked two and struck out five en route to his eighth win in 10 decisions.

The Carnivals bunched runs in the middle innings with one in the fourth, two in the fifth and another in the sixth to put the game out of reach. They added another in the eighth.

Quebec took the lead in the fourth when Mike Easom singled, moved to third on Dave Arrington's throwing error and scored on Bob Hansen's fielders choice.

They added two more in the fifth. Willie Brown reached first when Dave Kent dropped his fly ball, and moved to second on Pepe Frias' sacrifice. He scored when John Hart doubled and Hart later scored from third on a sacrifice fly.

Waterbury starter Rick Guerrero, 2-3, was the victim of his teammates' generosity as only two of the five runs against him were earned.

She won't join team

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Jackie Jackson, woman baseball player, apparently will not become a member of the Raleigh-Durham team of the Class A Carolina League.

Walter Brock, the team's general manager, said Thursday he had sent the 23-year-old Burtonville, Md. woman a telegram cancelling the club's contract offer, which he had made Wednesday.

Brock indicated he had not received firm, written confirmation from the first baseman-outfielder that she intended to appear Monday in Durham to sign a contract, and that he assumed she was no longer interested.

Earlier, Brock had said details of the contract were agreed upon by telephone Wednesday and that only the formality of her signature was needed before she donned a uniform.
